BAND CONCERTS PROPOSED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

May Try Out Plan For Two Saturday Afternoons To See How It Takes

CONSIDER SELLING STOCK FOR "MOVIE"

Fourteen members of the Riverton Chamber of Commerce braved the inclement weather last Thursday night and attended the meeting held in the Council Chamber at the fire house.

Karl Latch, chairman of the moving picture committee reported that he had been in conference with two concerns, one of which is now starting operations in Haddonfield, Cape May and Wildwood, and will soon be ready to consider Riverton.

Another has agreed to make a survey at an early date.

The plan on which practically all of these concerns operate is to have the building erected by local capital and then lease it for twenty years. The building in Riverton, it is estimated would cost about $125,000.

There was considerable discussion among the members present over the possibility of selling $125,000 worth of stock in Riverton, and it was thought the chances were good.

The chairman was instructed to proceed with his work and to have a definite proposition in the chamber at the next meeting if possible.

The band committee reported and recommended that a band of sixteen pieces and a vaudeville act be tried out two weeks early in June at the expense of the chamber and if the plan was then approved by the merchants of the borough it could be taken over by them for the balance of the summer. It was thought that this attractive would bring many people to Riverton Saturday nights and live the town up a bit in general to the ultimate benefit of everybody.

Rev. Mr. Morley at Conference

Change in Pastorate of Epworth Methodist Church Expected This Year

The Rev. Fred B. Morley left Tuesday to attend the ninetieth session of the annual New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The conference convened Tuesday and will close next Monday. An unusually large number of changes is expected in the pulpits and great interest is being displayed among the members of the conference.

The Rev. Mr. Morley has completed his third year as pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church and according to leading members of his congregation a change in the pastorate is expected. Although there has been much speculation among the members as to who the new pastor will be, those in authority admit no one has any definite information regarding the new appointment to Epworth Church. It is expected an attempt to obtain the services of a prominent, elderly clergyman, one who has served as district superintendent, failed.

During his three-year term here the Rev. Mr. Morley has won a host of warm friends. He gained the admiration of many of his communicants and the townspeople by his spirited and sincere manner with which he undertook his work.

His genuine appreciation of the value of encouraging young people in church work won him many strong supporters in the ranks of the young people and under his supervision their accomplishments have multiplied several fold. There are many who regret to see the Rev. Mr. Morley leave the community.

The Rev. Robert Coward, of Riverton, student at the University of Pennsylvania, will preach at both services at Epworth Church Sunday. Mr. Coward, who has talked at the church on several occasions, is very popular with the congregation. He is an interesting speaker and will deliver two worth-while messages Sunday. The feature of the evening service will be a brief organ recital with Rachael M. Lord, the organist, at the console.

Music is Subject at P. T. A. Meeting

Riverton's Supervisor of Music Gives Interesting Demonstration of Modern Music

The regular meeting of the Riverton Parent-Teacher Association last Thursday, February 25th, was devoted mostly to music. Miss Mary Lucas, Supervisor of Music, led for the Association the new song dedicated to all P. T. A.'s.

Those present were delighted with the song sung by Mrs. A. L. Wilson. Mrs. Rachael Lord accompanied Mrs. Lucas and also contributed a piano solo which proved a rare treat to music lovers.

Miss Lucas gave a carefully prepared talk on Music Appreciation, showing on a blackboard before the Association, a diagram of the method used in developing the child musically. This, she made clearer by demonstration with a group of third grade pupils. A record was played on the victrola and the children proceeded to analyze the melody. One described the time as Lullaby time, explaining that it made one feel like going to sleep. Another record produced the sensation of marching. The method develops the child's perception of music until he can distinguish all musical instruments by the sound; the time, whether it be waltz, mazurka, gavotte, etc.; the voice, whether it be soprano, contralto, baritone, etc., and so on, until he will have to admit this is a bit more than they were offered during their experience through the eight grades. Miss Lucas' talk was greatly appreciated.

The president, taking the place of Miss Coward, who was unable to attend, brought before the Association the questions which had been brought up during the month. These were discussed to the satisfaction of those inquiring, and for the enlightenment of all present. It was hoped that the members will freely take advantage of this system of a question box, using the Association as a real clearing-house for school problems. There is doubtless no parent but who thinks the school should do better by his child. Let him speak up.

By dropping in the box an anonymous question even those most reluctant to speak can obtain the information and consideration they desire. These questions are welcomed. None are to be taken to heart. None are to be taken to heart. None are to be taken to heart.

The pictures were awarded to Grade 2, as having the largest attendance of mothers, and Grade 6 and 8 as standing second.

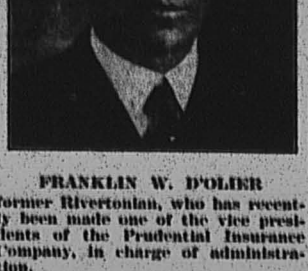

The domestic science girls were on hand with tea and coffee.

Locals Win Fast Contest Despite Visitors' Last Minute Rally

In a fast game with Haddon Heights on the local court Friday evening of last week, the Palmyra High School basketball team added another victory to its long list of wins for the current season. Despite a strong rally by the visitors in the last quarter, Palmyra managed to keep in the lead and was on the long end of a 27-20 count when the final whistle was tooted.

Palmyra opened with a strong attack and gained an early advantage over Haddon Heights. The Morrisons were leading at half time and maintained the advantage. In the early moments of the concluding canto Haddon Heights unleashed a furious attack which brought her count dangerously close to the locals.

Elsey and Captain Bright with their hawk eyes for the basket caged most of the locals double deckers. Bright put up an excellent defensive with Kallowski, the other guard, and made it "hot" for the visitors as they invaded the local territory. McKee also put up a nice game.

The scrubs lost, going down to a 10-11 defeat at the hands of the Haddon Heights Reserves who put up a fast game. Both visiting clubs showed real speed and kept the Morrisons stepping.

The young people who attended enjoyed dancing after the two games. Music was furnished by the Haddon Heights Reserves.

The high school five is enjoying an unusually successful season. To date it has only been defeated by one Jersey high school, Moorestown, and that was avenged by a later victory. The team has beaten several other teams which beat Moorestown. The results follow:

P. H. S., 15; Alumni, 10
P. H. S., 23; Penn Charter, 40
P. H. S., 55; Pemberton, 11
P. H. S., 19; Paulsboro, 9
P. H. S., 19; Taylor Business School, 33
P. H. S., 19; Moorestown, 28
P. H. S., 23; Moorestown, 31
P. H. S., 30; Rider's Commercial College, 55
P. H. S., 23; Mount Holly, 10
P. H. S., 28; Brown Prep, 14
P. H. S., 61; Gloucester, 21
P. H. S., 27; Haddon Heights, 20.

The Palmyra High School basketball team will meet Tuckerion High at the high school gymnasium Friday evening. The girls will play at home Friday afternoon with Pilman High ladies as the opposition.

SCOUTS ABOARD

Riverton Group Visits Steamship at Philadelphia Pier

There is going to be a lot of husky, sea-faring men come out of Riverton in the future. If a recent educational trip made by the members of the Riverton BSA Group has anything to do with it.

On Saturday morning, February 27th, the boys visited the pier of the Philadelphia-Norfolk steamship line, and explored the large, oil-burning liner, James River, through the courtesy of C. R. Clements, one of our local residents, who accompanied the party and explained the interesting features.

Beginning at the pier, the boys encountered immense quantities of goods, machinery, and tons of peanuts. And then for the steamer! After winding through many intricate passages, the boys came to an interesting explanation of "what makes her go?" by the chief engineer.

Climbing up to the pilot-house, the fellows hoisted with the cap'n, first mate, look'n', everything. After investigating the wireless room and the hold, the party in departing passed the galley at the busy hour of twelve o'clock, and received the most convincing argument that a sailor's life isn't so bad after all!

BASEBALL BENEFIT

The ladies of Riverton are taking a great interest in the new baseball team and have organized for the coming season. Several plans are afoot to raise money for uniforms and other necessary equipment.

Mrs. Nathan Hallings and Mrs. Robert Hallings are arranging a social party and dance to be held at the home of Mrs. Hallings, and it is understood that some of the other ladies are busy on plans for entertainment and money raising.

DINNER FOR CUNNINGHAM

Riverton Man Honored on His 35th Anniversary of Telephone Service

TRAINED MANY MEN NOW ON FORCE

James Cunningham, one of her citizens of whom Riverton has every reason to be proud, was honored a testimonial banquet by the members of his construction force in the "gold room" of the Arcadia Hotel, Philadelphia, March 1.

The occasion was the thirty-fifth anniversary of Mr. Cunningham's connection with the Bell Telephone Company with which he started as a helper and gradually worked his way up to the position he now holds, that of division superintendent of construction.

Fifty members of Mr. Cunningham's construction force were present at the banquet. Most of them started in the telephone work under Mr. Cunningham's supervision and were trained by him into one of the most efficient construction forces in the Bell System. It is an interesting fact that the years of service of the men who on Monday night to do honor to their chief, aggregated 847, an average of about nineteen years per man.

The committee on arrangements provided a fine entertainment program, including a speech-making, a professional entertainer, and vocal and instrumental music. One of the amusing features of the evening was the original verses written for the occasion by some of the poetically inclined members of the force.

Short addresses of appreciation of Mr. Cunningham's efficient leadership during the many years they had worked under his direction were made by J. F. Osborne, Charles Lander, J. J. McCutcheon, Arthur Campbell, Ambrose Egan, Norcia Mercer, John H. Daly, Clarence Stout, Robert Gilson, Alfred Rawson, the baby member of the organization, and Ogden Steedle, of the Riverton, who is forman of cable splicing in the West Philadelphia territory.

Joseph Kinney, chief conduit engineer, made the principal address of the evening and outlined the history of Mr. Cunningham's association with the company and described how he had gradually worked his way up through various departments to the position he now holds. Mr. Kinney said that many of the methods in telephone construction work introduced by Mr. Cunningham have been adopted all over the world.

Telegrams of congratulation to Mr. Cunningham were received during the evening from William A. Hopper, division plant manager of the Atlantic Coast, Harold S. Popper, plant manager of the Philadelphia division; H. L. Badger, general plant manager, Frank I. Daly, assistant to the treasurer; George Carey, superintendent of rights of way; and R. J. Kennedy, superintendent of buildings.

Mr. Lander presented his chief with a red and reel which was particularly appropriate as Mr. Cunningham is an enthusiastic disciple of the golf. Mr. Cunningham also received several very handsome baskets of flowers.

In his address of acknowledgment Mr. Cunningham expressed his appreciation of not only the dinner and the gifts but also of the ready co-operation of the members of his force had always given in every emergency and the splendid loyalty which had made his association with them a real pleasure. He said he had watched most of them grow from boyhood into manhood, and had always tried to train them "in the way they should go."

The accommodations which we receive from the Pennsylvania Railroad seem to be in inverse ratio to the price of transportation, comparing the present time with the years prior to the war.

Of late, the commuter from Palmyra has been confronted with such deplorable conditions that it seems to me steps should at once be taken by you to correct matters to the best of your ability.

We are forced to ride many times in filthy wooden coaches.

Trains, such as the 7:05, 7:32, 7:41 and 8:13 in the morning, down, and the 6:36 and 6:00 in the evening, from Market Street Ferry, are late so much that it has almost become a habit.

The trains are frequently held at Delair on account of apparent freight congestion.

The 8:36 from the Ferry on Monday evening, Washington's Birthday, was held up below Delair about twenty-five minutes, inconveniencing numerous regular riders to allow one day excursions on the special Excursion Trains to Atlantic City right of way.

Last evening, the 5:36 had no engine. After the train became full of people, and they had waited fifteen or twenty minutes, they finally discovered, after a great deal of difficulty, and without the courtesy of information being volunteered by any of the train crew, that the engine had broken down, and was being repaired.

Situation Presents Opportunity For Chamber of Commerce To Take Action

Palmyra, N. J., February 25, 1926.

To the Editor:

Enclosed please find copies of letters to the Superintendent of Transportation, Penna. Railroad Co., Interstate Commerce Commission and J. Edwin Leese.

I am a regular subscriber to your paper and am interested in its new columns, which I believe, as a rule, present local situations in a fair and equitable manner.

I hope that you will find a little space for some reference to the situation covered by my various communications.

We all know that the train service in "Riverton" there must be some way of remedying our troubles. Scores of residents, who are compelled to use the train daily, some by preference, but most by compulsion, are becoming disgusted that there is no concerted action by those who should take up a matter of this kind.

We have lots of talk about streets, gutters, snow cleaning, garbage gathering and things of such character. Let's have a little less of this kind of stuff, and a little bit more on the subject that concerns probably 95% of the wage earners in town.

Yours very truly,

Nathan S. Beekly.

FREEHOLDERS WILL BUILD NEW HOME FOR NURSES

Lowest Bidder Forged To Sign Name But May Get Contract; Check Was O. K.

Last Friday's session of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders was a busy one.

Bids were opened for building a bridge, supplying road materials and erecting a home for nurses at the hospital for the insane, and the occasion was graced by the presence of two ladies from Moorestown who had come to witness the proceedings, representing the League of Women Voters of that town.

The ladies were Mrs. Howard Goodall and Miss Anna H. Grison. When he introduced the members of the board to the ladies, Freeholder Fisher ended by saying, "they have come to see how we conduct the business of the county and be a little more satisfied." And it must be said that the county officials behaved beautifully—every one—the freeholders, the county engineer and his assistant, the new solicitor—and even the clerk read his minutes and the other business of the meeting a little less swiftly and a little more distinctly for the benefit of the visitors.

All the punctilious niceties of parliamentary procedure were observed in the conduct of the day's business. It was a lovely day in every sense. When a pity some of the fair sex had not cast their spell and serenity over the hectic days early in 1925 when—but let the dead past bury its dead. It was a perfect day.

Howard Russ Presides

Director Russ looked very fatherly and imposing as he presided back of the desk at the end of the room, and conducted the meeting with much dignity and decorum. Genial Charlie Stout smiled and beamed. Lloyd Wright wore that imperturbable countenance for which he is noted. Fred Lippincott was in his element, calmly, self-possessed, recently elected, was just a little conscious of his new position, but withal, alert, judicious, observant.

The meeting opened with the reading of a communication from the State Highway Commission containing the good news that the State would give $30,000 toward the completion of the unfinished portion of Church Road. This was followed by another letter approving the specifications for 270,000 gallons of slow-curing oil for use of the County Department of Roads.

Several bids were received for the building of the new home for nurses at the Burlington County Tuberculosis Hospital, New Lisbon. The bids indicated that the general construction will cost about sixteen thousand dollars.

The highest bidder was Charles Moore, who wants $17,350 for the job. William Cook, $17,183; Joseph E. Kolster, $16,200; T. G. Clatts $14,000. The lowest bidder was John Troth, who figured he could do the work for $12,500.

There is some doubt as to whether the Troth bid will stand. He failed to sign his proposal, although he did not overlook the necessary certified check. The bid has been referred to the county solicitor for an opinion as to its legality.

For the plumbing work at the home Joseph Jones bid $2,900; Edgar Gandy $1,613; and Albert Ellis $1,600.

Three proposals were received for the heating work, J. Edgar Gandy, $1,537; George D. Worrell, $1,380; Albert Ellis, $1,000. Ernest A. Millikan bid $250 for the electrical work.

All of the home bids were referred to Director Russ, head of the county buildings department, who will confer with the Tuberculosis Hospital Commission and report at the adjourned meeting of the county board this Friday.

Road Materials

Much other business had to do with awarding contracts for road materials. The Headley Good Roads Company was given the contract for light cut black asphalt at eighteen cents a gallon f. o. b., and for heavy cut black asphalt at seventeen cents a gallon f. o. b.

Slow curing oil went to the Asphalt Service Company at .0875 per gallon applied, and cold and hot tar went to Theasore Tisholt at 15.4 and 16.4 cents a gallon applied. Lignum H. B. went to Maurice Young for .134 per gallon.

The broken stone contract went to the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company, Lambertville, for $1.35, $1.55 and $1.60 a ton for broken stone of different sizes. The Philadelphia Slag Company got the slag contract at one dollar per ton. The National Supply Company, of Holly, was awarded the pebble contract at seventy cents a ton.

All the bids were awarded with the condition that they are approved by the State Highway Commission. The resolution giving the contracts were presented by Charles R. Stout, head of the road department, in each instance. Mr. Stout was more than pleased with the contracts. He said that the terms were very favorable to the county.

Bridge At Aston

Another contract awarded had to do with the building of a new bridge at Aston. It was given to the Hill Construction Company, Mount Holly, at $5,108.29. Mount Holly citizens have just completed the county bridge at Lower Bank. The contract was awarded on a resolution offered by Curwen B. Fisher, head of the bridge department.

ARLINGTON TIME

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck says every home in Palmyra and Riverton should have the correct time. No doubt about it, and it can be Arlington Time.

Each day, except Sunday, the Palmyra fire siren is sounded at noon—not one or two minutes before or after, declares Morry. And here's how it is done.

One of the officers on duty makes it a point to be at the police station, where a switch for the siren has been installed, as the noon hour approaches.

Then the new Freshman masterpiece five-tube radio receiver which has also been installed, is turned on. The time signals are broadcast from Arlington and as the hour sounds over the radio the officer throws the siren switch and presto! everyone in the community knows it's twelve o'clock noon, and by official time, too.

The members of the police department "chipped in" to make a fund to purchase the fine new set and a loud speaker. The radio will also be used to pick up police reports from various cities and other information of interest to the officers.

PORCH CLUB NEWS

The members of the Riverton Porch Club are invited to receptions to be given Friday, March 12th, at The Graphic Sketch Club, 719 Catherine street, Philadelphia, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., and the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Samuel Heiser will conduct the ladies through the sketch club and tell its history. Prominent artists will meet the visitors at the academy and give gallery talks on the pictures.

These receptions are sponsored by Mrs. Howard Green, State Chairman of Art and are a great opportunity for club women.

Then the new Freshman masterpiece five-tube radio receiver which has also been installed, is turned on. The time signals are broadcast from Arlington and as the hour sounds over the radio the officer throws the siren switch and presto! everyone in the community knows it's twelve o'clock noon, and by official time, too.

The members of the police department "chipped in" to make a fund to purchase the fine new set and a loud speaker. The radio will also be used to pick up police reports from various cities and other information of interest to the officers.

BETTER RAILROAD SERVICE URGED

Situation Presents Opportunity For Chamber of Commerce To Take Action

Palmyra, N. J., February 25, 1926.

To the Editor:

Enclosed please find copies of letters to the Superintendent of Transportation, Penna. Railroad Co., Interstate Commerce Commission and J. Edwin Leese.

I am a regular subscriber to your paper and am interested in its new columns, which I believe, as a rule, present local situations in a fair and equitable manner.

I hope that you will find a little space for some reference to the situation covered by my various communications.

We all know that the train service in "Riverton" there must be some way of remedying our troubles. Scores of residents, who are compelled to use the train daily, some by preference, but most by compulsion, are becoming disgusted that there is no concerted action by those who should take up a matter of this kind.

We have lots of talk about streets, gutters, snow cleaning, garbage gathering and things of such character. Let's have a little less of this kind of stuff, and a little bit more on the subject that concerns probably 95% of the wage earners in town.

Yours very truly,

Nathan S. Beekly.

FREEHOLDERS WILL BUILD NEW HOME FOR NURSES

Lowest Bidder Forged To Sign Name But May Get Contract; Check Was O. K.

Last Friday's session of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders was a busy one.

Bids were opened for building a bridge, supplying road materials and erecting a home for nurses at the hospital for the insane, and the occasion was graced by the presence of two ladies from Moorestown who had come to witness the proceedings, representing the League of Women Voters of that town.

The ladies were Mrs. Howard Goodall and Miss Anna H. Grison. When he introduced the members of the board to the ladies, Freeholder Fisher ended by saying, "they have come to see how we conduct the business of the county and be a little more satisfied." And it must be said that the county officials behaved beautifully—every one—the freeholders, the county engineer and his assistant, the new solicitor—and even the clerk read his minutes and the other business of the meeting a little less swiftly and a little more distinctly for the benefit of the visitors.

All the punctilious niceties of parliamentary procedure were observed in the conduct of the day's business. It was a lovely day in every sense. When a pity some of the fair sex had not cast their spell and serenity over the hectic days early in 1925 when—but let the dead past bury its dead. It was a perfect day.

Howard Russ Presides

Director Russ looked very fatherly and imposing as he presided back of the desk at the end of the room, and conducted the meeting with much dignity and decorum. Genial Charlie Stout smiled and beamed. Lloyd Wright wore that imperturbable countenance for which he is noted. Fred Lippincott was in his element, calmly, self-possessed, recently elected, was just a little conscious of his new position, but withal, alert, judicious, observant.

The meeting opened with the reading of a communication from the State Highway Commission containing the good news that the State would give $30,000 toward the completion of the unfinished portion of Church Road. This was followed by another letter approving the specifications for 270,000 gallons of slow-curing oil for use of the County Department of Roads.

Several bids were received for the building of the new home for nurses at the Burlington County Tuberculosis Hospital, New Lisbon. The bids indicated that the general construction will cost about sixteen thousand dollars.

The highest bidder was Charles Moore, who wants $17,350 for the job. William Cook, $17,183; Joseph E. Kolster, $16,200; T. G. Clatts $14,000. The lowest bidder was John Troth, who figured he could do the work for $12,500.

There is some doubt as to whether the Troth bid will stand. He failed to sign his proposal, although he did not overlook the necessary certified check. The bid has been referred to the county solicitor for an opinion as to its legality.

For the plumbing work at the home Joseph Jones bid $2,900; Edgar Gandy $1,613; and Albert Ellis $1,600.

Three proposals were received for the heating work, J. Edgar Gandy, $1,537; George D. Worrell, $1,380; Albert Ellis, $1,000. Ernest A. Millikan bid $250 for the electrical work.

All of the home bids were referred to Director Russ, head of the county buildings department, who will confer with the Tuberculosis Hospital Commission and report at the adjourned meeting of the county board this Friday.

Road Materials

Much other business had to do with awarding contracts for road materials. The Headley Good Roads Company was given the contract for light cut black asphalt at eighteen cents a gallon f. o. b., and for heavy cut black asphalt at seventeen cents a gallon f. o. b.

Slow curing oil went to the Asphalt Service Company at .0875 per gallon applied, and cold and hot tar went to Theasore Tisholt at 15.4 and 16.4 cents a gallon applied. Lignum H. B. went to Maurice Young for .134 per gallon.

The broken stone contract went to the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company, Lambertville, for $1.35, $1.55 and $1.60 a ton for broken stone of different sizes. The Philadelphia Slag Company got the slag contract at one dollar per ton. The National Supply Company, of Holly, was awarded the pebble contract at seventy cents a ton.

All the bids were awarded with the condition that they are approved by the State Highway Commission. The resolution giving the contracts were presented by Charles R. Stout, head of the road department, in each instance. Mr. Stout was more than pleased with the contracts. He said that the terms were very favorable to the county.

Income Tax Rate Reduced

Increase in Exemptions Also Cuts Burden on Taxpayer;
Suggestions Offered

Your income tax for the year 1925 is less, in proportion to your income, than was the tax for 1924. A rate reduction, however, is not the only benefit afforded by the revenue act of 1925. Increase in the exemptions and other changes in revenue legislation are of immediate interest to every taxpayer.

The revenue act of 1925 requires that returns be filed by every single person whose net income for 1925 was $1,500 or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and by every married couple whose aggregate net income was $3,500 or more, or whose aggregate gross income was $5,000 or more. Last year returns were required of married couples whose aggregate net income was $2,500 or more, and of single persons whose net income was $1,000 or more. Husband and wife, living together, may include the income of each in a single joint return, or each may file a separate return showing the income of each. Net income is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc.

The period for filing returns ends March 15, 1926, the return accompanied by at least one-fourth of the amount of tax due, must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or his principal place of business.

1926 Exemptions

The exemptions under the revenue act of 1925 are $1,500 for single persons and $3,500 for married persons living together and heads of families. In addition a $400 credit is allowed for each person depending upon and receiving his chief support from the taxpayer, if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The normal tax rate under the revenue act of 1925 is 1 1/2 per cent. on the first $4,000 of net income, in excess of personal exemptions, credit for dependent etc., 3 per cent. on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent. on the balance. Under the preceding act the normal tax rate was 2 per cent. on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions and credit; 4 per cent. on the next $4,000 and 6 per cent. on the remaining net income.

All net income up to $5,000 is considered "earned net income." On this amount the taxpayer is entitled to a credit of 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax.

For example, a taxpayer unmarried and with no dependents, whose net income for 1925 was $5,000, would pay without this reduction a tax of $52.50. His actual tax is $39.37. From his net income of $5,000, he is allowed a personal exemption of $1,500; the tax of 1 1/2 per cent. on the remaining $3,500 is $52.50. One fourth of this amount, or $13.13, may be deducted.

Earned Net Income

For the purpose of computing this credit, in no case is the earned net income considered to be in excess of $20,000. Under the revenue act of 1924 the earned net income was considered not to be in excess of $10,000.

The term "earned net income" is defined as "wages, salaries, professional fees and other amounts received for personal services actually rendered."

If you are single and support in your home one or more persons closely related to you and over whom you exercise family control, you are the head of a family and entitled under the revenue act of 1925 to the same personal exemption allowed a married person, $3,500. In addition, a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each child dependent upon him for chief support. If such person is either under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. Such dependent need not be a member of the taxpayer's household. For example, an unmarried son who supports in his home an aged mother is entitled to a credit of $2,500 plus a $400 credit for a dependent, a total of $2,900. If from choice the mother lives in another city, the son, although her chief support, would be entitled only to the $1,500 exemption, plus the $400 credit. The mother not living with him, he is not considered the head of a family.

Head of Family

An exemption as the head of a family can be claimed by only one member of a household.

The $400 credit does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

The revenue act of 1925 provides that the status of a taxpayer relative to the amount of his personal exemptions shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family.

For example, a couple married on September 30, 1925, would be entitled to an exemption of $3,125; that is, 9-12 of $1,500 for the husband while single, plus 9-12 of $1,500 for the wife while single, plus 3-12 of $3,500 for the period during which they were married.

Discontinued Support

If on June 30, a taxpayer ceased being the head of a family, the support in one household of a relative or relative being discontinued, he is allowed an exemption of $2,500. A credit of the exemption of $1,500 granted a single person plus a credit of the exemption of $2,500 granted the head of a family. With regard to the $400 credit for a dependent, the taxpayer's status is determined as of the last day of the taxable year. If, during the year, his support of such dependent ceased, he is not entitled to this credit.

7. Making out his income tax for the year 1925 the business man, professional man, and farmer is entitled to use form 1040, regardless of whether his net income was or was not in excess of $5,000. The earlier form 1040 A is used for reporting income of $5,000 or less derived chiefly from salaries or wages.

Forms have been sent to persons who last year filed returns at income. Failure to receive form, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax within the time prescribed, on or before March 15, 1926. Copies of the forms may be obtained from offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, Sept. 15, and December 15.

Items to be Included

The taxpayer must include in his income-tax return for the year 1925 all items of gross income specified by law. In the case of a storekeeper, gross income usually consists of gross profits on sales, together with income from other sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. The professional man, lawyer, doctor, dentist, must include all fees and other compensation received from professional services. The farmer must report as gross income the proceeds of sales or exchange of products raised on the farm or whether purchased by him and resold. He must report also gross income from all other sources, such as rentals or profits from the sale of farm lands.

Net income, upon which the tax is assessed, is gross income less certain deductions for business, expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc. To take full advantage of the deductions to which entitled taxpayers should read carefully the instructions on the form under the heading of "Income from business or profession."

ORDER RECALLS TRIP OF FIRST VIRGINIANS

Founding of Knights of Golden Horseshoe.

Among old Virginia legends none perhaps is so romantically interesting as the tale of the founding of the Order of the Knights of the Golden Horseshoe. In Virginia, in the eighteenth century, Alexander Spotswood, governor of the state, created the order when, acting in the place of the earl of Orkney, he presented the colonists of his "Xenotomian Expedition" each with a small golden horseshoe set with jewels and bearing the motto, "Sic Invenit Transcendere Montes."

The expedition was got together by Governor Spotswood, who conceived the project of marching with a party of genial companions over the Blue Ridge mountains to the unknown land, which was then supposed to abound with wild animals and which was also supposed to be the source of the great Mississippi. His eagerness, bitten by the urge of discovery, sent invitations to a number of his friends to accompany him, cautioning them to have their riding horses carefully shod. The entire party included about fifty, and these were accompanied by pack-horses, abundantly supplied with choice provisions, and, naively adds the chronicler, "an extraordinary variety of liquors." The pack animals carried tents and at night these were unrolled and set up. Then the fun would begin. Venison and bear meat, the result of the day's sport, were roasted at great fires; the provisions and liquors would be brought out. The latter embraced "Virginia red and white wine, brandy, shrub champagne, Irish usquebaugh, two kinds of rum, canary, cherry punch and cider."

Finally, the intrepid party reached the headwaters of the Rapidan; then, setting out again, reached the summit of the Blue Ridge mountains. Here they looked backward and forward at the superb view—the very first time seen by Anglo-Saxon eyes. At this spot the whole party, we are told, drank the health of King George I and the separate healths of every member of the royal family.

Here Spotswood and his horsemen pitched camp on the western slope and crossed the mountain. The western bank was the extreme limit of their march. Here they camped a few days and then they prepared to retrace their steps across the mountains. Before doing so, however, they determined to celebrate the occasion with a grand banquet.

A little golden horseshoe, set with garnets, is nearly all that remains to recall that gay little incident in Virginia history.—Detroit News.

Vessel for Arctic

Whether it is possible to build a steel vessel that can withstand the pressure of ice packs in the Arctic ocean sufficiently to replace the cutter Bear is a lively topic among coast guard men on the Pacific this winter. The Bear, wintering in San Francisco after her thirty-seventh summer cruise into the Alaskan Arctic in the coast guard, was constructed of thick oak in Greenock, Scotland, in 1874. With $225,000 appropriated by congress, it has been proposed to replace the Bear, following next summer's cruise, with a twin-propelled steel vessel. The designers declare no steel vessel can stand heavy ice pressure, because the metal will first bend and then break. They also predict that the ice will quickly rip off one or both of the exposed twin propellers.

Same Today

Canon Hannay, known to fiction as George A. Birmingham, maintains that nowadays the most dramatic sermons are preached in Ireland. A friend of his heard a preacher in a Connaught village expatiating on the terrors of hell.

"The lions will roar at you," he told his congregation. "The oris will howl at you, and the hyenas will laugh you to scorn."

Another Irish preacher, having described how Jacob painted her face, her head and looked out of the window at John, remarked:

"And would you believe it, the bunny was high on sixty years of age."

Musical "clinics" were conducted recently in Geneva and Uster, N. Y., by the chief of the State educational measurement bureau and the State supervisor of music in cooperation with the local school superintendents and supervisors of music. The purpose of the clinics was to acquaint supervisors and teachers with recent measurement tests for measuring the individual progress by group without interference with normal home life.

Janitor Suicide Over Coal Worry

Columbus School Employee Hangs Himself Because of Heating Difficulty

Residents of Columbus and vicinity were shocked recently to learn of the sudden and tragic death of Augustus Hill, a respected citizen and janitor of the public school of that village, a position he had filled for several years, when it became known that he had committed suicide by hanging himself in the loft of the school.

Mr. Hill was most conspicuous in his effort to give his best service in fulfilling the duties of his position. During the present time of fuel shortage he had been greatly bothered by the difficulties he had in trying to heat the building with soft coal and it had been his custom to go to the school during the severe weather at three o'clock in the morning to stir up his fires and keep them in good shape.

On Saturday, February 26, he did not go home for dinner and his daughter, becoming alarmed over his absence, went to the school house for him, but was unable to get into the building. She then summoned Mr. Frenchie, the district clerk of the Board of Education, and he accompanied her to the school and searched the premises, but found no trace of the missing man, until others suggested that someone look into the loft. Howard Schadle climbed up, and with the aid of a flash light discovered the man's body hanging from the rafters with life extinct.

Coroner Rogers, of Bordentown, was sent for, viewed the body and issued a burial certificate. Later a note in Hill's handwriting was found to his daughter, was found on the desk in the teacher's room. In this the deceased stated his body would be found in the loft and desiring his property to his daughter, Miss Ada Hill, prayed to God to forgive his act.

Mr. Hill had been in ill health for some time and the extra effort he was putting forth to overcome the heating problem at the school is thought to have affected his mind and caused his rash act. He was a member of Columbus Baptist church and well-liked by everyone, young and old, and the residents of the village sympathize greatly with his daughter.

CHANGE AT TAUBEL'S

A. L. Wilson Succeeds Mr. Robertson as General Superintendent

Robert Robertson, General Manager of William F. Taubel's Riverside hockey plant, and Milton Kloier, Mr. Robertson's assistant, have both severed their connection with the company and A. L. Wilson has been appointed General Superintendent.

Mr. Wilson has been identified with the Taubel organization since 1917, previous to which he spent five years with the Scott Company in New York, selling Taubel products. He was connected with the Riverside plant from 1917 to 1923 at which time he was transferred to Reading. In 1923 he returned to Riverside, becoming superintendent of the plant, and the local plant. He has now been appointed General Superintendent beginning March 1.

It is reported that the Riverside plant is entering upon a period of greater activity than it has known for several years.

My Husband Says

That every time a caller says, "What a handsome cat!" Tiddlywinks starts washing himself.

Mrs. Arch says that her Willie is just like that, too. When she asks him to rectify one of his pieces for company he puts his thumb in his mouth and looks adoringly at her. He is actually clever, even if he does look like his father's side of the house.

My husband says they shave Willie's head so far in the back that it looks like a tack and he had rather have him put his thumb in his mouth than hear him expound an extract from the world's best literature.—L. B. B. in Kansas City Star.

Poor Old Dad

Jack—Father recently undertook to learn to drive the car. We all tried to dissuade him, but with characteristic fixity of purpose he adhered to his decision. And he has succeeded fairly well, although the trials of traffic have told on his nerves more or less. For instance, we had to take the alarm clock away from him. When it went off the other morning he thought it was a traffic signal sounding, and nearly kicked the foot off the bed trying to find the brake.—Yvonne.

Magnetism

The bureau of standards says that magnetism is a condition and not a thing. When you stretch an elastic band its condition is changed, but you do not add anything to it. When released the elastic band returns to its former condition. The electric current in the winding of an electromagnet causes a change in condition of the space near it. When the current stops the space returns to its original condition. It is not proper, therefore, to say that the magnetism goes anywhere.

Women May Be Intellectual Though Married

How may an educated woman live a normal life as wife and mother and at the same time maintain her intellectual activity, professional or otherwise? To aid in the solution of this question, Smith College, Northampton, Mass., has established an institute for the coordination of women's interests, to be known as "Three Years with the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation." The study will be approached from two directions: How women may, by the elimination of wasteful occupations in the home, reduce to essential the duties of home-keeping; and to discover methods of so modifying technical training for the professions that new subdivisions of professional work may be made which will be adapted to part-time employment of women or carried into the home without interference with normal home life.

Why One Good Fellow Has Turned Pessimist

The incident which really brought me a firm conviction that the good-fellow theory is the bunk," writes a correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, "occurred while driving from Lansdale to Philadelphia one snowy night last winter."

"I was making fair progress through the drifting snow when I came upon a large automobile on its side in a ditch. In the street stood a well-dressed and evidently prosperous man. He was visibly excited and asked if I could help him."

"I told him that I had passed some telephone lines on a short way back and would return and ask their help. They gladly consented to drive down the road to the assistance of the motorist."

"With their aid we soon had the car on the road again and, thinking that the man would be more than grateful for their aid, I took from my pocket $3 which I handed to them with, 'Here, boys, take this for your trouble.' He saw we had them the money, but did not say anything."

"The men left and I got into his car to start the engine. Finally everything was ready and we moved the car off. I stopped the car to allow him to take his place at the wheel, and he said to me: 'Please get out and see if that tumble strained my back wheels.'"

"I got from the car and walked to the rear of the machine. As I was looking at the wheels he stepped on the gas and disappeared in a whirl of snow. I have never seen him since."

