BOY SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL IN FALL FROM SPEEDING TRUCK

William Goodwin Lands on Head When Thrown Out by Sharp Turn

REMOVAL OF SPLINTERED BONES GIVES RELIEF

William Goodwin, age sixteen, is in the West Jersey Hospital as a result of an accident Thursday afternoon of last week in which he was thrown from a truck and landed on his head, fracturing his skull.

Young Goodwin was standing on the Palmyra station when he saw Wid Conroy, a friend who works for Thomas Dolly & Sons, automobile dealers at Moorestown, passing by in a small truck. Goodwin's brother also works for Dolly and the young man figured that he would ride over with Wid who was a school chum, and come home with h[illegible] brother.

Goodwin was standing in the back of the truck when a sharp turn at the junction of Branch Pike and the Moorestown Road threw him out on his head. Conroy was excited by the mishap and did not know what to do. Several motorists passed without offering any assistance. Finally three men in a car from Pennsylvania took the injured lad to a doctor's office, who examined him and sent him home.

The injury, however, turned out to be more serious than had appeared and Goodwin was taken to the West Jersey Hospital where he was operated on by Dr. Jack of Collingswood at midnight. Two pieces of bone were removed to relieve pressure on the brain. The youth was on the operating table an hour and a half. At last reports he was somewhat improved.

Goodwin is the son of Francis Goodwin, Sr., who recently moved from Moorestown to Harrison street and Thomas avenue, Riverton.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

Sunday School at ten in the morning. The subject of lesson is "Solomon's Wise Choice." It is said that there are about the city of Chester, England, high walls on the top of which runs a much-frequented path which is reached by a flight of steps. By the people of the place it is stated that whatever you wish for when standing on these stairs you will get inside of a year's time, and so they are called "Wishing Stairs." Supposing there were such stairs, what a test of character it would be; for our lives and acts are largely governed by what we wish for. If you would have had Solomon's rare opportunity to get from God the greatest wish you could state, what would it be?

Divine worship morning at 11.15 and evening at 7.45, with sermons by the pastor on themes in line with the celebration of Labor Day. Did you ever stop to realize what part of our Savior's life was actually spent in labor of a physical nature, and how much was spent in preaching?

The Eden Bible Class and the congregation wish to thank all the persons who took part in the entertaining spectacle which was given in our church last Saturday evening. The very high appreciation which all who heard the program had for it, should be very encouraging to those who took the parts and those who sponsored the entertainment.

HITS TRAFFIC LIGHT

William O. West, of Federal street, Camden, was arrested last Wednesday night by Officer Nelson Wallace of the Palmyra Police force for striking the small traffic light in the center of the road at the intersection of Broad and Cinnaminson avenues. This makes the fourth time that this light has been struck by motorists.

West had a hearing before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter Saturday afternoon and was fined $5.00 and costs which is the amount set by the Borough of Palmyra for this offense. West was driving his automobile across the railroad onto Broad street when he struck the obstacle.

CAMBRIDGE SIDING REPAIRED AT LAST

Tracks Raised and Roadbed Brought Up to Grade

The trolley siding at Cambridge, which has been a menace to motorists for a long time, was repaired last week. The tracks, which have been much too low, were raised to the level of the adjoining roadway. The space between the tracks of the siding was paved.

Under a law passed last winter the Public Service had been relieved of paving of this sort.

It is estimated that within the next three or four years this exemption of the Public Service will cost Burlington county about $75,000, to say nothing of the amount that will be spent by the various municipalities through which trolley tracks run.

Firemen to Hold Boxing Exhibition

Palmyra Company Will Put on Bouts Instead of Carnival

The first annual boxing tournament of the Palmyra Fire Company will be held at the Palmyra Field Club Ball Park Tuesday night, September 13.

The Palmyra Fire Department has discontinued holding carnivals after having had 34 in a row. If this first annual boxing show is a success the affair will be continued each year, according to Joseph L. Stack, chief of the company.

Some of the best scrappers in this vicinity have been secured to take part in these bouts. The windup of eight rounds will be between Mickey Russell, 135 pounds, of Philadelphia, and Mickey Griffin, 135 pounds, of Newark.

The semi-windup will be between Young Heppard, scrappy Riverside battler who packs a mean wallop, and Joe Brown, noted Camden fighter. Both men weigh 132 pounds and are slated to go six rounds but it is doubted if the bout will go the limit as both battlers are heavy hitters. Heppard's last fight ended in the first round when he knocked out Tommy Boylan, of Beverly, at the Public Service Ball Park, Camden, several weeks ago, in the first round of the South Jersey Tournament.

Jimmy Russell, 119, of Beverly, will match punches with Joe Higgins, 118, of Port Richmond, for four rounds. There will also be four other bouts to be announced later.

The committee in charge of the affair report that there will be 400 reserved seats and an unlimited amount of general admission seats in the grandstand. The fighting ring will be located between the home plate and the third base line at the local park.

Sergeant Ray Smith, well known as a boxing referee, will referee these bouts. The winners will be judged by newspapers decisions.

SCHMIDT—SCHMIERER

Mrs. Joseph F. Schmierer, of 810 Columbia avenue, Palmyra, has issued invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Elsie Alice Schmierer, to Mr. Raymond Edward Schmidt, of Philadelphia, which will take place in Epworth Methodist Church Saturday afternoon. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. J. W. Lee. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother.

NOTICE

The Riverton Laundry will be closed all day Labor Day, Monday, September 5. Regular calls will be made on Tuesday.

READ THE DOLLAR BARGAINS, PAGE 8

Fourteen of the progressive business men and women of Riverton and Palmyra have joined hands in arranging for a special dollar sale from September 1 to September 10.

Their offerings will be found on page three of this issue. The goods offered are all taken from regular stock and the mark-downs are bonafide in every instance.

It is planned to put on a special sale of some kind at least once a month. They will not all be dollar sales but there will be very real savings in every instance.

A dollar spent out of town buys a dollar's worth usually, and no more. All the purchaser receives is what he buys.

On the other hand, money spent in Riverton and Palmyra is kept in the two towns and goes to support the town government, the fire companies, the public schools, churches, lodges, church organizations, local charities, and finally a part of it at least will find its way back in the pay envelope of those who are employed in the town.

The value of a dollar spent where you live, is multiplied many times before it completes the circle.

The merchants of the two towns have made a real effort to offer an attractive lot of bargains. If the townspeople will respond in kind by spending their money with these dealers the benefit will be two-fold.

FIREMEN MEET TONIGHT

A meeting of all active Firemen and Ladies of Riverton who have already offered their help and those who desire to aid the "smoke-eaters" with the carnival will be held at the Fire House at eight o'clock sharp.

Palmyra Schools To Open Sept. 6

New Term Will Find Several Changes in Teaching Staff

The Palmyra Public Schools, both the High School and the Grade Schools, will reopen for the fall term next Tuesday, September 6, the day after Labor Day.

Although most of the teachers will return this year there are several changes in both departments. In the High School Miss Hazel N. Goodell, a graduate of Wilson College, will take the place of Miss Glenndenning who resigned. Three other teachers have left the high school. Russell M. Thierolf, a graduate of Lafayette, will take the place vacated by Miss Kinkaid; Miss Gratias Kendall, a graduate of Swarthmore, will take Miss Long's position, while Miss Merion Purbeck, a graduate of the Sargeant School of Physical Training, will have charge of the Girl's Physical Instruction work in place of Miss Sleight, of Syracuse, who was married to a New York man during the summer.

In the grammar department, Miss Ruth Townsend will take the place of Miss Hardester, resigned, in the third grade. Miss VanSciver will teach in place of Miss Townsend. Miss Mabel Rook, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, will have charge of the fifth grade in Miss VanSciver's place.

Miss Catherine Townsend's berth will be occupied by Miss Ethel Doernenburg, another graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. Miss Townsend resigned at the close of the term last year. Miss Doernenburg's father is the Professor in German at the University of Pennsylvania. Miss Elinore N. Coe, a graduate of Edinberg, will be seen in place of Mrs. Brandiff, who also resigned from the teaching staff.

Most of the new teachers will commute to and from Palmyra as they live in Frankford, Philadelphia and Collingswood.

Professor A. S. Griffith, Supervising Principal of Palmyra Schools, said this week that he did not know how the high school classrooms will be occupied as he did not know how many pupils will commute from Riverside this year but he already knew that the grammar grades would be filled to capacity and it is of great importance in getting enrolled immediately, especially beginners. Many pupils make it a habit of coming in after the classes have started and find it hard to get located in their respective rooms.

MISS RUPPERT TO WED

Riverton Girl Athlete Will be Bride of Philadelphia Man

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Frances Ruppert, of Riverton, and Lawrence Vois, of Philadelphia, the marriage to take place at the Sacred Heart Church, Riverton, this Saturday, September 3. The wedding will be attended by many of the couple's former class and teammates.

Mr. Vois, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Vois, of 3128 Gaul street, Philadelphia, met his bride-to-be while she was attending the Palmyra High School, Miss Ruppert, while a student at Palmyra High, starred on the track field in several events, including the short dashes.

During the four years that she represented Palmyra in various branches of girl's sports, Miss Ruppert gained nation-wide recognition, Harold "Boots" Lever, former University of Pennsylvania track captain, declared that Miss Ruppert was one of the greatest girl athletes that he had ever coached. As a member of the Meadowbrook Athletic Club, Miss Ruppert aided greatly in bringing the girl's national relay championship to Philadelphia.

While running unattached, Miss Ruppert captured more than 100 medals, the majority being awarded to her for winning the 50, 60 and 100-yard dashes. Two years ago at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Miss Ruppert won the Middle Atlantic sprint championship, finishing ahead of the world's best sprinters of her sex.

Vois has confined his athlete activities to basketball and swimming. As a member of the Nativity Catholic Club, of Philadelphia, Vois was mainly responsible for the court title won by that team two years ago.

Competing in two swimming races from Race street, Philadelphia, to Riverton, a distance of ten miles, Vois captured time medals on one occasion and was awarded a trophy on the other.

CAR BURNS IN GARAGE

Fire at Home of Clarence Hubbs Proves Riverton Firmen's Efficiency

TWO FIREMEN SUFFER BURNED FACE, HANDS

Thursday morning last week a fire in Councilman Clarence Hubbs' garage at his residence, on Thomas avenue, destroyed Hubbs' Overland sedan and generally damaged the interior of the garage.

Edson Carhart was at his home on Lippincott avenue when the alarm was sounded. He saw where the fire was, grabbed a hand fire extinguisher and ran to the garage but the fire had gained too much headway for him to do much good. "Buck" Keating accompanied Carhart and both were burned about the face and hands.

The inside of the garage was pretty well burned and a lot of plumbing material was damaged besides the car. The Carey Shingle Roof on the building was not damaged at all except where the firemen turned the pressure stream on the edge of the roof and tore off a few shingles.

"I was down in the office working and I heard one of the kids, playing out here, holler fire! I ran out, saw the cause of the youngster's excitement and phoned for the Fire Company. Well sir, those boys came up here and had water on the flames in less time than I could think about it," said Clarence when a friend of his asked him about the efficiency of the Riverton firemen the other day. Clarence concluded by stating, that "If it were not for the promptness and efficiency of these volunteer firemen my house might have gone too."

The cause of the fire is unknown. Damage is estimated at $2500.

Car Wrecked By Reckless Driver

Philadelphian Sideswipes Another Car and Wrecks Own Machine

Frank McGrath, 2330 Bouldin street, Philadelphia, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly in East Riverton by Constable Horner, of Beverly, who turned McGrath over to Officer Carlson.

McGrath was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Coddington who released him after a stiff reprimand.

Last Friday morning Director of Public Safety Williams and Officer Carlson were doing the rounds of the town about two o'clock when they found a car bearing a Pennsylvania license standing in front of the old Cecil Fitler property. Thinking some one might be operating in the territory the Director and Carlson looked over the surrounding properties, Finding nothing they finished their rounds and returned to the Fitler estate. The car was still there so Williams took it into custody and had it brought to Woolston's garage. The Philadelphia police were notified and requested to get the car.

Commuters going to the early trains Monday morning saw a Chevrolet sedan, minus a left front wheel, piled up along the curb at Broad and Lippincott avenue, Riverton. The car belonged to Albert Princely, of Philadelphia, who came to grief about half past one Monday morning. At Broad and Lippincotthis car hit another car, turned around and crashed into a pole wrecking the left front wheel. The other car escaped damage and continued on its way.

Princely had just passed the traffic booth on the wrong side going at a tremendous clip. Officer Calson gave him a ticket to appear before Justice of Peace Coddington Monday night. He was charged with reckless driving and the Justice fined him $10 and costs.

CHIEF'S VACATION

Morrie Beck Has Fine 1600 Mile Trip

Chief of Palmyra Police, C. Morris Beck accompanied by Mrs. Beck and his sister, Mrs. Sophie Weir, have returned after enjoying a motor trip covering approximately 1,600 miles. The trip was made in Chief Beck's sedan and was not marred with any trouble, not even a flat tire, Chief Beck said.

The party traveled north, visiting Niagara Falls, where some wonderful pictures were taken at night, and then into Canada. The party visited "Watkin's Glenn" which is just a few miles outside of Elmira. If you are ever up that way, don't fail to see this wonderful place which has a mile and a quarter of steps and leads through some of nature's most wonderful sights, Chief Beck said. He declared the waterfalls there are more beautiful than Niagara Falls.

On returning the party crossed the new Peace Bridge into Buffalo. A trip was then made south, touching Harrisburg, a stop at Gettysburg to see the historic battlefield and other points of interest, Washington, D. C., Richmond and down into Virginia and then back to Palmyra.

Officer Joseph Rodgers was acting Chief of Palmyra police while Beck was away. Nelson "Bucky" Wallace is the next officer of the force to have his vacation.

Auto to Every 5 Persons in U. S.

This Country by Far Surpasses Rest of World in Mass Ownership

The automobile is only outdistanced by the telephone in service to the multitude today, according to statistics presented by Phillip F. Murray, vice-president of the Willys-Overland Company, Philadelphia, in an address before the Moorestown Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Community House last Thursday at noon.

Telephones serve 56.5 per cent., or 3,714,233 families and 55.7 per cent., or 2,285,739 families enjoy the pleasures of an automobile. Phonographs are ranked third, being used by 849,825 families while pianos are in 782,994 homes, or on the percentage basis, are musical instruments enjoyed by 40.4 per cent. Radio sets, according to the statistics, bring the other entertainment to 24.1 per cent. of the families, or in 840,637 homes.

According to Mr. Murray, autos are most extensively used in small towns. This statement, of course, is based on the per capita basis.

There is not a country in the world which favorably compares with America for the mass ownership of the popular motor vehicles. Today in the United States there is an automobile for every 5.3 persons. In France there is a car for every 44 people and the average drops to 190 persons per car in Germany. China represents the "low water" mark in ownership. In the Orient there is one automobile to every 25,500 residents. The speaker was very optimistic and declared that "China is looked upon by the auto industry as a coming country for low priced cars."

More than a million automobiles are owned by business houses and the "private family motor car" number was given as 18,097,000. There are 2,700,000 "two-car" families.

The past decade has marked a great change in automobile bodies. In 1915 only one per cent. of the automobiles were closed. Only 17 per cent. of the cars were closed in 1920 and 1926 found the percentage up to 72 in favor of the sedan type. This year it is expected to reach the 87-per cent. mark.

The automobile industry is one of the largest users of certain raw materials in the world today. Some of the figures for 1926 follow:

Iron and steel, 35,000,000 tons.
Plate glass, 128,875,000 square feet.
Leather upholstery, 62,000,000 square feet.
Rubber tires, 358,461 tons.
Gasoline, 10,708,068,000 gallons.
Lubricating oil, 350,000,000.

America is also the largest producer of automobiles as indicated by last year's figures, which are United States, 4,175,365; France, 177,000; England, 176,197; Canada, 161,000; Germany, 55,000.

According to the present rate of manufacture, there is one new car for every five people in the United States per year and a car for every 26,000 Chinese. Nearly three and a half million people are employed in the industry and the annual auto freight exceeds 3,000,000 carloads.

There are 50,000 auto dealers in the United States and 10,000 of them handle Fords.

The mass production of automobiles has opened the way to much lower costs. Twenty-five years ago bicycles cost, on a weight basis, $4 a pound. Today the cost of a Ford is about 27 cents a pound and the famous luxurious Rolls-Royce only costs $2.00 per pound.

Mr. Murray compared the service given by jewelers with that of the garage. He said that you take a watch to the jeweler and he will take it and notify you in a couple of days what is wrong with the timepiece and then the repair work won't be completed for two weeks, at least. What would a motorist say if the garage man was to tell him to wait two weeks for the completion of a repair job on his car? asked the speaker.

Mr. Murray said the service stations maintained by the manufacturers do not make a profit on repair work and declared that "used car" sales are far from profitable. There was an average loss of $50 on used cars last year, he said.

In closing he mentioned the various forms of automobile advertising and the appropriations of different concerns. General Motors has recently increased its advertising appropriation to $30,000,000 for this year.

MISS MEITZNER ALL BUT MAKES DELAWARE BAY SWIM

Covers 21 Miles of the 22-Mile Course; Cramps Prevent Her From Finishing

IN WATER TEN HOURS; WILL TRY AGAIN SOON

Miss Maxine Meitzner, of Riverton, a student of the Palmyra High School, was taken from the waters of the Delaawre Bay Tuesday night when she was forced to give up her sensational battle with the waves in her attempted 22-mile swim from Cape May Point to the Lewes, Delaware, Lighthouse after covering a distance of 21 miles. The 17-year-old mermaid was in the water more than nine hours and a half.

Practically exhausted after one of the greatest attempts ever staged by a girl swimmer against such strong elements and suffering from an attack of cramps which paralyzed her legs and arms, the plucky Riverton lass was taken from the rough waters of the bay by her coach, George Corner, at seven-thirty Tuesday evening. Miss Meitzner was so down-hearted because of her disappointment after two years of strenuous training to accomplish the feat of swimming the "American Channel," as the Delaware Bay is known, that she broke out in tears. Miss Meitzner's motto is "English Channel or Bust."

Miss Meitzner intended to take off on her gruelling marathon earlier in the morning but she was held up at least two hours by her trainer and coach. Had she started two hours earlier she might have finished her swim as a strong cold wind blew up, making the waves more active early in the evening. At times Miss Meitzner struck waves that rolled nearly ten feet high. Several times she was compelled to halt, but each time she continued after finding her sense of direction.

By noon Tuesday Miss Meitzner had covered over six miles, when atmospheric conditions changed with the tide. The Riverton swimmer was fed hot chocolate and peppermint at two hour intervals.

When Miss Meitzner started on her perilous swim she was accompanied by four Ocean City lifeguards who each took their turn in encouraging the Palmyra High school athlete by swimming with her. Over a thousand spectators, including the mayor of Ocean City, saw Miss Meitzner wade into the shallow water early Tuesday morning at Cape May Point with but a little breeze blowing.

As Miss Meitzner sighted the Lewes Lighthouse she increased her pace and called upon all her strength but could not meet the task of battling the waves for the last mile. She managed to cover a hundred yards more but as she felt the cramps coming on, tieing the muscles in her legs, she did not wish to tell her trainer because she was afraid he would drag her from the water. When Miss Meitzner could not swim another stroke she tried to shake off the ill effects by taking more hot chocolate and peppermint but it was useless.

Charles Dubborrow, of Philadelphia, is the only swimmer ever to make this swim. He covered the distance in 16 hours in 1912 and several have failed since that time.

Miss Meitzner will enter the Ventnor women's swim to be held next Saturday at 2 p. m., when she will be pitted against an array of some of the outstanding long-distance natators in the Middle Atlantic states.

HOLLAND PLANS REPUBLICAN CLUB

William E. Holland announces that the Faunce property on Howard street, which he has purchased, will, after alterations, be opened as a Republican Club for the use of colored youth, for which a small membership fee will be charged.

Pool tables will be installed on the first floor and the second floor will be fitted up as a club room.

Mr. Holland said yesterday, "I do not want the people of Riverton to have any wrong impression about this place. It will most positively not be a speakeasy or a gambling joint. Everything will be conducted in an orderly and law-abiding manner, and if any members of the club or their friends do not comply with these regulations, they will not be allowed the privileges of the place."

Mr. Holland further said he would appreciate donations, or the gift of tables, chairs, games, magazines, books or anything else that would help to make the place attractive to the men and boys.

All communications should be sent to William E. Holland, 210 Penn Street, Riverton.—Adv.

Coates Sail for Tour of Europe

Banker and Wife Will Attend American Legion Reunion at Paris

Armitt H. Coate, of Moorestown, trust officer of the Burlington County Trust Company, sailed from New York on the Steamship Roosevelt for an extensive tour through Europe Friday night. Mr. Coate is accompanied by Mrs. Coate. They will return home on the Leviathan the latter part of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Coate happily are combining business with pleasure. The tour will carry them through France, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, England and Scotland. One week will be spent in Paris and another week will be spent in London.

While in France Mr. Coate will attend the meeting of the American Legion. He was a lieutenant in the United States Army during the World War, having been assigned to the Ordnance Department.

At the conclusion of the war, he was a member of the William H. Snyder Post, No. 42, American Legion, Moorestown, and is a past commander of the local organization which he is representing at the reunion in France which has been styled the second A. E. F.

Banker friends of Mr. Coate gave him a farewell party at the Peahala Club, Long Beach, on Monday of last week which began with a fishing party and ended with a dinner in the clubhouse. The dinner was arranged by John H. Hutchinson, of Bordentown, a past president of the Burlington County Bankers' Association. There was an excellent catch of fish, but a larger quantity of wishes that Mr. Coate might have an enjoyable trip. The sentiment was voiced in these words:—

"A safe and happy journey
Where fair winds prevail;
But of good times and laughter
A regular gale."

Those who gathered at the Peahala Club to bid the Moorestown banker farewell were George J. Pitman, president of the Riverside Trust Company, and president of the Burlington County Bankers' Association; W. Edward Ridgway, vice-president of the County Association; Franklin P. Jones, cashier of the First National Bank, Beverly, and past president of the County Association; Walter Armstrong, cashier of the Bordentown Banking Company; John H. Hutchinson, vice-president of the Bordentown Banking Company, and past president of the County Association; William Gummere; vice-president of the First National Bank, Roebling; Edward B. Jones, president of the Mount Holly Safe Deposit and Trust Company; Theodore H. Budd, vice-president of the People's National Bank, Pemberton; Eyre L. Williams, president of the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company, Riverton.

Work Throughout County

Addresses were made lauding Mr. Coate for the effort he had put forth for the betterment of the banking business in Burlington County and telling how well he deserved the enjoyment of the trip he was about to take. Mr. Coate fittingly responded.

The Burlington Enterprise, in its story of Mr. Coate's sailing, paid tribute to the local banker as follows:

"Mr. Coate is one of the outstanding residents of Moorestown with a wide acquaintance all over the county. Besides being a past president of the County Bankers' Association and the present secretary of that organization, he is a member of the American Institute of Banking, a member of the executive committee of the New Jersey Bankers' Association and a director of the Merchantville Trust Company.

"Despite the business burden that he is carrying Mr. Coate finds time to be helpful to his town and county in their various welfare undertakings. During the war he was chairman of liberty loan drives and similarly served on Red Cross and Young Men's Christian Association drives. In numerous ways he did his part, and still is lending a hand where a hand is needed.

"Mr. Coate played a large part in the building of the new home of the Burlington County Trust Company, one of the handsomest banking houses in the county, which recently was opened. He also did much to make the annual dinner of the County Association in the Walt Whitman Hotel, Camden, in May the big success that it proved to be and the same is true of the annual dinner of the State Bankers' Association in Atlantic City later in the month."

GAMES LABOR DAY

Double Header With Palmyra Giants Scheduled

The game scheduled between the Palmyra Field Club and the LaMott team, of Philadelphia, which was supposed to have been played Saturday afternoon was called off on account of rain.

Jim Rapp's Palmyra baseball combination is booked to battle the Palmyra Colored Giants in a double header to be played at the Field Club Grounds Labor Day afternoon. The engagement is scheduled to start promptly at 1.30. The second contest will start shortly after the first one is finished.

The Palmyra Field Club boys defeated the Giants 8 to 1 several weeks ago and the "Giants" are out for revenge. Both teams are determined to win both games of the twin bill and will use their strongest combinations in an effort to do so. It is rumored that the Giants have imported a fast battery so two great battles are anticipated for Labor Day.

Bell Telephone Makes Changes

All of New Jersey System Will be Operated Under One Head

Chester I. Barnard, Vice President in charge of Operations for The Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Company and The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, on September 1, becomes President of The Delaware and Atlantic Company, which is the operating company of the Bell System in southern New Jersey and which will shortly take over the operation of all the Bell properties in this State.

This announcement followed a meeting of the Board of Directors of The Delaware and Atlantic Company last week, at which Philip C. Staples, Vice President in charge of Public Relations and Personnel for the Pennsylvania Company, resigned from the directorate, and J. S. McCulloh, President of the New York Telephone Company, was elected to succeed him. Mr. Staples succeeds Mr. Barnard as Vice President in charge of Operations for the Pennsylvania Company.

In addition to Mr. Barnard, the principal officers in the New Jersey Company now will be: Vice President, George W. McRae, General Manager of the New Jersey territory of the New York Telephone Company; Vice President and General Counsel, Frankland Briggs, Attorney in charge of Commission matters for the New York Company; General Auditor, Harland A. Trax, Chief Accountant for the New York Company; Secretary-Treasurer, S. C. Ormsbee, Secretary and Treasuser of The Friendship Telephone Company.

Following last week's meeting, Mr. Barnard announced that the Plant, Traffic, Commercial and Engineering Department heads of the New Jersey Area of the New York Telephone Company will exercise the same functions in the new Company. These officials are: E. H. Dyer, General Commercial Manager; F. E. Congdon, General Plant Manager; L. R. Scovill, General Traffic Manager, and W. G. H. Whitaker, Chief Engineer.

M. B. Downing, General Manager of The Delaware and Atlantic Company, will go to New York to become Vice Persident and General Manager of a new operating unit of the New York Telephone Company which will comprise the Borough of Manhattan; H. C. Young, General Commercial Manager of The Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Company, has been elected Vice President in charge of Public Relations and Personnel of The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and Associated Companies, succeeding Mr. Staples.

The general headquarters of the new Telephone Company will be in Newark, in a twenty-story building now under construction.

Mr. Barnard, who becomes President of the New Jersey Company, entered the service of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1910, after having received his education at Harvard University. His first work was as a translator of foreign languages, and in three years' time he became Acting Commercial Engineer of the Bell System. It was in this position, to which he was eventually given a permanent appointment, that Mr. Barnard won his nation-wide reputation as a telephone expert. It was he who developed commercial engineering and practice in the telephone field to a point never before attained.

George W. McRae started his telephone work in 1910 after graduating from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was with The American Telephone and Telegraph Company in various capacities, serving from June 1920 to April 1922 as Toll Traffic Engineer. He then became Chief Engineer of The Illinois Bell Telephone Company. On January 1, 1924, he became Chief Engineer of The New York Telephone Company and since June 1, 1925 he has been General Manager of The New York Telephone Company for New Jersey, now becoming Vice President of the new Company. His home is in Maplewood, N. J.

Frankland Briggs is a native of New Jersey. He graduated from Princeton in 1898, received his law degree from Harvard in 1901, and started practice in New York City, subsequently locating in Newark where he now lives. His telephone career dates from April 1913 beginning in the office of the General Attorney of what was then the Eastern Group of Bell Telephone Companies. His experience in the telephone field has been particularly in handling matters coming before utility commissions. He is a member of the bar of both New York and New Jersey.

32 PROPERTIES SOLD AT HOLLY TAX SALE

Trenton Real Estate Agency Heaviest Buyer; Nets Northampton Township $2,701

Northampton township's tax sale, conducted at township headquarters on White street, Mount Holly, by Tax Collector J. L. P. Eckman on Tuesday afternoon of last week, netted the township treasury $2,071, a total of 32 properties being sold. A long list of properties had been advertised in the delinquent tax list, but most of the owners paid up before the time of the sale.

Twenty-eight of the properties advertised were brought in by J. C. VanHorn of the VanHorn Real Estate Agency, of Trenton; one lot adjoining the R. & P. tapestry mill was knocked down to the Royle & Pilkington Company, and three lots of ground were bought in by the township.

The sale cleared the township's accounts of all unpaid real estate taxes for 1925 and 1926 and made it possible for Collector Eckman to make a nice deposit to the account of the treasurer.

Auto Club Knocks Motor Speed Traps

Warns Constables and Justices That It Will Fight All Unfair Practice

In a warning to constables and justices of the peace that it will fight every case of unfair treatment of motorists called to its attention, the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey denounces the skulking actions of trap operators and calls upon motorists to report all instances of "shakedowns" to its legal department.

"We have," says a statement of the club, "just exposed the actions of certain law officers in Montgomery county who have made a practice of mulcting motorists. Public indignation was aroused by the signed statement of an Atlantic City motorist, caught in this particular trap, that he was stripped of his hat, coat, vest and a bag of wearing apparel, and left to continue his journey in the rain.

"Instances of this nature are sufficiently rare to attract more than passing interest. But the everyday petty persecution of motorists in less spectacular style continues as an annoying and unnecessary adjunct to motoring in this enlightened age.

"Many motorists, receiving a summons for some slight technical violation, pay the fine and costs to avoid the loss of time occasioned by requiring to the bailwick of the fining 'squire. In a majority of the cases the motorist has no recollection of having committed the violation charged against him, but he stands for the shakedown to avoid further annoyance.

"The position of the Keystone Automobile Club is that every driver of a motor car is entited to a square deal. We do not interfere with the proper enforcement of the law, but we will continue to fight persecution and unfair tactics. Where constables and fining 'squires operate for private gain this organization will oppose them with every means at its command."

A WARNING TO MEN— ESPECIALLY BACHELORS

Moths find an extra tasty meal in Dress Suits, Morning Coats and Vests, Prince Alberts and other cloths which are put away in the clothes closet not to be disturbed till next season.

No matter how clever the tailor or weaver, he cannot repair moth holes in such cloth as these are made of.

You can forestall the ravages of moths by having your clothes Dry Cleaned. Moths will not attack a garment that has been through the Dry Cleaning process—at least, for some time.

Every man should take the precaution of having his Dress Clothes Dry Cleaned before putting them away. We return clothes in a dust-proof bag. They'll be ready to wear when the first call of the entertaining season comes.

Friendly Thoughts by Frank A. Snover

The man who is leading a good, useful life believes that the world is growing better. The unfortunate who is living with reckless disregard of his behavior is apt to believe that it's a bad old world — getting worse every day. Life becomes a caricature to the man with blurred, distorted outlook; it is beautiful to the man whose vision is normal.

It is said that we perform each delicate task with ability and self-effacement and that our promise "within the means of all" means exactly what it says.

HEROES AND PATRIOTS

In a western city there lives a hero, a firemen who carried a child down a ladder from a burning tenement in the midst of flames and smoke. He was badly injured while performing his brave deed and spent many weeks in the hospital. He received the acclaim of the public. We laud his courage. This is as it should be.

There is another man in the same city who has received little or no attention. No one has ever thought of calling him a hero. He is the quiet, hard-headed business man who builds his tenements so that those who live in them are free from the fear of fire. He has saved dozens of lives by preventing fires.

It is too bad that fire prevention cannot be made spectacular. However, we can at least honor the man who minimizes fire loss by spending thought and money in its prevention.

BE CAREFUL!

With accidents increasing by the thousands every year, the subject of their prevention is engaging the earnest attention of individuals, employers, corporations, the press, motor clubs, educational associations, city, state and national organizations.

Falls cause more deaths than any other form of accident according to the National Safety Council which is a clearing house of information relating to prevention of accidents with headquarters in Chicago.

Automobile fatalities in the United States approximate 25,000 annually, it being estimated that almost 7,000 children alone were killed by automobiles last year in this country.

In their own homes, thousands of people also lose their lives each year through accidents. Last year the number of such deaths reached 18,000, with falls leading.

A majority of all accidents of every description would be prevented if people would exercise proper care and caution.

AN INTELLIGENT NATION

"No other nation has advanced so far as ours in its social and economic adjustments," says David F. Houston, former U. S. Secretary of the Treasury. "In no other country can you find political institutions resting upon as broad economic and social foundations, or a population with a higher sense of justice, more prone to do the right thing or with so many useful habits of thought. Other nations of the world have a long distance to go before they will approximate our nation's sound social and economic foundations and its consequent stability.

"I am far from maintaining that our government is near perfection. Our legislative and executive bodies are human. They do make mistakes. They will continue to do so. We shall continue to have a fair sprinkling of self-seeking politicians in legislative and administrative bodies—men who are not big enough and do not know enough to commend themselves by constructive proposals and sound action on the merits of a question—we shall continue to be threatened and vexed by stupid courses of action.

"In the last analysis everything will depend on the character of our citizenship. It will depend upon our keeping that citizenship pure and upon extending its education in institutions of learning and in the larger school of experience."

STUNT FLYING TOO COSTLY

Termed "the greatest sporting event man had ever known," the Dole aviation derby, over 2,400 miles of the Pacific, has been a costly affair which public opinion will again be slow to encourage. Announcement from federal headquarters that the government will frown upon any immediate future plans for similar dangerous stunt features meets the approval of all thoughtful citizens.

Summed up the toll in the Dole derby was much more costly than the average layman realizes. Three aviators were killed on the way to the starting point in Oakland. Three planes were demolished. Two planes were forced back at the start. Two more crashed on the runway. And of the four which continued the flight only two finished. Then the fifth took out to fly the entire course and find the lost—and it too disappeared. In all three navigators, three pilots and a charming girl found their graves in the water of the Pacific.

Airplane racing over so dangerous a course and between many entrants has come into some question. America needs her good flyers to teach and inspire the youth of the land in flying—and not to risk life unnecessarily in stunts which mean nothing particular to advancement of aviation. The results attained through stunt flying are not worth the great risks.

OUR DEBTS FOR ROADS

Uncle Sam owes $18,000,000,000 in bonds outstanding. The bonded indebtedness of all the States totals $1,846,000,000. Borrowing by the States stimulated perhaps, by those willing to pay a high price for bonds free of national income tax, has been criticized. But State debts are small, considering the wealth of the nation.

Florida, Nebraska and Wisconsin have no State debt. South Dakota has the highest per capita, $85.15. New York State owes the most and can afford to. Central Park in New York City is worth more than the whole State debt.

Half the money borrowed by the States has been spent on good roads, a fact that justifies the borrowing. If it could be said that the other half had been spent on public schools the situation would be perfect, and it wouldn't matter if the States owed a billion apiece.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The special election to determine the fate of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution will be held on Tuesday, September 20, and is conducted in the same manner as are the general elections in November. At this time very little interest is being manifested in the proposed changes in the State's basic law, despite the importance of certain of the amendments to be submitted on referendum.

Leaders of both major parties are preparing to enlist public support of their respective and conflicting attitudes toward the amendments. There are five amendments to be printed on the ballots which will be voted.

The first amendment is aimed to empower municipalities to enact zoning ordinances and delegates to the several municipalities police power to enforce them. This step is responsive, to a wide-spread public demand, especially in North Jersey, where previous attempts to protect sections from building and other encroachments inconsistent with the natural development of real estate and the reasonable enjoyment of such property, have been defeated because of conflict with the State Constitution.

Authority is delegated to the Legislature to create sewage, drainage and water districts by the second proposed amendment.

In the event of the passage of the third proposed amendment there will no longer be necessity of holding special elections to submit public questions to the voters, as in the case of the approaching special election. Such questions would in future be submitted at general elections.

The fourth amendment provides for the extension of the term of Governors to four years, lengthens the term of State Senators in like manner, makes Assemblymen's tenure two years instead of one and provides for biennial sessions of the Legislature.

The fifth Constitutional change proposed merely seeks to clear up points concerning which there is some ambiguity in the fundamental law, with respect to the appointment of common pleas judges by the Governor.

The zoning amendment is wholly aside from politics and its consideration ought not to be prejudiced by partisan considerations, which unhappily, it will be impossible to achieve in the case of the fourth amendment.

Present and prospective needs with respect to water, drainage and sewerage, due to rapidly increasing population, are believed to be taken care of by the second amendment and of its adoption there should be no question.

The third and fifth amendments touch upon questions in which it is hardly likely that public interest will be enlisted but they both provide for corrective action which will make for better administration of public affairs, and as such they ought to be adopted.

If for no other reason, the fourth amendment in the group to be voted upon should appeal to the taxpayers since it is believed that a definite annual saving of three-quarters of a million dollars will be effected through holding legislative sessions only in alternate years, instead of annually as at present. There are other accruing advantages and attendant economies which should commend this amendment to thinking voters.

From the angle of politics, too, the term-extender would give incumbents of the Executive office terms of four instead of three years and would seem to ensure a more general expression by the electorate because the election of a Governor would take place co-incident with the choice of a President. Since New Jersey has a habit of choosing Republican electors in Presidential years, there is a possible partisan advantage to be gained by the Republicans in the gubernatorial election through having the Governor chosen at this time.

The Democrats, at any rate, apparently take this view of it and Frank Hague, the Democratic State boss, already is preparing to wage a desperate fight against the adoption of this and, it is understood the other amendments as well. The acceptance of the first amendment would spell the doom of Hague as a State czar. Logically, it is presumed that this is the reason for his intense hostility toward the proposed change.

STEAK vs. CHEESE

Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201 IOOF Palmyra, is all agog over the coming contest as to which team will banquet on tender juicy steak with all the trimmings, and which will be the on-looking cheese-eaters—the losers of this contest which has for its aims the bringing out to regular attendance the old-timers who have been missing from the lodge room of late; the making of new acquaintances with members of the order resident hereabouts but seldom seen at the meetings, and new members—a class of whom will take the initiatory step in Odd Fellowship on Wednesday evening, September 7.

The point-scoring competition begins with the first meeting in September and closes the last Wednesday evening in November. The members of the lodge have been divided into two teams and the one scoring the highest number of points eat the BIG BANQUET—the losers will eat cheese, crackers and water, all being in the same room within sight and hearing of each other.

A riot of fun is promised when this novel banquet takes place as the keen rivalry already manifested at the past few meetings has charged the two teams with a "do or die" determination not to be the "cheese-eaters" at that time.

VISIT FUNERAL HOME

Lions Club Inspects Snover's Splendid Establishment

The Palmyra Lions Club visited Frank A. Snover's magnificent funeral establishment after the regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Mr. Snover has recently enlarged his funeral parlors and has added all the up-to-date features known in the business. The establishment is now so complete and so splendidly appointed that it is a marvel to many visitors that such an elaborate funeral home could be developed in a community no larger than Palmyra and Riverton.

The proprietor, however, not only takes a keen interest in doing things considerably better than might be judged good enough, but also has an eye to the future when everyone expects this section of Burlington County to grow by leaps and bounds.

Mr. Snover plans to keep his establishment well abreast of any growth, no matter how great, that the community may make in years to come.

The members of the Lions Club were greatly interested in the many splendid features of the Home and were also treated to liberal refreshments and smokes by the progressive Funeral Director.

FREE SPEECH INVALUABLE

Without free speech no search for truth is possible; without free speech no discovery of truth is useful; without free speech progress is checked and the nations no longer march forward toward the nobler life which the future holds for man. Better a thousandfold abuse of free speech than denial of free speeck. The abuse dies in a day, but the denial slays the life of the people and entombs the hope of the race.—Charles Bradlaugh.

CHANGE BUS NAME

McCloskey Line to Be Known as Worth Motor Bus Corporation

Announcement was made this week that the name of the McCloskey Bus Line, of Beverly, which has been operating for three years between Burlington and Philadelphia, has been changed to the Worth Motor Bus Corporation.

The officer of the new bus company were given as President, William A. Worth; secretary and treasurer, William L. Worth; general manager, Charles R. Ritner. William A. Worth is the father of William L. Worth.

Harry McCloskey, a Beverly justice of the peace, was a member of the original company, which was named after him. Expiration of leases and the withdrawal of McCloskey from the partnership were given as the reason for changing the company's name.

The company operates twenty-three buses between Burlington and Philadelphia, serving all of the river towns in this vicinity. The line originally operated between Burlington and Tacony via the Palmyra ferry. The line was extended to operate over the Camden bridge, when that span was opened last year.

The children at the Burlington County Preventorium were delightfully entertained on Monday evening, August 29, by Lewis J. Howell of Philadelphia, one of the members of the Kiwanis Happiness Car. Games and humorous moving picture reels gave great pleasure, and beautiful prizes were awarded to the children who competed in various games.

The appointment, which is subject to confirmation by the Senate at the next session of the Legislature, is effective September 1, at an annual salary of $10,000. County History of 50 Years Ago

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror August 23, 1877

A yield of 38½ bushels of wheat to the acre is reported from Tuckerton on land of the late Dr. Page.

The Engleside, Beach Haven, had 200 guests on Sunday, very few of whom came away on Monday morning.

John C. Mathis, of Bass River, out of four bushels of potatoes raised in his garden, picked 100 which weighed 100 pounds.

Richard J. Jobes, Mount Holly shoe dealer, has gone on a two-week's visit to the west, closing his store during that time. When business interferes with pleasure, give up business, he says.

Joseph H. Clark, of Mount Holly, on account of the hard times, has reduced the prices of his excellent wines to $2 and $3 per gallon, according to age and quality. It's very fine wine.

William N. Pew, near Mount Holly, has gathered this season from half an acre of ground, 213½ bushels of onions and 16½ bushels of sets, counting five peeks to the bushel.

Cantaloupes, 15c Bas.

Cantaloupes have been very plenty the past week, selling as low as 15 cents per basket. Peaches, also plentiful, are selling at 50 to 75 cents per basket.

The Mount Holly base ball club defeated the W. P. Schussler team, from Philadelphia, 18 to 2, Tuesday afternoon. During the game the Philadelphia catcher was struck over the eye and on the mouth by foul balls and another visiting player had a fit. The score was a tie at two until the eighth inning, when the Mount Holly players took on a hitting streak and made 16 runs. This made all the Philadelphia players have a fit, but of a different kind from the one referred to above.

Judge Carr, of Mount Holly, jumped out of bed so suddenly this morning, when his burglar alarm rang, that he fell and broke his left collar bone. His feet got tangled in the bed clothes. The alarm was started accidentally when the servant girl opened the front door at an early hour.

August 30, 1877

Seven out of ten women in Long Branch are said to have artificial complexions. And they look good, too.

Michael Woolston, Mount Holly grocer, had in his store on Saturday 55 watermelons that averaged 40 pounds in weight.

Picking has begun on some of the cranberry bogs, in the hope of saving the berries from scald.

The Vincentown base ball club played Hammonton at Atsion on the 18th inst. for a prize of $10 gold, and won, 14 to 7.

One of the largest hauls of bluefish was made at Long Branch last week, when 3,000 pounds were taken, together with 100 pounds of Spanish mackerel, in one net.

The professional big league Athletics, of Philadelphia, played a game of base ball with Mount Holly on the fair ground on Tuesday. The visitors won, 12 to 2. Between 600 and 700 spectators were present. The batteries were: Lomas, p, and Pheiffer, c, for the Athletics; Edmunds, p, and Horton, c, for Mount Holly. Time of game, 1h. 30m.

The village of Columbus has plenty of music nowadays, with two bands organized and practicing frequently.

Band Played Too Long

The Georgetown band made music for the church festival at Columbus on the 21st inst., and some persons think there was too much of a good thing, as the band marched through the street, playing, until after one o'clock in the morning. The festival was a success, netting over $200.

Three Philadelphians tell, in the Germantown Telegraph, of a recent fishing trip up the Rancocas creek, in the neighborhood of Centreton, when they caught, in one day, twenty dozen fine perch with hook and line. They had two kinds of bait, one worms, the other was kept on ice. Both were efficacious.

Gold fell to 102⅞ on Saturday, the lowest quotation in fifteen years.

Moorestown voter, addressing defeated candidate for county office: "The baby has a new tooth and the old lady has a cold in the head." "Well, what of it? What do I care?" replied the candidate. Voter: "Before election you constantly were asking me about my family, so I thought I'd hunt you up and tell you, and now you are grouchy. Anyhow, I voted for the other fellow."

MAIL ROUTES CENTURY AGO

"Proposals will be received until the 11th day of October, at the general post-office," says The Mirror of August 8, 1827, "for carrying mails of the United States on the following post roads in New Jersey:

"From Philadelphia, by Cooper's Ferry, Haddonfield, Moorestown, New and Sooy's, to Tuckerton, once a week, 51 miles, in stages.

"From Philadelphia, by Cooper's Ferry, Haddonfield, Moorestown, New Mills and Vincentown, to Mount-Holly, thrice a week, 20 miles in stages.

"From Philadelphia, by Moorestown and Vincentown, to New Mills once a week in stages.

"From Trenton, by Allentown, Crosswicks, Jacobstown, Bordentown, Black Horse, Jobstown, Wrightstown, New Egypt, and Juliustown, to Mount-Holly, once a week, 58 miles."

PARKED AT PLUG

Auto Driver Fined For Violating Rules in Palmyra

The Palmyra police continued its strict enforcement of the traffic rules last Thursday by arresting J. Franklin Cline, of Fifth and Garfield avenues, Palmyra, for parking near a fireplug on Broad street, opposite the Broadway Palace.

Cline was said to have been driving with Pennsylvania license tags in Jersey since January. A driver is only allowed to make 15 visits into a different state from which his tags are registered. Cline, it was said, visited his relatives here over the weekends and sometimes two and three times a week.

When Cline was arrested by Patrolman Nelson Wallace and fined $2.00 and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter he was ordered to get his New Jersey tags.

State House Gossip

It was reported at Trenton last week that steps may be taken within the near future to organize an "Edge for President" movement in different parts of the country. It is said that the headquarters to this end might be opened in half a dozen strategical States to further the candidacy of the New Jersey Senator, but the plans are still in the embyro. Talks of a "Dawes and Edge" ticket for the Republicans in 1928 is heard more frequently since Mr. Coolidge announced he would not seek re-nomination.

The white potato crop was reported on August 1 last year as 87 per cent of normal, indicating a yield of 152 bushels an acre and a total production of 9,135,00 bushels, compared with 7,250,000 last year, and 9,411,000 which was the five-year average production. The peach yield is estimated at 2,480,000 bushels; pears, 479,000 bushels; grapes, 2,568 tons. The condition of tomatoes for manufacture was 86 per cent of normal, showing little change since the last report. The yield will be about six tons an acre, and a total production of 168,000 tons, compared with 153,000 tons last year.

Tests made by the State Department of Health this year show that 71 per cent of the water supply of rural schools are free from pollution, according to information that has been obtained. During the present year analysis were made of 580 supplies. The percentage shown is higher than the rate for the past two years. In 1926 a total of 530 were tested and the percentage approved was 65, and for 125 only 46 per cent of the supplies — numbering 740 — were found to be up to the required standards of purification. The analysis were made at the request of the State Department of Public Instruction. The report also stated that the rural schools derive their water from driver wells, dug wells, springs and cisterns. Half the country schools have now installed driven wells and 86 per cent of these were found to be safe.

Danger to children walking to school on heavily traveled highways is not a reason alone to require the school board provide them with transportation, held the State Department of Public Instructions in dismissing the appeals of two parents in Independence Township, Warren county. Their children live within two miles of the school, but have to travel over State Highway Route No. 5. The parents contended the road was dangerous. The township has ruled that children living within two miles were not entitled to transportation. The school law provides that a district must transport the pupils were they are "remote" from the school-house. But danger does not consitiute remoteness, unless they are delayed in reaching class, held the State department.

The farm laborer in New Jersey received considerably more in daily wages than those in some other States, according to a statement from the State Department of Agriculture. New Jersey farmers are paying their help $3.65 a day without board, whereas Mississippi and Tennessee, two of New Jersey's competitors in the production of tomatoes, compensate their laborers at the rate of $1.50 a day. The prevailing wage in Maryland is $2 to $2.25. But tomato growers in New Jersey have so far this season received considerably better prices for their product than in 1926, said the department's statement. Prices have held remarkable firm, which is attributed to the decrease in shipments from this and competing States. "The decrease comes at a time most favorable in New Jersey, which is just coming on with the bulk of its second tomato crop, and is in a position to take advantage of favorable prices." Swedesboro tomatoes have brought 18.6 a quart to July 30, it was stated, as compared with 8.5 cents at the same time last year. The nearest approach is Maryland and Virginia to New Jersey's prices. The average 12.6 per quart up to July 30 this season. New Jersey has only one decided advantage, said the department, and that is in transportation charges. Land values are higher in this state than in other tomato growing regions, with the exception of Ohio. This affects the return on the investment and the taxes paid. Also New Jersey growers pay ten per cent. of the price of their tomatoes for the containers they use—Mississippi they pay approximately nine and in Tennessee seven and a half for containers.

MASTER OF GRANGE ASKS CO-OPERATION

National Farm Society Head Addresses Delegates At Parley In New Brunswick

Lack of adequate organization and the consequent failure to adjust production to changing conditions was held to be the cause of agricultural depression by Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, who last week addressed three hundred delegates attending the first annual conference of Grange lecturers of the Middle Atlantic States at New Brunswick.

Organization, he said, was the farmer's greatest problem. He believed the grange to be in the best position to render the farmer service in his search for a uniform price level and urged the development of research agencies and their application to agriculture, in order that new outlets for farm produce might be found. Better marketing conditions, equal attention and education of the farmer were also stressed as important factors.

The speaker attacked the present protective tariff schedule from an economic standpoint. He said that the grange stood for a "tariff for all or tariff for none," and was in favor of the export debenture plan as a means of handling surplus products.

If all the advice being handed auto drivers was enacted into law the volume would be a big one but a little good horse sense on the part of the drivers would cover the entire field and leave nothing to be said.—Crawfordsville Journal.

Modern Life

A real estate salesman tried to sell a house to a newly married couple. Said the wife: "Why buy a home? I was born in a hospital ward, reared in a boarding-school, educated in a college, courted in an automobile, and married in a church; get my meals at a cafeteria, live in an apartment; spend my mornings playing golf, my afternoons playing bridge; in the evening we dance or go to the movies; when I'm sick I go to the hospital, and when I die I shall be buried from an undertaker's. All we need is a garage with bedroom."—Christian Register.

His Specialty

Manager — "You're the slowest boy we've every had. Aren't you quick at anything?"

Boy—"Yes sir; nobody can get tired as quickly as I can."

Dr. Frank Crane Says

There is a Lawbreaker Within You

The great lawbreaker is greed.

Of course men break laws because of other passions, such as love, revenge, vanity and the like.

But greed breaks the law twenty times to where any other feeling breaks it once.

The mainspring of every burglar's and pickpocket's career is greed. They want "dough" and they want it quick. Hence the blackjack and the breaking and entering.

Old people are waited for with impatience and not waited on with love, because of greed.

Many an unhappy marriage has its cause in greed.

Families are separated on account of it and ancient grudges were founded.

Laws are passed at its instigation.

The passage of a passport law and of an income tax law had no foundations in justice, but took place simply because there were occasions of graft. The money could have been raised in a much better way by simple processes of justice.

Greed was equally behind the activities of Robin Hood of yore and the modern legislator. The principle upon which they acted is the same. They took money from those who had it as an excuse that they were protecting those who had it not.

The gist of all opposition to the prohibition law is greed. Bootleggers do not exist so much because people have an unholy appetite for liquor as because of the immense profits there are in the clandestine business.

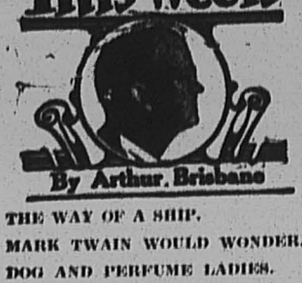

A barber was recently arrested in New York for shaving a man on Sunday. He could not resist the temptation to make fifteen cents, notwithstanding it involved the violation of the law.

All laws will be broken to an extent where there is an attempt to run counter to an acquisitory instinct of the individual.

We have laws against theft, arson, murder and the like, and have had them for lo, these thousands of years. But they are all as steadily broken as the law against alcoholic liquors.

Wherever you find a predominance of greed, you find law-breaking. Greed is the chiefest of our anti-social vices, and ranks first as our lawbreaker.

THE WAY OF A SHIP.

MARK TWAIN WOULD WONDER.

DOG AND PERFUME LADIES.

AND ONLY ONE STAR.

The way of a ship in the midst of the sea has changed since Solomon, the son of David, wrote his Proverbs. The hardy Phoenician, bringing precious freight for Solomon's temple, and the American tourist of the General Grant-Mark Twain period would wonder at the ships of 1927.

This is written on the Aquitania, one of many floating cities that cross the ocean, as free from romance as the moving pictures shown on Deck A. Whoever has crossed in old days rubs his eyes, like Rip Van Winkle.

Along the deck, much wider than Fifth Avenue's sidewalk, and almost as steady, comes a wheezy, short, fat lady, leading a small dog to match, with all its owner's qualities, plus a disposition to snap at passing legs. They turn at the notice, "No dogs allowed forward of this sign."

The dog wears a beautiful ribbon, the lady, possibly a grandmother, wears brilliant pink silk stockings, of such high visibility, that an old time captain might have put her in irons. Much gold on her dress and on her cheeks profusely spread the rouge that Jezabel wore, in Racine's description, pour reparer, des ans, l'irreparable ouvrage.

That modern seafaring lady passes, and her comes another, forty years younger, forty times worse. As she passes, in bright red, she scatters all the perfumes of Arabia, which are the worst, stickiest perfumes on earth, and smokes an ostentatious cigarette.

The cigarette is used as a wand waved to emphasize a speech that she is making, deeply appreciated by a young man with black, sleek, greasy hair, a stomach caving inward, a foreign accent, and no more back head than a Russian wolf-hound.

The young woman's father probably has money.

Hundreds spend a week in this floating hotel, not realizing that they are on the ocean until the fog horn blows. Then some say "I don't like than sound." The more nervous drown the fog horn with two more cocktails.

Modern American wealth has changed ships into cocktail and breakfast food emporiums. There are thirty kinds of mucous membrane destroyers listed as cocktails on the smoking room programme, and indignant Britishers on their own ship wade through a list of American breakfast foods that amazes and outrages them.

In old days after dark sentimental young people stood whispering behind the wheel house. The older, more serious, looked at the starry sky, muttering about Arcturus, Orion and Pleiades and the Chambers of the South.

That is "old stuff" now. There is no wheel house accessible on a modern ship, and you are not supposed to look at the stars.

The only one of six decks from which they can be seen is dark at night. Nobody uses it. To walk there is to interrupt your musings by falling over shuffle boards or imitation greens for golfers.

On modern ships one star is enough. The one to be seen tonight is wondrously beautiful, deep and soulful. Her picture, in colors, just outside the dining saloon, shows her pretty tiny nose, pressed close to the nose tip of some gentleman. The sign says Pola Negri in "Good and Naughty."

In the smoking room pools are auctioned on the ship's daily run, the pools running to thousands of dollars. The chief smoking room steward, generously remembered by the winner of each pool, gets twice as much as the ship's captain. That also is modern. Many a bootlegger gets four times as much as the President of the United States.

On this voyage Mr. Newmark and Mr. Lehman display strange knowledge as to how fast a ship will go. Martin Conboy, of New York, looks on and says it's too complicated and not worth the bother anyhow.

News comes through the ether from both shores, and unlike the brother of old Jerome, of Travers and Jerome, you don't wait ten days to learn that Wall Street has ruined you. You know it the same day.

MEDFORD LAKES HAS ELECTRIC CURRENT

Public Service Lines Extended to Provide Lighting Facilities

Medford Lakes-in-the-Pines has electricity.

The current of the Public Service Corporation was switched on at the popular log cabin colony last week by Jewell Ueckert, of Houston, Texas, who is there to manage the resort for Captain C. A. Barbour, millionaire owner.

Through the efforts of Captain Barbour, the Public Service was prevailed on to extend its lines from Medford, a distance of three miles, to the Lakes. Through the activities of the Leon E. Todd offices in Camden, lots at the Lakes are selling in large numbers. Twelve houses at the colony, both log and bungalow types, are occupied and others are under construction.

Beauty is only skin deep, but as far as that is concerned, homeliness is no deeper.—Atchison Globe.

GREAT NEWS FOR SMOKERS

You Never Believed 5c Could Buy Such a Cigar

The new 5c Havana Ribbon is the greatest tobacco value ever put on the market. It's ripe tobacco—milder, mellower, more fragrant—a wonderful smoke! Sheer popularity has brought the price down and the quality up. The cigar that has been out in front for 30 years is still farther ahead!

It will cost you just 5c to see for yourself whether Havana Ribbon is all that we claim. It won't break you, and it won't make us. But try it! You will find that you get more for your money than you ever got out of a cigar before!

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Quinn, M. D.

FOOD-HABITS

The human being revels in habits. The lower animals, all of them seem to be provided with instinct or capability—at any rate they do not became addicts; one result outstanding, that, they live out their full expectation of life, unless killed by accident or design. Man is too often the victim of his indulgence in habits.

If we possessed accurate statistics, I believe we might declare truthfully that, as many or more people die from food-habits as from so-called drug habits. In other words, mince pie aids and abets as many suicides as tobacco; beef-steak rare, assists in killing as many fat men and women as alcohol; the six o'clock djnner, (a habit) commits as many premeditated murders, and "gets by" with it, as whisky ever did in the most bibulous, pre-volstead time.

When Willie just must have his cakes swimming in syrup, Willie is on a saccharine "toot" that will get results in time. When fat Aunt Ellen won't sit down to a dinner-table without its pyramid of mashed potatoes—when Teddy is proud of his record in iced tea, taking four glasses while devouring his mid-day meal, it's habit, nothing less. Then Papa! Here in August, too! Roast pork, roast beef, three cups of heavily sweetened coffee, eleven hot biscuits, a pan of fried eggs! No wonder Papa gets apoplexy.

