Freeholders At Last Permit Stout to Build Church Road

Obstructive Tactics of Defeated Board Faction Are Abandoned After Primary; Delay is Costly

It was at the tail end of the meeting, and the tail end of a resolution, that settled a long drawn out controversy as to who should build Church Road. For months the Road Department, headed by Charles R. Stout, had contended it should be built with the County road forces. This plan was opposed by Lippincott, Wright and Director Rogers.

At last Friday's meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, the resolution was passed without a dissenting vote, that is, Stout, Russ, Wright and Rogers voted for it, and Lippincott didn't vote. The resolution read as follows:

Resolved, that resolution 148, dated May 18th, be rescinded and the clerk be authorized to advertise for bids for the construction of the Masonic Home Road, from the intersection of Oxmead Road to State Highway, and that the road department be authorized to immediately start construction of the Church Road from the Burlington-Camden County line to Cox's Corner, approximately five and one-half miles, the cost not to exceed $80,000."

Political Trick Failed

This ends a bitter fight, which was apparently waged for political reasons. After accomplishing its purpose, or rather, having failed to do so, the matter was readily adjusted as soon as the primary election was over. Had the road construction work been started several weeks ago as it should have been, there would have been plenty of time for the road department to construct both the Masonic Home Road and the Church Road, instead of letting the Masonic Home Road out to contract as has now become necessary.

On recommendation of Freeholder Russ, bills amounting to $48.18 for supplies furnished by S. R. Sharp & Company, to the County almshouse, while Charles Bowne was superintendent, were ordered paid. These bills had not been approved by Mr. Bowne before his death and were turned over to Mr. Russ for investigation.

Conard & Ruxby, contractors, received an extension of thirty days in which to complete the concrete wing wall on the Broad street bridge, Burlington, owing to the illness of his foreman. Recommendation for the extension of time was made by Engineer Smith and J. Lloyd Wright, director of bridges.

A letter was received from Senator Walter E. Edge, in reference to financial relief of the family of Mrs. Sprague, who was recently killed by a machine gun bullet fired from Camp Dix during target practice. The Senator said that if it was a matter that could only be adjusted by an Act of Congress that nothing could be done before December, but he was of the opinion that a good claim existed and asked for full details.

Explains Appropriation

County Clerk William H. Reeves appeared before the Board and asked why $85,000 had been appropriated for the construction and furnishing of the Clerk's office, when he understood that estimates amounted to only about $60,000. From data produced by Mr. Adams, clerk of the board, Mr. Reeves was informed that the bid for the building was about $61,000, furnishings $1100, extra work $2000 in addition to the heating, plumbing and electric wiring and the cost of interest and financing.

A resolution was passed on recommendation of the Director and superintendent of roads that a macadam base be constructed on Front street, Florence, and bids asked for a sheet asphalt top. The base will cost about $4500. The asphalt top will be laid at the same time Branch Pike is ready for improvement, thereby securing a better price for the work.

Dr. Newcomb, of the Tuberculosis Sanitorium, appeared before the board and said that the managers of that institution had instructed him to take up the matter of a home for nurses next year. He said that he had recently lost two nurses owing to the improper and inadequate housing conditions.

Mr. Russ said that the present hospital could be converted into a nurses' home, but the doctor replied that it wouldn't make a nurses' home in a thousand years. He said the hospital could be used for an infirmary, which would increase the capacity of his institution by about thirty and make things much pleasanter for the other patients by segregating those who were very ill.

When asked about the revenue to the institution by outside patients, Dr. Newcomb said that nearly $12,000 had been received during the past six months. He said that for the nurses' home he did not want anything fancy, just a convenient home where those who have care of the patients could be entirely free from the atmosphere of the institution during their hours off duty.

Will Provide Funds

Freeholder Stout said that he understood that the Brown's Mills sanatorium was the only institution of this kind in the State which did not have a nurses' home. J. Lloyd Wright offered a motion that a sufficient sum be included in next year's budget to provide for the improvement asked for by Dr. Newcomb, which was unanimously passed.

Henry I. Worrell, superintendent of the almshouse, said that he had a bad situation in his institution, too. He said that he now had the only nurse that had ever been employed in the almshouse, and she hadn't had a full night's sleep since she had been there. A maternity case had been sent to the almshouse which had kept her up nights for two weeks in succession and that was followed by a man with the "rams," who robbed her of another night's sleep. He said he would like to make it plain to doctors, overseers of the poor and others, that the almshouse could not take everybody whom they might want to get rid of, and he further said that if maternity cases were to be handled it would be necessary that he have different facilities.

He said that the babies crying kept the old folks awake at night and wrecked their nervous systems to such an extent that they were mighty hard to get along with the next day. He said that the maternity case had been sent to his institution after it had been refused admission at the Burlington County Hospital on the grounds that they had no facilities, and he pointed out that his facilities were certainly much less than those at the hospital.

Gets $12,000 a Year

Mr. Russ wanted to know what the Burlington County Hospital got $12,000 from the county for if they couldn't take a charity case now and then. He said he understood that the Burlington County Hospital took maternity cases in private rooms, and was of the opinion that if they could make room when they got well paid they could make room for an occasional charity case when necessary, concluding with the remark that he didn't believe the hospital had any more generous contributors than the board of freeholders.

Resolutions were passed awarding the contract for the general work on the improvement of the almshouse to Samuel Bodine, of Mount Holly for $10,450, heating work to Albert Ellis, Moorestown, for $818.00, plumbing A. A. Stidford, Mount Holly, for $1396, and electrical work to Ernest S. Milligan, Mount Holly, for $429.

The following bills were ordered paid:

Roads, $1,513.53; bridges, $4,034.60; public buildings, $5,864.17; public affairs, $380.66; finance, $89,492.53.

RIVERTON SCHOOL BOARD

A meeting of the Riverton Board of Education was held Monday night, to wind up the affairs of the school to the beginning of the summer vacation period. A resolution was passed that the next meeting of the Board will be held on Tuesday, September 15th. S. L. Warren and J. W. Sylvester were appointed the auditing committee.

During the month of May, Riverton School was visited by Miss Ethel M. Orr, Director of Training in Glassboro Normal School. Miss Orr expressed herself as pleased with the work seen and asked that Riverton school be placed on the list of schools for preliminary training for their students. STECHER—ZISAK

Last Saturday morning, the Church of the Sacred Heart, Riverton, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Matilda Zisak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Zisak, of 621 Thomas avenue, Riverton, became the bride of George F. A. Stecher, of Riverside. The Rev. Joseph A. Rigney performed the ceremony at nine o'clock. The wedding march was played by Miss Eleanor Connell, who also accompanied Miss Mary E. Steedle in vocal solos.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in bridal satin, beaded in rhinestones and crystal. Her tulle veil was bordered with rose point lace and held in place by tiny sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley.

Miss Winifred Zisak and Miss Kathryn Steedle were bridesmaids. Yellow satin-back crepe formed Miss Zisak's frock. It was trimmed in embroidered tulle and she wore a neapolitan straw hat to match her gown. Miss Steedle's frock was of the same material and pattern, but in green. She also wore a neapolitan hat to match. Both carried yellow roses and lillies of the valley.

Miss Betty Stecher Haas was flower girl, in a dainty frock of pink georgette. She wore a pink georgette hat and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Harry Stecher, of Atlantic City, was best man for his brother. The ushers were William Johnston, of Riverside, and William Gerrow, of West Philadelphia.

A wedding breakfast and reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, after which they left on a wedding trip to Delaware Water Gap.

After July 28th Mr. and Mrs. Stecher will be at home at 211 Lippincott avenue, Riverside.

The preparations for raising the flag will be started at 9.15. The band will be there at 9 o'clock.

ROBBERS IN MOTOR TRUCK

Burglars Ransack East Riverton Home Before Being Frightened Away

The modern burglar has some class—also nerve. Last Saturday night a pair of second story men drove up to the home of Harry Beach, South Bellview avenue, East Riverton, and proceeded to help themselves to the things on the first floor. They secured $15.00 in cash. That the Beach household was not stripped of all its furniture is probably due to the fact that a little daughter woke up and called her mother.

Hearing the chug-chug of the motor truck, Mrs. Beach looked out of the window and saw two men jump into the vehicle and drive away. Investigation showed that everything had been turned topsy-turvy, evidently in quest of cash or valuables. Even the top of the piano had been raised in search of hidden treasure.

Leon Hagen, who lives a block away, saw a man trying to force entrance in the house across the street. He investigated and received a blow on the head with a club in the hands of a burglar for his pains, and had to be taken home by the Palmyra police patrol which had arrived by that time. William Quigley, of the Riverton police force also arrived on the scene, but the combined efforts of the two departments failed to discover the robbers, or find any trace of them.

The description of the men and the motor truck tallies with the outfit which was seen in Palmyra a few days ago.

RUCHHOLZ—MILLER

Miss Ethel Laura Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller, of Indian Mills, became the bride of S. Stuart Buchholz, last Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. Buchholz' parents, Mr and Mrs. Charles F. Buchholz, Charles street, Palmyra, by the Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, of Palmyra and Riverton.

Mrs. Josiah E. Wallace was the bridesmaid and Mr. Wallace was best man. The bride wore white crepe de chine and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, lillies of the valley, sweet peas and baby breath. Mrs. Wallace was attired in powder blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

After the wedding, a large party of relatives were entertained at a reception tendered the happy couple by Mr. and Mrs. Buchholz, after which they left on a two weeks' honeymoon in Atlantic City.

The happy couple will be at home at their apartment on Cinnaminson avenue after August 1st.

MRS. JANE BAKER CONVERSE

Mrs. Jane Baker Converse, ninety-two, widow of the Rev. John H. Converse, who died in 1904 while rector of the Church of the Messiah, Gwynnod, Pa., died last Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Van Meter, 315 Manheim street, Germantown.

Probably First Lighthouse

The word "pharos" means lighthouse, and the Pharos of Egypt was a gigantic beacon which was established at Alexandria Egypt, to light the mariners to safety. It was built by Ptolemy in 282 B. C., and it was stated that it was 400 feet high and the light was visible for 60 miles at sea.

NOTED BOYS BAND TO RENDER CONCERT

Tressler Orphans Home Band, of Loysville, Pa., To Be Here Over Weekend

An added attraction for the weekend of the Fourth of July is the coming of the nationally known Tressler Orphans' Home Boys' Band, under the direction of Professor Harry Stenger. This combination makes a concert tour each year, traveling as far north as New York city, and south to Baltimore and Washington.

This year they had the pleasure of entertaining crowds in the latter two cities, and later again journey to New York city. Their tour this summer included a three-day engagement at Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, and it was this that gave the Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the local Lutheran Church, the opportunity to obtain them.

The boys range in age from six to sixteen years, being among the youngest musicians in the world. There are 37 in number, besides the leader, and are especially famous for their combination of ten saxophones, and a bass drummer who is one of the smallest drummers in Pennsylvania. This little chap also handles the bells and amazes all his hearers with his superb skill.

The Band will arrive on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock and it is hoped will render a few selections about 7.30. Their concert however will be rendered Sunday evening at 8 o'clock on the Lutheran Church grounds, and in case of rain within the building. This will also permit the audience to attend the rally at the Epworth Temple. A silver offering for the Orphans' Home will be lifted.

If the crowds that have heard them in other cities is any indication of local enthusiasm, then Palmyra and Riverton will turn out en masse. Do not miss this splendid boys' band.

Delanco Beats Burlington, 16-12

Goes Into Tie for First Place in Burlington County League

By virtue of its 16-12 victory over Burlington Saturday Delanco is now tied for first place in the Burlington County league with Burlington.

Playing a game of free hitting, Delanco demonstrated its all-round ability on the diamond and piled up a score that was impossible for the opponents to overcome.

Although Burlington led in the first three innings Delanco by hard hitting in the sixth, seventh and eighth, gained a lead which it maintained until the end of the game.

Wentz Foster, Burlington's pitching ace, was driven from his box by the slugging visitors and was replaced by Conrey who was in turn replaced by Landberg.

George Quigg started on the mound for the local boys, but found the action too warm for him and gave way to Hansbury who continued pitching in fine style.

Shaw was the batting star for Delanco with a home run, a three bagger and two singles. Horn and Kalbach also registered two baggers for the locals.

Doyle, Fox, Sholl and Moore were the leading stickmen for Burlington.

Colonial Memories Live Again in Carpenters' Hall Anniversary Celebration

There was undoubtedly some furtive brushing up on the data of our historical landmarks when the name of Carpenter's hall reappeared in the dispatches a short time ago, from the depths of a long Philadelphian oblivion, as the scene of a solemn ceremonial enacted on the occasion of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the first Continental congress and the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the company that built the hall, more than a century and a half ago. Familiar to every schoolboy are the names of Faneuil hall in Boston, the "Cradle of American Liberty," and Independence hall in Philadelphia, where the great Declaration was adopted. But Carpenter's hall, for some reason or another, has been allowed to slip back into the suburbs of patriotic memories, although it is entitled to an equal place in the trinity of historic halls most sacred to the beginnings of American freedom and the crystallization of its doctrines. It was in Faneuil hall that the first keynotes of liberty found expression. It was at Independence hall that the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed to the world. But it was at Carpenter's hall that the initial movement toward a union of the colonies was staged in the first Continental congress, in 1774, and it was there, too, 13 years later, that the representatives of the new republic met to fashion the greatest document of modern times—the Constitution of the United States of America.

Carpenter's hall was the guildhall of the Worthy and Honorable Association of Carpenters and Architects of pre-Revolutionary days. This association, known as the Carpenter's company, was founded in Philadelphia 50 years before the voices of protest against the misrule of the motherland began to find expression in the American colonies. It is still in existence. And the old hall, which had been completed a few years before the meeting of the first congress of the colonies, still stands a monument to the honest labor and the esthetic tastes of the artisans who constructed it. Thousands pass it daily, without a thought, perhaps, of the significance of Carpenter's hall in American history. It is hidden away among more pretentious modern structures at the end of a court that leads into Chestnut street, between Third and Fourth streets. Its main entrance was once on Walnut street, but the buildings of a later date have blocked the way, so that today one approaches the venerable old building by way of the Chestnut street court, which really leads up to the back door.

The building is said to be, for its time, an architectural gem. It is built of brick, in the form of a Greek cross, and all four sides present a perfect symmetry of design. Windows of the colonial period are topped by beautiful white marble keystones and the doors, surmounted by similar embellishments, are said to be of rare architectural beauty. Little patches of lawn abutting on the street preserve the Quaker-like simplicity of the exterior. Within the hall are preserved some of the chairs in which sat the delegates to that fateful first convention of the representatives of the embryonic republic and on its walls is the inscription: "Within these walls Henry, Hancock and Adams inspired the delegates of the colonies with nerve and sinew for the toils of war, resulting in national independence." Fine colonial stairways lead to the upper story, and although the building has undergone some internal changes, the

Momentous Meeting

The first session of the Continental congress was held in Carpenter's hall, Philadelphia, September 5, 1774, with 44 members present; all the colonies were represented except Georgia and North Carolina. Peyton Randolph of Virginia was president, and Charles Thomson was secretary.

Lesson for July 5

THE BEGINNING OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—And He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Men Become Foreign Missionaries.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Foreign Missions Began.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Beginning of Foreign Missions.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in Foreign Missions.

I. The Gifts of the Church at Antioch (v. 1).

Young as Antioch, the new religious center was, she had prophets and teachers. In Eph. 4:8-12 Paul declares that when Christ ascended He gave gifts to men for the purpose of perfecting the saints unto the work of the ministry. This shows that the church does not exist for itself, but for service to others. Christ, the head of the church, came not to be ministered to, but to minister and give His life a ransom for many (Matt. 20:28).

II. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2-3).

These were the first foreign missionaries sent out. While the five ministers were praying and fasting, the Spirit of God commanded them to send forth Barnabas and Saul. The work of evangelizing the world was laid so heavily upon these men that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of the Lord in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that meets God's approval. From the fact that they were directed to send forth those whom the Spirit called, we learn that the real call to Christ's service comes from the Spirit. The Spirit called and the church seconded the motion by sending those who were called by Him. The church should be constantly seeking the mind of the Spirit relative to the sending forth of laborers into the vineyard. The Spirit called and the church sent the very best men from the church at Antioch. These men seem to have been ready to go for they rendered instant obedience. This should be our attitude toward the Lord's work, holding ourselves in readiness for the immediate execution of His commission. Those who have received the Spirit's call are not taken by surprise when the church sets them forward to their specific work.

III. Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4-5).

We are not told us to why they first went to Cyprus, but we are left to infer that it was owing to the fact that it was the home of Barnabas. He was acquainted with the country and people, and could thus be assured of a respectable hearing among them. Besides it is most natural that those who have heard the good news to go with it first to their kindred and friends. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was denied the pleasure of his request to follow Jesus. Christ commanded him to go home and tell what great things the Lord had done for him (Luke 8:39). As they went forth they carefully carried out their commission for they preached the Word of God, not current history, philosophy, ethics, etc. Those who are faithful to God will never preach anything but His Word. The great need today is Spirit-called, Spirit-filled men preaching God's Word. In fact Spirit-filled men will preach nothing else. The opposer of God and Christ can only be successfully met by this means.

IV. Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of the Word of God. Elymas maliciously sought to turn his mind from the faith. This is the first obstacle they encountered, but it was overcome through the power of the Spirit. This opposer is the same one who came to Adam in the garden of Eden, and Jesus in the wilderness. He is the enemy of God and man. He now sought to bar the gospel as it entered upon its career of the conversion of the heathen. Paul denounced him in the most scathing terms. He called him the child of the devil, denounced him as full of guile and villainy, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord. Surely a man is never more of a villain than when trying to turn a soul from the gospel.

Our Life

We are living now by justice, honor and mercy, by the moral mastery of ourselves and of our time; and this life while in time is not of time; it is life in God and for God; it is the life of freedom; it is free from anxiety, fear, doubt, despair, death; it is content with God and with its fate in God. —George A. Gordon.

MRS. RUSSELL HONORED

Burlington County Woman Secretary of Republican State Committee

Mrs. Nellie W. Russell, of Burlington, in private life, Mrs. Elwood H. Russell, a model housewife in her attractive suburban home in Springside on the outskirts of Burlington, is Burlington County's new member of the Republican State Committee. She is much more than that, for at the organization of the Republican State Committee last week, Mrs. Russell was unanimously chosen Secretary of that body, succeeding Mrs. Baker, of Morris county, who so ably managed the woman's work in the Whitney campaign preceding his victory at the primaries.

This selection is regarded as a signal honor for Burlington county. It is the first time that similar recognition has ever been given to a South Jersey county in many years.

Mrs. Russell is entering her first term as the woman member of the State Committee from this county. She succeeds Mrs. Henry J. Sherman, of Moorestown, who was not a candidate for re-election this year. Mrs. Russell has been first vice chairman of the County Committee for the past four years. She has been active in organizing the Republican women voters throughout the county and helped to start the sixteen local units of the Women's Republican Club of the State. She was the first vice chairman of the County Committee after woman acquired the suffrage. Mrs. Russell, besides being a supporting member of the State Women's Republican Club, is a member of the Board of Governors, being the Burlington county representative on that body.

For four years she has been connected with the office of the Senate Journal Clerk and last year was first assistant. In every capacity in which she has served Mrs. Russell has shown marked executive as well as clerical ability.

She was an enthusiastic supporter of Senator Whitney in his pre-primary campaign for the gubernatorial nomination and had charge of the women's work for the Morris county candidate in Burlington county throughout the campaign, aiding materially in bringing about the splendid vote accorded Senator Whitney in this county.

In speaking of her support of Whitney for Governor, Mrs. Russell said, "I regard Senator Whitney as the type of candidate the women want. He stands for the things that the women voters have long sought in politics. Women do not look at the superficial; they go to the bottom of things, even more than the men do, I think. Women want to know the reasons; they do not accept whatever is told them as the truth unless it is supported by facts."

Mrs. Russell will enter upon her new duties immediately. There is a corps of office secretaries, so her work will be largely of a supervisory nature; but she will act as the secretary of the State Committee at all of the meetings of that body.

DON'TS FOR BATHERS

Words of Caution That Will Prevent Fatalities and Make Bathing Safe

Apropos of the popularity of bathing this season here are some Don'ts for Bathers, recently compiled by a captain of a life saving corps along the Delaware:

"Don't go into the water when you are overheated. It has caused many drownings from cramps and heart disease.

"Don't swim after eating a meal. The food is not wholly digested and the blood circulation is poor. This condition is responsible for swimmers fainting in the water. The exertion is too much for the heart.

"Don't take timid bathers or persons who are unable to swim in deep water. They become 'panicky' and sometimes have convulsions. At the same time you may injure them, or they injure you.

"Don't try to submerge a child. It is barbaric and causes death in some cases where the nerve tissues of the youngster are abnormal. It has been known to make some children nervous wrecks.

"Don't throw stones or bottles into a bathing place. Blood poisoning and fatal injuries have been attributed to broken bottles, sharp stones and tin cans that have been trampled on by bathers.

"Don't crowd around a person being rescued. It hampers the application of first aid and hinders the afflicted one from an early resuscitation.

"Don't rock a boat or a canoe, unless you are capable of swimming out of the area, and the others are good swimmers. Almost every other case of drowning after the capsizing of a canoe or boat is caused by some one of the party upsetting it.

"Don't try to rescue a frightened person while he is panicky if you can render him senseless beforehand. A frightened person sometimes prevents a rescue from getting him to safety by fighting in an attempt to save his life.

"Don't upset a boat with a child aboard. It is not a good way of teaching them to swim, nor is it giving you training as a life-saver.

"Don't go into the river if you have an infection on the body. Germs in water sometimes penetrate an infection and cause serious inand the loss of limbs."

THOMPSON DISMISSED

Wife in Politics, New Egypt Man Loses Job

Joseph M. Thompson, of New Egypt, has been dismissed from the State Department of Institutions and Agencies as the result of opposing State Commissioner Burdette G. Lewis in the recent squabble over the nomination of State Senator on the Republican ticket in Ocean county.

Thompson's wife, Mrs. Lila W. Thompson, was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination for State Senator against Senator Thomas A. Mathis.

Thompson became so active in his wife's behalf, the Institutions Department banished him to Washington, D. C., and later to Massachusetts. Thompson kicked up such a fuss that he was recalled and testified before the Bright Investigating Committee. He made it so warm for Lewis that it was freely predicted that Thompson would lose his job after the primaries.

WHITNEY SPENT $37,082

According to their expense statements, filed by the three Republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, Senator Arthur Whitney, the winner, spent $37,082.18; Thomas F. McCran, $16,169.19, and Cornelius Doremus, $18,089.82. Running for Governor is no game for a poor man.

CASHIN-McKINLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKinley, of East Pearl street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss C. Blanche McKinley, to Thomas A. Cashin, which took place in Philadelphia on Thursday night, June 18. The young couple have gone to California for a wedding trip.

Miss McKinley was assistant visiting nurse in Palmyra and Riverton for two years and has many friends in the two towns. Mr. Cashin has an important position with the William F. Taubel Co., of Riverside.

They will reside at 216 Linden avenue, Riverton.

MUST DISPLAY NAME

All Trucks Must Show Owner and Home Town

According to the provisions of Chapter 152 of the 1925 Laws of New Jersey, every motor vehicle used for commercial purposes on any of the streets or highways of the state must have conspicuously displayed thereon, or a name plate affixed thereto, the name of the owner of the vehicle, and the name or the city, town or township in which he resides. This sign or name plate must be in plain view and in letters not less than three inches in height. The new law, however, does not affect passenger cars displaying commercial registration plates.

The law will become effective on July 4, and on and after that time it will be enforced by police, traffic officers and state troopers throughout the state. A penalty of ten dollars is provided for violation and on refusal to pay the fine a sentence of ten days in the county jail will be imposed.

Henry Ford says the breakfast table is the backbone of the Nation, which leads us to suggest if more women got up to prepare it there perhaps might not be so many India rubber velocipedes running around and waging as the wind listeth.

If the time ever comes when we can see as well as hear over the radio a lot of fellows are going to be more careful about what they do when they go down town after dinner.

19-Inning Game On F. C. Diamond

Palmyra Loses to Passyunk Artisans After Playing Two Games in One

It took nineteen innings to decide the supremacy between Joe Stack's fast Field Club team and the Passyunk Artisans at the Field Club Saturday. The game started at the usual hour, 3:30, and it was about 7 o'clock when the visitors shoved over the deciding tally and conquered Palmyra 6-5, in one of the longest games on record here.

The game was a hair-raising thriller from start to finish with the teams deadlocked most of the time. Palmyra scored twice in the third and another pair in the fourth. Passyunk drove in its first in the sixth and tied up the count with a trio in the seventh. Neither scored in the eighth and Passyunk tallied once in the ninth and Palmyra evened it up in her half.

From then on they battled. Both teams used all kinds of strategy, attempting to break up the tie, but near as they would come to driving over the coveted count, neither could muster the final punch nad send the hungry fans home to their cold suppers.

Both hill artists worked nicely throughout and both went the entire route, pitching more than two complete games. Mull, the visiting moundsman, got off a little easier than Flynn. Mull twirled them up to seventy-two batters and Flynn was faced by eighty men. Both got enough exercise for one day and its a safe bet neither did any mound work Sunday.

Fly Chasers Busy

Another pair, not to exclude the catchers, who did their share of work were the fly chasers in left garden. Clark, the visiting left fielder, who is a bear for punishment and is just about as clever as Palmyra's Sammy Rodgers, chased eleven and got everyone. Sammy was not quite so busy, but as usual, handled his half dozen chances perfectly. Both made some wonderful catches and the left field was the object of much applause.

Two new faces were in the Field Club lineup. They were "Reds" Young, of Riverside, behind the bat, and Wenger, the Twilight League star twirler, at shortstop. Reds, who is a youngster, as his name indicates, showed excellent form at the pan and held Flynn throughout the nineteen frames.

Wenger showed lots of pep and spirit, handled several difficult chances perfectly, but also erred on a few occasions. He seemed a little anxious at times and in his rush to field the pill would fight it, and naturally, several "boots" resulted. The general opinion was that he is good, will shine in a short time, and the critics are in favor of retaining him at short. This encouragement from the usual "kickers" who razz the poor players and have no sympathy for those who miscue, sounds good.

Baker Shines at First

Everyone on the team played great ball. That is only logical, or Palmyra would have soon been dropped by the wayside in a clash against a classy club like Passyunk. Len Baker played a particularly fine game at the initial sack, fielding brilliantly. Len made some difficult stops, scooped them up and pulled them in from all directions.

Pitcher Martin Flynn played a prominent part in lengthening out the battle. With Wenger on and two out in the ninth, Babe lined a hot one over second and drove home the counter which tied it up for ten innings. He repeated his act with another sizzling liner in the twelfth, but died on base, as the next two men flied out.

Welkman led off in the third and was walked. Flynn flied to first. Rodgers received a pass. Young singled and Welkman went home. Stack singled and Rodgers went home. With two men on and two runs already scored, the next two men flied out to left field.

Andrews, first up in the fourth, was walked. Wenger sacrified. Andrews went home on Welkman's single and Welkman was driven home on a single by Babe Flynn.

Passyunk Scores

Passyunk scored its first run on two singles and an error by Wenger. A walk, a double, two singles and another error by Wenger gave the opposition their three counts in the seventh. An error and a pair of doubles gave Passyunk its ninth inning run. Flynn retired the first man to double when he shot the ball to Andrews at third and caught the runner off base. Two errors and a single enabled the visitors to push over the winnng counter.

Passyunk, with four doubles and fourteen singles, outhit Palmyra, Flynn, with three singles, led the local offensive, which found it tough swatting against Passyunk's subway twirler. Young and Welkman each clouted out a pair of singles. Stack, Baker, Bennett and Wenger had to be satisfied with one hit each.

The Fourth of July attraction will be the strong Cline A. C., of Trenton. This is one of the best teams in this locality and nobody knows it better than Tin Man Orcutt who faced this club last Fourth of July morning and had a terrible flock of hits and runs counted against him. Palmyra, with its present strong lineup, should be able to stop this hard hitting bunch of Trentonites.

SAME OLD STORY

Does Palmyra want a winning ball club, any kind of an old team, or none at all? Manager Joe Stack, of the Field Club nine, would like to know.

Last year Palmyra tried the local talent stuff. Few victories were turned in, so the fandom got disgusted, even though it wanted strictly amateur ball, and stayed away.

This year the cash customers told Joe to go out and get a winning team, not necessarily all local boys, but a team that would win against stiff opposition. Then, it was promised, support would be given.

Although a few setbacks were suffered during the spring stages of development, Joe now has a winning combination. He has done his part and has produced a crackerjack team, one of the best in years. But the people have not kept their word.

Last Saturday approximately one hundred cash customers faced the gate collectors. Joe had announced the Field Club would meet Passyunk, an expensive outfit, and of the calibre that meets Bacharach Giants and clubs like that.

Was the appearance of a paltry crowd of a hundred sufficient to warrant such an attraction? Certainly not, and the team went in the hole over fifty dollars.

And the club would have been still deeper in the hole if several public spirited citizens had not "dug deep" and produced some "long green" gratis. In fact, the financial condition of the team would be in a terrible condition if it were not few men like "Doc" Bauer and Horace Finney who we know always pay a lot more than the set admission.

To add insult to injury, some hard hearted fans have had the nerve to say Pasyunk did not use the same lineup as it used against some of the bigger clubs. As has always been the case, Palmyra's prowess is underestimated.

It is Palmyra's duty to support Joe and the team. It's a good advertisement for the town, promotes good clean athletics and should be a source of great enjoyment to many on Saturday afternoons. Let's get out and back up the boys.

Or else have courage enough to tell Joe there's no use trying, he had better quit. Riverton's team has threatened to disband and Palmyra will be forced to unless it is given better support.

Some of the "old timers" who saw Saturday's game said it was worth a dollar. Go down and see for yourself this Saturday. If you don't like the team, you'll not be compelled to go again.

"BOB" WINS FOURTH RACE

Last Saturday's race, the fourth in the spring series for the I. I. Class, was sailed in a squally Southwester. "Bob" got over the line first, followed by "Lady Audrey," "Bellerose" and "Lewana" in order named. "Bob" held the lead throughout the race but the other three boats changed positions frequently, in the run up river. On the reach down river the boats straightened out and finished with "Bob" first, "Lady Audrey" second, "Bellerose" third and "Lewanna" fourth.

PROTESTANTS UNITE ON A SYSTEM OF RELIGIOUS TRAINING

$225,000 NEEDED FOR WORK AMONG YOUTH

The New Jersey Council of Religious Education and its auxiliaries, which are at present waging a campaign to raise $225,000 for State and county religious educational work, have issued some remarkable figures. It seems that the United States has twice as many homicides in proportion to the population as Italy, ten times as many as Japan, and thirty times as many as England. This was true in 1916, the year before the United States entered the World War and four years before prohibition. So neither the war nor prohibition can be blamed for the crime situation in America. Judges and criminologists agree that the youthful criminal of today is the product of neglected religious and moral training.

MANUAL TRAINING CLASS IN A VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Criminality, law-breaking and common dishonesty are costing the taxpayers more than thirteen billion dollars annually.

Most criminals are now between 16 and 20 years of age. Less than 1 per cent of juvenile criminals have ever been inside of a Sunday school. Our own nation is in perilous condition because of the serious breakdown of the moral standards of a great section of her young people.

The working budget for this co-operative program for the next two years has been set at $225,000, which will be divided about equally between the State and the counties. The money is to be raised in a drive now under way, and the following quotas have been apportioned to the various Protestant organizations within these counties:

Atlantic	$6,000
Bergen	10,000
Burlington	15,000
Camden	12,000
Cape May	4,000
Cumberland	7,000
Essex	60,000
Gloucester	15,000
Hudson	16,000
Hunterdon	5,000
Mercer	10,000
Middlesex	8,500
Monmouth	9,000
Morris	8,000
Ocean	5,000
Passaic	10,000
Salem	5,000
Somerset	12,000
Sussex	3,000
Union	15,000
Warren	4,500

The various county committees are reporting encouraging results and a statewide awakening to the importance of religious training at the crucial age when habits are forming and character is being molded. The officers and directors of the drive are directing their attention primarily to those adhering to the Protestant faith, but at the same time they have evoked much praise from prominent Jews and Catholics who realize that the work carried on by the Protestant Religious Educational Council must redound to the benefit of the entire community.

KEEPING WELL

WHAT SCHOOLHOUSES NEED

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

THE little red schoolhouse of our grandparents is gone. In its place are handsome brick, stone and frame structures, containing assembly rooms, laboratories, classrooms, gymnasiums, swimming pools and a dozen other luxuries unheard of until recently. How much is necessary and how much is unimportant? What equipment should the simplest and cheaper schools have? What is the very least that the school can provide for the child's health? What are the features in a schoolhouse which are indispensable?

1. Enough window space to admit an abundance of light and fresh air for every pupil. These windows, so far as possible, should be to the left and the rear of each room, so that the light may come over the left shoulder and so that there may be the least possible amount of eyestrain. Each window should have a reflecting screen, set at 70 degrees, so that the air may be admitted and thrown up to the ceiling, without causing a direct draft.

2. A heating plant, whether stove, hot air furnace, steam or hot water, which will furnish enough heat to keep each room at 68 degrees Fahrenheit. A reliable thermometer should be placed in each room.

3. A supply of pure drinking water. If from wells, these should be tubed and protected at the top from surface pollution. The old-fashioned open well, with the bucket and windlass or the chain and bucket pump, are especially dangerous. The force pump is safer provided the top of the well is sealed.

4. Individual drinking cups for each pupil. Common drinking cups have been abolished in railway trains, sleepers, depots, hotels and all other public places. They are more dangerous in a schoolhouse than anywhere else, as in nearly all children's diseases infection is by means of throat and nose discharges.

5. Clean wash bowls, hot water and individual towels and soap, so that the children can keep their hands clean. Dirty hands are a frequent means of infection.

6. Clean, sanitary, fly-tight toilet accommodations.

7. Frequent school inspection by competent physicians, to detect the beginnings of epidemics, protect the healthy children from infection, make necessary physical examinations and advise with the teachers and school authorities as to the health and well-being of the children.

8. Seats which permit the child to do its work in a natural and comfortable attitude.

Has your school these eight essentials? If it hasn't, it is lacking, no matter how imposing the building nor how handsome the decorations.

Your Last Name

IS IT MANN?

THE fact that this name is derived from the word man, as it was used to indicate a servant or retainer, ought not to be objectionable to those who bear the name. Knight also first indicated a servant or retainer and the good old surnames Chamberlain and Stewart or Stuart were derived from names indicating positions of service. However, it has been pointed out that Mann was an Anglo-Saxon personal name and the surname may have been taken from it. When man is found in compound with other syllables it sometimes is used purely by way of description. Thus we have Goodman and Youngman.

Still another explanation is given of the name and undoubtedly this holds true in certain branches of the family. In this case the name has a local origin and is derived from Le Mans, the capital of Sarthe in France. For instance William, who came from Le Mans, might have been called William Le Mans which eventually would become William Mann.

The Mann family was early established in this country. There was a William Mann who settled in Cambridge, Mass., and a prominent Virginia family of the name. Then there was a Middle-states family of the name descended from a German ancestor of the name of Mann, which is even more usual in Germany than in England.

Horace Mann, born in 1796, the prominent American educator who married a sister of the wife of Nathaniel Hawthorne, was descended from William Mann who settled in Cambridge, Mass. There was also an English Horace Mann—Sir Horace Mann. He was born in 1701, and was the second son of Robert Mann, a London merchant. He was British envoy at Florence and a man of much prominence in the diplomatic world.

ATKINS—Sometimes this is from Adam and sometimes from Arthur Pritchard. This is a Welsh name, now usual in England and the United States, and is derived from "Ap Richard," meaning son of Richard. Contracted, Ap Richard easily becomes Pritchard.

Lutherans Lead Twilight League

Sammy Rodgers Puts Pep In Last Year's Champions; Pass Artisans

Only two games have been played in the Twin City Twilight League during the past week. Rain made the scheduled Artisan-Methodist tilt for last Thursday night impossible and it was postponed to be played at a later date.

Sammy Rodgers has revived his Lutheran aggregation and they have now regained the position held at the close of last year. The Churchmen are at the top of the ladder, having passed Jim Rapp's Artisans by virtue of two victories, one over the Legion Friday night and another over the Methodists Monday.

Lody Orcutt started on the mound for the league leaders Friday but was hit freely by the Legionnaires. After several trying stanzas, with the ex-servicemen clouting the pill for all they were worth, Manager Sammy showed Lody the way to the showers and sent in Charley Bates, who stopped the flow of Legion hits and won the game for the Churchmen by a 12-7 count.

This was one of the sloppiest games seen at Razzberry Park this season. Russ Gibbon was on the mound for the losers, but deserved better fate than he received at the hands of his teammates who rendered very little support.

To even up things, and give the fans their nickel's worth, the Methodists and Lutherans gave a classy entertainment Monday night with the Lutherans a close winner by a 3-2 score.

For some reason or other, Baker's battery of Lamont and Moffitt failed to put in appearance, so young "Coop" French, of Moorestown, brother of the famous West Point athlete and big league star, went on the mound and pitched a wonderful game for the Bakerites.

Len was behind the bat and played a bang-up game. The Camden merchant's arm was working to perfection and his pegging to the keystone sack was the best seen at the Field Club stadium in many a day. Harry Kemmerle drove one of his famous homers over right field fence to liven up the activities.

With two on, French hit what looked to be another homer, but Lody Orcutt, who was playing right field for the Lutherans, backed up to the barrier and pulled down the horsehide. Lody's speed was one of the sensations of the game, while the work of Bud Griffenberg in the left garden for the Bakerites was exceptionally clever. Bud had several difficult chances and fielded everyone perfectly, giving regular Sammy Rodgers acts.

A timely Texas leaguer by Warren Beahn with a pair of Lutherans on, put the game on ice for the winners. Charley Bates pitched a snappy battle for the Lutherans.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

PORPOISE AND WEATHER

WHILE the true porpoise and the true dolphin differ slightly from each other they are so nearly alike that the names are practically interchangeable and in superstition they figure as one and the same. Sailors say that when a shoal of porpoises come sporting about a ship it is a sign of a coming windstorm. This superstition can be traced far back into classic times and is, indeed, of much more ancient origin than the days of Pliny who records the belief. Legend and mythology are full of tales of the mystic qualities of the dolphin and the porpoise and formerly, as now, the names appear interchangeable.

Though sailors look upon the porpoise as the harbinger of wind, probably of a high wind, they do not regard the fish as bringing bad luck. On the contrary, as a rule, the appearance of a school of porpoises is regarded as a favorable sign. Some sailors regard the porpoise as an indication of a change in the weather merely and agree in effect with the old writer Wilsford who says, "Dolphins in fair and calm weather pursuing one another in one of their waterish pastimes foreshadow winds and from the part whence they fetch their tricks; but if they play thus when the seas are high and tumbled it is a sign of fair and calm weather." The common belief now is, however, that the wind predicted by a shoal of porpoises will come from the direction the fishes take when they depart.

The porpoise gets its reputation as a weather breeder from its ancient connection with the moon and, which is the same thing, with the moon-goddess Isis. And as he was connected with Isis, so was he, consequently, represented as connected with the other and later moon-goddess identified with the great Egyptian original. The moon was always supposed to control the weather and in the Greek myth Amphitrite, who rose from the sea and was given a certain power over the winds of the sea, had two dolphins to guard her by order of Poseidon (Neptune). Gubernatis says, "The Dolphin that watches over Amphitrite is the same as the dolphin, the spy of the sea, or the moon, the spy of the nocturnal and misty sky." Through all mythology we find the dolphin—or porpoise—typifying the moon and Isis, the great moon-goddess, was the especial patroness of navigation.

Expensive Roman Wives

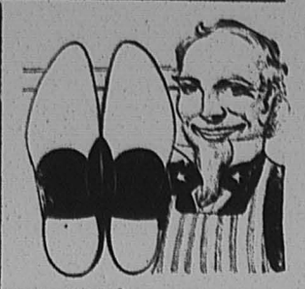

So expensive were the wives of Rome that Julius Caesar was induced to offer premiums to encourage marriage. He allowed married women to dress more superbly than unmarried and he relieved of various taxes the married man who was the father of three children.

Rain Ends Game For Hubbs Nine

Riverton Was Tied With Roebling When Clouds Let Loose Saturday

With two men on base and no outs, Riverton had its game at Roebling called on account of rain in the fifth inning Saturday. As it was, the battle ended in a scoreless tie, to be played off at a later date.

Riverton, after a miserable beginning, has now hit its stride in the Burlington County Base Ball League. Saturday it looked as though Hubb's men were to win another battle, for with no outs, two men on and the heavy hitters lined up to take a swat at the horsehide, runs were the inevitable.

The local club, which was strengthened a few weeks ago, was on its toes and had the Roebling aggregation stepping. Riverton's pan came within a hair of being crossed in the fourth, and it was only the superb pitching of Herbert that saved the day.

No. 1 man for Roebling lined one out for a single, the next pair followed him and landed on the bags safely, loading them to capacity. There was no doubt about it, the young twirler was surely in a hole, but facing the situation squarely, he pulled the thriller. His arm whipped with all its force, and one, two, three down went the Roebling men via the strikeout route.

A thrilling two-inning rally brought Riverton from behind at the loose end of a 8-1 count, and gave her the Twilight game with Medford at the Riverton Memorial Park last Wednesday evening. Manager Hubbs was the star of this battle in which Riverton emerged the 12-9 winner.

During the first six innings of the setto, Medford clouted the pill in its characteristic manner and drove in eight men while Riverton succeeded in chalking up one lone counter.

Three Riverton men managed to land on bases at the same time in the seventh. Up came Manager Hubbs, took one look at the Medford pitcher's offering, one swing at it, and away soared the horsehide to deep left field for a perfectly good homer. The Babe Ruth (of bygone days) act changed the tide of the battle, filled the locals with pep for a spirited attack and, before the frame ended the count stood 8-8.

Riverton came back strong again in the eighth and tallied three more times. Seeming dazed by the sudden reverse of things, Medford put up a feeble rally which was soon checked by Riverton and just one lonesome run was scored by the visitors, who occupy second place in the league standing.

Manager Clarence surely had his day and took his place at the head of the class directly in front of the sport light. In addition to playing a bangup defensive battle, he walloped the four-ply hit and a triple in the memorable seventh.

Saturday morning, the fourth, you know; Riverton will meet Burlington at the Riverton Memorial Park. The game will start at 11 o'clock. Riverton has promised to entertain a holiday crowd in a most fitting manner—with a big win. Saturday afternoon Riverton goes to Delanco.

To admit that we have been in the wrong is but saying that we are wiser today than yesterday.—Dean Swift.

KEEPING WELL

IS CONSUMPTION HEREDITARY?

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

FOR many years it was generally believed that consumption was inherited. This view was, in many cases held by doctors as well as laymen. There were so many instances in which the children of tuberculous parents developed consumption that it seemed reasonable to assume that the disease was handed down from parent to child.

So it was, but it was by close and constant association, by living in infected houses, by eating and sleeping and living with infected persons that the disease was transmitted and not by inheritance. More careful study proved that tuberculosis could not be inherited and that an adopted child or an inmate of the same household, in no way related to a consumptive, was just as apt to develop the disease as a child of the patient.

Then the believers in heredity fell back on their second position. They said that the disease itself was not inherited but that the child of consumptive parents inherited a "tendency" to the disease, that they had weaker lungs and consequently were more apt to develop the disease in later life.

But facts are stubborn things and are better than theories. Doctor Drolet has just reported the results of a careful study of 7,500 tubercular patients at Bellevue hospital in New York. In 1,695 children, he finds more tuberculosis among children of healthy parents than among those of tubercular parents. Among 2,500 patients admitted for other diseases but without tuberculosis, one-third had tubercular parents but had not tuberculosis themselves, while of 2,800 patients who had tuberculosis, only one-seventh had tubercular parents. In other words, the children of tubercular parents had less than half as much tuberculosis as the children of healthy parents.

It was also found that the children of tubercular parents who did have tuberculosis had twice as good a chance of getting well as the children of healthy parents.

Doctor Drolet concludes that the children of tubercular parents do not inherit the disease. They do not even inherit a tendency to it. Instead, they inherit a greater amount of resistance to it and a greater immunity to it than do the children of healthy parents.

AL LECONEY ENGAGED

J. Alfred Leconey, Moorestown boy, who won international fame as an athlete while at Lafayette College, is to become a benedict.

The engagement of Miss Zelda Jennings Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burstal W. Evans, of Moorestown, to the Lafayette star, has just been announced.

Leconey is one of the greatest track athlete of all times. He holds many speed records, one of which is the intercollegiate mark for the 100-yard dash. He was a member of the American Olympic team last year and ran on the relay team that beat the class of the world in that event.

This week Leconey left for California, where he is to compete in the national championships for the Meadowbrook Club, of Philadelphia.

Calvary Presbyterian Church

The theme for the sermon at the morning worship at Calvary Church at 10:30 on Sunday next will be "True Patriotism." During July, each Sunday the pastor will also preach a short sermon for children. This will be part of the regular morning worship. The children will be given an opportunity to withdraw before the regular sermon if they so desire. Parents are urged to bring their children.

Attention is called to the fact that Sunday School meets at 11.45, immediately following the church service.

The Christian Endeavor will meet as usual at 7.15, but instead of the evening prayer service next Sunday this congregation will join in the Independence Rally to be held in the Epworth M. E. Temple at 7.45 o'clock. Other announcement has been made, and members of our congregation are urged to be present at this union service to hear Mr. Gordon.

During July and August there will be no mid-week services.

LUTHERAN NEWS

Sunday, July 5th, will be a red-letter day in the Lutheran Church. The Tressler Orphans' Home Band, of Loysville, Pa., will render a concert Sunday evening at six o'clock. A silver offering will be lifted. Do not miss this splendid opportunity to hear one of the finest boys' bands in the East. Following this concert we will unite in the union service in Epworth Temple.

In the morning, the pastor, the Rev. Harry L. Saul will preach on "By Way of Remembrance." A patriotic touch will be given this sermon, followed by Holy Communion. A special sermon for the kiddies precedes this service.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held Tuesday evening, July 7.

Mid-week services are held every Thursday evening at eight o'clock. A very brief and inspiring service this is, and it will be a help to you in your week-day tasks. Come.

Sermonette: "Loyalty to your Country is superseded only by Loyalty to God."

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name: its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

CLAUDIA

ONE of the popular names of modern times with a certain aristocratic class is Claudia, meaning famed. The name has a distinguished origin and is fitted to grace the most queenly. It comes from the Claudian gens of Rome, and going still further back, is derived from the Greek word meaning famed.

Though the Claudii were a family of evil fame who figure in most of Rome's tragedies, there is no denying their imperious will and attainments. The regin of Emperor Claudius gave his name vogue in both the masculine and feminine form.

The first Claudia known was one who sends her greetings to St. Timothy in St. Paul's Epistle. She is believed to have been the daughter of a British prince and the wife of Prudens. The epigrams of Martial speak of a lady of the name of Claudia as British, and thus Claudia is marked by two very dissimilar authorities as one of the first British Christians.

Claudie is popular in France. Louis XII, who gave both his daughters masculine names, called the eldest Claude and when she was the wife of Francois I, la Reine Claude plums were so termed in her honor. Her daughter carried the name Claude into the House of Lorraine. From there it passed into Switzerland where it became Claudine. The Italians immediately adopted it and termed it Claudia. France clings to Claude, Claudine, and Claudie.

Claudia's talismanic jewel is the cat's-eye, which is surrounded by more superstitions and legends than almost any other stone. It is used by the natives of Ceylon, where most cat's-eyes are found, as a charm against evil spirits and it has the same value to the people of India. It becomes almost a hypnotic stone to some people and is said to provide its wearer with unfailing magnetism and attraction. But to dream of a cat's-eye signifies treachery. Claudia's lucky day is Thursday and 6 is said to be her mystic number.

Summer Weather is Usually HOT

The Question is how can we heat WATER with the least effort and expense?

The Answer is

An Automatic Storage Gas Water Heater

that retains heat like a Thermos Bottle. No more eight or ten dollar gas bills just for heating water in average homes.

Absolutely safe—no pilot light to blow out.

TAPPING THE RESERVOIRS OF HEALTH AND WELL BEING

DR. WOODS HUTCHINSON, of Syracuse, N. Y., recently said, "Fifty years ago the average period of life was thirty-seven years. Today it is fifty-three."

"The automobile is one of the biggest factors of longevity. Your car takes you out into the open air and the sunlight, nature's great curative forces."

No question about it, the man with a car takes a six months vacation every year.

The long summer evenings, the week ends, the holidays, mean only sitting on the porch for the fellow who doesn't own a car. They mean exhiliarating rides, new sights, recreation and refreshment for the man who does.

It's so easy to own one of our fine new or used cars. We can deliver one to you on short notice and you can drive it across the continent and back if you wish this summer. And it's a sound investment—one that will justify the first cost year after year.

It's safe to buy one of our fine motor cars new or used.

We will not sell a car that we cannot guarantee.

Our 100 point inspection and thorough method of reconditioning used cars makes them dependable automobiles.

Look at the organization behind the Sales Room.

No risk in buying Rein's Used Cars. Use any car we sell five days. If you are not satisfied with the car bring it back (provided it is not smashed up or damaged) and we will gladly apply the price you paid on any other car we may have for sale.

Every automobile we sell, new or used, is guaranteed to deliver satisfactory transportation.

We have special terms you can use in paying for any used cars you may select.

Will you call and talk it over, or shall we send our representative to your home?

COLORED MAN KILLED

Riverside Woman Injured in Fatal Auto Accident in Burlington

Miss Ethel Bracy, colored, of 230 Pavilion Avenue, Riverside, was injured and Joseph Robb, colored, of Burlington, was killed when Robb's automobile was wrecked at Mahan and High Streets, Burlington, early Saturday morning.

Robb, a barber, purchased a high powered roadster about six months ago and it was in this car that he, Miss Bracy and Price Austin, of Burlington, were returning from a dance held in Rancocas Park.

Robb lost control of his car and struck a tree, cutting it off at the roots and hitting another tree before it overturned. Captain Johnson, of the Burlington Police Department, was summoned and removed Robb and his companions to the Emergency Hospital and summoned Dr. Mulford, of Burlington. Robb never regained consciousness. Miss Bracy was treated for cuts and bruises while Austin suffered only from shock.

