Fire Company Will Parade

Councilman Lynch presented two-requests from the Riverton fire company to take the fire truck out of town for parade and exhibition purpose. One occasion was a contest the Burlington County Firemen's parade to be held at Burlington October. St. Councilman Showell said that as chairman of the fire and water committee, and in conformity with the was opposed to leaving the borough without fire protection. Councilman Lynch and Williams expressed themselves in favor of letting the boys participate in the county parade. Councilman Geiss said every other without fire protection and offered as the county of the county o

Mr. Showell brought up the matter of the proposed sewer disposal plant. He said he had never seen the plans, though he is now chairman of that committee. He had heard about them, he said from the Mayor and an ex-councilman, but had never seen them. None of the original members of this committee are now serving in Council Mr. Showell said. Mr. Sleeper said the plans had been approved by the State Board of Health several years ago, but since that time had ordered several changes made, and the work had never been fully completed along the new lines laid down by the board. He said that he would complete the plans and meet with the members of council some night other than a regular council meeting night, to go over them and explain the project as now contem-

Whole Council on Sewer Committee
Councilman Geiss said that in so important an undertaking, involving the expenditure of so large a sum of the taxpayers' money, he thought the whole council should share in every step of the work from now on, and offered a motion that the mayor appoint all the councilmen as members of the sewer committee. The motion was unanimously carried, and the mayor immediately made the appointment.

Geiss Proposes Another Site for Disposal Plant

An expression of surprise passed over the faces of his fellowmembers when Mr. Geiss asked the mayor if the condemnation proceedings to secure the land from the Dreer estate for the sewer disposal plant had gone so far that they could not be stopped. When the mayor replied that they had not, Mr. Geiss recommended that before going any further it might be advisable to look into the feasibility of locating the plant on the point of land belonging to Dreer's and located at the junction of the Delaware river and Pompeston creek. This location would reduce the amount of pumping necessary, in Mr. Geiss's opinion, and also make a material saving in construction. Mr. Sleeper said there would be a slight saving in the initial cost—possibly $5000. Many sites had been considered, continued Mr. Sleeper, and the refreshments which the entertainment committee will provide door "Bum" Way to Atlantic City

Mr. Earp said the streets should have been kept up, instead of being allowed to run down to such an extent that it is now necessary to virtually rebuild them. Mr. Lynch said that the roadway on Thomas avenue above the railroad, which was the pride of the borough when it was built had been worn down to a depth of five or six inches, until now there was not much left of it to repair. Mr. Earp called attention to Park street, in the said, was fast going to pieces. Mr. Lynch said he would scarify this street and roll it—that it was of no use to do much more than that until the Country Club was ready to put in curbs.

Chief Beck Outspeeds Motor Boat

Palmyra's Chief of Police, C. Morris Beck, went gunning for pirates Sunday and demonstrated that the police car can outrun a motor boat any time it's given a fair chance. Sunday Morry received an urgent call from Michael O'Donnell, a farner at Fork Landing, to the effect that two men in a motor boat were stealing peaches off his farm and had threatened him when he tried to stop them.

The Chief drove out to the farm in a hurry, but by that time the river pirates had started down the Pensauken. He then dashed to the Sorrel Horse bridge just in time to steethem disappearing around the bend. But there were still more bridges which would offer a vantage point to a pursuer, so Morry sped on to the River Road bridge in West Palmyra-This time he arrived ahead of the poachers. When he blew his whistle for them to stop they merely put on more speed, but when he unlimbered his big forty-four and threatened to blow their craft full of holes the boatmen made haste to heave to, throwing overboard their stolen peaches and also some elder berries they had picked.

It was two much chastened men that Morry encountered on the bank of the Pensauken. Although they had been threatening and abusive to O'Donnell, they begged for mercy when caught, and O'Donnell was content to let them off with the scare they had received.

The two men gave their names as George Rosenberg, of Bridesburg, and Dan Zimmerman, of Philadelphia.

Mt. Holly Hotel Sold

The Mill street hotel property, one of Mount Holly's landmarks, was sold by commissioners on Friday to baker Fred Schmidt for $5,000. Mr. Schmidt does not state what he proposes to do with the property. The hotel belonged to the estate of Frederick Parker and was sold under partition proceedings. For several months it has been padlocked because Mrs. Parker disregarded the prohibition laws.

JEBUS HEALS A NOBLEMAN'S SON

LESSON TEXT—John 4:46-54.
GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the way, the truth, and the life."—John 14:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Heals PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Heals a No-JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Heals a Nobleman's Son.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIO—Belief in Jesus—What It Has Done

The glorious revival among the Samaritans being over, Jesus, with heart yearning for His countrymen, goes back into Galilee. When He began His work there it was not appreciated as it should have been. His own testimony is that a prophet hath no honor in his own country. Having made a reputation elsewhere He now came back to them.

testimony is that a prophet hath no honor in his own country. Having made a reputation elsewhere He now came back to them.

1. The Nobleman's Earnest Pisa (vv. 46, 47). This father's heart was in deep anguish because of the critical illness of his son, but he had the good sense to go to Jesus in his distress. Parents should eagerly bring their children to the Great Physician. This affliction was used to bring him to Jesus. Many do not think of Jesus until overwhelmed with grief and distress. It is need that always brings men to Jesus. Even when human physicians fall the case is not hopeless, for there is no case too hard for Christ and there is no disease too difficult nor sorrow too great but relief can be found in Him. This is true of our physical ills, but it is pre-eminently true of our souls. We see here that a rich and influential man is in distress, showing that the rich and exalted are no more exempt from afflictions and anxiety than are the poor. Cares and trouble come to all alike. The young are liable to disease and death as are the old. This nobleman learned of Jesus through the testimony of another (v. 47). Had not some one told him about Jesus he would not have called upon the Lord some one must tell them about Him (Rom. 10:14, 15).

11. The Testing of the Nobleman's Faith (vv. 48, 49).

In his experience we find an illustration of the development of belief. He had faith, but not an intelligent faith. Before help could be given his attitude of mind must be changed. Jesus declared, "Except ye see signs and wonders. Faith (vv. 48, 49).

In his experience we find an illustration of the development of belief. He had faith, but not an intelligent faith. Before help could be given his attitude of mind must be changed. Jesus declared, "Except ye see signs and wonders. The man needed something more than the healing of his son. He must needs know Christ as Savior as well as Healer. He did not allow himself to be put off, but insistently demanded, "Sir, come down ere my chill dile." This shows that he was n

This shows that he was now willing to make any experiment to save his boy. His very impotency forced him to lay hold spon the Lord. Jesus desired this man to possess a faith which was based upon His naked word, not mere signs and wonders. The way of Jesus is to first reveal Himself as a Savior and then as a Healer.

III. The Nobleman's Faith Victorious (vr. 50-54).

III. The Nobleman's Faith Victorious (vv. 50-54).

Through his testing he passed with good advantage. He is now rendy to receive the Lord's own word, "Go thy way; thy son liveth." These words created true faith and the man stepped out upon them. Because he believed the words that Jesus spoke unto him he went his way. Faith increases in brightness the longer it is exercised. The foundation upon which he reposed his faith was the words of Jesus. On his return his faith met with confirmation. His servant met him and told him that his son was alive. Upon inquiry he found that the recovery of his son was from the very hour in which Jesus spake the words. This was such an unmistakable evidence of the delty of Jesus that not only the nobleman, but his household, was won for Christ. This affords us an example of the beauty of household religion. May we all learn that the words of Jesus are reliable. That which He promises is just as sure as though it had already come to pass. The salvation of the one is just as sure as though it had already come to pass. The salvation of the one who believes in Jesus is just as sure as though he had been in heaven and seen his name in the Book of Life. Anxiety for the son brought salvation to the whole house.

HEALTH AND THE WEATHER DR. PREDERICK R. GREEN Editor of "HEALTH"

WHAT has the weather to do with health?

WHAT has the weather to do with health?

A great deal, if we can believe old Uncle Andy, who says that he can always tell "when a bad spell of weather is brewing" by the pain in his back.

This is very convincing to the old man, but not as satisfactory as the weather bureau bulletina.

But is there any real connection between the weather and health?

Without a doubt some climates are much more healthful than others, although actual mortality satisfies show a remarkable uniformity in different parts of the country.

Most of our ideas on this subject have been based on personal experiences or prejudices. Little careful study of the relation between atmospheric conditions and health has ever been made.

The New York city weather department, in co-operation with the life insurance companies, has been making an investigation of the relation between the weather and the number of deaths in New York. The six years from 1883 to 1888 were taken because the material for this period was complete and available.

Comparison of the weather reports and the death reports shows that on days of a medium temperature. Very lot is treased to be a subject to the material for this period was complete and available.

Prohibition Morality

After observing the evil effects of intemperate drinking in Europe, S. Edgar Nicholson returned to tell the Western Vearly Meeting of Friends at Plainfield that prohibition in the United States is not so successful as its proponents expected, and urge the Amgrican people to give moral support to the prohibition law, and not to depend to any great extent upon fear of arrest and punishment for the enforcement of this new law. This view is shared by many, who believe that the country wrote little more into the federal amendments and Volstead act than a hope that somehow they would result in prohibition.

Nicholson did well to appeal for moral support of the law. It has been repeatedly shown in prohibition law violation cases that there is an amazing amount of contempt for this law among persons who never think of violating any other law. This is true because they have not accepted the law as a remedy. Their belief, perhaps not sharply defined, is that prohibition is designed to do away with evil effects, mental physical and economic, of over-indulgence in intoxicants, and they class themselves as not being in need of any such legal restriction. They believe that the government went too far in trying to regulate morals by laws.

The prohibition law implies that because some people drink too much—or did drink to much—all people should be deprived of alcoholic drink. The country—as open violation of the law nearly everywhere proves—does not believe that this is right. Hence the country mere did a better thing than abolish the saloons. But drinking goes on, and it will go on until the recountry never did a better thing than abolish the saloons. But drinking goes on, and it will go on until the recountry mere did a better thing than abolish the saloons. But drinking goes on, and it will go on until the recountry mere did a better thing than abolish the saloons. But drinking goes on, and it will go on until the recountry mere did a better thing than abolish the saloons. But drinking goes on, and it

important constitutional moorings to embark again into those contests through which it has fought up to the establishment of good government. Through the War of the Revolution, through the Civil War, and through the World War, our people have struggled to establish and maintain our constitutional principles. They are Sting Causes Fatal Acciden Mrs. Rosetts Scattergood, mother of Joseph Scattergood, of Riverton, was killed in an automobile accident near Trenton last Sunday afternoon. The driver of the car in which she was riding took one hand off the steering wheel to kill a bee which had stung his son in the face, and lost control of the car which ran into a ditch and overturned.

Hydroplane Driven Ashore Dick Hollingshead's hydroplane came to grief in the high wind which accompanied the storm Tuesday night. It was swept from its moorings and dashed against the stone wall in front of the residence of Charles A. Wright. One of the wings was broken and the plane was turned up on its nose. By the aid of the South Jacksonville ferry boat it was pulled off the beach.

Hurt in Collision

Mrs. William Glass suffered painful but not serious injuries when the automobile was crashed into from the rear last Monday night. The accident happened on the Hartford road, at Fred Lippincott's corner. A State trooper from Moorestown secured the name of the man who ran into the Glass car.

Parking on Rainy Day.

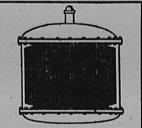

Most drivers seem to find it more difficult to park their cars in wet weather than in dry. They will not attempt to back the car into spaces which in fair weather they would consider adequate. But those who are more accustomed to driving in the wet have discovered that a space which in dry weather would be difficult to park in is much easier to tackle when J. Pluv is reigning. The reason is wet tires make steering easier. The wheels can be cut this way and that with so little effort that an "impossible" space becomes a possibility before the driver has time to worry about it. space becomes a possili fore the driver has worry about it.

To Give Better Service to Electric and Gas Customers

New System of Meter Reading, Bill Delivering, and Accounting to be put into effect by Public Service -Will Be Started in Newark District October 1st and Extended Gradually to Other Districts Served by Company During November, December and January.

Will Promote Convenience; Prevent Delays

Now all meters are read the latter part of each month. It is proposed to distribute this work, together with billing and accounting, evenly throughout the whole month. Thus more attention can be given in individual cases, where necessary, congestion will be avoided and customers' time will be saved.

Under the new plan, customers will receive their bills monthly within a few days-instead of ten days or two weeks-after meters are read, thus enabling them to keep a closer check on consumption of electricity and gas, and make more timely comparisons of bills with their household or business budget.

With More Than a Million Electric and Gas Customers, New Plan is Necessary

A feature of the new system that will appeal to many customers who use both gas and electricity on the same premises will be the use of a single itemized bill, instead of two bills each month as at present, to cover the

The change will involve certain variations in the delivery date of bills, according to the routes on which customers are located; also in the period covered by the bills rendered during the month in which the change is

Customers whose accounts are to be transferred to the new system in October, instead of receiving their September bills between the first and sixth days of October as ordinarily, will receive their bills for September consumption in September, within a few consumption in September, within a few days after their meters are read.

October bills for such customers will be rendered at various dates in October, depending on the dates meters are read under the new system.

As a result of the process of readjustment, roximately one-half of the October bills will cover a period of less than one month, about one-third will cover a period of one month, and the balance, or one sixth of the bills, will cover a period of more than one

All subsequent bills, after the readjustment is made, will cover a period of one month each; they will be delivered within a few days after readings are taken each month and on approximately the same date every

Customer accounts to be transferred to the new system in November, December or January will be affected similarly to those transferred in October, with allowance made for the difference in time of the transaction. Advance notice of the month in which the change is to be made in specific districts will be given to customers in the form of announcements attached to bills.

Our desire at all times is to furnish the best possible service to our customers. The adoption of this proposed new system is in keeping with that policy. Although upwards of one million separate accounts must be handled, we are preparing to make the change with a minimum of confusion or trouble to customers and to that end we respectfully ask the indulgence and co-operation of those who is we serve.

THE MILK-CART DOGS

the Genevese and their customs. We noticed that all the milkmen here, as well as in of her Swiss towns, have dogs to draw their milk carts. They have a couple of dogs harnessed to a two-wheeled cart in which the milk is carried in large wooden kettles. The men run along by the cart from street to street and deliver the milk to their customers.

While the milkman is in the house the dogs guard the kettles and watch closely that no one takes the milk. If a stranger comes too near they bark and growl and try to bite him. Sometimes their master is gone a long time in a cafe, or to visit with some girl on the way. Then the dogs lie down and have a rest, but always keeping a watchful eye on the milk.

Very often they receive a good bit of meat from a kitchen-maid. They know their friends on the route, and look at the windows and bark until they are given something to eat. If another dog, which is free, tries to steal the food thrown to the cart dog, there will be a quarrel and often they fight and turn over the cart and the milk runs out in the street. The dogs know the persons who like them, and they love to be petted, but they map and snari at boys who tease them.

The milkman and his dogs are together in both fine and bad weather and

Trustees Advised by Assistant Attorney General on Legality of

Problem—Essex Profits $291,453.

Trenton.—The stand of State Controller Bugbee that the trustees of the Teachers' Pension and Retirement Fund are entitled only to $1,200,000, the amount fixed by the last legislature, is upheld in an opinion which has been given by Assistant Attorney General Harry R. Coulomb to the trustees. The latter had certified $2,440,045 to the controller as necessary for the administration of the fund. By this decision a saving of more than $1,000,000 is effected to the various counties for school purposes under the apportionment of railroad taxes distributable shortly.

The fixing by the last legislature of the amount to go to the fund was the first time such action had been taken, in the past the trustees having been permitted to certify to the controller the amount considered necessary.

Mr. Coulomb holds that the legislature intended to make clear that the fund appropriated—namely, $1,200,000—was not only for the other purposes of the act, but also in lieu of the "very large amount which undoubtedly would be, and was, in fact, certified by the board of trustees, and that it was to make their intention clearer that that the appropriation was to cover all purposes of the act." He also held that the fund thus appropriated can be used by the board as it may find necessary to carry out all and every of the purposes of the act.

Administration Demand

The action of the legislature in appropriating the fixed amount of $1,200,000 was taken for the purpose of curbing the rapidly mounting costs of the pension fund, which had increased from $615,000 the first year of its existence to the last demand of $2,440,046.

Controller Bugbee followed the legislative mandate and turned over to the trustees a check for $1,200,000. He subsequently conferred with the attorney general's office on the subject and was informally advised to draw no further warrants on the state treasury for this purpose. Later the trustees questioned the decision of the controller's office and requested an opinion of the state's legal department, with the result that Mr. Bugbee is sustained in his view.

ment, with the result that Mr. Bugbee is sustained in his view.

Honey From Railroad Taxes
In sustaining the payment of $1,200,000 as settling the obligation to the retirement fund the counties will receive under the apportionment act $1,950,385.74, whereas had the trustees been upheld in their contentions the counties would have received but $1,710,292.74. This money is obtained from railroad taxes on ratables for 1928 amounting to $4,128,386,149.03. Records of the state treasurer's office show that at the close of the fiscal year, June 30 last, the retirement fund had $5,675,023.34 in invested securities and $293,195 cash in bank.
Essex county will profit to the extent of $291,485.55 by the actic. ... legislature, and Hudson county to the extent of $276,837.99. The Essex county apportionment is $693,481.55 under the legislative arbitrary action in fixing $1,200,000 for the fund, whereas had the trustees prevailed the former amount would have been reduced to $401,977.77. Hudson county will receive $657,587.05 instead of $881,190.06.

Labor Problem Growing

Labor Problem Growing
Activities of the state department of labor and the rehabilitation commission for the fiscal year ending June 30 last are outlined in the annual report of those agencies submitted to Governor Silzer by Dr. Andrew F. McBride as commissioner of labor and director of the rehabilitation commission.

Accident prevention is cited as one of the greatest problems and one that can not be solved by safeguarding machinery and minimizing fire hazards alone. Co-operation on the part of every one engaged in industry is referred to as one of the essentials necessary to cut down the useless toll of suffering and economic waste due to accidents.

Upon assuming charge of his present work last Septemeber, Dr. McBride says he found many things both confusing and intricate, but by application he began to understand them. Much time has been spent in co-ordinating the various activities of the department, and many changes have been made, due in large part to altered conditions. Dr. McBride states that he is encouraged to believe that in a reasonably brief time the beneficial effect of the changes will be manifest to every one familiar with the work of the department.

The large industrial increase in New Jersey yearly adds constantly to the work, and Dr. McBride says vigilance and alertness is necessary at all times to safeguard alike the right of the employer and employee.

"It has been," said Dr. McBride, "my endeavor since assuming the direction of the department to safeguard the health, limb and life of those employed in the industries under our care, bearing in mind at all times not to overburden industry with unnecessary expenditure for this purpose.

"To make this work more effective."

"To make this work more effective and at the same time more economical, the department is now working on plans for the re-districting of the en-tire state into new and compact fac-tory inspection districts."

Commended for Co-operation Factory owners and manufacturers throughout the state are complimented by Dr. McBride for co-operating in the enforcement of the factory laws. Although 4,206 orders were issued during the year, more than this number were complied with and canceled.
"The fact that there have been 152 new industrial buildings constructed during the year," continues the comnew industrial buildings constructed during the year," continues the commissioner, "the department having approved plans for alterations, additions and changes involving an expenditure of more than $3,000,000. indicates that industries in this state are contemplating good business in the future."

Dr. McBride refers to the difficult problems incident to the manufacture of fireworks and urges enactment of an adequate law controlling their manufacture and transportation. The department has jurisdiction over more than 9,000,000 pounds of high explosives and more than 65,000,000 blasting caps and torpedos, all of which are licensed in strict accordance with the explosives law of the state.

The report compliments the work accomplished by the rehabilitation clinics, the employment service, the engineers' license and inspection bureau, the bureau of statistics and other co-related branches of the work. The employment service resulted in more than 100,000 placements during the last year.

Mills for Post Rodgers

Commander

Through a combination of causes, such as vacations, the waning of interest on the part of members and the heated weather, the monthly meeting of Post Frederick M. Rodgers had a meagre attendance Tuesday evening.

With the absence of many of the chairmen of the committees, reports for the evening were in the minority. As a consequence the business of the evening was brief and the election of officers for the year ensued.

Although Dr. Charles Street Mills had been nominated for Commander without opposition at the last meeting and his assistant, Dr. Mark, nominated for Senior Vice-Commander, new candidates for these positions were unexpectedly presented before the final balloting in the persons of W. Rex MacCrosson and John A. Althouse, Jr.

Rex won the election for commander and Mark was successful for Senior Vice-Commander, but the Doctor at once presented his resignation in favor of Jack Althouse. After hearing the Doctor's reasons, the Post accepted the resignation.

Other new officers follow: —Junior Vice-Commander, Theo. D'Autrechy; Finance Officer, Edgar A. Lamon; Adjutant, Louis W. Sharp; Sergeantat-Arms, Harry Schaffer; Trustees, Dr. James Brown, Freeman Belcher, Don W. Knowlton, James M. Weart, Harold B. Lever, Warren Neithercott; County Committee, Don Knowlton, Fdgar Lamon, Warren Neithercott; County Committee, Don Knowlton raising the yearly dues, the consensus of opinion was clearly revealed with a vote of 2 "for" and 19 "against."

The prayer services will be resumed this Wednesday. The pastor will be in charge. The topic will be "Jesus Opposed."

On Thursday evening the Epworth League will have its regular devotional meeting and social hour. The Methodist parsonage has been repainted. A new kitchen also has been added to the church building and plans are under way to provide new equipment so that big suppers and entertainments may be taken care of.

Sunday School Picnic

The Junior Department of the Epworth M. E. Sunday School will hold its picnic at Wissinoming Park this Saturday, September 6.

All Juniors will be carried free. Special bus will leave church at 9 a. im., returning 5 p. m.

"It must be done!" he advised his private secretary. "Either the Duke of Bolstein must divide the new duchy his son has inherited, or war—war to the knife!"

"Sire, in these peaceful times?" remonstrated his secretary, timidly and with fear and trembling. "In these peaceful times, arbitration—"

"No!" interrupted Hecklenburg forcibly, with a black frown. "Why, our own coffers have borns over one-half the expense of building up the towns. Must we lose all that?"

"But the law—"

"I am the law" pronounced the duke loftily. "Who dare dispute it?"

