The Rev. Henry W. Armstrong will officiate next Sunday at Trinity Church, Academy street, Trenton, and will remain in charge of that parish for the rest of the summer. He may be addressed at 408 West State street. Telephone 3321A, Trenton.

A carnival will be held on the lawn adjoining Christ Church on Parry avenue from 4 until 11 o'clock, Saturday afternoon and evening, July 8. The workers in the parish are bending every effort to make this event a great success. They hope to clear at least fifty dollars. Mrs. J. Morris Thompson is chairman of the committee in charge. An automobile will be at the service of the people at 10c for a ride to Riverton and return.

On Saturday, July 8th, from 10 until 10, a "Lawn Carnival" will be given for the benefit of Christ Church, Palmyra, the Rev. Henry W. Armstrong, rector, on their large lawn on Parry avenue. The idea is much like the popular "Block Carnival" given in Philadelphia in aid of the various outing funds. The lawn will be lighted with Japanese lanterns and ice cream and cake served. In addition, there will be various novelties offered for sale at small booths—ice cream cones, lemonade, home-made cake and candy, etc.

Field Club Notes

On Saturday The Field Club traveled to Delair and brought home another Delaware River League victory by the score of 12 to 1.

Delair had their best team on the field with Bodine in the box, but the boys had come down with the intention of taking the game home with them and started after Jack in the very first inning and never let up on him until they had given him the worst licking he had received this year and driving him from the rubber in the seventh, our old friend Bell taking his place on the mound.

The features of the game were the pitching of Holt and the batting of the boys.

Base Hits.

Reeves and Hardy led in the attack on Bodine. Reeves getting four hits and Hardy three.

The visitors were out in force on Saturday, being the largest crowd ever taken away with the team.

Holt pitched one of the prettiest games of his career, allowing but two hits and striking out ten men.

The Rooters Club helped to entertain the crowd by some fine selections of music sandwiched between the innings.

Palmyra has now a clear hold on second place and only one game behind the leaders.

The rooters were a big encouragement to the boys as was shown by the fast game played. That's the spirit, keep it up.

Tuesday's Game.

On the glorious Fourth, The Field Club received the most unexpected defeat of the season, being shut out by the visitors by the score of 5 to 0.

The boys got hit the Riverton team 4 to 1 and yet could not score a run, while Riverton made every hit and error count. Too much credit can not be given for the game that Hercher pitched, as his work in the pinches deserves great praise.

While Palmyra did not play up to their usual form, they must not be criticized too harshly for losing the game, as Riverton put the best team on the field they have had this season, and after scoring those three runs in the first inning they played with renewed confidence and determination to win, making not an error during the entire game. On the other hand Palmyra was fighting an uphill battle and after the fourth inning, when Hardy was knocked out by a pitched ball and had to retire from the game, seemed to lose the spirit and dash which usually plays an important part in their victory.

Without taking any credit from the victory of Riverton over Palmyra, the game will be protested on an unfortunate accident that happened in the seventh, which is entirely against the rules of the National agreement and under which rules the League is playing. Therefore we cannot carry this up as a defeat in the Palmyra standing, until after the decision of the president which will be given out at the next meeting of the League.

Next Saturday Alpha Club, of Camden. Game called 3.30 p. m. Admission 15c.

Wilson League in Palmyra

The Woodrow H. Wilson League of Palmyra, Riverton and vicinity has been organized with its objective, the helping to place the present Government of our State in the Presidential Chair of the Nation.

Among the organizers are William F. Morgan, Wilbur H. Harmon, Julius A. Fisher, Ralph Gibson, W. S. C. Roray and William McConnell.

A week's time entered the office at the Palmyra station Thursday morning, between 6 and 7 o'clock, while the agent, Clarence Shreve, was at breakfast, broke open a money drawer and got away with $5.00.

Christ Church, Palmyra

The Rev. Henry W. Armstrong, rector Sunday, July 9, fourth Sunday after Trinity.

Services will be in charge of Samuel Evans, of the General Theological Seminary, New York.

Morning prayer and address, 11 a. m. Sunday School, 3 p. m.

Evening prayer and address, 8 p. m.

(Continued from 2nd page, 1st column) on the defense. Together with the great fielding game they played the string out on the bases, taking advantage of every mis-accident, and with one exception played everything safe, after we practically had them defeated in the first inning.

It was great and the defeat administered to our greatest rivals, after having been battered around by Delair and Riverside was more gratifying than it is possible to express in words.

Hardy met with a very painful accident by being hit while at the bat, but we are glad to know from latest reports that he was not seriously hurt and will be back in the game again in two or three weeks.

This Saturday we play Bellevue at 3.30 p. m.

The Game as Seen by an Onlooker.

Riverton was too much for Riverton. Fred played the game of his life. Keep it up, old top.

The ump was off on everything.

Howard was off on the mound.

Dan took everything coming his way.

Keep the good work up. See, we got one, and now for the second.

Lynch was on the job. He started the firework—he's not too old yet.

Steele, good work, old boy.

Ed Williams said he lost 50 lbs.—the sun was too hot.

Come out on Saturday, the game starts at 3.30.

FAN.

You can do much to avoid litigation over the settlement of our estate by making a will, drawn in clear language and conforming to law, and by appointing The Burlington County Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Moorestown, N. J., your executor and trustee.

The Suffering Servant of Jehovah.

Isa. 53:1-11:12.

Golden Text—The Lord hath laid upon him the iniquity of us all.

Isa. 53:6.

(1) Verse 1—Who was the "servant" of whom Isaiah speaks?

(2) What is it to be a servant of God, and how does Jesus fulfill such a position?

(3) In how many respects is Jesus "exalted, extolled, and very high?"

(4) Verses 14-15—Notwithstanding the Old Testament prophecies concerning the suffering Messiah was there a single person who was not "astonished" at his crucifixion?

(5) Why were all the people of God including his apostles "astonished," and disappointed, at the crucifixion of Jesus?

(6) What has Jesus "sprinkled" the nations with?

(7) What proportion of the kings or the presidents of the nations look to and honor Jesus as the Saviour of the world?

(8) Verses 11:1—How many to-day believe this "report" of the suffering son of God?

(9) Why have so many refused to believe this "report"?

(10) What relation do those whom God has delivered from their sins and their sorrowful fears, bear to this "report"?

(11) Verses 2-3—What would have been the result to God's cause, if the world's redeemer had belonged to a kindly home instead of a carpenter's?

(12) What would have been the difference in the results if Jesus had been a great general, a legislator, or merchant prince?

(13) What class of men have despised and rejected Jesus?

(14) Did God want Jesus to be "a man of sorrows"?

(15) Verses 4-9—How has Jesus borne our griefs and sorrows?

(16) Did God plan to have the Jews reject Jesus and to crucify him?

(17) Could Jesus have borne our griefs and saved our souls if the Jews had accepted him?

(18) When the prophet says "We did esteem him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted" were the Jews or others right or wrong in so thinking?

(19) Was God at any time angry with Jesus, or did he ever punish him?

(20) In what way did Jesus bear all the cruel pains and the physical suffering inflicted on him by the Jews for our sakes?

(21) Suppose the Jews had yielded their hearts to the loving invitation of Jesus, and had accepted his cause as his own? What would have been the probable result upon the salvation of the world? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(22) Why did the Jews bring about the crucifixion of Jesus?

(23) Verses 10-12—What are some of the personal blessings which come to us through the death of Jesus?

(24) What are some of the national blessings which we enjoy through the death of Jesus?

Manasseh's Wickedness and Penitence. 2 Chron. xxxiii:1-20.

Golden Text—Cease to do evil; learn to do well. Isa. i:16-17.

(1) Verses 1-2—Whose son was Manasseh and what was the character of his father?

(2) When the son of a good father becomes a bad man how do you account for it?

(3) To what extent may good parents be assured that their children will also be good?

(4) What scriptural or philosophical ground is there for the belief that children may be so trained that they will certainly be Christians?

(5) Upon which depends most the character of children, the father or the mother?

(6) Verses 3-5—In what particular respect did Manasseh sin against God?

(7) That land was rife with idolatry, and God made strife laws against it; why did he do so?

(8) What were in those days the grave evils of idolatry, and how did they affect the people?

(9) What are the results of present day idolatrous habits?

The Prayer of a Horse.

The following appeal for the horse to be found in almost every stable in New York City. It is from the pen of F. H. Bugher, first deputy police commissioner of the metropolis:
To Thee, my Master, I offer my Prayer:
Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort.
Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Let me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat, or kick me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a clear understanding you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.
Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that, you know, is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail.
And, finally, O my master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner to be slowly tortured and starved to death; but do, to my master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen.

