NEW YEAR SEES CHANGES IN HEADS OF PALMYRA BOROUGH

Mayor Wimer Makes New Selections for Department Heads

CASTS DECIDING VOTE FOR APPOINTMENTS

Several changes marked the reorganization of Palmyra Borough Government Monday.

A sharp division of Council took place when Mayor Wimer submitted his appointments and committee choices. Three councilmen, Lees, Randel and Davis opposed the appointments and three, Fisher, Cramer and Fromuth, supported the Mayor, with the result that His Honor exercised his prerogative as Mayor and cast the deciding vote in favor of his selections.

Chief among the changes among council committees was the removal of Councilman Lees as head of the Street Department and the appointment of Fromuth, chairman, Cramer and Fisher to that committee.

The Mayor himself took charge of the Police and Fire Departments.

Other Changes

Among the changes in officials, John A. Eichner, Jr., was appointed Building Inspector in place of William B. Powell, and Dr. Dean LeFevre Borough Physician in place of Dr. H. W. Bauer, who had resigned because his growing practice left him little time to attend to the Borough work.

Harry Karns was appointed as the new Superintendent of Highways.

In making his changes, Mayor Wimer announced he had in mind the choice of men who were in town all day long and therefore in a position to give close and efficient attention to such departments as required constant supervision.

Positions which do not require constant attention went to councilmen whose business takes them out of Palmyra a great deal.

TAXI OVERTURNS

Three Palmyra Youths Bruised and Cut in Accident

Three Palmyra youths had a wild experience in a taxi-cab when returning from a New Year's party Sunday morning.

The driver was not familiar with the route and when he reached the sharp corner of the River Road at the gas station just this side of Pennsauken creek he kept right on going and drove into the peach orchard at full tilt. The slight embankment and other obstacles caused the car to turn over.

The passengers were Arthur Simons, Wesley Hallowell and Carl Lutz. The first two were slightly cut, while Lutz escaped with bruises only.

The driver, Stephen Ross, of Magnolia, suffered a cut in the left leg which required nine stitches to close.

Officer Rodgers was the first man on the scene to aid the victims and he took them all to Dr. Bauer's office for treatment.

Palmyra's Mayor Feted at Dinner

Two Hundred Gather to do Honor to New Palmyra Executive

The testimonial dinner tendered the new Mayor of Palmyra, George N. Wimer, in P. O. S. of A. Hall, Monday evening developed into one of the most remarkable manifestations of goodfellowship and praise for a deserving and much beloved fellow citizen ever held in Palmyra.

More than two hundred were present, most of them townsmen of the Mayor, but there was also a liberal representation of County, State and National officialdom, including Congressman Bacharach, State Senator Powell, Assemblyman Newcomb, nearly all the county officials, the new Mayor of Riverton and other leading figures in the life of Burlington County.

The menu was excellent, being served by McCallister's and a splendid musical program was rendered by the Adelphia Quartet.

Borough Solicitor Joseph S. Low was toastmaster, a position he filled with ease and grace.

Mayor Weart Speaks

His Honor James T. Weart, retiring Mayor, was the first speaker and he not only paid many splendid tributes to his successor, but spoke feelingly of the cooperation which he had received from the people of Palmyra during his administration and said he could wish the new Mayor nothing better than that his forthcoming term be as full of pleasant experiences as the past administration.

Retiring State Senator Emmor Roberts, a life long friend of Mr. Wimer, spoke next and emphasized the sterling qualities of the new mayor, especially his straightforwardness and his bluntness in condemning what he considered wrong.

Freeholder Charles R. Stout also told of his associations with Mr. Wimer in County politics and asserted Palmyra was always counted upon to support what was right in Burlington County because the political leaders always knew where Mr. Wimer stood.

Senator Powell

State Senator Clifford R. Powell delivered a clever and sincere speech wherein he recalled how he and the new Mayor had but recently been at odds in politics, how it had been a hard but clean fight and that Mr. Wimer had taken defeat in good part. "Cliff" said he himself had fully recovered from whatever bitterness had marked the contest and was able now to wish the Blessing of the Most High upon the new Mayor without any reservations whatsoever.

Congressman Bacharach related his long friendship with Mr. Wimer and also told of some of his own recent experiences at Washington.

The Rev. George Lockett, the new Mayor's Pastor, gave a clever speech in which he extolled the help which men's wives give them in their public duties and trials. At the end of his remarks he gracefully presented a basket of roses to Mrs. Wimer.

Ex-Judge Harold B. Wells followed with one of his characteristically rapid fire addresses, full of wit and forceful admonitions, in which he declared the most wonderful part of the testimonial banquet was to him that the citizens of Palmyra had gathered to honor Mr. Wimer and say all the nice things they could think of to him while he was still alive, not waiting until his funeral, as is usually the case.

Happy But Miserable

The new Mayor himself was called upon to wind up the program. He said it would be manifestly untrue to pretend he did not enjoy hearing so many good things said about him but nevertheless he had been more or less miserable from the knowledge that he would have to get up and say something himself when it was all over.

The Mayor thanked everyone for their kind remarks, complimented the retiring Mayor, Mr. Weart, on his splendid administration, and spoke of the fine spirit of cooperation which had marked the conduct of Palmyra Borough Council for the past several years.

Everybody present felt the evening had brought to pass a most inspiring occasion, which had created a wonderful spirit of goodwill and civic goodfellowship in the Borough whose effect will long be felt.

The committee which arranged the testimonial, Walter Lamon, Horace Finney, Charles Stout, Joseph Low and Fred Fromuth, was especially congratulated for the splendid success of their efforts.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and acquaintances for their kind expressions of sympathy during the bereavement of our dear son and grandson, Billy Carter, also those who sent flowers and cars to the funeral.

Palmyra School Board Meeting

Married Women Teachers and Poor Quality of Coal Under Discussion

The regular December meeting of the Palmyra School Board was held last Thursday evening in the Delaware avenue building.

A representative of R. McAllister, Camden coal dealer, was present to answer complaints of the Board as to the quality of the coal supplied by the Camden concern.

During the first month of the school term there was a fire in the coal stored in the basement of the building. In order to extinguish the fire it was necessary to remove practically all of the large quantity of fuel stored in the bin, and afterwards to move it back, thereby incurring considerable additional expense.

The fire was due to spontaneous combustion of the fuel and the school board was of the opinion that if the coal was of the proper quality and properly stored in the basement there would have been no cause for it catching fire. In addition to this the janitor was unable to get satisfactory results from use of the coal in the heating plant either before or after it had been on fire.

Admits One Mistake

McAllister's expert went to great length in an effort to convince the board that his firm was not at fault but that the trouble was due to improper firing of the furnaces. He was forced to admit, however, that the coal would not have caught on fire if it had not been stacked too high in the bin. McAllister's men delivered the coal themselves so they could not blame anyone else for this mistake.

The expert was unable to explain why the coal supplied by the Camden firm was unsatisfactory while coal purchased in previous years from the same specifications gave better results. For several years past the coal has been supplied by local dealers.

It was finally decided that McAllister should have the coal analyzed by a competent chemist and that if it should be proven that the fuel was not up to standard the dealer would supply the proper grade of coal and take back any that was on hand.

Married Women Teachers

The question of employing married women teachers was brought up. The board was unfavorable to engaging married women in the future but was undecided on what course to pursue in regard to teachers who have married since being appointed to their positions. It was pointed out that some of the married teachers were serving under the "Tenure of office act," and this brought up the question as to whether they could be refused re-appointment next year.

Some were of the opinion that by marrying they were breaking their contracts and that the board was under no obligation to them. It was decided that before taking any action, it would be advisable to get the opinion of the state board in this matter.

The President of the Board, William Donaghy, instructed the chairmen of the various committees to get their committees together and make up their requisitions for next year's expenses so that they might be submitted to the board for next year's budget.

To Paint Concrete

George Clover, a member of the board, explained that the dust from the concrete floor was damaging the machines and motors in the manual training room. Mr. Palmer, the instructor, told Mr. Clover that he and some of the boys would lay a wood floor if the board would supply the lumber. It was decided that the expense of the floor would be too much at the present time but if Mr. Palmer wished they would supply paint, so that the floor might be painted and in this way prevent damage from the dust.

There was considerable discussion concerning certain of the janitor's assistants. It was the opinion of the board that they were taking entirely too much upon themselves in declaring holidays without the knowledge of the board. Their indifference to their duties was also commented on. The chairman of the janitor's committee was instructed to investigate this condition and was authorized to take whatever steps necessary to correct the trouble.

The question of tuition came up for discussion. It was pointed out that most high schools in Burlington county were charging a higher rate than Palmyra. No action was taken on the subject but it is likely to be taken up again in the near future.

The Alumni Association sent in a request for the use of the high school auditorium on the evening of March 15th. Their request was approved by the board.

The next meeting of the school board will be held on Thursday evening, January 26th.

SEVEN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Camden Relatives of Palmyra Folks Suffer in Accident at East Riverton

BUS ALSO CRASHES INTO TELEPHONE POLE

Early Monday evening seven people were injured when a PRT bus operating between Philadelphia and Burlington collided with a Jewett sedan opposite the Riverton Ice and Cold Storage Plant in East Riverton.

The PRT bus was following a PRT-Frankford bus on an east bound trip. When the Frankford bus stopped suddenly, William McNight, driver of the Burlington bus, turned to the left.

Just as McNight turned his big machine a Jewett sedan with seven passengers loomed up in front of him. The driver of the sedan apparently sensed the situation quickly and turned off to his right. The bus side-swiped the sedan, completely wrecking it and scattering the occupants on the ground nearby. The bus hit a Public Service electric pole and broke it off half way above the ground.

The injured were taken to the Zurbrugg Memorial Hospital at Riverside where their injuries were dressed by Dr. Downs.

Mrs. Caroline Heitz, 60 years old, was the most seriously injured occupant of the car. She is suffering from possible fracture of the skull, lacerations of the scalp and shock.

Arthur Colsey, Jr., 33 years old, driver of the sedan, is the son of Captain Arthur Colsey of the Camden police. Arthur Colsey 3rd, a daughter Lillian, 4 years old, and Colsey's wife, Flora, 33 years old, Harold Heitz and his wife, Anna, 27 years old, were the other occupants of the Jewett. Their injuries were for the most part lacerations and bruises. Lillian is thought to have a fracture of the right arm.

Captain Colsey is the uncle of William Colsey and Mrs. John S. Warner, of Palmyra. The Captain was attending the Wimer testimonial banquet at P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra, when called away by news of the accident.

About eleven o'clock the same night A. Lincoln Richter, of Palmyra, ran into a Ford parked in front of Ogden Faunce's home on Broad street, East Riverton. Richter's car, a Star touring, was badly damaged as it rolled over several times. The Ford ran off under its own power.

The driver of the Ford had left it standing on the side of the road while he walked back to the bus garage for some water for his radiator. Richter did not see the car until he was almost upon it.

At two o'clock Tuesday morning, a bus driven by William Brodeson, of Riverton, was struck by a freight train at Broad and High street, Burlington. The two passengers and the driver were slightly injured. The bus driver says he "stopped, looked and listened" before crossing the tracks. He claims the train had no headlight and was neither ringing a bell nor blowing a whistle. The bus was hurled against the traffic booth which was upset.

CAMP 23 PRESENTS FLAG TO BOROUGH

A handsome new American flag was presented to the Borough of Palmyra Monday by Camp 23, P. O. S. of A.

The presentation ceremonies were preceded by a parade which traversed Broad street from Arch street to Riverton Station.

The exercises took place in front of the Camp Hall at the Flag Pole which was dedicated as a memorial some years back to Palmyra's soldiers in the World War.

The Rev. George Lockett delivered the invocation and the Rev. William Lee the benediction.

Mayor Weart presented the flag, with a few eloquent remarks and Mayor Wimer received it on behalf of the Borough. The beautiful new banner was then hoisted by the Boy Scouts and as it unfuried at the top scores of small flags fluttered forth, to be born away over the roof of the hall by the stiff northwest breeze.

The parade was headed by Irons Band, followed by the town officials, the Legion drum corps, members of the Camp, the Boy Scouts and the fire company. All organizations were represented by a splendid turnout especially considering the coldness of the day.

FORCED OUT OF LEAGUE

The Palmyra basketball team, entrants in the Burlington County League for the past several years and ably managed by Harry Winkelspecht, operator of the McCoy Service Station at Broad and Linden avenue, Riverton, has been forced to vacate its franchise due to the fact that the local five was unable to secure a home floor on which to play in Palmyra.

"Wink," as the manager is well known, gave up the idea of ever obtaining a court in Palmyra after making basketball history here. In past years Palmyra has been one of the best basketball towns along the riverfront.

 SPECIAL THANKS

The Post Rodgers American Legion committee on the Christmas Carols, which were a huge success in Palmyra this year, wish to take this method of thanking all those who took part in the work, and especially Lester Steele, who so willingly donated the splendid Christmas Tree free of charge.

WILLIAMS MAY BE OUSTED AS POLICE DEPARTMENT HEAD

Removed From Chairmanship of Police Committee at Organization

MAYOR HEEDS PROTESTS: APPOINTMENT DEFERRED

At the organization meeting of the Riverton Borough Council on Monday an attempt was made to unseat Edward R. Williams as Chairman of the Police Committee.

In appointing his committees, Howard M. Rogers, the new mayor, named Henry L. Randall, the new member of Council, for the position that has been held by Mr. Williams for three years, while Mr. Williams was given the third place on the committee.

Councilman Welsh asked the mayor if he understood correctly that he intended to change the head of the police committee. Mr. Rogers replied in the affirmative. "I think you are making a mistake," said Mr. Welsh, "and one that will make trouble."

Mr. Williams said he objected to this demotion. Addressing the chair, Mr. Williams said: "While I was a candidate for mayor the group of men who were backing you told me they thought I could serve the borough much better in the capacity of head of the police deparment.

"I have endeavored to enforce the laws of the State and the ordinances of the borough with fairness and impartiality. In doing this I have made some enemies who seem to be taking this method of getting back at me.

Charges Politics

"It looks to me as though you are starting right in to play politics, and if this is the kind of politics you are going to play, things will be made pretty hot for you before you are through."

Mr. Williams pointed to the improvement that had been made in the department under his administration, and told how he had spent many hours in actual police service for the borough, in the company of his officers.

Councilman Welsh said he thought due consideration should be given by the Mayor to service rendered in making his appointments, and he did not approve of the removal of Mr. Williams from the head of the police department. He said this appointment had been discussed with him by Mr. Rogers, and while the mayor had made no direct promise, he had understood from what he said that he intended to re-appoint Mr. Williams chief of police.

Mr. Randall, who had been named for the head of this committee, said that he was neutral in the matter. He had been asked if he would accept the chairmanship and he said he would, but he did not want to engender any ill will, and since Mr. Williams felt as he did about it, he suggested to the mayor that the matter should be seriously reconsidered.

Mr. Rogers replied that he believed it was the privilege of the mayor to appoint his committees.

The appointment was held over for further consideration.

Declines Chairmanship

Mr. Randall was also offered the chairmanship of the fire and water committee, which he declined on the ground that he was new in council and thought it would be better to learn how things were done. This appointment was also held over.

Oaths of office were administered by the clerk, D. M. Clifton, to C. Kenneth Davis, collector and treasurer; Henry L. Randall, the new member, and Joshua S. Bartley, re-elected to council. Mr. Clifton was sworn in as clerk by Mayor Rogers, who had taken oath of office last Saturday.

Wouldn't Defer Appointment

When the mayor offered Sherman & Sleeper as his appointees for borough engineers, Councilman Welsh asked that this appointment be held open for a few days. The mayor wanted to know what was his reason for making this request, and Mr. Welsh replied that it was based on information he had received from the chairman of the highway committee, and under the circumstances he hoped the matter would be deferred until some other engineers could be considered.

The mayor, however, declined to grant the request and called for a vote. Councilmen Welsh, Williams and Hubbs voted against the appointment, and Lynch, Bartley and Randall for it. The mayor cast his vote in the affirmative, consummating the appointment.

Before the mayor announced his appointment of committees, Councilman Hubbs offered a resolution, which was passed, providing that each appointment be confirmed or rejected separately, and it was under this motion that it was possible to confirm the appointments which were acceptable to council, and reserve the others for future consideration.

Welsh Elected President

Councilman Welsh was elected president of council and the following appointments were made and unanimously confirmed.

Recorder, S. Howard Troth.
Borough Attorney, William T. Read.
Overseer of the poor, William Quigley.
Poundkeeper, William Quigley.
Building Inspector, George T. Williams.
Marshals, William Quigley and Walter G. Miller.
Board of Health, Dr. Harry L. Rogers and Ogden Mattis.

HOLD NEW YEAR DINNER AND DANCE

Riverton Fire Company and Auxiliary Participating in Successful Affair

The annual dance and dinner of the Riverton Fire Company, given New Year's eve, reached a new level of enjoyment, with the able assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Partelow's Troubadors furnished the music for the dancing which began before nine and lasted until two. The room was very attractively decorated with red and green festoons, evergreen trees and shaded lights, with quite an artistic drawing on the mirror showing the approach of the new year.

The fire apparatus was parked out-doors and the downstairs floor, where the tables were spread for the midnight feast, looked most inviting.

Chief of Police Edward R. Williams made a genial toastmaster and called on a number of the diners for short speeches.

Plans Announced for the Formation of an Aero Club for This Section

H. Herbert Longaker Sponsor of Movement for Organization to Encourage Aeronautics in Moorestown, Palmyra, Riverton and Riverside

As another indication that this section is thoroughly modern and progressive, plans have been announced for the formation of an aero club for the communities of this section, chiefly for Moorestown, Palmyra, Riverton and Riverside.

To join this club one does not have to be a flier or even have intentions of becoming an aviator. H. Herbert Longaker, of Moorestown, who is sponsoring the movement, points out that aero clubs are springing up all over the country, with the rapid increase in interest for aviation, and the clubs are both educational and keep the members advanced on the theories and development of modern transportation.

As the club grows, it may branch out and eventually become the owner of a plane, thus enabling the members who wish to gain practical knowledge of flying.

The cost of membership in such clubs is very low and permits all interested men to become affiliated with the movement.

The organizers of the club are especially anxious to have men who have had flying experience join. Although they may not wish to do further flying, their experience will prove highly valuable to their fellow members and membership in the club should prove highly interesting.

Mr. Longaker has briefly sketched the benefits of an aero club. It offers flying knowledge for those who wish to study aviation, the community becomes what is known as "airminded" and it helps the development of the section where an airfield is located. It aids to develop commercial aviation.

Connected With ASPA

Members of the club will have an opportunity to enjoy talks and lectures by nationally famous pilots and leaders in aviation, as the club will be connected with the American Society for Promotion of Aviation. The club will offer opportunity and encouragement for younger men of this section who may desire a career in aviation.

Larger clubs, of the proportions which this organization may later reach, not only have their own plane but engage a licensed pilot and club members receive instruction for a very small sum.

Anyone who is interested in an aero club for this section should communicate with Mr. Longaker whose home address is 4 West Central avenue, Moorestown. His telephone number is Moorestown 118-W. Mr. Longaker, who is a member of the National Aeronautical Society and American Society for Promotion of Aviation, is Eastern Aeronautical Representative for Berry Brothers, the prominent paint company. The local club sponsor has made numerous interesting flights in the past year and is highly enthusiastic about aeronautics, both from an amateur and professional standpoint.

Mr. Longaker calls attention to the success enjoyed by the Queens Aero Club, and the story is told in excerpts from an article in Popular Aviation, November, 1927, which follows:

"When a committee representing the Queens Aero Club of 'Queensboro, L. I., placed a check covering the purchase price of a JN-4 in the hands of Charles Santini, the owner, they brought to completion plans on which members have worked for two months, and in so doing have shown the way to thousands of similar groups throughout the country.

Club Grows Rapidly

"Working in conjunction with the American Society for Promotion of Aviation, the Astoria Aero Club was organized in July, 1927. From a start of ten members the club quickly reached a membership of over one hundred aviation enthusiasts. It was found necessary to expand its range of activity further than Astoria and the club was reorganized as the Queens Aero Club, covering all of Queens county.

"The Club meets every Thursday evening for instruction lectures. Instructors are provided by the ASPA. The local Democratic club loans its rooms for meetings. In two months, through initiation fees, dues and donations, the club secured not only enough money to buy the JN-4 plane, but have built up a surplus fund which will be used in the purchase of a better plane in the spring of 1928. The JN-4 is not licensed for commercial work. Members of the Queens Aero Club will be flown and instructed by Colonel Roberts, formerly of the R. F. C.; Captain August Sparre, formerly of the French Aid Service, and Lieutenant J. O'R. Kelly, of the U. S. Aid Reserve.

"The new plane will be licensed as a commercial carrier and the club will add to its treasury fund by allowing the pilots to carry passengers on a percentage basis.

"The plan employed by the Queens Aero Club is a general plan outlined by the American Society for Promotion of Aviation and may be applied to every community in the United States."

PEDESTRIAN KILLED BY AUTO IN FOG

Palmyra Man's Car Strikes Thomas Quinn at Taylor's Lane

Thomas Quinn, 60 years old, died at the Zurbrugg Hospital, Riverside, Saturday morning from injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile driven by Malcolm Bradley, of 700 Washington avenue, Palmyra, about eleven o'clock last Friday night, at the intersection of the Burlington Pike and Taylor's lane.

Quinn had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Mary Garbe, of Spring Garden street, Riverside, and was walking towards Camden when he was hit by the car. Bradley placed the injured man in his car and rushed to the hospital where Quinn was attended by Dr. R. I. Downs.

Chief Voshel was called and arrested Bradley. At a hearing before Squire Merrill Saturday night he was released under bail. After Quinn died Bradley was rearrested and charged with manslaughter. Merrill set bail at $1000 which was provided by Morris Schreiber, Riverside merchant.

At the hearing Bradley said he was going to Palmyra and was driving slowly because of the heavy fog which made it impossible to see any distance ahead and he did not see Quinn until after his car had hit him. Miss Helen Lewin, of Delanco, was in the car with Bradley when the accident occurred.

OWNERS OF DOGS

Director of Public Safety Williams reports that only about one half as many dogs have been licensed this year as last year.

The state law requires the police department to impound all dogs found running at large on the streets without a proper license tag.

If these dogs are not redeemed by their owners within three days they will be destroyed.

Director Williams is calling the attention of dog owners to this matter in order that they may protect their pets by taking out licenses if they see fit to do so.

Every summer there is a "mad dog scare" and at all times of the year stray canines are a nuisance.

It is the purpose of the police department to eliminate dogs who have no owners that care enough about them to take out licenses.

State May Have Marine School

Measure Providing for Establishment to be Presented to Legislature

Legislation for the establishment of a New Jersey nautical school is now being prepared by the State Attorney General's office at Trenton and will be presented at the next session of the Legislature.

That it will be passed virtually is assured, according to Adjutant General Gilkyson, "daddy" of the move, whose announcement of the shaping of the bill became known last week.

Governor Moore has come out unqualifiedly in favor of the move, he points out, as have many other state leaders, including State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, Colonel Schwartzkoff, state head of civic clubs and others.

Mayor Price, of Camden, who also is a brigadier general in the National Guard, has given his endorsement to Captain Frederick Griffith, of Belmar, the most active proponent of the plan, and who is expected to be the superintendent of the school.

Support of the move has become general and statewide, according to the originators of the idea. New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have such schools, but New Jersey, though it has a great coast line and many harbors have none.

The school, according to the leaders, will fill a need felt on one hand by the merchant marine of the nation, which is in need of trained men, and by boys and young men who feel the urge of the sea, but see no way of sailing except as ordinary seamen.

Graduation from the school's two-year course will make the student eligible to take the Federal examinations for third mate's papers.

County History of 50 Years Ago

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror December 20, 1877

Up to December 10 there were 7,769 bushels of cranberries shipped from the New Egypt station against 2,764 to same date last year.

The wheat crop of M. S. Butterworth, Pemberton, grown on eleven acres, threshed out of 437 bushels, or an average per acre of 42 bushels.

They are boasting of a fifty-pound turkey over in Lawrence county, Pa. Pretty good. But they hadn't heard from Burlington county, Taylor, the Mount Holly poultry shipper, has sent two turkeys to New York this season which weighed between 52 and 53 pounds each.

Justice Woodhull, in his charge to the grand jury on Tuesday called attention to a growing evil, the open and flagrant violations of the laws regulating the sale of spirituous and malt liquors. If these statutes are allowed to be violated with impunity, the effect must be demoralizing, bringing all law into contempt. Sale of beer during the progress of the Agricultural Fair, he said, was clearly a violation of the law. The charter of the society gives no such privileges.

The total weight of 110 hogs slaughtered at the Burlington county poorhouse last week was over 35,000 pounds, an average of 320 pounds. Only 1,400 bushels were required to fatten this large crop.

December 27, 1877

Collins & Atkinson received from Asher B. Pew, of Westampton, on Wednesday, six fat calves that averaged 553 pounds, and three from Stephen Haines that averaged 510 pounds.

Turkeys were abundant in Mount Holly on Saturday, December 22, at 14 and 15 cents per pound, and chickens at 12 to 13 cents. It was good quality, too.

Mount Holly now enjoys the protection of seventeen lawyers, with about half a score of law students in the background.

A subscriber states that winters are getting milder each year and that in 100 years there will be no frost whatever in this section of the world. We don't believe it, but will watch carefully to see if he is correct.

Gen. E. Burd Grubb, in a shooting match at live pigeons at Andalusia, Pa., on Wednesday, killing 78 out of 100 birds. His competitor, Howard Jaffray, of New York, made a score of 65. The match was for a $500 trophy.

On Saturday our Court of Quarter Sessions sentenced one prisoner and heard the trial of a colored boy charged with obtaining $3 under false pretences. Court expenses of the day totaled about $175. Too much money for the results.

Big Canning Business

The canning business in Burlington city has attained considerable magitude. The past season five factories there put up 1,500,000 cans of vegetables, 8,900 barrels of pickles and catsup and 5,000 cases of fruits and jellies. The wholesale value of these products is placed at $375,000. Over 400 hands are engaged five months in the year in this industry.

William Emley, one of the settlers who arrived at Burlington 200 years ago, settled on 2,000 acres which included the present site of the state prison. Finding the location unhealthy, he came into New Hanover township, where he settled on 1,600 acres. The survey included the homestead farm now owned by Judge Oliver H. P. Emley, which never has been sold, but has been willed from sire to son since the advent of the original John. Judge Emley also possesses the compass brought over by his venerated ancestor.

Franklin B. Haines, Michael E. Newbold and Joseph H. Gaskill, commissioners, sold on Saturday the farm of 79 acres, now occupied by George W. Fhares, near Georgetown, to Charles H. Haines for $160.50 per acre.

At a meeting of Orthodox Friends in Moorestown last week, nothing occured to mar the peaceful serenity of the meeting save that a young woman was overcome by the heated atmosphere of the building and had to receive attention from a druggist.

Old Timer is a resident of New Jersey, who has been in close touch with the temperance movement for over half a century. In these talks, he takes us back to the days before Prohibition, and in a friendly spirit answers questions and quibbles, and shows the benefits following the Eighteenth Amendment when honestly and earnestly enforced by responsible officers of the law.

Did the Minority Rule?

OLD TIMER was an honored guest and speaker at the Farmers' Picnic in his home county, and by special request replied to a public statement made by Senator Bill that the Eighteenth Amendment was enacted by a minority of bigots and fanatics.

In his address Old Timer said, "The best reply would be to have the Senator explain how a minority could control two-thirds of both houses of Congress, next, how could a minority persuade majorities in the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States to ratify the resolutions of Congress against the will of the people.

"Prohibition is not a newly invented scheme for controlling the liquor traffic. The fact is that after trying out low license, high license and local option the people of 33 States had adopted State prohibitory laws before the Eighteenth Amendment became operative, and the people of 25 States adopted these laws by referendum votes. Four additional States have since adopted Prohibition State Codes by State referendums, making a total of 29 States so voting.

"If minorities ratified the Eighteenth Amendment how did they manage to get the control of both houses in 46 States? And how smart and powerful those 'fanatics' must have been to persuade their legislators against their will to enact Prohibition State Codes in 45 States. If a minority of fanatics can exercise so powerful a political influence, how inexcusably dull must be the majority of sensible people to let them get away with it?

"Instead of being a case of minority rule," said Old Timer, "the Eighteenth Amendment is the most overwhelmingly a majority enactment in our Constitutional Government. There are 19 amendments to the Constitution, all submitted and ratified in the same manner. Of these the Prohibition Amendment came nearer than any other to unanimous ratification. Three States—Massachusetts, Connecticut and Georgia—never ratified the first ten amendments; the thirteenth or Anti Slavery Amendment was not ratified by three States; and twelve States failed to ratify the Nineteenth or Woman Suffrage Amendment; whereas 46 States have ratified the Eighteenth Amendment; all but Connecticut and Rhode Island.

"But," continued Old Timer, "Senator Bill says the law was 'put over' by the fanatics during the war when our boys were 'over there' and didn't have a chance to vote. The facts are that the movement for the amendment started in 1913. I was one of a Committee of One Thousand who marched to the Capitol at Washington December 16th, 1913, and there in mass meeting on the Capitol steps formally presented to members of Congress the suggested resolutions, and from that date the fight was on in every Congressional district. This was long before we got into the war, and every voter who afterwards became a soldier had a chance to vote on the question at the congressional election.

"Again," said Old Timer, "it requires unblushing nerve to assume that nobody but vets fought in our armies. Every church displayed its service honor flag with stars to represent its soldier boys. Those who came back at every opportunity confirmed the verdict of their fathers and mothers by rolling up increased dry majorities. For instance, in Ohio they raised the dry majority from 25,759 to 41,853; in Michigan they helped to lift a majority of 68,624 for State Prohibition to 207,520 on a beer and wine referendum, and they helped vote Kentucky dry by 10,717. The 'boys' when they returned were as loyal as they were 'over there.'"

See Tuberculosis Stopped at Start

National Association to Conduct "Early Diagnosis Campaign" During March

Representatives of county and community health associations from all parts of New Jersey met at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, on December 28 to hear Philip P. Jacobs, Ph.D. of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York City, outline a plan of an Early Diagnosis Campaign contemplated for the month of March by the National Tuberculosis Association.

According to Mr. Jacobs the campaign will enlist all tuberculosis and health associations in the United States in an intensive publicity campaign to emphasize the importance of the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. He said that it had a two fold aim, to focus the attention of the public upon the danger signs of early tuberculosis, to urge the individual to go to his doctor for examination and to stimulate renewed interest on the part of the medical profession in the early recognition of symptoms.

"To procrastinate with tuberculosis is to gamble with death," said Mr. Jacobs. "The hope ultimately of conquering the disease lies in our ability to take action promptly. This, in turn, depends upon the efficiency in discovering all cases of tuberculosis before they have an opportunity to spread the infection. These facts have been shouted from the housetops for the past twenty years. But doctors still report that most cases of tuberculosis that come to them for their first examination are found to be in the advanced stage of the disease. A recent census of patients in tuberculosis sanatoria in the United States shows that only sixteen per cent are diagnosed as early cases on entrance."

"Perhaps the educational barrage of the past two decades has been too scattered. Perhaps a new generation untouched by the old message has arrived. At any rate, this seems to be the strategic time to consolidate the scattered gains of the past and concentrate public attention on the important fundamentals about tuberculosis."

Mr. Jacobs said the campaign had the endorsement and active interest of the American Public Health Association and the American Medical Association.

The county and community organizations represented will organize meetings, where talks will be given, motion pictures shown and this seems to be the strategic time radio and newspapers will all be utilized in carrying the message of the campaign. The expenses will be defrayed by the funds obtained through the 1927 seal sale.

MATHIS UNDERGOES OPERATION

More Than 300 Deer Killed This Year

Complete Record Expected to Exceed High Mark, 615, in County

Reports received by Game Warden Howard E. Mathis, of Mount Holly, show that nearly 600 deer were killed in this county during the four-day open season which closed on Wednesday, December 21, and that official states that when belated returns are in, the total will equal, if not exceed, last year's high record of 613. Gunners are required by law to report to the wardens the time and place where deer were shot. All these reports are not yet in hand.

Warden Mathis reports that at least 7000 gunners were in the deer woods of Burlington, Ocean and Atlantic counties during the open season.

Notwithstanding that large aggregation of hunters, only a few accidents were reported.

Paul Frankenfield, of 214 Hewitt street, Trenton, while walking along the road from Chatsworth to Barnegat, received the full effects of two loads of buckshot, but only one shot caused injury, the others being deflected by the reavy clothing worn by the Trentonian. The one shot struck Frankenfield's wrist and slightly shattered a bone. It is presumed that the unknown gunner, who fired two barrels of his weapon almost simultaneously, mistook the man for a deer.

Harley Wells, of South Beverly, had his right hand injured when his gun was accidentally discharged near Chatsworth. He was treated at the Burlington County Hospital.

Lewis W. Chambers, of Unionville, had his forearm injured when it was struck by a single buckshot which came from a load fired by a deer gunner.

Warden Mathis and his assistants including state troopers, made a number of arrests for violations of the game laws.

Reports from Atlantic county show that 170 deer were killed.

DAIRYMEN'S DAY IN AGRICULTURAL WORK

A special dairy program has been arranged for Thursday, January 12, in connection with Agricultural Week at Trenton. Beginning at 9.30 in the morning, the dairymen will meet with the New Jersey Alfalfa Association. At noon, the Guernsey, the Holstein, and the Jersey Breeders' Associations of the state will hold their annual luncheon.

Immediately after the luncheon, each of these breed associations will hold its sessions and hear short talks from various breeders. Prof. J. H. Frandsen, head of the dairy department at the Massachusetts Agricultural College will speak to the Holstein men on present-day problems in breeding work.

Following the after-luncheon sessions a general dairy meeting will be addressed by Prof. Oscar Erf of the dairy department at the Ohio Agricultural College. His subject will be "Protecting the Raw Milk Market," a subject which is causing considerable discussion in dairy circles today.

At 6.30 in the evening, the Annual Dairymen's Banquet will be held at the Stacy-Trent Hotel. The speakers will include Professors Erf and Frandsen and "Happy" Goldsmith, the "Milk for Health" orator of the Inter-State Dairy Council of Philadelphia.

Whitney Endorses Hoover Candidacy

Opposes Drafting Coolidge, Declaring President's Wishes Should be Respected

A statement issued last week by Arthur Whitney, of Mendham, N. J., follows:

"I am informed that at the next meeting of the Republican State Committee the matter of delegates at large to the Republican National Convention will be considered and that my name will be suggested to the committee. For that reason, I wish to state my position regarding the presidential situation.

"I am convinced that the Coolidge administration has the confidence of the entire nation. That the President will not be a candidate for renomination is a matter of universal regret. I am, however, opposed to the persistent talk of drafting Mr. Coolidge because I believe that his wishes should be respected and that it tends to turn the attention of the public from due consideration of other candidates.

"In my judgment, we must continue Mr. Coolidge's policies in order to insure our national prosperity. We must nominate and elect a Republican president who will continue what the present administration has begun.

"I believe that Herbert Hoover is best fitted to succeed President Coolidge. If Mr. Hoover is nominated by the Republican praty, I am confident that his nomination will be approved by the American people and that he will be elected. Mr. Hoover is politically upright and uncompromisingly honest which insures an administration free from suspicion of scandal. He is unusually equipped by experience to understand international affairs which insures a wise foreign policy. He has proved himself an able executive which insures an efficient and economical business administration.

"As a candidate for delegate at large, I am favorable to Herbert Hoover. I hope that I may receive the endorsement of the State Committee. The Republicans of New Jersey honored me with the nomination for Governor in 1925. I trust that I still have their confidence and will be chosen by them as delegate at large to the National Convention in 1928."

Commission Wants Enforcement Men

Shortage of Eligibles for Higher Prohibition Jobs, Examination Reopened

The Civil Servce Commission at Washington has announced the examination for assistant prohibition administrator (enforcement work) for those who have bona fide residence, domicile, and post office address within the State of New Jersey.

The Commission says that the result of the last examinations for higher administrative posts under the Bureau of Prohibition, although not finally determined, indicate that a sufficient number of eligibles may not be secured in a number of sections of the country.

The only examination reopened to New Jersey residents at this time is for assistant prohibition administrator (enforcement work.)

The entrance salary is from $3,309 to $4,800 a year.

Applicants will not be required to report to any place for a written examination but will be rated on their training, experience, and fitness. Experience in prohibition enforcement is not required; any experience which, in the judgment of the Commission, qualifies the applicant for the duties of the position is acceptable. The experience requirements of the original examination have been materially changed for this new examination.

Personal investigations of applicants, which may include oral interviews, form a part of the examination. Fingerprints will be made to check the accuracy of the applicant's statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the post office in any city in New Jersey. Formal applications must reach the Commission at Washington by January 31.

"Bigger and Better" Chevrolet Now Out

Extended Wheelbase, Greater Speed and Power, 4-Wheel Brakes, Features

Surpassing all its former achievements as a leader in the building of low cost transportation, the Chevrolet Motor Company has announced the most distinctive low priced automobile of all time.

Announcement of a complete new line of Chevrolet cars follows immediately on the close of Chevrolet's greatest year when its volume of one million units made it the world's largest builder of automobiles, and presages a year of unexampled activity for the organization that has been the pioneer volume producer of gear shift motor cars.

Known as the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet, the new car is now on display throughout the United States, not only succeeds the "Most Beautiful Chevrolet," but incorporates all the advantages that made the latter so popular and in addition embodies a host of refinements that combine to produce what General Motors officials believe will be the sensation of the automobile industry in 1928.

Highlights of 1928 Models

A quick picture of the new car that seems destined to write a new chapter into the history of the automobile business may be had by noting the following highlights of the 1928 Chevrolet:

Extended wheelbase, greater speed and power, four wheel brakes, longer, roomier Fisher bodies, new Duco colors, thermostat cooling, shock absorbing springs, motor enclosure, and indirectly lighted instrument panel and other advantages built in as a result of lessons learned through 13 years of constant progress.

The "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet owes its outstanding virtues to the manifold facilities at the disposal of the Chevrolet Motor Company, including the General Motors Proving Ground, the General Motors Research laboratory, the Chevrolet experimental laboratory, the Chevrolet engineering department and the skill and resources of the Fisher Body Corporation.

Seven passenger cars, including five closed and two open types, comprise the line. Every driving requirement is cared for in the make up and appointments of the various body types.

Beauty in appearance, performance in driving and economy in operation are the keynotes of the car that owes its every detail to withering tests of days, weeks and months under all types of weather, road and driving conditions.

Every detail has been proved true in exhaustive tests. As a result, the new line achieves a degree hitherto unexampled in the low priced field a standard of smartness, advanced performance, striking color combinations, completeness of equipment and minute attention to style, comfort and luxury.

The new car has a distinctive big car apearance entirely foreign to its price class. This is achieved by adding four inches to the wheel base, bringing the present total to 107 inches.

The frame also has been deepened and strengthened to make a smoother riding, sturdier and better balanced car.

The four inches that have been added to the frame materially increase the beauty, and the effect of bigness, of the finished product.

Stressing the beauty of line are the honeycomb Harrison radiators of deep, slender, graceful design. Their added depth has so raised the front of the car that from the cowl to the base of the new low radiator cap the line is unbroken and nearly level.

Radiator shells are of non-rusting airplane metal; while the thermostat control of the cooling system is an additional feature.

Complementing the extra four inches in wheelbase is increased length in several of the body types. The coach body is five inches longer that a year ago. The sedan likewise has been increased two and three-quarters inches.

Among the many new body refinements is a fully enclosed and indirectly lighted instrument panel, oval in shape, with the speedometer, ammeter and oil guage, in full view for day or night driving.

All passenger models have larger 30 by 4.50 balloon tires and steel disc wheels as standard equipment. Other standard equipment includes stoplight, rear vision mirror, gasoline guage, complete tool set, and theft proof steering and ignition lock. Additional equipment is standard with individual models.

Mechanically the car has been improved to parallel in performance, speed and roadability its new body and advanced body design. It is proved by an improved valve-in-head engine that the road tests developed 34.6 percent more power and approximately five more miles per hour than the previous Chevrolet engine.

TREE TOPS CUTTING GUIDE SAYS EXPERT

"Look up and then down! Let the tops be your guide!" is the message that E. L. Scovell, extension forester of New Jersey is constantly stressing to woodlot owners in all sections of the state.

"Far too often woodlot owners in trying to thin out their young timber growth make the mistake of paying too little attention to the tops of the trees. In so doing they are overlooking the easiest and surest guide," asserts Mr. Scovell.

"The size, shape, and condition of the tops of trees are the best indicators of their relative health and vigor. Trees that have full, vigorous tops which reach up into the sunlight are likely to be the strongest and best trees in the stand. Trees that have thin, small tops which are partially or entirely overshaded by larger trees are likely to be the weaklings of the stand. Therefore, if the woodlot owner first looks up to form an estimate of the tops of the trees and then looks down to note the condition and character of the stems, he can decide most accurately which trees to leave as his timber crop and which trees to weed out. He will be surprised to discover how easy it is to pick out the weaklings and the poorly formed trees and to leave a full crop of healthy, vigorous, and well-formed individuals."

Changes in Size of Paper Money

New Designs Expected to Make Note Raiser's Task More Difficult

The year 1928 will mark the first change in size of paper money since 1861.

For months the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the greatest print shop in the world, will be busy making new and smaller $1 bills so that upon some fixed day next fall they may be issued simultaneously throughout the country and the old ones retired at one swoop, to be redeemed, of course, upon demand. Notes of other denominations will be printed and put in circulation probably in 1929.

The new notes will be 6 5-16 by 2 11-16 inches whereas the notes now in circulation are 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 inches. By the change the Government expects to save $2,000,000 annually. The reduction in size of the bills is expected to increase the capacity of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by 50 per cent because twelve of the smaller notes can be printed at one impression upon the same press which now prints but eight.

Smaller, More Convenient

Through the change in size the bills will be made more convenient to handle and will also be more durable. The new notes, will slip into a bill-fold or pocket, it is claimed without creasing or folding, and for this reason are expected to have a much longer life than those now in use. The life of the average bill now is not more than six or seven months, treasury officials say. Folding is one of the chief items cutting short the life of paper money.

Designs on the bills are also to be standardized. Many designs now appear on the different denominations and the various kinds of notes. Washington's portrait, for example, appears both on the $1 and some $20 bills.

Treasury officials point out that through standardizing the designs the new notes cannot be so easily "raised" to higher denominations by the crooked gentry who make this their business. In addition to standardized designs on the new paper money there will be a relation between the portrait on the face and the engraving on the back, except in the cases of the $1 bill and those above $100.

On the face of the new $1 bill will be the portrait of Washington and on the back will be the word "ONE" in large letters. On the $2 bill will be a portrait of Jefferson with an engraving of Monticello, his home, on the back.

Lincoln's portrait will be on the face of the $5 bill with the Lincoln Memorial for the back. Hamilton's portrait will appear on the face of the $10 bill and the Treasury Building on the back. For the face of of $20 bill Grover Cleveland's portrait has been chosen, with the White House for the back.

Grant's portrait will be on the face of the $50 bill, Benjamin Franklin's on the $100, McKinley's on the $500, Jackson's on the $1,000, Madison's on the $5,000, and Chase's on the $10,000.

All these designs have been approved, although some may be changed later.

No retirement of money-making machinery will be necessitated by the change, it is said.

MOUNT HOLLY CHAMBER ASKS FOR MORE POLICE

The Mount Holly Chomber of Commerce has decided that Mount Holly should have at least two more policemen to take care of the town business and a recommendation along this line is to be filed with the Township Committee. There is a feeling that there are not enough officers to take care of traffic conditions during rush hours and also provide police protection for other parts of the town when it is needed. The question of street signs was taken up at a meeting last week and it was reported that the Township Committee has this under advisement.

CORRECTION

To the Editor:

I read today your paper's report of the fatal crossing accident last week and admire the report for its truth, except the statement where you claim several people soon reached the accident and did not offer any aid.

I heard the crash and was one of the first to reach the accident. There were two or three young men and a woman, driver of a sedan car I believe, who were there when I arrived.

We had known two were hurt, or dead, for we saw these. The third we did not know about for several minutes, as his body was carried beyond the wreck.

I was driving a Ford pickup body car, and offered to place Hill in my car, and rush to the hospital but it seems they wanted the sedan car to do this, and several minutes did pass before he was placed in a car, and taken away.

But don't say no help was offered unless you were there, and saw the work being done.

Had the fire department been called by the ones who called the doctor and ambulance, work would have been done much faster, for a search light was needed badly.

I have several friends who helped and if traffic could have been stopped so that my car could have been placed across street car tracks, letting headlights show upon wreck, faster aid could have been rendered.

The train never blew at that crossing, and was traveling very fast, in fact the brakes were not put on as soon as the train hit the car.

For my service at the scene I went home, and had to have a doctor, so please correct the report in this weeks paper. Obliged.

Ralph A. Fisher.

GOVERNMENT

The governmental machinery—Federal, state and local—in the United States is being given over more and more to bureaus, boards, commissions and what not. Perhaps the growth of industrialism in this country, the great increase in population, and similar changing conditions have made this necessary. But to many people, it seems that the movement has already gone too far.

It is certain, at any rate, that whenever governmental machinery becomes too complicated to be understood by people who have not made it their life study, those people cannot be expected to manifest any intelligent interest in their government. It is equally certain that the movement to place the governmental processes in the hands of bureaus, boards, commissions and the like has robbed popular government of a measure of authority.

The governmental machinery is being cluttered up with a lot of useless parts that do little except to rust out. Any citizen who has ever come in contact with some of these boards, bureaus, or commissions can name a few of these useless parts.

The complicated machine needs to be simplified. Maybe it would be if all who have become enmeshed in the red tape spun out of the machine by bureaucrats were to set up a concerted howl.

SWINDLER'S PROFITS

Nearly $1,700,000,000, the Treasury Department estimates, could be restored to the legitimate purchasing power of the nation each year if malpractitioners were eliminated from business. Almost every honest merchant, whether he be located in the largest city or the smallest town, is affected.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney for New York, says "the staggering cost falls primarily upon business. It becomes part of the general overhead which must be met before profits begin to materialize. And it is not too much to say that hidden in the expense account of every merchant is somewhere the influence of every piece of dishonesty in the community."

One of the agencies combatting the swindler is the National Better Business Bureau. It provides the machinery to protect honest profits and educators, investors who might otherwise be taken in by some clever scheme. Whatever headway it makes toward overcoming the business fraud loss will be applauded by honest merchants, because it means more legitimate business for them.

NEW CALENDAR?

The League of Nations has asked the United States to help an international calendar. A committee of the League of Nations is studying all proposals for reform of the calendar. Under one system proposed, the year would be divided into thirteen months of four weeks each, with an extra day called "Year Day" at the end of the year. In leap years, "Leap Day" would be inserted. The extra month would be called "Sol" and would be inserted between June and July. If the fifteenth day of January fell on a Monday one year it would fall on a Monday every succeeding year. The same day of the week would correspond with the same day of the month in every year.

Calendar reform might simplify bookkeeping. A new calendar might be better all round. But tradition is a mighty thing to overcome and it is likely a new calendar will not be adopted until quite a few of our present leap years have been written into history.

TAXATION

From Washington these days comes much shouting about tax reduction. But no one should be fooled into thinking that the problem of tax reduction will be settled, once and for all, by what is done in Washington, despite all the shouting.

Taxes should be reduced all down the line, for tax reduction is not a problem for Washington alone. It is a problem that requires the best thought and the utmost effort in every state capital, every county courthouse, every city hall, every school district, every governmental unit where bond issues are voted.

And even more than tax reduction is necessary. Inequities and injustices in the present system of rising revenues should be removed. It is everybody's concern that taxes, local and national, should be lowered and made more uniform.

COLORED CIVIC CLUB

The Colored Civic Club of Riverton, staged an informal 'Get Acquainted' Social Tea on Monday evening, January 2 from 5 to 10 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Wallace Ashby. The affair was a large success—about one hundred guests were present.

Several well-known local singers and musicians appeared on the program, among whom we note Alexander Wood Johnson, who had a number of encores for his Hawaiian guitar. Roland Hall, of Moorestown, sang several selections, all of which were heartily applauded. His best song was "Roses of Picardy," which was called for a second time and held the audience spellbound.