Austin was in another accident about six months ago in which two men were killed and he escaped unscratched.

Captain Johnson in conducting an investigation found an empty bottle and another bottle half full of a concoction supposedly whisky, in the car.

Coroner H. B. Earnest, of Riverside, was summoned and issued a certificate of death for Robb as being due to internal hemorrhages.

JAPANESE BEETLE SPRAY

The Japanese Beetle Laboratory advises an immediate application of spray to protect fruit and foliage.

For Apples: use 3 lbs Powdered Arsenate of Lead, 2 lbs Flour, (12 % gluten content) with 50 gals of water. Mix lead and flour dry, make paste, dilute and strain in the tank. Spray before infection occurs.

For late and non-bearing peaches: 1½ lbs Powdered Lead Arsenate, 2 lbs flour, 3 lbs freshly slaked lump lime to 50 gals of water. Spray thoroughly.

For cherries: Same as apples, immediately after harvest.

For grapers: Same as apples or combine lead with Bordeaux 4-5-50 without the flour.

For ornamental and shade trees: Same as for apples.

Avoid spraying on excessively hot days.

The following rate of dilution table will be of particular value to townspeople and the small grower:

For apples, cherries, grapes, rose bushes and all ornamental plants, spray with a mixture composed of 3 tablespoonsful of powdered arsenate of lead, 2 tablespoonsful of ordinary baking flour to each gallon of water. The flour and lead are mixed dry, made into a paste and diluted.

For peaches, use 1½ tablespoonsful of powdered arsenate of lead, 2 tablespoonsful of flour and 1½ tablespoonsful of lime water made from fresh slaked lump lime, to a gallon of water.

Spray thoroughly both surfaces of the leaves and pay particular attention to the terminal shoots.

ODD FELLOWS

The semi- annual election of officers of Cinnaminson Lodge, No. 201 Palmyra was held last Friday evening.

W. Raymond Bailey was elected N. G., G. Ellsworth Hall, V. G., and Don Cook, Warden.

Cook emerged the winner over four other candidates after a spirited vote.

On Saturday, July 18th, the second of the summer outing of the lodge takes place, the trip this time being to Cedar Lakes.

ABOUT TREES

Trees are most interesting and at this time of year a good shade tree is such a blessing that it is not amiss to know something of them and their habits. Many if not most of the trees along our streets, are what is known as the "soft" Maple. They are in their element on low land, along streams, and though they are often not far away from the hard wood trees, their associates are "soft", more or less. The Basswood (Linn, sometimes called), Buckeye and Horse-Chestnut (for these trees are not the same), the Elm and others, are more than likely to be near neighbors.

A leaf, a limb, the bark or the timber has each its own character, and is easily distinguished. The wood is white and soft when grown, but when seasoned is susceptible of a hard finish that will endure. As time passes it seems to harden, so that it is difficult to drive an ordinary nail into it, and impossible to draw it out—the nail will break. As a shade-tree it is better than the Elm (Ulinus Americanus) of which we see little here, though New England streets are lined with them. Its foliage is profuse and its seed most abundant. Most of us can testify to that statement, after the experience of cleaning up our lawns this season. Because it is a lowland tree, when transplanted to points where moisture is not abundant its roots will seek it, even coming to the surface in quest of what they need.

A more satisfactory tree is the more ornamental, more rugged and less annoying "Sugar" Maple. It is also familiarly known as "hard" or "rock" Maple, because of its habitat, on ridge and mountainside, on rocky slope or back from streams toward heights. Within sixty miles of the lower lakes, along the St. Lawrence and across Northern New England is its natural abiding place, and though found further south it is regarded there as an exogen. Its timber is hard, its growth rapid, in the open, its top naturally symmetrical, foliage most abundant. It is said to provide the "coldest shade of any known tree." The timber presents three varieties, the "wavy," the "curly" and the "bird's eye," the latter being much used in fancy furniture. When the frost of winter begins to let go and the "sap" in trees begins to circulate, these may be tapped, by boring into the tree some three inches, and inserting a spout or (spile) to conduct the sap to a bucket from which it is gathered and taken to the "camp" for evaporation into syrup, or further reduced to sugar. Ohio and Vermont have always been the leading states in Maple sugar, and the price had been dictated, largely, for sixty years, from Chardon, a county seat, in the former.

Working in a "sugar bush" one never stops to consider the scientific side of things that can be passed up for the moment. But this admiration of, even love for, the Acer Sacharinus Caniden Gis, the good old Sugar Maple, is abiding. Ornamentally, the Norway Maple adopts itself rather more steally to local soils, but it can never surpass it in unadored beauty and "sweet companionship."

GO A'FISHIN'

Among the Isaak Waltons that barved the stormy weather at Fortescue Sunday was a party composed of Ogden Faunce, William Frank, King, Curtis Stavely, Charles Croak, Clarence Hubbs, Riverton; Charles Palmyra; Charles Hubbs, Wilbur Frech, Charles Snyder, Riverside, and William Wells, of Mount Laurel.

It might be called a fishing party, but from the list of names, it sounds like a local contractor conference. The plumbers, carpenters, etc., were game, however, and several suffered in order that they might bring back a string of sixty-eight dandies.

Curtis Stavely made the big catch of the day, pulling in a dandy swordfish, which he could neither sell or give away. Now the carpenter is determined to start a revolution, strike, or anything to use the new weapon.

Clarence Hubbs was "indisposed" on the way out to sea, the water being rather rough. After the anchor had been cast, the plumber "came around fine" and was able to do some fishing. Sad to relate, on the return trip some more rough water was struck, so once more the hale and hardy ball player suffered with an "acute attack of stomach trouble."

It is said that people in Europe, judging by the moving pictures we send over, think the United States is made up of cowboys, Mexican greasers, detectives wearing brown derbies, beautiful vamps and weak husbands.

PUBLIC SERVICE
Men and Women

The Coal Tower Operator

The Coal Tower Operator plays an important part in the handling of the 2,500,000 tons of coal, consumed by PUBLIC SERVICE electric and gas plants each year.

By rail and water, coal arrives at power stations and gas works in an unending stream and is mechanically handled from the time of its arrival until it is consumed in furnace and oven.

At the larger plants coal is carried to storage bunkers high up in the building and the hoists that do the work are under the control of The Coal Tower Operator.

It is economy producing, labor saving apparatus and methods such as those represented by The Coal Tower Operator and the machinery he directs that make possible adequate electric service at reasonable rates.

Gas—A Fuel That's Under Control!

In many manufacturing processes, it is necessary that the degree of heat applied should be perfectly regulated in order to insure a satisfactory product. Where this is the case, gas has been found to be the best possible fuel and in consequence its use is rapidly increasing. The manufacturer has taken his tip from the housewife and the factory without its gas supply will soon be as rare as the kitchen without its gas stove, so valuable an aid to industry has gas been found to be.

When the popularity of electric light is considered, the steady, healthy growth in the volume of gas sales is as remarkable as the wonderful development of electrical use. Gas and electric revenue of Public Service Electric and Gas Co., is behind the

THE BEGINNING OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—And He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Men Become Foreign Missionaries.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Foreign Missions Began.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Beginning of Foreign Missions.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in Foreign Missions.

I. The Gifts of the Church at Antioch (v. 1).

Young as Antioch, the new religious center was, she had prophets and teachers. In Eph. 4:8-12 Paul declares that when Christ ascended He gave gifts to men for the purpose of perfecting the saints unto the work of the ministry. This shows that the church does not exist for itself, but for service to others. Christ, the head of the church, came not to be ministered to, but to minister and give His life a ransom for many (Matt. 20:28).

II. Barnabas and Saul Sent Forth (vv. 2-3).

These were the first foreign missionaries sent out. While the five ministers were praying and fasting, the Spirit of God commanded them to send forth Barnabas and Saul. The work of evangelizing the world was laid so heavily upon these men that they refrained from eating in order to seek the will of the Lord in prayer. This is the kind of fasting that meets God's approval. From the fact that they were directed to send forth those whom the Spirit called, we learn that the real call to Christ's service comes from the Spirit. The Spirit called and the church seconded the motion by sending those who were called by Him. The church should be constantly seeking the mind of the Spirit relative to the sending forth of laborers into the vineyard. The Spirit called and the church sent the very best men from the church at Antioch. These men seem to have been ready to go for they rendered instant obedience. This should be our attitude toward the Lord's work, holding ourselves in readiness for the immediate execution of His commission. Those who have received the Spirit's call are not taken by surprise when the church sets them forward to their specific work.

III. Preaching the Word of God in Cyprus (vv. 4-5).

We are not told as to why they first went to Cyprus, but we are left to infer that it was owing to the fact that it was the home of Barnabas. He was acquainted with the country and people, and could thus be assured of a respectable hearing among them. Besides it is most natural that those who have heard the good news to go with it first to their kindred and friends. Andrew first went to his brother, and the man out of whom the demons were cast was denied the pleasure of his request to follow Jesus. Christ commanded him to go home and tell what great things the Lord had done for him (Luke 8:39). As they went forth they carefully carried out their commission for they preached the Word of God, not current history, philosophy, ethics, etc. Those who are faithful to God will never preach anything but His Word. The great need today is Spirit-called, Spirit-filled men preaching God's Word. In fact Spirit-filled men will preach nothing else. The opposer of God and Christ can only be successfully met by this means.

IV. Withstood by Elymas, the Sorcerer (vv. 6-12).

Sergius Paulus, the deputy, invited Barnabas and Saul to tell him of the Word of God. Elymas maliciously sought to turn his mind from the faith. This is the first obstacle they encountered, but it was overcome through the power of the Spirit. This opposer is the same one who came to Adam in the garden of Eden, and Jesus in the wilderness. He is the enemy of God and man. He now sought to bar the gospel as it entered upon its career of the conversion of the heathen. Paul denounced him in the most scathing terms. He called him the child of the devil, denounced him as full of guile and villainy, pronouncing him the enemy of all righteousness, accusing him of perverting the right ways of the Lord. Surely a man is never more of a villain than when trying to turn a soul from the gospel.

Our Life

We are living now by justice, honor and mercy, by the moral mastery of ourselves and of our time; and this life while in time is not of time; it is life in God and for God; it is the life of freedom; it is free from anxiety, fear, doubt, despair, death; it is content with God and with its fate in God. —George A. Gordon.

Rush Work On Broad Street

Concrete Surface Expected to Be Finished By 18th of July

Despite the fact that many local people are complaining because the work of rebuilding West Broad street "seems slow," Superintenent H. G. Schauerman reports splendid progress and states the work is up to schedule.

It is extremely difficult to keep road work up to schedule, for unforseen difficulties are always arising. This happens more frequently in towns than it does while laying a road out in the country. Although the road is officially closed, the superintendent says he has tried to accommodate Palmyra people and many still use the street to a certain extent. Traffic, naturally, handicaps the workmen.

The concrete, which is reinforced, with a thickness of eight inches, is laid in two divisions. The first, which is on the right side of the street, from the center extending to within three feet of the curbing, will be completed to the Pensauken bridge by this Friday.

Early next week the machine will come back to Leconey avenue and start its second trip, filling in between the center of the road and the trolley tracks. Then a six-inch layer of concrete will be laid in the remaining three feet to the gutter.

The total width of the road, including the gutter, will be twenty-six feet. The trolley tracks will be raised and set to the grade of the road.

The trolley turnouts or "switches," will be paved with granite block on concrete base.

Evacuation work has been completed for some time and according to present plans, the entire stretch, which is 4500 feet, will be laid, including the three foot gutter, by Saturday, July 18. This seems to be the earliest date possible for the completion of the concrete work, but Superintenent Schauerman says he is going to attempt to better it.

According to state specifications, the road cannot be used for fourteen days after it is laid. As soon as it is laid, it is covered with hay and this is watered thoroughly for ten days and then is allowed to remain for four days after this operation before it is open to traffic.

The concrete is laid in sections of forty-five feet with patented paper joints. As soon as the concrete hardens sufficiently, the paper joints are removed and the "cracks" are poured with asphalt.

The major operation of laying the concrete is done by the big mixer. It does the mixing and then pours the concrete, leaving only the spreading and tamping to be done by the workmen. The big mixer has a capacity of twenty-eight cubic feet.

There is a force of seventy men on the work an up to Tuesday sixty-six carloads of material had been used. Twenty-tons of steel will be concrete.

It is the belief of the superintendent that Palmyra will have a road which will last for forty to fifty years. Mr. Schauerman says used for the re-inforcement of the that engineers are still experimenting with concrete roads and every year shows an improvement and development in the work.

As an example of the great advancement made in this work, the superintendent says concrete roads built today will last five times as long as those built ten years ago. Engineers have discovered that eight-inch concrete is many times as strong as the six-inch layers of yesteryear, and the re-inforcement was unheard of a few years ago.

Should concrete roads laid today break from many openings, or crack from hard usage, they can be re-surfaced with a three-inch layer of asphalt and will last for many more years.

"STEP UP, LADIES AND GENTS."

While celebrating the Fourth in Palmyra, if you get hungry, thirsty, want a smoke or just get rid of a few spare nickels, just patronize one of the Fire Company stands.

The local fire fighters will become shop keepers for the day. They will have stands located in front of the police station, in the grove and at the Field Club park in the evening.

At these stands you will be able to purchase at a very reasonable sum, seegars, ice cream, soft drinks, (strictly temperance), hot dawgs (the tame variety), peanuts and pretzels.

Help the boys—they need money. Don't forget, they are at your service twenty-four hours of the day and 365 days of the year.

THE QUESTION BOX

Where Orange Trees Originated

Florist, Riverton—May I ask in the question column where the orange trees originated?

Ans. The orange tree is probably a native of southern China and Burma. It grows wild in the jungles of India, where some authorities claim it has its origin.

Fortune Telling by Cards

Gypsy, Bridgeboro—In telling fortunes with cards, will you kindly tell me what the ace of hearts, the three of diamonds and the six of clubs stand for?

Ans. The ace of hearts is "good news." The three of diamonds is a "quarrel." The six of clubs is "marry for money."

Should be 50-50

Curious, Palmyra—When a couple get married, is it right for the husband to expect his wife to work?

Ans. No, he should not, other than to expect her to have charge of the home duties. However, if both desire to work they are not subject to criticism, but on the other hand, the fact generally signifies a desire to get ahead in the world.

Product of Crude Oil

Gas Station, Broad street—What is gasoline made of?

Ans. Gasoline is a product of the crude oil pumped from the earth. Through the refining process it takes about four gallons of crude oil to make one gallon of gasoline.

Inhabitant of Russia

Adolf, Riverside—Will you be kind enough to explain just what a Cossack is?

Ans. A Cossack is a person inhabiting those parts of Russia bordering the north of Turkey and the southern confines of Siberia. Both the name and the origin of the Cossacks are involved in great uncertainty, but they are believed to be of a mixed Caucasian and Tartar race. Before Russia became a Soviet government every male Cossack from 15 to 60 years of age was compelled to render military service. All were obliged to equip, clothe and arm himself at his own expense, maintain a horse and become a trained horseback rider. They were thus the most important part of the irregular troops of Russia.

Born on Sunday

Clara, Thomas avenue—I was born on October 4, 1903. What day of the week was that and what is my horoscope?

Ans. Oct. 4, 1903, was on Sunday. Those born at this time usually are splendid financiers; have the art of knowing how to use money to the best advantage and should be successful in any business in which they may start. They are kind and sympathetic and generous to a fault.

Density of Population

Historian, Palmyra—Will you please tell me what the density of population of the United States and Canada as compared to that of China.

Ans. The combined area of Canada and the United States is a fraction over 35 people to the square mile. In China there are close to 275 people to the square mile.

Louis Riel Insurrection and Massacre

Inquirer, East Riverton—Can you tell me in your question column what and when was the Louis Riel insurrection and massacre?

Ans. Louis Riel was a half-breed in the province of Saskatchewan, who in 1884, headed an insurrection of half-breeds in the Saskatchewan and Assimbola district because of dissatisfaction in obtaining titles to their land. The rebels seized the government stores at Duck Lake and some Indians co-operating with them massacred the settlers at Frog's Lake. General Middleton with several thousand volunteers suppressed the rebellion, and Riel wsa tried and executed at Regina on July 28, 1885.

Word "Brother" Misunderstood

From what authority is is quoted that Christ had four brothers?

Ans. Supposed to be good, but many misunderstand the strict meaning of the word "brothers." "Brother," in the Syro-Chaldaeic, the language spoken by Christ, means brothers, cousins, nephews, nieces, blood relatives, etc. The Christian church teaches Mary was a virgin and that Christ was virgin born. Read first Chapter of Luke.

Road Oil Bills O. K'd and Paid By Board of Freeholders

Charlie Stout's Report Proves Satisfactory to Wright; County Hospital Gives Figures on Work Done

The final chapter in the alleged discrepancy between the amount of road oil received by Burlington county and the amount it was paying for, as estimated by Freeholder Wright from the weight per gallon divided into the weight given by the railroad company, seems to have been written at the last meeting of the Board of Freeholders when Charles R. Stout, director of the road department, announced the result of his investigation.

Mr. Stout's report follows:

Hon. Board of Freeholders,
Burlington County, N. J.
Gentlemen:

I desire to report that I have thoroughly investigated the difference in gallonage and railroad weights as reported for the Slow Curing Oil on the Medford-Atsion Road. I have gone over all the reports received from the State Highway Department regarding the number of gallons, and have also taken the matter up with the railroad in an effort to ascertain if the County was receiving a smaller number of gallons than it was actually paying for.

Carefully Inspected

The State Highway Department assured me that each one of these cars was carefully inspected by them and the gallons as reported were absolutely correct. I requested the Engineer to take this matter up with the Pennsylvania Railroad and to get them to give us a letter explaining exactly how the freight rates were determined on these cars. This letter, I am attaching. In an effort to clarify the situation even more fully, I am setting forth the following facts:

The railroad does not actually weigh the tank cars, but simply takes the shell capacity of the cars and multiplies it by arbitrary factors, using the figures 6.6 lbs. per gallon to establish the weight. This 6.6 lbs. per gallon, applied to all road oils, is in the nature of a commodity rate, therefore, it is impossible to establish the actual number of gallons in a tank car by dividing the weight by the true specific gravity of the oil. If, for any reason, the tank car was not loaded to its full capacity, the railroad would still take the shell capacity and multiply it by the 6.6 lbs. per gallon which might, in some cases, make the County pay for a gallonage that it had not received, if this method was used.

Qualified Inspectors

The State maintains qualified inspectors at the various refineries to check up on the shipment of bituminous materials sent out to the counties, and to actually determine the gallonage in each tank car. These cars are then sealed and a report furnished both to the Highway Commission and the County as to the gallons in each container. The State is, also, in possession of the exact capacity of each tank car used and of the number of gallons per each ¼ inch in depth. These cars are filled while the oil is hot, to facilitate loading, and the gallonage is corrected and based on a temperature of 60 degrees F.

I feel that the above explanation together with the letter from the Pennsylvania Railroad and in conjunction with my conference with the State Highway Commission should fully cover all the facts, and I feel that with the facts at hand the Board can now pass on the Slow Curing Oil Road bills with full assurance that the county has received every gallon that it is paying for.

Bills Are Paid

After the report had been read a resolution was passed to pay the bills that were held up three weeks ago, amounting to $9,320.38.

Dr. H. E. Longsdorf, medical director, and three of the officers of the Burlington County Hospital, Miss Laura Fenimore, Mrs. A. R. O. Paul and Mrs. Charles Coles, appeared before the Board of Freeholders to reply to some statements made at the last meeting by Henry I. Worrell, steward of the almshouse and others, relative to the attitude of the hospital toward charity patients. Dr. Longsdorf read a lengthy report giving the number of patients cared for, the number of paid patients and the number who did not pay, and much other information.

A communication from the county solicitor was read, stating that the Delanco drawbridge was in dangerous condition and not fit for use. The needed repairs are being held up because the Public Service has not kept its promise to pay the amount due for work done in the past, and the board will not spend any more money until this is done. A conference had been arranged, the solicitor said, for some day the coming week.

W. R. S. Fluck, of Palmyra, appeared before the board in person to protest against the lines of the cement roadway now being constructed between the railroad and the bridge at West Palmyra. He said it left him no room for sidewalk and curb. This was referred to the engineer and director of road with power to act.

Want Wider Road

Solicitor Peacock reported that Burlington township would not go ahead with its part of the arrangement to improve Masonic Home road unless the county would agree to make it twenty feet wide instead of the regulation eighteen feet. Engineer Smith said that with the construction of the shoulders there would be actually twenty-six feet of roadway available for use, and Director of Roads Stout said that as main artery roads were made only eighteen feet wide, he could not see the necessity for making this road any wider. The whole matter was referred to the director of roads for action.

A bill of $286.81 from the Burlington Supply Company, contracted in 1919 by the large board of freeholders was ordered paid. A bill of Charles Wright for $215.99 for electrical work on the Folwell property was also paid.

The city clerk of Burlington City sent a communication stating that the city was hastening the passage of the necessary ordinances for road improvements on East Federal street, as it was desired to get started as soon as possible.

Director of Bridges Wright asked permission to dispose of the truck owned by the bridge department and buy a smaller car in its place for going down through the woods to superintend bridge repair work. He said that nine bridges had been destroyed in the recent forest fires, and that they were almost inaccessible with a larger car. The request was granted.

Robert W. Cox, superintendent of the County Hospital for the Insane, appeared before the board again in reference to the Sprague case, to urge that everything possible be done to secure the co-operation of the senator and representative in the effort to get financial aid for the family of Mrs. Sprague, who was recently killed by a stray machine gun bullet from Camp Dix.

The following bills were ordered paid:

Roads, $15,678.67; bridges, $4,824.81; public buildings, $2,557.30; public affairs, $974.56; finance, $17,589.79.

GRISCOME—BLASER

Miss Florentine Blaser, 20 years old, of Elm avenue, Palmyra, and Clayton D. Griscome, Jr., 25 years old, of 4028 Powelton avenue, Philadelphia, eloped to Elkton, Md., Tuesday afternoon of last week.

Miss Blaser is the adopted daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Blaser. The Rev. Mr. Blaser is the pastor of the Central Baptist Church.

Miss Blaser was employed by the J. B. VanSciver Company in Camden and went to work as usual Tuesday morning. It is understood that she left her office early in the afternoon.

Her parents, who had not the slightest idea of her romance and whose marriage was a great surprise to them, did not know of her absence until she failed to come home from work Tuesday evening. Early Wednesday morning about one o'clock, the telephone bell rang at the Baptist parsonage and it was Floss, as she is known by her friends, at the other end of the wire.

The elopers informed the Blasers that their romance had led to marriage at Elkton that afternoon. According to friends of Miss Blaser, the couple then spent a short time honeymooning in the mountains and now are located in Camden.

Miss Blaser's father was transferred from Camden to the Central Baptist Church the first of the year and since moving to Palmyra she has been very active in the work of the church. She immediately became quite popular, took a prominent part in the young people's work and was active in the choir, being a soloist for some time. None of her associates in the church work, with whom she had spent most of her time since the first of the year, had met Mr. Griscome.

It is understood that Mr. Griscome's parents are residents of Camden and that the couple's acquaintanceship dates back for several years. He is employed in Philadelphia and gave the address where he had been boarding when applying for the marriage license at Elkton.

A party of the couple's Camden friends tendered them a big reception on their return from the honeymoon.

BOYS' BAND APPRECIATED

The Boy's Band from the Tressler Orphan's Home, of Loysville Pa., gave a fine concert to a large audience on the grounds of the Lutheran Church Sunday night. The boys had won the hearts of many townspeople even before playing, but after their great work and display of skill, they had won a place which will never be lost. Every one present spoke of the ability of each player, especially of the small bass drummer who showed ingenuity and skill rarely seen in boys of his age.

The specialty of ten saxaphones won the day, bringing happiness to many hearts.

The pastor of the Lutheran Church wishes to thank all who cared for these boys and also those who contributed to the offering taken for the home, which amounted to $125.00

BUS STRIKE BUSTED

A miniature strike was called at the Philburco Coach Company's headquarters at East Riverton last Friday. Six of the men struck for more money.

The men told George D. Steedle manager of the coach company, that they wanted from 65 to 85 cents an hour. Steedle refused. The six drivers walked out, expecting to tie up the coach company's schedule.

"Pat" then pressed his three brothers into service. As soon as his friends in Riverton heard of the predicament the company was in, they volunteered their services to break the strike. Steedle employed them, and the coaches ran on time from early morning throughout the day.

The company established a record over the weekend. Sunday the company carried 3,237 passengers. The previous record was 2,940.

SPEEDER ARRESTED

Clifford Bell, of Riverton, was arrested Sunday evening for reckless driving on Delaware avenue, Delanco, by Officer Leconey.

Bell was driving about 30 miles an hour. When tried before Recorder Johnson he pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00 and costs.

On Monday Joseph Harker was taken in the toils of Delanco's river front police for using the bushes in back of the Zurbrugg Mansion as a bathhouse. He was taken before Squire Ellis and released with a severe reprimand.

U. S. Holds Fate of Prohibition

Gifford Gordon Says Dry World Depends On America Holding Fast

Unless America "holds fast," it will be utterly impossible ever to make a success of prohibition in any other country, said Gifford Gordon, of Australia, speaker at the Independence Sunday Rally held in the Epworth M. E. Temple last Sunday evening under the direction of the Law Enforcement League of the Palmyra-Riverton-Cinnaminson district.

In 1921 Mr. Gordon was sent to America to study prohibition conditions by a group of Australian business men. After a thorough investigation, he returned to Australia and was there on a lecture tour when heard by some Americans. They urged him to come back and tell America the result of his investigations, for he could accomplish more toward the enforcement here, they said.

On his tour here, Mr. Gordon travelled 35,000 miles up and down the United States, interviewing judges, prisoners, social workers, brewers and attending court sessions where prohibition cases were being tried.

Contrary to the general belief, the speaker found prohibition to be successful in America. He blamed the newspapers and other publications for giving the wrong impression and said if anyone were to dig deep enough they would find that prohibition and its enforcement is successful.

Despite the fact that a large percentage of people he interviewed advanced arguments to show that prohibition had failed, his investigations proved the contrary. Especially the arguments that it has increased crime or the drug habit are entirely wrong and such assertions are without foundation, said the speaker. Homes for inebriates, work houses and institutions of this character are no longer flourishing everywhere as they did in 1917 and prior to that time.

In closing, he pleaded that "America Hold Fast," in order that the world may later enjoy the benefits of prohibition. The world is watching America, and the result and success of prohibition in this country will effect the entire world.

Mr. Gordon is a speaker of unusual force backed by a wealth of material gained through his years of study and his address was heartily enjoyed and made a big impression upon the crowd which well filled the Temple.

George N. Wimer, president of the League was responsible for the the meeting was run, was in charge of the affair. In opening the meeting Mr. Wimer merely stated that the League was responsible for the meeting and had arranged for the speaker.

The Rev. Frederick Blaser, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, made the opening prayer. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Fred B. Morley, pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Harry L. Saul, of the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton.

The Artisan orchestra favored with several delightful numbers and received much applause for their excellent work.

PALMYRA COUNCILMAN MOURNED

CHARLES F. BUCHHOLZ

Councilman Buchholz Expires Suddenly at Band Practice

Popular Palmyra Official Victim of Heart Attack Monday Evening —Was Leader in Lutheran Church

Councilman Charles F. Buchholz, of 25 East Charles street, Palmyra, died from an attack of heart trouble and heat exhaustion about ten-thirty Monday evening.

His death, which came as a shock to the entire town, was so quick that Mr. Buchholz probably passed away without the slightest realization that the end had come.

The councilman had been in excellent health. He was home from business Monday and spent the afternoon working about his lawn and shrubbery. After dinner Monday evening he complained of indigestion, but soon left his home for a building and loan meeting and then went to a practice of the recently organized Palmyra Band in the former Triangle Laundry Building at Broad street and Garfield avenue.

Mr. Buchholz was a cornetist. After about an hour's practice, the rehearsal was concluded, due to the extreme heat and the councilman had walked toward the piano to put his instrument in the case, when he was seen to lurch forward, spin around and then collapse.

Death Almost Instantaneous

Several members of the band hurried to his side and rushed him to the office of Dr. Harry C. Bauer on Maple avenue. After battling in vain for a few minutes to resuscitate the victim, Dr. Bauer announced him dead.

Dr. Bauer is of the opinion that death was almost instantaneous and that the end had come before the councilman had been brought to his office.

The body was removed to the Snover Funeral Home and Coroner Clark B. Rogers, of Bordentown, was called in. Coroner Rogers rendered a verdict of death from acute dilatation of the heart and heat exhaustion.

Although the councilman had been in good health and had always boasted "he was about as hale and hearty as anyone" it is thought that the day's laborious activities were too much for him under the torrid weather conditions.

Mr. Buchholz was born in New York City fifty-four years ago. He was educated in the Soldiers' Orphans' Institute of Pennsylvania For the past thirty-four years he has been connected with the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company, of Philadelphia.

Member of Council

Eleven years ago he moved from Philadelphia to Palmyra. Since that time he has been affiliated with many civic movements here and was elected to Council at the time Palmyra was incorporated into a Borough.

He has been chairman of the Borough Sewerage Committee since the time the sewerage system was installed in Palmyra. This position entails a tremendous amount of work and it will be difficult to find a successor to fill the position as capably as it was filled by the deceased.

He was active in church and Sunday School work, being treasurer of the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton since its organization and leader of the Church orchestra. No matter how difficult it was, Mr. Buchholz was faithful to any task he was asked to perform. Dr. Bauer, president of the Lutheran Church Council, said:

"Mr. Buchholz seemed to have an unlimited capacity for work and if the people of the Lutheran Church wanted a job done thoroughly and quickly, they always called on him."

He was also a director of the Palmyra Building and Loan Association and was a member of Camp 23, P. O. S. of A., Palmyra.

"He was a man of few words, very quiet and unassuming, yet one who could, be depended upon to do any work assigned him thoroughly and without a murmur. The work he accomplished as chairman of the Sewerage Committee was wonderful and the plant is now running in remarkable condition, due to his efforts. Borough Council has lost a friend and the town has lost a valuable servant. In fact nothing too good can be said about him," is the tribute paid the late councilman by Mayor James T. Weart.

Flag at Half Mast

Mayor Weart ordered the municipal flag in front of P. O. S. of A. Hall flown half mast until after the funeral. Borough Council will attended the funeral in a body and the members will be honorary pall bearers.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at one oclock in the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the Church, will officiate and private interment will be made in Arlington Cemetery, Delaware county, Pa., with Funeral Director Frank A. Snover in charge. The body may be viewed at his late residence, 25 East Charles Street, Thursday evening, or at the Lutheran Church between 11 and 1 p. m. Friday.

The whole town mourns the loss of one of its most respected citizens and officials. The bereaved family has received many expressions of sympathy from all parts of the community, for everyone admired and respected Mr. Buchholz.

Loss to Palmyra

In discussing his colleague's sudden death, Councilman Wilmer H. Randel said "Palmyra has lost a good citizen and an able official—one who will be hard to replace. He was a man of flawless character, was determined to do the right, and was unswayed by political affiliations or factions."

The members of Mr. Buchholz's immediate family who survive him are his wife, Mrs. Emily G. Buchholz, and five children, Charles N., S. Stuart, Rebekah G., Karl F. and Edward. Karl and Edward are students at the Palmyra High School.

S. Stuart Buchholz was married at the home of his parents Saturday, June 27, and had just returned from his honeymoon on the Fourth of July. Stuart has taken an apartment on Cinnaminson avenue and the remainder of the family reside at home.

MRS. ALICE HERBERT

Mrs. Alice Herbert, 84 years old, died Sunday at the home of her son, Samuel Herbert, Fulton Street, Riverton.

Funeral services were held at the Snover Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the Rev. J. B. Whitton, of Palmyra, officiating. Interment was made in Asbury Cemetery.

Mrs. Herbert is survived by two sons, Samuel, at whose home she died, and Ernest Herbert, of New York City.

CHARLES A SNYDER

Charles A. Snyder, 71 years old, died at his home, 602 Highland avenue, Palmyra, Monday.

Funeral services were held at his late residence Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock with the Rev. Frederick Blaser, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Robert F. Zebley, of the Dotter Memorial Church, Philadelphia, and the Rev. George W. Tryon, of Pedricktown, officiating. Interment was made in Fernwood Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Mr. Snyder was a retired railroad engineer and had lived in Tacony practically all of his life. He moved to Palmyra in 1920 and after three years' residence here, moved to West Philadelphia. A year ago in May he returned to Palmyra.

He was a member of Quaker City Division No. 169, B. of L. E., Camp 261, P. O. S. of A., Quaker City Court, I. O. O. F., Mantua Council 83, O. of I. A. and the Central Baptist Church.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Sarah W. Snyder, three sons, C. Albert, Jr., Tacony, Walter C., Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, Harry K., Atlantic City, and one daughter, Lillian M. Woodcock, who has made her home with her parents.

Business Men In Riverton Organize Chamber of Commerce

Civic Body to Boost Borough and Bring More Business is Plan: Slogan Sought

Fifteen business men of Riverton met at the Fire House, Tuesday night, to discuss whether or not it was advisable to try to organize a Chamber of Commerce in Riverton.

The meeting was called by J. M. Coddington and out of thirty invitations, fifteen men responded.

William H. Albertson was elected temporary chairman and Corner Clelland, temporary secretary. In accepting the chairmanship Mr. Albertson said that the big idea was to BOOST RIVERTON, that each individual member could not expect much direct benefit, for a time at least, but that if conditions were improved in Riverton, everyone would be benefitted eventually.

Many suggestions were made for bringing business and people to the town, among them being band concerts, dances, automobile runs, etc. It was also suggested that an Old Home Week be held the latter part of September.

While the discussion was at its height, a terrific thunder storm broke louse with a downpour of rain and plenty of lightning. Between the crashes Lawrence Keating facetiously remarked "No wonder its storming Riverton is getting together."

It was decided to hold another meeting at which a permanent organization will be effected on July 21, at 8.15, at the Fire House. In the meantime, all of the men present will make it a point to see the other business men and women in Riverton and invite them to become members.

A resolution was passed to offer a prize for the best slogan for Riverton, to be used by the Chamber of Commerce in advertising Riverton.

Those who attended the meeting were: William H. Albertson, J. M. Coddington, Corner Clelland, E. E. Compton, Clarence Hubbs, Robert Clelland, O. H. Mattis, Lawrence Keating, John Holvick, C. W. Ludlow, Ernest Chew, John G. Buehrer, John Carhart, George Connelly and Walter L. Bowen. Several others who were in hearty sympathy with the movement were not present owing to business engagements.

Riverton's Independence Day Celebration is Greatest Ever

Borough Enjoys Splendid Program on Land and Water: Boy Scouts Highly Praised for Work

"Riverton's best Fourth" is the way many described the Independence Day celebration last Saturday.

From the flag raising by the Boy Scouts before the childrens' flag parade in the morning with 492 children in line, to the dance following the fireworks in the evening there was not a dull minute all day. The dance was very successful and will probably become a permanent feature of the celebration.

One of the most pleasing and helpful features of the day was the Boy Scouts. They certainly looked fine in their natty uniforms as they marched by and the services they rendered during the day and evening were invaluable. Probably never in the history of Riverton have there been so many automobiles in the Borough at one time, and the police department found the Boy Scouts a great help in directing this congestion of traffic; in fact it is difficult to see how it could have been handled successfully at all without their assistance.

The address by the Rev. Charles T. Bates, following the singing of patriotic songs on the bank, was one of the finest ever delivered in Riverton.

For the benefit of those who could not hear it, the address is published in this issue.

Thrills For All

Frank Mills was on hand with his hydroplane, selling thrills at a stipulated price per thrill, and George Corner was running a counter attraction with his diving suit. The Riverton A. A. played on the Memorial Park grounds in the morning and in the afternoon they played Delanco at Delanco.

The yacht race in the L. I. class in the morning was won by Ogden Mattis, with Gardner Crowell second, Edgar Miller third, Rex Showell fourth and F. W. Robertson fifth. The wind was very light when the starting gun was fired an was flukey throughout the race, strengthening a little toward the close. Miller got a lucky stretch of wind which enabled him to pull out of last position and finish third.

In the sixteen foot class the honors went to Owen Merrill, with Knight and Showell second. Laddie Dickinson third. The finish was very close between second and third boats, Knight and Showell being third until the last minute when they passed Dickinson and won by a foot.

The decorations of baby coaches and vehicles this year showed more originality than usual, and caused much favorable comment.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Much favorable comment has been heard this week about the flower beds which have just been arranged at the flag stations at Broad and Thomas avenue, Riverton and at Broad and Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, by the men attending these two flag stations—Clarence Swope, Riverton, and Alexander Brister, Palymra.

The grass has been neatly cut for a space each side of the beds and the beds themselves are raised several inches from the ground and held in shape by small stones.

It would be a fine improvement if the railroad company would keep the grass cut the rest of the way. Here's a chance for the new Chamber of Commerce in Riverton to get in its first lick.

Doubtless, if properly approached, the railroad company would see that the grass along its track through our town is kept in better condition.

Riverton Loses Twice On 4th

Day of Independence is Gloomy for Hubbs' Ball Tossers

The Riverton Ball Club is not looking back to the Fourth with any great enthusiasm. On this ay, one of the greatest in the year, while everyone else was celebrating, Riverton twice suffered defeat.

Burlington trounced the locals on the home grounds 6-2 in the morning. In the afternoon Manager Clarence and his team traveled to Delanco and was defeated 14-6.

Errors in the first inning which allowed the visitors to score three times, put the morning game on ice for Burlington. G. Hilton in center field, was the chief offender whose miscues allowed Burlington to get off with a flying start.

Herbert pitched an excellent game for Riverton, but unfortunately for the young hurler, his spotty support put a monek wrench in the works and spoiled all chances of a perfectly decent victory.

One of the features of the battle was a pretty three-bagger by Herb Kemmerle in the sixth. 'Twas the banker's clout that drove in Rivertons lonesome pair of counters.

Manager Hubbs threw 'em for his club at Delanco when Riverton was efeated 14-6 in the afternoon. This loss can be attributed to two good reasons. Hubbs' offerings were gracefully received by Delanco and they pounded out eighteen hits. To make it still more miserable, the players behind the manager failed to render the proper support and the score book was overloaded with errors.

E. Coyle at second, had a whole half dozen muffs charged against him. They were not exactly muffs, for he fielded nicely, but would overthrow.

A Riverton rally was nipped at the bud by the umpire. Catcher Coyle led off with a double. E. Coyle sacrificed to second. Holvick flew out, Hubbs doubled and Coyle scored. Rush followed with another two-timer, but his honor, the ump, called Hubbs out, claiming he failed to touch third on the way home.

Lew Sharp played a dandy game at the initial sack in the first game, but was out of the lineup and sadly missed in the afternoon.

Last Wednesday Riverton defeated Mount Holly 6-1 in a twilight game at Memorial Park. Herbert was pitching in perfect form and had the visitors eating from his hand throughout.

To back up the little twirler, Riverton played a brilliant offensive game and hit Lippincott, the opposing twirler, for fourteen safe clouts.

Riverton has won four of its last six games and should hold a first division position in the Burlington County Baseball League at the end of the season. The first half ended on the Fourth with Delanco at the top of the ladder.

This Saturday the locals will entertain with Roebling as the attraction at Memorial Park. Riverton hopes to get off with a good start in the second half by winning this battle.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Considering the season the Church services are being very well attended, both morning and evening. Pastor Blaser will have for his subject next Sunday morning "Heroic Challenge." At the twilight service the topic will be "Life's Dynamics."

Enthusiastic meetings also are being held by the Christian Endeavor on Friday evenings. This Friday Mrs. Evelyn Weart and Miss Emily Harvey will tell of their experience at Peddie Institute where they have been attending as the society's representatives. The society has divided itself for purpose of an attendance drive into the "Reds" and the "Blues." Get in line under your color and be on hand at the next meeting.

This week a touch of sadness came to members and friends of the Church in the death of Charles A. Snyder, 602 Highland avenue. Mr. Snyder passed away at 2 a. m. last Monday morning.

SPECIAL PALMYRA BUSES

Cars Will Start Here to Relieve Congestion During Rush Hours

Through the efforts of Councilman William H. Randel people wishing to travel by Philburco Coach Line buses from Palmyra at rush times will no longer have to wait for several crowded buses to pass before they can board one. Hereafter, there will be special buses leaving Palmyra at such periods.

During the past few weeks the councilman has noticed that people wishing to cross the river by bus from Palmyra would frequently have to wait for some time until a bus would come along with sufficient room remaining to accomodate them. In some instances, Councilman Randel says he understood people have gone from Palmyra to Riverside, the beginning of the route, in order that they might catch a bus.

A conference between Councilman Randel and George D. Steedle, manager of the bus line, resulted in plans to run special buses from Palmyra at rush periods on Sundays and holidays, or whenever conditions warrant it.

Starting this Sunday evening, when traffic is always the heaviest, two special buses will run from Palmyra just as frequently as passengers warrant them. Coming back from the Frankford "L" the special buses will run only to Palmyra and pasengers wishing to go further will be transferred to other machines which cover the entire route.

Palmyra people are to have real service. Mr. Steedle has promised that no matter how many buses are needed to accomodate them, or no matter how often it will be necessary to run the specials, it will be done.

ITALIAN SCHOOL AT CINNAMINSON

The school has again opened its doors with a goodly attendance, very different from the first year when at first only six little ones were permitted to attend on account of the dread of the ignorant mothers of parting from the children. Then, they preferred having them exposed to sun and rain in the fields, or else left in the shacks in care, or neglect of an older child.

Now one of the first questions is "will there be a school this year?"

We wonder how many of our neighbors know that this is the only effort made in New Jersey to help these future citizens.

The Council of Women for Tome Missions in New York City is anxious to help any community that will cooperate, and now has several schools in the States of our section.

SPEEDER FINED

Man in Hurry to Catch Ferry Arrested by Chief Beck

After a wild dash down Cinnaminson avenue in the Palmyra police car after a speeding Pennsylvania machine Monday afternoon, Chief of Police C. Morris Beck arrested Antonio Belfatto, of 1302 Dickinson street, Philadelphia.

Chief Beck took the offender before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter and charged him with reckless driving, stating that the Pennsylvania man was speeding at the rate of forty miles an hour down Cinnaminson avenue.

It seems that Tony is employed on the new K. of C. building and was in a hurry to get to the Tacony-Palmyra ferry in an effort to rush home. Had he taken his time and driven more cautiously, he would have been home much sooner and saved the fine of $10 and costs which the justice imposed upon him.

COLORED LAD ARRESTED

Marshall Riles, colored, about eighteen years old, was arrested by Chief of Police Beck Sunday afternoon. People in the vicinity of Garfield avenue and Charles street saw Riles try the back doors of several homes in the neighborhood. They phoned for the police, and when Chief Beck approached Riles, the colored youth stated he had come from his home in North Carolina about a week ago and was in search of work.

Chief Beck arrested him as a suspicious character. He was held until Monday when he was committed to the county jail at Mount Holly for thirty days while the authorities make an investigation.

DANCE BIG SUCCESS

The dance given under the auspices of the Riverton Fire Company Fourth of July night, at Broad and Main streets, was a big success in everyway.

Hundreds of Rivertonians and their friends enjoyed the dance, and the Fire Company cleared about $80.00.

The electric lights for the band were put up by J. M. Coddington and, C. W. Ludlow furnished the current.

The committee having the dance in charge have received many words of commendation, and it is thought that another affair of the same kind will be staged in the near future.

YACHT CLUB DANCE

The first of a series of dances under the auspices of the Riverton Yacht Club was held Friday evening, July 3rd, at the club house on Bank avenue.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with groups of American flags and pennants of the yacht club.

Charlie Dietz and his Paramount orcestra furnished their usual snappy music, which was enjoyed by fifty couples.

The occasion was pronounced a success by all who attended, and the committee in charge is arranging to hold the second of the series early in August.

LIFE GUARD AT SHORE

Stanley Godley Wins Position at Atlantic City

Stanley Godley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Godley, of Morgan avenue, who is spending the summer with his parents at Ventnor, went on duty last Saturday as a member of the Atlantic City beach patrol.

He is the youngest life guard on the beach and is the only new member of the force to be stationed in the center of the town. Stanley was one of eleven out of sixty applicants who passed the test and is located at the Tennessee avenue station.

The test was given on a day when the water was extremely rough. The candidates had to swim out for a quarter of a mile and back again with a can buoy. Stanley's time out was four and one-half minutes, the second best. They then had to row one of the big life boats out and back also.

After being on duty two days, Stanley writes that things were "rather dead" at his station and all he had to do was help "pull a drunk in."

The local youth is a student at Juniata High School. Last summer he won the 100-yard swimming championship at the Plattsburg Citizens' Military Training Camp against keen competition.

Report of Work Done By Burlington Co. Hospital

Figures Given Freeholders Show That Most of Institution's Use is for Charity

Mount Holly, N. J., July 1, 1925.
To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Burlington County.
Gentlemen:

The President of the Board of Managers of the Burlington County Hospital, Miss Laura Fenimore, requested me to meet you today and give you the following report, covering in detail the management and operation of the hospital during 1924. At the same time she requested me to make reply to certain statements made before the Board of Freeholders which have been most unfair and unjust, to say the least.

As you probably know, the Burlington County Hospital is under the charge of a group of representative women of Burlington county, known as the Board of Managers. There are 45 such members, coming from practically every section of the county. In addition to the Board of Managers, we have a Board of Council, which is composed of 53 representative men of Burlington county, who look after the finances of the hospital. We have a Medical Director, who, at the present time is myself and 5 regular attending surgeons from Mount Holly. We have 18 visiting physicians from the county, and 9 consulting physicians from nearby large cities. The hospital is in direct charge of a Superintendent of Nurses, who is assisted by a staff of nurses which varies from 16 to 12. We also have living in the hospital a woman resident physician.

During the year 1924 there were 600 patients admitted to the hospital. Of this total number 122 were private room patients, 189 were patients who paid something toward their maintenance in the wards, and 311 were totally free. Reducing this to days, we had 4287 pay patient days and 5101 free patient days. You will thus see that more than 50 per cent. of our work was done for people who paid the hospital nothing.

We are handling a so-called orthopaedic clinic, which is fostered by the Elks, and which is in charge of Dr. Francis S. Chambers. At this clinic a total of 338 children were seen and examined, 27 major operations were performed, 13 casts were applied, and such recommendations for treatment as were considered proper were made for the remaining number. This work has been most successfully and ably handled, and is a credit to the Elks' organization, the Burlington County Hospital, Dr. Chambers and those who assisted him, as many children apparently hopelessly crippled have been given the use of their limbs, or otherwise wonderfully improved. The Elks do not pay the hospital for bed, board or supplies, and most are free cases.

There were 2405 dressings done on patients in the hospital, and 1157 out patients dressed in the dispensary, making a total of 3562 dressings done in 1924.

There were 377 patients that came into the hospital for X-ray examination, and 377 or more exposures made.

Last year the total receipts, according to the Treasurer's report, were $51,986.87.

This honorable Board contributed the sum of $12,000.00 upon the application of representatives from the Council.

$ 5,752.57 was returned from our Endowment and $883.83 from U. S. Treasury Bonds.
$10,350.62 board of patients;
$830.00 operating room;
$754.00 X-ray;
$263.00 ambulance;
$915.32 drugs and dressings;
$630.00 administering anesthetics;
$149.00 laboratory fees;
$437.35 dispensary and clinic fees;
$254.50 special donations.

The total receipts from above, paid by patients, amounted to $14,383.72.

If you analyze these figures you will find that, roughly, about 70% of the work in the hospital is really charity, and that about 30% is actually paid.

Disbursements:

Superintendent, Resident Physician and Nurses Salaries	$15,627.74
Wages	5,298.41
Drugs	4,547.87
Gas and electricity	1,174.98
Coal	1,380.35
Repairs	1,020.10
Laundry	3,159.46
Food	6,100.06
Sundries	2,181.06
Water rent	77.04
Ambulance	303.78
New ambulance	1,156.34
Interest on mortgage charged	420.00
Water connection on lot opposite present hospital	82.51
Insurance	203.40
Additions to building	1,813.02

There was a balance of about $6,000 which was transferred to this year's account.

The difference between the $14,385.92 received from patients and the $12,000 received from the Board of Freeholders, (which amounts to $26,383,72) and the $51,986.87, operating costs, has been made up by donations from the people of the county, which are collected in an annual drive. It has been figured out that it actually costs the hospital a little over $4 a day per patient, including board and care.

I am sure you would be interested in the distribution of these patients, which should forever set at rest the idea that this is not a county hospital in the fullest sense of the word. These place: Jacksonville, Hartford, Moorestown, Indian Mills, Mount Holly, Riverside, Columbus, Florence, Medford, Rancocas, Burlington, Lumberton, Bordentown, Fieldsboro, Vincentown, Pemberton, Sandy Ridge, Hainesport, Crosswicks, Masonville, Palmyra, Chatsworth and Media, Pa. I would say, in regard to the distribution of patients, that the month of June is a fair average.

Now, to answer criticisms and statements that were made at a recent Freeholders' meeting. I think it was charged, without any detail, that a little boy who had a broken leg was wrapped up in a blanket unclothed and sent home. This story, along with others, was the subject of much conversation, gossip and criticism. These are the facts in this case, as given to me by Dr. Nesbie and Mrs. Hollingshead, superintendent, and the absolute accuracy of which I can personally vouch for. The boy was admitted to this hospital March 30, and discharged May 20. He had a fractured femur, or leg, which was very difficult to keep in position. I personally called Dr. Chambers to come down and assist me in the reduction of this fracture, and in its treatment. Dr. Chambers came, giving much of his time, and reduced the fracture and put it in a plaster cast. He later dismissed this case in the middle of his clinic, and the boy's folks were telephoned to, and they said he would be sent for that evening. In the meantime there were people who were neighbors of this boy who came to the hospital and volunteered to take him home. Since the child did not have any clothing there at the hospital, Mrs. Hollingshead very kindly loaned them blankets with which to wrap him up and send him home. This is not unsual, for ambulance cases usually go home in blankets or covering. This whole act was done in the spirit of kindness, with the idea of saving the special trip that evening, but, unfortunately, the people who were returning the child passed the people who were coming in to get the child without noticing them. These circumstances were explained to the people, and everything at that time was entirely satisfactory. As is the custom in all cases, a bill for board was sent to the parents of this child, but no charge was made by Dr. Chambers or myself for much time given to this case. As is so very often the case, no money for board was paid, which is not expected from those who either cannot, or feel that they cannot pay, and you already have heard what proportion do not pay.