Then little Midgie,—she just minces; eats between meals; prefers cake and pie, preserves—nothing too highly-seasoned for the little darling; she just won't eat plain food, she doesn't have to; she wants what she wants when she wants it. No wonder that we are a nation of neurotics, apoplectics, shallow-breathers, tubby abdomens. We need a Volstead crusade against mince pie and angel-food cake, with prohibition amendments against rare roast beef in August—against the iced-tea inebriate.

NEWSPAPER ADS CHEAPEST IN END

Advertising Must be Continuous to Pay, Says Former Poor Richard President

"The biggest and cheapest thing today in advertising is continuous advertising in the newspapers," declared Karl Bloomingdale, past president of the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia, addressing the annual convention of the American Collection Service in Atlantic City last week.

"The newspapers get fifty times the results accomplished by mailing circulars" continued the speaker, "but it must be continuous insertion not 'discontinuous.' Some circular advertising has effect when skillfully got up and properly timed. Saturday's and Monday's are bad times for the reception of such advertising. Anyhow, the newspaper has an advantage over other methods because a person who buys a paper feels a proprietary interest in it and is in a listening mood. He has paid for it and therefore has more faith in it than in a circular or other kind of advertising. It is the cheapest and accomplishes most for the man who has something to sell."

Two-thirds of the buyers today are women, Bloomingdale stated.

ELECTRIC WASHER and IRONER for Safe and Speedy Laundering of Children's Clothes

HOME-MAKING

"THE children are not the only ones who like cookies," says Ada Bessie Swann, "watch how the older folks, especially the man, of the home, fortify themselves with a handful of cookies before they settle down to read."

Here are two of Miss Swann's popular cookie recipes.

Sugar Cookies

½ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup sour milk
5 cups flour (about)
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. flavoring

Cream the shortening in the mixing bowl (that is, crush and stir until creamy). Add sugar gradually, stirring constantly until all sugar is in and the mixture is smooth. Add beaten eggs and flavoring. Then add dry ingredients alternately with the milk, until all is used and dough is stiff. Chill and use as foundation for variety of cookies.

Filled Cookies

1 cup figs
1 cup dates, stoned and cut in pieces
1 cup cocoanut
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 cup cold water

Cook over fire until thickened. Put 1 tsp. on each cookie, lay over another cookie, press edges together, place on a cookie sheet and bake 20 minutes at 400 degrees.

Rubbish Destroyer For the Home

The disposal of garbage, the contents of waste paper basket and other rubbish that is so prone to collect around a house may be safely and conveniently destroyed in the gas incinerator. No smoke nor odor accompany its use, and it provides the most sanitary and quickest way of ridding the house of germ-breeding waste.

Prices from $135 up for 2 bushel size. The gas incinerator can be purchased on the easy payments plan at a slight increase over cash price.

WITH the opening of school, play "togs" are replaced with more conventional garb and the mother of young children finds that the weekly washing becomes heavier.

The Thor Electric Washer, with its non-friction washing principle, the revolving-reversing cylinder, prolongs the life of the clothes while it gently loosens and removes the dirt.

Another advantage of the Thor to the home-maker with a family of little children is its five-position electrically-driven wringer that has rollers of soft rubber. Buttons and fasteners sink into them and are not loosened.

The Thor is sturdily constructed and will stand hard work with few signs of wear and tear. Its gears are a patented feature built for long wear.

Irons All the Washing

Ironing little frocks and small trousers by hand takes a long time but both may be ironed well and quickly on the Thor Electric Ironer. It irons the most intricate pieces successfully and gives a fine finish to bed and table linen.

The Thor may be moved easily and may be folded and stored in small space when not in use.

Public Service offers the same easy payment terms on both Thor appliances. $5 down, 18 months to pay.

Continuous Hot Water Service

WITH the gas automatic storage water heating system, hot water becomes a natural, taken-for-granted part of your home equipment.

It keeps a big tankful of water hot, for you to call on, at any hour, day or night. It is controlled by a thermostat that turns on and off the gas. You don't have to light the gas. You don't have to turn it off.

Automatic hot water service now may be enjoyed in nearly every home, for Public Service stores are offering Hotzone automatic storage water heaters in a special sale from $70 upward—with prices including installation.

On terms $5 down—18 months to pay.

Modern Gas Range Does Its Part in Keeping Schoolboy's Appetite Satisfied

THE gas range seems to grow in importance as soon as school doors open and lessons begin.

"Got anything good to eat, Mother?" is the familiar greeting of the home-coming school boy or girl. The home-maker needs a good up-to-date gas range with an oven heat regulator to help her keep cooky jars full and the meals as well cooked as they should be.

Not only does the oven heat regulator on the gas range make the work easier for the home-maker but it brings out the best in the foods. Tough meat and vegetable fibres are made tender, flavor is brought out and juices retained. Bakings rise and brown successfully.

When You Buy at Public Service

It is well to remember when purchasing a gas range that at Public Service stores prices include delivery and connection from the gas outlet in the kitchen by experienced gas men; that every range is equipped with an automatic top burner lighter, and that the customer may call on our Home Service Department for help and advice in the use of the regulator.

Gas ranges and nearly all other appliances may be purchased on the easy payment plan at Public Service.

American Beauty Iron at Low Price

The home-maker who wants an especially fine electric iron may obtain one at a reduced price, if she will trade in her old iron. The American Beauty, foremost among electric irons in balance, design and finish, may be had at Public Service stores for $6.50, if the customer trades in an old iron. One dollar down and a dollar a month with the electric light bill. The regular price of the American Beauty is $7.50.

Gas Heating Ends All Furnace Work

When gas heats the home, comfortable, even warmth can be enjoyed in every room. No work or worry is involved, no matter how cold the weather becomes.

Gas heating can be installed easily. It can be applied to steam, hot air and hot water systems. Pipes and radiators need not be changed, if these are adequate and in good condition.

Public Service makes no charge for an estimate of what it would cost to install gas heating in your home. Consult us at any time.

Tired Nerves Are Mischief Makers

Neuritis, one of the most tormenting of ills, seems to be relieved by Violet Ray treatments. They are helpful in building up the nervous system.

The daily use of the Violet Ray has been effective in relieving colds and similar disorders. Some Renwlife Violet Ray machines are fitted with an Ozone generator for use in the relief of asthma, hay fever and disorders of the respiratory organs.

Public Service has on sale Renwlife models for private and professional use. Prices for the home models begin at $12.50.

Keep Car Clean With Presto-Vac

On your return from the over Labor Day motor trip, your car is sure to be dusty outside and in.

There is no outer way of removing the dirt from its upholstery and making it fresh and inviting than by the use of the Presto-Vac. This electric suction cleaner gets into all the corners and tufts and draws out the dirt.

The Presto-Vac may be used to clean clothes, motor rugs, quilts and numerous other hard-to-clean things.

Its price is $25 and it may be bought on the Public Service convenient payment plan at a slight increase over the cash price.

Foods Are Well Kept in Electric Refrigerator

To preserve the delicate flavor and that fresh-from-the-garden look, store fruits and melons in the electrified refrigerator. There cold is constant and the atmosphere dry—the ideal condition for the preservation of perishable foods.

Electric refrigeration permits the housekeeper to purchase food in large quantities and to store it in the refrigerator. She can prepare meals in advance, knowing that everything will keep fresh and tasty until time to serve it.

1500 Militiamen for Burlington

Parade Military Day to be Outstanding Features of Big Celebration

It is now quite certain that military day will be one of the outstanding features of the quarter millennial anniversary celebration of Burlington in October. Not only will there be a great military parade, but also a sham battle of extensive proportions. Moreover, the new Burlington Armory will be dedicated on that day.

These facts were set forth in a report made by Colonel Edward B. Stone at a meeting of the executive committee and committee heads in the Chamber of Commerce office last week. Colonel Stone is the head of the Military Day committee. Military Day will occur on Columbus Day, Wednesday, October 12.

Colonel Stone said that 1500 militiamen would be in line on the day in question, including infantry, artillary and Naval Reserves. The One Hundred and Fourteenth Regiment Band likewise will attend and other military bands. The line will include some three hundred horses.

The dedication of the Armory will take place at one o'clock. It is expected that prominent military men will be present. At two o'clock the procession will start and move over a route that is yet to be chosen. Afterwards the sham battle will occur, probably on High School Field. Should High School Field not prove a desirable place for the work some other location will be chosen.

Big Military Ball

At the conclusion of the afternoon's program the soldiers will be given refreshments and in the evening there will be a military ball in the Burlington Armory.

The militia will not be alone in making the day a momentous one. Strongly flanking it will be the Burlington County American Legion and perhaps visiting Legionaires from Camden county and Mercer county. Captain James McFarland Post, No. 79, will be the host to the visitors.

The American Legion boys will join with the militiamen in the evening also and help to make the military ball a big success.

The cost of sending the militia to Burlington will be borne by the state. At the last session of the State Legislature a bill was passed appropriating five thousand dollars for this feature of the celebration. The bill, which was introduced by Assemblyman Clifford R. Powell, of Mount Holly, was approved March 3, 1927. It says that "such units of the National Guard and Naval Militia of this state as shall be designated by the Governor shall proceed to the city of Burlington and participate in such celebration."

There will be five big days of the jubilee. The tentative program is as follows:—

Sunday, October 9, — Religious day; services in all the churches in the morning; exercises in the Fox Auditorium in the afternoon with a musical program, and the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, of Overbrook, Pa., as the speaker. Other services in the various churches in the evening.

Monday, October 10—Sports day; sports for children in the morning; sports for older people in the afternoon. Big ball in the Burlington Armory at night.

Tuesday, October 11—Civic or historical day; pageant for babies and children in the morning; pageant in the afternoon for Burlington organizations, firemen, industries, societies, etc. Day fireworks in the afternoon; night fireworks in the evening; band concert in the evening.

Wednesday, October 12—Military day; Italian parade in the morning; dedication of the Burlington Armory early in the afternoon; parade and sham battle later in the afternoon; military ball in the Burlington Armory in the evening; big historical meeting in the Fox Auditorium with musical program and Edward Casper Stokes, of Trenton, former governor, as the speaker.

Thursday, October 13—Agricultural day; big exhibits of cattle, poultry, fruit and other farm produce in tents on the lot on Wall street, between Lawrence and East Federal streets; meeting in the Fox Auditorium with some prominent speaker making an address, probably Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Raritan, former United States Senator.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE
DEALERS' BEST ASSET

"It used to be that automobile dealers valued a franchise more than anything else in the business," says Frederick E. Rein of the Rein Motor Company, "but today it is pretty well understood that the basic essential to dealer success is public confidence.

"Obviously a good car is necessary, but it takes more than a good car to win public confidence for the dealer. The efficiency and economy with which he meets the daily operating needs of the car, and helps the owner in the solution of strictly individual problems, are the real elements on which he builds a permanently successful business.

NO LEFT TURN

As I drive to work each day,
To earn my humble weekly pay,
I pass these signs along the way:
No Left Turn.

Each crossing where the copper stands
Holding our his traffic hands,
Makes me mad with warning bands,
No Left Turn.

I could, I know, turn to the right;
'Twould be no use, nor help my plight.
A left I want, and catch this sight:

I drive along, and see the street
Where I should turn and park my feet
Beneath a desk; but there I meet:
No Left Turn.

And, then down the river side
Where swiftly runs the running tide,
At last I lose that glaring guide:
No Left Turn.

So, turning there, I start to wend
My way up town and round the bend
Again those signs, without an end.
No Left Turn.

Oh, God, some day I hope I'll see
A sacred spot where there'll not be
Those garish ghosts, so mean to me:
No Left Turn.

I want to see a fairy land
Without a traffic force at hand
To spoil the way with this command
No Left Turn.

Carnivals Galore for Maple Shade

"Full-Fledged Circus" Running This Week; Church Fair Sept. 16 and 17

Maple Shade is not only known as the community of tragedies, but also noted for its love for fairs and carnivals. Just last week one of the county editors marveled at the ability of Maple Shade to support so many carnivals, and it seems that increasing patronage marks each successive enterprise.

A circus and exposition, advertised as "Maple Shade's first circus," opened Saturday night and is scheduled to run a full week, closing this Saturday.

And next on the calendar is St. John's Church Fair, to be held Friday and Saturday evenings, September 16 and 17.

This week's attraction is reputed to be a full-fledged circus with "clowns, trained horses, animals, bands, 'everything.'" A Chevrolet automobile is to be given away and there is a young ladies' popularity contest.

The affair is for the benefit of Tonguwa Council, No. 136, Order of Red Men.

The Church Fair in September will be featured by an agricultural exhibit, harmonica contest, baby parade, suppers, dancing, the usual merchandise, ice cream and soft drink booths, and three "big surprises."

Prizes are to be awarded for the best agricultural displays and to the winners in the harmonica contest and baby parade. To enter the harmonica contest a boy must be a pupil at a Maple Shade school and must be able to play three of the following tunes:

"Yes Sir, She's My Baby," "Bye, Bye, Blackbird," Mary Lou," "Marching Through Georgia" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

The Fair will be held on the Church grounds, East Linden avenue.

Lesson for September 4

SOLOMON'S WISE CHOICE

LESSON TEXT—I Kings 3:4-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Happy is the man who findeth wisdom and the man that getteth understanding.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Solomon's Wise Choice.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Young Man's Wise Choice.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Choosing Things Worth While.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Best Things in Life.

Following the death of David, Solomon was anointed king (I Kings 1:5-40). David had failed to show the people who should be king after him (v. 20). Though an old man, he is stirred into action by the combined appeals of Bathsheba and Nathan. He immediately sent for the faithful three—Zadok, Nathan and Benlah, and commanded them to anoint Solomon king

I. God's Gracious Offer (vv. 4, 5).

Solomon made a lavish sacrifice to the Lord. The magnitude of the offering shows that he had strong impulses toward God and that he was unwilling to hold anything back from God. Following the sacrifice, the Lord made to him this gracious offer. This offer was not on the basis that the Lord cared for the number of animals, but the attitude of the man's heart toward him. "Ask what I shall give thee," placed very wide possibilities before the king. God, as it were, signed blank checks and turned them over to Solomon to fill in any amount that his heart desired. This was not a reckless act on the part of God, for He foreknew what was in Solomon's heart to ask. This offer to Solomon is no exceptional one, for opportunities equally limitless are placed before us. God is saying to every one of His children, "Ask and it shall be given you." The matter with its limitations is placed before us in John 15:7, "If ye abide in Me and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." These unlimited offers are open to those who abide in Christ and let His words abide in them.

II. Solomon's Wise Choice (vv. 6-9).

The Lord's gracious offer brought the king face to face with the responsibility of making a choice. There was no middle course open to him. God deals with all His children in such a way that a choice must be made by them. Solomon was keenly aware of the difficulty and responsibility of his position. David was a great king. For a young man to take up the work of an illustrious father and push it to completion is a most difficult task. Comparatively few ever succeed. Besides this, he had to deal with the disturbing elements which had been set in motion by the usurper, Adonijah. Being made to shoulder so great a responsibility so suddenly, brought him to keenly feel his insufficiency. In his reply to God he pleaded that his being king was not of his own choice but an act of God's loving kindness. He argued that, since God had made him king, He was bound to qualify him to fill the place. All who have been called of God to fill positions of honor and trust can surely exercise that same boldness of faith. When called to positions of honor and trust we should humbly present ourselves before God for help. To feel ourselves unworthy and unfit for great and responsible work and to cast ourselves upon God for help is not cowardice, but a good sign that we shall not fail at the critical moment. Solomon's object in asking for wisdom was not for display but for the good of others.

III. God's Unstinted Gift (vv. 10-15).

Solomon's speech pleased the Lord. God gave him more than he asked. Because he put wisdom first, God saw that he could be trusted with material good also. Christ saw the same thing when He said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). He who puts God and spiritual things first in time and importance can be trusted with temporal things. That which God promised him above what he asked was riches, honor and length of days. All who feel the lack of wisdom can go to God with confidence (Jas. 1:5). God blessed Solomon with a singularly comprehensive mind (I Kings 4:29-34). He was a botanist, zoologist, architect, poet and moral philosopher.

Christian Life

"The perfection of the Christian life is to lose sight of oneself completely and to make everything of Christ."

No Man His Own Master

No man is his own master; he is either governed by Christ or governed by Satan.—Echoes.

God Is Faithful

God is faithful, and He can never allow anyone to be empty in His blessed presence.—Echoes.

Humility

Humility is to make a right estimate of one's self.—Spurgeon.

HORSESHOE FOR LUCK

The usual method of nailing up a horseshoe to bring good luck is having the two ends pointing downward. This is due to the fact that some persons think its protective powers to be due to its resemblance to the imbus or halo frequently seen in pictures of angels or saints. The superstition regarding the horseshoe as an emblem of luck is believed to be connected with the custom of the ancient Romans. They used to drive nails into the walls of their houses as an antidote against the plague.

Troopers Arrest Drunken Drivers

State Police Nab Two Intoxicated Motorists and Three Unlicensed Operators

The New Jersey State Police, stationed at Columbus, reports the following news for the week of August 24 to 30.

Allie Vanarsdale, of Jacobstown Road, New Egypt, was arrested by Troopers Horn and Doyle for transportation and possession of illegal liquor, when he was leaving Harker's Grove late Tuesday night after the "colored hop" was over. Upon entering his car he started to throw out bottles of alleged liquor. He was arraigned before Recorder Rawley, of New Egypt, and held under $500 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. In default of the bail he was taken to Tom's River to the County Jail by Troopers Horn and Doyle. Vanarsdale was also arraigned on a charge of throwing glass on a public highway. He was fined $10 and costs on this charge. His Ford sedan, together with a small quantity of liquor, was confiscated and turned over to the Prosecutor's office. The car has since been released under bond.

Charles Minney, colored, of Cookstown, was arrested by Trooper Doyle the same night, for operating a car with a defective muffler. He was arraigned before Judge Rawley and after a severe reprimand was released with a suspended sentence. Percy Horner, of Cookstown, was also taken into custody for neglecting to get a new license plate after one had been lost. He was arraigned before Judge Rawley. The Judge gave Horner a lecture and released him with a small fine of $2 and costs.

Arrest Colored Dancers

Paul Lake, of Cookstown, was arrested by Trooper Horn Wednesday, after throwing a bottle that is said to have contained liquor, on the highway. Lake was arraigned before Judge Rawley, of New Egypt, where he was fined $10 and costs. Floyd Morris, colored, of Mount Holly, was also arrested by Trooper Horn for failing to carry his registration and driver's cards. He was arraigned before Judge Rawley and fined $5.00 and costs. All of the above arrests were made as the patrons were leaving the "colored hop."

George Jones, colored, of Yardville, was arrested Thursday by Trooper Horn for operating a car with a "cut out" open, through Crosswicks. He was arraigned before Justice Poinisett and fined $5.00 and costs.

A Ford sedan driven by Charles W. Craig, a soldier stationed at Camp Dix, ran into a Willys-Knight sedan owned and driven by Harry W. Nelson, of Philadelphia. Sergeant J. J. O'Conner, who was riding with Craig, received severe cuts about the head and face. Craig, when located by Trooper Horn, who investigated the case, was found at the Camp in a drunken condition. Craig did not have a driver's license. He escaped civil action, however, and will be court martialed by General Drum of Camp Dix.

On complaint of neighbors, the home of Edward Markiewiez, Burlington, was raided Saturday by Constable Bates and Troopers Horn and Doyle. As the troopers entered, Jennie Markiewiez, a small daughter of Edward Markiewiez, made an attempt to pour the liquor, which was in a pitcher, into the sink. A small quantity was confiscated, however. A buy of liquor was made previous to the raid. Markiewiez is an old offender.

Drunken Driver

A Ford sedan driven by John Ehman, of Philadelphia, crashed into a Studebaker roadster driven by George Kaplin, of Camden, at Chance's Corner, Camden road, about ten o'clock Sunday morning. Trooper Horn was summoned to the scene. John Ehman was arrested and charged with driving a car under the influence of liquor and without having a driver's license. He was arraigned before Police Justice Thompson, of Beverly, and fined $200 and costs on the drunken driving charge, and $25 and costs for driving without a license. A quantity of liquor was found in the car and Howard J. Brooks, the owner, was arrested for the illegal transportation and possession of same. He was arraigned before Justice Thompson, of Beverly, pleaded guilty to charges and was placed under $500 bail to await action of the Grand Jury. He was also arrested for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Brooks was fined $50 on this charge. In default of fines and bail he was committed to the County Jail.

About 10.30 Sunday night a Dodge coupe driven by Harry G. Warner, of Bordentown, collided with an Oakland sedan, owned and driven by Mrs. Mary Gandy, of Camden, at Florence Station on the Burlington Pike. Both cars were badly damaged. No complaints were made however, both parties having agreed to settle for the damages out of court. This case was investigated by Trooper Horn.

DANCE SATURDAY AT MOORESTOWN

First Hop of the Season is Expected to Attract Large Crowd

A Community House Dance, which will open the fall and winter series, will be held in the gymnasium Saturday evening, September 10, at Moorestown.

Since the dance is the first to be held at the Community House in a number of weeks, a large crowd of the younger set from Moorestown and the surrounding towns is expected to attend.

Bill Ford's Orchestra, of Mount Holly, will furnish the music for the "first of the season" hop. The Dance Committee is working on appropriate attractions and novelties. Admission, as usual, will be fifty cents.

SOON TO COMPLETE NEW ROXY THEATRE

Maple Shade Playhouse Will Have 2500 Seating Capacity

According to latest reports, the new Roxy Theatre at Maple Shade will be completed within the next six weeks. It is said this will be the largest and most beautiful playhouse in this section.

Workmen are making excellent progress and a start on the interior decorations is anticipated for the very near future. The theatre will have a seating capacity of approximately 2500 and will be under the direction of one of the largest theatrical corporations in America. The programs will include the best film plays and possibly vaudeville attractions.

"It is of the latest design, rigid construction and will afford absolute safety, comfort and first-class entertainment," according to a recent statement by the owners.

MAPLE SHADE HALL TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Township Officers to Move Into New Quarters Following Final Inspection

If the plans of the Chester township committee materialize, the new municipal building at Maple Shade may be put in use by the first of next week, declared Charles Meyers, chairman of the committee Monday.

"The building is being put in shape for an early opening," he stated. "It is practically completed but an inspection disclosed several details that required attention."

The committee refused to accept the building until all deficiencies were corrected by the contractor. Township officers are now awaiting word to move into their new quarters.

ELLEN M. YARDLEY

Mrs. Ellen M. Yardley, age 77 years, succumbed in a Philadelphia hospital Wednesday of last week. Heart disease caused her death.

Funeral services with the Rev. Dr. G. H. Humason in charge, were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gail G. Bennett, 507 Camden avenue, Moorestown, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Interment was made at Evergreen Cemetery, Camden.

Mrs. Yardley is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Bennett.

A famous New York actress has quit the stage to go into the real estate business. From the "land of make-believe" to just land, eh?

Moorestown Plans For Improvements

Contracts Awarded for Supplying and Laying Water Main Extensions

Steps were taken at the meeting of Moorestown Township Committee in Town Hall Monday evening that indicate the Township authorities do not anticipate a change in municipal headquarters in the very near future. Committeeman Rush D. Rogers, chairman of the property committee, was instructed to obtain bids for the enlargement of the police offices and to take steps toward improving the appearance of the exterior of Town Hall.

Early this summer it was announced that petitions were about to be circulated to sound out the consensus of opinion of the taxpayers in regard to acquiring the former Burlington County Trust Company building for a new town hall.

The police department has been cramped for space for some time and the Township Committee is now prepared to relieve this condition. The police headquarters will be about doubled in size, which will allow for a main room of the present size, a small private office for Chief Bradshaw and lockers for the policemen.

It is understood that the foundation of the exterior of Town Hall will be stuccoed and the bricks will be repointed.

Another matter of considerable interest was the decision to fence in the athletic grounds at South Church street. All of the organizations which use the park have long sought this advantage, and it is understood that work will be done in the very near future by the Township, which owns and maintains the grounds for a municipal recreational center.

Seek Committee's Support

Edward A. Mechling, chairman of the Recreation Commission, George C. Baker, supervising Principal of the Moorestown Public schools, and William de R. French, vice-president of the Moorestown Athletic Association, appeared before the Committee in behalf of the project.

The delegation was given to understand that the committee was in favor of this work and after lengthy discussion in regard to financing of the improvement, it was decided that the Township will shortly float bonds to meet the costs and the associations, which will be in a position to collect admission fees, will assist the Township in retiring the bonds.

The fences will prove quite profitable to the high school and other organizations who seek to collect funds at the gates, and both Mr. Baker and Mr. French were of the opinion that the associations which they represent will gladly assist in raising the funds.

It apparently will be a case of everyone benefitting without the proving costly to anyone. The fence will create a revenue for the Township and will also be a means of those using it collecting the admissions which the justly due them.

Grube Thanks A. A.

Chairman William F. Grube took the opportunity of publicly expressing the Township's appreciation for the splendid manner in which the Recreation Commission and the Athletic Association have cared for the grounds this summer.

Bids were received for the supplying and laying of pipe for water mains extensions in three different parts of the Township. R. D. Wood, of Florence, was the successful bidder for supplying pipe and the contract for laying of the lines was awarded to Palmyra Pipe Laying and Construction Company. R. D. Wood asked 55 cents a foot for six-inch cast iron pipe and 78 cents a foot for the eight-inch pipe. The Palmyra company will lay the six-inch lines for 54 cents a foot and the eight-inch for 61 cents a foot.

The bids are considered exceptionally low.

An eight-inch water supply will be laid on Main street a distance of 475 feet, east of Dolly's garage. A six-inch line will be extended from the County Culvert to New Albany Road, a distance of 3210 feet, on North Church Road. The other extension will be 650 feet on Harding avenue, Lenola. This will also be a six-inch line.

The unsuccessful bidders for the installation were Albert Ellis, Moorestown, and Bell Brothers, Haddonfield. R. D. Wood's bid won over those of United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, Burlington, and McWane Cast Iron Pipe Company, Philadelphia.

STRICTLY PRIVATE

He was a newcomer to the bank and consequently found his duties rather hard to remember; but all this was forgotten when he received his first pay envelope.

In a businesslike manner he quickly checked the contents before signing the receipt. Then his eye caught the words underlined in black:

"Your salary is your personal business and a confidential matter. It should not be disclosed to anyone."

The clerk grinned as he picked up a pen and signed his name. Below he added briefly:

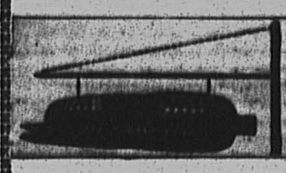

"I won't mention it to anyone. I am as much ashamed of it as you are."

Old Bank Building Successfully Moved

J. W. Hartshorne's Work on Old Landmark Considered Engineering Feat

The old three-story brick building formerly occupied by Moorestown Trust Company has been successfully moved a distance of fourteen feet back from the sidewalk and seventy feet east, in order to effect a great improvement about the new home of the Trust Company.

The work represents a splendid engineering accomplishment and testifies to the usual skill of James W. Hartshorne, house mover.

The moving of any building is quite a feat of engineering, but a three-story brick building presents a task which can only be successfully performed by the most highly skilled mechanics in this line of work. Mr. Hartshorne is the most modernly equipped house mover in the state and is the only one in New Jersey who has a steel outfit necessary to move a building of the size and weight of the former Trust Company home.

Started in April

Work was started early in April. Air guns were used to cut holes into the eighteen-inch brick walls. As soon as the holes were cut, the timbers were placed in position and 75 jacks were set to raise the building above the foundation. At the end of two weeks steel rails and rollers had been placed under the structure and the building was ready to be raised. Work had to be abandoned temporarily at that point, however, due to the razing of the adjoining frame building.

Early August marked the resumption of work and a huge motor truck, equipped with winches, was connected with the pulley blocks to give sufficient power to move the building at the remarkably low speed necessary to successfully complete the operation. Two trucks with similar winches were used to pull the building sideways in order to maintain slow and constant pull on the entire building.

In Permanent Position

The building, upon arriving over its new foundation, was raised three inches to the position where it is to remain permanently.

During the entire operation the occupants of this old land mark enjoyed constant use of water, gas, electricity and telephone service, as well as full use of the entrance to Hubbs' store.

It is understood that Moorestoyn Trust Company will remodel the front of the building and will erect a one-story addition on the west side to accommodate another business establishment. Stockwell Realty Company will occupy the office next to Hubbs' after the completion of the alterations.

WE ARE ALL LAWBREAKERS

Most people have a strong prejudice against the police. I never have had, wherever I go. I find policemen useful and polite. Occasionally a fool is given a policeman's club, but he soon is retired. Policemen daily forgive a hundred trespasses. It is a theory of the law that nine guilty men should escape rather than one innocent man be punished. The theory is carried out by everybody. The law is violated a thousand times for every arrest. This is true from necessity or we should all be in jail. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

TACONY-PALMYRA BRIDGE IS AUTHORIZED BY WAR DEPT.

Last Obstacle Removed and Bids Will be Asked For Construction

WILL COST $4,000,000; FINISHED IN 2 YEARS

The projectors of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge, Charles A. Wright, president, Edward W. G. Borer, treasurer, and Grover C. Richman (succeeding the late Samuel S. Daniels), secretary, announce that they have now received authorization from the Secretary of War, which removes the last barrier to the construction of the bridge, and it is expected that contracts will now be let.

All those interested seem highly elated, and feel that this bridge will be a boon, not only for the projectors, but to the traveling public.

If to grow two blades of grass where one grew before is an achievement, surely if through the medium of a bridge millions arrive at their destination in a fraction of the time that they did before, this is also an achievement. Macauley states it as follows:

"Of all inventions, the alphabet and the printing press alone excepted, those inventions which abridge distance have done most for the civilization of our species."

Natural Location

There are two strategic points which nature seems to have decreed as logical places to span the majestic Delaware river. First, Delair, now pre-empted by the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge, the other at Eight Mile Point, where the river is both deep and narrow. The distance between the pierhead lines is less than 2000 feet, while the average width of the river for several miles in either direction is all of 4000 feet.

In selecting this site for the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge the projectors were influenced greatly by the fact that the Tacony terminal is 5.4 miles east of the Philadelphia entrance to the Race Street bridge, seeming to make it imperative that those residing in the Northeast section of Philadelphia should have their own Delaware River bridge.

The bridge will be a 4-lane bridge, two thirds as wide as the Race Street bridge. While it is a bascule bridge (commonly called knife bridge) it will be built sufficiently high above tidewater, namely 60 feet (10 feet higher than the Delair bridge) for all existing craft plying upon the Delaware River at this date to go under it without the necessity of opening the bascule.

Some question the wisdom of a toll bridge, feeling that all bridges should be what is commonly called "free." But on analysis, it is found that there is no such thing, the only difference being that in some instances one set of citizens will pay for a bridge that another set would make use of.

Prosperity to Follow Bridge

It is expected that the influence of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge on the surrounding real estate adjacent to it will be greater than that experienced by the completion of the Race Street bridge, simply due to its closer proximity.

The cost of this enterprise will be approximately four and a half million dollars. It will be built of steel and concrete throughout, the grade being 3½% (or ascending 3½ feet to each 100 feet), the established grade of the Race Street bridge.

The engineers selected to bring this structure into being are Messrs. Modjeski, Masters & Chase, and the construction of the majestic Race Street bridge is ample testimony of their skill. These gentlemen have stated that the bridge will be completed within two years after construction begins.

From its inception this structure has been referred to as the "Wright bridge."

Mr. Wright Guiding Spirit

Charles A. Wright, who first conceived the idea of a bridge at this point, was born in Philadelphia on February 29, 1860, and attended Philadelphia Public Schools until he was eleven years old. From then he has been variously employed, but mostly pertaining to printing and photographic cards, in which industry he has invented a number of devices. One invention pertaining to gold leaf is the nucleus of several million-dollar concerns in Providence, R. I. He became identified with the Marine Vapor Engine Company and inventions were patented in most all foreign countries. In 1898 he organized and became president of the Standard Index Card Company, a concern now at 701-9 Arch street, Philadelphia. He also heads the Bourse Restaurant Company, the Riverton & Palmyra Water Company, Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company, Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company. In the conduct of the ferry, he has been greatly perplexed at times by the many problems requiring legal and financial skill, but through his splendid management, this company has been paying dividends for the past 44½ years, and on the advent of the bridge will be liquidated advantageously to the stockholders, due to Mr. Wright's sagacity and good judgment.

One of the New Jersey State Officials has written that "no individual ever did more for the State of New Jersey than Charles A. Wright in bringing about the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge." Mr. Wright has been firm in his belief that a bridge would supercede the ferry in proportion as the ferry was made a success. His every act was based on this conviction.

Sees Dream Come True

In the construction of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge Mr. Wright will have the satisfaction of seeing his dream of years realized. While he had visions of a bridge before the ferry was built, he realized that the necessary capital could only be obtained by satisfying prospective investors that the traffic was there, which most all critics disclaimed. So he reasoned then that the ferry, (whose capitalization would be but a tithe of the capitalization of a proposed bridge) would first demonstrate that there was ample traffic to sustain a bridge, and the rest would then be easy. In various attempts to bring into being this project, he made sure that the ferry would profit by the enhanced value of the adjacent land that their activities would create. He is more than grateful that the stockholders of the ferry will be amply rewarded for their confidence in him, by buying a large farm on the New Jersey side, which through its enhanced value, will undoubtedly enable the stockholders to realize a handsome profit; and while he is enthusiastic regarding the bridge, he does not intend to let that enthusiasm cause him to forget the duty he owes the stockholders of the ferry. His slogan has been to "protect the stockholders of the ferry first, last and always."

President of Both Companies

It is a rather delicate position to occupy, being President of both the Ferry Company and the Bridge Company, but he feels and hopes that through his sense of fairness, he will so occupy this position that no one can claim that the one corporation was injured by the other.

K. of C. START FALL ACTIVITIES

Large Meeting Forecasts Big Doings For Fall and Winter

The first meeting of the fall season of the K. of C. was held in the local headquarters last Tuesday evening and when Grand Knight Yearly called the meeting to order the general "hum and buzz" of activity was prevalent.

Everybody was back from their vacations and some of the outstanding committees reported that the unfinished business of the summer months would be quickly cleaned up and that after the next meeting will be all set to get some card parties, dances and perhaps a show or bazaar under way.

It is rumored in the local K. of C. circles that a change of offices would take place next meeting as this is the time for election of officers for the ensuing year. As a very large meeting is forecast on election night arrangements have been made for refreshments and smokes.

The installation of the second unit of the Columbus Cadets will take place during the next two weeks and Director Andrew Pfaff reports that great progress is being made with the boys.

Palmyra Cops Have Busy Holidays

Several Arrests by Local Police Force Mark Labor Day Weekend

The Palmyra Police Department had a busy weekend including Labor Day. Saturday morning Chief of Palmyra Police C. Morris Beck received a warrant from officials of Franklin County, North Carolina, for the arrest of "Trim" Edward Alston, colored, who was wanted there for attempted murder of his brother-in-law July 21.

Beck arrested the man Saturday at noon. The prisoner was held until Sunday when Deputy Sheriff Frank Oiscue, of Franklin County, North Carolina, arrived. Beck took the sheriff and his prisoner to Camden in the police car. Here Edward Roberts, of Palmyra, accompanied Deputy Oiscue and Alston to the West Philadelphia station. Roberts is a special officer.

Deputy Oiscue was much surprised as he did not expect the Palmyra chief to locate the colored prisoner for several days. He said he had hardly sent the warrant when he received the telegram that the man had been arrested.

The sheriff said he was shown as much hospitality by Chief Beck as he would have received from his own father. He said the Sheriff of Franklin County, North Carolina, would send Beck a letter of appreciation for the courtesy shown in this affair.

A warrant was also issued this week for the arrest of Charles Schroeder, of West 6th street, Palmyra, for failure to support a wife and child in Camden. Schroeder was arrested Labor Day by Palmyra police and turned over to a Camden detective.

Walter Harris, colored, of Palmyra, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail at Mt. Holly by Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter last Friday, for reckless driving, being a hit-run driver and driving without a license.

Harris smashed into a parked car at Broad and Arch streets, Palmyra, August 20. After he had hit the parked machine, Officer Lawrence Betty, of the Palmyra Police force, went to the scene of the accident to arest Harris but he had fled. Harris left Palmyra and stayed away until September 2 when he was arrested by Betty.

STAGE ALL SET FOR FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL

Booths Erected, Lot Cleared, and Merry-go-Round Installed

The members of the Riverton Fire Company have been busy this week preparing the ground and erecting booths at Broad and Thomas avenue, where their carnival will open this evening and continue for three nights and Saturday afternoon.

There will be a merry-go-round and many other attractions for the children. In addition, there will be on sale fancy articles, genuine woolen blankets, cakes, pies and other pastry, besides a wide variety of fruits and vegetables.

Everyone whom the boys have asked for donations has been very liberal, and they desire to express their appreciation of the kindness and courtesy that has been shown them.

Some of the best pie and cake bakers in town have donated to the carnival and the housewives of Riverton will have no need to bake for over the weekend.

"Bill" Steedle Likes Plattsburg

Writes Interesting Letter About Life in C. M. T. Camp; Says Food is O. K.

Citizens' Military Training Camp
Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.
September 2, 1927

Dear Editor:

In reply to your letter of the twenty-ninth I wish to say that it would give me pleasure to inform you of our work with the C. M. T. C.

The recruits arrive at Plattsburg in the afternoon. By night-time they are outfitted, fed, assigned tents, examined and given necessary information. It seems almost preposterous that this could be accomplished for about seventeen hundred men in so short a time. But you must remember that everything is done systematically in the army.

It is really not as hard as it might appear to get up at five-thirty in the morning, because we change to standard time when we arrive.

The first two weeks at camp are hard on the candidate. Drilling all morning and then passing in review before the Colonel, constitutes the first two weeks program—for the morning, that is. In the afternoon all those not interested in athletics are permitted to dig stumps from the company street.

Easier After First 2 Weeks

The second two weeks are like a rest cure compared to the first two weeks. Rifle instruction, extended order drill and citizenship talks, constitute the morning program. In the afternoon they allow swimming under strict supervision. The water sure feels good. It is clear and cold as ice.

All the fellows like the firing on the range. The guns are very powerful and have to be handled carefully. It is needless to say that all Riverton fellows made good scores on the range.

There are a lot of things I like about Plattsburg. The first is the climate. In the daytime the weather is usually just cool enough to be comfortable with an F. G. D. shirt (flannel olive drab). There are practically no mosquitoes to bother one. At night-time or early in the morning we need every one of our four army blankets.

The end of the camp draws near before the recruit realizes it. This means that we go on our overnight hike. This is great sport. We put all our training into practice on the hike to and from the camping grounds. The return hike is like a sham battle, but we have no tangible enemy or ammunition.

Food Is Satisfactory

I have heard some fellows say that the food they give up here is full of harmful adulterations. Take it from me this is all bunk. The chow we eat up here is good; for instance, tonight we had pie and ice cream. We don't get that every night, of course, but pie is not unusual here.

There is always a gathering at the Hostess House, (which is a sort of a community house). Here we have plenty of chance to write letters, play checkers, chess, pool, etc.

After supper mess we have the rest of the evening to ourselves. There is an excellent moving picture theatre in town, and you can bet we all make the most of our opportunity.

On the next to the last day of camp all the medals and cups are given out. Usually some notable renders a speech. We listened to a speech from Representative Stell of the U. S. Congress.

I have asked many fellows what they think of the camp and training they receive. Almost to a man they say they like it, and expect to come back next year in some branch of the C. M. T. C.

If anyone wants good training with a lot of fun thrown in, go to the C. M. T. Camps.

Sincerely,

BILL.
(William Steedle)

TWO CRASHES LABOR DAY

Bus Wrecks Roadster at Union Landing; Woman Hit Backing Out

CLOSED BRIDGE THROWS TRAFFIC ON RIVER ROAD

When James Ransom turned out of Union Landing Road onto the River Road last Monday afternoon, the Ford roadster he was driving was struck by a McCloskey bus and the left rear wheel completely demolished. According to the bus driver, Harry Ward, of Riverside, Ransom turned in front of the bus without warning. The damage to the bus was slight.

Another collision occurred the same day when Herman Goodman, of Bordentown, crashed into the car of Mrs. Elizabeth McIlheney, as she was backing out of her yard at East Riverton. Both cars were slightly damaged but no one was injured. Officer Quigley, of Riverton made an investigation but as the collision seemed to be purely accidental no arrests were made.

The closing of the bridge over the Rancocas Creek at Bridgeboro has thrown a lot of traffic down the River Road which will increase the number of accidents unless strict police supervision is exercised.

Cinnaminson township may be asked in the interest of safety to appoint a special officer for traffic duty covering that section of the River Road which lies within the township boundaries.

Director of Public Safety Williams said last night, "While we are just as willing as ever to help out our neighboring municipality, we simply cannot patrol the mile or more of highway in the township. The cars going east certainly do step on it as soon as they cross the bridge at East Riverton. Unless some adequate supervision is provided, I very much fear serious accidents will happen. It is now no uncommon thing to have private cars crowded entirely off the road by buses and trucks.

"We will try to keep them in line within the borough limits but we have a pretty serious traffic problem of our own and the Riverton police force is not large enough to permit adding anything to its duties."

Aged Nurse Finds Home in Hospital

Resident of Burlington County Will End Days in New York Institution

Miss Cora Carpenter, aged 77 years, who for the past thirty years led a precarious life, most of the time alone, near Whitings, has found a decent home for the rest of her days. She has been admitted to the Bellevue Hospital in New York City. It has been learned Miss Carpenter was one of the six original graduates of that institution in 1875.

Recently Miss Carpenter, who weighs only 90 pounds, wandered into the pine woods near Whitings and got lost. She was found three days later, apparently not having suffered any ill effects from the exposure.

According to information received from New York, Miss Carpenter was graduated from the hospital 52 years ago, when she was 25 years old, and is the oldest living graduate. She was taken to the hospital by a stranger, who told the officials that she was deaf and unable to care for herself and had been found wandering in the woods. The oldest yearbook in the hospital attested to the fact that a Miss Nora Carpenter had been graduated from there. The oldest nurse in the hospital, one who graduated in 1876, was summoned and said she remembered Miss Carpenter's name.

She has been partly cared for by the township and lived in a little shack at the edge of the woods. She was in the habit of earning small change by picking berries, and was in search of wild berries when she became lost.

SCHMIDT—SCHMIERER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Epworth M. E. Church last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Elsie Alice Schmierer, daughter of Mrs. Joseph F. Schmierer, of 810 Columbia avenue, Palmyra, became the bride of Mr. Raymond Edward Schmidt, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. William Lee.

The bride was attired in white romaine crepe trimmed with silk lace. Her veil was silk lace and she carried white roses. She was attended by Miss Vera Lutz, of Palmyra, as maid of honor, who was attired in green taffeta, with hat to match and carried yellow roses.

Miss Pearl Coombs was bridesmaid and she was attired in orchid with hat to match and carried pink roses. Lillian Harris, of Riverside, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl and she was dressed in blue silk.

The groom was attended by Harold Schmierer as best man and the ushers were Harvey Trauger, John White, Earle Schmierer and William Stewart, of Philadelphia, a cousin of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, after which the young couple left on a wedding trip to Wildwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt will be home after September 10th and will reside at 428 Garfield avenue, Palmyra.

Moorestown Plans Big Celebration

Community Hallowe'en Party to Eclipse Last Year's Affair; Big Popularity Contest

A group of Moorestown men who played a prominent part in last year's Hallowe'en celebration met at the Community House last Thursday morning to effect a community organization and prepare tentative plans for a "bigger and better" celebration this year.

The date has been set for Saturday, October 29, to be postponed to Monday evening in the advent of inclement weather, and all of the organizations, business houses and individuals are urged to start preparations for the parade.

Among the additional features that are contemplated will be a popularity contest whereby the community at large will choose one of its popular young ladies as "Miss Moorestown" to act as queen of the celebration. The method by which the most popular girl will be determined has not been decided as yet, but will be announced within the next few days, according to present plans. It has been definitely decided, however, that it will not be through a beauty contest. The important factors in the decision will be popularity throughout the town, character, personality and poise. In other words, a girl who is representative of this splendid town and who will add grace and dignity to the celebration, is the fair miss who is sought to rule over the gala occasion as queen.

Prize for "Miss Moorestown"

Last year the most attractively costumed young lady in the parade was picked as the queen and a very charming young lady was chosen in this manner. This year it is hoped to have the entire town spend several weeks in the selection.

The contest will close in time to give the fortunate damsel who is chosen for this honor ample opportunity to prepare for the festival. It is also hoped to award a very attractive prize, in addition to the title of "Miss Moorestown," to the fair winner.

Clarence E. Worrell will be director-general of the celebration and Benjamin P. Rumpeltes, director of recreation, is the assistant director-general. John G. Pettit will be director of finances.

The directors of the celebration are:

John E. Alden, Whitmer Atkinson, Earl Cline, James M. Conroy, Thomas Dugan, George B. Ferrier, William de R. French, Hans Froelicher, Jr.

S. Roger Gale, F. W. Grube, Irving Hollingshead, Edward P. Hyland, J. Alfred LeConey, Steward R. Maines, Ellis McAllister, Philip McChesney.

More Directors

Thomas McDonough, Harry Middleton, John G. Pettit, Jonathan W. Powell, Senator Emmor Roberts, A. K. Salmon, Edward S. Sharpless, Henry H. Stiles, James J. Tomes.

It is expected that there will be a number of valuable additions to this list of directors and many of the business men and other prominent citizens will be asked to head committees and serve in various capacities.

Irving Hollinshead will receive the entrants, Jonathan W. Powell will be in charge of the finances for the parade and Whitmer Atkinson will supervise the lighting and see that the town is properly illuminated for the big community party. John S. Alden will lead the work in determining the line of march and formation and the contest and judges committee is headed by George B. Ferrier.

Steward R. Maines will lead the committee on the solicitation and distribution of awards and J. Alfred LeConey will again be in charge of the carnival which is held on the Community House Grounds in connection with the celebration. James J. Tomes is chairman of the popularity contest committee.

SOME PEACHES

The editor is in receipt of a basket of peaches from Freeholder Charles R. Stout. The peaches are of the Elberta strain and are certainly prize winning for size and coloring. Charlie evidently is as good at growing peaches as he is at building county roads.

RIVERTON LOSES TO CUBANS; WINS FROM MERRILL, MONDAY

Defeated 9-3 in Fast Game; Will Play Pensauken This Week

FOUND MERRILL PROS. EASY ON LABOR DAY

The Riverton Base Ball Club took on a big task last Saturday in a game with the Cuban Stars of the Eastern Colored League. The Islanders defeated Riverton 9-3. This is the first game in twenty that Bearint has lost pitching for the Riverton team. Pensauken defeated the Cubans by a big score last week but the Riverton aggregation will take on the Pensauken nine on the local field this Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Riverton now has a combination that is hard to beat and a great battle is all set for this Saturday afternoon.

Play by Play

Alfonso, lead-off man for the Cubans, clubbed Bearint's first pitch into deep left for a triple. Mesa hit a long sacrifice to Johnny Hughes in center. Baro singled and took second when Bearint's foot slipped off the slab and he failed to deliver the ball. Dihigo hit a ripping single scoring Baro, and went to second on Oms' fly to Reds Young. Fernandez flied to Hoffman.

The home boys went down in order, Johnny Hughes flied out to Mesa. Dihigo caught Brogan's liner to short and Rodrigues tossed Hoffman out at first.

The Cubans went down in order in the second, Koerner throwing Crespo out at first. Reeves gathered in Pedrero's grounder and tossed him out at first. Rodrigues grounded to Miller at first, Bearint covered the sack and got the put out.

Miller walked to start the home half of the second. Bearint slashed a fast one for one bag over second. Koerner skied to Fernandez. Linton fanned. Rodrigues tossed Young out at first.

Cubans Score Three

Alfonso fanned. Mesa bunted safely. Baro lifted one to Koerner. Dihigo singled, sending Mesa to third and then stole second. Oms singled, scoring Mesa and Dihigo. Fernandez and Crespo singled scoring Oms, and Pedero flied out to Brogan.

In the fourth Rodriguez was thrown out, Bearint to Miller. Alfonso airplaned one to Brogan. Koerner threw out Mesa.

Miller lifted one to left which Dihigo ran out and caught. Bearint rifled another through second and Koerner slammed one for a base. Linton walked, filling the sacks. Young hit to Dihigo who threw to Alfonso, Linton being out on a forced play, but Alfonso failed to throw to first to complete a double play. Bearint and Koerner scored and Young took second and scored on Reeves single. Alfonso was standing in Linton's way as he was running to second and as Alfonso turned to throw to first Linton hit Alfonso's arm to keep Alfonso from hitting him in the face with the ball. Hughes ended the rally by lifting one to Oms in center.

Baro led for the Cubans in the fifth but Bearint tossed him out at first. Dihigo singled. Oms fouled out to Young. Fernandez was tossed out, Reeves to Miller.

Crespo threw out Brogan at first. Hoffman lined to Dihigo. Miller was safe on Fernandez' error but was forced at second on Bearint's infield top. Dihigo to Alfonso.

Sixth Inning

Crespo singled to start the sixth. Pedrero sacrificed him to second with a bunt. Rodriguez hit safely, sending Crespo home. Alfonso singled, sending Rodriguez to third from where he scored on Reeves' error on Mesa's infield hit. Baro lifted a high one to Hoffman and Dihigo fanned.

Koerner flied out to Oms in center. Linton was safe on Crespo's muff. Young forced Linton at second. A bit of comedy crept into the tragedy when Alfonso ran off second base to get out of Linton's way. Only those who saw the episode could appreciate it, as the motions used by the Cuban in clearing out are indescribable. Reeves singled, sending Young to second but Hughes was out at first on Rodrigues' toss.

Scored In Seventh

Oms opened the seventh by flying out to Reeves. Fernandez was safe on Reeves' miscue. Crespo sent him to third with a single. Pedrero lifted a sacrifice to Linton scoring Fernandez. Miller again gobbled a grounder from Rodriguez and tossed to Bearint for the third out.

Brogan and Hoffman flied out to Mesa and Oms respectively. Miller was tossed out at first when Dihigo ran over in back of second to pick up the hit.

Linton caught Alfonso's long fly. Young pulled in Mesa's high foul and Miller put Baro out at first unassisted.

Bearint skied out to Baro. Koerner was hit in the back by a pitched ball. Linton singled. Young lifted out to Baro and Reeves forced Linton at second, Dihigo to Alfonso.

And Again In Eighth

Dihigo singled safely to open the last frame. Oms singled sending Dihigo to third. Fernandez raised out to Brogan but it was not long enough to sacrifice Dihigo home. Crespo was hit by one of Bearint's fast curves filling the bags. Dihigo scored when Brogan dropped Pedrero's fly but Bearint took Brogan's throw and relayed to Young who tagged Oms at the plate. Rodrigues dropped one in front of the plate but Young was awake and threw to Miller to get the last Cuban out.

Hughes, Brogan and Hoffman were thrown out at first by Alfonso, Rodrigues and Crespo respectively.

Dihigo Stars For Cubans

Dihigo was the bright light on the Cuban team. He had four hits, six assists, three put outs and no errors. Crespo was second with

Mount Holly Youth Finds Reckless Driving Not Permitted in Riverton

Last Thursday noon while the Riverton fire trucks were returning from a fire in the workshop of the grounds-keeper at the Riverton Country Club, they were interfered with by Thomas Aaronson, of Ridge avenue, Mount Holly, who dashed past the trucks, clipped the Chevrolet sedan owned by Joseph Flynn, and raced down Main street to Second street where he was overhauled by Thomas Downs, who was driving one of the fire trucks.

Fire Chief Walter Armstrong instructed Frank Goodwin, a special officer, to arrest Aaronson and turn him over to Officer Quigley, who told him to appear before Justice of the Peace Coddington at eight o'clock that night.

At the hearing Chief Armstrong preferred charges of reckless driving, which were substantiated by the testimony of Thomas Downs. Coddington fined the defendant $25.75 including costs.

When Aaronson's arrest and conviction became known in Mount Holly Recorder Joseph Kingdon of that place wrote a letter to Justice Coddington stating that Aaronson had been arrested on July 23 for speeding and passing a car at the turn in a road, and that his last offense should have been punished by revoking his license.

Justice Coddington sent the Kingdon letter to Commission Dill along with his own report of the case.

Palmyra A. A. Wins Two Holiday Games

Colored Giants Defeated by 3-0 and 2-1 in Double Header

The Palmyra Field Club Ball Park was the scene of battle Labor Day between the Palmyra A. A. and the Palmyra Giants, the Palmyra A. A. winning the town championship by defeating the colored Giants in a double-header. The A. A. boys also downed the Giants earlier in the season by an 8 to 1 count.

"Lefty" Reber pitched the first game for Jim Rapp's clan and won via the shutout route, 3 to 0, holding the heavy-hitting colored stars to six scattered bingles and striking out 16. The contest was witnessed by a large holiday crowd.

The features of this game were the pitching of Reber and the hitting of Sammy Rodgers, who had two safe clouts to his credit. Rodgers also tallied one of Palmyra's three counters, all of which came in the first round and put the game on ice.

Win Second Game, 2-1

The Palmyra A. A. again gained an early lead by scoring in the second inning of the second game and tucked the game away, 2 to 1. The winners made their second run in the eighth inning.

When the Giants scored a run in their half of the eighth frame it marked 16 consecutive innings that Rapp's combination held the colored boys scoreless. This contest was another pitcher's battle between G. Cherry and Harder.

Cherry starred with his pitching as did Griffenberg in centerfield with five putouts. Another feature of this game was the hitting of Buchholtz, who added two doubles to his long line of hits. Rogers added two more hits during the afternoon.

Dill Airs Views on Tipsy Driving

State Vehicle Commissioner Believes That No Penalty is Too Severe

"Each week reveals a large number of autoists suspended because they operated an automobile when they were under the influence of liquor. I believe no punishment is too much for the drunken driver, and heartily approve of the rule barring those operators from using their cars. I would like to know if jail sentences are being given to drunken drivers. I recall that many were sent to jail a few years ago, but I have not read of such punishment this year," said William L. Dill, State Vehicle Commissioner, last week.

"The number of licenses revoked for intoxicated drivers is increasing weekly, thus indicating our inability to successfully cope with drunken drivers, while liquor is so easily obtainable. In 1926 the Legislature amended the law so as to give magistrates discretionary power in the matter of imposition of a penalty for a conviction. Although this discretion is quasimandatory in that the penalty must be a fine of no less than $200, or thirty days in jail, for a first offense, and the revocation of the licenses for a period of two years, and six months in jail and no fine, and the permanent revocation of the licenses for the second offense, until March 26, 1926, the only penalty for driving a car while intoxicated where a conviction was obtained was a sentence of at least thirty days in the county jail or workhouse of the county in which the crime was committed. So many appeals, however, were taken to set aside this mandatory incarceration that the 1926 statute was urged.

"The $200 penalty very frequently remains unpaid, in which event the defendant must serve one day in jail for every dollar of the unpaid fine, in the aggregate not to exceed ninety days. As a result more jail sentences are being obtained under the new law, and there are fewer reversals on appeal than heretofore.

"The Department of Motor Vehicles believes that the drunken driver is a potential murderer, and no penalty is too severe. The New Jersey law dealing with the subject is probably more drastic than the law of any other State, and will successfully outlaw the drunken driver, if it is possible to outlaw bootleg liquor."

Cranberry Crops 50 Percent. Short

Due to Late Frost, Only Half of Last Year's Quantity Anticipated

Reports received at a meeting of the American Cranberry Growers' Association, held in the Pig'n Whistle Inn, Brown's Mills, recently, are that the cranberry crop of the United States this year will be about one-half that of last year, when it was approximately 750,000 barrels. In every berry-growing section the indications are a much-shortened crop. High prices, of course, will result from the shortage.

New Jersey prospects are 85,000 barrels are compared to 220,000 in 1926, which is a tremendous falling off. The Cape Cod district reports a crop estimated at 350,000 barrels, approximately half that of last year, and Wisconsin, which in 1926 produced about 60,000 barrels, this year estimates only 25,000 barrels, of which late reports are, that 5,000 barrels have been nipped by frosts this month. These estimates were presented at the meeting by H. B. Weiss, statistician, from government reports. The cause of the decrease was heavy frosts late in May and early in June, at which time the temperature in the New Jersey bog section fell as low as 24. The same cause is assigned in other sections.

Mr. Hadley, of Wisconsin, delivered an address on the False Blossom on Cranberry Vines, which is causing trouble for growers. The blossom grows at the top of the vines and, as indicated by its name, forms no berries.

Prof. T. J. Headlee, state entomologist, spoke about mosquitoes, referring especially to efforts that are successfully being made in New Jersey to exterminate the pest.

Theodore H. Budd, of Pemberton, president of the association, presided at the meeting and read a valuable paper relating to organization and co-operation of growers.

After the banquet, which was served to about one hundred growers and guests, the party went on a tour of inspection of packing machinery and drying processes being used at the bogs of County Clerk William H. Reeves, on McDonald's branch of the Rancocas creek, above Upper Mill, and the bogs of Haines Brothers, at Hog Wallow, below Chatsworth.

AUTOS KILLED 91 IN N. J. IN JULY

Toll One Increase Over Year Ago; 47 Were Pedestrians

Automobile accidents claimed 91 victims in New Jersey during July, according to a report by the State Department of Health. Of that number, 47 were pedestrians. The toll is an increase of one over July, 1926, when auto fatalities totaled 90.

