PALMYRA HIGH SOUTH JERSEY BASKETBALL LEAGUE CHAMPS

Local Five Wins Decisive Battle With Woodbury by 18-16 Score

OPPONENTS LEAD FOR TWO PERIODS

Ken Dimond's Palmyra High School basketball aggregation defeated Woodbury last Wednesday afternoon in a game played on enemy territory. The result of this game made the Palmyra boys the undisputed champions of the newly organized Camden-Suburban League. Had Woodbury won this game and its next game with Collingswood the race would have resulted in a tie for first place with Palmyra and a play-off would have been necessary in which case the coveted bunting would have gone to the winner of the series.

The Woodbury boys knew if they lost the game all chances of winning the championship would have gone so they went into action determined to "do or die." How near they came to winning is shown by the score of 18 to 16. The Palmyra boys were equally determined to end the race right then and there so there is little wonder why a "classic of the court" resulted.

Woodbury took an early advantage and led throughout the first two periods, having an 8 to 6 lead when the whistle blew ending the first half. It was not until the end of the third period that Palmyra caught up with its opponents but from then on the local boys were not to be outdone. They were ahead all during the final canto and when the final whistle blew they were victors by a margin of two points.

Eisley was again the individual star, scoring half of his teams' points, while Bowe led the Woodbury tossers with 10 markers. The summary:

RAID PALMYRA HOTEL

County Detectives and Chief Beck Seize Two Gallons

County Detectives, Cain and Carabine, assisted by Chief Beck, raided the Palmyra Hotel last Friday afternoon. Two gallons of liquid of a dubious nature were seized and held as evidence.

The proprietor, Harry Kreutzberg, was summoned to appear before the prohibition commissioner at Mount Holly and was released under $500 bail.

The raid was made without notice and so quickly was it carried out that Detective Cain is said to have intercepted a glass of the questionable fluid as it was lifted from the bar to the lips of the would-be consumer. Several citizens have complained lately that liquor was being sold freely over the bar and that anyone would be served without question.

LLEWELLYN DAVIS

Llewellyn Davis, formerly of Palmyra, died at the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, last Thursday following an operation for appendicitis a week before. Funeral services were held from his late residence, Springfield road and Maryland avenue, Aldan, Pa., on Monday afternoon. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery, near Willow Grove.

Mr. Davis had been a prominent resident of Palmyra up to about a year ago, living on Columbia avenue.

He was contractor, builder and salesman for the Oliver S. Keeley Company, a Manayunk Real Estate firm, which purchased and developed the tract known as Morgan Heights.

Under Mr. Davis' management scores of residences were built and sold on this tract which became one of the most attractive residential districts of Palmyra. The builder was a man of splendid character and was highly respected by all who knew him.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter and two sons, Llewellyn, Jr., and Russell.

DIDN'T CHOOSE TO RUN

We, also, "do not choose to run in 1928." The Tuttle News has made its last appearance in public. The deceased was born April, 1914, and though always an undersized, underfed runt, each edition was eagerly read in practically every home within the delivery of the local post office. Though attended by various "physicians" of no mean ability, the patient finally gave up the ghost, and was buried by the last editor, leaving a doctor bill of some twenty-five dollars. It is freely rumored that death was caused by local business men who realized the value of advertising but declined to stand expense of same.—Tuttle (Okla.) News.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

Riverton Health Department Urges Everyone to Cooperate With County League

"The Health Department of Riverton urges every person in this community to consult his physician if the following danger signals exist: too easily tired; loss of weight; indigestion; cough that hangs on. Fever in the afternoon and night sweats may well be cause for considerable alarm. If after a thorough examination your physician finds no signs of tuberculosis, you have been repaid for your trouble in the restored confidence you will possess; on the other hand, if the diagnosis is that you have the disease in an incipient form, you should consider yourself fortunate you acted so soon, for every day of delay in discovering the condition reduces the chances of an ultimate escape from the extreme penalty. Taken in time, tuberculosis is curable. But the same case which today promises, under proper treatment, a restoration of health in a year, next month may mean death.

"The foregoing are the reasons the Health Department officially asks the co-operation of the public in the efforts of the Burlington County Tuberculosis League to promote the early diagnosis of this insidious disease.

Very truly yours,

Dr. Estornelle on Evolution

Clergyman Sees No Conflict Between Scientific Theory and Bible

Dr. C. Estornelle made such an impression on the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, when he spoke here last fall on "Ladies Night" that he was asked to come back and address the Club a second time. His popularity was attested by the large turnout and all looked forward to a very interesting evening.

They were not disappointed. The speaker chose for his subject, "Evolution and the Bible." This subject has been much discussed since the famous "Monkey Trial" in Tennessee and Dr. Estornelle has prepared a treatise on the subject in which he reconciles the scientific viewpoint with that of the Bible.

The speaker opened with the assertion that this was an age of cynicism and that Americans as a people were much given to doubting almost everything and that so long as this condition continued no real progress would be possible. "Before we as a people can accomplish anything really worth while," he said, "we must get together on common ground in the greater things of life."

Religion Most Important

"Religion," he said, "is the most important of these." He went on to say that the cynicism of which he spoke manifested itself in the controversy between the scientific and religious view of the process of evolution. The speaker said he saw no reason for any conflict between the two.

He quoted from Genesis, "In the beginning—God" and went on to say that all noble works had been accomplished through a gradual process. He explained that science was concerned with material things but that religion had to do with the spirit and had a separate evolutionary process. It was his thought that some time during the evolution of man he had become possessed of a soul and from then on man had developed spiritually as well as physically.

It seemed quite logical to Dr Estornelle that monkeys and men had a common ancestor but that the animal which has become the ape was never endowed with a soul as man has been. From then on man began a spiritual development which is even now going on and will not be complete until the end when he meets God.

End and Beginning

He sums is up thus, "In the beginning,—God, in the end,—God."

When the meeting opened for discussion after the address he was asked if he thought the six days in which the world was created were ordinary days of twenty-four hours and he explained that days may have referred to periods in the evolutionary process.

The question was asked concerning the creation of man as described in Genesis and he replied that he understood that to be the time when man was endowed with a soul. Several times during the evening he referred to the thought that evolution was God's way of producing a desired result rather than by performing a miracle.

The members were well pleased with Dr. Estornelle's address and gave him a rising vote of thanks. A motion was offered that he be elected an honorary member and was adopted unanimously.

New Members Elected

At the election of officers last month a director of the forum was overlooked. This was brought before the meeting and Mr. Sheffield was re-elected. The following candidates were elected to membership, Maurice E. Gerhard, G. W. Peacock, Harry F. Baittinger, Samuel Loucks, E. A. Carr and Arthur Wright.

Robert Morris Carenos sang several delightful baritone solos. A trio composed of Lee Mitton, pianist, J. J. Siddall, Violinist and Mr. Freiberger, cornetist, furnished the instrumental music. The musical numbers were much appreciated.

Life is full of troubles and you can make it lots wrose by getting mad at every little foot thing that comes up.

Prof. Alley On League of Nations

Addresses Large Gathering at League of Women Voters Luncheon Tuesday

About sixty women gathered at the Porch Club Tuesday to attend a luncheon given by the League of Women Voters, and to hear an address on the League of Nations.

The tables were charming with their floral decorations, and a dainty and tasty luncheon was served by the ladies of the League, under the efficient direction of Mrs. Sherman L. Warren. One guest at each table received the potted plant in the center.

Mrs. R. F. Corry, president of the Porch Club, welcomed the guests and spoke of the good work the League of Women Voters is accomplishing by providing the means of getting the education needed in politics, and giving it in a non-partisan manner.

Mrs K. L. Zimmerman, president of the League, acted as chairman and introduced the speaker, Professor A. J. Alley, of the New Jersey Law School. Professor Alley, whose subject was the League of Nations, has spent many years traveling in Europe and attending the sessions of the League. He was therefore able to give first-hand information in a very interesting manner, easily understood.

The World a Neighborhood

President Coolidge has said that the world is a great neighborhood, and every year brings the neighborhood closer together. The facts, however, that each country has a motto which embodies the thought of our country first; each has a navy and army, and the right to declare war, makes the neighborhood spirit difficult of realization. Nations have tried for centuries to live together with this equipment, but every fifteen years there is a war somewhere. International anarchy is used as a substitute for cooperation and law.

The League of Nations offers another way—that of conference. Every year there is an assembly held at Geneva, similar to the town meeting with which our New England States are familiar. The executive board meets six or seven times a year, and special conferences are called whenever necessary.

Quick Action Possible

The merit of these conferences is that it enables nations to get together rapidly when something occurs that affects all countries.

What if there had been such a conference preceding the world war, when twenty million human lives were at stake?

Professor Alley was in Europe at the time Italy fired upon Greece. A telegram was received by the League at 10 o'clock in the morning and by four in the afternoon the executive board was in session.

These conferences bring the leaders of the countries together with an opportunity to do something to preserve the peace of the world.

Through these conferences the nations are brought together frequently in times of peace, and the better understanding of the aims and purposes of each other, gained by the leaders, and in measure passed on to the people, a foundation for permanent peace is established.

The World Court

Professor Alley also spoke of the World Court and said that it was not near as powerful as the Supreme Court of the United States, as it cannot force nations to come before it, nor enforce its decrees when handed down. It is an immature organization but should not be judged harshly because it has not yet attained its full growth; but should be helped and assisted by all the civilized nations of the world. As a beginning, the professor believes it to be a success, as it has settled twenty disputes in five years. The fact that there is a World Court will encourage countries to go to it for advice.

The public opinion aroused by the Court must be packed up by a police force. The professor said that if we lived in the earlier days of the wild west those of us who were not Friends would carry a gun, but we would not be policemen. Each would be dangerous to the whole community. The navies and armies of the world are like the six-shooters, not policemen. A police force is created by the community and is acting under laws laid down by the community.

Looking Forward

The speaker took his audience back a few hundred years to the time when cities were walled and each kept its own army, tribes and clans continually warred. Then he brought us to the present day when wars between cities and states are unheard of, and then just a step farther to the time when war will no longer be possible among nations. And this condition will be just as reasonable as outlawing war among cities and states, but he said

SCOUTS JOIN IN REUNION

BOYS ENJOY VISIT WITH OLD BUDDIES

Last Saturday the Scouts of the Riverton troop who went to camp last summer were invited to the annual camp reunion of the Trenton council camp, Pahaquarra, which has been held in Trenton for four years—ever since the camp was organized. Although all the boys who enjoyed the camp were not able to go, Scouts Knight, Evans, Spear, Hirst and Shoemaker enjoyed the program which was as follows:

First some of the old camp songs were sung to bring the camp atmosphere back to the boys who sang them in the big mess hall last summer.

Then the president of the Trenton local council gave a very interesting talk on Ben Franklin, after which two boys who were very well-known and liked during their stay at camp gave an imitation of an old medicine show.

After their funny show was over our camp harmonica champion gave us some tunes.

When we heard the fellows in charge say "Scotty" we all yelled, knowing that our old friend 'Scotty" Edwards would play his bagpipes, a rare treat, for 'Scotty" was conservative with his music at camp, which didn't please us much, I'll tell you!

"Scotty" didn't play very long, but the next feature was just as interesting—a pie and eclair eating contest. The heart of the pies were either dry cornstarch or jelly and the center of the eclairs were made of cotton. The boys struggled some with them but they had a time of it.

When this was over the camp executive gave some talks and threats.

Now, eats, apple pie and ice cream, then a bottle of "pop" for each boy!

Then home, tired but happy.

Bill Shoemaker, Scribe.

SCOUTS' AIR MESSAGE

Circulars Dropped Over Palmyra and Riverton by Army Plane

A novel method of informing residents of Palmyra and Riverton that the annual campaign for funds for Boy Scout work in the county is under way was employed Tuesday when circulars telling of the campaign were distributed from a large army airplane flying low above the railroad tracks.

Circulars were dropped at different points from Arch street station to East Riverton.

The plane flew over at about four o'clock in the afternoon when the children were out of school and a grand rush resulted for possession of the prized leaflets.

Here is the message:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN WAS BORDENTOWN INN GUEST

Harold B. Allen, of Mount Holly, has in his keeping a remarkable old book, the register of the famous old Bordentown House, of Bordentown, conducted by Levi Davis, covering the period of 1856-61, and containing the autographs of some of the country's most famous men in those ante-bellum days. The book is said to be worth its weight in gold by reason of the presence of the illustrious names which adorn its pages. It is the property of Morgan Hand, of Ocean City, and is said to be for sale.

Perhaps the most valuable page of the old book, the leather binding of which is in bad condition, is that on which there is no date but immediately precedes the page dated Monday, August 8, 1859.

On this page in a bold flowing hand, all the entries apparently being written by one person, appear the following: S. A. Douglas, Washington; Jno. C. Breckenridge, Ky.; John Bell, Tenn.; E. Everett, Massachusetts; H. B. Johnston, Ga.; Joseph Lane, Wash., and Horatio Seymour, N. Y.

At the bottom of this illustrious list of statesmen of nearly three quarters of a century ago, appears the greatest name of them all, "A. Lincoln, Springfield, Ill." This signature is believed to be that of the Great Emancipator in his own handwriting.

COLONIAL TEA BY SWASTIKA RESERVES

The Swastika Girl Reserves gave a Colonial Tea on Friday evening, February 24, at the residence of Mrs. Layfield Young, advisor of the high school group and county chairman of the Senior YWCA group.

The tea was one of the most successful affairs ever given by the Girl Reserves. The membership of this group of girls is forty, and every girl put forth a special effort to make their tea a success. They were all gowned in Colonial costumes and assumed the manners of Colonial dames. One hundred and fifty-one guests were served.

The program was one of the highest type. The Minuet, by Samaria Turner, Betty Scales, Dolores Biddle and Marie Muse was enjoyed by all. Other enjoyable numbers were the impersonation of a butterfly by Samaria Turner ,the Just Met Quartette led by Alexander Johnson, a Spanish dance led by Josephine Lindsey, violin solo by Timothy Johnson, piano solos by Dolores Biddle, Mary Kenney and Frances Johnson, a vocal solo by Irving Ransom and another by Miss Dorothy Johnson, who is president of this Club and who proved a most efficient hostess of ceremonies for the evening. Addresses were given by the Rev. S. H. Barker and Roy Williams and a select reading by Miss Minnie Mansfield.

Lions Discuss P. R. R. Problems

Railroad Passenger Traffic Will Again Come Into Its Own, Is Opinion

The fate of the country's railroads was discussed at the meeting of the Lion's Club Tuesday evening.

President Fromuth, in reporting on representations made to the Pennsylvania in favor of reduced passenger rates for the Trenton Division, said he had found the railroad is in a bad way as far as passenger traffic is concerned. Bus competition has cut heavily into the receipts and even on the lines where fare cuts recently were made, the result has been an even greater loss of revenue.

Mr. Fromuth and many of the members were inclined to sympasize with the railroads, but Frank Kates who some years ago made an expert survey of transportation problems, declared there was no need for worry. As the Camden district becomes more and more congested, he said, the railroads will again return to favor and the bus lines will find it impossible to supply the demands of the travelling public.

History has proved time and again, said Mr. Kates, that the rail lines have the advantage in moving large masses of people quickly in congested areas.

The big thing the railroad now needs, in the opinion of the members, was facility to deliver Jersey commuters directly in Philadelphia, instead of them having to use the ferries.

In the future, members of the club predicted, the Pennsylvania will meet this demand either by a bridge or tunnel route.

It was Curtis Stavely's birthday and Frank Kates made a flowery speech in presenting him with the club's remembrance.

Reports are to the effect that tickets for "And How," the Lions' Roar of 1928, are going more rapidly than ever, since they have been placed on sale at Buchi's and Keatings.

ST. JOSEPH'S GAIN NEW MEMBERS

Philadelphia Council Will Assist in Initiation at Local K. of C.

Following the regular meeting of the St. Joseph's Council next Tuesday, March 6, a class of new members will be initiated in the first degree of the Order at the headquarters of the Riverton and Palmyra K. of C. This is the first degree to be held under the present administration of Grand Knight Harry C. Sim, and preparations for a large crowd are being made.

On hand to assist the members of St. Joseph's degree team, will be the members of one of the most popular degree teams in Philadelphia and vicinity. San Domingo Council of the neighboring metropolis will be here to help their Jersey brothers, and accompanying the team will be from 50 to 60 of the Philadelphia Council's live members who have in their ranks some unusual and versatile artists who will be called on after the ceremonies to entertain the Riverton-Palmyra Knights and visitors from all of the Burlington County Councils, who have been invited.

An influx of new members to the order is manifested by the fact that the other five Councils of Burlington county have on their schedule of March activities a first degree.

In the last issue of "Columbia," the official magazine of the Order, a statement comes from Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody, that the ranks of every Council in the county are being swelled by the addition of new members.

THREE-HOUR LUNCHEON

The girls of the Manasquan Indian Club had a progressive luncheon, Washington's birthday in honor of their new member, Betty Showell. The luncheon was served in the following manner: Fruit cup, Alice Bartley; consomme salad, Helen Geise; croquettes and mushrooms Dorothy Cornesl; peas and sandwiches, Elizabeth Mayfield; potatoes and tea, Mary Rutherford; desert, Ruth Bartley.

The first course of the luncheon was served at 12.30 and the last at 3.30.

RIVERTON A. A. PLANS BIG RALLY FOR MARCH 6

SNIPER IS IN TOWN

Boys Playing With Sling-Shot Cause Alarm in Riverton

Last Saturday afternoon it was thought that Riverton had become a part of the hunting grounds of the "phantom sniper." This theory was given up after an investigation by Officers William Quigley and William Gootee.

Fred Conway, American Express agent at Riverton, was sitting at his desk counting the day's receipts when a missile of some sort struck the window less than a yard from him. The glass was cracked and a slight hollow was chipped out of the glass from the outside but the missile did not come through the window.

There were some boys playing in an empty building less than 50 yards from the window and it is thought that these boys were the cause of the 'phantom's" visit.

Now would be a good time to check up on the boys who are carrying sling-shots about the streets, taking a "shot" at whatever they feel like. This sort of thing should be broken up before some one is seriously injured.

Rotarians Hold Annual Banquet

Hon. Edward J. Cattell and Gov. Samuel Schmucker Speakers

In regular Rotary style, the Palmyra-Riverton Club held its second annual banquet in the Porch Club on Thursday evening last. Not only was the club holding its "second annual" but it was quite apropos that they celebrate the natal day of the "Father of their Country," George Washington. While in his day, Rotary was unknown, he undoubtedly pioneered the "Service above Self" motto which has been since adopted by Rotary International.

In commemorating this occasion the Club Room was appropriately decorated, the central figure being a handsome portrait of Washington festooned with the colors of the American Flag.

The tables from which a very tasty menu was served were no less attractive by being neatly arrayed in the tri-colored scheme that was followed throughout the decorations.

About thirty-five members and their wives, now known as "Rotary Anns" were present to enjoy this memorable occasion in which good fellowship held sway.

Gov. Schmucker Present

It was the regret of the Club that their expected guest, Mrs. Samuel Schmucker, wife of the present Governor of the 50th District, Samuel Schmucker, was unable to be present on account of illness. The Club was honored by having their Governor with them whose fatherly advice and exhortations relative to the "carrying on" of Rotary are always welcomed.

Governor Schmucker praised highly the Palmyra-Riverton Club for the spirit of Rotary that was manifested in such a gathering.

He expressed a wish that every "Rotary Ann" make it her duty to see that "friend husband" attend the Atlantic City convention. He also stated that they should accompany their husbands if possible and in this way, as in no other, the "Rotary Anns" will catch the real significance and the importance of Rotary.

In concluding his remarks, Gov Schmucker paid a handsome tribute to Hon. Edward James Cattell, a Rotarian of years, who has won the hearts of the people from the uttermost parts of the world.

"Ed" Cattell, as he is known among Rotarians, conferred upon the local club one of its greatest honors, by his presence.

This venerable gentleman, so beloved by all, brought a timely message "Getting the Most out of Life."

Most Equals Happiness

In these days of strenuous living, with the problems confronting every individual and the great tasks that lie before us, we sometimes fail in our atempt to get the most out of life. We place the wrong emphasis on the "most" or we misinterpret it possibly by applying it merely to financial gain.

Mr. Cattell, by virtue of his years of experience, although young as he is in appearance and actions, gave his translation of "Most' in the word "Happiness." His first recipe and one in which he has tried and proven is to "spread hapipness" and it will return to you.

Mr. Cattell reiterated many of his experiences where he has endeavored to practice what he was preaching and although seemingly failing in his attempt found results followed soon. He exhorted his listeners to have courage, the one essential toward this given task.

Courage is what we need, said Mr. Cattell, for it takes courage to tuck away your troubles, keep them a secret, and spread happiness. It pays big dividends.

Lifting burdens of others along the walk of life was another duty devolved upon everyone who would get the Most out of Life. It should be considered a great opportunity to be able to render such a service and in this respect, said Mr. Cattell, I fail to agree with that old adage that opportunity knocks but once.

Praises Inventions

In conclusion Mr. Cattell highly praised the inventions of the day which are doing so much in the spreading of happiness. He spoke of the labor saving devices for the lady of the house, relieving them of many laborous tasks; the telephone, automobile and the radio all of which are enlightening the lives of many, particularly in the

Fletcher W. Stites and "Nig" Berry to be Among Speakers to Promote Sports

SPECIAL COMMITTEE WILL LOOK AFTER BOYS

The big rally to be held next Tuesday evening, March 6, by the Riverton Athletic Association is the result of months of painstaking thought and effort on the part of a group of men who are interested in the proper development of sports in Riverton.

The meeting will be held in Collins Hall, by courtesy of the owners, at eight o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to give the citizens of the borough an insight into the plans and hopes of the association, which can only be realized through the cooperation of the townspeople.

The committee in charge has provided good speakers and good music.

Stites and Berry Speakers

Fletcher W. Stites, former State Senator in Pennsylvania, and prominent Philadelphia attorney, and J. Howard ("Nig") Berry, former champion all-round athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, will be the principal speakers.

Berry has played in Riverton and will be remembered by fans and players of a decade ago. He needs no introduction to lovers of sports in this vicinity.

In addition to these speakers, short addresses will be made by Rivertonians who are in sympathy with the ideals of the association, and a male quartette will provide entertainment.

Aims of Association

It is the purpose of the Riverton Athletic Association to restore Riverton to its former glory in the realm of sports—not only baseball and football, but sports in general, with that spirit of good sportsmanship which makes sports worthwhile.

In former years Riverton was known all over the eastern part of the United States for its prowess on the diamond and gridiron, the true spirit of sportsmanship was kept alive by a few public-spirited men of means.

But conditions have changed, and a number of far-seeing men have come to realize that if Riverton is to regain its proud position of leadership and, what is more important, is to develop a proper appreciation of sports in the youth of the town it will have to be done by the concerted action of the many. To this end they have worked out some carefully considered plans which they wish to lay before their fellow-townsmen.

Must Train the Boys

If Riverton is ever to be able to put a strictly home baseball and football team in the field, it is necessary to start with the boys in the grammar school. A Junior Sports Committee, composed of James Knapp, Walter C. Wright and Robert C. Ayres, has been appointed to enlist the interest of boys between the ages of 12 and 18, and to develop a spirit of competition in sports. Before the summer is over it is hoped to have at least four junior teams in sharp competition for the season's honors.

The men back of the Riverton Athletic Association emphasize the fact that it is all-around sports they are seeking to develop, and the spirit of fair play and true sportsmanship. If they can put in the field this year an adult baseball team to which the boys can look for an inspiration and example, both as to skill in the game and the higher qualities of the real sportsman, they feel they will have accomplished no small thing.

Looking to the Future

Everywhere in the world of sports, leaders are recognizing the necessity for recruiting the ranks of the professionals from the boys of today if the national sports are to continue to exist.

Writing from St Petersburg, Fla., on the apparent indifference of the American boy to baseball, Stoney McLinn, in Tuesday night's Ledger had this to say:

"Two major league baseball teams practiced in the Sunshine City yesterday. Six kids watched them in a half-bored way. Small wonder the magnates are alarmed over the future of our national pastime.

"At the park where Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and other sluggers of the Yankees were pounding baseballs far over the heads of the "fly shaggers" in the outfield, three boys in their early teens were among the thousand and more spectators who sat in the bleachers.

"Rogers Hornsby, the National League's noted apple-crusher, was knocking drives over the fences at the Boston Braves' training stadium, and among the 2000 onlookers there were three kids. One of them was the team mascot.

"Time was, in the memory of this writer, when the entire police force of St. Petersburg would have been needed to keep the boys from swarming all over the playing field when diamond greats such as Ruth and Hornsby were clubbing apples.

"We well remember when the Athletics were training in a Southern city not so many years ago and the school authorities swore in additional truant officers to stop the spread of "hookey." Before the World War the American kid would risk a strapping any day to watch Eddie Collins, Home Run Baker and the diamond heroes of that era do a bit of drilling.

"And the kid who became batboy for a major team at its training base—or, perhaps, one who was "permitted" to tote buckets of water for the thirty athletes—thinner! he was more to be envied by the other town boys than the Mayor or chief of the fire department."

The worst thing about getting out of sorts with the world is that the world never cares.

Fines Predominate Court Sentences

Many Defendants Have Cases Presented by Prosecutor for Disposition

Judge William A. Slaughter disposed of several defendants in the Burlington County Court at Mount Holly by the sentence route on Thursday of last week, the county being enriched by $550 in fines, while some of the offenders went to the county jail for various periods.

Victor Opera, of Roebling, was before the bar for sentence on a liquor law violation. Twice before he has been convicted on similar charges, having paid a fine at one time and served forty-five days in jail on another occasion, and it appeared rather gloomy for Opera this time until the Prosecutor explained that the offense for which he was before the Court had really been committed before sentence was passed upon him the last time, when he, Opera, had thought he was pleading to both charges, but in reality the last indictment had not been pressed at the time sentence was passed.

With this explanation, the Court deemed it wise to suspend sentence on Opera and he was placed on probation for three years and will have the costs, amounting to $50, to pay immediately.

Opera was also warned that should he come before the Court again for liquor law violations he will do so at the risk of being fined $500 and going to jail for thirty days.

James E. Berry, of Mount Holly, pleaded non vult to possession of liquor at his former hotel, at King and Water streets, Mount Holly, and was fined $300, after V. Claude Palmer, his counsel, had made a plea for leniency in his behalf.

Annie Dragon, of Roebling, who also had pleaded guilty to possession of utensils for the manufacture of liquor and to having liquor in her possession, had a fine of $200 assessed against her.

William Solowoski, of Hainesport, an old offender against the prohibition laws, went to jail for thirty days. He had been convicted by a jury.

Everal Kiefer, of Hainesport township, and a former special officer, who beat up his seven-year-old son recently, had previously been in court on a waiver and pleaded guilty, and he was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail.

Leslie M. Horner, a seventeen-year-old Mount Holly boy who robbed his brother-in-law of $53 and a revolver, and who pleaded guilty to the charge, received some good advice from the Court, and then was placed on probation for two years, with the understanding that he is to pay back the money he took.

This action was taken by the Court after it was stated that Horner's brother-in-law would be satisfied, and with the understanding that the boy had secured a position.

Adam Waryasz, of Burlington, who has previously been convicted of liquor law violations, retracted his plea of not guilty to having utensils for the manufacture of liquor and to having liquor in his possession. He will be sentenced on March 8.

Prosecutor Hillman then took up a number of old indictments, which had never been heard, and asked to have them nolle prossed, and the Court acquiesced in the request of the prosecutor. They are as follows:

Alex Pepsoski, interfering with an officer; Patrick Connelly, prohibition enforcement act; Stanislaw Danchowski, assault and battery with intent to kill; Stephen Grabinsky, prohibition enforcement act; Frank Zimek, prohibition enforcement act; William Howard, prohibition enforcement act; Frank Zuchenski, assault and battery; George J. Stoer and Albert Rush, larceny; Gertrude Bailey, prohibition enforcement act; Nichola Cacace alias Caruso, prohibition enforcement act; Melvina Say, prohibition enforcement act; Helen Barclay, disorderly house; Lansing Hamilton, assault and battery, and Guiseppe Placente, assault and battery.

Criminal Business

Prosecutor Hillman had a full day's business laid out for Friday, with Attorney Robert Peacock representing most of the defendants, but during the noon lunch hour Attorney Peacock received a telegram summoning him to Atlantic City, owing to the serious illness of his mother, and this brought the day's program to a sudden ending.

However, the following cases were disposed of:

Walter McDermott, of Burlington township, with two indictments against him, had his case heard first.

He was charged with assaulting a police officer and also with transportation and possession of liquor, and the jury decided that he was guilty of the liquor charge but acquitted him on the charge of assault.

Thomas Allen, a colored boy from Palmyra, jointly indicted with Charles King on a charge of stealing a watch, and who already pleaded guilty, was placed on probation for one year with no costs, while King also came into court and made a retraction, pleading guilty.

Mary Lore, of Florence township, who has been in and out of the Court so often in the past few years that she is well-known to all the regulars, retracted her plea of not guilty to liquor law violations and pleaded non vult. And when she stopped to think what she had done, she fainted.

Others who changed their pleas and will be back for sentence on March 1, were as follows:

Arthur Allen, of Eastampton, the indictment being amended to read Joseph Allen, charged with larceny.

Criminal Matters

The first case heard on Monday was that of the state vs. Mrs. Anna Moore, of Water street, Mount Holly, charged with sale, furnishing and possession of liquor.

This defendant's arrest came about through the death of Hubert DeCamp, of Mount Holly, sometime back, it being claimed that he had taken a drink at William Archer's home on Water street, and that Archer had purchased the liquor from Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Moore's defense was an alibi, she claiming that she was in Moorestown at the time Archer claimed he had visited her home, and the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Emma Carter proprietress of the Lumberton Inn, charged with possession of liquor and maintaining a house where liquor was kept, evidently impressed the jury with her story and she, too, was acquitted.

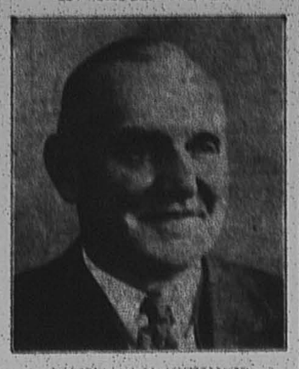

Peter O'Garek, of Wrightstown, charged with liquor law violations, made a retraction and pleaded guilty, as did Harry Cohen, another Wrightstown merchant, similarly indicted.

Just before the closing hour the case of the state vs. Edward Royce, of Columbus, charged with desertion and neglect of his family and also with assault, was begun.

This case was resumed on Tuesday morning and took up the greater part of the morning.

The jury, however, returned a verdict of guilty both as to the desertion and neglect charge and for assault, the complainant being his wife in both cases, which were tried as one.

Miami Pays Fine Collins' Tribute

Clipping From Florida Tells of Hundreds Attending Funeral of Pioneer

A clipping from the Miami Herald, containing an account of the funeral of John S. Collins, of Moorestown and Miami Beach, and one of the pioneers of southern Florida, follows in part:

"Hundreds attended the funeral services and viewed for the last time the body of John S. Collins, the body lying in state from 10 a. m. until the time of the funeral in the home he built, the room looking out to the rising sun, the ocean, and the tall palms he planted more than forty years ago.

"The city hall was closed at 2 p. m. M. Fisher offices and Miami Beach Improvement Company offices with which the deceased was identified, were closed during the day. The flags of the hotels and golf courses were at half mast.

"Miami Beach city officials and employes attended the services in a body. Meeting of the Miami city commission was postponed so members could attend. Mayor E. G. Sewell, of Miami; Mayor E. E. Dammers, of Coral Gables, and other mayors of Greater Miami were present. There were many friends from New Jersey, including J. Lawrence Lippincott, who like Mr. Collins, was a leading fruit grower of the state.