The Clef Club Orchestra under the direction of T. Clarence Johnson and accompanied on the piano by Miss E. Silby Davis, rendered classical music.

The club president, L. Roy Williams gave a short talk entitled the "Civic Club and the Science of Sociability." "The seed of sociability," said he, "is already planted—all it needs now is further cultivation. And it is the Civic Club that shall promote this cultivation." Doctor E. Mae McCarroll, of Philadelphia, also gave a few interesting remarks on the good of the organization and the necessity of preventive medicine. She will in the near future give a series of lectures on "Preventive Medicine."

The extemporaneous toasts given by Mrs. Lucy P. H. Poindexter, George Madison, Rev. Seymour H. Barker and others, were thoroughly enjoyed.

But perhaps, the most enjoyable part of the program came about when the "Just Met" quartet staged an impromptu concert, both musical and recitational.

T. Clarence Johnson and Ellis E. Williams gave several instrumental solos. Miss Minnie P. Mansfield gave a humorous lecture on Woman's Rights.

It can be said by all those present, most emphatically, that the affair was a large success. The home was beautifully decorated with holly, laurel and red ribbon.

Many visitors were present and the secretary enrolled thirty new members during the course of the evening.

Among those present were: L. Roy Williams, Amy Williams, Minnie P. Mansfield, John O. Poindexter, Lucy P. H. Poindexter, James O. Jones, Minnie Alston, Charles Williams, Ethel Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hall, Rev. Seymour H. Barker, Ella Holland, Sara Burwell, Maude P. Poindexter Peel W. Poindexter, Joseph H. Davis, Mary E. K. of C. GREAT HOSTS AT KIDDIES' PARTY

A gay throng of happy youngsters as guests of St. Joseph's Council enjoyed the Christmas Party held in the local K. of C. headquarters last Wednesday evening. The entertainment was scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock but by 7.45 every seat was filled with smiling kiddies, while extra seats had to be provided for their elders.

Singing of "America" was the first event of the evenings program and then followed many popular and old time songs. With each song the "young 'un's" lungs seemed to be getting stronger and the song leader had little trouble to keep the air filled with music.

Next on the program was presented a well known slight of hand artist who kept the eyes of the audience wide open as things disappeared and others seemed to come from nowhere during his half hour performance.

Laughter and shrill cries filled the air as the "Punch and Judy" show as presented by Lloyds from Philadelphia was put on. With each act the kiddies became more and more excited and by the time the last act when "Punch's" end comes in the jaws of an "alligator" many of the seats had to be straightened up.

Before quiet could be fully restored numbers on the song sheets were being shouted at the leader and in a singing contest between the children of Riverton against those from Palmyra the latter received the unanimous choice as having the loudest voices.

As the musicians started to play that familiar kiddies song of "Jingle Bells," Santa Claus smilingly entered and received a good hearty round of applause from the little ones. After shaking hands and personal interviews with many of the kiddies, Santa distributed to each child a beautiful bag decorated with a picture of himself and containing toys, fruits, nuts and candy. The committee in charge did not want to see any one disappointed and prepared 300 bags, and by the time the last outstretched hand was filled, 296 had been distributed.

The Knights have received many letters of commendation from travelers who have passed by on the splendid Christmas display and particularly the beautiful tree on the lawn.

High praise was showered on chairman R. J. Woods, and his efficient committee by Grand Knight Sim and the entire membership for the excellent manner in which the entire Christmas activities of St. Joseph's Council was handled.

This was the first function in the hall that called for the use of the newly constructed stage on the main floor. This new addition to the equipment of the K. of C. Home makes it posible to give plays and entertainments in real theatrical style. The Ladies' Auxiliary is responsible for this latest addition and the Knights keen to show their appreciation are planning a real treat for the ladies, which will be presented in the form of "Ladies Night." Special entertaining features are on the partially completed program and the date it to be decided at the next regular meeting of the Council.

Those who assisted R. J. Woods in putting over the Christmas affair were: John Strohlein, Harry Bradshaw, John Hackett, M. J. McDermott, T. A. Eadon, H. C. Sim, George Porter G. Smythe, Joe Landers, A. J. Strohlein and Harry Gottlieb.

FINE COMEDY HEADS CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

This year's Chautauqua program will include two concerts by the Christine Bingham Recital Company, a full afternoon's entertainment by Dorothea Fitch, Entertainer; an inspiring and convincing lecture, "Re-Creation Thru Recreation," by Captain T. Dinsmore Upton; a novel musical entertainment by the Flaming Arrow Tepee Singers; and last but not least a three-act modern comedy "The Patsy," by the author of "Applesauce," last year's Chautauqua success.

CHRISTINE BINGHAM

The Christine Bingham Recital Company consists of Christine Bingham, popular Philadelphia soprano, and Patrick Henry Lynskey, of New York City, tenor. Christine Bingham varies the vocal selections of her program by playing her own violin obbligati.

The Flaming Arrow Tepee Singers consist of full-blooded Pueblo Indians, responding to the Indian names of Eagle Feathers, Blue Cloud and Flaming Arrow, come to this circuit direct from a two months participation, along with other tribes, in the famous Indian religious ceremonial held at The Dells, Wisconsin.

James Burr returned to Swarthmore College after spending the holidays with his father, Paul C. Burr, of Linden avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Y. Burr, of Baltimore, spent the weekend with his family.

VISITING NURSE TELLS PORCH CLUB OF WORK

It was with much interest that the Riverton Porch Club, on Tuesday, January 3, listened to Miss Helen Blair, visiting nurse, talk about her work in this community. Miss Blair gave a practical demonstration of her method of entering a home and preparing for whatever work was found to be done. She gave many interesting details of the work and explained that she and Miss Cook devoted the mornings to actual nursing, reserving the afternoons, as far as possible for welfare work and for school work.

These nurses serve in any home where the services of a graduate nurse are needed. They are doing a splendid work in this community, nd should have the praise and support of every good citizen.

There is no man so friendless as the one who has lost his political pull.

There is nothing in Swans Down but wheat flour which is milled by a special process from selected, soft winter wheat—a variety grown best in the vicinity of the Swans Down Mills.

The delightful delicacy and fluffiness of texture which Swans Down always gives are due to these three things: 1—the kind of soft winter wheat selected; 2—the part of the kernel used—only the most delicate portion is choice enough for Swans Down; 3—the special method of milling.

Swans Down gives perfect results in cakes, pastry and quick breads. Try it today and you'll use it always.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

"Fling wide the portals of your heart,
Make it a temple set apart
From earthly use for Heaven's employ,
Adorned with prayer, and love, and joy.
So shall your Sovereign enter in,
And new and nobler life begin."

This church is cooperating with the other churches of the community in the nine evenings services of Community Evangelism being held in Epworth M. E. Church, January 3rd to January 13th. All are urged to attend as many of these services as possible and hear the messages of the various speakers. "Walt on the Lord, and He shall strengthen thy heart."

In this church the pastor will preach on Sunday morning on, "The Daily Routine."

In the evening the Philathea Class, the largest women's Bible Class in Burlington County, will attend the service as a unit and the pastor will have a special message in honor of this annual occasion.

Next Wednesday, January 11, the Women's Society will hold the monthly meeting in the church—both morning and afternoon sessions.

Church slogan for 1928—"GO FORWARD."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

The spirit of the New Year, which gives us vivacious cheer and more power to perform tasks, can be carried with us throughout the month of January, then into the next month, and so on, until it becomes a very part of us. Such is true optimism! The past is dead; let us bury our gloom, if we have had any. Let us live as if we expected God to do the greatest things for us this year! We do not expect enough. We believe God means 1928 to be a year of great opportunity, great power, and great happiness for us all! Let us claim it as such!

The year 1927 has been a successful one for every organization of our church. Of course, there have been temporary reverses, but ultimate success has eclipsed these. We are sure that more than one person in our church has been impressed with the fact that although problems may seem far beyond our solution—we may not see our way out of difficulties—yet in keeping on with painstaking effort, making the best of the situation in spite of our feelings, we find ourselves in the end far better off than we had ever dreamed possible. We extend hearty congratulations to all officers and committees in the various organizations for the splendid service which they have rendered as leaders and to all individual members for their cooperation in the work.

The residents of the parsonage desire to thank the congregation, the Ladies' Aid Society, and all individual members for the excellent gifts which were received during the Christmas and New Year's season.

At ten o'clock Sunday morning our Sunday School will hold its regular session.

At 11.15 the sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated. Last year there was a campaign to have every member present at the first communion service of the year, and the attendance was gratifying. But let us make it a real every-member Sunday this year. We cannot afford to be absent from the table which the Lord has prepared at so great a cost and to which He is inviting us. The First Lutheran Choir, Lee Mitton, leader, will render special music as well as carry through the full communion service. This feature, we feel, adds much to the solemnity of the occasion.

Luther League at 6.45 p. m. The topic for discussion is "Pensions, A Business Proposition." Stuart Buchholz will lead the devotions and the discussion.

Vesper service with Holy Communion at 7.45 p. m. The choir will render special music, and the pastor will preach on the theme: "The Wellspring of Life."

Regular monthly meeting of the council will be held Monday, Jan. 9, at 8.30 p. m.

Attention is called to the annual congregational meeting, which is set for the third Tuesday of the year. This will fall on January 17th this year.

All are urged to attend the splendid union services which are being held in the M. E. Church every night except Saturdays and Sundays.

Westfield Friends' Meeting
First Day School, 10 a. m.
Meeting for Worship, 11 a. m.

A short girl gets around it by making the stripes on her skirt run in the opposite direction.

DANCE SATURDAY

In order to get back to the regular schedule, now that the holiday dances are over, and avoid conflicting with the Marlton Dance schedule, the Community House Dance Committee announces that there will be another dance at the Community House this Saturday evening, January 7.

An unusually large crowd enjoyed both of the holiday dances, and a profitable number has been attending the dances ever since the new Fall and Winter series went into effect.

Bill Ford's Orchestra of Mount Holly will furnish the music for the enthusiastic crowd that will undoubtedly attend.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th
Rector

The Church, which claims to speak for God, has in many cases failed to produce men and women who act as if they heard God speaking; or who, having heard, can repeat what God has said to them in ways that carry conviction to others.

This first week in the New Year does seem to be a real opportunity to emphasize the truth of the foregoing, and constitutes a challenge to all who call themselves Christians.

Better and bigger business! Yes indeed, and to that let us add as at least of equal importance. Better and bigger Christians!

That as it seems to be is the only hope so far as we can humanly see of a really better world.

On Monday evening the Guild of St. Agnes will hold their monthly meeting in the parish house at 8 p. m. sharp.

There will be a vestry meeting on Tuesday evening at 9 p. m. following the regular weekly meeting of the Girls Friendly Society.

Wednesday, January 19, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary there will be a card party in the parish house at 8 p. m.

The Annual Election of the Girls Friendly Society was held on Tuesday evening and resulted as follows:

Mrs. Benjamin Rielley, president; Mrs. C. A. Hines, vice-president; Miss Edith Wonfor, secretary.

This Society is making very splendid progress and the Associates are doing excellent work. Olga Probsting, Jean Haring, Marjorie Hine and Katherine King were elected as officers for the year. The present staff of associates includes, Mrs. G. A. Wonfor, Mrs. A. H. Keil, Mrs. G. J. McCormack, Mrs. J. S. King, Mrs. H. A. Bracey, Mrs. William Branson, Mrs. C. A. Hines, Mrs. Horace Ross, Mrs. Richard Dallett, Mrs. C. Davison.

There are now over fifty members and probationers and a very interesting and helpful program is under way for the season.

The Confirmation Class in preparation for the Bishop's visit on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There is still time to start as a candidate.

The services for the First Sunday after The Epiphany:

7.30 a. m. Holy Communion.
10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer. Sermon "Abiding in the Fields."
2.30 Sunday School.
4.00 Confirmation Class.
8.00 4th History Sermon. "The Magna Charta."

"There is nothing than can happen to man or woman at once so thrilling and so satisfying as to recognize God."

MRS. ANNA HUGHS

Mrs. Anna, wife of the late William Hughs, died about three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Weeks Hospital. Mrs. Hughs had been injured about a month ago when knocked down by an automobile. First she was taken to the Zurbrugg hospital, but was improving and had recently been removed to the Weeks hospital. On New Year's day Mrs. Hughs seemed in particularly good spirits, but the early part of the afternoon the heart gave out and she grew rapidly worse.

The deceased leaves four sisters, Mrs. Ezra M. Perkins, of Riverton; Mrs. Emma Hubbs, of Palmyra; Mrs. Lydia Severns, of Bridgeboro, and Mrs. Kate Hatcher, of Riverside; also a son Frank.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 at the home of her son Frank Hughs, 120 Cleveland avenue, Riverside. Interment was made at the burying ground, Westfield.

Lesson for January 8

JESUS AND THE SICK

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—He hath done all things well: He maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes Sick People Well.

JUNIOR TOPIC—John Welcomes and Baptizes Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Sympathy and Power.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Make Whole.

The purpose of Mark in this section is to show Jesus Christ the Divine Servant bearing God's message and clothed with the power to save lost souls. Coupled with His superhuman strength is revealed His unwearied sympathy, giving itself out in helpful and saving service.

I. Jesus Teaching With Authority (vv. 21, 22).

1. The place (v. 21).

It was in the synagogue in Capernaum where He with four disciples repaired "straightway" upon His entrance into the village. He availed Himself of the regular channel of instruction. Though many abuses had crept into the synagogue service, He chose to associate the new with the old order.

2. The time (v. 21).

His faithfulness in observing the Sabbath brought Him to the place where the people assembled to worship and to hear the Scriptures expounded. He came not to destroy but to fulfill the law, even the law of the Sabbath.

3. The impression (v. 22).

The people were astonished. Two things about His teaching impressed the hearers.

The substance of His message. The scribes, the professional teachers of the law merely quoted the authorities, but Jesus with first-hand knowledge set forth the truth with the enthusiasm of freshness and personal conviction. This distinction was quickly detected by those who heard Him.

II. Jesus Conquering Demons (vv. 23-28).

1. The outcry of the demon-possessed man (v. 23).

Perhaps he interrupted Jesus while He was teaching. When the power of God is manifested there is bound to be an outcry of the evil spirits.

2. The demon's confession (v. 24).

"Thou art the Holy One of God." The one whose chief business it was to waste and destroy human life was in such miserable state as to desire to have nothing to do with Christ, and was now forced to confess Him as the Holy One.

3. Christ's attitude toward him (v. 25).

He asked and accepted no testimony from Him, but sternly rebuked and cast out the foul spirit. He not only is Himself pure but is able to deliver others from impurity. Christ wants confession only from pure lips.

4. The obedience of the demon (v. 26).

The spirit was reluctant to leave the man and malicious to the end, for he tore the man whom he had to leave. He had to acknowledge his defeat and went out in a howling rage.

5. The impression made upon the people (vv. 27, 28).

The news of Christ's power spread rapidly over Galilee. The people were startled by two things:

(1) The new doctrince which He brought.

(2) His authority over demons.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-In-Law of Fever (vv. 29-31).

This scene lies in the home of one of the disciples. He went home with Simon and Andrew who told Him of the condition of Peter's mother-in-law. He came at once and lifted her up and the fever departed. She immediately ministered to Him.

IV. Jesus Ministering to Many (vv. 32-34).

Though the day was strenuous in its labors, He came unwearied even when the sun had set, to meet the needs of the multitudes who had gathered from all parts of the city. He healed many of their diseases, cast out demons, not allowing them to speak. The demons knew Him, but the poor, blind people knew Him not.

V. Jesus Cleansing a Leper (vv. 35-45).

As Jesus preached in the synagogues of Galilee and cast out demons, His power became known. A leper came to Him saying, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Jesus put forth His hand and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and immediately the leprosy departed and he was cleansed.

Beauty of Bible Thoughts

I am of the opinion that the Bible contains more true sensibility, more exquisite beauty, more pure morality, more important history, and finer strains of poetry and eloquence than can be collected from all other books, in whatever age or language they may be written.—Sir William Jones.

Occupation

Absence of occupation is not rest; a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.—Cowper.

Minister: "Young lady, I hope you dont make a practice of smoking."

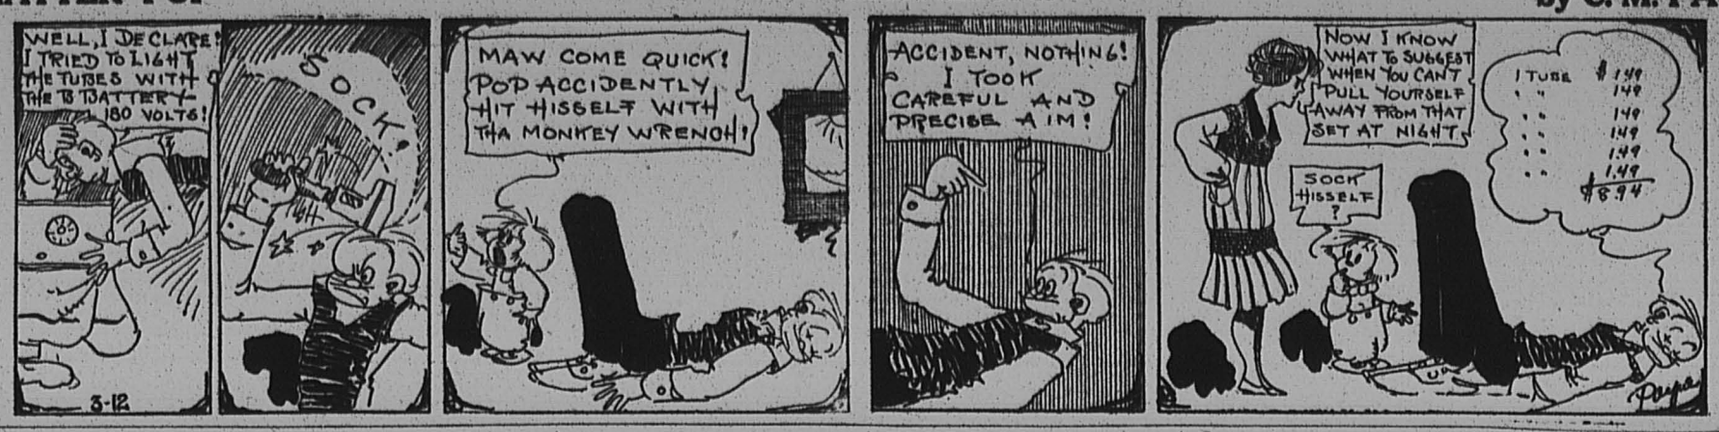

Sweet Young Thing: "Oh no, I'm quite proficient now."

The happiest land is one in which the people aren't sore enough to justify the existence of "great leaders."

Social position is relative. It depends on living in a town where people are less important than yourself.

The various sections of America agree on almost everything except the proper thing to be ashamed of.

STATE HORTICULTURAL MEETING

At the annual election of officers held in the Vernon Room of the Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, the State Horticultural Society elected John H. Hankinson, of Pennington, as president for the coming year, to succeed Charles D. Barton, of Marlton.

Mr. Barton delivered the president's address at the Wednesday evening session. His talk was full of meaning, and clearly indicated the trend of the fruit and vegetables in New Jersey during the next several years.

L. R. Smith, Associate County Agent in Burlington County, addressed the Society on the subject of "Some Effects of Real Estate Development on Commercial Fruit Production." The speaker indicated that there were over 1000 acres of abandoned orchards in Burlington County, and that there were several hundred acres of other orchards that are being operated on an annual lease. Indications were that this condition is likely to increase as a result of building the Palmyra-Tacony bridge and the proposed building of the Burlington-Bristol bridge, which undoubtedly would require many hundreds of acres of additional orchard land for real estate development.

C. B. Davenport, vocational teacher in the Mount Holly High School and director of the Burlington City market, told of the development and amount of produce sold on the Burlington market, at the combined marketing session held Thursday morning.

L. B. Smith Speaks

Loren B. Smith, Entomologist in charge of the U. S. Entomological Laboratory at Moorestown, discussed the ever interesting subject of "Requirements of the Japanese Beetle Quarantine, and Its Relation to Fruit and Vegetable Growers."

Prominent Fruit growers from the county who appeared on the program were Byron T. Roberts, of Marlton, who subject of "Market Reports on Truck Receipts, of Apples and Peaches in New York and Philadelphia," and C. B. Lewis, of Riverton, who is chairman of the special committee having charge of the check-up on the spray residue problems in New Jersey.

Senator Emmor Roberts, of Moorestown, acted as toastmaster at the annual banquet of the Society, which was served at the Haddon Hall on Thursday evening. The principal speaker on this occasion was Dr. Samuel W. Graffin, of the Westside YMCA, New York City, who gave one of his usual stirring addresses entitled "Rye and Roses."

In the exhibit room at Haddon Hall, Burlington County fruit growers took their usual number of prizes in competition with growers from other sections of the state. The first prize for the best 25 apples grown in Burlington County was won by Lester Collins, of Moorestown, with Rome Beauty; A. L. Richie, of Riverton, was awarded second prize for an exhibit of Delicious.

In competing for prizes offered by the Mount Holly National Bank, for the best basket of Stayman apples grown in Burlington County, Lester Collins, of Moorestown, won first prize; Byron T. Roberts, of Marlton, second; Bordentown Industrial School, third, and Maurice Conrow, of Riverton, fourth.

A. J. Roberts Winner

For the best basket of Rome Beauty apples, prizes for which were offered by the Moorestown Trust Company, were won by A. J. Roberts, of Moorestown, first; Lester Collins, of Moorestown, second; Byron Roberts, of Marlton, third, and Howard Harris of Riverside, fourth. The Burlington County Board of Agriculture offered prizes for the best basket of Delicious apples grown in the county. These prizes were won by A. L. Richie, of Riverton, first, and Byron Roberts, of Marlton, second.

The Bordentown Industrial School in its initial effort at exhibiting fruit at Atlantic City, met with unusual success in the number of prizes they were able to capture. Credit for the showing they made is due to B. F. Bullock, vocational agricultural teacher at that institution. Fruit exhibited by him in the name of the institution won third prize for the best four single layer trays of Grimes, and also third prize for the best four single layer trays of Paragon. In addition, their name appears rather frequently as prize winners in other classes.

A. J. Roberts, of Moorestown, won first prize for the best fancy basket of Rome Beauty apples grown anywhere in the state, and the Bordentown Industrial School won third for a similar basket of Grimes. Howard Harris, of Riverside, won third prize on a fancy basket of Winesaps, and Preston Roberts, of Marlton, won second prize on a fancy basket of Delicious.

Preston Roberts Second

In the plate displays Burlington County winners were as follows: Preston Roberts, second on Golden Delicious and third on York; Bordentown Industrial School, first on Jonathan and second on Grimes; Lester Collins, second on Paragon, fourth on Stark, second on Winesap, fourth on Grimes, Fourth on Delicious, first on Baldwin, first on York, and fourth on Rome; A. L. Richie, third on Delicious; Maurice Conrow, second on Baldwin; Byron Roberts, second on Rome.

In Group B and C of the plate classes, Lester Collins won first prize on Lobo, first on Ben Davis and first on Rainier; Maurice Conrow won first on Smokehouse and third on Northern Spy; Howard Harris won third on Winter Banana.

In the amateur exhibitor class, the Bordentown Industrial School succeeded in tying for first prize, which also carried with it the president's award which is annually awarded to the amateur or new exhibitor winning the most first prizes in the amateur class.

The exhibit committee finally awarded the president's trophy to an exhibitor from North Jersey because of his larger number of second placings. In this class the Bordentown Industrial School won first prize with Jonathan, for the best standard box of any variety. They won first prize for the best plate of Grimes, first on Jonathan, first on Paragon and first on Staymen.

Burlington County produces some large fruit in addition to high quality fruit, as indicated by the fact that the prizes for the largest Rome Beauty apple went to A. J. Roberts, first; Byron T. Roberts, second; while the prize for the largest Stayman apple went to Maurice Conrow. A. J. Roberts further won the first prize for the largest and best five specimens of Rome Beauty.

Basket Packing Contest

In a contest sponsored by the Hamper and Basket Manufacturing Company, of Bridgeton, manufacturers of the E-Z Pak tub bushel, A. J. Roberts won second prize, and Robert Haines, 3d, manager for Lester Collins, won third prize.

The rules of the contest were to the effect that the contestant had to grow his own fruit, and then was allowed 15 minutes to prepare his package and to pack it. Two points were deducted from the final score for each minute that any contestant exceeded the allowed time for packing. After the fruit was packed, the containers were loaded on the truck and transported for 30 miles over rough roads adjacent to Atlantic City, and were then brought back to the exhibit room and judged.

In the vegetable show, Burlington County was again able to put on a creditable exhibit. Moorestown Grange, which entered an exhibit of 20 boxes of vegetables for the first time, succeeded in taking first prize. The exhibit entered by the Burlington County Board of Agriculture won second prize, the third prize being awarded to the Cumberland County exhibit.

Joseph Tudor, of Burlington, a member of one of the junior sweet potato clubs in the county, entered four trays of sweet potatoes in the amateur class, and succeeded in taking second prize, winning over a number of entries made by adults in some of the South Jersey Counties.

In the class provided for Burlington County sweet potato club members, Joseph Tudor won first prize for the best single tray of Yellow Jerseys, with Walter Smith, of Beverly, second and William Hunter, of Beverly, third. For the best two trays of Yellow Jerseys, Walter Smith won first and Joseph Tudor, second. For the best single tray of Red Jersey sweet potatoes, Joseph Tudor won first, while the first prize for the best two trays of Red Jerseys also went to him.

N. J. SOILS GROW POORER PLANT-FOOD

One thousand tons of nitrogen and almost 1,000 tons of potash are annually removed from the soils of each of two counties in New Jersey, studies by the State Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick show. In the two counties, Middlesex and Mercer, the principal crops take part of the plant-food elements and drainage waters and surface run-off the rest.

To offset this outgo only 700 tons of nitrogen and 750 tons of potash are put on the farm lands in the form of manures and fertilizers. This, it is pointed out, leaves a net yearly loss of 300 tons of nitrogen and 250 tons of potash in each county.

Some farmers have already taken measures to conserve the plant-foods in their soil. Most promising is the use of cover crops to prevent leaching and washing during periods between the growing of other crops. Legumes such as the clovers, vetch, and soybeans are finding increasing favor as cover crops because of their ability to add nitrogen to the soil as well as to prevent excessive losses through washing and draining.

Additions of stable manure and chemical fertilizers constitute the other means used to offset the losses from the soils of some farms. Wider use of such practices among farmers will be necessary to prevent evenutal impoverishment of the counties' agricultural lands.

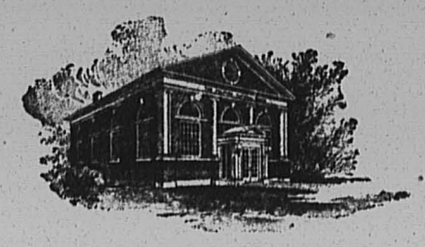

MOORESTOWN MAN OLYMPIC CHAIRMAN

Hans Froelicher, Jr., of Moorestown, has been appointed chairman of the Burlington County American Olympic Fund Committee by Governor A. Harry Moore and is preparing a county-wide committee which will be announced shortly.

Mr. Froelicher asks everyone interested in sports to support the committee in order that Burlington county, long famous for its athletes, may make a creditable contribution to the Olympic fund.

It will be remembered that a Burlington county boy, J. Alfred LeConey, of Moorestown, was one of the outstanding members of the last and championship American Olympic team.

John J. Flaherty, of Newark, is chairman of the State Olympic Fund Committee.

WORST OF ALL CRIMES

THE MICROSCOPE

PAGAN RELIGIONS

THE KING'S PRAYER BOOK

California and the whole country are shocked by a dreadful kidnaping and murder in Los Angeles. The unhappy father, obeying the orders of the kidnapper, handed him $1,500 in gold certificates, and in return received part of the body of his twelve-year-old daughter, dreadfully mutiliated.

The worst of crimes is kidnapping, since it inflicts upon fathers and mothers torments most horrible. The crime should be punished with the utmost severity, and when guilt is certain with no delay.

Dr. William J. Mayo, one of the famous brothers, says science learns more about diseases from the microscope than in any other way. Man's brain is a "visual organ," and must see, to know. The introduction of the microscope by the Jansses, late in the sixteenth century, has done more to advance learning than any other agent, says Dr. Mayo.

Real learning owes more to Galileo's introduction of the telescope, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, than to the microscope. Seeing the germs that cause disease is important, but less so than seeing distant suns and nebulae. Perhaps, as the great German scientist Hackel suggested, men of the future will train one eye for telescopic, and the other for microscopic work, the two eyes combined dealing with the real world about us.

Earthquake in Berma frightened inhabitants. A loud roar, lasting ten seconds, accompanied the shaking. Gautamas, finest temple at Rangoon, was badly damaged, but that will not shake faith in Buddhism.

That is the convenient thing about pagan religions. When anything goes wrong the pagan priests tell the faithful, "It's your fault. Your donations have been inadequate." Nothing is ever wrong with the pagan god, supposed to control earthquakes, or at least protect his own temples. Even fundamentalist Christian churches put lighting rods on their steeples, which seems strange.

Judge Hardy, of the Superior Court in San Francisco says crime could be abolished if mothers would teach their children, in pre-school days, obedience, truthfulness, honesty and the Golden Rule. That is just what mothers have been teaching their children for 500,000 years, according to the light of their period, and they have achieved wonders already.

Intelligent Mr. Tex Rickard says Jack Dempsey will fight Mr. Tunney again next summer. Certainly, and each of the many following summers until death do them part, of the crop of $40 seat simpletons lasts.

A cruel government plans to tax each $40 seat $10, but that can be made up by the speculator's prices. Mr. Rickard's good fortune is due partly to the fact that men dull enough to enjoy prize fights are too dull to know when they are being "faked."

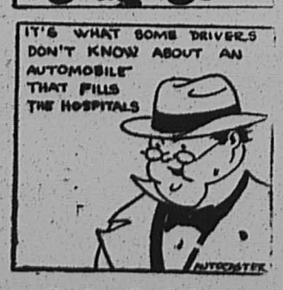

It is believed in the West, that the Tri-State Colorado River Commission, representing California, Arizona and Nevada, will reach an agreement to start work on the Boulder Dam project. Whatever helps one State helps the whole country. Arizona will gain by allowing California to use water and power now going to waste.

The British House of Lords has approved the new and changed readings in the Church of England prayer book, but it has been disapproved by the House of Commons. King George is interested because his oath requires him to stick to the book.

Some low church Britishers complain that the new book is not as strictly "Protestant" as the last. The opinion of the only authority that really counts can unfortunately not be obtained.

Diplomatic circles in Pekin are shocked by a shipment from Turkey to Pekin's "Anti-Opium Monopoly Bureau." The shipment was 52,000 pounds of Turkish opium. That reminds you of our own alcohol proposition, in spots. One New York cabaret keeper, asked if prohibition agents bothered him, replied, "Yes, I had to give one of them $200 just an hour ago."

"Do you travel much in that old flivver of yours?"

"Goodness! Have you really gone from Maine to California in that boat?"

"Oh, no. I mean I coast down one hill and then tow it up another one and then coast again."

"No, expensive."

"So you want to marry my daughter?"

"Yes."

"Do you think you can divorce her in the manner to which she has become accustomed?"

She was only a dairyman's daughter, but she knew her butter and egg men.

Angry Parent: "My daughter doesn't want to be tied to an idiot all her life."

Suitor: "Yes, sir, that's why I want to take her off your hands."

"I just loaned that singer ten dollars."

"I see—must be a tenner."

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

WINTER WARNINGS

At this season of the year, foods improperly stored, vegetables left in corners of cellars, open milk containers and such like, may besome disease carriers unsuspected. In warm weather decomposition of animal or vegetable foods liberates a warning odor or appearance or flavor, before much harm is done; in winter it is different; stale vegetables, "specked" fruits from stores, and other impurities do not make their imperfections known so quickly. It behooves our citizens and housekeepers to look well to the sanitation of homes, from every angle, and to enforce the strictest cleanliness of premises occupied, as well as of foods and water consumed.

Cold weather is preservative to many of the most dangerous bacteria; it is not known just how long typhoid and para-typhoid germs will live and remain virulent in cold, but it is a long time. Once within the human system, they develop rapidly into the very serious, winter-time diseases named for them. It is of the utmost importance that your ice-box be watched; it is not always sanitary because you notice no impure odor from the jar of cream that spilled last week, and left a greasy smear on two or three of the shelves for several days; it looks and tastes as fresh as it did then—but some of the whipped cream or minced ham overflowed into it in some way—you may have a pretty fair culture of mixed bacteria that live at low temperatures.

We should be more careful in winter than in summer, to have pure food and water. Inspections of city water should be doubled, by the most vigilant, capable officials. Dairymen who peddle milk in bottles—you have a right to demand cleanliness. Winter epidemics are among the most fatal known. Be vigilant and save trouble.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

LIFE AFTER DEATH

A gentleman writes me a letter, from which quotations are as follows:

"The other day my wife died. She was 39 years old. She was a martyr to her duties and to her children.

"After 19 years of marriage and hard work this wonderful wife and wonderful mother, who never complained, was taken from us.

"Now is the time when she could have taken life more easy and could have enjoyed the growing up of her children while preparing herself for old age.

In two days she is gone. My duty toward the children will keep me going and going strong, but I feel the need of something that shall keep me going on myself.

"I would like to know if there is a season for such happenings and furthermore that the deceased one is happy in another life. Please hear the cry of a spiritual man left in the middle of life (I am not yet 49), deprived of the only one faithful companion and with nine children, from 18 to two and one-half years. I have a feeling that no other woman can ever enter my life.

"I need a number of thoughts that shall satisfy me mentally and emotionally that everything is for the best and some certainty as to the life after death."

There is no certainty of the life after death. That is a matter that must be taken on faith and hope.

Of it we have a reasonable hope.

Those who live the higher life, that is above the animal, all have a feeling of another life.

While the Scriptures do not positively teach another life they assume it, as Christ says," If it were not so I would have told you."

Honor, patriotism, self-sacrifice and devotion reach out into another life. In this life they are often thwarted.

What the Almighty's reasons were for taking this mother we cannot say. No one knows. But the best plan from any point of view is to go on assuming that He had a good reason. Nothing can be gained by giving up.

If we believe in the high purposes and devoted life of the deceased we shall ourselves participate in them.

If there is another life and the deceased is cognizant of our doings here, she cannot but be gratified to know that we are living up to our ideals.

The memory of this mother has faded into a memory, but that memory will continue to inspire and bless her children and her husband.

JANUARY INVENTORY BY OVER 1000 FARMERS

Last year, according to the records of the extension specialist in agricultural economics at the state college of agriculture, more than 1,000 farmers in the state made inventories of their real estate, equipment, livestock, and supplies. They found out the estimated sale value of everything they had on the farm; what was in need of repairs and replacements; what they could sell and what they had to buy; how far they were ahead of or behind the previous year, as determined by the previous year's inventory; and how much they were worth. They also had a valuable itemized list of personal property with sale values in case of fire.

During the summer the barn of one of these farmers in Burlington County was struck by lightning and it was burned to the ground with all its contents.

"I have an inventory of machinery and supplies in that barn taken last January and also a list of baskets and other supplies bought and stored in the barn since then," the farmer told the insurance adjusters.

A copy of the inventory and statements was furnished to the adjusters, and the insurance was quickly and satisfactorily settled.

An inventory helps not only in case of fire but it shows the farmer what he is worth. It gives him a chance to draw up a credit statement, which is a picture of his financial condition.

Taking inventory, however, means more than listing possessions and their values. The farmer who goes about taking his annual inventory systematically can afford to inspect the tractor, the plows, and other equipment and make a memorandum of necessary repair parts, overhauling, and painting for the tools and machines. He can also jot down what equipment and supplies should be bought.

January is a good month for most New Jersey farmers to take inventory. County agents have inventory books at their offices and will be glad to furnish their farmers with them.

Ine: "Thish punsh ish getting awful queer."

Briated: "Well, why don't you stop dipping your cup into the gold fish bowl."

All the world loves to laugh with or at a lover.

HARNESSING CONOWINGO

One of the Nation's greatest waterpowers is being put into harness and soon the great Conowingo dam across the Susquehanna River, twenty-five miles from Baltimore and sixty-five from Washington, will be furnishing hydro-electric power to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other communities of Maryland and Pennsylvania. So much has been written about Niagara Falls and Muscle Shoals that most persons do not realize how important Conowingo is in hydro-electric development. At the Federal Power Commission in Washington they will tell you that the installed capacity of Niagara Falls is 562,550 horsepower and that Muscle Shoals is 610,000 horsepower. Conowingo will have 594,000 horsepower, so that so far as the figures go the new development is greater than Niagara and second only to Muscle Shoals. As a matter of fact storage, rainfalls and reservoirs affect and control waterpower, and produce wide fluctuations. By such processes Niagara expands at times so that it produces more power than either of its two competitors. In the popular mind "Where wild Oswego spreads her swamps around, and Niagara stuns with thundering sound," as Goldsmith described it, there is more than mere magnificence in power development.

Ever since automobiles came into use the highway from Washington and Baltimore to Wilmington, Philadelphia and New York has been popularized by the scenic Conowingo route. Within a half dozen years a shorter route has been installed, but nevertheless the road by Conowingo has sustained its popularity. The great engineering project in connection with the building of the new giant power project has drawn thousands of tourists between the North and South over the Conowingo route, and they have not been disappointed with what they saw. Not only has the dam towered high between the walls of low mountains on opposite sides of the Susquehanna River, but the Baltimore and Ohio tracks have been elevated so that they now run along the mountain side instead of skirting the river bank. The highway itself has just been changed from its old course across the Conowingo Bridge and it now crosses over the top of the new power dam.

Farewell, Old Bridge

Nearly a mile above the new dam the historic Conowingo Bridge spanned the broad waters of the Susquehanna. For the purposes of the power development a great reservoir of water is being created, and as the gorge is filling the space recently occupied by the bridge it will soon be entirely beneath the water level. It will take several months to fill this great reservoir that will nestle between nature-banked walls. A small village had to be moved from one end of the Conowingo Bridge, and a number of houses were torn down on the other approach. Those who traveled across the bridge will see it no more! The process of removing the bridge was most interesting, and it is regarded as an extra-ordinary piece of explosives engineering work by the experts of the explosives department of the du Pont organization who worked in conjunction with Army Engineers. The bridge contained seven 150-foot steel spans. Four hundred and fifty pounds of 100 per cent du Pont blasting or nitro-gelatin dynamite, the most powerful known of all explosives, were used to accomplish the feat and the old Conowingo Bridge was dropped from its piers when the steel spans were cut through as clean as though they had been severed with a fine instrument.

No holes were bored into the steel super-structure of the bridge. Instead, the flexible nitro-gelatin literally wrapped around the end posts, the eye-bars and the criss-cross upper parts, and the lower portions of the bridge. The explosives covered the different spans of the bridge. The experts began their work by dropping one span with one shot. Then they dropped two spans at a time, so that three shots cleared away the entire upper structure of the bridge. The remains dropped exactly in the spot in the River where the explosive experts intended that they should fall. Thus a job was completed in a few minutes that would have required weeks of work to perform under the old-time methods when mechanics and laborers used to tear down bridges.

In a year from now the great Conowingo project, backed by a wonderful reservoir resembling a lake, will be performing its labors in behalf of industry and humanity, and it will at the same time present an appearance that will doubtless excell in beauty the former glories of the region which thrilled the imagination of thousands of motorists who traveled by way of Conowingo. Between the mountain sides of the Susquehanna "those white-robed sisters will ever stand, Utility and Beauty, hand in hand."

Education seems to be less wonderful to a boy whose educated dad can't help in the eighth grade.

Johnson Demands Camden Showdown

"Is Parks Board Tool of Politics?" Moorestown Man Asks Wallworth

Eldridge R. Johnson, in a letter to former Senator Joseph F. Wallworth, today expressed the fear that the Camden County Park Commission was becoming the tool of politicians.

Tired of equivocation, the Moorestown man called upon Wallworth, as chairman of the park board, for a definite "showdown" on his offer to pay the salary of Charles W. Leavitt, as consulting engineer of the commission.

"I took your statement that Leavitt was dismissed purely for economic reasons at par," Johnson writes in part, "but I am beginning to suspect that you are being coerced in the matter by politicians.... A story has reached me that a certain so-called Republican leader has offered to impose his dead body between Mr. Leavitt and the park enterprise. There is no more certain way to obstruct the completion of Camden's parks and when the people of Camden find out who this man is, he will be 'dead' politically in short order."

Mr. Johnson's letter follows:

"I have your communication of December 22 concerning the matter of continuing Mr. Charles W. Leavitt, of Charles W. Leavitt and Sons, as consulting engineer of the Camden County Park Commission."

"I do not believe that the Camden County Park Association will employ an engineer, although I hope that their rules for membership will permit Mr. Leavitt to become a member, as I have no doubt but that he could give the association much valuable advice and information.

"The purpose of the new park association, as I understand it at present, is to awaken and maintain public opinion in support of the new parking system. My effort to have Mr. Leavitt retained as consulting engineer is not based on a desire to do Mr. Leavitt a favor, but rather to permit Camden to realize on its investment in Mr. Leavitt's education in the matter of the parking system, which has already cost a considerable sum of money. Mr. Leavitt will lose but little by his dismissal as he has already been paid the major portion of his fee, but, unless he is allowed to continue and finish his work, the parkway system is bound to suffer; and a new man coming into the unfinished project will have to be re-educated and that, of course, will cost very much more than the sum that will be paid to Mr. Leavitt for the completion of his work.

"Leaving out all question of courtesy and fair treatment," his letter continues, "I took your statement that Leavitt was dismissed purely for economical reasons at par, and I thought I could perform a public favor by making the city or the county a yearly contribution of a sum sufficient to enable them to retain Mr. Leavitt's services; but I am beginning to suspect that you are being coerced in the matter by politicians.

"A story has reached me that a so-called Republican leader has offered to impose his dead body between Mr. Leavitt and the park enterprise. Well, he is working on the right lines; there is no more certain way to commit political suicide than to obstruct the completion of the Camden parks, and when the people of Camden find out who this man is he will be "dead," politically, in short order.

"The Camden County Park Commisson should never have been allowed to come under the control of the political element. That is the old-fashioned way of doing things. All progressive cities now maintain their park commissions, and everything else possible, independent of political organizations, which are generally composed of stupid, short-sighted men who do not have the true interests of the city at heart, but who organize themselves into a gang for personal gain and march under the banner of whichever party happens to be in power.

"Do I understand by your letter of the twenty-second that the matter of continuing Mr. Charles W. Leavitt as consulting engineer to the Camden County Park Commission is closed, and that you refuse to accept my offer, in behalf of the Camden County Park Association, to guarantee Mr. Leavitt's salary for the next three years? If so, will you please notify me plainly, without equivocation or the intimation that you do no understand my offer?

"Yours very truly,
ELDRIDGE R. JOHNSON."

PHS Five Beaten in Four Contests

Everybody Enjoys New England Tour, Except as to Scores

After giving the North Adams, Massachusetts High School, one of its best contests this season in its first game, Palmyra High School, which was on a tour of the New England States last week, dropped three more floor games in a row. The Adams' game score was 26 to 23 in favor of the home team.

Captain "Jack" Eisley, of Palmyra, was very unfortunate in being injured in the first game. Nevertheless he continued to participate in the other contests. Eisley's injury proved to be the undoing of Palmyra in its initial appearance.

In their second game, Palmyra ran into a snag when they met the crack Northampton quintet, losing 51 to 24. They were outclassed in this game in all departments of the till. "Spike" Hennessey, Palmyra's lanky center, had plenty of trouble to outjump Miller, Northampton's tall center who is six feet seven inches in height. Miller score 18 points and Cully 16 for the winners. Eisley caged five double-deckers and one foul for a total of 11 markers in this game.

The next contest played at North Adams was with the Drury High School. Although Palmyra led at the end of the first half, 11 to 10, the "Red and White" squad dropped a thrilling contest, final count, Drury 22; Palmyra 16. Eisley made three of Palmyra's six field goals and one foul for seven points. Branson was next with four. Cliff West played a great game at guard in this fray.

In the last game played with the "Paper City" team at Holyoke Saturday night, Palmyra was again completely outclassed and beaten by a 75 to 22 score. Holyoke held the Western Massachusetts championship for 1926-27 with three candidates on the all-state five. Eisley and Branson were again the best scorers for Palmyra. According to players and in the estimation of Coach Dimond, Palmyra should have won two of the four games, namely the Adams contest and the Drury fray.

All of the players enjoyed the trip. They visited the museum at Springfield, went swimming in an indoor tank, were tendered a dance after one of the games and had a general good time.

The trip was made in two automobiles and with the exception of a near accident on the Mohawk Trail, the tour was much enjoyed.

That business concerns of all kind, large and small, distributors, wholesalers and retailers, should reach out and tell their story to customers and prospective customers through the advertising columns of the newspapers!

That the way to reach the largest number of people in the shortest space of time is by newspaper advertising!

That newspapers go into every home and place of business, delivering their messages at the right time and producing highly gratifying results.

That newspaper advertising gives sufficient service and no business concern can do much business without this service.

That it is always most profitable to use tried and thoroughly proven methods of getting business. Newspaper advertising has proven itself!

Newspaper advertising keeps a business in touch with all the people all the time and helps to sell just what you want to sell. It not only helps to hold old customers, but creates new ones.

Mayor's Inaugural

Following the nominations Mayor Rogers made a brief address in which he expressed his appreciation of the honor of being elected mayor of Riverton and regretted that there should have been a difference of opinion on some of the appointments he had offered for the consideration of council. He said that notwithstanding this difference of opinion, he looked forward to the cooperation of the members of that body, realizing that only by cooperation could the work of the borough be carried forward. He said he hoped the committees would function as comimttees and not leave all the work up to the chairmen.

The new mayor further said that Riverton was a residential town and he thought the matter of zoning should be given consideration. He said that he had heard the subject of better streets discussed from time to time, and that several towns had been cited as having the kind of street paving that should be laid in Riverton. He pointed out that in many if not all the places named the streets had been improved by assessing the cost directly against the abutting property, whereas in Riverton it had been the custom to pay for this work out of general taxation. The people in the town, he said, seemed to want further improvement to the streets, and the highway committee should give this matter consideration.

Referring to the police department the mayor said he thought the town required three officers, and recommended that the committee take steps to secure an additional officer.

Continuing, Mr. Rogers said that improvements were being looked forward to, and this would mean larger budgets, which might affect the tax rate, but that if the citizens of Riverton wanted their town to keep abreast of the times they would have to provide the necessary funds.

Williams for Improvements

Councilman Williams expressed his complete accord with the sentiments voiced by the mayor. He said that good roads were absolutely essential to any town that wanted to progress. Changed traffic conditions had not only effected road requirements, but lighting needs as well. He said that the gas lamps which had replaced the old oil lamps which were thought to be sufficient in the horse and buggy days, did not altogether meet the needs of the Riverton of today. Some of these gas lamps, he said, should be moved, and others should be replaced by arc lights.

Mr. Williams also agreed with the mayor as to the necessity for three officers. He said that while we have largely the same condition to mee there as confront the police departments in cities, we have a much larger territory to cover per officer.

Among those who witnessed the organization of council were Former Mayor Killam E. Bennett, ex-Mayor Fred P. Hemphill, Arthur Coe, J. Carl DeLaCour, John G. Seckel, George D. Steedle, Charles C. Miller, James S. Coale, Walter Rogers, ex-Councilman G. Rex Showell, John Carhart, Herbert Evans, the retiring collector and treasurer, Walter Armstrong, J. Beck Tyler, Jacob Strohlein, Frank Goodwin and James Goodwin.

How Shall You Invest January Funds?

At Present Prices, Most Stocks and Bonds Net Too Low a Yield, Without Insuring Safety

CAUTION IS URGED IN MAKING COMMITMENTS

BIG "melon" cuts and regular quarterly dividends will turn an enormous supply of funds into investors' hands, which must find its way into profitable channels. How shall you invest your share?

Financial advisers are sounding a warning note of caution to investors because the prices of most stocks and bonds are too high and at present levels, the return is inadequate. Then, too, there is no assurance of safety to compensate for the low yield.

Especially at this time, Mortgage Bonds of the West Jersey Bond and Mortgage Investment Company present unusually attractive possibilities.

