Fight Railroad Elevation

At the time of going to press there is well-defined rumor to the effect that the State Highway Commission has decided to the demands of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and will carry the road from the new Tacony-Palmyra bridge under the railroad at the Pennypack Creek.

This will mean the elevation of the railroad tracks through West Palmyra, a plan against which the Mayor and Council has been fighting for several months.

While the situation looks bad for the town the fight will be kept up until the last with the hope of bringing enough influence to bear on the Highway Commission to have it go back to the original plan which called for a beautiful span to carry the road over the trolley and railroad tracks.

School Board Will Open Clinic for Immunization If Parents Wish

TREATMENT IS NOT MADE COMPULSORY

The Riverton Board of Education went on record Monday night by a vote of four to three as being willing to co-operate with the County Committee for the prevention of diphtheria to the extent of sending letters to the homes by the school children literature on the subject supplied by the committee.

The attitude of the Board in the matter is well expressed in a paragraph taken from the folder sent out by the committee which says: "The law does not compel nor does the health official require immunization from diphtheria. The appeal is made to you each sense of obligation and your desire to provide for the welfare of your children."

On the folder to be sent home is a blank on which parents may notify them desire to have their children immunized.

If a sufficient number of them request the return to the school a clinic will be opened for the immunization of the toxin-antitoxin treatment.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Board by Francis B. Ehrich, chairman of the Medical Committee.

A motion was passed authorizing the Property Committee to prepare specifications for the portable school building to be erected to temporarily relieve the overflow of pupils instead of continuing to use the Florence property on Main street and for the new fixtures for the latter.

Public Service Plans Riverfront Bus Line

That the Public Service Company contemplate operating a bus line through the Riverfront towns was revealed last Friday when the Company filed application with the Trenton City Commission for permission to operate in that city.

According to the application the Public Service Co-Ordinated Transport plans to give both local and express service between Trenton and Camden. The present Camden Trenton trolley line will be partially abandoned it was said and the buses will follow the trolley route.

The application states that the buses making local stops each way will charge 80 cents from Camden to Trenton, while the express rate will be $1. The present trolley fare between the two cities is 80 cent.

THIRTY YEARS ON SCHOOL BOARD

Mrs. Hetty L. Miller Presented With Globe on Retirement

At the meeting of the Riverton Board of Education Monday night Mrs. Hetty L. Miller, who was retiring as a member of the board after a service of thirty years, was presented with a globe by the board as a token of appreciation.

In making the presentation speech Mr. Hemphill said:

Mrs. Miller the minute of this body on which the last you were elected a member March 21, 1899 and resigned March 4 at the same seat.

As a record of the public you have given thirty years of faithful work and educational service and to be associated with you including members of the Board of Education and teachers in the great work we feel we are losing a leader and one who in all the years of continuous service has given the best to this community.

In the performance of your duties you have set a pace that would be well for us to follow, but as to actual service in number of years you have or as precedent and credit were much if any one of us will equal same.

Of all those present only one excels you in service to educational work but that is attributed to the fact Mrs. Cook was teaching in the same class in progression at so many years.

We regret exceedingly your retirement as a member of the Board of Education as we will miss your advice guidance and interest in the educational welfare of this community.

In closing we feel proud of the privilege of having been associated with you in conducting the successful business of one of the greatest institutions of these United States, the public school.

We cannot however permit you to retire without some slight token of the esteem in which you are held by the entire membership of the Board so Lewis and I are pleased to present to you a globe so we feel, in part of your personal service for the past thirty years you are entitled to the world.

In receiving Mrs. Miller who was visibly affected expressed her appreciation of the gift and the sentiment which prompted it but gave the lion's share of the credit for the progress made in educational matters since she became a member of the board to her colleagues mentioning particularly the splendid work done by Miss Chew.

While she was at loss to know just why a globe had been chosen as the gift Mrs. Miller said it was just what she had wanted on her life and was delighted with it. When a child at home she said there had been a small globe on which the family had been raised and it had always been her ambition to own a large one.

In closing Mrs. Miller said that while she felt she must retire from active service as a member of the board her loyalty to educational affairs in Riverton had not diminished in the least and she would ever remain interested in school work.

TO OPEN BOX OFFICE FOR LIONS' CLUB SHOW

Tickets for the Lion's Show, "Bits U S A," will be placed on sale Friday at the box office located in the real estate office of Grissom and Rogers, 9 East Broad street, Palmyra. Reservations can be made up until that time at the reservation office 15 East Broad street, the office of Harold B. Lever. All reservations that have been made for tickets must be lifted before Friday, March 15th, or they will go back on sale.

Miss Edith Kilpatrick will be in charge of the box office every afternoon from two until five o'clock and every evening seven until ten o'clock. Telephone Riverton 587.

In order to give the followers of the Lions show an idea of this years production it will be necessary to use 226 costumes as against 83 used last year. The costumes are gorgeous and the stage settings will be the most elaborate ever produced in this section. Beautiful combinations of scenery will be used as against two in last years production. The dance lines are further advanced and there is no doubt that this production will be a success.

LEGION POST HAS BOXING PROGRAM

Penn Glovemen Entertain Palmyra Veterans With Exhibition

The March meeting of Frederick M. Rogers Post held in the Legion Home was another of those "get togethers" meetings which the present Post Commander Ted D'Antrechi is bent on having for and is putting across. The business over the members journeyed to the Palmyra Fire House, where the entertainment feature of the evening was held.

A marathon boxing contest was staged, the participants being members of the boxing team of the University of Pennsylvania, led by their redoubtable coach, George Decker, who incidentally crossed gloves with Sana Levy captain of last years unbeaten team in a comic bout greatly enjoyed by all.

The members of the Palmyra Fire Company were the guests of the Legion for the entertainment but not to be outdone they in turn entertained the Legionnaires with eat following the bouts.

Another Legion event recently held was the dinner and entertainment of the Bugle and Drum Corps last Thursday evening at the Legion Home. The Corps had as its guests Herb Blizzard State Department Commander of New Jersey, Ros McCrossan Senior Vice Commander of New Jersey, Jack Whomsley, Burlington County Commander, F. Hipple, State Membership Chairman; Wayne Sloane Finance Committee Chairman, Arthur Kemble, County Finance Officer, Francis P. Moritz, Post Chairman, Drum Master Frankford Buch and Frankford Bugle Corps; John Sparr, Drum Corps; Robert Cotter, Chief Drummer same Corps; William Telford, the first drum Sergeant of the Palmyra Corps; Ralph Rivers of the local Citizens Committee a firm friend of the Legionnaires and many others of the rank and file of the American Legion.

Interspersed with the splendid speeches from such a splendid group of men were piano and violin numbers by Stanley Black and F. Schrauffle, of Palmyra, and instrumental numbers by the McCord Brothers radio artists of Pacific Coast fame.

The 10 o'clock ritual "sacred to the memory of the departed Comrades of the Legion, was put on in full form and deeply impressed those who had never seen it before.

The dinner a splendid repast prepared and served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Post was a distinct success the whole evening and one to be remembered by those present.

The next Legion activity will be the Post's evening March 19th when the Post of South Jersey will be host to the National Commander Paul V. McNutt at a great reception and parade in Camden. The parade will feature delegations by all the Posts as well as the Drum and Bugle Corps and the Burlington and Camden County Band. The Ladies Auxiliary units will also be in line in their smart marching uniforms.

Following the parade which forms at the Hotel Walt Whitman at 7 P. M. the reception will be held at the Convention Hall. The Palmyra Post and Bugle and Drum Corps is making special efforts to have a large delegation and a good corps in the competitive and a full corps in the competitive and a full corps in the competitive and a full

FACTS ABOUT NEW PAPER CURRENCY

Will be Smaller Than Old Notes, and Harder to Counterfeit

The new size of paper currency smaller in size than the present bank notes, will be issued by the United States Government about the first of July. The new size is 6⅝ x 2 9-16 inches, and has been brought about in the interests of efficiency and economy. But, it will have many other advantages. The new "bills" will have new pictures on their faces and backs, they are printed by the intaglio method from specially-engraved plates, chromium-plated, they will be easier to handle than the present size of bank notes, and they will be more difficult to counterfeit, or alter.

The new size and designs of paper money are the result of years of careful planning, investigation and designing. According to Alvin W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, it is the first "thought-out" money in the history of the Government. Heretofore, there has been no harmony, and many more varieties were printed than were necessary.

For example, the old $10 note. Five designs were in circulation. One contained the portrait of A. J. Hendrick, one had the portrait of Michael Hillegas, Cleghby more were well-known to the public. Another had the portrait of Andrew Jackson on it, another had that of William McKinley, the fifth pictured a building with a tanned back.

In the new line of bills all this has been changed. All notes of each denomination will be exactly the alike. On the $10 note, for example, is placed on five different pictures, each note will have the portrait of Alexander Hamilton on one side and a picture of the Treasury building on the other side.

The various issues of the note will have such minimal differences as do the red seal etc. that are of no special interest to the public in general. These differences will be indicated by certain printed matter on the face of the bills, and a difference in the seal that is put on after the regular printing has been done.

The main idea back of the new series is that the public will have only small reserve cash amount each person has.

There are eleven denominations of paper money now in circulation in the new currency. The $1 note will have the portrait of George Washington on the face and a picture of the Great Seal on the back. The $2 note will have Thomas Jefferson's portrait on the face of the note, while an engraving of Monticello is on the back. The new $5 note has the portrait of Lincoln on the face and a picture of the Lincoln Memorial on the back. The $20 note has Andrew Jackson's portrait on the face, and an engraving of the White House on the back. The $50 note has Grant's portrait on the face and a picture of the Capitol on the back. The $100 note will have the portrait of Benjamin Franklin on the face, and likely an engraving of Independence Hall on the back.

All the notes up to the $100 bill and except the $1 note, will have pictures of buildings on their backs, making it hard to pass $1 bills for higher notes by changing numbers. Above $100, the notes have beautiful ornate designs on their backs. The $500 note bears the likeness of McKinley, the $1000 note has the portrait of Grover Cleveland, the $5,000 note has the portrait of Madison, and the $10,000 note that of Salmon Chase.

Harry T. Hutton

Funeral services were held at the funeral parlors, 966 N. Fifth street, Philadelphia, at one o'clock Saturday afternoon. Interment was made at Chelton Hills Cemetery, Pa.

MUNICIPALLY OWNED WATER PLANT SHOWS PROFIT

and storm sewers. The cost of this work amounting to approximately $7,700 was charged as an operating expense.

During the above period general maintenance of all properties and equipment was performed, together with all other routine functions. In connection with the system. Particular attention was given to the repair and maintenance of pumping equipment and the water plant is now operating at maximum efficiency. This condition in conjunction with revised pumping operations and schedules has resulted in materially lower pumpage and general operating costs.

"As a result of the above further expansion of the water system, the two municipalities through the Commission were, on December 31, 1928, furnishing water to 5,460 private consumers and many builders and general contractors through 89 one-third miles of mains and were maintaining 538 hydrants for fire purposes.

Financial Results

"Brief comment should be made on the financial results of the above period and restatement thereof in other than accounting form might be of interest. The investment in the water system and appurtenances thereto on December 31, 1926 amounted to $1,634,135.65, as compared with $1,372,512.62 on July 1, 1926, and $1,600,042.69 on December 31, 1927. The additional investment was as statements submitted will show, largely in extension of mains, new services, meters and fire hydrants.

"The total assets under the management of the Commission on December 31, 1928, amounted to $1,780,-201.54. This is a reduction of $13,-305.69 as compared with December 31, 1927. The reduction, however, has no significance as the liabilities show a like reduction. The difference in total assets and a like difference in total liabilities is represented mainly by refund of deposit made by consumers in connection with extensions. During 1928 these refunds amounted to $3,265.55 and due to the material reduction in real estate development a like amount of new deposits has not been received.

Net Earnings

"The net earnings for the year 1928 after the payment of $70,133.75 of interest on the outstanding water bonds issued by the municipalities, were $27,692.71. Accumulation of net earnings to December 31, 1928, after the deduction of sums paid to the municipalities for payment of bond interest and after the deduction of $27,000 paid to the municipalities on June 30, 1928 for retirement of that amount of bonds, result in a balance of net revenue to December 31, 1928 in the amount of $64,643.12 which is available for retirement of bonds.

"The Commission and those familiar with the situation had expected the year 1928 to be the most difficult year which the Commission would face from the standpoint of net earnings. The problem presented by this year was to overcome to as large an extent as possible the complete cessation of sale of water to the Borough of Collingswood by economical operation. This was necessary because the loss of Collingswood as a consumer could not be and was not offset to any material extent, as shown by statistics submitted herewith, by new consumers from the usual source, namely, real estate development.

"The problem was further complicated by the necessity of expending, as set forth above, the sum of $7,700 in overhauling, replacing and renewing mains and services due to the above stated work of the municipalities. Had the above situation not developed the total cost of repairs to mains and services during the year would have amounted to but $1,445.80. Conservative management called also for charging against revenues of the year worn out and obsolete equipment in the amount of $3,853.24.

Earnings Sufficient

"However as a result of all possible economies the operation of the system produced net earnings of $67,-130.46, which earnings of this anticipated "lean year" were sufficient to pay the interest on the outstanding bonds and to cover the amount which will be required for the retirement of bonds during the year 1929.

"It is interesting to note that the citizens of the two municipalities without any expenditure in the form of taxes, assessments or any other charges, have merely through the payment of water service at rates lower than the private company could have expected to maintain, acquired a material interest in the water system against which there is no direct or indirect obligation.

"This unencumbered interest which has been acquired after two years and six months of municipal operation, through the retirement of $27,-000 of bonds and the accumulation of a surplus of $64,643.12 for retirement of bonds amounts to $91,643.12.

The Commission takes this opportunity of expressing its appreciation of the co-operation given and the interest manifested by the governing bodies of the respective municipalities. The Commission is also pleased to give credit which is justly due the employees of the Commission for their loyal and efficient support.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWIS T. BOYNTON,
THOMAS J. YOUNG,
FRANK B. GAIL,

WALT WHITMAN THEATRE NEWS

The Walt Whitman Theatre is offering during the last half of this week one of the very best programs for all 'round entertainment ever brought to this popular playhouse.

Heading the vaudeville section of the program will be "Dance Bargains," a pretentious production with beautiful scenery and elaborate costumes. The featured members of this act are Roth and Wilson and Dorothy Maxine who will offer the last word in Terpsichore. The patrons have a real treat in store for them in this attraction, which offers every variety of dancing.

McBride and Bunny, in "Comedy 'N How," bring one of vaudeville's foremost laughing attractions. The Romaine Trio—"The Street Singers and the Actress"—offer a distinct novelty in modern stage entertainment. Hans Dake, "The Human Nightingale," is a mimic of unusual attainments. His imitations of birds and animals are very realistic and place him in the front rank of entertainers in this particular line of endeavor. Eldridge, Reese and Eldridge, "The Rural Cut-Ups," are three accomplished funmakers offering the funny side of life in the great open spaces.

The Screen attraction brings Victor McLaglen in "Captain Lash," with Clair Windsor, Arthur Stone and Clyde Cook, and a great supporting cast. The story is a romantic drama of seaports and the sea, in which a tyrant among stokers on an ocean liner is toppled from his throne of strength by a lovely adventuress, Clair Windsor, but is saved from complete downfall by another seaman.

Movietone News Events and the Music by the Improved Walt Whitman Theatre Orchestra, under the direction of Robert W. Taylor, completes another one hundred per cent program.

PUBLIC SERVICE ORDERS 276 BUSES

New Vehicles to Have Best Heating, Ventilation Yet Devised

In placing an order for 267 new buses with the Yellow Coach and Manufacturing Company, the motor coach division of General Motors Truck Corporation, it is announced by Public Service Co-ordinated Transport that the buses will have the best system of heating and ventilation that has yet been devised. In addition, the most modern braking equipment and engines of considerable more power than have so far been used will be installed.

The heating and ventilation will be accomplished by means of an improved hot air system by which air is blown by electrically operated fans over coils of hot water from the radiator. This not only uniformly heats the bus throughout, but makes for better ventilation and eliminates the exhaust gases often found in the old heating system.

All the chassis and a few of the bodies will be built at the Pontiac, Mich., shops of General Motors, but the majority of the bodies will be built at the Public Service shops in Newark. When these buses have been placed in service, Public Service will have a fleet of 2,000 buses actually in operation, the largest fleet operated by any one company in the world with the exception of the London General Omibus Company. The entire electrical equipment will be furnished by the General Electric Company.

The new buses will be of both the gas-electric and gas-mechanical type, the gas-electrics being used in city service and the gas-mechanics on suburban and long distance lines.

The engines will be the sleeve valve, silent Knight type, with six cylinders. They will have higher compression and more power than those now in service.

The buses will be equipped with balloon tires—something new on the so-called city service type of bus—and will have leather seats, both of these features designed to give the greatest possible comfort to the passengers.

On the gas-electric drive buses there will be three sets of brakes, as follows:

Service brakes (Westinghouse) with brake shoes on rear wheels.

The first delivery on the order is expected some time in May. In the meantime the bodies are already being built at the Newark shops and as fast as the chassis arrive they will be attached to the bodies.

INTEREST SOARS AT CO. AIRPORT

Visitors Keep Things Humming at Aero Club's Moorestown Field

Renewed activity and interest in aviation was conspicuous at the Moorestown airport of the Burlington County Aero Club last Sunday. There is no doubt that spring and aviation has returned, and the crowd grows constantly.

Among the events at the field was the arrival of a new Bellanca monoplane, owned by Clarence Taubel, of Delanco, and piloted by Wesley Smith, of the Philadelphia Air Transport Field, Norristown. About an hour later, or at 1.30 p. m., Lee Schoenhall, chief pilot for the Lockheed Vega Aircraft Corporation, Los Angeles, suddenly appeared on the scene, and after zooming the field, proceeded to cut capers in his ship over the residence of the club's president, H. H. Longaker. Schoenhall gave a fine exhibition of flying in his ship, which is powered by a Wasp motor and capable of 185 miles per hour. He hailed from Curtis Field and after completing his visit proceeded to Washington.

Ray Kuser, son of the Hunterdon County state representative and owner of a Waco ship, was among the visiting pilots, as was Jack Thropp, who needs no introduction to residents of this vicinity.

"Rog" Gale and "Bill" French were "up in the air," as is usual with them when the flying weather is good. Leon Pennock did a thriving business taking up passengers in the club ship. Joe MacIntosh wrote another chapter to his personal history when he completed his first solo trip several days ago. Miss LeConey and Miss Scanlon expect to solo in the very near future.

Monday evening "Ed" Pennock, the club's chief pilot, and a member of the 103rd Observation Squadron of National Guards, gave a very interesting and instructive talk to members and visitors of the club. He spoke principally upon the rules and regulations upon which the Department of Commerce insists. All of the club's ships comply with these and are licensed by the Department.

HAUNTED HOUSE STORY IS AIRED IN NEWSPAPER BY SENSATIONALISTS

Since the little, old brick hotel property at the point of the Mount Holly-Rancocas road at Timbuctu was burned about a year ago it has been purchased by William C. Triechler aged about sixty years and a retired chemist of Philadelphia, who has had the property repaired and fixed up in a very attractive manner and he has been living there alone.

Recently, it is said there have been indications that the house is haunted, this being manifested in various ways—locked doors opening and then slamming, footsteps being heard on the stairs, knockings, etc., and Mr. Triechler has been so disturbed by these alleged nocturnal happening that he became more or less alarmed and notified the authorities.

Since that time there have been more visitors to Bucto than those living in the little settlement ever saw before, and even newspapermen from the metropolitan papers, accompanied by spiritualists, have stayed all night at the house with the hope of catching the ghost or ghosts, but no doubt there were too many around for the spirits to make their appearance while the crowds were present.

However, Mr. Triechler sleeps with an arsenal at his side, and it will not be well for the ghosts to come too doubtless will not be heard of again.

PUBLIC SERVICE

MUST COOPERATE WITH AIRPORTS

Need Well Paved Highways and Parking Areas; Hard-Surfaced Runways

Paved runways for the larger off and landing of airplanes, well-paved thoroughfares leading to airports and paved parking areas will mark the up-to-date city of the future.

Recently the first concrete airplane runway in America was dedicated at the Ford aircraft port at Detroit. Last week the country's second hard-faced runway was dedicated at the Grand Central Air Terminal at Glendale, California. Rigid runways are going in at other airports such as that at St. Louis, the Harriet Island port in New York City, Wayne County, Michigan and soon Indianapolis. At the Los Angeles airport will soon be completed a concrete landing surface at Mines field.

One sees a well-laid transportation scheme cautioning everybody to the art and business of flying is likely to mature a greater response than. Most of the growth has taken place in the short span of two years.

The value of the airplane lies in the saving of time. The means that transportation desiring to make the most of aviation must provide facilities that will reduce the time of travel to and from the airport. Smooth pavements of ample width must be constructed pavement that will comfortably accommodate the heavy volume of traffic that may be expected when Lindbergh's come to town when special events are to be staged, or evenings and week-ends when there are many spectators at the airport.

There is a crying need for adequate parking and places to park. No matter whether it be a county fair or an athletic contest held in some outlying spot the American motorist usually finds himself caught in a traffic tie-up largely because of the inability of motorists ahead of him to get off the road. This is due to narrow turn-outs and roads to poorly arranged parking area.

This situation can be remedied particularly in connection with airports for new developments give a wide latitude. Entrances to the airport should be hard-surfaced and of a bounteous width and this paving should merge into a wide hard-surfaced parking place.

A layer ten thousand years old has been unearthed in the ruins of Ur and excavators have redoubled their effort to locate the hot lava.

BOWS ARE "GOOD"

To relieve the severity of a tailored neckline or blouse use Bows—soft perky little bows in a row down the front of the blouse, loose; floppy bows at the termination of the V-to tie in the bottom of the overblouse. Bows in any number or normal and interesting ways are good again.

Forging Ahead

Production in the United States in the year 1928 broke all records according to the annual report of the Secretary of Commerce made public recently.

Secretary Whiting declared that the country had entered the new year with broader stability and wider markets than ever before in its history.

"The year 1928, on the whole," he said, "was the year of the greatest production and trade in American history in spite of low activity in some branches of industry at its beginning. Final and official returns reaching the Department of Commerce from leading trade and industries show that the year marked a continuance of the longest period of general business stability ever witnessed in the United States."

Factory employment and payrolls which had declined in 1927 showed a slow improvement in the early part of 1928 and rose rapidly in the second half of the year.

These are some of the things for which the people of the United States have cause to be thankful. The conditions which we have enjoyed in an economic way during the past few years have been due to certain sound principles of government, principles which have come to be characterized the world over as the American idea. These principles are based on the theory that high wages with lower production costs through a larger output, the high wages furnishing the market for the larger output, spell progress and prosperity. The theory is directly contrary to the low wage theory of cheap production which has always held sway in Europe, but that the American theory will work is proved by the results.

The big market has been protected by the American theory of tariff which holds that the American wage earner should be protected from cheaper wages and cheaper standards of living in Europe. And our economic progress has been steady and orderly because we have devoted our attention to a government not in an attempt to mind the business of the world, and to settle other nations' problems through world diplomacy, but to attend strictly to our own business. It will be seen therefore that our success has been based as much on the principle of failure to make mistakes as to constructive methods.

Working for America, protecting the American market and attending strictly to our own business seems to have been a pretty good program so far as our progress and prosperity are concerned. There seems to be no danger just now that the program will be changed during the next decade, unless the American people lose all sense of proportion, which they are not apt to do.

Our New President

His inaugural address reached not only millions of listeners in the United States, but also other millions of listeners in foreign countries.

The radio has advanced to an almost unbelievable extent. Recently programs from London were heard in New York with absolute clarity. Now this progress made it possible for not only America, but also other nations of the world to hear the voice of Hoover as he dedicated himself to the leadership of the American people.

How fitting that this should be so! For his activities during the distressful times of war in foreign lands have endeared him to the entire civilized world. His election was hailed with enthusiasm in messages from many countries—the world has its eye on Hoover, and now the world was able to hear his first words as he assumed the highest office of his country.

The very thought thrills one—the world has moved forward indeed! Think of George Washington's inauguration address—his words were not known for days after the event by persons within a narrow radius, they were not heard save by those who were within the range of his voice. Today, a man in the remotest corner of the land may be "present" at an important ceremony simply by turning on a dial.

Hoover Makes a Fine Start

From the time the polls closed in November until the inauguration, Herbert Hoover has had an absolutely united country back of him in all of his efforts to launch a successful administration. The new Congress will support the new President whole-heartedly and will help him redeem all the pledges made to the voters during the campaign.

When one asks, in Washington, what Congress is going to do about farm legislation, the answer is always furnished that Congress is going to enact just such a law as Mr. Hoover wants. That is the main part of the special session.

In the second feature of importance, comes a new tariff law. In framing it the regular Republican policy of protection to American industries will be followed.

The people of the United States have never given a new President greater help, or expressed a fuller degree of confidence in him. President Hoover makes a fine start.

When a Woman Drives

Dr Vitales of the University of Pennsylvania has made a very interesting survey of automobile records.

He reports that women drivers become involved in accidents three times as often as men.

At first blush this seems to be rather an indictment of the woman who drives. But let us examine the fact further.

Most of the accidents in which women are involved are minor ones. They are able to act intuitively and quickly in an emergency, and so there is much less damage than results from accidents in which men are involved.

In addition, most of the accidents that happen to women drivers are the result of their carelessness. They drive slowly, and are struck far more frequently than they strike other cars, bearing the brunt of the recklessness of others.

However, it is a common failing of the woman driver to be inclined to choose the center of the road, even when she is going slow.

The TOWN DOCTOR

(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)

says

Is there anyone who thinks that it isn't a good idea to make the town in which he lives just a little more attractive, a little more interesting, a little bit larger, and a little bit better?

But if a man came into your town a stranger and said to any twenty people on the street, or in the stores, This looks like a pretty good town here, what percentage of the replies do you suppose would be for the town.

If he were to put the question to you, what would you say?

If you were working in a store and a customer said, This looks like a pretty good store, and you answered "Oh, yes, it's all right if you like it," or "Well, it used to be all right," the boss would no doubt fire you, if he didn't, he should! If you answered a customer's inquiry of, "What kind of a store is this," with, slow, "dead," "terrible," or any of those unprintable descriptions that you and I and everyone have heard people say about their town, you would be classed as a blithering idiot, mutton-headed numbskull, and a loony nincompoop, and who wants to be that?

Maybe you have never thought of it that way. Well, one can't think of everything, but here is something every resident of every city must think about sooner or later, and for your own personal betterment it had better be sooner.

Start thinking about your community as a business—look at it just as if it were a store business—a business of which you are a part. Put out of your head the old-fashioned idea of your town being something that just happens; something that you can't get ahold of an intangible thing so big that whatever you do as an individual won't make any difference one way or another.

You don't have to be mayor, president of a civic club, head of a bank or a store to be important, your vote counts just as much as that of any banker doctor, lawyer, merchant, or city official, and it's the attitude you take toward your community—the things you do for or against it—that makes it alive or dead, good or bad, forging ahead or standing still.

When industry considers your town, it is the people they want to know about, not just the few shining lights—the big boys alone—and have their men study. It's you they "feel out," often without your knowing it, and on you, your attitude, how you look at, act toward and talk about your community, depends on whether their report is favorable for a new factory, distributing point, headquarters for representatives, or for whatever they are considering your town.

As a citizen you are a salesperson for your community the same as a clerk is a salesperson of a store, the merchants, bankers and professional people are the same as department heads of a store, and the policemen of your community are the floor-walkers.

It is always up to the sales force of any business. Your town is a business—your business and just the same, it's up to you.

A BRAVE MAN DEAD

INHERITED GENEROSITY

Those that pity themselves because their health is "not quite what it ought to be" may consider Baron von Huenefeld, who died on the operating table, undergoing his thirteenth operation for an incurable disease of the stomach that had afflicted him for years.

Suffering hopelessly, knowing that he could not live long and must endure many operations, von Huenefeld planned and carried out the German-Irish flight across the Atlantic ocean. Such courage and will power should make others ashamed to complain.

J. Pierpont Morgan gives New York Hospital two buildings worth $2,000,000. Giving seems to be inherited, as illustrated also in the case of the Rockefellers.

Mr. Morgan's father gave to New York one of its finest institutions, a great lying-in hospital.

Serious rioting in India is caused by a report that Mohammedans kidnapped Hindu children and sacrificed them in connection with the construction of a new bridge. The report probably is not true.

Once important works were usually accompanied by human sacrifices. Somebody was killed and buried under the corner of a new building. A child or adult was often killed and buried in a shallow hole in a field newly planted. Knowing nothing about fertilizers they observed with "religious awe" that the grass grew greener where the corpse was buried.

Madame Bella Pollack died in Rumania, aged 118, leaving twenty-one children, the oldest eighty-five, and a fiance who would have been her third husband. Madame Pollack ate two and one-half pounds of black bread and a pound of sugar every day, and was never ill until her last illness.

Heart Talks

BY JOHN JOSEPH [illegible]NES, M.D.

This is an era of changes. And we relish them to the point of hearty welcome in most instances. Those who do not change once in awhile gradually drift into that lethargic state of mind which we call a rut—and everybody resents that.

The same suit of clothes worn for too long a time grows tiresome to our neighbors, if not to ourselves, though the garments are by no means worn out. People relish contrasts, especially when the change is for the brighter, the newer, the more attractive. And this applied to our reading matter, I think, fully as much as to mere physical appearances.

Some readers of this paper will notice our abandonment of things and words with a medical twang. Ever alert for the best at his disposal, our editor believes that an inspirational diet will be relished for awhile; he believes, and I agree with him, that the mind should be refreshed as well as the body; so it is with no little satisfaction that I take up the pleasant duty to which I am assigned.

There has never been a time when the thinkers of our beloved country have been sought with such positive energy. We are interested in everything good, the bad forces itself upon us, whether we will or no. "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good." I do not know of any better advice than that.

I heartily wish I could hear all the comments that may be aroused by the things I shall say to you, dear friends, during the next year. Maybe some of you will differ with me, and some of my personal friends may even clip out something and put it in the scrap-book. I shall dream that way, at any rate. And I fully appreciate the honor of taking the place of a beloved writer who has lately been called to the higher sphere.

May I hope there is just a little corner somewhere in your heart for me to creep into and be happy?

DELUXE STAGE PRESENTATION

The Rabbitville school bell stopped ringing on February 21st and Miss Rabbit, the teacher, arose from her seat and said: "Today we will have a short session and celebrate Washington's Birthday. Bobbie Rabbit, you may come to the board."

Bobbie did as he was told and then looked at his teacher.

"Please write cat." Bobbie wrote CAT.

"Pretty good," said Miss Rabbit.

"Pretty good, nothing, it's PERFECT!" snapped Bobbie.

"That's correct, my dear, you must stand up for what you know is right in this world."

Finally Miss Rabbit rang the bell. "We will have our George Washington hour," she said. "Theophilus Rabbit, you may come up and say a few words about George Washington."

Theophilus started to go on the platform. Suddenly he slipped and fell sprawling on the floor. All the Rabbits began to titter.

"My dear children," began Miss Rabbit, "this should be a lesson for you all. George Washington laughed at difficulties as people laughed at him. When he fell down, he got up and kept on going. Come, Theophilus, and let's hear what you have to say."

The Rabbit began: "When George Washington wanted to make the flag of the United States of America he went to Betsy Ross and asked her to help him. He said we should have a six-pointed star on our flag, but she said we could make a five-pointed star with one cut of the scissors."

There was a loud clapping as the speaker stepped from the platform.

"Of course, you know, dear children," said Miss Rabbit, "that the stars and the blue on our flag come from the stars in a blue heaven, and the bars from the beautiful rainbow. It is indeed a wonderful and very beautiful flag. Can any one tell us more about it?"

"It has never been defeated!" said Billie Rabbit.

"Fine!" exclaimed Miss Rabbit.

GAS
MEANS HEAT and COMFORT

EVERY additional cubic foot of Gas, wisely used in your home, pays for itself in the increased comfort and convenience which it produces. Every function that it performs adds to your ease, or decreases your labors. Gas is one of the most faithful and useful of household servants.

The modern gas system, such as now stands ready to serve you, puts at your disposal for instant use heat for whatever purpose you may want to use it.

When a house is properly piped for Gas use, you have at your command heat to cook your meals, to warm a single room or the entire house, to provide refrigeration, to furnish a dependable and ever ready hot water supply, to make easier wash day, and to perform many other services essential to a properly managed household.

Gas means heat and heat means comfort. Consider the innumerable ways in which heat is necessary to your comfort. No other fuel can furnish heat so quickly, so conveniently, or with such degree of cleanliness, as Gas.

COLUMBUS CADETS

Palmyra-Riverton Boys Win Third Place at Contest in Riverside

A splendid gathering of Columbus Cadets, representing the six Burlington County K. of C. Councils, assembled at St. Peter's School Hall, Riverside, last Monday night to vie for honors in the various branches of cadet activities.

Riverside Cadets were easily the leaders, Moorestown, second, and Riverton-Palmyra carried off third place honors. The boys representing St. Joseph's won second place in the drills and with Lawrence Bradshaw as bugler they were unexcelled.

An outdoor meet some time during the summer is planned and aquatic events will be added to the list of contests.

If an editor undertook to tell the whole truth he would be branded as an unmitigated liar.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

CHRIST CHURCH

Parry Avenue
Rev. George J. McCormack, Rector

An old preacher told the boys of the Bible Class what lesson he was going to read next Sunday. The boys, finding the place, glued together the connecting pages.

The next Sunday the preacher read at the bottom of one page: "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a Wife, who was then turning the page 140 cubits long, forty cubits wide, built of gopherwood and covered with pitch inside and out."

He was puzzled. He read again, verified the statement, and then said: "My friends, this is the first time I ever met this in the Bible, but I accept it as evidence of the assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

Of course, it is an ancient and impossible story, but we honestly wonder whether the average Christian knows the Bible well enough to realize whether not only one but any pages have been gummed together?

The Christian handbook has suffered more from ignorance of its contents than any other book in the world.

The Burlington District Woman's Auxiliary will hold a "Quiet Day" in Christ Church, Riverton, Tuesday, March 12th, at 10:30 o'clock. Bishop Knight will be the leader. Box luncheon.

Vestry meeting on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Special business on hand.

Mission Study Class as usual on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. E. Fox. Our Africam work which Mrs. Houchens is reading to us takes note of twelve million people with the most meager equipment for evangelizing this large field. "Go ye preach, baptize, teach!"

The subject for next Wednesday evening's study at 8 P. M., "When the Ship Comes Home."

Services Fourth Sunday in Lent.

Morning prayer and sermon, 10:30 A. M. "Because They Saw His Miracles."

Calvary Presbyterian

Charles T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold it's morning service of worship Sunday at 11 o'clock; evening service at 8 o'clock. All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 A. M. and Christian Endeavor Society at 7 P. M. in the Church School auditorium.

Tomorrow, Friday, at 3 o'clock, the Women's Mission Study Class will meet in the Junior Department.

The Sunday School Workers' Conference will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mid-week Service — Wednesday, March 13th, at 8 P. M.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Everybody is happy at the splendid attendance and general response to the call to loyalty issued last week at the opening of the great Loyalty Campaign.

We desire to thank all who took part in the programs Sunday. Mrs. C. S. B. Wynkoop for her solo rendition of "Living for Jesus"; Mrs. Lillian Hall, Miss Rebekah G. Buchholz, and W. T. Smith, for their splendid addresses; J. H. Ingram and John Landgraf for their respective parts, and the choir and Director Milton for their music throughout the day.

Community Day will be observed next Sunday morning. All members of the church and all others not members of other churches should be present. Morning theme: "The Church and the Community."

Women's Rally in the evening at 7:45 o'clock. Miss Anna A. Milligan, Secretary of Educational Work of the United Presbyterian Church, will be principal speaker. Lady members of our church will have other parts of service. Miss Florence Saat, reading of the Scriptures; Mrs. Raymond Watling, announcements; Miss Carrie Bargerstide, general invocation; Mrs. William Grollman, offertory prayer.

These are two organizations in our church to which all ladies should belong, the Ladies' Aid Society and the Eden Bible Class. Mrs. K. J. Lenker, president of the Ladies' Aid Society will be glad to receive applications from those not already members. The Ladies' Aid Society is planning some very big things, and every woman should avail herself of the privilege of helping in this great work of the Kingdom.

The Eden Bible Class, under the leadership of Mrs. Walter J. Schopp, the able teacher, is likewise sending out this invitation to all the ladies, not actively engaged in teaching in Sunday School, to join the class and attend the inspiring sessions of study. Besides the regular meeting on Sunday morning, the Eden Bible Class holds a weekday study class in the homes of the members once a week.

LEADERSHIP COURSE BY SCOUT COUNCIL

Opens in Moorestown Community House Next Wednesday

The Boy Scout Council of Burlington County will open a course in leadership at the Moorestown Community House next Monday, March 11. This course is primarily for Scout leaders but is open for all men interested in boys' work. The sessions will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The faculty for this course is drawn from the leading educators of the county, among which is Paul Y. Eckel, supervising principal of the Palmyra school system; Avery L. Bennett, of Mount Holly, is the chairman of leadership and training for this council.

This course has been noted by several other councils and several newspapers and many favorable comments have been made. All Scout leaders are urged to attend and also those interested in any boys' work. The committee believes the course will be found interesting.

LEGION AUXILIARY

It won't be long now! Tomorrow (Friday) night is the big night. This reception to be given in honor of the National Commander, Paul V. McNutt, will be the outstanding event among happenings in South Jersey. There will be a short street parade to start promptly at 7:45 p. m. Blues form on Cooper street, between Second and Sixth streets. The program at Convention Hall will be very interesting and if you cannot be in the line of parade, be sure to be at the Hall to hear our guest. It will surely be worth any effort it may cost you to be present at this affair. Let's help Burlington county to have a 100% representation! Meet at Legion Home at 6:45 p. m. sharp.

County meeting will be held on Friday evening, March 15, at Riverside. This is your home and we should have a good representation.

We would like to have some pictures and books. Call any member of the Auxiliary who will arrange to get them. Any rugs, carpets, furniture of any kind are also very acceptable.

Mrs. T. M. D'Autrechy, our president, who is second vice-president of Burlington county, attended the State Board meeting at Trenton on Tuesday, representing Miss Ivins, county president, who was unable to attend.

MOORESTOWN

Are you interested in scoring the meals you serve your family? If so, go to the Court House, Mount Holly, on Thursday afternoon, March 7, at 2 o'clock, to hear how the Pitts family improved the meals which were served in their home so that Father no longer had dyspepsia, the children could do better work at school, and Mother was not compelled to listen to the complaints of the family about the food placed on the table. This amusing playlet is to be given by a group of women from Burlington who have attended a series of meetings on food selection and meal planning, given under the auspices of the County Extension Service. The women conducting these foods classes were trained by the Foods Specialist of the Extension Service from the State College of Agriculture. The playlet is directed by Mrs. J. Howard Birkett, of Burlington.

Former Senator Emmor Roberts, of Moorestown, will give an address on "Aviation," Thursday night, March 7, at 8:30 o'clock in Haddonfield Grange Hall.

