CHAUTAUQUA COMING

"Oh, Goody!" Was the Exclamation of the Children When Told It Was Coming Again This Year

And the grown-ups were just as pleased! It is the biggest and best entertainment given anywhere for the money—25c for each performance if you buy a season ticket. Last year P. O. S. of A. Hall was not large enough to accommodate the crowd. This year Chautauqua will be held in the Palmyra High School auditorium, where there will be plenty of room and comfort for everyone.

The first two afternoons there will be a lecture, music and Junior Chautauqua, with a program especially for the children. The last afternoon, Monday, the big day for the little folks, a play, "Her Family on Display" will be given by the children themselves, who will have been trained for it the two previous afternoons. The lecture will be "Man and the Crowd" by George H. Turner. Mr. Turner is one of the big figures of the country in the Chautauqua Movement. He was superintendent of the Oxford, Pa. Chautauqua the first year, he was called to the pastorate of the influential Presbyterian Church there. After a pastorate of five years, he resigned for a few months of Army YMCA work. He served as Camp Religious Work Secretary in the Camp Grant, Ill., Army YMCA.

Saturday evening the Visoichi-Ringgold company will give a concert and Frank B. Pearson will deliver his lecture "World Building."

Andrew Visoichi is a master on the Piano-Accordion and his work will prove a revelation to those who have never heard the raptures and endless possibilities of this wonderful instrument in such capable hands.

Mr. Visoichi's instrument is made especially for his use. It has a total of one hundred and sixty-five keys. He first learned to play the accordion when twelve years old. Since that time he has played in most of the musical centers of the world. His repertoire is practically inexhaustible. Starting with a melody of grand opera, he carries you through patriotic, sacred, popular numbers, southern melodies, folk songs, running the gamut of musical interpretation.

There are few persons who would not come a good way if they were sure of hearing a good story well told. Not one story well told, but dozens of them will reward those people attending Frank B. Pearson's lecture.

Mr. Pearson's lecture, however, is not merely a group of stories strung loosely together, but is a well planned inspiring discourse aptly illustrated by terse and witty anecdotes. Mr. Pearson's lecture is entitled "World Building" and recounts in the press of other towns indicate that while it seems like a large subject; it is presented in a large manner by Mr. Pearson.

There will be a special program in the Epworth M. E. Temple Sunday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock.

An evening in the Orient! An evening entirely different from any that you have ever spent before. It is hard to describe it because it is brought to you by Julius Caesar Nayphie and his lecture-entertainment defies description. It is entirely unique upon the American platform. It is educational. It is excitingly funny. It is a gorgeous spectacle.

Julius Caesar Nayphie was born in Athens of noble parents, reared in Casarea Philippi, educated in Mesopotamia, in England and in America. He brings to Chautauqua a veritable Oriental Pageant. Dressed in the costumes of the Near East carrying thousands of dollars worth of beautiful fabrics and gowns, he delivers a marvelously clever and interesting-compelling lecture on the costumes, manners and life of Palestine and neighboring countries.

The music of the conference will also be very attractive. Singing will be led by S. Roger Oliver at the banjo. Friday evening, the speakers are by J. Porter Ashbrook, assisted by the Mr. Holly Hi-Y orchestra. There will also be selections by the Borden Industrial School male quartet.

This county Young Men's conference is not a "closed shop" proposition. Any young man fifteen years of age and up will be welcome. Entertainment will be provided for the first two hundred to register.

Great was the surprise of William G. Wunning, upon his return home Saturday evening, January 26, to find a gathering of many friends to help him celebrate his birthday anniversary.

The very enjoyable affair was a complete surprise to "Happy Bill" and, as expressed in his inimitable manner, he is willing to be surprised every week, but his chief concern seemed to be as to whether he would receive a further surprise when the guests had left and he was presented with the bill for the sumptuous oyster supper served by Mrs. Wunning.

The dining room had been artistically decorated, and this, coupled with the appetizing repast, was enough to make a certain doctor forget his customary advice to his patients, and partake of fried oysters, potato salad, ham, cheese, pickles, olives, candy, ice cream and cake, etc., all the space of a half hour.

The guests of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hart, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dietz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rutschman, Mrs. Katherine Rutschman, Mr. Griffin, Mrs. Mc Closkey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinckman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Vile.

When Dogs Go Mad

A year ago when there was an outbreak of rabies among the dogs in Summit, N. J., the Board of Health purchased a supply of vaccine, and dogs were immunized at a charge of a dollar per head, the work being done by Dr. H. P. Dengler, acting health officer. The dogs so treated were furnished with a special tag.

WE THANK OUR FRIEND

Riverton YMCA Boys Receive Un-usual Gift from Unknown Benefactor

The boys of the Calvary YMCA group were pleasantly surprised at their regular meeting Thursday night by the anonymous gift of a large-size medicine ball. Although the donor desires to remain unknown, the boys wish to take this opportunity of thanking him publicly, and to promise him that the gift will be well used and gratefully appreciated by every member of the group.

Following the presentation of the ball, the initiation of two new members took place—Archibald Grondel and "Chick" Folk. The process was rather trying to the nerves of the candidates, but they stood the test without flinching and survived to participate in the rather vigorous physical program which followed.

The group's two rival factions continued their struggle for supremacy, first in a renewed "dead horse" contest, and the losing flock of crows of two weeks' battle descended on their opponents with sharpened beaks and tensed claws to avenge their previous defeat. George Hutchins captained his carefully chosen team, while the opposition was led by "Eats" Wagner, of local football fame. After two fierce and strenuous struggles, Hutchins' warriors were declared victors 2-0.

Following the "dead horse" episode, the two teams contested for honors in two novel relay races, both won by the intrepid Hutchins' contingent, 3-1 and 2-0.

During the business meeting several interesting impromptu speeches on "The Value of a Promise" and "How to Pick Your Associates" were made by members of the group. It was also announced that the pending game of broom-polo with the challenging Palmyra "Y" team would very likely take place on Lincoln's birthday.

The Christian Citizenship Training Program Tests have been given to a large percentage of the boys, with very gratifying averages resulting. Sweater emblems indicating the scores earned will be publicly awarded on the group's commencement day in April.

FRANCIS McDORMAN, Publicity Director.

Y. M. CONFERENCE

Great Get Together Planned for Young Men of Burlington County

The County Conference of young men, promoted by the YMCA, draws near, at which time the committee having detailed plans in hand expects to bring together about two hundred young men from all over Burlington county to consider some of the things that are ahead in their own lives, what real success is, and how it is attained, what training for leadership entails, what some of its rewards are.

The officers for the conference are selected by the county committee at a recent meeting are: President, Dixon Heyer, Mt. Holly; first vice president, Ellis Hyland, Moorestown; second vice president, Purnell Morgan, Palmyra; secretary, Robert Stuart, Lenoir; assistant secretary, Arthur Rubb, Delanco; treasurer, Edgar Harris, Burlington.

The theme selected for the conference is "A. A. M. Thinketh."

Among the guests and speakers are the following: Robert C. Shoemaker, State YMCA County Work Secretary, Newark, N. J.; Harry T. Baker, Boys' Work Secretary, International Committee YMCA, New York City; John Talbot Ward, Rector St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, Burlington; Floyd W. Tompkins, D. D., Rector, The Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia.

The music of the conference will also be very attractive. Singing will be led by S. Roger Oliver at the banjo. Friday evening, the speakers are by J. Porter Ashbrook, assisted by the Mr. Holly Hi-Y orchestra. There will also be selections by the Borden Industrial School male quartet.

This county Young Men's conference is not a "closed shop" proposition. Any young man fifteen years of age and up will be welcome. Entertainment will be provided for the first two hundred to register.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Board of Managers of County Hospital Report Busy Year

The forty-fourth year of the Burlington County Hospital has been one of increased usefulness to the community, and much of the time the institution has been crowded to capacity. Every available space has been used.

In addition to the regular work, from the first of May until the first of October, ninety children have had tonsillectomy operations. About fifty of these were entirely free, and except for their own private cases, no patient paid full charge for the doctors. In most of these cases the hospital received no compensation. This has been a splendid example of unselfish work on the part of the Mount Holly physicians who have operated.

Dr. Chambers' clinic for crippled children, under the patronage of the Elks of Mount Holly, which had been held at their building, with an Orthopedic specialist in attendance, has been holding sessions every two weeks. There have been 88 visits, 9 casts applied, 16 treatments given by the hospital nurses, and 1 by Dr. Chambers' nurses; 7 operations have been performed. These clinics have been productive of wonderful improvement in many cases, and the hospital thus enabled to be of still further service to the community.

In October the Board of Council and the Board of Managers launched the county-wide drive for funds, the only appeal to the public during the year. The people made a generous response and the result netted $26,544.14.

WHAT IS THE BONUS?

"Adjusted Compensation" as Defined in the American Legion Weekly of February 1

There has been so much discussion, pro and con, relative to the merits and demerits of the proposed "bonus" for soldiers in the late war, or "adjusted compensation," as it is more properly called, that the editor feels a definition of just what it is may be of interest to New Era readers.

There has doubtless been a great deal of misconception concerning this proposition, and the statement issued by the Legion can be accepted as authoritative.

Under the terms of the Adjusted Compensation Bill now before Congress, every American World War veteran up to and including the grade of captain in the Army and the Marine Corps and lieutenant in the Navy, is entitled to an adjusted service credit of $125 a day for service overseas or at sea and $1 a day for home service. From this credit, which every veteran can readily compute for himself, if he remembers the important dates of his service career, must be deducted $60, representing the discharge bonus given every man on leaving the service. Service must be computed between the dates April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919. The maximum adjusted service credit to which a veteran is entitled is $500 for home service and $625 for foreign service.

The bill contains the following provisions:

1. Adjusted Service Pay. This, the only cash feature provided for in the Adjusted Compensation Bill, is payable only to men whose adjusted service credit, after deducting the $60 discharge bonus, comes to $50 or less. Roughly, it affects only men who served less than four months. (This provision must be accepted by veterans who are not entitled to more than $50.)

2. Adjusted Service Certificates. These certificates are paid-up endowment insurance policies, payable at the end of twenty years to the veteran if he is still alive, or if he dies in the interval, to his estate. The certificate would have a redemption value at the end of the twenty-year period of the adjusted service credit plus twenty-five percent, the whole plus 4 1/2 percent interest compounded annually. This would come to 3.015 the value of the adjusted service credit. Adjusted service certificates would have a loan value on the following basis: For the first three years, the certificate holder would be allowed to borrow from a bank fifty percent of the value of his adjusted service credit plus the interest thereon at 4 1/2 percent, compounded annually.

3. Vocational Training Aid. This provision allows the veteran to apply his adjusted service credit, computed in this option at $125 a day, to conduct an education interrupted by the war.

4. Farm or Home Aid. Veterans who wish to make improvements on city or suburban homes, or purchase or make payments on city homes, or farms or pay off landed indebtedness may receive for this specific purpose adjusted service credits based on length of service increased by twenty-five percent.

FRAT DANCE HUGE SUCCESS

Large Crowd Attended Club's First Social Affair—Royal Orchestra Big Hit

The first private subscription dance given by the Pan Sigma Kappa Fraternity, of Palmyra, was held last Saturday night at the Riverton Porch.

The dance was attended by a large number of couples and was considered a huge success from every standpoint. The hall was decorated in the colors, blue and gold. The music was furnished by the Royal Novelty Orchestra, whose personnel is included in the fraternity's membership. It is a combination of the local sensations in the orchestra, and the following are its members: Ed Lees, piano; Herb Windsor, saxophone; Portland Merrill, banjo; and Carl Lutz, drums.

The next dance will be given Saturday, March 1. The members are now hard at work rehearsing for a play which will be presented by them in April.

A meeting was held at the home of Herbert Windsor, Washington avenue, Thursday evening. Six names were presented and voted on as candidates for membership in the organization. The frat will hold a swim in Acker's pool, Philadelphia, some time next week.

Dogs Must Be Kept Tied

Notices have been posted this week and also published in this issue of The New Era, signed by Mayor Killam E. Bennett, directing that all dogs must be kept on the premises of the owner, or if taken on the street, must be attached to a leash and accompanied by the owner. Any dog found upon the streets or highways in Riverton in violation of this order will be destroyed, and the person owning or harboring the dog will be prosecuted.

This drastic action has been made imperative by the development of rabies in a number of dogs in Palmyra, which have since been killed, but not before many other dogs were bitten. A dog in Riverton, showing many of the symptoms of the dread disease has also been killed, but it is known that a number of dogs in Riverton were also bitten.

As much publicity as possible has been given to this proclamation in order that owners of dogs may take the necessary steps to protect their pets. The provisions of the proclamation will, in the protection of public health, be rigidly enforced.

New Books at the Riverton Library
"Books are the food of youth, the delight of old age; the ornament of prosperity, the refuge and comfort of adversity; a delight at home, and no hindrance abroad."—Cicero.
The following books have just been placed upon the shelves of the Library:

Fiction
"Anthony Dare." Archibald Marshall.
"Croatan." Mary Johnston.
A well written story of the settlement of Virginia. Virginia Dare, the first child born in America of English parents, being the heroine of the story.
"Squire." Mrs. Laura E. Richards.
"Big Brother" and "Other Stories." Rev. Ellingwood Beach.
"J. Hardin and Son." Brand Whitlock.
An extremely interesting, and entertaining story of an American boy and his father.
"The Call of the Canyon." Zane Grey.
"Timber-Wolf." Jackson Gregory.
"The Banner of the Bull." Rafael Sabatini.
Three very readable tales of adventure. The scene being Italy, the time 15th century, the hero Cesare Borgia.
"Wandering in Northern China." H. A. Frank.
"The Ideals of Theodore Roosevelt." Edward H. Colton.
"The Out-Trail." Western Sketches. Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart.
"How to Make the Best of Life." Arnold Bennett.
Delightful and amusing as his essays always are.
"My Garden of Memory." Kate Douglas Wiggin.
The best book of reminiscences of the season. Charming written by a very charming woman, the last, unfortunately, that we will ever receive from her pen.

Mother of Mayor Bennett In Fatal Accident

Mrs. Emeline Bennett, aged eighty-five years and mother of Mayor William E. Bennett, of Riverton, died Sunday night as the result of injuries received when she was struck by an automobile in Philadelphia. Mrs. Bennett, who was very active in church work, had been in the Baptist Temple, Broad and Berks streets, where she had attended services. She was crossing Broad street, on her way to her apartment on Fifteenth street, above Columbia avenue, when she was knocked down by an automobile. Before the machine could be stopped Mrs. Bennett was dragged several feet. She was taken to the Samaritan hospital, where she died in about an hour from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at two o'clock, from the Oliver H. Bair Building, 1820 Chestnut street Philadelphia. Interment private.

Corrections

There were errors in the following two items published on page eight of this issue, and they are here reproduced with the corrections made.

Riverton School Election

At the annual school meeting Wednesday evening of next week, February 13th, three members of the Board of Education will be elected and the annual budget submitted for approval. The budget for the year amounts to $27,510.00, which is about $1,200.00 less than last year.

Those desiring to be candidates for election to the board must file their petitions with the District Clerk five days before election. These petitions may be secured in Riverton from Fred P. Hemphill.

School Meeting at Cinnamonson

The annual school meeting of Cinnamonson township will be held next Wednesday evening, February 13th, in the Westfield public school, at which time three members of the Board of Education will be elected, and the budget, amounting to $35,427.50, will be voted on. Those who desire to be candidates for election to the board must file their petitions with the district clerk five days before election. These petitions may be secured from Benjamin Lippincott, Mrs. Mary R. Wood and Mrs. Emily L. Lippincott will be candidates for reelection, and Howard G. Taylor, Jr. will be a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of his father, Howard G. Taylor, Sr.

Will Enforce Bicycle Ordinance

The local police have been instructed to arrest any individual riding a bicycle on the sidewalks, or without bells and lights. Owing to many complaints of reckless driving, it has been decided to rigidly enforce the Borough's bicycle ordinance.

Coal for Cold Weather

According to the time-honored groundhog prognostication we still have six weeks of winter ahead of us. Prepare for it by laying in a supply of Evans' famous Lehigh coal. Read the news in the other advertisements this week.

Razor Blades at Terry's

TRENTON HONORS WILSON MEMORY

Both Chambers of the New Jersey Legislature Pay Tribute to Dead Leader.

PASS MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS

Senate Votes Porter Judge-Katzenbach and Schimpf Also Confirmed. Wilson Honored—Labor Opposes Picketing Bill; Raps Chancery.

Trenton.—Both chambers of the New Jersey Legislature paid tribute to the memory of President Wilson, who had been Governor of the State when chosen to become chief executive of the nation. A concurrent resolution recalled the ideal purposes of Mr. Wilson and the Senate and Assembly each named a committee of five to attend the funeral services with Governor Shinn.

Passage of the resolution in the Senate was marked by an unusually eloquent address by Senator Case, of Somerset County, and by a fine tribute from Senator Alexander Simpson of Hudson County. In connection with adoption of the resolution, the members and outlookers at the proceedings stood for a minute of silent prayer. Although there is a heavy calendar in both houses, they adjourned for the week out of respect for Mr. Wilson.

Memorial Resolutions
The resolutions adopted were as follows:

"Whereas, The death of Woodrow Wilson, former Governor of New Jersey and President of the United States, deprives the State of New Jersey and the United States of America of a most distinguished citizen and is an event which causes genuine and universal sorrow; and, "Whereas, By his lofty idealism, which never failed him, he led our nation through the terrific struggle of the World War and, prompted by high motives and sincerity of purpose, he gave substance to the aspiration of humanity which, combined with his tenacity of purpose, made him a leader of civilization; and,

"Whereas, Brave words, high ideals, lofty aims and self-sacrifice are treasures which the rich and purposeful life of Woodrow Wilson bequeathed as an inheritance to his countrymen.

Influenced Mankind
"Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate (the House of Assembly concurring) that the people of New Jersey, through their duly elected representatives, in the Legislature assembled, do express their profound grief and sorrow upon the passing of our former Governor and Chief Magistrate of these United States, whose courage and example made America a new and enlarged influence in the destinies of mankind; and be it

"Further resolved, That a committee consisting of the president of the Senate and four senators to be named by him, with the Speaker of the House of Assembly and four members of the House, to be designated by the Speaker, represent the Legislature of this State at the funeral services of the courageous statesman whose passing the nation deplores."

"The whole world is standing at attention," said Senator Case during his address. "Anchored soldier died—not in conflict but, nevertheless, from wounds received—and presently there will be erected a monument to the best-known soldier of the World War."

Further in his address Senator Case, who is a Republican, said: "Even those who did not agree with the late President were obliged to admit the greatness of the man and the super-power he possessed. He belongs not only to New Jersey, not only to this beloved land of ours but to the whole world. The bitterest feelings against him were due to the fact that he rose to such a height that others were not able to approach him."

In the House eulogies were delivered by Messrs. Herschfield and Evans, of Passaic; Devos, of Middlesex; Bostock, of Essex; Vanderbilt, of Mercer; Sexsmith, of Monmouth; Mrs. Finn, Miss Carly and Mr. Barison, of Hudson, and Mrs. Thompson, of Ocean.

John A. Matthews, of Hunterdon, House Democratic secretary during Mr. Wilson's administration as Governor, also spoke. Miss Fort, member from Essex, read into the record the speech made by her father as Governor when he turned the Great Seal of New Jersey over to Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Herschfield declared that New Jersey gave Wilson to the nation and that "he was ours, the political product of this State."

Mr. Vanderbilt recalled the former President's life at Princeton. Mr. Evans, Speaker last year, asserted another name has been added to the roster of the Hall of Fame.

The Senate Committee to attend the funeral consisted of President Reeves, Majority Leader Bright, Minority Leader Simpson, and Senators Case and Barber. The House Committee was Speaker Eaton, Majority Leader Powell, Minority Leader DeVoe, Mr. Crawford and Mr. Herschfield. Porter Confirmed as Judge

Before adjourning for the week out of respect to former President Woodrow Wilson, the Senate confirmed the appointment of Edward L. Katzenbach, of Trenton, as Attorney General; of Newton H. Porter, as Common Pleas judge of Essex county, and Theodore Schimpf, of Atlantic City, as Circuit Court judge.

Several bills of Statewide interest and importance were advanced toward final action through committee hearings. But the death of the former Governor of the State caused a suspension of all legislative activity in the halls where he made the reputation as a political leader that was destined to result in his elevation to the Presidency.

There was a heated hearing on the bill introduced by Miss Carly, Hudson, which would permit municipalities to determine, by local option, whether Sees Submarine Explosion.

Captain Davey, of the SS. Tofun, plying to the Pacific Islands, reports a remarkable occurrence while some miles distant from the Tongatapu volcano in the South sea. The water, he says, was violently bubbling when suddenly a mass of gray smoke appeared to come up out of the sea and floated about 100 feet above the surface. A burst of steam followed it over an area of half a mile. Evidently it was the results of a submarine explosion that the captain witnessed as there had been an earthquake felt at Kuralofu the day previous.

Union of Trees.

Animals or humans that are joined together must be brothers or sisters. Not so trees. These need not be even of the same species. If two seeds sprout close together, the resulting plants may coalesce by a kind of natural grafting and in time become united so closely that they are one to all intents. Altogether, Mr. Andrews tells us, he has observed unions more or less complete between the following species: Willow oak and lobloble pine, white oak and white pine.

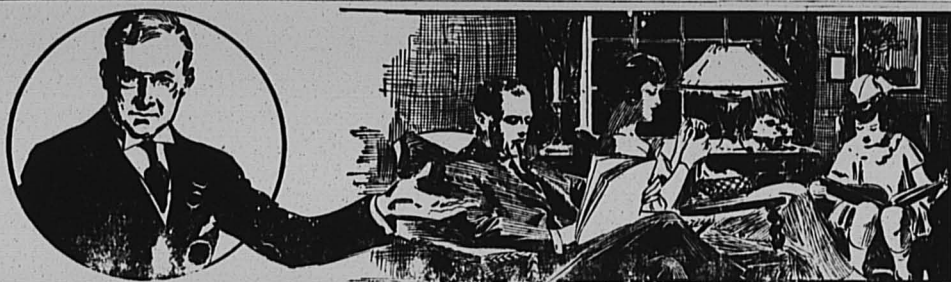

International Exchange.

"Hello, old man; you look worried. What's on your mind?"
"I shipped a bale of cigar coupons to a money broker in Moscow. I heard they were going over there at currency. So I told him to get me the best exchange he could and take a fair profit for himself."
"Get any returns?"
"Yes, he just sent me a package of Confederate notes."

Sunday amusements will be permitted. It is a modification of the ancient "blue law" which has been on the statute books since 1798.

"All we want in this Assembly," Miss Carly said in support of her measure, is to be permitted to live as a democracy."

She pointed out that few people do not go riding in automobiles on Sunday, ride on trolleys or trains or engage in other activities such as golf. "You are raising a community of hypocrites and anarchists by preventing the enjoyment of harmless amusements. I am merely asking for the opportunity to show by a vote what the people want on Sunday."

The opposition to the bill was led by Rev. Fred W. Johnson, of Newark, secretary of the New Jersey Lord's Day Alliance, and Rev. Wilson Hollinger, representing the Council of Protestant Churches of Trenton. Infection of the religious question into the discussion was made by Rev. James Parker, Jersey City, who said the bill, by permitting amusements from 1 o'clock to midnight, discriminated against the Protestant church. The challenge was taken up by Judge

Thomas Meaney, Jersey City, who was asked to stick to the subject by Chairman Powell.

In the Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on an anti-injunction bill, designed to permit picketing in labor disputes, Arthur Quinn, president of the State Federation of Labor, berated the judiciary for its abuse of power and "specialization in issuance of injunctions." Extreme radicalism in labor ranks, he declared, was fostered by the courts. Charles Hendrickson, representing manufacturers, opposed the bill.

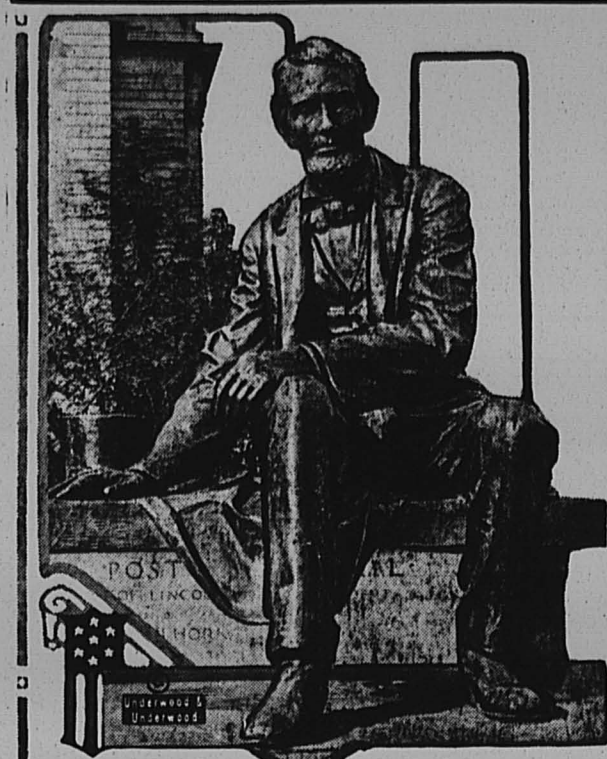

Picketing Bill Opposed
Following lengthy public hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee on the bill introduced by Senator Simpson, of Hudson, which permits picketing during labor strikes and requires trials by jury for imprisonment in contempt orders of Chancery Court under injunctions issued in labor disputes, Senator Richards, of Atlantic, chairman of the committee, said he would take the bills under consideration and most likely draft other measures to deal with the situation in a less drastic manner.

Senator Richards pointed out the bills as prepared would take the power of issuing injunctions from the Court of Chancery and prevent the issuance of injunctions in matters pertaining to labor disputes. He said the bill as introduced not only included labor disputes, but prevented the court from issuing all kinds of injunctions.

Mapped Out Program
Senator Richards said that during the course of arguments between the two sides he had mapped out a tentative plan of solution of the situation which would be given careful consideration and presented to labor men and manufacturers.

Labor representatives vigorously advocated passage of the Simpson measure. Arthur Quinn, president of the State Federation of Labor, said that a few vice chancellors seemed to specialize in injunctions restraining employees of industrial concerns from picketing during strikes. Mr. Quinn disclosed labor had been suffering year after year from injunction abuse by the Chancery court and that this abuse is becoming more prevalent yearly.

Impressive Statue of Lincoln

This splendid bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln stands in front of the Court House in Newark, N. J., and is regarded as one of the best in the country, although many cities have wonderful Lincoln memorials.

Lincoln Was Not So Mild and Meek

Great Liberator Could Bare Teeth and Fight When Necessary

By PROF. B. J. CIGRAND, in Chicago Evening American.

There is a tendency in recent writings to picture Lincoln so mild and meek that his red-bloodedness and his emphatic methods of rebuke are lost and the real value of the giant among men is destroyed.

Several recent biographies and many orations and magazine articles of the past years have given the impression that Lincoln was not master of his cabinet. It is said he often laughed and told stories when his serious opinion was needed.

If any president endured intrigue at the cabinet board, Lincoln did. Not a single other man who ever sat in the presidential chair would have permitted the bold, personal campaigning of his personal associates.

But Lincoln seemed to let these men go on, gradually disclosing not only to himself but the public their selfish personal ambitions and then at the right time and in an inimitable way he would grab the official by the coat collar and bring him back to the straight and narrow path of Lincoln ideas.

Lincoln's manner of dealing with men was entirely different from that of any other president.

He even "ran after" General McClellan and permitted offensive correspondence and no end of "salts" to come to light. But Lincoln, like an indulgent father, could, when the proper moment came, call a halt and take some of the officials "in the woodshed and dust their trousers."

Ultimatum to Plotters. To show he was not intimidated, I give a copy of a letter which he read at a cabinet meeting during the time when Stanton, Chase and Seward were secretly condemning one another and suggesting removals so that they might all the better conduct their campaign to prevent Lincoln's re-election and seat themselves.

The letter reads: "I must be the judge how long to retain in, and when to remove any of you from his position. It would greatly pain me to discover any of you endeavoring to procure another's removal, or, in any way, to prejudice him before the public. Such endeavor would be a wrong to me; and much worse a wrong to the country. My wish is that on this subject no remark be made, nor question asked by any of you, here or elsewhere, now or hereafter."

One day early in Lincoln's administration, Mrs. Lincoln said to him: "It is common rumor about the capital that Seward and not you will be the president—that he will rule you." He replied: "I may not rule myself, but certainly Seward shall not. The only ruler I have is my conscience, following God in it, and these men will have to learn that yet."

At another time Lincoln was visited by a congressional committee headed by Thad Stevens, who burst in on Lincoln with the accusation: "The way you are running this country is causing it to be approaching hell, and very fast."

Lincoln asked: "About how far from that place are we now?"

Stevens sharply replied: "I would say about a mile."

Lincoln smiled and replied: "About a mile—why that's about from here to the capitol." And everyone save Stevens roared.

Stepped Out of Beaten Path. Seward, who had for years toiled to subordinate Lincoln, finally wrote to his wife: "Executive skill and vigor are rare qualities. The President is the best of us."

On July 30, 1863, Lincoln issued a public letter, designed especially for the soldiers and sympathizers of the Confederacy:

"It is the duty of every government to give protection to its citizens and especially those who are organized as soldiers in the public service. It is, therefore, ordered that for every soldier of the United States killed in violation of the laws of war, a rebel soldier shall be executed; and for every one enslaved or sold into slavery, a rebel soldier shall be placed at hard labor on the public works."

Promised Glory for All Officials. I look upon this order as the least representative sentence in Lincoln's entire life story and doubtless it was inspired by the usages of war and came as a cabinet measure.

Another message to his cabinet shows how he guided them and constantly reminded them of broad patriotism. It reads:

"It will require the utmost skill, influence and sagacity of all of us to save the republic. Let us forget ourselves and join hands like brothers to save the republic. If we succeed there will be glory enough for all."

And Stanton, who, in the early days of the Civil war, said, "Lincoln is a fool, a low, cunning clown. The original gorilla Du Chastille, the naturalist, wandered all the way to Africa in search of when he might have found it in Springfield, Ill.," later said when Lincoln was assassinated: "Lincoln is the most perfect ruler of men the world has ever seen."

Un glazed Insulators Will Absorb Moisture

The best insulator to use when erecting that antenna this season should have a glazed surface. Insulators without any glass will absorb moisture. This is also true when the glass becomes chipped. Now is the time to take down your aerial and inspect the condition of the insulators. If the surface of the insulators appears dull, it is time that they were replaced with new ones.

Do not use hard rubber or any other insulator made of a fibrous material, because after a time the elements destroy the insulating properties. If the latter type of composition is used the insulator should be from 24 to 30 inches long. This is recommended, because when the insulator does break down, current will have to travel over a path of exceptionally high resistance before leakage will occur.

Turn Filament Control Before Removing Tube

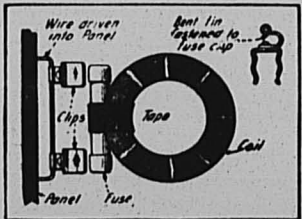

Before removing vacuum tubes from their sockets in an amplifier circuit precaution should be taken first to turn the respective filament control rheostats to the "off" position. This is necessary because when one of the tubes is removed from such a circuit, the potential across, which is used to supply several tubes in multiple or parallel, forces an increase in current through the remaining tubes. This sudden increase in current may be sufficient to damage or impair the filaments of the tubes still in the circuit.