"Not I—but the choleric Bolstein, his haughty son, Leopold? I beg you, sire, think well before you act."

"I am resolved," declared the duke. "You will convey my ultimatum to Bolstein forthwith. You will also visits.

The secretary shrugged his shoulders with resignation and lowered his eyes in despair. However, Werther departed on his mission. He conveyed his message to the Duke Bolstein. He left the ducal palace in a new fright.

"War, eh?" snarled the old savage, showing his teeth—"to the knife!" Take back that word to your old tyrant of a master. Not a rod of the ground shall he have. To my son it belongs by rightful inheritance and my son shall reign as sole master of Wogran."

Werther proceeded to visit the Castle

Wogran."

Werther proceeded to visit the Castle Burhild. Its countess was a distant relative of Duke Hecklenburg. His daughter Constance had been there on a visit for a month. As the secretary entered the spacious grounds he removed his cap to bow low to the object of his visit—the Lady Constance. She occupied a rustic seat in a nest of rare greenery. A handsome royal looking young man was by her side. Werther's eyes widened and he whistled low to himself.

"Mercy sparse complication of a new

"Mercy spare complication of a new sultor for the Lady Constance!" he uttered fervently and entered the cas-tle to meet the chaperon of Con-stance, the countess. The rival forces deployed on either side of the causeway. A conflict would be precipitated should either army attempt to march upon this causeway. While the dukes each in his own camp was holding a consultation as to the propriety of a forward movement, there appeared from the castie a herald, trumpet-armed. He advanced down the causeway until within challenging distance of the two camps.

Bolstein, his disdainful nose high in the air, Hecklenburg refusing to even look at his bitter enemy, with their retinue the two dukes reached the gov-ernor's great reception hall. To their surprise not that functionary but young Leopold greeted them, arrayed in official robes and smilling brightly.

"My son!" shouted the "Ha! a trick, a plot, a trap!" roared the Duke Hecklenburg. "Already in violence of law and equity he has gob-bled up Wogran!"

"By inheritance and sharing contro "By inheritance and sharing control and ownership—mutually with my wife—my wife—" began Leopold smoothly. "Your wife?" gasped he of Bolstein. "She is here," and Leopold drawing aside a drapery revealed the blushing. charming bride—she of the garden seat at Burbild.

"My daughter!" blurted out the mys tified Hecklenburg.

"His majesty the emperor has approved," announced Leopold. "We thought it best to wed to settle the dispute concerning Wogran, for the sake of peace—"

"Ha! ha!" commested Bolstein.
"Ha! ha!" rejoined Hecklenburg, and they shook hands.
"Brother," submitted Bolstein meekiy, "there will be no battle."

A playwright accomplished in his tine was asked the recipe for writing a melodrama.

After thinking it over he said: "It isn't so complicated. You get a hero, a shero and a Nero. Then go ahead."

HOLLAND LAND OF PLUMP CHILDREN

Dutch Government Demands They Be in Bed by 9 O'Clock.

Dutch boys and girls are in bed by 9 o'clock, at least in The Hague. A paternal government sees to it that they have to go to bed. There is nothing else for them to do.

The other night, says a writer, we dined at one of the largest restaurants in The Hague. Not a boy or girl was to be seen. No one was being treated by auntie or uncle, or dining with father and mother, just for once!

We went to see the film of "Monna Vanna," harmless enough surely, and preceded by one of those rollicking pictures in which people fall off roofs into tubs of water or get buckets of paint inverted on their heads. I missed the inverted on their heads. I missed the shrill shricks of delighted children, hearing instead only bass guffaws. The notice confronted me as I went out: "Children under eighteen not ad-

"Children under eighteen not admitted."

In fact, children less than eighteen can go nowhere in the evening in The Hague. No theater will admit them; the restaurants and picture houses are closed to them, and very soon dancing will be forbidden to them.

Certainly the Dutch boys and girls look wonderfully healthy and happy. Going to bed early agrees with them; if their looks are any criterion. I can scarcely believe that there exists a thin Dutch child.

How, indeed, can they be thin when they drink so much milt?

School children begin the day with about a plat of new milk, warm in winter, cold in summer. With it they eat five or six slices of bread and butter. That keeps them going until they come home from school at 12 o'clock, when another pint of milk has to be drunk and five or six more slices of bread and butter eafen.

The big meal of the day, dinner, is eaten at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when school is over. After the home lessons are finished the school child drinks another huge glass of milk before going to bed.

"What happens if the children don't like milk?" I asked the wnother of a large family, who was dispensing breakfast to her boys and girls.

I saw the children exchange glances.
"They have to like it," replied the mother, pouring out a glassful calmly, as she spoke.—London Mail.

President Coolidge, Son of Farmer, Knows Problems And Arduous Duties Imposed on Nation's Soil Tillers

Perennially, aspirants to public office, mindful of the farmer vote, become converts to the cause of agriculture and the farmer and demand justice for the tillers of the soil.

To them there is no significance in the fact that they have been little concerned with this great division of the citizenry during the off-campaign season. SONS OF ITALY ORGANIZE Big Lodge, "Di Arditi Piave", Is Instituted Here

A big lodge of the Sons of Italy was instituted in Palmyra Sunday.
The local lodge has seventy memors to start with and has chosen for its name "DI Arditi Piave", which, ranslated freely, means the bravest of the brave on the Piave, the river there the Italians won a great victory over the Austrians in the World Var.

where the Italians won a great victory over the Austrians in the World War.

"Di Arditi Piave" was mothered by the Riverside Lodge, which came down in full strength with its various degree teams and paraphernalia. Delegations also were present from Camden, Burlington and Trenton.

The exercises began with a brilliant street parade, accompanied by bands, at one o'clock. Then followed the institution work in P. O. S. of A. Hall. State Commander Mancuso, of Newark, made an eloquent address and Mayor Weart, of Palmyra, also spoke, congratulating the Italians of Palmyra on their becoming real Americans.

Later in the day a banquet was given in honor of Commander Mancuso at Joseph Peditto's home.

The officers of Di Arditi Piave are: John Mento, president: Mr. Rinaldi, financial secretary; John Sacci, orator; Alfonso Taglialatela, corresponding secretary, and Pietro Volpe, vice president.

The banquet was prepared under the capable direction of Mrs. A. Taglialatela and her mother, Mrs. Philomena Fante.

Bookkeeping Machines in the World

What is said to be one of the largest centralized installations of machinery for public utility bookkeeping and billing to be found anywhere will be placed in operation by Public Service Electric and Gas Company at its home office in Newark, beginning October 1.

Under the new system customers who use both services will receive one monthly bill to cover both electric lighting and gas' instead of a seperate bill for each of these services as formerly. The change will enable the company to place service bills in the hands of its customers within three days after meters are read as compared with the two to three weeks now required.

The essential principle underlying the flew arrangement lies in a complete redistribution of the company's commercial work for the purpose of better equalizing each day's work in the accounting month. The system to be employed is known among public utility men as the "Continuous Meter Reading System", so called because meter readings are taken every day of he month, and to distinguish it from the periodic system which the company is abandoning, whereby monthly readings are taken within a few days at the end of the month. Under the continuous meter readings, will also be subject to a continuous schedule.

For the majority of consumers the date on which the first new form of bill is presented will be different from the customary presentation date by reason of a general revision of routes. Thereafter bills will be submitted on approximately the same date in each month. The change will become effective in the respective Public Service districts as follows:

October, Newark; November, Jersey City, Hoboken, North Hudson and Passaic; December, Montclair, Paterson, Rutherford, Englewood, Ridge-wood, New Brussich.

Housewife Has Her Say

Editor The New Era:

I noticed the Buy at Home page in your paper week before last. It is a splendid idea. Everbody OUGHT to buy at home, sure enough, and goodness knows I have tried to—and in some cases have been successful.

But if home-town merchants really belongs to them, they must meet their out-of-town competitors in quality and SERVICE.

Honestly, now, why SHOULD a woman go out of her way to buy where her trade is not valued highly enough to get her polite service and a square deal? I should like to telephone my orders at times, but every time I do, I get stuck. As a result I buy much of my fruits and vegetables from a man who comes right to my door with a wagon, where I can see just what I am getting, with the least trouble on my part. This man takes my money, and the money of my neighbors out of town. I understand he doesn't even pay a tax or license to help keep up the streets he wears running his truck about town. The situation is all wrong. He shouldn't be in our town and he wouldn't last a week if the women could really depend on our local dealers.

SHOWS WASTE OF WATER

Those best qualified to express an interest in waste of water are those who have the bills to pay. It is in communities where water is not metered that waste is most apt to be tered that waste is most apt to be ignored, but in the long run the waster pays the bill. To enable the average personeto visualize the amount of waste that can result from leaving tiny streams running, a Mattoon, Ill., maker of waterworks equipment has issued a pocket piece resembling a $20 gold piece.

This will assure its attention at the start, says the Scientific American. Of three tiny holes which are bored through it, the largest is only one-eighth of an inch in diameter, yet the pocket piece bears the legend that in a day of twenty-four hours, 3,600 gallons of water would be wasted from an opening of this size. Another hole which will not permit the insertion of a pencil lead is stated to be the potential waster of 960 gallons per day; while a third hole just large enough to receive a pin is nevertheless large enough to permit the flow of 180 gallons or over 3½ barrels. This corresponds to about 140 cubic feet per week.

sponds to about 140 cubic feet per sponds to about 140 cubic feet per week.

The figures given are for a head of forty pounds. Higher pressures would increase the waste, though not in direct proportion to their values. The next time you see a tiny leak remember that it is capable of making a larger dent in the purse than appearances would indicate, and do not be surprised if a rigid inspection of plumbing is carried out at times when a water famine is a possibility.

What is this banner which confre 's the flag of the United State. ipheld by President Coolidge and his platform? In answer, I quote from the same dispatch of the Associated Press, from a telegram sent by Eugene V. Debs, reading in part: "I think it wise for our party to make no nominations under the circumstances, but at the same time to hold the Socialist Party inact, adhere rigidly to its principles and keep the red flag flying." Says the Associated Press further: "The Debs sentiment echoed the opinions expressed in the debate by such party leaders as Morris Hillquit, of New York, Representative Victor Berger of Wisconsin, and Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee." Here is the battle alignment and here are the flags.

RIVERTON VS. DELANCO

Riverton Grays Defeat Strong P. O S. of A. Team from Up the River Last Saturday afternoon the Riveron Grays won from the strong P. O. of A. team of Delanco. This team efeated the regular Riverton team arlier in the season, so the local boys ave surely made some progress.
When the visitors arrived, they receive short of one man, so Manager tubbs loaned them Lochowitz. He layed fine ball and was the star for ite visitors.

Hubbs loaned them Lochowitz. He played fine ball and was the star for the visitors.

The game was sort of a "razzberry" for "Jitty," as he couldn't seem to connect at all.

Richmond was on the mound for the Grays and was in fine shape, holding the visitors to five hits. In the fifth inning the score stood 3-0 favor of the Grays, when the Delanco boys rallied, and made three runs, tying the score. This made the game pep up, and the Grays just knew they had to get one in the sixth, and "Tink" Holvick brought in a home run. Hubbs had a two-base hit, Pat Steedle hit for a three-base run, Hubbs scored and made the score 5-3.

Pat Steedle, star receiver, is good with the stick. He made four hits.

"Dunny" Hylton is still playing fast ball at second.

This Saturday the Grays play Eddie Williams' team. Come out and support the boys, who have given Riverton the right to say it has a base ball team.

The lineup for the teams in next Saturday's game will be as follows:

Ed. Williams' Professionals—

Second base, Hauser; left field, Bates; right field, Tommy Rein; center field, Rennet; first base, Ross Borden; third base, Downs; short stop, Goldsborough; pitcher, Sharkey or May; catcher, Everingham.

Riverton Grays—

MARLTON WINS FROM F. C.

rs. Gordon Andrews Again Playing with Locals

The Palmyra Field Club baseball nine fell before the heavy-hitting of b. hawks from Marlton at the Field Club Park last Saturday afternoon. Marlton played a bang-up game and shut out Palmyra by a 5-0 score.

There are three Vaughn boys on the Mariton team and they certainly are sharks at the national past time. N. Vaughn plays left field. That boy sure can swoop up the pills and has a reputation for robbing many heavy hitters of perfectly good hits.

This N. Vaughn is recovering from a sprained ankle and had to have a base runner to complete his tour of the bags after he would lay out the hits. Even with these injuries, he is the fastest man on the team and is a regular whirlwind on feet. He seemed to forget the bad member of his limb when out tending the left garden.

He made a couple of wild dashes and pulled down heavy fouls. Besides this he caught all of the hits in his territory with ease and dove after what looked to be a sure double, took a somersault and then came up smiling with the precious missle clutched in his right hand. This was the most spectacular catch made on the local grounds this year.

One of the other brothers, A. Vaughn, is the mainstay of the hurling staff. He had the good old Palmyra nine eating from his hand during the entire contest. And it's not so difficult to count the hits he allowed. Two singles, and two doubles. That's all. Miss Vaughn only issued three passes. Gibby must have "his number." For H. Russell, himself, received all of the walks.

The other brother, B. Vaughn, played a flashy game at the hot corner. This Marlton aggregation is a well-oiled machine and hits on all four. These boys are accustomed to playing together and are pleasant examples of teamwork, the ambition of every manager and the keynote of success.

Gordon Andrews has returned to the fold and is playing good ball. It's worth the price of the admission to see Andy back in the game with his fight and pep. He made three errors in a couple of innings Saturday, but nobody minded that, for it seemed that the game was already lost and he was just a little over anxious. Coupled with this, Andy had the "breaks" against him, for the pills took bad hops. If Gordon can only stir up a little enthusiasm among the players, mound, but only found him for eight is cattered singles. Van only walked one man.

He can hit, too. A hot double that a landed on the fence, came from his bat and it was Mister Van who drove out the hit and made it possible for Left Fielder Vaughn to make his grandstand catch.

Frank King led Palmyra's offense. He connected for a single and the other double. The last single came from the bat of Quigg, who is still playing a fast game at third.

Next Saturday afternoon at the Field Club Park the locals will meet Maple Shade. Two weeks ago the Field Club traveled to Maple Shade and defeated the boys there by a 3-2 score, playing their best game of the season. Babe Flynn pitched for Maple Shade and was opposed by Little Joe Gorman, who did some high-class flinging.

The babe may return with Maple Shade for revenge. It should be a good contest, never-the-less.

ONE MORE LEAN YEAR

Barber Tells Chamber of Comme Good Times Only Temporary— Slump Coming With New Year

At least one more lean year in usiness was the forecast of George Barber, Philadelphia expert, who ddressed the Chamber of Commerce business was the forecast of George F. Barber, Philadelphia expert, who addressed the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

Mr. Barber gave the Chamber the doleful information that the present little flurry of good business, which has been noticeable in many lines for a few weeks, is onl ytemporary and will probably end by January I, after which the decline which has been much in evidence for more than a year will continue gradually until the spring of 1926, when things ought to begin to pick up again.

As evidence that he knew whereof he was speaking, Mr. Barber showed a chart of business conditions compiled by Bell telephone experts several months ago which forcast accurately the present small boom through which the country is passing Another chart showed the trend of business since the time of the American Revolution in 1776. The line on this map rose and fell periodically, like the tide. The highest points were at the time of the great wars, and the lowest points followed shortly afterwards. The hundred and fifty years plotted had three extraordinary high points, the first in 1815 at the time of the battle of Waterloo, the second in 1865 at the end of our Civil War and the last in 1920, after the World War. After each peak came a precipitous decline, followed by a slow recovery.

The reason for the present improvement, Mr. Barber said, was that the farmers were enjoying good prices for the first time in three or four years, and were paying off debts contracted during their recent lean years. But the farmers, he said, had not made enough money this year to liquidate all their obligations and soon would be borrowing again.

The rise and fall of business, the speaker declared, is governed by incoordinated or ignored can also lead to his ruin.

After all, it is the man behind a business, Mr.Barber said, which determines whether it will succeed or fail.

stood can be used to the advantage of a business man, but when misinterpreted or ignored can also lead to his ruin.

After all, it is the man behind a business, Mr. Barber said, which determines whether it will succeed or fail, and he proceeded to outline the attributes of a successful business man. He cited how Charlie Schwab had risen from the driver of a milk wagon to a salary of a million a year and how Frank Woolworth had been thrown out of a store where he was a clerk and failed five times before his first success.

The first necessary quality is the ability to deal in fundamentals, to get away from the details and impedimenta of a business and look at it as a whole, so as to view the entire problem at one time. "Comma readers", men who concentrate their entire attention on unimportant details, can never win big success.

The second attribute is the right mental attitude. "As a man thinketh, so he is". He cited the examples of Theodore Roosevelt, Cecil Rhodes and Clemenceau as men whom he did not consider of great genius, yet who won wonderful successes because their mental attitude was right.

Third is personality. By personality Mr. Barber did not mean merely a smiling face. He said there was a traffic cop in Philadelphia, who as the result of an accident had his face twisted into a permanent smile, yet he is still only a cop. Real personality the speaker said, is the outward reflection of great character, and it will go far toward winning success.

Mr. Barber's address was keenly appreciated by the members of the Chamber, and the speaker was given a rousing vote of thanks at its conclusion.

JESUS DRIVEN FROM NAZARETH LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:16-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—"He hath anointed as to preach the gospel."—Luke 4:18."
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Visits His PRIMARY TOPIC—JESUS FACES & MOD.

JUNIOR TOPIC—JESUS FACES & MOD.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Explains His Message.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
—The Mission of Christianity.

I. Jesus in the Synagogue (v. 16).
On the Sabbath day He went into the synagogue according to His custom. He no doubt went that day with a new and definite purpose, but it is refreshing to know that it was according to His habit.

II. Jesus Reading the Scriptures (vv. 17-19).

1. The Book Handed to Him (v. 17). It was not only His custom to attend the place of worship but to take a part in it. This privilege was not confined to the rabbis (Acts 18:15).

2. The Passage Read (Isalah 61:1,
2). Most likely this passage was chosen by Him with a specific purpose.

3. The Content of the Passage (vv.

(1) The mission of the Messiah (v

18). It was:
(a) To preach the gospel to the poor. The good tidings which Jesus proclaimed are peculiarly welcome to the common people.
(b) To heal the broken-hearted. The gospel of Christ peculiarly meets the needs of those whose hearts are crushed by the weight of their own sins or by the burden of sorrow and disappointment.

(c) To preach deliverance to the captives. The gospel of Christ does actually set man free from the slavery of sin (John 8:36).

(d) Recovering of sight to the blind. Christ did actually make those who were physically blind to see (John 9:6, 7) and also opened the eyes of those who were spiritually blind (I John 5:20).

John 5:20).

(e) To set at liberty them that are bruised. The power of Christ can free the most utterly hopeless ones.

(f) To preach the acceptable year of the Lord. The primary allusion is the year of Jubilee (Lev. 25:8-10) in which all those in bondage were released.

(2) The special endowment of the Messiah (v. 18). The reason why the Spirit was upon Him was that He might fulfill specifically His Messianic work. It was not for the display of power. The enduement of the Holy Spirit is not for mere power's sake power. The enduement of the In-Spirit is not for mere power's sake.

III. Jesus Expounding the Scriptures (vv. 20, 21). 1. He Closed the Book and Sat Down. It seems to have been the cus tom of the Jewish teachers to sit while teaching.

2. "This Day Is This Scripture Fulfilled." This statement is no doubt but a gist of what He said, IV. Jesus' Reception by the People (vv. 22-80).

Ignorant Prejudice (v. 22). "Is not this Joseph's son?" As if to say, "This is our fellow townsman with whom we have been acquainted for years. Surely, therefore, He cannot be the Messiah."

the Messiah."

2. Unbellef as to His Supernatural Character (v. 23). They challenged Him to exhibit examples of divine power as He had done in other places.

8. Personal Jealousy (v. 24). Jealousy prevents us from seeing the essential worth of the men in our midst. Foreigners are more appreciative. A prophet is not accepted at home, primarily because he is a prophet. Prophets were sent in times of moral and spiritual declination and their messages were stern rebukes of sin. He adduces two outstanding examples of the willingness of foreigners to believe God.

(1) Elijah was sent to a widow at Sarepta (vv. 25, 28). Many widows of Israel were passed by due, doubtless, to the fact that they would not have received the prophet.

(2) Namman, the foreigner, of many lepers was the only one cleansed.

4. Violent Hatred (vv. 25-30). This comparison of the Jews to foreigners so stunned their pride that they madly drove Him out of their city, even tried to kill Him. He showed them that just as Elijah had brought blessing to one who lived in Sidon and Elisha te one in Syria, while the people of Israel went on suffering, even so the Gentiles would receive the blessings of His saving power while they, the chosen nation, would suffer in unbelief.

Religion

Religion, in one sense, is a life of self-denial; but self-denial does not belong to religion as characteristic of it, it belongs to human life. The lower nature must always be denied when we are trying to rise to a higher sphere.—Henry Ward Beecher.

BIRTH REGISTRATION DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "REALTE"

CAN you prove that you were eve

Of course, the natural assumption is that you were or you wouldn't be

But could you produce legal proof, if necessary, of the time and place of your birth, parentage, and nationality? If you could you are better off than most Americans.
Birth registration in this country is comparatively recent. While both births and deaths have been recorded for many years past in New England, New York and a few other states, the registration of births in most of our states is a matter of the last twenty years.

In Europe, birth registration has been in force for many centuries. In this country, not only in the early days, but until comparatively recently, little attention has been paid to this little attention has been paid to this subject.

As a result, it is only extremely difficult, but in many cases it is impossible to trace any lines of descent or to establish any genealogical tables. Much progress has been made since 1908, when what is known as the Model bill for registration of births and deaths was drafted. Today, every state in the Union, with the exception of Arizons, Nevada, and South Dakota, has adopted this law and has a uniform system of registering and recording births and deaths.

Because physicians have taken the lead in securing these laws, many people are under the inverses of the births and deaths.

lead in securing these laws, many people are under the impression that birth registration is important only on account of its relation to health. This is by no means true.

The legal and social value of birth registration is quite as important as its health .value. Without accurate and complete registration of births, it is difficult and often impossible to prove parentage, nationality, inheritance rights, legitimacy and many other important relations of life.