5½% REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE BONDS

Our Special "Investment-Savings Plan" permits the small investor to buy "West Jersey 5½'s" at $5.00 per month per unit.

With an assured yield of 5½% to their maturities, with safety of both principal and interest guaranteed, "West Jersey 5½'s" should be generously bought for safety and income as well as to afford a good balance to your list.

"NEVER A DOLLAR LOST TO ANY INVESTOR", because these bonds are issued against first mortgages, upon a carefully diversified list of improved G-R-O-U-P real estate (not individual property). These mortgages seldom reach the 60% of appraisal value of property allowed. There is no risk; no fluctuation; sufficient equity is always behind these bonds.

They are legal for investment of trust funds and by insurance companies and national banks.

PALMYRA SCHOOL BOARD BOOSTS HIGH SCHOOL RATE

Price Advanced to $100, Becoming Effective September 1928; Big Water Bill

ARCHITECTS PRESENT NEW SCHOOL PLANS

The Riverton Board of Education received two jolts at its meeting Tuesday night.

One was a notice from the Palmyra Board that the tuition for high school pupils had been raised from $90 to $100, and the other was a bill of $37.07 from the Water Company for one month's use of water. These bills have been running around $5 to $6 a month, according to District Clerk Hemphill, and payment was withheld until the matter could be investigated.

President Murray C. Boyer appointed S. L. Warren, Francis B. Elwell and Ross E. Mattis on the budget committee with a request that they have their report ready to be considered at an adjourned meeting of the board to be held Friday evening, January 27.

The annual school meeting will be held February 14, at which time members of the school board will be elected. The term of Mrs. C. P. Mayfield, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. E. C. Sullivan, will expire. The other members whose terms expire are Harry E. Davis and Fred P. Hemphill.

Candidates to fill these offices must file their petitions with the district clerk five days before the annual election on February 14.

A resolution was passed authorizing the new custodian of school funds, C. Kenneth Davis, to deposit school funds in the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company.

Miss Chew's Report

Miss Chew, supervising principal, reported that final arrangements had been made with the local bank to install a thrift system in the school, and that it would probably be started during the present month.

Number enrolled at end of month:
Boys, 193
Girls, 158
Totals 351
Percentage of attendance:
Boys 94.6
Girls 94.3
Totals 94.4

The highest percentage of attendance was in the Fourth Grade, 98.4%, and next highest, 97.4% in the Sixth A Grade.

There was no tardiness in Grades 6A, 6B, 7A and 8.

Health conditions were generally good throughout the month.

Three students of the Glassboro Normal School are in training for their second quarter with Miss Paulding, Mrs. Murgatroyd and Mrs. Bush. These teachers attended a conference at the Normal School on December 16.

Christmas work was undertaken as usual. Seven dozen stockings were made and filled for the New Lisbon Colony. Christmas seals to the amount of $19.37 were sold to the children. Thirty-eight baskets were filled for the Home Service Committee.

Entertainment was given by the children for the Parent Teachers parties, while the mothers furnished a beautiful Christmas tree and gave each child a box of pop-corn.

The manual training shop gave opportunity to many boys to make their own Christmas gifts, as did also the sewing classes.

At the beginning of the year in order to meet the needs of the largest grade enrollment, the sixth grade was divided into two sections. This proved to be an excellent thing for the children, giving us an opportunity to help those who were not getting desired results. At that time there were enrolled in the 6th Grade, 49. Five children in that grade have moved from the borough, giving a present enrollment of 44.

In the 5th Grade the enrollment is about the same as in September, 36, with an enrollment of 29 boys. The spread of ages, as shown by the Age-Grade table taken in October is from 9 years-15 years in the 5th Grade and from 10 years-15 years in the 6th grade.

It would be of advantage to both grades to make a readjustment of pupils on the basis of ability and achievement, and use one of the present Sixth Grade rooms for a combination grade, with a small enrollment, in order to take care of pupils who need special attention at this time. The mid-year is the best time for all concerned for changes within the grades, so we should be ready to start on a new schedule, by February 1st.

Hannah H. Chew,
Supervising Principle.

The following bills were ordered paid:

MISS CHEW TO SPEAK AT PORCH CLUB

Miss Hannah H. Chew will speak at the Porch Club on Tuesday, January 17 at three p. m., her subject being "Public Instruction."

INSTITUTE

Parent Teacher Publicity is Subject For Sectional Meetings

Mrs. Walter L. Bowen, of Riverton, State Publicity Chairman for the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, has arranged for a one-day institute in three sections of the State. Mrs. Laura Underhill Kohn, of Peekskill, N. Y., Manager of the National Congress Publicity Bureau, will conduct the institutes.

Mrs. Kohn is a woman of rare ability and has placed the publicity work of the National Congress on a business basis, and by so doing has increased the efficiency of the state chairmen of this department, who in turn have advanced the work among the county and local publicity workers in the state.

Mrs. Kohn is now conducting a Publicity Correspondence Course, in which 164 have registered and three lessons have already been received and answered. A rating is given each individual lesson, and a final rating will be given at the end of the course of ten lessons.

The institute for the Southern District will be held January 24 at Vineland, in the Congregational Church.

Riverton A. A. Plans Big Season

R. H. Stackhouse Elected President at Annual Meeting, January 6

The annual meeting of the Riverton Athletic Association was held in William B. Lynch's office on Friday evening, January 6, 1928.

The following were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, R. H. Stackhouse; Vice-president, Walter Miller; Secretary, Albert C. Farrow; Treasurer, Walter C. Wright.

Directors: chairman, William B. Lynch; Matthew Southelmer, Ezra Carhart, Herbert Evans, Hudson Hullings, Irving S. Williams, Edward R. Williams, Dr. J. Rowland Dey.

The following appointments were made: Finance Committee, Walter C. Miller, chairman; Irving S. Williams, Dr. J. Rowland Dey; property committee, Walter G. Miller; baseball committee, George H. Zeisner, manager, William B. Lynch; assistant manager, Albert C. Farrow; business manager, Edward R. Williams, coach; club physician, Dr. J. Rowland Dey.

In the discussion that followed, the association started plans to make 1928 a year to be long remembered on the local diamond.

Riverton played twenty-three games of baseball last season, winning seventeen and losing six.

Some of the best teams from the neighboring towns were played and defeated by our club. We want to do even better this year. We are going to ask the support of every sporting devotee for this coming season.

We expect to have some of the same men on the team this year who were with us last season, with probably a new face here and there wherever it is found advisable.

Our genial president has instructed the finance committee to prepare a budget for the coming season and to lay plans for financing.

Press Committee.

PLANS TO STOP RACING OF BUSES

Riverton's Director of Public Safety May Ask Empowering Ordinance by Council

Director of Public Safety Williams is considering some plan to break up the speeding of buses through Riverton.

Mr. Williams says that in some towns they have ordinances which prohibit a bus from passing another bus unless it is standing to take on or discharge passengers. This, it is pointed out, prevents the racing from one stop to another and cutting out, in an effort to "beat the other fellow to it."

The action of the director is not being taken any too soon. The rate at which these huge vehicles are hurled through the streets of the borough can only result in one thing, sooner or later, unless they are curbed—and that is a serious accident, such as have been happening in many neighboring towns.

ROB OFFICE

Thieves Break Into Safe of Joseph T. Evans

Sometime during the early hours Sunday morning burglars forced an entrance into the office of Joseph T. Evans, coal and lumber dealer, on Main street, Riverton, and got away with a small sum of money.

The robbers forced their way in through a cellar window in the driveway and then up into the office. The safe was not locked. When the burglars left they took a money box from a drawer which they had pried open.

County Detective Carabine was called and took finger prints.

Probably the same persons tried to get into the New Era office the same night, as there were signs of an attempt to force open a door in the building.

COUNCIL WILL MEET ON TUESDAY NIGHT

The Riverton Borough Council will meet in the Fire House Thursday evening, January 12, at 8 o'clock.

These meetings are open to the public and all citizens who are interested in how the government of their town is being administered should attend.

RIVERTON PTA FEATURES THRIFT

Speaker From Educational Thrift Service Will Address Mothers

Do you know January is Thrift month?

Those who are trying to raise their children wisely want to know among other things the best methods of teaching them to save and of teaching them to spend.

For several years the Riverton PTA has tried to secure the co-operation of the local bank in finding the best system through which the children can be taught to save systematically.

This, we believe, has been accomplished, and on Thursday, January 19, a representative of the Educational Thrift Service, which will cooperate with the local bank in installing this service, will talk to the parents on this important subject.

This will take but a short time, however, and a musical program of unusual worth and entertainment will also be a feature of the afternoon.

The time of meeting will be changed from 3.30 to 3.15 p. m. and the meeting promptly adjourned on scheduled time.

Remember the PTA library. Those who took out books at the December meeting will please return them on the 19th, so that others will not be deprived of their use.

Junior Conference Held in Riverton

Riverton Porch Club Juniors Entertain 1st District Federated Women's Clubs

The Junior Conference of the First District State Federated Women's Clubs which was held in the Calvary Presbyterian Sunday School Auditorium, Saturday, January 7, was opened by a welcome address by Miss Andrea Van Steenbergh, President of the Junior Section of the Riverton Porch Club. A salute to the American flag led by Miss Van Steenbergh followed.

After a few words of welcome by Mrs. Reuben F. Corry, President of the Porch Club, the chair was turned over to Mrs. Myron W. Robinson, Chairman of the Juniors of the state of New Jersey. Mrs. Thomas A. Flockhart, Art Chairman of the federated clubs, then spoke to the girls. She announced a plan to stimulate art among the Seniors as well as the Juniors, viz. prizes are to be given for the best essays on the early American painters. She urged the Juniors of Riverton to join the contest.

Mrs. L. C. Ogden, Second Vice President of the State Federation, then gave a New Year's greeting to the Juniors. She wished for them both health of mind and body.

Reports of the programs of the girls for the year 1928 were given. Delegates responded from Riverton, Collingswood, Beverly, Moorestown, two Camden clubs, Haddon Heights and Haddonfield.

Mrs. Robinson stressed in her talk the joy of service and the pride in achievement. She announced there were 77 junior clubs with a membership of 6051 in the state. In closing Mrs. Robinson announced that a general state conference of Juniors would be held in April in New Brunswick, an invitation having been sent to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to be the principal speaker.

After two piano solos by Miss Alice Bartley, the meeting adjourned to the Porch Club where a delightful luncheon was served, Mrs. Edward K. Merrill and her committee being in charge.

The afternoon session convened at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Robinson in the chair. Mrs. Samuel W. Collin and her daughter, Miss Mildred Collin, gave two vocal duets. Miss Mary L. Robbins, First District Vice President of the State Federation, commended the work of the Juniors of the state, emphasizing that junior outlook and enthusiasm are needed to help carry on.

Mrs. Horace Healey, of New York state, gave as her message the idea that each girl should realize her individual responsibility to herself and to her club. She announced she was a guest at the conference purely to observe, for she was going back to New York state to organize Junior Clubs.

The principal speaker of the occasion was then introduced, Miss Margaret Slattery who not only is an author and lecturer of international fame, but who was one of seven women at the Lausanne Conference. Miss Slattery presented her address under the title "Imagine It." She suggested more imagination in every day life for the world is full of stark realism. Miss Slattery stated that the works of Sinclair Lewis, for example, will not live it literature, due to the fact that his statements, though perhaps true, are of the sordid type of realism. She urged the girls to be daring, if standing up for the right. Set standards high and keep them high. She suggested knowledge as a companion. In closing Miss Slattery spoke of the racial problem, declaring that one should never repeat the "Lord's Prayer" if one scoffed or derided other races. She advised against inter marriage, however.

Mrs. Robinson advised those present to read Miss Slattery's new book "Two Words."

RICHMOND—BELL

Miss Anna Mary Bell, teacher of French in the Palmyra High School, and Robert M. Richmond, also of Palmyra, were married on Tuesday, December 27, in the Church of the Transfiguration, New York City. Miss Bell is a graduate of Dickinson College and formerly lived in Harrisburg. Mr. Richmond is a graduate of Boston University and is employed at Sears, Roebuck & Co. The young couple will make their home in Palmyra.

It is easier to make a new quarrel than to patch up an old one.

A TREAT FOR LOCAL LADIES

Special Program Arranged for Annual Event to Eclipse Previous Affairs

MANY APPLICATIONS MADE FOR MEMBERSHIP

A special program of entertainment has been arranged by St. Joseph's Council, K. of C. for next Tuesday, January 17.

The occasion marks the annual ladies' night of the local council, and the committee has arranged a variety program that will outclass any theatrical display ever held in the Knights' Hall.

Five excellent acts of vaudeville, all by real professional talent from Philadelphia, a few short talks on interesting subjects and one specialty number which will be "sprung" as a surprise.

Much Interest

Intense interest is manifest in local K. of C. circles in this affair and the "hum of buzz" of conversation among the Palmyra and Riverton Knights and their friends about "ladies' night" has forewarned the committee in charge to prepare for a capacity crowd.

The last coat of enamel had been applied to the new stage in the Knights' headquarters and the beautiful new curtain has been artistically hung. The color combination is very pleasing and this new addition makes the Knights' home just a little more attractive than before.

This excellent program has been arranged with the idea of celebrating three events.

Regular Meeting

First—The regular meeting of the council, which will proceed the evening's fun, marks a milestone in the history of the local K. of C. inasmuch as this particular regular meeting is the 200th since the inauguration of the Riverton-Palmyra Council.

Second—The new stage will be most appropriately presented to the many friends of this active body.

Third—As the ladies of the Auxiliary are responsible for its installation, the first perfromance given behind the brilliant new footlights of the stage will be for their particular pleasure. Harry C. Sim, the spirited leader of the council, has especially invited the Auxiliary to attend the affair.

During the past week the Grand Knight has received many requests from newcomers to the community for membership in the Council and an influx of new members is forecast by these applications.

Mothers Will Hear National President

Mrs. A. H. Reeves Will Address County PTA Meeting at Moorestown, Jan. 18

It is not often that the members of a County Council have the privilege of listening to the National President, so those interested in the training of their children and who value their opportunities will not let anything interfere with them attending the mid-year meeting of the Burlington County Council of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers.

It will be held Wednesday, January 18, at the Community House, Main street, Moorestown.

The morning session will begin at 10.00 o'clock and the principal speaker will be Mrs. Augustus Reeve, the National President, a former resident of Moorestown, and well known in Riverton.

Following the luncheon, the afternoon session will be called at 1.30 o'clock.

The speaker of the afternoon is R. L. West, Assistant Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, who will talk on "New Lights on Primary Education."

CAMP DIX WILL BE FOREST RESERVE

Large Part of Former Military Camp Will Become Scene of Sylvan Solitude

Camp Dix, where some 50,000 drafted men from New Jersey and New York trained for service in France during the turbulent days of the World War, will soon take on the quiet, peaceful atmosphere of a forest reserve.

President Coolidge issued a proclamation setting aside 6,785 acres of the 7,927-acre military reserve as a national forest to be known as Dix National Forest. The remainder of the tract will be maintained as a military camp.

Camp Dix was the home of the Seventy-eighth Division which sailed for France nine months after the men were drafted. Official records show that the Seventy-eighth suffered 7,245 casualties and captured 432 prisoners during its engagements.

The war buildings at Camp Dix which were torn down will be replaced by magnificent stately trees.

SHANER PRESIDENT OF MASTER BUILDERS

George W. Shaner was elected president of the South Jersey Master Builders Association.

The Master Builders Association was formed at the suggestion of the Building Trades Council in order that disputes between employers and employees might more readily be arbitrated.

WILLIAM H. BURRIS

William H. Burris, aged 59, died at his home in Lansdowne, on Tuesday. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. Burris was the father of Mrs. Harvey L. Hirst, of Main street, Riverton.

Home Destroyed by Early Blaze

Residence and Antique Shop of James Jones, East Riverton, Burned Out

About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning a fire started in the home and business place of James O. Jones, the expressman, on River Road near Union Landing, and completely ruined the interior of the building.

Shortly after two, Jones thought he heard someone knocking at his front door. He got out of bed and started to go down stairs but when he opened the door to a room adjoining his bedroom the smoke was so dense that he was forced back. The next best thing to do, Jones thought, was to climb out on the porch roof and jump down. However, Jones called down for the person who had been knocking to put up a ladder which stood at the side of the house. This accomplished, the stranger got into his car and sped to Riverton to turn in an alarm.

In a very few minutes the Riverton fire company arrived with a crew of 18 men. The fire had gained quite a headway and Chief Armstrong sent for Palmyra. The Palmyra boys dug out and were at the scene and hooked up within a very short time after their alarm sounded.

For a time the two companies had six streams of water playing on the fire. The flames had such a start that the firemen could not save anything, they could merely hold it in check and protect the surrounding properties. Palmyra's men and equipment worked for about an hour and a half. Riverton's firemen were working for about three hours.

Mr. Jones wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the boys of the Riverton and Palmyra fire companies for their work, and for saving as much of the property as was possible.

MAY CLOSE STREET FOR PLAYGROUND

No Safe Place to Roller Skate, and Thomas Avenue May Be Roped Off Every Afternoon

"Kids nowadays certainly have a hard time trying to have a little fun," said Director of Public Safety Williams Tuesday morning. "Maybe we didn't have so many things to play with when I was a boy, but neither were there so many hazards to take the joy out of life."

"Just look at those youngsters now," said the Director, pointing to a number of boys and girls who were roller skating, "every minute or two they have to dodge some automobile. There's no fun skating like that!"

"I have been thinking this thing over for some time, and have come to the conclusion that it would be a good plan to close Thomas avenue to traffic between Midway and Seventh street every afternoon from 2.30 to 5.00, so that there youngsters can skate to their heart's content without danger of being killed."

Mr. Williams said he would take the matter up at the meeting Thursday night, and if his fellow members of Council approve of the plan, he will issue the necessary orders to the officers the first of the week.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Hereafter the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Riverton Fire Company will meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month and not each week. The first Tuesday will be a business meeting and the third, after a short business meeting, will be a social night. Tuesday, the 17th, will be the first social. All firemen invited.

The following officers were elected Tuesday evening for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Annie Cole; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Carhart; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Evans; financial secretary, Mrs. Gene Faunce; recording secretary, Mrs. Martha VanSciver.

AERO CLUB FORMING

The organization meeting of the proposed Aero Club for Moorestown, Palmyra, Riverton and Riverside, will be held Monday evening, January 30, according to H. Herbert Longaker, who is sponsoring the movement.

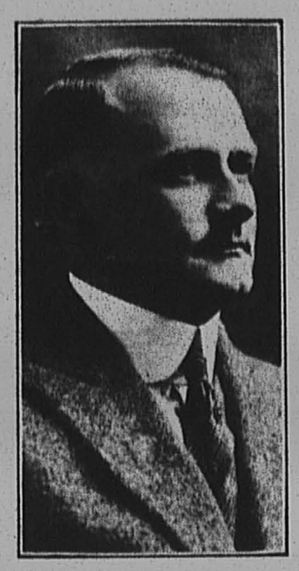

The exact time and place of the meeting has not been decided as yet, says Mr. Longaker, but will be announced shortly. Interest in the club has been evidenced by inquiries from every community in this section, he reports.

Mr. Longaker will gladly supply any interested parties with additional information. He may be reached at his home, 4 West Central avenue, Moorestown. His telephone number is Moorestown 118-W.

JERSEY'S HIGHWAY SYSTEM GREATEST IN UNITED STATES

SEES GREAT ROADS

Freeholder Stout Tells Moorestown Rotary Club of State Road Plans in County

CHARLES R. STOUT

Burlington County Freeholder who predicted a great national highway system, to come in the next few years, in his address before the Moorestown Rotary Club last Thursday. "There will be a wonderful Federal highway system extending from coast to coast and north and south within the next few years. The national highways will either go under or over present highways, giving 'right of way' all the way across the country and will not be 40 or 80 feet wide, but anywhere from 200 to 400 feet wide," declared the freeholder.

ROBERTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ROAD TO BERLIN

Full details of New Jersey's great state highway system were given by Freeholder Charles R. Stout, of Florence, at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Moorestown Rotary Club in the Community House last Thursday at noon.

Moorestown, revealed the freeholder, will be a hub for many of the state roads, while heretofore, there has not been a state highway within the limits of the Township.

The Bridgeboro-Moorestown road is to become a state highway as well as the Merchantville-Mount Holly road which runs through Moorestown. A new highway is to run from Palmyra, starting from the approach of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge, to Green Tree and thence on to Berlin. The position of the Palmyra-Berlin road has not been decided as yet, but its course through Moorestown Township is a certainty. Bridgeboro Road, according to tentative plans, will not end at Chester avenue, but will probably be cut through the town to connect with the Palmyra-Berlin spur. King's Highway, which also runs into Moorestown will be a state road.

Freeholder Stout pointed out that it was only through the efforts of Ex-Senator Emmor Roberts, who is a member of the Rotary Club, that the road from the new Palmyra bridge to Berlin will be a state highway. The bill for the new state highway system was up before the Senate already to be approved when the Senator rushed to the aid of this section and had the road incorporated in the legislation before it was passed.

Roberts Applauded

The announcement won the former Senator some hearty applause from the club.

Other new state highways for Burlington county include the road from Bordentown to Columbus to Vincentown, Red Lion, Indian Mills and on to the White Horse Pike; the road from Camden to Marlton, Medford, Four Mile Colony and Toms River. There is also another proposed road from Four Mile Colony over the present Buddtown Road and on to Barnegat giving a shorter route to the seashore resorts in that section.

Mr. Stout reported that all of the new state highways are to be sixty feet in width with forty feet of concrete paving.

Burlington county, said the freeholder, will be relieved of 114 miles of county and local roads by this great highway system, the greatest of any state in the Union. The program is to cover a period of six years and the 1700 miles of the new state highways will cost between $140,000,000 and $150,000,000. The only road to be taken over and improved in Burlington county this year, so far as has been learned, is the Bordentown spur, he reported, with the new road "passing" Bordentown proper.

The splendid program is the outcome of a scientific survey of all the roads in the state by the State Highway Commission. The Highway Commission, after making its survey, recommended taking over and improving roads which would run the costs up in the neighborhood of $190,000,000. After reducing the program to the $150,000,000 limit, the State endorsed the program and the bill for the project was passed in both Houses at Trenton at the last session of Legislature.

Gasoline Tax Pays

The road improvements will be financed and paid for by the two-cent gasoline tax which went into effect July 1 of last year and the one-mill state road tax which has been in force for five years. Senator Roberts, at the request of the speaker, gave some details as to the success of the one-mill tax. Mr. Roberts said that Burlington county has fared very well in the one-mill tax, as it has received eleven cents for every penny that it has paid into the fund.

It was also shown that this section of the State is benefitting by the state highway program. While three-quarters of the money is being raised above the Raritan river, three-quarters of the new and improved roads are this side of the Raritan.

Mr. Stout, who heads the county's road department, said the county will probably take over additional municipal highways as the state relieves Burlington county of 114 miles of its present roads and will endeavor to improve present and additional county roads coordinating with the state highway improvements. The work, he said, will have to be done gradually to prevent an increase in the tax rate, which the Freeholders want to avert.

The speaker also advocated the improvement of waterways transportation and called attention to the Federal Government's plan of opening from Bordentown to Amboy to accomodate deep-sea vessels, thus enabling ships to come down into this section from New York harbor and to go to sea again down the Delaware river, via Philadelphia harbor.

The speaker, who was asked many questions at the conclusion of his very interesting address, is also chairman of the County Republican organization, and president of the State Freeholders' Association.

FREDERICK T. BOYER

Frederick T. Boyer, of 415 Thomas avenue, died in the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital last Thursday (January 5) and was buried from the Snover Funeral Home on Saturday, January 7, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Boyer, who was thirty-nine years old, died of blood poisoning caused by an infected blister on his foot.

Mr. Boyer is survived by his widow and three children.

Dog Crosses River Looking for Master

Found by Officer Miller in Riverton Who Telephones to Owner

The fidelity of a pet dog to his little master was strikingly illustrated last Saturday morning when the story of a stray airedale was unraveled by Officer Miller of the Riverton police force.

The patrolman saw the dog running about, apparently lost, looking into the faces of passing pedestrians, especially little boys. Calling the animal to him, Miller examined the collar and found engraved on the plate the name of Rev. J. Marshall Linton, pastor of the Disston Memorial Church, Tacony.

The officer called the minister on the telephone and learned that the dog's little master, Bobby, had been taken to the Frankford Hospital for an operation for appendicitis.

When the ambulance drove off with the lad, the dog had tried to follow. Fearing that he might run away, looking for the boy, Mr. Linton kept the animal tied up for two days, after which he was let out for a little exercise.

Taking advantage of his regained freedom, the dog evidently set out to find his master, whom he missed so sorely. How he got to this side of the river is not known, but it is surmised that he wandered to the Pennsylvania dock of the Tacony-Palmyra ferry and came over on one of the boats.

Mr. Linton came to Riverton and took the dog home.

Bobby is making a fast recovery at the hospital and in a few days will be reunited with his faithful pal.

Once more the Ladies Auxiliary will step in and lend a helping hand by serving refreshments.

This meeting will be held in Collin's Hall.

GUNNERS MUST WEAR BUTTONS

Borough Clerk D. M Clifton Calls Attention to New Law

Daniel M. Clifton, borough clerk, calls the attention of sportsmen to the fact that everyone who takes out a license for gunning or fishing must also wear a button with a number corresponding to that on the license, and that the button must be so worn that it is in plain sight at all times. Mr. Clifton supplies the button.

Mr. Clifton desires to also ask owners of dogs, for the protection of their pets, to comply with the law requiring that they be licensed.

Last year about 40 dogs were registered. The year before the number was about 80.

Dogs not legally protected by registration are liable to be impounded and destroyed after three days.

Hear Pleas of 70 in County Court

Five Chicken Thieves Admit Their Guilt in "Added Attraction"

In addition to taking the pleadings of about seventy defendants who had been indicted by the December Grand Jury, Prosecutor Hillman staged an added attraction at the Burlington County Court House Mount Holly, Thursday of last week, when he received the pleas of five chicken thieves—a gang composed of three men, a woman and a boy, all hailing from Burlington, who have caused a reign of terror among the farmers' wives of the county during the past two months, the gang pleading guilty to stealing no less than seventy-five chickens from five different locations in the county.

Edward Cook appeared to be the ring leader, and it was he who turned state's evidence and peached on his co-workers in crime.

He pleaded guilty to five indictments, while his wife, Martha E. Cook, a mere child, pleaded guilty to two indictments and non vult to two others she admitted that she accompanied her husband on all of his trips but took chickens on only two occasions.

The third member of the Cook family was little eleven-year-old Owen Duncan, an orphan, who was being brought up by the Cooks, and he also accompanied them on their trips. He said he did not take any chickens on two occasions, but admitted that he was guilty on two or three other trips.

Charles Andrews, the fourth member of the chicken stealing gang, pleaded guilty to stealing twenty-five chickens at one farm and seventeen at another, while Harry McGuigan, the fifth member of the party, pleaded guilty to all five charges read by the prosecutor.

The credit for the capture of this bunch of thieves goes to Troopers Horn and Brown, of the Columbus State Police, station, who worked several days and nights getting the evidence and traveled several hundred miles back and forth among farmers checking up thefts of chickens, etc.

The thieves were then turned over to Detective Parker's office and their pleas of guilty resulted.

Two Out of Seventy Plead Guilty

Among the seventy others indicted appearing before Prosecutor Hillman, only two defendants elected to plead guilty, the first being Walter R. Swain, of Bordentown, who was charged with stealing gas belonging to the Public Service Gas Company by tapping the meter.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $50.

Joseph Magee of Mount Holly, indicted for the transportation and possession of liquor, also entered a plea of guilty, but sentence was deferred for two weeks.

Gabriel Thorok, of Florence township, who came in on a waiver on a charge of breaking and entering the store of the Burlington Supply Company, at Florence, and stealing goods and money amounting to $1.87, pleaded guilty also.

Thorok is an old offender and when he was before the Court in 1925 on a charge of breaking and entering a clothing store at Roebling he escaped with a very light sentence on his promise to start anew and make good.

Neither the prosecutor nor the Court had forgotten this episode, so he stood on very ticklish ground when he was called for sentence.

He will spend the next eighteen months in state prison, and the county will be rid of a man who needs watching continually.

Plead to Liquor Violations

The following pleaded not guilty to liquor law violations:

Walter McDermott, Burlington; Mary Lore, Florence, this making four times she has been before the Court; Joseph Nemitz, Burlington; Frank Gorok, Burlington; Dennis Ross, Moorestown; Emma Carter, Lumberton; Harry Cohen, Wrightstown two indictments and he has been previously convicted; Peter Ogarek, Wrightstown, two indictments; Rose Cacace, Bordentown; Victor Oprea, Florence, previously convicted; James Berry, Mount Holly; Albert Marchese, Burlington; Sarah Goff, North Hanover; Harry Hall, Medford, two indictments; William Suckloski, Hainesport; Adam Waryasz, Burlington, three indictments; Annie Drager, Florence; Frank Szlachta, Burlington.

Louis Fishel and Samuel Garrison, of Willingboro; Mrs. Anna Moore, of Mount Holly, who sent a doctor's certificate saying she was ill, and Dever C. Kelly, of Bordentown, all indicted for liquor violations, did not appear and their cases were continued for one week.

Orphans' Court matters were considered at the close of the criminal business.

James Renshaw, of Delanco, who left his wife and two small children destitute, and who was arrested at Woodbury recently by Chief George Hahner, of Delanco, was also before the Court on a waiver and he was placed on probation for a period of two years, provided that he furnish a bond for $300 guaranteeing that he will pay his wife $10 a week.

VINCENTOWN MAY KEEP RR SERVICE

Definite Offer Submitted By Business Men to Pennsylvania System Officials

A definite offer for the purchase of the Vincentown branch of the Burlington County Railroad, has been submitted by business men of the community to officials of the railroad company, it was disclosed last week.

Service on the branch has been suspended entirely and the community fears that the continued isolation from freight service will work hardships on merchants and in time exterminate the town.

It was stated by Vincentown business men that the railroad company officials had been offered the amount they specified the rail to be worth at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing where permission to discontinue service was granted.

An investigation disclosed that the company had set a valuation of $1,500 on the two and two-tenths miles of road at this hearing and had stated that to place the rails in operating shape would require an expenditure of $12,500, which would not be justified considering the amount of business derived from the town.

The local men, if able to purchase the road, would operate from Smithville, the joint of discontinuation to Vincentown as a private siding, and would haul freight into the Vincentown terminal.

Officials of the railroad company have so far ignored the proposition of the Vincentown men and have refused all freight shipments to the town. It was hinted Tuesday that action might be taken to force the issue and a petition to reopen the case may be presented to the interstate commerce commission.

POWELL, NEWCOMB MAKE SELECTIONS

Harold T. Parker is Secretary to County's New Senator; Pages For Both Houses

Senator Powell announced his selections for the legislative assignments falling to his lot for distribution during the session which opened Tuesday. Harold T. Parker, who has acted in confidential capacities for a number of years while the new Senator was in the House, was picked for secretary. Charles B. Green, of Florence, was picked for a Senate page and Fred Todd, the colored Matt Quay, of Burlington is serving as gallery keeper.

Assemblyman Newcomb also appointed Elmer H. Wright, of Burlington, as a page in the House. This was the only House position for Burlington county to fill this year.

Dr. Newcomb, after learning of the job apportioned to him to fill, requested some of the high school authorities of the river-front town to submit the name of a deserving boy for the position of page, with the result that young Wright got the plum, which pays the appointee $200 and a railroad pass.

REVISE BRIDGE PLANS

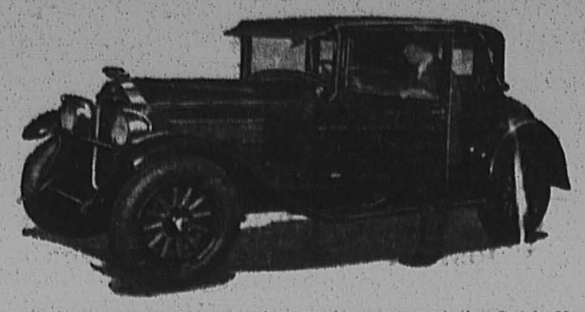

Changes Made in Details of Palmyra Structure

Revised plans for a bridge to be built by the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company over the Delaware river between Palmyra, N. J., and Tacony, Pa., have been approved by the War Department.

The revised plans provide a change in the vertical clearances at the fender lines under the closed bascule 50 feet 6 inches on the Pennsylvania side and 45 feet 6 inches on the New Jersey side, as provided in plans previously approved, to 47 feet and 42 feet respectively.

A change has also been made at the shore end of the bridge on the New Jersey side, the three short spans of the original plans to be replaced by a single span of 245 feet. The horizontal clearance is to be reduced from 230 to 190 feet at the top of the bascule leaves in open position.

Production of this car makes Buick unique among manufacturers of high-grade automobiles. The car, a five-passenger coupe, is being displayed in connection with the National Automobile Shows.

Beverly to Have New Industry

Mount Holly Textile Co. Acquires Old Standard Electrical Factory

A branch manufacturing plant of the Mount Holly Textile Company is about to be established in Beverly. This company, which for the past six years has operated a mill in Mount Holly has completed arrangements with the John H. Sinex estate, owners of the three-story brick factory building on Pine street, formerly occupied by the Standard Electrical Appliance Company for the lease of the property with the option of buying.

The textile company proposes to operate its new Beverly plant in conjunction with its Mount Holly works and when full operations are under way, 60 to 80 men and women operatives will be employed. Continuous operation with a day and night shift is planned.

Isaac Pierce, of Mount Holly, general manager of the Mount Holly Textile Company said Wednesday that it was the intention of his company to employ principally Beverly help in its new plant.

Upholstery and draperies will form the principal output and it is understood that most of the production is on a piece work basis.

A gang of men has been at work this week cleaning and repairing the building in preparation for the installation of machinery which is expected to commence this week.

It was stated that the company has bought the entire equipment of a textile mill in Philadelphia and will move it to the Beverly plant. Thirty looms will be installed and it is hoped to have the mill in operation by February first.

The officials of the Mount Holly Textile Company are:

Tilden H. Bedwell, president; Charles C. Crispin, secretary and treasurer; Isaac Pierce, general manager; Lawrence C. Jones, superintendent, and Joseph A. Wolfrom is a member of the board of directors.

It is probable that a resident manager will be placed in charge of the Beverly plant although it was stated that at the present time he has not been selected.

ACID SOILS FOE OF SEEDS, EXPERT SAYS

"Don't lose the crop for the lack of a little lime," is the timely advice given by Prof. A. W. Blair, soil chemist at the New Jersey Experiment Station, to vegetable growers who are making plans for their spring work.

The acid soil has been at least partly responsible for failures commonly attributed to poor seed, the lack of plant-food, or some other cause has been shown by experiments. The seeds of such crops as spinach, carrots, beets, lettuce, celery, and cabbage are very much depressed in germination if the soil is strongly acid, and if they do finally germinate, the plants are apt to be stunted and die before they reach maturity.

The vegetable grower may well take a leaf from the notebook of the tobacco grower, who in preparing his seedbed for plants in the early spring, stakes out a small piece of ground on which he burns logs, brush and such materials in order to have plenty of lime and potash in the soil. The fact that he rarely fails in getting a fine lot of plants is proof of the value of his method.

Of course this method cannot be applied to the whole field, but lime and fertilizer may be used in sufficient amounts to bring the soil into proper condition for good germination and growth. The county agricultural agent and the experiment station are always ready to make soil tests and give advice on the amount of lime to be used.

The collector of the wages of sin is never turned away empty handed.

Busy "Y" Program All Over County

Meetings and Conferences Are Full of Interest and Well Attended

The State meeting of the New Jersey County Secretaries was held in the Industrial School for colored youth at Bordentown Friday, January 6. Secretaries Guy C. Hendry, Marple M. Lewis, Arnold Carter and Clifford M. Ergood of Burlington County attended this meeting.

Fifteen boys who attended the State Older Boys' Conference at Trenton last December met in the YMCA Club Room, Mt. Holly on Sunday afternoon, January 8, in what is known as an "echo meeting." Charles R. Scott, State Older Boys' Work Secretary of the YMCA was present in this meeting. Mr. Scott has the responsibility of promoting the State Older Boys' Conference each year, and at Sunday afternoon's meeting he received many suggestions from Burlington County boys for the improvement of the Conference in the future.

After singing a couple of Conference Hymns, and having a Round Robin introduction, a picture was taken of the entire group. Each boy then proceeded to give his impression of the Conference with suggestions for improving its value, and giving some information as to what he is doing to carry over the values of this Conference into his own community.

Among Those Present

The following boys attended this meeting: William G. Hunter, Beverly; George Bakely and Harold Rollman, Burlington; Norman Cobb and Oliver Wood of Jacksonville; Henry Dunfee of Marlton; William Ritchie, Jr., of Moorestown; Lester Bunce Arthur Walters and Secretaries Ergood and Hendry, of Mt. Holly; Walter and Thomas Price, Henry Willbraham, and Secretary Carter, of Palmyra; Adelbert Munyan, of Pemberton. After this meeting these fellows were entertained for the evening meal in the homes of members of the Hi-Y Club.

Over a hundred young people attended a Union Service and "echo meeting" of the State Young People's Conference and State Older Boys' Conference held in the First Baptist Church of Mt. Holly, Sunday, January 8, at 6.30 p. m. This meeting was brought about through the cooperation of the Epworth League, Baptist Young People's Union, Young People's Fellowship, Girl Reserves, Hi-Y, delegates to the State Young People's Conference and State Older Boys' Conference.

The Christian Quest

As the theme of the State Young People's Conference was "The Christian Quest," and that of the State Older Boys' Conference "The Adventurous Life," the program committee felt that "Adventures" would certainly be fitting for the theme of this service.

The Prelude was given by Guy C. Hendry and his YMCA Orchestra. Miss Grace Atkinson, President of the Baptist Young People opened the service with a few words of welcome, and told those present to follow the program as printed on the sheets they had in their hands to save any further announcements. John Oxenham's poem, "New Years Day—and Every Day" was read by Miss Eleanor Fillius of the Girl Reserves. Philippians 3:13-14 was read as a Scripture lesson by Miss Emma Armstrong of the Epworth League.

Past Adventures

Prayer was offered by Miss Elizabeth Shinn of the County Young People's Council. Past adventures of the young people at State Conferences were reported on by Miss Margaret Lippincott of the Young People's Council, and Arthur Walters of the Hi-Y Club. Clifford W. Ergood, Assistant Secretary of the County YMCA introduced the speaker of the meeting, Charles R. Scott, State YMCA Boys' Work Secretary who spoke on "New Adventures for 1928."

Mr. Scott is known by boys all over the State of New Jersey and by boys of many countries throughout the world, for in his extensive travels, he has made many friends, and out of this rich experience, has many worth while things to impart to such a group as were gathered at this Union Service.

Charles R. Scott, State Boys' Work Secretary of the YMCA spoke in Moorestown and Pemberton High Schools Monday morning, January 9, on "Boys and Girls of the World." Mr. Scott's wealth in experience with boys and girls around the world makes him an extremely interesting and worth while speaker for High School assemblies. He was received at these two High Schools with a great deal of interest. The County YMCA made it possible for Mr. Scott to speak in these High Schools, since he was secured by them for the meetings in Mount Holly on Sunday, January 8.

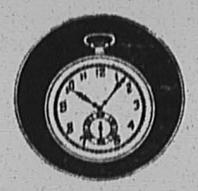

Ockanickon Skating Party

Despite the fact that the weather did not seem favorable there was, nevertheless, quite a group at Ockanickon, Saturday evening, January 7 and the condition of the ice was considerably better than many had expected to find, so much so, in fact, that everyone who had skates along put them to good use.

After an hour and a half or so of skating and sled riding all over the lake, boys and girls, young men and young women assembled around the fire place in the Camp Dining Hall and enjoyed pop corn and candy. The party broke up around ten o'clock. The brightness of the moon added greatly to the attractiveness of the evening. Many comments were heard to the effect that it seemed so strange to go skating on a spring night.

Even hotheaded men occasionally get cold feet.

War Declared on Bus Speeding

Officials of Worth Company Order Drivers to Obey Laws

The drivers of the Worth Motor Bus Corporation have been given instructions that all speeding and racing of any kind must be stopped, regardless of any moves on the part of competitors.

As a result of several serious accidents within a week, in which a number of occupants of private automobiles were injured through collision with or by being crowded off the road by high speed interstate buses, officials of Riverton, Riverside Palmyra and other towns along the Camden-Burlington bus route are uniting for a protest to State motor vehicle and police authorities. Officials declare the buses of the rival P. R. T. and Worth lines, in their competitive rush for business, hourly violate all driving laws and are coming to be feared by private drivers as veritable juggernauts.

Action to curb the drivers was precipitated by an accident in East Riverton, in which a P. R. T. bus crashed head-on into a private car driven by Arthur Colsey, Jr., of Camden, demolishing the car and critically injuring its seven occupants. The bus, driven by William McKnight, continued at such speed that it ran fifty yards beyond and stopped only after it snapped off a heavy telegraph pole.

Ire of citizens in Riverton was stirred by the discovery that William Miller a policeman, failed to arrest the bus driver, who contended a Worth bus stopped suddenly in front of him and he was compelled to steer to the left to avoid a rear-end collision, with the result that he hit the Colsey car.

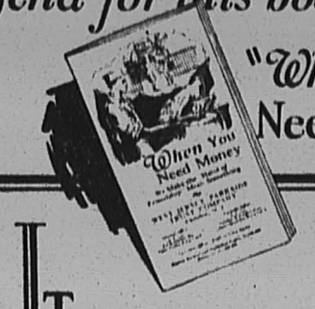

Thirty minutes after the first accident, officials say, a duplicate was avoided only when the driver of a large sedan, crowded off the road by passing buses within 500 yards of the first crash, saved his car and passengers by turning into a field.

Mayor Rogers, of Riverton, let it be known that while his administration recognized the advantage of bus service into Philadelphia, the service must not be conducted at the risk of life of bus passengers, car owners, and pedestrians. Residents of Riverton said the buses frequently make forty miles an hour or better through that crowded thoroughfare.

George N. Wimer, inducted Monday as Mayor of Palmyra, is determined to keep the bus drivers within the law's limit in his municipality and has so instructed his police.

Township officials of Riverside say they will demand a continuous State police patrol of the river road between Riverside and Riverton, the scene of several recent crashes.

YMCA Groups Plan Big Minstrel Show

Three Comical Skits Will Feature Entertainment on March 9 and 10

Co-operating with each other, the twelve YMCA groups of Palmyra and Riverton are to stage a minstrel show on March 9 and 10. This is the first show of its kind to be staged by the local YMCA, but early enthusiasm on the part of all concerned points towards a very successful show.

James Crawford has been chosen as the interlocutor; other main characters will be picked all this week and rehearsals are to start at once.

John Metzgar has expressed willingness to help with the coaching, and as he has had much experience in this line the participants are assured of making a fine appearance on the stage.

Besides the minstrel show proper, with its side-splitting jokes and comical songs, the second part of the show will consist of three very funny and unusual skits.

The first, "The Booster Club of Blackville," is a colored comedy, a political burlesque, with the funniest negro cast imaginable. They are all running for some office; judge, chicken inspector, razor inspector, crap game inspector and several other offices that would be predominant in an all-negro community.

Ham and Eggs

"The Royal Order of Ham and Eggs," the second skit, will undoubtedly cause you to explode with laughter. The general theme running throughout its entire performance is that the President of the Royal Order of Ham and Eggs decides that his fellow lodge members need some military training. They get it.

"What You Got?" the title to the third skit, enough to make even you wonder what is in the jug—no revenue officers—but lots of real honest-to-goodness laughter.

"A Henpecked Coon," the fourth feature of the second part of the show, is a special feature for husbands who want sympathy. Your wife will also enjoy this recital of Ephraneous' grievances against his better half.

John Metzgar, leader of the Edison Pioneers, has been confined to his bed for the past two weeks with a serious attack of tonsilitis. The boys are waiting his return with impatience and he has our every good wish for a speedy recovery.

Thanks to All

The board takes this means of thanking Mr. Hawke, Mrs. Hahn and Mr. Buohl for their contributions of the greens used in the decoration of the building for the open house and reception held New Year's Day. Benjamin R. Rielley added much to the success of the occasion by the loan of one of his Fada Radio sets. The music of this radio provided entertainment during the entire afternoon.

To the musicians of the County-wide YMCA orchestra is also due a vote of thanks for the fine music furnished in the evening. Many people attended; our only regret is that more of the people of the two towns were not present to hear and enjoy the fine program. To Mrs. Purnell, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Price, Miss Thelma Jones, Miss Jane Price, and Miss Bitting we also are deeply indebted for the fine way in which they served refreshments to the many visitors.

Visitors are always welcome at the building of the YMCA on Broad street and Garfield avenue in Palmyra. Do drop in and look over the equipment and visit a group when it is meeting. You will readily see the strength of the character-building program being carried on with the young men and boys of the two towns.

The County Council of Business Girls will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry Stockwell of Moorestown on Monday evening, December 16. Inasmuch as the Rural Department of the Young Women's Christian Association is making a special study of China for 1928, the emphasis of this meeting will be on that country. Dr. and Mrs. Cadbury who have spent many years of interesting work in China will be at this meeting and will speak. A report of "China Today Through Chinese Eyes" will be given by Miss Beatrice Shadell of Mount Holly. Miss Helen Jones of Burlington, the newly elected president of the council, will preside at the meeting.

Today when one's thoughts are inevitably turned toward China where so many interesting things are happening, this opportunity to know more and understand more by personal contact with those who have been and seen comes as a rare one to the business girls of Burlington County.

Mrs. William Cadbury, of Moorestown, gave a most interesting talk to the Mothers Club of Mount Holly, at the home of Mrs. W. S. Austin on last Wednesday evening. The number of years that Mrs. Cadbury has spent in China has given her the opportunity to know and understand the Chinese people. Mrs. Cadbury told about the customs and modes of living in China, about the religion and home life of the Chinese, and about the schools and industries. Such an interest had Mrs. Cadbury created in her subject that after her talk everyone had many questions to ask. There were some very interesting curios and pictures to see as well as costumes which Mrs. Cadbury brought with her.

Mrs. Austin served hot chocolate, cake, and salted nuts.

The Moorestown Junior High School Girl Reserves had their first meeting of the new year on last Tuesday afternoon. The month of January will be given over to a course in Home Nursing. The plan of devoting the meetings of one month to home nursing and first aid worked out so successfully last year that the members of the club this year requested that they too might have an opportunity to learn these very helpful bits of information. The Town Nurse of Moorestown will conduct these meetings.

The Tabernacle Girl Reserves met Friday noon at the school. Plans for the next two months were discussed, as well as various ways for opening the club meetings. The Girl Reserve Code through pictures, code, scrap books, the YWCA in China, and the Girl Reserves of many lands were some of the program projects upon which the girls are going to work.

P. O. S. of A.

The regular weekly meeting of the P. O. S. of A. which was held in the local hall Monday evening was well attended.

After the business of the evening had been transacted the members were entertained by a program provided by the entertainment committee. Two singers and a blackface comedian provided the mirth and also the melody. The clever presentation of songs and jokes by the trio was received by prolonged applause.

After the entertainment refreshments were served and the members departed to their homes feeling that the evening had been well spent.

Would Cut Taxes on Farm Lands

Meeting of County Board of Agriculture Held in Columbus Last Week

At the annual meeting of the Burlington County Board of Agriculture at Columbus last week, a committee was authorized to consult with municipal and county officials in an effort to secure a reduction of taxes on farm lands.

This committee was named by the retiring president, C. Craig Tallman, of Columbus, last year but it lacked sufficient authority to proceed. The committee was renamed by the new president, T. Sherman Borden, of Beverly, and it was authorized to take immediate steps toward having the present tax on farm lands in the county reduced. Government statistics show the tax on farms in this State much higher than those on many others.

At the same meeting William B. Duryee, secretary of agriculture in New Jersey, announced that William Merker has resigned as chief of the Bureau of Markets and W. W. Oley has been named as his successor. Duryee was one of the principal speakers.

Herbert Borden, of Mickleton, who was a New Jersey delegate at the annual convention of the National Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago, gave an interesting report on the business of the meeting.