Report Ghost Walks in Scottish Church

The ghost of a church officer, who died years ago, walks at night in Falkirk church, according to the present church officer and the organist. The officer declared that when alone in the church at night he has frequently heard the shuffling of feet and the sound of a yawn, both of which were peculiar to his predecessor. The organist asserts that he heard a voice in a weary tone exclaim, "Och, ay, he hurried to the window, shouting, 'Who's there?' But after putting on all the lights he could detect no one. On another evening, the organist says, his attention was directed to the gallery, where he distinctly observed an old man shuffling with weary gait. Despite a minute search, however, no trace of anyone could be found. When the news of these happenings leaked out a member of the congregation reported that during the World War, when soldiers were accommodated in the church, he encountered a soldier who, looking grimly at his rifle with bayonet fixed, all the soldiers were searching feverishly in dark corners for someone whom they declared they had heard moving about, but could not see.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Simply Had to Wait

Entering her sitting room one evening, a woman saw one of her curtains ablaze, it having come in contact with a gas jet.

She called to the cook for a pail of water, but the latter did not arrive on the scene until the man of the house had rushed in, torn down the curtain and stamped out the flame.

"Why didn't you hurry?" they asked the cook.

"Hurry?" she repeated. "Wasn't I hurrying as fast as I could? I had hot water in the pail to throw out, and then get some cold water. You didn't want me to come in and throw hot water on the fire and make it worse, did you?"

"Florida water" is still selling by the ounce everywhere except in Florida. It is selling by the front foot there.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DALLEY TO DANCE

Riverton Student in Chorus of "Mask and Wig Show"

L. R. Dalley, of Riverton, has been selected as a member of the second dancing chorus of "A Mask and Wig Show" or "Glory! What Prices," the 1926 production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dalley was one of twelve men to be chosen for the second chorus out of several hundred applicants. So many students contended for positions this year that the Committee on Production of the Mask and Wig Club has decided to augment the usual two choruses with an additional chorus, making the total company for the current production one of 65 members.

"A Mask and Wig Show" is held in the days of the pre-revolutionary blockade of the Colonies and has for its scene the Island of Nantucket. The plot revolves around the machinations of one Miriam Coffin, a female professor, who is in league with the British commander of the blockade, and who from this point of vantage is able to bleed the citizens of the village to her own benefit. She is finally discovered by an enterprising young villager, who saves his fellow citizens from poverty and marries the step-daughter of the villainess.

The Mask and Wig Show of the University is probably the best known collegiate dramatic production in the country, and each year covers a wide literary. This year performances will be given in Reading, Pa., Lancaster, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Pa., Washington, D. C., Wilmington, Del., Atlantic City, N. J., New York City and a solid two weeks run in the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia. This is the first time that any college dramatic organization has filled a metropolitan theatre for so long an engagement, a fact which attests to the popularity of the Mask and Wig performances.

Dalley is a senior in the chemical engineering course at the University and was recently elected a member of the Sigma Tau Honorary Scientific Fraternity.

ONE FARM ENGINE DOES EVERYTHING

It is now a rare thing to find a farm where there is not a gas engine to help with the chores. Often, however, we find a gas engine which has been discarded because it was not quite suitable for the work. The engine may still be good. This represents a real loss, because the engine has value which is not being converted into useful and profitable service. Possibly the engine is too small or of an undesirable type for other work.

On selecting an engine, says the agricultural engineer at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, the various duties it will have to perform should first be listed. For instance, pumping water, running a milking machine or cream separator, sawing wood, or furnishing power in the farm shop.

Frequently, all these may be done with one engine. If the operations are not too widely separated the engine may be permanently mounted on a concrete base with a line shaft to reach all the machines. Then an engine of five or six horsepower is more economical than two or three engines of two or three horsepower. The very slight difference in cost of running this engine on light loads is more than offset by the saving in investment in so many engines.

Credits earned in approved evening high school of New Jersey will be recognized hereafter in meeting requirements for entrance by professional schools and colleges in New York and Pennsylvania in accordance with reciprocal agreements recently made by the State Board of Education of New Jersey with the State Departments of Instruction of New York and Pennsylvania.

Believing that possession of autos by students is detrimental to scholarship, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, requests that prospective students who feel it necessary to bring an automobile to college shall select another institution.

THE QUESTION BOX

According to Hoyle

M. S. Palmyra—How is the joker to be played in a "no-trump" hand at the game of Five Hundred?

Ans.—According to Hoyle, in a no-trump bid at Five Hundred the joker is a suit by itself, and is a trump; but the holder of the joker cannot trump with it while he is able to follow suit. If he has the joker in his hand and has no suit of the card led he is privileged to either throw away or trump with the joker as he may like.

Niagara Falls Dry

C. S. Riverton—Last week a traveling man gave me a guide book to Niagara Falls. In it the statement is made that in the year 1848 the falls ran dry. Can you tell me the reason for this?

Ans.—The winter of 1847-48 was extremely severe in this country. Heavy ice formed in Lake Erie, and when it broke in the spring it not only jammed the entrance to Niagara River but for a time Lake Erie had no outlet. The result was that on March 29 the falls were practically dry.

Not in Their Alphabet

Students, Bryn Mawr—A Chinaman here when talking sounds the letter "H" when the letter "C" should be. Can you explain that?

Ans.—The Chinese have no letter "C" in their alphabet and it is impossible for them to make the sound of "C". But in their attempt to do so, they get an "H".

"Adam's Apple"

L. J. Cinnaminson—Why do they call that lump on a man's throat "Adam's Apple"?

Ans.—There is a fable that when Eve gave Adam the forbidden apple it stuck in his throat and hence the name "Adam's apple" is applied to the enlarged cartilage in the throat.

Russia Lost the Most

C. V. Riverton—Which country lost the most men in the World War—France, Russia or Great Britain?

Ans.—Russia lost the most, 1,700,000; Germany next with 1,600,000; and France third with 1,400,000.

Table Etiquette

C. B. Cambridge—Is it proper to cut with a knife if it is the easiest way? Also is it proper to reach for food with a fork?

Ans.—A knife should not be inserted in the mouth under any circumstances. Do not place your fork in anything on the table except in your private food. If necessary to reach for anything do so with your fingers and not your fork.

Good English

Interested, East Riverton—Will you please answer in your question column which expression is correct, "a setting hen" or "a sitting hen"? Also which pulls the easier, a bob or a wad?

Ans.—"A sitting hen" is correct. You "set" a hen, but the hen is sitting. Ordinarily the bob sled pulls easier, dependent altogether on the amount of resistance offered by friction.

FIND STOLEN RINGS

Pittenger Robbery Recalled When Jewel Casket Is Found in Cellar

Shortly before Christmas the home of Harry C. Pittenger, Linden and Midway, was broken into while the family was in Florida. A sister of Mrs. Pittenger discovered the robbery one day while in Riverton to play golf. A search of the premises at the time did not reveal anything to be missing, but as the family did not come home, the sister could not be sure that nothing was gone.

Most folks had forgotten all about the robbery, when it was recalled to mind on Monday by the finding of a jewel casket in the shape of a little silver trunk, containing three rings, a lodge button and a store coin for 10¢.

The boys, Robert Hahn, John Geiss, Paul and Robert Gust, were playing about the yard when they spied something bright in one of the "subway" cellar windows. They turned their head over to Officer Walter Miller.

LADIES LOSE; MEN WIN

Riverton's Bowling Team Vastly Outnumbered the Ladies at Royal Time

On Monday evening, March 1, the Riverton Country Club sent their ladies' and men's bowling teams to the Cynwyd Club. The matches were very interesting and close. The Riverton ladies lost out after a hard fight, losing the odd game by 30 pins, and as no lady on our team averaged under 125, we felt they did as well as we hoped. Miss E. Ayres bowled very well with an average of 153. H. S. Coe had an average of 173 and R. Elliott, 172. Both teams were entertained at dinner.

According to reliable information, the epidemic of illness which many are suffering has symptoms of influenza.

The lighter cases, pronounced grippe, are said to be much similar to the slight attacks of the dreaded "flu" and the pneumonia diagnosis is the disease in the more serious stages. Whether this information is absolutely correct or not, the widespread attacks of the grippe should be sufficient to excite the greatest amount of precaution in regard to one's health.

According to reports, the hospitals are crowded with grippe and pneumonia patients and everyone should exercise extreme care and not take any unnecessary risks.

Red Hair Distinctive Mark of Famous 'Vamps'

Skin pale as elder blossoms, green eyes, and red hair; there you have the up-to-date vamp, writes Mrs. Stanley Wrench in the London Evening News.

All sorts of legends and traditions explain why red hair has usually been looked upon with distrust. The Danes who conquered England were reputed to have red hair, and the fair-haired Saxons hated the color. Even among the old Greek myths we find the Medusa, the terrible Gorgon, had crisp red locks, which afterward were changed to hissing serpents.

But when we leap onward and reach the pages of Homer we find that the immortal Helen of Troy, the most beautiful woman in the world, had red hair, and surely here we discover the secret of the red-haired mix; for although Helen's name has passed down to us right through the centuries as the most radiant being the world has ever seen, she was siren and temptress, too.

The ten years' war, distress and desolation, yet most vividly of all we remember that scene on the walls of Troy when Helen met the old men, and their hearts grew weak as water as they gazed at her and her beauty. Curses died away. Red-haired beauty won.

Cleopatra, "serpent of old Nile," had red hair. She was not beautiful; indeed, authorities declare her to be quite plain, even snub-nosed, but she had red hair, and won Mark Antony, prince of lovers, whose sole thought was to please the Egyptian siren.

Queen Elizabeth must have thought red hair becoming, for it is said she wore a red wig when she wished to look at her best; the ill-fated but lovely Mary Queen of Scots is reputed to have had red hair; and we know that Laura, whom Rembrandt has immortalized by his verses, first attracted him by her red tresses.

"Red hair, hot temper," runs an old Midland saying; indeed, it seems to be generally acknowledged that red-haired folk have fiery tempers.

Devices to Aid Deaf
Some day our specialists may fit patients with instruments suited to their particular form of deafness, just as eye specialists now fit glasses to patients with eye troubles. A first step toward this distant goal has been taken in the attempt to standardize the many hearing devices now on the market. A survey of these devices is being made by a committee of the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing with the cooperation of the United States Bureau of Standards, which will test instruments submitted to it and will render a confidential report to the members of the committee. Dr. Wendell C. Phillips, president-elect of the American Medical Association, and chairman of the federation committee on research, has said that there are more than seventy-five varieties of hearing aids on the market, and that they vary greatly.

Albert E. Knecht, of Pear Street, has resigned his position with Brown, Grossly and Company, Philadelphia insurance brokers, to accept a position with the Asst. Casualty and Surety Company. Mr. Knecht has been selected for executive training and will spend a short time in each of the Company's offices over the entire country. He will be located at Hartford, Conn., for the next six months.

Dr. Lamb Again

Writes of Trip

Tells of Journey Through New Mexico, Arizona and California

Dr. R. H. Lamb has written a fourth letter to the New Era Press, as follows:

For The Press:
After leaving El Paso the railroad crosses the Rio Grande River and enters New Mexico which has an area of 122,580 square miles and in 1930 had a population of 360,350 which represents less than three inhabitants to the square mile.

This country is now believed by the tourist who makes a transit through the state, for the signs of human life are very scarce in proportion to the vast plains passed over in solitude. The northern portion of the state is now irrigated by means of the Roosevelt Dam, which renders it a fertile region where vegetation is enabled to flourish and people to live in comfort, but to undertake to live in such a barren region as exists in the southern portion among sage bushes and cacti, with no human habitation in sight, and no social intercourse with people, would be enough to drive me to drink. I think if I had to live there I would echo the sentiments of Alexander Selkirk.

"Oh Solitude where is thy charm. That poets and sages have seen in thy face?"

It is better to dwell in the midst of alarm.

Likes Ocean Better
A hermit's life has never appealed to me, nor have I ever seen any attractive features about a desert. The ever changing sea affords much greater variety and attraction than a landscape of monotonous existence.

Man is by nature a social animal and unless he can associate with his fellow man he cannot get much conception of just what life means for there are so many phases of it until he comes in contact with various types and conditions his mental vision is obscured and dwarfed to very limited proportions.

The more we see of the world and its inhabitants the better able are we to comprehend the complexity of human life. I have heard of a woman who said that the more she saw of men the better she liked dogs. We do not all see things from the same standpoint as matters of opinion.

A ride across the vast plains of New Mexico and Arizona is of interest to anyone who is accustomed to live in a thickly settled country. It seems like being out of doors in earnest, something like a bird loosed from a cage. It evokes meditation and serves other useful purposes. It might be a good place in which to recover from a mental strain of a strenuous existence has shattered the nervous system. It would afford a grand site for a sanitarium in which such nervous wrecked people could rest and secure to perfection in these latter days when the hostile Apache has gone to his happy hunting ground and left his desolate region as serene as the setting sun where all nature is lulled by the caresses of the tranquil stars, but it certainly requires a substantial nerve to face the vicissitudes of the Great American Desert in the days gone when the desert was drawn by horses were the means of conveyance.

A Hardship of Pioneer
A couple of three generations ago thousands of weary worn travelers trekked across these desolate plains, lured by the quest for gold and many of them left their bones to whiten in the sun after their having been picked clean by famished coyotes and jackals. It is difficult to say what hardships people will not endure in order to obtain gold. Certainly Indian war whoops and scalping knives did not deter them from crossing this continent under great danger and difficulties.

Since those primitive days, the earth has been touched by the magic wand of science and the iron horse now winds his tiresome way over mountain tops and through subterranean tunnels toward the land of the setting sun, conveying his human freight in like time and ease and luxury. While speeding through Arizona desert lands an Englishman seated by my side remarked to me, "Did you ever see a more desolate and worthless piece of country as this?" I admitted that it was pretty bum in appearance but I suggested it was all due to the fact that there is an insufficiency of rainfall and that in all probability future generations more or less remote will find some way of rendering it fertile by means of Artesian wells or some other device and that it will then be a garden instead of a desert. He said, "By that time perhaps the human family will have reached the point when it will not require food." I could have in my own cockney dialect replied, "what's the heck so they are 'appy."

It is highly amusing to hear how the English people mutilate and distort the English language. I have heard of a newly arrived Englishman with his three sons walking up the street of New York and seeing a stuffed eagle in a taxidermist shop window, one of the boys remarked, "See that bird?" One of his brothers said, "No that's not an En it's an Awe." The other brother then spoke up and said, "It's neither an En nor an Awe it's a Howl." Then their father spoke with authority and attempted to straighten them all out by saying, "No, you are all wrong for its neither an En nor an Awe nor a howl but its a heasel the emblem of the Country."

The Imperial Valley
At Yuma on the main Southern Pacific line I switched off on to the San Diego and Arizona F. R. that terminates at San Jacinto and runs through the famous Imperial Valley and Carlsbad Gorge which are in California close to the Mexican border. In the Imperial Valley which is considerably below sea level the wonderful results of irrigation are to be seen. $69,498 acres there are under the highest state of cultivation and producing cotton, oranges, celery, cantaloupes and various kinds of fruits and vegetables that find their way to the eastern markets.

At this season of the year it is a veritable Garden of Hesperides where according to Grecian Mythology there grew apples of gold for the orange trees are hanging heavily laden with their golden fruit, but in the summer time it is more like the fabled Hades we hear so much about but seldom if ever see.

I understand that the temperature rises there sometimes to 120 degrees and the climate is almost intolerable.

The Carrizo Gorge is along the road and which winds up in, and about through deep ravine tunnels on toward the distant sea, affording a ride of very great beauty something like the Grand Canyon of Colorado.

San Diego Beautiful
The R. R. Crosses the border in and out of Mexico four times between Yuma and San Diego. This beautiful city, situated at the southern extremity of California, only seventeen miles from Mexico is a thriving and rapidly growing place of a hundred and twenty thousand people. It has doubled its population during the last ten years and is in a fair way of again doubling it during the next ten years. It has many natural advantages that will tend towards a rapid increase of population, the principal one of which is its agreeable and salubrious climate. The winters are mild and summers are cool.

The highest and lowest temperature on average winter days is 62 and 46 degrees. In summer there is a mean temperature of 72 degrees in the day time and 64 at night. The temperature of January is 54 degrees which is only 14 degrees lower than July. There are no cold waves nor winter storms and very few rainy days. The surrounding country is undulating and very picturesque. There is a verdure and beauty above the landscape that is truly charming. Semi tropical vegetation flourishes the year round. It is a city of delightful homes inhabited by a very good class of people and I believe it will increase in popularity as the years roll on. It has a beautiful land-locked harbor to attract Naval base. It has a good water supply, good roads, good docking facilities and is growing in commercial importance at a rapid rate. I believe it has a wonderful future before it.

THEO M. D'AUSTRICHY

Theo M. D'Autrichy, 48 years old, died at his home, 11 New Jersey avenue, Palmyra, Thursday morning of last week. Mr. D'Autrichy had been ill at his home during the past four months with a complication of diseases.

The deceased, who moved to Palmyra with his family fourteen years ago, was vice-president of the Penn Oil and Naval Stores Company, Philadelphia.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen D'Autrichy, and eight children. Theo, Jr., of Horace Avenue; Elmer, of Hillcrest; Helen, at home; James, of West Broad street; and Elizabeth, Joseph, William and Jeanette, all at home.

Funeral services were held with high religious mass at Sacred heart Church, Riverton, Monday morning. Interment was made in Calvary Cemetery, Camden.

Twelve invalid children of Washington School District, Hartford, Conn., receive in their homes the same course of instruction as the children in the regular graded school. A teacher visits the invalids regularly two or three times a week, and each child progresses individually according to his capacity, mental and physical.

Creation of a junior college as a part of the public school system of Washington, D. C. is contemplated in a joint resolution recently introduced in the Senate of the United States. A similar resolution was introduced simultaneously in the House of Representatives.

ARAB SEES BEAUTY IN DESERT WASTES

Luxury World Offers Him No Attraction for Him.

The traveler in Arabia is impressed first with the desolation of the landscape, says Paul W. Harrison in "The Arab at Home." The desert, which is the real home of the Arab, includes practically the whole of the peninsula except the two southern corners and the western edge, where low mountain ranges take its place. It is for the most part a plateau rising to a height of some 125 feet above the sea and more than that in its western part. It is not a uniform expanse of sand, as popular imagination pictures it. By far the greater part is rocky, and there is a certain amount of good arable soil. The feature that distinguishes the desert and gives it its particular characteristics is its aridity. During the winter and spring there may be as much as three to six inches of rainfall. For the remainder of the year there is none.

The rocky plains stretch from horizon to horizon. Sometimes the landscape is dead flat; sometimes rolling, as in our western prairies in the vicinity of a great river. For some hours the traveler from the coast on inland Arabia passes over a great rocky plain which is quite black. From a distance the imagination pictures it as an immense asphalt roof covering some inferno of heat underneath, but once reached it is found so solid that it seems rather as if the very framework of the earth has been upheaved to view. The crevices and irregularities are filled with yellow sand which at times almost obliterated the black foundation underneath.

Certain parts of the desert are vast expanses of sand, quite according to the popular imagination. It is a yellowish, cream-colored sand, and it drifts into great dunes, fifty feet high or more. And there are people who live in that desert, not travelers only, but permanent residents. They live there not merely during the spring when there is a little rain, but the year around. How can men live in a country like that? The well is the answer. The little green vegetation to be seen in the spring when the meager rains come soon dries down, and the inexperienced eye of the stranger would scarcely find it. Nevertheless, it is sufficient for goats and camels and perhaps sheep to graze upon it. Wells can be found in addition where they can be watered every evening. So it happens that the most precious things in Arabia are the wells. Caravan routes may be crooked, but the reason is never far to seek. . . . It is the well that is the essential thing. Wherever water can be secured, there men can live. It is not such a life as would be popular in America, but men live, and women live, and children live there, and love their desert with an unparalleled devotion. Transplanting to a real garden spot of the earth, they weep for a glimpse of their beloved desert.

The love of the desert is a very deep and a very beautiful thing. For political purposes one of these desert chiefs was urged to give up his residence in the open and arid desert and come to live in the town. The greater comfort and luxury to be found in the town were pointed out to him as contrasted with the hardships and loneliness of the desert, but the old chief did not see it that way. "In the town," he said, "I have no doubt that I shall find all the things which you describe, but out here in the desert I have my family and my goats, great distances and God."

Misjudged

The Marquis Henri de la Palaise, Gloria Swanson's husband, has opened a bookshop in New York. His popularity has increased in consequence. M. de la Palaise, discussing this increase in popularity, said the other day:

"When a titled foreigner marries an American girl with money the worst motives are imputed to him. It's like the little story:

"Sir, a young baron said to a Broadway banker, 'I have called to ask if you will give assent to my marriage.'"

"Not a cent! Boy, show this young man out!"

Muscular Prodigy

There are very many cases on record of infant prodigies, children who could play the piano at three, preach sermons at five, or deliver lectures on scientific subjects at seven. But cases of very early muscular development are much rarer. Russia has a wonder child born at Vladivostok six years ago, who has already the size and muscular strength of a full-grown man. He has a deep bass voice and a full-grown mustache and beard. In mind, however, he is still a child. There is a similar case recorded in English medical annals.

A "Miracle"

People in Alameda, believing that a miracle had taken place, have begun pilgrimages to a girl's grave, which, when opened recently, was found to contain only a handful of pearls and a rosary. An inquiry began immediately, and it was ascertained that the coffin, which had not been tampered with, was nailed down by a workman in the presence of an undertaker. A number of people recall the misery of the girl, which strengthens the prevalent belief that a miracle has happened.

A tourist lunch room at the State park at Interlachen, Mich., was maintained last summer by Michigan State College to demonstrate what can be accomplished by co-operation. The State highway department built an attractive log cabin, nearby farmers supplied fresh vegetables under an arrangement with the agricultural department of the college, and teachers and students prepared and served wholesome meals to tourists visiting the park.

Disarmament never will prove popular until it includes disarmament of the mind.

Coat of E. ck Velvet, Shirt, Gold Lame Cloth

This is said to be one of the latest ideas in sports regalia. The shirt is of gold lame cloth, and the coat of black velvet, trimmed with gold. The accompanying hat is of black satin, trimmed with ribbon. A pure of gold brocade gives the desired finish to the outfit.

Paris Favors Black; Vivid Colors on Wane

Paris has gone back to her allegiance to black. Not that she ever really frowned upon the code of black, but for a short time its supremacy was a bit threatened by the more vivid colors. Recently, however, the costume of black or black touched with white or a bit of contrasting color has been seen in sufficient numbers to make it worthy of much consideration. American women, generally speaking, have not taken to high collar with quite the same enthusiasm as the smart Parisienne but there is no doubt of their chic and no doubt that the woman who is alert to all the finer discriminations of the mode will include at least one, if not more, high-collared gown in her wardrobe.

In one frock there is a novel dash to add to the interest of the high collar and wide sleeves with their colorful appliques. The dash, very wide and placed at the normal waistline, extends all the way down the right side of the skirt. Fashioned of black repouche, the model boasts a novel collar and neckline and achieves a charmingly youthful aspect by motifs of brilliant colors which form a decoration on the sleeves.

Two-Piece Models Ideal for Sports, Resort Wear

The ingenuity displayed in the creation of two-piece models is truly amazing. Seemingly new ideas should have been exhausted, but each week witnesses the launching of a new variation of the jumper.

Frocks of this type are ideal for sports and resort wear. Recognizing that they may serve so many purposes, designers have shown much versatility in the type of materials used and in details of trimming. Rajah and shantung silks are among the materials which apparently are destined to be rivals of Chinese damask. Then there are several new woollens, as well as a number of interesting cotton fabrics which in weave and texture suggest wool.

Developed in one of the new materials is a frock which is a smart interpretation of the latest mode in frocks of the two-piece type. For the original costume, a rather brilliant shade of blue was chosen, and crepe de chine in the same shade forms an effective trimming on both jumper and wrap-around skirt. An interesting detail is the long tie through slashes.

Quilted Silks, Satins, Make Handsome Coats

Fine quilted silks and satins make very handsome coats for evening, afternoon and "occasional" wear. The practical model for this type of coat has straight lines, and it is invariably trimmed with fur. Many of the quilted coats for spring are made of taffeta in black, with ermine or white fox, and in beige, king's blue, or gray. French squirrel, sumner ermine and others of the short fur are used for trimming. Materials after treated to be made of quilted. A quilted coat just brought out is made of green-grown chamois—the kind we are accustomed to see in hangings and upholstery. It is lined with light tan hanks cloth and has a collar and narrow cuff bands of sumner squirrel matching the lining in color. Another coat of this imported quilted cotton is in a lovely shade of blue with collar and cuffs of white rabbit. It is a charming young girl's wrap.

A professional school for women has been established at LaPa by the Bolivian Government in response to a vigorous campaign conducted by women's clubs and societies. Its curriculum is designed to include all subjects which are necessary in home making and to enable a woman to maintain herself, if she is thrown upon her own resources. No public school of this kind has existed in Bolivia heretofore.—James S. Cottrill, American Minister.

The really hard thing is to be able to see whether it is opportunity at the end of the road or death.

Odd Combination Is Youth at Eighteen

Do you ever look back at yourself as you were at eighteen, and discover what an odd, unusual, admirable person you really were? It's worth doing, for you may be sure that the persons of eighteen with whom you are surrounded are examining you in the yellow light and wondering what's the use. I said as much to Cap'n Blitch the other day.

"When I was eighteen," he said, "I tried for hours before the looking glass in the spare room—that was before we had mirrors and guest chambers—to look bored. My one ambition was to be blasé. I do not remember from what novel I slipped this exciting life program, but I do recall that its hero was a tall, languid young man, usually intensely bored, but capable of enormous feats of energy."

The Cap'n said his mother tried to cure him of what she believed to be a physical ailment by sulphur and molasses. His father got him a job on the river. In that persuasive environment he forgot to be bored until it was too late.

"Since then," he said, "I've come to the conclusion that the person who is bored confesses to a mental incompetence. Or else some form of hood-wink. A live wire is never bored. No one who has anything to do, if it is only peeling potatoes, is ever bored unless he is unfitted for the job. The man who must be entertained in the one who has nothing inside his head-piece with which to do his own entertaining."

The Cap'n said that the author of the almost forgotten novel laid a great deal of stress upon the volcanic energy which his bored hero was able to release on occasion. This the Cap'n said, seemed to prove something or other, but in later years he learned to doubt.

"There ain't anything," said the Cap'n, "that can turn loose as many units of power to the footpound as a rat in a bathtub. But he doesn't get anywhere."—J. E. in Kansas City Star.

Swedes Breed Rare Foxes

Much interest is felt in the breeding of rare foxes. Recently 70 pairs of silver and blue foxes arrived in Stockholm to be transferred to the Norrland. The main expense in fox farms is fencing. The fence must extend at least nine feet under the surface of the earth to prevent the foxes from digging themselves free. Obviously some of the myriad islands around Scandinavia would be good sites for fox farms. There no fencing would be required. While there is a good market for good skins, the stock is expensive and when too many foxes are kept together they deteriorate rapidly. Silver foxes are very difficult to handle. The blue fox, on the other hand, is easy to breed, but its pelt is of much less value.

Tragic End

Lou E. Holland, president of the Advertising Clubs of the World, said in an advertising talk in Kansas City: "Humorous advertising sometimes pays, of course, but as a rule it reminds me of an Oriental story. 'Visser' roared the sultan, 'I advertised that, as I was getting in an entirely new stock, I would sell off my old harem at auction, but the sale was only attended by a lot of penniless women. Explain the failure if you can.'"

"It was that fool of an ad writer, Commander of the Faithful," said the vizier. "He headed all our ads, 'Grand Bargains in Bloomers.' Shall I order him the bowstring or the bastinado?"

From Experience?

Elmer Glyn said at a Hollywood tea:

"Young girls are too idealistic. They demand perfection. Well, perfection doesn't exist."

"A young girl and her young man rose from a dim seat in a conservatory. The breast of the young man's coat was white with perfumed powder."

"The girl was embarrassed, but he patted her hand and said: 'Never mind, darling; it will soon brush off.'"

"She burst into despairing sobs. 'Oh,' she wailed, 'how do you know?'"

If a man hits you on one cheek, let him strike the other also; after that proceed according to your own ideas.

Hotbed Is Help to Early Garden

Protection From Cold Winds and Warm Sunlight Is Important.

To have plants in time for the early garden hotbeds and cold frames may be used by the home gardener with good results. Both of these garden accessories are easily built with small expense.

Plans for Hotbeds. "January is the time to prepare the hotbed over most of the central South," says Robert Schmidt of the department of horticulture at North Carolina State college. "Place the hotbeds in a sheltered spot with a southern exposure. There they will be protected from the cold winds and will receive the warm sunlight. The cold frames should be handy to both the house and the garden, so that they can receive constant attention. The soil in and around the frames needs to be well drained."

Professor Schmidt states that a hotbed six by six feet will be large enough for the average garden. Stand and hotbed glass sash are three by six feet and can be bought or made at home.

Heating Material. Fresh manure containing about one-third straw litter makes the best heating material for the hotbed. The manure must first be piled up under a shed until it begins to heat and should be turned each two or three days until the whole mass is heating evenly. The pit in which it is placed should be about eighteen inches deep. Pack in the manure to within about four inches from the top and then build the frame out of inch boards to fit over the pit.

Do not put in the seeds until the first heating is over and the temperature has fallen to about 85 or 90 degrees, advises Professor Schmidt. Some moisture must also be added. The cold frame is made in about the same way as the hotbed except that no heating material is needed. This frame is used to harden off plants from the hotbed before setting them in the open garden. The frame should be covered with a light canvas or heavy muslin.

Proper Food and Light Are Poultry Essentials

Feeds containing vitamin A, and arrangements for direct sunlight to utilize the vital ultra-violet ray are as necessary part of the poultry farm equipment as chicken houses and pens, experiments of recent years at the Kansas State Agricultural college under the direction of the poultry husbandry department and Dr. J. S. Hughes of the chemistry department have shown. To prevent roup, according to Doctor Hughes, the flock must be fed such things as yellow corn, alfalfa hay, or green leaves—foods which contain vitamin A. Weak legs in growing chicks can be cured by treatment with ultra-violet light either from direct sunlight or from the quartz tube mercury vapor arc lamp. Foods rich in vitamin D also are a corrective for this condition.

All Under-Age Workers Attend Continuation Schools. Nearly 500 New Jersey boys and girls employed in New York City are compelled this year to attend continuation school for four hours a week. A tuition fee of $2 a month is charged. The continuation school law of New Jersey requires attendance of children until 16 years of age; in New York the maximum is 17, or completion of the high-school course. It was found that, as a consequence many employers in the city, to avoid the inconveniences of such attendance by the workers were giving the preference to 16-year people at New Jersey. To prevent this discrimination the New York State education law will be applied impartially to all under-age workers.

50th Anniversary of the Telephone

Bell System Will Celebrate Birthday of Great Invention on March 10

The fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the telephone will be observed on Wednesday, March 10, by some 322,000 men and women in the service of the Bell System, as well as several thousands in the employ of connecting companies, each of whom will wear on that date a button commemorative of the first telephone conversation.

It was on March 10, 1876, that Alexander Graham Bell, working in a little attic of a house in Boston spoke to his assistant Thomas A. Watson who was in another room on the same floor. For months and months they had been conducting experiments with crude box-like instruments connected by wire and almost a year previously had been able to transmit mechanical sounds but never before had the voice been successfully transmitted.

In the first half century that has followed, the telephone has become a universal instrument and men and women in every metropolitan and almost every crossroad settlement in the United States and many parts of Canada and Latin America will play tribute to the golden jubilee of the first telephone instrument by wearing on button bearing a small picture of the first telephone and the modern instrument with the numerals "50" between them.

As the United States was the birthplace of the telephone, it has remained the leader in its development. Today there are nearly 17,000,000 telephones in this country alone. Almost all of these are connected to the system of which Alexander Graham Bell was the father and every person in the Bell System, including those in telephone companies which are independently owned and connected to the toll lines of the Bell System, will wear the 50th Anniversary Button in honor of its inventor and the golden anniversary of his invention.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell was only 29 years when he secured what is commonly called the most valuable patent ever issued—that for the telephone. He predicted when there were almost no telephones in the country that the time would come when all cities and towns would have exchanges and that those exchanges would be connected by toll wires so that anyone in any part of the country could talk with anyone else in any other part of the country. He lived to see this come true. His prediction did not pass away until July 31, 1922. His assistant, Dr. Thomas A. Watson is still living and is hale and hearty.

"At Your Door" Prices for Autos

Hudson-Essex Adopts Policy of Quoting Actual Cost to Buyer

"Great changes have come about steadily in the automobile world, but this is probably the most momentous of all," is the editorial opinion of the Nashville Tennessean on the new Hudson-Essex program of displaying "F. O. B. Detroit" prices with "A. Y. D. I." or "at your door" quotations. The editorial entitled "F. O. B. Detroit," says in part: "Since the invention of the 'horseless carriage' all automobile advertisements have been identical in one respect, all quoted the price of the car 'F. O. B. Detroit.' This practice could be pardoned in national advertising where it was impossible to quote a delivered price in different places; but it has long been a mystery why the local advertising of automobiles stuck to the 'F. O. B. Detroit' formula instead of letting the prospect purchaser in on the secret of the actual cost."

"Now one of the great automobile manufacturing companies has taken the momentous step that separates them from this established custom. With the audacity and courage of the pioneer, it has cast precedent behind and come boldly out in newspaper advertising giving the actual price of the automobile, delivered to the buyer, without any extra charges to be added on. Great changes have come about steadily in the automobile world; but this is probably the most momentous change of all."

"The old plan of price quoting has always been a vexing one to the man who was thinking about buying an automobile. He would see a pretty picture of a car, read the convincing exposition of its merits, and not the price of, say, $800, with 'F. O. B. Detroit' in small type. Then when he had screwed his courage up to the point of spending $800, he went to the store and found that he couldn't get the automobile for that sum, that there was freight, and the tax, etc., to be added on."

"And although he doubtless was brought to understand the reason for the additions, he nevertheless went away with a subconscious feeling that he had subjected to a little misrepresentation. The decision of this leader among the automobile manufacturers to quote the actual delivered, sure-enough price is an innovation that should be followed by other companies."

"It will be good for the men who buy automobiles and for the men who sell them when the phrase 'F. O. B. Detroit' is but a memory."

WASHINGTON'S OPINION OF PROPAGANDY

Interesting at any time, but doubly so in the light of the recent statements made by Rupert Hughes, the novelist, about the private life and habits of George Washington, is the following general order issued by the commander-in-chief of the Continental Army, at New York in July, 1776, and reprinted in the current issue of the New York Christian Advocate:

"The General is sorry to be informed that the foolish and wicked practice of profane cursing and swearing, a vice heretofore little known in an American army, is growing into fashion. He hopes the officers will, by example as well as by influence, endeavor to check it, and that both they and the men will reflect that we can have little hope of the blessing of heaven on our arms if we insult it by our impiety and folly. Added to this, it is a vice so mean and low without any temptation, that every man of sense and character detests and despises it.—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Being human, the general perhaps failed sometimes to match his ideals with his conduct, but his opinion on the subject of swearing seems to have been firmly established.

BUS PERMIT REVOKED

Because John H. McDonald, of Wrightstown, has failed to operate two busses between the Tacony-Palmyra ferry terminus at Palmyra and Wrightstown by the way of Mount Holly, as authorized by an order of August 4, the Public Utility Commission has revoked his permit.

FORD PURCHASES SITE FOR HANGAR

1400 Acre Tract for Company Air-Port on Illinois-Indiana State Line

Probably the biggest recent piece of automobile news is the Ford Motor Company announcement of a reduction in price of the entire line of Ford closed cars.

The new price level is ascribed to the trend of closed car buying which has been rapidly developing. According to a statement by the company accompanying the announcement, this trend has reached such a high point that manufacturing economies have been effected and, in accordance with the established policy of the company, the benefits of these economies are passed on to purchasers of Ford cars.

Coming virtually on the heels of the sweeping improvements and refinements made in Ford cars last fall, the new prices mark the climax of a period of general ascending values. Less than six months ago, Ford bodies were completely redesigned to make possible a greater degree of beauty, driving ease and riding comfort. In line with this development, all-steel bodies were introduced together with closed cars in color and numerous refinements in the chassis.

The purchase of 1,400 acres of land at Maynard, Indiana, by the Ford Motor Company was announced recently. The property, which is located on the Illinois-Indiana state line, approximately twenty-five miles southeast of Chicago, will be utilized as the Chicago terminal of the Ford Air Transport service. Since the establishing of the Detroit-Chicago airline on April 13, 1932, Ford planes have been landing at the government field at Maynard, Illinois. Considerable difficulty was experienced by Ford pilots in reaching the landing field due to smoke and fog settling about Chicago.

