RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. R. B. SHEPHERD.

Members of Congregation Present Reception and Wife with Handsome Gold Clock and Purse of Gold.

A reception was held in Christ Church parish house, Riverton, on Monday evening, November 27th, in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Shepherd. The Sunday School room on the second floor, where the reception was held, was decorated with green, the windows with honey-suckle, the stage with plants, ferns and other pretty decorations, the hall, stairways and rooms on the first floor were trimmed in a similar manner. Mr. John J. Reese presented Mr. Shepherd with a purse of money (in gold) from members of the congregation, to be used at his discretion. In his presentation speech Mr. Reese spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Shepherd's long and faithful eighteen-years service in the Church. Immediately after this presentation Mr. Louis A. Flanagan presented Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd, on behalf of members of the congregation, a handsome hand clock with cathedral steeple. The clock was placed in the center of stage, concealed by a screen and heavy draperies. At a given signal the works were set in motion, the screens and draperies removed and the clock chimed. The idea of this gift was that both Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd would have something they could enjoy in their new home. The inscription on plate on the door inside of the clock was as follows:

PRESENTED TO THE REV. AND MRS. R. B. SHEPHERD BY MEMBERS OF THE CONGREGATION OF CHRIST CHURCH, RIVERTON, N. J. NOVEMBER 27, 1911

In accepting these gifts Mr. Shepherd thanked the congregation and made a most beautiful and impressive speech, which brought tears to the eyes of those present. After the ceremonies were concluded on the second floor the 200 or more guests present were invited to the first floor to partake of refreshments, which were served by a levy of young and pretty girls of the parish.

Mrs. John B. M. Shovel was chairman of the reception committee, and invited the members of the vestry, their wives and heads of the different branches of the Guild to assist in receiving. Mrs. Shovel also appointed the following chairmen: Mrs. Louis A. Flanagan on invitations, Mrs. Edward B. Shovel on decorations and Mrs. George L. Ridley on refreshments. Ladies of the Church served on all the above committees.

Luncheon at Porch Club.

The entertainment committee of the Porch Club gave a very unique luncheon at their Club house on Tuesday. The tonists were responded to by the president, Mrs. Thomas Roberts, and other Club members, with Mrs. H. J. Mitchell as toastmistress.

The first on the menu was "tomato soup." No one present will ever forget the wonderful and interesting manner in which Mrs. Roberts responded to that toast.

The next course "oysters in pattie shell" Mrs. Marcy told the Club all she knew about those delicious articles of food, which caused quite a lot of merriment.

As the "tongue and baked bean" course was announced Mrs. Henry W. Shreve gave a remarkably brilliant discourse on all kinds of tongues from the large beef tongues to those found in mocking birds, and very kindly told the Club numerous ways they could be cooked "a la Mrs. Rorer."

Mrs. Wadhams responded to the next on the menu "salad, crackers and cheese." From the first she was very witty and clever, making everyone feel how fortunate they were in having as bright a repartee in their Club.

Mrs. H. A. Pishy, in whose brain this novel way of serving a luncheon originated. At the end of her speech she gave the Club call "P. O. R. C. H. Porch Club C. L. U. B. Club, Porch Club—the town's hub—Porch Club," in which twenty ladies joined, making one think of a party of enthusiastic college boys coming home from a successful foot ball game. It was a luncheon long to be remembered by those of the Club who were fortunate enough to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Good entertained Mr. and Mrs. Pund and Miss May Myers, of Philadelphia, on Saturday.

MRS. ALFRED SMITH

Death for Child in Drink of Water.

Last week, Norman, the small son of John Lucas was taken ill with scurvy fever and later developed diphtheria. The house was properly quarantined but the father and Miss Lettie Lucas continued to go out on the street, in spite of orders from the attending physicians. On Tuesday of this week the matter was brought to the attention of the Board of Health and Dr. C. S. Mills, chairman, directed Chief of Police Mattis to appoint two special officers to watch the house day and night.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Lucas quarreled with his daughter, and struck her in the face and cut her arm with the edge of a fire shovel. He was taken before the Chief of Police, who reprimanded him and sent him home to remain there. Thursday night Lucas thought that he was not being watched, so he went out the back door and started to cross the lot on his way up town. He was promptly arrested by the special officer and confined to the lockup awaiting trial.

Mrs. Lucas, who also has scarlet fever, was staying in the room with the boy and attending to his wants during the night. About two o'clock Friday morning Norman asked for a drink of water, which his mother gave him out of a shallow dish which contained carbolic acid for disinfecting. The error was not discovered until about six o'clock this morning when they sent for a physician. The child was badly burned and died shortly after the arrival of the doctor. After the child's death Mr. Lucas was taken home.

There is no love to a man's heart like love, not only the love others feel towards him, but that he feels towards others. ### Riverton A. A.

There was a running end-off given the Imperial A. C. of Wilmington, when they reached Riverton on Saturday. The teams lined up in their positions at 3.15 and the home team kicked to the visitors. In the first half after Imperial had been held for downs and Riverton secured possession of the ball after a successful line plunge. Boehme carried the ball across the line for a touchdown, Mattis kicking the goal. After that both teams played like majors. The Imperial made one forward pass—one of the best ever played—McCall received it and made a good gain for fifteen yards. The eyes of the home team were on the lookout for the next one, and when they peered off the line kind of a play it was received by Boehme, who ran sixty-eight yards for a touchdown, which made the score 12-0.

In the second half, Thomas played a star game. Schnitzer, of the visitors, said he was the only man who ever fooled him in the game. Armstrong played fine. Capt. Sonny Wright, the blond-headed quarterback, managed the team in first-class style, and Bill Faunce ran the ball around the ten yard yard, that made the gain in the second period when the time was up. Mr. Brown, better known as the "Iron Man," circled the end for a seventeen-yard gain; Lloyd and Tucker played like stars, and H. Brown saved the day when he tackled McCall, who had a chance to score, but was taken down by his mighty arms. Keating and Barr, the officials, did very nice work.

Riverton holds the championship of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. They have played four years and have not been scored on.

After the game the home team gave the Imperial a drink at Mrs. Brown's. The room was decorated with orange and blue, the Imperial colors. Mrs. John M. Hughes and Miss Marie Jordan assisted Mr. Brown.

After dinner the visitors were taken to the Roberts Hall for a smoker, until they left for home at 10.45.

The Riverton team desire to thank the business men of the town for their kindness and the police department for the good order which they have kept during the season, also all those who have assisted the team.

RIVERTON ROUTER.

Thanksgiving Game.

Before the largest crowd of the season the game between Riverside and Riverton A. A. was played on Thanksgiving Day. The strong Riverside team was downed to the tune of 10-0. The long run of Mattis for a touchdown was the feature of the game. Capt. Wright ran the team from the start to the finish in great style. Smith made a good gain on a forward pass of six yards, and every man in the game played his part well.

School Notes.

The spelling bee held last Friday morning between the seventh and eighth grades resulted in a victory for the Riverton team. Six contests have been held so far, and resulted in three victories for the seventh, two for the eighth and one tie.

The following catalogues have been received during the past week, Oberlin College Catalogue, Kaessner Polytechnic Institute, University of Rochester, Sullivan College Conservatory.

The school foot ball team practically closed their season last Saturday by defeating the Girard College boys, 57-5.

The local team gained ground at will, being compelled at no time to punt. Most of the gains were made by long runs, George Corner and Danbar Hyton particularly taking the ball over the line for a touchdown, behind splendid interference. Riverton worked two forward passes for substantial gains, Clelland getting one and gaining thirty yards, taking the ball to the ten yard line. Hyton then carried it over on a run around right end. Crowell, who took McIlhenny's place at right end in the second period, caught a pass immediately after entering the game and while surrounded by Girard players. This pass was one of the prettiest made by the boys during the season and was caught under difficult conditions.

The Girard College boys followed the ball at all times and finally fell on it over the Riverton goal line for a touchdown, after their own end fumbled a pass, and Riverton failed to hold it inside the goal.

Hyton was responsible for four of Riverton's touchdowns, Corner two,

A freight train from Burlington ran into another from Philadelphia as the latter was rounding a curve. The train from Philadelphia had gone by way of the Delaware River bridge. Ten of its cars were wrecked and the engine of the Burlington train was derailed.

A Musical Treat.

It is seldom indeed that a musical presentation is received with greater appreciation than was accorded the Palmyra Choral Society by the large audience which enjoyed its second concert in the Lyceum last Tuesday evening.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather nearly all the holders of the tickets were in their places when Director John R. McNeill and his chorus of sixty voices opened the program with the "Song of the Vikings," by Edson Fanning.

The other choruses were "Spring Song," "Pinnit," "Greetings to Spring," "Bridal Chorus from the Rose Maiden," "Gown," "Praise the Lord," (Thanksgiving Anthem) "Rounder." The chorus work was fine and bespoke the most careful training on the part of the director, and much application on the part of the members. The accompanist was Mrs. Frederick Jaep, of Riverton.

Marie Stone Langston, contralto, and John K. Witzemann, violinist, both of Philadelphia, were delightful, and were repeatedly encored.

The Palmyra Choral Society is supplying a very real need in this community and should continue to receive the hearty support of those living in this neighborhood.

Field Club Wins.

On Thanksgiving Day afternoon The Field Club showed to their many faithful supporters that they have a foot ball team of some class. The local bunch had as their opponents the strong and heavy team from Uncle Sam's army—this team was Co. 55 of Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Dupont, Del. This game was a defeat every other army team around about and there are some pretty good teams in the U. S. A., and the local boys hoped to hold them to a low score.

After C. Dargin had blocked a kick and Will Ellis picked it up and went for a touchdown they soon changed their minds and played harder than they have ever played before.

The game in itself was an up-to-date game, both teams trying out kicks and forward passes. The locals had the best of this as our forward passes were only completed three times and considering the times this play was worked it was remarkable. Gibbons went for a touchdown on a well executed pass from J. Dargin while C. Dargin and his brother George worked it again, this time Calvin went over. J. A. Boehm felt fine and kicked in grand shape, he did not miss a goal from touchdown. The line that began the game held fine and only during the last five minutes of play did the heavy visitors make any headway and we have to be thankful to our own line for being so good.

The team has gone through the season without losing a game and have kept our goal line from being crossed.

The club thanks all of its many friends who came out and helped us in their cheering and good will.

Palmyra Field Club 12, Indiana F. C. 0.

The Palmyra boys and the Indiana F. C., of North Philadelphia, met on the West End Grounds Saturday last and the local boys came out a head once again by the score of 12-0. The game was very ragged and slow—this is from a week's lay-off at this time of the year does no one any good as the men have to almost start over again. Several new players were tried and most of them worked. The stars Saturday were few so I will not mention anyone's name, but none of them played up to their standard. However we cannot always play top-notch ball and are glad our bad game is over.

Palmyra High Defeated for First Time.

A sudden looking bunch of foot ball players were never seen, than Monday last, when the Palmyra High School team got off of the quarter of eight training—against the cause soon found out the Villanova Prep School, of Villanova, where the local team went, played and met their only defeat of the season. The local school bunch was in the hopes of making a record for the school but were out classed by a heavier and better coached team. The Villanova team has quite a standing in the foot ball journal and the Palmyra boys would not feel so down hearted as every team has to be defeated some time or other and to be defeated by a better team is no disgrace, so brace up boys and consider yourselves lucky that you held them to 15 points.

The local boys went without their star quarterback, Goldstone, but it is doubtful if he could have helped the boys out any better than Captain Dargin, who ably filled his position. Prickett was only in the game about one-half of a period but had to retire on account of a badly wrenched ankle. The field was in a very bad condition and when the boys came off the field they looked like mud-pies, this of course interfered with the local's fast work. Only once did Palmyra seem to have a chance and that was when Fluck blocked a kick and Sam. Lambert picked it up and if he only had kept his head about him and remembered where his goal was the locals would have at least scored but what's the use when the little "it" is there.

This is the last game and the next thing is the election of captain for 1912. There are several likely candidates so we will await the election before predicting the outcome.

Good work boys, a successful year, let us hope your team will be even more so next year.

Keith's Theatre.

On the superb vaudeville bill at Keith's Theatre for the first week in December two delightful artists share the headline honors—Miss May Tully, who with her admirable company, presents a new play, entitled "The Battle Cry of Freedom" and Miss Beanie Wynn, the charming comedienne, who will offer some new songs in her own individual and winsome manner.

Miss Tully's playlet was written by Boozeman Ingber, the well-known author and critic, with the assistance of Miss Tully, and deals with a divorce situation in Reno, Nevada. Two women of the same name discover each other during a controversy over a mistake in their apartments at a leading hotel, only to find that one is a divorcee of the very man from whom the other woman is seeking a divorce. The situation is very novel and amusing, and Miss Tully has achieved a genuine creation of "Mrs. Roberta Smith," while Miss Beanie Carson has a convincing part in the role of "Mrs. Gwendolyn Smith."

"The Battle Cry of Freedom" will be found to be a most original offering. Of course, Miss Beanie Wynn will make her usual hit and add to her vast array of friends and admirers in and about Philadelphia.

The Useful Crocodile Fish.

In the rivers and lakes of the Mexican state of Tabasco there swims a fish known as the "crocodile fish" which is most useful to man.

The skin of the crocodile fish, if properly cured, may be utilized for any of the purposes for which the lighter weights of leather are employed. The oil of the crocodile fish is a perfect lubricant and also used for softening leather. In addition to its qualities as a lubricant and emollient, the oil possesses medicinal qualities for which a superiority to the finest of Norwegian cod liver is claimed. The flesh of the crocodile fish is extensively used by the natives as food and highly relished by them as one of the delicacies of the country. Crocodile fish range in length from ten inches to four feet, and when dried assume an ashen hue, with light or shadings of a bluish tint.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Exact Thomas.