Officers were chosen by the board as follows: President, T. Sherman Borden; vice-president, H. C. Hancock, Juliustown; secretary, Barclay H. Allen, Vincentown; treasurer, Albert J. Roberts, Moorestown.

Executive committee, C. Craig Tallman, Columbus; Edward Harris, Burlington; Joseph Rogers, Wrightstown; Joseph H. Evans, Marlton; John Pew, Mount Holly; Harold Joyce, Medford; Charles Jessup, Cinnaminson; Howard Emmons, Pemberton.

Delegates to the State Federation of County Boards of Agriculture, C. Craig Tallman, A. H. Forsythe and Joseph Rogers; delegates to the State Board of Agriculture, John W. Bottaker and Fred Lippincott.

DESIGNERS SCHEME TO REDUCE WEIGHT

Reducing the weight-per-horsepower is one of the problems that automotive engineers are constantly attacking. Fuel economy, increased speed, fast pickup, rapid deceleration, and more tire mileage are some of the benefits gained from lowering the weight per horsepower. In the Victory Six, Dodge Brothers' latest creation, the weight has been brought down to only 49 lbs. per peak horsepower developed by the motor.

NO LICENSE

Biscuit Truck Driver and Owner Fined in Palmyra

Harry Williams, of Philadelphia, was fined $15.00 at a hearing before Justice William L. Fichter in Palmyra last week. Williams was charged with operating a motor truck without having a New Jersey driver's license. James Watson, the owner of the truck, which was operated for the National Biscuit Company, was fined $50.00 for allowing Williams to drive the truck without a license.

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck warned the driver about operating in this state without a license several months ago and Williams promised to get a license at once. After the first of the year Beck noticed the same man driving through town and stopped him to see if he had kept his promise. When it was found that he had not he was at once escorted to the office of Squire Fichter.

The owner of the truck was sent for and came over to pay the fine and get his driver released. He then wanted to drive the truck away but was not permitted to do so since he also had neglected to get a Jersey license for himself. It was necessary for him to hire a licensed driver to drive the truck to the ferry.

HADDONFIELD SEEKS REMOVAL OF POLES

Borough Commissioner Ask 'Phone Company To Bury Wires; Poles Unsightly

The Haddonfield Borough Commission will ask the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company to remove all poles and overhead wires in the borough, replacing them with underground conduits, it was decided at the commission meeting last week.

The decision followed receipts of a petition from residents of Warwick road who asked that the unsightly wires and poles be removed from that street, one of the most beautiful of the borough.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Morris B. Clark, one of the petitioners, and Mayor Lippincott, representatives of the telephone company will be invited to attend the next meeting to discuss a plan for placing all wires in underground conduits.

Commissioner Clark pointed out that the telephone bills increased 25 per cent. last year. Since then, he said, the borough has received nothing from the company except request for more poles and cable permits.

The commission decided that utility companies will not be permitted to erect poles or carry wires over the new Haddon avenue extension from Kings Highway to Berlin road.

No man is entitled to credit for being good if he isn't tempted.

New Series Pontiac Six is Introduced

Said to Surpass in Beauty, Power, Performance all Previous Offerings

The second "birthday anniversary" of the Pontiac Six was marked Thursday, January 5, by the first public display in dealers' showrooms of the New Series Pontiac Six which is said to surpass in beauty, power and performance all previous offerings of the Oakland Motor Car Company in the low-priced six-cylinder field.

The new Pontiac Six chassis with four-wheel brakes, gasoline pump, an entirely new type of radiator which prevents evaporation, semi-coincidental lock, improved carburetion, crankcase ventilation, new cylinder head, higher compression, new clutch and steering gear, heavier frame and other mechanical advances, appears to justify the statement of the manufacturer that it is "new from radiator to tail light." Briefly stated, the company is offering infinitely "more car" at the same base price.

Although the new series has the same number of cars that comprised the 1927 line, two of the new models carry new types of bodies representing the latest advances in Fisher design. The two new body types are the Sport Landau Sedan and Four-Door Sedan, which supersede the former Landau and De Luxe Landau Sedans. The Two-Door Sedan, the Coupe, the Sport Cabriolet and the Sport Roadster again are included among the six body choices, but all have been completely re-designed and closed models carry the latest Fisher body creations, new Duco colors, new fenders, headlamps and many other refinements.

But the beauty of the New Series Pontiac is not "skin deep." Under that sleek new hood is an engine which develops 43 horsepower at 2,600 r. p. m., a substantial increase over the power of the previous Pontiac.

This greater power gives even better acceleration, while the new equalized and mechanically operated four-wheel brakes provide correspondingly sure and rapid deceleration. The front brakes are internal and the rear external. If the brake is applied while the car is making a turn, the outside front wheel automatically rolls free, a safety factor which enables the driver to retain full control under all conditions. A separate internal parking brake is provided on the rear wheels.

One of the outstanding pioneering features of the new car is a radically changed principle of engine cooling as embodied in the unique "cross-flow" radiator, from which it is practically impossible to lose either water or anti-freeze solution by evaporation. The water flows horizontally through the radiator cells instead of vertically as in other radiators. The water circulation is thermostatically controlled and the flow is maintained by a new water pump of the balanced impeller type.

Among the other important changes on the engine are the adoption of the G-M-R cylinder head and the replacement of the conventional vacuum tank with a gasoline pump, two late developments both of which are pioneered successfully on the Oakland All-American Six.

NEW JERSEY! One of the Greatest of the United States
NEW JERSEY LEADS MANY STATES IN BANK SAVINGS DEPOSITS

Data collected by the American Bankers Association show savings deposits in New Jersey banks equal to $306 for each resident of the state ... There can be no better evidence of the state's prosperity than the savings and investments of its people.
The thrift of the state's people is further shown by the fact that Public Service Corporation of New Jersey has more than 70,000 stockholders, a greater part of whom are New Jersey residents.
"The success of Public Service and development of New Jersey are bound together."

HOW FAR ARE WE RESPONSIBLE FOR OUR ACTIONS?

Excusing the lunatic for his misdeeds sometimes has led the normal individual to the idea that he also should be excused from all responsibility for what he does. "I couldn't help it; it was my heredity and environment which determined this course of action for me; so don't blame me." It is generally a cowardly idea. There are some who should not be blamed for what they do; for them, poor souls, heredity and environment have set limits which closely cramp and narrowly confine, but for most of us there is plenty of unoccupied territory. Heredity and environment are far kinder to the average human being than most of us are willing to admit. Rare indeed is the man whose attainments equal his possibilities, who actually makes the most of his life.

Out of a world governed by the law of gravity and the laws of atomic structure is emerging a world in which mentality is a powerful directing force, a world in which purpose does make a difference, a world wherein "intelligence is practical and a source of power." The history of the past leads directly to the conclusion that it is perfectly reasonable to hope and strive for the realization of ideals that have never yet been realized. When new conditions arise, new laws become operative. The very fact that men attempt to determine their own conduct, to transform the world in which they live, to instill more satisfactory ideals in the minds of themselves and of their fellows, is fair ground for the expectation that these very things will be accomplished. Apparently, in the past, the things which organisms tried to do were the things which organisms sooner or later were able to do. A world evolving as our world seems to evolve is absolutely governed by ideas.

—KIRTLEY F. MATHER in World Unity Magazine, January, 1928.

AIRPLANE COMING

The airplane industry is being developed just as were railroads and automobiles. It takes pioneering, courage and faith in the project.

Twenty years ago the conservative individual wouldn't ride in an automobile. Today, he won't ride in an airplane. But the fact remains that automobiles are as common today as bath tubs.

Most people do not realize that well established air lines are handling mail, passengers and express over our whole nation. They operate on schedule up and down the Pacific Coast, in the Rocky Mountain states, through to Chicago and east.

These lines have all had to develop under adverse conditions just as did the first railroads and the first automobiles. The pioneering planes have had vast distances of mountains, timber and deserts to cover, with landing fields few and far between, without guiding lights and with other innumerable obstacles to contend with. Only men with the pioneering spirit would attempt to surmount such difficulties.

In going from San Francisco to Chicago by plane, a recent passenger said that he felt entirely comfortable, relaxed as he would in any easy chair in his own parlor, and enjoyed the varying scenery which could not be observed in any other manner. He said there was no feeling of instability, and when he was tired he took a nap. Wonderful scenery was encountered and even herds of antelope and other wild life were visible. The time required was 21 hours from San Francisco to Chicago.

OUR LAGGING CITIES

The sober citizens of Reading, Pa., have elected a Socialist mayor. No section of America is less inclined to try strange doctrines.

But the voters of that solid city simply became weary of politics and partisan methods. The candidates presented by the two old parties offered no satisfactory choice, so a Socialist could be elected.

Graft does not flourish as it once did in city government, but incompetency is wide-spread. Think of the cities you know and count those which are administered like any big business. The number is not large. We apply twentieth-century methods of efficiency to all big business except politics.

Why not put the same initiative and skill into the common enterprise of government that we do into personal business and professions?

Baltimore has done it. Eleven of the city's leading private corporations loaned their biggest and best executives to the city to put it on a business basis. They established order, reduced taxes and gave the taxpayers a dollar's worth of service for a dollar, instead of petty, incompetent methods of public waste.

TO FARMER'S DOOR

Farmers in England are profiting by the war the English railroads are waging against encroachments on both their passenger and freight traffic by motorbusses and motortrucks, says the Daily Express of London. The railroads now provide trucks to haul produce to the trains. Thus, in effect, the railroads have come to the farmers' doors.

The new move on the part of the railroads is particularly beneficial to small farmers and traders, who are now able to market their produce without incurring the heavy expense caused when local transport is undertaken by the farmers themselves. To those farmers dealing in perishable produce, the services are invaluable. They no longer need to undergo the expense of sending a truck to the shipping point with only a hundred pounds or so of the perishable produce. Many large manufacturers have also taken advantage of the situation, it is reported.

Perhaps the railroads of the United States will have to make the same fight some day that the English railroads are now making. If that day ever comes, marketing problems will be simplified for many farmers, even though it will mean smaller profits for the railroads.

LAWLESSNESS

Lawlessness in the United States has increased to such a point as rightly to be considered a national menace. This does not mean merely violations of the Volstead Act, but it applies to crimes of all kinds. Many explanations have been brought forward to account for the growth of lawlessness, and many cures have been proposed.

The greatest deterrent, at least in the case of cold-blooded and carefully planned crimes, would doubtless be the knowledge that punishment would be swift and certain. Today punishment is neither swift nor certain, except in a few instances in which the community is aroused.

Legal processes need to be speeded up a bit and more intelligent juries chosen. There have been too many cases recently in which guilty parties have gone free. Justice may be blind but there's no good reason for jurors being both blind and brainless.

SPEED

This is an age of speed. Every make of automobile now going on the market for 1928 is faster than before. It is faster for ordinary, every-day use, not just for test purposes. The automobile manufacturers have met the demand for swifter machines. But unless traffic regulations are strictly observed, 1928 is likely to see an unprecedented number of lives sacrificed on the altar to the god of speed.

The situation calls for a general tightening up on the part of those responsible for the enforcement of speed laws. Pedestrian and motorist alike must be forced to obey the laws or be punished. It is better that they suffer mildly than that they die.

If both motorists and pedestrians obey the rules, many lives will be saved and nobody will be really inconvenienced. And if everybody obeys the regulations, traffic will move faster, too. Don't take a chance, for you may make it your last one.

Our recent Palmyra "strangler" scare and the Beverly kidnapping story prove to be chiefly the result of distorted imaginations and sensation-seeking news reporters.

Why the excitement in the Palmyra school board about married women teachers? Why not reflect upon the fact that a married teacher will probably give more thought and time to her work than one who is not married but would like to be.

The new Mayor of Palmyra told the Lions Club the other evening that his administration would give much thought to the question of better streets.

It's a big job to tackle, but anybody who can improve the situation without adding too much to the tax burden will certainly deserve a monument to his memory.

A man may not be too old to learn but too old to realize it.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. William M. Erhard, Pastor

Sunday School at ten in the morning, with study on the topic: "Jesus and Sinners;" Golden Text: "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Let us maintain the record of good attendances which the Sunday School has had in the new year so far.

Divine worship at 11.15, with anthem by our First Lutheran Choir, under the direction of Lee Mitton. The pastor will preach on the theme: "The Church Ideal."

Luther League in the evening at 6.45. Houston Ingram will lead with a discussion on the topic: "What Difference Does Reading the Bible Make?"

Vesper services at 7.45, following which service the choir will render a special selection, and the pastor will bring a message on the subject: "The Valley of Achor."

Catechetical instruction will be resumed on Friday, January 13th, at seven o'clock. The class will study the third and fourth commandments. Let us urge those who attend to bring their questions on these commandments, as there are so many different interpretations of them at the present time.

All the men of the church are urged to be at the morning service and remain for a few moments after for a short conference in the basement on a very important matter, which will be a great help in the progress which the church is to make this year. The matter which is to be brought up, is one which has been suggested to better the spiritual, social, and financial features of our church life. It will also be something which will be interesting to you as a matter of personal pleasure. It will indicate a big advance in our church's progress. Come, to give us your opinion in the matter.

At the regular meeting of council last Monday evening, action was taken to postpone the regular congregational meeting, which was scheduled for Tuesday evening coming, until Thursday evening, the 26th of January. Will all members please hear this important change in mind. The change was due to several causes, and it was felt that for this year it would be for the greater interests of the church to make the change in date.

All Lutherans are urged to attend the inspiring services held at the Methodist Church this week under the auspices of all the churches of the community. This is a thoroughly undenominational series of services and we should feel it is as much ours as any other's.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A.,L.Th
Rector

I once purchased a round trip ticket from Montreal to Kansas City. The return stub was marked "Not good unless validated." Thus the railroad company required that I appear at its office in Kansas City, and there signing my name, reaffirm intention of continuing the trip in person.

Conversion and religion run out as do railroad tickets. Church memberships, secured elsewhere, peters out, loses its savor, is not good on removing to a new town, UNLESS VALIDATED by personal application to the local church of that place.

And—the power of the Church leaks out as through a sieve, when members move to another state, city, or precinct, without transferring membership to a church they can attend.

Live membership in a church is a tremendously important thing both to the member, and the Church. Have you any doubt about it?

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Monday the 16th at 2.30 p. m.

The Auxiliary are also holding their second card party in the Parish House on Wednesday the 18th at 8 p. m. After their first happy venture we need only remind you of the proverb "a word to the wise is enough."

The Girls' Friendly Society will have the pleasure of hearing one of the State officers on Tuesday, January 17th at 7.30 p. m., when Mrs. S. L. Fell, of Trenton, will speak to them. A very cordial invitation is extended to the women and girls of the church to come and find out more of the splendid work of this world-wide organization.

The Associates and members are giving a supper in honor of their visitor which will precede the meeting at 7.30.

The envelopes for the weekly offering have been sent out to the members and we desire to urge their regular use.

Statistics prove that nine tenths of the money given for church purposes comes from the rank and file—Let no one therefore feel his gift is too small to make any difference. Be a ninety percenter! Which being interpreted is . . . . be a "regular" contributor. Finally, brethren the church does not happen to be closed because you are not present on any given Sunday, and I know of no rebate on the coal bill because the attendance was poor!

The monthly teachers meeting of the Sunday School will be held on Monday next the 16th at 8 p. m.

Did you see the article in the Camden Courier of Saturday last about the Christ Church Athletic Club! No, we still wear the same sized hat, though we must confess to a secret glow of something akin to pride. Do you blame us!

Services 2nd Sunday after Epiphany:

7.30 Holy Communion.

10.30 Morning Prayer and Sermon: "Turning Water Into Wine."

2.30 Sunday School.

4.00 Confirmation Class

8.00 Evensong. Sermon: "The Question Box."

"Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers."

Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 7 in the Church School room.

The Mid-week services will be resumed Wednesday, January 18th, at 8 o'clock when "Studies in the New Testament" will be continued.

The ladies of the Church will hold a cake sale on Friday, January 20, in the Social Hall, starting at 2.30 o'clock. The proceeds of the sale will be applied to the balance on the rugs in the Church Parlor. RIVERTON SCOUTS

Troop No. 1 held two meetings last week. At the regular Friday evening meeting an election was held for Troop Quartermaster, Treasurer and Scout Scribe. Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Henry Seabrook was unanimously elected Troop Quartermaster and Treasurer. Scout Shoemaker was elected Scout Scribe. The Scout Craft end of the meeting was taken up with an outline of the new requirements for first and second class scouts. Several interesting games were played in the recreation period of the meeting.

Saturday afternoon a special meeting was held at the Parish House for the purpose of passing tests. Scouts Wasikonis, Evans, Knight and Hirst passed various first and second class tests. Two or three scouts failed to pass the required test and were given until the next regular meeting to prepare.

Work is progressing rapidly on the painting of the staircase leading to the new troop meeting room. Several weeks ago two scouts in the troop were guilty of an unintentional breach of a promise which was made to the Scoutmaster relative to protection of Church property at the Parish House. These scouts were tried by a court consisting of the remainder of the boys in the troop. Upon being found guilty, the penalty was assigned that, in as much as, they had accidentally damaged property, they should have to do penance by improving the property. The penalty assigned was that they should paint the staircase leading to the troop meeting room.

Further plans for the troop this winter include special observation of Boy Scout Week in February and a visit from Mr. Clifton Lisle, Scoutmaster of Troop 1, of Paoli, Pa. Mr. Lisle took sixteen Eagle Scouts from his troop for a hiking trip through England and France last summer and the stories of adventures of this troop should be of much interest to the Riverton scouts.

A lazy man is as useless as a dead man—and takes up more room!—Elbert Hubbard.

Another Tryout for Show Tonight

First Response for Lions Club "Roar of 1928" Shows Worlds of Talent

Another try-out will be held this Thursday evening for the Palmyra Lions Club "Roar of 1928," entitled "And How."

This will probably be the last try-out to be held. All girls who wish to take part in the show and have the benefit of the stage dancing training under the direction of the Al White studios are requested to be on hand at the P. O. S. of A. Hall at 8 o'clock sharp. The girls are asked to wear either gym costume or loose clothing which will permit them to attempt some of the steps and also to eschew high heeled shoes.

At the meeting of the club Tuesday evening, Davis P. Smith, of the Al White Studios, made a report to the club of the first try-out held last Thursday evening. To say that Mr. Smith was well pleased is to put it mildly. A large number of girls were on hand, virtually enough to stage the show, and they displayed worlds of talent.

Mr. Smith intended to give them but one step to discover how well fitted for the part they were, but it was mastered so easily that he gave a whole routine that is one complete dance.

Mr. Smith also gave the highest of praise to the play and the music, all of which was composed by Frank A. Mathews, Jr. He said the Lions Club was unusually fortunate to have a man of such splendid and diversified talents as to not only write the book of the show, but also to compose the music and songs as well.

KEPT A SECRET !

I. O. O. F. Ladies Shatter All Records

To think that women cannot keep a secret is now to be deceived.

For over a year the Ladies' Auxiliary of Cinnaminson Lodge, I. O. O. F. have refrained from telling all they know, even to their husbands.

In playing "Santa Claus" to the members of No. 201 on Friday evening last, the Ladies' Auxiliary not only had a well defined party in store, but to cap the climax of the evening, they presented to the Lodge a handsome, six dozen, chest of silver, something that has been in great need for years past.

When the Auxiliary's President, Mrs. Everett Wiggins, made the presentation, not only were the members amazed by the magnitude of the gift, but greater respect was paid the ladies thereafter when it was realized that they were just finishing a plan laid out over a year ago, and it was an utter secret to ever member.

Alex Murphy received this handsome token and extended the ladies the highest praise and most grateful thanks of the lodge.

Cop Calls Cops to Catch Chicken Thieves and Maurauder Fades Away

Missing Fowls Are Found Tied Together in Orchard Near Wallace Homestead

Tuesday evening, just as Officer Wallace had settled himself for a long winter night's nap, he began hearing sounds which appeared to be in the vicinity of his own back yard. The officer went to the window and listened intently for a few moments. He was convinced that the sounds were emanating from the general direction of the chicken house where his aunt, Mrs. Edith Wallace, keeps her prize flock.

The officer reasoned that the fowls would not become implicated in any nocturnal disturbance without just cause and decided that there must be a poultry fancier involved. Fearing that the visitor might be of a very retiring disposition he did not wish to disturb him in his self appointed task lest he become panic stricken and flee the premises. Furthermore Officer Wallace, in the interests of his profession, was desirous of making observations of this most interesting pantomime.

It was apparent that in order to achieve the desired results the element of surprise would be most useful. How to do this was the moot question. As previously narrated the policeman had reached that period in his daily program where the sandman begins to play a part and was not attired in the fashoin that we are accustomed to associate with members of the police force.

Calls Whole Force

Surprise was obviously necessary under the circumstances so "Bucky" decided on the only alternative and called a cop. Officers Rodgers and Betty responded and rushed to the West Broad street address. By the time of their arrival "Bucky" had managed to jump into his official uniform and was ready to take part in the procedure. The bluecoats immediately surrounded the coop where the poultry expert was thought to be at work.

Cautiously they closed in on the chicken coop expecting action at any moment. When they reached the door and flashed a light inside the only thing within was just what one would expect in such a place, namely, chickens.

Officer Wallace was not satisfied that all this was the result of his imagination and began to check up on the number of fowls that should be in the place. It was found several were missing. The officers began a careful search of the orchard surrounding the house in an effort to locate the intruder but it was too dark to make much progress so they decided to call it a day.

Chickens Found

Next morning the happenings of the night before were reported to Chief Beck. "Morry" listened to the story and considered carefully all that had happened on the previous night and thought it would be a good idea to visit the scene and see if the conclusions he had drawn were not correct.

The chief then went to the scene of the nocturnal concert and began working out his theories. It was not long before he found the innocent victims of last evenings depredations all tied up together in the orchard some distance from the chicken house.

No doubt the quick action of the police on the preceding night had frightened the thief and he had left the fowls flat in order to make his getaway. Apparently the same thief had fared better in previous attempts as two other robberies of like nature were reported the same night in the vicinity of Sorrell Horse. In one place ten were missing and at another twelve were gone.

Rotary Planning Splendid Program

Ladies' Night and Visit by "Charlie" Puff to be Held Next Week

The Palmyra-Riverton Rotarians will be doubly honored on Thursday next when they will have as their guest, the members' wives, together with the distinction of having as their principal speaker, "Charlie" Puff, ex-Governor of the 50th District, who will be present with Mrs. Puff.

Mr. Puff is not only a genuine Rotarian, but a pleasing and forceful speaker, and his messages always linger long in the memories of his listeners.

President Horace Finney has issued an appeal to members and hopes to signalize the evening with a 100% attendance.

At the last meeting the Club had the pleasure of inducting into its membership, J. C. Clark, of Henry A. Dreer, Inc.

Carnations For All

As an evidence of their admiration for the club and in keeping with their classification, J. D. Elsie and Mr. Clark presented every member with a beautiful pink carnation. In addition to this every table was adorned by a cluster of these handsome specimens of the Dreer varieties.

Having been disappointed in the speaker of the evening, "Bishop" Lockett was asked, upon short notice, to address the Club.

His subject "Hidden Powers" was very unique and appropriate. While the members have implicit faith in the ability of their "Bishop" they were amazingly surprised at his "Hidden Powers" as he, although unprepared, gave the Club one of the most interesting talks it has ever listened to.

Hidden Powers

Mr. Lockett in illustrating his subject called attention to the hidden powers that lie in wheat, coal, radium, oils, gas and water. Going further, those unseen powers in liberty, brotherhood and manhood. Right here Mr. Lockett reiterated the story of John Brown, who although having a seemingly un-impressionable character, had within that hidden power which started the movement against slavery.

The hidden powers in things of this earth and in individuals, served as an illustration to emphasize the magnitude of power that lies in the collective group or club.

The "Bishop" laid stress on the importance of such service clubs as Rotary or other with similar ideals, for in such lie, to a great degree, the solution of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

Following the regular meeting of the Club this Thursday evening the Directors and Council will meet.

STORE ROBBED

Tires and Slot Machine Stolen at Five Points

The store of John Pfeiffer, at Five Points, was broken into and robbed late Saturday night. The intruder gained entrance by smashing the glass in the front door with a stone. There was no money left in the till so the thief decided that in order to get any cash from his evenings work it would be necessary to remove it from a penny slot machine hanging on the wall. The marauder took the slot machine together with whatever merchandise he could lay his hands on.

Three automobile tires were the most valuable articles taken. Several boxes of cigars, cigarettes, candy, etc., were also stolen.

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck, of Palmyra, was called, and County Detective Arthur Carabine is aiding in the investigation. Several clues to the identity of the robber were found on the premises.

The officers expect to round up the offender as soon as their investigation can be completed. They are looking for the slot machine and if found it will probably throw some light on the thief's identity.

TRIPLE CRASH

Sedan Hits Truck and Touring Car at Five Points

A speeding Franklin sedan was the cause of a three cornered collision at the intersection of Cinnaminson avenue and Burlington Pike late Saturday afternoon.

The sedan driven by Izzy Brawer, 392 Van Houston street, Paterson, accompanied by Herman Schwartz, Bronx, N. Y., and Ruth Zeghauser, of Fayetteville, N. C., was travelling at a high rate of speed towards Camden. A Ford truck driven by Fred Willis, 824 Columbia avenue, Palmyra, was approaching the Cinnaminson avenue intersection.

Willis started to make a left hand turn into Cinnaminson avenue when the sedan, unable to stop or turn out in time, crashed into the truck. After striking the truck a glancing blow the sedan careened to the other side of the highway and plowed into Ford touring car which was parked at the roadside. The touring car was owned by Emil Hufschmidt, of Five Points.

No one was hurt bad enough to require medical attention. The girl's head bumped against the side of the sedan and was painfully bruised. All the cars were badly smashed and were towed to Fortnum's garage.

Immediately after the crash the Palmyra police were notified and Officer Joseph Rodgers was sent to the scene where he took charge of the situation.

Sometimes after a girl has fished for a man and landed him she doesn't know how to get him off the hook.

PHS Quintet Wins Over Collingswood

Palmyra Leads Suburban League, Three Victories and No Defeats

CAMDEN-SUBURBAN LEAGUE

Standing of Teams

Haddon Heights	2	0	1.000
Collingswood	1	1	.500
Woodbury	0	1	.000
Haddonfield	0	2	.000
Moorestown	0	2	.000

The Palmyra high school basketball team scored its third consecutive victory in the Camden-Suburban League on the Palmyra floor Tuesday night when they defeated Collingswood 22 to 7. As a result of the victory P. H. S. is now at the top of the heap in league standing with three victories and no setbacks.

Haddon Heights is next, tieing Palmyra on the percentage basis but is ranked second because they have only participated in two games.

The fast Collingswood quintet was completely outclassed from the first. The Palmyra boys kept possession of the ball most of the time and did not allow the "Colts" much chance to demonstrate their scoring ability.

The game was cleanly contested and hard fought all the way through. The losers were in the game to the end despite the lopsided score against them. Palmyra had amassed a total of sixteen points to their opponents' five at the end of the first period. In the second period Collingswood was only able to score once. The lone goal was shot by Williams.

Hennessey was the stellar performer for Coach Dimond's aggregation. Hennessey's lucky number that evening was three. Three field goals and three fouls for a total of nine points. Branson and West divided honors with four points each.

Haddon Heights defeated Haddonfield the same evening, score 40 to 30.

The Palmyra boys won their game with Woodbury Friday evening rather handily. They took advantage of this opportunity to give a classy exhibition of their skill in locating the basket. Palmyra scored 35 points to 16 for their opponents.

Captain Eisley again demonstrated his ability to drop the inflated spheroid through the hoop scoring a total of 16 points, exactly the same number counted by the entire opposing quintet. Branson and West were next in line with 6 and 7 points respectively.

The best individual performance of the Woodbury five was registered by T. Filer with a total of 7 points.

Tomorrow night the Palmyra boys will play the Moorestown team in the gymnasium of the High School. These league games are always hard fought and cleanly contested and are certainly worth attending. Anyone who enjoys good basketball will do well to attend these games.

The girls basketball team will play Mount Holly the same night.

CHAUTAUQUA

The first Chautauqua was held half a century ago at Chautauqua Lake, New York. Hence the name. The Chautauqua movement is a non-partisan, non-sectarian system of education, entertainment and recreation for adults with special features for children which are not included in the public school curriculum.

A group of citizens in a community arranges with a Chautauqua manager for a week's program of lectures, music, plays, entertainment, and children's work. By furnishing the same program to hundreds of communities the management can and does maintain a high standard of excellence at a minimum cost. The speakers on the Chautauqua platform are powerful moulders of public opinion, reaching as they do some 10,000,000 people annually. Some authorities have ranked Chautauqua as America's fourth great institution, the others being the home, the church and the school.

Calamity-howlers and prophets of despair should face the Chautauqua audiences of America to have their eyes lifted up, their faith restored. By its neighborly contacts and free discussions, Chautauqua breaks down barriers of party, class and creed and leavens our whole national life with a spirit of tolerance, hope and joy of living.

According to the Bureau of Statistical Research of the International Lyceum and Chautauqua Association there were held during the last year for which figures are available, 9653 Chautauquas, 98 circuits were operated, 46,368 lectures were delivered; 5757 people were employed; 525 tent auditoriums were used; $2,219,883.64 were spent in railroad transportation; the aggregate attendance (not different people) was 35,449,750.

JESUS AND SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:1-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Forgives a Sinner.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Heals and Forgives.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Sympathy and Power.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Make Whole.

I. Jesus Preaching the Word (vv 1, 2).

1. The surging crowd (v. 2).

So great was the crowd gathered about the house where Jesus was stopping, that there was no room to received them. As soon as it was noised about that Jesus was in the house, the multitudes gathered.

2. What Jesus preached unto them (v. 2).

He preached unto them the Word of God. He always preached the Word before He wrought miracles, for to make known the will of God was His supreme mission. Miracles were not an end in themselves, but to authenticate His work. The people came, some to be healed, and some out of curiosity. He gave them that which they needed, regardless of the motive which actuated their coming.

II. Jesus Forgiving Sins (vv. 3-5)

The man brought to Him was suffering from the dread disease of palsy, but his most deadly affliction was that of sin. This miracle was wrought by Jesus in confirmation of His message.

1. Faith coming to Jesus (v. 3).

The actuating impulse of the palsied man and the four friends who carried him was faith.

2. Faith overcoming difficulties (v. 4).

Though prevented by the crowd from coming to Jesus, they ascended the outer stairway and let the afflicted man down through the roof.

3. Faith rewarded (v. 5).

No word was uttered either by the paralytic or his bearers. Their action was enough. The paralytic got more than he expected. He desired healing of the body and he got bodily healing plus forgiveness of sins.

III. Jesus Answering the Scribes (vv. 6-10).

1. Their objections (vv. 6, 7). They asked:

(1) Why does He thus speak? (2) Who can forgive sin?

They were entirely right in their reasonings that only God can forgive sins. Their blunder was in not perceiving Him to be God.

2. Jesus' answer (vv. 8-10).

He knew their inner thoughts and reasonings and manifested unto them His essential deity in that He had power to know their thoughts. He inquired, "Which is easier to say, thy sins be forgiven thee, or to say, arise and take up thy bed and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, He saith to the sick of the palsy, I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house." He was willing that His power in the invisible realm should be tested by His power in the visible.

IV. Jesus Healing the Paralytic (vv. 11, 12).

1. His healing was by the direct method—speaking the Word (v. 11). Christ's words are enough. With the command was given the strength to obey. That which Christ commands He gives the strength to perform.

2. The obedience of the man (v. 12).

He immediately arose, took up his bed and went forth before them all. The poor helpless man walked away with his bed upon his shoulder.

3. The people were amazed, and glorified God (v. 12). They said, "We never saw it on this fashion."

V. Jesus Eating With Publicans and Sinners (vv. 13-17).

1. The call of Levi (v. 14). Levi was a tax-gatherer under the Roman government. As Jesus passed by, He commanded Levi to leave his business and follow Him.

2. Jesus dining in Levi's house (v. 15). It seems that Levi, when he found the Savior, invited many of his business associates to eat with him. This gave an opportunity to Jesus to come into touch with these sinners.

3. The perplexed scribes and pharisees (v. 16). They asked, "How is it that He eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?"

4. Jesus' reply (v. 17). "They that are whole have no need of the physician. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Our Future

We never know for what God is preparing us in His schools; for what work on earth, for what work in the hereafter. Our business is to do our work well in the present place, whatever that may be.—Christian Exponent.

A report has been received from Edgar G. Rex, in charge of Seed Certification work in the State of New Jersey, to the effect that there are approximately 1200 bushels of certified red and yellow seed potatoes available in this State. The seed has stored well, and should do exceptionally well in commercial plantings. Those who are interested in obtaining a supply of this certified seed should communicate with the County Extension Office, Mt. Holly, to secure a list of growers who have this seed for sale.

Egg Production

A warm poultry house that will help to keep egg production high during the winter months must be well ventilated.

To maintain a warm, well-ventilated hen house, three things are needed. Tight walls, doors and windows; ventilated flues which may be constructed of wood at a low cost; and limited overhead space. To make the building tight, close all the cracks, cover the outside walls with roll roofing, or seal the inside walls. Reduce the air space by ceiling overhead or by constructing a straw loft.

Ventilation and warmth go together. If the house is tightly built and has all the doors and windows closed, the birds will give off heat enough to raise the inside temperature considerably above that on the outside. But when the house is tightly closed, moisture will begin to accumulate, and the air become stale. Ventilation is needed, therefore, to carry away the moisture and to bring in fresh air.

Lice and Mites

Poultry parasites are of many kinds. Sometimes they multiply until they kill the fowls on which they prey. But in the opinion of entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture parasites to even greater injury to the industry by reducing the vitality, stunting the growth, and checking the egg yield of fowls. Lice and mites are the most frequent and widespread groups of external parasites, and these two require entirely different methods of treatment to rid the fowls of their attacks because the two live under different conditions. The lice exist on the fowls, and the mites live in cracks and crevices in nests and roosts.

For eradicating lice the Department of Agriculture recommends application of sodium fluoride. It kills all varieties of lice—body, head and feather. This chemical may be applied by dusting or by dipping. Either the "chemically pure" or the "commercial" grades may be used, but the latter is cheaper and more easily obtained. Young chicks require very little, and a pound of powder costing about 50 cents should kill the lice on a flock of about 100 chickens.

Dipping the fowls is still easier and cheaper, but it is not wise to dip fowls unless the weather is warm. A single treatment of every fowl, by either the dusting or dipping, will completely eradicate all lice from the premises.

For mites the procedure is utterly different. Mites do not live on the fowls by day, but come out and suck their full of blood when the fowls are roosting. First the poultry house must be cleaned thoroughly. Trash, nesting material, etc., should be taken out and burned. Then go over the whole house thoroughly with crude petroleum or carbolineum using either a spray pump or brush to apply the material. Petroleum is cheaper but the carbolineum gets into the cracks better and lasts longer. Paint the roosts and let the petroleum or carbolineum work into every crack. The mite killer should dry before the chickens go to roost.

MOVIE HITS

Janet Gaynor, of "7th Heaven" to be Seen at Walt Whitman

To meet a popular request and for the benefit of those who come from a great distance, the Walt Whitman Theatre is making the following change in the running time of the Saturday night shows.

Doors open at 6.15 p. m.
Picture starts at 6.30 p. m.
Vaudeville starts at 7 o'clock.

Second show starts at 9 o'clock sharp.

This change is being made to allow time for two complete shows and also to facilitate greater comfort to the patrons in the handling of the big crowds on that night.

The time of shows during the week will remain as at present until further notice.

Janet Gaynor will be seen in "2 Girls Wanted" next Monday and Tuesday.

This picture was made while Miss Gaynor was still fresh from her sensational triumph as Diane in "7th Heaven," and is said to be her supreme achievement to date.

Glenn Tryon plays opposite the young star and Ben Bard and Marie Mosquini, both whom supported Miss Gaynor in "7th Heaven," also have important roles in this production.

"Three's a Crowd," starring Harry Langdon, is scheduled for next Wednesday and Thursday.

Although "Three's a Crowd" is being hailed as one of the funniest pictures in screen history, it does not contain a single unnecessary or obvious gag. It is almost purely narrative—an engrossing story which lends itself aptly to Langdon's peculiar genius for comedy.

"Sally in Our Alley," is coming Friday and Saturday of next week. In this picture Shirley Mason is supported by an exceptional cast of well known favorites including Richard Arlen, last seen in "The Blood Ship," which like this picture is a Columbia special. Florence Turner in a mother role, was the Shirley Mason of fifteen years ago. The rest of the cast includes Alec Francis, featured in "Peter Grimm" and "The Music Master" for Fox; Paul Panzer, Kathlyn Williams, William H. Strauss and Harry Crocker. Credit for the admirable direction of this production goes to Walter Lang.

THE TOUCHDOWN

The seniors of Palmyra High School will give an inimitable play, "The Touchdown," which is very well adapted to the talent of the students, on February 24 and 25.

The most dramatic character is that of an Indian maiden whose role is played by Thelma Jones. The hero of this thrilling football story is Edward Hutchins. It is very seldom that the enthusiasm of a football game can be conveyed from the field to the stage.

Although there is to be no actual football played on the stage, the usual football spirit will be awakened. Two very charming characters are those of the twins which are played by Dorothy Cole and Edith Hummel. The role of the leading lady, a sweet, lovable, coed, will be played by Jane Price.

Every year the seniors have given worthwhile plays and this play promises to be even better than those of former years.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

Palmyra Company Has Two Calls in One Day

The Palmyra fire company was called on to answer two alarms last Thursday. The first alarm was caused by a grass fire which broke out in the vicinity of Front and Arch streets shortly before noon. The high winds made it apparent that the fire would gain considerable headway unless checked immediately. The fire company responded at once and soon extinguished the blaze.

The second alarm of the day was just after five o'clock in the afternoon. A steam shovel owned by H. F. Starns, a Camden contractor, caught on fire at the Morrell Parry sand hole near Five Points. The fire had done considerable damage before the fire company was called but was soon extinguished by the firemen from Palmyra and from the Parry fire company which is nearby.

The steam shovel was so badly damaged that it will require several days to make the necessary repairs. It was being used in connection with the work of filling the approaches to the Palmyra-Tacony bridge and the work will be slowed up a bit while the repairs are being made.

OFF-FLAVORED MILK CAUSES EXPLAINED

Guard against off-flavors in milk during the cold weather when barns are closed and conditions conjested, warns R. G. Connelly, extension specialist in dairying at the N. J. State Agricultural College.

Milk has the absorbing qualities of a sponge, so that whenever foreign odors exist near milk, it will have an off-flavor highly distasteful to the customer.

Such defects may be traced usually to one of three sources. First, faulty barn ventilation which may allow gases and odors to accumulate. Then there is the matter of feeding. Good hay and grain ordinarily do not produce abnormal flavors in milk, but turnips, cabbages, potatoes, and certain weeds will make milk very repusilve to some customers. The best plan is to feed after milking rather than before. Finally milk becomes contaminated from foreign odors when it is stored or handled in places where fruits, vegetables, oil, gasoline or other materials emitting strong odors, are stored. Proper ventilation and exposure to sunlight will help, but it is better to remove the offending object.

MT. HOLLY MAN OFFERS TRACT FOR PLAYGROUND

Thomas L. Quigley, of Mount Holly, has offered his land known as the mill dam lot as a playground for the children of Mount Holly and the matter is now being considered by the playground committee of the Mount Holly Chamber of Commerce. From time to time it has developed that more playground room has been needed, as the court house yard has not been sufficient to accomodate all the games that the children want to play. Mr. Quigley has come forward with his offer for the purpose of providing some relief for the situation.

It is understood that the Chamber of Commerce committee will ask the Township Committee to make an appropriation sufficient to provide for properly guarding the ground during the season of the year when the children are apt to be on the lot for their play.

POULTRYMEN PLAN BREEDING PROGRAM

To improve the annual egg production capacity of the average New Jersey hen is the purpose of the "New Jersey Record of Performance Association" recently formed by New Jersey poultry breeders.

Unusual competition on the New York market for New Jersey eggs and high feed prices, which promise not to be lowered, make New Jersey poultrymen realize that their chief hope of continued profit from table eggs lies in the increased capacity of their birds.

The New Jersey Record of Performance Association is composed of poultry breeders who have accepted the state certification plan and are trapnesting and otherwise using the record of the individual for improved breeding. Herman Demme, of the Debro Poultry Farm, Sewell, is president of this new organization and Paul Smith, Vineland, is secretary-treasurer. C. T. Darby, North Branch, and Melvin W. Fox, Little Falls, are first and second vice-presidents respectively.

This association is to hold a winter educational meeting jointly with the New Jersey State Poultry Association on Thursday, January 12, at Trenton, which will be addressed by Prof. Clarence S. Platt, assistant poultry husbandman, J. C. Taylor, assistant poultry extension specialist, and Dr. James J. Black, assistant poultry pathologist, of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. N. C. Norris of Cornell University. A banquet is to be held on the evening of January 12. These two associations are cooperating with the department of poultry husbandry in educational exhibits which are to be a part of the annual show at the Trenton Armory during Agricultural Week.

Modernized Jingle Bells

Blow that horn, blow that horn,
Jump upon the gas,
Oh, what red hot fun it is, another car to pass!
Roaring down a concrete road, the surface sure and fine,
Give her all that's combi', kid, we're touching eighty-nine.
Ninety-five the meter says, the speed laws are all hash,
Holly sweet patootie, but we're heading for a crash,
Toll, oh bells, toll bells, keep tolling all the day,
For another sorry dumb-bell's busy being laid away.

Misery loves company, but not any more than happiness does.

A MILLION BILLION YEARS

DEAD BANK BANDITS

AT THE AGE OF FORTY

AN $110,000,000 IDEA

The Reverend Dr. Cadman remarks that "This planet may exist for nearly a million billion years longer." An anxious Christian asks, "Do you believe that the soul sleeps in the grave with the body a million billion years, waiting for the judgment? If I really believed it, I think I should try to have a pretty good time while still in the flesh."

The Reverend Dr. Cadman tells the inquiring soul that when you are unconscious a million billion years seems no longer than a minute and a half, and tells the soul: "It is better to awake from a prolonged torpor with clean recollections in your conscious past than as a moral idiot."

The child that "can't wait a week for Christmas" and the Christian "that can't wait a million billion years for the judgment day" are both interesting, and both children mentally.

Texas wants bank bandits, and wants them dead. Texas banks carry this sign: "$5,000 for each dead bank robber—not one cent for 100 live ones."

Banks don't want live robbers because they are hard to identify, hard to convict, hardly ever kept in the penitentiary after going there.

This may discourage bank robbing. It will impress on bank robbers the fact that they must kill first, or be killed.

Mr. Babe Ruth amazes "sportdom" by saying, "nearing advanced age of thirty-four," that he believes in all year round training and expects to be "just as good at forty" as he is now.

For such work as Babe Ruth does, hard hitting and running, forty should be the best age, and fifty about as good. It isn't their work, but their play between times, that makes men old.

Long ago, near Batavia, N. Y., a boy was born and soon had an idea. He once told this writer how he gave up smoking "extravagant five-cent cigars," saving money to carry out his plan and build his first car.

Two men slept in the upper, two in the lower berth, for fifty cents apiece. Abraham Lincoln was one of his first passengers, going from Chicago to Springfield, and was too long for the berth. The other man protested. The man selling the tickets beside the car was George M. Pullman, and now the Interstate Commerce Commission fixes the value of his Pullman company at $110,238,786, which is far below its real value.

Get a good idea, stick to it, make sacrifices, and the idea will take care of you, later.

Mrs. Hickman, mother of the Los Angeles kidnaper, will testify that she was once insane and attempted suicide, thus seeking to save her son by a plea of hereditary insanity.

It is not conceivable that anything could save that murderer from the extreme penalty. A crime almost as great as his own was lightly locking this young criminal up and lightly letting him out again on former occasions.

The learned Dr. Stockard, professor of anatomy at Cornell University has experimented with alcohol on five thousand guinea pigs during seventeen years. This is his conclusion:

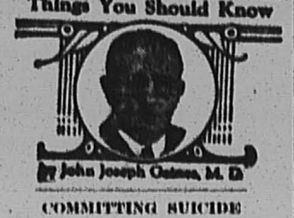

"Guinea pigs drunk with alcohol are, if anything, a little healthier than teetotal guinea pigs and live just as long. One guinea pig was made drunk with alcohol six days every week and his health was perfect."

But first, the guinea pig has nothing to do but eat, breathe and digest. He doesn't need to use his brain. Second, the kind college professor gave good alcohol to his drunken guinea pigs, not bootlegger alcohol.

There is excitement at Red Lodge, Mont. Mrs. A. Pollard, opening the gizzard of her Christmas turkey, raised in that neighborhood, found small gold nuggets. Prospectors are seeking desperately the spot where the turkey picked up the nuggets. To the turkey those nuggets were simply rough stones swallowed to help grind corn. To "proud man" those nuggets are the beginning and the end of earthly ambition, ninety-nine times out of a hundred. Wise turkey, foolish man.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

COMMITTING SUICIDE

Any one who suddenly ends his life voluntarily, by his own act, is a suicide. I believe that one who ends or shortens his existence slowly—perhaps unconsciously—commits the same unwholesome deed.

I read somewhere that civilization has added seven hundred articles of food to our overworked dietary! Think of it, in the face of the fact that the human body needs actually only a half-dozen! I feel sure that the seven hundred are only modifications, mixtures, and adulterations of the few food-units required. In place of plain bread and butter, fruits and meats, we are eating distillates, fermentations, hashes and conglomerations, sugared pyramids, and highly dynamized temptations to depraved appetites, which wreak destruction by slow but certain stages on the bodies that are, from hour to hour stuffed with them, suicide? I know of no better word to employ.

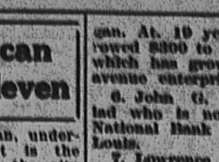

Our advertising pages, woman's magazines and newspapers are flaming with colored illustrations of saturated, striped, and colored deflers of digestion. New recipes are almost daily added, that seem irresistible—as if plain, wholesome food were not inestimably better for sound sleep and good health! Our people consume tons and tons of sugar in myriad forms each year. Commercialism knows that the easist route to the pocket-book is by way of the appetite.

There is no argument against that for long, healthy, comfortable life. Every octogenarian, even centenarian, is a living convincing witness for plain food, temperate living, and sound sleep. Every man that dies at fifty-five of "heart failure," "cerebral hemorrhage" and "acute indigestion" is a terrible indictment of the gastronomic debauches of our people of today. Life is too precious to be frittered away by dissipation.

If you want a good figure, healthy muscles, sound brain, and elastic step, cling to the simple diet and steady employment.

THE COLUMBIA BASIN

President Coolidge, in an address the other day, alluded to the effort of the Government to create new territory.

This is the true method of conquest. A lot better than going to war and subjecting another State it is to turn water on to a desert and make a new State.

Mr. Coolidge said, "A waterway system for the Mississippi Valley and its tributaries with one arm reaching to the Gulf and another to the Atlantic is only a question of time. The Colorado River is pressing, the Columbia Basin is not far distant."

To many of my readers this phrase, the Columbia Basin, is a sort of also ran. I confess until recently it was to me.

But I am writing this in Spokane, Washington, just a few miles from this basin and right here it is a subject of supreme interest. As far as that is concerned, it is of considerable interest to the whole country and not merely a local affair.

The Panama Canal fired the imagination of the world. Huge reclamation projects at various times have interested us and applied for aid to the general Government.

But this Columbia Basin project will be about the biggest thing we have ever undertaken and are ever liable to undertake.

It means a bringing into cultivation or a transforming from desert to thrifty lands about two million acres.

This can be done by merely utilizing dead waters which now run waste. Fortunate these waters are at a higher level than the irrigated land, so all that is necessary is the motive power of gravitation.

It would mean, however, building some dams, making tunnels and constructing huge concrete lined canals, and the project is so immense that nobody could take it up but the general government.

We hear a lot about the Colorado River and the Boulder Dam, but really this thing is bigger.

This country once was settled during what they call a wet cycle and 25,000 farmers lived in it.

But then came the drought and they all had to leave, for they couldn't raise crops on 7-inch rainfalls during the year. Now the land is sand and sage brush.