The hangar, incorporates several unique features of construction and many of the most modern facilities for servicing airplanes. The building, which will be 123 feet wide and 103 feet long, will be constructed as to adapt itself to future expansion in line with future development of the air transport service. To facilitate the movement of planes in and out of the building, sliding doors designed to open the entire length of the hangar will be installed. This feature will be made possible by the use of a cantilever type of roof.

Increased Stipend for Rhodes Scholars

Rhodes scholars from the United States and Canada during the past 20 years, according to a statement of the American secretary of the Rhodes Trust, have made almost identical academic records at Oxford University. Among the 420 candidates for appointment considered at the last election of scholars to enter the university in October, 1928, Ohio led with 39 candidates, Pennsylvania had 36. The stipend has been increased recently and the 32 men elected will have an annual income of £300 each for the three years of their residence at Oxford.

If You Can Set a Clock

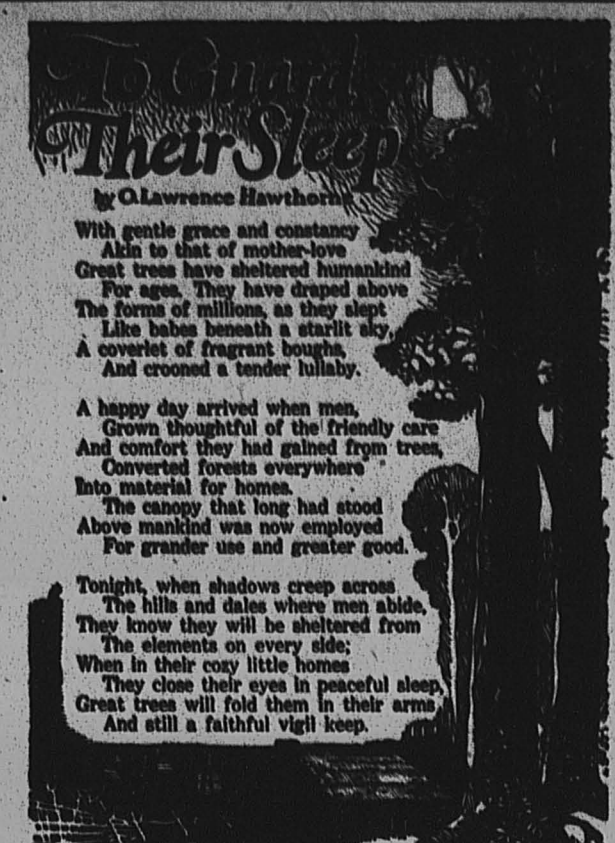

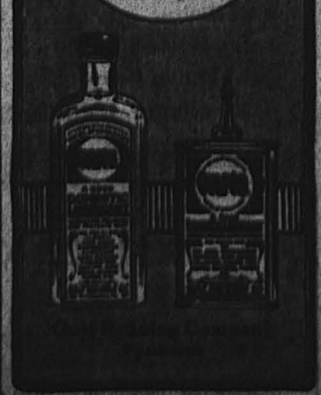

—you can set the dial on a new Freed-Eismann Radio

If you know how to set a clock, you are mechanical enough to be able to enjoy a radio set in the limit!

You virtually need an engineer's license to operate some sets. But since we are selling, conscientiously rather than peddling, we have been careful to select sets that are the simplest, most practical and most popular.

Chief among these is the remarkable Freed-Eismann—a set that is fastidiously without fuss or trouble; one that gives you the same station night after night for the slight effort of setting the dial at the same numbers each time.

We'd like to show it to you—here or in your home—without obligation to you.

Their Sleep

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

With gentle grace and constancy
Alone to that of mother-love
Great trees have sheltered humankind
For ages. They have draped above
The forms of millions, as they slept
Like babes beneath a starlit sky,
A covert of fragrant boughs,
And crooned a tender lullaby.

A happy day arrived when men,
Grown thoughtful of the friendly care
And comfort they had gained from trees,
Converted forests everywhere
Into material for homes.

The canopy that long had stood
Above mankind was now employed
For grander use and greater good.

Tonight, when shadows creep across
The hills and dales where men abide,
They know they will be sheltered from
The elements on every side;
When in their cozy little homes
They close their eyes in peaceful sleep,
Great trees will fold them in their arms
And still a faithful vigil keep.

One of the big events of the big celebration will be a dinner for the general committee and the specially invited guests given by the Council of Proprietors, West Jersey Division. Mr. Robb, who is the president of the ancient organization which took such an important part in Burlington affairs two and a half centuries ago, said that the West Jersey Proprietors would be glad to assume that part of the program.

It is especially fitting that the Proprietors should be the dinner hosts. They are one of the most ancient institutions in ancient Burlington, and were they not included in the celebration would be lacking in essential feature.

There are two groups of the West Jersey Proprietors, one in Burlington and another in Gloucester. The headquarters of the two groups are in the little brick building that stands next to the home of Ernest Watts on West Broad street. The building is the office of the surveyor-general of the organization, Benjamin F. Sleeper now holds that position. He succeeded Henry S. Haines.

Up to the present time the financial outlook is not a dawning one. Only one thousand dollars are in sight to pay the cost of what should be the biggest jubilee ever staged in Burlington. This amount was appropriated by Common Council at the beginning of the year. It was pretty generally expected that the appropriation would be at least five thousand dollars and the sum would be added to next year.

The firemen's parade given a little more than a year ago cost $3,500 and was confined to a single day. It is expected that the coming anniversary will cover a week.

There's No Secret About It

One of the reasons why the used cars we sell make so much good-will for this house is because there is no secret about any of them.

Mt. Holly Guard is Disbanded

Low Type Personnel Blamed for Failure of County Seat Military Company

The Mount Holly organization of the National Guard is now out of existence officially and there remains nothing to be done to "make it only a matter of history beyond the re-assembling of the equipment of the men in the custody of the state department. The official order of disbandment came from the Adjutant General's office to First Lieutenant Harry B. Stanley, who has been in command of the company since the resignation of Captain Robert Peacock some time ago.

Unsatisfactory conditions developing in the ranks on account of a personnel not leaning to high type, disregarding responsibilities and exhibiting little sense of duty as laid down by military regulations make up the situation that has brought about the death of Company M. Those in a position to know feel obliged to make this regrettable admission for no other cause can be assigned. The men were given an armory with fine appointments and there was nothing wrong about their equipment, but too many of them lacked appreciation of the opportunity placed before them to make good and became more shiftless than could be tolerated by the officers responsible and the military authorities. Most of the equipment has been turned in.

There is yet no order for reorganization, but Lieutenant Stanley is expecting that such authority will come shortly and he is willing to assume responsibility for enlisting new men if the authority is extended to him. He makes the positive statement that there will be an almost entire new line-up, as the records show that perhaps not more than twenty-five percent of the disbanded company will be acceptable for a better company such as will have to be if Mount Holly is to have a military company. Lieutenant Stanley also states that when the proper time comes he will insist upon a rifle company and not a machine outfit such as the Mount Holly company has been since the after-war organization.

University Supervises Finances of Student Activities

To insure sound business methods and safeguard the financial integrity of students activities at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, all financial officers of such activities are under supervision and their books are audited at regular intervals by the university authorities. The student activities, including fraternities and sororities, number about 30 and disburse more than $184,000 annually. A uniform system of bookkeeping has been adopted and adapted to the several organizations. Budgets for the year are prepared in advance and must be strictly observed.

Twenty-eight male instructors for boys at the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory have enrolled for the pedagogy in extension conducted by the Pennsylvania College.

DECEMBER 16, 1925

1,500,000

On March 22, 1923, Buick celebrated the building of the millionth Buick. Approximately eighteen years were consumed in the accomplishment.

On December 16, 1925, Buick reached the million and a half mark. A million Buicks in eighteen years—the next half million in two years and nine months.

As the present time, public demand calls for more than 20,000 Buicks every month. This means the next half million in the hands of Buick owners within two years.

These bare figures tell a graphic story of Buick's continuous advance in public regard. The great concentration of demand, at the present time, speaks strongly of the increased value and desirability to the Better Buick.

Leadership belongs to Buick because a nation familiar with many motor cars has given it to Buick.

The American public wants "finer transportation at lower cost", and Buick provides it!

TWO OF PALMYRA FAMILY KILLED IN AUTO WRECKS

Paul Braun's Son and Father Fatally Injured in Separate Accidents

BOY IS VICTIM OF COLLISION IN MIAMI

Twice within a week the Braun family, of 304 Horace avenue, Palmyra, suffered the loss of immediate relatives through death caused by auto accidents.

Thursday of last week Paul J. Braun's father, Paul J. Braun, Sr., was buried in Philadelphia, having succumbed to injuries received in an automobile accident. Saturday morning Mr. and Mrs. Braun were notified that their son, Joseph A., 32 years old, had been killed in an auto accident at Miami.

Joseph, who left Palmyra last October to accept a position with the Oils Elevator Company, Miami, was pronounced dead at 11:30 P. M. Friday night by a Miami physician. An auto in which he was riding overturned after a collision with a truck and the Palmyra boy suffered a crushed skull.

The machine in which Braun was riding was driven by O. R. Bauer, a Camden boy, who was a pal of Braun's in Florida. Bauer suffered slight injuries about the head. Both Bauer and O. B. Johnson, the driver of the truck which collided with the boys' car were taken into custody by the Miami police, pending an inquest into Braun's death.

Saturday night the grief stricken family turned the matter over to M. J. McDermott, A. E. Conover, Past Grand Knights of St. Joseph's Council, K. of C., and District Deputy T. A. Eadon.

The local Knights immediately telephoned the Miami District Grand Knight of the Miami K. of C., and arranged to have the Miami council take charge of the body which was shipped for Palmyra Tuesday afternoon at 2:40.

Palmyra boys who recently returned from Florida say Joseph was saving his money in order that he might pay his parents a surprise visit in June.

Harry King, who arrived home from Florida Wednesday of last week, said Joseph, in bidding him goodbye, told him not to mention it to Mr. and Mrs. Braun, as he wanted to surprise them, but he intended coming home in June to spend the summer with his parents. His employer had promised him a position again next fall, says King.

A brother and sister, Francis Herman, and Anna Marie Braun, also survive Joseph.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 o'clock at the Sacred Heart Church, Riverton. Interment in Holy Cross Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Very truly yours,
M. E. Matlack.

MATLACK CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF

Burlington County Surrogate Has Made Excellent Record in Office

It has become the custom in Burlington County, as well as in all other counties of the state of New Jersey, for the people to allow their officials to serve more than one term in their respective offices. If they have served faithfully and well. The State Senator, Member of Assembly, the Judge, Prosecutor, Members of the Board of Freeholders and of the Tax Board, and members of all of the county boards, the County Clerk have been rewarded with reelection to their offices. Therefore, I have no hesitancy in asking the voters of this county to permit me to serve a second term as Surrogate.

The people who have had business transactions with the Surrogate's Office, and those who have been in a position to observe, can testify as to whether or not I have served faithfully and well during my present term as Surrogate.

I am a lawyer by profession, but am not engaged in the active practice of the law, nor am I engaged in any other business vocation. My entire time and attention is devoted to my duties as surrogate, coming to the office at eight o'clock in the morning, and remaining until five o'clock in the afternoon. My home is within a stone's throw of the Surrogate's Office, and I am always in close touch with my official duties. I very frequently wait upon people at the office in the evening when they find it inconvenient to be there during business hours. We also quite often, wait upon people at their homes, because of illness, are unable to come to the Surrogate's office.

Very truly yours,
M. E. Matlack.

New Minister Rev. J. W. Lee

New Minister Comes To Palmyra After Eight Years at One Church

The Rev. John W. Lee was appointed pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church at the nineteenth session of the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal Church Conference which was held in Atlantic City and Cape May Monday through Friday.

A communication from the pulpit committee of the Epworth Church follows:

"At the conclusion of the session of the New Jersey Annual Conference at Atlantic City on Monday, Bishop Hughes appointed to the Palmyra charge the Rev. John William Lee, who for eight years has been pastor at the Hamilton Avenue Church, Trenton, where he was greatly beloved and was asked back for another year. The Rev. Mr. Lee has been very successful in all of his pastorates, especially with young people.

"The Rev. Fred B. Morley, the retiring pastor, has been assigned to the church at Spring Lake, to which charge he will go with the best wishes of many friends here."

The Rev. Mr. Lee enjoyed an unusually successful pastorate at Gloucester, where he was stationed for five years. He has been highly recommended as an excellent speaker and church executive. He will preach at both services at Epworth Church Sunday.

The new pastor and his wife have one son who is married and is an attorney at Trenton.

Among the local folks who attended Conference sessions were the Rev. J. B. Whitton, retired, who has been a member for the past fifty years, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Griscom, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Baker, George C. Baker, Mrs. Charles Wolcott and Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Coward and son, Charles, of Riverton.

Assignments given former Epworth Church pastors follow:

The Rev. E. A. Robinson succeeds the Rev. Mr. Lee at Hamilton Avenue Church, Trenton, going from First Church, New Brunswick.

The Rev. Marshall Owens is returned to Freehold.

The Rev. S. Monroe VanSant is returned to Salem Church, Pleasantville.

The Rev. R. A. Conover, of Palmyra, who has been conference evangelist for several years is assigned to First Church, New Brunswick, succeeding the Rev. Mr. Robinson.

The Rev. Samuel Sargent, who is now retired, was unable to attend the conference on account of illness. His son, the Rev. N. V. Sargent, who is one of the most prominent ministers in the conference, returns to Ocean City, where he is held in high esteem by the congregation.

Better Train Service in Sight

Palmyra C. of C. Appoints Committee to Learn Facts

The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in the Legion Home Tuesday evening took up the matter of alleged poor service by the Pennsylvania Railroad as set forth in open letters to the local newspapers last week by Nathan S. Beekly.

Virtually all the members of the chamber were agreed that Mr. Beekly's charges were warranted by facts. The president of the chamber, J. Edwin Lees, and other members described their own experience of having the train on which they were riding held up to permit excursion trains to pass, being delayed by freight trains and having to wait in the cold draughty terminal at Camden because no engine was available for their train at its scheduled departure.

Mr. Lees said the uncertainty of train service was a real drawback to citizens living in Palmyra, Riverton and other towns on the Trenton Division, inasmuch as most of them needed to report at their places of business at a certain hour in the morning and often in the evening had important business or social engagements which made it a matter of real importance for their trains to be on time.

Justice Fichter Revokes Junk Dealer's License and Fines Him $100

Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter meted out a stiff penalty to an intoxicated driver Tuesday morning.

The offender, Rocco Mandillo, a Mount Holly junk dealer, was charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and using the same to parade through the streets of this town.

One member rose to defend the railroad and he presented some very pertinent facts which help explain several of the conditions complained of. This was Robert Galloway, a Pennsylvania railroad employee. Mr. Galloway said this division is the hardest line in the whole Pennsylvania system on which to keep the trains on time and this due to no fault of the railroad.

This condition, he said, arises from the fact that there are two drawbridges, one at Delanco and the other across Cooper river in Camden on the line as well as a single track through Burlington. The railroad is limited to a single track at Burlington by local ordinances there and as a result trains have to be held up on both sides of that town to permit one to pass through.

But the drawbridges are the worst hindrance of all. It is a government regulation that any vessel on a navigable stream has the right of way through drawbridges. As a result, any kind of a tag or barge, no matter how insignificant, and travelling on any kind of a schedule at all, can force the draw to be opened at any time, no matter how late in the day.

Added to this difficulty, the freight yards at Pavena are now undergoing enlargement and alterations, for the purpose of expediting traffic, but naturally while the work is underway it is bound to interfere with service.

Piling Ossa on Pelion, at the present time the work on the Crescent Boulevard in Camden, where a huge concrete bridge is being built to carry Federal street traffic over the Boulevard, is interfering with the railroad service, as (Continued on Page 5)

LEGION WILL RETAIN HOME

Post Rodgers Not To Abandon Building; Members Re- new Allegiance

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE AND MINSTREL ON PROGRAM

Post Rodgers, American Legion, of Palmyra, will not give up its home.

At an enthusiastic meeting held Tuesday evening, attended by fifty members, every man renewed his allegiance to the Post and pledged himself to work and cooperate to the full extent of his ability that the organization might survive and maintain its home.

An intensive membership drive is to be staged at once. A minstrel show is to be given shortly after the end of the first rehearsal will be held Tuesday evening.

Commander Morrison, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce which met the same evening on the first floor of the Home, declared that the Post was not a defunct organization, but that it was merely in financial difficulties. There is a first mortgage of $4000 on the Home and the yearly expenses are in the neighborhood of $1800, while the annual income from dues is only $375.

The Home from the first was intended to be a community proposition. Post Rodgers had no intention of making it so more than ever in the future.

He told of the money which had been spent by the Post aiding disabled veterans, which had been a heavy drain on the organization's finances. Even now a man was being aided in a New York hospital where he had undergone a delicate operation which would require him to receive treatment for two years.

On Saturday, March 20, the Legion will wind up its Orphans Fund Drive. Letters for pledges are to be sent every home and then on the 20th, the Frankford Post Bugle Corps, which has won National honor twice, will be in town and while the pledges are being collected.

APRIL FOOL PARTY

Chairman of Committee Says "Per- haps the Most Asked About What's Doing"

"Say, Hubbsie, what are you fellows going to pull off on that April Fool party, anyway?" queried Chapple Keating Wednesday afternoon.

"Oh, we're getting it fixed up all right," replied Clarence Hubbs, chairman of the fire company's committee on entertainment. "It's an April Fool party and all you fellows are coming down there expecting to be fooled, and you're not going to be disappointed, I'll tell the flat world."

"What are you going to do, cook up something to fool the old gang, or what?" persisted Chapple.

"No, sir! We're going to fool 'em all—everybody that comes. You're a member of the fire company, ain't you? You'll come down and see for yourself."

"Going to have any music?" said Clarence Mattis.

"Perhaps," was the noncommittal reply.

"I heard you were going to have a moving picture—la that right?" said Clarence, still hunting for news.

"That would be a good idea," responded Hubbsie, with his best poker face expression.

"Clarence ought to be able to get you a plump of a picture," volunteered Tom Ford.

"All right," said Hubbsie, "I'll appoint him a committee on moving pictures right now."

"That's a hurray of a way to do," protested Mattis. "Just as soon as a fellow suggests something you make him chairman right away, and give him a job. What's going to be left for you to do?"

"Oh, I'll be busy keeping the rent of you fellows working," replied the genial Clarence with a grin.

THREE ALARMS

One Was False and the Other Two Trivial

The Palmyra Fire Company was called out to three alarms over the weekend.

Saturday afternoon a field in the rear of the Buchholz home on Charles street caught fire and the flame spread from a bon fire. Neighbors, through quick action, soon had the blaze under control, despite the fact the fire was quickly eating its way across the lot toward some chicken coops. The flames had been extinguished when the company arrived.

A false alarm took the Company on the run to Morkan and Cleveland avenues about 10:30 Saturday evening. Chief Beck says the call was sent to the firehouse but the company was unable to find the reported conflagration on its arrival at the reported scene.

Early Monday morning a wad of paper jammed in the chimney flue in the home at 708 Washington street caught fire when the chimney became overheated. The company made a quick run. No damage was done.

MOSHER HONORED

Palmyra Student Chosen for Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Howard S. Mosher, of Palmyra, was one of the freshmen to be elected to Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity at the University of Pennsylvania during the recent "Rushing season."

Mosher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Mosher, of Palmyra. He is a freshman in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, and is a member of the freshman basketball team of the University.

The fraternity "Rushing" season at the University of Pennsylvania is held directly after the mid-year examinations and extends over a period of three weeks. During this time the freshmen are entertained by the fraternities, and those making favorable impressions are asked to join one of the other of the Greek letter societies.

This year approximately 38 percent of the freshman class were "elected" to fraternities during the "rushing" season. There are between fifty and sixty fraternities on the Pennsylvania campus.

Mosher prepared for the University of Pennsylvania at St. John's Manlius and while there was a member of the baseball and basketball teams.

"Y" BIBLE CLASS

Palmyra now has its Y. M. C. A. Bible Class which the leaders hope in time will develop to the mam- moth proportions of the famed or- ganizations of New York and Phila- delphia. Everyone is familiar with the excellent service broadcast by the Germantown "Y" class every Sunday afternoon.

Inclement weather greeted the local leaders Sunday on their first effort to present the Class to the public, but all those who did brave the storm felt more than well repaid with the splendid lesson presented by James Thompson, the teacher.

Many have displayed keen interest in the proposed activities and it is expected the Palmyra "Y" Bible Class will soon be a flourishing organization credited with many spiritual and social accomplishments.

The plan is meeting the men every Sunday afternoon. The meetings will be held at 3 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Broad street and Garfield avenue.

The Class is fostered by a Y. M. C. A. committee composed of George N. Wimer, Leonard R. Baker and James H. Hartley.

Children's Books As Peace Makers

Madame Scheu-Riesz Hopes Ex- change of Thoughts Will Aid World

The formation of an American group to cooperate in the publication and distribution among children of all nations of a great international library of the world's best literature is what Madame Scheu-Riesz, of Vienna, Austria, editor of the World Library for Children, is hoping will grow out of her lecture tour on this, her second visit to America. She is convinced that the only way to bring about good will among nations is what Thomas Hardy once stated to be the only hope for the salvation of mankind—the exchange of international thought.

Madame Scheu-Riesz spoke before the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening and made a charming figure, as she told of Austria, which has been reduced from 52 million people before the war to six million now, two million of whom live in Vienna. She vividly described the good that had come to the destitute children who had been sent from Austria into England, Germany, and Switzerland for a year or two that they might receive proper nourishment.

They returned home greatly improved in body, but even more important, their minds had developed, and they felt that they had two sets of parents, two "home" countries, two languages and a host of new ideas.

Madame Scheu-Riesz feels that if an international exchange of children could be of such great advantage during periods of stress, it should be made possible by the educational authorities of all countries that students could be exchanged in times of prosperity.

Little books have been printed in the German language and are used in the Vienna schools. Last year books were given at Christmas time to ten thousand children.

During the war a reading room was established for children and hot cocoa served the little ones. When it became necessary later to discontinue the cocoa, the children begged that they be allowed to come and read. They said they didn't need the food but they wanted the books.

For a time these 250 books will be on exhibition and sale at the Friends' headquarters, 29 South Twelfth street, Philadelphia. Any who may be interested in the work that Madame Scheu-Riesz is doing may get in communication with her through this address.

Wednesday morning Madame Scheu-Riesz spoke in all the Moorestown schools.

TWIN CITY Y. W. C. A.

The local branch will send two representatives to the Y. W. C. A. convention at Chester this Saturday.

Next Tuesday evening the Y. W. C. A. will have classes in lampshade making and radio work. Whitman's products will be on sale at that time.

Prosechors complaining about the lack of interest in religious matters are urged by newspaper editor complaining that the public doesn't read the sheet.

YMCA Quinlet Drops Hard Fought Battle to Leigh A. A.

Wink's YMCA five dropped a hard fought game to the Leigh A. A. quintet, of Philadelphia, Saturday evening at the Epworth M. E. Temple gym by a 23-25 count.

The "Y" reserves, with a beautiful record of sixteen victories and no defeats, were unable to get into action, due to the failure of the scheduled opposition. Princeton Boys' Club, of Camden, to appear. Twice this season the Camden aggregation has tasted defeat at the hands of Wink's scrub passers, so evidently the Princeton boys decided at the last moment to abandon the idea of seeking to avenge the trouncings.

Delair first and second fives will be the opposition at the Temple this Saturday evening.

Would Padlock N. J. Roadhouses

Judge Slaughter Favors Drastic Action Against Iniquitous Resorts

Padlocking is favored by Judge William A. Slaughter, of the Burlington County Court, as the most effective means of closing iniquitous roadhouses that harbor criminals and are a threat to the safety of the law.

The Judge offered this solution of a troublesome problem at the meeting of the judges and prosecutors of the counties in the state at Trenton last week. The meeting was called by Governor A. Harry Moore, who has declared his determination to close the joints that have sprung up like mushrooms in many parts of the state. The action of the judge was taken after the tragedy at a North Jersey roadhouse a couple of weeks ago when a member of the State Police was shot to death.

Judge Slaughter was accompanied to Trenton by Prosecutor George M. Hillman. The Judge declared that padlocking seemed to be the only way to stop the traffic of various kinds that are characteristic of the dives, and suggested that move as a remedy in the action demanded by the Governor. The suggestion was endorsed by many of the judges and prosecutors present.

Prosecutor Hillman said that Burlington County to a large extent is free of road houses. Two such places on the Shore road were found to be objectionable and were closed. On finding that liquor was being sold the places were raided and the proprietors arrested. The prosecutor spoke highly of the integrity of the State Police and their co-operation with county officials.

In stating the purpose of the meeting Governor Moore plainly told the judges and prosecutors that he would hold them responsible for the continued existence of low resorts in their respective jurisdictions.

"I have had to listen to a lot of prattle about psychoanalysis and psychiatric investigation in dealing with crime," declared the Governor, "but I believe in the application of the law." Practical common sense application on the powers which are yours will promptly remedy conditions. It will not suffice to say that long and crafty investigations are necessary. If we need more law the Legislature is prepared to give it. If there is anything to prevent the ultimate success of our work, now is the time to offer it, as explanation will not be accepted in case of failure.

"I have no quarrel with decently conducted roadhouses, but I am vitally concerned with those crime hatching places—those places where young girls are debauched and placed in the terrible houses of prostitution. These must be driven out of the state.

"Some prosecutors seem to think they have a part-time job. This must not be carried to the extent of neglecting official duty. I am told that sometimes prosecutors come into court in the morning to try a case and ask 'What's this all about.' This indicates lack of co-operation with the State Police or other agencies which have prepared the case. Then, too, there is often laxity in the presentation of facts to the grand jury."

Tornado Kills 7

Memphis, Tenn.—A tornado, whipping itself through Chicot county, Ark., crossed the Mississippi, and tore through the section south of Greenville, Miss. Seven persons were killed.

Some prosecutors seem to think they have a part-time job. This must not be carried to the extent of neglecting official duty. I am told that sometimes prosecutors come into court in the morning to try a case and ask 'What's this all about.' This indicates lack of co-operation with the State Police or other agencies which have prepared the case. Then, too, there is often laxity in the presentation of facts to the grand jury."

Palmyra High School Student Has Saved Four From Drowning

Harry Little, 16-year-old Bridgeboro Lad, Nationally Recognized As a Real Hero

Palmyra High School boasts of a real hero in the ranks of its student body—a hero not in name only, but one who has actually saved four lives and has shown a willingness to toss aside all caution and daringly risk his own life in an effort to save another.

His name is Harry Little. He is a husky, well built lad, sixteen years old, and quietly tells the story of his rescues in a very unassuming manner. And only after much questioning does he tell of the honors being bestowed upon him and how he has been nationally recognized as a real hero.

In the middle of January, 1925, Harry saved two lives within a week. While swimming in Germantown Boys' Club pool, Harry saved William Dey, 19 years old, who was unable to swim and had jumped into the deepest portion of the pool, not knowing its depth.

A few days later Harry was enjoying another swim at the Central "Y" in Philadelphia when William Rankins, 12 years old, almost duplicated Dey's act, diving into the pool of six feet of water and was unable to swim a stroke. On each occasion there were other swimmers nearer the helpless lads, but both time the Palmyra High hero was first to recognize their plight and rush to the rescue. Harry says it was a simple matter to save these two lads.

Swam Boy in Rancocas

Harry, who lives at Bridgeboro, enjoys a daily swim in the Rancocas from early spring until late in the fall. On June 10 of last spring he was indulging in his daily sport when Lester Benliff, 9 years old, also a Bridgeboro boy, became exhausted while trying to swim the stream.

The current in the Rancocas is very swift and Harry says it took a real battle to swim several hundred feet to shore with the exhausted boy.

The big rescue came on July 17 of last summer. John Moore, a little fellow of ten years, hung on the back of a rowboat as it drifted amid stream. Just as the boat reached the middle little Johnny's grasp on the stern of the boat weakened and he slipped into the water.

The little fellow was unable to swim a stroke and sank immediately. He came to the surface once, twice and then the third time, youngsters stood along the shore helplessly watching their pal frantically fighting a watery grave. As the lad started down for the third time one of his playmates spied young Little.

Dives Three Times

Harry swam swiftly to the spot where the youngster had been seen to go down for the last time and had to dive three times before he finally recovered the child's body. Unassisted, he swam to shore, some fifty yards in distance and still, with only the assistance of a few youngsters, began to work frantically to revive the lad. Harry says it seemed as if it were hours before his resuscitative efforts began to show effects, and then, when the boy began to exhibit signs of life, he rushed him to a physician.

Last Saturday night, in recognition of his rescue on July 17, Harry was awarded a Ralston Purina hero medal at a testimonial dinner tendered him by the Ralston Purina Commission at the Benjamin Hotel, Philadelphia. The medal was accompanied by an award of a $500 life insurance policy which is paid up.

Will Be Life Guard

Harry has been signed up as a member of the Ocean City life guard force for this summer, has broad coast talks on life saving from radio stations WCAU and WPI this winter and has been requested to broadcast from WLIT in the near future. He will be the only New Jersey representative at the Besequi Centennial Harvest banquet at the Benjamin Franklin in April.

He is fond of all branches of sports, played guard on the Palmyra High School grid squad last year, is a member of Bridgeboro baseball and basketball teams, is exceptionally keen about ten hockey and skating and will swim with the Ocean City Daredevils, a recently organized aquatic club, this summer.

Harry says he hasn't made any definite plans for the future. He is a Junior at Palmyra High, taking the commercial course. He says after graduation he may follow the footsteps of his father and go into the coal business. Harry's father, George B. Little, is connected with the Riverside Milling and Coal Company and is clerk of Delran Township Committee.

NECKTIE NUISANCE

Mr. Wimer Protests to Washington About Unordered Cravats

George N. Wimer, like many others, has been bothered with mail order concerns sending unordered packages, no return postage and then writing very disagreeable letters demanding either payment for the merchandise or its return. Mr. Wimer took the matter up with the Post Office Department and his letter to the Third Assistant Postmaster General follows:

"I am writing on behalf of myself and many other persons who have been annoyed by having parcel post neckties sent to us with a request for payment.

"This thing has become such a nuisance that I feel it my duty to bring it before your Department as I feel sure it must be contrary to the postal laws and regulations.

"I enclose herewith the wrapper which came on the package and also the circulars enclosed therewith. I am keeping the neckties until I hear from your Department.

as to whether you can take action in the matter."

Mr. Wimer's reply from the office of the Solicitor, Post Office Department, follows:

"The receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 1st instant, transmitting a package of unordered neckties received by you through the mails.

"In reply, you are advised that in so far as the postal laws are concerned, there is no obligation imposed upon persons to receive or account for merchandise sent to them through the mails unordered.

"It may be stated that a bill designed to suppress this objectionable practice is now pending before Congress.

Enlightenment Given on Some Income Tax Payment Problems

Report or Request for Extension of Time Must be Filed by March 15; Data for Professional Man, Farmer, on Houses and Illness Presented

Some tax is assessed, in gross income tax, certain deductions are allowed for business expenses, losses, contributions, bad debts, etc. A storekeeper may deduct as a business expense amounts spent for rent of his place of business, advertising, premiums for insurance against fire, theft, and other losses, cost of water, light, and heat used in his place of business, drayage and freight bills, and the cost of maintenance and repair to delivery wagons and trucks, and a reasonable allowance for salaries.

A professional man, such as a lawyer, doctor, or dentist, may deduct the cost of supplies used in his profession, expenses paid in the operation and repair of automobiles used in making professional calls, dues to professional journals, office rent, cost of water, light, and heat used in his office, and the hire of office assistant.

The farmer may deduct as necessary expenses all amounts actually expended in carrying on the business of farming, such as amounts paid in the production and harvesting of his crops, cost of seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings, and cost of small tools used up in the course of the year or two. The cost of farm machinery, and farm buildings is not deductible as expense.

Personal Living Expenses
Deductions for personal or living expenses, such as those paid to the taxpayer's dwelling, cost of food, clothing, education of children, etc., are not allowed.

Losses if incurred in a taxpayer's trade or business or profession or in "any transaction entered into for profit" not compensated for by insurance or otherwise are deductible from gross income in determining net income upon which the income tax is assessed. To be allowed, losses not incurred in trade, business, or profession must conform closely to the wording of the statute.

For example, a loss incurred in the sale of a taxpayer's home or automobile, while at the time of purchase was not bought with the intention of resale, is not deductible, because it was not a transaction "entered into for profit." Losses sustained in the operation of a farm as a business venture are deductible. If sustained in the operation of a farm operated merely for the pleasure of the taxpayer, they are not deductible.

Fire Loss Deductible
Losses arising from fire, storms, shipwreck, "or other casualty," or from theft, whether or not connected with a taxpayer's business, may be deducted from gross income in his 1925 income tax return. If his home or automobile is destroyed by fire or his property damaged by storm, the loss is deductible for the year in which it was incurred.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in the taxpayer's trade or business.

A loss from embezzlement is also deductible.

All losses are deductible only to the extent by which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

A debt discovered to be worthless and charged off the books of the taxpayer for the year 1925 may be deducted from the gross income in computing net income for that year. The return must show evidence of the manner in which the worthlessness of the debt was discovered and that ordinary and legal means for its collection have been or would be exhausted.

Bad debts may be deducted in whole or in part. When deducted, the taxpayer must be able to show with a reasonable degree of certainty the amount uncollectible. Partial deductions are allowed with restrictions.

Owners on Stage As Home Burns

Columbus Amateur Performance Broken Up By News of Fire.

During a performance that was being given in Grand Hall, Columbus, in which Mr. and Mrs. Byron Armstrong, two of the former's sisters, Mrs. William E. Shinn and Mrs. Ada King, and a cousin, were taking part, a messenger brought word that the Armstrong home, located on the edge of the town, on the Columbus to Georgetown road, was on fire, and Mr. Armstrong hastily left the stage and hurried to his farm.

On his arrival there he found his home a mass of flames and the heat so intense that no one could enter the building and attempt to save any of its contents. Columbus and Bordentown fire companies were soon on the scene, but there being no water available nothing could be done but watch the house burn to the ground. Fortunately, the wind was blowing away from the barns a short distance away, and they were unharmed.

As the reflection from the fire could plainly be seen from the Columbus Hall, the large audience began to hurry toward the stairway, but the Rev. George Bales, of the Baptist church, sensing that a stampede might ensue, mounted the platform and stated that it would be necessary to postpone the performance. He further advised everyone to leave the building quietly, which they did, most of those present hurrying to the fire.

The only person about the house when the fire started was a farm-hand, who said he was reading in the kitchen when the lamp exploded, scattering oil in all directions. After trying to stamp out the fire he ran to the road and sent word by a passing autoist to the firemen.

The Armstrongs lost practically everything except the clothes which they had on their backs, nothing being saved but a parlor rug and two or three chairs from the front part of the house.

The farm originally belonged to Newton Armstrong, father of Byron, who died about two years ago, since which time the son has worked hard to make a success of farming the place, in which he has been wonderfully aided by his mother, and they have the sympathy of the entire community.

DEDICATE CHIMES

At special service Sunday evening in the Baptist church, Burlington, the set of cathedral organ chimes recently installed were dedicated. About a year ago the members of the church choir suggested installing the chimes. The subject met with hearty approval and there was a generous number of donations for the purpose.

The presentation was made by Miss Elizabeth Adams, president of the choir, and were received on behalf of the church by Howard Eastwood, president of the board of trustees. The dedication was by Rev. Millard O. Pierce, pastor of the church. An elaborate musical program was presented.

P. S. Buses to be Delivered Soon

Corporation Awaits First Shipment of 333 Gas-Electric Machines

Word has been received by Public Service Transportation Company that the first of the 333 new gas-electric buses which were ordered in December last will be shipped from the Chicago plant of the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company on March 12. Allowing for delays in transportation the buses will be received in Newark during the week of March 14.

It will upon receipt be put into the Newark shops to receive its final coat of Public Service colors and for the final tuning up so as to be ready for operation about a week later.