Laws on compulsory education, child labor, the age of consent or compulsory military service are ineffective unless births are accurately registered.

fective unless births are accurately registered.

Blooded horses and cows, pedigreed dogs and blue-ribbon cats are registered. Surely, human infants are at least as important.

Every child is entitled to a legal record of its birth and every parent should see to it that his child's birth is properly registered and made an official part of the records and that a certified copy of this registration is secured for the child's use in after life.

It is assuring and gratifying that in the general movement throughout the civilized world to outlaw and abol-ish war, there is none more earnestly outspoken in support of this move-ment than President Coolidge or the Democratic presidential nominee, Mr. Davis.

Democratic presidential nominec, Mr. Davis.

Both have made it clear that this grand movement has their unqualified support.

Both agree with the vast number of right-thinking people that war is a creature of savagery, passed down through the ages from the time of primitive man, and no longer tolerable among civilized people.

Until the nations and peoples of the world come to a like realization and join in this movement it would of course be most unsafe and unwise for the United States to destroy its armaments or fail to keep them at a standard sufficiently strong to safe guard against foreign aggression.

But the United States to destroy its armaments or fail to keep them at a standard sufficiently strong to safe guard against foreign aggression.

But the United States now the premier of mations, constituted of people devoted to peace and albhorrent of war, is obligated by the standing among nations it has attained and its influence in world affairs, to lead the movement for universal disarmament.

Wherever and whenever the question of disarmament arises, the strong voice of this government should speak up in its behalf.

Tresident Coolidge and Mr. Hughes, his secretary of state, took a long step in the right direction when they called a conference to consider the question of disarmament. That was the first real step toward outlawing with halting an orgy of battleship continuity of the world from war to must it unded the world-from war to must it unded the world-mind from houghts of the world from war to must any accombishment of peace. It was an accombishment of the more than the proper to the distribution of national differences by military ariterion while and the more than the proper to the proper to the distribution of national differences by military ariterion while the proper to the

—The attention of parents is called to the danger their children run in playing on and around ice wagons. As is well known it is a common practice for the little folks to climb on the back of the wagon to get pieces of ice. When the wagon is full it is quite possible for a cake to fall out and crush the child. Some children have also been seen playing near the heels of the horses, throwing stones at them and poking them with sticks. One good kick from these steel-shod hoofs might mean a funeral in the home of the child. Keep an eyé on the youngsters when the ice man comes. Better be safe than sorry.

Cinnaminson

Mrs. David Oliver, of Cinnaminson, was a visitor in Audubon last Wednesday.

The call of the school has come, and in the vast army that has responded there are millions of rural boys and girls. Most of them entered buildings freshly cleaned, some decorated to make them. more pleasant and attractive. A few entered new buildings dedicated to the service of the community and to the common cause of a better life for all. Most of this happy throng were eager to return and join their school friends. Most of this happy throng were eager to return and join their school friends. Most of them entered advanced grades with new fields of study ahead. Many of them have new teachers. About one-fifth of them are entering school for the first time. A few of them are entering schools in new communities into which they have moved or to which they must go for advanced instruction.

Everything possible ought to be done to make the first month a red-letter period for the beginners and new comers. First impressions are generally lasting ones. A favorable attitude toward the school and community gained during these first few whole-heartedness with which these pupils will cooperate with the school and its enlarged society.

Just as first, impressions largely determine the attitude of the pupils, so do they affect the teacher. The teacher should become an integral par of the community during her period of tenure. Most teachers realize this and are glad to respond to the wel-come extended to them by the community. The teacher will not only be happier, but in increased service, will repay the community for any efforts expended in her behalf.

Facts Are Stubborn Things

It is easy to forget, but the impression which the condition of our country in March, 1921, made upon the people was so deep, so vivid, so alarming, that it will not soon pass way. Over two years after the armistice we were still technically in a state of war. We had no diplomatic relations with Turkey, Greece, Russia, Colombia, or Mexico, and the Far East was causing grave apprehensions. In raising and expending for war a vast amount of money a reckless extravagance had come to characterize the administration of public affairs and was all too prevalent in private life. An enormous debt had been contracted, then standing at about $24,000,000,000,000 was in short-time

$7,000,000,000 which more than $7,000,000,000 without any provision for payment. Government bonds were far below par. The high war-time taxes still burdened the people.

Demobilization and liquidation remained to be completed. Huge accounts with the railroads were still unsettled. Transportation was crippled. Over $11,000,000,000 of unliquidated debts were due to us from foreign countries. The whole people were suffering from a tremendous deflation. Our banks were filled with frozen assets, and everywhere acute financial distress existed. Interest was high. Capital was scarce. Approximately $5,000,000, people were without employment. No adequate provision had been made for the relief of disabled veterans and their dependents.

Perhaps in no peacetime period have there been more remarkable and constructive accomplishments than since March, 1921. We have ratified separate treaties of world-wide importance with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia, and Mexico. Forty-two other treaties have been approved by the Senate, and six treaties are now waiting its action. Friendly intercourse has been resumed with Turkey and Greece, and we have established our rights and insured peace in the Far East and the Pacific Ocean.

For the year just closed there has been a reduction in the fannual cost of government of $2,041,000,000. The internal-revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the fiscal year the tax receipts will show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a day compared with 1921. One Government bond has sold well over 105.—Coolidge.

"I would like to emphasize that I am striving for peace, and that in common with all Americans I desire it most sincerely." My, observation has brought the conviction that such is also the purpose of General Pershing and of all members of the Army of the United States.

"But the promotion of peace is not secured by the denial of the lessons of history. Our country has always refrained during peace from adequate prevention against the possibilities of war. Nevertheless, wars have come in spite of us.

"Unpreparedness has never prevented war, and the only result of our peace time nonchalance has been increased losses and hardships to those of our citizens who rallied to the defense of the Nation."

"What is proposed for September 12 is merely in compliance with the purpose of the national defense law of 1920. It is not a mobilization, and the people who first attached to it the term 'Mobilization Day,' and then proceeded to condemn it, have been utterly unfair. Most of them, I am sure, have been innocent of intent to be unfair, but they have been misled.

"Profoundly hoping that the outlawing of war from this world may be accomplished, I am unable to detect any inconsistency in giving my approval to the program of Defense Day. I wish crime might be abolished, but I would not therefore abolish courts and police protection. I wish war might be made impossible; but I would not leave my country unprotected meanwhile. The defense test seems to me a means to assure the fullest efficiency to the extremely modest defense force our country maintains."

—Coolidge.

At the meeting of the Riverton Board of Education last night Miss Chew, supervising principal, reported an enrollment of 315 when school opened, and two since then. Twentynine more children are to come in when they return from their vacations.

Several applications for the admission of children from Palmyra residents were refused owing to lack of room. The smallest grade has 35 pupils and the largest 47.

What Has Been Done for Agriculture?

One of our first thoughts in 1921 was for the relief and revival of agriculture. As many as 15 laws have been passed to assist and support this fundamental industry. Through the War Finance Corporation it has been extended credits of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000. In addition to this government activity provided about $50,000,000 from private sources for the relief of the cattle industry, and in the early spring of this year a $10,000,000 corporation was formed, which it was estimated could furnish $100,000,000 for diversification and financial relief in the Northwest. The Intermediate Credit Banks have loaned over $86,000,000 to individuals and cooperative marketing associations, which assisted directly and indirectly over $00,000 farmers.

Notwithstanding all this, agriculture was subjected to an eara of most serious depression. Several of its great staples like cotton, cattle, hogs, corn, and wheat, suffered from low prices, due to overproduction, unbalanced conditions between costs and sale prices in agriculture, industry, and labor, and the disorganization of the markets of the world. But for the enormous buying power which the high wages of industry put behind the market for American food products, especially meat, the agriculture regions would have experienced even a far more severe financial crisis.

Due to a change in the world supply, prices of products have begun to improve even so far as to increase land values. The Government rendered a great deal of assistance and private enterprise cooperated, but the fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through the enactment of legislative laws as through the working out of economic laws. Because the farmers have thoroughly realized this, they have on the whole opposed price fixing by legislation. While maintaining that sound position, they have seen a partial relief come in a natural way, as it was bound to come.

ENSEMBLE COSTUME PRESENTS FASCINATING AUTUMN THEME

There's a new burst of enthusing market in the development of new models, which establish family ties between wrap and frock.

Wraps which claim kinship to the one-piece dress over which they are posed feature three distinct types. Made of selfsume material as the companion dress is the three-quarter length or hem-depth coat, the long or short cape or the scarf which often takes on the Spanish shawl spirit.

Why hadn't he gone to the country as some of his friends had suggested? This city park was no place for a bird. The lawns had been nice and the trees had been nice.

But there, he had gone down into the road for a moment and an automobile had come along and had almost struck him.

It hadn't really struck him but it almost had. He wasn't quite sure whether it had or not, really.

For the fright had been so great that he had tumbled down into a heap on the road and had been struggling ever since to get up.

He just couldn't do a thing. He seemed to feel so weak. Oh, how that automobile had come toward him. Yes, he had escaped being hit but the whigzing of the car and the fright had left him there in the road.

This would be the end. This would be the end for a little bird.

Would they get out of the way for one little bird? What would it matter to them if one little bird was killed? There were plenty of birds, they would say, and he was only an ordinary little bird.

He was not beautiful. His voice was nothing remarkable. Probably at one glance they would be able to tell this. The little bird had lost a great deal of his faith in human nature.

People hurried so. They hurried so that the life of a little bird meant nothing to them.

And then—

He closed his eyes. He could not bear to see the end. And then he feit a soft something about him—wasn't it a hand? Surely this could not be one of those terrible wheels he had been thinking would go over him.

RAVENS IN THE TOWER

The Tower—the ancient fortress and gloomy state prison of London—is bistorically the most interesting spot in England. William the Conqueror began the Tower over eight hundred years ago. Earthquakes have shaken it, storms have beaten against it, shot and shell have been hurled at it, twice was the felt as though everything dread round it. Yet for centuries the Tower of London has stood sentry on the Thames, unshaken and undismayed, just as it stood when William the Conqueror began the roll to the Green, or stringsling on and some condition.

He was in the condition of the list of the condition of the the rests in the turrets of the old building, and rear future generations of Tower ravens. But as the city grew around and the forests were cut away, and with them fields of forage gone, the ravens would no longer nest in the turret are only two—there are on

The Hope of LaFollette

How One of the Vice-Presidential Candidates Might Become President Next March

"The New Jersey Republican," published by the New Jersey Women's Republican Club, printed the following in its July-August issue:

Each State elects members of the Electoral College to the total number of the representation in the Senate and House of Representatives—which gives New Jersey fourteen electors.

The Candidate for President receiving the highest number of votes in the Electoral College shall be declared elected, provided he receives the votes of A MAJORITY OF THE TOTAL NUMBER OF ELECTORS.

The hope of the Third Party is to carry a sufficient number of States so that neither Coolidge nor Davis can receive the votes of a MAJORITY of the Electoral College.

In the event of a tie of this sort the election would be thrown into the House of Representatives which would select a President from among the three highest candidates, each State having one vote, a majority of the total number of State (25 votes) being necessary to a choice.

The representation in Congress from New Jersey and five other States being exactly divided between the two major parties, these six States would have no vote at all, and forty-two States would be left from which a candidate would have to obtain twenty-five votes in order to win.

Of these forty-two States twenty-two are Republican and twenty Democratic which would mean 22 votes for Coolidge and 20 votes for Davis so that neither could be elected.

The House of Representatives being unable to elect a President before the fourth of March, then the Vice-President shall act as President.

If no candidate for Vice-President should have received a majority of the total number of votes in the Electoral College, then the Senate would elect a Vice-President, choosing one of the two highest candidates, a majority of the total number of votes in the Senate, or 49 votes, being necessary to a choice.

In the Senate Dawes would be certain of 44 and Bryan of 40 votes, leaving the so-called "independents" with 12 votes, or the balance of power.

Under present conditions there is every reason to believe that most of these votes would be given to Mr. Bryan, thus electing him Vice-President. Vice-President he would automatically become President on March 4th.

WHAT WE CAN DO TO PREVENT THIS

Urged-Fluffing of Ice Cream Brings Protest-War on Bankruptcy Ring Given Impetus.

Trenton.—According to action taken at the closing session of the an nual convention of the New Jersey Weights and Measures Association, in Atlantic City, farmers will be required to live up to the new law which became effective last July requiring sales of vegetables in retail quantities to be weighted to the result of the results of the second of the results of the second of the results of th to be weighed instead of dry meas

It was reported to the convention that many of the farmers who are selling their products at roadside markets have made no effort to comply with the law. With the exception of the markets, it was stated that the provisions are being generally observed by retailers throughout the state. While making a drastic change in custom, the delegates agree that it would eventually react to the benefit of both the seller and purchaser.

Sale of ice cream and eggs by weight was advocated by the association. Speakers declared that selling the former by weight would eliminate the controversy between manufacturer, dealer and consumer over the alleged "fulming" by air of the product.

Urges Eggs Sale by Weight.

The resolution concerning the sale of eggs was introduced by Horace B. Holcomb, superintendent of the Essex County Department of Weights and Measures. Mr. Holcomb, in his prefactory remarks, said that as a result of an exhaustive study of conditions he was convinced that the best way in which to protect the interests of all concerned was to sell eggs by weight instead of by number. He told of instances where consumers failed to get their money's worth in buying by the dozen because of the small size of eggs.

That both the consuming public and the retailers were sustaining large losses by the sale of ice cream in bulk was the gist of the argument made by Elilot B. Holton, assistant superintendent of the State Department of Weights and Measures, and Patrick J. Caufield, superintendent of the corresponding Newark department, who were instrumental in obtaining the passage of the resolution concerning the sale of ice cream by weight. The public officials were opposed by Dr. C. H. Kimberly of New York, who spoke as the representa-York, who spoke as the representa-tive of the combined ice cream com-panies of the metropolitan district of Figures concerning the consumption of ice cream in this state were presented by Messrs. Holcomb and Caufield to the conference. Last year 6,556,831 gallons of ice cream, or eight quarts, one pint, for every man, woman and child in New Jersey.

Argues for Uniformity.

Dr. Kimberly in opposing the adoption of the resolution said the initiative in such a move should be left to the Federal government for purposes of uniformity. He claimed that different standards in different states would work a hardship on the companies.

Jerome Nasbaum, assistant super-ntendent of the Newark Department of Weights and Measures, read during the conference a paper entitled "Publicity as an Ally for Better Weights and Measures." In it he discussed the value of newspaper publicity in arriving at fair standards, and the aid that newspapers give to homebuilders in making public those Coincident with the announcement made that William Bittles, president of the Chamber of Commerce, had called a special meeting of the directors of the chamber to consider what action may be taken to stop abuses of the receivership clauses of the bankruptcy law came word that Mr. Bittles, who has been active in the North Jersey Association of Credit Men, has been appointed a member of the law committee of the National Association of Credit Men. This committee, it was further stated, will immediately launch a vigorous campaign to obtain what it considers necessary changes in the laws.

Would Abolish Temporary Receiver.
For one thing, it will seek to prevent counsel for the plaintiff in a receivership proceeding in a similar capacity for the receiver. The committee, which will carry its flight directly to the floor of Congress, would also postpone the appointment even of a temporary receiver until both sides in the action have been given a hearing in court, unless there be known fraud or other emergent conditions.

At present a custodial or temporary receiver may be appointed weeks or even months before an actual hearing is held. Naturally, counsel for the plaintiff, the receiver and his counsel are awarded fees, even though the temporary receivership be vacated after the hearing. Occasionally it has been found that affidavits submitted to the court to prove the necessity for the appointment of a receiver do not stand up under investigation.

Mr. Bittles, in announcing the special meeting, said that two years ago a committee was appointed by the North Jersey Association of Credit Men, which conferred with the judges of the Federal courts and the referees in bankruptcy, calling to their attention that in a number of cases concerns with assets about equal to their liabilities or greater, were forced through bankruptcy.

"The judges were interested," Mr. Bittles said, "but nothing to remedy conditions has been done. It is time the business men of the city, the ones directly affected, did something."

AN IDEAL AUTUMN VACATION

With the end of Summer as Autumn approaches under Southern skies, dainty colors deck the landscape with exquisite Autumn tints which glow with a soft and appealing tenderness and a peculiar delicacy not seen elesewhere. Sunny plumes of pine trees on the hills and crowns of gold along the ravines present transports of color and the whole world seems immersed in a light that strangely enhances the mountain scenery of the Carolinas, revealing a picture of Autumnal beauty such as no artist can paint. FIRST MEETING ON TUESDAY Palmyra P. T. A. Will Hold First

Auditorium

Auditorium

The regular monthly business meeting of the season will be held by the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association in the grammar school auditorium on next Tuesday evening, September 16, at 8 o'clock.

A reception will be tendered the teachers and members of the local board, and a very interesting program has been arranged. Every member is urged to attend. They are requested to bring a friend—or better still, a new member.

"May we depend on your presence, your interest in our work and your carrying out of our aims," is the plea made by the officers of the organization. They want the initial session to be a huge success, and of course this depends largely upon a big attendance. The whole-hearted support of every member during the entire year is needed.

Commy Schwink Issues Call for Candiates for F. C. Football Team

Palmyra Field Club resulted in the advancement of a movement for a Palmyra football team this season. Tommy Schwink will be the manager and has issued a call for candidates. They are to report at the Field Club rooms next Monday evening to organize. Joe Stack, who has had years of gridiron experience and was the star quarter on the Big Green team at Riverside a few seasons ago, will probably coach the eleven.

Sons ago, will probably coach the cleven.

The team is to be composed entirely of local players. If you have lad any experience along this line of sport, get in touch with Tommy, or report Monday.

There is enough good material in the town for a snappy aggregation that will make a name for itself before the season ends. If you play the game, show some of that "old town spirit" by coming out and fighting for l'almyra.

BAPTIST PASTOR RESIGNS

The Rev. Charles W. Williams Accept Call to Pawling, N. Y.

Accept Call to Pawling, N. Y.

The Rev. Charles W. Williams, who has been pastor of the Central Baptist Church for more than twelve years, presented his resignation at the morning service last Sunday.

The resignation of Mr. Williams came as a painful surprise to many members of the congregation. He has been a popular minister here and has made hundreds of friends, both in and outside of his church.

During Mr. Williams pastorate the congregation has more than doubled in membership and the financial situation of the church has become very strong. The last mortgage on the parsonage was burned recently.

The pastor expects to accept a call to the Central Baptist Church of Pawling, N. Y. He came here from Palmer, Mass.

The resignation is effective October 15.

Lutheran Sunday School Structur

The new Lutheran Sunday School building at Broad and Garfield avenue is rapidly nearing completion and is expected to be ready for occupancy by November 1.

The work of the stone masons is done, the roof and main flooring are both well under way. The plastering will start this week, to be followed by the interior woodwork and painting.

The size of the building is 45x70 feet. The main floor will seat 400 people and the balcony a hundred more.

The gymnasium floor is 35x50 feet and is all enclosed. In the basement also is the kitchen, lavatories, etc.

The dedication is planned for the Sunday before Thanksgiving and special services will be held in the building all Thanksgiving week.

While the new building is designed especially for Sunday school work, it will be used as a church building also until the erection of the main church structure, facing on Broad street, some time in the future.

The cost of the present building is $45,000.

Epworth Church Notes

"Keeping the Sabbath" is the topic of the sermon Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the Epworth Methodist Church. The hour of the evening service will be held at seven o'clock and evening worship will be at seven forty-five. The topic of the sermon Sunday evening will be, "Are you a Christian?" The pastor, the Rev. Fred B. Morley, will preach both morning and evening.

The Sunday School sessions will be held at ten o'clock until Rally Day, Sunday the 28th. On Monday evening the Sunday School Board will have its annual meeting and banquet. There will be reports from the various officers of the school and an address by the Rev. J. Lawrence Pitt, field secretary of the Board of Church Schools for the New Jersey Conference.

The topics of the prayer meetings

Church Schools for the New Jersey Conference.

The topics of the prayer meetings are of particular interest. The Uniform Sunday School lessons, dealing with the life of Christ are being followed. This week the topic is "The Great Physician."

Plans are under way for a great Church Family Supper to be given on Thursday evening. September 25. The Woman's Guild is getting up the supper and the pastor has charge of the program for the evening. A limit of 300 has been placed upon the tickets which are only to be sold to people of the Epworth Church.

Lutheran News

"The Home-Like Church"

There is something new for the children at the morning service each Sunday morning. Instead of the sermon to them only once a month, there will be one for them each Sunday. Won't you bring your child to feed on the Bread of Life ten minutes of fifty-two Sundays in a year? This Sunday the subject for the children is "Back from Vacation." The sermon for adults is "Walking Christians." In the evening the subject for discussion will be "Some Palmyra Failures."

The regular monthly meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School will be held Friday evening at the home of Mr. Buchholz.

Next Tuesday evening the Luther League will hold its monthly business meeting and social. Plans for the work of the winter will be worked out, and many hours of fun and work will be ours on entering the new church.

Odd Fellows

Odd Fellows

At the last regular meeting of Cinaminson Lodge, two new candidates were initiated, Harry Baittinger and Charles F. Newhart, both of Palmyra. These brothers will receive their first degree of Odd/ellowship on Friday evening next. This meeting has also been set aside for nominations of Grand Lodge Officers, all Past Grands being eligible to vote.

On Saturday evening. September 27th, Burlington County District I.O. O.F. will hold a big degree demonstration at Mount Holly, N. J. Cinnaminson Lodge will participate in that, the two candidates just initiated will receive their third degree on that occasion.

Now that the vacation season is practically over and the evenings are becoming cooler, the last few meetings of this lodge have been well attended and full of pep. With the fall season approaching with its long list of entertainments and other activities planned for the indoor social season. Old Cinnaminson is looking forward to prosperous and happy times.

The War Relic Cannon Routed Rivolla's Band

By SELINA HIGGINS

WHEN Pletro Sanchez returne

WHEN Pietro Sanchez returned from putting down the insufrection in Modiva, he brought to his home town of Piasta but one trophy of the war—a large brass cannon.