Moorestown was visited by a serious fire supposed incendiary origin Tuesday destroyed the William Busby barn, now owned by J. Clement Hopkins, where the flames started, a big barn and warehouse, also belonging to Hopkins, the automobile garage of Dr. George I. McKelvy, the barn, carriage house and ice cream manufactory of R. M. Haas. The combined loss is placed at $12,000. All the burned buildings were in the heart of the town. Aid was asked from the Mount Holly firemen but the request was later withdrawn as their services were not needed. The fire broke out about 8.30 in the morning and was first discovered by Albert Warner, employed at the Haas bakery. Mrs. Samuel K. Robbins assisted in sounding an alarm by ringing a large dinner bell from the porch of the Robbins residence which was close to the fire.

No Objection to Sewers.

There being no protests made the Borough Council last night passed the ordinance providing for the construction of sewers on Seventh street, Midway, Eighth street, Highway and Main street. Work will be started as soon as possible in order to get it finished before freezing weather.

The highway committee reported that all the streets had been scraped and the weeds removed. An improved iron road scraper had been purchased at a cost of $68. Some work had been done on the new part of Cinnaminson street. The Mayor said he was pleased to pass on the highway committee the many commendatory remarks he had heard, particularly on the Fourth of July, about the tidy appearance of the streets.

The sewer committee reported that the stoppage in the outlet of the Main street sewer had been located in a bend in the pipe, and was authorized to take such measures as would permanently remedy the trouble.

A communication was received complimentary of the sanitary condition of the stable at First and Penn streets. Received and referred to the Board of Health with a request that they take action to abate the nuisance.

The following letter from the State Charities Aid and Prison Reform Association of New Jersey relative to the appointment of an overseer of the poor was received and filed:

Gentlemen:—Under a law passed April 21st, 1911, it becomes the duty of your Board at its next annual meeting to appoint for a term of five years an Overseer of the Poor in the Borough of Riverton. In the exercise of this duty, this Association desires to call to your notice and ask that they be given the careful attention their importance demands.

Under the new law the Overseer of the Poor may commit the poor to an almshouse or may grant relief to them in their homes. Commitments may be made directly on his order.

The new Settlement Law is based upon a principle, that the community, without public or private relief, is the duty of the Overseer to investigate the matter of settlement. In the case of a settlement, the Overseer must ascertain where the legal settlement is and transfer the person or the cost of maintenance to the community in which he or she has a legal settlement.

The Overseer is required to keep a careful record of his work including in particular, data concerning each person within his jurisdiction. It is required to investigate the financial resources of applicants for relief. In connection with this he may transfer the cost of relief from the community to parents, grandparents or children where appropriate. In such cases he is able to give the necessary relief. In this, as in most of the duties imposed upon him by law, his judgment, tact and honesty become very important factors.

It is his duty to enforce responsibility of husbands and wives, being directly charged with the duty of looking after the welfare of the family, and not deserting parents, or bringing them before the court and having them placed under a court order for the support of their dependents. In such cases the Overseer collects and pays out the amounts received under the order of the court.

He is directly charged with the duty of finding employment for all applicants for relief who may be able to help themselves. Where work is provided and the applicant, being able, refuses to perform it, the Overseer becomes the agent by which such person or persons may be declared vagrants and committed to the jail or workhouse.

In all his work he is largely charged by the law to give proper protection to widows and children, particularly in the selling of estates, collection and distribution of insurance money, etc.

In order that the Overseer may more intelligently and carefully discharge his duties he is required to co-operate with the incorporated and private charitable society operating within his jurisdiction. He must attend to the burial of those who die without sufficient means to defray their funeral expenses.

In the case of all dependent children he must conduct the Board of Child Guardians. In the case of an alien it is his duty to call such case to the attention of the Department of Immigration for transportation, if said alien has been in this country less than three years.

The foregoing sufficiently outlines the duties of the Overseer of the Poor to indicate the importance of the office. The interests of your community and of the State demand that these duties shall be efficiently, faithfully and honestly discharged. The office demands a man of executive ability, tact, a knowledge of the poor, their weaknesses and needs, one acquainted with the causes of pauperism and the means for its prevention; a man with sufficient time to attend to his work promptly and thoroughly; a man of known integrity and who, in the

The weather "man" smiled upon the combination picnic of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools, which was held at Burlington Island on Thursday, and gave them a fair day with the thermometer registering several degrees cooler than it has been for several days. The sports were participated in by the members from all the schools, and except for Stanley Green breaking his finger and Arthur Barling being overcome with the heat, both while playing ball, the affair was one which was perfectly enjoyed.

The body of Edward Beck, who, with John H. Kline, north of Philadelphia, were drowned off the water works last Sunday, was found on the flats near that place on Tuesday by Herbert Hemple and another lad who were canoeing. They fastened a rope to the body and brought it ashore, notifying Chief of Police Mattis, who sent J. Coroner Lechner. The Coroner arrived about half an hour and ordered the body to the morgue, where it was later claimed by the lad's father. Kline's body has not been recovered.

The lawn carnival at Christ Church, Palmyra, last Saturday was a great success in every way. Long strings of Japanese and glass lanterns stretched across the large lawn making a very attractive decoration as well as affording light for the tables, at which were served ice cream and cake. A large punch bowl of lemonade, a very attractive candy table and the ice cream cones were well patronized by both old and young, while inside the parish house was a large table of home-made cakes. An attraction which is rather a new idea in Palmyra was the automobiles which ran from the parish house to Five Points and return, which was made possible by the kindness of Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Puch, the former having his car there both afternoon and evening and the latter running his car the entire evening. Owing to the success of this carnival, another will probably be held the latter part of August.

Field Club Notes.

Last Saturday The Field Club defeated the strong Alpha Club, of Camden, by the score of 10 to 7. The game was one of the most freakish of the season, being made up of everything that composes the national game. There were errors of commission and omission, spectacular plays, good pitching and bad pitching and to end it all we had an old-time batting rally in the eighth, scoring six runs and winning the game. In excuse for the playing of the boys we would say that the team was minus the services of Hardy, Gibbons and Kell, making an entire switch in the line up, and under the circumstances the boys fought hard to win as was proven by their rally in the eighth. The visitors put up a good game in the field and their fast work kept the score down.

This week with the whole team back in the field Palmyra will travel to Riverside and stack up against the leaders in a League game. As Riverside has not lost a game and Palmyra needs this game to keep up with the leaders who may have a battle royal will be the result. The team will travel to Riverside on the 230 p. m. trolley and it is hoped that a large following of rooters will be with us to cheer the team to victory.

On next Tuesday evening, July 18th, The Field Club will play its first twilight game with the Old Fellows of Palmyra. Game called at 8:30, admission 10c.

Base Hits.

Harry Kemmerle played a nice game at the initial sack, his work saving a good many bad throws.

Leithman had a poor day in the field, but his hit in the eighth scored the first two runs in the rally.

Reeves had a 1000 per cent. at the bat, having a hit, sacrifice base on ball and being hit.

All off for Riverside and keep rooting. ROOTER.

Baptist Church Notes.

The church notices for the coming week are as follows:

Next Lord's Day:

At 9:30 a. m. the regular session of the B. I. School. This school has the following departments and organized classes—cradle roll department, primary department and minor or normal department.

As well as the home department for the shut-ins, the Thijlbar Baraca Class for young men, the Philathea Class for young women, the Junior Baraca Class and the organized mixed class. This school invites all who are not members of other schools to come next Sunday and join.

At 10:45 a. m. the regular service of worship, at which time Pastor Steinmetz will preach.

At 7 p. m. twilight service. This service lasts but one hour starting at 7 and closing at 8. This is a meeting enjoyed by all and is growing more popular every summer. At this time there is special congregational singing under the leadership of the pastor and the young ladies choir composed of about twenty voices, the young ladies quartette, and the short inspiring talks given by different speakers. Deacon William Cooper will be the speaker next Sunday night.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the regular prayer service of the church to which all are invited.

Pastor and people say "Come with us and we will do the good."

Last Friday night Cinnaminson Lodge I. O. O. F. had the honor of entertaining Grand Master Robbins and staff. This official visit was largely due to witness the work of D. D. G. M. MacCrossin's installation team. The addresses by the grand officers were both interesting and instructive, highly complimenting the efficiency of the D. D. G. M. and staff.

Retiring Past Grand Bowler was presented with a Past Grand's regalia by the Grand Master for faithful service to the Order. The retiring N. G. H. M. Davidson was also the recipient of a beautiful bouquet from the brothers. P. G. C. W. Wood's address was full of humor and enjoyed by all. Bridge-oro and Amity Lodge of Merchantville were well represented.

On Saturday night the installation of a degreecamp journeyed to Merchantville where they installed the officer of Amity Lodge and conferred the second degree on a candidate.