Philadelphia buses may take on and discharge passengers in Haddonfield, according to a plan placed before the Haddonfield Borough Commissioners. Officials of the Nelson and Johnson Interstate Bus Company has asked the commissioners to aid them in obtaining an open-door policy for Haddonfield riders.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Cuthbert Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Gillespie, of Prospect avenue, to Henry Braddard Ritzer, of Germantown, will be solemnized in the Trinity Episcopal Church, Moorestown, Saturday afternoon, June 22. A reception will follow at Woodverge, the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Warren Harper Jefferis, of North Washington avenue, entertained at a luncheon and bridge at her home last Saturday afternoon for twelve guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Ellington, of East Maple avenue, returned Tuesday from a ten-day sojourn at Lake Placid, N. Y. They made the trip home by way of Buffalo.

Mrs. Lester A. Collins, of Chester avenue; Mrs. Ward D. Kerlin, of East Central avenue, and Mrs. Emily W. Collins, of Central avenue, Moorestown, are among those chosen to serve on the committee of arrangements for a tea to be given by the Camden County Historical Society in their building, Park Boulevard and Euclid avenue, Camden, Wednesday, April 24. Elaborate plans are being made for the affair.

Miss Molly Foy, of East Second street, visited her sister, Mrs. John Shinn, of Roebling, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Mrs. Shinn entertained at a luncheon in honor of her sister Wednesday afternoon. Covers were laid for eight guests. Mrs. Shinn will be remembered as Miss Katherine Foy, of Moorestown.

The Rev. A. F. Taylor, of Moore, Pa., retired member of the Philadelphia Conference, will be in the pulpit at the morning and evening services at the Methodist Episcopal Church this Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Frederick B. Morley, who is away attending the annual Methodist Conference at Asbury Park. The Rev. Mr. Taylor is the father of Robert M. Taylor, of South Washington avenue, Moorestown.

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

Have a Part in Giving

During the week of April 7-14 citizens of Burlington County will be given an opportunity to share in the work of the Y. W. C. A. through their memberships and gifts. The finance and membership committees, with Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon, and Mrs. William Matlack, of Moorestown, as chairmen, will meet at the County office Friday, March 8, to make final plans for the annual drive.

Dr. Harry F. Ward Speaks

At the State Conference for Industrial Girls of the Y. W. C. A. at Jersey City, March 2 and 3, Dr. Harry F. Ward, of New York City, discussed the progress in industry for which the workers have been largely responsible and the ways in which workers are seeking to bring about changes through organizations, co-operatives and politics. He stressed the great need of securing facts as a beginning for any sort of work. Conditions are often somewhat different from the way we picture them and there can be no sound progress which does not have truth as its basis, he said.

During the discussions, which were led by club girls from various places, time was given to Legislation, Workers' Education, and Organization.

Burlington County delegates were Mrs. Mary Warren and Mrs. Fannie Jorden, of Moorestown, Marie Schuerreman and Martha Rogers, of Beverly, and Sidonie Schafer, of the County Y. W. C. A.

Moorestown Easter Pageant

Moorestown people who last year saw "The Chalice and the Cup" presented as a sunrise service on the outdoor stage on the grounds of the Friends' Meeting House, will be interested in knowing that the Moorestown advisory committee, with Mrs. William Matlack, chairman, is starting work on its second annual Easter Pageant.

A series of eight Easter Tableaux, portraying vividly events which took place between Palm Sunday and the Day of Resurrection, are to be presented at dawn Easter Morning at the Community House. The cast including a hidden choir, a reader, a singer, and the Biblical characters will be composed of girls from the various Y. W. C. A. clubs of the Moorestown district.

Evening of Recreation

Monday evening, March 11, senior club girls from Burlington County will meet at the Moorestown Community House for an evening of recreation. Mr. Benjamin Rumpelles, Director of the Community House, assisted by a committee of girls, will lead the group in games. Following this there will be a swim in the pool.

Miss Reba Troxell, of Burlington, chairman of the committee in charge, will be assisted by Deanida Perrand, of Willingboro; Florence Bozzell, of Beverly; Sara Crozer, of Mount Holly, and Helen Wurst, of Moorestown.

The Maple Shade Girl Reserves held their annual recognition service Thursday evening, February 28, with the parents of the girls as guests.

Before the ceremonial the girls presented a program consisting of piano solos, Girl Reserve songs, and a brief play portraying in a delightfully humorous way camp life of Girl Reserves.

Mrs. Edwin Russell, of Moorestown, gave a talk depicting the work of the Y. W. C. A. and the ideals and standards of its membership.

County Advisers Meet at Burlington

That Girl Reserve work should be a glorious adventure to every girl in the movement was the theme of the talk given by Miss Margaret McDonald, Girl Reserve Executive of Philadelphia, to the club advisers of the County at a meeting at the Burlington Y. W. C. A., Tuesday evening, March 5. Because the program gives a girl the inspiration for finding beauty and knowledge in hobbies, community service, citizenship and worship, she can find through her Girl Reserve Club many interests which she can explore and develop during her leisure hours.

During the discussion hour following her talk, Miss McDonald gave many practical suggestions as to how advisers could create this spirit in her club.

The meeting opened with a delicious supper served by the Burlington Girl Reserve Committee of which Mrs. Lawrence Parsons is chairman.

Girls' Camping Season Increased

The camp committee, with representatives from Camden, Burlington, Gloucester and Monmouth Counties, met Wednesday, February 27, at the home of Mrs. John Sipex, at Edgewater Park, where plans were made for the girls' camp at Ocknanickon this summer. A fourth week, which will be given over to employed girls, both business and industrial, will be included in this year's season. Miss Fern Kissinger, Y. W. C. A. Secretary for South Jersey, will be the camp director, and Miss Sidonie Schafer, of the County Y. W. C. A., will be the business manager.

Two National Secretaries

Miss Elizabeth Rogers, National Field Secretary for New Jersey, and Miss Helen Gifford, National Industrial Secretary, are to be in the County this week to assist with the work. Miss Gifford will spend the entire week here.

Gorton's Fish Roe

A delightful breakfast may be prepared by the following recipes with this healthful fish roe.

Mix contents of a can of Gorton's Fish Roe with a cup of bread crumbs and a beaten egg. Season to taste. Make into cakes and fry in smoking hot fat.

Southern style—Mix with scrambled eggs.

PALMYRA ENTERS CLASS "B" TOURNEY

Confident of Victory in Initial Tussle With Burlington at Camden

Coach Kenneth Dimond's Palmyra High School quintet will enter the South Jersey Class "B" tourney tomorrow confident of retaining sectional laurels which it won last year.

The first contest will be with Burlington High, which has twice fell before the prowess of the Red and White lassies. The game will be played on a neutral floor the place assigned being Camden High Sch' gymnasium, at 8 P. M. Friday.

A classic combat is expected as the "Burls" are the ancient rivals of the Palmyra institution in things athletic. The "Pals" will enter the game determined to make it three straight in revenge for the football defeat suffered last fall when Burlington won the County title after playing Palmyra to a tie in the first of two games. The boys from the big town up the river beat Palmyra in the second stadium tussle when several of Coach Dimond's stars were out of the line-up owing to injuries and illness.

Palmyra won the Class "B" title in the South Jersey tourney last year with little difficulty and progressed to the semi-final round in the State tourney, when it was eliminated in a classic struggle with Roselle Park High. The same season it won the championship of the Camden Suburban League in competition with several Class "A" schools. This year the Red and White finished second in the league with a record of 10 and 2, only a ball game behind the champion Woodbury outfit.

The South Jersey first round schedule follows:

March 8 Moorestown Millville Millville High School, 8 P. M.

Burlington vs. Palmyra, Camden High School, 8 P. M.

March 9 Mount Holly vs. Swedesboro, Camden High School, 8 P. M.

MOORESTOWN FIVE DEFEATS MT. HOLLY

Score of 32-17 Ends Lively Battle on Floor of Community House Gym

The Moorestown High basketball team defeated Mount Holly High with a score of 32-17 in a lively battle, at the local Community House last Friday.

The two teams were well matched and each registered seven times from the field, but a margin of five tonight gave the home team the victory. Pometon and McCann were the outstanding stars for Moorestown, the latter accounting for ten of their 32 points, while Ellis Parker and Howe starred for the Holly quintet.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 10

BAPTISM AND THE LORD'S SUPPER

Matthew 28:19, 20. I Corinthians 11:23-29

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

The two sacraments in the Christian Church are named in the title. The dictionary defines "sacrament" as an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace instituted by Jesus Christ." To the Roman soldier the word meant an oath or pledge that was taken especially when about to go forth to war or on a mission for his country.

The Scripture portions aside from those named above for intimate study are Matthew 3:13-17, Acts 2:38-41, Romans 6:1-14. Then it is recommended that you turn to each word in both a general and Bible dictionary.

Baptism is introduced by John the Baptizer during his preaching in the wilderness. He taught that people who became penitent because of their sins and pursued to live a different life should give public testimony thereto as they received the rite of Baptism, which would signify the inward working of grace. The Old Testament has many references to the use of water in symbolic cleansing. Jesus, coming from Nazareth, sought this Baptism not that He had committed any sin, but that He might thus formally take our law place before Jehovah.

When The Risen Lord gave His great commission He instructed the apostles and their followers to go everywhere proclaim repentance from sin through the Crucified One and then direct the converts to confess the conclusiveness of the change of heart and their purpose after new obedience to this rite of Baptism.

The Lord's Supper was instituted just after the observance of the Jewish Passover in the upper room in Jerusalem. Unleavened bread was used as a symbol and also the cup containing which He said an invitation, "Drink ye all of it." The rich meaning is set forth by Paul in the passage from I Corinthians. This Scripture is used by every Christian minister as he celebrates this Sacrament. The symbolism brings to mind the body and blood of Jesus Christ, which were given in sacrifice on the cross. The minister will break a piece of the bread and pour the grape juice during the service. Prayer is offered repeatedly, and particularly in setting these elements apart for this holy use. A very helpful book to give to any first communicant is "Coming to the Communion," by Rev. Charles R. Erdman, D.D.

This Memorial Supper has also a promise and links between the Ascension and the Second Advent, which is a truth to be believed by all Christians, and not only by those who especially emphasize the Return of our Lord. Another name for this Supper is Eucharist. This means "Giving of thanks." Solemnity of communion is in such a memorial and pledge, but it should also be rich with joy because of the blessings that have been made possible. In the service the believer accept what has been done for him and likewise pledges renewed and full obedience to his Savior.

JAZZ KING TURNS AUTO SALESMAN

From the muted trombone to a home tyde order for a new autogeddie may be a far cry in the life of the average musician, but to Paul Whiteman, recognized king of jazz, the role of car salesman or more probably early and naturally.

Years ago Whiteman old cars in Denver, Colo. He sold cars while playing music and dreaming of the day when he would turn the voice of the saxophone into rains of the realm. So it was perfectly in character for him recently while rendering concerts at the opening of a new Oakland-Pontiac showroom at Detroit to give up the baton for the fountain pen, step from the concert platform to the sales floor and demonstrate that he has a none of his old-time finesse in the matter of getting names on the dotted line.

Whiteman's first sale was for two new Pontiac Big Six 2-door sedans. In two and a half hours he sold five cars, and in five days he ran this total to thirteen.

His own success in the venture prompted him to speed up automobile sales contest among his band members. Whiteman put up a new Pontiac Big Six sport roadster as first prize. Between concert numbers members of the band took up predetermined positions on the floor alongside display models of the new Pontiac or the latest Oakland. All American Six two musicians to a car, and a regularly employed salesman also in attendance to answer detailed questions of prospects.

Kurt Dieterle violinist extraordinary, ran away with the prize, exacting two sales a night for the five days. The rivalry developed by the contest among the fifty-odd musicians resulted in the sale of 134 Oakland and Pontiac Sixes.

SCOUT NOTES

Last Thursday at the meeting of Troop 2, there was quite a bit of fun. Mr. Tallis, our Scout Executive, came and taught us a couple of games, which were greatly enjoyed by all. But, after these, is when the fun began.

Mr. Tallis let some of the boys try and make a plaster cast of his face. He first showed us some successful casts made by boys in other troops. It certainly was great fun, for the boys.

NOVELTY HANDBAGS

With the popularity of the fabric handbag has come the opportunity to have the scarf reflect the design of the handbag. Thus a bag of hand-loomed wool in futuristic pattern may be accompanied by a scarf of crepe de chine whose colors and motif repeat those of the bag. Wool embroidery in many hues and design appears on sport bags. Hand-painted crepe de chine is used for a smart back-strap bag and scarf in three shades of blue.

AIRPLANE PILOT LIGHT NEWARK FLYING FIELD

The first practical application in New Jersey of a new use of electricity in aviation was demonstrated last week at Newark when the pilot of a mail plane touched a button in his machine and lighted up the flying field two thousand feet below, reports the New Jersey Public Utility Information Committee.

The push on the button released a wind vane that operated on a sound-sensitive apparatus long enough to turn on the twenty-five million candle-power floodlight that illuminates the airport.

Two inventions of the last two years made the new lighting device possible. One is the Rowoles gridglow, and the other a vibrating reed relay. An idea of their sensitiveness may be had from the fact that it is estimated the energy that a fly expends in crawling half an inch up a wall is sufficient to sound vibrations to set the Rowoles tube in action. The apparatus will respond only to the exact pitch for which it is set.

The automatic relays may be set to operate at any sound desired, such as the whirr of a plane's propeller, the roar of its exhaust or the muffled sound of an automobile.

WINGED DELEGATES

When the recent International Civil Aeronautics Conference in Washington was about to start it was discovered that the delegate of honor was missing. Orville Wright, only survivor of the two brothers who twenty-five years before had made the first airplane flight at Kitty Hawk, was on his way by train.

Despite this momentary desertion of its distinguished parent, the airplane has become a favorite form of transportation for out-of-town conferences and business trips where speed is more important than cost. Most of those who attended the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce Convention at Chicago flew there. In fact, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey volunteered one of its planes, a Lockheed-Vega cabin ship, as an aerial taxi for the officials. The same craft recently completed an air survey of principal landing fields and oil producing areas inside of about three weeks.

Yet it is less than a century ago that the admission of Oregon to the Union was opposed in Congress on the grounds that it would take even a husky young senator the entire year just making the round trip between his home state and the national capital.

MAYOR 28 TIMES

Lewes, Del.—Dr. James T. Thompson, 85, has commenced serving his 28th term of Mayor. He claims to be the oldest Mayor in point of service and age in the United States. One third of his life has been devoted to his job.

PLANT GROWERS ALSO BOWLERS

Dreer Employees to Have Try Out at Febries Next Tuesday Evening

A list of twenty bowlers have signed up for the annual tournament among the employees of Riverton's big plant showing establishment to compete for honors at Febries Alleys Riverside, next Tuesday night March 12th.

Prizes for high scores and also for the leading team will be awarded.

In addition to knocking over the maples, the plant prowess will "spare" some of the chicken and trimmings which is on the schedule to be served after the contest.

Joe Stellwag of Riverside is manager of the tournament and Mary Burns the manager.

The five men with the highest average will represent the company in matches to be played against the Riverton Fire Company and the Post Office date and place to be announced later.

SEA AIR WILL WORK HEALTH MIRACLES

Dr. John D. McLean, the International Authority, Discusses Sending King of England to Shore

Beach Haven—Dr. John D. McLean the international authority on heart and lung diseases, while inspecting the site for his new sea-shore home brought out facts of interest to every citizen of New Jersey.

When talking to Robert P. O'Brien, local business man he said: "Jersey-men had to realize what a tremendous asset you have in your seashore. From the viewpoint of a medical man you are overlooking a great opportunity. You should make more capital of this most important of your natural advantages. This is the health message. It sets you apart from less fortunate sections. A boon would be conferred on humanity, if you would make this fact more widely known, and the wealth of your State would increase in proportion sooner or later the general public will find this out, so why not take immediate steps to make the most of it?"

"Did you notice," he continued, "that the physicians to the King of England did not send the Monarch to the mountains, nor to the so-called health resorts, but to the seashore? Like the famous Dr. Woods, Hutchinson, and other authorities they recognized that the seashore ultra violet rays of sunshine, when absorbed along with the iodine content of all waters and salt air, form a combination impossible to surpass for its health promoting qualities."

It was Dr. McLean who coined the epigram: "At Beach Haven you want to stay outdoors and that's the secret of good health," and the publicity given this phrase has done much to bring this resort to the front. It must be admitted that this description could also be applied to other resorts.

The influenza epidemic is now on the wane, but its evil aftereffects are felt for quite a long period. The disease however, shifts the attack, weakens its victims, and lowers their powers of resistance. In the majority of cases, complete recovery is far more rapid when deep breathing exercises are taken in the sunniest of the shore. These beneficial results are apparent even if only a day is spent by the breakers, though a longer period is recommended.

NOW TIME TO INSPECT SAYS BEE AUTHORITY

The present burst of activity of bees after having started brood rearing may be accepted as a rebuttal to dictum of spring.

Beekeepers, in recognition of this fact, should now take the time requisite to make a thorough inspection of their apiaries and prepare for the coming of the season, comments Ray Hutson assistant entomologist in apiculture for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

He explains that in most places brood rearing makes great demands on the colony for food, and as no sources of nectar are available at present, bees are inclined to rob other colonies at the first opportunity.

Robbing, which usually takes place in the weak or dead colonies, may cause serious loss. Mr. Hutson goes on to say, and every precaution should be taken to prevent its occurrence. He advises the protection of weak colonies to prevent robbing.

"Dead colonies should be taken up now and closely examined." Mr. Hutson states. "If there is no evidence of infection the combs may be used in feeding colonies which are short of stores. Neglect of this small matter of caring for dead colonies at this time of year often results in a much greater expenditure of labor at a later date.

"Weak colonies should be fed either sugar syrup or honey from a clean source. Because of the possibility of transmitting bees diseases, commercial honey should not under any conditions be fed to bees.

Milady's Beauty Secrets

By Helena Rubinstein

Her lips are like two budded roses
Whom rankles of Bliss neighbor nigh
THOMAS HODGE

The Modern Mode in Mouths

When your mouth begins to lose its pretty you are showing an inevitable sign of age. To retain the width and beauty of your face I beg you then look to the pendulity of the mouth. The lips themselves will not grow old if they are kept soft and pliable through constant lubrication.

Either white or pink lip pomade will keep the flesh soft and even, and prevent chappings as well. The angle of the mouth, however, shows its true nature then by texture. A loss of elasticity of the muscle of the face is likely to develop pockets at the corners of the mouth. There is no mistaking this unbeautiful sign of the years, but like everything else it is far easier to prevent than to correct.

If no more than the tendency is established, to massage the mouth from the center of the chin upward in one gentle rotary movement, with the tension of the finger tip which a rich nourishing cream is applied, will help to correct this condition and prevent it. The parentheses around your mouth, and most women over twenty-five show them must be counteracted through the same methods. The dimple that is bewitching at twenty is far too often a pipe at a hollow at forty.

For the expression lines, the changeable lines which crisp themselves around the corners of the mouth, a hot ion astringent is an excellent precaution. The muscles will not age if they are encouraged to firmness by either the factor of a mild astringent jelly, the last preceded the relaxation is not too noticeable.

Last of all we come to making up the mouth. I know of people a half dozen whom in my whole experience who could not be improved by a little clever touching up of the lips. Many women especially the mature type feel that lipmake up is too artificial and too extreme to become them. I grant you that some make up as dreadful but I also contend that it is just as dreadful for sixteen as it would be for sixty. Your mouth should be most carefully colored. Should you be the woman in the thousand who can get away with it, very highly colored lips may be interesting. If this be your type and you cannot afford to experiment if you must KNOW, your cheeks should be pale and given by the one bright spot of contrasting color to your face.

The average make up requires both lipstick and rouge but these should be sparingly and discreetly applied.

VINCENTOWN GIRL H. GIVEN ESSAY AWARDS

A silver loving cup and a cash prize of $25 last week was presented by Elmer Morrison, H year old pupil at the Vincentown School by the Camden Chamber of Commerce for the best essay on "Good Will" in a recent contest. The Morrison girl lives at Evansville and attends school at Vincentown. The prize was offered by the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Camden Chamber during a recent Good Will Rules Week. The Evansville girl was adjudged winner of the first prize in a large field of competitors. The cup stays in the school as long as the is a pupil there and when she leaves it becomes her permanent property. She received the each award personally.

FIREMEN BOWL AT CLUB

A bowling party of twenty-eight firemen visited the Country Club alleys last Saturday night and kept the pin-boys on the jump for the evening.

Some of the "smoke-eaters" climbed well up the score ladder while some others "fell down and went bowl."

After telling the timbers for three strenuous games the boys finished off the evening with a feed served by the Club steward.

Cold Weather Desserts

IN crisp cold days appetites grow keener and we may use heartier foods in the menu with real enjoyment. This is the open season for hearty desserts, hot puddings with flavorful sauces, mince meat pie, cream puffs, doughnuts.

A woman who is known for the delicious menu combinations she plans confided in me, "When I am planning a meal of left-over foods, I think particularly of a new and favorite dessert for my family. The dessert comes last and creates a final impression as to whether the meal was good or not. Of course I never tell them they are eating left-overs. I just remember my rule, 'something sweet and something new leaves a good taste in the mouth and memory.'"

Steamed Puddings

If you have never made a fruited pudding with suet start tomorrow, for this is the season when it will be enjoyed most by all the family. A few figs, dates or raisins with a few nuts and chopped suet and you are ready for mixing, with the other supplies always on hand in the cabinet.

Or even the more simply steamed molasses pudding, which, without fruits, is one of the most inexpensive desserts, will make most of the family say, "Mv, It's good!" But, like the apple pie without the cheese, you must not forget a tasty sauce with the pudding. Any can with a tight fitting lid will do for the mould in which to steam the pudding. I usually use a one pound coffee can. In steaming without a regular steamer, place the can of pudding on a rack in a larger utensil which can be covered. If you do not have a rack, use anything that will lift the can so that the water boils under it as well as around the sides. Surround the can within an inch or two of the top, bring water to the boil, then place over the simmering burner and keep it at a gentle boil for the required time, depending on the size of the pudding. If you are fortunate enough to have one of the gas ranges with an oven heat regulator, your steamed pudding may be cooked in the oven with the other foods in the dinner menu. The pudding pan must be tightly covered and put into oven when the temperature is reduced to 275 degrees, remaining for three hours. It is not necessary to place pudding pan in another pan with water, just put it on shelf of oven with other foods.

Suet Pudding

1 cup finely chopped suet	1½ tsp. salt
1 cup molasses	½ tsp. ginger
1½ cups milk	½ tsp. clove
3 cups flour	½ tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. soda	1 tsp. cinnamon
	2½ cup raisins

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add molasses and milk to suet, combine mixtures. Turn into a buttered mould or pudding pan, cover tightly. Place in oven with rest of foods at time temperature is reduced. Or steam three hours on top burners. Serve with hard sauce.

Hard Sauce

4 tbsp. butter	1 cup confectioner's sugar
1 tsp. boiling water	1 tsp. lemon extract

Steamed Molasses Pudding

1 cup molasses	1 cup sweet milk
4 tbsp. shortening	1 tsp cinnamon
2 cups bread flour	1 tsp. cloves
	1 tsp soda

Dissolve soda in milk. Melt shortening, add molasses, milk and dry ingredients, turn into greased moulds. Steam 2½ hours. Serve with Foamy Sauce.

Foamy Sauce

1 cup powdered sugar	¼ cup boiling water
¼ cup butter	1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg well beaten

Rub sugar and butter to a cream, add egg and beat well. Just before serving add boiling water and vanilla.

HONEY'S MANY USES TOLD BY SPECIALIST

There is a definite place in the diet for honey, says Miss Marie Doermann, New Jersey extension specialist in foods, in explaining the wide variety of ways in which that delicacy may be used.

In addition to its common use on waffles, pancakes, and muffins, she points out, honey may be used in place of cane sugar for the sweetening of fresh fruits and fruit drinks.

Some doctors, Miss Doermann adds, recommend the use of honey for cases of acidosis. This is because honey seems to be more easily assimilated than cane sugar. For the same reason, honey is often preferred to cane sugar in the diet of children.

"In baked foods honey has an advantage over sugar in that it attracts moisture to itself and keeps the product more moist," Miss Doermann states. "This applies to cakes, cookies, doughnuts, and sweet breads. Honey may be substituted for sugar in any recipe, using an equal amount, but the other liquid material used must be reduced one-fourth. Honey, like molasses, is slightly acid, so some soda must be used to neutralize it. In any recipe, from one-quarter to one-half teaspoonful of soda should be added regardless of the other leavening agents. Keep honey at room temperature to prevent granulation.

"Soft honey cake is made by creaming one-half cup of butter with 1 cup of honey until well blended. Sift together 2 cups of flour 1 teaspoon of soda, one-half teaspoon of ginger, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon, and one-eighth teaspoon of salt. Beat an egg well and add to the honey mixture, then part of the sifted dry ingredients. Now add one-half cup of sour milk and the remainder of the dry ingredients. Beat hard and pour in layer cake tins. Bake from 20 to 25 minutes in a moderately hot oven. This cake improves in flavor if kept in a tin box."

PROPOSE PUBLIC ISLANDS FOR WILD-FOWL HUNTERS

Methods of providing public gunning points in New Jersey coastal bays that will be open to all sportsmen during the wild fowl season, are being considered by the State Fish and Game Commission and legislation that will open some way for the creation of such hunting grounds, is expected to appear in the present session of the law-makers at Trenton. Owing to the purchase or lease of many of the best islands and meadow lands by individuals or clubs, during recent years, it is claimed that the native gunners and visiting sportsmen have been finding it increasingly difficult to enjoy a day's gunning for ducks and geese. That the state should own and put under control of the Fish and Game Commission for public hunting parks, all islands that may be created in open waters by the dredging of inland water ways in the bays is a suggested remedy advanced by Fish and Game Commissioner H. M. Armstrong.

RAPID GROWTH FOR EARLY LAMB GAINS

"In producing lambs for the early market every effort should be made to keep them growing rapidly until the desired weight is attained."

So states Prof. William C. Skelley, assistant animal husbandman for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, in outlining important steps in profitable lamb production.

Rapid growth may be obtained, he says, by properly feeding a ration that includes a green mixture and legume hay of good quality. Two parts of ground corn and ground oats and one part of linseed oil meal and bran are recommended as a desirable grain mixture.

A lamb that is strong and healthy at birth, according to Professor Skelley, will begin to gain immediately if properly fed.

"Lambs intended for market should be fed grain as soon as they will eat it," he advises, "and generally this time is reached when they are 10 to 16 days old. Feed the lambs well when they are young because cheapest gains in weight are made at that time."

As a means of keeping feed before the lambs the use of hay racks and feed troughs is advised. These should be placed inside of a creep which allows the lamb to eat at will and at the same time excludes the ewes.

GREEN VEGETABLES TONIC SUBSTITUTE

Green, leafy vegetables are an essential in the diet because of their valuable mineral and vitamin content states Miss Marie Doermann, New Jersey extension specialist in foods.

Three vegetables a day, one of which should be a green, is a desirable standard, the specialist advises, adding that "if this rule were followed by everyone there would be little need for spring tonics."

Among the leaf vegetables high in minerals and vitamins Miss Doermann lists lettuce, cabbage, spinach, kale, endive, broccoli dandelion greens, and beet tops. She suggests, however, that because fresh vegetables are expensive at this season, one may alternate between canned, cooked, and raw vegetables, the plan making for both variety and economy.

"Uncooked vegetables retain 100 per cent. of their food value, whereas cooked vegetables may lose valuable food elements," declares the specialist. "The amount of minerals contained in cooked vegetables, for example, is largely determined by the method of cooking. Greens cooked in a large amount of water do not contain as much iron as greens cooked in a small amount of water. Many vitamins, too, may be killed by prolonged heating. If vegetables are not over-cooked, they will be more palatable. Any liquid that may be left after cooking should be saved and used for cream soup or sauces.

"Examples of vegetables which may be served uncooked in order to obtain 100 per cent. of their food value are: Lettuce, endive, romaine, cabbage, and watercress."

SEED PRODUCTION IS PROFITABLE SIDELINE

The possibilities of seed production as a profitable sideline should be considered by New Jersey growers, states the agricultural experiment station at New Brunswick, in announcing a list of field crop varieties that have been found especially well adapted to conditions in this state.

Dr. H. B. Sprague, agronomist for the station, in reporting these varieties, for some of which a shortage of seed exists, comments as follows:

"Kanota oats has produced higher yields and a better quality of grain than the varieties of oats formerly grown. Alpha barley has likewise given better results. Winter wheat varieties proved to be desirable for this state include Red Rock, Leap's Prolific, and Dawson's Golden Chaff.

"Well-adapted varieties of corn, as demonstrated by cooperative tests of farmers with the experiment station and extension service, are Hubbart Yellow Dent, Reid's White Cap, Lancaster Sure Crop, Mercer White Cap, and Somerset Leaming.

"Improved strains of timothy, clover, and other crops will soon be ready for distribution.

"The isolation of superior varieties, however, is but one step in reducing costs of production. In addition, seed must be produced in sufficient quantity to permit the replacement of old varieties with improved ones.

"In this connection, there is no reason why some New Jersey farmers should not raise the necessary seed of these improved crops, and make a substantial profit by so doing. Growers should begin with certified seed, handle the crop in an approved manner, and have it inspected and tagged by the proper state authorities."

WAR ON DISEASE POULTRY SLOGAN

Poultrymen who would reduce chick mortality and grow better pullets may do so by participating in the 1929 "Wage War on Worms and Disease" campaign, states Leslie M. Black, New Jersey extension specialist in poultry husbandry, who is directing this State-wide project.

In announcing the seven recommendations that serve as a foundation for the program of sanitation and disease prevention, Mr. Black reports that poultrymen who followed these suggestions a year ago were able to reduce their chick mortality to 14 per cent. The average loss where the campaign was not followed was said to be 30 per cent.

This year's campaign, as was the 1928 drive, will be based on the following recommendations:

1. Hatch or purchase chicks early. Early chicks are most easily brooded, are healthier, and mature more quickly into large birds capable of producing high-priced late summer and fall eggs.

2. Keep the brooder house clean. The brooder house should be thoroughly cleaned before chicks are placed in it. Regular twice a week cleaning until the chicks are 12 weeks old, and once a week thereafter, will do much toward reducing the spread of disease and parasites.

3. Provide clean range. Rotated ranges are essential if soil contamination is to be eliminated.

4. Keep old and young stock separated. Old birds may act as carriers of disease to the growing stock.

5. Build a screened manure shed. Droppings should be regularly removed to a storage place where flies cannot enter, if tapeworms are to be controlled.

6. Wire in the dropping boards with 14-gauge wire of inch and a half mesh. Such a practice will save eggs and prevent the production of dirty eggs. Most important is the fact that it prevents the spread of disease and parasites.

7. Clean the dropping boards daily. This practice should be followed on every commercial plant, particularly during warm weather. It will go far in reducing the danger from the droppings, which are the chief source of infection in most disease outbreaks.

IMPROVED TYPE PEAS SUPPLANT FAVORITE

Market gardeners and other growers of vegetables, in their selection of varieties of peas for 1929 should choose types that are suited to the present demands of both the consumer and producer, advises Dr. C. M. Haenseler, assistant plant pathologist for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. He explains that in the past 10 years many of the once-popular varieties have been supplanted by new ones.

"The variety of peas most extensively grown at the present time is World's Record," he states. "Since its excellent showing in trial plots in 1922 the World's Record has grown in popularity until in 1928 approximately 75 per cent of the commercial pea acreage in Burlington County was planted to this variety.

"In 1928 the Mammoth Podded Extra Early, a new variety, proved to be especially well adapted to New Jersey conditions. This variety is slightly earlier than World's Record or Thomas Laxton, grows vigorously, produces a large green pod, and yields heavily. If it proves as satisfactory every year as in 1928 it should become one of our leading commercial varieties.

"Among the dwarf types the old varieties, Little Marvel and Laxtonian, still retain their popularity, and where aphids are not a serious problem, give perfect satisfaction. The dwarfs are especially desirable where peas are interplanted with tomatoes and are still used by many growers despite their greater susceptibility to aphis injury.

"Of the early, tall, large-podded types like Thomas, Laxton, Gradus, Pilot, Pioneer, and several others that have been used extensively for many years and are still more or less popular, all but the Thomas Laxton are rapidly giving way to varieties better suited to our needs."

WHAT FARM ACCOUNTING MEANT IN THE MANAGEMENT OF A FARM

Successful Farmer Tells How Pencil Helped Guide His Operations and Swell His Income—An Aid to Better Credit—Shows Profits and Prevents Losses.

THE owner and operator of one of the most successful dairy farms in Wisconsin prepared recently for the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association a first hand statement of the part farm accounting has played in the management of his enterprise. This operator, W. J. Dougan, tells the following story:

"When I started farming I began keeping a simple cash account, but soon found that it was not sufficient accounting for farm purposes. Such a record did not take into consideration the vital factors of improvements, growth of live stock or depreciation.

"Since 1910 I have kept a complete account on the accrual basis. The accounts, however, are no more than any farmer can easily keep. The outstanding benefits from keeping such accounts might be listed as follows:

The Way it Works

"1. Income tax reports made easier. Accurate and dependable income tax reports can be made from the yearly accounts. By keeping them on file I am always ready to satisfy the tax inspectors.

"2. Accounting makes possible a budget system.—With the accumulated data of the past years, I can make out the budget for the coming year. The income being fairly stable the budget problem is to adjust the expenditures. If one branch of the business will need extraordinary expenditure such as new machinery, there must be a cut in some other branch, such as building or livestock purchased, or fencing.

"3. Accounting gives a true basis for credit.—Especially has accounting meant for me larger credit and happy relations with my banker. With a complete financial statement before him the banker can intelligently determine what credit I should have. With a full knowledge of the farm profits in the past, I know what credit I should accept. No farmer or business man should accept credit from his bank unless he is able to put the money into productive investment and his margin of profit assures the ability to repay the loan within a reasonable time.

"For the farm this reasonable time cannot be three or six months. The farm turnover is too slow for that. A helpful and just period of farm credit for working capital must be from one to four years.

"There is another benefit from accounting—the benefit of knowing whether one is going up or down. By extra sales one might be flush of money and buy heavily, thinking he is coming out ahead, but in reality he is sacrificing the future. On the other hand, one might feel pinched, and have little money to spend, but in reality he is laying up capital."

The bankers Agricultural Commission has suggested the following form of farm credit statement, indicating the records necessary to be kept:

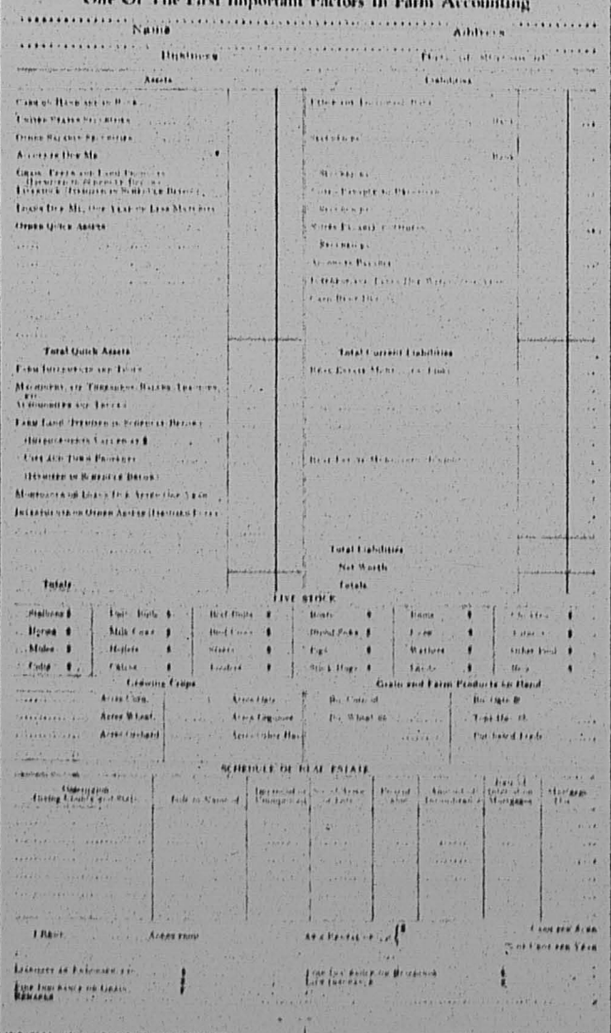
One Of The First Important Factors In Farm Accounting



TURN TO YOUR GARDEN— FOR HEALTH, PLEASURE, PROFIT

It is natural at this time of the year that the thoughts of men, women, and children turn garden-ward. For the garden contributes to the pleasure of the home and all who live in it from earliest spring until late in fall.

What an added zest there is to all vegetables when they are grown in one's own garden; starting with the earliest of the radishes and continuing with the many vegetables which can be so readily stored for winter use. Home grown vegetables not only taste better, but they are far more profitable. Seed costs very little and the slight amount of care required is well repaid, not only in the results secured, but also in the pleasure that there is in this wholesome outdoor recreation.

Throughout this locality there are very few homes indeed that are not surrounded with sufficient ground not only for a vegetable garden, but also for flower beds, the blooms from which from spring until late fall add brightness and color outside and provide wonderful bouquets for inside the home. Of course, a most important factor is to plant good seed, for it does not pay to plan and cultivate, only to have results disappointing because the seed was not bought from a firm which was thoroughly reliable.

As a guide to garden lovers in the selection of good seeds and as a source of valuable information on how to get the best results, the 184-page illustrated catalogue of "Michell's Seed House," 518 Market street, Philadelphia, is of value to any reader of this paper. This book is instructive and helpful, and includes everything needful for your garden from seeds, bulbs, or plants of all sorts, to inexpensive garden tools and implements, fertilizers, insecticides, poultry supplies, etc.

Do not forget to write today to Michell's Seed House, 518 Market street, Philadelphia, mentioning this paper, and they will mail you a copy of this interesting catalogue. And jot down now in your radio log a reminder to tune into Station WIP every Wednesday at 8 P. M. At that time "Everybody's Garden," a new feature, sponsored by Michell's, will be broadcast, and this program will be replete with information of timely importance to every garden lover.

SOME KEY

London—Every door look in the village of New Conisborough, a mining village near Worcaster, can be opened with one key.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS OF THEN AND NOW

With a prospect of 25,000,000 motor vehicles on the roads in 1929, every U. S. municipality that boasts more than one Main Street is giving thought to the traffic problem. All over the country they are talking of tunnels and elevated roads, stop lights and mechanical cops, to prevent further congestion of the streets.

To listen to our traffic experts you would think they had something entirely new on their hands. Why, even Rome had the same question to tackle. The LAMP, published by the Standard Oil Company (N. J.), has an interesting article in its current issue on transportation in those days. The Appian Way, it says, had become a veritable race course. In and out between the lumbering ox carts and stately litters, Roman youths used to drive their noisy chariots at a reckless pace. A jaywalker's only chance was to emulate his namesake and fly across. Finally Caesar had to pass a law about it.

Early American travelers had their traffic troubles, too. Stage coaches used to whirl over the rocky roads at breakneck speed—sometimes going as fast as fifteen miles an hour. But the passengers never complained. They were too busy keeping their respective vertebrae in proper alignment.

Even had there been traffic lights at the cross roads, they wouldn't have done any good, for the only effective brake was a mud hole or the edge of a cliff. It would always have been a race to beat the light. If one coach got by, there was no motor-cycle cop to chase him.

Had the race been a tie, of course no one would have been the wiser.

ELECTRIC BROODERS GAIN IN POPULARITY

The increasing popularity of electric brooders for young chicks is largely due to their ease of operation and simplicity of control, states W. C. Krueger, New Jersey extension specialist in rural electrification. He claims the electric brooders require infinitely less care than either coal or oil brooders and the temperature regulation, once adjustment is made is automatic and positive. The fire hazard, he adds, is also decreased.