Pietro was an honest, sturdy blacksmith. He had fought just as he set tires on the wagon wheels or shod a horse—his whole soul in the task. He had been the leader of the company which drove the marauding gang of Rivolla, the bandit, out of the district. "It is a memento, a monument and a trade sign," said Pietro. "There it shall remain as a record, reminder and sign manual of the trade of the anvil:"

There came new disturbances as the years passed by, but these were cen-

There came new disturbances as the years passed by, but these were centered in a distant province. Pietro looked grim and thoughtful as he heard of new depredations of the Rivolla banditti. Airy, fairy Ninez, full of all the joyous hopefulness of youth, only smiled on. She was light-hearted and happy. Had she not Luis Guarez, the handsomest gallant at Plasta? His stalwart arm, his loyal heart would spring to action in response to any patriotic call. As to Rivolla, some day the gibbet.

For the family of Pietro had known For the family of Pietro had known Rivolla in the past. Two years before he had lived at Plasta for a time. He had appeared as a sultor for Ninez. Sternly old Sanchez had ordered him away from the threshold. And Ninez had felt relieved when the flerce visaged bandit had departed from the village.

Then there had come a missive for

Then there had come a missive for the little Mexican maid. It was from the renegade Rivolla.

"Have a care!" the words of the message ran. "I have sworn to make you mine, and Rivolla never fails in his purpose."

It was of this that Ninez and Luis were speaking one mornils night. The

It was of this that Ninez and Luis were speaking one moonlit night. The pair had seated themselves on a bench beside the old fieldpiece.

"Another month, mio Ninez," spoke the young man fervently, "and you will be mine. Then adios! to all your needless fears of this terrible Rivolla."

"You do not know his trencherous nature," fluttered Nines, shrinking closer to her manly escort, as though from a sense of protection. "My father tells me he has broken loose again with his wicked horde."

"Rivolla is a braggart and a cow-last campaign that he threatened our little army so direfully, only to run and hide when we advanced upon his stronghold."

Ninez smiled and forgot her fears as they strolled homewards. Luis did not tell Ninez as he bade her goodnight, but he knew there was some foundation for her words.

After leaving Ninez, her lover returned to the bluffs. It was his night for patrol duty. For a long time he sat by the side of the cannon.

His cloak wrapped about him to guard himself from the usual midnight chill sweeping down the valleys, Luis suddenly roused, as, chancing to glance across the broad stream he saw a faint glimmer of blue light.

Without disturbing or alarming any other member of the family, he aroused Sanchez. A grim smile crossed the face of the smith as he listened. His clear eye glowed with the coherent resolve of a resolute and intelligent man as he gave his directions. Luis was to carry these out.

"Mount your swift horse," directed Pietro, "arouse the gunsmith and send him to me at once. Then make for the ford and Modiva. Tell the mayor there to arouse the old guard and hurry to surround Rivolia and his crew."

"But if they cross the river before them?" submitted Luis, quite anniously, "They will not cross the river before them?" submitted Luis, quite anniously, "They will not cross the river," declared Pietro with a grim, determined flash of his lion eyes.

At daylight over one hundred grimvisaged, determined men were gathered on the bluff where the historic fieldplece stood. The mists, slowly lifting, showed the camp of the outlaws on the opposite bank of the river. They had scoured the shore up and down stream for every stray raft, yawi and rowboat. A formidable flottills, all centered in a group in a little cove, showed.

Beside the cannon stood old Sanchez, in his hand an unlighted fusee. His old companion gunner was sighting the fieldpiece.

"Aim low," directed Pietro, and the fusee was lighted.

"Grand old thunderer!" commented the patriarch of the village, as boom and flash and destruction haunted the face of the waters.

Routed, prisoners or destroyed, their evil career was summarily and permanently checked and the power of Rivolla broken forever.

And in the white moonlight, hovering near the brave old fieldpiece that had saved Piasta. Luis and Ninez renewed their plighted troth.

ning in the Legion home, Commander McCrosson announced his committee appointments for the new year.

To facilitate the proper functioning of these committees and to assist them in their work, Commander McCrosson outlined the duties and made many suggestions which, if carried out, will place Post Rodgers foremost in the National body as being the most active Post, not in Legion affairs alone but as an organization serving the best interests of their country, their town and their fellowmen.

With such motives as these it is hardly likely Post Rodgers will experience anything but a successful year.

A careful study of the conditions of the Post, the capability of every member, the immediate remedy meeded and attention to the finer details were all evidenced in the Commander's clear, concise and thorough outline of the year's work.

Almost simultaneously with the appointments, activity of the committees started. Particularly was this noticeable with the entertainment committee. Plans were outlined and movements are now on foot for their initial event which will be a cake sale to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, September 20th. This will be followed by a carnival during the later part of September. Chairman Weart has placed the cake sale in the charge of Reeves Morgan and Harry Shaffer but every member can have a share in this by donating a cake. Just call Reeves and tell him how many he can expect.

The trustees have pledged their support to the new Commander and it is hoped that every Legionaire, particularly those acting on committees, will perform their part as this huge machine grinds out a helpful year for Post Rodgers. If friction is climinated there is less chance for broken parts. Consequently there will be no loss of time for repairs and a 100% efficiency will result.

At this meeting consideration was given the Past Commanders who have previously retired from office with only verbal praise and recognition for their efforts. As a token of appreciation, one that would be made memorable, the truste

INSURE IGNITION

Of Much Importance That Points Be Kept Clean and Make Perfect Contact.

Make Perfect Contact.

By ERWIN GREER.
President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.

There are a number of factors to be considered to insure good ignition; breaker points must be kept clean and make perfect contact; make sure that the points separate the proper distance; coil connections must be tight; test for a broken down condenser; there is considerable wear on the distributor segments, same can be cleaned with 00 sandpaper.

Do not run spark plug wires through fiber or metal tubing; cut grooves in two blocks of fiber land run wires through grooves and boil the blocks together. This will overcome considerable ignition trouble.

Short Causes Trouble.

A short in the light wiring will cause battery to discharge, and may also cause a fire. The presence of a short is indicated by a heavy discharge through the ammeter; a short is caused by a wire pinching between the frame of the car breaking the insulation; for emergency repairs use friction tape to insulate the wire from frame.

Constitution Day Next Wednesday

Constitution Day Next Wednesday

On the seventeenth of September, 1787, was finally adopted and signed by the most distinguished body of constructive statesmen this Country or the world has ever known that document which, upon its subsequent ratification, put into being the most complete governmental plan ever devised by mortal man, and the only system under which equality of personal activities, equality before the law, equality of opportunity have been guaranteed and successfully maintained, with the result that we have in this nation today the happiest and most contented populace, the best and most respected government and the highest plane of civilization and achievement to be found in any nation anywhere.

Therefore it is fitting and proper that more than passing notice be taken of the anniversary of the signing and promulgating of the Constitution of the United States of America by the Constitutional Convention sitting at Philadelphia. And to that end may all patriotic and civic organizations hold exercises commensurate with the peculiar importance of this anniversary.

Public Service Has Largest Private Telephone System

A new telephone directory intended for company use, just off the press for Public Service shows that that Corporation and its operating companies have what is said to be the largest private telephone system in the world, based on the number of exchanges and miles of leased wires. Every Public Service office and plant is connected by telephone, and as the territory served extends from Bergen to Gloucester Counties the system requires thirty-four private exchanges, about 1500 miles of wire and some 2000 extensions. Approximately 50,000 incoming and outgoing calls are handled each working day.

Miss Meitzner Will Train for Englis Channel Swim

Channel Swim

Riverton has a contender for English channel swimming honors.

Maxine Meitzner, 14 years old, plans to begin training, following her success last Saturday in swimming through a rough sea from Ocean City to Atlantic City, a distance of ten miles. Her time was 4 hours and 45 minutes. It is said to have been the first time a woman ever succeeded in accomplishing the feat. Miss Meitzner took the water at Ocean City, and swam through the bar to Young's Million Dollar Pier. She was badly annoyed by jelly fish, and during the last half hour was blind from sun glare and water.

The swim Saturday was in the nature of a test preliminary to beginning training for the attempt of the English Channel.

NOTICE TO ABSENTEE ELECTORS

It is the duty of every American to understand the situation there to-day.

France is the size of Texas, with a population of nearly forty millions. Her fertile hills and valleys, her thrifty people, supporting her peculiar civilization, unsurpassed in art, education and science, is ambitious to develop according to her own ideas. She is surrounded by equally ambitious neighbors, some of whom periodically find occasion to invade the soil of France, and demolish at will. Germany, the same size as France, has sixty seven millions, and is adding six hundred thousand every year, to France's seventy thousand.

France seventy thousand.

France has the Lorraine ore, and Germany the Ruhr coal and coke, each needed by the other.

The Allies who won the War are still allies in winning Peace, and it is imperative that America understand and appreciate France's position, with respect to the present and future, because SECURITY for the future is the transcendent consideration for France.

France fears invasion. It should be understood that her armed force is only adequate for her protection, notwithstanding the propaganda that circulates to the contrary in the United States.

There is a feeling in America that somehow France is at fault, and it is asked why she establishes credit in Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, and other countries, instead of using money to pay debts, but this is explained, when we know that these credits are not for money, but for munitions sold to these countries from the stock accumulated during and after the War. It is charged that France does not balance it, except for the item of interest on the money advanced for reparation in the devasted regions, made in anticipation of payments from Germany.

Is France militaristic? No Nation is less so.

The occupation of the Ruhr was a necessity to France and her allies

My dear Mr. Bowen:

My dear Mr. Bowen:

This may be useful to you and is interesting because it is the first-hand view of a man who has been in Europe much of the time since the Arm istice. He speaks French and German and gathered his information from peasant to ruler in a "close-up' that few enjoy. He is a member of the N. Y. Bar Association of N. Y. and, you may have suspected, is my brother.

The demonstration is to be staged in the open fields back of the Enterprise building, Burlington, N. J., at 7.00 p. m. Company K is to be assisted by a select group of men from the American Legion Post of Burlington, N. J.

The attack, in the nature of a sham battle, is given with the idea in view of demonstrating to the public the course of training the members of the National Guard are obliged to follow and to impress on our mind the necessity of maintaining a well-trained defensive force of men.

The public is most cordially invited to attend this affair.

It is charged that France does not balance her budget, but she does balance it, except for the item of interest on the money advanced for reparation in the devasted regions, made in anticipation of payments from Germany.

Is France militaristic? No Nation is less so.

The occupation of the Ruhr was a necessity to France and her allies because, until Germany was occupied by foreign troops she did not realize that she had lost the war. This is now acknowledged by all authorities, including the German people themselves.

But, what is the great thing that France needs, must have for the future?

First, SECURITY: second, SECURITY.

As Clemenceau said day after day at the Peace Conference, "We want a settlement that will forever preclude the recurrence of invasion by Germany," and so a treaty was made between France, England and America, guaranteeing support, should France between France, England and America, guaranteeing support, should France between France, England and America, guaranteeing support, should France between France, England and America, guaranteeing support, should France on the money and treaty agreeing to go to war, because Congress only can declare war, And it was in consideration of this agreement that France does becomes understandable and clear.

It is not merely sympathy that France requires today, but fairness and honesty, and a real comprehension of conditions as they exist.

Secure France From invasion and her soldiers will immediately return to peaceful pursuits. SECURITY is the keynote, and when this is understood, all that France does becomes understandable and clear.

It all history the leave the every brief and the regular was the every brief and the regular of pinched the recursing based on the resulting in the form of prominent of conditions as they exist.

Secure France France England and America, guaranteeing to go to war, because does not a very interesting but the state of the supported by the best opinion of the world, in her righteous stand for her rights. Red Cross Meeting

The first Fall meeting of the Burlington County Chapter American Red Cross was held at headquarters, 7 West Union street, Burlington, on Sept. 8th, at 2.30 p. m. Mrs. Rogers, chairman, presided, and representatives were present from Burlington, Beverly, Florence, Pemberton, Mount of the Marcheston Community of the Marcheston Reservice work during the last three months for this purpose is $557.36. Protect the Children

Our different States have had different standards, or no standards at all, for child labor. The Congress should have authority to provide a uniform law applicable to the whole Nation which will protect childhood. Our country can not afford to let anyone live off the earnings of its youth of tender years. Their places are not in the factory, but in the school, that the men and women of tomorrow may reach a higher state of existence and the Nation a higher standard of citizenship.

Auditor Told to Go Ahead With Work At the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night the clerk read a communication from Fred P. Hemphill, borough collector, stating that the law required an audit be made only ever your years

COUNCIL WANTS AUDIT

Fred P. Hemphill, borough collector, stating that the law required an audit be made only every two years, and asking that the audit be omitted this year owing to the fact that the auditor had only recently signified his readiness to do the work, and that it was now so near the time for the payment of the December portion of the taxes, it was inconvenient to have the work done at this late day.

Mayor Bennett said:

"January 10th, 1924, the Finance Committee recommended the appointment of Mr. Roy Williams for auditor, said appointment was confirmed by Borough Council.

"It is now more than eight months since auditor was appointed. I think it time that this body and the tax payers had a report from the auditor." I ask that the Finance Committee give this attention:

"Councilman Showell objected to dispending with the audit, and Councilman Earp insisted that it should be made. A motion was passed instructed, and to write to the collector that it was the desire of council to have his books audited immediately, and that the road oil, Texaco, for the gravel streets, was expected on Monday, one coat to be applied now, and another in the spring. The Mayor said the roads should have two coats of asphaltum oil, not tar oil, and should be sanded as soon as the oil is applied.

Councilman Lynch called attention of the gravel streets, was expected on the collector of the gravel streets, was expected on Monday, one coat to be applied now, and another in the spring. The Mayor said the roads should have two coats of asphaltum oil, not tar oil, and should be sanded as soon as the oil is applied.

The Mayor said the roads should have two coats of asphaltum oil, not tar oil, and should be sanded as soon as the oil is applied.

Died.

Councilman Lynch called attention to another washout in the culvert at Broad and Thomas avenue. He said he had found the bottom undermined again, where the water had worked back under the pavement. He had filled the hole with concrete in the bottom and covered it with white clay. Sand had washed into the culvert, he said, in considerable quantity, which he was having removed.

Broat of Insurance Rates

Boost of Insurance Rates

Calling attention to rumors that fire insurance rates in the borough might be increased, the Mayor said:
"A few years ago this body was notified by a board representing the Fire Insurance Companies that owing to the lack of water pressure in our water mains, the insurance rates on all properties in the Borough would be increased. They recommended two alternatives: First, Have water company furnish ample pressure. Second, Provide suitable fire pumping engine.

mended two alternatives: Flist, flave sure. Second, Provide suitable fire pumping engine.

"This body endeavored to procure relief from the water company and that not being possible, this body purchased a fire pump at an expense of about $13,000. This outlay in addition to an increased yearly outlay for maintentance of fire apparatus is a burden on the tax payers.

"I have been informed the past few days that the Insurance Board representing the Insurance Board representing the Insurance Gompanies are now contemplating raise of Insurance rates on all properties, claiming that in case of a large fire, that the fire engine would exhaust the water company can pump same into mains. If there is any foundation to the report, this body should make an investigation and take what steps necessary to safe-guard the people's interests.

In reply, Mr. Showell said that the water company had guaranteed to supply water to the mains faster than the pumper could possibly use it. Mr. Earp said Councilman Geiss had some information on this subject. Mr. Showell recommended that the matter be referred to the fire and water committee, of which he is chairman, and this action was taken. Mr. Showell further said that before the pumper was bought the fire insurance companies had said rates would go up if certain things were not done. Since then, practically all of their recommendations had been carried out.

Power of Appointment Vested in Mayor

Referring to the appointment of a special officer to serve while the regular officers were on their vacations, the Mayor said:

"At the last meeting of Council, the Police Committee reported that they had extended to the two Marshalls a week or ten days' vacation, which was commendable of the Police Committee and fully approved by the Mayor and Council.

The committee did not report that an officer had been appointed to fill the vacancy during the leave of absence of the Marshalls on their vacation.

they had extended to the two Marshalls a week or ten days' vacation, which was commendable of the Police Committee and fully approved by the Mayor and Council.

The committee did not report that an officer had been appointed to fill the vacancy during the leave of absence of the Marshalls on their vacation.

"I call the attention of the Committee to the Borough Laws which in part read 'That all appointive officers of the Borough (and the Marshalls are named) must be appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council."

"The appointment recently made is irregular, and not according to Law".

The mayor asked that his remarks be made a part of the minutes for the guidance of council in the future.

Would Improve "Swimming Hole"

Mr. Earp suggested that next yearsome improvements be made to the "swimming hole" in the creek near the memorial park site. He said it was an ideal spot, and was now being largely used. A very little expense, he said, would fix it up in good shape. The Mayor said his attention had been called to the fact that the J. Lippincott down it, he said, and C. Biddle Lewis, treasurer of the company had not extended the curbing in front of its property on East Main street to the borough line. He had written to Mr. Lippincott Company had not extended the curbing in front of its property on East Main street to the borough line. He had written to Mr. Lippincott Company had not extended the curbing in front of its property on East Main street to the borough line. He had written to Mr. Lippincott down it, it and that the work would be completed just as soon as the necessary filling in was done. It was the opinion of council that the filling should be done on the property side of the curb, and that it was up to the Lippincott company to do it. The matter was referred to the highway committee for adjustment.

Mr. Lynch reported that Robert Clelland, supervisor of streets, had served notice on several property owners to clean up their lots, and also on those who had defective sidewalks. The Mayor said he had called the attention of the supervisor to Ordinance No. 41, covering both of these matters, and asked him to carry out his part of enforcing it, which is to serve notice, and if the defects mentioned are not remedied in thirty days, to report to Council, which will then take action. The Mayor reported that three successful bidders had signed constructed and furnished bonds, for the improvement work recently passed on by Council. Two of the bonds were turned to the contractor for correction. One contract which was not in proper form and had been returned to the contractor for correction. One contract which was not in proper form had also been returned.

Clerk's Salary Raised
Mr. Showell's resolution that the borough clerk's salary be increased from $350 to $550 a year was unanimously passed.

The ordinance for issuing improvement bonds in the sum of $75,000 was unanimously passed after two amendments proposed by Mr. Showell had been made.

A letter was read from the railroad company relative to the requested protection of the crossing at Cedar street, stating that he matter had been taken under consideration.

The building inspector reported the issuance of seven permits during the month, covering, improvements amounting to $7160.

No More Dodging Permits

Mr. Lynch called attention to the fact that the inspector was having a lot of trouble with people who claimed that the work contemplated amounted to less than the sum requiring a permit to be taken out, and recommended that an amendment be made to the building code making it necessary to have a permit for everything in new work or alterations to buildings, however small, with a fee for all work over $25. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee to have an amendment drawn. CouncilmanWilliams said that many towns had small signs erected at the various entrances, giving the name of the place, and suggested that Riverton do something along this line. The matter was referred to the property committee, of which Mr. Williams is chairman.

Mr. Showell said that since the horough garbage collector had been fined in Palmyra for allowing garbage to drip on the streets, and had also been jacked up by the chairman of the committee having him in charge, he had repaired the leaky wagon, but had arranged a hole with a plug which was removed when too much moisture accumulated, and the surplus was emptied into the streets. The Mayor said that his delinquencies in this respect should have the attention of the Board of Health.

be Coached by Jim Hartley and Joe Stack

The first meeting of the candidates for Tommy Schwink's Field Club football team was held in the clubrooms Monday evening. It was attended by a large crowd of fellows who were very enthusiastic about the prospects for a Palmyra eleven this year.

James H. Hartley is a former college gridiron star and has a thorough knowledge of the game. Besides knowing the game, Mr. Hartley takes a deep interest in athletics and has promised to help the team in every way possible. Mr. Hartley told the boys a good athletic team is a valuable asset to any town.

Joseph L. Stack, who has played football for years, both on amateur and professional teams, will cooperate with Mr. Hartley in coaching the new eleven. Jim and Joe should be able to develop a fast light team with the wealth of promising material which is available.

Tommy says about $150 will be needed to finance the proposition and purchase uniforms. A prominent business man has promised to make a substantial donation when they "pass the hat".

The team will practice Thursday evenings, Candidates are requested to report at the Field Club rooms promptly at 7.30.

The following will try for positions on the line: Dick Polis, Frank Probsting, Dryer, Robert Brown, Petito, Sink, Reagle, O'Brien, Fish, Dinn, and Hamelman.

TOPIC—Medical Missions.

1. Jesus Praying (v. 35).

After a series of most strenuous efforts, Jesus retired to a lonely place to pray. Doubtless He felt the need of having His spiritual strength recruited. He who the day before had shown His mighty power in casting out devils and banishing disease now needed to be alone with God. In order to do this He arose long before daylight. He had slept at Peter's house and withdrew to a solitary place unperceived. The very best time to pray is in the morning when our physical powers have been renewed.

11. Found by Peter (vv. 36, 37).

His work of the preceding day had made such a profound impression that the multitudes sought Him. Since the people were so aroused the disciples thought that it was the opportune time to press the campaign. For that reason Peter, and perhaps Andrew, James and John, eagerly sought Him and told Him what the multitudes were delay. Him and told Him what the multitudes

III. Preaching in Other Towns (vv.

The great Missionary persisted in His program despite the success which had attended His efforts at Capernaum. Popularity in a given place is not the criterion by which to determine the wisdom of remaining there. He preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee and cast out demons, for it was for this very purpose that He came forth from the Heaventy Eather. Heavenly Eather.

IV, Jenus Heals a Leper (vv. 40-45).
This deed is highly significant. It not only shows His mighty power and divine love but It is symbolical. Leprosy is a type of sin.

4. An Immediate Cure (v. 42). Divine healing is always instantaneous and complete. This is the outstanding difference between divine healing and the so-called "faith healing."

5. His Stern Charge (v. 43, 44). Christ dismissed him with a strict charge that he should not make this known. The reason for this was that wide publicity would create such excitement as to interfere with His prenching. Furthermore, he was still ceremonially unclean. His going to the priests with a proper offering would indicate his regard for the laws and 'customs of Moses and therefore disarm prejudice.

6. Willful Disobedience (v. 45). Instead of rendering grateful obedience he bilazed it abroad and thus hindered the Lord's work. Thus we see that the stupid self will of one man may prevent many from hearing and seeing the blessings of the Lord's preaching and healing.

WHAT IS ANTITOXIN? DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN Editor of "HEALTH"

WHAT is antitoxin?

WHAT is antitoxin?