SCAPEGOAT

By ALBERT TUCKER KENTON

There is a body of troops in France called the foreign legion. It is composed of men of all nationalities, most of them fugitives from justice. That a man is in it is prima facie evidence that he has an object for losing himself to the rest of the world.

A soldier in the foreign legion conspicuous for his refined appearance passed under the name of Franz Ludvig. He would not admit the country from which he hailed, and since he spoke several languages equally well it was impossible for any one to fix upon the point of his activity.

This is the story of the so-called Franz Ludvig:

His real name was Count Joseph Zasky. He had been honored by the autocrat of Russia as the crown prince of his native land. The prince and he rode together, hunted together—in short, all their amusements were in common. The count was engaged to marry the Baroness Sophia, daughter of a prominent member of the sovereign's household.

The crown prince was possessed by a passion for gambling. He did not attend the public gambling places, but he played in his own palace or wherever he was invited. One afternoon he was playing in the home of a nobleman where a house party had been invited to meet him. The prince was playing with bad luck and was drinking heavily. Several of the guests were also under the influence of liquor. Count Zasky was present, and, fearing that something would occur to create a scandal, begged his royal highness to retire from the game. The prince refused, and the game went on. The excitement increased, both with the increase of stakes and spirits consumed. But now the prince was winning.

"These cards are marked," suddenly shouted one of the party. "There are little protruberances on their backs."

"If you can feel them," said Zasky, "you must have cut down the skin of one of your fingers for the purpose. And if you have done this, you have introduced the cards into the game."

Amid a hubbub the cards were examined and were found to have been made for the purpose of swindling. Then Zasky said:

"All show the tips of your fingers."

Every man present made the display except the crown prince. His expression betrayed him, but his tongue came to his defense.

"Gentlemen," he said, "do you ask the help apparent to the throne to exonerate himself from cheating at cards?"

Zasky was dumfounded. There was a silence. Then the party arose from the table and separated.

The story got out, and the privy council was convened to consider what action should be taken. Some way of exonerating the prince must be devised. The people were loyal to the crown, but it would never do for one who must soon sit upon the throne to appear before the people as a user of marked cards. The council assembled and, summoning all the best wits of the empire, they discussed the matter. The prince's aide, who had been of the gambling party, examined them separately.

When Count Zasky was examined one of the first questions asked was this:

"How did you know that gamblers using such cards as were used on this occasion were the tips of their fingers to make them sensitive to the touch?"

"I knew it," he answered, "because I knew of it as I have heard."

"You were the person who announced the fact that pared finger tips with these cards to the party, were you not?"

"And called upon the others, including his royal highness, to show their fingers?"

"I did."

The council after examining the witnesses continued its deliberations in secret and broke up without giving out any information as to its conclusions. But the morning Zasky's name was blushed from the court, and the people breathed freely once more that their prospective ruler had been vindicated.

One morning the soldier in the foreign legion wrote a communication to the president of France. At the same time the president received a call from a member of the diplomatic corps. The result of the communication and the visit was the forwarding of discharge papers to Private Franz Ludvig, and he left the corps with the congratulations of his comrades.

"What does it mean?" asked his captain.

"Have you not heard that the crown prince of — is dead?"

"Yes. It is given out that he died of an aneurism, but it has been said that he committed suicide after a debauch. But what has that to do with your discharge?"

"It has this to do with it: The crown prince will not be a sovereign. He will be nothing, at least on earth. Therefore a cloud resting on me has been removed. I shall go to the capital and receive an important appointment."

"Well?"

"That's all."

Count Zasky's prophecy was verified. He returned to the capital, was appointed as he predicted and married the Baroness Sophia.

Raising a False Issue.

"A story well known to a large part of the generation is about the 'umbrella case.' A man was charged with stealing an umbrella, and a number of witnesses went into the box to testify to the offense. The counsel for the defendant noted that each witness carried an umbrella the time of year was midsummer, which explains the necessity for these impediments. As a matter of fact, the prisoner had no defense to make. The barrister, throwing on the jury, exclaimed: 'Gentlemen, the jury, did you not notice that each of the witnesses carried an umbrella into the box? Why is this, gentlemen? It is done in order to infect your minds with the idea of an umbrella, to prejudice the prisoner in your eyes, to raise a false issue, and I appeal to you to signify your detection of this concerted action by bringing in a verdict of not guilty.' The judge, who imagined that little attention would be paid to such a plea, took little time and low pains to sum up the case. The jury nevertheless brought in a verdict in accordance with the resourceful barrister's wishes.—London News.

The Mayor raised his cane and struck the accuser. St. Clair attempted to strike back, but the others interfered. At that time in the south such an affair must be settled under the rule of duello. The accusation against Le Moyne could only be wiped out in blood. He knew that it could not be wiped out at all. There was not one of his guests but would believe the word of St. Clair in preference to his own.

The Turkish Soldier's Fatalism.
The lethargy of mind which is the mental habit of the Turkish soldier—the personal expression of fatalism—is a most valuable quality in its way, for it means that its possessor is always cool and collected, grumbles little and has marvellous endurance. It is alien to all forms of panic, just as it is alien to a conspicuous clan. If the Turkish soldier were given very fast, he never goes very slow. Except by the best trained or most dashing troops he is

Boats Finish Close in Fast Race.

The third regatta of the season, sailed Saturday afternoon, was closely contested in both classes, one-designers and cruisers. The difference between the winners and those getting second place in both classes was less than a minute.

The speedy one-design fleet, with five entries, got away at 3:42 followed by the cruiser at 3:47. The first time over the course, in a distance of three miles, Commodore Reese's first cruiser, Tekuma, had overcome the five minutes difference in starting time, and passed the buoy at the pier with No. 7, which was leading the one design fleet. Three boats of this fleet finished within two minutes, the fastest boat in this class covering the nine-mile course in two seconds less than an hour. Commodore Reese's Tekuma made it in 57 minutes and 30 seconds.

The Tekuma had a slight advantage in the start which was maintained throughout the race, finishing twenty seconds ahead of the Kid, her only rival. Owing to the failure of the lucky wind she was passing the buoy at the pier the first time around, she all but lost her lead to the Kid, but once under way again she soon picked up the distance lost and led over the balance of the course. The Tekuma, however, will probably lose to the Kid on time allowance. This cannot be determined until the next race as the time allowance is based on the performance of the boats in the last three races, and since the last race the Kid has had some alterations made and her sail changed.

On July 29 the crickets and larks, of the Beverly Yacht Club, will race here by invitation. Blair Ferguson and his cat boat, Lelia, have also been invited. If he accepts it will give Lee Cook a chance to race his time-tried Sea Gull, which has not been able to enter the lists this year for the want of an opponent, the Sea Gull being the only boat of her class in Riverton waters.

The Crystal of Fate.

The Crystal of Fate the spray does hurt
Of a magical fountain tree
Which springs from the strand of No
Man's Land

That borders a sombre sea.
Straight as a die, now low, now high,
Dances that peerily ball.

For never the crystal swerves or sways,
But ever plays as the fountain plays,
It leaps with the water through nights
And days

And falls with the fountain's fall,
And fate facts, for our weal or woe,
Which lurk on the horizon's rim,
Of fortunes bright, or blacker than night,
Reflect in that crystal dim.

Haste! Let us read in Fortune's glass
What have we got to fear?
The skies grow darker, The light falls
Late,

And the chance will pass; Oh! wait
Love wait!
Look not! Look not! on the terrible,
Late

That may lie in the fairy sphere.

Are You a Member of the R. A. A.?

You undoubtedly enjoy the base ball games, perhaps an ardent rooter for the home team, always contributing liberally at each game.

But are you a member of the Association with a receipt to date due?

Under existing circumstances, with no enclosed grounds, the collections will not cover our expenses. It is the support that comes from our loyal members that keeps our finances healthy.

It is not a case of "What do I get out of it," but shall I do my part toward maintaining as good a demonstration as possible of our grand National game.

A member, one that you are in good standing. If not a member, your name accompanied with $1 and one month's dues of 25c, will prove you one of the Loyal Rooters of Riverton.

John Buchanan, an employee on the team of the Lippincott near Clinton, has been committed to the county jail to await the result of injuries he inflicted on Dadd Kupka, a Polack, whom Buchanan shot for bathing in a pond of the Lippincott place last week. Buchanan claims that he did not intend to hit Kupka but to shoot over his head. The load of buckshot, however, struck the boy and he is said to be in a precarious condition at Cooper hospital, Camden where he was taken after the shooting occurred. With Kupka was Henry Norzky, who was also struck by some of the shot, but his injuries are said to be slight.

Riverton A. A. Notes.

By defeating Delair last Saturday we have at last gotten out of the cellar position in the Delaware River League and if we can keep improving in the future as rapidly as we have in the last three games played we will soon be giving the leaders, Riverside, a battle for first place, but they have a great handicap on us, by having won all of their games to date excepting one in a very comfortable position.

