Lesson for September 6

PAUL WRITES TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

LESSON TEXT.—Phil. 3:1-14; 4:3.
GOLDEN TEXT.—"I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."—Phil. 4:13.
PRIMARY TOPIC.—Paul and His Friends.
JUNIOR TOPIC.—Paul Preaching Toward the Goal.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—Choosing the Best Things.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.—The Christian's Goal.

The contents of the epistle may be summarized as follows:

1. Salutation (1:1-2).
2. Thanksgiving and prayer in which he shows his loving interest in them (1:3-11).
3. Triumph of the gospel in spite of opposition (1:12-20).
4. Duties enjoined (1:27-2:18).
5. Paul's promise to send Timothy and Epaphroditus (2:19-30).
6. Exhortations and warnings (3:1-4:1).
7. Renewed appeal for unity (4:2-9).
8. Personal matters (4:10-23).

The essential message of Philippians is a revelation of the mind which should dominate the Christian.

1. All Things Loss for Christ (3:7-8).
2. The occasion for this remarkable declaration was the claim of the Judaizing teachers for legal righteousness. In chapter 3:4-6 he enumerates the grounds upon which he had a right to base his claims for legal righteousness.

1. "Circumcised the eighth day," in keeping with the demands of the law.
2. "Of the stock of Israel," related by blood and birth.
3. "Tribe of Benjamin," from which the first king was chosen, and which always remained loyal to the nation.
4. "An Hebrew of the Hebrews," in contrast with some of mixed parentage.
5. "Touching the law, a Pharisee," the sect most zealous for the ritual of Judaism.
6. "Concerning zeal, persecuting the church," a passionate effort to crush the church.
7. "Touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless," as to the condition of life demanded by the law.

All of these, valuable in themselves, when placed alongside of the excellency of the knowledge of Christ were abandoned for a better thing. The vision of Christ gave him the true perspective of values. In this light he saw the utter worthlessness of these things. After some thirty years of such trials and sufferings as perhaps no other human being ever knew, he has no regrets, and still counts them as refuse in comparison with what he had gained in Christ.

1. Paul's Present Desire (vv. 10-11).
 1. "That I May Know Him."
- Personal acquaintance with the Lord was his supreme desire. To know the saving grace of Christ is good, but to know Christ is infinitely better.

2. "The Power of His Resurrection."
- This is an advance thought over personal acquaintance. It is the expression of the life of Christ through the apostle. It is the power by which he overcame the mastery over sin and self.

3. "Fellowship of His Sufferings."
- Not only identified with Christ in His sufferings by imputation, but that he might fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ (Col. 1:24).

4. "Attain Unto the Resurrection of the Dead" (v. 13).
- This will be accomplished when the Lord comes (1 Thes. 4:16-17).

1. Pressing Toward the Goal (vv. 12-16).

Paul clearly grasped the meaning of his perfection in Christ, yet he was keenly conscious of his personal limitations. Herein is expressed the true law of progress in the spiritual life.

1. Conscious of Limitations (v. 12).
- The first step toward progress is to be profoundly dissatisfied with personal attainments. No intellectual advancement is ever made by those who think they know enough, who are satisfied with what they have.

2. Conscious of a Transcendent Goal (v. 13).

The Christian life is an upward calling.

3. A Resolute Determination to Reach the Goal (v. 14).

4. "This one thing I do."

- IV. The Right Occupation of the Mind (ch. 4:1-3).

The ideal controls the man. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so he." When once the mind is guarded and controlled by the peace of God, it will dwell upon spiritual things.

1. Faith.

"Every man may lose the sunshine for a time because of the clouds but happy is he if he still retains his faith."

2. The Good Shepherd.

A good shepherd always looks after his ailing sheep.—Western Christian Advocate.

3. Teaches Mercy.

"The religion of Jesus Christ alone teaches mercy."

Fishing Sport in Barnegat Bay

New and Bigger Fish Provide Thrills for Beach Haven Anglers

David Darnell Engle, son of the late Senator Robert B. Engle, of Mount Holly, and builder of the famous Engle Hotel at Beach Haven, has written an interesting book concerning fishing in the waters within easy access of Beach Haven, published on Sunday.

Mr. Engle, who lives at Montclair, in Essex county, in the winter time, and at Beach Haven in the summer, is an ardent fisherman. He is also an expert maker of fine fishing rods which bring fancy prices and are worth their "weight" as he is still remembered by many of his old-time Burlington County friends, is interested in the Engle Hotel and takes part in the management of the popular hotel, but he finds time to do much fishing for big weakfish and tuna, giant game fish weighing anywhere from twenty-five to four hundred pounds. The smaller ones, perhaps running up to a hundred pounds, are taken by the rod-and-reel fishermen, but the giants of their race have only been caught in the pound nets off shore thus far.

Beach Haven is on an island originally twenty-one miles long, of the upper part of the southern coast of New Jersey. At the northern end of the island is Barnegat Inlet and at the southern end is Little Egg Harbor Inlet. Beach Haven is situated about the middle of the lower half, and has Little Egg Harbor Bay, averaging seven miles wide and sixteen miles long between it and the mainland of New Jersey.

Recently Broke Through

"Below Beach Haven, one and a half miles, is Beach Haven Inlet. It is at the same spot the main inlet was located about 100 years ago, but which closed up about sixty years ago. It remained closed until the winter of 1921 when it broke through the beach and in now one and a half miles wide and has nine feet at low tide over the bar. It history repeats itself. It will again become the main inlet. Little Egg Harbor Inlet, the main inlet at the present time, was then of little account and when it widened and the other inlet closed up, it was called New Inlet, and is so named on some of the old charts.

At the time of our grandfathers, and probably before, Little Egg Harbor Bay was a veritable paradise for salt water fishermen. It has always had an abundance of weakfish, sea bass, kingfish and flounders, and until twenty-three years ago, it also had the gamey, toothsome, wary, sheephead. Why they are not here now has never been successfully explained. They simply left, without leaving an itinerary. There have been, at intervals, abnormal runs of kingfish, spotfish (Lafayettes, Cape May foodies), and pompano and Florida grunts have also made their appearance.

Croaker New Visitors

"Until ten years ago croakers were caught only at sea, but now they are among the most abundant of the bay fish and average from two to four pounds apiece. They are scrappy fish and excellent to eat. Catches of several hundred in one day have been made with hook and line.

"Until four years ago a weakfish weighing four pounds was an exhibition specimen. Weakfish weighing one or two pounds were plentiful. During the last four years, however, a larger class, from seven to twelve and sometimes fourteen pounds, have made their appearance in abundance. Those who caught weakfish in the bay in bygone days and who have not caught this larger species have thrills coming to them which they never dreamed of.

"With the advent of the large species in the bay the whole method of fishing had to be changed. From the bamboo pole and drop line, which almost anybody could use to drop the bait overboard and yank in small fish to their heart's content, there has been evolved a high grade quality of rods and reels. Skill equal to that of the successful fisherman is required to present the bait to the big tiderunners in such a manner that they consider it worthy of attention—they are gentleman and insist upon being treated as such.

Instead of the old up and down method of fishing, the successful fisherman must be provided with slinkers from one-half ounce to three ounces, graduated every quarter-ounce, so that he may change slinkers as often as necessary according to the strength of the current and be able to feel the bottom at intervals and keep the bait in motion—always. The bait should be started on its journey along the bottom about forty yards from the boat and stopped out about 100 yards. That method should be employed until the strike comes.

Weakfish Not Weak

"When big weakfish strike, their runs are fast and furious, and for the first few minutes equal to any fish that swims. They are really men's fish, and many a doubling Thomas during the last few years has taken off his hat to this new variety of weakfish.

"Surf fishing off the beach has also developed wonderfully in the last ten years. It has many devotees who consider fishing from boats as being beneath their dignity.

"Tuna, no doubt, have been off the Jersey coast for a good many years, but were only found in the last three years owing to the fact that the proper kind of boats were not here to go after them.

"Last summer there were about 400 tuna brought into Beach Haven and about 100 so far this year, up to August 1. The season is from the last of June until the last of September for tunafish. During the latter part of the season they are augmented with a considerable quantity of bluefish, albacore and bonito, and inasmuch as the same lure is used for all, you do not know just what you'll strike into."

Legend of Pontius Pilate

Among the Swiss Alps is a mountain named after Pontius Pilate. Country people say that it is haunted by Pilate's ghost. According to legendary lore it appears that after the Crucifixion Pontius Pilate fell from Imperial favor and killed himself in prison, whereupon his body was cast into the Tiber, which immediately rose and almost burst its banks. The body was taken to a lonely pool at the top of the mountain which now bears its name near Lucerne. According to another version Pilate retired there during his lifetime and was thrown into the pool by the wandering Jew. In any case his presence caused terrible trouble, avalanches and floods devastating the district and a thunderous noise in the recesses of the mountains. In the sixteenth century the ghost was finally laid, and a procession went up every year, headed by the vicar of Lucerne, to cast stones into the pool.

County Agent Discusses Best Methods of Handling Dairying Cattle

By CHARLES A. THOMPSON,
County Agricultural Agent

Can I get the large milk production of the Holstein and the high butterfat test of the Jersey or Guernsey by crossing these breeds is a question frequently asked by dairymen. The answer given by dairy authorities is that even though the first cross should be an improvement, the second and succeeding generations may be total losses because the offspring of cross-bred animals do not breed true.

Prof. C. M. Eckles, of the University of Minnesota, says the development of a modern breed of dairy cattle is the result of a long continued process of selection of individuals showing characters sought by the breeder. By this method the desired characters have become fixed and the selective process has resulted in purifying the germplasm, thus insuring the certainty of transmission. By crossing distinct breeds we interfere with these factors and hence the result is very uncertain.

Prof. E. P. Mumford, dairy animal authority at the University of Missouri, says that numerous trials have shown that the result of crossing purebred animals is often to destroy the benefits of generations of careful breeding and selection.

Hardy's Dairyman for August 7 says, "High production is an inherited characteristic that has been built up through generations of breeding by careful selection and is, therefore, abnormal. There is a strong tendency to revert to the production of the original wild cows that were scrubs, to the extent of yielding probably 400 to 800 pounds of milk in the weeks that they suckled their calves. This tendency, therefore, constitutes that down-hill pull against which a dairyman must constantly fight."

Some Holstein breeders have been tempted to use either a Guernsey or a Jersey bull, with the idea that the offspring will produce milk testing higher in butterfat. Experience has shown that when a Holstein cow is crossed with a Guernsey or Jersey bull the offspring is more likely to produce milk of Holstein quality and Guernsey quantity than the reverse.

Substitutes for Milk
Some time ago I discussed "The Raising of Calves on Sole or Skimmed Milk." This week I will take up the question of "Raising Calves on Substitutes for Milk."

In this section of the State where whole milk is sold, it is necessary to consider a method of feeding calves with a small amount of milk. It is equally important that dairymen should be raising some calves if they are going to improve their herds. Therefore, I will touch briefly on the two general ways of feeding calves with the minimum of whole milk.

First, the dairymen can purchase and feed commercial calf meals on the market, or second, he can mix his own calf meal. Both of these ways have been tried out carefully on many farms and at several experiment stations, so that we know that good dairy helpers can be raised on substitutes for milk. In test of these calf meals skimmied check groups raised on skimmied milk at two years of age, it has been found that there is no difference in development. The young calves do not grow quite as fast at first but soon pick up after six months of age, and, at two years of age, there is no appreciable difference.

No. 1. Authorities at Cornell University have found that there has been no difference in production ability that can in any way be attributed to the fact that calves were raised on substitutes for milk.

This is an important item for dairymen in this county to consider because many do not raise their own stock simply because they cannot see any way to raise calves without milk. Therefore, they maintain their herd by purchase. If there is to be any general improvement in the dairy herd of any section it will have to be by using good, purebred bulls and raising of calves.

Commercial Calf Meal

Feed manufacturers in the past few years have greatly increased the number of commercial meals on the market. They are all much alike as to ingredients. It will not be possible to name all the commercial calf meals on the market or to give their ingredients. Each farmer in selecting his calf meal must judge of its merits. Since we cannot name them and give results for each, it is only fair that we do not name any. It is suggested that those meals which probably give the best results which are made up from the ingredients that we know to be suitable for feeding young animals. It is required by law that all the ingredients be named. If there seems to be any ingredients in the mixture that might not be suitable do not feed that meal but buy another which has suitable ingredients.

Feed the commercial calf meal that you select according to the methods suggested by the manufacturer. In trials conducted by Prof. Savage, of Cornell University, covering a period of eight years, with several commercial feeds, the methods recommended by the manufacturers have been followed with good results. Prof. Savage further states that he had no trouble in getting calves to gain at least one pound per day with commercial calf meals and that gains of 1½ pounds per day were common. No one should be satisfied with a gain of less than one pound per day.

All the precautions and methods mentioned in last week's article should be scrupulously carried out with commercial calf feeds, because these meals are a much more artificial way of feeding than skimmied milk and more likely to cause trouble. Extra care must be taken not to overfeed.

A Home-Mixed Calf Meal

The Purdue University Experiment Station has used extensively a home-mixed calf meal, simple in its makeup and within the reach of all. Any feed dealer can procure the ingredients. The mixture is equal parts, by weight, of linseed oil meal, hominy feed, red dog flour, and soluble blood flour. A good rule to follow is to mix a pound of the dry meal with four quarts of water at 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and use this gruel just as one would skimmied milk, taking five weeks for the complete change from milk to gruel. One thing to be careful about in using this method of raising calves is not to overfeed.

STUMP BUTCHERING OF TREES

The Mercer County Shade Tree Commission, of which Charles C. Hanesbury, formerly of Mount Holly, is secretary, has started a war against the butchering of shade trees by public utility corporations to make space for stringing wires.

As in other counties, the corporations have horribly mutilated fine trees along public highways in Mercer, in many instances ruining the trees. The commission intends to exercise its power to stop the practice and will permit no trimming by corporations or individuals without consent of and under the supervision of the county body.

In some instances the applications to trim are refused outright, an example of which is the recent denial of a permit to the Bell Telephone Company to prune 250 beautiful trees skirting the Pennington-Hopewell road.

The latest advice from Russia indicates that the rulers of that country propose to use disease germs if Russia ever participates in another war. It is said that the most virulent germs possible to obtain are being secured and kept in cultures—nice gentle people, these bolsheviks.

Many of the early farm papers that are now extinct incorporated the word "cultivator" in their publication name.

CHICKS GROW RAPIDLY EATING NEW SUBSTANCE

Some startling new developments in chick feeding are suggested by the results of recent trials of a fungous enzymic material under observation now at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick. Chicks receiving a small amount of the new substance were, at the end of 20 weeks, over one-half pound heavier than those not receiving it.

Over 1,000 Leghorn chicks of both sexes and divided into five groups were used in the investigation. At the end of seven weeks the males were eliminated and the trials continued for 13 weeks more. Each of the five groups received a normal ration from the outset. In addition, the enzymic material was incorporated in the mash mixture as follows: 5 per cent of the weight of mash in Group 1, 3 per cent in Group 2, 2 per cent in Group 3, 1 per cent in Group 4, and none in Group 5. This last group, consuming no accessory enzymic material, was used as a basis of comparison for the other groups.

At the end of 20 weeks of feeding the birds in Group 1 averaged 2.4 pounds in weight, in Group 2 2.85 pounds, Group 3, 2.89 pounds, Group 4, 2.50 pounds and Group 5, 2.65 pounds.

Though they feel pleased over these results, authorities at the Experiment Station believe that it is too early to draw extensive conclusions. They are convinced, however, that this preliminary test indicates decidedly that fungous enzymes contained in accessory feeds may impart growth-promoting properties to the ration.

Similar tests have also been made by feeding laying stock, but the tests have not been conducted long enough to justify expressing an opinion upon the role of fungous enzymes as a means of inducing increased egg production.

The latest news from Latvia is that that newly formed government is going to enjoy a monopoly of radio equipment within its borders. Prices of apparatus and the rates for listening in to radio programs have already been fixed. A single tube set including phones will cost about $25 installed. Other sets are to be sold at proportionate prices. Individual rights to listen in run from 50 cents a month to two dollars, for performances in public. Fines are also proposed for those who have not licensed receivers. Owners of sets may not rent them nor are they permitted to put out any information secured from the sending stations.

A "palindrome" is a word, phrase or sentence which reads same either forward or backward. Here is a remarkable one in Latin: Sator Arepo Tenet Opera Rotas. The initial letters unite to form the first word, the second letters form the second word, and so on to the end. The same is true when the words are read backward.

Introducing a NEW AUTOMOBILE FUEL

NO-NOX is a new automotive fuel that increases fuel efficiency, increases power, lessens waste eliminates fuel knocks and the poor operating conditions that such knocks indicate, and prevents all harmful effects of carbonization.

With NO-NOX in the tank of your car you may step on the accelerator without a motor knock thus accelerating quicker, handle your car in traffic better and go over the hills with greater power and ease.

For an extended period of time, extensive experiments and research work have been carried on in the Gulf Refining Company Laboratories, and test cars driven thousands of miles to develop this more efficient fuel for internal combustion engines—we know it is right—but

The only way to realize the benefits of this new fuel is to make an actual trial of it in your car. Drive to a Gulf Service Station or Gulf Dealer today, and ask the attendant for NO-NOX.

NO-NOX is guaranteed to be no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline and is priced only three cents per gallon higher than That Good Gulf gasoline.

EAST RIVERTON NOTES

Misses Ada and Helen Perkins have returned after spending a week at Seaside Heights.

Mrs. Elizabeth Underhill, of Lakewood, and several relatives were guests at the home of her father, Alfred Gibson, for the Ashbury harvest home.

Mrs. Charles Hauser, of Camden, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. E. M. Everingham on Thursday.

Harry Collins has moved from the Church property to Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of Philadelphia, were over the weekend visitors at the home of Mrs. J. Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Everingham, of Riverside, and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Everingham, spent Saturday with friends at Beach Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaffer have taken apartments at Riverside.

Miss Edith Ward was made happy by finding her watch that was advertised as lost last week.

MAX LOCHOWITZ BREAKS HIP

While repairing the chimney at his residence on Chinnamilton street last Saturday afternoon Max Lochowitz fell to the ground and was severely cut about the face and arms besides suffering a dislocated hip. This is the first "vacation" Mr. Lochowitz has had in many years, and he says that he would a lot rather be working.

GLEN GARDNER REUNION

The Fourth Reunion of ex-patients and social workers will be held at Glen Gardner Sanatorium, Saturday, September 12. Prominent speakers will address the meeting. Luncheon will be served to all visitors. Dr. S. B. English would appreciate notice of all who will attend and invite those interested in the work to be present.

HIGHEST INCOME TAX

Roebbling Family Tops List in Southern New Jersey District

The Roebbling family, owners of the John A. Roebbling Sons Co., steel wire and cable manufacturers, are the heaviest payers of income tax in the South Jersey district.

A half dozen members of the family paid income taxes totaling about one million dollars, their returns being made on profits which accrued from the company.

The figures were disclosed this week at the office of E. L. Sturge, Collector of Internal Revenue.

Eldridge H. Johnson, president of the Victor Talking Machine Company, paid the largest individual income tax in Camden. He turned over $542,627.30 of his 1924 earnings to Uncle Sam.

The second highest income taxpayer in Camden is Dr. John T. Dorrance, president of the Campbell Soup Company. His return was $291,853.60.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of Public Service Corporation, paid an income tax of $59,326.50.

TO TRY HELLER AGAIN

Mount Holly Bank Cashier Faces New Trial After Release

Clifford S. Heller, who embezzled about $18,500 from the Mount Holly National Bank away back in 1910 and was arrested in Detroit about a year ago, and who is now serving time in the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Georgia, since having confessed to the charge, and having been sentenced to one year by the Federal Court, sitting at Trenton, will be brought back to Burlington county at the expiration of his term at Atlanta to answer to a charge of embezzling about $2,800 from the Industry Building and Loan Association, of Mount Holly, of which he was the treasurer.

Prosecutor Hillman, who is also attorney for the bank and secretary of the building and loan association, had a bench warrant issued for Heller's arrest on Saturday and it was immediately forwarded to Atlanta, where it will act as a detainer when his time is up, which will probably be sometime in November, or sooner, with time allowance off for good behavior.

The uncertainty as to when Heller might be released caused the prosecutor to take action, and from present indications, unless he should sue it to plead guilty to the charge, his case will be heard here at the December term of court.

The American Museum of Natural History is maintained almost exclusively by the contributions of its 7,962 regular members.

An aerial railway outside of Shamouli makes it possible for the lazy mountain climbers to ascend a considerable distance up the sides of Mount Blanc range. When finished the final landing will be only 3,300 feet below the actual summit of Mount Blanc itself.

The world is so rich in fools that it would be rather badly off without them.

It is consoling to know that you are right, even when you "get left."

"Feather" Says:

I have heard a report that Riverton will have an Old Home Week. What a wonderful time it will be! Residents of Riverton who have gone to far distant corners will find their minds turning to the days gone by, which were spent in Riverton, and then making every effort to join their friends of other days in a "Home-Coming."

This event calls to mind the following lines:

O the days gone by! O the days gone by!

The apples in the orchard, and the pathway through the rye.

The chirrup of the robin, and the whistle of the quail

As he piped across the meadows sweet as any nightingale;

When the moon was in the clover, and the blue was in the sky,

And my happy heart brimmed over, in the days gone by.

In the days gone by, when my naked feet were tripping where the honeysuckle tangles were the water-lilies dipped,

And the ripples of the river lapped the moss along the brink,

Where the placid-eyed and lazy-footed cattle came to drink

And the tilting snipe stood fearless of the truant's wayward cry

And the splashing of the swimmer, in the days gone by.

O the days gone by! O the days gone by!

The music of the laughing lip, the luster of the eye;

The childish faith in fairies, and Aladdin's magic ring—

The simple, soul-reposing, glad belief in everything—

When life was like a story, holding us neither sob nor sigh,

In the golden glory of the days gone by.

RIVER PIRATES BUSY

Several boats of the Riverton Yacht Club fleet were broken into Saturday night and many articles were stolen, including clothing, food, soft drinks and tools. The victims were Raymond Hollerich, E. K. Merrill, John Stewart, Dick Hollingshead and A. R. Thompson.