The first few buses ready for service will be used at the start for instruction purposes. Every bus operator will be thoroughly schooled in handling the new mechanism. The gas-electric drive makes the new bus easier to operate, and the shifting of gears is entirely eliminated, but in order that operators may be entirely familiar with their vehicle, they will be instructed as to its mechanical parts and will be given a course in operation before they are permitted to drive the buses in actual service.

Speedy Delivery
The manufacturers promise that after the first bus is delivered, other buses will be completed and shipped at the rate of one a day and later at the rate of three a day until the entire order is filled.

The contract calls for the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company to completely finish with the exception of the final coat of paint 200 of the 333 buses. The bodies of the remaining 133 will be built in the Newark shops.

The shop organization for this work has already been completed and the first body is well on towards completion. Within a comparatively short time the work will be in full swing, so that the bodies will be ready as soon as the chassis, which the Chicago concern is building, are delivered.

While no schedule covering the distribution of the new equipment has yet been prepared, it can be said that the buses will be sent to routes where the need for new buses is most urgent.

Boylan's Statement
"I am glad to be able to announce the coming of our new equipment. We have been operating this winter under great handicap owing to the fact that many of the buses that we purchased from other owners were old and broke down frequently under the bad conditions brought about by the winter storms. It is apparent that the riding public has had to put up with many inconveniences and nobody can be any more pleased than my fellow officers and myself over the early putting into service of the gas-electric buses."

We think that we have secured the very best type of bus that has been yet manufactured here or abroad and are confident that the public will be as pleased as we are. We have not been waiting, but have strengthened our organization, have enlarged our garage and shop facilities and are prepared to give the best possible service."

The resolution with the twenty-year clause was adopted when William A. Schnader, deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania, told the commission that it was immaterial whether the resolution contained any period.

The commission also authorized advertising for contracts for the second section of the Camden place.

Award Contract For Nurses Home

Freeholders Accept Bid of John Toth, Who Failed to Sign Estimate

After a week's deliberation, the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday decided to award the contract for building the new home for nurses at the Tuberculosis Hospital at New Lisbon to John Toth, the lowest bidder. At the meeting the week previous when the bids were opened, it was found that Toth had not signed his estimate. The certified check accompanying the bid was in proper form, however, and Mr. Toth was on hand to make good the omission, which occurred through an oversight.

There was some question at the time as to whether or not this technical irregularity would prevent the consideration of Mr. Toth's bid. The saving to the county by reason of giving the contract to Mr. Toth is about $2500. His bid for the general work was $13,463.00. The plumbing went to J. Edgar Gandy, of Burlington, for $1719.00; the heating to Albert Ellis, of Moorestown, for $1000, and the electrical work to Ernest Mulligan, of Mount Holly, for $233.00.

The nurses' home has been advocated by Dr. Marcus W. Newcomb, superintendent of the hospital for some time, and the Board of Freeholders has been in a receptive frame of mind, but it is not until this year that they could see their way clear to include the necessary amount in the budget.

A resolution was passed appropriating $20,000 for the construction and furnishing of the home, but it is expected to complete the work for something less than this amount.

The recent blizzard cut such a swath in the appropriation of the road department, that Director Stout declared it amounted to an emergency, and asked for an additional appropriation of $12,000 to reimburse his depleted balance. It having cost that amount to open up the roads to travel after the snowfall, his request was granted, and the money will be raised on an emergency note, which, however, will not be issued until his department is actually in need of cash.

George C. W. Beck, of Riverside, was awarded the contract for placing electric lights on the gates, wings and the top of the Delancey bridge. His bid of $211.60 was the only one received, and was considered reasonable.

The road department was authorized to dispose of the old road roller now in use and secure a new one.

Alfonza Adams, clerk of the board, was instructed to advertise for bids for the improvements to be made in his office in the collector's office.

Goodfellowship Club
The Goodfellowship Club will give a St. Patrick's dance in P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra, Wednesday evening, March 17. Music will be furnished by the Royal Commanders.

The Club, which is about a month old, is a lusty youngster. In addition to the dance, it has arranged an evening of entertainment every Wednesday. On the first, second and third Wednesdays, the Rev. J. B. Whitton, a retired Methodist minister, of Palmyra, will talk to the members of the club. Last night his subject was "Creation."

All meetings are held in P. O. S. of A. Hall and men and women who want to spend a pleasant evening at quills and other indoor games are invited to become members. The dues are fifty cents a month.

FUNERAL OVER BRIDGE

The first funeral cortege to pass over the Delaware River Bridge was that of Mrs. Annie T. Barlow, of Maple Shade, who died recently. Mrs. Barlow was the wife of Thomas J. Barlow, a New Jersey member of the Bridge Commission, and was keenly interested in the bridge project. She often expressed the wish to be present at the formal opening of the bridge on July 4, and to be one of the first persons to cross the structure on that occasion.

In deference to Mr. Barlow the Commission granted permission for the funeral to cross the bridge, so that in death Mrs. Barlow might realize her wish. At noon Wednesday of last week the funeral passed over the structure.

It proceeded from Mr. Barlow's residence in Maple Shade to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, in Moorestown, where Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Leon Dineen, assistant rector. Mr. Barlow, who has been ill with pneumonia, left his sick bed to attend the service.

Headed by two Moorestown policemen and two New Jersey state troopers on motorcycles, the procession covered eleven miles to Camden, reaching the bridge at 11:50 a. m. The temporary wooden gates at the end of the bridge were opened and the procession proceeded over the bridge to the Philadelphia plaza and thence to the churchyard at St. Augustine's church, at Fourth and Vine streets. There the silver bronze casket was placed in the Barlow family vault.

THE QUESTION BOX

Different Forms of Wind

P. C., East Riverton—Is a cyclone, tornado and a hurricane all the same?

Ans.—No. A cyclone makes a circle covering a surface varying from one-half to five miles as it travels. The tornado is a "twister" of only a few feet in diameter and in appearance resembles a huge funnel. The hurricane is a straight sweep of wind that blows at the rate of about one hundred miles an hour.

Northern Part of France

L. D., Cinnaminson—Will you answer in your question column where the Percheron horses come from? Ans.—The Percheron horses originated from the department of Perche in the northern part of France.

Kab-a-ret

Sport, Palmyra—Will you be kind enough to answer in the query and answer column how to pronounce "kabaret"?

Ans.—Custom has two ways—"Kab-a-ret," with accent on kab; and "ka-ba-re," with accent on the last syllable. The former, however, is preferred.

Nearly Seven Years of Average Life

J. K., Riverton—How much of a man's life is spent in eating during a lifetime?

Ans.—Statistics available state that taking 70 years as a base has the average man spends six years and ten months in eating; also two years in dressing.

April 30, 1789

H. M., Riverton—Will you kindly state in the Q. & A. the day and date George Washington was first inaugurated president of the United States? Ans.—George Washington was first inaugurated president of the United States on Thursday, April 30th, 1789.

Both Fatal

Troubles, East Riverton—Which is the most harmful to drink—extracts or alcohol?

Ans.—Both will kill, but the most dangerous probably is the extract.

Xmas is a Contraction

Reader, Five Points—I would like to ask the New Era how people can make out that Christmas is spelled "Xmas"? Ans.—"Xmas" is a contraction of the word "Christmas" of substituting the cross (X) for Christ.

Tree Grows From Top

K. C., Asbury—Several years ago I cut a notch in a tree 3 feet from the ground. Today that tree is about three times as large, but the notch is still exactly three feet from the ground. How does that come? Ans.—The trunk of a tree grows in diameter, hence the notch would remain unchanged. In height, the tree grows from the top.

Size and Color Important Factors

F. T., Riverton—Are pearls sold by weight. If so, what are they worth a carat?

Ans.—They are not sold by weight. The size and color are the most important factors in determining their value.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Pastor Lockett will preach Sunday morning on "Three Requirements for Discipleship" and in the evening the topic will be "Seeking Jesus."

Plans are being laid for special Easter week services. The primary department of the Sunday School is preparing an Easter Program entitled "Why Didn't You Tell?" Miss Esther Dean would like to meet all the primary department children in the church on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

The week of March 21 is to be observed by Baptist Churches throughout the state as "Win-a-Friend Week." Special meetings for young people will be held during the week.

This evening the Bible Class meets at the home of Mrs. Pauline Bailey on Linden avenue. Mr. Thompson will teach.

Friday afternoon the "Happy Hour" group will meet at four and the Young People's Society will meet in the eve at eight. All young people in the community are invited.

Everything has been provided, music, vocal and instrumental, literary entertainment, refreshments and dancing—to make this year's affair the best ever. Admission—A ticket at 35c and a PACKAGE. Friends are to be used in the philanthropic work of the lodge.—Advertisement.

Dr. Lamb Enjoys Visit in Pasadena

Palmyra Man Says Theatres in West Have Some Rather Risque Shows

Dr. R. H. Lamb, of Palmyra, has written a fifth letter to The New Era Press concerning his trip to California.

California, Feb. 8, 1938.

For The Press:—

After spending a night in San Diego and on the following morning taking a good look around by means of an automobile ride, I left for Los Angeles by the Santa Fe R. R., where I got in touch with my relatives living in Pasadena by telephone. They soon after turned up with an automobile and conveyed me over there, where I journeyed about three weeks. My stay there was thoroughly enjoyable. My hosts were courteousness and kindness personified. They exerted themselves greatly to facilitate my pleasure and comfort and they succeeded admirably. Pasadena is certainly a very beautiful city containing a population of about 75,000. It is laid out on the plan of Philadelphia and extends over quite a large area. It is situated at the base of Mount Wilson which has an altitude of 6000 feet. Pasadena is 830 elevation, but Altadena which is built up continuously with Pasadena is closer up to the mountains and is therefore two or three hundred feet higher in altitude. I found the mountain air rather strong and irritating to my throat, which induced me to cough "to beat the band" all the while I was there and especially in the early morning. I found that such a thing was not at all unusual to newcomers. Several people have told me that they were affected in the same way for a considerable while after taking up residence there but when people become accustomed to the climate it is found to be very healthful and agreeable. The place is quite a winter resort. It is well supplied with good hotels and rooming houses. It has wide streets shaded with semi-tropical trees of very picturesque appearance, affording great variety and well kept lawns surrounding elegant and comfortable cozy homes are to be seen along the highways. It is purely residential in character and is inhabited by a very good class of people, largely made up of former residents of the Eastern states and the middle West. The retired class find it a very agreeable and comfortable place in which to spend their declining years.

Uniformed Girls Ushers

The business section contains some sky-scraping buildings, good stores, fruit and vegetable markets and public buildings. There are several very nice theatres and moving picture places, and I noticed that they have young lady ushers, who are dressed in semi-male attire. Some have red, and others white trousers. This seems to be a western stunt, unfamiliar to an Easterner. One place has a girl orchestra. Some of the features of some of the entertainments I have attended are giving out phoanant eggs to those who will hatch them. After the girl phoanants are hatched they are to be liberated in the woods to provide sport for gunners, and a record must be kept of the number of phoanants hatched in each setting. If anyone in these parts are interested in hatching out some of these eggs they may secure them by applying to Frank Holvick, Riverton, reports four arrests for intrusions on the automobile laws this week. Hearings will be held in the fire house Friday afternoon at 2:30. The Riverton department received instructions from Commissioner Dill this week to look out for drivers whose license tags are covered with dirt or partly hidden by cranks, handles, bumpers and tire holders. Hearings will be held before Mayor Fred P. Hemphill.

The two-inch gas pipes on Howard street are being replaced with six inch pipes by the Public Service Gas Company. The smaller pipes were laid nearly thirty years ago by the Riverside Gas Company which was organized at that time and served the people with gas for a short time of about a thousand feet. It was soon bought out by the Public Service, however. The larger pipes are being installed in order to give consumers along that street greater pressure and better service.

CALVARY PRESBYTERIAN

Next Sunday the pastor will preach at the morning worship at 11 a. m. on the subject: "Come With Us;" and in the evening at 8 p. m. on "The Christian's Banner." At the morning service there will be a short sermon for the children: "Station HEAVEN."

On Sunday afternoon the Church "every member canvass" will be made. Canvassers will visit every family of the congregation. All are requested as far as possible to be at home to receive them. The Christian Endeavor Society invites all young people of the community to share in its fellowship at 7:15 on Sunday evening.

The pastor urges the members of the congregation not to forget the assembling of themselves together on Wednesday evening in the Chapel at eight o'clock. The last of the studies on the Book of Acts will be taken up at that time.

The Young Men's Fellowship will give a Saint Patrick's Party in the Chapel on Monday evening, March 15th, at eight o'clock. All young people of the congregation, and their friends are invited.

and has grown into great renown. People came from all over the country to see it. Being only twelve miles from Los Angeles which contains over a million inhabitants, there is a very congested condition existing in Pasadena, when all the people from outside get there from far and near. I never saw so many automobiles together as I saw there that day.

I have seen some very big crowds assembled on some other occasions. I was in Philadelphia at the opening day of the Centennial year 1876 when there was a wonderful crowd of people in Independence Square. Another great mass of humanity I once saw in Calcutta, and I was on the Columbian Exposition grounds in Chicago on Illinois Day, when there were 750,000 people in attendance.

Weather Insurance

Great preparation is made for this carnival. Not having any tips from the clerk of the weather, they take out an insurance policy against any rain, which in this instance proved to be quite unnecessary as the day was about perfect. Spacious grandstands were erected all along the line of march on the extra wide and which is one of the extra wide and principal streets of the city. A great profusion of flowers made the festival more than ordinarily good this year.

Prices are offered for the best display of exhibits and many cities and societies vie with one another in their attempts to capture them. Some very novel and beautiful designs were therefore presented. The procession was long and extremely interesting, affording great variety and evidence of ingenuity in the arrangement of the floats with artistic skill and beauty. Only one thing detracted from its entire success. Unfortunately one of the grandstands had been insecurely put up and when about one-third of the procession had passed, it suddenly collapsed and precipitated its occupants of several hundred spectators into a struggling suffering mass of unfortunate victims of disaster. One person was killed, and two or three hundred were more or less injured, and a lot of bones broken. This caused a considerable delay in the movement of the procession, and the anxiety on the part of the people assembled.

On the summit of Mount Wilson is located a solar observatory instituted by the Carnegie Institute of Washington in the year of 1904. It has the largest telescope in the world, I think. I have heard that the lens is 100 inches in diameter, which represented more than eight feet across its face. It might therefore be described in the parlance of the period as "some telescope."

R. H. LAMB.

Lakes and Sea

Most geographers classify the Canadian sea as a sea. The term "sea" is generally applied to a great body of water, especially if salt or brackish. A decision delivered in the October term, 1903, by the Supreme court of the United States held that the Great lakes were seas in the legal sense of the term. The depression occupied by the Canadian sea is part of a great basin which in recent geological time included the Aral and Black seas, and probably connected by an arm with the Arctic ocean.

Great English Sailor

Sir Francis Drake, famous navigator of the time of Queen Elizabeth, sailed from Falmouth December 13, 1577, sailed around the globe and returned to England after suffering many hardships, on November 8, 1580. The queen visited Drake on his ship at Deptford April 4, 1581, and conferred upon him the honor of knighthood. He died at Panama January 28, 1596, while engaged in an expedition against the Spaniards, and was buried at sea.

Small, but Important

Keeping track of the one-celled plants and animals, too small to be seen except with a microscope, yet vastly important as the ultimate food of fishes and all other sea life, is the task of W. E. Allen of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Cal. Though these minute plants, belonging mainly to the diatom family, are too small to be eaten directly by fishes, they form the food of tiny shrimplike creatures that in their turn form the food of fishes. An understanding of the effects on the diatoms of light, temperature, chemical and other conditions is therefore important in building up an eventual complete understanding of fisheries and other sea industries, Mr. Allen explains.

The Three Wild Men

In illustration of the amusing misunderstandings of things happening in our good city during the Christmas times may be mentioned the impressions of a little five-year-old boy who took part in a tableau at one of the churches depicting beautiful events commemorating the nativity.

On being asked by his mother the next morning who it was followed the star until it stood above the manger in Bethlehem, he replied: "The three wild men." Being further asked what kind of gifts they brought, he replied: "Gold, frank-in-cense and mercury."—Indianapolis News.

The Square Peg

Geoffrey Morgan, the new head of the Dark Tobacco Growers' association, was talking in Hopkintonville about square pegs in round holes.

"It reminds me," he said, "of the husband who complained gently to his wife:

"It's awfully kind of you, dear, to undertake to supply my smoking requirements, but these cigars—er—well, you know, I'm afraid ten for a quarter is a little too cheap."

"Yes," said his wife, "it's frightfully cheap, of course, but I thought there'd surely be one or two good ones in the bunch."

PALMYRA SCHOOL NOTES

Several of the Palmyra High School students are preparing for the national oratorical contest. The school is entitled to one representative in the district contest. The winner of the district meet is entered in the regional contest. There are seven regional divisions in the United States and the winner of each regional oratorical contest receives a trip abroad as the award and the winner of the regional contest, who annexes the national title, also receives an additional award. Mr. Campbell, of the State Department of Manual Training, visited the school and inspected the work of that department recently.

Much interest is being displayed in the high school over the coming presentation of the senior class play, "Bab", a fascinating comedy which will be given in the Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, March 26 and 27.

Everyone is urged to keep the date March 23 in mind, as the high school orchestra will broadcast from WLIT, 3.15 to 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, the 29th.

For the past six years the Guild's receipts from the annual cake sale have gone toward the support of French war orphans, but since the French children are now able to care for themselves and there is a demand for assistance for American kiddies, the Guild has decided "charity begins at home."

The Men's Club is to be congratulated on obtaining a speaker of such note and every member should avail himself of the opportunity to hear the lecture.

Mrs. Stanley Lippincott will sing and the Artisans' Orchestra will be on hand to furnish another splendid program.

Ventilating arrangements have been taken to relieve the congestion of tobacco smoke, much to the relief of the club's president.

P. H. S. Basketball Teams Win Two

Girls Defeat Pitman, Class B Champs, While Boys Trim Tuckerton

The Palmyra High School basketball teams scored two of their biggest victories of the season last Friday. Both battles were waged on the local court and the Palmyra passers amassed a total of 90 points to their opponents' 23.

Friday afternoon the girls shook up the South Jersey League ranks with an unexpected victory over Pitman's fair passers. Pitman leads the Class B section of the circuit and was slated for an overwhelming victory over Palmyra. Undaunted by the highly touted sextette as the opposition, the local maids put up a brilliant game and came out on the long end of a 20-11 count.

The match under the tutelage of Morse excelled in every phase of the game, showing unusual speed, accuracy in passing and an eagle eye for the basket. The little monitor spent several days grooming the girls for the big battle and they showed the excellent results of his efforts.

Local Forwards Star

The clever pair of forwards, Helen Shakt and Cora Elliott performed at the home of the teacher, Leonard R. Baker, 501 Garfield avenue, Thursday evening.

Last Saturday Mrs. Pearl R. Carpenter sailed on the "Berengaria" for France. She expects to arrive at Cherbourg and during her stay there she will make an automobile tour of the country.

The Morley family will leave the early part of next week for Spring Lake, where the Rev. Mr. Morley will take up his new charge.

Next Year Promising

Coach Morse's finest season very optimistically, for although he will lose three of his varsity men through graduation this spring, he has a wealth of material to take up on the work on the court next year. This satisfactory condition in the result of having used all of the club he possibly could in big games this season, thus reasoning the future variety squad.

The big test of the season will come Saturday when the boys and girls teams play their final game of the year in scholastic circles. Both teams will travel to Ocean City and lower the curtain on what is said to have been the most successful basketball season in Palmyra's history. The shore combinations are said to be fast and will furnish the Palmyra invaders some high class opposition.

The two teams will meet the Atlantic squad in post-season (win bill at the high school gymnasium Friday evening, March 19).

PENNINGTON CLUB

Organization Devoted To Fostering Attendance at Epworth League Institutes

Pennington Club, an organization with membership limited to those who have attended Epworth League Institutes at Pennington during the past summer, was formed at the Epworth M. E. Church, Sunday.

The object of the club, as explained by its organizers, is to stimulate interest in the attendance of Leaguers at the Institute, and to maintain the spirit and enthusiasm obtained at Pennington during the entire year. The club's chief objective is to foster the idea of Leaguers attending the Pennington sessions and to finance the trips.

The club started work immediately and is arranging to present a concert with the University of Pennsylvania Male Quartet and assisting artists in the near future. The college quartet furnishes an excellent treat for music lovers and the accompanying artists include instrumental and vocal soloists. The committee in charge of the preparations for the concert is:

Robert Coward, who frequently travels with the quartet as an accompanying artist, chairman; Douglas Kersay, Harry Kemmerle Strang, Miss Kathryn Green and Miss Pearl Coombs.

The officers of the Pennington Club are Douglas Kersay, president; Miss Helen Lippincott, secretary; and Miss Fannie Green, treasurer.

Equipment For New Fire Truck

Specifications For Proposed Apparatus Will Be Submitted to Council

Friday evening of last week the Palmyra Borough Council Fire and Police Committee gave its O. K. to the specifications for the new hook and ladder truck for Independence Fire Company, Palmyra.

Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of last week the Fire company committee and the Borough committee inspected the hook and ladder trucks of various South Jersey fire companies and from the tour the fire company representatives were able to formulate a plan as to what the needs of Palmyra's new truck would be.

The specifications submitted by the company's committee call for an apparatus which will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000 to $6,000. The police and fire committees will present the plans to council at its meeting Tuesday night.

The specifications follow:

ROSALIE ROBERTS

Rosalie M. Roberts, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Roberts, died early Tuesday evening after an illness of forty-eight hours. Rosalie died of an attack of influenza pneumonia.

Sunday morning she attended Sunday School and church services at the Epworth M. E. Church, where she taught a class of small girls in the Sunday School. Sunday afternoon she began to complain of slight illness, her symptoms indicating she was suffering with a slight attack of the prevalent grippe. Her condition was worse and she was forced to remain in bed. She died shortly before seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

Rosalie's death came as a bitter shock to her large circle of friends at Palmyra where she was a popular member of the senior class. Her carefree, good natured disposition, keen sense of humor, and her buoyant spirit which seemed always present and contagious, made her one of the most popular girls in the Twin Cities.

Rosalie was one of the Palmyra High School girl athletes. She was manager and a member of this year's basketball team which is scheduled to play its last game of the season Saturday, played on the hockey team, was treasurer of the South Jersey Basketball League and was to have played one of the leading roles in "Bab", the senior class play which will be presented March 26 and 27.

Funeral services will be held at the home of the parents, 1008 Parry Avenue, Palmyra, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 with the Rev. Fred R. Morley officiating. Interment will be made in Morgan Cemetery with Funeral Director, Frank A. Snover in charge. Friends may call Friday evening.

In addition to the parents, one brother, Lamont, survives Rosalie. Lamont is 19 years old. He is a student at Palmyra High School and is manager of the boys' basketball team.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

REV. J. B. FLETCHER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Lesson for March 14

THE LAST WORDS OF JESUS WITH HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 13:1-31.
GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the way, the truth and the life," John 14:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Tells of the Heavenly Home.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Wonderful Promises.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Counsels and Confers with His Disciples.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ's Last Words with His Disciples.

The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. He had told them that He was going away and they could not follow Him. Their hearts were flooded with grief. He consoled them by—

1. Pointing to the Reunion in the Father's House (vv. 1-3).

2. He Asked Them to Trust in Him Even as God (v. 1).

3. Faith in the God man Christ Jesus will steady the heart no matter how intense the grief, nor how great the sorrow.

4. He Informed Them That He Was Going to the Father's House in Heaven to Prepare a Home for Them (v. 2).

He assured them that there was abundant room for all. Heaven is an eternal dwelling place. Only those who enter who have made the necessary preparation here.

5. He Assured Them That He Would Come Again and Escort Them to Heaven (v. 3).

Jesus will not wait for His own to come to Him, but will come and call forth from the grave those who have died and transform living believers and take them all to be with Himself in the heavenly home forever more.

6. Revealing the Way to the Father's House (vv. 4-11).

Jesus informed the disciples that they knew the place and the way to which He was going. To this Thomas interposed a doubt, in answer to which Christ asserts that He is—

1. The Way to God (v. 6).

He is more than a mere guide or teacher; He is the way itself. He is the door of the sheep fold; yea, the very entrance to the tree of life.

2. The Truth (v. 6).

He is not merely the teacher, but the Truth Incarnate. In His incarnation, the spiritual and material worlds were united. Therefore, every line of truth, whether spiritual or material, converges in Him. No one can ever have the real truth about anything who does not have Christ. In Him especially we have the truth about God. To pretend to know God, while at the same time rejecting Jesus Christ is utter folly. Only as Christ reveals God can man know Him (John 1:18).

3. The Life (v. 6).

Christ is not merely the giver of life, but He is the essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the true sense. This is a truth which cannot be arrived at by intellectual processes. It is a mystery which can only be penetrated by faith.

III. Assuring Them That His Work Was to Continue (vv. 12-14).

Jesus' going away was not to end the work which He had begun. This no doubt means that through the ministry of the spirit-filled disciples the work which He had begun would assume larger proportions. After the Day of Pentecost the church took a much wider range. During His ministry the message was confined to the Jews, while under the ministry of the disciples it was only limited by the world itself. The disciples' ministry was ushered in by the conversion of three thousand in one day.

IV. Promising Another Comforter (vv. 15-17).

The word "comforter" means literally one called to the side of another to give help, protection and deliverance. This comforter was the Holy Spirit. Jesus was the comforter while here in the body. The Holy Spirit was to be another comforter.

V. Assuring Them of His Return to Them (vv. 18-24).

Although Christ went away He did not leave His disciples as orphans. He is spiritually present with them always. The Father and the Son make their abode with the disciples who love and obey Jesus Christ.

VI. Assuring Them That the Holy Spirit Would Aid Them in Remembering and Understanding His Words (vv. 25, 26).

This the Holy Spirit does by illuminating the minds of the disciples.

VII. Giving the Legacy of His Peace (vv. 27-31).

Dependent Upon God
All men, whether they know it or not, are unconsciously dependent upon God, else no man could live out a day. The religious man is one who is aware of that truth, and who seeks by active choice and will to know and do the will of Him in whose great hand he stands.—Joseph Fort Newton.

Unkind Language
Unkind language is sure to produce the fruits of unkindness, that is, suffering to the bosom of others.

Animal Disease Kills Woman
Pine Bluff, Ark.—Mrs. J. H. Sheppard died from trichinosis, a disease common among animals, but seldom experienced in the human race. She contracted the disease by eating pork. Six others are sick.

Texas Farmers Drop Cotton
Gainesville, Texas—Col. Clarence Osley, director of the Texas State Farming Association, urges farmers to revolt against cotton by planting substitute crops in food and feed crops.

White Satin Used for Chirping Frock

Nothing is prettier for the debutante than white satin. This material is chosen for this winsome dancing frock. The skirt conforms to the smart flare mode. The unusual back cut gives the gown a slightly sophisticated air.

New Silk Print Designs for Spring and Summer

A stained-glass window inspired the designs of the newest silk print patterns which will be worn the coming spring and summer in the North. The new silks are covered thickly with extraordinary geometric designs in either polychrome pastel shades or in one and two-tone pastel effects. Squares, chevrons and triangles are piled on in lustrous confusion, but with a delightful blending of color.

The new printed silks, especially those designed for afternoon frocks, are being woven in very broad widths. The skirts of the afternoon dresses are frequently plain in the back, with a slight fullness in front. One width forms the skirt and the fullness is produced by placing the seam in the center of the front, with a plait on each side of the seam.

If one has a new and handsome hat, pin, it seems essential to have a hat with which to wear it. This is one of the things responsible for the popularity of the beret. Nothing is more suitable on which to pose a pin than a black velvet beret with a narrow slightly drooping brim.

Vanities Are Dainty; Shopping Bags Large

The latest vanities are dainty trifles. One is a rose, made of ribbon or strips of silk, which is attached to a wrist-band of silk elastic. The band is covered with fancy ribbon in a flowered pattern, or metal brocade, and the flowers, a clever reproduction, conceal a little powder puff, rouge and lip stick. Another ultra-modern invention is a silk-covered disk on which is painted a face to match the dolls seen on the toilet articles and accessories of dress. Shopping bags are of many designs, but all are large. The most swagger of all is a knapsack shape of generous size. The most popular resembles a traveling bag, with a snap clasp at the top and with handles of leather, or snakeskin, and other novelty leathers and clever imitations are the materials used.

Sleeves Are Plaited From Elbow to Wrist

The graceful swing of the skirts is being copied extensively in the designs of the sleeves of present-day gowns. Frequently the sleeves, which are extremely tight from shoulder to elbow, are duplicated of the skirts from the elbow down. As a result, plaited, so omnipresent on skirts, are becoming a feature on sleeves. Even velvet sleeves are so treated. One new cloak, for example, is of ruby velvet with the sleeves plaited from elbow to wrist and trimmed with black fox.

Pins for Millinery

Among the little brilliant pins designed for millinery and brooch purposes are tiny animals and birds of brilliant mounted on pins which are screwed together. Two wee elephants that can be worn as a scarf pin or hat ornament, for instance, are among them.

New Arctics

An innovation which will be welcomed by the woman who hates the utilitarian appearance of black arctics are garishes of almond green or tan trimmed with black.

Co-Kid Wallops Sheth

Ripon, Wis.—Marie Deveraux, 19 years old co-ed, was accosted by a snarling sheik who said, "come here, cutie." She knocked him into a lamp pole, seized and turned him over to a policeman.

GIRARD HAS ROYAL REVENUE FROM COAL

Easily Richest Educational Institution on Earth.

Girard college royalties on coal last year amounted to $3,800,000, says "Girard" in the Philadelphia Inquirer. That last year the consumers paid about $1,000,000,000 for their anthracite delivered into their coal bins. Wiping out that royalty would be like dipping a drop from a bucket of water.

Years ago the Girard estate stopped spending its coal royalties. The estate managers, which is the Board of City Trusts, wisely decided that coal in the ground is capital.

When that capital is removed from the earth its equivalent in dollars must be invested to take its place. Otherwise the estate would some day have spent its great resource of revenue.

Coal royalties for years past have been invested and only the interest on that investment is spent.

Last year the value of the Girard estate increased almost $11,000,000, which inspires Walter C. Gold, a graduate of Girard college, to give other interesting figures.

Girard college is now, as it has been from the beginning, the richest educational institution on earth.

At the start of the present year the four biggest college endowments in the world stood in this order:

Girard—$72,000,000.

Harvard—$64,000,000.

Columbia—$50,000,000.

Yale—$40,000,000.

Stephen Girard died ninety-four years ago, and his fortune of about $8,000,000 was the largest then in America. More than $7,000,000 of that was set aside for the creation and maintenance of Girard college, which the old banker directed to be built on lines carefully set down by himself.

No other college in the world was then worth anything near $7,000,000. The figures show that it still leads, although enormous gains made by Harvard and Columbia may soon remove Girard from first place.

This college for fatherless boys, of whom there are now more than fifteen hundred students, has had a unique record.

A Girard student is not only educated free of all cost, but his food and clothing are provided free from the day he enters until he graduates.

Thus Girard college has sent into the world many thousands well trained youths and at the same time multiplied its capital from about $7,000,000 to more than ten times that sum.

Uncanny Experiment

The appointment of Joseph Barcroft as professor of physiology at Cambridge university, England, recalls the fact that Professor Barcroft once performed an experiment which attracted world-wide attention. He was studying lung diseases. For one whole week he remained in a glass chamber from which all the air was pumped except the smallest amount required to sustain life. Students watched in relays day and night to see that the small motor drawing out the vitiated air did not stop, for if it had stopped even for a few minutes it would have meant certain death to Professor Barcroft. When the scientist emerged from the glass chamber his body had turned completely blue.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Iron-Will'd Man

"The saving grace of life is that we aren't compelled to do a number of things we ought to do," a man with an expanding waistline philosophizes. "Now I ought to take exercises, but I don't. Instead, I turn on the radio in the morning and jump back in bed while the announcer is directing the morning calisthenics. I lie there and think of how early the poor announcer gets to work, and of how uncomfortable the poor fellows are who are exercising, and of how pleasant it is to be strong-willed enough to resist the temptation to exercise, and I enjoy it. That little bit of calisthenics in the morning sweetens my whole day for me."—Detroit News

Historic Pistol Has Had Many Duplicates

There are indications that Alexander Hamilton was riddled with bullets that summer morning on the heights at West Point. There are too many pistols that ended his life to permit one to believe there was just one shot. Every now and then the pistol that Burr used turns up somewhere or other.

After the fatal shot the pistol that was used by Burr was turned over to Judge William Van Ness, the second of the victor—that there is no doubt. He presented it to Col. James Bowie, who gave it to Doctor Carr of Baltimore.

In time that clever temperamental Kentucky orator, Tom F. Marshall, had an impulse not uncommon to those days, to shoot James Watson Webb, the editor of the New York Courier and Enquirer, and in the duel arranged Carr acted as Marshall's second, and it was the Burr pistol that killed Hamilton, which Marshall used in crippling Webb for life.

The famous weapon was retained by Marshall, who gave it to his brother, and the latter carried and used it in the war with Mexico. That would have given Burr a thrill—he had so wanted to shoot Mexicans himself.

If pistols could write memoirs, what interesting stories this one with the twelve-inch barrel could tell.—Houston Post.

High Explosive Power in Particles of Dust

It is not generally known that flour, sugar, starch or grain dusts are capable of working greater havoc than a high explosive, such as dynamite, says the London Tit-Bits.

In a barrel or sack flour is harmless. But if you were to take handfuls of it and throw it about until the air in the room was full of it and then light a match the house might be blown to pieces.

Flour is a combustible substance. When a cloud of it floats in the air of a room every particle is in immediate contact with oxygen, and a flame or even a spark will cause it to burn.

Instantaneously the whole of it is converted into gas, which, expanding in a closed area, blows out the walls.

Powdered sugar is also extremely dangerous, while powdered spices, oatmeal and even soap will explode.

Some months ago a workman lifted the lid of a bin containing flour, and held a lighted match inside to see how full it was. An explosion took place immediately and the unfortunate man was badly injured. Yet it was not the mass of the flour that went off but only what was about in the air of the bin.

Many an office-holder sees the nation trembling on the brink when the only thing in danger is his job.

CONSTANTINE

THERE is more to the service than the consumption of a business arrangement. There is a sympathetic supervision that makes the ceremony an eventful memorial.

Burlington Bridge Bill in Congress

Bacharach Introduces Measure To Obtain Permission From Washington

Another important step was taken in the Burlington-Bristol bridge campaign last week when Representative Isaac Bacharach, of the Second New Jersey District, introduced a bill in Congress for the construction of a bridge across the Delaware River at this point. The bridge was referred to a committee for consideration and there is no doubt that the consideration will be favorable to the work in hand. That Congressman Bacharach quickly sensed the importance of a bridge in this section is not at all surprising. Ever since he has been a member of Congress he has taken special pains to familiarize himself with the needs of the people of his district and secure it for them if possible. He knows the river transportation condition in Burlington and realizes the justice of the campaign that is being waged for a bridge.

Need Congress O. K. Because of the fact that the Delaware River is a tide-water stream at this point and under the jurisdiction of the United States Government it is necessary to get permission from Congress as well as from the State of New Jersey and the state of Pennsylvania to build the bridge. Those back of the bridge campaign in Burlington feel much encouraged over the fine move made by Mr. Bacharach. It is a long drive toward a great goal and adds to the assurance that the Delaware River at this point soon will be spanned. Mr. Bacharach's bill follows:—

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the consent of Congress is hereby granted to John Lyle Harrington and Joseph R. Chesman or their heirs, assigns, or legal representatives, to locate, construct, maintain, and operate a bridge and approaches thereto across the Delaware River, at a point suitable to the interest of navigation, at or near the city of Burlington, New Jersey, in accordance with the provisions of an Act entitled 'An Act to regulate the construction of bridges over navigable waters,' approved March 23, 1906.