Thomas Hoar, the devoted servant upon whom Gilbert White, the English naturalist, depended to carry out his garden plans and to look after his comfort in many ways, was noted for his exactness. Mr. H. O. Shelby, in "Gilbert White and Selborne," gives an amusing illustration.

There was one occasion when Thomas came to report, "Please, sir, I've been and broke a glass."

"Broke a glass, Thomas! How did you do that?"

"I'll show you, sir," he rejoined as he disappeared for a moment. Returning with a glass in his hand, he let it fall on the floor, remarking:

"That's how I broke it, sir."

"There, go along, Thomas; you are a great fool," said his master, adding to himself, "and I was as great a one for asking such a foolish question."

Derby's Market Stone.

In Derby, England, there is a curious relic of the great plague of 1665. Golden stands in the arbutus gardens and is commonly called "the market stone."

To avoid infection the country folk from the surrounding villages would leave for anything they might want with the watchman, who used to go into the town, make the necessary purchases and deposit them on "the market stone."

An Optical Phenomenon.

The specter of Brocken is a striking optical phenomenon seen under peculiar atmospheric conditions at sunrise or sunset from the summit of the Brocken of Blockberg, the highest of the Harz mountains, in Saxony. It consists of a gigantic figure of the observer, projected on the mist that rises out of the valley on the side of the mountain opposite to the sun. This phenomenon is seen about eight or nine times every year and was formerly the cause of many popular superstitions.

Neeroyal Headgear.

One of the attaches of the American embassy at London tells a story where Michael Joseph Barry, the poet, who was appointed a police magistrate in Dublin, was the principal figure. There was brought before him an Irish American charged with suspicious conduct. The officer making the arrest stated, among other things, that the culprit was wearing a "Republican hat."

"Does your honor know what that means?" was the inquiry put to the court by the accused's lawyer.

"It may be," suggested Barry, "that it means a hat without a crown."—Harper's Magazine.

A Musical Treat.

It is seldom indeed that a musical pre- sentation is received with greater ap- preciation than was accorded the Palmyra Choral Society by the large audience which enjoyed its second concert in the Lyceum last Tuesday evening.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather nearly all the holders of the tickets were in their places when Director John R. McNeill and his chorus of sixty voices opened the program with the "Song of the Vikings," by Edna Fanning.

The other choruses were "Spring Song," "Psalms," "Greetings to Spring," "Strauss," "Bridal Chorus from the Rose Maiden," "Gowen," "Praise the Lord," (Thanksgiving Anthem) "Kondogger," "The chorus work was fine and bespeaks the most careful training on the part of the director, and much application on the part of the members. The accompanist was Mrs. Frederick Jaep, of Riverton.

Marie Stone Langston, contralto, and John K. Witzmann, violinist, both of Philadelphia, were delightful, and were repeatedly encored.

The Palmyra Choral Society is supply- ing a very real need in this community and should continue to receive the hearty support of those living in this neighbor- hood.

Field Club Wins.

On Thanksgiving Day afternoon The Field Club showed to their many faith- ful supporters that they have a foot ball team of some class. The local bunch had as their opponents the strong and heavy team from Uncle Sam's army—this team was Co. 55 of Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Dupont, Del. This same team has defeated every other army team round about and there are some pretty good teams in the U. S. A., and the local boys hoped to hold them to a low score, but after C. Dargia had blocked a kick and Will Ellis picked it up and went for a touchdown they soon changed their minds and played harder than they have ever played before.

The game in itself was an up-to-date game, both teams trying out new kicks, and forward passes. The locals had the best of this as our forward passes were only incompletely three times and con- sidering the times this play was worked it was remarkable. Gibbons went for a touchdown on a well executed pass from C. Dargia while C. Dargia and his brother George worked it again, this time Calvin went over. J. A. Bocheit kicked and kicked in grand shape, he did not miss a goal from touchdown. The line that began the game held fine and only during the last five minutes if play did the heavy visitors make any headway and we have been to the thank- ings as time passed with the ball on our two-yard line on the second down, but as it is, time was called and we just stopped being scored on.

The team has gone through the season without losing a game and have kept our goal line from being crossed.

The club thanks all of its many friends who came out and helped us with their cheering and good will.

(8.) What influences did the ridic- ule of Sanballat, and Tobiah, have on the work upon the wall?

(9.) If one is true to God does the devil mostly hurt or help him, in his life and work?

(10.) Verses 4-6—Is any experience that will give us the opportunity to pray, and to test God's power to be regretted?

(11.) Should the prayer of Nehem- iah that God would not forgive them, but that they might suffer for their sins, be imitated by us? Give your reasons.

(12.) Verses 7-8—What reasons are there to believe that those who are jealous of the prosperity of others, will not stop short of actual violence to accomplish their evil desires, if they can do so with safety to themselves?

(13.) Verse 9—What are two effect- ual things we may always do, when we are surrounded by enemies?

(14.) Is prayer without watching, or watching without prayer, of any avail, if we have the opportunity to do both?

(15.) Verse 10—What does Nehem- iah do the more injury the opposition of enemies, or the pessimistic dis- couragement of friends?

(16.) Verses 13-14—What effect did the natural dependence of Nehem- iah on his own countrymen, have upon Nehemiah?

(18.) Verse 15—What factor is courage alone, in winning life's battles? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(19.) Verses 16-23—In how many senses is a Christian under obligation to fight and to build all the time?

(20.) Why may we rely on God fighting our battles for us, if we fight and work with Him?

Nehemiah and His Enemies. Neh. vi.

Golden Text—The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? Ps. xlvii. 1.

(1.) Verses 1-2—When God is bless- ing us with great success in our work, how does that generally affect those who are doing the same kind of work?

(2.) Which are the worst enemies and why, those who outwardly declare their hostility, or those who pretend to be friends and are secretly working for our injury?

(3.) Why instead of being annoyed, did not Sanballat and his company admire and praise Nehemiah for his wonderful success?

(4.) In a race it is fair for each to try to win; but what is the character of the one who puts out his foot and trips up his chief competitor?

(5.) What would you say were the real motives of Sanballat, and his friends, in wanting to prevent the building of the wall of Jerusalem?

(6.) When men have for years neg- lected, or failed to do a good work, how do they generally feel when others do that work?

(7.) Verse 5—How would you char- acterize the answer of Nehemiah to the invitation to a conference with Sanballat?

(8.) What may be expected of busi- ness or professional men who neglect their calling, and spend much time in playing ball or other pastimes?

(9.) Verses 4-6—Why were they so anxious to have this outside confer- ence with Nehemiah?

(10.) If a false report gets circu- lated about a man who is doing a good work, how much if any notice should he take of it?

(11.) What probably would have been the result if Nehemiah had gone to this conference in order to pro- tect his good name?

(12.) Why do people so often im- pute the motives of those who are succeeding in doing a good work?

(13.) How should we treat those who oppose us, or speak evil of us?

(14.) What arguments did or could Sanballat use to justify the accusation which he said people were making against Nehemiah?

(15.) Is slander of good people gen- erally pure fabrication, or is it a per- version of actual facts, as in this case?

(16.) Verse 9—There is a natural tendency for us to be more or less afraid of such devilish and persistent enemies as these; what therefore is our best method to keep up our courage and succeed?

(17.) Verses 10-14—What would have happened if Nehemiah had been tempted to fear, and had shut himself up in the temple, as he was advised?

(18.) In what class would you place the moral coward?

(19.) Which are the more vile and why, bad men in a pious garb, or out-and-out sinners? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(20.) How did Nehemiah discern the hypocrisy of Shemshai?

(21.) Verses 15-18—How long did it take them to complete the wall?

(22.) Verse 19—How did Nehemiah display that are still essential for suc- cess?

He was keeping them for a time when the commercial depression had passed and the property they represented would resume the payment of dividends. Therefore either he was not in a position to give me any income, or if he was his wife prevented him from doing so.

Persons in the paper business are apt to acquire a habit on taking up a sheet of paper of holding it up to the light and looking at the watermark on it. Harry did this; at the same time rubbing the surface with his thumb and finger. I saw by the expression on his face that he had made a discovery. Hurriedly looking at the date on which the will was made he turned to me and said:

"That will is a forgery."

"How do you know?" I exclaimed, catching my breath.

Dumas' Scheme.

Alexandre Dumas, Sr., was once visiting his son, who at that time lived in a villa near Paris. They sat in the tiny scrap of a garden behind the house under the one small tree it contained. It was a brilliant hot day, and Dumas, who was very stout, said to his son:

"I am suffering with the intense heat."

"What shall I do, father?"

"Suppose you open your chamber window and let a little air into the garden," replied old Alexandre, with gravity.

The Greek room is usually not a place for humor, nor is the professor of Greek at the College of the City of New York a very humorous person. Nevertheless the following joke was sprung on him. The class had just returned from the chemistry room, where they had bravely listened to a discourse on the elements. The Greek lesson was commenced with history of it and her endless wanderings. Finally Professor Treadwell asked, "What did it die of?" A student who had been awakened by the ques-

Thank You, Gentlemen, Thank You.

Manager Hughes, Captain Wright and all the members of the Riverton Foot Ball Team, 1911, desire to express their appreciation of the loyal support and patronage they have received during the season just closed. The financial assistance was liberal and adequate; but that was not all. The many words of cheer and encouragement had much to do with the success achieved.

Thank you, gentlemen, thank you!

Gold Watch for Manager Hughes.

Manager John M. Hughes was presented with a handsome gold watch and chain last Monday night by the members of his first fall team, as a token of the high esteem in which he is held.

The able direction of Manager Hughes, the ability of Captain Walter Wright and the hard, plucky playing of the members as a whole, have combined to secure for the Riverton Foot Ball Team a very successful season in every way this year.

Manager Hughes and Captain Wright were unanimously elected to the team.

After the business meeting Manager Hughes entertained the team at a banquet.

The finances of the team are flourishing and coat sweaters will be purchased for all the members.

The team has good reason to feel pretty well satisfied.

Mother's Circle.

The next meeting of the Mother's Circle will be on the second Thursday of December, the 14th, instead of the 21st, and we hope all the Mothers will be present. The entertainment for the day promises to be very enjoyable, as a programme has been planned in which a number of children are to take part.

The Mothers are requested to bring a small donation to put in the stocking as we did last year, to bring joy and happiness to some less fortunate than ourselves, on our joyous Christmas Day.

The members of the Mother's Circle, and any others who are interested, are cordially invited to attend the open meeting at the Parish Club, Tuesday, December 12th, at 3 p. m., to hear Wm. D. Smallwood, secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of New Jersey.

Necrology.

Dr. William C. Parry, of Hainesport, whose funeral took place last Friday afternoon, December 1st, at Friends Meetinghouse in Mount Holly, was among the very prominent and useful citizens of Burlington County.

Some years ago he served his State as senator and stood in the front rank in that capacity. He was active and efficient in the construction of the Burlington County railway and served that institution in the recent past as its president.

Being a Friend in religion, he served for many years in the capacity of superintendent of the Mount Holly Firstday School.

As a physician, Dr. Parry was much beloved by his patients; and he was highly esteemed by the members of the District Medical Society of Burlington County, to which he belonged.

As a neighbor and an associate his genial, prudent, and upright life, caused him to be highly appreciated. His influence will be greatly missed among those by whom he was well known; and in the family circle, where, in the fullest sense, he was husband, father and dearest friend, his loss will be continuously and irreparably felt. It is to these that our sympathy goes out most most feelingly.

The Delaware River Navigation Company, operating between Trenton and Philadelphia, has changed hands, the new owners being a syndicate of which Barclay Johnson is the official head.

The present fleet of boats is to be thoroughly overhauled and two new steamers are to be added.

Steedle has holly.

Former State Senator Mitchell B. Perkins, while at Hathers, Pa., last week, in trying to avoid running down an unruly horse and its rider, wrecked his automobile which skidded from the roadway and overturned against a stone wall. In the car with Mr. Perkins was Mrs. Perkins, and Rev. and Mrs. Charles Betticher, all of whom escaped serious injury.

Some of the recommendations contained in the report of the State Board of Taxation, submitted to the Governor last week, are pretty radical. One proposes to eliminate the tax on personal estate. Another suggests that appointive County Boards take the place of the local assessors now elected by the people.

The seven recommendations are published in full in another column of this issue.

President Tait has accepted the invitation to attend the public celebration in Philadelphia on the afternoon of December 30, which will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the John Wanamaker store. From there the President will go to New York, where he will speak at the Peace Dinner the same night. Secretary of State Knox will also participate in the Wanamaker celebration and will speak at the dinner afterward.

Steedle sells Butterine—20c, 22c and 25c.

The Supreme Court on Monday decided that the Germantown does not change the manner of defraying election expenses and that counties, as in the past, must bear the burden. The court ordered that a peremptory mandamus issue compelling the Essex Board of Freeholders to pay the election expenses including the cost of the booths.

The Germantown act, the court holds, does not release the Boards of Freeholders from the provisions of the general election act of 1898, which places of the boards the obligation of paying election costs.

Get your mistletoe at Steedle's.

The abolition of the Parson Preparatory School, at Beverly, which has rapidly been falling into disuse, has been recommended by the State Board of Education by Prof. Henry Jones Ford, who constitutes the special committee having supervision over that institution.

The Parson School was established to train candidates for the State Normal School. At the present time it has twenty-five pupils and Professor Ford reported that sanitary conditions about the school are such as to make it a menace to the health of the neighborhood.

Accidental Death.