From Thompson's boat they took a spot light, battery, bathing suits, rubber coats, heavy sweaters, tools and about $15 worth of canned goods. The mattresses on the bunks were turned over and things upset generally. Entrance was gained by cutting a Yale lock.

Such depredations occur yearly, and indications are that they are perpetrated by a gang of young fellows who are going on a camping trip, and take this means of securing their outfit.

GLASSBORO NORMAL OPENS

Record Enrollment Due to Teacher's School Next Tuesday

The New Jersey State Normal School at Glassboro will open on Tuesday, September 8, with a record enrollment. In addition to the usual number of new students, approximately forty teachers with from three to fifteen years' experience in teaching have registered to complete the work for a Normal Diploma.

Three new instructors have been added to the faculty. Miss Sadie Klutner, a graduate of Teachers' College, Columbia University, who has been head of the Kindergarten Department in Temple College, will occupy a similar position in the school.

Miss Julia Shipman, formerly head of the Geography Department in the New Britain, Connecticut, Normal School, will direct the work in geography. She has been awarded the Master's Degree by Clark University, has studied at Oxford, England, and has traveled extensively in Europe. Miss Kjersten Nelson, Supervisor of Grade Work in Greenwich Academy, Greenwich, Connecticut, will become director of the Extension Department, which has been recently organized to offer courses to teachers in service in South Jersey. She is a graduate of Teachers' College, Columbia University, having received both the Bachelor's and Master's Degree from this institution. She has taught in Teachers' College during several summer sessions.

Professor S. G. Winans, Head of the Mathematics Department, will organize and supervise the work of training Rural Teachers.

Charles Marter the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marter, of Florida, died August 29th, following a painful illness of four months. Mrs. Marter will be remembered as Elsie Wood, of Riverton.

Terrific Hitting by Hubbs and Steedle Feature Victory Over Roebbling

Swatting the horsehide to a lively tune, and driving out a total of eighteen hits, Riverton found it easy sledding to a 9-2 victory over Roebbling last Saturday.

Five of these eighteen solid steedles are credited to Clarence Hubbs. The clever willow-swinging plumber socked the apple all over the field, drove out two homers a triple, double and a single. Pat Steedle, the bus magnate, also shone brightly on the offensive with another homer and triple.

Holwick and Taylor, playing airtight ball, were the shining local lights on the field. Holwick has some wonderful performances to his credit this year and it is reported that "Tink" will be holding down the hot corner for the big Camden team next year.

This Saturday Manager Hilton's team travels to Mount Holly. Their next home game will be "Labor Day" afternoon when they play Delanco at Memorial Park, game starting 3:30 p. m.

After the League season closes, Manager Hilton has booked several exhibition games with "Oaker" Schuler's team, the Palmyra Field Club, and the Riverton and Palmyra Giants.

Herbert and Steedle will be the battery for Riverton Labor Day afternoon against Delanco. Come out and root for your home team.

SOME CATCH

Councilman Lynch Lands Largest Stingaree Ever Caught in Delaware Bay

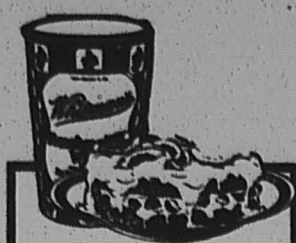

After a battle lasting forty-five minutes, Councilman William H. Lynch, of Riverton, landed one of the largest stingarees ever caught in Delaware Bay. The stingaree is the most dangerous fish in the bay and is feared by all fishermen.

Mr. Lynch was the guest of the Poor Fish Club, of Riverton, which was giving its last fishing trip of the season. Jack Keating, who is treasurer of the club, was kept busy pulling in shark. Teddy Schneider, a life member of the club, caught the smallest fish, while Dick Armstrong who is secretary, caught the largest.

George Miller, Lem Grau, Bob Robbins, Ike Rogers, John Sotham, Joe Devitt and Walt Armstrong caught a good number each, while the club's pet, little Harry Messmer, who is so tender-hearted, just couldn't bear to catch the fish, so he kept feeding them all day, with Ike Rogers, our newdealer, assisting him.

Field Club Bows To Camden Team

Palmyra Nine Suffers Slump And Meets Defeat by 10-5

The best of them get it occasionally, the worst have it permanently, and the Field Club surely was in one Saturday. Slump is the answer to the great mystery and it certainly was thoroughly imbued in the Field Club nine Saturday when it went down before the strong Camden City aggregation by a 10-5 tune.

Dave Wenger, with a record of six wins and one defeat, was on the mound for the Stackmen. His hurling in the first two frames was as usual, but then came the third and Dave blew up completely. Camden laid out five straight hits. Babe Flynn was then rushed to the rescue and before the last man was retired, Camden was enjoying a comfortable lead of six runs.

Martin was the master of the party for the best three cantos, but the seventh found the visitors floundering in a lively tussle. This time four well directed blows netted the Camdenites another trio of counters. With the bases loaded and two outs, Sheehan, the Camden third baseman, shot out a single, battering to deep left field, clearing the bases. Before another hitman faced Babe, Sheehan was caught stealing third. Camden chalked up the final tally on its last appearance at the plate.

Palmyra set out to start the first works in the second and marked up a pair. Weikman was passed, Ed Harder sent one down to the hot corners and Sheehan, at second, harder lured the apple to first for the initial out. Andrews singled and sent home the pair, but was caught on his way to second. Flynn ended the game with a strikeout. Palmyra put its fourth out big by the fourth and was rewarded with two more. Weikman singled and was nabbed at the keystone sack, going down on Bennett's hit. Harder slugged and the couple went over the pan, a grounder to third and a popfly to the same position put a kibosh on any more local counters.

Harder was walked and went home on a single from the twelfth bat of Babe Flynn, which finally started working in the eighth. Any hopes of a local rally in the ninth was shortlived when Manager Stack, Harder and King were sent back in one, two, three.

This Saturday's attraction will be Remington and Vauxbury, of Camden instead of Curran and Meade, as previously announced. The Camden bunch is good and will be well worth watching, and the home should be out of the slump by then.

Labor Day the Field Club will meet the classy Riverside T. A. C. swatters. They have already met twice this year and each club has won one and lost one, so the game will be for blood. Tuesday evening Little Brothers will be met in a twilight setto on the home loam, and the following evening a return match will be staged on the store team's field in Philadelphia.

AIR GAME AT DIX

Searchlights Peek to Spot Invading Airplanes

Night air flights are being made over Camp Dix by giant Martin bombers from Camp Vail, under instructions from Major General Sumner, of Governor's Island, commanding the Second Corps area.

During experiments to perfect coordination between sound detecting devices and searchlights of the 62nd Anti-Aircraft Artillery, the airplanes will take off from Camp Vail every night, and under cover of darkness, fly over a marked area in Camp Dix.

The listening devices detect the approach of the planes miles from the camp. Searchlight operators are kept informed of their approach by means of sound and attempt to illuminate them.

SHOVER MAN "BURNAL" IN OWN FRONT YARD

Quite a lot of excitement was stirred up last week when many of the Twin City residents noticed a big hole in the lawn in front of the Shover's.

or Funeral Home on East Broad Street, Palmyra.

Immediately all kinds of reports were broadcast. Some said Frank was starting a gas station in front of his home, others insisted it was some kind of a sample tomb, or he was going to show a properly lined grave and last, but not least, the "whee guy" said the funeral director had actually buried some one there.

Just to "scare" calm things down, Mr. Shover has asked us to inform his friends that he is installing an oil burner in the Funeral Home and the hole was merely dug for the tank.

ABANDON ARSENAL

Will Sell Amotol Reservoir at Auction, September 23

The great Amotol Arsenal Reservation, said to be the largest of its kind in the world, is to be sold on September 23, according to word just received from the War Department. Included in the sale is the great white Administration Building, admired by hundreds of thousands of motorists along the White Horse pike.

The tract is divided into five portions, and this building with 119 acres of land, fronting on the Pennsylvania Railroad with the White Horse pike running through it, constitute Section 1.

More than eight thousand persons were employed daily on the reservation during the World War. It containing a shell-loading plant.

Bristol Man Meets Death When Canoe Turns Over

Oscar P. Clegg, of Bristol, proprietor of the bath house on Burlington Island, was drowned and Robert Merkel, of Philadelphia, one of the owners of the Island Beach Amusement Park, had a narrow escape from death when the canoe in which they were riding was upset on the Delaware River, between the Island and Bristol, early Sunday morning.

The two men were going to Bristol in the canoe at the close of the summer awnings.

BURLINGTON MAN COMMITTED

Francis Barker, of Burlington, was one of the recent arrivals at the county jail, he having been committed by Justice of the Peace A. R. Fox, on a charge of robbing George Kimmons, also of Burlington.

Deny Poisoning By Beetle Spray

Orchardists Say Eating Fruit Is Not the Cause of "Devil's Grip"

Burlington county and other South Jersey orchardists claim that there is no foundation for the stories that have been broadcast in newspapers lately, that a summer sickness which has been named "Devil's Grip" is caused by arsenate of lead that was used in spray form on fruit trees to stop the ravages of the Japanese beetle and other pests, and there seems to be considerable evidence to support their contention.

If persons have been made ill by arsenic that remains on peaches and apples, the big growers say, it must be from fruit that came from trees in home gardens, recently sprayed, and not from the commercial orchards, as heavy rains which have fallen since the mixture was applied in June, has washed off any of the poison that may have adhered to the fruit.

The home growers are so few in number that a general outbreak of illness could not be attributed to that cause the experts state. Another contention is that the arsenic is so much diluted with water when properly applied to the trees, that the chances of poisoning are remote.

L. R. Smith, of the Burlington County Farm Bureau, has devoted considerable time to investigating reports about the hundreds of cases of illness in South Jersey which have been attributed to the arsenical spray and finds that the stories have been much exaggerated and that physicians have been misquoted.

Dr. H. B. Gastill, State director of health, who has been making an investigation of the cause of the summer complaint, told Mr. Smith that there is no verification of the arsenic theory. The sickness is believed to be caused by an intestinal trouble that is not infrequent at this time of the year.

The case of Earl Marshall, aged 11 years, of Maple Shade, who is in a Camden hospital for treatment and reported to have been poisoned by arsenic, was investigated and it was ascertained that he had not been eating unpeeled peaches or apples.

Another argument presented by Mr. Smith to disprove the arsenic theory is that the same spray has been used by orchardists for about six years and no evil results followed. Then, too, the sickness is not reported to be prevalent in New York, Philadelphia and other metropolitan cities, to which most of the Burlington county fruit is shipped and consumed. This, the commercial growers contend, is positive proof that no illness comes from eating their products.

Study Woods Again

When iron ships came into use the study of woods began to decline and the decline was steady until recently when the United States Department of Agriculture placed upon a footing of a "principal product" Galicia, upon his visit to the arsenal in Venice, which visit had much to do with his law upon the resistance of solid bodies, one of the first eminent students of woods. Leonardo da Vinci was another.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

THE WEBSTERS

THERE was a delightful camaraderie between Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster. Mrs. Webster had been Miss Grace Fletcher, the daughter of a minister of Hopkinton; the great American statesman had married when his future was already assured and there after they shared the fame that came to them.

"My dear love," writes Webster from Washington, recounting his actions for the previous day. "Mrs. Brown gave her first party last night and having occasion to go to the President's called on my return. It was the assemblage fully much of a Washington party of last year. Mrs. Johnston was there and spoke of you with great kindness and inquired for you very particularly. Many other ladies (and gentlemen too) asked after your welfare with much apparent interest and one of them pronounced you a favorite of the whole city."

3000 Boys Enjoy Y. M. C. A. Camp

Thirteen Outdoor Organizations Conducted for Boys of State During Summer

The Y. M. C. A. summer program will come to a close this week with record of 3,000 boys enrolled in the thirteen organized camps conducted by the State, County, City, College and Colored Associations. Thousands of other boys participated in the program conducted in the Association buildings which included teaching to swim campaigns, life saving instruction and examinations, nature study outings and hikes, summer vacation Bible schools and other activities.

Through the State Museum, natural objects, stereoscopic slides and motion pictures have made possible a worthwhile program for those compelled to remain at home. Woodcraft and campcraft were given a large place so that the members of the Boys' Division learned many lessons from nature.

The leaders and boys at Camp Wawayanda located near Andover under the leadership of Joseph N. Brown and John A. Ledlie, have just completed the erection of a beautiful outdoor chapel seating 300 which will be dedicated in memory of Charles T. Kilborne who died July 21. Mr. Kilborne served for 25 years as Chairman of the State Boys' Work Committee and was a pioneer in this type of work for adolescent boys.

In addition to the State Camp located near Andover, the Newark Association conducted Camp Klamasha with Harold E. Wanda as director. Camp Kittany for the Orange boys was under the leadership of Hunter B. Grant; Camp Wilson for Trenton and Mercer County boys was under the guidance of Clarence T. Gordon; Camp Okanickon for the southern Jersey boys had Ross S. Musselman in charge and Camp Taylor for the northern rural boys was led by Amos C. Morrison.

The Morristown Boys' Camp had Harold G. Lawton as director; Carney's Point Camp was in charge of Joseph W. Crockett; Salem boys were under the leadership of A. B. Whitledge and Ernest K. Epps had charge of the Lakewood Camp. There were two camps for colored boys, one known as Camp Lenape for Orange and vicinity with Joseph W. Bowers in charge and Mr. Lawton was the leader of the Morristown Colored Camp. The Philadelphia Society of Princeton University under the leadership of H. M. Lewis conducted a camp for poorer boys from various settlement houses.

The closing week at Camp Wilson was devoted to a conference of the officers in connection with the High School Clubs conducted by the Associations in central New Jersey with David E. Sonquist and Mr. Gordon in charge. Ralph J. Richardson, the State Student Secretary was among the leaders in connection with this conference.

During the summer Charles R. Scott, the State Secretary for Boys' Work, visited the majority of the camps spending a few days in each place, reporting that in many ways this has been one of the best seasons in the Association camping enterprise. He was especially pleased with the personnel of leadership, the improvement in the camp equipment and the program conducted.

During the vacation of Chaplain J. E. Curry of the State Home or Boys at Jamesburg the State Boys' Work Committee of the Y. M. C. A. provided speakers for the Sunday Chapel Services and those who addressed the boys were: Charles A. Green, Trenton; Edward M. Dowling, Middlesex County; E. H. Ayers, Fort Hancock and J. W. Bowers, Orange Colored Branch. The Deputation Team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. also had charge of one service. The Y. M. C. A. of Montclair under the leadership of A. K. Franklin, reported a program for the caddies at the Montclair County Club and will continue to do this throughout the Fall.

R. C. Shoemaker, State County Work Secretary reports an increasing interest in the agricultural contests conducted for rural boys throughout New Jersey and C. H. Nuttle, General Secretary of Morristown, E. H. Chase, Boys' Work Secretary, Rahway, Mr. Sonquist of Mercer County and Mr. Whitledge of Salem are favorably impressed with the large enrollment and good influence of the Summer Vacation Bible Schools conducted under the auspices of their respective Associations.

John T. Sproul, Chairman of the State Boys' Work Committee expresses pleasure for the advanced step taken during the past summer in the Boys' Work Program and calls attention to the fact that the Committee is now looking forward to the Annual State Older

MORE BUSINESS EFFICIENCY

Municipal operation of street car lines and other public service utilities would not be such uniform failures if there were some way of securing first class business efficiency of administration, which seems impossible in the average city government. The New York Evening Telegram of July 3 says, under the editorial heading, "Another Municipal Success":

"Another dream has been shattered in this best of all possible worlds. An auditor, after going over the books, informs the city officials of Detroit that their municipally operated street railway system has suffered a deficit of more than three million dollars in three years of city operation.

"Have not the published monthly reports of the last three years showed profits? Naturally Mayor Smith is greatly surprised. Doubtless even greater surprises are in store for him, and it follows, for the people of Detroit.

"The reserves which have been carried, the audit shows, have not been out of real income, but have existed only on paper.

"Paper is not as expensive as operating a street railway, so may we not anticipate the usual monthly report for August—that the profits for the month of July are greater than in any previous month?"

It must be remembered the book-keeping job, like managing the city-owned street railway, is also a political job, and political job holders are not above using the political machine to which they owe their jobs.

Some of them apparently do not care whether any fish are caught or not and waste no energy hunting the best places. In the old days there was quite a lot of rivalry among the yacht captains as to whose party would make the biggest catch for the day. They would work hard all day long for the five or seven dollars paid in those times and would keep hunting for the schools of fish or other varieties for the fishy denizens of the bay without any urging from the fishermen on board.

Nowadays it is said to be a matter of supreme indifference on the part of a lot of the fishermen whether any fish are caught or not. This may account in some measure for the very poor scores reported by many of the fishing parties going down the bay this summer and last. It will also furnish the explanation why many people who used to make several trips a summer down the bay on fishing bent, go elsewhere nowadays.

The indifferent yacht captains, receiving three times as much as formerly, are standing in their own light by their indifference to the pleasure of their paid guests.

Though the naked eye can see only three or four thousand stars, the telescope and the photograph prove that there are really thirty or forty billion of them, or twenty times as many as there are living people on the earth.

Pay as you go and you will keep going.

Boys' Conference to be held at Morristown, December 4, 5 and 6 when 700 delegates from every section of the State will be in attendance. Rev. Albert W. Beaven, D. D. of Rochester and David R. Porter, National Student Work Secretary, will be among the speakers.

$50 Reward is offered by the Riverton Yacht Club for information leading to the arrest of parties who broke into the fleet of the club, August 27.

KEEPING WELL

EATING A THIRD OF YOUR INCOME

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

HOW much of your income do you eat? If less than one-third you are more careful than the average. Ten years ago, one-fifth of one's income was considered enough to spend on food. Today, according to a survey made by the American Academy of Political and Social Science, American families spend from 35 to 40 per cent of their incomes for food. That means that we eat one-third to half of all we earn.

The retail storekeepers have an organization through which they keep track of what the American public buys and how much it pays. In 1900, the purchase of food of all kinds at retail stores amounted to $4,000,000,000. By 1921 this had doubled. "Of course," you say, "that was war prices." But since 1921 it has doubled again!

The total national annual income, what we all of us earn in a year by our work, whatever it is, is $68,000,000,000. Of this, $35,000,000,000 is spent at retail stores. Nearly one-half of this, or $15,000,000,000, is spent for food, while another billion and a half goes for candy and soft drinks, which are additional food.

Naturally, spending this amount for food, we ought to be the best-fed nation on earth. We are. Estimated in calories or heat-producing units, the body needs about 2,000 calories a day for its own nourishment. How much more is needed depends on one's work. Ruler and clerk doing sedentary work needs 600 calories additional or 2,600. A professional man needs a little more, or 2,800, while laborers at different trades need from 3,000 to 5,000, depending on the kind of work. Atwater, the American authority, says from 2,700 to 4,500.

The average consumption in this country is 3,700 or 700 heat units a day more than is needed. Now food that is not burned up by work in the body is converted into fat, and the money paid for such food is not only wanted but the fat clogs the body and makes it necessary for us to carry just that much more weight.

Take one kind of food only—sugar. Seventy-four years ago the average person ate about three pounds of sugar a year. Today the average is 100 pounds. Americans eat 18 pounds of candy per person every year. It isn't any wonder that the discovery of insulin was hailed with joy. Diabetes, formerly a very rare disease, is now common and increasing in frequency.

One-third of all your income is too much to put into your stomach. Simpler foods and less of them will make you richer and happier.

Canoe Regatta Great Success

Thousands Witness Interesting Aquatic Contests on Bur- lington Riverfront

Eight boat clubs belonging to the Middle States Canoe Racing Association took part in the second annual regatta of the organization which was held in Burlington Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Lakano Boat Club, East Pearl street.

The clubs included the Lakano, which failed to bring any firsts to Burlington, but made an excellent showing in the several events.

The clubs that competed in the championship events were the Potomac Boat Club, of Washington, D. C.; the Washington Canoe Club, of Washington, D. C.; the Red Dragon Club, of Edgewater Park; the Y. M. A. of Bristol; the Tuscarora Canoe Club, of Newark; the Samoset Canoe Club, of Boston; and the Lakano Boat Club, of Burlington.

There are twelve clubs in the Middle States Canoe Racing Association with an individual membership of about fifteen hundred. Nearly two hundred men came to Burlington as club representatives on Saturday. One of the clubs unable to attend was the Old Dominion. Regatta were telegraphed at the last moment.

A crowd of more than two thousand people lined the Delaware river to watch the work of the contestants. The Lakano was crowded with guests, and other river front properties extending to the eastward were filled with spectators.

One of the features of the afternoon was an exhibition of a seaplane owned by Sonny Wright, Richard Hollingshead and Frank Ellis, of Riverton. Several people were taken for flights through the clouds. They were a bit chary about going up until Commodore W. B. T. Collett, of the Lakano Club, and Miss Marguerite Wilnot took the initiative and enjoyed a great aerial trip which took them twice around Burlington Island.

Both the commodore and Miss Wilnot said that after the airship a Ford automobile hardly would seem possible as a pleasure-giving agency. After the ice was broken, several others took advantage of the opportunity and sailed high in the beautiful blue.

Perhaps the greatest event of the afternoon was the tilting match. It did not start until 6:30 o'clock, and before all the entries were able to engage in the battle darkness came on and put an end to the fray. It was finished Sunday morning.

The bout lasted about three-quarters of an hour and caused real excitement. The contestants were J. W. Burch and Z. A. Bligh, of the Potomac Boat Club and Paige and Daisy, of the Samoset Canoe Club, Boston. Potomac had a foul called, and then the same occurred to Samoset, which ended the score. Three fouls are allowed each boat.

The contestants fought like warriors of old until it was too dark to see and they had to be called from the river. Sunday morning, after a good night's rest, they went at it again. The bout lasting about a half an hour, Burch finally won.

Junior one man, double blades knocked from his boat, making Paige the winner. Great applause was given both contestants.