Electric brooders are satisfactory for a modern warm temperature, but when used in cold weather they require auxiliary heat in the brooder room, Mr. Krueger states. Most electric brooders are insulated to confine their heat to the brooder area, with the result that the room is not heated as is the case when coal or oil brooders are used. Electricity for room heating is too expensive, even at low rates.

Trials of electric brooders on the Lakewood Poultry Farm at Lakewood emphasized the importance of dependable heat control, of careful insulation of the brooder to minimize the expense of heat losses, and of good materials and workmanship. Cheap equipment generally turns out expensive in the end.

The dampness sometimes encountered under curtained brooders can be controlled by raising the brooder to afford air circulation. Curtainless brooders with good ventilation systems apparently give less trouble in this respect. The Lakewood tests agree with those made in a number of other states in reporting a current consumption of between 7 and 1.04 kilowatt hours per chick brooded over a 6-week's period.

CONTROL MEASURES FOR POULTRY LICE

The louey hen, discontented and unhappy because of her small but innumerable afflictions, cannot produce eggs at her maximum efficiency.

All of which according to Dr. F. R. Beaudette, pathologist for the New Jersey Experiment Station is reason enough why poultrymen should not tolerate lice in their flocks. In addition to being marks of filth and neglect he declares lice are responsible for a reduced egg yield and lowered income.

There are about 40 species of lice infesting domesticated birds and more than 1,250 species of bird lice, the pathologist says in explaining why lice infestations are widespread wherever poultry is kept.

"Lice," he says, "spends their entire life on the bird. The eggs are laid in the feathers, are hatched there and the young grow to maturity without leaving the host. Hence treatment should be directed at the bird although the house should be cleaned to remove such lice that have accidentally separated from the host.

The three common agents used to destroy lice are mercurial ointment, sodium fluoride and Black Leaf 40," states Beaudette. "A bit of mercurial ointment is placed beneath the vent and on top of the head. Sodium fluoride, when used as a dust, is put on by the pinch method. This involves placing a pinch on the head beneath each wing, on the inside of each thigh, below the vent, and on the breast. A single application should be sufficient. An ounce of the dust may be placed in a gallon of water to be used as a dip but this method can be used only during very warm weather.

"Black Leaf 40 is a highly desirable remedy both from the standpoint of efficiency and ease of application. The liquid is placed in an oil can which is used to put a thin streak along each perch or wherever the birds roost at night. Three or four drops should also be put in each nest. The applications should be made just before the fowls go to roost. The heat of the bird's body causes the fumes to penetrate the feathers and this kills the lice. One application will continue to be active the second night after which practically all lice will be killed."

Samuel Bowersby, aged 77, died in a poorhouse in London, where he had been an inmate since he was 7 years old.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

Hours in a colorful kitchen fly by on magic wings! So what is to prevent our turning dead white cabinets into attractive shelves of ivory or dove gray lined with a soft, rich orange shade, or some other favorite color that harmonizes with the floor covering and woodwork?

Then the crockery. One by one, set go the uninteresting specimens and in come odd-shaped pieces that are pretty with our orange linings—say moss green crocks, several in the little-brown-jug color, perhaps a piece or two in a deep orange-red tone.

This transformation from the drab, characterless kitchen to the vivid, cheerful one is such a simple little trick to perform after all.

1 pint milk, 3 eggs beaten separately, 1 cup sugar. Make a custard using milk, yolks of eggs and sugar. Put beaten whites on top and cover with marshmallows. Put under blaze and brown lightly.

FOR TEA SANDWICHES

Mix ½ cup chopped English walnuts and three times the amount of fresh grated cocoanut. Moisten with cream and 2 tablespoons of confectioners' sugar and spread between buttered brown bread.

SUBSTITUTE FOR EGGS

When eggs soar in price substitute cornstarch for them in recipes. Instead of using two eggs for example, use only one and sift one tablespoon of the cornstarch with the flour to take the place of the second egg.

EASY TOAST

If you have no electric toaster and do not wish to heat the oven for slices of bread in the frying pan and they will brown nicely on top of the stove, leaving no crumbs to gather!

SEED AND SOIL CHOICE INFLUENCES EGGPLANT

In reminding eggplant growers that a fungous disease known as fruit rot may cause them heavy losses again this year, Dr. C. M. Haenseler, assistant plant pathologist for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, asserts that the best insurance against this disease lies in the use of uninfected seed and uninfected soil.

Bad losses from fruit rot occur when eggplants are grown in fields that were infected the previous year or later has been so serious in fact that in better producers have given eggplant in the same field two years in succession.

Fruit rot may also occur in fields where this crop has never been grown before, Dr. Haenseler states. In such cases the rot fungus is brought into the field on plants grown from infected seed.

"Eggplant seeds as they are bought from seedsmen carry no guarantee that they come from healthy fruit and for this reason none but bright colored seed should be accepted, seed of a dull color and showing metallic black spots or blotches almost certainly come from decayed fruit.

"From 2 to 4 per cent of the seed from most commercial lots carry the rot fungus. Since no efficient seed treatment is known which will destroy the rot fungus in the infected seed without injury to the seed itself, our only hope is non infected seed.

"The surest plan is to save your own seed from healthy fruits. If purchased seed must be planted use only bright colored lots from which all seeds showing black spots have been removed."

BUYERS TO SHUN UNLABELED SEED

In purchasing bulk quantities of seed look for the label required by the New Jersey seed law, which is the interested guide to quality says Miss Jessie G. Fiske, State seed analyst.

The label shows the percentage purity of freedom from weed seeds and inert matter and the germination or growth percentage for agricultural crop seeds. Only the germination percentage is shown on vegetable seeds. The date of the test which indicates the approximate age of the seed is also listed.

Miss Fiske states that a dealer according to the New Jersey law has the alternative of using a half-guaranteed clause such as not tested in which the purchaser is buying entirely at his own risk. Absence of a label is to direct violation of the legal requirement and no one should be so careless as to purchase unlabeled seed.

Buyers are partially protected in the matter of seed purchasing. The State Seed Laboratory is a bureau of information on seeds and is ready to render free testing service of those identification or other recommendations regarding the use and quality of seed for seeding purposes.

The Thirtieth President

By George B. Lockwood

[illegible]

No man has ever come to the Presidency of the United States [illegible] Mr. Hoover becomes the Thirtieth President before whom the oath of office is administered. The time at his disposal in which to acquaint and familiarize himself with the duties of the office is more limited than perhaps any President who has preceded him. Mr. Hoover is known [illegible] thoroughly prepared for the duties of the office he is about to assume. He would be the first to admit that he has yet much to learn as to the details of the office, but what he has and what is more important than perhaps any other asset, the personal qualities of mind, Presidents have been before. Partly because they had been known to public life for years before they were elected to the office. Mr. Hoover's qualifications for the Presidency [illegible] obvious. No man ever went to the Presidency [illegible] manifestations of public confidence but that confidence was based upon what people know about Mr. Hoover personally, his business ideas and deeds which are matters of known record. This is a far sounder basis of confidence than partisan [illegible] personalities. To most people in the country who know Mr. Hoover is something of a mystery. But what he has been able to accomplish [illegible] as an engineer and as one of the most outstanding figures of achievement [illegible] of the present day. Mr. Hoover's record is to the credit of an American [illegible] pressed not by any material but by motives beginning with small things and broadening out to matters of a world wide interest, and every job well done.

Some explanations of Mr. Hoover's achievements, however, are necessary. First must be placed the factor of motive. The element of [illegible] motive as why life is the purpose that guides it. That may be inherited, it may be acquired through contacts, it may be willed. As one reads of the earlier life of Herbert Hoover it is evident that from the beginning of his adventures in life [illegible] thing in his work, he made a study of putting fame at fortune. His warm imagination saw the branch of the Hoovings of all lands. So to Mr. Hoover as a youth called to the service intended, of a mine, he did everything others had rounded over many. It is that industry was a human art and a man's mechanical thing, and that the better it is well a the board of men must be put there if it was to be successful even from a design or rent standpoint. Because of the [illegible] tasks to which he set himself was that of making that organization a labor embodiment. He made the success of the enterprise worth while to his associates who worked with pick and shovel as well as to those who drew dividends from the enterprise in London. He did not want profit to become a condition of [illegible] great things, any man who [illegible] of profit. When Herbert Hoover [illegible] because they had been [illegible] the life partly because they were [illegible] obvious. No man ever went to the Presidency [illegible] Broadly

SUNDAY TO OPEN DEDICATION WEEK FOR NEW CHURCH

Baptists of Palmyra and Riverton to Hold Special Services

REV. CHARLES GOODALL TO PREACH IN MORNING

Pastor Lockett Will Deliver Sermon, "Our Church Home" in Evening"

The beautiful new Central Baptist Church building will be formally dedicated at special dedication services Sunday morning when the Rev. Charles Goodall, executive secretary of the New Jersey State Convention will preach the sermon. Special services will be continued throughout the week in commemoration of this great event in the church life of Palmyra Riverton and vicinity.

The new church, which has been erected adjacent to the site upon which the Central Baptist Church has stood since 1886 is a splendid structure of gothic architecture of ample size to meet the requirements of the congregation for many years. It will seat 400 and has a completely equipped Sunday School section, divided into classrooms and departmental auditoriums. The school has an enrollment approximately the church membership.

A number of stained glass memorial windows have been placed in the main church auditorium, as well as a beautiful pipe organ. A social room in the basement when converted into a dining hall, will accommodate 250 persons.

The cornerstone of the new church was laid Sunday July 8, last year. Members of the building committee are as follows: George N. Wimer, mayor of Palmyra; Thomas Van Osten, David Wood Walton Taylor and Clarence Yerkes, chairman.

The Rev. George Lockett, pastor of the church, has been in Palmyra over three years. His previous pastorate was at the New Berean Baptist Church, West Philadelphia. At present he is chaplain of the Riverton-Palmyra Rotary Club, the Independence Fire Company, Palmyra, and Covenant Lodge, F. and A. M.

CINNAMINSON P. T. A.

Cinnaminson P. T. A. will meet Wednesday afternoon, March 20, at 3:30 o'clock.

The Problem Parent. We often speak of the problem child. What would a problem parent be like? Is there such a person?

Parents, have you ever asked yourself:

1 - Why does my child not appreciate the things I do for him?

2. What makes my child selfish?

3. Why do children leave home?

No? If you have never asked yourself these or numerous similar questions, you are not a Problem Parent. You are excused. How many of us are excused?

We all have problems. A heart-to-heart talk among our Problem Parents can show that they are not so different after all, no matter who the parent may be.

PRESS CHAIRMAN.

WILL DISPLAY ANTIQUE FURNITURE AT PORCH CLUB

As a result of a Members' Loan Exhibition, on Tuesday March 19th, the Porch Club of Riverton will be the scene of a display of attic treasures. Under the direction of Mrs. Murray C. Boyer and Mrs. Benjamin S. Mechling, the auditorium of the Club will be arranged according to rooms, in order to show to advantage the many beautiful pieces of early American furniture and furnishings which Rivertonians own and use in their homes.

ELWOOD RISLEY

Elwod Risley of Pleasantville, died last Friday night of blood poisoning and pneumonia, resulting from injuries suffered February 23, when a county road scraper turned over on Zion road, Northfield, pinning Mr. Risley underneath. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Mr. Risley, who was 66, is survived by his widow and four sisters, including Mrs. Caroline Hires, of Palmyra, and a brother.

PARENT-TEACHERS TO HOLD ELECTION

Palmyra Association Plans Interesting Program for Next Tuesday's Meeting

The regular March meeting of the Palmyra Parent Teachers' Association will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Delaware avenue building.

This will be a very important meeting as nominations for officers will be presented.

Beginning with the March meeting there will be a room roll call of all the parents of the children of each room who attend the monthly meetings of the P. T. A. The room having the largest number of parents present will receive the honor banner for that month.

The room having the banner the most number of times before the close of school will receive a picture, or any other suitable prize which the class and teacher desires as a reward. Parents are requested to help their children win the banner by attending the meetings regularly.

At the next meeting a very interesting program will be presented by the Kindergarten and First Grade children. The committee wishes to thank the teachers for their efforts in preparing the program.

TAILORS URGING HOME PATRONAGE

County Association Gives Four Good Reasons for Favoring Local Men

Four reasons are given in a statement issued by the Burlington County Tailors' Association why people should patronize their home establishments instead of sending their work to Philadelphia. All of the reasons are good ones.

The tailors declare in the first reason that nobody can serve a locality better than the man who lives in that locality. For instance, a tailor, a member of the Burlington County Tailors' Association, receives a suit to be cleaned and pressed. On examining the suit he finds the armholes slightly torn, a button or two missing from the vest and a hole in one of the trouser pockets. The tailor returns the suit with all these minor but distressing faults fully repaired and charges only for the cleaning and pressing.

The second reason given is that it is very convenient to deal with the local tailor. Mr. A comes home from the office, remembers that he must attend a banquet that night, and finds his dress suit in a wrinkled condition. He calls up his local tailor and in a half an hour he is wearing the suit. What if he had sent the suit out of town.

The third reason is lowest cost. An incident that really happened is given by the association. Mr. A gave his suit to an outside cleaner to be renovated. The suit was brought back cleaned and pressed but unfortunately for Mr. A. the sleeves and trousers were an inch too short to be worn. He was compelled to pay his local tailor two dollars to make the necessary alterations.

Mr. B on the other hand believed in dealing with the local tailor. His suit was dyed by a local man but the sleeves and the trousers shrank. The local tailor remedied the matter without extra cost to Mr. B. Mr. B. was satisfied and Mr. B saved two dollars.

The fourth reason is an especially good one. The local tailor is entitled to the support of his community. He is interested in his home town and wants to see his home town grow. He joins welfare moves and plays his part in every civic endeavor. And when he co-operates he is entitled to co-operation.

The statement of the Tailors' Association concludes with the declaration that loyalty to one's home town costs but little and the reward is great.

It may be true that the people of a hundred years ago were better off than we are, but it does not follow that they are better off than we are.

LOW PRICES ON ROAD MATERIALS

Slow Curing Oil Asphalt, Service Incorporated New Brunswick, 312,000 gallons $22,245.06. Franklin Contracting Company, Newark 312,000 gallons $23,183.20. Lansdell Company, Harbourck N. J. 312,000 gallons, $21,424.80. Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia, $21,840.

Bridge Lumber

On the Bridge Department's specifications for lumber the following bids were received: Johnson, Wright & Company, Toledo, Ohio, $7,631.74; Wyckoff Pipe & Creosoting Company, New York City, $7,144.69; Atlantic Creosoting Company, Philadelphia, $8,502.11; New England Wood Preserving Company, Boston, Massachusetts, $8,686.71.

The contract for creosoted lumber was awarded to the Wyckoff Pipe and Creosoting Company, New York City on their bid of $7,144.69.

The contract for slag went to the Philadelphia Slag Company, $1,100.00. M. R. Young, Trenton, got the 1¼ inch binder contract at $3,864.00. Theodore Tobish, Trenton, got both the contracts at a total of $66,120.00. The slow curing oil contract went to the Lansdell Company at $21,424.

Both bids for broken stone being of the same amount, the matter was referred to the State Highway Commission.

The bids on pebbles were also referred to the Commission.

A communication was received from the State Highway Commission under date of February 19, approving as to quantity and materials the road supplies recommended by the Board of Freeholders.

The contract for the refrigerating plant at Fairview Sanitorium was awarded to C. B. Hill and Company, of Trenton, on their bid of $1,165, and the ice-making machine was awarded to Brunswick-Kroeschell Company, New Brunswick, for $1,320.

Wider Road Approved

The Director of Roads and the County Engineer submitted a report approving of the proposed widening of the road between Beverly and Delanco to 40 feet and the engineer was authorized to place temporary stakes giving the lines. The County Solicitor was instructed to prepare an agreement to be signed by owners of the abutting property.

J. Harry Foley, State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, recommended the purchase of new equipment for Carmen B. Fisher, County Sealer of Weights and Measures, to cost about $250. The Board authorized the purchase of the necessary equipment.

Louis J. Kaser, the County Superintendent of Public Schools, notified the Board that he had employed his wife, Mae E. Kaser, as clerk in his office at a salary of $1,000 a year, starting March 1.

A communication was received from the Township Committee of Burlington Township asking the Board of Freeholders to take over and maintain the Rancocas road. The communication was received and filed.

Storm Sewer Needed

Walter Marts, clerk of Burlington City, sent a copy of a resolution passed by the Burlington City Council on March 5 demanding that the Freeholders repair the Columbus road from the City Line to the County Line. In the discussion that followed Director of Roads Charles R. Stout stated that the city had recently put in curbs and pavements on a grade higher than the roadway and that the only way he saw to remedy the flooded condition of the road was to construct a storm water sewer. Mr. Stout was authorized to take the matter up with the City of Burlington to see whether or not an arrangement can be made by which the cost would be borne between the City and the County.

A. F. Bright, of Wrightstown, sent a communication to the Board complaining that his property was being flooded by water from the county road. It was referred to the Department of Bridges.

Road Impassable

L. H. Carty, J. W. Jennings and A. G. Mishop, chairman of the Township Committee of Shamong Township, appeared before the Board in reference to a short stretch of road in their township, less than one-half mile long, which they claimed would be impassable to any type of vehicle. The visitors stated that unless the condition was remedied at once their neighborhood was liable to lose their mail delivery service, as it is now necessary to make a wide detour around the bad spot in the road. In making up the budget for 1929 the Board of Freeholders appropriated $500 to be spent jointly with the township authorities in repairing this road. The matter was referred to the County Solicitor and the County's portion of the money will be available as soon as the necessary agreement is drawn up by the Solicitor and signed by the township authorities.

Freholder Stout was authorized to purchase a new Ford truck for the Road Department and to secure prices on a new scarifying roller.

The following bills were ordered paid: Roads, $2,718.80; Bridges, $309.71; Finance, $5,190.87; Public Buildings, $10,765.69; Public Affairs, $4,636.91. Total, $23,621.98.

STATE DEATH RATE HIGHEST IN YEARS

Statistics Show Great Increase in Mortalities During the Past 25 Years

New Jersey has the highest January death rate since 1919, according to the report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, with an average of 18.47, which is the highest rate for the past twenty five years with the exception of February 1929, which was 21.60.

The majority of the increase was due to the disease of the respiratory system, with deaths from affections of the circulatory system being factors. In January 1918, the death rate was 14.62.

According to the report 5,716 deaths were reported during the month to the bureau, of which number 508 were children under one year of age and 306 deaths of children over one year and under five years of age. Deaths of persons 60 years old and over were given as 2,603.

Automobile accidents claimed sixty-one persons, of which thirty-three were pedestrians.

PALMYRA C. OF C. ELECTS OFFICERS

Officers for the coming year were elected at the regular meeting of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce held in the American Legion Home Tuesday night.

David Schwartz, who has been very active in the Chamber, was elected president to succeed Walter D. Lamon. Raymond Watmer was elected vice-president, succeeding Edwin F. Patterson. Thomas MacCrosson was named secretary. MacCrosson was formerly treasurer. William I. McAllister was named treasurer for the current year. George M. Harris, Walter D. Lamon and Edwin F. Patterson were appointed members of the executive committee.

A committee was named to go before the Borough Council to see if a plan could be worked out which would encourage manufacturing plants to locate in Palmyra. This was done only after thorough discussion of the tax problem, when it was decided the only way to materially reduce taxes would be to increase the ratables.

It was pointed out that manufacturing plants would do this without in any way detracting from the community. The understanding is that necessary ordinances be requested which would prevent industry from encroaching upon the residential section of the town.

A motion was also made and approved that Council be petitioned to pass an ordinance regulating canvassers and peddlers who operate in the community without paying anything to its support.

The committee appointed for this purpose consists of Walter D. Lamon, George M. Harris and William S. Brunson.

ST. PATRICK'S DANCE SATURDAY EVENING

Large Crowd Expected to Attend Big Hop at Knights of Columbus Home

After going over every detail for the coming St. Patrick's dance to be held in the K. of C. Headquarters, Saturday night, March 16, the committee headed by Miss Mae Burns is sure that the added attractions will necessitate preparations for an unusually large crowd.

As a special feature a balloon dance has been added to the many novel "stunts" already on the schedule. This is a new idea and those in charge feel that it will go over big.

The Harmony Kings, of six pieces, will furnish the music and their list consists of many songs appropriate for the special occasion.

Everyone who enters the hall will receive some befitting novelty, and three sets of prizes for various dances will be given.

RED CROSS GROUP NAMES DELEGATES

Mrs. A. C. Hirsch, of Palmyra, to Attend National Convention at Washington

At a meeting of Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, held last Monday, Mrs. James P. MacFarlane, chairman, was elected a delegate to the Eighth Annual Convention of the National Red Cross, to be held in Washington, D. C., April 22 to 25. She will be accompanied by Mrs. J. Frank Schuyler, Florence, and Mrs. A. C. Hirsch, Palmyra.

The Chapter has purchased twelve lavelles at a cost of $4.10 each which will be shipped for use in our insular possessions.

Palmyra and Beverly schools have enrolled in the Junior Red Cross and five other schools have re-enrolled. Palmyra school had donated $5.65 to the National Children's Fund.

Thirty-six articles were reported as having been received from the Marion Needlework Guild for our Eyota-gency Closet, and further contributions have been promised by the Delanco Guild.

The result of the twelfth annual Roll Call in Burlington County was 5893 memberships.

It is planned by Chapter members to hold an all day sewing meeting for the purpose of making pneumonia jackets, to be distributed for use throughout the county.

Marlton Branch has the sympathy of all in the loss by death of its chairman, Mrs. Charles Clymer, who was a natural leader and much interested in Red Cross work.

It is hoped the other officers will feel it possible to carry on the work which Mrs. Clymer so desired in her home town.

The Chapter has been fortunate in again securing the services of Victor H. Hartshorn as instructor in life saving for the months of July and August, 1929. H. Hartshorn was very successful in the work last year, and made friends all over the county. The first meeting of the life saving committee will be held March 22, at 7:30 p. m., in St. Mary's Guild House, Burlington.

COAL SILOS AT COLLINS' YARD

Modern Method of Handling Gives Quicker Service

The completion of three coal silos at the Riverton plant of J. S. Collins & Son, Inc., places the coal department of this institution in line with modern methods of handling. The silos, which will be ready for operation the first of April, will contain about 250 tons each.

In operation the coal is conveyed to the top of the silo by means of an endless chain bucket elevator which if is transferred to a spiral chute which eases it to the bottom, preventing breakage of the coal. When the delivery trucks are loaded the coal is shot over a screen removing all dirt.

Similar equipment has been installed at the Riverside Milling & Coal Company, one of the Riverside branches of the J. S. Collins & Son stores.

This business first started in Moorestown by John S. Collins, who later handed it over to his son, Irving, the present head of the system. Soon after taking over the Moorestown business, Irving established a branch in Riverside followed by those in Riverside Merchantville and Maple Shade.

All of these stores are up-to-date in stock and equipment and handle a full line of lumber, coal, tool, hardware and feed with the exception of the Riverside Milling and Coal Company which sells feed and coal only.

P. T. A. TALENT DAY MARCH 21

Thursday, March 21 will be "Talent Day" for the P. T. A. of the Riverton school. We will have cakes and candy for sale. We will have baked ham, potato salad, rolls, jelly and pickles. Come and buy our talents for your supper. Perhaps your taste runs to fancy work or wearing apparel. Help us with your talents. P. T. A. relies on you for its spending money.

Place, Riverton School.
Time, 3 P. M.

ROTARY ANNS ENJOY ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

Palmyra-Riverton Club Holds Delightful Social at Home of of Mrs. Albertson

The regular monthly meeting of the Rotary Anns Club of Palmyra-Riverton was held at the home of Mrs. William H. Albertson.

The president, Mrs. Frank A. Snyder, presided at the lenathy business session at which time much new business was dispatched.

The meeting was then turned over to the entertainment committee of which Mrs. Clarence N. Hubbs is chairlady. The committee chose as their background a St. Patrick's celebration and Mrs. Charles Geelan had charge of a very attractive progressive game of modeling in clay. The objects modeled were St. Patrick's hats, snakes and shamrocks. The person making the most realistic models was awarded a prize and Mrs. George D. Steedle carried home a fine airplane.

The lucky number prize was a beautiful towel and was won by the hostess, Mrs. Albertson.

Mr. Hubbs recited a short Irish story entitled, Pat Murphy's Irish Steward.

NEW GARAGE TO OPEN MARCH 22

Taylor's Garage Completely Rebuilt with New Equipment for Better Service

James B. Taylor announces the opening of his new garage at Broad and Fulton streets, Riverton, on Friday, March 22, 1929.

The interior of the show room is finished in buff with dark trimmings. There is room for three cars on the floor.

The mechanical equipment is all new and a separate section of the garage is set aside for the repair work alone. The balance of the floor space is taken up by a storage room, a corner of which is used for washing cars. Speaking to a representative of this paper yesterday, Mr. Taylor said, "With our new building, new equipment and new sales force we will be better able to take care of the needs of our patrons than ever before."

A. Engle Parker is the new sales manager with E. F. Tydeman assisting him.

"We would like to have everyone in Riverton and Palmyra who is interested in the progress that has been made in the automobile industry visit our new show room between Friday, March 22nd and Sunday the 24th," Mr. Taylor said.

"This new garage is a $10,000 structure and greatly improves the section of Broad street in which it is located."

OLD MAIDS PLAY MUCH ENJOYED

Wonders Worked by Professor Makerneaux Accompanied by Many Laughs

The Friendship Circle Class of the Epworth M. E. Church gave an amusing comedy sketch last Thursday evening in the Temple, entitled, "The Old Maids' Association." A crowd that packed the whole auditorium enjoyed the play, which was full of laughs from beginning to end.

The plot concerned a large group of alleged old maids, who seemed to be "made over into some ideal they had in mind. Along comes Professor Makerneaux, in the person of George Hively, a French scientist with a wonderful machine guaranteed to change the old maids into whatever they wished.

And despite the wide range of selection, the machine made good with only one hitch and that was when a colored pickaninnies emerged in the place of what was expected to be a society beauty.

APPRECIATION

The Friendship Circle of the Methodist Church wishes to express its appreciation to its friends from Riverton and Palmyra who heartily cooperated in the support of the "Old Maids' Association," written by Louise Latham Wilson, given in the Epworth Temple last Thursday evening.

WORMLEY WOMAN IS GIVEN 20 YEARS

Sentenced for Complicity in Murder of Husband Two Years Ago

Judge Slaughter disposed of another Burlington County murder case Thursday of last week when he sentenced Ethel Wormley, colored, of near Cookstown, to twenty years at hard labor in the New Jersey State prison, after she had pleaded guilty to second degree murder as an accessory to the crime which cost her husband, Charles Wormley, his life.

The murder took place on December 28, 1926. Richard Sharp and Wormley's wife were arrested and charged with the crime and both were indicted. At that time Sharp was infatuated with the Wormley woman. He entered a plea of guilty, absolving the woman of all blame. The case against the woman was nolle prossed.

Later he was sentenced to twenty years at State prison. Some six months back Sharp sent for Detective Parker and told him a story which implicated the woman, his desire to tell the truth about the case being caused by the fact that after Sharp was committed to State prison the woman grew cold toward him, and it made him angry.

Investigation showed that three shots were fired into the head of the dead man and he was thrown from a car and left lying along an unfrequented road near New Egypt. The remains being found by a rural mail carrier the next morning. Just who fired the shots is not clear to the authorities yet for Sharp says the woman did the actual shooting while she sticks to the statement that Sharp fired the shots.

It has been brought out by the authorities that Wormley was the woman's second husband, her first mate having died under suspicious circumstances, in which a $1,000 life insurance policy entered, while it has also been ascertained that Mr. Wormley had a $2,000 policy on the second husband, who was murdered.

Mrs. Wormley was represented by Attorney Howard G. Stackhouse, but in response to his plea Judge Slaughter announced that he saw no reason for discriminating as between Sharp and Mrs. Wormley and passed the twenty-year sentence, which is the same as that given Sharp.

Mrs. Wormley is the mother of two boys, nine and eleven years of age, but she took the sentence indifferently and tripped gayly out of the court room behind Officer Raymond Jones, apparently as light-hearted as if she were going to fill a social engagement.

Four Burlington boys, Raymond Witzek, Bernshaw Dumanski, alias Williams, Raymond Lesenski and Harry Nanuwa, all having extremely bad reputations, with the possible exception of Nanuwa, were in on waiters and pleaded guilty to breaking into a Pennsylvania Railroad freight car and stealing cigarettes to the value of $54 and also with stealing wire from the Public Service Electric Company valued at $25.

Dumonski or Williams, who is now about sixteen years of age and has been in Court at intervals since he was eleven, has been eight months in the State prison while Lesenski and Witzek were fined $100 on the charge of stealing the cigarettes and suspended sentences were given on the other charge. Nanuwa was placed on probation for two years, but must pay $50 costs.

James Lockwood, or Stewart, colored of Burlington, had already pleaded guilty to stealing automobile accessories from Clifford W. Hales, of Mount Holly, and he was fined $50.

John Thompson, of Maple Shade, known as the "waffle man," had also pleaded guilty to charges and because of his wife and children was let back to jail for ninety days, but will be released provided he can furnish a bond in the sum of twenty days' earnings, he to pay a stipulated sum for the support of his child.

STATE POULTRY FANCIERS LIST SHOW COMMITTEE

Following its reorganization a short time ago, the New Jersey Fanciers' Association this week made known the personnel of the committee appointed to run a State Poultry Show next fall, and announced plans for a State meeting and banquet for fanciers to be held in Trenton on April 19. Some of New Jersey's most prominent poultrymen and fanciers are named on the show committee, including Charles D. Cleveland of Eatontown; M. L. Chapman of Robbinsville; Michael Paladino, Bloomfield; John H. Weed of Vineland, and Prof. Willard C. Thompson of New Brunswick, poultry husbandman for the experiment station and chairman of the committee.

SEED DISINFECTION STOPS SERIOUS POTATO DISEASES

Heavy losses are suffered by New Jersey potato growers each year through the ravages of three seed-borne diseases known as scab, rhizoctonia and black leg. Such losses are unnecessary, according to the agricultural experiment station at New Brunswick, because seed disinfection has been found effective in preventing these infections. The treatment advised consists of dipping the seed potatoes in a solution made up of 1 part of organic mercury to 20 parts of water. Tests have shown that this method of seed potato disinfection to be much simpler and just as efficient as the older and more cumbersome methods.

School Rate is 47 Cents Higher While Borough is Six Cents Lower

Cinnaminson Township Also Has Higher Amount to Raise for Current Year

The tax rate announced by the County Board of Taxation last week shows an increase for the Borough of Palmyra amounting to 39 cents per $100.00 assessed valuation. The rate in Cinnaminson Township was increased 41 cents, from $3.83 to $4.24, while the rate for Riverton remained the same $4.60.

The Palmyra rate shows an increase from $4.85 to $5.24. The bulk of the increase is due to the school budget, which is $22,987.50 greater than last year. The Borough budget is six cents lower than the previous year.

The school rate is higher, due largely to the cost of additional teachers and to extra appropriations for buildings and equipment. It is understood that the bulk of the latter item is to be used to provide fire escapes to relieve the dangerous conditions existing in all buildings except the new High School building.

Embarrassing Moment

A barber was shaving a new customer. "Haven't I shaved you before, sir?" said he. "No," said the customer, "I got those scars in France."

Have you heard about the Scotchman who was building a house and telephoned to the Masonic Temple for a couple of Free Masons?

The TOWN DOCTOR
(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)

GET SOLD ON THE PLACE WHERE YOU LIVE

Every thinking citizen wants to see his community grow, and most people are willing to "get behind and boost." But from the letters people write me, it appears that they do not know how or what to do, or what to keep from doing.

The problem that confronts every community is one of selling; you have to sell your town—sell people on your town.

It sounds simple—and it is simple—when you know how.

A few years ago I had the pleasure of conducting a campaign to sell a state. In practically every town someone would say, "That's simple and sound like a good idea, but who'll buy it?"

The procrastinator and the fellow who was satisfied with things as they were would say, "This is a pretty good town; why sell it?"

And the knocker would chime in with, "That is a good idea. Sell it and get rid of it."

Then there was the individual who said, "Wal, we been gittin' along all these years without it, why should we change now?"

Perhaps you think the same, as pertains to selling your community, but regardless of how you feel or think, the fact nevertheless remains that you must sell your community—sell people on your community—if the place where you live is to keep pace with modern times.

For a community to be modern it must keep up to and ahead of other communities. If one community makes rapid strides to the betterment of living and working conditions, becomes a more attractive and interesting place to reside in, it its people are happier, more content and more prosperous, it's up to other communities to profit by their experiences and not only do the same, but outdo them!

To keep ahead—be 'modern'—requires constant changing. Bruce Barton says, "When we quit changing we're through," and to change requires salesmanship.

Selling a town or community is like selling anything else. First—is there a market? Second—is it marketable—suitable for sale as is, so that when sold it wil stay sold? Third—to whom is it to be sold—who'll buy it? Fourth—how can it be sold? And fifth—who'll sell it—the sales force.

Answer these five questions; know the facts, and apply the knowledge to your town, and all problems of growth and prosperity will come as a matter of course.

These questions can be answered—will be answered—in this column, step by step. If you will read them, study them, and do your part, you will be the one to gain. In fact, it's up to you!

You are to your town the same as a salesperson to a store. The store may have good goods, excellent stocks, right prices, a good manager, and everything that a first-class store shoul have; but, if the clerks are indifferent, not interested whether they give you service or not, do not know the stock, and don't sell you the way you like to be sold, sooner or later competition with salesmen and saleswomen who "know their stuff" and serve you the way you want to be served, will put that store on a back street or completely out of business, and the clerks looking for another job.

Your newspaper, service clubs, chamber of commerce, and other civic organizations can spend thousands of dollars and months of time, but in the end it depends on Y-O-U. It's not a duty alone—it's business; good business if you do—poor business if you don't.

Yours is a good town—can be made a better town—so get sold on it.

REV. J. W. LEE IS RETURNED HERE

Popular Methodist Pastor to to Continue in Local Pulpit

The Rev. J. William Lee, popular pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was reappointed to the Palmyra-Riverton Church by the action of the New Jersey Conference, which closed on Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Lee has already served three years in the local church and has made a fine record. During his pastorate at Palmyra he has gained the confidence of the community and the continuance of his ministry meets with warm approval among the townspeople generally, as well as among his own congregation.

Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, who presided at the conference, won everybody by his impartiality, straight-forwardness, and Christian brotherliness. There was an absence of acrimonious debate on theological question; that helped greatly in the general spirit and efficiency of the gathering. In fact the most heated discussion was held upon the consideration of social questions of the day. The debate upon capital punishment was most heated.

As the conference opened it looked as if there would be more changes than usual; but after going over the matter carefully and talking personally with the men involved there were a fewer number of changes than last year and only a few of the larger appointments were effected.

The question of who should be superintendent of the Trenton district has held the attention of the Methodist people ever since the death of the Rev. Sherman G. Pitt, two months ago. The Rev. Mevie E. Snyder, who was pastor at Moorestown about thirty years ago and who aso served for ten years as district superintendent has been looking after the work, in addition to his duties as executive secretary of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association.

The Rev. George Y. Yard, who has been pastor at Central Church, Atlantic City, for the past five years was appointed to the Trenton district. He was succeeded at the Atlantic City church by the Rev. Rollon Raver, who was transferred from Pitman, and the Rev. Herbert J. Belting, the retiring superintendent, was given his place. He was succeeded in turn by the Rev. Furman A. DeMaris, of Asbury Park.

The Rev. Arthur L. Davies requested that, on account of his health, he be transferred to a charge in Pennsylvania. He will be appointed next week at the session of the Philadelphia Conference. The Rev. Marshall Owens was retired, but is continuing to supply the pulpit at Ventnor. The Rev. S. Monroe VanSant, former pastor of the Palmyra Church, was retired, but is supplying the church at Northfield.

The Rev. John R. Mason was returned to the Pearsonville charge. Contrary to the pre-conference prediction the Rev. Norman V. Sargent was returned to the Ocean City charge. The next session of the New Jersey Conference has been scheduled for the Central Church, Atlantic City.

DRUNKEN DRIVER

Charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Edward Selka, New Albany Road, Lenola, was arrested by Officer Walter A. Errickson of the Moorestown police department Wednesday of last week.

At a hearing before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Town Hall Selka was fined $200 and costs and his driver's license was revoked for two years.

Thomas Cosians, Jr., Mount Laurel Road, was fined $5.00 and costs by Recorder Johnston for failure to have a tail light on his car. He was arrested by Officer Bruce MacDonald.

WALT WHITMAN THEATRE NEWS

McDevitt, Kelly and Quinn Head Vaudeville Bill Last Half of This Week

The programs for this and next week at the Walt Whitman Theatre are in keeping with the policy of all first class attractions that has been in vogue at this popular playhouse. It embraces the very best available stage attractions and a photoplay program that compares favorably with any of the biggest theatres in the country.

The headline vaudeville attraction features three of the foremost funmakers in the theatrical firmament, McDevitt, Kelly and Quinn, who have established a reputation from coast to coast as entertainers of unusual ability.

The Oliver Hayden Trio is another unit of this very unusual program, featuring as a special attraction one of the contestants in the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant.

May Isobel will offer a program of music on the violin, mandolin and vocally that promises to be a very interesting feature. Fay and Clayton are bringing a spectacular dance novelty, and The Georgallis Troupe are sharpshooters of international repute and their offering is the most thrilling interlude of its kind ever brought before the public.

The feature photoplay brings Joan Crawford in "Dream of Love," a beautiful romance, with a wonderful cast of players, including Aileen Pringle, Caramel Myers, Nils Asther, Warner Oland and the ever popular favorite, Harry Myers. This picture was directed by Fred Niblo, the man who has created more wonderful features than any other director, among which are "Ben Hur," "Three Musketeers," "Blood and Sand," "Two Lovers" and "The Mark of Zorro."

The star, Joan Crawford, will be remembered for her beautiful work in this season's outstanding photoplay success, "Our Dancing Daughters," which has been voted the finest picture of many seasons. "Dream of Love" has been pronounced even better than its predecessors.

TROLLEY GONG MAY SOON BE AUTOMATIC

The well-known trolley gong whose operation has always depended upon the quick foot work of the operator, will soon enter the realm of automatic equipment if a new device soon to be tried out on Public Service cars proves successful.

The new mechanism will allow the operator to ring his gong by merely pressing a pedal conveniently located on the floor near his foot. Pressure on the pedal releases a measured supply of compressed air which causes the gong to ring for a short period until the air is exhausted. Sounding of the gong will be made quicker and more audible, especially to motorists who now have difficulty in hearing it because of the noise of their motors.

The device will be first installed on the new parlor car type cars now being put into service on the Central avenue and Orange lines in Essex Division.

SIX POINT LIVING IN 3-WAY WORLD

Dr. Grafflin Delivers Inspiring Lecture at Palmyra High School

Allen Hemphill, a Palmyra High School Senior, has written the following account of an address recently delivered at the school:

One of the most worth while addresses and rarest treats ever offered to the pupils of Palmyra High School was delivered on the morning of March 6, by Dr. Samuel Grafflin, of the West Side Y. M. C. A., New York City.