Filament control jacks are objectionable for the same reason, unless similar precautions are exercised.—Radio Digest.

D.L. Coil Mount From an Old Cartridge Fuse

A practical mounting for D.L. coils may be made from a burned-out cartridge fuse. When mounted it will work just as satisfactorily as any similar type of mounting, and its cost is practically nothing.

With a sharp knife an arc is cut in the fuse to permit the outer edge of the coil to be taped to the fuse in the manner shown in the diagram. The mount on the panel is made from an old fuse holder. By means of two pieces of bent tin and a length of wire, this mount is driven into the panel, and connections taken from the rear.

Static Disturbances.

Atmospheric disturbances, known as static or strays, are the greatest obstacles to perfect radio reception. The most common type produces a trying or grinding noise in the phone, and for this reason is called "grinder" static. The second type, caused by lightning flashes, gives a sharp click. The third type creates a hissing noise and frequently occurs during a heavy snowstorm. The lightning click and hissing static produces little interference with communication because they are generally local and last only a few hours. Static is generally at a minimum at 1:30 a. m. and just after dawn. Its maximum strength is reached from 10 p. m. to midnight.—Radio Digest.

CANDLES OF DRIED FISH

Indians in Alaska Find That the Eulachons, Which Are Filled With Oil, Give Good Light.

Alaska has done her best in announcing her material and fantastic features, now that that faraway land is in the spotlight.

The latest odd offering in her publicity is the Siwash Indian announcement that they know of a fish, much like a smelt, to which they have given the name eulachon that can be dried and used as a candle, being so full of heavy fish oil that it burns nearly as well as sperm candle.

So the fish supplies food, the oil is extracted for use in cooking and in preparation of skins for wearing apparel, and the surplus fish are dried for candles to be used in the long winter evenings, and the Siwash smile may be taken to indicate the belief that other parts of the world will have to go pretty lively to equal that story.—Ohio State Journal.

Inventor of Hose Supporter.

A little contribution to the history of women's garments: The origin of the garter—not the round kind, but the other variety. It was invented, for his personal use, by one of the most illustrious German philosophers, Kant, who had observed that the type of round elastic garter he had been using to hold up his silk stockings stopped the circulation of the blood. Kant set his brilliant mind to work, and finally devised a combination of elastic and caoutchouc harness attached at the top to his vest. Thus the hose supporter was born.

Something to Worry About.

"You look blue, old man."
"I am blue. I've been rejected."
"Oh, cheer up! There are plenty of other girls, you know."
"Girls be hanged! It's an insurance company that has done the rejecting."
—Boston Transcript.

The Wise Bellboy. Among the guests at a small hotel was a woman from a country district. The landlord noticed every night that she came downstairs and got a pitcher of water. One night he asked her why she did not ring the bell for the bellboy to bring the water to her.

"No bell in your room, madam? Let me show you."

He took the pitcher of water in his hand and escorted her to her room. Entering the apartment, he pointed out to her the knob of the electric bell. She gazed at it with wonder and then explained:

"Is that a bell? Why the bellboy told me that it was the fire-alarm signal, and that I must never touch it except in case of fire."

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

HIS WIFE'S BAG

"Money, papers, powder puff, ?????. even that fine leather bag—gone? Where? Where? Was it stolen? If so, who was it that brought gloom and dismay to the heart of a good woman?" Bill rushed through the office door. His face beamed with satisfaction as he held up the coveted leather bag and drew forth its precious contents. "Golly! everything's here, and where do you suppose it was? On the rear seat of our Overland Touring Car, just where she left it lay last night."

DOG TALK

"Bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow," said Bruce the dog.

"Bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow," answered Buster who was Bruce's best dog friend.

"I've something quite funny to tell you," said Bruce.

"I'm anxious to hear it," said Buster, and he wagged his tail to show that he meant it indeed.

"Didn't you have something to tell me, Buster?" Bruce asked. "Do tell that to me first of all."

"Very well," said Buster, "I will."

"I was going to tell you," he went on, "about the city trip I made this winter. You know I visited in the city?"

"I should say I did know it," said Bruce. "I was very lonely. I know how lonely I was. I missed you dreadfully, Buster."

"And I missed you, too, Bruce."

You've no idea of how much I missed you."

And both the dogs meant what they said for they were very, very great friends.

"Well, the children went to a big school in a very crowded part of the city."

"One day I got lost. But you know I couldn't help it. The city was very confusing and puzzling to me."

"I can understand it must be from what I've heard of it and from what you've told me," said Bruce.

"And in that nice big school they announced in the assembly where all the children appeared at the first of the morning that I had been lost."

"And they described the kind of a dog I was and all about me and about the collar I wore for those who did not happen to know me."

"Of course I had made many, many friends but I didn't know all the children. You can't know them all in a city school, Bruce."

"Doesn't that seem strange?"

"That seems very strange," said Bruce. "I don't know that I would like that."

"Now, do you know, I was just going to ask you if you were found," Bruce grinned.

"That would have been as foolish a question as there could have been. Quite as foolish a question as there could ever be," Bruce added.

"Of course you were found but tell me about it."

"I'm Anxious to Hear It," Said Buster.

"Well, as I say, they announced that I was lost. That noon when there was recess many of the boys and girls went in different directions all over the neighborhood thinking I might have lost my way not far from school but far enough so as to be puzzled."

"But I found my own way back! Yes, I had gone a longer distance than I had meant to and then had become very much puzzled."

"But I found my way back I'm thankful to say, and I'm always glad to think of how many fine boys and dear girls went looking for me."

"It showed we had so many friends! And I love friends."

"That very afternoon it snowed."

Buster continued, "and the snow balls that those children made—they were great! I used to think they didn't care for snow much in the city and that city children couldn't appreciate snowballs, but they can, Bruce, oh yes, they can!"

"But here I am talking away the time and I want to hear your story."

"Oh," said Bruce, "a friend of my master wanted to take my picture and the friend said:

"Now look pleasant!"

"So I looked 'pleasant' and wagged my tail to show how very pleasant I could be when having my picture taken."

"Well, it seems they didn't want me to look pleasant with my tail for when my tail moved it spoiled the picture. Dear me, the idea of telling a dog to look pleasant and expecting him to keep his tail still! That is about the funniest thing I ever heard of, Buster."

"I think it is the very funniest thing I ever heard of," said Bruce. "It is perfectly ridiculous, perfectly ridiculous."

"And I loved your story, too, Buster. For I think it seems fine to think of a school that thinks of the dogs as well as the children of the neighborhood."

But both dogs began to laugh again for the thought of being told to look pleasant and keep one's tail still was quite the funniest thing dogs could hear.

And I missed you, too, Bruce."

WHY YOU ARE WHAT YOU ARE

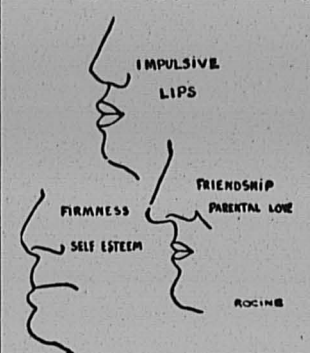

By EDNA PURDY WALSH

LIPS TELL MORE THAN WORDS

One never sees the mouth of firmness and self-esteem as outlined above, in the social gathering, at the picnic, or spending much time in purely friendly ways, if there is business to attend to. A business motive is behind his friendships.

The lips of friendship are curved. Instead of straight, and as a rule have distinct creases across them. The back head is prominent and the handshake is warm and prolonged. A child with friendship in his lips responds better to love than to the rod.

The lips that are pursed out as if in a steady kissing position are very impulsive lips. They generally belong to the vital temperament, which is quick to impulses of kindness unless the selfish faculties are missing. The foods the vital temperament eats most of are the carbohydrates—the starches and sweets, peas, rice, tapioca and pastry. They are quickly burned and create impulsiveness, as long as the individual is in health, but overeating of them causes stupidity, timidity and auto-intoxication.

The upper lip of the ambitious mouth is held back firmly at the corners.

Not So Fair.

"When we were married my wife suggested that we share my salary fifty-fifty."

"That seems fair."

"It did at first. But I soon found she expected me to furnish the house rent and the market money out of my share."

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

A small deposit down, with easy payments of the balance arranged, or your enrollment under the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan, will put your order on the preferred list for spring delivery.

BUILDERS STUDY THE WIND
Weather Bureau Records Consulted
When Towns Adopt City Plan.

Washington, D. C., which was laid out in 1789 by Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, is an example of the advantages to be obtained from planning cities with the future well in mind. The city of Springfield, Ill., is about to adopt a city plan, contemplating for the future city, among other features, a union railroad station, an industrial district, the creation of a lake in the valley of the Sangamon river, and a civic center.

The industrial zone is to be located in the extreme northeast part of the city. Attention was given to the source of local water supply, proximity to railroads and terminals, housing conditions, and available sites for industrial plants. An important consideration, however, in choosing this location, was the prevailing wind direction. It is always preferable that smoke, gases and noise should blow away from, not over, the residential parts of the city.

The forty-four-year weather record of the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture for Springfield shows that the prevailing wind direction is from the northwest in January and February, and from the south during all the other months. It was clearly indicated that by locating the industrial zone in the northeast, smoke-bearing winds would blow over the city but a small part of the time. Similar plans have been laid out for several other cities. Local conditions sometimes make it impossible to place the residential section to the windward of the industrial zone, but in future city planning wind direction will no doubt be given due weight. The weather bureau has records extending over long periods for many regions to aid in determining the direction of prevailing winds.

SMALL HOUSE IS POPULAR

Scarcity of Reliable Domestic Help and High Prices Tends to Favor Little Homes.

It is not an altogether new thing, the vogue of the little house; it is, rather, something in the nature of a very far-reaching revival—a revival that has suddenly captured the interest of the architectural profession and laid siege to the heart and the purse of a public wearied by the constantly soaring cost and increasingly difficult maintenance of unnecessarily large houses. Collier Stevenson, an architect takes the view that "there is at present apparently no hopeful sign of any considerable diminution in either building or operating costs for years to come." He adds, "It is safe to assume that the vogue of the little house will, as time goes on, be an even more potent influence than it is today."

"The scarcity of reliable domestic help—together with the phenomenal remuneration demanded for even the indifferent household service available—has, of course, tended to popularize the small house enormously since the war, not only on this side of the Atlantic, but also in some of the older lands across the sea. In England, for instance, the seriousness of the help problem has probably had a very considerable bearing upon the recent sale of many a famous country seat; although there, as here, the prevailing high rate of taxation has undoubtedly been another powerful argument against unduly large houses. "In the not very remote past, high ceilings and large rooms prevailed in most of our homes. Even in an otherwise small house, the kitchen was apt to be relatively large. Efficiency then was not, and could not be, a guiding factor in household management."—Ladies Home Journal.

—Miss Ruth Branson, of Washington avenue, is ill at her home with a slight attack of diphtheria.

—J. E. Greenwalt, better known as "Steve," has joined the Palmyra Motor Company's next organization.

—Dr. Walter W. Dye is about again, after being laid up nearly three months with partial paralysis of the right leg.

—Mrs. Howard Alloway, of Elm avenue, is entertaining Mrs. Arthur Ingraham and daughter, Betty, of Troy, N. Y.

—An income tax deputy will be at Palmyra National Bank to assist anyone in making out returns on March 7, from 9 to 3.

—Mrs. Lura Fairbanks, of Passaic, was a visitor at the home of Milton Jewett, of Washington avenue, during the past week.

—Miss Ruth Abdill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Abdill, is ill at her home on Garfield avenue, with a slight attack of scarletina.

—The Baptist Sunday School Association held its monthly business meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Horace G. Swell, on Washington avenue.

—Mrs. J. Horace Finney and Mrs. Dayton Lamont acted as hostesses at a luncheon given in the Hotel Aldine, Philadelphia, Wednesday afternoon.

—Mrs. Louis Burdette, of Lecony avenue, who has spent the last four months with friends in San Diego, California, returned home last Saturday.

—Dr. Seikel, Assistant New Jersey Educational Commissioner, who is in charge of the State's physical training department of public schools, was a visitor at the Palmyra schools on Monday.

—Word has been received that Mrs. Stanley Black, who underwent an operation for appendicitis, at Palm Beach, where they are spending the winter, expects to leave the hospital this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. James K. Horton, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. David Krebs, of Clearfield, Pa., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Van Osten, of Washington avenue, last Saturday evening.

—The regular monthly business meeting and social of the King's Daughters Bible class will be held on Tuesday evening, February 12, at the home of Mrs. Lillian A. Bauer, 2006 River avenue, Camden.

—Hammell Woolman, of Trenton, was operated on in a Trenton hospital last Thursday for appendicitis, and is now doing nicely. Mr. Woolman is a former Palmyrian, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Woolman.

—Paul E. Slipp, of Maple avenue, on Sunday was taken to the Medico-Chi Hospital, Philadelphia, where he will undergo the operation. The trip was made in the Palmyra ambulance, driven by the association's secretary, C. Oswald Melcher.

—A lecture on "Norway, the Land of the Midnight Sun" will be delivered in the Baptist Church, tonight, (Thursday) under the auspices of the Junior Philatelic class, by Howard K. Williams, of Philadelphia.

—The recent membership drive of the Burlington County Board of Agriculture netted 658 members. Springfield and Southampton townships tied for first place, each having 51 new members, while Palmyra was the lowest of towns which reported an increase. We only added one name to the membership. Wonder who the "lone star" is?

—Five fire trucks, two from Palmyra and three from Riverton's, responded to a fire in the rear of the shop occupied by George W. Shaner & Sons, Camden, on Sunday afternoon. The fire was started when a youngster dropped a lighted match on a plot of gasoline-soaked grass beneath a big tank which contained about 40 gallons of gasoline. The wooden structure of the tank soon caught fire and it was only through the prompt response of the fire companies that the flames were extinguished before the tank could explode, which would have probably resulted in a serious fire.

—The ferry company did a miniature mid-summer business on Sunday. Many Pennsylvania motorists took advantage of the unusual weather and came over to Jersey. Chief of Police C. Morris Beck was kept busy at the corner of Broad street and Cinnaminson avenue throughout the entire afternoon handling the heavy traffic. Only one boat, the Tacony, was in operation, but at no time during the day did it make a trip without a complete load of cars. The line extended past Rutschman's service station at many times during the evening.

—Miss Edna E. Fletcher, of 128 Cleveland avenue, Riverton, a student of the Palmyra high school, received some bruises and cuts when she alighted from a moving train at Palmyra station Friday morning. Miss Fletcher had come down from Riverton on the morning train which arrived at Palmyra at 8:13, and was unable to make her way to the door of the coach before the local passengers were boarding the train. When she did attempt to alight, the train was pulling out of the station and she fell. No bones were broken, but she was lacerated about the hands and legs, and suffered cuts and bruises about the head. She was treated at the home of a relative, Thomas Given, of Cinnaminson avenue.

Riverton has not been heard from in the form of contributions during this week. It is possible they are waiting to see what Palmyra reports for the week. The cards are now on the table. Palmyra is in the lead. What the next week will show remains to be seen.

That the Ambulance is a very necessary and useful part of a community's equipment is agreed upon by everyone as it, like the fire apparatus, is at the call of anyone at any time, and no one knows how soon he will need it. Let's get busy and send in a contribution now. All are interested in seeing this fund grow. What will be your donation for "A New and Better Ambulance by Memorial Day 1924."

DON'T WANT BETTER STREETS

Palmyra Citizens at Mass Meeting Are Against Spending More Money Now

The public meeting held in the High School Auditorium last Thursday evening to determine the attitude of the public toward improved streets for Palmyra was a great success.

A large and representative crowd was on hand. Splendid arguments in favor of better streets were heard, elaborate and interesting figures on the costs of street improvement were given and the attitude of the citizens was forcefully expressed. They were about 90% opposed.

Richard E. Watters, president of the Chamber of Commerce, opened the meeting with a splendid address. He expressed his pleasure at seeing the large crowd present and compared the gathering to the first town meeting of New England days, when the Pilgrim fathers used to come together to discuss community needs.

Mr. Wilson emphasized the fact that the Chamber of Commerce was not committed to a program of street improvement, but that it had called the meeting merely to set the facts before the people, so that public opinion could be expressed.

The future growth and prosperity of Palmyra depends upon its attractive home-buyers from other cities, he continued. Home-seekers naturally judge a town by the first thing they notice, and in Palmyra at present our streets are likely to give a very bad impression.

Against the cost and its effect on taxes, Mr. Wilson believed that good streets would attract so many more people to the town to help share the expense that taxes would soon come down.

Mayor Weart then spoke, declaring himself in favor of whatever the people wanted, inasmuch as the people had to pay for it. If the people don't want better streets, the Mayor said, he was not going to try to force them on the town.

Engineer Remington, of the firm of Remington and Vossbury, who are the Borough's engineers, was called upon for figures. Mr. Remington showed how Palmyra had been spending seven to eight thousand dollars a year, the interest on $150,000, without getting any real return.

Pensacola Township recently improved its streets, Mr. Remington said, and its assessed valuation increased $1,880,000 within a year. Vineland started improving its streets two years ago and has since grown a million dollars in assessed valuation. The same thing is also happening in Collingswood, Oaklyn and Haddonfield.

The engineer gave the following figures on the cost per front foot to property owners of paving three representative streets and building concrete curbs and gutters:

Lincoln Avenue, 28 ft. wide Concrete paving $6.77
Macadam 4.28
Macadam treated 4.92

Delaware Avenue, 20 ft. wide
Concrete $4.73
Macadam 3.28
Macadam treated 3.78

Parry Avenue, 30 ft. wide
Concrete $5.98
Macadam 3.51
Macadam treated 4.11

Where curbs are already built, these prices will be 85 cents less and where already built a further reduction of 92 cents would be made.

The cost could be spread over a number of years. Concrete streets last for twenty years or more, treated macadam for about ten years and plain macadam for two or three years.

Mr. Remington said that the present patchwork system, he believed better streets would attract the better class of people to Palmyra and help the town rapidly.

Samuel Steen opposed the street program. He said concrete streets were hot in summer time and slippery in winter, and that nothing could be more attractive than Palmyra's beautiful gravel streets in summer time.

He cited the town's increased budget this year and advocated paying for the improvements we already have in stone of taking still more burdens.

The case of Audubon, where taxes were said to be outrageous, was cited as an example of what Palmyra should not do. Audubon was said to have "plunged" on concrete streets and to be paying the price with a vengeance.

Mr. Steen's arguments, which were forcefully presented, were loudly cheered.

Thomas Griffenberg spoke along the same line. He gave high praise to the men who had brought about the town's sewer improvement and said he wanted the best for the town in every line, but not until the citizens could afford to pay for it.

Mayor Weart arose to remark that it seemed to be the sense of the meeting that the better streets question remain "in statu quo" and that to get a decisive vote he would offer a motion that a program of street improvement be adopted. The Mayor expected this motion to be voted down and thus bring the discussion to an end.

There was some misunderstanding, however, when Mr. Wilson repeated the motion, so it was withdrawn, and another motion was presented, to the effect that this was not an opportune time to formulate a street paving program. This was almost unanimously adopted.

Herbert Trout arose to ask how long the town would be expected to wait before something could be done for the streets and suggested that the use of cinders, which have been so successful on Pennsylvania avenue, be considered.

VALENTINE DAY

Send her a valentine to say you love her in the same old way. Just drop the long familiar ways. And live again the old-time days. When love was new and youth was bright.

And treat her as you would if she were still the girl that used to be. Pretend that all the years have passed without one day of loving bliss: That you are coming still to woo. Your sweetheart as you used to do.

Forget that you have waited long. The paths of life where right and wrong. And joy and grief in battle are. And play the part without a scar.

Be what you were when youth was fine. And send to her a valentine: Forget the burden and the woe. That have been given you to know. And to the wife so fond and true.

The pledges of love you gave. 'Twill cure her life every ill. To find that you're her sweetheart still. —Edgar A. Guest.

"You Can't Fool All the People All the Time."

NOWHERE did Abraham Lincoln show his shrewdness of judgment to better effect than in that famous utterance which ended, "You can't fool all the people all the time."

In the past there were a few misguided advertisers who thought they could sell their wares better by misrepresentation. But those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that Lincoln was right. Untruthful advertising doesn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers and build up public good-will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

So, you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The very fact that it is advertised is your best warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with what it does business. That is why it pays to read the advertisements, to patronize advertisers, and to buy advertised merchandise.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB

Dr. Bauer to Address Meeting This Friday

Dr. Harry W. Bauer, one of our town's most prominent physicians, has been secured as the first speaker of the Young Men's Club of the Epworth M. E. Church. Dr. Bauer will address the meeting this Friday evening. It will be held in the club room, in the Temple gym, at 8 o'clock. He will give the boys his popular talk on "Young Manhood."

Carl W. Latch, vice president of the organization and chairman of the social committee, has promised a lively time during the social hour. Refreshments will be served in the usual manner. The meeting and membership is open to any fellow over 16 years of age.

Last week Chairman Latch furnished a lively time during the social hour. A number of boxing matches, refereed by Leader Leonard R. Baker were on the program and made quite a hit with the "gang."

Evan Branson has been appointed chairman of the membership committee and is now hard at work to get a large number of candidates.

Camp 23

A large crowd is expected to attend the meeting of Camp 23, P. O. S. of A. Monday evening. The Booster Committee under the chairmanship of Leslie Reeves has arranged a very interesting program in which the celebration of Lincoln's birthday is given a prominent part.

It is also important that there should be a large attendance, due to a number of business affairs which will be brought up at this meeting. Final action will be taken on some by-laws.

Every member who can possibly do so, should come out Monday evening. Get in on the good times and also be present to cast a vote on an important business matter.

EX-PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

PRESIDENT WILSON WAS HUMAN PHENOMENON OF GREATEST WAR

At 54 No More Than a University Professor and Political Writer; at 63 in a Place of Power and Fame and Honor Unsurpassed in History—Defended His Unsuccessful Peace Policies to the Last.

History, in determining the place of Woodrow Wilson, 28th president of the United States of America, will pass judgment upon the most prominent world-figure of the events growing out of the most momentous war of all time. From the viewpoint of hundreds of millions of lovers of liberty Woodrow Wilson stood at the zenith, as the ex-kaiser stands at the nadir.

The great war brought to the front many men whose names will live in honor. In the last analysis three men stand out: Wilson, Lloyd George, Clemenceau. Of these three it was Wilson who held the world's eye—Wilson, the human phenomenon of the times, until fifty-four no more than a college president and political writer and at sixty-three on a pinnacle of fame and honor and power unsurpassed if ever attained by any man in history.

It is impossible now to differentiate between Woodrow Wilson the man and Woodrow Wilson the head of the most powerful nation of earth in wealth, material and fighting men. Certainly he could not have reached the place he held without great ability and extraordinary capacity for leadership. By virtue of his place he became a focus of world attention as soon as the great war began. Before the armistice was signed he had become a great moral leader with the ear of the peoples of the world. Only as such could he have forced upon the allied world the unofficial acceptance of his project of a league of nations, with its fourteen points as set forth to congress January 18, 1918.

Abroad and at Home

The enthusiasm evoked by President Wilson's visits to Paris, London and Rome was proof of his unique place in the regard of the people. It was evident that he was to Europeans not so much a man as a voice—a voice putting into words what they wanted and had not been able to express; his ideas and ideals were a sort of religion to them.

But he showed himself a statesman as well as a voice. He played the game masterfully. He established sympathy between himself and his man or his crowd. He made few if any mistakes in taste or judgment. He "matched his mind" to use his own expression, with the best of Europe and he got his league of nations before the peace conference and got it adopted.

President Wilson's two months in Europe may be divided into phases. When he landed the attitude toward the league of nations was this: The government of France was antagonistic; Great Britain's was suspicious; Italy's was skeptical. The first phase, his triumphant progress through France, England and Italy opened the eyes of these governments to his hold on the people. The second phase, the preliminary work of the peace conference, convinced these governments that President Wilson had an idea rather than a set plan which he purposed to force upon them. This simplified the situation and the rush to climb on the bandwagon began.

Contemporary estimates of President Wilson at home were as wide apart as the poles. Senator J. Thomas Hefflin (Dem., Ala.), when representative spoke on the floor of "Woodrow Wilson, the greatest apostle of world liberty and democracy since Jesus Christ."

Senator Thomas W. Hardwick (Dem.) of Georgia, said January 21 in the senate: "I believe in a written constitution, I believe in a strict interpretation of it . . . and I believe that unless we leave and abandon this mad saturnal of imperialism here at home and return to the ancient principles of our fathers there will be no safety nor happiness for the people of this republic."

Senator Albert B. Cummins (Rep.) of Iowa expressed the half-way view when he said in the senate January 23: "I think President Wilson is the most intensely practical statesman of this or any other day. He began his administration in the belief that the executive office had not the power that it ought to have. He has accomplished more in the direction in which he set his face and his mind than any other man, either in this generation or in any former generation; and the only criticism, if it be a criticism, is that he has not marched in the right direction and has done things that he ought not to have done."

In the process of wrestling from congress all the powers he believed the Constitution conferred upon the executive, President Wilson made many political enemies who questioned not his ability, but his motives and methods. To particularize would be largely to review the political history of the last six years. The railroad situation, however, may be cited as an example. Representative E. E. Denison (Rep.) of Illinois said January 15, 1919, "Government ownership of railroads will be the dominant political issue in the next national campaign and Mr. McAdoo will of course expect to be the candidate of his party. He will hope to capitalize what has been done for the railroad men."

President Wilson was re-elected in 1916 upon a peace platform. October 23, 1918, just before the congressional elections, he issued an appeal to the voters of the United States asking them, if they had approved of his leadership and wished him to continue to be their unembarrassed spokesman in affairs at home and abroad, to express themselves unmistakably to that effect by returning a Democratic majority to both houses. The result of the elections was to change the political complexion of both houses as follows: 65th congress—Senate, 51 Democrats and 45 Republicans; house, 215 Republicans and 213 Democrats. 66th congress—Senate, 47 Democrats and 49 Republicans; house, 239 Republicans and 193 Democrats.

President Wilson in attending the peace conference made several new departures. He left the country during the conference. He took the office with him, signing acts and making appointments while in Paris. He ignored the senate, though he is empowered by the Constitution to make treaties "by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

He appointed as the American representatives himself, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Henry White, Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss. He sailed December 4, 1918, and arrived at Paris December 14. The French capital was in a fever for the occasion. December 24 he went to England and thence to Italy. He returned to Paris January 8, after a journey that resembled a "triumphal procession."

After the preliminary sessions of the peace conference President Wilson returned to the United States in February, returning to Paris March 15, 1919, to sign the peace treaty June 28, 1919, and returned to the United States July 8. His second term as president expired March 3, 1920.

After his retirement from the presidency Mr. Wilson lived quietly, making a partly successful fight to regain his health. He occasionally went to the theater and rode much in his car about the environs of Washington. He bought a house in Washington and in 1921 formed a law partnership with Baldwin Colby, who had been his secretary of state, succeeding Robert Lansing. He took part in the funeral procession of President Harding in Washington.

Proclamation

A case of HYDROPHOBIA or RABIES having been discovered in RIVERTON, and the dog so affected having bitten several other dogs, there is danger of RABIES or HYDROPHOBIA spreading throughout the community.

Therefore all persons in the Borough of Riverton, in the County of Burlington, State of New Jersey, owning or harboring a dog or dogs, are ordered to keep the same securely fastened upon their premises and not permit said dog or dogs to be upon any public street or highway in said Borough, unless upon a leash and accompanied by the said owner.

Any dog found upon the streets or highways in the said Borough in violation thereof will be destroyed, and the person owning or harboring said dog will be prosecuted.

THE MERE MUZZLING OR LICENSING OF DOGS DOES NOT EXEMPT THEM FROM THIS REGULATION.

This regulation to continue until further notice, by order of the Borough Council of the Borough of Riverton, in the County of Burlington.

KILLAM E. BENNETT, Mayor.

Dated February 5, 1924.

ington and was the recipient of much public attention.

Mr. Wilson's last public utterance was last fall, November 10, 1923, the eve of Armistice day, he spoke by radio to the American people, defending his peace policy and saying that the American people had withdrawn into a "solitary and selfish isolation which is deeply ignominious because manifestly cowardly and dishonorable."

Armistice day Mr. Wilson briefly addressed thousands from the front steps of his home, concluding thus:

"I am not one of those that have the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles I have stood for. I have seen fools resist Providence before and I have seen their destruction, as will come upon these again—utter destruction and contempt. That we shall prevail is as sure as that God reigns. Thank you."

Chronology of Wilson.

Woodrow Wilson was born December 28, 1856, in Staunton, Va. He was the son of Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, a Presbyterian minister, and Jessie (Woodrow) Wilson. In 1885 he married Ellen Louise Axsen. They had three daughters—Jessie (Mrs. Francis B. Sayre), Eleanor (Mrs. W. O. McAdoo) and Margaret. Mrs. Wilson died August 16, 1914, in the White House. December 18, 1915, Mr. Wilson married Edith (Bolling) Galt, a descendant of Pocahontas. The first 29 years of Mr. Wilson's life covered his boyhood and education. The next 25 were devoted to teaching and writing. With his election to the governorship of New Jersey in 1910 began his active political career. His chronology follows:

1858—Family removed to Atlanta, Ga. Student in private schools.

1875—Student at Princeton.

1879—Law student at University of Virginia.

1882—Practicing lawyer in Atlanta.

1883—Post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins university in history, jurisprudence and political science; received degree of Ph. D.

1886—Associate professor of history at Bryn Mawr college.

1888—Professor of history and political economy at Wesleyan.

1890—Professor of jurisprudence and political economy at Princeton.

1892—President of Princeton (first nonclerical).

Political Career Begins.

1910—Elected governor of New Jersey.

1912—Nominated by Democratic national convention in Baltimore in June on forty-sixth ballot by vote of 900 out of 1,086 over Champ Clark of Missouri and John Harmon of Ohio.

Elected president over Taft and Roosevelt.

Woodrow Wilson's Ph. D. thesis was "Congressional Government: A Study in American Politics" (1885). His later works include:

"The State: Elements of Historical and Practical Politics" (1885; new edition, 1911).

"An Old Master, and Other Political Essays" (1893).

CHEAPER GAS

Both Gas and Electricity Will Cost Less If Public Service Plans Are Approved

Gas and electric customers of Public Service are awaiting the next step in the proposed reduction in rates which will mean a saving of approximately $2,500,000 a year to consumers if the details, not yet worked out, are approved by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners.

The reductions were forecast at a conference held February 7 between members of the Utility Board and officials of Public Service following correspondence between President Osborne of the board and President McCarter of Public Service as well as favorable action by the Public Service Board of Directors.

Mr. McCarter and his associates promised to submit data within reasonable time setting forth what reductions could be made. It was pointed out that the present gas and electric rates were not affording the full return to which the company was entitled, upon the value of the property, but that a proper valuation of the Gas and Electric properties would involve much time and expense and that it was believed that a voluntary reduction could be made without interfering with the financial necessities of these companies.

The Public Service officials stated that to keep pace with the natural development of the Gas and Electric companies there would be required this year alone approximately thirty-four millions of dollars, a sum by the way, larger than New Jersey's share of the cost of the new vehicular tunnels under the Hudson and the bridge over the Delaware at Camden combined.

If the reductions that the company has in mind are carried out, they will mean a saving to the customers of the Gas Company of about $1,000,000 a year and to the customers of the Electric Company of about $1,500,000 a year.