May Take Over Bridge "Section 2. The state of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, or either thereof, or any political subdivision or divisions thereof, may jointly or severally, at any time after fifteen years from the completion of said bridge, take over and acquire the complete ownership thereof at a price to be mutually agreed upon by the owner thereof and such state or states or subdivisions or divisions thereof, or at a price to be determined by condemnation proceedings in accordance with the general laws of the state of New Jersey or the state of Pennsylvania governing the acquisition of private property for public purposes by condemnation, or at a price to be fixed by such other method as may be provided by law: Provided, that if such bridge shall be acquired by the said states or either thereof, or by any political or other subdivision or divisions thereof, by condemnation or other legal proceedings in accordance with the general laws governing the acquisition of private property for public purposes, in determining the measure

"SURVEYOR" HEINEN

After the destruction of the airship Shenandoah, Captain Anton Heinen, who was construction engineer when the dirigible was built at Lakehurst, was compelled to seek other occupation. He tried to organize a private company to operate a line of airships. This proved very difficult and now Captain Heinen has accepted a position as a surveyor on a development project on the State Highway between Lakehurst and Toms River. This does not necessarily mean that the captain is to remain out of the airship business as that is one thing with which he is perfectly familiar and in which he is very much interested. He will wait the time when the Los Angeles has proved her worth for air purposes. Then he will probably go ahead with his project of organizing a dirigible company.

ure of damages or compensation to be paid for the same there shall not be included any credit or allowance or good will, going value, or prospective revenues or profits, but the same shall be limited to an amount not exceeding the cost of constructing such bridge and approaches thereto, including interest and other charges incidental to any necessary loans made in connection with financing such construction, legal and engineering services, contingent expenses, actual betterments and improvements, less a reasonable deduction for actual depreciation: Provided further, that if such bridge shall be acquired or taken over by the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, or either of them, or by any political subdivision or divisions thereof, in accordance with the provisions of this Act, the same may be operated by such state or states or political subdivision or divisions thereof as a toll bridge for a period of not to exceed five years from the date of acquisition thereof, after which time it shall be and remain a free bridge.

"Section 3. The right to alter, amend, or repeal this Act is hereby expressly reserved."

State Agriculture Department Meets

Several Burlington County Men Attend Session At Trenton

Presentation of a program of operations of the State Department of Agriculture for the current year featured a conference Thursday of last week between members of the State Board of Agriculture, acting as a board of directors for agriculture, and seventy representatives farmers from every county in the state. The conference was held at Trenton. Former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, President of the State Board, presided at the conference. Other members of the state board in attendance were Vice-President Fred Lippincott, of Moorestown; H. W. Jeffers, of Plainsboro; George E. Roberts, of Keyport; Laton M. Parkhurst, of Hammonton; Clifford E. Snyder, of Pittstown; W. W. Titworth, of Sumner; and Elmer H. Wene of Vineland.

In his opening remarks President Frelinghuysen referred to the close relation of the Department to the farmers of the state. He dwelt upon the efficiency that had obtained under this unique plan, and gave as proof the responsiveness of the department to the farmers' needs. Secretary William B. Duryee of the state board discussed the organization of the department. He referred to the marked spirit of service pervading the department in its relation to the state board and farmers of the state, who produce more than $70,000,000.00 worth of agricultural products annually.

As Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Dr. J. H. McNeil told of the growing importance of livestock in New Jersey, asserting that one-fifth of the dairy cows of the state are now under state and federal supervision for the eradication of tuberculosis.

Increasing demand for New Jersey farm products was pointed out by A. L. Clark who showed that the bureau of markets was helping to develop public confidence in the state's products. He further asserted that the city market plan in Trenton, Camden and Burlington had proved a success, and that several other communities are arranging to take on similar marketing plans this season.

H. B. Weiss, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics and Inspection, spoke particularly of the inspection work performed by the division and presented plans for the control of the gypsy moth and the Japanese beetle, which will be put into effect this year. He stated that gypsy moth eradication appeared to be in sight. Mr. Weiss stated that the Japanese beetle quarantine would make it more effective and insure the movement of farm products from the quarantined area to outside markets. Among those who attended were Harold Homer, of Mount Holly; C. H. Cowperthwaite, Medford; William M. Horner, Haddonfield; T. Sherman Borden, Beverly; John G. Pettit, Moorestown Trust Co., Moorestown.

state's products. He further asserted that the city market plan in Trenton, Camden and Burlington had proved a success, and that several other communities are arranging to take on similar marketing plans this season.

PERMANENT FIX WITH CONCRETE

Concrete is recommended by the rural engineering department of the State College of Agriculture for general repairs of sills and floors of farm buildings. This material is easy to handle and effects an extremely durable repair. Because of its resistance to water, concrete is especially useful for those parts of buildings which are near the ground line. Even if rotting has occurred, the superstructure of the building can be saved by early action. In the case of a sill, cut away the lower ends of the studding and put in a new sill one and a half to two feet above the ground. Then

DRY CANDIDATES

The first Presidential candidate of the Prohibition party of the United States was James Black of Pennsylvania, who was nominated at the party's national convention, held in Columbus, Ohio, in 1872. He received 5,603 votes, was a native of Lewisburg, and died in Lancaster, Pa., 33 years ago. In 1876 Green Clay Smith was the dry standardbearer and got a total of 3,552 votes. Neal Dow received 10,505 votes in 1880, and John P. St. John was given 151,009 votes four years later. In 1888 Clinton B. Fisk received 249,907 votes. The party's high water mark was reached in 1893, when John Bidwell's vote was 254,132.

Semi-Centennial of Telephone Being Celebrated This Week

332,000 Telephone People Join in Commemoration of Birth of Telephone, Which Took Place on March 10, 1876

Three hundred and thirty-two thousand people in the service of the Bell System and several thousand employees of other telephone companies connecting with the Bell are now wearing a blue button in commemoration of the first telephone conversation.

When Dr. Bell, on March 10, 1876,

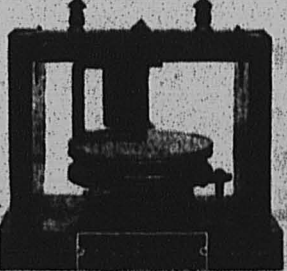

The attic at 109 Court Street, Boston, where Bell conducted his experiments said, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you," he heralded the birth of the telephone and of a service that has left an indelible mark on the life and history of the country.

It was on that day, fifty years ago, that the strange gasps and eerie mutterings of Dr. Bell's laboratory telephone were first translated into coherent speech. Since June of the year before he had been on the verge of discovery, but Nature, which had partly revealed his secret, was tantalizing him by refusing to part with it all.

The faint twang of a vibrating clock spring had been transmitted with its variations in sound on a hot June day in 1875 in the little attic at 109 Court Street, Boston, where Bell had his workshop. It sounded in its varying pitches could be so transmitted, the young inventor saw no reason why voice sounds would not respond similarly.

For forty weeks Bell and his assistant, Thomas A. Watson, labored over the coils of wire and diaphragms, trying to make the mute metal speak. Dr. Bell was particularly well adapted for the work in hand. For three generations he had been a professor of the science of talking, and Bell himself as a boy had made a contrivance of gutta serena and India rubber which, when activated by a blast from a hand bellows, would pronounce words in almost human fashion.

The first telephone

Before the clock-spring episode Bell had a school for deaf mutes in Boston.

Shortly afterward the telephone was displayed at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. Amid the scientific marvels of the time, which included the electric light, the grain binder and the mechanical telegraph of Elisha Gray, the telephone was relegated to an obscure corner. Had it not been for the humanitarian impulses of Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, it would probably have remained in its obscurity. His interest in it and in its inventor brought it prominently to the attention of the scientists who were acting as judges. When they realized its value, it was elevated to the position of the crowning achievement of the exposition.

But the trials and tribulations of the telephone were not over after the Centennial. It had been endorsed, it is true, by the scientists of the day, but to laymen it was merely a bit of black magic and legerdemain. Even among the scientists were those who considered the telephone a toy, a freak of electricity, interesting, but of no great commercial value.

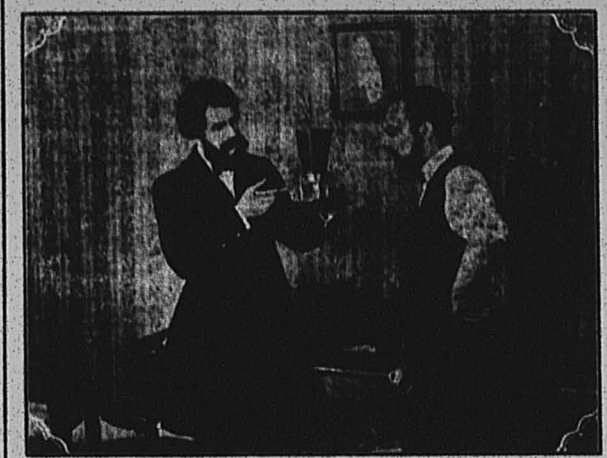

Nor was the understanding that the telephone was somehow or other in league with the powers of darkness the only obstacle that the newly born telephone was forced to encounter.

A contest for its control was waged between the Bell Company, this turned out to be the finest sort of advertising, for people began to realize that there must be something to an invention that a powerful and well-established company was anxious to acquire.

From such beginnings and from such problems emerged the Bell System of today. Dr. Bell, whose death occurred July 21, 1922, lived to see his discovery develop into a nationwide service of communication. Mr. Watson is still in excellent health.

From the two telephones in Bell's workshop has grown the 16,750,000 telephones in the country today. More than 800,000 of these were added last year. From an investment of perseverance, time, skill and an idea has grown the plant of the Bell System that is now valued at close to $3,000,000,000. More than 50,000,000 telephone calls of every description are handled daily over the Bell lines in the country. Over 332,000 people are employed by this system. A city as large as Boston and San Francisco combined would be required to in the courts. Others claimed the invention. Great companies fought bitterly contested legal battles over the validity of the original patents. Dr. Bell had no money except that which was supplied by the small but loyal band that supported him. But it is a significant fact that all the legal battles were decided in favor of the Bell Company except two minor suits involving contracts.

Hard-headed business men would not invest their money in the new business. It was not until the most important and influential wire company of

The Bell System is now owned largely by the people it serves. More than 332,000 persons hold stock in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which is the parent company of the Bell System. No stockholder has as much as one per cent of the stock. In addition there are over 175,000 holders of the common and preferred stocks of the Associated Telephone Companies, so that, making allowance for duplications, there are now about 500,000 separate owners of the Bell System.

Former Palmyra Teacher Ousted

Ralph N. Weaver Loses Principalship of Conshohocken High School

The resignation of Ralph N. Weaver, accused principal of the Conshohocken High School, was accepted Monday night by the School Board after a closed meeting which lasted three hours.

Weaver was a member of the Palmyra High School faculty as science instructor for several years. He resigned his Palmyra position at the close of last year's school term to accept the principalship of Conshohocken High School.

He was charged with bringing liquor into the school building and being unduly familiar with girl pupils. The resignation will take effect April 8. It first was to become effective March 15, but the date was extended, as his contract called for thirty days notice.

While he waited for the verdict of the Board Weaver told reporters of the alleged machinations of his teaching staff.

"This attempt to oust me has been going on since fall," he said. "The results of the election were not satisfactory. There was dissatisfaction among the teachers and consequent slackening of discipline. Their agitation arose because of a Ku Klux Klan among the pupils. The school was thoroughly disorganized."

"Discipline was imperative. I disciplined teachers and pupils alike and, well—nobody likes discipline especially after a period of laxness, so naturally, I incurred their dislike. Then they started to work seriously to bring about my dismissal and this is the result."

Mr. Weaver talked with an air of jaunty bravado, the attitude which he has assumed ever since the charges were brought against him. He spoke of demanding a vindication and of an affidavit which he said would quash the charges against him.

After an hour's waiting, he was called into the office. He presented the affidavit, by Clyde Saylor, a chemistry teacher and one of Weaver's chief accusers, to the effect that the charges made against him were the result of a concerted effort on the part of the teaching staff to have him ousted as a result of the unrest which followed the election of the new school board.

Heated session ensued. Weaver's friends defending him and Mrs. Bessie Elsey, a member of the committee on Teachers and Text Books, staunchly insisting that the resignation be accepted. A decision was reached at 12:10.

Weaver left the office crestfallen and disappointed and rushed out of the building to his home, where he refused to make any comment.

In a previous statement, Weaver had told of threatening letters received by him after he had polled a heavy majority at the election of the school board, when he was the only member re-elected.

The board, in its report after investigating the charges against Weaver, declared it believed the principal had shown "a lack of cooperation between teachers and principal, had been lacking in proper school decorum becoming a principal and was not the high type of man capable of setting a standard of ideals that would command the respect from the faculty or the pupils."

At the meeting the principal was defended by Mr. Wood, who has supported him since his dismissal was recommended by the Teachers and Text Book Committee of the Board.

A charge that a woman teacher in the grade school was intoxicated during school sessions and had to be taken home, also has been brought up.

Our extra slice of pie for this week is awarded to the newspaper that goes to church next Sunday and week is awarded to the newspaper that starts the habit.

Installments

Up until a short time ago the principle of selling against installment payments was confined to a very few lines of business. Recently the idea has been taken up rather generally.

That it has been a stimulus to business is conceded but there is a disposition on the part of some business men and economists to question its advantages in several other respects.

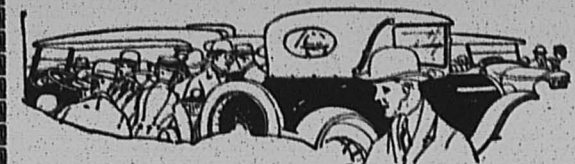

Applied to saving through a bank account, however, the installment idea is fundamentally sound.

Why not make it a practice to pay installments to your bank account; you will find you are purchasing something of great value by so doing.

C. OF C. TO ACT ON POOR B. K. SERVICE HERE

the huge cranes frequently get in the way of the trains.

Must Take Turns

The delay in providing engines for the trains at the terminal, said Mr. Galloway, is due to the same difficulty, getting in late from the Trenton run. Every engine must be turned on the turntable in order to take a train out again. And every engine must wait its turn on the turntable. It is an engine in late getting in, then other engines naturally get ahead of it and further delay results.

When the Pavonia yards are finished, said Mr. Galloway, many of these difficulties will be relieved, but there is no present hope of any solution of the drawbridge situation.

The Chamber then turned to other matters. Its unanimous endorsement was given the movement to purchase a new ladder truck for the Fire Company. Walter Lemon urged that all members should do what they could to support the Palmyra Post office. The matter of taking part in the South Jersey exposition in Camden was brought up and referred to the Utilities Commission.

Will Aid Legion

Then the Legion's difficulties were mentioned. Mr. Lees said that the board of Directors last Thursday evening had thought the Chamber might undertake to guarantee fifty men who would pledge $5 a year toward the support of the Legion Home. Mr. Wimer explained that a contributing membership of this sort had been contemplated by the Citizens committee originally.

Major Weart moved that a committee be appointed to undertake the $250 a year, which was unanimously passed. Mr. Wimer was delegated to transmit the news to the Legion which was in session on the second floor. His announcement was received with much appreciation.

Many members of the chamber expressed the hope that the thing be tried out on some one street in town, being sure that the other streets would rapidly follow the example.

Commander Rex McCrosson then appeared before the Chamber to express his appreciation of what had been done for the Legion and to describe the Post's plans toward making their Home a real community affair.

The following new members were elected to the Chamber: Lester Steele, Birrell La Force, James J. Tomes, Geo. W. Daddino, Frank Bira, Erwin Harker, Jos. S. Low.

Reply to Beekly

The following is J. Edwin Lees' reply to Nathan S. Beekly's letter of last week's issue requesting the Chamber of Commerce to wage a fight for better train service:

March 8th, 1926.
Mr. Nathan S. Beekly,
905 Highland Avenue,
Palmyra, N. J.

Dear Sir:—
Your letter dated February 25th is hereby acknowledged, and I wish to thank you for same.

I can assure you that personally I thoroughly agree with you in your assertions and facts regarding the train service accorded the citizens of Palmyra, especially owing to the fact that I am a commuter on the 5:36 and 6:00 P. M. trains and thoroughly agree with you that the service rendered by the Pennsylvania Railroad, especially on said above trains is the poorest I have ever witnessed and is an injustice to the public who are compelled to use this branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

It has been my intention to bring this matter before the Chamber of Commerce and also before the Borough Council at the next meeting with the request that definite action be taken regarding this condition. I am sure that other communities, such as Riverton, Riverside, Delanco and Burlington are interested in this matter and that by cooperative action through the various organizations of these towns some constructive results might be obtained.

Your statement that the Chamber of Commerce is a "Joke" is unfair, especially to myself as having been its Presiding Officer but one month. I consider it unfair for anyone to pass judgment on the organization in such manner as I personally know of many very beneficial improvements accomplished through the Chamber during the past five years, and for anyone to make such an assertion leads me to believe such person has a chip on his shoulder.

I am enclosing a card for membership in the Chamber of Commerce with my personal invitation to you to become one of our members, assuring you that it is just such persons as yourself that will make our organization a real Chamber of Commerce in both name and nature, as it is such matters as these that should consume the time and energy of such organizations. Assuring you that this matter will be placed before the Chamber with all the energy I possess, I am Very truly yours, J. Edwin Lees.

RIVERTON COUNCIL WILL CONSIDER ZONING SYSTEM

Councilman Williams Points Out Danger of Delaying Action Too Long

TO START WORK SOON ON RESURFACING STREETS

The newly-established plan of operation by the Riverton Borough Highway Department, whereby the work is done by the department's own forces, instead of by contract or day work, is being discussed at the meeting of the borough council last Thursday night. In the absence of Mayor Hemphill, William B. Lynch, president, occupied the chair.

Councilman Shawell fired the first shot when a bill was read for $40 for removing borough property from the stable yard of Robert Clelland where it had been stored, to a corner of memorial park. He said he thought this work should have been done by the man employed by the highway department, and that much money saved to the taxpayers. It was explained that some of the flag stones were too heavy to load onto the borough truck, which stands comparatively high from the ground.

Anyway, Mr. Shawell thought, it was going to cost more to keep the streets in shape under the new plan than under the old.

This brought a rejoinder from Councilman Welch that the highway department now has the town in better shape than he had ever seen it, and if it cost more, it was worth it, as more work was being done.

Chairman Lynch, of the highway committee, said that if it did cost more the new plan had the advantage of a man going about town all the time keeping things done and the borough clean, instead of letting it get all littered up and then putting a big bang on for a general clean-up.

Mr. Lynch also reported that the department had been coping with the heavy snowfall and that a lot of extra help had been hired in order to get the streets cleared as quickly as possible. He suggested, too, that streets intersecting with main thoroughfares be paved with cement or asphalt back a distance of about twenty feet, so as to stop the continual cutting out of the roadway where cars swing the corner.

As soon as the frost is out of the ground it is the purpose of the highway department, Mr. Lynch said, to start resurfacing the streets that most need it with gravel. He hoped to get under way about the middle of April.

In his report Mr. Lynch also suggested the advisability of taking out accident insurance to cover the men working for the borough. He was authorized to take the matter up with the police department and take out the insurance if necessary.

Action on Bank Avenue

Chairman Lynch also reported that the committee having in charge the improvement of the roadway on the river bank had called him up within the last few days and asked for a conference with the borough authority to decide what type of tree dressing should be applied.

Chairman Welch of the light committee reported he had received two requests for additional street lights.

Director of Public Safety Edward B. Williams had long reported for the police department, including a number of fires, four "guests" in the city jail during the month, a dangerously rotten tree on Seventh street, a robbery and four arrests for violation of the traffic laws.

Mr. Lynch said the dangerous tree should be reported at once to the shade tree commission, which had the power to order its removal.

When Director Williams asked for a $50 apparatus for marking traffic lines on the streets, the Economy Brigade unmasked its batteries and trained its guns on the affable director, who smiled on amid criticism and ridicule, and while he finally bowed to the weight of superior numbers, he was firmly maintained to the last that Riverton should have the most approved type of marker such as is used by other progressive towns.

In answer to an inquiry he stated that in previous years marking had been done with a paint brush by the police officers, but that it was very hard work, slow and tedious. He wanted to extend the area of marking this year, and for that reason wanted some means of doing it quickly and efficiently. He said the painting had to be renewed about every two weeks. Councilman Welch facetiously said he thought the officers really ought to keep on doing the painting "to keep them in condition."

Williams Wastes Road Signs
Mr. Williams also asked for road signs directing motorists to Trusty, Camden and the shore points. This proposition did not meet with very enthusiastic reception either, but as a compromise Councilman Shawell suggested that he might see if the county board of freeholders would not furnish the signs he wanted.

Six months or more ago Mr. Williams suggested that Church Lane, between Main street and Lippincott street, and running from Broad street to Fourth, be made a one-way street, with traffic routed to ward the river. Nothing came of it at the time, and Thursday night he brought it up again. He pointed out the danger to pedestrians and cars passing on Broad street, from cars coming out of Church Lane. Only recently he had seen a little girl narrowly escape being run down. The view east is completely obscured by the brick building which is built right out on the sidewalk. There seemed to be little sentiment among the councilmen in favor of making the change.

MAYOR HOLDS COURT

Violators of Motor Vehicle Laws Find Riverton Means Business

Last Friday afternoon, Mayor Fred F. Hemphill held court in the council chamber to hear cases of violation of the motor vehicle law. Mrs. Mary L. West, of Riverton, appeared to answer for parking without lights and was dismissed without a fine after Judge Hemphill had pointed out the danger of this practice and cautioned her to be more careful in the future.

Mary Johnson, who received a card for the same offense, requested and received a postponement of his case.

Clarence Lane, of 6513 VanDyke street, Philadelphia, was charged with breaking the traffic standard by crossing and main streets, March 7. The accident occurred at ten o'clock at night and was caused, according to Lane, by turning around to talk to the women on the back seat. He was let off with paying a cost of repairing the damage which amounted to $135.

Martin Cusick, of Williamstown, who was wanted for driving past the red traffic signal did not appear and will be dealt with later.

On Monday, the Mayor heard the case of Elmer Bishop, of Riverside Park, who was charged by Officer Miller with driving a car without license tags. A fine of $25.00 was imposed. The maximum fine is $100. The charge of driving without a driver's license was not pressed.

It is understood that Bishop took his brother's car and after removing the license tags went for a joy ride. He was seen cavorting up and down Burlington Pike, which was reported to Officer Walter G. Miller, who found the car abandoned. After a little clever investigation the officer discovered who had been driving the car. It is understood that Bishop had his license revoked about a year ago for driving while intoxicated and that it was to have been renewed early in April. Some whiskey bottles were found in the car but they contained nothing more than the odor.

Contagious Cases Not Reported

Palmyra Council Is Told of Case of Diphtheria Not Being Quarantined

Some of the physicians of the Twin towns came in for severe criticism by the Board of Health at the meeting of Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday evening.

The chief complaint was the failure sometimes and almost continual tardiness on the part of the physicians in complying with the state laws regarding reporting and quarantining cases of communicable diseases.

One doctor, who still practices here although it is understood his office is in a neighboring town, was accused of having failed to quarantine or report a case of diphtheria until after the victim, an Italian child had died and a public funeral had been held.

The funeral director in this case, a Camden undertaker who is also said to be a coroner in Camden County, was also guilty of flagrantly violating the law, representatives of the Board of Health declared.

Justice Is Accused
The town Justice of the Peace also was brought into this case. He was accused of having refused or failed to issue a warrant for the offending physician or complainant, which would have enabled the Justice to order the doctor to be present and the Justice's office was closed.

The Councilmen shared the indignation of the Board of Health at these proceedings and asserted that the Board had full power to enforce the law and that if the Justice refused to issue the necessary warrants, he would be disciplined by the Mayor.

Other Doctors of both towns were said to be negligent in filing with the Board of Health the various papers which are required in communicable diseases, although the Board has furnished all with copies of the state laws covering the matter.

Board Urged to Act
Since Borough Council has no jurisdiction in Board of Health matters, beyond appointing the members, no action was taken by Council beyond recommending that the Board go to the full extent of the law in enforcing observance of rules and regulations in Palmyra.

Mr. Renshaw, of the Health Board, called attention to the menace of rabies, epidemics of mad dogs having been reported from nearby towns. Council decided it was up to the Board of Health to take suitable measures in this matter.

Harry J. Saar reported that many chimneys throughout town were full of soot from burning soft coal and were likely to burn out at any time. He thought the Borough should take some action toward inspecting chimneys and remedying this condition, but Council referred the situation to the Fire Company.

Concrete Streets
The first definite step toward the building of concrete streets in Palmyra was taken when a petition for such streets was presented by the Palmyra Home Development Company, which is developing the former Morgan farm, afterwards owned by A. S. King and then sold to John A. Warner who called it

POLAR EXPLORER AT MEN'S CLUB MEETING

Big Crowd Expected To Hear Address of Captain Robert Rigg

Although building operations which have just been completed make it twice its former size, it is expected the Parish House of Christ Church, Palmyra, will be well filled Monday evening as the men of Palmyra and Riverton turn out to hear Captain Robert Rigg, the famous polar explorer.

Captain Rigg will be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, famous for its ability to obtain speakers of world renown. Arrangements are being made to accommodate every member of the club and a large number of friends, as the officers anticipate a large attendance, feeling that every man who possibly can will avail himself of the opportunity of hearing a glowing story of the adventure of an Arctic explorer.

The speaker accompanied the McMillan Expedition into the polar regions in the interest of the United States Geographic Survey. Prior to the trip with the McMillan outfit, Captain Rigg had spent two years in Alaska.

Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, the delightful soprano soloist, will sing, and the popular Artisan Orchestra will favor with several numbers.

Wet and Dry Referendum

State President W. C. T. U. Points Out Futility of the Present Campaign

The question has frequently been asked, why are the "dry" pulling such a small vote in the referendum being carried on by the newspapers? This is the answer:—

The Eighteenth Amendment in the constitution. It can be repealed only by another amendment submitted by a two-thirds vote of both branches of Congress and ratified by three-fourths of the State legislatures. The Volstead Act has been upheld by the United States Supreme Court and will stand until repealed by Congress.

No referendum conducted by a newspaper, a group of individuals or an organization, can change either the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act. Neither does the vote in such a referendum represent the opinion of the community or even the readers of the newspapers. Those who protest against a cause such as a referendum must more readily than those who want to change the law, be prepared to check up the age, citizenship or nationality, or even the number of individuals voting, for there may be many repeaters.

Only an election on a clear-cut issue by voters duly qualified is a fair criterion in a sense the election of every Congressman is a referendum, for prohibition has been a live issue for six years and more. This Congress is drier than the last, and that was drier than the one before. There is no need of any other referendum.

There are ninety-six United States Senators. Four of them are outstanding wets. There are seven others who have wet personal tendencies, but are bound to vote dry by the pressure of the Constitution. There are four hundred and forty Representatives.

Eighteen of these are outstanding wets—fifteen men and three women.

There are representatives who also have wet tendencies but are kept in the dry column when votes are cast. One agitator makes a great deal more noise than a dozen persons who are silent. That is the situation in Washington to-day regarding the wet-dry question.

The most significant fact the delegates to the recent wet-dry conference in Washington had to face, according to LeRoy T. Vernon, staff correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was that there is no hope of persuading this Congress to do anything toward modifying the dry act, and practically no prospect that the next Congress will do so.

The Riverton Extension and then formed the Palmyra Home Development Company to develop it.

This tract, located west of Cinnaminson avenue near the river, is situated on the site of the old Sidewalks and curbs have been laid, sewers constructed and ground is now being broken for five new houses. Fred Davis has been employed as builder.

The petition was signed by the officers of the company, Frank G. Taylor, John S. Warner, Robert C. Blitting and Fred W. Seaber. It was referred to the Borough Street Committee.

Mr. Seaber, who presented the foregoing petition, also petitioned for sidewalks and curbs on the Price tract just south of the High School building.

Plans were made to advertise for bids for the new tract, but the Palmyra Home Development Company and an adjourned meeting of Council will be held next Tuesday evening to act upon this matter.

A resolution also was passed to lay sidewalks and curbs in all parts of town now built up as fast as the property owners of such streets present the necessary petitions.

The son was a junior at Amherst College. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Helen Marcy.

ADVERTISING COMMITTEE APPOINTED

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Riverton Chamber of Commerce Monday night which was attended by all the members except three who were unable to get there, a resolution was passed to have the Chamber act as a clearing house for dates of lectures, entertainments, dances, etc., so as to avoid the possibility of having two affairs on the same night, as now frequently happens, to the detriment of both.

The plan will be that any organization or individual preparing for an entertainment or public social affair of any kind will get in touch with the chairman of the board of directors, Walter L. Bowers, and see whether or not anything has already been scheduled for that date. His telephone number is 712, evenings 344.

Regular meeting nights of lodges, church organizations, etc., will be listed as well as the various affairs of the town, so that the public may know what to expect and when to go. The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce has been invited to cooperate with the Riverton Chamber by putting on the same service for Palmyra, and dates will be exchanged between the two chambers.

The social system of the Borough Council, came up for discussion and on motion of Karl W. Latch, seconded by Ross Mattis, it was decided to lay the whole subject before the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on March 30. This meeting will be held in Collins Hall preceded by a dinner, music and speakers.

On suggestion of Mr. Latch, a resolution was passed to appoint a committee on advertising to prepare and lay before the chamber a comprehensive plan for publicity this spring.

The chair appointed Karl W. Latch, J. M. Coddington, Joseph M. Roberts, Ross Mattis and Louis C. Clelland.

A proposition was made to offer a prize of $50.00 in gold for the suggestion as to a suitable activity for the Chamber of Commerce during the present year, the content to be limited to residents of the borough. A resolution was passed to submit the project to the next meeting of the chamber with a recommendation that it be adopted.

"Y" CLASS GROWS

Increased Attendance Marks Sunday Afternoon Sessions

The Y. M. C. A. Bible Class already shows signs of "growing pains."

Sunday, March 7, it made its debut with a slim attendance, but this was attributed to the inclement weather of that day. Last week, with increased enthusiasm, those attending the initial meeting returned with a host of friends and consequently more than doubled the first week's attendance.

George N. Wimer, chairman, during the course of his announcements Sunday said "By next week we hope to have the Y hall crowded with men." From all indications, Mr. Wimer's prediction will be realized.

The meetings are proving both interesting and helpful to the men. James Thompson delivers a very inspirational lesson and spirited songs are one of the big features of the program. Sunday the Rev. J. W. Lee, the new Epworth M. B. Church pastor, joined the group.

While every church and Sunday School man in the town is urged to join the class, its primary object is to bring the attendance of the "man on the street," the man who is not a regular attendant at church or Sunday School.

Every man in the community will receive a hearty welcome. The meetings are held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Palmyra Y. M. C. A. Hall, Broad street and Garfield avenue, (second floor).

The class is being fostered by a local Y. M. C. A. Committee consisting of Mr. Wimer, Leonard R. Baker and James H. Hartley.

CHEMICAL TANKS TESTED

Councilman Edward H. Flagg, Jr., chairman of the fire and water committee, had the chemical tanks on the Mack and Packard trucks tested on Wednesday. The tank on the Packard withstood a pressure of 500 pounds. One on the Mack showed up equally well, but the other had a leaky valve and could not be tested. The test was made by the men from the Hartford Toller Insurance Company. The fire and water committee is considering in conjunction with a committee of citizens headed by H. B. Murray, the advisability of buying additional fire apparatus for Riverton, or having the old trucks put in good shape. The object of making the test was to ascertain the condition of the tanks, as one of the factors entering into the consideration of the subject.

BUYS BRANT BEACH

Charles B. Darborow Leads a Syndicate that Purchased Brant Beach, N. J. Last Friday Afternoon

The directors of the company immediately elected Mr. Darborow as president. Brant Beach is considered by real estate men as the best remaining unsplit strip of beach front left in New Jersey. The tract comprises some 170 acres and has a mile and one half of ocean frontage and a considerable frontage on Barnegat Bay. It is but five miles above Beach Haven and is considered the ideal location on Long Beach.

Mr. Darborow is one of the three owners of Surf City which lies a couple of miles above Brant Beach and is also president of the Orley Beach Co., another beach tract lying next to Seaside Park. All three tracts will be developed and sold this season.

"Boots" Refuses Big Coaching Job

Prefers Handling Palmyra High Team Grats To Accepting Fine Offer

Harold B. "Boots" Lever is displaying civic pride that jolts this greedy world of today.

For absolutely no pay at all, one of those gratis jobs, the former interscholastic sprint king and University of Pennsylvania track captain has for the past two seasons coached the Palmyra High School track team.

Last year he turned out a brilliant relay quartet that copped the national Class B title for the mile, and a superb 400-meter champion, who chopped down the scholastic mark for the mile to three minutes 32.1-5 seconds, a 1000 to 4:05.2 seconds, and was second only to Georgetown, the big winner, for honors at the Penn Relays.

This year, just after starting work with a squad of forty candidates, Harold has received a very flattering offer to coach the Episcopal Academy eluder path stars. The offer is one of the largest in the annals of prep school sports history, it is rumored.

Instead of accepting the job, which would carry a salary which seems almost fabulous, "Boots" tentatively declined the job, stating unless he can arrange to carry on his work with the Palmyra High boys and coach the famous Main Line boys, at the same time, he will positively refuse the offer, and, naturally, the huge sum of the fifty figure.

"Boots" only comment is "Certainly I would like to accept the job, but the Palmyra boys are near and dear to me and I can't forsake so deep an interest, something which money can never buy, for a few paltry dollars."

The volunteer coach says it is impossible to make any predictions as to the record this year's squad will make, for, as he puts it in his characteristic manner, "One fellow can do gym exercises as well as another."

He does, however, declare he has some excellent material in which are some sturdy, lithe lads who have all the " earmarks " of promising members of the spiked boot fraternity.

This week Lever also issued a call for candidates for the girls' track team. Fourteen applicants to honors on the eluder path responded and Boots started them with preliminary training in the gymnasium.

Palmyra High has not boasted a feminine track squad since the days of Frances Ruppert who won much glory for the school. Since then, Frances has been filling the crown which adorns pretty brown head with the glittering bits of fame which accompany world's, national, Middle Atlantic and a host of other sprint and relay titles. The former Palmyra High luminary now carries the colors of the Meadowbrook Club of Philadelphia.

"SEVEN CHANCES"

"Seven Chances," a three act comedy by Rex Cooper Megrue, will be given for the Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church on April 15th in the High School auditorium for the young people of the church. Merle Schaff, Horton Ingram, Stewart Bucholz, Warren Beahm, Thomas Hettels and George Ingram are some of the young men taking part, while Mrs. Schaff, Mrs. Stewart Bucholz, Mrs. Wolfshmidt and other young ladies take the prominent parts. The play is under the personal direction of David P. Shanks, of Riverton.

CORRECTION

Under the heading "Goodfellowship Club" in last week's issue it was stated the Goodfellowship Class would hold a social in P. O. S. of A. Hall on Patrick's Day. The text should have corresponded with the heading, for the Goodfellowship Club is in no way connected with the Goodfellowship Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church.

Baggy Corps Will be on Hands Saturday Afternoon

Saturday will mark the windup of the Post Rodgers' drive for the American Legion Orphan's Fund in Palmyra and Riverton.

The Legionnaires spent several nights this week distributing the contribution blanks and they will be collected Saturday.

The Frankford Post Baggy Corps, holder of national honors, will parade with Post Rodgers as the boys round up their final donations.

TWO FIRES

A chimney fire at the home of Mrs. Hooker, 507 Cinnaminson street, Riverton, about ten o'clock Saturday night, called the Riverton fire company out. The damage was slight, however, and the fire was extinguished by throwing soda down the chimney.

About six o'clock Thursday night, the company was again called out by a field fire at Taylor's Lane, which was extinguished by the use of the chemical on the little Packard truck assisted by the apparatus from Riverside which also responded to the alarm. It required the united efforts of both companies for nearly an hour before the flames were extinguished.

Wink's Basketball Team Beats Delair

YMCA Boys Break Visitors' Streak, But Second Team Losses

Wink's Y. M. C. A. senior five trounced Delair, fresh from a winning streak which netted her nine consecutive battles, 33-12, in the Epworth Temple gym Saturday evening.

The locals showed their old-time form with a brilliant passing attack that took the visitors off their feet. Jack Kelsey and Bill McKee, with a sextet of double counters apiece, danced off with the local honors. Earl Polansette, the fast forward, also starred for Palmyra while Hillman and Ridgeway shone brightest for the conquered "Y" passers.

Lippincott and Wright Oppose Payment of Bills for Bridge Work

FISHER CRITICISES WORK AT ALMSHOUSE

After nearly three months of apparent tranquility there were signs of a resumption of hostilities of the part of J. Lloyd Wright and Fred Lippincott at the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday. The opening guns were aimed at the bridge department, of which the newly-elected Freeholder, Curwen R. Fisher, is director, and took the form of voting against the payment of the bills for that department. No explanation was given for their action—these two gentlemen simply voted in the negative.