Dr. Grafflin's topic was "Six-Point Living in a Three-Way World." "The purpose of life," said Dr. Grafflin, "is to find out the things which really matter." These abstract things may be called the normalities of life. Of these, there are only three which truly matter, but the ground they cover is universal.

The first of the three normalities is GOOD, HARD WORK. Some high school students do not believe this because they are content to just get along in life. The world is divided into two types of people; those who work out of a hole and those who don't.

The second normality is PROPER HIGH-TONE ASSOCIATION. Always put up with easy-going folks and you keep yourself from ever meeting anybody any better. Or for a quotation which might make a better impression—"Lay down with dogs and you get up with fleas."

Lastly, but most strongly, and a condition which is always mentioned last, but should be the most thought of, is the normality of GENUINE, SINCERE WORSHIP. At a gathering of the great merchants of the world, which included John Wanamaker and the three famous Rothschild brothers, a speaker began his address by asking how many were sincere worshippers of God. Out of fifty-five present, fifty-four answered in the positive.

Dr. Grafflin gave a good illustration of a man who once had as his office boys in a newspaper plant, Arthur Brisbane and Nicholas Murray Butler. This man died in an almshouse, was sent to a morgue, and remained unclaimed until the Doctor heard of his fate. At his funeral, which was provided by Dr. Grafflin and his friends, there were present no sons, daughters or relatives of the deceased. Why? Simply because this man had violated the three nomalities of life.

These things outlined are the three ways of the world. The essential six points are:

First—Good, royal, happy health.
Second—A growing intelligence.
Third—Thrift.
Fourth—Keeping the prayer path open all the time.
Fifth—Getting on the spiggot end of life instead of the sponging end.
Sixth—Cultivation of a sweet sunny, social and agreeable disposition.

From Dr. Grafflin's address one gets many good pointers which prove of value in later life. To be sure, Dr. Grafflin must know what he is talking about, for he has been associated with all kinds of people during his life.

15,000 CONTRIBUTE FOR RECREATION

982 Communities Assisted in the Work of National Association

Nearly 15,000 contributors in 983 communities made possible the nation-wide service of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, according to its annual report issued yesterday.

Requests for help on questions on recreation from 5,931 cities, towns, and villages in practically every state were met by the correspondence and consultation bureau of the Association. In addition, eighty-eight Canadian communities and thirty-two foreign cities sought the advice of the organization. The field secretaries of the Association gave direct service to 462 cities in forty-four states.

Adults throughout the United States are giving an increased amount of their spare time to dramatics, says the report. One thousand requests for advice and aid in this field were received in November alone. As one illustration of the rural interest in and talent for acting, the report cites the success of a group of mail carriers, housewives, store keepers and teachers of Redfield Grange, Oswego county, New York, who won first place for their presentation of the play, "Day by Day," by Paul Green, in a state contest at Cornell University. To serve the demand for training in games and music in rural districts, the Association conducted institutes for 3,596 farm men and women, country ministers, teachers and home demonstration agents in twenty-one states last year. Forty states had requested the service.

Recreation for Negroes

One hundred thirteen cities now employ part time or year round colored recreation workers, says the report. This is 13 more than in 1927. Some of the most striking advances in community music have been made among negroes, it is stated. Numerous choruses of five hundred or more voices have achieved local triumphs in the singing of Negro spirituals and other music.

The National Physical Education Service, a department of the Association, reports that thirty-five states, representing ninety percent of the population, now have physicial and health education legislation and twenty states representing six percent of the population have laws, manuals, and state directors or physicial education.

A manual on municipal and county parks in two volumes, a study of playground design and equipment, and publication on athletics and home play, were among the principal publications issued by the Association in 1928. New studies begun during the year were a two year survey of the failures and successes of community music and of girls' athletics.

SOIL TREATMENT CHECKS SWEET POTATO DISEASES

As a means of preventing fungous diseases, in the sweet potato plant-bed, soil sterilization with formaldehyde, in comparison with the older method of changing the soil, saves both time and money. This belief is expressed by C. H. Nissley, New Jersey extension specialist in vegetable growing, who urges growers of "sweets" to decide now on preventive measures for such fungous diseases as stem rot, black rot, scurf, and soft rots. Preventive measures, whether they take the form of soil sterilization or changing the soil, should be taken immediately where plants are to be bedded early, the specialist states.

OAKLAND OFFERS 2 DE LUXE MODELS

Two de luxe body types now available in the line of new Oakland All-American Sixes as a result of the recent introduction of a special 4-door sedan. This brings the total number of new Oakland models to eight.

The landaulet sedan, aristocrat of the Oakland line, with a soft folding top over the rear quarter section, and the special 4-door sedan, offer de luxe equipment and special fitments surpassing in luxury any previous products of the Oakland Motor Company.

The new special 4-door type is a de luxe edition of the standard 4-door sedan and was built to provide an intermediate step between the standard 4-door type and the landaulet sedan.

The Oakland Company is now offering All-American body types of a price range of from $1145 to $1375 f.o.b. the factory, and with a capacity of from two to five passengers. Special equipment consisting of six wire wheels and trunk rack, with spares carried in special front fenders, also may be had with any model in the line.

MORE RAILROAD STATIONS TO BE DISCONTINUED

At a session of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners last week it was announced that the applications of the Pennsylvania Railroad to discontinue its stations at Kinkora, South Pemberton and Browns Mills Junction, in this county had been approved.

The brain is like the dollar—it isn't worth much until it's put to work.

CARD PARTY AND DANCE SATURDAY

Annual St. Patrick's Affair to be Held at Catholic Lyceum, Moorestown

An unusually large crowd is expected to enjoy the annual St. Patrick's card party and dance which will be held in the Catholic Lyceum, Moorestown, under the auspices of the Church of Our Lady of Good Council, this Saturday evening, March 16th.

Both the younger and older folks from this section will be attracted to the card parts, which will be held on the first floor of the Lyceum building. Playing with about fifty tables set for five hundred, bridge, pinochle and euchre will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock. A large number of excellent prizes will be offered for winners at cards and lucky numbers. Refreshments will be served following the awarding of prizes.

The College Crew Orchestra, which is exceedingly popular in this section and Philadelphia, will furnish the music for the dance, which will be held on the second floor. Young people from Moorestown, Maple Shade, Merchantville, Camden, Palmyra, Riverton, Riverside, and Mount Holly will undoubtedly be attracted to the dance.

Attractive and appropriate decorations for a St. Patrick's occasion will trim the auditorium for the dance.

The card party committee includes Miss Sue Workman, chairman; May Carlin, Anna Eldridge, Helen Lottus, May McChesney, Anna Donovan, Margaret Dolly, Catherine Mannion, Mary Long, Mary Sutton, Agnes Brisance and Mary Dugan.

Girl Who Averted Train Wreck Receives Theodore Vail Honor

A Rockaway girl who averted a train wreck by resourceful and intelligent use of telephone facilities at her command last June has been awarded a Theodore N. Vail Memorial Medal in bronze for her noteworthy act.

Announcement of the award by the regional Vail Memorial Medal Committee today reveals that the girl, Miss Anna C. Yurcesko, will be the only New Jersey recipient of a Vail Memorial Medal for outstanding devotion to duty and noteworthy public service during 1928.

The Committee voted Honorable Mention to two other employees of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. Mrs. Elizabeth Ahearn, Central Office agent at Millington, also instrumental in preventing a possible serious railroad accident, and Theodore Hogrefe, cable splicer, Jersey City, for his courageous and effective effort in rescuing a woman from a residence on fire in Jersey City and extinguishing the blaze in the face of peril.

The medals are given annually, when the Committee considers them merited, in memory of T. N. Vail, citizen of New Jersey and pioneer in telephony, whose home was in Morristown, and who was the head of the Bell System for almost fifteen years. He died April 16 1920. His home in Morristown is now the Municipal Building there.

Prevents Train Wreck

Late Sunday evening, June 24, last year, Miss Yurcesko, alone on duty in the Rockaway Central Office, received a call from a woman that an automobile containing two men had crashed through the side of Mendes Bridge spanning the Lackawanna tracks near Rockaway. The car had fallen twenty-five feet onto the tracks a train was soon due, unless a message could be relayed to the train crew the train would round a sharp curve at that point, between concrete retaining walls.

The probability of a derailment, injuries to crew or passengers, perhaps loss of life flashed through the operator's mind.

The sole possibility lay in having the train flagged at Danville signal tower two miles away. No telephone was there. The passenger agent's office was closed. No telephone was near the tower from which to send a messenger.

Late the previous night she had handled a call for the train dispatcher's office at the Lackawanna yard in Port Morris, fifteen miles away. She knew that the railroad had its own telephone system, obtained the dispatcher's office told the story and relayed it through him to the train crew just in time.

Honorable Mention

Mrs. Ahearn managed to reach a garageman and get him to tow a stalled automobile off the Lackawanna tracks east of Millington before an express was due, and also to advise the train crew of the danger.

Hogrefe, working on a pole answered a woman's call of "Fire" by relaying the call to Fire Headquarters, then rushing into a smoke-filled cellar, rescued a woman who fainted near the flames, put out the blaze, turned off an open gas jet, all in peril from an explosion of a container of benzine nearby.

The members of the committee which made the awards were: Chester I. Barnard, President of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company; G. W. McRae, Vice-President and General Manager; C. F. Brisbin, Vice-President in Charge of Personnel and Public Relations; Clinton Godfrey, Atlantic City district plant superintendent; Miss Anna J. Dalton, Bergen chief operator, Jersey City; Miss Marion E. Miller, Plainfield; Miss Kathryn Farley, Newark; James W. Ballman, Passaic; Fred Tabor, Red Band and Miss Marion H. Kennedy, Camden, all employees of the company.

LIEUTENANT POWELL IN COMMAND OF COMPANY M

Lieutenant Harold R. Powell, of Lumberton and Mount Holly, is now in command of Company M, of Mount Holly, and will continue in charge until a captain is formally elected. This comes through the resignation of Captain John A. Thornburg, who has placed the company in its present high position and rating in the national guard organization of the state. He steps out for good and acceptable reasons that apply to his personal affairs. He is a former regular army man and his thorough training in military affairs has been applied with benefit to the Mount Holly boys since he undertook the reorganization of the company about two years ago. His resignation has been accepted to take effect on March 15. The resignation of Lieutenant Harry B. Stanley has also been accepted, he having left this section and withdrawn from the company.

Joint Resolution is Introduced in New Jersey Legislature Providing for Inquiry Into Growing Costs

Former Senator Joseph F. Frelinghuysen has issued the following statement in relation to the Joint Resolution creating a Tax Commissioner to make a scientific survey of taxing conditions in New Jersey:

"For two years I have been making a study of the increased taxes in New Jersey, and urging the appointment of a commission to make a tax survey and make recommendations to the Legislature for a revision of our tax system to bring about a reduction in taxes.

"During the recent campaign Governor Larson stressed the importance of this subject, and supported the principle of a non-partisan, scientific investigation by a taxation expert.

"I am asking Assemblyman Kuser, of my own county, to introduce the Bill in the House and Senator Wolber, of Essex County, to introduce it in the Senate, as Somerset has no representation at the present time in the State Senate.

Recommends Dr. Lutz

"Dr. Kemmerer, Professor of International Finance at Princeton, has suggested to me the name of Dr. Lutz as the best qualified man he knows to make the survey. I have suggested his name to the Governor as one well qualified to do this work if the Resolution is passed. The Bill, however, leaves the selection to the Governor. Dr. Harley L. Lutz holds the Chair of Public Finance at Princeton College, coming from Leland-Stanford University. He is a former President of The National Tax Association and has a nation-wide reputation as an expert in matters of taxation.

"I feel that an investigation of the character cannot fail to bring splendid results for the people of the State; also that the Legislature will undoubtedly support this measure and it will receive Statewide approval from the people. The investigation is to be non-political and strictly impartial. Great good can be accomplished if all of the taxing units and agencies will co-operate in an effort to find just exactly what is the reason for increased taxes in New Jersey. With co-operation we may look for better laws and great relief to taxpayers.

"Governor Larson's attitude was expressed in his inaugural address, and this Bill is now offered to carry out the suggestion which he urged in that message."

Copy of Resolution

The following Joint Resolution was introduced in the New Jersey Senate and House Monday evening:

"Joint Resolution providing for the appointment of a Commissioner of Public Finance to make a thorough and scientific investigation of the system of taxation; and the finances of the state, county and municipal governments, to make a thorough canvass of the sources of revenue in the state, counties and municipalities; to determine whether there are any practicable methods for scientifically controlling expenditures and whether there are any economies that can be effected which will result in a reduction of taxes, and to make recommendation to the Legislature as a result of such investigation and making an appropriation therefor.

"WHEREAS the costs of Government in the state, the several counties and municipalities of the State have been steadily increasing, and

"WHEREAS the burden of taxation on the people of the State of New Jersey have been and are growing and becoming more burdensome, and

Urge Scientific Probe

"WHEREAS there is a demand that there be a scientific, impartial investigation and survey to determine whether the cost of Government can properly be reduced, and taxes lowered by the adoption of modern and scientific business principles by state, county and municipal governments, or by consolidating existing departments or agencies, or otherwise; and

"WHEREAS there is a demand that there be a scientific determination whether the taxation system in the State of New Jersey can be improved and taxes reduced

"THERFORE BE IT ENACTED BY THE SENATE AND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY:

"1. There is hereby appointed for a term of three years a Commissioner of Public Finance, who shall be a taxation expert of nationwide experience, preferably from a University located in New Jersey, to be appointed by the Governor of the State, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Duties of Commissioner

"2. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Public Finance to make a complete and scientific investigation of the taxation and financial systems of the state, the several counties of the state, and the cities, towns, boroughs, townships and various municipalities of the State;

"To make a thorough canvass of the sources of revenue available to the state, counties, townships and several municipalities by scientific methods of taxation;

"To determine whether there are any practical methods or means for properly and scientifically controlling expenditures by the state, counties, townships and several municipalities of the State;

Investigate Economies

"To determine whether there are any overlapping or unnecessary offices, bureaus or departments in any of the branches or departments of the state, county or municipal governments, and whether there are economies that can properly be effected the adoption of which will tend to the reduction of taxes.

"3. The Commissioner of Public Finance shall report the result of his investigations and recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature from time to time.

"4. The Commissioner of Public Finance be and hereby is authorized to employ a secretary, who may be an expert in matters of public finance, and such satisticians, accountants, stenographic, clerical, legal and other assistance as may be necessary properly and adequately to perform the duties herein imposed upon him.

Power of Subpoena

"5. The Commissioner of Public Finance shall have power to issue subpoenas signed by him and attested by his secretary, to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and records. Such Commissioner shall hold such hearings as may be necessary in such places in the State as may be deemed advisable.

"6. The employees of the Commissioner of Public Finance shall not be subject to the Civil Service Laws of this State, and they may be discharged with or without cause at any time by the Commissioner of Public Finance.

"7. The Commissioner of Public Finance shall receive a salary of Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000.00) per annum for each of three years, and shall be allowed his actual hotel and traveling expenses while engaged in the performance of his duties within the State.

End Work By 1932

"8. The Commissioner of Public Finance shall complete his duties as herein required by December 31st, 1931, on or before which date he shall file his final report with the Governor of the State, together with all his documents, records and files.

"9. This survey shall not in any way conflict with the survey or work of any other Commission that may be appointed to make a survey of the public schools and educational institutions within our State, but nothing herein contained shall prevent the Commissioner of Public Finance from basing any of his recommendations upon any findings of the Commission appointed to survey the activities and work of the public schools and educational institutions within our State, pursuant to Joint Resolution No. 5, P. L. 1928, page 795.

"10. For the purpose of carrying into effect this Joint Resolution there is hereby appropriated for the year 1929 the sum of Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary, which shall be disbursed by the State Treasurer on warrants drawn by the Commissioner of Public Finance."

Spencer H. Oldershaw

Spencer H. Oldershaw, a former and well-known resident of Moorestown, died in the Cooper Hospital, Camden, last Thursday morning. His death was suddenly caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 49 years old.

Mr. Oldershaw had resided in Moorestown more than ten years and had worked here about thirty years, several years of which time he worked in Neebold's Grocery Store, Main and Church streets.

Mr. Oldershaw, with Mrs. Oldershaw, had moved to 28 Locust street, Merchantville, Monday of last week from Hurfville where they had lived since they moved from Moorestown about four years ago. The deceased was a member of the Mount Holly Order of Masons, and of the Junior Mechanics, of Hurfville.

Funeral services were held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. Risdon Plum, South Church street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Stanley N. Clark, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Hurfville in charge. Masonic services were held Sunday evening. Interment was made in Asbury Cemetery.

Mr. Oldershaw is survived by his widow, Mrs. S. H. Oldershaw; five daughters, Mrs. Mabel O. Plum, Grace Emma, Mrs. Ruth Canfield, of Bartonsville, Pa., and Ethel Oldershaw, of Moorestown, and one granddaughter, Virginia Plum.

ONE-PIECE SPORTS FROCKS

An interesting collection of one-piece dresses shows several novelty weaves. One in shades of orchid and violet resembles gingham in a small checked pattern. Another stimulates a rough tweed weave in browns and wears a scarf in solid brown. A third flared model is of knitted fabric in rust and white with scarf and belt of plain rust.

Y. W. DRIVE PLANS ARE PROGRESSING

Annual County Campaign for Funds to be Held April 7 to 14

Miss Elizabeth Rogers, national field secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was present at a meeting of the finance and membership committees Friday afternoon, March 8. Miss Rogers will spend the first two weeks in April directing the campaign, April 7-14, for funds to carry on the work of the Y. W. C. A.

Swimming at the Moorestown Community House pool is increasing in popularity among Y. W. C. A. groups. Friday afternoon, March 8, twenty-five Burlington Girl Reserves spent the afternoon in the pool, and on Monday evening, March 11, over eighty senior club girls from all parts of the county enjoyed a swim there following an hour in the gym, where Miss Reba Troxell, of Burlington, led the group in games. The evening was sponsored by the Senior Club Council which will have its next regular meeting March 25 at the home of Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, of Moorestown.

Miss Jean Dreidlein, of Mount Holly, spoke on the Health of the Pre-School Child at the meeting of the Moorestown Colored Women's Club on Monday, March 4.

Mrs. Mary Warren and Mrs. Fannie Jordon, who were delegates to the Industrial Conference at Jersey City, gave interesting reports of the conference to the club members.

The Rancocas Woman's Club enjoyed an evening of poetry conducted by Mrs. Henry Albertson, of Burlington, on Monday evening, March 4, at the home of Mrs. John Wilkins.

Assessment Difficulties

Camden is now involved in a controversy which will be interesting to watch, to say the least.

The argument is being waged over correct tax assessments on riverfront industrial plants. For 1928 the assessments totaled $7,290,227. Then the city board came along and jumped the valuations to $14,000,000 for 1929.

The county assessment experts have disagreed and claim the values could not have doubled in one year. The City of Camden does not, however, argue that such a boost has taken place, but merely asserts that the 1929 figures constitute a real value of the properties whereas the 1928 valuations were wrong and that by making the increase the local board simply equalized the riverfront assessments with those levied in the rest of the city.

And now, in an effort to settle the dispute, an editorial writer pens "The only solution to this problem, and to many others which are bound to come up in the near future, is SCIENTIFIC ASSESSMENT."

This, without a doubt, is quite right, but the writer fails to define "scientific assessment". If he will only come out with the formula he will settle not only Camden's difficulties, but many all over the state.

The state board has long wrangled with Burlington County's Tax Board. According to the state authorities, Northern Jersey is assessed 100 per cent, and Burlington County is only assessed about 60 per cent, or some figure in that neighborhood.

Burlington County has steadfastly maintained that North Jersey doesn't know anything about values down here and that this section is assessed high, if anything. Some local assessors have declared their valuations have been known to be higher than 100 per cent and in some cases it has been proven that properties in Burlington County have sold for less than their assessed valuations.

Just what is a 100 per cent assessment? Some claim it is what the present owner would demand for his property on a normal market under normal conditions. Others insist it is the figure that the property would bring at forced sale—and so the argument goes on.

So there's no doubt about it, "SCIENTIFIC ASSESSMENT" is needed. But who is going to show the assessors how to be scientific?

Good Roads a Community Asset

Alarm is being expressed by many taxpayers when states and municipalitiees borrow money for new road construction.

An expenditure for good roads is different from many kinds of outlay. A costly public building is a good advertisement for a community, but does not usually save any expense in running that city. Ordinarily it costs more because of all the work necessary to keep up that structure.

But when a state or a municipality builds a fine road, there is a direct saving of money to the citizens. It takes less gas to run their cars over that road, the tires do not wear out so fast, cars will stand up longer and with less repairs. Also a great deal of time is saved to every farmer, truckman or business man who uses that highway. These savings are something enormous and they will often wipe out the cost of a road in a relatively few years.

Letting any important road remain in poor condition imposes a heavy tax on the people dependent on the road and it is not good policy.

A Hero of Science

There are all kinds of heroes, and not all of them are soldiers or sailors. Some of the bravest, kindest spirits were those that could be described as soldiers of science. Men who went down battling against disease and unhappiness and death. Soldiers of peace, rather than soldiers of war, great indeed have been their achievements.

One of these men has recently passed away—Dr. Joseph Goldberger, a member of the staff of the United States Health Service, who specialized in combatting epidemics in southern areas.

Stricken with yellow fever, typhus fever and other lethal maladies as the direct result of his work, he lived to reveal how such diseases could be prevented and cured. Then he discovered the cause of pellagra, and his long studies demonstrated how that dread disease could be eliminated.

Now Dr. Goldberger is dead, leaving little money for his family. Legislation has been urged to provide a pension for his family now that his comparatively small salary has stopped. We are in favor of this legislation, and of steps being taken to protect the families and cherish the memories of all of our Soldiers of Science.

Preachers Work Hard

Give a thought to your preacher. He is a hard working man.

During 1928, President Coolidge wrote 22 public speeches and messages to Congress.

These required much concentrated thought. The industry of the President was commented on everywhere. True the feat was remarkable and the work it necessitated heavy indeed.

But give a thought to your preacher.

During 1928 he wrote 52 sermons.

Each time the congregation expected new and true of him—something they hadn't heard before, touched elegantly, phrased interestingly.

This comparison in no way detracts from the importance of the messages delivered by Coolidge and our sincere admiration for his hard work and his courage in facing the arduous tasks of preparation for these messages of such world-wide importance.

We only make the comparison to picture to you vividly the giant task that is required of every preacher, poor and rich, obscure or famous, of every denomination, throughout the length and breadth of the land. These many bringers of light certainly deserve to have their churches well filled and to have the utmost attention paid to what they have to say.

A BANK FOR BROKERS.

NO ARSENIC, PLEASE. F. R.

USURY UNNECESSARY.

INVEST, DO NOT GAMBLE.

In response to warnings from the Federal Reserve, banks withdrew on Friday, $25,000,000 of call loans. The idea was "to discourage speculation." That speculation keeps big banks and their gigantic profits alive, but that is another story.

When loans were called, the rate moved from 6 to 9 per cent. Banks calling loans sacrificed 6 per cent. on $25,000,000 and made an additional 3 per cent. on about four billions.

Even a child on the farm could understand that systematic usury must be harmful. Even as base a thing as a speculator, buying American securities, should not be robbed too systematically.

It is probable that investigation of the Federal Reserve Banks, and its accidental or intentional promotion of bank profits, through usury, will follow the latest Federal Reserve action, responsible for a loss, widely scattered, of three or more billions in a few hours.

Why do not Stock Exchange men protect themselves and their customers from financial tyranny. They could establish a great bank, especially for their own purposes. Compelling brokers to make call loans at that bank, on conservative margins of security, at a fair interest rate, and dividing profits among stock exchange members, they might do something that the Federal Reserve evidently cannot do.

Controlling a monopoly of call loans, they could sell $1,000,000,000 worth of stock in an hour.

When a paternal Federal Reserve Board, mistaking itself for the national government, to cure what it considers over-speculation, ruins thousands of investors by forcing usurious interest rates, you say, "Something wrong with that Federal Reserve Board."

The board is unnecessarily excited about four or five billion dollars of brokers' loans.

Learned financiers should realize that there is money in this country outside of banks' control.

Mr. Ecker, vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Company, has shown that the income of American wage earners is sixty billions of dollars a year. And they spend fifteen billions less than they earn.

Those fifteen billions are three times the total of brokers' loans. A nation that has every year fifteen billions of spending money might borrow a third of its excess annual wealth for investment, or even for speculation, without making criminal usury necessary.

Wall Street went to work last week convinced that the world had not quite come to an end, and even a benevolent regulating Federal Reserve might be endured.

Some for whom this is the beginning of the Spring lamb season, the unhappy wiped-out minority that tried the "faw down, go broke" experience, will know better next time. Others will know better later.

Invest within your means, in America, and you get rich. Gamble here or anywhere, and gambling gets you.

Lady De Bath died recently at Monte Carlo, in her seventy-seventh year. As Mrs. Langtry, the Jersey Lily, she was known wherever English is spoken. Her reputation was due largely to her marvelous complexion, pink and white, NATURAL colors. Such complexions have gone out. Even little girls are daubed and plastered.

Up above, the Jersey Lily has doubtless renewed acquaintance with Albert Edward, who admired her when he was Prince of Wales. Will he look natural, flitting about with white wings and a harp? Probably not. And how painful it must be for a sovereign or a famous beauty to be just like everybody else. Perhaps even ranking below Moody and Sankey.

MOUNT HOLLY CHURCH ISSUES CALL FOR RECTOR

The Rev. Henry deWolf d'Mauriac, rector of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, at East Aurora, N. Y., during the past twelve years, has been invited to become rector of St. Andrew's Church in Mount Holly. Such action was taken at a vestry meeting last week following a report from Richard B. Eckman, Stacy B. Lippincott and Harry W. Phares on their visit to East Aurora to hear Mr d'Mauriac preach and take advatnages of an opportunity to meet him. He is not unknown to some people of St. Andrew's Church who have heard him while conducting services at Ortley during the summer season in recent years.

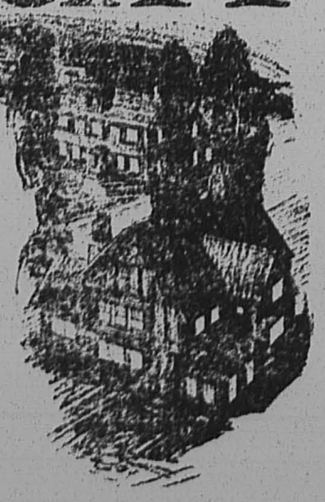
ELECTRICITY and YOUR COMFORT



THE first commercial plant for the generation of electricity was opened in 1882, yet today less than half a century later—you—

Push an electric door bell, you are carried to your apartment in an electric elevator; you snap a switch and flood your home with light; sit down to a meal of food preserved in an electric refrigerator and cooked in part on electric table appliances; make your toilet by the help of electric toilet accessories; wear clothes laundered electrically; walk on rugs electrically cleaned; listen to an electrically operated radio, and retire to your bed at night, comforted by an electric heating pad.

These are just a few of the many things that electricity does for you in the electrically equipped home, but enough to show you how essential it is that every residence should be adequately wired for electric use and provided with a sufficiency of electric outlets for your convenience.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

J. William Lee, Minister
Robert D. Coward, Associate

The pastor has returned from the annual Conference held at Asbury Park, N. J.

The reports of Epworth charges are now reaching the office of Church of Missions covering the whole year the sum of $3344.00 was given by the Church, thus fulfilling the Master's command. "Go ye therefore and teach all nations." Epworth Church therefore is preaching the Gospel of Jesus where ever the sun does his course, the journey 'round.

This has been made possible by the generous giving of the members of this Church. The Church keeping "Others" is shelled to decay. The pastor is proud and happy to minister to such a people.

The Church School will have a fine program at 10 A. M. Junior Epworthians who represented the School at the Junior Laymen's Conference held at Asbury Park March 9-10 will give a report of this inspiring Conference.

The Morning Worship 11 A.

Ministry of Music—"O, a Wild Rose" MacDonald. Holy, Holy, Holy (Legh, processional). How Firm a Foundation" anthem. Let Us Your Hands.

Sermon: "The Law of Dependence."

The Senior and Intermediate Leagues will hold their devotional meetings at 6:45 P. M.

Evening Worship 7:45.

Ministry of Music—"Sea Gardens"—Cooke. Coming Home—Willeby. Onward, Christian Soldiers, anthem. I Am Alpha and Omega."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

The pastor and congregation desires to thank Miss Florence Bear, Mrs. Carrie Bargerside, Mrs. Raymond Watling, Mrs. Sophie Grollman, the ladies' choir, and the Tiny Luther-ans choir for the excellent manner in which they had charge of the Women's Bible Class Sunday evening.

This coming Sunday evening a like service will be held for the men at which time Dr. J. Marshall Taylor of the Divine Memorial Church of Philadelphia will be the speaker. Dr. Taylor is in great demand as a speaker and we feel fortunate in having procured such a pulpit orator for our Men's Night in the crusade.

Several men of the church will take parts corresponding to those taken by the ladies on the platform last Sunday evening. Men not in the choir or on the program will occupy the front seats. It may be impressed most emphatically upon the minds of all our constituency that this is a service to which all are invited, not only the men. There will be great music, good speaking, and a general inspiring program.

In the morning hour of worship a corresponding service will be held. This will be less general in character. There will be no sermon. Children are urged to attend the informal service.

The coming Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock the Mens Local Dinner will be served in the ladies' dining room. Reservations should be made at once. If you have not already done so. There must be a large representation of our men there. Dr. Mitchell will address the church on the subject: "Who How."

On Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Women's Bible Class will be served to the men. The ladies are urged to visit in their cars and be present. Dr. Mitchell will address them on the subject: Women and the Church. Every Woman Present at the dinner.

CALVARY "Y" GROUP

Address by Specialists Add Interest to Programs

"Things have been happening fast and furious at the Calvary Group of the Palmyra Branch YMCA. For the past month a series of vocational guidance programs have been under way. To start this off the Rev. J. W. Lee gave the fellows an excellent discussion on the attitude one should have toward one's vocation and briefly pointed out the satisfying features of the ministry.

Tom Gest was the next speaker who discussed accountants and the possibilities of this field as a life vocation.

This week Frank Chambers of the Palmyra News gave the fellows an insight into the newspaper game. One of two of the fellows are considering this line but all the fellows showed their appreciation by their rounds of applause.

A meeting that the fellows will long remember was one held two weeks ago when Stanley Black hosted the fellows how a piano and a piano accordion could be played.

The entire group is looking forward to the next meeting when Guy C. Hendry will be the speaker. This promises to be one of the outstanding meetings of the year as Mr. Hendry is the secretary of the County YMCA.

Feeling that all sides of life should be developed the group has given three dances this winter that rank with the outstanding social events of Palmyra and Riverton. The last one was held at the Riverton Porch Club last week and all those who participated in the event voted it a success, plus.

The group feels so proud of their basketball team. Teams have come from far and near but every one has gone away with heavy heads. The Isle of Bacon added to the collection was with Ardmore.

The aim of the YMCA is to develop the four fold life and this is being carried out in the Calvary group. The spiritual side is being developed by the leader William Bond who each week discusses some passage of scripture and then tries it related to the every day life of each fellow in the group.

As the end of the season draws near every fellow look back with a bit of sadness because a great many of the fellows will leave the college and the group will always be held dear to everyone who has had the opportunity of being a member.

Some Hints on Pie-Making

Pie is one of the most delicious and appetizing foods to make it well. When properly prepared, it contains the elements of a complete meal. Such an opportunity for variety as pie affords is not to be found in any other food. Pies can be made from fruits, vegetables, meats, fish, eggs, cheese, nuts, and many other foods. And, should the housewife be going to tell you the right things to do to get just an extra delicious pie which will be tender, golden brown and appetizing, when baked at the right temperature, the fat does not disappear into irritating substances, and it is made digestible for even delicate stomachs. Let us take up the making step by step.

Mixing

Use a pastry flour and sift the flour, salt and baking powder together. Use two knives and cut the shortening into the dry ingredients until flour has a mealy appearance. Push this mixture to sides of bowl, leaving an opening in center, add a part of the liquid at a time, mixing with a knife. If too much water is added, the crust will be tough. If not enough, it will break and crumble. Avoid the needless moment in the secret of success.

Rolling the Crust

Turn paste upon a lightly floured board, pat gently and roll lightly. Work from center to all directions to make it round and fit the pan. Use as little extra flour as possible. Fold a two-inch pie circle the pie to using the larger half for the lower crust.

Fitting the Crust to the Pan

Lay the paste on the pie board, making sure that no air pieces are left at the side or bottom of pan. Fill with any mixture desired. Moisten edges of lower crust, particularly top crust and lay upon lower crust. Press off the edges which hang over the edge of pan by holding pan between both hands and pressing toward the center. Single crusted pie shells should be laid over an inverted pie pan. Perforate with a fork before placing in oven and brush with milk to help in the browning. Individual pastry shells and tarts may be made over inverted muffin tin.

Baking (Important)

Pastry has a large proportion of fat, and to prevent the splitting into separate fatty acids it should be baked in a moderate oven instead of a quick oven. A moderate oven also swells the little starch granules of flour. Pies baked this way are not indigestible.

Flaky Pie Crust

2½ cups flour — ½ tsp salt
½ cup shortening — 1 cup cold water
½ tsp. baking powder

Mix and sift dry ingredients, cut in the shortening until ready in appearance. Add cold water. Toss on a floured board, pat and roll out. Fold so as to make three layers, turn half way, repeat, pat and roll out. Makes 1 double crust and 1 pie shell.

Apple Pie

6 apples — ½ tsp nutmeg
½ cup sugar — 1 tbsp shortening
½ tsp salt
Wash and core apples. Do not pare. Cut apples into soft sugar, salt and spice, stir well. Mix thoroughly with apples. Turn into pie pan lined with crust. Dot with small pieces of butter or shortening. Put on top crust, prick it toward the center and pressing off edges. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees for 50 minutes. Serve cold.

Lemon Sponge Cake Pie

3 tbsp butter — Juice and rind of
1 cup sugar — 1 lemon
(creamed) — 2 eggs whole beat
2 egg yolks — to stiff and
1 cup flour — folded in last
1 cup milk — Lemon sweet milk

Pour into a deep dish lined with pastry. Bake slowly until set and a golden brown. Bake for 30 minutes at 325 degrees.

Butterscotch Pie

1 cup brown sugar — 1 cup milk
2 tbsp flour — 1 tbsp butter
1 egg yolk beaten — 1 cup of butter with — use of fudge,
1 cup milk

Mix in order given and boil. When cooked add 1 teaspoonful vanilla and pour into baked pie shell and make meringue of egg whites.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 17
THE CHRISTIAN SABBATH
Lesson: Matthew 12:1-8; Revelation 1:10
Print Matthew 12; Psalm 92:1-8

One sacred day a week is not peculiar to the Christian. The Mohammedan observes Friday, and the Hebrew keeps the seventh day of the week. From the very beginning the Jewish people have observed the day for worship and other religious purposes. It began in recognition of the divine command, was in remembrance of the Lord's resting from the work of creation, and was commanded by Moses. Attention was called to this subject and stress was laid upon the proper way of living. The Sabbath is not merely the day when certain things are not to be done, but it is a day when we are to do the things which belong to him. Sabbath observance is not to be a matter of legalistic regulations, but is to be a day of joy and gladness. Jesus was not opposed to the Sabbath, but to the Pharisaic perversion of it. He was the Lord of the Sabbath, and he showed that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. He showed that the Sabbath was a day for doing good, for healing, for helping, for saving life. He showed that the Sabbath was a day for worship, for service, for joy, for rest.

Commissioner Dill Tells Police 100,000 Keystone State Motorists Have No Operator's Card

Claiming that more than 100,000 Pennsylvania motorists are driving without license, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner William I. Dill has started a drive against those who fail to get their state permits as well as those who have not complied with the Pennsylvania drivers.

In letters sent to police authorities in the section the commissioner said motorists to secure their license from Pennsylvania licenses and not to use the driver's card.

"Those who fail to obey them must be fined."

More than 50,000 Pennsylvania drivers are driving their cars without license and some are using the Commissioner said. "If they can get away with it in Pennsylvania, many some of our leaders, but they can't drive in every state without a license and a card."

Commissioner Dill said that state car owners in Pennsylvania pay registration fees but not including the extra money for a driver's license.

State police and local police all over the state highways of the state as well as on city streets are now arresting the cars

BUCTO'S GHOST HOAX ADMITTED

Frieckler Tells Detectives He Invented Phantom That Opened Doors

Buctos ghost, Bucktown hoax, ground was broken, and putting the perpetrator of a collection made by Wallace Frieckler, Governor Detective Clifford Carr and Arthur Lloyd Bang.

The Frieckler although declared he invented the phantom doors that rocked door and the mirror crash, refused to tell where he got the idea. Carr said that Frieckler confessed after a grilling which put Buctos on their knees for several days. Buctos is a small village.

Frieckler said he and Lee Bigelow met several years ago and Frieckler confessed to Bigelow how he could make the ghost appear. Buctos is a small village.

Frieckler said he and Lee Bigelow met several years ago and Frieckler confessed to Bigelow how he could make the ghost appear. Buctos is a small village.

The secret might continue locked in Buctos. They were so interested here for the ghost story. The secret was merely a sensational background material from the whole ghost Frieckler told ready detectives.

Despite Frieckler's confession, it is generally admitted the ghost is nothing more than a thing old new nine house. A search of Frieckler's home revealed a quantity of powdered dead of theatrical phantom and mournful means of ghastly ghosts being dead for the most part in Buctos. But numerous superstition is silently of the district still refuses to go out alone at night, detectives say.

LAW LIBRARY IN SHORTHAND

PALMYRA WINS IN "B" TOURNEY

Will Meet Millville in Semi-finals for South Jersey Laurels

Coach Dingee's Palmyra High School quintet won the right to compete in the semi-finals of the South Jersey Tourney by defeating Burlington last Friday night at the Camden High School gym. Millville, the champion of Cumberland county, will meet Palmyra in the first round which will be played at Camden High School gymnasium tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

The Blues gave Palmyra a real scare before the final curtain was drawn on a 23-20 score. A large crowd witnessed the two games which were played in the Camden High School gym.

Burlington started out with a rush and piled up a 9 to 6 lead at the quarter mark, but Palmyra held the Tigers to three points in the second quarter while scoring seven and took the lead at the end of the first half 13 to 12.

The third quarter was featured by close guarding with Ray Bratton and Stokes Dempsey scoring the only points of the quarter with a field goal each. Burlington tallied the only marker in the third period.

After Wood kicked Palmyra scored final goals in the last of the fourth period to land Palmyra's lead 1 20-12, Burlington tallied in earned t

Peter Hedrick scored a field goal Eddie Wolff a pair of foul, and Myers came through with another double decker that put Palmyra four to a pair of points. Hedrick then scored for Palmyra and Wurick caged the last field goal of the game to make the final score 23 to 20 in Palmyra's favor.

ARTISAN NOTES

The monthly meeting of the Palmyra Assembly Artisans Order of Mutual Protection will be held next Tuesday night in the lodge room.

This will be an Every Member Night and those who have not been present for a long time are especially urged to attend as it is hoped that the night will be one long to be remembered. Full details are not available but from authoritative sources it has been learned that there will be a prize exam which members will regret missing if they are not on hand Tuesday evening.

Brother William Grant was the lucky fellow at the last meeting and took the beautiful Banjo clock home with him. Every one has an equal chance.