There were 3,833 deaths from all causes in New Jersey during July, 179 being deaths of non-residents. Suicides numbered 47, as compared with an average of 40 for the preceding twelve months.

Diseases of the circulatory system continued to top the list of causes, being responsible for 646 deaths. Cancer was the cause in 376 cases and tuberculosis in 227 instances. Bright's disease took a toll of 242. Not a single case of scarlet fever was reported during the month.

A total of 309 deaths occurred among children under one year old and 125 deaths among children between one and five years old. There were 1,212 persons over 60 years old who died.

60 DAYS TO RUN OVER CONTINENT

Levett in Most Severe Test of Human Endurance Ever Undertaken

It will require 100,000 steps a day, or a total of 6,000,000 steps to carry Levett, the "Human Dynamo," the 3,157 miles he must travel on his transcontinental endurance run on which he left Los Angeles for New York September 1, and he will be obliged to lift 800 tons each hour of every running day.

Levett weighs 155 pounds. In running he must be off his toes three times every second as he takes 180 steps of 48 inches each minute, or 10,800 per hour. He also uses the same number of arm strokes, as there must be constant rhythm between his legs and arms. With this reckoning, it requires 7.33 minutes for one mile, or 8.18 miles per hour, which has always been his rate in running events. At this rate of speed it will require 385.94 hours of running time from Los Angeles to New York, or an average of 6.43 hours daily to make the distance in his scheduled time of 60 days from September 1 to November 1.

Levett must lift his own weight each step, 800 tons each hour, 6,200 tons each running day, or 316,200 tons—the displacement of 10 first-class battleships on this run from ocean to ocean. It is a most wonderful test of human endurance. Levett has the heart and the will, and declares he will win.

A Dodge Brothers sedan that accompanies Levett on his run is used as official press and scout car. Although accustomed to a heartier pace it travels smoothly throttled down to the speed made by the runner as he jogs off the 3,157 miles.

New Low Price For Imperial Landau is Announced

A new low price for Chevrolet's latest and most beautiful model, the Imperial Landau, which now lists at only $745 f. o. b. Flint, Mich., has been announced by R. H. Grant, Vice-president in charge of sales of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

This reduction was made possible by volume production growing out of the tremendous demand on the part of the public everywhere for this "Most Beautiful Chevrolet" when it was first introduced in May of this year, Mr. Grant explained.

"Seldom has the industry seen the warm and enthusiastic public response that greeted the initial offering of the Imperial Landau, which at that time was priced at $780," Mr. Grant stated. "The output for this model far exceeded the production schedule.

"This great volume spelled manufacturing economies that the public will share in because of the lowered price effective today. In addition to making our newest model available to a wider field of prospective motorists, the reduction is further evidence of our aim to build the best possible popular priced car at the lowest cost consistent with sound merchandising principles.

"The new low price on the Imperial Landau gives us a complete line of cars consisting of seven passenger models and two commercial types ranging in price from $395 for the half-ton truck chassis to $745 for the Imperial Landau."

Reckless Drivers Held for Court

Eli Brown and Edward Bauer Also Had Liquor in Car

Eli Brown and Edward Bowers, of Riverton, were held under $250.00 bond for the grand jury at a hearing before Recorder Enoch Johnson Thursday night in the town hall, Riverside, on a charge of possession of liquor. Charges of reckless driving and driving without a license were also placed against Bowers. The two men were unable to provide bond and were confined in the Riverside jail.

The arrest of the two men by Chief Hahner and Officer Ellis, of Delanco, followed a chase which was made by the Beverly officers through the Beverly streets and down the River Road to Delanco.

Howard Dare, of Bridgeboro, who was driving to Burlington with his wife and four children, met Brown and Bowers on the Pike just above Beverly. Bowers was driving the car and was zigzagging all over the road. Dare was forced to drive off the road to keep his car from being wrecked and, believing that the men were drunk, turned his car and pursued them down the road towards Beverly. As the Bowers car neared Beverly a woman driving a Ford sedan was forced to drive her car into the ditch to keep from being hit.

Finally Arrested

Dare notified the Beverly police and the chase after the reckless driver was on. The chase led over the Beverly streets but the police lost track of the car. Dare was not ready to give up and started down the River road. Just before he reached Delanco he saw the car again. He drove past and raced to Delanco where he notified the officers. Chief Hahner and Officer Ellis made the arrest. The prisoners were locked up in the Riverside jail until Recorder Johnson could give them a hearing. When the car was searched two bottle of liquor were found in the car, one full and one half empty.

Dr. Maul was called and examined the prisoners. He said that the men were under the influence of liquor, but that he could not say that they were drunk.

No Driver's License

After the men were arrested Bowers could not produce a driver's license, but said he had left it at home. The car which the men were driving belonged to Herman Denneler, mail carrier at Riverton, and they said the car had been borrowed from him. Denneler was notified and when he went to Riverside he said the car had been stolen. Denneler was gunning for rail birds along the river and had left his car parked on the road. When he returned it was gone.

Denneler is acquainted with the two men and as it was not damaged and serious charges had already been preferred against them he refused to press the charge of stealing the car.

It developed at the hearing that Bowers, who claimed to have a driver's license at home, had had his license revoked two years ago and has never gotten it back. Recorder Enoch Johnson ordered the two men placed in the Riverside jail and as the officers started to comply, Brown suddenly jerked loose and attempted to hit Dare, the man who caused the arrest. The officers caught him and after a brief struggle he was locked up with Bowers.

In June last year, Bowers and Brown figured in an automobile accident as a result of which Bowers was fined $200 and had his license revoked, and Brown was fined $75 by Justice of the Peace Coddington. At that time they ran into a bus and wrecked the car they were driving. They had been drinking.

August Wettest in Thirty Years

Eli Brown and Edward Bauer Caught Joy Riding in "Borrowed" Car

St. Swithen is all wet!

The familiar belief that if it does not rain St. Swithin's day there will be a dry spell for forty days is receiving an awfully black eye. It did not rain July 15, but—

August has hung up a record for rain, humidity and cold that has weather dopesters searching records back to 1892 to find its equal. Only twice, in 1911 and 1897, do the records reveal wetter Augusts.

"August has been like September," said one of the government weather men. "It has been consistently cool all summer. We have also had extremely high humidity, probably breaking all records for this section. Whether this is due, as some suggest, to a lack of planting trees, which absorbs much moisture from the air, I cannot say.

"This certainly is the wettest and coolest August we're had in many years. Look back to the records of 1897 and you will find a more rainy month, but you will not find a month so wet in very recent years."

August has recorded 10.67 inches of rain. In August of last year these were 5.03 inches and in the same month in 1925, 1.22 inches.

"The driest August on record was in 1916, with .27 of an inch of rain. The wetter summer month was July, 1897, which established a record of 19.09 inches. In the storm of July 28, 1897, from 1.35 to 10.45 p. m., 7.67 inches of rain fell. Between 5 and 6 o'clock 1.45 inches came down, breaking all records for one hour and doing great damage.

"Another wet August was in 1911 which had 10.26 inches.

"July, 1898, records show 10.29 inches of rain. Records for 1905 to 1927, except 1911 as already noted, show only one August with seven, two with six, two with five, and one with four inches of rain. All others had lesser amounts."

Eldridge Reeves Johnson Now Owner of Handsome New Yacht

Craft Recently Purchased by Moorestown Millionaire Last Word in Comfort and Luxury; On Initial Voyage

One of the most magnificent seagoing yachts ever built in America steamed lazily from her Camden anchorage down the Delaware, Wednesday of last week, enroute to Quebec and Montreal.

On the bridge, with the skipper, stood the craft's new owner—Eldridge R. Johnson, former president of the Victor Talking Machine Co., who has been restfully living in retirement since he sold his great factory, a year and a half ago.

Mr. Johnson recently purchased the palatial yacht from Jesse L. Livermore, noted shipping man and broker, of New York, at a price said to exceed a half million dollars. The voyage on which Mr. Johnson and his family left last week is the maiden trip under the flag of the new owner.

Besides Mrs. Johnson, the owner's son, Eldridge R. Fennimore was aboard. The party were to be joined at Montreal by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shumaker, the former being the successor to Mr. Johnson as president of the Victor.

"The Caroline," as Mr. Johnson named his yacht after his mother, was formerly the "Atheroo II." She is 172 feet long, with a gross shipping weight of 582 tons. Two 800-horse-power Bessemer Diesel oil burning engines can develop a speed of 14 knots. Enough fuel can be stored in the tanks, in the hold, for a voyage to Europe and return.

Former Vanderbilt Skipper

Captain Andrew H. Peterson, for 11 years skipper of Cornelius Vanderbilt's auxiliary schooner, "Atlantic," has been commissioned by the former Victor chief to command the "Caroline." Captain Peterson has a crew of 24 men to sail the new vessel.

"It's as pretty a private yacht as there is afloat," Captain Peterson, a bronzed though comparatively young man, said.

The boat was launched from the ways of George Lawley Sons, Boston, in June, 1926. By October of 1926 she had been completely equipped with sailing machinery. She was then taken to New York for the interior decorations of the guest quarters. The vessel, built according to the plans of Henry Gielow, of New York, cost $750,000.

The yacht has made only one extended trip lasting five months. She left New York in December, visited the West Indies, Miami, Havana, and other southern ports and returned in April. She weathered some severe storms in her trip between Havana and Nassau. Most of the time since that voyage she has been cruising between New York and Philadelphia.

The Caroline carries provisions to last the crew and guests, three months. A two ton refrigerating machine makes ice for three large ice boxes. In one of the ice boxes the temperature is regulated to preserve the vegetables, the other two ice boxes are for preserving fresh meat. The dry storage room consisting of canned goods, coffee, potatoes, cereals and crackers, looks like a grocery store.

The Johnson yacht has six large and beautiful furnished staterooms for guests. Each has a white tile bathroom adjoining.

Luxurious Appointments

The dining room, living room and smoking room have been equipped in the most luxurious fashion by the Herter Looms, Incorporated, a decorating firm in New York. On each side of the fireplace in the living room are built-in book cases extending from floor to ceiling. There is space on the shelves for a large library. An interesting and appropriate seascape of two old battle ships in combat has been hung over the fireplace. The living room contains beautiful divans and chairs upholstered with colorful tapestries. Grotesquely carved smoking tables and standing lamps add a subtle touch of luxury. The baby grand piano in the corner does not crowd the room space.

The smoking room is of a most unique design. A pale green map of the world covers the four walls. In the center of the floor is a mosaic in black, white and green which represents the face of a nautical compass. The room has been furnished with upholstered chairs and couches to match the color scheme.

The quarter deck has been decorated in yellow and blue. There are three large deck rugs cut to fit the lines of the craft. All the wicker furniture, deck chairs and pillows are covered with cretonne of yellow and blue design. A wide bench, covering the entire stern of the vessel is equipped with large cushions and dozens of pillows.

The dining room is of Old English design. It has a beamed ceiling, dark paneled oak walls hung with tapestries and furnished with Jacobean period chairs, tables and cabinets.

Outside of the dining room is a small pantry, where the guest china is swung from shelves to prevent it from breaking in rough weather. The meals are sent up on a dumb waiter from the kitchen below. There is a small ice box for storing the immediate dinner necessities.

Kitchen Suggests Hotel

The kitchen is equipped like those of modern hotels. It has a ten-foot long oil-burning range, large ice boxes and plenty of shelf room for storing supplies. The room is well ventilated by an electric cooling system.

The electric power for lights, vacuum cleaner, electric irons and auxiliary gear motors is furnished by two 40 kilowatt generators.

The crew consists of Captain Peterson, two mates, chief engineer with two assistants, steward with three assistants, chef, second cook, two messmen, seven sailors, three oilers and a wireless operator.

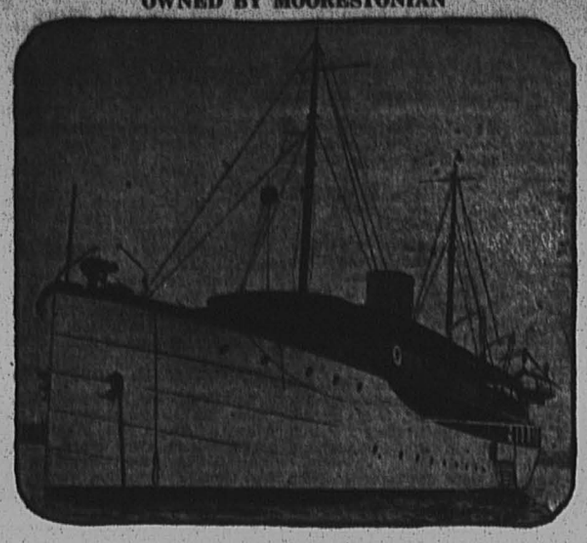

"Mr. Johnson is a good sailor and ought to enjoy his trip a great deal," said Captain Peterson.

100,000 PONTIAC CARS PRODUCED

Phenomenal Record of Popular 'Six' For Last Year Already Shattered

More than 100,000 Pontiac Six cars have been produced and sold so far this year by the Oakland Motor Car Company—approximately 24,000 more than were sold during the entire year of 1926 when this car was introduced and broke all previous sales records for any new make of car during the first year of production.

In fact the entire production of the previous year—slightly more than 76,000 Pontiac Sixes — had been exceeded at the end of the first half of this year, when a production of 78,138 Pontiac cars had been reached. These figures are in addition to the production of the Greater Oakland Six and the new Oakland All-American Six, recently introduced.

Never before has such an avalanche of orders for Oakland Sixes poured into the factory as followed the introduction of the Oakland All-American Six. Production on this model seems destined to establish new records. The longer wheelbase, increased size and larger engine, together with new Fisher bodies and mechanical features—all at lower prices—have given tremendous impetus to Oakland sales, which together with the steady demand for Pontiac Sixes—stimulated by recent price reductions and new color combinations—promises to keep the Oaklanad factories humming until well toward the end of the year.

OCKANICKON GIRLS CAMP BIG SUCCESS

Y. W. C. A. Education Program Was Well Demonstrated This Summer

Through the generosity of the Camp Committee of the YMCA of the four counties, Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Monmouth, it was possible for two hundred and sixty girls from these same counties to enjoy the attractive camp at Ocknaickon. It was a demonstration camp showing leaders as well as girls how the educational program of the Young Woman's Christian Association is carried out in camp life. Each girl received personal attention from carefully chosen leadership, and much time was gvien to instruction in swimming, boating, nature study, handicraft, dramatics, games and music.

From a business point of view the camp also can show a good record. Practically all the bills have been paid and there is a sufficient amount of money in the treasury to pay the few remaining bills, which have not yet been received. The two directors are to be congratulated on their fine business management.

We greatly appreciate the interest of all those who helped to make this experience of the girls such a happy one.

This statement was signed by Mrs. John H. Sinex, Mrs. E. G. C. Bleakly and Mrs. Edward Harmer, chairman of the State Committee of Rural YWCA of New Jersey.

Draw Jurors for September Court

Officials Participate in Selections: Record Term is Anticipated at Holly

The grand and petit jurors for the September term of court were drawn last week in the presence of Judge William A. Slaughter by Sheriff A. Engle Haines and Jury Commissioner Charles B. Ballinger.

It is understood that these jurors will have plenty to do between the opening of the September term and the December term, as the list of criminal cases has mounted rapidly and Prosecutor George M. Hillman will have a lot of business to present for consideration by the grand jury and for trial by the petit jury.

There is a report that this will be one of the biggest terms in the county in recent years and the records will be pretty well loaded with violations of the liquor laws. Jurors drawn from this vicinity are:

As the rain causes things to grow, gentleness brings love to life, turns hope into faith, subdues arrogance, brings order out of chaos and understanding to bewildered minds. Gentleness is a subtle power; it is a pervasive influence; it enters freely where bluster is denied.

We strive at all times to give of our time unsparingly, to act with sympathy that is practical, to meet every ethical requirement of our profession.

WE USE THE TELEPHONE

At the end of March, 1927, total money invested in telephone plant and equipment in Our Country was $3,370,000,000. The industry paid annual taxes of $70,637,000.

This huge investment represents about 18,000,000 telephones, practically all of which can be joined together for nation-wide service.

Its securities are owned by 844,000 people, made up of 443,300 owners of common stock, 155,700 owners of preferred stock, and 245,000 owners of bonds. Eliminating duplications where the same person owns more than one kind of security or the securities of more than one company, it is estimated that the telephone industry is owned by over 700,000 individuals, of whom 74,586 are employes of the telephone companies.

America leads the world in many activities but its telephone system is so far ahead there are no comparisons.

* * *

ISN'T IT SO?

If you hear a man praising the work of the Chamber of Commerce, you will know that his dues in the organization are paid and that he is working with the organization to help improve his town; if you hear a man complaining about the Chamber of Commerce, the chances are he is not a member or his dues are not paid and he is doing practically nothing himself in the way of service—he is expecting others to do what he isn't doing.

THE DIFFERENCE

In a number of particulars editors are different from doctors. One of them is that when a newspaper man makes a mistake all his readers know about it and there is little chance to step from under. When a doctor makes a professional blunder he is very apt to bury it with his patient. —Exchange.

AND THERE ARE SLICKERS

In the 10 years just past, emperors have fallen and nations have risen and the flapper has come and gone. Hairpins have been consigned to the museum, the Kaiser has been forgotten, knees have become merely joints and not exhibits, the open car as an institution has disappeared from the middle west. Civilization has manifested her gentle urge in a thousand ways. And there are slickers.

Picture a rainy day 10 years ago: Huddled forms rushing up and down the sidewalks under inadequate umbrellas; forms wearing dismal last season's clothes, looking as dreary and dark as the day and carrying spirits sunk into their rubbers. Think how you felt in those days, flailing an antique suit or your darkest dress out of the back closet, digging up a pair of rundown oxfords, and dragging into your office with all the exhilaration and entrancing appearance of a semi-drowned cat. Or you may have worn a raincoat. Raincoats a decade ago were made for utility. They were stiff, ungainly, and generally the color of wet newspaper.

What a change the fugiting of tempus black, rainy days may bring out the color has brought! In these days of fashionable—sparks and flashes of it darting up and down the streets, scarlet and rose and orchid and canary yellow and lapis blue and half a dozen other shades, with ornamental collars and capes and fastenings for diversion. In 10 years the slicker has come up from barbarism. Humanity, galoshed, gaily-coated and brightly umbrellaed, goes forth with a new psychology under the weeping heavens. And the metropolitan dailies whisper of rubberized crepe de chine.

We have long cherished a theory that wars, suicides and the foreclosure of mortgages are thought up in bad weather. Even Mars must have a sense of the appropriate. And now as the slicker-de-luxe and the permanent wave come along to take away the curse of the rainy day, who knows what gigantic strides civilization, freed from the flood-pathology, may make?

On with the slicker—and long may it wave!—Emporia Gazette. (Kansas).

OUR FLAG

Burlington Legionnaires have undertaken a civic campaign in the interest of the American flag. The veterans urge that better care be taken of flags, that torn emblems be repaired, soiled ones replaced and that they be displayed more generally on patriotic occasions.

This is a movement which is no less worthy because of frequent repitition. Most citizens in a democracy are apt to slight the symbols of liberty. Autocracies and dictatorships capitalize patriotic zeal. Free countries too often ignore it.

Burlington's ex-service men deserve hearty support in their attempt to glorify the national emblem. The flag is a mute reminder of all that Americans hold dear. It should not be accorded the shabby, inconsiderate treatment which it often receives.—Trenton Times.

THE G. O. P. ELEPHANT

On November 7, 1874, the first "Republican elephant" cartoon appeared in Harper's Weekly. The cartoon depicted the collected animals of the forest, representing various papers, states and issues being frightened by a donkey in a lion's skin crying "Ceasarism." The elephant depicting the "Republican Vote," stood on the verge of a pitfall loosely covered by deceptive planks.

In this manner the elephant became the chosen emblem of the Republican Party.

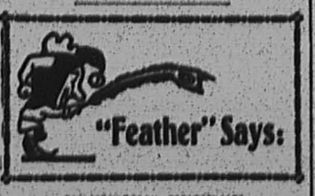

This cartoon was rapidly followed by others, similar in nature until the elephant became permanently identified with the Republican party. In choosing the elephant to represent the Republican party, Nast is reputed to have conceived the idea from innumerable anecdotes showing the sagacity of the animal. Its ability to extricate itself from any predicament despite its enormous size is frequently emphasized.

HARD-BOILED ALTON

Aimee McPherson's show was a flop in Alton, (Ill.) She trotted out her trick performers, her red banners, her white robes and all the other paraphernalia, her famous voice played on the spectators with all the cadences of an Aeolian harp, and her out-stretched arms figuratively embraced everybody along the river from Wood River to Clifton Terrace.

But Alton which usually gets the road shows that appear in St. Louis, is up on things dramatically. It refused to kick in. Aimee McPherson's last financial statement, issued after she had put on five performances, showed that Alton had contributed only $615. This is only a little more than $100 a day, matinee and evening, while in Chicago the Titan-haired beauty from Los Angeles knocked them off to the tune of $1000 per evening.

Hard-boiled Alton was too much for Aimee. She had left it to stew in the juices of Satan and to boil in the bouillon of Beelzebub. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FOCUSING ENERGY

In one of the laboratories of Washington there is a great sun glass that measures three feet across.

It is like the burning glass we used to treasure when he were boys, only much larger. This great glass gathers the rays of the sun that strike its flat surface and focuses them on a single point in a space of a few feet below. That single point is hotter than a blow-torch. It will melt through steel plate as easily as a red-hot needle burns through paper.

This terrible heat—it can not be measured, for it melts all instruments, is just three feet of ordinary sunshine, concentrated on a single point. Scattered, these rays are hardly felt—perhaps just pleasantly warm; concentrated they melt adamant.

The same principle applies to human endeavor. Scattered, a man's energies do not amount to much; once they are all focused on the task in hand, seemingly tremendous difficulties, like snow on a hot stove, melt away.

Get the habit of concentrating when you start to do a thing—throw on all the steam you have and focus everything on the task in hand. Remember that three feet of ordinary sunshine concentrated will burn through anything.

—Roger W. Babson.

Within New Buick Foundry—Most Modern in World

Lower Left: Aisle in main building showing central conveyor which brings cores from core room in distance. On either side are mold conveyors on which core and flask are assembled. These lines move toward foreground of picture, where pouring occurs.

Upper Right: Pouring engine castings. Note that workmen merely guide operations, ladles being suspended from electric hoists running on monorails above. Two big ladles, on electric overhead trucks which brought them from cupolas, may be seen in background. The pouring workmen are on a moving platform which keeps pace with the conveyor carrying the flasks. Note the conveyor entering steel hood which shields the room from the castings' blazing heat and gas after pouring.

Upper Left: The maze of cooling conveyor which "kills time" between foundry and cleaning plant, giving hot castings time to cool before they are handled. It doubles back and forth, huge castings hanging from it every few feet. With the portion inside the buildings, it is 4½ miles long.

Lower Right: Core making with modern pneumatic equipment. Core sand is delivered to the benches automatically by conveyor, and finished cores are carried to core ovens and thence to core assembly by conveyor racks at left.

Center Inset: The six big cupolas are charged mechanically, as shown here. The hoist at right hauls loaded bucket up from loading platform below, pushes it into the cupola, and dumps it.

LABOR DAY GAME

The Labor Day game was more to the liking of the Riverton folks in that Riverton won by an 8-3 score.

Shortstop Reeves had two doubles and a single, Bearint had one two-bagger and two singles and Miller, the first sacker, had a homer and a single.

Babe Ruth has nothing on our "Bing" Miller when it comes to socking 'em.

All three of Riverton's outfielders made spectacular catches in the Monday game.

Fisher, of the Merrill Pros. started the fray by fanning. Altman and Glatt were tossed out at first by Reeves.

Hughes started Riverton off by walking. Hughes stole second and went to third when Foreman dropped Butler's throw. Brogan singled, scoring Hughes. Foreman threw Hoffman out at first, after getting Koerner (who ran for Brogan) at second. Miller was safe on Glatt's error. Bearint hit a ripping two bagger, scoring Miller from first. Koerner was safe on Schneider's miscue and Bearint went to third. Bearint scored when Schneider muffed Linton's hit. Linton stole second. Foreman threw Young out at first.

Mauridian fouled out to Young to open the second. Butler singled and scored on Foreman's double. Foreman took third while Bearint was tossing Edelstien out at first. Schneider was safe on Koerner's muff, but Koerner made good on the next one, getting Walbaums at first.

Reeves pried the lid off for the Riverton team in the second with a two-ply wallop. Hughes was thrown out at first by Foreman. Brogan missed three. Mauridian gobbled Hoffman's fly to left.

Altman muffed Miller's hit and Glatt misjudged Bearint's sock, Miller going to third. Bearint stole second. Koerner skied to Foreman and Linton to Edelstein. Foreman against threw Young out at first.

Merrill Pros. Add Two

Hoffman's throw beat Mauridian to first. Butler was safe when Koerner dropped his hit. Butler attempted to steal second and Young played for him but threw wild and Butler continued to third. Foreman hit to Reeves who threw Butler out at home allowing Foreman a base hit on a fielder's choice. Edelstien and Schneider singled, scoring Foreman. Edelstien scored when Hoffman muffed Walbaum's infield tap. Fisher fanned.

Reeves singled for Riverton in the fourth. Hughes sent Reeves to second with a single. Brogan was safe and the two runners already on base moved up one when Altman let Brogan's tap go through him. Hoffman sacrificed Reeves home but Walbaum relayed Fisher's throw, getting Reeves at home. Heavy-hitting Miller came to bat and slammed one across Seventh street for a homer, scoring Koerner, (running for Brogan) ahead of him. Foreman gathered in Bearint's hit and threw him out at first.

Altman lifted one to Linton, Bearint threw out Glatt at first. Mauridian flied to Brogan.

Riverton Gets Two More

Koerner and Linton singled. Young pushed them around with a sacrifice bunt. Reeves hit another double, scoring Koerner and Linton. Reeves stole third. Altman tossed Hughes out at first. Brogan singled and Reeves came in but failed to tag home plate. Orcutt called him out but as there was no forced play Reeves was not out unless tagged by the ball. However Orcutt refused to change his decision and that ended the frame.

Butler lifted one to Koerner. Hoffman got Foreman at first. Edelstien obliged Bearint by fanning.

Altman gathered in Hoffman's tap and tossed him out at first. Miller and Bearint singled but Koerner and Linton raised flies to Glatt.

Schneider skied to Hughes who made a beautiful running catch. Another Schneider, who pitched after the fifth inning, singled. Fisher fanned for the third time. Altman singled, sending Schneider to second. Schneider took third when Young let one of Bearint's slants get away from him. Brogan made a handsomely spectacular catch of Glatt's fly to right. Brogan was running toward the right field foul line and was reaching for the ball, when, just as he caught it, he lost his balance and fell, rolling over twice but holding the ball.

Young walked to start things for Riverton in the seventh. Reeves raised one to Edelstien in right. Hughes walked after Young stole second. A balk by Schneider moved Young and Hughes around to third and second respectively. Brogan fanned and Hoffman lifted another fly to Fisher.

Mauridian skied to Linton who also made a good catch making a long run for it. Butler got on by Hoffman's error. Foreman singled but Young caught him asleep at first. Edelstien fanned again.

Miller fanned for Riverton in the eighth. Bearint singled and stole second. Koerner sent a short fly to Fisher. Linton fanned, ending Riverton's batting.

Reed, batting for Schneider the pitcher, was put out by Miller unassisted, after Schneider the short stop was tossed out by Hoffman. Fisher walked. Altman lifted one to Linton.

Foreman was the big sticker for the visitors with three hits, one a double. He also glittered afield for the Pros, with five assists and one put-out.

Bearint had three hits, one a two-bagger. Miller had two hits, a home run and a single. Reeves slammed out a trio of hits including two doubles.

Jollies, who started on the mound for the Merrill Pros. was forced to leave before the first inning was over. He attempted to stop a hot liner from Koerner's bat and it knocked the index finger on his left hand out of place and split the finger open. A doctor at the game gave Jollies attention.

Modern Life

A real estate salesman tried to sell a house to a newly married couple. Said the wife: "Why buy a home? I was born in a hospital ward, reared in a boarding-school, educated in a college, courted in an automobile, and married in a church; get my meals at a cafeteria, live in an apartment; spend my mornings playing golf, my afternoons playing bridge; in the evening we dance or go to the movies; when I'm sick I go to the hospital, and when I die I shall be buried from an undertaker's. All we need is a garage with bedroom."—Christian Register.

Lesson for September 11

SOLOMON DEDICATES THE TEMPLE

LESSON TEXT—I Kings, chapter 8. GOLDEN TEXT—I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Worshiping in God's House.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Young Man's Love for God's House.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Love for God's House.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value of God's House to a Community.

The first task of Solomon after his coronation was the building of the temple, a privilege which was denied to his father, David. In his preparation for this task he secured wood from King Hiram of Tyre, stones for the foundations from the Phoenicians, skilled workmen also from King Hiram. It was located on Mount Moriah (II Chron. 3:1). The suitableness of this place was due to the fact that the Lord had appeared here to Abraham. Its dimensions were 90 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 45 feet high. It contained the brazen altar, the laver, the golden candlesticks and cherubim. The dedication of the temple was arranged to take place at an auspicious time. The dedicatory services consisted of:

I. Bringing Up the Ark (vv. 1-11).

The ark of the covenant was typical of Jesus Christ. God dwells among men through Jesus Christ (John 1:14). The ark was God's holy dwelling place. This, therefore, must be brought up first and placed in the temple. For the manifestation of the divine presence was the real dedication. When the house of God was to be dedicated the king arranged for a representative gathering of the people, consisting of the elders, princes and heads of the tribes. There were many great men present, but only the priests, God's appointed ministers, moved the ark. The fatal experience of Uzzah in David's time was doubtless clear in their minds. Solomon profited by the blunder of his father. Connected with this service was a very great sacrifice, one in keeping with the occasion. The ark with the two tablets of stone under the mercy seat shows God manifesting Himself to His people on the ground of a law perfectly kept and since atoned for by the shedding of blood. At the completion of the sacrifice, the temple was filled with the glory of the Lord.

II. Solomon's Address to the People (vv. 12-21).

He points out to the people that God had chosen David to be king, yet for certain reasons He would not allow him to build the temple, promising that his son should do the work. Now that the work was done, the temple was built and the ark of the covenant was in its place, they could be assured that God had raised him up in the room of his father.

III. Solomon's Dedicatory Prayer (vv. 22-53).

The ark having now been placed in the most holy place, and the address to the people being ended, the king pours out his soul to God in prayer. In this prayer Solomon gratefully acknowledges God's goodness in the past, giving glory to Him, and pleads that His promise to his father be verified (vv. 22-26); he prays that God's eyes might be continually open toward the temple which He had now taken possession of (vv. 27-53); so that (1) in case of contention between parties He would judge between them (vv. 31, 32); (2) in case of being smitten by the enemy, even though they had sinned, upon confession of the same, God would forgive and restore (vv. 33, 34); (3) in case of famine as chastisement for sin, upon confession and prayer before the temple, God would forgive and send rain (vv. 35, 36); (4) in case of pestilence and sickness, if they pray to God toward the temple, God should hear and forgive (vv. 37-40); (5) in case of the coming of the foreigner who comes at the news of God's greatness, and prays toward Jerusalem, his prayers should be heard (vv. 41-43); (6) in case of going out to battle, their cause should be maintained (vv. 44, 45); (7) in case of being in captivity because of sin, God should hear their prayers and restore (vv. 46-53).

IV. Solomon Blesses the People (vv. 54-61).

On the strength of the covenant promises, he invokes His presence always with them to keep them faithful, and exhorts the people to have their hearts perfect before God, walking in His commandments and statutes.

V. Solomon and the People Offer Sacrifices of Thanksgiving (vv. 62-66).

Sept. 12 Opening of Zoning Week

State Wide Campaign to Urge Passage of Amendment to Constitution

Zoning Week, in the campaign to win favor for the zoning amendment to be voted on September 20, will open September 12. This was decided at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the New Jersey Zoning Campaign Association at headquarters, Newark.

Committees in various counties of the State will be asked to cooperate and to enlist the aid of service organizations. Although the State headquarters will suggest a program, it will permit county committees to use originality.

The State organization will supply speakers if application is made to headquarters. After the meeting, Walter Kiddie, of Montclair, chairman of the campaign, said the the reports satisfied him that the public is being awakened to the importance of zoning.

John F. O'Brien, chairman of the committee on county organization, announced that seventeen counties have been organized and that work in the remaining four is progressing. Robert S. Dalens, in charge of organizing and Sedley H. Phinney, secretary of the New Jersey League of Municipalities and the chairman of the committee on publicity submitted letters expressing willingness on the part of the officials of many communities to assist in the campaign.

Mayors or their officials of the following places placed themselves on record as favorable to the campaign: Englewood, Morris Plains, Woodbury, Highland Park, Freehold, Seaside Heights, Merchantville, Ocean City, Rutherford, Waldwick, Collingswood, Vineland, Cliffside Park, Trenton, Perth Amboy, Elizabeth, Wildwood, Cresskill, Rahway, Lehola, Somerville, Atlantic City, Nutley, Morristown, Millburn, West Long Branch, Carstadt Plainfield, Ramsey, Teaneck, Caldwell and Maywood.

The committee ordered 10,000 posters and 10,000 tags for automobiles for use in the campaign.

Chambers of Commerce, labor unions and building and loan associations in many communities are back of the amendment.

SNAKE FARM FOR BROWN'S MILLS

100 Acres of Forest Ground to be Used in Raising Pine Reptiles

A number of residents of Brown's Mills announced plans last week for the establishment of a "snake farm" for the raising of Jersey Pine snakes, the skin of which is regarded as the most adaptable for the making of fashionable snake-skin articles, now considered quite the vogue.

The promoters have already secured the estimated price of a hundred acres of forest ground here. Pine snakes are easily acclimated to all conditions of soil and weather, and multiply rapidly. In two years they mature.

The investment is small according to the promoters, the only necessity being a snake proof fence, which would prevent the reptiles from burrowing. It is planned to use close-mesh wire set in a trench three feet deep. The snakes will be offered a menu consisting of white rats, mice and guinea pigs, the propagation of these rodens being prolific. The snakes will be raised in a building within the enclosure. The only other buildings will be an office and a packing room.

The farm will be located west of the Brown's Mills station near the Pennsylvania Railroad.

LAY CORNERSTONE

Ceremonies at New County Hospital This Saturday

The cornerstone of the new Burlington County Hospital at Mount Holly will be laid Saturday afternoon of this week at ceremonies that will begin at three o'clock. This will officially mark the beginning of a new era of hospitalization work in the county and it is expected that the occasion will draw out a large crowd of people from all parts of the county.

The formal exercises will open with an invocation by the Rev. John W. Gummere, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Mount Holly. Introductory remarks will be made by Franklin S. Chambers, of New Lisbon, president of the Board of Council, and then will come an address by Dr. Joseph Stokes, of Moorestown, chairman of the hospital's medical advisory board.

The ceremony attending the actual laying of the cornerstone will be carried through by Miss Lydia M. Parry, president of the Board of Managers.

An address dealing with general hospital work will be made by Charles Evans, of Riverton, member of the Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia.

The principal speech of the day will be made by former Judge Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown. At the close of his speech there will be a benediction by Rev. Father Peter J. Kelly, of Camden, former rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart in Mount Holly.

State Lauded for Care of Children

Federal Department of Labor Praises Work of Board of Guardians

Praise for the New Jersey system of caring for dependent children was given in a recent report of the children's bureau of the Federal Labor Department.

New Jersey the report said, was one of the pioneer States in placing dependent children in foster homes and in boarding children in their own homes under supervision of a state agency.

For the year ending June 30, the New Jersey Board of Children's Guardians was looking after 3,904 children in boarding homes, 1,618 in free homes and 7,804 children in homes in which families were receiving mothers' aid.

The cost for the year was only $1,746,940.89, which covered not only mother's aid, but board, medical care, clothing and administration and supervision as well.

"The accomplishment of the New Jersey Board of Children's Guardians in its efforts to discharge the responsibility of dependent children is a demonstration of what devotion to service, coupled with rare common sense and balanced judgment can do when faced with a task too heavy for its resources," says the report.

1,410,000 Gas and Electric Bills

P. S. Month's Forms Would Extend 50 Miles Past Washington, D. C.

If they were extended end to end the bill forms used each month by the customers' billing department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company in preparing bills covering the consumption of over 1,410,000 electric and gas meters would reach from Newark to a point approximately fifty miles beyond Washington, D. C. Forty-two billing machines, each in charge of a skilled operator, are used in preparing these bills.

In the department where the bills are addressed, five automatic addressing machines, each with a capacity of 1,500 bills per hour, are kept busy. Fifteen graphotype machines make address plate changes for approximately 85,000 meter orders each month. The combined weight of the address plates used for printing the customers' names, addresses etc. on the bills each month is about twenty-four tons.

These and other interesting facts about the customers' billing department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company are contained in a special article by John L. Conover, auditor of the gas department of the company, in the September 1 issue of Public Service News.

"Representatives of well-known office appliance manufacturers have stated that Public Service Electric and Gas Company has the largest single addressing and billing units in this country, if not in the world," Mr. Conover writes.

"The above figures present to the reader some idea of the magnitude of the work done. The department records testify to the accuracy and to the production attained. About seventy per cent. of the bills rendered are for both electric and gas service, while the remainder are for either single electric or single gas service. Bills, together with the ledger record and two coupons, are made up on the billing machines at an average of 180 per hour. Only one error for every 100,000 meters billed escapes the department undetected, which is 1-1000 of one per cent. This record bids fair for the customers' billing department to lay claim not only to the largest billing unit in the world but also to the most efficient."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

W. C. Carver, editor of The Bellingham (Washington) Herald, says:

That you never can build a community unless you have faith in it.

The local history of the nation is checkered with the fruits of faith and lack of faith.

If one city, built on forbidding sands or set in the woods by the side of the road, prospers as the green bay tree, while its neighbor, in a seemingly perfect setting, withers and dies, there must be a reason. Yet the contrast is more than figurative.

Natural resources, ideal scenic assets, perfect climate, edenic fertility of soil—none of these things builds cities.

Cities are built on personality and personality rests on confidence.

The efforts of the individual, plus the efforts of his neighbors in what Kiplin calls everlasting teamwork, are essential, and that effort and that co-operation are absent where there is no vision of constructive results.

Faith has moved mountains on the highway of community building. Have faith!

AN INVISIBLE AUTO FACTORY

"It is not literally true to say that half of every automobile is built in the town where it is sold," says Frederick E. Rein of the Rein Motor Company, "but that rather extreme statement is a figurative axiom.

"If the only service an auto dealer rendered to his locality was to give a bill of sale to the purchaser of a car, there wouldn't be any local automobile dealers. People would buy cars by mail from the factory.

"More and more is the motorist demanding complete local responsibility for the car he buys. More and more is he looking at where rather than what.

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS RELIEVE PAPUAN EXPLORERS

The passenger automobile pioneered the way for adoption of motor vehicle transportation in almost every part of the world but the motor truck now takes over this role in one of the few remaining frontiers of modern civilization.

Graham Brothers commercial cars, in fact, are the first load carrying vehicles of any sort—other than men's backs—to penetrate the cannibal inhabited jungles of western Papua in New Guinea. They are carrying the expedition of Captain S. N. McLean of Burradoo, Australia, to the location of large oil domes recently discovered in the forbidding wilds of this largely unexplored island archipelago.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

GASOLINE AND RUBBER.

CANCER NOT CONTAGIOUS.

VANISHING BOB.

The Rev. Dr. Shailer Mathews, Dean of the Divinity School in Chicago University, says philosophy is of no use in religion, because we cannot analyze our religion, "the greatest moments are felt, you cannot define them in words. There is not a philosophical term in the language or the intellectual processes by which we seek to grasp the meaning of religion."

Philosophy has nothing to do with religion, and religion has nothing to do with philosophy. Philosophy deals with problems that can be solved, or may be solved, by proof, argument, thought. Religion deals with questions entirely beyond our reach, that can be answered only by faith.

Two kinds of good news for automobile owners:

First, you are told that if and when the natural supply of gasoline gives out, synthetic gasoline will be made to take its place.

Second, scientists have discovered a system of bud grafting on rubber trees which should increase the yield of a tree 400 per cent.

It is predicted that the cost of rubber delivered in this country will drop from twenty-five cents to less than ten cents a pound.

Scientists say they can make synthetic rubber as well as synthetic gasoline, but that probably will be postponed, like artificial gasoline making, until natural supplies diminish.

A French scientist proves by careful observation that cancer is NOT contagious. To do away with the false, persistent suspicion is a great blessing. Married couples, living together, one the victim of cancer, do not contract the disease from each other, and cannot contract it. That is proved by reliable statistics.

Paris dressers, realizing that long hair is "coming in," are buying stocks of "transformations," long hair arrangements for women to wear while waiting for bobbed hair to grow.

Short hair is common sense, of course, and, in time, long hair will be as obsolete as a veil over the face.

Long after men had cut their hair, primitive women, let their hair grow long, because, matted with grease, it was a good thing in cold weather.

Long hair seems "feminine" to men. Women do what men want, and the long hair comes back. It will go away again.

At San Toy, mining town in Ohio, Ray Wiggins, annoyed, bit off the ear of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Amanda Taylor.

A mob around the courtroom wanted the man lashed, and the Mayor of San Toy told Wiggins he would quash the charge of "maiming and disfiguring" if he would take the lashing.

Wiggins said "Yes." His back was stripped, he was lashed twenty-one times and everybody apparently was happy, including the mother-in-law. What is the difference between a man that bites off his mother-in-law's ear and a mob that insists on a public lashing?

There is some mild government supervision of the radio. Do the supervisors consider it necessary or desirable that the details, bloody, or otherwise, of prize fights should be sent into homes and listened to by twenty millions of Americans, including children? Would you describe that as making and intellectual, "Christian" and elevated use of a great scientific discovery?

We must have the prize ring, the bloody fights, of course, for those who can afford to pay $125 a ringside seat, just as we must have "speak-easies" for those that can pay $25 a bottle for champagne. But why carry the prize fighting into so many homes?

Don't prize fight promoters realize that radio broadcasting will stop their prize fighting eventually? Clergymen here and there will be aroused as they listen to the interesting fight news coming in over the radio and then there will be trouble. Many clergymen, fortunately, are more interested in things more important to human salvation than Darwin's monkey theory—which, by the way, was never taught by Darwin.

'Tis said that seeing is believing—which no doubt accounts for so many men these days who think they know ALL about women.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Right Inheritance Easy to Give

Most normal men and women live for their children.

Beyond getting what satisfaction they can out of their own lives, they want to see their children get satisfaction out of theirs, they want to see them have a better chance and more advantages than they themselves had.

Just how to accomplish this requires much thought and calls for all our intelligent planning.

It is pretty well established that leaving your children a lot of money does them no good. More wrecks have been caused, more lives ruined and more characters undermined by having things made too easy for children, by giving them too many unearned advantages than by anything else.

It may be safely concluded that if any man has a grudge against his children and wants them to be failures the surest way is to leave them a lot of money.

Thinking people know that other things, such as character and the like, count more than money.

Just how to leave our dear ones what they require is rather difficult.

In the first place, we ought to do what we can to bequeath to them an orderly and law-abiding society, a state in which the laws are respected and obeyed. People, therefore, that countenance bootlegging and other illicit acts which happen to be popular, are working for a state of society which will be inimicable to the coming generation.

The second thing is character. It is our duty to our children to give them a good biological inheritance. This we can do by living clean lives ourselves and, in the final analysis, most of the good we do other people depends on how well we take care of ourselves.

If the children are healthy and strong and normal physically the next thing they need is moral character.

Unfortunately, this is a more difficult thing to come at. Out of many a family with the highest ideals and the most blameless practices can come a descendant who is absolutely lacking in moral stamina. About all we can do is to give as good an example as possible and good teaching. The result then is in the lap of the gods. We can't help it and we are not to blame if the young scion turns out crooked. It is lamentable, but it is inevitable.

Another thing we can leave our children is friendship and association with the right kind of people. This we can only do by associating with the right kind of people ourselves.

The best that can be done, in a nut shell, is to know our children, be companions with them and influence them by our own character as much as possible.

MANY FIRMS PAY AUTO EXCISE TAX

Suspension of Registrations Brings Payment By Seventy-Two Companies

Since the action of Commissioner Dill in suspending the registration of two hundred and three operators of vehicles doing an interstate passenger or merchandise business for failure to pay an excise tax of one and a half cents a mile seventy-two of the offenders have complied with the act of last winter and remitted the tax. As a result their registrations have been restored.

The largest individual tax paid by the delinquents, amounting to $842.80, was turned over by the Tri-State Passenger Lines, Inc., of Mount Holly, and the smallest, amounting to fifteen cents, by W. C. Bonner, Inc., of Philadelphia.

If religion could be put on the automobile basis—with a new model every Fall—the evolutionists might be quieted.

It won't be hard to jump a board bill when we have flying restaurants. Order parachutes now.

IF THINGS GO WRONG, BLAME THE WEATHER

When things go awry, blame it on the weather, says D. S. Landis, poet, philosopher and for 25 years weather observer in Texas for the United States weather bureau.

Temperature and humidity affect the human nervous system, and fluctuations creating nervous activity are reflected in the actions of people over a large area, he believes.

A bright day cheers, raising the spirits of the people, making everyone more congenial and reducing likelihood of friction.

A cloudy day, on the other hand, while a sedative for people of a phlegmatic type, is an irritant to persons of more vital nature and causes unrest and brittleness of temper, according to Landis. He says that police records show that crime, especially suicides, increases on gloomy days.

Periods of drunkenness, brawls, assaults, murders, arson and the like will be found segregated under abnormal barometric pressures, which, in turn, are the offspring of temperature and absolute humidity, Landis believes.

Although hot weather generally causes crossness and irritation where humidity is great, there are sections in the Southwest where the mercury reaches 120 degrees, and the dry heat becomes actually exhilarating, in Landis' opinion.

"A mean temperature of 70 degrees is the best for normal living conditions with an average amount of moisture," Landis said. "Fluctuations from this cause nervous activity.

"It's not always intuition that causes us to do the things we do. Often it's the weather working on our neutral make-up."

BOAT RESTRICTIONS

Owners to Keep Motors Muffled and Limit Speed to Ten Miles

Owners on Deal Lake, Asbury Park, must keep their motors muffled and also limit speed to ten miles an hour. Complaints of residents along the lake shore a few weeks ago caused the police department to place a motorboat officer on the lake. He arrested sixteen operators with open mufflers. The City Commission recently passed an ordinance limiting the speed and ruling the open muffler a nuisance.

Today's foremost luxury---- GAS HOUSE HEATING

WHEN the gas department of Public Service heats the home you and your family will enjoy clean, reliable and self-regulating heating service.

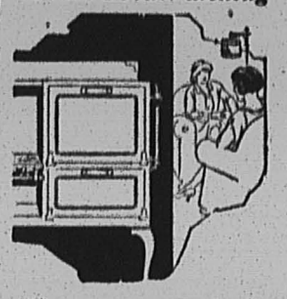

The disagreeable work of shoveling coal, hauling ashes, shaking grates, removing obstinate clinkers, the anxiety to get home for fear the fire "goes out," all these irritations will be banished by the use of gas for house heating.

Gas heating takes its place with the foremost of labor-conserving and comfort-giving conveniences for the home. The luxury of the heating service not only frees you from all furnace worries and gives you adequate heat of uniform degree throughout your home; it, too, transforms the dust covered basement into a usable part of your home.

And, added to these advantages is the sense of security experienced in knowing that in gas you have the safest of all fuels for house heating—odorless, noiseless, and clean.

While gas heating is a luxury of the first order, it is not beyond the means of most home-owners. Public Service house heating engineers will make a survey of your home and give you an estimate on the cost of heating your home with gas. There is no charge for this service.

Take a Vacation From Oven Watching

There is no reason why the home-maker of today should spend time in the kitchen watching her bakings or staying at home to superintend the cooking of a meal. A gas range with an oven heat regulator will measure the heat and automatically maintain any required oven temperature for any length of time.

Even cooking and bakings for picnics and other unconventional meals are simple when you need not watch the oven.

Public Service stores carry many makes of gas ranges with self-regulating ovens—among them ranges equipped with the widely known "Red Wheel"—Lorain Oven Heat Regulator.

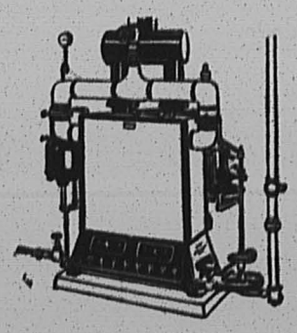

Gas range prices at Public Service include the convenient push button top burner lighter and connection from gas outlet in the kitchen by experienced gas fitters.

The Home Economics Department of Public Service is at the service of all customers who wish advice or instruction in the use of the oven heat regulator.

Longer Hours for Play

When the daylight saving schedule ends late in September, sport-loving folk, business people especially, will find that darkness has fallen before the ninth hole has been reached or the first set of tennis played.

This handicap has been overcome in many places by the use of electricity. Tennis courts, bowling greens, swimming pools, putting greens, and other sport fields may be flood-lighted and thus hours may be added to the sportsman's day.

Hot Water An Aid to Beauty

THE proportion of our yearly expenditures in cosmetics and beauty aids in America convinces one that the pursuit of personal attractiveness is one of our first interests.

The skin specialists tell us that beauty begins with health, and that health is largely dependent on absolute cleanliness.

The convenience of the warm bath when you want it seldom fails to take the strain out of tired nerves and muscles, and to make you glow with a refreshing sense of relaxation.

Self-regulating hot water service can now be had so inexpensively that everyone may enjoy its advantages.

A gas automatic storage water heater in your home is a first aid to health and beauty.

Place your order now and save $6 to $9. The special sale prices are:

15 gallon size—$ 70 cash
20 gallon size— 83 cash
30 gallon size— 104 cash
41 gallon size— 140 cash

Prices slightly more when bought on monthly terms.

A payment of $5 installs the heater—18 months allowed to complete payment.

For Drying Clothes In Stormy Weather

A rainy washday won't upset the schedule of the home-maker who owns a gas clothes dryer. Well-ventilated, the washing comes out of the dryer as fresh and sweet-smelling as when dried in the open. At Public Service stores, $142.50—$13.50 down, $10.75 a month.

All Ready for Coffee Making

Electrically percolated coffee has much to commend it. It is easy to prepare and the method produces a healthful beverage that intrigues you with its aroma, and delights you with its flavor.

A Manning Bowman percolator set, consisting of percolator in urn style, cream pitcher, sugar bowl and tray, shown at Public Service, sells for $17.75.

For the Home First Aid Kit

—an electric immersion heater brings contents of water glass to boiling point in three minutes. Price $9.50 up.

—an electric heating pad. A downy little blanket that adjusts itself to any curve of the body, keeps hot indefinitely—a splendid substitute for the bulky hot water bag. Price $7.50 up.

HOME-MAKING

"We have in baked stuffed onions," says Ada Bessie Swann, "a single dish that contains most of the elements necessary for a well-balanced diet. It is made like this:

6 large white onions
½ cup chopped meat
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. melted shortening
2 tbsp. tomato catsup
¼ cup fine bread crumbs

Parboil onions 15 minutes and drain. Mix meat, salt, pepper, shortening and catsup. Remove centers from onions and fill with the meat mixture. Arrange in a baking dish, cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 1 hour. Remove cover, sprinkle tops with crumbs, dot with small bits of shortening and bake until crumbs are brown.

Light

It's important to fit lamp sockets with the proper Mazda lamps. Choose inside frosted lamps because their light is strong but softly diffused—choose the shape and the wattage suitable for each lighting purpose. 6 Mazda lamps (up to 40 watt capacity) for $1.38.

Scientific Investigations Disclose Healing Properties of Electricity

THE possibilities of electricity as a healer are being revealed through the research work of modern medical science. As investigation goes on, the promise of the healing properties of radioactivity becomes greater. The X-ray, violet ray and other health rays, under various names, are in use daily.

High frequency electricity helps to re-oxygenate the blood, dispel congestion, build up the cells and restore the nervous system to normal. It has been used with good results in relief of many disorders.

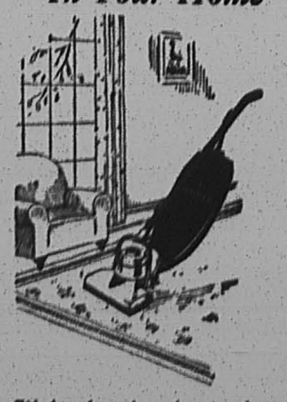

High frequency plays its part, too, as a beauty promoting agent. Its use promotes and stimulates the blood circulation, and helps to build up the facial tissues. It supplies vibratory massage for the scalp.

Violet ray treatments are used sometimes as substitutes for physical exercise, and do good work in this capacity.

Renulite High Frequency Violet Ray is on sale at Public Service stores, and its use has been found beneficial in the treatment of many disorders. Models for private and professional use. Prices begin at $12.50.

Try New Hoover In Your Home

IN these busy days of setting the town house in order, here is a worthwhile suggestion.

Go to the telephone and talk with the Public Service store nearest you. Ask to have the Greater Hoover sent to your home.

Public Service will send a man to clean a rug free of charge for you and show you the new standard of cleanliness that this electric cleaner establishes.

The Greater Hoover out-distances all other cleaners and other methods in efficiency and in protecting the wearing qualities of rugs.

There are two Hoover models with the Positive Agitation feature—No. 143 at $119.50 and No. 700 at $75.

When you decide to buy the Hoover you may do so on our convenient payment plan at only a slight increase over these prices. $5 down—$5 a month and

Public Service will appraise an old electric cleaner and accept it as part payment on the Hoover.

Champions Attend Moorestown Rotary

Director-General Worrell Says Celebration Will be "Bigger and Better"

"Champions' Meeting."

That was the title given last week's luncheon meeting of the Moorestown Rotary Club in the Community House Thursday at noon by Vice-President Clarence E. Worrell, who presided in the absence of President George C. Baker.

And it truly was a champions' meeting. The introduction of visitors revealed there four real honest-to-goodness champions present. And it was purely a coincidence, for no special effort had been made to present a galaxy of athletic heroes, such as was present, to Rotary on that particular occasion.

To head off the list of champions, there was Moorestown's own J. Alfred LeConey, "Al," as he is best known to his host of friends and admirers in his old home town, was not only a national figure in college track work, but won world-wide fame with the last American Olympic team. "Al" was a member of the American 400-meter relay team which won Olympic honors, he gained laurels in the quarter-mile event and while running for Lafayette College established a record for the hundred yards which still stands.

Long Distance Swimmer

In addition to "Al", there was Charles B. Durborow, of Riverton, a champion long-distance swimmer, Benjamin P. Rumpeltes, a football star of much note out around Nebraska, and Moorestown's promising young athlete, Cooper French.

Mr. Durborow, with the exception of Gertrude Ederle and Mrs. Mille Gade Corson, the English Channel swimmers, is probably the most noted of all Uncle Sam's long distance aquatic stars.

On July 1, 1912, he swam around Delaware Capes in 14 hours and 15 minutes and established a record which still stands and may live throughout the ages. He successfully performed another superhuman feat in swimming around Chesapeake Capes on September 6, 1916, and is the only person in the world who ever swam from Riverton to Chester and return.

Rumpeltes Grid Star

"Ben" Rumpeltes, Moorestown's new director of Recreation, starred in football with University of Nebraska. He was an all-conference full back in the North Central Conference which embraces Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin, and has many scintillating deeds on the football field to his credit out in that section.

And "Coop," of course, comes from Moorestown's famous "House of French." "Coop," although just ready to enter college, has brought additional honor to the "House of French" with his sterling deeds in athleticdom, and it is predicted that he will attain still greater heights in the world of athletics. His glorious scholastic record on the gridiron and diamond for Moorestown High School and Staunton Military Academy is the goal for which many school boys will fight valiantly for many years to come. "Coop" was graduated from Staunton last spring and will matriculate to Pennsylvania State College this year.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The return of the pastor from his vacation last Sunday marked the beginning of Fall activity in "Central Baptist." Renewed interest and renewed devotion should be signs of the season.

Tonight (Thursday) the officers of the BYPU meet at the parsonage for a conference to discuss future plans.

At the meeting of the teachers and officers of the Bible School on Tuesday night "rally day" plans were advanced. The last Sunday in September is the day and it is not too early to plan for sure to be present. Plans are also to make rally day a "dollar day" for the nearly-completed building fund. Let's push it over the top!

Pastor Lockett's morning topic on Sunday will be "Knowledge or Wisdom" and at the evening service the pastor will draw some interesting "Lessons From a Summer's Vacation."

"Expect great things from God, Undertake great things for God."

WESLEYAN RALLY

Sunday, September 11th, the Wesleyan Class will hold their annual Rally Day. The vacation season is now over and everyone is settling down to their regular routine. It should be part of everyone's routine to attend some Bible Class on Sunday. The Wesleyan Class is organized especially to take care of this for the men in Palmyra and Riverton who are not actively affiliated with some similar church organization.

The Officers of the Class have been particularly fortunate in securing for their teacher, Mr. Thompson, a former resident of Palmyra who is a natural-born teacher. Having travelled extensively, and spent many years in the Orient, Mr. Thompson is able to illustrate his talks with many interesting personal experiences.

The Wesleyan Class welcomes all men in the community and extends a cordial invitation to them to attend next Sunday morning.

Calvary Presbyterian

Beginning next Sunday, September 11th, all church services will be resumed. Morning worship at 11.00 a. m., Church school at 10.00 a. m., Christian Endeavor Society at 7.15 p. m. and the evening worship at 8.00 p. m.