The game last Saturday went eleven innings owing to errors by Steele and Williams in the first and third innings allowing Delair to score two runs, which tied the score. Although we won by the score of 3 to 2, the game should have been won by 1 to 0, leaving out the errors, but unfortunately they will creep in every once in a while. Hercher pitched a great game, allowing three hits and striking out ten of the opposing batsmen, and together with Keating, who caught his first game for Riverton since he split his finger in a game on the 4th of July two years ago, seemed to have the Delair team entirely at their mercy. Keating made a very good impression on the rosters and we hope that he will put up as classy a game in the future and thus gain for himself a permanent position on the team. In the tenth inning, through errors of Bell, we felt as though victory was coming our way, but they tightened up and would not allow us to score a run, but on coming to bat in the eleventh inning we scored the winning run with but one out, in this manner: Lynch hit for two bases, Smith trying to sacrifice, hit to Rodine and Lynch was forced at third base, Krough hit a line drive to deep center for two bases, sending Smith to third base, and Keating after feeling off several sets a high fly to left field, which enabled Smith to catch the winning run. With the exception of the errors, this has been one of the best played games on our grounds this year and the playing of Friel, who by the way seems to improve every game, was on the sensational order, accepting three put-outs and having five assists, one of which was a great play on Bradley, a left hand batter and very speedy on his feet. Bradley knocked a very hard and swift grounder between third and short which Friel was only able to touch with his left hand, stopping same, but the ball shot out of his glove towards second base, he recovered it in time to catch the runner at the bag, and the applause which went up was well deserved.

This Saturday we will have as our opponents one of the strongest traveling teams in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Electric. This team has quite a reputation thus far this season, having defeated the New York Edison team, which is one of the best semi-professional teams in the great metropolis, twice at dated Southwick and was only defeated by one run at Atlantic City on the Fourth of July. They have also defeated the Gloucester team, so you can readily appreciate they come to Riverton with a big reputation, and we hope that a big crowd will be on hand to give them a good send-off, also encourage the boys to victory. Friel formerly played with the Philadelphia Electric's, so judging from the game that he is playing, we will be up against a team well worthy a foe.

On Saturday, July 29th, we will journey to Riverside for the third game of the series and we hope to be able to put up a better article of ball than we have in the previous games.

Our collections have not been in proportion to the crowds attending our games, and we hope that the patrons will bear this in mind and remember that it takes quite a lot of the financial end to carry a ball team, and more especially will this Saturday, when we have the Philadelphia Electric's with us. Do not forget this when the boys come around with the cap, and put in a good stipend to help along the cause.

Feeling Her Husband.

That there are more ways than one of "killing a cat" is a well known fact, but the newest of ways has been evolved from the fertile brain of a Germantown woman who is blessed with a stinky husband. This husband is generous enough in one sense of the word. His wife may have the best attire the stores afford charged to his account, but she may handle no money. Women, in this man's opinion, know nothing of the value of a dollar. On leaving for his office in the morning he gives her goodby and thrusts a quarrel's worth of toilet tickets into her hand.

Now mindy goes shopping, buys a few necessities and a fifty dollar wrap for which she has no use whatever. Next day she returns the latter, receives a credit slip for $50 and betakes herself to the handkerchief counter, where she spends 50 cents, receiving $40.50 change. Picking some small change in her purse and stowing the rest of greenbacks in what she considers a safe receptacle, she leaves the shop feeling that she has made the best of a bad bargain—Philadelphia Record.

Stewart chairman and Elias Morgan secretary, and committees on transportation, hotel and uniform were appointed. The uniforms adopted will be white duck trousers, white shirt, black bow tie and stiff straw hat with band to be furnished by the committee.

Costs Too Much to Kill Dogs.

The unusually large bills for killing and burying dogs, presented at the township committee Tuesday night, brought forth a protest and an inquiry. It was found that many of the dogs had been killed by the officers on request of the owners, while a number had been killed by order of the justice of the peace, all at township expense. The members of the committee were of the opinion that the township should pay for the killing and burying of such dogs as had been injured, showed signs of rabies, or tramp dogs, but that owners who wanted to have their dogs sent to the Happy Hunting Ground should foot the bill. The matter was referred to the solicitor.

A bill of Squire William E. Hires for $5.13 for services in desertion case was held up and referred to the solicitor to ascertain the liability of the township for the cost, the complainant having been a resident of the township but a short time. M. P. Elliott addressed a communication to the committee calling attention to the fact that after every rain his property on Garfield avenue was littered with rubbish owing to the gutter adjoining not being in proper condition. The matter was referred to Messrs. Wimer and Hires for settlement, and the clerk was instructed to acknowledge Mr. Elliott's letter.

Clerk Stewart reported that several outside merchants had paid their licenses, some of them under protest, and some had threatened to make a test case.

A petition was received for sidewalk on E. & West side of Garfield avenue from Wallace street to Melrose avenue. The Public Service Gas Co. submitted a revised contract, but as it was still not exactly to the liking of the committee it was not signed.

The following bills were ordered paid: Cinnaminson E. L. & Power Co. $42.11; The Weekly News, 10-38; John Williams, work on streets, 3.00; J. J. Tomes, salary, 40.00; P. P. Dilke, repairs on streets, 8.50; Frank Grab, office seven wks., 70.00; Joseph Shaffer, work on streets, 225.70; J. P. Sear, killing and burying dogs, supplies for lock-up, etc., 11.60; W. W. Leap, killing and burying dogs, and police service, 11.00.

Field Club Notes.

The Field Club traveled to Riverside on Saturday and were given an unexpected net luck in their race for the hunting by the score of 12 to 4. This one-sided score was due largely to the fact that Palmyra's pitcher, Holt, had strayed a ligament in his shoulder. This injury was not known until Friday evening, when it was too late to get word to their extra pitcher, Palmyra was game before being called upon to pitch in this game, and with all due respect to Riverside, we do not consider their good hitting more the cause of the defeat, for when Baker replaced Keil, Riverside was no longer a threat. Holt, who was not saying that Riverside would not have won with Holt or Dargis in the box but we do say that we would have given them a hard run to top the game. This Saturday we played the Covenant C. C., and I am sure we have defeated some of the best teams in Philadelphia and vicinity a good name can be expected. Game called at 8.30, admission 15c.

Base Hits.

Cherup, boys—two more games with Riverside. We want them.

Riverside has the poorest grounds in the League. A good many of Riverside's hits would have been out on another diamond.

The boys played a sharp fielding game, cutting off a good many runs by using their heads.

The coaches need not feel discouraged—the season is only half over and with a little luck we'll get there yet.

ROOTER.

Spirits that soar

Fear neither depth nor height.

Keith's Theatre.

Never has a Summer vaudeville bill at Keith's Theatre reached the high-class and sumptuous Winter holiday proportions as that of the closing week of July, beginning with Monday, the 24th. It is representative in every particular in comedy, music, dancing and novelties. That tried and true favorite with Philadelphia, Miss Valerie Berge, appears in a new production—a comedy by Edgar Allen Wolf, entitled, "She wanted Affection."—In which delightful play Miss Berge appears in the double role of star and producer. The plot is very amusing and concerns the vicissitudes of a dissatisfied wife and an indifferent husband. The well-known comedian, Mr. Herbert Warren, plays the part of the husband, Miss Berge, the wife and Miss Abernethy assumes the part of the household servant. The author shows the situations that may arise in the lives of married people between whom there has perhaps been never a cross word, but between whom likewise there never has been that real interchange of affection upon which all happy marriages are founded.

There are many newcomers to this theatre—in fact, but with one or two exceptions it might be called a real "First Time Week." Among these First Timers may be mentioned "The Daffy Dill," Bert Fitzgibbon, who calls himself "The Crazy singer of the crazy songs," and only recently in Boston, Mr. Fitzgibbon held his audience so strong that they were loth to let him go, and he was obliged to give everything that he knew, as the critic said, before his hearers would let him go.

"Father's Day."

From The Philadelphia Press.

In May '15 mother we revered, to June remember the children dear, Then why not in July recall The fathers loved by each and all?

For mother we carnations white, For the children any flowers bright; Then let us remember father, too, And wear a bud of crimson hue.

'Twas in the days of long ago, Our ancestors did bravely show, And valor to the young instill In crimson blood which they did spill.

Red implies both bravery and strength, So let us over breadth and length, Of this fair land of ours, For father wear the crimson flowers.

'Tis true that mother keeps the home To which we are all glad to come, But father, too, deserves a share, Of memory sweet and loving care.

He braved both earth and sea, To win life's battles as he may, So in July in mind let's bear And a crimson bud for father wear.

Remarkable Incident.