The soil is wonderfully fertile, as it is probably the bottom of an old lake, and all it needs is water. With water they can raise two crops of potatoes a year and the finest potatoes in the world. They would have a climate even superior to Yakima for the raising of apples, and corn, wheat, and other midwest products could be grown in abundance.

The men who are pushing this thing are public-spirited citizens, for they will probably all be dead before the scheme could be brought into completion, as it will take probably 150 years.

The project has the full endorsement of President Coolidge Secretary Work, Secretary Hoover and General Goethals.

Redeeming worthless land and making it productive is about the best business a Government can engage in.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

E. W. Jorgenson, Editor of the Spokane, (Wash.) Press, says:

That once upon a time there was a snake. Every day the snake snoozed in the sun. After it had warmed up comfortably the snake would uncurl itself and go hunting for lunch. Then the various parts of the snake would say to one another, "What a wonderful thing is cooperation!"

"If you folks follow me," the Eyes would say to the rest of the rest of the snake, "I will show you where to find something good to eat."

"If you folks will push me along," said the Mouth to the Vertebre, "I will capture the lunch so you can have food."

"And if you will carry me," the Stomach would say joyfully to the others, "I will digest the food so you can continue strong and healthy." And even the tail would wiggle its joy and boost the wonders of cooperation.

But one day the various parts of the snake became enemies. The Eyes became jealous of the Mouth and said, "they did it all" in the finding of food. "If I didn't see for you there would be no food to eat," screamed the Eyes to the Mouth.

"Yeah! And if I didn't bite you wouldn't eat" roared the mouth in anger to the Stomach. And even the Tail got into the quarrel insisting that if it did not wiggle the rest couldn't get anywhere.

So each part of the snake decided to go its own way and after a while they were all lying in the hot desert brush, weary and starving.

"Oh, what a wonderful thing is cooperation," moaned the snake's Tail to his fellows.

P. S. OFFICIAL CITES FINE COOPERATION

Bulletin With Expression of Thanks for Work During 1927 Issued to Operators

In a bulletin to all operators of Public Service trolleys and buses, Matthew R. Boylan, vice president in charge of operation, expresses the appreciation of the Public Service management for the fine spirit of co-operation shown by the men during the past year.

"I have asked for your co-operation and support in improving the service and I have received it," writes Mr. Boylan. "There are many things in our relations that convince me that the spirit of our organization was never better. You have demonstrated your loyalty in your support of our accident prevention efforts, in the good work in enlisting our patrons as stockholders of the parent corporation, in what you have accomplished in the way of selling transportation to the public by means of courteous treatment of passengers and care for their convenience."

Mr. Boylan also takes occasion to remark upon the many letters received, commenting favorably upon the conduct of Public Service operators.

The bulletin in concluded with an expression of thanks from the company to each operator.

An All-American Business Eleven

A Wall Street statistician, undertaking to prove that it is the country boy, rather than the city lad, who makes his mark in the world of business and finance, has just picked an all-American "business team" for 1927. He has selected eleven names, using for the purpose the men who have occupied the most prominent position each month in the American Magazine, and who therefore may be considered the most conspicuous examples of achievement for the year. The names include ten men and one woman. It includes one newspaper man, one banker, one railroader, and several merchants and manufacturers. Here is the "All-American Business Eleven:"

1. John H. Spencer, Revere, Massachusetts. Obliged to quit school at eleven, he envolved the $2,000,000 idea of a themostat.

2. Daniel Murray Edwards, dry-goods king of Buffalo, Syracuse and Rochester despite being crippled.

3. George Matthew Adams, Saline, Michigan. Thrown out of work during the panic of 1907 with $27 in his pocket, he now heads one of the biggest newspaper syndicates in America.

4. William Todd, Wilmington, Delaware. He worried so hard about his parents that he bought a $7,000,000 shipyard on his nerve.

5. Peggy Hoyt, Saginaw, Michigan. At 19 years of age she borrowed $300 to start a fashion shop which has grown into a big Fifth avenue enterprise.

6. John G. Lonsdale, Memphis lad who is now president of the National Bank of Commerce in St. Louis.

7. Lawrence A. Downs, Indiana boy who is now president of the Illinois Central Lines.

8. Theodore Gary, of Macon Missouri, who after 48 years of hard luck manufactures 80 per cent of all the world's automatic telephone equipment.

9. Edward E. Shumaker, president of the Victor Talking Machine Company, who saved the industry when it was believed that the radio had killed the business.

10. M. A. Aylesworth, Colorado lawyer, new head of the National Broadcasting Company.

11. William A. Burnette, Tennessee mountain boy who started to get an education at 21, and now owns a great aluminum ware firm.

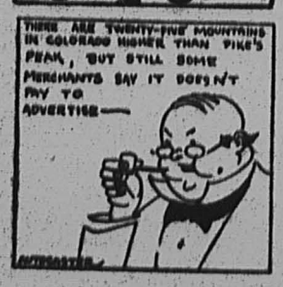

It is noted that all of these holders of coveted positions of national eminence are country boys, who have beaten their city-bred rivals into the Hall of Fame.

Ho: "I wasn't. I cleaned out the furnace and my profanity is now practically perfect."

Public Service partial payment plan further simplifies the purchase of an oven heat regulator gas range.

The Hoover Cleaning Action Removes All Dirt From Rugs

MOST cleaning methods do not reach the deeply embedded dirt in rugs and carpets. These fine sharp-edged particles endanger the wearing qualities of rugs, and are unsanitary. There is only one way to get rid of ground-in dirt and that is to loosen and remove it as the Hoover does by Positive Agitation.

The Positive Agitator vibrates the tramped-in dirt to the surface to be swept up by the suction action of the Hoover into its dust-proof bag, along with the surface dust and lint.

Two models with the Positive Agitator are shown at Public Service stores—the Hoover 700, ball-bearing throughout, $75. The Hoover No. 543 at $59.50. Either model may be bought on the partial payment plan at a slight increase over these prices, $5 down, $5 a month.

Lamps Answer All Calls for Light

The invitation of the arm chair after sundown is emphasized if the arm chair has as a companion a floor lamp of adjustable height. The vellum shade now in favor diffuses the light for reading or sewing.

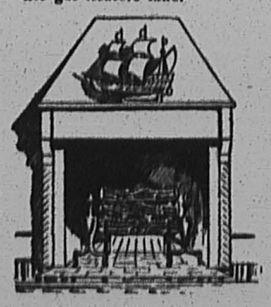

It is easy to find your favorite radio stations with such a lamp as this to shed light on the dials.

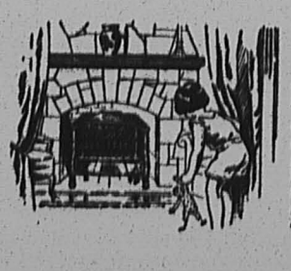

The telephone too needs an standing lamp, and the one illustrated is a good choice.

The Cheerful Gas Heater Is Also Reduced in Price

AT no time do we welcome the warmth and glow of an open fire more than during the early months of the year. Gas fires serve this purpose efficiently and attractively, due to the instant response of gas as a fuel and to the many pleasing forms the gas heaters take.

Gas Woodfire reduced in price to $44 cash. On terms $47 or $5 down, $3.90 a month for 12 months. Price includes connection.

Brilliant gas fire No. 170 reduced in price to $24.30 cash. On terms $25.70 or $4 down and $3.10 monthly for 7 months.

Light and Warmth for the Home

Local Business Man Subject of Address

Merchant Should Deal in Service, Fromuth Tells Chamber of Commerce

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce was held in the Legion Hall Tuesday evening. Walter D. Lamon, the newly elected president, occupied the chair.

After the routine business had been attended to, communications of special interest were read. Probably the most important of these was a letter from the newly organized association known as "Burlington Countians, Incorporated." This organization was started by members of the Bevel-Edge Club of Beverly and Edgewater Park as a result of discussion as to the best way to advertise the advantages of Burlington County. The Chamber of Commerce was invited to join in a club membership.

Attention was called to the fact that anything done to advertise the county as a whole would be more beneficial to Palmyra and Riverton than to any other part of the county on account of proximity to Philadelphia and the conveniences which will be afforded by the new Palmyra-Tacony Bridge.

The Chamber decided to join at once and lend the support of all the members to this worthy project.

Organization of "Burlington Countians, Incorporated," will be completed at a meeting to be held in the Riverside Trust Company's building this Friday evening. The officials of the Chamber were authorized to attend.

The feature of the evening was an address by Fred G. Fromuth, who took for his subject, "The Relation of the Merchant to His Community.' To say that Mr. Fromuth handled his subject well is putting it mildly. Several men present were lavish in their praise of the speaker's ability to drive home his meaning in such an easy and straightforward manner. Part of this address follows:

Talks on Merchants

"What is the relationship of a merchant to his community?

"A merchant is one making a business of buying and selling goods and wares. One old meaning of the world 'merchant' was 'a rogue,' probably a reflection on the methods of merchandising used at that time, when it required roguery to be successful as a merchant.

"That time has gone and the calling of the merchant is an honorable one.

"Due to the fact that merchandising has become so complicated we often lose sight of the principles involved.

"Every merchandising transaction must carry benefit to the buyer as well as to the seller.

"This idea brings out the fact that everyone produces something and uses something but it is service of some kind that is exchanged and money is the medium of exchange but Service is the real commodity.

"Many stores all try to serve to the best of their ability many residents whose need for service varies. In spite of the fact that we have over 100 businesses in Palmyra many thousands of dollars go elsewhere in trade.

"Why?

"Merchants at fault? Stocks alike? New store that offers nothing different in price or service is taking business from the established store without suitable return.

"Try to cater to special classes of trade instead of all merchants trying to sell all classes unsatisfactorily.

Advertising

"We know it is impossible for us to call at our customers' homes every morning and ring the door bell or to pick up the telephone and say 'Good morning, this is John Smith, the tailor. Is there some service I can render this morning, some clothes to be pressed?'

"We cannot do this even once a week although it is a present day custom for some stores to do this with many of their good customers but they cannot begin to reach the number of people they would like in this way.

"To send a letter each day would cost more in time and postage and stationery than many of us would be able to spend.

"To send circulars to every one is a very costly proposition and then we know from experience that many of them will be picked up and thrown in the waste basket without so much as a glance.

"Therefore the question arises, How shall be advertise? We have a fellow merchant who publishes a newspaper for the purpose of selling news to the town. He makes a living off news just as we make a living off groceries, tobacco and dry-goods. Your message to those you want for customers is news in a degree but not as eagerly looked for as accidents, murders and unusual occurences, so you must pay for your messages.

"We talk to our customers when we see them, why not talk to them when we do not see them and talk to a lot of them at once?

"Does advertising pay? Most assuredly. The man who does not advertise pays the bill, not the advertiser.

"John Smith and Bill Jones each sell shoes. Their stores are next to each other. John Smith tells the people what a good shoe seller he is and how well he can serve them. Bill Jones has just as good a stock and is just a good a fellow, but is too modest to say anything about it and John Smith gets the profit of the greater amount of business that he does, less the cost of advertising, while Bill Jones sees business go to John Smith, part of which would logically go to him if neither of them advertised. Bill Jones is paying for John Smith's advertising."

Mr. Fromuth also stressed the necessity of the business people sticking together. He urged all business people to consider Palmyra merchants first when they wished to make a purchase.

The speaker urged concerted action in advertising Palmyra. He pointed out the advantages that could be derived through community advertising through the Chamber of Commerce.

It is hoped that more of the members will avail themselves of the privilege of participating in these interesting meetings and that those who were not present will make every effort to attend the February meeting.

SAMARITANS MEET

Baptist Sunday School Class Dined With Sour Krout Supper

The Samaritan Class of the Central Baptist Church, which stands among the largest young men's classes in Burlington county, held its regular monthly meeting in the Church basement on Tuesday evening last.

The meeting was marked by a fine attendance and much enthusiasm and good fellowship which is being enveloped into program of greater activities for the year 1928.

The class was again favored with the presence of Dr. Dean H. LeFavor who through his professional duties has been an absentee for some time past. "Doc" as usual was escorted to his seat of distinction and favored the class with some well appreciated musical numbers.

As a surprise, the entertainment committee, of which Ernest Woodcock is chairman assisted by Harry Hough and Charles A. Deitz, teacher, prepared a very tasty sour krout cover which was thoroughly enjoyed.

The February meeting, being the date for the annual election of officers, a special program of entertainment is being arranged which is in charge of Ernest Woodcock and Dr. LeFavor.

The absentees of last Tuesday evening will do well to put this date in their diary. February 14th.

Moorestown Loses Trolley Service

Railway Route to be Replaced by 15-Minute Bus Schedule

Trolleys in Moorestown will soon be a thing of the past.

The Public Service Railway Company was granted permission to discontinue its Moorestown trolley service, which virtually means abandonment, at a hearing before the State Public Utility Commission in Camden Monday.

Walter Carson, Moorestown's efficient solicitor, appeared before the Utility Commission in the interest of the traveling public of Moorestown and laid down conditions which he felt should be met before permission to abandon the trolleys was granted. Charles S. Straw, counsel for the Public Service, accepted the conditions as outlined by township attorney.

It is understood an order granting the abandonment of the six mile line will be issued by the Public Utility Board immediately. In consenting to substituted bus service, Mr. Carson said the residents of Moorestown insist on four conditions which will insure frequent and dependable transportation.

15-Minute Service

The first condition requires that the bus line now operating from the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry in Camden to Chester avenue, be extended to Borton's Landing Road. The second states that the line from the ferry as well as the line running between the Camden Courthouse plaza and Mount Holly and Burlington, be co-ordinated as to schedule so that they will arrive and depart at Moorestown at fifteen-minute intervals.

Other demands are that the Public Service Company shall at its own expense remove the tracks running on either side of Camden pike on demand, to make way for permanent improvement of the pike by new paving and that the buses shall be operated on a definite schedule and provide timetables.

Mr. Carson said it is hoped Burlington county will shortly extend the concrete road the entire width of Moorestown pike, filling the space now taken by the tracks.

Retains Franchise

Mr. Straw declared that the tearing up of the trolley tracks must not be considered as an abandonment by the trolley company of their franchise on the line.

Mr. Carson was largely guided in his stand by the sentiment of the mass meeting held in Town Hall Thursday evening of last week. A large number of citizens attended and the concensus of the meeting favored the discontinuance of the trolley line to be substituted by "adequate, safe, modern bus service on a reasonable fare basis."

The sentiment of the meeting also favored an agreement whereby the Public Service will remove the tracks within a reasonable amount of time, as it was felt that buses will add to the congestion of the already heavy traffic on Camden pike. It was felt that the trolley tracks should be torn up in the very near future and the road should be paved from curb to curb for both the convenience and safety of the motoring public.

Many prominent citizens expressed their views on the subject.

HORACE RICHMOND

Horace Richmond, father of Edton and Robert Minot Richmond, of Palmyra, passed away last Saturday evening at the home of his brother, Fred P. Richmond, 41 Arlington streets, Brockton, Mass., in his 67th year.

Mr. Richmond was a member of the firm of L. Richmond & Co., one of the oldest mercantile concerns in the city of Brockton, Mass.

MISSIONARY

Miss Craft Tells of Her Work in China

Miss Ruth Craft, a missionary to China, formerly of Palmyra, addressed the Women's Missionary Society of the Calvary Presbyterian Church last Friday afternoon.

Miss Craft took the guests through the daily routine of her work and described the beautiful scenery of China.

Five other missionary societies were invited from Burlington, Beverly, Delanco, Moorestown and Mount Holly. About one hundred were present.

After Miss Craft's address, tea was served by the Calvary group to all the guests.

P. H. S. ORCHESTRA

The Palmyra High School orchestra will give its annual concert Tuesday evening, January 31. It is planned to have a very interesting program arranged consisting of both instrumental and vocal numbers. The plans have not as yet been completed but those in charge wish to assure the public that a high class entertainment will be provided. More details will be announced later and it is suggested that this date be kept in mind.

GUN CLUBS NEW OFFICERS

The Community Gun Club elected new officers at a meeting last week. The new officials are: Howard Herker, president; Charles Shaffer, vice president; Leslie Herker, treasurer; Ed. Faunce, secretary.

Every Saturday afternoon the Club will hold a shoot at the Shaffer farm on Fork Landing Road. Everyone who is interested in clay bird shooting is cordially invited to join the club. Every other Saturday a prize shot will be held.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS OF STATE TO MEET

The New Jersey Guernsey Breeders Association will hold its Sixth Annual Meeting, at 11 A. M., on Thursday, January 12, at the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton. The program includes a business meeting for the members before luncheon. Luncheon will be served at the Stacy-Trent Hotel; tickets can be secured from the Field Secretary at New Brunswick. All friends of the Guernsey cow are invited to the luncheon and the afternoon session.

Robert Scoville, President of the American Guernsey Cattle Club will address those present. H. A. Strohmeyer of New York will show his colored Stereopticon Views of the Channel Islands, a collection of pictures which are well worth seeing. A moving picture of the Guernsey Field Day held at Wendmere Farms, New Market, N. J., will be shown, after which the presentation of the Herdsman Trophies will take place.

The meeting will adjourn to meet with the General Dairy Meeting and to hear Professor Oscar Erf of Ohio State University give a discussion on "Protecting Your Raw Milk Market," a subject well worth hearing. After the meeting the General Dairyman's Banquet will be held at 6 P. M. at the Stacy-Trent Hotel.

MARGARET SHEA

Mrs. Margaret Shea, 63 years old, died at her home, at Cinnaminson, on Tuesday, January 10. Funeral services will be held from the residence at two o'clock Friday afternoon. Interment will be made in Morgan Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Harkey, pastor of the Moravian Church, will officiate.

Friends may call Thursday evening. Frank A. Snover will have charge of funeral arrangements.

Those who say that life is a burden always make others tired.

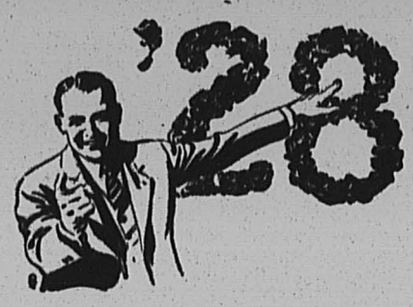

LIFE ENDANGERED BY INFECTED HEEL

An infected heel, caused by a blister which came from tramping around the marshes last Thursday, nearly caused the death of Charles A. Wright this week.

While driving to Philadelphia with the engineer after the trip around the site of the Jersey terminal of the Tacony-Palmyra bridge, Mr. Wright's foot slipped from the clutch pedal of his car, and the skin was torn from the top of the blister.

On arriving home Mr. Wright applied home remedies to the injury, but during the night the foot became very painful and Mr. Wright developed a high fever.

Dr. Mills was summoned and injected a serum for septic poisoning, which probably saved Mr. Wright's life. On Tuesday the doctor lanced the swelling, and the patient is now resting easier.

How Shall You Invest January Funds?

At Present Prices, Most Stocks and Bonds Net Too Low a Yield, Without Insuring Safety

CAUTION IS URGED IN MAKING COMMITMENTS

BIG "melon" cuts and regular quarterly dividends will turn an enormous supply of funds into investors' hands, which must find its way into profitable channels. How shall you invest your share?

Financial advisers are sounding a warning note of caution to investors because the prices of most stocks and bonds are too high and at present levels, the return is inadequate. Then, too, there is no assurance of safety to compensate for the low yield.

Especially at this time, Mortgage Bonds of the West Jersey Bond and Mortgage Investment Company present unusually attractive possibilities.

5½% REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE BONDS

Our Special "Investment-Savings Plan" permits the small investor to buy "West Jersey 5½'s" at $5.00 per month per unit.

With an assured yield of 5½% to their maturities, with safety of both principal and interest guaranteed, "West Jersey 5½'s" should be generously bought for safety and income as well as to afford a good balance to your list.

"NEVER A DOLLAR LOST TO ANY INVESTOR", because these bonds are issued against first mortgages, upon a carefully diversified list of improved C-R-O-U-P real estate (not individual property). These mortgages seldom reach the 60% of appraisal value of property allowed. There is no risk; no fluctuation; sufficient equity is always behind these bonds.

They are legal for investment of trust funds and by insurance companies and national banks.

WILLIAMS RETAINS POST AS POLICE DEPARTMENT HEAD

His Appointment by Mayor Rogers Unanimously Confirmed by Council

$12,000 INCREASE IN BUDGET THIS YEAR

At the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night Mayor Howard M. Rogers announced his appointment of the police committee as follows: Edward R. Williams chairman, William A. Welsh and Henry L. Randall. It was unanimously confirmed.

The following appointment of the fire and water committee was also unanimously approved: Henry L. Randall, chairman, Joshua S. Bartley and William B. Lynch.

Director of Public Safety Williams presented a report of his department for the past year, which included 18 arrests for violation of motor vehicle laws, and four commitments to the almshouse at New Lisbon. Mr. Williams said that while only 18 had been "given a ticket," many others had been warned.

Check Speeding Buses

The director said that something must be done to stop buses from using the streets of the borough as speedways. He said that in other towns ordinances had been passed which checked this evil to a large extent. On recommendation of the mayor, Mr. Williams will ascertain just what can be done and lay a complete plan before Council.

Mr. Williams said that he had been asked by a number of people if anything could be done to provide the small children of the town a safe place to roller skate, and he asked the opinion of his fellow councilmen of the plan of closing Thomas avenue to traffic between Seventh street and Midway a couple of hours every afternoon when the weather was suitable for the children to enjoy their skates. He said that some such thing must be done or the children should be kept out of the street. Otherwise, the director said, some of them will in all probability be hurt or killed.

Oppose Closing Street

Mr. Bartley and Mr. Lynch expressed themselves as opposed to closing the street, and on motion of Mr. Lynch the matter was referred to the police committee with power to act.

In the absence of Mr. Randall, chairman, Mr. Lynch submitted the report of the fire and water committee, which included an inventory of the property in custody of the fire company, and a list of the company's requirements for the coming year.

The report was accepted and ordered filed, and the requisition for supplies was turned over to the chairman of the committee.

Councilman Welsh moved that the salary of the assessor be increased $100, and the ordinance committee was instructed to have the necessary ordinance prepared.

Letters of acknowledgment of their appointments were read from the borough attorney and the borough engineers.

The building inspector submitted his report covering permits for $900 worth of building operations and fees of $12.50.

Budget Increased $12,000

Mr. Gardner, of the firm of Wiegner, Rockey & Co., presented to council copies of the proposed budget for 1928, and each appropriation was considered separately.

The lighting committee, which had $4,900 last year was given $6,200, and the highway committee's appropriation was raised from $6,000 to $13,000. Mr. Bartley voted against both of these increases.

The lighting committee plans to make extensive additions to the present lighting system, which will provide suitable lighting for many places now poorly illuminated.

The highway department plans to repair and oil practically all the streets. The cost of oiling alone is estimated at about $5,000. The appropriation provides for the purchase of a five-ton roller, operated by a gasoline engine, but does not include the reconstruction of Park avenue.

Request Refused

The Shade Tree Commission's request for an additional $500 this year, making its appropriation $3,000, was not granted.

The Fourth of July committee was given $1,200 this year as against $1,000 last year. The other appropriations remained about as they were in 1927, except the borough property committee, which was raised from $600 to $1,000. With the additional amount the committee hopes to be able to add some features to Memorial Park to make it of more use and value to the public.

The total amount to be raised from all sources this year, including franchise taxes, etc., is $61,174.39. Last year it was $48,995.00 an increase of $12,179.39. There was no dissenting voice when Council voted on the total.

Tax Sum Increased

The amount to be raised by taxation, after deducting the money received from other sources, is $46,908.39. Last year it was $34,249.00.

It was decided to appropriate $2,000 from the surplus revenue fund. Last year $3,000 was taken from this fund. Before taking the $2,000 the surplus fund amounted to $7,587.12. It was the advice of the auditors that this should not be reduced below $5,000.

Last year the amount of revenue estimated from bus taxes was $300, but nothing was realized. This year bus taxes were not included in the anticipated revenues.

A public hearing on the budget will be held in the council room at the Riverton Fire House on February 2.

Odd Fellows Plan Public Installation

Members, Wives and Friends Invited to Special Ceremonies Friday Night

Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201, Independent Order of Odd Fellows has issued invitations to its members, their wives and friends, to attend a public installation, which will be held this Friday evening at eight-thirty o'clock, following lodge session.

This is the first public affair held in Palmyra in many years and much interest is being shown, both by the members and those who have been honored with an invitation.

District Deputy Grand Master William Horace McConnell and staff will confer the obligation on the newly elected officers. Mr. McConnell, although now residing in Camden, is a member of Amity Lodge No. 166, of Merchantville, and a former resident of Palmyra. He is an outstanding figure in Odd Fellowship activities throughout the State and an authority on insurance rating, having been connected with the Fire Underwriters since entering the business world.

Cinnaminson Lodge will do him honor by having a large percentage of its membership present.

The lodge is also staging a surprise in the nature of a speaker for the evening and will conclude the program by the serving of refreshments.

Ed Fish's "Little Fishes" gave Edson Carhart's "Fast Mails" a swim for their money on Friday evening when they wound up with a score of 3 to 2 in a very strenuous "kiddy-kar" polo game.

When the whistle blew to "let 'er go" the "Fast Mails" were off but their speed was not too much for the "Little Fishes. "Fast Mails" proved good "bait" for the "Little Fishes" for they played on a great "scale" and when the "tail" was told "Fast Mails" admitted again that they were "licked."

K. of C. LADIES ENTERTAINED

Mirth, Merriment and Refreshments Greatly Appreciated by Ladies

M. J. McDERMOTT, PAST GRAND KNIGHT, SPEAKS

"In days of old when knights were bold and barons held their sway" the fair ones were never more royally or whole-heartedly entertained than were the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Council K. of C. at the K. of C. Home Tuesday evening of this week.

The singing of "America" brought the Knights and ladies to order.

"Bob" Woods introduced M. J. McDermott, a past Grand Knight, who broke the ice and opened the evening's entertainment with a short talk.

Mr. McDermott said he had been given a hint as to a subject for his speech—he (according to his own story) was directed to tell the ladies how much the Knights appreciated their cooperation in any undertaking the Order had ever attempted.

"Mac" can still hold his own when it comes to praising the ladies. The speaker said that Tuesday evening was an eventful one in the history of the local Order as it marked the 200th meeting of the K. of C. in Palmyra and Riverton. The biggest event of the evening, however, was the dedicating of the new stage and its accessories by using it the first time for the ladies entertainment.

Ladies Thanked

"The success of St. Joseph's Council is due primarily to the close cooperation of the ladies, and we owe them a debt of gratitude which we can never pay," said "Mac" in concluding his address of thanks.

Members of St. Joseph's Council built the stage under the direction of a capable contractor who belongs to the local Council. The ladies made the curtains, which are a beautiful red with gold trimming. There will be a Leap Year dance on February 4 to help defray the expense of the new stage.

John Englesby, of Merchantville, entertained the assemblage by appearing as "big six-cylindered Hank from Fork Landing." "Hank" kept the audience spellbound, awed and amused by his versatility with a saxaphone, sweet potatoe and clarinet, on which "Hank" imitated a wood planing machine in a saw mill, and last but not least a combination of banjo-uke and zuuki by whistling.

A black-faced comedian furnished the next program of mirth with popular song hits and funny stories. The entertainer was formerly with Dumont's on the Million Dollar Pier at Atlantic City.

Premier Accordionist

"Christy," the world's premier accordionist, acquainted the "nobility" present with the beauty of his instrument. This "soul sold" musician played classical selections which sank to the heart of all present. "Jazz" numbers and old time tunes completed "Christy's" rehearsal.

Several novelty features of clog dancing by a black-faced comedian who shook the bones and danced against a platform in the air while he was upside down, wound up that part of the program.

A buffet lunch prepared by the men awaited the joyous crowd of 200 men and women who were guests of the evening.

Several ladies expressed their sentiments in words to the effect that "the modern Knights know how to give a real party."

"THE HOLY CITY" AT CHRIST CHURCH

At eight o'clock Sunday evening, January 22, Gaul's Cantata, "The Holy City," will be given by the full vested choir of twenty voices in Christ Church, Riverton, with organ and harp accompaniment.

Immediately preceding the service, organ and harp selections will be rendered. Mrs. Ruth Peterson Bell is organist and Mrs. Emma Rous will play the harp.

The service will begin promptly at eight o'clock. EVERYONE WANTED.

Name—"The Touchdown."
Place—Palmyra High School.
Time—February 24th, 25th.
Quality—Best.

Every year the Seniors of P. H. S. give a play to assist in defraying the expenses of the annual trip to Washington. Thus far, the citizens of the surrounding towns have given their generous support to the plays and have enjoyed the clever presentations.

This year, the class offers an especially interesting play, a football story, which is both dramatic and comical. A very amusing character is that of "Junius," ably acted by Carl Wilcox. Margery, the sweet little co-ed, is portrayed by Sarah McKee.

An interesting character part is played by Ethel McCord, who takes the part of an elderly school teacher. Opposite her plays Wilbur Davison in the role of "Professor Sumner."

Don't fail to see this play. If you do, you will regret it.

Miss Chew Talks to Porch Club

Riverton Principal Gives Interesting Address on Educational Problems

In addressing the Porch Club, Tuesday afternoon, Miss Hannah H. Chew, principal of the Riverton public school and a member of the club, spoke of public school work in Riverton, and also of public education in the country. Systems of public education exist in this country and in all countries where there is civilization. In Japan, for example, modern methods are being applied. In Mexico, in order to get out of their desperate situation, the people are building school houses, even in the country districts.

The first organized work in public instruction began in 1837 when Horace Mann established a system in Massachusetts which was a model to the other states in the union. Later on, as new states were formed, land was laid aside for educational purposes. At the present time, some of the western states are in the lead with their systems. Every state in the union, continued Miss Chew, has its own system.

A new bill providing for a department of education in the federal government, taking the place of the present Bureau, passed both houses of Congress in December. The new bill, which would have a cabinet member as the secretary of education, would act as a clearing house, would do research work, and would put national education on an equitable basis. Miss Chew urged everybody to vote for this bill when opportunity offers.

New Jersey Systems

The public education of New Jersey is in the hands of a state board with one commissioner and four assistant commissioners, one attending to the legal, one to the vocational and manual, one to the high schools, and one to the elementary part of the work. Every city has a school board and a city superintendent responsible for educational matters. Outside cities, different laws prevail. In the country district there are county supervisors. New Jersey stands at the head of supervision of rural schools in the country.

Between the ages of five and seventeen years, in this country, there are 29,346,000 children, of whom 24,288,000 are in public schools. 1,726,000 in private, thus leaving 3,000 children unaccounted for. These children are either not registered, or are in industry. Miss Chew then gave the following figures to show the tremendous amount of money spent in the country for luxuries as compared to education. A little over $2,000,000,000 runs the schools, while in 1926 for luxuries such as tobacco, candy, chewing gum, ice cream sodas etc., $5,522,000,000 was expended. In New Jersey alone, $181,673,800 was spent for luxuries.

Spinning Top

Miss Chew likened the life of today to a spinning top which stabilizes itself by its own motion. We cannot stop, so must go forward. Science and invention have brought us where we are. The question arises, however, are we advancing socially and morally as fast as materially? No, there seems to be a social and moral lag. Added responsibility has came to us by increased material comforts. The old systems of education are inadequate. Young people are critical and ask "why."

We must provide environment where our children can work out their ideas under guidance. We must be true and explain to children instead of ignoring the truth. This revolution in thought has been brought about by more freedom which is the result of prosperity. We must face the danger of lack of stability, however, which would bring about poor citizens and unhappy children. Miss Chew also mentioned the lack of good religious training.

In taking up the subject of progressive schools of today, Miss Chew mentioned a few characteristics such as, taking account of the ability of each child; giving more freedom to children to develop more naturally; the using of interest as a basis; the teacher as a guide and not a hander out of tasks, paying more attention to health; greater cooperation between the home and school.

In closing, Miss Chew commended the Riverton School Board, and mentioned the Riverton school problem as that of a more adequate housing for the school children. To her mind, out door facilities are as important as indoor. Her ideal would be a school house and a community center in one, with a trained director for work in the school and for play outdoors. It is due our children to give them the best we can, and to make the children a benefit to themselves and to the community.

"CHARLIE" STOUT "UP IN THE AIR"

Travels 138 Miles in Two Hours; Auto Too Slow Now

Last week Charles R. Stout, director of the department of roads of the County Board of Freeholders, and president of the State Association of Freeholders, attended the convention of the American Road Builders' Association in Cleveland. He was accompanied by Stewart McFarland, supervisor of roads; H. B. Smith, county engineer, and F. L. Branin, his assistant.

Wednesday morning the party flew to Detroit by plane, covering the 138 miles in two hours against a thirty-mile head wind. The return trip, made by fast train, took five hours.

The plane, with the wind in its favor, flew back in one hour flat.

Mr. Stout describes the plane as being made of steel, so balanced that it is practically impossible to take a nose dive or a tail spin, and says that it is as commodious and comfortable as a large bus. There was no feeling of fear or apprehension about the safety of the machine.

Very much enthused over his experience, Mr. Stout predicts the establishment of regular passenger air routes between all the principal cities in the county within a short time, and is already urging the establishing of an airport in Burlington county. He points out that the county would get considerable advertising by this means from the planes that pass over every day, plying between New York and southern points.

Thursday afternoon of the convention was devoted to the county commissioners, which corresponds to boards of freeholders in New Jersey, and Mr. Stout was asked to tell about the State organization here. He spoke for half an hour, at the end of which time ten or a dozen commission heads declared they were going to see about starting similar organizations in their own States when they get back home.

Mr. Stout said that Burlington county is well and favorably known throughout the middle west for its fine roads.

MRS. ALEXANDER MARCY, Jr.

After a brief illness, Mrs. Alexander Marcy, Jr., of Riverton, died at the Howard Hospital, Philadelphia, last Friday.

A life of unusual activity and usefulness, in which she had endeared herself to Rivertonians and to a very wide circle of acquaintances throughout South Jersey, thus came to an end with a suddenness that has heightened the sense of loss felt by the community.

Mrs. Marcy, who was descended from one of New Jersey's oldest families, was born in Camden, and had been prominently identified with women's organizations of county and state from the time she moved to Riverton with her husband, a young practicing physician, more than 40 years ago. Both of a public-spirited frame of mind, they work together constantly, for the advancement of things that meant neighborhood welfare.

Mrs. Marcy was possessed of a bright and sunny disposition and an executive ability which made her assistance and counsel everywhere sought.

She was one of the first twenty-five members of the Riverton Porch Club, a member of Annis Stockton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, president of the Mothers' Circle and second president of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers. She was also president of the Riverton Red Cross, and served as a member of the County Board of Directors of the Young Woman's Christian Association.

One of the activities dearest to Mrs. Marcy's heart, and one to which she rendered signal service, was Parent-Teacher work. In February, 1897, Mrs. Marcy and Mrs. H. R. Sharp attended the organization of the National Congress of Mothers in Washington. Enthused by the vision there received, they returned to Riverton and organized the Mothers' Circle, of which Mrs. Marcy was made president. Out of this movement grew the New Jersey Congress of Mothers, the name of which has been recently changed to the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Marcy served as second president of the state organization, having been preceded by Mrs. Mary C. Grice.

From her labors in such enterprises, Mrs. Marcy yet found time to give cheer and assistance to needy individuals, and many a household which she quietly aided now mourns her loss. Her fine Christian character and optimism throughout her life were an inspiration to young people who came in contact with her or visited the Marcy home, on Main street, Riverton, and their house in Cape May, where the family spent the summers.

Mrs. Marcy became ill Friday evening, January 6. Her death occurred a week later following an operation.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the house, conducted by the Rev. Charles T. Bates, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, and by the Rev. Charles L. Candee, of Princeton, who was at one time pastor of the Calvary Church where the Marcys attended for nearly 44 years. Interment was made at Cold Springs, Cape May, the following day.

Mrs. Marcy is survived by her husband, Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Hannah M. Rogers, and Miss Marjory Marcy. Also by her brother, Dr. John Marcy, of Merchantville.

It takes the month of January to show us just what the weather man means by "mean temperature."

Delanco Man Seriously Injured

John Fitzpatrick in Hospital as Result of Automobile Crash Monday

John Fitzpatrick, of Delanco, is in the Zurbrugg Hospital, Riverside, suffering from a broken hip and leg and numerous cuts and bruises about his face and body as the result of an automobile accident near the intersection of Taylor's Lane and the River Road Monday morning about 1 o'clock. Robert W. Corkhill, of Merchantville avenue, Merchantville, owner and driver of the car was only slightly injured and after being treated at the hospital was released. Corkhill lost control of the car, a Buick sedan, and it crashed into a tree at the intersection.

The zigzag tracks in the road indicated that the car had been going at a high speed. There is a slight bend at this point, and it is surmised that the car, hitting a stone or some other obstruction, jumped into the ditch by the roadside and crashed into the tree in the orchard.

Howard Taylor, Jr., who was the first to arrive on the scene, took both men to the hospital, after notifying Officer Quigley, of Riverton. Quigley ordered the car to be taken to Clinton B. Woolston's garage, Riverton.

The front springs of the car were wrapped around a small tree and had to be chopped away before it could be moved.

Fitzpatrick said Tuesday morning that he was at the Sorrel Horse Inn and was leaving to come to Riverside when Corkhill offered to let him ride with him. He got into the car and after they had started he realized Corkhill was drunk. The driver turned into Taylor's Lane and succeeded in keeping the car on the road in spite of the fast rate of speed which he was driving. Just after he turned onto the River Road he lost control of the car and crashed into the tree.

The Delanco man was hurled through the door of the car and fell to the ground. The force of Corkhill's body being thrown against the steering wheel broke the wheel to pieces, but miraculously he escaped with only minor injuries.

Fitzpatrick was only released from the county jail in December after serving six months for robbery in Delanco. He said that he was sorry that Squire Johnson did not give him a year at the trial and then he would not have been in the accident.

Ancient Society Asks for Lot

County Lyceum of Natural History and Sciences Wants Place for New Home

For the second time within a few months, the Rev. A. W. Gummere, member of the Board of Trustees of the Burlington County Lyceum of Natural History and Sciences, called the attention of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders at its meeting last Friday, to the unsuitable and inadequate quarters of the Lyceum.

Mr. Gummere pointed out what the members of the board already knew, that the room was entirely too small, that it was poorly lighted and that the entrance was approached through an alley.

The Lyceum is at once a library and a museum of relics, some of which are of great interest and considerable value. The Lyceum operates under a charter granted by King George III, which still hangs in the dingy little headquarters of the institution.

The mission of Mr. Gummere to the board on Friday was to ask for the lot in the rear of the county offices in the Folwell building (purchased by the freeholders some time ago) for the site for a new and suitable home for the Lyceum.

Consideration Promised

Freeholder Howard Russ, director of the department of public buildings, assured Mr. Gummere that the matter would be given consideration, and that he would be advised as to the result. When a similar request was made some time ago, it was not looked upon favorably by the members of the Board of Freeholders.

While he had the floor, Mr. Gummere called attention to a misspelled word on a tombstone recently placed at the head of the grave of William Kelly, a naval veteran, in the Brotherhood cemetery, Mount Holly. The word "naval," he said was spelled "navel."

Director Russ said the matter would be referred to David E. Sooy, Superintendent of Burial of Soldiers and Sailors, under whose direction the work was done.

County Library

Miss Sarah R. Budd, of Mount Holly, chairman of the board of trustees of the Burlington County Free Library Commission, submitted an interesting report covering the work of the library commission, in which she cited facts and figures to show the work being done by the county librarian and by the unselfish citizens in charge of the 117 stations throughout the county.

The report shows there is a problem in the selection of new books due to the increasing cost of first-class publications, while the demand is steadily on the increase. There have been 22,000 books circulated during the year, the average circulation of one book being fourteen times. The county librarian had been called upon to make 24 addresses during the year.

On the recommendation of County Engineer H. Brevort Smith, Assistant County Engineer F. Littell Branin was reappointed for a term of five years at a salary of $2,800 a year. A certificate of reappointment of Ralph W. Haines, of Vincentown, as clerk of the grand jury for a term of three years, was received and the action ratified. The appointment paper was signed by Justice Frank T. Lloyd and Judge William A. Slaughter.

Bridge Work Progresses

C. B. Fisher, director of bridges, reported that he had visited Green Bank and that the bridge work at that point was now progressing satisfactorily. Under the terms of the contract this bridge should have been finished about the middle of October, but owing to some trouble with the concern to which the contractor sublet parts of the work, it had been delayed.

The following bills from the various departments of the county were ordered paid: Roads, $2,816.73; bridges, $2,404.80; buildings, $16,941.10; public affairs, $5,161.83; finance, $4,159.88, making a total of $31,484.34.

The deceased leaves six children: Georgia L., John (Buddy), Helen M., Earle R., Virginia M. and Charles A. Brown. Mrs. Minnie Watkins, of New York City, a sister of Mr. Brown plans to take the children to her home.

FLAG ROPES CUT

Malicious Mischief Done at Riverton's Memorial Park

Malicious mischief at Memorial Park is giving the Riverton police department some concern.

Recently the lock on the box on the flag pole was broken, the halyards cut and the ropes allowed to run to the top of the pole.

It costs money to repair this damage, and Director Williams said yesterday that the people of the town ought to think enough of their own property to see it is not destroyed.

He suggested that a little checking up on the part of parents as to the whereabouts of their children might correct a number of things that are not just as they should be.

OAKLAND INCREASES ITS SALES FORCE

W. R. Tracy, Vice-President in Charge of Sales, Appoints Six Regional Sales Managers

The Oakland Motor Car Company, which advanced from the position of ninth in point sales volume during 1926 to fifth place in 1927, has expanded its already extensive sales organization to handle an expected further sales increase during 1928, it is announced by W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales.

The most important development so far has been the appointment of six regional sales managers in key cities to direct the 22 district offices stationed throughout the United States. The present eastern and western sales managers, W. B. Sawyer and E. M. Lubeck, each has supervision over three of the regional managers.

All of the district sales offices are being expanded and moved to larger quarters and the number of representatives traveling among the dealers from the district offices has been increased. Many more dealers are being added to the present total of more than 4,300 which now is nearly five times the size of the dealer organization in 1925.

The six new regional managers and their headquarter cities are as follows: New York, F. R. French, formerly special eastern sales representative; San Francisco, L. M. Dreves, former Pacific Coast supervisor; Chicago, Harry Mahaffey; Cleveland, L. J. Marsh; Atlanta, W. A. Sullivan; Kansas City, Edson Smith. The four last named have been promoted from the position of district manager in their respective cities.

WAR ON HEADLIGHTS

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, of Newark, commander of the State police, has called upon the State troopers to stop such motor law violations as driving with improper lights and failing to have due regard for the rights of others on the highways, an offense laid at the door of bus drivers. During the past month so many complaints about buses crowding passenger cars off the roads and vehicles operating with one headlight have been received at State police headquarters that Col. Schwarzkopf decided to take definite steps to check the offenses.

Record Year Seen for 1928 Chevrolet

Company is Planning to Shatter All Production and Sales Marks

The Chevrolet Motor Company in 1928 is planning to break all production and sales records in the history of the company, according to Mr. Dolly, of Moorestown, local Chevrolet dealer, who recently returned from New York, where he attended the annual Chevrolet sales meeting, in Mecca Temple.

Thirteen hundred Chevrolet dealers who attended the great sales meeting heard R. H. Grant, vice president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, sound the keynote of the biggest campaign ever undertaken by Chevrolet. Applause rocked the auditorium repeatedly as the Chevrolet sales chief outlined the plans for the sale of more than a million units in 1928.

"Never before did a Chevrolet meeting create such unbridled enthusiasm as was displayed over the Chevrolet prospects for the year," Mr. Dolly declared.

High officials of the Chevrolet Motor Company assisted Mr. Grant in the conduct of the meeting which took the form of the most comprehensive sales presentation of its kind ever made by an automobile manufacturer. Talks were illustrated in the form of playlets, depicting proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business.

Immediately following the meeting the dealers were guests of the Chevrolet Motor Company at an elaborate banquet in the Commodore Hotel. W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor Company served as host on the occasion and R. H. Grant was the speaker of the evening.

The New York meeting was the first of a series of 43 similar meetings that are to be held this winter and spring from coast to coast.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

That many cities have a few rare birds who, on account of their originality, have a unique way of stopping progress and should be placed in an asylum.

That the real boosting citizen is one who doesn't whine he gets over the hard parts of the road by pushing forward.

That these men never know when they are licked.

That they don't go crazy when they win.

That win or lose, they don't sit down; they steam up, seize the next best thing and go after it.

That this is the class of men that builds cities.

That this is the class of men that has made your city what it is today.

This is the class of men who are building your city for the future; it is the bunch that every live or near-live citizen should join and help them push forward.

GIFTS FOR SCHOOL

1927 Seniors and Civics Club Leave Memorials

Last year's Senior class of the Palmyra High School has donated $200 to the school with the recommendation that the money be used to purchase books and pictures. This money represents the surplus from the funds raised by the class last year for the annual trip to Washington.

The Benjamin Franklin Civics club of the eighth grade has purchased a series of etchings illustrating ten major events in American History. The pictures which are nicely framed will add to the appearance of the rooms in which they are hung and will also be useful in the study of Civics and History.

GAS FROM SEWAGE PLANT IS VALUABLE

From 16,000 to 25,000 cubic feet of usable gas is produced daily as a by-product from an efficiently operated sewage disposal plant of a city of 50,000 people, according to Dr. Willem Rudolfs, sewage expert at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

If wasted this gas represents a loss of $10,000 a year. If properly used, it can reduce the cost of installation and operation of the sewage plant which produces it. Utilizing the gas for heating treatment tanks, thereby speeding up the decomposition processes, will lower the cost of installation considerably because smaller tanks are required. Operation cost can be reduced by using the gas to heat the buildings at the sewage plant, to drive air-blowers or to cut down on labor.

Gases produced from the biological decomposition of sewage are similar to marsh or natural gas. The heat value of the gases is usually higher than that of the gas used for domestic purposes, and it can be used for heating, lighting or power for engines.

APPROVE CONSOLIDATION

The directors of Public Service Railway Company and of Public Service Transportation Company at meetings held here today voted approval of an agreement of consolidation and merger which will be submitted to the stockholders of the two companies for their action at meetings to be held on January 31, next.

The new company will be known as Public Service Coordinated Transport. Provision is made for the issuing of 2,500,000 shares of no par value common stock and 487,500 shares of non cumulative preferred stock of no par value, which will have no voting rights but will receive didivends at the rate of $6 per annum per share, for such years as in the judgment of the board of directors such dividend is justified and before dividends are paid on common stock. In the event of the dissolution of the company its preferred stock shall be entitled to a division of the assets at the rate of $75 a share, before the common stock receives any part of the assets.

Judge Rellstab to Resign from Bench

District Attorney Winne Pfobable Successor on Federal Bench

Federal Judge John Rellstab may either retire or resign next September, as he will then have reached the age of seventy years. His salary of $10,000 yearly is continued for the remainder of his life. A statute as old as the government itself provides for the jurists, on reaching retirement age, to relinquish their duties, with pay continued, provided they have had ten years of continuous service. Judge Rellstab is now serving his 19th year on the bench.

Under the federal law a judge upon reaching the retirement age may ask to be placed upon the retired list, though not necessarily abandoning all his judicial duties. In such an event the retired jurist might exercise his option as to what, if any, judicial duties he would continue to perform. If he desires, he may resign and have no active duties to perform.

Judge Rellstab said last week that at present he was giving the subject some consideration, but had not determined whether he would "do either or which." It is possible he may retire, thus enabling him to go on with some of his work, but granting more time for himself. It is said that four active judges are needed to handle the cases of this district.

Reports that United States District Attorney Walter G. Winne will succeed Judge Rellstab were linked following a conference at Trenton between Mr. Winne and United States Senator Edge. Judge Walter D. Van Riper, of Essex, formerly an assistant under Mr. Winne, also attended.

It was virtually admitted after the conference that Mr. Winne contemplates retiring from his present office, but when or under what circumstances have not been made public.

Speaking of fruit, the first apple caused a lot of trouble for the first pair.

SAYS HIGH-HEELED SHOES RESULT IN UGLY KNEES

If you would have nicely shaped knees, don't wear high-heeled shoes.

That's the advice handed to women and girls for their welfare by pedriatricians, who of all persons should know.