Norman, the small son of John Lucas, who had scarlet fever and diphtheria, died last Friday morning as the result of being given a drink of carbolic acid instead of water. Coroner Leoney was sent for and pronounced it a case of accidental death. The child was buried on Saturday in Asbury cemetery.

The officers who have been on duty in front of the house to prevent the inmates from breaking quarantine, were removed on Tuesday, owing to the fact that a promise had been given not to have the house until permission was given.

Miss Lettie Chambers, of Taylor's Lane, went to the house last Friday morning to act as nurse to her sister, Mrs. Lucas.

Mr. Lucas, who was locked up last Thursday for breaking quarantine, was returned to the house Friday and is still there.

Roberts-Chew.

Miss Evelyn Chew and Mr. Thomas Roberts, Jr., were married at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Titian J. Coffey, 1713 K. street, Washington, on Wednesday.

Dewees Roberts, of Milton, Mass., with the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, performed the ceremony, which took place at half past three o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts went to Washington Tuesday, accompanying their son, Mr. Thomas Roberts, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Reath, Mr. and Mrs. George W. B. Roberts, the Misses Roberts and other members of the family and friends went on Wednesday.

ADMIRE PASTOR RUSSELL'S BOOK.

"The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every One Should Read It. Atlanta Constitution says—"This wonderful book makes no assertions that are not well sustained by the Scriptures. It is built up stone by stone, and upon every stone is the text, and it becomes a pyramid of God's love, and mercy, and wisdom. There is nothing in the Bible that the Author denies or doubts, but there are many texts that he throws a flood of light upon that seems to uncover their meaning."

It Comforts the Bereaved.
"Bill Arp" says—"It is impossible to read this book without loving the writer and pondering his wonderful solution of the great mysteries that have troubled us all our lives. There is hardly a family to be found that has not lost some loved one who died outside the church—outside the plan of salvation, and if Calvinism be true, outside of all hope and inside of eternal torment and despair."

The Expense of a Wife.

A wife is a decided addition to the demands upon one's purse. In that sense, however sensible and managing she may be, she is expensive. But everything worth having has its price of one sort or another, and there are some things which cost much without which life is hardly worth living.

Said Thiers: "Most men contemplate making some self denial when they marry. They think they will give up such and such expensive pleasures. Later on, when they discover that they cannot do so, and at the same time they lack the means to indulge, they complain that it is the extravagance of their wives which causes the inconvenience."

Which wise saying is applicable to men in other countries besides that of France—New York American.

The Fat For the Fire.

When Lord Charles Berezford was in China one of the best servants it was his lot to have was a certain Chinaman named Tom Fat. Unfortunately Tom Fat did not always devote his undoubted intellect to worthy objects. He learned to imitate his master's handwriting so cleverly that he forged checks amounting to over $10,000 in two years. And on one occasion, when Lord Charles was professing a spirit of very broad toleration toward the heathen of all denominations, one of his friends ventured to inquire what he thought would be the ultimate fate of his Chinese servant, whereupon Lord Charles instantly replied, "That fat will certainly be in the fire."

Miss Myers was one of a party of pedestrians who were run down by Cain while he was racing two other teams, and pulled out to the side of the road in an effort to pass them. The party stood was hidden by a cloud of dust kicked up by the racing horses, and Cain's team dashed squarely into them. Miss Myers was the only one seriously hurt. She had her nose broken, her cheek bone smashed and her face otherwise disfigured by the horse's hoofs. She had been out of the hospital only three weeks when the accident happened.

Patriotic Order Sons of America.

One candidate was initiated into Camp No. 23 on Monday evening. In the absence of the regular degree officers only the obligation was given.

The relief committee certainly have their hands full at the present time. Among others now in their charge are Horace Dobbins, of Camden, Alonzo Gibbons, of Collingsdale, Pa., Wm. Thomson, of Riverton, and from Palmyra, Louis A. Weitman, Frank A. Mathews and Paul Jones.

Next term will be one of considerable work for the membership of Camp No. 23. It should start with a good corps of officers. If any of the present officers feel that they cannot keep up with the work of the camp with the enlarged membership their part should be to refuse to stand in the way of others who are willing to work. We have passed the point where we can stand still—we must go either forward or backward. As the active workers have agreed to go on the official board next term. No one should accept a nomination for one of the offices unless he feels that he can satisfactorily perform the duties thereof.

Koith's Theatre.

Excellence in varied forms characterizes the splendid bill at Koith's Theatre for the week of the 11th inst. It is a program of genuine holiday proportions. The leading light is Miss Irene Franklin, undoubtedly vaudeville's greatest character comedienne, assisted by Mr. Burt Green, her co-composer of songs of laughter and pathos which have made Miss Franklin nationally famous. On this occasion this extraordinary entertainment will offer some new songs in her own matches manner, interspersing them with some of the tried and true favorites which have brought smiles and tears to tens of thousands.

A new act of proportions is the Great Bell Family from Mexico. There are no less than ten people in this rare feature which consists of singing, dancing and some musical surprises on various instruments known to the Mexicans. This combination recently took New York and Boston by storm, and as Philadelphia is a thorough critic of high-class music, there is no doubt of the Bell's instantaneous success here.

That eminent playwright-comedian, Mr. J. C. Nugent, makes a welcome return after a long absence, presenting his admirable comedy, "The Squarer," supported by a company of finished artists. It is a sketch of city life with many amusing complications and keeps the audience guessing all the way through.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Lascott For the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

(Copyright 1919 by Rev. T. S. Lascott, D. D.)

Dec. 10, 1911.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Lascott, D. D.)

Nehemiah and His Enemies. Neh. vi. Golden Text—The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? Ps. xxxvii:1.

(1) Verses 1-2—When God is blessing us with great success in our work how does that generally affect those who are doing the same kind of work?

(2) Which are the worst enemies and why, those who outwardly declare their hostility, or those who pretend to be friends and are secretly working for our injury?

(3) Why instead of being annoyed, did Nehemiah and his company admire and praise Nehemiah for his wonderful success?

(4) In a race it is fair for each to try to win; but what is the character of the one who puts out his foot and trips up his chief competitor?

(5) What would you say were the real motives of Sanballat, and his friends, in wanting to prevent the building of the wall of Jerusalem?

(6) When men have for years neglected, or failed to do a good work, how do they generally feel when others do that work?

(7) Verse 3—How would you characterize the answer of Nehemiah to the invitation to a conference with Sanballat?

(8) What may be expected of business or professional men who neglect their calling, and spend much time in playing ball or other pastimes?

(9) Verses 4-8—Why were they so anxious to have this outside conference with Nehemiah?

(10) If a false report gets circulated about a man who is doing a good work, how much if any notice should he take of it?

(11) What probably would have been the result if Nehemiah had been invited to this conference in order to protect his good name?

(12) Why do people so often impugn the motives of those who are succeeding in doing a good work?

(13) How should we treat those who oppose us, or speak evil of us?

(14) What arguments did or could Sanballat use to justify the accusation which he leveled against Nehemiah?

(15) Is slander of good people generally pure fabrication, or is it a perversion of actual facts, as in this case?

(16) Verse 9—There is a natural tendency for us to be more or less afraid of such devices as persistent enemies as these; what therefore is our best method to keep up our courage and succeed?

(17) Verses 10-14—What would have happened if Nehemiah had been tempted to fear, and had shut himself up in the temple, as he was advised?

(18) In what class would you place the sin of moral cowardice?

(19) How did Nehemiah discern the hypocrisy of Shemshai?

(20) Verses 15-18—How long did it take him to complete the wall?

(21) What qualities did Nehemiah display that are still essential for success in the work of the church?

Lesson for Sunday, Dec. 17th, 1911. Ezra Teacher the Law, Neh. viii.

Dec. 17th, 1911.

(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Lascott, D. D.)

Ezra Teacher the Law, Neh. viii.

Golden Text—The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul. Ps. xix:7.

(1) Verses 1-6—What can be said for or against the churches in the community united at least once a year, in a camp meeting, with neither object but to quicken spiritual life and sinners converted?

(2) What was the great meeting of the Jews held, and what was its object?

(3) What answer would you make to the statement that it is the duty of the church in the large centres to have street meetings?

(4) What results will surely follow, when all the people are eager to have the law of God read to them?

(5) How long did the first meeting last?

(6) There is a general demand for short sermons; what is this a sign of? Is it poor or uninteresting preaching, or a growing lack of spirituality on the part of the preachers or people, or what?

(7) Verses 6-7—Which is the more becoming and natural in public worship, the subjects left quiet, "most remarkable," as he ejaculated, with surprise. Redundant the oratorical, he again carefully scrutinized the eye. "Very extraordinary indeed," he exclaimed. "I never heard of such an eye." This must be some new disease. Have you ever had an expert's opinion of it?

"Once," was the laconic reply. "The man who put it in said it was a fine bit of glass."

Self Raising Fame.

At the request of the new lecturer the driver of the sight seeing wagon stopped on every trip before an old fashioned three story brick house near Washington square, where the lecturer dwelt through the megaphone: "This is the birthplace of William Howard Bidwell."

That statement brought a puzzled look into the faces of passengers, but the lecturer's impressive manner awed them into silence, and nobody got up enough to ask questions. But one day the driver said in a confidential whisper: "Say, Bill, who in thunder is this William Howard Bidwell, anyhow?" "Me," said the lecturer. "New York Times."

BEHAVIOR.

You cannot rightly train one to an air and manner except by making him the kind of man of whom that air is the natural expression. Nature forever puts a premium on reality. What is done for effect is seen to be done for effect; what is done for love is felt to be done for love. A man inspires affection and honor because he was not lying in wait for these. The things of a man for which we visit him were in the dark and the cold.—Emerson.

(17) Is it still right for us, and why, to hold feasts and banquets, and get joy out of eating and drinking? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(18) Verse 12—What provision is being made today for feeding and clothing the poor?

(19) Verse 13-18—Is preaching or singing, or praying, or study of the Bible, in tents occasionally, likely to be more effective than under usual circumstances?

(20) Should it, or not, and why, be the aim to have every religious meeting produce "very great gladness"? Lesson for Sunday, Dec. 24th, 1911. Malachi Rebuking and Encouraging Mal. iii:1-14:3.

Reiterated.

Edmund Keen was playing in "Richard III." and the part of Catesby had to be taken by a low comedian, who sauntered on to the stage at the wrong moment and uttered the famous words, "My lord, the Duke of Buckingham is taken," in the wrong place. Edmund clinched his fists in rage, but otherwise took no notice of the remark.

Later the comedian repeated the words in the right place, and when the king expressed surprise at the news Catesby folded his arms, walked boldly down the stage and remarked to the great actor in loud tones: "I told you so before, Mr. Keen, but you wouldn't believe me."

Cerberus' Three Heads.

The most famous of dogs is Cerberus, who watches the entrance to Tartarus. He has three heads, but Hercules dragged him to earth and Orpheus put him to sleep with his lyre. The original dog cakes were given to Cerberus by the ably who led Aeneas through hell. They were made of flour and seasoned with poppies and honey. He must have been an opium fiend, as the celestial drug is made from poppies.

"How to Cerberus" was one of these cakes given to the monster by Greeks and Romans as a bribe to let them in without molestation.

Back to King Alfred.

Splinter is an Anglo-Saxon word. The fleece which was brought home by the Anglo-Saxon farmer, in summer was spun into clothing by the females of the family during the winter. Alfred the Great in his will called the female part of the family the spindle side, and it was an axiom with our frugal forefathers that no young woman was fit to be a wife till she had spun for herself a set of body, table and bed linen. Hence the maiden was termed a spinner or splinter.—London Chronicle.

Dangerous Turns.

Two late revelers were struggling along the avenue in the wee hours of the morning, when a car, which was a lunge and almost landed in an area-way.

"Look out there, my man!" cautioned the big policeman in the shadows. "That dog you almost turned turtle!"

"Bunny," whispered the other companion in awed tones—"Bunny, don't try to walk any farther. Let's call a taxi."

"Whash matter?" demanded his companion thickly.

"Matter? Why, m-matter enough! Officer said you almost t-turned turtle! N-next thing you'll turn to an alligator or a smoothie or something and well b-both land in the bug ward!"—Judge.

A Grim Deathbed Joke.

It was the 21st of April, 1821. Dr. P. Frank, the eminent governor of the University hospital, Vienna, lay on his deathbed and was expected every moment to pass away. Once more the eight leading medical men of the capital gathered round his couch. All at once the patient turned out laughing.

"What is it that tickles your fancy?" his friends inquired.

"A story has just come into my mind," was the reply. "On the battle-field of Waterloo a French soldier, counting his wounds, 'Success,' he exclaimed. 'It takes eight bullets to kill a French grenadier.' Gentlemen, there are eight of you too." Thus he spoke and expired in a fit of laughter.

His Recommendation.

Her Auto Ride
The Best Laid Plans
Go Awry
By ALLEN A. BROWN

Annabelle Dayton in her smart little motorcar paused at the summit of the hill and drew a sharp breath of appreciation. A line of distant blue indicated the sea. In the foreground were green clad slopes running down to snowy beaches. The roofs of the village pointed up among the trees, and a church spire gleamed like fire. There were white sails beyond and the black drift of smoke from a passing steamer.

"This is lots better than going to Aunt Edith's party," thought Annabelle mutely. "Just fancy spending this glorious afternoon in a lighted drawing room listening to the great Alvan Eldred, 'master of the violin,' and being distinguished by long hair, greasy coat collar and a pervading presence of garlic!" Annabelle's dainty nose sniffed scornfully at the imaginary portrait of the great violinist of whom her aunt had raved for weeks.

"I'm going down, down to the very edge of the sea."