BUDGET ADOPTED

No Objection to Riverton's Budget
at Hearing. Highway Committee
Given $700 More

No one appeared before Riverton Borough Council Thursday night of last week to object to the proposed budget as published.

William B. Lynch, chairman of the highway committee, reported that on further investigation it had been found that the two thousand dollars it was previously proposed to spend on the improvement of Thomas avenue and Park street, was too little to do the work properly. This figure was suggested as being sufficient at a previous meeting by Hyllton Smith, who represents the Barrett Company, dealers in road materials. It is now found, Mr. Lynch said, that Thomas avenue alone will cost about three thousand dollars, with about two thousand dollars more to finish Park street in the same way. After considerable discussion it was decided to do Thomas avenue this year and only make temporary repairs to Park street. One of the reasons for deferring the work on Park street is the fact that there are no curbs there, and in order to properly hold such a street as it is intended to put down, it will be necessary to have adequate curbing on both sides of the street. Councilman Williams said that he had heard several people express the opinion that the amount of money asked for by the highway committee was not sufficient to put the streets of the Borough in proper shape. It was finally decided to increase the highway committee's appropriation by $700.

Mayor Bennett again urged greater police protection. He said that many had spoken to him about the need for a third officer, owing to the steadily increasing traffic through Riverton. Councilman Showell said that he had been approached by quite a few residents, who were opposed to the added expense of another policeman, which they thought to be unnecessary. Councilman Williams said he had heard many expressions of opinion both for and against, and Councilman Lynch expressed the thought that it was hardly fair to expect efficient service from men who were required to do twelve hours' duty. He thought that the additional man, by reducing the shifts to eight hours, would provide much better protection at all times.

Assessor Robinet Cole said that three officers would be no better than two, unless the laws and Borough ordinances were enforced. He said that on his street (Thomas avenue) automobiles traveling at the rate of thirty-five to forty miles an hour were common. Further discussion of the police department was deferred until a later time, owing to the absence of Chief of Police Geiss.

Councilman Showell, who is a member of the committee for Fathers' Night, of the Parent-Teacher Association at the public school Wednesday evening, February 20th, extended an invitation to the Mayor and his fellow members of Council to be present at that time.

Calvary Y. M. C. A. Group Movie
Show and Entertainment Big Success

In spite of the blowing-out of a fuse, the Calvary Y. M. C. A. group in total darkness for twenty minutes at the start of the program, the movie show and entertainment given last Thursday by Calvary Y. M. C. A. Group, was greatly enjoyed by the large number of the Group's friends who witnessed the performance.

The program was headed by Mr. Bill Young, nationally known harmonica player, who resides in Burlington. Radio fans of Riverton probably had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Young last week, when one of his programs was broadcast from the St. James Hotel, along with Charlie Kerr's orchestra. Mr. Young showed his audience several novel tricks, the most unusual of which was the playing of two harmonicas at the same time; one with his nose, the other with his mouth, juggling the instruments while playing.

Following his performance, one of Larry Semons' imitations of "The Counter Jumpers," and the entertainment ended with a wild-west picture and a smashing Harold Lloyd comedy. During the entire performance, Guy C. Hendry, County Y. M. C. A. orchestra made the features of the show doubly enjoyable with their excellent harmony. The proceeds of the evening will help to pay the yearly salary of a native Y. M. C. A. Secretary in India, which task Calvary Group has undertaken, and should there be any surplus funds, sweater emblems, indicating average, earned in the Christian Citizenship Training Program tests will be purchased.

The members of Calvary Group wish to take this opportunity to publicly thank Miss Emma D. Frank for her kind presentation of a beautiful mahogany bulletin board, which has been hung in the Chapel and will be used permanently for Group notices.

Fresh Vegetables from Your Own Garden

It is a fact worth remembering that many of the best varieties, among even the common vegetables, cannot be bought in the market, for the reason that they will not stand shipping.

These varieties can be grown in the home garden, as well as the less desirable sorts, and supply the suburbanite's table with luxuries that the city man must go without. The man with a garden can have them fresh and consequently at their best.

MRS. HARMER AT Y. W.

Burlington Board of Directors Entertains County Y. W. C. A. Board and Committee Women

It was an interested group of women that gathered at the Burlington Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday to hear about the "Training Course for Board and Committee Women" recently given in New York for volunteer workers. Mrs. Edward S. Harmer, president of the County Association is the chairman of the National committee on volunteer training. In a dual capacity she represented Burlington county at the training school. Her enthusiastic report of the value and need of such a course quickened a response for more intensive training of the program development by the Y. W. C. A.

Coming from Canada and along the Atlantic seaboard to the number of twenty, the women represented diversified interests within and without the Association. The courses studied included the following topics: "Trends in Modern Life," "Faith of the Christian," "Psychology of Group Work," "Technique of Public Speaking," "Development of Christian Leadership" and the "Psychology of the Modern Girl."

Walter J. Buzby Announces His Candidacy As a Delegate to the Republican Convention in June

Having been urged by a number of prominent Republicans in Atlantic and adjacent counties comprising the Second Congressional District, to be a delegate to the National Convention in June next, I have consented to let my name be used.

I am an ardent admirer of President Coolidge because of his courageous stand in opposing a tax reduction which will benefit all classes of people; because of his insistence that all law should be respected; because of his economical administration of government; of his foreign policy, especially his desire to really help the stricken nations of Europe, and of his all around Americanism and being a man of action rather than words.

I solicit the votes of the Republicans of the Second Congressional District as a strictly Coolidge man and shall use every endeavor to have him nominated.

WALTER J. BUZBY.

Lutheran News

The sermon subjects at the First Lutheran Church meeting in Society Hall, for Sunday, February 17th, are, morning, "Offered—a Reward." In the evening, the second of the series of four sermons on "The Key to Heaven," namely "Self-Control" will be given.

A great surprise was given the church last Sunday evening when the Legion boys turned out thirty-five strong. It was fine of them, and we hope they thoroughly enjoyed the meeting. Come again boys!

Next Saturday night, the 16th, will be ladies' night bowling. Men and women, come out and enjoy the evening in Riverside. Meet at the Palmyra station at seven-thirty sharp.

The Luther League orchestra, under the leadership of Thomas Griffenberg, was out in force again Sunday evening. And a fine meeting too. Subject this Sunday "What is sin? How does it affect character?" Leader, Miss Muriel Stackhouse.

The ladies will present their play, "The Spinners Return," Friday night, February 22, in P. O. S. A. hall.

Riverton has always done a little more than asked of her, and in the matter of taxes there is no disposition to shirk paying our just and equitable portion, but there is a pretty general feeling, among those who are acquainted with the facts, that to force a further increase in the valuations of property in Riverton at this time would be unfair, and work a hardship to many of our taxpayers.

K. OF P. DIAMOND JUBILEE

Palmyra Lodge to Hold Big Celebration Next Thursday evening

Palmyra Lodge, No. 67, Knights of Pythias, will celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the Order of Knights of Pythias, Thursday evening, February 21, in the P. O. S. of A. Hall. Following a brief business session the members with their wives and friends as their guests will assemble in the hall where addresses will be made by the Rev. Fred B. Morley, of the Epworth M. E. Church, Rev. Harry L. Saul, of the First Lutheran Church, George N. Wimer, a charter member of No. 67, and Mayor Johnson, of Bridgeton, who will come here as the guest of Elmer J. Carl, Grand Chancellor of the Order.

The Order of Knights of Pythias was founded by Justus H. Rathbone and a few of his intimate friends in the city of Washington, D. C., February 19, 1864. Since that time the fraternity, grown in wealth, power, influence and membership, until today the names of nine hundred thousand true men, whose simple creed is an abiding faith in the Fatherhood of God, the Brotherhood of Man and the Immortality of the Soul are listed on the roster of the order. For the past several weeks a committee has been working to make the celebration one which they promise will exceed any affair before staged by Palmyra Pythians. Arrangements are being made to accommodate 200 guests. Supper will be served prior to the opening of the celebration.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB

Roy Kersey to Address Meeting This Week

Roy Kersey, student and athlete of the Palmyra High School, will address the meeting of the Young Men's Club in the Club rooms, in the temple, this Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Roy will talk on "The Bronchoscope," a surgical instrument used to remove obstructions from the lungs and stomach. He has witnessed more than a hundred of these operations and has performed some on animals. He will also have charge of the recreational period of the meeting.

The club will hold a banquet in the gym Friday evening, February 22, at 7 o'clock. Tickets are not only being sold to members of the organization, but to any fellows over 16 years of age. Elaborate plans are being made for the occasion. A general committee composed of Mrs. Harry Curry, Mrs. Fred B. Morley and Mrs. Leonard R. Baker will have complete charge of the dinner, decorating, etc. Leader Leonard R. Baker is planning to have Guy Hendry and his Y. M. C. A. orchestra, of Mount Holly, present. Mr. Baker will also select a speaker and topic that will appeal to young men. Tickets can be purchased from any member of the club.

A cordial invitation is extended to every young man of the community to become a member of this organization. Meeting every Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Chautauqua Tickets Nearly Sold Out

Reports from the ticket committee of the Swarthmore Chautauqua, which will open in the auditorium of the Palmyra high school Friday afternoon of this week, are to the effect that nearly all of the tickets have been sold, and those desiring to enjoy this popular entertainment, which was so successful here last year, should make arrangements to secure their tickets at once.

The course ticket for adults sells for $1.50 and entitles the holder to the six entertainments—three afternoons and three evenings. The children's season ticket sells for $1.00, with the same privileges.

Under the terms of the contract on which the Chautauqua comes to Palmyra, no season tickets will be sold after the first program has been rendered, and as single admissions are seventy-five cents for adults and children alike, it will be a big saving to buy season tickets.

If the supply has not already been exhausted, tickets may still be secured from:

No Money Voted for School Next Year

At the annual school meeting in Cinnaminson township last night the appropriation for running the school next year was voted down.

A total of 275 votes were cast, of which 54 were rejected owing to improper marking.

The seven five candidates for the three places to be filled on the school board. The vote was as follows: Mrs. Mary R. Wood, 221; Howard Taylor, Jr., 203; T. Morton Haines, 142; Mrs. Emily Lippincott, 74; Charles Turner, 35.

Riverton Members Re-Elected to School Board

The annual school meeting in Riverton Wednesday night was a very quiet affair, only twenty citizens turning out to vote for members of the board and the appropriations. Robert Biddle was made chairman of the meeting, Mrs. Murray C. Boyer and Robert W. Knight were tellers and E. C. Sullivan was secretary. No opposition to anything developed, and each of the candidates received the full vote. Those re-elected were C. W. Kipp, S. L. Warren and Mrs. Edith Wallace Sullivan.

DEATHS

Mrs. James Hemphill

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Waide, wife of Mr. Hemphill, died at her home, Fourth and Lippincott, Riverton, Sunday, February 9th, at midnight, after a year's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hemphill have lived in Riverton for forty-six years in the same house they now occupy, coming here from Merchantville, N. J. Mrs. Hemphill was very active in church work, and for thirty-seven years conducted the Union Mission in West Palmyra, which she attended until four weeks ago.

The deceased, who was in her 78th year, is survived by her husband and eight children: Frank Hemphill, Mount Royal, N. J.; H. B. Hemphill, of Camden; Mrs. S. H. Talman, of Woodbury; M. W. Hemphill, Atlantic City; Mrs. Edith Watson, Camden; Fred P. Hemphill, Riverton; Mrs. Thomas Welling Cook, Korea, and Rev. Wesley Hemphill, Lancaster, Pa. Funeral services were held from her late residence on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, Rev. N. F. Stahl officiating. Interment was made in the Old Methodist cemetery, Palmyra.

Mrs. Samuel H. Troth, Jr.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Troth, widow of Samuel H. Troth, Jr., died in Schenectady, Pa., on January 23rd. Mrs. Troth had been ill since Thanksgiving. She was a resident of Riverton for many years. The funeral took place from the undertaking parlors of J. Wesley Craft, 2040 Diamond street, Philadelphia, on January 28th. Interment was in Monument Cemetery, Philadelphia. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lloyd Mellor Smith, of St. Simeon's Church, Ninth and Lehigh avenue, Philadelphia. One son, S. Howard Troth, of Camden, survives.

CUTS COST OF HOME LIGHTS

Electric Illumination Expense Is Reduced Owing to Invention of New Lamp.

Recent reductions in the prices charged the public for incandescent electric lamps have disclosed that an electrically lighted home can now obtain a thousand candle hours of illumination for pretty close to 10 cents. It is also brought out that in the thirty years from 1890 to 1920, the cost of lighting the average home by electricity dropped from 80 cents per thousand candle hours to 11 cents. This was due in large measure to a succession of inventions and discoveries, the outcome of patient laboratory research, each of which contributed to an increase in the efficiency of the incandescent lamp and thereby a reduction in the cost of illumination obtained.

There has not been a year in the span of three decades mentioned that costs did not drop noticeably, except since 1916. During the last seven years, the reduction has been but a fraction of a cent each year. Meanwhile the quality of light furnished has increased almost beyond comparison, as those who recall the old-fashioned carbon filament lamps, in which bamboo was used at first, will appreciate.

Three different styles of lamps were popular during this thirty-year period. The old style of sixteen candlepower carbon lamp was the most in favor from 1890 to 1905. In that year the Gem lamp was introduced, and the 50-watt type of that kind of lamp was the most used. Then the Mazda tungsten lamp arrived. These were the result of Dr. W. D. Coolidge's discovery in the research laboratory of the General Electric company, of a method of drawing tungsten into flexible wire, so that it could be used for lamp filaments in vacuum bulbs. From 1908 to the present time the 40-watt Mazda lamp has been the most popular for general household lighting.

Few persons could afford to illuminate their homes brilliantly today if electric lights had not been improved and their initial cost, as well as the cost of current consumed, made comparatively low.

HOUSE KNOWN AS A TOWN

Brick Building on the Crossroads in Hunterdon County, N. J., Is Called Perryville.

On a crossroad in Hunterdon county, N. J., there stands a solid, lonely brick building which enjoys a unique distinction. It is a town, in fact, the town of Perryville, and has been listed on the map as such for more than a hundred years.

The building locally is also known as "Brick Tavern," having served throughout its earlier and more flourishing years as a meeting place for farmers of the neighborhood and a resting spot for travelers on the post road that runs before its doors. It was under construction in September, 1818, when the first news of Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie flashed along the road and the building was christened "Perryville." A jug of whiskey was poured over the green bush surmounting the roof-tree by way of proper observance.

Because of the tavern's site on the east to west turnpike over which a great deal of the state's traffic passed at the time of its erection, the tavern of Perryville soon went on the map as a post where the stage coaches stopped, and continued to receive mail as a town for a considerable period after railroad service banished the horses and their clattering omnibuses. Even now the flavor of antiquity clings about it, although it has been appreciably modernized by its present owners.

Hoop-skirts and copper-toed shoes were found in the old building when it changed hands fifteen years ago, and it boasts huge open fireplaces and mantels and doors of colonial design.

Ingenious Waste Paper Burner.

An excellent waste paper burner is hexagonal in shape and built of ordinary bricks so placed as to permit a strong draft to blow through it. It should be nearly four feet in height. Forty-eight bricks are laid at the foundation—eight bricks for every side. Fewer bricks are used in each successive layer, so that the burner is wide at the base and narrow at the top. The contents of waste paper baskets when dumped into this receptacle are consumed quickly and without the unsightly litter of charred paper and flying embers, which usually accompanies the incineration of paper out of doors.

Back Yards Standardized. Even back yards are standardized in Manhattan. Brown stone houses are as alike as so many peas, and so are the tiny yards in the rear. Those who put on swank call them "gardens." Everyone is a rectangle.

Judge Wells Will Address Historical Society. The mid winter meeting of the Woman's Branch of the New Jersey Historical Society will be held in Bordentown, on Tuesday, February 19.

Harold B. Wells will address the meeting at one o'clock upon the historic places of Bordentown. The members of the Burlington County Historical Society are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Arrangements have been made to show the visiting society the historic spots if weather permits and the members of the society are asked to bring their own cars and join the itinerary.

SILZER MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

Plan Announced by Hershfield
After Committee Studying Auto Liability Meets.

STATE CARE OF INSANE

Savings If State Took All Defectives, Is Lewis's View—No Absorption Proposed, Says Commissioner, but Offers Substitute.

Trenton.—If information developed by the state's special automobile liability commission warrants Governor Silzer will call a special session of the Legislature in September to pass a law carrying the compulsory insurance plan into effect. The governor's program was announced by Assemblyman Hershfield, of Passaic county, chairman of the commission.

Mr. Hershfield stated that the commission will begin holding hearings and calling expert witnesses in March, immediately after the end of the session of the Legislature. The hearings will be succeeded by meetings of the commission, at which it will collate the facts as they have been developed and, if the present plan is followed, a bill will be prepared.

Mr. Hershfield conferred with Senator Whitney, of Morris county, and Robert D. Benson, of Passaic, chairman of the board of the Tidewater Oil Company, at the office of Mr. Benson, 11 Broadway, New York. They discussed the employment of an expert to gather statistics and other data that will be required as the inquiry progresses, but action will be deferred to next week.

Under the provisions of the Hershfield resolution creating the commission, its expenses will be subject to approval and payment by the State House Commission, composed of the Governor, State Treasurer Read and State Controller Bugbee. Mr. Hershfield, Mr. Whitney and State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill, another member of the inquiry body, had a conference with the commission at the state house. The fifth member of the commission is James N. Butler, of Atlantic City.

A bill similar to that suggested for New Jersey is now pending in the Maryland Legislature.

County Institutional Problem

Correspondence between Governor Silzer and Freeholder Reed of Essex county, made public by Mr. Reed, throws further light on the issues which have arisen over Overbrook Hospital expansion plans. It is shed chiefly by a letter from Commissioner Lewis of the State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies, sent to Mr. Reed by the Governor, on the extent to which state institutional projects now pending would affect the county problem of institutional care.

Among other things Mr. Lewis reveals the fact that the average annual cost of the half-million tax state program to Essex county for the next four years will be $674,800, in addition to the Overbrook program's cost. On January 10 Mr. Reed, who has opposed the so-called $2,000,000 Overbrook building program, wrote to the Governor and to State Controller Bugbee asking two questions.

One was whether the state $9,000,000 direct tax plan for state institutional improvements or the Governor's suggested plan for a $14,000,000 program would offer any relief to Essex county, which would pay twenty-seven per cent of the sum to be raised.

The other was whether the state contemplates absorbing county institutions for the care of the insane and tubercular. Controller Bugbee replied soon after, favoring continued county care of such unfortunate.

Governor Silzer's reply was dated January 31. It was brief and set forth that the Governor had submitted the letter of inquiry to Mr. Lewis, whose reply he inclosed. Mr. Silzer added his belief that "in all these matters we can not approach them in a small way or in a provincial way," and that he knew that to be the feeling of the Essex County Board.

Mr. Lewis's letter went into the whole question of relations between county and state welfare problems in much detail. Practically all other states, he said, have taken over the county hospitals for the insane, and "this plan is obviously much cheaper." He suggested an approach to such a solution in this state by a system which would gradually employ the county institutions exclusively for able-bodied, mild and senile cases, leaving other classes of cases to the state hospitals.

No Program of Absorption
In reply to Mr. Reed's second question, Mr. Lewis said he knew of no program for the absorption of the county insane hospitals by the state, but added that this plan was strongly recommended in 1920 by the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, after a countrywide survey. His suggestion in reply to the first question, however, he considered, "would be a fair substitute for such absorption."

Mr. Lewis's letter contains much information not hitherto publicly offered on the questions at issue in both the state and the county programs for institutional development, and affecting their interrelations.

"The following six counties," writes Mr. Lewis, "have asylums for the insane: Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cumberland, Essex and Hudson. The total state subsidy to counties for the support of patients in county lunatic asylums requested for 1925 was $629,778.06, which was reduced in the Governor's recommendation to $596,875.06. Included in this latter total are the following items for counties who do not have lunatic asylums but keep their insane in almshouses: Gloucester County Almshouse at Clarksboro $2,000 Passaic County Almshouse at Paterson 4,000 Salem County Almshouse at Woodstown 3,320

"The following counties have county tuberculosis sanatoria: Atlantic, at Northfield; Bergen, at Oradell; Burlington, at New Lisbon; Camden, at Ancora; Essex, at Verona; Hudson, at Secaucus; Monmouth, at Allenwood; Union, at Scotch Plains; Cumberland, Gloucester, Middlesex, Passaic, Salem and Warren do not have tuberculosis sanatoria. The requested state subsidy for all counties was $424,066. The recommended was $388,000, or a grand total to the counties for the insane and for the tubercular of $779,875.06.

More Than Doubled in Eight Years
"The total appropriation for these two purposes in 1917 was $485,048.84, of which the county lunatic asylums was $342,100 and the county tuberculosis sanatoria was $95,948.84. The total for these two items in 1925 represents an increase of $541,831.22 or of 123.69 per cent over that appropriated in 1917."

Good Roads Reform
"Expanding the New Jersey state highway system by log rolling is uneconomical and inefficient," declared Walter J. Euzby, president of the Good Roads Association of New Jersey, in a statement issued to the press. "The time has come," declared Mr. Euzby, "when all additions to, extensions of and connections with the New Jersey state highway system must be made to meet the greatest good to the greatest number of our citizens, taxpayers and highway users. No economic task of greater importance confronts our lawmakers who are now in session at Trenton."

Continuing, Mr. Euzby stated that the Good Roads Association has circulated all of the commercial, agricultural and civic organizations of the state, requesting them to use their best efforts and influence to bring about the passage of Senate 50, by Mr. Whitney, of Morris, or House 224, by Assemblyman Kenworthy, of Essex, designed to place exclusively in the hands of the State Highway Commission the right to add routes or make changes in that system.

Make Climax Baskets Legal

Under a bill now before the Legislature, New Jersey farmers will be permitted to use new sizes of what is known in the markets as the climax basket, a type of container already approved under federal legislation. New Jersey statutes did not heretofore provide for such a package, which growers claim, from the standpoint of economy, efficiency and competition with shippers from other states, is necessary to their interests.

Cherry growers especially are interested in the proposed legislation, as the climax basket has become a popular type to market that fruit. Farmers appealed to the State Bureau of Markets for aid in procuring a permissive law, and following a conference of market officials with the Department of Welfare and Measures, the new bill was prepared and introduced by the latter department.

The so-called climax basket is probably best known to New Jersey housewives as the small container, with curved handle, in which grapes are now marketed. The proposed new law enables Jersey growers to use larger baskets of this kind than are now permitted. The bill not only aids the farmer, but follows the policy of standard weights and measures for the protection of the consumer.

Causes Errors Court Suspension

Lack of a quorum forced the Court of Errors and Appeals to defer its conferences for the consideration of cases argued and submitted on brief at the present term of court. This situation is due partly to the fact there exist two vacancies in the court, to illness of some of the members and to absence of others from the state. It is understood that the court will not meet here again until March 3 at which time votes will be taken and announcements made in cases in which decisions have been reached.

Because of a similar situation when but eight members of the court were present, at a special session fixed to hear argument in the Hudson County Election Bureau litigation, counsel decided to argue orally before those present and have the other members consider the case in conference from the briefs submitted.

The two vacancies existing on the bench at present are those of Judge Henry E. Ackerson, who was appointed and confirmed as a successor to Judge Luther A. Campbell as a circuit court judge, and Judge John J. White, of Atlantic City, whose term has expired. Judge Ernest J. Heppenheimer, of Jersey City, who has tendered his resignation, effective March 4, is in Florida, as is also Justice Frank T. Lloyd, of Camden, whose nomination was recently confirmed by the Senate. Justice Charles W. Parker, of Morris-town, is listed as ill at home.

In the consideration of cases before the appellate tribunal, judges who have given decision in the lower courts are barred from sitting. This constitutional provision eliminates the Chancellor from passing on any appeals from the Court of Chancery, even though actually decided by a vice chancellor, and as a rule three justices of the Supreme Court, and sometimes four on appeals from the tribunal.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED BY THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up. A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

Gas and Electric Rate Reductions To Save Patrons $2,500,000 a Year Are Proposed by Public Service

Public Service Gas Company and Public Service Electric Company are pleased to announce to their many customers that at a conference between officials of the two companies and members of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners held in Newark, February 7th, the companies, through their President, expressed a willingness to make voluntary reductions in gas and electric rates, which in magnitude, from the standpoint of the amount of money that will be saved annually to customers, exceeds anything of the kind heretofore offered at one time in the history of the public utility business in New Jersey.

The two companies have agreed to work out the details of the proposed reductions and submit the same to the Public Utility Board for its consideration. If the Board approves it will mean:

$1,000,000 a Year Saving to Gas Customers

$1,500,000 a Year Saving to Electric Customers

As Gas and Electricity are household necessities, here is a clear-cut proposition to reduce the cost of living to the tune of Two Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars a year for the five-sixths of the population of the State served by the Public Service Companies.

And it must be remembered that all during the war, when prices for other necessities were soaring, the cost of electric light was not advanced by Public Service and public utility services generally showed a smaller percentage of increase than other items of living cost, including taxes.

Only little more than a year ago Public Service Electric Company reduced its base rate to an extent that meant a saving to customers of about $1,600,000 per year, and this proposed further cut in prices will increase that saving to more than $3,000,000 annually.

Last year the Public Service gas and electric companies each did a bigger business than ever before. More than 82,000 electric meters were added to the lines and upwards of 25,000 gas meters were installed. New meters mean new customers and new customers mean more business. The companies, taken together, have passed the million mark in meters in service. And more are being added every working day.

During the present year the Public Service operating companies expect to spend the enormous sum of $34,000,000 for new plants, extensions and improvements to keep pace with ever increasing demands for electric, gas and transportation services in the territory they serve, which territory, from a public utility business standpoint, is one of the fastest growing and most advantageously situated in the country.

A Valentine

HEART of me! Dear heart of me!
Though flamed with love your shrine—fires glow.

How can you breathe your ecstasy?
How can you fond devotion show?

The day is here for tender song—
The music of a lover's vow.

To cupid all the hours belong.
'Tis time to whisper secrets now!

LURANA SHEDDEN

For Your Valentine Party

"GRACIOUS goodness," said Cupid, looking at the calendar, "here I am sitting around and dawdling hours away when it's my busiest time in the whole year." "James," he cried, "bring me that quiver of arrows and the polish. I've got to get ready for St. Valentine's day!"

And while Cupid is busy getting ready for his annual archery program, there are plenty of others who are preparing to receive him, fortifying themselves against his invasion or preparing a fitting welcome, as the case may be.

Naturally, nobody wants to take a chance with this skillful archer without plenty of others present to help deflect his flying arrows, so there will be parties, parties, and then more parties.

First, a Valentine party calls for a clever form of invitation. A verse—original if possible—could set forth the wish of the hostess in an appropriate jingle, running something like this: I beg to invite that a gay little sprit, Will stop at my home on St. Valentine's night.

Can you meet him at eight, on this special date, I'm expecting you over so please don't be late.

Another invitation might read: On Saint Valentine's Day Will you come to my party? I'll see that you have A welcome right hearty.

The verse can be written on dainty Valentine postcards, or correspondence cards ornamented with Cupids and arrows or with red heart seals.

Another verse may invite the guest in this wise: The Sign-of-the-Heart is pleased to invite Your presence at eight on Saint Valentine's Night; Hearts that are brave and loving and true Will be ready and waiting to welcome you.

The password is Love, which alone has the power To gain you admittance to Cupid's bower.

Note paper decorated with Valentine seals could be used for this form of invitation. For a decoration to conform to the first line of the verse, an immense red heart, hung against the glass of the front door would be appropriate.

Old-fashioned valentines, with lace paper and sentimental verses, make appropriate invitations. So do the old comics.

The valentine party rarely takes the form of a masquerade, but the hostess usually plans caps and favors for the guests, to give a festive air to the event.

Almost any crude cap of crepe paper can be made highly decorative by adding long tassels or fringe at either side. Heavy necklaces of cardboard with a ruffle of red crepe paper hung about the neck on a ribbon are effective and easily made.

The jazz bracelet is a novelty consisting of a ribbon, to be worn about the wrist, with long red and white crepe paper streamers.

Tight Shoes.
No joke sounds as funny as it deserves, to a man whose shoes are too tight.

One of the Ways of Humans.
Some persons are so cautious they never ask a fellow if he needs help if he looks as though he might.—Buffalo Enquirer.

Thought for the Day.
Truthfulness may not be as pleasant as mere agreeableness, but it wears longer.

"Good Morrow To You, My Valentine!"

MANY curious old charms are said to be potent on St. Valentine's day—all, like most charms ever invented, connected with the procuring of husbands. Even before surplus woman dawned on the scene, this seems to have been a subject of much anxiety.

Five bay leaves, pinned respectively to the four corners and the center of the pillow, are said to bring certain dreams of the future partner. If the sleeper has gone to bed without eating or speaking.

Another infallible spell was to write the names of admirers on separate pieces of paper, enclose them in clay balls and throw them into water. The one which came to the surface first contained the name of the fated spouse.

It is a sign of great good luck if the swain you favor should be the first man seen on February 14. The modern girl who does not pin her faith entirely to signs and omens, can always practice the ruse of a shrewd maiden of long ago, who, knowing where her heart had gone, "lay a-bed and shut my eyes all the morning till 'he' came, for I would not have seen another man before him for all the world."

She was far-seeing and lucky. But if she had set eyes first on the wrong man, she would have wedded him, so a poet tells us:—

"Last Valentine, the day when birds of kind Their paramours with mutual chirpings and Afford I went, amid the morning dew, To milk my kine 'till so should housewives do),

There first I spied, and the first swain 'in spite of fortune, shall our true love be."

Some of us wish that a quaint old custom practiced in the time of Peppys was still prevalent—the rule that a man must give a present to the first woman he saw on February 14. Peppys, an old naval that he was, much bewailed himself that his wife's tribute had to be offered to his wife—a preceding he considered very dull, when there were plenty of pretty young girls at the light-hearted court of Charles II.

Old people still remember the time when valentines were as popular as Christmas cards, and the postman groaned under his load on the morning of the 14th. This is still the case in the United States, but the idea of courtship is no longer much connected with these bright cards.

Nowadays Shakespeare's greeting:—"Good morrow, 'tis St. Valentine's day, All the morning betime, And I a maid at your window, To be your valentine," simply reminds us of the passing of a delightful old custom.

Christianity brought the custom of placing each feast day under the patronage of a saint, and so St. Valentine, who never married himself, became the patron saint of lovers.—The Lady's Companion.

Of Course Men Change.
"Two months ago I was desperately in love with Ronald and now I can't stand him. How men change!"—London Opinion.

Some People's Failing.
Great failing of people who do not take themselves seriously is that they do not take us sufficiently so.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D.,
Dean of the Evening School, Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 17 JOSHUA AND THE CONQUEST OF CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Josh. 1:1-9; 23:1-2.
GOLDEN TEXT—Not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you—Josh. 23:14.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Lessons From the Life of Joshua.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Joshua and the Conquest of Canaan.

The book of Joshua, from which our lesson is taken, is a history of the conquest of the Promised Land and its apportionment among the tribes of Israel. It takes its name from its principal character, Joshua. During the wilderness journey he was Moses' minister and captain of his army. When Moses was denied the privilege of going over the Jordan, Joshua was appointed to the leadership of Israel. Moses, the representative of the law, brought Israel to the borders of Canaan. Joshua was the man chosen to lead the people into the place of rest. The name, "Joshua," has the same derivation as the name "Jesus".