Results of the various events follow:
Junior fours, double blades, half mile—Won by Potomac Boat Club; second, Red Dragon Canoe Club; third, Young Men's Association Time 3:20.

Senior one man, single blade—Won by W. D. Haven, Washington, D. C.; second, J. W. Burch, Potomac; third, A. Baur, Y. M. A. Time 3:56.

THE QUESTION BOX

Meaning of "I. e."

Student, Cambridge.
I would like you to answer in the question column of your paper what is the meaning of "I. e." I take a great deal of interest in your questions and hope you will answer mine.
Ans. The abbreviation "I. e." is Latin for "id est," meaning "that is." We thank you for the compliment.

Date of Crucifixion

Inquirer, East Riverton.
On what day of the month and in what year was our Lord crucified?
Ans. Friday, April 3, A. D. 30.

Rattlesnakes

Farmer, North Jersey.
Can you tell me of any way I can rid my place of rattlesnakes, bull snakes and black snakes?
Ans. Kill all the rattlesnakes you can find. But bull snakes and black snakes should be left alone, as they are deadly enemies of the rattlesnakes and will help you do the job. Besides, they are beneficial to the farm, because they catch destructive insects, bugs and worms.

"No Kidding"

Carrie, Palmyra.
Will you please punctuate the following sentence: "Five-dollar bills of real money was seen blowing down the street."
Ans. We would make a dash after bills.

Mythology Is Not Religion

Bible Student, Westfield.
I would like to ask you if the Greek and Roman Mythology was a religion?
Ans. No. The term is used appropriately for the branch of knowledge which considers the notions and stories of gods and demigods, their pretended origin, their actions, names, attributes, worship, images and symbolical representations.

Aeroplane Faster Than Auto

Speeder, Palmyra.
In an argument about the speed of an automobile and the flying machine, my friend says the racing auto is faster than the flying machine, and I claim it is not. Will you answer in the question column?
Ans. The aeroplane holds the world's record for speed, when in 1923 a speed of two and one-quarter miles per minute was established.

Not Luck—Just Superstition

Credulous, Beverly.
Is it lucky to find a four leaf clover?
Ans. No. That is superstition.

Take No Chances

Diet, Moorestown.
Will you kindly tell me what to eat that I may get thin?
Ans. We don't know. Talk with your doctor.

Paper Money

Katie, Riverside.
Do they make paper money at the mint?
Ans. No. Currency is made at the government printing and engraving office in the capital.

LUTHERAN NEWS

On Sunday, September 6, at the First Lutheran Church, Broad and Garfield, Palmyra, the pastor, the Rev. Harry L. Saul, will preach at both services. In the morning a special service for children will be held, and during the first Sunday in the month, children's hymns will be sung and a sermon preached on the text "Writing with Ink." A poem will be given to each child present to use while going through school. The sermon subject for the adults is "Sanctified Labor," in recognition of Labor Day.

In the evening the sermon will be on the subject "The Modern Good Samaritan." This is just a short service for those who wish to live the week with God.

On Tuesday evening, September 8, the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Bible class will be held at the church.

Wednesday evening the Dramatic Club will hold its first rehearsal of the play, "The Charm School," which will be presented under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid this fall. Most of the characters of "The Trials of Mary" will again have a part. The newly formed troop of Boy Scouts will also meet the same evening.

The regular mid-week Thursday night services will be conducted by the pastor each week at 8 o'clock.

Weekly Sermonette: — "Christ said, 'Come,' to God's children, while most parents say, 'Go,' to their children."

Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church
The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered Sunday morning at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church at 11 o'clock. The Church School meets at 10 o'clock. At the twilight service, at 7 o'clock, there will be an inspiring service of song and a brief sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Fred B. Morley.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the pastor will again take up the study of "The Life and Letters of Paul." This week the study will be on II Corinthians, chapter 1.

The Epworth League meets on Thursday evening and the Church Class, led by Carl A. Peterson, holds its meetings Friday evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Official Board will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Every member and friend of the Epworth League received the following novel invitation to attend its meeting this Thursday evening.

"Come to 'League' this week?"
"What for?"
"To enjoy an evening of good music by Ralph D. Britton, pianist and composer, of Moorestown. And, say, Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz are going to sing, too."

"Are you going?"
"Sure."
"I'll see you at 8 Thursday night around at the church. Bring a friend."

The pianist-composer who will entertain is partly blind.

Pay as you go and you will keep going.

Field Club Wins Two Big Games

Palmyra Nine Downs Riverside in Tightest Contest of Season

The Palmyra Field Club ran wild over the weekend and came through victorious in both of its battles. Saturday, Remington and Vosbury, of Camden, was downed 16-3, after the visitors had virtually clinched the fracas. This was followed by the battle of battles Monday when Palmyra shut out River-

Bud Mathews, who made his pitching debut in the Twilight League this season, took the mound against Remington and Vosbury Saturday afternoon. For the first three innings Bud kept the visitors pretty well under tow, only allowing them to score once. But they got loose in the fourth and before Bud got the upper hand of the situation, they had chalked up five more.

run, with another following it in the third, thus giving the locals the lead until Mathews blew up. A brave attempt was made to tie it up in the fourth, but the locals felt short by two and the engineers

This was when Palmyra's stock took a sudden rise and before the canto ended sixteen locals had faced the two engineer twirlers and Palmyra had marked up an even dozen, forging ahead by a 10-run margin which they maintained throughout the finishing frames.

A quartet of locals, led by Manager Joe Stack, gave one of the fanciest exhibitions of stickwork witnessed in the local stadium to many days. The quartet, composed of the manager, Richman, King and Andrews tapped the horsehide to the extent of seventeen hits and twenty bases.

Joe got five singles, Richman, who took up the twirling tolls at ter the fourth, pounded out three singles and a double. King socked the pill for five blows and Andrews is credited with one single and a pair of doubles. Eleven hits came from the bats of the Stackmen in the sixth alone. Three of these were doubles.

Monday afternoon the Field Club and Riverside waged one of the tightest battles of the year. Flynn, for Palmyra, and Young, for Riverside, matched wits and skill on the knoll and it was a pitchers' fracas from start to finish.

First one and then the other would allow a couple of hits, but each would tighten up sufficiently or a teammate would come to the rescue and throughout the first four rounds neither side could make any noticeable gain.

Reagle, first two up for Palmyra, were fanned by Young. With two down, Hep, the little receiver came through with a single. He was followed by Babe Flynn, who, with a mighty clout, sent the ball soaring to deep left center for a triple.

Palmyra's second tally came in the seventh. Andrews opened with a single. Weikman sacrificed, Reagle fanned and Hep came through again, paving the way for Andrews to score with a pretty fifth double.

Another feature of the game was a beautiful stop by Weikman at second in the third, when two Riverside men were on and all set to score. Weikman's stab made the last out and cut off Riverside at their most opportune time to tally

Riverside used eleven men in its furious drive to take home the bacon. This was the deciding battle of a three-game series staged by the teams this season, so naturally made both sides put in an excellent

Palmyra was forced to cancel its twilight game with Lit Brothers, scheduled to be played at the Field Club Park Tuesday evening. Who's Riverside, as a holiday attraction, only drew a fifty-dollar gate, the management realized it was next to impossible to draw enough to pay the store team a $125 guarantee at a twilight game.

Palmira has a crackerjack team, one of the best in many years, and it has not been receiving the support it deserves. Manager Joe Stack-and the team wishes to thank those who have supported them and would like a few more rooters out to help them finish a successful season in the proper manner.

Cost of Tires Takes Big Jump

Increased Price of Rubber Responsible for Big Increase

By L. C. ROCKHILL
Sales Manager, Goodrich Tire & Rubber Company

"Are tire prices coming down?" This is the question being asked by dealers and a great many car owners all over the country.

The answer is that tire prices have never gone up in proportion to the spectacular rise in the price of crude rubber and present tire prices are based on rubber values considerably under the present rubber market.

In the month of August, 1924, the highest quotation on immediate delivery rubber was 27 1/2 cents.

From this point rubber rose slowly but more or less steadily until in April, 1925, it reached a high point of 42 1/2 cents.

The larger tire manufacturers all have rubber bought ahead for several months and during the early part of 1925 they resisted any price advances on tires and gave the public the benefit of previous rubber purchases at lower prices than the early 1925 levels.

With rubber steadily advancing, however, the average cost to the manufacturer of tires was increasing and when rubber had gone from 27 cents to 42 cents the prices were necessarily advanced in May.

The month of May usually marks the beginning of the active tire buying season and with rubber continuing to increase and the world's surplus diminishing, it is not surprising that rapid advances in crude rubber prices occurred.

In May rubber reached a high point of 60 1/2 cents.

In June the high point was 59 1/2 cents.

By July it reached $1.21 which is the highest price quoted for years.

The price of $1.21, however, had little or nothing to do with present tire prices as practically no rubber was bought at this price by the important tire manufacturers.

In other words, the $1.21 figure was largely fictitious as far as the cost of tires is concerned because practically no rubber at this price has entered into the production of tires.

If it had, tire prices would be a lot higher than they are now.

With a high point of $1.21 and a low point of 81 1/2 cents in July there was a slight reaction in August, the high price being 95 1/2 cents and the low price being 71 1/2 cents.

Seventy-one cents seems like a big drop from $1.21 and it is this decline that has caused people to wonder how soon a reduction in tire prices will occur.

The fact is, however, that present tire prices are based on rubber bought at less than 71 cents and lower than spot rubber has been quoted since May.

This is not to understand when one realizes that tire prices prior to May were established in October, 1924, and were based on rubber at about 27 cents.

The lowest price at which rubber has been available since June is 71 cents which is an increase of 16 1/2 per cent over the rubber cost on which tire prices were based prior to May.

In the meantime tire prices have been increased only 35 per cent.

It is plainly evident, then, that the public is still getting the benefit of lower priced rubber purchased before the recent sharp advances and there is no likelihood of a reduction from present tire price levels unless rubber should decline materially.

As a matter of fact, however, after a brief reaction early in August when spot rubber reached the low point of 71 cents, it immediately started to advance again and at the time of this writing is quoted at 87 cents.

If a price of even 71 cents were maintained permanently, tire prices would have to be advanced again after present stocks of lower priced rubber were exhausted.

But in any event, with rubber at 87 cents at present, there seems to be no possibility of any early decline in tire prices.

The following table shows the high and low spot rubber quotation for the past 12 months:

	High	Low
August, 1924	27 1/2	23 1/2
September	28 1/2	26 1/2
October	29 1/2	28 1/2
November	30 1/2	29 1/2
December	31 1/2	30 1/2
January, 1925	32 1/2	31 1/2
February	33 1/2	32 1/2
March	34 1/2	33 1/2
April	35 1/2	34 1/2
May	36 1/2	35 1/2
June	37 1/2	36 1/2
July	38 1/2	37 1/2
August	39 1/2	38 1/2

There is very little hope for lower tire prices in 1925.

The seasonal decline in the business this winter with the resulting reduction in production of tires will naturally cause a marked reduction in rubber consumption, especially since the manufacturers have decided against any future dating this fall so that artificial stimulation to production and inventories will be withdrawn.

With a reduction in production and inventories, plus an additional release of 10 per cent more rubber in November under the Stephenson act, there is some hope for lower rubber and tire prices in 1926, but this relief will not come soon enough to have any effect for some months to come.

It must be remembered that from the time rubber is purchased in the far east it takes about three months to get it into the American tire manufacturer's plant so that rubber released in November will not be available for tire production until January or February.

Gas By-Product Substitute During Anthracite Tie-Up

Strike Will Result in Large Demand for Coke. Held Adequate for Home Heating Purposes

Gas companies and other producers of coke are destined to play an important part in alleviating the situation of the anthracite consuming public if the miners' strike lasts an appreciable time, according to a statement issued by the New Jersey Public Utility Information Committee.

In recent years many gas plants have developed the production of by-product coke suitable for domestic use and have it available for sale for any heating purposes. In addition, there are other plants producing coke as a by-product.

For the year 1924 the coke produced in the main anthracite consuming states of New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania amounted to 12,928,047 tons, or nearly 15 per cent of the entire anthracite production. This total will, it is believed, be greatly augmented in the year 1925 by the installation of new plants yielding coke as a by-product not in operation in 1924.

The American Gas Association recognizes, however, that the public must be educated in the methods of using coke in the home and believes there exists this year a wide field for activity in the public and normal schools, particularly in the event the anthracite strike is long continued.

Besides the use of coke, it is certain that the strike will result in a large increased demand for manufactured gas in the homes abroad supplied since this has been the history in previous strikes.

His English Admirers Annoyed Bret Harle

It is said that Bret Harle used to become weary to exasperation at the foolish admirers who could not separate him from his character, and who insisted on confounding their experiences and predilections with his own.

Since he wrote of pioneer mining camps in the early days of the gold fever, his characters were often heroic in part; indeed, they were quite as often rogues as heroes. As he obviously could not be identified with the roughest types among them, the favorite notion seemed to be that he was, or had been, a gentleman gambler, says the Kansas City Star.

With that idea in mind, a young Englishman once tried hard to get Harle to describe and explain poker, which is referred to as "your American game." Harle conveniently misunderstood him.

"So you say 'great game' over here?" he inquired amiably. "In the States, now, we call it 'big game'—grizzlies, catamounts, buffalo and big horns, don't you know. But we don't chase them with pokers. No, no. They're abundant, but they don't often come into the houses, really. It's usually necessary to go outside with a gun."

At another time he learned that a certain noted hostess, whose invitation to dine he had just accepted, had been concerned whether it were true he was a reformed gambler.

"Not reformed," said Harle, wearily. "Tell her that I am beyond reformation. Tell her that I was my own model for the gambler, Oakhurst, and that the scene of his suicide is pure autobiography."

Works of Art in Copper

Copper ornaments that were made between 6,500 and 3,000 years ago are dug up near Ur, city of ancient Babylonia. Made thousands of years before King Tut was born, these copper ornaments are among the earliest works of art. They express the fancy of the creative spirit. The Babylonian copper objects represent men and oxen. In addition to being art, they were intended as a history of accomplishment—main motive of which is vanity.—Farm and Fireside.

N. J. Industrial Review in Brief

All indications point to good crops and good prices in practically every section of our country. The Farmers Will Have More Ready Cash than for Years. With Further Tax Reductions, the Future is Bright for Sound Industrial Growth.

Highland Park—River road, from here to Mettler's lane, to be improved.

Cliffside—New $6,000 store and apartment building to be constructed, corner Cliff and Walker streets.

New Jersey has bumper corn and lima bean crop this year.

Edgewater—Plans under way for gutting and curbing Park avenue, from Anderson avenue westward to Tenth street.

Millville—Contract awarded at $11,497 for constructing new 100,000-gallon reservoir at power house.

Saving sometimes means losing. When held only a few days develop watery whites on the way to market and thereby bring a lower price.

If you would have something that will serve day and night all fall, winter, and early spring, striving to protect and make your lands richer, sow clover crops.

Somerville—Grounds around new Somerset Hospital being graded.

Holland—First 110,000-volt electric transmission line in State, put into service by New Jersey Power & Light company, between here and Glen Gardner.

Camden—Contract soon to be awarded, at approximately $500,000, for constructing approach to this end of new Delaware Bridge.

Lambertville—Delaware River road, from here to Mercer County line, being reconstructed.

Whitehouse—Paving on Highway No. 9 to be extended from this place to Lebanon.

Trenton—Public Service Corporation planning to construct $2,000,000 substation here.

West Point—Lehigh Valley Railroad Company considering construction of second tunnel under Musconegcong Mountains, between here and Pottersburg, at cost of $3,000,000.

Millville—M. S. A. A. Building to be remodeled as City Hall, at cost of approximately $20,000.

Avon-by-the-Sea—Contract soon to be awarded, at approximately $40,000, for extending Shark River Inlet jetty.

More honey bees are needed in many New Jersey apple orchards to adequately insure cross-pollination, state entomologists have proved.

In spite of the haphazard management they receive, farm woodlands of the United States produced $394,321,828 worth of forest products in 1919.

Millville—Fire District No. 2 purchases 2-ton truck, at cost of $5,000.

Newark—Excavation work started for new $2,000,000 Hall of Records, at Springfield avenue and High street.

Red Bank—New $500,000 theater to be constructed, corner Monmouth and Broad streets.

Newark—City Commission leases 300 acres of reclaimed swamp land in Port Newark, to Sears, Roebuck & Company for fifty years, at rental of $1,400,000 plant costing $1,250,000 to be constructed and docks to be built.

Ridgedale—Store building to be erected corner Main and Hobart streets.

Trenton—Many streets in Hill-tonia section to be paved.

Montvale—Local streets to be improved, at cost of $15,318.25.

Princeton—Elm road and Leigh avenue being rebuilt.

Montvale—Summit avenue to be improved and widened and made part of Passaic road.

Nutley—New $150,000 theater soon to be erected here.

Mount Holly—New school, costing $50,000, to be constructed on North side.

Wildwood—Contract awarded at $16,224 for finishing rooms in North Wildwood High School.

Millville—Plans under way for improving Sharp street, from West Main street to Columbia avenue.

Bridgeport—Traffic control signals being installed.

Princeton—New street lighting system installing.

Bergenfield—Contract awarded at $2,357.50 for constructing East Main street drain.

Pennsville—New ferry service between here and New Castle soon to be in operation.

Oradell—Hackensack Water Company plants 200,000 trees.

Bridgeport—New almshouse to be constructed, at cost of $10,636.40.

Vineland—"Institutional Road" to be paved, at cost of $102,288.57.

Bergenfield—North Taylor street to be graded at cost of $2,000.

Riverside—Contract let for 4,416 yards sheet asphaltum street paving.

Bergenfield—Contract awarded for $27,510 to lay curbs and sidewalks on Washington avenue, north of Hickory street and south of Clinton avenue.

THE INHERITANCE TAX

In the campaign for tax reduction, it is necessary that taxes be lowered in a logical and equitable manner. Following is a well-worded statement on the federal inheritance tax question by H. S. Van Alstine, Gilmore City, Iowa.

"There now appear to be two strong reasons for maintaining the federal estate tax. One is that under present conditions the tax is a practical method of reaching tax-exempt securities which would appear to be through some form of death tax. The other reason is that if our states set out on a campaign of competitive tax exemption for the purpose of luring wealth to locate within their borders, it is plain that the taxes so exempted will fall upon some one else and that someone else will be the loser. It is so unfortunately situated that no one can change their residence and environment at will.

"Whatever amounts our people may expend through public processes must be collected as taxes from someone, and when wealth is secured exemption from taxes by acting to Florida or any other tax-favored locality, then the tax which it avoids must be made up by some other taxpayer.

"It is plain that if the federal government would enact a reasonable estate or inheritance tax and provide that such tax would be added to the extent that a like tax was levied and collected by a state, the probable result would be to promote a uniform estate or inheritance tax law in all of the states, closely following the provisions of the federal law. This would appear to be a logical inference since the tax would have to be paid just on one, and each state could decide for itself whether it retained the tax or let the federal government have it. Some such program would appear to be the only practical method of discouraging the removal of wealth from inviting wealth to come within their borders by offers of tax exemption.

GET A BROADER VIEWPOINT

Because our country is so large, we are often inclined to narrow our views regarding its various activities to the more immediate sections in which we live. Californians may think their state is a leader in road work. New Yorkers that they have the only modern buildings, and Florida that it has the principal recreation resorts.

To show the narrowness of such views, consider the road question alone. The Southern states, which have been generally advertised as having bad roads, are rapidly forging to the front in the construction of new paved motor roads. Reports from the highway departments of 14 Southern states show that under their direction a total of $170,000,000 is available for new roads this year.

Including the construction work under way by counties and townships, the sums being spent in the South this year for road improvements will aggregate approximately $400,000,000. In the new construction, the asphaltic types of pavement predominate and their mileage this year will outstrip any year heretofore, on account of their practicability for all types of hard-surfacing.

As it is with roads, so it is with other lines of activity. The whole country is growing. We should all know more about its resources and realize that its development is not confined to any one favored section.

New Development at Seaside Park

Strip of Beach Down to Barnegat Light Will Be Built Up

One of the last strips of undeveloped Jersey beach is soon to lose its virgin wildness, and with it will go a favored spot to which a few fishermen and sportsmen, who have loved it for its remoteness, have often repaired, summer after summer. This is the stretch of beach extending south from Seaside Park for twelve miles to Barnegat Inlet. It includes but about seventy-five acres of sand dunes bordered in by the ocean on the eastern boundary and by Barnegat bay on the west.

Except for a few fishermen's shacks and a government life-saving station, there is hardly a habitation on the entire strip of land, but it has been visited by a few people from time to time who became acquainted with its wildness and seeking an outing in the summer far from the usual haunts of the beach.

Occasionally, a venturesome fisherman would strip an old Ford car from the running gears and make an excursion in it down the beach at low tide from Seaside Park, there being no passable automobile road. The only other means of access was by boat.

Someone has it that the tract has been sold for development, and that a syndicate headed by Joseph McDermott, of Freehold; Charles F. McDonald, of Englishtown; Ross Clayton and Elmer H. Geran, of Asbury Park, is in the process of developing the tract. The price said to have been paid for the land is $25,000.

This neglected property, it appears, was owned by heirs of several estates, those having interest being widely scattered in this and other lands. Among the owners was Columbia University, New York, to which had been bequeathed a large interest by the will of a former owner, and the heirs of the latter estate.

According to reports the new owners will develop the entire beach and will begin work in a short time. An ocean boulevard will be constructed from Seaside Park to the inlet, across which a famous old Barnegat Light still sheds its rays from the opposite shore, notwithstanding the ravages of the sea, which for several years has threatened to demolish the structure and bring to an ignominious end this venerable landmark which has for so many years guided the mariners from the treacherous shoals of Barnegat.

It is also reported that negotiations for the land are being conducted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, looking toward the extension of its line down the coast from Seaside Park.

Mayor Henry H. Cross, of Seaside Park, has been credited with having stated that another proposed development at Seaside Park promises to involve the expenditure of millions. The two real estate propositions will open a new territory that has long been dormant. People of this vicinity are keenly interested in seeing them become successful, because many of them are owners of Seaside Park properties.