As the machine sped downward Annabelle was suddenly conscious that something was wrong. The brakes did not respond to her frantic pressure, the levers grunted harshly without effect, and there was an unfamiliar grinding sound from beneath her feet. She had been down the hill for many minutes before, slowly, cautiously, she knew that from the foot of the hill the street ran down to the water's edge, ending at the broad dock where the boats landed.

Nothing could stop her speed unless the color left her cheeks as she realized the almost certain death on her as she fled from the stone pillars, it seemed to mark the entrance to some estate. The few pedestrians turned and watched her flight with disapproval; a constable held up a warning hand; a wagon scuttled into the side-walk to avoid her coming.

Faster she went, her eyes, dark with dread, fixed on a wide opening on the right. Flanked by stone pillars, it seemed to mark the entrance to some estate. The few pedestrians turned and watched her flight with disapproval; a constable held up a warning hand; a wagon scuttled into the side-walk to avoid her coming.

Some Women Dread Baking Day-Others Use A Glenwood

Wm. B. Lynch, Riverton

Annabelle stood spellbound, her blue eyes like stars, her red lips parted, as she watched the color of her cheeks fade away. Before her host returned, tray in hand.

"Mrs. Larrup has disappeared, and it seems to be the maid's half holiday, so you must be satisfied with my humble services. Here are current wine and some black and white. And the cologne. Isn't that what ladies use when they are upset?" He placed the tray lightly at her elbow.

"Thank you, I wasn't upset," returned Annabelle meekly. She sniffed at the cut glass bottle more in gratitude for his thoughtfulness than because she needed its pungent aroma.

"Thank you, I am afraid I've made you lots of trouble and ruined your garden. I hope you will allow me to have it put in order again." She slipped the wine he poured for her and looked up at him from her dark blue eyes, frankly boyish in their direct glance.

"Really, you've given old Jackson something to do. He's been eating his head off lately and grumbling because I wouldn't let him dig up some of the beds and set out other plants. There he is now, mowing the lawn, but there was no lessening of the mad speed. Wildly it tore through the open gateway, ground into the hard packed earth of the drive, skidded about a muddy spot under the trees, left the drive and pounded along soft green turf, miraculously avoiding tree trunks, making straight for the large brown house set in the midst of the grounds.

Another twist of the wheel and the house seemed to glide past. Before her was a distant blur of gorgeous colors—a dower garden in the midst of a summer holiday. The car was left as a turban. Her head dropped on her hands that clutched the wheel, and she closed her eyes and prayed.

There was a low shout beside her; the machine jolted under additional weight; a pair of strong hands gripped the wheel from hers; there was the pressure of brakes; the motor slowed suddenly, bumped into some obstruction and then bounded back to a stand still.

"It's all over now," said a kindly voice.

Annabelle opened her eyes and looked fearfully forth on the summer house still creaking from the force of encounter, on the crushed flowers she had mowed down and lastly into the countenance of a man who sat beside her in the car.

"This is a lot better than going to Aunt Edith's party," thought Annabelle mutely. "Just fancy spending this glorious afternoon in a lighted drawing room listening to the great Alvan Eldred, 'master of the violin,' and being distinguished by long hair, greasy coat collar and a pervading presence of garlic!" Annabelle's dainty nose sniffed scornfully at the imaginary portrait of the great violinist of whom her aunt had raved for weeks.

"I'm going down, down to the very edge of the sea."

The few pedestrians turned and watched her flight with disapproval; a constable held up a warning hand; a wagon scuttled into the side-walk to avoid her coming.

While the chauffeur tinkered over the car Annabelle related the story of the mad driving to the man who sat beside her. She omitted nothing, and even the fact that she had deliberately run away from her aunt's music and the great violinist nor her terror at the last when her car sped down the hill.

The man without lateral interruption. He smiled when she mentioned Alvan Eldred, and he winced when she described the terrible ride down the hill. When she had finished he told her that he had been sitting in the arbor and had seen her approach across the turf—had raced to meet her. It was nothing at all.

"So you did not want to see Alvan Eldred," he said a little later. "Have you ever heard him play?"

"Once," admitted Annabelle, "and it was so heavenly it made me cry. I was so overcome, and I couldn't see him, and I didn't want to. I know what you look like, and I am always disillusioned after I see them, some are so-so grubby, you know. This time he played an old thing, the intermezzo from 'Cavalleria,' you know, and I've wanted to hear it again just as he played it, only—"

"You're afraid of the garlic and the greasy coat collar, eh?" He was smiling down at her in the friendliest sort of way.

"I know you think I'm horrid about it and not a bit artistic, but I'm confessed cheerfully. 'As for questionnaires, I'm afraid you do Eldred an injustice. He's an American, you know.'"

"I beg your pardon?" Annabelle's face turned to deepest rose as she hastily withdrew from him, but her hair had caught in a button of his coat, holding it firmly by one long golden strand.

"Just a moment. There—I don't want to hurt you. It's off now." He spoke in a matter of fact tone as if he was in the habit of unearthing lovely maidens with coat buttons every day of his life. "I'm afraid you are pretty well shaken up with your ride. You had a narrow escape." He had alighted and helped Annabelle to the ground. She looked wearily at the summer house; you must be pretty well knocked under with the strain. After you have had a cordial perhaps you may feel able to tell how it happened that you invaded my dower garden."

He smiled pleasantly down on her as he led the way into the rose covered arbor and drew forward a deep wicker chair for this unexpected guest, who sank into it with a little sign of relief. "I will send my housekeeper, Mrs. Larrup, to you; she may be of assistance." Annabelle had time to rearrange her

Where the young fellow fell in the case? "Hiding behind the boxes. I let him in at the window while you were gone."

I hastily examined the lid of the box and found it had been held in place by clamps on the inside that could be easily turned. Then I called to the young fellow to come out of hiding. I heard him climbing over the boxes from the back part of the house and presently he came down into the dim light. He wasn't much older than the girl.

"Now, you children tell me all about this escapade at once," I said.

The girl made the explanation. She told me that she loved "Willie," as she called him, and that she knew her parents would not consent to a marriage since they were so young, so they thought that they would elope. Willie had proposed the plan they had adopted. He had made the box, put her in it and shipped her as freight to my station, where he proposed to join her.

"And now," she added, "won't you just go like a dear, good man for a clergyman? We love each other and would like to be married at once. Consider my reputation."

"You little chit!" I replied, astounded at her impudence. "Do you suppose I'm going to aid in the marriage of two children just out of the nursery? You come into my office and stay there till I telegraph your parents."

The girl, who had taken the lead from the first, begged hard to induce me to let them go their way, but I was obstinate.

I locked them in the office and went out to send a telegram. When I returned they had got out, but how I don't know. I never heard of them after.

Ignis Fatuus.

Scientists have never explained to their satisfaction the light known popularly as the "will-o'-the-wisp," and also known as ignis fatuus. The phenomenon has been attributed to the combustion of carbons and sulphurs ignited by sulphuretted hydrogen. This theory has been shown to be a fallacy by persons who have passed their hands through the so called fire and felt no heat. The strange fire does not follow over cemeteries and over lands and swamps when no wind is blowing. Superstitious persons attribute the flickering fires to the souls of the dead. The most plausible theory is that the phenomenon is due to radium emanations rising from beneath the ground.—Harpers Weekly.

An Astonishing Invention.

Perhaps one of the most astonishing inventions on record was the device of a Frenchman who suggested the laying down of huge suction tubes from the coast out to various points in the open sea. When war broke out and hostile fleets approached the coast, the Frenchman proposed to set to work, the enemy's vessels would be caught by the irresistible suction, drawn to the ends of the tubes and there held firmly as prisoners. The one essential part of this idea which made it so interesting was the machinery which was going to draw a 25,000 ton warship backward with its engines going at "full steam ahead."—Brooklyn Eagle.

His Barrow Was Lost.

In his early days as the bar late Lord Bowen prosecuted a prisoner who had been caught in a house at night crawling downstairs with his boots off and carrying portable property. The evidence was so overwhelming that Bowen ventured to indulge in a little irony and remarked on the thoughtfulness of the prisoner in removing his shoes, thus disturbing nobody, and in selecting only solid articles for his booty. Bowen then pointed out to the jury that the family had enough forks and spoons left for breakfast. The jury were so impressed with these extenuating circumstances that they acquitted the prisoner. Bowen never could play irony again when addressing a jury.—London Spectator.

Japan's Gorgeous Fire Brigades.

The fire brigades of Japan are organized into companies, and each of these companies carries some striking emblem as a kind of rallying banner. Glorified drum majorettes, gigantic clubs, spades, hearts, diamonds, balls, crescents—all kinds of strange signs—are borne proudly aloft by the standard-bearers of the detachment. It is the duty of this fire company to stand in the thickest of the fire, amid smoke, sparks and hissing water jets, to throw where the company is at work. Thrilling tales are told of modern Japanese among these men who have remained too long at the post of duty and have been engulfed in a fiery furnace upon the collapse of a roof.—Wide World Magazine.

An Airboat.

The aeroplane is an airboat rather than a flying machine. The only action of the bird that it imitates is the bird's soaring, in nearly the same sense in which a boat floats on a duck swims. With the duck, however, there is one difference. It shares the balloon principle, because its body will not sink when it stands still, whereas the aeroplane will fall unless it is constantly urged forward. The duck is lighter than its bulk of water, as the balloon is lighter than its own bulk of air. To call an aeroplane a flying machine is therefore exactly the same as to call a boat a swimming machine (keeping in mind the swimming of the duck and neglecting that of fishes and of human beings).—St. Nicholas.

GOOD COMPANIONS.

It makes no difference, in looking back five years, how you have been doted or dowered, whether you have been lodged on the first floor or the attic, whether you have had gardens or baths, good cattle and horses, have been carried in a neat equipage or in a ridiculous truck. These things are forgotten so quickly and leave no effect. But it counts much whether we have had good companions in that time, almost as much as what we have been doing.—Emerson.

FUNCTIONAL ETHICS

By Rev. CLARENCE GREELEY,
Pastor Congregational Church, Maplewood, N. J.

As Schopenhauer thought, the solution of life is not for us in faroff times of the blessed. We are born for the world of experience, task, vocation, function, ethically known by our fruits.

Right function is progressive action. True moral life is like the heart pulsation. It ends one beat only to begin another. The twentieth century philosopher or preacher of ethics must be something of a naturalist to realize that the functions of the yearning, struggling will are describable only in terms of experience and the human mind, with its moral truths or averments, has grown through countless ages.

The eighteenth century rationalism, like the medieval dogmatism and the Greek idealism, looked upon the moral world not as dynamic or functional, but static. The nineteenth century thinkers since Darwin agreed on the transformation of species, which had been regarded since Aristotle as fixed and final in form once for all. Men of the rationalistic eighteenth century had much to say of the dignity of changeless essential man from the savage up to Shakespeare.

But the nineteenth century proved that human nature is more like an organism not permanent in its structure, but capable of progress or retrogression, as the outcome of physical, mental and moral growth of the race for more than 10,000 years, and the moral dignity is that of untold ages of suffering, survival, failure, victory, progress.

Our new psychology is called functional; our new logic is called functional; our new philosophy is really functional. There is even a functional theology, its truth not sickled over with the pale cast of thought, but vital with the pulse-beats of the world. I do not seek, however, to corner functional ethics—quite the reverse—but would define the subject in part as we follow the rough hewn path of new truth, I am trying to blaze in the woods, as follows: Ethics that associates itself with the functions of the body—growing out of those and of society—and the conceptions underlying.

The importance of this method (functionalism) on almost every side of the Christian, who, as over against mere rationalistic creeds, have a presentiment that Christ's ethical way was functional instead of credal or metaphysical, and as a mode of thinking, functionalism was the only ethical way which was going to draw a 25,000 ton warship backward with its engines going at "full steam ahead."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Gospel of the Song of Life.

Preaching in the Park Manor Congregational Church of Chicago, the Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins characterized the gospel as the song of life, furnishing every element of happiness in the universe to those who keep their hearts filled with the holy theme of love.

"A religion that came into this world with a song of gladness is in danger of going out with a sob of unbelief," said Dr. Hopkins. "In spite of a few veils in an apple tree, the birds come just as regularly and build their nests and sing."

THE WRATH OF GOD ALREADY UPON US

No Death Curses Resting Upon the Angels.

A New Interpretation Given to an Old Text Makes It Fit Well to Prevailing Conditions.—Newspaper, Says Pastor Russell, This is "The Wrath of God," to Which We Should Take Heed.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 15.—Pastor Russell preached twice today to large audiences. We report his discourse from the 1st of 18th, "The Wrath of God is revealed against all unrighteousness of men." (Romans 1:18.)

The Bible tells what the wrath of God is. We will look at that in due time, but now let us look at our text, and at the wrath which it says is revealed. If it is revealed, where is it and what is it?

We answer that the expression of God's wrath against sin is seen in the sentence of death against the sinner—"Dying, thou shalt die." This the Scriptures call the "curse." It has rested upon our race for six thousand years. It is visible to all, tested by the reign of sin and death. Do we not see depravity all about us, and do we not realize some of it in our own selves? Do we realize that our race is dying, mentally, morally and physically?

Do we realize that all this is the penalty of sin? Every piece of crime, every funeral procession, every cancer, every cemetery, every undertaker's sign, every physician's sign, all of our weaknesses testify that God's wrath is upon our race. Moreover, the earthquakes and pestilences, the droughts and floods, tell us that our earth is not in a perfect condition, suffering from the reign of sin and death. They tell us that there is a reason why our race is troubled by a curse as a race of convicts.

No Death Curse in Heaven.