Honorary pallbearers, men who had worked with him in the pioneer days, were Carl G. Fisher, who came to his assistance with financial backing in 1912 and carried the development of Miami Beach forward; J. I. Canklin, engineer, who came to build the bridge; Caleb Ridgway, a New Jersey associate now at the Lincoln Hotel; George B. Cellon, from whom he bought the avocados for his first orchard here; Frank Landstreet, with whom he talked of fruits on many visits; Dr. William Finney, the Presbyterian minister who was his friend for eighteen years in Moorestown, and is visiting here; Clayton Sedgwick Cooper, who knew him and his family closely in later years; J. N. Lummus, Jr., mayor and son of the pioneer who was his neighbor on the south; E. R. Thomas, the automobile pioneer who was one of the first visitors to Miami Beach; John Levi, who as Mr. Fisher's representative remained here with Thomas J. Pancoast to carry out the joint developments; Frank B. Shutts, attorney for Mr. Collins, when he started his project; M. D. Swisher, of Miami Beach, Philadelphia, music publisher, for many years a friend of the family in New Jersey, and T. E. James, his banker, with the Bank of Bay Biscayne in the early days.

"The funeral service was one of the most impressive in the history of the city. In the custom of the Quakers, there was no set program Clayton Sedgwick Cooper gave the eulogy, followed by Dr. Elisha A. King, who has known him intimately for seven years, and by Dr. Finney, who during his eighteen years as minister of the Presbyterian church at Moorestown, came to know Mr. Collins intimately. He closed with a prayer. Mr. Cooper closed the services after asking if there were any others who wished to speak."

YOUR INCOME TAX

Income tax returns are required of every single person whose net income for the taxable year 1927 was $1,500 or more; every married person, living with husband or wife whose net income was $3,500 or more, and every person, single or married, whose gross income was $5,000 or more, regardless of net income.

Gross income, as defined by Treasury regulations, "includes in general, compensation for personal and professional services, profits from sales and dealings in property, interest, rent, dividends and gains, profits and income derived from any source whatever, unless exempt from tax by law."

Net income, upon which the tax is assessed, is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, taxes, contributions, etc.

A taxpayer, though unmarried who supports in his home one or more relatives over whom he exercises family control, is the head of a family and entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person, $3,500. Also he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent. The definition of a dependent who is "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective but persons in ill health and the aged.

For example, a widower who supports in his home an aged mother and daughter seventeen years old is entitled to an exemption of $3,500 as the head of a family, plus a credit of $400 for each dependent, a total of $4,300. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer though he may be totally dependent upon the other.

FIREMEN TO HAVE BOWLING LEAGUE

Fourteen Companies of This County Will Compete for Championship

At a meeting of representatives of a number of fire companies of Burlington county held at the first house of the Young America Company, Burlington, last week, a Burlington County Firemen's Bowling League was organized under very favorable circumstances, and it would appear that there may be considerable friendly rivalry between the pinmen-members of the various companies which have become members of the league.

The league will be made up of teams from fourteen companies, and already eleven have entered their champion strong-arm bowlers as follows: Young America, Mitchell, Hope and Endeavor, of Burlington; Good Intent and Relief, of Mount Holly; Roebling; Delran, of Bridgeboro; Springside; Riverton and Beverly No. 1.

The games are to be rolled on Jack's bowling alleys, Burlington, beginning Friday night, March 2, after which games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights of each week.

A handsome loving cup will be the championship prize, while the high individual scorer will be presented with a gold piece.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

PYORRHOEA

During winter days, when more and heavier food is usually eaten—and with more to divert our minds into other channels, we are liable to neglect our teeth and gums. Pyorrhoea is one of the most common, as well as one of the more serious affections, furnishing as it does, a supply of infecting germs to many organs beneath. It should be prevented, if possible, by due sanitary precautions within the area involved, your dentist being always your advisory lieutenant.

Pyorrhoea means literally, a "flow of pus." Doesn't sound good about a fellow's mouth, does it? Pretty sure to infect the food he eats, and send it on down to the active absorbents of the intestine, for distribution into the system. A good many bodily disorders are credited to pyorrhoea, rheumatism being one, if we judge correctly.

The site of pyorrhoea is at the junction of the gums with the teeth. If you look critically, you will see the angry, inflamed borders of the gums, darker red and swollen appreciably. It is not a painful condition, but a little pressure on the gum will usually bring out the tell-tale discharge, and the diagnosis is easy.

Perfect cleanliness is the best preventive. There are numerous good mouth-washes to be had, and tooth brushes galore. Don't use your own judgment buying either medicine or brush; ask your dentist—then keep the gums and teeth clean.

Once with pyorrhoea, I cannot give you a technical remedy—but practically speaking, I have a friend who told me he cured his very severe case with common salt! He said he had it in its worst form; he was salting his cattle, and took a mouthful of salt himself to relieve a bad taste—held it in his mouth a half-hour; said he cured himself in one month, using salt daily.

OAKLAND—PONTIAC PLANT EXPANSION

New Oakland Assembly Almost Finished—Experimental Engineering Building Cost $850,000

The recent completion of a third assembly line in the Pontiac Six factory several weeks before schedule has rendered possible a further increase production of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes.

The contractors erecting the $3,000,000 new Oakland car assembly building have promised that the structure will be ready for occupancy on March 24. The transfer of machinery and equipment from the present assembly building will require about one week and the new assembly building will be in operation about April 1st.

Besides this gigantic project, the Oakland Motor Car Company also is doubling the size of its experimental engineering building. This addition to the present experimental engineering building will cost $350,000.

Summoned to Pay Fair Ground Stock

Was Issued to Finance K. K. K. Purchase of Land and Buildings

An order has been issued by Vice Chancellor Buchanan, in Trenton, requiring members of the Ku Klux Klan of Burlington county who have not paid amounts due on stock subscriptions for the purchase of the Mount Holly Fair ground, to show cause on March 20 why they should not make settlement.

The order was made on complaint of William Evans, of Marlton, against the Progressive League, Inc., which is the holding company for the Klansmen. The league was formed to buy the fair ground as headquarters for the Klan. Evans is an endorser on a note that was given to raise the money to buy the ground for about $30,000.

Evans started action in the Court of Chancery for the appointment of a receiver, the result being that Senator Clifford R. Powell was named to that position. At the instance of Evans, Senator Powell secured the show cause order under which an attempt will be made to force all subscribers to the project to pay up on their stock subscriptions.

Dr. Charles Street Mills, of Riverton, who brought about the revelation of the League's financial condition over a year ago when he made charges of mismanagement against the Klan leaders, says the subscribers will not only protest against making payment, but will refuse to do so. Such a situation would result in a bitter court controversy and probably disruption of the Klan in Burlington County.

Dr. Mills invested and lost $1,000 in the Mount Holly Fair grounds purchase. About 400 citizens hold stock in the enterprise. Nearly 200 Klansmen who bought stock in the League by subscription have failed to fulfill their obligations, and it is work in western states against these that the Chancery Court order is directed.

Dr. Mills, before withdrawing his membership in the Klan, went before a meeting of stockholders and made charges of mismanagement against James G. Bennett, then kleagle of the county klan and supervising principal of the Columbus public schools. Not long thereafter Bennett was ousted as head of the Kluxers and went to Delaware to continue Klan activities. He now is said to be engaged in similar work in western states.

Explains Income Tax and Motors

New Jersey Club Points Out Items Which May be Deducted

Deduction from the gross income allowed car owners under the regulations of the Bureau of Internal Revenue on account of automobile ownership and operation were outlined in a recent statement by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club in conjunction with the American Automobile Association today.

First, the car owner may deduct from his gross income all sums paid during the calendar year in the form of registration fees, drivers' licenses, state personal property taxes and municipal taxes.

Second, the gasoline tax may be deducted in all cases where it is a "consumers' tax" under the state law, but not where it is specifically enacted as a "distributors' tax." In New Jersey it is classified as a distributors' tax, and the distributor only is entitled to the deduction.

Third, the interest on money borrowed for the purchase of an automobile is deductible, irrespective of whether the car is used for business purposes or for pleasure. If the taxpayer keeps his accounts on a cash basis such interest will be deductible only for the year in which paid. If accounts are kept on an accrual basis, interest may be deducted as it accrues.

Fourth, if a passenger car is used wholly for business purposes, all expenses incident to maintenance, including depreciation at the rate of 20 per cent per annum, may be deducted. Where the car is used "chiefly," or more than 50 per cent for business and incidentally for pleasure, the expense may be deducted on a pro rata basis.

Loss by Damage

Fifth, loss sustained by reason of damage to a passenger automobile while being used for pleasure is deductible under a recent decision handed down by the Federal Board of Tax Appeals. The loss, however, must be an actual loss to the person claiming the deduction. In other words, if it is compensated for by insurance or otherwise, it is not deductible.

Sixth, the bureau has ruled that where a motorist paid damages for injury to a pedestrian, such amount is deductible, provided at the time the injury occurred the car was being used for business. It has never been called upon, however, to determine whether a fine paid by a motorist might be deducted as a business expense, where, at the time the expense was incurred, the car was being used for business or professional purposes.

The New Jersey Automobile Club, which is affiliated with the A. A. A. points out that in no case is the amount paid for an automobile allowed as a deduction for expense, regardless of whether it is used entirely for business. In the case of purchase by a farmer for strictly farm use, only the expense incident to operation is deductible, just as in the case of any other business or professional use.

How can a motorist determine whether or not he is entitled to the advantages set forth in the clause dealing with deduction of maintenance costs for cars used wholly for business? On this point the national motoring body says:

Purposes and Exemptions

"When a passenger automobile is used primarily for professional or business purposes, and incidentally for pleasure, ordinary expenditures for maintenance and repairs may be prorated according to use, and deducted, provided the car is used 'chiefly' in the pursuit of a business or profession. 'Chiefly' is interpreted by the bureau to mean more than fifty per cent. If business constitutes a minor usage and pleasure the major part, the expense can not be prorated or deducted. If the chief use is for business, the items of depreciation, gasoline, oil, repairs, chauffeur's salary, garage rent, as well as any other legitimate expense, may be prorated according to the usage and the portion applicable to business purposes deducted."

The Auto Club statement continues:

"Contrary to general belief, the federal war excise tax of three per cent on the wholesale value of new cars is not deductible. The regulations of the bureau provide that taxes imposed upon sales of automobiles by the manufacturers are not deductible by the individual purchaser, even though such taxes are billed to him.

"The bureau has heretofore recognized no gain or loss when automobiles used for either business or pleasure are traded in on new cars. This point is now in the hands of the general counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue for an interpretation."

A compliment always passes for more than its face value.

BORDENTOWN STEEL CO. IS DECLARED BANKRUPT

On a voluntary petition for bankruptcy, filed by H. E. White, president of the Bordentown Steel and Tube Company, the company has been adjudged defunct by Federal Judge Bodine, at Trenton. The petition puts the company's liabilities at $177,135 against assets of $141,853. A hearing will be held later before Referee Samuel D. Oliphant.

To the Officers and Stockholders of
The Palmyra Building and Loan Association,
Palmyra, N. J.

Gentlemen:—

We, the undersigned, Auditors of the Palmyra Building and Loan Association, have examined the books and records of the Association as of February 6th, 1928 and find them all in proper order and correct, according to records of the Secretary and Treasurer.

We have personally examined 1335 pass books of shareholders and notified 427 whose books were not available for personal examination. The number of books audited personally represent approximately 75 per cent of the total of books.

The records of the Secretary were all audited and examined and found to be correct.

The records and mortgages in possession of the Treasurer were examined and found to be in proper order.

We wish to express our appreciation of the able and willing assistance afforded us in our audit by the Secretary and Treasurer and wish to commend both these Officers in their efficient manner of keeping their records.

Signed:

Dr. Frank Crane Says

A school-teacher in one of Dickens' stories has a pupil study the spelling of botany and then go out and work in the garden.

Thus the spelling is impressed upon his mind.

He wasn't much of a school-teacher, but his idea was sound.

The best way to learn is to learn from doing.

All knowledge is connected with life. The way to learn a language is to connect every word with something you actually do or see. In other words, language is to be connected with life and not with literature.

There was a meeting the other day held in one of our cities to discuss the enabling of students to earn while learning. Representatives of forty-two States of the Union and one from Canada were present. Nicholas Ricciardi, President of the National Association of Vocational Education, said:

'Under the present system, students are taught various vocations, from watchmaking to hair dressing, during their high school terms. When they graduate from high school they are ready to hold a position. In junior college they are permitted to work at remunerative employment during the mornings and attend classes during the afternoon. They can continue their education on through college, and then their earning power will be sufficient to pay their expenses and enable them actually to save money."

This plan is already actually carried out at Antioch, a small college town in Ohio, where the business men cooperate with the college and the student works part of the time and studies part of the time. Thus while at Princeton the average yearly outlay of a son is estimated at $1,500, while at Antioch the average freshman needs only $400 besides his earnings.

The average weekly wage while pursuing these courses is $22 in the freshman year and $35 in the senior year. They complete the Antioch course in five years.

Thus the student has already learned the most important thing of all in an education, that is, how of take care of himself.

When a man works his way through college he appreciates what education he gets, just as a horse is healthy because he has to walk after every mouthful he eats.

Business men in every community ought to cooperate with the schools in assisting boys and girls to get a practical education.

LABOR SAVING MACHINES.

EMPLOYMENT FOR ALL.

THOMAS EDISON A YOUNG MAN.

17,000 YEARS FROM STONE AGE.

"If a drop of salt water could talk it would tell the whole story of the Pacific."

One Santa Fe freight train going through the Kansas City yards to Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas grain fields told the story of progress and prosperity in this country and promised a solution of its labor problem, aggravated by immigration restrictions.

That train of thirty-one cars carried $250,000 worth of "Combine Harvesters" and will soon be followed by a thousand carloads of those labor-saving machines. They cut grain, thresh it, pile up the straw, delivering the grain in sacks or by spout to miniature grain elevators. In Kansas last year they saved the work of 40,000 men.

Employment conditions are not satisfactory in New York State and Governor Smith instructs public officials to help "take up the slack" by putting men to work on public enterprises.

That should be, automatically, part of the National and State programmes.

A farmer finds something for his farm hands and his own hands to do in Winter, when crops are in. A good farmer keeps his horses at work, earning their keep in Winter, hauling wood or otherwise.

National and State governments, all needing roads, canals, drainage, all sorts of improvements, should find work for everybody willing to work, and at decent pay.

Thomas A. Edison says he is really 162 years old, because he has done two days' work every day of his eighty-one years.

He did ten thousand years' work when he changed man's lighting system from kerosene to electricity. His habit of working two days in one accounts for the fact that mentally he is forty, not eighty-one.

An active mind stays young in man or woman.

Women grow old prematurely because badly organized civilization gives them nothing to do except talk and dress when their children are grown.

Eskimos, within reach of civilization, sell their valuable furs to white traders and wear coats of leather and cheap, ready-made suits. They can sympathize with some farmers that sell cream and butter to cities and eat oleomargarine.

"Flaming youth," dancing, drinking or shooting worries other countries also. Lawyers from Japan, France and Britain are watching a Berlin murder trial. Hans Krantz, aged nineteen, helped his young friend, Scheller, and Scheller's sister, Hildegard, to pass an evening pleasantly with dancing, tobacco and much drink. Hildegard, only sixteen, smuggled a friend, Otto Stephan, into her bedroom, and Hans, attached to Hildegard, told the girl's brother he ought to kill Stephan. He did it, then killed himself.

The question is, did Krantz commit murder when he told his friend, "Avenge your sister's honor by killing the man"?

Americans talk today of many things—prosperity, politics, assorted crimes, sports.

News that will interest future generations is the fact that actual moving pictures of human beings were sent through the ether, without wires, across the Atlantic Ocean.

Human beings actually saw each other, separated by three thousand miles of water.

If that is done by a race only 17,000 years from the Stone Age, who can doubt that a million years hence our race will see pictures, coming through the ether, of life on other planets.

Mr. Bonfils, through his Denver Post, tells the world he wants "every family in the United States to own a home, automobile and radio," because "this would tremendously increase the happiness and prosperity of all our people."

It would have seemed preposterous in Rome to suggest that anybody but the Emperor and a few of the great should own a bathtub. There was serious protest against installing the first bathtub in the White House, on the ground that it was not democratic. The Bonfils trinity of comfort—home, automobile and radio—for every family will be realized, plus freedom from worry in old age, more important than the other three.

OUR MOTOR MOLOCH

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company estimates that motor vehicles last year killed more than 25,000 persons in the United States and injured at least 1,000,000 more. Since 1920, fatalities have increased 67 per cent. The situation is growing steadily worse. And the worst feature of all is that children between the ages of five and ten years furnish the major portion of the victims.

Here is a problem for each community to wrestle with, and one worthy of the strongest effort. Many, perhaps most, of the deaths were caused by carelessness, lack of proper precautions. Too many drivers and too many pedestrians are trying to beat the other fellow.

Industry has cut down materially the number of preventable accidents through safety campaigns of one kind or another and through applying common sense to remove certain dangers. Now the motor vehicle is demanding a greater toll of victims than the machinery of factories and mills. Something must be done to curb the appetite of the motor Moloch, and now is the time to start.

The office should seek the man, but if a man waited for it to seek him every morning he might have to go hungry.

Some one should see to it that the Democratic donkey gets new shoes before he's turned loose with all those Texas longhorns.

RIVERTON ITEMS

Percy Cromwell, of Rochester, New York, has returned to his home after spending several weeks in Riverton, studying at Dreer's Nursery.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. W. Field of Fourth street, were in Port Allegheny, Pa., the first of the week to attend the funeral of Mr. Fields' father, who was 81 years of age.

RIVERSIDE ACTS

Crusade to Get Rid of Ownerless Dogs Now in Full Swing

A war on stray dogs was started in Riverside on Monday, and will be continued throughout the year, in accordance with an order recently issued by the township committee.

All dog owners who do not have their pets licensed by the first of April will be subject to arrest, under an ordinance passed by the committee several months ago. All unlicensed dogs found running the streets will be gassed immediately, but the owners of licensed animals will be informed that their dogs have been caught. The purchase of a license in itself will not allow the owners to let the dog run the streets unmuzzled.

ROTARIANS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

isolated parts of our Country.

President Horace Finney, toastmaster of the evening, in commenting on the messages of Governor Schmucker and Hon. Edward James Cattell, expressed the Club's gratitude for their presence and for the exceedingly helpful lessons so vividly and practically illustrated, which will go down in the history of the Club as memories never to be forgotten.

President Finney extended Frank Snover and his entertainment committee, William Becker and "Curly" Mattis, the commendable expressions of the Club for their thorough "charge de affairs."

Directors Meet

The Board of Directors and Council met at the home of Frank Snover on Monday evening where business of great importance was discussed.

Among the coming events of interest to every Rotarian is the Inter-city Rotary Meeting to be held on Wednesday, March 14, at Moorestown.

On March 27 the newly organized "Burlington Countians, Inc" will hold a combined service club meeting in Burlington to which all Rotarians are urged to be present.

Evan Stover, the Secretary of the Club, was appointed delegate to the Minneapolis convention to be held in June. If possible, he will attend the convention and will be accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Low.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

On Thursday evening, March 1st, the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia, will give its second concert of the Third Annual Series in the Ball Room of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Miss Florence Haenle, violinist, will play the last movement of the Mendelssohn Concerto. Strawbridge and Clothier's Chorus will sing two numbers composed and conducted by Dr. Herbert J. Tily, as well as a group of unaccompanied songs.

The orchestra will play among other numbers the "Magic Flute" overture of Mozart and the "C" Major symphony of Shubert.

PROFESSOR ALLEY ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

that seeing truth just a little ahead of one's time is the same as being crazy, according to some people.

The professor described war as nations having a dispute and sending the best citizens to kill each other, and said that if we ever wanted peace half as much as we wanted money, we could have it.

The legislatures, courts and executives of the League are tools, and patriotic citizens are the workmen. The present tools are not perfect, but it is the first set. The greatest problem is the training of law-abiding citizens to use tools in the building of God's Temple of Peace.

Faith the Touchstone

Faith in the other workmen is absolutely necessary. Our country, as one of the neighbors, is vitally interested in the world neighborhood, but our position is different from that of England and the European countries.

The whole question of peace and how to attain it is so difficult that no one man can find an answer, but if all the world works together the right answer will be found.

Professor Alley desires that our country attend the world conferences and meet the rest of the world on a friendship basis. Leave ourselves free to withdraw any time we like, but make an earnest effort to master the world problem of living together amicably. If at the end of four or five years we have learned to approve of the plan of conferences, then we can join the League.

Why U. S. Did Not Join

After the address a question was asked "Why the United States would not join the World Court," and the answer was clearly given. Since its organization all of our Presidents have urged that our country join. A hearty welcome by the League was assured.

Four reservations, which would have been entirely agreeable to the League, was presented, and the fifth, which is keeping us out of the League, introduced by Senator Swanson, was seen by most of the Senators one day at 12 o'clock and that very afternoon became a part of what the United States would require to become a member.

The first four reservations had been thoroughly discussed the country over, the fifth so handled that no one could know of it.

The League met to consider the reservations requested by the United States, although our country would not attend, and four and one-half of the five requirements (or 80%) were agreed to, but our Senate did not yield the one-fifth. A good neighbor realizes that he is a neighbor and not the neighborhood, and we require wisdom and humbleness to be worthy to be guardians of this glorious country of ours.

A New Kind of Bravery

But the Professor is hopeful. He attended the meeting the day that Germany was being admitted into the League, and it was the representative of France who had asked the privilege of welcoming Germany, and he said that it was not necessary again for Germany to prove the bravery of their men on the battlefield, nor for France to prove its bravery in that way, but that the German and French people must prove their bravery in mastering the new way of peace.

The League of Women Voters is "An organization composed of women of all parties and creeds, which works for good government, good officials and good laws, through political education." Those who are interested are invited to join. The officers are: Mrs. Karl L. Zimmerman, president; Mrs. Sherman L. Warren, vice-president; Mrs. John G. Buehrer, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph T. Evans, secretary.

VITAPHONE CHARMS AT WALT WHITMAN

The "Vitaphone" section of the Walt Whitman program for this week is unusually attractive and offers a diversity of entertainment seldom found in an entire evening of vaudeville.

On this unusual program of features is found Roger Wolfe Kahn, the son of the noted philanthropist, Otto Kahn.

This remarkable young man enjoys the distinction of being the World's Youngest Orchestra Leader, Composer, and Proprietor of New York's "Million Dollar" Night Club. He is also a Victor Recording Artist and Radio Star.

For this appearance he is assisted by his own "Le Perroquet" Orchestra, and the William Sisters, late stars of George White's Scandals. Their program is speedy, modern and entertaining.

Another feature of this remarkable "Vitaphone" program is two of the country's most popular radio entertainers, "The Happiness Boys."

Billy Jones and Ernest Hare as they are sometimes known are probably the most popular radio stars of the day and they bring with them for this "Vitaphone" appearance a group of songs of a varied kind that will not only entertain their old friends of the radio but will make them many new ones.

They will live up to their name as they sure are "Happiness Boys."

Another "Vitaphone feature" will be the musical accompaniment to the feature picture on the same program. Monte Blue in "One Round Hogan," the musical accompaniment being by the Vitaphone Symphony Orchestra, is arranged and played exclusively for this particular picture, assuring a perfect musical setting, an all important factor in the enjoyment of a motion picture.

The Walt Whitman Theatre is the only theatre in South Jersey with the Vitaphone equipment and is proud of the fact that it can present through this medium perfect photoplays perfectly to the people of this community.

A little tulle,
A yard of silk;
A little skin
As white as milk.
A little strap—
How dare she breathe!
A little cough—
"Good evening, Eve!"

"Mummy, I can't go to school today."
"Why?"
"I don't feel well."
"Where don't you feel well?"
"In school."

Odd Fellows Enjoy "Washington Tea"

Eight Marthas But No George; Even Celebrated Hatchet is Present

The members of Cinnaminson Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 201 were not only glad that the Ladies' Auxiliary was connected with their Order Friday evening last, but they were only too pleased that there was born in this country, a statesman by the name of George Washington, whose birthday was to be celebrated.

In keeping with their established reputations of knowing how to entertain, the ladies staged a very novel "Washington Tea." Although it was quite strange that "George" was not present, and we cannot tell a lie, he was not among us although there were eight "Marthas" and perhaps that explains why "George" wasn't there. In fact the members of Cinnaminson Lodge were commencing to feel that through some error they were celebrating Solomon's" birthday instead of "The Father of the Country."

Eight Marthas

The Marthas' were impersonated by Mrs. Everett Wiggins, Mrs. Harry Curry, Mrs. Milton Jewett, Mrs. Herbert Richman, Mrs. Howard Elliott, Mrs. Albert Gorman, Mrs. Richard Woolman, Mrs. Eula Roach and Mrs. Edwin Fish. A program of games were entered into with the "Spirit of '76" and prizes were awarded to those of superior intellect.

The famous axe which has chopped its way into pages of history was revived and an effort made to place on it a new handle. There were many diverse opinions as to where this handle should be placed, but after much deliberation it finally reached its logical position.

All "Cut Up"

Many of the men really "got off the handle" because their suggested position was incorrect and many were actually all "cut up" about it.

The ladies rendered several double quartette numbers of the favorite songs of Washington's time and in their rendition presented such an attractive gathering that the gentlemen looked enviously back to the days of 1776.

The evening was a very successful one and was concluded by a very tasty repast.

Church Service

One of the largest delegations that has attended Church services for some time was that of Sunday evening last when Cinnaminson Lodge heard a very eloquent sermon preached by Brother Lockett in the Central Baptist Church. Let us keep up this spirit.

Harry Kemmerle is making a start for the prize of gold. He brought in an application last week. Don't let it stop here, Harry. And men, don't let Harry run away with the gold without a good fight.

GREAT DEBATE

Tonight Washington and Lincoln Champions Stage Hot Argument in Baptist Church

Tonight's the night! The resolution that Washington was a greater man than Lincoln is to be strenuously affirmed and denied—and then some, by the Baptist Church debaters. Indications are that a record attendance will crowd the church auditorium to be instructed and amused at the expense of the contestants.

Russell H. Stiles, William McConnell and the Rev. George Lockett have solemnly pledged themselves champions of Washington, while Lincoln's greatness will be defended by no less worthy counsel than Thomas C. Van Osten, Joseph S. Low and William Pickett.

Lincoln, who was a debater of no mean ability, was seldom called upon to point out finer distinctions than those involved in this question, and Washington, of whose character Irving said, "possessed fewer inequalities and a rarer union of virtues," could scarcely have carried through the perilous days of the Civil War with as masterly a hand and purpose as Lincoln's.

What the outcome of the debate will be only late tonight will know, but this prediction is certain, that, fully armed with information, both sides are determined to do their best.

SHOT AND SHELL

Last Saturday as usual the "birds" were flying thick and fast at the Community Gun Club. The club invites the public to use its facilities at no more cost than to a member. We sell you everything but a gun. If you haven't a gun, we will lend you one.

Next Saturday at 1.30 we will hold our annual Class Shoot, the big event of the year! Class yourself and win a fine prize.

Last Saturday Joe Stack was high with twenty-three targets, with Howard Hercker, Wilbur Bohs, Cad Shaffer, Mailman Denneler and H. Richman all hovering around the 20 mark.

Keep next Saturday afternoon open, come out and enjoy some real sport. Everyone welcome. Community Gun Club, Fork Landing Road. (Shaffer Farm).

Survey of All Schools in State Urged by Senator Arthur Pierson

Rapidly Mounting Costs of Education in New Jersey Raises Question of Efficiency of School Systems

A survey of public schools and the entire system of public instruction in New Jersey, as provided for in Senator Arthur Piersons resolution now pending in the legislature, was endorsed by J. Henry Harrison in an address at the annual banquet of the Third Ward Republican club of West Orange, held at the Hotel Suburban.

"Senator Pierson's proposal for such a survey," said Mr. Harrison, "follows the lines I suggested several months ago in speeches on the subject, and I hope that this resolution will pass and that the personnel of the commission to be appointed will be such as will assure a thorough survey.

"There is no disposition," declared Mr. Harrison, "To reduce the high standards established in New Jersey public schools; but questions are being asked whether we are getting adequate return for the money and effort expended and the sacrifice made by the loyal staffs of teachers and the public spirited citizens who serve on Boards of Education and other educational councils.

"Although in the ten years from 1917 to 1927, the total school enrollment in the public schools of Essex county increased only from 112,937 to 143,904, the amount raised by local taxation for school purposes increased from $4,000,000 to $16,000,000 and the amount of local school bonds outstanding increased from $16,315,000 to $40,283,000. In the same period Essex county's share of the railroad main stem tax and of the ten per cent. reserve fund decreased from $903,000 to $369,000, the result of legislative diversions for other purposes.

"According to the state superintendent of schools, it costs upwards of $83,000,000 last year for the operation of our public schools. This is $26.57 for every man, woman and child in the state, which must be raised by taxation. Distributed over the school attendance, it is an expenditure of more than $110 per pupil for the year, and this figure does not include the moneys appropriated for our several state vocational training schools, normal schools and Rutgers University.

More in High Schools

"More of our pupils are seeking larger opportunities for education beyond that afforded by the grammar and high schools. High school attendance has greatly increased and college attendance is everywhere greater. In Essex county in 1917 we had seventeen high school buildings valued at $4,517,000, and a high school enrollment of 9,777. In 1927 we had eighteen high school buildings valued at $11,488,000, and high school attendance of 18,904, an increase of nearly 100 percent. In high school attendance as compared with an increase of about 25 per cent. in general enrollment. There are no figures readily available to show how many high school graduates attend college after their graduation, or how many are prevented from doing so by lack of state facilities for higher education. It is essential to know these facts.

"And obviously, too, before we can make definite plans for taxes, revenues, or other support for a higher education program by the state we must decide upon the policy to be pursued. Do we want a single centralized state university or a number of colleges through the state receiving state aid directly, or do we want to enter into contractural relations with private institutions of higher education, providing scholarships paid for by the state? These are questions which have not been determined, and which cannot be intelligently determined without the facts that would be disclosed by such a survey as proposed by Senator Pierson.

"Former President Hadley of Yale University asserted a few years ago that education must be treated as a problem in political economy, where it is as essential to keep down costs as to keep up values. This rule should apply to our educational system. The public is interested in supporting public schools only as the education they provide prepares our young men and women to increase their value as citizens and as members of our social and industrial body. It is time we knew whether our state schools are meeting this test, and if not, why not? 'Society,' it has been said, 'is not concerned with what its members know, but with the use they can make of their knowledge.'

"It boils down to whether our school system is based on a practical, economic foundation, or is one which savors too much of emotionalism. A survey of the Newark schools has been ordered by the Board of Education of that city, to determine whether the $11,000,000 a year spent on the city's schools is being expended in the wisest possible manner, and bringing the utmost in returns. A survey of the entire state system of schools for the same purpose cannot but produce beneficial results."

Springtime

Winter now has gone away
With its chilling weather,
And the birds and flowers soon
Will come back together;
Gladdening all the sunny world
With the joy they're bringing,
As n'er earth redressed for spring,
Happy birds are singing.

Nature in her gayest gown,
Bids the springtime welcome;
While the hearts of all mankind,
Tender, grow and gladsome.
Cupid cannot keep away,
With the world rejoicing,
And the yearning of his heart,
He will soon be voicing:

For the sweet and balmy air
Seems to have some power
Of bewitching tender hearts;
And they feel the hour
Now has come for them to speak,
Telling all the yearning
That, through all the former months,
In their hearts, was burning.

Post Rodgers

The regular meeting of Post Frederick M. Rodgers No. 156 will be held Tuesday, March 6th, at the Legion Home. The meeting will be opened promptly at 7:45 p. m.

After the business the post will adjourn and go to the Palmyra Fire House where the meeting will be turned over to the entertainment committee, Carl Thomas being master of ceremonies.

No one wants to miss this meeting as it sure is going to be worth while as Carl has in store some real entertainment in the form of boxing, wrestling and fencing by the University of Pennsylvania's college teams. All the comrades are requested to show their appreciation of Carl's efforts by attending this meeting and if possible at the appointed time, 7.45 p. m.

The Burlington County Committee will pay its official visit to Post Rodgers on this meeting night, headed by County Commander W. Rex McCrosson. Vice-Commander Jack Whomsley and the 100 per cent County Adjutant "Ike" Collett.

The next regular monthly "stag" pinochle will be held in the Legion Home Friday, March 2nd, which is the Friday night preceding the regular Post meeting.