"Every time I go shopping I thank heaven that I have a good business head," said the woman who boasts that her quick wit always saves her from financial loss. "A saleswoman came very near getting into trouble today over a belt I bought. The only thing that saved her was my business instinct. First I bought a belt for $1.25 and paid with a two dollar bill. In handling my change the girl dropped a quarter into the paper and boxes that stood the floor back of the counter and could not find it. Of course I could have held her accountable, but she looked so tired and worried that I didn't the heart to do that, so how do you think we settled it?"

Her husband gave it up. "Why," said she triumphantly, "I just exchanged my $1.25 belt for a dollar one, and neither of us lost anything."

"Remarkable incident, my dear," said the husband, and she smiled over his approval.—New York Sun.

Bernard Shaw's Excuse.

Bernard Shaw was invited to a banquet in honor of the sculptor Rodin. He sent the following letter as his excuse for not attending:

"For me a banquet to Rodin is quite superfluous. I have already taken measures to assume immortality for myself by attaching my name to that of Rodin. Henceforth in every encyclopedia you will find 'Bernard Shaw; subject of a bust by Rodin; otherwise unknown.'"

"If the bust is lost, broken or spoiled, so much the better for me," he continues. "They will speak of the 'lost Bernard Shaw of Rodin,' as today they speak of the lost Athens of Phidias. Nothing can be more beautiful than the statues which no one ever saw. Therefore I have done all that is necessary. I can get along without banquets. You will only be Rodin's hosts. I have the honor to be his model."—Dramatic Mirror.

The Unreality of Opera.

There are people who still complain of the unreality of opera, who cannot understand themselves to its illusion. And indeed the illusion of opera breaks down if everything in it is not kept at the same distance from reality. In that world of musical expression we must never be suddenly lowered by any incongruous detail into the ordinary world of prose. Realism, the attempt to work upon the emotions by complete illusion of reality, is disastrous in opera. If the scene is a railway station we remember at once that people do not sing when they are catching trains.—London Times.

The Music Was Fatal.

A New York politician once found it necessary to attend an entertainment at an orphan's home, and he was having a bad time of it. The selection by the boys' band was particularly distressing. Turning to a friend, the politician said with a shudder, "No wonder they are orphans."—Success Magazine.

A Money Saver.

"But you are taking considerable risk in letting your young men owe two or three weeks' board."

"Yes, there is some risk," answered the boarding house keeper. "But then, you see, they worry over it so that they lose their appetite, so I save money in the long run."

Diplomacy.

"I believe our boy is a born diplomat."

"Has he shown extraordinary ability as a provocateur?"

"Well, no, not that exactly, but he can cheat other boys in trades and make them think they are getting all the best of it."

Joshua's Devotion to God. 2 Chron. xxiv. 13-15.

Golden Text—Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth. Eccl. xii. 1.

(1) Verse 1-2—Whose son was Joshua?

(2) What had been the character of Amos?

(3) Whose son was Amos?

(4) What had probably induced the wicked reign of Amos?

(5) Is a boy of eight years of age morally responsible to God?

(6) Verse 3—How old was Joshua when he began to seek after God?

(7) If Joshua when a boy had not sought and found the Lord, what effect would that have probably had upon his reign?

(8) If a boy is not converted by the time he is sixteen years of age, what are his chances of ever being converted?

(9) Take one hundred boys at sixteen years of age, in the same social positions, fifty of them converted and fifty not; what are the chances respectively for the worldly success of these two sets of boys?

(10) In the training of boys there are at least three things essential to their success: religion, education, and character. Which should parents pay most attention to without neglecting any one, and why?

(11) How old was Joshua when he began to take an aggressive part in the spiritual warfare of his kingdom?

(12) Verse 4—Why should the rulers of the people feel responsibility for the righteousness of the nation, and see to it personally that reforms are carried out?

(13) Which comes first in order and why, the purging of the nation from gross national sin, or the outward and public worship of God?

(14) Why can there be no real worship of God on the part of an individual or community, if at the same time sin is being committed?

(15) Verse 5—Whom should have first claim upon our resources, our homes or the church?

(16) If the homes of the people are well cared for, and the church is in a run down condition, how would you estimate such a people?

(17) Verse 9—Who are the people that are in duty bound to keep up the church of God?

(18) From whom had the money been collected to repair the Temple at Jerusalem?

(19) Should money be solicited from outsiders to build, repair, or keep up the house of God?

(20) Can you find any place in the Bible where they raised money for the worship of God other than by direct giving?

(21) Where do you find in the Old or New Testament any precedent for pew renting, bazaars, concerts, lectures, tea meetings, or for any other commercial method of financing the church? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(22) Verse 10—Why is it vital that the church of God should be kept to a comfortable and an attractive July 30th, 1911.

(Copyright, 1919, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Golden Text—Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee. Ps. cxix. 11.

(1) Verses 14-17—What book was it they found; what did it consist of, and who was its author?

(2) What were they doing when they found this book?

(3) What are we generally doing when we find our richest treasures of spiritual knowledge?

(4) How could so important a book have been lost or mislaid?

(5) Was this probably the only copy of the book in existence?

(6) Verses 18-19—What effect did the reading of this book of the law have upon the king?

(7) What part of the book would be likely to produce such grief on the part of the king? (See Deut. xxviii. 45.)

(8) What part of this book of the law which pertains to morals, is considered operative and binding to-day?

(9) You will observe that there are many death penalties for breaches of the moral law. Why have these been abolished by Christian people?

(10) Did Jesus abolish any of the laws of Moses and so which? (See Matt. xxiii. 23, 24, et seq.)

(11) Why are some laws just and equal under certain circumstances while cruel and unjust under others?

(12) What has been the effect of reading the Bible upon national and individual character?

(13) Verses 20-21—If these people did not have the book of the law how did they know their duty, or how to worship?

(14) Why was it necessary for the king to inquire further of the Lord when he now had the "law" in his hand?

(15) If more light were needed why could not the king or Hilkiah, the priest, inquire of God direct?

(16) How did the saints of God, who lived before Moses, find out the mind of God?

(17) Why are the penalties of moral law as unyielding and certain as are the penalties of physical law?

(18) Verses 22-25—Why is it that there are and always have been those who are sensitive to the voice of God, when the masses of even spiritual people are dull and unconscious of it?

(19) What is the reason for believing that all Christian people may cultivate the inward ear to discern the voice of God?

(20) How many women of the Bible are there which excelled in spiritual power and influence?

(21) When were the punishments inflicted upon Judah? (See 2 Chron. xxxvi. 17-20.)

(22) Verses 26-28—Why a man reprints of his sin does God always forgive him, and remits the penalty, or are there exceptions?

(23) Verses 29-32—The entire nation seems to have repented at this time; did that keep them from being destroyed, and would it have prevented the final overthrow of the nation if they had not backslidden again?

(24) This incident shows how much influence one man has who is thoroughly aroused. What practical lesson can we learn from it? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Now Motor Boat for Member of R. Y. C.

Bowen & Mower, of Philadelphia, have prepared plans for an exceptionally roomy and interesting type of power boat, to meet the requirements of the owner, R. H. Stackhouse, of Riverton. The entire arrangement is his own idea, and works out very well on the boat.

The craft is 37 feet 6 inches long, with a beam of 8 feet 6 inches. She has a draft of 2 feet 9 inches. The engine, a 4-cylinder Lozier Vector, will be located amidship under the bridge. On each side of the engine will be located lockers and gasoline tanks in pairs. Full headroom is obtained at the forward end of the engine room by means of a raised trunk. A companion-way leads from the bridge into this end of the engine compartment. The stateroom is located forward of the engine compartment. This has a single berth on each side, with a bureau and lockers forward. A small bath is placed at the forward end of the stateroom for ventilation and outlet in case of fire.

Aft of the engine room will be located the toilet room and galley. The latter will be on the port side, and the former on the starboard, with a companion-way leading between them from the after end of the bridge. Aft of the galley and toilet room will be the main cabin with an extension berth on each side. There will be a fair-sized cockpit aft of the main cabin.

This boat should make a very fast and comfortable cruiser, as she is very similar in shape to many of the cruisers turned out by the designers. The frame will be white oak, with planking of cedar, and joiner work and cabin of mahogany.

Burlington Man Wins Out.

Bids for the construction of sewer extensions were opened by the Borough Council last night.

The successful bidder was P. J. Byrne, of Burlington, who offered to construct the sewers and put in 15 manholes at 49c per lineal foot.

The other bidders were:
Munroe Paving Co., Philadelphia, 57 1/2c per lineal foot and 44c for each manhole.
H. C. Rogers, 60 1/2c per lineal foot.
B. A. Warren, Riverside, $3270.
Robb & Delcie, Philadelphia, $4238.40.
J. M. Solomon, Jr., Philadelphia, 4200 feet of sewer and 15 manholes $4835.
Additional sewer $1.15 per lineal foot; additional manholes $80 each.