GROUP REPORTERS TELL OF Y DOINGS

By Donald Gilbert, Reporter

The regular meeting of the Lone Eagle Group was called to order about 7:45 o'clock by Dr. Albert Leon Guss, who led in the reading of the Do Purpose Ritual, followed by the other officers. After the business part of the meeting was over, the secretary called the roll and collected the dues.

An unusual number of members were present, happy to greet our leader, Arnold Carter. After the secretary had transacted books was marked, Leader Carter called for the answer to the question by each of the last meeting. This was: What is your life work going to be? Does it need a college education? If so, what college are you going to attend?

The colleges mentioned were Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Swarthmore and Annapolis Naval Academy. Leader Carter pointed out the duties of failure in a young man's career and the way to avoid them.

The surprise of the evening was a chocolate layer cake which was brought by your humble servant, although the failure of it was done by the said person. The boy took one of the better ones for his. After it was disposed of which we rather quick a vote of thanks to my sister who made it as made and seconded. Our secretary read a letter which he had received from Mount Holly referring to the inter group athletic contest which is to be held some time next month. Each team in Burlington County is to have a contest of its own and the winner will be sent to Mount Holly to compete in the championship matches. The group having the most number of ribbons will have their picture placed by the Praetorian Y M C A paper which will add a considerable amount of space for the newspaper article. Another thing all members of the group who have not had their individual pictures taken for the year book be up at the Y Building Monday afternoon after school. Don't forget.

TO APPOINT RIGG NEXT COUNTY JUDGE

Republican leaders, representing both factions in Burlington County, called on Governor Larson at Trenton Tuesday in reference to appointments to the County Judgeship, tax board and prosecutor.

An agreement was reached whereby Governor Larson promised to appoint Charles A. Rigg of Burlington to succeed Judge Shuebler and John Chant of Riverside to succeed Mrs. Jacoby on the tax board. Both these appointees were supported by State Senator Clifford R. Powell.

Next year Governor Larson agreed to appoint Attorney Howard Eastwood, of Burlington, to succeed Prosecutor Elsinger M. Hilman. This appointment is favorable to the county organization headed by Charles Brown, Judge Wells, Emmor Roberts and others.

It was expected that the nomination would be sent to the Legislature this week.

CITIZENS FIGHT "CHINESE WALL" AT BIG HEARING

TRICK BY RAILROAD COMPANY IS SEEN

Engineer Harris Says Elevation Need Extend Only as Far as Hylton Road

A delegation of public-spirited Palmyra citizens numbering upwards of 100 traveled to Trenton Tuesday morning to attend a hearing before the State Highway Commission on the question of whether the Palmyra Bridge Boulevard will cross over or under the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

The importance of the question lies in the fact that if the boulevard passes under the railroad, the tracks will have to be elevated from the Pensauken Creek for a considerable distance through West Palmyra with the result a "Chinese Wall" would be built through that section of town depreciating property value and ruining residential prospects.

When the question first arose it was understood the Highway Commission was fully agreed that the boulevard should pass over the tracks via an overhead bridge.

Change of Front

Later much to the surprise of Borough officials and others, there were rumors that the commission had reversed itself and favored the underpass.

Investigation brought out fact which seemed to indicate certain parties who had purchase of real estate along the route of the proposed boulevard in West Palmyra had taken advantage of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's desire to eliminate grade crossings and started a movement for the underpass which, in turn, would compel the building of underpasses for Hylton road crossing and, per chance, the eliminations of the Park avenue and Ball Park crossings entirely.

The only reason which could be deducted for this attitude was that the property owned by these parties would be worth a few thousand dollars more if the boulevard were built on the ground level than if it had to be elevated for several years to pass over the railroad.

At the hearing Tuesday Borough Solicitor Joseph R. Lee, Mayor George N. Wimer and former Mayor James T. Weart made eloquent protests against the underpass plan. Charles A. Wright of the Bridge Company, Walter H. Cummings and others, favored the underpass.

The engineer of the Highway Commission, Major Sloan, also spoke for the plan which would involve elevating the railroad tracks. Sloan declared the Commission had never decided on one plan in preference to the other but was merely giving fair consideration to both. He went to much pains, however, in an attempt to show that opposition to the underpass plan was groundless.

Engineer Harris Speaks

Pennsylvania Railroad Engineer Harris also spoke in favor of the elevation plan. He surprised his hearers by asserting it would be necessary to elevate the tracks only as far as Hylton road crossing and that no present crossings except that of River Road would be eliminated. Mayor Wimer and other present however, quickly called his attention to the fact that Divisional Engineer Kinkead of the Pennsylvania Railroad had often told Borough Council it would be necessary to elevate the tracks nearly to Cinnaminson avenue, the business center of Palmyra, in order to build an underpass at Pensauken Creek.

Major Harris's assertion that the elevation would end at Market street was considered by the Palmyra delegation as little less than a trick. Everybody felt that once the railroad started to elevate as far as Market street, it would find many reasons for continuing farther and there would then be no means of preventing the erection of the Chinese Wall.

Mr. Harris also surprised his hearers by asserting the Railroad Company didn't care which plan was adopted, that it was willing to co-operate with the Highway Commission and share the expense in either plan.

State Senator Clifford R. Powell, who sat with the Commission and had been taking Palmyra's part in the whole controversy, then asked what the fight was all about if the railroad were satisfied with either plan.

Nobody could answer the question, but in the minds of the Palmyra delegation it was clear that somebody was merely playing possum.

The hearing ended with Senator Powell making an ardent plea for the rights and welfare of the towns of Palmyra and Riverton.

CHARGES ASSAULT

At a hearing before Justice William H Fichter Monday night, William A Donaghy was charged with assault and battery by George A Spencer. Donaghy, through his attorney, Frank A Mathews, Jr. waived a hearing and the case will go before the Grand Jury some time in April. As the hearing was waived no testimony was heard.

ATTIC TREASURES AT PORCH CLUB

Display of Priceless Antique Furniture and Costumes Held on March 19

A rare collection of Attic Treasures was on display at the Porch Club on Tuesday March 19th. The exhibit contained heirlooms of great value which were loaned by club members for this occasion. The section arranged as a dining room contained many beautiful piece of old pewter including several plates that were old what a hen's spoon dating back to 1750. Sutton pattern decorated the walls.

In another corner of the Porch Club auditorium were remarkable antique furniture and table ware. Pieces of priceless value belonging to Mr. Benjamin S. Merchling, fine mahogany, a Hepplewhite arm chair, a silver and tortoise shell tea caddy belonging to Mrs. Henry Ashmore originally owned by her great uncle Giles Bolton of Malta. The picture was made complete by Mr. Murray C. Boyer's red cedar chintz curtains hanging at the window.

The bedroom of early American style showed a wooden cradle with a cradle quilt a Penn Manor chair, homespun linen, a key wooden sheet bought by Christopher Dock the famous Germantown Academy head master in 1781. A set of silhouette decorated the wall of this room.

Old colonial mufflers, a warming pan and other fire utensils ornamented the fire fireplace. A collection of daguerreotypes, showing four generations of one family and two French bronze lamps with Empress were shown to advantage on the mantelpiece. A set of three brass candle lamps from the mantelpiece.

Another outstanding exhibit was a collection of dolls' furniture and dolls, including hoop skirts and parasols. An old map of Riverton proved of great interest.

A number of club members dressed in quaint costumes gave a personal touch to the scene. Lovely poke sleeves and bonnets were displayed to advantage in this way. Those appearing in costume were the following: Mrs. Francis A. Deminger, Mrs. William M. Shoemaker, Jr., Mrs. Graham P. Sargent, Mrs. Gilbert Coe, Mrs. John K. McVaugh, Mrs. G. Rex Shute, Mrs. J. F. Slater, Mrs. Edward K. Gill, Mrs. J. D. Clark, Mrs. William G. Porter, Mrs. Raymond M. Fuller and Mrs. Norman H. Scriver.

One of the most interesting pieces of wearing apparel displayed was an old vest lined by Mrs. Eugene J. Bush. It belonged to an Enoch's pioneer named Emmor Jeffris. Four of the initialed silver buttons still remain intact on the vest. This antique was shown in 1876 at the Centennial in Philadelphia.

Other exhibitors not previously mentioned are: Mrs. Harry H. Murray, Mrs. Nathan Lane, Jr., Mrs. William G. Peter, Mrs. Clarence Redman, Mrs. Robert Biddle, Mrs. Russell Gausler, Mrs. Weston Dennison, Mrs. F. Marshall Kinsey, Mrs. Edgar Lippincott, the Misses Coale, the Misses Biddle, Mrs. Edward D. Bertram, the Misses Campbell, Mrs. Allen F. Deacon and many others.

Mr. Charles Evans, of Cinnaminson, an enthusiastic collector spoke to the club on "Old Pewter." He brought with him many rare pieces from his treasures.

Attic Treasure Day was in charge of Mrs. Murray C. Boyer and Mrs. Benjamin S. Merchling.

Riverton Girl Enjoys Unusual Birthday Present From Her Father; Holds "Stick" for Fifty Miles

A 3000-mile airplane trip was the unusual birthday gift of Mr. Elaine Groves, who was twenty-one on March 19 from her father, F. Stanley Groves of Riverton.

Mr. Groves and her father had been on a trip to Honolulu and the return trip was to bring them across the continent. Upon their arrival in Los Angeles, Mr. Groves decided to charter a plane for a cross continent flight a thing which had never been done before.

Charles A. Young, chief pilot of the Transcontinental Air Transport in Los Angeles and Clarence C. Perry, pilot of that city went to Detroit and flew a new model Stinson-Detroiter back to the West coast. The Groves party left for Arcadia, Fla., stopping off for a week-end and visited in Aberdeen, Maryland where they were forced down by bad weather. Mrs. Elaine and the two pilots finished the trip to Riverton by train.

The next day the party returned to Aberdeen by motor accompanied by Miss Groves' other two sisters, Misses Marjorie and Constance, and had the air trip finishing at Crescent Field.

Stop at Tucson

The first days trip was from Los Angeles to Tucson, Arizona and from there to Fort Worth the next day. The longest leg was made on the third day from Fort Worth to Charlotte, a distance of 1,100 miles, which consumed about nine hours' flying time. On this hop the plane crossed eight states. The fourth day brought Mr. Groves and his daughter to Maryland.

In speaking of the weather Chief Pilot Young said, "We had fine flying weather, all along the trip except a bit of fog in Texas and the fog we encountered in Maryland. On this trip was made in easy stages and Mr. Perry and myself enjoyed piloting a plane for folks like Mr. Groves and Miss Elaine. Miss Groves can easily learn to fly if she wants to, as she handled the controls for about fifty miles on the trip east and was very apt at the job."

Mr. Groves said: "We had no fears as we knew the records of the two boys who brought us home. Mr. Young has had fourteen years flying experience and over 4000 hours to his credit. Mr. Groves continued, Mr. Perry has been flying for twelve years and he too has more than 3,000 hours to his credit. Both Young and Perry had experience in the World War, Young with the British Royal Air Force and Perry with the A. E. F."

Miss Groves said, "I was thrilled when my father asked me if I would like to fly home from the west coast and I am still thrilled about the wonderful trip we had and my short time at the controls."

Mr. and Mrs. Groves enjoy outdoor life as do their three daughters and possibly aviation will take its place in their outdoor sports.

Sunday friends of Mr. Groves were taken for hops from the Crescent Field.

Mrs. Groves, Miss Elaine, Miss Alice Lippincott and the two pilots flew to Atlantic City.

PALMYRA COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION

Decide in Favor of Immunization Treatment for Diphtheria in Schools

Permit was granted the Worth Motor Bus Company for the operation of 25 buses through Palmyra at the regular meeting of Borough Council Tuesday night.

A representative of the company was present and explained that the company was at present operating 11 buses in its entire fate but that the permit was necessary in order that the buses might be operated as an added fare line to ease the fating was approved by the Public Service Commission granting them the privilege of discharging passengers at this point.

Councilman Busser reported that tentative arrangements had been made with the Methodist Episcopal Church whereby the Borough might take over the Old Methodist Cemetery upon payment of the purchase price of one dollar. No official action was taken as this must be approved by the church organization.

Favor Proposition

Councilmen expressed themselves as being favorable to the proposition since it would give the Borough the opportunity of keeping the cemetery in good order and establish title to the property in event it was ever decided to improve the grounds. The income from the cemetery would go to the Borough in event it is taken over.

Dr. LeFavor was present at the meeting and spoke in favor of the immunization of the school children against diphtheria. He pointed out that the cost of this would be only about fifteen cents each if the Borough decided to have it done.

A resolution providing the plan was passed by Council. The treatment will be free to all school children who wish it, but is not compulsory. Dr. LeFavor explained that the Schick Test would not be necessary. The regular cost of the immunization treatment varies from three to eight dollars and the question was brought up in regards to pre-school children receiving the treatment at the same time as the others. The matter was not acted upon, but was referred to the Hygiene Committee.

License Peddlers

Walter D. Lamon, acting as spokesman for a committee appointed by the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce requested that an ordinance be passed making it necessary for canvassers and peddlers to take out a license. The matter was referred to the solicitor to investigate as to the legal points of such procedure. An ordinance will later be considered.

A report was made in connection with the widening of Broad street. Solicitor Lee said he had deeds to most of the necessary property and expected to get favorable action from the ones who had not yet deeded the land to the Borough.

Must Have Permit

The Pennsylvania General Transit Company understood to be a Pennsylvania Railroad subsidiary presented a petition for the operation of buses through Palmyra. No consideration was given this request and it was laid over until next meeting.

Mayor Wimer told of a case where a builder had refused to take out a building permit claiming he could not be forced to do so. The Mayor said he had finally succeed to comply with the law when threatened with the consequences. Notice was given that if in the future anyone started building without a permit he would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Egotism is the only sin in the world that needs no organization to perpetuate it.

AERO CLUB HEAR OF NEW CAMDEN AIRPORT PLANS

Big Flying Interests Have Taken Over Aviation Centre on Boulevard

FIELD ENLARGED AND EQUIPMENT ADDED

Regular Service to Distant Points Will be Maintained, Manager Announces

The members of the Burlington County Aero Club and their friends received a very interesting talk by Paul Thomas, manager of the newly formed Central Airport, Inc. of Camden at the Community House Monday evening of last week.

People living in the vicinity will be interested to hear that the newly organized Central Airport, Inc. has acquired several hundred additional acres allowing sufficient ground for an unusually fine and modern airport. Mr. Thomas also outlined some of the new company's ambitious plans.

The Central Airport will be equipped on every respect having five well equipped hangars. They will include an engine and wing repair department and a mechanic's shop. There will be ample storage space for both private and airplane and facilities for handling service to both.

The field is planned as a terminal for local lines as well as a way station for through service. Persons living in Burlington and Camden counties will find it very convenient to board a plane enroute to regular service such as Newark, New York City, Washington, Atlantic City and the West. Central Airport is the nearest large field from which planes may be hired at any time by private parties desiring to go to or from points. There are to be built a fine waiting room and all modern facilities such as restrooms, rest rooms and first class restaurant.

Mr. Thomas expected to be very active in the engine that work on the airfield has actually been started and is expected to be finished in the near future.

The Burlington County Aero Club is expected to have speakers at the time of Mr. Thomas' present at the club meetings. The Club meetings are held every second Thursday night at the Community House and the public is invited to attend them.

H. H. Conaklee president of the club wishes to tell all aviators, or those that like flying, that fine flying weather is near and that new applications for membership are being received at the clubs office.

Already large crowds are being attracted to the Moorestown airport on Sundays. Anyone interested in the benefits of membership may get full information from officers of the club or any one of it many members.

After all is said and done the farmers that need the most relief are those who have moved to town.

RIVERTON SEES NEED OF QUICK ZONING ACTION

COMMISSION NAMED BY MAYOR ROGERS

Hubbs Says He Thinks Factory Might "Spruce Up" Bank Avenue

The necessity for zoning was brought forcibly to the attention of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night when a communication was read from a Philadelphia attorney stating that he had a client who wished to buy a property on the River Bank to be used for manufacturing purposes and inquiring whether or not Riverton had a zoning ordinance which would prevent such use.

The letter was made out to M. Clifton, borough clerk. Mr. Clifton reported to Council that he had referred the letter stating that while Riverton had no such ordinance the sum of $7,500 was provided in the last budget for same and that a commission would probably be appointed at an early date.

Councilman Hubbs said he thought industry on the River Bank would be a great thing as they would remedy the flooding due to condition that now exist. Councilman Bartley and Randall took issue with Mr. Hubbs and asked him if he objected if he was considering the best interests of the town and looking properly into the future in making such a statement. Mr. Hubbs replied that he did not.

Zoning Commission Appointed

At the close of the discussion Mayor Rogers appointed a Zoning Commission consisting of Harry M. Jones, chairman, R. H. Bourquin, J. Wilson Sylvester, H. M. Kierstead and Dr. Harry L. Rogers.

During the discussion on zoning Mr. Hubbs expressed the opinion that the Borough could save a large portion of the cost by having the Borough engineer make the survey and draw up the zoning ordinance.

Following the letter from Philadelphia came a petition signed by a score or more of residents living in the neighborhood protesting against the erection of a factory on the river or the property at the Commonwealth Steel and asking Council to enact an ordinance preventing the property about the industry. It was recalled that in 1924 a similar factor erected on a vacant lot back of the Hotel Cotter. At that time the owners said he would be willing to have the zoning removed at the expiration of the lease. The contract recently was signed and the zoning been removed. The matter of the new ones not erected was referred to Councilmen DeCosty who will confer with the owners of the property to see what can be done about having it taken down.

Permit for Bus Line

W. L. Worth of the Worth Motor Bus Company, Beverly, appeared before Council with a request that the company be granted permission to operate 25 buses through the borough for a line running between Burlington and Philadelphia. The buses would be operated the same as the open cars. The matter was referred to the Public Policies Committee to permit such operation if desired. The would mean that commuters could be taken on and discharged at any point between Burlington and Camden.

Councilman Hubbs asked Mr. Worth if Riverton would receive any financial benefit from the operation of the line. Inasmuch the Borough has no bus tax. Mr. Worth replied that it would. He said that a per cent of the gross receipts of the company would be paid to the Borough. This he said would be about one cent a ride.

On motion of Mr. Bartley, seconded by Mr. Randall the bills in the sum of $2,000 were approved for payment. The motion was unanimously passed.

Wants Street Graded

Howard Colwell, a resident of Penn street appeared before Council and asked that something be done to improve the section of Penn street so that next Third and Fourth streets can be used.

Mr. Hubbs, chairman of the Highway Committee, stated that Penn street was to be included in the program this year but that the Borough could not do anything really effective in the matter of drainage on the present sewers put in curbs. Mr. Hubbs said the intention to grade and pave Penn street as mentioned on Page 4.

MEN'S CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Men's Club will be held next Monday evening, March 25th in the Parish House of Christ Church, Palmyra. Mr. E. H. C. Kalback will be the speaker of the evening. His subject will be "Java and Dutch East Indie."

Mr. Kalback has been a resident in Java and with his intimate knowledge of that particular section of the world he will be able to give the members of the club a treat of interesting facts and glimpses of life.

Captain Read is in charge of the entertainment and Robert Hudnick will furnish the music. Miss Doris Barton will render several selections.

By Bruce Davidson, Reporter

The regular weekly meeting of the Lincoln Pioneers, Y. M. C. A. Group, was held on Wednesday evening last in the "Y" Building. At 7:30 o'clock most of the boys were there and they knew this was our social night because Roy Simons, Leland was there and when he is there, there is always a social. You see, he only comes once a month.

Mr. Taylor was delayed on account of business, so we passed the time away by playing basketball, reading and playing records on the Edison phonograph. At about 7:45 Mr. Taylor arrived while the basketball game was still in session, and it sure was a good game.

After a little rest, our Senior team went out in the gym under Joe Weber's direction to mop up the floor for the big game of basketball against McCready's team. The following was the line-up of the players on each side:

Weber's "Y" Team	McCready's Team
Joe Weber	McCready
Bill Headington	Lefroy Foster
Andy Barker	Carrigan
Roy Cooper	Vaughn
Howard Yerkes	Tandrent

Substitutes: Earl Yeomans

The first inning was a hot and fast one. All the players did their best. Substitute Earl Yeomans took the place of Vaughn and played a fine game. Bill Headington took the place of Howard Yerkes and played a fine game. Yerkes and Weber attended their Camp Conference in Wesleyan at the opposite end of the state.

In the second inning Earl Yeomans took the place of Vaughn and certainly showed his ability by helping to shoot a few goals. After some fine and fast rough but not foul playing the game was over. The score being 21 to 13 in favor of Weber's "Y" team. There was much rejoicing on our side, but not on the McCready team, but I feel sure they are not going to say that the second boys' team won't beat them. Joe Weber and Roy Cooper are much too fast for the other side. Joe Weber and Yerkes also Roy Cooper and Vaughn, Lefroy Foster and McCready on the other side.

After the game was over, we went to the dining room to the meeting, which we opened with a short devotional period. The minutes were then read and a secretary taken. The reports through they took place. It was some fun, for there were eighteen people and Mr. Taylor, our leader present. Joe Beck, who was referee for our basketball games, was also present, but as he is not a member he was not permitted to attend the meeting.

Mr. Taylor cut on Bible lesson short because it was our social night. He again announced that Frank Alloway, Joe Cooper and Joe Weber were on the refreshment committee, and Jack Gilbert, Andy Barker and myself were on the games committee. While these boys were attending to their duties, the "Fun in the dark" was played several times. Then came the big surprise in the form of great slabs of ice cream, frimlets, etc. After enjoying this part of the evening (needless to say it was enjoyable), the boys started for home at 9:30 P. M.

By Donald Gilbert, Reporter

The regular weekly meeting of the Lone Eagle Y. M. C. A. Group was dispensed with last Saturday evening owing to the fact that most of the members were attending the Camp Reunion held at the Moorestown Community House.

The seven members who attended this event were Charles Woolston, Walter Barclay, Peter Bodman, Howard Baric, Paul Guest, Clarence Hobbs and myself. As each boy arrived he paid his twenty-five cents admission and received a card, on which he wrote his full name and then his nickname. We opened up with songs prepared for the occasion and led by Guy C. Hendry, the County Secretary, with his cornet.

After several songs had been sung, Arnold Carter introduced California they needed no introduction for the following men, who took part in the Camp direction last summer: Director Merwin, Mr. Ferguson, who in his younger days was a sailor and has been to most every part of the world, Mr. Bailey, who was in charge of the wood working department, Mr. Ferguson, who was in charge of swimming and boating, Mr. Cruikshanks (better known to most of us as Corky), who was captain of the Elk crew, and Paul Barr. He also called on several boys who had been tent leaders. Mr. Bradley then showed us some slides scenes of camp life.

He started with pictures of the Camp when it was up in Pennsylvania, and when it was located at Hewitt, New Jersey. He then showed us scenes of the new Camp near Medford, which was dedicated on June 1928. After this was over Mr. Carter asked any of the boys if they had any experiences at Camp which they would like to tell to the rest of us. Among those mentioned were snipe hunts, ghost walks, swimming and boat rides. At about 4:15 an hour's swim in the pool was much enjoyed, after which everyone went outside for the eats which were prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Beck, who were the cooks at Camp last year, and I am sure everyone hopes to have them with us next year.

Now to get back to a more local subject, our Year Book is fast nearing completion. In it are many interesting facts about the Group and Leader Carter expects to have it finished within the next two weeks. Everyone of us expects it to take the prize offered for the best.

THEM "GOOD OLD DAYS"

"Our Borough" is Speaker's Subject at Meeting of Palmyra Woman's Club

Mayor George N. Wimer Tells of Geographical History of This Vicinity Since the Forming of Burlington County in 1694

The Woman's Club of Palmyra held its second regular meeting of the month on Monday last in the Lions Club den in Cadwalader Hall. Several new members were cordially welcomed by Mrs. W. R. Dunn as president of the club.

Interesting reports of the work being done were made by the various committees. Mrs. R. Selby William spoke for the club's legislative department telling in a most comprehensive manner of President Hoover's method of choosing cabinet members and gave a short outline describing the qualifications of each.

Mayor George N. Wimer of Palmyra was the guest speaker of the afternoon and held the attention of his audience with a very instructive talk entitled "Our Borough" in leading up to his subject Mr. Wimer gave a very complete outline of the geographical history of this section during the past three hundred years.

He said how Burlington County was created by an act of the Assembly in 1694 under the proprietors of East and West Jersey. Its boundaries were more definitely described in January, 1704. At that time it contained, in addition to its present territory, the territory now included in Mercer and Hunterdon Counties, South Jersey was divided into only three counties at that time, Burlington, Gloucester and Salem.

Chester Township was created in 1678 and at that time extended from the Pensauken to the Rancocas Creek, and was bounded on the north by the Delaware River. Cinnaminson Township was cut out of this in 1860 and included Riverside, Delran, Riverton and Palmyra.

Delran was cut out of Cinnaminson Township in 1880 and included the present township and also the present township of Riverside.

Palmyra Township was formed in April, 1894, and was changed into a Borough February 20, 1923. Mr. Wimer then described in detail the organization and the workings of the present Borough government. He told of the taxable valuation in the town referring to it as a "four million dollar corporation," and explained the matter of taxes, how they are raised, and what part goes to the State, County, School and Borough respectively.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to the speaker for his very enlightening talk. The meeting adjourned after the singing of several songs. Mrs. Hemple, the hostess of the day, served tea.

NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR PALMYRA P. T. A.

Will Be Voted on at Meeting to Be Held Tuesday Evening, April 16

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the High School Auditorium, April 16 at 8 o'clock.

Nominations for officers were presented as follows: Mrs. Elias Taylor, president; Mrs. Forsyth MacDowell, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Kopp, second vice president; Mrs. George Dutton, secretary and Mrs. N. Bosley Bencker, treasurer. These nominations will be voted upon at the April meeting which will be held the evening of the third Tuesday.

A pleasant surprise was accorded the mothers and fathers when Miss Craig presented her kindergarten band. Several Dutch songs were sung by ten small children in costume. No one can realize how much patience and work it takes to train these small children and Miss Craig deserves a great deal of credit for her work.

Dr. Dean H. LeFavor rendered several selections on the piano which were enjoyed by all.

LOCAL FLORIST WILL GIVE FLOWER SHOW

Second Annual Affair to Be Staged Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27

James Kenney and son, local florists are planning the annual Flower Show to be held in Riverside on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27.

The greenhouses on Hances street, Riverside, will be open for visitors on both days and everyone is invited to come and inspect the array of plants and floral designs. There will be no obligation to buy and as everyone is interested in flowers there is a large crowd expected.

There will be a collection of Easter flowers in one part of the greenhouse, consisting of Easter Lilies, Hyacinths and baskets of Easter flowers. Tulips of all colors will have a space by themselves and they will be surrounded by palms and ferns. Nearby will be growing rose bushes and flowers of all kinds. Hydrangeas, Pandanas, Daffodils and Gardenias will also be displayed.

The arrangements are being patterned in a small way from the recent Flower Show held in the Commercial Museum, Philadelphia. This is something new for this section and in order that no one will miss this opportunity to view this display the greenhouses will be open during the early evening.

John E. Kenney has a branch office on Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, and extends an invitation to his patrons to visit the Riverside Greenhouse.

FURS IN PASTEL TINTS

Gray, beige and eggshell are the favored shades for furs that trim the new sports coats which themselves affect pastel tints. And curly furs have the foreground—krimmer, caracul, baltyk perhaps being the most popular.

MISS EMMA PRICE GUEST OF HONOR

Represents Women's Symphony Orchestra at Friendship Dinner

Miss Emma Price of Riverton, president of the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia, was a guest of honor at the speakers' table at the 51st annual Friendship Dinner presented by the Penn Athletic Club of Philadelphia, Saturday evening in the ballroom of the Ludwig-Bickford Philadelphia.

The idea of the 51 Annual Friendship Dinner originated with the Aeronautical Club of New York, the birthday of the custom in the spring of 1927. The dinner was planned to bring together women engaged in various activities, including social, political, business and professional groups, each succeeding year a different club acting as hostess.

The Philadelphia Forepiniade added another link to the Golden Chain of Understanding that is prevailing today among women throughout the world. The honor guests included women who have achieved unusual accomplishment in their selected work.

Miss Price spoke on behalf of the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia, telling of its organization and scope. After the dinner the orchestra rendered a short program.

Mrs. Jeanette Evelyn Bristor, president of the Soroptimist Club, gave greetings, and Miss Edward Beecher Flinck was toastmistress.

Among other women of prominence who took part in the program were: Mrs. Ruth Murray Miller, past president Philadelphia Soroptimist Club; Mrs. Grace B. Haines, chairman Friendship Dinner Committee; Mrs. James W. Kelly, Mrs. Lucretia Blankenburg, Mrs. Jenny Knoedler Johnson, Mrs. John A. Frick, Mrs. John Hoppe, Cross, Mrs. Ruby Lee Meier, Sarah Lowrie, Mrs. Roberta Allemus, Mrs. Frank Miles Day, Angela Morgan, Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, Mrs. Henry Pusey, Dorothy Gratz, Mrs. J. Willis Martin, Dr. Lucy L. W. Wilson, Margaret Anglin, Lady James Heath.

Mrs. Herbert Trout, of Palmyra, attended and entertained as her guests Mrs. Frank A. Bell, Mrs. George M. Becker, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Joseph T. Evans, Mrs. Charles K. Mervine, Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Norman Shriver and Ms. Charles H. Yost.

OLDEST BRITON DIES

London—William Walker, 108, England's oldest man, hale and hearty until last June, is dead today at Nottingham.

On his one hundredth birthday Mr. Walker ate five meals and when his health finally failed his only regret was that he could not continue leaving his daily pint of beer and his favorite meat, pork, to which he attributed his long life.

Mr. Walker achieved note at the time of King George's visit to Nottingham last autumn, when the centenarian was wheeled in an invalid's chair to shake hands with the King.

MINGIN IN RACE FOR CLERKSHIP

Medford Man Makes Formal Announcement of His Candidacy for Office

Lawrence C. Mingin of Medford this week makes formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of County Clerk of Burlington County at the primary election June 18 1929.

Mr. Mingin needs no introduction to Burlington County voters as his interest and activities in public and semi-public affairs in the county for many years has brought him in close contact with many and he is well known throughout the county.

Born at Medford, he was educated in the public schools. He started his business life as a railroad clerk. In 1904 he was appointed Deputy County Clerk with a promise by the late Judge Horace Dutton Judge of the County Courts that he must make good within three months or be replaced. The fact that Mr. Mingin remained in the office for fifteen years, nine months of which he served as County Clerk, being appointed to fill an unexpired term, is a strong recommendation for his efficiency and thorough knowledge of the many details in connection with this most important county office.

During the fifteen years he was connected with the office many improvements in the various departments were brought about, which he sponsored and had put into effect. The important part of which was placing the title and court records in proper shape, establishing a better system of recording papers, indexing and a thorough checking system as to their correctness. He started a judgment docket something that the county never had and generally placed all records in excellent condition. The establishment of a bail bond index and other changes brought about by his initiative, was the factor that made data in advance possible in the courts.

He received many compliments from county and court officials and others having to do with the office for the accuracy of its records in improving conditions. In that important office and placing it on a high standard of efficiency.

He studied law during the time he was connected with the office, an asset that proved valuable in the proper disposition of the many matters that had to follow the letter of the law.

The first step taken by Mr. Mingin after qualifying for County Clerk was to eliminate the salary expense of a Deputy Clerk, and during his entire administration the salary allotted to the county remained in the county treasury. This was a business measure that proved his ability to master the job without this expense to the county, the first time in the history of the county that the salary allotted for a Deputy in any county office was not paid.

He is a member of many fraternal civic and sporting organizations, in which he takes an active part.

Mr. Mingin's personal integrity, established reputation, and recognized qualifications for this office should be earnestly considered by every voter and taxpayer of the county. Should he be favored by election to the office he will devote all his time in administration of the duties imposed in a manner that will meet general approval, ever mindful of maintaining the efficiency of the office and at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers.

Candidate

LAWRENCE Y. MINGIN

Editor of the Medford "Central Record," and formerly Deputy County Clerk, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the clerkship at the June primary.

JUTE SIRCOULON

Jule Sircoulon, 58 years old, of 206 New Broadway, Broadaway, died at his home on Monday, March 18th. The deceased is the son of the late Jule and Mrs. Louise Sircoulon, of Palmyra.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock from his late residence, with Rev. Mumpers, of Westville, officiating.

Full military honors will be given the deceased and interment will be made in Morgan Cemetery under the direction of Frank A. Shover.

The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Louise Sircoulon, and a sister, Mrs. W. J. Zeller, both of Palmyra.

RIGG APPOINTED AS COUNTY JUDGE

Governor Names Burlington Man to Succeed Judge William A. Slaughter

Charles A. Rigg of Burlington has been appointed county judge to succeed Judge William A. Slaughter, whose term will expire April 1.

Mr. Rigg's name was sent to the New Jersey Senate Monday night by Governor Morgan F. Larson and there is no doubt as to the Burlington man's confirmation. In fact Senator Clifford R. Powell announced some time ago that he favored Mr. Rigg's appointment.

Some time ago the leaders of the two factions, one headed by Charles R. Stout of Florence and the other headed by Senator Clifford R. Powell of Delanco, had a conference and decided to bury the political hatchet in the interest of party harmony.

To this end it was agreed that Mr. Rigg, the Powell faction candidate should be the county judge instead of Howard Eastwood, the Stout faction candidate, and that Mr. Eastwood should be appointed prosecutor of the pleas when the term of George M. Hillman, of Moorestown, the Democratic incumbent, expires one year from now.

It is said that the conference was suggested by Governor Larson, who is more than anxious to have harmony in such a Republican stronghold as Burlington County, and that the Governor endorsed the arrangement that had been made.

Mr. Rigg was one of the outstanding students at Princeton and Rutgers universities. He is the son of the late Judge Rigg. He attended the grammar schools of Burlington and in the Van Rensselaer Seminary of the same town, and later took up the study of law.

The new Judge never went into politics extensively except in an advisory capacity. He served a term as Surrogate and at one time was head of the Burlington Board of Education. He is keenly interested in civic affairs and never has failed to cast his vote. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and reached the high section of district deputy.

sidewalks in all parts of the town where they do not already exist an improvement for which he has been striving ever since he became a member of Council.

Mr. Hubbs also reported that the Highway Committee planned to gravel Broad street south of the railroad from Thomas avenue to the avenue at the approximate cost of $900.

The Borough Clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for road oil, to be opened Thursday April 11. Specifications will be on file at the clerk's office.

Presented With Pen Set

As a token of appreciation of his services as a member of the Riverton Borough Council Mayor Rogers presented William B. Lynch with a handsome pen and pencil set. In making the presentation the Mayor said that Mr. Lynch had performed the duties of his office faithfully and efficiently, and had set a record for attendance at meetings that would be hard to equal. Mr. Lynch in accepting the gift, and the set of resolutions accompanying it, said he had enjoyed the work with his colleagues, and deeply appreciated the token of their regard.

Mr. Hubbs reported that a stoppage in the sewer on Seventh street between Elm and Linden avenues caused by 40 or 50 rods having been left in the pipe at some previous time had been cleared out.

Mr. Randall, chairman of the Lighting Committee, reported that a certain light had been taken out at Third and Main streets and an arc light installed.

The Public Service addressed a letter to Council stating that an order had been given to a local contractor several months ago to properly repair Thomas avenue where it had been opened to install the new gas holder last spring. The chairman of the Highway and Lighting Committees were instructed to see that the repairs are made without further delay.

Police Department Complimented

Director of Public Safety William was absent but sent a written report in which he stated that the Police Department had received letters of commendation from George Strobleu and Nathan Lane, Jr., for services rendered during the past month. Mr. Strobleu had asked the department to keep an eye on their property while they were in Europe and prompt and efficient aid had been rendered when Mrs. Lane called the police booth and said that someone was trying to force an entrance into her home.

The report further said that the department was checking up on speeders. A driver for the Border Mfg. Company had been warned repeatedly and unless he drives more carefully action will be taken.

A sidewalk in bad condition in front of McCombs on Main street was also reported.

The subject of bids for opening the streets came up for discussion, and the Ordinance Committee was instructed to submit to Council a revision of the present ordinance bringing it into conformity with present-day practice.

The Fire and Water Committee reported that it had been necessary to purchase four new tires for the fire truck. It was planned to buy two, but two more were found to be in an unsafe and dangerous condition and had to be replaced.

Fire Protection for Township

March 13, 1929.

Mr. Daniel M. Clifton, Clerk,
Riverton Borough,
Riverton, N. J.

Dear Sir:

At the meeting of the Township Committee of the Township of Cinnaminson held March 12, the Clerk was instructed to write to the Borough Council of Riverton and state that the Township of Cinnaminson will pay to the Borough of Riverton the amount of Six Hundred ($600) Dollars, for fire protection for the year 1929. This sum is almost the maximum that could be distributed to our company out of the appropriation. The Committee hope that it will be satisfactory to the Borough Council and the Fire Company and that the hereinbefore friendly relations may continue to exist between the two municipalities.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE C. FRANK,
Township Clerk.

The communication was received and filed and the proposition made by Cinnaminson Township accepted.

The building inspector submitted a report for permits issued for building operations amounting to $1,500 and fee in the amount of $7.50.

Councilman Bartley reported progress as chairman of the penal committee appointed at the last meeting to look into the effect the completion of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge will have on Riverton and said that he would have something more definite to submit later.

Must Lay Sidewalks

Attention was called to the fact that two property owners on Elm avenue had not laid sidewalks and curbs as required by an ordinance passed in 1925. The clerk was instructed to notify them that unless the work is started within thirty days it will be done by the Borough and assessed against the property. The clerk was also requested to make it plain that if the Borough does the work it will be necessary under the law to charge for all the expenses incident to drawing the ordinance, specifications, publication, etc. in addition to the actual cost of construction.

John D. Follett, Scoutmaster, addressed a communication to Council offering to present the Borough with a cabinet in which to keep the town flag. The cabinet will be placed in the Fire House where the flag will be accessible to the police officers should an emergency occasion arise for displaying it at a time when the Scouts are not available. The offer was accepted with thanks. Mr. Follett's question as to whether or not Council desired to have the flag displayed every day was answered in the negative.

C. Kenneth Davis, Borough collector, submitted a list of uncollectable taxes amounting to $247, which he asked to have remitted. Action was deferred until next meeting. Mr. Davis also submitted a list of delinquent taxes as of March 1, 1929.

The report of the auditors of the Borough accounts for the year 1928 was received and filed.

Bacharach's Ability Recognized

Tariff legislation is confidently expected to be the most important matter with which the special session of Congress, soon to be summoned by President Hoover, will have to deal, and in arriving at a decision as to just how far he intends to go in a departure from the Fordney-McCumber tariff act it is significant that the Chief Executive is relying largely on the advice of a son of New Jersey, Congressman Isaac Bacharach.

Congressman Bacharach was the breakfast guest of Mr. Hoover two days prior to the inauguration, and in a statement issued later the New Jersey Representative declared against a general program of higher valuation advocated by Joseph R. Grundy, representing the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association.

One of the outstanding features of Mr. Bacharach's unusually successful career at Washington was his appointment within a record time after his first election to the all-important ways and means committee. Because of his intimate knowledge of the conditions with which this committee has to deal and his untiring work as a legislator, Mr. Bacharach is in line for the chairmanship of this body.