Another matter of criticism has been that it has been difficult to get information concerning patients for the newspapers. I want to say for the Board of Managers, I have instructed the Superintendent or someone in authority to always give out complete and accurate information bearing on all cases, up to the point where it is advisable and proper to so do. I happen to know that this information is generally supplied gladly. Frequently, owing to the rambling manner in which the hospital has been constructed, and to the fact that we have no house phone or bell sysstem with which to summon people quickly, there may be some delay in answering inquiries. Rest assured that there are no secrets, and that since much of our publicity must come from the newspapers, we have every desire to cooperate with them fully, and supply them with any information in our power. This goes for the Superintendent and for myself.

The third matter that was some time ago we were unable to receive in our ward an emergency obstetrical case. The management of the hospital a few years ago decided, after a brief period of experimentation, with the maternity ward, that we could not maintain, with safety to the patients themselves, such a ward in our present hospital. There would be too much risk from infection attached thereto. Secondly, we found we needed all of our 33 beds, which is our capacity, for the other urgent cases we are being called upon constantly to receive. We have perfitted a very few cases to come into private rooms, but only when they have been accompanied by their own trained, graduate nurse. This latter complaint, to my mind, is one of the finest arguments for the immediate erection of a new hospital.

At this time I want to say that every hospital, even the most modern one, is subject to a certain amount of criticism, just sometimes, perhaps, but frequently unjust. You must remember that we are dealing with sick people, and with relatives whose hearts and minds are torn with grief and worry, and who are often really abnormal people because of trouble. We make allowances for these. I want to add that we court examination and constructive criticism and the Superintendent of the hospital and myself, representing the Board of Managers, will endeavor at all times to set right anything that lies within our power. I would also most humbly suggest that those who are wont to criticize should first ascertain the facts from those who should know, and give opportunity for straightening things out.

Until we get a new hospital, adequate to take care of all of our demands, we are going to have criticisms which we cannot avoid. We will have to turn down really needy cases many times. We will have to refuse physician's request for admissions to the hospital, but it will be only because we have no beds to accomodate them.

Board of Managers and Board of Council are fully alive to our situation. They are planning a campaign for the raising of sufficient funds with which to erect a new hospital. At this time, particularly, we need friends, and we cannot afford to be unjustly criticized. We are glad of the opportunity to inform you how we are using the county money, how we are operating the hospital, and the results we are giving you. We welcome at all times visits and personal inspection of the hospital, particularly by members of the Board of Freeholders who have so generously appropriated money towards the maintenance of this hospital, which money makes it possible to carry on the work. Without the support of the county officials and of the pepole generally the hospital would have to be closed.

I ask of you your full cooperation in the capaign soon to begin for a new hospital. In the meantime, bear with us in our efforts to administer to the sick and unfortunate of the county.

Respectfully submitted,
H. E. LONGSDORF,
Medical Director.

F. C. Defeated in July 4th Game

Stackmen Unable to Hit Southpaw in Independence Day Contest

The ascension to the mound of a classy southpaw in the third inning spelled doom for the Field Club Saturday afternoon when it met the strong Kline A. C., of Trenton. The visitors then popped up with the stickwork and proceeded to trounce the Stackmen 8-3 before a large holiday crowd, in fact the largest gathering seen at the local stadium this season.

The Field Club played a nice game but the secret of the battle was the boys just couldn't hit the southpaw. A twirler by the name of Hannon started for the visitors, but after two innings he was ushered to left field, the left fielder shifted to the right garden and the right fielder took his position on the mound.

The new knoll artist was introduced as Mister Budweiser and it wasn't long before the locals realized that the namesake of the famous beverage was some pitcher, in fact the best, by far, they had faced this year. And to the "drink" goes the credit of the big holiday victory for the residents of Jersey's capitol.

First Pitcher Easy

Palmyra hit Hannon freely during his short reign and two-thirds of the locals' trio was tallied. In the first Andrews doubled and was driven home on another two-ply hit from the bat of Frank King, who followed him.

Welkman led off in the second with a hard hit to second. The keystone sacker found it too hot, muffed the pill, and Clayton reached the initial sack safely. Catcher Young followed and was walked. Eddie Bennett, next up, doubled and home went Welkman. With two on, Palmyra weakened with the club and three outs followed. The walking of Young, followed by singles from the bats of Rodgers and Bennett netted Palmyra's third and final counter in the seventh.

The visitors crossed the pan twice in the first, came back in the third and got three, scored two in the seventh and the last man went home in the eighth.

Babe Flynn, who has been doing wonders with the opposition, found the Trentonites celebrating the Fourth in the proper manner. They shot Babe's offerings in every direction, pounding out ten singles and two doubles. He sent three back to the bench victims of his slants and curves, but on the other hand, passed five. Palmyra had one lone error, which was charged against Welkman at short.

Hits are Scattered

The local hits, as previously stated, were few and far between. Rodgers got one single, Andrews and King had only their first inning doubles, Baker and Welkman went hitless, Young got one single and received Budweiser's only walks, two in number, Bennett had two hits, the double and single, Babe failed to connect safely, and Wenger, pinch hitting for Young in the ninth, singled.

Next Saturday the Field Club will meet the Columbus A. A. which has won twenty of its last twenty-three games, which includes victories over some of this locality's best diamond representatives. Charley Young's fast Mount Holly aggregation is among the victims of the speedy Columbus bunch.

Wenger, who starred with a no-hit no-run game in the Twilight League last week, will start on the mound with Hepper, who has been out with an injured finger, as his catcher. Gordon Andrews will be away on business so Manager Stack will be back at his old position at the hot corner. Buddy Mathews will also be back in the lineup.

Manager Joe Stack wants to thank the people for the splendid support Saturday. He says if the fans keep that up he'll give them some real baseball.

NEW PALMYRA BAND

Thirty Musicians Organized Under Direction of S. S. Walters

The Palmyra Band, under the direction of S. S. Walters, with a membership of thirty, has been recently organized and is practicing every Monday night in the building at Broad street and Garfield avenue, formerly occupied by the Triangle Laundry Company.

Several members of the Griffenberg band, which disbanded some time ago, have been signed up to play with the new organization, and several other musicians have become affiliated to complete the organization.

The band, due to the short time it had been organized, was unable to take any engagements to play on the Fourth, but is planning to make its debut in the near future. According to Director Walters, the band hopes to give a concert in the grove some time this month to help raise money for the purchase of uniforms.

Mr. Walters has had army experience as a band leader, has been a cornetist for thirty years and says he can play almost any instrument in a band. He is determined to make the band "a go" and says he is going to show the people who say it can't, that it can be done and Palmyra will have a band of its own.

One of a great city's finest citizens was cripple for life by the fool who playfully pulled away the chair. Yes, yes, we know that the prankish joker suffered remorse—at least we are so told. But it isn't fair.

RIVERTON AWAKENING

One of the most encouraging signs that Riverton is not really dead but only sleeping is the meeting of business men held Tuesday night to consider the organization of a Chamber of Commerce.

For years business which rightfully belonged to the business institutions in Riverton has been drifting away. The diversion was noted and lamented. Everybody said "it's a pity," but nobody did anything. Many expressed the thought that it would be "a nice thing" to have some sort of business men's organization, but nobody started one.

Now the start has been made, and it behooves every man and woman doing business in Riverton to get back of the movement and push it to the limit of their ability. It is their only salvation.

There is no reason in the world why Riverton cannot have just as good stores and give just as good service as any other town. If the goods, service and prices are right, the money will stay in Riverton.

It will not be accomplished all at once. Rome was not built in a day. But it can be accomplished by persistent effort, intelligently directed, and the proper spirit of co-operation.

The Riverton of yesteryear is gone forever. Whether for better or for worse, Riverton is going to be different, and it is going to be very largely what the business men and women by concerted effort make it.

The "big men" who formerly could get for Riverton what they wanted through their associations with other "big men" have largely moved away or gone to their reward. From now on, what Riverton gets, what Riverton is, will be determined by the prestige, influence and power of the many, combined in one unit.

Mr. Albertson struck the nail on the head at the meeting on Tuesday night when he said "this is a movement to boost RIVERTON—not one individual or any group of individuals. The big idea is to improve our town for those who already live here and to make it attractive to others."

All together, now! Everybody get back of the new Chamber of Commerce! !

A FOURTH OF JULY SUGGESTION

It is generally conceded that the address delivered by the Rev. Charles T. Bates on the river bank, Fourth of July morning, was the best Independence Day talk given in Riverton for many a year.

But very few people heard it, largely owing to the din and racket of fire crackers and toy pistols.

It is a pity, for the thoughts expressed by Mr. Bates should be brought to the attention of every American citizen.

If the Fourth of July means more to Americans than fire works, noises and waving the flag, the true significance of the day should be instilled in the minds of the young.

The spirit of reverent appreciation of the flag and what it stands for is a part of their birthright, as well as the freedom and advantages they enjoy in its protective folds.

It is, therefore, suggested that next Fourth of July steps to be taken to prevent the discharge of fire works while the address is being delivered and the patriotic hymns are being sung.

We believe this can be done by appealing to parents, and by utilizing the Boy Scouts Fourth of July morning to subdue such youngsters as may not be willing to respond to the simple request.

There is a distinct element of disrespect to the flag and our National Air in making unnecessary noises while the patriotic exercises are being held.

As rendered this year The Star Spangled Banner sounded something like this:

O, say, can you (bang) see
By the (crash) dawn's early light
What so (snap—bang) proudly we (boom) hailed
At the twilight's (snap—bang) last gleaming?
* * * * *
'Tis the Star-spangled (bang) Banner:
O! long may it (crash) wave,
O'er the land of the (boom—crack) free, and the (snap—snap) home of the brave!

$6,516,800 STOCK SOLD

Final figures in the popular ownership offers of seven per cent. cumulative preferred stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey just concluded show that $6,516,800 worth of stock was sold to 10,972 subscribers. The campaign began May 1 and closed June 30. This is $1,516,800 more than the goal set at the start of the campaign, which was 50,000 shares.

There have been seven customer ownership campaigns since 1921 in which, altogether, about $32,500,000 worth of stock, seven and eight per cent., has been sold. In the campaign which started October 1, 1924 and concluded January 31 of this year, 77,572 shares of stock were sold to 19,545 subscribers

The decision will be made and the prize awarded at the meeting to be held in the Fire House on Tuesday evening, July 21, at 8.15.

It is said now that by 1928 the calendar will have been changed to embrace thirteen months. Many people, having in mind the first of the month, will agree that somehow the idea doesn't sound so good. —Detroit Free Press.

Reins of Power Held in Hands of People

As far back as the Middle ages, the doctrine was held in England that ministers of state were responsible not only to the crown, but also to parliament, according to a writer in the London Times. For instance, in 1341 a pledge was exacted from Edward III that the chancellor and other great officers should be appointed in parliament, and their work tested by parliament. In 1378 another similar pledge was given. These pledges were not always kept, but parliament never lost sight of them, and their spirit survived. At times this responsibility bore down upon bad ministers with tragic effect. Several such ministers were impeached by parliament, found guilty and beheaded—Stafford, for instance, in the reign of Charles I.

What may be called the modern doctrine of responsible government was first put into practice in the reign of William and Mary, that is, a few years after the revolution of 1688-89. Before that time the ministry was often composed of men of different political affiliations, and it was no uncommon thing for the secretary of state and the lord treasurer to vote on opposite sides in parliament. A ministry so composed was not efficient or harmonious, and William began the practice of selecting all the ministers from one political party, that party being the one that had the majority in the house of commons. From that beginning has grown our present system of a responsible ministry that is absolutely dependent for existence upon the will of the house of commons.

English County Has Its Own Salt Lake

Every one who has swum in a lake or pond as well as in the sea knows the extra buoyancy of salt water as compared with fresh. This effect of salt on water is demonstrated strikingly at Droitwich, the Worcestershire spa, where there is water in which it is impossible to sink.

You can float on the water, sit on it, and even go to sleep on it, without fear of drowning. The better the swimmer you are, indeed, the worse you will fare, because the moment you try to strike out your feet fly upward, to give you an unpleasant emetic!

So high is the percentage of salt that the crystals completely coat the skin, unless drying is resorted to immediately on leaving the water.

Some of the cures effected by the baths are remarkable. Anemia, neuralgic ailments, and rheumatism sometimes yield as if by magic under the treatment, which is becoming increasingly popular.—London Answers.

Mocking Bird and Robin

To the South the mocking bird is what the robin is to the North. He is known as far north as British Columbia, but is seldom found nesting there, while those found in the southern United States live there the year round, writes a contributor to "Bird Lore."

The female builds her nest the latter part of March, lays her greenish-blue eggs, speckled with brown, early in April, and by May the eggs are hatched. A second brood is often reared by the same pair of birds. The mocking bird's back is ashen gray, his wings a brownish tinge with a large white patch, and his throat and outer tail feathers are white, with the under parts brownish white.

It is when the mocking bird works himself up into a passion of song that one realizes the wonder of his voice. He imitates the sounds of the woods and the other birds, but he improves on them.

No Regular Nail Sizes

Up until about the Fifteenth century nails in England were sold by the hundred. Nails which sold for 10 cents a hundred were called 10-penny nails, those which sold for 6 cents, 6-penny nails, etc. When the prices changed the names persisted and, finally, came to be used to designate size, says the Detroit News.

The "d" is used as a sign of penny and is derived from the Latin "denarius." According to Webster's International dictionary, the explanation that "penny" in this connection is a corruption of "pound" is wrong. There are no regular standard sizes for nails by "pennies." For instance, the length of 10-penny nails varies, depending upon the kind of nails and the firm manufacturing them.

Size of Alaska

United Alaska spreads over 17 degrees north and south, or as far as from New Orleans to Duluth, so that some variation of climate might reasonably be expected within its borders. And east and west the stretch is 58 degrees, or considerably more than from New York to San Francisco. Plenty of elbow room this way, too, for diversities. The total area is nearly 600,000 square miles, or one-fifth the size of the entire United States.—Mary Lee Davis in Scribner's Magazine.

Kisses

The safest time to kiss is midnight. The most dangerous time is early in the morning, germs having accumulated during the night. As the hours roll by germs are gradually eliminated from their favorite nest—mouth and lips. Even at four in the afternoon kissing still is risky.

In a recent burglary trial the jury was composed of twelve women. It was the first time in this section that a criminal case was entirely in the keeping of the fair sex. But the defense in this hearing was an alibi and what girls don't know about men's alibis is hardly worth listening to.—Los Angeles Times.

Margot Asquith, in her latest book, says Americans are lacking in a sense of humor. Perhaps when Lady Asquith was here the Americans were only too polite to laugh. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

Charles McConnell, of Burlington, was arrested for speeding in Riverton last night. He was coming down the Burlington Pike at a pretty fast speed when he was seen by Edward R. Williams, director of public safety who gave chase. Finding that he could not keep up to McConnell, Williams phoned to the Riverton traffic officer to hold him until he arrived. McConnell was given a hearing before Mayor Hemphill and fined $15.00.

There are ten diseases, seven of them among the greatest death-dealers, which the United States Public Health Service charges up to the common drinking cup as an important and persistent distributor. The sanitary individual cup is so easily obtainable and the risk of the common cup is so terrible, that there would seem to be no debate.

Alcohol and gasoline form a mixture that spells death to many a midnight rider.

No Hit Game at Razz Park

Wenger, Pitching for Field Club Accomplishes Rare Feat

The big excitement in the Twin City Twilight League during the past week was a no-hit no-run game, With Wenger on the mound, the Field Club second accomplished this feat last Friday night and Manager Tommy Schwink's hat is still ten sizes too small.

Thursday night the Baptists continued with their winning streak, defeating the Legion and the ex-service men took another slide when they lost by default to the Methodists Monday evening.

The game Thursday night was as sloppy as Palmyra streets after some of those severe storms last winter. The Baptists clouted everything Larry Polis, the Legion pitcher offered, and won hands down 14 to 6. The Legion got all six runs in one frame, the sixth. Fifty per cent. of this trio was scored when Don Knowlton lambasted the pill to the extent of a homer and drove a couple of team mates home ahead of him.

Pastor Blaser has done wonders with the Baptist Church since he arrived here in January, and evidently he has set out inspiring the nine to greater and bigger things. Anyhow, his diamond artists surely socked the horsehide and did not quit until they had fifteen safe bingles to their credit. Reeves, a foreigner, so to speak—he comes all the way from Riverside—was the winning pitcher and Elmer Loughery was behind the bat for the winners.

There's not much to be said about the big affair Friday. 'Twas all one sided with Wenger shutting out the second place Artisans without the slightest resemblance of a hit or tally. The reg'lars down at Razzberry Park never remember this feat before in the history of the local circuit.

The scheduled Lutheran-Field Club game for Thursday night has been postponed on account of the death of Councilman Charles F. Buchholz.

League Standings

Palmyra's 4th Great Success

Splendid Parade and Interesting Program Marks Big Celebration

Palmyra's Fourth of July celebration was staged in a manner which was a credit to the community and the committee. It was characteristic of the town, the best by far, surpassing from every angle all previous celebrations.

Dame Fortune smiled sweetly and weather conditions were favorable throughout the day. The entire program, which started at 7 a. m. with a salute and flag raising and ended with the fireworks late in the evening, was run off according to schedule.

More organizations and citizens took part in the parade than ever before in the history of the celebrations. The concluding feature, the display of fireworks at the Field Club park, brought much favorable comment.

In fact everything went off smoothly. The athletic events in the afternoon provided sport for both the contestants and the spectators, and the day's activities were not marred with a single accident.

A company with George D. Steedle, of the Philburco Coach Line, as president has purchased Rancocas Park, one of the most popular recreation centers in Burlington County.

Bath houses will be erected and the pond that was formerly used for boating will be used for bathing.

The dance floor will be rebuilt and the 320 acres additional to the park itself will be developed into building lots.

Five Camden business men are members of the new company and after the reconstruction and rebuilding of the park, Mr. Steedle will have full charge. The new company will assume ownership and active operation of the park early next year.

The farmer used to go to the city hotel and blow out the gas. Now the city autoist goes into the closed garage and blows carbon monoxide fumes out of the exhaust by running his engine. Same result. Thirteen life insurance companies report twenty-eight deaths from this during one year. These are but a few of the companies and only some of the deaths.

Lesson for July 12

THE GOSPEL IN ANTIOCH OF PISIDIA.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:16-52.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Behold, I have given him for a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander to the peoples."—Isa. 55:4.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Telling Strangers About Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Barnabas and Paul in Antioch, Pisidia.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Early Victories of Foreign Missions.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Preaching and Its Effects.

I. In the Synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (vv. 13-16).

From Paphos Paul and Barnabas, with their companion Mark, went northward to Perga. Here Mark, for some reason, perhaps because of hardships, went back. He was ready to go again when they started on their second journey, but Paul would not give his consent (Acts 15:38-39). Before Paul's death he testified in Mark's favor for he had found him profitable unto him for the ministry (II Tim. 4:11). From Perga they went to Antioch in Pisidia, and here they entered the synagogue on the Sabbath day. From this we see that though Paul was sent to the Gentiles, he did not depart from the order of beginning with the Jews.

II. Paul's First Recorded Sermon (vv. 17-41).

This sermon is worthy of careful study. In its analysis we find four parts:

1. Historical (vv. 17-23).

In this section we see how Paul, in a conciliatory way, led them gradually through a series of changes in which God had dealt graciously with them, finally giving them Jesus, His Son.

(1) God chose and exalted the people (v. 17).

(2) He delivered them from Egyptian bondage, and led them through the terrible wilderness (vv. 17-18).

(3) He destroyed the Canaanitish nations, giving their lands to the Israelites (v. 19).

(4) He gave them judges as their deliverers when distressed by surrounding nations (v. 20).

(5) After they had selfishly chosen a king, He rejected the dynasty of Saul, and chose David, a man after His own heart (vv. 21-22).

(6) Finally it was God who from David's seed raised up unto Israel a Savior, Jesus. This demanded proof, which is given in the next section.

2. Apologetical (vv. 24-37).

That this Jesus is the seed of David and therefore the promised Messiah, he proves by three lines of argument:

(1) The testimony of John the Baptist (vv. 24-25).

John disclaimed all power as their deliverer, and pointed to Jesus as such.

(2) The prophecies of Scripture were fulfilled in their rejection and crucifixion of Jesus (vv. 26-29).

(3) By His resurrection from the dead (vv. 30-37).

Having proved Jesus to be the seed of David, he proceeds to follow the doctrinal teachings growing out of such proof.

3. Doctrinal (vv. 38-39).

The great doctrine derived from this proof is justification by faith, the very marrow of the gospel.

(1) The ground of justification is by Jesus. He took our place as a sinner that we might have His place as sons (II Cor. 5:21).

(2) Who are justified? Those who believe in Him.

(3) From what is one justified? All sins. The one who believes in Jesus is freely forgiven. His sins are all blotted out. This is the missionary message for all times. May we strive to get our pupils to believe on Him.

4. Practical (vv. 40-41).

The application of this sermon was a warning lest the judgment spoken of by Habakkuk should fall upon them.

III. The Effect of the Sermon (vv. 42-52).

1. Many of the Jews and proselytes asked to hear these words again (vv. 42-43).

Almost the whole city came to hear the Word of God the next Sabbath. This great crowd incited the jealousy of the Jews.

2. Open Opposition (vv. 50-52).

This jealousy could not long be restrained. It broke out in open opposition. The persecution became so violent that Paul and Barnabas were expelled from the city. This persecution was answered by Paul's rejection of the Jews and his turning to the Gentiles.

3. The disciples were filled with joy and the Holy Ghost (v. 52).

Jean Paul Richter Said:

"The life of Christ concerns Him, who being the holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy, lifted with His pierced hands empires off their hinges, and turned the stream of centuries out of its channel, and still governs the ages."

DELANCO BRIDGE UNSAFE

Two Letters Sent Freeholders by Solicitor Pearcock

Further stress was put on the unsafe condition of the county bridge over the Rancocas Creek at Delanco in the copies of two letters sent to the Burlington County Board of Freeholders by County Solicitor Robert Pearcock at the meeting of the board in Mount Holly Friday afternoon.

One of the original letters Mr. Pearcock said had been written to Harry Stevenson and the other to E. A. Armstrong, both associated with the Public Service Railway Company. The Public Service Railway Company's tracks run over the bridge, and the company is jointly responsible with the county in the maintenance of the structure.

In the letters Mr. Pearcock calls attention to the condition of the bridge, saying that it may fall in, and that the county and the company are criminally liable. He further declares that action is likely to be taken by the Burlington county grand jury.

Mr. Pearcock reported that he had asked for a conference between the county engineer and the company's engineer with a view to making repairs to the bridge, and recommending that if the two engineers could not agree a third engineer be called into consultation.

The bridge at Delanco was reported to be unsafe by J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford, head of the county bridge department, some weeks ago who suggested that a detour be established. There are now warning signs at the bridge's approaches.

KILLED BY AUTO

George W. Craig, 82 years old, who divided his residence between Mount Holly and Ship Bottom, was killed at the latter place, last Friday night by an automobile a few hours after arriving with his daughter, Mrs. Lottie Bridge, of Mount Holly, to spend the summer. Craig was partly deaf and failed to hear people calling when they saw him in danger walking across the highway. No blame was attached to the automobilist.

Bake until just hot enough to melt the cheese and serve at once.

COWBOY LINGO FOR LOCAL RODEO FANS

Just as a dictionary of the French language is essential to a European trip, so will a dictionary of rodeo lingo be of much use to the visitor in the West. The Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo this year will be held in Grant Park, Chicago, August 15 to 23 under the direction of the Chicago Association of Commerce, with "Tex" Austin, world famous cowboy, in charge of contests.

"Rodeo" is the Mexico word for "roundup." It is pronounced "Roday'-o."

"Broncho" is another word originating in Mexico and signifies "mean" and "bad tempered" as applied to a vicious and unbroken horse. A "broncho buster" is merely a horse breaker.

"Bull-dogging" is steer wrestling. A "hazer" is a bulldogger's assistant. He must pick up the former's mount after the leap and protect him from being gored when he releases his hold on the steer. "Houlihaning" is accidentally knocking down a steer instead of wrestling it. This will not be permitted in the Chicago Roundup.

"Sunfisher" is a bucking horse that twists its body in the air standing on his hind legs so that the sun hits its stomach. "Crow hops" is a term describing mild bucking motions of a broncho. "Salty" signifies spirit or viciousness in a horse.

"Kasting gravel" means being thrown from a bucking broncho or steer.

"Pulling leather," "shaking hands with grandma," "grabbing the safety knob" all mean holding to the saddle which disqualifies a broncho rider. "Dog fall" is putting a steer down with its feet under. The throw is not complete until the steer is flat on his side with all four feet out.

"Chuck wagon" is the cook wagon. "Doughie" is an unbranded calf less than a year old that has lost its mother. "Maverick" is an unbranded animal more than a year old.

It wouldn't surprise us any time if those explorers over in Africa should dig up a ten tube radio outfit that was used 3,000 years ago.

Milwaukee last week used 100,000,000 gallons of water in one day, but has no expectation of becoming famous on that basis.—Detroit News.

"PATRIOTISM" DEFINED

Rev. Charles T. Bates Delivers Stirring Independence Day Address at Riverton

During the few moments which we have this morning, I believe that we can best consider the significance of the day in giving you a definition of patriotism. Before doing so, however, I would ask you a question:

When you and I consider this day—and I mean not the 149th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence—but Independence Day itself, what is the most significant thing about it? Is it not the fact of the COST of the purchase and of the preservation of liberty?

When we think of our independence as a nation, my friends, I am sure that primarily it may be unconsciously, our thought is of those who, by their sacrifice, have made such a day possible. We think of the SOLDIERS of America.

And WHY? Do we consider them because they THOUGHT something, because they SAID something? I think not; but rather because they DID something. Nobly, bravely, and when it was needed, they died, many of them, giving themselves for others—many of whom they had never seen, and among those others are you and I.

They died or suffered for principles and ideals, upon which our nation has been built, and which must ever endure, whatever the cost, if that nation is to endure. Yes, my friends, I will go one step further they gave themselves for the principles and the ideals, the possession of which finally shall usher in a 'new heaven and a new earth, when the tabernacle of God shall be with men, and He shall dwell with them, and He shall be their God.

I know that, since the last war, yo have heard of soldiers and their deeds, many, many times and I have no time today to take you back into history, but, when you go home, consider them yourselves.

The ideals of the Revolution; the ideal of liberty both of conscience and of action. The result was the birth of a nation.

The Civil War—the same ideal preserved—to prove to mankind that a nation so established, upon freedom and equality, must not be divided, giving to us not only a united nation, but the liberation of a whole race.

Or again, the War with Spain—when America upheld a divine command which compels man to answer the call of a weaker brother.

And finally that horror—The Great War, which still rings in our ears and still brings ache to our hearts; which levied its toll of thousands of our best "boys", because these same ideals must remain inviolate.

Without exception, one and all, they paid the price of idealism. "Over there" some of you here this morning saw them fall, and I believe, if you heard aright, their last words, to you and to all of us in America, were: "Take up, Press on."

They left a task far greater, more tedious, than the task of dying for our country. They have given to us the privilege of LIVING for it. It is one thing to go out midst the roar of guns and the praise of thousands, to know that a grateful nation can never forget, and it is an entirely another matter monotonously to build upon a foundation which has been laid at the cost of blood.

You who saw them die, cannot forget the soul-searching revelations of the trenches; but you and we now face a task greater than that of poison gas and the brutality of war. We face the task of peace.

They did a part in "making the world safe for democracy." You and I have the problem of "making democracy," as we conceive it, "safe for the world." And, I ask you seriously, IS IT? If not, then in the name of our God and in the strength of His Son, let us make it safe.

When the war ceased, the world looked to America. The world still looks to America. The HOPE OF THE WORLD today is in America, and pity us, America even now faces a crisis, with which the crisis of 1914 is a mere shadow. We face the crisis of peace and prosperity.

And now, my friends, I am ready for our definition of patriotism:—

The man who truly loves America and the ideals for which her sons have died, will not shout at the sight of the Stars and Stripes, and then drag it into the filth and slime of his own selfish ambitions and desires, but will see its crimson a blood which can make its white cleaner, purer, by his own sacrifice, if need be, and who will crown it with a crown of righteousness which shall not only make his country the hope of the world, but, through the power of the Risen Christ, shall make it the SALVATION of the world, by the outpouring of his life for the needs of the world.

TAT is my definition of patriotism—not some one who shouts for his country, but ones who DOES SOMETHING FOR IT—and he need not be dressed in a uniform to do it.

Let us use a figure: Democracy is a wheel; the hub, the individual; the spokes, society; the rim, binding spokes and hub together, is our government. Is the wheel of democracy, in America, running smoothly today. IS it?

Ever since the time of Washington, you have heard that democracy is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. That sounds extremely good, doesn't it? It IS good, but only when ALL of the people realize that it is a government FOR all of the people.

We are very prone to consider democracy as something which permits us to do exactly as we please, without regard to other men. That conception is not democracy; it is ANARCHY. When, within a free nation, organizations are permitted to dictate to whom equal rights are to be given, when class, any class; vaunts itself above any other class, that nation faces worse than anarchy; it faces chaos.

I do not have time to be specific; but you know as I know that such organizations have tried to establish government for themselves, for self aggrandisement, to the exclusion of less fortunate brethren—in birth, or in creed, or in color.

You and I have the right to the pursuit of happiness. That is God-given; but you and I have no right to the pursuit of happiness, or to any other pursuit, so long as it interferes with an equal pursuit on the part of some one else, regardless of creed, or race, or color, and unless both their pursuit and ours is based upon the law of God, and is realized in a dependence upon His will.

We face class rule! Not of any one class, but of any class, which which for the moment may have power to enforce its will. Call that class what you will—whether it express itself in the suppression of trade, or in a misguided conception of its own rights and privileges it is not the rule either of the people, by the people, or for the people. It is simply a government of some of the people, by the same some of them, for themselves—and its end is always CHAOS.

Just as long as men fail to realize that the only legitimate use of wealth is its power to uplift mankind, that long there will be economic discord and strife.

The solution of the great industrial problem lies fundamentally in a proper conception of social relationships—in the Christ—conception—I was about to say the Christian conception, but that would be far from what I mean, in the Christ—conception—the real brotherhood of man: not some tawdry, blasphemous imitation of brotherhood, but a brotherhood of Jesus, which can "seek and save that which is lost."

The cause of industrial unrest lies here: There is no CONFIDENCE in society. We think in terms of individualism, despite our pretense of "Christianizing the social order," when indeed we have not first allowed Christ to Christianize us. We ask the question: How much can we get? The proper question is How much can we give.

How much profit can we retain—and by that I mean how much should we retain? And that applies whether we are talking in terms of money or in terms of labor. One is figured in dollars and cents; the other in terms of human life.

Everyman MUST have something besides work. He MUST have such time and money which will not only enable him to provide respectably for himself and for his family but also which will enable him to live the life that His Creator intends; and that, my friends, assumes a soul life.

Until we acknowledge this fact there can be no harmony in human affairs, and what is more important, there can be no approval from the Almighty. Why is it, think you, that the Church of Christ is always contending against the outstanding evils: the "open saloon," which thank God is no longer open and the "open Sunday," which still is so very wide open, and the host of others. WHY Because the law of God is based not merely upon Divine command, but upon Divine wisdom as well; a wisdom which knows that without mental and moral development a man is not a man; he is a beast.

The men who have died for America have given to us the opportunity for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; but happiness is always relative. If ours must be gained only by personal gratification of sense, then such happiness, if happiness it really be, has no right of gratification, in the light of full manhood and full womanhood, and the Constitution of the United States of America never asserts that man was created for such happiness. And the law of God says: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

And thus we come to the hub of our wheel of state; to the individual. First what we need, each of us, is a reconstructed point of view. The first and ultimate purpose of your life and mine is to REVEAL GOD to the world. Germany looked upon man as a perfect physical machine. She conceived the ubermensch—and Germany was that superamn. She forgot God. She ignored the SOUL of man. Look at her today! She forgot eternal values—those things which live on after you and I, as we know each other, are gone. She forgot those things for which, theoretically at least, our boys died.

Whether or not America shall follow depends upon US, not as a nation alone, but as individuals.

Will America—the land of Washington and of Lincoln lose her soul because she is forgetting her GOD? That is for you and for me to say NOW.

Our dead soldiers leave us the task of making this country a fit place in which to live, morally as well as physically and mentally, and I ask you, honestly, to decide whether, as it is today, it is safe for us, for the coming generation, for the world?

The pastor's theme for the morning sermon is: "The Object of the Christian's Glory," and the evening sermon: "The Other Spirit."

As part of the morning worship there will be a children's sermon. The pastor is talking to the children about the "Golden Keys." This week it will be about the second key. Bring the children. During July and August there will be no mid-week meetings of the Golden Hour Circle. Notice please that the evening prayer service is continued each Sunday evening during July. It is no warmer in the church than outside.

A call has come to us from the Pressyterian Church of Santa Barbara. The church building has been destroyed, and the personal loss is tremendous. An opportunity will be given at the services on Sunday to make a free-will offering to aid in the rebuilding of the church there. Come prepared to help "as the Lord has prospered you."

"We really don't object to your smashing your car and killing yourself," said the philosophical squire, "it's the question of your killing some one else who might not like it. Seventeen fifty, please."

For the protection of the public from dangers incident to the use of shellfish from polluted waters and to benefit baymen generally, rather than a few poachers who have been taking clams from prohibited areas, the state department of health has adopted regulations throwing open condemned areas of the inland waterways adjacent to Atlantic City, beginning July 8. It is the purpose of the department to have the clams removed to pure waters, scientific experiments having demonstrated that infected shellfish will purify themselves within two weeks when placed in unpolluted waters. The transfers will be made, however, under strict supervision so as to safeguard the public.

Despite a change in the charter of the Carteret Academy of Orange made to exempt the school from taxation, the State Board of Taxes and Assessment ruled that the institution is not fundamentally charitable and ordered a tax valuation of $88,700 for 1923 and 1924 to stand. Riverside Station Now Closed at Night

Railroad's Retrenchment Policy Hits Town Hard; Citizens Make Protest

The retrenchment policy of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has affected the Riverside station. Beginning Wednesday evening the station will close at 8:30 p. m. every evening leaving Riverside without any telegraphic communication with the outside communities. Heretofore the station was open all night.

Following the earlier closing of the Delanco station, the Delanco residents relied upon telephone connections with Riverside, but now even that method is eliminated.

Townspeople are indignant and they purpose to ask the governing body of the township to take action toward the reopening of the station.

For many years it has been the consensus of opinion that the railroad company has slighted Riverside in many respects and its latest action is strongly resented by the residents.

HIT BY TRUCK

Beverly Woman Injured at Busy Riverside Corner

Miss Edith Holmes, of Beverly, was injured Sunday afternoon when the truck driven by Clarence Hoskins, of Merchantville, struck her.

Miss Holmes was walking across the intersection of the street at Pavilion avenue and Lafayette street when the truck came around the corner. Making every effort to avoid the accident Hoskins very nearly wrecked his car.

Miss Holmes was taken to a nearby residence where she was treated by Dr. Downs for bruises.

Hoskins turned himself over to the police who released him when Miss Holmes refused to make any charges because of the unavoidable manner in which the accident occurred.

The intersection of the street at this particular point is very dangerous to the pedestrians and often it is necessary to place an officer there to direct and control traffic.

Following the incident he disappeared until he was apprehended by Stevenson early Sunday morning, hiding at his home.

KEPT FANS POSTED IN ROWING REGATTA

The 72d Regatta of the Schuylkill Navy, a body of amateur rowing enthusiasts, was held on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia recently. Bell telephones installed at quarter-mile intervals on the west bank of the river, connected with officials on the east bank and kept them informed of the progress of the races. A huge megaphone at the finish line above the Columbia Avenue bridge was used to broadcast the results and to keep the spectators advised in regard to the races. Eighty-two crews participated.

THE QUESTION BOX

1,000 Feet Above Sea Level

Visitor, Riverside—I have been told that the Dominion of Canada is very little above the sea level. Can you tell me how much?

Ans. The average throughout the Dominion of Canada is a trifle over 1,000 feet above sea level.

Millers and Plant Worms

Housewife, Cinnaminson Street—I am a subscriber of your paper and always have been, so please answer these questions as I am in distress: What could I do to keep the millers out of the house; they seem to be so thick that I can't keep them out. (2) Is there any thing I could water my house plants with to kill the small worms in the ground. They just kill my house plants, and I take great pains with the ground when I plant them, and in time its the same thing over. Thank you very much.

Ans. We know of no way except to be well screened. For the care of your house plants write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Mammoth Cave

John, Palmyra.—To settle an argument will you publish in the question column exactly where Mammouth Cave is, its size an if it contains a stream with blind fish

Ans. Mammouth Cave is located near Green river in Edmonson county Kentucky, about 85 miles southwest of Louisville. The Cave is 10 miles long, but it requires about 150 miles of traved to explore all its avenues. The main cave is four miles long and from 40 to 300 feet wide. There is a stream of water running through it, known as the River Styx, which contains blind fish, which are white in color. There are other kinds of fish in it, but they are not blind. Various animals, lizards, crickets, frogs and bats are found in the cave.

"Cafeteria

Traveler, Main street.—Where did the Cafeteria restaurant originate?

Ans. Cafeteria, or "help yourself" restaurant, had its origin simultaneously, so far as we can learn, in Los Angeles, Calif., and Van Couver, B. C., about 1892.

Yellow Sea Is In China

Sailor, River Bank.—Where is the Yellow Sea and how does it get its name?

Ans. The Yellow Sea is an arm of the Pacific Ocean on the northeast coast of China. It was so named because of the lemon-yellow color of its water at the shore, caused by mud suspended in the water from the inflow of the Rivers Hong-ho and Yang-tse-Kiang.

Mohammed, the Prophet of the Turks

B. E., Riverton.—Will you please tell the Query and Answers who Mohammed was, his age, when, where and how he died?

Ans. Mohammed, the prophet of the Turks, in his youth was employed as a camel driver between Mecca and Damascus by his uncle who had adopted him. When 25 years old he married a rich widow. He then led a life of meditation, during which time the Koran (the Mohammedan bible was drawn up. Mohammed said it was revealed to him by an angel from heaven. At 40 he was forced to leave Mecca, and went to Medina, where his followers increased rapidly. Mecca was then stormed, and in time all Arabia and Syria was conquered. He died at Medina at the age of 50 from poisoned food.

Legion of Honor

Doughboy, Thomas avenue.—Can you answer in the question column of your very good paper what is the Legion of Honor? Has the American Legion anything to do with it?

Ans. The Legion of Honor is an order of merit instituted in France under the French Republic in 1802 by the First Consul, as a recompense for military and civil services. On the restoration of the Bourbons the Legion was retained, but remodeled so as to lose much of its original character. The decoration was a star of five rays, white enamel, surrounded with oak and laurel branches.

Overthrown in 476 B. C.

Teacher, Riverside.—I wish to know how an when the Roman empire fell in Italy?

Ans. The tottering Roman empire was overthrown in 476 B. C., by the invasion of German tribes. Their leader, Odoacer, took the title of "King of Italy." The Roman empire thus came to and end, with Augustulus, a child, as its last emperor.

Township Committeeman Arrested for Speeding

Charlie Miller, Supporter of Drive Against Motorists Here, is Fined in Mount Holly

One of Riverside's most ardent supporters of the crusade against speeders was arrested Sunday evening in Mount Holly for an infraction of the speed laws.

Charles Miller, member of the Township Committee and advocate of the drive against the speeder here, was arrested and fined 7.50.

Committeemen Miller was coming from the seashore with his family and was undoubtedly in a great hurry when a "speed Cop" saw him and brought him before a Justice of the Peace who explained the law and why he must obey it.

He listened and paid his fine without a murmur.

AUTO SIDESWIPED

The car driven by Silas Ballinger, of Delanco, was sideswiped by the car of William H. Smith, of Florence, Friday evening.

Smith was arrested by Policeman Stevenson, of the Beverly police department, when he was attempting to make a getaway. He was taken to the City Hall and tried before Squire Thompson.

Smith apparently was under the influence of liquor and his car went careening down the principal streets of Beverly before he was halted.

He was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and his license revoked for one year.

The car of Ballinger was slightly damaged.

Arthur Hughes and His Bride Centre of Demonstration Monday Evening

When a firemen marries he may expect the worst. True to traditions, the members of the Riverside Fire Company staged an impromptu celebration when one of their members, Arthur "Sliver" Hughes, of Hancock street, and Miss Edna Reineck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reineck, of 643 Bridgeboro street, were united in matrimony by the Father Lucitt, of St. Peter's Rectory Monday evening.

When "Slivers" and his bride came out of the rectory they found about forty members of the Fire Department waiting for them. As they left the porch they were hustled into an old "one-hoss-shay" that had been borrowed and decorated for the occasion with traditional tin cans and old shoes.

Then the parade started. They were marched through all of the principal streets with the siren of the fire truck proudly proclaiming the addition of the latest benedict to the roster of the company and as the procession slowly proceeded through the thoroughfares other cars joined the celebration.

The "shay," pulled by various members, was preceded by the "Chief" and his special trumpeters who had unearthed a number of the youngsters' horns from last year's Hallowe'en celebration. The other members carried brilliant redlights that all might gaze upon the reason for the excitement.

Following the celebration the bridal party was served refreshments by the bride's parents at their home.

Frank Mitsch was best man and his wife, Mrs. Sadie Mitsch, was matron of honor.

Following a short honeymoon the newlyweds will reside with the bride's parents.

Old American Roadway

The old Spanish road, built across Mexico in the Sixteenth century, is believed to be the oldest road on the North American continent. It was built in the form of a letter "Y," with the lower point of the steam starting at Vera Cruz on the gulf. The northern prong touches the Pacific at San Blas and the southern tip at Acapulco. Because of this road the west-bound convoys from the Philippines were spared the dangerous navigation around Cape Horn. There is still evidence that this old trail was used by the Indians before the Spaniards broadened it from a pack-mule path to a highway.

Silly Idea, Don't You Know!

The man in the dock was a regular customer at the local police court and he had spent quite as much time inside jail as out. His particular line was breaking into shops of the smaller tradespeople in the early hours of the morning. On this occasion he was charged with breaking into a jeweler's shop, and as he stood in the dock with a constable on either side the magistrate asked:

"Any witnesses?"

"'Course not!" replied the accused with a sneer. "Why, you silly old fool, do you think that when I goes out to crack a crib I takes witnesses with me?"—London Tit-Bits.

Don't Be Too Hasty

The trouble with the mentality tests is that they grade intellect according to mental agility and cunning. Outside of geniuses, the highest grade of brain is slow thinking. If you have ever consulted a white-bearded philosopher, you know that the oracle hears your case, ponders it with deliberation, views it from all angles, then in a terse sentence utters the decision of wisdom. The fast thinker arrives at wrong conclusions oftener than the slow thinker.—Topeka Capital.

Soon to Improve Bank Avenue

Property Owners Willing to Co-operate With Riverton Borough Officials

Further improvement of the roadway on Bank avenue was the principal subject of discussion at the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday evening.

William B. Lynch, chairman of the Highway Committee, reported that his committee had met with a committee representing Bank avenue residents, and that the Bank avenue folks have shown a willingness to co-operate with the Borough Council by fixing up the street.

The worst holes, he said, had been patched before the 4th and it was his understanding that immediately after the holiday they would go right ahead and make the real improvements. There was a hitch with the man who was to do the work, and a change had been made, so that to date nothing had been done.

Mr. Lynch said that he understood most of the residents of the Bank thought the Borough was not living up to its agreement in the matter of police protection, being under the impression that an officer was to be stationed there all the time, and that the signs prohibiting parking have not been put up.

The councilmen were agreed that it was not necessary to station a policeman on the Bank all day every day, as the officer could be summoned at any time by telephoning to the traffic booth. Mr. Lynch said that an officer was on duty on the Bank Saturday afternoons and Sundays, which he thought was all that was required at this time.

The signs, Mr. Lynch said, would be placed in position as soon as they were ready, which would take a little time. There was considerable discussion as to whether or not the Bank avenue residents would make a real improvement of the roadway, placing it in as good condition as the other streets in town, and Mr. Lynch said that if they did not go ahead with the work promptly the Borough should do something.

Wants Corner Rounded

Mr. Lynch called attention to the sharp turn at Broad and Lippincott avenue, and suggested that the corner be cut back at that point, giving more room to turn into Broad Street toward Palmyra.

Mr. Lynch also reported that a curb had been broken by a truck backing up, and that the owner of the property had appealed to the Council for redress. After considerable discussion, it was decided that Council had no jurisdiction in the matter, but that the owner would have to seek redress through the courts.

The Fourth of July committee reported the details of the celebration this year, and recommended a more liberal appropriation by Council for next year—at least $500 more, so as to secure a better display of fire works. The report mentioned particularly the services rendered by Boy Scouts during the day. Councilman Flagg offered a resolution, which was unanimously passed, that thanks be extended the chairman and members of the Fourth of July committee by the Borough Council, that letters of appreciation be sent to Scout Master Miller, Walter C. Wright, who had charge of the aquatic events, and the ladies who served on the Chudren's Flag parade committee and acted as judges in the decorated vehicles section.

Badges for Officials

The Borough Property Committee reported that police badges have been delivered to the borough officials. G. Rex Showell offered a resolution, which was unanimously passed, that the borough proceed to construct a sewer on Thomas avenue between Second and Fourth streets.

The building inspector reported that eleven permits have been issued during the month for work aggregating $39,723.

Councilman Bartley suggested a fire proof safe cabinet be secured in which to keep valuable borough records, but when the mayor said the cost would be $800, interest waned perceptibly.

Mr. Williams called attention to the urgent need for additional street lighting on Broad street between the station and the bridge and suggested that one or more are lights be placed there.

Mr. Showell asked to have read the ordinance relative to keeping weeds and grass cut along sidewalks. The clerk looked it up and it was found that under the ordinance the supervisor of streets may remove weeds and grass between the fence line and curb if property owners fail to do so after thirty days' notice. The cost is charged against the property owners and collected with the taxes.

Want to Return Used-Up Road

Freeholders Will Ask State to Repair Burlington Highway

At the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday morning, considerable discussion was caused by a communication received from the State Highway Commission stating that the Commission was now ready to return to the County the road from Broad Street, Burlington, to the Beverly Road, which had been used as a detour while the new State Highway was being built.

It was pointed out by Freeholder Stout, director of roads, that this road had been practically worn out by the traffic diverted thereto during the period of construction of the State Highway, and that London bridge on this road was a wreck—that it would have to be practically rebuilt—and suggested that the State be asked for money enough to put the road in good condition and rebuild the bridge before the County takes it back.

Freeholder Lippincott's motion that the matter be referred to the road department was unanimously passed.

Engineer Smith reported that Bordentown was about ready to advertise for bids for the road between Crosswicks and Bordentown but had asked to change the specifications. Mr. Smith said that the plans and specifications as prepared by his office had already been approved by the Bordentown Commission, and Mr. Stout moved that bids be asked for the construction of a road of the two types provided for in the specifications. His motion carried.

The director of roads reported that Burlington Township had agreed to go ahead with the construction of the Masonic Home Road eighteen feet in width, instead of twenty feet as asked for at the last meeting, and a resolution was passed authorizing the director and clerk to proceed to execute the contract with the road builders for the county's portion of the work.

Mr. Stout further reported that he and Engineer Smith had visited Palmyra and gone over the matter of paving the crossovers and turnouts of the Public Service trolley line, and that the Public Service had agreed to pay $1 a square yard toward the cost of paving with granite block that portion of the road within its track right of way.

Director Stout reported that he had about used the 100,000 gallons of road oil contracted for and would need approximately 50,000 gallons more to finish the road schedule for this year. He said that the old contract price was 12.9 cents per gallon, but that owing to a drop in the oil market he had been able to secure from the M. J. McCrudden Company a price of 11.25 cents per gallon, and a resolution was passed authorizing the director and clerk to execute the contract for 50,000 gallons at this price.

Director of Bridges Wright and Engineer Smith reported that the Public Service wanted a definite price for their portion of repairing the Delanco drawbridge so that it could be submitted to the board of Directors, and on motion of Mr. Wright the engineer was directed to prepare the plans and specifications. The clerk will advertise for bids on this work.

Howard Eastwood, solicitor for Florence township, sent a communication stating that money had been appropriated by that municipality for a sheet asphalt top on Broad Street, Florence, the cost not exceeding $7,000.

County Detective Ellis H. Parker was given permission to attend a convention of chiefs of police and chiefs of detectives at Indianapolis, his expenses to be paid, not exceeding $150.

Bills ordered paid were as follows:

Roads	$21,187.57
Bridges	3,900.44
Public Buildings	4,754.58
Public Affairs	1,509.70
Finance	884.44

VINCENT PLANTED FLOWERS

Says We Commended Wrong Watchman for Flowers

Jesse Vincent, one of the watchman at the Thomas avenue railroad grade crossing wishes to correct the article published in last week's issue commending another watchman at the Thomas avenue crossing, and Alexander Brister, who guards the crossing at Broad and Cinnaminson avenues, Palmyra, for the work of beautifying the ground around their stations with flower beds.

Jesse says he was the instigator of the movement as he was the first to have a flower bed at the Thomas avenue crossing.

MISS RUPPERT THIRD

Riverton Girl Athlete Places In California Meet

Frances Ruppert, of Riverton, former star athlete at Palmyra High, finished a close third in the national woman's 100-yard dash championship staged at the woman's track and field championships, held at Pasadena, California, last Saturday.

Frances, who has been running under the colors of the Meadowbrook Club, of Philadelphia, since she left Palmyra High School, won the national title last year in Pittsburgh. She defended her title in California, but it was lost to Helen Filkey, of Chicago, who won the event by clipping one-fifth of a second off the time, lowering the record from 11.6 seconds to 11.4 seconds.

In training for the meet, the local athlete has bettered the record time on several occasions, in fact she was running in much faster time. Her loss is attributed to the long tire some trip to the coast.

Last January at an indoor meet, the fleet-footed lassie contracted an illness which lasted for several months and has probably left her in a weakened condition which could not allow her to take such a trip and remain in her usual pink of condition.