The mid-week services will also be resumed, each Wednesday evening at 8.00 o'clock.

The pastor will preach both at the morning and at the evening worship next Sunday.

Until the new church building is completed all services will be held in the Church School auditorium. It is new, comfortable and attractive. It opens its doors to all who would worship God. It welcomes any who would come into its fellowship. It declares the full Gospel of Jesus. It endeavors to bring that Gospel into its own church life, and the life of its members. It offers a church home, among God-loving people, to all who truly seek Him.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

Sunday School at 10 in the morning. Theme of lesson: "Solomon Dedeciates the Temple," 1 Kings 8: 1-11. Golden Text: "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord." Your friends and visitors who come from time to time will be glad to hear these words also. There is something about the attendance at God's house which makes one feel he has spent Sunday right. It makes other pleasures more enjoyable. But perhaps the most inspiring thought we can have about the house dedicated to the Lord is to realize that God is there and we are going there to meet him. One who has gladly met God in his house at the appointed hours of worship need not fear to meet God at the portal of death.

At 11.15 regular divine worship, at which hour the pastor will preach upon the subject: "The distinguishing characteristics of a Christian." When is a Christian not a Christian? God only has the right of judging us and setting standards, and he has done this in His word. The aim of the above-mentioned subject will be to show where the Bible draws the line between the Christian and the non-Christian, and to show that there is quite a distinct line. Since the Bible truths only will be used, we may not feel, if we disagree with them, that we are disagreeing with anything any man has written. God has set his own standards, and although men have attempted to charge them, those standards are still held and used by God.

Vesper Service at 7.45 in the evening with a sermon by the pastor.

On September 15, our regular mid-week services will begin. The series of studies this year will be in the parables and miracles of our Lord.

On September 29 the Ladies' Aid Society will hold a Chicken Supper and Bazaar in the basement of our church, beginning at 6 in the evening. A sumptuous meal is to be served at a very moderate price, and all who come may have a jolly time, a good dinner, and an opportunity to buy cakes, fancy articles, and many other practical articles. Come and see, and you will want to stay to buy.

The regular September meeting of the council will be held in the church Monday evening, September 12 at 8.30 p. m. As there are many things to be considered for our autumn program, we should have a good number out.

UNIFORM HEAT

Although the consumer may purchase the correct type of heating plant for his home, and it is correctly installed, properly cared for and intelligently operated, it may still fail to give the desired degree of comfort and satisfaction, if operated by the old method of hand control.

Proper heat regulation is one of the big factors to be taken into consideration. And proper heat regulation can be obtained in only one way, by themostatic control of dampers, drafts and valves.

The Minneapolis Heat Regulator is a dependable thermostatic control. It is sold by Leonard B. Lincoln, Palmyra. Phone Riverton 802.

Firemen's Boxing Matches Sept. 13

Bouts For Benefit of Palmyra Company Will be Held Next Tuesday

Don't forget the First Annual Boxing Match for the benefit of the Palmyra Fire Company to be held at the Palmyra Field Club Grounds next Tuesday evening, September 13.

Some of the coming champs of this vicinity have been secured to take part in this show. The windup is between Mickie Griffin, of Newark, and Mickie Russell, of Philadelphia. This bout is scheduled for eight rounds. In the semi-windup will be seen Young Heppard, of Riverside, who has a score or more knockouts to his credit and Willie O'Neil, of Camden. Although these two men are slated to go six rounds it is doubtful the fight will go the limit as both fighters are sluggers. Both men weigh 132 pounds.

There will be three four-round bouts and two other three-round battles. Jimmie Russell, of Beverly, will mix punches with Battling Wiggins, of Port Richmond, in four rounds as will Joe Joyce, of Philadelphia, and "Ironman Orcutt" of Palmyra. The other four rounder will be between Jote Nickles, of Riverside, and Scotty Morgan of Scotland.

In the first two three-round bouts Peter Hess of Kensington and Jack Sanford of Reading will swap punches. The show will open up with a couple of clever boxers in Young Lenihan, of Mount Holly, and Tommy Delvin, of Maple Shade. Keep this date open, Tuesday, September 13 and come out and see your local boys in action.

COUNTY DIRECTOR OF ROADS REPORTS ON RECENT SURVEY

Agreement Reached With Public Service Concerning Repairs to Right of Way

COUNTY ASKED TO WIDEN BRIDGE AT MAPLE SHADE

Roads, bridges and trolley tracks occupied a considerable portion of the attention of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders in session last Friday.

Charles R. Stout, director of the department of roads, submitted the following report:

"As authorized by this Board, I arranged a meeting with the officials of the Public Service Company and met them at Judge Wells' office in Bordentown on Monday, August 15. Accompanying me to this meeting was the road supervisor and county engineer and the Public Service Company was represented by Mr. Stevenson, Mr. White and Mr. Ford.

"Various matters were taken up with them regarding the conditions of the rails in different sections of the county, as well as the interpretation of the new law regarding the responsibility for keeping the roadway between the tracks in repair. After discussing the matter there was no question but that the responsibility for paving the car tracks rested with the county, excepting in those cases where the poor condition of the roadway between the rails was the result of defective work on the part of the Public Service, or was due to the operation of their trolleys.

Refuses to Sell Land

"The matter of securing the trolley right-of-way from Whittmeyer siding on the Burlington Road to Mount Holly, from the Public Service was also taken up and Mr. Lee, of Beverly, was present during this discussion. The Public Service Company frankly stated that they did not want to sell this right-of-way as they had procured it with the idea of erecting a high tension line between Mount Holly and Burlington in the near future. However, Mr. Lee requested Mr. Ford, who has charge of the real estate division, to present the matter to the operation department, but Mr. Ford felt that under no circumstances would they sell this right-of-way.

"We went over the field conditions of the tracks, going first to Edgewater Park, where the Public Service officials were willing to repair their tracks, bringing them up to the correct grade, and making such repairs to the rails and track conditions that were necessary. When this is done, I have arranged for the road department to put in some bituminous material and put the roadway in a safe condition for the travelling public.

"We then inspected the conditions existing through Beverly and it was agreed upon that certain of these repairs belonged strictly to the Public Service Railway Company while other portions were the county's work. Mr. White is arranging to immediately take care of all portions of the granite block in Beverly that belongs to the Public Service and I have also authorized him to repair the county's portion of this on a basis not to exceed 25 sq. yds. at a cost of $3.00 per sq. yd. The entire amount of this repair will, therefore, not exceed the sum of $75.00.

Cambride Switch Inspected

"From this point we went to the switch near Cambridge on the River road and every one recognized that this ought to be remedied immediately. After discussing this matter fully, the Public Service Railway Company agreed to bring their tracks up to grade at this point, and make all necessary repairs upon it. When this was done the county will have the Road Department put in a penetration macadam base and a bituminous surface.

"Since this meeting the entire work at Cambridge has been completed by the road forces, and very favorable comments have been received from many sources regarding the job, as it has eliminated a very dangerous condition on the River road.

"Beverly granite block paving work was started last Tuesday by the Public Service Railway Company, and should be completed within the next few days.

"Temporary repairs have been made at Edgewater Park, using bituminous patch between the rails, and I feel that this will relieve the dangerous condition at this point until next year. Next year it will probably be necessary to have the Public Service Company re-lay new rails through Edgewater Park, and when this is done a permanent improvement can be made to the roadway between their rails from the Beverly City line to the top of the road at the tunnel in Edgewater Park."

Following this report Director Russ said that the trolley tracks through Beverly were very low, ranging from three to seven inches below the surface of the street, which created a dangerous condition, especially in view of the additional traffic owing to the closing of the Bridgeboro bridge.

Stuart MacFarland, County Supervisor of roads, said that the trolley tracks between Beverly and Delanco should be paved on a grade with the adjoining roadway as the only means of securing sufficient width for traffic in that section.

To Tunnel Under Tracks

Mr. Stout reported as follows on an attempt that is being made by his department to have an underpass constructed under the tracks of the Central Railroad where the new Buddtown road will cross its tracks.

"I desire to report that on Wednesday, August 24th, in company with the supervisor of roads and assistant county engineer, I met with the officials of the Central Railway of New Jersey relative to the construction of an under-pass where the new location of the Buddtown Road, now under construc-

COMMUNITY WELFARE ASSOCIATION MEETS

Cast-off Clothing to be Collected Through Friendship Circle Class

The regular monthly meeting of the officers and directors of the Riverton-Palmyra-Cinnamnison Community Welfare Association was held at the office of the Association 15 E. Broad street, last Thursday evening with George N. Wimer, presiding.

In view of the fact that many men, especially in the building trades, have been on short time all summer, it is expected that conditions this fall and winter may be bad and preparations are being made accordingly.

The Friendship Circle Class of the Epworth M. E. Church Sunday School has been suggested as the agency through which cast-off garments of men, women and children could be collected, and it is suggested that any person in the vicinity who has such garments send them to the office of the Association, where they will be turned over to the Circle to be marked and kept until call is made for them.

While the Association is not making any drive for funds at this time, it feels there will be considerable need in the next few months and charitably inclined persons can make contributions at any time they desire.

Firemen's Carnival Is Big Success

Large Crowds at Riverton Benefit; Many Contribute Articles For Sale

Riverton experienced its first carnival in the history of the town last week when the Riverton Fire Company held a fair at Broad and Thomas avenue.

The firemen conducted a creditable carnival in that the articles on the stands were of good quality and things everyone could use.

The fruits and vegetables which were auctioned off were donated by the farmers in the surrounding country.

Each night of the carnival a ground prize was given to the person holding the third number drawn from the bunch. The person having the number had to be present in order to get the prize. Mrs. Mischner, of Bank avenue, won the first prize Thursday night. It was fancy silk table cover. Caroline Evans was the lucky one Friday night, winning a floor lamp. Mrs. William McDermott won the grand prize, a $100 French rug, Monday night. This prize was held over till Monday because of the rain Saturday night.

The firemen realized enough from the fair to finish paying for their uniforms and to hire the Lyric Band, of Camden to parade in Atlantic City when the local boys will represent Riverton in the celebration to be held there Saturday next week.

Chief Walter Armstrong wishes to thank everyone who aided the firemen in any way toward their success, and for splendid support and cooperation that was shown to the boys in putting over the carnival.

DRIVER FINED

Speeding in Riverton Costs Man His Whole Roll

While Frank Goodwin, a fireman was doing traffic duty at Broad and Thomas, Riverton, Saturday night, he had occasion to blow Francis McLaughlin who was passing at a high rate of speed in his touring car. McLaughlin put up an argument and Goodwin called Officer Walter G. Miller, who placed McLaughlin under arrest. He had a hearing before Justice of the Peace Coddington, who fined him $5 and 55 cents costs.

The Judge was going to make the fine heavier but McLaughlin said that was all he had with him and the court let it go at that.

Goodwin was acting as traffic officer under orders from Walter Armstrong, chief engineer, of the Riverton Fire Company, who had been requested by Director of Public Safety Williams to station a man at this point to take care of the unusually heavy traffic which was caused by the Firemen's Carnival in progress at Broad and Thomas.

RIVERTON YACHT CLUB ELECTS

The House Committee: H. McIlvain Biddle, chairman; Maurice Belknap, Walter Sippel, Reuben Corry and A. G. Hopkin, Jr.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL

Westfield Fall Term Opens on September 22

The Westfield Friends' School will open for the fall term Thursday, September 22. Announcement had been made that the opening date would be Tuesday, September 20, but owing to alterations that are being made in the school building this has been put off until the 22nd. In addition to the extensive enlargement of the building, an entire new heating plant is being installed.

Many applications have been received from children who wish to enter the kindergarten which is being established at the school this year.

The bus for transportation of pupils will leave Riverton daily at 8.15 a. m., and returning leave the school at 12.30 and 2.30 p. m.

Riverton-Florence Seek Championship

Will Open Series of 3 Games This Saturday for Title in Burlington County

This Saturday afternoon the Riverton baseball team opens a three game series with R. D. Wood of Florence to decide the Burlington county championship. Riverton is the independent champions of the county and the Florence boys hold the county league title. The first struggle will take place at the Florence grounds, the second at Memorial Park, Riverton. The place of the third game will be decided later if need be.

The league team is all groomed and set for a hard fight, but Riverton is just as determined to take two of the three games and become the champs of Burlington county. "El" Bearint, Riverton's southpaw hurler has lost only two games in 22 played this year.

The management wants a big crowd from Riverton to go with the team to Florence and ROOT for the home team. They need your support. Those desiring to go at the same time as the team should be at Schneider's Store, Broad and Main streets not later than one o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The boys have played good ball all season on their home grounds. Now it is up to each fan to show his spirit by going to Florence and backing the team to the limit.

Orcutt KO's Cole in Palmyra Bouts

Lody in Great Shape for Scrap with Cole of Philadelphia; Finishes Him in 2nd

The boxing exhibition held Tuesday night of this week by the Palmyra Fire Company was a great success from the stand-point of attendance. Over 2000 people witnessed the bouts.

The first bout between Eddie Higgins and Lenny Reice, both of Philadelphia, was so slow and calm that the crowd yelled for the referee to chase them. Higgins won.

Bob Henderson and Johnny Mahan were chosed from the ring for stalling in the second bout.

The third fight was the most interesting for the local fans. Kid Orcutt, of fame as a baseball umpire, put the K. O. to Steve Cole of Philadelphia in the second round of their battle. Cole had a good opportunity to finish Orcutt while Orcutt was against the ropes but Cole could not land a solid blow. Early in the second round Orcutt went to work on Cole and when he found Cole was going Orcutt kept plugging until he sent him down. Cole got up as far as one knee but stayed there for the fatal 10.

Joe Michaels of Riverside and Joe Joyce of Philadelphia had a tough fight. Michaels opened an old cut on Joyce's left eye and it bled freely. Dr. C. S. Mills did not want Joyce to finish the other two rounds but with a little adhesive tape over the injury Joyce insisted on fighting it out. The decision on this fight goes to Joyce as Michaels went out of the ring many times to save himself from Joyce's hard punches in the last two rounds.

Young Heppard of Riverside and Scotty Morgan of Philadelphia fought to a draw in the semi-wind-up. Both fighters were groggy at times and both landed about the same number of good punches. This bout went four rounds.

The wind-up bout between Mickey Russell, a lightweight of Philadelphia, and Frankie Webb, a lightweight of Roebling, was a hard battle but neither seemed to have a decided advantage over the other at any time. Both gave and took hard punches and both men were tired out by the end of the sixth round. Webb was given the decision on this fight as he was the aggressor at all times, although he took some hard bumps.

Officer Joseph Rodgers of the Palmyra police force arrested Josef Woznicki, of 3021 Tilton street, Philadelphia, for reckless driving up Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, early Monday morning.

Dr. H. W. Bauer examined Woznicki and although he would not say the man was drunk, the doctor said the driver was not fit to operate an automobile. Officer Rodgers said Woznicki was zigzagging up Cinnaminson avenue and endangering the lives of other motorists. He locked the man in the Palmyra jail for the night and held his car.

Woznicki at a hearing at Palmyra police headquarters by Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter Monday morning was fined $25.00 and costs which amounted to $26.25. As Woznicki hadn't any money with him, his car was held until he paid the fine.

Miller said that he had a sick man in the back of the car. When Betty offered to show him the way to a physician the driver refused and it was found the man he had in the car was intoxicated.

When Betty attempted to arrest the man for being drunk and disorderly he attempted to strike the officer.

Pensauken Beats Riverton 6-5

Errors Afield by Riverton Account for Defeat; Bearint Stars at Bat; Fans Six

Last Saturday the Pensauken Indians defeated the Riverton baseball team by a 6-5 score. The game was nip-and-tuck all the way through.

Riverton hopped onto Guthrie's delivery in the first frame and took a two-run lead. Robinson, playing in place of Hughes this week, was out at first, Craigin to Horner. Guthrie tossed Brogan out at the initial sack. Hoffman was safe on Lynch's error at short. Miller hit to second but Linton muffed the ball and Hoffman advanced to second. Linton tried to get Hoffman as he went to third but he overthrew the bag and Hoffman scored. "El" Bearint followed with a scorching triple to deep center scoring Miller. Craigin tossed Koerner out at first.

The Pensauken Indians came back in the second and tied things up with two runs. Tyska singled. Horner singled and went to second and Tyska to third when Johnny Linton lost a bouncer in left field. Cooper socked a two-ply wallop, scoring Tyska and Horner. Guthrie fanned. Craigin singled. Patterson raised one to Miller and Hoffman threw out Linton at first.

Score in Fifth

Neither team scored again until the fifth. Patterson flied out to Brogan to open the Pensauken half of the fifth. Linton was safe at first on Hoffman's muff. Magee walked. Lynch lined out to Reeves who threw to Miller in an effort to get Magee off first. Miller tried to make a running throw to Koerner to trap Linton but his throw went wild and Linton scored, Magee taking second. Tyska hit to left field but Johnny Linton gathered the ball in and made a beautiful peg to Young who tagged Magee out while trying to score from second.

The home half of the fifth netted two runs and put Riverton in front by one run, Robinson was safe when Horner dropped the throw to first. Brogan tried to push Robinson around with a bunt but forced him at second, being safe himself on a fielder's choice. Hoffman skied to Magee. Miller was safe on Craigin's error. Bearint walked, filling the sacks. Koerner singled Brogan and Miller across the plate. Linton hit to Craigin who stepped on third as Bearint was forced.

The Pensauken bunch came right back and got two more runs in the sixth. Horner fanned. Reds Young dropped the last strike on Cooper but threw him out at first. Guthrie walked. Craigin socked a home run scoring Guthrie ahead of him. Patterson singled but Miller put Linton out unassisted.

Riverton Ties Score

Bearint cut loose another triple to open the eighth inning for Riverton. "Dutch" Koerner singled Bearint home. Johnny Linton lined out to Craigin who threw Koerner out at first when he took too much lead off the bag. Young and Reeves singled but Robinson raised one to Linton.

Pensauken scored their winning run in the last frame. Craigin flied to Robinson. Patterson singled and Linton followed with a base blow. Magee sacrificed Patterson home with a long fly to center. Lynch poked one to left but Johnny Linton again made a beautiful peg to the plate and nipped his brother who played second for the Indians.

The home half of the ninth was delayed on account of rain.

Bearint fanned six enemy batsmen while Guthrie had but two strike outs. Bearint starred at the bat, getting two triples, a single and base on balls in four trips to the plate. Miller, Koerner and Young had two hits apiece of the one-base variety.

Craigin, Patterson and Tyska had two bingles each for the visitors. All were one base blows except Craigin's homer.

In the third Riverton nipped a rally in a peculiar manner. Magee had singled. Lynch fanned. Tyska singled. The Pensauken catcher was playing way off first and Reds Young pegged one down to Miller. Just as Tyska slid to the bag the ball hit him on the head and bounced over to the Pensauken bench. Bearint was awake and chased the ball. He threw to Koerner who tagged Magee as he came into third. Horner flied out to Robinson.

RIVERTON BOROUGH COUNCIL CONSIDERS STREET LIGHTS

Dark Spot Back of Freight Station May be Illuminated; Road Signs, Again

BANK AVENUE SEWERS REPORTED IN BAD SHAPE

At the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night Councilman Lynch, chairman of the highway committee, reported that the surface drain maintained by the railroad company at Broad and Main streets had been out of commission for several months, resulting in a pool of water after every rain that seeped away eventually, but created a nuisance in the meantime. He said that the company had been notified, but had not remedied the condition. On motion of Mr. Lynch, seconded by Mr. Hubbs, the clerk was instructed to notify the railroad company to put this drain in working condition immediately.

Councilman Showell reported that the private sewers running into the river from the residences on Bank avenue were in bad condition. They are broken so that they deposit their contents on the beach instead of carrying it out into the river.

Lights for Broad Street

Director of Public Safety Williams reported that he had been in conference with Mr. Dold, of the Public Service, in reference to installing lights on Broad street between Lippincott and Thomas avenues (back of the freight station) and that Mr. Dold had looked over the ground in person. Mr. Dold's suggestion was that arc lights be placed at the intersection of all the streets on that side of the railroad, and intimated that it might be possible to run the wires underground.

It was the mayor's idea that only one light should be placed at the present time, and he instructed Mr. Williams to look further into the matter to see if the location desired for this one light could be reached from wires already strung.

Mr. Williams reported for the police committee that three arrests for speeding and reckless driving had been made during the month. He also reported that a lot of trouble was being experienced with boys destroying property, particularly houses that were not occupied. He said that in some instances holes had been cut in ceilings through which ropes were run and fastened to doors on the first floor. He said that some of the boys were known.

Road Signs Needed

Mr. Williams again brought to the attention of council the matter of road signs directing motorists to various points. He called attention to the fact that traffic is often blocked while motorists stop at the traffic booth to make inquiries.

Councilman Hubbs asked Mr. Williams if the Keystone Automobile Club had not offered to erect such signs free of charge. Mr. Williams replied that such an offer had been made and virtually accepted, but that when a representative of the club came to Riverton to get the locations, he was told that he could not put up the signs. Notwithstanding it had been all worked out once, the mayor treated it as a new matter, and told Mr. Williams to get in touch with the highway committee and work out a definite plan.

The ordinance to establish a grade on Park street passed final reading unanimously.

Treasurer Raises Question

Herbert Evans, treasurer and collector, asked council if he should go ahead and sign checks for the payment of bills for departments whose appropriations had been exhausted or overdrawn. The mayor told him that it was all right just as long as he did not exceed the total appropriations for borough purposes. Mr. Evans hesitated a little to accept this decision, and undertook to say that the mayor's opinion was at variance with advice he had received elsewhere, but the mayor dismissed the matter by telling the treasurer that he would be all right to do as he said. There is strong probability that the treasurer is right, as the position taken by him conforms with practice in other municipalities, and in the county government.

It was reported that a hearing on the proposed increase in rates by the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company would come up at Trenton at 11 a. m., Tuesday September 20. This is the matter in which the mayor said council was not interested, some months ago, when he found that it affected rates to private consumers only and not the fire hydrants.

Councilman Bartley offered a motion which was seconded by Mr. Williams and unanimously passed, that the mayor and the borough attorney attend the hearing to look after the interests of the borough.

Park Guard Never Sworn In

Mr. Williams, chairman of the Borough property committee, reported that $106 had been raised by private subscription to pay the attendant at the park, and that $105.22 had been spent.

The attendant never had the official standing of a park guard owing to the fact that the mayor would not swear him in as a special officer, fearing, it is said, that if he did so, the borough would become responsible if anything happened.

Mr. Williams said the plan had worked out very well, and that many parents had sent their children there to play who had never felt safe to do so before a man was put in charge. Mr. Williams further said that it had kept a lot of boys off the streets where they formerly played ball. Golf, too, had been tried, with some success. Mr. Williams submitted a blue print showing the boundaries of the park.

Councilman Showell said he thoroughly approved of the attendant and thought provision should be made for it in next year's budget.

New School Room Now In Operation

Flanagan Property Remodeled For Riverton's Use; New Building Planned

At the meeting of the Riverton Board of Education Tuesday evening, the teachers' committee and the property committee reported that the Flanagan property on Main street had been rented and put in condition to be used for school purposes this year. On motion of Mr. Elwell the action of these committees in leasing the property and that of the president in signing the lease were formally confirmed. On recommendation of Mr. Clifton, John Stark was employed as janitor for the school in the Flanagan property.

Mr. Clifton who has served on the special committee to select an architect for a new school submitted the following resolution which was unanimously passed: "The special building committee having reported their inability to reach a decision relative to the selection of an architect, therefore be it resolved said committee be discharged with thanks and the board as a whole select an architect."

For the teachers' committee Mrs. Miller reported that Miss Ida W. Clark had been selected as an additional teacher for the second and third grades, and on her recommendation Miss Clark was unanimously elected.

Mr. Hemphill reported that some of the pupils attending the Palmyra high School had complained to him that there was not sufficient scope in the selection of their studies; that is, the pupils who desire to prepare for college were not able to have included in their course of studies such subjects as would be most valuable to them in their college work. The matter was referred to the High School committee for action.

The teachers' committee also reported that Miss Helen Enskat had been employed as assistant, in the office, to Miss Chew.

The clerk read the resignation of Mrs. Edith W. Sullivan who said that she felt she should retire from the board as she will be obliged to be away from Riverton indefinitely. The resignation was accepted with regret. The Sullivans have moved to Ortley Beach.

Miss Chew's Report

"School opened Sept. 7th with an enrollment of 363 pupils.

"The new rooms opened in the Flanagan house are in good order, and are occupied by the two first grades. While the quarters are small I think we shall be able to do good work there temporarily.

"The distribution of second and third grade children in three rooms will make it possible to give closer attention to their needs.

"Where there are two rooms of one grade, some re-classification is likely to take place, from time to time. There must be divisions of classes when there are too many children of a grade to be seated in one room, and I know of no school system where the matter of grading is not left to the judgment of the teachers. In order to make such divisions perfectly impartial, the judgment of the teacher will be one factor only, and the classes will be given tests which measure all members of the class alike. After the first division is made, it is quite possible for some pupils through industry to change their standing, and some through lack of interest to lose theirs. In some groups it is quite possible for both groups to carry exactly the same work, though some children will work harder than others and may need more help. With smaller classes this is what we are trying to accomplish.

"For years we have had an A and B division in the 8th Grade, and all pupils enter High School on the same footing."

The following bills were ordered paid:

Charles L. Flanagan, rental	$ 75.00
Anteek Forj	3.30
Grau & Rice, painting	26.50
M. Steilenburg & Co., desks	195.00

Fines and Terms Among Sentences

Judge Slaughter Hears Petition to Review Ong's Hat Gambling Case

What gives promise of causing a genuine sensation in Burlington county was given impetus last Thursday when Attorney Harold T. Parker, representing a number of the alleged gamblers who were rounded up at Ong's Hat a few Sundays back by the state troopers after a Pemberton man had complained to the troopers that his property near Ong's Hat was being used as a rendezvous for gamblers and that he was fearful that they might accidentally fire the woodland in that vicinity, presented a petition praying to have the proceedings of the Recorder's Court reviewed, with the supposed intention of appealing from the decision of Recorder Kingdon, of Mount Holly, who heard the cases.

It is a well-known fact that some of the men arrested in the raid are particularly anxious to have further proceedings dropped, they believing that they have already received notoriety enough, but some of the more head-strong have retained Attorney Parker and it appears as though he will attempt to appeal the cases.

Judge Slaughter and Prosecutor Hillman both took exceptions to the young attorney's contentions last week, but as there were a number of matters to be threshed out the proceedings were adjourned until September 13, which is the same day the Grand Jury convenes.

Job For Grand Jury

Recorder Kingdon will probably save Attorney Parker a lot of trouble by having the whole matter reviewed by the Grand Jury, and if indictments are found it is said there will be numerous witnesses to testify to the fact that gambling was in progress when the troopers arrived, and in addition to the fine of $10 and costs which the dozen or more men who were caught in the raid paid, they may be put to the expense of hiring counsel, with the possibility of going to jail or paying a still heavier fine if they are convicted.

And then, too, it is said that the owner of the property is considering having all the men implicated arrested on a charge of trespassing and this will further conflict matters.

The outcome of the whole embryo is being watched with considerable interest by all of those interested.

Judge William A. Slaughter disposed of two or three Orphans' Court matters, and then proceeded to pass sentence on several offenders, all of whom came in on waivers.

Orville Fallon, the young man apprehended recently by the Mount Holly police after he had been detected in an effort to pass a fraudulant check, pleaded guilty to passing forged checks on Wilbur F. Fisler, Louis Levy and T. Harry Bowker, and he was sentenced to 90 days in jail on the Fisler complaint and sentence was suspended on the other two counts.

Robbed Boarding Mistress

Carl Taylor, who gave his residence as Kentucky, pleaded guilty to stealing $6 from his boarding house mistress, Mrs. Charles Norcross, of Mount Laurel township, but he denied stealing a watch from his employer, explaining that he borrowed the watch and then lost it.

He went to jail for 30 days on the first charge and will be placed on trial for the second offense.

Joseph Kelly, of Springfield township, pleaded guilty to possession of liquor, and was fined $75.

Glenn Bethel, of Burlington, charged with desertion of his wife and two children, pleaded guilty and went back to jail for five months, and he will be requested to work for the county and turn his earnings over to his wife.

William Sottogeiza, of Moorestown, charged with assault and battery on his sister, he having struck her during an altercation, pleaded guilty, and will pay a $50 fine.

Howard J. Brooks, of Bridesburg, Pa., one of the men who came to Jersey to gather elderberries and then got drunk, as a result of which his car was in a collision near Beverly, was charged with possession and transportation of liquor, a quart having been found in his car. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $125.

Moonshine Cases

Walter Tulabuiecky, of Riverside, charged with possession of liquor and utensils for the manufacture of the same, pleaded guilty to both charges. He was a first offender and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 on the charge of having utensils, and sentence suspended on the possession charge.

Bennie Solkowski, of Riverside, who admitted being a brother-in-law of Mary Solkowski, who has been before the Court three or four times, pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession and utensils for the making of the same, and also paid a fine of $250 on the utensils charge, sentence being suspended on the second count of the charge.

Bennie complained that he had brought but $300 with him, but he went to jail until he could phone Mary for the other $50.

All fines carried the stipulation that the offenders go to jail until the fines were paid.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR TRENTON FAIR

Annual Fete to be Held Sept. 26 to Oct. 1

Dates for the Trenton Fair—the week of September 26 to October 1—are rapidly approaching and plans have been completed for an exposition of varied educational and entertaining features.

The New Jersey Building will be filled to capacity with exhibits of goods made in the different State institutions and the Highway Department and State Police will have special displays. Additional contests have been arranged for the Boys' and Girls' Clubs and the Pomona Granges have taken for space to show New Jersey farm products packed in carriers of commercial size. The Federal Government will also be represented.

STOCK OWNERSHIP IN P. S. POPULAR

10,570 Names Added to Holders' List in Six Months This Year

A total of 10,570 new names were added to the stockholders' list of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey during the six months ended June 30, 1927, according to official figures just made public. As a result of this gain the company had on its books, June 30, 1927, a total of 62,572 names covering all classes of stockholders, eliminating duplications where holders own either common and preferred or more than one class of preferred stock.

The total of 62,572 individual stockholders reported on June 30, compared with total stockholders numbering 52,002 reported on December 31, 1926. The increase reflects the wider distribution which the securities of the company are receiving as a result of their high investing rating.

A new popular ownership campaign to sell six per cent cumulative preferred stock of the corporation opens October 1.

Fads of Public School Defended

Children Should be Trained to Live in Physical and Spiritual World

Periodic outbursts against educational innovations, popularly described as "fads and fancies," should be ignored by the educational fraternity, Dr. Henry Clay Bailey, director of the Cleveland School of Arts, told the public school teachers of Trenton last week at the opening session of the annual teachers' institute.

One of the most important duties facing teachers, Dr. Bailey said, is that of instructing them in the use of their leisure time. The use of time from prescribed duties is what determines the future of a child, he declared. If a teacher has a fad, Dr. Bailey said, that teacher is alive and her usefulness will be increased immeasurably if she can persuade her pupils to have fads.

Dr. Bailey also said that since men are citizens not only of the physical world, but of a spiritual and intellectual world, a child's education is not complete unless it is trained to live in both realms. He cited a long list of characters and places of fiction and fact, which have become an intimate part of life itself, and said that if pupils are not trained to recognize these things and to enjoy them, their educator has been lacking.

Explaining what he might mean by living in both a physical and a spiritual world, Dr. Bailey pointed out that the site of the city of Troy is nothing but a hill pockmarked with excavations, but that the city will live forever in the writings of Homer.

Practical education is very fine in itself, said Dr. Bailey, but the pupils lose woefully if they are not trained in something which might be said to have a spiritual value.

BIG RETURNS FROM "GAS" FIRST MONTH

Income Through State Tax Far Exceeds Anticipations, Reports Dill

Receipts for July, the first month during which the gasoline tax has been operative in New Jersey, were $663,042.17, according to an announcement on Friday by State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill. The tax became effective July 1.

Returns for the month of July, Mr. Dill stated, was considerably in excess of the estimate submitted by him to the Legislature at the time the gas tax bill was pending last winter. Mr. Dill at that time estimated that the impost would net the State $6,000,000 during the first year.

Expenses in connection with the imposition of the tax have been fixed by Mr. Dill at $15,220.30 for the fiscal year which began July 1. This figure included, among other things, the printing of millions of forms used for tax returns.

Commissioner Dill stated that the system devised by the State for the collection of the tax has proved so satisfactory, and the number of distributors reduced to such an extent, that there is little opportunity to evade the gas duty.

Republicans Make Campaign Plans

Stokes Urges Party To Harmonize On Gubernatorial Candidate At Primary

Ways and means of electing Republican candidates for United States Senator and Governor in 1928, and of adopting the proposed amendments to the State Constitution at the special election to be held on September 20, were discussed at a meeting of the New Jersey Republican State Committee at Trenton last week.

E. C. Stokes, State chairman, was the spokesman at the conference and he made an appeal for a united party in the campaign this year and next, to the end that a Republican may be chosen Governor. He paid particular attention to the Republican Presidential situation and reiterated his stand for the drafting of Coolidge as the party's candidate in 1928, notwithstanding the President does not "choose" to run. He expressed the opinion voiced recently by former Secretary of State Hughes, that Coolidge will be renominated and elected.

"We have only elected one Governor out of the last six largely through our contests over the nomination," said Stokes. "The Democrats have a happier method They have a primary in which only one vote is cast that tells them who the nominee is and all the others retire."

"We have been wasting our energies fighting among ourselves with a divided camp at the end of the primary. The Gubernatorial nomination this year must be unanimous."

In connection with the discussion of the Gubernatorial situation, which now threatens to become a free-for-all primary, with the following factional strife, no names were mentioned in relation to the nomination.

The committee is particularly interested in the participation by Republicans in the special election to be held on September 20 on the question of adoption of the constitutional amendments. The sentiment expressed was that if the Republicans will go to the polls at this election there will be no doubt about the success of the effort to change the fundamental law of the State.

The public is invited to participate in these affairs.

Friendly Thoughts by Frank A. Snover

Everyone is making history every day. Each of us is important — each doing his share toward progress. It is our thoughts and acts interwoven into the thoughts and acts of millions of others that produce the developments noted upon Time's pages.

All, are influenced powerfully by the experience of others. What others have to say about our ability, equipment and fairness should guide their friends.

A SERMON

By the Rev. Geo. W. Lockett

JOHN 1-3.

"All things were made by Him; and without Him was not anything made that was made."

This is a supreme utterance; it answers the honest inquirer after truth. To the man who wonders how this planet came into being; to the astrologer who scans the heavens and is filled with awe by the planetary systems; to the botanist who studies the growth and the nature of plants and flowers; to the man with the telescope and the man with the microscope, it says: "All things were made by Him, and without Him was not one thing made that was made." This world is a beautiful place. There may be ugly spots called slums; there may be black spots named prisons and asylums, but these are only few when compared with the great world. It is a glorious thing these summer days to breathe God's air, to smell the fragrance of the flowers, to hear the birds singing in some great tree or to hear the roar of old ocean. We go out upon a clear night and look up to the sky. What a sight greets our eyes, like a thousand diamonds strewn upon a cloth of blue, sparkling gems shining through space and illuminating the earth. When we stand by the ocean this summer, let us look up to the starry heavens; or upon some mountain top, let us fix our eyes upon the heavens and sing with David, "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth his handiwork. Day unto day uttered speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge." We are told that Alpha Centauri, which lies some ten billions of miles nearer to us than any other fixed star, is so far removed that it takes over four years for its light to reach the earth; that our sun is 93,000,000 miles away; that we can see about 8000 stars with our unaided eyes and that the telescope reveals many more, and we begin to realize that in the heavens the navigator sails upon a practically boundless ocean, and as we are lost in wonder we stand with uncovered head and say: "All things were made by Him, and without Him was not one thing made that was made." Many of us may go to the country this summer, and as we stand beside some quiet lake or beside some swift-running, clear brook, let us remember that God made it. When men build a canal it is made as straight as possible. We can easily tell what is man-made, but God lends beauty to His works and makes the river twist and curve, watering the land and adding beauty to the landscape.

Tennyson stands beside the brook and hears it sing:

I come from haunts of coot and hern,
I make a sudden sally,
And sparkle out among the fern,
To bicker down a valley.

With many a curve my banks I fret,
By many a field and fallow,
And many a fairy foreland set
With willow-weed and mallow.

I chatter, chatter as I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

Have you heard the bubbling brook? Have you seen its clear, cool water? God made it, and without Him was not one thing made that was made. Perhaps you intend going to the seashore this summer. What lessons the ocean teaches us! As we stand upon the shore we see the waves rolling in their might; upon the deep great ships are tossed about like corks; it holds upon its bosom the ship of the world. God hollowed out the ocean's bed; he prepared a place for the great waters; when the water covered the earth God said: "Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear"; and it was so. As you stand by the ocean let it tell you of God.

Some intend to go to the mountains, and there they can commune with God. It seems we get a new vision of the Lord when we ascend to some mountain top. God piled up that massive heap of stones and earth; near its top the great rivers find their source. The mountains have inspired poet and artist, and they should fill us with a sense of the majesty of God.

St. Peter's in Rome, is a wonderful building. Gibbon said it was the most glorious structure that ever has been applied to the use of religion. It is 613 feet long; from the pavement to the top of the cross it is 448 feet. What a wonderful and inspiring sight! It was built at a tremendous cost. In Philadelphia the city hall cost $24,000,000. The tower is 547½ feet high. Some have said the tower is one of the most impressive sights on any building in the world. These are the glorious works of men, St. Peter's in Rome, 448 feet high, and Philadelphia City Hall, 547½ feet high, but God piles up his mountains 10,000 feet in the blue of heaven. He is the Master Workman; He has no limit; His plans never fail; He lifts up the head of Mont Blanc near the Italian frontier about 15,000 feet above the level of the Mediterranean Sea.

Mont Blanc is the monarch of mountains;
They crowned him long ago
On a throne of rocks, in a robe of clouds,
With a diadem of snow.

God created the star, the ocean and the mountain and also the smallest flower that grows. Put the smallest flower or shell under beauty and color; but He made how exquisitely it is formed. God does not slight the little things; He touches all creation with beauty and grace. A little violet springs up in some forest or in some place where perhaps man never sees it, pushing its way through the dead leaves, receiving the dew of heaven; it gives out its delicate perfume; God paints it with the blue of heaven and fills it with delicate fragrance. A botanist upon the moors of Scotland was examining a little flower through his glass; he was lying upon the ground carefully studying the plant. After a while a shadow came over his glass; looking up he saw a man of the moors, a giant in build. The botanist said: "Do you want to see it?" and the great Scotchman got down and looked through the glass. After a time he arose and with tears streaming down his face said "I wish I had never seen it." The botanist was surprised, and said: "Why, wasn't it beautiful?" The man said, "Yes, but think how many times this great foot of mine has crushed out their lives."

Someone has said: "Flowers are the sweetest thing God ever made and forgot to put a soul into." The flowers are telling the beauty of God. Let us hear their message this summer. I have seen admirable paintings, where color and tint seemed almost perfect, but I have never seen one that has equaled a rose; the common daisy growing out by the side of the road can put to shame the greatest artist that has ever lived. We cannot understand how they grow. We do not know the secret of their coloring, but we know God made them, and without Him was not one thing made that was made. Tennyson was a scientist, as well as a poet; he knew the simplest flower presented problems too deep and profound for man to solve. He plucked a little flower growing in the crevice of the wall, and said:

"Flower in the crannied wall,
I pluck you out of the crannies;
I hold you here, root and all, in my hand.
Little flower, but if I could understand.
What you are, root and all, and all in all,
I should know what God and man is."

Dr. Hoyt used to tell us to keep our eyes open; that sight was a faculty, but seeing was an art; may we see the beauty of our Lord in the things about us.

God created the world and all that is therein, but His highest and noblest creation is man. And God said: "Let us make man in our own image." Man stands at the top of all creation. God made a man a little lower than himself. When Christ spoke to the waters, they obeyed His voice; when he spoke to the tree, it obeyed; at His command the leper was cleansed; even the power of death knew their master. All nature knew her God, no disobedient children in nature's house, all in perfect obedience to the Heavenly Father. But here is a man whom God has made a little lower than himself, to whom he has given wonderful powers, enriched him with intellect, endowed him with wisdom, and when Gods commands him, the man refuses, he rebels, he wanders away from his Father's house, he goes into a far country, eats filth and crusts of bread, disgraces himself and his family, denies the one who has given him all good things; then, footsore and weary, broken in spirit and health, he comes back home and God receives him again, restores him to fellowship, because man was created in the image of God, and God loves His children, and the soul of man is immortal and worth more than all creation.

God moves the stars in their order, He holds the sea in the hollow of His hand, He reared up the mountains in their splendor, He painted the simplest flower with the microscope, and you will see man in His own image and gave His son that we should never die, but live on forever.

May our vacation this summer be spent with our eyes and our ears open to the beauty and the voices of our God.

6 VETERANS GATHER FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Edward Griscom, Moorestown, Present at Function Held at Pitman

Only six of the 17 white-haired survivors of the famed Twelfth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, gathered at Pitman for their fifty-fourth annual reunion last week. Edward Griscom, of Moorestown, was one of them.

Three of the six gallant old veterans, survivors of 20 battles of the Civil War, were Camden men: Daniel Harris, James P. Stanton and James F. Tomlin. The other three were: John Tonkin, of Glassboro, retiring president of the organization; William H. Sayres, of Clayton, and Edward Griscom, of Moorestown.

With the handful of veterans—most of them extremely feeble, for all are in the 80's—were daughters, sons, granddaughters and grandsons who have been made honorary members in order to perpetuate the organization.

Stanton was elected president for the coming year. James F. Tomlin, Jr., and Harry M. Avis, both of Camden, and both honorary members, were elected secretary and vice-president, respectively.

FRIENDS' ANNUAL CONFERENCE HELD

Moorestown Girls Present at Meeting at Buck Hill Falls

Miss Marianna Dudley and the Misses Helen and Sara Holmes, Moorestown Friends, recently attended a weekend conference, the yearly meeting of the Friends of Philadelphia, which was held at Buck Hill Falls.

Nature with frequent showers seemed determined to dampen the spirits of the thirty some members in attendance, nevertheless considerable interest was shown in the group discussion of the various subjects.

The thought was expressed that freedom must be found in our choice of a path leading to the happiness that comes from doing something that has an aim and scope that makes life worthwhile.

In his talk on worship, Alexander Purdy said, "Though we need the strength gained by regular attendance at church, it is even more essential to test and live the Christ-like life daily."

During the last vesper service, with the stillness of the night around them, life seemed richer and fuller, offering infinite opportunities to youth, urging them to consecrate themselves to follow the Light that shall bring the dawn.

DANCE CRITICISMS BY NO MEANS NEW

Attacks on Terpishorean Popularity Unchanged in Century

The dance craze was the object of almost as much criticism a century ago as it is today. This was shown in a book, yellowed with age, which was found recently in the walls of an old mansion demolished in Medford, Mass.

Under the heading, "Dancing," the author, in 1831, wrote: "Nothing shows the national character, or thoughtlessness and gayety, more plainly than a strong and general propensity for dancing. A passion for this amusement affects persons in every grade of life. It might be supposed that those only would be disposed to engage in it whose spirits are continually elastic and buoyant, under the cheering smiles of prosperity and ease. But this is not the fact. The thoughtless and gay often do it in order to suppress those movings of conscience which would lead them to a life of religion."

USED CARS

He Always Remembers Who Sold It To Him

THE man who buys a used automobile, or a new one for that matter, never orgets who sold him the car. Sometimes he remembers gratefully—sometimes recentfully.

That's why we are so particular about our used car stock. So far as we know, every one of the many who have bought used cars here remember us pleasantly.

ADVERTISING COMES INTO ITS OWN

"Public utility companies will spend $28,000,000 for advertising this year." Here, in this news item, is food for thought. It makes one wonder if there are still reactionaries who insist that advertising is useless and a waste of investors' money.

Statistics on the strides that advertising expenditure and space have taken, would be of tremendous interest to the student of modern industry and business. In the past twenty years it has unquestionably doubled itself many times. Through the various mediums, and most important of all, the newspapers, advertising and publicity have grown to proportions where they are among the greatest forces known for furthering progress and forwardness. The recent unprecedented growth of the public utilities are directly traceable, in a large degree, to the effect of wide and intelligent advertising. Far from being a waste of investors' money it is a safeguard in that if the company or product advertised is honest and worth-while, that company's business or sales will increase in direct proportion to the amount of advertising.

AS WINTER APPROACHES, HEED THIS ADVICE

Promote fire prevention and protect your property and family.

Last year over $1,000 worth of property was burned every minute and a life was lost every 35 minutes.

Clean property seldom burns—do away with rubbish and junk.

Careless smokers burned $30,000,000 worth of property last year.

Keep matches in metal boxes where children cannot reach them.

Don't keep ashes in wooden boxes or deposit them against wooden buildings or partitions.

Don't change your electric wiring without consulting a competent electrician.

Don't hang electric light cords on nails.

Be careful with electric flatirons and always use with signal light.

Use metal protection under all stoves and protect woodwork where stoves or furnaces are close to walls.

Don't pass stove pipes through ceiling, roofs or wooden partitions.

Have all flues cleaned, examined and repaired at least once a year.

Every open fireplace should have a screen.

Don't connect gas stoves, heaters or hot plates with rubber hose.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to cleanse clothing near an open flame, light or fire. Use noninflammable cleaner.

Don't use kerosene, benzine or naptha in lighting fires or to quicken a slow fire.

Don't use liquid polishes near open lights. Many such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils.

Don't go into closets with lighted matches or candles.

Remember that there is always danger in the discarded cigarette and cigar stub.

LOCAL I. O. O. F. BEGIN INDOOR SOCIAL SEASON

The big attendance at last week's meeting of Cinnaminson Lodge, No. 201 presages keen rivalry between the teams making up the Steak vs. Cheese contest. The boys were in a jovial mood, fresh from their vacations and full of pep.

Following the regular business of the meeting pinochle was the order of the evening, a great many staying to play this game in order to practice up for the forthcoming tournament. The "eats" comittee also functioned as per schedule and everyone was sent home full and happy.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Lodge also began their fall activities with a well attended meeting at the home of Mrs. George Truman, Palmyra. Plans were laid for the last outing of the season, a picnic luncheon at the homestead farm of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schmirer, of Beverly, the date tentatively set being October 1st.

WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET

Crozer Reeves, Republican Senator from Mercer county and Hans Froelicher, Democratic attorney of Moorestown.

COMMITTEES WORKING ON NEW ROAD SIGNS

Following out the instructions received from the mayor at the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council Thursday evening of last week, Director of Public Safety Williams took up with William B. Lynch, chairman of the highway committee, last Monday night, the matter of securing road signs for Riverton.

It is understood that an eqort will be made to see if the Keystone Automobile Club can supply the kind of signs wanted. If not, prices will be secured for having signs made to order under specifications furnished by the borough.

It is gratifying to drivers of automobiles to see that this important matter has again received attention, and many have expressed the hope that the signs will soon be placed in position.

RIVERTON BOROUGH COUNCIL CONSIDERS STREET LIGHTS

The medical inspector submitted his report and enclosed fees amounting to $5.00.

The building inspector's report covered building operations amounting to about $89,000, and fees of $128.00.

The New School

Councilman Showell touched on a subject that is uppermost in the minds of many Rivertonians when he naively asked, and apropos of nothing in particular, "Where is the new school house to be located?" The mayor sat tight and Councilman Lynch said, "We're only wasting time now." (Some time ago the mayor assured the school board it could have ground for a new school in Memorial Park if it wanted it.)

On motion of Mr. Lynch, seconded by Mr. Hubbs, the grant to the Riverton baseball team for using the park was extended to include the first Saturday in October.

Mr. Lynch reported that the Riverton Fire Company had asked permission to take one of the fire trucks to Atlantic City on September 24, to participate in the parade there, which will be a part of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the State Firemen's Association. Mr. Lynch offered a motion to this effect, seconded by Mr. Hubbs, which was unanimously passed after it was made to include the restriction "for one day," on recommendation of the mayor. Mr. Bartley wanted to know who would pay the expenses of operating the truck on the trip and Mr. Lynch told him that they would be met by the borough.

Takes a Fling at Firemen

Mr. Lynch, in speaking in favor of letting the boys take the truck, said he thought it was due them, that they had worked hard, and—At this point the mayor broke in with, "Never mind that 'worked hard stuff,' you worked just as hard as they have or ever will."

When the bill of Walter L. Bowen for printing the tax books for the assessor was read, Mr. Bartley, chairman of the finance committee, asked Mr. Showell, chairman of the printing committee, if they had been ordered with his sanction. Mr. Showell replied in the affirmative. Somehow this did not seem to be just the answer expected. The mayor took occasion to express his opinion that it was a lot of money for three such books, and asked Treasurer Evans if he knew anything about it. Mr. Evans replied that they were special books, entailing a lot of work. The mayor insisted they were standard books that could be bought anywhere. The mayor was in a position to know better than this, as these same books were being used by the borough while he was filling the office of collector, having been worked out by a previous assessor. They were so superior to any of the so-called standard books that they were immediately adopted by two adjoining municipalities which are still using them. Mr. Bowen explained to the members of council that by grouping the books for the three assessors in one order and dividing the cost among the three municipalities, the cost to each was much less than it would have been for any one of them alone. Mr. Showell said the assessor had spoken to him about ordering the books and after looking around for prices he found that they would cost a lot more anywhere else.

The bill was ordered paid along with the others presented by the finance committee as follows:

Paradise Valley

The mountain heights are cold and drear,
Society's height, too, is cold
For there the ruling power seems
To be a man's amount of gold.
Not love and honor rule the heart;
But selfishness and bank accounts
Bid smiling Cupid to depart;

But come into the valley, love,
The valley of love's sweet content,
Where little wealth is ever found,
But lives, in happiness, are spent.
There Cupid dwells and flying round,
Unites the hearts that love should wed;
And there repentance follows not,
When hearts, the sacred words, have said.

Like paradise, this valley, fair,
Will seem the home of happiness,
And all who enter in its realms,
The Father's love will ever bless.
Heart speaks to heart and soul to soul,
Conventionality departs,
And men and women dare to feel
The true emotions of their hearts.

Dear heart, is not love's valley, now,
Much fairer than society?
'Tis better to be loved, alone,
For what the heart and soul may be.
Dear Cupid's reign is ever sweet,
And, with it, wealth can not compare;
So, in the valley, where love reigns,
The greatest happiness is there.

Martha Shepard Lippincott.

CHOOSING A VIEWPOINT

tion by Burlington County, crosses the tracks of said railroad company. The railroad company was represented by engineer R. D. Martin, of Superintendent Carr's office at East Long Branch, who was the personal representative of J. W. Meredith, general supervisor, with instructions to report back to him.

"We went over the situation thoroughly at the location of the proposed under-pass, and found the proposition to be favorable and entirely feasible and being able to construct same and obtain 14-feet clear head room and adequate drainage without the tracks being raised more than twelve inches. Although Engineer Martin was not authorized to give any decision of make any promises, his view point of the entire proposition was very favorable, and at his suggestion a plan showing the entire proposition was prepared and forwarded directly to the general superintendent.

Decision Expected Soon

"From a telephone conversation with the general superintendent yesterday, we learn that although they are working on the proposition they are at present unable to give any decision but will be in a position to do so within the next three or four days.

"I suggest that the road department be authorized to continue negotiations with the Central Railroad Company relative to this proposition, and that it be given power to act for the best interests of the County just as soon as a decision can be obtained from the railroad company in order that the road construction may not be held up.

"If the under-pass is constructed, the additional cost to the county, necessitated by excavation and drainage, would be in the neighborhood of six to eight thousand dollars which would more than repay us by the safety afforded to life and property."

Curwen B. Fisher, director of bridges, said that as some of the Central trains run from 60 to 70 miles an hour at this point, and there is a dangerous curve nearby, the danger of making it a grade crossing is very apparent.

The plans were referred to the general superintendent's office of the railway company for consideration and investigation.

Mr. Fisher's motion that the road department be empowered to enter into an agreement with the railroad company to do the county's portion of the work was unanimously passed.

Chauffeur's Bill Not Paid

Two bills of George Dillon, colored, of Mount Holly, who has been working as a chauffeur and in a general capacity about Detective Parker's office, were turned down by the freeholders, and Prosecutor Hilliman and the board went into executive session to consider the matter. One of the bills amounted to $140 and the other $70.

A communication from A. Lee Grover, secretary of the State Highway Commission, called attention to the fact that the awarding of the contract for the five-mile Buddtown cut-off to Charles Mathis, of Seaside Park, had been approved.

W. G. Sloan, state highway engineer, in a communication, called attention to the detour made necessary by the erection of the new bridge over the Rancocas creek at Bridgeboro, and stating that the streets and roads of the detour would be kept in good condition by the state highway forces.

The detour was indicated as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Route No. 2 and the Bridgeboro-Riverside road, just south of the Bridgeboro bridge and running thence (1) 1.6 miles in a northwesterly direction over the Bridgeboro-Riverside road to the River road in Riverside; thence (2) over the River road in a general easterly direction 3.2 miles to Cooper street, Beverly; thence (3) over Cooper street and its continuation in a southeasterly direction 1.6 miles to Route No. 2.

Want Bridge Widened

W. H. Cottman, George T. Trott, Mrs. Ella N. Johnson and Sarah E. Fedlow, a delegation of Chester township residents, appeared before the board in the interest of the new road which is being built at Maple Shade by the township with state aid. It being necessary to have the county line bridge over the Pensauken creek at the end of the Mill road rebuilt. At the present time the road at this point is wider than the bridge, with the natural result of creating a danger zone which those interested would like to have remedied. The building of the road and bridge will open up the surrounding country for real estate purposes, and, according to the representatives present, will be the means of increasing the ratables in that section of the county.

Freeholder Fisher, director of the bridge department, said that this matter had been hanging fire for over a year and he thought the board should take a sympathetic view of the matter and arrange to have the bridge reconstructed if possible. He said that some months ago he had discussed the reconstruction with the Camden county authorities, but at that time they were not in a receptive frame of mind. Now, however, he understood they were ready to go ahead with their share of the work.

Director Empowered to Act

The cost to Burlington county, Mr. Fisher said, would be about $6,000, and the appropriation in the bridge department was so nearly exhausted that the project could not be financed out of department funds. The county engineer replied that such construction work was usually provided for by a bond issue.

A motion by Mr. Stout that the director of bridges and the county engineer confer with Camden county as to plans and estimates, was unanimously passed.

Harry Gilgerman served notice on the board that he was bringing suit against the county for damages to a mule which he claimed broke through a bridge in Evesham township. No previous claim had been made to any of the members of the board, and as a result, the members were in entire ignorance of the proposed action. The notice was turned over to the solicitor.

Bills were ordered paid as follows: Bridges, $4,316.27; public buildings, $19,004.35; finance, $2,053.86; public affairs, $5,981.81; making a total of $57,566.91.

GIRL ATHLETE NOW TEACHER AT P. H. S.

Marian Purbeck, Collingswood Star, Directs Sports at Palmyra School

When Palmyra and Collingswood High Schools face each other in girls' sports during the coming year, a graduate of the latter school will be at the helm of the Palmyra lassies, endeavoring to send her Alma Mater down to defeat.

Miss Marian E. Purbeck, one of the greatest hockey performers ever developed at Collingswood High School, assumed her duties at the Palmyra High School last week. She will be in complete charge of hockey, basketball, tennis and track teams.

During her four years at the Collingswood institution, Miss Purbeck distinguished herself in athletic attire and in the music world. One of the best teams the "Colts" ever had was when Miss Purbeck played a stellar role during the 1923 season.

Protecting Shoes With Tire Patches

FOR the summer pump of thin soles and small heels tire patches make excellent protectors for both heels and tips where the wear is first shown. If a small triangular piece of rubber patch is applied to the pointed tip of the sole the leather tip above will look neat more than double the time.

Satin-covered wooden heels and leather heels can be adequately protected from wearing over by cutting these tire patches to the shape of the heel and cementing onto the heel.

Some tire patches have a cement already on them which will adhere to leather and wood. If the patch does not stay on solidly, a cement made of gutta percha in carbon bisulphide will unite the rubber and leather. The edges of both rubber and leather should first be roughed by a sharp glass edge, and after the cement has been applied they should be pressed and held together. A tool chest vise will serve as a press.

If the heel is of wood, a cement of gum rubber soaked in a small quantity of naphtha or gasoline is the best to use.

These thin rubber heels and toe protectors are very long wearing. While not as springy as ordinary rubber heels they do not change the shape of the heel.

Review Published by Public Service

72-Page Book Describes Some of Larger Municipalities Served by Company

"Public Service Review—1927," a seventy-two page book in two colors which describes briefly some of the larger of the 260 municipalities served by the subsidary companies of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, is being sent to the corporation's stockholders:

This is the fifth in the series of annual "Reviews." The first, in 1923, outlined the historical developments of Public Service, the second told of the physical properties necessary to furnish gas, electric and transmit service to most of the people of New Jersey, the third was a record of construction and extension projects undertaken by Public Service, and last year's book explained by text and by pictures some of the many uses of the utility services furnished.

The latest volume contains pictures and facts about some of the larger cities and towns in the various divisions served and points out "that part of the state which Public Service provides with electric, gas and transportation facilities is the natural outlet for the overflowing population and industry of New York on one side and Philadelphia on the other. It has those things—space, good air, good water, sanitation, adequate transportation and other utility facilities—which the home seeker looks for and it can offer to the manufacturer land for factories, an excellent labor supply, unexcelled water and land transportation and proximity to markets."