In Representative Bacharach's opinion, there is no need for a general revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff, and this thought appears to be shared by Republican leaders generally throughout the nation. Mr. Grundy, seeking special privilege for the great interests he represents, believes otherwise, however, and a bitter fight is predicted when Congress convenes. Supported by the Hoover influence, however, as well as by outstanding leaders of his party in the House and Senate, there is good reason to believe that the cause Congressman Bacharach espouses will eventually prevail.

Hoover's First Gestures Show More Business, Less Politics

Campaign promises in matters of farm relief and tariff and inherited problems such as prohibition enforcement and the national origins quota law are the rocks and rapids in the course of the new leader of the G. O. P. now at the wheel of the Ship of State, according to the Wise Men of Washington's Newspaper World. The first gestures to fulfill the hopes of the farmer will be made in the special session of Congress.

Naturally the Republican party will continue to support the protective tariff principle. In doing so it will have to listen to President Herbert Hoover, who insists on the business of Government being conducted in accordance with more efficient business principles.

In the making of the new tariff bill the Ways and Means Committee is giving careful study to clean-cut statements and conclusions of the United States Tariff Commission regarding many schedules that have been investigated.

It looks as though there is an impasse between the art and science of representative government as it has been developed in several instances through the United States Tariff Commission, as opposed to political trading and dickering dictated by a few leading politicians at the expense of the consuming multitudes.

If Hoover succeeds in holding the tariff legislation within bounds, he will prove to many that the business man has not turned politician.

The Short-Cut to Happiness

Does happiness mean the immediate fruits of indulgence, or the ultimate harvest of achievement? When this is answered all may know how short is the way to happiness. Many people seek present joys, which is certainly worthy in motive. Others, however, remain steadfast in the belief that the only real and lasting happiness is that gained from self-sacrifice through long years of striving.

Contrary to the more or less popular opinion, the short-cut to happiness is the long road of perseverance. One often hears the expression, "O, well, we only live once; let's have a good time now." This is very well, provided the "good time" really is good and wholesome activity. Such a plea is persuasive, appealing and alluring. It contains a germ of wisdom. But when meant in the sense of sacrificing future needs for present follies it becomes deception and an empty platitude.

Look about us and see the men and women of sixty, seventy, eighty and more. Can you pick those who have found the short-cut to happiness? Do you see poverty or comfort? Do you see stalwart bodies bent with the fruitage of earlier dissipation? Perhaps not, for that kind seldom reach that age. Ask these whether there is an EASY WAY to success, a pleasant pathway to peace, or any easy detour to life's fullest destiny. Their answers will ring true to experience.

Present pleasures, yes. All that can be crowded into the short span of human life. But let them be pleasures that hold the balance of power for good as against evil. Such attainments can be had in play and in work, and in health or in illness, in joy and in pain, in sports and in business, in the home and in the world.

What Hath Roads Wrought

Good Roads are the monitors of a higher civilization. Bad roads are the landmarks of community slovenness. Good roads also include common sense in their building and good business judgment in the letting of contracts. To say that one wants a road from Dingbucktoo to Pinkatink is only half the battle. The fight is never finished until the project is seen through with a width for future needs, as straight and level as practicable, a solid foundation or understructure of adequate thickness, a high quality of materials and workmanship, and backed by an honest contractor. Then you have a road. Until then you have only a wish.

Good roads have brought prosperity, convenience, safety, self-respect and happiness to countless millions. A city, town, county, state or nation that is not going after good roads is commercially and socially committing self-imposed ostracism from the rest of the busy world.

Goods roads are worth all they cost. Comparable to a financial panic would be the sudden deprivation of any section of this country of its extra good roads. The community without good roads is "losing out" every inch of the way in competition with more progresive communities who have had the vision and have set about to make that vision real and lasting.

CASE AND CAREY

No one need be in doubt as to the inevitable effect of the action of Governor Larson in rejecting Robert Carey and appointing John F. Drewen to the Prosecutorship of Hudson County. Carey was the dynamo of the reform movement which brought about the exposure of the Hague machine's rascalities. Drewen was the candidate of the Seglie faction, under whose banner McDonald, Rotherham and the harrassed Democratic grafters gathered.

There will be no more reform, for a time, in Hudson. The old bi-partisan gang has come back under Seglie and will fill Drewen's office with their tried and true henchmen.

Even the hope that Case, of Somerset, who goes on the bench to succeed Justice Minturn, will sit in Hudson and will force a completion of the work which Carey began, cannot be entertained.

Supreme Court circuits are apportioned by the Chief Justice, and for decades the choice of these circuits has been given to the senior judges. New men in the courts have always been sent first to the sticks, whence they have worked their way to the most desirable posts—the Essex and Hudson court houses.

In one day the Hudson politicians have gotten rid of both Case and Carey. The war is over and Mayor Hague has beaten all of his enemies.

Whenever he likes he may now come home and live in peace. The dynamo's transmission wires have been grounded.—Bergen Evening Record.

The tunnel being planned from the Detroit River to the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company will permit 1,000,000,000 gallons of water to flow into the power house of the Ford plant daily.

Heart Talks

BY JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

Gratitude

I doubt if people are born with this admirable quality. If an infant smiles at his admirer, he just feels good about something pleasing—that's all he hardly renders the smile as a recompense; his symptom is one of amusement, when we come to think about it.

I gave my very small grandson some small coins. He hurried with to his toy-bank and put them in, apparently much pleased at the increase of his wealth. His mother, who saw the transaction, asked firmly, "Now, what do you say?" very conventional "Thank you" came, wholly meaningless.

Not that I expected something in return for my very trifling generosity—no, not that—but I have always been a student of human nature, accustomed to drawing inferences therefrom.

There are a great many grown-up children in the same catagory with my little grandson; they are the recipients of gifts of many times more value than the pennies I bestowed, yet—they forget to say anything.

We are richly blessed in priceless ways; in food, clothing, health loved ones and social contacts with our fellow-men. I cannot think of anything good that may not be mine, if I set about obtaining it in the right way. The wonder is, why do I forget the golden privilege of being grateful, and of saying so.

I could not live an hour without this wholesome environment of mine. Light illuminates my pathway; air revives the weariness from humble though faithful effort; moisture and dryness preserve my physical balance; gentle night affords its balmy resources; friends and loved ones awaken the best within me. Who is indifferent as to harbor ingratitude? What do you say?

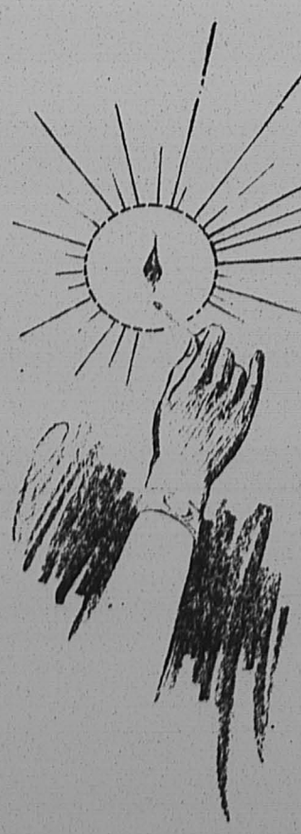
GAS
for EVERY HOUSEHOLD USE



FIRE—HEAT—and the many uses to which they are put—mark the difference between civilization and savagery. It is a sign of development and progress, that the modern Gas system puts at the command of constantly increasing millions heat in its best and most convenient form.

Take that part of New Jersey served by Public Service—in some 200 of its municipalities, Gas is available for domestic and industrial use.

For every household use, in which heat is required, from cooking to refrigeration, from hot water heating to house heating, from clothes drying to garbage incineration, Gas offers service, better and more efficient, than can be obtained from any other source, and with no more trouble than the turning of a tap and the application of a match. Gas gives you heat at any minute of the day or night, winter, summer, spring or fall.

You are not realizing the full possibilities for present day comfort and convenience, unless you have put Gas—one of the most perfectly trained of all servants—at work in your home. It will serve you well and faithfully.

Several prominent women of Philadelphia were the speakers, among them Lady James Heath, who spoke on "What Women Can Do for Aviation." A very wonderful evening was enjoyed by all. Those present were: Mrs. George Becker, Mrs. Alfred VanOsten, Mrs. Stewart Smith, Mrs. Edwin Day, Mrs. Charles Yost, Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. Norman Schriver, Mrs. Charles Mervine and Mrs. Joseph Evans.

A concert of unusual interest was given by the Girls' Glee Club of Juniata College last Friday in the Central Baptist Church. This rare treat was sponsored by the Philathea Class and the program included vocal solos, quartettes, group singing and specialties by a whistler and reader. The performance was somewhat delayed, due to the fact that the bus chartered for the occasion figured in a slight accident while passing through Palmyra, Pennsylvania. Fortunately no one was injured and the party was able to complete their trip to town.

MOORESTOWN

A new home, now being constructed on the Moorestown Club Estates for Mr. and Mrs. C. Lloyd Egner, of Merchantville, is nearing completion. Their home is of the English type, and is constructed of Pennsylvania stone. Clement B. Webster Jr. & Company are the general contractors and builders and E. Kenmey Cathers of Bowling Green, Media, is the architect. Mr. Egner is assistant sales manager of the Victor Talking Machine Company, Camden.

Clarence Fuhrman, director of the Fuhrman School of Music, has again been made musical director for Cape May, summer season 1929. This is the third successive season that Mr. Fuhrman has been made musical director of Cape May and he is planning a series of Sunday night concerts, by an orchestra composed of Philadelphia Symphony men, conducted by himself, and featuring world-famed operatic stars. These concerts are held in Convention Hall every Sunday evening during the summer season. The new director is well known in Moorestown.

A membership drive has been opened by the Merchantville Country Club. The club is starting out to sell membership "at reduced rates". Until May 1, no initiation fee will be charged. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the board of governors last week. It is believed that it will result in considerably swelling the present membership.

The third volume of The Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy which was recently published by F. A. Virkus and Company, Chicago, contains the lineage record of Mrs. Charles T. Brown, of Chester avenue. According to this volume, Mrs. Brown is descended in the ninth generation from Francis Collins, who came to America in 1680, and married, secondly, in 1686, Mary, the daughter of the Rev. LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

Rev. Geo. J. McCormack, Rector
Parry Avenue

"Deliver me from these new creeds that spring up nowadays like mushrooms," says a parson.

"I was bidding a friend bon voyage on the pier the other afternoon, and I said to him, 'Mayne you'll bring a new creed back with you, but be careful if you do—you know how hard it is to get things through the customhouse nowadays.'

"'Oh,' said my friend, 'there'd be no difficulty about that. These new creeds never have any duties attached to them.'"

An easy road to Heaven seems to be the desire of many; so modern creeds have a way of forgetting the fact of sin, of the struggle necessary for the possession of your soul, and the age long path the saints had to travel.

Before you deny a creed that so emphatically emphasizes duty, read once again the story of the last week before the Crucifixion, and square it with the facts of life.

Some modern creeds won't look very real in comparison, in fact, the tacket they offer is entirely too cheap!

"O great Absolver, grant my soul may wear
The lowliest garb of penitence and prayer,
That in the Father's courts my glorious dress
May be the garment of Thy righteousness."

Miss Harger's address before the members of the Woman's Auxiliary was most instructive and held the close attention of all. We all went home with much food for thought.

The Girls' Friendly Society presented their past president, Mrs. Reilley, with a beautiful plant on Tuesday evening in token of remembrance of her faithful services during the past two years.

The Mission Study classes at the home of Mrs. E. S. Fox have been well attended, and a very fine box of garments will soon be on its way to the field we have been working for.

The list of the special services during Lent will be held on Wednesday next, and also on Good Friday. Wednesday's address will be "The Battlefield of Prayer."

GEHRING ESTATE GOES TO CHARITY

Number of Institutions Get Legacies; Residue to Catholic Church

Thomas Gehring, late of Moorestown, bequeaths his entire estate to charities with the exception of one item of $6,000, which is left in trust for the upkeep of the family burial lot in Mount Carmel cemetery and for the masses to be said in the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Moorestown, for his family. The income of the fund is to be paid to the rector of the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Charitable bequests are as follows:

St. Michael's Orphan Asylum and Industrial School, Hopewell, $4,000.

St. Joseph's Home, Beverly, $3,000.

Morris Hall Home for the Aged, Lawrenceville, $3,000.

Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly, $4,000.

Residue of the estate to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Burlington County Trust Company is named executor and trustee.

The will was admitted to probate last week by Surrogate Matlack at Mount Holly.

Mr. Gehring was a highly esteemed resident of Moorestown. He conducted a cigar store for many years and was found dead in bed on February 27. He was 65 years of age.

CAMPERS ENJOY FIRST REUNION

Noted Speakers Attend Council Ring at Community House

On Saturday of last week 125 old and new campers of Y M C A Camp Ockanickon gathered together at the Moorestown Community House for their first annual reunion.

Songs, stories of camp life, a long swim in the pool and eats made up the program of the afternoon.

The fellows assembled together around the council ring, which was reproduced in minature in the gymnasium. The blazing campfire added greatly to the atmosphere and soon the real camp feeling predominated all those who were fortunate enough to attend.

After a very brief period of singing several camp celebrities were introduced to say a brief word to the campers. Among these were John D. Merwin, the camp director; Captain Ferguson, a retired whaler; Paul Barr, Captain Cornbrooks, of the camp life crew; William Bally, of Woodbury, who is the woodwork instructor, and C. W. Engood the swimming instructor of the camp. Needless to say, the boys were anxious to hear what these men had to say regarding camp for the coming year. All the men were sure that Ockanickon would prove larger and better this year than ever before and every boy was anxious to sign up immediately.

After the various parts of the program were completed the campers came together again for "eats." These soon disappeared and the fellows departed homeward, but not without a feeling that the afternoon was well spent.

The TOWN DOCTOR
(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)
on

COMMUNITY SELLING

The vital problem that confronts every community today is one of selling. It has always been one of selling, but in the past probably of less importance. Since most towns could get by on the trading market so to speak.

A few years ago storekeepers thought of their business as many now think of their community. They thought because their store had been in existence for years, it always would be; there were people and people had to buy what the store carried in stock. Then came automobiles and good roads, free mail delivery, radio, telephone and merchants. With the coming of these, storekeepers and clerks had to become merchants and sales people, or lose their business to those who were.

Because for ages past comparatively no constructive attention has been paid to community building, community planning, selling and analysis, it is often considered unnecessary. Many people reason that because there always have been cities, towns and villages, there always will be, the same as some retailers still think of their store as a supply depot where people who have a definite idea of what they want, will get it without invitation from them or encouragement or service from the clerk. You know what happens to "storekeepers" who refuse to be merchants who do not sell. The same will happen to towns and communities who take a like attitude.

This is a Selling Age. There isn't a business, a profession, or a job, that doesn't require some form of selling. Every married man was a salesman when he induced "her" to say "yes." And the wise married man hasn't quit selling. Every married woman sells sometimes, and how! She has to, to make life bearable. The sheiks and the sheks are constantly selling. You and I are selling. We may not carry a sample case, we may not be behind the counter, but we are everlastingly selling something—an idea, ourselves, or perhaps a friend. When you ask for a raise, a day off, a little more credit, or any favor or courtesy, you are selling. Someone said, "Selling is giving the other fellow a reason why he should do what you want him to do or not do, and salesmanship is getting him to do it."

Community selling is getting other people to think your town is a better place in which to invest their money for a factory, a business, an enterprise, for real estate, merchandise or any of these things that will materially benefit. Community salesmanship is doing these things that will induce them to do it, and avoiding those things that will keep them from doing it.

You are a salesman or a saleswoman for the place where you live. You are working on a commission basis; you get paid according to what you do, and you will get paid, and generously. You do not have to own real estate, operate a store, be a professional man or in any business, to profit from community growth and expansion, but even if you didn't make a dime actual cash out of it, it is worth the effort to enjoy better, more interesting and attractive surroundings, to have better schools, more parks, etc., which are bound to come as a result of selling your community, not considering the satisfaction you get out of doing something for the good of all something that you know you ought to do.

No doubt there will be "storekeepers" and "clerks" for several years to come; there will always be cities and towns, but because your town has always been, as far as you are concerned, that is no reason why it will continue to be. It may exist throughout your lifetime, as a sickly city, a tired town, vanishing village, or callous community, but without getting sold on it yourself, and without selling it to others, by your every action, word and deed, your community cannot keep up to and ahead of date.

Don't let your community get behind the times. Do your part. It will be just as modern, just as alive as you will work to make it.

NEW SCOUT BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

Met at Home of Frank A Snover Last Thursday Night for First Time

On last Thursday the first meeting of the new Palmyra Local Board of Scouts was held at the home of Frank A. Snover.

An election of officers was held, which resulted as follows: A. E. Fry, chairman of the Board; H. Brady, vice-chairman and deputy commissioner; N. J. Ross, secretary and and chairman of publicity; George Leeton, chairman of leadership and training; Frank A. Snover, chairman of civic service; H. Zavotti, chairman of camping; Oswald Melcher, chairman of the Court of Honor; Ray Sandford, member of Executive Board, and Louis Jander, chairman of finance.

The meeting was also attended by Jesse Cobb, Scout Executive, and the Rev. Mr. Condit. Many matters of great interest and benefit to Scouting were discussed. It is expected that this local Board will greatly forward Scouting in Palmyra.

BELL TO OPEN TIME BUREAU

Service Starts April 1; Nominal Charge to be Made to Cover Expense

Beginning April 1st, the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company will furnish the time of day or night upon request from a centrally located Time Bureau, it was announced recently by Mr. Fritchman, manager for the telephone company. The method of obtaining the time will be to ask the operator for "Time Bureau."

Establishing the Time Bureau here and elsewhere in this part of the State extends the service practically to all parts of New Jersey. It has proved popular in the metropolitan area of Northern New Jersey, where it has been in operation for several months.

A charge of five cents will be made for each time the Bureau's service is used. This charge, it is anticipated, will be sufficient to maintain the Bureau, which will operate entirely apart from regular telephone service.

Mr. Fritchman said that the establishment of the Time Bureau affords a method of handling requests for the time in a way that removes interference with regular telephone service.

PRISONERS CLEAN UP

A number of prisoners from the County Jail under the direction of Sheriff A. Engle Haines were busily engaged several days last week in giving the yard in the rear of the Court House and Hall of Records, at Mount Holly, a thorough clean-up. Brush, dead grass, leaves etc., was collected and burned and rubbish accumulated from rebuilding operations at the surrogate's office was hauled away. The grounds are now in a very presentable condition.

Visitors have passed through the plants of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit in such large numbers during the last year that on some months more than 50,000 persons witnessed production of the Model A Ford.

"How Comes the Bride" must have been written by the judge of a divorce court.

PALMYRA OUT OF CLASS B TOURNEY

Eliminated by Millville in Close Contest Played at Camden Saturday

The Palmyra High School basketball team was dropped from the Class "B" tourney last Saturday afternoon by a narrow margin of two points after a stirring struggle with Millville High on the Camden High School court.

Twice before this season the charges of Ken Dimond have met the "Millers" and each time have emerged victorious. The defeat Saturday was more of an upset than any contest staged so far this year. Palmyra was an outstanding favorite to win in the South Jersey division and to represent this section in the State finals at Trenton.

Millville Scores First

Saturday's game opened with Charley Marts scoring the first field goal of the fracas. Shortly after, "Spike" Hennessey made good on both his foul tries and it was all even. Captain "Chris" Riley caged a foul, but when Hennessey again threw in a pair of fouls Palmyra held a 4 to 3 lead at the end of the first period.

At the start of the second quarter West threw a long pass to Hennessey, who got a "sleeper" under the basket to increase Palmyra's lead to 6-3. This was the last time that the "Pals" held the lead, however, as a minute later Joe Kane and Riley caged field goals to deadlock the count at 6-all.

Again Riley came through with a field goal, and when Kane registered a double-decker on a back-hand shot, Palmyra was on the short end of a 10-6 score. West made two fouls before the first half closed with Millville enjoying a 10-8 lead.

Two long field goals by Captain Riley and a penalty shot by Jack Ewan enabled the "Millers" to increase this lead at the start of the second half of action.

Last Quarter Exciting

Bill Baker registered a nice side shot that cut the lead to 15-10, but a few minutes later Marts scored from the court and the score was 17 to 10.

Branson then registered his only field goal of the game, a pretty shot from the side of the court, made on the dead run, but just before the third quarter ended, Jack Ewan dropped in a two-pointer and the "Millers" again were leading by a seven-point margin, 19 to 12.

The last session was packed with thrills, and for a time it seemed that Palmyra was due to pop out in front.

Only a minute of the last quarter had been reeled off before Ewan made good on his two foul shots, giving Millville a 21 to 12 lead and apparently sewing up the game.

These were the last points scored by the winners in the tussle, with Palmyra closing with a rush, only to fall two points short of tying the count.

Last Minute Rally

With six minutes to play "Tod" Sloan scored a long field goal, and a minute later West dribbled down the floor to stick one in from under the basket, making the count 21 to 16.

Sloan scored a foul, and with only a minute and 12 seconds to go for the end of the game, Jimmy West dribbled through the entire Millville team to drop in the most sensational field goal of the game.

In that last minute of play Millville tried hard to freeze the ball, but Branson managed to get several long stabs at the net, one of which rolled around the rim only to fall on the wrong side. Had he made it the score would have been tied and an extra period of play been made necessary.

Palmyra Beats Ocean City

Last Thursday night Palmyra trounced the Ocean City quintet to win the right to play in the finals of the South Jersey tourney. This game was also played on the Camden floor and resulted in a score of 35 to 21.

Jimmy West was the outstanding performer in this contest. Six times the stocky Palmyra captain sent the ball spinning into the net for two-pointers, and he was ably assisted by Hennessey and Ray Branson, the latter especially distinguishing himself with an all-around exhibition of basketball.

Charley Adelizzio and LaPore again proved the stars for Ocean City. The former netted the ball three times from the floor, but, as a rule, "Tod" Sloan was right at the shore flash's heels, and he seldom could get set for a stab at the net.

BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN APRIL 5

Same Camden Suburban School Teams to Compete This Year

The Camden Suburban League baseball campaign will again be divided into two halves this season.

The first half will open on Friday, April 5.

The same teams which comprised the basketball circuit will again compete in the baseball field, Woodbury, Collingswood, Moorestown, Haddon field, Audubon, Palmyra and Haddon Heights make up the league.

Collingswood finished in the runner-up position last season and expects to make an even better showing this season. Woodbury, however, with eight veterans due to return, has a good chance to repeat.

The first half will end on April 26, and the following Tuesday, the second half schedule will go into effect.

First Half

April 5—Haddon Heights, Friday, Woodbury-Haddon Heights.

April 5—Audubon, Friday, Audubon-Collingswood.

April 6—Palmyra, Saturday, Haddonfield-Palmyra.

April 9—Haddonfield, Tuesday, Moorestown-Haddonfield.

April 9—Palmyra, Tuesday, Audubon-Palmyra.

April 9—Woodbury, Tuesday, Woodbury-Collingswood.

April 12—Moorestown, Friday, Haddon Heights-Moorestown.

COLLECTOR QUITS

Insufficient Salary Cause of Maple Shade Tax Official's Resignation

At last week's meeting of the Chester Township Committee many residents were present to lodge complaints concerning the condition of streets.

The collector of taxes, Henry Luckel, tendered his resignation to that office which is to take effect on March 22.

Luckel is the second tax official that Maple Shade has lost in the past month through resignations. Mrs. Mentz was the first. Luckel stated, the salary paid him was insufficient to maintain a livelihood.

The township committee refused to increase the salary upon complaint of the collector and when he had announced intentions of resigning, no objections were made.

WALT WHITMAN THEATRE NEWS

Famous New York Hippodrome Clown to Appear in Person

The vaudeville program for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Walt Whitman Theatre features an attraction that is one of the best known and one of the most unusual in the theatrical world, and is also one of the funniest on the stage today.

Bud Snyder, the famous New York Hippodrome clown and musical comedy star, is known to all who frequented New York's big playhouse, as he was a permanent feature there for many seasons, and it is with considerable pride and pleasure that the Walt Whitman Theatre presents this internationally famed entertainer to its patrons during the last three days of this week.

Included in his group of entertainers is Bobbie St. Johns and Company also late of the Hippodrome, who have been associated with Bud Snyder on his present world tour. They will present what they call "Original Creations," an interlude of wholesome comedy.

Another big laugh is promised by Van Avery and Keller Mack, in a brand new blackface comedy classic, entitled "Servin' Hot Dogs."

Both Van Avery and Keller Mack are standard Keith attractions, and the combination of these two well-known and popular funmakers promises a real comedy treat, long to be remembered.

RED CROSS PLANS LIFE SAVING DRIVE

County Group Will Sponsor Big Campaign Again This July and August

Burlington County Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a Life Saving campaign again this coming July and August, as that of last summer was such a success.

Clifford W. Ergood, Mount Holly, has consented to again act as County Director of Life Saving, and will be assisted by a committee of about twenty-five women and men from various parts of the county, who are interested in the work.

The cost of the campaign will be about $500, of which $300 will be contributed by the County Red Cross, the balance to be raised by the committee.

The first meeting of the committee will be held Friday, March 22, at 7.30 P. M., in St. Mary's Guild House, Broad and Talbot streets, Burlington.

All members of the committee, as well as any who are interested in this activity, are urged to attend the meeting.

$1,200 INCREASE IN SALE OF SEALS

County Christmas Tuberculosis Campaign Proceeds $8,143.09 to Date

The twenty-first annual Christmas seal sale is nearing a close and the proceeds derived from the seal sale to date amount to $8,143.09, which is about $1,200 greater than the total collection of last year. There are many people to whom letters were sent who have not yet replied either by remitting or by returning the seals sent to them, and the headquarters would appreciate hearing from them promptly.

Since there were no personal acknowledgments of funds received unless by request, the Burlington County Tuberculosis League would like to, at this time, thank the people of the County who have responded so generously to the call for help in this fight against tuberculosis. Organizations, lodges, schools, banks, clubs and industrial plants have helped in no small measure to make the seal sale so successful. It will be of interest to these people to know that the year was the largest sale in the history of the League and that Burlington County made a greater gain over the preceding year than any other county in the State.

RED CROSS CONTINUES LIFE SAVING CAMPAIGN

Committee to Meet Friday in St. Mary's Guild House, Burlington

Burlington County Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a Life Saving Campaign again this coming July and August, as that of last summer was such a success.

Clifford W. Ergood, Mount Holly, has consented to act again as County Director of Life Saving, and will be assisted by a committee of women and men from various parts of the county who are interested in the work.

The cost of the campaign will be about $500, of which $300 will be contributed by the County Red Cross, the balance of $200 to be raised by the committee.

The first meeting of the Life Saving Committee will be held on Friday, March 22, at 7.30 P. M., in St. Mary's Guild House, Broad and Talbot streets, Burlington.

All members of the committee, as well as any who are interested in this activity, are urged to attend the meeting.

ALCOHOL TRAIN

Jackson, Miss.—The wreck of a freight train near Terry proved no tragedy to the residents of that vicinity. Soon after the train plunged over a bank men came with containers to collect the ten thousand gallons of alcohol dumped into the ditch by accident. The joy was shortlived though, for the alcohol caught fire.

FOR THE BLACK TAILLEUR

Nothing seen in the shops this week was smarter than one black tailleur which has as accessories a silver-tipped fox scarf, a bag of black calf with watersnake panels, watersnake one-strap shoes with beige-grey hose and one-button gloves of grey suede.

STEWARDSHIP AND MISSIONS
Acts 1:6-8; 2 Corinthians 8:1-9
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

It has been well said that "the disciples of all nations." They were church is the force but the world is the field. There is that in Christianity that makes its appeal to all other religion. It is not a question of preparation to obtain a world mastery but to give that others may enter into the precious joys and blessings.

The Bible is still the greatest missionary book. The selected portions for intensive study this time are Genesis 12:1-3; Deuteronomy 8:17,18; Jonah 3:1 to 10; Malachi 3:7-12; Matthew 28:18-20; Acts 1:5-8; 13:1-3; 2nd 12:20; Romans 1:14-16; I Corinthians 16:2; II Corinthians 9:6-15; 9:1-9. The books for further study covering each portion of the title are "Changing Foreign Missions," Cleland B. McAfee and "Men, the Acid Test," James McConaughy.

As Paul was a great foreign missionary, he journeyed from Mesopotamia to Canaan and began the life of the Israelites in Palestine. He followed the call of Jehovah and had begun what is being the Father of the Faithful and no race can compare in spirit with the Hebrews in their devotion to the world. Moses enjoined that he should be blessed with Abraham as he led the nation from bondage to the borders of the Promised Land. Jonah is distinctively a missionary book as it records how his preaching led the Ninevites to repentance.

Rapid developments came with the opening of the earthly work of Jesus Christ. He prepared that all mankind should be blessed in his completed work and gave the Grand Commission to the eleven disciples when in Galilee. He told them to "Make

JANTZEN ACQUIRES THE BOYER CO. MILLS

Oldest Woolen Spinning Mills in Camden Become Part of National Organization

On Tuesday of this week the B. F. Boyer Company of Camden, of which B. Ralph Boyer, of Riverton is treasurer, was taken over by the Jantzen Spinning Mills, and the first woolen mills to be established in Camden became a part of a national organization.

The new Camden firm is the largest manufacturer of bathing suits in the world. One of the foremost national advertisers in the country, the Jantzen concern has mills at Portland, Ore., Vancouver, Canada, and in Australia.

The sale is expected to double the number of employes in the plant at River avenue and East State street. There are now 200 men and women employed. The price was not announced.

Charles S. Boyer and his brother, B. Ralph Boyer, president and treasurer respectively of the concern, and J. A. Zimmermann and Carl Jantzen, president and treasurer respectively of the Jantzen Company, negotiated the sale.

Charles S. Boyer, who succeeded his father, Benjamin F. Boyer, one of the two founders of the business, as head of the concern, upon his death in 1907, will remain as vice president. His brother will be general manager.

JERSEY OPENS WAR ON PENNA. DRIVERS

New Jersey is gaining wide recognition through the successful establishment and supervision of five different types of city and farmers' markets in various sections of the state by the Bureau of Markets, State Department of Agriculture. These markets are bringing better net returns to the growers and are benefitting the consumers by shortening the road to the table resulting in greater freshness and economy.

The Department is planning a further development in this, one of its thirty-two agricultural activities in the state, and more markets are expected to be established in the immediate future with an increasing benefit to all our citizens. Department market officials are now cooperating with Newark office officials and producers for the relocation of the farmers' market in that city, and Landisville authorities, where an auction market is planned.

Last year market facilities were established at Hammonton, Swedesboro, Orange, Rosenhayn and Cedarville, while cooperative work was continued in Atlantic City and Trenton. These markets consist of city wholesale and retail, shipping point, private and auction buying and selling.

COUNTY Y. W. C. A. TO HOLD ANNUAL DRIVE IN APRIL

Final Instructions Will be Given at Luncheon When Miss Rogers Speaks

DISTRICT CHAIRMEN HAVE BEEN CHOSEN

Business and Professional Girls Hold Mid-Winter Conference at Newark

The County Y W C A Board is making plans for the annual drive which will be held April 7-14.

Workers will meet by a luncheon Friday April 5 where final instructions will be given. Miss Elizabeth Rogers of New York City who will assist in the work for the drive will be a speaker at the meeting.

The committee in charge of the drive in the several districts of the County are: Mrs E P Darlington of New Lisbon; Mr. Wm Mather of Moorestown; Mr. Caroline Warrick, Ramocas; Mrs T S Borden, Beverly; Mrs Raymond Eastwood, Palmyra; Mrs Benjamin Roberts, Marlton; Mrs Walter Reeder, Columbus; and Mrs. A R Gausler, Riverton.

State Conference

The fact we as individual are making of our education our leisure time and our money were stimulating questions for discussion for over one hundred New Jersey business and professional girls at their mid-winter conference at Newark March 16 and 17.

The value of education for leisure time and the need for individuals to have an absorbing interest beside work were stressed. Music dramatics sports and Y W C A club and committee work were the chief leisure time activities of the girls present.

Miss Beatrice Shadell, C Mount Holly, was one of the seven girls chosen by the conference to make plans for next year's conference.

Studying China

Both Girl Reserves and senior club girls of the County Y W C A are enjoying to the fullest extent a set of slides on Chinese life and the work of the Y W C A in rural China. These interesting pictures, which stress activities of club groups, are sent by the Rural Communities Department of the National Y W C A to various rural associations. Burlington County is fortunate in having them until April 4. Groups at Burlington, Beverly, Moorestown, Columbus, Delanco, Riverside and Jobstown have definitely scheduled programs on China, while many other groups are investigating possible dates.

Each year the girls of Burlington County contribute toward the support of a Y W C A secretary in China and these slides help them to gain a better understanding of the work they are helping in.

Camp Dates

for camping at Ockanickon this summer are to be August 5-September 2. The camp will be open to girls twelve years of age and over. During the first week Junior High girls will camp, while the second week will be given to girls of both Junior High and Senior High School who are staying two weeks, and the special emphasis during the third week will be on interests of High School girls. This year business and industrial girls will have the opportunity to enjoy Ockanickon during the last week, August 26 to September 2.

The number of girls at camp during any period will be limited to 160. Folders telling more of the camp and its activities can be secured at the County Y W C A office where enrollments are to be made.

County Council

Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, of Moorestown, will be hostess to the girls of the Senior Club Council at a buffet supper at her home on Monday evening, March 25.

The program for the evening is being planned by the following committee: Mae Hawley of Burlington; Mrs. Bessie Shinn of Ramocas; Elizabeth Willis, of Beverly; and Helen Jones, of Burlington.

"Children of Other Lands" was the subject of a talk given by Mr. Richard Wood, of the Friends Service Council to the Ramocas Woman's Club at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Ernest F. Janney on Monday evening, March 18. Mr. Wood illustrated his talk with many charming picture of children and their interests.

Easter Service

The second annual sunrise Easter service to be presented by the Moorestown Y W C A advisory committee will be given at 6:30 o'clock Easter Sunday morning on the beautiful outdoor stage on the grounds of the Friends Meeting House. In case of rain the Community House Auditorium will be used.

Mrs. Wm Groebler is training the girls of the choir to sing the Easter hymns which tell the story of the events between Palm Sunday and the Resurrection. A reader, Miss Margaret Thome, and a cast of sixteen characters selected from the various Y W C A clubs of Moorestown will portray eight of the scenes suggested by the songs.

Other Club Activities

Wednesday afternoon March 13, the Burlington Colored Girl Reserves accepted the invitation of the Riverton club to visit their meeting. Mrs. Mary Lindsey, president of the Riverton club, was in charge of the meeting. She welcomed the visitors, the response being given by Miss Adams, president of the Burlington club. Mrs. E. J. Young, Riverton adviser, and Miss Sara Blackwell, Burlington adviser, feel the girls that joint meetings such as this could mean much to them in the way of making friendships and gaining new ideas for improving their own club. Each club sang several of its favorite songs after which the entire group sang Girl Reserve songs which were known by all.

On parting the girls expressed their desire to have many more meetings with other clubs.

Conference at Brown's Mills

A splendid group of speakers, two of whom are world famous, Sherwood Eddy and E. Stanley Jones, will be heard at a Conference at the Pines, Brown's Mills, April 2-5, which is being arranged by the American Friends' Service Committee around the general theme "War's Challenge to Christianity."

While it is true that this is a Friends' planned Conference the committee in charge are anxious to have any who are interested attend. Among those who are expected will be young ministers, Theological Seminary students, YMCA and YWCA Secretaries.

Sherwood Eddy will be the speaker the opening night of the Conference, April 2. It is now expected that E. Stanley Jones will speak the following evening. Others on the program are Bruce Curry and Albert Russell. Besides them, a number of other prominent young Friends will be present to share in the discussion groups and to take part in the daily forums, as well as being available for personal interviews and conferences with any who may desire.

Some of the definite themes which will be discussed at this Conference are these:

"The Part Organized Christianity Plays in Promoting War."

"The Effect of War on the Outreach of Christianity Abroad and at Home."

"Some of the Costs of Christian Leadership on the War-Peace Problem."

"What Should Be the Attitude of the Christian Leader Toward War."

The Willingboro Girl Reserves presented a play, The Mystery at Miss Mary's, Saturday evening, March 16, at the Y M C A Hall. The cast was:

Brother Bunday, an overworked bachelor, Bessie Brock; Jane Gray, Marion Pennington; Mrs. Lily Anderson, a complaining middle-aged woman, Margaret Donald-on; Bennie Anderson, overgrown boy of 16, Alice Stuart; Miss Anne Southers, Eva Curry. Three High School Girls, Bernice Walton, Dorothy Bell, Leona Griffith.

During the first intermission Alice Stuart and Bernice Walton, accompanied by Marion Pennington, gave a dance from "The Arkansas Traveler" and Marion Pennington, during the last intermission, gave a vocal solo.

CARRANZA MEMORIAL BILL

At the sessions of the Legislature last week Senator Clifford R. Powell introduced a bill permitting the purchase of land near Chatsworth for a memorial to Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexican good will flier, who crashed to his death near there on July 13 last year. Another bill introduced by Senator Powell provides for an appropriation of $70,000 for a New Jersey War Memorial at Verdun, France.

MISS BAADER WILL BE YMCA SPEAKER

Drew Seminary Lecturer Will Address Conference of Group Leaders

Miss Ethel M. Baader, of Newark, formerly with the New Jersey Council of Religious Education, now a special lecturer at Drew Theological Seminary, has been secured for the March dinner conference of the Burlington County YMCA Group Leaders. This meeting will be held at Onvers Tea Room, Burlington, Thursday the 28th. Robert Buswell, president of the Leaders' Association of the County, will preside.

It is promoted by those who know Miss Baader and heard her speak that she will present a challenge to the Leaders who hear her on this occasion that will quicken their desire to make the activities of their YMCA Groups more truly productive of Christian character. Her message will deal with the program how to make every day living more Christian consequently what she will have to say will center aroutud the question, "Just What Is Involved in Being a Christian?"

Such Leaders' Conferences have been held monthly during the past winter and this is the second in connection with which a dinner has been served.

Marble Tourament

According to information from Burlington County Headquarters in connection with the set-up for selecting the Southern New Jersey Victor to compete in the seventh annual National Marble Tournament at Ocean City, the following schedule is announced by Guy C. Hendry, County YMCA Secretary and Chairman for Burlington County. Completion of all local tournaments by April 10; completion of District Championships by April 13 -of which there are nine in Burlington County-, completion of County Championship, April 20, Contest on April 27 in Camden for Southern New Jersey Crown, winner of which is to go to Ocean City with all expenses paid to play against fifty other chaps in the seventh annual Marble Tournament.

In connection with this the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, will award bronze medals to school champions and gold medals to district winners. Burlington County's Champion will receive a silver loving cup and a larger loving cup will go to the South Jersey victor.

All school champions of the County will be invited to participate in a Valley Forge pilgrimage, June 23, with luncheon and transportation provided by the Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.

Districts and Chairmen

Two Important Dates

The opening of YMCA Camp Ockanickon is announced by the trustees as being on Wednesday, June 19. There will be a six weeks' period for boys.

This year's annual County YMCA Convention, which will mark the completion of twenty-four years of the organization for YMCA work in Burlington County, will be on Tuesday evening, May 7, with dinner commencing at 6:30 o'clock. The place will be the First Baptist Church of Burlington. This year's speaker will be William Knowles Cooper, General Secretary of the YMCA, Washington, D. C.