Roebling Beats Riverton, 12-3

Manager Hubbs Gets Two Doubles and Two Singles in Game

Many a rattlin' good flivver has lost a race because it couldn't get under way quick enough. The same lack of pickup lost the game for Riverton at Memorial Park last Saturday afternoon when the locals were downed 12-3 by Roebling.

The visiting bats started swinging fast and accurate from the very beginning. The result was, Roebling manufactured enough clean hits, mixed with a few errors, to run up a score of eight runs in the first three innings.

After that it was perfectly simple. The visitors took their time and very calmly shoved over another quartet. By the time the initial maddening trio of frames had expired, Riverton was too dazed to even figure seriously as the victor.

Just to settle a national argument Manager Hubbs got real savage, showed his animal spirit, and proved the evolution theory to be O. K. Most of Clarence's (tame name for such a brute) spirit was shown on the offensive when he drove out a pair of doubles and an equal number of singles out of four times at bat. Two of Riverton's runs went over on the manager's clouts.

Not to be outshown by the local who found his offerings easy to sock, Cheney, Roebling's pitcher, not only shooed most of the other Rivertonians away from the plate hitless, but used his bat to a good advantage in the bargain. Mister Cheney merely drove out three perfect doubles during the course of the game.

Herbert was on the mound for Riverton and was hit freely as the score indicates. A few errors behind the game little twirler, who was doing his best, didn't help matters along very well.

Coyle, who has been doing duty behind the bat due to the stress of business which keeps Captain Patrick Steedle out of uniform, is playing a bang up game. His catching is pleasing to the eye and the receiver also gets his share of safe bingles.

This Saturday Riverton will travel to Burlington and will attempt to boost its way up the percentage column in the Burlington County Baseball League by turning in a win.

RIVERTON G. & C. WINS

On Thursday night Riverton G. & C. defeated the newly organized Dreer A. A. team, by the score of 16-6. Owing to Richmond being out of town, Manager Schuler had to take Ed. Zisak from first and use him on the mound. This proved a wise move as Ed only gave the nursery men 6 hits and fanned 10 men. In all, the home boys hit and fielded in good shape behind Ed. Score by innings:

Riverton	3	3	2	1	0	5	0	2	0	—16
Dreer A. A.	1	0	0	0	2	1	1	0	1	—6

Saturday the Riverton G & C traveled to Camden to play the strong Remington Engineer team. The team was composed of Drexel Institute boys. Riverton defeated them by the score of 7-6. Southpaw Richmond did the mound duty for the home talent boys and was in fine form only giving 7 hits and setting 9 down by the strikeout route.

The Riverton team in all played a very tight game, being wide awake at all times and taking advantage of every opportunity.

Score by innings:

Remington	1	0	0	0	0	2	2	0	0	6—5

This Saturday Riverton G & C will play the Franklin Printing Company, of Philadelphia, and a hard fought game is expected, as this is the team which defeated Riverton C-5 in seventeen innings last year.

Come out and help the boys.

VANDEGRIFT OF BURLINGTON WILL ADDRESS RIVERTON C. C.

Big Attendance Expected at Meeting to Effect Permanent Organization Next Tuesday Night

Interest in Riverton's new Chamber of Commerce has been growing rapidly this week. All those who were present at the first meeting have been "talking it up" to their friends, and it is expected that practically every business man and woman in Riverton will be on hand when the next meeting is held in the Riverton Fire House, Tuesday evening, July 21, at which time permanent organization will be effected and officers elected.

It has been arranged to have William B. Vandegrift, member of the Board of Directors of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce, to address the meeting on what the Chamber of Commerce has done for Burlington.

There are untold opportunities for the Chamber of Commerce to advance the interests of the business men and women in Riverton, and it will be successful just in proportion to the interest and enthusiasm they put into it.

Don't forget the $5.00 prize for the best slogan to be used by the Chamber of Commerce.

Send your suggestions to Corner Clelland, temporary secretary, not later than next Monday.

TWO POLICEMEN HELD-UP IN VICINITY OF RIVERTON

Philadelphia Cop, Living at Palmyra, and Former Merchantville Officer, Victims of Highwaymen

Policemen have been the special victims of holdup gangs that have been operating in this immediate locality during the last few days. Ex-policeman Fisher, of Merchantville, who is now a milkman and has a route in Palmyra, was relieved of $23 early Sunday morning near Morgan Cemetery on Cinnaminson avenue. Jack Long, a member of the Philadelphia police force, was held up in East Riverton early Tuesday morning.

Fisher was on his way into Palmyra about 5.10 Sunday morning in his milk wagon when he was stopped by three men in a Studebaker sedan. They first inquired the way to Atlantic City, and while the milkman was giving them the route to the shore, they ordered him to "put up his hands."

He had twenty-three dollars, some valuable papers and a gold watch and chain. The three men searched him, but discarded everything but the money, which they took and then sped off toward Five Points.

The milkman then went to a house in that neighborhood and telephoned for the Palmyra police. Officer Joseph Rodgers responded immediately, but was unable to find any clue of the gang.

Long, who is a son-in-law of Mrs. Bertha Hahn, and resides with her on East Broad street, Palmyra, is a member of the Philadelphia police force. He went off duty after midnight Monday and caught the one o'clock trolley from Camden.

The policeman felt rather drowsy when he boarded the car, and before long he was sound asleep. The conductor called out the various streets in Palmyra and Riverton, but even the familiar street names failed to rouse the cop, and he did not awaken until the conductor asked for another fare opposite the ice plant, East Riverton.

He got off the car and had started to trudge his way back to Palmyra, when he was hailed by a pair who were parked along the edge of the road in a Chrysler touring car.

"What time is it?" queried one of the pair.

"I haven't a watch," replied the cop.

"All right," returned the spokesman, pulling a gun, "Stick up your mits."

His command was promptly obeyed, for the cop realized odds were against him, and the pair looked tough enough to resort to most any tactics, including pulling the trigger.

A thorough search revealed the cop was right, he didn't have a watch and only a small amount of change.

"Huh, he's nothing but a bum," complained the spokesman, for Long was in civilian attire, so they pushed him into the bushes and made a quick getaway in their machine.

Long did not even turn to look at their license plates, fearing they might shoot, so has little means of identifying their machine.

When he reached Palmyra, Long notified the local police and returned to the scene of the holdup with Officers Rodger and Wallace.

But the pair had had plenty of time to leave this locality, and evidently they made the best of their time, for they could not be located anywhere in this section.

About an hour later, Quigley received a call from George D. Steedle, manager of the Philburco Coach Line, to come immediately. George heard someone trying to open the door of his office, and a second later the police alarm started to ring. As soon as the marauders heard the bell, they closed the office door, but the alarm kept on ringing, and they made their get-away by the rear exist of the garage, the door of which had been left open when George came in hurriedly late Tuesday night, and took out another bus in the place of the one he was driving, which had gone bad. The Riverton police department are investigating both of these cases, and it is thought that the men who held up Long are the same who later opened Steedle's office door with a skeleton key.

Pillars of Fire Beat Artisans

Bakers' Nine Takes New Lease on Life and Wins 7-0

Only one game has been played that actually counted in the race of the Twin City Twilight League during the past week. That was Tuesday night's tilt when Len Baker's Methodists ran wild and trounced the Artisans 7-0. The Artisans-Legion game scheduled for Monday night was forfeited by the Legion. Last Thursday's Lutheran-Field Club game was postponed on account of the death of Councilman Buchholz and rain made it impossible for the Baptists to meet the Artisans Friday evening. The Methodists and Artisans are now tied for third place.

The Legion forfeited Monday evening because nine men were not on the field to represent the ex-servicemen. A pick-up team composed of the available Legionnaires and other Razzberry Park luminaries met the Artisans and staged a tight battle which ended in a 6-6 tie.

The feature of the battle was a four-time hit from the bat of Shaw, of the Artisans. Russ Gibbon went the entire route on the mound for the Legion and had Young Hep as his receiver. The Artisans, who had already won the game, were forced to use two twirlers. Four Ball Gorman started and was relieved by Littel. The latter went fine until the last inning when the Legion began to hit him freely, drove in three runs, and tied up the count.

The Methodists, who have seemed to be on the downward grade for the past few weeks, pepped up considerably Tuesday and looked like a first division club. Lamont, who has recently gone through several agonizing games while the opposition was driving his offerings all over the lot, pitched a dandy game and held the Artisans to five scattered bingles.

The Bakerites also used their war clubs to a good advantage and hit Gorman freely, driving out twelve perfect hits. The fandom got its share of thrills, too, Baker saw to that when he hit one of Joe's good ones square on the nose and sent it soaring over the right field barrier.

The Baptists will meet the Lutherans Thursday evening. Tommy Schwink says bring your crying towels out Friday, for his Field Club Wonders are scheduled to cross bats with the Methodists.

FAILED TO SIGN NAME

The carelessness of a letter writer who is also a political aspirant has caused George N. Wimer considerable wondering. Somebody wrote Mr. Wimer regarding an appointment, but failed to sign his name. In the letter, the writer mentioned that he was also writing County Chairman Charles R. Stout. Mr. Wimer asked Mr. Stout about it and found that the letter sent Stout also was unsigned. So the writer no doubt has been anxiously awaiting a reply of some kind for days, but the two men to whom he wrote have no idea who he is.

Matt J. Ruster, of Riverton, is registered at the camp this week. The Palmyra boys at the camp are Walter and Thomas Price, Robert and Murray Kirkpatrick, George C. Garwood, and Edward C. Phillips and Thomas and William Wilkinson. Warren and Lester Mahn and Joseph Klingler, are registered from Riverside. The following boys have been at camp during the season: Gratien B. Brice, Albert C. McCoy, and Earl Himes, of Riverside; George Swan Hagstoz, Delanco, and Henry Wilbraham and J. Elwood Branson, of Palmyra.

Horses Stage Exciting Race

Two horses attached to one of Collins' lumber wagons created considerable excitement when they went on a rampage early Monday morning. They made a race track of a circle, the centre of which was the lumber shed at Harrison and Lippincott avenue. In the first lap the horses dragged after them the whole wagon. The second time around they were followed by the front wheels only—giving the appearance of a chariot race—only the driver being lacking. Finally one of the horses broke loose and ran into the stable. The other deserted the circular course and dashed across Harrison street to Thomas avenue, where the wagon tongue got jammed under Bill Quigley's coupe, which was standing at the curb, and ended the escapade.

Field Club Wins 11 Inning Game

Joe Stack's Nine Trims Fast Columbus Bunch in Extra Frames

Joe Stack's Field Club nine staged another extra-inning game Saturday. This time, however, the local boys won out, defeating the hefty Columbus aggregation 7-6. And it took eleven hard fought frames to decide the victor.

Almost fifty per cent. of the regular squad was missing. Frank King was away enjoying his vacation, Len Baker and Eddie Bennett were hard at work and Gordon Andrews was on a business trip. Fact is, business almost ruined the usual lineup.

Joe pressed one of his lcemen, "Reds" Todd, into service in the center garden patch. The fiery topped youth had his tongs on every ball that was hit in that direction and managed to get on base four out of five times up. An error by the opposing keystone sacker, a pair of clean singles and a fielder's choice gave Todd his starts on the bags.

Wenger, who has won much fame twirling for the Field Club second in the Twilight League, and whose most recent achievement was a no-hit no-run game week before last, was on the mound. Mister Wenger worked himself a little harder than was necessary, for he insisted in getting in a "hole" quite frequently. There were no serious results, however, for the debutante tightened up wonderfully and couldn't be hit in the pinches.

The visitors were the first to score. Two Columbus men crossed the pan in the second. Palmyra got one in the third, but the visitors also tallied and maintained their lead of a pair. Two more to Palmyra's credit in the fourth tied it up and the locals forged way ahead in the fifth by driving in a trio of the coveted counters. One in the seventh and two more runs in the eighth enabled Columbus to tighten up the count and it remained 6-6 until Bub Harder came home with the winning tally in the eleventh.

Two visiting twirlers found it impossible to stop the flow of local hits. Sammy Rodgers got one single, Joe Stack, who was at third, had two singles and a walk to his credit. Harder drove out a single and a double. Weikman clouted a sizzling two-timer, was walked and hit by a pitched ball. Babe Flynn playing the inital sack, had his eye on the old apple and socked three good ones, one of which sent Harder home with the deciding run. Hepper, who was at the receiving end, hit nicely as usual, getting a twin-cylinder and a single. He, also was walked. Wenger went hitless, but they pitched rather wildly to him, passing him twice.

Wenger allowed seven hits and walked three. The new moundsman had thirteen strikeouts to his credit and the entire team was only charged with a pair of errors.

This Saturday Palmyra's arena will be the scene of a big baseball festival. The Burlington County K. of C. nine will be the attraction. This club is a combination of picked players from every K. of C. lodge in this neck of woods and will furnish some real opposition.

The visitors are always accompanied by a large following of rooters and it is whispered they will bring a band along. In addition to all of this, the fandom will be entertained by a side show from two-thirty until time for the fracas to start. Everybody and their grandmother is expected to be present on this big occasion.

COUNTY AUXILIARY ELECTS

A special meeting of the Burlington County branch of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the Riverside Legion Home Tuesday evening. The important feature of the meeting was the election of officers who are as follows:

Mrs. M. B. Ivins, Beverly, chairman; Mrs. Howard Miller, Burlington, vice-chairman; Mrs. Theodore D'Autrechy, Palmyra, secretary; Miss John A. Flynn, Maple Shade, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. H. Pancoast, Riverside, chaplain; Mrs. Carl J. Jefferson, Palmyra, historian.

PERRY FIREMAN INJURED

Harry Holmes, of Gloucester, suffered two smashed toes when an ice bucket dropped through a hatch into the fireroom of the Mount Holly, of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Line, Monday morning.

Holmes who is a fireman, was working beneath the hatch, and was unable to avoid the falling bucket. He was taken to the office of Dr. Bauer, Maple avenue, for treatment. He was then removed to his boarding house in Riverton and later to his home in Gloucester in the Palmyra ambulance.

CHARLES SMITH, JR.

Charles Smith, Jr., 56 years old, died at his home, 2742 Pleasant street, Camden, Sunday night.

Funeral services were held at his late residence Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Harry L. Saul, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton, officiating. Interment was made in Methodist Cemetery, Palmyra, with Funeral Director Frank A. Snover in charge.

Mr. Smith was a former resident of Palmyra and was a brother of William Smith, of Dellware avenue. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Charles Smith, Sr., who made her home with him in Camden.

CINNAMISSON

The Community Service which was held on the Westfield Friends Meeting ground last Sunday evening was a success. About two hundred people were present. The Rev. Harke, the Moravian minister of Five Points, led the singing. The Rev. Fred E. Tansley, of Asbury read the Scripture and William Overman, of Moorestown, gave the message of Love. The next service will be August 2nd. Everybody is welcome.

Auto Violators Fined In Palmyra

Thirteen Offenders Found Guilty In Wholesale Trial Before Judge Fichter

Fourteen summons were issued by Officers Joseph Rodgers and Nelson Wallace early Wednesday morning for violations of traffic regulations in Palmyra. With the exception of one, all offenders were fined.

In the initial drive against the numerous violations of parking laws in Palmyra, the two policemen started on a tour of the town three o'clock Wednesday morning. They found fourteen cars parked along the streets of Palmyra without any sign of a light, and out of this number, at least half of the machines were headed in the wrong direction.

Wednesday morning the drivers found little yellow tags attached to the steering wheels of their machines. These were the new summons with which the local police recently were equipped and the drivers were ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter 7.30 Wednesday evening.

Most of the drivers got in touch with the policemen during the day, and with the exception of a couple, who were going out of town, all were told to appear at the court at the designated time.

The offenders were Clinton Gibbon, Leon Evanl, C. W. Horner, Jacob Wolf, C. B. Lewis, Albert Renaldy, James F. Seither, Kenneth Stevens, Robert Halloway, Iris Perry, William B. Moss, Ralph D. Weaver, E. B. Branson and Frank Shockley.

Wolf's car was minus the necessary light, but he was released when he produced a witness who swore that it had a light attached when Wolf parked. Excuses offered by the other offenders were fruitless, and all were fined $3.00.

Judge Fichter was lenient with them this time, since they were the first to be hauled up on these charges, but threatens to go the limit in the future.

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck emphatically states that the streets of Palmyra can no longer be used as garages. The Chief says public highways are no place to park machines over night, and any machine found parked at night without a light visible in all directions, and in accordance with the law in every respect, the owners will be dealt with according to the law.

Officers Rodgers and Wallace are just as emphatic. Joe says "Warn them, for these drives are going to continue. Violators will be picked up any time of the day or night, and we are on the lookout for them."

FLAGG WINS POINT

Son to be Allowed to Visit Him Every Two Weeks

Vice Chancellor Leaming on Friday allowed the application of Edward H. Flagg, 3rd, for part-time custody of his four-year-old son, Edward, 4th. The child now is in the custody of his mother, Mrs. Verna Schuler Flagg, who resides with her mother at 338 St. Mary's street, Burlington.

Flagg resides with his parents at 112 Broad street, Riverton. Some months ago Flagg's application for a divorce was denied by Vice Chancellor Leaming. He claimed constructive desertion.

In his application for part-time custody of the boy, Flagg contended that his wife refused to let him visit the child and had threatened to shoot him if he came near the house. These allegations were denied by Mrs. Flagg in an answering affidavit.

Flagg asked that he be permitted to have the boy at his father's home in Riverton at certain intervals. In allowing the application, the Vice Chancellor ordered that the child be permitted to visit the Flagg's in Riverton every alternate week-end from Saturday morning until Monday morning. He advised that the Grandmother Flagg call for the boy and see that he is returned safely.

July 18 was set as the date for the first visit, with the provision "unless the parties otherwise agree."

ESCAPED BIG 'QUAKE

Mr. and Mrs. John Armitage Were at Sea During Coast Disaster

In a letter this week, John Armitage, of Hollywood, California, a former resident of Riverton, says the reconstruction work in Santa Barbara, where the recent earthquake's toll was the heaviest, is rapidly progressing.

Mr. and Mrs. Armitage were on their way to Hollywood from Alaska at the time the calamity befell Santa Barbara which is 100 miles from Hollywood.

Mr. Armitage says, "I understand they are making splendid progress with their reconstruction work and their neighboring cities are doing everything possible to further the town's best interests. Committees of influential men from the larger cities are all cooperating to that one end."

Mr. Armitage also mailed us a copy of one of the Los Angeles papers containing a detailed account of the quake, a map showing the section visited by the quake and the reconstruction plans.

NO PERPETUAL FRANCHISE

Water Company Ordinance Defeated at Beverly

The proposed perpetual franchise for the Beverly water company was defeated at a meeting of the City Council last Friday night.

Charles Adams and President William Jones, of the Delaware River Water Company clashed when Jones declared that many of the statements made by the opposition to the ordinance introduced for the water company, requesting a perpetual franchise, were false.

The citizens of the town fought the ordinance bitterly. Forty of them attended the meeting.

Francis Smith, Beverly lawyer was the spokesman for a large part of the audience. He said that a perpetual franchise was not for the good of the community. The service that the city gets now is not any better, nor any worse, than before the expiration of the present franchise.

Colonel Betts, of the Public Utility Board, was present at the request of President Jones and the council to answer questions that any citizens might ask him. He said, in refutation to the assertion made by Mr. Smith that the perpetual franchise would have an exhorbitant value, that it was against the state law to evaluate any franchise more than the actual cost of obtaining the franchise, in the expenditure of printing and so forth. The colonel added that at any time the council could take over the water company by condemning the service and property.

Councilman Donaldson said that he thought the people of Riverside and Delanco should have a higher water rate than Beverly, seeing that all the towns are given the water from the station located in this town. Colonel Betts said that if they attempted to raise the rates in the other communities each one might start a water plant of its own, which would greatly increase the rate in Beverly, because of the loss of revenue from the other places.

The higher rates in Beverly, in comparisoin with Riverton and Palmyra, was explained by Colonel Betts in that Beverly water company has to keep steam up in its furnace because of the many interruptions in the electric service. Palmyra and Riverton run on electricity alone. They can afford to take the chance of a long interruption in the electricity because there is a larger capacity to the standpipes in the lower riverfront towns.

Councilman Donaldson moved the adoption of the ordinance on third and final reading. Stevenson seconded the motion. The roll-call showed all the members against the ordinance but one, who voted present. This was Mr. Botts, an employe of the water company.

NO MONEY FOR DOGS

Woman Who Willed Estate to Canines Had Little Property

Mrs. Beatrice M. Bohn, who was burned to death in her home on the East end of Shreve street, Mount Holly, on March 6, left a will in which she bequeathed her estate to Mrs. Marie S. Hartwig, of Philadelphia, "to be used according to her best judgment in the care of homeless and suffering dogs," and the estate was variously stated to be worth from $50,000 to $100,000.

Lawyer Richard B. Eckman, the proctor, has been unable to unearth any such an estate and thus far all the resources at hand consist of the fire insurance on the property destroyed and a mortgage against a property in Gloucester, amounting to less than $4,000.

OVER THE TOP

Burlington County Firemen Contribute over $6000.00 For State Firemen's Hospital

The projected hospital to be built in conjunction with the New Jersey State Firemen's Home at Boonton, New Jersey is now an assured fact.

In 1885 the State Legislature passed an act authorizing the formation of the New Jersey State Firemen's Association, the mother of the present local firemen's relief associations in this State, having for its purpose the relief and succor of firemen and their families.

This organization, through the forethought and splendid management if its officers, headed by General Bird W. Spencer, its president, (elected last fall for the 47th time without opposition), has become the largest and strongest, financially, of any of its kind in the world. Today it has a membership of 350 local relief associations with a combined personal membership of over 28,000 firemen.

The home at Boonton is splendidly located, built on a hill overlooking the beautiful valleys of Morris county, with the Orange Mountains in the distance. It is a home for all old and indigent firemen of New Jersey, where they can spend their declining years in ease and comfort, without cost of any kind. The home was dedicated June 20th, 1900 and was the result of the untiring efforts of General Bird W. Spencer.

Realizing for some years past that the guests of the home are no longer young, but gradually growing weaker and more subject to the physical ailments of advanced years, General Spencer has advocated a suitable hospital connected therewith. Plans have been drawn for a building to cost 25,000.

It was proposed that $20,000.00 of this amount be raised by a 1% donation of the numerous Relief Associations from their treasury balances, $5000, plus the cost of furnishing and upkeep, to be raised otherwise.

The Burlington County Firemen's Association gladly put its shoulder to the wheel, figuring 600.00 as its objective point. A liberal response from the fire companies and generous minded citizens has enabled them to "go over the top" and then some and they feel very much elated at the ready response to this most worthy cause.

And Diogenes blew out his lamp and went home.—Washington Dirge.

Our Life

We are living now by justice, honor and mercy, by the moral mastery of ourselves and of our time; and this life while in time is not of time; it is life in God and for God; it is the life of freedom; it is free from anxiety, fear, doubt, despair, death; it is content with God and with its fate in God. —George A. Gordon.

HITS UTILITY APPEALS

Governor Offers Substitute to Bill Aimed to Correct the Evil

Governor Silzer has renewed his interest in the efforts to get legislation at Washington to break up the practice of utility companies in New Jersey rushing into the Federal courts to upset rate decisions until after they have exhausted all the state courts. The Governor has made public a letter to Representative Isaac Bacharach, of Atlantic City, suggesting to the latter the advisability of abandoning the bill introduced several years ago to stop this procedure and to take up in its place the so-called "Silzer substitute."

In 1913 Congress passed the law under which the Public Service, the New York Telephone Company, the Middlesex ater have appealed to the United States District Court for New Jersey over the head of state courts, and the Public Utility Commission recently complained that in this way new evidence is admitted in the cases which was not presented before.

Thus the appeal is not decided strictly on the merits of the original case. This 1913 act was based on Article V of the Amendments to the Federal Constitution concerning the taking of property without process of law or for public use without just compensation.

These companies, under the act mentioned, have contended in the Federal Court that when the state denied them the trolley fare, telephone or water rate they contended for, and granted a lower rate, it amounted to confiscation of their property. Hence their appeals have been made on that basis.

The "Silzer substitute" would have repealed the Congressional act of 1913, thus denying the corporations the right to carry their rate cases outside of state jurisdiction until both the Supreme Court and Errors Court had passed upon the matter.

SHAW LEADING BATTER

Delanco Boy Tops Burlington County League With .452

George Shaw, Delanco star, tops the individual batters for the first half season of the Burlington County League with a mark of .452. In sixty-two times at bat in fifteen games, Shaw crashed out 28 safe hits. J. Shaw, with seventeen hits out of 39 trips to the plate for a .436 average, was second.

It was mainly through the work of the Shaw boys that Delanco, the first half champions, led the league in team hitting, with a mark of .334. Medford was a close second with .331. Burlington, the runners-up for the title, had a mark of .274 for third honors with the stick.

Garron, Medford leading slugger, was third in the individual ranks with the fine average of .421. Clint Worrell and Souders, also of Medford, were others to hit above .400, they compiling a mark of .418 and .400 respectively.

Twenty-eight batsmen finished the first semester in the select circle, hitting .300 or better, indicating the slugging which predominates in the league.

RELAY TEAM TO RUN

Palmyra's Crack Outfit Will Compete at Herkimer, N. Y.

Harold B. (Boots) Lever's crack one-mile relay team will compete in a track and field tourney at Herkimer, New York, this Saturday.

The team, which won the National Class B, one-mile relay championship with record time at the Penn Relay this spring, will run complete.

The team was broken up as a school organization with the graduation of Sack, Wood and Sullivan from Palmyra High this year. Bruce Beahn is the lone survivor of the fleet-footed quartet at Palmyra High.

Herkimer, where the meet is being staged, is near Boots' home town. In fact, it is as closely related as Palmyra and Riverton, "just around the corner."

NEW BUSES POPULAR

Method of Relieving Congestion at Palmyra Proves Successful

George D. Steedle, manager of the Philburco Coach line, announces the new system of running special buses from Palmyra to Tacony, which was inaugurated Sunday evening is a huge success.

The buses start from Broad street and Garfield avenue and leave just as soon as they are loaded. The traffic became heavy about six o'clock Sunday evening, so true to his words, Manager Steedle started the special buses immediately, and they ran until the regular bus business had slackened sufficiently to take care of Palmyra passengers comfortably.

Just as soon as the people become accustomed to it, Mr. Steedle is confident that many more will take advantage of the wonderful service afforded the traveling public from Palmyra.

The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company, which carry the Philburco Line buses, also had a busy day. According to Captain Sidney D. Albertson, superintendent of the Ferry, more than 3200 cars crossed the Delaware at this point Sunday. In the last twelve days the Ferry has carried more than 22000 automobiles.

The sensation of beating the train to the crossing is nothing to the sensation of meeting it there.

PLANT NOT TO MOVE

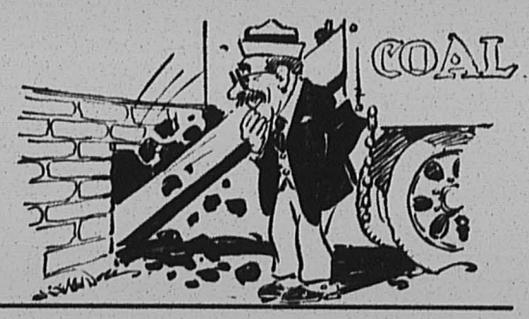

Report That Florence Was to Lose Foudry Is Denied

Denial is made of the report printed in some of the county newspapers that the plant of the Florence Pipe Foundry and Machine Company may be removed from Florence to Cochran's Island, near Trenton. It was emphatically declared that the foundry plant was in no danger of being removed from Florence, and that it was illogical to even think of such a thing.

Not only was a new foundry building recently built at Florence by the Florence Foundry Company, but still another building soon will be erected for the manufactrue of pipe by the sand spun system. It is said that ground at Florence has been purchased and plans prepared, and that work soon will be started.

Those in a position to know say it is true that land has been purchased on Cochran Island by the Wood interests, but it has nothing to do with the foundry at Florence, and does not portend the removal of the plant to Trenton.

The Boiler Room Engineer

The PUBLIC SERVICE Boiler Room Engineer is in control of apparatus that drive turbo-generators capable of producing 429,375 horse power.

That's power enough to raise the new Delaware river bridge at Camden—towers and all—higher than the summit of Mount Washington in less than a minute, or to lift the Great Pyramid, the largest of all artificial masses, a foot from the ground in the same space of time.

When the first section of the new Kearny plant goes into operation, he'll furnish steam to supply 250,000 horse power additional, and he'll double that amount of energy with the completion of the station's second section.

Steam produces practically all electric power used in New Jersey and The Boiler Room Engineer plays an important part in electric production.

Residents of Edwards place, Princeton, were terrified by a dog, supposedly mad which dashed down the street foaming at the mouth and frightening women and children on their porches and in the yards. The dog ran wildly about the street for some time, and in terror a group of householders who had been purchasing produce from a farmer, fled. For a few moments it seemed as if the brute would jump a dividing fence and fall upon a small child playing in one of the front yards. Police were called, and Officer Leo Rodweller answered. He was unable to find the dog, but found it later who its owner was, and that the dog was not mad, but ill.

LIGHTNING RESTORES USE OF PARALYZED ARM TO YOUNG BURLINGTON WOMAN

Atmospheric Electricity Said to Have Played Upon Affected Member in Pennsylvania Hospital

Through a stroke of lightning Mrs. John Devinney, of Beverly, is said to have recovered the use of her right arm, which had been useless since Thursday, May 28, and what would have been regarded as a miracle in the old days seems to have come to pass.

Mrs. Devinney, who, previous to her marriage was Miss Pearl Lyons, of Burlington, was stricken with paralysis, although only twenty-two years old and her right arm and right leg were so badly affected that she could move neither member.

Not responding to treatment at home Mrs. Devinney was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, where everything possible was done to alleviate her condition, but apparently to no avail.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week Mrs. Devinney was lying on a cot on one of the porces of the hospital. On a cot beside her was another young woman patient.

Suddenly there was a terrific stroke of lightning and a loud crash of thunder. According to the second girl patient the lightning played on Mrs. Devinney's shoulder and ran down her arms to her finger tips.

Be that as it may, from that moment Mrs. Devinney regained the use of her arm and has been using it ever since. Otherwise she was not affected by the lightning.

The first intimation that relatives had of Mrs. Devinney's ability to use her arm was gotten through her sister, Miss Hannah Lyons, of Burlington. Miss Lyons is employed in Philadelphia and goes to the hospital to see her sister at every possible opportunity.

She went to see her shortly after the shower on Wednesday afternoon, and hardly had she reached the side of her cot before the patient exclaimed:—

"Oh, Hannah, see what I can do!"

With this Mrs. Devinney raised her arm and easily moved it back and forth to the amazement of her sister who erpected to see the patient in the same helpless state.

In answer to many questions quickly asked Mrs. Devinney and the second girl patient told of the queer trick of lightning on the girl's shoulder and arm, and Miss Lyons carried the good news to her parents in Burlington.

It was feared at first that the relief might only be temporary, but the use of the arm continues, and there is a hope that a cure is affected.

The leg, however, still is in a helpless state, but the power of the arm having returned, there is now a hope that the leg eventually will respond to treatment.

SPEAKING CORRECTLY

Good diction is a mark of refinement and never fails to commend the user to those who hear it. The corollary of this statement is important. Rustic or colloquial language is the natural accompaniment of soiled linen, unblacked shoes and trousers that "bag" at the knee. There are a few words which put the user in one class or the other, as they are used correctly or incorrectly.

Here are some of them "I 'ask' him to go along." "Asked" is right, for the verb is in the perfect tense, and the last word should be omitted.

"Leave him come in," for "let," which means "allow." The two words are not synonymous. "Let your car in my garage," for "I've" which is a permit; an old form of let, meant to hinder—"I would come to you, but was let, hitherto."

Always aspirate the "h" which follows "w." Do not say "wile" for while, "wat" for what, "wele" for wheel or "ware" for where. The "h" was put in those words with purpose.

"Strenth" is an obsolete form of strength, and "lenth", likewise of length.

With "patriot" you may sound the "a" long, as in hate, or short as in hat, and be correct, either way.

"Like" is used in some localities (South), as the synonym for "as though"—"It seems like he would never come." Incorrect, of course.

"Center" is incorrectly used for "middle." Center implies a circumference, which middle does not. (From a morning paper: "The drawing room of the rear car had been reserved for him, but Mr. Coolidge preferred the center of the train.")

"Film" is a one syllable word, not fil-lum. Ath-let-tic is a three syllable word; do not pronounce it ath-a-let-ic by putting in a second "a." Telephone is spelled with "n" not "m"; from the Greek "tele" from afar, and "phonos," a sound.

There is no pedantry in being correct, and since it is easy and mellifluous, and more agreeable to the one addressed, why not be correct, even elegant, in speech?

Old Fashioned Citizen.

Sunday School will meet as usual immediately following the morning worship and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present. Bring the children to the morning service. TIPSY DRIVERS GO TO JAIL

For driving motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor, Lewis Schuck, 38 years old, of 25 South 33rd street, Camden, and James Marshall, 19 years old, of Burlington, each received a sentence of thirty days in the Burlington county jail when arraigned in the Moorestown police court on Saturday.

More such penalties and there will be less drunken driving.

NEW HOME FOR MOORESTOWN BANK

Plans for the new home of the Moorestown Trust Company have been completed by Davis, Dunlap and Harry, architects. Building operations are expected to be started about October 1.

The new building will be erected on the present site of the trust company and the property adjoining it now occupied by the Washington Market and J. Clifford Pitcher, which is owned by the trust company.

The present building is to be demolished. The new one will be colonial in design, forty feet high, with pillars and portico extending to the eaves.

A large colonial doorway will grace the entrance, and the windows, also colonial, will extend almost to the roof. A new vault, larger than the present one, is included in the plans.

MAKING GOOD IN A SMALL TOWN

Real Stories About Real Girls

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

CANARY-CRAFT

THE craze for canaries is an excellent one for the up-and-coming small-town girl to capitalize.

"Because of lack of competition in this country, coupled with a constantly growing demand for the birds, it is easy to make good raising canaries," says a girl who has investigated the subject and, subsequently, has launched herself in this well-paying business. "There are few drawbacks to the business. The canary is a hardy pet, used to captivity, and able to survive with a minimum amount of care. Its breeding requires little capital to start, and the business can be expanded readily, as profits justify it."

The prospective canary producer should, if she is a novice, invest in the common canary of commerce. One male and two females will start a profitable flock.

The amateur breeder should find out all she can from books about breed, classification, varieties, mating, care of nestlings and training of songsters. In general, the prime food requisite of canaries is canary seed to which has been added a small quantity of rape seed and a little hemp. The birds should have opportunity for daily bathing.

During the incubating period, the breeder must take special care of the tiny eggs, as they are exceedingly fragile; and she must see that nothing worries or disturbs the mother bird while sitting. When the nestlings are a month old, a separate cage should be provided for them. The breeder should try to see that the "trainer," the bird who teaches the babies to sing, is a good songster, for upon his "training" depends the quality of the voices of the male birds and, consequently, the prices they will bring. Only the males are songsters.

The novice can hardly hope to compete with the big dealers and breeders. She may, however, easily market her birds by taking them to a pet-stock store in a city, or, if none is nearby, display them in a window in the busiest store in her own town. The immediate sales and the advertising for future sales will more than justify the rent of the window.

Or perhaps you would like to start a bird store? There are many such small establishments scattered over the country. Usually the trade is combined with a business in dogs, guinea pigs, white mice, goldfish, and so on.

Famous Roman Monument

Trajan's column is a superb marble column in Trajan's forum at Rome, erected in 114 A. D., by the senate and the Roman people, to commemorate the victories of Emperor Trajan (98-117 A. D.) over the Dacians, the Kansas City Times tells us. It is 132 feet high and about 12 feet in diameter, and is constructed of 34 blocks of Carrara marble, adorned with sculptures in bas-relief. The summit, which is reached by a spiral staircase of 185 steps, was originally surmounted by a colossal gilded statue of the emperor; but this, having fallen to the ground, was replaced by Pope Sixtus V in the Sixteenth century with one of St. Peter, 11 feet high. The ashes of Trajan rest beneath this column.

Dried Rice Fatal to One Houshold Pest

Whence do all the beetles, ants and flies come that swarm about the house, and particularly in the kitchen and larder? And what is the best way to get rid of them? These two questions are always very much in the minds of householders.

The first is not easy to answer. The intrusiveness of beetles and cockroaches is something uncanny. They are found down deep mines, and they appear in new ships the moment steam is raised. Wherever there is a moist heat there they come quickly.

The entry of ants into a house is often traceable to some opening near the ground, such as a ventilator. Moths come in through the open windows after the lamps are lighted. Windows closed or guarded by mosquito nettings after lighting up time should keep them out.

The ant is, of course, intelligent. But ground rice, it is said, finds his weakness. Sprinkle the rice in his track, and he will eat of it greedily. Then it swells within him and kills him. But the rice must not be thrown down on a wet floor or it will swell before he eats it, and he will come to no harm.

NATHAN HALE AND ALICIA ADAMS

NATHAN HALE died just as he came of age but the fates recompensed him to some extent by allowing him to enjoy six years of love.

When Hale was a youth of fifteen, he met Alicia Adams of his own age, beautiful and clever. Nathan's brother, Enoch, also met Alicia and he, too found her beautiful and clever. The result was that both brothers fell in love with the young girl. Nathan, however, was the favored one and when he left for college, he had the happiness of knowing that his love was reciprocated.

Then something happened which threw a boulder in the path of the youthful lovers. Mamma Adams and sister Adams objected to Nathan and the long wait for his maturity and success in life and their constant persuasions at length had the desired effect. Alicia married an estimable neighbor named Elijah Ripley. She married him with regret and perhaps she was not very sorrowful when Elijah went to the arms of his fathers a year later and left the nineteen-year-old matron a widow.

With Ripley's death, Nathan and Alicia were again drawn towards each other. They became reunited in love and their engagement was formally announced. Then destiny again interfered. Hale joined the army and became one of Washington's most zealous officers. His duty to his country was his paramount thought and no undertaking was too dangerous for him. So it was when Washington asked for a keen-witted officer to send on an important expedition into the enemy's lines, Hale volunteered and was accepted.

The young hero never came back. Disguised as a Dutch schoolmaster, he obtained all the plans and memoranda he was after but as he was returning he was caught. The next morning, without the consolation of a minister or even a Bible, he was hanged, dying with these immortal words on his lips: "I only regret I have but one life to lose for my country!"

The following is a rhymed letter Hale sent to Alicia when the ardor of his love found mere prose inadequate to the expression of his sentiments:

"Alicia, born with striking charm, with the gift to ravish and the heart to warm! Fair is thy form, still fairer in mind, with beauty, wisdom and sweetness joined. . . .

"Oh, friend sincere, of soul divinely great; sheddest thou for me, a wretch, the sorrowed tear—what thanks can I in this unhappy state return to you but gratitude sincere! Ah, dearest girl, in whom the gods have joined the real blessings which themselves approve—can mortals frown at such a heavenly mind when gods propitious shine for thy love?

"Far from the seat of pleasure now I roam; the pleasing landscape now no more I see. Yet absence never shall take my thoughts from home, nor time efface my regard for thee."

Every Inch a Queen.—I took an American girl, writes a correspondent, to watch the procession of the Opening of Parliament. As the Royal coach passed we saw their Majesties very distinctly. My friend was obviously thrilled, and afterwards turned to me and said, in a voice that shrilly broke the silence about us:

"Well, I certainly did get a kick out of Queen Mary."—London Morning Post.

Gibbet Superseded Cross

Crucifixion as a method of punishing criminals remained in force throughout the Roman empire until the early part of the Fourth century. The death by the cross was abolished by the Emperor Constantine and was replaced by the gibbet, which continued as a means of execution until comparatively recent times. It is frequently in the history of England. It was also used as an instrument of punishment in the British colonies and was so employed in the island of Newfoundland, where there are several "Gibbet Hills," marking the site of hangings.

Just Natural.—"Liza, you remind me fo' all the world of brown sugar."

"How come, Sam?"

"You am so sweet and so unrefined."

At the Sunday School service in the Calvary Presbyterian Church, last Sunday morning, Miss Ruth Craft gave a talk. Miss Craft, who is now a missionary to China, and a teacher in the "True Light School," Canton, is a former Palmyra girl. She gave a most interesting talk on her experiences in teaching the Chinese children, and a general idea of her work. She said that the children there were just as much "children" as the kiddies in our land, enjoying about the same things. While Miss Craft was in Riverton she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Datis Reed, of East Main street.

N. E. Beitz Back From Rumania

Palmyra Man Found Many Interesting Things in Europe

According to Nick Beitz who has just returned home after spending eight months in Rumania, about forty per cent. of the people living in the Banat, Rumania, are anxious to come to America.

Nick left America last fall and spent the winter with his parents and relatives in the Banat. In that locality, conditions are rather unsettled and the people are dissatisfied with their lot. In Germany, however, Nick says conditions seem much better. The German people now have their gold marks and the working man receives between sixty and sixty-five marks a week. With these good wages, the working class is beginning to prosper. Nick was accompanied by his wife and their seventeen-year-old son, Eddie.

Last winter, Nick says, his people and their friends would gather around the fireside evenings and listen with great interest to the tales of America. Everyone seemed keen to hear about the "Land of Opportunity" and enthusiastically look forward to the day when they, too, can seek their fortune here.

The trip over was made in ten days. Mr. Beitz and his family were anxious to reach the home of their relatives, so after arriving in France they made a quick trip by train through France, Switzerland, Austria-Hungary and Rumania.

The return trip was made more leisurely. They left the Banat the first of June and spent several days in Budapest, Hungary, visiting the points of interest, including many places made popular by Francis Joseph. They stopped at Vienna and spent three days in the Hunerburg Mountains, in Tyrol, and the city of Zurich, Switzerland, which they consider the prettiest and cleanest city in Europe. From there they journeyed through Germany, spending four days in the vicinity of Berlin, where they greatly enjoyed many sights.

They sailed from Germany on the S. S. Columbus and arrived at Hoboken, July 2. Before they left the ship they were greeted by Thomas and "Wes" Griffenberg, pals of Eddie.

Nick says he is glad to get back home, but hopes to make another trip to the old country. "I'll go over again in four or five years, if I feel like taking another long vacation," said Nick. Nick has repurchased his shoe repair business which he sold to David LaBianco when he left for Europe, and says he is glad to get his old stand back, but is suffering from sore hands just at the present. He says they got rather tender during his eight months' vacation.

Nick brought back many pictures and post card views of Europe and will have them on display at his shop after Friday. Everyone is cordially invited to inspect the collection.

Legends of Gods and Goddesses in Hawaii

Near the city of Hilo, on this island of Hawaii, are the locally celebrated Rainbow falls, around which many legends center, says the Detroit News. One is that the goddess Hina lived underneath the falls in a cave and that the dragon Kunamoo tried to down her by throwing up a dam below the falls. She called for aid to her son Maui, who at the time was trying to lasso the sun at a distant point because of the complaints by the natives of the shortness of the summer season. The fable has it that the son in his canoe crossed the ocean from a near-by island in two strokes and chased the dragon to what is known as the "Boiling Pots," where he threw red-hot stones into the water, scalded the monster and finally killed him.

The Naha stone, one of the historical relics of the Hawaiian islands, is found on the grounds of the Hilo public library. An old prophecy concerning the Naha stone was that he who could move it would be king of the island of Hawaii, but that to him who could overturn it would be given sovereignty over all the islands in the group. Kamehameha the Great, who finally conquered all the other islands, visited the island in his youth to test the efficacy of the prophecy, and, having succeeded in turning the stone, was so inspired that he entered upon the career which ended in the union of all the Hawaiian islands under his control. Native Hawaiians put full faith in the story as having been handed down to them from generations to the days of Kamehameha.

Alas, Quite Uncivilized

If there is any doubt that the inhabitants of New Guinea are uncivilized beings, we need cite only their attitude toward paying taxes—which, according to the Argonaut, is as follows:

Travelers in New Guinea occasionally pick up good stories concerning native manners and peculiarities. A tax collector had an amusing experience when he was on his rounds. He had been to one village to collect taxes, and when he left he was met by the people of a neighboring village.

"What wrong have we done that we should be ignored by the government?" they asked. "Come, we have money; we will show it to you. The idea of those Kereyanu people paying taxes and we not! We are just as proud as they."

The tax collector had to pacify them by taking their money.—Youth's Companion.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

FAITH

FROM a Biblical source comes the charming Faith, which sprang into popular usage during the vogue of Puritanical names. The prevalence of appellatives which denoted abstract virtues marked the beginning of Puritanism in England, and many such names came under the ban from other classes because of the widespread dislike of the "Round Heads."

But the simple beauty of Faith, as well as the divine virtue for which the name was symbol, kept her popularity undimmed. For was she not one of the trio whom St. Paul commends to the Corinthians, saying: "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

The Puritans brought Faith to New England when they migrated from their native land, and the name has been universally popular there, at the same time spreading to other sections of the country. It is one of the few feminine appellatives which cannot be contracted.

The pearl is Faith's talismanic gem. It is a fitting symbol of purity for its wearer who will possess enviable charm and affability and have many friends. Wednesday is her lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

"Fairy Music" May Not Be Mere Imagination

Stories of fairy music in the forest, of haunted waterfalls, and mermaids singing near the seashore, long thought mere figments of the imagination, may have a sound basis in fact. In an issue of Science, Dr. Alexander Forbes of the Harvard medical school reports numerous cases in which trees seem to have separated discordant shouts and noises and given back echoes in musical tones.

"In every case," he says, "the source of the sound—waves on a beach, roar or a river, exhaust of motor boat or discordant human voices—was one in which many pitches were present. Something in the surroundings, usually trees, must have separated the sounds according to pitch, placing those of one pitch in one place and those of another pitch elsewhere. In this respect the phenomenon appears analogous to that of white light being broken up into pure spectral colors by a prism."

This reflection of absorption of sound waves of different pitches, Doctor Forbes explains, is only rarely observed. Sometimes the phenomenon is distinct and clear in one spot, yet a few paces backward or forward only the ordinary noises are heard.

The frequent association of trees with these musical echoes is thought to be due to the lack of uniformity they present as a reflecting surface for the sounds. Each tree apparently sends back part of the sound, and this reflection is boken up into innumerable parts on account of the varying element of distance.

FREAK WEATHER KEEPS TELEPHONE LINES BUSY

Persons Seeking Relief From Heat Telephone Anxious Inquiries to Weather Man.

According to George S. Bliss, Philadelphia's official weather man, the average Philadelphian, and from reports in other localities in the State, the average Pennsylvanian, is so interested in weather conditions and in their effect on his plans for holiday trips and seashore week-ends, that the office force of the Weather Bureau is kept busy answering telephone requests for information.

During the recent hot spell, there were around five hundred telephone calls made daily to the Philadelphia Weather Bureau in the Postoffice Building, said Mr. Bliss. Before holidays and on Thursdays and Fridays in the summer time he found that there was a great increase in the number of telephone calls for tips on the weather. He also said that there was the same curiosity throughout the State in regard to when "relief is expected" and that the telephone was called into use as the quickest way of obtaining the information.

"The hotter the weather, the more calls," said Mr. Bliss. "It gives us as much satisfaction as the person making the inquiry when we can promise relief."

It is estimated that the Philadelphia office handles about 60,000 such calls each year.

THE GOSPEL IN LYSTRA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 14:1-28.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."—Matt. 5:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Heals a Lame Man.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Stoned at Lystra.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Going Forward in the Face of Difficulties.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Tribulations and Triumphs of Missionaries.

I. Paul and Barnabas Preaching at Iconium (vv. 1-7).

Their experience here was similar to that at Antioch. They entered the Jewish synagogue and preached, causing a multitude of Jews and Gentiles to believe. The unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles to the most bitter opposition.

1. Their Manner of Preaching (v. 1).

This is suggested by the little word "so" in verse one. They so spake that a great multitude believed. They were true preachers. Only that which brings conviction of sin and induces decisions for Christ can be truly called preaching in the Biblical sense. It is not enough to merely bring the truth to the people. It must be brought in such a way that men and women will decide for Christ. This is also true of the Sunday school teacher.

2. Their Attitude Towards Opposition (v. 3).

This is suggested by the word "therefore." Long time therefore they tarried. The opposition did not prevent their preaching, but incited them to continue preaching.

3. The Lord Accompanied Their Preaching With Miracles (v. 3).

Since the opposition was so fierce, the Lord granted special help which was needed.

4. The Effect of Their Preaching (v. 4).

The multitude of the city was divided. Where men faithfully preach the gospel, there will be division.

5. Paul and Barnabas Assaulted (vv. 5-7).

The Jews and the Gentiles united in this assault. Being apprised of their effort, they fled to Lystra and Derbe.

II. An Attempt to Worship Paul and Barnabas as Gods (vv. 8-18).

1. The Occasion (vv. 8-10).

It was the healing of the lame man. God's gracious power shown in healing this lame man occasioned a new difficulty. That which ought to have been a help was turned into a hindrance. This was a notable miracle. The man was a confirmed cripple. He had never walked. On hearing Paul preach, faith was born in his heart (Rom. 10-17). When Paul perceived that he trusted Christ, he called with a loud voice that all could hear for the man to stand upright. The cure was instantaneous for he leaped up and walked (v. 10).

2. The Method (vv. 11-13).

Barnabas they called Jupiter and Paul, Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker. The priest of Jupiter brought oxen and garlands ready to offer sacrifice unto these men (v. 13).

3. Their Efforts Frustrated (vv. 14-18).

This foolish act was happily averted by the tact of the apostles.

(1) They denied that they were divine beings, and declared that to worship beings with like passions to themselves was criminal.

(2) They directed the people to turn away from these vain things unto the living God who made heaven and earth, and has left witness of Himself in that He has always done good, giving rain and fruitful seasons, and filling their hearts with gladness.

III. The Stoning of Paul (vv. 19-22).

Wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium pursued Paul with relentless hate to this place where they stirred up the very people who were willing to worship them a little while before. This shows that satanic worship can soon be turned into satanic hate. This hatred took form in stoning Paul and dragging him out of the city for dead. God raised him up, and with undaunted courage, he pressed on with his missionary duties, bearing the good tidings to the lost.

IV. The Organization of Churches in the Field (vv. 23-28).

Evangelization with Paul did not mean a hasty and superficial preaching of the gospel, but the establishment of a permanent work. Elders were appointed in every church. The work of the missionary is not done until self-governing and self-propagating churches are established on the field.