According to some enthusiastic but misinformed pc. sons, it is a "filthy animal product." If this were true, no one would be justified in using it.

But it isn't true.

Antitoxin is a serum made from the blood of the horse, under regulations made by the United States government, which insures absolute cleanliness.

Why do we use horse's blood to treat diphtheria?

For the same reason we use horses to pull our drays—because the horse is stronger than the man.

Diphtheria is caused by microscopic plants getting into the nose and throat and growing on the mucuous membrane, just as larger plants, which are visible to the naked eye, grow in the garden. The individual diphtheria plants are too small to be seen, but the beds of diphtheria plants in the child's Addressing an audience of women in Camden Saturday night, Senator Edge, who seeks re-election, said: "Kean's efforts to keep the wet and dry issue in the foreground is a characteristic sample of his political hypocrisy."

Maybe "wet and dry" isn't an issue in this election, but evidently Robert A. Zachary, secretary to Senator Edge, didn't know it, when, speaking at Trenton on August 6, he predicted that Edge would win by a majority of 40,000, and said, "Edge is relying on the city vote, which is largely 'wet,' to offset the Kean 'dry' vote in the rural communities."

Stating his own position in this matter, Senator Edge said, in a statement to be released August 2, "I have time after time clearly stated my position on law enforcement. The 18th Amendment to the Constitution and the Volstead act are laws of the land, and, needless to say, I will make every effort to help bring about their enforcement."

That sounds fair enough, doesn't it?

But here comes the joker—"I re-

That sounds fair enough, doesn't it?

But here comes the joker—"I reserve the right, however, to advocate 'remedial changes.' To blindly adhere to an unenforceable and unjustified law and assail those who seek a remedy is cowardice."

He considers the Volstead Act "unenforceable"and "unjustified." This law is the instrument through which the provisions of the 18th Amendment are carried into effect. In the hands of those who really believed in its provisions it could be readily made effective. What "remedial changes" has the Senator in mind? Any modification that would permit the sale of anything intoxicating would be immediately declared unconstitutional. The Senator knows this fully as well as Edwards knew the futility of his promise to "make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic Ocean." Both propositions are of a stripe. The Edge "hope" is a little more adroitly worded.

When asked to explain the contradiction between the "Ill will meta-

Edge "hope" is a little more adroitly worded.

When asked to explain the contradiction between the "I will make every effort to bring about their enforcement" pose, and the "unenforceable and unjustified" attitude, one of the Edge lieutenants in Riverton said, "Well, that's all right. When I am talking to a 'dry" I elaborate on the law enforcement idea, and when I am talking to a 'wet' I forget all about that and bear down heavy on the 'remedial measures!"

Six years is a long time to endure a man who plays fast and loose with the most important issue before the American people. All other gains are transient if the integrity of our Constitution is not preserved.

Hamilton F. Kean has demonstrated his ability as member of the Republican National Committee, and has an additional advantage which is appealing more strongly to thinking voters of both sexes every day—he is unequivocally for the enforcement of law, without any suggestion of "remedial measures" or doubts about its being justified and enforceable.

Those in the second four are Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Rodman and Mrs. Atlee.

MacBean Wins President's Cup An out-of-town member of the Riverton Country Club captured the President's Cup in the tournament which ended Saturday, September 13. He is Norman MacBean, of Oak Lane, Pa., who joined the Club early this year.

a majority of the people, even in New Jersey, are in favor of its enforcement, otherwise it would be political expediency for them to come out on a platform of advocating its repeal, as in their hearts they would like to do, instead of playing up "every effort to bring about their enforcement" to the drys, and "remedial changes" to the wets, instead of declaring that "wet and dry" is not an issue, and then depending on the "vote in the cities which is largely "wet," for their majorities.

Who is the hyprocrite?

Who is the hyprocrite?

If the citizens of New Jersey are to rid themselves of the domination of the element that turned our State over to the Silzers and the Edwards on a platform of law defiance, they must make a start, and no better opportunity affords than to elect to the United States Senate a man whose integrity is unquestioned.

Church

John J. Cornelius, professor of philosophy of Lucknow University, Lucknow, India, is to deliver an address at the Epworth Methodist Church Sunday evening at seven forty-five o'clock. Professor Cornelius is a native of India, having received his preliminary education in that country.

His collegiate work was done in this country and he has degrees from Ohio Wesleyan, Boston, and Harvard Universities. For five years he had the chair of philosophy at Lucknow College, and for three years he has had a similar chair at Lucknow University. He was a lay delegate from India at the General Conference of The Methodist Church held at Springfield last May. He is personally acquainted with Mahama Gandhi, the great Indian leader. Professor Cornelius is a personal friend of the Rev. Fred B. Morley, the pastor, whose guest he is to be over the weekend.

Thomas H. Wilkins

Thomas H. Wilkins, 68 years old, was killed by a train Monday evening at the Thomas avenue crossing where he was watchman.

The accident apparently was due to the fact that the train which struck Mr. Wilkins was running on the wrong track. Another train, a freight, had been switching cars at Riverton and was occupying the east bound track. Consequently the second train, an east bound through freight had been sent on the west bound rails.

bound track. Consequently the second train, an east bound through freight had been sent on the west bound rails.

The watchman evidently came out of his shanty, walked to the middle of the track and looked eastward, from which direction he would usually expect the train to be coming. His body was badly mangled and death was probably instantaneous. The accident occured at $15.

Mr. Wilkins had long been a familiar figure in Palmyra. He tended the gates at Cinnaminson avenue for several years. In addition he did much work all over town caring for lawns and hedges. His acquaintances often referred to him as the hardest working man in Palmyra.

He had a twin brother, Joshua Wilkins, who died several years ago and the two looked so much alike it was difficult to tell them apart. Both were short small men, but very spry and energetic.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, 508 Arch street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. B. Morley. Interment in Morgan cemetery.

The widow, Annie Wilkins, and seven children survive.

A Hamilton F. Kean smoker will be held in Collins' Hall, Riverton, Monday evening, September 22nd, at eight-fifteen. Many prominent speak-ers will make addresses and every-body is welcome.

The World Court

We have sought to promote peace not only by word, but by appropriate action. We have been unwilling to surrender our independence. We have refused to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. But we have cooperated with it to suppress the narcotic trade and promote public health. We have every desire to help; but the time, the place, and the method must be left to our determination. Under our Constitution we can not foreclose the right of the President or the Congress to determine future problems when they arise. We must necessarily proceed upon the principle of present cooperation without future entanglements.

sey will have an opportunity on Tuesday, September 23, 1924, to show their appreciation of the untiring labors of their Senator, Walter E. Edge.

The Senator has not yet completed his first term, but through his ability and broad grasp of affairs has attained a position in the Nation's Councils far beyond the usual, compared with his length of service. A new man, even of equal ability, would spend years before he could attain the influence and prestige of our Senior Senator.

If any individual in political office devotes himself unselfishly to his duty, and makes good, he should be rewarded by re-election. This, I believe, is true of Senator Edge. If efficiency is not rewarded in public life we will find it difficult to get good men to serve.

This year, of all years, we need to elect a strong, able Republican, who will stand up and support the President.

Senator Edge has always applied business methods in every position to which he has been elected. His record is too well known to make it necessary to enumerate his accomplishments.

He is an efficient, useful and intelligent public servant and deserves your support.

Yours for Progress,

ROBERT BIDDLE.

Mrs. Feickert Flays Edge

In another column Mrs. E. F. Feickert, New Jersey Republican leader, gives some of the "inside" history of Senator Edge as a "loyal" Republican and a "supporter of the President."

She tells of his unwillingness to help elect Frelinghuysen and points out the significance of the vote in Bergen county. She also relates how Edge stood with five Democrats against the President, and gives many other illuminating sidelights.

It is interesting reading.

Vastly Important!

We, the undersigned, being firm believers in Republican standards and principles, and at the same time, close observers of the conduct of affairs at our National Capitol, fully realize the vast importance of united effort on the part of every good American citizen to elect to office those, who by their past record, have shown their ability and honesty of purpose, to legislate for the best interests of the people. The coming election is vitally important, and no citizen should fail to cast his vote at the Primary election to be held Tuesday, September 23, 1924-Polls open from 7.00 a.m.

When casting your vote, be sure to remember that our present United States Senator, Walter E. Edge, served the State of New Jersey in the Assembly, Senate, and finally as Governor, in a manner satisfactory to all, and was then elected by a large majority to the United States Senate, which high office he has held for nearly six years. And has proven by his sound business methods and his exceptional foresight, his ability to handle affairs of State.

Senator Edge has consistently supported the President.

He stands four square for law enforcement.

He is a member of the International Marketing Corporation (the only legislative act which has to date, furnished real relief to the farmers).

has saved the Treasury Department, and the taxpayers, over $600,000,000.

He furthered the development of New Jersey Harbors and Water-ways.

He stood for readjustment of salaries of 300,000 Postal employes. He is in charge of the Senate-Federal Corrupt Practices act.

He has invariably voted on side of progressive conservatism and sanity.

With a record of this kind, is there any question as to your support? We also feel that our present member of Congress, Isaac Bacharach, should receive the united support of all. He has for several terms conscientiously fulfilled the duties of his office, ever mindful of the best interests of his constituents. He is a member of the "Ways and Means Committee" one of the most important in Congress, and is the only New Jersey member who has served on this Committee in the last fifty years.

FULL-SKIRT FILMY FROCKS CHIC FOR AFTERNOON AND DANCE

A COORDING to fashion's verdict, a sin of omission it is, not to include in one's present-day costume collection a filmy frock of black chiffon or georgette. It should be full-skirted, posed over a silken or satin slip same color or not and if lace trimmed then indeed does it answer the mode's requirements. As to sleeves superfluous quirements. As to sleeves, superfluous are they, now that the matching scarf so gracefully does the honors.

The vogue for the transparent black gown is handsomely expressed in the picture. The scarf of self material, lace-hordered to match the skirt, gracefully atones for any absence of are designed with incrustations of black chantilly lace. Insertions, row after row, of filmy black lace traverse many of the full skirts, preserving at all times a transparency which accents

the patterning of the lace.
In tune with the Spanish note now so definitely forecast for the coming autumn and winter, is the fringe importance of chiffon throughout costume styling.

Again chiffon acclaims its supremacy in that capes to match the dress are fashioned of this sheer fabric.

For more informal daytime occasions, the chiffon frock finely plaited is very popular. Often these are open up the front in redingote fashion, and they are worn over plain satin or as frequently over hold printed silks.

A letter every voter should read!

J. T. DORRANCE POMONA FARMS, CINNAMINSON NEW JERSEY

Telephone, Riverton I

Dear Republican Voter:

September 23rd is Primary Day

On that day you will express your choice for the man you believe is most worthy to be the candidate of the great Republican Party for United States Senator from New Jersey.

This is a great state. It is your home and my home. Nothing can be too good for it. The man we all want and need in the Senate is the man who will do the square thing for the farmer, for labor, for business-for all the people in the state, and not for any one class.

As one voter to another, as one resident of New Jersey to another, I take the liberty to ask you to consider how splendidly Senator Walter E. Edge measures up to this big job.

He is a candidate for re-election. His record as a fearless, aggressive public-spirited leader in this state (Assemblyman, Senator, and Governor) stamps him as one of the ablest, squarest, most trustworthy public officials New Jersey ever had.

He saved the tax payers countless thousands by establishing the State Budget System.

He proved himself the valiant champion of labor by framing the State Workmen's Compensation Act, the laws to regulate the working hours of women, and the laws protecting factory workmen from unnecessary risks.

To the untiring enthusiasm and effort of Mr. Edge as Governor, New Jersey is largely indebted for its magnificent system of State Highways, and for the Delaware River Bridge-two projects of great value to every resident

In 1918 Mr. Edge was chosen United States Senator. He has filled that great office with outstanding success. His experience and demonstrated ability (combined with the greater opportunity afforded him under the seniority rule) make him the most effective representative New Jersey can send to the Senate.

Mr. Edge is a Republican and a staunch supporter of President Coolidge. Your vote for Senator Edge on Primary Day will be a vote for economy, efficiency in government, lower taxes, law enforcement and the rights and interests of all the people.

Very sincerely yours,

P.S. I am not connected with any campaign committee nor with the soliciting of any campaign funds

"If a rat waited for an invitation from people a rat would be kept waiting a long time.

"I have often thought to my rat self that it is rude of them not to send me invitations.

"Sometimes I've heard one of the children speaking to some little friend, and they have said:

"Wait and we shall ask Mother if you can stay for supper."

"And they have asked their mother and the mother has said yes and the little friend has stayed for supper.

"But they never say:

"Mamma. may we have Mr. Rat here this evening and offer him some good food?"

"No they never say that here this evening and offer him some good food?

"No, they never say that.
"Oh, well, I don't let it hurt my feelings. As I've said before, and as my family have all said, if we let our feelings be hurt we wouldn't have much of a time.

"For no one says anything particularly nice about us. We aren't very clean, or anything like that, and we do pick up the food around and make a great deal of noise and trouble.

"Still, there are no Bat schools and rats never learn any better—their mothers don't bother to teach them manners, either.

"I do believe I will have something to eat tonight. I think I smelled nice Johnny-cake a-cooking.

Johnny-cake a-cooking.
"I shall start out very soon."
So once more Mr. Rat straightened his whiskers and decided he would wait no longer.
He ran along the walls, or rather between the walls, and the family said:

"Oh, dear, there are rats around. so't that dreadful?". Mr. Rat kept quiet for a while now, but pretty soon he hurried along again, the passed over some wires which had been put in the house at one time and which now were not in use.

As he passed them and hurried over them it almost sounded as though Mr. Rat were playing a wire solo on his own particular kind of violin.

ical were playing a wire solo on his own particular kind of violin.

Mr. Rat went through the hole and into the kitchen. No one was around. Ah, he saw the johnny-cake. It was on the stove, on the upper oven, and the stove was quite cool. It was a grasstove, though Mr. Rat didn't know ere from another.

The johnny-cake was still a little wrom but not too hot to eat.

Mr. Rat jumped and ran right over to the cake, and then he had a feast. If he had been told that johnny-cake had been made as a special treat for the next day it would have made no difference to him.

But then he heard people coming. Oh, well, he had had a fine feast. In hurrying away, he turned on one of the gas jets of the stove with his foot.

But they looked, and one of the gas jets had been turned on and the gas was escaping, and it was lucky they had seen it in time. Then they knew that the rat was the guilty one. And they laid a trap for the rat, for he was both a thief and a dangerous character.

Too Much Argument.

Two drovers were sitting in the inn of an English village. They had been sitting there for nearly an hour, and so far neither had spoken. At last one of them opened his mouth. "Didat see old brown cow on th' moor?" he asked Another half-hour elapsed. Then the second drover spoke. "It wasn't brows cow," he said. "Twas brown bull." Silence again for another half hour The first man rose and made for the door. "Going?" queried the other. "Aye," came the reply. "Far too much argument here for ma."

WHY=

Watches Must Undergo Series of Tests

Watches Must Undergo Series of Tests

The modern watch is compelled to go through a most drastic test before it is allowed to enter the pocket or to repose upon the wrist of the purchaser. One of the most necessary things ascertained is the action which changes of temperature have upon the works. Extremes of heat and cold affect the running of a watch considerably. You may, perhaps, have noticed with your own watch that it cannot be relied upon to keep accurate time if the weather makes a sudden jump from heat to cold, or vice versa.

It will either gain or lose in an extraordinary manner, and you will wonder what is happening. When the weather becomes normal again, the watch will behave properly. Expensive watches are adjusted for temperatures varying between 85 degrees and 95 degrees.

Every watch is put in a tightly-fitting case, and placed in a chamber the temperature of which is slightly above freezing point. Its movement is observed very carefully, and adjusted from time to time, until the watch is going correctly.

The timekeeper is then moved from the cold chamber, and gradually heated in a specially constructed oven, the temperature of which is between 90 and 100 degrees. Here its internal arrangements are still carefully watched and adjusted from time to time. When the watch is going correctly in this temperature it is returned to the cold chamber for further adjustment, if necessary. It spends about a week in each chamber.

By the time a watch has passed the temperature test, it will go correctly in any climate. Chronometers ordered especially by explorers and travelers who are going to places where great extremes of temperature are encountered undergo very searching tests to make them thoroughly reliable.

Why Fuse-Wire Blows Out With Excess Current

Out With Excess Current
When an electric current flows through a wire it makes the wire warm explains Popular Science Monthly. Different materials resist the flow to different degrees. Fuse-wire is made of an ailoy containing a large proportion of lead, which gets very warm when large currents pass through it.
Furthermore, since this alloy melts easily, the currents, if large enough, may cause the fuse-wire to melt.
Wherever current is being consumed in the house or factory, a piece of fuse-wire is put somewhere in the circuit. If through accident or design too much current should be used, the fuse-wire will melt, or, as it is usually described, "blow," and stop the flow of current before the copper wire inside the walls can heat up and set fire to the house.

Inspired by personal ambition his opponent's campaign has been one of petulent, peevish, criticism, and deliberate misrepresentations backed by hypocrisy and destructive political expediency.

Mr. Kean's so-called platform only pledges support to the public activities already inaugurated by Senator Edge.

Senator Edge's opponent seeks the office on the plea that the Volstead Act is the major issue upon which to select a Senator. The Republican National Platform upon which Coolidge and Dawes are standing does not even mention this act, but declares for law enforcement upon which Senator Edge likewise stands four square.

When Mr. Kean, searching for an issue, introduces the Volstead Act in the campaign, he invites a repetition of the crushing defeat of two years ago and in effect repudiates the platform upon which Coolidge, Dawes, Edge and all other Republican candidates are running.

If the National Republican Convention, representing every state in the Union, had wished to declare the Volstead Act sacred, the delegates would have so decided. They did just the opposite and any such selfish appeal is a deliberate failure to back the Republican party and the President of the United States.

Senator Edge has consistently backed the President and the Republican party and will continue to do so. He will not be a hypocrite to gain political support.

Serving a second term he will bring to New Jersey the added prestige and in-every locality the candidate who gets the Republican nomination is sure of election.

The only contest in Palmyra is that for Borough Council where three men are running for two jobs. George N. Wimer and Joseph A. Davis, both incumbents, and Julius Fisher, a new man, are the candidates.

While there has been a notable absence of personalities and bitterness in this contest to date, it is no less full of interest. Mr. Wimer's candidacy is an outgrowth of his opposition to the use of gambling wheels at carnivals, which led to his resignation as police commissioner a few weeks ago. At the request of his friends he became a candidate for council again although it had been his expressed intention not to make the race. His platform is, as usual, law enforcement and a clean progressive town.

Mr. Davis took issue with Mr. Wimer on the carnival question and probably will be supported by Wimer's opponents.

Mr. Fisher is understood to be linked with Mr. Wimer rather than Mr. Davis. He has long been a resident of Berkley avenue and is known as a citizen of the good, substantial type.

Mr. Davis is a builder and cement contractor and favors lessening the restrictions of the building code so as

mr. Davis is a builder and cement contractor and favors lessening the restrictions of the building code so as to make it easier to build houses. In the county there is quite a race for two Freeholder jobs, chief among the contestants being Howard Russ, of Delanco, a riverfront man who considers Palmyra as part of his home bailliwick: Fred Lippincott, of Moorestown, who has been paired with Freeholder Rogers, of Palmyra, in the Board's "scraps," Edward T. Haines, an old political warhorse, of Mount Holly: Herman Croshaw, a successful and respected farmer of Wrightstown, and several others.

For County Auditor is a scrap between Daniel Lemmon, of Browns Mills, the organization's candidate, and the Rev. Curwen B. Fisher, a retired clergyman of Mount Holly.

Several also are out for Coroner and included in the list are our own Frank A. Snover, whom nearly everybody in the twin towns knows, and Lynn W. Frye, the Riverside Chiropractor.

The big state fight is between Hamilton F. Kean and Walter E. Edge for the United States Senatorial nomination on the Republican ticket. The winner of this fight will be opposed by Mayor Fred W. Donnelly, of Trenton.

BABE FLYNN GETS REVENGE Palmyra, and Wins Game 3-0

Palmyra, and Wins Game 3-0
Hats off to Babe Flynn. He came to Palmyra for revenge last Saturday, and got it by trimming the local baseball team by a 3-0 score. This battle enabled the Babe to enter the Hall of Fame, for he pitched a nohit no-run game. The former Palmyra premier twirler was doing mound duty for the Maple Shade aggregation which Palmyra defeated a few weeks

which Palmyra deceated a lew when ago.

When the locals met Maple Shade at Maple Shade about a fortnight ago, Joe Gorman won the pitching honors over Babe. Joe was working to perfection and hurled wonderful ball for Palmyra. It was reported that the far more experienced Mister Flynn felt somewhat humiliated over this defeat and intended to win for Maple Shade when it came for the return vame.

The hostesses of the after noon will be Miss Renner, Mrs. Lore, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Pike, Mrs. Waller and Mrs. Heahn.

—Miss Theckla Vollmer, sister of Mrs. Elvin I. Powell, who has been spendint the summer in Wildwood, returned to her home in Dayton, Ohio, on Friday. She was the guest of Mrs. Powell from Wedeneday under the summer in Wildwood, returned home on Sunday, He was also the guest of his sister, Mrs. Powell, for several days as the deep the safety of the saf under and caught the precious missle.

Van Brunt pitched excellent ball and probably would have won under normal conditions. He was found for six singles, the homer, and issued one pass. He was able to keep the hits scattered except in the third when Maple Shade bunched three singles and pushed over two runs.
Besides his wonderful pitching, Flynn covered himself with honors on the offense. He was the only man on his team to drive out two hits, having a single in the third and fifth rounds, Mister Flynn also scored one of the three runs and looked like a whirlwind on bases.

The fielding behind Flynn was not exactly airtight. His team mates made five errors. Martin walked three men.

Van Brunt and Evans make a good cliable battery and should begin to vin a few games. "Van" has pitched wo good games for Palmyra, but toth times has not received the required support on the offense. Sad to clate, Palmyra was shut out both times. Better luck this week, "Van."

Fire at George Anderson's

A small fire occured Monday morning at the home of George Anderson, 724 Cinnaminson avenue. Mr. Anderson's young son, George, Jr., was playing in the bathroom and left an electric shaving heater lying on some paper with the current turned on.
Mrs. Anderson discovered the blaze and had it virtually extinguished with pails of water by the time the firemen arrived. The wallpaper, plastering and woodwork about the window will have to be replaced.