FIRE TOWERS OPENED

The dangerous season for forest fires having arrived, Captain John A. Thornburg, territorial fire warden, and the assistants held a conference at the captain's office in Mount Holly last week. Plans were made for successfully combatting forest fires in the vicinity and general instructions were issued to fire wardens. The fire towers in Burlington and Ocean counties were opened on Friday, March 8.

Worth While

Development of self-reliance, manhood, and all that goes to make up a good citizen, are the features that make the Boy Scout movement one that is really worth while.

The results of the Boy Scouts of America, here in Burlington County, speak for themselves. Since the inauguration of the movement here a number of years ago, it has showed a growth that has been most gratifying to those whose hearts are with the boys of today.

But the program of Scout work must not be allowed to lag, it must go on and on; its activities extending to every village and hamlet. To "carry on" means that the movement must have the whole-hearted support, financial as well as moral, of the entire community.

The Boy Scout movement is no new fad or passing fancy. Starting in England in 1908, the movement quickly spread to this country, and two organizations, under the direction of Daniel C. Beard and Ernest Thompson Seton were started. These were combined and formed the Boy Scouts of America.

Within the short space of three years the movement had attained a national scope. The governing body is a national council, which, through its executive board, has full power to direct the work. The council includes some of the nation's most eminent men.

It is a fact worthy of note that records of police courts throughout the nation show that of the prisoners brought before the bar of justice, Boy Scouts or those who have had Boy Scout training are conspicuous by their absence. And no wonder, for Scouteraft, which is the key word to the method of training, includes those things that make for good citizenship. There is instruction in first aid, life saving, tracking, signalling, nature study, seamanship and other lines of usefulness.

On joining the organization a boy is required to promise on his honor to do his duty to God and country, to help other people at all times and to obey the Scout laws.

So let us get back of the Boy Scouts and prove to these citizens of tomorrow that we are back of them one hundred percent.

Contributions to their budget drive which will be carried on from April 3 to April 12 will be an investment in better manhood. Money can not be given to a more worthy cause.

JAVA IS TOPIC AT MEN'S CLUB

E. H. C. Kalbach Addresses Meeting Telling of His Experiences

A very enjoyable meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, was held in the Parish House Monday evening.

E. H. C. Kalback was the speaker of the evening and gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Island of Java, Dutch East Indie. He gave some very interesting facts concerning the island which served to give all present a better idea of this particular part of the world.

Java, with a population of approximately 40,000,000, is no larger than Cuba, said the speaker, as he went on to describe the various phases of life on the island.

Mr. Kalback made a very beautiful word picture of the tropical scenery which exists in this part of the world. He gave a no less interesting description of the many fruits and plants on the island.

The speaker told of evidences of an ancient civilization which were being excavated by explorers and gave a brief account of the legends which explain its existence.

At the conclusion of his talk the speaker displayed a collection of clothing, weapons and curios which he had brought from Java, which proved to be a very interesting exhibit.

The musical entertainment was provided by Robert Hudack, who rendered some very beautiful selections on the violin. Miss Doris Barber evoked much merriment with her humorous recitations.

The next meeting of the club will be held as usual the fourth Monday evening of next month. All men of the community are invited to come out and enjoy the interesting and instructive programs as well as the good fellowship which prevails.

PTA TALENT DAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

Members Cook, Sing, Dance and Recite Pieces

"Talent Day" at the Riverton school was a great success this year. The delicious delicatessen articles were sold almost as soon as they were brought and aprons and dresses proved very popular.

The "talents" exhibited were extremely varied, as may be seen from the program, which was carried out as follows:

Mrs. Hagstoz, greetings from the County; Mrs. Turnock, some songs; Mrs. Murgatroyd, an original poem about Talent Day; Mrs. Hubbs, a clever monologue called "A Game of Bridge"; Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Paul Ridley, two piano duets; Mrs. Mayfield, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Hubbs and Mrs. Butters, a folk dance accompanied by Mrs. Paul Ridley; Miss Lipmincott, a recitation, "The Lie"; Mrs. Rex Showell, sketches representing the names of familiar characters in the organization.

PORCH CLUB NOTES

Members Will Hear Mrs. Ledis D. Dick on "Poems in Lighter Vein"

On Tuesday, April 2nd, the members of the Porch Club will have the privilege of listening to Mrs. Lewis R. Dick on "Poems of the Lighter Vein". Mrs. Dick, who is vice-president of the New Century Club of Philadelphia, has contributed her time for the past fifteen years to bringing before the public the modern poets. Let us give her a warm welcome.

At three o'clock, as a part of the regular April business meeting, the report of the nominating committee will be heard. Members should take this last opportunity to influence the choice of officers and directors for the coming year. Nominations from the floor will be in order.

Attend Conference

The Federated Clubs of the First District of New Jersey met at the Methodist Church at Salem, N. J., on Tuesday, March 21st. Over 350 club women attended, including 15 members of the Riverton Porch Club. Mrs. Eugene H. Barnes, of Haddonfield, First District vice-president, presided at the conference. Mrs. Alfred R. Driscoll, Chairman of Home and Gardens, endeavored to inspire the club women to beautify their gardens, as well as public places, by means of flowers and shrubs. She announced that the flower booth at the Camden terminal of the P. R. R. would be continued again this summer. The flowers sent in by the club women are distributed through the hospitals to the sick and shut-ins of Camden.

Mrs. Luther C. Ogden, second vice-president of the State, spoke in her usual charming way. She felt the future for the American clubs would be the stressing of the cultural and spiritual side of life. She said the men take over the material side, but the atmosphere in the community and the home is left to the women.

Miss Margaret Buttenheim, chairman of the International Relations Committee, inspired her audience by her spirited talk. She congratulated the First District women for their response to her questionnaire pertaining to the ratification of the Kellogg Peace Pact. The State of New Jersey, the speaker continued, ranked third in the number of women endorsers of the Kellogg Pact, resolutions for the ratification of which were sent to Washington. Miss Buttenheim suggested the clubs form study groups to study the Department of State of our Government as a means to understand better the peace problem.

MRS. CAROLINE W. KERN

Mrs. Caroline W. Kern, wife of Charles H. Kern, of Park avenue, for twenty-nine years a resident of Palmyra, passed away at her home, Tuesday at three o'clock P. M., after an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment will be made in Arlington Cemetery, Camden County.

Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by one son, William L. Duhadway, of Palmyra.

Even jail has its bright side; the outside.

MISS BAIADA WEDS RIVERSIDE MAN

Sacred Heart Church to be Scene of Easter Monday Wedding

Among the attractive Easter Monday weddings to be performed in the Riverfront towns will be that of Miss Madeline Baiada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Baiada, of 515 West Broad street, Palmyra, and Raymond Colonna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Colonna, of 416 Fairview street, Riverside.

The ceremony will be solemnized at the Sacred Heart Church, in Riverton, with the Rev. Father John A. Rigney, pastor of the church, performing the ceremony at nine o'clock.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear white satin and point lace of a becoming model. Her veil will be of tulle with the cap held in place with orange blossoms. White bridal roses, lilies-of-the-valley and white sweet peas will constitute her bridal bouquet.

The young lady will be attended by Miss Jennie Sana, of Palmyra, as matron of honor, and the Misses Mary N. Colonna, Rose Colonna and Mary D. Colonna, of Riverside, as bridesmaids.

The maid of honor will wear pink crepe romain with a picture hat of pink duvetteen and will carry an arm bouquet of pink roses. Miss Mary N. Colonna will wear a yellow gown of crepe de chine, with a hat of the same shade. Miss Rose Colonna's frock will be of orange crepe de chine, with a hat to match. Nile green crepe de chine with a Nile green hat, is the choice of Miss Mary D. Colonna. All of the girls will carry arm bouquets of pink roses.

Frank Macchie, of Philadelphia, will be best man and Theodore Sacca, of Palmyra; Arthur Angelo Santa and Nicholas Cicalo, of Riverside, will be ushers.

A reception will be given to the bridal party at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Riverside in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Colonna will make their home with the bridegroom's parents at 416 Fairview street, Riverside.

ARTISANS HONOR CHARTER MEMBER

Palmyra Assembly Holds "Dad Wright Night"; Five New Candidates Initiated

The regular meeting of Palmyra Assembly, No. 65, Artisans' Order of Mutual Protection, was held Tuesday evening of last week. This was every member night, approximately two hundred members being present. A class of five new members were initiated. Past Master Artisan Brother Harry F. Baittinger acted as Master Artisan during the initiation.

After the initiation, the surprise of the evening was unfolded, and it was just this. Brother William Wright, who is a Paster Master of Union Assembly and a Charter Member of Palmyra Assembly, having been an Artisan for thirty-three years, was honored by having the night known as "Dad Wright Night". Master Artisan Brother Vile made it known to Brother Wright that he would have to pass through a test to prove tha he was a good Artisan.

Has Auto Ride

The Pine Patrol appeared in its natty uniforms and Brother Wright was turned over to Captain "Bimbo" Pinney, who commands the Patrol, for the test. Brother Wright passed the test as a good Artisan and was placed in "a Rolls Royce" and to the strains of entrancing music was taken for an auto ride, after which he was presented with a handsome wallet.

After another ride he was presented with a beautiful umbrella by the M. E. Assembly, and then followed more rides and at each halt he was presented first with a smoking stand, then a handsome floor lamp, and finally a beautiful Cogswell chair. He was then invited to occupy the chair, after which he received a cigar and a magazine to complete everything necessary for the enjoyment of a quiet evening at home with his wife.

Roses for Mrs. Wright

To climax the event, a beautiful bouquet of roses was given to Brother Wright to be presented to Mrs. Wright from the Assembly in appreciation of the sacrifices she had made for the Assembly.

Brother Wright, in a very fitting manner, accepted for Mrs. Wright and himself, and hopes that the time will come when he can help put over a surprise on another Brother.

M. E. Master Artisan Brother Herman Cramer, of Laurel Springs; P. M. Artisan Brother Victor Cramer, of Camden, and P. M. Artisan Brother Norman Phillips, of Laurel Springs, were visitors to the Assembly.

Palmyra has a membership contest on with Collingswood. Get your candidates, members. Palmyra Assembly must win this challenge.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

P. O. S. OF A. TO INITIATE

Culminating the recent drive for membership in the P. O. S. of A., a large class will be initiated at the regular meeting of the Order Monday night. A degree team will be present from an out-of-town lodge. Refreshments will be served after the regular meeting.

BAPTISTS FINISH DEDICATION WEEK

Supper Saturday Night Ends Week of Special Services in New Building

A supper and social given by the Junior Philathea and the Samaritan classes of the Baptist Sunday School culminated a week of special dedicatory services in commemoration of the completion of the splendid new Central Baptist Church building.

About 400 members and their friends attended the supper, which was highly commended and much enjoyed as was the social hour which followed.

Friday evening was Bible School and Young People's Night. The services were in charge of Thomas C. Van Osten, superintendent of the Bible School, who also made an address.

Another speaker was the Rev. J. Sherman Wallace, editor of Baptist Young Peoples Publications. Miss Irene Snelson, president of the B. Y. P. U., made an address on young people's work. Anna M. McConnell, soprano, Helen Adams, contralto, and Caroline L. Hirsch, alto, comprised the vocal trio.

Organ Recital

Thursday's program was an organ recital by Arthur W. Howes, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's P. E. Church, Chestnut Hill. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Frances S. Kircher, soprano, and Leonard Davies, bass, accompanied by William T. Davies, and Alfred S. Van Osten, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. May H. Van Osten.

Wednesday was Home Night. The feature of the evening was an address by the pastor, The Present and Future of the Church." Vocal music was rendered by a male quartet composed of Edward N. Hoyt, Thomas R. Taylor, Ernest L. Woodcock and David Wood. Another feature was "Church Reminiscences by A. J. Brooks, Thomas Branson, William Cooper and William McConnell.

Tuesday was Denominational Night, with greetings from prominent Baptist clergymen. Addresses were heard from the Rev. H. W. Barras, treasurer of the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary; the Rev. Charles Hench, secretary of the Camden Baptists' Association; the Rev. George W. Drew, secretary of the Philadelphia Baptist Ministers' Conference, and the Rev. Paul Hayne, pastor of Haddonfield Baptist Church. Music was furnished by the trio.

Mayor Extends Greeting

At Monday night's services greetings were extended by Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra; the Rev. J. William Lee, pastor of the Palmyra Methodist Church; the Rev. Charles T. Bates, pastor of the Riverton Presbyterian Church; the Rev. William Erhard, pastor of the Palmyra Lutheran Church, and the Rev. George McCormack, rector of Christ Church, Palmyra. A feature of the evening was a tenor solo, "And I John Saw the Holy City," Shelley, rendered by Edward N. Hoyt.

The dedication proper was conducted by the pastor at the morning services at the beginning of the week. The Rev. Charles Goodall, executive secretary of the New Jersey Baptist Conference, preached the dedicatory sermon.

Decorations Are Beautiful

For this occasion the church was beautifully decorated with plants and flowers. The floral decorations were arranged by Pennel Cooper. Among the flowers was a basket in memory of the Rev. Frederick Blaser, who died while serving his pastorate at this church. There were also flowers in memory of the late J. Otto Thilow, who was the first member of the church. A beautiful basket of flowers was placed on the altar in appreciation of the untiring efforts of the building committee. There were also flowers from Christ Episcopal Church, Palmyra, and the Methodist Church.

The estimated attendance in the morning was 600, while it was estimated that there was an even greater number present in the evening. Nine were baptized at the evening services. They were Mrs. Catherine Horner, Morris Wiggins, Fred Wiggins, Marjorie Mervine, Mary Wells, Mildred Shedaker, Harry Mitten, Davison Esther Blaser and Anna Rohland.

NEW MANAGEMENT AT STILES' PHARMACY

Many Improvements Made By New Proprietor From Merchantville

B. E. Blankenbush, of Merchantville, has reopened the William H. Stiles Pharmacy, 606 Main street, Riverton, after extensive alterations, with a fresh and completely new stock, which includes the latest in drugs, medicines and toilet articles.

The soda fountain, which was so popular in the Stiles Pharmacy years ago, has been reinstated with electrical refrigeration, and refreshment tables have been installed in the most modern and approved manner. Breyers ice cream will be used exclusively at the fountain and refreshment tables.

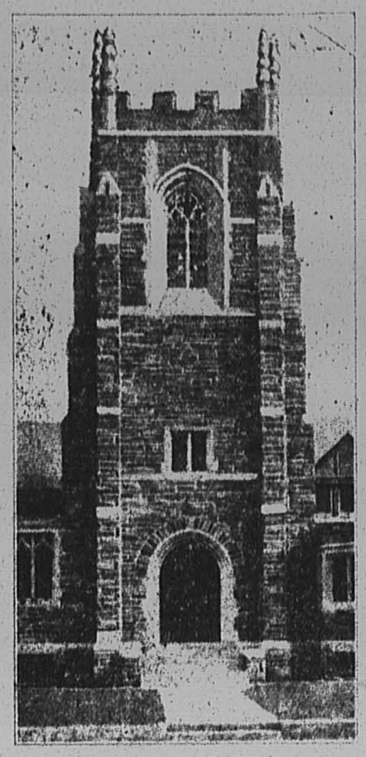
While Mr. Blankenbush has stocked the great variety of things found in the modern drug store, he has in no way neglected the prescription department, which is in charge of registered pharmacists, whose services may be had at all times.

A free delivery service, anywhere at any time, will add to the convenience of the patrons of this store.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I desire to announce to the taxpayers of the Borough of Riverton that I am a candidate for the office of Borough Assessor.

MATTHEW SONTHEIMER.



Main Entrance

Imposing main entrance and tower of new Central Baptist Church of Palmyra and Riverton which was dedicated by a week of special services from Sunday, March 17, to Saturday, March 24. This splendid edifice was erected by the congregation at a total cost of approximately $100,000 and is among the finest and best equipped in this section of the State.

CLOVER IS HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD

Elected President at Reorganization Meeting Last Thursday Night

George B. Clover was elected president of the Palmyra Board of Education at the reorganization meeting held last Thursday evening. No other nominations were made for this office and election was declared unanimous.

George I. Harvey, Palmyra postmaster, was elected vice-president after the name of Charles W. Davison was withdrawn. When it became apparent that there was to be a contest for this office, William A. Donaghy, who had nominated Davison, offered to withdraw his name if Harvey wanted the position. Harvey agreed to accept and the opposition was withdrawn.

The new board decided to follow the recommendation of the recent school survey as to the organization of committees. The survey recommended that instead of several committees only three be named. These committees to be educational, building and grounds and finance.

Committee Changes

Owing to the cafeteria being managed separately it was considered advisable to have a special cafeteria committee. Under the new arrangement the educational committee will have charge of teacher, hygiene, supplies, athletics and compulsory. The buildings and grounds committee will have charge of property, janitors, janitors' supplies and sanitation. The finance committee will look after general finance, tuition and rental.

President Clover said that he did not wish to appoint committees until he had more time to give to consideration of same and it was agreed that appointments should be made at the next meeting.

Plans were exhibited for the proposed improvement of the lawn in front of the High School building. The plans were drawn up by the pupils in Mr. Palmer's mechanical drawing classes who are willing to do the work without cost to the board. The plans were approved and the manual training and mechanical drawing classes will proceed with the work as soon as the weather is favorable.

Boys Commended

This improvement will add much to the beauty of the building as seen from Broad street and the boys are to be commended for their interest in the school. The improvement will be made under the direction of Mr. Palmer.

Professor Eckert made a very interesting report of his trip to the Cleveland Supervisors' Convention, where matters of school administration were discussed by authorities from many parts of the country.

Mr. Eckert also said that the annual trip of the Senior Class to Washington had been planned for April 3, 4 and 5 so it could be made during the Easter vacation and not interfere with the schedule of the school. The report of the Thrift Saving Fund was made showing a total of $2,584.35. This saving fund is in the grades only and shows an enrollment of 91.5 per cent. which is considered to be a very exceptional showing.

The present Board of Education consists of the following members: George B. Clover, George I. Harvey, William A. Donaghy, Mrs. J. C. Mallory, Mrs. A. C. Gilbertson, Charles W. Davison, William S. Brannon, B. Stanley Green and F. L. Durnin, Jr. George W. Rogers and George J. Spencer are the retiring members.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Stewart announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathryn Ann, to Arthur F. Johansen, of Brooklyn, New York, March twenty-third.

SCHOOL MERGER UNDER DISCUSSION

Propose Consolidation of School Districts of Palmyra, Riverton, Cinnaminson

A meeting to discuss a proposed merger of the school districts of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson was held Tuesday of this week in the Palmyra High School building.

Assistant Commissioner of Education White and Townsend were present to talk over the situation with County Superintendent Kaser, members of the three boards of education and the school supervisors.

George I. Harvey represented the Palmyra board, Mrs. Estella Mayfield represented the Riverton board and Howard Taylor represented Cinnaminson Township.

It is generally understood that the school board are favorable to the proposition, owing to the fact that it will make it possible to maintain better school facilities at a lower cost than at present. Each board is faced with the necessity of a building program within the next few years, and it is said the cost of same can be materially reduced if the proposed merger is carried out.

A report of the meeting Tuesday will be made to the State authorities and a public meeting will be called in the near future at which time State experts will be on hand to explain the advantages and disadvantages of the proposition, if the State Board are favorable.

Such a consolidation cannot take place until approved by the voters of the districts concerned.

OLD BUSINESS CHANGES OWNERS

Riverton Market House Bought By William Uhr, of Overbrook

William Uhr, of Overbrook, has purchased the business of the Riverton Market House, and the new management took charge Monday morning. Mr. Uhr is planning a number of changes to the interior of the store, and will carry a full and complete line of fruit and vegetable, in addition to the regular "run of meat" grocery and delicatessen.

The selection of the green goods department will be in charge of a man who is thoroughly competent in the line and the quality of the produce and the service rendered will be second to none in this community.

Mr. Uhr comes to Riverton well recommended, and can be depended upon to maintain the high standard which has characterized this house under the management of the previous proprietor, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Buchter.

While in no way sensational quality, Mr. Uhr has adopted the popular method of offering specials in each department of the store every week. This week's specials will be found in his advertisement on Page 12.

LEGION AUXILIARY

On Sunday, April 7th we are going to visit the Convalescent Home at Tome River. It is hoped to have a large crowd to make the trip. We have several donations to take to the Home and should anyone feel they can give an additional donation it will be greatly appreciated. The Home needs sheets, pillow cases, blankets and towels and any kind of canned fruits is more than welcome to their larder.

This Home is now under the direct management of the American Legion and Auxiliary and its needs are many. We need the support of every member to help keep this Home for our boys and We Must Carry On!

Keep in mind the date of our next card party—Wednesday evening, April 24th.

CITIZENS OPPOSE "CHINESE WALL" AT ROAD HEARING

ONLY TWO FAVOR HIGHWAY UNDERPASS

Wright and Cummings Stand Together Against Overhead Crossing for Boulevard

More than two hundred interested citizens gathered at the West Palmyra crossing of Broad street and the Pennsylvania railroad last Friday afternoon when it became known the state authorities would be there to look over the proposed crossing of the new state highway from the Delaware-Palmyra bridge.

The State Highway Commission had ropes strung on telegraph poles to show the grade of both the railroad and highway in event either of the proposed plans were decided upon. One plan calls for the elevation of the railroad with an underpass for the boulevard while the other plan calls for an overhead bridge to carry the road over the track.

Fear "Chinese Wall"

The latter plan is almost unanimously favored by the citizens of Palmyra and Riverton who fear the "Chinese Wall" effect which would be created in the west and on the elevation of the track. They also look upon this elevation as being the first step for the elevation of the railroad through the center of Palmyra and Riverton, a thing which residents of the two towns have always opposed very bitterly.

After considerable discussion on the site of the crossing it was decided to adjourn to the Palmyra firehouse and hold an open meeting. Several of the citizens and all of the officials went to the firehouse where a meeting was called to order by Mayor George N. Wimer.

Mr. Wimer asked Senator Clifford R. Powell to take charge of the proceedings and turned over the chair to him. Senator Powell called upon various interested parties to express their thoughts on the proposition.

Favors Underpass

Commissioner Reeves, of the Highway department, stated the Commission's viewpoint as being greatly in favor of the underpass stating that it was the most feasible from an engineering standpoint. He also called attention to the necessity of making a long grade in order to get back on River Road if the overhead crossing was used.

Engineer Harris, speaking for the railroad company, was also much in favor of the plan to eliminate the railroad crossing for the new boulevard. He stated that the tracks could be brought back to grade at Hilton Road crossing, a statement which was challenged by ex-Mayor James T. Weart who said when elevation was discussed a few years back the railroad engineer claimed that it would be next to impossible to raise the grade to Park avenue or farther.

Charles A. Wright expressed his opinion as being very favorable to the underpass and emphatically admitted that the road being on the level would add very greatly to the value of a parcel of land in which he owned a considerable interest.

Five Percent Grade

District Engineer Williams of the highway department also favored the underpass and gave statistics of grades, clearances, etc. He pointed out that an overhead structure would have to give at least 23 feet clearance making an overall height of approximately 35 feet and that the approach from River road would be a five percent grade instead of three percent. Commissioner recommended by the state highway engineers.

After these various persons had given so many reasons in favor of the elevation of the tracks Senator Powell called for a vote from those in favor of the plan. Charles A. Wright and Walter H. Cummings were the only ones to express themselves as being favorable. The senator then called for an expression from those in favor of elevating the boulevard over the railroad and received the enthusiastic approval of all the others present of whom there were at least a hundred.

Powell Makes Plea

Mr. Powell at the close of the meeting made a very fine plea in behalf of the citizens of Palmyra and Riverton and asked the authorities to give consideration to the wishes of the great majority who were unanimously in favor of the plan to use the overpass for the new boulevard.

He conceded the chance of having favorable action taken at this time looked very black indeed as all the officials seemed to be set against it but Mayor Wimer and members of the Palmyra Council are very hopeful of having their plan approved when the State Highway Commission meets in the next few days.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL

Edward F. Williams has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election as a member of the Borough Council in the June Primary Election.

COMMISSIONER OF FINANCE IS URGED

Would Make Possible Scientific Study of Tax Problems, Says Frelinghuysen

Governor Morgan F. Larson's campaign pledge for a state-wide scientific study of tax and economic problems which has much record support in both the Assembly and Senate, received a further boost when Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, Jr., of Somerset, introduced a bill providing for the appointment of a commissioner of finance.

He stated that the newspaper press, chambers of commerce, real estate boards and many citizens, acting as groups or individuals have expressed a strong demand for immediate adoption of the resolution, and that no opposition to the plan exists except perhaps among a few who might hate to see a real job done rather than free from political influences.

The [illegible] Senator has not sought a [illegible] that he does not pay [illegible] Mike and a good many others, the Senator believes the cost of the commissioner and municipal government by more than doubled during the past ten years.

Commissioner Urged

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 15, introduced by Senator Joseph G. Walker, of Essex County, and Assemblyman Dryden Kuhl, of Bergen County, provides for the appointment by the Governor of a commissioner of finance to make an inquiry into the organization of State, county and municipal governments, and to suggest improvements and to submit to the next session of the Legislature a report thereon, together with such bills as may be necessary to put the recommendations into effect.

A specialist of the highest standing is suggested as the right man for the job. Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor of public finance at Princeton University, and lately president of the National Tax Association. He assisted in modernizing the tax system of Chile and Poland, and has been employed for the same purpose by the States of Ohio, Wisconsin and Washington. His textbook on the subject are recognized authorities. I believe he should be given full power to find out for the people exactly how their tax money is being spent and possibly how some of it can be saved.

Term of Three Years

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 15, would appoint him for a term of three years to report the result of his investigation and recommendations to the Governor and Legislature from time to time. He is authorized to employ competent assistants and to obtain information from witnesses and records. He is required to complete his duties by December 31, 1931. The entire cost of this work is limited to $75,000 per year and is likely to result in our saving at least ten times that amount. One of the leading newspapers of New Jersey has said editorially that if Dr. Lutz saves a million to taxpayers the State money!

The average taxpayer votes for candidates for public office and that is the extent of his participation in the business of government. Sometimes he does not even vote, and a good many of the [illegible] neglect to pay their taxes because the cost of State, county and municipal government has more than doubled during the past ten years.

SEVEN VAGABONDS WILL GO ON AIR

Dave Beegle's Orchestra Booking Many Engagements

Dave Beegle and his seven vagabonds of Riverton, has been engaged for a big card party and dance to be given April 1 by the St Catherine Rectory, in the Mannahasset Hotel, Seaside Park. The personnel of this band consists mostly of young college fellows who have satisfied many of the leading fraternities and sororities in South Jersey and Pennsylvania with their up-to-the-minute dance tunes. Besides many other important engagements for April, they are providing entertainment for the Philadelphia Moose in Green's Hotel on the 17th and are going to give thousands of radio fans a chance to hear them broadcast that evening.

Know Your State

As a result of water purification progress in New Jersey, deaths from typhoid fever within the State dropped from seventy-four out of every 100,000 persons in 1882 to less than three out of every 100,000 in 1927.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Burlington, built in 1703, is believed to be the oldest church structure in the State.

In 1668 the assessors of New Jersey assessed property there at a total equivalent to about $540 in 1927. The revenues of the state had increased to $33,443,665.

The perfect value of New Jersey's lumber product is estimated to average $10,000,000 annually.

FIRE COMPANIES SCRAP OVER AGE

Mount Holly Smokeaters Contest Burlington Claim to Priority

The March meeting of the Burlington County Firemens Association was held in Mount Holly Wednesday evening of last week, the delegates and visitors being the guests of the Mount Holly Fire Department, and had not a controversy developed over which fire company in the county was the oldest, the meeting would have gone down as one of the least interesting ever held by the Association.

Russell C. Holmes, of Roebling, the boss president, was in the chair, and some delightful music was furnished by the Hope Rose Band, of Bordentown.

The annual reports of Chiefs McClain, of Medford and Krusen, of Delanco were read and discussed very favorably, the secretary calling attention to the fact that notwithstanding he had made every effort to get annual reports from the various chiefs in order that he might formulate a complete county report, Messrs. McClain and Krusen were the only two to take the matter seriously. In the future, however, an effort will be made to have every chief submit an annual report of the number and kind of fires, losses, condition of apparatus and hose and any other details which will prove valuable in making up a detailed account of the activities of the Association.

Chief McClain also reported on the proposed changes in the county fire code, all few and not fear after consultation with Senator Powell the committee had decided that the attendance desired by the Board of Freeholders could not be made. The committee was continued, with the understanding that it is to wait upon the Freeholders in an effort to have the latter body withdraw its objections.

Postmaster Evan F. Benners, of Moorestown, gave a short talk on the Firemens Home at Boonton, he being secretary of the Board of Trustees, and said that while the pilgrimage to the Home in June of last year was more or less of a failure from the standpoint of numbers he recommended that it be tried again this year, and that June 16 be set as the date. He said that at the April meeting he would make a motion that a committee be appointed to arrange for the pilgrimage.

Short talks were made by Peter Carter, secretary of the Camden Fire Department, Chief Hicks and Lieut. Francis, of Avon, and a Mercer county fire department, and then came the statement next which for comedy in the annals of the oldest Board of Mount Holly or Burlington.

The debate was precipitated by John A. Throckmorton, assistant chief of the Mount Holly Department and a member of the Relief Company, who took exception to articles appearing in the Burlington Enterprise the past week to the effect that the Endeavor Company, which celebrated its one hundred and thirty-fourth anniversary on Monday night, was the oldest in the County and in the State.

David A. Brotherton, chief of the Burlington Fire Department, and a member of the Endeavor, said that the newspapers stories were not prompted by the Endeavor Company, and in this he was corroborated by President Watson, of the same Company, but Watson intimated very strongly that he felt that the company he represented was the oldest.

Elmer Throckmorton had the support of John Farrell, of the Relief, in an argument pro and con which followed, and then facts and figures had been quoted by both sides, President Holmes very diplomatically decided that the Relief was the oldest organization in point of service, but that the Endeavor was evidently the oldest Company under the same name.

After a roll-call the representatives and guests adjourned to the Union Fire House, where a bountiful lunch was enjoyed.

BURLINGTON MAN MUST PAY FINES

Russakow Refused Liberty on Bail in Drawn-Out Liquor Case

Another chapter was added to the famous Harry Russkow case, at the Court House in Mount Holly Thursday of last week when the defendant's counsel, V. Claude Palmer, requested that Russkow be placed on bail pending a writ of error to the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Russakow's home in Burlington was raided nearly two years ago by officers under the direction of Sheriff A. Eugene Hughes' office, and since that time practically every means to free him has been resorted to with the possible exception of recourse to the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Russkow was convicted in the Burlington County Courts and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 on the charge of having liquor in his possession, while another fine of $450 was added for having utensils in his home for the manufacture of liquor, this conviction and fine being affirmed by the Supreme Court recently.

On the application to admit the defendant to bail it was brought out that the Court would also have to sign a "certificate of reasonable doubt," and as this procedure would be embarrassing, to say the least, particularly after the Supreme Court had passed on the cases, Jude Slaughter denied the motion to admit the defendant to bail and also the application for the "certificate of reasonable doubt."

Russakow then went to jail, in default of the payment of the fines, but later the fines were paid and he was released.

The Court had a juvenile matter from Delanco to wrestle with George C. Warner, Benjamin Rees and Jean Bintliff, all boys in their early teens, having been arrested for breaking and entering the home of Harry C. Polk at that place, where it was claimed that they stole a Victrola and a number of records and an express wagon. They were also charged with an attempt to enter the home of Albert Russ.

All admitted their guilt, and as usual in such cases, a number of residents of their home town appeared before the Court and presented with requests that they be leniently dealt with.

The Court inquired into the case pretty thoroughly, and then decided that Warner was the ring leader of the trio and placed him on probation for two years, with the understanding that he is to pay $24.42 of the costs in six months, while Rees and Bintliff were each assessed $12.24 and will also be placed under the watchful eye of Probation Officer Frank A. Hendrickson.

Richard Morgan, colored, of Burlington, had already plead non vult to a charge of assault and battery, and he was freed under a suspended sentence, with the understanding that he will report to Probation Officer Hendrickson and also pay the costs of $30.

Seaman Crowley, fourteen years of age, of Burlington, adopted by his uncle, John Crowley, had been turned in to the authorities by the boys who claims the boy is incorrigible.

After Judge Slaughter had heard the story of the uncle he decided that there was probably some good in the boy yet, and he ordered the complainant to take him back home and look after him.

Judge Slaughter and a jury sat at the Court House to hear the case of the State against Steven Bilk, of Lakewood, manager of a lumber company at Toms River, who had been indicted for criminally assaulting Mary Bilgear, a sixteen-year-old Columbus girl at being placed that the assault took place near Columbus.

The case of the State virtually collapsed when the girl went on the stand and repudiated signed statements in which she had charged Bilk with the offense. She claimed she was intoxicated when she signed the statements!

A [illegible] for [illegible] however [illegible] by the Court, and he [illegible] to the jury, which rendered a verdict of not guilty.

CALVARY Y. M. C. A.

The Calvary "Y" held its regular weekly meeting Monday, March 25, in the Epworth Methodist Church. The meeting was well attended because Mr. Hendry, the well-known "Y" secretary, was to be there and no "Y" boy or young man wishes to miss him.

As the meeting progressed it proved our confidence in Mr. Hendry was well founded, for he spoke on a topic of interest to all young men. "Does God Have a Plan for Our Career."

Mr. Hendry asked questions and opinions on various subjects having bearing on the main topic. Some of the questions were: "Does God have a plan for our character?" and "What is our purpose in life?" Definite conclusions could not be drawn on all questions, but they were in most cases. The undecided questions left us much to think about.

This talk is one of the many talks our "Y" is having the prominent men of Burlington County give on "Careers." Mr. Guest, of Riverton, Mr. Chambers and the Rev. J. W. Lee, both of Palmyra, have given talks on their respective vocations. They told us of the advantages and disadvantages and of the chance of gaining pecuniary returns in their vocations.

These talks have done a great deal in helping the young men of this group decide what career they want to follow, and this is of nearly as great interest to the town as it is to them. So, if any of the readers of this article wish to help future citizens in choosing their careers, let them get in touch with Mr. Plank, our leader.

SALE OF HANOVER FARMS OFF AGAIN

Bid of $90,000 Rejected by Commissioner Dill as Insufficient

A bid of $90,000 for the Hanover Farms tract was rejected at a receiver's sale by State Motor Commissioner William L. Dill last week.

The bid was offered by Harry P. Carr, Camden, attorney, for Samuel B. Dobbs, of Atlantic City, trading as the New Jersey Housing and Contracting Company, 1218 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. Mr. Dill said the bid was insufficient.

Carl Feick, of Newark, counsel for the receiver, said there is a mortgage for $300,000 standing against the tract on which interest has not been paid for 16 years. Taxes totaling $25,000 are due Pemberton and Woodland townships in Burlington county and Manchester township in Ocean county. The tract comprises 2,660 acres and is in those three townships. The stockholders of the company have $325,000 invested in the failure. They are represented by former Governor Edward C. Stokes.

Carr offered a certified check for $30,000 as option money to bind the deal, pending the approval of Federal Judge William N. Watson, at Newark. There were no other bidders and Commissioner Dill adjourned the sale until April 1 at two o'clock in Mount Holly.

Hanover Farms was originally promoted by William H. Hoyt, who died a few months ago in New York. He persuaded a number of capitalists to invest their money in the operation of the tract. It went into the hands of the receiver two years ago. Commissioner Dill is a former receiver and he has attempted to hold sales on two other occasions.

MOORESTOWN YOUTH LOSES LEG IN CRASH

Lester Lawrence, 13 years old, of Mullica's Farm near Moorestown, was taken to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, in a serious condition Saturday morning from injuries suffered when a leg was severed from it in an automobile accident at Kings Highway and Fellowship road.

Surgeons at the hospital finding the leg so badly mangled that the boy's life was in danger, amputated the limb below the knee.

The boy was riding on a truck and his legs dangling over the running board when an automobile driven by Charles Nevin, 830 Spruce street, Camden, swerved the truck driven by George Wilkins, Moorestown.

U. S. OPTIMISTIC, SALES HEAD FINDS

Completion of a sixty-mile trip to America's leading automobile cities has definitely set to rest the fears of W. R. Tracy, district sales manager in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor Car Company, that a "dull spell" has enveloped the country, and has convinced him that the year of greatest prosperity [illegible].

Particularly is that true of the automobile industry, generally accepted as the most sensitive barometer of business, which Mr. Tracy said that it shows every promise of surpassing any previous year by a sizable margin.

On the road almost continuously for two months, Mr. Tracy visited 156 Oakland-Pontiac dealers in all parts of the country. "I know personally the morale of our dealers is high at present," said Mr. Tracy. "In every country I found no complaints. Instead, I discovered optimism on all sides."

The prosperity of the nation is apparently general, both industrial and agricultural districts being in good condition. In the south a good cotton crop has left its mark and the industrial development of that section is coming along at a surprisingly rapid rate.

The Jersey Hoover, who is a plasterer, wrote to the President and told him of the similarity in their names and birthdays. He hardly expected the President to answer personally and did not expect to hear from the White House at all. But he did hear from the White House and from Hoover personally.

Naturally the Jersey Hoover prizes the communication.

DR. CURTIS LEADS LIFE SAVING BODY

Moorestown Physician Heads 1929 County Red Cross Swimming Campaign

The first meeting of the 1929 Life Saving Committee of the Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, was held Friday evening, March 22nd, in St. Mary's Guild House, Burlington.

Clifford W. Ergood, County Director of Life Saving, [illegible] charge of the meeting, which was attended by Mrs. James P. MacFarlane, Palmyra, chairman of Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross; Mrs. J. Frank Schickel, Florence, Treasurer of the Life Saving Committee; Mrs. D. T. Lloyd Neal, Moorestown; D. T. Dean, Cedar Lakes; Earl Bowen, Delanco, and Franklin P. Jones, Jr., Beverly.

Dr. Howard C. Curtis was made chairman of the committee. It was decided that Life Saving classes should be held at the various bathing beaches in the County during July and August with Victor H. Hartshorn, Trenton, as instructor, that $300 would be necessary to carry on the work; $200 of which will be contributed by the Red Cross and the balance raised by the committee. The members of the committee agreed to further the work in every possible way.

Wade Life Saving is the pioneering feature of the campaign it is proposed to train 4,000 children to swim during the summer, which work will be carried on by the Senior Life Savers and Examiners.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on date [illegible] plans will be made relative to the work.

NEW ZONING LIMIT FINALLY ADOPTED

Merchantville Borough Council Is Divided on Final Vote of Protested Ordinance

Merchantville Borough Council last week passed the amendatory zoning ordinance to the protests of Cedar lane residents. The ordinance now becomes a law and extends Centre street by one district further north.

Council was divided on the matter. When it was put to a vote Attorney Whitaker and Antrim voted for passage while Bodamer and Chew were against.

Cedar lane residents were opposed to the ordinance because they object to the use of stores adjoining their properties. A number of Centre property owners appeared at the ordinance and appeared at the hearing to protest their removal.

EIGHT FINED IN TRAFFIC CHECK

Three motorists were fined Tuesday afternoon and five at night for violations of the Motor Vehicle Act as a result of a traffic check made by State inspectors.

Earl J. Bevis, 312 Melrose avenue, Pennsauken, was fined $10.00 and costs for improper registration. The same penalty was meted out to Albert A. Klein, Riverside, for a like offense. Arthur B. Montgomery, Darby, Pennsylvania, was fined $10.00 and costs for operating a car with both Pennsylvania and New Jersey tags. Inspector Miss Beebe drivers license.