Hogs Followed Owner

Hogs usually are neither intelligent nor comely, but like other animals they do not always run true to type. In moving from one farm to another, perhaps ten miles away, at Farmington, a farmer of the Kentucky hills, decided, writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, to leave his herd of forty swine in an open field at his old home until the following morning when he would return for them. Next morning he was up early in his new house, making preparations for the arduous task of driving before him over rough mountain roads two score hogs, any or all of which might prove refractory. But when he emerged from the house into the front yard, lo! the hogs were not there. He looked about him, standing before him at the gate!

Were the hogs so much attached to their owner that they followed him to his new home? Or did they follow the trail of the farmer's cattle? The owner and all the neighbors, too, were completely mystified.

Famous Old Highland Town

Chief was greatly beloved by Charles Rendle, who said: "The habitable spot possesses no more delightful spot than Chief."

But the district is not only charming; it is also of heavy antiquity. Stone and bronze instruments, records of a bygone age, have been found there. Mithril, three miles from Chief, is the site where the Iron Age legends under Arthur's domain the British leader, Galgacus, and thirty thousand men, "leaders of the Celtic party in Scotland—tribal kings in their own right," held court at Chief from the earliest time of which we have any record, but modern Chief may be said to date its rise from the opening of the first railway in 1856.—London Post.

FIGHT TROLLEY FARES

Beverly Asks Nearby Towns to Join in Campaign

Determined to combat high fares on the Riverside line of the Public Service Trolley Company since the introduction of a new zoning system in July, Beverly council has appointed a committee to confer with the councils of Burlington, Roseland and Florence on a plan for united action.

The fare from Beverly to Burlington is now fifteen cents, although it formerly was only eight cents, and similar increases are in effect between most points. The trolley company has admitted to the Beverly council that the present fare system has not been approved by the Public Utilities Board, and it is believed that if a determined protest is made by the towns affected the old zoning system will again be put in operation.

THE AUTO DOLLAR KEEPS GOING UP

"A dollar buys more automobile today than ever before in the history of the industry," says Fred's Klein of the Klein Motor Company.

"That statement has been made a dozen times in the last few years and it was true every time it was uttered. But today it is true again—never has specialization produced greater values per dollar of price than are now offered by the responsible automobile manufacturer.

"The real honest-to-goodness automobile dealer is also putting a bigger value into the car he sells. The established dealer is doing more than ever before to measure fully up to his responsibility for the local performance of the car he sells, and continuous local serviceability rests squarely upon the dealer."

The average bill for electric lights and appliance operation is $25 a year in the American home. The household spends $25 a year on tobacco, $55 a year on gasoline, $50 a year on ice cream and $45 a year on candy.

New Secretaries For County Y. W.

Vacancies Have Been Filled and Organization Ready for Active Fall Work

The secretarial vacancies which have existed in the Burlington County YWCA since the resignation of Miss Mary Carol Seales and her assistant, Miss Ward, have been filled during the summer months and the executive committee has announced the appointment of Miss Sallie Sumner, as general secretary, and Miss Helen Hoff, as director of girls' activities.

Co-operating with them will be the following officers: Mrs. E. S. Harm, president; Miss Helen Woodman, treasurer; Mrs. Marcus Newcomb, chairman of membership; Mrs. Ernest Janney, chairman of girls' clubs; Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, chairman of finance; Miss Lydia Parry, chairman of publicity.

Miss Sumner, who takes up her duties as executive officer of the county work, is a graduate of North Carolina College for Women, and of the National Training School for YWCA secretaries in New York City. She has been the executive secretary of the association at Pinebluff, South Carolina, for the past three years, organizing the work there and building up a strong association. This summer she has conducted the classes in Bible for girls' clubs, at Chautauque, work and in Leadership Training for girls' clubs at Chautauque.

Miss Helen Hoff, of Neshaun, N. J., is a graduate of Brown's University and has just completed her preparations for director of girls' work at the National Training School.

The executive committee bespeaks for these young women a hearty welcome from the people of Burlington county, knowing that they will receive the best wishes of all interested in the welfare of the association, that it may be enabled to continue to mean more abundant life in the lives of the girls and women of our county. That is why the association exists.

It's a Great Crowd at Crystal Beach

According to Daniel Lichtenthal

Riverside Boy Writes Entertainingly of Amusements at Canadian Resort on Lake Erie

Daniel Lichtenthal, of Riverside, who is spending some time touring Canada, gives his conception of the average tourist at Crystal Beach, Canada, a famous bathing beach. A copy of his letter follows:

"Up Here," Sept. 9, 1925.

Dear Press:

I am writing to you from Crystal Beach, Canada—some place!

The chief diversion of the crowds at Crystal Beach seems to be eating frankfurters, getting mustard all over their neckties and stepping on people's feet. There are to be sure, a few snobbish visitors who have no taste for frankfurters or stepping on other people's feet. These devote themselves, instead, to eating ice cream cones and letting the cream drop all over their skirts and bumping against people and knocking their hats off.

When the crowds aren't devoting themselves to such diversions, they may be found either bathing in the large banana sand, people euphemistically call "Lake Erie" or sitting around tables ordering chicken and getting what is actually a plate of Lake Erie. Having, through this fine exercise and good food gained a renewed measure of health and vigor, the crowds then repair to the pleasure park and pay ten cents each for the privilege of losing their hats on the roller coasters.

One of the features of Crystal Beach is the slide show. The star attractions are the sword swallower, the Indian Head Hunter, the Indian Head Hunter, and the Mind Reader.

The sword swallower is an imposing looking gent with more medals than Uncle's Chow-Chow and surrounded by a nervous array of sabers, broadswords, scimitars, cutlasses, rapires, bilbos, dirks, daggers, claymores, poniards and box-knives. I hung around the platform of the sword swallower and waited patiently for his half an hour to see him swallow a sword, but the best that I can report is that he stuck about five inches of a table knife down his throat. Which, after all, isn't any more than the average "shick" does with the utmost ease three times a day. I similarly waited to see the Indian Head-Hunter do something, but all he did was to sit on a stool and shiver savagely at the folks around the platform.

The mind readers were pretty good. They were able to tell exactly what their confederates in the audience were thinking about.

There are a variety of so-called rides at Crystal Beach. The basic principle of most of them is to make a person pay out good money for being made seasick and for the added privilege of taking a chance of having an arm and a couple of legs broken. The sensation which one enjoys on these scenic railways, rocky roads to Dublin, giant roller coasters and so on is akin to being in a cemetery during an earthquake. Then, too, in addition to this species of mechanical joy, there is the kind of ride that consists in going along on a level through a long series of dark tunnels. This ride is set out as bait for loving suckers who see in it an opportunity for five minutes of catch-as-catch-can kissing. The joker lies in the circumstance that just as the kiss is about to reach its meridian, the tunnel is suddenly and embarrassingly illuminated with a paper mache spectacle of Neptune's daughter, Daedalus and Icarus or Ajax defying the lightning.

It is estimated that on very hot days during the season, the crowds at Crystal Beach consume 20,000 gallons of water filtered through red cloth cloths, a lot of water that they are drinking arduously. Another thing that the crowds go in heavily for is something known as floss candy. This is candy spun out into a mass of fluff which tastes like a piece of cotton. It was brought up in a mudslide factory.

Well, old boy, enough for the present. I guess I'll go out and watch some boob try to throw a three inch ring around a five inch gold-headed cane once a sap always daps.

Yours,
DANIEL LICHTENTHAL.

No Merry-Go-Round This, But the Frame of Big Gas Holder Whose Roof Was Built on the Ground

Although at first glance it does look like it, the steel construction in the accompanying picture is not the skeleton of a huge merry-go-round waiting for its initial trip. As a matter of fact, it doesn't go around; it goes up.

This steel frame-work is part of the huge 15,000,000 cubic foot gas holder being built in Harrison for Public Service Electric and Gas Company.

Before there were any sides to the holder, before it had any such thing as height, this sloping roof, fifty-two feet higher in the center than at the sides, was built and temporarily bolted to the pylon. It will be carried up on the pylon as the structure grows.

While it is twenty-eight straight sides, the holder in principle is that of a cylinder. Inside is a loose plate, called a piston. This covers the end area and is made tight by means of sliding plates backed by canvas blankets and contained in a tar-filled firmly along its outer edge and pressed firmly against the sides by counter weights. The radial trusses, visible in the picture, are braced to make the piston rigid.

With a floating piston in an air-tight tank, no difficulty is experienced in raising the 1,500-ton weight of roof and piston. After three or four sections of side plates have been placed on the holder and have been riveted in position so that they are air tight and gas tight, the compressed air blowers force air under the piston and both piston and roof rise to the top of the completed section. Then another section of side plates is riveted in position and again the roof and piston are raised by compressed air to the top of the completed work. This process is repeated until the desired height is reached.

When the entire frame-work and side plates are in position, the roof will be lifted off the piston and fastened to the holder columns. By releasing the air, the piston will be lowered and when all the air is out the holder will be ready to be filled with gas. Thereafter, the piston will rise as gas is pumped in at the base of the holder; as gas is exhausted into the service mains, the piston will sink. Always, however, it will float on and be supported by the gas.

Only about 15 inches water pressure or approximately one half a pound pressure per square inch is necessary to raise both piston and roof.

WAS LINCOLN A SALOON-KEEPER?

The Anti-Dry League of New Jersey, which boasts that its object is to bring back the saloon, is appropriately rooting for the election of its friend, A. Harry Moore for Governor, its slogan being, "On to Washington via Trenton." The Anti-Dry League is a corporate name for "Jon" Buckridge, who for 23 years was Secretary and Editor for the saloonkeepers of New Jersey, somebody must have suddenly replenished Buckridge's depleted treasury, as indicated by three showy posters that are displayed in New Jersey's saloons and hotel lobbies.

The latest is what purports to be a facsimile of a license to keep a tavern issued March 6, 1833 to William F. Berry, who was partner with Lincoln in a country store at New Salem, Ill., the purpose of the saloon men being to prove Lincoln to be a saloonkeeper.

This yarn is so stale as to be moth-eaten, but the booze interests drag it out at intervals as a sort of respectability halo for their outlawed traffic. Lincoln did participate in the sale of liquors in his country store when a young man of 23 years, his subsequent advocacy of total abstinence and prohibition, and his long life as a total abstemious in a time when drinking was almost universal would absolve him from any such youthful indiscretion, and it is slanderous at this day to drag his name in association with what became the most filthy traffic that cursed humanity.

But Lincoln never did approve of the license that his young partner Berry took out. His intimate personal friend, Leonard Swett, a prominent Chicago lawyer, in his volume, "Reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln" says of this incident:

"A difference, however, soon arose between him and the old proprietor, the present partner of Lincoln, in reference to the introduction of whisky into the establishment. The partner insisted that, on the principle that honey catches flies, a barrel of whiskey in the store would invite customers and their sales would increase; while Lincoln, who never liked liquor, opposed the innovation. He told me not more than a year before he was elected President that he had never tasted liquor in his life. 'What?' I said, 'do you mean to say you never tasted it?' 'Yes,' I never tasted it." The result was that a bargain was made by which Lincoln should retire from his partnership in the store.

Douglas, in the joint debate, at Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 21, 1858, testified Lincoln, (quoting from Nicolay and Hay's life of Lincoln), saying, "I was a school teacher at Winchester and he a flourishing grocery keeper in the town of Salem. He could run more liquor than all the boys in the town together." To this ill-natured taunt to a well-known total abstainer, Lincoln replied, "Lincoln never kept a grocery anywhere in the world."

In those days in Illinois a "grocery" was a synonym for a saloon, as, by process of evolution, saloons now claim to be cafes. Nine years after the date of this Berry license, Lincoln gave a notable address on Washington's birthday, 1842, before the Washington Temperance Society of Springfield, Ill., which was printed in full in the Sangamon Weekly Journal of March 26, 1842. It gave the full text of this remarkable address eloquently picturing the benefits of abstinence and the evils of drink, saying:

"Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by a total and final banishment from it of all intoxicating drinks seems not now to be an open question. Three-fourths of mankind confirm the affirmative with their tongues and I believe all the rest acknowledge it in their hearts."

Then followed a double prophesy one-half of which he lived to himself help fulfill, and the other half is in the way of fulfillment by the will of the American people, in which Lincoln pointed to a day "when the victory shall be complete—when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on earth."

Lincoln wrote the text of a Prohibition law for Illinois along the lines of the Maine law and campaigned for it; he refused to serve wine to the committee that notified him of his nomination for the Presidency; and all through his career, as testified by his associates and biographers, he neither drank nor, to quote his words, "held the cup" to the lips of his friends.

The more twaddle of the kind now being issued by this saloonkeepers' organization, the worse it will be for Lincoln and the saloon candidate, A. Harry Moore.

Riverton is developing a colored quartette from which more will be heard as time goes on. It is composed of Elia Stanford, Alexander Johnson, Pendleton Scott and Joseph Johnson. In a contest held recently by the Elks at Burlington, the Riverton quartette won the prize, defeating a quartette from Hartford, and one from the Industrial School at Bordentown. Those who have heard the boys sing say they give promise of equalling the famous Tuskegee Institute quartette.

The steeple on St. Peter's Catholic Church, Riverton, which was struck by lightning during the severe storm which did so much damage in that town some time ago, was repaired last week by George Corner and a professional steeplejack from East Riverton by the name of George Blake. While working, Blake missed his footing and fell, but fortunately struck a ladder about ten feet down and was not seriously injured. His nerves were so shaken, however, that he stopped work for the balance of that day. He returned the next day and finished the job without further mishap. The cross on top of the steeple is 130 feet above the ground, the highest point in Riverton.

ODD FELLOWS ENTERTAIN

The stage is all set for the big night in the history of Cinnaminson Lodge, No. 201, I. O. O. F., Palmyra, on Friday evening, September 11th, at the regular meeting place, Society Hall. Beginning with a short business meeting at 7 p. m., arrangements will be made to cover the entire evening ending with a repeat prepared and served as only the Ladies' Auxiliary know how.

The program will include a degree demonstration by Old Cinnaminson's degree team followed later by a presentation of awards for meritorious service in Odd Fellow ship to several of the members. There is also a big surprise feature, the details of which cannot be announced until next week.

Several Grand Lodge Officers will attend, Grand Secretary Harry S. Fine to be the principal speaker.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Odd Fellows residing in this community to attend—not only the big night, but also the last of the lodge picnic for the season to be held the next day, September 12th, going this time to Gravelock Park. A riot of fun is assured.

Campt in the Highlands

Another successful camping trip was taken last Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Truman, Palmyra, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Smith, Mr. Herman Enskat, Jr., the Misses Helen and Catherine Enskat, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klein, of Riverton, Miss Madeline Mitch and Mr. Arthur Scriver, of Riverside, to the Atlantic Highlands where the camp was pitched on the estate of Mr. Childs, of New York.

On Saturday night they were the guests of Arthur Conlin, of the Highlands, where they were treated to a real lobster supper. Miss Madeline Mitch distinguished herself as a very good angler, catching the greatest amount of fish, including a large catfish. Enskat as the champion swimmer, and Mrs. Freeman Truman with her delicious cooking. They all arrived home Monday night after three days of good pleasure.

MATTIS REMAINS HIS LEAD

Last Saturday's boat race resulted in a victory for the Bob, sailed by Oshen Mattis, with Robertson second. Crowell third. The race on Labor Day was not finished owing to insufficient wind.

Two more races are to be sailed in the fall series. The standing of the boats at present is as follows. Mattis, 17 points, Crowell and Robertson tied with 15 points each.

TELEPHONE PLAYS A BIG PART AT MOUNT GRETNA MANEUVERS

The firing line of Co. "A," 111 Infantry, at Mt. Gretna, Pa. The circular inset (above) shows the telephone at the firing point. The oval insert, in the lower left corner, shows the telephone in the "pits" below the ground. Telephone communication is established to iron out any misunderstandings between the "pits" and the firing line.

According to Colonel George Kemp, Postmaster of Philadelphia and Range Officer for the Pennsylvania National Guard at Mt. Gretna, Pa., the telephone is one of the most important adjuncts to rifle firing on the target range.

"Without the telephone," said he, "it would be practically impossible to fire on the rifle range. There is need of continual communication between the firing point and the so-called 'pits,' where the targets are run up and down. This communication is maintained by telephone."

At Mt. Gretna this year there are five telephones at each firing point. These firing points are located 200, 300, 500 and 800 yards from the targets in the "pits." Each of these telephones is connected up with a corresponding telephone in the "pits."

During the progress of the firing, "Mark No. 50," "Re-mark No. 70," "Paste No. 25" were some of the remarks passed from the firing point telephones to those in the "pits."

Captain Foss, Headquarters Company of the 111th Infantry and an experienced telephone man from the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, was charged with the responsibility of maintaining telephone communication.

His Company, largely telephone men also, ran the telephone wires, maintained the telephones and took care of the equipment. "This year," said Colonel Kemp, "things are moving much more satisfactorily than ever before. Previously I have had to supervise arrangements more closely. This year everything is moving with the nicety of clock work."

It is an impressive scene during the firing. From targets at prescribed distances from each other at the firing point wriggle into comfortable positions for firing. At the command of the officer in charge "Commence Firing," a leaden ball goes sweeping across the grassy range to find a goal in the targets to the front. Any misunderstanding between those firing and those marking the targets in the "pits" is immediately corrected by telephone.

The men this year have fired for "record"—that is they had an opportunity to fire for a badge given when a certain percentage of the shots are registered as "hits" on the target. In record firing the telephone's role is a large one because all precautions are taken to secure absolute accuracy. Each man's shots and hits are carefully recorded and verified. In case of misunderstanding, the telephone ironed out the difficulty.

In addition to the telephone on the range there is a switchboard at the Camp. Through it, all points on the reservation can be reached by telephone. Connections are also made with the telephones outside of Camp. Captain Foss' Bell Telephone men were also responsible for this equipment.

KEEPING WELL

SHINGLE HEADACHE
DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

READERS of this column will recall that several months ago I called attention to the fact that the present short-hair fad among women and girls was liable to produce some results which had not been expected. Women have for centuries worn their hair long. They have become accustomed from childhood to having a thick mass of hair on the back of the head and neck. On account of this natural protection, hats for women have been more a matter of ornament than defense. Sometimes they sat high upon the head, fastened on only by long, shaver-like hairpins. At other times, as the fashion changed, they were flat, small, water-like contrivances, too light and fragile to afford protection of any kind. Whatever their design, in accordance with the prevailing style, they were certainly not made for protection and they did not need to be. Woman's "crown of glory" gave her head all the protection it needed, especially at the base of the brain and the back of the neck, where it was particularly desirable.

But the present bobbed-hair style has changed all that. Many women and girls now have their hair trimmed much like a man's. The hair is cut short at the back, sometimes "shingled" or even clipped short with a "lawn mower" half way up the back of the head. Hats, instead of great, flat, shaver-like contrivances, are now small, round and close-fitting.

Whatever the reason for falling hair among men, it is safe to say that women, who have been comparatively free from this civilized affliction, are now exposed to all its causes, the same as men. Short hair, tight hats, common hair combs and brushes are now mutual risks for both sexes. Men have worn their hair short practically all their lives. Whatever danger there may be, they have become hardened to it. But women have only recently exposed the sensitive skin of their necks and head to the cold wintry blasts.

It is not strange, then, that a cable from London announces an epidemic of "shingle headache" among bobbed-haired women.

No fair-minded person questions the right of women to wear their hair any way they please. The result, in many cases, is most attractive. The saving in time to women and girls employed must be enormous. The increased comfort and cleanliness are obvious.

So bob your hair if you like but, until the back of your neck and head has become accustomed to the exposure, protect the bare area from cold winds and chilly drafts, at least during the stormy days of winter.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS
By JOSEPH KAYE
(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES DICKENS

THE following note is not strictly a love-letter. But it is one of those letters that give a wife a comfortable feeling of entire possession of her husband. And that more than equals the most passionate verbal effusiveness. This letter was written by Charles Dickens to his wife while he was traveling through Yorkshire with the celebrated artist who illustrated his books, "Phiz," otherwise known as Hablot K. Browne. They were investigating school conditions and the results were afterwards incorporated in the novel, "Nicholas Nickleby." The letter is long and tells of a variety of things, from traveling and clothes to a pain in the side, but so instinctive a confidence was his wife that one of her letters from Dickens was reproduced by the latter in "Nicholas Nickleby."

"My Dearest Love:
"I received your welcome letter on arriving here last night, and am rejoiced to hear that the children are so much better. I hope that in your next, or your next but one, I shall learn that they are quite well. A thousand kisses to them."

"We found a roaring fire, an elegant dinner, a snug room and capital beds all ready for us at Leamington, after a very agreeable but very cold ride. We started in a post-chaise next morning for Kenilworth, with which we were both enraptured and where, I really think, we must have lodged next summer, please God that we are in good health and all goes well. You cannot conceive how delightful it is. To read among the ruins in the weather would be perfect luxury. From here we went to Warwick castle, which is an ancient building newly restored and possessing no very great attraction beyond a fine view and some beautiful pictures, and thence to Stratford-on-Avon, where we sat down in the room where Shakespeare was born and left our autographs and read those of other people and so forth."

"My side has been very bad since I left home, although I have been very careful not to drink too much, and remain to the full an abstemious as usual."

"God bless you, darling. I long to be back with you again and see sweet Nana."

Easily Proved

At a mill in Devon the workers were having a discussion about who was the quietest man they knew. They got a minder to act as Judge. Then they got their thinking apparatus to work, to think who was the quietest man they knew. Many hundred names were mentioned. The Judge was about to give his decision when he saw a minder who had never mentioned one.

The Judge then said: "Now, Jack, does the not know any quiet man?" "Well," said the minder, "I think I know just one."

"Well, out with it," said the Judge. "Well, I think owl Bill Kite the quietest man I know."

The minder looked surprised and then they all exclaimed at once: "Why, mon, he's dead!" "I know that. I think he's the quietest man I know. He's never spoken to me for nearly twenty years!"—London Tit-Bits.

It Happened in Boston

There had been a visitor, and to the host she said: "And so this is little Walter? My, my! What a big boy you've grown to be! I wouldn't have believed it possible."