The book also containes a number of interesting statistical tables which show the growth of Public Service operating companies and the territory they serve.

BEAT HIS WIFE

Palmyra Colored Man Committed to Mount Holly Jail

Charles King, colored, of West Fourth street, Palmyra, was charged with assault and battery upon his wife, Ruth, Sunday morning at about ten o'clock. King punched and kicked Mrs. King and when she was examined by a local physician it was found she suffered bruises about the abdomen, hip, face and arm. The husband was committed to the Burlington county jail at Mount Holly in default of $1,000 bail as no one would go his bond.

Palmyra police headquarters were called by neighbors and Chief of Police Beck and Officer Betty went to a friend's house where King had fled, changed his clothes and was about to make his getaway. He was arrested and had a hearing before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter. King said that he did not strike his wife, but the bruises were sufficient evidence to prove his guilt.

Big Dahlia Show Now on at Shore

State Exhibition on Steel Pier, Atlantic City, Wednesday to Saturday

What will undoubtedly prove something of a novelty in dahlia exhibitions will be that of the Dahlia Society of New Jersey on the mammoth Steel Pier in Atlantic City for a gala four-day period, Wednesday, September 14th, to Saturday, September 17th, inclusive. This, the first dahlia show ever held over the ocean, will be in the nature of two shows, with a full program of events and premium list for each.

Inasmuch as the four-day duration of the show is longer than the exhibits of many growers can be expected to last, the activities on Saturday, the final day, will constitute practically a new exhibition. Special stagings and additional prizes are arranged for this day, which will be known as Galli-Curci Day. The world-famous prima donna will be present and a number of floral events will be held in her honor. Following a recital on Steel Pier, the singer will make her choice among a collection of new and hitherto unnamed varieties of dahlia, and the fortunate flower chosen will bear the name of Galli-Curci.

This year's show, the fifth annual exhibition of the Society, provides extensive classes not only for every manner of dahlia, including decorative, hybrid-cactus, pompons, etc., but for many other kinds of garden flowers, such as gladiolus, asters, delphinium, marigolds, and snap dragons, as well. One hundred and twenty-six classes are provided in all, beginning with the strictly commercial grower, continuing through sections for private growers who may employ a gardener and for gardeners by profession, for semi-commercial growers, to classes for amateurs, special classes, and classes open for all. Ample and fair provision is thus made for every sort of floriculturalist.

The personnel of the committees in charge represents localities in every part of the State.

MOORESTOWN MAN JAILED

Driving a team of horses while intoxicated is as bad as driving an automobile while drunk, Judge Bertman declared last Friday in the Camden Police Court when he sentenced Luther Baylor, colored, Beech street, of Moorestown, to thirty days in jail. Baylor was arrested after his team ran into an automobile driven by William Buckmaster, 212 North Thirty-fourth street, Camden. Baylor admitted he had been drinking. Buckmaster's car was slightly damaged.

How ELECTRICITY Works in the Laundry

For Super-Service

Gas is such an every day, taken-for-granted service, that we seldom stop to consider how important a part it plays in our lives. When an especially good dinner is served us, do we remember that the gas range with oven heat regulator makes cheaper cuts more delicious, and does the cooking automatically? When we relax under the refreshing stimulus of a warm shower, do we give a thought to the gas service that makes the shower possible?

Public Service is on the alert day and night to see that every call for gas is answered promptly and to discover how its gas service may be improved.

WARM water and soap dissolve the dirt and heat, applied with pressure, does the ironing. What work then is there for electricity to do on washday?

Electricity takes upon itself the drudgery that was formerly put upon the laundress. It drives the washing machine and the ironer, and the mechanism of these appliances is so carefully adjusted, that the washing and ironing is done better than if it were done by hand.

In the Thor Washer (chosen after many tests by Public Service because it has an effective washing principle and the most satisfactory mechanism), electricity turns the perforated cylinder in which the washing is done. Electricity causes the cylinder to revolve and reverse: the washing, piece by piece, is lifted and dropped back into the swirling hot soap suds; then cleansing water is sprayed upon the fabrics, dissolving the dirt and making garments and linens clean and fresh. Rinsing and blueing may be done in the same machine.

The electrically driven Thor wringer swings into five convenient positions and has rollers of soft rubber into which buttons and other fasteners sink and are not loosened.

Rag mats, curtains, furniture covers may be washed in the Thor. It does especially good work when used to wash blankets.

In the Thor folding ironer, electricity supplies the motor power. It may be gas or electrically heated.

The Thor Ironer is self-acting so that the home-maker may be comfortably seated while she guides the work. The ironer is so constructed that almost any garment may be pressed on it. The work it does is comparable to the best hand ironing.

The terms payment plan is the same for both the Thor Washer and Thor Ironer at Public Service stores.

Gas Heat Dries Clothes Safely

The gas heated clothes dryer installed in the laundry handy to the washing machine or tubs will be found most convenient. Its use protects the home-maker or laundress from chill in hanging out the clothes. In stormy weather it protects clothes and linens from the ill-effects of frost and wind.

At all times of the year the gas clothes dryer, because it is well ventilated, not only dries materials quickly, but leaves them as fresh and sweet smelling as when dried in the open.

The gas clothes dryer may be purchased on the easy payment plan at Public Service stores, small sum down and a small sum monthly.

The R. S. V. P.'s Are Due

A wedding invitation is apt to crop out in the mail any September morning. One good response to it is a Manning Bowman electric coffee percolator set that consists of an urn percolator, sugar bowl, cream pitcher and round tray, and sells for $17.75 at Public Service stores. Other attractive electric percolators, urn and pot styles at various prices.

Electricity Drives Out the Chill

To dress in comfort on a chilly morning, use an electric radiator. It will warm small areas quickly. Electric radiators cost from $4.75 up at Public Service stores.

The electric radiator has a cool handle and is light in weight.

Everybody Likes To Pop Corn

When the wind is high and the rain beats against the house, there's a snug sense of well being in the old fashioned pastime of popping corn. You can pop corn quickly with the electric corn popper. The finest popper costs but $2.75 and may be purchased at all Public Service stores.

One Man to Another

Two men were sitting in the club car. One said:

"The good old summer time is nearly over. It will be back to the coal shovel soon."

"Do you still wield a coal shovel?" his companion asked.

"Of course," the other man replied. "Don't you?"

"No. We would hardly know it was winter in our house if we didn't go out or look out of the window. You see, I am on the road most of the winter and the work of furnace tending fell on my wife. It was no job for a woman. I had a gas furnace put in two years ago. Now all we have to do is to light the gas in the fall and turn it off in the spring. The temperature—one for day, another for night—is regulated automatically.

"Gas is the last word in luxury heating. It's quiet and clean."

"Doesn't the cost come high, though?"

"Gas costs more than coal or oil, but it's worth the difference. I don't know but that in the end it isn't cheaper. You don't have to re-decorate so often, nor clean so much, because there isn't any smoke or grime with gas."

* * * *

There are many homes in New Jersey that are heated with as little effort as the home described. Public Service has interesting facts and figures on gas as a house-heating fuel which we will be glad to send you on request.

Virginia Baked Ham—Maryland Biscuits—Philadelphia Capon—Boston Baked Beans—Roast Beef and Yorkshire Pudding.

Good foods all, glorified by native cooks or bakers who delight in their work. Follow a "native" recipe for any one of these dishes, and entrust it to a gas range with its oven heat regulator set at the required heat degree, and the results will rival, perhaps surpass, the efforts of the originator.

The home-maker who uses a gas range with an oven heat regulator knows no "unlucky" baking days. Meats, poultry and vegetables that are oven cooked retain their juices and flavor. When the dial of the regulator is set at the necessary heat degree, whole meals may be cooked in the oven at one time without watching.

Gas range prices at Public Service cover the automatic top burner lighter and a connection from the gas outlet in the kitchen made by experienced gas fitters. All gas ranges may be purchased on the easy payment plan.

MISTAKEN FARM IDEA.

SHORTER SCHOOL HOURS.

CLEANLINESS FOR HEALTH.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, when Congress meets will introduce a bill to provide "a West Point of the air," a United States aviation academy, to take equal rank with West Point and Annapolis. An excellent suggestion, and "equal rank" is none too high, for in case of war the fliers would have to protect the obsolete warships and slow, crawling army.

West Point and Annapolis should be changed to flying academies, and the sooner the better.

A group of well-meaning, but not too intelligent farmers inform the Government that they don't want any reclamation work done, to more irrigation canals, no more land drained or deserts irrigated until the price of farm products increases.

Those are the farmers that have voted to keep out the first-class European immigration that this country needs, the immigration that would provide mouths to eat all the farmers can grow and more. They vote to keep out customers for the farms, and would vote to prevent development of the country. But they will not prevent it.

No extensive development begun now would have any effect or add one acre to cultivate land in less than ten to fifteen years. By that time, in the natural course of events, the population of the country will increase by twenty millions.

The farmers, more than any other class, are interested in canal development, which would take, as Mr. Hoover has shown, from six to twelve cents a bushel from the freight charge of export wheat, and increase the price of American wheat by that amount per bushel.

Professor Hemps, of Budapest, is reported to have perfected a new cure for hydrophobia, better than the Pasteur antitoxin. In one year, 3,063 persons bitten by mad cats and dogs were all cured, and every one of them except four, within a few days. That's good news, but it would be better to wipe out hydrophobia as the British have done. Every dog is kept in quarantine for a necessary length of time, and no hydrophobia case was known in England until recently, when a flier brought a dog through the air, escaped the quarantine and started a small epidemic.

The secret of health is cleanliness, inside and out. Clean lungs, clean blood, clean thinking prolong life and fight disease.

Leprosy, that killed thousands and was looked upon as a necessary visitation from above, was another word for filth.

In Africa a strange, destructive fever swept across the great dark continent, 60,000 were killed by it, quarantine stations were established without success.

Soap, water and disinfectant would have done the work. Disease is carried by vermin. Before asking why the natives do not free themselves of the vermin, we must remember that it isn't so long in this country since country people looked upon the absence of vermin as a sign of ill health.

They thought the tidy children abandoned, unhealthy children. They also thought that the mosquito's bite, which actually put malaria in the blood, was a good cure for malaria.

Mr. Will C. Wood, California's superintendent of Public Instruction, says that school hours should be made longer, and recommends legislation to the effect. He is mistaken the hours should be made shorter if there is to be any change.

Two hours a day, or three at the most, a child properly taught could learn all that its mind could absorb in one day. No hours of sunlight should be spent indoors unnecessarily.

For centuries men quarreled about the nature of the soul. Was it composed of solid matter or was it purely spiritual? Now science shows that there is no such thing as solid matter, every atom being only an aggregation of electrons and nuclei, tiny positive and negative charges of electricity. And we don't know what electricity IS.

Parchment manuscripts, written with Latin characters in ancient Arabaic, spoken by Jews in the time of Christ, found in Pompeii, have been translated. They contain slighting references to early Christians. It is hard for prosperous Christians of 1927 to realize that ancient prosperity looked upon early Christians as we look upon the Russian Bolsheviki.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

CITROUS FRUITS IN SUMMER

There is, perhaps, nothing more refreshing to the tired body and brain, and nothing more nearly harmless in warm weather, than the juice of the orange, lemon, grape-fruit or lime—called citrous fruits because of their citric acid content. They are said to bear important vitamines, which re-vitalise worn nerves, whether of the digestive, elimination, or absorbent systems.

Citric acid really combines with important mineral salts which we derive from our vegetable foods, forming citrates of those materials. Thus we obtain citrate of iron, of calcium, sodium, and so on—in easily adaptable form for the needs of the body. People who have "acidosis" need hardly fear citrous fruits, as their acid loses its identity almost as soon as swallowed.

The fiber of the citrous fruits should not be taken into the stomach by persons having colitis, because the fiber is an indigestible, tought, foreign substance; this fact does not prevent the juices from being highly beneficial in such cases. Citrous fruits are invaluable in colds, fevers, congestions, inflammations. Foods with low mineral content may not take up all the acid, in event of which disagreement may be noticed. Correct by taking less of citrous fruits or by taking more mineral.

I have a woman patient now, recovering from a major operation; she takes the juice of four oranges daily, along with a mineral water of five ingredients; her improvement is amazing; this would not be so if she took insufficient mineral to completely combine the citric acid.

The right way is not necessarily the most complicated way; often the correct way is simplest, if we focus our observation in the right direction.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

This the Age of Romance

It is quite common to hear people regret that they live in this prosaic age, this age given up to dollar worship and so void of anything heroic. They wish they had lived in former times when men were more occupied in glorious deeds than they were in making money.

This illustrates the fact that you have to have a perspective in order to judge anything properly. The trouble with our impression of this age is that we are too close to it.

Putting our mind in the position of fifty years from now and looking back upon this time we would see that we are living in the most romantic age of the world.

We have progressed more in the last twenty-five years than the world had previously progressed in twenty-five centuries.

For the first time in history men, such as Byrd and Amundsen, have flown over the North Pole.

This is the day when Lindbergh flew alone from New York to Paris and amazed mankind.

It is really an age when men care more for great deeds than for dollars or life.

It is an age when the League of Nations was forming and the sentiment of world consciousness was gradually taking shape. It is an age when women were given rights of citizenship and for the first time in history were released from their bondage.

It is the first time when any nation was able to shake itself loose from the liquor habit and the foremost republic of the world adopted prohibition.

It is an age when more men have given themselves up to scientific and medical research than ever before.

Altogether one ought to be proud to be living during the first quarter of the twentieth century.

We are still in bondage, owing to the force of inertia.

We still vote at a voting place instead of by mail, which is the only rational and sensible plan of voting and the only practical way to secure a universal plebiscite.

What we need is not another age of living, but eyes to see the present one in which we live.

AVERAGE PAY FOR GOVERNOR IS $6400

Penna Leads With $18,000 a Year; $302,000 Total of Salaries in 48 States

In these days of high salaries and wages, paid in industry, it is interesting to note the salaries paid to the governors of the various states. Not including the use of an executive mansion in some states, the average salary paid a governor is $6,400. In only eighteen of the states, however, is this amount equaled or exceeded.

The highest salary, $18,000, is paid by the State of Pennsylvania, followed by $12,000 in Illinois, and $10,000 each to the governors of California, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and West Virginia.

The people of Indiana and Rhode Island pay their governors $8,000 per annum. Louisiana, Montana, Nebraska and Oregon value the services of their chief executive at $7,500. Nebraska pays $7,200; Minnesota, $7,000 and Arizona and Kentucky, $6,500 each.

Four states, Florida, Utah, Washington and Wyoming are the only ones in the $6,000 class, while there are eighteen states whose governors receive an annual salary of $5,000. Maryland and Oklahoma pay $4,500; Delaware, Tennessee and Texas, $4,000, and New Hampshire, South Dakota and Vermont, $3,000.

A total of only $307,200 per year is required to pay the salaries of the chief executives of the 48 states, which constitute our great nation with its population of 110,000,000 inhabitants.

Wealth of State Shows Increase

New Jersey People Paid More on Income Taxes Despite Reduction

A steady increase in the wealth and prosperity of New Jersey is shown in a preliminary report made recently by International Revenue Commissioner D. H. Blair which reveals that, despite reductions in the tax rate, New Jersey folk paid $9,000,000 more in income taxes this year than last and $15,000,000 more than in 1925.

Reports on other taxes paid to the Federal government by New Jersey disclose that residents of the State smoked more cigarettes, played more poker, bridge and pinochle and went to see more shows during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, than ever before.

Total Federal taxes collected were 13 per cent greater than for the previous year, while the increase for the country as a whole was only 12 per cent.

The total amount collected was $113,962,763.06, of which the Camden office, covering ten counties in South Jersey, collected $19,015,294.01 and the Newark office $94,947,469.05. The Camden office showed a drop of two per cent in total collections, as compared to the previous year, and the Newark office an increase of two percent. Of the total amount, $45,957,987.63 was paid in corporation income and profits taxes, $35,342,597.43 in individual income taxes and $32,662,178 in miscellaneous internal revenue taxes.

In 1925, New Jersey people paid $66,137,027.33 to the Federal government in income taxes; in 1926 they paid $72,251,928.53; and in 1927 they paid $81,300,588.06.

18-POUND INFANT

Bordentown Arrival Sets New Record for Weight

The strength of a stork that hovered over the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ayres, of West street, Bordentown, last week, must have been taxed to its utmost, for it brought an eighteen-pound baby.

This is believed to be a "birth record" for South Jersey and probably for the entire State. Physicians declare there is no reason for alarm at the unsual size of the new born babe, which appears to be the picture of health.

Six Baseball Stars Guests of Lions

Chicago White Sox Players, "Fitz" French and Old Timers Attend

The Palmyra-Riverton Lions, whose interest in baseball during the past season has been purely academic, staged a baseball night Tuesday evening by having as their guests six big league stars and four "has-beens," the latter being local talent who in years past shone in professional circles.

The Chicago White Sox contributed four guests: Ted Lyons, selected as an All-American pitcher; Clyde Crouse, the dependable White Sox catcher; John Clancy, who shines around first base; Alex Metzler, a great centerfielder, and Ray Flaskamper, fleet-footed shortstop. They were chaperoned by Russell "Lena" Blackburne, Palmyra's greatest baseball luminary who is now White Sox coach after a long and brilliant career on the diamond.

The Athletics had but one representative present, Walter "Fitz" French, of Moorestown, a member of a great family of athletes, who is one of the heaviest hitters on Connie Mack's team and the fastest base-runner in the country. French was accompanied by his cousin, Leonard R. Baker, of Palmyra, also a noted player in days gone by.

Baker and Blackburne are brothers-in-law.

Ed King, another of the old-time persuasion, also a Palmyra citizen, and Eddie Williams, of Riverton, who has had a colorful career as a pitcher, manager and local politician, completed the array of ball players who had achieved more than local distinction, although there were others among the guests who had played the game with considerable eclat in amateur circles.

It had been agreed that the players would not be asked to make speeches, but Tail Twister Kates detected some of the Chicago boys singing and persuaded Crouse, Clancy, Metzler and Flaskamper to render "Sweet Adeline" in quarette style, which they did with a will and received a great hand.

Other guests were Clyde Crouse, Jr., young son of the Chicago catcher; George Hech, Jr., son of Lion Hech; Harvey Fisher, Joe Seel, William Henry, George B. Snyder, Lester S. Fortnum, Bert Marple, Jack Hyman, Wilbur Mathews, Barney Schaefer and Leon Raesley.

Everybody had a good time and most of them attended the boxing bouts held by the firemen later in the evening.

Last Thursday evening the Lions played Moorestown Rotary at Moorestown and were defeated 13-2. This Thursday evening they plan to play the same team at the Riverton ball park.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Bible School on Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Get the habit of coming to our lively school and be sure to be present on "Rally Day," September 25. This day will be all the more significant and interesting as we expect to break the thermometer that registers the $25,000 building fund. Be there and do your bit!

At 11.15 Pastor Lockett will preach on "The Sure Reward" and an enlarged choir will sing.

In the evening at 7.45 the pastor's subject will be "The True Light."

Mrs. Powell will resume choir rehearsals this Thursday evening. All who would like to assist in the choir are invited and urged to join. This is an important and very helpful kind of service.

At the BYPU conference last week it was decided to change the meeting night to Friday. This Friday evening will be the first of the new schedule and Pastor Lockett will be the leader. Come out and help plan for a festive night on Friday a week, September 23.

The Young People's Religious Council of Burlington County is to hold its conference in the Methodist Church on Friday and Saturday of this week. There will be three delegates from the BYPU, but the young people who do not desire to register as delegates may attend any of the conference meetings outside of the classes.

Thursday, September 22, will mark the annual meeting and thimble party of the Philathea Class. This is the first meeting of the Fall season and will be held at the home of Mrs. Ellis, 708 Parry avenue. Officers will be elected for the coming year.

"Opportunity for service is God's greatest earthly reward for man."

COUNCILMAN WIMER WILL REPRESENT PALMYRA

Councilman George N. Wimer will represent the borough of Palmyra at the hearing on the application of the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company for an increase in its rates to private consumers to be held at Trenton next Tuesday morning at 11.00 o'clock.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

It is very gratifying to see attendance at Sunday School and church services on the increase, now that the vacation season is drawing to a close, but there are many that are missed. The regular services in both Sunday School and church next Sunday, with Sunday School at ten, morning worship at 11.15, and vespers at 7.45.

The Luther League will hold its first devotional service this coming Sunday evening at 6.45 p. m. The Luther League has a very attractive variety of activities, to which all young people and friends of our church are invited. The devotional program is under a new leader every Sunday evening. This feature of the league is beneficial in many ways. It trains one to prayer, public speech, and ability in directing group gatherings. It deeps the spiritual life immeasurably, and also makes for a more spirited religious fervor. The social program is no less attractive. Every month our local league holds one of its own, and at another time in the month, there is a district Luther League devotional and social rally at one of the Lutheran Churches in this southern district of New Jersey. The members of our League who have ever gone to these, keep going. A wonderful time is always to be had. The athletic program, mainly in basketball, is being elaborately planned. There will be a "Luther League of basketball." If you are a live young Lutheran, you will fit in splendidly in this "Live Luther League."

The mid-week prayer services will begin this coming Thursday, September 15th, at eight o'cock. The study will be of the parable of the Sower.

1. How many reasons did Jesus give for speaking in parables?

2. Of the four divisions of humanity made by Christ—"the wayside ground hearers—the rocky ground hearers—the tares hearers—and fallow ground hearers,—where do following belong: heathen, moral outcasts, backsliders, unbelievers in Christendom, procrastinators in religion?

3. In how many respects do stony ground hearers differ from wayside hearers, and what are they?

4. Which class shows the duality of human nature, such as may be seen in an exaggerated degree in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde?"

5. Are any others except those in class four—the fallow ground hearers saved?

6. If Christ spoke the parable today, would he add more classes?

The Ladies' Aid Society is giving a Chicken Supper and Bazaar on Thursday, September 29, at six o'clock. The ladies of the church have been working very diligently in making and gathering special articles for this bazaar, and they will have something interesting to show you. Remember the date, Spetember 29, at six.

The First Lutheran Choir under the leadership of Mr. Lee Mitton is going to present to the people of this community, a program of sacred high grade music the last Sunday evening of each month. On these evenings, there will be no sermon, but the major musical renditions of the choir will be given instead. Further details of the musicale service will be given in next week's issue of the local papers. Choir rehearsals will start promptly at nine Thursday evening.

Colored Masons Meet in Palmyra

Grand Body Extends Thanks to Officials and Citizens of Town

The colored Masons held a convention in Palmyra last week and have expressed their appreciation to the town in the following letter to the newspapers:

To the Officials and Citizens of Palmyra, we, the Grand Body of York Masons in the state of New Jersey and elsewhere heartily thank you for your kindness shown to this body. We came to your city on Thursday, Sept. 8, and were taken to our various rooms of rest, then going into session and having a very nice time afterward. The committee on sight-seeing took us over your little city which was enjoyed by all.

On Friday, after a good session, we attended the reception arranged by St. John's No. 2 and Be Square No. 3, of Palmyra. We received a glorious welcome to your city by the Hon. George N. Wimer which was enjoyed and highly appreciated by all. This was responded to by our Noble Grand Master Louis H. Byrd, of Camden. There followed a solo by Miss Ella Scott, of Philadelphia, and a duet by Miss Scott and Miss Daniels, accompanied by the orchestra; duet by Mrs. M. E. Myers, M. A. M. and John Williams, P. M.; Glorious Masonic Reading by Mrs. Helen Williams, G. C. Secretary.

The words spoken by A. F. N. Harris, D. G. Master, of Hackensack, and Daniel Mack, N. D. D., of New York, will long be remembered by all. We wish to say that the music rendered by Master Timothy Johnson and his assistants was a great feature of the evening. We ask you to encourage Mr. Johnson that he may become a great factor in the music world. This organization prays for your success. Collation was great. We will long remember this affair.

We thank the police for such grand service rendered this Grand Body while in parade to and from St. Paul's U. A. M. E. Church. The great spiritual welcome by Rev. D. B. Ennis, S. T. D., was highly enjoyed. After returning to the hall, led by Merchantville Band, with much regret we made preparations to leave your city.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th
Rector

September and School days—There is a pleasant touch in the story of Jacob, where after the reconciliation between Esau and himself, he lets Esau precede him, and says "I will lead on gently, according to the pace of the children."

The march is turned into a cradle song when we learn that the pace of the father should be the pace of his weakest child. We are in step with our Lord only when we are moving according to the pace of the children. The author of Genus says "One of the little boys uttered a great philosophic truth once. Some one said to him "How old are you?" And he answered: "I'm not old at all. I'm nearly new." He had not formed bad habits; he was not prejudiced against the Bible; he had not discussed as to whether Christianity is a failure, or whether religion is played out. The heart of a child is virgin soil. Early sowing is the only wise sowing. We have all heard of a fine lady who has music wherever she goes. The reason is, she has bells on her toes. Those bells are on the feet of our children today. Their tiny pattering feet make the music of life for us; and those little feet may yet lead the world to Christ."

Sunday School commences on Sunday next at 2.30 to the great joy of many. We can find excellent use for three teachers, and can promise them a fabulous interest in return for their services.

Did you ever hear of a group of young students who said, "No, we don't want to stop our work during the summer?" Well we can tell you of such a group called the Girl's Friendly Society, whose work will shortly be manifest. Just keep your eyes open and wait a little while. They meet every Tuesday evening at 7.30. Basketry, painting, woodwork, etc. etc., is part of the program.

Speaking entirely without reference to notes I should say the primary need of the country is Fathers who will say "Come on son let's go to church and worship God this morning."

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet in the Parish House on Monday, the 18th, at 2.30 and the Vestry meeting on Monday evening at 8 p. m.

Services next Sunday, 14th after Trinity:

Holy Communion 7.30 a. m.
Morning Prayer and Sermon 10.30
"Treasure in Earthen Vessels"
Sunday School. Opening Session 2.30.
Choral Evensong 8.00
"The Evening Sacrifice"

Automobile stop signs in Ann Arbor, Mich., now are marked with figures telling the fine for violating the law.

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Evening Service at 7.30 o'clock will open with an old time Song Service. The musical program will be as follows: "Calm as the Night," by Bohm; "Romance," by Sheppard; "Pomposo," by Galbraith. Anthem, "The Lost Chord." The pastor will begin a new series of sermons entitled "The Tragedies and Triumphs of Every Day Life." They will be presented in the following order:

No. 2. The Triumph of Real Religion in the Pew.
No. 3. The Tragedy of Misdirected Childhood.
No. 4. The Triumph of Well Chosen Companions.
No. 5. The Tragedy of the Engagement Ring.
No. 6. The Triumph of Real Religion in the Home.
No. 7. The Tragedy of Ungodly Society.
No. 8. The Tragedy of Good-for-Nothing Church Members.
No. 9. The Tragedy of a Christless Grave.
No. 10. The Triumph of The Everlasting Song.

Every service will be full of music, good cheer and delightful fellowship.

The Burlington County Young People's Conference will be held in this Church Sept. 16 and 17. First session Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Inspirational addresses, instructive departmental conferences, helpful talks. Everybody welcome at all sessions. The closing session Saturday evening.

On Monday evening at 6.30, the annual banquet and election of officers. Rev. Charles T. Bates, of the Riverton Presbyterian Church will deliver the address. Mr. Bates never fails to instruct and inspire.

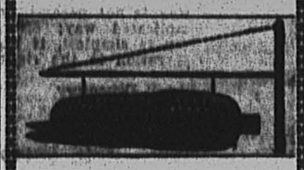

The delegates to the Blairstown Teacher Training School will report the good things said and done at this well known Summer School.

The Palmyra-Riverton Religious Training School will convene Tuesday, Sept. 27. Dr. Brotemarkle will be in charge and will continue his very fine lectures on "Human Behavior." A competent teacher in the Philadelphia Teacher Training School will conduct studies in the Old Testament. This course of unusual merit is open to all. A moderate registration fee will be charged. Last season's registration ran far beyond the expectation of the Council. This Course promises to be equally as good if not better. It is the most notable school in Burlington County.

Ladies Aid Society will hold their Annual Supper Friday, Oct. 7.

Protect Your State Against Scheming Politicians

Of the Five Amendments to the Constitution to be voted for at the Special Election, Tuesday, September 20, the Fourth Amendment known as the term-extender, electing a Governor the same year as the President of the United States, is a vicious partisan political measure. It has no place in the Constitution. A similar amendment was rejected by the voters at a Special Election in 1909. The people by their votes served notice on the selfish politicians who espoused the amendment that the Constitution was a sacred instrument and shoud not be used as a political football. They will do so again next Tuesday.

The only meritorious amendment of the Five is the one providing for Zoning regulation. It is the First Amendment. Vote YES for Zoning and NO on all the other amendments. Keep partisan politics out of the Constitution.

This is the form of the ballot and how every citizen who has the welfare of the State at heart should vote:

FIRST AMENDMENT

Shall this zoning amendment be adopted?	Yes	X
	No.

FOURTH AMENDMENT

Shall this amendment providing for biennial legislative sessions and changing terms of office of Governor and members of the Legislative be adopted?	Yes
	No.	X

THIRD AMENDMENT

Shall this amendment regulating subsequent amendments to the Constitution be adopted?	Yes
	No.	X

SECOND AMENDMENT

Shall this water supply district, etc., amendment be adopted?	Yes
	No.	X

FIFTH AMENDMENT

Shall this amendment relating to term of office for Common Pleas Judges be adopted?	Yes
	No.	X

Governor Moore, in denouncing the so-called Republican leaders who sponsored the Amendment said:

This is a vicious piece of partisan legislation; and the same group of politicians responsible for it have been planning for several years to repeal the direct primary law and to return to the long-ago discarded convention system, so they might be able to control nominations of candidates for office, without giving the voters a voice in the matter.

I cannot conceive of a more dastardly plot against the integrity of the Constitution or the State, and as bitterly as I am against this invasion of State rights, I would oppose this trick political amendment just as strenuously if it were sponsored by my own party.

Help Governor Moore protect the State and all its people by defeating the Fourth Amendment, the purpose of which is to confuse the voters in a Presidential year so that a Boss and corporation controlled candidates for Governor can be elected on the coat-tails of a Presidential candidate.

RIVERTON LOSES BY 2-0 TO FLORENCE LEAGUE TEAM

Bearint Allows Only Three Hits in Six and Two-third Frames; Fans 3

FLORENCE GOT BREAKS THROUGHOUT CONTEST

Riverton lost the first tussle of the three-game series with the R. D. Wood team of Florence last Saturday by a 2-0 score.

The Riverton boys appeared to play in hard luck all through the game. Their hits seemed to fall right into the gloves of the outfielders or bounce into the hands of the infielders.

Florence scored one run in the second. Beaudry lifted a high one to Johnny Hughes in center. Frankenfield poked a single to right that hit just inside the foul line but to Julian it looked foul so he did not chase it until Young hollered for him to get the sphere. By that time the batter had seached third. Everham singled Frankenfield home. Frappolli and Everham were both out on a double play, Hoffman to Reeves to Cusak.

Lose Good Chance

In the third Riverton was in a scoring position but could not pull a marker across the pentagon. Julian singled to open the third. Reds Young sacrificed him to second with a pretty bunt down the third base line. Cusak fanned. Hughes walked but Reeves had another bit of hard luck when Woolston gathered in his hard smack to center for the last out.

The fourth brought another run to the Florence aggregation. Woolston walked. Faulks attempted to push Woolston around with a sacrifice but Bearint in fielding the ball slipped and fell, allowing Woolston to take third and Faulks to stay on first. Bearint caught Faulks napping off first. Beaudry hit a sacrifice fly to Hughes scoring Woolston but the run should not have counted as Woolston never went back to "tag up" at third on the fly, and started running before Hughes caught the ball. Frankenfield raised one to Julian in right. If the base umpire (Phillips) had been on the job Woolston's run would not have been good.

Bearint is Chased

In the seventh inning Bearint was dismissed from the game because he told the umpires just how good they were. Bearint had thrown to first to catch Frankenfield, who started to second on the throw as he could not get back to first, and Cusak threw to Hoffman who tagged Frankenfield four feet off the base. Phillips called him out but upon recommendation of a Florence player, Michaels, umpiring behind the plate, declared the runner entitled to the base on a balk.

Bearint has used the same motion the whole year in throwing to first and has not had a balk called on that play. Bearint then had an argument with the umps and was dismissed from the game. The Florence manager went on the field, which he is not supposed to do unless in a uniform, but nothing was said by the umpires about this.

Riverton played a good brand of ball having only one error, and that did not matter as there were no men in scoring position.

Julian is credited with Riverton's only hit. Bearint had three strike outs. Reeves and Hoffman led the field in assists, having three each.

Everham had eight strike outs. At least one of these, and how many others is not known, were caused by the catcher hitting the bat with his glove to make the batter swing wrong.

ONLY ZONING WINS

Democrats Overwhelm Other Four Amendments

Four of the five proposed constitutional amendments were defeated in the special state election Tuesday.

The one successful amendment, providing for zoning, was favored by Democrats and Republicans alike.

The other amendments were opposed by the state democratic organization, especially the one providing for the election of governors at the same time the President is elected.

The Democratic organization under the leadership of Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, snowed under the four defeated amendments in North Jersey, although they were given majorities throughout most of the southern part of the state where the Republican vote is strong.

Medical Progress and Amateur Films

Dr. Herman Goodman Says Medical Science is Being Advanced by Movie

Advancement of medical science is being greatly stimulated by the development of amateur motion picture making, it is declared by Dr. Herman Goodman, of the staffs of the New York Skin and Cancer and West Side Hospitals, in an article entitled "Saving Lives with Celluloid" in Amateur Movie Makers, the official organ of the Amateur Cinema League.

"The value of motion pictures in medicine and surgery have long been realized," he stated, "but these possibilities have been infinitely multiplied by widespread use of amateur motion picture apparatus by physicians themselves. This is because the making of such films requires accurate knowledge of the technique of the medical profession, as well as knowledge of motion picture making. But, whereas it has been out of the question to expect professional cameramen to learn the medical profession, which requires a lifetime of study, it has been quite practical for physicians and surgeons to master the simpler problems of motion picture making.

"By their activities will be recorded the experimentation through which will come the advances in the medical field. And their film records will spread new knowledge and new skill with a rapidity hitherto undreamed. Their films will come to the schools and colleges. Medical students will no longer have to depend on imagination to fill out the word pictures of their teachers. Through these motion pictures every seat in the clinics will become a front seat, by the magic of the camera's eye placing every student at the very elbow of the operating surgeon.

The recent exhibition, by Williams, Brown & Earle, Inc., of Philadelphia, well known dealers in motion picture equipment, showing a number of interesting motion picture reels covering major and minor surgical operations of results of recent experiments in Surgical Motion Photography made in conjunction with several of the leading local surgeons, has graphically demonstrated the simplicity and value of procuring this aid for Education in the Medical Field.

PALMYRA STARS

Three Palmyra men, all proteges of Jim Rapp's Palmyra A. A. baseball combination, helped greatly Saturday in winning the championship of the Camden Suburban League when Delair, second half champs, trounced Barrington in the fifth and final game of the series at Public Service Park, 12th and Federal streets, Camden. The final count was Delair 16, Barrington 11. All three Palmyrians played with Delair.

Weikman played the initial sack for the winners and had four hits out of five trips to the plate. He also scored two runs beside fielding his position perfectly, handling nine chances without an error. Harper was on the receiving end and held Welsh and Reynolds, Delair hurlers, in fine style. Harper walloped out two nice bingles out of six times at bat and scored three counters. King, the third Palmyra man, also played a good game afield and scored two runs.

All in all the three men scored seven of the 16 runs and played the biggest part in bringing the championship to Delair.

Columbus Knights Name New Officers

Harry Sim Succeeds Joseph Yearly as Grand Knight of Palmyra Council

A large and enthusiastic gathering of Knights assembled at the K. of C. headquarters last Tuesday evening for the annual election of the Council's officers.

When Grand Knight Yearly called the meeting to order it was evident that some agreeable surprises were in store for the members.

As soon as the name of Harry Sim was suggested for Grand Knight the members accepted him by unanimous choice and judging by the loud and continuous applause this was surely the most popular choice for the leading office, and the one who would keep St. Joseph's Council the leading and most successful Council in the State.

In placing the name of Mr. Sim before the Council T. Austin Eadon spoke of the unselfish service of Mr. Sim rendered since the inauguration of the Council. Always working for the interest of St. Joseph's Council and the advancement of Columbianism. As treasurer of the Council since its institution his record for service is outstanding because of his efficient and accurate rendering of the accounts of this important office.

Other Officers

The other officers elected were: Deputy Grand Knight, Adolph Strohlein; Chancellor, William H. Rowan; Warden, Joseph Schuler, Jr.; Recording Secretary, William J. Eck; Treasurer, Joseph T. Yearly; Trustee, three-year term, George A. Strohlein; Inside Guard, Jacob Strohlein; Outside Guard, Lawrence Schuler.

Delegates to State Convention, M. J. McDermott and H. C. Sim. Alternates, T. A. Eadon and Joseph T. Yearly.

Delegates to County Chapter, T. A. Eadon, John Hackett, Gerald T. Smith, M. J. McDermott.

Advocate, Harry R. Bradshaw.

The Council was unanimous in its choice of all the officers and in every case there was a change with the exception of the Deputy Grand Knight, Recording Secretary and Trustee three-year term and Advocate.

Gift for Yearly

Immediately after the elections William J. Eck on behalf of the Council presented the retiring Grand Knight with a beautiful watch. In making the presentation Mr. Eck spoke of the enviable record established by Mr. Yearly in keeping St. Joseph's Council the leader in K. of C. activities in the state.

Among the outstanding achievements of his administration was the institution of the Communion Breakfast, dedication of the hall, increase of membership, very successful card parties and the big comedy show. The biggest achievement of the Council under his guidance was the organization of the Columbus Cadets, a work that will carry on to greater success.

The retiring Grand Knight was overwhelmed and greatly surprised at receiving such a wonderful token of appreciation from the membership and was at a loss for words to express his appreciation. In thanking the Council and officers for their wonderful support during his administration he stated that the progress of St. Joseph's was brought about by the united efforts of the entire membership and not alone by his efforts. Success for the newly elected officers and a plea for the entire membership to get behind and assist the new officers were his parting words.

Outing For Cadets

Next Saturday, Andrew J. Pfaff, the leader of the Columbus Cadets will take his charges to Joseph Yearly's cottage for an outing over the weekend. As High Point offers a multitude of amusement for the boys a wonderful time is looked forward to by the Cadets. Cars will leave the hall about one o'clock.

On October 11, the city of Burlington is staging a big celebration marking the 250th anniversary of the founding of the oldest city in this part of the state. The combined units of the Columbus Cadets of Burlington County will at this time participate in the first public celebration since their inauguration. The Hopewell Band has been engaged to lead the Cadets and the various captains are eager to have their boys display their military abilities.

Parade starts at 2 o'clock on High street. The boys will be the guests of the city and many events are scheduled for their entertainment.

HITS TRAFFIC LIGHT

A woman driving a large sedan bearing Atlantic County license tags knocked down the small traffic light at the intersection of Broad and Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, Monday morning. The lady hit the light as she was driving across the railroad tracks on her way to Riverton. No arrest was made.

LIONS HEAR STATE CHIEF

John A. Reddan Explains How Yearly Appropriations Are Regulated

MAKING EFFORT TO CUT STATE EXPENDITURES

John A. Reddan, State Budget Commissioner, of Trenton, addressed the Palmyra Lions Club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Reddan explained the working of the commission in detail, showing how every item of state expense is carefully investigated before it is included in the year's budget.

Under the present system institutions and agencies asking money must give facts concerning their needs, and not theories or generalities. Unless a clear and understandable statement of requirements, which can be verified, is given, no appropriation is forthcoming.

The budget commissioners travel all over the state, visiting the various state aided projects and making personal investigation of items for which funds are asked. Numerous pictures are taken to be used as proof of actual conditions.

The annual budget report is so complete as to be a digest of the work of all state departments.

Mr. Reddan spoke of the effort now being made to have the state produce as much of the materials it uses as possible. For instance the various state farms are now raising much pork to provide meats for state institutions. A tire repair plant has been established in the state prison.

Furthermore needless expenditures are being eliminated everywhere. A request for a huge quantity of butter for the state prison was denied. The $60,000 telephone tolls of last year are being cut down severely this year.

Mr. Reddan referred to a recommendation by Governor Moore last year that $34,200 be sent for the purchase and development of some additional land at Washington's Crossing Park. He characterized this as a type of expenditure which could not be classified in the dollars and cents column on the basis of estimated returns.

The wisdom of the Governor in allocating the people's money for purposes of this character must be gauged by the value attached to the nurturing of good citizenship and a reconstruction of the public to the tenets Washington held sacred.

The speaker said that one of his valued possessions is a letter from Commander Richard E. Byrd, navigator of the monoplane "America," stating that before the plane took off on her recent historic flight to France she was christened in the presence of 2,000 people with water taken from the Delaware at Washington's Crossing. The taking of this water for such an auspicious occasion is another indication that the people of other sections regard the site of Washington's Crossing as a national shrine, even if New Jersey has been a little tardy in this respect.

Mr. Reddan's talk was greatly appreciated by the Lions Club as he had given the members an insight into the workings of a state governmental department of which they had known little or nothing and yet which is of great importance to every citizen because it seeks to reduce state expenditures and thereby reduce taxes.

BLAZE AT P. H. S.

Blaze in Coal Bin Soon Extinguished by Fire Company

The Palmyra Fire Company was called out Sunday evening to the Palmyra High School, Fifth and Delaware avenue, to extinguish a fire that had started in the coal bin in the basement of the school. The fire started under the pile of soft coal that had been laid in for the winter. It was a case of spontaneous combustion.

The firemen were at the school very shortly after the alarm was sent in and their quick response saved probable damage to the rest of the building. Water was applied to the coal pile but it was of no use as it stayed on top because the coal was packed solidly. The coal was then shoveled out and the fire soon extinguished.

CARD PARTY AND DANCE

A Card Party and Dance will be given by the B. V. M. Sodality of the Sacred Heart Church, Riverton, on Saturday evening, October 1, at the K. of C. Home, Broad and Elm avenue, Palmyra.

Bridge, Pinochle, "500" and Euchre will be played for which prizes will be given.

St. Francis Xavier's Orchestra of Philadelphia, will furnish the music for the dancing.

HIT BY CAR

Riverside Boy Slightly Hurt at East Riverton

Richard Forker, of 208 Huelings avenue, Riverside, was struck by a Dodge roadster driven by Lester Hubbs, of Main street, Bridgeboro, Tuesday morning on the highway at East Riverton. Forker was accompanied by another Riverside boy and were on their way to Riverton. At Union Landing the two boys were stopped by a truck driver who asked his directions. The two boys were standing in the middle of the road when they saw Hubbs coming down from Riverside. Both dashed for the opposite side of the road instead of waiting for Hubbs to pass. In an effort to avoid hitting either boy, Hubbs swerved to the right of the road and crashed into a telephone pole, badly damaging the rear of his car. The Forker boy was taken to Palmyra by a passing motorist. Chief of Palmyra Police C. Morris Beck sent the boy to the Cooper Hospital in the Palmyra ambulance where it was found he suffered bruises on his back.

The driver of the Dodge machine is employed by his father, C. H. Hubbs, a Bridgeboro paperhanger.

Girls' Hockey Team Ready for Battles

Miss Purbeck's Proteges at P. H. S. Meet Paulsboro Wednesday

With Miss Marion E. Purbeck, one of the greatest hockey stars ever developed at Collingswood High School, as their coach, the Palmyra High School girls' hockey team is working out daily for its first game with the Paulsboro eleven next Wednesday afternoon, September 28, at the Palmyra Field Club grounds. This is the first game in the South Jersey Scholastic League, from which several Palmyra girls have been picked on the All-South Jersey Scholastic team during the past few years.

Hockey has not been very successful in recent years at P. H. S. but there is no reason for this, Miss Purbeck says, as Palmyra has always had good teams. What the team lacks is support, both by the student body and the townspeople. The football team gets good backing and if the girl's sports would be supported as well as the boy's teams, both would be on a level with each other. If you have never seen a hockey game, real contested affairs, come out to the Field Club grounds next Wednesday afternoon and see the girl's hockey eleven in action against Paulsboro.

The schedule as announced by Manager Sarah McKee is as follows: (This is the S. J. League games, several other teams will also be played.)

Sept. 28—Paulsboro at Palmyra.
Oct. 5—Moorestown at Palmyra.
Oct. 12—Collingswood at Palmyra.
Oct. 19—Palmyra at Woodbury.
Oct. 26—Palmyra at Haddonfield.
Nov. 2—Moorestown Friends at Palmyra.
Nov. 9—Camden at Palmyra.
Nov. 16—Palmyra at Gloucester.
Nov. 21—Palmyra at Trenton.

SEASON TICKETS

Palmyra High School Athletic Association Adopts Plan

At a meeting of the Palmyra High School Athletic Association this week it was decided to issue a season ticket for both hockey and football. The tickets will be good for all homes games to be played at the Palmyra Field Club grounds.

The football schedule at present contains six home games with Lambertville, Temple, Haddon Heights, Haddonfield, Trenton and the Palmyra Alumni to be played Thanksgiving Day. The season passes will be $1.50 whereas a single contest would cost thirty-five cents, a savings of sixty cents.

The hockey schedule at present has five home games with South Jersey Scholastic League teams including Paulsboro next Wednesday afternoon, Moorestown, Collingswood, Moorestown Friends, and Pitman. Several other independent games will be scheduled and at present it is almost certain that the Temple girl's team will be played at home. These season tickets are also $1.50 and at a big savings Buy a season pass and help the team along. This opportunity also holds good to outsiders as well as the students of the school.

SIMON & SIMON SELECTED AS ARCHITECTS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Council Will be Asked to Trade Piece of Memorial Park for Lot at 4th and Howard

WILL SUBMIT PLANS AND ESTIMATED COST

At a meeting of the Riverton Board of Education last night the firm of Simon and Simon of Philadelphia, was unanimously elected as architects for the new school building for which the people of Riverton will be asked to appropriate money as soon as the board has a definite proposition to lay before them. On motion of D. M. Clifton, seconded by Harry E. Davis, the clerk was instructed to notify Simon and Simon that they had been selected as architects. The motion covering the selection of an architect was made by D. M. Clifton and seconded by Francis B. Elwell.

There was a division of opinion among the members as to the next step to be taken. District Clerk Hemphill suggested that the voters be asked to authorize raising a sufficient sum for the construction and equipment of the building before any plans were ordered to be prepared. When asked how the board would know how much money to ask for, Mr. Hemphill replied that he estimated the cost would be about $180,000.

President Murray C. Boyer, Mr. Elwell and others, however, thought that it would be much better to have prepared a sketch of what is proposed and a drawing showing the building before the matter is submitted to the taxpayers, and this idea prevailed.

Simon and Simon will be invited to attend a meeting of the school board on Monday evening, October 3, for the purpose of discussing the preparation of plans, description and drawings of the building.

Mr. Hemphill said that the matter of exchanging a piece of ground at Memorial Park for the lot at Fourth and Howard Streets owned by the Board of Education would be taken up at a meeting of the Borough Council next Monday night, September 26, and asked if the members of the board were willing to make the exchange. An unofficial poll showed no opposition to making the trade. Meanwhile District Clerk Hemphill will have prepared the proper papers for Mayor Hemphill to lay before the Borough Council Monday night.

Mrs. C. C. Miller nominated Mrs. C. P. Mayfield to fill the vacancy on the board caused by the resignation of Mrs. E. C. Sullivan. On motion of Mr. Hemphill, seconded by Mr. Clifton, Mrs. Mayfield was unanimously elected.

RIVERTON MAN FINED

Lucsner Accused of Reckless Driving in Pensauken

Paul Leusner, of Riverton, was fined $5.00 and costs on a charge of reckless driving by Recorder George W. Diehl, of Pensauken, last week as the aftermath of an accident September 2. On that date his truck collided with a car driven by Mrs. Lillian Martino, of Burlington Pike, Pensauken, at the intersection of Crescent boulevard and the Burlington Pike.

Mrs. Martino and her three children, Wallace, 6 months old, Thomas, Jr., 8 years old, and Gloria, 3 years old, were severely cut and bruised by the accident. Leusner was also injured. All were treated at Cooper Hospital.

Leusner was represented at the hearing by Attorney Cecil W. Rotzell and Mrs. Martino by Attorney Clifford A. Baldwin.

More Borough Work Planned by Council

Sewer Extension and Completion of Weart Boulevard to be Ordered

Plans for the construction of various sewer extensions at the cost of $5500 and the paving and further improvement of the Weart Boulevard, the total cost of which is to be $10,000 were laid at the meeting of Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday evening.

The sewer extension ordinance was passed on final reading and bids are being advertised for this week.

Ornamental light standards are to be erected on Weart Boulevard and Councilman Lees suggested that an ordinance be prepared prohibiting the erecting of Public Service or telephone poles along the sidewalk.

Rudolph Strickenbein, sewer manager, reported that various people, including storekeepers, were dumping ill-smelling refuse along the line of the main sewer line near the pumping station. Signs are to be erected by the Board of Health forbidding this and offenders will be fined.

The Public Service Company in a letter to Council called attention to the law barring the tacking of signs and posters on their poles. Mayor Weart instructed the police officers to enforce this law.

For the first time in several months Inspector Powell had no building permits to report.

William R. S. Fluck requested that the Borough assign certain tax sale certificates to him. It appears that Mr. Fluck bought some lots at a tax sale which the Borough had bought under similar circumstances several years ago.

Evidently all records of the purchases by the Borough have been lost, since there would be no occasion to sell for taxes lots which were already owned by the Borough itself. The finance committee was instructed to look into the matter.

A hearing on the increase in rates being sought by the Riverton and Palmyra Water Company will be held in Trenton on September 27 and Solicitor Low and Councilman Cramer will be present to represent the Borough of Palmyra.

TRAP SHOOTING

The last shoot of the Burlington County Trap Shooters League was held on the grounds of the Willingboro club on Tuesday September 13 at 5.30 p. m. with the following scores: Game League 372, Willingboro 333, Florence 320.

A shoot will be held at Florence on Saturday, September 24, at 1.30 p. m. at which time all ties will be shot off and the spoons and prizes will be awarded. At this time arrangements will be made for the winter shoots. It is desired that shooters from Indian Mills and Hedding be present at this time.

A special meeting of the Game League was held at the Court House on Tuesday September 13 at 8 p. m. to arrange dates for the field trials.

The trials for setters and pointers will be held on the farm "The Friends of the Hunting Dog" on October 24 at 8 a. m. For blanks and information apply to W. W. Worrell, Mount Holly.

P. H. S. Has Bright Gridiron Prospects

Plenty of Material, Both Old and New, For 1927 Football Team

Coach Kenneth C. Dimond, of Palmyra High School, former DePauw all-around athlete, is daily grinding his squad of footballers at the Palmyra Field Club grounds for their opening battle. With two squads of men who know the fundamentals of the gridiron, daily scrimmages are being held. Several days the so-called "scrubs" have fought hard and held the 'varsity to a standstill.

With ten lettermen back this year, Coach Dimond says he has a "good eleven" and looks forward to a banner year. Last season the proteges of Dimond at P. H. S. sent back Burlington High for the championship of Burlington county. Burlington will again be played this year at Burlington, November 4. The ten lettermen that are back include Captain "Harry" Jenkins, who succeeds Henry "Pop" Mathers, at center; Paul Keanon and Vernon Adams at guards; Bill Kersey, a tackle; Joe Sacks, end; Ed. Hutchins, quarterback; Vic Mueller, halfback; Leon Sloan, halfback and Johnny Meyers, fullback. Dimond has a fast and clever reserve backfield in Knight, at quarter; Siddall and Schmierer at halves and Gibson, fullback. Schmierer is one of the many candidates who are giving the varsity strong bids for their positions.

Palmyra has some good men in Purnell, former Camden High tackle and Gibson, a fullback from Pensauken, another colored star. Another lad who entered Palmyra from Bordentown High is giving the guards a fight for their berths.

The ambitious schedule arranged by Manager Lou Muernier is as follows:

Sept. 23.—(Game pending.)
Oct. 1—Collingswood, away.
Oct. 7—Lambertville, home.
Oct. 15—Temple, home.
Oct. 21—Haddon Heights, home.
Oct. 28—Haddonfield, home.
Nov. 4—Burlington, away.
Nov. 11—Moorestown, away.
Nov. 19—Trenton I. for D., home.
Nov. 25—Alumni, home.

Plan Great Electric Power Combination

Public Service and Philadelphia Company Will Connect Generating Plants

Announcement has been made of the signing of a contract by Thomas N. McCarter, president, for Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Walter H. Johnson, president, for Philadelphia Electric Company and Sidney Z. Mitchell, chairman of the board, for Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, which provides for the interconnection of the electric system of the three companies, which when completed will pool the output of generation stations having a combined capacity of more than 2,500,000 kilowatts. The pool will be one of the largest, if not the largest in the world.

An 82-mile transmission line will be constructed from Siegfried, Pa., eight miles north of Allentown to a switching station to be constructed at Roseland near Newark where it will connect with lines from Kearny and other stations of Public Service; a 49-mile line will be constructed from Siegfried to a switching station to be constructed near Philadelphia, where it will meet lines from Conowingo and other Philadelphia Electric stations. The Roseland and Philadelphia stations will be connected by a 77-mile line, the whole forming a "ring" into which will feed all of the generation stations of the three companies.

The work of constructing the transmission lines and switching stations will, it is expected, be completed in 1930 and will cost in the neighborhood of $26,000,000.

The principal advantage which the interconnection of the systems of the Public Service, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania companies is expected to achieve is improvement in service, especially as to dependability, and in addition there will be benefits arising from diversity of load, the possibility of staggering construction programs, and ability to concentrate production in the most efficient generation plants irrespective of ownership.

The peak of the load carried by the Pennsylvania company which serves the coal mining and cement making district of Pennsylvania comes in October and at 10 o'clock A. M. The maximum load on the Philadelphia company and of Public Service comes in December and at 5 P. M. It is expected that after the interconnection is established Public Service and Philadelphia Electric will be supplying Pennsylvania Power and Light in October of each year with such capacity as its peak load requires, while in December the excess capacity will flow to Public Service and Philadelphia Electric.

The present capacity of the stations of Philadelphia Electric Company is 570,000 kw. The opening of the Conowinga hydro electric station in June 1928 will increase this by 250,000 kw. The present capacity of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company stations is 292,000 kw. exclusive of the capacity of interconnected stations of other companies, and the present capacity of Public Service is 575,000 kw. It is expected that the capacity of Conowingo will provide the requirements of the three companies until the Pennsylvania company constructs a new station somewhere in the mining regions and that this station will meet the combined needs until Public Service builds a new plant. Without interconnection all three companies would have to make large investment in plants much before that date than will now be necessary.

The transmission lines of the new interconnection will each have a capacity of 250,000 kilowatts. Eighty-foot steel towers spaced about 1,000 feet apart will carry a single circuit of three conductors of approximately an inch in diameter.

The Roseland switching station to be built by Public Service will occupy a plot of about forty acres and will cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. Construction work will begin sometime this Fall.

The three companies involved in the new pool are among the largest in the United States. Philadelphia Electric Company serves the city of Philadelphia and much of its out-lying territory; Pennsylvania Power and Light Company serves a large area in Eastern Pennsylvania, including the cities of Allentown, Bethlehem, Hazelton and Sunbury, and Public Service Electric and Gas Company, a section of New Jersey stretching from the Hudson to the Delaware, including Newark, Jersey City, Paterson, Trenton, Camden and some 200 other municipalities.

AUTO IS MAKING US AN OUTDOOR RACE

"Every once in a while some professor rises to say that the widespread and fast-increasing use of automotive transportation will make a puny and legless race of Americans," says Frederick E. Rein of the Rein Motor Company, local Nash dealer.

"The dear professor should have somebody give him a ride some day. Lots of men, women and children play golf, picnic out, fish and romp in the outdoors only because they can get there in the car. The automobile has given the benefits of outdoor exercise to more people than any other agency in history."

RED CROSS

The regular meeting of the Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, was held on Monday in Burlington. The Home Service Department reported the usual Summer activities. The Production Chairman has received 77 Christmas bags to be used in hospital distribution. The Home Hygiene Department reported the graduation of a good class at Mount Holly.

The chapter's apportionment for the Mississippi flood sufferers was almost reached. The Junior chairman reported 19 enrollments in schools for Red Cross work.

The National Red Cross convention will be held in Washington from October 3rd to 6th. The State meeting will be held at Jersey City, October 18, and the County meeting will be October 28th, in Burlington, when plans will be perfected for the annual Roll Call.

Mary A. Smith,
Publicity Chairman.

LEGION PLACING FLAGS IN HOMES

MacFarland Post of Burlington, Getting Fine Cooperation In Patriotic Work

Members of Captain James MacFarland Post, No. 79, American Legion, of Burlington, are meeting with fine co-operation in their work of putting an American flag in every home, and there is every indication that the civic parade and the military parade of the quarter millennial anniversary will wind their way through streets lined on either side with the beautiful national colors.

With the slogan, "A Flag in Every Home," the post boys, headed by J. Madison Whomsley, made a canvass of the town with a view to having sidewalk flags placed. Everywhere they were given a cordial reception, that showed that their campaign is an immensely popular one, and it seems safe to say that a majority of the property owners, if not all of them, will take one or more of the flags that the Legionaires have to offer.

ASSESSOR WILKINS RETIRES FROM JOB

Willson Named Successor in Pensauken Township; H. Leslie Rogers Treasurer

Elected time and again as assessor for Pensauken township, J. Newlin Wilkins presented his resignation several weeks ago. It was not formally considered by the township committee until last week, when it was accepted and his successor elected.