I. Joshua's Call (Josh. 1:1, 2).
Moses was dead, but God's work must go on. The work was continued by calling Joshua to take it up. Joshua, no doubt, was sorrowful over the loss of his master, but there was now no time for mourning.

II. God Renews His Promise of the Land to Israel (Josh. 1:3, 4).

This promise had been given to Abraham and renewed to Isaac, Jacob and Moses. It is now renewed to Israel when they are about to enter upon its possession. The borders of the land were "from the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun" (v. 4). The nearest it was ever possessed was during the reigns of David and Solomon, though not then fully realized. This land still belongs to the Jews and in God's own time they shall possess it. Their possession of this land was due entirely to themselves. God promised them that wherever their feet set upon the land, it was theirs. If they failed to secure possession, it was because they failed to claim it.

III. God's Presence Promised to Joshua (Josh. 1:5).

Joshua was entering upon a perilous and difficult enterprise, but the Lord said, as He was with Moses so He would be with him. The difficulties before him were:

1. The Jordan River (v. 2). This river was now at its flood (Josh. 3:15), making it impossible for armies to cross.

2. The People Were Living in Walled Cities (Num. 13:28). Notwithstanding this, God is ready to insure success. (1) "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee" (v. 5). (2) "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee" (v. 5). (3) "As I was with Moses, so will I be with thee." Joshua had been with Moses throughout their forty years' experience, from the Egyptian deliverance to the time of his death. Because he believed that God was with his master, he was willing and ready to cross Jordan at its flood and courageously meet the enemies on the other side.

IV. Conditions of Blessings in the Land (Josh. 1:6-9).

1. "Be Strong and of Good Courage" (v. 6). His mission was to go in and divide the land among the tribes for an inheritance. It required strength and courage to do this.

2. Unwavering Obedience to the Word of God (v. 7). In a land of idolatry it required much courage to be true to God. Prosperity and success are conditioned upon unwavering obedience to God's commands. In all his work he must conform his life to the law of God. To pass from the path outlined therein would bring disaster and ruin. In order to accomplish this, the law of the Lord must be in his mouth continually. He was to meditate therein day and night. Joshua rendered prompt obedience. He did not stop to cavil, but at once gave orders for the march. God made the plan and gave the directions.

V. Joshua's Retrospect (Josh. 2:1-8).
As his life was now drawing to a close, he summoned the people and rulers to give some farewell counsel.

1. Rehearses God's Goodness (v. 1). God had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies.

2. All That Had Happened Was Done by the Lord. God had fought for them. No one had been able to stand against them; therefore He urges upon them fidelity.

God's Way.
I find my Lord Jesus cometh not in the precise way that I lay wait for Him. He hath a manner of His own. Oh, how high are His ways above my ways!—Rutherford.

With God.
Give God the blossom of your life! Put Him not off with the fallen leaves!—Nichols.

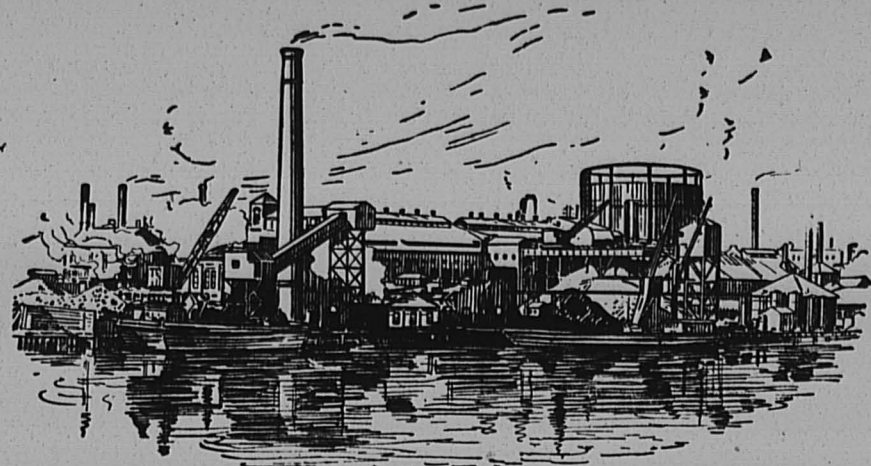

Be Obliging.
We cannot always oblige, but we can always speak obligingly.—Voltaire.

Keeps Him "Cleaned."
"Is your wife a good housekeeper?" "Well, I'll say this for her, she never lets the 'dust' accumulate."—Boston Transcript.

No: Like History.
Multimillionaires can hardly tell how to become such to the eager who want to find a way. Circumstances, unlike history, do not repeat themselves.

Why Plans Fail.
Every plan is full of faults because people are full of faults, and the operation of plans depends on people.

Gas Is Now An Industrial As Well As a Domestic Necessity

Market Street Gas Works, Public Service Gas Company

In 1905, a year and one half after Public Service was organized, 4,000 cubic feet of gas was sold for each person living in the municipalities served. By 1910, sales increased to 5,000 cubic feet per inhabitant; in 1915, to 6,000, and last year they exceeded 7,000. The use of gas for domestic purposes is now nearly universal, while its application to industrial processes is being rapidly extended and continually increases demand.

GEORGE CHANGED HIS MIND

George plunged under the table, across the sitting room floor and finally rolled himself underneath theavenport. After finishing this bit of acrobatic performance he shouted in a shrill tone of voice, "I won't go." Just then the kitchen door opened and in rushed daddy, "Where are the children?" I stopped to take them to school. Like a flash George was out from under the davenport, "Daddy I will go to school if you take me down in the Overland."

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if
Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. "By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

The "Saving" Sense
The Germans are recovering their sense of humor, according to the testimony of the editor of Simplicissimus, the leading German comic. It is well. They will have need of all of it when General Dawes gets thru with the reparations problem, if it is possible for them to still raise a grin.

Odd Fellows

A royal welcome was accorded the delegation from Cinnaminson Lodge 201, Palmyra, that journeyed to Moorestown last Thursday night as the guests of Pocahontas Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Following the short business session, quilts ruled the floor, the result of the evening's play terminating in a tie, each team winning 9 games. A return game will soon be played on our own floor, the date to be announced later.

The next regular meeting of the lodge, Friday evening, February 15, will largely be taken up with the details for the forthcoming radio dance and package party. Everyone is working their hardest to make this affair a huge success. The second degree, or the degree of love, will also be given the several candidates.

If everything is done in its own time there never will be any perplexity about the special right thing to do next.—Dr. Grenfell

WILL ISSUE TOWN DIRECTORY

Chamber of Commerce Will Publish Valuable Book

A modern directory of Palmyra, something that has been a long felt need, is to be compiled, published and distributed under the auspices of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce.

William H. ("Dad") Davison has been appointed by the committee as the official solicitor and collector of data for the book, which is to contain a complete list of the adult residents of the town, with their addresses, occupations and phone numbers, as well as a roster of organizations, churches, borough officials, and all important information concerning Palmyra.

Thos. C. publication and soliciting is to be defrayed by advertising, the rates for which are to be adjusted in proportion to the necessary expense. The Chamber does not plan to make any money out of the project.

Mr. Davison expects to begin canvassing streets for his data in the near future.

The directory idea developed when Samuel Steen described an attractive folder gotten out by Sea Girt, which he thought would be a good thing for Palmyra. George N. Wimer then presented the directory, which was heartily endorsed by Robert W. Knight.

A committee composed of Mr. Steen, Mr. Wimer, Mr. Knight, Frank Chase and Mr. Davison was appointed to take charge of the directory work. Thos. C. Steen, is to add to this committee whenever necessary.

Earlier in the meeting, the president of the Chamber, Richard E. Wimer, presented a suggestion from the executive committee that the annual dues be reduced to $2.50 a year, payable semi-annually, and that all arrears be cancelled. This was adopted subject to vote at next meeting.

Dr. Lamb suggested that women be allowed to join the Chamber and Secretary Melcher pointed out that nothing in the constitution and by-laws prevented this, but other members thought the tobacco smoke was usually too heavy for women to enjoy.

Mr. Wimer reported that agents of sign-board companies had agreed to move the big signs on River Road farther back so as not to interfere with the vision of motorists.

Concerning the unsightly condition of the site of the Bitco plant, it was announced that A. Harry Rudduck had purchased this ground and would clean it up as soon as his title was perfected.

The following new members were elected: George A. Rhoads, Allen W. Kellogg and Dr. J. F. Brandiff.

Any contribution gratefully received $1 or more. Can you afford to miss an opportunity to help in this excellent and practical work. Contributions received at 602 Main street, or any policeman in Palmyra, or can be sent to C. O. Melcher, Secretary.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS PLAY

Hall Crowded at Show given by Compass Club Auxiliary Saturday Night

The P. O. S. of A. Hall was crowded last Saturday night when an interesting show, "The Minister's Wife's New Bonnet," was presented by a dramatic club of a Camden church under the auspices of the Compass Club Auxiliary.

It was one of the best plays given in Palmyra for some time. A number of the selections were broadcast by the members of the cast from Radio Station, WDAK, Lit Brother, Philadelphia, Wednesday evening.

The choir, from which this cast was selected, is directed by George Ventling, father of Howard Ventling, of Highland avenue. The play has been given thirty-two times.

Party for Newlyweds

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Wilson, of 706 Morgan avenue, gave a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William M. McGowan, newly-weds of Haddon Heights. The guests attending were Mrs. Hannah Atkiss, Miss Ruth Atkiss, Charles W. Reddy, Mrs. Rosa Robinson, of Wissahickon, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clift, of Darby, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. White, of West Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Davison, of Meriden, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Wilbur Davison, Mrs. H. D. Hall, Mrs. A. C. Bender, Mrs. Mabel G. Kretschmar and C. O. Melcher, of Palmyra. Congratulations were showered on the "newlyweds" and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Wilson and Spencer Davison rendered vocal selections and Mrs. Clift, Mr. McGowan and Mr. Wilson furnished excellent instrumental music.

New Man on School Board

George I. Harvey, George B. Clover and Ralph S. Rivers were winners in the annual Palmyra Board of Education election held in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Clover were old members of the board who ran for re-election. The other, George W. Rogers, declined the nomination for re-election and will be off the board after many years of excellent service. An opposition ticket composed of Mr. Rivers, Samuel Steen and William B. Colsey failed with the exception of Mr. Rivers.

Senators Refuse to Confirm Davis for Judge

On Monday James Mercer Davis, Mount Holly attorney, was nominated by Governor Silzer, as the successor to Judge Harold B. Wells, on the Burlington County Common Pleas bench, but the Senate refused to confirm his appointment.

Two other men who have been spoken of for this berth are George Hillman and John McMullen, both of Moorestown.

PALMYRA P. T. A.
Party and Interesting Program Arranged for Tuesday Night's Meeting

A Washington birthday party and an interesting program has been arranged for the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday evening, February 19, in the grammar school auditorium.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton. A vocal solo by Miss Ethel Morton and a recitation by Ruth Lutz are included on the program.

These meetings are always interesting and helpful, and a cordial welcome is extended to all who attend.

CAMP 23
"Dad" Davis Presented with Gold Watch and Chain

The man who says "it can't be done" is interrupted by the man who is doing it.

Those who attended the session of Monday evening, February 11th, were rewarded by one of the snappiest meetings of the term.

A warm discussion of the question to pay the hotel expenses of delegates to the State Camp was ended by the conservative voting down the proposition.

A tribute to Lincoln was rendered thru the delivery of the Gettysburg address by Brother Meeks.

A careful consideration of the revised by-laws resulted in some changes thought beneficial and they were finally passed by unanimous vote. An effort to reduce the dues to fifteen cents, was decided unwise at the present time and was voted down.

A communication from the School Survey Committee of the State Camp, announced a hearing on text book bill 14A would be held in Trenton on the 18th; this measure was devised to expedite procedure in ousting from the schools Anti-American history books.

The most enjoyable feature of a busy night was the presentation to "Dad" of a handsome open face gold watch, with chain.

To those who consider fraternalism a relic of the past, the spirit behind this tribute, shows it is still a strong and moving force. The gift was not a reward from the Camp for work done, but a testimonial by the individual members to one who has gained their respect and affection, thru his ever unselfish desire to serve. "Dad's" earnest response carried the inspiration for renewed activity and stronger effort.

Prizes were announced for those securing a specified number of new members. This announcement will be repeated from time to time and it will be profitable to attend and get details.

The Boosters' luncheon gave a finishing touch to the large evening. Goal for July 1st—1000 members.

CARING FOR PETER

By JESSIE A. PARSONS

(©, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

MRS. HOLLANDER sprang quickly from her seat at the piano and tripped along the hall, firmly determined to dress immediately for her club, the Four O'Clock.

But temptation, in the shape of Peter, barred the way.

With Peter such a delicious mite, who could have refrained from playing with him, unmindful of the flying moments? When the tall clock uttered a thirty signal signaling quarter before four, Mrs. Hollander sped to her dressing table and said to the maid who then appeared:

"Please brush this gown and find my gray shoes. I have to ask you today, because Norah has gone home."

"I'm sorry to be late to my club," she rattled on in her nervousness. "Last week I couldn't go because Peter was ill. You won't mind looking after Peter today, will you, Amy?"

Following a swift survey in the mirror, Mrs. Hollander left the house, swinging along with such radiant vitality that the young elm trees nodded their approval.

Two short blocks brought her to the home of her hostess. Several figures clad in gowns of pastel shades, seated in a semicircle on the inclosed porch, gave the effect of a rainbow just fading from the sky. On the porch was a brass plate inscribed, "Samuel Brown, M. D."

Mrs. Brown bore her tardy guest into the library for a confidential moment.

"The mysterious Mrs. Lowell has come out of her hiding place at last. But she looks so sad and hasn't spoken a word. I'm delegating you to sit beside her and draw her out."

"But, Frances, I've tried to call on her without success."

"The two women then stepped out on the porch, where Mrs. Hollander took the vacant chair next Mrs. Lowell.

Some one then inquired after Peter. "He's getting along beautifully now, and he grows more intelligent every day."

"Just how old is Peter?" questioned Mrs. Lowell. The faraway look in her eyes vanished and in her pale cheeks two exquisite dimples burst into flower.

"Peter is three months old," replied Mrs. Hollander. At that moment her good intentions of following up this opening were smothered by a renewal of the musical program. In the confusion of adieu, Mrs. Lowell slipped unnoticed away.

Said Mrs. Hollander to his wife at dinner: "We've a new man at the office now. He's been here a month, but I hadn't happened to talk with him before. He comes from Cleveland and is to be transferred on account of his wife. His name is Lowell."

"Really? I saw Mrs. Lowell this afternoon."

"They lost their little boy last winter and Mrs. Lowell was so beside herself with remorse that they had to leave their old surroundings. The child was killed by a truck."

"How dreadful!"

"You saw her today, didn't you?"

"Yes; Frances invited her to attend our club meeting. We must try to make things pleasant for her. I think I'll ask her over tomorrow. I won't mention tea, however. That reminds me—we had the best punch this afternoon. There was pineapple in it, and ginger ale—and, yum-yum, lots of strawberries."

"Ah, strawberries! This shortage is a dream. Mary is a prize cook, even if she does have a villainous temper," said Mr. Hollander.

"Yes, indeed," replied his wife, leading the way from the dining room to the wide porch. Instead of seating herself in the wicker swing, she then exclaimed:

"Believe I'll run over to Mrs. Lowell's and ask her to come here tomorrow."

Although Mrs. Lowell accepted the invitation, she was late in arriving the next afternoon. Mrs. Hollander's other friends had come and gone. Peter had been brought in, admired and carried out again before Amy announced Mrs. Lowell.

She apologized for her tardiness, saying she had been looking through her trunks. On coming in she had hurriedly placed a basket near her chair. All the while Mrs. Hollander talked to her guest, Mrs. Lowell looked as if she were trying to catch some unheard sound, and longed to utter a question which she could not frame.

Then, with a swishing rush, in burst Mary, scarlet-faced.

"Not one minute more will I stay, ma'am. 'Tis bad enough to have an animal come into my kitchen at all, but that dirty beast of a Peter! Pom-perrine! or what not, he's eaten all my shad roses, bad luck to him!"

Before Mrs. Hollander could speak, Mrs. Lowell had fallen from her chair. Just then came Mrs. Brown, unannounced.

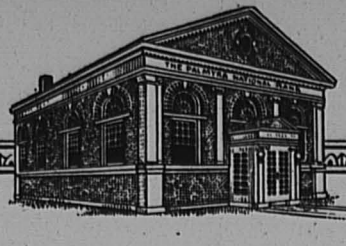

"Oh, Frances, you blessing! Tell me, dear, is Sam home?"

"He surely is, Hilda."

"Telephone, quick, Amy, to Doctor Brown. Never mind picking up those things until afterwards."

From out of the basket had tumbled a Turkish towel bunny, a celluloid swan and a quaintly-carved rattle.

"Oh, the poor, poor thing!" cried Mrs. Hollander. "You don't suppose—not no; she couldn't have thought that Peter was a baby!"

In the Days of Poor Richard

—By Irving Bacheller

WHEN Benjamin Franklin said to King George the Third: "If anyone supposes that I could prevail upon my countrymen to take black for white or wrong for right, he does not know them nor me," is the period Mr. Bacheller has chosen for his new romance—the fight of our fathers for liberty. Dramatically involved with the historical incidents and figures is the beautiful love story of a boy and a girl.

Here is the human story of our struggle for independence and the part Benjamin Franklin played in it.

Odd Fellows

A royal welcome was accorded the delegation from Cinnaminson Lodge 201, Palmyra, that journeyed to Moorestown last Thursday night as the guests of Pocahontas Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Following the short business session, quilts ruled the floor, the result of the evening's play terminating in a tie, each team winning 9 games. A return game will soon be played on our own floor, the date to be announced later.

The next regular meeting of the lodge, Friday evening, February 15, will largely be taken up with the details for the forthcoming radio dance and package party. Everyone is working their hardest to make this affair a huge success. The second degree, or the degree of love, will also be given the several candidates.

If everything is done in its own time there never will be any perplexity about the special right thing to do next.—Dr. Grenfell

Chamber of Commerce Will Publish Valuable Book

A modern directory of Palmyra, something that has been a long felt need, is to be compiled, published and distributed under the auspices of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce.

William H. ("Dad") Davison has been appointed by the committee as the official solicitor and collector of data for the book, which is to contain a complete list of the adult residents of the town, with their addresses, occupations and phone numbers, as well as a roster of organizations, churches, borough officials, and all important information concerning Palmyra.

The cost of publication and soliciting is to be defrayed by advertising, the rates for which are to be adjusted in proportion to the necessary expense. The chamber does not plan to make any money out of the project.

Mr. Davison expects to begin canvassing streets for his data in the near future.

The directory idea developed when Samuel Steen described an attractive folder gotten out by Sea Girl, which he thought would be a good thing for Palmyra.

George N. Wimer then suggested the directory, which was heartily endorsed by Robert W. Knight.

A committee composed of Mr. Steen, Mr. Wimer, Mr. Knight, Frank Chambers, and Mr. Davison was appointed to take charge of the directory work.

Th. chairman, Mr. Steen, is to add to this committee whenever necessary.

Earlier in the meeting, the president of the Chamber, Richard E. Wilson, presented a suggestion from the executive committee that the annual dues be reduced to $2.50 a year, payable semi-annually, and that all arrears be cancelled. This was adopted subject to vote at next meeting.

Dr. Lamb suggested that women be allowed to join the Chamber and Secretary Melcher pointed out that nothing in the constitution and by-laws prevented this, but other members thought the tobacco smoke was usually too heavy for women to enjoy.

Mr. Wimer reported that agents of sign-board companies had agreed to move the big signs on River Road farther back so as not to interfere with the vision of motorists.

Concerning the unsightly condition of the site of the Rittus plant, it was announced that A. Harry Rudduck had purchased this ground and would clean it up as soon as his title was perfected.

The following new members were elected: George A. Rhoads, Allen W. Kellogg and Dr. J. F. Brandiff.

$392.30

Palmyra is now strongly to the front with its donations and this week we discovered another Citizen who prefers to hide his good deeds under a bushel.

We have a lot of "fishies" that are as yet unused, and we shall be glad to furnish them for any other contributor who desires to use one to cover his charitable work.

The Ambulance made several trips this week for the benefit of the sick and their relatives. When will you need our services?

Any contribution gratefully received $1 or more. Can you afford to miss an opportunity to help in this excellent and practical work. Contributions received at 602 Main street, or any policeman in Palmyra, or can be sent to C. O. MELCHER, Secretary.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS PLAY

Hall Crowded at Show given by Compass Club Auxiliary Saturday Night

The P. O. S. of A. Hall was crowded last Saturday night when an interesting show, "The Minister's Wife's New Bonnet," was presented by a dramatic club of a Camden church under the auspices of the Compass Club Auxiliary.

It was one of the best plays given in Palmyra for some time. A number of the selections were broadcast by the members of the cast from Radio Broadcasting Station, W. D. A. R. Lit Brother, Philadelphia, Wednesday evening.

The choir, from which this cast was selected, is directed by George Wentling, father of Howard Wentling, of Highland avenue. The play has been given thirty-two times.

Party for Newlyweds

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Wilson, of 706 Morgan avenue, gave a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William M. McGowan, newly-weds of Haddon Heights. The guests attending were Mrs. Hannah Atkiss, Miss Ruth Atkiss, Charles W. Robinson, Mrs. Rosa Robinson, of Wissinickin, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clift, of Darby, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. White, of West Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Davison, of Meadville, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hall, Mrs. A. C. Bender, Mrs. Mabel G. Kretschmar and C. O. Melcher, of Palmyra. Congratulations were showered on the "newlyweds" and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. Wilson and Spencer Davison rendered vocal selections and Mrs. Clift, Mr. McGowan and Mr. Wilson furnished excellent instrumental music.

New Man on School Board

George I. Harvey, George B. Clover and Ralph S. Rivers were winners in the annual Palmyra Board of Education election held in the high school and church Wednesday evening.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Clover were old members of the board who ran for re-election. The other, George W. Rogers, declined the nomination for re-election and will be off the board after many years of excellent service. An opposition ticket composed of Mr. Rivers, Samuel Steen and William B. Colsey failed with the exception of Mr. Rivers.

Senate Refuses to Confirm Davis for Judge

On Monday James Mercer Davis, Mount Holly attorney, was nominated by Governor Silzer, as the successor to Judge Harold B. Wells, on the Burlington County Common Pleas bench, but the Senate refused to confirm his appointment.

Two other men who have been spoken of for this berth are George Hillman and John McMullen, both of Moorestown.

Party and Interesting Program Arranged for Tuesday Night's Meeting

A Washington birthday party and an interesting program has been arranged for the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday evening, February 19, in the grammar school auditorium.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton. A vocal solo by Miss Ethel Morton and recitation by Ruth Lutz are included on the program.

These meetings are always interesting and helpful, and a cordial welcome is extended to all who attend.

CAMP 23

"Dad" Davis Presented with Gold Watch and Chain

The man who says "it can't be done" is interrupted by the man who is doing it.

Those who attended the session of Monday evening, February 11th, were rewarded by one of the snappiest meetings of the term.

A warm discussion of the question to pay the hotel expenses of delegates to the State Camp was ended by the conservative voting down the proposition.

A tribute to Lincoln was rendered thru the delivery of the Gettysburg address by Brother Meeks.

A careful consideration of the revised by-laws resulted in some changes thought beneficial and they were finally passed by unanimous vote.

An effort to reduce the dues to fifteen cents, was decided unwise at the present time and was voted down.

A committee from the School Survey Committee of the State Camp, announced a hearing on text book bill 14A would be held in Trenton on the 18th; this measure was devised to expedite procedure in ousting from the schools' Anti-American history books.

The most enjoyable feature of a busy night was the presentation to "Dad" of a handsome open face gold watch, with chain.

To those who consider fraternalism a relic of the past, the spirit behind this tribute, shows it is still a strong and moving force. The gift was not a reward from the Camp for well done, but a testimonial by the individual members to one who has gained their respect and affection, thru his earnest desire to serve. "Dad's" earnest response carried the inspiration for renewed activity and stronger effort.

Prizes were announced for those securing a specified number of new members. This announcement will be repeated from time to time and it will be profitable to attend and get details.

The Boosters' luncheon gave a finishing touch to the large evening. Goal for July 1st—1000 members.

CARING FOR PETER

By JESSIE A. PARSONS

(© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

MRS. HOLLANDER sprang quickly from her seat at the piano and tripped along the hall, firmly determined to dress immediately for her club, the Four O'Clock.

But temptation, in the shape of Peter, barred the way.

With Peter such a delicious mite, who could have refrained from playing with him, unmindful of the flying moments? When the tall clock uttered a thrifty signal meaning quarter before four, Mrs. Hollander sped to her dressing table and said to the maid who then appeared:

"Please brush this gown and find my gray shoes. I have to ask you today, because Norah has gone home."

"I'm sorry to be late to my club," she rattled on in her nervousness. "Last week I couldn't go because Peter was ill. You won't mind looking after Peter today, will you, Amy?"

Following a swift survey in the mirror, Mrs. Hollander left the house, swinging along with such radiant vitality that the young elm trees nodded their approval.

Two short blocks brought her to the home of her hostess. Several figures clad in gowns of pastel shades, seated in a semicircle on the enclosed porch, gave the effect of a rainbow just fading from the sky. On the porch was a brass plate inscribed, "Samuel Brown, M. D."

Mrs. Brown bore her tardy guest into the library for a confidential moment.

"The mysterious Mrs. Lowell has come out of her hiding place at last. But she looks so sad and hasn't spoken a word. I'm delegating you to sit beside her and draw her out."

"But, Frances, I've tried to call on her without success."

"The two women then stepped out on the porch where Mrs. Hollander took the vacant chair next Mrs. Lowell.

Some one then inquired after Peter. "He's getting along beautifully now, and he grows more intelligent every day."

"Just how old is Peter?" questioned Mrs. Lowell. The faraway look in her eyes vanished and in her pale cheeks two exquisite dimples burst into flower.

"Peter is three months old," replied Mrs. Hollander. At that moment her good intentions of following up this opening were smothered by a renewal of the musical program. In the confusion of adieu, Mrs. Lowell slipped unnoticed away.

Said Mr. Hollander to his wife at dinner: "We've a new man at the office now. He's been here a month, but I hadn't happened to talk with him before. He comes from Cleveland, asked to be transferred on account of his wife. His name is Lowell."

"Really? I saw Mrs. Lowell this afternoon."

"They lost their little boy last winter and Mrs. Lowell was so beside herself with remorse that they had to leave their old surroundings. The child was killed by a truck."

"You saw her today, Elida?"

"Yes; Frances invited her to attend our club meeting. We must try to make things pleasant for her. I think I'll ask her over tomorrow. I won't mention tea, however. That reminds me—we had the best punch this afternoon. There was pineapple in it, and ginger ale—and, yum-yum, lots of strawberries."

"Ah, strawberries! This shortage is a dream. Mary is a prize cook, even if she does have a villainous temper," said Mr. Hollander.

"Yes, indeed," replied his wife, leading the way from the dining room to the wide porch. Instead of seating herself in the wicker swing, she then exclaimed:

"Believe I'll run over to Mrs. Lowell's now and ask her to come here tomorrow."

Although Mrs. Lowell accepted the invitation, she was late in arriving the next afternoon. Mrs. Hollander's other friends had come and gone. Peter had been brought in, admired and carried out again before Amy announced Mrs. Lowell.

She apologized for her tardiness, saying that she had been looking through her trunks. On coming in she had hurriedly placed a basket near her chair. All the while Mrs. Hollander talked to her guest, Mrs. Lowell looked as if she were trying to catch some unheard sound, and longed to utter a question which she could not frame.

Then, with a swishing rush, in burst Mary, scarlet-faced.

"What one minute more will I stay, ma'am. 'Tis bad enough to have an animal come into my kitchen at all, but that dirty beast of a Peter! Pompernickin' or what not, he's eaten all my shad roses, bad luck to him!"

Before Mrs. Hollander could speak, Mrs. Lowell had fallen from her chair. Just then came Mrs. Brown, unannounced.

"Oh, Frances, you blessing! Tell me, dear, 'Sam home'?"

"He surely is, Elida."

"Telephone, quick, Amy, to Doctor Brown. Never mind picking up those things until afterwards."

From out of the basket had tumbled a Turkish towel bunny, a celluloid swan and a quaintly-carved rattle.

FIND STOLEN TRUCK

Car with $60,000 Contents Abandoned at Westfield School

Officer Rodgers, of the Palmyra police force, found an abandoned 5-ton Pierce-Arrow truck which had been stolen the previous evening, opposite the Westfield school last Thursday morning.

Rodgers was on duty in Palmyra at the time and a passing motorist reported he had discovered a large truck standing idle at that point. The policeman investigated the case immediately and found the truck to be one of a large number which operate in fleets between New York and Philadelphia.

The trucks were coming from New York to Philadelphia late Wednesday evening, and the one that had been abandoned was driven by the foreman of the fleet, whose habit was to drive the rear car. He was held up in Robinsville, taken off his truck, and then removed to Fieldsboro, a small village near Bordentown, in a touring car driven by one of the members of the hold-up gang. He was found the following morning, lying on the floor of the car with his feet and hands bound with wire and his mouth covered with adhesive tape.

Two members of the gang then attempted to continue with the truck toward Philadelphia. They were forced, however, to abandon their loot when the truck became lodged in some sand along the side of the road opposite the Westfield school. Chief of Police Morris Beck notified the owners, the Pennsylvania Transportation Company, of Philadelphia.

The contents, which were of miscellaneous nature and whose value was reported to have been estimated at $60,000, remained untouched.

RECORD KILL OF DEER

Revised Reports Show the 1923 Season Was Best in History of Sport in State—No Hunters Killed

Revised and complete reports of the recent deer season in New Jersey show that a total of 1219 bucks were bagged by hunters during the five days of legal shooting. This is by far the largest score ever made in the state by deer hunters and indicates the increasing popularity of this mid-winter sport which conservation work of the State Fish and Game Commission has restored. The season's record is further remarkable for the absence of fatalities among gunners. Burlington county, with its vast areas of pine forests and swamps, as usual led the state in the number of deer killed within its borders. The corrected score for that county being 455, which a few years ago would have been considered an excellent season's total for the entire state.

Palmyra High Orchestra Concert a Success

The third annual concert of the Palmyra High School orchestra, held in the auditorium last Thursday evening, was highly successful. A capacity audience was present and gave the orchestra numbers much applause. Louis R. Richards, of Palmyra, was the conductor. The special numbers, solos by Mrs. Lila K. Turner, readings by Rae I. Green and violin solos by Harold Mueller, were also much appreciated. The program wound up with a beautiful little fairy play, "The Land of Heart's Desire," presented by the High School Dramatic Club.

"The Ten Commandments" Opening at the Aldine Theatre, Monday evening, February 18

"The Ten Commandments," a motion picture combining ancient spectacle and modern drama, produced by Cecil De Mille from a story by Jeanie Macpherson, will be shown for the first time in Philadelphia, Monday night, February 18, at the Aldine Theatre. The presentation with musical accompaniment has been arranged by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld. The making of the epic occupied ten months on various West Coast localities and the services of more than 5,000 persons. Previous movie records were eclipsed by the size of the buildings, the engineering feats, the variety and complexity of the scenes, and the reproduction from the Bible narrative of miracles it was thought no moving art could simulate. Among these are the Israelites' dry shod passage through the walls of water of the Red Sea, and the giving of the Commandments on Mount Sinai. Mr. De Mille's spectacular exordium pictures the Exodus with a view of the "New Kingdom" of the Pharaohs, the escape of the enslaved Children of Israel, and the work of Moses their deliverer in handing down the law and enforcing it against the orgiastic Golden Calf idolatry.