This, however, might have been only a feint to divert attention from the attack of Fisher on the work done at the almshouse last year under the administration of Fred Lippincott, who was trained at that time director of public buildings.

When the bills for public buildings came up for approval a few minutes later, Mr. Fisher said he would vote for a partial payment on the work done at the almshouse only with the distinct understanding that the defects would be corrected as nearly as can be done at this late date, and that the responsibility for the unsatisfactory workmanship be placed on the old board. The chief fault, Mr. Fisher said, was not with Mr. Bodine, the contractor, but with the supervision.

Too Late To Remedy
Mr. Lippincott said that the county was fully protected by the contract which called for the completion of the work to the satisfaction of the board, and if it was not satisfactory, why accept it at all? He declared that if the present board accepted the work, then it assumed all responsibility. Mr. Fisher said the only way to make a satisfactory job out of it was to let it all down and rebuild it, which of course he would not ask.

He said that if the contractor made certain changes the building would be about ninety percent satisfactory, and he was willing to let it go at that, more particularly as the contractor had been obliged by the architect to do work in a manner that was against his judgment. Mr. Fisher said he did not propose to see the contractor's report for things he could not help. Director Russ said there was still $222.32 being held back, which would pay for any alterations that were contemplated, but on the suggestion of the director, approved by Stout, an additional $500 was held out until the work is made acceptable.

Freeholder Wright suggested that all the parties responsible for the work that was claimed to be unsatisfactory be brought together before the board and the thing directed out to a finish. Stout replied that the county had hired an architect and paid him six per cent of the cost of the work to look after its interests and he was supposed to see that the work was being done right as it went along. Fisher agreed that the architect had not properly looked after the interests of the county and that the work had been allowed to proceed to a point where it was impossible satisfactorily to fix it.

Contractor Told $2500
Mr. Lippincott said Mr. Fisher's remarks were evidently directed to him and he quite willing to accept responsibility for what was done under his directorship, which, however, asked when the new heads of departments were appointed the first of the year.

It was finally decided to pay Mr. Bodine, the contractor, $2500 on his bill of $3,222.32 and hold out the balance until certain changes are made.

The bill of Ernest B. Mulligan of $275.05 for electrical work at the almshouse, was also ordered paid.

Director of Roads Stout reported that he had been in conference with State Engineer Major Sloan, accompanied by County Engineer Smith and Supervisor of Roads McFarland, about the reconstruction of Washington avenue, Burlington, from West Broad street to Old Pelton Cemetery, and of Loudon bridge. This bridge and other bridges were taken over by the State during the war and recently returned to the county in an almost impassable condition.

Mr. State Aid Requested
The situation fully before Major Sloan he had advised them to communicate with the State Highway Commission, giving all the details and asking for State aid in the reconstruction. This Mr. Stout said, had been done, asking for $15,000, which is about half the cost of the work.

A communication was read from the State Highway Commission stating the Kings Highway had been completed to the satisfaction of the Commission and accepted.

Nineteen property owners adjacent to the county property at Union and High streets, Mount Holly, recently converted an office building, sent a petition to the board remonstrating against the construction of a garage for county cars on the back end of the lot. It seems that the county engineer had been sent on the property with a measuring tape and some of the neighbors had jumped at the conclusion that a large garage was to be

Public Service Business Grows

Seventeenth Annual Report of Corporation Reveals Healthy Gains

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey has mailed to its stockholders copies of its seventeenth annual report which covers the operations of the Corporation and its subsidiary utility companies for the year 1925.

The statement of combined results of operation of subsidiary companies shows that operating revenues of subsidiary companies were $94,715,525.20, operating expenses, maintenance, taxes, depreciation and retirement expenses $69,475,544.43, leaving a net operating income of $25,039,980.77, non operating income increasing the amount by $2,057,051.29, making a total of $27,096,932.06.

Income deductions, including bond interest, rental and miscellaneous interest charges amounted to $13,965,557.63, so that the net income of subsidiary companies for the year was $13,131,374.43.

Revenue Figures
Revenue of the Corporation, exclusive of dividends on stock of operating utility companies, less expenses, taxes and retirement expenses, increased this figure to $15,340,211.06, so that after subtracting Corporation fixed charges the combined net income of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and its subsidiary companies with adjustments was $10,627,207.68.

From this were paid dividends on the stock of subsidiary companies amounting to $829,526.50, on Corporation preferred stock to the amount of $3,223,728.50 and on Corporation common stock to the amount of $4,781,557.51. This with surplus adjustments of $197,644.26, left a net income for the year of $1,990,039.51.

Statistics of the subsidiary operating companies for the year show sales of electricity excluding inter-company railway current, amounting to 919,515,074 kilowatt hours, sales of gas amounting to 20,294,381,000 cubic feet and a total of $16,788,021 trolley and 146,053,237 bus passengers, the total of car and bus passengers for 1925, exceeding that of 1924, by more than 65,000,000.

Facilities Improved
Expansion and betterment of Public Service facilities during the twelve months is indicated by a net increase in fixed capital, representing improvement to plant and equipment, amounting to $48,422,813 of which $34,349,195 was spent on account of the Electric Department, including nearly $13,000,000 expended on the construction of the new Kearny generation station.

A total of $1,165,236.83 of taxes accrued of which $9,812,054.92 accrued against the utility subsidiaries of the company, equalling 10.7 per cent. of their combined gross revenue and 28.3 per cent. of their combined net earnings.

The Corporation had on December 31, 1925, 47,122 stockholders, holding a total of 1,534,632 shares, while on its books were 15,662 subscriptions to 38,428 shares of preferred stock sold under its popular ownership plan upon which payments had not been completed.

Favorable Attitude
Commenting on this showing, President Thomas N. McCarter says in the report:

"The year 1925 has presented substantial evidence of a favorable public attitude towards Public Service enterprises. In this the Corporation is reapportioning the benefits of the policy of popular ownership, adopted in 1921, and of cultivation of good will through various service departments and by full and frank publicity in connection with all of its affairs.

The report shows that under the group insurance plan, inaugurated April 1, 1925, there was in effect, on December 31 of the same year, insurance to the amount of $14,189,000 on the lives of 11,051 Public Service employees. Under the plan the employee pays sixty cents a month per thousand, the rest of the premium being paid by the Public Service companies.

Bound into the report is a new map of the territory served by Public Service companies.

"Old Age" Largely Myth

If somebody takes fifty as the age at which a man can tell whether he is a success or a failure, he can be confronted with a long list of those who achieved fame after that age. Cervantes was fifty-eight when he published the first part of "Don Quixote," the work that immortalized his name. Buffon was some years older when about one-half of his "Natural History" was completed, and at seventy he wrote "The Epochs of Nature," in which he calls old age a superstition. "Animals," he says, "do not know it; it is only by our arithmetic that we judge otherwise." But Buffon lived to eighty-one.

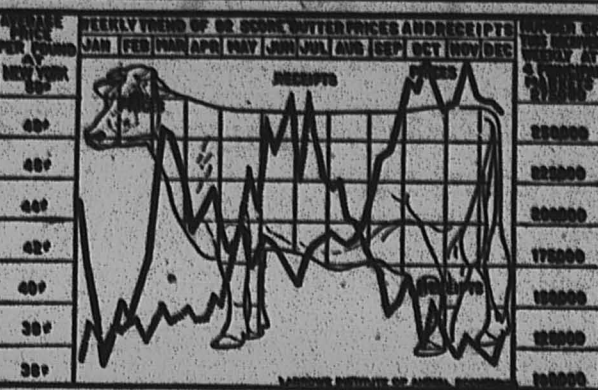

Effects of Emotions

The voice of animals and of human beings shows similar changes of quality under similar variations of emotion. This fact shows that similar internal changes are taking place, since the voice is merely the inward and material movement rendered outward and audible by the existence of complete vocal apparatus in action. The only animals which can rightly be called "dumb friends" are the humble members of the animal kingdom without vocal cords. Yet though insects are voiceless, yet they communicate their emotional changes by sound-vibrations resulting from rapid body movements.

Eye's Good Taste

There is a sort of gratitude at the bottom of every man's heart toward the woman, any woman, who tells him that she loves him. You may call it vanity, but why call names? No, it is not vanity. I am grateful to the woman who gazed tenderly into my eyes, even if I could not or would not reciprocate. She has given me something that she did not owe me. Given me something I did not expect to get. Good and, honest and, I am sure, excellent taste she had—From "The Love" by Frank Moore.

Prosperous Dairy Year Shown by Butter Prices

THE 1925 butter market reveals a prosperous condition in the dairy industry, according to the year-end agricultural review of the Larowe Institute of Animal Economics. Although butter production during the first nine months of the past year seems to have lagged behind the corresponding period in the year previous, it was larger during the last quarter of 1925 than in the corresponding period of 1924. Beginning with October, receipts while they were about 3 per cent less than in 1924.

Prices averaged higher than in 1924. The average wholesale price of 60 score creamery butter on the New York market in 1925 was approximately 46 cents a pound compared with 43 cents the year previous. Highest 1925 prices were received in October and November when weekly averages reached 52 and 51.5 cents, respectively.

Within a year the glorious and advantages of South Jersey, its climate, its tremendous resources, its splendid opportunities for home seekers, investment and health are to be broadcast throughout America and the world in one of the most extensive and comprehensive publicity campaigns ever conducted in the United States. The millions will be invited to come into South Jersey to work, to play, and to help in the development of our wonderful possibilities, and to prosper with our citizens.

South Jersey Inc., is the official title of the recently formed organization in which are being enrolled bankers, business and hotel men, real estate experts, Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies as well as individuals who make up the personnel of the great Reception Committee. Opportunity will be given to every progressive man and woman of South Jersey to join in the formal greeting which this most favored section extends to those seeking homes or profit—both. Headquarters of South Jersey, Inc., already have been established in Atlantic City and Camden and within a few weeks every community in the nine counties of Southern New Jersey will have its place in this great organization which is being built for the purpose of "telling the world" about South Jersey. A South Jersey Exposition in Camden from July 1st to September 1st of this year; a permanent South Jersey Exhibit on Young's Million Dollar Pier to attract the Boardwalk millions who come to Atlantic City, and a South Jersey Exhibit at the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial are part of the publicity program.

Like Florida Advertising
Only the tremendously successful and profitable publicity campaign of California Inc., and Florida have approached in scope the plan now being promoted to broadcast the advantages of South Jersey to the people of America. Advertising, through special stories in magazines and newspapers, moving pictures and photographs taken to show special phases of South Jersey industries and progress, men and women trained in presenting the claims of this favored section of the Garden State will be used to show those of other sections that South Jersey has all-year advantages possessed in no other part of the country. The entertaining of individuals and delegations interested in establishing either home or industrial developments is only one of the many phases of the booming plans already being outlined.

The question of the tremendous benefits of community and group advertising as means of attracting both population and capital already has been settled," declared A. Conrad Elkhorn, Executive Secretary of South Jersey, Inc. "St. Petersburg, Florida, advertised their population rose from 5,000 to 17,000, their assessed property valuation from $15,000,000 to $70,000,000; their bank deposits from $2,000,000 to $24,000,000. Now they call St. Petersburg "The City Built by Advertising." The State of Maine Publicity Bureau estimates that its advertising campaign brought 600,000 added tourists and $45,000,000 into the state. Two years of advertising by California Inc. increased its population from 1,000,000 to 1,750,000 and brought 250,000 inquiries from all over the world asking for information concerning opportunities for residence and investments.

Must Tell Our Story
"Fortunate South Jersey no longer can wait. We intend to tell of the splendid coast and bay resorts, reached by unmatched highways and some of the finest and fastest trains in the world; we wish to impress upon the people the fact that an all-year climate, South Jersey leads the world; to the family man seeking a home we can offer clean cities, well-governed and progressive; to the man or woman intending to make a living from the land, South Jersey can point to agricultural, dairy and poultry districts where sunshine and rainfall bless an already fertile soil. South Jersey, rich in historic spots, can be made the Mecca of the tourist as soon as these spots are known.

"To the banker, the business man, the realtor and the manufacturer, the present advertising and publicity campaign should make special appeal, with not a million population there is room for expansion and development which should bring a

THE JUDGE'S SPEECH

Chaima Girl Stenographer Made Up One For Herself

Former Judge Harold B. Wells, a notable banquet orator, holds a speed record of 300 words a minute in public speaking.

"I suffer from a rush of words to the head," he said at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia recently. "It used to worry me and I tried to throttle down, but I've decided that if I can't talk fast I can't at all, and that would be terrible punishment for me.

"I've had crackerjack stenographers tearing their hair five minutes after I opened up. The fellow who is rated as the short hand king of New Jersey came to me once after I had been talking for an hour and said, 'It's all right judge, I didn't get a word of it, but anybody who talks faster than 150 words a minute can't be saying anything that's very important.

"I made a lot of trouble for myself on the bench by talking too fast. Jurors have a way of looking as if they understand every word you are saying. They invariably sent out for instructions on points I had covered fully.

"When I'm talking at a banquet or a convention I try to give the stenographers a chance for their lives by slipping around after the speech to see how they made out.

"Once in New York I saw a girl operating one of those shorthand typewriters who looked as if she'd like to tell me what she thought of me. She fooled me. When it was over she just asked my address.

"Several days later I received the speech from her. She hadn't caught a word of it, but rather than admit she was licked she wrote a speech herself and sent it to me. It was a better one than I ever made, and I'm still using it."

FERRY WITHDRAWN

The ferryboat William E. Doron was withdrawn from service between Burlington and Bristol this week and taken to Philadelphia for repairs. It is expected that the boat will be out of commission about two weeks.

During the absence of the William E. Doron the yacht Louise Doron will ply between Burlington and Bristol.

The Louise Doron can carry only passengers which means that trucks and other automobiles that have occasion to cross the river must go to Bristol or Burlington by the way of Trenton or Palmyra.

Ex-Mayor Lee Buys R. R. Land

Purchases Four Miles of Right of Way of Abandoned Mt. Holly Line

Through the personal efforts of John W. Wright, of Grant street, Mount Holly, who holds a responsible position in the real estate department of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, the sale of nearly all the land comprised in the Camden and Burlington County Railway Company's recently abandoned right of way from Mount Holly to Burlington, has been arranged.

The most important part of the disposal of the land for which the railroad company has no further use, has been the tentative acceptance of a bid entered by former Mayor Thomas Lee, of Beverly, for all the right of way from Wilmer Chance's corner line, near the trolley bridge, south of the Fair Ground property, to the railroad crossing, known as Wittmeyer's or Long Crossing, a distance of four miles. There were five bidders for this extensive section of the right of way, and Mr. Lee's proposal, involving a cash payment for the land, was regarded as by far the best received.

The sale will have to be confirmed by the Board of Directors of the Camden and Burlington County Railway Company, but the recommendation of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Department, which is under the jurisdiction of Vice President Thomas W. Hulme, formerly of Mount Holly, is certain to be accepted.

Looking to the Future

Seen in connection with its probable acquisition of this long stretch of land directly facing on the American Legion Highway, Mr. Lee said that he had not put in his bid for the right of way with speculation as his first aim. He owns the former Black farm, midway between Mount Holly and Burlington, and has a long frontage on the highway, with the trolley and Camden and Burlington County rights of way intervening.

It was with the purpose of protecting his interests in connection with that farm, where he plans to build a fine residence and make his home there, that he made a bid for the land in question. Mr. Lee said further that he has secured the trolley right of way in the event of its being sold in the reasonably near future, it would be his idea to give the farmers and others owning land contiguous to these rights of way, opportunity to buy out to the highway at approximately the same price at which he purchases from the railroad and trolley companies. There would be proper building restrictions incorporated in the deeds, however, which would ensure only a desirable class of houses along that fine highway.

Boulevard Considered

Questioned as to his views concerning the acquisition of all or a portion of the right of way by the county for the purpose of widening the improved road so as to make it a handsome boulevard between Mount Holly and Burlington, with a special view of taking care of the heavier traffic when the proposed Burlington-Bristol bridge is built, Mr. Lee said that he could not see any reason why the county could not acquire much of the right of way as it needs for widening the road, if he should buy the trolley right of way and in turn should turn the several frontages over to the abutting land owners.

The Beverly man emphasized the point that he had in mind primarily the improvement and protection of the important highway and contiguous land between the county seat and Burlington. He has just taken title to the Dr. Buck, Clark and Cleveland farms on Burr's road, and, as stated, he is now owner of the large Black farm which he recently purchased from William I. Wagner, and which contains over three hundred acres and has a frontage of nearly a mile along the improved road.

P. S. to Buy Part

The Public Service Corporation, it is understood, will probably acquire the right of way from Wittmeyer's Crossing into East Burlington. The company's high tension lines now run over this right of way, as they do in entering Mount Holly. Property purchased from the Fair Ground down to the proposed new street leading from High street to Rutland avenue, will be sold subject to a right of way for the Public Service poles and wires.

Mr. Wright has devoted much time and effort to the task of disposing of the real estate which the railroad company desired to sell. In some instances competition was quite keen among prospective buyers. In others, the market was decidedly "soft" and it is possible that the railroad company will have a little land remaining on its hands or have to sell the odds and ends at closing-out prices. In the majority of cases abutting property owners, from the trolley bridge down to the proposed new street, have come to terms with the railroad company representative as to price.

As a general rule by which to be guided and with the desire to be fair to all concerned, the railroad company has followed the plan of allowing abutting property owners on either side of the right of way to buy up to the middle of the 67-foot strip, more or less. Where one abutting owner did not want to buy, then the owner on the other side was given opportunity to acquire the full width of the right of way.

Harvey Stewart Injured

Harvey Stewart, of Thomas avenue, had a narrow escape from death Monday night when the ten o'clock train from which he was alighting at the Riverton station started up before he got off and he was thrown to the ground. His face, hands and knees were bruised and lacerated and he received a cut over the eye which required three stitches to close.

William Cook, one of the gate attendants during the day, was talking to the night man, Herbert Anderson, and saw Mr. Stewart scramble to his feet. He was bleeding profusely from the cut on his head and Cook called officer Quigley who hurried the injured man to the residence of Dr. Rogers where he received treatment.

BELL HELPS TOWN KEEP A CHECK ON FORD CAR SALES

Every time a Ford car is sold in Brookhaven, Mass., the whole town knows it. For, in a vacant lot adjoining the property of the Laird-Day Motor Company a large bell has been fixed on top of a tower and each time a car is sold, the salesman pulls the bell cord.

This curious sales record has become a fixture in the daily life of Brookhaven. Clerks in the various business houses speculate as to the next day's count and almost everyone in town is "irritably" keeping books on Ford sales.

One prominent hardware store advertised that it is expected to sell a stove for every pound of the "Ford bell." With the advent of the Ford price reduction, however, the vicinity of the Ford salesroom resembled the well-remembered Armistice Day and at last reports stoves were running a none-too-close second.

Law Enforcement Plans Developed

Mount Holly Organization Holds "Face the Facts" Luncheon

A definite sentiment among leading citizens of Mount Holly for law observance and enforcement was crystallized at an informal luncheon last week at the Presbyterian Social Hall. Twenty-six men and women were present.

In presiding over the gathering the Rev. M. M. Lewis, county president, made it plain that a more effective plan of organization than heretofore used was being followed in developing an organization as was possible to secure in Burlington county.

It was a "Face the Facts" luncheon and among the strong facts brought out were the existence of a general apathy among the people, due to either an unwillingness to observe certain laws or a fear for results to business if a man becomes too pronounced in his desire for law observance; a persistent propaganda, insidious, pervasive and in the main unchallenged which makes unrelenting food for idle gossip. A silence among the press in challenging bad propaganda or an unwillingness to champion law observance, due either to a fear of loss of business, or because of strong pro-weak tendencies.

It was made plain that propaganda was going to be met with newspaper publicity, in the form of paid advertising, and prepared by capable, reliable men, setting forth facts that will reveal the error of much of the wild rumors that are afloat.

The strength of the organization will rest in a County Executive Committee, made up of the strongest and most representative men and women possible, each unit represented on that Committee by its chairman. An Advisory Committee will consist of the Vice Presidents, one each from a township and representing the best man from each township. This central organization will formulate the policy for the various County Units and carry out a uniform and consistent policy along broad lines. Around each chairman and vice chairman local units will be organized.

From that dinner group the following committee was named to select and interview and secure the acceptance of a chairman and five vice chairmen representing Northampton, Westampton, Eastampton, Lumberton and Hainesport townships. This committee is composed of Mark Reynolds, J. Porter Ashbrook, Mrs. C. E. Lord, Mrs. F. S. Blair, and Merritt W. Smith. These will report back to a meeting in the very near future.

Pinchot to Visit S. J. Exposition

Three Big Days in Row Planned For Early Part of July

Governor Pinchot has accepted an invitation to be the guest of honor at the South Jersey Exposition on Pennsylvania Day, July 5th.

Former Pennsylvanians who now reside in South Jersey will be hosts to leading residents of the state and public officials on Pennsylvania Day.

Governor Pinchot sent his acceptance of the invitation to Mayor King of Camden, in the following letter:

"My best thanks for your courteous letter which came in my absence from Harrisburg. I greatly appreciate the courtesy it contains and I shall be very glad to be with you at your South Jersey Exposition on July 5th."

President Coolidge has been invited to attend the Exposition on July 5th when he will be in Philadelphia for the ceremonies marking the formal opening of the bridge over the Delaware between Camden and Philadelphia.

If President Coolidge accepts the invitation it means three big days in a row for the Exposition. On July 3rd, a monster patriotic celebration combining a score of communities will be staged at the Camden Civic Center where the Exposition is to be held. With the opening of the bridge on July 5th and the expected visit of the nation's Chief Executive, hundreds of thousands of visitors are expected to visit the fair.

With virtually all of the available space in the big Convention Hall taken, plans for the entertainment features of the Exposition are being made. One of these calls for a program of pageantry which would continue for the entire period of the Bridge Celebration and Exposition which opens on July 1st and continues to September 8th.

The eight lower counties of the state will be represented in the pageants which will depict all of the historical events with which the various communities have been connected.

Musical features of the ten weeks program are being completed and singing by massed choirs is now being arranged.

Many communities in South Jersey are taking advantage of the opportunity of advertising themselves before the two million visitors who are expected to visit the Exposition in the ten weeks of its conduct. Special efforts are being made by some of the communities to impress visitors from other cities and states with their desirability as industrial centers. Glassboro, Paulsboro, Swedesboro, Williamstown, Woodstown and others are among the communities which are making a bid for industrial additions.

Virtually all of the great industries of South Jersey and many from other places are among the exhibitors who will have elaborate displays. Many retail firms will be on hand showing their wares and real estate interests are not overlooking the opportunity to tell the world about their preferred holdings.

"We aim at having a Junior world's fair as a medium through which South Jersey can show its attractions to the world," said Ralph Baker, president of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the Exposition.

RABIES INCREASE

45 Animals Examined at Trenton
This Year Found Affected

During the first ten weeks of this year 45 animals have been examined at the laboratory of the State Department of Health and found to be rabid. This number is greater than for the same period of any previous year. The record shows a progressive increase for this year as well.

Laboratory reports indicate that there are many centers of infection. The principal ones are in the vicinity of Camden, Trenton, Asbury Park, and New Brunswick. It should be noted that rabid dogs in Essex and Hudson Counties are examined in local laboratories and are not included in the State total.

Commenting on this record, Dr. Henry B. Costill, Director of Health, pointed out that the majority of dogs whose heads are sent to the laboratory are known to have bitten other dogs before they were killed. As the disease progresses slowly in dogs, it is to be expected that more cases will develop in the future.

Dr. Costill stated further that this number represents but a part of the total number of dogs known to have been rabid. For instance, the dog which bit the child in Parlin, who died recently of rabies, never was captured, but probably wandered off into the woods and died. Newspaper accounts have told of rabid dogs at Red Bank, Hammonton, and other places which were killed and destroyed without sending the heads to the State Laboratory for confirmation of the diagnosis.

During the last three years more than 600 dogs have been found to be rabid by laboratory examination, more than 550 persons have been given the Pasteur treatment at public expense, and 11 persons—all but two of them children—have died of rabies.

Many persons bitten by rabid dogs are treated at their own expense, and no record is available of the number which should be added to those known to have undergone the Pasteur treatment. Of these eleven persons who died of rabies, the record of one is lost and it is not known whether or not he was treated; four did not receive Pasteur treatment; and, of the remaining six, two began treatment five or six days after being bitten in spite of the fact that one of them was bitten about the face. The other four were treated promptly, but died of rabies in spite of the Pasteur treatment.

Palmyra High School Notes

In memory of Rosalie Roberts, the Palmyra High School basketball teams cancelled their games with Ocean City, scheduled to be played at the shore Saturday. According to Coach Craig Morse, neither team will enter into scholastic competition again this season.

Palmyra High received many beautiful letters of condolence from neighboring schools. Rosalie was not only prominent in her own school, but was well known and held in high esteem by the student bodies of the many institutions in this locality. The schools that did not mail messages of consolation palming tribute to the departed senior in telephone calls to the office of the high school.

Since there has already been considerable demand for tickets for the senior play, "Bab," to be presented in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evening, March 26 and 27, those who wish to attend the splendid amateur theatrical are urged to place their orders early. Tickets, 50 and 75 cents apiece, obtained from any member of the senior class, or by calling the office of the high school, Riverton 213. All seats are reserved.

Last week in the drive to raise funds for the Palmyra High School Radio Club the boys collected $50. The major portion coming from Palmyra folks with the remainder from Riverton people.

The boys wish to extend a word of appreciation to those who helped the cause with their donations. The Club plans to build a large receiver which can be used to pick up lectures for class room studies or in the auditorium. The total cost of the radio will run the neighborhood of $165.

If everyone will just make a small contribution the sum can be raised very quickly. The club does not want a few, with large donations, to finance it, but would prefer to have all play a part in the purchase of the supplies that will enable the boys to build a radio receiver with which every student in the high school will benefit.

Contributions may be handed to any member of the club, or mailed direct to the school in care of Prof. A. S. Griffith, supervising principal, or Arthur N. Palmer, the faculty advisor of the "dial twisting" organization.

THE QUESTION BOX

About 33 B. C.

J. V., Riverton—Will you kindly answer in the Q. & A. Column when and where was the Actaeus War?

Ans.—This was a war out of the rupture between Octavian and Mark Anthony about 33 B. C. Octavia defeated Anthony at Actium after having declared war against Cleopatra, the queen of Egypt. Both Cleopatra and Anthony committed suicide.

Highly Civilized 1100 B. C.

T. L., Riverton—Can you give me any information about the earliest history of China?

Ans.—China's ancient history is shrouded in fable, but it is certain that they were enjoying a high state of civilization when it was only beginning to dawn on the nations of Europe. The Chow dynasty is about the earliest that can be regarded as historic. It lasted from 1100 B. C. to 258 B. C.

Different Meanings

Reader, Palmyra—Does "besides" and "except" mean the same? If not will you give an illustration?

Ans.—"Besides" as a preposition expresses the idea of addition. "Except" expresses that of exclusion. Example: "Another was there besides you; No one except you were there."

Knot Longer than Land Mile

Ans.—A knot is a nautical mile, being 6076 feet longer than our statute mile.

Correct Form of Announcement

L. E., Cinnaminson—As I will be married this fall I would like to know how to have my announcements printed, in the name of mother and stepfather with whom I live, or in my own father's name, which I use?

Ans.—It is customary for your mother and stepfather to announce your marriage.

Sun Sets

M. H., Riverton—Why do people say "the sun sets" when the verb is incorrect. As the verb is transitive shouldn't we say "the sun sets"?

Ans.—No. The verb "sets" in this instance has a different origin. Formerly they said the "sun settles" which word has been shortened to "set."

Ancient Custom

Reader, Cambridge—Why is a horseshoe considered an emblem of good luck?

Ans.—In ancient times the Romans had a superstition that a horseshoe nailed over the door would kick out witches, hence it has since been considered lucky by the superstitious.

Coliseum at Rome Largest Ever Built

M. J., Five Point—I would like to ask in the question column of your paper if any of your present-day coliseums have a larger seating capacity than those of the ancients?

Ans.—No. The Coliseum at Rome, built during the reign of Emperor Titus, had a seating capacity of 50,000—nearly twice as many as our largest present-day Coliseum.

SHARP—MOORE

An attractive spring wedding took place at the Central Baptist Church last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Lillian Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, of Linden avenue, became the bride of Mr. Lewis Wendall Sharp, Jr., son of Mrs. Mary Sharp. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Lockett.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were: her sister, Miss Ruth Moore, Mrs. Edward Johnson, of Burlington, Mrs. James Brown, of Palmyra, and Miss Jean Bennett, of Philadelphia. Little Doris Woodcock, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe, brocade, trimmed with rhinestone trimmings. Her veil was of Brussels net fastened with orange blossoms.

The matron of honor wore a gown of robin's egg blue crepe de chine. The bridesmaids were dressed in georgette crepe. Two wore gowns of a green shade and two of ashes of roses.

The flower girl wore pink crepe de chine. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses and orchids, and all of the attendants carried pink roses, tied with pink ribbon.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Everett Wolcott.

The best man was Dr. John P. Sharp, of Ohio, brother of the groom.

The ushers were Dr. Francis Voorhis, Dr. James Brown, Mr. Edwin Parker, of Palmyra, and Mr. Richard Moore, brother of the bride.

After a short trip to St. Augustine, Fla., the couple will reside at Second and Morgan avenues, Palmyra.

Harvey Stewart Injured

Harvey Stewart, of Thomas avenue, had a narrow escape from death Monday night when the ten o'clock train from which he was alighting at the Riverton station started up before he got off and he was thrown to the ground. His face, hands and knees were bruised and lacerated and he received a cut over the eye which required three stitches to close.

William Cook, one of the gate attendants during the day, was talking to the night man, Herbert Anderson, and saw Mr. Stewart scramble to his feet. He was bleeding profusely from the cut on his head and Cook hailed Officer Quigley who hurried the injured man to the residence of Dr. Rogers where he received treatment.

BANKERS SURVEY STATE BANK LAWS

Find That Movement for State Guaranty of Bank Has Gone into Eclipse.

New York.—A survey of state banking laws conducted by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association shows marked progress toward greater uniformity and more efficient bank supervision, it is declared by Frank W. Simmonds, in charge of the division, in a statement giving the results of the investigation. He says that the movement for state guaranty of bank deposits appears to have gone into eclipse.

"The division has urged that the office of bank commissioner be freed from politics and all other functions of state government and tenure be made more secure with sufficient compensation and discretion to attract men of outstanding ability," Mr. Simmonds says. "Gratifying progress has been made during the past year in important bank legislation in many states. Idaho, Wyoming and Oregon led the list by adopting entirely new modern banking codes, while Texas and Montana have new codes in preparation.

Uniformity Among State Laws

"The survey shows that it is generally agreed there should be a high degree of uniformity among the states in laws dealing with certain fundamental principles of bank organization, regulation and supervision, and that there is a strong tendency in this direction. We find a very definite trend toward increasing the minimum capital requirements of banks to $25,000; creation of banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioner, and legislation empowering bank commissioners to take complete charge of insolvent banks and to liquidate them as distinguished from liquidation through the courts.

"We find also a trend toward legislation providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations; more equitable taxation of bank stock; legislation providing for merger, conversion or consolidation of banking institutions; the legalizing and regulating of what is known as 'departmental banking'; broadening the field for investment of funds of saving banks and trust companies, and increasing the power of the bank commissioner as to granting or denying charters for new banks, and authorizing his making reasonable rules and regulations governing bank management and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

"Additional general characteristics of state bank legislation are for increasing the compensation of the bank commissioner and lengthening his term of office of four, five or six years, with power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners; legislation providing for the reduction of mandatory bank calls to three and reducing the number of examinations required by law annually to one; making issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor; limiting or prohibiting an officer or director of a bank borrowing from his bank unless his collateral is approved by a majority of the board of directors; and limiting or prohibiting the opening of branch banks.

Eclipse of Guaranty Movement

"The question of state guaranty of bank deposits appears this year to have passed into an eclipse, so far as the extension of the idea is concerned, notwithstanding the fact that state guaranty laws were recommended by the governors of two states, and bills were introduced in several of the states, all of which were defeated. The general tendency, so far as state guaranty of deposits laws are concerned, is distinctly the other way, the indications being that several states now having guaranty laws are trying to free themselves from this legislation. Oklahoma has abandoned the plan of state guaranty of deposits, and this year the South Dakota legislature has repealed the state guaranty law and has referred the repeal to the people at the next general election for ratification."

BANKERS RAISE FUND OF $500,000 FOR EDUCATION

A fund of $500,000 to endow scholarships and research in economics in American colleges was recently established by the American Bankers Association in celebration of its Golden Anniversary. The intention of the Foundation is to promote education in the direction of sounder general economic understanding. Half the total sum represents subscriptions by the American Bankers Association, the American Institute of Banking and the American Institute of Finance, and the other half is to be raised by individual contributions. The Association gave $50,000 from its reserve funds, and the American Institute of Banking, through individual subscriptions from its members, who are chiefly clerks in the banks, subscribed $25,000. Numerous subscriptions of $5,000, $2,500 and $1,000 each were made by individual bankers in all parts of the country.

WHAT MAKES THEM WILD?

The printer in the shop set up a poster to advertise an address by a militant suffragette. Her subject was "Women: Without Her, Man Would be a Savage." When the speaker called for the posters, the suffragette had to leave town suddenly, for the flaming sheets read, "Women: Without Her, Man Would be a Savage."—Exchange.

Statements in Congress are declaring that the Mexican situation is perilous and we can't remember when it was ever any other way.

Capes to Feature New Spring Modes

Two-Piece Dress Important; Shoulder Flare, Bloused Silhouette.

Discussing the Paris spring openings, at which the latest creations in milady's wearables are on display, a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune says:

Every new opening witnesses an undiminished number of commercially inspired "decrees" sent over to influence what was once a glib public. The ethics of the situation demand that these reports be founded on truth—after which ethics are deserted and the most pernicious kind of exaggeration is indulged in. If one large hat is shown that is sufficient authority to announce that "Paris adopts the picture chapeau." If a single pair of lizard skin shoes is worn you may immediately expect some word to the effect that no costume is smart unless it includes lizard skin shoes.

During the same weeks that this propaganda is broadcast there also comes from Paris legitimate and authoritative news of the spring openings—unswerving reports from reliable observers with no axes to grind. And the difficult thing is to select the wheat from the chaff—to distinguish the real from the artificial, because it is a relatively simple matter for a skillful propagandist to ingeniously mix fact and fiction in such a way as to attract no suspicion from the casual reader. That is the specific problem to which this survey is devoted, and if you follow closely its analyses you will be guided safely past the rocks of propaganda and into the haven of chic.

The openings offer such an infinite number of themes that no forecast can be complete and every forecast must in a measure at least be realized. This particular prophecy is rather a guide to what the mode will be a little later, after the many new ideas have been sifted, accepted or discarded, and milady is ready to march in the Easter parade.

Spring Millinery.

First we shall consider the spring hats. The leading shapes, from indications at the Riviera and according to what was worn at the informal January openings in Paris, will be the beret and the gigolo. Berets will be narrower—quite as they are at present. Crowns, on the other hand, will rise higher, but they will be draped, conforming as far as possible to the contour of the head. Trimmings will be few but unique—they should not be ornate. Materials must be soft in order to attain the draped crown effects. Grosgrain, felt, soft straws, velvets and tulle, and bullion, are certain to be well represented.

Next, geographically, comes the culture. The bob will be with us again. But you may now wear long hair without being considered a radical. The boyish bob will be eclipsed by a more feminine arrangement, which will feature longer and looser locks with even and uneven fringes. Long hair coils will simulate the loose, fringed bobs.

Suits are destined to be prominent for spring, and they will pursue a course of their own, influenced in no way by the style developments of coats and dresses. To O'Rourke, man tailor of Paris, the custom of years ago—the flared coat on the spring tailcoat, and as his opening has taken place, you may form an accurate estimate of the new tailored suit.