Harry A. Willson, township treasurer, was agreed upon for the vacancy after careful deliberation. He accepted the office and will assume his new duties October 1. At the same time he presented his resignation as treasurer and H. Leslie Rogers was elected his successor. His election also is effective October 1.

Regret was expressed at the decision of Wilkins to retire from office. He had won the reputation as being the most careful assessor in the county, from members of the county board. The increasing burden of the office coupled with the demand for his time by other interests, were the reasons given for his resignation.

BLOOD STREAM HAS TIDES LIKE OCEAN

The only time most people think anything about the ebb and flow of tides is when they are at the seaside or on the river. Few people know they have their own tides in the blood stream pumped from the heart. That this is so has been shown by Dr. F. B. Shaw, who declared that that the high tide of the white corpuscles of the blood usually comes just after midnight and again in the afternoon. These tides, he says, may be related to the hours of eating and sleeping or to the changing positions of the sun and earth.

Another doctor has discovered that anger makes the blood sweeter. After making several people angry, he drew off samples of blood, and in all cases found more sugar in the blood after the fit of emotion than before.

Forestry Exhibit Will be Shown

State Department of Conservation Stresses Fire Service at Fair

One of the features of the various State exhibits to be held in the State Building at the Trenton Fair, which begins Monday, September 26, will be the exhibit of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Development. This season the Department is placing special stress on the Forest Fire Service, Forestry and Water Resources and the story is graphically brought out by the means of miniature stage settings, continuous motion pictures and the various instruments being shown in actual operation.

The booth will be divided into three sections. One of the sections has been entirely given over to the exhibit of the New Jersey Forest Fire Service and will be equipped with the various instruments used in locating, controlling and extinguishing forest fires.

In addition to these various instruments there will be continuous showings of a motion picture of the actual work of the New Jersey Forest Fire Service in action. This picture was taken by the Fox Films at a fire in South Jersey and tells the entire story of the wonderful work being done by the New Jersey Forest Fire Service in protecting the State's 2,000,000 acres of woodland against the ravishes of the forest fires. Many thrilling incidents will be shown on the screen, including hair-raising rides by the fire wardens, the rescue of a family whose home was caught in the path of the fire and the various methods used by the fire wardens in combating the flames.

This is without a doubt the most complete and comprehensive forest fire exhibit ever put on in New Jersey. A fire warden will be in constant attendance to explain the workings of the service.

Another section of the booth will be occupied by the Forestry exhibit. Here the work of the Forestry Division will be brought out in a unique manner by the means of five miniature stage settings equipped with special lighting effects. The various uses of the State's woodlands will be shown.

One stage setting will faithfully depict a tangled, neglected forest. Next to it will be a setting showing what can be done with this same woods under State care and supervision. The recreational uses of the forests wil also be shown in another setting. The distinct advantage of forestry as a means of conserving the States water will be depicted in the last two settings.

A third section of the booth will contains the unusually interesting and educational exhibit of the Division of Waters. Water is one of the most vital problems facing New Jersey today and here one will see the excellent work being carried on by the State to provide sufficient water supply and to conserve its most valuable of natural resources, water.

By means of a stereomotorgraph beautifully colored views of the various reservoirs, dams, wells and other water supply projects throughout the State will be continuously projected on a screen. The instruments used by the hydraulic engineers in their work will be on exhibition in operation. Many other interesting phases of the conservation and development of the State's water resources will be shown.

The booth will be 42 feet long and 19 feet deep. It will contain an elaborate mechanical equipment, including over 200 electric lights, a stereomotorgraph and the latest device for the continuous projection of motion pictures.

JEALOUSY LEADS HUSBAND TO JAIL

Threats To Kill Charged To Maple Shade Wielder of Guns After Separation

Jealousy of his pretty wife led Harry Hippley, 28 years old, of 65 Pine street, Maple Shade, to a cell in the Burlington County jail at Mount Holly Wednesday of last week, charged with threats to kill.

According to Mrs. Louise Rippley, who is Rippley's second wife, her husband's jealousy had made her life so unbearable that she had decided to leave him. He agreed to a divorce, and promised to return to her $850 she had given him at the time of their marriage.

Rippley met his wife in a Philadelphia bank and the financial transaction was made Wednesday. Mrs. Rippley returned to the home of her brother, Ivan Stoyanov, Mill road and Maple avenue. Rippley went in search of a bootlegger.

At 10.30 that night, Rippley staggered into the parlor of his brother-in-law's home, laboring under the weight of four .45 calibre automatic pistols and a quantity of liquor. He had lost a pretty wife and $850, and he was inconsolable. He brandished one of the guns and announced he had come to kill everyone present.

Stoyanov rushed to the roof of a porch, shouting "murder." Rippley dashed for the door before police arrived, but was later arrested in his home on Pine street.

WEST POINT PREP SCHOOL TO START

Offers Four Months of Intensive Coaching To Regular Army Soldiers

Creation of a special West Point preparatory school offering four months in intensive coaching to regular army soldiers with aspirations to rise from the ranks was ordered recently by Major-General James H. McRae, commandant of the Second Corps Area at Governor's Island. The new school will open November 1, at Fort Totten, near Bayside, Long Island.

Its goal, as commanded, is to prepare soldiers with some educational qualifications for the annual West Point entrance examinations, now open to all regular army personnel between the ages of 19 and 22 years, having a minimum of one year's military service. Army officers who are graduates of West Point will form the teaching staff. The school will continue until the day of the annual examinations, sometime in March, 1928.

CRYSTAL TEA ROOM ORCHESTRA AT BALL

Famous Wanamaker Musical Organization at Burlington October 1

Wanamaker's Crystal Tea Room Orchestra, well known to the thousands who patronize the great Philadelphia store, and equally well known to radio fans all over the country, will furnish the music for the invitation ball that will be given in connection with the quarter millennial anniversary celebration of the town in the Burlington Armory, South High street on Monday night, October 10.

This was decided at a meeting of the sports day committee in the Chamber of Commerce office, High and Broad streets, last week, when further arrangements were made for the ball and for the other features of the second day of the big celebration.

The orchestra will include ten pieces and be directed by Robert E. Golden, who is just as widely known and just as popular as the great organization over which he presides.

Jersey Poultrymen Standardize Product

Official Certification and Blood Testing Are Being Adopted

New Jersey poultrymen, including those representing the state's huge chick industry, are taking the lead in standardising their product through official certification and blood testing. The State Department of Agriculture announces that birds entered for certification this year at the closing date, September 1, numbered 86,000, as compared with only 7,000 birds three years ago. One hundred flock owners are represented this year, while last year 79 flock owners entered 79,218 birds. This number, however, later increased to 122,000 birds on account of flocks being larger than was shown at the time of application, and doubtless a similar increase will occur this year. Seventeen counties in the state are enrolled, as against eleven last year. The counties not represented are Camden, Hudson, Union and Cape May.

In addition, a Record of Performance service enables breeders to select the heaviest producers for breeding stock and to provide an official production record of the dams of young chicks. The entries in this division have practically doubled over last year, sixteen flocks of 15,000 birds being entered from six counties, as compared with eight flocks of 8,000 birds from four counties last year.

This work is conducted by the Department of Agriculture at the expense of the poultrymen, requesting the service and without cost to the public. It insures to purchasers quality stock guaranteed to be true to type and of good health and vigor.

Exclusive of hatcheries, the average flock inspected last year consisted of 560 birds, compared with an average of 720 birds this year. Of those inspected last season, a large majority were in two counties, Cumberland and Hunterdon, while they are more evenly distributed this season. Single Comb White Leghorns predominate, as this breed is the one used extensively for egg production.

It is said that the plan of the Burlington Traction Company to build a trolley line from Mount Holly to Pemberton, has been put on the shelf at present.

Frank P. Jones, of Beverly township, sent some very fine second-crop strawberries to the Burlington County Hospital last week. They were of the Gandy variety.

OAKLAND CARS WIN FIVE PARIS PRIZES

Take Blue Ribbons in Two Beauty Contests and Sweep Boards In "Actresses'" Race

The beauty and easy handling qualities of the Oakland Six were officially recognized when the car won five awards in recent competitions at Paris against a formidable field of contestants from all parts of the world.

The Oakland scored first in two different classes at the Concours d' Elegance, or "automobile beauty show," conducted under the auspices of the newspaper "L'Auto."

An Oakland Six coupe with snakeskin upholstered body designed by Bourack & de Costier was awarded the blue ribbon in the two-seated inside drive class. The car was driven by Mlle. Blanche Montel, prominent French actress of the Theatre de l'Avenue. In the inside drive three-seated class an Oakland coupe driven by Mrs. Barclay, wife of Major Barclay, of the American Embassy, took another first prize.

A few days later, the Actresses' Automobile Championship was held at the Parc des Princes. The rules required each of the fair contestants to drive her car over a straight course, around a sharp turn and to stop in fornt of two barriers. She the had to alight, remove the barriers, drive through, replace the barriers and finish the run.

Oakland cars, with their steering wheels and controls designed for ease of handling, particularly by women drivers, swept the boards in this contest, taking first, second and third prizes. Mlle. Montel, driving the same car which had won the beauty contest a few days before, also took first in this event. Mlle. Diana of the Theatre Marigny was second and Mlle. Huguette Jay of the Theatre des Capucines was third, both driving their own Oakland Sixes.

MUSICAL SERVICE AT FIRST LUTHERAN

Church Choir Will Render Special Program Next Sunday Evening

Our people undoubtedly remember the splendid program rendered by our choir on the evening of Easter Day last spring. From what the pastor heard of the comments made upon the special musical service, it was one of the most appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed programs of the whole year, if not indeed the very best. Now this coming, Sunday evening, we shall have another such treat, when our First Lutheran Choir brings us the message of God in song. There will be no sermon, but the following program will be given:

This program has been arranged by the director, Lee Mitton, and it is the plan of the director to present one such program the last Sunday evening of each month for some time. Besides the full membership of the regular choir, we are also glad to have Miss Amy Mitton, a vocal soloist and William Heavner, a violinist.

Our regular mid-week prayer service will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock, at which time the pastor will take up the study of the parable of the "Two Debtors." The account of this parable is given in Luke 7: 36-50, which may be read with profit by all before the discussion is taken up.

Questions for discussion:

1. Is this parable connected vitally to any of Christ's personal experiences, or is it a parable invented purely by Christ's genius to teach a general truth?
2. What three things did Jesus aim to teach by the parable? Or how many lessons are manifested to you in reading it?
3. Did Jesus endorse the theory —"The greater the sinner, the partment, Mrs. D. G. Schwartz.

PELICAN ISLAND IS SOLD TO REALTOR

Frank Hewitt, Seaside Park real estate operator, announced last week that he had bought Pelican Island, Barnegat Bay, which is crossed by the bridge at Seaside Heights.

Mr. Hewitt will not mention prices, but rumor says $60,000. Two years ago this property changed hands at $35,000; a year before that $7,000; and ten years earlier at $1,000.

Mr. Hewitt says he has other capital associated with him and the aim is to build an amusement park there. The island covers about 35 acres, but has riparian rights of more than that much additional.

Market Exhibit Train at Big Fair

Interesting Display for Farmers Will be Seen at Trenton

The Marketing Exhibit Train which was so successful in its South Jersey run over the Reading and Central Railroad lines will again be shown at Trenton Fair September 26 to October 1, announces Secretary of Agriculture William B. Duryee. An opportunity is thus afforded to all farmers of the state to learn how to put up their products to secure the best returns.

In the train will be found a radio with a bulletin board showing how the grower may follow the market prices of his products; and also a display of newspapers carrying the daily market reports of the Department. Exhibits of properly graded and packed potatoes, apples, onions, sweet potatoes and other seasonable crops will show the type of product bringing the best prices on the markets, and specialists will be on hand to tell the visitors exactly how the grading should be done and to answer questions regarding the advantages of one type of container over another, the values of different varieties of products, and any other matters that may be of interest.

The poultry interests will be represented through a comparative exhibit of well graded and poorly graded eggs, while candling machines will show blood spots, shell structure and air spaces—physical characteristics by which the age and condition of an egg may be determined. Standard egg containers resulting in a minimum of breakage will be exhibited.

Western and southern fruit growers have long known the market value of quality products properly packed, and by catering to public preference have captured markets denied to nearby growers. It is with the thought of holding these markets to New Jersey growers that Secretary Duryee has arranged this means of bringing home to them the lessons needed to retain the reputation of New Jersey produce, which is in reality better flavored because of ripening on the trees. All producers may well adopt these up-to-date marketing methods at a considerable profit to themselves. The practical and interesting nature of the contents of the train is indicated by the fact that during its four-weeks' tour it was visited by approximately 7,500 people.

MOORESTOWN MAN INJURED IN CRASH

Edward Fitzgerald Suffers Cuts and Bruises in Accident at Haddonfield

Edward Fitzgerald, of West Second street, received cuts and bruises when a Chevrolet coach driven by Bart Schillinger, of West Berlin, crashed into the side of his car, at the corner of Grove street and King's Highway, Haddonfield, early last Wednesday evening.

The accident occurred when Schillinger attempted to turn left into Grove street on a green light and hit the Buick touring driven by Fitzgerald, who was starting forward on King's Highway at the chance of the light.

While neither of the men were seriously hurt, they were treated for cuts and bruises by a Haddonfield physician. Both cars were completely wrecked.

MANY LOSE THEIR DRIVERS' LICENSES

Permanent revocation of licenses of three motorists for driving while intoxicated, it being their second offense, were imposed by Commissioner Dill last week.

In addition 27 others had their licenses revoked for their first offense. Two of the permanent revocations involved Raymond Loveland, of Florence, and Roy I. Hance, of Burlington. Others who forfeited their licenses for drunken driving were: Thomas F. Richardson, of Burlington; Charles W. Craig, of Wrightstown, and Edward Cooper, of Riverside. The name of Daniel Lear, of Princeton, was placed upon the blacklist for a similar offense.

Edward A. Waldron, a wealthy foundry owner of New Brunswick, paid a penalty of $50 for permitting his car to be operated by his son, John Waldron, the latter having no driver's license.

Wallwyn, on Thursday evening, September 15. The first half hour was spent in discussing "What it Means to be a Girl Reserve." The new officers elected were: Ruth Stephens, President; Alfrieda Kraft, Vice-President; Alice Sherman, Secretary. There were games, refreshments, and songs for the last hour.

TRACY OPTIMISTIC ABOUT FALL SELLING

Oakland-Pontiac Sales Head Reports Big Crop of Orders for September and October

Judged by the manner in which Oakland-Pontiac dealers in all sections of the country are ordering cars in excess of their quotas, the fall selling season gives every indication of being the best in the history of the Oakland Motor Car Company, according to W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales.

"Considering the volume of business we have in sight," says Mr. Tracy, "I believe it is a pretty fair indication that practically all of the new model cars are out, and the public has no further uncertainty about making its choice."

DESIGN TELLS AGE OF COLONIAL CLOCKS

Earliest Models Had Plain Tops, Says Expert in Article

An interesting history of the friendly, old-fashioned Colonial clock is given by Walter Randall Storey in Arts and Decoration Magazine.

"No one bit of furniture gives quite as cheerful and quaint a note to the room as does the Colonial clock. There is a distinct decorative quality in a banjo or lyre clock on the wall, in a grandfather clock in the corner, or an early shelf clock on the fireplace mantle. These interesting relics of Colonial times, still ticking away, never tell what they have seen years ago. Yet their round, friendly faces and dignified forms hint of farmhouses with low-beamed ceilings, or Georgian mansions with lofty rooms.

"The earliest tall clocks had plain tops. Around 1700 the tops were decorated with three balls or some other form of ornament, the middle ball being placed higher than those at the sides. Later the domed top and the top with the broken arch, so popular in Colonial cabinet work, as well as the scroll top, came into fashion of the day.

"If your clock has a square metal dial it is likely to be of the Seventeenth century, for it was not until after the beginning of the Eighteenth century that the arch above the dial appeared with its moving moon or heaving ship. Clocks of those days had more to do than today, for some were also equipped to tell the month and the day of the month and to inform the family whether it was April or May."

Convicts to Hear Fight Returns

State Prison Will Have Loud Radio Speakers Installed in Corridors

It pays to be good in the New Jersey State prison. Governor Moore's frequent declarations against coddling of convicts to the contrary notwithstanding.

Because of the exceptional deportment of industry records of the prisoners, Timothy J. Murphy, principal keeper, has announced that returns of the Tunney-Dempsey fight will be broadcast for the convicts one and all.

Colonel Murphy announced last week that he has made arrangements to install a dozen loud-speakers in the wings of the prison for the occasion.

The broadcasting will take the place of the regular weekly motion picture show. The change in program was made to reward the convicts for their recent good behavior and excellent work in the shops.

Installation of the sets will be made without cost to the State, they being donated by a Trenton radio company. The receivers will be dismantled immediately after the fight, and the convicts will not be given the privilege of listening to any of the regular program.

All of the men will have to remain in their cells while the fight is being broadcast. Several loud-speakers will be placed in each corridor and one in the hospital, so that all convicts will be able to hear.

Principal Keeper Murphy says he expects considerable criticism of his action, but declares that he thinks the men have earned the treat through their splendid conduct.

MAPLE SHADE AUTO DAMAGED IN CRASH

Automobiles belonging to Albert C. Walters, 4609 North Front street, Philadelphia and Ralph Schoor, Woodlawn avenue, Maple Shade, were damaged in a rear-end collision at Fork Landing road and Main street, Maple Shade, late Saturday evening.

The accident happened when Schoor's car crashed into the rear of Walter's parked machine. Schoor agreed to pay the damage to Walter's car and no arrests were made, No one was injured in the accident.

THE ITINERANT MERCHANT AGAIN APPEARS

The attention of the residents of Riverton is again directed to the itinerant merchant and vendor. With the coming of the fall and winter months, these merchants again start on their way to canvass and solicit orders from the housewife in cities throughout the country. Riverton has not escaped their attention and within the past few weeks numerous merchants of this type have canvassed the borough selling questionable merchandise.

By buying from your local merchant you are assured of satisfactory merchandise and treatment, together with the assurance that if the merchandise purchased is not satisfactory you can take it back to the local merchant who will make an adjustment. Can this be done with an itinerant merchant who is here today and gone tomorrow? Patronize your local merchant, one whom you know and with whom it is a pleasure to do business, and be sure of satisfactory goods and treatment.

KEEPING A TOWN SNAPPY

The American Banker's Magazine says:

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods, groceries, furniture dealers, manufacturing establishments, automobile dealers, mechanics, professional men, druggists, and in fact all classes of business men.

"This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two line spacer.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at the business mention in the paper. This is the best possible town advertisement.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town.

"The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town.

"The life and the snap of a town depends upon the wide-awake liberal advertising men. It's the truth."

THE IDLER LOSES OUT

Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, says in a recent syndicate article: "Society is unconsciously working toward a system of compulsory labor by making the idler and parasite a less and less popular figure." Here Dr. Frank points out one of the fundamental principles of American security and prosperity.

Up to the coming into being of America, wealth was always regarded not as the means toward progress or improvement, but simply the agency by which the possessor could live luxuriously and prodigally without worry or work, at the expense of others. This attitude caused the fall of Rome and the great powers of that period; in France it resulted in the Revolution. In our own time it has been strikingly exemplified by Russia.

Here, in America, there should be no danger of Bolshevism for the simple reason that the rich man works just as hard as, and often harder than the man who has no capital but his hands. He uses his wealth to promote great industries and centralize business, with the subsequent improvement and well-being of all. In short, his money is to him the means to a very certain end: Ultimate perfection of his product or service.

Perfection is not yet here, but we can be sure that in America we are nearer it than ever before, anywhere in the world. And one of the greatest factors is what Dr. Frank speaks of, the discouragement of slothfulness and the tendency of wealth to use itself for the good of all.

HAPPY PEOPLE

There is a common belief that to live successfully one must live happily—and that to live happily one must have money and the things money will buy.

If you care more for philosophy than for people, you may marshal facts to prove that happiness does not depend upon money—that the poor usually are happy, and that many who have money are miserable still.

Moreover, you may demonstrate that happiness has nothing to do with success. Many of the world's greatest men and greatest benefactors have been men of sorrow and acquainted with grief.

But you argument will not change the fact that the chief desire of ordinary people is happiness. Money, power, fame, and all things they strive for are but means to an end; happiness is their goal and their ambition.

Money, power and fame are not easily acquired, nor do they bring happiness except in rare instances. The unhappy who strive for these things are, in the language of our fathers, barking up the wrong tree. The happiness they covet lies elsewhere.

Men of science who study the unhappy and the broken agree that the cause of most unhappiness is restriction—not necessarily restriction imposed by a master who stands over you with a whip, but restriction imposed by yourself.

You can't reconcile yourself to your environment. Conditions made by your husband, your wife, your employer, your children or the neighbors will fill you with rebellion.

For pride's sake, or duty's sake, or policy's sake, or some other reason, you pretend to be reconciled and you grin and bear it under the impression that you are being a good sport; but your spirit frets and fumes and keeps you miserable.

Well, there is just one way out—one sensible, obvious, easy way. Stop doing the thing you do not wish to do and proceed to do as you please. Break the chains.

You may think worlds will clash, but they won't. Nothing serious will happen. You will be free; that's all.

If you are an unhappy drug clerk and wish to raise flowers, get at it. you won't starve. If custom, precedent and expediency cramp your style, junk the whole business and live your own life as you choose.

If you are unhappy, the chances are ten to one that the cause is a smouldering resentment against some condition you could change in an instant if you would.

There's no righteousness in being an unwilling martyr. Be yourself, and let him howl who will. Belleville (Ill.) News-Democrat.

Among men of twenty to forty-five years of age accidents are the second greatest cause of deaths, tuberculosis being the first.

Grandfather used to graciously ask for girl's hand—but his offspring today will be satisfied with nothing less than a neck.

The principal thing we blame the flappers for is setting such an example in dress and make-up for mother and grandma.

"Feather" Says:

CHILDHOOD'S AMBITION
By Fairfax Downey

When I grow up I'm going to be
The man who carpents beds.
I'm going to make 'em big as three,
With padded foots and heads.
But, best of all, I'll see each gets
The grandest, strongest springs
To jump and thump on like the nets
Men have in circus rings.

Then my little boy can yell, "Whoopla!"
And bounce to the bureau top.
I'll clap and shout, "Go on!
"Hurrah!"
Not like my dad, "Here! stop!"
I'll laugh, but I'll be sort of sad,
Wishing when I was young
We acrobats were not called bad,
And springs could not be sprung.

—The Herald Tribune.

SOME THINGS TO INVENT

Patience! There are a few unsolved problems to yet intrigue the inventive genius. The "good old days" are passing but the future has an ambitious program ahead that shall out-strip the record of the present.

However, there are some very definite things to be done and among them:

The making of a locomotive whistle that has a lullabye effect.

A telephone that will send a squirt of water into the ear of the bore who doesn't know when to "hang up."

A lawn mower with legs to carry it home after it has been borrowed by a neighbor.

A golf ball that will send up a smoke signal when it is lost.

A fountain pen that will give off a warning whistle if it is empty before you start to sign your name, rather than cease to fount after you have set down the first initial.

A boomerang collar button and non-skid soap.

A combination scales and camera that records the fisherman's catch.

An electric brooder for thoughts and ambitions.

A player piano that will sound the same to the player as to the neighbors.—U. G. I Circle.

EATING SPECKED APPLES

Here is a story that comes to me by way of H. G. Weaver, of Detroit. A boy asked his father, a farmer, if he might go into the cellar and get an apple.

"Yes," said the old man, "but pick out a specked one."

"Suppose there aren't any specked ones, dad?"

"Well, then, don't eat any. You'll have to wait till they get specked."

That's one way of looking at things.

It was observed that a certain negro laborer always ate his dessert first. After devouring the apples, oranges, and cake in his lunch pail, he ate the meat, and finally if any hunger was left, he applied himself to parsnips.

He was asked why he did not eat the parsnips first and the cake last.

"Man," he exclaimed, "I might die before I got to the cake."

That's the other way of looking at things.

All of us have one philosophy or the other. I try to be sensible and attain the golden mean, but I am not particularly successful. Despite myself, I consider I am extravagant if I eat my apples before they are specked.

Sometimes I envy the people who always take the best for themselves, fearing that what is not enjoyed today may vanish by tomorrow.

As I recall it, my conversation with Mr. Weaver began with a mention ofthe installment plan of buying automobiles, clothing, paint, washing machines and diamonds.

"Think of the price these people pay for credit in lieu of cash!" said someone.

"Yes, but think of the fun they get out of the things they buy," answered another. "If they die tomorrow they have enjoyed the use of an automobile today."

Such thinking, seems insanely uneconomic to some of us who have had a different viewpoint implanted in us by stern training and discipline. But maybe we overdo our caution.—Imperial Type Metal Magazine.

Even in dull times the cooper may be said to do a staving business.

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

J. William Lee, Minister

Sunday will be observed as Rally Day and Promotion Day in our Church School. Large classes from the Cradle Roll, Beginners, Primary, Junior and Intermediate departments. Teachers for all classes have been appointed. A representative of the State Board of Religious Education visited our School recently, and after inspection said, "This School stands in the front rank of Church Schools. I have not found a school anywhere in the State that is better in equipment, methods and results and few as good as this School."

If your children are not connected with any Sunday School, they are cordially and urgently invited to unite with this school where their religious education will be safe, sane and thorough. Our school motto is, "Make Christ Your King." A delightful program will be presented at 10 a. m. sharp, Standard time.

Church at 11.15 a. m. with the following order of service: Organ numbers, "Adoration" by Borowski; "Meditation," by Kinder; "Melody," by Giulmant; Processional, "Jesus, Thou Everlasting King"; Anthem, "Send Out Thy Light." Sermon subject "Where Do We Go From Here?" A Rally Day Sermon.

7.45 p. m. the musical numbers will be, "Souvenir," by Drdla; "Cantique d' Amour"; "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar; Processional, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee." A jubilant song service. Sermon subject, second in series "Tragedies and Triumphs of Every Day Life," "The Triumph of Real Religion in the Pew." Come thou with us and we will do thee good.

The Friday night class will meet at 8 o'clock in the Temple. Come and brighten up your Christian Experience. Carl Peterson, leader.

The Junior Epworth League will hold its first session for Fall and Winter work on Friday afternoon, September 30, at four o'clock.

The Church School banquet held on Monday night was a fine success. The Rev. Charles T. Bates and wife were guests of honor.

Mr. Bates gave an inspiring and helpful address. His theme was, "Spirituality, the Most Important Factor in Religious Education." It was a heart appeal and will linger long in the minds of those who heard it, sounding the key note for the work before us. We trust these good folks will visit us again soon.

Scouts Had Great Camping Season

Over Three Hundred Burlington County Boys Enjoyed Camp Rotary

With the ending of August, came also the end of the most successful Camp held under the guidance of the Burlington County Council. Over three hundred scouts from fourteen different troops attended Camp Rotary, while a number of scouts attended the Trenton Camp above the Delaware Water Gap.

Many new features were introduced at Camp Rotary this year, including archery, leathercraft, wood-carving, etching on copper, and etc. The Nature Work also made great strides. Our museum was supplied by the boys with live turtles, snakes, woodchucks, skunks, frogs, toads, small fish, and tadpoles. The boys had a great time in making box traps to catch the skunks and woodchuvks, which behaved themselves exceedingly well until Chief Etter's dog tried to be friendly with Satchett, one of the skunks, who positively refused to make friends with him. So positive was Satchett that no one in camp wanted to go near her for some time.

The camp made quite a record in swimming and life saving tests. Every boy (but one from, well, I better not say where), who could not swim when he came to camp was taught to swim his fifty yards before he left camp. This splendid record was due to the faithful work of Dr. Ed. Ruhlman. Out of 77 boys who could not swim when they came in camp, 76 could swim 50 yards when they left. Some record for Doc!

The following from Burlington County passed Senior Red Cross Life Saving Tests:

William C. Coles, Jr., Moorestown Troop 2.

Grant S. Mahon, Moorestown, Troop 3.

William J. Stevens, Burlington Troop 4.

Davis A. Simons, Burlington Troop 2.

The following passed Junior Red Cross Life Saving Tests:

George Smith, Mt. Holly Troop 1.
Carl Wilcox, Palmyra Troop 2.
Addison Chandler, Palmyra Troop 2.
John Siegfried, Riverside Troop 2.
Raymond Tilley, Riverside Troop 1.
Edwin Fink, Beverly Troop 5.
Fred Zelley, Burlington Troop 1.
Howard Eastwood, Burlington Troop 1.

TROOP NEWS

Troop 2 of Delanco will have a Parent and Scout Hike on their Camping Site, Saturday next, Sept. 17th. Scoutmaster Hunt and his assistants have arranged a special program for the afternoon and a real, live, snappy camp fire for the evening. Clarence is still holding his meetings back on the camp site.

Burlington County Scouts are requested to assist in the celebration of the 250th Anniversary of the City of Burlington by parading with the Burlington City Scouts on Civic Day, Tuesday, Oct. 11th. Burlington City Scouts have been requested for traffic and guide duty during the celebration.

Troop 1 of Riverton held its first meeting in its new meeting room on Friday, September 16. The troop has been working toward this room for about a year. Back of the Auditorium, in the Parish House of Christ's Church, Riverton, where the troop meets, is a gallery which has always been used as a store room for an accumulation of odds and ends, thickly overlaid with dirt. Access to this gallery was by means of a ladder. The troop received permission to turn the gallery into a meeting room. Money for the necessary work was raised by a Minstrel Show last Spring, and with the permission of the Vestry of the Church, a strong iron railing was put in front of the gallery, a stair case was built, and electric lights installed.

The troop wishes to acknowledge with great thanks the generosity of Albert Fry, Scoutmaster of Troop 2, Palmyra. Mr. Fry, who is an expert electrician, took entire charge of the wiring of the new meeting room without cost to the troop.

As soon as the meeting room is completely fitted out with furniture and decorations, Troop 1 of Riverton, hopes to have a celebration to which other troops of the County will be invited.

PATROL CONTEST

By way of experiment, Troop 1, of Riverton and Troop 5 of Beverly held an over-night inter-patrol contest on Saturday, September 10. This contest was based upon the contests which troops in other sections of the country have used for some years. Of course, it was modified to suit the local conditions.

Three patrols from Beverly in charge of Scoutmaster Kane, and Assistant Scoutmasters Kingston and Parsons were met at Bridgeboro by two patrols from Riverton, in charge of Scoutmaster Follett, at 2.30 Saturday afternoon. It had been originally planned to start the contest at Bridgeboro, the boys hiking out to the camp site, under the eagle eye of the umpires. Due to the uncertainty of the weather, it was decided to call off this part of the program, and the two troops proceeded by automobile to the Camden Scout Reservation. From that time forward, the work was entirely up to the patrol leaders.

Camp was pitched by each patrol at a spot chosen by the patrol leader, fires were built, and sanitary arrangements taken care of just as the individual patrol leaders directed. The Officers merely took notes upon the functioning of the patrols. After supper, the camp fire was held, at which each patrol was required to put on a stunt. This they did in first class shape, and everybody had a good time. Taps were sounded at 10.30, and the contest lasted all night, the patrols being judged on the order which they kept. After reveiry Sunday morning, breakfast was prepared, still under the contest rules, and after breakfast recall was sounded and the contest was ended.

The umpires were the officers of the troops participating. In order to make it absolutely fair for everybody concerned, the judges acted together instead of following the Philadelphia plan of having one judge for each patrol.

THE NEW FORD CARS

To the Editor:

Early in June the Ford Motor Company completed the 15 millionth historical and famous model "T" Ford car and announced the discontinuance of this model to be succeeded by a new type Ford car more adapted to present day conditions.

The old model "T" had been made since October 1908 with few major changes until June 1927 and disinterested authorities estimate that there are at this time 10 million Ford cars in use. The Ford Motor Company has announced its intention to continue the making of parts for this model for another five years as it has never been the habit of the Company to throw a loss on the user of its product by changes in manufacture.

Ford dealers will continue rendering service to owners of the model "T" of the character desired by the Ford Motor Company.

The Model "T" will not become an "Orphan."

When the formal announcement was made that there would be a complete change in the type of car to be made it became front page news in leading newspapers throughout the United States and foreign countries. Fifteen million of any one thing is an enormous amount and this volume is such that the Ford has touched, in some manner, practically every industry and household in the country, so that the announcement was real news.

The statement given out by Mr. Henry Ford did not give specific details as to what the new car would be like and when it would be ready. It has never been Mr. Ford's policy to announce what he was going to do but to make announcement when it was done. This is the first time that Mr. Ford has ever announced plans for changes without coincidentally having the car ready for public inspection. However, in view of the very radical changes required in the factories, and the size of the industries, employing the use of 170 thousand men, there had to be some explanation prior to the delivery of the new car.

Henry Ford kept faith with owners on the Model "T" so it can be expected that the new car, whatever its name or model, "will be superior in design and performance to any available in low-priced field", a statement made in the formal announcement.

Among other statements made in the announcement concerning the new car are: "there is nothing quite like it in quality and price." "The new car will cost more to manufacture but it will be more economical to operate." "It has speed, style, flexibility, and control in traffic."

Subsequent to this announcement, Edsel Ford, the President of the Ford Motor Company stated that he had covered a distance of 110 miles in two hours with the new car, an average speed of 55 miles per hour and had attained a speed of 65 miles per hour without any noticeable strain on the motor.

Subsequent to these announcements other official statements credited the new car with having Beauty, Smartness, Comfort, Quick-pick-up, Unusual speed, Flexibility, Power, Endurance, and Economy.

These statements have resulted in many conjectures as to what the new car actually will be and when it will be ready but no official announcement has been made by the Ford Motor Company, except that the car is "Coming soon" and that "it will not be long now."

There is no doubt of the widespread interest in the new car not only by prospective buyers but by automobile riders in general and a statement as to when the new car will be ready will probably be made in the near future.

In the meantime there is much speculation about the car and any one person's guess is as good as another's but among the items mentioned in some presumably reliable rumors are: longer wheel base, full balloon tires, new type spring suspension, snubbers, four-wheel brakes, heavier frame and heavy gauge metal, wider fenders.

A large motor, greater speed, more horse-power, motor dust proof, all steel pistons and valves, extra heavy counterbalanced crank shaft and heavy double fly wheels arranged to give smoothness. It is said that the motor has been run satisfactorily at temperatures varying from extremely high heat to 20 degrees below zero with excellent carburetion.

General, dynamo-type with oilless bearings, self lubrication.

Water pump, oil pump, improved carburetor and propellor type fan.

Three-speed Lincoln type selective transmission.

Lincoln type clutch, famous for durability and quick getaway.

Noiseless timing gears.

New type ignition.

Heavier front axle and specially compounded steel in rear axle gears.

Larger bodies and harmonious colors.

This is largely conjecture but as the Ford Motor Company has one of the best equipped laboratories in the country and has been making an intensive study of automobile designs for a number of years it can be assumed that, regardless of detail, the new car will meet the requirement for service demanded by most buyers.

We are taking orders for the new cars with a deposit of $1.00 up solely to establish a list to give buyers their turn for delivery as and when made, with the provision that order may be cancelled and deposit returned if buyer does not want to take delivery when car is ready. We anticipate that demand will be great but will give preference to buyers according to date of order.

Your truly,
LESTER S. FORTNUM.

YELLOW JACKETS WIN

Frankford Yellow Jackets won the first football game of the season at Atlantic City, Sunday, Sept. 18th, beating Atlantic City 3-0. Two hundred automobiles carried fans from Frankford to the shore to see the game.

Eddie Hope says: "The Atlantic, it turns out, is an ocean, after all, not just a notion."

As a final outcome, Beverly Troop won by two points. This did not matter in view of th fact that the contest was tried merely as an experiment, for the fun of the thing, and to serve as a basis for future developments in the county.

Grant Me To See

Dear Father grant me graces to see
The wisdom of my trials in life,
So I can e'er accept thy will
With little of our human strife.
Teach me to see how it is best,
The way my soul is often tried,
So that by me, though sorrows come
Thy wisdom will not be denied.

O' let me learn to trust in thee,
And seek thy comfort every day,
So though my path in life seems dark,
Thou'lt guide me to a brighter way,
And teach me through despair's dark clouds
To ever try to look above
Into the blessed land of hope
That's lighted by thy endless love.

BUGLE CORPS PRAISED

Palmyra Legion Band Continues to Win High Honors

The Palmyra Bugle and Drum Corps, which was recently crowned state "champions" at Trenton, made a fine appearance at the American Legion Carnival last Thursday night at Delanco. The corps paraded in their natty uniforms and "tin" hats.

The Legion Corps will change from tin hats to "frog hats" very shortly. Ted D'Autrechy, the post's representative at the Paris convention, will bring the new chapeaux back with him.

Jack Althouse, manager of the corps, last week received a letter of commendation from the Mount Holly Moose Lodge for the appearance of the corps in the Moose convention parade some time ago in Philadelphia. The corps also received a substantial check from the lodge.

The corps will play at the firemen's convention in Atlantic City, this Saturday, September 24, the quarter-millenial celebration of the founding of Burlington during the second week in October and will also take part in the memorial dedication at Florence, October 1. The Post is now trying to make an engagement with some Mummers organization for the New Year's parade in Philadelphia.

Pamphlets Issued for YMCA Work

"Tools in Type" Printed For Guidance of Young People's Organization

All of the denominations, some thirty-one or two, having representation in the International Council of Religious Education, together with committees from the International Organizations of the YWCA and the YMCA, have pooled their expenses concerning work with youth, and through a special committee which has been at work in studying for two years, five pamphlets have been issued comprising "tools in type" for the leadership of various young peoples' groups where character is the goal.

In commenting recently upon the significanse of these pamphlets, Secretary Hendry stated that each of them contained material which would be of very great value to all the County YMCA Group Leaders and that provision will be made through the County Office to make such material available. He further stated that the titles themselves would be indicitive of the value of this material to "Y" Leaders. The title of Pamphlet No. 1 is "Qualities of an Effective Leader." No. 2 "How a Leader Proceeds with a Group." No. 3 "How to Study Individual Growth." No. 4 "How a Leader Uses Organization.' No. 5 Program Suggestions for Group Leaders."

Material for these pamphlets will be used as the basis for the training of leaders in various conferences during the year throughout the County.

Industrial Association

The Burlington County Industrial Association was brought into being by former Secretary D. S. Evans, of the County YMCA Committee, whose particular relationship was with Industrial Workers.

Among the constructive matters to which this Association is giving considerable attention is that of Vocational Education for youth, and to this end, the Executive Committee of this Organization has become very actively interested in bringing about the conditions necessary for the establishment of a County Vocational School.

Their effort just now is being directed to securing signers to petitions to have this matter come before the voters of the County at the November election.

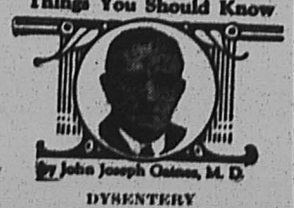

Vocational Education

When one realizes that out of every hundred pupils entering school only about sixteen finish grammar school, and of these sixteen who enter high school only about five graduate, certainly the question of the training and preparation for life work this remaining percent have is very important. Training for the hand, as well as for the mind, and particularly for youngsters not especially equipped nor inclined to continue higher education is the special providence of vocational Education.

It is not strange that these Industrial men should realize the value of having trained agencies available for the turning out of skilled workers, and their desire to give youth a better chance to become so equipped is certainly most commendable.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Quinan, M. D.

DYSENTERY

A most unwelcome summer visitor, if not a dangerous one. My article must in no way come between the good family physician and his patient; but the layman may become better posted in emergency with advantage to all concerned.

Disease-germs are responsible for most attacks of dysentery. Some cases seem to be the result of taking quantities and kinds of food, which react violently when coming together. All grades of severity are encountered, from slight "flurry" of indigestion to the profoundly prostrating cholera. Better hygiene and sanitation have rendered the epidemic of dysentery a rare occurrence; the elimination of the fly pest has more than repaid for the effort. Pure food and drink cannot cause disease, when taken with good judgment.

Given an attack of dysentery, two steps become immediately necessary; to clear the bowel of the offending substance, and to set the highly-excited parts at rest. There may be vomiting, with violent pain—even bloody evacuations. It may be necessary to apply counter-irritation, mustard or capsicum, to the stomach. A large dose of Milk of Magnesia, or of castor oil should be administered soon as possible. No violent purgative, such as pills of unknown content, should be used.

Once the bowel is evacuated, resort to sedation; paregoric and emulsion of bismuth, equal parts should be given till relief is had. The appearance of blood in the evacuations should bring the physician, if he has not been already summoned; fever should be a warning signal.

Lime-water and milk, in varying proportions, is the best diet for beginning after the attack is broken. It is easier to give too much than one thinks. All food should be well cooked; boiled water is a good precaution in preparing drinks. Better to be safe than sorry.

He Waved It

Pat was brought to court for questioning in connection with an automobile accident at a railroad crossing.

"Did you wave the head lamp?" he was asked.

"I sure did," answered Pat.

The next day he told his friend, "It's a good thing for me that he didn't ask if the lamp was lighted."

College Has Free Book on Tulips For Jersey

"Tulip Culture" is the title of a booklet announced by the State College of Agriculture at New Brunswick, as ready for free distribution to residents of New Jersey.

The bulletin contains 28 pages of information on the selection of varieties of tulips, ordering and care before planting, outdoor culture, forcing and control of insects and diseases. Numerous beautiful illustrations are included.

H. N. Biekart, Associate in Ornamental Horticulture at the College of Agriculture, and author of the booklet, is extremely well qualified to treat the subject of tulip culture. Mr. Biekart has had practical experience in floricultural work in Holland, Germany, France, California and New Jersey. A review of the booklet reveals that he has used extreme pains to produce a publication that will be clear to amateurs and offer them real assistance in growing tulips successfully. He states that September is the time to take thought of tulip planting.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained free of charge by getting in touch with the County Agricultural Extension Office, Mount Holly.

Fruit and Vegetable Situation

The New York State peach crop is forecast at 1,116,000 bushels, compared with 2,300,000 bushels last year, which is also an average for the past five years. The crop is a failure in the upper Hudson Valley, poor in the lower Hudson Valley and very light in Western New York. Last year New York shipped 2,350 carloads of peaches.

The Rochester variety of peach has been moving all of this week in New York State. A few Elbertas will probably begin to be shipped between the 15 and 17 of September, but it will be about the 20 of September before the movement will be well under way.

It is reported around Rochester that the price will probably be between $1.25 and $1.50 a bushel Elbertas to the grower. As usual, the f. o. b. market and distribution depends almost entirely upon the weather.

It is reported that on September 9 there were ten carloads of peaches in Scranton, Pa. The market was weak and the stock selling for $1.00 to $2.00 per bushel, condition over-ripe. Receipts in Stroudsburg, Pa. were heavy, with Elbertas retailing from $1.00 to $1.75 per bushel.

New York State Duchess apples were very light, and are practically cleaned up now, with the exception of a few odd lots in storage. Wealthys are beginning to move this week, and this apple is the best New York State apple from the standpoint of quality and quantity in Western New York this year. Twenty Ounce are exceedingly light, and will start shipping in about two weeks. They will not be an important factor this season.

Western New York Baldwin and Greening crops will be very light, and are generally of poor quality. The report at Rochester is that the prices will probably range between $3.00 and $3.50 for ordinary lost of apples, with fancy Greenings 2¾ probably selling for $5.00 to $6.00 per barrel, but with very little fancy stock to be offered. Baldwins will probably be picked the second or third week in October. Greenings will be picked beginning October 1.

Reports from Norfolk, Va., section are to the effect that there are no lima beans grown in the Norfolk section for shipment to other markets. The movement of string beans was very light beginning the week of September 5, but beginning the week of September 10 or September 26 there will be considerable movement in less than carload lots. Indications are that the movement will be fairly heavy in carload lots by the 20th of September, and will continue so until frost. This section will have its usual amount of shipments of string beans.

Boxing and Broadcast of Tunney-Dempsey Fight at Moorestown

Big Program Thursday to Feature Local Matches and Blow-by-Blow Description of "Battle of Century" at Chicago

A big program of boxing matches, novelty events, music and the returns of the Dempsey-Tunney "battle of the century" will be presented at the Moorestown Community House this Thursday evening.

The fing, which has served its purpose well on several previous occasions, will be erected in the gymnasium, and therein will be held the boxing matches preparatory to the reception of the big fracas out in Chicago. Henry H. Stiles will have a powerful radio receiver in the gym to give those in attendance an opportunity to see the sports spectacle when William Harrison Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the woird, and James Joseph Tunney, present holder of the title, will match punches to decide the future champ, before a $3,000,000 crowd.

The bouts which will preceed the broadcast of the big affair out at Soldiers' Field, have been sanctioned by Arthur Smith, of Burlington, state boxing commissioner for this county, who will also attend the Community House scraps.

All told, a total of sixteen rounds are scheduled. Each of the four bouts will be four round affairs, with a decision. The winner of each match will receive a very attractive and appropriate prize.

Three Moorestown Boys

"Kid" Mitchell, a Moorestown boy, will meet Charlie Poach, a clever little Maple Shade scrapper, in the opening bout. Johnny Griffith, the fast and popular Moorestown lad who has appeared on previous Community House cards, is matched with Billy Ruspantine, of Riverside.

The semi-final bout features a pair of fast, and heavy-hitting huskies in "Rudie" Gambacorta, of Beverly, and Vincent Givinetti, of Riverside. "Bill" Stevens, of Moorestown, former boxing instructor at the Community House, meets "Joe" Williams, another Riverside fisticuffer, in the windup.

With a card of this type, some first-class scraps embodying all of the science and skill of ring-craft with plenty of thrills are anticipated.

The broadcast of the blow-by-blow description of the magnificent bout will be received through the finest radio equipment available. Mr. Stiles says he will have a model 28 Radiola receiver and a model 104 Radiola loud speaker which will bring to Moorestown a vivid and detailed account of the highlights of the great heavyweight tussle as it is broadcast by such experts as Graham McNamee. Howard Laessle will operate the set.

Fine Entertainment

Other features include selections by the Moorestown Community Band and Walter Williams and his Harmonica Boys. The popular "Bisky" Herr, the local entertainer par excellence, will favor with some vocal solos, and some novelty events are promised.

Charles Heppard, a Riverside boxing expert, will referee all of the bouts and the judges are Russell Paul, Paul Isenberg and "Andy" Brickner, all of Moorestown. Dr. McGaffery and "Griff" Heppard, of Riverside. The judges will make the decisions. "Al" LeConey will be the chief announcer.

The affair is scheduled to start at 8.30 and an admission of thirty-five cents will be charged. Tickets will be on sale at the door and at various stores.

Heretofore, these affairs have been strictly for the men folk, but since women have evidenced much interest in the programs, the ladies are cordially invited to this Thursday's program.

The program is under the direction of the Athletic Committee of the Community House Association, of which Robert J. Rogers is chairman, Ben Rumpeltes, recreational director, and several prominent men who are interested in sports.

Johnson Donates U. of P. $800,000

Moorestonian's Gift Largest Philadelphia Institution Has Ever Received

Eldridge Reeves Johnson, Moorestown philanthropist and former president of the Victor Talking Machine Company, has again shared part of his great wealth with society. A gift of $800,000 to University of Pennsylvania by the donor of the Moorestown Community House was announced Monday night.

Mr. Johnson's donation, one of the largest ever made to the University of Pennsylvania, will serve to give vigorous impetus to the current campaign for funds for the great new medical centre the university has decided to create; a medical centre which will be one of the most extensive, if not the most extensive, in the world, it is asserted.

Mr. Johnson stipulated in making his gift to the University that a sum not exceeding $200,000 may be expended for a building and for equipment.

The income from the balance not so expended shall be used for "the study and development of physical methods in the investigation of disease and its cure; the study of the important physical agencies or properties, such as heat, light, electricity sound, etc., in their varied relations to the life of man, and to carry out investigations for the improvement of the instrumental applications of such agencies to medical purposes."

In announcing Mr. Johnson's gift, Thomas S. Gates, chairman of the drive committee, said:

"As professor of medicine at the University, Dr. Alfred Stengel has long visualized the yoking of physics and medicine in a close union as an invaluable step in our medicinal development, and the new foundation, which marks the pioneer comprehensive movement in this direction, will be conducted under his direct supervision.

"Thus the Eldridge R. Johnson Foundation will be attached to the Medical Clinic of the University Hospital as an integral part of a far-reaching programme of developments along the most modern lines, and looking to even greater advancement of the functions of such a clinic in the future.

"The gift from Mr. Johnson puts the fund total at the $10,000,000 mark, this entire amount having been contributed in less than twenty-nine months, and with such an incentive as this, the fund organization, as well as friends of the University everywhere, may well face the coming year with confidence that still further substantial progress will be made."

Dr. Josaih H. Penniman, Provost of the University, said that Mr. Johnson, as a member of the Board of Managers of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, and "an old friend of the university, has testified in a magnificent way to the fact that he has found our development plans wise and practicable in every way."

"It is a matter of gratification to the University, that a man having Mr. Johnson's high ideals of civic duty and service should have chosen the university as the medium for this splendid public benefaction, which will be of such inestimable value to this community, and to humanity."

Mr. Johnson's gift of $800,000 to Penn increases his total donations to more than $2,000,000, according to estimates.

PLAN TO LINK ALL SEASHORE RESORTS

Hard Surfaced Roads Will Be Constructed; Prison Labor Helping

If the present plans of the State Highway Commission carry out, motorists from all towns from Camden south will be able to travel to seashore resorts on hard surface roads this fall, former Senator Firman M. Reeves, a member of the commission, told the Cumberland County Board of Freeholders at its monthly meeting at the county almshouse last week.

Senator Reeves said the commission is endeavoring to get all the work done possible before cold weather sets in. He said state prison labor is being used near the Leesburg Prison Farm to complete work on the border line between Cumberland and Cape May Counties, the connecting links.

"The commission expects to spend $25,000,000 next year and of necessity much of it will be spent in North Jersey, where an approach to the Jersey City tunnel must be provided," Reeves said. "In Cumberland County roads can be built for from $40,000 to $50,000 a mile, but some in North Jersey cost $250,000 a mile, and after seeing the rocks they have to go through it is easy to see why.

Sis—When Mr. Jones calls this evening, remember that little boys should be seen and not heard.

Bobbie—How can I be seen when you two sit in the dark all evening?—Exchange.

You Should Worry!

With your bin filled with Lehigh Coal, you need not worry when the paper announces a cold wave on the way. You will be warm and comfortable no matter how cold it may get.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) (©, 1927, by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 25

REVIEW—THE EARLY KINGS OF ISRAEL

DEVOTIONAL READING—Ps. 105: 1-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord hath prepared His throne in the heavens; and His kingdom ruleth over all.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What We May Learn From Samuel, Saul, David and Solomon.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Teachings and Warnings From the Quarter's Lessons.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Lessons From Samuel, Saul and David.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Honoring God in Our Lives and in Our Land.

Though the lesson title for the quarter is "The Early Kings of Israel," the great character Samuel should be included. A good way to conduct the review would be to make a character study of the four outstanding persons of the quarter—Samuel, Saul, David and Solomon. Perhaps the most satisfactory method of review will be the summing up of the leading events and teachings of each lesson. The assignments should be made a week ahead, so that the members of the class may recite without hesitation. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson for July 3.

Against the protest of Samuel the people demanded a king, in order that they might be like other nations. Saul, of the tribe of Benjamin, was given as best suited to fill the place.

Lesson for July 10.

Because of Samuel's exemplary life as a child, a judge and a ruler, he was able to challenge the people to show wherein he had ever defrauded or oppressed anyone. It is a fine thing when a man in public life can be vindicated against the charge of wrongdoing, either in public or in private.

Lesson for July 17.

Saul's failure brought great sorrow of heart to Samuel. The selection of David from Jesse's sons showed that God looks not on the outward appearance, but upon the heart. David's fidelity as a shepherd boy put him in line for promotion.

Lesson for July 24.

Because David was jealous for and trusted in God he was able to overcome Goliath, who had defied the living God.

Lesson for July 31.

The friendship of David and Jonathan has become immortalized in the world's thought. It was unique in that it occurred between two men of rival worldly interests, Jonathan, the crown prince, knew that God had chosen David, therefore he waived his natural rights.

Lesson for August 7.

David knew that God had rejected Saul and chosen himself to be king. Though relentlessly pursued by Saul, David spared the king because he was God's anointed.

Lesson for August 14.

When David was made king he desired to bring up the ark, the symbol of God's presence, to the center of the nation's life. Though his desire was worthy, he was not careful to do according to God's way. Doing a right thing in a wrong way is displeasing to God.

Lesson for August 21.

Though God did not permit David to build a house for Him, He did something better; He promised to build for David a house, that is, to establish for him a throne. God does more and better for us than we are able to ask or think.

Lesson for August 28.

Through neglected duty David fell into temptation and grievously sinned. By means of a parable Nathan the prophet convicted him of his sin. Upon confession to God forgiveness was granted.

Lesson for September 4.

Because Solomon chose wisdom in order to intelligently reign over the nation, God abundantly bestowed upon him wisdom and riches. God's blessings exceed our asking.

Lesson for September 11.

Solomon's first task after his coronation was building the temple, a privilege which was denied to David his father. Because of Solomon's obedience God manifested His presence and thus made the temple holy.

Lesson for September 18.

Rehoboam's pride and arrogance cost to himself the support of the major portion of the nation.

We Grow Strong or Weak

Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them. Silently, day by day, we grow strong or weak and at last some crisis shows what we have become.—Canon Westcott.

Have Christ in Your Heart

If a man have Christ in his heart heaven before his eyes, and only as much of temporal blessing as is just needful to carry him safely through life, then pain and sorrow have little to shoot at.—William Burns.

The Cost and the Gain

Christ tells us to count the cost of discipleship, but he never asked us to count the gain. He knew we could not; there is no arithmetic to compute that.—W. L. Watkinson.

Michigan puts new "no-limit" speed law into effect. Evidently the state motto now is: "No pedestrian shall escape."

Pullman sleeping car receipts for 1926 were $51,834,317.—which shows that it evidently pays to work while others sleep.

WHO WILL BE THE MAN?

THE VANISHING BOB.

PROGRESS AND SACRIFICE.

BREWERY STOCK.

Now is the time to pick your candidate, with President Coolidge "not choosing," which means that he does not intend to be a candidate.

Hoover, Mellon, Hughes, Lowden or a dark horse, who will it be?

Charles Evans Hughes is back from Europe "with nothing to say to reporters," a dangerous sign with a national convention near.

Mr. Hughes never said, "I am too old to be President," that would be preposterous, from one of the most hard working men in public life. He did say, "I am too old TO RUN for President."

Secretary Mellon is back from Europe, also "with nothing to say to reporters."

Secretary Mellon was walking up Park avenue in New York City last week, looking about half his age and going at a rate that would have taken him from his desk in the Treasury building to the front door of the White House in considerably less than a minute and a half.

The Smithsonian Institution will have a weather station in southwest Africa. There, high up in the air, in the dry, clear atmosphere, science will study the sun, calculate solar radiation, and, if hopes are realized, predict weather as much as a week or a month, and even one year in advance.

It has taken men a long while to find out that what they have and what happens to them depends largely on the big star that lights their short lives.

A gentleman, occasionally posing as a nobleman, was arrested recently accused of marrying fifty women and getting a million dollars in money and jewelry from them. There is nothing to be said about that except that it is in the nature of a woman to trust men, unfortunately for women.

"Curls are coming back," says a professor of physiology, even "puff girls" and the "shingle" will pass. Common sense is with the bob. Romance with the puffed curl. You could not imagine Martha Washington with a bob.

No great thing is achieved without sacrifice. Those distressed by loss of life in flying may remember that the total number of deaths in trans-Atlantic flying is smaller than the number killed automobiling on any fine Sunday. The thing is to keep on and conquer.

C. V. Miller, of Toronto, left brewery stock to seven Methodist ministers and Ontario Jockey Club shares to opponents of race track gambling.

At the end of nine years, the proceeds of his estate go to the parents of the largest family born in the province during that time.

Methodist ministers, to get the $75,000 brewery stock, must draw the dividends and vote on the company's management "to see whether their avarice for money was greater than their principles."

The ministers, of course, will do what is necessary to collect the money, and use it for prohibition propaganda, thus thwarting Satan.

Leaving your money to the biggest family is dull. The mouse would beat any human being, the shad would beat a mouse, and the female oyster, with her millions of youngsters each year would make the shad look like birth control. Leaving money to poor parents that take the best care of their children might be a good idea. But money left for benevolent purposes—excepting science and education—is usually wasted. The work you do while you live counts; there's no knowing what your money may do after you.

Great Britain intends to protect ignorant investors against get-rich-quick stock salesmen and other schemers. Peddling stocks from door to door is to be stopped, selling stocks through the mail restricted and watched. The oil, real estate, and mining schemes that rob investors in this country would not be possible in Great Britain.

SENIOR COUPE IS SMART, COMFORTABLE

Latest Dodge Offering in New Line of Sixes Destined to be Popular

A Dodge Brothers Senior coupe for four passengers just introduced by C. Ridgley Sweeney, Palmyra, local Dodge Brothers dealer. This fine six cylinder car is the third car to be incorporated in the company's new line of sixes and is the embodiment of outward smartness and inward comfort.

The same handling of horizontal lines that gives distinction to the company's Senior sedan and cabriolet roadster applies also to this coupe—long, sloping hood, unbroken striping from front to rear, long windows, deep body panels and low top structure with short, hooded visor.