Seeing Christ in Men

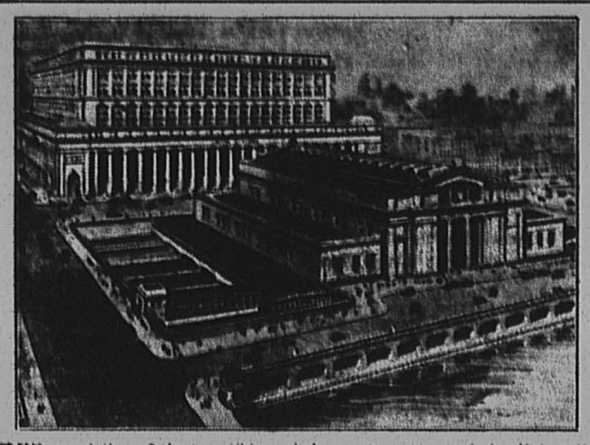

St. Vincent de Paul made it a rule of his life to be always looking for the Christ in every man he saw or met. When that is a master-thought in anyone, in that person all men see Christ.—Dr. R. F. Horton.

Our Destiny

We make our destiny by our thinking, and the only determinism in nature is furnished by the verdict of the mind. The course of history is the course of thought.—Harold Begbie.

Latest Triumph in Railroading

THE completion of the new Chicago Union Station marks a noteworthy accomplishment in the history of important engineering undertakings, from which travelers from all parts of the United States will derive pleasure and benefit.

The station is without doubt one of the finest and most efficiently designed railroad terminals in the world. It forms a vital link in the realization of the "Chicago City Beautiful Plan." Simplicity, accessibility and convenience for the traveling public are the essential virtues of the new terminal. Rest and recreation rooms, ticket offices, barber shop, dining rooms, stores of various kinds, and almost every convenience known to travelers, are to be found on the one level, no steps to climb.

The main station is a low monumental type of building with a row of massive columns of classic design along the entire east front. Once inside, the traveler finds himself in a gigantic waiting room more than 100 feet high and brilliantly lighted through skylights in the great arch ceiling. Colonnades inclose the room, the walls of which are patterned after the architecture of ancient Rome. Bordering this room are the ultra-complete passenger terminal facilities. An innovation in railway terminal design is a conference room accommodating 125 people, which is available, without charge, to patrons of the Union Station lines for conferences and other meetings.

To give some idea of the immensity of the new station, it may be stated that the main building covers an area of about three acres with a concourse covering 60,000 square feet. The entire terminal facilities cover more than 35 acres and will expedite the prompt and satisfactory handling of 50,000 passengers, 400 tons of baggage and 300 trains daily with room for future expansion. Fifteen acres of glass were used in the various coverings over the train sheds, which extend more than 1,200 feet beyond the main structure. A total of 17,000 tons of structural steel, 175,000 cubic feet of Indiana limestone and 10,000 cubic feet of granite were used in the station building and concourse. The foundation consists of 449 cylindrical concrete piers from four to ten feet in diameter, reaching to a depth of more than 60 feet below the level of the Chicago river.

Those who have had the privilege of inspecting the new station pronounce it a marvel in terminal construction and are urging their friends to see it on their next visit to Chicago.

The station is used jointly by the Pennsylvania Railroad; Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry.; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R., and the Chicago & Alton R. R.

AT CAMP SILZER

114th Infantry Enjoying Its Two Weeks of Summer Training

Machine Gun Company M, of Mount Holly, in command of Captain Robert Peacock and Lieutenant Harry Stanley, with a full quota of sixty-three men, entrained for Sea Girt Saturday morning, where they joined the rest of the 114th New Jersey Infantry under the command of Colonel Edward B. Stone. They will be away fifteen days.

Lieutenant Clifford D. Cain, planning and training officer of Colonel Stone's staff, left on Friday.

The soldier boys are anxious that the public should know that army rations, at the best, are far from satisfying to home-fed boys, and any of their friends who would like to see that they get some good things to eat should forward them to the armory in Mount Holly.

Camp Silzer officially opened on Wednesday of last week under the supervision of Colonel E. A. Shuttleworth, chief of staff of the Seventy-eighth Division, and there will be week-end conferences of regular army men and guard officers during the Camp between the one hundred and fifty officers who will be stationed there.

In addition, close to two hundred medical officers arrived at Camp last Saturday.

The 113th Infantry will follow the 114th, and also have two weeks at the Camp.

If no one ever calls you by your first name there's something wrong with you.

ORFE THIEF CAUGHT

Colored Lad Who Stole $133 Is Put on Probation

Gufrix M. Still, a ten-year-old colored boy of Beverly, pleaded guilty in Mount Holly court last week to stealing $133 from the coat of Joseph P. Orfe, a Beverly contractor, while the coat hung on the hood of his car. At the time of the theft the car was standing in front of the Beverly bank.

The boy, who appeared very penitent, was put on probation and given two months in which to pay the costs of $15.

Elwood Watts, another colored boy from Burlington and about ten years old, was charged with entering the store of Loring S. Borton in that city and getting away with about $8, but Elwood was not so sure that he did it and pleaded not guilty.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

UPLAND SOLITUDES

IT IS becoming a mooted question among observing educators as to whether our present-day diversions do not often dwarf the budding intellects of the young and carry them far afield in the wrong direction.

With the possible exception of music, the universal language, our entertainments, as a rule, have become mere frivolities, appealing to the baser passions, the redeeming features in almost all cases being the superb stage settings.

With their deft brushes the scenery painters seem to be doing more for the elevation of the mind than the wielders of the stage pen.

Without the exquisite scenes many of our popular plays would indeed become miserable makeshifts, incapable of holding the boards a fortnight.

The fine art of acting is being relegated to the past. There is a craving for the gross, glaring, flagrant and thumping, rather than for the refined, uplifting and ennobling, doubtless due to perverted tastes and cravings for sensationalism and excitement.

The intermediate colors and fine shadings of the older school have given way to higher tones whose intensities and limits have about been reached.

Just what will follow cannot be guessed, except to hint in a vague way that this modern tower of Babylon will some day suddenly topple over, tumble noisily at our feet and leave us babbling in strange tongues, wondering what confusion means!

There is in the human heart an everlasting yearning for something new, and no one apparently knows what to suggest.

It is just possible that we need now, more than anything else, the upland solitudes, where we may get in the pure, clear atmosphere and reflect awhile without molestation from the crude scarlet letters and blinding lights which have warped our judgment and dulled our finer sensibilities.

We need these upland solitudes far more often than we may suspect, for it is among them that we gather new strength for the higher duties of life, a keener conception of our infirmities, a deeper realization of our lack of human kindness and a sickening sense at the loss of our faith in the good, the clean, the noble and in humanity itself!

A LINE OF CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

A WORD FROM SPRING

A GENTLE breeze came whispering by today,
And paused a moment on its laughing way.
"I'm just in from the South," it said, "and I
Have stopped to tell you that the spring is nigh,
And all her styles
Are based on smiles;
And when she comes her panniers will be full
Of blossoms fragrant and delectable;
And in her train a gay and choral throng
Of happy birds will wing their way along;
And brand new leaves to clothe the naked trees
She'll bring and spread as lavish as you please;
And all the country o'er
Her flowers will dance as on a ballroom floor,
That all may know in these dark days of dread
That Youth, and Grace, and Beauty are not dead,
But with us still,
For man to make such use of as he will."

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

A LETTER A DAY

I HAVE never known anyone who seemed to have a greater hold on his friends than Brayton—old or young. If he ever made a friend he seemed to keep him. No matter how far gone a young fellow might be on the road to ruin, if Brayton got after him, his reform seemed certain.

"How do you do it?" I asked him once, and he told me.

It was his theory, a theory that would work I feel sure, quite as well in the business affairs of a man as in the development of character, that most that we say to men, especially to young men, loses largely in its effect unless there is a follow-up of some sort. We easily forget what is said, but we can recur innumerable times to what is written. Every day he write a letter to someone upon whom he wished to exercise a personal influence or whose friendship he wished to cultivate or to strengthen. These letters were always personal letters written in long hand usually on the best stationery that Brayton could buy. So far as possible they were written at strategic times when they were most likely to have the maximum effect.

For instance, Brayton for a long time had been trying to help Corlis in his efforts to break away from the drink habit which had well-nigh ruined him. The boy had given the older man his promise that he would drink no more, but the temptations to break this promise were tremendous. It was on the last day of the year that Brayton's letter came to him when invitations to go out were crowding on him and liquor was beginning to flow like water. He would never have been able to resist the burning desire and insistent urging of his alleged friends had it not been for the courage that the letter from his old friend gave him.

Charters lying in a hospital in France with his body shattered and his courage gone got a letter from Brayton at the critical moment and took heart again.

"I believe I should have given up entirely," he said afterward, "if it had not been for the friendly word that came just as it did."

It took little time, Brayton admitted, before breakfast, after dinner, or at luncheon time. Five minutes would do it if the materials were at hand, and by this simple means friendships were cemented, faltering courage was revived, ambitions were stimulated, resolutions were strengthened, and force was added to precepts which had already been presented in spoken words. It did not matter that many of these letters, most of them in fact, were never acknowledged, it was his letter a day that helped to make Brayton a vital living influence.

DELANCO LOSES

County Champs Defeated 9-7 at Burlington

Delanco, first half champions of the Burlington County League, was forced to acknowledge defeat in a one-sided game played at Burlington Saturday.

Wentz Foster, the Burlington pitching ace, who developed a flock of boils early in the season, was on the mound again and certainly was in fine form.

Wilson started on the mound for Delanco, but was upset by the batting game of Burlington and had to be replaced by Hansbury after score of 6-4 was reached by the eighth inning. Hansbury allowed the outsiders to get three more runs making the final score 9-7.

J. Shaw and Kalbach were the individual stars for Delanco and Doyle and Moore lead the batters for Burlington.

We hear people in these days denying the supernatural. It is a little as if the planets should proclaim that there is no such thing as space, or as if the rivers should declare that there is no such thing as matter. COUNTY NOTES

A large barn on the Joseph Tallman farm, owned by William Bodine and occupied by William Alloway, between Bustleton and Columbus, was struck by lightning last week and burned, together with this season's crops of hay and grain, entailing a loss of about $15,000.

An old barn on the Clem. Rockhill place, near Columbus, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed last week.

There was no crops in the barn, but several pieces of farm machinery that were stored in the building were burned with it.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

Delanco Youth Rescues Riverside Lad at Sylvan Lakes

Joseph Hafner, 18 years old, Fairview street, Riverside, was rescued from drowning Friday evening by Bernard McCormick, 20 years old, of Delanco, when the canoe in which they were paddling in Sylvan Lakes, Burlington, upset.

Hafner, who is unable to swim, and McCormick were attempting to race against a canoe occupied by a number of friends when their canoe upset in the middle of the lake.

Hafner had gone down when McCormick dived for him and brought him to the surface only to have his grip broken by Hafner's struggles. Undaunted, McCormick seized Hafner again and, holding him with one hand, he righted the canoe with the other while hundreds of people thronged the shores and watched the thrilling rescue.

The two youths were brought to shore by the occupants of the other canoe and later in the evening Hafner was removed to his home none the worse for his experience.

Sylvan Lakes has been the scene of a number of fatalities during the past few years.

A parting word, a last caress,
A deep regretful sigh—
Then all too soon, in lands afar,
The welcome that we find
Bids us forget how fond we are
Of those we leave behind.

But sometime in the lives of all,
No matter where we roam,
We'll hear again the faithful call
Of those old friends at home.
And then it is that memory
With tender touch will play
Some old familiar melody—
A song of yesterday.

And with that song to guide our feet
To haunts we used to know
We'll yet find time—perhaps—to greet
Those friends of long ago.
Their cordial smiles will show how well
Their hearts have stood the test
Of our neglect. Then can we tell
Why old-time friends are best!

YOUR Last Name

IS IT SEWALL?

THE New England Sewalls and Sewells have the satisfaction of knowing that they were descended from Henry Sewall, mayor of Coventry, England, in 1600. His son, Henry Sewall, came to New England and settled in Newberry, Massachusetts, in 1634. By his wife Jane Drummer he had a son named Samuel Sewall who was one of the most interesting of the Massachusetts colonists of his day. He gives an excellent chance to know him in his famous diary which recounts with quaintness, humor and rare truthfulness the details of his courtship in later life.

His first wife was Judith Quincy Hall and when he was married to her Governor Bradstreet performed the ceremony. It was on this occasion that the bride's father presented the young bridegroom with a chest full of pine tree shillings equaling the bride in weight.

At his second marriage Samuel's own son officiated.

Samuel Sewell was one of the judges who took an active part in condemning the witches. Later he saw the error of his ways and did not hesitate to confess his error and lament over the action he had taken. It was his custom to spend frequent days in prayer and fasting by way of repenting for his action in the witchcraft trials, although he undoubtedly acted according to his best judgment at the time.

Samuel Sewell made large bequests to Harvard. Joseph Sewell, one of his descendants, declined the presidency of Harvard in 1724, and Joseph's grandson, named Samuel, was member of congress from Massachusetts.

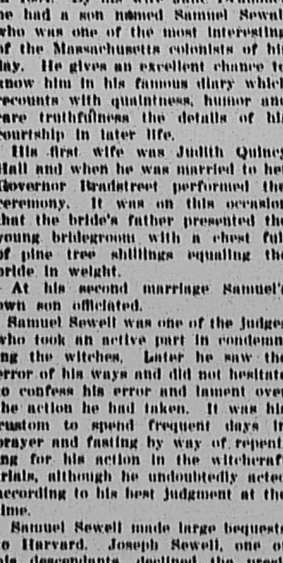

Jonathan Sewell, born in 1700, chief justice of Lower Canada, was a member of this family; born at Cambridge, Massachusetts, he spent his boyhood in England and from thence went to Canada.

The name is usually spelled here Sewall although it is said that at the time of the Revolution members of the family who remained loyal took the spelling Sewell. Apparently most of them were revolutionists for the spelling Sewell is very rare here.

One of the earliest of the name in England was Sewall de Sovill, archbishop of York.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

By JOSEPH KAYE

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

ROBERT BROWNING AND ELIZABETH BARRETT

THE Brownings, both Mr. and Mrs., equally famous as poets, established a record for love letters which is well-nigh unapproachable. In a little less than six months they wrote to each other a quarter of a million words, enough to make four ordinary novels. The letters were written generally daily, and often twice daily, and each elicited a passionate reply. The following is a sample from Browning:

"You are the most entirely lovable I ever dreamed perhaps might be in a better world—altogether made up of affectionateness and generosity. I do not much fear, now, I shall ever offend you—in the miserable way of giving you direct offence which mortal will and endeavor could avert . . . but at present I almost love even the apprehension that I may be found out to be useless, too unworthy in the end; let it be said so, since I feel it so, my own Ba! ('Ba' was Browning's tender appellation for Miss Barrett). I love this, because your dear love seems fit to cover any imperfection of mine; I dare say you do not see them as you say—but you will, perhaps, and then I trust to the love wholly. I want forms, ways of expressing my devotion to you—but such as I am, all is yours. . . .

"Are you out today, beloved? It is very warm; be careful, like the dearest Ba you are! And kiss me as I kiss you . . . all except the adoration which is mine indefeasibly.

"May God bless you ever for your very own."

To which Elizabeth Barrett answered that very same evening:

"My own dearest, who are never to offend me!—And true, that is—because I have tried, before now, to be offended and could not . . . being under a charm. So it is not my fault, but yours, that never you see me angry. . . .

"How I think of you, and, in every thought, love you! Yes, surely I can love you as if I were worthier! and better, perhaps, than if I were better . . . though that may sound like a riddle. And, dear dearest, why do you talk of your faults so? It is not all gracious of you indeed. You are on a high hill above me where I cannot reach your hand (in the myths, be it understood), and you sigh and say querulously . . . 'By the by I may have to step down lower.' Now is that gracious of you, or worthy of your usual chivalry? . . ."

There is much more to this letter, about a thousand words more, but the quotation is a sufficient sample of the involved phraseology, overdrawn sentiment and extravagant punctuation with which the Browning-Barrett letters are colored.

The Brownings were married when he was thirty-four and she forty. Mrs. Barrett was always in delicate health and most of their time was passed in Italy, where they led a most blissful life.

Financial or Otherwise?

The tongues of the gossips were busy in the suburban town, over the latest marriage. "Have you seen the bride?" asked one. "Has her husband any money?"

"I don't know about that," replied the other with some reluctance, "you know he didn't live here."

"Well," said the first speaker, "you know she said she never would marry a poor man."

"I know, my dear, but she hasn't been married a month, yet everybody is saying, 'poor man.'"

MAKING GOOD IN A SMALL TOWN

Real Stories About Real Girls

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

THE GOLDFISH GIRL

MOST popular and profitable of all aquarium fish is a little one of alluring name and attractive covering—the goldfish.

Here's why. The goldfish is easy to keep and not difficult to breed; and, while the rarer kinds are expensive, the common varieties, with which the novice must content herself, can be had for ridiculously small sums. A girl goldfish keeper, who has been graduated after several years to the stage where she is satisfied only with rare and fancy fish, is my informant.

"There are goldfish and goldfish," she declared, "and there are progressive stages in keeping them. After a time, one is satisfied only with the expensive kinds, which are most interesting and pay best.

The goldfish-girl-to-be must first of all provide for the fish a tank that is as wide at the top as it is at the bottom—because the fish must have plenty of air. She must remember that goldfish heaven is filled with fish whose keepers thought they fed it fresh water every day. For, in what is known as a properly "balanced" aquarium, fresh water must be added only occasionally. The keeper secures this desirable "balance" by having in her aquarium living plants of the kind that will furnish the oxygen the fish require, and will absorb the carbonic-acid gas the fish give off.

After the tank has been arranged for several days, and the water is warm and the plants rooted, the keeper may introduce the fish with a little net, one at a time. If at any time she sees a fish swimming near the surface and making a peculiar clucking sound, there is not enough oxygen—the tank is over-crowded.

The aquarium should have an east window, if possible, since goldfish thrive in morning light. A little sun light is beneficial, too, but too much is injurious.

The dealer who sells the original stock to the keeper may agree to buy back all her surplus. Or, she may be able to sell to a pet-stock store in a nearby city. If not, she may rent a window in the busiest store of her own town, and display her pets in it. She should "talk up" her hobby among her friends, and should carry an advertisement in the local papers.

When the goldfish girl can raise and sell large quantities of common goldfish successfully—then and then only it will be time for her to indulge in the fancier (and incidentally much more "finicky") types of fish.

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN

The bear went over the mountain
And what do you think he saw?
The other side of the mountain
And that was what he saw.

WE WERE climbing to the Key Hole of Longs Peak, had crossed the bowlder field, and were toiling over the great jagged rocks that must be scaled before one gets the indescribable view that stretches out interminably grand as one climbs through the narrow opening between the overhanging rocks.

It was the children who were shouting the rhythmical lines. They were after adventure, they were looking for new sensations, they were conquering a new world, it was the novelty of a new scene which lured them on. They were not satisfied with things as they are.

It is a common point of view to want to know what is on the other side of the mountain. It is this spirit of curiosity and adventure that has discovered new worlds, new inventions, new processes. It has brought men strange experiences, strange bed-fellows, wonderful adventures, and yet—

Benton was lucky, the neighbors said. His father had left him a sizable fortune, and he had made another himself before he was forty, and set off to see what was on the other side of the mountain. He visited nearly every country in Asia, he saw all the glories of Egypt, and wandered aimlessly through the cities of Europe—London, Vienna, Paris, Florence, Rome—he knew them all like a book. He had seen everything in the world that was curious or beautiful, and for twenty years or more he had lived in Italy—the nearest to terrestrial heaven that mortal man may get, I think.

And now, it was announced, he was coming home, coming home to the simple country village of his childhood, and coming home to die. He had seen the other side of the mountain and now with all the world before him, the things that drew him most were his old friends, the boys, grown old now, with whom he had associated in childhood, the quiet simple village life with which he was familiar when he went to school, the memory of his early struggles and triumphs. The little village church satisfied him more completely than the Taj Mahal or the cathedral at Milan.

We had enjoyed the glorious view that stretched out in unbelievable grandeur from the Key Hole; we had tramped back the long miles to the inn at the foot of the mountain; we had seen wonderful things on the other side.

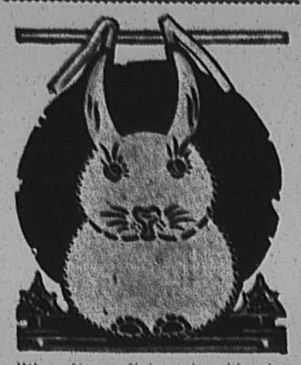

"Isn't it good to get home again," the children said, as tired and footsore they came to their own little cottage.

Gift for the Baby

When Mister Baby takes his place at the table a bib of some kind becomes a necessity. Here is one that will please him. It may be made of unbleached cotton, white oilcloth or linen, cut in the semblance of a rabbit. Oilcloth may be painted, but usually cotton floss is used to outline the features and the edges of the figure.

When to Retire

"A man should not retire until he is more than a hundred or is incapable mentally or physically of doing his job," says Dr. E. J. Skade-King, almost a hundred, who has refused to resign as medical officer of health of Ilfracombe, Devon. "I am hale and hearty and do my work every day," he told civic authorities. "Age is largely a mental state, and my mental state is fine."

THE QUESTION BOX

Abyssinian War

Student, Bridgeboro Street—What was the Abyssinian war?

Ans. This war was between the British and Theodore, King of Abyssinia. An expedition for the release of Missionaries (Captain Crawford and others) as under Sir R. Napier, who joined the army at Senafe in January 1868. On April 10, Colonel Phayre defeated Theodore at Magdola, which was bombarded and taken on April 13. The return of the British army commenced April 18, 1868.

Gold Discovered in 1848

Prospector, Midway—Who first discovered gold in California and when? Was it a state then?

Ans. Gold was first discovered at Sutter's Mill by J. W. Marshall in 1848 when the total white population was about 15,000. Immigration from all parts of the world soon increased this to a quarter of a million, and on Sept. 9, 1850 the state was admitted to the union.

Copperhead Most Dangerous

Tramper, Cinnaminson Street—Which is the most poisonous and dangerous snakes in America the rattlesnake or the copperheads.

Ans. The rattlesnake is considered the deadliest poison, but the copperhead is the most dangerous, because it give no warning of its attack, and is therefore, the type of a concealed foe. The rattlesnake give warning befor it strikes.

Origin of Gypsies Uncertain

Juanita, River Bank—Did the Gypsies come from Egypt? If not, please state where?

Ans. Many suppose them to be Egyptians, but their origin is uncertain. They are a peculiar vagabond race that appeared in England about the Sixteenth century and in eastern Europe at least two centuries earlier. They are now found in every country of Europe, Asia, Africa and America.

Not "Pure" Gold

Cashier, Broad Street—I wish to ask you if money is made of pure gold? If not what is it made of, and is it as vaduable as pure gold?

Ans. The gold coins of most countries are alloyed with some other metals (generally copper) to harden them. The amount of the alloy is generally fixed by law. In the United States it is nine-tenths copper and one-tenth silver; in England one-twelfth is used. Pure gold is a little more valuable than alloyed gold.

Telephones Very Handy

Henpecked, Palmyra—Why are so many men afraid to talk back to their wives?

Ans. Because there are so many that haven't telephones.

Horoscope for June 5, 1913

Anxious, Main Street—I would like to ask in your Query and Answer Column what day I was born on and my horoscope? The date was June 5, 1913.

Ans. June 5, 1913, was on Thursday. Those born at this time make good business men. They are keen to observe what they can buy and sell at a profit. Follow a line of business that suits the fancy and then cultivate.

—And the Grit

Graduate, East Riverton—I would like to know if any person at twenty years of age can start in business like buying stock, etc.? If not, why?

Ans. Yes. If you have the consent of your parents or guardians.

Not Written—Yet

"Pat," Bridgeboro—Will you please quote Robert Emmet's epitaph?

Ans. The epitaph of Robert Emmet, the Irish revolutionist, has never been written, as a tribute to him in his speech from the scaffold when he was executed. In concluding his memorable speech at that time, he said: "When Ireland takes her place among the nations of the world, then—and not until then—let my epitaph be written."

Yellow For Mourning

G. D., Riverside—Why do they wear yellow for mourning instead of black in Egypt and China?

Ans. Yellow is the Egyptian mourning color because it represents the color of leaves when they fall and denotes that death is the end of all human hopes. Blue or violet is the Chinese mourning color—not yellow.

Garden of Eden

Adam, Highway—To settle an argument will you kindly state where the Garden of Eden was or is located?

Ans. The Garden of Eden, the first abode of man, was supposed to be located near the city of Babylon.

Alphabetical Fish.—Mr. Levy brought a bowl of goldfish home to his boy, Able, and the following brief and illuminating colloquy ensued:

"A B C D goldfish."

RIVERTON C. OF C. LAUNCHES DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Twenty-Eight Members Sign Up Tuesday Night, Following Inspiring Talk by William Vandegrift

The Riverton Chamber of Commerce is an assured fact.

By the unanimous vote of the thirty business men and women who attended the meeting in the fire house Tuesday night, it was so decided. This action was taken after William Vandegrift, who has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce ever since it was organized five years ago, had briefly outlined a few of the many things accomplished through the influence of that body, and explained how to proceed to organization.

William H. Albertson, temporary president, and Corner Clelland, temporary secretary, were asked to continue in office until the permanent officers are elected later on, and to the duties of secretary Clelland was added that of treasurer. The dues will be $15.00 a year, payable in advance, yearly, semi-yearly or quarterly.

After some discussion, it was decided to open the membership to residents, as well as business men and women in Riverton and Cinnaminson Township.

The slogans submitted in the slogan contest did not develop anything that was thought to be just suitable for the purpose, and the contest will remain open until the next meeting, which will be held August 3, so that everyone still has a chance at the prize of $5.00 which will be given for the slogan that is accepted and adopted for use. Contestants should bear in mind that the limit is three words, although, if the slogan was particularly good, four or five words might be permitted. If longer than that, the slogan would be too cumbersome to be effective.

President Albertson reiterated the statement made at the previous meeting that the main object of organizing a Chamber of Commerce was to boost Riverton, not any individual business. He said that if we can secure a bigger, better Riverton, then it is up to the individual to get his share of the increased business.

There was a spirited discussion on the annual dues, whether or not the membership should be limited strictly to those doing business in Riverton, and kindred subjects, participated in by Joseph M. Roberts, Samuel MacMullin, William Lynch, Ross Mattis, Dr. Harry L. Rogers and others.

At the close of the meeting those present were given an opportunity to sign up as members, which they all did with the exception of two who were obliged to leave before the meeting closed. The new treasurer had over $100.00 dues with which to open the account for the Chamber of Commerce in the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company, Wednesday morning.

In his remarks, Mr. Vandegrift pointed out that the organization of the Chamber of Commerce in Burlington had met with considerable opposition. The newspaper there and the bank were among those who opposed the move. Now both are members of and enthusiastics rooters for the organization

At the close of Mr. Vandegrift's address Karl Latch proposed a rousing vote of thanks and the speaker tried to wave it aside, but President Albertson said, "I know, Bill, but it's form."

President Albertson appointed a committee of J. M. Coddington, Walter L. Bowen, Theodore Schneider, Ross Mattis, Samuel MacMullin, and C. W. Ludlow to prepare membership cards and select teams for the membership drive. These cards were prepared on Wednesday and placed in the hands of the teams Wednesday night.

The next meeting will be held in Collins' Hall, Monday evening, August 3.

It is not to be expected that the Riverton Chamber of Commerce will be entirely free from difficulties and perils that have beset similar organizations in the beginning, but if the enthusiasm of those who attended Tuesday night's meeting is to be taken as an indiction, it will, at least get away to a good start, which is half the battle.

Those who signed up as members Tuesday night were: Theobold Schneider, Karl W. Latch, E. E. Compton, Lawrence Keating, John Keating, John Geiss, Samuel MacMullin, Ross Mattis, August H. Weber, Will K. Bowen, William B. Lynch, Thomas J. Lloyd, Frank Cole, C. W. Ludlow, R. H. Clelland, Joseph M. Roberts, Alexander Cole, Lindley C. Robbins, William H. Albertson, J. M. Coddington, Ogden Mattis, John W. Carhart, Herbert Evans, Walter L. Bowen, Armitage & Clelland, Edward R. Williams.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN

Expert Cracksmen Poorly Repaid at Williams' Coal Yard

Harry B. Williams, the coal dealer, has at last given up the idea of locating the burglar who went to the trouble to blow open the safe in his office in West Palmyra week before last and then take only what spare change could be found, which amounted to less than five dollars.

Palmyra police, assisted by a private detective hired by Mr. Williams investigated the case but were unable to locate the cracksman, whose work resembled that of a professional.

Entrance to the office was gained through a side door, evidently by the use of a skeleton key. The safe was blown open very skillfully with the use of nitroglycerine, so that not a single clue was left behind.

It is supposed that the safe-blower wore gloves, for not even finger prints could be found.

The safe contained many valuable papers of Mr. Williams' business and the small amount of change. Only the money was taken and the rest remained untouched. The cracksman was not familiar with Mr. Williams' business methods, or he would have known that there would not be enough money in the safe to even pay him for his trouble, for Mr. Williams only uses it to insure the safety of his documents in case of fire.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

This Friday evening the Christian Endeavor Society and its friends will take an outing to Alcyon Park. Buses will leave the Church at 7 o'clock.

Also on Friday evening the Samaritan Class baseball team will play the Methodists at the Field Club grounds. Nearly everybody in the Church should be at either one or the other of Friday evening's events.

Pastor Blaser's topic for Sunday morning will be "The Life That Wins" and at the Twilight Service he will speak on "Marching Orders For the Day." While the pastor's vacation begins the first of August, Mr. Blaser will be at the Church to serve Communion August 2nd. During the remaining Sundays in August the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. Frank Wood, of Camden.

Great plans are in progress to celebrate the Church's fortieth anniversary in November. Mr. McCormick is chairman of the general committee. It is hoped that a big feature of the anniversary will be the breaking of ground for the new Church building. Over $11,000 has now been subscribed toward the $25,000 goal and interest should increase every week as the anniversary plans progress.

The committee will be thankful for any and all suggestions that organizations and individual members of the Church have to offer.

Is Enthusiastic Over Florida

Robert C. Bitting Returns With Glowing Account of Prospects There

Robert C. Bitting returned last Thursday on the S. S. Berkshire after spending three weeks investigating business conditions in Miami, Florida. Like the rest of us, Mr. Bitting had heard of the wonderful boom Miami is experiencing, so decided to take a few weeks' vacation and look into the matter.

Now the electrical contractor is just as enthusiastic about Florida as any of the "old timers" there, or a real estate agent. He says the climate is wonderful, no humidity, temperature never goes above 86 degrees and very rarely drops below 70 in the winter. In fact, says Mr. Bitting, he has found it warmer in Palmyra than it was during his stay in Miami.

It is all that is claimed of it. Miami is the "magic city," growing like wildfire, asserts the new enthusiast. Mr. Bitting bought some property in the second subdivision of Grapeland Heights, which is on the outskirts of Miami, but is destined, within the next ten years, to be the hub of this growing metropolis. It is situated within twelve minutes ride of the present center of the city.

As an example of the way property moves there, Mr. Bitting says the land in the second subdivision was worth over three million dollars and sold in less than three weeks. Since then announcement has been made that a railroad will run from West Palm Beach to Grapeland Heights and the property has increased over two hundred per cent. in three weeks. In fact, he had several offers for his land that would net profit to exceed that.

Since the second subdivision has been sold, another was started and according to a special delivery letter received by Mr. Bitting Tuesday, that has more than half sold. And it will probably be gone inside of another week.

The average salesman for real estate concerns will make in the neighborhood of five hundred dollars a week. Everything is being done on a big scale, in fact one has to pay fifty dollars a week for a desirable room. Houses are occupied in less than six weeks after they are started.

Mr. Bitting says Robert Post, a former resident of Palmyra, recently completed and sold a million dollar hotel. Earl Harker and Clement B. Horn, both former residents, have "cleaned up big" in Florida real estate.

Then He Shot Him

"He makes his money go farther than any man I ever knew."

"Well—some people are born that way."

"Yes—he was born in Siberia—and every every week he mails his money home."

Washington sends out the information that the cost of state government in this country has doubled in five years. One of the sad things in this connection is that although the government is twice as expensive it is not twice as good—Detroit Free Press.

Finger Assails Town Officials

New Egypt Pastor Declares Authorities Are Mixed Up in Law Violations

Branding his recent arrest on a charge of embezzling church funds as a notorious "frame-up" and attempt to "get" him, Rev. Elmer Finger, pastor of New Egypt Methodist Church Sunday night assailed his accusers in a bitter attack before a congregation of 500 persons. Klansmen from four counties assembled at the little church as a testimonial to Mr. Finger, who is Kleagle of the Ocean County Klan.

The minister was particularly bitter in his denunciation of law enforcement in the borough. He charged that drunken drivers had broken the concrete curb around his church and that his complaint to the authorities had been ignored. He declared that his arrest came as the result of his campaign in the town to "down the bootleggers, make men stick to their own wives and let other men's wives alone, and clean up in general."

Trouble began, Mr. Finger said, when Justice of the Peace Joseph Asson attended services at the Methodist church on one occasion when the pastor delivered some rather sharp criticism about the way things in New Egypt are being run. Mr. Finger says the Justice took his remarks to heart and got "sore." The pastor declared that the authorities not only knew that vice was rampant in New Egypt, but that some of them were so mixed up with it that they were powerless to act.

Mr. Finger said his arrest on charges of embezzling $150 of the Collier's Mills church funds will amount to nothing and he told his congregation that the complainant in the case, 'Squire Asson, wouldn't be in office after his present term expired.

Klansmen gathered at the meeting in large numbers and that they had faith in their Kleagle was evidenced by the fact that they contributed more than $150 to a collection to aid Mr. Finger in his legal fight. Kleagle James R. Bennett, of Columbus, spoke for the pastor, urging the good people of New Egypt to back him in his battle to prove his innocence. Bennett declared that he had found evidence to prove that Mr. Finger's arrest was a "dirty, low-down contemptible attempt to besmirch an innocent man."

COUNTY COURT

Judge Slaughter had punishment on his calendar for dealing with the offenders appearing before him at last week's session of court, every fellow coming up getting something that will make him remember this judgment day.

James Richards, who forged the name of Prosecutor George M. Hillman to some checks that he presented at Mount Holly stores on May 16, pleaded guilty and he was sentenced to serve ten months in the county jail, which was perhaps a light sentence considering the nature of the crime.

Elwood Anderson and Robert Bowker, both of New Lisbon, and both 21 years of age, pleaded guilty to recently stealing the Ford automobile belonging to George Vorden, of Jobstown, while it was parked on Mill street, Mount Holly. Judge Slaughter gave Anderson from one to three years in the state prison. Bowker was a first offender in such a serious matter so far as is known and he was given six months in the county jail. Anderson has been a horse thief, a barn burner, a chicken thief and a robber.

John Hutchins, nineteen years, and Elwood Watts, thirteen years, both of Burlington, were before the Court on a charge of breaking into the store of Loring S. Borton, of Burlington, and stealing some money. They pleaded guilty. Inquiry brought out the fact that Hutchins was the motive power in the entire transaction and he was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

Watts, viewed as a victim of circumstances, was let off with a suspension of sentence and put on probation for two years.

AUTOMOBILIST FINED

Officer Lawrence Betty, of the Palmyra police force jumped on the running board of a passing automobile and gave chase up Broad street after an automobilist who had failed to head the officer's whistle Sunday.

The machine was stopped at Broad and Thomas avenue, Riverton, and Officer Betty arrested the driver, who gave his name as Russell Dryer, of Philadelphia, and took him before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter. Justice Fichter fined the offender five dollars.

This is the only arrest the police had to make during the traffic rush over the weekend. One other driver had to pay the costs when he ran his machine into a traffic sign.

VALUABLE DOGS POISONED

Two prize police dog pups belonging to Leon Sloan, were found dead Sunday morning, and the appearance of the dogs indicated that they had been poisoned. Mr. Sloan had the internals of one of the dogs examined by a veterinary and he said that it looked to him like bicloride of mercury poisoning.

RIVERTON LOSES 2-0

Burlington Defeats Hubbs Nine in Close Game

Riverton was shut out 2-0 at Burlington in the Burlington County Baseball League race last Saturday afternoon. The game was tight from start to finish and the score board was almost all goose eggs. The only time it took a change was in the sixth when Sholl, Burlington's shorstop, socked a homer with one on.

Both pitchers were working to perfection nad the hits of both nines only filled the unit column. Conrey, the Burlington tosser, came through with a slight advantage over Herbt. Conrey was hit four times, fanned six and passed two. Herbert allowed five hits, struck out the same number and passed three.

Lody Orcutt, the erstwhile twirler who first won the Iron Man title and was later dubbed "Tin Man Orcutt" led the team in the stick work. The Tin Man is the only Riverton player credited with two hits. Lody who was chasing the pills in left field, gave a good account of himself on the defense, accepting every chance without an error.

"Tink" Holvick, in left field, and his fellow fly chaser, Lew Rush, of the center patch, were the only other members of the team to connect safely. Each got one good rock at the pill. Had it not been for the trio of outfielders, Conrey might have entered the Hall of Fame with a no-hit, no-run game to his credit.

J. WARREN BEAHN APPOINTED AS BOROUGH COUNCILMAN

Well Known Young Palmyra Man Named to Succeed the Late Charles F. Buchholz

J. Warren Beahn, of Columbia Avenue, was appointed Councilman by Mayor James T. Weart at the meeting of Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday evening. Mr. Beahn's appointment was unanimously approved by Council. He succeeds the late Charles F. Buchholz, who died July 6th.

After reading a letter of appreciation from Mr. Buchholz's widow for the kindness and sympathy extended by Borough Council at the time, Mayor Weart, gave a brief eulogy of the late Councilman, following which the Mayor, Councilmen and Citizens present, stood for one minute with bowed heads in memory of Mr. Buchholz.

Mr. Beahn, the new Councilman, is a member of the Lutheran Church of which Mr. Buchholz belonged and has been very active in church work. He lives in the same section of the town from which Mr. Buchholz came and is a very popular and highly respected young man. He took his oath of office and entered upon his duties as Borough Councilman immediately.

Mr. Beahn was appointed Chairman of the Ordinance Committee and a member of the Finance Committee. Councilman Fisher was made chairman of the Sewer Committee, which office has been held by Mr. Buchholz.

A number of citizens were present from Second and Garfield Avenue, where new sidewalks are being laid. They protested that the sidewalks in some cases were several inches above their lawn and believed it to be due to a mistake by the engineer. Mayor Weart directed the sidewalk committee to go into the matter with the property holders and to make adjustments wherever possible.

Albert Rycroft and Edmund F. Black, residents of the street under discussion, said the cellar windows of the houses are below the level of the sidewalk and that all the ground would have to be filled in to make it level with the street. Even if this were done the men said that their cellars would be filled with water when it rains.

The representative of Remington & Vosbury, the engineers reiterated that the present grading was the only solution to the problem of drainage.

J. Edwin Lees, chairman of the streets and highways committee, told the engineers they had to relocate stakes placed in the survey for the reconstructing of Pear street. The engineers made the street 25 feet wide. The property owners who recently dedicated the street to the borough, want a 22 foot street. The misunderstanding will be corrected.

Wilmer Randel, chairman of the police and fire committee, recommended that a signal light be placed at the turn in the River road on West Broad street. This is to help the motorists in the heavy traffic that is expected to follow the completion of the street. Mr. Randel also suggested in his report that the corners owned by Messrs. Buchl and Warner at Broad and Cinnaminson streets, be cut away to facilitate the directing of traffic. Mr. Lees said that John S. Warner, new owner of Cook's corner, had already promised to cooperate on this point.

Julius R. Fisher, chairman of the sewerage disposal committee, reported that a thunder storm had done $165 worth of damage to one of the motors operating a pump at the plant. The damage was repaired in 10 days.

The ordinance for the renumbering of the houses in the town passed final reading. The ordinance provides that all houses on streets crossing or meeting Cinnaminson avenue shall be numbered with this street as the starting point. The north side of the cross streets is to have odd numbers on the western side.

The ordinance for laying a storm sewer on the boulevard from Leconey avenue to the river was passed on the final reading. The work is to cost not more than $20,000.

Two real estate developments were approved. One is the Joseph Shaffer extension being developed by Fred W. Seeber and the other is adjacent ground owned by Dr. Lamb. Dr. Lamb and Fred W. Seeber have cooperated in the matter and laid out their streets so as to correspond.

The Building Inspector has granted permits for six new buildings to cost $31,000, three garages and several repairs.

Permission was granted to the Volunteers of America to hold a Tag Day in Palmyra.

Councilman Davis announced that he was seventy-three years old that day and Mayor Weart insisted on staging a party at Charlie Hawke's in honor of the occasion.

STRANGE ADDRESSES

Camden Papers Give Peculiar Locations in Palmyra

Citizens are frequently surprised, when shown the town map, that there are so many streets with which they are not familiar in the Borough limits. During the past week, a Camden newspaper has come forward with a couple of more street names that would even "stump" the town fathers.

William Dool, who lives on the River Road, Pensauken, and was tried in Pensauken Monday, was given an address of "3 Riverside Drive, Palmyra." Some time was spent trying to locate "Riverside Drive" and the mystery was later solved by Chief of Police Beck who took a trip down River Road and found that Dool resided there, just below Pensauken Creek.

According to the same publication "John McMullin, 19 years old, 1221 Essex street, Palmyra" was found drugged and robbed near Clementon Sunday.

There is neither a John McMullin or an Essex street in Palmyra. Nevertheless, Palmyra is credited with both.

Chief Beck says he has spent lots of time searching for fictitious residents and streets charged to Palmyra by Camden and Philadelphia newspapers.

Fifty inmates in the brick home, 200 feet away, were soon calmed after a temporary scare, when the wind shifted and carried the flames to the opposite direction. The Bridgeton fire department responded, but could only use chemicals in protecting other buildings, as the property is without water for fire protection.

The Hunterdon County Board of Freeholders at their meeting at Flemington awarded a contract to Snook & Son for the construction of a bridge at Clover Hill for $2,545. Plans and specifications were approved for five other bridges. Three of the bridges to be reconstructed are in Kingwood township, near the homes of H. Myers and Paul La Rue and Tumble Station. A three-arch bridge is to be built near Croton and two small bridges in Raritan township. The bids will be received on July 30.

The work of dredging Lake Carnegie is being continued by the Lake Carnegie Association in an endeavor to clear completely the current and deepen the course of the regatta, besides removing much of the trash and rubbish accumulated during the quarter century of the lake's existence. The paths and roads as well as the groves about the lake, always a popular haunt, have been cleaned up, and it is hoped that co-operation on the part of those using them will continue the fine spick and span condition.

Christopher Cowdell, foreman of repair work on the Cosmopolitan steamship line at Hoboken, was killed when a large box, being hoisted aboard the S. S. Liberty from pier No. 2, Hoboken, fell, throwing him twenty-five feet into the hold.

With funds available for the employment of necessary auditors and investigators, the Bright Investigating Committee now promises to dig into the work of uncovering extravagance and duplicated effort in the State department in earnest. Senator William H. Bright, chairman of the committee, promised that the $10,000 made available for the probe by State Comptroller N. A. K. Bugbee would be used exclusively in employing exports to check up on government expenditures.

The term of Charles C. Groves, who has been acting as registrar for Cranbury township, expired July 1. Russel C. Spratford, the newly elected assessor of the township, succeeds him. Mr. Spratford also becomes secretary of the Board of Health.

Contract was awarded by the Board of Freeholders at Freehold, for the construction of six concrete arch bridges, five on the Elton-Adelphia road and one on the Tennent-Gordon's Corner road, to the S. S. Thompson & Co., Inc., of Red Bank, at the price of $10,928.70.

The Magnetic Spell

When ships pass on their way to and from Liverpool, and come to a particular spot in the Mersey, says London Answers, their compasses become agitated in a wholly improper way. Some magnetic spell is laid on them, and the only explanation that has suggested itself is that the iron parts of some ship wrecked there have become magnetized by some shift in the wreck's position joined to the action of waves or currents.

Nothing Snobbish About Him

Two literary lights, one from Harvard, the other from Yale—that's as far as we care to go—were having a jolly little talk when something cropped up which caused the Yale man to remark:

"The trouble with you Harvard men is you are inclined to be a little snobbish."

"That is not so," replied his companion. "Why, when I rowed on the crew, I knew every man in the boat except three down in the stern."—W. Orton Tewson in the New York Evening Post.

"Weasles" Tied With Lutherans

Schwink's Field Club Second Now Neck and Neck With League Leaders

The race of the Twin City Twilight League has tightened up during the past week until it has all the earmarks of the spirited American League campaign. Tommy Schwink's Field Club second, the strong contender for the pinnacle position, has battled its way to par with the Lutherans.

Last Tuesday found the Lutherans, last year's champs, at the top with a comfortable lead. Now the two clubs are tied for the leadership, both having won eight and dropped three. The pacemakers won one, dropped one and had another game end in a deadlock during the past week. Schwinky's Weasles have done a little better, they have engaged in two contests and came out victorious on each occasion. And one of the victims was the league leading Churchmen.

Thursday night the Baptists, who suddenly showed some life a few weeks ago, held the Lutherans to a 1-1 tie. Both teams fell down on the offense. The Baptists got four hits off Bates and the Lutherans connected safely with three of DeGraw's offerings.

Beahn scored the lone Lutheran counter when he was walked and then forced home by three passes. Freed tallied for the Baptists after he had been walked, a Lutheran erred and Frank Harvey singled.

Friday's setto was a heart-rending affair. After Lamont had pitched one dandy game last week, Len Baker again sent him to the hill to oppose the Field Club scrubs. The Schwinkmen were in perfect form and could have hit the best of them. To make matters worse, Ray had a sore arm and was off form considerably. The Weasles staged a big walkaway and shut out the Bakerites 13-0.

Richman, of the Weasles, won the bouquet by performing a feat which was almost unheard of in this section of Joisey. Horace's first visit to the plate found him swinging lustily and before long the ball sailed over the right field barrier. Not taking one homer very seriously, Horace put the same amount of energy behind his swings the second time up and again enjoyed seeing the horsehide soar gracefully over the same section of the wall.

Lamont took no chances the next time and walked the swatter. Ray regained some of his confidence when Babe's second showed up the fourth time, tossed over a few teasers, let Richman "swing his head off" and return to the bench for hitting nothing but the air.

The Lutherans opened the week Monday by shutting out Artisans 2-0 Hits were again conspicuous by their absence. Each team was credited with a measly pair of safeties. "Stew" Buchholz, playing second base, robbed the Artisans of an extra single when he galloped out in right field behind the initial sack and speared a hot one with one hand. "Stew's" performance looked impossible and was one of the most spectacular seen in the local stadium for many moons.

The Lutheran keystone sacker was on his toes throughout the contest and ended the game when he stabbed a terrific liner down to second for the last out. Orcutt and Jenkins were the winning battery. Quigg and Young were the losers' combination.

The battle of the week was staged Tuesday when the Field Club scrubs trimmed the Lutherans 1-0. This was the game that cooked the goose for the leaders and put the Field Club on the level with them. Wenger, twirling a beautiful brand of the national pastime, allowed the Lutherans three scattered hits.

Charley Bates only permitted the winners to hit safely twice, but they made them count. Frabitore and Krause featured for the Field Club at bat, each having one single to his credit.

Ed Bennett, however, was the star stickman, leading the pack with a pair of singles. Frank King was the other Lutheran to break into the hit column. His clout was a two-timer.

BURLINGTON EXCITED

Fear Railroad Will Obey Council's Order to Move Tracks

Burlington is excited over a report that the Pennsylvania Railroad may remove its tracks from Broad street, as ordered to do so by Common Council under a resolution introduced by Harold V. Holmes, member from the Second Ward.

The report, which is said to have emanated from Engineer T. M. Kinkead, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is that the company may tear up the track that runs through city property on Broad street and let things drop right there.

That is, Burlington would become a dead end, or rather a double deadender, and continuous service through town would be abolished. The terminal of the line from Camden would be on the company's property on West Broad street, west of Ellis street and the terminal of the line from Trenton would be on company property in East Burlington.

Opinion is divided in the town whether the railroad will remove its tracks from Broad street in accordance with the peremptory order of Common Council. Some take the view that the company is bluffing, and others declare that the proposed removal under the deadend conditions is not impossible.

It was said at first that the Nelly Bly and through passengers would be carried by the way of the Kinkora Branch and over the other back roads, but it now appears that the Nelly Bly and similar expresses would run by the way of Delair bridge and the main line on the Pennsylvania side to Trenton.

A railroad man said this easily could be done and better time would be made than over the route on which the Nelly Bly now is running.

WHERE 150,000 GAS METER DIAPHRAGMS ARE MADE FROM SHEEP SKINS EACH YEAR

One of the more recent activities undertaken by the Gas Department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company is the manufacture of gas meter diaphragms. A section of the Newark Meter Shop has been equipped for this purpose and here a large force of men is turning out about 150,000 diaphragms a year.

The diaphragm is the vital part of the meter, each meter having two, whose service, in the operation of the meter, is similar to that performed by the lungs in the human body. The diaphragm simultaneously inhales gas from the mains and exhales it into pipes that carry it to the kitchen or elsewhere. When the gas flows through the meter the amount used is registered in the upper section by means of connecting gears which record the quantity in cubic feet.

Diaphragms are made from sheep skins, and the best obtainable bark-tanned skins are used. New Zealand skins are preferred as in that country there are no barbed wire fences nor briars to cut the skins and thus make defects in the finished leather.

There are eighteen distinct operations necessary in the manufacture of diaphragms, first and the most important of which is the examination of the skin itself. Each one received at the shop is inspected thoroughly for defects such as thin spots, cuts from the skinning knife and porous places, any one of which would cause a leak in the diaphragm.

Next comes the cutting of the skins into strips of the required width. Each skin should make an average of five and one-half diaphragms of ordinary household size.

Special Sewing Machine

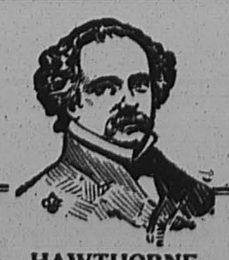

For sewing the lapped ends of the strips a specially contrived sewing machine is used, which sews the seams without allowing the needle to go all the way through the leather, for if it did, the diaphragm would not be gas-tight. The machine is electrically driven and frequent adjustments are necessary for slight variations in the thickness of the leather.