EDGE'S "LOYALTY"

lights on Senator's Attitude

"Senator Edge is evidently determined that the Republican women leaders of the State shall not remain neutral in the Senatorial nomination fight. Not content with basing most of his claims to public support upon grounds which we know are not in accordance with the facts, he is now attacking us personally. In a recent statement in the newspapers Senator Edge attempts to hold the women's organization responsible for the defeat of Senator Frelinghuysen two years ago.

"We cannot let such a statement go unchallenged. The Republican women have worked faithfully and well in every campaign since we got the vote in 1920—not for money, not for positions for themselves or their relatives, not for patronage; but solely from a sense of obligation to their State and their Party. Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson and I were both members of the Frelinghuysen Campaign. Committee, and we know that it was not the women who were false and disloyal to their Party obligations, and who 'cut' the heads of the ticket on Election Day.

"Senator Frelinghuysen stood for "Senator F

the heads of the ticket on Election Day.

"Senator Frelinghuysen stood for everything which the women desire in Government: honesty, faithfulness to duty, the appointment to office of honest men, the proper enforcement of the law. Even if women generally had been willing to be false to their Party obligations, there was every reason for them to desire the election of Senator Frelinghuysen in preference to a Democrat who openly boasted that if elected he was going to do his utmost to bring back the traffic in liquor in the State and Nation.

Wanted to "Conciliate" the Weta

Wanted to "Conciliate" the Wets

"A few days after the Frelinghuysen defeat, at the request of Senator Edge, Mrs. Thompson and I called upon him at his office in the Dorland Advertising Agency at 244 Madison avenue, New York. He greeted us with the statement that, of course, the Frelinghuysen defeat meant that he was now the Republican leader of New Jersey; that he considered that the election demonstrated that the majority of the voters of New Jersey were 'wet'; and that as leader he felt that something should be done to conciliate this wet majority.

"We said we did not agree with him; we thought the election had demonstrated three things—that the votors generally had been too ready to give credence to the 'whispering campaign' of the 'wets' about the 'Frelinghuysen cellar'; that too many church people had failed to realize the situation, and had by their negligence in not registering and voting made the votes of the 'wet' element count double; and last, but by no means least, that the Republican machine in many counties had deliberately sent out orders to 'cut' the heads of the ticket.

Why Frelinghuysen Lost Wanted to "Conciliate" the Wets

Why Frelinghuysen Lost

"We pointed out that it was a singular coincidence that in all of the counties where Senator Frelinghuysen had run far behind the Republican legislative ticket, the men in control were members of the so-called 'Edge Machine', i. e., men who had been appointed to lucrative positions by him when Governor and Senator and who repaid him by supporting candidates whom he favored, and by using their influence with the Legislature in behalf of men and measures desired by him. (Incidentally, we had a recent striking example of this last winter when the Edge Machine forced the appointment of Senators Bright and Reeves as President and Majority Leader of the State Senate). We cited as an instance of what we meant the election returns from Bergen County, where its county ticket, headed by Senator William B, Mackay, one of Senator Edge's righthand men, received a majority of 6197. A difference of 14,904 votes in a county which has one of the strongest Republican organizations in the State cannot be accidental!

Help Wets

"He made his first speech in Hoboken on October 18th, and his speech caused consternation in the Frelinghuysen ranks. He spoke immediately after Senator Frelinghuysen, who had tried to make it clear to a very wet audience that the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Law were the laws of the land and must be enforced, and stated that he did not intend to try to fool them by promising what he could not perform even if he desired to. Senator Edge then got up and said that he did not agree with his colleague; that something could be done about it if a bill to modify the Volstead Law was introduced, and, furthermore, that he thought it was the duty of the Senate to pass such a law."

How He "Stood by the President" "Certainly in helping to contribute

How He "Stood by the President"

"Certainly in helping to contribute to the defeat of a Republican Senator, Senator Edge was not 'standing by the President' in 1922, and from what I know of his recent attitude toward legislation at Washington, he has not stood by President Coolidge any better than he did by President Harding. He certainly has not helped the Republican Administration by failing to vote for the Shepard-Towner Maternity Bill, by consenting to changes in the Bill for increasing the salaries of postal clerks and carriers, so that the chief benefit from the bill would go to postmasters instead of to letter-carriers, and by not having in cluded in the bill a provision for revising the revenue to furnish the money to carry out its provisions, although he knew the President had said he would veto the bill unless it carried such a provision. He did not help the Administration very much by not using his influence to push the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill in Committees, although he did make a speech for it on the floor of the Senate, when he knew the bill did not have the ghost of a show of even coming up for a vote there. He did not help the administration very much by failing to help the Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution along when it was in committee, although he did vote for it when other Senators forced it up for a vote.

What He Savs and What He Does

was in committee, atthough he did vote for it when other Senators forced it up for a vote.

What He Says and What He Does "Senator Edge says he is for law enforcement, but the character of the men whom he, and he alone, with the other Senator from New Jersey, a Democrat, has been responsible for, does not indicate any sincere desire to see the law enforced, and his vote against the Search and Seizure treaty with Great Britain, a bill directed against the illegal importation of drugs and poisons, and the illegal bringing in of undesirable emigrants, quite as much as against the illegal importation of liquor, certainly did not indicate a desire to stand by the President and the Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes. The President had particularly asked Congress to ratify this treaty, and only six Senators voted against it—five Democrats and Senator Edge.

"I am in favor of the election of Hamilton F. Kean, a man who has worked for the best interests of the Party for thirty years, contributing his time and money for the election of Republican candidates (including to a considerable degree Senator Edge when he was running for Governor and later for the U. S. Senator.

"He will give more than lip service to our great President, Calvin Coolidge, and the voters of New Jersey will not be disappointed in him if they send him to represent them in the United States Senate."

Address Meeting in Palmyra

The candidates' meting held in P.
O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra, Tuesday, evening, was well attended, and statemed, and statemed out to be looked over and to tell the voters what they stood for.

Mrs. Esther Buehrer, chairman of the Riverton-Palmyra League of Women Voters, presided. Mrs. Buehrer briefly told the history of the League in this community and spoke of its goal to get out 75% of the voters in the coming primary and general elections.

The candidates who graced the platform were Robert Peacock, candidate for the House of Representatives; Senator Emmor Roberts, candidate for reelection to State Senate; Clifford R. Powell, candidate for reelection to the New Jersey Assembly; James V. Herron, Democratic candidate for this office; William H. Reeves and Mrs. Mary C. Fromhagen, candidates for County Clerk; F. A. Snover, John C. Belton, 2nd and Isaac J. Cliver, candidates for Coroner; Howard Russ, Herman Croshaw, Fred Lippincott and Robert B. Glasgow, candidates for Board of Freeholders; Curwen B. Fisher, Daniel R. Lemmon, candidates for County Auditor; Henry I. Worrell, candidate for Steward of the Almshouse.

Daniel R. Lemmon, candidates for County Auditor; Henry I. Worrell, candidate for Steward of the Almshouse.

Senator Roberts was the first speaker, and referred briefly to good roads, schools and prohibition enforcement. He said that since the reorganization of the State Highway Commission open bids had been the order, and not a single mile of "patent" road had been constructed. He said that the present method of distributing school funds on the basis of property valuations was inequitable, and he favored legislation which would make the number of teachers and pupils the determining factor in distributing State school moneys. The Senator said that he stood solidly for prohibition enforcement and against modification of the Volstead Act. He said that this should not be an issue in political campaigns, but would continue to be as long as leaders asked for light wines and beers. He favored placing enforcement officers under Civil Service.

Senator Roberts was followed by Assemblyman Clifford R. Powell, who said that his principles were the same as the Senator's. He said that running the government had come to be a big business and could only be most successfully conducted when every man and woman made it their business to do their part. He thought the idea of a candidates' meeting, where those rynning for office could have an opportunity to meet their constituents and express their views, was an excellent idea, and was glad to see the women taking such an ctive interest. He made a strong appeal to the women to vote and to induce others to vote.

Mrs. Mary C. Fromhagen, candidate for County Clerk on the Democratic ticket, said she was the only woman on ciffer ticket in Burlington County this year, and asked for help to break down the prejudice against voting for a woman for political offices. She said she believed a woman could make a change once in a while. It had been twenty-five years, she said, since a Democrat had filled the office of county clerk in Burlington County, and she thought it was time that the Democ and she thought it was time that the Democrats had this office, and a few others, too.

William H. Reeves, Republican candidate for reelection to the office of County Clerk, said "As I am so will I be". He briefly cited his record in the office, pointed out some of the exacting requirements of the work and promised, if reelected, to continue to give the best he had.

Fred Lippincott, candidate for reelection to the Board of Freeholders, said he had served five years and given his best service to Burlington County, which he would continue to do if reelected. He pointed out that the elections this year would cost the county about $40,000 beside the amounts spent by municipal governments, and urged everybody to vote. He said the cost of conducting the election would be the same whether many voted or few. He urged more interest on the part of the public in the conduct of county affairs. The Board of Freeholders spends about a million dollars a year, the budget for which is published in advance and a date set for a public hearing. At these hearings, he said, sometimes there were one or two taxpayers present, but frequently not even one.

Robert Peacock recited the political offices he had held and said the vital issue for voters this year was the election of President Coolidge and a Congress to back him up. He said he stood for law enforcement without he stood for law enforcement without any reservations.

Herman Croshaw, candidate for Freeholder, said that he came from the Eastern end of Burlington County, a vast area which had no representation on the Board, and though that section should have a member He said he was dry politically and personally.

Henry I. Worrell, candidate for Steward of the Almshouse, paid a fine tribute to his wife, who, in the capacity of matron, assists him in his work at that institution. Mr. Worrell was appointed by the Board of Freeholders to serve out the unexpired term of Charles Bowne, the iormer steward, who died a few months ago. Mr. Worrell pointed outsome of the changes and improvements that had been made in the institution for the comfort, welfare and happiness of its inmates. He said that if any of his hearers should ever be placed in his care he would "treat them right."

Daniel R. Lemmon, candidate for Auditor, said he had conducted the office since his appointment in June, to fill out the term of Mr. Worrell, his predecessor, who had been appointed steward of the almshouse. He said that many important matters passed through the auditor's hand of which the general public knew nothing. He told of several illegal hills which he had refused to approve and which were finally denied payment. He said that his first duty, if elected, to the office he sought, would be to conduct it fearlessly and honestly in the interest of the taxpayers.

Rev. Curwen R. Fisher, Mr. Lemmon's opponent for this office, said that he had become a candidate at the request of some of the strongest citizens in the County, and during his canvass he had learned many things since he started out that he had not learned as a minister of the Gospel. He thought women were going to help purily polities, because they are asking how campaigns are being conducted. He said he stood for clean politics.

It had been the original intention of the League of Women Voters, under whose auspices the meeting was held, to have only candidates speak for themselves, but since a substitute had appeared for Mr. Edge, Miss Helen Lippincott suggested that the audiance might like to hear something about Mr. Kean, and on invitation of Mrs. Bueltrer, chairman of the meeting, Senator Roberts undertook the task.

He said that he was personally well acquainted with both Senator Edge and Hamilton F. Kean, what they are and wait they stand for, and was of course for Mr. Kean, Mr. Kean, he said, was not afraid to stand on the side of right issues. The Senator said Mr. Edge had shrewdness and ability, and that Mr. Kean not only was a shrewd and able man, but had a high sense of public honor, moral courage and a conscience.

John Belton, 2nd, candidate for Coroner, said he had had experience with his father when he was coroner, and felt qualified to fill this office if elected. He said he could not promise to build school houses and good roads, as his office did not include such activities, but if elected coroner he would do his best.

Frank A. Snover, Palmyra, candidate for Coroner, referred to his twenty-two years as an undertaker as a qualification for the office and said that he would fill it conscientionsly if elected.

James V. Herron, Democratic candidate for Assembly, said that he realized being a candidate for received to the board of Freeholders, said that he had assisted in good road construction, improvement of County was uphill work, but he was not willing to admit defeat. He brieflysketched his idea of the duties of an assemblyman, and asked that the minority be given a chance.

He will not attempt to build up a personal political machine for the attainment of his own selfish ambitions.

Read what your State Senator, representing Burlington County in the New Jersey Legislature, has to say of the candidates for the United States Senatorial nomination:

Senator Roberts' Letter

"Kean embodies the protests of healthy Republicanism against the ills of Edgeism. He represents the forward-looking ideas and principles of the great body of earnest Republicans of New Jersey and has the sincerity and courage to carry out these policies if elected.

"Senator Edge, it is true, has ability and shrewdness. Mr.Kean has ability and shrewdness, moral courage, a high sense of public honor and a conscience. Past acts of Edge have indicated that he would sacrifice friends, party, principles, if it would inure to his political advantage.

"Of the two candidates for the Senatorial nomination Kean more definitely and positively stands for the things emphasized in the Republican national platform and in the Coolidge administration. Many of us believe that the advice, attitude and activities of Senator Edge have been largely responsible for the election in this State of two Democratic Governors and a Democratic United States Senator.

"The question of the Prohibition amendment,' Senator Edge rightly says, 'is not an issue in this campaign.' I am glad to hear that he is convinced at last that the amendment is here to stay. But the matter of respect for the enforcement of the Constitution on this subject is still an issue, largely because of Senator Edge's meddling in the organization of enforcement agencies in this State. Just at present Senator Edge seems to be trying to court dry votes by his statement for law enforcement. Yet his actions on this issue speak so loudly that intelligent voters cannot hear what he says."

CHARITY HOSPITAL WORK

More Than Half of Service Renders to Charity Patients

at County Hospital is Rendered to Charity Patients

Sixty-five per cent of the work done at the Burlington County Hospital at Mount Holly in ministering to the sick and afflicted is charity, and this is the kind of humanitarian work toward which the people of the county will be asked to contribute when the annual drive for maintenance funds for the coming year is conducted during the week beginning October 5. This is the time that has been set aside by the managers and the Board of Council for the collection of money that is actually needed and during the week mentioned the good people of the county, the people whose hearts are wonderfully big, are going to be asked to make up a fund of $30,000 that is estimated will be needed from this public source for the work of the coming year. It is not too much to ask the citzens of this great county, rich in many ways, to give to a charity of this kind—a genuine charity that is meant for the relief of the unfortunates who have not the means or ability to care for themselves in times of physical breakdown or accident.

It should not be necessary to elaborate on an appeal that is made in behalf of the people who will be needing hospital attention during the coming year. The people who are able to pay for the hospital service that they need are not under consideration in this drive; that part of the maintenance of the hospital takes care of itself. But all the thought is for those who through the misfortunes of life are forced to present themselves for charity service, and it should be understood that there is an increasing demand for this kind of service. The expenses go up with the great demands and there is always some new situation for the management of the hospital to meet in the handling of the thousands of matters that come up in an institution like this during the course of the year. It is only $30,000 that the managers are asking for to enable them to carry on. Certainly no better work is done anywhere than comes through the charity channels of the Burlington Coun

The lawns of "Meadowview Farms," Moorestown, the winter home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, was the scene of an elaborate wedding on Saturday, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Armstrong, became the bride of Mr. Oliver Edward Hyde, of Plainfield.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Dauerty, pastor of the Moorestown Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Moment, of Plainfield. Mendelsohn's wedding march was played by an orchestra of stringed instruments.

The bride wore heavily beaded chiffon over white satin and white satin slippers. Her veil of tulle was fastened by a narrow band of lilies of the valley. She carried jasimine and lilies of the valley. Miss Olive Hulvert, of Chieago, was maid of honor. She wore a costume of pink chiffon over lavender satin. She carried a mixed bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Sharp, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. William H. Woodin, Jr., Berwick, Pa.; Mrs. Francis Hyde, Jr., Chicago; Miss Miss Olive L. Jones, Miss Dorothy Middleton, Moorestown. Miss Helen Brown, of Moorestown. Was flower girl. The best man was Mr. Francis Hyde, Jr., of Chicago, and the ushers were Messrs. Bayard Colgate, Orange Francis Glick, David Glick, William H. Woodin, Jr., Berwick, Pa., Douglas Bull, Rochester, Charles Newcomb, Fanwood, N. Y., Charles Hyde, Jr., Boston, and F. Wallis Armstrong, Jr., brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and dinner served to more than five hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hyde then left for a wedding trip by motor. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue twill trimmed with braid and a black cloche of hatters' plush. On their return they will make their home in Upper Darby.

FIELD CLUB LOSES AGAIN

Tak-Aboost Wins Close Game by 2-

The Palmyra Field Club lost to "Pop" Warner's Tak-Aboost nine, of Riverside, at the local park last Saturday afternoon by a 2-1 score. This was a tight game, as shown by the score. It was a pitcher's battle between Van Brunt, Palmyra's recent acquisition from Beverly, and Young, Tak-Aboost's star slabman.

This contest marked the lowering of the curtain on Palmyra's baseball season. The Field Club will entertain no longer on the diamond, that is for 1924, at least.

Although this has not been a successful season, either financially or in the number of games won, it neverthe-less has met with the approval of the directors of the Club.

H. Russell Gibbon, this year's manager, announced at the beginning of the season he would have a young amateur team, one composed of local players. All of the young fellows were given an opportunity during the course of the season. Some made good, too.

Next year, the same players, with the knowledge and experience they gained this season, hope to have a crackerjack local nine.

CHAMPIONS DINED

Lutheran Baseball Team Given Reception by Church Council

The summer outing activities of Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201, Palmyra, were brought to a fitting and successful close with the jolliest pienic yet held. Saturday afternoon one bus and a number of private cars, carrying fifty members, wives and friends of Cinnaminson Lodge journeyed to the "Al-more," the home of Brother Alvin E. Swain at Brown's Mills-inthe-Pines." The outing was gotten up as a surprise picnic and such it proved to be, as Brother Swain was never more surprised than to see the jolly, smiling crowd pour from the bus and cars to greet him and his recent bride.

"Live-wire" Al Swain, when in the office of N. G., directing the destinies of the lodge during his term of office, left the mark of his untiring efforts and breezy personality indelibly engraved on the hearts of the members and on the records of the lodge.

The lodge presented Brother Al with a beautiful bridge lamp as a token of their appreciation, while the ladies surprised the bride with a linen shower, many exquisite pieces being among the gifts.

The ball game, the feature of all the pienies to Brown's Mills, proved to be a riot of fun and never ended until the score keeper ran out of chalk. This can readily be understood when it is known that "Pat" Steedle was in the game, his fencebusting tactics working to perfection.

And the climax of the most wonderful outing ever held by old Cinnaminson was the homward run of the bus. Led by "Pat," who proved to be a perfect reservoir of songs, both old and new, the journey back to Palmyra was an endless stream of song and mirth, thoroughly entered into by all on board.

And on Friday evening next will be held a continuation of the fun and frolic, when the members of their womenfolks at a "banquet" to be held in the lodge coom, Society Hall. It is hoped that the outcome of this affair will be the formation of our long planned Ladies' Auxiliary.

Saturday evening, September 27th, Cinnaminson Lodge will have two of its members receive the third degree at that time.

Two methods of review are suggested:

1. Have the pupils go over the quarter's lessons and bring in reports which will picture Jesus as to His deity, pity, courage, devotion, etc. This should be assigned the week before and the reports should be written out clearly and distinctly and restricted to a certain number of minutes, according to the size of the class and time allotted for the review.

11. The Summary Method. This consists in a statement of the principal facts and leading lessons. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson 1. That which Micah the prophet foretold some 700 years before and Gabriel announced to Mary and Joseph took place in Bethlehem and was made known to the shepherds. When the shepherds had investigated they went back praising the Lord and telling the good tidings to others. Those who hear the Gospel must tell it to others.

Lesson 2. Though Jesus Christ was the Son of God, therefore divine, and had taken upon Himself the human nature, which the Holy Ghost had created, He developed as a normal human being.

Lesson 3. While Jesus was absolute-

Lesson 3. While Jesus was absolutely sinless, He submitted to baptism, which is a sinner's ordinance, because He took the place of sinners. It was an act of dedication of Himself to the task of bringing in a righteousness which was accomplished on the cross which was accomplished on the cross of Calvary.

Lesson 4, Jesus was led into the wilderness by the Spirit to be tested by the power and subtlety of the devil in order to demonstrate the reality of the union of the human and divine natures—in order that man might have a real foundation upon which his faith might rest in order to be saved. Christ met and defeates Satan by the use of the Scriptures.

Lesson 5. When John the Baptist pointed out to his disciples the Lamb of God, they left him and followed Jesus. When they came to know Him as the Messiah, they brought others to Him. The natural thing for one to do who has found Christ is to bring others to Him for salvation.

Lesson 6. Marriage was ordained by God and the first wedding was sand Father, we commit ourselves into Thy hands, and ask that Thou wilt do with us and for us as seemeth best unto Thee.

MAKING GOOD IN A SMALL TOWN

Real Stories About Real Girls

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN PUTTING THE "COUNT" IN OVERDUE ACCOUNTS

T IBN'T how much "nerve" you have, but how much tact; not how "hardboiled" you are, but how diplomatic.
That's what counts in the bill-collecting business, says a girl who is official bill collector for almost every merchant on her "Main Street." Here's

"Is your idea of a bill collector a person with an over-amount of 'push' and a disagreeably aggressive way? Such a person inspires antagonism, and is not a success," she declares. "That's the reason a girl bill collector is often preferred to a man—a girl, more frequently than a man, has a little 'way with her' that will make the person approached want to pay her rather than lower himself in her estimation."

That means she must have poise, personality, and, above all, dignity. Of course, the prospective bill collector must first of all find her clients. In every small town there are stores, shops or factories whose business does not justify the employment of a permanently salaried collector.

The tact that will make her a good collector will also get her clients. The That means she must have pols

The tact that will make her a good collector will also get her clients. The rules she must observe in dealing with clients and debtors are the same. She must be dignified in speech, dress and action. She must not use slang, must not boast or joke. And she must exhibit self-respect, and demand the respect of others.

Perhaps she already knows some business and professional men who probably would have business for her. She should pass by the biggest businesses in the town, at first, in favor of the "little fellows." When she has results to show, and the confidence that comes from achieving those results—then she may give the larger firms her attention. As she is acquiring her clients, and before she has approached a single person on the subject of neglected bills, she must be studying her subject. She can find books to give her the experience of collection experts.