A resolution was passed awarding the contract to P. J. Byrne, W. N. Martin voting in the negative, and the clerk was instructed to return the certified checks of the unsuccessful bidders.

The sewer committee was authorized to employ a competent inspector to oversee the work.

Riverton A. A. Notes.

Through poor fielding, more particularly on the part of Kough at short stop, who seemed unable to cover any ground whatever, together with our inability to stop the runners from getting to second base every time they reached first, we were defeated by the score of 7 to 0 last Saturday by the Philadelphia Electric team. Hercher pitched a very good game and did better support would have made a much better impression on the rooters and also the visiting team. As it was he had a record of nine strike-outs, which speaks very well for him considering the team he was pitching against, together with the poor support he was receiving from his fielders. As things stand in the beginning of the season we seem to be woefully weak at the bat when we get a runner on base and also the runners do not appear to be able to run the bases as other teams.

However, we should not feel at all downcast because of this defeat, as it is administered by one of the strongest semi-professional teams in Philadelphia, and is composed of several league players. Rabinger in left field, being a player of exceptional ability. Russell Blackburne, the Chicago American League player, who is recuperating at home, owing to an injury to his knee, umpired the game and made a very favorable impression, performing the duties without a hitch, and thus the game went off in quick order.

This Saturday, July 29th, we will journey to Riverside to start the last leg of the league series, and it is hoped that we will make more of our stay in the "Watch-case" town and come home a winner, as Hercher is going about right now and together with Coyle back in the game, who will play short-stop, with Williams on first base and Fitzgerald doing the receiving, we will have a much stronger team. Coyle playing a very fine fielding game and also had lots of glimmer in him on the base lines, which is what several of the players need instilled into them.

Come along with us to Riverside and see if it is now possible for us to take at least one of the games, and we assure you that you will be well repaid for the trip.

Mrs. C. Cecil Fitch's Plover King and Pink Lady won first prize in the harness pairs class at the Monmouth County Horse Show at Long Branch yesterday, and also in the tandem class.

Miss Fannie Faunce was tendered a party Sunday evening in honor of her twenty-first birthday anniversary. A large number of guests were present from Philadelphia, Camden, Palmyra and Riverton.
At a meeting of the Borough Council last night Harry Davis was appointed by the Mayor to fill the vacancy on the Board of Health caused by the resignation of Dr. Peter Boysen. The appointment was unanimously confirmed by Council.

Plans have been submitted and bids asked for the remodeling of Morgan Hall, recently purchased by Washington Camp, No. 25, P. O. S. of A., a residence for Lewellyn Collins at Riverton, three $5000 dwelling houses for F. J. Thron, at Bight and Lippincott.

The up-river cruise of the R. Y. C. last Friday was participated in by but three boats, Allegro, Nokomis and Tekoma. They went as far up as Trenton. A good breeze made easy going and little work. The first returned Sunday, reaching Riverton about four o'clock in the afternoon.

Gladys, the eleven-months-old daughter of W. C. A. Corner, died on Sunday after an illness of a few days, and was buried in Morgan cemetery on Wednesday. Services were held at the house conducted by the Rev. Henry W. Armstrong. Interment in charge of Undertaker Morton.

Durborow Makes Dangerous Swim.

Charles Durborow swam from the Battery, New York, to within a mile of Sandy Hook last Sunday, covering the distance, about twenty-two miles in 6 hours 43 minutes and 42 seconds. Durborow, who is a clerk in the First National Bank of Philadelphia, started from the Battery at 6:59 in the morning in an attempt to reach Sandy Hook, but after encountering many treacherous currents was compelled to abandon his efforts because of the fast flowing flood tide. He emerged from the water at Flynn's Knoll, which is only a mile from Sandy Hook, at 1:42 p. m.

Durborow's performance is probably the greatest feat of its kind ever accomplished in New York waters. From the viewpoint of a swimmer it is the most dangerous ever tried in the channels there. After accomplishing this wonderful feat Durborow, who is twenty-nine years old and weighs 192 pounds, said he felt as fresh as a daisy.

The distance traversed by Durborow is the second longest swim on record in this country, the only one bettering it being his own thirty-four mile Delaware performance.

In speaking of the ruling which lost him the award Mr. Durborow said: "I complied with the requirements of the swim. When I swam from Chester to Walnut street, Philadelphia, I don't have to land at the Walnut street wharf, but simply reach a point opposite it. That is what I did Sunday. At the end of the twenty-two miles I was at the bell buoy, one-mile opposite Sandy Hook Light."

"In the boat they told me that I had to swim to the shore. I started, but the tide had turned and for every foot that I went forward the tide carried me to the side. When I saw that I could never reach the light I climbed into the boat. We were an hour late in starting. Had my pilot, Captain Edwin Berke, of the Atlantic City Life Guards, known that I was to land on the Hook, he would have piloted me across ward it at the finish, instead of straight down the channel until it was too late."

"Next Sunday a week I intend to swim to the Boston light, and as far back as I can. The cold water there will keep me from going a record distance, however."

Advanced Fares in Question.
The State Public Utilities Commission yesterday began, at the State House, Trenton, an inquiry into the new passenger railroad rates to take effect August 1. The railroad company claimed that the new tariffs were not a general increase, but a readjustment of rates to conform with the requirements of the Federal Interstate Commerce law. Seventy-nine advances were made on the New York division of the Pennsylvania system, the greatest being 50 cents between Bordentown and Camden. There are 443 reductions in fare, the greatest being 26 cents, Trenton to Avon.

The increase at Riverton is 5 cents between Riverton and Philadelphia.

Dreer's Base Ball Team.
Last Saturday the Dreer's Nursery base ball team played a spirited game of married men also of Dreer's and defeated them 17-8.

On August 5 they will cross bats with the Bell Telephone team, of Philadelphia, and a battle royal is looked for.

The team was organized this year, and the first game was played on July 1 with the Mitchell Seed Store team, which was won 7-4. The following Saturday they defeated the Dreer Store team, 7-14 Chestnut street, 22-2. This date was a red letter day and refreshments were served by the firm.

The new suits arrived this week. They are gray and blue and the boys present a fine appearance in their new togs.

The team is composed of John Horton, catcher, Robert Murphy, pitcher, Joe Bernicker first base, Marcy Brown second base, Herb Dingus third base, Walter Long short stop, Ed. Blachowski right field, Claude Painter centre field, John Bowler left field.

The games are played at East Riverton.

Miss Lydia Fox spent Sunday at Atlantic City.

Sudden End of Great Writers.
The anniversary of the death of Charles Dickens, synchronizing this year with the celebration of the Thackeray centenary, recalls in what sudden sudden death came to the two great novelists, says the London Chronicle. Dickens, who was seemingly in his usual health on June 8, had a sudden seizure on the morning of June 9, and expired within a few hours. Thackeray, after a busy day in his library writing and correcting "Denis Duval" passed quietly away in his sleep on December 24, 1863. The end of yet another great Victorian writer was equally sudden.

Sir George Trevelyan has told how on entering Macaulay's study one morning in December, 1859, he found his uncle sitting at the table dead, with the first number of the Cornhill Magazine lying before him open at the first chapter of Thackeray's "Lord the Widower."

"ANOTHER'S SHOES."
"Stepping into Them" is a Phrase That Had Its Origin in a Very Ancient Custom.

The expression "stepping into another's shoes," like many another common phrase, had its origin in an ancient custom.

The old Norse law required that a person to be adopted must step into a previous owner's shoes. This shoe was made from the skin taken from the right hind leg of a "three-winters-old bull."

The skin was fayed from above the hock and out of this the shoes were made. The person to be adopted stepped into this shoe, taking into his arms one at a time, it is presumed, the younger sons of the man making the adoption. If there were also sons who were of age they stepped into the shoe afterward, by this sign showing their consent to the adoption.

A man in this way could adopt an illegitimate son, making him his lawful heir, but in that case the father was obliged to step into the shoe first. If there were any full grown sons, they stepped into the shoe afterward. If there were no full grown sons, then the next of kin did the stepping, and without his consent, by the way, this special adoption could not be made.

Witnesses to the ceremony in the use of the shoe were required to establish its legality.

It will be seen that this was considered an important ceremony, and since so much "shoe stepping" was done it is not strange that the expression as now used passed into common speech.—Chicago Record-Herald.

OSTRICH BATTLES.
The Great Birds, as Strong as Horses, Box With Their Feet.

Ostriches battle for supremacy with as much ferocity as stags, bulls, buffaloes and other animals. An ostrich fight is amusing, inasmuch as it amounts practically to a boxing match with the feet, wherein the combatants lightly dance around each other.

There is, however, this difference—if any human boxer could hit as hard with his hands as an ostrich with its feet the championship would be decided by a single blow. In sparring the ostrich stands on one foot, with the other foot and the wings raised, the bill wide open and the neck distended. He strikes with the sharp edge of a trip hammer.