Does anyone think that the wrath of God is thus revealed in heaven? It is visible to all, tested by the reign of sin and death. They tell us that there is a reason why our race is troubled by a curse as a race of convicts.

The Wrath to Come.

Our Lord also corroborated the words of John the Baptist, and he declared that the wrath of God upon that nation was just; His words were, "These be the days of vengeance upon this people, that all things written in the Law and the Prophets concerning them should be fulfilled" (Luke xxi, 22-23); also the Apostle Paul (1 Thessalonians ii, 16). Some of the things declared by the Lord in the Law and the Prophets were fulfilled in the destruction of Jerusalem, and in the trouble which came upon the Jews at that time. But other things written have had a grander fulfillment for now eight hundred years, and not one jot or tittle can fail until all be fulfilled.

However, St. Paul (Ephesians v, 6; Colossians iii, 6) mentions a coming time of Divine wrath, as Jesus said His followers, saying, "Watch ye, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all those things coming upon the world, and to stand before the Son of Man." This indicates that the wrath here mentioned is to be world-wide, and in the end of this age, even as the wrath upon the Jewish nation was nation-wide, in the end of their age.

God's People Should Keep Hands Off.

This special wrath will be manifested in "a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." Daniel xii, 1. It will be especially upon those who fail to live up to the light and privilege which they enjoy. It will be upon all the selfish or covetous, and upon the ungodly and upon those who unduly prize earthly things, wealth, honor, etc. God's people are warned, "Be ye not partakers with them," otherwise you will have no part or lot in the glorious Kingdom to which you have been called of God, as joint heirs with Jesus Christ, conditional upon your suffering with Him that you may also reign with Him.

Love All.

There is no harm to a man's heart like love not only to the love others feel towards him, but that he feels towards others. Be in love with all things, not only with your fellows, but with the whole world, with every creature that walks the earth, with the birds in the air, with the insects in the grass.—H. Fielding Hall.

Christmas Seal Envoi.
By William L. Steedle.
(With apologies to Kipling.)

When our last seal is disposed of, and the workers are weary and tired, When the millionth message is carried and the remnant heap has been fired, We shall rest and laugh, we shall need to lie down a whole night or two Till the Spirit of Human Kindness shall set us to working anew.

And those that have bought shall be happy, and those that have sold shall be glad, To know that their million pennies are stemming the white plague too, Are buying and teaching the little ones and sunshine and air.

Assuring the dwellers of death houses that hope is still young and fair, And no one shall wean a havoc and levy against the good.

Not when the curse of the plague-heart would point his eternal shame! Put all for the joy of working shall move toward a far-lung star For the health of Man as Man sees it, or the God of things as they are.

Stamps are now on sale at Mr. Alfred Smith's dry goods store, D. D. Bastian's book shop and beginning on Wednesday, December 20, will also be obtainable at the post office.

An effort is being made to dispose of 5000 of these stamps in Riverton. Will you help?

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as usual at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription ($1.75) is paid for 1912, a beautiful Calendar for the new year. The cover picture reproduces a water-color painting of a bit of New England coast, giving a glimpse of breezy-ocean, of smiling sky, of warm, sunny rocks, which will come like a breath of salt air to those whose whole life has been passed inland. The picture being in eight colors, the tones of the original are faithfully reproduced.

Butterine—none better—at Steedle's.
The Delaware River steamer Burlington, sunk on a ledge of Periwig bar, near Bordentown, was raised Friday from the river bed, where she has lain submerged since she ran aground early in the summer. Divers found that the principal damage to the vessel was in the steel hull plates, which were crushed and broken when the boat grounded on the gravel ledge. The Burlington was formerly the John A. Warner. She was built prior to the Civil War and was a federal dispatch boat during the conflict.

A most interesting meeting of the Anna Stockton Chapter D. A. R. was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Rue, on December 11.

The committee on permanent meeting place reported progress with much enthusiasm and a definite plan of action to this end was adopted. It is quite probable that this object will be accomplished in the near future.

The Chapter will meet with Mrs. Joseph Roberts on Lippincott avenue, Riverton, on January 15, when the annual election of officers will take place.

The annual celebration of Washington's birthday by the Patriotic Societies of the State of New Jersey will be held at Princeton this year. A religious service at Trinity Church at 11 a. m., followed by a civil service in Thompson Hall, which will consist of the presentation of flags and an address by Dr. Hamilton W. Mabie, followed by a luncheon.

Those desiring to attend the luncheon will send $1 to Mrs. William Libbey, Princeton, on or before February 17th.

Horticultural Society.
The annual meeting of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society was held at Freehold Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Joseph Barton, of Burlington county, was elected president. Other officers are: Howard G. Taylor, of Riverton, secretary; George B. DeCamp, of Roseland, treasurer; executive committee, Horace Roberts, of Moorestown; Albert T. Repp, of Glassboro; Elias S. Black, of Little Silver; W. H. Reed, of Teanacott; John H. Barclay, of Cranbury; fruit committee, Lemuel Black, of Hightstown; J. Howard Lippincott, of Moorestown; C. A. Bard, of Manalapan; J. B. Courtylow, of Princeton; C. Fleming Stanger, of Glassboro. The society will meet at Burlington next year.

Many interesting addresses and valuable suggestions were made. And of the most practical ideas advanced was that of Secretary Howard G. Taylor, who in an interesting report, summed up the work of the year, and urged members to endeavor to bring every fruit grower in their country into touch with the State association. Instead of using the old orchards, as heretofore, the secretary said that a trip of inspection had demonstrated that good care and science in making these orchard veterans very profitable producers. An unsprayed and neglected orchard, he said, is a menace to every community.

BOARD OF EDUCATION
Elected Officers, Receives Reports and Appoints Committee to Investigate School Work.

The annual meeting of the Burlington County Board of Education held Friday at the Masonic Hall, Burlington, was largely attended, and matters pertaining to the county school conditions were discussed and measures taken to rectify reported defects.

The committee on education gave an excellent paper on a broader view on educational lines. A change was made in the list of officers and an addition was made to the executive committee.

In the morning T. G. Green, principal of the Riverside public school, read an interesting paper on the Bonet system of instruction of defective children.

The apportionment of school moneys was brought up for discussion, but no definite action was taken. Under the present system the State makes apportionments according to the daily attendance.

Following is the list of officers: president, Frank S. Day, Palmyra; vice-president, Charles G. Hutcheson, Smithville; secretary, I. Edward Harrison, Jacobstown; treasurer, Harry J. Dennis, Delanco; executive committee, Robert T. Evans, Masonville; Richard Hughes, Florence; Samuel S. Fort, Wrightstown; Warren C. Pine, Riverside; Daniel Ewan, Smithville; Thomas B. Gandy, Burlington; Arthur E. Prickett, Medford; Benjamin Lippincott, Cinnaminson; W. A. Donaghy, Palmyra.

Following are extracts from the report made by the Committee on Education: "Since the purpose of the public schools, as far as least as the State is concerned, is to make good and desirable citizens, the chief excuse for their enormous public expense must ever be sought in their beneficial effect upon citizenship."

"Education means more than drill in elementary branches, and more than skill in the academic; it means the fixing of habits and the development of character."

"We deplore the growing tendency among our children lightly to spend their earnings and allowances. Thrift is necessary to success in life; and those who deal with children, whether parents or teachers, can hardly do a greater service than by encouraging habits of economy."

In the afternoon session the principal subject for discussion was the lack of proper instruction to teachers as charged by the State Board of Education.

The following resolution was passed: "WHEREAS, a report having been presented to the State Board of Education, showing the lack of thoroughness in the essential work of the schools in such subjects as arithmetic, spelling, geography and history be it

Resolved, that this County Board of Education take some action at this meeting with the view of ascertaining the facts of such conditions, their causes, and their remedy, if found existent, as far as possible."

After considerable interesting discussion by both members of the Board and the principals present, it was decided to appoint the following Committee to recommend action after an investigation of facts and an analysis of causes:

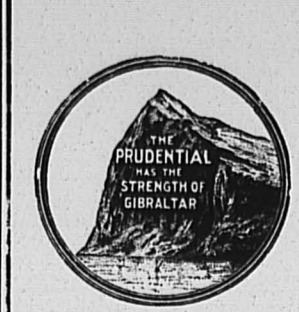

Theodore J. Green, supervising principal, Riverside, chairman; L. L. Gatz, supervising principal, Pemberton; W. C. Sullivan, supervisor, Mount Holly; and the following members of Boards of Education: Dr. Charles Voorhees, Palmyra; W. H. Zelle, Marlton; Mattie Miller, Riverton; Mrs. Mary L. Braslin, Crosswicks.

As chairman of the above committee, Prof. Green makes the following request: "Wishing to have sufficient data for the committee to work on at its approaching meeting to be held early in January, I am taking it upon myself to request not only teachers and school officers, but all who may be interested in the work of the schools to submit any opinions, statement of causes, or suggested remedies, so far as they may have these desired data in their possession."

All pertinent matter reaching the committee through any of its members will have consideration so far as possible."

THEODORE J. GREEN,
Chairman of Committee.

Lord Stanley and the Scot.
The antiquity which Dr. Johnson bore to Scotland was not singular or unprecedented. Lord Stanley came plainly dressed to request a private audience of King James I. A gayly dressed Scotchman refused him admittance into the king's closet. The king, upon hearing an altercation between the two, came out and inquired the cause.

"My liege," said Lord Stanley, "this gay countryman of yours has refused me admittance to your presence."

"Cousin," said the king, "how shall I punish him? Shall I send him to the Tower?"

"Oh, no, my liege," replied Lord Stanley, "infect a severe punishment; send him back to Scotland."

Wool in Early Virginia.
Great encouragement was given in Virginia in early days to the raising and manufacture of wool. The assembly estimated that five children not over thirteen years of age could by their work readily spin and weave enough to keep thirty persons clothed. Six pounds of tobacco were paid to any one bringing to the county courthouse where he resided a yard of homespun woolen cloth made wholly in his family; twelve pounds of tobacco were offered for reward for a dozen pairs of woolen hose knitted at home. Slaves were taught to spin, and wool wheels and wool cards are found in the eighteenth century house of every inventory of planters' house furnishings.

CHARACTER.
Character gives weight to one's words and permanence to one's acts. Character secures the confidence of those who employ us, the respect of those above us, the love of those on our level, the loyalty of those beneath. Character is the guinea stamp on the gold, the ring of the genuine coin, the signature at the foot of the portrait.

THE GOLDEN AGE AT HAND.
Scriptural Evidences That Are Astonishing—No One Can Afford to Be Without the Knowledge.
We do our friends a valuable service when we call their attention to the valuable book entitled, "THE TIME IS AT HAND," in which are given many Scriptural evidences to prove where we are on the stream of time. "Men's hearts are failing them for fear," and many of the leading thinkers are proposing remedies to better conditions. The Scriptures assure us that man's extremity will be God's opportunity, and this book holds out an anchor to those who fear the wave of unrest now spreading over the world.
The honest heart confesses that it is at a loss for an explanation of transpiring events. While we refer to this as the BRAIN AGE and the AGE OF ENLIGHTENMENT, nevertheless many realize that we are fast approaching a crisis which is wrapped in darkness owing to the present world-wide social, religious and political unrest.
As though by instinct the whole creation, while it groans and travails in pain together, waits for, longs for and hopes for the DAY, calling it the "GOLDEN AGE"; yet men grope blindly because not aware of the great Jehovah's gracious purposes. And to his wondering creatures, looking at the length and breadth, the height and depth of the love of God, surpassing all expectation. He explains: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord; for as the heavens are higher than the earth so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." Isa. 55:8, 9.

The Modern Physics of Epicurus.
Let us ask ourselves if, in our theories of atoms and electrons, we have really advanced beyond the ideas of the ancients. Democritus certainly advanced a theory of atoms, and Epicurus taught that an infinite number of atoms, existing from all eternity in infinite space, continually in motion, were the elements of that matter of which the universe is composed. It is true that our modern theory of atoms at first sight seems to resemble closely that of these two philosophers, for in the air of a room we suppose billions of atoms; we believe in the continuity of matter, and therefore that of matter is ultimately made up of atoms. The ancients' conception of atoms was a slight of the imagination, but the modern theory is supported by measurements of weight, magnitude and speed.—Professor John Trowbridge in Atlantic.

FINE PICTURES AT WON- DERFUL PRICES.

North American Coupons Make Available Photographures of Masterpieces.

For the second of a series of remarkable fine art photographures The Philadelphia North American is offering that greatest of masterpieces by a woman painter, "Madame Le Brun and Daughters."

The picture, which The North American offers to its readers, unframed, at the remarkable price of 5 cents, when accompanied by a coupon from Sunday's edition, is of a quality that would sell for at least $1 in art shops. It is 16x20 inches, and is printed on high-grade art paper. An even more remarkable offer is made of the same picture, framed, for 70 cents and the coupon. In case pictures are to be mailed, 5 cents extra is required. Framed pictures are sent out by express, charges collect at owners risk, on receipt of 70 cents and the coupon.

Vigore Le Brun, the greatest of French woman painters—in fact, the greatest painter of any time—lived into this work her mother's soul. It represents all the mother's devotion to a child—a devotion which sadly enough, the child outgrew in mature years. It is the ideal picture of mother love, since it is the representation of that affection as painted by a mother herself. The picture is one of the great treasures of the French government collection at the Louvre Museum, at Paris.

The North American's coupon is also available for the purchase, at the same price, of a magnificent photographurecopy of "Mona Lisa," the $5,000,000 painting which was stolen from the Louvre, at Paris, last August. The reproduction is one of the finest that has ever been offered.