Five were fined $3.00 and costs each for improper lights. They were Robert Wheeler, Riverton; Charles Stokes, Florence; William Young, Palmyra; [illegible] Riverton.

SIX-CITY DINERS TO HEAR MORROW

Lindy's Future Father-in-Law Will Make Address by Long Distance

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow will make an address by long distance telephone from Mexico City to the sixty Greater New Jersey Dinner of the State Chamber of Commerce and New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, April 4.

Other speakers announced today by the State Chamber include Governor Morgan F. Larson, William D. Bullenworth, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, speaking from Washington, D. C., Willard I. Hamilton, president of the State Chamber; R. B. White, president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey; C. G. Leverage, president Western Electric Company; Carleton Wolcott, Telephone and Telegraph Company.

A special telephone circuit connecting Mexico City and the New Telephone Headquarters Building, at 540 Broad Street, Newark, where the key meeting of the Statewide dinner will be held, is the means that will enable Mr. Morrow to address the dinners without leaving the Mexican Capital.

Mr. Morrow is a resident of Englewood, and a member of the State Chamber. The public address system to be used at the dinner will amplify his voice in the auditorium and a wire network connecting the seven simultaneous meetings will have his message, describing New Jersey's growth and future to the other dinners at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark; Stacy-Trent, Trenton; Plaza, Jersey City; the Walt Whitman, Camden; Alexander Hamilton, Paterson, and Traymore Hotel, Atlantic City.

Telephone communication to Mexico City has been maintained during the revolution in Mexico, and doubt whether Mr. Morrow would be able to make his speech at the affair has been dispelled by assurance that the fighting in Mexico is heading away from telephone communication lines with this country.

CARD PARTY

There will be a card party at the Legion Home on Wednesday evening, April 24th. The proceeds of this party is for the welfare work at the Convalescent Home at Toms River. Set aside this date so you can be sure to attend this affair, for it's a cause that should have the support of everyone who can possibly help in this work.

Toxin-Antitoxin

Arrangements are being made for immunization treatment for diphtheria to be given all Palmyra children of school age where parents give their consent.

Pamphlets have been distributed to the schools during the past week, describing the toxin-antitoxin treatment and its purpose. Each pamphlet has a certificate on the back, which is to be filled out by parents who wish to give their approval.

This treatment is not compulsory, but will be administered free of charge to those who wish it. The cost of same is to be paid by the Borough.

Professor Eckert, the school supervisor, requests that parents who wish the treatment given their children sign the blanks and return them at once.

Telephone communication to Mexico City has been maintained during the revolution in Mexico, and doubt whether Mr. Morrow would be able to make his speech at the affair has been dispelled by assurance that the fighting in Mexico is heading away from telephone communication lines with this country.

FIRE MARSHAL FOR COUNTY IS NAMED

William J. Smith, of Bridgeboro, Appointed to Position by Freeholders

The appointment of a Fire Marshal for Burlington County, which has been a bone of contention between the Burlington County Board of Freeholders and the Burlington County Firemen's Association for many months, was amicably adjusted last Friday when the board appointed William J Smith, of Bridgeboro, to that position at a salary of $560 a year.

The board's opposition to creating the office of County Fire Marshal has been based on the cost of enforcing his orders, which, under the law, must be paid by the board. When the proposition of creating this office was first suggested, the board advised that the law be changed, placing the cost of enforcement on the municipality in which the fire hazard was decided by the marshal to exist.

The Firemen's Association opposed this change on the ground that local enforcement was always difficult and seldom effective. And there the two bodies deadlocked.

Delegation Urges Action

At the meeting of the Board of Freeholders last Friday a delegation from the Firemen's Association, consituted of Walter McClain, of Medford; Walter Armstrong, of Riverton, and F. W. Atkinson, of Moorestown, waited on the board to further press the matter. After Mr. McClain had spoken to some length, the subject was considered in executive session, following which announcement was made of the appointment of Mr. Smith.

On the reconstruction of the Centreton bridge bids were received as follows: Hill Construction Company, of Mt. Holly, $8,55-; Evelyn Construction Company, of Trenton, $10,495; Rancocas Construction Company, of Delanco, $9,280; F. W. Schwiers, Jr. Company, of New York, $14,946; Wm. C. Cook, Mount Holly, $8,963. The contract was awarded to the Hill Construction Company.

In connection with the reconstruction of this bridge, owners of property adjacent thereto offered to give the necessary land to widen the road at this point. Freeholder Stout, director of the department of roads, said that the State Legislature was holding hearings to get information on the rural road problem in an effort to work out a solution which would remedy the condition on the Centreton road, as well as many others which are perplexing both township and county officials.

Offer Road to County

Communications were received from Willingboro, Burlington, Mount Laurel and Westampton Townships asking the board to take over the road between Rancocas and Masonville, claiming that the townships did not have the necessary funds to keep it in repair. Freeholder Stout said that while he was heartily in favor of good highways, the Freeholders were confronted with the very serious problem of finding money to care for the many roads which the townships are asking the board to take over.

It was stated by the representative from Westampton Township that they would give $300 the first year toward the cost of repairing the section of the road which passes through their territory. The other townships would also contribute something toward the work, but the representatives were not prepared to say how much.

A delegation from Beverly appeared before the board to inspect the plans for widening the River Road between Beverly and Delanco. The visitors were heard behind closed doors and no decision was reached. Further conferences will be held after the property owners along the line make another attempt to get together.

Seek Blanket Bond

The Public Service Corporation asked permission to file a bond covering the opening of highways anywhere in the county, instead of furnishing cash security for each individual opening, as has been the custom in the past. The matter was referred to the County Solicitor.

The contract for furnishing broken stone to the Road Department was awarded to the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company, of Lumberton, on their bid of $21,900.

The request of John W. Houser, of Moorestown, for compensation for an automobile which was damaged when it dropped into a washout on the Tom Brown road, was referred to the County Solicitor.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $3,404.21; Bridges, $4,028.20; Finance, $744.93; Public Buildings, $12,597.83; Public Affairs, $1,301.42. Total, $18,476.64.

ARRANGE FOR TRIP ALONG DELAWARE

A meeting of the Delaware River Port Development Committee, of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, was held Wednesday at the Hotel Walt Whitman, Camden.

William H. Bottger, of Riverton, chairman of this committee, is arranging an inspection trip along the Delaware river in an effort to obtain co-operation from the various municipalities bordering on the river between Paulsboro and Burlington to lend every aid to promote development of better port facilities for the benefit of the industrial shipping centers in the larger riverfront towns.

Richard S. Weiglein, director of wharves and docks of the City of Philadelphia, has been kind enough to offer the committee and those interested in the proposition, the use of the harbor boat, "John Wanamaker" for a tour of port inspection.

It is pointed out that Riverton and Palmyra, two of the most beautiful residential towns bordering on the Delaware river, seem to have little interest in one of the most important assets in the communities. Run down water-fronts, that were once the showplaces of the Delaware river, are now crumbling away in decay simply because of the lack of civic pride or interest in one of nature's most beautiful gifts.

Mr. Bottger suggests that with a zoning or community planning committee, working in cooperation with Port or River Development Committee, much good could be accomplished toward making the two towns the finest residential communities in South Jersey.

SEE 1929 AS BANNER YEAR FOR PALMYRA

Great interest is being shown in the work of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce by the business men of the community and the officers hope that everyone doing business in Palmyra as well as citizens who are interested in making the Borough a better place to live in, will make a practice of attending all meetings.

The next meeting of the Chamber will be held the second Tuesday in April in the American Legion Home. The officers solicit the support of everyone in making 1929 a banner year for the organization, as well as for the town as a whole.

Much good work has been accomplished in the past of which the townspeople generally are not aware. The Chamber has a utilities committee, which has made a very comprehensive study of the water situation in Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson and have on file information covering the whole subject.

This subject has been carefully investigated during the past several months by the committee appointed by the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce working jointly with the Riverton Chamber.

Why Political Harmony?

There has been much talk of "harmony" in Burlington County Republican ranks during the Spring primary campaign. Added color to rumors of a "rapprochement" between the leaders of the two county factions was lent by the understanding recently reached on the appointment of judges, tax board member and prosecutor, in which agreement, by the way, the lion's share was carried off by State Senator Powell.

But why harmony in a primary campaign? What is a primary election for, anyway? Is it designed to give party leaders an opportunity to get together and decide on certain candidates for certain positions?

Not at all. Such an arrangement would be little different from the old convention system which the primary was designed to correct and wherein the various bosses whipped the delegates into line for boss-chosen candidates.

The primary is for the purpose of giving the rank and file of the voters of the county an opportunity to choose their own candidates.

What right have two or more county leaders to get together and decide that so-and-so shall be the next Sheriff, or the next Freeholder or the next County Clerk? It is the people of the county who have the right to decide those questions and they should have a number of candidates to choose from.

It is contrary to the very spirit of American institutions that political leaders should arrogate unto themselves the power to decide that there shall be no contest at a primary election, that some one candidate shall be given a free pass into office and that no others need apply. That is the way elections are held in Mexico.

Voters of Burlington County are fortunate to have a number of acceptable candidates for each of the leading offices to be filled at the June primary and every voter should consider it his privilege and duty as an American citizen to exercise his own judgment and vote for the man he considers best fitted for a given office, with scant regard for gratuitous "endorsements" of political leaders.

If a political boss has the power to elect or defeat a candidate, successful candidates will be obligated to political bosses, and not to the people at large.

If candidates are elected on merit and because they have found favor with the voters themselves, office holders will be obligated to the people alone.

Don't Worry Yet

The sun will shine for a billion years, and then when it begins to dim another will form to take its place.

So says Professor Millikan of the California Institute of Technology.

Others have said that the sun would eventually go out and all would be darkness. Many theories have been advanced. We trust in God to keep the world alight and going, and are seldom if ever disturbed for a moment by all the predictions that tell us the world is coming to end on such and such a date.

As for that second sun, thanks Professor. It's a great comfort to know that it is coming along. But really, we guess we'll just string along for a while with the sun that we know, and just refuse to worry as to whether a second one is coming along or not. Personally, we don't need it.

Fire Waste and Common Sense

The apparent disregard of fire waste by otherwise estimable and intelligent citizens is a peculiar phase of our national life.

It is nothing more than common sense to realize that when we burn half a billion dollars worth of property in a year, to say nothing of lives lost, several times that amount of money has been totally destroyed in time and business lost and upkeep of fire departments.

There can be no question but what this tremendous waste presents a serious menace to our prosperity. In no way can it actually be replaced, least of all by an insurance company which must collect at least as much money as it pays out.

The principal causes of fire are carelessness, ignorance, poor building construction and inadequate protective facilities.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters and many other organizations, private and civic, through Fire Prevention Weeks and all-year-round activities, make intensive efforts to educate the public. It is clearly our own fault if the lessons are not heeded.

In localities where building laws are too lax, they should be amended, so that the best fire-resistive construction is required. Every locality should have a well-equipped and efficient fire fighting department, no matter what the expense. It will pay for itself many times over.

We lead the rest of the world in most things and, unfortunately, we lead likewise in the amount of our fire waste. It is not an enviable record.

A New Way to Tell Time

Henry Rheinhardt, chairman of the Associated Dress Industries, Chicago, comes forth with a brand new idea on the most problem of the length of skirts.

He suggests that dresses should be worn down to the knee at noon, and hour by hour longer dresses should be worn until at midnight the dresses would be as long as in the days of our grandmothers.

This would give women fashion's authority to change their frocks every hour. The suggestion has been given serious attention all over the country.

It is said that this suggestion, if followed, would be a wonderful compromise, pleasing both the advocates of long and short skirts.

We don't pose as an authority in such matters, but pass the idea on in the thought that is is interesting at any rate—and would provide us with a rather charming way of telling the time.

Overlooked the Constitution

Those Sheriffs who are interested in the movement to secure legislation at Trenton looking to repeal of the inhibition which prevents Sheriffs from succeeding themselves in office, obviously have not consulted the State Constitution, which, under Article VI says, "Sheriffs and Coroners shall * * hold their offices for three years; after which three years must elapse before they can be again capable of serving."

The only way that Sheriffs infatuated with their jobs may extend their tenure beyond the Constitutional term of three years will be to prevail upon the Legislature and the electorate to amend the State's basic law, a task which has been found rather difficult of achievement even when more important objects were sought.—Mount Holly Mirror.

SUIT FOR SLANDER AGAIN POSTPONED

Judge Slaughter Fixes Date of April 11 for Argument on Motion

In Burlington County Common Pleas Court in Mount Holly, Judge Slaughter last week fixed April 11 as the date for argument on a motion of counsel for William B. Vandegrift, of Burlington, and Mrs. Mary A. Emmons, of Pemberton, to dismiss a slander suit brought against them by Mrs. Florence W. Jacoby, of Edgewater Park.

The motion was made one monnth ago by Ernest Watts, counsel for Vandegrift and Mrs. Emmons on the grounds that no monetary damage was mentioned in the suit by Mrs. Jacoby. Attorney Robert Peacock asked for permission to amend the suit for Mrs. Jacoby. The argument was to have been heard Thursday, of last week, but it was again deferred. The motion will now be decided by the incoming judge, Charles A. Rigg, of Burlington.

The office cynic has just written the radio commission asking that they reallocate the soprano.

ELECTRICITY and YOUR DINING ROOM

"GETTING his own breakfast" inflicts no hardship on the man of the house, when you use electric appliances in your dining room. Convenience is combined with good food. The electric toaster provides nicely browned, crisp hot toast automatically; the electric egg boiler makes possible eggs done to the second; the electric percolator gives you surpassing good coffee, and the electric grill cooks the bacon that tickles your palate.

What electricity does in simplifying the problem of early breakfasts, it can do in every other department of the home.

Wherever you need light or power, wherever a machine can take the place of human labor, electricity will meet your demands for dependable and efficient service.

An electrically equipped home is a home that abounds in comfort—one in which life is easier and more pleasant. In half a hundred ways, electricity will serve you. Let us tell you at your home or our store what it can do for you.

Tells of Part Played by Manual Training in Modern Education

Professor Titman of Riverside High School Delivers Address on Latest Methods Before Kiwanis Club

Prof. Frank F. Titman, of the Manual Training Department of the Riverside High School, read the following paper before the Riverside Kiwanis Club last week:

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Civilization has just begun a new epoch in its progress, an age of industrialism. Our modern economic organization has brought with it conditions that make industrial training a necessity not only for our further economic development but also for a greater usefulness and a decreased precariousness in the life of the individual.

Industrial education in America as well as in foreign countries has been of comparatively slow growth and in many instances its development has been handicapped by a misunderstanding brought about by wrong interpretation of the objectives and purpose of the particular phase of education.

Many who are interested in general education have little or no conception of the Principles of Industrial Education, and it is equally true that the general public have only a very hazy conception of the principles, ideals, and aims of this work in our public schools.

Growth of Education

With these facts in mind, I will give a brief review of the growth of education thru the past.

Primitive man's education was based on four requirements. Food, clothing, shelter and protection from clouds.

To acquire these hand work in its crudest form was resorted to, further progress was dormant for centuries until he discovered bronze and the development with the use of tin was the beginning of progress in Primitive Education.

The Orientals have not contributed much toward Industrial Arts. The Greeks and Romans have handed down to us their beautiful and artistic orders of architecture.

Stalemate in Middle Ages

During the Middle Ages education was dominated by the Church and we find no more contribution to Industrial Arts or handwork.

It was not until about 1700 that hand work was introduced as an integral part of the public school system both in Europe and America.

The Russian Sloyd system being introduced by Calvin M. Woodward at the Centennial they exhibit at the Philadelphia Exposition calling it Manual Training.

With the dawning of the twentieth century the school system has been subjected to those influences which are constantly bringing about changes in our social organization. Industrial Arts has arrived. It is just as true that the most beautiful and promising stage is yet to be reached. It is not breaking away from the fields and the ability of the school system that has long justified its presence.

A great confusion seems still to exist in the terminology of Industrial Work. Nomenclature is of itself not of overshadowing importance, but endless discussions and misunderstanding can be avoided by the simple expediency of definition.

Americanized Type

The name Manual Training, was the original term under which the work was introduced in this country. It was an all inclusive term used to designate any part of hand working. It usually refers to a woodworking shop work of an Americanized sloyd type which has been so common in the elementary schools.

Industrial arts education includes those forms of training and study based upon industrial pursuits and designed to embrace general intelligence and give guidance in the industrial occupations. Industrial Arts represents simply another attempt to name more appropriately the work which has been growing and enriching and broadening under the old name of Manual Training and Manual Arts. It broadens the conception of the work in that it comprehends a great variety of activities that give insight and appreciation concerning all those "arts" that industry employs to do the work and produce the goods of the world.

Like Manual Training, industrial arts may give a certain incidental skill usable in vocations or trades, but this is not the purpose of industrial arts. Its purpose is broader and based upon psychological foundations. Manual training provides general preliminary courses for experiences and appreciation for those who may never enter any sort of trades or vocational work as well as for a kind of prevocational or finding course for those who look forward to some technical field. Hence we find the work known as industrial arts or manual training which constitute a part of a well rounded course for general educational purpose, and are not designed to prepare students for useful employment in recognized vocations to be industrial arts.

Not Enough Time

In the first place, not a sufficient amount of time has been allotted for the shop work to make possible the attainment of vocational standards. In the second place, the character of work has not been such as to train for definite vocations. The purpose of Manual Training or Industrial Arts may be said to have these fundamental underlying ideas or aims:

1. Command of Fundamental Processes.

During the course of training in Industrial Arts the student gains additional practice in mathematics by computing dimensions and laying out his work. Not only do they get practice in the fundamental processes but also in another very important means of expression that of drawing, which is not limited to race and is known as the universal language.

2. Worthy home membership.

The pride of the student in contribution something useful to his home and his inward satisfaction from seeing his parents pleased with his efforts, coupled with the cooperation of the instructor and fellow classmates, while the product was in the process of making, is bound to increase his interest and welfare of the home.

The study of various practical projects such as, refinishing and repairing furniture, recaning chairs, drawing plans for a home and repairing an electric iron add greatly in making home a closer unit to the boys' lives.

3. Vocation

By giving knowledge and skill that will function immediately in his vocational beginnings. Experiments in several branches of work will enable the student who has to leave school to enter industry above the place usually taken by common labor; also it will aid the student in selecting a course to further the study of his chosen work.

4. Worthy Use of Leisure Time

The Industrial Arts Course provide a boy with an experience by varied branches of work and in this manner he is able to make use of a number of activities.

5. Ethical Character

We have an important mission in being one of the agencies which the school can organize to help in developing our boys to become like that ideal boy which we cherish, that boy who is physically fit, mentally sound, interested in a manly work because some day he will be a man, playing his game of life in a good, clean and whole-hearted way. Industrial Arts promotes character development by every day insistance upon honest work, whether in squaring an edge, gluing a joint, or finishing a job all of which go to build up a reliable man of work, which is summarized in the following quotation by William J. Hunter:

A boy comes to the shop full of ginger and pep;
He's so anxious to work that he can't keep in step.
He wants to make things far 'over his head';
His hunger for knowledge must somehow be fed.
You know that you, too, were once but a youth,
(Perhaps you don't—look it, but yet 'tis the truth);
A boy is not nearly so green as he looks—
Your actions he reads as scholars read books.

He comes to the shop expectant and eager
To get to his bench and be his own leader
The average boy is a red-blooded chap,
If you'd be his idol you'll find it no snap.

You as a teacher must show him the way.
Make the boy work, but don't let him play.
Encourage his interest and "ginger and pep"
But let him know too that he must keep in step.

Maintains Balance

A fundamental point in the psychology of Industrial Arts as an integral part of our school system is that it maintains a balance between the intellectual and the practical phases of experience. As an occupation it is active or motor, it finds expression through the physical organs, the eyes, hands, etc. Instead of keeping a child continuously at his books, it provides shop activity, his hands work to the advantage of his intellect, he becomes a philosopher while he thinks he is becoming simply an artisan.

You must remember we are teaching children not trades and their industrial must not be compared with that of an expert craftsman.

Let us bear in mind that the chief objective of Industrial Arts is to develop appreciation an appreciation of a hand and machine made world, an appreciation of the functions of tools and machines and the problems connected therewith, an appreciation of systematized jobs finished in a business like way, appreciation of accuracy, of skill, of ability to think straight, of industry and of dependability in the field of industrial activities.

Promotes Enthusiasm

It is a vitally important part of American education, strongly appealing to the boys in the school as no other one of their organized activities and interesting for them the industrial life of the nation. As proof of this statement, one needs but note the enthusiasm for shop work. There is a twinkle in their eyes and a spring in their steps as they march to the shop that is not in evidence at any other period of the day.

To foster this spirit our industrial arts course has been enriched with sheet metal and art metal work also electricity. Such courses supply that motor activities and concrete experience a much needed element in general education, without regard to future occupations.

There are all activities quite within the range of the boys' ability, as evidenced by the projects constructed by our own boys in the Riverside Industrial Arts shop. History and transportation are correlated by the construction of models of the Santa Maria, the Mayflower, the Pirate ship, Spanish Galleons and Viking ships. These have been faithfully reproduced with great accuracy. Model motor and sail boats are being constructed, the motor boats to be electrically propelled.

Cabinet work is exemplified by the desks, tables, book cases, breakfast room furniture and music cabinets. Some of which are of Spanish influence combining wrought iron work with the wood.

Art metal work, hand hammered and bent metal has produced beautiful articles in brass, copper and iron such as fernieries, aquarium stands, ash trays, sconces, lanterns, table lamps, bridge and floor lamps.

Electrical Work

Electricity provides an activity that interests nearly every boy and one that correlates both wood and metal work. The boys wire their lanterns and lamps, repair electrical appliances and work out problems which give them sufficient practice to understand existing electrical circuits and to make lawful repairs.

These various activities are further enriched by exhibits and contests so that our work is meeting some very great needs in our educational system and in our social and industrial life.

However, after all has been said and done as to what Industrial Arts is, its aims and objectives, we must have the understanding and cooperation of you, our public, our benefactors and patrons.

Educator's Dream

In conclusion the following quotation (author unknown) seems appropriate:

"I have long dreamed a dream. I have envisioned a school where the boy is king and the teacher a prince. I see a school where boyish ambitions are valued. I see teachers who take the advice of boys and boys who seek the advice of teachers. I do not see many shops in this school with brand new equipment costing $50,000 which is kept spotlessly clean and new.

"I do see a few machines of varied type and each one with a schedule of work taxing it to its limit. I do not see a class of twenty boys making twenty tabourets but a class of twenty youths doing twenty different things. One is making a tabouret because that is the height of his ambition and so he is just as happy as the lad who has just completed a radio cabinet, or the fellow who has just put the last daub of bright red paint on his receiver cabinet.

"I see the boy who is sweating at the anvil hammering out a crankshaft for an outboard motor boat. As he hammers and sweats, barely seeing the glowing iron, just the amount of his mind required is on the process, the rest of him is far, far away on the glistening bosom of some silver lake. There comes a rough, a hiss and then a steady purr, and he is away.

"Perchance a bobbed head may appear dimly outlined in the prow of the boat or perchance a Skinner Number 2 spoon hook be dropped off to troll in the wake to entice the wary pike. Who knows, who cares, except to know that youth glorious, invincible youth is being served?"

"The little flowers came through the ground
At Easter time, at Easter time;
They raised their heads and looked around
At happy Easter time.
And every pretty bud did say
"Good people, bless this holy day
For Christ is risen, the angels say
At happy Easter time."

"The pure white lily raised its cup
At Easter time, at Easter time
The crocus to the sky looked up
At happy Easter time
"We'll hear the song of Heaven," they say,
"It's glory shines on us today,
Oh, may it shine on us alway,
At holy Easter time."

"'Twas long and long, and long ago,
That Easter time, that Easter time
But still the pure white lilies blow
At happy Easter time.
And still each little flower doth say
"Good Christians, this is holy day
For Christ is risen," the angels say
At blessed Easter time."

The last of the special services for Lent will be those of Good Friday. We shall mark three of the hours when our Saviour hung on the cross with meditation and prayer commencing at noon and ending at 3 P. M. May all of our people attend the full service; others who cannot be present all the time will find convenient opportunity to come or to leave during the interval after each address. The service and addresses will be "The Seven Last Words of Christ Before His Crucifixion."

Underpass vs. Overpass
AT RIVER ROAD CROSSING

Respected Citizens of Palmyra:

It would seem that the problem of the Highway crossing the railroad at the River Road crossing at West Palmyra has assumed the character of a test to determine whether reason or folly will prevail in solving it.

On the one hand, we have some of the brightest minds arranged on the side of reason—Messrs. Harris and Kincaid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Messrs. Reeve and Williams of the New Jersey State Highway Commission, all striving to the best of their vast engineering knowledge and experience to solve this vexed question for our Community, without cost to the local government.

On the other hand, we have Mayor Wimer and a set of citizens of Palmyra proper, who have evidently resolved to reject any and all deductions based upon reason and experience.

At the hearing in the Independent Fire House on March 22nd, there was presented by Messrs. Harris and Kincaid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Messrs. Reeve and Williams of the New Jersey State Highway Commission, a very graphic demonstration of the two plans proposed; one a well thought out plan involving raising the railroad 12 feet and dropping the highway 5 feet. The other, a plan that would require a high Chinese Wall of earth 31 feet high, extending hundreds of feet at right angles to the railroad, necessitating the motorist coming from Camden to Palmyra on the River Road, ascending a 5% grade (66% greater than the standard adopted by the New Jersey State Highway) and holding his car on this grade until he can cross the traffic from the Bridge.

In addition, the motorists and buses will then travel 2.5 of a mile farther than they now do when going to Camden. All these matters were so graphically set forth by these technical gentlemen as to cause one to wonder why there should be one person in the whole town opposed to the under pass.

Mayor Wimer and his followers seem to have adopted as their slogan "No Chinese Wall through Palmyra to obstruct their vision."

It is self-evident that if either plan is adopted, the "obstruction to view" will be seen by Palmyra citizens, in nine cases out of ten, from Broad street east of Market street. If the railroad is elevated, the vision will be obstructed by about sixty square yards, as viewed parallel to Broad street; whereas, should the highway be elevated over the railroad, the obstruction to view would be at least 1500 square yards, across the end of the town, or 25 times greater. The advantage of the under pass is evident, and is doubtless the outcome of nature thought by technical minds, while the 31 foot high real Chinese Wall would remain a monument of folly for posterity to laugh at for many years to come.

First. The Mayor's over-pass will require the Palmyra motorist to travel 2.5 of a mile farther than he now does in journeying to Camden.

Second. It will require the motorist to stop his car on a 5% grade, when coming from Camden, start and pass the bridge traffic coming toward him, then flow into the westbound traffic on an upgrade curve, the most dangerous combination in highways.

Third. This gigantic dirt fill cannot be paved for two years, as it will have to settle, while the under-pass can be paved much earlier.

Fourth. If viewed from Broad street, about at Market street, the elevation of the railroad would eclipse the view to the extent of 60 square yards. If the highway was elevated, it would obstruct the view to the extent of at least 1500 square yards.

Fifth. Broad street below Orchard street would become a dead end street in case the over-pass was adopted, requiring those residing there to travel east to Orchard street, when motoring to Camden or Philadelphia.

Sixth. In the case of the over-pass, the properties on both sides would be damaged to probably the extent of $100,000 or more, which would be avoided by the under-pass, which loss of $100,000 or more may be assessed on the Borough, if proven in Court that the loss was occasioned by the action of the Borough Officials, in rejecting a plan that involved no loss.

Seventh. In case of the under-pass, the owners of the Schwartz Farm would give the ground to the State for $1.00. In the case of the over-pass, they would undoubtedly sue, and be entitled to large damages, as well as their neighbors on the south side of the railroad.

Eighth. The under-pass could be completed in decidedly less time than the over-pass. The under-pass will be the means of developing hundreds of acres of ground, converting it into homes and enterprises, increasing the tax receipts of Palmyra Borough greatly, while the over-pass would stop all development, causing not only claims for damages, but in years to come a tremendous loss in tax receipts to the Borough.

If this monstrosity (over-pass) is to be forced on us contrary to the judgment of the New Jersey State Highway Commission, ask to see a letter from Messrs. Remington & Vosbury, the Borough Engineers, wherein they endorse the over-pass, put Mayor Wimer and those favoring this folly on record, so that they cannot escape the odium and resentment of the public, should they by political means force the New Jersey State Highway Commission to construct this abomination.

Very respectfully,
CHARLES A. WRIGHT.

March 26, 1929.

N. B. Senator Powell, at the fire house meeting on March 22, assured us that if the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks were raised they would come down to grade at West Palmyra station.

FITZ FRENCH MAY RETURN TO MACK

Moorestown Star Seeks Reinstatement With Philadelphia Athletics

According to news reports from Fort Myers, Florida, Walter French, of Moorestown's famous House of French, is seeking to return to baseball and has applied to Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, for a chance to get back with his team.

"Fitz" startled the sporting world at the close of last year's season with the announcement that he had decided to leave baseball forever and go into business. He was placed on a voluntary retired list and left immediately after the close of the big league ball season for Chicago, where he has been connected with a large mail order house.

Although French's decision to leave baseball cost Mack considerable money, in view of the fact that the veteran manager was forced to purchase Homer Summa from the Cleveland Club at a rather fancy price to replace the Moorestown star, Connie has displayed keen interest in the return of "Fitz" and has notified him that he will be welcomed back to the fold.

Connie, in a statement to the press said, "Before we can do any business with French he must be reinstated by Commissioner Landis, and you know that takes a long time. I wired French and suggested that he apply for reinstatement. That is the only thing he can do and that is the only thing I can do."

It is understood that the famous High Commissioner of Baseball will consider the application and if he decides favorably, which he undoubtedly will, "Fitz," much to the delight of many Moorestown friends, will probably be back to Shibe Park within the next month.

BUSH'S TEAM LEADS IN BOWLINIG LEAGUE

With only four weeks to go Bush's team has again regained first place in the Bowling Tournament at the Camden City Club. The tournament started last January and either Bush, Lewis or Coe's team have occupied first place since the very beginning. Each team has about fifteen more games and the final winner will not be known until the close of the tournament.

At the end of last week the teams stood as follows:

		Won	Lost	P.C.
1	Bush	31	14	688
2	Coe	27	15	642
3	Lewis	24	15	615
4	Clark	25	17	595

14	Bartley	16	26	380
15	Yost	14	25	359
16	Groff	12	27	307

Ross Elliott has held the honor of bowling the three highest games up until last Friday when Howard Coe turned in three games of 241, 214 and 223, a total of 668. Coe is still leading the tournament with the highest individual average.

Walter Moyer and Gene Merwine have bolted the high single game pace with a game of 245, but this probably will not stand very long with every one shooting at it every night.

PALMYRA SPORTSMEN READY FOR BASEBALL

Four promising right hand pitchers are included in a squad of fifteen future greats who will make up the cast of the Palmyra Sportsmen's Club this season. The team will make a bid for laurels in the independent ranks of South Jersey and already has several games listed with home teams in the vicinity.

Captain Jack Windish, "Hank" Latol, Tony Libert and Fichter Morris will serve on the slab staff. The balance of the club is comprised of Ray Zink, Charley Kepner, Dauns Bates, "B" Peterson, John Davis "Buck" Jones, Howard Davis, Lew Prisco, Ted Sack, Tony Prisco and Joe Sack.

Eddie Miller, manager, is booking traveling games for the team and would like to arrange dates with any team with players [illegible] from 16 to 19 years old. He resides at 61 East Charles street, Palmyra, and can be reached by phoning Riverton 957.

SPLENDID PROGRAMS AT WALT WHITMAN

Victor Recording Artists Feature Vaudeville Program

Beginning Thursday of this week and continuing until Saturday the program offered at the Walt Whitman Theatre promises to be another important event of the theatrical season.

Heading the vaudeville section of the program will be one of the finest singing ensembles now before the public. The "Five Alpine Troubadours," Victor recording artists, will appear in vaudeville's greatest song production "An Alpine Romance," a beautifully staged and elaborately costumed singing presentation that has enjoyed great success wherever it has been shown.

Brady and Mahoney in "The Landlord and the Lawyer" make up the comedy feature of this all-star program. These two boys offer a real classic of humor.

Bud, Min and Bruce are a trio of funmakers who will be sure to please everybody in a musical comedy offering entitled "Big Boys and Company."

Tom Waters, star of many big Broadway successes in years gone by, will be present with a brand new line of comedy and some familiar song, dance and piano impressions. This outstanding performer is known to showgoers as "The Mayor of Laughland."

The feature photoplay for this occasion brings the year's big dramatic success, "Fugitives," a real cinema triumph, with Madge Bellamy, as the star.

ED WYNN COMING TO PHILADELPHIA

Ed Wynn, known the world over as "The Perfect Fool," and who has made countless Philadelphians laugh at his cleverly nonsensical antics, is being presented at the Gilbert Theatre in Philadelphia for a limited engagement, beginning Monday night, April 1st, by George White, famous producer of the "Scandals." "Manhattan Mary" comes direct and intact from a run of five months at the Cohan Grand Opera House, Chicago, and three months in Boston.

Ed Wynn has never before been afforded the opportunity for comicry that is given him in this musical comedy. He plays the role of Cricketa, a waiter in a Greenwich Village restaurant and in a Broadway night club, who, through an unusually funny chain of circumstances, becomes the leader of the Hudson Dusters, a gang from the New York underworld.

The production is one typical of George White, bursting in the extreme. One scene shows a golden stairway reaching almost to the fly gallery, each step holding a beautiful girl. It is said to be the largest piece of movable stage equipment ever constructed.

An excellent cast supports Ed Wynn, among them are Doree Leslie, Nick Long Jr. Webb Sisters, George Mayo, George Dell, Jack Motte, Harry B. Ofeldice, Vada Alexander, Josephine Duffy, Embassy Boys, Andrew George and others. Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday during this engagement.

PUBLIC SERVICE

SPORTSMEN'S CLUB

The Sportsmen's Club of Palmyra held their regular weekly meeting last Thursday evening and elected new officers as follows: John Kavanaugh, president; John Windish, vice-president; Charles Repner, treasurer; Paul Land, secretary. Publicity Agents, Paul Land and Theodore Sack.

The retiring officers served very satisfactorily during their term.

The second dance frolic will be the feature of the evening of April 13. All are welcome.

The boys turned out fine last week-end for baseball practice and it is their hope to have a snappy team this season. Watch for the opening game. Your support means much!

LEGION MEETING

Matters of vital importance will be discussed at the next regular monthly meeting of Frederick M. Rodgers Post No. 156, American Legion, to be held next Tuesday evening, April 2. A full attendance is expected.

The meeting will be made as short as possible as the entertainment committee has prepared the most elaborate program of entertainment ever to be given at this Post.

On April 24 a card party under the combined auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary and Post will be given at the Legion home. The proceeds will be donated to the Rehabilitation Committee of the Legion. Many beautiful prizes will be awarded.

BOROUGH OF RIVERTON 1928 Audit

The Honorable Mayor and Members of the Borough Council
Riverton, N. J.

Gentlemen:

We report that we have audited the financial books and accounts of the

BOROUGH of RIVERTON

for the year ended December 31, 1928, and submit herein the statements and exhibits shown in the table of contents which exhibit the financial condition of the Borough as of that date.

The accounts were found to be correct and in the proper form, subject to the following comments:

Cash and Bank Accounts: The bank records were compared with cash book entries and paid checks with recorded disbursements. All vouchers were found to be properly approved by the Mayor and the Borough Clerk in accordance with the provisions of Article XIV of Chapter 152 P. L. 1917.

As of December 31, 1928, the cash accounts of the Collector and Treasurer were reconciled with the bank balances which were confirmed to us directly by the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Co.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Deficit Tax Revenue—1928	$570.99
" 1927	327.18
" Dog Tax Account	1.27
Total deficits for the year 1929 Budget	$899.44
Deficit Tax Revenue—1927	$327.18

In accordance with Statute requirement it will now be necessary for you to insert the above mentioned deficit that is not provided for in the annual budget as an appropriation and raise the amount by taxation.

Tax Sale: While a tax sale has been held in 1928, as required by law, the current taxes on the municipal liens have not been added to the original sale as required.

We shall be pleased to assist you to the fullest extent in connection with the recommendations of this report.

Acknowledgement: In the course of our audit we received the complete cooperation of all the officials of the Borough and we greatly appreciate the courtesies extended to us.

Certification: It is hereby certified that to the best of our knowledge and belief the matters reported are true and correct statements of the financial condition of the Borough of Riverton, in the County of Burlington, for the year 1928, as shown by the books and records of the said Borough submitted to me, supplemented by personal inquiry and investigation.

Very truly yours,

WILKINS, ROCKEY & CO.,
William H. Wilkins,
Registered Municipal Accountant (N. J.)

The TOWN DOCTOR

(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)

Selling a Town is Like Selling Anything Else

If you are a thinking resident of the place where you live, you desire that the world get sold on your community.

Before you can get sold on it yourself and before you can sell it to others to anywhere near maximum degree, there is a certain amount of study and analysis necessary. That is, it is necessary if known ethics of good business are adhered to. Sad but true, however, this is altogether too seldom done in things civic.

The first question to be answered is: Is there a market, a demand for it?

The demand for good live, wide-awake communities greatly exceeds the supply. Every day people are asking, "Where is there a good town in which to locate" for any one of a thousand reasons. Twenty per cent of your motor traffic is in the market for or can be sold a new location. Men at the heads of large industrial concerns, people in all walks of life, in fact everyone is looking for good towns, good communities.

Few people realize the extent to which industry and business go to find good towns. There are in Chicago alone dozens of corporations, concerns and firms who have special departments to do nothing else but find out if a community is suitable for the purpose they have in mind. With some it is for location of a branch factory employing hundreds, others for a distributing point requiring twelve to fifty, others for place of residence for the representative and family who handles the company business in that area, and there are others who, looking into the future, just want to know.

And this is your opportunity IF your community is in position to take advantage of it.

The second question: "Is your community marketable, suitable for sale, as it?"

To make it marketable, the bugs must be eliminated, the monkey wrenches fished out of the machinery, so that when sold, it will stay sold.

What business man is there that doesn't know what happens to any concern that places a product or service in the hands of the American public that when sold, doesn't stay sold? Every thinking man knows that it spells disaster but in the face of that very knowledge, they expect their town to "go over" with the same American public, without eliminating those things that are known to provoke dissatisfaction, create loss of interest, and unsell the customer.

The first bug in the machinery of most communities is that of "contemptuous familiarity." You walk down the street and look at hundreds of things that repel other people but you do not see them. You go to your office and there are things that others abhor, but you fail to recognize them because you are so familiar with them. At the same time you, below you, and on every side of you, there are acres of diamonds that have never been mined. It is a matter of being so close to the picture that you can't see the frame.

Look around you, put yourself in the position of a stranger and look for the things that would unsell you. See your community as others see it—think about it, talk to your neighbor about it and then do something to eliminate those things that repel and "get behind and push" those things that invite.

LINGERIE AND LINES OF FIGURE

Very consistently have designers planned their spring showings of lingerie so that there may be no conflict between undergarments and those worn over them. The form-fitting proclivities of new frocks especially evening gowns demand that there be no fullness to spoil the charm of their snugness, and, pronto, the clinging princess effect appears in lingerie patterns.

To carry communication between the Ferdson plant of the Ford Motor Company and the outside world, 100 telephone lines extend from the switchboard of the new Ford administration building and the Detroit central exchange.