Sometimes on an ostrich farm a keeper will become involved in such a struggle, in which event it is not infrequently the case that the keeper emerges from the scrap with a broken leg, arm or head.

Under modern training an ostrich equally a horse in power and indeed can perform many of the "stunts" whereof his equine colleague is capable. In one respect, however, he excels the horse, for by the aid of his wings the ostrich can leave behind the swiftest running thoroughbred. In harness an ostrich has at Hot Springs, Ark., paced in about a horse's time—Harper's Weekly.

His Unlucky Day.
Even the least operations are often struck by the misfortunes which attend some persons on certain dates. A large firm in the city has in its employ a living instance of the fact. On June 12 an employee lost his left arm by coming in contact with machinery. The accident disabled him for his then employment, and he was given that of a messenger. On another June 12 he was run over in the Strand while on an errand. Result, a broken leg. The next accident was a fall on the stairs in the firm's buildings—again June 12—right arm broken this time. The fourth mishap on another anniversary broke three ribs. The firm took the case into consideration and issued an order that in future the employee was to take a holiday on that date, an order with which he has now complied for several years.—London Chronicle.

His Second Thought.
A politician named Blank got a place for a clerk during one of the sessions of the legislature of his state. The clerk was very grateful, says the Saturday Evening Post. At the end of the session he came around to Blank and said: "Mr. Blank, I want to tell you how much I am indebted to you for your kindness in getting me the place I have had. It meant more to me, Mr. Blank, than you may think. I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Also I want to say, Mr. Blank, that if there ever comes a time when I can do anything for you—anything at all—you are to command me. I will do anything you may ask me to do. I am your servant."

Blank thanked the man, and he started to go. As he reached the door he turned and said, "Of course, Mr. Blank, I will prefer that it should be something honorable."

Could Fill the Bill.
Superintendent-What we want is a night watchman that'll watch, alert and on the qui vive for the slightest noise or indications of burglary, somebody who can sleep with one eye and both ears open and is not afraid to tackle anything. See? Applicant—I see, boss. I'll send my wife around.—Lippincott's.

Took It Back.
"I give you my word, the next person who interrupts the proceedings," said the judge sternly, "will be expelled from the courtroom and ordered home."

"Hoornay!" cried the prisoner. Then the judge pondered.—Judge.

More than we use is more than we need and only a burden to the bearer.—Seneca.

Recipe For a Flower Garden.
Take twenty square yards of sand and pebbles, stir in sufficient clay to make a compact water tight mass, ram down hard and score the surface with a rake. Add carefully ten packets of seeds of the most magnificent flower known that will grow anywhere and under any conditions, throwing up a continuous succession of enormous flower trusses from March to November, each petal five inches across and of the richest and most glowing tints. This is the commonest of all flowers and will be found listed on any page of any florist's catalogue. Set the seed in rows four inches apart and warm. After allowing the mass to rise four months sprinkle red spiders and green aphides plentifully over the top and soak well with tears. The net result may be preserved in a small bottle of alcohol for future reference.—Philadelphia North American.

An Open Air Hotel.
A man from the West was looking for a friend in New York who had gone wrong. He heard his friend had been sleeping on the benches in Bryant park and went over there to look for him. There were a good many unfortunate on the benches, but the particular friend the westerner wanted to find was not there. However, the westerner did find another man from his own town whom he knew and who knew the man for whom he was searching.

"Where's Jones?" asked the westerner, prodding the man he knew.

"Aw," replied the hobo sleepily, "he ain't come in yet."—New York Sun.

Nothing More to Be Said.
"My wife always let me have the last word," remarked the meek looking man.

"Indeed!" exclaimed his friend in tones which implied a doubt of the other's veracity.

"She does, really. Whenever I say 'Yes, my dear, you are quite right,' she stops talking immediately."

ST. ANDREW'S, AMWELL, AT LAMBERTVILLE.

A Complete Surprise.

Miss Mae Macpherson, of Philadelphia, was tendered a birthday surprise party at the home of William B. Powell Saturday evening. The evening was spent playing old-fashioned games on lawn which was decorated with Japanese lanterns. The table was placed under the grape trellis beside the lily pond and was very tastefully decorated with flowers and ribbons, the colors being lavender and white. Among those present were: Misses Laura Gray and Mae Macpherson, Dr. Kitchenman, Clayton Cochran, George Wallace, Philadelphia, Dr. and Mrs. Riddle, Misses Dorothy Brown, May Edwards, of Camden, Misses Anna Huff, Georgia Wallace, Viola Persing, Bertha Day, Florence Powell, Mr. and Mrs. E. King, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Willam B. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Harned, Mrs. Corolla Cann, Charles Harned, Elvin Powell and H. E. Powell, of Palmyra; Howard Troth, of Riverton.

Field Club Notes.

On Saturday The Field Club had the strong Covenant Club, of Philadelphia, as their opponents and in a very interesting game defeated them by the score of 7 to 4. The game was well played throughout, Baker and Durgin twirling for the home team, each of them allowing two runs. The visitors hit the ball hard but fast fielding kept their score down, while the boys took advantage of every little break of the game and made their hits count. The feature of the game was the fielding of the home team, only having one error and figuring in three double plays.

Saturday Palmyra will have Delair as their opponents on the West End grounds, in a Delaware River League game. Holt, who has been suffering with a strained ligament, has fully recovered and will be on the mound for the home team and will do his best to again take Delair into camp. Huston will pitch for the visitors and as he is a better pitcher than Delair he can be looked forward to.

We can only hope that the rooters will be out to give Delair as good a reception as they gave us when we played at Delair a few weeks ago.

Game called 3:30 p. m. Admission 15c.

Bass Hits.

Baker showed on Saturday that he can take his regular turn in the box if necessary.

Gibbons and Leithman divided the fielding honors between them, both figuring in two fast double plays.

The boys had lots of pepper on Saturday and with Holt back in the box we trust our losing streak has been broken for good.

Riverton plays Riverside on Saturday and if they only can defeat the leaders the race for the flag will be closer.

ROSTER.

Same Trouble Everywhere.

The following, taken from the Mount Holly News this week, would apply to almost any town in the state.

Much has been said about the speed of automobiles through town, and perhaps much may be said about some one's child being killed or some aged person injured. Then, perhaps, when too late for life or limb, something may be done. Sympathy is a commendable constituency at the time, but when it comes to preventing such old man or woman is taking fighting chance for life, or when the white streamers are hanging from some one's door frame.

Baptist Boys Base Ball Team Notes.

The base ball team of the Central Baptist Boys Club totaled eight consecutive victories last Saturday when they met and defeated the team of the Argo Boys Club, of Philadelphia. It was Baptist victory after the first inning.

The score by innings was as follows:

Baptist B. C. 1-6-8-0-10-4-2-16

Argo B. C. 1-0-0-1-2-3-10-10-6

Hits from the Diamond.

"Dickey" Majer looks good back of bat.

H. Jones had three hits out of three times up. Great hitting first seven in great style.

Roy and Harry made quite a "Hubb" for the team to move around at 2nd and short.

Four two base hits for the Baptists show that they are some hitters.

Dutch Scratcher of the visitors, that thirty-year-old left-handed pitcher, had the team somewhat afraid in the first, but after that, oh my!

The visitors proved to be giants in size and ages as all were over 21 years. However the Baptist team is made up of Giant Killers.

Game next Saturday at Broad and Pine avenue at 3:30 p. m. Come out and see these boys play.

RECTOR RESIGNS.

The Rev. H. W. Armstrong Accepts Call to Lambertville, N. J.

The Rev. Henry W. Armstrong, rector of Christ Church, Palmyra, has accepted a call to the rectorship of St. Andrew's, Amwell, at Lambertville, in succession to the Rev. John A. Carr, who recently went to Trenton to assume charge of St. James' parish in that city.

The Rev. Mr. Armstrong has been rector of Palmyra for seven years, during which time a good work has been accomplished here and the church raised from a mission of the Convocation to the position of a fully organized parish of the Diocese. After his graduation from the General Theological Seminary in New York in 1898, Mr. Armstrong was appointed to a Fellowship in that institution, resigning after a year to accept a curacy at Grace Church, Newark. From Newark he went to Memphis, Tenn., where he was rector of St. Luke's Church. Later he went to St. Clair, Pa., which place he left in 1904 to accept the rectorship of Christ Church, Palmyra.

Mr. Armstrong's resignation will take effect September 1 at which time he expects to take up his new work at Lambertville.

Keith's Theatre.

Although it is a bill of standard excellence to be enjoyed at B. F. Keith's Theatre for the opening week in August, (beginning with the last day of this month), the eminent legitimate star, Miss Rose Coghlan is entitled to precedence.