"Mother," said Walter when the visitor had gone, "doesn't it pass your comprehension how persons in whom one would naturally expect an ordinary degree of intelligence appear to believe all history and nature to be contrary notwithstanding, that the old dream of their acquaintance will always remain infants, and persist in expressing the surprise when they observe the perfectly natural increase in one's stature?"—Washington Star.

Americans Accorded Honors by Britain

The first native American to be knighted by an English monarch was Sir William Pepperell, who was born in Kittery, Maine, June 27, 1690. His father was a Welshman who came to New England as an apprentice to a fisherman. The son became a merchant and amassed a large fortune.

As a military leader he took part in several conflicts with the Indians and attained much distinction. For thirty-two years he was a member of the royal council of Massachusetts, and as chief justice of common pleas he won eminence as a jurist.

Since Pepperell's time many Americans have achieved knighthood and higher British honors. Lord Astor and Lord Stansfield, the former a native of New York and the latter of Milwaukee, being among the more prominent latter-day examples.

A little science and a lot of sweat make a great combination.

MURPHY-FLYNN

Miss Genevieve Agnes Flynn, daughter of Mrs. Mary Flynn, White street, Mount Holly, and John Paul Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, of Moorestown, were married in the Sacred Heart Church, Washington street, Mount Holly, on Sept. 2.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. J. Kelly, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Leo Dineen, rector of the Church of Our Lady of Good Council, Moorestown. Following there was a nuptial mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas J. Flynn, of Mount Holly. She wore a gown of white georgette and lace, with tulle veil, coronet style, trimmed with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Mary Flynn, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of green georgette. The bridesmaids were Miss Mae Phelan, of Worcester, Mass., a cousin of the bride, and Miss Margaret Flynn, a sister of the bride. Miss Phelan wore an apricot gown and Miss Flynn wore orchid georgette. Brown velvet picture hats and brown velvet slippers were worn by the maid of honor and bridesmaids. They carried bouquets of dahlias, snapdragons and autumn leaves. The mother of the bride wore a blue chiffon gown and black velvet hat.

Miss Betty Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Madden, of Mount Holly, was the flower girl. She wore a dress of pink georgette and had a silver bandage on her hair. She carried a basket of sweetheart roses. Richard Flynn, a little brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

At the conclusion of the ceremony and nuptial mass there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left for a wedding trip that will include Niagara Falls and Canada. They will be at home in their new dwelling in Moorestown in October.

TO THE EDITOR
I have noted with interest the activities of the police in curbing speeding on Palmyra's streets, and on Cinnaminson avenue in particular, as there are two bad cross streets between Broad street and the Ferry, but there is one thing that is positively all wrong and that is that the Philburo Bus Line is not bothered by the police.

The buses of that line do more speeding along Cinnaminson avenue than any one else and I think that to make other speeders pay a penalty and let the Bus line go unmolested is rank injustice.

I have watched the buses coming from the ferry, and going to the ferry too, and I can say that unless a bus is ahead of time it is never within the speed limit, and if a bus has no stop at 4th or 5th street, it hardly ever slows up for the crossing.

Of course they blow their horns, but that does not give them the right to speed along whenever they so desire.

If the police will just keep their eye on one of the buses when it is running late they will see that the bus drivers all seem to have the idea that they are exempt from staying within the speed limit and that any time that they are a little late that they can run along at 35 or 40 miles per hour and get away with it.

THE QUESTION BOX

Noble Is As Noble Does
Sonny, Cinnaminson.
What does the name "Harvey" signify?
Ans. "Harvey" means "noble."

The Morning After Sport, Five Points.
Is it bad form to drink liquor at a night banquet?
Ans. We don't know, but it's bad taste the next morning.

Various Kinds of Stars
Gazer, Palmyra.
Will you please state in your question column next week the names of all the stars?
Ans. We haven't the space nor the time. Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Miles Minter and Jackie Coogan are three we can think of right off the bat.

It All Depends Traveler, Riverton.
How long do the rails last on the railroads before they must be replaced?
Ans. Steel rails on railroads last from 10 to 30 years (dependent upon the amount of traffic) before replacement is necessary.

Battle of Pittsburgh Landing
History, Riverton.
Kindly answer in your question column the day of the week the battle of Pittsburgh Landing in the U. S. Civil War was fought? Will you also give the date of this battle. This is to settle an argument.
Ans. The battle of Pittsburgh Landing was begun on Sunday, April 6, 1862, and ended on Monday, April 7, 1862.

To Expose
Roy, Cinnaminson.
Will you kindly tell us in your paper the exact definition of "arrogance"?
Ans. It means to call to account; accuse; demand; expose etc.

Fourth of March
Voter, Palmyra.
May I ask through your question column why the 4th of March is always chosen for the inauguration of the President of the United States?
Ans. The 4th of March was the date fixed by the signers of the Constitution as the time for commencing the operation of government.

"Prime" Position of Eyes
Student, Five Points.
In a book I am studying reference is made to the "prime position" of the eyes. It is not just clear to me, so I am asking you what that "prime position" means?
Ans. When the eyes are focused on an object at a given distance, it is what is known as a prime position. You would not be able to see with clearness any object in the line of vision up to that point nor clearly see any object beyond that point without changing the focus of the eyes. Therefore, it is called the prime position.

Province of Bohemia
Roger, Riverton.
I would like to ask you if Carlsbad is located in Spain?
Ans. No. It is a fashionable summer resort in the province of Bohemia, 116 miles northwest of Prague.

More Than Allowed
Coin, East Riverton.
What is usury interest?
Ans. It is a higher rate of interest than is allowed by law.

Area of the United States
Mary, Cinnaminson.
Can you tell me exactly how many square miles in the mainland of the United States?
Ans. The square mile area of the United States is 3,743,344.

California
John, East Riverton.
I wish to ask you where is the Yosemite Valley?
Ans. It is a strip of land about six miles long and half to one mile wide in Mariposa County, California, 140 miles southeast of San Francisco.

Bridge of Sighs
Curious, Palmyra.
What is the bridge of sighs and why is it called that?
Ans. In large cities the county jail and the court house are connected by a bridge (tunnel-like) spanning a court. Through this tunnel or over this bridge prisoners are taken to and from the court house during which many of them sigh because of their unknown fate. It thus became known as the bridge of sighs.

Outrich Farms
George, Riverton.
Are there any ostrich farms in North America, and what do they feed on?
Ans. There are several ostrich farms in the southern and Pacific Coast States of the United States. About 50 per cent of these birds are raised in Arizona. They feed on grain and vegetables, and particularly thrive on alfalfa.

Born on Monday
Isaac, Palmyra.
I was born on July 7, 1884. Will you please tell me the day of the week?
Ans. You were born on Monday.

Not Quite, But
Solomon has attested to the strangeness of a man's way with a maid, but the way of a maid being courted has always been a mystery to a man. A girl dismissed her sweetheart with the statement that she could not think of marrying him until he had a few thousand dollars. A few months later she met him and asked him how much he had saved. "Thirty-five dollars," he said. "Well," she remarked with a blush, "I guess that's near enough." The Argonaut.

Solid Mahogany
"There is not another boy in this town as clever as my Charles." "Go on; how is that?" "Well, look at those two chairs. My Charles made them all out of his own head, and he has enough wood left to make an armchair!" Good Hardware.

DRUNKEN DRIVER

Merchantville Man Draws Fine and Jail Term
Severe punishment was meted out to John Smith, of Merchantville, Saturday afternoon when he was arrested by Chief of Police Voshell, of Riverside, for driving a car in an intoxicated condition.
Smith's car was careening from side to side when it first came to the attention of the Chief and narrowly missed hitting other motorists on the road.
Smith was taken before Justice of the Peace Blankenship. Since Smith was so intoxicated he could hardly stand. Justice Blankenship thought he should make an example of him and fined him $50, sentenced him to the Mount Holly Jail for sixty days and revoked his license for one year.

DELANCO LOSES RACE

Medford Wins Second Half Championship of County
Delanco relinquished its claim to the second half championship race in the Burlington County League when they were defeated in a cleanly played game of ball at Medford Saturday afternoon by a score of 4-1.
When the Delanco boys won the first half championship, they looked like probable winners of the second half, but it seems as if the jinx followed them and they have only won two out of nine games played.

"BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS IN SPRING"

The growing of bulbs for winter and spring blooming has become an extremely popular feature, because it is invariably successful, inexpensive to attempt, affords an unusual pleasure, provides your own flowers in winter and spring, and is an education and pastime for both young and old.

The growing of bulbs has many advantages over that of any other class of flowering plants, in that many of them produce their flowers early in the spring, at a season when few other plants are in bloom.

At this season, in a sheltered sunny spot, we have the Snowdrops, Scillas, and also the Crocus with its mass of color, while the snow is still found in shaded places; these are followed by Hyacinths with their delightful fragrance, soon after which we have the Narcissus or Daffodil and the showy Tulip.

Many of the winter and early spring flowering bulbs can be successfully grown in the house either in soil or in pebbles and water, which, if planted at intervals, will furnish a nice display of flowers during the whole winter and early spring.

Any of our readers can secure free of charge, an instructive 72 page Catalog from Mitchell's Seed House, 518-516 Market street Philadelphia, which enumerates a complete list of bulbs with much information on their culture. Write today for a copy—it is free.

KILLING THE FARMER'S FRIEND
When an Iowa farmer complained that the pheasants were eating his corn, the game department killed two of the birds, examined their crops, and found 200 cutworms—and no corn. Almost without exception, when the scientists investigate such cases they find the same result. The farmer owes his crop to the feathered police that keep down the bugs, insects and worms. With continuing slaughter of every form of bird life, the insect loss will be heavier and farm work harder. The nation could train an army of riflemen in a comparatively short time, but it couldn't in a century restore the bird armies that are the farmers' allies in raising food to feed the country.

Miss Agle and Friend Escape Uninjured When Express Hits Machine

Miss Nancy J. Agle and Miss Myra Murgatroyd escaped death when a machine in which they were riding was hit by an express train at the Elm avenue grade crossing between Palmyra and Riverton last Friday afternoon about 4.10.

The express, which barely touched the machine, tossed it against the signal post. Both women escaped unscratched. The car is a sedan and not a window in it was bro-

Palmyra Squad Rapidly Rounding Into Shape For First Game

Joseph L. Stuck was elected manager of the Palmyra Field Club football team at a meeting held in Society Hall Monday evening. The date of the first game to be played by the local gridgers has not been announced yet, but it is expected it will be staged in the near future.

The aspirants to gladiator honors are gradually rounding into shape after several weeks of training under the direction of Manager Joseph L. Stuck and Jim Hartley and Frank Kates. The fourth and fifth team coaches are Carl Thomas, who has left the squad in the hands of the local men after Interment will be made in Morgan Cemetery, Palmyra upon arrival of the body from Baltimore.

NEW FORD CARS

Many Orders Received for Latest Model

As people become more familiar with the attractiveness of the improved Ford cars, interest not only increases, but orders for cars are growing in numbers, according to local Ford dealers.

Probably the best evidence of the widespread interest manifest in these cars comes from the general offices of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit where it was stated that since the new cars were announced orders for more than 192,385 have been booked by dealers throughout the United States. Thousands of orders are coming in every day.

This is not only a striking example of public confidence in the company's products but is also a sales record without precedent. Added significance is given the sales report by the fact that the public generally has not yet had an opportunity to inspect all the new types. Distribution of cars among dealers so far has been limited principally to touring cars. In fact dealers in many sections are still awaiting their first car. In spite of this, orders continue to come in from all points not only for cars of the type shown, but the rest of the open and closed line as well, an indication that prospective purchasers are impressed with the soundness of the re-designing and refining of the cars and are satisfied that they will find the same standard reflected in the type of their preference.

Assembly at the Philadelphia branch of the company which supplies this territory is increasing daily and distribution among dealers will be much more rapid from now on than it has been up to the present time. However, those ordering a new Ford car for use during the coming fall and winter will do well to enter their orders early and avoid delay in delivery.

Railroads purchased last year 25 per cent of all bituminous coal produced, 5 per cent of all anthracite, 27 1/2 per cent of total steel output, and 1/4 of all lumber produced in the United States. This ensured 200,000 miners alone, and other workers in proportion.

Statistics show that each inhabitant continues to require the move-

FROM A MAN WHO KNOWS

In discussing the subject of State Versus Federal Regulation in the Transformation of the Power Industry to Central Generation and Interconnection of Systems, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in a recent address, said:

"I do not agree with the conclusion that federal regulation is necessary."

"I can see no reason for the imposition of a superior regulation merely because Congress may have the power to exercise its authority under the commerce clause."

"The essence of regulation lies in a tight grip on the concern that actually deals with the consumer."

"Power is, by necessity, bound to be local in its distribution—as to its service, its generation and distribution."

"Nothing will produce worse service than to attempt to transfer local problems to absentee solution at Washington."

"No one can survey the work of the state commissions and the intricate series of court decisions concerning their rulings as a whole without realizing that we are gradually developing a science of regulation and of understanding on one hand of the means of drawing the fine line between minimum rates to the people and on the other hand of such a reasonable profit to the industry as will stimulate its advancement."

"It is my belief that the public service commissions with very little just criticism are proving themselves fully adequate to control the situation."

Almost as many horses were exported from the United States in 1790 as in 1923.

ment of more freight. At the present rate of increase, we must enlarge our transportation facilities nearly 50 per cent by 1930, if they are to be adequate for our needs.

Considering these facts, how important is the reduction of taxation and the maintenance of a sound national policy toward our transportation system.

KEEPING WELL

THE DANGER OF POOR EYES

DR. FREDERICK E. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

POOR lighting and poor eyesight are responsible for one of every eight accidents.

Dr. R. E. Simpson, the engineer of the Travelers' Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., has made a nationwide study of the relation between accidents and vision. In a recent report to the Eyesight Conservation Council he states that not only is poor eyesight one of the important causes of accidents, but that 63 per cent of American workmen have some defect of vision.

Good eyesight has always been an important factor in man's welfare. Among primitive men, living under natural conditions, it was probably the most important condition, not only for the avoidance of accidents, but also for the preservation of life itself.

The primitive savage came into a world in which everything was against him. He had no weapons to defend himself against savage animals or equally savage human enemies, except a stone or a club torn from a tree. Even if he were stronger than his enemies this availed him nothing unless he could see his enemy before his enemy saw him. He got his food from trees and bushes and from the bodies of wild animals killed in the chase. Unless he had sharp eyes he could not find and catch his dinner. The man with the best eyes got the best food and was best able to protect himself.

We are living today in an artificial and mechanical world, but the same principles are still in force. The child with defective vision cannot take part in its companions' sports and pastimes, and so grows up with a weak and undeveloped body. Its poor vision exposes it to many dangers which its sharp-eyed companions avoid. The near-sighted child cannot see the approaching street car, railroad train or automobile.

Among grownups the near-sighted workman is more liable to accident than his normal associates.

"Accidents do happen," says Doctor Simpson. "There is a reason back of each one."

"An appalling number of accidents is due to defective vision. Sight is the most valuable protection against bodily injuries. Many workers start in handicapped by imperfect vision. Any workman whose eyesight is below normal is not only an unsatisfactory worker, but is also a source of danger to himself and others."

If you are a parent, see that your child's eyes are tested and, if his vision is below normal, give him glasses that will put him on an equality with his playmates.

If you are a working man or woman, do not allow yourself to be handicapped by imperfect vision. Have your eyes examined, and if your vision is not normal get glasses that will enable you to do satisfactory work and that will protect you against accidents due to imperfect sight.

BANKERS HELP

A bank in Monrovia, Ind., tests seed corn for farmers. A basement room was fitted out last season for the purpose and 25,000 ears were tested for fifty-six farmers. One-fourth of the seed tested last year was unfit for seed. This year the percentage will run even higher. The work is done under the sharp-eyed companions of the high school agricultural teacher. He reports that the community will have a surplus of seed corn this year.

The banks of Conway, Ark., have offered prizes for the most marketable sweet potatoes produced on one acre of land. A first prize of $150 is offered, along with three district prizes of $50 each. The county agent and the banks are working out the details.

It will contain twenty classrooms, an auditorium seating seven hundred and fifty people and a gymnasium. It is to be erected on ground already belonging to the school district on Central avenue, Peach and Vine streets.

PUBLIC SERVICE Men and Women

The Road Supervisor

PUBLIC SERVICE Transportation Company is creating for the people of the territory it serves the most extensive and comprehensive motor bus service in the country.

That means, that it is not only providing good buses, garages in which to store them and shops in which to maintain them, but in addition is assembling an organization of skillful, careful operators, trained mechanics and alert, energetic executives.

The Road Supervisor is a member. He is constantly "on the street" or "riding the buses" to see that schedules are maintained and the best of service given.

He is a living evidence of the Company's desire to provide for the public bus facilities and service equal to that given anywhere by any company.

BELL EMPLOYEES PUT ON SALES CAMPAIGN

Over 2200 "Extension" Telephones Sold in Two Weeks in Western Pennsylvania.

A notable sales campaign recently conducted by the Bell Telephone Company in the Pittsburgh territory of that organization resulted in the sale of over 2200 new "extension" telephones in two weeks.

An "extension" telephone is an additional telephone in another part of the house, and the cost is very much lower than for the "main" telephone.

Chief Operators, Commercial Managers and heads of the Plant Department were made sales managers in their respective districts. General Sales Managers were appointed and enthusiasm ran high. Every person in the Bell Organization in Western Pennsylvania became a salesman in off duty periods.

People in the Pittsburgh territory were quick to see the advantage of the extension telephone when its value as a step saver was called to their attention.

"Fifteen hundred telephones in two weeks" was the goal. More than seven hundred above this goal were sold. The Philadelphia District Bell employees expect to conduct a similar campaign beginning September 14th.

RAIDS IN BEVERLY

State and County Police Make Clean-up of Bootleggers

Detective Clifford D. Cain, of the county detective's office, Mount Holly, accompanied by Officer Budd Stevenson, of Beverly, made a clean-up in Beverly on Wednesday night of last week. The two officers being assisted by a number of state policemen and Lieutenant Norman Gaskill, of Mount Holly.

The hotel of Anthony Amber, at Third and Broad streets, was first raided and five plants of liquor and a considerable quantity of high powered beer confiscated.

Another hotel visited was that of John Zuchlinski, of Third and Laurel street, and here nothing was found except a quantity of beer, but as the officers had evidence of sale, Zuchlinski was also arrested.

Amber and Zuchlinski were held under bail for court by Supreme Court Commissioner Clifford R. Powell.

The home of Mrs. Helen Poore, of Third street, was visited simultaneously with the raids on the hotels and here a quantity of liquor was found, while a similar condition existed at the home of Louise Farley, alias Camels, also a resident of Third street.

Police Justice John Thompson, of Beverly, heard the two latter cases and the women were held for court.

THE JORDAN PLAN

"As the history of the future shall be written in the schools of today, it is vital that the teacher lay in the minds of children the foundation of a sane and wholesome background from which to develop international amity and in intelligent abhorrence of war."

In the above statement, Dr. David Starr Jordan expresses a profound truth and adds a prelude to a great plan of international peace.

The plan of Education for Peace looks courageously toward the ultimate abolition of international war as a legitimate sequence of agreements between nations or between individuals of different countries. Its central purpose is the mobilization of teachers in all lands, most immediately in America, in order that their combined influence and that of their pupils may be thrown solidly on the side of peace.

After receiving the Raphael Hermon $25,000 award, Dr. Jordan's plan of education to develop international justice and friendship was adopted by the World Federation of Education Associations at its meeting at Edinburgh, Scotland, last month. The plan received hearty endorsement by the attending delegates from most of the countries of Europe and North and South America. Twenty official, and forty unofficial delegates attended from the United States.

Court News

Judge Slaughter disposed of several criminal matters at the Court House on Thursday morning, and last week, but business lagged a little and probably will until the Grand Jury convenes on October 13.

Lloyd Downs, colored, of Moorestown; was before the court charged with atrocious assault and battery in that he threatened the life of Carl Luff, also colored, and it was claimed that only the intervention of the police prevented murder.

It was stated by the prosecutor that Downs made a very uncomplimentary remark about Luff's wife, which resulted in the husband knocking him down, and it was then that Downs hurried home to get his gun. He was on his way back when he was intercepted by Officer Bradshaw, who took the gun away from him, but Downs made his escape and it was necessary for the officer to take several shots at him, one of the bullets just grazing the colored man's arm before he was captured.

Downs pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to not less than one year nor more than three years in state prison.

Joseph Johnson, of Crosswicks, who was caught in the act of delivering five gallons of whiskey at the home of his cousin, John Johnson, of Highway street, Mount Holly, on August 28, pleaded guilty to possession and transportation of liquor and after a statement by his counsel, Frank A. Hendrickson, was sentenced to pay a fine of $350.

The court warned Johnson that if he came before him again he would go to jail, this being his first offense, although the police have plenty of evidence that it was not his maiden trip when he was captured.

Archie Luff, of Burlington, was before the court charged with stealing a battery from the car of Samuel Haines, of that city, and selling it. Luff, who kept his car in the same garage with Haines, claimed he was drunk when he committed the theft.

It was shown that Luff was an old offender and that he was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail about a year ago after he had been convicted of stealing a number of hides from a farmer near Beverly and disposed of them in Trenton.

He went to the county jail for sixty days.

Leo Horner, a seventeen-year-old boy who has been working around Bordentown, pleaded guilty to stealing a number of articles of wearing apparel and a bicycle from his employer, and he was sent to the Reformatory at Rahway.

John Smith, of Maple Shade, arrested in Riverside recently on a charge of drunken driving, was discharged, after his counsel, Attorney Harold T. Parker, had shown numerous defects in the complaint and commitment.

The grand and petit jurors for the October term will be drawn on Thursday, October 1.

Zero Stones

A zero stone records the distance from that stone to the principal places in its state and in other states. According to the plans of various roads and automobile associations interested in the matter, each state is to have one and only one.

The first such mile stone was erected at Washington, in the lifetime of President Harding, who took a prominent part in its dedication. The second was set up at San Diego, Cal., and the third was at Nashville, Tenn., on state memorial property. It is a gift to the state from the Nashville Automobile club and is of white marble, five feet tall. A good roads program featured the dedication ceremonies in which the governor and other state officials participated.