After the laps are sewed, all seams are examined under a powerful electric light. Those that have holes or thin spots are cut out. There are two rings to which each side of the diaphragm is tied. The wide or partition ring is soldered to the partition of the meter and the narrow or disc ring is the one to which the disc is soldered.

Sheets of tin are trimmed to size and then cut in strips for the rings. The strips are then run through a machine which puts on the beading and gives them a circular form. The ends of the rings are soldered together and all surfaces of the rings on which the leather will rest are heavily coated with shellac to prevent injury to the leather.

The diaphragm leathers are tied on the rings over a device made for the purpose, Italian hemp twine being used. Another inspection for defects is made and the twine is subjected to several coats of shellac to prevent moisture. The diaphragms are next placed on rods, each rod holding seventy, and taken to the oiling room. Here they are immersed in a trough of warm oil and petrolatum. The rods are then hung on a rack where they remain three months, being given a slight turn each day. At the end of this period they are thoroughly seasoned. The rack in the Newark shop holds 19,500 diaphragms.

For the manufacture of 150,000 diaphragms, the following material is used: 27,272 perfect sheepskins, averaging six square feet each; one and one-half tons of Italian hemp; 150 spools of sewing silk; 12,000 sheets of tin; 200 gallons of shellac; 1,500 gallons of oil and 300 gallons of petrolatum.

LESS BATHING AT DELANCO

Younger Set Patronizing Lakes Instead of River

The patronage of Delanco's bathing beach has fallen off considerably during the last few weeks. Many reasons are advanced for the decline in the popularity of the beach.

It is thought that the chief cause is the recent typhoid germ scare that has been prevalent in seveal of the river shore towns in South Jersey. Dead fish were seen floating in the river and authorities thought germs had caused the death of the fish and in protection to their residents forbade bathing in the river.

Another likely reason is the fact that the younger set is patronizing the numerous lake resorts hereabouts.

Near Riverside are Sylvan Lakes, Brown's Mills, Kirby's Lakes and Cedar Lakes.

PUBLIC SERVICE WORK

Public Service Production Company has received from the Edison Portland Cement Company a contract to design and construct three concrete packing houses and a concrete bag house at the company's plant a New Village, near Phillipsburg on the Lackawanna Railroad.

The packing houses will have a capacity of 10,000 barrels of cement a day. The bag house, which will be 240 feet long and two stories, will hold 2,000,000 bags. The empty bags will be taken on the railroad to the bag house, where they will be cleaned and sewed, transported on electric trucks to the elevator and carried to the second story. Thence the bags will be taken to the packing houses over bridges connecting the bag houses with the packing houses and loaded ready for shipment.

Sound Advice

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

It seems to me we do not dwell
Enough upon the past;
Intent on what tomorrow holds
We speed along so fast
That what our fathers were and did
We seldom contemplate,
Nor do we seek their sage advice—
Until it is too late.

There's nothing to be gained thru haste;
Great movements take their time.
We ought to think before we act,
And caution is no crime!
With history wise men confer,
And from the past they gain
Instruction and philosophy
That strengthen, yet restrain.

WIN 12-INNING GAME

Delanco Defeats Mount Holly by Score of 3-2

George Shaw, Delanco's premier batter, again came to the fore in the pitcher's duel with Mount Holly Saturday that carried on for twelve innings. A double by Horn and a muffed fly gave Delanco a much needed run and ended the game with a final score of 3-2.

While the game was a well-earned victory, it was a heart breaker for the opposing twirler. Quigg, of Delanco, and Eckert, of Mount Holly, each allowed only nine hits during the twelve innings.

George Shaw broke the ice in scoring when Horn's double carried him home. Mount Holly, however, rallied and took a one run lead in the next inning.

In the eighth Kalbach came across with the tying run and the game continued for three more innings in a dead lock.

Through this victory, Delanco, first half champions, tied with Roebling for third place in the second half.

SPEEDER FINED

Chief Voshell Nabs Camdenite After Crash at Cambridge

Continuing his crusade against violations of the automobile laws in Riverside, Chief of Police Voshell arrested Thomas Smith, of Atlantic avenue, Camden, late Saturday evening.

Smith drove through Riverside at an estimated speed of forty miles an hour and when Voshell blew his whistle Smith continued on his wild ride. Voshell gave chase in the police car and arrested Smith after his car had struck a telephone pole at Cambridge.

As Voshell drove to the scene he noticed Smith's companions fleeing from the car. Voshell tried to catch them also but they were soon lost in the maze of Hoffman's cornfield.

Smith was tried before the police court and fined. His car was held as security while he returned home to raise sufficient money to pay his fine.

SCHOOL CONTRACTS

Delanco Board Awards Jobs for Alterations and Fire Escapes

Bids for the proposed alterations and fire escapes on the old school house were opened at the meeting of the Delanco Board of Education Monday evening.

The lowest bidders were H. B. Miller, Edgewater Park, for carpenter and masonry work, and C. F. Aubel, of Philadelphia, for erection of steel fire escapes. Their bids were $1549 and $1600 respectively

The requirements of the State Board of Education in regards to fire escapes were explained by Herbert O. Ziegler. Mr. Ziegler said the code of the State must be carried out in detail.

Upon the motion of Walter R. Ziegler it was decided to award the contracts for the construction of the most modern and up-to-date fire escape possible.

After a careful perusal of the estimates, Miller and Aubel received the respective contracts with the provision that their work be finished by September 8. In the case of Mr. Aubel, the Board inserted a clause calling for a reasonable reduction in the contract price for the omission of fire gates that were in the original specifications.

The matter of buying supplies is still under discussion and the entire committee seems to favor the new adjustable seats and desks.

KEEPING WELL

ADDISON'S DISEASE

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

IN 1849 Doctor Addison, an English physician, was called to see a patient whose symptoms were different from any that he had previously seen. He was markedly anemic, yet his skin was not white as in ordinary anemia. Instead, it was bronze colored, almost copper colored. The patient said that for some time he had been weak, easily fatigued and disinclined to any exertion. He had no appetite, had poor digestion, was nauseated and vomited frequently. He had headache, neuralgia and dizziness, with frequent fainting spells. He was mentally depressed, yet was excitable and unable to sleep at night. The most striking symptom was the peculiar color of his skin and his lips, which had not only attracted the attention of his family and friends but was evident to the patient himself.

Doctor Addison studied this strange disease with great care and later on wrote a report on it which was published in the London Medical Gazette, one of the leading medical journals of that day. As a result, this strange disease is known as Addison's disease.

It was soon found that in the bodies of those dying of this disease, the adrenals were diseased. These are two little glands lying one above each kidney. Experiments on animals showed that, if these glands were removed from healthy animals, they soon developed the symptoms of Addison's disease.

In some cases, it was found to be due to tubercular infection of these adrenal glands. In other cases, these glands were found to be cancerous. Whether there is any one definite disease of the adrenal glands which causes it or whether anything which causes these glands to degenerate will cause it is not known.

In a few cases, the disease develops rapidly, death occurring in a few weeks. The average duration is two or three years. Some may last much longer, one patient living thirteen years.

Recovery is rare, although much has been done in late years in the form of gland extracts and powdered gland tissues.

Transplanting the adrenal glands of an animal into the body has been tried, generally without success, although an Australian surgeon in 1912 reported a patient who had been practically cured. Better results have followed the use of the dried and powdered glands of sheep. Nothing is known as to how this mysterious disease can be prevented.

Acres of Flowers

Each year there are acres of flowers, roses, lilies, violets and others, raised in France and southern Italy to supply the world's increasing demand for perfumes. The process of extraction of the oils exuded by the flowers is quite lengthy and millions of freshly picked blossoms are required to make the supply equal the demand. Large distilleries have recently been built in southern Italy for the extraction of valuable oils from citrous fruit rind which yields essences used in the making of perfumes.

Vast Stores of Gold Await Lucky Finders

What becomes of gold? It has many channels of disappearance, according to experts. Figures show that more than half of the annual output is employed in the fine arts and jewelry trade. Thousands of pounds also are used by dentists, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine, one estimate being that over a ton is needed every year for the filling of teeth. Then money is worn in handling, this loss being one and a quarter million dollars annually. Bank of England sovereigns are often tested and found to have lost much of the original weight.

Of the immense quantities of the precious metal that have been buried away in the earth, it is believed comparatively little has ever been recovered. The priests of Peru are said to have buried approximately ten million dollars' worth of treasure to preserve it from the clutches of their persecutors. None of this has been found. The tombs of the old kings of Egypt were treasure houses, immense quantities of gold and jewels being interred with them. It has been estimated by historians that Alexander the Great became the master of great hoards of gold, all of which, so far as is known, has vanished.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

By JOSEPH KAYE

JACK LONDON AND CHARMIAN LONDON

JACK LONDON'S personal romance is of too recent date to need recounting in detail. It is only necessary to give here some quotations from his letters and conversations to gauge the extent of his passion for the woman who became his second wife. Speaking of Charmian, London once said:

"If a divorce had not been allowed me, I would not have given you up—that would be unthinkable. We would have gone somewhere, if you would—on the other side of the world and dignifiedly lived out our lives, 'on the square, like a true married pair.'"

And the following are portions from two of his letters:

"Dear, dear Woman:

"Somehow, you have been very much in my thoughts these last few days, and in inexpressible ways you are dearer to me. I will not speak of the mind qualities, the soul qualities—for somehow, in these, in ways beyond my speech and thought, you have suddenly loomed colossal in comparison with the ruck of woman.

"Oh, believe me, in these last several days I have been doing some thinking, some comparing—and I have been made aware, not merely of pride, and greater pride, in you, but of delight in you. Dear, dear Woman, Wednesday night, how I delighted in you, for instance! Of course, I liked the look of you; but outside of that, I delighted—and not so much in what you said or did, as in what you did not say or do. You, just you—with strength and surety, and power to hold me to you for that old peace and rest which you have always had for me. I am more confident now than a year ago that we shall be happy together. I am rationally confident.

"God! and you have grit! I love you for it. You are my comrade for it. And I mean the grit of the soul. . . .

"My first thought in the morning is of you, my last thought at night. My arms are about you, and I kiss you with my soul.

"YOUR OWN MAN."

"Blessed Mate:

"I do not think that I have parted with you, so full am I, heart and soul, with the vision of you.

"Standards are nothing, judgments are nothing; I need not reason about you except in the simplest way, and that way is that you mean everything to me and are more to me than any woman I have ever known.

"YOUR OWN MAN, 'THE WOLF.'"

"Undefeated" Nine Loses Its First Game to Joe Stack's Nine

The "undefeated" Burlington County Knights of Columbus nine met its Waterloo Saturday afternoon. The Field Club, hitting on all six, found it no trouble at all to shut out the highly touted Knights 7-0 at the local stadium.

The game's bright light was a home run inside the wall by Babe Flynn. Martin replaced Welkman at second in the sixth inning. On his only trip to bat, the seventh, Babe took a healthy swing at the pill, connected solidly, and it soared to deep left center. By the time the ball was tossed back to the infield, Babe had beat his way around the entire route.

The visiting team was making its debut, so therefore, of course, was deserving of the "undefeated" title. Messrs. Bader and Kane were used on the mound without avail. They did their utmost to sustain the "rep", but the Field Club bats were swinging accurately, and put a big crimp in any "undefeated" title aspirations.

Pete Jenkins, of the Lutheran battery, was behind the bat for the K. of C. The team was the pick of the various lodges throughout the county, so with the exception of substitute Pete, and Horace Richman, of Riverton, who had lots of exercise chasing local hits in the left garden, the opposition was unknown to the majority of local fans.

"Rufus and Rastus" were expected to appear at the Park at 2.30 and entertain with songs and jokes until time for the game started at 3.30. For some unknown reason, probably "poor connections" or other traveling conditions, the entertainers failed to show up.

Wenger was back on the mound for the locals. His hooks and shoots worked nicely and the new twirler had the pleasure of seeing seven of the Knights return to the bench as strikeout victims. All told the new nine was credited with five hits, four singles and a double.

Palmyra opened with a sizzling attack and scored three. The Stackmen came back in the second and got another pair, laid off for an inning and tallied again in the fourth, then having a six-run lead. From then on, the locals took it easy and made no real effort to shove any more over, but Flynn insisted he too, should shine on the offense, so did the scoring alone in the seventh.

Sammy Rodgers went wild at bat. He got on base five times out of five times up. On the first two trips he reached first by virtue of singles and an error by the second baseman was sandwiched in and allowed the fly chaser to get started his third time. On the fourth and fifth visits to the plate Sammy greeted the opposition with a single and a double. Some batting record.

The Knight moundsmen evidently had Baker's number. The first time up Len singled. He appeared in the second and fourth cantos and was walked on each occasion. Welkman singled once out of three times up and Bennett is credited with one safe hit.

Hepper, the clever little backstop, usually gets his share of hits. He was off form Saturday and greased the air considerably, fanning three times out of four. He got a single on his fourth visit to the pan. Pitcher Wenger got on four times, driving out two singles and benefitting from two errors.

Manager Joe Stack was at third and saved the day when he made a spectacular one hand stop on a line drive down to the hot corner. Joe's stop made the last out in the ninth. Had he have muffed it, a pair of runs would have been the result.

On June 16, the Tulpehocken Reds experienced no difficulty in trimming the locals 6-1. They are coming back this Saturday and are confident of repeating their little act. Joe and his club are out for revenge and are just as determined that they won't repeat. The locals have improved wonderfully since June and should furnish some real opposition for the classy visitors. Therefore, the battle promises to be one of note and should be a rip roarin' affair.

Manager Joe has requested us again to remind the fandom that he can't book big attractions and pay big guarantees on small crowds.

NEW "TOWN HALL"

Addition for Borough Use Being Built at Police Headquarters

Work has been started on the addition to the police headquarters on Broad street next to P. O. S. of A. Hall. The old building in the rear of the police office was torn down the latter part of last week and work on the addition was started this week.

The cellar, which will be on the left side only, under the new hearing room, in the rear of the police office, has been dug, and Contractor Sidney Headington started work laying concrete blocks Monday.

The addition will be constructed of concrete block and will be 18 feet by 26 feet. The town lockup will be located there. Two cells will be installed and provisions will be made for two more should there be any need for them in the future. The cells are now located in the firehouse.

The jail will be located on the right, in the rear of the municipal garage, where the police car is now kept.

When the addition is completed, all municipal quarters will be centrally located. There will be the police office, Borough recorder's room, the lockup, the town garage, and even headquarters for the street cleaning department. All of the tools will be stored in the new basement under the recorder's chamber.

Curtis Stavely has been awarded the contract to do the woodwork.

INCREASE OF SHAD

Shad fishing operations in the Delaware river, this year, produced a catch nearly triple that of 1923, when the last previous statistics were collected, according to reports filed with the State Fish and Game Commission.

While a total of 101,863 shad caught this year is a long way from the great catches of a quarter-century ago, as compared with 34,160 of two years ago, which, in turn was an improvement over immediately preceding seasons, it holds out real hope, in the opinion of commissioners, that proper measures can bring about a revival of the old fishing days when toothsome Delaware shad found markets in every eastern state.

The return of the shad in greater numbers to their former habitat is one of the direct results of the campaign of New Jersey and Pennsylvania to stop pollution of the Delaware river, in the opinion of Protector James M. Stratton, under whose direction wardens keep tabs on the fishing industry in the river and along the coast.

Shad were almost exterminated in the Delaware during the World War, when, under excuse of the emergency, many factory owners allowed raw sewage, frequently combined with chemical poisons, to flow into the Delaware and its tributaries. As the campaign to clean up the river and make its waters safer for domestic uses has progressed, the shad and other fishes have increased. The shad catch, experienced fisherman declare, is now a barometer of the increase or decrease of sewage poisons in the river water.

The trouble with China is that it has been run by a league of nations for the past generation.

WEEKEND AUTO CRASHES

By what seemed to be only the fraction of a second, Alberta Frake, 10 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Frake, of Mount Holly, saved her own life and that of her infant sister whom she was holding on Saturday afternoon when an auto truck owned by Charles B. Wollner and driven by William H. Fisler struck the parked car of George Bischoff, swerved off and got beyond the control of the driver and ran up on the porch where the Frake children were sitting in a rocking chair.

* * *

There was a sad accident on the Brown's Mills road near Lakehurst Saturday night when Miss Ethel Greenfield, of Philadelphia, was killed after an automobile in which she was going to the shore with three young lady friends overturned after it had skidded on the gravel road.

Mahlon Grover, 51 years, of Pemberton, a sand plant worker, narrowly escaped being killed on Mill street, Mount Holly, when he was knocked down by the automobile of Jonathan R. Sharp, of Columbus. Grover had been drinking and did not know what he was doing when he started across the roadway and walked directly in front of the Sharp car.

* * *

Slight injuries were received by Hilda Carpenter, 13 years, daughter of Joseph Carpenter, of Pemberton, when she was struck by the automobile of Joseph Holbrook, of Philadelphia, in Mount Holly shortly before seven o'clock on Sunday night. Carpenter stopped his car to let the child out at Washington and Bispham streets so she could make a purchase at a store across the street and she ran from the rear of the machine without looking to see if her path was clear, with the result that she went directly in front of the Holbrook car.

* * *

It was a very narrow escape from death that Thomas Moore, of near Vincentown, had from being killed at the Pine street railroad crossing in Mount Holly when the brakes of his automobile failed to hold and an approaching train was stopped after the car had become stalled on the track.

KEEPING WELL

CATCHING DISEASE BY HAND

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

THE Chinese are supposed to do everything just the opposite from what we do. Of course, that's silly, though they probably think it's silly for us to do just the opposite from what they do.

But in one practice, at least, they show more sense than we do. When a Chinaman meets a friend he bows and shakes, not his friend's hand, but his own hand.

Historians tell us that handshaking originated among savages. Two men of different tribes and unknown to each other would meet in the forest or on the plains. The one who first saw the other would hold up his right hand to show that he had no weapon in it. This custom survived in the Roman salute which you can see in "Quo Vadis" and still exists in the salute of the Fascisti. When Mussolini's legions march past their chief, they all greet him with the right arm raised and the open palm turned toward the reviewing stand.

In the Middle ages, the knights weren't satisfied to have their associates show an empty hand, they wanted to hold each other's right hand, so as to be sure that the other fellow couldn't pull a knife. So when two knights met they grasped hands and didn't let go as long as they were within striking distance.

Today handshaking is a survival of these old customs. It is not only meaningless but it is a severe physical strain on presidents, governors and other prominent men. Many a candidate has worn himself out shaking hands for votes.

But handshaking is not only tiresome, it is dirty and dangerous. We handle all sorts of unclean things with our bare hands—door knobs, books and newspapers, car rails and straps, things that hundreds of other people have handled. Then we meet a friend who has also handled dirty things and for fear we may have some kind of dirt he hasn't, we clasp hands and rub them together.

When we have a cold, we cough into our hands and when we meet our friends, we give them each a sample. We swap colds and wonder why our own doesn't get better or why we have a new one.

In the winter and spring, when colds and coughs are common, keep your hands clean, wear gloves and when you meet your friends shake hands Chinese fashion. Especially be careful to wash your hands before eating. You may be called a crank by some people, but you will dodge lots of nasty colds.

One of the men asked him for a match and for the time. Goodwin immediately came back to Riverton and notified Officer William Quigley, who made a quick run in the police car. He spied the men and fired two shots but the men disappeared behind the gas tanks on the bank of the Pompeston Creek. One of the men was in his shirt sleeves and wore a straw hat, the other man, who appeared to be younger, wore a dark coat and a cap. Several nights ago, another bus driver was counting his money prior to putting it in the safe at the garage, he turned around and saw a man standing at the back of the bus looking intently at the process of money counting. He, too, disappeared.

A New York gas company has refused to make a raise in rates recommended by the court and the next thing we expect to hear is that W. J. Bryan and Clarence Darrow have refused some free publicity.

Famed Navigator Gave Name to Mont Royal

In the late summer of 1535, Jacques Cartier, a hardy, skilled navigator of St. Malo, France, sailed up the St. Lawrence river and reached the island standing at the junction of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers. On this island he found a race of Indians in a palisaded town of about 1,500 inhabitants, and living by a rude agriculture and fishing. This place was called Hochelaga. On the day following his arrival at the island, Cartier, with a few companions and twenty mariners, left his boats and, conducted by three natives, visited the town, which stood on rising ground about half a mile from the river at about what is now the center of the city of Montreal. Cartier saw on all sides large and fairly well-tilled fields in which were growing abundant crops of maize or Indian corn. The town was fortified, and it contained about 50 houses made of wood and bark. From the town the visitors were conducted to the top of the mountain which rose to the west of the town. "We named that mountain Mont Royal," wrote Cartier, in his account of his travels. "Therefrom one sees very far."

The name "Mont Royal" with slight corruption gives us the name of today, Montreal. The old name, Hochelaga, is preserved in the name of one of the wards of the city.

No matter how correct an old maid's life may be it is "Miss" spent.

The burglar alarm at the Palmyra National Bank suddenly rent the clear night air about 11:40 Saturday. Chief Beck was at his home, about a half block up Highland avenue. Officer Nelson Wallace was at the police station. Both made a wild dash and arrived on the scene at the same time. A hasty investigation followed. But it showed that, like many other automatic appliances, the alarm had decided to go off for no reason at all. Once the alarm starts ringing, it will continue for twelve minutes, so the police had to wait around until it got tired and quit for the night.

Joseph Sailor, of Philadelphia, ran his automobile into one of the "keep to the right" signs at Broad and Cinnaminson avenue, Sunday evening. The silent sentinal was badly damaged so Officer Joseph Rodgers made him post a forfeit for appearance at court before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter Monday afternoon. The forfeit was five dollars, the fine would have been the same, so when Sailor failed to put in his appearance, the forfeit money was used for repairs.

Eddie spent most of Tuesday morning trying to locate a store in the town where he could buy a cage for the new pet. It's only a canary, but Eddie is quite proud of his bird and says he hopes to have it talking within a couple of weeks. Some ambition for a mere real estate broker. He says it will be "some bird" it takes after its master.

SENTENCE DRUNKEN DRIVER

William Dool, of River Road, just below the Pensauken Creek, was sentenced to thirty days in the Camden County jail by Recorder Rotzell, of Pensauken Township, Monday morning.

He was arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor at Burlington Pike and Union avenue Pensauken, Sunday. The machine driven by Dool struck another car driven by James Whitman, of 402 Merchants street, Audubon.

After the accident Dool was examined by a Pensauken physician who declared his case to be acute alcoholism. At the hearing, Dool asserted he had only had "two or three drinks of wine."

The "hootch-hound" gets it coming and going. He takes his embalming fluid both before and after he is dead.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON A NARROW ESCAPE

"Oh, Aunty, I just have to talk to you," said Maud, bursting in on Aunt Emmy. "Those bonds Tom's father gave us for a wedding present have matured and Tom has the money. A man is trying to get Tom to invest in a radio company. I want your opinion on it."

"Don't hurry; tell me everything you can remember," said Aunt Emmy.

"Well, Tom didn't seem enthusiastic. Then Mr. Brown, the salesman, said that if he bought stock in his company, and wanted his money at any time, the company would buy back his stock."

"Are you sure he said that?" interrupted Aunt Emmy. "That is a claim that is not made by people connected with dependable investment houses. Unless you have an agreement with the company clearly stating that it will repurchase its stock, signed by one of its officers, you would have great difficulty in getting the company to buy back your stock. A company cannot be compelled to repurchase its own stock. Do you know who Mr. Brown is?"

"No," replied Maud. "Neither does Tom, but he seems awfully nice and Tom liked him right from the start. He is good looking, well dressed, and has beautiful manners."

Aunt Emmy sniffed. "Did he offer to sell you preferred stock on which dividends are guaranteed?"

"Why, how did you know, Aunty?" exclaimed Maud. "That is exactly what he did."

"I thought so," said Aunt Emmy. "Reliable stock salesmen don't promise that a company will repurchase its stock, nor do they promise guaranteed dividends. Unless a company operates profitably, it cannot pay honest dividends of any sort, guaranteed or otherwise. You can see how foolish it is to believe that you can get dividends just because some one says they are guaranteed. The only guarantee in the world for dividends is the successful operation of a company. Guaranteed dividends is a glib phrase used by unscrupulous persons to get money from unthinking ones. A while back the country was flooded with fake oil stock. Now dishonest promoters are trying radio stock."

"What shall I do?" cried Maud. "Tom is with Mr. Brown now at the store to buy the stock with the bond money."

"You just go to the phone and call Tom," said Aunt Emmy. "Ask him and Mr. Brown to meet you at the bank at ten o'clock. Tell him not to buy the stock until you talk with him again. Half the money is yours. Then call the bank and make an appointment with the vice president to discuss an investment."

About noon Aunt Emmy's telephone rang. It was Maud. "The queerest thing happened, Aunty," she said. "Mr. Brown agreed to meet us at the bank at ten o'clock. Tom and I waited until eleven and he never showed up. Then Tom told the vice president about it and he said we had a lucky escape. Only last week the bank looked up the company Mr. Brown represented and it is absolutely no good!"—A. B. Aymes.

TO MAKE FARMING YIELD BETTER RETURNS

The outstanding possibilities of co-operative marketing are more largely along the lines of standardizing and improving production, eliminating excess varieties, standardizing and improving grade and pack, stabilizing production, regulating flow to market, improving distribution as between markets, developing new markets, collective bargaining, betterment of financing, correcting trade abuses, and representing producers before legislative and administrative bodies, says H. E. Erdman, associate professor in California College of Agriculture. All of these should, of course, result in higher net returns, he says, adding:

"If I were to list the limitations I should put them about as follows:

"1. Co-operation cannot fix prices that are out of line with supply and demand conditions.

"2. Co-operation cannot eliminate the middleman. It can, and does, of course, establish the farmers' own agencies to take the places of private agencies and often puts one co-operative agency where several dealers formerly operated.

"3. Co-operation cannot reduce costs greatly except in so far as an increase in scale of operations makes for lower costs. Some of the gains of large scale operation, however, are dissipated because of tendencies toward extravagance.

"4. Co-operatives will not run alone. Constant attention is required on the part of the membership because 'what is everybody's business is nobody's business.'

"5. Co-operation does not permit the farmer to hold his products for a higher price without also compelling him to assume the risks of getting a lower price.

"6. The outsider often gets as much of the benefit of co-operative marketing as does the member, and in some cases gets more because he does not have to bear his share of certain development expenses. This is a decided handicap to co-operation."

KEEPING WELL

CONCERNING TAPE-WORMS

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

MARK TWAIN said in one of his books that there were only three men who had any right to refer to themselves as "we," a king, an editor and a man with a tapeworm.

This title by an emperor or an editor is more honorary than real. But there is no question about the plurality of a man with a tapeworm.

Tapeworms are unwelcome and troublesome boarders. They are quite common. There are some 12 or 13 kinds known but only two are common in this country.

The commonest is the fat or beef tapeworm. It is found only in beef and is acquired by eating raw or rare beef. Generally there is only one worm at a time, though reinfection is common.

The egg, which is found in the flesh of the beef, hatches out in the body and develops into a worm with a round pin-head. The beef tapeworm has no hooks but has four suckers on its head, by which it holds fast to the inside of the small intestine. It begins to grow at once, forming white flat sections which look like a piece of tape. It grows to enormous length, 30 to 40 feet, and soon begins to throw off the end sections, which are found in the bowel movements, in the clothing or in the bed.

During this growth the tapeworm is devouring the food which should go to the unfortunate person who is entertaining him. As a result, a person with a tapeworm has a ferocious appetite, eats enormous meals, yet is always hungry and loses weight. These symptoms often arouse suspicion. Finding some of the segments is positive proof.

The beef tapeworm is unpleasant but comparatively harmless. It is expelled by any one of a half dozen remedies. Your doctor will tell you which one and how much to take.

The pork tapeworm is gotten through raw or underdone pork. It is like the beef tapeworm, but has hooks as well as suckers. It is also more dangerous. If any of the egg-bearing sections get in the mouth, through dirty hands, they hatch out into new worms, which bore through the stomach wall and may get into the muscles, the eyeball or the brain.

The broad tapeworm is found in fish. It is rare in this country but common in Europe and Japan.

A small tapeworm, unlike any of the three, has been found in Nebraska. Where it comes from, no one knows.

As beef, pork or fish may contain these tapeworm eggs, the only sure way to avoid tapeworm is never to eat raw meat, or raw fish and to have all meats well cooked.

Cherokee Myth Tells of Bravery of Spider

Lucky was it for all the animals that there are spiders that have egg sacs resembling bowls, for otherwise all the creatures of the forest would have had to go without fire, the Youth's Companion remarks. At least so we are assured in a Cherokee myth. Natural History thus tells the pretty story in which a spider played the part of

Palmyra Police Have Statewide Reputation for Efficiency

Skill in Directing Traffic Brings Praise to Local Officers from Many Passing Motorists

"Traffic is handled better in Palmyra than any where I know of. Next to this, I think, comes the Reading Ferry, for the congestion of machines is handled pretty well there." That's what a motorists, and a man who travels extensively, told Chief of Police C. Morris Beck Sunday evening.

Remarks like that is what helps the local police keep their patience, and work from early morning until way after midnight on Sundays and holidays when traffic going through Palmyra to the shore and ferry is so heavy. Sunday the Palmyra "cops" directed more traffic than ever, for it was a record-breaker for the ferry company.

Another driver told George N. Wimer it was remarkable the way the police of such a small town directed traffic and kept such good order. "You've got to hand it to them, they're great, the driver told Mr. Wimer.

The police have been receiving compliments for their fine work ever since the ferry started operation. They are known by all motorists as the most courteous, efficient and "peppy" police anywhere around. Men who travel all over the country frequently stop to tell the local guardians of the peace their work really deserves commendation, for it is so far superior to that of any other force in this locality.

The little chief and his boys have it down to a science. Possibly Morry is a student of psychology for he surely knows human nature and can handle people. The police never shout gruff, harsh commands. They speak very quietly and their commands are always preceded by that little word "please" that only takes a second but goes a long ways when handling the average person.

There is never any disorder or confusion. If one of the rough parties strikes the town, they are quietly asked to refrain from boisterous conduct and as a rule they stop immediately. Their manner of approaching the ruffians and the appearance of the local "cops" also has a lot to do with the ease in which they handle people. You've got to give them credit, they look as if they mean business and are capable of backing up any order.

The local blue coats have to be regular information bureaus. The motorists get as far as Jersey, then they are stuck, and the officers are supposed to be able to direct them to any town in the state.

There's no time to stop and think either. The direction must be on the tip of their tongue, or the line of machines will be held up, with congestion and disorder the result. Ever hear Morry snap directions?

He can lay out a route, giving all the turns, best roads and about everything the motorist wants to know in less time than it takes the average persons to think about it. And yet he is always courteous.

Morry says they try your patience at times. For some drivers are certainly dumb, and have to be told several times before they get the idea. But, says the chief, it pays in the long run.

Two cars bumped on Cinnaminson avenue Sunday night. Very little damaged resulted, but it breaks the police records of no smashups during the congested periods. The accident occured above Spring Garden street, out of the police zone, so it was no fault of Morry's bunch.

HONEST BOYS

Lost Money Returned to Police by Palmyra Youngsters

A newspaper correspondent got real excited and wrote a big story for a Camden paper when two Palmyra youngsters returned a five dollar bill which they had found to Officer Joseph Rodgers. He quoted the officers as follows:

"Oh that's nothing. I often have the little fellows bring things they have found to me. Once I had two boys from West Palmyra bring a pocketbook to me. The pocketbook contained $42 and some trinkets. The owner gave the boys ten cents each for their honesty."

This correspondent doesn't realize what kind of a town Palmyra is. That was nothing to shout about, all youngsters who are raised in properly conducted homes, have reg'lar and square playmates, would do the same thing.

It's only the matter of environment You can't beat Palmyra for proper surroundings. That's the reason why Palmyra children are honest and square. Fact is, Palmyra children are expected to be that way.

LUTHERAN NEWS

After Sunday School on Sunday, July 26, the children are all invited to remain and hear a sermon on "Lost Children." During vacations some of us might get lost, and perhaps this sermon will tell us how to be found. Come out children, bring your parents along. The pastor, the Rev. Harry A. Saul, will preach at both services, with the morning theme "Divine Compassion on Human Necessity," and the evening theme "Mountain Vacations." Old fashioned hymns are sung at these summer services.

On Sunday, August 2, our people will have the pleasure of hearing the Rev. J. B. Whitton, of Palmyra, who will preach at both services. He has also announced a special sermon for the children with a very special surprise for them. Be sure and have your child at the services that Sunday morning.

The Boy Scouts left for camp on Saturday morning. They have gone to an island in the Delaware near Frenchtown, N. J. A week of happiness is in store for them and we are expecting some of them to return as First Class Scouts.

The Thursday evening services will be held at eight o'clock. On the 30th, after the service, a special congregational meeting will be held, at which very important business will be presented. Every member is urgently requested to be present.

Weekly sermonette: "Vacations do not mean vacating God from the Soul."

The man who gets his exercise by washing needs a gas mask and a pair of good strong fenders.—New York American.

It is not safe to applaud a fool,
Or pay a compliment to a bore;
You'll find them following their rule,

P. H. S. Athletes Win at Herkimer

Members of Championship Relay Team Make Fine Showing in Meet

The former Palmyra High School relay team, running under the colors of the Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, although pitted against a classy field at the Elk's Field Day meet at Herkimer, New York, last Saturday, managed to cop its usual share of honors.

Wally Sullivan easily won the quarter mile event, leading the pack by twenty yards. Harold Wood finished second to his team mate. Sacks and Sullivan did not find things so rosey. They were were both pitted against Dies, the New York state sprint champion, who runs the 100 in ten seconds flat.

Sacks finished second to him in the 100 and Beahn closely trailed him in the 220. Sports critics, however, are of the opinion that the local boys would have given the New Yorker some stiff competition had it not been for the fact that they were slightly off form from a long trip. The boys left New York City at midnight Friday and had to travel 250 miles before they reached Herkimer. This gave Dies an advantage.

The relay team lost. It is a one-title combination, but when it was found the local aggregation was pitted against a quartet of sprinters, it was decided to make it a half mile affair. The winning team was composed of Charles, Colgate's star sprinter, Walters, of Utica High School, Dies, the New York champ and "Boots" Lever, the local coach, who was Penn track captain and intercollegiate sprint champion several years ago. The fleet-footed Palmyra and Riverton boys made a wonderful showing against the classy field.

Herkimer and Ilion are twin towns. Ilion is Coach Lever's home town, so it can be readily seen that the boys were entertained royally and had "quite a fuss" made over them, for they are proteges of Ilion's favorite son. After the meet, the boys were guests of honor at a dance. They spent the night at Herkimer and started home Sunday morning, arriving in Palmyra about 9 p. m.

Another nationally known personnage present at the meet was Gene Tunney, conqueror of Tommy Gibbons and strong contender for the title crown which adorns the brow of Jack Dempsey. Gene acted as one of the meet officials.

Merchants of Herkimer donated prizes which were awarded the winners. Waly brought home a half dozen shirts, Sacks won a pair shoes and Wood and Beahn are displaying a pair of shirts as their awards.

The National Class B scholastic championship team will continue to run under Meadowbrook's colors this summer.

HALT RIVER BATHING

Dr. Ralph Hollinshed, officer of the Westville Board of Health, has posted notices along the Delaware River requesting persons not to bathe in the river. There has been several cases of typhoid fever and the State Board of Health believes the river has been responsible for some of the cases, and recommended that the local board issue an order prohibiting bathing.

The Ash Handler

Some 7,000 tons of coal a day are consumed to supply New Jersey people with electricity and gas, and the job of caring for the resulting ashes keeps The Ash Handler busy.

Many acres of marshland surrounding electric and gas stations have been reclaimed through ash fills and recently a factory for the making of building brick from ashes has been established near one of the big power houses, promising a successful solution of the ash disposal problem.

The elimination of waste, combined with increased efficiency and economy in operation, are among the factors which give PUBLIC SERVICE customers electric and gas service at reasonable rates.

The Ash Handler is but one of many faithful workers who contribute to this result.

Palmyra, N. J., July 23, 1925.

Mr., Mrs. or Miss Ford Owner,
Palmyra, Riverton or Elsewhere,
New Jersey.

Dear Sir or Madam:—

It has been very definitely proven, scientifically and pratically, that the planetary system is the best for light cars, giving freedom from serious transmission troubles and making the driving of a car simpler than gear shift.

Transmission bands need occasional adjustment—and sometimes must be replaced. It has heretofore been a rather annoying and expensive proposition, but with the improvement of the Ford car there has come into use the so-called 30-minute bands which very much reduce the time required for replacement and cost less.

We will replace your present bands, if of the old type, with 30-minute bands for $4.50 for open cars and $5.00 for closed cars, including material. After "30-minute" bands are installed the entire cost for relining bands is $3.00 for open cars and $3.50 for closed cars.

Have your bands relined now!

Whatever your needs, it is our business to meet them. Our work is guaranteed!

Yours for Service,

Palmyra Motor Co.

COLORED MEN'S CAR BURNS UP, THEN THEY'RE ALL ARRESTED

Party of New Yorkers Have Rough Time When Ford Roadster Hits Their Machine on Burlington Pike

An automobile driven by Rufus Norris, colored, New York City, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning on the Burlington Pike after it had been struck by a Ford roadster driven by two young men from Tom's River.

The car containing Norris and his party had stopped to ascertain their bearing as they were enroute to Atlantic City and the territory was new to them. Shortly after they stopped, their car lurched forward from the impact of the crash and burst into flames.

Norris and his friends leaped from the car and escaped without injuries. The men in the roadster fled from the scene.

Chief Voshell obtained the license number of the roadster and will forward it to Trenton to obtain the name of the owner.

The drivers of the other car apparently were injured and doctors and hospitals nearby have been instructed to report any one answering the description of the men to the police.

Undaunted by their mishap, Norris and his party, apparently under the influence of liquor, came down the Bridgeboro road giving vent to their feelings and singing at the top of their voices.

Riverside Chief of Police Voshell placed them under arrest and charged them with being drunk and disorderly.

Tried before Justice of Police Plenkemeyer they gave their names as Rufus Norris, William Tryon, Joseph Kerney, Robert Shalton and Lorraine Bean, all of New York.

They were fined ten dollars and costs with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail.

Three of the men paid their fines while money was obtained for the other two by telegraphing to friends in New York.

After paying their fines they avowed New Jersey was all right but they guessed they would stay in New York after this.

After obtaining a marriage license from Assessor John D. Mason and then announcing that he would be married to Miss Verna Strong, of near Mount Holly at the home of the bride-to-be's sister in a New York state town on Wednesday of last week, William J. Clark, of Mill street, mysteriously disappeared the day before and since that time nothing definite has been heard of him.

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:1-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—"We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they."—Acts 15:11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of Little Children.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Great Gathering at Jerusalem.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Council at Jerusalem.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Is Christian Liberty?

I. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one for it threatened the disruption of the church into a Jewish and a Gentile division. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church. That had been settled some years before when Peter received Cornelius and his household. The question now was, on what ground could they be received? Should Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of salvation? This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from Jerusalem, who declared, "Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved (v. 1)." The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put the men to silence. These Jewish legalists had the letter of the Scripture on their side. They could point to the command in which this was enjoined upon believers (Gen. 17:14). Paul could not point to any Scripture where it had been abrogated. If Paul could plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcised, his antagonists could answer, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divinely imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the mother church at Jerusalem. Accordingly, Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalem. At an informal reception by the church at Jerusalem they rehearsed the things which God had done for them.

II. The Deliberations of the Council (vv. 6-21).

1. Peter's Speech (vv. 6-11).

He argued that God had borne witness to His acceptance of the Gentiles by giving the Holy Spirit to them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:34-47). Since, therefore, God had not made a difference it would be folly for them to do so.

2. Paul and Barnabas Rehearsed Their Experience (v. 12).

They told how God had set his seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith, apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them.

3. The Argument of James (vv. 14-21).

He took the declaration of Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15). He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict with God's plan, but in strict harmony therewith. As set forth by James, God's plan is as follows:

(1) To take out from among the Gentiles a people for His name (v. 14). This is what is now going on—the preaching of the gospel to the ends of the earth, and the calling out of the church.

(2) After the church is completed and removed, the Hebrew nation will be converted and restored to its own land and privileges by the Lord Himself at His return (vv. 16-17).

(3) Following this will be the conversion of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17, cf. Rom. 11:15). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided.

His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be troubled with things that are Jewish, but should be warned against the perils of heathenism, such as meat offered to idols, fornication and blood.

III. The Decision (vv. 22-29).

The Mother church came to unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. The apostles and elders not only sent a letter stating the decision of the conference but took the wise precaution to send influential men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. The letter denied the authority of the Judaising teachers (v. 24), and stated the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). They put the Holy Spirit first.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35).

The church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought rejoicing. They were now free to prosecute the great missionary work.

Ancient Ban Lifted

A notice dated London, 1695, read: "Several persons of quality were affronted by persons who rode in hackney carriages, wearing masks, etc. Complaint thereof being made to the lord justices, an order was made that no hackney carriage be permitted to go into said Hyde Park." That ban, which extended more than 229 years, has been lifted and taxicabs are now allowed to use the roads in Hyde park for getting to and from other parts of London.

Unnecessary Deaths

It is estimated that 35,000,000 people die throughout the world annually, and that 70,000,000 are sick. In the United States there are about 1,500,000 deaths a year. Sanitary science has demonstrated that at least one-quarter of these deaths could be postponed, and that 40 per cent of the sickness could be averted. The leading nations of the world are making a united effort to raise the standard of sanitation and to stamp out dis-

FERRY SMASHES RECORD

7000 Autos Carried During Week-end Rush

The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company's business went over the top with a big bang last weekend and completely smashed all previous records.

According to Captain Sidney D. Albertson, superintendent of the line the ferry carried 7,000 automobiles from Friday morning until Sunday night. This exceeds by several hundred, the peak mark of last summer, when the big record was established.

The weekend passengers traffic was exceedingly heavy, too, and was a record breaker. The Philburco Coach Line carried 6,000 passengers, and the total number of foot passengers that crossed the ferry was 7,600.

The Philadelphia-bound machines began to line up early Sunday evening and it was not until 2 o'clock Monday morning that the last car had crossed the ferry. The traffic congestion reached the peak about 9.30 and the line of cars waiting to cross the ferry extended out Cinnaminson avenue to Morgan Cemetery. Up until midnight there were still periods when the line extended past the railroad.

The new special bus system of the Philburco Coach Line proved to be a still greater success. The buses appeared at Broad and Garfield avenue just as soon as traffic became congested Sunday evening and continued to run as specials from Palmyra to the Frankford "L" until regular buses which start from Riverside could comfortably handle the Palmyra business.

COUNTY NOTES

A telegram from Charles H. Folwell, Jr., received in Mount Holly last week stated that his firm, the Gordon-Folwell-Dickson Company, of Houston, Texas, had just brought in an oil well at Eldorado, Arkansas, flowing seven thousand barrels a day. About a month ago the firm drilled a well in the same district which flowed fifteen thousand barrels per day, said to be the largest in that field. These wells are drilled on contract for the Humble and other large oil companies which own them the drilling firm having no interest in the ownership.

Negotiations for the sale of the Kelsey & Killie holdings converging at the corner of Main and Brainerd streets, Mount Holly, were resumed last week and an agreement of sale made between the owners of the ruined buildings, including the valuable real estate upon which they stand, and Herman Odlen, a real estate operator of Camden. Mr. Odlen laid down a substantial deposit to make effective the terms of the bargain. The Camden man has three months within which to complete the purchase of the properties, which include the Masonic Temple, the Kelsey & Killie Building and the Allen property, the latter situate on Brainerd street. Under the terms of the agreement the purchaser may complete the transaction at any time prior to the expiration of the time limit. Mr. Killie, of the law firm, stated that he understood the intention of Mr. Odlen is to put up a building with stores on the first floor and offices on the second. There was no talk of another moving picture house.

Process of Growth of Human Language

An artificial speaking machine was demonstrated by Sir Richard Paget. By blowing into it and fingering stops he mechanically produced complete words and sentences.

He used this device to illustrate his theory of the development of human language from the unintelligible roars, grunts, squeaks, howls and whistles of our prehistoric ancestors.

In those early days, he said, according to the New York World, man used his larynx to roar, to grunt with and at the same time he communicated his ideas to others by grimaces and the movements of tongue and lips. The next step was the discovery that by blowing air through the mouth while he was grimacing the movements of his tongue and lips produced changes of whispered sounds, so that the various grimaces could be recognized even when his back was turned.

The last stage in the great invention of speech came when our primitive ancestors discovered that by roaring and grunting at the same time as they whispered the audible grimace became recognizable ten or twenty times farther off than before. They also found that they could vary the note of their roars and grunts without interfering with the recognition of the grimace. And so they invented the art of song.

Clouds Vary Greatly in Their Composition

Air is viscid, like molasses, but of course not so sticky. Not only is it viscid, but its viscosity varies greatly with temperature and pressure. On the ground clouds diffuse rapidly, higher up they are ropy and still higher they are granular, like sand grains on a beach. There are cloud levels and clear spaces in the air where clouds are rare or never go. These levels were determined before the earth took its shape. They are fixed by the dynamic laws of the globe, says the Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

The lowest clouds lie at less than 5,000 feet above the ground, and they would float there if this world were all gaseous, like the planet Jupiter is. On stormy days they do, in fact, come as near to the land as they can, and hug the ground so closely that they make the day dark. These clouds are heavy rolling billows.

Certainly Was Dumb

In Lancashire the victim of nearly every funny story is the "tackler," an onlooker in a mill. He is invariably made out to be an extremely stupid fellow. The following is a typical example as told by Whit Cunliffe:

"Two tacklers, dressed in their Sunday best, met in the street, and one remarked to the other:

"'Why, Bill, how nice your suit looks. You only had it new the same time as mine and look how mine has gone out of shape.'

"'Well,' remarked Bill, 'you should do the same as I do; get one of them coat hangers.'

"His friend's face brightened and he departed full of glee. They met again some time later.

"'Well,' said Bill, 'did you get that coat hanger I told you about?'

"'Yes,' replied the other, 'but the blooming thing made my shoulders sore.'"

The Wonderful Baby

"Now, then, ladies and gents," shouted the rosy-faced showman, "walk up an' see the most wonderful baby on earth! The charge for admission is only sixpence. Walk up! Walk up!"

A good many people responded to the invitation, and when the place was full the showman brought forward a very ordinary baby indeed in all respects.

"What is there wonderful about it?" asked one of the disgusted audience of the showman. "I've seen thousands of babies like it."

"Well," said the showman, getting near an aperture in the booth, "all I can say is that its mother says it's the most wonderful baby on earth, an' if she doesn't know who does? You'll have to take the lady's word for it!" he yelled as he dodged an empty bottle and disappeared from view.—London Tit-Bits.

Cleveland on the Cow

Grover Cleveland's composition on the cow, written when he was a small boy in school, follows:

"The cow is very useful if it were not for the cow we could not have no milk to put in our coffee and tea.

"Every part of the cow is useful; the skin is tanned into leather and boots are made of it. The flesh is good for food and is called beef; their horns are made into buttons. Of milk butter and cheese is made. There is a glutinous substance by the hoof which is made into glue—indeed if it were not for the cow, we should have to do without many things which are considered necessaries of life."—Kansas City Times.

Slow Poisons in Tea When Improperly Made

A slow and deadly poison can result from the incorrect brewing of tea, whereas, it is a harmless and pleasant beverage if certain rules are adhered to, explains a scientist in the Baltimore Sun.

Its stimulating effects are due to the presence in tea leaves of a powerful drug called theine. If the pot is not allowed to stand too long, only a small quantity of this substance is dissolved out of the leaves by the hot water, and the tea refreshes us without doing any harm. When the teapot is allowed to remain for hours on the stove, an excessive quantity of theine is extracted from the leaves, together with a larger amount of another semipoisonous substance known as tannin.

These two together form a real poison, affecting the nerves, the digestion and the general health. Stewed tea is almost as harmful as opium or cocaine. The habit of taking it in this way is soon formed, and the tea drunkard thinks nothing of consuming 20 or 30 cups a day.

Immensity of Waters Stirs the Imagination

Picture a place of inky darkness and intense cold; a region to which the rays of the sun never have penetrated; a barren waste seemingly unending, bereft of vegetation and air, with oozy slopes inhabited by queer, crawling creatures; a place where no man could exist for an instant, where no work of man could be placed without being crushed to shapeless uselessness under a weight greater than all the mountains of the earth.

Most of our globe is like that, for that is the bottom of the sea, as pictured by modern science, writes Raymond J. Brown in the Popular Science Monthly.

In round numbers the earth's surface consists of 57,000,000 square miles of land and 140,000,000 square miles of water. These figures, however, give but a vague idea of the real immensity of the vast, marvelous sea.

The average depth of sea is five times greater than the average height of land above sea level over the whole earth, the average depth of the sea being more than two and one-half miles, while the average height of land is half a mile. If Mount Everest, tallest mountain on earth, five and one-half miles high, were dropped into one of the deepest parts of the ocean, its summit would be submerged by more than half a mile. In fact, if all the land could be leveled off flush with the sea, and all the debris dumped in the water, the sea could scarcely be changed at all. There still would be an ocean one and three-fourths miles deep.

Once Malevolent, Now Made to Serve Mankind

Some of the most useful of the gifts of science were first revealed to mankind in a malevolent rather than a benevolent aspect, London Tit-Bit observes. But even the most destructive agencies may in the course of time be brought into the constructive service of the human race.

Steel, man's most useful metal, made its appearance in the form of swords and spearheads for the killing of man. Now we employ it for the skeletons of skyscrapers and steamships.

Petroleum was first employed as "Greek fire" for setting ships ablaze. Now it is employed, among other things, as fuel for the propulsion of ships.

Many of our modern medicines were used by savages for poisoning their arrow points. Strychnine and aconite had this ill-omened origin. Another arrow poison, obtained by the savages from cassava juice, is hydrocyanic acid, which in the hands of the modern metallurgist extracts nine-tenths of the gold supply of the world.

Arsenic, which during the Renaissance was the fashionable means of poisoning people, is now used for the more laudable purpose of poisoning plant pests and the parasites of man.

Boaster "Taken Down"

On a football field a man with a loud voice was boasting to a party of admiring youngsters of the doughty deeds he had done on the football field in days gone by. Suddenly he turned his attention to the band.