Miss Coghlan has endeavored herself to Philadelphia on account of the quality of her work in the legitimate field and in vaudeville. She presents a dramatic playlet of absorbing interest in a play called "Between Matinee and Night."

In which the accomplished emotional artist is supported by brilliant talent, including Mr. Lynn Pratt, who takes the leading male part. This is one of the most brilliant and individual one-act dramatic offerings that has been seen in Philadelphia for a very long time, and as Miss Coghlan has not greeted her Quaker City friends across the footlights for a very considerable period, she and her excellent company may be sure of a strong reception. The other splendid features on the bill are such that make vaudeville in this city a veritable classic of entertainment. The beautiful singing equestrienne, La Belle Titcomb, makes a welcome reappearance after a lapse of some years, bringing with her those trained splendid Arab stallions, including the master thoroughbred of the "All," which was presented to the world's foremost horseman by one of the Grand Dukes of the reigning House of Romanoff, of Russia. La Titcomb, who in private life is Mrs. Nat. M. Wills, wife of one of the greatest of America's vaudeville entertainers, is not only one of the most beautiful women in the world, with costumes and jewels that are a marvel to behold, but she makes something more than a picture on horseback, proving herself an extraordinary vocalist and likewise a daring horse trainer.

Anticipation.

Lieutenant Shackleton tells how when in the antarctic wastes he and his companions sustained their spirits and their bodies as well when supplies had to be cut down to a minimum by dwelling upon the glorious eating they would have on returning to headquarters. The value of such mental sustenance has long been recognized by up to date commanders. There was the German officer in the war of 1870 who sustained the flagging spirits and weary legs of his men by shouting: "There is a brewery in this side that town. Let us get there before anybody else!" History relates that the men did get there with remarkable speed. Equally absurd was that Japanese commander in the Manchurian war, who, seeing his men exhausted with thirst and knowing full well the wonderful properties of pickled plums, cried out, "Two miles from here there is a forest of plums!" The anticipated plums went far to relieve their parched mouths.

What Went Wrong Does For Its Cade.

What Went Wrong does for its cades is precisely this: It takes its youth at the critical period of growth; it isolates them completely for nearly four years from the vicious influences that corrupt young manhood and from the atmosphere of commercialism; it provides absorbing employment for both mental and physical activities; it surrounds them with exacting responsibilities, high standards and exalted traditions of honor and integrity, and it demands a rigid accountability for every moment of their time and for every voluntary action. It offers them the inducements of an honorable career and a sufficient competence as a reward of success, and it has imperative authority for the enforcement of its conditions and restraints. Colonel Charles W. Larned in National Magazine.

"Can I get the silver service for the fire department?" inquired a young man at the fire library.

"The what?" asked the girl at the desk.

"The silver service for the fire department—the questions they ask you when you take the silver service examinations, you know?"—Newark News.

The Finding of the Book of the Law, II Chron. xxxiv:14-25.

Golden Text—Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee. Ps. cxli:11.

(1.) Verses 14-17—What book was it they found? what did it consist of, and who was its author?

(2.) What were they doing when they found this book of Moses?

(3.) What are we generally doing when we find our richest treasures of spiritual knowledge?

(4.) How could so important a book have been lost, or mislaid?

(5.) Was it a lost, or the only copy of the book in existence?

(6.) Verses 18-19—What effect did the reading of this book of the law have upon the king?

(7.) What of the book would be likely to produce such grief on the part of the king? (See Deut. xxvii:1 et seq.)

(8.) What part of this book of the law which pertains to the commandments and binding to-day?

(9.) You will observe that there are many death penalties for breaches of the moral law. Why have these been abolished by the gospel?

(10.) Did Jesus abolish any of the laws of Moses and if so which? (See Matt. v:23-44, et seq.)

(11.) Why are some laws just and equal under certain circumstances while cruel and unjust under others?

(12.) What has been the effect of reading the Bible upon national and individual character?

(13.) Verses 20-21—If these people did not have the book of the law how did they know their duty, or how to worship?

(14.) Why is it necessary for the king to inquire further of the Lord when he now had the "law" in his hands?

(15.) If more light were needed why could not the king or Hilkiah, the priest, inquire of God direct?

(16.) How did the saints of God who lived before Moses, find out the mind of God?

(17.) Why are the penalties of moral law as unyielding and certain as are the penalties of physical law?

(18.) Verses 22-25—Why is it that there are and always have been those who are sensitive to the voice of God, when the masses of even spiritual people are dull and unconscious of it?

(19.) What is the reason for believing that all Christian people may cultivate the inward ear to discern the voice of God?

(20.) How many women of the Bible are there in which we see the spiritual power and influence?

(21.) When were these punishments inflicted upon Judah? (See II Chron. xxxiv:17-20.)

(22.) Verses 26-28—When a man repents of his sin does God always forgive him, and remit the penalty, or are there exceptions?

(23.) Verses 29-33—The entire nation seemed to have repented of this time, did they keep them from being destroyed, and would it have prevented the final overthrow of the nation if they had not backslidden again?

(24.) This incident shows how much influence sin has in the thoroughly aroused. What practical lesson may we learn from it? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the class.)

Lesson for Sunday, Aug. 6th, 1911.

Jeremiah Tried and Acquitted. Jer. xxvi.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

Jeremiah Tried and Acquitted. Jer. xxvi.

Golden Text—The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? Ps. cxviii:1.

(1.) Verses 1-6—What was the character of Jehoiakim, also of Josiah, his father?

(2.) To whom did the word of the Lord come?

(3.) How did God probably speak to Jeremiah?

(4.) May all persons to-day, with the goodness and ability of Jeremiah, hear the voice of the Lord as distinctly as he did?

(5.) What was the message which the Lord gave Jeremiah to deliver?

(6.) If the people had been ruled at the command of the Lord, would the kingdom of Judah have been preserved?

(7.) Why can there be no escape for sinners, from the just punishment of their sins, unless they repent?

(8.) Verses 7-10—How do you account for it that the priests and the prophets wanted to kill Jeremiah, for delivering the message that God had given him?

(9.) If a professional priest, or preacher, is backslidden and living in sin, why is he apt to be more cruel to the people than the wickedness than an ordinary sinner?

(10.) From the days of Jesus until now, by whom have the martyrs been put to death, or, admittedly men of God, expelled from the churches?

(11.) Which are the more cruel to those who rebuke them, men who under cover of religion are doing wrong, or outstanding sinners such, for example, as gamblers?

(12.) Verses 11-12—Did these priests and prophets, who wanted to put Jeremiah to death for preaching the truth, believe that he was wrong and their right, or knowing he was right, wanted to get rid of him for exposing their sin?

(13.) What qualities did Jeremiah possess which are essential to all who obey God in rebuking sin?

(14.) Must a good man always rebuke what he knows to be wrong, no matter how much danger it may involve to himself? Give your reasons.

(15.) Is it the lack of reverence that they are wrong, or something else, which causes people to rebuke sin?

(16.) Verses 13-15—Do you know of any sin that is as great a threat as that is not associated with a promise of forgiveness on repentance?

(17.) Is it possible for a good man to die, or be put to death, before his sin is done? Why?

(18.) Verses 16-25—The priests and the prophets are the accusers of Jeremiah and want to put him to death, and the princes and people appear to be the judge and jury; what was the verdict and upon what was it based?

(19.) Is it safe in these days to trust the people to decide moral issues? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the class.)

HIS TWO BAD DAYS.

Lord Byron Dressed His Thirty-seventh Year and Undertook No Task on Fridays and Sundays.

The belief in palmists and soothsayers is not, as is sometimes supposed, confined to the ignorant and the credulous. Lord Byron was not a skeptic in these matters. Just before his death, as recorded in "Byron—The Last Phase," by Richard Edgcumbe, "he said he had reflected a great deal on a prediction which had been made to him when a boy by a famed fortune teller in Scotland. His mother, who firmly believed in clairvoyance and astrology, had sent for this person and desired him to inform her what would be the future destiny of her son. Having examined attentively the palm of his hand, the man looked at him for awhile steadfastly and then with a solemn voice exclaimed, 'Beware of your thirty-seventh year, my young lord, beware.' He had entered in his thirty-seventh year on Jan. 22, and it was evident from the emotion with which he related this circumstance that the caution of the palmist had produced a deep impression on his mind, which in many respects was so superstitious that we thought it proper to accuse him of superstition. 'To say the truth,' answered his lordship, 'I find it equally difficult to know what not to believe.' * * * You will, I know, ridicule my belief in lucky and unlucky days, but no consideration can now induce me to undertake anything either on a Friday or a Sunday. I am positive it would terminate unfortunately. Every one of my misfortunes—and God knows I have had my share—has happened to be on one of those days."—London Gentleman.