The most significant O'Rourke feature is the uncompromising return to the straight silhouette—the gilet and the various flares have been cruelly deserted. There is no question of the smartness of the straight-line suit for spring, but we must caution you against concluding therefrom that dresses and coats will also revert to the slim-line silhouette. Do not be misled on this point. The straight line is back in vogue—the new sil-

Ford Builds New Airplane Factory

Big Plant Being Erected To Replace One Destroyed By Fire

A new airplane manufacturing plant and a new hangar having a capacity of housing fifteen or more airplanes, forming one of the largest and most modern aircraft developments in the country, will be erected within the next few months at the Ford Airport at Dearborn, Mich. This was made public at the general offices of the Ford Motor Company as plans were being completed for the plant which is to replace the building of the Stout all-metal airplane division of the company recently destroyed by fire. The new airplane plant, which is to occupy part of the site of the former building, will be three times as large and will have a floor area of 60,000 square feet. It will be fitted with every modern facility for the manufacture of airplanes laid out in the standard Ford system of progressive production. Materials will enter one end of the building and proceed through the various stages of manufacture, emerging from the other end and completed airplanes.

Until the new structure is ready for occupancy the Stout Division of the company will continue to be housed in one of the new buildings in the Dearborn laboratory group where machinery already has been installed and work of building all-metal airplanes has started.

Plans for the new plant call for a building 120 feet wide by 500 feet long and one story in height, of the same general construction as all the newer manufacturing and assembly plants of the company. An unusual feature of the building will be that it will have a full 120-foot span from one side to the other without intervening roof supports, giving clear space for assembly of the airplanes. The roof will be of steel and glass and the exterior walls of buff brick, conforming in general design with the other buildings in the group at Dearborn. A heating plant will be erected in connection with the building.

The new hangar building, to be located adjacent to the manufacturing plant and on which work already is underway will also be of buff brick but of different construction in order to accommodate the housing and easy handling of airplanes. It will be 123 feet wide by 300 feet long. An unusual feature is that each of the 300-foot sides will be enclosed by steel and glass doors of special construction. This will permit the entire opening of either or both sides, the doors sliding back and folding into the ends of the building. This has been accomplished by effecting a roof construction of cantilever type, extending on either side from steel towers built down to the center of the building, the roof being supported much the same as the cloth on the steel stays of a umbrella.

An addition also is planned for the present Airport hangar which will house a dynamometer room for testing airplane engines as well as other test rooms. With the completion of the new hangar building, the present hangar, with its addition, will become more of a maintenance and repair station for airplanes operating in the Ford Air Transport.

SHARP-MOORE

An attractive spring wedding took place at the Central Baptist Church last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Lillian Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, of Linden Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Lewis Wendall Sharp, Jr., son of Mrs. Mary Sharp. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Lockett.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were: her sister, Miss Ruth Moore, Mrs. Edward Johnson, of Burlington, Mrs. James Brown, of Palmyra, and Miss Jean Bennett, of Philadelphia. Little Doris Woodcock, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de Chine, brocaded chiffon, with rhinestone trimmings. Her veil was of Brussels net fastened with orange blossoms.

The matron of honor wore a gown of robin's egg blue crepe de Chine. The bridesmaids were dressed in georgette crepe. Two wore gowns of a green shade and two of ashes of roses.

The flower girl wore pink crepe de Chine.

Sunday School Lesson

REV. F. B. STEWART, D.D., Dean of the Bible School, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill.

Lesson for March 21 JESUS DIES AND RISES FROM THE DEAD

LESSON TEXT—John 19:17-30; 20:1-9

GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore doth the Father love me, because I lay down my life that I may take it again.—John 10:17

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Dies and Rises From the Dead

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ Dying for Our Sins and Rising Again for Our Justification

1. Jesus Crucified (vv. 17-30).
2. The place (v. 17).
3. It was on a hill called in Latin Calvary, in Hebrew Golgotha, which in shape resembled a skull.
4. His companions (v. 18, cf. Luke 23:32).
5. This shows how completely Jesus was identified with sinners.
6. The inscription over Him (vv. 19, 20).
7. It was customary to place an inscription over the cross stating the crime for which the victim suffered.
8. Gambling for the garments of Jesus (v. 23, 24).
9. This is an exhibition of how men's hearts may be so callous as to plan and act for present gain under the shadow of the cross of Christ.
10. Utterances from the cross (vv. 25-30).

(1) "Behold thy son"—"Behold thy mother" (vv. 25, 26).

In this crucial hour He forgot His own bitter anguish and interested Himself in those He loved. Though He was leaving the earth and its struggles, He made provision for the dear ones left behind.

(2) "I thirst" (v. 28).

As the sinners' representative, He suffered not only untold agony of mind, but of body as well.

(3) "It is finished" (v. 30).

While no one can fathom the depth of meaning in these words, they do no doubt indicate (a) that the calumny and indignities heaped upon Him were at an end.

(4) His death (v. 30).

His death was voluntary. With full consciousness that all things which He had come to do had now been accomplished, He dismissed His spirit.

(5) The Resurrection of Jesus (20:1-9).

1. The empty tomb (vv. 1-10).

(1) The testimony of Mary Magdalene (vv. 1, 2).

This woman, out of whom Jesus had cast seven demons (Mark 16:9; Luke 8:20), announced the fact of the empty tomb to Peter and John.

(2) Personal investigation by Peter and John (vv. 3-10).

The news of the empty tomb which Mary brought with breathless haste so moved John and Peter that they both ran to investigate.

(3) The manifestations of the risen Lord (vv. 11-20).

(1) To Mary Magdalene (vv. 11-18).

(a) Mary weeping at the empty tomb (v. 11).

Peter and John went home, but Mary could not—she stood weeping. She should have been rejoicing that the grave was empty, for the empty tomb was an eloquent proof of His resurrection and deity.

(b) Mary questioned by the angels (vv. 12, 13).

She viewed through her tears angels at the tomb, who inquired the cause of her sorrow.

(c) Jesus reveals Himself to Mary (vv. 12, 13).

She first saw angels, and then her eyes lighted upon the Lord. She did not recognize Him in His resurrection body but His voice was familiar to her. As soon as her name was called she recognized Him and worshiped at His feet.

(d) Jesus forbids her to touch Him (v. 17).

This shows that she was now coming into a new relationship with Him. Besides, there was no time for such familiarity while the disciples were in darkness. "Go, tell my brethren," was the message for her to carry.

(e) Mary's testimony (v. 18).

(2) To the disciples (vv. 19-20).

(a) When Thomas was absent (vv. 19-20).

He came to them with the message of peace (v. 19), showed His hands and side (v. 20), commissioned them (v. 21) and bestowed upon them the Holy Spirit (v. 22).

(b) When Thomas was present (vv. 24-29).

THEME OF THE CONSECUTIVE CLERGY

Reverend Hill, when preaching wore a gown; for that we would not stand.

Reverend Humphrey made us sore with sackcloth and a torn-in-hand.

Reverend Jones was brought to book for being too reserved and cold;

Reverend Gilmore got the book because his manners were too bold.

Reverend Sharp's stay here was brief;

Our ladies called his wife too dreary.

Reverend Brown soon came to grief;

His wife our ladies said, looked queer.

Reverend Spears we thought a lime because he was so slow and lazy;

Reverend Howe spent too much time in exercise, we dubbed him crazy.

Reverend Spalding wouldn't do—

He always wrote out his discourse.

Reverend Flint we by-tyed, too—

His sermons had no end of source.

From all that I can gather now,

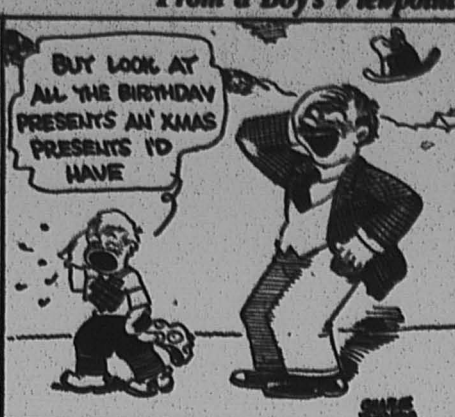

Reverend Gibbs before next season

Will have to make his farewell bow.

Provided we can find a reason.

County Membership Drive for Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Charlton, of Delanco, and Mrs. Wood, of Riverton, Local Chairmen

The annual membership drive for the Burlington County YWCA will be launched this week of March 22 to 27. Over the entire county a beautiful spirit of interest and co-operation has been manifested. The Burlington county women are assuming their responsibility in putting over the drive as might be expected of the type of Christian Womanhood of which Burlington County can boast.

With enthusiasm running high this promises to be one of the most successful years in Association work. With one thousand girls enrolled and actively taking part in the YWCA, and the work reaching thirty towns and communities in the county, a great opportunity is offered to both women and men to share in the great work being accomplished in the county.

The membership luncheon held in Burlington on the 17th was well attended. Mrs. Newcomb is the county chairman of membership and working with her will be the following local chairmen: Mrs. Louis Kaser, Mrs. John Love, Mt. Holly; Mrs. Carry Leeds, Burlington; Mrs. Alexander Wood, Riverton-Palmyra; Mrs. J. W. Davis, Beverly; Mrs. T. S. Borden, Cooperstown.

Mrs. R. G. Dunn, District II; Mrs. Alexander Wood, Mrs. R. S. Charlton, District III; Mrs. Harry Evans, Mrs. C. P. Clymer, District IV; Mrs. Wm. Matlack, District V; Mrs. E. Darlington, District VI; Mrs. Alexis Clark, District VIII.

Business Secretary
Miss Emma Severns, of Burlington, is the Business secretary of the Kensington Branch YWCA of Philadelphia. Miss Severns was a Girl Reserve in Burlington County for many years and from her experience in the Association grew the desire to take up YWCA work as a profession. As a secretary she is very successful and is doing a good piece of work in the city.

The demand for the YWCA work with women and girls throughout the small towns and open country of New Jersey, has been so pressing that it has been decided to put a special YWCA worker in the state to help the women meet this demand and bring about the organization of the YWCA work in the small towns and country field where ever there is a need. A number of members of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. who live in New Jersey, held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward S. Harmon in Moorestown to talk over the best way of meeting this demand. Mrs. Robert E. Speer, President of the National Organization, Miss Henrietta Roelofs, Executive Secretary of the Rural Communities Department of the Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. John Sines, of Edgewater Park, were also present for luncheon. Plans were completed for the developing of this state work.

Miss Elizabeth E. Blick, one of the national rural community secretaries, is to take over this state work and has already met several groups who are waiting this work in various parts of the state, and had been advising with church and Y. M. C. A. groups who are feeling a need for women work.

Midwinter Conference
The mid winter conference for Business and Professional Women of the Y. W. C. A. of the Eastern Region was held in Chester, Pa., March 13th and 14th. Two hundred delegates from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia and Delaware were present. Miss Harriet A. Cunningham, the National Secretary for business and professional women, explained the organization of this department at the Hot Springs Convention in 1932, and the rapid progress that has been made in the five years time that it has existed. There are eighty thousand young women both business and professional, who are members of clubs in the different associations in the United States.

Dr. Iva L. Peters, of Goucher College, was the speaker on Sunday morning her subject being "Work and its Effect upon the Individual Personality." The theme of her talk was expressed in the following poem:

WORK

Work! Thank God for the might of it,

The ardor—the urge, the delight of it.

Work that springs from the heart's desire,

Setting the brain and the soul on fire—

Oh, what is so good as the heat of it,

And what is so glad as the beat of it,

And what is so kind as the stern command,

Challenging brain and heart and hand!

Burlington County had nine delegates at the conference. Miss Lucy Wild, of Moorestown, was elected secretary of the national committee to plan and carry out the midwinter conference in 1937. This conference will be held in Pottsville, Pa.

ANNOUNCEMENT

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF BURLINGTON COUNTY:

I desire to make announcement of my candidacy for re-nomination for Surrogate of Burlington County, subject to your decision, at the approaching Primary Election in June.

Recent precedent has decreed in this county, as in all other counties of this state, that county officials who have rendered efficient service, shall have more than one term; in which connection I might refer you to the Judge, the Prosecutor of the Peace, Members of the Board of Freeholders, Members of the Tax Board, Members of all other county boards, Senator, Member of Assembly, and the County Clerk, in all of which offices successive terms have been accorded the incumbents in more recent years.

During my years in your service, I have devoted my entire time to the discharge of my official duties, never forgetting that public office is a public trust.

If my personal and official record meet with your approval, I ask for your vote and support at the approaching Primary Election.

Very respectfully,

M. E. Matlack.

Many Veterans Convert Policies

Thousands Taking Advantage of Liberal Offers Made by Government

From the number of conversions of war time insurance that are coming into the Veterans' Bureau daily, it is evident that the ex-service men are keenly alive to the advantages of this class of insurance. The proposition of life insurance has been approved in principle by the best minds of every civilized country in the world, but it remained for America to develop a particular kind of policy which could maintain its war-time economical features and still be adaptable to peace time conditions.

Policies of this character, six in number, have been prepared by the Veterans' Bureau, keeping true to all that its traditionally best in the theory of life insurance, but always holding in mind the need for making such policies as economical a "buy" as possible for the benefit of the veterans for whom they are issued.

Under the liberal legislation governing the reinstatement and conversion of the original "war-time" insurance, thousands of veterans who had given up their insurance as lost to them forever on account of lapation, are now getting in "under the wire" before the last call, July 2, 1936, and the Insurance Division of the Bureau reports 11,547 applications for conversion alone, received during January and February. Of these applications, 9,632 have already been approved.

In connection with this insurance, the Bureau has recently made a remarkable record in paying a converted insurance claim within 24 hours of the death of the insured. The case was that of Michael F. Curran who died at 5 p. m. on the 21st of the month, and the beneficiaries, his daughter, the Misses Marguerite and Eleanor Curran of Boston received their checks in full payment of their claims before close of business at 4.30 the next day. With necessary proof in a claim presented to the Bureau, in proper form, payment can be almost believably expedited, in the case of these insurance policies.

Buick is More Expensively Built

But it Costs Less to Buy one

Buick is built more expensively than any other car in or near the Buick price class.

"Expensively built" means that the different parts and units of the Buick motor car are the best that engineers can design. But, thanks to the large volume which public demand has given to Buick, and thanks also to production methods that are models of efficiency in an efficient industry, the Buick motor car can be sold to you at a very moderate price.

Many Buick features are duplicated only in America's highest priced motor cars.

Buick, for instance, uses the Torque Tube Drive to transmit the drive of the car wheels to the chassis, instead of burdening the rear springs with this added duty. The highest priced car in America uses the Torque tube. And so does Buick!

The American public wants floor transportation and Buick provides it at lower cost. Consequently Buick is a very popular car. Come in and examine the Better Buick.

George Washington

A strong and noble man was he,
Brave, honorable and true,
The motto that he practised was
"Serve others as you would have them serve you."

To his men he was a father,
And master to be obeyed,
All his orders were carried out thoroughly.

No plans or commands were delayed,
While the British made merry at Trenton.

Washington planned to attack,
He crossed the icy Delaware,
Which shows that courage he did not lack.

He and his men suffered intensely,
From cold and hunger and want,
While the British lived in luxury,
But their courage it did not daunt.

The poorly clad, half fed soldiers,
Almost gave up the fight,
But when Baron Steuben came,
He forced their ranks back tight.

He drilled them constantly,
Also taught them courage and daring.

And not one man would speak,
Of the plight of the clothes he was wearing.

The wise and witty Franklin, Appealed to the French Court for aid.

So polite were his ways and witty his manner.

That plans for help were made.

After the victory of Yorktown,
Washington retired to his home,
His mansion at Mount Vernon.
For he wished to be quiet and alone.

He is an example to others.
To always be loyal and true.
And first to do unto others,
As you would have them do unto you.

Anna Scattergood,
Grade 5.

Fourth Grade News

Geography—We are getting very good marks in our geography. We are studying about the occupation of the people of northern New Jersey and the occupation of the people in the southern parts of our State.

Spelling—The class of fourth grade are also getting high marks in spelling. Each day of the week we are getting higher and better marks.

Arithmetic—Our arithmetic is getting better and we are improving every day.

Conduct—Our class is improving every day. We have a new idea.
Our teacher, Miss Paulding has used very stiff cardboard, and has cut it into squares. Each row in the room has a card. On this card the row that are good all day get a blue star. If a certain row get four blue stars on Friday, they get a red star.

History—Our class is studying about the Revolutionary War. Mostly about the Revolutionary War.

Reading—The class of fourth grade is divided into two parts.
The good readers and the poor readers. We find that this is doing a lot of good, because some of the poor readers have been promoted into the good class.

Art—The Riverton Public School's Art teacher, Miss Foulke, is giving us picture lessons. We will be making a book. We will put seventeen cents for the note book. Then we will put along side of the picture where the original picture can be found, the artist's life and name.

Music—Miss Lucas, our singing teacher, divides the class into two parts. She gives us two-part songs and we each sing one of the tunes and in this way we have a pretty song.

Clarence Hubbs, Jr.,
Grade 4.

Eighth Grade Sewing Class

The girls of the eighth grade will now finish up the end of the school year. We are making graduation dresses, as it is a custom for the eighth grade girls to do.
These dresses will be made under the direction of Miss Bosworth, our sewing teacher. They will be made of cotton material. The girls started the dresses a week or two ago and expect to have them finished in June.

June Mattis,
Grade 8.

Activities

In our classroom we are doing something very unusual. We are planting bulbs pertaining to our geography studies of the Netherlands. We have decided to raise them in pebbles and water instead of soil, because they will grow better. We hope they will be grown by Easter.

Recites Glories of California

Dr. R. H. Lamb Tells Further Details of Visit to Western Coast

Dr. Ridgeway H. Lamb of Palmyra, continues to read much of interest to write home about, sub-jecting "The New West," of his old home town, as his medium of publication.

California
February 23, 1926

For The Press—
My supply of relations is more than ordinary in number and exten-sive in domain and California con-tains several of them. In order to see them all I have to visit sev-eral cities extending from Los An-geles to San Francisco which are 375 miles apart. Truly this is a country of magnificent distances.

After a very enjoyable sojourn here I moved on to the city of Fresno which is situated in the geo-graphical center of the state and it is so designated by a monument erected nearby. This island city containing about seventy thousand inhabitants is located in the great San Joaquin Valley (pronounced Wawkeen) which is a wonderful valley stretching between the Sierra Nevada and the Coast Ranges of mountains thirty four thousand square miles in extent and contain-ing one fifth of the whole popula-tion of California.

It is both longer and wider than the state of New Jersey and is al-most as large as the state of In-diana. In this great level basin there are ten million acres of arable land from which half of the grain grown in California is harvested and there are large cattle and sheep ranches and orchards of apples, peaches, apricots, figs, oranges, lemons and other fruits. Around about Fresno there are forty thou-sand acres devoted to grape culture alone.

Big Canning Industry
Bakersfield, Corcoran, Tulare, Vi-alta, Hanford, Fresno, Merces and Stockton are the principal cities and they are of considerable size and importance, but Fresno is the larg-est in the valley and is centrally lo-cated. It has some big factories and establishments for canning and dry-ing fruit. It claims to have the largest raisin factory in the world. The famous Del Monte canned fruits are put up there and they are of excellent quality as I have person-ally attested. But the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe R. R. pass through that productive region.

The weather there at this season is agreeable and in the summer I understand it is as hot as blue blazes. The Sierra Nevada Moun-tains are in close proximity and they are higher than the Rockies. They are covered with a blanket of snow upon their summits. Mount Whitney which is the loftiest Mountain in the U. S. with an altitude of 14,501 feet is not far distant. The Sequoia National Park where the giant forests grow and the Yosemite National Park with its trees older than the pyramids of Egypt are not far away.

The latter is now snow bound and as cold as Greenland. Under the existing conditions it could not be otherwise than disagreeably cold around Fresno. The temperature was not so low but the dampness in the atmosphere rendered it extreme-ly raw and disagreeable and it has a tendency to dispel the illusion created by the old familiar saw, "The Glorious Climate of California."

It seems to be an anomalous con-dition to be chronically as cold as a frog when you are walking around among orange trees laden with their golden and billious pills, clothed in the same attire as at home in zero weather but a look over the top of the orange trees discloses a snow scene upon the horizon that ac-counts for all your chills.

"Climate 'the bank'"
In the middle of the day when the sun is shining brightly it is comfortable if you have winter clothes on, but towards nightfall or in the early and foggy hours of the morning the climate of central Cal-ifornia is not only "bunk," but it is bad. A perfectly dry atmosphere at forty degrees temperature is much more comfortable than a moisture laden air in at a temperature of 60 degrees. I have therefore given up the idea that a fellow cannot be otherwise than comfortable in an orange grove. I am satisfied that shivers can gallivant up and down his back and his teeth chatter about as lively there as they can in a cold storage house under the same at-mospheric condition.

Fortunately I have with me plen-ity of warm underclothing and an overcoat that is indispensable and I therefore get along pretty good, but the average guy who comes out here minus his overcoat or his blanket under the erroneous impression that they are not needed in this supposed land of perpetual sunshine is destined to discomfort and he may be likened unto the foolish virgins who went out at midnight to meet the bridegroom without their oil.

People Sociable
Fresno is spread out over quite a wide area and is built up in the center with fine residences and business blocks interspersed with a few shy-scrapers. It has a state College, a couple of daily papers, a state looking Court house in the center and in particular I have found sev-eral very intelligent and interesting people who were very sociable and hospitable.

I do not think that the place is especially unique in that particular however, for I have found the people throughout the state to be very affable and kindly disposed. It is quite characteristic of the coun-try, the majority of residents are more or less alien and away from their native habitat and in the new environment they have thrown off a lot of superfluous reserve and be-come natural and democratic in thought and action.

From Fresno I went to Alameda, which is a very nice suburb of San Francisco. I visited a cousin living there who has been in California for the last forty years. During that period I have dropped in on her three times and found her a very hospitable hostess, who extend-ed to me a very cordial welcome that rendered my visits exceedingly enjoyable.

Many people who read this will doubtless remember Ella Lamb, Davis, daughter of Squire Joseph L. Lamb, of Julietstown. She married Frank E. Davis, of Wrightstown, son of Samuel Davis, and nephew of Ivens Davis, who were pioneers in the early days of the settlement of California, when it was "the wild and woolly West."

All Made Good
There was another one of this Davis family who was an earlier pioneer and a tremendous hunter. He arrived at a position of consider-able prominence and importance, inasmuch that he became President of the Southern Pacific R. R. Co. They all made good in one way and another. Frank has been connected with the Southern Pacific ever since he cut loose from New Jersey.

There are several old residents of New Jersey residing there. I met Sallie Bartlett Greg, whom I had not seen for about a half century. She was a patient of mine, when she was a girl during the Centennial year. She is a daughter of the late Eyre Bartlett, of Birmingham and later of Joplin, Mo., and the widow of Jerome Greg.

John Groshaw, brother of Joseph Groshaw, of Wrightstown, whom I met the last time I was in Califor-nia about ten years ago, is in San Francisco connected with the U. S. Custom House. I had intended to pay him a call on my way down to Los Angeles, but when I got as far as San Francisco a violent rain storm had set in, that proved to be the heaviest rainfall that has taken place for years.

It extended all along the coast and did considerable damage. I was there, prevented from carrying out my project. This extraordinary rain lasted about three days and delighted the hearts of the Califor-nians who deem it a Million Dol-lar Rain. Rain may well be ap-preciated in localities such as this where the annual rainfall is from 14 to 20 inches, which is inadequate to meet the needs of vegetation.

R. H. LAMB
We hereby award an extra allo-cation of pie to the young lady who sold last week that this was an interest-ing newspaper.

Up until a short time ago the principle of selling against installment payments was confined to a very few lines of business. Recently the idea has been taken up rather generally.

That it has been a stimulus to business is conceded but there is a disposition on the part of some business men and economists to question its advantages in several other respects.

Applied to saving through a bank account, however, the installment idea is fundamentally sound.

Why not make it a practice to pay installments to your bank account; you will find you are purchasing something of great value by so doing.

RIVERTON, NEW JERSEY, THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1926

COMMITTEES CONSIDERING NEW FIRE APPARATUS

Question Is Whether to Buy New or Repair the Old Trucks

NEW ONE WOULD COST ABOUT $13,000

The Fire and Water Committee of the Riverton Borough Council, composed of Edward H. Plager, Jr., chairman, William A. Welsh, Joshua S. Bartley, and the Citizens' Committee composed of H. H. Murray, chairman, John C. Gies, George D. Hedges, are considering what changes, if any, should be made in the equipment of the Riverton fire department.

One proposition is to buy another truck similar to the one last purchased. This apparatus and ladders will cost between $11,000 and $13,000. This plan would provide fire protection for Riverton in case the other apparatus should be called to adjoining towns.

Another proposition is to repair the old Mack truck at a cost of $3500 to $4000. It is claimed that this truck can be put in good condition as it ever was for this sum. The opponents of this plan, however, say that it was an "assembled" job in the first place, and in so old that parts cannot be secured in stock and must be made to order.

If the Mack is repaired the old Packard apparatus carrying the additional equipment being required—a 35-foot ladder or two of a suitable type, it being claimed that the extension ladder now used is not built for fire purposes.

Riverton P. T. A. Holds Meeting

Dr. Brotemarkle Explains So-Called "Destructive" Tendencies of Children

The regular monthly meeting of the Riverton Parent-Teacher Association took place Thursday, March 18th, in the school auditorium.

Mrs. H. S. Rivers sang two solos "Good Morning, Brother Sunshine," and "In an Old-Fashioned Town." Mrs. Lord accompanied at the piano.

Miss Chiew talked for a few minutes for the purpose of assuring the mothers that every precaution was being taken to prevent the spread of any contagious disease in the school, fumigation following the report of any case from the school.

The president urged the members to take part in the establishment of the question box, as that promises to be a plan whereby co-operation may be encouraged. The human mind is prone to look on organization as a limiting thing, and the benefits of a right organization are experienced. Then it is seen that organization of right activities is an instrument of freedom, and to function properly must result from co-operation of all members.

The P. T. A. has given itself a force for good and should receive active support not only from mothers but from fathers as well, who desire to keep in touch with their children's development and be able to appreciate their growth upon life. This brings about sympathy and comradeship between parents and children conducive to much future happiness for both. If you can make use of the question-box both fathers and mothers are heartily invited to do so.

A most interesting and enlightening talk was given by Dr. Robert Brotemarkle on the subject "The Pre-School Child" from the viewpoint of the psychologist. Dr. Brotemarkle explained the effect of pre-natal influences, then reasons for the actions of the tiny infant. He told, further, why the older child tore paper and books, marked everything within reach, etc., etc., explaining that these tendencies are immediately checked and broken, the co-ordination is impaired and the child will have extreme difficulty in certain work when it reaches school age.

Every mother of small children who was present felt they had gained much helpful material from Dr. Brotemarkle's address.

GREET NEW PASTOR

Reception Given the Rev. J. W. Lee in Epworth Temple

A large representation of the congregation greeted the new pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church, the Rev. J. W. Lee, at the reception tendered him in the Temple Thursday evening of last week.

Leonard R. Baker, chairman of the reception committee, was in charge of the meeting and delivered the address of welcome for the church. The Rev. George Lockett, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, the Rev. Albert J. Harkes, pastor of the Abrahams Church, and Norman G. Shriver, representative of the First Lutheran Church, welcomed the new pastor in behalf of the Churches of the community.

The Rev. Mr. Lee very graciously responded to the words of welcome and in a brief talk outlined some of his plans and ambitions for Epworth Church. A tiny tot from the Sunday School presented Mrs. Lee with a beautiful basket of flowers.

Several local artists presented a very delightful musical program which included piano solos by Mrs. L. Lord, vocal solos by Fred Schaeffer, cythophone solos by Paul Bauder, vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. David Gray Schwartz and soprano solos by Mrs. Leon C. Guest.

Wink's Cage Stars Split Twin Bill

Burlington Champions Defeat Local Varsity, But Reverse Win

Wink's Y. M. C. A. Aves split their twin bill with the Ivy teams of Burlington on Saturday evening. Both games were hard fought, the varsity losing by one point margin, 26-25, and the local scrubs coming through with a 27-21 victory.

The reserves, with nearly a score of wins and only one defeat as their record for this season, continued their brilliant game and jumped to an early lead which they maintained throughout.

Paul Burke, the "iron man," who played in both games, featured with trio of two liners. Burlington and Jenkins gave flashy performances while Cook and Smith, with four double deakers apiece, were the visiting second-string bright lights.

Ivy's varsity, which holds the Burlington City League championship, made things difficult for Wink's senior aggregation from start to finish. The Palmyra boys played bang up ball, however, they made it a nip and tuck game throughout.

Never were the visitors ahead by more than a couple of points and at half time the count was Palmyra, 17; Burlington, 16. The clever shooting of Burke and Easley and the floorwork of Kalowski, the stellar guard, were the outstanding fine points of Palmyra's game. The entire local squad showed excellent form with general all around team work and snappy passing.

This Saturday evening the "V" teams will battle with the Delec Club of Philadelphia at the Temple. Y. M. C. A.

MR. JOSEPH W. RICHARDSON

The community was deeply shocked and grieved on Thursday morning of last week to learn of the passing away of one of its most esteemed and well beloved women, Mrs. Joseph W. Richardson.

The community can scarcely afford to lose from its midst a woman of the sterling and admirable qualities as distinguished the character of this splendid woman.

Mrs. Richardson's life was marked by indefatigable effort and sacrifice for those who needed support and good cheer in their hour of need. It seems that all within the radius of her sphere gravitated naturally to her personality and cheery smile for that consolation and balm which only a high minded Christian soul can offer.

There was no one in the community who worked more persistently for the cause of the late war in that field where women were serviceable than she. Her services as an active Red Cross worker during the war are well known and appreciated. No sacrifice was too great for her to make in this regard. She was vice-chairman of the Burlington County Chapter and the Palmyra Branch of the Red Cross. Her activities in the Red Cross included the present. She included names with Mount Holly, Brown Prep, Temple University, High, Pemberton, Paulsboro and Gloucester. Manager McCuen is negotiating with several other prominent schools in this locality to all the schools.

Mrs. Rachel West, 55 years old, colored, wife of Clarence West, died at her home in Parry Saturday. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Wrightsville M. E. Church with the Rev. Mr. W. J. W. officiating. Burial was made in Harleigh Cemetery.

ARCTIC TRIP AT MEN'S CLUB

Lieut. Rigg Gives Thrilling Account of McMillan Expedition

COMPASS IS FAULTY IN NORTHERN AREA

While comfortably seated in the recently enlarged dining room of the Men's Club of the Christ Church, Palmyra, enjoyed, without the many hardships, the experiences of a polar explorer.

Lieutenant Benjamin H. Rigg, a member of the McMillan Expedition, gave a very interesting account of the trip from June to September, 1925, illustrating his talk with a large number of excellent stereopticon views.

The speaker, who is connected with the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Department of Commerce, was attached to the famous North Pole expedition as Magnetic and Tide Observer.

With scarcely a remark concerning the extreme hardships and difficulties encountered by the party, Lieutenant Rigg outlined the course of the expedition which led to the Peary and the Bowdoin sailed from Maine in June until their return last September.

He showed many views of Labrador and Greenland, described the climate, sections populated, the customs and costumes of the Northern folk and their leading industries.

The ships, said the Lieutenant, fought their way north within 750 miles of the pole. From there, three airplanes which were taken along, attempted to explore further into the polar region, but failed.

The magnetic pole in Hudson Bay which throws the compass several points off is one of the big difficulties encountered by a polar explorer. The large ship's compass becomes unreliable with the small liquid type used by the planes are useless. The azimuth which determines direction by the sun and stars, which is controlled by earthly attractions, are used.

As the conclusion of his illustrated lecture, the speaker displayed garments, harpoons and various implements of northern people, explaining their use and manufacture. The members were permitted to examine the curios and "fired" questions at the speaker.

Many of the pictures shown by Lieutenant Rigg will be found in this month's issue of the National Geographic Magazine.

William T. J. Purcell announced the club will close its season with one of the popular forums in May. The speaker will deliver ten minute talks each on his occupation or some pet hobby or fancy. Richard E. Wilson, chairman of the Forum Committee, completed his list of volunteer speakers with the following: J. W. Rigg, J. H. Hunt, H. R. Hamilton, William T. J. Purcell, J. C. Denninger, W. C. Wentzell, Werner Horton, Sr., Werner Horton, Jr., Frank Probsting, J. C. Denninger, L. W. Hampton, and J. C. McColl.

APRIL 1 RIVERTON FIREMEN'S PARTY AT SET, DOUTAGE CHURCH'S HALL

Clarence Hubbs, chairman of the entertainment committee for the Riverton Firemen's party to be given Thursday evening, April 1, is laid up with the grip but he says that this will make no difference to the party as the arrangements have been practically completed and all the other members of the committee are on the job.

Invitations have been sent to the mayor and council, to two charter members and a number of original members, as well as to all the present firemen.

The members who fail to attend will miss one of the best entertainments of their lives.

P. O. S. OF A.

Camp 23, P. O. S. of A., will observe Palm Sunday night on Monday evening, March 29th. This is an annual event in the camp and will give the younger members an opportunity to get acquainted with the men who served the Camp in its early history.

The past presidents will be present. The officers urge all the members of Camp 23 to come out on the 29th. As an additional attraction, State President Fisher and State Vice President Maginn will be with us.

"Boots" Takes Episcopal Job

Will Continue to Coach P. H. S. Athletes, Assisted by Frances Ruppert

Harold B. "Boots" Lever has accepted the attractive offer to coach the Episcopal Academy track team, and, true to his word, did not affix his signature to the contract until he had made arrangements which will enable him to continue his work with the Palmyra High School boys.

The former collegiate sprint champion's achievement in Palmyra last season will never be forgotten by his townspeople. In one season, acting as a "gratis" coach, Boots developed a one-mile relay team for Palmyra High which shattered records, capped the national Class B scholastic and suburban titles at the Penn Relays and, general speaking, set a pace heretofore unknown to schoolboys.

With this record, the former Penn sinder path captain was besieged with offers from some of the finest prep schools in the country. In many cases finances were a minor consideration with the institutions bidding for the services of the famous Palmyra mentor.

Boots, however, declined all of them, stating he could not sever his business connections and would not desert his proteges, the Palmyra High track boys.

The popular and exclusive Main Line school was determined to sign up Boots as the track tutor and after several conferences, terms were agreed upon whereby Boots may continue his work with the Palmyra-Riverton Realty Company as vice-president in charge of insurance, coach the Episcopal Academy aspirants to track honors and then complete the day's toil with the Palmyra High boys.

Each afternoon Boots will spend from 3.15 to 4.15 at the Academy, then hop in his "silver" and dash home so as to be with Palmyra High squad from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Lever started his work with the Main Liners Monday but has not become well enough acquainted with his material to make any promises as to his first year's product in professional coaching circles.

He says he will devote the next week or ten days with continuing the gym exercises and preliminary outdoor routine work with Palmyra's squad.

Frances J. V. Hupper, former star Palmyra High girl athlete and holder of a host of feminine sprint records, has agreed to assist Boots in coaching the Palmyra High School girls' track team which he started last week. Palmyra's fair ladies have not done any track work for the past several years, not since the regime of the famous Frances.

BIG BACKING FOR NEW BALL TEAM IN RIVERTON

"MISS SOMEBODY ELSE" Much Interest Developed in Amateur Production

Much interest is being displayed in the coming presentation of "Miss Somebody Else," a modern four-act comedy which will be given in the Palmyra High School auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, May 7 and 8, by the Friendship Circle Class, of the Epworth M. E. Sunday School.

The membership of the two organizations includes some excellent material and in addition the producers have obtained other local talent to assist in the show.

David P. Shanks, of Riverton, is coaching the "ballers" cast in this delightful comedy which has rippling dramatic moments, unusual character types and a striking and original plot which is pleasingly modern in theme and treatment.

Already, under the able direction of Director Shanks, who has achieved a local reputation with amateur theatricals, the splendid cast shows considerable action in its work at rehearsals and delightfully brings out the bright comedy lines and dramatic situations of the story.

Kiwanis Night at Riverside

Many Splendid Numbers Feature Evening of Entertainment and Instruction

St. Peter's Hall, Riverside was crowded to its capacity Monday evening with people of the Triple Towns who had been invited to take part in another one of the popular Kiwanis Nights.

The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts were there in full force. The school teachers, the Moral Code Essay Contest winners and representative of every lodge and organization in the Triple Towns all took part in the enthusiastic program.

The meeting opened with community singing of America, followed by other popular songs. Then two new members of this year's Kiwanis, Miss Alma Stack, of Palmyra, and Charlie Williams, of Delanco, rendered two delightful duets with the audience joining in the chorus.