"Ah!" he observed, "those fellows play decently, but they've fallen off terribly since I was a member of the band."

"What!" ejaculated one of his hearers. "You played with that lot?"

"Certainly," was the reply; "I was with them for years."

The crowd roared and the boastful one hastily retired on learning that the band in question was composed of harmless inmates of the local lunatic asylum.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Best Way to Use Phone

Telephone companies for many years have reiterated the advice that users should talk directly into the transmitter, but recent tests have for the first time set forth in concrete terms the result of disobeying the injunction. It was found that to talk with the lips six inches from the transmitter was equivalent to inserting another 200 miles of line between the speaker and the listener. The best results were obtained, the tests disclosed, when the mouth was only one-half inch from the transmitter and facing directly into it, thus avoiding deflection of sound waves.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Negative Beauty

Perhaps the most to be aimed at in domestic architecture is negative beauty, a condition of things which invites or suggests beauty to those who are capable of the sentiment, because a house, truly viewed, is but a setting, a background, and is not to be pushed to the front and made much of for its own sake. It is for shelter, for comfort, for health and hospitality, to eat and sleep in, to be born in and to die in, and it is to accord in appearance with homely everyday usages, and with natural, universal objects and scenes.—John Burroughs.

Few Horses in Cities

When the small boy saw a colt, while on a summer outing, he said ruefully, "Who pulled his rockers off?" It will soon become necessary for illustrators to include the horse and cow in the animal book from which the average child gets his knowledge of the world about him, since not one youngster in a thousand sees a horse in the city. When a child comes to the word "carriage" in a story, it must be explained to him as chariot and litter or howdah are explained, since he never sees one unless it be in the motion pictures.

Ancient Candlestick

Unique in appearance is an iron candlestick owned by a Los Angeles girl. This was given her ancestors by Henri II of France. It was used in the doughty monarch's hunting lodge, and is made of sturdy iron spirals set upon a round base on three bent legs. The candle fits down in the spiral, and there is an ingenious iron knob or handle which, when twisted, raises the diminishing candle a spiral at a time, so that the light may be even as the wax melts down.

THE QUESTION BOX

The Keystone State

Newcomer, Broad Street—Can you tell me why Pennsylvania is called the Keystone State?

Ans. This application is supposed to have been given to the state because of the central geographical position it held among the thirteen original states.

Changed in 1918

Uncertain, Thomas Avenue—Has the name of Bohemia been changed?

Ans. Yes. On Oct. 20, 1918, a republic was proclaimed, which was called Czecho-Slovakia. Prague is still the capital.

Mankind Began with the Semites

Tutor, Riverton—Please answer in your question column what race of people first inhabited the earth?

Ans. The earliest history of mankind, so far as is known, begins with the Semites. It is generally accepted that northern Arabia was their primitive home. They conquered Babylonia and Egypt, and through Amalgamation, became the earliest Babylonians, Assyrians and Egyptians. Historians sometimes assume that the native races were Mongalians, traces of which are still found in China, Thibet, Finland, The Caucasus and probably the American Indian.

Ten Years Ago

Captain, River Bank—Will you kindly answer in your question box the exact date the Lusitania was sunk?

Ans. The Lusitania was sunk on May 7, 1915.

A Reign of 72 Years

A. M., Fifth Street.—What king and queen reigned the longest, and how many years was it?

Ans. Louis XIV of France was the longest reigning monarch. He was on the throne seventy-two years having ascended the throne in 1643, when he was five years old, and died in 1715, aged 77 years.

Should Be Caught in Season

Furrier, Riverside.—Is it necessary that animals that are caught for their fur should be killed at a certain season?

Ans. Yes. One-fourth of the full value of furs is lost because so many of them come to the market unprime. The open season for trapping should not cover more than two months.

Would not Fall Straight to Earth

Flier, Riverton—If an iron ball was dropped from an airplane one mile high in the the air would the ball fall straight to earth?

Ans. No. The ball would begin to curve to the east slightly when it started to fall.

Nautical Mile the Longest

Yachtsman, Lippincott Avenue—Which is the longest, if any difference, the land mile or the sea mile?

Ans. A statute (land) mile is 5,280 feet. A nautical (sea) mile is 6,080.20 feet.

"Off-N"

Good Diction, Riverside—Will you kindly tell me how to pronounce "often?"

Ans. Pronounce it just as though it was spelled off-n.

Has Authority to take Pennies

Farmer, Riverton, R. R.—Will you please tell me if the rural mail carrier is supposed to take the pennies out of a mail box when there is no stamp on the letter?

Ans. The postoffice department says that a rural mail carrier has authority to take pennies where there is no stamps on the letter, but not to make change. See that money is carefully wrapped.

SOON TO OPEN WEST BROAD FOR TRAFFIC

Improved Palmyra Street Will Be Put in Use Next Monday

TRAFFIC CONGESTION WILL BE RELIEVED

Town Has Been Partly Isolated for Several Days Owing to Road Work

After two months of isolation and patient waiting, people and residents of West Broad street, Palmyra, will welcome the news that the re-constructed street will be open next Monday. Not only will the business people and residents welcome the news, but it will be glad tidings to the town at large, for many have been inconvenienced while this main thorofare has been closed.

The last portion of the main section of the road, which takes fourteen days to "cure," was finished week before last. This week marked the completion of the remaining work which included laying of the gutter which only takes five days to "cure" and filling of the seams between the sections of concrete with asphalt.

The Public Service Company started its road gang to work this week. The trolley tracks are to be raised and lowered, whichever is necessary, to grade. The grade crossings and turnouts will be the first to receive attention. Early this week excavation work was started in preparation of laying concrete base for the granite blocks which will fill in these portions to the grade of the new concrete drive.

The opening of the new road will relieve traffic conditions considerably, for Palmyra has been virtually without any means of exit during the past two weeks. It has been impossible to go to Camden via the River Road, for West Broad street has been closed, and now the Burlington Pike is torn up from the Pensauken Creek past Riverton.

The "back road" from Parry to Moorestown is in miserable condition, and although the work of improving this section is promised to be completed by September, it is hardly probable, and will no doubt still be in the same condition in October. The Pike should be finished in a short time.

MARTHA ELLA RUDDEROW

Mrs. Martha Ella Rudderow, seventy-five years old, died at her home on Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, Monday morning. Mrs. Rudderow had been in poor health for several years and was stricken with paralysis, which caused her death, in April.

Funeral services were held at the Snover Funeral Home, East Broad street, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock with the Rev. Frederick Blaser, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was made in Morgan Cemetery.

Mrs. Rudderow had been a resident of Palmyra for the past forty years. Her husband, the late Winfield Rudderow, who died in 1904, was proprietor of the grocery business at Broad street and Cinnaminson avenue, which was purchased by William H. Cook after Mr. Rudderow's death.

Mrs. Rudderow is survived by two sons, Forrest G., of Palmyra and William V., of Nevada.

OSBORN HARRIS

Osborn Harris, colored, died at his home in East Riverton Monday morning. Funeral services will be held at the colored Baptist Church, East Riverton, Friday afternoon, with the Rev. Mr. Foster officiating. Interment will be made in Wrightsville cemetery with Funeral Director Frank A. Snover in charge. The deceased was 64 years old.

DROWNS AT BURLINGTON

Boy Falls Overboard from Boat Tied Up at Wharf

Burlington's first drowning of the season occurred Sunday when James R. O'Farrow, eleven years old, son of Atlas and Aria O'Farrow, of 41 West Delaware avenue, fell into the Delaware River from the deck of Captain William Shisler's boat, "Niagara Maid." The body was recovered.

The boy was employed by Captain Shisler to help him with the "Niagara Maid" which plies between Burlington and the amusement park on Burlington Island. The boat was tied up at the Dilwyn street wharf at the time of the drowning.

According to Captain Shisler the boy was supposed to be in the bow of the boat while the craft was lying at the wharf and he, the Captain, was in the stern.

Wanting the boy for something Captain Shisler called to him, but got no response. When the boy failed to put in an appearance Captain Shisler gave an alarm and the work of grappling for the body began.

It was found off the water works wharf at noon, two hours after the accident is supposed to have happened.

The boy is said to have been a good swimmer and it is believed that he must have been rendered unconscious in some way when he fell overboard. Some think that in rising to the surface his head may have struck the bottom of the boat. Coroner H. B. Earnest, of Riverside, was notified, and issued a burial permit after examining the body and learning the facts of the case.

Membership Drive Meets Favorable Response in Riverton

The membership committee of the new Chamber of Commerce just organized in Riverton has met with most encouraging receptions in nearly every case. Of course there have been a few refusals. That was to be expected. But the members already enrolled are sufficient to insure the success of the project from the start.

Many valuable suggestions for activities of the body have been made, which shows that people are giving it thoughtful consideration.

One man said, "Sure I'll join! This is just what Riverton has been needing for years. I would have joined long ago if somebody had started it."

A woman said, "Of course I want to become a member. I don't see just how it is going to help me much personally, but I believe it will be a great thing for Riverton, and want to do my bit."

If you haven't been called on, come out to the meeting next Monday night, August 3, in Collins' hall, anyway, and sign up then. Get in now and have your say about what activities the Chamber of Commerce shall promote, and take your part in the election of the board of directors.

The contest for a suitable slogan is still open.

A prize of $5 will be awarded for the one that is adopted.

Tennis Season in Full Swing

Pyramid Tournament and Other Contests Soon to Start at Field Club

The racquet swingers of the Palmyra Tennis Club have hit their mid-season form and every clear evening finds quite a crowd of Bill Tilden's followers down at the Field Club courts. Last Saturday the team was scheduled to play its first match of the season, but the weather made it impossible.

The Greenpoint Club team was to be the opposition and it is expected that the Field Club will meet this aggregation across the net in the near future. The Collingswood team is also slated to be met within the next few weeks.

The pyramid tournament, which has been a huge success during the past few seasons, will get under way next week. The tournament will be run on a slightly different scale than heretofore. During the past seasons the best player was placed in bracket number one, the next two were in the second bracket and so on down the line with the ten "worst" players in bracket ten. Players who were in the sixth section could challenge anyone in the fifth and if the challenger won, they would exchange places.

This year every player will be numbered. A player may challenge any of the three members preceding him on the list and should he win, they will exchange positions. Number four may challenge either, three, two or one. Ten can take on nine, eight or seven.

Should he be good enough, a player could quickly rise from last place to the pinnacle position, but he'll have to play some real tennis to do it.

It is understood that a certain resident asked one of the members if the tennis club membership was closed. Monte Simons heard of it and wishes to state emphatically that it is not. Not only is the membership open to any person who can afford to pay the few smackers required to get his name on the roll, but they are cordially invited to sign up and get in on the fun. The more the merrier and keener the competition, says Montgomery.

Elmer Loughery, who was one of the court luminaries last year, has forsaken tennis for baseball, according to some of the reg'lars down the line. Elmer was on the scene Tuesday night, but not in the regulation white uniform. He made his debut as a baseball catcher this spring and is now suffering with a sore mitt, the result of attempting to catch the horsehide with the right hand instead of the protected one.

"Ollie" Durgin is down regularly, attired in his white linen knickers white hosiery and blue sweater which he won while on the field of athletic endeavor for "Dear Old Penn." Ollie wins his share of games and has just recovered from the lacing that he received at the hands of Glen Chambers in last year's tournament.

Harold Baker was so disgusted with his game that he quit and took a business trip to St. Louis for a couple of weeks. It is understood, however, that the said Harold is out there teaching them to play tennis the Palmyra way.

Harry Oriemann's smashes at the net are becoming very effective and it is understood that the "Bimbo" is more than pleased with his form this season.

Several "Buggers," you know—beetle chasers, are spaying and some show promise. Among them is Hawkinson who has all the earmarks of a "Vinc" Richards and is slated to play on the local team.

"Champ" Hardy is still there with his smashing game and ranks number one.

And of course, "Newt" Morton, his balloon trousers and problematical shots cannot be forgotten.

And in closing we might state that Monte Simons, who was the instigator of this literary work of art, says he is "going strong" this season. Don't take his word for it, let's see where he finishes in the Pyramid tournament.

"Bob" Wins Spring Series

Sailed by Ogden Mattis, Who Won After Sacrificing Five Points He Could Have Retained

The first of the two series of six races arranged by the Riverton Yacht Club for this year has been sailed, and in the larger class "Bob" won, sailed by Ogden Mattis, and in the 16-foot class "Big Hurry" won, sailed by Owen Merrill.

In the first race of this series "Lewanna" protested both "Lady Audrey" and "Bob" for improperly crossing "Lewanna's" bow just before the starting gun. The Race Committee sustained the protest against "Lady Audrey" but not against "Bob." Ogden Mattis, however, because "Lady Audrey" could not have avoided "Lewanna" without fouling "Bob," elected to count himself out of the five points he had won. In this race "Lewanna" ran aground on the Pennsylvania shore, due, primarily, to the fact that the pier of the Tacony Ordance Company, having been shortened about 50 feet at the end by last winter's ice, misled Robertson to think he was clear of the flats. In the second race "Lewanna" fouled "Bob" and was again counted out. Gardner Crowell was unable to compete in the first four races because his boat was not ready in three of them and in the fourth he was unable to get a crew.

The scores of the races were as follows:

Larchmont Inter-Club Class

"Bob," sailed by Ogden Mattis, 22 points.

"Bellerose," sailed by Rex Showell and Ed Faunce, 17 points.

"Lady Audrey" sailed by Edgar Miller, Jr., 16 points.

"Lewanna" sailed by Frederick Robertson, 11 points.

"Charmion," sailed by Gardner Crowell, 9 points.

16 Foot Class

"Big Hurry," sailed by Owen Merrill, 16 points.

"Adnama," sailed by Malcolm and Laddy Dickinson, 9 points.

"Hot Times," sailed by Dewees Showell, 7 points.

The system of counting points in the Larchmont Inter-Club Class is to allow one point for each of the five boats, whether they are in the race or not, so that the winner gets five points. When all the boats are sailing the last boat would have one point, and two points when only four are sailing. Counting this way results in a greater penalty on the boat which is absent. In the smaller class only one point is counted for each boat in the race, as the races sometimes include other of the 16 footers not attached to Riverton, in their series, however, only one outside boat competed and it in only one race.

The Larchmont Inter-Club Class corrresponds very closely, (within two inches in length,) with the Six Meter Class in which annual international races are sailed, largely with English boats and on at least one occasion with a Spanish entry. The Six Meter Class has more free board or height above water. It was reported that the last boats built for Six Meter Class by American builders cost $7,500, and the English boats $6,500. They, however, have the Marconi Rigs in which the main sail is somewhat like the old "Leg-of-Mutton" sail, only it is higher. The Larchmont Class proved too wet for the Sound and too expensive for the general purpose of a racing boat of the smaller size (compared with the larger boats on the Sound.) They are a fast and wonderfully balanced boat and were designed by the noted William Gardner and built at City Island, New York, in 1910. Those at Riverton are in excellent condition and are likely to remain so for some years, owing to the fact that they are so well constructed.

A new set of sails for these boats costs approximately $400.

There is no other sail boat racing on the Delaware at the present time. For some years a few boats of somewhat the same size, raced with time allowance, at Essington, but for several seasons they have had no sailing races there.

While it is true that on the Sound and in the vicinity of Boston more boats are in the races, the men who sail our Larchmont Class, including Dizzy Miller, would average proportionately as well if not better than the men who sail those races. Ogden Mattis particularly, has recently shown consistent ability.

Certain of the boats sail better in heavy weather. This is especially true of "Lady Audrey." It is largely due to the sails. In light winds a sail should have more draught, which means that it should be fuller toward the mast in the main sail and toward the head stay in the jib. As sails grow older they lose their effectiveness for light winds in spite of the fact that whenever they are furled the main sail is loosened on the gaff and the boom in order to preserve the original draught as far as possible. Besides this, the different currents in our river, including the uncertainty of the wind at certain points on the course, very frequently causes changes of position of the boats before the race is ended.

For the benefit of the club members and other spectators with the resulting satisfaction of those who take part in these races, they are sailed almost entirely within view of the pier. Riverton, however, has been so accustomed to sailing races that it does not seem to take the interest which is merited in view of the high class racing which is offered.

MAXINE MEITZNER FINISHES STRONG

Riverton's Girl Wonder Swimmer Shows No Fatigue After Nearly Eight Hours in Water

Maxine Meitzner finished the swim from Ocean City to Atlantic City last Saturday in fine condition. Owing to the difference in time, Ocean City having standard time and Riverton daylight saving time, Maxine and her teacher, George Corner, arrived at the start an hour early. However, at 10 o'clock standard time, Miss Meitzner dived into the Atlantic.

At the Ocean City Inlet she was caught in the strong tide, and for two hours she had to buck the tide just to hold her position. After leaving the Inlet, with seven miles still to go, Maxine had been in the water three hours. She was piloted by two of Ocean City's best life guards and George Corner in a row-boat. At intervals she drank hot coffee and beef broth. The landing was made just before Young's Pier, Atlantic City, was reached, exactly seven hours and forty minutes after the start was made at Ocean City.

Among those who witnessed the landing were her mother, Mrs. Bertha Meitzner, Miss Dorothy Meitzner, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eisele, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Peterson and daughter, Floraine, and the Misses Ernestine and Dorothy Stewart, all of Riverton.

The officials who witnessed the swim on Saturday are confident that Miss Meitzner would be successful in swimming the English Channel, and if Miss Gertrude Ederle, who is now in France, fails to land at Dover, Miss Meitzner will be the next mermaid to be sent abroad to try her luck.

Motion picture men from the Pathe Company took pictures of the entire swim, which may be viewed at the Moreland Theatre, Ocean City, this week. It is hoped that the Broadway Palace, Palmyra, too will be able to secure these pictures so that all of Miss Meitzner's friends may see the capable manner in which she battled the sea on Saturday.

POMONA GRANGE PICNIC

Will Be Held at Woodlawn Park, Trenton, August Sixth

The annual picnic of the Burlington County Pomona Grange will be held at Woodlawn Park, Trenton, this year, the date having been announced for Thursday, August 6.

A program of sports, dancing and speaking will furnish the amusement, and the park management has offered a silver cup to the winning baseball team, also one to the Grange having the largest percentage of members present.

CO. LETTERS ON 1926 AUTOMOBILE LICENSES

New System Will Show What Section of State Car Comes From

Automobile license tags in New Jersey will be issued by counties for 1926. Each auto owner will be required to obtain his license in the county where he resides, and a letter preceding the number on the tags will make it possible at a glance to tell from what county the car comes.

The motor vehicle department hopes that this new system will aid in quick apprehension of auto thieves and traffic violators. It also is hoped that the new system will eliminate the constant requests for low numbered tags, which has caused a great annoyance for the department in the past.

The 1926 license numbers are to start at 1001 in each county, and no numbers lower than that are to be used except on free-licensed cars owned by the state, county or city.

Serial letters to be assigned to each county are:

"A," Atlantic; "B," Bergen; "N" Burlington, "C," Camden; "F," Cape May; "Y," Cumberland; "E," Essex; "Z," Gloucester; "H," Hudson; "J," Hunterdon, "L," Mercer; "K," Middlesex; "M," Monmouth; "V," Morris; "P," Passaic; "Q," Ocean; "I," Salem; "S," Somerset; "R," Sussex; "U," Union; "W," Warren.

Registration plates for non-residents will have their numerals preceded by the number 4.

State owned cars will bear the letters "SG" ,ounty owned cars will be designated by the letters "CC," and cars owned by municipalities will carry the letters "MG." "O" is left for taxi, jitney and bus licenses, and "X" for commercial styles.

"MITCH" LANDS HARD

Knocks Out Professional Boxer at Riverside Carnival

At the carnival held in Riverside last week "Mitch" Meyers, colored, of West Palmyra, former driver of Joseph L. Stack's ice truck, achieved some little fame as a fighter.

It seems that a prize fighter was connected with the show. The "pug" offered to take on "all comers" and in addition volunteered to pay any of the would-be-fighters a dollar for every minute they stayed in the ring with him.

"Mitch" looked him over Wednesday night and decided he could stay in the ring for a few minutes, at least, and pick up a few spare sheckles. "Mitch" accepted the challenge and they entered the ring, shook hands, and started the fireworks.

They exchanged a few blows and "Mitch" decided to "open up. He let loose, started both arms working in trip hammer fashion and his gloves landed with just about as much force and speed.

The 'pug" was lifted from his feet and then landed on the mat, where he reposed very calmly for the next fifteen minutes. It took Mitch just ninety seconds, one minute and a half, to get started and knock his opponent into the land of dreams. The colored lad collected a five spot in the bargain.

The "pug" weighted 162 pounds and Mitchs weight is 155. The youth is now in training and plans to make his debut in the ring world in the near future.

Boy Scouts at Camp Rotary

Many Palmyra, Riverton and Riverside Lads Win Merit Badges

Last Saturday Palmyra Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts of America, connected with the First Lutheran Church, returned from Camp Rotary. The boys were all in good health and condition after a week of real camp life.

Scouts Robert English and Harry English, of Palmyra Troop No. 1, Scout Floyd Smith, of Riverton Troop No. 1, Scout J. Dill and J. Shock, of Riverside Troop No. 1, and Scout Charles Fisher, of Philadelphia Troop No. 228, accompanied them.

Camp Rotary, located on Fort Island in the Delaware river near Frenchtown, N. J., is run by the Camden County Council for Camden County Scouts, but due to the fact that Burlington County Council has not had time as yet to obtain a camp site of its own, Camden County offered the use of its camp to the Burlington county Boy Scouts.

The island comprises about forty acres, with about one-third of it in timber, affording an excellent opportunity for nature study.

The tents were 16 feet square and while they hold eight boys comfortably, it is seldom that more than six boys are placed in a tent.

The camp is very ably directed by Camden Scout Executive H. Etter, as director; Burlington County Scout Executive John R. Tallis, as assistant director; Mr. Tompkins, of Camden, as camp master; Dr. H. Coxson, of Moorestown, as camp physician, and Wilson Gosser, of Philadelphia, as physical director. We must not forget Sam who had charge of the culinary operation.

The mess hall seats 150 boys and is being enlarged.

The Palmyra boys were treated very courteously and were so pleased with their trip that a number of them are planning to go back for another week later in the summer.

A baseball game was staged Friday between the Palmyra boys and the Junior staff of the camp and while our boys lost the game, they made a very creditable showing.

In the track meet held on Thursday Charles Keppner, of Palmyra won first place in the running broad jump and the 60-yard dash in the Junior class.

Scout J. Shock, of Riverside, was admitted to the Junior Wanamee Tribe of Indians and is entitled to a free trip to camp at the end of the season to pass the final requirements.

Every opportunity was given the boys to pass Scout tests and the boys responded nobly. Following is a list of tests passed by the boys during the week for which merit badges were awarded:

Francis Bailey—Carpentry.

Jack Fry—Carpentry, First Aid, Cycling, Camp, Conservation, Safety First and Swimming (first class.)

J. Shock, Riverside—Swimming, Life Saving and U. S. Junior Volunteer Life-saving Corps.

J. Dill, Riverside—Swimming, Life Saving, Pioneering, First Aid, Safety First, Physical Development, Camping and U. S. Junior V. L. C.

"BOB" WINS ANNUAL RACE

The annual down river race of the L. I. Class, Riverton Yacht Club, to gas buoy off Gloucester and return was sailed on Saturday, in a very light easterly breeze, sometimes dropping out entirely, leaving the boats to drift over the course.

"Lewanna" was first to cross the line but was soon overhauled by "Bellerose," "Bob" and "Charmian."

The boats changed position several times during the race and it looked like anyone's race until the finish, "Bellerose" was first to round the gas buoy, but was overhauled on the run home. The boats finished very close with the exception of "Lady Audrey," which had the misfortune to run aground near the buoy and was forced to wait for the tide to turn before she could get off.

The finish was as follows: "Charmian," "Bob," "Bellerose," "Lewanna," and "Lady Audrey."

Bowler Entertained at Camp

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Smith, of Riverton; Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Truman, of Palmyra, Misses Helen and Catherine Euskat, of Riverton, Arthur Sceiters, of Riverside, had as their guest Harry J. Smith, the noted bowler, of Newark, on a weekend company trip in the Atlantic Highlands. The tents were pitched on Mt. Mitchel, 300 feet above sea level. The scenery and camping trip was enjoyed by all and they plan another in the near future.

THREE KINDS OF FAILURE

$129 FOR FIRE CO.

Ladies' Auxiliary Turns in Tidy Sum to Company

At the regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Fire Company held Monday evening, the organization was presented with $129.43. This neat little sum, which was turned in by George J. Spencer, represented the recent earnings of the Company's Ladies' Auxiliary.

On the Fourth of July the ladies operated several stands from which they sold soft drinks, hot dogs, etc. Their holiday profits amounted to $64.43. Last Saturday they held a cake sale, and despite the rain, disposed of all their delicacies and the profits amounted to $65.00.

The Company will not hold a carnival this year and must have some means of replenishing its funds which was heretofore done with the carnival receipts, so the ladies are trying to do their share. According to Mrs. George J. Spencer, the Auxiliary plans to resume activities early in the fall, when they hope to increase the fund which they have already raised for the fire fighters.

County Bonds Are Awarded

Freeman & Co., of Philadelphia, Is Successful Bidder for New Issue

Freeman & Company, of Philadelphia, was the successful bidder for the county bonds, sale of which was awarded at the meeting of the County Board of Freeholders last Friday. Freeman submitted two bids. The one accepted was for eight-five $1000 bonds at 4.3577% interest, for the $85,000 issue and two hundred fifty-five $1000 bonds at 4.343% interest, for the $255,000 issue.

Bids were received for the improvement of Branch Pike as follows: Union Paving Company, $48,384.70; Joseph F. Burke, $49,906.02. Fronst street, Florence, Union Paving Company, $7,611; Joseph F. Burke, $7,869. Crosswicks street, Bordentown, concrete, Barrett Paving Company, $29,605; Walter S. French Company, concrete, $28,460; Union Paving Company, sheet asphalt, $26,925. Joseph F. Burke, sheet asphalt, $28,499.

Owing to the fact that Bordentown has to pay a large portion of the cost of the Crosswicks street road, Director of Roads Stout offered a resolution, which was unanimously passed, that the bid for this work be referred to the Bordentown Commissioners. The other bids were referred to the Department of Roads.

Moorestown Township was granted permission to suspend a 12 inch water pipe under the county bridge at Lenola.

The Director of Roads reported that an agreement had been reached with Burlington, in reference to the improvement of Masonic Home road and that bids will be opened on August 14.

A communication was received from the Union Paving Company about a number of unsettled claims against the county, urging payment without further delay, stating that the company would like to adjust the matter amicably, if possible, but if an agreement could not be reached it would have to be settled in court. A conference with the solicitor was requested. The communication was referred to the solicitor and the county engineer.

The Board of Commissioners, of Haddonfield, addressed a communication to the Board asking for the improvement of eight miles of road between Tabernacle and Chatsworth. This was referred to the Road Department along with a request from the Vincentown Business Men's Association, asking for the Improvement of the road between Vincentown and Smalley's Corner.

The bid of John B. Tifton of $750, for auditing the county books for next year, was received and filed.

Director of Public Buildings Lippincott said it had been requested that the courtroom be painted and electric lights installed during the summer recess of court. He was given authority to proceed with the work.

Mr. Lippincott also reported that the car used by Superintendent Cox at the Hospital for Insane needed replacing, and was authorized to secure another car for Mr. Cox.

On his request Mr. Lippincott was also given authority to buy about fifty sheep to be added to the live stock on the county farm at the almshouse.

Bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads $3,948.92; bridges, $4,328.30; public buildings, $4,050.66; public affairs, $890.17; finance, $28,714.59. Total $41,932.64.

BOYS HAVE FINE CAMP

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and daughter, Marjorie, of Morgan avenue; Mrs. A. C. Bender, of Leconey avenue, motored to Camp Rotary at Uhlerville, Pa., and while the Palmyra and Riverton Boy Scouts returned on Saturday yet the trip was made for an inspection and to gain information as to the good the Burlington County Council has accomplished in providing a regular camp for our boys under proper supervision. The camp was found to be in excellent condition and all the boys interviewed were entirely satisfied with their eats, swims, discipline, etc. No complaints were heard.

A very good feature is that after "taps" 9:30 p. m., no noise or running about the camp is permitted.

The Palmyra boys report a dandy time, even though the rain was supposed to have dampened their spirits but making Indian bead necklaces bird houses, etc., kept them all enjoyably occupied.

BEVERLY BOY WOUNDED

While toying with a revolver Sunday, Thomas Tagller, fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tagller, of Beverly, was shot through the stomach.

CHILD HURT BY AUTO ON LINCOLN AVE.

Little Son of R. S. Rivers Seriously Injured While At Play

RUNS FROM BEHIND STACK'S ICE WAGON

Driver, David McKnight, Jr., Exonerated by Witnesses of Accident

Ralph Rivers, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Rivers, of Lincoln avenue, was run down and badly injured in front of his home by a machine driven by David McKnight, Jr., last Thursday morning.

McKnight, who is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David McKnight, of Bank and Garfield avenues, had been warned the night before that he must stop driving so fast. Witnesses of the accident exonerate young McKnight of reckless driving at the time.

The child was among a group of youngsters who had been on the back of Joseph L. Stack's ice truck. Clayton Weikman, the driver, chased the youngsters and had just started down the street when the accident occurred. The ice truck and McKnight were traveling in opposite directions, and the child ran from behind the ice truck, which obstructed McKnight's view, and dashed in front of his machine.

Witnesses state that McKnight was not speeding and it would have been utterly impossible for him to either stop the machine or prevent hitting the child. Joseph L. Stack, who arrived on the scene a short time after the accident, measured the distance in which McKnight stopped the car and found it to be twenty-seven feet.

The child was knocked down and the machine passed over him, but fortunately, the wheels straddled his body. He was rushed to the office of Dr. Mills by McKnight. The child was unconscious and suffered several deep gashes and cuts about the face and head, had lacerations and bruises over his body and internal injuries.

After being treated by Dr. Mills, the child was taken to the home of Dr. Francis Voorhis, where he is being kept under the care of the physician and a trained nurse. The child's mother is seriously ill at her home and is unaware of her son's serious condition.

After rushing the victim to the Doctor's, McKnight gave himself up to the police and was taken before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter by Officer Joseph Rodgers. Justice Fichter placed the youth under $500 bond awaiting the outcome of the child's condition. Mr. Stack attended the hearing and immediately went McKnight's bond.

For several weeks Councilman Wilmer H. Randell, chairman of the police committee, has been receiving complaints about a youth who drove his machine up and down Lincoln avenue at a high rate speed. None of the complainants, however, could get his license number, each stating the car was going "too fast" for them to distinguish the figures.

Wednesday evening Councilman Randell stationed himself on Lincoln avenue with some of the residents of the neighborhood and waited until the driver was pointed out to him. He recognized young McKnight and immediately got in touch with the youth's parents.

The parents promised they would put a stop to their son's speeding and apparently the officials admonition had taken effect for those who saw him are of the opinion that McKnight was within the speed limit at the time of the accident.

Early this week it was stated at Dr. Voorhis' home that "the child is gradually improving and is doing as well as can be expected."

Lesson for August 2

THE EPISTLE OF JAMES

LESSON TEXT—Jas. 1:19-27.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."—Jas. 1:22.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving and obeying.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Be Ye Doers of the Word.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Doers of the Word.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Religion According to James.

The book of James was written to Jewish Christians scattered abroad who were passing through sore trials and persecutions. The pre-eminent aim was to show these humble believers how to live in such trying times. James recognized the difficulties of Christian living resulting from the attitude of the unbelieving Jews, and knew also the added difficulties of pride, jealousy and cowardly compromises which might spring up within. He showed that all these must be met with the realities which inhere in the religion of Jesus Christ.

I. Receiving the Engrafted Word (vv. 19-21).

1. What Is the Engrafted Word?

"Engrafted" means implanted. In verse 18 he speaks of having been begotten by the Word. The figure is that of a planting of the seeds of truth. The Christian doctrines as contained in the Word, when quickened by the Holy Spirit result in regeneration. The divine method of regeneration is the preaching of God's word made living and active by the Holy Spirit.

2. How the Word Is Received (v. 19).

(1) "Be swift to hear." This means to be ready and eager to use every opportunity to get acquainted with God's word.

Obedience to this injunction will make one diligent in the reading of the Bible, and in attendance at the church services where the Word of God is being taught.

(2) "Slow to speak." From what follows we infer that this refers to religious controversies. It means that whether in the places of worship or in whatever circumstances, we should give respect and thoughtful attention to what our Christian brethren are saying.

(3) "Slow to wrath." Heated discussions sometimes develop in our conferences, even when we gather to consider the doctrines of God's word. Sometimes one may even fancy that anger is justifiable. In such cases we should remember the injunction, be slow to wrath.

3. The Reason for Receiving the Word (vv. 20-21).

"The wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God." Angry debating among Christians never helped to make known God's righteousness. Man's anger springs out of the fountain of his depravity. Therefore its expression can only have a blighting effect upon those who listen, and even upon the speaker in its reaction upon him.

II. Coming Into Self-Knowledge (vv. 22-25).

Receiving the engrafted Word through swiftness to hear, and obeying its holy precepts will result in that experimental knowledge of one's self which brings true blessings. By "doers of the Word," is meant those who make obedience their habitual attitude.

The truths of God's word will permeate their very life and be expressed in everything they do and say. Those who hear and do not obey are self-deceived. Those who go through the form of religion without coming under its power are likened to men who gaze into the mirror beholding the natural face, and then go away and forget how they look.

III. Pure Religion (vv. 26-27).

This means that those who have become doers of the Word will in their outer lives manifest the following traits:

1. Bridling the Tongue (v. 26).

This means that they will speak with discretion. God gave man two ears and but one tongue. The ears are exposed, but the tongue is walled in by the teeth. Just as the tongue reveals the condition of the physical system, so the use of the tongue reveals the religious condition.

2. Sympathizing With and Helping Those in Need (v. 27).

The widow and orphan are the symbols of helplessness and need. Those who have true piety will visit such and render the necessary aid.

3. Keeping Himself Unspotted From the World (v. 27).

The one who has the true life will separate himself from the world.

Giving Up Pleasure

When we have given up an immediate pleasure for character's sake, we are impressed with how much we have sacrificed. Jesus was impressed with how much a man had gained.—Harry Emerson Fosdick.

FARMER SMASHES AUTO WINDSHIELD; CLAIMS DRIVER RAN OVER FOOT

Springfield Township Special Officer Arrested After Altercation With Motorist

An altercation took place near Chambers' Corner last week when an automobile containing Albert Leip, Jr., wife and eighteen months' old baby, of Berlin, got tangled up with a number of cows being driven by Charles Johnson, of Hancock's Corner, and a special officer of Springfield township.

Leip claims he stopped his car in order that the cows might pass but that Johnson became provoked without cause and took a club which he carried and broke in his windshield, the flying glass cutting the baby and making it necessary to take it to the Burlington County Hospital to have its injuries dressed, while Mr. and Mrs. Leip also were more or less cut. Leip also claimed that he was assaulted by Johnson after he got out of the car to remonstrate with the latter for breaking the glass.

Johnson was arrested by Detective Arthur Carabine and at a hearing before Justice Throckmorton did not deny that he broke the windshield with a club, but said he did it after Leip had run over his foot. He also claimed that Leip got out of the car and struck him, but admitted that this was after he had broken the windshield with the club.

There were several eye witnesses to the fracas and a number of them, it is said, were in favor of taking the law in their own hands, and giving Johnson a good beating, but wiser heads prevailed and he was permitted to go home.

Johnson was represented by A. Thomas Atkinson, and after hearing the case Squire Throckmorton held the defendant under $500 bail for Court, he becoming his own bondsman!

FARM LAND BOUGHT

Many Thousands of South Jersey Acres Near Philadelphia Sold

Nearly 5000 acres of the most fertile land in Gloucester county have recently been taken over by real estate operators for home site developments. Transactions have been even more extensive in Salem, and Camden counties and also in this county.

Withdrawal of 20,000 to 25,000 acres from farm cultivation naturally will reduce the amount of fruits and vegetables shipped to the Philadelphia market from South Jersey. This land is valued at $3000 to $2000 an acre for building purposes and $200 an acre for crop growing.

The taking over of these farms along the improved highways leading out from Philadelphia has made a big demand for the smaller farms situated on the back roads. In many instances the sale price for the farms along the important highways has netted the seller enough to buy a smaller farm a short distance from the roads and have a comfortable sum left.

CAPT. POWELL TRANSFERRED

Captain Clifford R. Powell, at his own request, has been placed on the reserve list of the National Guard, subject, of course, to recall for re-assignment at any time. Captain Powell is an overseas veteran with an enviable record, having been seriously wounded over the German trenches while in the air service of Uncle Sam, but recently he has become such a busy man that it became necessary for him to give up something, consequently his request to be transferred to the reserve list.

NEW LAND OF PROMISE FOR FLESHY MATRONS

Injunction Sought to Prevent Night Operation of Silk Mill; Causes Loss of Weight

TRENTON, July 30—There's a new land of Promise for maidens and matrons who either are stout or simply think they are. It's a place where they do not have to watch their diet or guard against putting on weight in other ways. All they have to do is try to sleep, said sleeping to be attempted in the immediate vicinity of the Breen Silk mill, at Phillipsburg.

Eight residents of that municipality appealed to Vice Chancellor Leaming at the State House for an injunction to restrain operation of the plant at night. Through counsel they declared that the noise emanating from the place constitutes a neighborhood nuisance. Action on the petition was reserved.

Egbert Roscerauz, of Blairstown, representing the protestants, asserted that the disturbance is so great that many persons in the neighborhood are unable to sleep, and that some of the women thereabouts are beginning to lose weight.

"That might be considered advantageous by some of them," remarked the Vice Chancellor. "Many would like to know how to lose weight. It may be that we have the real cure in this case."

QUIT BASEBALL JOBS

Burlington Team's Officials Resign Because of Poor Support

Another blow was given baseball in Burlington last week when Edgar Fennimore, of Penn street, resigned as president of the Burlington's County League team, and Harry Brewer, of Penn street, resigned as secretary.

The reason given was lack of support. Because of the small attendance at the games the two men have been compelled to go into their own pockets to pay the expenses of the sport.

An attempt will be made by Harry Cameron, of Penn street, and Basil Sholl, of the Oxmead road, to continue the schedule.

CAMP DIX BANDMAN INJURED

Frank Ward, a member of the 18th Infantry Band of Camp Dix, was seriously injured last week. While riding a motorcycle which he had recently purchased, he crashed head-on into an army truck.

It was pouring rain at the time and Ward was riding with his head down, evidently tinkering with the carburetor when the crash came and he was seriously injured about the head, there being just a spark of life left when he was carried into the base hospital. He revived somewhat during the night and examination showed only a slight concussion of the brain but numerous cuts and bruises of the head and scalp, and later he was removed to the army hospital at Fort Totten, N. Y.

ROAD MONEY ALLOTMENT WILL AID TOWNSHIPS

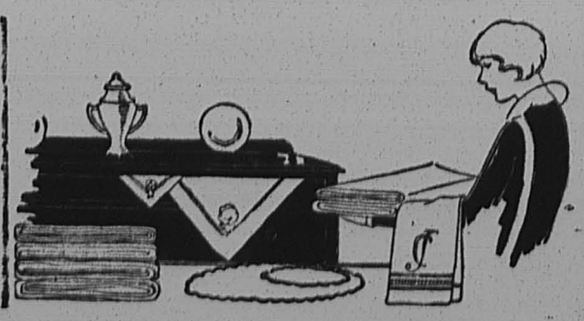

Many Burlington County Sections Will Profit in Distribution of State Funds

With only $840,000 in its possession with which to meet demands amounting to $1,857,271 from townships and boroughs for road construction, the State Highway Commission has issued a schedule allocating the entire fund. The money is a part of the motor vehicle funds and is apportioned on the basis of $40,000 for the townships and boroughs of each county. Under the distribution 99 roads will be improved, the state being allowed to contribute up to 75 per cent of the cost and the township or borough the remaining 25 per cent, with the guarantee that $100 will be spent yearly thereafter on each mile to keep the thoroughfare in good condition.

A total of 183 roads was covered in the requests received by State Highway Engineer Sloan, but the Commission found it necessary to reduce the number to 99 to keep within its appropriation.

The following allotment was made to Burlington county: Bass River, for three miles on Warren Grove-Washington road, $4,500; Chester, one mile on North Fork Landing road, $14,000; Evesham, for one mile on Hog Pond and Cox's Corner road, $5,000; Medford, for two miles on Taunton road, $3,000; Springfield, for .60 mile on Jobstown-Juliustown road, $3,500; Woodland, for three miles on Chatsworth-Ocean county line, $12,000.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

By JOSEPH KAYE

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

GOV. JOHN WINTHROP AND MARGARET WINTHROP

GOV. JOHN WINTHROP was a distinguished Englishman who was appointed governor of Massachusetts and upon whose principles largely the commonwealth of Massachusetts was established. The correspondence he left shows that he was as loving a husband as he was a wise leader, and both the governor's letters and those of his wife preserve in a charming manner the tenderness of their love for each other.

"My deare Husband," wrote Mrs. Winthrop, "I know not how to expresse my love to thee or my desyres of thy wished welfayre, but my hart is well knowne to thee, which will make relation of my affections, though they may be smalle in appearance; my thoughts are nowe on our great change and alteration of our corse heere, which I beseech the Lord to blesse us in, & my good Husband cheare up thy hart in the expectation of God's goodnesse to us, & let nothing dismaye or discourage thee; if the Lord be with us, who can be against us: my greefe is the feare of staylnge behinde thee, but I must leave all to the goode providence of God. I thank the Lord we are all here in reasonable goode health. I received a letter since you went from my sonne John, which brout goode Nuse from Nue E.: I praye thank him for it, I will rite to him if I have time, & thus with my best respect to thyeselfe, brother and sister D.: I commit you to God and rest.

"Your faythfull wife,

"MARGARET WINTHROP."

To which Winthrop replied:

"Deare. . . . . I am still detayned from thee but it is by the Lord, who hath a greater interest in me than thyselfe, when His work is donne He will restore me to thee againe to our mutual comfort: Amen. I thank thee for thy sweet Lre (letter): my heart was with thee to have written to thee every dayre, but business would not permitt me. I suppose thou hearest much newes from hence; it may be some grievious to thee: but be not troubled, I assure thee things goe well & they must needes doe so, for God is with us and thou shalt see a happy issue. I hope to be with thee tomorrowe and a frend or 2: I suppose. So I kisse my sweet wife and rest,

FORD SALES RECORD

A new June sales record was established by the Ford Motor Company during the month just passed, when approximately 6,000 more Ford cars and trucks were delivered to retail customers in the United States than during the same month a year ago, which held the previous high mark for June.

Reports indicate a continued large volume of business through the summer months with a higher buying level than is usual during this season of the year. The outlook is for another record breaking month for July. Urgent requests for additional shipments have made necessary increasing the schedule, which now calls for several thousand more cars and trucks than were produced in June.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,300 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number, 176,256 represent domestic sales, as compared with 170, 547 cars and trucks sold in June a year ago.

Buying conditions also continue good in the high priced car market. Evidence of this appears in the sales of Lincoln cars during June, with deliveries to domestic customers totaling 892, an increase of 95 over June a year ago.

STATE POLICEMAN GETS MOUNT HOLLY WOMAN WITH THE GOODS

The arrest of Mrs. Carrie Middleton, of Mount Holly, by State Trooper Young, last week should be a warning to the bootlegging fraternity to avoid that proverbial unlucky thirteen, for when the trooper searched the woman's car he found a suit case with thirteen pints of liquor all ready for delivery to a prospective customer.

It is said that Mrs. Middleton received the order for the goods over the telephone and that she considered for sometime before she finally decided to deliver the booze, this being a little out of her line, but finally concluded to take a chance, with the result that she was picked up by Trooper Young on the road near Vincetown.

At a hearing before Supreme Court Commissioner Clifford R. Powell the defendant pleaded guilty and was held under $500 bail for court.

The extra hot dog stands which were put in at Dayton during the trial were not a financial success. Some of the evolutionists wouldn't patronize 'em for fear they might be eating some of their ancestors.

FIND BEST SOURCES OF NEW JERSEY CLOVER SEED

Results of tests at the Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick, to determine the best source of clover seed for New Jersey farms showed marked difference in favor of northern grown seed. That coming from England produced nearly a half a ton more of cured hay to the acre than the Italian seed.

Winter killing of the Italian seed amounted to 74 per cent. and was in a large measure responsible for the lower yields. Of the English grown seed 57 per cent. was winter killed.

Other factors contributing to the larger yields from English seed were taller growth and less shrinkage on curing. Plants from this seed averaged 2½ inches greater height, and the shrinkage was 5 per cent. less than that of plants from Italian seed.

These experiments, continues the report, show the superiority of clover seed produced in northerly climates. When the supply is adequate, New Jersey farmers will do well to use seed from the northern Ohio valley. When this source is limited and they must resort to European seed, that coming from Italy and other southern countries should be avoided.

Extradition Papers for Former Assemblyman Are Granted

Former Assemblyman Frederick A. McCullough, of Somerville, who absconded in December, 1923, with $30,000 of clients' funds, will be returned to New Jersey from Buffalo by Chief County Detective George D. Totton, of the Somerset county Prosecutor's office.

Totton came to Governor Silzer's office last week with extradition papers for the former legislator. McCullough was in the Legislature the year he absconded, deserting his wife and three children. Totton visited the fugitive in Buffalo last week, made identification positive and returned to complete the formality of extradition papers, which will be submitted to Governor Smith, of New York for approval.

McCullough was also town counsel for Somerville. The $30,000 which he is accused of taking represented mortgage funds.

Captain Pearcock's Marksmen Make New Record at Sea Girt

Friday was the last day at the State Camp at Sea Girt for Co. M, 114th N. G. N. J., Capt. Rober; Pearcock's company, and a number of their Burlington County friends went over to pay them a visit before they broke camp.

One of the groups including Burlington County officials and newspaper men were entertained by Captain Pearcock, entertained them at dinner in the company mess hall here they enjoyed the plain but wholesome fare of the "boys," cooked in the camp culinary utensils by the camp cook.

The group included William H. Reeves, of New Lisbon, member of the State Republican Committee and county clerk; Charles R. Stout, of Florence, chairman of the Burlington County Republican Committee and member of the Board of Freeholders; George M. Hillman, of Moorestown, prosecutor of pleas; H. B. Smith, of Mount Holly, county engineer; Curwen B. Fisher, of Mount Holly, county auditor; Stuart B. MacFarland, of Mount Holly, county road supervisor; George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, former postmaster; Edward Trough, of the Mount Holly Herald; Harry L. Walters, of the Mount Holly Mirror Walter L. Bowen, of the Riverton New Era, and John H. Naylor, of "The Daily Enterprise," Burlington. Mijacah Matlack, of Mount Holly surrogate, who is summering at Ocean Gate, joined the group at Sea Girt.

On the trip home a stop was made at Toms River for the evening meal.

Capt. Peacock and his machine gun squad were returning from the rifle range just as the visitors arrived. Thirty-three out of thirty four eligible men qualified, as follows: Seventeen experts, nine sharp shooters, seven marksmen.

MORE GAS USED

The steadily increasing use of manufactured gas for industrial purposes is exemplified in negotiations just concluded by Public Service Electric and Gas Company for supplying a total of 22,200,000 cubic feet of gas annually to four large New Jersey concerns.

The United Piece Dye Works, in Lodi, already a large consumer of gas in its processes has contracted for an additional 7,500,000 cubic feet per annum; the Lyons Piece Dye Works, of Wrights Place, New Brunswick has signed for 3,000,000 cubic feet per year. L. O. Koven & Brother, manufacturers of boilers in Mountain road, Jersey City, will use approximately 6,600,000 cubic feet a year and the Columbia Refining Company at Danforth and West End avenues, Jersey City, has contracted to use upward of 5,000,000 cubic feet per annum.

These four customers, and there are others in the same class, will use as much gas, collectively, as would meet the needs of 750 average consumers.

WET GROUNDS

After many years of extensive research work, scientists have found that the shortest sports story on record is "rain, no game." That grand and glorious old tale will have to be resurrected and used this week, for that what happened Saturday.

Joe Stack's Field Club aggregation was all set to take on the classy bunch of horsehide clouters known as the Tulpehocken Reds but it rained.

The Reds trimmed the Field Club and quite decisively at that, early this season, so the locals were out for revenge. But as said before, the drizzle necessitated postponement.

This Saturday, Dame Fortune, Weather, etc., permitting, the Field Club will meet the fast Beverly A. A. nine. Everybody out!

DISPUTE OVER K. G. E. CUP

Both Palmyra and Burlington High Schools Claim It

A disagreement which has caused Palmyra and Burlington High Schools to sever athletic relations has gone deeper and stirred up disorder in fraternal circles.

It all started in 1922 when the Burlington County Association of Knights of the Golden Eagle lodges donated a cup which was to go to either Palmyra or Burlington High School. It was to become the permanent possession of the institution that was the first to win three of a series of football games.

Palmyra showed her superiority on the gridiron and in time won three games. Burlington, who had the cup in its possession at the time Palmyra won the last battle, kept it and stated Palmyra had not won "three successive games."

Now the lodges are having a heated discussion over the ownership of the cup. Past District Deputy Abdill, of Burlington, has the trophy in his possession. He, with the Burlington and Florence K. G. E.'s, maintain the cup does not belong to Palmyra. Palmyra and Riverside organizations form another faction which insists the cup is Palmyra's.

Each faction is equally determined, so consequently they can't come to an agreement. The district deputy wants to call a meeting of the association and says he is positive the outcome will be the presentation of the cup to the local school.

BOYS WHO LOOTED HOUSE FIND COUNTY JAIL FAR FROM INVITING

Palmyra Youngsters Are Put on Good Behavior After Object Lesson in ount Holly

Early last week Miss Jennie Wallace, who has been away from home for some time, discovered that her house on West Sixth street, Palmyra, had been entered and considerable damage done since she left it in June. After an investigation, it was found that six youngsters from West Palmyra, ranging in age from seven to twelve years, had been the house breakers.

They are Fred Davis, John Sacks, Frank Coates, Thomas Tetley, Harry Wolf and Anthony Spear. Howard Davis, an older brother of Fred, is reported to have been a member of the gang that did the looting, but has been missing for several weeks.