The Green Bill to extend the time limit in which veterans may apply for their bonus certificates has passed the House and is now in the Senate. If this Bill passes it means that the time limit will be January 2, 1930. Let's hope it passes as there is still about 550,000 veterans who have not received their certificates yet.

M. F. ELLIOTT

M. F. Elliott, 68 years old, died at his home, 9 Morgan avenue, Palmyra, Tuesday night. His death was the result of a stroke brought on through over-exertion in fighting a grass fire near his home last Wednesday.

The fire which started on a vacant lot on Garfield avenue was slowly eating its way toward the buildings on the property next to Elliott's, owned by Frederick C. Young. There was no one home in the Young property and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott undertook to put out the fire before it reached the buildings.

Mrs. Elliott called the fire department and joined her husband in fighting the fire. After considerable effort they had it under control but the exertion was too much for Mr. Elliott, causing him to suffer a stroke. He never regained consciousness and died Tuesday following.

The funeral will be private at 8.15 this Thursday evening. The Rev. Charles T. Bates will officiate. Friends may call from seven until eight o'clock. Interment will be at Newport, Pa., with Frank A. Snover in charge.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mary Mitchell Elliott, a brother and three sisters, James B. Elliott and Mrs. Cora Rolling, of Coral Gables, Florida, and Mrs. Edward Street and Mrs. M. Kirby of Baltimore, Md.

The deceased was in good health until the time of his stroke and had been employed as assistant to the president of the Diamond Specialties Company, of Philadelphia, for some time. Prior to this he was Superintendent of Plumbing for the Pennsylvania Railroad for 21 years with offices in Broad Street Station. He was the inventor of a special guage glass which is now on the market.

Charity not only begins at home but in most cases ends there, too.

Luck is the trump card played by a fool.

Lawson Robertson Olympic Speaker

Noted Track Coach to Attend Dinner at Community House, March 12

Plans for the collection of Burlington County's quota of the American Olympic Fund have been announced by Hans Froelicher, Jr., chairman of this district. Invitations have been issued to those prominently interested in sport, to be of active assistance in the work.

The list of those asked to participate is headed by four Burlington County Olympic heroes of past Olympic Games. J. Alfred LeConey, of the 1924 team, E. R. Bushnell, T. P. McLain and Edward A. Mechling, all of the 1900 team, are those who have contributed to the glory of America's participation in the games of the past. It is expected that the various Athletic Associations in the county and the Country Clubs will cooperate with the Committee.

The campaign will officially start on Monday, March 12, when the committee will meet for dinner in the Community House, Moorestown. John J. Flaherty, Jr., State Chairman is expected to be present and Lawson Robertson, head coach of the University of Pennsylvania track team and of the Olympic teams of 1924 and 1928 has accepted the Committee's invitation to be present.

The dinner will be followed by a Men's Night in the gymnasium of the Community House for the benefit of the Fund.

The entertainment will consist of a series of boxing matches between amateurs of this section and the male element of the public is cordially invited to attend.

The receipts of this entertainment will be turned over to the fund.

COMMUNITY WELFARE

As business conditions improve with the advent of Spring, we would ask that if you can give employment to any men, advise us at once in order that we can place some of the unemployed now on our list.

Those seeking employment would do well to list their names with us

WINKIES WIN

Palmyra Five Annexes 12th Straight Victory

"Winkies" Palmyra quintet won its twelfth straight game last Friday, defeating Trinity M. E., of Merchantville, on the latter's court. The final score was 32-29.

The Palmyra boys went into the lead at the very outset, holding a four-point advantage at half-time and ending up with a three-point margin although the church quintet made strenuous efforts to catch up with them.

Bright and Kalinowski were the outstanding scorers for Palmyra, while Bower and L. Cox led the Trinity attack.

BROWN—SPROUL

On February 11, a very pretty wedding took place when Miss Anna Sproul, of Camden, and Robert Brown, of Berkley avenue, Palmyra, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Kelly with nuptial mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Broadway and Ferry avenue, Camden.

The bride was given in marriage by the brother, James Sproul. She wore a gown of white crepe de chine and veil of old lace held in place with clusters of orange blossoms. Miss Emma Stonnacker, of Camden was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of Nile green crepe-de-chine and a picture hat, and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. James Owens, also of Camden, was best man.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Many beautiful gifts were received. The happy couple are making their home for the present with the bride's parents.

POOR LITTLE THING

A magazine said to be the national organ of the younger sets of some thirty-five American cities has just published an account of the passing of flapperism. The flapper, however, has been dead for some time. Poor little thing, she died, not of exposure, as some might think, but rather of lack of it.

The flapper began to fail when grandmother first bobbed her hair and lopped a couple of inches of cloth off the bottom of her skirts. From then on she languished and the final blow came when the accounts of her goings on caused people only to shrug their shoulders and say, "What of it?"

A demure, shy little girl is peeking from the wings. Soon she will trip modestly upon the stage so lately occupied by that brazen flapper.

But the flapper had her good points—and they were obvious. She has passed many of them along to the modest little girl who has taken her place. And in ten years or so, the flapper will be back with us. It was ever so.

Miss Frances Green will entertain at bridge this Thursday evening.

PALMYRA NOTES

The IOOF Auxiliary held its monthly luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Seemuller Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. R. Woolman, one of the members, was given a handkerchief shower in honor of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carroll attended the annual dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll, at Lianerch, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lorens, of Lincoln avenue, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Mahood, and daughter, Barbara, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Seel, of Maplewood, and Clifton Seel, of East Orange, spent Washington's Birthday with their parents in Palmyra.

Mrs. Raymond Yerkes, of Delaware avenue, entertained a number of guests Wednesday afternoon in celebration of the first birthday of her four-year-old daughter, Ruth Eleanor, who was born on the 29th of February, 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Alexander and son, of Oakmont, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilbraham on Sunday.

The S. S. S. was entertained Monday evening by Mrs. Clayton Griscom at the home of Mrs. George J. Seel. The birthdays of Mrs. J. R. Jermon and Miss Mattie Carpenter, members of the club, were celebrated, and a shower was given Mrs. C. W. Rudolph, also a member.

Mrs. Sarah Darnell, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Edward King attended the funeral of Jacob Powell, a cousin, at Mount Holly, on Monday.

Mrs. Mary Truxax, of Wildwood, is spending a week with Mrs. Joseph L. Stack.

Mrs. Clarence R. Fountain and granddaughter, of Parry avenue, have been visiting relatives in Bethlehem.

Marco Copeland, Warren street, Edgewater Park, was arrested Sunday morning by Officer Nelson Wallace and taken before Police Justice Fichter charged with drunken driving. The police physician, Dr. LeFevor, pronounced the man under the influence of liquor. He was fined $200 and had his license revoked for two years. Copeland was arrested as he was driving up Broad street minus one tire and zigzagging from one side of the street to the other.

George Ingram, of Parry avenue, entertained the Glee Club of the Samaritan Class at his home on Thursday evening last.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Company wish to thank everyone who donated prizes and assisted in making their card party such a huge success.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Y. Ingram, of Parry avenue, entertained Miss Clara Axis and Miss Marie Engle, of Camden, Sunday. Mrs. Ingram entertained several friends from Camden, Westmont and Palmyra at luncheon on Wednesday last.

Curtis Stavely has received contracts for the building of three new houses, and one garage.

Prof. Philip Vollmer is one of the seven instructors of the Leadership Training School at Camden, which opened February 27 for a course of twelve lessons.

Russell "Lena" Blackburne left Saturday morning for Louisiana, the spring training camp of the Chicago White Sox. Leonard R. Baker accompanied him and will spend a short time there before returning home.

Mrs. Edwin A. Griscom, of Horace avenue, is able to be out again after being confined to her home for a month suffering from a bad cold.

The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce Slogan Contest is causing great interest in the schools. Professor Griffith announced the terms of the contest as given him by the slogan committee of the Chamber of Commerce last week and already a number of snappy lines have been prepared. Cash prizes have been offered for the two best ones.

The stork paid its compliments last week to Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Thierolf, at 303 Leconey avenue, by leaving them a little son, William Russell.

A $50,000 fire damaged the building owned by the Varona Corporation, in Camden, last week. Thomas Van Oaten is president and Alfred Van Oaten secretary of the corporation.

COUNTY BALL STAR NOW IN BIG LEAGUE

Jeff Emerson, twenty-two years old Chatsworth rookie catcher, who is making his bow in big league baseball ranks with the Philadelphia Athletics, was included in the advance squad of fourteen which left for the spring training camp at Fort Myers, Fla., last week.

It will be ten days or two weeks before Emerson is able to take his regular turn behind the bat in the A's spring workouts; but when he does the Jersey lad will have the full use of his left hand and capable of catching the fastest ball thrown by any of the A's pitchers without feeling pain.

Emerson caught for the Vincentown club in the Burlington County League last year. He played a number of games with Earl Mack's All-Stars and was later signed for a trial with the Athletics.

WCTU Leaders in State Convention

Mrs. Nina G. Frantz Presides at Enthusiastic Session in State House

One of a series of state campaign conferences was held by the New Jersey Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the Assembly Room of the State House at Trenton last Friday, February 24. Delegations from every county in the state were in attendance. Mrs. Nina G. Frantz, of Moorestown, presided with her usual dignity and ability.

After the opening exercises, she delivered her keynote address, which set the standard of an unusually fine program.

Miss Ida Lillian Page spoke on "Why the Wets Want to Elect the Next President," and explained that by the important appointments which the President makes, one with wet proclivities could practically nullify the Eighteenth Amendment. The President of the United States makes some six thousand appointments, including judges of the Supreme Court, circuit and district judges and the attorney general and district attorneys, as well as the Secretary of the Treasury, who is in charge of the coast guard and other enforcement officers.

Miss Page also showed the danger of linking up a dry President with a wet Vice-President. She amused her audience by telling this story of President Coolidge. When he was offered a cocktail in Havana, during his recent visit, he seemed to be wholly absorbed in gazing at the scenery!

Practical Politics

The Rev. Wilbert Westcott, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Morristown, N. J., gave a stirring address on "Practical Politics." He reviewed the powerful position that had been held for so long by the liquor interests. Deeply entrenched in the social life of the people, protected by law, and representing millions of invested capital, they felt secure and untouchable; but what has happened? Their misrepresentations have been exposed, they are recognized as a foe to the best interests of society, and, in spite of their vast wealth and political power, they find themselves outlawed. They are now fighting in the last trench—that of abnormal appetite. A large majority of American citizens have reached the conclusion that "Prohibition is the best thing for the best country."

Mrs. Lillian F. Flickert, who has announced her candidacy as a dry for United States Senator, and Mrs. Miriam Lee Early Lippincott were also on the program.

The Rev. C. C. Woodruff, of East Orange, spoke of "Our Duty in Relation to Facts." He recommended a "policy of recollection," saying that we are in danger of forgetting what the conditions actually were in the days of the open saloon, when cases of extreme poverty and want were more numerous in this country than they are today. He closed with an appeal for all dry forces to pull together at the November elections.

Dr. Paulsen Speaks

Dr. Marna B. Paulsen's address was one of the best given during the conference. To those who say that the United States is "getting wetter every day" he would suggest an examination of the last four congresses. According to the figures, there is no getting around the fact that they have been growing steadily dryer and in thirty-five states a wet candidate has not even been nominated.

The closing speech was made by United States Senator Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan. He referred to the liquor business as being the most prolific cause of poverty, crime and disease.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted.

"Whereas Prohibition is the policy of the United States, incorporated in the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution; Be it resolved, That we pledge ourselves to carry out the provisions of the National Prohibition Act, to place enforcement in the hands of its undoubted friends, and so support such other legislation as may be necessary to obtain full benefit of the prohibition law."

COLD WEATHER HAS RUINED PEACH CROP

A short peach crop is predicted for Burlington county this year as the result of the zero and sub-zero temperature of January 30. Reports from growers in various sections of the county and inspections of orchards made by L. R. Smith, associate county farm agent, indicate that in some sections the loss will be practically 100 per cent., while in other districts it will range from fifty to seventy-five per cent.

In the Medford, Vincentown, and Indian Mills section, where temperatures of ten to sixteen degrees below zero were recorded, the buds on all of the peach trees examined were found to vary, severe loss having been sustained in orchards on low ground, while on higher ground the loss has been negligible.

The Mount Holly section reported considerable damage, but in Riverton, Riverside, and Burlington, growers found their trees practically uninjured. Cherries are said to have been slightly damaged by the cold spell, while apple tree buds were uninjured.

Freeholders In Short Session

Public Meeting Lasts But Few Minutes; Roads and Bridges Discussed

The public meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday was the shortest on record. It lasted about fifteen minutes.

The Public Service Electric and Gas Company was granted permission to install 64 poles on Church Road in Mount Laurel Township for the purpose of giving service to Emmor Roberts and his neighbors.

The Board was notified of the appointment of Arthur W. Kelly as court stenographer by Frank T. Lloyd, Supreme Court Justice at a salary of $7500 a year. Mr. Kelly acts in his official capacity in several counties, and the portion of his salary paid by Burlington County amounts to $1900.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $8,253.35; Bridges, $1393.45; Finance, $5843.77; Public Buildings, $13,451.97; Public Affairs, $4810.74. Total $28,523.28.

The Board recessed at 11.30 and went into executive session for the consideration of road and bridge conditions in the southern part of the county.

Freeholder J. Lloyd Wright was not present during the public meeting but arrived in time to participate in the executive session.

Contracts Awarded

At a special meeting of the board on February 16, contracts were awarded for road materials. Bids were opened at a session of the board on February 16, and were referred to the road department for inspection before the awards were made. The successful bidders are as follows:

Lignum binder, 35,000 gallons, applied to roads, Morris R. Young, Trenton, 13.4 cents per gallon.

Broken stone, 8,500 tons 1½ to 2½ inch, $1.35 per ton; 4,000 tons ¾ inch, $1.59 per ton, and 1,500 tons ½ inch, $1.64 per ton, Delaware River Quarry and Construction Co., Lamberville.

Slag, 3,000 tons half-inch size, Philadelphia Slag Co., $1.10 per ton.

Slow-curing oil, applied to roads, 350,000 gallons, Asphalt Service, Inc., New Brunswick, .0918 per gallon.

All bids for light and heavy tars were rejected and new bids will be asked. Thomas J. Barrett, of Bordentown, who was the lowest bidder, sent a letter to the board, stating that he made a mistake in his offer and requested that it be withdrawn. The board granted his request and then passed a resolution rejecting all bids.

Charges Follow Hainesport Vote

School Case Carried to Commissioner; Losers Make Various Allegations

The recent school election at Hainesport is now before the Commissioner of Education at Trenton on charges made by Frank H. Engle and Benjamin Green, two defeated candidates, that it was illegally conducted.

They complain that the names of the candidates on the ballots were not printed in alphabetical order and that there was no sitting by the designated official for the purpose of registering voters on the night before the election.

Engle is particularly interested in the order in which the names were printed. He was just four votes short on being elected and he claims that if his name had been placed at the top of the list, where it legally belonged, he would have been elected, as there are many people who vote for the first man on the ticket when they are not wholly familiar with the candidates.

It is expected that as a result of the ballot situation another election will be necessary. In explanation of her part in this mix-up, Mrs Mary Coxe Gaunt, the district clerk said:

Regarding the ballots, I asked that they should be printed in the order in which they were handed in and as I filed them. I realized that it was customary to arrange them alphabetically according to the surnames, but I did not know it was obligatory. At the general election in the fall I had noticed particularly that there was no attempt to place the names alphabetically, so I felt that I had a precedent.

"As District Clerk, no doubt, I should have known the ruling, but I felt in my ignorance that "first come first served" was a perfectly fair way to have the names printed. When I gave instructions to the printing office I asked if I might print the names in the order in which they were received. The answer was that it was customary to place them alphabetically, but no objection was raised when I said that I would like to make the change.

"The charge that I was not at the polling place the night before election is absolutely untrue."

ARTISANS

Most Excellent Officers Pay Visit to Palmyra Assembly

Palmyra Assembly Artisans Order of Mutual Protection was honored on its last meeting night, February 21, by a visit of the Most Excellent Master Artisan and the official staff of officers.

A message was given to the assembly by the following officers: M. E. Master Artisan William J. McCausland, M. E. Superintendent Herman F. C. Kramer, M. E. Inspector Dr. William J. Wray and M. E. Recorder Allen P. Cox.

As a special treat the Rev. George Lockett spoke on Washington and Lincoln. The meeting closed with the usual entertainment.

County "Y" News

Dinner Conference

This Saturday evening in the Parish House of the St. Andrew's Church, Mount Holly, a County-wide YMCA Leaders' Dinner Conference is being held. Besides the part on the program which will be taken by Secretaries Carter, Ergood and Hendry, Herbert L. Cochley of Medford will speak. For many years Mr. Cochley has been both a Leader and a member of the County YMCA Committee and now is Chairman of the Sub-committee of the County YMCA World Fellowship Program. He will discuss ways in which "Y" Groups may share in this. Other features of the program for this Conference will include a consideration of how to plan Group programs; games suitable for use in Group meetings will be demonstrated, and there will be a discussion on the principles of the YMCA—its work with young men and boys.

Meet at Bordentown

Following the regular schedule of meeting together the first Friday of each month, the County Secretaries from all over New Jersey will convene at the State Manual Training and Industrial School at Bordentown, March 2. At these monthly Conferences the Secretaries attend the Students' Chapel Service at 11:30, at which time this coming Friday Secretary M. M. Lewis of the Burlington County Staff will deliver the address. A special guest and speaker at this March Conference will be Professor Arthur L. Swift of Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Bridgeboro Board

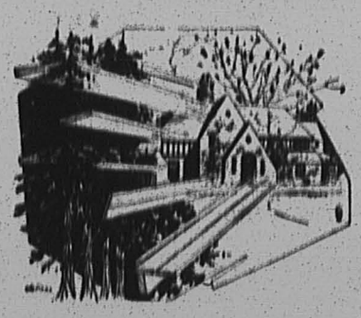

Members of the Bridgeboro YMCA Board held their February meeting Monday evening, February 27, at the YMCA Building in Palmyra. This group of men was interested in finding out what additional equipment they might add to their own building at Bridgeboro for the use and enjoyment of their own town boys. This visit was arranged at the suggestion of Secretary Arnold Carter.

Eagle Haines Has Group

Responding to the appeal of a large number of boys from Medford, Sheriff A. Engle Haines met this group Monday evening, February 27, at the YMCA Group room at Medford for the purpose of organizing them for a real program of activities for the weeks which are immediately ahead. Sheriff Haines' former experience as a Leader and the popularity he has enjoyed with other Groups will make it difficult to hold down the members to a good working number.

TAXES HIGH ENOUGH, SAYS COUNTY BOARD

Effort of State Officials to Increase Assessments Will Be Opposed

The Burlington County Board of Taxation has reported to the State Board, as a result of conferences held with assessors and others interested, that the proposed increase of 25 percent in assessments in Burlington county is not justified by present conditions and action along that line will not be taken by the County Board unless unavoidable pressure is brought to bear.

A short time ago the State Board notified the Burlington county officials that in order to equalize taxes this county would have to be increased at least 25 per cent, which would put it on a so-called 100 per cent basis. The matter was called to the attention of assessors and two conferences have been held in the county office in Mount Holly.

Some of the municipalities were represented by their solicitors. The assessors have said at these conferences that when they made their assessments as of last October they were on a 75 to 80 per cent basis. Since then the real estate market in the country has gone to pieces and the assessments made in October can very well now be considered 150 per cent on account of the declining valuations. The County Board accepted this as a fair representation of conditions and decided to so report to the State Board.

Nobody seems to understand just what a psychiatrist does and it is a little hard to tell except that in general he finds either for the defense or prosecution according to which side hires him, according to the recent evidence.

Seven Major By-Pass Highways Are Suggested in Planning Body's Report

Tri-State Federation Recommends Link in Pan-American Route Suggested by Coolidge; Others to Divert Through Traffic from the Congested Centers

Recommendations of the Regional Planning Federation for seven major by-pass highways—one a link in the Pan-American route urged by President Coolidge—to divert through traffic away from the conjested centres of cities in the Tri-State region of Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and thus to minimize traffic congestion throughout the section are revealed for the first time in a report made public by George Webster, vice president of the Federation and chairman of the highway committee whose survey of the region is the basis for these recommendations.

The report follows extensive study by the Highway Committee of the Federation under the chairmanship of Mr. Webster, who is a former chief engineer for the city of Philadelphia and member of the board of Engineers for the Delaware River Bridge Commission. The recommendations are made after close cooperation and consulation with the Highway Departments of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, portions of which states are included in the Tri-State Region.

The Highway Committee of the Regional Planning Federation of the Tri-State District includes in addition to Mr. Webster, the chairman, the following members: J. J. Albertson, county engineer for Camden county; J. H. M. Andrews, assistant to the president, Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company; John Irwin Bright, architect, Philadelphia; Thomas H. Culesworthy, county engineer for Chester county; A. F. Damon, civil and municipal engineer, Delaware county; J. Harvey Gillingham, former chief of the Bureau of Surveys, Philadelphia; B. A. Haldeman, former chief of the division of city planning, Pennsylvania State Bureau of Municipalities; Charles Henry Moon, civil and municipal engineer, Bucks county; Henry J. Sherman, civil and municipal engineer, Camden and Moorestown; J. Maxwell Smith, manager Keystone Automobile Club; E. B. Temple, chief engineer, eastern division of the Pennsylvania Railroad; and Russell VanNest Black, planning engineer of the Regional Planning Federation.

Seven Great Highways

"One of the seven great highways recommended," said Mr. Webster, "the major route would be a link in the proposed low gradient super-highway paralleling the Atlantic Coast from Florida to Maine already under contemplation and to be known as the Washington Boulevard. This road recently obtained strong endorsement in principle from President Coolidge in a speech before the Union League Club of Philadelphia.

Following are the highways recommended:

ROUTE No. 1.—A link in the proposed Washington Boulevard running from Maine to Florida and joining up with the proposed Pan-American route advocated by President Coolidge.

ROUTE No. 2.—Relief from the Lincoln Highway and routes to the South, by-passing Trenton, Philadelphia, Chester and Wilmington.

ROUTE No. 4.—A scenic and inter-park highway for the Tri-State region.

ROUTE No. 5.—An inner traffic loop using City Line Avenue, Philadelphia, and tying in the highways to the West and South.

ROUTE No. 6.—A highway along the Delaware river primarily for industrial use. New Jersey Program.

ROUTE No. 7.—An outer-circuit route around Camden, now in part on the New Jersey State Highway Commission's program for improvement as No. 8-41.

Of National Importance

"All seven of the routes suggested," said Mr. Webster, "are of sufficient magnitude to be classed as State Highways. Certain of them, particularly Route No. 1, are of great national importance and probably should receive national support in their acquisition and construction.

Mr. Webster pointed out that in the case of each of these roads, no matter how immediate its need, the first step toward realization will be the placing of the routes on the official plans of the various jurisdictions within which they fall. This, he explained, is definitely authorized by law in the State of Pennsylvania, and can be accomplished in effect in New Jersey and Delaware.

Route No. 1 would avoid built up areas as much as possible and for the most part follow new rights-of-way. Plans provide for an express roadway with few intersections and no direct grade crossings; and with local roadways on either side. Direct connections would be made from this highway in the various residential and industrial centers and chief points of interest along its route. It would be, in effect, the backbone of the highway system of the east coast of the United States, of vast importance to industry, trade and recreation and of great practical and strategic value in time of war as well as peace.

Lincoln Highway Relief

Route No. 2, giving relief for the Lincoln Highway and routes to the South, would follow existing rights-of-way for the greater part of its length. It would take off New Jersey Route No. 25 a short distance north of Bordentown; cross the Delaware River between Bordentown and Trenton, pick up the highways radiating from Trenton, and intersect the Lincoln Highway west of Neshaminy Falls.

Route No. 3: paralleling the river on the New Jersey side, affording a direct route of low gradient from New York to Philadelphia and Camden and around these centres to Delaware county, Wilmington and the South. It is route 25-44, as included in the New Jersey State Highway Plan, and enters the region from the north at Hightstown. By-passing Hightstown, Bordentown and Burlington it would follow a direct course to Camden. The congested center of Camden would be avoided by passing over the Crescent Boulevard now under construction. From Camden the route is planned to follow the Crown Point Road southward along the Delaware River, crossing the river by ferries at Bridgeport to Chester (proposed); Pennsgrove to Wilmington; and Pennsville to Wilmington; and Pennsville to New Castle.

Route No. 4 would be a scenic and inter-park highway taking a leisurely course around the more densely populated areas, generally following creek valleys and connecting up some of the existing and proposed parts of the region and points of historic and scenic interest. This highway, virtually a parkway and designed primarily for pleasure traffic, would begin at Wilmington.

Inner Traffic Loop

Route No. 5 would be an inner traffic loop using City Line Avenue, Philadelphia. From the west end of City Line Avenue this route would turn southeasterly along the Radnor and Darby Road or some parallel route, existing or yet to be built, tying in with some highways to the west and south. From the east end of City Line Avenue it would cross the Schuylkill river by the new high-level bridge to Allegheny Avenue extended, thence along Allegheny Avenue, Hunting Park Avenue, Roosevelt Boulevard and Levick Street to Tacony-Palmyra Bridge now under construction.

Route No. 6, a river route primarily for industrial use, is planned to follow existing or planned thoroughfares for the greater part of its length. Through Philadelphia it would use Delaware Avenue southward, connecting through Pattison Avenue and Penrose Avenue with the proposed industrial highway now authorized by Act of Assembly to connect Philadelphia and Chester with a further extension to Wilmington. Northward it contemplates the extension of Delaware Avenue to Bristol, Morrisville and Trenton. This route would form a great marginal way for commercial transportation service along the harbor from Wilmington to Trenton.

Route No. 7, an outer circuit route around Camden, would start at Bridgeport, connecting with the proposed Chester Ferry and circle Camden, largely over existing rights-of-way, via Mullica Hill Glassboro, Cross Keys, Berlin Marlton and Moorestown, coming back to the main State Highway along the river at Bridgeboro.

HEALTH AND PROFIT FOUND IN GARDEN

It is natural at this time of the year that the thoughts of men, women, and children turn gardenward. For the garden contributes to the pleasure of the home and all who live in it from earliest spring until late in fall.

What an added zest there is to all vegetables when they are grown in one's own garden; starting with the earliest of radishes and continuing with the many vegetables which can be so readily stored for winter use. Home-grown vegetables not only taste better, but they are far more profitable. Seed costs very little and the slight amount of care required is well repaid not only in the results secured, but also in the pleasure that there is in this wholesome outdoor recreation.

Throughout this locality there are very few homes indeed that are not surrounded with sufficient ground not only for a vegetable garden, but also for flower beds, the blooms from which from spring until late fall add brightness and color outside and provide wonderful bouquets for inside the home. Of course, a most important factor is to plant good seed for it does not pay to plan and cultivate, only to have results disappointing because the seed was not bought from a firm which was thoroughly reliable.

As a guide to garden lovers in the selection of good seeds and as a source of valuable information on how to get the best results, the 184 page illustrated catalogue of "Michell's Seed House," 518 Market street, Philadelphia is of value to any reader of this paper. This book is instructive and helpful, and includes everything needful for your garden from seeds, bulbs, or plants of all sorts, to inexpensive garden tools and implements, fertilizers, insecticides, poultry supplies, etc.

Do not forget to write today to Michell's Seed House, 518 Market street, Philadelphia, mentioning this paper and they will mail you a copy of this interesting catalogue.

About 1,000 valentines passed through the Mount Holly post office last week.

Walter L. Allen, of Pointville, has an ewe that has given birth to seventeen lambs in three years and nine months—twins once, triplets once, and a quartette three times. Great township, that New Hanover.

Passenger business on the Amboy Division of the United Railroads of New Jersey is exceedingly dull at present, and engineers and firemen are given two days' vacation each month in order that all may be kept on the payrolls.

Citizens receive with pleasure notice from the Mount Holly Gas Company of a reduction in the price of gas from $4 to $3 per 1,000 feet. The Mount Holly Water Company also has decided to reduce rates the ensuing year. Kitchen taps that heretofore ranged from $6 to $11 a year (mostly $8 to $10) hereafter will be uniform at $8; bath tubs $5 instead of $6. Other taps remain as before.

Kills 64 Pigs

David C. Wall, near New Egypt, killed his crop of 64 pigs last week, which averaged 268⅛ pounds. This crop was sold to S. S. Hill, of Trenton, at 6¼ cents per pound.

A letter dropped in the Moorestown post office last week was marked "In haste; no hurry."

At a session of Rancocas Lyceum on Thursday night there was a discussion on the Tariff. Dr. Janney, a strong protectionist, spoke in favor of a tariff and backed his arguments with a lot of statistics. Charles Stokes, Jr., in reply, argued that a protective tariff is not consistent with a republican form of government. These two men monopolized all the time, so it was decided to give others a chance to debate at the next session of the Lyceum.

PERCALES

Percales with the new Pongee finish and the many new and dainty designs has given this fabric an added charm and the low price of 25c a yd. for a 36-inch cloth has made it doubly attractive. It has many uses, being suitable for house dresses, children's dresses, aprons, etc.

Gas for House Heating Answers Today's Demand for Ease and Comfort

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, when the woman of fashion went to drive in cold weather, a heated soap stone or other foot warmer was placed in her carriage. Today the least pretentious automobile of the closed car type is automatically heated and changes in temperature do not affect the comfort of its occupants.

Just as science, at today's demand for comfort and convenience, has made the automobile comfortable in all weathers, so has the scientific application of gas made possible an advance in house heating undreamed of a short time ago.

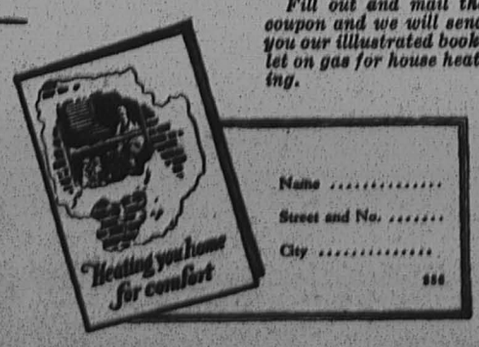

Formerly the quality of the heating apparatus you purchased was your first consideration. Now the service you are to receive is all that need concern you—for the gas boiler or furnace will last as long as pipes and radiators. There is little to get out of order and Public Service will inspect and regulate your gas house heating equipment at regular intervals, without charge.

Gas is an easily controlled fuel and lends itself so well to thermostatic control that the owner of a gas furnace need visit his heating plant only a few times in a season. The uniform dependable temperature maintained throughout the home, the absence of work or care in operation and general convenience make gas house heating something that everyone should have.

Gas is the safest fuel for house heating and the cleanest. The supply is not subject to "shortages" and it may be paid for after it is used.

Fill out and mail the coupon and we will send you our illustrated booklet on gas for house heating.

To investigate house heating costs you nothing, while the results may mean the difference between comfort and discomfort in your home.

Crowd Enjoys New Orthophonic

Community House Gymnasium Packed as Dedication Program is Presented

Fully 600 people enjoyed the demonstration of the marvelous Auditorium Orthophonic at the Moorestown Community House last (Tuesday) evening as the dedication program was presented.

The large crowd, which filled every available chair in the gymnasium, packed the balcony and filled the hallway back to the Woman's Club Room, was deeply impressed with the performance of this gigantic talking machine and each number was given splendid applause.

From the throat of this masterpiece, a combination of the Orthophonic Victrola and a high powered Radiola, came the amplified voice of brilliant singers, the strains of famous orchestras and the resounding notes of a huge pipe organ. The record program was followed by an excellent demonstration of the radio's work.

There was not a person in the audience who did not fully appreciate the full value of this splendid gift from Mrs. Eldridge Reeves Johnson. And everyone was quick to realize that once more the generosity of the Johnsons has given Moorestown benefits that no other community of its size could possibly enjoy. The gift of the Community House was almost unbelievable and to follow it with the presentation of such a remarkable instrument as this $6000 Orthophonic seems almost a dream.

Perkins in Charge

E. Russell Perkins, president of the Community House Association, was in charge of the dedication program and was ably assisted by Charles Wolff, of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Elsa Koop, a very charming member of the Victor Company's Red Seal Record Promotional Department, announced the numbers. A Victor engineer operated the Orthophonic.