Scoutmaster Potts, of Riverside, made a brief address on behalf of the scouts, urging all the people of the town to take an interest in the display of Scout handicraft being shown in various store windows. Then County Scout Leader Tallis led the boys in repeating the Scout Oath and recitation of the Scout Law, in conclusion the troops from each town gave a rousing scout cheer for the troops from the other town and then all the Scouts gave their cheer for the Kiwanis.

Another feature of the evening was the introduction of Harry Lio, the 16-year-old boy hero from Bridgeboro, who last summer saved a number of persons from drowning. The Artisan's Glee Club, of Palmyra, rendered several fine numbers which were greatly appreciated. The glee club was led by Van Oaten, with Lee Milton at the piano.

Charlie Schwartz then obliged with one of his inimitable saxophone solos and responded to the storm of applause with a wonderful clarinet number.

Kiwanis Orchestra Plays

The Kiwanis orchestra played several numbers during the evening and accompanied the community singing with Mrs. C. F. Fisher at the piano.

Handsome printed certificates of merit were presented each of the winners of the Moral Code Essay contest, whose names were announced some time back. Each prize winner received a round of applause as his name was called.

The big feature of the evening was the address by Harry M. White, of the General Electric Company, of Schenectady, who combined an inspiring address on "The New Frontier of America" with a thrilling electrical demonstration.

Mr. White had with him a huge spark coil with a large metal ball mounted on top. When the current was turned on, long jagged tongues of electricity, looking for all the world like lightning, shot from the ball in all directions.

The lecturer would stand near this outfit and an electric light focused to any portion of his body would light up. He also had a group of Boy Scouts hold each other's hands. At each end of the line two boys held special type of electric light. When the spark coil was operating the lamps held by the boys would light.

World's Biggest Lamp

Mr. White also showed what he called the largest incandescent lamp in the world, which would develop 750,000 candle-power, or 60,000 watts. He said if the lamp were lit on the stage, the glare would be so intense that no one could look at it and the heat would be so great that within a few minutes the audience would have to leave the hall.

The speaker had high praise for school teachers. He said most of them were angels, for it takes an angel to teach them something, and to teach them something, they must be angels.

One must not criticize boys too harshly for their youthful pranks, said the speaker. There is no such thing as a bad boy. Thomas A. Edison himself was expelled from school when he was twelve, yet he grew up to be one of the world's greatest men. Mr. Edison gave credit for all he is to his mother.

Boys should be understood and not punished, asserted Mr. White. The audience was so full that many could not get in.

Mr. White's address was full of humor and interesting statistics and the audience enjoyed every minute.

Scheduled to Play Many Noted Teams

An enthusiastic meeting of those interested in Riverton's new baseball club was held in Collins' Hall, Friday evening of last week, and the following officers and directors were elected:

Chairman, Edward R. Williams; manager, Martin C. Welsh; business and assistant manager, Joseph Hilton; chairman of baseball field, Walter G. Miller; chairman of publicity, Hudson Hullings; treasurer, Matthew Southmead.

The board of directors are: Frank Holwick, Joseph Hyton, George D. Steele, Walter C. Wright, Clarence Hubbs, Hudson Hullings, Walter G. Miller, Martin C. Welsh, Frank C. Cole, Matthew Southmead, Joseph Schaeffer, Theodor Schneider, John C. Gies, Charles L. Flanagan, Irving S. Williams, Edward H. Plager Jr., William B. Lynch and Herbert Evans.

Edward R. Williams, the new chairman of the club, made a short address in which he asked for the co-operation of the townspeople in making Riverton's 1926 baseball team a worthy successor to the magnificent teams of thirty years ago, with a revival of Riverton's glory and splendor of former years in the baseball world.

Frank Holwick also stressed the need of co-operation and said that if everybody got back of the management, the team this year could be made a real success. He said that some of the best semi-professional teams in this section would be scheduled, and that Riverton would have a chance to see some real baseball by a team of which they could all feel proud.

Walter C. Wright briefly cited the proud position Riverton had always held in the field of sports because of the fine spirit and clean sportsmanship of its team. He said that visitors playing here had frequently spoken of Riverton as "a place we always like to go back to because they're a bunch of good sports."

It was announced at the meeting that a card party and dance to be given on April 17 by P. O. S. of A. hall is being arranged for by Mrs. Hudson Hullings and Mrs. Robert Hullings. Every one of the large number of enthusiasts present had something to say of the prospects of the team this year, and there was a unanimous spirit expressed to back it to the limit.

Another meeting will be held in Collins' Hall, Friday evening, April 2, and any Riverton boys who would like to try for the team are invited to be present at that time, or to communicate with Martin C. Welsh or Joseph Hyton.

All Ready for The Noted "Bab"

High School Senior Class Play Expected To Exceed Previous Records

Everything is in readiness, the stage is all set and everyone is breathlessly awaiting one of the big events in the life of a Palmyra High School student—the senior class play which will be presented in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings of this week.

Each year's production seems to surpass that of the previous season, and, without a doubt, the cast which will present "Bab," a comedy in four acts, Friday and Saturday, will live up to the traditional record.

Included in the cast are several of the players who scored a tremendous hit in last year's junior production which, in the opinion of many, was the best performance ever, excelled in every way many of the previous graduating productions.

According to reports, the youthful actors and actresses, who were picked from a wealth of talent, display excellent technique, comparable only with that of the legitimate stage.

Miss Lodge, of the High School faculty, who is directing the play, has not only made a thorough study of the work from the professional standpoint, but has had considerable experience coaching school actors in amateur plays and has skillfully developed her young charges.

"Bab" was written by Edward Childs Carpenter and is taken from the novel by Mary Roberts Rinehart. It was originally produced at the Park Theatre, New York, in 1920. The members of the cast are as follows:

Dorothy Jones, Ruth Adell, Helen Maurer, Elwood Wagner, Joseph Atkinson, Polly Dickinson, Lamont Roberts, Mary Zurburg, William Colney, James Hires and Henry Froude.

A few tickets still remain unsold and may be obtained from any of the seniors or at the high school office. The proceeds realized from the play will help finance the annual senior class trip to Washington.

PORCH CLAN NEWS

The meeting of the Riverton Porch Club, Tuesday March 30, at 3 p. m., will be under the direction of the entertainment committee. Come to enjoy the fun and humor of four own members. Guests of the club are also invited.

and no man or woman should miss an opportunity to enter him in the right direction.

Mr. White's address was full of humor and interesting statistics and the audience enjoyed every minute.

South Jersey Exposition Developing Into Great Community of Communities

Eight Counties and Many Towns To Be Represented; Varied Displays and Many Regular Fair Features Included in Splendid Program

"A great community of communities," that is what the South Jersey Exposition will be as a result of a rush by more than a score of towns to have representation.

The Exposition will be held on the 57-acre Civic Center in Camden, but will be local only in that it is being held there. From July 1 to September 6, the most unique state of its kind ever conducted, will be in full swing.

Here is a partial list of towns whose interest is changing the complexion of the celebration:

Andover, Alton, Blackwood, Berlin, Burlington, Bridgeton, Collingswood, Gloucester, Glassboro, Merchantville, Mt. Holly, Pittman, Riverside, Riverton, Swedesboro, Westville, Williamstown, Woodbury, Woodstown.

Cape May County will have a display of its attractions and Pennsylvania Township is taking an interest. The Legislature has passed a bill which gives the state official participation. The City and County of Camden are giving support and many other communities are joining in the march to take advantage of the opportunity to be a part of this novel Exposition.

Many Communities Interested. Experienced exposition and fairmen say they never have heard of any affair which has represented a movement by so many communities to advance their interests through displays occasioned by a general spirit of progress.

The suggestion has been made that the name of the celebration be changed to "South Jersey Communities Exposition."

Some of the towns which have arranged with A. E. MacKinnon, director, for space, are enthusiastic over showing their desirability as industrial centers. Others will stress the home element; still others want to impress the visitors with their attractiveness from a recreational standpoint and some will insist that they are desirable from every angle.

Gloucester is having its high school pupils construct a paper mache model of the community. This will be one of the most interesting exhibits in the community circle.

One community which prides itself as being a "great big little" industrial center, is having displays of the wares of its leading industries with signs showing the number of persons employed, the amount paid out in wages annually by the industries and the availability of homes and educational, religious and social facilities.

One of the communities entered prides itself on a certain variety of a popular vegetable it grows. This section will "tell the world" how the vegetable in question carries the name of the community to every state in the Union.

Eight Counties Represented. Virtually every town in the lower eight counties of the state will be represented in the program of pageantry being arranged. It is planned to have all the events which link South Jersey history with that of the state and nation, re-enacted in pageantry. Each of the eight counties will be allotted a week in which to present the events they prize most in history. This county then will divide itself into six groups so that individual communities, or groups of them, may each have a night on which to exhibit its own particular event.

President Colledge will be the guest of Camden on July 5 when the $10,000,000 bridge over the Delaware between Camden and Philadelphia is opened. The nation's Chief Executive will attend the bridge opening ceremonies which will be held on the Exposition grounds. The governors of several states will attend on days set aside for their commonwealths and many persons prominent in the affairs of the nation will be guests on various occasions.

Regular Exposition Features. Although the participation of numerous communities has become the chief element of the Exposition, it will not be without its regular features.

South Jersey is noted for her agricultural products, her great industries and her wonderful resorts. All of these will be splendidly represented.

Then there will be the attractions which will spread over the 57 acres comprising the Exposition grounds. The big Convention Hall will be the main exhibits building with annexes caring for other displays. An amphitheatre with a grandstand to seat 5000 persons will be constructed together with a stage 200 feet long. There will be bandstands, restaurants, side-shows, music and athletics.

With all the regular features of an exposition provided for and the unique addition added by the communities displays, the ten-week celebration promises to make history in its line.

Political Kettle Already Boiling

Although This Is an Off-Year, an Interesting Campaign Is Looked For

The political pot is slowly simmering. Within the next few weeks it will be boiling furiously, as it has a way of doing shortly before the primary elections in Burlington county.

While this is what is commonly known as an off-year, there are several important county offices and a Congressman to be chosen at the November election. In addition to the latter the voters will select a Freeholder, County Auditor, Surrogate, Sheriff, Assessor and Coroner.

Thus far the only announced candidate for any of these offices is Guyvorte Matlack, who has thrown his hat into the ring and stands ready to meet any who may care to contest his claim to a second term. There are no other aspirants in sight at this time.

The Surrogate is asking for re-election and is looking for a strong opponent on the strength of his record in office and the generally recognized precedent in more recent years of giving a faithful county official a second term. His candidacy has met with a cordial reception throughout the county and the outlook for his re-nomination and re-election is especially bright.

For Sheriff there are plenty of rumors but no self-confessed aspirants at this time. In due course there will be candidates, thought, and, perhaps, a lively contest over the office, which, however, has lost much of its political value in recent years.

The term of Freeholder J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford, will expire at the end of this year, and it has been reported that he will seek re-election, if he is finishing his second term. So far, nobody has announced himself as a candidate for the prospective vacancy in the Board, but that is not saying that there will not be a full complement of aspirants long before the lists close. Several names have been heard already as likely to be among those entered but up to this time their owners have given no sign as to whether they intend to take a broil or not.

County Auditor William J. Heller is expected to be a candidate for the full term, having been appointed for the unexpired tenure by the Board of Freeholders last November. It is regarded as likely that he will be unopposed in the Republican primary in June, which is equivalent to saying that he will, probably be chosen by the voters at the general election to succeed himself.

While no word has come from Assemblyman Powell as yet, his friends say they expect him to be a candidate for re-nomination. He has made an excellent representative in the lower house, has been a majority leader and speaker, and might have had another term as presiding officer at the present session had he not withdrawn his name in the Republican caucus in the interest of harmony and allowing his chief rival for the honor last year to be chosen as the party candidate for Speaker in December. Congressman MacKinnon has made no formal announcement up to this time, but nominating petitions in his interest have been circulated for two or three weeks past and it is a foregone conclusion that he will ask for re-nomination in June. He has made one of the best Republican representatives that the Second District has ever had and it is not believed that he will meet with serious opposition in his ambition to continue for another term as Congressman.

As usual, little is heard of the office of Coroner thus early in advance. There are three Coroners in Burlington county, elected for three years. The term of Coroner Clark B. Rogers, of Bordentown, expires this year.

A Coroner, like the Sheriff, is not permitted to succeed himself in office.

Municipal offices are not engrossing the attention of the voters as yet, but they, too, will claim their fair share of attention in due course.

135 Industrial Corporations Support Citizens' Military Training Movement This Year

One hundred and thirty-five big industrial companies, headed by the United States Steel Corporation, have notified Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, commander of the Second Corps Area on Governors Island, that they will support the Citizens' Military Training movement by urging their employees to attend the camps this summer.

The United States Steel Corporation stepped in the front with an announcement that its employees, who attend the camps, will receive full pay from the company during the thirty days they will be away at Plattsburg or at some other camp.

Referring to the generous attitude of these concerns toward their employees, General Summerall said: "Far-sighted business men look upon the thirty days training given to young men at the Citizens' Military Training Camps as a sound investment." Then, going into statistics, the general explained that dividends in health were paid by these camps.

"From last year's figures," General Summerall continued, "an average gain of five pounds was made by each candidate at the camp and this year, with improved training facilities, the average should be higher."

By supporting the Citizens' Military Training movement, business executives are giving the Regular Army an opportunity to distribute to the young men who attend the camps, their proportionate share of the eighty tons of solid muscle that will be developed in 35,000 youths at more than fifty C. M. T. Camps this summer.

"At the present time, the Army's contribution through these camps to the health of America's young manhood aggregates about 300 tons of sinew and muscle."

Medford's Chamber of Commerce, at a booster meeting last week, discussed the plan of raising a fund of $1,500 to advertise that town. A committee was named to get the money by subscriptions from property owners.

Physical Training Demonstration Attracts Big Crowd At Meeting

The physical training demonstration given by Palmyra school students in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening attracted one of the largest crowds in the history of the association.

The balcony of the school gymnasium was crowded as the students presented one of the finest programs of this type ever witnessed in Palmyra. Craig Morse, the physical training instructor, drilled the pupils for the presentation and was in charge of the exercises. The program follows:

Pursuit relay races—7 and 8 grade boys.

Potato races—5 and 6 grade boys.

Callisthenic drill—5 and 6 grade girls.

Wand drill—7 and 8 grade girls.

Parallel bar, pyramids—junior and senior boys.

Indian club drill—freshman girls.

End ball—junior and senior girls.

Progressive dodge ball—freshman boys.

At the short business session of the P. T. A. which preceded the demonstration a payment of $125 was authorized on the stereopticon slides which the association purchased for use in the high school at a cost of $484.50. A balance of $358 remains in the treasury to be used for the next payment on the slides.

Four clever three-minute talks on sports were delivered by grammar school boys. The speakers and their subjects were:

Basketball, Robert Finney; baseball, Bernard Heck; football, Rudolph Coker; Story of Athletics, Robert LePierro.

FERRY BUSY

Spring Weather Brings Rush of Traffic Across River

As the result of the balmy spring weather Sunday the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company completely shattered all previous day's records for March by carrying 2200 automobiles.

The Philadelphia Coach Line enjoyed its share of increased patronage and carried 1300 passengers.

Captain Sidney G. Albertson, superintendent of the line, says there was a steady flow of traffic which kept two boats well filled all day. Between 1 and 5 o'clock in the evening, when all of the early season pleasure seekers were returning home, was the heaviest period.

The regular spring schedule, with boats running every fifteen minutes throughout the day, will start Sunday, March 28, says Superintendent Albertson. The 15-minute schedule will be in effect between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6:30 p. m.

EPWORTH CHURCH NEWS

At all services at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church during the past two weeks the new pastor, the Rev. J. W. Lee, has been greeted with large congregations. At the Sunday morning services the church has been crowded and the Rev. Mr. Lee has already won a host of warm friends in the Twin Cities. Everyone has highly praised his splendid sermons.

The pastor has selected "The Triumphant Entry" as the topic for his Palm Sunday sermon at the morning service Sunday at 11:15. At the evening service, which will start at 7:45, the choir will render Maude's "Olivet to Calvary" as a Palm Sunday feature. The choir has been diligently rehearsing and an excellent rendition of the cantata is anticipated. Mrs. David Gray Schwartz is the soprano soloist, G. E. Griffith, of Camden, has been secured to take the tenor solos and Mr. Schwartz will sing the baritone solo numbers.

The pastor will be in charge of special Lenten services, which will be held every evening except Saturday. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated Thursday evening. The Rev. Mr. Lee extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend the Lenten services.

The attendance at Sunday School last week nearly reached the 450 mark and the officers and teachers have set 500 as the goal which they hope to attain in the near future. Sunday School starts at 10 a. m. and there are classes for all ages.

Young people will find the Epworth League meetings at 7 o'clock Sunday evenings very helpful and interesting. The League devotional services are largely attended by the young folk of the Church and Sunday School. If you are not a member of a young people's group you will find it worth your while to become associated with the League.

Palmyra High School Notes

The stars in "all act" for the senior class play, "Back to the Future," which will be presented in the Palmyra High School auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the senior class or by calling the high school office, Riverton 215.

The funds realized by the play will go toward financing the annual senior class trip to Washington. The trip is not only a delightful culmination of the high school career, but has many educational advantages as the graduates make a complete tour of the Capital, visiting the many points of interest, many of which supply much fruitful knowledge.

In patronizing the play, which promises to be as delightful as any in the past, the people greatly assist with the final touches to the education received at Palmyra High.

The baseball team started practice under the direction of Craig Morse Wednesday. A large squad of candidates is anticipated and with many of last year's first team members back at their positions, the boys are expected to make an excellent record on the diamond this spring.

Palmyra school students are preparing for the annual Burlington County Spelling Contest which will be held at Mount Holly May 1. The winner of the County contest will be entered in the Trenton Times match and the victor of the newspaper "bee" will be eligible to try for state honors.

THE QUESTION BOX

Hollow Spots on Surface

Ann, East Riverton—I am curious to know what the dark places on the moon are—the spots which make it look like a man's face. Will you kindly answer?

Ans.—According to astronomers these dark places are deep hollows on the moon.

Jefferson Davis Served in American Army

John, Cambridge—To settle an argument will you please state whether Jefferson Davis, the president of the Southern Confederacy, ever served in the American or Canadian army?

Ans.—Jefferson Davis graduated from West Point in New York state in 1828 and served seven years in the United States army. He never served in the Canadian army.

Hebe, Goddess of Youth

Maebelle, Riverton—Can you tell me who is the god or goddess of Youth?

Ans.—Hebe, the daughter of Jupiter and Juno, is the Goddess of Youth.

"Scotland Yard"

Tom, Cinnaminson—in Conan Doyle's detective stories reference is frequently made to "Scotland Yard." Will you be kind enough to tell what that means and why it is so called?

Ans.—"Scotland Yard" is the name of a short street in London, in which was formerly the headquarters of the police department. Hence their secret service men were called "Scotland Yard" detectives.

Bob Burnham

Sport, East Riverton—Is Bob Burnham still in the racing game? Also what make of automobile does he drive?

Ans.—Bob Burnham, who was once crowned king of automobile races, was killed in an automobile race at Corona, Calif., on April 8, 1916.

Sept. 7, 1876

Jonas, Cambridge—Will you please settle this argument by stating when the Northfield bank robbery in Minnesota was committed by the Younger brothers?

Ans.—This bank raid by the Younger brothers was committed on Sept. 7, 1876.

Was Drowned in North Sea

Bob, Riverton—Will you please answer if Lord Kitchener was killed during the World war?

Ans.—Lord Kitchener, who had command of the British army during the World war up to the time of his death, was drowned on June 4, 1916, in the North Sea while on a voyage to Russia.

Protectorate Only

Ted, Palmyra—May I ask in your question column if Haiti belongs to the United States?

Ans.—No. The United States ratified a treaty on Feb. 28, 1916, in which it assumed a protectorate over the little republic.

There Is Some Doubt

Jack, Cinnaminson—Are crows a menace on the farms and should they be killed?

Ans.—This proposition seems to be in doubt. While crows do damage to the farmers by eating the grain, it is contended on very good authority that they simply repay for what they take by destroying the worms and vermin of the fields.

On Hay of Acre

Mary, Palmyra—I would like to know exactly where Mount Carmel is located?

Ans.—Mount Carmel is in a mountain ridge of Palestine which runs out into the Mediterranean Sea, to the south of the Bay of Acre. It has always been a holy spot, inhabited by various prophets.

LIFE SAVING

Employees of F. Electric Company Make Record

Employees of the electric department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company, which operates in 207 New Jersey municipalities, have an outstanding record in the matter of saving life through resuscitation from electric shock.

Of the forty-nine names appearing on the roll of honor of those who have received Insull Medals as printed in the March issue of the N. E. L. A. Bulletin, six are those of Public Service and Gas Company workmen.

No other company in the United States has so large a representation. The names of thirty-six companies appear in the list, of which one is represented by three awards, six by two awards, Public Service by six, and the rest by one each.

The Insull medal was first offered in 1922 by the Accident Prevention Committee of the National Electric Light Association to employees of member companies for saving life through resuscitation from electric shock. The medals are provided through a fund, donated by Samuel Insull, of Chicago, one of the leaders in the electric light and power industry.

Public Service employees who have received the award are: Edgar R. Whitman, and William W. Baker, of Camden; Albert W. Wastel, of Newark; Benjamin Mily and Frank Tieman, of Elizabeth; and Josiah Dayton, of Jersey City.

DOG ATTACKS MAN

Throat, Chest and Arms Torn by Vicious Airedale Which He Tamed

Attacked by a savage airedale dog last Monday, Peter Curtis, of Fort Landing, was only saved from being torn to pieces by the timely arrival of neighbors.

Curtis, employed by Andrew Hirschman, who left him in charge of the dog while he was away. The airedale was formerly owned by a saloon keeper in Philadelphia, but was so savage that he was obliged to get rid of him. He sent the dog to the Hirschman farm where he has been kept chained up for the last two years.

During his employer's absence Curtis thought he would give the dog a little freedom, saying that it would improve his disposition. Instead of showing any signs of appreciation, however, he was barely unchained before he attacked his benefactor with tooth and claw and tore him severely about the throat, chest and arms.

Herbert Danneher and Dr. A. P. Lore happened along during the fight and Danneher went for assistance. He met the Hirschman brother who hastened to the aid of Curtis. Their attempt to check the onslaught of the dog were fruitless and one of the boys brained him by a well-directed blow with a club.

The injured man was given im-mediate attention by Dr. Lore, and it is expected he will recover unless infection develops.

Y. W. News

Mrs. E. P. Darlington, chairman of membership for New Lisbon, was in Mt. Holly on Saturday and re-ported that the drive in her town had been completed. Her report shows new members and new con-tributors for New Lisbon, and more than the quota asked by the county board of Directors has been sent into the county treasurer.

The response to the call made by the Burlington County Y. W. C. A. for renewal of memberships and for new members has been most encouraging. Mt. Holly, Burlington and Morestown have their work well under way.

"Come to Camp," a movie with a tremendous appeal at this time of the year, is being shown in the various movie theatres of the county this week, in connection with the Y. W. C. A. membership drive. Scenes from Al-tamont, N. Y. and Nephewin, Pa. two well-known camps for girls, are shown.

Girl Reserves

Lumberton may boast the newest Girl Reserve Club in Burlington County. Eleven girls met on Fri-day evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Johnson, the leader of the group. For the past six months these girls have been looking for-ward to being real Girl Reserves. They met Monday night, during this time, and carried on very worthwhile programs.

Many plans for their future work were discussed on Friday evening and great interest and enthusiasm were shown. The officers of the club are as follows: President, Miss Helen Brown, vice-president, Miss Anna Lippincott; treasurer, Miss Anabel Reynolds; secretary, Miss Anna Lichter.

The Indian Mills Girl Reserve Club went to Philadelphia on Satur-day for a museum tour. The girls visited the University Museum in the morning. A guide made a trip through the Indian and Chinese sections very interesting and en-lightening. Lunch was eaten at the Central Branch of the Y. W. C. A. where the girls had an opportunity to see the city. Y. W. C. A. In the afternoon a visit was made to the Museum of Natural Sciences where the whole animal kingdom from the smallest to the largest animal could be observed.

The Mt. Holly Grade School Girl Reserve Club had a very interesting program and discussion last Tuesday afternoon on "Shoes and Porture." In this way a realization of the importance of sensible shoes and correct posture to health is brought to the girls. On this Tuesday the whole club will visit the Burlington County Shoe Company where they will be conducted through the fac-tory. Thus the girls will have the opportunity of seeing how the shoes are made.

Give Entertainment

The Rancocas Girl Reserves gave an entertainment on Thursday evening for the purpose of raising money toward summer camp and club expenses. "Opal's Three Love-ers," a one-act play, was very well acted by the girls, Phyllis Bosarth making a very charming coquette. The girls sang several folk songs which were done in costume. Sev-eral readings were given by Miss Ada Shinn, and musical selections by Miss Evelyn Bosarth and Mr. Joseph Burley. The program was conducted by a very humorous skit possible applicants.

Forty-seven young people attend-ed the birthday party given by the Hi-Tri-Girl Reserves last Monday evening in the Presbyterian Sunday-School Rooms. Games were the first part of the program and every-one joined in with the real play spirit. After the games the girls gave several stunts which were both clever and entertaining. Punch and home-made drop-cakes were served as refreshment. The evening's fun ended with the playing of a few games in which the whole group participated.

The Kiyo Club of Mt. Holly are making most attractive lamp shades under the direction of Miss Ruth Armstrong, leader of the club. Although this is a new club it has been growing steadily during the last three weeks. The club meets at 7.30 on Wednesday evenings at the Y. W. C. A. club rooms.

Alchemists of Middle Ages Not Christians

"The alchemists of three or four centuries ago were the chemists of their day," says Dr. E. E. Foe, writ-ing in the Forum. "They were honest, industrious, respected. It is always unwise to imagine that the great men of another age were either knaves or fools. We define gold today, in a chemical fashion. We know of cer-tain chemical tests to which the atom of no element except gold will re-spond. We apply these tests. If they fail we say that the substance before us is not gold, no matter how gilt it may be, for how gold-like may be its properties."

"This is a new way to define gold. The alchemists had no acquaintance with atoms nor were they much con-cerned with chemical tests. When they wanted gold, what they wanted was something which would look like gold, would feel like gold, would have like gold against the air and wa-ter and fire. Such tests constituted their definition of gold. If a metal met them, that was enough."

"It is distinctly possible that a num-ber of the alchemical procedures really did produce just this—not gold as we define it, but something just as good; something that was gold on the alchemists' definition. A number of them recorded that they had made gold; they left directions for making it. Either they were frightful liars or they had made something that suited them. And it is not very prob-able that they were liars. We know how to make today a number of al-loys that look enough like gold to be its twin. Even jewelers have been fooled by some of these alloys. Prob-ably this is just what a few of our ancient fellow chemists did and what they considered, rightly enough, to be a considerable success."

Bridgeboro Bridge Plans Are Changed

Freeholders Favor Putting New Crossing 70-Feet Farther Up-Stream

When it was announced a few weeks back that the State Highway Commission had appropriated $300,000 to build the new Bridgeboro bridge over the Rancocas creek it made quite a few taxpayers gasp, but that was mainly due to the fact that they were not acquainted with the proposed plans of the Commission.

The bridge forms a part of State Highway Route No. 2, which is the main thoroughfare from Camden to Riverton, and when it was first proposed to build a modern structure to replace the antiquated covered drawbridge which has borne traffic over the creek for so many years, the engineers of the State Highway Commission made an extended survey of conditions at the point and decided that the road at the approach to the bridge should be straightened. Their preliminary plan called for the new crossing to be located about seventy feet farther up-stream.

Later, the boatmen who use the Rancocas creek, were called into consultation and they made strenuous objection to the proposed change in the location because, as they said, they would not be able to make the short turns in the creek owing to the length of the scows which they operate on the stream.

State Highway Plans
Nothing more was done about the bridge until recently, when it was learned that the State Highway Commission had taken cognizance of the objections of the boatmen and had made a survey with the intention of erecting the new bridge about 400 feet down stream from where the present old covered-top structure stands. This is said to be favored by the boatmen and also meets with the approval of the Government Inspectors who have a right to be heard in all cases where bridges are to be erected across navigable streams.

It has now been learned that to erect the bridge 400 feet farther down stream would require more than the $300,000 appropriated, and an expensive fill of meadow land owned by Paul H. Burk on one side of the stream would be necessary, while on the other side, more than a mile of new road would have to be built, valuable property condemned, etc.

Would Skip Town
By such a change in location the highway would entirely skip the town of Bridgeboro and men like Lester B. Portnum, and others, with places of business on the State Highway, would practically be driven out of business.

Another point made by the State Highway Commission engineers is that it will take at least a year to build the new bridge and if it is erected in a new location frame could use the old bridge all the year.

It was at this juncture that the members of the Board of Freeholders got busy, it being their desire to see the bridge remain where it is, but not new bridge, the proposition that the location 70 feet up stream would be the logical one, as it would tend to straighten up the approaches and not interfere with business and property in Bridgeboro, while considerable expense could be saved.

Boatmen Agree
Accordingly, they have taken the matter up with the leading boatmen and last week at a meeting held in their rooms in the Freeholders' Building, in Mount Holly, decided to ask the boatmen to withdraw their objection to the new stream site, provided the north channel of the stream which has been blocked up for years, and where a small island has been formed, is dredged or "blown" over to the marshy side of the creek.

It is said that already one or two of the boatmen have agreed to this proposition and it is thought the others will see the wisdom of this offer and sign up.

A petition signed by more than 500 citizens of Bridgeboro and vicinity objecting to the down stream site has been received by the Board.

Musical American Legion
In the near future, the American Legion Auxiliary plans to present a musical. The program will comprise about ten select numbers rendered by some of Palmyra's own most famous talent. The affair will be held in the Legion Home which will necessitate a limited seating capacity. Tickets will be on sale in a few days and they may be obtained from any Auxiliary member or from Mrs. William B. Miller, 740 Garfield avenue. Telephone 512-W. Knowing the appeal to music lovers that such an offering as this makes, it is urged that tickets be reserved as early as possible.—Adv.

RADIO AIDS FARMERS

A recent inquiry sent to farmers as to the commercial value of their radios brought replies from 500 farm radio listeners in Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana. One hundred and sixty-three reported that their radios saved them money each year, saving averaging $148.64 per family.

Market reports were considered the greatest financial advantage of radio, though some farmers saved in movie tickets, gasoline and magazine purchases.

Farmers are using the more powerful sets. About 70 per cent of those reporting had loud speakers, 34 per cent had three-tube receivers, and 21 per cent two-tube receivers. Seventy-two per cent listened regularly to talks on agricultural subjects.

Select Directors For New Bank

Federal Examiner Visits Riverside to Meet Proposed Board Members

C. H. Durrow, Federal Bank Examiner of the Treasury Department, Washington, on Monday visited the proposed directors of the First National Bank of Riverside prior to granting the charter.

A few weeks ago an application was made for a charter and the Government sent Mr. Durrow to investigate and determine if this group of men is financially able to support a new institution.

It is proposed to establish a capital of $100,000 and a reserve fund of $20,000 and to sell the stock of the new bank to the residents of the Triple Towns of Riverside, Delanco and Bridgeboro at a par value of $100.

The sale of stock will be limited to five to each individual.

The officers of the proposed new bank feel that it will meet the need of a growing Riverside. In other towns throughout Burlington County of the same size as Riverside it is said that two or more banks are supported, while up to the present Riverside has had only one.

Meetings have been held by the directors for the past four or five weeks every Thursday evening in the offices of the Worth Realty Company, Scott street.

Definite plans have not been made as to the location of the new institution but this matter will be discussed at the next meeting.

The proposed Board of Directors is: John Chant, president; Paul Burk, H. B. Earnest, Coroner of Burlington County; Nathan Worth, Assessor; Clifford Power, Theodore G. Rapp, Charles Wright, President of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Co.; John G. Mueller, of the Key-stone Watch Case Company; B. H. Johnson, Keystone Watch Case Co.; Joseph L. Comerford, Sales Manager A. B. Kirschbaum Co., and Dr. J. L. Edwards.

Clintdale Boys Good

In Philadelphia there is a clinic that has as its chief purpose the making of boys good. The clinic works out with finding the pathologic or other causes for a boy being wayward or "bad" and proceeds to remove the cause, first by giving him a healthy mental attitude and then treating him physically if necessary. The children are not removed from their homes unless absolutely necessary.

Cooperation In Fruit Tree Bill

Friendly Working Relations Established Between Growers and Nursery Men

The cementing of friendly working relations between New Jersey fruit growers and nurserymen is the story back of the new law signed last week by Governor Moore, which provides a means of guaranteeing fruit trees to be true to name, according to a bulletin just issued by the New Jersey Federation of County Boards of Agriculture.

The achievement of the organized farm interests in "securing the statute, the statement points out, is not so much one of legislation as that of harmonizing differences between fruit men and nurserymen and of bringing together these two factions to the point of supporting jointly a worthy legislative measure in the New Jersey Legislature.

"The new law is the outgrowth of the effort started several years ago by the New Jersey State Horticultural Society, to establish a means of protecting fruit growers who purchase trees guaranteed to be true to name," the New Jersey Federation points out. Losses in the past, due to either actual misrepresentation or carelessness, in the filling of nursery stock orders were so serious that the growers prepared to seek relief in legislation last year.

"Although at first opposed to such procedure, the organized nurserymen were interested, and a State Fruit Tree Committee representing the Horticultural Society, the Federation and the State Nurserymen's Association came into existence last spring. The Committee called to its assistance scientific men from the State College and Experiment Station and just previous to the current session of the New Jersey Legislature all interests had agreed upon a bill providing ways and means to recover damages in case nursery stock, sold under guarantee was not as represented.

The new statute provides that if the guarantee is a part of the purchase contract, registration of the transaction must be made with the department of agriculture. A bond or insurance policy in any of the recognized companies is secured to protect the purchaser against losses, this likewise being registered. The department keeps the records during the period of the guarantee, which is eight years on apples and five years on peaches. One of the statute is entirely optional.

Although the moral as well as the practical benefits of the new law are considered to be far reaching, the New Jersey Federation refers to the legislation as a typical example of the way in which several farm organizations may work together to accomplish results. There is already well under way a plan for centralizing the activities which the farmer organizations in New Jersey have in common, including joint support of farm legislation, development of farmer initiative, elimination of duplicate effort and the strengthening of local organization.

COUNTY COURT

Several Cases Disposed of by Judge

In the cases of George Zimmerman and Lewis Scott, two young men from Camden who had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering several auto supply houses in Cinnaminson and other places in the county, and who were sentenced to the Reformatory recently, sentence was reconsidered after the parents of the young men had agreed to make restitution, and accordingly they were brought down from Rahway and sentenced to pay $50 costs each then placed on probation for a term of two years.

In the case of Theophilus Andreaski, of Riverside, the search warrant was ordered set aside by reason of the fact that there had been no complaint issued in the case.

This is the case in which after Theophilus Andreaski was found from an overheated ironing board the Riverside firemen and Chief Voshell arrived on the scene and found a still in operation. Chief Voshell took charge of the still while Andreaski was arrested.

John Parino, of near Burlington, whose place was raided recently by Detectives Bading and a force of officers, pleaded guilty to possession of liquor and was fined $400. Sentence was suspended on the charge.

WAR ON SPEEDERS

Chief Beck Starts Spring Crusade Against Motorists

Tuesday afternoon Chief of Police C. Morris Beck started another crusade against speeders in Palmyra.

No arrests were made, but the chief said he wanted a large number of motorists. Most of the offenders were found at the extreme end of West Broad street where the drivers "hit it up" as they come into town on the fine, new, concrete avenue.

Upon the warnings show results immediately, Beck says, he will make a "wholesale raid" on the motorists who are prone to exceed the speed limits through town. The next time there will be arrests instead of warnings and there will be officers stationed at every entrance of the town, declares the chief.

Tuesday night Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter was routed out of bed to hold court at the police headquarters for State Motor Inspector Leon Loveland who staged a war on overloaded trucks passing through Palmyra. The justice was kept on duty until 12:45 waiting for the inspector to round up the heavily laden trucks.

No arrests were made on the overweight charge, but the inspector did pick up a truck driver who did not possess a New Jersey operator's license. He was George F. Wick, of 2346 North Boulevard Street, Philadelphia. Justice Fichter imposed a fine of $25.