The extra length of the body gives an impression of the roominess for which the designers strived. With this as a basis, both luxury and riding ease were made simple. The driver's seat is unusually wide and the fourth passenger has practically the same leg room as the driver, still leaving generous room for the rear seat passenger behind the extra seat.

This coupe sets the same high performance standards as Dodge Brothers Senior sedan and cabriolet roadster—70 honest miles per hour with ease, snappy acceleration in traffic and reserve power that makes driving a pleasure.

Dodge Brothers have demonstrated in this car that they are fully abreast of the trend toward striking color effects in motor car bodies by providing an unusually wide variety from which to choose. These run the gamut from the conservative combinations for the business man to the ultra modern for milady's pleasure.

One of the most attractive bodies, in the opinion of Mr. Sweeney, is done in greens, striped with gold. Another combination that is most effective, says Mr. Sweeney, is two striking blues striped with cream. With each body color combination an appropriate shade of fine broadcloth is used to upholster the cushions and seat backs, making the decorative scheme harmonious throughout.

"5c? IMPOSSIBLE!"

It's True, Nevertheless, That a Good Cigar is Being Sold at That Price. Skeptics Being Converted Daily

No matter what you think of five-cent cigars in general, read the news about this one. A five-cent piece will decide all arguments as to whether a good cigar can be made to sell at 5c. One five-cent piece! Any smoking man can afford that much to get the low-down.

Take your nickel to your favorite cigar counter and ask for Havana Ribbon. Judge it as you would a higher-priced cigar. See how it holds up in flavor, aroma, body, the satisfying quality of ripe tobacco. You'd never believe such a cigar could be made to sell at five cents.

There are good reasons. Havana Ribbon sold at more for years. Smokers flocked to the cigar because of its quality, not its cost. So we cut the price and improved the cigar. No wonder it sells by the million! Don't be afraid of Havana Ribbon because it costs so little. Try just one and you're all set on this smoke for life.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

There's Bunk in Cleverness Plea

Whether it is a phase of inferiority complex or not, it is true that people are always suspicious of clever people. They resent their cleverness as an implied superiority, and the best means for creating a prejudice against them is to pretend that they are cleverer than ourselves.

It is a favorite pose of lawyers before a jury to discard all oratory of arts of reasoning and proclaim themselves as simply presenters of facts.

Those who wish to enhance their own personal reputation may pose as clever men, but those who wish to gain their particular point renounce any appearance of cleverness.

One of the favorite arguments against doing business with other nations is to claim that they are much cleverer than ourselves, much more tricky and resourceful. Every nation wishes to consider itself as simple, faithful and trusting, and all others as wily and deceitful.

We heard a great deal about President Wilson's being taken in by Lloyd George and Clemenceau. We are now deluged with news to the effect that our representatives abroad in another conference are being cozened by the statesmen of other nations.

All this is pure bunk.

The Yankees are as clever as anybody and abundantly able to take care of themselves. If anybody leaves them with the heavy end of the stick to carry they will have to be pretty sharp.

Suspicion of foreigners is all too common and a frequent cause of misunderstandings. It would be much better to be honest and frank ourselves, to lay the cards on the table and to trust other people to do the same. Much animosity and antagonism are aroused by suspicion. Trust hardly ever arouses anything but trust in return.

A man some time ago wrote a book entitled, "My Neighbor Is Perfect."

If everybody believed in his neighbor and trusted him we would have much less trouble than we do at present.

It is often said that the Golden Rule needs an amendment. It is not only necessary to do unto others as you would they should do unto you, but to be bold enough to take the first step in trust.

The idea of claiming that other statesmen or diplomats are wily and slippery, while our own are rugged and honest, is a vicious one, and all who help to spread it are not doing a very commendable job.

Gas EXCELS as Fuel for Cooking

A GAS fireplace heater is clean. Its use does not impair the beauty of draperies, upholsteries, rugs, and walls. It fills the room with warmth and cheer just like an old-time open fire, but without the work the latter entailed.

In gas you have the ideal fuel for the fireplace. The action of Radiant Gas heat is like that of the sun's rays. The strong rays of gas radiant heat warm the entire room.

Radiant gas heaters are shown in many attractive forms at all Public Service stores.

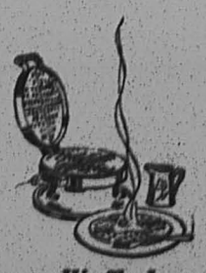

Pinch Hitting for Golf or Tennis

Exercise with many of us is reduced to nil, when weather and the heavier duties of the winter season bar us from the golf course or tennis court.

A daily ten minute Violet Ray treatment will help to make up for lack of exercise. These treatments encourage quieter nerves, better circulation and supple muscles.

The Violet Ray is helpful in relief of many ailments. Renulife machines may be had from Public Service from $12.50 up.

Corona Waffle Iron At New Low Price

The hostess who has faced the problem of what to serve when guests drop in unexpectedly, would do well to arm herself with one of the Corona electric waffle irons, that are on sale at Public Service stores. The price on this well finished iron has been reduced $5, making it now $9 instead of $12 and may be bought on terms of $1 down, $1 a month.

OCTOBER first will be moving day for many people and moving day gives the home-maker a fine opportunity to get rid of what is undesirable in her household equipment. For example, if the range in the kitchen is a trouble-maker, a waster of food, and fuel—worn out perhaps, it is best to leave it behind and start in the new home with a gas range that will give better results in cooking and baking with less work and attention.

The most important of all recent improvements in gas ranges is the oven heat regulator. While primarily food is cooked to make it more palatable and digestible, it is also important to cook it in such a way that its nutritious qualities are not lessened. Long slow cooking is acknowledged by domestic scientists and good cooks the world over, as the best method for cooking without loss of weight or food value. Not only may the home-maker employ this method with the oven heat regulator gas range, she may obtain the same degree of heat throughout the cooking period and all without attention on her part.

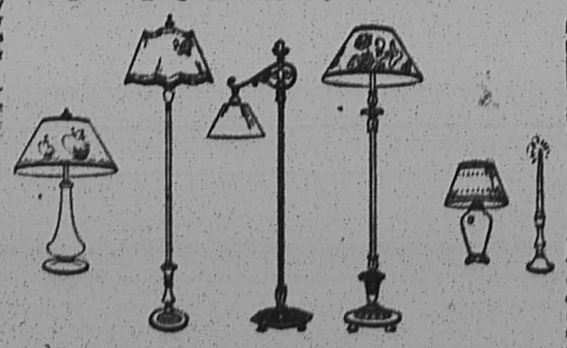

The modern gas range is designed on simple lines. There are no dust-retaining corners—no meaningless trimmings to catch the dirt. Its flat enamelled surfaces can be cleaned easily with a damp cloth.

Gas ranges are built of smaller size than formerly, more compact, every inch of space is utilized, as is shown by the utensil drawer under the top burners with which many modern ranges are equipped.

Before buying see the gas ranges at Public Service, where a wide assortment of sizes, designs, finishes, and examples of the newest improvements are to be found.

The Public Service convenient payment plan makes it possible to use the range while paying for it, and Public Service gas range prices include automatic top burner lighter, delivery, and connection from the kitchen gas outlet.

Hoover Sets New Cleaning Mark

EVERY home-maker knows that no rug or carpet is really clean unless the deeply buried dirt, the surface dust and lint have been removed. To get rid of these, beating, sweeping, shaking, and later so-called vacuum cleaning have been employed. Now these have been supplanted by the greater Hoover with its new feature, Positive Agitation, which beats out the embedded dirt, sweeps up clinging litter and surface dust and with its powerful suction draws all the dirt up into the dust-tight bag.

The colors in Hoover-cleaned rugs are bright and the nap stands up. The home-maker's strength and time is saved and the rugs wear longer.

The Greater Hoover may be bought of Public Service stores on terms of $1 down, $1 a month.

Public Service will appraise your old electric cleaner and deduct the allowance made from the price of the greater Hoover.

FOOD LONG CANNED OF GOOD QUALITY

Shows No Deterioration After Many Years.

Skeptics have always scoffed at the story of the Alaskan prospector who declared that he saved a whole community from starvation through the discovery of the exposed carcass of a mammoth, whose flesh was wholesome after having been imbedded in a glacier for centuries. But that food properly protected from atmospheric changes may be kept for indefinite periods has frequently been proved. An instance is recorded in the files of the house committee on agriculture wherein, during the hearings on a bill to compel food-packing establishments to stamp the date of manufacture on their products, the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon produced in the committee room a large tin of corned beef that had been confined in its metallic jacket for upward of a quarter of a century, and when opened in the committee room was tested by the members and found to be "as good as on the day it was hermetically sealed in the container."

The latest proof of the fact that food may be thus preserved for an indefinite time comes through the foodstuffs division of the Department of Commerce, which reports that during an advertising campaign conducted by one of the large dealers in canned foods in Liverpool a tin of beef, which was a part of the stores taken to the arctic by Sir John Franklin 81 years ago, was recently opened and some of the contents fed to rats, without any ill effects, whatever. The can had remained in Liverpool since 1888.

The fact that the rats that were invited to the feast "lived to squeal again" might not in itself be considered as evidence sufficient to warrant the belief that the eighty-one-year-old beef was still fit for human food, but that belief was substantiated by the bacteriologist present, who reported: "Had this tin of meat been submitted to me by public health authorities I would have reported that it was in sound condition, showed no evidence of food poisoning or other products, and that it could be used as food without any harmful consequences."

After all, why should there be any fear from eating long-canned food? Do not the Chinese feast on eggs that they have stored for decades, without any preserving cerements whatever, except the original shells?

No Slouch

Thomas A. Edison, interviewed on his recent birthday, shook his head modestly over a voting contest that had made Henry Ford, Mussolini and himself the three greatest men living.

"Only posterity," Mr. Edison said, "can know what men among us today are really great. Voting contests are no good, for each of us chooses his great men according to his own peculiar taste.

"A pawnbroker was discussing this voting contest with his wife the other day.

"'Edison, Mussolini and Ford, hey?' he said. 'Vell, dey vas great men, yes; but de man vot invented interest vasn't no slouch.'"

New Hawaiian Industry

Pineapple and sugar are the two principal industries of Hawaii, but a third is rapidly being established to make use of lands too wet for pineapple and too high for cane. This is starch, to be made from the edible canna. For fifty years Australia has supplied the market with arrow-root, which is starch from the root-stock of this plant. The familiar canna of our gardens has tubers rich in starch, but the edible species has a very much larger spread of underground stems filled with starch that is easily separated from the fiber for market use. Hawaii has used the plant extensively for stock feeding.

Guess Again

It was translation day in our Spanish class. We had Spanish sentences to translate into English, and it fell to my lot to take the first one. I started out, "I was to meet my—" and then stopped, not knowing the next word.

The teacher waited a moment and then said, "I know you have one," and I, not stopping to think, said hurriedly, "girl."

The class burst out laughing. I knew I had made some mistake, and after the laughter had subsided the teacher told me the word was "cousin."—Exchange.

Bull Fights Less Cruel

To stem the tide of cruelty in bull fights, managers of contests are protecting the horses. In Lima, Peru, the traditional skin-and-bones equines have been replaced by splendid specimens of horse flesh. They are not blindfolded, and are said to show skill in avoiding the horns of the bull while their masters waved the red cloaks in front of the charging bovine. In Madrid tests are being made to find a suitable armor for the horses. Other cities of Spain are introducing more humane methods.

Valuable Clay

Kaolin, or china clay, is the fine white clay used in the manufacture of porcelain. It is derived from the decomposition of feldspar in rocks. The chief British source of supply is the clay pits of Devon and Cornwall. Kaolin is also used for the sizing of printing paper and cotton cloth, and in the preparation of certain pigments.

Old Timer is a resident of New Jersey who has been in close touch with the temperance movement for over a half-century. In these talks, he takes us back to the days before Prohibition, and in a friendly spirit answers questions and quibbles, and shows the benefits following the Eighteenth Amendment when honestly and earnestly enforced by responsible officers of the law.

Obedience to Law

Speaking at the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, Old Timer said:

"Much is being said in these days of rum-running about law enforcement, but instead of emphasizing enforcement, I prefer the view as expressed in a recent address by President Coolidge that 'In a republic, the first rule for the guidance of the citizen is obedience to law.'

"In this republic, our only autocrat is 'sovereign law, the State's collected will,' and the citizen who willfully disobeys that law is disloyal. The American Bar Association, through its judicial section in convention at Cincinnati, has eloquently stated the duty of every loyal American in these words:

"'The people of the United States have undertaken to suppress the age-long evil of the liquor traffic. When, for the gratification of appetites, lawyers, bankers, merchants and manufacturers, and social leaders, both men and women, scoff at this law, or any other law, they are aiding the cause of anarchy and promoting mob-violence, robbery and homicide. They are sowing dragon's teeth, and they need not be surprised when they find that no judicial or police authority can save our country or humanity from reaping the harvest.'

"This opinion of our highest unofficial legal body is re-enforced by Chief Justice William H. Taft, who says, 'The citizen who is in favor of the enforcement of only the laws for which he has voted, and in the principle and wisdom of which he agrees, is not a law abiding citizen of a democracy. The moment any person assumes to pick and choose between laws, that moment you have incipient anarchy, for the same right cannot be denied to any other citizen, and the same principle may be applied to any other law.'"

A member here interrupted to ask, "What right has any legislative body to say what I shall eat or what I shall drink?" The prompt reply was that "personal liberty is not the question under discussion. The Eighteenth Amendment is a commercial proposition, prohibiting the beverage traffic in liquor, not its consumption. It is no new proposition, even in New Jersey, before Prohibition. Every poor man who couldn't raise the license fee or find a brewer to stake him was an outlaw if he sold liquor.

"License has been defined by the Chief Justice of New Jersey as 'a special privilege to do what otherwise would be unlawful, granted to the few, and withheld from the many, in the exercise of the police power.' Before Prohibition there were only 7,861 Jerseymen with 'personal liberty.' All the rest of us, 2,529,306, were under as strict prohibition as the Volstead law provides.

"As to eating and drinking, that is a matter of appetite and discretion. If a man prefers, he may eat diseased meat, drink diluted milk, or water filled with bacteria, breathe unsanitary atmosphere, or dope himself with drugs; but laws protect him against commerce forcing these evil conditions upon him.

"The law holds as confederates in crime all who knowingly buy or receive stolen or smuggled goods, either as a 'fence' or for personal use. What shall we say of the man or woman who willfully conspires with criminals against the Constitution of the United States and the laws of both the Nation and the State? 'Scofflaw' is a new term that appears to aptly designate such inconsiderate citizens. Such citizens, to again quote our President, 'Are not following the path of civilization, but are displaying the traits of ignorance, of servitude, of savagery, and treading the way that leads to the jungle'."—New Jersey Temperance Socie..

How to Preserve the Watermelon

THE watermelon enthusiast may have his favorite fruit in the middle of winter if he will go to the little extra trouble of preserving the whole watermelon by painting it with waterproof paint, and then keeping it in the basement in a cool place until time for use.

If one cannot secure a waterproof paint that he is sure of, a good waterproof coating may be made at home by mixing rosin oil, 50 parts; rosin, 36 parts, and white soap, 9 parts. This should be applied warm on the surface of the melon. A rather thick solution should be spread on it, to be sure that all the surface is to be protected. If the melon is whole, and there are no abrasions in the skin, the coating covers the hard shell so that no air or moisture can get to the inner absorptive layers of the melon.

Another recipe is to take 1 part of gluten, mix it with 1½ parts of glycerin and heat it at about 248 degrees F. A slimy mass will be secured which is not only waterproof, but also water-repelling.

Laughter Better Than Complaint and Anger

Some folks have such an exalted notion of their own importance that they stiffen up as though overstarched, to such an extent that they would break if they had to bend in laughter. To such an one poor, simple, light-hearted Charles Lamb went up to in the street one day, and innocently asked: "Beg pardon, sir, but are you anybody in particular?" Such a man could not laugh. He could only fume and boil inside, until he burst out in complaint to some one. If we really valued things aright, we should see that very often we ought to let our laughter rise, instead of our complaints and angry passions, when things do not go our way. A bishop of Oxford slipped and fell one day. An unctuous confrere leaned over him with the remark: "Ah, Sam; sinners stand in slippery places." "I see they do," said Wilberforce looking up, with a laugh, at him, "but I can't!" Which was a whole lot better than getting grouchy with the unctuous one! What good would complaining have done in his case?—Exchange.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Palmyra Police Officers Busy Over Weekend

The Palmyra police department handled the largest amount of traffic that it has ever experienced over Sunday during the past week, since the Bridgeboro bridge has been closed, thus throwing more traffic through Palmyra. Chief of Police Beck said there was more traffic coming in all directions. Despite this fact not an accident was reported over the weekend.

The Palmyra-Tacony Ferry Company transported a total of over 2,700 cars across the river Sunday. This is an exceptionally large amount for September.

DAY THAT MARKED DOWNFALL OF GERM

August Is Notable in Annals of Surgery.

On August 12, 1865, a youngster, whose name survives only as James G., was run over by a cart in Glasgow and gained undying fame, for his leg, if not for himself. Some one carried the injured lad to the Glasgow Royal Infirmary, where presided an eager young surgeon, newly come from London, and possessed of an idea. His name was Joseph Lister and his idea was that those mysterious living germs which Pasteur had just been investigating had something to do with the suppuration then considered inevitable after any surgical operation, as well as after bone fractures in which the skin also is broken, fractures which surgeons class as "compound" ones. Young James had suffered that kind of fracture of his leg. Most surgeons of the day would have said, as probably some of them did say, that James was likely to go one-legged through the rest of his life.

Young Doctor Lister thought differently. He tried on the wound in the leg the new germ-discouraging methods which he had been thinking out and testing. The result was magical. No suppuration followed; the leg healed. On March 16, 1867, Lister used the case to illustrate the first publication of his methods in the London Lancet. Antiseptic surgery, perhaps the greatest of all the gifts of medical science to mankind, had begun.

A world in which the miracle of painless and germless surgery has become a commonplace finds it difficult to realize how short a time has passed since its invention. The centenary of Lister's birth has just been celebrated by the world's physicians. It is less than half as long since his methods of conquering the germs became common knowledge and common practice. Of all the surgical operations now classed as major ones more than three-fourths could never have been attempted so long as germ invaders were admitted with the knife. Nowadays, thanks to Lister and to anesthesia, surgery is perhaps the most advanced of all arts. Indeed, it is far in advance, as Sir Berkeley Moynihan said at one of the Lister celebration, "of all the sciences upon which its future progress depends." Another Lister is needed to open some new field to its conquerors, perhaps another James to lend his leg to some renewed advance.

Studying Street Noises

In an effort to bring about the elimination of many street noises, a survey is being made in the streets of Chicago with an instrument recently devised for recording and comparing the volume of different sounds. According to this instrument the average human voice records 40 and the streets noises on the level of one of Chicago's busiest corners is 657. The volume of noise encountered at the top of a tall building is about one-third that at the street level below. A steam engine pulling up a grade makes these times more noise than an electric motor doing the same amount of work on the same grade.

Sure Earthworms Sing

If you don't believe that earthworms have voices and use them, tiptoe into the garden some warm summer evening, says Dr. Rudolph Ruedemann of the New York State museum, Albany, in a statement in Popular Science Monthly, confirming observations of the German scientist, Prof. O. Mangold.

Listening one evening in the garden, Doctor Ruedemann observed "a chorus of almost unbelievably small voices." Aided by a flashlight, he caught several worms in the act of "singing." The worms, he thinks, make these noises by dragging their minute bristles over the edges of their holes in the ground.

Mule Long Imprisoned

When his mule disappeared, Dan Darling, pioneer farmer of Nixon, Texas, started a farflung search for him, without avail, even putting out postcards with a reward for his return. Two weeks later, he happened to cross a dry creek in the middle of his pasture, and found the mule wedged in between two banks in such a way that he could not get out. Darling procured help, and released the mule, which had not suffered much in spite of his long stay without food or water.—Indianapolis News.

Money in Old Silver Foil

The so-called "silver" foil is really tin or aluminum foil and a great deal of it is used and much of it wasted by being discarded after once having served as a wrapping. A Welsh charity drive took the form of a collection of this material for the period of one year and the amount collected represented a value of $10,000, which was expended in endowing hospital beds. During the "drive" other money and valuable material was collected which brought the total up to $30,000.

One of the Los Angeles furniture stores has a new davenport that they call "Cupid's Retreat." It looks very much like most other davenports but unwary bachelors are warned.

"The upholstery is quite thin," explained the salesman, "and by the end of a year it is sure to be worn through, thereby displaying the sign: 'It's time to get married.'"

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th. Rector

Bishop Brent's opening address at the recent world conference at Lausanne appealed very much to us.

"God wills unity. Our presence in this Conference bears testimony to our desire to bend our wills to His. However we may justify the beginnings of disunion, we lament its continuance, and henceforth must labor, in penitence and faith to build up our broken walls."

One way of building up the broken walls is by delving into the historic backgground of the Church.

History has been called "a cordial for drooping spirits" and certainly it does tend to give us the conviction which alone comes from true knowledge, so that in the words of St. Paul "We henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine."

One of our observations has been, that as students of history some of us would make very poor plasterers.

Another way to unity, and this applies to many things other than the Church, is to remember the somewhat small part each of us is called upon to play in the symphony of life, and be duly humble about it. Few of us are called upon to be soloists "and the majority of us will never be heard from individually, save by unforseen discords made by unhandy plucking at our harps."

Therefore be humble. There are too many folk who think they are able to carve the turkey, when really they have yet to learn the proper way to shell the peas. "He who would fain take up the Harp of Life is perhaps given a prosaic kettle drum" but poorly and noisily played this latter instrument can very effectively throw all ranks out of step.

Let each man do his small part with all the grace and skill God has given him and there will result a divine harmony.

The services of admission for the candidates of the "Girls Friendly Society" will be held on Sunday evening next at 8 p. m. It will be a very impressive service.

The evening services for the Fall and Winter are as follows:

The First Sunday will be an entirely musical service, such as the choir have delighted us with in the past. There will be no sermon; the music expressing to the heart such language as no sermon yet contained.

The Second Sunday will feature a special historical address, telling of the undying wonders and records of long past centuries.

The Third Sunday will have for the Sermon topic "A Question Box". This box will be kept in the church and will contain such questions as the members and visitors will place therein. The Rector will answer these—so far as he is able.

The Fourth Sunday will give the congregation an opportunity to develop the sense of mystery which is an inherent part of every man's religion.

You will find all of the services of great help.

Rally Day Services

Sunday, September 25, is "Rally Day." It is one day of the year when EVERY member should be present, especially in the Bible School.

Beginning promptly at ten, Bible School exercises will be fully charged with enthusiasm. Everything on the program will be marked "special" from the music and singing to the taking of the offering. Superintendent Van Osten has secured a special speaker for the occasion and every effort will be made to give everyone a seat.

In the Primary Department there will be a special promotion program in charge of Miss Ester Dean to which any of the parents will be most welcome.

One of the big features of the day will be the "Dollar Offering"—to push the mercury over the top on the Building Fund Thermometer. Let us complete this job on Sunday!

Pastor Lockett's Rally Day sermons will be as follows: At the 11.15 a. m. service, "The Duty of the Strong." There also will be special music. At the evening service, at 7.45, "An Outfit for Rally Day." A spirited song service also will mark the evening.

Miss Esther Yerkes will lead the BYPU meeting this Friday evening. The following week the meeting will be held in "the temple of the trees" at Giberson's Grove along Taylor's Lane. Anyone wishing to go is cordially invited. The devotional meeting will be followed by a campfire and seasonal refreshments.

The young men of the Samaritan Class are active. A glee club is practicing on Tuesday evenings and the bowling tournament has been resumed on Friday evenings.

This afternoon (Thursday) the Philathea ladies meet at the home of Mrs. Ellis, 708 Parry avenue. Do not forget that this is the annual meeting for the election of officers.

"Can He count on you? Can He count on you?
'Tis the Lord who calls For the brave and true.
Will you stand the test? Will you do your best?
Can the Master count on you?"

FREEHOLDERS WILL ESTABLISH WORKHOUSE FOR PRISONERS

Director of Public Buildings Russ Instructed to Find Site for Institution

PROPOSED BY SHERIFF SEVERAL MONTHS AGO

Definite action was taken by the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday looking to the establishment of a workhouse in this county.

About a year ago Sheriff A. Engle Haines recommended that such an institution be established. The members of the board have visited various parts of the county where workhouses are now maintained and have gotten a general idea of the workings, which have proved a big benefit to the counties where tried.

Director Russ introduced a resolution approving the establishment of such an institution and providing for securing a suitable location, which will be subject to the approval of the board.

The freeholders realize that the benefits to be derived and the saving that will eventually result from having the prisoners employed, instead of lying idle for weeks and months in the county jail, will be a big item in the business of the county.

In making this move they are prompted by the fact that recently the county jail has proved inadequate owing to the increase in criminal business in the county. As proof of this fact it is pointed out that the September Grand Jury reported 192 indictments. More than one hundred of the charges were violations of the liquor laws. Unless a workhouse is provided it will be necessary to enlarge or probably rebuild the county bastile, it is contended.

Request for New Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Knobb, Mrs. Ella N. Johnson and Mrs. Sarah E. Pedlow, of Maple Shade, appeared before the board in the interest of the new county line bridge over Pensauken creek at the end of the Fork Landing road. The object of their visit was to find out what if any action had been taken concerning the widening of the bridge to conform to the width of the new road recently constructed. The delegation complained that due to the fact that the bridge was several feet narrower than the road, a dangerous condition existed there, and also that there was a ten-inch drop from the new road to the bridge.

It appeared as if this was a condition to be adjusted by the members of the township committee and the road contractor, the road still being a Township road. The members of the board, however, promised the delegation that they would diligently inquire into the matter immediately, with the thought that the county might be able to give them some temporary relief until such time as the officials of Camden county were able to meet Burlington on a 50-50 basis in widening the bridge.

Messrs. C. B. Fisher and H. B. Smith, director of bridges and the county engineer, respectively, reported that it had been impossible for the contractor rebuilding the Green Bank bridge to drive thirty-foot piling for the support of the bascule pier. According to an arrangement with Atlantic county, it had been agreed to substitute twenty-three feet piling but that twelve additional piles would be driven. The report was accepted by the board and the substitution approved.

To Redeem $135,000 in Notes

Provision was made to redeem $135,000 of temporary notes issued for road and bridge improvement and $276,000 notes of a similar nature made necessary by the building of a number of new county buildings, additions, etc., with a bond issue which will be properly advertised by Clerk Adams.

The Public Service Company requested permission to lay gas pipe along the shoulder of the new Haddonfield-Moorestown road for a distance of about 800 feet from Pleasant View avenue, Moorestown, and the request was granted.

William A. Johnson, clerk of Washington township, in a letter to the board called attention to at least ten dangerous road intersections in that township which need caution signs. This was referred to the road department with power to act.

George C. Frank, holding a similar position in Cinnaminson township, asked for the erection of a stop sign at the intersection of Branch pike and the Riverton-Moorestown road in that township and this was also referred to the road department with power to act.

The following bills were ordered paid: Roads, $7,949.09; bridges $6,879.99; buildings, $8,585.73; finance, $441.57; public affairs, $2,614.05; total, $26,473.43.

DROVE ON R. R.

James Skimmner, colored of 1014 South Second street, Camden, was arrested by Officer Nelson Wallace of the Palmyra Police force Sunday evening on a charge of reckless driving.

Skimmner drove his machine a distance of 200 feet in the railroad tracks near the service station and crossing at River Road, West Palmyra. With the driver were five other colored passengers, but no one was hurt.

Skimmner was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter at his Delaware avenue home, Palmyra, Sunday night and fined $6.20 including costs.

Teachers' Reception at Cinnaminson

Meeting Last Night Addressed by Mrs. Walter Dawson, State Officer

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Westfield Public School held a reception for the teachers last night. The evening was spent in music, stunts and an address by Mrs. Walter Dawson, state vice president.

Mrs. Nathan Conrow presided at the meeting and in the course of her remarks mentioned that the Normal School sent two practice teachers to the Cinnaminson school last year, and was so well pleased with the results that this year three teachers have been sent.

The stunts included walking the chalk line, a turtle race, and a cracker eating contest in which the prize was awarded to the one who first finished masticating two Trenton crackers. Those who have never tried this stunt can hardly realize how dry a cracker can be.

Mrs. Dawson's subject was, "Why you should join the Parent-Teacher Association," for which she enumerated three reasons. The first was in order to learn how to train children to go to school. She said that while it was required that teachers should be better and better trained, little or no thought had been given to training children to be sent to those trained teachers. She urged that every home provide a suitable place for children to study, away from noise, talk, and confusion, and also suggested that Friday and Saturday nights be made "family nights." The other nights of the week being devoted to proper preparation of home work.

The second point was that the Parent-Teacher Associations are character building associations and not leagues for making money. The association meetings, said the speaker, were also excellent places to learn about state school law and its requirements as affecting buildings, subjects to be taught, etc. Mrs. Dawson urged parents not to wait until some thing goes wrong before visiting the school, but to drop in frequently with a friendly word for the teacher.

Mrs. Dawson closed her remarks by giving the slogan of the Parent-Teacher association—"Where every parent wants for every child in school the same as they want for their child and home."

Men's Club Holds Splendid Banquet

Dr. D'Estornelle Delivers Eloquent Address Before 150 Members

The Palmyra Men's Club opened its 1927 program with a splendid banquet in the Parish Hall of Christ Church Monday evening. Covers were laid for 150 and no seat was vacant.

Every member entered enthusiastically into the spirit of the occasion and the Hilliard Quartet of Camden furnished splendid music throughout the evening. The Rev. George McCormack presided with an easy grace and The Ladies of St. Agnes Guild served a splendid banquet.

The Rev. Camille D'Estornelle, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Camden, was the speaker of the evening and delivered an eloquent address.

The Rev. Mr. Estornelle spoke on the "Value of a Man." He said that chemically a man is worth $8; socially, about $5,000, but that his true worth can only be reckoned in terms of service, which is priceless.

"There are three kinds of services," the speaker continued, "service in giving, service in doing, and service in being. Service in being is the greatest of the three."

He went on to explain that by "service in being" he meant a service to others through examples by being yourself—what you would have them be.

"The Gospels in the Bible are the teaching of the saints," he said, "what we need now is more of the Gospel according to yourselves." Some of the other surprising philosophies he gave during the address was, "the nation's ideals should not be some holy things running around in the skies somewhere, but should be down here in the mud with the rest of us so that we can understand them. The Golden Age is not in the past, nor in the future, as far as we are concerned, it is here now."

BEULAH ANDERSON

Mrs. Anderson was well known in church affairs in this locality and has several children living in the vicinity of East Riverton.

Make Test Borings For New Bridge

Actual Work May be Started Within a Month, Says President Wright

Charles A. Wright of Riverton, was a happy man when one day last week he saw the beginning of the fulfillment of a dream that had been his for more than a quarter of a century.

Preliminary work in the construction of the new $4,000,000 Tacony-Palmyra bridge, consisting of test borings, is now under way. Actual construction work on the span will begin within thirty days, Mr. Wright is president of the bridge company.

Six borings have already been made on the New Jersey side, including two on land. Three tests remain to be made on the Pennsylvania side.

The New Jersey terminal will be located at the junction of Market street, Arch street and Delaware avenue in West Palmyra. The Pennsylvania end of the structure will rest on Delaware avenue at Levick street, Tacony.

There were two strategic points which by nature seemed logical places for the span. The first at Delair, now pre-empted by the Pennsylvania Railroad; the other at Eight Mile Point, where the river is both deep and narrow. The distance here between the pierhead lines is less than 2000 feet, while the average width of the river for several miles in either direction is fully 4000 feet.

In selecting this site the projectors were influenced greatly by the fact that the Tacony terminal is 5.4 miles east of the Philadelphia entrance to the Delaware River Bridge.

It will be a four-lane span, two-thirds as wide as the Delaware River Bridge. While it will be bascule type (commonly known as a knife bridge, the central span or drawbridge opening upward instead of sideways), it will be built sufficiently high above tide-water—sixty feet—for all present existing craft plying upon the river to go under it without the necessity of opening the drawbridge.

The influence of the bridge on surrounding real estate is expected to be as great as that occasioned by construction of the Delaware River Bridge.

The span will be built of steel and concrete throughout, with a grade of 3½ per cent, the established grade of the Delaware River Bridge. The engineering firm of Modjeski, Masters & Chase has been selected to do the work. The bridge is expected to be completed in two years.

Mr. Wright, who also is president of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company, which now operates between the two points that ultimately will be connected by the bridge, is the guiding spirit of the whole enterprise. In its construction Mr. Wright wil realize a dream of many years.

While he had visions of a bridge before the ferry was started eight years ago, he realized that the necessary capital could only be obtained by satisfying prospective investors that the traffic was there.

Mr. Wright has been assisted by Edward W. G. Borer and Grover C. Richman, treasurer and secretary, respectively, of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company, in formulating the plans for the new structure.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Albert J. Harke.

The bride will be attended by her niece, Miss Marie Siebke, as bridesmaid.

The bride will wear a gown of grey satin black crepe and carry a bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaid will be dressed in blue crepe romaine and carry a bouquet of pink roses.

Louis Hable, brother of the groom, will be best man.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside at 609 Linden avenue, Riverton.

Officer Breaks Up "Necking Party"

Five Men Arrested When Miller Acts on Tip and Raids Showell Property

Last Sunday evening Officer Miller received a call from one of the River Bank residents who said there was a "party" going on in the Showell property, between Thomas and Linden avenues on Bank avenue, Riverton.

Miller found about fifteen couples and a "necking party" in full sway. When the officer put in his appearance all but five men got away. These Miller arrested and took before Justice of the Peace Coddington who fined them $11.25 each for disorderly conduct and trespassing.

There have been mysterious doings in the old Showell homestead and the Frishmuth property adjoining for some time, but the "raid" made by Officer Miller will undoubtedly put an end to the gay times held there.

Miller answered a call to the same place a week ago, but when the revelers heard his car stop in front of the house they made a hasty exit through the rear. Last Sunday night he "foxed" them by driving down Linden avenue with his lights out, and entering by the back door.

Those arrested and fined were: Harvey Thorner, 1329 Beller street, Edward Price, 1202 Winter street, and Edward Duffy, 1364 Gilliham street in Frankford; Charles Severn and Russell Coslin both of 6760 Maiden street, Tacony.

The property was purchased some time ago by Joseph F. Sandborne, a wealthy Philadelphian, who is now in Florida.

BRIDGE CONFERENCE

Meeting to Discuss Approaches Will Be Held Wednesday

Charles A. Wright, President of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge Company, will hold a general conference followed by a luncheon Wednesday, October 5, with representatives from the County Board of Freeholders, Public Utilities Commission, Palmyra Borough Council, Amboy Division PRR, and the Engineers and Incorporators of the Bridge, to determine the exact approaches to the bridge.

The conference will be at 10.30 a. m. and luncheon at 12.30 p. m.

The meeting will be held in P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra.

The Railroad company does not want to bear the whole expense of elevating its tracks to allow the roadway furnishing the exit from the bridge to pass under them, but it is deemed very desirable by the promoters of the bridge that the street should pass the railroad at grade, without the risk of a grade crossing.

Another subject which will probably come up for discussion is, which shall be the main exit from the bridge—Delaware avenue, or Market or Arch street? Certain advantages are claimed for both plans, which will probably be fully discussed at the meeting.

PEARL E. PATTERSON

Pearl E. Patterson, colored, of East Riverton, died at her home last Thursday, September 22.

Funeral services were held at the Colored Baptist Church, East Riverton, Monday, with the Rev. Mr. Foster, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment was made at Beverly with funeral direction in charge of Frank A. Snover.

Boy's Leg Broken When Hit by Car

Ran Into Street Without Looking and Was Not Seen by Driver

Little "Jim" Ford, son of John Ford, Linden avenue, Riverton, had his left leg broken in two places when he ran in front of a car on Main street, last Thursday afternoon.

Jim was on his way back to school with three schoolmates at the time of the accident. His three friends had crossed Main street and Jim started across without looking. He stepped out in front of a Ford sedan driven by Jeremiah Lauts, of East Riverton, familiarly known as "Uncle Jerry," who was just starting away from the curb and did not see the youngster.

A Bell telephone employee set Jim's leg before he was taken to Dr. Rogers' office. Dr. Rogers said the leg looked alright to him and bandaged it. An X-ray showed the set had been well made.

Witnesses relieve Uncle Jerry of all blame, as they saw the child run out into the street without looking. No arrest was made.

When the accident happened Officer Quigley was at his post at Broad and Main, seeing to the safety of the school children at that point. In all probability Jim would not have been hurt if he had crossed the street at the proper place.

Jim's injured leg was put in a cast Tuesday of this week. Dr. Rogers is very much pleased with the lad's condition. With all his suffering Jim has kept in good spirits.

PHS Eleven Will Meet Collingswood

Coach Dimond Will Put Heavy Team on Field This Season

Palmyra High School will open its football season this Saturday afternoon with "Skeets" Irvine's Collingswood combination, Class A contenders, at Collingswood. A bus will leave the Palmyra school at 1.30 to transport any pupils who wish to make the trip.

The "Red and White" squad, coached by Kenneth Dimond, former DePauw star, has been put through some hard workouts with daily scrimmages and are set to invade Collingswood and bring home the bacon. Palmyra will be led into battle by Captain Harry Jenkins, a roving center of more than ordinary ability.

The "Colts" are confident after opening the season last week with an 19 to 0 triumph over the Moorestown "Quakers" and a great game is expected.

According to Coach Dimond the backfield will more than likely be composed of Hutchins, 135 pounds at quarter; Meyers,, 155, fullback; Sloan, 135, at left halfback and either Siddall or Schmeirer, both 135 pounders, at left halfback. Schmeirer has been suffering with a "charley horse" and sprained side but will play part of the game. Others on the injured list are "Vic" Mueller, out with two floating cartilages on the knee, and Williams, who also has a floating cartilage.

Despite these handicaps Coach Dimond says he is out to win all the games on the schedule. All of the players traveled to Moorestown last Saturday afternoon and got a line on the Collingswood stars. This will be an advantage to the Red and White outfit as it knows the "Colts" weak and strong points.

This week ends the drive for membership in the Palmyra High School athletic association. Tuesday Coach Dimond reported that over 250 pupils had joined out of a possible 296 and expected to have most of the remainder in by the latter part of the week. Those who join the P. A. A. are entitled to atsports for 15 cents instead of 35 cents during the 1927-28 season.

RIVERTON BANK HAS STARTED NEW BUILDING ON MAIN STREET

TO BE FINISHED WITHIN YEAR; COST $125,000

Modern in Architecture and Equipment; Every Convenience For Patrons

After enjoying twenty years of successful business at its present site, the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company, which started as the Cinnaminson National Bank, has begun the erection of a fine new home on Main street, Riverton, nearly opposite where it is now located.

The new building will be constructed of limestone and brick. The work is being done by William Dougherty and Sons, of Philadelphia, and the architects are Davis, Dunlap and Barney, also of Philadelphia.

Upon entering the building a clear view of the new vault will be obtained. The safe deposit boxes and money vault will be seen through a large plate glass. The vault is to be of the latest type, having the circular door and will be equipped with the latest burglar alarm system.

On the right of the entrance are to be the work rooks and the book keeping rooms.

The office will have something new in bank buildings, namely a fireplace in the open office to the left of the entrance. The coupon rooms will be on the left in the back.

In the rear of the money vault will be the book keeping vault and on the second floor there will be a board room and office.

All vaults are to be fire and burglar proof and there will be a vault in the cellar for storage.

The new building will be equipped with the latest in office furniture.

The Cinnaminson National Bank was opened for business February 4, 1907, with a capital stock of $25,000. For a time its headquarters were in Joseph M. Roberts' store, but steps were immediately taken for the erection of a suitable home for the institution, and in October of the same year the Bank moved into its own handsome building on East Main street, erected at a cost of $12,000, and fitted with the most modern equipment. It was said at the time to be the handsomest bank building of its size in the State.

The organizers were: Samuel Slim, J. Lawrence Lippincott, L. L. Sharp, M. D., E. E. Compton, D. H. Wright, John H. Lewis, William Rudduck, Joseph M. Roberts Samuel MacMullin, Alfred Smith, C. T. Woolston, F. G. Brown, Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., Robert F. Garwood and Joseph Morgan.

The first officers were: Charles W. Nevin, President; Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., and Joseph Morgan, vice presidents; E. L. Williams, cashier. On the death of Mr. Nevin, on November 14, 1908, Mr. Morgan succeeded to the presidency and J. Lawrence Lippincott became one of the vice-presidents.

The board of directors was composed of Charles W. Nevin, Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., Joseph Morgan, Samuel F. Ringgold, George C. Frank, Samuel Slim, Edmund Holmes, Joseph M. Roberts, Collins H. Haines J. Lawrence Lippincott, Charles A. Wright and J. Otto Thilow.

The bank was a financial success from the first. Its depositors now number over 3500, and the deposits amount to $1,275,000.00.

Soon after its organization the bank took over the work of the Riverton Savings Bank, which had been conducted by public-spirited citizens who met its operating expenses by private subscription.

The selection of the word Cinnaminson as a part of the name was particularly fitting, as it was the name of the township which formerly embraced the territory of what is now Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson Township, so that not only Riverton but all the adjacent territory is represented in the title of the institution.

The little frame building which occupied the site of the new bank building when it was purchased a few months ago by that institution, was erected in 1884 at 407 Lippincott avenue by Dr. H. B. Hall, who intended it for a school to be conducted by his sister Lillian. The builder was Samuel Rudderow. The school was not a success, however, and in 1886 it was moved to East Main street, where it served as a grocery store under various managements, including Samuel MacMullin, William H. Libe, Charles Lloyd and E. E. Compton, who were in business together for about two years, at the end of which time Mr. Compton bought out the interest of his partner, and has conducted the business single handed since 1899. A few years ago when J. S. Collins & Son erected their new brick building following a fire which destroyed the frame structure they formerly occupied, Mr. Compton secured one of the stores therein, and the little frame building was sold to William H. Holland who used it as a restaurant until he sold it to the bank.

The present officers and directors of the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company are: E. L. Williams, president; Joseph L. Thomas, vice-president and trust officer; Edward S. Wood, vice-president; Howard B. Conover, secretary and treasurer; Herbert J. Kemmerle, assistant treasurer; Morris H. Decoursey, assistant secretary; George C. Frank, Collins H. Haines, Edmund S. Holmes, J. Lawrence Lippincott, Charles C. Miller, Charles Street Mills, H. H. Murray, Joseph L. Thomas, John S. Warner, James T. Weart, E. L. Williams, and Edward S. Wood.

PARTICIPATED IN THE BIG PARADE

Riverton Firemen In Line at Atlantic City, Last Saturday

The Riverton Fire Company participated in the parade in Atlantic City last Saturday with its new truck, the Lyric Band and forty uniformed men.

Of all the companies parading many spectators said Riverton was the best-drilled outfit in line.

When the Riverton boys passed the reviewing stand they saluted the officials in the stand by holding their hats over the left shoulder.

The parade was over ten miles long and the walking distance was about six miles.

The ladies who so kindly gave their time and energy to make the Firemen's Carnival a success were taken to Atlantic City in a PRT deLuxe coach. Many others from Riverton drove down in their own cars to see the Riverton boys parade.

At the end of the march the Atlantic City Fire Department supplied a box lunch for each one in line.

George Beckert Lowest of Four Bidders For Construction of Walks and Curbs

At an adjourned meeting of the Riverton Borough Council Monday night of this week a contract for laying curbs and sidewalks in the borough was awarded to George Beckert, of Riverside, on his bid of $880. The other bidders were Hilton M. Smith, Riverton, $1053.60; Palmyra Concrete Company, $1047.60; and Joseph Piergross, Palmyra, $904.45.

This work is to be done under the ordinance passed last year, and represents that portion of the construction which has not already been taken care of by the individual property owners. Work is to be started within ten days from the signing of the contract.

The mayor reported that at the last meeting of council a motion had been passed instructing the borough attorney to attend the hearing to be held before the Public Utility Commission on September 20, relatives to the petition of the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company for an increase in its rates to private consumers. The Mayor said a letter had been received from the attorney stating that it had been impossible for him to attend the hearing on the 20th, and that on his request it had been postponed until September 27th. He also suggested that the borough engineers be notified of the hearing and requested to attend, as the matter was not merely a legal point, but involved other features with which the engineers would be more familiar.

Councilman Welsh inquired if the borough engineers had been so notified, and the clerk replied in the negative. Mr. Welsh then inquired when the letter had been received and was told that it was dated September 21.

The mayor asked the members of council how much they supposed the people of Riverton were interested in the matter—if they really cared enough about it to warrant paying the expenses of the solicitor and engineers to attend the hearing? Mr. Welsh replied that he thought the borough should be represented on general principles, and moved that the solicitor and engineers be authorized to attend the hearing. The motion was seconded by Councilman Hubbs and unanimously passed.

Vocational School Explained to Club

County Superintendent Tells Holly Rotarians of Proposed Institution

Mount Holly Rotarians were given a complete explanation of the county vocational school proposition, that is to come before the voters, by County School Superintendent Louis J. Kaser at their meeting last week. In view of the fact that so many people do not understand what the county vocational school idea is all about, Mr. Kaser was asked to address the Rotarians for the purpose of giving them the first-hand information on his mind because the movement is a part of the public educational policy coming through his department of county business.

He made it quite clear that the establishment of such a school in Burlington county brings no personal benefit to him, as it just means more work placed in his office and his salary is not affected and no additional help will be required or requested. He is interested because he believes vocational training will be a benefit to the school boys and girls of the county and will place many young people in fields where they properly belong and give them expert training that will help them as wage earners and make them more useful to their communities in industrial and other fields.

Mr. Kaser said that the addition of vocational courses to the high schools in the county is not sufficient to train boys and girls to the point of being positively useful in the industrial field, but they are certainly channels through which selection can be made in determining whether it is advisable for the students to go on for more training in a complete county school. He believes that a start should be made in a small and inexpensive way and continue that way until the experimental stage is over and there is a definite way of determining how far the work of an extensive scale should be carried. Middlesex county was cited as a territory similar to Burlington county and there, Mr. Kaser said, the county school has an enrollment of 500 students, showing that they really wanted that kind of training and are appreciating the opportunity to make themselves expert in the courses and trades to which they have access.

The expense, he said, would be borne through the regular channels of taxation and it had been estimated that if taxation bore all the expense, which is not likely to be at the start anyway, about 4½ cents would be added to the tax rate. He referred to the fact that about two years ago there was an offer of a building to start such a school, but he was not sure that this would be available hereafter.

Mr. Kaser laid special stress on the fact that about 24 per cent of public school children never go beyond the eighth grade, partly because they do not see anything ahead for them in ordinary book learning, and that 65 per cent of those entering high school drop out, leaving only a small percentage to take advantage of the elaborate system placed before them. He felt that training in trades would keep many more in school for more education.

BURGLARS ENTER MEDFORD GARAGE

Tires, Batteries, Oil and Cigars, Valued at $600, Taken Through Jimmied Window

Jordan's Garage, South Main street, Medford, was robbed early last Thursday morning of $600 worth of tires, batteries and oil.

When Mr. Jordan opened his place Thursday he found the shop had been robbed of practically all of its large tires, about 20 in number. Three new storage batteries were gone, all of his cigars and cigarettes, several cans of oil and a few cans of polish. The cash register had not been molested.

The plunder was apparently taken out of the open window, which had been "jimmied" at the rear.

State police and county detectives are at work on the case. Several garage robberies have occurred recently in the county, according to the State Police, the last one near Medford being two weeks ago two fifty-gallon oil cans were stolen from in front of Crawford's garage at Cross Roads.

Urges Vocational School for County

Firemen's Association Hears Strong Plea for Educational System

The Burlington County Firemen's Association met in the Palmyra High School last Wednesday night and George Shinn, of Burlington, made a strong plea for the firemen to back the proposed vocational school for the county. The speaker estimated that only thirty-three percent. of grammar school graduates enter high schools. The other sixty-seven percent. of the graduates are left without any special training. A vocational school for Burlington County would take care of this large group of grammar school graduates, he said.

Shinn told his audience that there are two ways to establish such a training school. One is to have the judge of the county court appoint a board of estimates, after he has been petitioned to do so by the County Board of Chosen Freeholders. The Freeholders, while they are personally for the vocational school, are unwilling to take the initiative on the petition, Shinn said. The other method is by a referendum vote. To provide this referendum vote more than fifteen percent of the registered voters of the county must sign a petition to that effect.

Shinn asked the firemen to sign the petitions when they are circulated. The state will pay a proportionate share of the cost of the school and the Federal government will pay fifty percent of the teachers' salaries. The estimated cost for the county alone for the first year is $30,000.

William B. Cramer, Beverly Mayor, gave a short address of praise for Stephen Steinman's work as a fireman. Steinman is a Riverside fireman and has served his company as representative to the association for the past five years.

After the meeting at the High School the firemen were invited to the firehouse where refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Palmyra company.

NATION'S AUTO TOLL FOR MONTH OF JULY

Statistics on motor vehicle fatalities for the entire country, made public last week, by the National Safety Council, discloses that fifty-eight persons were killed each day during July in motor accidents, as compared with sixty a day during the same period a year ago.

Of the eighteen cities under 100,000 population which were named in the council's honor roll, Everett, Mass., with a population of 45,000 has had no fatalities this year while Davenport, Iowa, with a population of 66,000 has had none since September 1926.

St. Louis stands out alone, the report states, among the larger cities which have affected a reduction of motor vehicle fatalities, reducing the number of deaths by 29 per cent. Rochester, N. Y., had a 21 per cent. reduction, which Newark had a reduction of more than 13 per cent. in the number of fatalities.

Tuition in the winter courses is free to residents of New Jersey over 16 years old and who have had a grammar school education or its equivalent. Expenses for books, board and room, and incidentals are borne by the student. Figures compiled by the college indicate that these range between $170 and $193 for an individual.

The department of Commerce announces that marriages in Illinois increased during 1926. Evidently the citizens are going on the theory that, "in union their is strength" —and safety. Organizing to gang the gangsters, eh?

COLLEGE ISSUES 19 APPLES RECIPES

Nineteen recipes for using apples are given in a small bulletin now being issued free to residents of that state by the college of agriculture at Rutgers University, New Brunswick. The publication is called "Apples as Food" and was written by Marie Doermann, the state extension specialist in foods. The author has made her explanations brief and easy to follow.

Among the recipes given are: surprise apples, blushing apples, ginger apples, apples in rice, baked ham with stuffed apple, German apple cake, apple pie, apple snow, Waldorf salad, and apple in cabbage salad.

The brief introduction to the bulletin points out that it is not difficult to learn how to select good cooking apples. The author names several varieties which are most prized for cooking.

The convenient size of the publication makes it easily fitted into most cooking books. The college advises using in conjunction with it the booklet entitled "Apples of New Jersey" which shows in colors the five leading winter varieties of apples produced in the state. This booklet was prepared, the college announces, by one of the leading fruit authorities in the United States and is being distributed to residents of the state free on request as an aid to them in getting what they want when they go to the market to buy apples.

Copies of both these publications may be obtained by sending a request on a postal card to the mail clerk, college of agriculture, New Brunswick, N. J.

COLLEGE PLANS WINTER COURSES

Plans for the winter short courses in agriculture, a regular part of the instruction at the State College of Agriculture at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, are completed. They include five special and one general course.

According to the printed announcement now being distributed by the college special courses are offered in dairy farming, dairy manufacturers, fruit growing, vegetable gardening, and poultry husbandry. Graduates of these courses are trained for actual practice on their own farms or to fill responsible positions in specialized fields.

The course in general agriculture covers a wide range of subjects intended to give the student a broad knowledge of advanced farm practices and is designed for persons who have not had much farm experience or for those who do not care to specialize.

It is stated, that, although the college does not guarantee positions for its graduates, those who have adequate training and ability are always in demand. The institution has not been able to supply the demand for well-trained orchardists, poultrymen, dairymen, vegetable growers, and general farmers.

There are rear-seat drivers in every kind of job.

Former Riverton Boy Killed by Car

Clyde Fetterman Struck by Auto While Playing Football in Street

Clyde Fetterman, 11, of 115 Glenwood avenue, Merchantville, died in Cooper Hospital within eight minutes after he had been hit by an automobile, while playing football in the street, Friday afternoon. A quick run to the hospital from Maple and Fithian avenues, Merchantville, failed to save his life.

The boy was struck by the car of E. M. Downs, 2732 North Crosky street, Philadelphia, who was held in $1000 bail by Prosecutor Wescott, pending further investigation of the accident.

Home from school and with no lessons to worry about until Monday, Clyde went out to play football with his brother, William, and their chum, Samuel Warren, East Rogers avenue. They were kicking the ball about at the edge of the street at the intersection where the accident occurred.

One of the boys kicked the ball to Clyde. He reached for it, but missed it. It rolled out into the center of the street, and Clyde dashed after it.

Downs saw the boy and jammed on his breaks, he told police. He stopped within a few feet, but not quick enough to avoid hitting the running boy, who was just about to scoop up the ball.

The boy's father, C. A. Fetterman, is a wire chief for the Bell Telephone Company, and formerly lived in Riverton.

It Is Now Up To State Legislators

Zoning Amendment Gives Legislature Power to Pass Enabling Act

Early passage by the 1928 Legislature of a law to make the zoning constitutional amendment effective is predicted by Senator William A. Stevens, of Monmouth County, Mr. Stevens is now Republican leader of the Senate and is slated for the president in the next session.

"While adoption of the zoning amendment is affirmation by the people by a large majority of the power the Legislature has believed it possessed, new Legislation will be prepared for introduction as soon as the 1928 session opens," Mr. Stevens stated.

"The zoning amendment authorizes the Legislature to enact 'general laws' empowering the municipalities of the state to adopt zoning ordinances, but extreme care must be exercised in this grant of power. It is the duty of the Legislature to see that the delegation of power adequately meets the situation, but does not permit undue oppression a possibility that some opponents of zoning saw in the amendment. In other words we must be discreet."

Mr. Stevens did not believe a special session of the Legislature necessary to put through zoning legislation. Such a session could be called by Governor Moore, but it is doubtful if he would call it without consulting the Republican legislative leaders.

"The situation is not so acute that the legislation cannot rest until the Legislature meets in regular session," he said. "The session is only a little more than three months away and the interval may well be used in drafting bills and the holding of conferences on the question. We intend to proceed slowly and surely to give the people of the State what they want."

The zoning amendment will not become a part of the State Constitution until after the special election vote is canvassed by the Governor and four Senators, October 18, and the result certified to Secretary of State Fitzpatrick.

Broad power is granted by the amendment. Its language in full, follows:—

"The Legislature may enact general laws under which municipalities, other than counties, may adopt zoning ordinances limiting and restricting to specified districts and regulating therein, buildings and structures, according to their construction, and the nature and extent of their use, and the exercise of such authority shall be deemed to be within the police power of the state. Such laws shall be subject to repeal or alteration by the Legislature."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Health authorities are pertrurbed over the appearance of new cases of infantile paralysis covering a wide area of the country. While the dread disease may not be said to have reached epidemic stage anywhere as yet, all are mindful of the outbreak of this malady some years ago, when hundreds of children died or were left sadly crippled, and every precaution is being taken to isolate all cases appearing, with the object of preventing the spread of the contagion so far as possible.

Medical science has made but little progress in its study of infantile paralysis. It is admitted to be infectious and in about fifty per cent. of the known cases the effect either is fatal or such as to leave the young victims crippled in more or less degree.

The disease plays no favorites. It visits the homes of rich and poor alike. Its maimed little victims are children of the millionaire and of the day laborer. There is no preventive but physicians believe that healthy children offer greatest resistance to the germs of the contagion and for that reason it is of even more importance than at other times to look after the physical condition of the little folks and the larger young people of the family.

Those who have predicted a serious outbreak of infantile paralysis this fall may be unduly pessimistic in their view of the immediate future, but already there have appeared enough cases of the scourge to warrant the advice to keep the children away from unnecessary exposure to possible contact with the disease germs.

While there is no known preventive or practical inoculation for infantile paralysis, it has been stated that plenty of fresh air, exercise in moderation and a consequently healthy body are likely to aid children in resisting the germs of the disease if exposed to them.

SAFETY MEASURES

Promote fire prevention and protect your property and family.

Last year over $1,000 worth of property was burned every minute and a life was lost every 35 minutes.

Clean property seldom burns—do away with rubbish and junk.

Careless smokers burned $30,000,000 worth of property last year.

Keep matches in metal boxes where children cannot reach them.

Don't keep ashes in wooden boxes or deposit them against wooden buildings or partitions.

Don't change your electric wiring without consulting a competent electrician.

Don't hang electric light cords on nails.

Be careful with electric flatirons and always use with signal light.

Use metal protection under all stoves and protect woodwork where stoves or furnaces are close to walls.

Don't pass stove pipes through ceiling, roofs or wodden partitions.

Have all flues cleaned, examined and repaired at least once a year.

Every open fireplace should have a screen.

Don't connect gas stoves, heaters or hot plates with rubber hose.

SELLING SCHOOL IDEA

"If Lincoln had only a dozen books and Garfield learned to read while riding a tow-path mule, what can the child to-day do with present school equipment—if he really wants to?"

Publisher J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News, and member of the school board at Hartington, Nebr., puts the above question in clinching his argument for greater vision in the handling of our education system. He contends that we complain of high taxes but go merrily about the job of building up propaganda which leaves the child with the impression that "school" is a monster destroying its liberties.

Current cartoons on the opening of school, which almost in every instance put the wrong emphasis on what school really means to the child, brought forth this most interesting comment from Mr. O'Furey.

"While we are complaining of high taxes I wonder how much useless expense is caused by impressing upon the minds of children that school is destroying their liberties?