Although rendering its music with absolute fidelity of tone, without distortion, the music of the Orthophonic could be heard distinctly throughout the Community House.

Installed to make possible the presentation of the voices and music of the world's most famous singers and musicians, the new invention will be the means of presenting daily programs of wide variety, and almost unlimited scope.

The great instrument is a duplicate of the Auditorium Orthophonic Victrola which caused so much comment at the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial Exposition last year. One of them was mounted on top of the vast stadium, and its music reached almost every corner of the vast exposition tract. One one occasion it provided music for an audience of about 200,000 people. Another was installed in the United States Government exhibit.

Shore Demonstration

An interesting test to show the capacities of the instrument was conducted at Atlantic City last fall, when an installation on the deck of a yacht, anchored half a mile offshore, entertained boardwalk crowds throughout the national bathing beauty pageant.

The instrument at the Community House is the first to be installed in this section, and one of the first in the country. It is also identical with the one which provides daily programs in the social hall of the ocean liner Leviathan.

The dedication program included "His Honor the Mayor," a march; "Billy Boy," sung by Frank Cumit; "Remember My Love," by Marimbo Centro Americans; "Kiss Me Again" a Victor Herbert number; Schubert's "Moment Musicale," an orchestral number; "Falling in Love With You," pipe organ and piano; "Old Black Joe," by Lawrence Tibbitt and male quartet; "O Susanna."

Victor engineers who directed the installation of the instrument stated that it is ideally placed from an acoustical standpoint. It is elevated about eighteen feet above the ground level, in such a way that its tones can be heard through the Community House to the best advantage.

Community House Swimmers Jolted

Germantown "Y" Literally Sinks Seniors; Juniors Look Good, in Defeat

Last Tuesday, February 21, the Moorestown Community House swimming team, went to Germantown to compete with the Germantown Y. M. C. A. The senior team was defeated by the score of 41 to 12 the juniors by the score of 29 to 23. The senior team was, as has been the case lately, defeated very badly, as the score indicates. The juniors on the other hand, are getting better all the time and are confident they will turn in a victory next Tuesday evening against Germantown in the return meet at Community House pool.

The relay team composed of Cooper, Richie, Downie and H. Roberts lost a very hard fought match, the time was very fast for the 75-foot pool at Germantown of 56 seconds. The relay is fastest event and usually the most interesting. The relay team is going to be changed in order to make it faster.

The senior relay team lost in a most discouraging fashion due to the fact that a junior, H. Roberts, had to swim. The three others were Platt, "Ed" Roberts and Miller. Several very promising men have been lined up and they will try out for the third place.

In the diving event the juniors won through Buddy Paulson gaining first place, displaying some of the best form seen for quite some time, still better due to the fact that his optional dives were of low point value. Bill Richie took third place doing his dives well, but not quite up to the mark of the other divers. The senior divers fell down but they may be expected to do much better next week. "Ed" Platt took third place and "Ed" Roberts placed fourth.

The "50 free" was, in the junior event, won by H. Roberts and Downie came in second.

Before giving advice a wise man prepares to dodge the consequences.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Every member and friend of First Lutheran Church will want to be present at our Lenten mid-week service Thursday evening, March 1, at eight o'clock, when Dr. S. D. Daugherty, will be with us. Several months ago we were much saddened to hear of the break in health which Dr. Daugherty experienced, but feel thankful at this time that God has blessed him with a return of strength.

Those who know Dr. Daugherty will need little urging to be present, but to those who have not had the privilege of knowing or hearing this man of God, we would especially enjoin to be present this Thursday evening, March 1. But we should also turn out to greet him out of gratitude for what he has done for us in establishing an institution of our Lutheran faith in this vicinity.

We most cordially invite all residents of our towns to attend these special Lenten services, when speakers of prominence are being brought into the pulpit. From each of them you will hear a broad, message of the love and power of Jesus Christ, a message far above any detail of sectarianism.

Our church needs that vim and newness of life which characterized the institution when it was first organized. This man of God, perhaps better than any other man, can bring that spirit back to us and enable each and every one to go on with more cheer and confidence, because he rekindled sacred memories of great things done in the past.

We are also delighted to report that Miss Amy Mitton will render a soprano solo. There will be special musical features from time to time, as well as good congregational singing of the old familiar hymns.

Catechetical instruction class on Friday evening at seven o'clock. All desiring to be confirmed this coming Palm Sunday, will be required to attend the class regularly, as we have very few periods remaining, in which to cover a vast amount of teaching material.

Sunday School at ten in the morning. Lesson: "Jesus and the Twelve". Golden Text: "Go ye unto all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

Divine worship at 11.15 a. m. with special music by our First Lutheran Choir and sermon by the pastor on the theme "The Hands of Jesus."

Luther League at 6.45: "Topic: "What is It in Jesus which Attracts Young People?" Mrs. W. M. Erhard is leader.

Vespers at 7.45 with anthem by choir and short meditation by the pastor.

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

The morning service of worship of Calvary Presbyterian Church will be held as usual at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 8 o'clock, with a special service of worship in music at 7.45, with Robert M Martin at the organ. The pastor will preach at both services.

All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 o'clock, including the two Bible Classes. The Men's Bible Class will meet in the Social Hall of the Church.

The Christian Endeavor Society invites all members of the congregation to attend their service at 7 o'clock in the Church School auditorium.

On Monday evening, March 5th, at eight o'clock the men of the Church and their friends will meet in the Social Hall to hear the report of the Committee on Organization. All the men of the congregation are urged to attend.

The mid-week service will be held at eight o'clock Wednesday, March 7, in the Church School auditorium.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its Annual Meeting on Wednesday, March 7th at 2 o'clock in the Church School auditorium. Please notice the change of hour. There will be the election of officers and the collection of dues. The Women's Missionary Society will meet the same day at 3 o'clock. All ladies of th congregation are urged to attend both meetings.

The Golden Hour Circle will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Church Parlour.

BUS BURNS

One of the Worth buses was destroyed by fire Sunday night on River road near Cove road. The bus had been sent to take passengers from another machine which had broken down and was carrying no passengers when it caught fire.

The gasoline tank exploded and before anything could be done the machine was a mass of flames. The fire company was notified but before it arrived the fire had gained such headway as to make it impossible to save the bus.

The Englishman's record of 207 miles an hour in an automobile will probably stand, but we'll swear some drivers have passed us on a dirt road going faster than that.

We desire to record our high appreciation of the very helpful services rendered by local newspapers. Their columns are always open to us and this means much in these days when publicity is so essential. We extend to the editors and staffs our sincere and hearty thanks.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

This afternoon Mrs. Rapp, 819 Parry avenue, will entertain the Ladies of the Philathea Class.

Indications are that a very large attendance will crowd the church tonight to hear the debate on Lincoln and Washington. Every one present will undoubtedly know a great deal more about both great men by the time the debaters are through. Be there!

The BYPU meeting tomorrow night (Friday) will be in charge of Miss Irene Snelson. Subject—"Why Should We Study Missions," Mark 16: 15-18.

On Sunday morning the Communion service will be observed.

The pastor's Sunday sermons will be as follows: Morning, "The Faith of Jesus"; in the evening the topic will be "The Race of Life."

The pastor's class for boys and girls, contemplating uniting with the church on Easter, meets on Friday evenings at 7 o'clock.

A big March social event will be the St. Patrick's Day Supper on March 17th in the church under the auspices of the Baraca Class. Irish jokes and general good humor will intersperse the courses.

Give me facts! So says the practical man. There are all sorts of facts, biological, astronomical, mental etc., etc. Sometimes this so called practical man is inclined to overlook one of the greatest of all facts; that of religion. Longfellow made a deep study of the American Indian, discovered the facts and placed upon those facts his own interpretation

"Ye whose hearts are fresh and simple
Who have faith in God and Nature,
Who believe, that in all ages
Every human heart is human,
That in even savage bosoms
There are longings, yearnings strivings
For the good they comprehend not,
That the feeble hands and helpless,
Groping blindly in the darkness,
Touch God's right hand in that darkness
And are lifted up and strengthened.

Any sincere effort to find God will always find God's right hand stretched forth to touch and grasp.

The facts of religion are of the utmost importance to you dear reader, incomparably more important than any other facts in which you may be interested, and Lent is a very wonderful opportunity to get a first hand knowledge of these facts. Seize the opportunity!

A very wonderful service and a most inspiring talk by Bishop Knight marked the service on Sunday afternoon last, when ten candidates were received by Confirmation into full fellowship with the Holy Catholic Apostic Church. Theirs now to serve Him in joyful service till life shall end. Last year's class has been wonderfully faithful. May the class of 1928 do as well.

The visit of Bishop Matthews to address the Girls Friendly Society has been postponed on account of the Bishop's illness. We hope for his speedy recovery.

The regular meeting of the Guild of St. Agnes will be held on Monday evening at 8 p. m. sharp.

The Rev. R. E. Brestell of St. Paul's Church, Camden, will be the preacher on Wednesday, at 8 p. m.

The Sunday evening service will feature the musical offering the choir so acceptably render on this first Sunday of the month.

A very splendid meeting of the Men's Club was held the fourth Monday evening of the month. Ask the members!

RIVERTON BOARD PROTESTS WATER BILL AS EXCESSIVE

Committee Appointed to Confer With Officials of Company to Secure Better Rate

RAILROAD TAXES BEING DIVERTED FROM SCHOOLS

When a bill from the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company amounting to $94.75 for five months water rent, October to February inclusive, was read at the meeting of the Riverton Board of Education last Monday evening, Francis B. Elwell objected to its payment on the ground that it was excessive, being approximately double the amount charged for a similar period last year.

Fred P. Hemphill, district clerk, said he thought it was unfair to hold the Water company up any longer, that the money was due them and it should be paid. The bill, he said, was correct under the new rates allowed by the Public Utilities Commission.

A proposition to pay the bill under protest also failed to meet the approval of Mr. Hemphill who claimed it would do no good to protest. Then it was suggested that the matter be taken up with the Public Utilities, but again Mr. Hemphill said this would be futile, as he had been in conference with the secretary of that body, who declared that the commission would not interfere until the end of the year, (next October) for which time the new rate had been granted.

Objects to Conference

Mr. Hemphill said that the bills had been discussed among the members of the Board without getting anywhere, and suggested that a conference be held with the Water Company to give them a chance to present their side of the matter. However, when Mr. Elwell offered a motion that a committee be appointed to meet with the Water Company and try to secure a more reasonable rate, Mr. Hemphill voted against the motion. Harry Davis, the retiring member of the board, voted with Mr. Hemphill.

Mr. Elwell's motion was as follows: "That payment of the bills of the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company presented at this meeting be deferred and that the president appoint a committee to negotiate with the company for a better rate." The motion was passed by the following vote: Yes--Warren, Mattis, Elwell and Mrs. Mayfield. No--Hemphill and Davis.

Elwell Heads Committee

President Boyer appointed Mr. Elwell a committee of one to confer with the Company, but on his request added Ross Mattis to the committee. Mr. Boyer also suggested that Mr. Hemphill serve on the committee representing the opposition, but Mr. Hemphill declined.

Last year the school was given a rate of 20c per thousand gallons. Under the new schedule the rate is 40c, which, with the reduced minimum and increased service charge makes the bills approximately double or a little more.

While the water rates were being discussed one of the members stated that a neighbor had been charged nearly $20 this year as against $3.54 for a corresponding period last year.

On motion of Mr. Hemphill the Mount Zion A. M. E. Church of Riverton was granted permission to use the auditorium for a religious meeting Sunday afternoon, April 1. Mr. Hemphill also reported that the Riverton Athletic Association had asked for the use of the basement as a dressing room for the home team and visiting teams during the football and baseball seasons. The permission was granted with an understanding that there would be proper supervision to insure everything being left in good shape, and subject to a satisfactory arrangement with the janitor.

Railroad Tax Diverted

President Boyer called the attention of members of the board to the fact that the railroad tax collected by the State was being used for other purposes than the maintenance of the public schools, for which it was originally levied. Some of the channels into which these funds have been diverted are as follows: Supplemental appropriations to the Commissioner of Education, Glassboro Normal School, Trenton Normal School, New Jersey School for the Deaf, M. T. & L. S. for Colored Youth. Rutger's College got $120,000, and an additional sum of $12,000, and the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund has been given $3,000,000 for 1929.

All of these drains on the railroad tax fund leaves but $1,089,040.71 to be distributed among the counties this year. When the money collected as railroad tax became available for school purposes in 1907, the county allotment was 72% of the total. This year it has dwindled to 14%.

Resolution of Protest

In view of these facts Mr. Boyer prepared and Mr. Elwell presented the following resolution:

"Whereas, it appears that the railroad tax is being diverted to an extent not intended when such tax was levied, be it

"Resolved, by the Board of Education of the Borough of Riverton in meeting assembled this 5th day of March, 1928, that it go on record as opposing the diverting of the railroad tax to other purposes than that for which it was intended—the support of the public schools; and be it further

"Resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Senator and Assemblyman from Burlington County."

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Cinnaminson Lodge in District Meeting

Odd Fellows Have Inspiring Session, Graced by Grand Officers

What proved to be a very inspiring gathering was that of the District meeting of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows held Friday evening last, in the Lodge Room of Cinnaminson 201, Palmyra.

These meetings which are being held periodically at the suggestion of Charles Letzgus, Grand Master of New Jersey, are being so conducted as to encourage the work of Odd Fellowship.

It was gratifying both to Grand Master Letzgus, who was present on this occasion, and also to Cinnaminson Lodge, when reports from the various lodges in this district were received to find that No. 201 is "Keeping up with the Jones."

Grand Secretary Harry Pine, of Trenton gave a very fine report of the activities of the lodges throughout the State, showing a great increase in interest and membership despite the present economic conditions of the country.

District Deputy Grand Master William Horace McConnell, of Amity Lodge, Merchantville, and a fine representation of that Lodge, was again present and gave his usual impetus to the meeting.

Delegations from Burlington, Beverly, Bridgeboro and Moorestown were also numbered among the visitors.

Cinnaminson Lodge celebrated the occasion by having two applications for membership presented, one recommended by Noble Grand Edwin Fish and the other by Milton Jewett. These candidates, now making three in all, will receive the initiatory degree on Friday evening of this week. Degree Master Jewett wants to see every member on the team present and in his place ready for action.

It's a good start—just keep on going and see who will win the "pot of gold."

As a fitting conclusion of a very enjoyable evening, the Ladies' Auxiliary served refreshments, thus stimulating the social side of the affair.

McCAMY TO ADDRESS PALMYRA C. of C.

Water Rates Also Will be Discussed at Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular meeting in the Legion Hall Tuesday of next week. At this time the report of the Utility Committee will be made and further action on the water question will be discussed.

The Riverton Chamber of Commerce has arranged a meeting to discuss the water situation and has invited the Palmyra Chamber to attend. The meeting will be held Thursday, March 15.

William A. McCamy, cashier of the Palmyra National Bank, will deliver an adrdess on "Banking and Its Relationship to the Community," at Tuesday's meeting.

YM MINSTRELS

Tickets Nearly Sold Out for Big Production March 30 and 31

The final stage in the preparation of the great Palmyra-Riverton YMCA Minstrel show is well under way, with enthusiasm at its highest point among the boys.

The endmen are meeting regularly for practice and now have their parts committed to memory.

The circle-men are so well prepared that they could present the show tonight if necessary, and the men in the various skits are sure that their part of the show will not fall down.

James Crawford will be the interlocutor for the first part of the show, assisted by James Davidson, Walter Price, Henry Wilbraham, Thomas Price, Jack Siddall, and Arthur Poinsett as endmen.

The second part of the show will be made up of four or five short blackface skits and comedies.

While enjoying yourself you will also be supporting the boys in these twin towns in their effort to put on a worth-while production for your entertainment.

Tickets may be secured from any YMCA group member or by calling Riverton 1019 and having them delivered to you.

Adults, 50 cents and children 35 cents. The place is the P. O. S. of A. Hall in Palmyra on the evenings of March 30 and 31 at 8 o'clock sharp.

P. O. S. of A.

On Monday night, March 12th, Camp 23, of Palmyra, will discuss the diversion of the main stem R. R tax fund.

This matter affects the pocket nerve of every member and a large turnout should appear to get valuable information.

Twenty-two years ago this fund amounted to three million five hundred thousand dollars, from which the school system recovered two million five hundred thousand dollars; receipts for the last fiscal year were nine million six hundred fifty thousand dollars and the schools were given only one million three hundred seventy five thousand dollars.

It is predicted that in 1929 there will be no money left in this fund for school purposes and we must expect a sharp raise in the local tax rate.

President Saar appointed a new entertainment committee for the term and Brothers Branson, Marshall and John White promise something interesting.

The quoit victors from White Horse are expected at an early date. Griscom and Coombs promise to do them up.

Publicity Committee.

George and Abe End Big Debate

Two Great Fathers of United States Appear on Scene at Baptist Church

Was Washington a greater man than Lincoln? This question was discussed in the Central Baptist Church Thursday evening last.

On the affirmative side, Russell H. Stiles presented Washington as one who had the difficult task of beginning the Republic, forming the Constitution, giving it the right start and that today Washington's words are respected and followed in the government policies.

William McConnell showed the skill of Washington as a military leader, a man who gave up everything for his Country and one who sacrificed himself.

The Rev. George Lockett presented another feature of Washington, stating that all his ancestors were Royalists and that Washington's brother was in the English Navy and Washington could have been the English Governor of America had he desired to remain loyal to the King. The army of the colonists offered to make him king and Washington had to overcome the greatest handicap, namely; wealth, position and luxury.

Thomas C. Van Osten told of Lincoln's standing alone on so many great issues and told of his love for mankind and how his life was one of suffering and hardship.

Joseph S. Low presented Lincoln as a very unselfish man who placed himself on the Altar of Liberty.

Joe Seel, Pat Steedie and Frank Johnson were the judges and the timekeeper was Captain Bond. After due consideration the judges returned with the verdict and were praising the works of Lincoln when George Washington walked down the aisle of the Church. This embarrassed the judges and they began to extol Washington when Abraham Lincoln walked down the aisle. Both were then placed under the American and Christian flags on the platform and with their hands clasped they stood beneath the flags while the audience sang the Star Spangled Banner.

It was a very inspiring ending to a splendid debate.

BURGLAR PROOF

The burglar proof vault which is being installed in the new home of the Cinnaminson Bank & Trust Company is of most modern construction in every detail. It is seven feet eight inches high, twelve feet long and eight feet wide and is constructed of twenty inch concrete, re-inforced with steel bars every six inches, and lined with half inch steel plate.

The vault door which is circular and has a total thickness of ten inches weighs, together with its casing, eighteen tons. It has four time locks and is being made and installed by the York Safe and Lock Company of York, Pa.

The vault contains five hundred and six lock boxes and four steel money chests for the banks own use, which are separated from the lock boxes by steel grill work. The book vault is in the rear of the main vault and separated by a twenty inch wall of re-inforced concrete.

There are storage vaults in the basement.

The O. B. McClintock Company, of Milwaukee, is installing in the vault a sound wave burglar alarm system.

EMMA L. ARMSTRONG

Emma L. Armstrong, 64-years-old, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Margaret Strabel, 717 Cinnaminson street, Riverton, on Friday, March 2.

Services were held at her late residence Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Charles T. Bates officiating. Interment was made at Morgan Cemetery with Frank A. Snover in charge.

In order to forecast the weather with a reasonable degree of accuracy all you have to do is predict anything you don't expect.

WATER RATES PROTESTED

Riverton Chamber of Commerce Will Call Public Meeting to Plan Defense

WILL JOIN PALMYRA IN FIGHT ON INCREASE

A meeting of the board of directors of the Riverton Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening to consider what steps could be taken to secure relief from the charges made for the use of water by the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company under the new rates.

It was decided to hold a public meeting in Collins' Hall, Thursday evening, March 15, to which citizens of Riverton and Cinnaminson township are invited. At that time Ralph S. Rivers, of Palmyra, who recently appeared before the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce, will present facts and figures bearing on the subject.

Members of the governing bodies of Riverton and Cinnaminson township, and the borough of Palmyra and the president of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce will be especially invited. Representatives of the water company will also be asked to be present.

The dissatisfaction over the amounts charged under the new rates is so widespread that they have become the chief source of conversation since the last bills were sent out. The increases are said to range anywhere from a slight raise to two or three hundred per cent.

It is understood that some of the residents of Palmyra have solved the problem by sinking their own wells and installing a pump and storage tank.

The rates now in effect were approved by the Public Utilities Commission last October on the representation of the water company that a greater revenue was necessary in order to pay satisfactory return on the money invested. At that time no serious attempt was made by the governing bodies of the municipalities effected to prevent the company's request from being granted, the feeling on the part of the consumer being that the water company was entitled to a fair profit on its investment, and if it was not getting it under the old rates, a slight increase was warranted.

When the new rates were put into effect, however, and users of water found what they had been let in for, the protest assumed the proportions of a howl.

It is hoped that by a concerted effort the water company may be induced to moderate the charges before the expiration of the year for which the new rates were granted.

"HER STEP-HUSBAND"

Everything is "All Set" for the Presentation of "Her Step-Husband"

That's what the teachers of the Cinnaminson School had to decide.

Money had to be had for the Dental Clinic. Contributions sufficient to pay for the equipment had been donated but this was only the beginning. Teeth must be filled and cleaned and extracted and treated. All this would take time and time costs money especially when an expert dentist is employed. So money they must have. But how?

"Well, a play is always fun," sugests someone. That's the idea. A play! So a play it is to be—March 16th and 17th in the school auditorium. Don't miss it. It's worth the 50 cents admission to get three hours of laughs. Come and see how a husband who really isn't a husband acts when a really true husband is around. Only the caste is expected to become hysterical but in case the audience grows unsettled during the thunder and lightning storm and anyone should faint, he can be quietly removed in the patrol, so do not let such a possibility keep anyone away. You will be perfectly safe throughout the performance with Officer Shea to guard the assembly. He comes from Ireland and so of course is handy with the shillalah. If you think you have troubles of your own, come and see what real trouble is by watching Mary get herself out of one scrape into another.

Every ticket you buy will help to keep you in good humor.

Every ticket sold helps fill a tooth.

School buses will be available for transportation.

Curtain.....8.15.

RIVERTON FIREMEN

Active Program for Coming Season Planned

On Friday evening, March 2nd the active members of the Riverton Fire Department held a meeting to lay plans for the coming season. A Stag Card Party was planned for Tuesday evening, March 13th. Men come out and bring your old pipe. They also planned a movie benefit to be held at some future date.

Chief Armstrong made a strong plea to the knockers of the organization. You know we all have them. If they would all come out and pull together they wouldn't have any time to knock.

There was quite a discussion about a new fire house. This would not merely a fire house, but a building which Riverton could well be proud of, and one which is needed badly in the borough. The Fire Company plans to build such a building some day soon. We have now one of the poorest fire houses in Burlington county. Do we want this?

Committee.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation of the many kindnesses extended to us during our recent bereavement.

Geo. Strahle, and Family.

A Statement

The Camden Courier of March 7, published erroneous statements about the Riverton Athletic Association public meeting Tuesday evening. It was not a Baseball Rally. The meeting was held for the purpose of furthering any worthwhile civic project that would be for the general good of our town, and all athletic sports as deemed to be best for the general good and amusement of our citizens and visiting public, and in particular to foster and promote athletic contests among the young boys and girls.

No arrangements have been made to have Eddie Williams' Ocean City baseball team this coming season, nor have we collected $4,000 to use in baseball as an advertisement of our town.

Report of Riverton Shade Commission

Resume of Work Done Last 2 Years; Plans for 1928 Outlined

The Shade Tree Commission would like to submit for the benefit of the residents of Riverton, the following report of their operation on the Borough's trees for the years 1926 and 1927.

They have employed the Davey Tree Expert Company to do the trimming and supervise the removal of trees where necessary.

In 1926 the following work was done:

On Thomas and Linden avenues there were pruned and trimmed the following trees: 60 Sugar Maples, 64 Norway Maples, 3 Pin Oaks, 6 Lindens, 58 Elms, 1 Tulip Poplar, 3 Honey Locusts and topped 15 Silver Maples.

On Main street there were pruned and topped: 46 Silver Maples, 12 Red Maples, 2 Sugar Maples.

During the year we cut down and removed the stumps, principally on Main street, and one or two side-streets: 23 Silver Maples, 5 Sugar Maples.

In 1927 the following work was done:

Pruned and topped silver maples on Lippincott avenue, 53; pruned—Norway Maples, 23; Elms, 3; Tulips, 8; Sugar Maples, 17; Box Elders, 2; Horse Chestnut, 1; Black Walnut, 1.

Pruned and topped silver maples on Second street, 9; Pruned—Sugar Maples, 3; Norway Maples, 1; Ash, 1.

Removed (grubbed) 5 silver maples on Lippincott avenue; Pruned and topped 3 silver maples on Penn street; Cut to ground level 4 Carolina poplars on Elm avenue below Fourth street; Removed (grubbed) 6 Carolina poplars on Fourth street between Cinnaminson and Fulton; Removed (grubbed) 4 Silver maples on Fourth street between Main and Penn streets.

It is proposed in 1928 to trim the balance of the trees on Howard street, Broad street, and Elm avenue. When this work is done, the Commission will have gone over examined and pruned or removed where necessary, all of the trees on the river side of the railroad, and when that work is finished, we propose to start in on the attention of trees on the east side of the railroad.

We desire to call attention of the residents of the Borough to the fact that all street trees, whether just inside the sidewalk, or on the outside of the side-walk, belong to the Borough; under the law, the residents are not permitted to either trim or remove these trees without permission of the Commission. Certain violations of this law have occurred from time to time, probably through ignorance of the law.

Respectfully submitted,
SHADE TREE COMMISSION.
J. S. Coale, President.
February 27, 1928.

K. C. INITIATION

Big Crowd Witnesses Degree Work at St. Joseph's

Last Tuesday night, the largest gathering of local and visiting members of the K. of C. that ever witnessed a first degree in the headquarters of St. Joseph's Council, Palmyra, received the new members of the council and listened to interesting talks by visiting officers.

Headed by Grand Knight Nicholson and his staff of officers, forty members of San Domingo Council, of Philadelphia, helped in the ceremonies and added to the entertainment after the meeting.

Short talks by the visiting Grand Knight, also Chancellor Doughtery, of San Domingo, and District Deputy Krause, of Camden, were greatly enjoyed by the new and old members.

Those who received the first degree honors are: Paul Ahrendt, Paul Glick, Francis Braun, George Haslam, James McDermott, Philip Armitage, Arthur Carr, Patrick Boyle and Herbert Schneider.

Another class of candidates is being formed and in the near future will also receive their initial degree.

PORCH CLUB NEWS

On Tuesday, March 13th the annual trip will be made to the exhibition of the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia. At one thirty it is planned to take luncheon at the Tally Ho Inn. Porch Club members wishing to join this party must notify Mrs. Murray C. Boyer, telephone 99-R before Monday, March 12, as reservations must be made in advance for luncheon. Mrs. Boyer will meet the group at the Academy at 11 a. m.

Good Showing by City Water Plant

Merchantville May Point Way to Relief to Overcharged Water Users Here

The first extensive report of the Merchantville-Pensauken Township Joint Water Commission submitted to Merchantville Borough Council indicates that the commission is optimistic regarding municipal ownership.

The report shows a balance of net revenue at the end of 1927 of $64,390 for the retirement of bonds. On or before June 30 each municipal governing body is to receive of this balance $27,000 for the retirement of bonds that will have matured, and the remainder will be used, with future earnings, to meet the payment of bonds as they mature.

In closing its summary, the commission states that it cannot hope for so large a return in the next few years, because the plant is no longer providing Collingswood with water, and the general condition of real estate development will affect its income. It points, however, to net annual earnings of more than 7½ per cent, which it believes indicates an advantage of municipal ownership. The loss of Collingswood as a customer, the commission believes, would have warranted a privately owned water company seeking an increase of rates from consumers.

The net earnings per annum averaged $113,140 after all operating expenses and other deductions had been made. The additional investment during eighteen months amounted to $227,530 in physical properties. The total assets are now valued at $1,794,506.

NOT WORTH BUS

Machine Destroyed by Fire Belonged to Narberth Man

An item in this paper last week stated that a bus owned by the Worth Motor Bus Corporation, was destroyed by fire on the River road, near Cove road. This has been found to be erroneous.

A bus was destroyed and was the same make as those operated by the Worth Corporation, but was owned by Vincent Marianna, of Narberth, Pa, and was being operated by Luciana Richilugo, 25, of the same place. What started the fire has not been determined, and as no water was available, the vehicle was totally destroyed. North Merchantville and Delaware Gardens fire company responded.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Ladies' Auxiliary K. of C. Plan Entertainment and Dance

Arrangements for the celebration of St. Patrick's Day, are under way by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Council, in the form of a combination entertainment and dance.

Partially completed plans, as announced by Miss Mae Burns, who is chairlady of the committee, call for two lucky number door prizes, each a gold coin, four acts of vaudeville each with the touch of "Old Erin" and special musical numbers of Irish melodies.

Decorations of the interior of the hall will be of many color combinations, with, of course, green prevailing.

Many special prizes for dance numbers will also be offered and an orchestra of six pieces will supply ample music for this attractive affair.

The date of March 17 which happens to fall on Saturday is the time set for this entertaining event and the committees are making their plans to accomodate a large crowd.

Assisting Miss Burns in handling this entertainment and dance are Mrs. Sanford, Miss Jane Doughtery, Mrs. George Butler, Miss Margaret Casey, Miss Elizabeth Doughtery, Miss Catherine Brennan and Miss Margaret Escheman.

JOHN MONTGOMERY

John Montgomery, 57-years-old, husband of Katie A. Montgomery, died at his home, 632 Garfield avenue, Palmyra, on Friday of last week.

Services were held Monday at the Snover Funeral Home with the Rev. Mr. Bates and the Rev. Mr. MacCormack officiating. Interment was made at Mt. Moriah Cemetery, Philadelphia.

HOUSES RANSACKED

The first floor of Herbert Dinge's home was ransacked last Thursday night. Entrance was gained through a window in the rear of the Dinge home. A train ticket, fountain pens and some money for tickets sold for "Her Step-Husband" was taken.

The home of Nathan Conrow on the Burlington Pike was also entered and generally upset. Money and food seemed to be what the intruders were looking for as that is all they took.

STRESS VALUE OF ATHLETICS

Character Building and Development of Americanism Benefitted by Athletics

TOWNSMEN PLEDGE THEIR SUPPORT

If the shades of the men who made Riverton famous in the world of sports a generation ago could have returned to their favored haunts last Tuesday night it would have warmed the cockles of their hearts to see what was taking place in Collins Hall, where more than a hundred of the most progressive and forward-looking townsmen had assembled with a single purpose—that of reviving Riverton's past splendor in the realm of athletics.

The room had been tastefully decorated by Walter G. Miller, and the meeting was presided over by R. H. Stackhouse, president and one of the most enthusiastic workers of the Riverton Athletic Association, under the auspices of which the citizens had been called together.

In briefly outlining the origin and purposes of the association Mr. Stackhouse said that it had been started a few months ago with a membership of thirteen, which had now grown to fifty, with a waiting list. The chairman stressed the fact that the association was organized to promote not only baseball and football, but all kinds of sports, and, in addition, pledged itself to the support of any movement for the civic betterment of Riverton.

An effort would be made, the speaker said, to have good teams on the field at Memorial Park, but that most of all it was planned to develop and encourage a proper love for and appreciation of the value of sports among the boys of the town.

To Look After Boys

A Junior Committee had been appointed, composed of James Knapp, Walter C. Wright and Robert C. Ayres, who will divide the town into four zones and arrange a series of league games between the teams from the various districts. This committee is already functioning and a rally to get the boys together has been arranged.

Mr. Stackhouse said attempts had been made in the past to develop home teams, without much success. Last year an effort was made but the boys did not seem to warm up to it—he didn't know whether they were too busy learning to drive automobiles, or preferred to go into the city and see a "big game," but he was confident that if Riverton was ever to stage a comback in the world of sports it would have to be through inculcating in the minds of the boys of the town a love for athletics for its own sake, such as inspired the men who made Riverton famous years ago. The town boys will be given a chance again this year.