The next District meeting of District No. 15 will be held at the Wigwam of Tacoma Tribe, No. 204, of Delanco, on Thursday evening, September 24th.

All members of Tacoma Tribe are urgently requested to be present. An evening of enjoyment is in store for all.

Gasoline Trains Are Economical

Saving of Fifty Percent. In Operation Proven By Recent Experiments

That it is fifty to sixty per cent cheaper to run a two-car gasoline propelled train than to operate a steam propelled train of the same capacity has been demonstrated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company between Camden and Trenton and also on nearby branch roads.

This was the first two-car experiment of that kind to be made in this section and according to the statements of railroad officials in touch with operating costs the results are more than satisfactory.

So far as passengers were concerned there was no difference between the steam and gasoline trains. The new type develops sufficient speed to meet the requirements of the regular steam train schedule and the train was operated in the same manner, except that it had no locomotive and the passengers naturally found a much cleaner ride.

What is to be the outcome of this new type of transportation has not yet been settled, as everything connected with it is still in the experimental stage. Demonstrating the big saving in operation is only one step toward a final determination. The power-equipped cars are expensive to build and if the railroad company desired to get down its operating costs it would be required to make an outlay of many hundred thousand dollars for new equipment.

It is not likely that this type of locomotion has any chance of supplanting steam trains for heavy traffic and on long runs, but it is believed that it will come at a reasonably early date for the kind of runs on which the recent demonstration was made. The train that was used in this section is now being tested in a different kind of territory in Pennsylvania.

Single gasoline motor cars have been operated on short runs for some time and this summer one of the cars handled light local traffic between Toms River and Sea Girt. In some other places much heavier trains have been operated. There is a feeling among some railroad men that this type of transportation is the only hope that can be held out for a continuance of accommodations on branch lines, where the service is an accommodation without any hope of being profitable.

Among the officials having expert connection with the experiment was Assistant Train Master Lewis P. Ancker, of Trenton, formerly of Mount Holly, and still a frequent visitor there at the home of his relatives.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

By JOSEPH KAYE

(© by Walter Syndicate, Inc.)

LAURENCE STERNE AND KITTY TOURMANTELLE

THE wonder has often been expressed that Laurence Sterne was born an Englishman and not a Frenchman or a Latin. For the idea of a clergyman who was both bold and indiscreet lover and a daring and unconventional wit is a rather inconceivable combination for a Britisher. However, the world has had to accept Laurence Sterne as is and this has in no way detracted from the admiration accorded him as the author of those classics, "Tristram Shandy" and "A Sentimental Journey."

One of Reverend Sterne's many loves was Kitty Tourmantelle, a French girl whom Sterne had known in France, and to whom the following letter was addressed after he was married:

"I have sent you a pot of sweetmeats and a pot of honey, neither of them half so sweet as yourself; but don't grow vain upon this or presume to grow sour upon this character of sweetness I give you, for if you do I shall send you a pot of pickles by way of contraries to bring you to yourself again."

"Whatever changes happen to you, believe me, I am unalterably yours and according to our motto, such a one, my dear Kitty: 'Que ne changera pas que en mourant'."

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Two Washington fire guards were arrested for smoking and for leaving campfires burning in the forest they were "protecting." An Oregon man was fined $100 for refusing to help put out a fire he had started, saying that he had lived there for 47 years and he "knew all about fires."

The Northwest has just gone through a bad fire season; it would have been worse if extraordinary precautions had not been taken. It will take a lifetime to put many burned-over areas back to the condition they were in last spring. A law that prohibits the careless, defiant or criminal user of our forests, is a good law that needs rigid enforcement.

If brevity is the soul of wit then the present day skiers are the funniest things that ever happened.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 7-10

Since it is to his home that every man instinctively goes in quest of absolute safety there is grim irony, more than a little, in the revelation that somebody's dwelling suffers attack by fire every three minutes, approximately—that the average yearly destruction of homes approaches $85,000,000. Plainly, the safety that he seeks is not to be found around the average American hearth.

It appears from the published record that four of the six leading causes of fire in the home—Defective Chimneys and Flues; Sparks on Roofs; Stoves, Furnaces, Boilers and their Pipes; and Matches-Smoking—indubitably are preventable by the exercise of proper care and common sense.

The August issue of Safeguarding America Against Fire presents complete plans for community observance of National Fire Prevention Week. The National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York, stands

A TESTIMONIAL FOR MANAGEMENT OF METAL MINES

Labor conditions in the metal mining industry of the West contrast sharply with those in the coal mining industry of the East. It would seem that as much intelligence could be brought to bear on the coal miner's problems as has been done in the metal mines and the country relieved of the hardships following the periodical war in coal mines.

ready to do everything within its power to facilitate the Campaign and will welcome communications from fire chiefs, local agents, municipal officials, school authorities, the membership of business organizations and all others who will participate in the event.

Surely a people virile and far-sighted enough to found a nation can muster sufficient intelligence and strength of will to preserve it from the wasting of fire—starting with their homes.

WHY HARNESST SUCH AN INDUSTRY

The railroads of Our Country represent a total investment of over 21 billion dollars and are owned by nearly a million of our citizens, a large per cent of whom are employees of the company in which they own stock.

The railroads pay annually over $300,000,000 in taxes, and in some ports.

CALVARY PRESBYTERIAN

The pastor will preach at the morning worship at ten-thirty and at the evening prayer service at eight o'clock. The vacation season is ended and a year of opportunity and privilege faces each member of the congregation. A hearty welcome awaits you all. If you are a Presbyter, make this your church home. If you are a stranger you can find the fellowship of God's people here.

September 27th, the hours of service will be changed, as follows: Sunday school at 10; Morning Worship at 11. With the change in the hours it is anticipated that the children will remain with their parents for the morning church service. The "Children's Sermon" will be resumed.

Those of this congregation who are to take part in the Christian Community Census, which will be taken on September 28th, should meet at the Lutheran Church, Palmyra, on Friday evening September 25th, at eight o'clock.

LUTHERAN NEWS

The services at the First Lutheran Church for Sunday, will be held on the summer schedule and will be the last Sunday of the summer on these hours. Sunday School at 10 o'clock in the morning. Worship at 11 with a special sermon to children, and one to the adults on the subject "The Christian's Attitude to the Lesson of God and Mankind." Evening service at 7 o'clock with a sermon on "Searching the Scriptures."

On Tuesday evening of next week a special meeting of the ladies in charge of the Social to be held on Saturday evening, September 19th, will be held. This is to be a purely social and prizes will be given for the most quaint costumes and most poorly dressed. A small charge will be made according to the dress. Warren Beach and the Pastor are judges. Come and enjoy this evening with us. Saturday week.

EPWORTH CHURCH NOTES

Full activities are beginning in earnest at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church. However, the service always considered the most helpful is the morning worship. Somehow this service has the effect of tempering the whole week. On Sunday at eleven o'clock the pastor, the Rev. Fred B. Morley, will preach from the topic, "Worship." This Sunday is the last of the twilight services for the season. There will be a bright service of song and a message by the pastor on "Sight and Insight."

On Monday afternoon at seven o'clock the officers and teachers of the Church School will assemble for their annual banquet. This will be followed by a business meeting with reports from the various officers, department heads, and delegates to the Summer School. The annual election of officers will take place at this time.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society will hold its initial fall meeting at the home of Mrs. William Powers, 800 Park avenue. At this meeting plans will be presented for the work of the season.

CAMP 23

Monday evening Camp 23, P. O. S. of A., entertained Camp 101, of Frankford. The business session was filled with spirited talks which were followed by an enjoyable social hour, with both the visitors and members of the entertaining camp taking an active part.

The live-wire Booster Committee walked off with the evening's honors with its program, which included refreshments and a plan whereby everyone present was entertained, either by taking a hand at pinocle or pitching quoits.

The committee, however, not satisfied to bank in the light attained by its most recent success, but announces that next Monday it will divulge some interesting information concerning its snappy program for October.

Don't wait to read about our good times, come out Monday and get in the swim. Find out what's going on and play your part in the work and fun of the Camp. Further announcements will be made next week.

GARAGE ROBBED

The garage of J. W. Allee was broken into some time between half past three and six o'clock Tuesday morning and six tires stolen. The car was jacked up and the tires taken off. The thief or thieves came across the river in a small boat, for the next morning tracks were seen where the tires had been rolled to the water's edge.

Officer Walter Miller, on his rounds that night, had passed the Allee property at 3:30 a. m. An attempt was made to break into the Allee garage two weeks ago, but the burglars were evidently frightened off.

PERRY STILL BUSY

New Record for Post-Season Traffic Is Set Up

Captain Sidney D. Albertson, superintendent of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company, early this week stated his company, continuing to break records weekly. It was thought after a new record was set up over Labor Day weekend, there would be a lull in the ferry's business sufficient to stop it from setting up any more new marks this season.

Sunday, in carrying 3000 passengers, the ferry established a new highwater mark for a Sunday's business after Labor Day. The previous count for machines in September after Labor Day was 2970. Foot traffic was unusually heavy Sunday. The combined tally of the Philbureo Coach Company and the ferry foot passengers amounted to 2760.

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck reports that traffic, in addition to the ferry bound machines, was heavy and kept his force busy all day until late Sunday night.

COP GETS NERVOUS ON HIS VACATION

Although only a visitor witnessing the Atlantic City beauty pageant, Officer Frank Bolton, of the Moorestown police department, could not forget his sense of duty while watching the traffic congestion in "The World's Playground."

Bolton was walking along the boardwalk with two friends when they noticed he was becoming very nervous and restless. Finally his condition became such that it was necessary to remove him to a hospital.

Rest and removal from the crowds soon soothed him.

He operates a semaphore at Church and Main streets, Moorestown, and attributes his attack of nervous prostration to restraint from his daily duties.

HOWARD D. VAN SANT

Howard D. Van Sant, American consul at Dunsmuir, Scotland, died September 1st, at his post. Mr. Van Sant was appointed to the consular service in 1905, and has had charge of the Dunsmuir consular office since 1910. He was a former mayor of Island Heights and previously had been engaged in real estate business at Toms River. The deceased was a brother of Rev. S. Monroe Van Sant, who was a former pastor at Epworth M. E. Church, Palmyra, and who now resides at Phoenixville. He was also an uncle of Mr. Paul Van Sant, of Lincoln avenue.

MORE AND MORE

Public Lamon Getting Into Newer Home Class

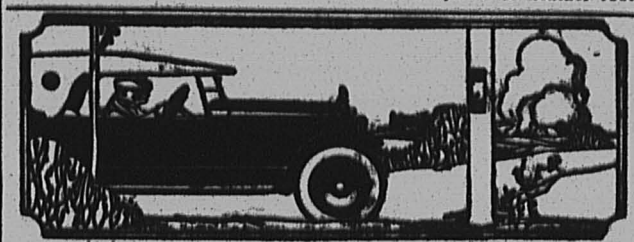

Mr. A. Lamon, who is unusually credited with starting a new era in real estate in this locality, handled over $100,000 worth of transactions on Monday, according to reports. It is understood this was involved in farm deals, which Mr. Lamon has been carrying on extensively since early spring.

Since he handled his first big deal this spring, it is estimated that Mr. Lamon has acted as agent in deals which turned over more than a million and a half dollars worth of farm land in this section. At the present time, the realtor has reliable information, the realtor has several big deals pending which will amount to several hundred thousand dollars. It is expected these will be completed and agreements will be signed by the latter part of this week.

Practically all of the land in this section which Mr. Lamon has sold has been bought on the speculative basis, but will be either re-sold or development work will be started within the next few months and many new communities will spring up in the outlying districts of Palmyra, Riverton and Moorestown.

Mr. Lamon has purchased the lot at Seventh and Elm Terrace from Walter S. Smith and later plans to build himself a fine, modern colonial home on the site.

The Rev. Frank Gunson Dies Victim of Septic Poisoning

Riverside Methodist Pastor Succumbs to Infection Caused by Carbuncle

MADE MANY FRIENDS DURING WORK HERE

Was Born in England 48 Years Ago; Held Many Charges in U. S. A.

The Rev. Frank Gunson, pastor of the Riverside Methodist Parsonage, died Friday, Sept. 14, at the Methodist Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia, following an attack of septic poisoning.

The Rev. Mr. Gunson had been in Riverside for the past eighteen months and in that short space of time acquired a large circle of friends.

In the latter part of August he was called to England by the sudden illness of his wife, who had gone abroad a few weeks earlier to attend the funeral of her father. Following their return to the United States, the Rev. Mr. Gunson was afflicted with a carbuncle on his neck and later septic poisoning set in, necessitating his removal to the Methodist Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia. While at his home he was attended by Dr. Harbert, of Beverly, and later by Professor Rith, of Philadelphia. Every known method of medical science was practiced to save his life but the untiring efforts of the doctors in charge were of no avail and he passed away at 11:42 p. m. Friday evening.

Mr. Gunson was born in Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, 48 years ago and came to the United States in 1910. He attended many of the leading seminaries in the United States and England. Among these were the Victoria Park College, Manchester, England; Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Illinois; and the Drew Seminary, Madison, N. J.

When he first arrived in the United States he was sent to the state of Montana to engage in pioneer work. His success at this work won him a larger field and he was sent to Harnden, Kansas, and later to Greenville, Oregon, Nipmuc and Manahawken, N. J. From the pastorate of the Methodist Church at Oceanic he answered the call to assume charge of the church here.

Monday evening the body was placed in the church amid a beautiful bank of flowers and hundreds of persons of all denominations passed through the edifice to pay their last respects to a highly honored and respected friend and pastor.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. Pith, Superintendent of the Trenton District of Methodist Parsonages, officiated. A special sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Marshall, of Ocean Grove.

Many members of the clergy from the nearby communities attended the final services. Among them were the Rev. H. J. O. Rinker, Delaware Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Marshall, of Trenton, the Rev. Dr. Raleigh, of Trenton, the Rev. Mr. Conover, of Palmyra, the Rev. Mr. Francke, the Rev. E. T. Butz, all of Riverside, the Rev. Mr. Nankiville, of Bridgeboro, the Rev. Mr. Whitton, of Palmyra, and the Rev. Dr. Pith, District Superintendent.

The pallbearers were selected from the official board of the church. They were John Hamilton, George Nevell, Charles Perry, Edward Howey, Frank Miller, and Orville York.

The choir rendered several selections while Wesley Lane, church organist, assisted.

Mr. Gunson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gunson, of Sheffield, England, and his wife, Mrs. Eva Gunson.

Interment was made in the Monmouth cemetery Tuesday under the direction of H. B. Earnest, funeral director.

Hugh Devine of Charleston street, Princeton, was arrested by Officer Elmer Rodweller for being drunk on Nassau street, and for refusing to go home when ordered to do so.

Mrs. Dorothy Spurlin, 59 years old, No. 222 Sylvan avenue, Highland Park, while picking cherries fell and struck a stump and sustained abrasions. She was sent to Underwood's Hospital.

Pitman cottagers closed their season with a full program. There were baseball games and a championship tennis meet on the athletic field. A carnival was also conducted by the Athletic Association.

The building on Olden street, Princeton, formerly occupied by the Arthur Inn, an undergraduate eating club, was the scene of a fire which destroyed the back porch of the structure, but did little other damage.

Two drivers of Central Transportation Company buses and the pilot of a "Gray Goose" bus plying between New York and Atlantic City were the victims of a skirmish in the State Police war on speeding and road-hogging bus drivers. All three men were nabbed by Trooper Wilson, of the Hightstown State Police.

Capacity of the temporary Gloucester county jail at Woodbury was taxed over the week-end as a result of four raids and numerous other arrests.

Dr. John R. Thomas, formerly president of Penn. State University, has assumed his duties as president of Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

Damages of $500 were asked in a suit which has been filed in the Supreme Court at Trenton by Luigi Genaro, contractor, of 26 Anderson street, against Chester A. Jayne, of Philadelphia, as the result of an auto crash August 16 on the Princeton Pike at Harner's Corner.

GREATER CARE NEEDED IN ASPARAGUS FIELDS

A large number of New Jersey asparagus growers will come to rue next spring unless they take better care of their fields than they have during the past few weeks.

This announcement was made by C. H. Nisley, specialist in vegetable growing at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick, after completing a tour of the asparagus sections of the state.

Many fields during August were observed to be utterly neglected and given over to weeds. Such neglect, continues the specialist, accounts for 15 per cent of the growers' setting yields lower than 500 bunches an acre last spring.

Asparagus is a profitable crop in New Jersey if it gets attention. Production records of 1800 bunches an acre were not uncommon this year, and in some instances as much as 2,000 bunches were obtained. In other words, these good farmers were getting as much from one acre as the careless fellows were getting from three or four acres.

The successful growers not only fertilize properly and at the right time, but also cultivate often and thus keep down weeds which use up much water and plant-food needed by the asparagus plants.

At the last meeting of Clementon borough council the office of police recorder was created, and Leighton Heller, a law student in Camden, was appointed to the position. A new Board of Health was created, to consist of Dr. Harold Wesscott, Francis Reed, Aubrey Phillips, Fred Niles and Frederick Flurry.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS TALK ON STATE SCHOOL

Head Master of Bordentown Colored Institute, Makes Interesting Address

BOYS AND GIRLS DO ALL WORK OF SCHOOL

Theories Backed Up By Practical Application of Lessons Taught

William Valentine, head master of the State Industrial School for colored boys and girls at Bordentown, was the speaker at the meeting of the Riverside Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

Mr. Valentine said the Bordentown school was one of the largest state institutions in Burlington County, comprising a property value of $1,100,000. Three hundred students were enrolled last year and a greater enrollment is expected this year.

The school property consists of a 300-acre farm, along the both sides of the River road just this side of Bordentown. The main buildings are located on the bank of the Delaware.

The school was started in 1888 by a colored clergyman of Bordentown and was taken over by the state in 1900.

Only in recent years has the state given it any real attention.

The school is of a unique type as far as the north is concerned, being similar to Tuskegee and Hampton institutes in the south.

Mr. Valentine said the educational system in effect at the school was one of the most ideal systems for efficiency inasmuch as every activity of the student, working, studying, eating, sleeping and playing, is under the supervision of the teacher.

Not only are the students taught the theory of various trades and industries but they are given practical experience. The only model in the shop but in actual work about the school building and the farm.

They have remodeled houses in which the plumbing and electrical work, carpentry and so on was done by the students themselves.

The students do their own laundry work and the laundry machines are operated and kept in repair by them. The farm is cultivated by the students under the direction of a practical farmer and the school dining rooms are supplied with the produce raised.

Students in domestic science do the cooking and serving of the meals. Dreammaking classes are in charge of an experienced modiste and actual dressmaking is done for the best families in Bordentown and vicinity.

The homes in which the students live are managed carefully and with the highest standards of house keeping in order that the student may become acquainted with good standards of living.

In addition to these activities the students are given an academic course similar to that of a Junior High School, it being the aim of the instructor to coordinate book study with the trade being taught.

On the social and athletic side the students have their Glee Club, their Civic League, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. as well as football and baseball teams.

Church services are held regularly with prayer meetings on Wednesday evening and two regular services on Sunday.

The Kiwanis showed deep interest in Mr. Valentine's address and perhaps will accept his invitation to hold one of their meetings at the school in the near future.

"Doc" Edwards, who has just returned from a tour of the New England states was in the chair in the absence of President Charlton. The attendance prize was won by George Orle.

POULTRY PREMIUMS AT TRENTON FAIR

Increased Awards—Judges for Pigeons and Rabbits—Junior Exhibitors Encouraged.

Announcement of the increased premium money for poultry, pigeons and pet stock at the Trenton Fair has aroused keen competition. Newly appointed judges, who will be in charge of this division of the exposition from September 23 to October 3, are prepared to apprise the largest classes ever sent to the capital city.

Charles D. Cleveland of Eatontown is the new superintendent of the department, and he has been busy for more than a month in selecting judges and assistants and planning the location for additional pens. The Trenton Fair poultry show is now recognized as one of the leaders on the fall circuit, and Mr. Cleveland, who is an authority among the fanciers, was prevailed upon to take charge of the show. His acceptance assured a square deal for entrants.

Brooders throughout the east appreciate the great interest that New Jersey farmers take in poultry, and they are anxious to show their birds at Trenton, as good sales are frequently made to owners seeking to advance the quality of their stock. The special prizes offered this year, especially for Plymouth Rocks, Light Brahmas, Black Game, Orpingtons and Reds, are an added inducement.

In the boys' and girls' section more space will be provided, and all the juniors who want to show a really good chicken or a pen of birds will have accommodations provided for them. The juniors are now making an exceptional showing in poultry work, and to encourage them a new building is being completed for displays by boys' and girls' clubs at the fair.

The poultry judges this year all reside in New Jersey and were chosen because of their experience and ability. They are: M. L. Chapman of Trenton Junction, William J. Hobbs of Florham Park, J. L. Lyle of Plainfield, Charles Nixon of Washington and Harvey C. Wood of Bound Brook.

The pigeon judges include Josiah H. Clark of Paterson and E. B. Ulrich of Reading, Pa. Robert M. Scott of Philadelphia will judge the pet stock. He reports great activity among the pet stock breeders and is expecting a surprising display of rabbits and canaries.

The pigeon owners are also active, and a new association, the National Swiss Mondaine Pigeon Record Association, is making a good showing.

POULTRYMEN LOSE MONEY THROUGH HOLDING EGGS

Investigation by the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station indicates that poultrymen receiving short remittances for shipments of eggs to the New York market may blame their trouble on the habit of holding eggs at their plants a week or more in order to secure the advantages of a rising market.

This habit, says the report, makes poultrymen invariably the losers, because the cut for poor quality, such as water whites, offsets any slight increase in the general market price. Even four days' holding is sufficient to predispose eggs to developing watery whites during the rough handling received in transit, according to the investigators.

Several hundred fresh eggs of apparent equal firmness were kept at the station in a temperature of 50 degrees for 4 days. None appeared watery at the end of that time. When, however, these eggs were placed in a crate and shuffled back and forth across the floor, it was found by recandling that 28 per cent of them were watery. Another lot of eggs was kept for 8 days under similar conditions. Although none appeared watery before shaking, 48 per cent were watery after the shaking. The shaking was like that to which eggs are subjected in transit.