"And what does the mental opposition cost the county?

"And how much worry does it cause school authorities, while the kiddies are young, and to civic authorities as they grow older?"

Isn't it about time we all start "selling" the school idea to our children.

"Sales resistance" has at last been defined. It is the triumph of mind over patter.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS

On a 1,000 acre tract near Baltimore there will soon be shown the history of American railroading, from the beginning, with locomotives and cars from various epochs—all in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio, first in the United States "to handle for the public passengers and freight," reminds you that this country is gradually becoming respectably ancient. Two big stores in New York City, Hearn's and Arnold Constable's, have just reached the respectable age of one hundred. And the age is less important than the marvelous improvements of one hundred years.

The next step will be the flying machine, with rearrangement of man's living habits, recasting of population centres and land values. Buy the right hill and mountain tops within two hundred miles of big industrial centres now, and your grandchildren will bless you.

ADVERTISING

"Public utility companies will spend $28,000,000 for advertising this year." Here, in this news item, is food for thought. It makes one wonder if there are still re-actionaries who insist that advertising is useless and a waste of investors' money.

Statistics on the strides that advertising expenditure and space have taken, would be of tremendous interest to the student of modern industry and business. In the past twenty years it has unquestionably doubled itself many times. Through the various mediums, and most important of all, the newspapers, advertising and publicity have grown to proportions where they are among the greatest forces known for furthering progress and forwardness. The recent unprecedented growth of the public utilities are directly traceable, in a large degree, to the effect of wide and intelligent advertising. Far from being a waste of investors' money it is a safeguard in that if the company or product advertised is honest and worth-while, that company's business or sales will increase in direct proportion to the amount of advertising.

Progressive business is learning that the only thing better than extensive advertising, is more extensive advertising plus a good product or service.

PEDESTRIANS MUST BE CAREFUL

The chief constable of one of the British cities has expressed the opinion that "if a pedestrian were as careful as the average motorist, many of whom drive fast, but safely, there would be fewer accidents. Walking to the common danger seems to be more prevalent than driving to the common danger."

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

Last Sunday was a real Rally Day in the Central Baptist Church. Over three hundred and twenty persons crowded all departments of the Bible School and inspiring messages and enthusiasm marked the services of the day. Last, but by no means least, the church's new building fund was pushed over the top with a big final boost. The "dollar day" offering mounted person by person and class by class, when, as a grand climax to the drive, two individual subscriptions of five hundred and one thousand dollars each gloriously completed the anxiously awaited goal. The latter generous contribution came from one of the oldest friends of the church, Mrs. Ella V. Standen. The church has much cause for thanksgiving and the future building program should be the impetus for much interest and enthusiasm.

Beginning with the Fall season the Happy Hour will resume activities on Friday afternoon at four o'clock. All the kiddies, both old and new, are invited.

On Friday evening a caravan of motor cars and trucks will leave the church at 7.30 laden with members of the BYPU and their friends for a devotional meeting and social around the campfire in Giberson's Grove, Taylor's Lane. Everybody is invited to this autumn evening picnic as there will be enough "hot dogs" for a large crowd. Be at the church promptly.

Forty-three members of the Samaritan Class present last Sunday supported the predictions of "big things" for the Class during the coming season.

Two inspiring sermons by the pastor will mark next Sunday's services. In the morning the subject will be "Loyalty and Cooperation." In the evening the pastor's topic will be "Witnesses." The augmented choir will present its usual high standard of music.

This church calls with open arms to churched and non-churched persons in these towns for greater and for active service in His Temple. Look around the community and you will find that the most progressive people go to church every Sunday. These people realize the fact that the church is working for the best things in life and that it deserves the hearty support of all the people of the community. This is our Fall call. We would like to see you at Central Baptist on Sunday.

Train Wrecks Bus, But Driver Escapes

Front of Machine Completely Demolished; Driver Saves Life by Jumping

Monday afternoon Harry Clapp, 5322 Hedge street, Frankford, was injured when the P. R. T. bus he was driving was hit by the 4.10 train from Riverton.

Clapp was scratched about the face and suffered severe gashes in the chest and under the chin. He was treated at the Kurbrugg Memorial Hospital, Riverside, after which he went home.

The accident occurred at Taylor's Lane crossing. Clapp is a mechanic at the Riverton garage of the P. R. T. and had the bus out testing it on the Burlington pike. He was on his way back to the garage, but stopped at the crossing to talk to someone, according to witnesses. The engineer blew the train whistle and the bystanders shouted for Clapp to back away from the tracks but for some reason the bus moved forward and the crash resulted.

It is not known how Clapp escaped alive, but it is thought that he jumped. The front of the bus was completely demolished by the impact.

Life's Canvas

Sunshine and shadow and laughter and tears,
These are forever the paints of the years,
Splashed on the canvas of life day by day,
We are the artists, the colors are they,
We are the painters, the pigments we use
Never we're wholly permitted to choose.
Grief with its gray tint and joy with its red
Come from life's tubes to be blended and spread.

Here are the easel, the brushes in hand,
Each for a time is permitted to stand,
White was the canvas when first we began,
Ready to picture the life of a man.
Now we are splashing the pigments about,
Knowing the reds and the blues must give out.
Soon we must turn to the dull hues and gray,
Painting the sorrows that darken the way.

Now with the sunshine and now with the shade
Slowly but surely the picture is made
Even the gray tints with beauty may glow
Recalling the joy of the long lost ago.
Let me not daub it with doubt and despair,
Deeds that were hasty, unkind and unfair,
But when the last bit of pigment is dried
Let me look back at my canvas with pride.
Let me, when trouble is mine to portray,
Dip, with good courage, my brush in the gray;
After the tears and the grief let there be Something of faith for my children to see.
Lord, let me paint not in anger or hate,
Grant me the patience to work and to wait,
Make me an artist, though humble my style,
And let my life's canvas show something worth while.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

Here is a message to all boys and girls of our Sunday School and their friends also! This coming Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the basement of our church. And such an entertainment! Free movies of the best sort! There will be five reels of a splendid movie, "Old Dobbin." That in itself is worth coming to see. But there will be also movies of yourselves! The movies of the boys and girls taken at the picnic will be shown. How do you look in the movies? Come and see. Then in addition to that there will be other good things for you to enjoy Friday evening, which we are not going to tell you about. All parents are urged to bring children. All members and friends of Sunday School and church are invited to this Rally Day Mass Meeting, and the boys and girls will be the special guests of the evening.

Then Rally Day in Sunday School follows Sunday morning at ten o'clock. And we are surely going to break all records for attendance, judging from the number who were out last Sunday and from the extra effort which will be put forth to get those who do not come regularly. There will be a special program, including promotions, and giving of awards for attendance.

Divine worship at 11.15, with sermon by the pastor on the theme: "Reasoning with God." The choir will have special numbers. There will also be a children's sermon with objects for illustration. Luther League at 6.45 and vespers at 7.45 Sunday veening.

On Thursday evening at 6 to 8, the Ladies Aid Society will serve a chicken supper in the church basement at a very reasonable price. In connection with the chicken supper, a bazaar will also be held. Cakes, candies, all kinds of fancy and practical articles for the home, ferns, and other things which the housewife will like to see and like more to buy.

At eight o'clock of the same evening, we shall have our weekly prayer meeting, at which time we shall study the parable: "The Children in the Market-Place."

Holy Communion will be administered Sunday morning and evening, October 9, with sermon in the evening by the pastor.

SUED FOR $11,500 COURT AWARDED $540

Arthur Gray, of East Delair, was awarded a verdict of $540 last week in his suit for $11,500 damages against Ellis D. Clifton, of Riverton, brought as the result of an accident near Delaware Gardens.

The accident occurred on October 22, 1926, when Clifton's automobile struck the horse and wagon of Gray. Gray was injured and his horse was killed.

Although Clifton's arm was broken in the accident, requiring an operation, the jury found no cause for action in a counter suit brought by Clifton against Gray. No cause for action against Clifton's father, D. M. Clifton, in response to Gray's contention that the son was the agent for the father.

Palmyra Contingent Cheered at Shore

Firemen and Post Rodgers Bugle Corps Receive Much Applause

Both the Palmyra Fire Company and the Palmyra Bugle and Drum Corps received much applause last Saturday as they paraded in Atlantic City. This procession was the largest of paid and volunteer departments ever to gather in the state. Over 6,000 firemen from all parts of the state with 170 pieces of apparatus and 65 bands participated. It took the procession four hours to pass. The parade was held to mark the golden anniversary of the founding of the State Firemen's Association.

Palmyra was represented with 35 uniformed firemen and 25 members of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The Post Rodgers American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps received a great ovation with the shining "tin" helmets, white breeches and dark coats.

Veterans of other days marched with the younger men of paid and volunteer departments and hand pumping engines of years ago and the modern motorized pumper gave the thousands of spectators a vivid picture of the progress which was made during the last 100 years in fire equipment.

Over $700.00 was realized by the Palmyra department from the boxing matches held several weeks ago. This was put into the fund which pays for the bands which accompany the firemen when they parade out of town.

The Bugle and Drum Corps will play at Florence this Saturday, October 1 and at Burlington the next week.

MORAVIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday we will observe Rally Day and "Go to Church Sunday."

The Sunday School invites all members and friends to be present at its session at 9.30 a. m. The aim is to have 100% attendance in all classes if possible. The "Beehives" filled with dimes for the Building Fund will be returned at this service.

Come to church with your whole family next Sunday. How many families will be represented 100% at the morning service? Morning Service at 10.40. Special music by the choir. The pastor will preach the third sermon in the series he is preaching on "The Lord's Prayer." Next Sunday's subject will be the first petition, "Hallowed be Thy Name."

The regular Sunday evening services at 7.30 will now be resumed The service next Sunday evening, a community service, will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society. The sermon subject will be "Going Up."

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th Rector

The dictionary definition of the word "charity," is a very lengthy one. This does not necessarily mean there is a lot of it, but rather suggests the story of an old lady in Australia who was deeply impressed by a sermon on that very subject.

On her return home she took two pound notes, went out into the street and handed them to an honest but seedy-looking young man who was leaning against a lamppost.

"What are these for?" he asked.

"Charity," she replied.

"Righto, missus?" he said, and disappeared without af word o thanks.

Next day he called at her house and handed her twenty one-pound notes.

"What are these for?" she gasped.

"Charity, Missus," he replied. "You were lucky. You were the only one who backed 'im."

Donation Day at the "Evergreens," the Episcopal home for the aged is on October 6th. 11.00 a. m. Informal reception and inspection of the home. 12.00 Service in the chapel. 1 p. m., luncheon. 2.00 p. m. open business meeting.

The Corporate Communion of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Sunday morning at the 7.30 a. m. service. At the 10.30 service the sermon will deal with their work. We expect a large congregation.

The Annual Coral Service of the Burlington County Choristers Association will be held on October 19 at 8 p. m. in St. Stephen's Church, Beverly. Keep this date free for a wonderful service. 400 Choristers last year. The vice-president of the Association is our own organist, Lincoln C. Ridley.

Ballots Instead of War

Use your ballots, not gunpowder,
To be gaining righteousness,
Then the Father will be giving
You the things, your lives, to bless.
He would never have you murder
Fellow-men and rob them, too,
Of the things you are desiring,
As, in cruel warfare, you do.

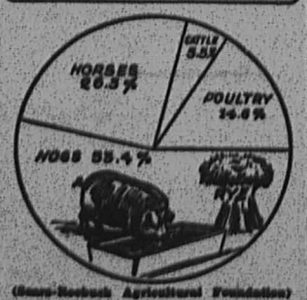

He would have you love each other,
So, in peaceful joy, to live;
Then the greatest of life's blessings
He, to human souls, would give;
But if you will follow Satan
Into cruel deeds of war,
You need not expect the blessings
Of your Father any more.

For, if sowing seeds of hatred,
Evils, you will surely reap,
And instead of finding blessings,
You will soon begin to weep.
For the crop of greed and hatred
You have sown in hearts of men,
Punishment for all your folly,
You will soon be seeing them.

You will find wise ballots will be Better far than bullets are;
They will bring us peace and comfort
Not cruel deeds, our lives, to mar.
God will then be our Commander
And not Satan, as in war;
Then we all shall be rejoicing
That cruel warfare is not more.

Martha Shepard Lippincott.

More Rye This Year

(Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation)

American thumbs have always been turned down where rye for table purposes is concerned. Most of our rye crop has been exported to Europe and the bulk of the remainder fed to farm animals, according to a survey by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. This year, however, a crop of 42,000,000 bushels is expected and less than usual will be sent to Europe as their crops will also be fairly large. This fact, coupled with feed-crop failures in many of our rye-growing sections, means that more of our rye crop will be fed to farm animals this year than usual. Hogs, on an average, consume 53.4% of the rye used on the farm, horses 26.5%, poultry 14.6% and cattle 5%.

LET THEM FLY

SCIENCE AND MONEY

GIRL BABIES BEST

WHERE REAL WEALTH IS

President Coolidge wisely decides to move slowly in forbidding ocean flights. Army and navy authorities say to officers: "You shall not fly across the ocean."

WHY NOT? Flying machines can be developed only by USING flying machines. The deaths of ten or a thousand brave fliers in experimental work NOW might mean, because of quick airplane development, the safety of millions in case of war.

There will be no war but an air war, this nation should be ready for it, and courageous young army and navy men should be ALLOWED, not FORCED, to risk their lives, if they choose, in the good cause.

An automobile fight is coming, and when the dust settles you will find all those that understand the automobile business selling more cars than they ever sold.

With big wages and prosperity, the two car man and the four car family are increasing. Thirty million new cars will take the places of twenty-two million old cars now running in the United States.

Dr. Mees, who directs Mr. Eastman's scientific laboratories in Rochester, says science will end war by making it too deadly and too expensive.

Another force greater than science in our civilization is working to end war, and that force is ORGANIZED MONEY.

Money has discovered that war kills more dollars than men, that it creates heavy income taxes, and other troubles. Organized money knows that future wars would result, at the very start, in confiscation of capital to meet expenses. Organized money, which usually gets what it wants, doesn't want war—a cheerful fact.

A young man who had been pronounced dead was brought to life fifteen minutes later by an injection of adrenalin, a life substance secreted by one of the mysterious glands. Doctors hope that many apparently dead may be saved. They even hint at artificial creation of life. They may create that which may be called life, but how will they create THOUGHT? The great Darwin explaining much by "evolution," was baffled when it came to explaining the development of the eye and sight.

Japan's Empress has a baby girl, and the young Japanese Emperor is doubtless disappointed. Vanity leads men to value sons, not daughters. Yet, as Galton shows, Japanese girls have made the greatness of Japan, as other girls have made other nations great. There would have been no Charlemagne without his greater mother, "Bertha of the Big Feet," as Villon calls her in his "Neiges d'antan."

There would have been no Abraham Lincoln without six-foot tall Nancy Hanks; no Alexander the Great without the wild Olympias, dancing with snakes wrapped around her naked body.

Mr. John E. Madden, ablest horseman in America, will tell you "quality comes through the dam."

The State of Nevada is progressive. Night before last, at Reno, the last remaining street car in the State rolled into the barn to be scrapped. Surface cars vanish from Nevada, with motor buses taking their place. Big cities in the East, West and Middle West take notice.

One single American city, New York, in its public schools last week received 1,100,000 children. The real wealth of the United States, its hope and future, are stored away in those eleven hundred thousand young minds and in the millions of others in many thousands of blessed public schools all over this country.

Wealth is not in mines, factories, crops, buildings or stocks, but in thought, free and untrammeled. From that all over wealth springs.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Mr. Leisure Cures Discouragement

When I am discouraged, when my toe aches or my eyes bother me or something happens to make me feel sorry for myself, I like to think about Mr. S. M. Leisure who lives in a little town near me.

Mr. Leisure was seventy years old the other day and he was out mowing the lawn. This is quite remarkable when taken in connection with the fact that since he was thirteen years old he has been without arms.

"No matter what happened," he said, "I was always able to paddle my own canoe. Why cry over losing two arms or two legs! The joy of living is just as sweet."

I hear and read of many people who are having rough sledding. They have housemaid's knee or dandruff or some other trouble that make them think there is no use going on.

I have had several letters from people seriously contemplating suicide because events were all conspiring against them.

It would do them all good to go out and see this gentleman. He ought to build a circus ring and charge admission. Then somebody would probably go and see him. It would't need any preaching nor anybody to point the moral. Just looking at him would be enough.

To me he is equivalent to a good spanking. I want to brace up and tighten my belt; wipe my nose, pull dow my vest and try again.

If this man with no arms for almost sixty years is still cheerful and hopeful, goes out and mows the lawn and otherwise paddles his own canoe, why shouldn't I?

There are lots of brave people in the world and it takes more courage and "intestinal stamina" to go on and keep your chin up and look pleasant than it does to go out in the garden and eat worms or select a nice telephone pole and hang yourself. Anybody can quit, and self pity is the easiest bog to slip into.

But me for the man with the indomnitable spirit, the man who refuses to be licked and the man who takes with a grin whatever Fate sends him and buckles in and makes the most of what he has left.

These are the people who are the backbone of the country, and the people who win wars, the people who present an unbroken front against the assaults of pessimism.

What this world wants is cheering up and bucking up. It doesn't need anybody to teach them how to weep, nor anybody to make them feel sorry for the human lot.

APPLIED FOR SHORTER NAME

John Stanley Grieszeskiewicz, a young chemistry student residing in Burlington, applied to Judge Slaughter last week to have his name changed, and suggested that he would prefer Gray.

Who wouldn't? In fact, most any color, we believe, would be better.

Remember the good old days when the baseball players wore flowing moustaches and chewed tobacco?

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

FEEDING THE BODY

An inquirer wants to know why a heavy six o'clock dinner does more harm than the same taken at noon, or even at breakfast.

Well, my dear, if we were simply filling a bushel basket with provender, it would not make the slightest difference when it is done, so far as utensils are concerned; let us look at the thing intelligently:

The entire body, from its previous night's rest, is in its highest state of efficiency in the early morning; a good breakfast will be taken care of properly. At noon, healthy stomachs are, say eighty per cent capable; a good, round dinner may be taken with comfort and benefit. By evening, however, the body is ready for rest—not forced re-exertion.

Digestion may be placed at ten per cent efficiency at 6 P. M. Only ten per cent of the big meal taken at that time, is properly saturated with digestive fluids; what happens? The mass passes on into its intestine, to be seized by the greedy absorbents, no matter what state it is in; this absorption does not reject anything absorbable.

The result is, the improperly prepared juices enter the blood-stream totally foreign to it; then, stupor, headache, loss of appetite for breakfast, weakness, mental inefficiency, "blood-presure" and the like develop—the final chapter will be written in an attack of cerebral hemorrhage or "heart failure" anywhere from fifty-five to sixty-five years of age.

We cannot evade the fact that, the night was provided for rest from the mental and physical exertion of the day. The digestion must rest likewise—at night. We should consume not more than ten per cent of our daily ration at the evening meal. Otherwise we pay the penalty in shortened time of living. I have observed phenomena of this kind too long and too frequently to be very much mistaken. Turning nights into days is one of the chiefest errors of mankind, whatever the reason given in extenuation.

Next Week: Rectal Ailments.

MARLTON WILL IS PROBATED AT N. Y.

William M. Rosebault, Lawyer, Left Estate of Less Than $10,000

William M. Rosebault, Marlton lawyer, left his entire estate, valued at "less than $10,000," to his widow, Sarah W. Rosebault, of Marlton, according to the terms of his will filed for probate at New York city last Friday.

Rosebault died in November, 1924 leaving directions that his body be cremated and the ases "thrown into the waters of the Connecticut river, on which I spent many happy hours in my boyhood.

PLATINUM RIBBON MAKES P. S. TESTS

Muffle Furnace is Replaced in Big Corporation's Laboratory Work

An electrically heated platinum ribbon makes an ash fusion test in a few minutes at the testing laboratory of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company, replacing a muffle furnace that took hours to do the same job.

When it was realized that the annual purchases of coal used by the electric generating stations of Public Service—not to speak of the many gas works—runs into millions of dollars, the necessity for a check on its quality, and characteristics becomes apparent. By means of this fusion test, the temperature at which the ash will fuse or melt is determined.

This is but one of the many tests made by a corps of over one hundred men at the Public Service laboratory, the work of which is interestingly described in the current issue of Public Service news by Henry S. Vassar, laboratory engineer.

"Laboratory work consists of a large number of little things which must be carefully and conscientiously done," Mr. Vassar writes. "A department, whose principal work is testing, must develop standardized methods of conducting tests, compiling and reporting test data; find short cuts in methods; learn by experience to avoid many of the errors that so easily creep in; keep informed as to new methods and available test apparatus; and carry a complete range and variety of modern testing equipment which being centralized is at all times available in connection with any branch of the company's activities."

BURLINGTON LAWYER HAS ANTIQUE DESK

Relic, More Than 150 Years Old, Gift to Eastwood By Benjamin Farner

Howard Eastwood, Burlington lawyer, has an antique desk in his office, said to be over 150 years of age, which attracts considerable attention. It is oval in shape and the top of the writing surface is inlaid with tile. There are many drawers around the sides.

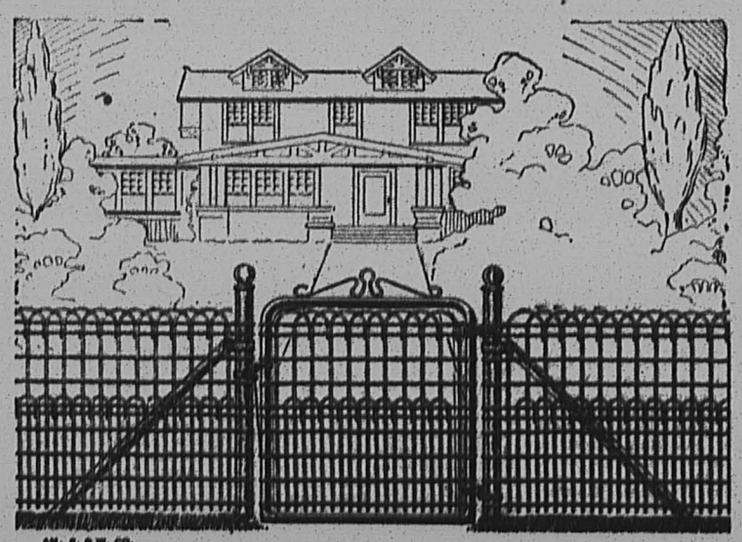

The desk was the property of Alexander Van Rensselaer, of Philadelphia. Previous to that it was owned by his father, the Rev. Cortlandt Van Rensselaer, at one time pastor of the Presbyterian Church, at High and Pearl streets, Burlington.

The old piece of furniture was a gift to Eastwood by Benjamin Farner, whose father, Charles P. Farner, purchased the home on the river bank, Burlington, several months ago.

FLORENCE INVITES ALL TO MONUMENT DEDICATION

Florence and Roebling are to dedicate a monument at Broad and Front streets, Florence, on Saturday afternoon, October 1, to the memory of all residents of Florence township who served in the military and naval services of the country. All Legion Posts of the country have been invited to take part in the parade, prominent speakers will be present and the home of Florence Post of the American Legion will be open to all visitors. The monument is being erected at the expense of Florence township.

American Lawn Fence

AM. S. & W. CO.

AMERICAN LAWN FENCE is made of steel Wire Pickets all No. 9½ wire, firmly bound together with lateral cables made up of two strands of No. 13 tough steel wire—all thoroughly galvanized to be proof against weather conditions.

This fence is of the greatest durability and strength, and holds its shape admirably when stretched taut and firmly fastened as all fences should be.

THE AMERICAN LAWN FENCE belongs to the class of woven wire fences where grace of fabric is linked with usefulness, strength and lasting qualities. As such, it is largely used around lawns, for the fencing of front yards, for flower beds and for division fences between residences.

It is furnished in two styles: Single Loop Design, with pickets 3 inches apart, and the Double Loop Pattern, with pickets spaced 3 inches apart at the top, and 1½ inches apart at the bottom.

AMERICAN GALVANIZED FENCE POSTS

which have been in use for 25 years show no signs of rust. Zinc, which we use for galvanizing, is the only metal that will not rust.

Will Drive in Any Soil Diameter is 1⅝ inches at top and bottom, which gives greater resistance at ground line and makes the post easy to drive in any soil.

This Fence is "NON-CLIMBABLE"

Add to the value and appearance of your property and at the same time protect your garden, lawn and flowers from stray dogs, cats and poultry.

BANNER STEEL FENCE POSTS

Banner Posts are made from a rolled section that represents an entirely new principle in post construction. Built like a railroad rail, it offers greater strength in all directions than it is possible to secure in any other section of equal weight.

Two Million American Homes Are HOOVER Cleaned

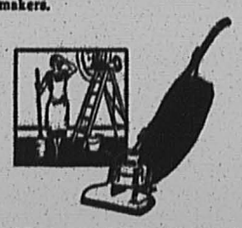

Only the Best

It is the aim of Public Service to give its customers the best electric and gas service possible. To this end thousands of persons are at work day and night in the various properties of the company.

Public Service is careful in its selection of the electric and gas appliances that it places on sale. Electric labor savers must undergo rigid tests in Public Service laboratories before they are accepted.

Public Service approves only such gas appliances that pass the laboratory test of the American Gas Association.

THE confidence that the Hoover has earned for itself as an electric cleaner of the highest type has resulted in its selection by more than two million American homemakers.

Many years of experiments in carpet cleaning by Hoover has resulted in a new form of the three-principle method—beating, sweeping, and cleaning—called Positive Agitation. No other cleaning method approaches Positive Agitation in its ability to remove from rugs and carpets not only the surface dust and lint, but the deep-seated grit that cuts the rug fibres.

The Hoover is recommended by the leading rug-manufacturers as the safest and most thorough cleaner for fine rugs and carpets. When rugs are Hoover cleaned the nap stands upright and the beauty of their coloring is restored.

There are two Hoover models that have the positive agitation feature—model No. 543, $59.50, and the de luxe No. 700 at $75. Either may be bought of Public Service stores at a slight increase over these cash prices on the convenient terms of

$5 Down and $5 a Month

Public Service will appraise your old electric cleaner and make an allowance for it on the price of a new Hoover.

"Early to Bed" Says the Sun

THE sun is hiding his smiling face earlier and earlier every day, and in consequence, lamps must be lighted sooner.

These's a message of welcome to guests or home-comers in a lighted lamp, and there's a note of loveliness wherever a beautiful lamp is placed in the home.

Lamps are selected by Public Service buyers on their adaptability and on their attractiveness of design.

Pleasing models in floor and bridge lamps are piped and weighted, and fitted with trim tailored shades of silk or parchment. Table lamps of skillfully turned metals, English glazes and Chinese crackleware, some with the new shallow or rectangular shades.

Public Service stores welcome a leisurely inspection of their lamps.

Burn Rubbish In a Safe Way

The gas incinerator burns any kind of garbage or trash, wet or dry. It is fired by pressing a button and it stops automatically, and requires no attention while the burning is in progress. The use of the gas incinerator lessens fire hazard in the home by the quick disposal of inflammable waste.

For sale at all Public Service stores and purchasable, if desired, on the easy payment plan.

Electricity Aids Hospitable Host

ADEQUATE cooking equipment for bachelors and bachelor girls may be found in the electric percolator and electric waffle iron.

What more tempting meal could one wish to serve one's guests than waffles, golden brown and crispy-edged, with fragrant coffee, amber clear and steaming hot?

The Public Service Special, an attractive paneled pot style percolator, is on sale at $6.50. Other electric percolators, urn and pot types, range in price to $30. Electric waffle iron prices begin at $9.95 at Public Service stores.

The Corona, a well finished waffle iron, is now on special sale at Public Service, $9 instead of $12, $1 down, $1 a month.

If any of your electric appliances are out of order, bring them in to us. Our Repair Department is composed of skilled workmen, who will give immediate and careful attention to the trouble and will put your appliances into first class working condition.

Spiced Ham Is Tempting Dish

Ada Bessie Swann says:

SPICED ham is delicious when fresh from the oven and equally delicious sliced cold. I have found this recipe a particularly good one."

12 lb. ham	1 cup vinegar
1 tsp. mustard	6 red apples
½ cup brown sugar	4 dozen whole cloves

For serving the average family choose a 10 to 12 lb. ham. Plunge into boiling water, boil ten minutes. Reduce heat and simmer two hours. Take ham from water and remove skin from two-thirds of the ham, leaving one-third on shank end. Bake slowly in a 275 to 300° F. oven for one hour with fat side up, basting with a mixture of 1 cup vinegar, 1 cup hot water, and 1 level teaspoon of dry mustard, with whole cloves, continue baking for one and one-half hours, basting frequently. Place apples, halved and cored, around the ham, return to oven, bake until done. It takes about five hours to prepare this ham.

Make Short Work of Long Seams

WITH field sports, teas, and fudge parties, class-room and evening functions, the school girl's mother must be alert to keep her daughter's wardrobe smart and within the limits of her budget.

The woman who is clever enough to design and make her daughter's frocks at home, effecting big savings in their costs, and having her daughter well turned out at all times, will appreciate an electrically driven sewing machine.

An electric motor attached to the sewing machine ends tiresome pedaling and makes all sewing go more quickly with only a small expenditure in electric current. For sale at all Public Service stores.

Heating Problem Is Here Again

WILL you "fire up" or "turn on" for heat this winter? The former involves drudgery, inconvenience and uncertain results. The "turn on" method, automatic house heating with gas, keeps the house at an even wholesome degree of heat whatever the weather, and leaves nothing for the householder to do but light the gas in the fall and turn it off in the spring.

Gas is smokeless, noiseless and odorless. It is the safest fuel for house heating.

Public Service will survey your home and give an estimate on the costs of heating it with gas. There is no charge for this service.

Gas Heaters Are Reduced in Price

ATTRACTIVE gas fireplace heaters and portable heaters are on sale at Public Service stores at reduced prices. The price reduction is made for quick clearance to make room for new stock, and many heaters of exceptional quality are included.

There is double satisfaction in the cheery light of the open fire when gas supplies the heat. Every member of the family will appreciate the comfort and convenience of clean quick heat without the drudgery of building the fire, keeping it alive, and cleaning up afterward.

Radiant gas heaters may be had in many attractive forms. Radiantlogs, gas coal baskets, and period designs from $16.00 upwards for a Radiant type with 10 fire radiants.

Gas Oven Turns Out Masterpieces

EVERY home-maker should know the facts about oven-cookery, how it saves work and time, best of all, how it improves food.

An oven heat regulator saves food—rarely is any dish overcooked.

The heat of the gas oven can be properly regulated for any type of cooking.

The cheaper cuts of meats can be made tender and delicious by oven cooking.

An entire meal may be cooked at one time, effecting an economy in gas bills.

Oven cooking is a most satisfactory means of using left-overs—souffles, meat pies and other combinations are palatable dishes that tempt the appetite.

The self-regulating gas oven saves the time and energy of the home-maker and relieves her of constant attendance at the range while foods are cooking.

Public Service stores carry a large variety of gas ranges with oven heat regulators. All the favored finishes are shown and Public Service prices include the automatic lighter for the top burners, delivery and connection from the gas outlet in the kitchen.

Oven heat regulator gas ranges from $57.75 to $262.75.

Lesson for October 2

ELIJAH ON MOUNT CARMEL

LESSON TEXT—I Kings 18.

GOLDEN TEXT—Choose you this day whom ye will serve.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God Hears Elijah's Prayer.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Standing Alone for God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing for God Against the Crowd.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Courage of Conviction.

I. Elijah's Message to Ahab (vv. 17, 18).

When Jezebel became the wife of King Ahab, she waged a savage warfare against God's prophets, killing all she could find, and thus seeking to abolish the true religion and set up idolatry instead. Elijah suddenly appeared, announcing the suspension of moisture (I Kings 17:1) as a judgment upon the people for their idolatry. He sounded three striking notes in his message:

1. "As the Lord God of Israel liveth." He knew that he represented the living God, therefore did not fear to come into the presence of the king.

2. "Before whom I stand." His standing before God indicated his constant readiness to go on His errands.

3. "There shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word." This suspension of moisture continued for three and a half years, and rain came in answer to Elijah's prayer (Jas. 5:17).

II. A Challenge to Baal Worship (I Kings 18:17-46).

As soon as Elijah had delivered his message concerning the drought, he retired from the king's sight.

1. Elijah shows himself to Ahab (vv. 17, 18).

(1) Ahab's question (v. 17). His aim in this question was no doubt to intimidate Elijah.

(2) Elijah's answer (v. 18). He denied the charge and boldly declared that the calamity which had befallen the nation was caused by the idolatry of Ahab and his family.

2. The bold challenge (vv. 19-24).

(1) The people assemble (vv. 19, 20). At the urgent request of Elijah the king convened the people.

(2) The ringing call to decision (vv. 21-24). a. The question asked (v. 21). Many of the people had not wholly forsaken God. They attempted to worship both God and Baal. b. The silence of the people (v. 21). This may have been because of fear of the king or ignorance, for many were of the opinion that to be religious was the only thing necessary, irrespective of the being worshiped. c. The method of decision (vv. 22-24). Two sacrifices were to be provided, one to be offered to Baal, the other to God.

3. The test applied (vv. 25-39).

(1) Offering by the prophets of Baal (vv. 25-29). Elijah gave the prophets of Baal the first opportunity to prove whether Baal was a real God.

(2) The Offering by Elijah (vv. 30-39). a. The people invited near (v. 30). His object in inviting the people was to see clearly in order that they might grasp the genuineness of the test. b. The altar repaired (vv. 30-32). Elijah took twelve stones, representing the united nation. c. The offering on the altar (vv. 33-35). After the bullock was in place he had four barrels of water three times emptied upon the sacrifice and the wood so as to fill the trench about the altar. So sure was Elijah that God's power was sufficient that he heaped difficulty upon difficulty. d. Elijah's prayer (vv. 36, 37). This was a model prayer. (a) It was based upon covenants (v. 36). All real prayer rests upon covenant relationships. (b) Its object was God's exaltation (v. 36). Elijah was jealous for God's glory, but the only thing that he asked for himself was to be known as God's servant. (c) It was for the salvation of the people (v. 37). e. The result (vv. 38, 39). (a) The fire of the Lord fell and consumed, not only the sacrifice, but the wood, stones and dust, even licking up the water in the trenches. (b) The people fell on their faces and confessed that the Lord was the God.

4. The execution of Baal's prophets (v. 40). Israel's government was a theocracy. God was their king. Idolatry was treason against the King. These false prophets were traitors to God and therefore should die.

5. Elijah vindicated (vv. 41-46). The proof that Elijah was God's prophet was incomplete until rain came.

III. Elijah Taken Up Into Heaven (II Kings 2:1-15).

Not only was the prophet vindicated in that the offering was consumed and rain came, but God took him to Himself when his work was done.

Faith of Our Fathers

"The church should be kept the source of spiritual life and power. Never before did the world so need emphasis upon the 'faith of our fathers living still,'"—Rev. B. Allen Reed.

Saved From Doubt

At last Thomas was saved from doubt. What saved him? Love for Christ. He had anchored his soul to the Nazarene with a mighty and abiding love.—Vance.

Wrong Field

"That girl, Mary, you've been taking out lately, has a reputation for being a clever little gold-digger."

"If that's true, then she must be a darn good geologist."

All Over Now

He was kissing the maid on her cute little dimple
When in came his wife
And started the strife
The funeral was plain and simple.

Red Men Staging Intensive Drive

Campaign to Increase Membership; to Hold Moorestown Meeting

Arrangements are now being completed for an intensive campaign to be waged throughout New Jersey to increase the membership of the Improved Order of Red Men in that State from 26,000 to 30,000 by the close of the present year. The drive opened with a rally at Rumson, Monmouth County on Tuesday night, and will be followed with a like meeting at Toms River, Ocean County, this evening.

Herbert F. Stetser, Great Chief of Records of the Great Council of the United States, who has been placed by Great Incohonee Robert T. Crowe, of Kentucky, in charge of the New Jersey Membership Drive, will be the principal speaker at the opening rallies. Mr. Stetser, who is a member of the tribe in Gloucester, has been prominent in Redmanship in New Jersey for more than a quarter of a century, and was Great Sachem of that State in 1905-6.

Meetings will be held early in October in the following cities:—Westville, South Orange, Asbury Park, Trenton, Woodstown, South Seaville, Paterson, Bloomsbury, Fort Lee, Pleasantville, Moorestown, Paulsboro, and Middletown. Other rallies will be held later at Newark, Hoboken, Atlantic City, Bridgeton, Camden, Elizabeth, Flemington, Jersey City, Millville, New Brunswick, Vineland, Washington and Woodbury.

Co-operating with Chairman Stetser in the New Jersey drive will be Great Sachem William B. Kappes of Jersey City; Great Senior Sagamore William H. Mooney, Jr., of Bradley Beach; Great Junior Sagamore, John Laughland, of Phillipsburgh; Great Prophet Alexander I. MacLaren, of Ventnor; Great Chief of Records Wm. A. Atkins of Camden; Great Keeper of Wampum William Kater, of Trenton; Great Sanap Wm. H. Smith, of Ocean City; Great Mishinewa, John J. O'Brien, of Coytesville; Great Guard of Wigwam Adam Eichman, of Woodstown, and Great Guard of Forest Ralph N. Colombo, of Paterson; Charles F. Thompson, of Edgewater; Allan D. Risley, of Somer's Point; John Bishop, of Florence; Adolph Ernst, of Toms River; A. U. Page, of Allenhurst; Henry E. Erbeck, of Hoboken and Roy Kindlo, of Pitman.

Directions For Light Focusing

Try Them Out—You May be One of Those Glaring Headlight Nuisances

Simple directions for keeping headlights in proper focus are given by the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey, which urges upon all motorists the necessity for co-operation in eliminating the deadly menace to night driving caused by glaring lights.

"There is," says a statement by the club, "no reason why every motor car owner or driver should not be able to adjust his own headlamps. There is nothing mysterious or difficult about it, although the average car driver appears to know less about lamp focusing than he does about any other vital part of the automobile's mechanism."

"The following directions, formulated by Captain Anthony Landers, of the Club's Road Patrol, are non-technical and easily understood even by motorists who are not mechanically inclined.

"First, stop the car on a level roadway and measure the distance from the center of the headlight to the ground."

"Second, measure twenty-five feet from the front of the car and place there some object for the light to strike. (The beams may be trained on a garage, another car or a person. The important thing is to have the distance exactly twenty-five feet).

"Third, observe carefully where the beams strike. If the headlight main beam is projected at a height greater than the distance of the headlight center from the ground, the lights are out of focus. In other words, if the center of the headlights is two and a half feet from the highway, the highest beam of the projected lights should not be more than two and a half feet high at a distance of 25 feet."

"Fourth, turn the focusing screw at the rear of the lamp until the rays are brought down to proper level. If turning the screws does not result in proper focus, the trouble is in the lamp brackets. Loosen the nut holding the bracket and adjust lamp itself until the proper angle is attained. Then make final adjustment with focusing screw."

"In many cases it will be found that the brackets are in need of adjustment, due to vibration and running over rough roads. The important thing to remember is that the main beam of light should not project higher than twenty-five feet from the car than the distance between the center of the lamp and the roadway."

"It should also be remembered that lights will not stay in focus indefinitely. Frequent inspection should be made to determine whether further adjustments are necessary.

ANOTHER DANCE

The Moorestown Community House Association Dance Committee has completed arrangements for another dance to be held in the gymnasium this Saturday evening, October 1.

Due to a misunderstanding on the part of the orchestra, the dance is being held this week instead of last, but the popular "hops" will be held every other Saturday night from now on.

Announcements are going out to the young people in this vicinity this week, and an unusually large crowd is expected to enjoy the dance.

MARLTON FIRE CO. GETS NEW PUMPER

Hale Apparatus Arrives on Scene And Is Given Thorough Test

The new Hale fire truck for Marlton Fire Company was delivered last week, and Marlton now has a fire apparatus that is a credit to the town and community and one that will fill the need for several years to come. The new truck is a 500-gallon per minute pumper, fully equipped in every way with an 80-gallon booster tank. The truck is of striking appearance and one that the firemen and community can well be proud of.

The apparatus was taken to Kresson and given a severe test under observation of insurance indemnities. Water was taken from the lake there and for two hours steady the machine pumped at the rate of 510 gallons per minute without any noticable variation, after which it was put to a further severe test for another hour. The test was very satisfactory in every way and there is no doubt that it will pass the requirements of the underwriters.

The company is making an effort to pay for the new truck thru contributions and has met with fairly good success.

HOLLY FIRE LOSS LESS THAN $2,500

Department Chief Asay's Report Shows Slight Damage Last Year

Although there were 41 fires in Mount Holly during the past year, the total losses amounted to only $2,349.81, according to the report of S. Earl Asay, presented at the annual meeting of the fire department last week.

The greatest damage was at a fire at Richard Lamb's garage, $1,800, on October 20, 1926; and store property of Mrs. Mary Garbarino, Main street, caused by explosion of fireworks, July 4, 1927, $439.81. Losses at other fires were negligible. Many of the alarms were for grass and chimney fires.

Mount Holly company's responded to 28 out-of-town alarms during the year.

Apparatus of the department consists of one Ahren-Fox 750-gallon pumper, one Silsby steamer with 60-gallon pump, one combination Seagraves 500-gallon pumper and hose body, one Cole hose truck, one Reo two-tank chemical truck, one 65-foot Seagraves aerial truck, and one combination 300-gallon pumper, hose and chemical truck.

An inventory of hose shows the following supply: Relief Company, 1,450 feet; Union, 1,250 feet; Good Intent, 1,600 feet, and America 1,400 feet, making a total of 5,700 feet. During the year the department received 800 feet of new hose.

UNCLE "WIP" IS TO VISIT BURLINGTON

Uncle Wip, known to radio kiddies all over the country, will spend the best part of Tuesday, October 11, in Burlington, when he will be one of the big features of the baby parade that will be staged by the civic day committee on that date.

Not only will Uncle Wip be in the baby parade, but he also will speak at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Masonic Hall, West Union street, at 12.15 o'clock, and appear as a guest of the city in the civic parade later in the afternoon. He will be able to remain in Burlington until about four o'clock.

At the conclusion of the parade Uncle Wip will give a talk to the children at the municipal lot at High and Belmont street. All of the children will be given a signed picture of the popular radio man who in private life is Chris Graham.

Uncle Wip will do more than that. On Friday night next at seven o'clock he will give a special talk to Burlington children, telling them all about the coming event and the importance of taking part in it.

DAIRYMEN CHANGE FEED OF CATTLE

New Jersey dairymen now favor moderate protein feeding, says E. J. Perry, state extension specialist in dairying. Mr. Perry reports that a number of the leading dairymen have found that rations containing too much protein are likely to cause udder troubles and sometimes breeding difficulties.

The practice among the most successful dairymen is to get a considerable part of the protein needed in the ration from alfalfa, clover, soy bean, or other legume hay. With hay of this nature a grain mixture containg 16 to 18 per cent total crude protein has given excellent results. When corn stover, timothy, or other hay low in protein is used, the practice is to furnish the animals with a grain mixture containing 24 per cent total crude protein.

Experience has shown, says the specialist, that variety is helpful in keeping dairy cattle in good condition and in their highest production. The old 2-grain mixtures are being superseded by feeds composed of four or more kinds of grains. Biochemists report that where a variety of grains are used, the animals are more likely to get the different vitamines and other constituents needed by the animals.

Observation of thousands of dairy animals on farms and under tests at experiment stations has shown that no set rules can be given controlling the quantity of roughage and grains needed by individual animals. The needs of various cows differ according to breed, weight, production, temperament, and season. By weighting both the milk given by the animals and the the feed supplied to her, the leading dairymen experiment until it is found what amount of foodstuffs cause the animal to give the largest amount of milk. To assist dairymen in solving feeding and other dairymen problems, the college of agriculture maintains a staff of experts whose assistance is furnished free.

Final Decree on RR Abandonment

Vincentown Passenger Service Ended Saturday; Freight Ceases Next Month

The Inter-State Commerce Commission sitting in Washington recently issued a final decree permitting abandonment of the Vincentown branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Last April the commission authorized discontinuation of the line as far as inter-state traffic was concerned, to which no opposition had been presented. Later, information from the New Jersey Utility Commission was received, to the effect that considerable opposition to the abandonment had developed.

The State board then was authorized to take testimony, which was presented at sessions of that commission. The State Commission, in view of the evidence of the Pennsylvania Railroad officials that the road had been a losing project for years, with no prospect of a revival of business sufficient to pay operating costs, issued an order permitting abandonment as to intra-state commerce.

A copy of that order was forwarded to Washington and then followed the final decree as to inter-state business.

Passenger traffic will be stopped Saturday, but the railroad company has agreed to continue freight business for about two or three weeks to accommodate Vincentown shippers and merchants.

There has been talk of having residents of Vincentown buy the 2.4 miles of road to maintain it as a siding, but this is found to be an expensive proposition that is not likely to be realized. The greatest handicap to that village by discontinuance of the branch is receiving shipments of coal and grain, nearly all other freight now being delivered by trucks.

Service on the branch consisted of two passenger trains operating between Vincentown and Camden and a freight train making four trips a week.

The statement of revenue and expense offered by the company showed that for the years of 1924, 1925 and 1926 there was a net loss of $29,465.19, or an average a year of $9,821.73. It was stated by the company that to continue this branch it would have to spend approximately $6 to every $1 of revenue received. Operation of buses and trucks was assigned as the cause of the decline of passenger and freight business.

STATE D. A. R. MEETING AT MORRISTOWN SEPT. 30

FRANK COOK TO GET BIG LEAGUE TRYOUT

19-year-old Burlington Boy to Go South With Chicago White Sox

Frank Cook, just out of Burlington High School and about nineteen years of age, who has been burning up things at short field for the Burlington team of the Burlington County League, is now under the watchful eye of Coach "Lena" Blackburn, of Palmyra, now with the Chicago White Sox, and last week he practiced with the Chicago team at Philadelphia and made a fine impression on the Chicago management—in fact, he made so much of a hit that he will be signed up to go south with the "Windy City" team next spring, but will probably be farmed out in order to gain more experience.

He was, without a doubt, the best shortstop in the League, and also one of its most popular players.

STEADY GAIN IN P. S. GAS METERS

While Superseded For Lighting Purposes, Gain As Heating Product

The number of meters serving the customers of Public Service Electric and Gas Company is rapidly approaching the 1,500,000 mark. In the first eight months of this year Public Service added 46,033 electric meters and 1,553 gas meters to its lines, of which 750,276 are electric and 707,103 gas.

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey was formed in 1903 and on December 31 of that year there were in service 187,384 gas and 18,262 electric meters. While gas for illuminating purposes has largely been superseded by electricity, gas shows a healthful growth in consumption from year to year by reason of its use in heating and for industrial purposes.

TO ESTABLISH NEW BANK IN COLUMBUS

Will Have a Capital Stock of $50,000 and Shares to Sell at Par Value of $125

A movement is under way looking toward the establishment of a national bank in Columbus a meeting of influential men of that vicinity having been held last week to discuss the feasibility of the project.

The meeting was attended by a prominent banking official from Washington, D. C., who was present to give full details pertaining to organization requirements. Over $25,000 worth of stock was subscribed at the meeting and it was decided to capitalize at $50,000, par value of the shares to be $125.

Columbus is an enterprising village and there is little doubt that it will accomplish whatever it sets out to do. Business men of the community feel that there is need for a bank in the town, although in the past the lack of banking facilities has not been acutely felt, the need being supplied by a branch bank that was conducted for many years by the late William A. Townsend and is still being maintained by the executors of the Townsend estate.

However, it is felt that the town is deserving of a real bank of its own, housed in a modern building, which it is planned to have erected.

Freeholders See Bridge Started

Attend Ceremony of Breaking Ground for Hudson River Span—World's Largest

The September meeting of the State Association of Freeholders was held at Fort Lee, Bergen County, on Wednesday of last week, on which occasion ground was broken for the longest suspension bridge in America, which will span the Hudson river between Fort Lee, N. J., and Fort Washington, N. Y.

The Freeholders were the guests of their Bergen county brothers and incidentally, were interested spectators at the ground breaking.

The meeting of the Association was presided over by Charles R. Stout, of Florence, president of the State Association, and the principal speakers were Senator Mackey, of Bergen county, John Ellis, head of the department of institutions and agencies of the state and others.

Those who attended from Burlington county were Freeholders Stout, Russ and Lippincott, County Engineer H. B. Smith, County Superintendent of Roads S. M. Macfarland, County Clerk William H. Reeves, Clerk of the Board of Freeholders Alfonza Adams, Superintendent of the Burlington County Hospital for the Insane Robert Cox, John H. Naylor and Thomas Livezey, of Burlington.

Meet Here Next

An invitation has been extended the State Association of Freeholders to hold the October Meeting in Burlington county, and at the Freeholders session last Friday the board considered ways and means for entertaining the members of the association and their invited guests, consisting of members of the Legislature and others.

This is the first time that the association has ever met in this county. This entertainment will entail no expense to the county, as visitors to these meetings pay for their own entertainment.

DREAMS AND FACTS

The idea that fortune is calling us from somewhere else is often about as sound reasoning as the belief that a pot of gold may be found at the end of the rainbow. The real gold is all around us here in Riverton, but the only way we can get it is to work for it. Wanderers will find that they will have to work just as hard or harder somewhere else.

This town needs men and women who will work, and they will be paid for their work here as well as elsewhere. There is no place beyond the horizon, as some of our young folks seem to think, where fame and fortune are waiting to receive them in open arms.

Ability and industry are necessary before we can be successful anywhere. Why not apply them to our work in the home town instead of just dreaming of better conditions in some vague distant places? The rewards are here.

P. S. URGES CARE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Public Service Instructs Operators to Use Extra Vigilance Near Schools

The following bulletin has been issued to all operators of Public Service trolley cars and buses by M. R. Boylan, vice-president in charge of operation.

Schools are again in session with more children in attendance than ever before. That means that you must use extra care and vigilance when operating your car or bus in the vicinity of school houses. Not only must your vehicle be run at moderate speed, but you must be prepared at all times to stop instantly. Don't take a chance! Don't rely on children getting out of your way! Be prepared to meet any unexpected move on their part! Don't expect a child to use the judgment of older persons.

Municipalities all over the territory in which we operate are enforcing to a greater and greater degree the "Full Stop" law. Safety Councils throughout the State are assisting in its enforcement and drivers of motor vehicles are to a rapidly increasing extent, recognizing that it is a measure of protection for all vehicle users. Co-operate to the fullest extent in the efforts to make this law effective and workable. Nothing in it gives you the right to relax the care and attention necessary to safe driving. Don't count on traffic rules and regulations, which may be disobeyed, to safeguard your passengers. Keep your car or bus under full control all the time and be prepared to meet all emergencies.

Safety of passengers and others is the first consideration in the operation of cars and buses.

TREAT PASSENGERS AS GUESTS, SAYS PS

Paid Riders Must Not Stand While Employees Occupy Seats

"Passengers should be treated as you would treat guests in your homes and are entitled to the same courtesy," says M. R. Boylan, vice-president in charge of operation of Public Service Railway and Transportation companies, in an executive bulletin just issued to all employees.

"My attention has been called to reports of cases where Public Service employes in uniform have been occupying seats in street cars while passengers were required to stand," writes Mr. Boylan. "This is not only against the rules of the companies but is a violation of good manners. Whether an employe is on duty or off, he is still a representative of Public Service and should conduct himself toward passengers as such.

"Passengers who pay their fares have the first call on seats and the rule that employes should not occupy seats when passengers are standing, applies not only to employes in uniform but also to those not in uniform who ride on passes.

"The great majority of our employes already obey this regulation. This bulletin will serve to warn the few who fail to observe it that it will be strictly enforced."

OFFERS GOLD MEDAL

Lever Promotes Fire Prevention Essay Contest

October 9 to 15 is National Fire Prevention Week.

Harold "Boots" Lever, Palmyra insurance man, in behalf of the Hartford Insurance Company is offering a gold medal for the best essay written by a Palmyra Grammar School pupil on the subject "How the principles of Fire Prevention have been applied in our home." Palmyra is to have a fire prevention program and this prize essay, which is only open to Palmyra Grammar School pupils, is limited to about 500 words. The essays are to be turned in to the pupil's class teacher not later than October 15. The winner will be given the gold medal the following week.

The judges for this contest will be chosen by Harold B. Lever. Mr. Lever announces one judge will be a school teacher while the other two will be prominent citizens, all to be chosen later.

Booklets for this contest may be secured from the various teachers at the school. The winner's name will be engraved upon the gold medal and announced in the local papers.

The contest is being held to stimulate in terms of fire prevention some real thought. The idea or thoughts in the essay must be original, but may be true or imaginary. Ideas as to what can be done or what may be done to prevent fire will be the chief point.

It is the intention of the Hartford Insurance Company to make this an annual contest with a gold medal for the prize. The first prize of the gold medal is the only one offered but this is really worth working for.

TIRE COMPANY FORMS

The General Tire and Rubber Co., of Akron has announced the formation of the General Tire Acceptance Corporation, a subsidiary of the General Tire and Rubber Co., which has been formed exclusively to finance time payments on high quality tires for small car owners who prefer to budget their income and buy a high quality auto tire and pay for it over a period of eight, ten or twelve weeks.

Frank T. Austin, manager of the Camden office of the General Tire Co., located at 9th and Cooper streets, Camden, in discussing the plan, said, "While our tire has always found a ready market among discriminating buyers who operated the more expensive car, we have not enjoyed the bulk of the business of the smaller car owner, who, though he may have desirde to buy the higher grade tire, has not heretofore been able to do so. It meant too much of a cash outlay all at one time, although perhaps his desire to buy was founded on the knowledge that he would enjoy a cheaper cost per mile with it."

MOUNT HOLLY BOY DROWNS IN CREEK

Fell From Abandoned Railroad Trestle; Playmates Helpless to Give Aid

William Triblett, twelve years old, who lived on the American Legion Highway, near Mount Holly, fell to his death last Friday afternoon into the Rancocas Creek at Mount Holly from an abandoned railroad trestle while four playmates helplessly watched.

Men summoned by the screams of the playmates dragged the creek with grappling irons and after police and citizens had worked for an hour and a half, the body was recovered.

Although the boys' stories are disconnected and vague, it is believed Triblett lagged behind as they began to cross the span. As there is no foot walk on the trestle the boys had to walk on the ties.

A terrible scream suddenly startled the four in the lead and as they turned they were horrified to see Triblett topple off the edge of the bridge and fall twenty feet to the creek.

When the boys had run back and Triblett did not reappear on the surface of the creek, they fled the bridge and ran, terrified up Water street, Mount Holly, screaming that Triblett had been drowned.

Crowd Quits When Tunney Goes Down

Fans Leave Community House, Thinking Fight is Over as Gene Takes Count

The Moorestown ring attraction in conjunction with the big boxing match out in Chicago last Thursday night proved a big feature and a crowd estimated at 350 attended the matches and radio reports of the Dempsey-Tunney fistic encounter at the Community House.

Only about half of the crowd heard the entire broadcast, however. When Tunney went down for the count of nine in the hectic seventh round, a yell went up which rung throughout the Community House, and half the crowd, feeling that Gene would never arise within the count of ten, rushed the doors and set off for their homes under the impression that the mighty heavyweight diadem had returned to Jack Dempsey.

Director Ben Rumpeltes says that probably many of those who rushed from the Community House did not learn of their mistake until they picked up Friday morning's papers.

Fine Radio Reception

The broadcast, which was received over a model 28 Radiola receiver and model 104 Radiola loud speaker, as furnished by Stiles Music Store, was splendid and the crowd was high in its praise for the wonderful work of the Radiola equipment. The reception was marked by rare clarity coupled with volume sufficient for every word uttered by the announcers to be heard in almost any corner of the Community House.

The entire program was a big success and another one will probably be presented the next time Tex Rickard stages another "Battle of the Century," which should not be far distant.

The Community House bouts were marked with two technical knockouts. Billy Ruspantine, 120 pounds, Riverside, won over Steve Ferry, 129 pounds, in the first round of the opening match by a technical ko.

Kid Mitchell Loses

Jack Wallace, 136-pound Maple superiority over the youthful Moorestown mitman, Kid Mitchell, and the bout was stopped in the first round by referee Joe Kennedy. This was second on the card. Mitchell entered the ring at 133½ pounds.

Bill Stevens, the Community House boxing instructor, outpointed his heavier opponent and gained the judges' decision over Joe Williams, of Riverside, in the windup. Stevens weighed in at 124 pounds, spotting Williams nine pounds, the Riverside boy tipping the scales at 133 pounds.

Rudie Gambacorita, 127 pounds, of Riverside, was awarded his bout with Vincent Givanetti, 130 pounds, Riverside, on points and Young Chubby, of Florence, 125 pounds, was given a like verdict over Young Sharkey, 126 pounds, Riverside.

The bouts proved quite a thrilling prologue to the championship tilt, produced a first-class boxing atmosphere and had the crowd keyed up for the broadcast. Many of Moorestown's prominent men were seen in the audience and there was quite a sprinkling of the fair sex in the gymnasium.

Gold boxing glove watch charms will be awarded the victors of the matches.

The entertainment included two roundly applauded vocal solos by "Bisky" Herr, selections by four Moorestown "Harmonica Boys" and the ever-thrilling Moorestown Community Band was on hand to supply music between the bouts.

The judges of the matches were Dr. Rae W. Lockwood and Paul H. Isenberg, of Moorestown, and Arthur Smith, of Beverly. The bouts were authorized by Mr. Smith, state boxing commissioner for Burlington county. All of the boxers were examined by Dr. B. B. Powell, of Moorestown, before entering the ring.