Training In Manliness

But the big thing in it all, Mr. Stackhouse said, was the good that it works to the boys and to the townspeople by the training in manliness, fair play and cooperation through the development of the principles and ideals of true sportsmanship. While an effort will be made to put on the field this year teams that will play such games as it will be a delight to see, the thought will always be kept uppermost that these players are ideals in sports set before the youth of the town as examples, and they will be required to conduct themselves in such manner as to make this example a worthy one.

In speaking of the development of Memorial Park Mr. Stackhouse pointed out that 56 children had been killed by automobiles in New Jersey in 1927. Commissioner Dill had said that something must be done to check this criminal waste of young lives, and strongly urged towns to provide places where children could play in safety, free from the constant menace of the streets. In Memorial Park Riverton has an ideal place which should be developed as a play centre as rapidly as possible.

Last year the operating expenses of the association were about $2200. To carry out the program outlined for this year will cost in the neighborhood of $4000. Of this sum approximately $2000 will be collected on the grounds, leaving $2000 to be raised by popular subscription. It is planned to call on every home in town so that everyone will have an opportunity to take part in the work of the association.

Sports and the Individual

Fletcher W. Stites, Philadelphia attorney and former State Senator in Pennsylvania, was the first speaker. He recalled the days when he lived in Cape May and played on the team there against the Riverton boys, and pointed out Riverton's rich background of tradition in the world of sports. At that time Jack McFetridge pitched for Riverton.

Nowhere, said Mr. Stites, is there so great an opportunity for the betterment of the individual as in the field of sports. Selfish, self-centered men cannot win in athletics, he said; it is playing the game for the game's sake that makes for success. He urged the citizens of Riverton to back the association to the limit in its work for sports and for the boys of the town.

Berry on Americanism

J. Howard ("Nig") Berry, former all-round athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, related something of the days when he got his start in baseball in Riverton. He told of what he had gotten out of sports and pointed out the responsibility of the men of today in the matter of giving the youngsters a chance to an all-round development, mentally, morally and physically--in which sports have an important place.

Powell for Civil Service Ripper

Burlington County Senator Votes for Camden Politicians' Job Grab

State Senator Clifford R. Powell, of Burlington County, was one of the eleven senators who passed the Abel Civil Service Ripper in the Senate at Trenton Monday evening by a vote of 11 to 5. The line up was as follows:

Yes—Abell, Morris; Davis, Gloucester; Forsyth, Camden; McAllister, Cumberland; Powell, Burlington; Prall, Hunterdon; Read, Cape May; Reeves, Mercer; Richards, Atlantic; Stiles, Salem and Yates, Passaic.

No—Carhart, Warren; Mackey, Bergen; Simpson, Hudson; Stevens, Monmouth, Wolber, Essex.

Not voting—Cole, Sussex; Pierson, Union; Larson, Middlesex; Case, Somerset.

Heated attacks by members of both parties failed to break the line of regulars pledged to the measure through the series of intrigues engineered by the Camden Republican Organization.

The manner of the bill's passage indicated the ways had been well greased.

The fight produced one surprise, but at the same time tended to bear out reports of a last-minute deal between David Baird, Jr., and supporters of Hamilton Kean.

Baird Deal Rumored

During the day Baird was in conference with Kean leaders, and the report soon was out that the Camden leaders threatened to withdraw his expected support of Kean in the senatorial race unless the measure on which he has staked everything was enacted.

Confirmation of this report was seen when the ripper came up in the Senate for action. To the surprise of many, Senator Yates, Passaic, not only approved the bill but carried on an active fight for it on the floor. The Passaic delegation is naturally against the bill but ardent for Kean.

Senators Abell, sponsor of the bill, and Forsyth, sponsor of Senate No. 10, the measure's predecessor, joined Yates in urging adoption of the measure.

Senators Mackey, Republican, and Simpson, Democrat, attacked it bitterly.

"We certainly have reached a strange time when the Senate majority becomes so drunk with power that its leaders will sponsor such a measure," exclaimed Simpson.

Camden's Hungry Sheep

"This bill is an attack upon the whole structure of Civil Service. You cannot camouflage it. It is intended to pacify the Camden political machine Like Milton's "The hungry sheep looked up and were not fed,' so the Camden machine's workers are looking for jobs and are not getting them.

"The thing is a carbuncle on good government. Hearings on the bill showed the tremendous opposition by war veterans and civil servants. The hisses of mobs in the gallery, interested more in getting jobs than in good government, cannot disguise the purpose of the measure.

"Voters of Camden hereby are deprived of voice in a edifice they worked to achieve. It's a three-card legislative trick. The bill will throw the entire state and municipal employment situation into chaos."

Simpson went on to charge that votes for the bill had been obtained by political intrigues engineered by Baird and the Camden organization. He pointed to the recent "white-washing" of James McDonald in a probe of the Hudson county election bureau by a state Republican committee delegation led by Board.

Mackey Opposes Bill

Mackey declared he always opposed the bill and always opposed any attempt to meddle with Civil Service, but also was prompt in backing his Republican colleague Yates in denying charges of a political deal to put the bill across.

"After sitting through a public hearing on this bill," Mackey said, "I became convinced more than ever that no good purpose can be served by it."

The galleries, packed in anticipation of a bitter fight, furnished the first demonstration of the present session of the Legislature. Simpson was applauded vigorously in defiance of Senate rules and Mackey was greeted with mild hand clapping.

Baird was one of the few outsiders on the floor of the Senate. He stood directly behind Senator Forsyth, but departed immediately after the vote gave him assurance that his work had not been in vain.

The reported deal by which Baird obtained the support of the up-state Kean supporters took place during the afternoon in a local hotel. Those present were Enoch Johnson, Atlantic county chieftain; John McCutcheon, Passaic, Kean's right-hand man, and Charles Johnson, Union.

BAPTISTS CALL PASTOR

At a congregational meeting of the members of the Mount Holly First Baptist Church last week, at which one hundred and eighteen members were present, the Rev. M. R. Palmer, of the Calvary Baptist Church, Harrisburg, Pa., was called to the pastorate of the Mount Holly Church, which has been without a pastor for several weeks, or since the resignation of the Rev. M. M. Lewis was accepted.

It is well to make a good beginning—and it is also well to remember that the end is what determines everything.

MT. HOLLY BARS MARRIED WOMEN TEACHERS

A notice posted on the bulletin boards of the Mount Holly schools has caused quite a stir among the members of the teaching staffs, although only three and possibly four are affected under their present status.

The announcement, which is by order of the Northampton Board of Education, states that henceforth no married women will be employed under contract to teach in the Mt. Holly schools; nor will any married woman, not under tenure, be retained after the expiration of her present contract.

Although this action was taken by the Board of Education in January it was decided not to make it public until notice had been posted, which by order of the Board was not done by District Clerk William H. Mason until last week.

Palmyra School Notes

The following pupils in the Commercial Department on their first transcription of letters taken at the rate of 100 words per minute made 100%: Edwin Fisher, Ethel McCord, Sarah McKee and Ruth Winkelspecht.

Announcement has just been received at the school of Dr. Harold J. Winkelspecht's opening his new office for the practice of Dentistry at the corner of Warren and Cooper streets in Beverly. Harold is a graduate of the Palmyra High School, class of 1923.

Recently the Dean of Swarthmore wrote to a parent of one of the pupils in our high school who is applying for admission to Swarthmore as follows: "I am glad your son is coming from Palmyra High School. Pupils from there have always done very creditable work in our college."

Mr. Miller, of Philadelphia, who did the make-up for the cast of the senior play says in a letter recently received, "It gives me real pleasure to operate at Palmyra because there is no confusion and you hold a good discipline. Some schools are a bedlam." Mr. Miller has done the make-up for both the Senior and the Junior plays for several years. He never fails to express his appreciation of the favorable conditions under which he works. Since Mr. Miller has nothing to gain either by giving or withholding his comments, we feel that they are sincere. Certainly they are gratifying to us.

Professor Seay of Rider College, Trenton, talked to the pupils of the high school last Friday morning at assembly on the subject, "You Must Keep the Pace." Everyone who heard him was very much pleased. A delightful speaker, he was entertaining, earnest, and instructive. His main theme was advice to the pupils of the high school to stay in school until they have completed their full four-year course, obey the laws, apply themselves to their work and make good in what they are doing in order to meet the problems of life after leaving school. As a whole, it was a fine talk containing most excellent advice.

The winners of the Better Speech Contest in the Grammar School were as follows: 8th grade, First Helen Young with 15 cards; Honorable mention, Olga Probsting with 10 cards. 7th Grade, First, Florence Bauer with 12 cards; Honorable mention, Jane McMahon with 9 cards.

The School Nurse, Miss Olwell, has moved her clinic from Broad street, to the Delaware Avenue School and beginning Wednesday March 7, clinics will be held in this place.

It's up to a man to sit down and contemplate a standing offer.

Urge Cooperation in Town Zoning

Edgewater Park League Renews Suggestion of Combined Action in County

The Edgewater Park Township Voters League has written to the officials of all the 39 municipalities in Burlington County the following letter:

Dear Sirs:

Within the next thirty days the Legislature of the State of New Jersey will pass a Zoning law giving to the legally organized municipalities of the State the right to zone, and setting forth in detail the procedure for zoning.

The Edgewater Park Township Voters League has given some preliminary study to the matter of zoning, and it has been found that in order to zone a community in the most efficient and workable manner, it is necessary and advisable to have maps prepared and also secure the services of experienced zoning engineers to give unbiased recommendations. The cost of these maps and engineering services is exceedingly expensive, and the probabilities are that very few, if any, of the thirty-nine municipalities in Burlington County could by themselves afford the expense of such a procedure.

At the request of the Township Committee of Edgewater Park Township, we are suggesting to you that it would be a most satisfactory and expeditious move for all the men of our County to work together in securing the services of zoning engineers and map makers and in working out our zoning problems. Among other things this would promote the following desirable results:

All our communities would be zoned at the same time, and we would not have the condition existing in other states where certain communities have been zoned, and others bounding them have done nothing and probably will do nothing for many years.

It is apparent that great savings can be effected by all the communities by acting together, and at the same time procure the services of the best possible engineers, etc.

Communities situated next to one another would be zoned in a coordinated manner, and there would be no decided break in zoning policies at the community boundary lines.

Immediately following the adoption of the zoning legislation we shall again communicate with you the idea of carrying the above into effect, and a joint meeting of all our men will be arranged. In the meanwhile the officers of the Edgewater Park Township Voters League will communicate with various zoning engineers and map makers and have preliminary reports and estimates prepared.

Very truly yours,
EDGEWATER PARK TOWNSHIP VOTERS LEAGUE,
E. Howard Frazier,
Secretary.

It is almost as difficult to hide a cought as it is to hide love.

PIANI SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Man Who Killed Mrs. Isobel James Shedaker Arraigned Before Justice Lloyd

Fred Piani, of New York, who shot Mrs. Isobel James Shedaker to death on the River road on the afternoon of December 20, does not consider himself guilty of the crime according to his plea when arraigned before Justice Frank T. Lloyd in the Burlington County Court, Mount Holly, Friday.

Piani is now in the Burlington County jail, Mount Holly. He was taken there from Burlington County Hospital where he was treated for a self-inflicted pistol wound. Since he has been in jail Piani has tried a hunger strike but his appetite failed him after three days.

According to report Piani had been friendly with the Shedaker woman and was driven into a shooting rage when repulsed. He followed her to her home in an automobile and shot her along theroadway.

Pedestrians Urged to Help Cut Down Accidents to Those Afoot

There have been altogether too many accidents in which pedestrians walking along the road at night have been the victims. It is an easy matter for any automobilist to understand how these accidents occur; but evidently, persons who are not in the habit of driving an automobile do not realize the danger to which they expose themselves when they walk on the righthand side of the road at night.

The man walking on the right side of the road has his back to the traffic which also uses that half of the road. Even under ordinary circumstances it is a difficult to see a man who is dressed in dark clothing, on a dark country road. But if a car with blindg headlights is approaching fromthe opposite direction, it is almost impossible.

The pedestrian does not realize this. He is being flooded with light from both directions, and probably thinks that he stands out like the Washington Monument, when as a matter of fact, the bright lights of the other fellow's machine practically neutralize the headlights of each of the cars. Feeling that he is safe, and with his back to the car on his side of the road, the pedestrian makes no attempt to dodge—and only too frequently gets forcibly knocked out of the way by the car. If he was walking on the left-hand side of the road, his face is more likely to reflect the glare of the headlights than the back of his coat— and even if the driver does not see him, he can see how far over on the road the approaching car is—and dodge in time to save his life if necessary.

For the sake of pedestrians who have no desire to get killed or injured, and for automobilists who have no desire to kill or injure someone else, preach "Drive Right; But Walk Left"—and see what you can do to reduce this type of accident. And should you happen to be walking along a country road at night, walk so you face the traffic moving on yourside.

Plan to Foster Palmyra Athletics

"Community Movement" Formed at Meeting Held by Interested Citizens

A meeting was held Wednesday evening, February 29, in the P. O. S. of A. Hall for an open discussion on the athletic situation in Palmyra.

A number of interested citizens attended and discussed the matter from many angles. As a result a temporary association, "The Palmyra Community Movement" was formed.

The following took part in the discussion: James H. Hartley, K. C. Dimond, William H. Donaghy, Carl Thomas, Harold B. Lever, Richard E. Wilson, Calvin Boal and Joseph Stack.

It was decided that the ultimate aim of the proposed association should be to gain possession of the Field Club grounds for the use of the entire town. If the necessary funds can be raised to complete the purchase of the Field Club grounds, these grounds will be turned over to the borough for all sport activities.

The further purpose of the association should be to see that the children and young people of the community have some place to pursue their favorite sport. The town needs a municipal sport center where boys and girls coming out of high school may be allowed to keep themselves fit by continuing sports they enjoy.

The meeting was called by George N. Wimer and later Richard E. Wilson was elected temporary chairman and George T. Becton, temporary secretary and treasurer. Mr. Wimer gave up the chair in favor of Mr. Wilson and business began under the new chairman.

DeWitt Morris, James H. Hartley and Carl Thomas were elected a committee of three to interview the Field Club.

This committee will obtain the necessary information for the advancement of the Association's plans. The baseball team for the coming season was placed under the direction of James E. Rapp.

It was the feeling of those present that this was just the beginning of a movement that would ultimately develop into a strong demand for a Community Center in Palmyra much like that in Moorestown. Borough officials and the School Board are to be interviewed on the possibility of their cooperation.

A notice of the next meeting will be printed. It is hoped that all the young people as well as all other citizens who at some time or other have been interested in athletics will come out to help the Palmyra Community Movement.

JAMES R. HULLINGS

COMMISSIONER DILL TO SPEAK AT HOLLY

County Democrats Preparing For Entertainment of Gubernatorial Candidate on April 11

Although the date, April 11, is still more than a month away, Burlington county Democrats are already making plans for entertaining Motor Vehicle Commissioner William L. Dill, of Paterson, when he comes to Mount Holly.

The Commissioner, who is the unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor this year, has a lot of friends, both Democrats and Republicans, in Burlington county, who will be glad of the chance to extend a cordial welcome to him when he comes here.

Further than to decide that the proper place to hold the banquet or reception or combined function at the county seat, the plans are rather up in the air at this early date. The Commissioner has sent word to the committee, however, that he and Mrs. Dill will surely be on hand.

How Electricity Has Changed House Cleaning Practices

KEEPING the house in order once required a great deal of "woman power." Electricity has changed that. Working through tested appliances, electricity maintains the cleanliness demanded by the most exacting housekeeper, with no more demands upon her strength than the mere guiding of the appliance requires.

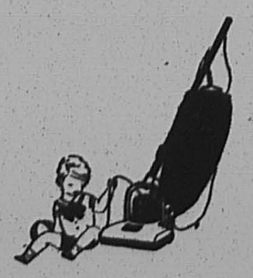

Polishing Floors

used to be a "down-on-the-knees" job. Now the electric floor polisher makes the wood flooring gleam in a short time while the housekeeper merely guides the polisher. It goes under heavy furniture. It is light in weight and has the pistol grip handle. Cash price $33.75, on terms $35.45.

Rugs and Carpets

retain their colors and the nap stands upright when cleaned with the Hoover. This cleaner with its special feature, Positive Agitation, performs in one easy operation and without injury to the rugs, the beating, sweeping and cleaning that are necessary to remove the dirt. Payment terms on the Hoover are $5 down and $5 a month.

On the Stairs

the Premier Pic-up cleaner gets all the dirt from treads and risers. It is light in weight, convenient to use and will clean successfully any fabric covered corners that are hard to reach. Cash price $20, on terms $21.

The Inside of Your Car

your overcoat, or other heavy wraps may be quickly cleaned and freshened through the use of the Presto-vac, a little electric suction cleaner of convenient size. Its price is $19.75 and it is sold on the divided payment plan for $20.75.

Draperies and Covers of washable materials need not be sent out to be cleaned if there is a Thor Electric Washer in the house. This washer will quickly make them fresh and clean. On terms $5 down—18 months to pay.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Civic Club Seeks Improvements

Asks for Better School Facilities and Lunch Room; Visit Board Meetings

The Civic Club of East Riverton during the past few weeks has engaged in an active campaign among the colored citizens of Cinnaminson township to arouse interest in their public school and various other matters. To this end the president, Roy Williams, with several others has visited the churches of Palmyra, E. Riverton and Wrightsville, to explain and plead with the citizens to take more interest in their civic affairs.

A committee of the Civic Club composed of William H. Johnson, Mrs. Ella R. Johnson, Mrs. Mary E. Davis and Roy Williams visited the colored school just previous to the school board election to observe conditions and bring the same before the board. Through the efforts of the Civic Club a large number of colored citizens turned out to the school board election and took an active part.

School Overcrowded

The Civic Club group voiced the dissatisfaction of the colored people of Cinnaminson township over the overcrowded condition of the colored school, where about 30 children have no adequate place to study in. At one time a class was held in the concrete basement of school which the chairman of the board admitted often had several inches of water in it. This caused the teacher to become ill and caused widespread alarm among the parents of the children as to their health. The overflow was then transferred to the old frame structure known as the mission building, an old building of many years standing which, being separated from the main building about 200 yards, makes it necessary for the children of two classes to go back and forth in all kinds of weather to interchange in using this old structure.

These conditions were pointed out to the board members and information sought as to the manner of speedily correcting them. While apparently nothing can be done this year to add to the main building, the board expressed its desire to do everything possible and as soon as possible to overcome the difficulties. The colored citizens proved their spirit of good-will in that although by their number they could have easily defeated by vote both the appropriation and the election of a new member. No one voted against either.

Help Offered

The president of the Civic Club offered practical help to alleviate some conditions at the colored school, as helping to grade the school yard and remove trees, etc., that make the playground rough. Also inquiries as how the colored school cafeteria might be put into being and what the colored citizens could do to carry it on.

These and many other questions were answered by the members of the board and all seemed happy and moved by the evident sincerity of the colored citizens in these matters. After the meeting Charles Evans and W. H. Wood approached the Civic Club president and offered to help in any way possible to put into operation some of the things needed for the colored school. They were thanked for this fine spirit of cooperation and will be called on when plans are perfected.

In pursuance of our plans to awaken the people, the Civic Club invited Howard Taylor, Jr., to meet the club at its next meeting to speak about school conditions in more detail. On Thursday, March 1, at the Club meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson, Mr. Taylor spoke for perhaps 25 minutes on various phases of the school work and thus enlarged the vision of all on the great amount of work the board had to do and the need of cooperation from the parents and citizens of the community.

To Attend Meetings

The club in answer to a challenge by Mr. Taylor at the school election that the colored people only appeared once a year to object to something, has planned to have a committee of its members to be present every school board meeting night to hear the proceedings and make suggestions as deemed necessary. On Monday night, March 4, the committee met with the board, thirteen club members being present. The meeting proved interesting and the information given by Miss Bryan opened new avenues of service to all. The club then decided to ask Miss Bryan to speak at the Civic Club at an early date on the subject of the school lunch room for the colored school. This Miss Bryan most enthusiastically accepted and the meeting will be arranged with all of the parents of the children present if it can be done. At this time an effort will be made to revive or organize under the club wing a new Parent-Teacher body among the colored people as the one now in existence has never functioned and at present is quite inactive.

Entertainment

The Civic Club is also planning to have an entertainment at the Cinnaminson school sometime in April with a very fine musical program and a fine speaker, well known to educational circles in this part of the county. The proceeds will be divided between contributions toward the dental clinic at the school, the lunch room for the colored people and the building fund of the Civic Club for its new community centre club house in East Riverton.

The club is now arranging its program for spring and summer activities which include a drive among the colored citizens for cleaner yards, better fences, more beautiful flower gardens, painting of houses, etc., to generally improve the appearance of our neighborhoods. We also hope to arrange some prize presentation for the colored school pupils which will tend to create interest by the school in his work and urge greater effort to obtain better marks in all subjects and to encourage more pupils to continue through high schools. With such a schedule now arranged for a year the Civic Club promises to play an important part in revivifying the civic atmosphere among the colored people as it has never been before.

ROWDY YOUTHS GET JAIL SENTENCES

William Dinn, of Horace avenue, and Charles Robbins, of Leconey avenue, Palmyra, were arrested for disorderly conduct and resisting an officer at Broad and Cinnaminson avenue Sunday afternoon. Both have given the police trouble in the past.

The young men were scuffling on the sidewalk and when reprimanded by Officer Betty they paid no attention. The officer insisted that they refrain from rowdy conduct and when they refused he took hold of them to part them and young Dinn disputed the Officer's right to break up the melee. He expressed his opinion in rather strong language so the Officer took them both to the lockup.

They were taken before Police Justice Fichter where Dinn was fined $25.00 or 30 days in jail for disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. Robbins was not charged with resistance but was fined $10.00 or 30 days for disorderly conduct. The boys refused to pay the fines so they were taken to the county jail Monday morning. Dinn paid his fine Tuesday and was released.

In discussing the arrest the Mayor said that the penalty might seem too severe but considering the trouble in the past he has decided to take whatever steps necessary to break up such displays of rowdyism on Palmyra's streets. He also called attention to boys and young men loafing on Buohl's corner. Several complaints have been made regarding remarks made and other nuisances by corner loungers.

PHS Five Reaches Semi-Final Round

Dimond's Basketball Stars Will Play Gloucester High Tonight

The Palmyra High School Basketball team has reached the semi-finals in the South Jersey class B tourney. This Thursday night the boys will meet Gloucester High and if victorious will play the final game Saturday. All games are being played at Camden High School.

The victors in this tourney will later meet the winners of three other divisions for the State championship.

In the first round Palmyra defeated Burlington by a score of 30 to 23. West was the individual star of the game with 12 points to his credit. The summary:

Defeat Swedesboro

The boys won from Swedesboro High Saturday by a 22-19 score. The game was not as close as the score indicates. For the first three periods Palmyra led by a considerable margin. At this point Coach Dimond sent the second team in. The Swedesboro lads took advantage of this opportunity to stage a very effective rally. It was necessary to send the Varsity back on the court to stop further scoring. The game ended with Palmyra holding a three-point lead.

Captain Eisley's injured hand was in better condition than it was in the Burlington game and he again took his place in the limelight.

Girls Win by One

A foul goal arched into the net in the last minute of play by Violet Wallace decided a hard-fought basketball contest between Palmyra High girls and Vineland High at Vineland last Thursday night. Palmyra won by an 18-17 score.

After 39 minutes of grueling play the two teams were knotted at 17-17, when Miss Wallace made her try from the complimentary mark to give Palmyra the victory.

Miss Wallace was the high scoring star of the game, accounting for two field goals and eight fouls. Miss Marks scintillated for the losers.

The summary:

Defeat Merchantville

The Palmyra High basketball sextet defeated the Merchantville girls by a score of 23 to 14 in a game played at Merchantville Tuesday.

Palmyra led all the way, taking the edge at the very start and leading at half time, 11 to 7. The opposing team, although fighting gamely were no match for the local girls.

Kitty Burr was in good form and earned high scoring honors by registering seven field goals, all but one of the two-point variety, and a pair of fouls. Violet Wallace contributed the remainder of the Palmyra points, while Molly Phieffer and Eunice Miller sparkled for the vanquished aggregation.

MAPLE SHADE STREET FORMS ASSOCIATION

Organization of the Stiles Avenue Improvement Association was consumated at a meeting of more than a score of residents of the street, held in Maple Shade School No. 2, last week. The organization appointed Benjamin Aldrich, temporary chairman, with J. J. Mozer, as temporary secretary. The organization was fostered by Police Recorder Alfred M. Addison. Meetings will be held monthly and members of the organization will cooperate with the township committee in securing improvements for the street.

CITIZENS INSTRUCTED TO CLEAR GUTTERS

Planks, Pipes and Platforms Must be Removed to Aid Street Work

The Roads and Streets Committee of the Borough of Palmyra has been instructed to see that all planks, pipes or platforms are removed from the gutters. There is a borough ordinance which prohibits the placing of any obstruction in the gutters and since this practice interferes with keeping the streets in condition all property owners are asked to remove them at once.

The Supervisor of Roads expects to keep the new grader going as continuously as possible and any obstruction in the gutters will prevent it from doing as much or as satisfactory work as it should. In addition to this these instructions prevent the free flow of water and cause washouts.

The new grader is one of the Wehr one man type and works in conjunction with the Borough's tractor, replacing the old two man grader previously used. In addition to this the new machine does better work and is more satisfactory generally.

The attention of the householders is called to the existing schedule of ash and rubbish collections. Rubbish is collected once a month and ashes are collected weekly.

Confidence is seldom lost, but it is often sadly misplaced.

"KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY"

The American people have always followed their wars with a revulsion against the machinery of war. Following the Civil War, the Army and Navy were permitted almost to disappear. We had seen so much of them in the four years of that struggle that the debt-burdened people felt that they never wanted to see them again. New interests claimed their attention and it was not until the guns of Santiago and Manila awoke a new generation that the country again realized the necessity of armed protection. From 1898 the pendulum swung ever higher until it reached the apex of its journey in the titanic effort of 1917 and 1918.

A reasonable degree of preparation now may prevent us from being caught in the state of unpreparedness that has always cost us so dearly—in both men and money.

MORAL TRAINING IN THE SCHOOL

Education and moral training in the schools, particularly in the lower grades, are inseparable. In moral education there is no stopping the clock. An individual either develops morality or immorality. Character education is mostly a by-product of all other education, and the by-product is far more important than the direct product. In the training of young minds formation of right habits is the most vital part of education.

However, no one institution is entirely responsible for moral training. It is absurd to say that the school is entirely responsible and it is equally absurd to say that it has no responsible.

The term "moral" has come somewhat into disrepute because of its continued use in a negative way. Thus it smacks of restraint, repression, the killing of joy and the hampering and narrowing of life. If education is to be used in the promotion of character this negative crippling idea must be done away with and a new idea to the effect that moral training is to aid the child to discover good things that he wants to do and to cooperate with him in doing them, be substituted for it. All merely negative morality ends disastrously.

DR. EDWARD O. SISSON, Reed College, Oregon.

NOW YOU TELL ONE!

I never cared much for animal acts in a circus or in vaudeville. I have done too much after-dinner speaking not to be sorry for a dog which has to bark for its dinner or the elephant which has to stand on its head on a half barrel to get a peanut.

But I do love to watch dumb brutes when they display intelligence. You do not think of the long days of training and perhaps the use of a whip, necessary to induce them to go through the routine till it became a habit.

A pair of cat birds decided to build their summer home in a plumb tree growing in the next yard. As building material seemed a bit scarce I scattered some bits of string and a few feathers in my back-yard. They seemed highly to appreciate this. I tied one of the strings in a simple knot to a wire flower support and laughed heartily as the pair of them worked to untie it. The male bird did a lot of singing after they got it but it was the female that did most of the hard work.

Randall Caton's father told me that when he was a boy a gang of lads lived in his town, which was the terror of the neighborhood. One of their activities was to tie a tin can to the tail of every dog which wandered into their neighborhood. Several dogs which lived among them were so used to it, that when they saw an empty tomato can they would back up to it and sit down to wait patiently until some boy came along and tied it to them. I don't doubt the story for Caton's father is a judge on the bench.

Down in Tennessee from whence I came we used to have a lot of tenant farmers. They are a rather shiftless lot. Tod Shehen was about the most shiftless of any of them. He never worked for the same farmer two seasons in succession. He moved his Lares and Penates so often that when Mrs. Shehen went out into the yard with her sun bonnet on, all the chickens laid down on their backs and stuck up their feet to be tied!

Dr. Frank Crane Says

The Comic Strip

A recent article on "The Compensatory Function of the Sunday 'Funny Paper'", by Harvey C. Lehman and Paul A. Witty, is at hand.

It gives a very ingenious explanation for the popularity of the comic strip. It gives as a trait of character in almost every one the desire to "escape."

"In the world of 'actuality' it continues, "the child is obliged to conform to certain conventions, to treat other persons with a reasonable amount of decorum, to abide by the consequences of his acts when he defies natural law or human authority. In the "funnies" he will defy every law and he will do so with immunity.

"Thus the child who looks at the Sunday 'funnies' is enabled to identify himself with the most intrepid adventurer or the most resolute law-defying citizen or the capturer of such a criminal. On the other hand, he may identify himself with the serial-motion picture type of hero who wins out over apparently insuperable odds."

All of us are aware of constant limitations in our ordinary life. We are unable to thwart these constrictions, so we seek numerous and varied forms of gratification of our impluses.

Certainly the comic strip does not excel in showing actual life conditions nor in its artistic quality. It only suggests human characteristics in exaggerated form, but they are naively and crudely presented and so direct and unmistakable that even the most obtuse cannot fail to recognize them.

The pamphlet says that in the Sunday funny section the child often takes many risks which in real life he would not think of taking.

"In some cases he succeeds by resort to magic. At other times he is pictured as falling squarely upon the face or being severely burned with fire or scalding water. He falls at a great distance or he is closely pursued by dangerous wild animals. He knows no decorum. He puts his cigar ashes into an upturned silk hat, or into the goldfish bowl. He rests his feet on his neighbor's lap.

"He endures no suppression. He has complete freedom of self-expression."

This is at least an ingenious explanation of the popularity of the comic strip, as the value of any entertainment, theatrical or otherwise, is its escape value.

COMPASS CLUB

The Compass Club will meet Friday night at 8 o'clock at P. O. S. of A. Hall and an elaborate program has been arranged for those who attend. Brother Walter G. Jones, of Camden will give an interesting talk to the members after which the evening will be taken up with games and other various entertainment.

The expert quoit tossers are cordially invited to come out and receive a trimming, as some expert tossers will be prepared to receive them.

The meetings for the past few months have been full of interest and it is the hope of the officers that the splendid start made for the year may be continued. There will be something interesting for everyone, so do not fail to attend.

NEEDLESS SPEED

THE RADIO INDUSTRY

IMMIGRANTS BUILD NATIONS

A DEMOCRATIC PRINCE

Frank Lockhart, whom Barney Oldfield calls "the greatest automobile driver in history," drove his car 225 miles an hour on a Florida beach recently, lost control and shot out into the ocean.

Such speed in automobiles is valueless, because it cannot be used. Trying for it is as unwise as some "stunts" that fliers do, emphasizing the danger of flying, instead of emphasizing its safety, as they should.

It is to be hoped that Colonel Lindbergh, the most important young man to his country, will realize the danger and folly of unnecessary risk.

A serious accident to Lindbergh would set flying back ten years in America. That is not what he wants.

Great Britain suppresses a moving picture showing how Nurse Edith Cavell was shot as a spy by the Germans. Britain wisely decides such a picture would only revive and intensify international bitterness.

Edith Cavell was guilty under military law. Allied nations executed women for crimes no more serious. But the "moral" circumstances were different. Military stupidity, that governed Germany and killed Edith Cavell, governs Germany no longer.

The Argentine Republic wanted to rewrite the United States tariff to compete with American farmers. But the Argentine didn't have Balfour as representative, so this country said no. We can handle little republics. Britain is too much for us.

Last year, this country spent $600,000,000 for radio products, machines and parts. Nineteen twenty-eight will see the first radio Presidential campaign. The world changes swiftly, adapting itself readily to new methods.