In the story of today, the producer sets his modern scene on one of five characters, contrasting reckless ambition with integrity and sacredness with profane love. The scene is San Francisco. The exotic East impresses on the barrier twist yellow and white. The eternal, inescapable Law conquers as in Moses' day, but its stern justice is tinged by the mercy of Jesus' hope and healing.

Theodore Roberts as Moses, Charles De Roche as Pharaoh, Estelle Taylor, James Neill, Lawson Butts, Julia Faye, Clarence Burton assume the principal roles in the ancient story. The four leads of the modern are played by Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Nita Naldi and Richard Dix, with Agnes Ayres in a short but beautiful episode.

The Death of Abraham Lincoln

In the year of 1865 a sad happening took place in the country of United States. Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth, at Ford's Theatre, Washington. Lincoln was a leader of men and was honored more highly than any other American citizen in history.

The country hopes that they shall never see such a period of mourning as there was in that year. It was just five days after Lee's surrender when a jealous southern actor appeared on the stage of Ford's theatre, Washington, and shot Abraham Lincoln.

When the Civil War was at its highest point and when it was at its lowest, Lincoln was president of our country. Lincoln always stood for the right.

Lincoln was buried in Springfield, Illinois. On the 10th anniversary of his birth, February 12, 1909, the Lincoln Farm Association erected a museum on the site of his birth. We have all been made familiar with Lincoln's tall spare figure with strong features, black hair, and deep-set eyes and we are also equally familiar with his simple friendly manner which made him so loved.

ROBERT BARTLEY.

Lincoln, the Man of the People

Lincoln was tall and awkward when he entered the Black Hawk War. He was elected captain but never saw any hostile Indians.

People thought Lincoln was a clown, when they first saw him, for he wore a big wide-brimmed straw hat, homespun shirt, tow trousers that did not meet his shoes by several inches, but as soon as he opened his mouth to speak all concern of his uncouth appearance vanished. He was a man who dealt with souls. People had so much confidence in him that they elected him to the Legislature in 1834. And he was elected three more times.

Meanwhile he studied law and was admitted to practice in 1836. In 1846 he was elected to Congress and served one term.

For years after his return from Washington he studied law again, but in 1854 when the entire country was roused over the Kansas-Nebraska Bill regarding the admission of slave States to the Union, Lincoln again came to the front, and took an active part in the public affairs.

He protested that "slavery is founded on both injustice and bad policy." Then followed the famous debates between Lincoln and Stephen Douglas. Both were candidates for the United States Senate in 1858. The debates caused much excitement, Douglas won but Lincoln acquired a great reputation.

In 1860 Lincoln was nominated for presidency by the Republican party and was elected in November. When Lincoln took office he did not have support of all the people from the north, some thought the Nation would go to ruin at such a time by an "uneducated westerner" taking office.

When the civil war broke out, it made his heart bleed to think of his fellow countrymen dying on the field. However he had but one thought throughout those years, and that was "The preservation of the Union."

"If I could save the Union without freeing any slaves," he wrote to a friend, "I would do it, and if I could save it by freeing all the slaves, I would do it, and if I could do it by freeing some and leaving others, I would do it. What I do about slavery and the colored race, I do because I believe it helps to save the Union."

The first day of January 1863 President Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation freeing all the slaves in the Confederate States. After this General Lee surrendered and ended the civil war.

While the nation was rejoicing Lincoln was shot in the theater by John Wilkes Booth who was caught twelve days afterward in a barn; he refused to surrender so he was shot. The nation still mourns the death of Lincoln and his birthday is honored as a national holiday.

By MAXINE MEITZNER.

Education of Abraham Lincoln

The sixteenth president of the United States was born in Kentucky, February 12, 1809.

When he was seven years old, he and his parents went to Indiana.

For the next ten years he was engaged in various sorts of labor, having altogether about one year of schooling. His own mother taught him to read, and his step-mother urged him forward in his studies. He read and re-read the Bible, Aesop's Fables, Pilgrim's Progress, Robinson Crusoe, Weem's Life of Washington, and the history of the United States, and after this early course in reading, he read eagerly every book he could find.

The poems of Burns, and the plays of Shakespeare became his favorites. He wrote (at first crude) verses and compositions of government, on temperance, and various other subjects.

Lincoln's Education

Lincoln did not have a school as we have but he went to a school about three miles away which was just a log cabin. While he was at this school he studied very hard. He only went there for little over a year then his father took him from school and put him to work. This did not stop him from learning. In all his spare time he either read good books or did ciphering on a wooden shovel, with a piece of charcoal for a pencil.

When he wanted to erase his work he had to take a knife and cut the wood away. When the shovel got too thin he would make another one.

His father did not encourage his education, but his mother did encourage him. When his father would send him to work in the fields he would take his book with him and sit on the plow and read. Sometimes people would notice him reading a book under a tree and when they came back he would be on the opposite side of the tree because he had followed the sun around so the light would fall on his book.

Lincoln only had a few books of his own and he knew them by heart. He would hike miles to borrow a new book that he did not read.

Even when Lincoln was a lawyer he would always hunt new things to learn.

The Pig in the Mud

One day when Lincoln was riding to the Legislature, he passed a pig that was stuck in the mud. The pig was squealing and trying to climb out but every time it only sank in farther. Lincoln rode on, but he was very sorry for the pig.

After he had gone about a mile farther he decided to go back and help the pig out of the mud. He rode back and got some fence rails so he could walk part way out to the pig. He got out on the logs and kneeling down on the logs he grabbed the pig by the forehead and gave a tug. Out came the pig on to hard ground.

That day Abraham Lincoln went to the Legislature with his new suit all spattered with mud.

Baptist Notes

At the regular meeting of the Young People's Society on Friday evening, the subject will be "What Is Sin, What Is Its Effect on Character?" 1 John 3: 4 and Romans 3: 9-20.

Next Sunday will be the twelfth anniversary of the present pastorate. During this period there have been 305 additions to the church membership.

The current expense budget has increased 137% and the offering to missionary work at home and abroad has increased 3,580%. In the last five years the church has paid to the New World Movement $20,219.40. During the present pastorate, the church has bought and paid for the parsonage and has met and paid all bills as they have come due, besides paying some old debts. Next Sunday will be the thirtieth year, the lucky year. The subject of the month Sunday morning will be "The Call of God." In the evening we will have the third in the series of sermons on "Characteristics of Jesus, His Fineness."

The prayer meeting next Wednesday at 8 o'clock will be "Right Attitudes," Psalm 51: 1-19.

The Philathea Chase has arranged for a Washington social to be held in the church on the evening of February 21st. There will be a good entertainment with several novel features, which will be followed by a social hour. Those who come will bring a birthday bag filled with cents, one for each year of your life. Everybody is invited and it is expected that all will be there. Put the date on your calendar.

Asbury

Miss Helen Souhwick returned to school on Monday, after being home since Christmas time with the whooping cough.

Rev. Fred B. Tansley was a visitor at the home of the Rev. John R. Mason, of Moorestown, on Saturday. Charles Fisher, of Riverton, formerly of New Albany, was a visitor at the home of Charles Hullings, New Albany Road, last Thursday.

Cinnaminson

David Oliver, Sr., returned from the hospital on Sunday. His hand seems better since the operation for blood poisoning. He still has the draining tubes in his hand and has to go to the hospital for treatment.

Charles Hoeft, formerly of Cinnaminson, now living on Paine street, Riverside, who has been in a serious condition caused by rheumatism, was a little better at the last report.

A Lincoln Letter

In March, 1865, President Lincoln, on board the "River Queen," the boat which had been placed at his disposal, was waiting near Fortress Monroe, Virginia, for a supply of water which had been ordered. General Wm. L. James, then Brigadier Major, serving as assistant quartermaster in charge of the stores at the Fort, wrote this letter to the President.

Mr. Lincoln, after reading it, turned it over and wrote to the writer, which showed so plainly one of the beauties of his character—"Charity for all."

Exactly three weeks from that day he was assassinated.

Chief Quartermaster's Office, etc. Fort Monroe, Va. March 24, 1865.

To His Excellency, A. Lincoln, Prest. U. S. On Board "River Queen."

Sir—I am exceedingly mortified at the delay which you have experienced in obtaining the water you desire. I have sent several messengers already to the officer to make all possible haste, and that I should have delayed so, is exceedingly annoying to me.

I shall certainly call him to account for his bad management. I have the honor to be, Sir, Very respectfully, WM. L. JAMES, Bvt. Maj. U. S. Vols.

(Lincoln answered the letter. I am not at all impatient and hope Mai James will not reproach himself or deal harshly with the officer having the matter in charge. Doubtless he too has met some unexpected difficulty.)

A. LINCOLN.

Notes from Washington

It would seem to a person not sitting in the game that Mr. Anderson's suit would have been stronger if he had not discarded the King.

Speaking about the cold weather we have it on good authority that a number of politicians in Washington have suffered from the "exposure."

Some have sought a warmer climate while others have developed severe cases of cold feet.

We have two answers for the man who claims that Santa Claus is a myth. The first is Anderson and the second is Fall.

A 1000 per cent Investment

That's the way to look at painting—as an investment, not an expense. Look around you at the houses going to rack and ruin. What is doing it? The weather. There is only one defense against weather and that is paint. But paint, like weather, is of many kinds. Beware of the fair weather paint. It does not protect, it only deceives. Why Thousands Have Bought RA-DO Gas Radiators

Here are the facts. First of all, RA-DO with its wonderful patented gas mask is the only safe gas radiator on the market. No dangerous fumes or odors can escape it. There is no exposed flame. If you're using an open flame gas heater, for the sake of your health get rid of it. Install RA-DO. RA-DO burns less gas than any other gas heating appliance giving the same amount of heat. And you can heat one room or an entire house with RA-DO Radiators with less work and expense than any other system—coal or gas.

FUNDS CUT, RESIGN

Shade Tree Commission Claims It Cannot Do Necessary Work on Amount Appropriated

At the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council Thursday evening of last week, two members of the Shade Tree Commission tendered their resignations for the reasons set forth in the following letter, which was accepted and filed.

February 11, 1924.

To The Mayor and Council of the Borough of Riverton:

In the summer of 1921 a number of violent windstorms called attention to the dangerous condition of the old trees on the Borough streets. Some capital was made of this condition in the campaign that fall. Following the aroused interest, the Shade Tree Commission, under date of October 7, 1921, made recommendations to Council covering a plan of operation to be conducted over a series of years for the gradual trimming or removal of the old trees and the making of replacements.

The condition of the trees was so serious that, as an emergency measure, funds were provided for use in December 1921, and beginning then with reasonable appropriations the Commission worked according to their plan. We find ourselves now unable to proceed with our program due to the failure of Council to provide sufficient funds in the 1924 budget for any of this work. The appropriation provided is not enough to do necessary trimming and at the same time take care of any Japanese Beetle spraying even on the trees most subject to attack.

Without funds to proceed with its work, the Commission seems to have become a more or less honorary body. Realizing this situation, the individual members of the Commission have forwarded to the Mayor their resignation to take effect February 15, 1924, at noon.

Please advise us promptly to whom the files and records should be delivered.

Respectfully,

SHADE TREE COMMISSION.

Richard D. Barclay, President.

C. B. Lewis, Secretary.

In speaking of the action of the two members of the Shade Tree Commission, Mayor Bennett said that since the Mayor and Council had been severely criticized for the work done by the Shade Tree Commission, he would like to have recommendations from members of Council for men to fill the vacancies. He said that in stating that Council had been criticized for the work done by the Shade Tree Commission, he did not necessarily imply that the Commission had not done good work, but that as the entire Council assumed certain responsibilities for appointed offices he would like to have the advice of the members in this matter.

William B. Lynch recommended the name of Thomas Beidenman, of Elm avenue, and Charles F. Epp, suggested the name of James S. Coale.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Mayor to appoint a committee of three citizens to cooperate with the Sewer Committee on the sewer disposal plant.

A resolution was passed granting permission to George D. Steele to operate three additional buses.

The report of the Commissioners of assessment for the sewer constructed on Elm avenue was read showing the assessments against each individual property. A resolution was passed accepting the report and providing for the payment of the sewer by property owners in ten yearly installments.

Councilman Showell brought up the subject of the status of the chief of police. The Mayor said he had taken up the matter with the Borough solicitor, and read to the Council ordinance No. 68, creating the Borough Police Department, which read as follows:

An Ordinance to establish, equip and regulate a Police Department in the Borough of Riverton, and adopting rules for its government.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the Borough of Riverton

Section 1—The Police Committee of the Council, with the Borough Marshalls shall constitute a Police Department of the Borough of Riverton.

Section 2—The Marshalls shall, as policemen, receive such compensation for their services as the Council agrees to pay.

Section 3—The power to direct the employment of the Marshalls in police service from time to time shall be vested in the police committee, the chairman of which committee for the time being shall be the chief of police with all the powers of the Marshal and shall serve without compensation.

Section 4—That this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon due publication.

The foregoing ordinance approved by me, June 13, 1903.

F. G. BROWN, Mayor.

HARRY WALNUT,

Borough Clerk.

He also read a letter from the Borough solicitor, stating that there was nothing in the ordinance to prevent the Mayor from administering the oath of office as chief of police to the chairman of the Police Committee, although such a course did not seem necessary or advisable. Councilman Williams said that if the chairman of the Police Committee had full power of chief of police he should be sworn in so that his authority would be recognized. Mr. Showell held the opinion that under the ordinance the chief of police had no power to arrest or perform other functions of a police officer, unless he was sworn in, in the same manner as are policemen.

Councilman Williams said that he had heard a lot of comment about town concerning the anomalous position of the chief of police, it frequently being claimed that while he held the title of chief of police by virtue of being chairman of the Police Committee, he had no real authority to make arrests or function as an officer. The Mayor pointed out that every member of Council not only had the authority, but was obligated by his oath of office to uphold the laws of the United States, to the extent of making arrests where necessary. Councilman Epp said that he would like to see the chief of police vested with the full authority of his office. Councilman Lynch suggested that Mr. Geiss be sworn in as Chief of Police, and the Mayor administered the oath of office.

Mr. Williams called attention to the high speed at which express trains run through Riverton—at least sixty miles an hour. Mr. Lynch said that there was a State law covering this matter, which placed the speed limit through towns at thirty miles an hour.

Mr. Lynch also brought up the subject of moving the freight station, and the Mayor, to whom the matter had been referred some months ago, said that he would see what could be done.

The next logical step to removing the unsightly freight station seemed to be the prohibition of the posting of equally unsightly placards in all parts of the town. Several months ago three billboards were constructed,

but were never placed in position,

owing to a conflict of authority between the police and highway departments. The chief of police was told that it was within his province to have these boards put in position, and thereafter to prevent posters

from being tacked up on street poles. It is proposed to locate one of the billboards at the post office,

one at Broad and Main streets, near Collins store, and the other at Broad and Main streets, on the Bucher corner. Mr. Geiss said he would have the matter attended to at once.

While on the subject of a spotless town, Mr. Williams called attention to the unsightly cigar signs, ice cream signs and ice cream tubs which disfigure the sidewalk in some sections of the town.

The last subject of town improvement to be discussed was the removal of the large advertising signs back of the freight station, and the clerk was instructed to correspond with the owner of the lot on which these signs have been placed to see what could be done to secure their removal.

Mr. Epp brought up the subject of an additional police officer, and other members of Council expressed their sentiments along the same lines that they had expressed before. Chief of Police Geiss said that he had not provided for an additional officer in his budget and he considered the matter closed.

THE PERIOD OF THE JUDGES

LESSON TEXT—Judg. 2:8-19; 7:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely.—
Hos. 14:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Brave Leader.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Gideon and His Three Hundred.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC— Israel Failing and Rising Again.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC— The Long Struggle With Idolatry.

I. A Synopsis of the Book of Judges.

This book covers the period from the conquest of Canaan and the death of Joshua to the judgeship of Samuel. The teacher should master the content of the book in order to teach this lesson, especially chapters 2-16.

1. The Sin of the People (Judg. 2:8-18). While Joshua and the elders of his generation lived, the people in some measure remained faithful to God, in obedience to His Word, but the very next generation went into apostasy. Their degradation may be accounted for as follows:

(1) Failure to drive out the Canaanites from their midst. They had gained the victory over them, but failed to exterminate them. Their mistaken tolerance became their undoing.

(2) Their amalgamation with the Canaanites. They intermarried with the heathen. Tolerance of the enemy is closely followed by union therewith and quick disaster comes in the wake of such union.

(3) Idolatry. Inter-marriage with the heathen was soon followed by the worship of the heathen's gods. God's people lose power over the world as soon as they make alliance with it.

2. God's Judgment for Their Sins (Judg. 2:14, 15). He delivered them into the hands of "the spirit" that spoiled them.

3. The Repentance of the People (Judg. 3:9). Under the yoke of their enemies they learned their folly and cried unto the Lord for deliverance.

4. God's Deliverance at the Hand of the Judges (Judg. 2:16-19). God heard their cries and by raising up military chieftains as Judges he saved them out of the hands of their enemies. A repetition of sin, oppression by the enemy, repentance on the part of the people and God's deliverance, constitutes the story of the book of Judges.

II. The Victory of Gideon's Band

(Judg. 7:1-23).
Gideon was the most outstanding of the Judges. He came from an obscure and unimportant family (6:35). Before going forward he wishes to be doubly sure (6:36-40). When once he was convinced of duty, he was courageous and enthusiastic. This is characteristic of all truly great men.

1. The Opposing Army (v. 1). Gideon and his army rose early on that eventful day and they came by the spring of Harod. Over against them was the host of the Midianites in battle array.

2. The Sifting of Gideon's Army (vv. 2-8). At Gideon's call 32,000 men responded, ready for the struggle. This seemed a small army to go against the Midianite army, 135,000 strong, but God said this was too many, lest they be led to boasting and self-confidence. The real danger was not in their small army but in their pride. All that were afraid were allowed to go back, leaving only 10,000. Still this was too many. When God was through sifting, only 300 remained.

3. God Gives Encouragement to Gideon. He bade Gideon go down to the Midianite camp, where he would hear something that would cheer his heart and strengthen his hand. When he came near he heard a man telling a dream, which was that of a barley cake tumbling into the camp and smiting it. He also heard the interpretation given to the dream which made Gideon to be that cake.

4. God Gives Victory to Gideon (vv. 16-23). His attack was unique. The whole matter was of faith (Heb. 11:32). Gideon with his 300 men formed into three companies, each man being provided with a trumpet and a lamp concealed within a pitcher. Thus armed they surrounded the camp of the Midianites. They were all instructed to keep their eyes upon their leader and imitate him. At the proper moment they blew their trumpets and broke their pitchers, giving opportunity for the lamps to shine out. This awful crash of broken pitchers, following the sound of trumpets, accompanied by the shout, "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon," threw the Midianites into a panic, causing them to fight among themselves. One hundred and twenty thousand were thus slain, leaving but 15,000 of that mighty army (Judg. 8:10).

The Test.
When I see a man who does not think pretty well of himself I always suspect him of being in the right.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Despondency.
"Despondency is the devil's triumph in the human mind. God is not the author of hopelessness."—The Advocate.

Feelings.
Those who would make us feel must feel themselves.—Churchill.

STOP RHEUMATISM WITH RED PEPPER

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

Vacations Necessary.

Marriage is often a failure because neither of the interested parties has sense enough to take an occasional vacation from the other.

Moral Character Governs.

It is not money, nor is it mere intellect that governs the world—it is moral character—it is intellect associated with moral excellence.

The Pessimist.

After a man has tackled three or four enterprises and failed to succeed in any of them, he usually sets himself up as a pessimist.

Ouch! My Back! Rub Lumbago Pain Away

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

GROWN IN NEW JERSEY under all and cleanest advantages, Wyeth's Sage Tea is the satisfactory kind. Great assortment of Fruit, Nut, Shade and Evergreen Trees, Small Fruit Plants, Hardy Shrubs, Roses, etc., fully described in my beautiful, illustrated, Descriptive Catalog—It's FREE! T. E. A Card of Character

A Card is much like a man, after all! The more character, the more power he has. The more character in your card, the more power it has.

has more character than any card you have ever heard of before! It can be beautifully engraved, or it can be neatly printed, as the user desires. It is necessarily always clean, because of the binding in book form with tissue paper between each card, and the book form also keeps it from becoming wrinkled or crumpled. Besides it is always "right there" when you need it.

Can you think of more character for a card?

These cases come in four sizes with cards to fit.

Will be glad to show you samples at our office.

—Palmyra was treated to its worst weather of the winter this week. A heavy snow fell Tuesday, turning to rain shortly after midnight, with the result that on Wednesday the sidewalks were ankle deep in icy slush. Snow and the frozen ground prevented the water from running away. On Broad street near the station the street was covered with half a foot of water and many crossings all over town were impassable. Chief of Police Beck and Overseer of Streets T. Winfield Land, with a force of men, were busy all day opening up gutters and making things as convenient for pedestrians as possible.

PALMYRA PASSES 1924 BUDGET

No Citizens Present at Council Meeting to Discuss Expenses for Year

Mayor Weart and Councilman Davis were both absent from Palmyra Borough Council meeting Tuesday evening because of heavy colds.

Councilman Lees occupied the Mayor's chair during the session.

Although the hearing on the borough budget was scheduled for this meeting and announced in advance, not a citizen was present to make suggestion or protest.

The budget, appropriating $49,302.50 for expenses of 1924, was passed unanimously. Of this amount, $28,367.50 is to be raised by taxation, as opposed to $17,500 raised last year.

The ordinance assessing the remaining fifty-five per cent of the sewer cost also was passed finally.

The necessity of providing a new car for the police will be taken up by the finance committee.

A resolution authorizing George D. Steele to run three additional buses and an ordinance creating the recently appointed shade tree commission also were passed.

An automobilist named Beattie, from Beverly, whose car smashed the center light at the upper end of the ferry driveway some weeks ago sent in a bill for damages to his machine. Council rejected the bill and suggested a bill be sent Beattie for the damage he did.

Mr. Lees announced that the light would be replaced by two others, one on each side of the roadway.

Building Inspector Powell reported permits issued during the month for $192.40 value in new buildings and alterations.

Get-Together Dinner Postponed Until February 28th

Roy Kersey gave the Young Men's Club of Epsworth M. E. Church an interesting talk on "The Bronchoscopic" at the meeting in the club rooms last Friday evening. He told how he had witnessed Dr. Chevalier Jackson, who had become interested in the scientific instrument, perform over a hundred operations at the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia. Dr. Jackson has removed nearly 5,000 obstructions which have become lodged in the lungs, bronchial tubes or stomach. Roy says one of the most remarkable operations is the removal of an open safety pin from the lungs or a tube which has become lodged in the lungs of the less serious operations is nine seconds.

The date of the get-together dinner of the Young Men's Club has been postponed from this Friday evening until Thursday evening, February 28. The reason for the change of this date was due to the fact that a county young men's conference is being held in Mount Holly this Friday and Saturday. Although the work of the two organizations does not conflict, the Club was unable to get Guy Hendry and his orchestra for that date, as the result of this conference. Tickets are being sold for the dinner by members of the club. At least fifty of our young men are expected to attend.

There will be no speaker for this week's meeting, which will be held in the club rooms at 8 o'clock Friday evening. There will be a general discussion by the members for a definite program for the coming month. Each member will be given an opportunity of presenting his idea of an ideal meeting, and from this the coming month's program will be arranged.

A hit society meeting is being planned for some time in the near future.

Volley ball, under the supervision of Leader Baker and Associate Councilman Y. M. C. A. Secretary Ashbrook, who had paid the club a visit, followed the business meeting last week. This, of course, was followed by refreshments. A cordial invitation to join this organization is extended to every fellow over sixteen years of age. New members are being admitted at every meeting.

Luncheon in Honor of Mrs. Edwin W. Schmierer

Tuesday afternoon, February 12th, was the occasion for a most enjoyable luncheon and card party, given by Mrs. George G. Schmeller, at her home on Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, in honor of Mrs. Edwin W. Schmierer.

The invited guests included Mrs. John L. Kendig, of New York; Miss Lilly Frank, Miss Emma Frank and Mrs. Howard Vile, of Palmyra.

Being so closely associated with the celebration of St. Valentine's Day, the general scheme of the decorations harmonized closely therewith, and the luncheon served was a magnificent display of culinary art, Mrs. Schmeller serving one of her most famous shore dinners.

After the luncheon a five-hundred party followed, with the awarding of prizes, and in conclusion, the guests were amused with some thrilling card tricks by Mrs. Vile.

C. W. Joyce

C. W. Joyce, Palmyra's oldest business man, died at his home, 410 Garfield avenue, last Friday morning.

Mr. Joyce had been in poor health for some time, although he continued his business in the Joyce building up to last July, when he retired. He had been in the meat business in Palmyra continuously for 33 years.

Born on a farm in the outskirts of Moorestown 65 years ago, Mr. Joyce first engaged in the butcher trade in 1891. He was one of the oldest members of the Moorestown lodge of Odd Fellows and was affiliated with the Central Baptist Church of Palmyra. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Ann Wells Joyce; two sons, Joseph L. of Reading, and Walter M. of Philadelphia; and one daughter, Mrs. Benjamin G. Hardy, of Philadelphia.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from his late residence, The Rev. C. W. Williams officiating, with private interment at the Coles-town cemetery. Members of the Moorestown P. O. O. F. were pallbearers.

BATTLE OVER MORRIS CANAL

Former Speaker Godfrey Attacks Bills and Asks Probe of Lehigh's Propositions.

DUFFIELD REPLIES TARTLY

Big South Jersey Delegation Booms Proposed Black Horse Pike to Sea—Bus-Trolley War—H. C. Coulomb Named Attorney General's Aide.

State House, Trenton.—That the interminable Morris Canal problem is a Jersey political puzzle was the essence of assertions made by former Speaker Carlton Godfrey, of Atlantic county. His charge was made at a public hearing before the Judiciary Committee of the Senate and House on the bills presented by the Advisory Committee named by Governor Sillier to formulate plans for final abandonment of the canal, used waterway and to dispose of the property.

The bills, presented by Senator Bright, provide for immediate physical abandonment of the canal and allow the municipalities through which it passes to acquire the strip for local uses, at prices to be established by expert appraisals. Another bill, sponsored by Senator Harrison, of Essex, provides for reference of the matter to a committee from the affected municipalities, to determine the best course to pursue and recommend plans for the disposal.

Mr. Godfrey, who was chairman in 1913 of a commission which made an exhaustive study for the abandonment proposal and presented plans which the Legislature rejected, reiterated charges he had made that the State was deprived of at least $15,000,000 under the plans ultimately adopted by the Legislature last year.

"There was a leak somewhere," charged the former Speaker. "It is not customary to dispose of such valuable things for nothing." He opposed the pending bills, claiming the committee should not only report them adversely but make an investigation of the deal by which the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, owner of the canal was able to unload upon such ridiculous terms as had been agreed to by the Legislature.

The charges created but little sensation at the hearing, since Mr. Godfrey had made them upon previous occasions in interviews and circulars.

Duffield Makes Reply

He was bitterly assailed by Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company and chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee. Mr. Duffield said the statements had no foundation in fact and were made wholly upon the former Speaker's assumptions.

"The men who have devoted their time to the solution of this problem have done so with a high sense of public duty and they are men of such standing as to place them above assault as to their motives," exclaimed Mr. Duffield. "We have had some recent examples of character assassination upon mere rumor or suggestions of the existence of something rotten, and it is time to stop it."

Mr. Duffield said the canal property is now owned by all the people of the State and it should not be turned over to some of the people without proper compensation.

Representatives of a number of municipalities affected by the canal argued in favor of referring the problem again to the proposed commission. Several proposals have been made for utilizing the strip, which traverses the State from Philadelphia, to Delaware, to Jersey City, to the New York Bay front, among them the construction of a high-speed electric railway or a motor highway.

It is said the value will amount to many millions of dollars and, if under the pending bills, the municipalities fall to make the purchase, the property can be put up for public sale for the highest bidder. Under the canal charter of 75 years ago, the State reserved the right to take it over and this right was exercised last year after many years' agitation and discussion, after creating scandals of various sorts.

A large delegation from South Jersey counties came to the Capitol to boom the proposed Black Horse Pike as an additional improved highway to the sea from Camden. They were given a hearing before the Assembly Committee on Highways, on Assemblyman Pine's bill, proposing to add the route to the State Highway system. It would follow like the present Mt. Ephraim pike, from the Camden City line by way of Mt. Ephraim, Blackwood, Chewa Landing, Turnerville, Cross Keys, Williamstown, Weymouth, Pleasantville and to Atlantic City.

Black Horse Pike Project

Nearly every community through which the road now runs was represented at the hearing as well as real estate boards, Chambers of Commerce, automobile clubs and others interested. Mr. Pine presented the speakers who told of the pressing need for another highway to the sea to relieve the congestion of White Horse pike, which is certain to be greatly increased when the Delaware River bridge is opened for traffic.

The same committee gave a hearing upon Assemblywoman Thompson's bill adding to the State highway system a stretch of 14 miles of road connecting Bordentown with Toms River, N. J., by way of the Delaware River, and a new, improved road which is very much needed.

Former Judge M. L. Berry stated that the Pennsylvania Railroad had decided to abandon its line between Mount Holly and Burlington next April and this will leave Ocean county residents with no means of reaching Trenton by rail except over the long circuitous route by way of Camden. A hard surfaced road, such as provided for in the pending bill, is therefore imperative.

Former Senator Harry T. Hagaman, of Ocean county, said the Highway Commission has failed to give proper heed to the requirements sure to face

The State road, the Hudson River tunnel and the Delaware River bridge are opened and many thousands of vehicles will seek routes to the sea for the resorts. He said so much attention had been given to highway construction in and about the populous centers and not enough to trans-state facilities.

In his argument Mr. Berry also claimed that it was a right of the members of the Legislature to establish highway routes.

Bus-Trolley War

The war between the autobus men, few of whom are now left to operate independently, and the Public Service Railway Company presented another chapter at a hearing upon Assemblyman Seymour's bill under which the Public Service will be allowed to run buses as well as trolley cars.

George F. Seymour, champion of the jitneys, charged that the bill had some ulterior scheme behind it, because the Public Service never came out in the open on anything it desired to put over. He claimed that it was a scheme to put the independent buses out of business and to bolster the shattered finances of the Public Service Company.

Chairman Powell, of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, inquired of Seymour what the supposed motive was, but the latter said it was past finding out.

Vice President Wakelee, of Public Service, disclaimed any other purpose for the bill than to give the company the legal right to operate buses as auxiliary to its trolley system.

The teaching of American history in the schools of the State aroused widely different views at the hearing today on Assemblyman Williams' bill banning from the public schools all textbooks questioning the motives or belittling American patriots. Patriotic societies and organizations were ardent in support of the measure, while the general opposition of educators was provoked.

Split Rock Pond Deal

Purchase by Jersey City of Split Rock pond was brought to the attention of the Senators as another illustration of methods alleged to have been used in real estate deals to boost the value of property to exorbitant heights to give a wide margin of graft.

The pond was appraised at $105,000, but was bought by Jersey City for $345,000. It was charged that John Milton, now prosecutor of Hudson, had himself appointed special counsel to arrange the deal, as a result of which the people of Jersey City were fleeced out of $220,000.