The Philadelphia Pedriatic Society was told last week by Dr. J. Dorrance Rugh that the wearing of high-heeled shoes causes the foot to assume an unnatural position, with the result that the muscles and bones are thrown out of balance.

When that happens, he declared, the knees become less stable and the knee action becomes much less secure.

Dr. Rugh held out a ray of hope for those afflicted with bow legs. Such a condition can be remedied, the physicians were told, by adjusting the height of one of the edges of the shoes, but knock-knees are incurable.

The day may not be so far off, after all, when they will throw an automobile or two in when one buys a gallon of gasoline.

County Library Work Increases

Thirty-two Hundred New Books Added; Circulation Last Year 22,686

The following is a report of the Burlington County Free Library Commission:

During the past year the Burlington County Free Library has attempted to continue the work in the same manner as in previous years. No new enterprises have been engaged upon, as all our time, energy, and money have been used in meeting the demands of each day and season as they appear.

Our book collection was increased during the year 1927 by the addition of 3202 volumes, but during the same period we discarded 2431 volumes, leaving a net gain of 771, and a total collection of 30,219. We have a good collection of standard and reference works, so these additions were largely of a popular nature: 1195 fiction, 743 non-fiction, 687 juvenile fiction, and 577 juvenile non-fiction. Our adult non-fiction is bought almost entirely on demand, for our problem is to stretch our funds to cover the requests of 80,000 people, and we find it almost impossible to predict what they will ask along other than fiction lines. Our juvenile books are bought from lists of books recommended by the State Education Department and the New Jersey Public Library Commission, or requested by individual teachers. The discards were sorted and those that were in a fit condition were taken to the County Institutions.

Stations and Schools

We now have 117 library stations in the County. Of these 60 are the regular Circulating collections and 57 are in the schools. New stations added during the year are Palmyra Y. M. C. A., Cinnaminson School No. 4, Samuel Aaron School in Mount Holly.

From January 1 to December 30, 1927, we have circulated from the office 3953 books, by mail 1437 books, and taken to stations 17,296, making a total of 22,686 books circulated from the County Library. This shows an increase of 5,032 over last year, when we sent out 17,654 volumes. One of our stations reports 14 times as the average circulation of each volume loaned them from the County. This in one of our active library centers is of course larger than in the smaller stations. But taking 6 as the average number of times each volume is taken out in a station, we have a circulation of over 100,000. This of course applies only to books, in addition to that we have circulated 135 pictures, 94 Brayco films, 494 Victrola records, 25 magazines and 6 posters, and through the kindness of the State Library Commission, we were able to furnish book films for one moving picture house, which was willing to show them.

Changes in Staff

The past year has seen several changes on the staff. Miss Adeline J. Pratt, who so ably organized and developed the work of the Burlington County Free Library, resigned in June to accept the position of Director of Public Libraries of the State of Maryland. Her successor is Miss Hazel C. Clark, who came here from the Ocean City, New Jersey, Public Library. Previous to this she had had extension experience in the Iowa State Library Commission and the Detroit Public Library.

A frequent request is made by Parent-Teacher and other organizations for talks to be given by the County Librarian. During the past year 24 of these talks were given: 11 on books, and 13 on the County Library. In addition to this 499 visits have been made to the libraries and schools during the year. Two meetings were held with Library Boards, when problems confronting their libraries were discussed.

GOOD READING FOR THE HOME GARDENER

Spring fever and seed catalogues are still several weeks away. The home gardener has cleaned his bulbs, painted his dahlia stakes, and done all the other odd jobs. How shall he make the most of his extra time through the winter months while the garden sleeps?

The N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station offers a list of bulletins and circulars which it will well repay the home gardener to read. They may be obtained free of charge from the New Jersey Experiment Station, and will make fascinating and profitable reading for the long evenings. They are:

Bulletin 42. The Home Garden
Circular 185. Pansies from Seed
Circular 176. The Pruning of Shrubs
Circular 154. Dahlias in the Garden
Circular 172. Roses in the Garden
Circular 184. Peonies in the Garden
Circular 205. Tulip Culture
Bulletin 54. Better Lawns
Bulletin 57. The Pruning of Young and Bearing Peach Trees
Bulletin 60. The Pruning of Young and Bearing Apple Trees

"Hints to Poultrymen," a timely publication issued monthly by the poultry department of the experiment station is also available free of charge. It contains many valuable suggestions for the backyard poultryman as well as the commercial grower of fowls.

FIREMEN INJURED WHILE ON DUTY

In answering a fire alarm about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon of last week caused by a grass blaze on Brown street, near Leech's shoe factory, Herbert McCormick, who was driving Niagara hose truck, Burlington, made too short a turn at the corner of High and West Pearl streets and the truck struck a curbstone with such force that one of the wheels was torn off.

As a result, those who were riding on the truck, eleven in number, were thrown violently to the ground, and one of them, Gregory Doyle, of South High street, eighteen years old, was severely bruised and lacreated. Doyle was taken to the Emergency Hospital at the City Hall, where the injuries were treated by Dr. John Conroy and afterwards removed to his home.

ROTARY

Charles Puff to Address Palmyra-Riverton Club Tonight

Morris Perinchief, of Mount Holly, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club last Thursday. Mr. Perinchief stressed the necessity of carrying out the classification rulings in order to make the club successful. The speaker also urged that the new members be brought to the full realization of their responsibility to their particular classification and to their obligations as Rotarians.

A meeting of unusual interest will be held to-night and all Rotarians are urged to be present. This meeting has been set aside as ladies' night and in honor of the occasion a program of unusual merit has been arranged.

The main attraction will be a speech by Charles Puff, ex-governor of the Fiftieth District of Rotary International. Mrs. Puff will also be present. In addition to the ex-governor's speech a special musical program has been arranged. The Victor company has arranged to give a concert with one of the latest Electrola-Radiola combinations. The entertainment committee has also provided a delightful program in addition to this.

Whatever you start, start it by knowing the facts.—Henry L. Doherty.

Fined $1800 After Hearing in Court

Judge Slaughter Metes Out Severe Penalty to Still Operators

Delayed pleadings constituted the principal business to be considered in Judge Slaughter's Court at Mount Holly on Thursday morning of last week. By delayed pleadings is meant defendants whose names were called last week to answer to indictments found by the Grand Jury but who for one reason or another were not present.

Louis Fischel and Joseph Harris, who were found operating the mammoth distilling plant which had been set up in a barn at Irish Wharf when Detectives Cain and Carabine made the raid on the place some weeks back, through their counsel, Robert Peacock, entered pleas of non vult to having liquor in their possession and also to having utensils for the manufacture of liquor.

This was one of the largest outfits ever unearthed in the county. It consisted of a 500-gallon still, barrels of alleged cologne from which the alcohol was to be extracted, sugar, charcoal, electrical contrivances and tools galore, upon which a value of more than $10,000 has been placed by the officers, but as usual in large plants of this kind, the men arrested were probably only employes, the real men behind the plant escaping.

It was brought out at the preliminary hearing before Supreme Court Commissioner V. Claude Palmer that a man named Albert or Louis Baume had rented the place from a Camden real estate operator but the alleged higher up is still at liberty.

Judge Slaughter said he saw no reason why leniency should be shown in these cases, as he felt the "man behind" would come forward and pay the fines imposed, it being a first offense on the part of Fischel and Harris, and he added $1,800 to the county treasury by fining each of the men $900, $450 upon each on the charge of having liquor in his possession and $450 for having utensils for the manufacture of liquor.

Samuel Garrison, who lived on the farm on which the barn stood, pleaded not guilty in connection with the same case, and his case will be heard by a jury later.

James Wargo, of Florence, wanted for committing an indecent assault upon a young girl, failed a second time to appear when his name was called and his bail of $1,000 was ordered forfeited.

The National Surety Company of New York was his bondsman.

Harry Ripley, of Maple Shade, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and who had pleaded non vult, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200.

Frank Eldridge, colored, of Moorestown, indicted for assault and battery, entered a plea of not guilty.

Mrs. Anna Moore, of Water street, Mount Holly, indicted for the sale and possession of liquor, also elected to take her chances with a jury and pleaded not guilty.

Ronald Woodward and L. D. Gillian, against whom indictments were found by the December Grand Jury, were reported as being fugitives.

The case against Dever C. Kelly, of Bordentown, went over for one week due to the illness of the defendant.

SUSPECTS ORDERED OUT OF RIVERTON

Two Strangers Were Still Looking For Breakfast With Pockets Full of Food

A suspicious-looking character who was working Riverton for breakfast about noon Sunday was reported to Director of Public Safety Williams by a resident.

In less than fifteen minutes the director and Officer Quigley found that there were two of the gentlemen and they were ordered out of town.

Their dress and appearance indicated that they were not common tramps, and the fact that they had their pockets full of food and were still "rustling," aroused suspicion that it might be information they were after, and not breakfast.

The police suspected that they were "looking things over" preparatory to staging a few robberies.

The men said they lived in Jersey City and were working their way toward Wilmington. They were given five minutes to get out of town. When they left they went toward Camden.

Director Williams said that if all the residents of Riverton would immediately notify the department when suspicious-looking characters are about, it would be a great help in checking up on strangers. Unknown peddlers, solicitors and "salesmen" with phoney stories, should be included in the class of suspects and reported.

If they prove to be all right, no harm has been done, and if they cannot satisfy the police department, they can be held for investigation

Russ Blackburne to Coach Chicago

Palmyra Man Will Help Ray Schalk Handle Sox Again This Year

Russell (Lena) Blackburne, Palmyra's representative in the big leagues, signed a contract last week to coach the Chicago White Sox during the coming season.

This year will be "Lena's" second as coach of the Chicago infielders and outfielders as well as first assistant to Manager Ray Schalk.

Blackburne's present contract calls for one year's service with the Sox. No other details were made public. "Russ" will leave for the spring training camp at Shreveport, Pa., with the main contingent of the White Sox on Friday, February 24.

In Dark About Cook

When asked if Frank Cook, former Burlington High School all-round athlete and a member of the Burlington team of the Burlington County league for the past several years, would be taken south with the club, Blackburne denied having any knowledge of any such arrangement.

"I don't know where the report of Cook signing with the White Sox came from," said Blackburne.

"It's news to me unless Ray Schalk has added the youngster to the roster since I saw him at the major league conference in New York," added the White Sox coach.

Blackburne did say however that he received word from Schalk to go to North Wales, Pa., and look over a young pitcher by the name of Krieder. Krieder looked good to Coach Blackburne so he signed him up and he will be taken south with the club.

Schalk to Catch

He also said that Manager Schalk was working out every day in anticipation of catching a large number of games for the Sox this year. Last year McCurdy and Krause did most of the work behind the plate.

Blackburne established a unique record in American League batting annals last year, when he inserted himself as a pinch-hitter, clouted out a safe blow and scored a run for a 1.000 percent average for the year.

Russ has had a varied career as a player in the big leagues. He was with the Chicago White Sox in 1910, 1911 and 1912. On August 12, 1912 he and catcher Block were traded to Milwaukee, of the American Association, for Ray Schalk, the youngster who has since proved to be one of the most valuable men the Sox have ever had. Blackburne returned to the Sox in 1914 and remained with them until the close of the 1915 season when he was sold to Toronto of the International league. He came up again with the Cincinnati Reds in 1918, but was traded to the Boston Braves in 1919. Boston released him to the Phillies and the Phillies sent him back to Toronto all during the same season. Blackburne served with Toronto in 1920 and 1921. At the end of the season he was sent to Toledo. Toledo sent him to Kansas City the same season, 1922, where he played until 1924 when he went to Little Rock. "Russ" was manager for Little Rock during the 1925 campaign. He returned in 1926 as a player and the next year went back to Chicago as coach and assistant to Manager Schalk.

BURLINGTON COUNTY TRANSIT CO. PASSES

The last chapter of the Burlington County Transit Company is nearly finished. A certificate of dissolution has been filed with the Secretary of State. It will be but a short time before the final period is added and the affairs of that stormy petrel of early days, the Burlington County Transit Company, wound up.

In the aggregate many pages in the newspapers have been written concerning the Mount Holly street car line and its successors, the first of the latter branching out until Mount Holly became merely the mid-way stop between Moorestown and Burlington. Operated for years as a line on which two sleek horses alternated in providing the motive power, the horse-drawn cars later gave way to trolleys, which were run for nearly a quarter of a century by a Burlington county organization. Then, shortly before the final abandonment of the trolley road and the substitution of motor buses by the new owner, Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, the then trolley-less road became virtually a Public Service branch, even though the actual transfer of title was not effected until a considerable time thereafter.

As a horse car line at the time said to be one of the last survivors of that form of transportation, the old Mount Holly Street Railway attracted considerable attention in this part of the East. Its superintendent of maintenance of way, of motive power and rolling stock, collector of fares, dispenser of the amenities during the trips between the railroad station and the car barn on High street, was Walter Garon, since passed on to his reward. Then after many vicissitudes the road finally was sold to a new company which was acquiring franchises and rights of way for a proposed new trolley line extending from Moorestown to Burlington. About the only asset of any value was the street car company's franchise in Mount Holly and this was not worth a great deal, for the original charter gave permission to operate a street car line only, while even in those days, the horse as motive power for a street railway, was passe. The first organization of the trolley line in which J. K. Bougher was the promotor and in large measure the moneyed man, did not prosper and finally it went into the hands of a receiver. Many Burlington county bondholders, some of whom could ill afford their loss, were among the sufferers. In the re-organization, in which the former bondholders were the prime movers, having bought the road at receiver's sale, the capitalization was reduced and the corporation started to function, enjoying the unique distinction of being, perhaps, the only trolley road in the country that did not have a bond issue tied to its tail. Something over a year ago, the local trolley company made arrangement with the Public Service interests to take over the operation of the road using motor buses instead of trolley cars, and after this plan had gone along for many months, the road, including franchises, good will and two streaks of rust, extending from Burlington to Moorestown, by way of Mount Holly, became the property of the big gas, electric and trolley trust in New Jersey.

Any reference to the old company, now only a memory, without speaking of Armitt H. Coate, for many years the company's ever-faithful secretary and treasurer, would be like the New York Yankees with Babe Ruth left out of the lineup. Mr. Coate has been the most active figure in the affairs of the Burlington County Transit Company for years. The President, Albert Haines, of Masonville, was interested, to be sure, but in no particular did he evince the concern and the love for the old trolley road, that Secretary Coate did. When a fight arose over proposed increases in fares, the shortening of zones, which amounted to the same thing, or for any reason the well-being of the company seemed to be at stake, Secretary Coate, flanked by Lawyer George H. Evans, the company counsel, always stuck to his guns and stayed there until the report of the last firing had died away. He has shown an interest and devotion to the affairs of the old road out of all proportion to the total equity represented by the outstanding stock. In the negotiations for the sale of the property, franchise and everything else transferable, as well as for the car barn and dismantled power house, Mr. Coate, frequently associated with Lawyer Evans, stood on the firing line and battled for his company. Sometimes the odds were against him, but he fought manfully and with determination.

In bidding farewell to the old Burlington County Transit Company The Mirror believes it to be eminently fair that a full measure of credit be conceded to Mr. Coate for his unselfish and usually effective work for the old trolley company during his long experience in an official capacity.—Mount Holly Mirror.

LAWYERS IN CONGRESS

A recent count showed that out of 435 members of the United States House of Representatives, 328 set themselves down in the Congressional Directory as lawyers. It was pointed out at the time the count was made that a considerable number of Representatives do not furnish any detailed autobiography and there are probably several more lawyers on the roll.

Out of the 435 members, barely 100 are not members of the bar. All the other trades, businesses and professions—manufacturing, selling, teaching, farming, banking, preaching, medicine—are represented by fewer than one-quarter of the membership of the House of Representatives.

What is the reason? Has the law a stranglehold on the political machinery of the country or is it simply that more lawyers are running for office?

It would be interesting, too, to know just how much of the hot air wasted while Congress is in session is furnished by the lawyer members. By training the lawyer is always ready for debate, and while they make up about 77 per cent of the membership, lawyers probably do about 95 per cent of the talking.

LOPSIDEDNESS

The world is not what it used to be, and it is safe to say it never will be.

No matter how we argue we either progress or go back. The world is the same, but it simply keeps pace with our progress. Looking backward is foolish. Keep your eyes ahead.

All the things we do today under the cloak of modernity have been done before. Despite the gloomy groans of present-day pessimists there is nothing any more wrong with the youth of today than at any time.

It is good to be alive now. Things that others have had to work for, now roll to our feet. Life is rich and kind to us today. It doesn't matter whether we have money—so much comes to us without it. The world, even to the untutored, is like a great university.

Our sole danger in these days of specialization is that we may become lopsided.

Everyone who chooses an occupation becomes lopsided. A mother is lopsided, or ought to be, in the devotion to her children and her home. The lawyer, doctor, minister—how could they be what they are without being lopsided? Some of the richest and most powerful people are horribly lopsided, and some of the meanest and lowliest are the most catholic spirited and the least lopsided.

PESSIONS

The Bureau of Pensions has just published some interesting facts about its work. Since its establishment in 1789, the Bureau of Pensions has distributed about $8,000,000,000 in cash and 69,000,000 acres of the public domain.

On June 30, 1927, there were 489,942 pensioners on the rolls, including 17 widows of men who served in the War of 1812.

The figures showing the amount of money distributed seem quite impressive, but the Government owes a very real debt to the men who served in the military or naval forces when the country needed them most. Now that these men have grown old or have become incapacitated in any way, it would certainly be an ungrateful government that would fail to pay this debt.

SCIENCE

Scientists from all over the world gathered in this country recently to discuss problems of applying science to human living to promote longer life, increased efficiency and well-being, and race improvement. These are the greatest material problems the world must face.

But science has already lengthened human life, statistics gathered by life insurance companies show. The average man is able to live in what would have been called luxury a few hundred years ago through the work of scientists. Many people believe the race has improved and that the average man is more efficient now than he ever was. So science may eventually be able to solve these problems.

Nevertheless, science can do little to solve the problems that trouble man the most. His spiritual problems far outweigh the material for the thinking man except perhaps when his very existence is threatened. Science can help make men physically comfortable but it can't help him with his biggest problems.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th. Rector

"Do you never think about these things?" once said an American professor wearily to a girl student. She replied aptly enough: "Professor, if you had a schedule as full as mine you would know that it allows no time to think about anything."

Come to think of it Palmyra seems to have that sort of a schedule as well, and can hardly find time even to think. The only remedy we know of is to seize hold of just a few worth while things and work hard at them. Of course being intelligent people you won't need me to emphasize "worth while."

On Thursday evening at 7.30 p. m. sharp there will be a business meeting of the Christ Church Athletic Club. A large attendance is requested.

The Men's Club executive will meet on Thursday at 8.15. The Annual Election for officers of this Society will be held at their regular monthly meeting on Monday next.

The Girl's Friendly Society had a most delightful evening on Tuesday last when they had Mrs. J. H. Fell, a National Delegate, as their guest at the banquet and speaker for the evening. Tables were very prettily arranged for thirty-five guests, and the blue and gold colors of this world-wide society were very much in evidence. The toasts of the evening were very capably handled by Margie Hine, Catherine King and one of the Riverton delegates. After the first part of the program was concluded some forty additional friends and probationers listened to Mrs. Fell for nearly an hour and the deep attention and frequent sallies of laughter from the large gathering showed how closely she held her audience. The G. F. S. Service and fraternal hymn brought to a close a very happy and inspiring meeting.

We want to congratulate most heartily all those who helped to make this first of our annual banquets such a splendid success. One of the latest additions to the G. F. S. buildings is abeautifully equipped one hundred thousand dollar home in Washington D. C., an evidence of the success of the work near home.

FIRST LUTHERAN

This cycle of lessons on teachings of Christ concerning the great issues of life, should commend themselves to all who are interested in the way of life which the Great Master taught. This is a splendid opportunity to begin your habit of attendance at Sunday School, if you have not done so before.

Morning worship at 11.15 a. m., at which time the First Lutheran Choir, under direction of Lee Mitton will have an anthem. The pastor will deliver an exhortation on the theme: "Live the Day!"

Luther League will meet at 6.45 in the evening, when the great problem of Sunday observance will be the theme for meditation. Miss Lillian Hall is the leader.

Vesper service at 7.45 with music by the choir and sermon by pastor, "Seeing the Invisible."

Due to the campaign of community evangelism, we have had no prayer meetings so far during the new year, but we shall resume them on this Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Let us make the attendance a very large one. Lenten and Easter seasons will soon be upon us. May we prepare ourselves most thoroughly for these important occasions by taking every opportunity for worship and reflection. We have had a splendid spirit of religious fervor during the union meetings. We must keep up that until the Lenten season by our constant use of these midweek means of grace.

The men of the church are asked to meet at 7.30 p. m. Friday evening, January 20, for arrangement of work, which must be done in connection with special program for annual congregational meeting, which is to be held Thursday evening, January 26. This meeting of men will be a short one.

At eight o'clock Friday evening our basketball team will play the team from Epiphany Lutheran Church. All our members and friends are urged to attend these games, which give them an opportunity to become thoroughly acquainted with our young people, and see some thrilling contests.

Let us all keep in mind and heart the spirit of 1928 as it was sounded on the first Sunday and the first day of this year: "1928—cheer and progress."

On Friday and Saturday, January 27 and 28, the Philathea Class will hold another of the famous, mammoth food sales in the church basement. At the last sale a customer remarked that the most disappointing thing about these food sales is that they are not held every week." Unfortunately they are not, but perhaps we'll appreciate the tasty offerings all the more because of that fact. Such popularity must be deserved.

Advance orders may be placed by calling Riverton 163 or Riverton 394. Don't miss calling in person on January 27 and 28.

DEVICE RESTORES FLOW OF BLOOD

Will Renew Circulation, Is Doctor's Claim

Vienna.—According to a Vienna telegram a Viennese doctor has invented an apparatus which, while it has not yet succeeded in awakening the dead, has nevertheless induced circulation of the blood in the body of a person dead for some hours. The apparatus is electrically driven and is applied to the stomach.

The massage affected by means of the machine causes the muscles and blood vessels of the stomach to vibrate sufficiently to re-establish circulation. Doctor Eisenmenger, the inventor, had hitherto only applied his invention to persons who were almost dead as the result of asphyxiation or drowning, and who were in need of artificial respiration.

Now, however, it has been tried on a person dead for two hours. A woman of 40, who fell from a third door window, died on her way to the hospital. Two hours after death the apparatus was set in motion. A liter of salt water was injected in the arm. After half an hour the blood began to circulate under the skin; the pulse beat and the cheeks showed that in the veins was flowing not the red blood of a living person but the blue blood of the dead. It is true there was no sign of awakening, but this is not the object of Doctor Eisenmenger's invention, which is designed simply to re-establish circulation of the blood.

In the case of a person who is apparently dead, if both artificial respiration and circulation of the blood by the new method are resorted to, the chances of success should be increased. A powerful drug might also be added to the saline solution injected. Further experiments are to be made with artificial respiration and an injection of adrenaline administered at the same time as the massage is applied, and there is great curiosity in Vienna as to the results.

CARD OF THANKS

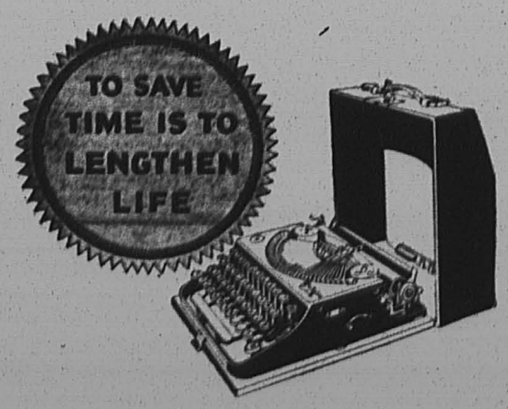

We desire to express our appreciation of the many kindnesses shown to us during our recent bereavement, and to thank those who sent flowers and cars to the funeral.

The Mid-winter Institute of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Burlington County will be held at the Moorestown Community House Wednesday, January 25.

The day will be divided up into three sessions. The Morning Session will open at 10 o'clock, the Afternoon session at 1.30, and the Evening meeting at 8 o'clock.

The County President will open the Institute at the Morning Session. Greetings will be given by Mrs. Mary Coles, President of the Moorestown Union. An address will be made by Caroline Moore, of the Philadelphia County. Various reports will also be given at the first session.

Following a box luncheon, the attendants will enjoy the afternoon session, which will be largely made up of a musical program. Two addresses will also be given. Dr William Cadbury will talk on "What is the Work of a Missionary in China?" Mrs. Janice Hasting, of the Philadelphia County, will give the other talk.

The Hon. Seymour Lowman, United States Assistant Secretary of Treasury, and who is the Government official charged with Prohibition Enforcement, will speak on his work at the Evening Session. The Rev. J. S. Daurety will be in charge of the Scripture and Prayer.

No Record Exists of World Without Wheat

While the public revels in the marvels of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb the Egyptologists have dropped back another couple of milleniums and are earnestly discussing the diet of the predynastic Egyptians. Careful study of their mummified stomachs reveals traces of barley husks, but not of wheat. Therefore, argues Elliot Smith, that remote people lived in a prewheat civilization. Professor Percival disagrees, insisting that the Egyptians would have removed its husks before eating it, leaving nothing tough enough to resist decay.

Time may bring new data, but for the present Elliot Smith seems to have the better of the argument. All prior guesses as to the kitchen habits of 5,000 or 6,000 years ago are a bit uncertain. But if the Egyptologists have already discovered a prewheat civilization they have dived deep into the past. For wheat grains are found back through the numbered dynasties of Egypt, in the ruins of the first neolithic settlement which underlies the site of Homer's Troy and in the prehistoric dwellings of the Swiss lake dwellers. Wheat, too, was one of the five plants solemnly sown each year by the emperor of China, according to rites which seem to go back to 2800 B. C.

Where wheat originated no man knows. Efforts have been made to trace it to its ancestral plant, but they have never been certainly successful. As soon as a botanist discovers a wild plant closely akin to it some other scientist suggests that the "wild" plant is a degenerate escaped from cultivation. The Swiss lake dwellers had two distinct species, one of which is quite different from anything found in the ancient Egyptian tombs. The earliest Persian writings note wheat as an old-established plant, but the usual guess is that it originated in Mesopotamia. Some day, doubtless, the sands of Mesopotamia will be as carefully raked as those of Egypt and yield as rich additions to man's knowledge of his origins; today it is safe to attribute the origin of almost anything to Mesopotamia, because we know so little about it.

Bridge Easily Operated

An entire bridge weighing 8,000,000 pounds is folded up like a jack-knife or unfolded in 45 seconds by eight 80-horse-power electric motors in Brooklyn, N. Y. It is a new bascule bridge over Flushing creek—the largest lift bridge in the world—which is now nearing completion for electric train and vehicular traffic. The bridge is composed of two leaves 152 feet long, each weighing 4,000,000 pounds, and each counterweighted so delicately that a small amount of electric power will handle it. The bridge has to be raised periodically to permit the passage of vessels in the river. The speed of the motors in opening and closing the "knife blades" will cut down traffic delays.

Got Desired Notoriety

"That gent strutting along on the other side of the street is Anson Inchways, the most extravagant man in the hull of New England!" said the landlord of the tavern at Oxoboxo. "Actually and truly he lit a cigar with a bran-new dollar bill! They arrested him; thought he was crazy—but they found out after a spell that he was doing it just for the notoriety. He got it, too, for there ain't anything that will make a man famous quicker here than being a spendthrift."—Kansas City Star.

Won Out on His Point

In checking up on the time cars were parked at Redlands, Calif., the police found a horse and buggy that had been there more than the allotted time. A ticket was placed on the whip socket ordering the owner to appear in court. And in a short time F. G. Chevalier did appear and said, "Judge, that ordinance applies only to motor vehicles and you can't look me." The judge got the ordinance and found that Chevalier was right.

Thread Quickly Prepared

The process of treating flax for the purpose of making linen is a prolonged one, the same as was made use of 6,000 years ago. The flax is treated to a bath in running water for several days and then the stalks are beaten to remove the undesirable part, leaving only the lengths of fiber. A recent announcement is to the effect that a mechanical treatment has been devised by which the operation is accomplished in a few hours.

Old Timer is a resident of New Jersey, who has been in close touch with the temperance movement for over half a century. In these talks, he takes us back to the days before Prohibition, and in a friendly spirit answers questions and quibbles, and shows the benefits following the Eighteenth Amendment when honestly and earnestly enforced by responsible officers of the law.

Police Power in the Constitution

THE Saturday Night Club, in session at Old Timer's office was well attended by the public spirited men of the town.

On this occasion the discussion was started by the Rev. Lawrence, who remarked, "I have just been reading one of Senator Bill's speeches in which he attacks the Eighteenth Amendment as being improper in that it 'introduces for the first time a specific and almost unamendable and irrepealable police regulation into a document whose purpose was to set up a form of government, and to define and limit its powers.' I should like to hear what Old Timer thinks of that statement."

In reply Old Timer said: "I am unable to find in the Constitution itself, or in Court decisions anything that places any such limitation upon the powers of the people to modify either the fundamental or statutory laws; but the reverse is true. Statutes must follow Constitutional limitations, but the people, by Constitutional methods, may modify, change, revoke or enact into the Constitution as they may will.

"For instance, here in the Federalist, No. 40, I read these words of the 'father of the Constitution,' James Madison: 'It is the transcendent and prescient right of the people to abolish or alter the government as to them shall seem most likely to affect their safety or happiness.' This certainly opens the Constitution wide for ordering police regulation, and liquor traffic control.

"To illustrate," continued Old Timer, "human slavery, and the slave trade with all its horrors were protected by the original Constitution in Article 1, section 9; Article IV, section 2, paragraph 3; and Article V. Those regulations were commercial, and in no sense essential to the machinery or framework of Government. Because they were in the Constitution the Thirteenth Amendment became essential to get rid of slavery. Lincoln's proclamation freed the slaves in the rebellious states, but the Constitutional Amendment tore up slavery by the roots and guaranteed liberty to all for all time.

"James Wilson of Pennsylvania was associated with Madison in the Committee that drafted the Constitution; and has expressed himself strongly as to the unrestricted rights and powers of the people to amend, saying: 'As to the people, in whom the sovereign power resides, from their authority the Constitution originates; in their hands it is as clay in the hands of the potter; they have the right to mold, to preserve, to improve, to refine and to finish it as they please.'" (Wilson's Works Vol. 1, p. 410, see also, Vol. III p. 293)

Continuing, Old Timer quoted from Thomas Jefferson's Works, (Vol. VII, p. 336) equally broad statements of unrestricted rights of the people to amend, and corroborations from Chief Justice Marshall.

Here Al Hammond remarked, "I received the other day a 'wet' leaflet claiming that the people had no voice in framing and ratifying the 18th Amendment, and demanding a referendum; how about it?"

"The Amendment was submitted and ratified in exactly the same manner as all of the nineteen amendments, as the Constitution provides," was Old Timer's reply. "Any other way would have been unconstitutional. 'We the people of the United States' who adopted the original Constitution and its amendments acted invariably by their representatives. The Constitution recognizes States as the Units of Government in the Federal Union, not individuals, and until it is amended to provide a different method of ratification the suggested referendum would be futile."

Why Widows Are the Special Prey of Confidence Men

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

WOMEN are often easy victims for the high-pressure promoter. Widows are especially sought out by the confidence men. Even before their deceased husbands, protectors and counselors are buried the wolves of high finance are waiting outside their doors. They know the defenseless widows will be easy prey. Many a woman today is penniless as a result of making poor investments. "Getting rich quick" for the widow without investment experience is in reality getting poor quick. Once a sharp promoter gets the confidence of a rich widow he has a "Bonanza" as he calls it. Eventually he gets the estate and the widow gets the experience. Widows with estates should be on guard every minute. They are marked persons, with promotion crooks hot on their trail. The best thing that every woman investor can do is to consult her banker before investing.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

Properly cut and set, crystals sparkle in realistic imitation of diamonds. The same is true in the field of finance. There is that which is fraudulent parading as the genuine. Don't buy investments simply because they sparkle. In the realm of wild cat financing, fictitious credentials, testimonials, and references are employed to give setting and genuine appearance. Some are such crank imitations that they are easily recognized, but others defy detection except on the closest investigation by an expert. The only safe procedure is to investigate under competent advice.

Literally millions of dollars are lost to American savers annually as the outcome of buying into something—a fraudulent farm promotion, a business or a job that is nothing more or less than a set-up to catch suckers.

Often the savings of a lifetime are lost by buying unimproved farm lands with the understanding that the seller, or a service company promoted by him, will plant the farm to trees or vines, care for them, market the crop and turn the profits, which, it is promised, will be big, over to the owner. But this dream never comes true. The so-called guaranteed big profits are never realized. If people would only stop long enough to consider all angles of an offer like that before investing they would see the folly of plunging blindly into such a proposition. Let them ask themselves only this one question: "If it is true that such big profits are to be made, why is the seller so eager to part with his property, even to the extent of making it easy for a new owner to farm it?" The answer is that the land is not worth the selling price, nor will the profits derived from it be anywhere near as large as promised.

Buying into the fox business, the poultry business, the dairy business or any kind of business is risky unless you deal with reliable persons or firms whose word is as good as gold. Watch the seller who is insistent in forcing a sale upon you. Look at his proposition from every angle. Just because he makes glowing promises is no assurance that he is not the world's champion exaggerator. Extravagant and exaggerated claims are the earmarks of the fake investment. If you want to go into farming or buy into a business, investigate before you invest. Write to the National Better Business Bureau, New York, or consult your local banker. If they are without information on your proposed investment, wait until they can get the facts and report to you. They have no interest at stake except to forestall crooked games.

Realtors' Dinner Splendid Affair

Many Attend Banquet Given by Burlington County Real Estate Board

Realtors opened a prominent campaign to advertise property to the outside world by making advertising as a group emphasis, different and educational feature, was given a flying start at the first annual banquet of the Burlington County Real Estate Board Tuesday night of last week. Realtors and their ladies to the number of 150 attended the brilliant session, which was held in the social hall of the Mount Holly Methodist Church, on Brainard street.

The entire state has its eye on Burlington county in its new advertising campaign, and it is already being generally admitted that the county has the goods to win the publicity. If they are properly presented. Lloyd Todd, of Camden newly elected president of the New Jersey State Real Estate Board, told the gathering during an interesting address. He praised the program of the county in organized Realtors, declaring Intercounty and not that every legitimate follower in the county would benefit from its program.

"I am glad to see that all interests of your county are united in the Burlington campaign," declared Todd. "In former periods and [illegible] Todd is former days such a campaign would have been ambitious and not financed only by real estate men with the vision to hope for its development and the nerve to back it. But in this modern day, leading men in other lines have come to recognize that while the realtor prides only in his ability to sell a home, when he sells a home he contributes to the prosperity of the community, thereafter the banker, the grocer, the druggist, the clerk, the laborer and every other interest of the community begins to profit from the presence of a new family. Hence every business man in the county is interested in doing the county progressive campaign, for success in the right way.

Fortunate Location

President Todd spoke of the fortunate location of Burlington county that gave it so many attractions as a residential section. The sweeping in of a great population increase from the adjacent metropolitan zones he said within a few years is recognized as inevitable. To home seekers, he said Burlington county offers the finest home sites in the entire state and he got an ovation when he admitted that it had won his heart and that with his family, he is preparing to move into its environs and become a full-fledged citizen of Burlington county.

The dinner session opened with the singing of "America" and an invocation by the Rev. B. Harrison Decker, pastor of the church. A delighting feature of the evening was the entertainment provided by the Hi-Ja Bee Quartette of Camden. Roy D. Cole, of Moorestown, president of the county board was toastmaster. In his address of welcome, he spoke of the growth and ideals of the county board. With many similar boards throughout the state and nation, he said, it is building a code of ethics and high business principles around the real estate men presented under the name of "Realtors" in their relations with the buying public.

Charles B. Dutrow of Edgewater Park, president of the Burlington Countians, Incorporated, briefly outlined the plans of the new organization of county boosters. He urged the co-operation of every real estate man in the enterprise.

That every growing community is being brought face to face with the problem of fire-prevention in its congested areas was pointed out by Elmer Jackson Pearl, of Ocean City, secretary of the state board. He urged realtors to consider early the lesson that Ocean City and many other communities had had to learn through costly experience of the advantage of fire-resistant roofs. Safety and economy, he said, have doomed the wooden shingle roof.

Cut Out "Slump"

"Cut the word 'slump' out of your business vocabulary," is the message of the national association of real estate boards to every realtors and to every business man in America, said Roy Berglund, secretary of the Atlantic County Real Estate Board. "The business man who uses that word soon falls under its baleful influence," he said. "Business is good, but business is not soft any more. The man who stops to mourn over this fact, instead of getting out and hustling for new sales, will find plenty of reason to keep in mourning. The man who wades in and works a little harder finds no time to grumble about conditions and less to grumble about."

Mr. Berglund, too, spoke of the interest the proposed Burlington county advertising project is creating and urged every realtor and every live business man in the county to back it without reserve. "Don't merely make a financial contribution and then leave it to a bunch of good fellows who are willing to give of their busy hours to push the campaign along," he said. "Put your own energies back of the movement and be worthy of the profits this movement will be to you individually."

Commenting on the spirit of the gathering and outlining something of the program for the board during the coming year, President Cole in his closing remarks, said that realtors are ready to show the world that there is a wealth of meaning in Burlington county's new slogan—"The Growing County of the Garden State."

Secretary Hoover summarizes the last year as records wages and employment thus:

"There was little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world, or than in any other time in the world's history. The high prosperity of the year did not represent merely an upward swing in the business cycle, but was the result of that general and permanent progress which has marked the nation's business."

That is a situation for American business men to keep in their minds, thus avoiding damaging doubtful hesitation. Business and prosperity in this country have climbed to a permanently higher plane and barring foolishness will stay there.

John D. Rockefeller, eighty-eight years old, immediately changes his "stance" at golf when told by a professional that he stood too close to the ball. That change lengthened his drive by twenty yards.

Mr. Rockefeller has said that his success in the beginning was due to patience and economy.

It may have been due also to his ability to listen to others and take advice. That is a thing that many [illegible]

Columbus would be pleased by one feature of his memorial tower: a light shooting up into the air to guide fliers. He would think angels were expected. Architects are invited to compete in this enterprise, which should stir the imagination.

The late Gavin McNab, an extremely able lawyer of San Francisco, gave $40,000 to two clients to make up for McNab's bad advice about investments.

It is fortunate for the heirs of certain gentlemen in and out of Wall Street that such requests are not customary or compulsory. If Wall Street gentlemen had to make good losses caused by bad advice on investments, there would not be much left for legal heirs.

The Department of Commerce says that in 350 principal cities of the United States every human being pays an average of $4.09 a year for police protection. Add the costs of courts, prisons, district attorneys, etc., you will find that crime costs many hundreds of millions a year. Add the "get-rich-quick" crimes and it runs to billions.

Unfortunately, what Lloyd George says of war is true also of crime: only education can end it. And this earth is many centuries from being really educated.

The London Gazette published inadvertently an admiralty announcement of extra pay for officers IN CHARGE OF AIRCRAFT CARRIED BY SUBMARINES.

That Britain has submarines equipped with folding aircraft, ready if necessary, to carry destruction to the enemy's harbors, is a secret no longer.

That secret interests this country. We don't expect war from Britain, but what the British can build other can build.

The United States Employment Service predicts good times and plenty of work for 1928.

The old tradition of a bad year that comes to have vanished.

The banks of delinquent Americans are shrinking, only 19,887 in 1924 against 10,414 in 1923. The good old days, however, are increasing. Two hundred and twenty-eight Americans had incomes of $1,000,000 or more last year, only 181 in 1921.

Quite a few have incomes above $1,000,000 a year. The Democrats favor one and the Republicans favor another.

Large Crowds at Trial

Very large crowds attended the trial of Oliver J. Coogan and Oscar Keen, at the court house the past few days. The men were charged with burglary and attempted shooting at the home of Joseph Potts, near Ashby's Mills, on the night of October 18 last. Joseph Potts lived alone in the house and kept considerable money there. He is almost totally deaf. Upon retiring that night he placed two chairs against his bedroom door, on top of one being a brick, the concussion of which would awake him if it struck the floor. About one o'clock two burglars entered his home and attempted to break down the door. The falling brick awoke Potts. They broke a hole in the door with an axe. Potts warned them he would shoot. When one of the men pushed his hand, containing a revolver, through the hole in the door, Potts fired his shotgun through the door. The men fled, leaving many blood stains on the floor. Afterward they were caught in Philadelphia, one badly wounded in the arm, the other in the neck and head. Both were convicted as indicted.

S'MATTER POP — Most Unusual — by C. M. PAYNE

Members of the Burlington County YWCA are looking forward to the third big county-wide Sing at 7.15 on Monday evening, January 23, at the Community House in Moorestown. Mrs. Frances E. Clarke of the Educational Department of the Victor Talking Machine Company will lead the songs and Mrs. Clarence Davenport of Mt. Holly will accompany her at the piano. The evening's program will consist of folk-songs from Czecho-Slovakia, a short talk on the geographic and political situations of the country, and an interpretation of some of the customs of the people. There will also be a chance to sing some popular songs during the evening.

The Music Committee, of which Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong is chairman, invites all people interested in music to take part in the Sing.

The County Council of Business Girls had their meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Stuckwell, Moorestown, on Monday evening, January 16. A large number of girls from different sections of the county were present to hear the interesting address of Dr. and Mrs. William Cadbury of Canton, China.

The music committee met at the home of Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong in Moorestown, Monday, January 16. Final plans for the Sing on January 23 were completed and ways of carrying the folk songs of Czecho-Slovakia into all clubs in the county.

Miss Driedlein gave a First Aid Demonstration to the Woman's Club of Rancocas at their meeting on Monday.

January comes as a month of planning of new activities in the realm of Girl Reserve Clubs. Various interests have been chosen by different groups. The Chatsworth Girl Reserves have planned activities of world fellowship and health. In Columbus the emphasis for the next month will be on handicraft and dramatics. The Lenola Girl Reserves have planned to devote one meeting each month to sports, handicraft, and discussions. In view of the fact that the foreign secretary to whose support Burlington County contributes, is in China, most of the clubs are including programs on China in their plans for the winter.

Other groups planning health projects are Indian Mills, Burlington, Mount Holly, and Moorestown. The Mount Holly and Moorestown Junior High Clubs are very fortunate in being able to include short courses in home nursing and hygiene.

Dramatics has also found favor with the Vincentown and Chesterfield Girl Reserves. The Chesterfield and the Columbus girls are also taking up reed basketry as part of their club activity.

The grade school Girl Reserves of Mt. Holly and Vincentown enjoyed a swim in the pool of the Moorestown Community House on Saturday morning. Everyone, whether an expert in the art of diving and swimming or just one learning to swim, had a fine time.

The first of a series of meetings for Girl Reserve advisers, leaders and committee women will be on Wednesday evening, January 25, at the YWCA Club Rooms of Burlington at 7.30 o'clock.

Miss Elizabeth D. Eggleston, Assistant Executive Secretary of the Philadelphia Young Women's Christian Association, will conduct these discussions. Her subject will be the adolescent girl, her needs and her interests, and ways of meeting those needs and interests through Girl Reserve group activity. For a number of years Miss Eggleston was the Girl Reserve Executive for the city of Philadelphia and has a rich fund of experience to contribute to such a course for those people interested in work with younger girls.

All Girl Reserve advisers, or other persons interested in the adolescent girls are urged to attend.

The Mount Holly Grade School Girl Reserves will have a cake sale, Saturday morning, January 28, at the American Fire House. The sale will begin at ten o'clock. Proceeds of the sale will be used to carry on the club program.

MOVIE HITS

"An adorable fraud" might well be the title for "Very Confidential," Madge Bellamy's new Fox Films production directed by James Tinling, which has been booked at the Walt Whitman Theatre for Monday and Tuesday.

In this picture, Miss Bellamy sets her heart upon winning the love of a stalwart football hero and she is kept busy inventing new excuses to keep in his good graces. She starts by posing as a courageous big-game hunter and finishes by doing an amazing stunt that would be a credit to the world's champion automobile racer.

"Stage Kisses," which will be shown next Wednesday and Thursday, is an attempt to prove that all of the affection of an actress is not sham. The story moves along smoothly and in a perfectly natural manner with plenty of stirring action and breathless moments of suspense. Blended with this is a constant shifting background of social life ranging from the stage, cabaret and night club to the staid drawing-rooms of the upper social strata and the more relaxed atmosphere of an apartment block.

Monte Blue will be seen in the "The Rush Leagner" on Friday and Saturday of next week.

Dental Clinic In Operation

Pupils in Westfield Public School Had First "Sitting" on Monday Last

A complete dental equipment has been installed at Westfield public school, Cinnaminson.

The P. T. A. has aided the Board of Education and individuals interested in the project, and the dental clinic has had its first day.

On Monday, January 16, Dr. P. Conner Hulse began work on the children attending the school. Soon the children will have the "white smile of satisfaction" that comes from clean teeth and no toothaches.

At the recent meeting of the P. T. A. the seventh grade gave a play which had been previously presented to the school. The children coached themselves during study periods and proved beyond a doubt that they were capable of tackling something and seeing it through. The players were:

Horace Anderson, Agnes Atkinson, Catherine Broderson, Margaret Caskey, Jack Dennelor, Ferdinand Frenzel, Ida McCann, Alberta Morris, Margaret Reed, Amelia Urban, Herman Velterheimer, Harold Wagner.

January has been chosen as Thrift month for Parent-Teacher Associations. Mrs. Conrow read an article from the Child Welfare Magazine, "Children and Money." The article stressed teaching the use of money first and the saving of money later.

The Association is sponsoring a Father and Son banquet to be given early in February. Mrs. Reidenbaker is chairman of the committee to provide the dinner. Needless to say, that committee will be quite popular with the sons, not to say how the fathers feel about it.

PRESS CHAIRMAN.

PLANS TO BOAST BURLINGTON CO.

Will Explain Methods at Big Dinner in February; Charles R. Stout, Chairman

Officers and members of the board of directors of the Burlington Countians, Incorporated, together with invited guests and representatives of chambers of commerce and service clubs met in the Riverside Trust Company's building Friday evening of last week, for the purpose of further considering plans for enlisting the interest of residents of the county in the many advantages it has to offer in both industrial and residential sites.

Charles R. Durborow, the president, presided, and L. D. Odhner, the new secretary of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, made a forceful address on the inducements Burlington county has to offer those who are looking for industrial locations or places for homes. He painted a stirring picture of the rapid growth of this section which must inevitably follow the completion of the Palmyra and Burlington bridges.

Charles R. Stout was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a dinner in February, at which the plans of the Burlington Countians, Incorporated, will be explained. "Charlie" is looking for the biggest place he can find in which to hold the dinner, which will be the most elaborate affair of its kind ever held in the county.

A Swiss historian claims women wore short skirts and exposed their knees to the weather in the sixteenth century, and that accounts for the looks of some seen nowadays.

WANT CANDIDATES FOR MEN'S CHORUS

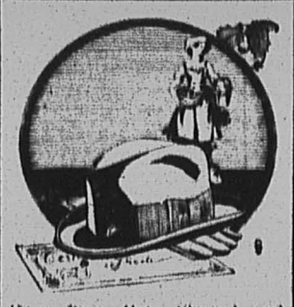

Male Dancers to Have Tryout for Lions Show

All of the young men who wish a tryout for the male chorus of the Lions show are invited to be present at the P. O. S. of A. Hall tonight, (Thursday). This is the first opportunity the young men of this community have had to "strut their stuff" before "Al" White and "Dave" Smith, the dancing instructors for the Lions show "and how." The young men who are accepted for parts in this show will receive the benefit of expert instruction from two well-known instructors.

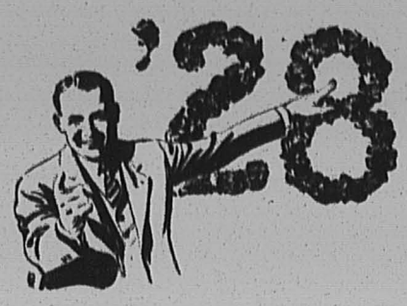

At the rate the girls are going in their dance numbers, Palmyra and Riverton will witness in April one of the "peppiest" shows in musical comedy ranks.