Radio employs 300,000 people, and broadcasting reaches 90,000,000.

An athlete, breaker of records, with big lungs and chest expansion, was amazed when the life insurance doctor told him "you are a bad risk. We can't take you."

Next to no exercise, the dangerous thing is over-exercise. You can develop muscles almost without limit. But you have only one heart, and it will stand only so much.

Promoters of South American investments inform you that the population of Rio de Janiero has increased nearly a million in eight years, Buenos Aires more than a million in fourteen years. Agricultural population has increased enormously in South America.

All that is due to our immigration laws which keep out of the United States the white European populations that we need, the men and women that made this country what it is.

Shutting out such immigration, we build up other nations.

The former Kaiser, who must have done some hard thinking in the last few years, tells Sylvester Viereck, "today the center of gravity which determines world power has shifted to the United States. America is master of the world."

America probably COULD be master of the world. But to desire that mastery would be foolish. To be masters of ourselves, mind our business, develop this country and increase the well-being of the average man, is a big enough task.

The Prince of Wales shakes hands, by mistake, with a waiter, best dressed man, probably, at a business men's dinner.

"But, Sir, I'm only a waiter."

"I don't see that that makes any difference," says the Prince shaking hands over again.

The tyrant was annoyed when Solon told him there could be good government "only when kings become philosophers, or philosophers become kings." The young Prince leaves philosophy to professors. But he knows that royalties achieve permaneney by becoming democratic.

P. T. A. MEMBERS VISIT PENSAUKEN MEETING

Thirty members of the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association attended the March meeting of the Pensauken Association in Merchantville Monday evening.

The Pensauken Association is under the leadership of Mrs. Marian Reber Gilpin, a former Palmyra woman. The program was full of interest and brought forth much praise from the Palmyra visitors.

Several teachers and their pupils gave exhibitions of school work and the interest and enthusiasm shown by both teachers and the children was regarded as something of a revelation by the Palmyrians. The teachers gave illustrations and explanations of latest teaching methods which were very striking.

One of the things which attracted the special interest of the visitors was the cleanliness of the school building. It was said to be a forty-year-old structure, but everything was spick and span, just as if it were brand new.

The journey was made by the Palmyra PTA members in a bus and a fine sociable time was enjoyed by all. Delicious refreshments were served at the end of the meeting.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The boys of our troop are very busy getting in trim for the summer period of scouting by passing tests and studying,—others which can't be passed until its warmer. We are having a contest between the patrols who are making "knot boards" which will be given to Scoutmaster Follet for his inspection. Many other forms of scout activities were planned in the monthly "corner-tooth" meeting last Friday.

We had a hike on Saturday which was run in a novel way. Two boys were detailed to go ahead and lay a trail using the regular scout tracking signs, destination unknown. Then the body of the troop followed, using the signs as a guide. When the destination was reached the boys practiced signalling by semaphore code and had games of the usual hike type such as "capture the flag" and a variation of "red light."

At five o'clock we came home with light hearts and tired limbs.

Bill Shoemaker.

OAKLAND PRODUCTION FAR AHEAD OF 1927

The increasing factory facilities of the Oakland Motor Car Company and the heavy winter demand for the Oakland and Pontiac Sixes are reflected in a record March production schedule of 27,773 units which exceeds by more than 10,000 cars the company's output during March of 1927.

January and February also witnessed the establishment of new Oakland-Pontiac records. As a result, by the end of March the company will have built more than 73,800 cars, a three month total exceeding by 112 per cent the 34,727 unit production during the first three months of 1927.

The completion during February of a third assembly line in the Pontiac Six factories contributed greatly toward the February record and is assisting the company materially in reaching its March total.

Tartan is the coffee for those whose taste is critical, who appreciate better flavor, more enticing aroma.

No other cofee can be like Tartan, or give you such luxurious richness in the cup. For the Tartan blend unites the finest qualities of all fine coffees in a single blend. And you can serve this better coffee for less than a cent and a half per cup!

In your first sip of Tartan you will taste that rare deliciousness that will make you always think of Tartan as "The Finest Drinking Coffee in the World."

TARTAN TABLE TREATS IN TINS

The finest of fruits and vegetables—as far superior to ordinary canned goods as Tartan Coffee is superior to ordinary coffees.

Scouts Hear Talk on Life of Birds

Feathered Creatures Invaluable to Man, Speaker Tells Palmyra Boys

Tuesday evening the monthly meeting of the Scouts of Palmyra was held at the Headquarters of Troop No. 1 in the Epworth Methodist Church.

Troop No. 1 had as their guests the Girl Scouts of the Methodist Church, Troop No. 2 Boy Scouts of the Lutheran Church and the newly-formed Troop No. 3 of the Baptist Church.

The speaker of the evening was Carl Shaffner, Associate Editor of the Farm Journal and President of the Liberty Bell Bird Club which has over 900,000 members.

Mr. Shaffner gave a very interesting talk on birds, their value to us and the methods of protecting them. One of his statements was that if all bird life should cease on this earth, the earth would become barren in the course of a few years.

The second part of Mr. Shaffner's lecture was illustrated with slides made from photographs taken at the Wallop's Island Bird Sanctuary and other places showing how birds can be encouraged to stay with us.

It was all very interesting and one scout was heard to remark "Gee, I could listen to him all night."

After refreshments were served and the meeting was closed we turned towards home with our minds full of what we could do for the birds.

"WALT" THEATRE

"Whiskery," the sensationally famous race horse, winning the Kentucky Derby, and famous jockeys such as Albert Johnson, Earle Sande, Mac Garner, Earle Poole, and others, will be among the joys of sportsmen in "In Old Kentucky," John M. Stahl's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which is coming to the Walt Whitman theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Last year, during the Kentucky Derby, Director Stahl had a battery of cameramen at Churchill Downs, Louisville, and Latonia, Lexington, filming the race and many of the incidentals of racing. At the famous Blue Farms, just outside Lexington, the complete life of a racing colt was filmed, showing how the animals are cared for and handled.

No one will have cause to complain that the "mob scenes" in First National's great picture of the Redwood country, "The Valley of the Giants" at the Walt Whitman Wednesday and Thursday are not true to life for Charles Brabin, the director, and Wid Gunning, the producer, instead of making these big scenes at the studio in Burbank, chose to do them in the Big Tree country of Northern California, with the participants actually timber men, loggers, mill hands and others who people Peter B. Kyne's famous story of that name.

A company of United States Marines were utilized in many of the scenes in the Tiffany-Stahl production "Streets of Shanghai" which will be the feature picture at the Walt Friday and Saturday. Most of the men had seen service in China and made many valuable suggestions to the director. In the cast of the picture are Pauline Starke who is the featured player and Kenneth Harlan, Eddie Gribbon, Margaret Livingston, Jason Robards, Mathilde Comon, Sojin and Anna May Wong.

NOT A DIRTY PIG

One of the long-standing beliefs is that the hog is a dirty creature by instinct as well as by training. In fact, the expression, "dirty as a pig" has come to be accepted as the only proper way to describe the uncleanly.

But it appears from results gained by farmers who have given their pigs a chance to be clean that the animal is more to be pitied than blamed. These farms report that they have found the pig to be as cleanly as any other farm animal. The trouble is he is seldom given a chance to prove it.

Given clean pasture land to feed on, a chance to get regular baths, and clean bedding, the pig will be clean, they say. Furthermore, he will be healthier and will grow faster.

METHODISTS MEETING IN ATLANTIC CITY

Annual Conference Session Being Held in St. Paul's Church All This Week

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of Philadelphia, is presiding at the annual session of the New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which opened at St. Paul's Church, Atlantic City, Tuesday.

Among the speakers will be Dr. J. S. Ladd Thomas, of Philadelphia; Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Washington board of temperance, prohibition and public morals; Dr. Edward D. Kohlstedt, corresponding secretary of the board of home mission and church extension; Dr. W. A. C. Hughes, board of home mission; Dr. W. E. J. Grais, Chicago, editor of the Epworth Herald and Dr. Frances J. Health, of China.

It is expected a large number of changes in pastors will be made this year. The appointments of the various pastors will probably be known next Monday.

BIG SHIP EQUIPPED FOR LAND, SEA, AIR

Part of the regular equipment of the U. S. S. Lexington, airplane carrier, one of the largest in the world is a Graham Brothers truck which carries officers, or marines to the scene of action. On top of the truck is carried an airplane wing to be rushed to any point where the emergency exists.

The keel for the Lexington was laid Jan. 8, 1921, and the ship was launched Oct. 3, 1925, but did not leave the Fore River Shipyards, Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., Quincy, Mass., until Jan. 5, 1928. Some interesting data regarding the new addition to the navy are: — Cost forty to fifty million dollars; length 888 feet; breadth (extreme) 106 feet; carries 88 planes; speed 39 miles per hour; engines, combined horsepower, 180,000; crew of 1800 men and 200 officers; has eight 8 inch guns and twelve 5 inch guns; is largest ship in U. S. Navy.

Post Rodgers

Burlington County at this writing has passed its last year's membership mark, having 100% paid up membership. This is some record and it shows that the untiring efforts of County Commander W. Rex McCrosson have not been in vain.

A military ball will be given by the American Legion of Burlington County in the armory at Burlington on April 23. Plans are in progress and further notice will be given later. There will be a limited number of tickets so get your order in early if you care to attend.

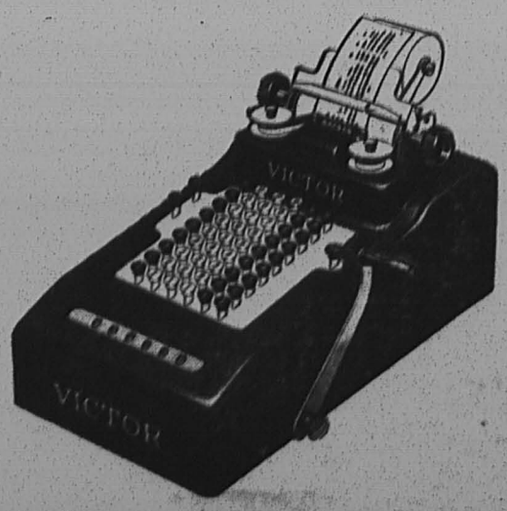

The County Committee is working on plans for a "Burlington County Special" to carry the Legionnaires and the Auxiliary to the 1928 National Convention which will be held in San Antonio, Texas. The cost of the railroad fare there and back including eats enroute and the privilege of bunking in the Pullmans while in San Antonio will be in the neighborhood of $100.00.

The Auxiliary of Post Rodgers is completing details for a turkey dinner to be given to the members of the Post on April 2nd. While final arrangements have not been made the ladies have been working on the plans for the last month. Plenty of notice will be given to the membership as it is the idea of the officers to combine the dinner with the regular Post meeting. This is not an April fool joke as someone said that the turkeys have been ordered.

The Post is slowly increasing its membership, in fact there are over seventy paid-up members reported at State Headquarters. While this is not a bad start it can be bettered as there are a number of the regulars who as yet have not sent their dues to the finance officer. Should you have forgotten where to send your dues, Comrade Harold F. Marshall, 102 Morgan avenue, is the Post Finance Officer. Please remit as soon as possible so that Post Rodgers can have 100% paid up membership along with the other posts in the county. Comrade Marshall states that he is all ready to take care of the gold rush—so let's go.

PALMYRA NOTES

A. Harold Zayotti sailed Saturday for a two months business trip through Europe.

The Rev. M. R. Guise, of Camden, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist Church this Sunday during the absence of the Rev. J. William Lee who is attending the conference at Atlantic City. The Ladies' Aid Society will give a pure food supper in the gymnasium Saturday evening. Cakes and pastry will be for sale.

The Wesleyan Bible Class of the Methodist Church has experienced a marked increase in interest and attendance during the past few weeks. Last Sunday the attendance was greater than it has been yet this year. James Thompson, formerly of Palmyra, is the teacher. Mr. Thompson lives at Bryn Mawr and comes over every week to teach the class. Members of the class say that he is one of the best informed Bible students they have ever met. The popular J. Horace Finney has charge of the musical programs and leads the singing.

The Covenant Chapter, F. and A. M. will hold its annual church visitation Sunday evening. All Masons are requested to attend. They will meet at the P. O. S. of A. Hall at 7.30 and from there go to the Central Baptist Church. The Rev. George Lockett has arranged a special program for the occasion.

Clayton H. Schonts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. Schonts, of Garfield avenue, carried away $500 in gold, first prize in the Public Ledger Pot o' Gold Cross Word Puzzle Contest No. 5, Saturday. Mr. Schonts is the youngest first prize winer in the series of contests to date.

Camp 3, P. O. of A. will hold initiation this evening. All members of the team are earnestly urged to be present.

Mrs. Wilbert L. Rich, of Parry avenue will entertain Mrs. Anne Ives, Miss Mary Ives and Miss Dorothy R. Ives, of West Philadelphia, at dinner and a card party this evening.

The school nurse, Miss Olwell, has removed her clinic from the Legion Home to the Delaware avenue school and, beginning Wednesday, March 7, clinics will be held at the school.

The regular meeting of the Glee Club of the Samaritan Class of the Central Baptist Church will be held this Thursday evening at 9.00 p. m. at the home of G. H. Weaysmans, of Fourth street. Next Sunday evening the club will take part in the services of the Church, rendering several vocal numbers. Every member try to be there.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Seel and son, Joseph, spent Sunday with Mr. Seel's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vondersmith, at Bryn Mawr.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rohland entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McQuilkin, of Philadelphia on Sunday.

Mrs. Alfred Wilkinson returned last week from Boston, where she had been visiting Mrs. Helen Legge.

Dr. Dennis Stomburgh, wife and children, of Philadelphia, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell on Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Joseph Miller, of Haddonfield, were guests at the home of Mrs. George J. Seel on Monday. Mrs. Joseph Miller has recently returned from a three-weeks' visit in Rhode Island.

Mrs. Albert Smith, of Stonehurst, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kemmerle, Sr.

Mrs. Frank N. Johnson is visiting her daughter, Helene, at Juanita College, Pa.

The Rev. George Lockett has purchased a new Nash.

Mrs. George Seel entertained at dinner on Friday, Mrs. William Blundin, Mrs. Jean Campbell and children, of Ocean City, and Mrs. Edith Thomas, of Narberth, Pa.

"Boots" Lever was the radio announcer at the seventh annual Intercollegiate track meet held in New York at the 22nd Regiment Armory last Saturday evening. He was accompanied and assisted by "Bud" Yenney, local Oakland-Pontiac dealer. Many world's records, some of which had stood for years, were broken.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rogers, Miss Mildred Rogers and Eckerd J. Ballinger, of Burlington, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Engle, near Medford, Tuesday evening.

The children of Joseph Schwartz, of Morgan avenue and Spring Garden street are the proud owners of a fine pony and carriage which they use to great advantage these fine March days.

The following members of the Lingohocken Club were entertained at cards by Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Collins, near Merchantville, Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rogers, of Palmyra; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Evans, of Riverton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coles, of Moorestown, and Mrs. Clara Carll, of Camden.

The regular monthly meeting of the King's Daughters Bible Class will be held at the home of Miss Nora Carpenter, Cinnaminson avenue, on Tuesday evening, March 13.

Mrs. H. E. Eichner, of Cinnaminson avenue, is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Engle, of Morgan avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son Monday evening. Mrs. Engle will be remembered as Miss Esther Dietz.

Mrs. Harvey G. Fisher, of Morgan avenue, entertained the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club yesterday.

The Senior BYPU of the Central Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Helen Andrews, 708 Garfield avenue, this Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gottschalt entertained guests from Fairview, West Philadelphia and Springfield at their home Sunday.

W. R. S. Pluck, of Palmyra, was arrested by Officer Rodgers Saturday for reckless driving. At a hearing before Police Justice Fichter, Monday afternoon, he was fined $5.00 and costs.

Mrs. Bert Ward and Mrs. Kleine and daughter visited at Girard College on Mother's Day, March 6.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Friendship Circle Bible Class of the M. E. Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Everett Wolcott, 415 Linden avenue, Riverton, on Monday evening next, March 12. Wear your working togs and an Irish smile and bring a paring knife along.

SCHOOL ASKS LOWER RATE FOR WATER

It is earnestly hoped that parents will attend promptly to the request of the school authorities to take children to physician, oculist or dentist, as the case requires.

"The Educational Thrift Service" was inaugurated in the school on January 24, with 63.8% of the children in attendance opening accounts with the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Co. There have been six weekly banking days to date 88% of the total number of children enrolled in the school have opened accounts, and the total amount of deposits is $642.44.

The State Examinations Eighth Grade Efficiency Tests were given to the 8th grade, though not counted as a basis for promotions, as the work of the grade will not be completed until June. Tests in fundamentals were given grade 2-7, and a reclassification made of grades 5 and 6 according to results of standardized tests. Fundamental tests a month later have shown the work to be going well.

The over-age children and several who were not co-operative in the other groups are having their needs met in a far better way in a smaller group.

On Thursday evening, April 19, Fathers' Night will be celebrated at the school. Dr. James S. Heberling will be the speaker for the occasion, and an interesting program will be arranged. There will be an exhibition of school work in all the class rooms.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

On Thursday (March 8) at 8 o'clock, the Rev. A. Pohlman, M. D., D. D., one of the most widely known of our Lutheran Pastors in America will deliver a Lenten lecture in our Church. Dr. Pohlman spent a number of years as a missionary in Africa. Twenty-five years ago he came to Philadelphia as a home missionary to the Temple Lutheran Church, then recently organized. He has been pastor of this church ever since and has developed it into one of the largest and most enterprising Lutheran congregations in the city.

Dr. Pohlman enjoys the distinction of having made a great record in gathering souls into the Kingdom. For nine consecutive months he had accessions to his church every Sunday. Dr. Pohlman is both humorous and edifying in his speaking. There will be special music at this service and Miss Amy Mitton will render a soprano solo. Everyone is urged to come and enjoy this service with us.

Catechetical class at seven o'clock Friday evening. There will be only three more classes in this instruction until confirmation which will be held on the morning of April 1st. It is highly desirous that all catechumens be present.

Sunday School at 10 a. m. Our attendance last Sunday was quite gratifying but we can easily go beyond it this Sunday. Let us all work with the superintendent to increase enrollment and attendance.

The Senior Department of the Sunday School, through its Superintendent, has set its aim at 100 members in attendance. It can be done! There will be special instrumental music.

Our First Lutheran Choir under the direction of Lee Mitton will render special music at both morning and evening services which are held at 11.15 a. m. and 7.45 p. m. respectively.

Luther League at 6.45 p. m. Topic "How can I help others to follow Jesus?" This is a subject you will want to hear discussed. Come.

On Monday evening, March 12 at 8.30 o'clock p. m. the regular monthly meeting of the Church Council will be held.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th. Rector

There is on exhibit in the Egyptian Hall, Piccadilly, London, a beautifully made pair of slippers

"Tiny slippers of green and gold
Tied with a moldering golden cord!
What pretty feet they must have been,
When Caesar Augustus was Egypt's Lord!
Somebody graceful and fair you were!
Not many girls could dance in these!
When did the shoemaker make you, dear
Such a nice pair of Egyptian "threes."

But vainly I knock at the bars of the past
Little green slippers with golden strings!
For all you can tell is that leather will last
When loves and delights and beautiful things,
Have vanished forgotten! Nay! not quite that!
I catch some light of the grace you wore
When you finished with life's daily pat-a-pat

Such a haunting beauty, all that is left of the glory and pride of life.

Just a few years dear reader and so will it be with each of us, and only the love and power of the Immortal Christ to transmute and retain anything of lasting value. Sad you say? Yes! unless Jesus comes in to guarantee His own permanence to you and yours. And thanks be to God we have this guarantee.

The Choral Evensong was most appealing last Sunday evening, every number of real worth.

Monday evening next at 8 p. m. the regular monthly vestry meeting.

The Sunday School teachers meeting on Tuesday after the G. F. S. meeting.

There will be a service of admission for the Candidates and Associates of the Girls Friendly Society on Sunday evening at 8 p. m.

The preacher on Wednesday evening next will be the Rev. Harold R. Morse, Rector of Grace Church, Merchantville.

Services for 3rd Sunday in Lent:
7.30 a. m. Holy Communion
10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer
"A Kingdom Divided"
2.30 p. m. Sunday School.
8.00 p. m. Evensong. Admission of Candidates for the Girls Friendly Society.

"Beware lest Love himself pass by to idess thee, and . . . . . refrain

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

Morning Worship at the Calvary Presbyterian Church will be observed at 11 o'clock and the Evening Service will be held at eight o'clock. The Pastor will preach at both services.

The evening service will be preceded by a fifteen minute worship of music by Mr. Robert M. Martin, organist.

Church School will meet at 10 o'clock. This includes the Men and Women's Bible Class.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold a service at seven o'clock in the Church School Auditorium. All young people and the congregation are invited to attend.

The pastor will start a class of instruction next Friday afternoon for the Boys and Girls who are thinking of uniting with the church. The class will continue for four Friday afternoons. It will be held in the Junior Department at four o'clock.

Mid Week Services will be held Wednesday evening March 14, at eight o'clock. The Golden Hour Circle will give an Oyster Supper on Friday evening, March 30, in Social Hall of the Church. The supper will be served from five until eight o'clock and tickets are 75 cents.

Charles T. Bates, Pastor.

A chicken supper will be given by Covenant Chapter, O. E. S., on Saturday, March 24, from 5.30 to 8., in F. O. S. of A. Hall. Tickets 75 cents.

SPEAKERS STRESS VALUE OF SPORTS AT MEETING of the red-blooded, 100 per cent American sportsman, stressed the fact that in a proper development of the ideals of true sportsmanship would be found an antidote for the pernicious doctrines of communism, bolshevism and kindred foreign heresies which are aimed at the overthrow of an orderly government of a free people. Such theories, he added, will find no place for lodgment in a healthy mind trained to fairness and developed by fair competition.

When the chairman called on Mayor Howard Rogers for a few remarks, his honor said he had jotted down a few things he thought he might say, but the most important of them had already been said by the previous speakers. He was glad, however, to support the plans of the association, which he was sure would go over in good shape. He believed the people of the town were back of it to an extent not seen in many years, and he would be happy to see proper use made of Memorial Park. He believed it most essential to get the youth of the borough interested in sports, and to get the blood of those not so young stirred up now and then would not be bad. Mr. Rogers heartily agreed with the idea of developing the sports idea among the youth of the town, and looked forward to the time when Riverton could be represented by an all home team.

Goldblat Will Catch

Label Goldblat, who has been signed up by Manager Williams to catch on the Riverton team this year, spoke a few words on what sports had meant to him, and said he was looking forward with keen pleasure to playing here this summer. Goldblat was captain of the U. of P. baseball team in 1924, and last year played in the Eastern and Southern Leagues. Manager Williams has secured another valuable member of the team in William McKenty, who will pitch. McKenty played last year with the Athletics and Chatanooga in the Southern League.

Mr. Williams said that project fostered by the Riverton Athletic Association should have the support of the whole town. If properly carried out, which can only be accomplished by the cooperation of the townspeople, it will revive the glory of former years, when Riverton was known in the realm of sports from coast to coast, not only for its prowess on the fields of contest, but for the fairness and good sportsmanship showed by its teams wherever they went.

Athletics, he said, develop the mind as well as the body. In our eagerness to erect buildings we have taken away the vacant lots on which the lads of yesteryear developed into athletes, and in our eagerness for education we have forgotten the value to be found in the development of sports. He lamented the fact that athletics, properly taught and supervised, found no place in the public school here.

Mr. Williams said that when a committee of citizens was appointed soon after the war to select a suitable memorial to the boys who had entered the conflict from Riverton, a public park was decided upon.

Park Undeveloped

The people of the borough paid $13,000 for the plot of ground selected, but it has not been properly developed because the idea has never been sold to its owners—many of them were absentee landlords, so to speak, and some had never seen the place. Mr. Williams said that a comprehensive plan had been drawn, locating various sports on the field, but that little had been accomplished in the way of execution. In that plot of ground, he said, Riverton has something more valuable than oil wells or gold mines—it has an opportunity to develop its boys and girls. The lives of children today are threatened by many dangers that did not exist a generation ago, and it is the duty of the grownups to provide them with a safe place in which to romp and play themselves into that complete physical development which is to be one of their most valuable assets in after life.

Mr. Williams urged that parents not only encourage their children to use the park as their playground, but to go there and play with them just as often as they could. He said that the park should be used as an institution of learning—that the teams should be teachers of athletics and all that clean sports stand for.

In closing Mr. Williams recalled the days of the bicycle track back of where the freight station now stands, which was one of the fastest quarter-mile tracks in the country, and on which some of the best speed demons of their day contested. It was news to many of his hearers to learn that Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist, once played on Riverton's baseball team.

C. C. Miller Appreves

C. C. Miller, who had taken an active part in sports in Riverton in the earlier days, extended his best wishes to the association for success. He said he appreciated the value of athletics as a molder of character, and that it would be a great thing for the town and for its boys to have sports returned to their rightful place in the community life.

The Lads o' Melodie quartet, under the direction of "Jimmie" Loughran, contributed much to the pleasure of the evening.

The door prize, a silver cigarette case, filled, was won by Maurice DeCoursey, who held the lucky ticket.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

The Junior BYPU and Happy Hour will meet in the Church this Friday afternoon at four o'clock. At eight o'clock p. m. the Senior BYPU will hold its meeting at the home of Mrs. Helen Andrews, 708 Garfield avenue. Miss Mae Hawke will be the leader.

The pastor's topic for the morning service, Sunday, March 11, will be "Justification by Faith." In the evening, "Sermon to Masons," Covenant Lodge No. 161 will attend this service.

The Thilow Baraca Class will have a supper at the Church on March 17, five until eight o'clock p. m.

Unlucky Thirteen Before the Court

Fines Imposed Aggregate $1,425; One Offender Goes to State Prison

Thirteen defendants faced Judge Slaughter for sentence in the Burlington County Criminal Courts Thursday of last week, and $1,425 in fines were assessed, while one man went to state prison for fifteen months and others to the county jail.

Thomas J. Hackett, of Burlington, is the man who will spend the next fifteen months in Trenton, it being shown that he has been before the Court on at least two previous occasions for larceny. This time he had pleaded guilty to stealing six watches and his counsel made a strong plea in his behalf, stating that Hackett's weakness was liquor and that he developed thieving propensities only when he was drunk.

Dennis Rossi, of Moorestown township, made a retraction and pleaded guilty to having a pint of liquor in his possession when the officers came up with him after they thought he had been acting in a suspicious manner at Lenola. He was fined $75.

Joseph Nemits, of Burlington was caught in the act of hiding a jug of liquor under some bushes in the street when officers of the county were making a raid in the vicinity of his home. He was fined $50

Arthur Allen, of Burlington, charged with stealing some worthless tires from the garage of Lewis H. Chambers, of Unionville, blamed his troubles on liquor. It was shown that the young man, who is married, had borne a good reputation previous to this offense, and he escaped by being placed on probation for three years and will have the costs, amounting to $50, to pay immediately.

Mary Has Luck

Mary Lor, of Florence township, a persistent bootlegger, was again before the Court, it being estimated by Judge Slaughter that he had seen her familiar figure before the rail at least a half dozen times before. Due to a misunderstanding she missed a state prison sentence by inches.

Mary had been sentenced to pay a fine of $500 the last time she was in Court, and like Victor Oprea, who was before the Court last week, she thought she was being sentenced for all the charges against her, when as a matter of fact there was an additional one of maintaining a disorderly house and possession of liquor resting against her—this being the one for which she was before the bar of justice on Thursday.

Due to the misunderstanding about the indictments she was given a suspended sentence, with the understanding that she is to pay the costs of $50 immediately, leave the county in sixty days, and as an additional precaution she was placed on probation for three years.

Attorney Peacock, who represented the woman, assured the Court that he would see that she left the county.

Charles King, colored, of Palmyra, who had pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, to wit: A watch which had been stolen by himself and a small boy, will be eligible for work for the county for the next ninety days, as his address will be the county jail.

Walter McDermott, of Burlington, arrested by Constable Elizabeth Burroughs, and who was charged with assaulting an officer and also with the possession of liquor, had been convicted by a jury of the liquor charge and acquitted on the assault complaint, and he will pay a fine of $300 or go to jail.

Hugh McKenzie, of Bordentown a contracting painter and decorator, permitted his anger to get the better of him and struck a man named Vedder, who it was claimed had previously assaulted McKenzie He was fined $50.

Harry Cohen, of Wrightstown having been previously convicted of bootlegging, was before the Court for a second time, and was fined $250.

Peter O'Garek, of Wrightstown who his counsel said had been convicted under the VanNess act which has since been declared unconstitutional, also escaped with a $250 fine.

Samuel Reichlein, of Bordentown, who had pleaded guilty to possession of liquor, was fined $250.

Gabriel Zanza, of Burlington, was before the Court charged with stealing chickens, but it was explained by the prosecutor that this was not an aggravated case of chicken stealing, but on the other hand Zanza claimed that he had taken the chickens from his employer in order to satisfy a claim he had against him.

This statement was verified by Howard Eastwood, counsel for Zanza, and he was fined $50.

HIT-RUN DRIVER MUST FACE TRIAL

Rutherford Youth, Whose Car Killed Moorestown Woman, Indicted last Friday

An indictment for manslaughter was returned last Friday at Mount Holly against Robert G. Hess, nineteen years old, of Rutherford, for the killing of Mrs. Mary M. Smith, fifty-five years old, of Moorestown, with his automobile at Masonville on February 5.

Mrs. Smith started across the roadway and he caught her with the front of his car and tossed her several feet, fracturing her skull breaking a leg and many other bones.

He was accompanied by his brother, William, sixteen years old. They failed to stop to ascertain to what degree damage had been done, but about eleven o'clock at night the young men were picked up by Trooper Campbell along the State Highway near Florence.

MAPLE SHADE MAN HELD ON WIFE BEATING CHARGE

Charged with assault and battery on his wife, John Yavonkin, of South Forked Landing Road, was committed to the Burlington county jail in default of $500 bail by Recorder Alfred M. Addison, last week. Yavonkin was arrested by Chief of Police Ward on the complaint of Verone Yavonkin, his wife. According to the story of Mrs. Yavonkin, her husband had beaten her repeatedly.

Big Men's Night Program Planned

Boxing and Wrestling Matches to Follow Olympic Dinner Next Monday

One of the popular "Men's Night" programs will follow the Burlington County Olympic Fund Committee dinner in the Moorestown Community House next Monday evening, March 12.

There will be five four-round boxing bouts and two wrestling matches. Moorestown boys and several Riverside boxers and wrestlers who have appeared on previous cards will be seen in action in the squared ring. Several unusually interesting bouts are promised and the evening should be a "bang-up" affair for those interested in sports.

Bill Stevens, former boxing instructor at the Community House who arranged previous programs, is lining up the contestants. J. Alfred LeConey, chairman of the Community House Association Athletic Committee, is in charge of the big evening's entertainment.

Next Monday night will certainly be a red letter night for sports in Moorestown. The dinner, which is to proceed the bouts, will bring out a host of sports celebrities. Mr. LeConey, as most everyone knows, was a hero of the last Olympic games. He will be on hand with a short talk. Then there will also be E. R. Bushnell, T. P. McLain and Edward A. Mechling, all Burlington countians who were members of the 1920 team.

Lawson Robertson, head coach of the University of Pennsylvania track team and coach of the 1924 and 1928 Olympic track teams, will deliver an address; and John J. Flaherty, Jr., of Newark, chairman of the State Olympic Fund Committee, will attend.

The dinner is under the direction of Hans Froelicher, Jr., of Moorestown, chairman of the Burlington County Committee. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged for the athletic program and the receipts will be turned over the county Olympic fund.

Lack of Funds Makes It Necessary to Discontinue Testing of New Herds

Secretary of Agriculture, William M. Duryee, states that as a result of the great increase in the applications for tests for bovine tuberculosis, the funds for indemnifying owners of reacting cattle are practically exhausted. Because of this situation, it will be necessary for the Bureau of Animal Industry to discontinue testing new herds, except where indemnity is waived. This ruling will stand until July 1, 1928, unless an emergency appropriation is made to indemnify cattle owners.

Should a Dormant Spray be Applied to Peaches?