Construction of a duplicate pipe line for Jersey City at an ultimate cost of $6,500,000, place of an original bid of $1,700,000, was instanced as another evidence of gross extravagance. It was charged that patented pipe makers offered a bribe of $100,000 to a former Jersey City Commissioner for a vote that they be permitted to add $1,262,551 to the cost of their pipe, twenty-four hours before acceptance of bid, when advised by Hague that competition was stifled; that friends of Hague, Milton and patented pipe-makers were given full charge of the duplicate pipe line construction as expert engineers and were paid $251,000 by the Jersey City Commissioners; that the duplicate pipe line has never been officially accepted, and that Jersey City is now paying damages for foundation and repair of the leaking conduits, described by the complainants as "a ramshackle affair."

the Big creek.
"I'm hot 'nough to sizzle an' smoke when I tech water," said the scout as he waded in, holding his rifle and powder-horn in his left hand above the creek's surface.

They had a few strokes of swimming at midstream, but managed to keep their powder dry.

"Now we've got jest 'nough hoppin' to keep us from gettin' foundered," said Solomon, as he stood on the farther shore and adjusted his pack. "It ain't more'n a mile to your house."

They hurried on, reaching the rough valley road in a few minutes.
"Now I'll take the bee trail to your place," said the scout. "You cut across the meadow to Peter Bonese's an' fetch 'em over with all their grit an' guns an' ammunition."

Solomon found John Irons and five of his sons and three of his daughters digging potatoes and pulling tops in a field near the house. The sky was clear and the sun shining warm. Solomon called Irons aside and told him of the approaching Indians.

"What are we to do?" Irons asked.
"Send the women an' the babies back to the sugar shanty," said Solomon. "We'll stay here 'cause if we run erway the Boneses'll git their ha' lifted. I reckon we kin conquer 'em."

"How?"
"Shoot 'em full o' meat. They must 'a' traveled all night. Them Indians is tired an' hungry. Been three days on the trail. No time to hunt! I'll hustle some wood together an' start a fire. You bring a pair o' steers right here handy. We'll rip their hides off an' git the reek o' vittles in the air soon as God'll let us."

Mrs. Irons hid in the shed with the loaded guns.
Ruth Irons and the children set out for the sugar bush. The steers were quickly led up and slaughtered. As a hide ripper Solomon was a man of experience. The loins of one animal were cooking on turnspits and a big pot of beef, onions and potatoes boiling over the fire when Jack arrived with the Bones family.

A little later Solomon left the fire. Both his eyes and his ear had caught "sign"—a clamor among the moose birds in the distant bush and a flock of pigeons flying from the west.

"Don't none o' ye stir till I come back," he said, as he turned into the trail. A few rods away he lay down with his ear to the ground and could distinctly hear the tramp of many feet approaching in the distance. He went on a little farther and presently concealed himself in the bushes close to the trail. He had not long to wait, for soon a red scout came on ahead of the party. He was a young Huron brave, his face painted black and yellow. His head was encircled by a snake skin. A fox's tail rose above his brow and dropped back on his crown. A birch-bark horn hung over his shoulder.

Solomon stepped out of the bushes after he had passed and said in the Huron tongue: "Welcome, my red brother; I hear that a large band o' yer folks is comin' and we have got a feast ready."

The young brave had been startled by the sudden appearance of Solomon, but the friendly words had reassured him.

"We are on a long journey," said the brave.
"And the flesh of a fat ox will help ye on yer way. Kin ye smell it?"

"Brother, it is like the smell of the great village in the Happy Hunting Grounds," said the brave. "We have traveled three sleeps from the land of the long waters and have had only two porcupines and a small deer to eat. We are hungry."

"And we would smoke the calumet of peace with you," said Solomon.

They entered the house and barn and walked around them, and this, in effect, is what Solomon said to him:

"I am the chief scout of the Great Father. My word is like that of old Flame Tongue—your mighty chief. You and your people are on a bad errand. No good can come of it. You are far from your own country. A large force is now on your trail. If you rob or kill anyone you will be hung. We know your plans. A bad white chief has brought you here. He has a wooden leg with an iron ring around the bottom of it. He come down lake in a big boat with you. Night before last you stole two white women."

A look of fear and astonishment came upon the face of the Indian.

"You are a son of the Great Spirit!" he exclaimed.

"And I would keep yer feet out o' the snare. Let me be yer chief. You shall have a horse and fifty heavier skins and be taken to the border and set free. I, the scout of the Great Father, have said it, and if it be not as I say, may I never see the Happy Hunting Grounds."

The brave answered:
"My white brother has spoken well and he shall be my chief. I like not this journey. I shall bid them to the feast. They will eat and sleep like the gray wolf, for they are hungry and their feet are sore."

The brave put his horn to his mouth and uttered a wild cry that rang in the distant hills. Then arose a great whooping and kintecawing back in the bush. The young Huron went out to meet the band. Returning soon, he said to Solomon that his chief, the great Splitnose, would have words with him.

Turning to John Irons, Solomon said: "He's an outlaw chief. We must treat him like a king. I'll bring 'em in. You keep the meat a-sizzlin'!"

The scout went with the brave to his chief and made a speech of welcome, after which the wily old Splitnose, in his wonderful headdress of buckskin and eagle feathers, and his band in war-paint, followed Solomon to the feast. Silently they fled out of the bush and sat on the grass around the fire. There were no captives among them—none at least of the white skin. Solomon did not betray his disappointment. Not a word was spoken. He and John Irons and his son began removing the spits from the fire and putting more meat upon them and cutting the cooked roasts into large pieces and passing it on a big earthen platter. The Indians eagerly seized the hot meat and began to devour it.

Firemen's Pinocchio Big Success

The pinocchio, given at the Riverton fire house Thursday evening of last week by members of the Fire Company, was well attended and was thoroughly successful, both socially and financially. The winners of the prizes were as follows:

First prize, Joseph Yearly; second, William Armstrong; third, John Carhart. In "500" the first prize was awarded to Clarence Hubbs; second, Clarence Mattis; third, Dick Steele. The other prizes for pinocchio went to Harry Messner, Laurence Jover, James Flynn, Samuel Cole, Thomas O'Donnell, Frank Spear and John Flynn.

A Story for the Boys and Girls

The New Era has secured the exclusive rights in this territory to publish for the boys and girls a story by Irving Bacheller, called "In the Days of Poor Richard." If you don't know who Irving Bacheller is, ask dad or mother, who have doubtless read some of his many fine books. The story tells of Indians, frontiersmen and scouts in the time of Franklin, Washington, Adams and other great figures of that period, and the plot takes in both the United States and England. It took Mr. Bacheller more than three years to write this book, and it is said to be his finest production. Don't miss it, boys and girls. It starts in the Boys' and Girls' Corner this week.

Palmyra YMCA to Conduct Drive for Contributions to Equip Building

On Saturday March 1st, the members of the Palmyra YMCA groups will start their drive for donations to equip the YMCA in a fitting manner to carry on the work of developing our future citizens.

Your aid, no matter how small, will be appreciated by the members of the Board and the leaders. Each boy will have receipts and a letter of authority and your donation will be acknowledged by Elmer I. Loughery, treasurer of the leaders' committee.

We are now conducting four groups of fifteen boys each. Each group meets every week. This work is entirely unremunerative and is intended for the four-square development of the boys.

The YMCA building has been lying idle for over ten years until last fall when the work started moving again. It is our intention to have open house Saturday nights as soon as we are suitably furnished.

Truck Upset, No One Hurt

One of Oliver's bakery trucks was overturned in Riverton Friday, when a Cadillac touring car, driven by Miss Grace Carl, 423 E. Maple avenue, Merchantville, skidded on the slippery asphalt road and crashed into one of the rear wheels. The truck was considerably damaged.

The truck was driven by William Howell and Kenneth Conover, of Edgewater Park. They were not seriously hurt. Miss Carl also escaped injury. Officer Quigley arrived on the scene a few minutes after the collision and took charge of the situation.

WASHINGTON'S EXPENSE

Based on the expenses for three months in 1789, Washington figured his year's outlay at about $25,000. When Washington became president he was unwilling to receive any money from the public treasury beyond his actual expenses. At the time his household included a secretary, an assistant secretary, three aids and eighteen servants, while a library of sixteen horses figured into the yearly cost.

WASHINGTON'S EXPENSE

An interpretation of this brief note shows that the band of Colonel Proctor's Fourth Continental artillery apparently took it upon itself to serenade the commander in chief. This old record brings to light that Valley Forge, with all that that name means of privations and suffering, was the setting where was staged what was undoubtedly the first recognition in any public way of Washington's birthday.

There is still another record of those Revolutionary times which touches us perhaps most poignantly today. To the French is credit due for the first public celebration of Washington's birthday. It was in February, 1781, that Comte de Rochambeau, with true French spirit, declared a holiday for the French troops who were then located in Connecticut. Washington's birthday fell that year on Sunday, so the following Monday he set aside for the celebration of the birthday of his commander, whom he so highly esteemed.

It was another of the many evidences of the close ties between France and America which existed in Revolutionary times. It was on that memorable occasion that was first laid the foundation of our national holiday.

WASHINGTON'S 16-BLADED KNIFE

One of the unique relics of America history still extant is the 16-bladed pocket knife which was presented to George Washington by Capt. Samuel De Wees in 1784. The many blades, it will be noted, are arranged to fold into four slots placed at right angles to each other in the handle. The knife is now the property of George De Wees of Chicago, Ill., a descendant of Captain De Wees.

The cheerful man carries the key to many a happy adjustment of life's troubles.—Uncle Philander

FATHERS' NIGHT AT SCHOOL

Music by School Orchestra and Address by Murray C. Boyer

The Riverton Parent-Teacher Association held "Fathers' Night" in the school auditorium last evening. Music was furnished by the school orchestra and an address on "Our School System of Today" was made by Murray C. Boyer, vice president of the Riverton school board, and president of the Association of Burlington County School Boards. The program also included vocal solos by Mrs. E. C. Kline, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Bell at the piano. A Victrola record was awarded to the seventh grade for having the largest percentage of fathers in attendance. Refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of Fathers' Night was composed of George W. Smith, Jr., chairman; S. L. Warren, C. Rex Shovel, Fred P. Hemphill and J. W. Sylvester.

Mr. Boyer said in part:

The school system of today represents a social growth in theory and practice of many years. It is a well-recognized fact that the public schools of the United States are the best in the world. It may be said that the public schools are, in general, untrained in this country, is, literally speaking, the only public school system in the world; the so-called "public schools" in England not being public schools in the sense of the American school system. The State, but merely schools, in which the public generally participates, without class distinction upon the payment of fees. In Europe, there is, of course, a system of public schools, as it is called, but it is largely elementary, and the State does not pretend to give free public instruction, as that term is understood in this country. Until very recent years, in fact, each pupil in the elementary schools, except paupers, paid fees.

"Only in the United States has the public school system had a development such as democratic society logically demands."

"A system to be truly democratic must have the following characteristics: (1) It must be free to all; (2) it must extend over all stages of education; (3) it must have what is called the 'educational leader' that is pupils must be able to pass upwardly freely from one grade to the next; and (4) it must be patronized by all classes of the community."

The school code of New Jersey is a very large document, providing for a system of education which is difficult to say very much about any one, but it seems to work well and even though difficult situations have arisen in some localities over some of its features, and though there is a very strong theory that the State, as a political unit, does not give the same facilities or the same support to every School District, it is nevertheless, for that matter, the best that the United States, New Jersey ranks very high in education and educational standards.

According to the system used in measuring educational standards, New Jersey is only ranked by California, Montana, and New Mexico, and I have seen a statement to the effect that if certain factors were taken into their proper value, New Jersey would rank first in the United States.

There is no doubt in my mind but that the Public School system of New Jersey is a wonderful thing, and during the administration of the late Calvin L. Kendall, who was Commissioner of Education for a period of nearly ten years just prior to his death, Mr. Kendall, without question, a cultured gentleman of warm sympathies and wide experience in educational affairs.

There is one feature of the New Jersey School code that requires more than passing mention, and that is the necessity for high scholastic attainments before permanent certificates of teaching ability will be granted. New Jersey is one of the few States which do not recognize certificates issued by other States, and while this position would seem to be a disadvantage, it has unquestionably worked for the raising of educational standards in the State. No permanent certificates will be granted by the authorities unless the candidate has completed a college degree or the regular normal school training, can show a four-year high school's credits or their equivalent, and the equivalent is not always recognized without question.

The mere possession of a college degree does not absolve the candidate from taking an examination for a permanent certificate. Under our system in New Jersey, we have what is known as a State Board of Education. Up to the year 1921, this consisted of eight members, each appointed for eight years, and under the code it was bi-partisan. Today there are three women on the State Board. The members of the Board are appointed by the Governor and no one can serve more than one term, more than a minority of the Board, and he is required to keep it bipartisan. This Board has full charge of the business connected with the educational matters of the State.

In addition to the State Board of Education, there is a Commissioner of Education in direct charge of public instruction, and four Assistant Commissioners.

The school code provides for a body known as the "Federated Boards of Education of the State of New Jersey." This body has a very valuable adjunct to the public school system of New Jersey, but as organized at present it does not function properly.

In addition to this State organization, the county of Burlington has an association known as the "Association of Burlington County School Boards," holding an annual meeting and conference in the month of December. This association is valuable insofar as it is appreciated by the respective school boards of the county. It provides a forum for the discussion of problems affecting every school district of the county, and it gives the county superintendent an opportunity to present questions for general discussion affecting matters of interest in connection with the county work. It has provided prizes for the county oratorical contest and the spelling bee; it has helped in the corn contests, the sewing contests, and it has been most helpful in molding public opinion in the county respecting questions of vital interest to the school.

Another organization having at heart the welfare of the child and the duty to the school, is the New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, as well as the local Parent-Teacher Association, of which we have a most active branch in Riverton.

The State of New Jersey requires that a child between the ages of six and sixteen shall attend school, if not the public school, then a private school. And if he wants to, he can attend school until he is twenty-five. The State is not concerned so much about the private school.

In addition to the regular grades of our elementary schools, a kindergarten is provided, and your child may enter the kindergarten as early as five years of age. Assuming that the entrance age is five, the normal child can leave the grammar grades at the age of fourteen and after spending four years at high school will be ready for college, or the Battle of Life, as you please, at the age of eighteen.

It seems unnecessary to detail the course of study in the grammar grades although you may be interested to know that in the Riverton school we include drawing, manual training and domestic science, in addition to the regular work. Just now there is a special determination upon the part of all educators to stress the three "R's" as they are called, to which may be added penmanship and spelling. There are many people who consider manual training and domestic science outside the range of public school work. They were not thought of when I went to school, and there are many people today who call them "frills" or "fads." If they increase the usefulness of the child and awaken any latent ability, I believe they have their place in the public school in this age.

In the high school, the curriculum has been changed in the past few years, so that for those desirous of entering college there is the Latin-scientific course, for those desirous of entering business directly from high school there is the business course, and in many high schools there are definite courses of vocational training designed to fit the pupil for the many trades and occupations peculiar to our present-day civilization.

The State must provide the school, that is the right of every citizen in the free democracy that we call the United States of America, and the State can compel attendance until the child reaches a certain age. But that is all the State can do. In answer to a question respecting one phase of the work of our Board, Assistant Commissioner Strahan, paraphrasing the old proverb said:

"The school facilities must be provided and the horse must be shod, but the driver, even though he may not drink."

If you parents do your part, then the public school will function as it is intended it should function, and the world has never known a better citizen.

Long prior to the passage of the 19th amendment, membership in the school boards of the State of New Jersey was not confined to the male inhabitants, and, as you know, Riverton has been honored by the presence of Mrs. C. C. Miller on its Board of Education for many years, and I cannot speak too highly of her services and devotion to the cause of education. In point of service she is undoubtedly the dean of the county.

I find upon looking over the public school directory of the county that most of the boards have women members. While it is not true of all of them, there is a very strong feeling of service which pervades the boards of education. To my mind it is fitting and proper that they should do so. It is only natural that they should take a vital interest in the public school system, and in the advancement since it has a direct effect upon their home and children, not to speak of the value to the State.

I think I am right in saying that the school system of the county that our county function very satisfactorily at least is the impression that I gather from Mr. Kaser, the county superintendent.

My experience with our local board has been a very happy one, and I think that I am justified in saying that we operate as a very happy family.

The Riverton Board of Education has had its collective mind centered on but one question and that is to give Riverton the best school facilities possible, supervision, teaching corps and equipment.

I am proud of our school, a pride that I believe you all share. It ranks high in the county and in the State. It is a source of pride to me, and I make it the best in the State. If I have given you one helpful idea toward that end I am more than satisfied. I am presenting to you a copy of a very large subject, and I shall be glad to answer any questions with my power.

THE DATE OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTH

OLD records—what stories they can tell. Sometimes full of romance, sometimes startling in their disclosures.

It would seem that Washington's birthday, observed for so many years on February 22, was a celebration founded securely on accurate historical facts. Yet buried in the family Bible of Washington's mother and written in her own handwriting is an entry which makes one pause with surprise. There she has clearly recorded the astounding statement that George Washington was born on February 11.

Certainly no one should know more about this important event than Mrs. Washington.

There it is in black and white in her own handwriting:

George Washington, son to Augustine and Mary, his wife, was born ye 11th of February, 1732, about 10 in the morning, and was baptised the 3d of April following. Mr. Beverley Whiting and Capt. Christopher Brooks, godfathers, and Mrs. Mildred Gregory, godmother.

Family Bible, especially in those times, were the last word in accuracy, so this statement must be accepted as indisputable.

By the latter part of the sixteenth century the calendar year had become awkward with the astronomical year. It seemed important that a readjustment be made and Pope Gregory XIII, after careful consultation with the learned men of his time, decreed that in 1582 10 days should be dropped and arranged what has since been called the Gregorian calendar. The mandate of the pope was followed that year by Spain, Portugal, Italy and France, but England would have none of it and continued on the basis of the old calendar for another century and a half.

Difference of Eleven Days.

By 1752 in England the discrepancy had mounted up to 11 days, and the disadvantages of two systems of dates was causing great annoyance. It was necessary to date letters going from England or her colonies to France with the days of both systems; for instance, February 11-22. So at last to avoid all this confusion England officially adopted the Gregorian calendar and decreed that 11 days be omitted in the year 1752 between September 3 and September 14.

So for Washington, his birthday in 1732 and all succeeding years fell on February 22.

But there is another record which throws light on what was probably the first public recognition of his birthday. This time the record is in his own handwriting. While commander in chief of the Continental armies, with all his other responsibilities and duties, Washington found time to keep exact records of all his expenses. These expense accounts were several years ago made available by their transfer from the Treasury department to the library of congress where they were placed with the great collection of Washington's papers there.

In one of Washington's daily expense account books there is an entry, under date of February 22, 1774, which reads:

Cash paid the 22nd inst. to Proctor's hand by the G. O. 15s.

Gran'ma says: Stirring up trouble is like shaking the coffee pot; you may have some drops to drink unless you can settle it.

ESTATE OF GEORGE L. SENAT, DECEASED
NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the final account of Ellen Douglas Atkinson, executrix of the estate of George L. Senat, deceased, and Arthur M. Eastburn and Hugh B. Eastburn, Jr., co-executors, of the County of Burlington, is now on file in the County of Burlington, for April 1st, 1924.

EDMUND H. REEVES, Proctor.

Recipe for Fudge

3 cups granulated sugar
2 squares bitter chocolate
2 tablespoons molasses
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup milk
1 tablesp. butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook together sugar, chocolate, butter, molasses, salt and milk until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water (about twelve minutes). Set aside until cool. Add vanilla and beat until it creams. Pour into oiled pan and cut in squares. Cocoa may be substituted for chocolate, using 6 level teaspoons.

If desired, nuts may be added before beating.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts:
take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone.
Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no more dryness, no mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.
It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-
Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist.
Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.
It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowle's Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

GIRLS WIN, BOYS LOSE

Honors Are Split When Burlington High School Teams Visit Palmyra

The Palmyra High School basketball team broke even when they met the two boys of Burlington High last Thursday in the Palmyra gym. The boys, unfortunately, were the losers, their final score being 32 to 27. The girls ran up the same number of points against their Burlington counterparts, but the visiting lassies were not so clever as their brothers, for they only succeeded in scoring 9 points, being badly outplayed at every stage of the encounter. A large crowd was on hand for the twin-bill, both student bodies having large representations, which were exceptionally noisy, filling the cage with sounds equal to any Fourth of July celebration.

In view of the fact that the local girls were the only victors, so far as Palmyra was concerned, it is hardly fair to state that the boys' game was the best, but sad to relate it was. The boys were moral winners, to say the least, for they were playing without two of their best men; namely, the old reliable Gil Palphreyman, who is still confined to his home as the result of illness, and Captain Bill Hinchman, who is also on the sick list, and whose absence is always conspicuous.

Teamwork, the ambition of every coach, played a prominent part in the boys' wonderful showing. Another thing that it could be attributed to, was the fact they were playing BURLINGTON, their most bitter rival in any line of athletics. Russ Davis and Jimmie Burr, two of the institutions' most promising athletes, won, if anyone, the individual honors of the fray. The opinion of the majority of the spectators was that every fellow showed the best form of the season. Playing at every stage of the game, with the emphasis on the passing, showed a marked improvement.

The game was refereed by Allen, of the Central "Y" Camden. There were frequent early in the game, but their average decreased considerably in the closing minutes of play.

Teamwork was the keynote of the girls' success. In fact, it was the real cause of them giving their opponents such a thorough trouncing. The Burlington belles, most of the time, could be seen racing madly around the floor, apparently in a daze, due to the extreme superiority in play shown by our fair maidens. The girls displayed their best work of the season. There were no individual stars, but all shone very brightly.

One of the annual classics is scheduled for this Friday evening. Both the boy and girl varieties will meet a team of their sex from the alumni. Basketball games in the evening are becoming a big attraction in Palmyra, and it is expected that a much larger crowd than usual will be on hand to witness this "stirring" affair. Dancing until 11.30 will be the concluding feature of this attractive twin-bill. The music will be furnished by the Royal orchestra.

The senior class is preparing for its annual play. The date and title of the show will be announced in the near future. It will be directed by Miss Finley, a member of the faculty.

Ford All-Steel Truck

The Ford Motor Company enters the new year with a new product, an all-steel combination truck body and cab mounted on the standard Ford One Ton chassis to be sold as a complete unit.

The new body is of the open express type, so constructed that it may be readily converted into other body combinations by using stakes, sideboards, canopy top, screen sides, etc.

"In fact," says the Ford statement, "the purpose in producing the new body was to place a low cost general utility truck, meeting both agricultural and commercial requirements at the disposal of ton truck users."

The body is built of steel to withstand the most severe usage and presents a new development in construction. The steel sills are reinforced with wood in order to lessen vibration and road shocks, thus making for more durability and longer life.

Do You Send Letters to the Dead Letter Office?

For every working day during the month of January 134,115 undeliverable letters were sent to the Dead Letter Office. The failure of this great volume of letters to reach the people to whom intended is due wholly to the failure of the public to supply correct, legible and complete addresses.

All letters for delivery in Riverton should be directed to street and house number.

Better Mailing Week, February 18th to 23rd, 1924.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sharp, of Merchantville, announce the engagement of their sister, Mrs. Bertha Sharp, to Mr. Christopher S. White, of 500 Cinnaminson Avenue, Palmyra.

The wedding will take place in early spring. Mrs. Sharp is a sister of the late Dr. Lewis Sharp.

Riverton YMCA Delegation to Attend County Conference

A delegation from the Riverton YMCA group will attend the Young Men's County Conference on Friday, February 22, at Mount Holly. The members of the delegation expect to derive much benefit from the lectures given by prominent men who are interested in this branch of boy's work. It has been decided that S. B. Jones, Jr., leader of Calvary group, Eliot Rowley, assistant leader and several of the older boys will represent Riverton.

Following this decision by the group members, prizes for the boys who sold the largest number of moving picture and entertainment tickets were awarded. The first prize was won by Allen Hemphill, who owing to serious illness, was unable to receive his award. Jack Carpenter won second prize, and the two winners were given a rising vote of thanks by the other members of the group for their efforts in making the entertainment a success. The proceeds from the entertainment were sufficient to help pay the salary of a native YMCA secretary in India, buy sweater emblems, and leave a balance with which the boys expect to have a real banquet.

Edward Sordon is making remarkable progress with the group's year book and every member of the group is expected to present their own photograph to him as soon as possible.

The game of broom polo which was to have been played with Palmyra on Lincoln's birthday was postponed indefinitely on account of snow, which made playing impossible.

Following the religious and business part of the meeting, the two rival factions engaged in several lively games, namely "Three Deep" and "Buck-Buck." One faction was headed by Eliot Rowley and the other by Leslie Reeves. The opposing forces fought valiantly upon the field of battle, and after a close struggle the decision was awarded to Mr. Rowley's followers. The games resulted in several minor casualties which were quickly remedied by the application of quantities of snow to the injured members.

Directors of Camp Ockanickon Meet

The annual meeting of the Ockanickon Camp and Conference Committee, Inc., was held in the Burlington County Y. M. C. A. Office, Mt. Holly, Saturday afternoon, February 16th. Besides the Y. M. C. A. Secretaries for the four counties which unite in the promotion of Camp Ockanickon, there were also one or two laymen from each county who serve on the special camp committee. Henry F. Stockwell of Moorestown, Vice-Chairman of the Burlington County Y. M. C. A. Committee, was elected chairman of the camp committee. Ross S. Muselman, secretary of Gloucester county, was elected secretary of the committee and camp director. Guy C. Hendry, secretary for Burlington county, was elected camp treasurer, also director for religious work. Walter H. Scott, secretary for Camden county, was elected commissary director. Leigh E. Cobb, secretary for Monmouth county, was elected director of athletics and aquatics.

The board rate will remain the same, namely, $2 a week, with a registration fee of one dollar.

Y. M. C. A. Being Organized in Maple Shade

At the invitation of a number of residents of Maple Shade, Secretary Hendry met with a group of men in the Community Hall at that place Sunday afternoon, February 17th, and discussed with them the necessary steps in organizing a YMCA.

Trucks Displace Freight Cars

Starting on Monday of this week, Scott Brothers, of Philadelphia, have taken over the transportation of freight in less than carload lots between Philadelphia and South Ambler, and all points enroute, which will be carried by trucks instead of freight cars. Freight is received and discharged at the Pennsylvania railroad freight stations, the same as when transportation was made by rail.

Fire Company Wants New Members

At a meeting of the Riverton Fire Company Monday night, it was decided to immediately start a drive for associate members, the dues for which is $1.00. Riverton's fire department is one of its valuable assets and at least one member of every household should become an associate member. President Killam E. Bennett appointed the following committees: house—Ogden H. Mattis, Walter Armstrong, John Carhart, executive—William B. Lynch, William N. Mattis, Daniel M. Clifton; finance—Fred P. Hemphill, Ross E. Mattis, Daniel M. Clifton; entertainment—Harry Messmer, Earle Ludlow, Frank Stroblein, Laurence Joyce, William Armstrong. Walter Armstrong was elected foreman and Charles Cole assistant foreman.

New Jersey Gives Big Bonus to Its Soldiers

New Jersey paid its service men in the recent war $10,919,570 in bonus claims up to December 31 last when the time for filing application under the law expired. This represented an average of $88.75 to each of the 124,100 claims approved.

Altogether there were 128,257 applications for the bonus filed with the commission since the law was enacted.

Based on the record bureau of the Adjutant General's office there were 142,136 men enlisting from New Jersey, composed of 116,083 in the army, 23,826 in the navy and 2,227 in marines corps. The bonus commission disapproved 3,445 applications, while 712 are still awaiting final disposition and which are in the process of administration and examination to determine the eligibility of the applicant for the bonus.

Cannot Agree on Judgeship

The Burlington County Republican Committee met in Mount Holly Monday night to agree on a man who would be acceptable to the appointment of the judgeship, made vacant by the retirement of Judge Wells, but were not able to come to a decision.

Palmyra Ambulance Association

"A New and Better Ambulance by Memorial Day 1924"

While this is being written (Tuesday at noon) the snow is falling, the wind is bleak and cold and I am wondering if the day will get by without a call being made for the Ambulance to convey some sick or injured person to a hospital. Maybe it will not be necessary to make a trip today. If it should be the Ambulance will be manned by volunteers, a driver and nurse, without a thought as to whether patient, nurse or driver will suffer from the exposure of a trip in our present ambulance, but how much better would it be if we had an ambulance in which the patient, nurse and driver are protected from the elements and in which all are more comfortable.

Will it be you reader for whom the ambulance will make its next trip? If it is, have you done your bit by making a contribution for a "New and Better Ambulance by Memorial Day 1924?"

Donations this past week have been sidetracked somewhat for some reason we do not know, and only four have been received, but we feel sure that when you think of the weather we are experiencing this week and the fact that you may be the next one to need an ambulance, your purse strings will be opened quickly and donations sent freely.

The fund this week stands as follows: Balance, reported last week $392.30; Citizen, (Palmyra) 1.00; Citizen 1.00; Citizen 1.00; Citizen 1.00.

If twenty-five citizens will mail a check for $5 each this fund by next week will be practically $500 and in the meantime other citizens may send in contributions for larger amounts. Any amount donated to this work is not an expense but an investment that will pay large returns should you need the services of the ambulance.

Contributions can be mailed to the secretary, or left at Mr. Wimer's office, Palmyra, or H. C. Worrell's office, Riverton.

C. O. MELCHER, Secretary.

Boy Scout News

Last Sunday the local troop carried out the customary scout practice of attending church services in a body, when it paid a visit to the Episcopal Methodist Sunday School. This wound up the activities of the fourteenth birthday celebration of the Scout Movement and the members of the local troop certainly did themselves justice in the matter. Forty-three officers and men answered roll call when the troop fell in at Headquarters at 2 o'clock.

The officers of the troop had expected to have a photograph of the entire outfit taken, but due to the illness of the photographer, this was impossible. It is hoped that another opportunity will offer itself in the near future.

While the metropolitan dailies are running their linerics, we thought it a good idea to run one of our own. Here is the first: Every scout can fry, boil or bake, and can punish his portion of cake, but for royal good fun, just come on the run. When they bring on that scout they call.

Mr. Lamont is offering a beautiful tinfoli loving cup to the scout who first finds in the correct missing word. All replies should be sent to Scouts Chester McConnell and Choo-Choo Carr.

Announcement was made last week that Mr. Lamont would take over command of the troop the first week in March. The officers are consequently planning a little party and public entertainment for the occasion. Invitations are being sent to the local troop committee and the executive committee of the Parents' Auxiliary to attend this affair, so every scout in town wants to be sure to hold the night open for the big doings.

The first meeting night in April is to be a big party night. This is the night for the quarterly meeting of the Auxiliary, planning of the new year, and making quite an affair of it. Troops 84 and 24, of Philadelphia, whom we visited two weeks ago, will be on hand for this affair, and of course Troop 84 will bring its bugle band along. Some interesting stuff is planned for this meeting, but those in charge are keeping the news under their hats. We presume further announcement will be made later.

Along with the announcement of the change of command of the troop, there was the further announcement that there would be a number of changes in the non-com staff and the formation of a new patrol of picked men.

This new patrol is to be the marines of the service, and the fellows who wear the shoulder knot of the patrol can justly feel proud of their position. Requirements for entrance to the patrol have been laid down, and while they are exceptionally stiff, it is regarded the merit of an honor to gain admission that every patrol leader in the outfit has volunteered to surrender his stripes and enter the new outfit as a private.