Miss Wallace went direct to Mount Holly and reported the case to County Detective Ellis D. Parker, The sleuth notified Chief of Police C. Morris Beck and the officer soon rounded up the gang of culprits. The deeper the Chief probed into the case, the worse it seemed. Not only had the youngsters broken into Miss Wallace's home several times, but they did considerable damage, destroying several pieces of furniture, and stole whatever happened to appeal to their youthful minds.

The parents and boys were taken before Detective Parker and the latter were charged with malicious mischief. Both the children and parents were subjected to severe lectures at the hands of the county official and then the children were released when the parents offered to make good for the loss which, it is estimated, amounted to $500.

Detective Parker let the boys go with the further admonition that if they came to see him again on such charges they would be taken into court, jailed or sent to the reform school.

During the course of the grilling, Parker asked each youngster how they thought they should be punished for their destructiveness and how long they should be sentenced to the county jail. The lads were reluctant about replying, evidently afraid to commit themselves.

Finally one boy started it off with a two-week sentence and as each was quizzed, he lessened the term until the last finally suggested two hours. Chief Beck then suggested they be shown their prospective place of confinement and Parker told the officer to take them over to the jail for a tour of inspection. After this was completed the lad who suggested two hours felt that he had been entirely too liberal and said "one hour in that place would be plenty for me."

Chief Beck says he doesn't expect to have any more trouble with this gang. The boys have learned their lesson and none of them was favorably impressed with the jail. They "stuck close" to the officer, shunned the long barren corridors of the jail and found the cells to be far from inviting.

MEN'S CLUB NEWS

Opening Fall Meeting and Annual Banquet Set For September 28

At meeting of the executive committee of the Palmyra Men's Club held at the home of William T. J. Purnell last Friday evening, it was decided to hold the open fall meeting and annual dinner of the club Monday evening, September 28, in P. O. S. of A. Hall.

The change from the usual meeting place, the Parish House of Christ Church to the hall, was decided upon because the club now has over two hundred members and it is expected that most of them will attend the dinner meeting.

An inovation at this meeting will be an invitation to lady relatives and friends of the members to be present at the speech making and entertainment which will follow the dinner, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Three well known men have been asked to address the club, one of whom, Dr. E. J. Cattell, the popular after dinner speaker, has already accepted.

Admission to the dinner will be for members only and on presentation of membership ticket. Those members not having tickets are requested to notify the financial secretary, George W. Shoester, 830 Morgan avenue, Palmyra.

ASBURY

The Sunday School picnic, which was held at East Riverton, along the Delaware river last Friday, was enjoyed by the thirty-five present.

Rev. Richard O. Payne and Mr and Mrs. Thornton B. Southwick, Louisa, Ada and Helen Southwick, of Asbury, Edward Poinsett, of Palmyra and Horace Mason, of Riverside, spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hess and son, of 131 Fillmore street, Riverside, last Thursday evening.

Please do not forget the Community Service at the Friends Meeting Yard, at Cinnaminson on August 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. Everyone welcome.

Rev. R. O. Payne and Mrs. T. B. Southwick were visiting their sister, Mrs. Mary Foster, near Sewell, N. J., Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

The Baptism service of the Christian Church at Bridgeboro, along the Rancocas creek on Sunday afternoon, was well attended. Seven were baptized. The speaking after baptism was very good. The services in the evening were held in the church with Bible study and preaching in charge of the pastor, A. F. Youtz. Those who attended from Asbury were the Rev. R. O. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Southwick, Louisa, Ada and Helen Southwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Underhill, of Lakewood, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Charles Albert Underhill, born on Monday July 20th. Mrs. Underhill will be remembered as Miss Elizabeth Giberson, of Union Landing.

Second Harvest Home meeting will be held on Monday evening, August 3rd, at the home of T. B. Southwick, at 8 p. m.

AT REYOR

Old Hitching Post at Last Disappears From Broad Street

All land marks of "old times" have now disappeared in the block between Garfield avenue and Cinnaminson avenues on Broad street. There is the fine concrete road, the walk is paved from the gutter to the stores, all stores have fine bulk windows and Tuesday afternoon found W. T. McAllister removing the last remnant of the past.

Mac got out his trusty saw and with a few masterly strokes cut away the old hitching post which has stood in front of his store for many years.

This grand old fixture stood in the days when the young men would take their "pride and joy" out in the buggy instead of a high-powered machine to do their spooning (petting). "Sheiks" were called beaux and "shebas" were spoken of as sweethearts. Now Broad street presents a perfectly modern appearance and the old hitching posts have been replaced by "no parking" signs.

HEART TAG DAY

Boys and Girls in Both Towns Will Be Given Valuable Prizes for Collecting Funds

The Volunteers of America, founded by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, in 1896, a national institution, having one or more headquarters in every State, has received permission to hold a children's Heart Tag Day, in Riverton and Palmyra on Saturday, August 1, as has been done in other nearby communities.

The affair will be sponsored by the following:

The Rev. Frederick Morley, Mrs. Charles T. Bates, Mrs. James T. Weart, Mrs. Frederick Blaser, with Miss Frances Green in charge of headquarters at American Legion Home, Palmyra, and Miss Ruth Miller in charge of headquarters in Council Room, Riverton Fire House, Riverton, where the children will meet soon after nine o'clock for their tags and instructions.

As contest incentives, as well as rewards for their good efforts merchants have generously offered some pretty and useful prizes, also movie passes, for those securing the largest amount for their tags.

For Palmyra the first prize will be a No. 2 Brownie camera, donated by Palmyra Pharmacy. The second prize will be a pair of roller skates, given by H. C. Schwering; third prize, a necklace, given by Mrs. I. S. McLaughlin; the fourth prize a one pound box of chocolates, given by Schillinger's Sweet Shop.

For Riverton the first prize will be a fountain pen, donated by W. H. Sykes' drug store. The second prize will be a leather underarm bag, given by Mrs. Alfred Smith; third prize, a one pound box chocolates, by L. L. Keating.

Those who do not win a prize, but who secure at least three dollars for their tags will receive a pass to the Broadway Palace Theatre.

BANK AVENUE

What has become of the promised improvement of the roadway on Bank avenue?

It was agreed between a committee of residents of the bank and a committee from the Borough Council that a worthwhile improvement would be made right after the Fourth of July. The people of Riverton accepted the agreement in good faith. The month is about spent and still nothing has been done.

The only way to make a job of this work is to scarify the road and finish with some suitable top dressing, properly rolled and oiled.

Anything less will be only a makeshift, and will not be satisfactory to the people of Riverton, who look to the Borough Council to see that faith is kept in this important matter.

And it should not be allowed to drag along all summer.

A DANGEROUS CROSSING

The Thomas avenue crossing is a constant menace to drivers of motor cars. For several years past the railroad tracks have been gradually raised until they now stand high above the roadway on either side. This, together with the line of cars running in both directions, the trolley cars and the steam trains, makes it most difficult to use this crossing without accident, especially during the rush hours of Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

While it would be an added expense, it would be money well spent to install a traffic light at this point similar to the one on East Main street, which could be operated from the sidewalk, and to station an officer there to use it during the periods of traffic congestion.

Respectfully submitted to the Department of Public Safety.

WHO WILL HELP?

The Italian school at Cinnaminson has entered its fourth week, with a daily attendance of 31.

We wish our friends could see the little ones at lunch, seated quietly, bowing their heads reverently, and helping themselves politely, while two of the older girls acting as waitresses, pass the food in the most approved manner. Are they not learning something of future benefit.

Each Thursday evening a class is held for the big brothers and sisters. Over fifty attend, too many for three teachers to do justice to. Is there not some man or willing lad who will come Thursday evenings and try to give the boys some ideals, help them to be future lawmakers? They are so bright and only need a different outlook from that furnished by their own environment.

WILLIAMS WORKING FOR TOWN IMPROVEMENTS

Director of Public Safety Has Asked Railroad Company to Move Gates and Clip Platform Corner

Probably very few people, even among those who drive cars, realize that the west pedestal of the railroad crossing gates is in line with the middle of Main street. To move it toward the station ten feet or so would give motorists just that much more room in crossing the railroad tracks at this point.

Director of Public Safety Williams has been in communication with the Railroad Company officials in reference to making the change, and is very hopeful of success.

Mr. Williams has also requested the company to round off the northeastern corner of the station platform, to give more space for traffic at this point.

THREE NEW STREET LIGHTS

Arrangements have been made by the street lighting and police committees to place an arc light on the pole at the junction of Broad and Main streets, another at Broad and Cinnaminson street, and an incandescent light between Cinnaminson street and the bridge, which will relieve dangerously dark spots at these points.

BANK AVE. PAVING DEFERRED

Residents Propose to "Patch It Up" Now and Do a Real Job Next Year

It looks as though the agreement on the part of the residents to pave the roadway on Bank avenue was due for a postponement. They have asked permission of some of the members of Council to just patch it up now and then make a good job of it next year, which calls to mind the story of the man who went to the doctor. After the doctor had diagnosed the patient's ailment he handed him a bottle of pills and said, "If this don't fix you up, come back in a week and I'll give you another kind of medicine."

The man started home, but after he had gone half a block he returned and said, "Say, Doc, suppose you give me that other medicine now."

Have you submitted your slogan for the new Chamber of Commerce? Send to Corner Clelland, temporary secretary, before next Monday night.

The thermometer is registering 94 in the shade at Berlin this week, and Emperor Wilhelm could get a good place in the sun if he were only there now.

RUSSIA BEST EXAMPLE OF NATIONAL RUIN

Russia furnishes the most outstanding example of all history in national ruin, says George B. Lockwood in the July National Republic. Other nations have passed through upheavals somewhat similar, but have withstood the shock. Russia is wrecked. Most of her people of intelligence and education, whose better directed energies might have led Russia to security and happiness, are dead or in exile. A nation may grow new crops and develop new resources, but the stamping out of a nation's brains is an irreparable injury.

In this period when patriotism is so much decried, the spirit of nationalism so often attacked, the traditions of our republic so often flouted, it is well to remember the cause of the Russian cataclysm. It came about through lack of patriotism; through absence of a true national spirit. It was a lack of genuine patriotism which caused the rulers of that nation of the pre-revolutionary period to lose step with the rest of the world in lifting up the level of life for the masses. Russia had resources almost comparable to those of the United States, but no national spirit spurred the governing classes of Russia to the development. Industrialism was feared as a menace to an autocracy which refused to be liberalized, and had its natural reaction in unreasoning, revolutionary radicalism.

There was no real love of Russia as a land and as a people among those in whose hands the destiny of this great empire seemed to rest. Russians of the ruling class had no pride in their country, no love even for their language. The sentiment grew up even among those who formed the Russian court that any thing foreign was preferable to that which was Russian. Children of the upper classes must speak French, write English, know German. Affectation of these languages eliminated interest in that which was Russian. Paris became the real capital of the pleasure-loving Russian aristocracy. There was no national feeling; no national language expressed the thought of the people.

And so what was once called the great bear has become no more than a howling hyena. Her masters today profess no special love for Russia; theirs are dreams of communist internationalism; of world-wide dominion. Within the vast domain of Russia, bulking across two continents, rich in resources sufficient to develop a great, powerful and independent nation are the materials out of which a great empire, a great republic, might be built. But as in the days of the old czars, so in the days of the new, there is no love of country—that spirit which has made every great nation great, and which only can build a country worthy of the love and loyalty of its people.

In this country today we have propagandists who seek to break down our national spirit, who sneer at love of country, who decry patriotism, and who would make Americans ashamed of loyalty to their republic and its flag. They would lead us over the pathway which Russia has trod to ruin. When Americans, who have so much reason to love their country, cherish its ideals and uphold its principles, succumb to the perversive propaganda of a spurious internationalism, when they devlop a national inferiority complex like that of our noisy apostles of Europeanism, they will have started downward on the road which leads to destruction.

Miss Parry was seen to be in distress off Pavilion No. 1 in the heavy surf. The guards started to bring her in when they discovered Hill far out at the end of the municipal fishing pier. They turned Miss Parry over to Harry Rafferty, a summer cottager, and "Duke" Bolton, a former lifeguard, who brought her in while the guards battled for twenty minutes to get Hill back to safety.

POLICE AFTER SPEEDERS

In further effort to break up speeding and reckless driving in the Borough of Riverton, Director of Public Safety Williams on Wednesday stationed Officer John Carhart at Broad and Thomas avenue, with instructions to stop every car that was exceeding the speed limit, or was being driven recklessly.

During the day and evening he "tagged" twenty two cars, the owners of which were summoned to appear before Recorder S. Howard Troth on Friday of this week to answer to the charges made against them by the officer.

Cave That Furnished Solomon With Stone

Solomon's cave, an old quarry from which the stone was taken to build Solomon's temple, is situated just outside of Jerusalem, in the hills of Judea. All that is left of the temple is the idea embodied in a model of it. On its site stands the Mosque of Omar. But the cave remains unchanged, its walls echoing voices from out the ages and bearing testimony to the foundation of a grand and glorious temple which symbolized as well as dated the foundation of the Masonic lodge, says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor.

In the early days the laws of religion and philosophy and those of architecture were very closely united in thought, and it was held that these laws were secrets to be known only to the few. The working tools of the builder became emblems of moral truth and the arts and crafts were secrets jealously guarded. There must have been a secret order of architects who built the Temple of Solomon, and who opened friendly commercial relations with foreign nations, making of the organization an international fraternity. Great material help was given by Hiram I of Tyre and the society of Phoenician architects in the construction of the temple.

When Diocletian began his reign he determined to destroy Christianity and began the persecution of all religious secret orders. For a time the builders, owing to their value and services to the state, were exempt from these laws of suppression and enjoyed special privileges, but gradually they were forced into more and more secrecy, taking refuge in caves and secluded places to hold their meetings.

Pygmy Victim of Act of Mistaken Kindness

In 1904, after the St. Louis exposition, one of the African pygmies exhibited there was stranded in New York on his way home. He finally got a job in a Coney Island restaurant, but soon lost it, and was near starvation when a person interested in his plight asked Dr. W. T. Hornaday, curator of the zoo, to give him work, says the Boston Transcript. The pygmy was set to work cleaning and tending the monkey cage, and later was promoted to the bear cage. He was happy and cheerful, but so slow that it took him half a day to clean the cage. It was not long before he became an object of greater interest than either the bears or monkeys, and an ingenious person conceived the idea of placing a sign on the front of the cage during the hours he spent there, announcing that he was a specimen of homo sapiens.

The fellow was not left untroubled long, however, for the New York Times learned of the practice and started righteous agitation against such indignity to a poor pygmy—and thus to the human race—and quickly interested the negro welfare societies. At their protest he was discharged and, after wandering southward from one ill treatment to another, he committed suicide.

Javanese Clever

The Javanese natives have a great love for music. Some of their musical instruments are very ingenious in appearance and pleasant to listen to. One of them, which is called a gamelan, is a sort of native orchestra, composed chiefly of gongs sounded in various cadences so as to produce a very sweet melody, with an accompaniment of wind and string instruments. A bamboo instrument called the anklung is also very popular. This is shaken by hand and gives forth a sprightly rhythm of which the natives are very fond. The music is played in the open air and is frequently the accompaniment to entertainments at which the age-old stories of the island are told. The Javanese also excel in work in copper and gold, although, having none of their own, they have to import their raw materials.

Bees Work Selves to Death

Honeybees turn on the heat in their apartment houses at 57 degrees Fahrenheit, says the Journal of Pharmacy. When it gets that cold, they form a compact spherical cluster.

Bees on the inside of the ball become active and walk, wiggle and beat their wings to generate heat. The outer shell of the cluster is made up of bees that cuddle close and stay still. They furnish the insulation which prevents the escape of heat so effectively that there may be 75 degrees difference between the inside and the outside only four and one-half inches away.

Thousands of dollars are lost to American beekeepers every year, however, by bees working themselves to death in keeping warm this way.

"Chameleon Lakes"

It is well known that the water of many lakes exhibits characteristic colors. Lake Geneva, at the western end of Switzerland, is blue, while Lake Constance, at the eastern end of that country, is green. Blueness implies purity, since the natural color of water is blue. A green lake has its water slightly clouded with impurities.

It is said that green lakes sometimes become absolutely colorless for a time, and it has been found that this sudden change of hue is due to the washing into the lakes of mud colored red by oxide of iron. Red is complementary to green, and the result of the mixture is that the green color of the water becomes for the time being neutralized.

Morrie is wondering whether the coin is worth any more than its face value.

LEES EXPLAINS STREET OILING PROPOSITION

Property Owners Would Have to Pay Cost Unless All Streets Were Treated

There have been several requests from property holders in Palmyra that some relief be given them to keep down the dust from the streets which was very annoying during the dry spell this summer. The matter has been given to Councilman J. Edwin Lees to adjust and he has issued the following statement:

"It is impossible to use Borough funds for the improving, oiling or resurfacing of any individual street. A law which was passed January 23, 1925, makes it necessary when an individual street requires surfacing with oil or any permanent pavement it must be assessed against those properties abutting said improvement.

"The total cost of treating all streets in Palmyra, having cinder or gravel surface, with slow curing oil, the same as that now used by Burlington county, would be $6,075. It is necessary that two coatings be given. This would guarantee against dust and would also give us good roads throughout the coming winter as this material binds both gravel and cinders tightly together, making a fine road bed."

Mr. Lees does not see how the Borough can have this work done now, in view of the fact that considerable money is being paid out for the Broad street improvement, the piping of the Boulevard and the new intersections about town, all of which are absolute necessities and will cost approximately $75,000. Along with these financial burdens, the town has the proposed ash collection in the fall, all of these improvements have made it necessary to curtail the expenditure of any more money at the present.

The cost of oiling a fifty-foot frontage would be $6.00, states Mr. Lees, for the information of residents who may want to have their street oiled. He says any street can be oiled if a petition, signed by owners of fifty-one per cent. of the properties on that street, is presented to Council.

The smallest amount of oil that can be purchased is 8,000 gallons, sufficient to cover 8,000 lineal feet 20 feet wide with two coatings.

Field Club "Weasles" Lead

Lutherans Drop to Second Place in Twilight League Race

Last Wednesday found four of the teams in the Twin City Twilight League tied up. The Lutherans and Field Club Scrubs were deadlocked on the top of the pack and they were closely followed by the Artisans and Methodists who were on a par with each other.

A few days have made a lot of changes in the circuit per centage column. Now the Field Club is comfortably perched on the top rung of the ladder, having played and won two games. The Lutherans have been idle and dropped to second place. The Artisans remained inactive and kept their clinch on the third rung and the Methodists participated in one contest, was defeated and shoved clear out of the first division and now heads the second section in fourth place.

Last Friday the Baptists triumphed over the Methodists to the tune of 6 to 2. DeGraw, on the mound for the Baptists, was invincible and only allowed Baker's boys a pair of singles. Russ Davis and "Coop" French were the pair of Pillars to hit safely. On the other hand, the Baptists continued with their heavy hitting game and pounded out ten perfect ones. Roy Hardy, local tennis king, continued his smashing game and lead with the stickwork. Roy got three perfectly good singles off of Lamont.

The Field Club "Weasles" took the lead Thursday night when the beat out the Legion 5-4. "Bub" Harder twirled the Scrubs to the first position and Hepper was his receiver. Gibbon and Knowlton made up the losing battery. The features of the battle were a triple by Weikman and Hep's two-bagger.

Razzberry Park was the scene of a first-class slugfest Monday evening when the Weasles won their second setto by trouncing the Baptists 10-5. Wenger, the Scrubs' star tosser, was on the mound, while the Churchmen used both DeGraw and Reeves on the knoll in an attempt to stop their flashy opponents who were taking advantage of every oportunity to run up a comfortable lead for Wenger. The Field Club got nine hits and four walks while the Churchmen pounded out an even half dozen hits.

Richman, of the Weasle fly chasing crew, continues to be the class of the league when it comes to bat swinging. A couple of weeks ago Horace drove out a pair of homers and a single in one game. Monday he batted a thousand. On four times up he socked the apple to the extent of a double, two singles and was issued a pass. Harder, of the Scrubs, and Reeves, of the Baptists, also had doubles to their credit.

HURT IN FALL

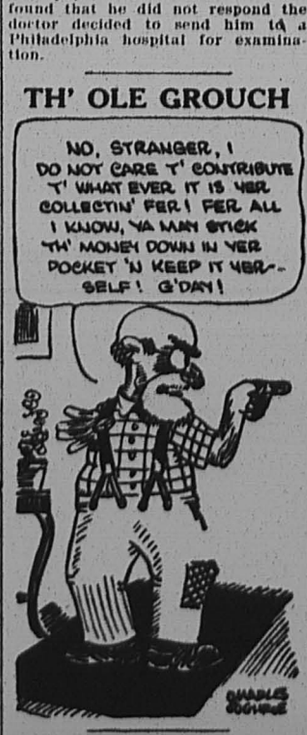

Beverly Man Injured at Wall Rope Works

Falling ten feet from a machine in the yard of the Wall Rope Works, Beverly, last week William Dann, who lives on Bentley avenue, that city, was so badly injured that he had to be removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia. The Burlington ambulance was secured to take the patient to Philadelphia.

The accident occurred at eight o'clock in the evening, and at first it was feared that the man's back was broken.

Dann was treated by a local Beverly physician, and when it was found that he did not respond the doctor decided to send him to a Philadelphia hospital for examination.

TH' OLE GROUCH

Lineman's Ingenious Idea

Albert Cornish, a lineman at Bath, Me., chased a runaway horse to a trestle where the horse's leg went through. Cornish tried to extricate the animal and was in danger of having a train come along and perhaps hit him as well as the horse and sleigh. So when he had freed the sleigh from the horse he placed it across the track so that the steel runners were resting on the two steel rails. This made an electrical connection and set the signal which would have stopped a train entering the block.

AUTO STOLEN IN MOORESTOWN FOUND AT BARNEGAT

Samuel Whetal, of Ellisburg, parked his auto in Moorestown last week and when he was ready to go home he found that it had disappeared. He immediately reported the theft to the Moorestown police and County Detective Parker's office. Then SOS's were sent out to the state police and later the car was located at Barnegat, and a man named Joseph Pettit, who gave his residence as Haddonfield, was arrested charged with the theft.

Pettit is an employe of the Union Paving company and at present working near Barnegat and it is thought that he took the car in order to get back to his work after spending the week-end at his home.

He is now in the Burlington county jail.

BURLINGTON COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED IN KKK PARADE AT WASHINGTON

Preparations are being made by the members of the Ku Klux Klan in Burlington county to take part in the monster demonstration of the order at Washington, D. C., on Saturday, August 8, and the delegation, headed by its own band, will form a unit of the parade. It is expected that a special train will carry more than five hundred members, although just at present considerable difficulty is being had to secure railroad accommodations, there being demands from all parts of the country, as far west as Colorado, for special railroad transportation.

In addition to looking after the welfare of the organization in Burlington county, James R. Bennett, of Columbus, has had Trenton and Mercer county added to his jurisdiction and hereafter will have charge of the destinies of the organization in both counties.

FIGHTS PEACH RATE INCREASE

Proposed Tariff Would Add $52,000 Burden to New Jersey Growers

New Jersey growers may be spared an increase of $52,000 a year to their present freight bills, as a result of the fight by the New Jersey Federation of County Boards of Agriculture against the increase in rates proposed by the railroads and now under consideration by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Opposition to the addition of further burden upon New Jersey peach growers was voiced this last week at Washington, D. C. before the Interstate Commerce Commission by a committee composed of Secretary H. E. Taylor and C. B. Lewis of the New Jersey Federation and A. L Clark, Chief of the New Jersey State Bureau of Markets.

The hearing was New Jersey's part in the general opposition of fruit shippers' associations and trade organizations against an increase in freight schedules between eastern shipping points and their markets in New England and the Central Freight Associaton and Trunk Line territory.

Data presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission showed that the average proposed increase on peaches to markets now used by New Jersey growers amounted to $28.95 per car, or on the basis of government figures on total New Jersey car-lot shipments to $51,820.50 in a typical year. Taking the Jersey Fruit Growers' Cooperative Association, the largest organization of its kind in the East, as a representative shipper and its location at Camden, N. J. as a representative shipping point, the burden of the proposed rate increase for this one group of growers would be nearly $10,000 annually.

O. K. BUS TRANSFER

Philburco Coach Line's Stock Issue Also Approved

The transfer of six buses owned by George D. Steedle, operation of two additional cars on the Riverside-Tacony-Palmyra ferry route and issuance of $47,000 securities by the Philburco Coach Company, were approved last week by the Public Utility Commission. The company wanted approval of a $65,000 stock issue.

The route was established by Mr Steedle in June 1923. The present application involved transfer of ownership of the buses to the company and approval of two additional buses.

The rates of fare to be charged are as follows: Riverside to terminus of Tacony-Palmyra ferry, 20 cents; Riverton or Palmyra to terminus of the Frankford "L", 15c cents. The board stipulated that the buses shall not accept passengers who begin and end their trips between and at the Pennsylvania railroad station, Riverside and Second street and Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra.

KEEPING WELL

THE VALUE OF RAIN WATER

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

DO YOU use hard water out of a well or town water supply for washing or do you use the soft rain water, distilled by the sun and clouds? I can remember as a boy the rain barrel that stood at the end of the porch under the spout and how in the spring and summer the water streamed down over the porch roof, along the gutters and down the rain pipe into the hogshead. I remember, too, the cistern back of the house with rain pipes from all the four corners of the roof and a pipe leading up to the pump at the kitchen sink. We drank the water out of the well, but we used rain water for our hands and faces, our skins and our clothes.

In these days of tube wells, wind and gasoline pumps and city water works, few households use anything else but hard water for all purposes. The cistern and rain barrel are by no means as common as they should be.

Yet hard water is not only disagreeable for household uses, but it is also expensive. Instead of forming a smooth, creamy suds with soap, as does soft water, it makes a slimy, curdled mess which not only does not clean as well but uses much more soap than does soft water.

If you have boilers, heating tanks or water-heating systems, the hard water forms a scale, which chokes up the pipes and increases the expense. Used in factories, it is much more expensive, as the scale wears out the boiler parts, causes loss of heat efficiency and greatly increases the cost of keeping up and running any heating, lighting or power plant.

Estimating the expense of hard water, Mr. E. F. Eldridge of the Michigan state health laboratory, says the hardness of water is due to two elements in solution. These are calcium and magnesium. The calcium is dissolved in the water by carbonic acid gas. A family of five with hard water will use about ninety pounds more soap a year than with soft water. A household having a water heater or boiler would use more fuel, as the scale-choked boiler and pipes would require more heat than a soft-water system.

Hard water can be softened by boiling to drive off the carbonic acid gas when the lime settles to the bottom. It can also be softened by any one of a number of chemical agents. But the best way to get soft water is from the clouds when it can be had merely by catching it and keeping it.

COLUMBUS GRANGE FAIR

The dates for the sixteenth annual fair of Columbus Grange have been fixed for October 9 and 10 this year and the premium lists are already out. This fair has always been hugely successful, but with the demise of the Burlington County Fair it has assumed the proportions of a real county instead of merely a Grange Fair and the members of Columbus Grange feels that it is only a question of time before they will probably have to conduct the exhibition for three days or maybe four.

On both nights of the fair supper will be served from five to eight o'clock and every provision will be made for the comfort and convenience of all who attend.

The premium lists contains 319 substantial prizes for produce, cakes, fruit, candy, antiques, flowers, dresses, etc., and should be an incentive to exhibitors to make large dispiays.

A RANK PESSIMIST

Perhaps we are unduly optimistic, but we live in hope that some day a distinguished foreigner will visit our country without feeling impelled to remind us of the duty that we as a rich and prosperous nation owe to the struggling peoples who want money to start another war.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The New York World hasn't been pleased with anything since the election. It is now denouncing editorially the modern method of making huckleberry pie.

One's Financial House In Order

It is always sound business judgment to keep one's financial house in order—for the building of credit depends much upon it. A strong, obliging banking connection like the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company is desirable from every point of view.

Although the Bridge will not be completed until July 4, 1926, practically all Camden and its surburban developments have been sold out. The natural course of development tends toward Palmyra. This is proven by the rapidly growing Burlington Pike section.

Many New Ideas in Better Buicks

Greater Power, More Protection to Working Parts Included; Prices Lower

Buick again demonstrated the marvelous resources and abilities of the automotive industry when it introduced the present Better Buick. Embraced in this latest Buick offering are additional power and strength, the newest engineering achievements designed to give even longer motor car life, the maximum in comfort and safety, besides new beauty and refinements of design and finish representing the latest skill in body craftsmanship. And in face of these material and costly improvements lower prices are announced throughout the entire line of Standard and Master Sixes.

The announcement and the showing of the better Buicks silenced the rumors that Buick would abandon the valve-in-head for another type engine which would permit of cheaper construction. The same principles that were inaugurated by Buick 21 years ago and which have made it the leader in the industry have been adhered to throughout.

The mechanical improvements introduced would have been considered impossibilities only a year ago. They represent the work of Buick research and engineering staffs constantly striving for betterments.

The new prices likewise represent achievements of the engineering, production and business departments of the Buick organization, and are in no small measure due to the phenomenal approval of Buicks by the public. This latter factor has resulted in continuously increasing sales with the attendant possibilities of economies in purchasing and production.

The complete line includes 16 models, six in the Standard Six and ten in the Master Six class. In all cases the distinctive Buick lines have been continued, with refinements such as the rounding of radiator lines and the addition of streamline mouldings. All are finished in new and beautiful tones of durable Duco. Some of the models have Duo-tone Duco finish in distinctive combinations. All closed bodies are by Fisher and are upholstered in quality plush.

Buick has always been noted for its sealed chassis, which prevents dirt or water entering any of the moving parts. Now it has added an air cleaner, oil filter and gasoline strainer. These, combined with the standard Buick construction, practically eliminate the possibility of any foreign substance entering the engine or moving parts of the chassis and, consequently, minimize service requirements and add to the life of the car.

Because these three new units have no moving parts, there is nothing to get out of adjustment. They require no power—in fact are thoroughly automatic, and require only occasional cleaning to remove the dirt and grime gathered from the air, fuel and oil.

The above illustration shows the Standard Six five-passenger, two-door sedan. The price of this model, $1,195, is representative of the increased values included in the entire line of Better Buicks.

The Trouble Hunter

When something goes wrong with electric lines or gas mains and the cause isn't immediately apparent, The Trouble Hunter is on the job.

Day time or night time, snow, rain or shine, he's on the scent, and the rapidity with which he locates the seat of the disturbance makes or breaks his reputation.

With more than 27,000 miles of wire in the electric system, and more than 3,600 miles of mains in the gas system, and with the elements—lightning, wind, frost, snow, rain and ice—to combat, the maintenance of uninterrupted service requires constant vigilance.

And so The Trouble Hunter is on duty 365 days a year, and twenty-four hours a day, ready for the call that sends him out on the line to see to it that your supply of gas and electricity is maintained.

Constable: (to man in mill pond) "Here—here—can't you read?"—Don't you see that sign—no swimming allowed? I am going to arrest you when you come out?"

The Man: "Ha ha ha—that's a great joke on you. I'm committing suicide."

To Unite Behind Arthur Whitney

Congressmen Will Hold Conference in Atlantic City on August 4

Every member of congress in New Jersey will attend a meeting in Atlantic City on Tuesday, August 4, and formulate plans to squarely stand back of Arthur Whitney, the Republican candidate for governor.

The meeting was called by Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of the Second New Jersey District, and promises to be one of the most important conferences held in recent years for the good of the Republican Party and the things that it represents.

This is perhaps the first time in the history of the state that united action had been taken on the part of members of congress in the interest of a state candidate for the governorship, but the platform and policies of the Republican candidate and the Republican Party in the gubernatorial campaign are so intimately related to the program and policies of President Coolidge and the National Republican Party, that every effort is to be made by the New Jersey congressmen to keep the state in the Republican column and maintain the splendid vote given to Coolidge and the Republican candidates in the elections of 1924.

It is expected that former Governor Edward C. Stokes, of Trenton, chairman of the Republican State Committee, will address the delegation following the conference and outline the plans of the State Committee for the gubernatorial campaign.

Those who will attend the conference besides Congressman Bacharach are Congressman Francis F. Patterson, Jr., of the First District; Congressman Charles A. Eason, of the Fourth District; Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman, of the Fifth District; Congressman Randolph Perkins, of the Sixth District; Congressman George N. Seger, of the Seventh District; Congressman Herbert W. Taylor, of the Eighth District; Congressman Franklin W. Fort, of the Ninth District, and Congressman Frederick R. Lehlback, of the Tenth District.

Stewart Appleby, who is the Republican candidate to fill the vacancy in the Third Congressional District, also will attend the meeting.

All of the Republican members of congress from New Jersey heartily have approved the conference and its purpose, and are sanguine of the result that is almost sure to be attained.

OLD COUNTY RAILROAD WILL BE ABANDONED

Line Between Burlington and Mount Holly to be Suspended

With the sanction of the State Board Public of Utility Commissioners, one of the oldest original railroads in the State will go out of business. The application of the Camden and Burlington County Railroad Company for authority to abandon its Burlington branch was granted last week.

The branch runs from East Burlington to Mount Holly, a distance of 7.6 miles. The branch was incorporated originally in 1848 as the Burlington and Mount Holly Railroad and Transportation Company. In 1863 the name of the company was changed to the Burlington County Railroad Company, and 1866 the company was merged with the Camden, Moorestown, Hainesport and Mount Holly Horse Car Railroad Company, to form the Camden and Burlington Railroad Company

Later, in October, 1915, the Camden and Burlington County Railroad Company was merged with the Mount Holly, Lumberton and Medford Railroad Company, also the Vincentown branch to form the Camden and Burlington County Railroad Company.

The company has a capital stock amounting to $502,050, of which $250,000 is owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The petition for the abandonment stated that most of the business formerly done by the railroad was now being carried on by motor trucks. The tracks in East Burlington and Mount Holly will be retained for industrial switching.

President Coolidge refused to recommend to one of his friends that he try to get into Congress, and we wonder what he would say if somebody should ask his advice on the Senate?

SUMMER POLITICS

Despite the fact that both Frank Hague, of Jersey City, recognized in New Jersey as the real Democratic candidate for Governor, and Senator Arthur Whitney, the Republican nominee for the Executive office, are in Europe, storing up new energy for the gubernatorial campaign, due to open in September, the lesser lights, who spend their summers in their resident State, are gently stirring up the soil in the political pasture so that the work of their superiors will be lighter upon their return.

Although politics is supposed to be taking a season off, there is a lot of work being done in the interest of both parties under cover of the armistice into which the Republicans and Democrats seem to have entered by tacit consent.

It is mostly a sniping campaign that is being conducted these warm days, with no more serious object, apparently, than spreading partisan propaganda and creating intra-party discord, wherever possible.

There are a lot of Democrats in New Jersey who do not take kindly to the air of proprietorship over the party assumed by Boss Hague. True, they recognize that his methods in some previous campaigns have been productive of results which saved the Democratic party from threatening dissolution, but they are not forgetting the Harding and Coolidge votes, in 1920 and 1924, or the fact that the Republicans regularly elect and control both branches of the Legislature, or that United States Senator Edge was re-elected by a tremendous plurality last fall. After giving full credit to Hague for having brought Hudson county absolutely under his domination and his apparent ability to ring up as many votes as he needs in that Democratic neck of the woods, there still are many Democrats who do not like Hague or the school of "practical" politics which he typifies. He believes in organization above everything else in politics and is ruthless in enforcing his orders involving party discipline. In the past, South Jersey has shown scant regard for Boss Hague and the feeling of coolness is mutual, so far as he is concerned.

The efforts of the Democrats thus far have been confined largely to sowing seeds of discord among Republicans, creating the impression that Whitney is another silk-stocking candidate and striving to estrange the labor vote from the Republican nominee. But Whitney has shown that while a Republican in politics he is most democratic in his feelings and his actions. His legislative record proves him to have been close to the people and unfailingly responsive to the public's wishes. It is true that he has been arrayed against the so-called organization wing of his party both in his home county and at Trenton, on occasion, for some years, but his party regularity cannot be challenged. And the round robin endorsement of Senator Whitney, signed by every other Republican member of the State Senate, excepting one who was away at the time, disposes of the attempts of Democratic propagandists to make it appear that he is not in accord with his party or it with him.

There is every reason to believe that all factions of Republicans are united and working in harmony for the election of Arthur Whitney as the first Republican Governor New Jersey has named since 1916, when Walter E. Edge was elected.—Mount Holly Mirror.

AUTOISTS RAP STATE POLICE METHODS

Stopping of Motorists in Dark Spots Near Moorestown Brings Criticisms

The methods used by state police in the Moorestown district to admonish automobile drivers against law infractions after darkness has fallen is being severely criticized by those who have come in contact with them lately.

Within the past few weeks two prominent Mount Holly men have had experiences which have been disconcerting, to say the least. One of them was driving through Moorestown with his wife when someone loomed out of the darkness and attempted a holdup, for no apparent reason. Now it just happens that this driver and his wife were held up and shot at a few years ago and naturally they are a bit skittish when anything resembling a re-occurrence of the happening takes place, so the husband put on speed and tried to escape, only to hear a police whistle blown He was arrested and fined.

The other man, also with his wife, was leisurely driving his big Packard. They had passed safely through Moorestown and were in a lonely spot near the "hollow," on the road to Hartford when a Ford coupe, driven by a young chap in civilian clothes dashed up. He had a companion, but it was too dark to see what the fellow looked like. A whistle was blown, but the Packard driver knew he was not exceeding the speed law then and the whole affair seemed so suspiciously like a hold-up that he too "stepped on the gas" until he reached Masonville and comparative safety, as he thought. Then the Ford caught up with him and he found it contained besides the driver a state policeman, who attempted to give him a severe reprimand for trying to escape an officer. The Packard owner was so angry, however, over the unusual manner in which he had been stopped that he told the officer what he thought of him in rather plain language and the matter ended there.

The trooper's reason given for stopping this car was that one of the headlights had gone out.

Of course, many autoists think they have a just grievance when they are stopped for some minor infraction, but, nevertheless, it is necessary that traffic officers should have a free hand, else they would be valueless. However, this frightening of drivers, particularly women, by officers who jump suddenly out of the darkness in lonely spots will not long be tolerated by self-respecting citizens.

TWO BARNS BURNED

Big Loss Sufferred on Collins' Farm Near Moorestown

Five thoroughbred driving horses, 60 tons of hay, a quantity of fertilizer and a number of farm machines were destroyed last week when fire burned to the ground two barns and a warehouse on the old John Workman farm, on Lenola road, near Moorestown.

The farm is now owned by Lester Collins, well-known Camden and Burlington county fruit grower. Neighboring farmers estimated the loss at between $15,000 and $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

The fire was started about 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. No one was near the barns at the time. Laborers working in the fields saw a dense smoke pouring from the hay lofts and sent in alarms to Lenola, Moorestown and Maple Shade. It is believed that spontaneous combustion of the newmown hay, with which one of the barns was filled, caused the fire.

Only the good work of the Lenola firemen, who were the first to arrive on the scene, and a sudden change in the direction of the wind saved the main farm house, located fifty feet south of the warehouse.

Considerable excitement was caused just before the walls of the burning buildings fell in. A three-year-old colt, the only animal saved from the flames, had been set loose in a nearby field. The colt broke through the fence and headed for the burning barn, in which it had been stabled. Some one in the crowd saw the colt headed toward the barn and stopped its frightened dash just before the animal could plunge into the flames.

AUTO THIEVES SELLING CARS IN BURLINGTON COUNTY

It has come to light recently that a well organized band of automobile thieves has been working in the vicinities of Trenton and Morristown, N. J., and Bristol, Pa., and that some of the cars stolen have been disposed of in Burlington county. Already two Ford sedans have been located in the hands of unsuspecting buyers at Riverside and Roebling.

The parties purchasing the cars are highly respected citizens of their communities and were entirely innocent of any thought of receiving stolen goods, the bills of sale through which the transfers were made being neatly forged documents that would fool the most exacting purchaser.

There is something to be learned, however, by prospective purchasers, and that is that there is wisdom in buying through a recognized reliable dealer or else of someone known to the buyer. Such a course may save embarrassment later on, as well as loss of money, too.

LUMBERTON HOTEL RAIDED

Acting on the complaint of two young men arrested in Mount Holly for drunkenness Detective Arthur Carabine and Offier Howard Shinn, of the Mount Holly police force, raided the Lumberton Hotel operated by Alfred E. Duerr, last week, and later Mr. Duerr was held under bail for Court by Supreme Court Commissioner Clifford R. Powell.

He is charged with the sale of liquor.

Human Instep Tells Story

Man only of the larger primates has retained the long primitive instep bone in spite of his large body development. As the bulk of the body developed science might suppose that the instep would shorten. This human development is accounted unusual in view of the development of apes and similar bipeds, but is partially explained in that man used his heel and foot as he now does, even before his body began to assume large proportions, and this indicates that originally humans were short of stature, but accustomed to erect posture.

Mongolia's Wild Dogs Fiercer Than Wolves

The Mongols believe when persons are about to die that evil spirits enter the body, according to Mr. Roy Chapman, leader of the American Museum Asiatic expedition.

The bodies, once death has occurred, are placed on carts, driven over the roughest possible ground, and during the journey thrown off, to be devoured by wild dogs. These dogs are doubtless the fiercest creatures in the world. They are indeed terrible, and were a constant menace to the lives of the members of the expedition.

No member, said Mr. Chapman, went out of the camp unless armed with revolver and knife. No one in Urga, the Mongolian capital, dares to go through the meat market at night. They would be seized and killed within a minute if they ventured to do so.

The members of the expedition on at least three occasions came within an ace of death from these animals. Prof. Charles J. Berky, the chief geologist, was attacked on the first occasion by three dogs, and would have been killed had he not had his revolver handy. He killed the leading dog and wounded the other two, but they still leaped to the attack.

Men of Golden Pens Made for Each Other

In the summer of 1889 Mark Twain and Rudyard Kipling first met. Kipling, who had just begun to make his name known, was touring the world, and during the trip through the United States they went to Elmira especially to see Mark Twain. The account of the visit and interview is described by Mark Twain as follows:

Kipling spent a couple of hours with me, and at the end of that time I had surprised him as much as he had surprised me—and the honors were even. I believe that he knew more than any person I had ever met before, and I knew that he knew that I knew less than any person he had ever met before—though he did not say it, and I was not expecting that he would—he is a most remarkable man—and I am the other one. Between us we cover all knowledge; he knows all that can be known, and I know the rest."

Famous Vice Presidents

John Adams, who received the second highest number of votes, became vice president in the first and second administrations. In the same way Thomas Jefferson was elected vice president in 1796, when Adams was elected President, and Aaron Burr took second place in 1800 when Jefferson was elected President by the house of representatives. By the twelfth amendment to the Constitution, effective September 24, 1804, the electors were instructed to ballot separately for President and vice president. George Clinton was the first man nominated and elected to the office of vice president, being elected in November, 1804, when Jefferson was re-elected President.

Steam-Heated Bird Nest

Steam-heated nests with steam baths are being used by a pair of blue birds in Yellowstone park, according to reports to the national park service headquarters at Washington. The happy couple have, however, avoided expensive modern plumbing and steam fittings. They have simply taken over one of nature's big steam plants by constructing their cozy home in the nearly extinct Excelsior geyser cone. Every morning they can be seen darting in and out of the steam.

Plants are also using the geyser as a natural greenhouse. Wild strawberries have been found growing not far from the cone two weeks ahead of their usual season.

Where Wives Are Boss

What a visiting sea captain calls "the harems" are to be found among the Marquesas islands of the South seas. The bulky, brown Amazonian women are unspoilt by association with oriental ideas, and collect half a dozen husbands or more. The collection is done by the simple expedient of driving the man with a bamboo pole into the harem, thrashing him well to make him thoroughly understand who is in command—and setting him to work on the coconut plantation or at the housework. These conditions only obtain in the islands that are unvisited by steamships. The windjammer trader is the only white man who finds the natives in their primitive condition.

Antiquity of Coursing

The most ancient field sport in the western world is said to be "coursing." Rules for its proper conduct date from the time of Xenophon. If Great Britain alone were to be considered, then otter-hunting, now in full swing throughout the land, bears the bell. Under the late Norman kings, at any rate, it flourished, and as a royal sport, for a charter of Henry II, dated 1175, appointed Roger Follo "King's Otterhunter," and "Ralph and Geoffry" held the office jointly by letters patent dated at Dunstable June 7, 1216. John Gott, "Sergeant of the Otterhounds to King Charles II," was the last royal official to be appointed for this summer field sport.

The Word Factory

Slang is the great manufacturer of words, for it is constantly originating new ones which eventually are approved by the lexicographers and get into the dictionaries. But radio has made a record in its responsibility for 5,000 new words added to our speech in a very short time. Golf has added its contribution of a few hundred, but it has been more deliberate, in keeping with the nation which is sponsor for the game. The automobile must be given credit for its share and aviation has added quite an array.

THE QUESTION BOX

MEANING OF "SEDAN"

Driver, Eighth street.

Will you kindly explain the exact meaning of the word "Sedan"?

Ans. Webster's International Dictionary defines "Sedan" as a portable chair or vehicle for carrying a single person; usually borne on poles by two persons. The Sedan as applied to automobiles is so new that it has not as yet been incorporated in the dictionaries, and in lieu of this it may be said also that a Sedan is an automobile with a closed body.

I see by your paper that you tell the day of the week one was born. I was born on Dec. 31, 1864. What day of the week was that?

Ans. Dec. 31, 1864, was on Saturday. As this was the last day of the year, the last day of the month and the last day of the week, you came near not being born at all.

"SUWANEE"

Will you please tell me how to spell the name of the river that is mentioned in "The Old Folks at Home"?

Ans. The Suwanee River is spelled "S-u-w-a-n-e-e"

DONE AS A MATTER OF GOOD BUSINESS

Reliable, Cinnaminson street.

Should a man feel insulted, indignant or complimented when he gets a statement from a person or firm that he owes—particularly when one was never sent him before?

Ans. Neither one. The sending out of statements is in the legitimate channel of business. It is practiced by business men the world over. If you have failed to receive a statement from any creditor, it was because they were lax in their business methods.

FROM 1702 TO 1713

Elwood, Main street.

I would like to ask the question editor when the Queen Ann war was, and what two countries was it between?

Ans. Queen Ann's war was a conflict between the French and the English for sovereignty over North America. It began in 1702 and ended in 1713. It resulted in the final overthrow of the French power in Canada.

PHEW!

John D., East Riverton.

I am writing to ask the editor of the Question and Answer column how fast light can and does travel?

Ans. The velocity of light is about 185,000 miles per second.

SPIDER WEBS

George R., Riverside.

Where does a spider get the material with which it makes its web nest?

Ans. A fluid is ejected from spinnerets (very small projections from the hinder half of a spider) and this hardens immediately it comes in contact with the air. This furnishes the silk with which the web is woven.

THE "GARDEN" STATE

Peg, Palmyra.

Will you please tell me in your "question box" what flower represents New Jersey, what emblem, and if New Jersey has a song and any other interesting data about our State.

Ans. The state flower of New Jersey is the violet. The motto of New Jersey, adopted October 3, 1776, is "Liberty and Prosperity." Nicknames given the state are "Jersey Blue," "Garden," "New Spain" and "Mosquito."

One humorous writer referring to New Jersey being called the "Mosquito state," says: "Things have always hummed in the state. The buzz of the omnipresent mosquito is heard throughout the lowland portion of the state, while up Paterson way the whirring of the looms in the world's largest silk mills is a most welcome sound, for the hum of industry betokens prosperity. Back in the days before the state was "divvied up" between Lords Carteret and Berkeley, things hummed in Jersey. There were so many nationalities, so many factions laying claim to the land that the settlers used to wake up every morning wondering just who was 'boss' around there. And with so many claimants, the bullets were humming pretty regularly. The Swedes were on the Delaware, and on the Hudson it was the Dutch. Thus New Jersey was between two fires. Now the hum of industry has supplanted that of the bullet. The people are engaged in more peaceful pursuits. Jersey's manufactures employ more than half a million people, the annual products amounting close to four billion dollars."

Trenton, the state capital, has as its slogan, "Trenton makes; the world takes." Trenton boasts the largest pottery industry in the United States and the tremendous Roebling wire plant. Standard Oil, Victor Talking Machine, Singer Sewing Machine, Prudential Insurance Company, Campbell's Soups,—these are all associated with New Jersey's numerous industries. And, of course, Atlantic City cannot be forgotten, "the World's Playground," most famous seaside resort on the globe.

Resented Insinuation

Jake Simpson's middle girl, Elsie, the one that's been brought up in the city, came down to Oak Holler the other Sunday to look over her Uncle Eb Simpson's farm and it seems that Eb got real het up over her visit and bundled her right off to town again.

Eb ain't talkin' none, but somehow the story got out anyhow.

It seems Eb was showin' Elsie the farm critters and such when they come on Eb's yaller cat and her litter of kittens.

"Oh, Uncle Eb, those kittens are all different colors," says Elsie. Eb draws himself up as straight as he can, him havin' the rheumatism, and almost chokes on his chaw of tobaccer.

"Well, young lady," he says, "Don't you try to cast no reflections. I'll say this much. Ma and me've tried to bring our cats up right."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

SCHOOL DAYS

Curiosities of Smell

No substance that refuses to dissolve in water has an odor. It is the actual substance itself, floating in the air, that appeals to the nose and not simply a vibration of the air, as in the case of light and sound, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The damper a thing is the more powerful odor it gives off. A pleasant proof of the fact can be had by walking in a garden after rain. There is no end to the curiosities of smell. It is, for example, the vapor of a liquid that smells and not the liquid in the mass itself. If eau de cologne be poured into the nostril the nose refuses to recognize any odor there at all.

Knew Feminine Weakness

There was a canvasser at the door trying to sell Mrs. Higgins a burglar alarm.

"But I don't need any of your burglar alarms," she told the man, making as if to shut the door.

"That's just what the lady next door said," was the reply.

"What do you mean?" asked Mrs. Higgins, now on the alert. She hated "that woman."

"She said that it was no use my calling on you," went on the man, "for you wouldn't need any, as you had nothing worth stealing."

"Give me three," interrupted Mrs. Higgins, gritting her teeth.

How It Is Done

Diggins: "Did you see those two young girls in town last week who were walking from New York to San Francisco?"

Samuelson: "Yes. I was down to the depot when they got off the train."