The County Agricultural Extension Office is now in a position where they feel that they can recommend that one of the sprays which our peach growers have ordinarily been applying may be omitted. The Associate County Agent has been in Burlington County for four years, and during that time observations have been made on the presence of peach leaf curl in the county, but so far not a single case of infection has been seen. After presenting the facts of the case to Dr. Martin, our State Pathologist, he has substantiated our belief, namely, the fact that a dormant fungicidal spray on peaches is not required generally throughout the county.

The reasons for feeling that peach leaf curl is of no importance in Burlington County is that reports have been received from a number of reliable growers in various parts of the county that they have not applied a dormant fungicidal spray on peaches for the past 6 or 7 years, and that they have never observed curl. Last year the recommendation to apply this spray was not made, but nothing was said about not applying it, so that last year again many orchards were under observation that had not received a dormant spray of lime sulphur.

This year we are ready to make the statement that this spray should not be applied except in individual cases where the grower has personally observed peach leaf curl. Some growers have reported seeing curl on young trees secured from a nursery, and if you are setting out peach trees for the first time this year, they must certainly should be sprayed.

The organism causing peach leaf curl lives over on the twigs of the tree, and just as soon as the buds have swollen to any extent, infection takes place. In previous years, growers have started spraying their trees when the buds were still dormant, but before this spray was completed, the buds had started to swell, so that under these conditions, the growers were not actually controlling peach leaf curl, but there was simply no source of infection present in the orchard. In case there is any doubt in your own mind about the advisability of following such a recommendation, you should, by all means, leave a few trees in your orchard this year unsprayed, so that you may satisfy yourself as to whether or not peach leaf curl is prevalent in your orchard.

Long after a man outgrows his belief in Santa Claus he still thinks there is some kind of a closed car that won't rattle.

A woman's intuition is marvelous, sure enough, but just the same she burns the toast now and then.

WEEKEND TRAFFIC HEAVIEST OF YEAR

More Than Twenty Thousand Vehicles Cross the Delaware River Bridge

Traffic Sunday over the Delaware River bridge, the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad and the Reading Railway was the greatest so far this year. The mild, invigorating weather increased both motor and railroad traffic. Automobile and passenger buses streamed across the Delaware River bridge. It was estimated that more than 28,000 vehicles crossed the span during the day.

On the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad more than 1500 persons traveled to Ocean City and Atlantic City on excursion trains. Nearly the same number of persons traveled to these two points over the Reading Railway. Officials of both corporations declared this was the largest number of persons in one day of the current year to visit seashore resorts.

However, officials declared, the patronage, in view of the decreased fares, has not reached the proportions of previous years before the advent of interstate buses. They pointed out that, despite the fact that the Atlantic City Commissioners have barred the buses from parking and unloading in the central section of the resort, the number of persons using the buses has not diminished.

PER CAPITA WEALTH PICTURED FOR LEADING INDUSTRIAL STATES

In proportion to its population, New Jersey leads all the other industrial states, Connecticut excepted, in wealth. See Figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board show the per capita wealth of the state to be $3,691, as against $3,593 for New York, $3,546 for Massachusetts, and $3,389 for Pennsylvania.

Among New Jersey's principal assets are the electric, gas and local transportation facilities assembled by Public Service. No state has a more comprehensive or more efficient system of public utilities to serve its people.

Items of Interest About the Scouts

Big Trip to Africa

Through the courtesy of George Palmer Putman and his fourteen-year-old son, David Binney Putman, of the firm of G. P. Putman & Sons, publishers, two American Scouts have been invited to accompany them on a trip to South Africa. The trip will be under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, big game hunters. It is planned to leave America in June and return probably in October. This opportunity that many boys have dreamed of and longed for is now a reality for two real scouts. Let us try our best to see if Burlington County cannot be represented on this wonderful adventure.

New Troops

It is with great satisfaction that we are able to announce the formation of two new troops this month.

The first, sponsored by the Central Baptist Church of Riverton and Palmyra, has as its Troop Committee James M. Weart, Chairman, Leslie W. Reeves, George H. Weaymans, Joseph G. Seel, Chester McConnell. The committee have appointed William R. Gerkins as Scoutmaster. This troop has promise of a great future.

The second, sponsored by Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church, is No. 2 of Riverton. Rev. Seymour H. Barker has been appointed Scoutmaster of this troop. Rev. Barker is an old British Scout and is very much enthused as to the outcome of his troop. He has already twenty-one applicants.

Sea Scouts

Mount Holly is forming a ship of Sea Scouts under the able leadership of Arthur D. Cross.

New Leaders

A new Scoutmaster has been secured for Troop 3 of Moorestown in the person of Henry H. Stiles. Mr. Stiles has done considerable work among the young people and is just the type of man that the boys love to have as a leader.

Troop 1 of Farnerville are again going stronger under the leadership of William McQuen. Mr. McQuen is a lover of the out-of-doors and is planning big times for the Farnerville boys.

Scouting in Burlington County is very much enriched by these splendid additions of men and boys.

PRISON BOARD MAY MAKE BIG CHANGE

Will Consider Employment of Civilian Clerks; Also More Guards

Substitution of civilian clerical help at the State Prison at Trenton for services now performed by inmates is one of the matters which will be considered at a meeting to be held in the near future by the special committee of the State Board of Control and the Prison Managers. In addition the special committee will consider the advisability of securing additional guards to man the wings and other portions of the prison.

Commissioner Ellis of the Department of Institutions and Agencies said that he had put a sum of money in the half mill tax to be used in rebuilding the wall between the prison property and that of the arsenal, and also for the strengthening of the walls surrounding the prison property.

These and various other matters will be considered at the meeting which was determined upon by the State Board of Control yesterday. They are the outcome of the recent inquiry conducted by both the managers and the legislative committee into the recent attempted getaway of Harry Baxter and Frank Wunkowski, which resulted in the death of Keeper Joseph H. Tinney and the seriously wounding of Baxter.

Keystone Club Issues Warning

Denounces Annual Campaign of Magistrates Year Book as "Sandbagging"

"Beware of the persuasive voice on the telephone purporting to offer immunity in return for the placing of advertisements in Magistrates' and Constables' year Books and other publications," warns the Keystone Automobile Club. "The annual sand-bagging operations are in full swing in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and the usual harvest of $150,000 in motorists' money will be reaped by the easy-money boys unless car and truck owners make a determined stand against the grafters.

"There is no justification for the 'year books' and like publications except the desire of their promoters to rake in easy money. In many instances the commission of the solicitors—the boys who telephone messages from 'Judge' Whoosis or 'Squire' Whatnot—amounts to 60 per cent. Thus, a $100 advertisement nets the telephone artist a neat return. So far as the victim is concerned it nets him nothing, except to definitely establish his right to be kept on the sucker's list.

"The game of the magistrates' and constables' publication promoters is to lead the advertiser to believe he will be exempt from prosecution for motor violations. As a matter of fact, reputable justices of the peace have nothing to do with the so-called associations and the promised immunity vanishes into thin air.

"Truck owners are the particular object of the drive this year. It is represented to them by the solicitors that they can save money by not having shipments delayed through arrest of drivers. 'We take care of our friends,' is the favorite expression of the promoters.

"The Keystone Automobile Club has time and again called attention of the public to the unsavory operations of these associations. We believe that pitiless publicity is the only remedy until the legislatures definitely proscribe the practices that are a blot on the minor judiciary."

FEB. BRIDGE TOLLS

Show Big Gain Over Last Year; Extra Day Big Help

Delaware River Bridge revenues last month showed an increase of $60,258.70 over February, 1927, according to a statement by Joseph R. Costello, manager of the bridge. An extra day this February added materially to the receipts over last year.

Receipts during February, 1928, were $169,776.10. Last year $109,518.40 were collected. The traffic over the bridge likewise increased. Last month, 556,440 vehicles used the bridge, an increase of 109,066 over February, 1927.

Coal may be high, but after it is once in the bin it soon gets lower.

HOOVER CLUBS ARE BEING ORGANIZED

Men and Women Prominent in Republican Political Circles Taking Active Part

Organization of Hoover clubs throughout New Jersey has been begun by Hoover Clubs of New Jersey, Inc., with headquarters in the Military Park Building, Newark. Representatives Franklin W. Fort, of East Orange, has been chosen president and United States Senator Walter E. Edge, honorary president. Men and women active in State Republican circles will serve as county chairmen and on the executive committee. They will be selected in the next few days.

Other officers are: Vice-president, Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, Red Bank; treasurer, Michael Loprete, South Orange; executive secretary, Julian Zelchenko, Montclair. Former State Senator Arthur Whitney, of Mendham, is chairman of the executive committee, and vice chairmen are Mrs. W. Reginald Baker, Madison, Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Short Hills.

RUMORED POLITICAL CHANGES

One of the political yarns going the rounds recently has it that Joseph L. Thomas, of Cinnaminson, a Camden lawyer, who has been on the county tax board of years, was to be appointed to a place in the proposed new Bridge Commission which some of the South Jersey Republican politicians had all framed up, and that Fred Lippincott, of Moorestown, defeated for renomination for Freeholder last June, was to be given the vacancy thus created on the tax board. No confirmation of the scheme was obtainable in any quarter, however, and finally, this week, the plan to name a new South Jersey Bridge Commission and to put the skids under Thomas S. Barlow, the Maple Shade war horse, in the operation, was side-tracked. There is to be no change in the present Bridge and Tunnel management for another year at least.

County "Y" to Hold Youth Conference

All Day Session in Moorestown Community House Scheduled March 24

The Burlington YMCA will conduct a one-day young men's conference in the Moorestown Community House Saturday, March 24, 9.30 a. m. to 8.30 p. m.

The program and discussion will center around "What shall I choose as my occupation?", "How can I find out what I am best fitted for?", "What am I going to do" and "What preparation should a fellow make for life work?" These are problems faced by every young man.

The speakers will be Ralph P. Bridgman, of Philadelphia, a skilled leader in the art of handling discussing groups, and William F. Overman, of Moorestown, chairman of the Burlington County YMCA committee.

The conference schedule follows: Registration, 9.30-9.45; 9.45-10 get' acquainted period; 10-11 discussion period under Mr. Bridgman's leadership on the problems involved in discovering one's life work; 11-12 short talks by business and professional men on their own life work; 12 conference photograph.

Luncheon 12.15; 1.15 tour of inspection over the Community House; 1.30-3 afternoon sessions with more short talks by additional business and professional men in which each man will deal with his own occupation; selections on the auditorium orthophonic interspersing; 3-4 recreational period with all kinds of games in the gymnasium; 5.45 swimming period in the Community House pool; 6 banquet in the Presbyterian Church Chapter House.

Bacharach Seeks Return to Capitol

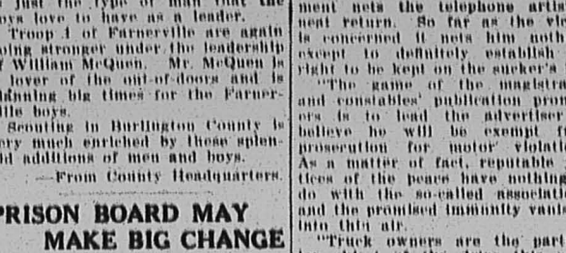

Representative From This District Stands on Record in Congress

Congressman Bacharach last week announced his candidacy for re-election to the house of Representatives and petitions, in support of his nomination are now in circulation. It has been the intention of the Congressman to make his formal announcement at a later date, but the receipt of a number of petitions bearing the signatures of several hundred voters of Burlington county which have been put in circulation in the county entirely without his knowledge, has prompted the Congressman to make public announcement at this time.

"In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the House of Representatives, subject to the will of the Republican voters at the Primary election on May 15, and to the will of all the voters of the Second Congressional District at the general election in November, I want to express my appreciation and thanks for the honor which has already come to me from the members of my own Party who have chosen me as their candidate, and to all others who have voted for me at the general elections.

"In asking for a continuance of of the good will of my constituents I offer for their approval my past record as their representative in Congress as a pledge of my efforts to serve them in the future. I am deeply sensible of the many honors that have come to me during the past years of my public life, and it it my earnest desire to continue to serve the people of my District as best I can; with that end in view I place my cause in the hands of the voters of my District for their consideration and action."

To Secure Ideal Heating Service Heat Your Home With Gas

GAS, best of all fuels, becomes more popular each year as a house heating agent. No other fuel gives you the comfort of well regulated heating with so little trouble as does gas used in an automatic furnace. Gas is delivered to you as it is used. It is paid for after it is used.

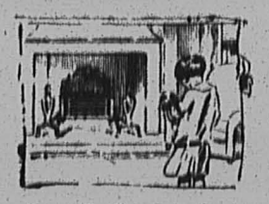

The gas boiler or furnace is equipped with devices for automatic operation, and requires little attention. It works equally well with steam, hot water, vapor or warm air systems.

In gas house heating Public Service sells you a remarkable service. The apparatus itself will wear as long as the pipes and radiators of your heating system, and Public Service will inspect and regulate it at regular intervals without charge.

To investigate gas house heating costs you nothing, while the results of your investigation may lead the way to increased comfort and convenience in your home.

Reduction in Price of Gas Fireplace Heaters

Whether in the form of glowing coals, blazing logs or conventional heater design, the gas heater is a popular means of bringing warmth and cheer to the fireplace. Public Service stores sell the best makes only, and for a limited time all gas heaters are being sold at reduced prices. These new low prices begin at $14.40 and many of these reduced prices include connection.

Gas coalfire illustrated reduced in price to $43 cash, [illegible] or $5 down and 12 months to pay, connected.

Gas Heat Dries Clothes Safely

AT all times of the year the gas clothes dryer, because of its careful ventilation, not only dries materials quickly, but leaves them fresh and sweet smelling.

A gas clothes dryer may be purchased on the easy payment plan at Public Service stores, small sum down and small sum monthly. Special cash price $120 installed.

Designed for Gas Range Use

There are several utensils designed for cooking with gas that help the housekeeper to get splendid results—among them are the Waffle Iron

the Griddle Baker
the Toaster
the Better Biscuit Baker

Set complete sells for $3.99 cash.

Athletic Show by Legion is Success

Wrestling, Fencing and Boxing Exhibitions Given at the Fire House

The Legion Athletic show at the Palmyra Firehouse Tuesday night was much appreciated by all who were fortunate enough to be there. Carl Thomas, who is an athletic coach at the University of Pennsylvania, is to be thanked for this very successful evening. This show was open to the public and many local men were present.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Legion was held at the Legion Home earlier in the evening. Rex McCrossen, County Commander, and member of the County Committee were present at the meeting.

After the routine business had been attended to a parade was formed and the County Officials were escorted to the Firehouse. The parade was led by a color guard carrying a large American flag and also the Legion Colors. Next in line was the State Champion Drum and Bugle Crops of Post Rodgers. Members of the Legion and its guests followed.

Carl introduced the wrestling coach who made a short speech in behalf of his chosen profession. He told how wrestling had developed since the time of the early Egyptians, saying it was the oldest competitive sport known to mankind. He discussed the universal aspect of the sport which is practiced in every country, telling his interested audience of the high development of wrestling in Japan. He corrected the impression that all of the Japanese were little men, saying that their wrestlers were developed for generations until now all of them are over six feet and weight from 200 to 400 pounds.

Three Wrestling Bouts

The wrestling program consisted of three bouts in three different classes. The lightweights surprised the spectators by their speed and the agility with which they were able to handle themselves. The heavyweights were not so fast but nevertheless there were thrills aplenty. Especially for the occupants of the ringside seats. Several times the big boys came near throwing each other into the laps of the ringside spectators. The choice seats were not so desirable just at that moment.

The next attraction was the fencing bouts. No one seemed to know much about this gentle art except the contestants themselves. One thing sure, in order to have a successful bout everyone must be properly saluted. After the formalities have been complied with the boys endeavor to stick their weapons through some part of their opponent's anatomy and of course the most proficient one wins.

The most exciting feature was the boxing bouts. Charles Decker, the coach, gave a novel exhibition which he calls a Marathon bout. The action never stops, as soon as one round is finished two more boxers take the floor. There were four students of the manly art and the coach and between them all there was plenty of action.

Young at 45

The coach is a young fellow about 45 years old and weighed at least 50 pounds less than the lightest of his proteges but nevertheless was able to make them look foolish any time he chose. At one time he took all four of them for a round each in succession and socked them all as often as he wished.

The commanders of several nearby Posts of the American Legion were present and after the bouts were over they were introduced. They all had many words of praise for the activities of Post Rodgers. Jack Whomsley, Commander of Riverside Post and County Vice-Commander, complimented the Drum and Bugle Corps, saying it was the best he had heard anywhere in the state.

Mayor George N. Wimer was called on to make a speech which he did in a very effective manner. He praised the Legionnaires as being heroes in war and the firemen as being the heroes of peace and expressed his pleasure at seeing them united in the evening's program.

Legionnaire and Fire Chief Joe Stack was called on and in a few seconds he appeared from the kitchen where he had been busy preparing sandwiches and coffee. Being both a fireman and Legionnaire he expressed his pleasure at seeing them united in common enterprises and invited all to partake of the refreshments which he was helping to prepare.

Chief of Police "Morry" Beck was called on and he told the boys how much he enjoyed the show and expressed the wish that the Legion and Firemen might get together again in the future.

A vote of thanks was given to all who took part in the evening's program.

EISLEY LEADS

Palmyra Basketball Captain Stands First in Scoring

Captain Jack Eisley, stellar forward of the Champion Palmyra High School quintet, annexed the individual scoring honors in the Camden Suburban Basketball League during the past season with 116 points in ten games. This is an average of 11.6 points per game which is a notable performance in any league.

Four of Palmyra's Varsity players are grouped among the first ten in point scoring ability. The individual scoring records for ten games follow:

TALENT DAY

All those who are saving March 15 are going to have a most enjoyable time that afternoon.

Every member of the Riverton P. T. A. has some part in this meeting. There are "talents" of all kinds, and most of them will be on display. You will enjoy the program furnished by some of the members. There will be pretty things to wear, useful things for the house, and good things to eat. All these things will be made by members of the association and will be on sale at reasonable prices.

Every one who attended Talent Day last year was enthusiastic about it. You will miss a delightful afternoon if you do not come to the school auditorium at 3.15 Thursday, March 15.

Articles for sale will be on display before and after the program.

Looking Ahead in Beetle Fight

State Department of Agriculture Launching Campaign Against Pest

The New Jersey Department of Agriculture is launching a campaign against the Japanese Beetle, that will save municipalities and property owners in the vicinity of Trenton large sums of money for spraying.

In the face of the approach of the beetle in large numbers the coming summer, municipalities and property owners are being advised to plant only those varieties of trees and shrubs that are not attacked by the beetle.

Under the direction of V. I. Safro, formerly of California, recently appointed by Secretary of Agriculture William B. Duryee to take charge of the Department's Japanese Beetle suppression work, it has been found possible to set trees and shrubs of certain varieties upon which the beetle will not feed even though on the verge of starvation. Mr. Safro has further discovered that these trees which are immune to the beetle are as vigorous growers, just as adaptable for shade purposes and can stand the climatic and soil conditions as well as some that are subject to beetle attacks.

In mapping out this campaign, the State Department of Agriculture and the Japanese Beetle Laboratory at Moorestown are looking ahead 100 years into the future to insure the safety of the trees that are to be planted. Realizing that the planting of such trees as linden, elms and sassafrass means spraying costs for the next 100 years or longer, the Department is advising the planting of trees that are immune and which never will require spraying as long as the beetle is a menace.

To Save Thousands Yearly

In the heart of the beetle territory, it is now found necessary to expend thousands of dollars to protect the trees. With the idea of saving towns the necessity of spending this money year after year, the campaign to recommend trees that are immune has been planned.

While Mr. Safro has been with the Department only a few months, he has mapped out a list of trees and shrubs that are immune to beetle attacks, yet given the municipality and the property owner just as much shade, with all its natural beauty, just as vigorous a grower, which are adapted to Trenton conditions and the heavy expense of spraying has been eliminated.

A survey conducted early this months shows that a third of a million dollars is to be expended this spring in New Jersey by municipalities and shade tree commissions and another half million by property owners to beautify their homes. With the idea of aiding in the planting of these trees, the Department of Agriculture is taking a forward step with this campaign of saving a matter of a hundred thousand dollars a year to the property owners who set trees that are immune to the beetle.

The program by Mr. Safro has been carried to the point where a list of shrubs are adaptable to local conditions, yet are immune to the beetle. For the property owner who is particular about what kind of trees he wants around his home, the Department has classified trees, shrubs and flowering ornamentals as to their susceptibility to the beetle attacks. This information will be published in a leaflet form in the near future, which will be mailed free to all interested parties.

This comprehensive plan of meeting the beetle on his own ground by removing his food supply is to supplement the present program of spraying trees and plants. This new defensive plan is started at this time to limit the area that must be sprayed if trees are to be saved from the beetle attack.

No changes are contemplated in other lines to let up in the fight on the beetle. The work with the parasites is to continue unabated, the search for new baits and traps is to continue at full speed and the development of new contact sprays with far more effective properties than heretofore used are yet to be announced and the spray program is to continue along the lines followed last season. Every former line of attack is to be followed along with the new angle that is being handled by Mr. Safro.

Winkie's Palmyra A. C. Defeats Willingboro Five

Palmyra A. C. increased its winning streak to fifteen straight games, rallying in the second half to overcome Willingboro YMCA in a game played Thursday night on the latter's court, score 32 to 27.

The "Y's" were leading at the end of the first half, 14 to 8, but weakened after the intermission, while "Winkie's" outfit caught up and surpassed the Willingboro quintet.

A field goal by West in the last minute of play decided a close game between the reserve teams, Palmyra Reserves conquered by a single point margin, the final figures standing at 27 to 26.

Says Aero Club's Field is "Great"

"Bob" Hewitt Makes Special Trip to Inspect Site Near Moorestown

Robert Hewitt, noted aviator, has pronounced the Burlington County Aero Club's airport "great."

Mr. Hewitt, or "Bob," as he is best known in flying circles, made a special trip to Moorestown to inspect the field with H. H. Langaker, president of the county aero club, and William de R. French. "Bob" flew from the Philadelphia airport to Camden and then motored to Moorestown.

"Say, this is wonderful," declared the famous flier. "You have a great field here. A plane can take off or land from any direction in perfect safety."

He sees a great future for the Burlington County Aero Club. No matter how large a plane is, it will be able to land on the field, he asserted, and it will make one of the finest student fields in this section. Great air meets could be conducted from such an afrport, he said, and it will be an ideal starting point for long or endurance flights where the planes are overloaded and need a long runway to take off.

Plenty of Room

Accidents similar to the one at Crescent field, Sunday, will not occur at the Burlington County Aero Club's field. The motor "conked out" when the ship was about 200 feet above the ground, and due to marshy land to the west of Crescent boulevard, the pilot had to bank his plane, or turn around, in making the forced landing. The local field is so located that if a motor fails just after leaving the ground the pilot will have sufficient space, due to desirable and flat adjacent land, to make an easy landing from any direction and avert such an accident.

Mr. Hewitt is one of this section's outstanding aviators. He is operations manager and chief pilot of the Ludington Philadelphia Flying Service, operators of the Philadelphia Municipal Airport.

The exact location of the club's field will not be made public until all legal negotiations relative to leasing the site have been completed.

50 Attend Meeting

A crowd of at least 50 members attended a business meeting of the club in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening. Mr. Longaker highly praised the work of the field committee and it was appointed a permanent committee and will supervise the operation of the field and have it improved just as as soon as the land has been legally acquired.

The club has accepted the invitation of the Camden Chamber of Commerce and a number of its members will attend a luncheon at the Walt Whitman Hotel, Camden, this Friday afternoon to hear an address by William Stout, of the Ford-Stout aircraft interests.

Two women became members of the club Monday evening. They are Caroline H. LeConey, Moorestown, who will take flying instructions, and Betty D. Scanlon, Palmyra.

Other new members include: Albert MacFarland, Roebling; W. Everett Worrell, C. Harry Doughty, W. Norton Kirby, Mount Holly; G. W. Jones, R. C. Sherman and Leland S. Lewis, Riverside.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening, March 19.

COMMUNITY WELFARE

The regular monthly meeting of the officers and directors of the Association will meet in the YMCA building this evening at 8 o'clock p. m.

We still have six weeks of extensive work to look forward to and then hope that business conditions will be such that many of those now out of employment will be placed. The demand for relief seems to be at the peak.

Any organizations that have not donated their full share for this work are asked to make an additional contribution now as the demand is very heavy on the Association.

If you can furnish employment for any of our men who are out of work, we will appreciate it.

George N. Wimer, President.

He Didn't Want It—But Try To Take It Away

He asked his wife to order an extension telephone for his upstairs den so that he could answer and make calls without coming downstairs.

Our company had instructions from her for two extensions and put them in—one in the den, the other in the bedroom, and both on the same line with the main telephone downstairs.

For a week our friend was too busy to call our business office to have the supposed mistake corrected, and in that time the two extensions proved their worth many times over. They are still in service.

CITIZENS LAY WATER RATES BEFORE RIVERTON COUNCIL

Attorney Advises It Is Not Necessary to Wait Until End of Year for Change

TAX DELINQUENTS WILL BE PUBLISHED

The new water rates came up for discussion at the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night, and the members of that body were a unit in the thought that Council should do what it could to help secure a satisfactory adjustment of the matter. Citizens present cited instances of great increases in the amounts charged, ranging from 130 to 300 per cent.

In this connection Councilman Hubbs called attention to the public meeting advertised for Thursday evening, March 15, by the Riverton Chamber of Commerce to consider means of dealing with the rate question, and suggested that the members of Council attend in a body.

Harry L. Unland, one of the citizens present, said that the private ownership of water companies is a throwback to the time when turnpikes, bridge and other public works were privately owned. Water is one of the most important public requirements, said Mr. Unland, and Council has power to take action to protect the community if it deems wise to do so. He cited the action taken by the governing bodies of Montclair and the Oranges, which appointed a joint commission to secure possession of and operate the water plant supplying those cities.

Need Not Wait a Year

A letter was read from the borough attorney in which he said that he had attended the hearing on the water company's request for an advance in rates before the Public Utilities Commission on September 27, and while he found that the borough was not directly interested, inasmuch as there was to be no change in the rates on fire hydrants and similar service, he felt that the borough council was interested in its citizens, and had succeeded in having the Commission make a ruling to the effect that the new rates should be considered as experimental or trial rates, to be readjusted after a fair trial covering a period of one year.

It was also agreed, the attorney's letter said, that the water company should file periodical reports at least quarterly, showing the revenues from various classes of customers, the understanding being that if the filing of these statements showed any unfairness to any one or all of the various classes, it would be best to have them readjusted during the trial year, without waiting for the full period to elapse.

Citizens Should Act

The attorney expressed the opinion that while it was not the business of Council to criticise the water company's rates to individual consumer's, it is possible for that body to take an interest at least as a sympathetic observer, and offered to report to Council the reaction of the Commission on the first quarterly report filed.

In closing, the attorney recommended that at the end of the trial year, October 1, 1928, the citizens of the borough, through the Chamber of Commerce or some similar organization, should go very thoroughly into the matter of rates, as they should be either adjusted or made permanent at that time.

The letter was received and filed, and the clerk was instructed to request Attorney Read to inform Council as to the attitude of the Public Utilities Commission toward the first quarterly report filed by the water company.

Councilman Harry L. Randall, chairman of the fire and water committee, and member of the police committee, reported for both committees, in the absence of Edward R. Williams, chairman of the police committee.

Do Not Need Our "Cops"

On the proposition of contributing toward the support of the Riverton police department owing to the service rendered to citizens of the township, the township committee of Cinnaminson had replied that it saw no reason why Riverton officers should be called into the township, as that municipality had an officer of its own.

"HER STEP-HUSBAND" READY TO GREET YOU

Mary Marshall will introduce to the public, Friday and Saturday evenings, her true husband in the role of James, a butler, and "Her Step-Husband" who nearly throws away a chance for "Rough House Willie" to inherit Grandpa Paisley's property.

This three act whirlwind comedy contains the eternal triangle, false love and true love, and a real honest-to-goodness thunderstorm.

Limpy Lannigan will be closely watched by Officer Shea to see that he does not relieve any of our friends of their valuables — Limpy is some yeggman.

Don't forget to see this show and incidentally aid in furthering the dental work being carried on in the Westfield School.

Minstrel Show in Two More Weeks

Novelty Skits and Local Hits Will be Big Feature; Get Tickets Now

Two weeks to go! Nothing can stop those fellows at the YMCA from putting on the best minstrel show that ever came to Palmyra and Riverton.

The fellows are practicing much and faithfully; practically every man knows his part; there is no doubt that it will be a good show, and you are only keeping yourself from having a good time and are falling down in supporting the boys of your community if you delay in buying your tickets any longer. Remember! as you support the children of your community today, so will they support your children's children. Let's go and give the boys the necessary push to put this minstrel show over big.

The first part to be presented will be the regular minstrel circle with the end men and the interlocutor trying hard to get the best of one another. Several novelty features will be brought in during this part of the show. (A request of all who attend on Friday night, don't tell anyone what happened during the show, or it will spoil it for Saturday night.)

Besides this part of the show with its side-splitting jokes and comical and modern songs, the second part of the show will consist of the following sections:

"The Rooster Club of Blackville." A colored comedy, a political burlesque, with the funniest negro cast imaginable. They are all running for some office, judge, chicken inspector, razor inspector, crap game inspector or some other political office that would be necessary in a negro Utopia. Watch Charles Augustus Hotfoot, who is too slow to run for anything.

The "The Royal Order of Ham and Eggs." A negro lodge turns to preparation for war. A real mirth provoking, side-splitting negro comedy. Come find out what rank in the army is the rankest.

"What You Got?" A jug, a negro who is curious, two bits for one teeny-weeny measly li'l shot. Find out for yourself what kind of birds can live in a jug.

"A Hen-pecked Coon." This old negro is married—but let him tell you of the woes and ohs of his married life.

Buy your tickets from the fellows who call on you, or call Riverton 1019 and we will deliver them to you. Adults tickets are 50c each. Children 25c each. Get them this week.

PORCH CLUB

The Porch Club of Riverton is planning a big day for Tuesday, March 20. As hostess, the Club will entertain the department conference for the first district of the Federated Women's Clubs of New Jersey, at the Parish House of Christ Church, Riverton. The morning session will convene at 10.30 and the afternoon session at 2 p. m. The subjects under discussion will be art, public welfare, publicity, gardens and literature. Miss Mary L. Robbins, First District Vice-President will take charge of the conference. Mrs. Chauncey Marsh, Literature Chairman, Mrs. L. C. Ogden Vice President, and Mrs. Myron W. Robinson, Chairman of the Junior are among the state officers who will be present.

A buffet luncheon for 50 cents will be served. Make reservations to Mrs. Edward K. Merrill, telephone, Riverton 54-J not later than March 16.

The conference will be an open meeting and all interested are invited.

ARTISANS

The regular meeting of Palmyra Assembly, 65 A. O. M. P., will be held March 20 at 8.15 sharp.

All Artisans are requested to attend. We promise you a short snappy business meeting, with an initiation and a good entertainment and also there is the mysterious hour prize. Come out and see if Mrs. Luck smiles at you. We also have a surprise for every Artisan who attends. We promise that you will see something that you have never seen before, in Palmyra. Nuff said. To the Wise.

HOW TO EAT

Dr. Lippincott Says Foods in Some "Family" Should be Eaten Together

Vim and vitamines, protein and pep were keynotes in a pleasant talk on "Foods" given by Dr. Rebecca Conrow Lippincott, of Moorestown, to the members of the Parent-Teacher Association of Westfield Public School, Cinnaminson.

Food, the way we eat it and the way we prepare it, means health or lack of it. All of us overeat. If we eat less food our bodies have a better chance to make full use of that which we do eat. Dr. Lippincott pointed out the general groupings of foods and stressed that foods of one type, for instance proteins, should be eaten together because of the variance of digestive reactions caused by different food groups. For that reason it seems better to have a protein meal, or a starch meal, etc., and in so doing give our bodies a chance to build up rather than tear down.

Each member was given a food chart and a mimeographed copy of meal possibilities under this new regime.