Edgewater Park Wants Separate Government

Owners of fine estates along the river shore at Edgewater Park are pushing the movement for setting up a separate township. The little village has long desired to separate from Beverly township. The borough of Beverly now virtually divides the old township.

One of the chief motives for the separation, residents of Edgewater Park maintain, is to permit them to use their own funds for local improvements. They claim that they now pay the bulk of the taxes in the old township, and get a small portion of the benefits.

A Junior Red Cross Appeal

The Riverton public school has been asked to help the National Child Welfare Fund of the Junior Red Cross to pay for the international correspondence of children.

The seventh and eighth grades are corresponding with other countries through the Junior Red Cross and so the school felt it their duty to help. The plan they have decided on to get money is to sell six months subscriptions of the Morning or Evening Ledger for the Public Ledger Company. The school will receive a profit of seventy-five cents for each subscription.

The seventh grade was chosen to take care of this and subscriptions will only be sold the week of the twenty-fourth. Take a subscription and help the school.

Girl Reserves of the YWCA

The Girl Reserves held their regular meeting Friday evening at 410 Main street. After the devotional exercises, the group was divided, thus making a Junior Girl Reserve Club for girls in the seventh grade and under, and a high school club for girls in the eighth grade and high school. The junior group are under the leadership of Miss Margaret Swift.

Officers of both clubs were elected, results as follows: High School: G. R. — president, Helen Greene; vice president, Elsie Glud; secretary, Marcella Bowen; treasurer, Janet Yardley.

Junior Club: president, Janette D'Antrechey; vice president, Elizabeth Sloan; secretary, Ada Ken; treasurer, Florence Groff.

Plans are being made for holding a cake sale sometime in March.

Chautauqua Coming Back Next Year

Twenty-two guarantors are pledged to be responsible for the success of Swarthmore Chautauqua here again next year.

This year 360 adult tickets were sold and 75 for children. In addition to this considerable sum were taken for single admissions at the door at the various performances.

Next year tickets will sell at $2.00 each and $1.00 for children. Under the new plan for next year, the Chautauqua management will receive $500, and all over that sum will be retained for a Chautauqua Fund or a donation to some local educational or charitable cause.

The guarantors for next year's Chautauqua are: George W. Rogers, president; Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, secretary; George T. Harvey, treasurer; Miss Emma A. Price, Joseph T. Evans, William H. Bottger, Mr. Corell Cann, Arthur M. Bowker, John S. Warner, E. H. Grafton, Mrs. W. F. Leford, Frank E. Chambers, Mrs. M. C. Buck, Mrs. Annabelle S. Atkinson, Edward A. King, Mrs. V. M. Brower, Nathan J. Conrow, Frank A. D. Kates, Jr., R. H. Lamb, Thomas W. Reideeman, H. W. Bauer, M.D., Mrs. E. W. G. Borer.

Dr. Prickett's Successor Appointed

Two Burlington county physicians were appointed to the unexpired term of the late Dr. Elmer D. Prickett, as jail physician and member of the tuberculosis commission, by the Board of Freeholders at their Friday meeting. Dr. Daniel P. Reimer, of Mount Holly, is expected by the Freeholders to serve as prison physician. There are still two years on this term. Dr. William E. Rink, of Union street, Burlington, was appointed a member of the tuberculosis commission, which has supervision of Fairview sanatorium at New Lisbon. Dr. Rink is a well-known Burlington physician. He will serve for the rest of this year.

Asbury

Miss May Ward entertained her aunt, Mrs. Wallace Kleckner, of Palmyra, last Friday.

Everyone is invited to attend the Asbury M. E. Church song service on Friday evening, February 29th, when an especially fine musical program will be rendered, with Miss Orianna K. Lippincott, at the organ. Fifty members of the Golden Eagle Lodge of Palmyra are planning to be present at this service.

Rev. Richard O. Payne, of Virginia, spoke at the Asbury Church on Sunday. His subject was "Christ in Our Midst."

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Cecil Bowers last Tuesday evening, their being fourteen people present despite the snowstorm.

Why Thousands Have Bought RA-DO Gas Radiators

Here are the facts. First of all, RA-DO with its wonderful patented gas mask is the only safe gas radiator on the market. No dangerous fumes or odors can escape it. There is no exposed flame. If you're using an open flame gas heater, for the sake of your health get rid of it. Install RA-DO. RA-DO burns less gas than any other gas heating appliance giving the same amount of heat. And you can heat one room or an entire house with RA-DO Radiators with less work and expense than any other system—coal or gas.

Rear View

This shows a rear view of the RA-DO Gas Radiator with its gas mask. This gas mask contains a Fume Compound through which the heated air passes and is purified before it enters the room. NO OTHER GAS RADIATOR HAS THIS FEATURE.

PALMYRA "Y" TO BE REVIVED

Drive for Funds with which to Equip
Building to be Made

Members of the Palmyra Y. M. C. A. on Saturday will begin a house-to-house canvass for contributions to the fund to equip the "Y" building at Broad street and Garfield avenue so as to better serve the boys of Palmyra.

The Y. M. C. A. work has been at a standstill and the building has not been serving the purpose for which it was intended for the last ten years. At last a movement, sponsored by Harvey G. Fisher and B. S. Torbett, is under way to transform the "Y" from a spiritless organization into a real live Young Men's Christian Association, which is absolutely undenominational and has for its guidance that splendid motto "Help the Other Fellow."

An organization has been formed with Mr. Torbett as chairman, Mr. Fisher secretary, and E. J. Loughery treasurer. There is an advisory group composed of Harold (Boots) Lever, Mr. Belcher, "Y" men at the Central building in Philadelphia, and one other yet to be named. These men have kindly consented to give the leaders the benefit of their advice and experience in making the building and provide it with light and heat.

The boys themselves have worked hard and helped clean the building and put it in ship-shape state. There are at present sixty boys who are members, divided into groups of fifteen, each group meeting one night in the week. The boys have had speakers from around town and out of town to give them the benefit of their experiences. A fine spirit has been aroused as evidenced by the fact that at the Christmas season the boys collected enough provisions to make up seven baskets for distribution among the poor.

The money raised in the drive will be used in equipping the building with suitable furniture, athletic apparatus, games and other articles needed to make it attractive. It is planned to hold open house on Saturday nights when the young fellows of the town can have clean reading and games and, if possible, some form of athletics.

In the course of time it is hoped to form real boys' teams and have athletic competition with groups from out of town. Under the leadership of "Boots" Lever, some crackerjack athletes are sure to be developed.

The collectors will be armed with cards of identification and also blanks with stubs attached. Contributors will receive the stub as a receipt and later an acknowledgment will be sent by Treasurer Loughery. The committee needs everybody's support and all contributions, no matter how small, will be greatly appreciated.

Leaders Committee:

YMCA Group Stages Night in Spain

Last Thursday's meeting of Calvary YMCA group in the Presbyterian chapel, Riverton, was almost entirely reserved for sports. First came a short devotional period, followed by a brief business discussion, during which it was decided that the group as a whole would visit Central "Y" in Philadelphia for a workout in the big gymnasium there, and to take a swim.

The meeting was then taken charge of by the sports committee who instructed that sides be chosen for some unusual group contests. Elwood (Fats) Wagner, the local football star, was elected captain of his team, while George Hutchins headed his noble band. The Hutchins' contingent had the advantage of weight, but Wagner's followers soon exhibited the quality of their nerve and ability in overcoming odds.

The first contest in which the sides clashed was the old-time blood-curdling "duck-buck"—which needs no introduction to any boy under eighteen. The teams were so evenly matched that the referee, Eliot Rawley, was unable to give a decision to the great disgust of the harried warriors. Next came a so-called "chicken fight" but the consensus of opinion among the enthusiastic "gallery" was that the participants had nothing to fear from the next war. In this conflict Wagner et al showed decided superiority, as the score will verify: Wagner 5, Hutchins 2.

The final fray, and the real feature of the evening was a free-for-all Bar-ecolonian bull fight. Please do not ask the writer who was victorious. The Wagner horde of "matadors" seemed to have the best of the argument, but with the bellowing of "bulls" and the wild "vivas" of the "picadors," the press box was in a state of confusion and is unable to render a definite decision.

Riverton School Board Head Praises YMCA Group Educational Work

Last Wednesday evening at an informal discussion with the leaders and members of Calvary YMCA group of Riverton, Charles W. Kipp, recently re-elected president of the Riverton Board of Education, said he appreciated fully the position YMCA training had assumed as an auxiliary to grammar school and high school training. He said he felt the physical, social and educational programs followed by Calvary group specially were of great benefit to the boys of Riverton, and that the work of the group should be encouraged by the parents in every way possible.

Mr. Kipp was especially impressed when informed that this small band of boys is paying the entire salary of one native YMCA secretary in India for one year, the money being raised by personal contributions from group members, as well as by giving entertainments. He said he felt this type of real service to be entirely novel, considering the ages of the boys, which range from eleven to sixteen.

Harold I. Donnelly, of Philadelphia, who holds the position of Boys Work Director of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, has also learned of Calvary group, and has requested weekly reports of their activities to be printed in his weekly news letters sent all over the country as an aid to other Presbyterian boys' clubs.

To give those not already familiar with Calvary group some idea of how their meetings are conducted, perhaps it would be well to print here the program for the regular meeting next Thursday:

Prayer and devotional period
Regular business of the group, with reports of committees, etc.

Class in salesmanship (each boy selling selected article to instructor)
Physical stunts and group games

Closing exercises
Of course, this schedule is somewhat varied each meeting—in place of the salesmanship class, for instance, talks on a subject varying from the growing of cotton to hunting big game or the manufacturing of steel are delivered by competent speakers.

The keynote of the entire work of Calvary group is the development of the boys' natural abilities. The meetings in their entirety are planned by the group as a whole. To date Calvary group boys have originated three new group games which have been passed on to the County organization by Guy C. Hendry, secretary, and J. P. Ashbrook, assistant secretary.

FRANCIS McDORMAN, Publicity Director, Calvary YMCA group.

Independence Group, YMCA

The regular meeting of Independence group, No. 3, YMCA, was held last Wednesday evening and plans laid for extension of YMCA activities.

On Tuesday evening the basketball team of the group, accompanied by most of the members, visited the Olney Presbyterian Church, but was defeated 10 to 4. Wallace, Peterson and Poulson played well and the team will not be satisfied until Olney's scalp hangs at Palmyra's belt.

The Olney gym is splendidly arranged for play and an adjacent room for games for the young people, consisting of shuffleboard, chess, checkers, etc., is well patronized by the younger members of the church.

Twentieth Century Group

The regular meeting of the Twentieth Century group was held last Thursday evening. There were only a few members of the group present. The business meeting and Bible study was followed by a lively basketball game. Someone accidentally broke a window during the course of the contest and Jimmie Hires offers the reward of a tub and a marble bath robe to the person giving information regarding the identity of the offender who was guilty of this act.

Three Plays at the Porch Club

The first of the three one-act comedies given by The Porch Club Players in the parish house last Thursday evening was "Joint Owners in Spain"—a short scene in an old lady's home, depicting some of the peculiar and amusing characteristics of three of the inmates: Mrs. Fuller, Miss Dyer, and Mrs. Blair, whose parts were taken by Mrs. Howard Coe, Mrs. J. Douglas Clark and Miss Gail Ellsworth.

Miss Cornelia Coale, as Mrs. Mitchell, the matron, had many difficulties in pleasing her old ladies, but finally pacified them, we hope, for all time.

The next "Suppressed Desires" by George Cram Cook and Susan Glaspell was a comedy of married life, in which Mr. Victor Ritschard was Stephen Brewster, and the late husband whose wife, Henrietta, Miss Gail Ellsworth, was an ardent believer in psycho-analysis.

Many complications arose thru the sister, Mabel, Mrs. Arthur F. Coe, and it looked at times as tho the entanglements never would be straightened but eventually all ended happily, the audience having enjoyed many hearty laughs.

The third "The Florist Shop," by Winifred Hawkrige, was a day's happenings in the exclusive Flower Shop owned by Mr. Slovisky, Mr. Mercer Shrewster, and managed by Maud, Mrs. J. Douglas Clark, a typical shop girl who chewed gum, but still had a heart and looked not alone after the interests of her employer, but with the assistance of Henry Jack Morris, an errand boy, aided very materially in shaping the destinies of two customers, Miss Wells, Mrs. Howard Coe, and Mr. Jackson, Mr. Gardner Crowell.

The casts were well selected and each one deserves special mention for making the evening a success.

Between the plays piano selections were rendered by Mrs. George M. Becker, chairman of the music section of the club.

Early Strikes

The Corn Exchange in reviewing the coal strike reminds its readers that in 1791 the carpenters went on strike in Philadelphia; the cord-wainers in 1805 and the boot and shoe makers warred almost paralyzed the infant industry. The first strike to shorten hours of which we have record was that of the carpenters who struck in 1827; their working day at that time was thirteen hours. A so-called model cotton mill in Rhode Island provided that a hundred children of four to ten years were not obliged to work over twelve hours a day.

Of 168 strikes in the United States from 1833—seven more than a hundred were for higher wages and twenty-six for a ten-hour day. Every trade had its strike and Philadelphia as a manufacturing center suffered particularly with its idle house builders, shoe makers, leather workers, plumbers, carters, saddlers, cigar makers, printers and bakers.

A Tragedy of the Santa Fe Trail Presented to Men's Club
by J. R. Wilson

Joseph R. Wilson, a Philadelphia lawyer who writes poetry on the glories of the Great West, addressed the Men's Club in Christ Church parish house Monday evening and gave the first reading of his epic poem, "Anne, a Tragedy of the Santa Fe Trail."

Mr. Wilson has spent several years studying the Santa Fe Trail and its history. The trail, which was the route taken by the gold seekers of '49 and had been used by pioneers since 1820, stretches a thousand miles from St. Louis to Santa Fe.

The trail was travelled by caravans of Conestoga wagons and was marked by many tragedies and massacres. Often in their eagerness to reach the gold fields men would refuse to wait for the larger caravans, but would set out alone. Sickness, accidents, starvation or Indian raids on the trackless plains and deserts frequently wiped out whole families.

Mr. Wilson's poem brought to the minds of his listeners the scenes in the motion picture "The Covered Wagon." It dealt with a young pioneer, who started for the West with his young wife and one child, traveling alone in a Conestoga. One Indian attack was beaten off through the timely appearance of "Kit" Carson, Bob Singleton and two other plainsmen. Singleton, however, was killed. The young pioneer then caught up with another caravan headed west. A few days later his child took ill, died and was buried on the trail. Shaken by grief, the pioneer took advantage of an opportunity to send his wife on ahead by stage coach. The stage and all aboard were massacred by the Indians within sight of Santa Fe.

Mr. Wilson's reading was heartily appreciated by the Club and he was made an honorary member for life. Two other new members, A. S. Griffith and M. J. Quinn, were elected. During the evening the Boy Scouts orchestra, composed of James Hires, David Middleton, Patrol Leader Richard, Chris Davis, James Wright and Roy Wenzel, rendered several fine selections.

Next month's meeting will be marked by the eagerly awaited lecture by Dr. Michael Dorizas, "Our Mike," who made such a hit in his previous talk. Dr. Dorizas, formerly a famous U. of P. athlete, took a 16-months trip around the world after his graduation. He has completed his book on his travels and will give the Men's Club an illustrated lecture on the subject.

Due to the popularity of "Our Mike," a larger hall is to be obtained and each member will receive a number of tickets for distribution among his family and friends.

Oratorical Contest on Constitution

More than 75,000 pupils of the High Schools of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Southern New Jersey are busily engaged in preparing orations on questions having to do with the Constitution of the United States, its makers and defenders. All of these boys and girls hope to qualify as contestants in a series of contests to be conducted in the schools to find the best orator in this region, who will receive a four-year scholarship in the University of his choosing and be named as one of seven students who will meet in a national contest in June, to be held in Washington, at which the President will make an address and Justices of the Supreme Court will determine the winner, who will receive a cash prize of $3500. The second best oration will be awarded $1000 and the third $500.

In addition to entries from schools, individuals may compete in this contest, and full information may be secured from the office of the committee, 324 Bulletin Building, Philadelphia, Burton L. Smith, secretary.

"Thompson of the Varsity"

A three-act comedy, full of real humor, lots of intrigue and enough love to make it interesting, will be presented by the Goodfellow class of the Epworth M. E. Church of Palmyra in the Methodist Temple on Friday evening, March 14, at 8 o'clock.

The cast is made up entirely of local amateurs who have gained reputations for clever acting in previous productions. They are being coached by Miss Bell, of the Palmyra High School.

Tickets are on sale by members of the class and the proceeds will be directed to the extension of good Christian service. For concrete information look for the advertisement in this paper, then say YES when asked to buy tickets.

Automobiles Damage Golf Links

Considerable damage has been done to the golf course of the Riverton Country Club during the snows this month by automobiles taking coasters to the various hills.

Heavy cars carrying passengers and sleds have cut deep ruts into the turf, and in some instances actually passed over putting greens. Temporary barriers erected to keep the cars off were swept aside, and the Club management was compelled to put up more substantial protection.

Action will be taken against owners of cars in the future that treat the golf links like highways.

Ladies' Night at the Riverton Country Club

Considering the weather, there was a splendid turnout for ladies' night on Wednesday, February 20th. Mrs. Filson Graff won the ladies' prize by going 105 pins over her average for the three games, and H. S. Coe was high for the men with 88 pins, and a high game of 234. Jack Graff ran away with the prize for the high single game over his average. He ran out a very fine game for 201 or 77 pins over his average.

The ladies' nights this winter are becoming very popular. The next ladies' night will be Wednesday, March 19th, and plans are being laid to make it especially attractive.

The Difference

by Grace E. Hall

Another Spring shall come with buds and flowers.

And singing birds a-tilt on swinging bough.

Another Spring, with all its magic hours

The dew upon the tender grass shall glisten.

Where now we linger in a strange delight:

But we, apart, shall sadly pause and listen.

To love-birds cooing softly in the night.

Another Autumn, too, shall bring its treasures

Of color-flame to paint the wooded hill.

And wines of life may sometimes warm and thrill.

Yet never shall a Spring be quite so glowing.

Nor winds be so caressing in their blowing—

For we have loosened hands—and said good-bye.

THE REVIVAL UNDER SAMUEL

LESSON TEXT—I Sam. 1:7.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare your hearts unto the Lord and serve Him only.—
I Sam. 7:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God Calls the Boy
Samuel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Victory at Ebenezer.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Samuel Served His Nation.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Revival Under Samuel.

Gross immorality and even anarchy prevailed during the close of the period of the judges, as we see recorded in the last chapters of Judges. Through the ministry of the last judge, Samuel, a brighter day dawned upon Israel.

I. Features of Israel's History in This Period.

1. A Demoralized Priesthood.

(1) The priests were actuated by greed (I Sam. 2:12-17). It was God's will that those who ministered at the altar should live of the things of the altar, but they broke through the divine revelations touching this matter and were securing their selfish ends by force.

(2) The priests polluted the courts of God's house with the grossest immorality (I Sam. 2:22). We thus see that the condition of the nation was most appalling. When God's ministers are actuated by greed and practice uncleanness, degradation and ruin rapidly follow.

2. An Alienated People. The only thing which separates people from God is sin. The people who choose sin shall be thus separated from God.

3. A Cessation of Divine Revelation (I Sam. 3:1). God was silent ("The word of God was precious in those days, there was no open vision"). The message from the Lord was a matter of memory.

II. God Calls Samuel (I Sam. 3:2-10). Samuel's name means, "Asked of God." He was given to Hannah in answer to prayer. In asking God for this son she vowed to dedicate him to the Lord. Accordingly at an early age she took him to the sanctuary and gave him over to the charge of Eli. Thus in his tender years he ministered to the Lord. The beautiful life of Samuel was in striking contrast to the degradation of the nation.

III. Samuel's First Prophetic Message (I Sam. 3:11-18).
Up to this time Samuel obeyed the one who was over him, but the time had now come when he must directly hear and obey the Lord. The first message entrusted to him is a most terrible one. He hesitated to tell it to Eli, but, when pressed by him, he manifested the true courage which was lying back of his fear. He announced a fearful visitation upon Eli's house because of the sins of his sons.

IV. Samuel Established in the Prophetic Office (I Sam. 3:19-21).

"And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground, and all Israel from Dan even unto Beer-sheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord."

V. Victory of Samuel (I Sam. 7:1-14).

1. Samuel Calls Israel to Repentance (vv. 1-4). Some twenty years have now elapsed since Israel was humiliated by the Philistines. He asks the people to turn to the Lord with all their hearts, the proof of which would be:

(1) To put away their own licentious worship. This was really gross licentiousness under the guise of religion.

(2) To direct their hearts unto the Lord and serve Him only.

2. Israel Assembled at Mizpah (vv. 5, 6). The purpose of this assembly was the confession of their sins. They poured water before the Lord, thus symbolizing their need of cleansing and the pouring out of their hearts in penitence before the Lord. They fasted and publicly confessed their sins.

3. The Philistines Attack Israel (v. 7). The assembly of Israel at Mizpah alarmed the Philistines. They interpreted the gathering as a preparation to attack them, so they decided to attack first.

4. The Intercession of Samuel (vv. 8, 9). Samuel accompanied his intercession with a burnt offering, showing that he looked for acceptance in the sacrifice of another, even Christ.

5. The Victory Over the Philistines (vv. 10, 11). This was the result of God's interposition. "The Lord thundered with a great thunder that day and discomfited them."

6. A Memorial Set Up (vv. 12-14). Samuel set up a stone between Mizpah and Shen and called it Ebenezer, which means, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us."

Shining Christians.
Unpolluted hearts do not shine; so untutored Christians do not display the real luster of their true character.—

The Real Thing.
Self-sacrifice is never the real thing, until self is forgotten clean and clear, in loving thought of others.—

The Teacher as a Nation-Builder

According to the Teachers' Creed by Edwin Osrood Grover, the teacher believes that the boy and girl of today is the man and woman of tomorrow, and that whatsoever they shall sow in their youth, that shall they also reap as men and women. Therefore it follows that the teacher, as the example, influences the children, guides them upon their courses, and helps them to become worthy citizens.

As future men and women they must be taught to obey the laws given by the officials, and to consider the government a sovereign power. It is in the schools where these children expect to be taught these fundamentals of citizenship, and they are placed in the care of the teacher for most of each day. They, like young plants, should have the tenderest care, so that the habits formed in youth are molded to meet into a good character. The inhabitants of a Nation should be thoughtful, and while in school, the young children's meager thoughts should not be scorned and quelled, but they should rather be encouraged to continue, and gradually think deeper thoughts, to fit them for intelligent survey and pondering of vital questions brought up for discussion and settlement during their day.

Companions for the young are of vast importance. The teacher instructs the youthful men and women to pick out all that is good in every human being, and to learn from their opinions and views, thus uniting the Nation's people, that through serious and earnest thought, they harmonize in correct opinions.

All the duties of a teacher, endeavoring to build a Nation, are not so deep and somber, but laughter, appreciation of beauty, love, faith, duty, hopes and ideals, is instilled into the expanding minds. The outdoors, every landscape, must present some beauties, and all employment should make living a joy.

All these are the mental foundations of the building of a Nation, but moral and physical foundations must be laid as well. Clean minds, cherishing fond hopes and high ideals, are as essential as clean, upright bodies. The sacredness of their bodies and the necessity of keeping true, and faithful hearts beating in them, must be emphasized, and that the acts of dishonesty, deceit and disobedience, will not always remain petty, but will become crime. This, then, is the foundation of a Nation—the condition of its future men and women. It tells the gigantic task the teachers endeavor to perform, to build a Nation of real citizens, who respect the laws, who believe the government to be a sovereign power, who employ the many privileges granted them, who vote intelligently, thus putting the best of the Nation in office, to maintain high civilization, and who are clean in mind and body, who appreciate nature and its influences, and who are fit to train others to take their places as they vacate them.

Were there no qualified teachers able to lead the children into their full intelligence, what Nation would develop and expand under the impulses of the uneducated, unguided men and women who lived their youth to themselves, developing only in doubt, uncertainty and wonder?

Vice and crime would be the features of such a Nation. No forward paces would be taken in the development or progress. Slovenly cities, weak, dull inhabitants would people the cities, and it would not be long before insurrections, rebellions and civil wars would utterly ruin the country.

Commerce with foreign Nations would be impossible, for where are the people who will trade with a country whose produce comes from cities unsanitary and unclean. Undoubtedly its leaders would not be scrupulously honest and straightforward, and thus foreign credit would be impossible. The officers would not be worthy of office, cruel and wrong laws would be passed and strictly enforced—the executives would never work in harmony for the welfare of the people.

This serves to illustrate the inestimable value of the teachers as Nation-builders. All enterprise, government, welfare, conditions of foreign affairs, commerce and all activity of a Nation, hinges on the ability of its teachers to lead the untutored children into living lives of valuable service as real citizens of their Nation and community.

Slaughter for Judge

The question of who is to succeed Judge Wells on the Common Pleas bench was practically settled Monday night, when Governor Silzer sent to the Senate the nomination of Counselor William A. Slaughter, of Mount Holly. It is understood that Senator Roberts, who opposed the appointment of James Mercer Davis, is satisfied with the selection of Captain Slaughter, and it is expected that his appointment will be confirmed by the Senate without opposition.

Riverton Beats Merion at Bowling

Tuesday night, Merion Cricket Club's two bowling teams the "Maroons" and the "Whites" were beaten by two picked teams of bowlers from the Country Club. Each Riverton team succeeded in winning two out of three from its competitor. The winning of this match is an evidence that the class of bowlers in the Riverton Club is second to none. The two Merion teams are contenders in the Philadelphia Inter-Club league in fact the White team is now leading the league. The games were hard fought and were played before one of the largest crowds that have ever been in the Riverton Club alleys.

Preceding the matches the visitors were entertained for dinner at the club house.

The Story for Boys and Girls

Well, boys and girls, how did you like the opening chapter of our story about Ben Franklin, which started last week? If you did not read it you missed something real. In order to get the whole story better look up last week's copy of your paper and read it now. If you can't find the paper call at the New Era office and the editor will give you one, for he is very anxious that every boy and girl in whose home the New Era goes, shall read this matchless story by Irving Bacheller.

The opening of the story introduces Solomon Binkus, veteran scout and interpreter, and his young companion, Jack Irons, who have set out to warn settlers of an Indian uprising. They rescue from a band of Indians the wife and daughter of an Englishman, and Jack immediately falls in love with the daughter.

This week's installment will tell of a stirring hand to hand contest between the boys and the Indians. Don't miss it!

Mayor Bennett's Car Stolen

While the family of Mayor Killam E. Bennett, of Riverton, were attending an entertainment in Christ Church Thursday night, his car, a Peerless coupe, was stolen from in front of that building. As soon as the theft was discovered a search was begun, but not a trace of the car or the person or persons who committed the crime was found.

Friday morning, when Ray Bowers, of Howard street, Riverton, was on his way to work in Camden, he found the car abandoned at Third and Mickle streets, that city. The car had the gears stripped, but was in no other way damaged.

It is thought that an attempt was first made to get the car of J. Douglas Clark, as it was found stalled at Fourth and Main streets.

Frelinghuysen Not a Candidate for Congress

Upon my return from the South I find that there have been definite indications made in the press throughout the State that I intend to submit my name for the Congressional nomination in the Fourth District of New Jersey, which includes Mercer, Hunterdon and Somerset counties.

While I am deeply interested in the progress of these important counties in the State and to be a Congressman from this district affords great opportunity for service, I have never entertained the thought of pursuing such a political course and have authorized no one to make this statement for me. I am sure that no letter has been written by a member of my family intimating in the slightest degree that I entertained such an ambition.

Philadelphia Police Recover Car Stolen from Palmyra Boy

While G. Harvey Rogers, of Palmyra, and Alexander Cole, of Riverton, were attending a dance at the Rittenhouse Hotel, Philadelphia, Friday night, a Tudor Ford sedan, belonging to young Rogers, was stolen.

On Monday afternoon they received word from the Phila. police department the car had been recovered near Fourth street and Snyder avenue—the section of Philadelphia known as the Neck. Everything recoverable had been returned, a robe and the balloon tires, with which the car was equipped. Mr. Rogers and his father, Freeholder Rogers, are very much pleased with the treatment received at the hands of the Philadelphia police department, which they say is developing into a mighty fine organization, under the directorship of General Butler.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY
To RAYMOND BRAMALL, his heirs, devisees or personal representatives:

This Year— $400,000 Every Month

Every thirty days during 1924 we will add four hundred thousand dollars worth of new telephone equipment in South Jersey.

And we expect to keep up the same pace for the next four or five years.

Extravagance? Far from it!

There is only one reason why we are doing it.

It's because you, the people of Southern New Jersey, are asking for new telephones—more and more new telephones.

We're in the telephone business to give service, when and where you want it.

Here's another thought—more telephones mean a wider service. For every added telephone gives greater power to your telephone.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Solomon Blinck, veteran scout and interpreter, and his young companion, Jack Irons, passing through the Mohawk trail in September, 1783, to warn settlers of an Indian uprising, rescue from a band of redskins the wife and daughter of Colonel Hare of England. Jack and Margaret fall in love. On reaching Fort Stanwix Colonel Hare says both are too young to marry, but that if they are of the same mind after one year he will ask Jack to come to London. The Hare family sail for England, and the Irons family move to Albany.

In a letter Solomon has thus described the incident: "It were a hard o' cutthroat robbers an' runnygades from the Ohio country—Hurons, Algonks an' Mingoes an' all kinds o' cast-off red rubbish with an old Algonk chief of the name o' Spillnose. They stuffed their hides with the meat till they was stiff as a foundered horse. By an' by they was only two that was up an' pawin' around in the stew pot for 'nother bone, lookin' kind o' unsartin an' jaw weary. In a minute they wiped their hands on their hair an' lay back fer rest. They was drunk with the meat, as drunk as a Chinnee after a pipe o' opium. We white men stretched out with the rest on 'em till we see they was all in the land o' nod. Then we ris an' set up a hussle. Hones we could 'a' killed 'em with a hammer. It were done it delib'it. I started to pull the young Huron out o' the bunch. He jumped up very supple. 'He wasn't asleep. He had knowed better than to swallow a yard o' meat."

"What was the wimmen? I knowed that a part o' the band would be back in the bush with them 'ere wimmen. I'd seed suthin' in the trail over by the drowned lands that looked kind o' nervous. It were like the end o' a wooden leg with an iron ring at the bottom an' considerable weight on it. An Injun wouldn't have a wooden leg, leastways not one with an iron ring at the butt. My ol' thinker had been chavin' that cud all day an' o' a sudden it come to me that a white man were runnin' the hull crew. That's how I gained ground with the red scout. I took him out in the alidge o' the bush an' sez I:

"'What's yer name?'
"Buckeye, sez he.
"Who's the white man that's with you?
"Mike Harpe."
"Are the white wimmen with him?"
"Yes."
"How many Injuns?"
"Two."
"What's yer signal o' victory?"
"The call o' the moose."
"Now, Buckeye, you come with us," I sez.