P. O. S. of A.
On account of Christmas and New Year the meetings of Camp No. 23 will be held on Tuesday evenings, 26th and 2nd, instead of Monday evenings 25th and 1st. All members take notice.

Next Monday evening will be nomination of officers. Only those who intend to do the work required should allow their names to be used as candidates. We are a big organization and the members expect every officer to do his duty.

Financial Secretary Rarden states that the growth of the Camp is such that it takes too much of his time to attend to the duties properly. He has decided not to take a re-nomination. Brother George E. Reber is spoken of as a worthy successor to Brother Rarden.

Brothers Bann, Stewart, McIlhenny, Keler and Horner were the representatives of Camp No. 23 at a district meeting held at Roebing on Thursday evening.

A new camp was instituted at Jacobstown, Burlington County, on Monday evening last.

Captain Swift.
Captain Swift, replete with refined comedy, touching pathos and intense dramatic situations, will be given at the Lyceum on the evenings of January 12th and 13th, for the benefit of The Field Club of Palmyra, by the following cast: Joseph Richards, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Williams, Mrs. Samuel Collins, Miss Marjorie Dugan, Edward Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Truchsess, Arthur Hall, Augustus Warner and Samuel MacMullen.

This thoroughly interesting drama was made famous by Maurice Barrymore and Miss Agnes Booth in America, and Sir Beatrix Tree in England. The original prompt-book used by the American production of this drama is being used in the production through the courtesy of Percy Winter, stage director of the Orpheum Stock Co., Philadelphia, who will also and the company with criticisms before the final performance. It is rumored that the professional-like action which will be displayed in this production can scarcely be excelled by other than players of pre-eminent standing in the histrionic art.

The masterly management of Joseph W. Richards can have no other result.

Railroads Must Provide Cups.
Following the enactment of Chapter 171, P. L. 1911, which prohibits the use of common drinking cups in public places in this State, complaint was made to the Public Utilities Commission that no facilities for the use of drinking water were provided upon the railroad trains operated in this State. Upon this complaint a hearing was given to the railroad companies interested, and the Board found and determines that the several railroad companies operating within the State of New Jersey, which do not provide facilities for the use of drinking water by passengers upon the passenger cars of the trains operated by them on which water is furnished for drinking purposes, fail to furnish adequate and proper service.

The Board therefore orders the companies operating in New Jersey to provide and keep on all passenger trains operated by them within the State on which water is furnished for drinking purposes, inexpensive individual drinking cups, or glasses in sanitary condition, that may be used by any passenger, with out cost to such passenger, solely for the purpose of drinking water on such trains, on request made to the conductor or brakeman of the trains, or to the porter of any car thereof. This order shall take effect January 1, 1912.

Humility Proof of a Great Man.
I believe the first test of a truly great man is his humility. I do not mean, by humility, doubt of his own power, or hesitation in speaking his opinion. But really great men have a curious undercurrent of powerlessness, feeling that the greatness is not in them, but through them.—Ruskin.

Keith's Theatre.

The greatest of all anti-holiday bills ever seen in Philadelphia will be the offering at B. P. Keith's Theatre for the week of the 18th. Indeed, it outranks all the holiday bills that have ever been presented at this house of sumptuous programs and contains so many sterling acts that may be properly characterized as "Philadelphia" that the management decided to call it "Old Home Week," for such it truly is. The heroes of the recent World's Champion Baseball Series, "Chief" Bender, Jack Coombs and "Cy" Morgan, make a first appearance here in a sketch especially written for them by George Totten Smith, and entitled, "Learning the Game." In this sketch the talented idols of the diamond are assisted by the Misses Kathryn and Violet Pearl. The situation of the little comedy deals with some humorous instruction on difficult points in the game in which the three experts take part and illustrate in very realistic style. Every "fan" in and about Philadelphia will want to come and "root" for their "Chief" Jack and "Cy," for there is a real attraction by real players.

Talking about Philadelphia favorites on the stage, who is there to discount Walter C. Kelly, well known as "The Prince of the Falls of Schuylkill," presenting a revised and perfected version of his "Virginia Judge?" Mr. Kelly has recently returned from a world-wide tour, and in every English-speaking country of the globe has been an instantaneous and lasting hit. Still another Quaker City idol in comedy and humor who has come right into the front ranks on recent years is Ed. Wynn, "The Boy with the Fanny Hat," assisted by the English Comedian, Edmund Russon. This is Ed's first appearance in this theatre within a very considerable period, and all of his material is new, characteristic and brilliant. The sketch is called "Joy and Gloom," and is one long scream of laughter.

Nelly Madrid.
Some one has well divided the inhabitants of Madrid into two classes—those who go to bed before 8 a. m. and those who get up before 4. It is true that the streets are never quiet. The stonecutters, who were mending the sidewalk, began chipping at daylight. Next we heard the electric cars, with their low gongs, and the motor cars clattering over the noisy cobblestones. By breakfast time the sound of the hurdy gurdy echoed in our ears. Street fakers shouted their wares, and singing beggars, with their wailing yodel, begged up and down all day. Just before dinner the women who cry lottery tickets and evening papers took their stand at the corner, and their slender voices never stopped until after midnight. Madrid carries no latchkey. The concierge holds it by day, the street watchman by night. Consequently the hours of sleep were constantly broken by the sound of handclapping, followed by the quick, heavy step of the watchman in response to this medieval summons. Altogether I unhesitatingly pronounce against Madrid as a rest place, and by far the noisiest place I was ever in.—Outing Magazine.

An Impossible Combination.
They were talking of the strange sights to be seen in a great city, and one man paid his tribute to New York: "I don't believe one of you could think of any combination of circumstances that hasn't at some time occurred on the streets there," he said.

"Of course I know of one that's never occurred there," said Hiram Fowle. "What's that?" asked the other.

"I guess," said Hiram slowly, "that you've never seen nor will see a brass band going in one direction and the bell of the folks going the other."—Youth's Companion.

The Climate of Arabia.
Of Arabia's climate a writer says: "The desert air is extremely dry and clear, always invigorating, and even the great heat in summer is not as insupportable as in a damp climate where the thermometer is probably lower. Climate has without doubt a great effect on the human character and intellect, and the nervous, high strung temperament of the Arab is to a great extent the creation of his environment of desert, with its splendid mirages to fire the imagination and sparkling air to keep the nerves always alert."

England's Newspaper Tax.
On June 15, 1865, England's newspaper stamp duty was abolished, and the reign of the cheap daily began. This "tax on knowledge" was first imposed in 1712 and was made most severe by the act of 1820, which fixed it at 8 cents a sheet, with 87 cents duty on each advertisement. The Whigs reduced the duty to a penny in 1836, but when the Tories came to power and every one wanted the news even a penny duty was found to be intolerable. Its repeal is called the Magna Charta of the British press.

Agreed With Both.
Horace Greeley was the author of a style in editorial writing which had been often imitated, but probably never equaled. During his editorship of two newspapers, neither of which was friendly to Greeley, became engaged in a violent altercation. The argument grew warmer until each paper openly called the other a liar. It was the opportunity Greeley had been waiting for. He announced in his paper that "he had the honor to agree with both of his distinguished contemporaries."

The Milky Way.
The Milky way is an irregular luminous belt that encircles the celestial sphere and has the general shape of a great circle, inclined at an angle of sixty-three degrees to the equatorial plane. Its luminosity is due to the myriads of stars or suns composing it, many of which have been revealed to us by means of the telescope. It varies in width from four to twenty degrees, and at one point of its course splits up into two nearly parallel branches of unequal brightness, which do not reunite for a distance of 150 degrees.

KNOW THYSELF.
It is of dangerous consequence to represent to man how near he is to the level of beasts without showing him at the same time his greatness. It is likewise dangerous to let him see his greatness without his meanness. It is more dangerous yet to leave him ignorant of either, but very beneficial that he should be made sensible of both.—Pascal.

Golden Text—The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul. Ps. xix:7.

(1) Verses 1-4—What can be said for or against the churches in the community uniting at least once a year, in a camp meeting, with no other object but to quicken spiritual life and set sinners converted?

(2) Where was this great meeting of the Jews held, and what was its object?

(3) What answer would you make to the statement that it is the duty of the church to have large centres to have street meetings?

(4) What results will surely follow, when all the people are eager to have the law of God read to them?

(5) How long did the first meeting last?

(6) There is a general demand for short sermons; what is this a sign of? Is it poor or uninteresting preaching, or a general lack of spirituality on the part of the preachers or people, or what?

(7) Verses 6-7—Which is the more becoming and natural in public worship, besides the biblical alliance which generally prevails with us, or hearty and glad responses as in this case?

(8) If our public prayers were more of the "Lord's Prayer" type, out of jubilant hearts; how long would it take to get the people to respond as these worshippers did?

(9) Ezra had at least fourteen helpers, besides the Levites, to assist him in explaining the law, each no doubt having a class to himself; what resemblance is this to modern Bible Classes?

(10) Why is it that there is not the same religious obligation resting upon church members to attend classes where the Bible is studied, as to attend the regular church service?

(11) In our present method of oral and textual preaching a success as a teaching agency? Give your reasons.

(12) Verse 8—What agency, other than the Bible School, is there in the Christian church which it can be said, "So they read the book . . . and caused them to understand the reading?"

(13) Verses 9-11—What made the people weep so much?

(14) Why have sinners a reason to weep when the word of God is brought home to them?

(15) When we, by the grace of God, have put ourselves in harmony with God's law, is it right for us to weep over our past sins?

(16) Why is it a duty, as well as a privilege, for us to rejoice and be glad?

(17) Is it still right for us, and why, to hold feasts and banquets, and get joy out of eating and drinking? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(18) Verse 12—What provision is made today for feeding and clothing the poor?

(19) Verse 13-18—is preaching or singing, or praying, or study of the Bible, in tents occasionally, likely to be more effective than under usual circumstances?

(20) Should we, or not, and why, be the aim to have every religious meeting produce "very great gladness?"

(6) What today are the chief sins of the organized Christian church?

(7) Verses 7-8—In how many ways have men gone away from God?

(8) What today are the chief sins of the organized Christian church?

(9) What are the reasons to be given that God still demands tithes and offerings from the people?

(10) Verse 9—If a man does not pay to God's cause at least ten per cent of his earnings, does it regard him as a robber? Give your reasons.

(11) What was the nature of the curse that rested on the people for robbing God of his tithes?

(12) What today are the reasons for believing it is literally true that if we take care of God's house by paying into it ten per cent of our earnings, God will bless us with material prosperity?

(13) What proportion of Christians in your church would you say are giving to God's cause not less than a tenth of their income?

(14) Make a rough estimate of the actual money earnings of the members of your local church and say what a time of the total sum would be, then subtract the amount they actually give, and say how much they are robbing God annually, if any. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing; by members of the club.)

Christmas Lesson.

Jesus Born to Bethlehem. Matt. ii:1-12.

Golden Text—Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. Matt. ii:11.

(1) Verses 1-2—Did God directly plan that Jesus should be born in a manger at Bethlehem? Why or why not?

(2) How did the wise men from the East know of the place and birth of Jesus?

(3) Who were these wise men?

(4) What reason is there to suppose that God revealed himself in those days to the wise and devout men of other nations, as well as to those of the Jews?

(5) Who was this Herod, and how long had he been king of Judea?

(6) What does the lowly birth of Jesus signify to the world?

(7) What did it presage that the wise men, scholars, philosophers, astronomers, of a Gentile country, were the first great men to greet the new born Saviour?

(8) How did the birth of Jesus by an angel to the shepherds and by a star to the wise men; would this indicate that the shepherds had the keener sense of the unseen? Why?

(9) How did God reveal Himself to any, other than by natural methods? Give your reasons.

(10) Verse 3—Why had God not advised the wise men, the prophets and priests of Jerusalem, of the birth of Jesus?

(11) Why were Herod and "all Jerusalem" troubled, when they heard of the birth of Jesus?

(12) If people are troubled when they stand in the presence of the supernatural, or the unusual, is that any indication that their consciences are not right with God? Why?

(13) Verses 4-6—From what book did the priests and scribes quote? (See Mic. v:2 et seq.)

(14) What evidence is there that the prophet Micah had the birth of Jesus in mind, when he penned his prophecy as quoted by these priests and scribes?

(15) How much practical use do even the leaders in religious thought make of scripture prophecies, that are not yet fulfilled?

(16) Verses 7-8—What reason is there to think that had men generally hide their fears and jealousies, when they seek to ruin the objects of their envy?

(17) What cures, beside this, can you cite where great wickedness has been concealed under a mask of great piety?

(18) Verses 9-12—Is there any reason to think that Joseph, before his relationship to Christ, ever had converse with angels?

(19) Does close relationship to Christ give the ability to see and hear God? Give your reasons.

(20) May we always have warning from God of impending danger to us or ours? Why?

(21) How may we know when it is our duty to face danger, or to fly from it?

(22) If this holy family had to face such serious trouble what does that indicate for the rest of us, and why is it?

(23) Is it absolutely safe for us to follow the leadings of God as Joseph did?

(24) When and how did God recall this holy family from Egypt?

The Tailor's Chance.

"There was a tailor, a friend of mine, who once made me a suit," said a doctor, "through some oversight or lack of carelessness on the part of an assistant the coat was much too small. I promptly took it back, and he made me another."

"Some months later my tailor and I met at an old mutual friend's funeral. The tailor was under the impression that the deceased had been a patient of mine."

"Well, doc," said he, "you're a hang right luckier than I am."

"Well, it's a cinch they can't return any poor work of yours," Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Month of August.