When the male chorus has been selected, it will be possible for the dancing instructors to work out the "Boy and Girl" numbers which adds "that something" to the show that only such numbers can add.

It is hoped by the director that every girl who has registered to date and that those who contemplate trying for the choruses will be on hand this Thursday evening, January 19, at eight o'clock sharp.

Coach Dimond's Palmyra High School quintet is still at the top of the heap in the Camden Suburban League competition by virtue of its 37 to 21 victory over Haddonfield while Haddon Heights was losing to Woodbury Tuesday night.

The Palmyra basketeers performed in their usual intimitable manner from the start and by clever team work rolled up a comfortable lead early in the first canto.

Captain Eisley let the opposition know that he was in the game by parting the cords for 12 points. Hennessey and West took second place honors with eight points each.

This win marks the fifth consecutive victory for the Palmyra five in league competition. Haddon Heights is in second place with three wins and one defeat.

Moorestown Beaten

In the game Friday night the Palmyra boys trimmed the Moorestown team without any great difficulty, score 39 to 20. The Moorestown attack failed to gain much headway during the game. In fact five field goals were the limit of their aggressiveness.

The Palmyra attack started off with a bang and before the first half was over 25 points were marked up.

Eisley performed in his usual brilliant manner, scoring seven field goals and one foul. West was next in line with 8 points. Juliana was the individual star for the losers with a total of 10 points.

HONOR LEGION MAN

When it was found that the late Harry J. Kemble was an ex-service man, the American Legion boys of Post Rodgers, Palmyra, made up a delegation and called at the Snover Funeral Home and decorated the casket with the colors. The boys offered to form a guard of honor and escort the body to the cemetery but since funeral arrangements had been completed for Monday morning the relatives did not wish to change the plans.

Kemble died at Dayton, Ohio, last week.

MAYOR NAMES SHADE TREE COMMISSION

New Palmyra Organization Has Much Work Awaiting It

A shade tree commission and two new members of the Board of Health were appointed by Mayor Wimer at the meeting of Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday evening.

The shade tree commission is composed of William R Gerkens, Howard J. Showers and John E. Morton.

The new Board of Health members are Walter G. Shappel and Mrs Mary F. King. They were appointed for three years.

Palmyra has been without a shade tree commission for several years and there is much work awaiting the members. Palmyra's trees have long been known as one of the chief beauties and assets of the town, but they are now sadly in need of attention. It is understood the new commission will organize immediately and be ready to consider the various propositions before them.

Council decided to abandon winter rubbish collection and to make but one collection a month between the dates of April 1 and Sept. 30.

The fire company requested the purchase of 1000 feet of new hose and the fire committee will consider this.

Council adjourned to meet in executive session next Tuesday evening to consider the annual budget.

The 'Christian Jew' Talks to Men's Club

Rev. Paul Berman Explains What is Real Hebrew Problem in U. S.

The regular monthly meeting and annual election of officers of the Men's club was held in the Parish house of Christ Church, Palmyra, Monday night.

After the report of the secretary was read and regular business completed the club was entertained by two beautifully rendered vocal solos by Mrs. J. E. Turnock, soloist of the Methodist Church.

Lee Mitton accompanied her at the piano. The members of the club wish to express their appreciation for the very pleasing musical numbers.

The Rev. Paul Berman, the "Christian Jew," delivered the address of the evening. The Rev Mr. Berman was born in Palestine and is now a member of the National Council of Jewish Evangelization for the Presbyterian Church. The speaker took for his subject, "The Jew in America." He gave out some interesting facts concerning the number of Jews in America who have accepted the Christian religion, pointing out that there are 709 ordained ministers of the Jewish race in the Protestant churches of this country.

Our Jewish Problem

He mentioned the "Dearborn Independent" with certain articles on the "Jewish Problem" in America and went on to say that America does have a "Jewish Problem" and that furthermore there has always been a "Jewish Problem."

He told his audience how the ancient enemies of his race had tried to solve their "Jewish Problem" by drowning the Jews but after chasing them into the sea they found that they were waterproof. Later their enemies tried to burn the Jews but found them to be fireproof. Again their enemies tried to hang them but found them to be hangproof. In fact all attempts to persecute the Jew have failed, and all nations who have persecuted the Jews have also failed.

England and America

England and America are the only two nations to receive the Jew without persecuting him and England and America are the nations that have prospered and become the two greatest nations the world has ever known. He pointed out that the Jew had had his part in building these two nations.

The Rev. Mr. Berman went on to illustrate the real "Jewish Problem" in America. He told of a Jew who came to America several years ago and was met at Ellis Island by an Evangelist and brought under the influence of the Christian church and was educated by the help of the church and later became a Christian missionary to China where he established churches and colleges and also translated the Bible into Chinese. This man who came here from Russia with vengeance in his heart because he had been persecuted by the "Christians" of Russia was made to see Christianity in its proper light and became a great help to the Christian Church. This Jew was Bishop Scherevesky.

Story of Trotsky

Another Jew who came to this country to escape persecution by the "Christians" of Russia. He did not come under Christian influence and became "Radical" of the reddest variety in East Side, New York. Later he became editor of a Radical paper in New York. When the Russian revolution broke out he returned to Russia where he held high office with the Bolshevik government. Here was his chance for vengeance and he took it. This story is well known to all. The man was Trotsky.

The Rev. Mr. Berman told his audience that only about eight percent of the two million Jews in "Jew York City" took the Jewish religion seriously. The other ninety-two percent were really without religion. In fact they were drifting, "whither we know not." A great many of them are becoming Free Thinkers and Atheists. Here is the real "Jewish Problem" according to the Rev. Mr. Berman. Here is a wonderful opportunity for the Christians to spread the Gospel of Christ and he believes that many Jews are ready for the Gospel if properly presented to them.

The Rev. Dr. Berman's address was received with great enthusiasm and to show their appreciation the club gave him a rising vote of thanks.

Officers Elected

An election of officers was held and the following were re-elected: President, Rev. G. J. McCormack; recording secretary, Lieutenant H. R. West; financial secretary, M. H. Sheffield, and treasurer, Edward G. Borer. William J. Purnell and W. J. Harmon were elected vice-president and corresponding secretary respectively.

Lay members of the executive committee appointed were Captain Nelson Bond, William M. McConnell, A. E. Fowler and Captain Sydney O. Albertson.

George W. Reber was re-appointed to serve as custodian of the "smokes." The social committee consisted of C. F. Shaw, Harold Zayotti, William S. Donaghy, and James T. Weart.

The following men were admitted to membership: Joseph Wilcox, H Frank Chapin, Harry B. Henderson, John F. Horton, H. F. Anders and D. R. Hayes.

These meetings are always well attended but surely if more men of the community knew just what a treat was in store for them they would make it a point to attend. Any man in this community is invited to attend. You do not have to be a member, just come over and see how you like it and then if you wish you can join. The dues are only one dollar a year and you get five dollar's worth of eats and smokes, not to mention the interesting meetings and good fellowship. The club meets in the Parish House of Christ Church at 6.15 o'clock the last Monday in every month.

Palmyra's Budget Has Small Increase

Appropriations For 1928 Are Not Expected to Boost Tax Rate

Palmyra Borough is fortunate this year in having an increase of only slightly more than $3,000 in its appropriations for 1928.

Riverton's budget jumped $12,000 while Moorestown has an increase of $35,000.

The chief increase for Palmyra was made in the appropriation for roads and streets, which is $11,500 for this year against $8500 for 1927.

Several other slight increases are offset either by reductions elsewhere, or by the fact that certain deficits and expenses which had to be provided for last year have disappeared from the 1928 budget entirely.

The total municipal budget for 1928 is $71,880.68 as against $68,638.54 in 1927.

The administrative and executive department requires $3500, an increase of $500. The police appropriation is $300 less. Fire equipment is increased from $1000 to $1800.

The hygiene nurse appropriation of $800 is new. Street lighting is raised from $7000 to $7900, due to the opening of new streets. The shade tree commission get $500 as against $250 and the ash and garbage department is to receive $4500 instead of $4000.

Due to increases in assessable property in Palmyra, it is believed the local purpose tax will not be raised, although the reader must bear in mind that the school tax and the State and County taxes must be added in to make up the total tax rate.

MILK THIEF

Charles Rowan Sentenced to 30 Days in Jail

Charles Rowan, who gave his address as Seventh street, Riverton, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail at Mount Holly at a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Fichter, at Palmyra, Tuesday morning.

Rowan was charged with stealing milk from the porch of Walter Horner, of Delaware avenue. The man was arrested by Officer Rodgers in one of the vacant bungalows on West Fifth street near Weart Boulevard. He was identified at the hearing by a boy who serves the morning papers in the neighborhood.

Several thefts of milk have been reported recently in the vicinity of where the arrest was made and it is believed the same man was responsible for them.

PANCAKE SUPPER

The ladies of the Golden Hour Circle of the Presbyterian Church have arranged for one of the famous pancake suppers which are so popular just now, and promise to give each patron all he can eat.

The pancakes will be supplied and made by the Pillsbury Flour Mills, who just want a chance to have the men and women, boys and girls of Riverton learn how delicious a pancake can be.

The ladies will supply the sausage, syrup, tea and coffee and the other "fixins."

The date is Thursday, February 2. Time, from 5 to 8. Place, the social hall in the church. Tickets, 50 cents.

CHILDREN'S SAVINGS

Suggestions on children's allowances and the proper methods of teaching them to save and to spend wisely were the subjects of the January meeting of the Riverton Parent-Teacher Association which was held last Thursday in the school auditorium.

Mr. Stout, vice-president of the Educational Thrift System of New York, explained this system which has been installed in the Cinnaminson Bank, and which will operate through the school for the purpose of teaching the children to save their money.

The P. T. A. has worked for years to bring this about, and it is hoped the parents will appreciate its value and encourage the children to have their own accounts.

A musical program of unusual worth added much pleasure to the afternoon. The numbers were given by Mrs. A. Wilson as soloist and a sextette which is the beginning of a P. T. A. choral.

K. of C. Concert Well Received

T. E. Eadon Heads Committee to Provide Entertainment Every Sunday Night

A large, appreciative audience assembled at the K. of C. Hall last Sunday night and enjoyed the first of a series of concerts by the local Knights.

The selections by the various artists were so well received that an encore to each scheduled number was given. The vocal offerings by Miss Steedle, Mr. Flech and Mr Buehler also merited an extra song from each one.

The interior of the hall, brightened by artistic arrangements of the furnishings and the addition of some new lighting fixtures, made the guests of the local Knights feel right at home. New foot lights on the beautifully curtained stage made the settings ideal for this initial Sunday night concert.

T. A. Eadon, a past Grand Knight of the Riverton-Palmyra Council is chairman of the K. of C. Sunday night concert committee, assisted by H. C. Sim, R. J. Woods, H Gottlieb, J. Doonan, J. Strohlein, A. Strohlein, J. Schuler, Sr., J Hackett and G. Porter.

On Sunday night, February 12, a well-known group of radio artists will supply the entertainment for the second concert. Details for this affair, which promises to surpass last Sunday night's program will be completed at the meeting of the committee during the coming week.

The dates for the presentation of the annual K. of C. show to be staged the latter part of February have not been fixed by the show committee, but judging by the enthusiastic meetings held in the council's headquarters during the past week something unusual is being planned in the way of amateur theatricals.

FIREMEN ADVISE CAREFUL DRIVING

Burlington County Firemen's Relief Association Cautions Against Speeding

The Burlington County Firemen's Relief Association were guests of the Riverton Fire Company at the monthly meeting last Wednesday evening. The meeting was held in Collins Hall.

Ex-Mayor Flagg, of Riverton, and Mayor Cramer, of Beverly, spoke in favor of limiting the speed of fire apparatus. There was a spirited discussion, many feeling that this matter should be left to the discretion of the fire chiefs. However, a motion was finally passed that the Association approved of a twenty-mile speed within town limits, and thirty-five miles in the country.

The Board of Freeholders have recently appropriated $300 a year for the salary of a county fire marshall, and the association recommended that Ex-Sheriff Flagg be appointed to the position.

A motion was passed that the Burlington County Firemen's Relief Association arrange a ladies' night with a banquet, entertainment and dance. The arrangements were left in charge of Mr. Flagg, but the time and place was not decided on.

After the close of the business session there was excellent music by an orchestra and two acts o' vaudeville.

About 300 men were present and after the meeting they went to the firehouse, where refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Next month's meeting will be held at Riverside.

GIRL'S NECK GASHED

Erma Johnson Injured by Fall Against Window

Erma, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Johnson, of 800 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, was the victim of a painful accident Monday afternoon.

The girl was dusting the furniture in the room when she got up on a chair to dust off the top of a Victrola. The chair slipped, causing her to fall against a window. In falling the window glass was broken and a jagged piece cut a severe gash in her neck.

Chief of Police Beck was called and he placed the little girl in his car and took her to Dr. Bauer's office. Fortunately the jugular vein was not severed so the doctor was soon able to stop the flow of blood. The cut proved to be very severe, however, and nine stitches were required to close the wound. She was then taken back to her home where she is reported to be doing nicely although the wound is very painful.

Chief Beck praised the little sufferer's fortitude while she was being treated at Dr. Bauer's office. She submitted to having the nine stitches taken without an outcry.

FIND STOLEN CARS

Officer Joseph Rodgers, of the Palmyra police force, found a small sedan abandoned on Cinnaminson avenue near the river last Thursday night.

The car was without license tags and the engine number was mutilated. The machine was in running order however and was driven to a garage on its own power. Ezra Olse, of Merchantville, was later found to be the owner of the car. It was stolen from Camden on November 2.

Another stolen machine was found on the River Road near West Palmyra. This car, a large sedan, was the property of Police Lieutenant Tooley of the Philadelphia force. Tooley left the car in front of the Keystone Yacht Club and did not see it again until Palmyra police got in touch with him. Lieutenant Tooley called for the car and identified it. The machine was not damaged.

WILL DANCE FOR BENEFIT OF LIBRARY

Annual Porch Club Event Will Be Held February 11, at Country Club

The Riverton Porch Club is arranging to give a dance at the Country Club for the benefit of the Free Library Association on February 11. The tickets will sell for $1.00.

Mrs. J. Douglas Clark is chairman of the committee of the Porch Club having the affair in charge, and it will be one of the social events of the new year. Not only the "younger set," but those who were the "younger set" in the good old days, will be seen on the floor, if plans work out as scheduled.

Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Clark and her committee, and from any member of the board of trustees of the Library.

This dance is an annual event and is one of the sources of income on which the Library depends for maintenance.

The expenses of the Library for books, service, etc., increases each year, and the committee in charge of the dance asks for a liberal support.

Palmyra PTA Has Interesting Session

Cooperation Between School Officials, Teachers and Parents is Keynote

The newly formed Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association met at the Legion Home Monday evening and completed details of organization.

It was decided to hold regular meetings in the future at the high school building on Delaware avenue on the third Tuesday evening of each month. Prof. Carl Hurlock was elected first vice-president of the Association.

Several of the school teachers were present and it developed that the announcement made at the first meeting of the association two weeks ago to the effect that all the teachers had been invited to that meeting was in error. Somebody had slipped up and except for a general newspaper invitation no direct notice had been given the majority of the teachers.

The meeting was also honored with the presence of the president of the Board of Education, William A. Donaghy, who made a brief speech in which he congratulated the parents for reviving the organization and assured them the cooperation of the school authorities. Mr. Donaghy said there was plenty of work to be done and that it would be beneficial to all concerned for the parents to keep in closer touch with the school officials and teachers.

Mr. Donaghy's remarks were enthusiastically applauded.

Mrs. Hagstoz, County Chairman of Parent-Teacher Associations, then outlined a program for the new association and told of the work being done by the various organizations all over the county.

Mrs. Hagstoz urged the Association to be constructive, to cooperate rather than to interfere, suggest rather than attempt to dictate, and to keep private grievances, personal interests, race antagonisms, politics and sectarianism out of the Association entirely.

The keynote of Mrs. Hagstoz' talk was cooperation and friendliness. She emphasized especially that mothers should get into direct touch with the teachers and the schools.

Miss Hannold told of having attended the "obsequies" of the last Association and told how many of the teachers had been faithful in their attendance to the end. On behalf of the teachers she invited and urged the parents to show their interest in the schools by visiting them and getting first hand information about the problems to be met.

Mr. Donaghy had mentioned the fact that there was a vacancy to be filled on the school board at the next election which takes place in February, and suggested, inasmuch as there is now only one woman member, Mrs. Giberson, that the new Association bring forward a capable woman candidate for the vacancy.

The executive committee of the Association promised to take this matter in hand.

LUTHERANS WIN

The basketball team of the Palmyra Lutheran Church defeated the Camden Lutherans Tuesday night by a score of 29 to 27. Buckholz featured for Palmyra with a total of ten points.

Lynch, of Camden, carried off the honors of his side with the same number of markers. Both made their points the same way with five field tosses and no fouls.

Palmyra Ambulance Officers Elected

Additional Funds Needed Due to Expense of Overhauling Machine

The annual meeting of the Palmyra Ambulance Association was held in the Independence Fire House last Friday evening.

The Ambulance Committee reported that the ambulance had been thoroughly overhauled and was now in first-class condition.

The treasurer reported that on account of the repairs, the current funds were practically exhausted and plans for additional money should be made.

The election of officers for 1928 resulted as follows:

President, George N. Wimer, Vice-president, Harry J. Baar, treasurer, Mrs. John C. Hoepfner, Secretary, Mrs. George J. Spencer; Directors, Joseph L. Stack, C. Morris Beck, Edward F. Bennett, Harold B. Lever, Speers J. Kerr, John Hudson, Mrs. C. A. Haines, Mrs. Edward Fox.

The President appointed as Ambulance Committee, C. Morris Beck, Joseph L. Stack and Edward F. Bennett and as Drivers Committee, C. Morris Beck, Harold B. Lever and George N. Wimer.

The regular meetings will be held on the third Friday of each month in the Independence Fire House at 8 p. m.

The Nurses on duty for the ensuing month are: Mrs. A. B. Branson, Mrs. W. C. Hoare and Mrs. J. C. Noone. The Ambulance Committee consists of Mrs. C. A. Hines and Mrs. James T. Weart.

This organization is supported by voluntary contributions and all the nurses and drivers serve without compensation. Great credit should be given to these men and women who are subject to call at any time of the day or night, and rarely fail to respond.

CHAUTAUQUA TO RETURN NEXT YEAR

Appreciative Audiences Crowd P. O. S. of A. Hall and Enjoy High Class Talent

A large attendance and a program a little better than in former years featured the Chautauqua for 1928.

Saturday night there was an exceptional lecture, of which many probably felt as one man was heard to express, that what he heard was worth the whole price of the series.

On Sunday afternoon there was a short service which made all who attended feel a little more like striving for the worth-while things.

"Patsy," the much-heralded play of Monday evening, brought out a full house and the Indians from Pueblo School on Tuesday evening were as well received and much enjoyed.

The afternoons for the children were much appreciated and many expressed themselves as hoping the Chautauqua would come again next year. The talent throughout was very high class and there were enough local people sufficiently interested to guarantee its return next year.

The coming of Chautauqua to a town gives all the residents a rather unusual chance for a series of musical, dramatic and literary entertainments at a very modest cost.

DANCE RECITAL

Dorothy Warner School Will Give Exhibition February 8

A dance recital will be given by the Dorothy Warner School of Dancing Wednesday, February 8 at 8 o'clock, at the Porch Club, Fourth and Howard streets, Riverton. The entertainment will include a Mock Wedding and exhibition of the work which is being done in the various classes under the instruction of Miss Lillian Houck.

Constant improvement is being shown in the work of the pupils and new scholars are now being enrolled for the second semester.

You are cordially invited to attend. No admission charge.

PHS SENIOR PLAY

"The Touchdown" will be given by the Seniors of Palmyra High School on February 24 and 25. It is a very appropriate play for high school students and the class is working hard to make it a success. The income from the Senior Play is used to defray some of the expenses of the annual Washington trip.

A role of one of the leading characters is that of a delicate student played by Nelson Harris who portrays much character by defending a wrongdoer whom he loved. Another interesting role is that of the Coach, played by Victor Mueller. He becomes very exasperated because his lady friend's twin sister is always interrupting.

Don't forget the dates, February 24 and 25. To see it will be worth your while!

WRECKED TRAFFIC LAMP, HAS LICENSE REVOKED

Charles J. Hein, of Palmyra, knocked over the traffic lamp at Broad and Main streets, Riverton, Monday night. He was arrested by Director of Public Safety Williams and Officer Miller and pronounced to be intoxicated by Dr. Harry L. Rogers, the borough police surgeon. Hein was fined $200 and had his license revoked by Justice of the Peace Coddington.

PORCH CLUB NEWS

The entertainment scheduled for January 31st, will be postponed until later in the club year.

Mrs. Frederick McCord of the Saturday Club of Wayne Pa., gave an interesting and instructive talk on current literature. She discussed the various kinds of novels such as the historical novel, the introspective type, the novel giving purely propaganda, the character study, and the new form of fictionized biography. In judging a novel, Mrs. McCord continued, one must consider the following points: technique, narrative, setting, characterization, presentation, significance, and then the last three woven together. Mrs. McCord took up four novels in particular giving the story and criticizing each.

Pool Meet Success Though Stars Lose

Community House Team Puts Up Splendid Battle Against Garden Court

The swimming meet last Thursday evening at the Community House pool was a success even though Moorestown lost. The crowd was large and enthusiastic. In general, the visiting team, Garden Court, of Philadelphia, won the speed events, and took most of the places in the fancy diving.

Ed Roberts won the fancy diving event in fine style, 58 points; Bishass, Garden Court, 54; and Hartnett, Garden Court, 52. One of the surprises of this event was the excellent diving of Brinkley Price who displayed unusual form, tying Ed Platt for fourth place.

The "220 free" was won by Garden Court and the "100 free." The "40 breast" was won by Garden Court. Bishop, of Moorestown, came in a close and fast moving second. The "40 back" was also won by Garden Court, with Conard close behind, though third.

The 40-yard relay was a thrilling event, Miller, of Moorestown, making a desperate effort to make up a loss of 15 yards but losing by a scant foot.

The score of 49 to 13, favor of Garden Court, does not give an adequate picture of the event. In almost all events but the "100" and "220" the race was closely fought and the swimmers were all bunched together and fighting hard to place.

A number of special events were on the program. Junior speed sprints, women's form contest, life saving exhibition and comic diving by Garden Court all interested the many spectators.

Irving Hollingshead deserves credit for his able judging. Dr. Ruhlman, of Camden YMCA, was the other judge and showed excellent judgment in his decisions in the difficult optional dives. This is one of the most difficult things to do, and he did it well.

TWO GRASS FIRES

The fire apparatus was called out to extinguish a grass fire in the vicinity of Walnut and Spring Garden streets, Palmyra, about 11.30 Monday morning. No alarm was sounded at this time.

An alarm was sounded about 2 o'clock in the evening of the same day. This time the firemen started their own fire and extinguished it when the dead grass was burned off so that there was no longer any danger of it catching on fire at some inopportune time. This was near the same place where the fire was in the morning.

Mrs. Cardea Gets Carnegie Pension

Will Receive $80 Monthly in Recognition of Heroism of Gallant Husband

Recognition of her husband's brave sacrifice of his life has come to help Mrs. Bridget Cardea carry the burden placed upon her when he gave his life in an attempt to save two young girls who drowned in Pensauken creek last July.

Surrounded by her six small children, Mrs. Cardea was informed in their little home on West Broad street, Palmyra, that she is recipient of a pension of $80 monthly from the Carnegie Hero Fund Institute which announced its annual awards at Pittsburgh.

In addition she will receive a posthumous bronze medal commemorating the brave sacrifice of Demetria C. Cardea, her husband.

Cardea was drowned when he tried to save Anna and Madelina Fabricatore, 16 and 17 years, respectively, who sank in the water out of their depth while wading in the creek last July 7.

Cardea's trousers entangled about his feet as he reached the struggling girls and he was dragged to his death with them in their frantic grasp.

Since her husband's death, Mrs. Cardea had been supported partly by the kindness of her neighbors and through the money she derived from taking in washing. A fund of $350 raised for her by Palmyra residents was exhausted some months ago.

Her children range in age from two to fourteen. Those who are old enough attend school.

Palmyra Departments Merged to Increase Their Efficiency

Ashes and Garbage and Roads and Streets Committees Will Combine Forces Under One Supervision

Shortly after the first of the year, on recommendation of Mayor George N. Wimer, Chairman A. B. Cramer of the Ashes and Garbage Committee, and F. G. Fromuth, of the Roads and Streets Committee, planned to merge the facilities of the two committees so as to increase the efficiency of each.

Under this arrangement the new Supervisor of Roads, Harry Karns, is responsible for the maintenance of the equipment of both departments and is in direct charge of the men, so that their time may be applied to either the Ashes Departments or the Road Department.

With one important change, the schedule of ash, garbage and rubbish collections will be carried out as heretofore, but dependent on weather and working conditions the work of the two departments is interchangeable, the department receiving the benefit of the work standing the cost. This plan doubles the facilities and men of both departments in emergency.

Collections Reduced

Beginning February 1 the number of rubbish collections will be reduced from one each week to one each month. While it is the desire of the Mayor to give residents as much as possible at the lowest cost this change is not being made on the ground of economy but because householders are not finding it necessary to avail themselves of these frequent collections.

It has been only a few years since there was only one "clean-up" day a year and if frequent collections of rubbish have resulted in greater habits of cleanliness they were worth the cost. If monthly collection is found insufficient more frequent collections will be made.

Cleanliness Urged

"Cleanliness is next to Godliness" and cleanliness helps create town pride. Residents are asked to avoid throwing litter on the streets, using instead the receptables furnished by the Borough. The "Bus" receipts given passengers on leaving are beginning to constitute a nuisance and a container will be placed as near the bus stop as possible so that conscientious passengers can drop them into a can instead of broadcasting them on the streets.

Sunday is company day in Palmyra. We have many visitors, mostly tourists passing through the town, but they can get a good or bad impression from the appearance of our public places. Merchants are asked to sweep their walks and take up the litter Saturday nights so their places will present a clean appearance on Sunday and reflect the character of their business.

Roads and Streets

The matter of roads and streets, as always presents a serious problem and effort is being made to bring the present streets to as good a condition as possible. Hard surface paving would be very desirable for Palmyra, but in view of the present tax rate and the disinclination of the administration and property owners to assume any major indebtedness at this time, this will have to be left to future development.

Ashes are being used to fill "chuck" holes, not from a pinch-penny policy but to make available the facilities at hand, pending the proper time to install permanent paving.

Oiling streets has some advantages, but a regular program of oiling is rather costly when the life of the benefit is considered.

The south side of Broad street between Cinnaminson and Lincoln avenues, Highland avenue to the Borough line and the Boulevard between Cinnaminson avenue at Third street and Elm avenue in Riverton demand first study and attention in improvement after the other Borough Streets are brought to as good a condition as possible.

The purchase of more efficient road maintenance equipment is being contemplated as the present machinery is inadequate and therefore not economical. It is hoped that this purchase will result in an improved condition of the present streets.

Auto Club Issues Winter Warnings

Motorists and Pedestrians Have Power to Help Reduce Traffic Accidents

Street users, both motorists and pedestrians, have it within their province to reduce winter traffic mishaps to a minimum if they will but recognize certain fundamental difficulties in connection with driving and walking during this season which is the most prolific in serious accidents.

This point is made in a statement issues by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club, with headquarters in Newark, in which are enumerated the considerations everyone should ponder in the interest of safety.

The most significant feature of winter driving that should appeal to everyone is that footing for both motor cars and pedestrians is most treacherous and insecure during the current season, the statement says. Certain steps can be taken to offset this condition but their effectiveness is limited, and, unless the driver and walker both realize this, it is possible to turn their basic safety into a definite hazard, it is pointed out.

Concessions to Make

"Both pedestrians and motorists have concessions to make to the fact that snowy, icy streets are treacherous," says the statement. "The motorist's responsibility demands, first, the addition of such safety equipment as chains, and secondly the realization that there is such a thing as outdriving any safety feature. That many motorists do sacrifice the advantages given by four-wheel brakes, balloon tires, chains, and other such safety features is revealed in accident analyses made by the 950 clubs that make up the membership of the American Automobile Association, of which the New Jersey Club is a member and official representative in this State.

"This is due to the fact that motorists often are lulled into a false sense of security by the very presence of these undeniably safe appurtenances to modern motoring. It is not to be questioned that cars are safer, but the safety inherent in any car still must be brought out by highly intelligent driving.

Human Factor Large

"The human factor is large and always will be large. Driving which brings no mishap is that which recognizes that a street surface which has low frictional value necessitates a longer stopping distance, not only for one driver or one pedestrian but for every street user."

The duty of the pedestrian to recognize virtually these same facts is paramount, the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club officials believe. The statement continues:

"The pedestrian should understand the viewpoint of the motorist in winter. How many times have serious mishaps resulted from the selfish thoughtlessness of pedestrians! A typical accident of this character is that resulting from jay-walking. This practice is greatest in winter and the pedestrian who resorts to it may force several drivers to apply their brakes with dangerous haste. The result is a skid that may involve several cars in a crash, the consequences of which are often fatal.

"The temptation for everyone is to hurry. Neither driving nor walking is so much of a pleasure in winter and one's destination is never so desirable as when the weather is cold and the footing insecure and uncomfortable. But haste is the cause of too many accidents to be without its vital significance.

"Of all the seasons during which courteous regard for the other driver and for pedestrians is absolutely paramount, winter is the most difficult in which to concede this need. But if everyone would ponder briefly the reward of such a concession—the preservation of hundreds of precious human lives—it is not to be questioned but that a more wholesome attitude would be developed.

"Just a slight willingness to consider the harder conditions of winter and an effort to get the other person's viewpoint is all that is necessary to take much of the tragedy out of cold weather driving."

HON. HAMILTON F. KEAN who, at a dinner in Elizabeth last Thursday evening announced he would be a candidate in the Republican primary election next May for the nomination of United States Senator.

Kean Announces His Candidacy

Union County Leader Seeks Republican Nomination for U. S. Senator

At a testimonial dinner tendered to the Hon. Hamilton F. Kean by the Neil McLeod Association at the Masonic Temple, Elizabeth, last Thursday evening Mr. Kean announced that he would be a candidate in the Republican primary election, to be held on May 15, 1928, for the nomination of United States Senator. Mr. Kean said in part:

It is extremely gratifying to me to be the honored guest this evening, especially as this dinner is given because at a recent meeting of the Union County Republican Committee, I was asked by a committee representing my home, which is Union Township, and also at the unanimous request of the County Committee that I enter my name in the primary election to be held in May as a candidate for the office of United States Senator on the Republican ticket. I replied that I would give this my serious thought and would announce my decision on January 19th.

I served for a great many years on the County Committee, representing Union Township, and that I served as the Secretary, the Treasurer, and finally as Chairman of the County Committee. I have served on the State Committee, representing this County. I have served on the National Committee, representing the State of New Jersey.

I have served the Republican Party in humble positions, and as time went on found increasing usefulness to develop the party's interest. I have always found it agreat privilege to co-operate with all Republican forces in any position I have held, and shall continue to do so whatever circumstances may develop.

This is Rinty's biggest, ripsnortingest thriller, and has to do with his being lost in the desert from a pioneer's flivver, growing up in the desert to be a wild wolfish savage, and finally saving the friends, Mr. and Mrs. Warren and the Kid, from dangers that threaten them.

"The Desired Woman," a desert thriller, starring Irene Rich, is scheduled for Friday and Saturday of next week.

TURP QUITS FEDERAL POST

James S. Turp, of Trenton, Assistant United States District Attorney attached to District Attorney Winne's office, has handed in his resignation to become effective January 31. Mr. Turp is well-known in Burlington County, where he made many friends while watching the proceedings in the conspiracy cases in connection with the Adams' Wharf raid, it being expected at that time that the cases would be heard in the Federal Court also, and some people are wondering whether his resignation was caused by the failure of the Government to proceed with the cases.

Promptness, Accuracy and Courtesy is our motto. May we prove "our worth." Clarence Hubbs, Phone 354-J.

Churches Demand Law Enforcement

Mass Meeting in Mount Holly Passes Resolution Directed to Officials

The following resolutions were presented to and adopted by an interdenominational mass meeting held in First M. E. Church, Mount Holly, on January 18, 1928:

Whereas, Many law-loving and law abiding citizens are greatly concerned at the visible evidences of disregard of the Prohibitory Laws in our own vicinity, and

Whereas, a general laxity of law enforcement officials lends encouragement to the law violator, and

Whereas, our honored President, the Hon. Calvin Coolidge, in his message to Congress, December 6, 1927, placed the responsibility for increasing lawlessness where we believe it belongs, when he said, "This system of national prohibition imposes upon the citizenship of the Country, and especially on all public officers, not only the duty to enforce, but the obligation to observe the sanctions of this constitutional provision and its resulting laws. If this condition could be secured, all question concerning prohibition would cease," therefore,

Be it resolved, That we, the representatives of the evangelical Churches of Mount Holly, assembled under the auspices of the National Reform Association, on January 18, 1928, in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, call upon all law-enforcement officials municipal, county, and state, to take immediate steps looking toward a more efficient restraint of lawlessness, as manifested in the illicit traffic in intoxicants.

That we do here and now band ourselves together under a solemn pledge to support only such officials with the ballot, who are known to stand four-square on the 18th Amendment and its enforcement laws, and

That we further pledge ourselves to withstand to the utmost the clearly evident design of wet politicians to get control of government, national, state and county. The Rancocas Rum Scandal may have recorded the defeat of Jersey Justice, but the blot upon our county's fair name made possible by this seeming miscarriage of justice spurs every red-blooded citizen to an uncompromising struggle for higher manhood and wholesome government.

That we appeal to our newspapers to assume their moral responsibility as leaders of thought throughout our county requesting them to play fair in handling this great question of loyalty to the Constitutional law of the land.

This resolution was adopted by unanimous standing vote by about two hundred delegates from the three evangelical Churches of Mount Holly. Ordered sent to all purlington County Newspapers.

SEEK PAY FOR FIRE LOSSES CAUSED BY CAMP DIX GUNS

For the fifth consecutive year Congressman Hacharach has reintroduced war claim bills for Mrs. Ida E. Grodfrey, her brother, Thomas N. Emley, and Lee C. Davis, of Cookstown. These three are owners of cranbery bogs in Burlington county, and the bogs suffered heavily by fire during the war time occupancy of Camp Dix. It seems that on June 11, 1921, artillery practice started a blaze in the neighborhood of some of the bogs, and the flames spread and did much damage. Mrs. Godfrey claims to have suffered to the extent of $3,520.04, her brother to the tune of $4,620.06, and Davis loss was estimated at $1,807.61. Mr. Bacharach has made a vigorous fight for the money each session, but the War Department has ruled against the claims and they get nowhere.

Each month we have something of special interest to you. For full particulars call Riverton 354-J, Clarence Hubbs.

SELECT SEED CORN, STORE IN DRY ROOM

Seed corn well selected and carefully stored now will be the seed corn which germinates best in the spring.

"Don't wait until spring to select your seed," says E. E. Evaul of the agronomy department, New Jersey Experiment Station. "If the corn is in the crib, use ear characteristics as a guide, but if it has not been husked, the plant will also be an aid in selection."

Well-matured, solid ears, of medium size, free from disease and heavy for their size are suggested as best seed ears. They should be stored as soon as chosen and carefully protected from mice, rats and insects.

Store at least 1 foot from the floor, advises the agronomist, and for convenience not more than 7 feet. The "post," "twine or string," and "wire prong" methods are the ones most comonly used in New Jersey and give equally good results. Anyone unfamiliar with the simple technique of these methods can get full directions from his county agricultural agent or from the state college at New Brunswick.

Very important is the storeroom for the ears. The crib is not advised because it affords no protection from freezing. Dry basements, if well ventilated, furnish a good place, as do heated rooms in houses or garages. These, too, must be well ventilated.

Each hundred ears of corn need about 20 cubic feet of space if alleyways are left, but 12 cubic feet are sufficient if alleyways are not left.

Jump to Safety as Train Hits Car

Riverside Man and Wife in Narrow Escape at Palmyra Crossing

A Riverside man and his wife narrowly escaped death when their car stalled on the railroad tracks at West Palmyra crossing late Friday afternoon. Frank Reed, of 503 Delaware avenue and his wife who were in the car which was owned by Richard Miller, of Pavilion avenue, Riverside, at the time escaped injury.

Reed had stopped his car while a trolley crossed the road and after the trolley cleared the crossing he started across the railroad, which parallels the trolley tracks at this point. The driver had not noticed the train which was approaching and as soon as the engineer blew his whistle he stopped the car and attempted to back off of the tracks. In doing this he became confused and stalled his engine. The train was so close it was impossible for him to start the engine in time to back off so he decided on the only alternative, that of jumping from the car. He opened the door on the side on which his wife sat and pushed her out of the car and then jumped from the car on the other side.

Reed yelled to his wife to get as far away from the impending crash as possible and both started away from the car. They were only a few feet away when the engine crashed into the car, a large sedan, and left it a total wreck. The train carried the wreckage for several feet down the track.

Reed at first said that the crossing lights were not working, but later admitted that he might have been mistaken. Several eye witnesses of the crash said that the lights were functioning properly. The wreckage was removed from the track and the train was able to continue after a delay of about ten minutes.

Mrs. Reed fainted during the excitement following the crash but was revived in a few moments and was able to go to her home.

Mrs. Ford at 91 Champions Youth

But Dieting Mothers Are Criticised as She Celebrates Big Anniversary

Mrs. Hannah L. Ford, 603 Elm Terrace, Riverton, who celebrated her ninety-first birthday last Saturday, is a staunch defender of modern youth and their various idiosyncrasies. This lady, whose thoughts have been tempered by the passing years, is able to stand aside and look at life with an indulgence which is unknown to many of us who belong to this generation.

Mrs. Ford is more inclined to criticise the mothers who try to keep their girlish figures through dieting than to criticise the innocent enjoyment of their children.

"I believe the younger generation is just as normal in its recreation and action as I was seventy years ago," she declared. "Boys and girls of today enjoy other diversions than those I was acquainted with, but in the main they are no worse or better than the boys and girls of seventy years back.

"I have no use for any woman who thinks by dieting she will improve her personal appearance. Neither I nor any of my children or grandchildren ever dieted, and do not believe that any person who diets will enjoy the health that I am now experiencing."

Mrs. Ford is the mother of nine children, four of whom are living, and grandmother of twenty-one, sixteen of whom are living, and great-grandmother of seventeen children, all of whom are living.

The four children living are Louis O. Ford, with whom she makes her home, Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves, of 427 Elm avenue; Mrs. Mary Oakley, of Elisabeth, and Edward H. Ford, of Union, N. J. Mrs. Ford has only lived in Riverton for about five years. She previously lived in Elisabeth.

The children and grandchildren living in Riverton were present to help her celebrate her ninety-first birthday Saturday.

New Jersey's Quota $25,000 for Olympics

Newark Man Chairman of Committee to Raise State Fund

Upon recommendation of Governor A. Harry Moore, Major-General Douglas MacArthur, president of the American Olympic Committee, which is arranging for America's participation in the IXth revival of the Olympic Games to be held at Amsterdam, Holland, during the coming summer, has announced that John J. Flaherty, Jr., of Jersey City has been appointed chairman of the Olympic Fund Committee for the State of New Jersey.

The campaign to raise the $400,000, which will be necessary to equip, transport, house and feed the 300 athletes, swimmers, boxers, wrestlers, figure and speed skaters, hockey players, gymnasts, soccer football players, fencers, cyclists, oarsmen and equestrian team, is now under way and the State of New Jersey has been asked to subscribe $25,000 towards the general fund.

General MacArthur and his co-workers in the movement hope by this means to extend an opportunity to every true lover of sport in America to share in the expense of sending Uncle Sam's 300 champion athletes to Amsterdam to measure prowess with the "world's best."

America has led the way in all Olympic games held thus far, but our athletic supremacy is challenged as never before by the tremendous preparations all Europe is making for the forthcoming games. We must again lead the world, if not the combined forces of the world.

It is properly the duty of the American public to rally to the support of its prospective Olympic contestants and assure them the necessary financial backing. It is now up of the people of New Jersey to do their bit and go over the top on their quota.

MEDFORD SCHOOLS REOPEN

The Medford public schools, which have been closed since Tuesday, January 19, in an effort to check the spread of diphtheria in the community reopened Tuesday. Since the Board of Health ordered the schools to close no new cases of diphtheria have developed and the authorities believed it safe to permit the schools to reopen after two weeks expired.

Chicken Thief Gets 8 Years in Prison

Companions in Crime Get Off Easier; Other Criminal Cases

The farmers and farmers' wives of the county should feel grateful to Judge Slaughter for the deterrent effect which his action Thursday of last week should have upon chicken stealing. The Judge has some pronounced views on this subject, as will be gathered from the sentences he handed to four chicken thieves.

As a result of the Court's excellent judgment, Edward Cook, of Burlington, and formerly of Henderson, Md., will spend the next eight years in state prison. Cook, who was the ring leader of a gang of chicken thieves that has been preying on the farmers hereabouts for some time, until they were rounded up by Troopers Brown and Horn, of the state police, was sentenced to two years for stealing chickens from the Borden Dairy Farm; two years for stealing chickens from Mrs. Rebecca Cliver at one time and two years additional for the second trip he made to the Cliver farm, and also two years for stealing chickens from the farm of Francis Colagario—eight years in all, to run consecutively, and for fear that the Board of Pardons, out of the graciousness of their hearts, might see fit to parole Cook after he has served a portion of his sentence, the Court suspended sentence on a third complaint which charged that Cook had visited the Cliver farm and taken chickens.

Wife Didn't Steal

Martha Cook, the wife of the sentenced chicken fancier, and a mere girl, was with her husband on four of his trips and she had already pleaded guilty to stealing chickens, but an investigation brought out the fact that she took no part in the chicken stealing trips other than to ride in the automobile, and she was permitted to retract her plea and plead not guilty.

Owen Duncan, an orphan who was living with the Cooks, was with them on most of the trips, but his age saved him, he being but fourteen years old, and he will be placed in charge of the State Board of Children's Guardians.

Charles Andrews, also of Burlington, and a man who looked every inch a chicken thief, fared slightly better than his leader, Cook, he being sentenced to eighteen months in state prison for stealing chickens from Henry Deets and to eighteen months for a similar offense at the Borden Dairy Farm, making three years that will prevent him from being seen around his old haunts in Burlington county.

Pal Gets 18 Months

Harry McGuigan, the fifth member of the gang, had never been arrested before and appeared several degrees removed from being a thorough criminal of the Cook and Andrews stripe.

He had already pleaded guilty to four complaints of stealing chickens but the Court felt that he was entitled to some leniency and sentenced him to eighteen months in state prison on the charge of stealing chickens from Henry Deets, but suspended sentence on the other three charges.

Joseph Magee, of Mount Holly, who had previously pleaded guilty to transporting liquor, was before the Court for sentence and had a $300 fine taxed against him. He went to jail in default of the fine.

Gertrude Todd, a fourteen-year-old Burlington colored girl, had been arrested for stealing $5 from her mother, who charged her daughter with incorrigibility, and an investigation by the Court and Prosecutor confirmed this fact very strongly.

She will be placed in the State Home for Girls for an indeterminate sentence.

Mount Holly Deserter

Walter Tilghman, alias Bland, of Mount Holly and Pittston, Pa., had been brought back from the latter place on a bench warrant, he being charged with desertion of his young wife and infant child.

He claimed that he had a home for his wife in Pittston but that she refused to go there to live, but he failed to explain why he had not sent her money to keep her and the child from starving.

He admitted that he was an iron worker and made good wages, but with the exception of $5 received when the baby was born, nothing else of a substantial nature had been received by the young wife.

The Court gave him a chance to furnish a bond guaranteeing that he will provide for the wife and baby, and in the meantime he will serve four months in jail.

Dever C. Kelly, of Bordentown, a delayed pleader, who claimed that he had been ill, pleaded not guilty to sale, possession and maintaining a house where liquor was kept.

Robert "Bobby" Farr, one of Mount Holly's most persistent petty thieves, went to jail for ninety days after he had pleaded guilty to stealing a battery from the car of Frank Bozarth.

Sentence Deferred

George W. Fisher, brought back from Philadelphia on a charge of burglarizing the home of Edward Osler, near Kresson, and stealing jewelry and money to the value of about $350, pleaded guilty and sentence was deferred for one week.

Thelma McDermott, of Burlington; Paul W. Lewis, and Harry Evas, both of Philadelphia, the trio who stole the Buick car belonging to Frank Cook, of Medford, and then came to grief on the Columbus-Bordentown road after they had collided with another car and turned over in a field, all pleaded guilty, the girl claiming that she had merely gone with the men as a passenger.

It was brought out that Lewis is an old offender, he having been convicted in Philadelphia of a similar offense, while Evas had dodged the law by inches on one other occasion.

Mr. Cook was present and said his car was worth about $850, and it had been damaged to the extent of $325, and that no effort had been made to compensate him for the loss.

The prisoners were sent back to jail for one week while the Court makes further inquiry.

One adoption and several Orphans' Court matters were disposed of before an adjournment was taken.

BRANT BEACH FIRE DESTROYS HOTEL

Was In No Way Connected With Present Development of Resort

Brant House, a summer resort hotel on Brant Beach, four miles north of Beach Haven, burned to the ground early Thursday morning, of last week, shortly after the last of several hundred residents of the countryside had departed from the weekly square dance held there. The building of three-story frame construction, contained about fifty rooms.

Although closed for the winter, it was reopened every Wednesday night for dances and old-fashioned parties which residents for miles around attended.

The burned hotel was located in the old part of Brant Beach and is said to have been the oldest building in the particular locality. Carlton E. Sholl, who is interested in Brant Beach real estatae, says that the hotel was not connected with the new development in that town.

The new hostelry connected with the Brant Beach development is the Hotel Ockanickon, one of the most comfortable on the coast.

GOES SHOPPING, BUT BRINGS BACK BRIDE

A young man from Pensauken went shopping last Saturday for a suit of clothes and returned with a wife. His parents did not disapprove of the shopping trip, so long as only a suit of clothes was involved, but when their favorite son, as he was the only boy in a family of ten children, got sidetracked and brought home a brand new wife, well, that was another story.

The young man was Edward N. Letts, Jr., 21 years old. His bride was Miss Marie Haines, of Haddonfield road near Sorrell Horse. The young couple, instead of going shopping, went to Elkton instead.

They returned to the home of the bride late Saturday afternoon to receive the parental blessing, but, to their suprise, the same was not forthcoming. As a matter of fact the young man's "in-laws" were not sure just what attitude to take towards this unexpected turn of events. After mature deliberation in which the old adage "love will find a way" was considered they decided that it would be useless to interfere with the workings of the little cerub with the bow and arrow and so welcomed their new son and invited the newlyweds to make their home under the parental roof. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Haines.

After being appraised of the day's happenings the bridegroom's parents, although taken by surprise, welcomed daughter number ten.

Letts declared his bride was nervous during the ceremony, but that he himself had been "more nervous when he got his auto license than when he got his marriage license."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Miss Mary Joy Reeve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Reeve, of East Main Street, to F. Morse Archer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Morse Archer, of Warwick road, Haddonfield, was announced by Miss Reeve's parents Saturday. Miss Reeve is a sophomore at Vassar College. Mr. Archer was graduated from Princeton College in 1923 and Harvard Law School in 1926.

Camden Span Last Year Exceeded Predicted Earnings by $1,129,891.44

Manager Joseph K. Costello, of the Delaware River Bridge, showed that $191,046 was collected in December, 1927, as compared with $122,452.40 in December, 1928 in his report to the Bridge Commission last Friday. Bus tolls jumped from $31,771.95 to $56,990.75.

In his annual report he pointed out that the bridge last year earned its predicted earnings for the sixth year of operation. Instead of the estimated earnings of $1,281,250 for the year, the revenue was $2,411,141.44.

Approximately 20 independent bus lines are operating across the bridge in addition to a large number of Penn-Jersey routes. During the year the average daily traffic was 23,543 vehicles, and the average daily returns $6,680.20. The greatest daily traffic was 55,674, recorded Sunday, July 17.

Costello again called attention of the commission to the inadequate approaches on the Philadelphia side and predicted that "the problem of handling traffic in the vicinity of the bridge will grow steadily unless measures are taken to provide better outlets."