Results of this small test indicate the necessity of sending eggs to market as soon as possible after they are produced, concludes the report.

A committee of eleven members of the Board of Directors of the American Petroleum Institute has just issued a report on the future of the industry. The report draws particular attention to two important developments of very great importance. One is the extension within the industry of "cracking" crude oil, a process which increases the yield of the all-important gasoline. The other is a change in motor construction which, roughly speaking, will double the mileage of the automobile per gallon of gasoline. Herein is true conservation. Altogether, the findings of the committee are reassuring. There may be passing periods of shortage of petroleum but there is no danger in the situation.

FEDERAL RESERVE HELPS FARMERS

How Its Aid to England's Return to a Gold Standard Benefits American Agriculture.

By M. A. TRAYLOR
Second Vice President American Bankers Association.

There has been no more important event for the American farmer and stock man since the Armistice than the recent return of Great Britain to a gold standard. It seems a long distance from the Montana farm to the gold vaults of the Bank of England, but the price the farmer gets for his wheat and cattle depends not a little on that gold.

The farmer sells his wheat to the elevator man and yet the real buyer, in many cases, is an Englishman, a Frenchman, a German, or an Italian. About one-third of the wheat crop is usually sold abroad and this part is a large factor in fixing the price of the entire crop. Between the farmer and the foreign buyer there are many steps. In recent years the most important step has been that at which the foreign buyer has to pay the American exporter, for the international mechanism of payment has been badly out of order because Europe was off the gold standard. It was just as though an English buyer drove up to your farm house, bargained for your wheat and drew up the contract. But when you discussed payment, he said: "I'm sorry I haven't any good money to give you. I'll have to pay you in my English paper money, which isn't worth its face value in gold. I don't know what it may be worth next week, but that is your risk."

A Deadly Foe of Trade
How many would be willing to sign contracts on this basis? Yet that is the way most of the world's trade has been carried on since the Armistice. In practically all countries except the United States the currencies have had no fixed value in gold, but have changed in value from day to day. Whenever one country sold anything to another country, somebody had to take the risk of loss because the value of the money might change before payment was made. Such uncertainty of payment is a deadly foe of trade, and people were afraid to do any larger international business than they had to.

Exports of food stuffs from the United States fell from two and a half billion dollars in 1919 to eight hundred millions in 1923, and the difficulties of European buyers in making satisfactory payment for American farm products was one of the large factors in the drop in the prices of farm products. But now the recent action of Great Britain in declaring that it will again redeem its paper money in gold means that British buyers of American products can pay for them with money which is accepted the world over at its face value in gold. With the return of Great Britain to the gold standard, a majority of the countries of Europe have paper currencies equal to gold.

How Reserve Banks Helped
American bankers have assisted in the British return to the gold standard by giving a $100,000,000 credit to the British government. But more important than this was the action of the Federal Reserve Banks in granting the Bank of England material co-operation. They placed $200,000,000 gold at the disposal of the Bank of England for two years, to be used by it, if necessary, in maintaining the gold standard. The readiness of the Reserve Banks thus to co-operate was an important influence in the willingness of the British to take this all important step.

This action of the Reserve Banks was a most constructive step in aid of American farmers and producers who will benefit greatly by the removal of this element of uncertainty from their export transactions. If all the sins of omission and commission charged against the Federal Reserve System by banker, business man, live stock man or political blatherer in the last five years were true, and practically none of them are, the service rendered commerce and industry by the System in connection with the restoration of the gold standard is so large a part of the world would far outweigh any mistakes that those in charge of the System may have made. No banker, business man or farmer should permit any self-serving declaration by favor seeking demagogue to swerve him from a determination to see that the System is maintained for the future welfare of the country.

Fundamentally conditions are very sound and we are doing a very large volume of business, no little part of which is due to the equalizing and stabilizing effect exercised by the Federal Reserve System on the credits of the country. Throughout all the stress of the last five years there have been no times of either stringency or plethora of bank credit. Rates have run along on a rather level keel and in my judgment have had much to do with the stable volume of business which we have enjoyed, and which is quite contrary to the old experience of the aftermath of panics. With a credit structure such as only the Federal Reserve System can guarantee, I feel we need have no apprehension but on the contrary sound optimism for the future.

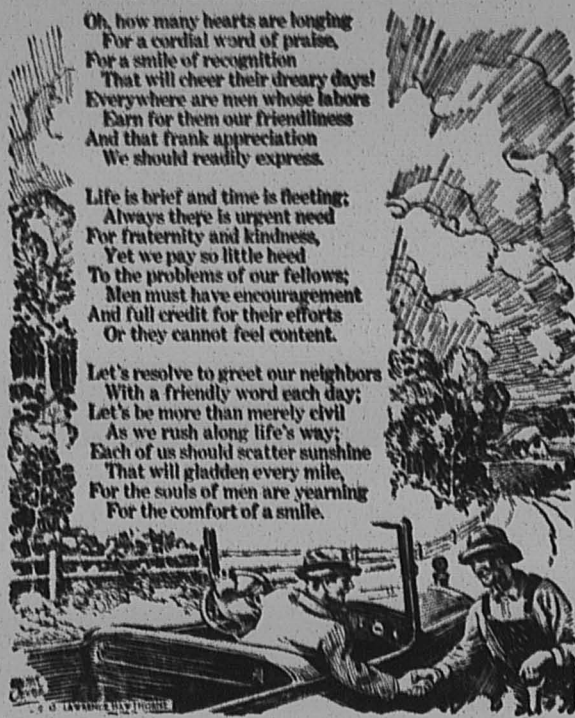

Should Ohio be placed on the west coast of North America it would extend from Sitka, Alaska, to a point opposite the City of Mexico. In length it is 2,600 miles and its average width is about 90 miles.

Sponges are the bachelors of the sea, being in certain places occupied by whole colonies of tiny snapping crabs that always come back to the same sponge which is their hive-like home.

In New Zealand, after a recent heavy rain storm accompanied by heavy wind, the streets and gutters were filled with small fish that had been blown from the streams and water holes nearby.

The Smile of a Friend

BY O. LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

Oh, how many hearts are longing
For a cordial word of praise,
For a smile of recognition
That will cheer their dreary days!
Everywhere are men whose labors
Earn for them our friendliness
And that frank appreciation
We should readily express.

Life is brief and time is fleeting;
Always there is urgent need
For fraternity and kindness.
Yet we pay so little heed
To the problems of our fellows;
Men must have encouragement
And full credit for their efforts
Or they cannot feel content.

Let's resolve to greet our neighbors
With a friendly word each day;
Let's be more than merely civil
As we rush along life's way;
Each of us should scatter sunshine
That will gladden every mile,
For the souls of men are yearning
For the comfort of a smile.

"Twilight" of Mind Might Work Wonders

To most grown-ups the child mind is an enigma, and it is reasonable to suppose that the grown-up mind is an enigma to the child. So that, if there be a sudden "twilight" for a few hours, great changes would be apparent in the behavior of the one to the other, a writer in the Westminster Gazette comments.

Take, for instance, meal time—a period when youth and maturity wage eternal warfare—Mary and Bobbie would appreciate mothers' dislike to messy, sticky meals, and mother would realize in a flash how tiresome and dull it is to sit quiet and be careful and clean and good right through all the courses.

Naturally, a compromise would be effected. Mary would only drop her spoon once, and not see how far she could lean over to pick it up, capsizing the chair and herself and knocking her glass of water over at one fell swoop. Bobbie would tip his plate (probably), but not at such an acute angle that the tablecloth would be drenched with rhubarb juices. . . . As for mother, instead of losing herself in gloomy contemplation of the years to pass before she could have her meals in peace, she would chat companionably and limit considerably her number of "don'ts."

In its early history coffee was held by some to be an intoxicating beverage and severe penalties were threatened to those using it.

INSTRUCT FARMERS TO INCREASE PAY

U. S. Government Will Have Exhibits at Trenton Fair—Improve Methods.

In space reserved for the United States Department of Agriculture at the Trenton Fair exhibits will be set up to bring practical knowledge to farmers for the improvement of their stock and an increase in their earning power.

The Trenton Fair this year will be held from September 28 to October 3, and the interesting displays to visualize proper and improper methods in the operation of farms will be kept throughout that period.

Among the topics to be covered will be the following: Co-operative Marketing, Farm Woodlands, Horses for Power, Marketing Woodland Products, Milk for Health, Selecting Meats, Neglecting Campfires, Value of Pastureland, What Cow Testing Revealed, When Lightning Strikes, Contagious Abortion, Hog Cholera, Rantia. The Government agents declare that hog raisers of the United States lose $20,000,000 annually through hog cholera. Better sanitation and preventive serum treatment, they assert, will greatly reduce this loss. Sunlight and clean surroundings are especially recommended in combating the disease.

For the co-operative marketing charts are displayed as a suggestion on the method of forming an organization and the plan for distribution of products. The use of horses as a flexible source of power for farm use is encouraged by the Department of Agriculture. The progress of forest destruction from a small abandoned fire is pictured and the statement made that the yearly damage from fire is approximately $17,000,000.

In the cow-testing exhibit the lesson is conveyed on the results of keeping a check on the amount of milk and butterfat produced by the different cows of the herd. One dairyman learned that each of his cows averaged only 64 cents yearly above feed cost, but another nearby farm was getting a profit of $75 from each cow by culling out the low producers. The income was raised. Sections of lighting cables, air terminals and other fittings are to be put on view. To demonstrate the value of protecting buildings from being struck an effective contrast is to be given in the remains of wrecked buildings and those that have gone through a storm untouched.

THE SHEPHERD—LAMB TRACTS DEVELOPMENT

Is going on apace. The former Shaffer residence has been shifted from its original resting place to a new foundation nearer to the street and a little to the side of the yard so as to admit of the opening of the new street called Memorial avenue, which is designed to be one of the very finest avenues of Palmyra.

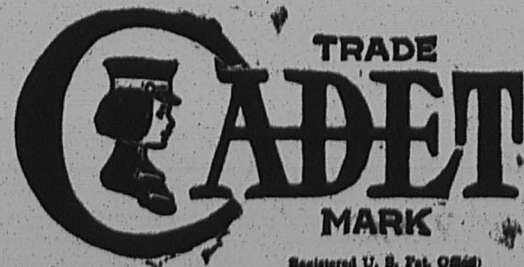

It will extend back through Ridgway Park as far as Filbert street. The curbing is well under way. Water and gas pipes are being put in and sidewalks will soon be laid.

When completed this will constitute about the most important land development that the town has had for a considerable while, embracing as it does the whole of the Joseph Shaffer tract and Ridgway Park. The close proximity to the station will render these new home sites very desirable.

Four REASONS for the use of NO-NOX

- 1 It eliminates fuel knocks in your engine—and the waste of fuel, the lack of power and the carbonization that this knock implies
- 2 It reduces gear shifting to a minimum, making it a pleasure to drive in traffic or over the hills.
- 3 It prevents all harmful effects of carbon accumulation.
- 4 It increases the motor's smoothness and power—insures a quicker speeding up of the motor—and greater economy.

INSTRUCT FARMERS TO INCREASE PAY

U. S. Government Will Have Exhibits at Trenton Fair—Improved Methods.

In space reserved for the United States Department of Agriculture at the Trenton Fair exhibits will be set up to bring practical knowledge to farmers for the improvement of their stock and an increase in their earning power.

The Trenton Fair this year will be held from September 28 to October 3, and the interesting displays to visualize proper and improved methods in the operation of farms will be kept throughout that period.

Among the topics to be covered will be the following: Co-operative Marketing, Farm Woodlands, Horses for Power, Marketing Woodland Products, Milk for Health, Selecting Meats, Neglecting Campfires, Value of Pasture, What Cow Testing Reveals, When Lightning Strikes, Contagious Abortion, Hog Cholera, Runt. The Government agents declare that the best means of preventing loss of $30,000,000 annually through hog cholera. Better sanitation and preventive serum treatment, they assert, will greatly reduce this loss. Sunlight and clean surroundings are especially recommended in combating the disease.

For the co-operative marketing charts are displayed as a suggestion on the method of forming an organization and the plan for distribution of products. The use of horses as a flexible source of power for farm use is encouraged by the Department of Agriculture. The progress of forest destruction from a small abandoned fire is pictured and the statement made that the yearly damage from fire is approximately $17,000,000.

In the co-operative exhibit the loss on is conveyed on the results of keeping a check on the amount of milk and butterfat produced by the different cows of the herd. One dairyman learned that each of his cows averaged only 64 cents yearly above feed cost, but another nearby farm was getting a profit of $75 from each cow. By cutting out the loss producers the income was raised. Sections of lighting cables, air terminals and other fittings are to be put on view. To demonstrate the value of protecting buildings from being struck an effective contrast is to be given in the remains of wrecked buildings and those that have gone through a storm untouched.

Easy to Lose Way in British Guiana Bush

British Guiana bush is a dangerous maze. Savages find their way by means of secret marks, but a tenderfoot enters at great disadvantage. The country is five times the size of England, and there are not more than ten white men who have gone into the wilds of the interior, according to D. Bannerman Clarke, M. A., general manager of the Aranka Gold, Ltd., of Georgetown, British Guiana. "The natives," he says, "have the most marvelous sense of direction and find their way through the jungle with utter precision. They have a sort of sign language. They make marks on trees which only they understand, and if some one has followed the natives he can always tell how large the party was, whether they went and just when they passed the given spot, by these curious marks on the trees made with cuttings. They also leave marks for their own guidance when they turn about and start homeward. Once you know the bush and its hidden sign language it is almost as easy to get about as it is in the open, but if a tenderfoot gets lost he is in a hopeless maze and has very little chance of getting out alive.

Europeans Like Codfish

It is a somewhat strange coincidence that no codfish swim nearer the Mediterranean sea than the banks of Newfoundland or Iceland. The dwellers in that part of the world, however, eat cod, salted, and cooked in many and varied forms. New England for many years got its salt from Italy and paid for it with codfish, sometimes with Old Medford rum. Those days are past. The French explorers who followed close upon the heels of Columbus discovered the virtues of Newfoundland cod. Later curing plants have been established on the Mediterranean shores of France—to save one handling since the Mediterranean peoples eat so much of it, also because the salt is conveniently dried out from the very salty water of the Mediterranean.

In Shadow of Pyrenees

San Sebastian, Spain, is one of the two beauty spots. It is sheltered by two mountains which rise up abruptly behind the little town, with its main harbor. Fresh and clean like a well-tended child, the town gathers round the narrow beach, with the late Santa Clara straight across the harbor entrance, a refuge from the boisterous Biscay. The promenade is fringed with young trees, whose foliage is soft as swan's down. The air is mild, soft as the fresh water so delectable for a shower. San Sebastian may not be Spain, though it has its Plaza de Toros, but it is a very pleasant port of entry.

Not Even
Capt. A. B. Randall of the renowned Republic told a story, the other day.

"A steward," he said, "stood at the gangway of a ship of mine, and as he stood there he kept shouting for the benefit of the arriving passengers:—

"First-class to the right! Second-class to the left."

"A young woman, steep daintily ahead with a baby in her arms, came hesitating before the steward, he bent over her and said in his cheery way:—

"First or second?"

"Oh!" said the girl, her face as red as a rose. "Oh, don't, it's not mine." —The Pittsburgh Sun

Domestic Relations Cases Keep Judge Slaughter Busy

Perplexing Problems In-Preserving Family Unity Brought Before County Court

Judge Slaughter conducted court in the newly renovated main court room last week and while there are minor improvements yet to be made, the room presents a very attractive appearance with its newly dined of white paint, cut in with light brown and tan, dark brown benches and substantial appearing floor covering and electric lights.

Drapery are to be hung at the windows in the rear of the judge's bench, better arrangements for the newspaper men are to be provided and there are some other details yet to be given attention.

The judge's time Thursday morning was occupied to a great extent with domestic relations matters, not less than three cases of this nature coming before him.

Lorah Ogden, of Burlington, who was brought back here from Cairo, Illinois, charged with desertion and neglect of his wife and three young children, pleaded guilty to the offense, but Prosecutor Hillman appeared anxious to see the young couple reunited and with that end in view called Mrs. Ogden to the stand to explain to the court just why she and her husband could not get along.

Addicted to Drink
It appeared that she was married when she was slightly past sixteen years old and had three children, five and three years, and four months old, respectively, the husband being a soldier at Camp Dix with whom she became acquainted at a dance. She said his worst habit was drink and that he had never properly provided for her and her children and left on May 29 without announcement of his intentions, the next she heard of him being that he was in his old home at Cairo. She said she did not want to live with him again, but was anxious that he support the children.

When Ogden was called to the stand he did not deny that he skipped out without any previous announcement of his intentions and said he had about $43 with him at the time. He became sick on his arrival at Cairo and was laid up about three weeks and had only worked nine days when he was apprehended and brought back by Detective Carabine and said that he had been in jail since the latter part of July and could not support his family while thus incarcerated. He put all the blame on his wife for his desire to quit her, and said his wife met a Burlington man weekly and otherwise misbehaved.

Two Year's Probation
The court delivered a very fatherly address to both Mrs. Ogden and her husband and closed by putting him on probation for two years, with the understanding that he is to pay Probation Officer Frank A. Hendrickson $9 a week for the support of the children.

Attorney Robert Peacock appeared as counsel in the next case, which was that of the state vs. Charles F. Herner, of Lenola, also charged with desertion of his wife, there being no children to be considered in this case.

When Herner was brought over from the jail his wife moved over to the prisoner's bench to have a chat with him, but she fainted dead away and had to be carried out of the room while the court officers, headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs, gave her attention. Mrs. Herner is a frail appearing woman and has but recently been discharged from a sanatorium. It was shown that Herner disappeared and went to Philadelphia while she was away. Herner, however, was perfectly willing to support his wife, all she asked being sufficient to keep her supplied with medical attention and medicine, and it was decided that he should pay her $8 a week, and be put on probation for two years. Herner is an elevator runner in Philadelphia and earns $90 a month.

Waffle Man Before Court
The next case called was that of John Dickman, of Maple Shade, known as the "hot waffle man," who failed to write to his wife during a three months' absence.

It was shown that this couple had been married nineteen years and had a boy seventeen, both of whom have three children, a girl eighteen are working, and a little boy aged five years.

Mrs. Dickman said her husband was away from home most of the time and she seldom knew where he was from one week's end to another and she would be perfectly satisfied if he paid her a weekly stipend.

The court thought it appeared that it was money more than the man that Mrs. Dickman wanted, as he, too, was put on probation for one year, with the understanding that he must support the five-year-old boy.

Clifford Stackhouse, of Burlington, sent to the county jail from Moorestown for a term of sixty days on a drunken driving charge, through Attorney Peacock appealed from the sentence on the grounds that the papers in the case submitted by Squire Harry Wolf, were faulty in many particulars, they reading that "Burlington county" was committed to the jail instead of Stackhouse, etc.

The defendant was ordered discharged.

SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED GOOD FOOD

Healthful Breakfast Should be Provided for Every Pupil

No child should be permitted to go to school without eating a good breakfast, declares the foods specialist of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture. Well-cooked, easily digested food, plenty of sleep, and out-door play are required by the growing school child.

All children who are attending school, particularly the many who are attending for the first time this month, are meeting new situations each day. All these new experiences are a strain on any child, especially the very active one. It is mother's responsibility to send the children to school on time without that feeling of being hurried. The rising hour should be early enough so that breakfast may be eaten leisurely—appetites are not keen in the morning and require a little coaxing. If the first time they refuse, children learn they must eat a good meal, there will be no further trouble at the breakfast hour. The same rule should be applied to each meal during the day. Well-cooked, easily digested food is relished by most children.

Rest and sleep are essential for the child. It is mainly when the body is at rest that it grows for this reason the sleeping hours are called "the growth hours of the child." The boy or girl just entering school requires eleven hours of sleep a day. If there is an opportunity a nap on the porch after school is ideal. As many children may not wish to sleep then, a half hour of quiet play may be substituted just before the evening meal to rest and calm the child. A meal in more enjoyable and more easily digested if preceded by a rest.

Not many hours of the day are left for out-door play, but these hours are golden and should be planned so that no child is denied the benefits of sunshine and fresh air.

MAY USE MACHINERY TO MAKE JERNEY WET

No longer will the Far West have a monopoly on irrigation methods. Manufacturers of irrigation machinery and the State Agricultural Extension Service held the most extensive demonstration of artificial rain-makers ever seen in New Jersey today at the farm of J. G. Thornborrow, 2 miles from Millville on the Vineland-Millville Road. Beginning at 2 o'clock all kinds of irrigation equipment were tested side by side so that farmers could make their own choice.

The prolonged dry spell of the past few years have caused so much damage to vegetable crops that a large number of growers have become interested in artificial methods of supplying water to their fields. Numerous inquiries reaching the State Extension Service resulted in its making arrangements for the south Jersey demonstration.

Representatives of all irrigation manufacturers, as well as the state vegetable specialist, were on hand to answer any questions regarding the installation and operation of the equipment shown. Practical men have made possible the development of simple rules for figuring the exact water and power requirements for a given acreage when the local conditions are known.

It is recognized by those in charge of the demonstration that installation of irrigation equipment will have little or no effect on this year's crop, but will be of value to those of future years.

TENTED CITY FOR BOYS'-GIRLS' CLUB

Professor A. M. Halbert, Assistant Director of Extension Service at the State College of Agriculture, in New Brunswick, has completed arrangements for a miniature tented city at the Trenton Fair, which will be held next week from September 28, to October 3. Boys and girls and their chaperones who will come from the different parts of the State to take part in the junior extension work, will occupy the tents so as to make it more convenient for them to participate in the educational demonstrations which have been arranged.

Plans have been perfected for the largest and best boys' and girls' club exhibit which will be made this year at the Trenton State Fair. Professor Halbert declared in his announcements on the display, "Through an appropriation made by the last Legislature and the generous co-operation of the Fair management," he continued, "two new buildings have been erected and the old building greatly improved."