Few persons know why August has thirty-one days. July, which takes its name from Julius Caesar, has thirty-one days, and August, who completed the calendar, declined to surrender the indignity of seeing his own month branded with the inferiority of one day less. The astronomers had accordingly to reshuffle the lunar cards and after some perplexity hit upon the expedient of shearing twenty-four hours from February's glory in order that August might face the world on a footing of perfect equality with July.

Butter In Slices.

From time immemorial in Cambridge, England, the dairymen roll the butter so as to form a long stick weighing a pound, which they sell in slices, as if it were sausage. In the market the butter merchants do not care to use either weights or scales. A single glance is sufficient for these people accustomed to the time honored practice. A very neat cut with the knife divides the yard into halves, quarters or eighths very exactly, and it appears that the customer is never given short measure.

All About It.

To appreciate fully this scrap of dialogue quoted from London Punch one should see the two odd characters engaged in it. Apparently they parted satisfied, one that he had imparted some real information, the other that he had received some. Said one man: "You recollect old wife's name?"

"Im with the collar?"

"Aye?"

"Not about 'im?"

"Is 'd to go down"—Jerk of the head—"You know. They give 'im wot you call it—didn't art git it, I don't think?"

"Reely?"

"'Ad you 'eard, then?"

"I did 'ear somethink, but no details, not afore now."

December.

Oh! Holly branch and mistletoe,
And Christmas chimes where'er we go,
And stockings pinned up in a row!
These are thy gifts, December!

And if the year has made thee old,
And silvered all thy locks of gold,
Thy heart has never been a cold,
Or known a fading ember.

The whole world is a Christmas tree,
And stars its many candles be.
Oh! sing a carol joyfully
The years great feast in keeping!

For once on a December night,
An Angel held a candle bright,
And led three Wise Men by its light
To where a Child was sleeping.

School Notes.

On Saturday, December 9th, part of the seventh grade geography class, accompanied by their teacher, were shown through the University of Pennsylvania, visiting on their tour College Hall, the University Library, the dormitories, the botanical gardens, Houston Hall, the gymnasium and the museum. In the afternoon they were able to visit the geography train, which came from the West, showing exhibits from California, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and other Western States.

Another trip to take in places of historical interest in Philadelphia is being arranged for some Saturday in January. These trips prove very enjoyable and instructive.

Last week the seventh grade again defeated the eighth grade in their weekly spelling match.

The team in the New Era last week, which told of the organization of various teams in the school was absolutely false and was placed in the paper without the consent of the school authorities. The boys responsible for writing the item have been severely censured and it is to be hoped that there will be no further trouble of this kind.

The Athletic Association held their regular monthly meeting last week and transacted the following business:

Corner Clelland, Leon Harris and Dunbar Hylton were appointed a committee to consult with Mr. Leymel and frame a Constitution and By-Laws for the Association.

Dewey Smith was elected manager of the basketball team; Corner Clelland manager of the base ball team to be organized in the Spring and Leon Harris was elected manager of the foot ball team next year. George Corner was elected captain of next year's foot-ball team.

The treasurer, Corner Clelland, presented the following report for December:

The item appearing in this paper last week purporting to tell of the organization of a girls' basketball team at the public school was entirely untrue. ## MRS. ALFRED SMITH

Get your mistletoe at Steedle's.

Those who drop money in the mail box at the corner of Broad and Main instead of properly stamping their letters are running a chance of having them delayed for postage. A case like this happened a few days ago; two letters were found in the box each requiring a two cent stamp, but only enough money was found to post one. Consequently both had to be held until it was ascertained which one had been paid for. It will be much safer to see that your letter is properly stamped, and to make this more convenient, stamps are on sale at the drug store and at Adolph's. Another very handy arrangement is the little book of stamps for sale at the post office.

Trolley Car Plunges into Creek.

Ten passengers and the crew of car No. 8 of the Riverside Traction Company, had a narrow escape from death when the bridge over the Assinunk Creek, at Burlington, collapsed last Tuesday afternoon. Motorman Edward R. Hunter saw the structure give way just in time to apply the emergency brakes before the front of the car toppled into the creek. His prompt action prevented the rear of the car from leaving the bridge, and undoubtedly saved the lives of part if not all of the occupants. Speedy assistance was rendered by employees of nearby factories, the fire department, the police force, and the citizens generally, who soon hauled the imprisoned and thoroughly frightened passengers out through the windows, and a hole which they chopped in the roof. No one was severely injured, though all suffered more or less from shock, and sundry cuts and bruises.

It is stated that the bridge has been pronounced unsafe for trolley service several times. And the question is, if the bridge was known to be unsafe, why was the trolley company allowed to continue to use it? The fact that several lives were not sacrificed in this accident was due to good luck rather than to good management, or even ordinary care in providing for the safety of passengers.

Wesley's Cup Filled.

On one occasion Wesley said, while preaching in Dublin: "All crimes have been laid to my charge of which a human being is capable, except that of drunkenness." Whereupon a woman arose and shouted: "You old villain! And will you deny that you pledged your hands to Mrs. Blank for a noggin o' whiskey, and didn't sell them to our parson's wife?" After a moment of amazed silence on the part of the audience, Wesley calmly "thanked God that his cup was now full."

Have's Wrought by Beast Creation.

Even in thickly peopled communities man has not yet subdued the beast creation. In India last year wild animals and poisonous serpents killed 25,000 persons. The number of cattle killed by the denizens of the jungles was 93,000. The natives, in turn, slew something over 100,000 elephants, tigers, leopards, bears, wolves, hyenas and other animals, including 31,000 snakes.

Appeal for Native Talent.

A New York hotel man, who has just returned home after scouring Europe for cooks, complains that there is a scarce commodity abroad. The condition is one for which hotel men themselves are largely to blame. Why don't they encourage native talent in the cooking line instead of filling their kitchens with foreigners?—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Indian Aristocracy.

Among the guests at an Indian dance were Mr. and Mrs. Walahnam Kicks-hole-in-the-Trees, Misses Gwendolyn and Cleopatra Buffalo-Pat, Miss Hayzelle Saw-the-Bear-Go-into-a-Hole and her brother, Alagon, and Charley Felt-Off-the-Bridge, and his sisters, Claudia and Penelope—Washington Post.

Fireman Wants Exemption, Too

A delegation from Independence Fire Co., No. 1, appeared before the township committee Tuesday night to ask the committee to remit the poll tax which had been assessed against the members this year, presenting documents to show that their claim was well founded. Christmas Services at Christ Church, Palmyra.

Notwithstanding the change in the rectorship at Christ Church, Palmyra the Christmas services at this church will be carried out with all their wonted beauty, for which under the incumbency of the Rev. H. W. Armstrong, they have become so deservedly noted.

Sunday, the 24th of December, being Christmas Eve, on that day there will be a celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a. m., Choral Holy Eucharist with sermon on St. John the Baptist at 11 a. m. The children's carol service will take place in the afternoon at 3, and parents and friends are cordially invited to attend this interesting little function.

There will be no evening service, the customary Evensong being omitted, but at midnight there will be the solemn commemoration of the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ by a solemn celebration of the Holy Eucharist. At this service which is in reality the Christ's Mass from which this festival derives its name and is therefore interesting on the score of its antiquity, the music will be rendered by an augmented choir, under the skillful direction of Professor C. H. Palphreyman, who will preside at the organ. Thus this function will also become an interesting event to all lovers of sacred music. The following is the programme of the music to be rendered: Processional Hymn, "Corde Natus" Introit, "The Child in the Lord's Arms" Kyrie eleison, C. H. Palphreyman. Creed, "See amid the winter's snow." Stutus and Benedictus. Thomas Adams. Agnus Dei. Agutter. Communion.

"And now, O Father, mindful, etc." Gloria in excelsis. Thomas Adams. Recessional Hymn, "Christians awake." On Christmas Day itself there will be two celebrations of the Holy Eucharist: the first at 9 a. m., the second at 11 a. m. This latter will be the children's service, at which the rector will address a few words to the little ones, for Christmas is especially the festival for children. There will be no evening services on Christmas Day, but during the remainder of the week there will be a daily celebration at 7 a. m.

Keith's Theatre.

The joyous Christmas holiday season will be fittingly celebrated in vaudeville at Keith's Theatre with a truly remarkable bill of attractions, every act booked in keeping with the holiday spirit. It is literally a bill of all-star headliners from top to finish. In comedy, we have America's favorite minstrel, Eddie Leonard, assisted by Miss Mabel Russell, presenting original songs, the cleverest of minstrel patter and artistic dances.

A rare novelty parody, making a first appearance here, is "Lolo," the mystic. That extraordinary North American Indian girl who gives a most startling and mystifying exhibition of mental suggestion and thought-transference is a full-blooded Indian of Sioux tribe, and was discovered by Major W. L. Cotton, for many years an Indian agent in the U. S. Government service. Major Cotton blindfolded the girl, leaving her upon the stage while he passed down through the audience, giving her mental suggestions as to various articles handed him at random, such as watches, keys, articles of jewelry, bank notes whose denomination and number she announces instantly, the contents of legal documents and other difficult articles test her extraordinary gifts. "Lolo" is only sixteen years of age, yet from her earliest childhood has been regarded by her tribe with awe, having shown astounding mental powers almost from infancy.

Raymond and Caverly are those German comedians who have established themselves so firmly in the hearts of vaudeville patrons that it is with a thrill of pleasure that their coming is announced. These "Wizards of Joy" have some new and funny material to delight the audience.

Will Rogers is the Oklahoma cowboy and lasso-ling who always gives a pleasing demonstration of wild west acts interspersed with some highly amusing comedy. Will is a character as the term is, and makes lasting friends wherever he goes. His exhibition of lasso work is quite without peer anywhere in the world.

Billy's Christmas Greeting

By EUGENIA BARBAS
Copyright, 1911

O I am a heartless flirt, who doesn't understand the meaning of the word love, am I, Mr. William Dunning?"

stunned Marjorie all to herself, in answer to the final decree of rage and defiance which that gentleman hurled at her by means of a vigorous slam of the front door.

"I believe he would have shaken me, if he hadn't rushed out in time to prevent himself from doing it," she continued, the ever ready dimples venturing out of their hiding places, but she banished them severely. "I'll never, never forgive him, even though he asks me to, of course, he won't! And he calls me stubborn!"

Next morning Marjorie was tremendously busy wrapping up dainty little parcels, for the next day was Christmas, and her many friends must be remembered, in spite of quarrels and Billy.

Still, she seemed very much preoccupied over her work, and quite suddenly she threw aside the piece of holly she had been toying with, and fairly flew to the telephone.

In answer to her impatient summons, she was quickly connected with Brown & Co.'s book store. "Have you sent out those books that were ordered for Mr. William Dunning?" she asked anxiously.

The answer evidently pleased her, for she breathed a sigh of relief. "That's all right; I'm glad you haven't, for I have changed my mind about them. Please cancel the order."

Marjorie hung up the receiver with an air of triumph. "There, I'm glad I thought of that! Billy would have construed a Christmas present into an object apology," she said, her indignation rising at the very thought of such a thing.

But when she went back to her parcels and picked up the little twig of holly she had intended tucking away into one of them, her face softened. "I know that isn't the right kind of a Christmas spirit to have, but I can't have Billy thinking that I am admitting I was wrong, when I know I wasn't," she argued with herself.

The joyous ringing of Christmas bells and merry shouts of her younger sisters and brothers, when they discovered their stockings the next morning, only served to emphasize her depression.

"Billy never loved me, if he really and truly did he never could treat me like this," she told herself as she stood looking with unseeing eyes at the snowy Christmas world.

Just then a young man, fairly tearing around the corner, arrested her attention. It was no less a person than Billy himself who was coming, post haste, to see her.

Marjorie looked at him in wonder. What had come over Billy? Why this sudden contrition, when she admitted it now for the first time, even to herself she had been greatly, if not altogether, to blame for their quarrel.

"O, Billy, I am so glad you came," Billy took some little time to emphasize his appreciation of her welcome.

"You didn't think I'd be so narrow and unforgiving as to ignore your dear little peace offering? I brought one of the books with me to read something to you," he told her, and diving into his pocket he produced a little copy of "Romeo and Juliet."

Marjorie was surprised for a second, then it flashed over her what it all meant. Brown & Co. had forgotten to cancel her order and Billy had received the books. Billy had contrived her sending them into a humble plea for forgiveness.

He most probably wouldn't have come at all if it hadn't been for that. She stiffened visibly and all her love was swallowed up in a wave of rebellious pride.

"You are mistaken," she commenced coldly, but Billy interrupted her. "Here, I have found it."

"My bounty is as boundless as the sea, My love as deep, the more I give to thee."

"The more I have, for both are infinite," he was reading, and the simple beauty of the lines awoke something in Marjorie stronger than pride or resentment and she only smiled when he added tenderly: "My Christmas greeting to you, dear."

Coming of Autumn.
Sometimes autumn is perceived even in the early days of July. There is no other feeling like that caused by this faint, doubtful yet real perception, or rather prophecy, of the year's decay, so deliciously sweet and sad at the same time.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Man's Independence.
No iron chain nor outward force of any kind could ever compel the soul of man to believe or to disbelieve; it is his own indefeasible right; that judgment of his; he will reign and believe thereby the grace of God alone.—Thomas Carlyle.

Effect of Well-Decorated Room.
A well-decorated room makes its impression as a whole, as a beautiful piece of color, as a unity within which all the parts are happily related to each other.—School Arts Book.

Paper Drinking Cups.
In the schools of Australia the children are taught to carry several sheets of writing paper in their pockets at all times. Then, when a child is thirsty, he can roll one of the sheets into a cone and make a perfectly serviceable cup which may be placed, after being used, in the nearest waste paper box. How to roll the cones deftly is taught the children. The tearing of a notch about half an inch long near one end and before rolling the cone serves to make the improved cup stronger.