"There is real danger that the ultimate usefulness of the bridge will be curtailed by the constricted approaches," the report declares. "Unquestionably the bridge loses potential patrons by reasons of the inconvenience and delay caused by narrow streets. Additional patronage would mean, that the bridge would be paid for faster and hasten the day when it will be free from tolls."

WESLEYAN CLASS

The Wesleyan Bible Class which meets in the basement of the Methodist Church Sunday mornings at ten o'clock was well attended last Sunday.

James Thompson, the teacher, has arranged for a very interesting speaker this coming Sunday. Raymond Davis, a missionary from darkest Africa, will address the class. The missionary has spent many months in the dark continent and will have a very interesting talk prepared.

The Wesleyans again extend a cordial invitation to the men of Palmyra, Riverton and elsewhere to attend these Sunday morning classes.

COMMUNITY WELFARE ASSOCIATION MEETS

Many Calls For Aid Are Being Taken Care of by Organization

The regular monthly meeting of the Association was held in the Y. M. C. A. reception room last Thursday with President George N. Wimer in the chair.

The reports of the members showed that all cases of need had been investigated and were being taken care of. Quite a number of men are out of work and the demands on the Association have been heavy but it has been able to heed all calls thus far.

The annual meeting of the Association for the election of officers and other business will be held in the P. O. S. of A. Hall on the second Thursday in February at which time representatives of all the organizations comprising the Association will be invited.

A nominating committee consisting of Walter D. Lamon, Joseph L. Thomas and Ross Mathis was appointed to suggest nominations for officers to be elected at this meeting.

The thanks of the Association were extended to all persons who have aided in the work by giving of their time or their money or by donations of food, coal and clothing.

BUS IN DITCH

Penn-Jersey Pullman Goes Through Railing Near Palmyra

A large Penn-Jersey bus of the Pullman type plunged into Hylton's pond just west of Pensauken creek bridge Friday night. The bus went over the bank and balanced precariously on the incline with the front wheels immersed in the water. The machine was running towards Burlington and carried no passengers at the time. William Clauser, of Riverton, driver of the bus, was not injured.

This is the third accident in which these buses have figured in the past few weeks. A short time ago one collided with a Jewett sedan at East Riverton and a few days previous several passengers were shaken up when one of the big machines plunged into the swamp at Bucks creek, near Riverside.

Officials of the bus company evidently wished to cover up the accident with as little publicity as possible as they were unwilling to give out any information and also failed to notify local police. After a short time the heavy machine was pulled out of the road by the aid of the Penn-Jersey "wrecker."

GENERAL PERSHING SAYS:

In the light of recent events in certain states, some of our citizens would modify the methods of selecting candidates for office. If the present system encourages or permits the contribution of inordinate sums by weathly candidates or their supporters it should receive the most careful scrutiny by honest citizens. The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes may be made without ulterior motive does not appear to be warranted. To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nomination of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthy from such contests. If the time ever comes when public offices can be virtually bought and sold, either directly or indirectly, then the downfall of the republic will not be far off.

The whole situation regarding law and order, coupled with the passive attitude of the people, indicates a weakening of the moral fibre of our citizenship. The spirit of civic righteousness and integrity is lacking. The old war-time virility that prompted the citizens to stand aggressively and fearlessly in the battle against ignorance, corruption, and crime seems to have disappeared.

A PAT ON THE NOSE

By George Matthews Adams

What a thrill the dog gets from a pat on the nose—and the horse, too. How each brightens up at once. That's one way of learning about dog and horse happiness.

And if you want to know about human happiness, give a little encouragement, where encouragement is needed—which is the human way of "patting on the nose."

I have never met the man or woman too big for encouragement. Of all isolated people in the world, he is most isolated who needs encouragement the most, but who doesn't get it.

What countless fathers and mothers have failed to give the right sort of encouragement at the right time to their boys or girls. And how those boys or girls hungered for it!

Our entire educational system is built upon flimsy fabric because of the fact that so little of it touches the human being. The boy or girl works and works—and because the lesson isn't learned as prescribed, the child "fails" or is "sent home." A little pat on the nose at the right time is what changes all.

The race horse always runs his best race after a pat on the nose!

What does any religion, educational system, or theory of government amount to without sympathy and encouragement sprinkled into it from some source?

I shall never forget my early experience in selling books for a Philadelphia firm when a small boy. The letters from this firm, which came to me reguarly every few days, gave me such encouragement that they were a veritable course in character building and success. After each letter I doubled my sales.

Big businesses begin with the office boys. They need encouragement more than anyone else. Like as not the "boss" himself was once an office boy. Many were.

I recently read an article by my old friend, W. C. Freeman, in The American Magazine, in which he told of how he had earned a million dollars—yet is now without a cent. Well, he has more than money could ever give. He has done more to encourage young men than anyone I ever heard of. In the early days of this writer's climb toward something worth while, W. C. Freeman gave one of the first boosts.

COMMUNICATED

Multitudes of Americans are becoming heartsick over the continued sacrifice of life in Nicaragua. Every day brings fresh reports of more violence and more deaths. If we can believe the reports in the daily papers, our State Department without even a declaration of war by Congress is just beginning a new offensive against some of the citizens of the sovereign state of Nicaragua. We seem to be getting in deeper and deeper.

The outstanding results of this policy are more hatred and resistance on the part of the citizens of Nicaragua; more suspicion and fear of our aggression throughout Central and South America; loss of confidence and prestige everywhere south of the Rio Grande.

The Congress of the Pan-American Union opened January 16 at Havana, Cuba. It is widely recognized as offering an excellent opportunity for working out a better way of settling differences than armed intervention. Secretary Hughes and Dwight W. Morrow are heading the American delegation. They are men of broad and constructive statesmanship. Most fortunately also, a code of international law to govern the relations between All American Republics will be proposed at this Conference by a Commission of Jurists appointed by the Pan-American Union four years ago.

Our Government apparently is not yet sure that the American people are ready to substitute friendship for force on these two continents. It is time that the citizens express themselves directly to the President, urging him to stop the war in Nicaragua, to withdraw our Marines, and in an honest and frank spirit of cooperation to work out with the representatives of other Latin-American countries, a code of law and a method of procedure which will make American intervention in their affairs unnecessary in the future.

Therefore you are urged to write at once to President Coolidge protesting against the war in Nicaragua and suggesting constructive cooperation with Latin-America. A letter addressed to the President will be transmitted to the Secretary of State.

Following is a correct way of addressing the President:

The President,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. President:

Signed
HELEN ELSIE HIDDLE,
EDITH S. COALE.

RECORD PLOWED FURROW

Last fall an Arkansas farmer plowed an unbroken furrow a mile long and "straight as a ruled line on a piece of paper"—so he reported it to his local newspaper and thereby started something.

An Oklahoman soon announced that he had plowed a furrow a mile longer than the Arkansan's, but his record didn't stand very long. A Kansas farm hand came to the front with a furrow that beat the Oklahoma farmer's boy by more than a half a mile. Then another Kansan produced witnesses to support his assertion that he had plowed an unbroken furrow of five miles, which, he declared, was "the largest on record in the United States."

But someone in Washington looked into the records. It was discovered that George De Cow, a Government land locating agent at Meade, Kansas, in the summer of 1885 had plowed an unbroken furrow sixty miles long. It was necessary to establish a public road between Meade and Ulysses. Between the two towns stretched level prairie land. Mr. De Cow hitched a plow behind a wagon and "with the aid of a compass a bee line was made to Ulysses and an unbroken furrow plowed all the way, a distance of sixty miles." Mr. De Cow's sixty-mile furrow will probably be an all-time record.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:

I would like to call your attention to an article printed in your columns of Jan. 13 in regard to fire of gasoline shovel of H. F. Starns at Morrell Parry's sand hole, giving Independence Fire Company credit for extinguishing this fire.

It would give more credence to your paper if you would give the true facts instead of guess work as was published.

I would like to inform you that Parry Fire Company extinguished this fire without any help from Independence whatsoever as your illustrious chief refused to let anyone of his company aid in any way. Hoping the next time you will give credit where it is due with malice toward no one.

Yours truly,
PARRY FIRE COMPANY,
H. Binder, Chief.

EARNINGS SHOULD GO

The Delaware River Bridge is a money maker. The first year and a half of operation proves it. Which fact, alone, is sufficient to attract the longing eyes of professional politicians. The more jobs a boss has to give out the more secure his tenure. Since the new bridge was thrown open to public travel, and even before, the Pennsylvania members of the Bridge Commission proved themselves more adept in hooking rich patronage for their henchmen than did the Jerseymen on that body. For months there were mutterings and then, recently, the storm broke. Publicity was given to a confessed determination on the part of South Jersey leaders in their respective counties, to compel more substantial recognition of their followers, anxious for jobs. It is too early to predict what measure of success the movement is destined to enjoy but it is apparent that "the boys" are both happy and hopeful at the prospect.

But what about the common people, those who furnished the money for the bridge and are now paying toll over it, in order that it may soon be free? Being a money-maker it does not logically follow that there should be more factotums on and around the approaches to the big bridge than there are now. Some room must be left for the public or that portion of it which desires to cross the bridge. If the demands of the bosses on either side of the river were complied with, it is doubtful whether the waiting crowds would get over to the other shore with any more comfort and speed than when the ferries were the sole means of passenger transportation between Philadelphia and Camden. So far as we have been able to observe during frequent crossing and re-crossing of the new bridge, there are already ample employes for all imaginable needs. Besides, if the bridge is a money maker, as has been stated on very good authority, then that ought to mean that the Bridge Commission will pay off the mortgage against it sooner than was anticipated.

Not more jobs but quicker paying off of the public debt incurred in building the bridge should be the result of heavier toll receipts than were counted upon before the giant structure's completion.

RANK DISCRIMINATION

The Pennsylvania Railroad, with that crass disregard for public sentiment that is responsible in no little degree for the plight of railroads today, has joined with the Reading Railroad in a plan by which they hope to recover the traffic between Philadelphia and the Jersey beaches in Atlantic and Cape May counties, by cutting fares in half. The disregard for public opinion is shown in that while they cut the prices in half to Atlantic City, Ocean City, Wildwood and such points, there is no reduction whatever to seashore resorts on the Ocean and Monmouth County beaches.

This discrimination has naturally caused a reaction against the railroad in all the resorts from Seabright to Beach Haven, all of which towns and cities feel that they are being discriminated against, and stand a good chance to lose their Philadelphia patrons.

It is the same old folly of which the Pennsylvania management is continually guilty. On the Monmouth and Ocean County shores, so far as Philadelphia traffic is concerned, the Pennsy has no competition. The result is that, feeling secure in this territory, that railroad pays little or no attention to business there. Its advertising, its best trains, its best service are all poured out in a section where it must compete for business, instead of trying to build up business and to advertise a section where it would get all the increased travel.

All the shore resorts thus discriminated against will presumably join together and bombard the I. C. C. and State Utility Commission, insisting that they be given similar rates as Atlantic City.—Toms River Courier.

For a while it looked as if we would all be content to stay home evenings and listen to the radio.

"The radio," a wise friend of mine observed, "will do as much to build up the American home as the movies did to destroy it."

But there's a limit to all things. For a while you can sit at home in peace and privacy and let the wild world roll on, but after a time comes the old longing to get out and mix with your fellows. Then, regardless of icy streets and rainy nights, you find yourself swinging around the old dance floor, or sitting in a $4 seat watching a show. Everything comes back to normal in time. I knew a man who always hoped he would get sick so he could read some books. He did—for three weeks, but before the third week was up he couldn't keep his interest in any book or magazine. Too much of anything deadens the appetite. Even radio.

Philadelphia College Boys Defeated by 42-27 Score

The Palmyra High School Basketball team easily defeated the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy Freshmen at Palmyra Tuesday night. The score was 42 to 27.

Coach Dimond took advantage of an early lead to send in several second string players. Ten Palmyra boys saw action in this game.

West took advantage of the occasion to roll in 13 points. Hennessey tossed the inflated spheroid through the hoop four times, from the floor and once from the 15-foot mark.

Ellis was the bright light for the Philadlephia boys, duplicating Hennessey's performance.

Defeat Burlington

The Palmyra quintet traveled to Burlington last Friday night to engage their traditional rivals. This was not a Camden-Suburban league game.

The Burlington boys did not furnish much opposition to Coach Dimond's clever aggregation. At half time the score stood 23 to 7 in favor of Palmyra, and when the whistle blew to end the hostilities Burlington was still on the short end of a 34 to 14 score.

West and Eisley divided honors on the Palmyra side with eight points each. Branson and Sloan were next with seven points each. Sloan led in field tosses with three to his credit.

Morris was the only Burlington boy to have much success in locating the basket. He had three field goals and two fouls.

Mrs. Forsyth will be remembered as Mrs. Pearle Carpenter. Mr. Carpenter died a number of years ago. Three months ago Mrs. Carpenter married Mr. Forsyth, and her two sons, who had previously made their home with Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings, went to Frankford to live with Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings, have been abroad for nearly three months. Word of her death was cabled them and they expect to arrive home next Tuesday.

YMCA

Saturday afternoon the YMCA building was the center for a lot of noise. This noise was coming from twenty-seven fellows who were practicing for the minstrel show to be given by the combined YMCA groups of Palmyra and Riverton. The show is planned for the 16th and 17th of March, Friday and Saturday, in the P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra.

The end men were together for the second time on Friday night of last week, and they ran off their part of the show with more than the usual pep displayed this early in the show.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Patsor

This evening is the big evening! The men of the congregation will serve the women! Isn't it fair for the men to serve once, when the ladies serve the men one thousand times during the year? You will have a course of humor with the other things on the menu. The business and reports will be much to the point. It is important that all should know the doings of the various organizations and hear what plans they may have to offer for the present year. There will be an election of councilmen for the term 1928-31. After the business has been concluded, the men will have an informal program of fun and entertainment. It is an evening at the church which no member should miss. Those having other engagements in the evening may be able to fulfill them without missing this program as it shall not be lengthy.

Regular services in Sunday School and church next Sunday morning at the usual time.

Luther League will be led by Warren Smith. The topic is: "How Our Church Does Its Work."

In the evening a special musical service will be put on by the First Lutheran Choir. This will feature in anthems and singing of the hymns which have been sung with greatest zest by the congregation. Make this the greatest of the special music services yet by your attendance. The choir has meant much in the upbuilding of our church and it is always a pleasure to present these special musical features. The service will begin at 7.45 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening, February 8, at 8.15 the Ladies' Aid Society of our church has arranged for a concert to be given by the Men's Glee Club of Gettysburg College. There are thirty-five young men in this organization, who have been carefully selected from the men of musical talent in this college of five hundred men. These young men will put on their concert for the building fund of First Lutheran Church. The glee club is booked this season for many engagements in larger cities, such as Brooklyn, where they appear in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Elizabeth N. J., Harrisburg, Williamsport, York, and other places. You should come out to hear the rah, rah, boys sing their songs, and do other things. Further details will follow next week. Concert in P. O. S. of A. Hall.

Organize Co. Aero Club Next Monday

Aviation Meeting Will be Held at Moorestown Community House

The organization meeting of the Burlington County Aero Club will be held at the Community House next Monday evening, January 30, starting at 8 o'clock.

Interest in the proposed aviation group of this section is increasing by leaps and bounds and a large group of men representing practically every community in the county is expected to attend. Many who have never been in an aeroplane yet are interested in obtaining knowledge of the modern aviation, plan to join the club.

H. H. Longaker, of Moorestown, sponsor of the club, in a statement early this week said, "Members of the club do not necessarily have to have intentions of flying. Some of the fellows who plan to join merely wish to get some first-hand information of aviation, others wish to become affiliated with the club in order to boost the project, while, of course, we have a number who are deeply interested in obtaining experience and will take flying instruction when the club grows large enough to have an airport and its own plane.

"There also is an impression that membership in the club will be costly. This should be contradicted. The costs of belonging to our club will be prohibitive—in fact, the charges will be within the means of all who wish to join."

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A.,L.Th Rector

Some time ago I read Gamaliel Bradford's "Life of Darwin," and thought of the terrific uproar which ensued on the first publication of his epoch making book.

It seemed as though the religious world had received a mortal blow, and old accepted truths could never be used again.

Well, the scientific world has made tremendous strides since that day, and many things have been restated until one would imagine everything had changed, and that a vast cloud of doubt had settled forever on pious beliefs of the ages. In this frame of mind you read the end of Bradford's book.

"There is the doubt in deeper matters which, as with Darwin, turns to eager, assiduous investigation of the mere, fascinating detail of the external world. But there is also a doubt which lives in passionate, perpetual earnestness and the unfailing, unyielding, indomitable effort to find out God, being assured that without Him the universe with all its endlessly evolving glory, is nothing, merely nothing.

Such doubt will express itself in words like those of the modern poet:

Day and night I wander widely
Through the wilderness of thought,
Catching dainty things of fancy
Most reluctant to be caught.
Shining tangles leading nowhere,
I persistently unravel,
Tread strange paths of meditation,
Very intricate to travel.

Gleaming bids of quaint desire
Tempt my steps beyond the decent
I confound old solid glory
With publicity too recent.
But my one unchanged obsession,
Wheresoever my feet have trod,
Is a keen, enormous, haunting;
Never-sated thirst for God.

Yes! In our all great advance the soul's need is just the same as ever.

"To Know God!"

LUNACY INCREASING

Lunacy is increasing at such a rate in New Jersey that a third state hospital for the insane is needed, according to a survey made by Emil Frankel, expert employed by the State Department of Institutions and Agencies. He reports the cases have increased from 1744 in 1890 and 6042 in 1910 to more than 10,000. The present state hospitals, overcrowded, are at Morris Heights and Trenton. County PTA Meets at Moorestown

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, National President, Tells of Growth of Movement

An enthusiastic gathering greeted Mrs. A. H. Reeves, the National President of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, as she passed down the aisle of the crowded auditorium in the Community House at Moorestown, on Wednesday, January 18th.

This gathering was the mid-year meeting of the Burlington County Council of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, and was attended by more than three hundred members representing thirty-six local associations throughout the County.

Mrs. Reeve, who was a former resident of Moorestown, addressed the Council saying that she was not coming as a visitor, but was coming home to her own Council.

Mrs. Reeves spoke first on the International Congress, which is the outcome of letters written by nine foreign countries to the United States asking information on the subject of cooperation in child-training. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers in the United States is looked upon as having accomplished more than any other organization in any country in this line of work.

International Congress

As a result, an International Convention met in Canada and an organization was formed with Mrs. Reeve as International President. Vice-presidents were elected from four different countries and directors from fourteen countries.

Continuing, Mrs. Reeve said:

"Although all child-welfare work is very valuable, the work of the Congress of Parents and Teachers has the farthest reach and is of the greatest value because twenty thousand units are doing practically the same thing.

Get the Teachers' Viewpoint

"Much has been done from the parents' standpoint but it is necessary to consider more carefully the teachers' viewpoint. The conduct of the child is really a demonstration of the efficiency and conduct of the home. Their behavior shows the teacher in a large measure what the parents are, and it may be that the teacher comes to know the parents better than the parents may like.

"Teachers are trained for their jobs but parents are not, and if a child is not properly equipped for life it is because of parental efficiency. The parents cannot expect the school to tell them what to do, how to do it, and then expect the school to do it for them. To begin with, seventy-five per cent. of the children who enter school are suffering from malnutrition, bad tonsils or poor health, and sometimes all three. These should all be attended to before the child enters.

Salaries Unattractive

"More money is needed for education. Teachers must be paid more. The teaching profession is losing much fine material every year because the teachers cannot get a living wage. Fortunately for the children there are some fine people who know they can teach little children and are loyal and big enough to do it in spite of the salary. In the first grades of school children are the most sensitive, and in addition to beginning their fundamental training they decide whether they do or do not like school.

Therefore, it is necessary to have the best trained teachers, and this the schools cannot have unless the people are willing to pay for that training.

"Much is blamed on this rising generation, but who raised this rising generation," asked Mrs. Reeve. "Whose fault it is, therefore, if this 'rising generation' is not living according to the principles we would choose. After all is said, the adults are running the motion picture theatres, the dance halls, the newsstands, etc.

"Citizenship is our relation to the people among whom we are living. If parents fail in the character building of their children, how can they expect the school to do it?"

Playlet Enacted

At the afternoon session a playlet entitled "In Our Neighborhood" was presented and cleverly enacted by three members of the Moorestown Association. This spoke volumes for the value of a Parent-Teacher organization.

A sextette which is the beginning of a county choral under the leadership of Mrs. William Grobler, sang several numbers to the delight of everyone.

R. L. West, Assisant Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, spoke on "New Lights on Primary Education."

Mr. West's talk, in substance, was as follows: "It is entirely necessary that we understand the child. There are many fine courses along this line by which we would profit. We must adopt a positive instead of a negative attitude; instead of dwelling on what children should not do, we must present to them in a constructive way the things they should do.

Authority A Guide

"It is a mistake to make a child feel that authority is repressive, for then they will absorb the idea that all authority through life is repressive, and, therefore, will try to avoid it. Authority must be a guide, not a policeman. If some traits in children are ignored they will disappear. An ounce of appreciation is worth a pound of criticism.

"Imagination, initiative, and independence must be cultivated in children.

"Do not forget that when away from you your children will act as you act, talk as you talk; that character building is not a thing to be taught at some special period during the week, but is all hooked up with every-day training."

Mrs. Hagston Presides

Mrs. A. T. Hagston, county chairman, presided and introduced the speakers.

The morning session was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. S. Douerty.

A hearty welcome to the members of the Council was extended by Mrs. William Grobler, president of the Moorestown Home and School Association, and also by Prof. George Baker, superintendent of schools of Moorestown, who made an appeal to all citizens to be generous with money for education. Prof. Baker said that, although we may not want poor roads, etc., if there should be a necessity for cutting expenses it would be a vital mistake to have anything at the expense of the advancement of our children.

The singing of the Parent-Teacher song, the reading of the minutes of the October meeting, treasurer's report, and reports of Standing Committees followed, showing that the Council is a very wide awake body and that most of the standing committees are doing splendid work. Mrs. H. Krupnick, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, read letters from the two students whom the Council is sending through Normal School.

A motion was made and carried to send the County Council Chairman, Mrs. Hagstos, to the National Convention which will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, in May.

The Council adjourned to meet in May at Camp Ockanickon as guests of the YMCA.

NEW "CROSS-FLOW" RADIATOR FEATURE

Oakland Motor Car Company Again in Role of Automotive Pioneering

The Oakland Motor Car Company, continuing its pioneering activities which brought Duco, four-wheel brakes, the fuel pump and many other major developments to the motorist, has scored again through its introduction of an entirely new principle of heat radiation.

The "cross-flow" radiator, one of the features of the New Series Pontiac Six, has attracted a large share of attention among the critical "new stuff" enthusiasts who have thronged the automobile shows and the Oakland-Pontiac show rooms since the latest Pontiac was first shown.

Flowing horizontally through 384 inches of radiator core cooling surface, instead of vertically, this radiator takes advantage of the principle of condensation. It has 40 square inches more radiating surface than the old radiator and contains 12 quarts. It has two side tanks, connected by a core with horizontal water passages and a top tank. Water from the engine enters the inlet tank and flows crossways through the core into the cool water tank on the other side. It is then returned to the engine. The cool water tank extends up the side and across the top where the filling cap is located.

While pasing cross-wise through the core, any water or anti-freeze mixture which may become vaporized in the engine is cooled and condensed before it reaches the vent. This is an improvement over the vertical type, where much water is lost because of this vapor escaping through the overflow pipe.

In cold weather, when alcohol or anti-freeze mixtures are used, it is particularly effective.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite Shawnee, Oklahoma

That when poor business hits a city, that city gets sick.

That when a city gets sick the only thing that can cure it is better business!

That in order to get better business, a spirit of home pride and co-operation must be shown.

That when it gets working, hopeful signs can soon be seen; a growing unity among the people is soon noticeable.

That the business men will wake up—they will realise that in order to get anything worth while they will have to go after it!

That in order to get business they must stock up and advertise!

That the proper place for them to advertise is in the newspapers!

That attractive ads will attract the attention of every family in their trade territory, as the newspapers are read in every home.

That this advertising will not only bring the people of the home city into their stores, but will bring the people from the surrounding country.

That where people go better business follows.

That if a business concern has faith in its business and the goods or service it has to sell, it should have faith enough to advertise and let the people know what it has.

No city should kid itself into believing that business will come to a city where the business men won't advertise. When they fail to advertise some other city gets the business they should get.

Automotive Testers Are Critical Breed

Aristocrats Among Motor Workers Live Lives of Adventure and Hardship

Many months before the Victory Six was formally presented to the American public by Dodge Brothers, the new model was quietly introduced to an exclusive group of hard-handed, leather-skinned young men whose jobs center around an aristocratic section of the factory known as "Department 95" or under a more descriptive title of "engineering-experimental." Department 95 is a high class finishing school for debutante ideas in Dodge design and construction.

It is the function of Department 95 to take an inventor's main ambition out somewhere and ruin it, if ruination is possible.

Forty men, picked and chosen constitute the staff. Half of them have college degrees, 'though their fingernails belie the fact, and their mates have come up through the ranks of Detroit's vast army of automobile workers. They know motor cars, from front bumpers to tail lights. And they are fully informed as to all the geographical points in North America which present grave hazards to automobiles. A critical, merciless, brainy and fearless lot they are; for their professional reputations depend upon their being hard to please.

Years ago when the automotive industry was young and production small, manufacturers let the public do considerable testing. But today, when millions of dollars, months of time, and an inestimable amount of good will are at stake, every part of a new model must be right; down to the last cotter pin. Any reputable motorcar manufacturer would rather throw in a fortune in dollars and much costly time during the preparatory period than to let anything remotely resembling an error creep into his product. Money and time lavishly spent in preparation and perfection, the prominent manufacturers have found, is economically invested in the long run.

And so have arisen, in motor manufacturing centers, the exalted class of experiemntal testers: typified by the forty men in Dodge Brothers' Department 95.

New to the public, the Victory Six is old stuff to them. Way, last July, Elmer Kiel, foreman of 95, was trying out the Victory's paces in Rocky Mountain snowbanks, and the car had then been in process for more than a year.

It is quality and not quantity which counts. A centipede has a thousand legs but Ziegfeld never hires one for the Follies.

"Yes, and did you see me look at him as if I had?"

"Where did the car hit him?" asked the coroner.

"At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," replied the medical witness.

Bading to Become Motor Inspector

Former Trooper Quits Ocean County to Take Up Duties Here

Herman A. Bading, former state trooper and Burlington county detective, will shortly return to duty in this county where he has made his home since resigning as a member of the state force.

Bading last Saturday announced his resignation as chief of Ocean County detectives, a position which he has held less than a year, to become motor vehicle inspector of Burlington County February 1. His resignation in Ocean County is effective January 31.

In his new position Bading will be stationed at Mount Holly, where he makes his home. His new position pays a higher salary than that of chief of the Ocean County detectives, it is understood.

Bading was appointed to the Ocean County post on April 13 of last year by Prosecutor James Mercer Davis. No announcement of his successor has been made. He succeeded Ernest Buidge who served under former Prosecutor Wilfred Jayne.

Bading was a state trooper when he attained prominence by entering the investigation of the murder of "Honest John" Brunen, Riverside circus owner. Assigned to watch the home of Charles Powell, whose arrest subsequently led to a solution of the mystery, Bading was given credit for a prominent part in clearing up the crime. Powell's confession was made the basis for the arrest of Brunen's widow, Mrs. Doris Brunen, and her brother, Harry Mohr.

For some time, Bading also served in the office of County Detective Ellis Parker and subsequently became Ocean County detectitive. His wife, Mrs. Anna Yoos Bading, is Parker's secretary.

SALADS IN WINTER FOR TASTY MEALS

"Vegetables and fruits which can be eaten uncooked furnish the body one hundred per cent of their food value," says Miss Marie Doermann-extension specialist in foods at the New Jersey Agricultural College, who points out that whenever a food is cooked some of the vitamins are destroyed. Hence salads, which are often made of raw foods or a combination of cooked and uncooked foods, have an important place in our meals every day of the year.

During the winter months it is more difficult to serve a variety of fresh vegetable salads, but with cabbage, carrots, celery, and lettuce very reasonable in price many combinations are possible. Then when we add to this the list of fresh fruits on the market it is easy to plan meals for the family so there will be one uncooked food each day.

Salads serve various purposes depending on their ingredients. A fruit salad, for instance, is a splendid dessert, the tartness of the fruit adding flavor to winter meals which often contain large amounts of starch, fat, and sugars. With apples as a foundation many appetizing combinations may be made. Celery, nuts, raisins, dates, cabbage, and pineapples are good. Besides these, oranges, grapefruit, and bananas are always available.

THINKING FOR YOURSELF.
AGE BEING PUSHED BACK.
EXTRA WEIGHT TIRES HEART.
RAT-PROOF BUILDING.

An expedition of the California Academy of Sciences returns from the mysterious Galapagos Islands bringing giant lizards, only survivors of the Mesozoic age, and more interesting to the youth of America, "flightless" cormorants, huge birds that have lost their power to fly because they have not flown for so long.

What applies to flying for yourself applies to thinking for yourself. It's easy to lose that faculty. Darwin visited those islands more than seventy-five years ago, and would have liked to explore the inaccessible mountain tops that no one thus far has visited.

B. C. Forbes says that great banking houses, notably Morgan & Co., biggest of the aggressively enterprising firms, admit to partnership men about forty years old, Davison, Lamont, Morrow and other important Morgan partners were taken in at about forty, the age supposed to combine sound judgment with power to carry a heavy load.

In other days forty began the "graybeard" age. Great careers, Alexander and Napoleon, the two most spectacular, were over at that age. Age is pushed farther and farther back, and the J. P. Morgan of 200 years hence may be selecting seventy-five-year-old partners for their "combination of mental and physical strength."

Senator Capper, of Kansas, seeks reduction in railroad freights on grain. Not all farmers realize that Uncle Sam's money has been spent to make it impossible for farmers in some parts of the United States to compete with Canadian farmers. Northwest Canadian wheat reaches our East Coast and Europe, through the Panama Canal, at low freight rates. This country built the canal, taxing its citizens, and lets the whole world use the Canal at the same rate as Americans pay.

If you are too fat, you treat your heart unjustly. So says Dr. James McLester. The heart works harder to carry extra weight, but that is only part of it. Fifty to one hundred useless pounds of weight represent endless billions of living cells that demand nourishment, heat, water, and their added share of the energy that causes metabolism, or change of tissue.

Extra weight tires the body, brain and heart, constituting a "loafer class," or idle rich class in the system that shortens life, diminishes comfort and usefulness. In that, a human body is like a government. Idle rich that consume and contribute nothing, except silly opinions, are harmful to the entire body politic and a way should be found to make them work.

Mr. Remus, who interrupted a bootlegging career to kill his wife, and was congratulated, rather strangely, by some of the jury that acquitted him, is to have "a period of rest under scrutiny." That's to see how his mind is and decide about letting him loose to resume business. His wife is having a longer "period of rest" under the ground.

Los Angeles sets a good example to other cities, ordering rat-proof features in all new buildings. It would be an excellent idea, and economical in the long run, to make old buildings also rat-proof, the city paying the cost.

Modern destructive gases might be used for rat, mouse and insect extermination, including the destruction of the dangerous flea-carrying ground squirrels and gophers.

Professor Ross, of Wisconsin University, is worried about overpopulation of the earth. Let married people have four children to a family, let the children marry and do likewise, and population doubles every twenty years. At that rate, this country, in forty years, could have 460,000,000 people, more than China, and in one hundred years, our population would be 3,840,000,000, more than twice the earth's present population.

A doctor of Manhattan, Kan., believes he has found a cure for pyorrhea. Mr. Gundlach of Chicago thinks he also knows a cure. A real cure of that curse would be worth fifty millions to its discoverer, and would be cheap at twice that.

MT. HOLLY SCHOOL BUDGET IS REDUCED

Board of Education, Co-operating With Chamber of Commerce, Cuts Appropriations $10,000

The Board of Education of the School District which comprises Northampton township met in its room in the Mount Holly High School building last week, and after an open meeting to which the committee of citizens representing the local Chamber of Commerce had been invited, the Board went into executive session and adopted the School Budget for 1928.

The total amount of the budget this year will be $130,000.60 as compared with $140,000.70 for the year 1927, a saving of $10,000 which it is hoped will result in a reduction of the school rate from $2.34 in 1927 to $2 this year.

The amount to be raised by taxation will be $90,000, provided the budget as passed by the Board is adopted at the annual school meeting on February 14, at against $100,000 last year.

S'MATTER POP — Too Sauce-y — by C. M. PAYNE

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Ostrow, M. D.

LARYNGITIS

One of the most common affections of the throat. It may be acute or chronic. The latter form is rare, I'm so glad to say, because it strikes terror to me—the thought of tuberculosis of the larynx. My purpose in this skeich is to deal with the acute form only.

This varies from slight hoarseness with no fever, to the most profound illness, with loss of voice and dangerous temperature. Diphtheria and croupe are the most formidable of throat ailments of childhood. An old author once said that croup is attended by loud, rasping cough; seldom a cough in diphtheria. That was when the diagnosis depended entirely upon physical signs.

The first symptom of laryngitis in any of its forms is—loss of voice. This tells us that the disease is in the larynx—in the vocal "box." It is the signal for immediate action; get the physician at once!

Mouth-breathers are by far the most likely to be attacked. To take young children suddenly out of a warm house, into zero temperature, without warm muffler, or woolen cap placed lightly over the breathing passages, is to invite trouble; the change from warm to cold should be gradual. Teach children to breathe through the nostrils, if suddenly exposed to the cold; they will never forget it. And, be sure there are no adenoids there to obstruct.

Prevention is golden here. Keep the child's bowel's freely open. Require plenty of drinking water, and good, plain, nutritious food. Air the bedrooms well during the day. I would not house children too closely—cultivate tolerance for pure, out-door air, but wrap the body warm; especially, keep feet and legs warm and dry. Until the doctor comes, treating the victim with sweating and inhalations of turpentine vapor, eucalyptus oil, or from slaking lime.

NECKLINE MAKES OR MARS, SAYS EXPERT

The neckline is an important detail of the frocks shown at the present time, is the word from the home economics department of the New Jersey Agricultural College through Catherine Griebel, extension clothing specialist, who points out, however, that since there is a wide choice, it is possible to be quite in the mode and still wear a becoming neckline.

The very deep V line is especially kind to the older woman—the woman who needs dignified lines that give height and slenderize the perhaps over-heavy bust. Such V lines on one's dressy clothes may be emphasized with lace, which is always flattering.

Another treatment for the V necklines, suggested by the specialist, which is suitable for more tailored garments of heavy silk crepes and light weight wools and worsted, is to leave the V quite plain and insert a smart vestee of two crossover pieces. This may be of white, or beige, or even of the same shade as one's dress. In a tweed frock the vest may be of flat crepe to match the twede in color.

The one-sided necklines are new and smart. They give a broader appearance to the figure than does the V line but still are worn more easily than the boat-shaped line of a few seasons ago. The one-sided effect may be V-shaped or rounded depending much on the individual needs of the wearer.

The jabot neckline is often seen, and no one can dispute the advantageous use of a jabot. For the too-heavy woman it is a real friend if properly used and her over-thin sister may find it of equal value to her. Of course, a different treatment is necessary, but the effect of overcoming the over or under development of the figure is the object in both cases.

Lovely draped blouses with quite severe necklines may be worn by the very young woman, and the extremely chic woman in her thirties may effect the handkerchief-like drapes which are quite the latest fashion. These are often of the material from which the frock is made, but for sports wear they may be gay-colored.

Remember always that the neckline makes or mars one's dress—there is no point which needs more careful consideration.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

The Moral Aspect of the Wage System

Usually the money-making individual gets a very black eye from most high-brow writers. They think if a man does a thing in order to get money he should be somewhat ashamed of it.

I wish to say a good word for those who desire to make money. It seems to me it is about the most wholesome desire in the human bosom.

What would we do unless people could make money? The gas we burn in the house would remain in the coal if there were no profits in taking it out and piping it to the residence.

You could have no electricity unless it paid somebody to bring it to your house.

You would have to do without most of the food you eat and the clothes you wear if nobody could make a profit by supplying you with them.

We should be very glad to give these middlemen something for their brains. Without their services life would be barren indeed.

Giving people wages or pay is the way we induce people to do something for us which we cannot do or do not want to do ourselves.

Formerly we had a system of slavery by which men did what we didn't want to do.

The conscience of the world rebelled against that, and now to get a man to do for us what we do not want to do ourselves, or cannot do, we simply pay him. Without this system of paying people for their labor there would be none of it done for us.

The wage system beautifies our lives, fills it with comforts and luxuries and the whole fabric of society rests upon it.

Every man or woman should not only be busy but should be busy about something that the world is willing to pay for.

When somebody pays for what you do, you may be sure your work is needed. If you are just working for nothing you may be more of a nuisance than a benefit.

The wage system is a test by which you know that your work is appreciated.

No man should be ashamed of getting wages. Everybody of any account works for a wage in one form or another.

Of course he should do nothing dishonorable or disgraceful, but he should not do that, anyhow. So, eliminating all wicked or criminal or selfish acts, the best way to test the usefulness of your activities is to see whether anybody wants to pay for them or not.

Small Girl Killed In Crossing Road

Lenola Child Meets Instant Death in Heedless Dash Across Street

A small girl and a man in poor health lost their lives in tragedies at Lenola last week. The child was instantly killed when she ran in front of an automobile and the man, who was suffering from a nervous breakdown, took his life by drowning in the creek.

The victims were:

Verla Kovelcek, 8-years-old, 25 East Center street, Lenola.

John Konsey, 47-years-old, 226 South Lenola Road, Lenola.

The child was killed at the intersection of Lenola Road and Camden avenue by Thos. Dolly & Sons' towing car, driven by D. O. Ridgway, of Main street and Pine avenue, Maple Shade.

Vera, accompanied by two other children, all pupils at the Moorestown Parochial School, had alighted from the school bus and started to cross the road. Officer Bruce MacDonald, who was on duty directing traffic, warned the trio not to attempt to cross the street until he gave them the signal, but Vera, child-like, failed to heed the warning and dashed in front of the big machine driven by Ridgway.

Meets Instant Death

Her head hit the radiator of the big auto and she was knocked down, although none of the wheels touched the little body. Ridgeway evidently had the machine well under control and was proceeding cautiously, for the child was picked up between the rear wheels of the heavy auto and the front of the car which was being towed. The Dolly machine was headed east on Camden avenue.

MacDonald and Ridgeway commandeered a passing automobile and rushed the child to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, hoping to save Vera's life. Doctors at the hospital declared that death had been instantaneous. Her skull was fractured. Coroner George C. C. Stout, of Moorestown, was called on the case.

MacDonald arrested Ridgeway and at a hearing before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Town Hall, the driver was placed under $2,000 bail to await grand jury action.

Konsey committed suicide by drowning in the east branch of the Pensauken which runs through Lenola. His body was spied floating along the edge of the stream by a passing truck who reported the finding to Officer Bruce MacDonald.

"Suicide by Drowning"

MacDonald and Coroner Stout, who rendered a verdict of "suicide by drowning," took the body from the water. It was believed that Konsey jumped into the water from the old Cinnaminson bridge along Camden avenue.

Konsey was in very poor health, suffering from a nervous breakdown and heart trouble, and was soon to leave for a sanitarium in an effort to regain his health. It is understood that he had been brooding over his misfortune for some time and members of his family believe he previously had intended to attempt to end his life. They told Moorestown police that he "had tried to sneak out of the house" Tuesday evening and they had feared a suicidal motive at that time.

Konsey had not lived with his wife for a number of years, it is understood. Mary Mudra was his housekeeper.

He is survived by three children, one daughter, Terry, 17 years old, and two sons, Francis, 11 and Lewis 19 years old.

MAN INJURED WHEN BUS GOES OFF ROAD

Charles Zelker, Pine street, Lenola, was seriously injured when a Pennjersey bus crashed through the guard rail on Camden avenue just below Lenola Wednesday evening of last week. According to reports from the Zelker home, the injured bus passenger is still in a serious condition.

According to police, the driver of the bus, Earl Smith, Fairview, lost control of his heavy machine while attempting to pass another automobile. The bus was headed towards Camden and crashed through the fence on the left side of the road.

There were six passengers in the bus, which was considerably damaged. The driver escaped unscratched. Joseph Morris, Second street, Lenola, received slight injuries and Mrs. Frances Wilson, New Albany Road, suffered nervous shock after the accident. Mrs. Edward Andrews, New Albany Road, was uninjured, while it is understood that other passengers escaped with slight scratches and bruises.

Officer Bruce MacDonald was called, but released the driver after questioning him as to the cause of the accident.

PUBLIC SERVICE APPROVES BUDGET

Budgets for 1928 of the operating companies of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey represents a total of approximately $27,000,000 have been approved. This expenditure is required for new construction, extensions and betterments in the business of furnishing gas, electric and transportation services in New Jersey.

Of this sum more than $22,000,000 will be used by the Electric Department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company for interconnection, transmission and distribution purposes, for substations and for extension of lines and improvement of service to consumers.

The Gas Department will spend close to $4,500,000 in the manufacturing and distribution branches of the business covering extension and replacements of mains, holder reinforcements and various other items bearing on the servicing of gas.

Approximately $7,000,000 has been apportioned for transportation purposes for new equipment, replacements and general improvement of service.

In addition to the sums enumerated, there are miscellaneous items providing for a variety of requirements necessary to the operation of the several companies.

Homes are not safe without a relief valve. Let us make yours safe at a reasonable cost. Phone 354-J, Clarence Hubbs.

STORIES WERE PRINTED

As a protest against the flood of publicity stories which deluge editors of newspapers, Alexander L. Moreau, editor of the Bloomfield Independent Press, a weekly, last Friday published an eight-page supplement containing all the printed propaganda which he had received in the past week.

"Fried tripe," he dubbed it in an editorial, "a tremendous waste of effort and ability."

In the left corner of the front page was the caption, "Devoted to the Private Welfare." In the right was a boxed phrase, "All the propaganda fit to print."

County History of 25 Years Ago

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror, January 21, 1903

Skating has been excellent in Mount Holly and vicinity the past week.

Business is still booming at the H. B. Smith Machine Company's shops, Smithville, and the concern is in need of more apprentices.

Ice from six to eight inches thick is being housed.

John D. Johnson, of the Hainesport foundry, is supplying his employes with bituminous coal at $3.75 per ton.

The Burlington County Children's Home, Mount Holly, now has 33 inmates, the largest number in its history.

Mrs. Sarah Regan has sold the Japhet B. Deacon farm, near Mount Holly, to Charles Rockhill for $4,636.

Coal in Barrels

A novel sale was conducted at the Washington House, Mount Holly, on Saturday, when W. H. Rogers of Merchantville, sold coal in barrel lots. Notwithstanding the scarcity of coal, due to strikes, bidding was not very spirited. The fuel brought from 80 cents to a dollar a barrel of about three bushels. Apples, also sold at auction, brought from $1.15 to $2.10 per barrel. The varieties offered were New York Greenings, Wealthy and Baldwin.

William B. Lippincott, near Hartford, has sold his farm to Schuyler Stratton, who has been living on the Nathan D. Pancoast farm, near Moorestown, for $125 per acre. Mr. Lippincott expects to move to Moorestown.

Eayre Oliphant, a respected resident of Pemberton, died at the home of his son-in-law, John Forsyth, on Thursday, aged 78 years.

January 28, 1903

The price of gas in Mount Holly has been reduced to $1.25 per thousand feet.

Judging by the small number of prisoners now in the county jail, it is evident that the criminal business at the coming session of court will be light.

The loss on stock and machinery on account of the fire at Samuel Haines' mill, Rancocas on Wednesday morning, was $9,000, with no insurance.

Nearly all the Mount Holly coal dealers received a supply of anthracite this week and fuel famine here has been temporarily relieved. The ruling price for the larger sizes is $10 per ton.

According to the table of rates arranged by the executive committee of the Philadelphia Milk Shippers' Union dairymen will receive an average price of four cents during this year.

Moorestown Triplets

Three bouncing baby boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mortland, of Trenton, on Sunday. Mrs. Mortland is the former Miss Jennie Werner, of Moorestown.

Over a dozen railroad tickets for Florida have been sold at the Moorestown station this winter.

The hotel St. Charles, Atlantic City, was sold on Thursday by James B. Reilly to Newlin Haines, one of the owners of the Chalfonte, and formerly of Rancocas, for $325,000. Mr. Haines is a son-in-law of Mrs. Israel Deacon, of Mount Holly.

County "Y" News

A group of boys met with Secretary C. W. Ergood in the home of Dr. Cattell, Cookstown, and organized a YMCA Group last Wednesday evening. Besides the boys, the Rev. C. W. Scarborough and Howard J. Harris were present. Mr. Harris is to be the leader of this new Group.

J. Porter Ashrook made his initial Father and Son Banquet speech before the colored folk of Moorestown last Thursday evening. The Father and Son Banquet was promoted through the cooperation of the Boy Scouts and the YMCA Group, and was held in the Second Baptist Church of Moorestown.

The topic for Mr. Ashbrook's speech was taken from the lives of some characters in the Bible. Samuel as an example of an obedient son, and Absolom a disobedient son. The lives of these men, according to Mr. Ashbrook have great significance for fathers and sons of today, and the significance of their names is evident by the number of people who bear the names of Samuel and David, and the lack of those named Absolom.

William Smith, Leader of the YMCA Group extended the welcome to the seventy-five fathers and sons present. Assistant Secretary C. W. Ergood was called on for remarks as well as Harold J. Cozen, Scoutmaster of the Moorestown Boy Scouts. Besides remarks from these men, several of the fathers and sons spoke. The toastmaster of the occasion was Henry F. Graves, Scoutmaster of the colored Troup.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Overman, Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Hendry, Marple M. Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ergood represented Burlington County at the annual meeting of YMCA laymen of the State, Town and Country Department. This meeting was held in the Central YMCA, Trenton, Saturday, January 21. Senator Reeves, of Mercer County and Dr. D. Hunter McAlpin were the hosts of this occasion.

THE PLAINT OF A SLOGAN MAKER

I'd love to write a slogan
And win that crispy bill!
But alas! my trusty fountain pen
Seems to lack the skill!
Full well I know that "brevity"
Is called "the soul of wit"\
And ten words in the slogan
Are all that make a hit.

But Heavens! I can't make it
Upon my fingers ten
I count my words wildly
O'er and o'er again
And I always have a dozen
Or perhaps some times thirteen!
Dear Commerce men why will you
Be so pesky mean?.

While I wash the family dishes,
My mind works overtime,
Thinking o'er that tempting slogan
Wishing I could make it rhyme.
Then there comes an inspiration
"Ah! tis mine," I cry, at last.
Quick, I grab my pen and paper
'Ere the wonder words be past.

Then I count 'em! Down my spirit
Fails to garth again, I'm blue
(The words are over ten—Really, quite a few!)
So farewell, dear crispy greenback
Some MAN will win you, I know,
For I've proved the charge that woman
Talks too much is really so ! ! !

Respectfully submitted with congratulations to the lucky man.

Electric Lights Stir Hainesport

$2000 Appropriation for Additional Illumination Causes Trouble for Committee

The ever-present call to arms in Hainesport's municipal and political affairs was heard again Wednesday night of last week when there was a fight at the meeting of the Township Committee over the question of appropriating $2,000 for the installation of electric lights in the town and along the main highways, leaving out the territory back of Oakdale and over toward the Eastern section. The proposition came up as a part of the public hearing on the township budget and it was the one item that stirred up objection.

There was no particular howl from those who are not to get lights, if the thing goes through, but considerable of the uprising came right from the people of the town who are to receive the greatest benefit under the proposal. Since Hainesport Township was created out of Lumberton Township the property owners have felt the sting of rising taxes.

Matters stirred up to such an extent that the Township Committee didn't feel like settling the question right then and there by approving the budget in the face of this much opposition and took a recess until this week for the purpose of having a public hearing on the light appropriation alone.

It is understood that the objections have no thought of blocking progress, but they do feel that in view of all the expenses forced on the taxpayers during the short time Hainesport Township has been in existence it would be wise to wait awhile longer before spending $2,000 on electric lights.