"I knowed that the white man were runnin' the hull party an' I fished to git holt o' him. Gid ding his pictur! He'd sent the Injuns on ahead fer to do his dirty work. The Ohio country were full o' robber whelps which I kind o' mistrusted he were one on 'em who had raked up this 'ere band o' runnygades an' gone off fer plunder. We got holt o' most o' their guns very quiet, an' I put John Irons an' two o' his boys an' Peter Bones an' his boy Is'el an' the two women with loaded guns on guard over 'em. If any on 'em woke up they was to ride the nightmare or lay still. Jack an' me an' Buckeye sneaked back up the trail fer 'bout twenty rods with our guns, an' then I told the young Injun to shoot off the moose call. Well, sir, ye could 'a' heard it from Albany to Wing's falls. The answer come an' I sez:

jest as I 'spected, 'twere within a quarter o' a mile. I put Jack erbout fifty feet further up the trail than I were, an' Buckeye high him, an' tel 'em what to do. We sketched down in the bushes an' heard 'em comin'! Furdy soon they hove in sight—two Injuns, the two wimmen captives an' a white man—the wust-lookin' bulldog brute that I ever seen—stampin' erlong lively on a wooden leg, with a gun an' a cask. He had a broad head an' a big low mouth an' thick lips an' a long, red, warty nose an' small black eyes an' a growth o' beard that looked like hog's bristles. He were stout built. Stood 'bout five foot seven. Never see sich a sight in my life. I hopped out afore 'em an' Jack an' Buckeye on their heels. The Injun had my ol' hanger.

"Drop yer guns," says I.
"The white man done as he was told. I spoke English an' mebbe them two Injuns didn't understand me. We'll never know. Ol' Red Snout leaned over to pick up his gun, an' he'd made up his mind to fight. Jack grabbed him. He were stout as a lion an' tore 'way from the boy an' started to pullin' a long knife out o' his bootleg. Jack didn't give him time. They had it hammer an' tongs. Red Snout were a reg'lar fightin' man. He jest stuck that 'ere stump in the ground an' braced ag'in it an' kep' a-slashin' an' tabbin' with his club cane an' yellin' an' cussin' like a fiend o' hell. He knocked the boy down an' I reckon he'd 'a' mellered his head proper if he'd 'a' been spryer on his pins. But Jack sprung up like he were made o' taly rubber. The bulldog devil had drawn his long knife. Jack were smart. He hopped behind a tree. Buckeye, who hadn't no gun, was tumpin' fer cover. The peg-leg cuss swore a blue streak an' flung the knife at him. It went clear through his body an' he fell on his face an' me standin' 'thar loadin' my gun. I didn't know but he'd killed us all. But Jack had just as I 'spected, 'twere within a quarter o' a mile. I put Jack erbout fifty feet further up the trail than I were, an' Buckeye high him, an' tel 'em what to do. But Jack had jumped on him 'fore he got holt o' the knife ag'in.

"I thought sure he'd floor the boy an' me not quite loaded, but Jack were spy as a rat ferrier. He dodged an' rushed in an' grabbed holt o' the club an' fetched the cuss a whack in the paunch with his bare fist, an' ol' Red Snout went down like a steer under the ax.
"Look out! there's 'nother man comin', the young wimmen hollered.
"She needn't 'a' tuk the trouble 'cause afore she spoke I were lookin' at him through the sight o' my ol' Marier, which I'd managed to git it loaded ag'in. He were runnin' towards me. He tuk jest one more step, if I don't make no mistake.
"The ol' brute that Jack had knocked down quivered an' lay still a minit an' when he come to, we turned him around an' started him toward Canady an' tel 'him to keep a-goin'! When he were 'bout ten rods off, I put a bullet in his ol' wooden leg fer to hurry him erlong. So the wust man-killer that ever trod dirt got erway from us with only a sore belly, we never knowin' who he were. I wish I'd 'a' killed the cuss, but as 'twere, we had considerable trouble on our hands. Right erway we heard two guns go off over by the house. I knowed that our firin' had prob'ly woke some o' the sleepers. We pounded the ground an' got thar as quick as we could. The two wimmen wa'n't far behind. They didn't calculate to lose us—you hear to me. Two young braves had sprung up an' been told to lie down ag'in. But the English language ain't no help to an Injun under them circumstances. They don't understand it an' thar ain't no time when ignorance is more costly. They was some others awake, but they had learnt suthin'. They was keepin' quiet, an' I sez to 'em:

"If ye lay still ye'll be safe. We won't do ye a bit o' harm. You've got in bad comp'ny, but ye ain't done nothin' but steal a pair o' wimmen. If ye behave proper from now on, ye'll be sent hum."

"We didn't have no more trouble with them. I put one o' Boneses' boys on a horse an' hustled him up the valley fer help. The wimmen captives was bawlin'. I tol 'em to straighten out their faces an' go with Jack an' his father down to Fort Stanwix. They were kind o' leg weary an' excited, but they hadn't been hurt yit. Another day or two would 'a' fixed 'em. Jack an' his father an' mother tuk 'em back to the pastur', an' Jack run up to the hars fer ropes an' bridles. In a little while they got some boots under 'em an' picked up the children an' toddled off. I went out in the bush to find Buckeye an' he were dead as the whale that swallowed Jonah."

So ends the letter of Solomon Blinck.
Jack Irons and his family and that of Peter Bones—the boys and girls riding two on a horse—with the captives filed down the Mohawk trail. It was a considerable cavalcade of twenty-one people and twenty-four horses and colts, the latter following.
Solomon Blinck and Peter Bones and his son Isreal stood on guard until the boy John Bones returned with help from the upper valley. A dozen men and boys completed the disarming of the band and that evening set out with them on the south trail.

It is doubtful if this history would have been written but for an accidental and highly interesting circumstance. In the first party young Jack Irons rode a colt, just broken, with the girl captive, now happily released. The boy had helped everyone to get away; then there seemed to be no rideable horse for him. He walked for a distance by the stranger's mount as the latter was wild. The girl was silent for a time after the colt had settled down, now and then wiping tears from her eyes. By and by she asked:
"May I lead the colt while you ride?"
"Oh, no, I am not tired," was his answer.
"I want to do something for you."
"Why?"
"I am so grateful. I feel like the king's cat. I am trying to express my feelings. I think I know, now, why the Indian women do the drudgery."

As she looked at him her dark eyes were very serious.
"I have done little," said he. "It is Mr. Blinck who rescued you. We live in a wild country among savages and the white folks have to protect each other. We've used to it."
"I never saw or expected to see men like you," she went on. "I have read of them in books, but I never hoped to see them and talk to them. You are like Ajax and Achilles."

"Then I shall say that you are like the fair lady for whom they fought."
"I will not ride and see you walking."
"Then sit forward as far as you can and I will ride with you," he answered.
In a moment he was on the colt's back behind her. She was a comely maiden. An authority no less respectable than Major Duncan has written that she was a tall, well-shaped, fun-loving girl a little past sixteen and good to look upon, "with dark eyes and auburn hair, the latter long and heavy and in the sunlight richly colored"; that she had slender fingers and a beautiful skin, all showing that she had been delicately bred. He adds that he envied the boy who had ridden before and behind her half the length of Tryon county.
It was a close association and Jack found it so agreeable that he often referred to that ride as the most exciting adventure of his life.
"What is your name?" he asked.
"Margaret Hare," she answered.
"How did they catch you?"
"Oh, they came suddenly and stealthily, as they do in the story books, when we were alone in camp. Mr father and the guides had gone out to hunt."

"And so forth and so on," this funny sign means. Against which the boy so comfortably leans.

Find these three boys. Upper right corner down, on trousers; lower right corner down, on blouse; and, upper right corner down, on blouse.

THE PORCH CLUB PLAYS

Description by Former Riverton School Girl Now Attending Palmyra High

The Porch Club gave three one-act plays on Thursday, February 21, at the parish house. They were all very good ones and very well done. The first one, called "Joint Owners in Spain," was many years ago and the characters all had old-fashioned dresses. The scene was laid in a bedroom of an old ladies' home. The characters were:
Mrs. Mitchell — Miss Cornelia Coale
Mrs. Fullerton — Mrs. Howard Coe
Miss Dyer — Mrs. J. Douglas Clark
Mrs. Blair — Miss Gail Ellsworth
When the curtain rose, Miss Dyer was rocking and knitting as hard as she could. Mrs. Fullerton had a room with her but couldn't stand her, so left.

Miss Dyer and Mrs. Blair did not get along very well either. They made a partition of a chalk line in the middle of the room. After that they were very pleasant to each other. The play ended by Mrs. Mitchell taking them both for a sleigh ride. During the intermission Mrs. Becker played the piano. The second play was called "Suppressed Desires." The characters were:
Henrietta Brewster.

Miss Gail Ellsworth
Stephen Brewster — Victor Ritschard
Mabel — Mrs. Arthur F. Coe
The scene opened when Mr. and Mrs. Brewster and Mabel were at breakfast. Mr. Brewster had had troubled dreams for the last few nights. Mabel dreamed the night before, that she was a hen. Mr. Brewster seemed nervous and could never put his mind to anything. Mrs. Brewster wanted both Mabel and Mr. Brewster to go to Dr. Russell, who was a famous nerve doctor. Mabel broke a dish, mixed her name with someone else's and dreamed that she was a hen. Mr. Brewster went to Dr. Russell without Mrs. Brewster knowing it.

Scene two—A period of two weeks is supposed to have elapsed between first and second scene.
The Brewsters had a book called "Psycho-Analysis" which they consulted all the time. Mr. Brewster told his wife that he had been to see Dr. Russell. Dr. Russell told him that his suppressed desire was to leave Mrs. Brewster. She believed it because she thought every thing Dr. Russell said was true.

Mabel also had been, and her suppressed desire was to marry Stephen Brewster. She also found out why she dreamed that she was a hen. When she was young, she pronounced the word Stephen, s-i-e-p, step, h-e-n, hen. And the last name you have to say b separately, so it would be brewster.
The play ended by the Brewsters throwing away Psycho-analysis and deciding not to bother about their "suppressed desires."

The third play called "The Florist Shop" was very funny all the way through.
The scene was a florist shop with flowers all around. The characters were:
Maude, a shop girl
Mrs. J. Douglas Clark
Henry, an errand boy
Mr. Slovisky, proprietor of florist shop
Mercer Shreve
Miss Wells — Mrs. Howard Coe
Miss Jackson — Gardner Crowell

Maude was the flapper type shop girl. Slovisky's did not do a good deal of business and Mabel attended to everything.
Miss Wells was a regular customer. She had been engaged to Mr. Jackson for fifteen years.
Mabel always sent people flowers, that she thought would buy at Slovisky's. She sent Miss Wells a bunch of orchids and said another young man had sent them. As the orchids were expensive, Mr. Slovisky "fired" her. Everytime she started to leave, a customer would come in or the phone ring.

Mr. Jackson had seen Miss Wells with the orchids on and didn't like her to wear them. So Mr. Jackson decided to marry her. They ordered their flowers from Slovisky's.
Mr. Slovisky saw his mistake in firing Mabel, so he said she could stay. Mabel stayed and they received a large order of flowers for a wedding.

The Chinaman

The following paper was written from memory by a Riverton school girl who read or heard the story a long time ago.
Does any boy or girl know in what book it was printed?

Long, long ago in China an old man lived with his wife in a small house in Hong-Kong.
One day as the man was walking along a crowded Chinese street, he noticed a small round object lying on the ground. He picked it up and exclaimed "A picture of my own father!"

Mirrors were unheard of in those days so of course the old man thought it was a picture.
He took it home and kept it in his room in a large vase. Every few minutes he would go in and look at this mirror.
His wife noticed that he was acting very queer, so she decided to watch him. She saw him go in the room and take something out of the vase and study it for a long time.

This roused her curiosity and she determined to find out what it was. So after he had gone out, she went into the room and took the mirror.
She saw this hideous face of a woman and exclaimed "Ah! a picture of a woman and an ugly woman at that!"

She grew very angry and the face in the mirror became uglier.
She decided not to prepare his dinner that night.

When he came home he went straight to his room and as he was coming out he asked if dinner was ready.
Then a heated argument followed. It happened that a priest was passing and he heard them and came in to try to settle the quarrel.

They told him the trouble and he asked to see the picture.
He looked at it awhile then said, "You are both in the wrong. This is only the picture of a saintly priest. I do not know how you could have mistaken such a holy face." He took the mirror to a church and kept it in the treasury.

A Card of Character

A Card is much like a man, after all! The more character, the more power he has. The more character in your card, the more power it has.

The Peerless Patent Book-form Card

has more character than any card you have ever heard of before! It can be beautifully engraved, or it can be neatly printed, as the user desires. It is necessarily always clean, because of the binding in book form with tissue paper between each card, and the book form also keeps it from becoming wrinkled or crumpled. Besides it is always "right there" when you need it.

Can you think of more character for a card?

These cases come in four sizes with cards to fit.

SILZER URGES SCHOOL SURVEY

Governor in an Address Delivered in Person Calls on Legislature to Aid in Education Reform.

COMMISSION OF 9 EXPERTS

Save Millions in Taxes from Port Authority—Agree to Have Bills Amended—Pass Bible Bill Amid Uproar.

Trenton.—Governor George S. Silzer in an address to a joint session of the New Jersey Legislature recommended that he be authorized to appoint a committee of nine to make a survey of the entire state educational system. Requesting an appropriation of $75,000 so that the committee might obtain expert advice the Governor declared this a small amount in consideration of the fact that the annual expenditure for education is $48,000,000. A legislative commission was not suggested, the Governor said, because it was not fair to ask members of the Legislature to make further sacrifice.

Pointing to the fact that for thirteen years there had been no investigation of the school system, the Governor asserted that the time had arrived when a thorough survey should be made of the entire system.

Too Many "Fads and Frills" During the last few years, he asserted, numerous criticisms were made that too much time is spent upon "fads and frills," and not enough upon fundamentals. Opportunity for investigation by the State Board of Education was declared limited because of lack of money, time and power.

Referring to specific instances the Governor said that of 298 high school graduates who took an examination for admission to a state normal school, ninety-eight failed; and that at another examination seventy had failed out of 129. Mention was made of seventeen normal school graduates who took an examination to teach in the schools at Irvington and of the fact that but one had passed the test. Indicating in part the scope of the investigation recommended, the Governor questioned whether the $600,000 expended yearly for medical inspection was spent wisely; whether educational laws need revising; whether there is uniformity of curriculum and proper progress in preparation of text books. He asked whether normal school terms are long enough and whether there are too many daily subjects for elementary pupils. The functioning of teachers' institutes also was mentioned, as was the segregation of defective children.

"Numerous criticisms are being made of the conduct of our schools and of the results obtained. Whether these are well founded or not I do not know, but I do know that we ought to ascertain."

Talks of Community Phase

The suggestion was made that with an increase of nearly $17,000,000 in five years in the amounts disbursed for school buildings the committee should find out whether the inclusion in school buildings of many features intended more especially for community purposes is correct and advisable. The sources of school income and the method of expending the $46,000,000 annually for schools also should be examined, he said. Whether the present method of conducting the Teachers' Retirement Fund is scientifically accurate and financially sound and whether it expresses the policy which the state should continue was declared within the field of the investigation proposed. The demands and needs for higher education, the governor asserted could not be excluded from a consideration of the question of education.

"In our public administration," said the governor, "we usually adopt the course of least resistance and of least friction—the course of drifting, until we reach a place where we come upon the rocks, or see that we can drift no further. In a matter of such great importance we cannot continue this course. We must adopt the same methods which have built up our large industries and made this country great."

"I do not mean to imply any criticism of those conscientious officers, boards and teachers who give such unselfish and patriotic thought and attention to this work. What I do mean to say is that periodically we must examine ourselves to see whether we are getting the proper results."

Save Millions in Taxes

After a battle before the Judiciary Committee of the Senate over Senate bills 170 and 171, Corporation Counsel John J. Fallon, of Hoboken; Corporation Counsel Thomas J. Brennan, of Jersey City, and Julius Lichtenstein, for the Hoboken Chamber of Commerce, were able to impress on the committee the need of amendments to the bills in order to save tax rates not only to Hudson county municipalities but to all others in this State within the Port Authority district.

The bills are designed to confer upon the Port Authority power to condemn the "use" of railroads within the area so as to effect a co-ordination of service to the end that shippers—and consumers—will be able to effect economies that will be important in lowering the cost of food and materials.

The measures were opposed by representatives of railroads that will be affected by the grant of power. They gave the impression that the bills contemplated the condemnation of the property and title to the railroads and not the "use" only. This was contradicted by Julius H. Cohen, counsel for the Port of New York Authority.

Hoboken and Jersey City were antagonistic to the bills in their original form because they threatened to take away millions of dollars of tax rates. Last week Mr. Fallon and Mr. Cohen got together and Mr. Fallon finally drafted an amendment, agreed to by Mr. Brogan and accepted by Mr. Cohen, that is designed to insure the rights of the municipalities to taxes from any properties which the Port Authority may acquire in this State.

Mr. Brogan, during the discussion, brought up the possibility that, inasmuch as Congress was a party to the Port Authority compact between the States, the property might acquire a Federal status and therefore would not be subject to taxation. Railroad property under the Port Authority would then be in the same status as the piers in Hoboken which were taken over by the war department. To avoid this it was suggested that Congress be requested to pass a special act to permit taxation of Port Authority property.

Another possible course proposed was for the Port Authority, if it secured control of any property, to enter into an agreement to pay a bulk sum in lieu of taxes. It is probable the committee will adopt the amendment of Mr. Fallon and will amend the bills subject to similar action by the New York Legislature and by Congress.

Allen Strong, counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad, proposed that the Port Authority be required to secure ratification of all details of its plan from the Legislature before condemning any property. He also said Hoboken had good reason to oppose the bill because of the danger that railroads would be taken out of the tax rates.

Albert C. Wall for the Hoboken Land and Improvement Company said that corporation owned $15,000,000 of Hoboken's tax rates. Railroads represented $16,000,000 more of rates which might be lost to the municipality.

Mr. Brogan pointed out that the great waterfront properties of Jersey City would be endangered. He said grave question existed whether property of the Port Authority could be taxed.

Senator Richards inquired if it was not true that any property the Port Authority took would be free of taxation. Mr. Brogan said this was probably true. Mr. Richards suggested that railroads might sometime find it to their advantage to consolidate and sell out to the Port Authority and would thereby escape taxation.

Mr. Lichtenstein, speaking for the Hoboken Chamber of Commerce, submitted the amendment prepared by Mr. Fallon, which would protect the taxables so far as the municipalities go.

Mr. Cohen gave assurance that the policy of the Port Authority was to protect the taxes of the municipalities. He said that while nothing in the law specifically freed the Port Authority of taxation he was impressed by the thought of Mr. Brogan that participation of Congress in the treaty might give a Federal status to the Port Authority. If that were true, he decided, so far as the States are concerned no action either New Jersey or New York could take would operate to negative the aspect of the Port Authority as a Federal agency. Later on Mr. Cohen said he would be willing to have Congress enact a law to make the Port Authority liable for taxes.

Mr. Cohen indicated that the Port Authority planned to construct great piers in Hoboken. This would have to be done by the Authority's own financing and the financing might be affected by the question of taxes.

He said the object of legislation needed was to "define" tax relations between the Port Authority and the municipality.

In response to a question by Senator Case, Mr. Cohen said he accepted the amendment proposed by Mr. Fallon. He said he and Mr. Fallon worked three days on the amendment. He drafted one and submitted it to Mr. Fallon but the latter changed it so that the language was now Mr. Fallon's.

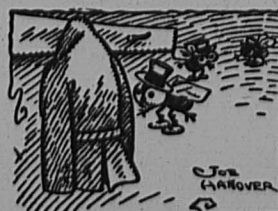

Dealing with opposition from the railroads, Mr. Cohen said that the proposed Port Authority line would save money to consumers. He said railroads are shifting freight 170 miles to reach points only five miles apart. He criticized the Lehigh Valley and Lackawanna railroads for refusing to co-operate with the Port Authority.

Incidental to questions by Senator Case, Mr. Cohen declared he had no doubt the Port Authority now possesses power and eminent domain but some legislators had doubts on the point.

He said Hoboken and the Hoboken Land Company had frankly gone to the Port Authority with difficulties so as to attain harmony of action but the railroads seemed absolutely opposed and wanted the bills killed in their entirety.

Mr. Cohen said incidentally that the Port Authority could not effectuate its plans without years of legislation if the railroads took up an attitude of opposition. He pointed out that the Port Authority could operate only within the scope of the plan that has already been accepted by both States and ratified by Congress. The bills, he said, would prevent litigation.

Dawning of Hope

A well-known man was addressing the inmates of a lunatic asylum, says the Tattler, and after he had been speaking to them for perhaps three quarters of an hour one of the inmates got up and walked out of the hall. The speaker said to the superintendent that he hoped he had not hurt anyone's feelings.

"Oh, not at all," replied the superintendent; "that man has been here for 20 years, and this is the first sign of intelligence he has shown yet."—Youth's Companion.

"What do you mean?" "They send us governors whom we do not like; they make laws for us which we have to obey; they impose hard taxes which are not just and they will not let us have a word to say about it."

"I think it is wrong and I'm going to stand up for you," the girl answered.

"Where do you live?" he asked.

"In London. I am an English girl, but please do not hate me for that. I want to do what is right and I shall never let anyone say a word against Americans without taking their part."

"That's good," the boy answered.

"I'd love to go to London."

"Well, why don't you?"

"It's a long way off."

"Do you like good-looking girls?"

"I'd rather look at them than eat."

"Well, there are many in London."

"One is enough," said Jack.

"I'd love to show them a real hero."

"Don't call me that. If you would just call me Jack I'd like it better. But first you'll want to know how I behave. I am not a fighter."

"I am sure that your character is as good as your face."

"Goah! I hope it ain't so dark colored," said Jack.

"I knew all about you when you took my hand and helped me on the pony—or nearly all. You are a gentleman."

"I hope so."

"Are you a Presbyterian?"

"No—Church of England."

"I was sure of that. I have seen Indians and Shakers, but I have never seen a Presbyterian."

When the sun was low and the company ahead were stopping to make a camp for the night, the boy and girl dismounted. She turned facing him and asked:

"You didn't mean it when you said that I was good-looking—did you?"

"Too beautiful youth had imagination and, like many lads of his time, a romantic temperament and the love of poetry. There were many books in his father's home and the boy had lived his leisure in them. He thought a moment and answered:

"Yes, I think you are as beautiful as a young doe playing in the water lilies."

"And you look as if you believed yourself," said she. "I am sure you would like me better if I were fixed up a little."

"I do not think so."

"How much better a boy's head looks with his hair cut close like yours. Our boys have long hair. They do not look so much like—men."

"Long hair is not for rough work in the bush," the boy remarked.

"You really look brave and strong. One would know that you could do things."

"I've always had to do things."

They came up to the party, who had stepped to camp for the night. It was a clear, warm evening. After they had hobbled the horses in a near meadow flat, Jack and his father made a lean-to for the women and children and roofed it with bark. Then they cut wood and built a fire and gathered boughs for bedding. Later, tea was made and beefsteaks and bacon grilled on spits of green birch, the dripping fat being caught on slices of toasting bread whereon the meat was presently served.

The masterful power with which the stalwart youth and his father swung the ax and their cunning craftsmanship impressed the English woman and her daughter and were soon to be the topic of many a London tea party. Mrs. Hare spoke of it as she was eating her supper.

"I am surprised you further to learn that the boy is fairly familiar with the Aeneid and the Odes of Horace and the history of France and England," said John Irons.

"That is the most astonishing thing I have ever heard!" she exclaimed. "How has he done it?"

"The minister was his master until we went into the bush. Then I had to be farmer and school-teacher. There is a great thirst for learning in this New World."

"How do you find time for it?"

"Oh, we have leisure here—more than you have. In England even your wealthy young men are overworked. They dine out and play cards until three in the morning and sleep until midday. Then luncheon and the cock-fight and tea and parliament! The best of us have only three steady habits. We work and study and sleep."

"And fight savages," said the woman.

"We do that, sometimes, but it is not often necessary. If it were not for white savages, there would be no red ones. You would find America a good country to live in."

"At least I hope it will be good to sleep in this night," the woman answered, yawning. "Dreamland is now the only country I care for."

The ladies and children, being near spent by the day's travel and excitement, turned in soon after supper. The men slept on their blankets, by the fire, and were up before daylight for a dip in the creek near by. While they were getting breakfast, the women and children had their turn at the creek-side.

RADIO

(Edited by G. Douglas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising.)

How to Avoid Trouble

From Rain Down Lead-In

Most radio men using outside aerials have experienced trouble in preventing the grounding of the antenna in wet weather by rain running down the lead-in. The shield shown in the diagram will assist in avoiding this trouble.

Often Rain Trickles Through Antenna Lead-In Insulator and Reduces the Efficiency When Transmitting. This Shield Will Prevent Trouble.

The funnel is an ordinary one such as that used by garages for pouring oil or gas into a car. A cork is obtained which will fit in the top of the funnel from the inside. The aerial lead-in is brought through the funnel and a hole made through the middle of the cork. The cork is pushed tightly up into the funnel, and the end of the funnel is about one-quarter filled with sealing-wax to make it water tight and free from wobble.

Functions of Parts of Radio Receiving Sets

Antenna—Converts radio waves into an alternating current of high frequency.

Inductance coil—Together with the antenna forms a circuit which can be tuned to respond to the incoming radio wave.

Series condenser—Shortens the period in which the antenna responds. Inductance (secondary)—Provides rough tuning of the desired wave.

"A" battery—Provides current to heat the filaments of the tubes.

"B" battery—Supplies current through the tube between plate and filament.

Rheostat—Provides means of regulating the current to the filaments of tubes.

Telephone—Converts the electrical currents into audible sound.

Ticker—Feeds the effect of the current in the plate circuit back into the grid circuit to be reamplified.

Grid leak and condenser—Adjusts voltage on the grid to a value giving sensitive action of tube as detector.

Potentiometer—Provides fine adjustment of plate voltage.

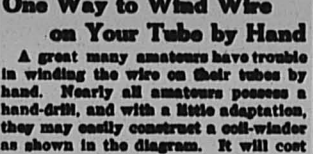

Telephone condenser—Provides path for radio frequencies that is much easier than through the telephone.

Amplifier tube—Converts the small power and voltages applied to the grid into larger voltages and power at the plate.

Amplifier transformer—Converts the small voltages applied to the input side into larger voltages at the output side.

One Way to Wind Wire

A great many amateurs have trouble in winding the wire on their tubes by hand. Nearly all amateurs possess a hand-drill, and with a little adaptation, they may easily construct a coil-winder as shown in the diagram. It will cost only about 15 cents and will save considerable time and trouble and add to the appearance of the finished coil.

The two end pieces are adjustable in order that different lengths of coils may be wound. The tape are taken off from the inside of the tube while winding.

Drilling Panels.

When working on hard insulating panels it will pay to be careful in selecting drills for making the holes.

Drills that are intended for boring metal should be used. If wood drills are used they will soon be rendered useless by hard material and will have to be discarded.

When using a metal drill do not work it too fast, for the reason that it will heat up and in some cases it will have the temper drawn out of it.

ORIGIN OF FLOWERS' NAMES

Great Many Blooms Bear Names Taken From Human Beings.

A great many of the flowers so well beloved bear names taken from human beings and are recorded in classic legends. Take for instance the hyacinth and narcissus. "Hyacinthus" was beloved by Zephyrus, but returned the affection so coldly that the latter, in anger, threw the quail (flung by Apollo) so that it hit Hyacinthus on the head, causing his death.

In his grief Apollo changed the youth's blood into a flower. Narcissus, according to one legend, fell in love with his own image as he saw it reflected in water, mistaking it for the nymph of the fountain. He pined away and died of unrequited love. The flower bloomed from the place where he languished. Crocus is the Greek "Krokos," saffron, to which family it belongs. Saffron is made from the dried stigmata of the purple crocus. The jonquil gets its name from the Latin word for a "rush," which has similar leaves and flowers.

Defining an Orator.

A negro met an acquaintance of his on the street and was surprised to see that his friend had on a new suit, new hat, new shoes and other evidences of prosperity.

"Hey, boy," he said, "how come you dressed up this way? Is you got a job?"

"I've got somethin' better'n any job," replied the other, "I've got a profession."

"What is it?"

"I'm an orator."

If you was to walk up to a ordinary coon and ask him how much was two and two, he'd say 'four'; but if you was to ask one of us orators how much was two and two, he'd say: 'When in de course of human events it becomes necessary to take de numeral of de second de-nomination and add it to de figure two, I says unto you and I says it without fear of successful contradiction, dat de result will inavaly be four.' Dat's a orator."—Judge.

Might Delay the Train.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohen visited London for the first time by excursion train. They had been instructed that the return tickets were available only on the train due to leave London at 4:35 p. m.

After visiting the principal places of interest, Cohen suggested that it was time they started for the station.

"Wait a few minutes," said his wife.

"Ve have no time to lose," argued Cohen.

"How would ve look if ve arrived a few minutes late and found dot dey had to keep a trainload of pipples waiting ju for us? Goodness! Ve'd never hear de end of it!"

Cure Was Worst Than Pain.

A cashier at a bank turned up looking pale and haggard.

"What's wrong, old chap?" inquired one of his colleagues.

"Toothache," groaned the other, "hadn't a wink of sleep all night."

"Ah," said his colleague, sagely, "you should try the Ooze system. Just repeat to yourself fifty times every day, 'Get behind me, pain.'"

"Not likely," snapped the sufferer, angrily. "De you think I want lun-bago?"

EASY CREDIT TERMS

IN ORDER TO PLACE THE VICTOR ADDING MACHINE within the easy reach of every business man and woman, the terms have been arranged so easy that it practically amounts to rental—and in a few months you own the machine.

In the meantime you have been insured against loss by reason of errors in your accounts.

F. O. B. Chicago

By the law of averages, every business man whose gross income is $5000 a year, stands one chance in five of making errors in addition that would more than equal the cost of a Victor.

Can you afford to take this chance?

But one that portends much for the future health of Riverside and vicinity. The name of Dr. Frye has become famous, and in hundreds of homes revered throughout Burlington County, for the almost miraculous cures made by his CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS.

During his three years of practice in Philadelphia and Burlington County, Dr. Frye has adjusted more than 3,000 patients, and the good that he has done the community is attested by the hundreds who visit his different offices weekly. The general demand of his Riverside patients that he open offices where it will be more convenient for them and their friends to be adjusted is the main reason for opening his Riverside Branch at man who has helped so many of his fellow men, even though you have no immediate need of Spinal Adjustments, you will be welcomed and the Philosophy of CHIROPRACTIC will be fully explained to you.

Joseph Building, 11 Scott Street, Riverside

YOU ARE INVITED

Dr. Frye does not lay claim to being a "Miracle Man" as so many of his patients insist on terming him, but attributes every atom of success which he has had to his science — CHIROPRACTIC.

CHIROPRACTIC has worked wonders in the condition of others! If you are ailing there is no reason why it will not do the same for you. At least give Dr. Frye an opportunity to demonstrate that it can be done. He uses no instruments, no lotions, no electricity, nothing but the bare hands, with which he adjusts the misplaced vertebrae of the spine, relieving any pressure on the nerves, thus allowing the latter to function fully.

By this Chiropractor to visit his suite of offices during his office hours, which are every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, from 7 to 8 p.m.; Saturday afternoon, 3 to 4. This means every man, woman and child in Riverside and vicinity should make it a point to call and meet the but, then, when we put on our thick, long-lasting soles and heels, boys will wear their shoes so much longer and save you a lot of shoe money. Our soles and heels actually last longer than the original factory materials—they almost outlast the uppers. And the boys are grateful, too, for strong soles and heels.