Eventually, the successful girl col-

KEEPING WELL

CAN YOUR CHILD SEE? DR. PREDERICK R. GREEN Editor of "HEALTH"

Do you know that your child he good eyesight? Does he often complain of being tired or of having a hear ache when he comes home from school? Does he dislike his school does he tell you that the teacher "pici on him"? Is he sleepy or dull when h is trying to get his lessons? Is it has for him to keep up with his classes does he occupy a lower position that you think he should?

Don't scold him or punish him unit you know whether there is some phys-ical defect which is responsible for hi-poor work. Have his eyes examine and he sure that his vision is normal.

FACING WRONG WAY

In Arkansas a man and his wife were sitting outside their house when a funeral procession passed. The man was comfortably seated in a chair that was tilted back towards the street, his feet on the sill of an open window.

"I think that's the funeral of oi' man Williams," he remarked. "Reckon it's the biggest seen in these parts for a while, ain't it, Car'line?"

"A purty good-sized one, Bud," his wife replied.

"I sure would like to see it," said Bud. "What a pity I aint' facin' that way!"

The Election

Burlington county has again maintained its proud position on the side of right. Two years ago it was the only county in the State to give any considerable majority for the candidates who stood for law enforcement. This year Burlington was joined by Cumberland, Hunterdon, Monmouth, Ocean, Salem, Morris, Sussex, Somerset and Warren counties in giving substantial majorities for Hamilton F. Kean for United States Senator. While the effort to unborse the Edge machine, with all it means in politics in our State was unsuccessful, the addition of nine counties to the forces working for law observance and law enforcement is an encourageing evidence of the growth of sentiment in favor of good government.

The fight has just started.

Qualifying for Match Play for Arthu-Dorrance Trophy

The qualifying round in the tournament for the Arthur Dorrance Memorial cup has brought together golfers at both ends of the handicap list of the Riverton Country Club for match play for the big trophy. Among the sixteen who qualified in last Saturday's medal play were several with handicaps above twenty.

In the matches which start Saturday, September 27th, they will have an equal show with low players, who must allow their strokes based on three-quarters of the difference in landicaps.

The sixteen who got in their handicaps are:

Mrs. Mary McCarty
Mrs. Mary McCarty, aged ninetysix, passed away on Thursday last, after a lingering illness. Mrs. McCarty was one of Riverton's oldest residents, coming here in 1882. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, from her late residence, 105
Main street, at two o'clock, Dr. N. F.
Stahl officiating. Interment was made in Laurel Hill Cemetery. The deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John K. Boyer and Miss Mary McCarty, of Riverton, and Mrs.
De Cognets, of Kentucky.

To the Editor of The New Era: Asbury

I desire to express, through the colorums of your paper, to the voters of Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson, my keen appreciation of the fine majorities they gave me in my candidacy for coroner in last Tuesday's primary election. The support I received in your community was one of the bright spots in a very strenuous campaign.

Sincerely,

FRANK A. SNOVER.

Two Firemen Hurt Fighting Fire that Causes $75,000 Loss that Causes $75,000 Loss

On Thursday evening of last week the barn on the farm of Elwood Moore, on the Browning Road, near Moorestown, was completely destroyed by fire. Fifty tons of straw and a hundred and fifty tons of straw and a hundred and fifty tons of straw and a hundred and fifty tons of straw and a hundred in the barn, were also destroyed. The horses and cows were all led to safety, with the exception of one calf. The loss is estimated at about $75,000. ted at about $75,000. The exact origin of the fire is not known, but it is thought it was caused by spontaneous combustion. Fire departments from all the surrounding towns were called, and Palmyra, Riverside, Moorestown, Bridgeboro, Parry, Masonville and Riverton responded. Paul Holvick received bruises of the head and face and a wrenched back when he was knocked eight feet in the air, landing on the top of a sedan, by the Palmyra pumper. Riverton's truck passed the road on which they should have turned, and Paul was trying to flag Palmyra so that they would not make the same mistake; when he was struck. He was brought back to Riverton by Walter Armstrong, and treated at the office of Dr. H. B. Mark. Conrad Friday, of Bridgeboro, brother of Joseph Friday, of Riverton, received a broken arm, when the water was suddenly turned on a hose he was holding. He is in Cooper hospital, Camden.

This is the largest fire that has been in this vicinity for sometime and all roads leading to the farm were tied up with traffic, with the hundreds of cars, and people scurrying on foot, to witness it.

KEAN WINS IN COUNTY

cads Edge by Nearly 1500. Ed Carries Riverton, However Though Palmyra Turns Him Down

Returns from the hotly-contested fight for nomination for United States Senator which has been waged all over the State between Senator Edge and Hamilton F. Kean, and which resulted in a victory for Senator Edge and his machine, found Riverton in the Edge column, though he lost ou in Burlington county by 1471.

Palmyra refused to follow the Edge leaders, and returned a majority of 143 for Kean.

The splendid showing made by Kean in Riverton was due in no small measure to Joseph Hylton and his workers, new in the political game this year, who were opposed by veteran campaigners of the Edge camp. The better-trained forces of the Edge machine coupled with some straddling and hedging and a few broken promises on the part of professed Kean supporters, the fact that Kean was not well known here, to gether with a political canard to the effect that Kean was supported by the Ku Klux Klan published by a Moun Holly newspaper and exploited hero nelection day by some of the Edge henchmen, all had their part in the defeat of Kean in Riverton. Last year this same newspaper made at attack on a candidate for re-electior to the Board of Freeholders, which is wear the board of Freeholders, which is wear the search which earth and Julius R. George N. Wimer and Julius R.

George N. Wimer and Julius R.
Fisher won both party nominations for Palmyra Borough Council at the Primary election Tuesday.

They were opposed on the Republican ballot by Councilman Joseph A.
Davis. Wimer received the highest number of Republican votes, a total of 841. Fisher was second with 755 and Davis trailed with 503. Davis won his his own district, the first, with 203 against Wimer's 138 and Fisher's 131, but was low man in all the other three.

Hamilton Kean carried Palmyra for the U. S. Senatorial nomination against Senator Edge by 660 to 517, but lost Riverton by 117 votes. The Edge machine in other parts of the State was too powerful for Kean supporters to overcome and the Senator was renominated by about 53,000 majority. He will have another struggle in November against the Democratic nominee, Frederick W. Donnelly, of Trenton.

Robert Peacock, of Mount Holly, won in Palmyra against Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of Atlantic City, but was badly defeated in the congressional district as a whole.

Howard Russ, of Delanco, and Fred Lippincott, of Moorestown, won the Freeholder nominations in the Republican column over a big field. The organization backed Russ and Edward T. Haines, of Mount Holly,
H. B. Earnest, of Riverside, and John C. Belton, 2nd., of Moorestown, won the Republican nominations for coroner, the next highest candidate being Frank A. Snover, of Palmyra.

Mr. Snover made a wonderful showing in his three home districts of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson, running ahead even of those candidates who had no opposition whatever. At some of the polling places he received every vote cast.

The big surprise of the election was the victory of the Rev. Curwin B.
Fisher, of Mount Holly, over Daniel Lemmon, of Brown's Mills,, for County Auditor. Lemmon was the Having had very extensive experience in the practice of my profession in various parts of the world, I feel that I can render satisfactory service to all who would like to avail themselves of home facilities for obtaining high-class dentistry at a cost much less than in city offices, where the cost of conducting a practice is much greater and must therefore be charged for at a proportionately higher price. The work I do at home costs about one-third less than that which I do in my outside offices where my overhead expenses necessitate higher rates. I may be consulted daily, excepting Thursday, and will work by appointment. I am generally at home on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, when I can work for busy people who may be unable to have dentistry done at other times.

NECTAR SCENT LURES BUGS

They find that any flower is freely visited if it be nectariferous, no matter how coloriess or inconspicuous it may be. Many gay flowers are wholly avoided by insects, but by placing nectar at the base of such flowers insects are at once attracted.

Though bright blossoms are undoubtedly seen by insects at a distance, when they once reach the flowers it is a matter of indifference to them what their color is—blue, red yellow, green or white—if they differ from one another in ne other respect.—Detroit News.

His Mistake.

A noted violinist, a shy and quiet man except when ruffled or annoyed was playing at a private house, and an elderly woman, a passionate love of music, drew closer and closer te him as he continued to play. She was interested in the score, and to read it the better she put her head almost against his. The violinist, who had been growing angrier every moment suddenly ceased playing, and, whipping out his handkerchief, wiped the woman's nose with it. She was furfous, and grew more so when he said: "I beg your pardon; but your nose was so close to my face that I thought it was my own."

It has been argued by some authorities that the colors of flowers attract insects and that the gay lines and stripes leading down to the bottom of deep corollas are guides of the nectar. This view is stoutly opposed by others after many observations, who believe that the color of flowers has no connection with the visits of insects, but that they are attracted by the odor of the nectar.

A THUNDERSTORM IN CAMP It begins with gentle dropping, like tiny eigh hoofs
Gelioping hither and thither over the shingle roofs,
And grows with quick crescendo, as martial drumbeats do,
Till it sounds on the resonant shingles a rousing rat-tat-too.
Then rises a rushing tumult, as the drops come swift and large.
Like the noise of mustering horsemen when squadrons form and charge.
The signag lighting flashes lilume the darkling lake
And the rolling thunder orashes make the mountains seem to quake.
Anon the rush is over, and, muttering far and low,
Out through the mountain passes the routed cohorts go.
Night cast upon the landscape her allefiacing shade

And stations firefly rangers in every copes and glade.
The creaceat moon is sinking below the pointed firs
And the breath of the dying west wind in the fluttering tree tops stirs.
From across the lake comes fitful the loon's welrd, wailing cry,
And the owl hoots back responsive from his lonely perch near by.
A solemn hush steals softly o'er lake and wood and hill
And nothing breaks the silence save a far-off whippoorwill.

QUIETEST TIME ON EARTH All People to Find Out Whether There Was a Man In the Moon.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes once gave a witty description of an alleged effort made by all the people of the world to find out whether there is a man in the moon. This wonderful plan was as follows: Careful calculations were made to ascertain when it would be the same time all over the earth so that all the people of the earth could simultaneously shout at the top of their volces. In this way it was hoped that the man in the moon, if there were such a peson, would nettee the noise.

The story goes on to tell how when the time approached for the great experiment, and all were ready to shout as loud as they could, that each person reasoning to himself or herself, that amid so great a noise no one could notice whether his or her volce was omitted, determined to remain silent, so as to be able to hear the noise and the better to observe what the man in the moon would do when the sound reached him. The result was that every person on the earth remained silent and simply listened, so that the earth was never so quiet before.—Detroit News.

A small amount of meat will flavor a large amount of vegetables. The extractives of meat which give it the flavor are the appetizing part of the meat and the reason for our desire to indulge in that food.

For example, a pound of beet cut into small bits, browned and then covered with boiling water and enough vegetables such as onion, carrot and potatoes added to satisfy the appetites of the family, makes a much more wholesome meal and sufficiently filling, than a large amount of meat with a few vegetables. Overenting is the cause of cancer, so our physicians tell us. Too rich food, and too much of it will cause various serious troubles, fatty heart, sluggish liver, ulcers in the stomach and intestines and other equally serious diseases. A cheap cut of meat that seems full of tough fibers may be softened and made tender by long, slow cooking, adding a table-spoonful of vinegar to the water.

Emperor Commodus Was Strangled to Death by Gladiator Who Was Hired by His Mistress.

Commodus succeeded his father, Marcus Aurelius, as emperor of Rome. He was cruel and voluptuous. For his amusement he cut asunder persons, put out their eyes, mutilated their noses, ears, etc. His brutal character made him jealous of all those who had risen to prominence during his father's reign, and most of them were put out of the way.

Commodus came to a bad end. He was strangled by the gladiator Narcissus, who was hired to commit the deed by Marcia, the mistress of Commodus. On the news of his death, which was reported to be the consequence of apoplexy, the senate declared him an enemy of the state, ordered his statues to be broken to pleces, and his name

In the golden days of Greece an ambassador once came from Epirus to Sparta and was shown by the king over his capital. He was surprised to find no walls around the city.

"Indeed," the king replied, "you cannot have looked carefully. Come with me tomorrow, and I will show you the walls of Sparta."

On the following morning the king led his guest out upon the plains where his army was drawn up in battle array, and pointing proudly to the valiant soldlers, he said: "There you behold the walls of Sparta—every man a brick!"

Trenton.—Experimental treatment of road surfaces, though on a more limited scale than first contemplated, was authorized by the State Highway Commission. The purpose of the experiment is to determine if less costly material can be used with satisfactory results in improving certain classes of highways.

The commission will act in conjunction with the State Agricultural College at New Brunswick, contributing $2,000 toward the tests, while the college will provide $4,000.

The college at first contemplated an expenditure of $15,000, but subsequently it was found such an amount would not be available.

Agreement as to the proposed experiments was reached after a conference with Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, dean of the Agricultural Experiment Station, who explained the inability of the college to carry out the plan originally proposed.

State Highway Engineer William G. Sloan announced that the first experiment will consist of trying out asphaltic oil of the slow curing variety as a top dressing for macadam on a siag base. This grade of oil has been used on a number of gravel roads in South Jersey, but its availability for other types of road have not been established. The first test will probably be on the road in front of the administration building at the college.

The Public Service Production Company, of Newark, was awarded the contract for paving one and a half miles of Route 5, between Budd Lake and Notcong. The award was for $103,280. The contract for constructing approaches to the new Lackawanna bridge, eliminating the grade crossing, on Route 8 at Mountain View, was awarded to the United Building & Construction Company, of Lodi, for $103,017. John J. McGarry, of Edgewater, was awarded the contract for paving one-half mile of Route 18 in Alpine Borough for $96,126.

The commission voted to request Attorney General Katsenbach to institute proceedings for the removal of an additional gasoline filling apparatus installed at the garage of Taylor Brothers on Route 1 at Highland Park. The tank was reported by engineers to constitute an encroachment of seventeen feet on the highway right of way.

Mr. Katsenbach also will be asked to compel removal of a traffic beacon erected by the authorities of Union Township, Ocean County, at Main and High streets, on Route 4, at Barnegat. The commission objects to the lecation of the beacon as an obstruction. Contracts Are Awarded

The section to be paved is approximately four miles of Prospect avenue from Bloomfield avenue to the Northfield road in the Verona and West Orange sections. The construction is to be of concrete.

The commission approved a request of the Edison Pioneers for permission to place a marker in honor of Thomas A. Edison, designating the location of Mr. Edison's first laboratory at Menlo Park. The location will be along Route 18 between Rahway and Metuchen, where a site has been purchased by the Edison Pioneers.

Upon recommendation of Major Sloan the commission approved payment of $4,000 to the Strauss-Bascule Bridge Company, of Chicago, for preparation of plans and specifications for the bridge over the Cheesequake Creek on the Morgan-Keyport cut-off on Route 4. It is estimated the superstructure will cost $85,000.

Upon receipt of a report from Major Sloan, relative to hearings conducted by the War Department, with

In its request for an opinion the Department of Health stated that the time limit after which municipalities, corporations and individuals are prohibited and forbidden to discharge sewage and other polluting matter into the Passaic river, between Great Falls, Paterson and the mouth of the river at Newark Bay, or into any tributaries of the Passaic river, which empty into the Passaic between the two points, is set out in Chapter 37, laws of 1922, as December 31, 1923. After the latter date the sewerage commissioners it was pointed out by the board, may enforce the provisions of the 1923 legislation.

"Undoubtedly," Mr. Katzenbach stated, "the Legislature, in laying out the district, conferred upon the Passaic Valley sewerage commissioners exclusive jurisdiction over such matters within the limits of the district, and while you may perhaps approve plans submitted for a proposed sewage system, nevertheless your approval would not be final nor binding upon the Passaic Valley sewerage commissioners."

During the discussion of the subject Dr. Thomas B. Lee, president of the boards, said it would be a bad practice to place supervision of sewage disposal plants in the hands of any commission and that such action was an interference with the police powers of the board. He suggested that the matter be again taken up with the attorney general. With legislative aid, he argued, any county could take upon itself the supervision of its own sewerage works.

Jersey Crops Bountiful

New Jersey's apple crop is estimated at 2,390,000 bushels, an increase of nearly 200,000 bushels over last year, in a builetin issued today by the State Department of Agriculture. The commercial crop is figured at 526,000 barrels as compared with 470,000 barrels in 1923 and 522,000 barrels in 1923.

The peach crop is expected to show a yield of 634,000 bushels. Last year the production was 662,000 bushels. Indications are, it is further stated by the report, that the potato crop will be 84 per cent of normal, a total production of 9,946,000 bushels being anticipated. This is a marked gain over the 1923 crop, which was 7,600,000 bushels, but is under the average of 10,940,000 bushels for the last ten years.

The condition of the sweet potato crop September 1 was 83 per cent of normal, indicating a yield of 122.8 bushels per acre and a total production of 2,210,000 bushels. For nearby States the sweet potato forecast is as follows: Maryland, 1,653,000 bushels; Delaware, 1,075,000 bushels; Virginia, 4,537,000 bushels.

Dry Law Increases Crime Since the advent of prohibition

Since the advent of prohibition crime has increased in Atlantic county 100 per cent, declared Common Pleas Judge William H. Smathers.

He made the statement in discussing the action of the Board of Freeholders in voting a supplementary appropriation of $75,000 to cover a deficit in the court's item. Investigation showed that the appropriation in 1920 for this purpose was $85,000 while this year it is $175,000.

Dr. Edward Guion, superintendent of the county asylum, said the number of cases of insanity directly traceable to alcoholism in the county was increasing at an alarming rate. The increase for last year was ten per cent over the year preceding.

Very Glad He Accepted the Work Offered

By MILDRED GOODRIDGE

OH, MAN! Do you want to

It was little Flo Duncombe, a pretty child of eight years, who shouted at a young man passing the garden where she stood with her sister, Iola.

"Work, little one?" smiled the stranger, pausting and, at one glance at the lovely face of Iola, becoming interested. "I am always glad to work. What is it?"

Is it?"

"Rose leaves and down!" chattered Flo, excitedly, important and eager.

"I fear my little sister has been presumptuoua," spoke Miss Duncombe.
"I—I needed some assistance."

"And I am glad of an offer of work," declared the young man promptly. He carried a portfolio under one arm.

"The work is less arduous than tedlous and painstaking," she said, and she led the way towards an ornate summer house. As she neared its door the young man instantly understood the allusion of little Flo to rose leaves and feathers. To every projection attached particles of soft, filmy down.

Iola said: "Some one opened the windows where I had been working last night, a strong wind came up and you see the result. The rose leaves were sent me by a friend from California. I have managed to gather them up, for they were blown off the table in a heap, but the down—I fear it is not worth the labor gathering it up."

"You might try," suggested the young man. "If you would get me a pillow-slip, or a deep basket, I will see what can be done."

Miss Duncombe went to the house and brought out three baskets. She and Flo set about the same task as this "hired help." She learned that his name was Archis Blair.

It took two hours to gather up most of the scattered down. Then Iola said:

of the scattered down. Then Iola said:

"I am greatly obliged, and the compensation—"

"I was just going to speak of that," declared Archie. "If you will allow me to sketch some of the beautiful surroundings here, with this little fairy and yourself in the picture, I will feel fully compensated."

So he was an artist, reflected Iola, and several little sketches of his pencil convinced her that his was no ordinary talent. She felt warranted in when he returned from his sketching tour.

If the young artist ceased to remember the fair malden with whom he had spent those delightful hours, not so Iola. A newcomer in town, a Robert Wilder, came pretty regularly to see her, but Iola took little interest in him. He had bloomed forth in the village as a young man of fortune on a vacation. Mr. Duncombe had met him at the town club and took quite a fancy to him.

One evening this delectable individual met Jim Carr, a servant at the Duncombe home, in a secret way, Judging from their conversation, these two had known each other in a sinister way in the past. Further, it appeared that the vaunted young man of wealth had some hold on Jim.

"See here, Carr," he said, on the present occasion, "you know what I'm after: a rich wife. If old Duncombe has the money I think I wouldn't object to becoming his son-in-law."

"You want to be spry, then," advised Jim.

"Why is that?"

Jim. "Why is that?"

"Why is that?"

"There's a young artist fellow who has been around for an evening or two. He met Miss Iola about a week ago, it seems, and, on his way to the city, has decided to stop in the village for a week or two. My opinion is he is in love with the girl."

"Oh well. I'm pretty solid with the

I heard Mr. Duncombe telling what a capital fellow you were."
"Good!" commented Wilder.
"Then I overheard them talking with his lawyer. From the conversation I gathered that he is worth about a hundred thousand dollars."
"Excellent—go on, Jim," directed Wilder.
"Last evening, though, a stranger called. He was inquiring about you. He is a detective from the city, looking you up for a swindling game."
"Zounds! then I'm done for," exclaimed Wilder. "I reckon I'll make tracks from town before I'm picked up," and Wilder started to move away.

"There was something more," advised Jim. "That artist fellow."
"Yes—well, what about him?" questioned Wilder irritably.
"He proposed to Miss Iola this afternoon."

CATTELL SPEAKS TO MEN

Powell Also Speaks

The opening meeting and banquet of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, proved to be the greatest success ever attained by this organization. Despite the rainy night, there were more than 140 seated at the banquet tables and more came in later to hear the speakers.

A splendid dinner was served by the ladies of St. Agnes Guild. The Moral decorations, provided chiefly by Charlie Lutz, were magnificent. The walls of the parish house were banked with flowers and at the entrance was an American flag in a floral bower.

Assemblyman Clifford Powell was the first. Having, been a soldier in the world war, an airman who fought his battles over the German lines, he was privileged to speak direct from the shoulder and did so. He said that patriotism was not cheering when the flag or a military parade passed by but rather loyalty in the heart and home of the people.

The United States, Mr. Powell said.

the shoulder and did so. He said that patriotism was not cheering when the flag or a military parade passed by, but rather loyalty in the heart and home of the people.

The United States, Mr. Powell said, is facing a grave crisis. A canker that is slowly spreading and if not halted will eventually eat away the heart of the nation. That canker is public indifference. In the old days nearly everybody with the right of suffrage voted. In the last generation or so the percentage has been rapidly decreasing until at the last general election only 48 per cent. of the vote was polled.