Old Cornwall Ceremony.
Dancing is a part of a semi-religious ceremony held at St. Ives, Cornwall, on the day of the feast of St. James. The people dance the old Cornish "Flurry" dance and "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and then sing the "Old Hundredth." After that they have a banquet and small sums of money are distributed. The custom dates from a century ago, when a fund was established for the purpose by a man named Knill. It is known as the Knill ceremony.

A Bequest.
"I give to good fathers and mothers in trust for their children, all good little words of praise, and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments, and I charge said parents to use them justly and generously, as the children of their children may require."—From the last will and testament of Charles Lounsbury, in which he distributes his "interest in the world" to succeeding men.

Falling of the Race.
The advice of the old lawyer to his son was that no matter what his relations with womankind he should never write a love letter and never destroy one. It is probable that this counsel of perfect wisdom fell on deaf ears, for when any particular man is consumed by a fever for any particular woman he is at once commencing writing love letters.

Glass Sidelwalk.
For some time the city of Lyons, France, has been using glass for sidewalk instead of brick or stone. It is laid in blocks eight inches square, each block containing sixteen squares, resembling a checkerboard. It has proved more lasting than stone, and much cheaper.—Denver Municipal Facts.

His Real Meaning.
When a radio-temperament man grows emphatic in his remarks and says he does not care a "curse" he means, or should mean, to be correct, that he does not care a curse, the logical result here being similar to that which makes "gooseberries" particularly gorseberries.

Lesson of Grief.
There are moods in which we court suffering, in the hope that there, at least, we shall find relief, strange penks and edges of truth. But it turns out to be a false relief, and counterfeits. The only thing grief has taught me is to know how shallow it is.—Emerson.

An Old Team.
The Hittites were an ancient race of more than local fame. Their insular policy was very early; they studied well the game. They bested Babylon one year by twenty points or so; left Tyre and Sidon in the rear, and beat out Jericho.—Washington Herald.

Long-Headed Husband.
"This is good wine. I must take home a bottle for my wife." "She never touches wine, as you know." "True; but I can keep it from going to waste."—Washington Herald.

Ancients' New War Bonnet.
The Ancients have decided to substitute for their helmet a cap of German pattern. A move for lightening equipment is general throughout the military world.—Boston Record.

Doctors' Privileges.
In the year 1613 the city of London contained only thirteen surgeons and doctors all told. They were exempt from serving on juries and from bearing arms in time of war.

Man's Period of Foolishness.
Of all literary compositions the love letters of men contain the maximum of twaddle

A Literary Treat.

The liberal support accorded the course of lectures last year given under the auspices of the Riverton Free Library, and which rendered the enterprise such a gratifying success, financially and otherwise, has encouraged the Library Board to repeat the venture this year, and a course of four lectures has been prepared, starting with "Mexico"—its Lands and Peoples, by A. Howard Williams, University Extension, Philadelphia, on Tuesday evening, January 16. This lecture will be illustrated with colored lantern slides and eleven moving pictures taken by Mr. Williams.

On January 30 Prof. Francis Harvey Green, a favorite with Riverton and Palmyra audiences, will deliver his lecture "A Literary Ramble Around Boston."

The third and fourth lectures will be on Dickens. On Tuesday, February 13, Dr. Ian C. Hannah, Cambridge University, England, will deliver "The Man and His Works." Dr. Hannah is the leading lecturer this year of the University Extension in celebrating the centenary of the birth of Dickens.

On Tuesday, February 27, Mr. Frank Spaight, England's greatest interpreter of Dickens, will render "Dickens Recalled" from "Pickwick Papers and David Copperfield." Mr. Spaight is a man of unusual memory and uses no notes. He knows the works of Dickens as well as his A. B. C. and makes a character live.

These lectures are as much a part of the work of education and uplift as the distribution of books, and are not given for financial reasons alone. If the titles of the lectures and the names of the lecturers are a fair earnest, this course will be the most delightful and interesting yet given.

Tickets for the course $1.50, for sale at The Free Library, Stiles' Drug Store, Mrs. Alfred Smith's, Riverton; Creighton's Drug Store, Palmyra; Stiles' Drug Store, Mountaintop; and of the members of Library Board.

Tickets for a single lecture 50c at the door.

Suit Against Watch Case Co.

A petition in equity against the Keystone Watch Case Company, whose mammoth factory is located at Riverside, was filed last week by the Federal Government in the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, charging the company with being a monopoly in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The government charges that by purchasing and absorbing its competitors, the Keystone company has obtained a practical monopoly over the watch case business of the country. The government petition alleges that the company sold its products only to jobbers who would conform to its wishes as to the disposition of the goods, and that it would refuse to sell to jobbers who might handle its watch cases in a manner detrimental to the Keystone company.

The Keystone company, it is charged, fixed prices of its goods sold to jobbers to the retailers. The company, the government adds, had been able by reason of this control of the business to make "large and unreasonable profits upon its capital stock."

"Its net earnings in 1910," says the petition, "on the capital stock of $6,000,000 were about 14 per cent., although about one-half of its capital is represented by trade marks, good will, etc., estimated at an exorbitantly exaggerated valuation."

The petition asks that the court order the dissolution of the company so as to restore competition. The individual defendants are Theophilus Zarbrugg, of Riverside, until recently president of the company; Caleb P. Fox, of Philadelphia, acting president and director; Edward T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, vice president; John J. Mueller, of Philadelphia, secretary; Charles M. Fogg, of Philadelphia, treasurer; F. H. Kain, of Philadelphia, assistant secretary, and Irving Smith, of New York, a director.

New Year's Prayer for Women

By TEMPLE BAILEY

Grant that we may look forward and not back, that we may treasure only good of the past year and let the evil die.

In days of darkness and despair may we not cry out, but face the world bravely.

Link to our ideals of womanly sweetness and truth the strength which shall make them real.

Show us how we may be kind to other women; to those who have failed and fallen grant us the special grace of sympathy.

May we judge men not by trivial standards, but by the broader vision which shall give just due to their unflinching efforts, their courage, their silent acceptance of the hard facts of life.

Help us to mother all little, lonely children.

If any we love have hurt us, let us love them still.

Give to us some work to which we may go gladly in the morning, and from which we may rest when the shadows of the evening fall.

And then, O Lord of All the World, and of All New Years, when Thou hast given to us these things which shall put us right with ourselves and with our fellowmen, grant to each of us, we beseech Thee, our moment of vivid ecstasy, our little share of human happiness, and, in the end, a quiet heart. Amen.

Our Compliments to "The Mirror."

The New Jersey Mirror, of Mount Holly, which has for years been looked up to by the lesser country weeklies as a model of typographical excellence to be imitated as closely as possible, has somewhat improved its appearance by a new make-up this week. If anything could further improve The Mirror it would be to discard the "blanket sheet" size, which is somewhat cumbersome, and print eight pages, half the size of the present four.

The New Era extends to The Mirror its best wishes for a prosperous New Year.

A Wonderful Career.

In the death of John F. Dryden, the founder of The Prudential Insurance Co. and for thirty years its President, this Company has sustained a loss which no man can measure and no words express.

He not only founded the Company, but guided its policies and led its activities from the hour of its birth until the day of his death. There were other calls upon his time, but The Prudential was always his first consideration and to it he gave the best there was in him. Whatever of success it has achieved or of good it has accomplished is due primarily to his clear vision, sound judgment and untiring zeal.

In founding The Prudential Mr. Dryden's idea was to bring the benefit of life insurance to the home of the working people. The plan had often been tried before, and in many different ways, but had never succeeded in this country. His earlier efforts were attended with many difficulties and much discouragement.

To a man less sure of himself and less resolute of purpose they would probably have been fatal. Capital wasteful and friends lukewarm. But serving without salary and operating in humble quarters, his expenses were small, and in a few years the project became self-supporting. With its growth grew also Mr. Dryden's conception of the possibilities which his scheme involved. He started the Company as the "Widows and Orphans' Friendly Society." Then it became "The Prudential Friendly Society," and finally "The Prudential Insurance Company of America."

How Much Have you Saved

of the amount you resolved to accumulate this year? Perhaps very little, for it isn't easy to save, unless there is some especial incentive. The Prudential Endowment policy furnishes an incentive that has made successful accumulators of thousands of people. Look into it for yourself—at once.

The Prudential

It's not what you earn, but what you save that makes wealth.

Complete Set of Photogravures.

To complete a set of photogravures of the great art masterpieces of the world. The North American will on Sunday make available "The Broken Pitcher," by Grez, one of the great productions of the French school of the seventeenth century. The picture represents a young girl standing by a fountain with a broken pitcher on her arm. The painter has caught the girl's expression of uncertainty over her next movement. Her face shows she is about to begin the shedding of tears to bring perplexity to a climax.

The North American has done a great educational work in offering these pictures. The circulation of reproductions of these masterpieces is sure to bring a general appreciation of what a great picture is. The three pictures in the set are "Mona Lisa," the great masterpiece by Leonardo da Vinci, valued at $5,000,000 and stolen from the Louvre last August; "Madame de Le Brun and Daughter," the greatest masterpiece of a woman painter, at the same time the greatest picture representing mother love and filial adoration, and "My Mother," the world's greatest picture of the old-fashioned mother.

A set of these pictures deserves a place in any home and in every school where art finds appreciation. The North American offers any or all of the set of pictures at 5 cents each in connection with a coupon from the paper for Sunday, December 31. Ten cents is required when mailed.

Any picture framed in fine quartered oak, Flemish finish, is sent by express, charges collect, on receipt of 70 cents and the coupon.

An order went into effect on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Saturday requiring milk shippers to load their cans on the cars and if this was not done the milk would be left standing on the platform. This action has caused much indignation among the dairymen and there is talk of taking the matter to the courts.

Keith's Theatre.

The New Year holiday week will be fittingly celebrated at B. F. Keith's Theatre with a bill of surprising excellence in every regard.

Those cleverest entertainers, William Rock & Co., including Mand Fulton, produce their new and original musical and dance creation as performed with extraordinary success in the leading cities of the country. Of course, Mr. Rock occupies the center of the stage with some of his latest song creations and his wonderful eccentric dancing. Miss Fulton is more charming and talented than ever, and the entire production is staged and costumed in a most sumptuous manner. The act is produced under the direction of Mr. Sol. Lichtenstein.

Miss Charlotte Parry is also well known to our audiences, having made a tremendous success in the melodrama, "The Comstock Mystery," in which Miss Parry took several parts. Recently she offered five thousand dollars bonus for a one-act playlet that would equal or exceed "The Comstock Mystery" in general excellence. Whether or not Mr. Lyman received this generous bounty for his absorbing protean play, "Into the Light," is not known authoritatively, but Miss Parry has certainly found a great patron not in Lyman's melodrama of court life in a big city, enabling Miss Parry to appear successfully in five distinct and individual characters of various dialects and of both sexes. In the difficult art of protean work Miss Parry stands supreme, and this playlet will be found to fill all requirements.

That funniest burlesque comedy team in vogueville, Clifford & Burke, will make a welcome return after a long absence retailing abundant new material under the general title, "In De Navy." These two comedians stand unequalled in their individual line.

Captain Swift.

Mr. Percy Winter, stage director of the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, who attended the Wednesday evening rehearsal of this drama, giving valuable criticisms as to stage department and positions, remarked, that the play would be presented in a splendid and highly creditable manner and that he hoped to attend one of the performances himself. Mr. Winter, who is familiar with every line of the play, took the stage himself, acting the various parts, making suggestions here and there, much to the delight of the members of the cast.

The best seats for the play, which will be presented at the Lyceum, January 12 and 13 respectively, are selling rapidly at popular prices 60c, 80c and 85c, and tickets may be obtained from the following committee: Messrs. James Weart, J. P. Warner, Perry Clark, L. P. Snyder, William Keen and Frank L. Durgin.

The costumes will be elaborate and the scenic effects all that can be desired, being under the charge of Messrs. C. H. Hill, Edward Showell and Milton Faunce.

AS GOOD AS NEW

Old Year—Hello. What is that package you are carrying?

New Year—It contains the good resolutions that signalize my coming.

Old Year (exhibiting a similar package)—Hello! If you'd let me know I'd have lent you these. They're the ones I brought with me when I came, and nobody would keep them.

When in doubt I will believe the best of the other person. This is more easily corrected than the irreparable injury of misplaced censure and suspicion.

Rat Climbs a Tree.

Uncle Bob Parlin has some peculiar rats out at his house. A few days ago the dog ran a rodent about the premises for some time and finally it was lost to sight. Some one accidentally gazed into a maple tree, and there sat the rat on the highest limb he could find.—Bardwell News.

Distracted Arthur (seeking peace in Sussex)—Mrs. Hodge, what is this pandemonium? Farmer's Wife—Oh, they're only putting a tin roof on the 'n-house, sir; an' knowin' you was a London gent, we thought the sound might remind you of 'ome.—Punch.

Dinner's Diplomacy.

Dinner—I suppose you are accustomed to getting very large tips, waiter.—Yes, the patrons here are very generous. Dinner—Then you can easily overlook the trifling one I am compelled to give you.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

Circutious Retribution.

"Did you help elect 'I am because of his personal popularity?"

"No," replied Farmer Courtisot. "I had my suspicions of him for a long time and wanted to shove him along to where the muckrakers could get a good go at him."

News Item.

Everything quiet around here, but our neighbors in Lindsaea will have a good time. Poor Piscatawaytown is still asleep to improvements.—Raritan (N. J.) Independent.