The exhibit will be designed to show what the farm boys and girls of New Jersey are doing both in agriculture and home economics. The work in home making will be illustrated by exhibits of clothing and hats made by girls themselves under supervision of the home demonstration agents and the club agents in the several counties. Demonstrations in the planning and serving of meals will be given each day at the Fair by girls from the various counties. Home management practices will be taught by girls and the arrangement and use of modern home equipment will form one of the most interesting as well as valuable features of the week's program in the Junior Extension Building.

The boys with their live stock consisting of pure-bred dairy animals, swine and poultry are planning to come in strong. They expect to fill the dairy building which is thirty feet by two hundred feet. Every animal will be a pure-bred and free from tuberculosis. They will come from every dairy county in the State and from some not so much noted for their dairy wealth. Those included will be Sussex, Warren, Morris, Hunterdon, Somerset, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean, Burlington, Cumberland and Salem.

The swine exhibit promises to be of special interest and Salem county, where F. J. Goggin is the County Club Agent, is hoping to give Mercer county, where J. B. Turpin is County Club Agent, a good run for the honors.

"Indications now are that the poultry exhibit will be much larger than ever before. Eight counties all competing for first place should give an interesting show."

Many Prisoners Ask For Paroles

Several Burlington County prisoners in the state prison will appeal to be paroled during the session of the Court of Pardons next month.

Heading the list is the appeal of Harry C. Mohr, who was convicted of the murder of "Honest John" Brunen, of Riverside, the carnival man, and who was sentenced on January 9, 1923, to a life term.

This is the case in which Charlie Powell, the man who admitted firing the fatal shot, turned state's evidence and showed that Mohr was the "man behind the gun" in that he had planned the murder and had prevailed upon him (Powell) to do the killing. Mrs. Doris Brunen the murdered man's wife, was also charged with murder but was acquitted.

At the time of the trial it was proven beyond any doubt that Mohr was guilty, and it would be a miscarriage of justice if he should gain his liberty at this time after serving less than two years of his life sentence.

His appeal, it is said, will be based on the charge that Powell was insane when he testified against him, but those who heard the latter's evidence and the examination given him by Supreme Court Justice Kallisch, who heard the case, will remember that he appeared to be one of the brightest minds in the case. Powell is serving a term of twenty years.

Another man from Burlington county who wants to be relieved of further confinement is Jonas Sims colored, of Burlington, one of three negroes who criminally assaulted a respected farmer's wife near Hancock in 1904, being also charged with attempting to kill, robbery and attack and sentenced to state prison by Judge Joseph H. Gaskill for a term of forty-nine years.

One of his accomplices was released about a year ago by the Pardons Board and the third died in prison. When Judge Gaskill sentenced Sims to forty-nine years he meant what he said and had not he and the other two fiends been hunted off to state prison the people would have taken the law into their own hands, so it will be just as well if he, too, remains where Judge Gaskill put him.

Sydney Brinkley, colored, of Florence, who stole a lot of female wearing apparel from a married colored woman while her husband was in jail in Mount Holly, was sentenced in from one to three years on April 6, 1925. Brinkley claimed at the trial that he took the clothing at the request of the woman, who had proposed that they elope, but the jury thought differently. He wants to get out and there would be little if any complaint from any source if the Board acted favorably on his appeal, as it was a flimsy case against him, to say the least.

George Miller, sentenced on January 22, 1925, to from one to three years, has also had enough of prison life. He is the man who was arrested in Schuylers & Rogers store in Mount Holly, after Irving C. Gaskill, a clerk, had informed the police that he was attempting to pass a forged check.

George A. Peters, also of Mount Holly, the man who stole the auto mobile of Superintendent of County Schools, L. J. Kaser, and was later apprehended in Tennessee, being brought to Mount Holly after he had served his sentence there for another offense, was convicted of the automobile theft and sentenced to from one to four years on October 8, 1924. He, too, wants to breathe nature's free air again.

Stephen Tarnowski, convicted of threatening to kill, went to prison on October 8, 1924, from two to fifteen years, and he is another man who is willing to promise that he will behave in the future.

Another is Harry Vanamburg, of Riverside, charged with assault with intent to kill, and sentenced to from eight to twelve years on May 19, 1921.

A FISHIN' PARTY

A party composed of William L. Fichter, William Anderson, William Stow, Robert Fichter, Joseph Pettit, Charles Cutter and Leon Egan, moved to Fortiesque for their last fishing party of the season Sunday. In discussing the party, Squire Fichter said "We had poor luck, our party's catch only averaged three fish apiece, but they were all good sized." "Fish," disgustedly sighed the justice, "you might know they wouldn't have any real fishin' if I was along."

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY

To Marguerite Lindemann, Joseph W. Lindemann, her husband, Bowman S. Sterling, Jr., Nora B. Sterling, Michael H. Sigalos and Frederick M. Sigalos:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein, Bowman S. Sterling is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and answer to the bill of said complainant, on or before the ninth day of November next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you and such decree made against you as the Chancellor shall deem just and equitable.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Bowman S. Sterling and Ida M. Sterling, his wife, to John Thornton, dated March 1st, 1901, on lands situated in the Borough of Palmyra, Burlington County, New Jersey.

And you, Marguerite Lindemann, are made defendant, because you are the owner of an undivided one-fourth interest in said lands;

And you, Joseph W. Lindemann, are made defendant, because you are the husband of Marguerite Lindemann, and claim an undivided right by the curtesy in the one-fourth interest in said lands of which your wife, the said Marguerite Lindemann, is seized;

And you, Bowman S. Sterling, Jr., are made defendant, because you are the owner of an undivided one-fourth interest in said lands;

And you, Nora B. Sterling, are made defendant, because you are the wife of Bowman S. Sterling, Jr., and claim an undivided right of dower in the one-fourth interest in said lands, of which your husband, the said Bowman S. Sterling, Jr., is seized;

And you, Michael H. Sigalos, are made defendant, because you are the husband of Emma V. Sigalos, who died seized of an undivided one-fourth interest in said lands, subject to the estate by the curtesy thereof of your father the said Michael H. Sigalos.

Miss Judith Cunningham, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Miss Virginia Seal.

Mrs. Carolyn McCarty has purchased a home in Germantown and moved last Thursday.

Mrs. Pearl Carpenter returned from Seal Harbor, Maine, after spending the summer there.

George N. Wimer is attending the National Convention of the P. O. S. of A. at Salisbury, N. C.

The annual banquet of the Methodist Sunday School was attended by thirty-six of its members Monday evening.

George J. Seal and son, Joseph, spent the weekend at the Hotel Biscayne, Ocean City, and Mrs. George Seal is spending ten days there.

Mrs. R. W. Dawson has returned to her home in Germantown after spending three weeks with her sister, Mrs. James Black, of West Broad street.

Russell Blackburne returned home Tuesday after spending the summer in Little Rock, Ark., where he was manager of the ball club. Russ reports a successful season.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Heston and son, Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wright, at Indian Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sanford, of Highland avenue, have returned from a two week's motor trip through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Mrs. Warrington Darnell, Mrs. Correll Canu, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Powell attended the funeral of an aunt, Mrs. Ellen Brown 'n Long Ranch, on Friday.

According to reports, Clois Snyder, a former resident of Palmyra, has sold his home in Lakeland, Florida, for almost four times what he paid for it less than two years ago.

Miss Anna J. Wagner, former resident here and student of Palmyra High School and graduate of New York University, died at Mountain Lake Camp, Wurtsboro, New York, September 12.

The H. H. H. Class of the Central Baptist Church will give a bazaar on the lawn, Saturday afternoon, the 26th. Fine assortment of gifts and other things you will surely want.—Advertisement.

Mrs. James K. Hires and daughter, Jane, returned home Monday evening after spending the summer at Ocean City. Mr. Hires and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hires, spent the weekend with them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Marple, of Cinnaminson avenue, recently returned from a four day trip through Pennsylvania when they visited Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Klepper, of Lock Haven, former residents of Palmyra.

Mr. and Mrs. George Truman and two children and Mrs. William Truman have returned after touring northwestern Pennsylvania and New York, visiting Niagara Falls, and Canada. The trip covered 1800 miles.

Miss Rae Brown is the guest of Mrs. Walter Tees. Miss Brown is a graduate of Wellesley College and is coaching the play "The Wedding of Miss Jill and Mr. Jack" to be given in P. O. S. of A. hall, Thursday, October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Arthur Hoyt, Jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Lewis Arthur Hoyt, on September 17. The Hoyts are former residents of Palmyra and Mrs. Hoyt will be remembered as Miss Sallie Swain.

The annual meeting of the Palmyra branch of the Needlework Guild of America will be held in P. O. S. of A. hall, Friday, September 25th, at 3 o'clock. Miss Maria P. Stryker, national superintendent of junior work, will be the speaker.

Three-year-old Raymond Clarke, formerly of Palmyra, was run down and seriously injured by an automobile in front of his home on Cleveland avenue, Riverside, last Friday evening. The youngster was taken to the Zurburg Hospital and was still in an unconscious condition Tuesday evening.

Miss Thekla Vollmer came up from Wildwood last Thursday and stayed with her sister, Mrs. Elvin Powell, until Monday when she returned to her home in Dayton, Ohio. Dr. and Mrs. Clement Vollmer returned from Wildwood Monday and visited Mrs. Powell before leaving for their home in Oakmont, Pa.

Little Lenny Baker, four and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Baker, of Garfield Avenue, is suffering with a fracture of the left arm received while playing Sunday. Although very brave, the little fellow has suffered intensely having the break reset twice at the West Jersey Hospital, Camden.

Ralph Tagliatela, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Tagliatela, is suffering with two smashed fingers which he received while helping his father change a tire on their motor along Broad Street near Drexel's Sunday. A passing motorist took the injured youngster to the Zurburg Hospital, Riverside, for treatment.

The first fall pinocchio of the Field Club will be held in the club rooms this Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A large crowd is desired to help get the season off with a bang. Tommy Schlink says fifty cents entitles you to a good evening's fun, smokes, good eats and helps to pay for the prizes which you may be fortunate enough to win.

At the conclusion of a special meeting called to discuss plans for the rummage sale to be held October 17, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Independence Fire Company were tendered a surprise luncheon in the fire house Monday evening. The delightful repast was tastefully prepared and served by Mrs. George J. Spencer and Mrs. Fremont Truman. Since the fire company has abandoned the annual carnival, the women are assisting the company in raising funds necessary each year for general expenses. Anyone having any articles they would like to donate for the rummage sale should get in touch with any member of the Auxiliary.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES
Sunday is to be Rally Day in the Sunday School, which continues to meet at 10 a. m. This will be the occasion of promotions and the earnest beginning of the fall and winter program. "Help us to break the record of attendance," says the officers.

Morning worship will begin at 11:15 and the pastor's topic will be "A Challenge to You." The evening service will be at 7:45 when Pastor Blaser will preach on "The Parable of the Ways." Sunday's services will be held on standard time.

By the time these notices go to press members of the church will have received a letter which begins a special drive to complete the fund for the new church project. The committee hopes to be able to break ground as planned at the fortieth anniversary. The anniversary committee has nearly completed the program and is very enthusiastic about the coming event.

LUTHERAN NEWS
On Sunday, September 27, the Church services will be held on the winter schedule, and on Standard time. Sunday School at 10 a. m. Morning Worship at 11 a. m., at which the pastor, the Rev. Harry L. Saul, will preach on the theme, "A Christian's Prayer for Christ."

A short sermon to the children will also be preached, on the subject "An Indian Story." Every child is most welcome at this service, and we hope the parents will bring them for their spiritual food. Evening worship at 7:45, and the subject for the sermon is "The Food of Eternal Life."

This Sunday is Rally Day. Every one who is connected with the Sunday School should make a special effort to be present. We are trying the morning Sunday School for your advantage, and we want you to use it and enjoy it. The Church needs to be closer tied to the Sunday School, and with your cooperation it can be done. Come to Sunday School on Sunday at 10 a. m.

Groves & Sons Company of Duaneville, Pa., were lowest of four bidders before the State Highway Commission for the building of the Delaware bridge connecting road in Camden and Pennsauken borough. The job involves not only the construction of the highway but also the relocation of the Cooper River in Camden.

The roof of the former Crown Point Hotel, Westville, was lifted from the building by a small tornado and carried 150 yards into a field. Grover Davis, a bus driver, was injured by falling slate. Garages and outbuildings on nearby farms suffered damage from the storm, which reached proportions of a cyclone. Crops and farm equipment in South Jersey were damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars, according to reports.

The debt of $8,000 on the manse having been cleared, the mortgage was burned by the pastor, Rev. Charles F. N. Voegel, in the First Presbyterian Church, Ocean City, recently.

Fire gutted the three-story frame factory building of the Barozzi Machine Company in Hoboken. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have caused the fire, which resulted in $25,000 damage.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Woodruff celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Bayonne. Their son, Dr. Stanley H. Woodruff, and Mrs. Woodruff spent the day with them.

Rev. Stacy D. Myers, pastor of the Fairview M. E. Church for two years, preached his farewell sermon. He will be succeeded by Rev. Ernest Colwell, recently of the Wyoming Conference. Mr. Myers will enter Drew Theological Seminary.

John Weisel, who was not enough of a naturalist to know the old superstition that a snake never dies until sundown, killed a rattlesnake with sixteen rattles and a button, in the morning, but was forced to kill it again in the afternoon.

Mrs. Anthony Laun, thirty-seven years old, Gloucester City, who had her husband arrested two weeks ago on a charge of assault and battery, was arrested on a similar complaint made by her husband, and was held under $500 bail by Mayor Anderson. Laun says she beat him.

A mixed freight train coming in from the Flemington branch of the P. R. R. was wrecked in the northern part of Lambertville. Apparently the front wheels of the locomotive struck the point of a frog, derailing the engine which turned over on its side, the first car following it.

Since July 1 it was reported that 3,500 Bibles have been placed in New Jersey hotels by the Glodeans. In Ocean City alone 1,000 Bibles were placed recently and elaborate dedication services were held. Trenton now ranks seventh in the list of cities whose hotels are supplied with Bibles.

POULTRY PREMIUMS AT TRENTON FAIR

Increased Awards—Judges for Pigeons and Rabbits—Junior Exhibitors Encouraged.

Announcement of the increased premium money for poultry, pigeons and pet stock at the Trenton Fair has aroused keen competition. Newly appointed judges, who will be in charge of this division of the exposition from September 28 to October 3, are prepared to appraise the largest classes ever sent to the capital city.

Charles D. Cleveland of Batontown is the new superintendent of the department, and he has been busy for more than a month in selecting judges and assistants and planning the location for additional pens. The Trenton Fair poultry show is now recognized as one of the leaders on the fall circuit, and Mr. Cleveland, who is an authority among the fanciers, was prevailed upon to take charge of the show. His acceptance assured a square deal for entrants.

Brooders throughout the east appreciate the great interest that New Jersey farmers take in poultry, and they are anxious to show their birds at Trenton, as good sales are frequently made to owners seeking to advance the quality of their stock. The special prizes offered this year, especially for Plymouth Rocks, Light Brahmas, Black Chans, Oringtons and Redas, are an added inducement.

In the boys' and girls' section more space will be provided, and all the juniors who want to show a really good chicken or a pen of birds will have accommodations provided for them. The juniors are now making an exceptional showing in poultry work, and to encourage them a new building is being completed for displays by boys' and girls' clubs at the fair.

The poultry judges this year all reside in New Jersey and were chosen because of their experience and ability. They are: M. L. Chapman of Trenton Junction, William J. Hobbs of Morristown, J. L. Lytle of Plainfield, Charles Nixon of Washington and Harvey C. Wood of Bound Brook. The pigeon judges include Josiah H. Clark of Paterson and E. B. Ulrich of Reading, Pa. Robert M. Scott of Philadelphia will judge the pet stock. His reports great activity among the pet stock breeders and is expecting a surprising display of rabbits and canaries. The pigeon owners are also active, and a new association, the National Swiss Moulding Pigeon Record Association, is making a good showing.

Parry Man again Fined for Being Drunk and Disorderly

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck arrested William McLaughlin, of Parry, at Broad and Vine streets Saturday afternoon, charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. He was tried before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter and fined $5.00 and costs, $11.25, Monday morning.

McLaughlin has lived in this locality for the past three years and has kept the police busy. Frequently when on a drunken spree he would beat his wife and family or become very disorderly about the neighborhood.

He has recently served two terms in the county jail, one thirty days and the other sixty days, but escaped another jail sentence this time in order he might finish his farm work and lay aside some money with which to support his family this winter.

Both Justice Fichter and Chief Beck warned McLaughlin he would receive a six-month sentence the next time he is arrested on these charges.

John T. Lyons, of 112 Spring Road, Llanerch, Pa., was arrested on Cinnaminson avenue, late Wednesday of last week by Officer Joseph Rodgers on a reckless driving charge. Lyons was racing toward the ferry when he was arrested by Officer Rodgers. At a hearing before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter Thursday morning he was fined $10 and costs.

Knitting Nerves

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

(Copyright.)

"YOU have simply got to take up knitting," said the great nerve specialist. "Get some wool, a pair of needles and go down to Atlantic City and sit on the board walk and knit."

"Me knit! I certainly would look cute sitting on the beach like some Aunt Jemima knitting pink wool. And all the idlers stopping to roar at me. No thanks."

David pulled his six feet of strong manhood impatiently out of the chair. The specialist only sat calmly looking at him.

"You prefer, then, my young fellow, to end your days in a home for neurasthenics, babbling forever about spring blossoms or trying to find a nice easy place to jump off the roof." The doctor became more serious. "Don't be a coward about life. Face it out. Perhaps a short summer of knitting, just simply giving your hands something to do, will set you on your feet."

So David packed his case, told his sister all about it and she gave him good advice as well as knitting needles and wool.

But the brainstorm that was the most brilliant of her career was her suggestion that David put on Aunt Elsie's clothes when he came from his bathroom.

"After breakfast, with the strings to tie it on and her great cloak and ample skirts—why David you could sit on the sand and knit prize jumpers and no one would even cast a glance at you."

"You're the prize brick, Sis," laughed David. "I'll put Aunt Elsie's clothes on and knit till I haven't a nerve left."

Consequently, the old lady sitting daily on the white sand attracted little or no attention. David gradually learned to knit mechanically.

It was Elsie's wee dog that first upset the apple cart of calm thought. The dog, dashing about in quest of fun, found David's woolly ball, began playing and ran joyfully off across the sand.

And David, because he always kept rather stationary when wearing Aunt Elsie's clothes, just sat and watched.

And Elsie, seeing the old lady's predicament and the havoc being wrought with the wool gave chase after Fido. It was then that David's calm deserted him. Elsie, in drenching and most fifty of bathing suits, in hot pursuit of a small dog, caused not only a burst of laughter from David, but also a heavy heart throb. Elsie, with fair hair blowing about in the breeze and as graceful as a nymph, made David tensely conscious that there were bits in the feminine world distinctly wonderful.

After a final desperate plunge the small dog was captured. David's heart beat fast. The girl was approaching him to offer an apology.

"I'm so very, very sorry," she said in the sweetest of voices. "Fido is always doing something awful."

"But this is not awful," David quickly told her and when Elsie jumped back startled at the great boom of his voice he realized that he was supposed to be a lady.

"But he has unraveled all your lovely knitting," Elsie managed to say and looked ruefully down at a mere strand of what had been a fairly well formed sweater. "Couldn't I knit it back for you? I will slip into my bathhouse and get into my frock and come back here. You will wait?" she questioned.

"I certainly will," David agreed with a slightly modified voice.

As soon as she was out of sight David arose, dashed into his own bathroom and emerged in the most trim of white flannels.

He created himself on the exact spot and waited.

When Elsie appeared he knew that his nerve cure was making tremendous progress and would continue to do so long as Elsie would help him to pass away the shining hours.

She was dressed in the daintiest silk Jersey suit he had ever seen and her fair hair, now confined, lay in a huge coil about her head.

She stopped in dismay at seeing the big man sitting where the old lady with the knitting had been. Somehow Elsie had expected to make good her offer to knit back the sweater.

She was about to turn away, when David drew from his pocket a great ball of wool and aimed it straight at Fido. That wise little animal took his cue with the same accuracy that a well trained god of love takes his arrow and shoots.

Elsie stood still, took a straight and intensely interested look at David, then walked slowly toward him. David arose to his feet and held out the remnants of that sweater.

"I'm ready now for you to reknit my sweater," he said with a boyish laugh.

Elsie, too, laughed, and Fido scampered up delighted at being so completely tangled up in the wool of romance.

The specialist had most decidedly done the right thing for David.

Coal Strike No Worry To P. S.

New Jersey Gas and Electric Consumers Protected Against Service Interruption

With more than 300,000 tons of coal on hand, and steady shipments coming from the mines, operating heads of Public Service Electric and Gas Company have no fear of the coal strike's affecting the manufacture of gas and electricity for the more than a million customers in New Jersey which the company serves.

There is sufficient coal in storage at the various plants of the company to supply its needs for nearly two months. It is variously distributed in the yards of the twelve electric generating stations and at the eleven gas manufacturing plants throughout the state. Besides, the officials say, the strike is an anthracite strike and practically all the coal used by the company is bituminous.

In addition to the coal there are about 16,000 tons of coke at Camden and the ovens of the Camden Coke Company are increasing their supply every day. There are also on hand about 10,000,000 gallons of gas oil which is also used as fuel for certain gas making purposes.

To insure a steady flow of coal throughout the year, contracts are made whereby the entire output of certain mines is assured, and with the company's 600 privately owned coal cars in which to transport it, there is no apprehension on the part of the company officials over the possibility of shortage. The coal cars are kept on the road most of the time between the mines and the company's manufacturing plants, so that dependence on the regulation railroad cars is unnecessary.

For the manufacture of gas and generation of electricity for the company's consumers, including the gas purchased from the Seaboard By Products Company, about 2,500,000 tons of coal a year are used. This is nearly 7,000 tons of coal a day, every day in the year including Sundays and holidays. The coal which Public Service Electric and Gas Company has in reserve does not include more than 200,000 tons which the Seaboard Company has on its property.