Every citizen should take an interest in public questions and make his interest effective by actually voting, else the future of the nation is in great peril.

E. Cattell, former Philadelphia statisician, spoke next. According to Mr. Cattell's local acquaintances, he broke two of his confirmed habits at this meeting. First he actually partook of the banquet and enjoyed it, whereas his usual custom is not to eat at banquets at all. Second he spoke for 35 minutes and he has always made it his practice to, limit his speeches to 20 minutes. He kept his audience in a turmoil all the time. They were laughing one minute and half crying the next. He told a number of excellent humorous stories and also some serious ones. His speech was voted the most entertaining ever delivered before the Club.

Dr. John Albert Ward, rector of St. Mary's Church, Burlington, concluded the program with an address on "Loyalty and Action." He declared that loyalty in a man must apply to everything in his life, loyalty to his home, his church, his lodge, and his nation. One of the evil tendencies of modern life is to shoulder public responsibilities onto the other fellow, to "let George do it."

Americans must arouse themselves to the necessity of defending their heritage of freedom, else it is likely to slip away from them. This freedom was won at the cost of much blood and sacrifice and should not be abandoned from sheer laziness.

A very pretty fall wedding was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock when Miss Adeline M. Lippincott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Lippincott, of Park avenue, Palmyra, became the bride of Mr. Robert Whittmer Turner, son of Mrs. Kathryn A. Turner, of 6008 Lansdowne avenue, West Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church by the pastor, the Rev. Fred B. Morley, Mrs. Rachel M. Lord played the wedding march.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of georgette heavily beaded with crystal beads over white satin and wor a heavy lace veil. She carried a shower bouquet.

She was attended by Mrs. Porter Caldwell, of Beverly, as matron of honor. Mrs. Caldwell was gowned in beaded grey georgette and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bride's maids were Miss Marion McCarthy, of Oakmont, Pa., who wore yellow georgette and carried a bouquet of roses, and Miss Jeanette Soast, of Palmyra, who was attired in pink georgette and carried a pink peorget of the groom, and Beulah Lippincott, sister of the bride, acted as flower girls.

The best man was Wilbur Turner, of Elkton, Va., a twin brother of the groom, Milton Lippincott, of Easton, Pa., brother of the bride, Porter Caldwell, of Beverly, and Clifton Taylor, of Palmyra.

After the reception which was held at the bride's home for the immediate families the happy couple left for a honeymon at the Pocono Mountains. They will be at home at 6008 Lansdowne avenue, West Philadelphia, after November 1st.

Both the bride and groom were popular members of local society and took an active interest in the work of the Sunday School, Junior Department and Epworth League of the Epworth M. E. Church.

A-Shopping in Wheelbarrow.

Wheelbarrows are the principal means of freight and passenger traffic in Tainantu, a walled city of 300,000 inhabitants at the land end of the Shantung railway in China. Nearly all the freight is moved in this manner, some of the loads being conveyed distances of fifteen to twenty miles a day. "Miliady" frequently returns from her shopping tours with her bundles on one side of the wheelbarrow while she herself rides on the other side. Half a dosen persons may ride in front of a puffing and perspiring coolle. The wheel is in the center of the barrow, which side is in balancing the load. If it is unusually heavy, another man or bay helps to pull by means of a rope or strap thrown across his shoulders. In a few instances a mule is the assistant, but it requires a man to lead the mule.

Rome Also Knew Strikes
Officials of the American Federation of Labor, among whom are some students of the classics, have discovered that ancient Rome was no more immune to strikes than modern New

The strikers, who belonged to the guild of musicians (tibicines) refused to work because the banquet which was traditionally accorded them every year at the expense of the state was

They were served freely with not be carried out without music. The men were finally lured back by strategy. They were served freely with wine and taken to Rome "dead to the world." The men won their strike, however, for the authorities decided that a privilege so long accorded had become a right and the banquet was restored.

And the will was admitted to probate. Maine was flushed with triumph. He was not the man to let well enough alone. The revulsion from his fears of prison proved too strong for his good sense. He approached Tom in the courtroom, after the court had adjourned.

It was Annie's engagement to Tom Claffin that provoked the old woman's rage. When the miserly old woman heard of it she declared:

"Not one penny of my money will you get, you ungrateful child, if you leave me in my old age."

"But, aunt, we want you to make your home with us," protested the girl.

That only fanned the old woman's wrath. She sent for Maine. He was her only friend. He was an elder in some primitive tabernacle, and Miss Martha belonged to it.

"You'd best stay with your aunt and give that Claffin fellow the shake," leered old Jim, the richest man in the village.

The girl had hoped to escape intr a larger world with her marriage .o Tom.

The week following, her aunt died suddenly in the midst of one of those scolding fits that made the girl's life gall and wornwood. And then Tom came and told her that she was his.

"I heard about your case, Claffin," he said. "I think this puts a new light on the transaction dearn" it?" on the transaction, doesn't it?" And he threw a document upon the table. Tom picked it up. It was another will of Miss Martha's.
"She made that about a month ago."

"She made that about a month ago," said the visitor. "Came over to Stapleton to do it. I guess, so that nobody in this town should know. Of course, it antedates the will you are fighting over, but—"

Claffin sat long in thought that evening.

"Tom, won't you withdraw at the last moment?" pleaded Annie in court the next morning. "Dear, we have the cottage—and, after all, that will may be genuine."

Tom said nothing but clasped her hand in his. And Annie resigned herself to her lover's will in the matter.

When the case was called, however, he amazed the court and spectators by saying."

Water Supply Adequate for Fire Protection

Riverton, N. J., September 24, 1924.

Editor The New Era, Riverton, N. J.

Sir:—In your issue of September 18th, there was an article in which Mayor Bennett of the Borough of Riverton, states as follows. Will quote verbatim the paragraph

"I have been informed the past few days that the Insurance Board representing the Insurance Companies are now contemplating raise of insurance rates on all properties, claiming that in case of a large fire, that the fire engine would exhaust the water in the mains faster than the water company can pump same into mains. If there is any foundation to the report, this body should make an investigation, and take what steps necessary to safeguard the people's interests."

The statement contained therein (that in case of a large fire the fire engine would exhaust the water in the mains faster than the Water Company can pump same into the mains) is exceedingly unfortunate, and less true of our territory than any within many miles of us.

A comparison of the reservoir capacity between our territory and the surrounding ones would be, we think, very instructive.

The Riverton and Palmyra Water Company has two large tanks, with a combined capacity of 576,000 gallons. The Fire pumping engine-can pump 750 gallons each minute, which would enable the pumper to operate for 12 hours and 48 minutes, assuming we would pump no more into the tanks, in the interim.

But, we have at the Riverton and Palmyra Pumping Station two electric centrifugal pumps of 750 gallons per minute each. We have another electric centrifugal pump of 1100 gallons per minute, and one gasoline centrifugal pump of 1000 gallons per minute. We can run simultaneously, the gasoline pump and the large electric pump with a combined pumping capacity of 2100 gallons per minute, enough to supply three fire pumping engines, even though we would eliminate the storage capacity of our tanks.

It is a singular fact that this statement should be made It is a singular fact that this statement should be made of our section, when it is less true than any other water system for miles around us. Edgewater, Beverly, Delanco and Riverside have a combined storage capacity of about 200,000 gallons compared to our 576,000. Moorestown has a storage capacity of approximately 100,000 gallons. Merchantville has approximately a capacity of 300,000 gallons, and as far as our records go, and the data we can gather, we have a larger storage capacity than the whole city of Camden, which we believe has but 400,000 gallons of water raised sufficient height to supply their mains without raised sufficient height to supply their mains without Burlington, a city of no mean proportions, has a storage capacity of but 250,000 gallons. The Riverton & Palmyra Water Co. has expended large sums of money in order that should we have to face a large conflagration, we could readily cope with it.

One would suppose our officials would at least familiarize themselves with these facts, and give credit where it

Can assure you that this surmise on the part of our Mayor is absolutely groundless. At the same time, we would like a thorough investigation on the part of the officials, in order that they may become satisfied that in regard to water, we are distinctly in a better position than any of our neighboring municipalities.

Yours truly,

THE RIVERTON & PALMYRA WATER COMPANY CHAS. A. WRIGHT, President.

On and Off

A very bad actor once ventured to appear in the part of Hamlet, but even the village audience he tried it on would not tolerate it, and he was pelted with rotten eggs.

The next day two colleagues were discussing the performance.

"Well," said one, "I never laughed so much in my life as when Jones came on as Hamlet."

"Oh." retorted the other, "I laughed much more when he went off as Omelet!"

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

By JOSEPH KAYE

JAMES MADISON AND DOLLY MADISON

"A FEW hours have passed only since you left me, my beloved, and I find nothing can relieve the oppression of my mind but speaking to you in this, the only way. Dr. Physic called before you had gone far, but I could only find voice to tell him my knee felt better. Betsy Pemberton and Amy are sitting by me and seem to respect the grief they know I feel at even so short a separation from one who is spect the grief they know I feel at even so short a separation from one who is all to me. I shall be better when Peter returns with news—not that any length of time could lessen my first regret, but an assurance that you are well and easy will contribute to make me so. . . . Betsy puts on your hat to divert me, but I cannot look at her. "Farewell until tomorrow, my best friend; think of thy wife who thinks and dreams of thee.

This endearing letter was written by the famous Dolly Madison to her hus-band, James Madison. Their separa-tion was not very serious—he went to Washington while she remained for a short time in Philadelphia to cure a lame knee; but it was their first sep aration and they suffered out of pro-portion to the cause.

James Madison was Dolly's secon husband. Dorothy Paine, grunddaugh ter of John Paine, one of the early se-tlers in Virginia, bad married a Peni tlers in Virginia, had married a Pennsylvania lawyer named John Toddi when she was nineteen. Two years later the yellow fever epidemic had made her a widow and in the following year she met and married James Madison, a match which gave great pleasure to President and Mrs. Washington, who tock a fond interest in the couple. Dolly Madison was remarkable for her heauty, culture and social leadership, and her life with Madison, who became the fourth President of the United States, was ldyllic and covered a happy period of 42 years.

THREE-WHEELED "BUG" HAS GREAT POWER

Whenever this interesting little bus rumbles through a Berlin street all within running distance hop to the curb to see it go by. Its speed and its capacity for making short curves has aroused the admiration of the German motor world. The car is said to be the smallest of its kind in Europe and is propelled by a three horse-power motor.

Listening Rod Detects Listening Rod Detects

When a noise occurs in the timing gears it can easily be distinguished by a loud ringing or huming sound, and can easily be derected by sounding the timing gear case with a listening rod or stethoscope. It is generally caused by worn bearings or gear teeth and in some cases by wearing which causes the gears to mesh improperly. It is frequently evident after the main bearings have been refitted, since this may change the gear centers and cause the gear teeth to mesh deeper.

Appliance for Holding Beads of Tire Casings

A piece of %-inch rod, bent to the shape shown, is a handy appliance for holding the bends of a tire casing apart while making interior repairs, or patching. In addition, if made the correct size, it will serve as an inflation-test gauge. To accomplish this, pump the tire up to the right pressure, and measure the casing directly unand measure the casing directly un der the wheel hub, with the weight of the car resting on the axle. The dis-tance between the points will not, of course, be standard for all tires, but course, be standard for all tires, but will depend on the size of the tire being measured. A gauge of this kind has perhaps no great accuracy, but is far cheaper than the dial type, and as it only applies to one size, it is less likely to be stolen. Also, it is a much simpler operation to caliper the tires than to unscrew the cap and apply the pressure gauge.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

When Going Over Tires

Carefully Examine Extra

When you are looking over the tires on your car don't forget the spare you are carrying behind. Unless it is covered to protect it from light, water, oil and heat, it will rapidly deteriorate. These four enemies of rubber will take the life out of any rubber product in a short time.

It is important to make sure that the spare tire is fastened tightly to the carrier. If there is any play in the fastenings there will be constant rubbing against the casing and consequent injury to it.

Once in a while a few drops of oil should be placed on the detachable rim bolts. Oil should also be used when an oid tire has rusted to the rim and refuses to give up its hold. But when oil is used, carefully wipe it off the tire before the job is finished. Carefully Examine Extra off the tire before the job is finishe

Ciover Seed Tested.

Tests with imported red clover seed carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington show that not all varieties are suited for growth in this country. In almost every test made with Italian seed there were signs of more or less winter killing or disease injury. German and Bohemian strains also showed considerable disease injury. In the northern states the French and Chilean seed beds showed some winter killing, but at other places seemed to suffer little. Inasmuch as estimates of the probable red clover crop in this country indicate that we will import a large amount of our seed for 1924, the bureau of plant industry advises importers and farmers to procure such strains as are known to give satisfactory results under conditions in this country.

Baptist Church Notes

My dear Mr. Bowen:

My dear Mr. Bowen:

"The Independent" has offered prizes to those who would give the best reasons for the way they would vote at the election in November. Not all of your readers follow that publication, and it may not be amiss if your "Old Fashioned Citizen" should give his reasons, or a few of them; my reply would be about as follows:

The Constitution of the United States is the sheet anchor of our liberties. It has been preserved to us and our present blessings are all traceable to it, from individual opportunity up to National position in World affairs, and, if you please, back to the individual securing his interests from both ways, and other blessings are yet to flow from it in still more abundant measure.

The administration of the affairs of Government, under that instrument, should always be in the hands of those whose high purpose it is, to patriotically uphold it in every manner, seeing to it that due care is exercised in every department, that thrift and economy be rigidly observed and that official integrity shall rise to the highest known standards. To insure this, men of character, of known probity, and of administrative experience should be placed in office. Especially is it important that such a man be chosen as Chief Executive. A calm, careful, well poised mind is so essential that the party which can offer a standard bearer of these qualities deserves the thoughtful support of all who desire to be known as Americans. With "his feet on the ground and his eyes on God," such a man will have the respect and confidence of his countrymen; and his policies for domestic and foreign conditions will be safe and sane. As the record of the present occupant of the White House exhibits such character more fully than any other candidate whose name has been offered for public preferment the ticket which I shall cast at the election in November will be headed by the names of Calvin Coolidge for President and Charles G. Dawes for vice president.

Rally Day at Epworth Church

Next Sunday will be generally observed as Sunday School Rally Day. At the Epworth Methodist Church there will be a special program in the morning service at 10:30 with an address by the pastor, the Rev. Fred B. Morley, on "Religious Education." The service will conclude with the public installation of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School.

Rally Day exercises of the Sunday School will be held at 2:30 p. m. There will be a Rally Day program. There will be a Rally Day program will be a received to the various departments of the Sunday School. This service will not only be of unusual interest to the present members of the school but new comers in the community and visitors will find it most enjoyable. Many who have become lax in their Sunday School shabits should make this the time of a fresh start. There are classes for all ages from one to one hundred. Graded lessons are used and special attention is given to properly classifying new pupils.

In the evening at seven o'clock the young people of the Epworth League have their devotional meeting. This is a meeting by young people and for young people of the Epworth League have their devotional meeting. This is a meeting by young people and for young people of the Sunday School fellowship and spiritual helpfulness, and a good place for new comers in the community to get acquainted.

The evening worship is at seven forty-five. There is a brightness about the evening service that makes it a fitting way to spend the closing hours of the Lord's Day. The singing is spirited, and the pastor brings a brief message that should give everyone a better grip on things spiritual, and help each to more strongly stand for the right.

Hartley and Schwink Trying to Raise
$200 for Team

Tommy Schwink's Field Club football team is gradually being whipped into shape by Coach Jim Hartley. About thirty candidates reported for the drills held last Saturday afternoon and Tuesday evening.

The coach is satisfied with the material and hopes to develop a fast young team which will average about 140 pounds in weight.

The initial game will be played Saturday, October 4th, with the Triple "X" team, of Frankford, as the opponents. The battle will be staged on The Field Club grounds.

The management would like to put a neat-appearing eleven on the field. A number of boys either have old uniforms, or none at all, so an attempt is being made to raise enough funds to equip the entire squad, which will probably number fifteen or twnety, with new stockings, pants and jerseys.

This is quite a financial undertaking and it will require in the neighborhood of $200 to purchase the necessary clothing and supplies. The candidates are selling chances on a ton of coal and a five dollar gold piece. There are about 150 books out. Slould all of these be sold, it is estimated they will net a profit of $100.

A few of the prominent business men and citizens have made contributions. Any public-spirited citizens who desire to make donations may send sane to Coach James H. Hartsley, 705 Garfield avenue, Palmyra.

Make all checks payable to Mr. Hartley. These donations will be gratefully received and will be acknowledged by the treasurer of the team. When the officers of the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company found that the proposed storm sewer to be constructed by the Borough of Riverton would pass over the top of their "accumulating galleries" on Bank avenue, they appealed to the State Board of Health to determine whether or not there was a possibility of contaminating Riverton's water supply by leakage from the drain. On Tuesday morning a conference was held on the ground between C. W. Sparmaker, and I. R. Riker, of the Bureau of Engineering of the State Department of Health, Charles A. Wright, E. L. Williams, R. Surprise Party

On Saturday evening of last week, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Cook, were given a surprise party by friends, at their home, 626 Lippincott avenue, in honor of their eleventh wedding anniversary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Truman, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Truman, Mr. and Mrs. William Truman, Mr. John Noone, of Palmyra, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith and Miss Lucy Brown, of Riverton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Epple, of Philadelphia. The evening was spent in dancing, refreshments were served, and a very delightful time was had.

When business and work have been shattered,
And smashed to the very last root,
When all the banks have been pundered,
And everyone's shared in the loot,
We shall pause—when our last vent is squandered—
And say, with a sad, hungry sob:
"We were lured by the third party system—
Now I wonder who'll give us a job?"

An unusual color for a flag is found in the new Belgian royal standard, which is purple, with a gold shield in the center surrounded by a crown. The palm for originality probably goes to Trengganu, one of the Federated Malay States, whose national flag is plain black with a white band next the staff and no ornamentation of any sort.

When the reparations plan is in operation, I shall deem it an appropriate time to approach the creat powers with a proposal for another conference for a further limitation of armaments and for devising plans for a codification of international law. I personally should favor entering into covenants for the purpose of outlawing aggressive war by any practical means. Our country has always been against aggressive war and for permanent peace. Those who are working out detailed plans to present such a policy for consideration have my entire sympathy. I trust that never again will the women of this Nation be called on to sacrifice their loved ones to the terrible scourge of war.

Although Consolidation of West Hoboken and Union Hill Was Upheld They're Still Separate.

PLIGHT OF 30,000 JERSEYITES

Court Is Asked to Force Name on I Officials of Each Place to Be Ordered to Show Cause Why They Are Not in Contempt.

Trenton.—About 30,000 persons along the Hudson, in North Jersey, don't know where they live. Of course they can all find their way home at night, but any one of them would have a hard time telling where that home is. They are not blind nor dumb. They live in a city that has no name. no name.

For nearly six months since March

For nearly six months since March 4 town officials have been trying to name that city, which was formed by the consolidation referendum of West Hoboken and Union Hill. So far the town councils of the two places have been unable to agree on a name and as a result there are still two town governments functioning within one city.

There is, however, a plan in the minds of the men who fostered the consolidation, and within the next few months the city may be forced to form a single government whether it has a name or not. This plan is the outgrowth of action, or rather the inaction of the two town councils. Recently, for the seventh time, the two bodies met with the avowed purpose of naming the new city. For the seventh time they went away without having selected a name. Each meeting of the two bodies has been much the same.

Farce Played Seven Times.

The curtain was rung up on each occasion as a mayor and five councilmen from each town took their seats in one or the other town hall. Each performance began with a prologue by one of the mayors, telling the purpose of the meeting. The first act began as motions for a name were called.

As the motions were put in order

As the motions were put in order a serious mannered councilman brought himself to a standing position. And here the romance entered into the plot. Drawing a pretty picture of the sentiment that clogged the memory of the name West Hoboken he gravely offered that as the name of the new city. The motion was seconded and put to the vote. Five councilmen from West Hoboken were for it, five from Union Hill were against it.

The second act was much like the first, with the exception of the fact that the name submitted was Union Hill, around which as many pleasant memories were gathered. This suggestion, too, was met by a tia vote.

But each time, when the curtain should have gone up on the last act, the players forgot their lines. There were no more suggestions. Not one man thought of drawing on his imagination for a name. And so they kicked the old oaken bucket and went home.

Seven times this farce was played, the last time to an audience of four. The size of the house might indicate that the show was not a paying proposition, but the patriotic councilmen apparently do not think so, for they continue to hold their positions in the cast.

With the completion of this year's construction program the twenty routes comprising the state highway system will have 469 miles of the highest type of modern highway paving. The present commission, functioning about a year and a haif, will have added 229 miles of concrete surfacing to the total, including eighty-seven miles under contract when the board took office.

Exclusive of bridges, the commission contracted for about sevenity-one miles of concrete in 1923, costing $5,076,861. Bridge construction during that year cost $1,367,390.

During 1924 the commission has given out work for a fraction more

During 1924 the commission has given out work for a fraction more than sixty-nine miles of concrete, to cost $4.424,724, and for bridges cost-ing $2.340,178. The new bridge span-ning the Raritan river between Perth Amboy and South Amboy is in a sep-arate contract for $3,702,921, of which $1.014,000 has already been expended.

New Vice President of Public Service Edgar J. Allegaert has been ap-pointed vice-president in charge of electric operation of Public Service Electric and Gas Company. He succeeds Farley Osgood, whose resignation was announced this week.

Mr. Allegaert has been connected with Public Service and its predecessor companies continuously since 1899. He started with the People's Light and Power Company of New Ark in February of that year, keeping consumers' accounts. In 1901 when the People's Light and Power Company was merged with the ing consumers accounts. In Jovimben the People's Light and Power Company was merged with the United Electric Company of New Jersey, Mr. Allegaert became chief clerk of the United Company and, later in the same year, he was made general auditor. When the United Electric Company of New Jersey became a part of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey in 1903, he continued as general auditor of the corporation, also of the electric company. He was born in South Bethlehem, Pa., and spent his early years in Philad-lphia.

Franklyn Heydecke, who was one of Mr. Allegaert's assistants, succeeds him both as general auditor of the corporation and of the electrical division of Public Service Electric and Gas Company.