"Child Welfare" has been subscribed to for the school nurses to circulate as they see fit. It is especially adapted to Parent-Teacher use, and it is hoped many of the Parent-Teacher Association members will avail themselves of the opportunity to use it.

The date of the April meeting has been changed to April 18.

GRADER WORKS

Palmyra Borough's New Machine Aids in Snow Storm

The recent snow storm presented an opportunity to demonstrate the utility of Palmyra Borough's new one man grader. Immediately after the snow fell the grader was on the job clearing the gutters on Broad street. By making one trip up the street the gutters were cleared of slush and opened for drainage.

Employees of the street department were out early clearing the snow from the street intersections all over town.

Rev. Lee Returns to Epworth Church

Fred B. Morley, Former Pastor Here, Goes to Moorestown

The many members and friends of the Epworth M. E. Church, as well as the townspeople of Palmyra and Riverton, were very glad to learn that the Rev. J. William Lee was returned to Palmyra for another year by Bishop F. Berry in the closing session of the 92 nd annual New Jersey Methodist Episcopal Conference held in Atlantic City over the weekend.

The Rev. Fred B. Morley was transferred from the Atlantic Highlands Church to Moorestown. The Rev. Marshall Owens was assigned to the Chelsea Church in Atlantic City from Moorestown and the Rev. A. Robinson has been assigned to Pennington from the Hamilton Avenue Church, Trenton.

S. Monroe VanSant was transferred from the Salem Church, of Pleasantville to Northfield.

Other changes are: Rev. Henry M. Lawrence of the Merchantville Methodist Episcopal Church to the First Church of Atlantic City; Rev. W. A. Boyd from the First Church of Bridgeton to Merchantville; Rev. Henry Miller has been returned to Riverside and Rev. F. P. Meeks, formerly of Palmyra, has been returned to the Tabernacle and Indian Mills Churches.

Rev. Kenneth Stevens, well-known to many Palmyrians, has been returned to the Marlton M. E. Church. Rev. William H. Libe to the North Wildwood Church and Rev. Norman V. Sargeant to Ocean City.

Robert Coward, Jr., a student at Drew Seminary who is taking a course for the ministry, passed his first year's examination at the New Jersey Conference. Mr. Coward, however, will not take an appointment, but will continue his studies at Drew Seminary.

Get Your Tickets for "And How" Now

Best Seats Will Soon be Gone, Public is Warned; So Buy at Once

The Palmyra Lions club has started an intensive drive to dispose of the remaining tickets, for "And How," the Lions Roar of 1928, which will be held April 19, 20 and 21.

There are still plenty of good tickets left but the person who wants to be sure of seeing the show to best advantage would do well by purchasing his cards of admission at once, as the better seats will soon be at a premium.

Lee Milton, who is furnishing the music for the rehearsals, wrote the following letter to the club recently to give the members an idea of just what he thought of the show:

"TO THE LIONS"

Some time ago you asked me to give my impression of the music, etc., of the coming show "And How!" I had then only heard, or rather played the choruses for the dancing. Up to that point I was very pleased with the music and also the dancing numbers, which were forming very well.

But now you don't have to ask me how I like the music of "And How." I just can't help telling you. As I go farther and farther into it I get more and more entranced with it. I have at present two shows which I am accompanying and usually these constant rehearsals of dancing numbers become very monotonous to the pianist.

Last night I got home rather late after rehearsing a Camden Minstrel Show and felt very tired. A good rest would have been very welcome but the everlasting ringing of the telephone started. Just as I thought, it was Lion Kates, "You didn't forget the rehearsal, Milton, did you?" No, I didn't forget and here is the part I want to tell you of. It was the principals' rehearsal and I was so impressed and delighted with the actors and the acting that I can't help telling you that after all I went home very refreshed and as I said before, very much impressed and I have nothing but praise for the author, composer and actor, Frank Mathews and his co-partner Kates, also the rest of the cast.

Let me prophesy nothing but a grand success for this fine show. I have played in many, many shows but this is really a "topper" and I feel it an honor to be at the piano

Yours sincerely,
Lee Milton.

STAG CARD PARTY

The stag card party given by the Riverton Fire Company Tuesday night was attended by about one hundred guests. John Lochowitz won the door prize, and Bill Steedle won first prize in pinochle. After the playing was over the men came downstairs and enjoyed a fine lunch served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The boys wish to take this opportunity to thank the merchants of Riverton and Palmyra for the many beautiful prizes they so willingly donated.

ENTHUSIASM HIGH IN R. A. A.

Many on Waiting List for Membership; Meetings Are Well Attended

RIVERTON NOT TO JOIN COUNTY BALL LEAGUE

A meeting of the Riverton Athletic Association was held at the office of William B. Lynch, Monday evening, March 12. An attendance of 22 showed an interest in Riverton athletic projects and other activities that was very gratifying to the officers and several committees.

The junior athletic and baseball committee presented and outlined various plans to promote athletics among the young boys and girls. This brought about an interesting and enthusiastic discussion in which the committee's first step was heartily approved.

Riverton and the Athletic Association is very fortunate in having on the junior committee, James Knapp, Walter C. Wright and Robert C. Ayres. They are enthusiastic and earnest workers. They proposed to send a letter to every household which will be addressed to the family. Parents will be urged to help interest the boys in the junior rally to be held soon, at which time junior baseball club plans will be presented.

An interesting feature of the meeting was a discussion about the advisability of joining the Burlington County Baseball League, Riverton having been invited to join. A motion was made and after all members had been called upon to state their views, it was decided almost unanimously that it was not advisable, it being the consensus of opinion that the Association had promised our citizens amusement at our own Memorial Park at least once every week, League games would necessitate going away.

Plans for the senior baseball club are progressing finely. A motion being presented, it was decided by a vote of the whole to limit the expenditures per game to a maximum reasonable amount. Nearby players will be used whenever possible, keeping in mind the desire to strengthen the weak points of last year's club. The Association wants to have a baseball club of which Riverton will be proud. If this can be brought about a large attendance at the games will be assured.

The Association waiting list is growing which shows that an interest is being taken and they hope when the public is called upon to support their efforts that every one will respond with a liberal contribution to the collectors, who will make a house-to-house canvass.

Another meeting of the Association will be held next Monday evening, March 19.

The Riverton Athletic Association wishes to publicly express its appreciation of the interest shown by the townspeople in the public meeting held in Collins' Hall last Tuesday evening.

ST. PATRICK DANCE AT K. of C. HOME

Novelties, Lucky Number Dances, Vocal and Instrumental Music

Departing from the usual schedule for a dance, the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Council have completed final arrangements for entertaining a large crowd at the K. of C. headquarters on Saturday night, March 17.

Special musical numbers and vocal selections are the attractions which will be offered aside from novelties, lucky number dances and two gold pieces for door prizes.

The committee in charge have been fortunate in securing St. Francis Xavier orchestra who were so well received on their last visit to Palmyra.

The decorations in the hall are of unusual arrangement, and Miss Mae Burns, who is head of this novel entertainment, predicts an overflow crowd and a real good time for every one who visits the K. of C. hall next Saturday night.

PALMYRA P. O. S. of A. QUOIT STARS WIN

Locals Obtain Revenge on White Horse Tossers, 10—6

The Palmyra P. O. S. of A. quoit team tasted sweet revenge over the White Horse tossers Monday night. A few weeks ago the Palmyra team traveled to White Horse to pit their cunning against the elite of Trenton's suburban wizards but returned dejected. Just why has never been revealed unto ye inquiring reporter although much talk has been heard about short distances and other peculiarities of the little rubber doughouts used in the vicinity of Trenton.

But Monday night, well, that's different. Details of the games are given freely on every street corner, in fact a sheet of paper with all the scores written down in black and white found its way into the editorial sanctim.

It seems that when the smoke of battle cleared away Monday night the Palmyra tossers had tucked away decisions in ten of the games while the White Horse boys had to contend themselves with six.

Here's the details:

Griscom and Marshall defeated Hartz and Hartz three games, 25-4, 25-17, 25-8.

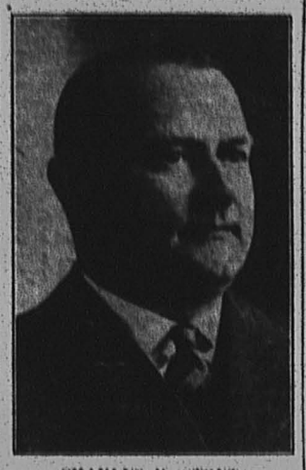

Lloyd and Sirabile, Palmyra, lost two games to Holzbauer and Scott, 25-14, 25-15.

Lamon and Coles, Palmyra, defeated Holzbauer and Scott three games, 25-15, 25-16, 25-23.

Coombs and Groff, Palmyra, defeated Leaman and Larson three games, 25-13, 25-19, 25-18, and lost one 24-26.

Reeves and Davis, Palmyra, defeated Golby and Olsen one game, 25-17, and lost three, 13-25, 20-25, 14-25.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

CHARLES R. STOUT

Freeholder Stout Asks Renomination

Director of Roads Announces Candidacy; "Progress With Economy," is Slogan

Charles R. Stout, member of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, and director of the department of roads, has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election. His platform is "Progress, with Economy."

Mr. Stout has served as head of the road committee for nine years, and it is largely through his efforts that Burlington county adopted a progressive road program several years ago which has resulted in the construction of many miles of improved roads each year. His experience and devotion to the interests of the people will enable him to render signal service to the county.

Mr. Stout has been re-elected four successive years as president of the New Jersey State Association of Chosen Freeholders, and has served as chairman of the Burlington County Republican Committee for the past five years.

Colonel Landon, Bordentown; Howard Eastwood, Burlington, and Mrs. Alice Sherman, of Moorestown, former State Committeewoman from Burlington county, constitute his vacancy committee, and Alfonza Adams, Florence, will be his campaign manager.

NEWCOMB FOR ASSEMBLY

Dr. Marcus W. Newcomb announces that he is a candidate for re-nomination for member of the General Assembly on the Republican ticket at the Primaries on May 15th.

Crash Sends Two Men to Hospital

Beverly Ambulance Wrecked When It Crashes Into Truck Wednesday Morning

Thomas Holland and Michael Schuck, of Beverly, were taken to the Riverside Hospital for injuries early Wednesday morning after the Beverly ambulance, which Holland was driving, crashed into a truck at the trolley siding east of Riverton.

Holland had made a trip to a city hospital and was on his way back when the accident occurred. The siding was occupied by a trolley and the fog prevented the ambulance driver from seeing the truck which was bound for Philadelphia. The truck driver, Marion Hollis, 134 West Thompson street, Philadelphia, tried to avoid a crash by driving his truck off the road. Holland tried to stop but in doing so skidded into the truck.

Hollis was held until a bond was furnished for his appearance in court.

There were four witnesses of the accident. They were Charles Cooper, 341 E. Pearl street, Burlington, who was passenger on the trolley; George Leon, Edward Adams and George Bellenger, of Riverside, who took the injured men to the Riverside Hospital, where Dr. Wagner gave them attention.

Officer Betty, Chief Beck and Mayor Wimer, of Palmyra and Officer Quigley, of Riverton were on the scene a few minutes after the crash.

Holland's injuries consisted of a cut over one eye and severe shock. Michael Schuck was cut in the face and also suffered a lacerated scalp.

FRANCES JACKSON

Wife of Monroe Jackson. Relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend funeral services on Friday, March 16, at 2 p. m., from the Trinity A. M. E. Church Wrightsville.

Friends may call at her late residence, Burlington Pike, on Thursday after 5 p. m. Funeral in charge of George W. Benson, Jr.

COMMISSION MAY AMEND WATER RATES BEFORE THE YEAR ENDS

RIVERTON RATE $4.60

Riverton's tax rate this year is $4.60—the biggest in the history of the borough. The increase is due almost entirely to large sums appropriated for borough and school expenditures.

The borough rate advanced from $1.11 last year to $1.54, and the school rate from $1.16 to $1.37.

State Road	$ .10	$ .10
State School	.27	.26
County	1.25	1.23
Borough	1.54	1.11
Borough School	1.37	1.16
State Institutions	.05	.05
Soldiers' Bonus	.02	.02
State Bridge & Tunnel	.00	.00
	$4.60	$3.98

Riverton Scouts Visit "Camporee"

Take in Big Exhibit at Commercial Museum Last Saturday; Had Big Day

A large "Camporee" was held in Philadelphia by the Boy Scouts of that city on Saturday afternoon and evening, at the Commercial Museum. Troop No. 1 of Riverton went to see this large affair with Scoutmaster Follet, in the afternoon at two o'clock. There were eight scouts, one "rookie" or recruit, and the scoutmaster with the troop. There were so many interesting happenings at the show that I won't attempt to relate all of them, but I will try to pick out the most interesting ones.

Upon entering the building we were amazed at the vast number of exhibits. Directly before the entrance there was a camping scene with a tent, a fire, and two boys doing the camp chores. Turning to the right at the "police" bidding we saw another camp, this time an automobile camp for a whole troop, with the kitchen and all the necessary paraphernalia. The athletic space was next to the right side of the aisle; on the left there were about hundred boys dressed as Indians, dancing Indian dances with a large crowd of spectators gathered around them. There were many exhibits of knot boards, handicraft, carpentry, wood carving, linoleum carving, plaster paris casts, fire building, basketry (by the blind Troop 141), troop museums, reptiles and animals, other camp scenes, first aid, safety and flag.

There were several scouting events held in a large cleared space at one end of the hall, the most interesting of which was a signal tower building contest.

The contestants were given ten strong poles and enough rope, no metal used) and were told the rules, then the starter yelled "go", and they did! They worked so fast that we couldn't follow all their movements. The winning team got a tower built in less than ten minutes, strong too—some going, believe me.

The champion axeman of the world was there. He cut a log two feet in circumference in half, in a minute and a half. He is an employee of the "Plumb Ax Company."

After having seen all the sights, we started home at five o'clock and arrived here before six in time for a good hot supper, after a good successful day.

BILL SHOEMAKER.

Three Odd Fellows Face Initiation

Degree Team of Old Cinnaminson 201 Proves to be in Fine Fettle

Despite the fact that the Degree team of Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201, IOOF has spent a few idle months, it proved to be in good form on Friday evening last when it conferred the Initiatory Degree on three new members, Brothers Thomas Beideman and Gilbert, of Palmyra and Brother Stein, of Riverside.

The regular average attendance was greatly augmented by the presence of members who have not graced the lodge room for some time, together with a number of visiting brothers and friends of the new members.

An honor was conferred on Degree Master Milton Jewett and Assistant Everett Wiggins, in the nature of a request from Bordentown Lodge, the home lodge of Grand Treasurer Cawley, that they be permitted to send seven of their candidates to Cinnaminson No. 201 on next Friday evening to receive the first degree. Their request was cheerfully granted. Thus, a class of ten members will receive instruction in the first degree and the Degree Master is making a special appeal to have a large attendance to carry on the work.

The "rolling stone" of enthusiasm has been "gathering new candidates." Two new applications were read on Friday evening. These candidates will enter the chair of Odd Fellowship next month and if all goes well this number will be added to materially before that time.

These are days when "Odd Fellowship" is really needed and this realization seems to have been sensed by the greater majority of the membership. It is by this thought that new candidates are attracted. It is by this thought that they are held as good members, and after all, that is what constitutes a good Lodge.

Everyone out Friday evening at eight o'clock promptly! An early start means an early ending, and gives more time for real social contact with the brothers.

WILL BE PREPARED FOR FINAL HEARING

Not Necessary to Wait Until Expiration of Trial Period Commission Agreed

Widespread interest has been aroused by the call of a public meeting by the Riverton Chamber of Commerce to consider means to securing relief from the present water rates which are considered by many to be excessive.

The meeting will be held in Collins' Hall Thursday (tonight) at 8 o'clock, and everyone is invited to be present. The borough officials of Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson Township and representatives of the water company have been sent special invitations. The president of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce will attend, and Ralph S. Rivers, who laid the matter before the Palmyra Chamber in detail at a recent meeting of that body, will address the meeting.

There has been a general impression, encouraged in some quarters, that nothing can be done about the rates until the expiration of the year for which they were granted. This is not correct, positive statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

In a letter to the borough council the attorney stated that the water company was required by the Public Utilities Commission to render quarterly reports on how the new rates were working out, and that if these reports showed injustice in any of the various classes, the commission recommended that it would be best to have them adjusted during the trial year without waiting for the full period to elapse.

The attorney also suggested that the Chamber of Commerce or some other representative of the people of the community should make a a thorough study of the situation and be ready to appear before the commission at the end of the trial period, which will be October 1, as the rates should either be adjusted or made permanent at that time.

'Printing the Paper' is Rotary Subject

Philadelphia Record Man Describes Process of Publishing Newspaper

Ross Anderson, National Advertiser of the "Philadelphia Record" told on Thursday evening last at the Rotary Club dinner just how the "13th Wonder of the World" was placed before the public.

The "13th Wonder" or the Show Window of the World as Mr. Anderson termed it is the daily newspaper. While Mr. Anderson represented the Public Record, he spoke of the modern newspaper wherever published.

He gave a very clear and concise description of the various methods used in gathering and preparing news. "Printing the paper," Mr. Anderson's second thought was no less interesting. He gave facts and figures as to quantities of paper and ink used, the number employed, the clock work schedule maintained for various editions, all of which seemed to be received with intense interest.

The last phase of publishing a newspaper is the circulation. "Getting the Paper to You" was very ably elaborated upon by Mr. Anderson. He told of the vast sums paid for territorial rights for distributing newspaper and the vast sums made on newspaper routes which was hardly conceivable when considering it was a two cent article.

As the time drew to close the meeting, Mr. Anderson still had a lot to tell. It was unfortunate, for many of the Rotarians seemed eager to hear all.

Many after dinner questions were answered by Mr. Anderson but there was not a Rotarian to be found in the Club room who expressed a desire to enter the editorial world.

The Club will not hold their meeting on Thursday evening of this week, but will attend a combined Rotary Club meeting in Moorestown on Wednesday evening. There will be about thirty-five present.

FIRST AID CLASSES

Red Cross Plans Instruction For County in Life Saving

At the monthly meeting of Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross held March 12, plans were discussed to start classes in First Aid and Life Saving in the County, with J. Lloyd Neal, of Bridgeboro, as instructor. It is felt the County YWCA and YMCA may be interested in this department of the Red Cross.

A Home Hygiene Department is about to form classes, with Mrs. John Severns, of Burlington, as County Chairman.

North Jersey Gets Bulk of Money

Only $1,500,000 of Road Appropriation Alloted to Lower End of State

South Jersey's share in the $31,000,000 highway building program for 1928 is $1,500,000.

The Trenton district, including Bordentown, will share in an expenditure of $3,535,000.

The balance will be expended in North Jersey.

These figures were revealed by the State Highway Commission. They are regarded as final except in cases of emergency.

Funds allotted to South Jersey are:

Completion of Crescent boulevard between Collingswood and Brooklawn, $600,000.

Connecting road, Woodbury to Crescent boulevard at Big Timber creek Westville, $200,000.

Paving seven miles of Route 48 in Cumberland county from Delmont to East creek at Claremont, $600,000.

Bids for the work will be received Monday. The projects contemplated constitute the largest in the history of the state, both in mileage and in money.

133 Miles to be Added

A total of 133 miles of hard- surfaced roadway will be added to the present improved road system in the state. A number of grade crossings will be eliminated and several bridges will be constructed.

Funds allotted to the Trenton-Bordentown district include $935,000 for concreting ten miles of Routes 25 and 29 in Burlington county converging at Bordentown. This includes a new underpass at the Pennsylvania Railroad at Bordetown.

Another central Jersey project included is the paving of 25 miles of the Brunswick pike between Trenton and New Brunswick at a cost of $2,600,000. The Brunswick pike a portion of Lincoln Highway, is the longest stretch of straight road in New Jersey.

The highway commision will ask bids today on paving one and one-half miles of Route 1 extension in Newark, a shorter alignment to the Holland tunnel. Specifications for this route are the most exacting ever asked by the state. The route is expected to carry the heaviest traffic.

More Bids to be Asked

The commission also will ask bids on placing concrete nine inches thick on one and one-half miles of Route 1 on Tonnele avenue, Jersey City. This route will be extended later from the state line at Rockleigh, Bergen county, across the state to Bayonne, Hudson county.

Bids will be asked next week for paving two miles of the new Route 25 between Crystal Lake, Burlington county and Burlington City. This route is part of the intended route between the Camden bridge and Holland tunnel.

Estimates for paving approaches to the new bridges over the Shark river at Belmawr and Avon, Monmouth county, also will be asked. These new spans are intended for use of summer traffic and will permit motorists with destinations south of the stream to avoid the present congestion at the wooden structure on Route 4 at Avon.

Thirty separate projects are included in the schedule.

Nearly one-half of the total will be expended in Hudson and Bergen counties. This work includes a new bridge over the Hackensack river and four railroad bridges to eliminate grade crossings. A bypass for Asbury Park will be constructed at a cost of $1,000,000.

Link to Cost $225,000

Connections for the new Perth Amboy-Staten Island bridge will cost $225,000. Approximately $4,000,000 will be expended to improve the state route between Jersey City and Rahway and $3,383,000 additional will be expended for paving between Rahway and New Brunswick, a distance of fourteen miles.

Nine miles of roadway to connect Peddie's Ditch, Newark, with Mountainside, Union county, including bridges, will be constructed at a cost of $3,750,000.

STATE PLANS TO DEVELOP FORESTS

Department of Conservation and Development to Purchase 200,000 Acres; Four Million Cost

Of five neighboring States comparable in social, industrial and economic conditions New Jersey is the most backward in the State Forest movement, with the exception of Maryland, but with its adopted State Forest program fully carried out this State will be in a position to cope with its urgent forest problem, according to a report made public Saturday by State Forester C. P. Wilber, of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Development.

Figures given out by Mr. Wilber show that out of a total forest area of about 2,000,000 acres the present area of New Jersey's State Forests is 21,781 acres. The purchase of this land began in 1907 and to date the total cost has been $134,438. This sum is very low in comparison with the neighboring States.

The State Forest program adopted for New Jersey by the Department of Conservation and Development calls for the purchase of a minimum of 200,000 acres at a cost of not more than $4,000,000. New Jersey has urgent need for such an area of State Forests in order to develop wild and backward sections of the State; to grow under State control and with its guaranteed permanency, at least part of the future timber supply necessary to avert a serious shortage; to demonstrate to private woodland owners the practicability and best methods of growing, protecting and harvesting timber crops; and to make adequate and permanent provision for public out-of-doors recreation.

IF YOU'RE EASY MARK BUY MAGISTRATE'S AD

Solicitors for the Philadelphia and Camden Magistrates Association are soliciting in Merchantville and Pennsauken township for advertisements in a magazine that has been regarded as a "hold-up game" for the past several years.

A membership card entitles the advertiser to "courtesies" from magistrates, should the holder get into trouble, according to the solicitors.

In spite of the fact that it has been exposed by Camden and Philadelphia newspapers as a "sucker proposition" absolutely valueless, and condemned by all self-respecting magistrates in South Jersey, the outfit continues to exist and apparently flourish on the money subscribed by "easy marks."

YWCA News

When a girl or woman joins our YWCA in Burlington County she becomes a member of the largest women's organization in the United States and in the world. Isn't it wonderful to realize that that organization isn't just a social group, or an education society, or a religious sect, but that it is a blending of all these three elements for the greatest benefit and happiness of girls everywhere. It helps the teen age girl to "face life squarely;" it brings them to understand their close relationship with God, and it gives them healthful recreation and lots of fun and lasting friendships.

To the older girls the YW gives the same benefits as to the younger ones, and helps them in the problems they meet in the business and social world. It instructs young mothers in homemaking and in the understanding and training of their children. To girls and young women all over the world the YWCA means welcome, and help, and cheer.

For three following weeks there will be a series of articles in the YW column, telling in more detail of the purposes, and ideals and work of the organization. We hope that you will be able to read them all, for then when the membership drive begins on April 16, you will know more definitely just why you want to be a member of the YW CA of Burlington County, either by renewing your membership or by joining for the first time.

The Moorestown Senior Club has a very interesting business meeting Monday night, March 5. Edith Ellis was elected as the new treasurer of the club. The club decided to devote a few minutes each week to business instead of having special business meetings. Each girl made a list of the things which she would like to do in club meeting. From these lists a worth-while program will be planned. The last part of the meeting was spent in singing folk-songs. Miss Dorothy Gebhart met with the club.

Vocational Guidance Aim of Young Men's County Conference

Direction County YMCA, Moorestown, March 24.

Ideas which are foundational to the Conference being held under Young Men's Christian Association Leadership in the Community House at Moorestown for young men Saturday, March 24, fall under these two heads:

First. That while a young man has before him unhampered opportunity for a variety of choice in the realms bearing on one's life work, and to enable him to choose wisely, he must know about his own capacities, the significance of his interests, and how to take them into account in relation to life work decisions, expedient training, etc. and on the other hand, he should begin to learn how to analyze jobs, occupations, professions, so in his own choosing, he will unite his best abilities and enthusiasms with his daily work.

Second. To stress the character prerequisites essential to success from the Christian viewpoint in any position, occupation, profession or calling. To assist young men in learning how to analyze jobs, occupations, professions, etc., to discover the line of direction of their own interests. A number of men recognized ability in various life work fields will have a place on the program. Speakers whose work fills in these fields have already been secured. Agriculture, medicine, law, the ministry, merchandising, banking, engineering, insurance, advertising, printing, teaching, salesmanship, business, manufacturing.

With the gymnasium available for various games, and especially basketball, and with a period especially set aside for the Conference delegates in the Community House pool, fine recreation opportunities will be enjoyed by the delegates. Then, too, by way of entertainment, arrangements are being made for the Conference to have a concert by the newly installed Orthophonic Victrola.

Registration enrollments close March 21. Young men fifteen years of age, and up really vitally interested in this matter of their own life work should enroll for this Conference through the County YMCA Office, Mt. Holly, on or before March 21. The cost is only one dollar, which includes the closing banquet, which will be held Saturday evening, commencing at 6 o'clock in the Chapter House of the Moorestown Presbyterian Church. At this occasion, Ralph P. Bridgeman, of Philadelphia and William F. Overman of Moorestown will be the speakers.

Public Service Tries to Please

Customer Given First Consideration Despite Volume of Business Handled

The aim toward which the service department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company is constantly striving is that the customer may be pleased, Louis Stoecker, supervisor of the company's service to customer's says in a special article in the current issue of Public Service News.

"The basic principal of the system is to receive, dispatch and complete customer's orders in the shortest time possible. This is a simple rule, but becomes somewhat complicated by volume of orders and to some degree by the character of the business," Mr. Stoecker writes.

"Some conception of volume may be had with the realization that on peak moving days recurring now almost every month, as many changes are made in electric and gas service as would be necessary if everybody in Hackensack were to move at one time. Also, in the course of a year the amount of work to meet expansion within Public Service territory is equivalent to annexing a city approximately the size of Jersey City for electric and Trenton for gas.

"The customer's initial point of contact is the customers' service department of the commercial office. To the customer this department is the center of service. Here he orders electric and gas service, learns the status of an order, registers complaints and obtains information and advice concerning service. Orders are issued and dispatched by this department to those departments that do the physical work. Its responsibility, however, does not stop there. It follows each order to completion, sees that the order progresses according to schedule and reports the status of orders to customers upon inquiry.

"To accomplish this it must keep in close touch with the daily routine and operation of the electric and gas distribution departments where the final act of service is performed. Every morning reports are received from the distribution department of orders on street for execution that day, and of uncompleted orders for which unsuccessful attempt to work was made the previous day, which places it in position to convey information promptly to the customer.

"A series of fifteen sets of post cards, each covering a different item, is used to advise the customer of the progress or status of his order and of conditions on his premises or other causes which prevent completion of an order. In the latter case, if order is an emergency, the telephone is used, if possible. If action on part of customer is necessary advice to that effect is included on post card.

"Customers calling in person may leave orders or obtain information of a commercial nature at order counter of customers' service department. However, for their own convenience, customers are encouraged to use the telephone. In order to handle telephone calls in volume efficiently, the latest types of order tables have been installed in seven of the larger commercial offices."

TAX APPEALS

Burlington County Board Announces Dates for Hearings

The Burlington County Board of Taxation just completed the schedule of meetings to hear appeals from assessments. Although the sittings do not begin until some time in May, it is necessary for the board to arrange and announce their schedule this far in advance in order that ample time be given the collectors of the municipalities of the county, which will be published on the tax bills.

The schedule includes the following dates:

Thursday, May 24—Town Hall Moorestown, from 10 to 12 a. m., for Moorestown and Mount Laurel townships; Community Hall, Maple Shade, from 2 to 4 p. m., for Chester township.

Tuesday, May 29—Fire House Palmyra, from 9 to 11.30 a. m., for Cinnaminson and Palmyra townships and Riverton borough; Town Hall, Riverside, from 1 to 2.30 p. m. for Delran and Riverside townships; City Hall, Beverly, from 3 to 4, for Beverly city, Delance and Willingboro townships and Edgewater Park.

All petitions of appeal in order to be heard at the times and places named must be filed at least five days previously with the secretary of the county board at Mount Holly and those filed subsequently will be heard at the office of the board at Mount Holly on a date to be fixed by the board.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

J. F. Burke, publisher of the Santa Ana (Calif). Register, says:

That a companionate divorce might be a better solution of the marriage problem than a companionate marriage. Let the marriage be as solemn, as serious, and as permanent as it is now but make it easier for the incompatible couple to separate, one from the other and still be companionable.

The trouble is now if a man and wife find themselves unable to get along, one with the other, they cannot get a divorce in a friendly way. If both of them agree to a divorce it is a conspiracy and it is thrown out of court. They must go through the guise of one of them appearing to be opposed to the divorce in order for the divorce to be legal, or else it must appear that one of them has violated certain provisions of the marriage contract.

Of all the absurdities in our laws, and there are a great many of them, the prohibition of divorce except for immorality or a fight is the chief one. What is needed is a sane divorce law which will permit people to separate when both parties to the contract recognize that futility and absurdity of trying to live together. This, and not the weakening of the marriage contract itself would meet the chief objection.

Cooperation of Drivers Requested

County Director Asks All Drivers to Stop Before Crossing Highways

At the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday, Director of Roads Charles R. Stout called attention to the fact that under the Act of 1927 the board had marked many streets and roads crossing state and county highways as "full stop" roads. This had been done, he said, in the interest of public safety, and Mr. Stout requested all drivers to consider all streets and roads crossing main highways as full stop roads, whether marked or not. The road department was authorized to go ahead with marking as fast as circumstances will permit.

The Public Service Electric and Gas Company was given permision to lay a two-inch gas main on Branch Pike in Cinnaminson township a distance of 1300 feet west of Pomona road, the work to be done under the supervision of the director of roads and county engineer.

A circular letter was received from the Delaware Valley Association opposing Senate Bill 217 providing for the ratification of the Tri-State Water Treaty between New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey and asking all members of the association to see their Senators and Assemblymen about it. The letter was filed.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $5,951.89; bridges, $591.45; finance, $445.89; buildings, $13,363.63; public affairs $5,452.87.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Moorestown and Cinnaminson Folks Slightly Injured

Several persons well known in Moorestown, Riverton and Camden social circles, were cut and bruised or shaken up in an accident on Crescent boulevard and Cove road, Pennsauken township, Sunday night in which one of the automobiles was overturned.

Heulings Lippincott, son of Harry H. Lippincott, Cinnaminson, was driving one car with his sister, Miss Alice Lippincott; Paul Mecray, 54 Oak avenue, Moorestown; Frank Smith, New York, and Miss Katherine Johnson, a debutante of Berkley, West Virginia, as passengers.

Miss Naomi Hope Warren, daughter of Joseph Warren, cashier of the Merchantville Trust Company, was at the wheel of the other machine. With her was her mother, Mrs. Joseph Warren, 212 North Sixth street, Camden.

Witnesses of the crash said Miss Warren's machine was half way across the boulevard when it was struck by the Lippincott car.

The Cinnaminson man's automobile overturned, but all the occupants, with the exception of Miss Lippincott, escaped injury. She was bruised about the face and body and was treated at the office of Dr. Merwin L. Hummell.

All those involved in the accident were taken to Pensauken township police headquarters, but were later released.

Tax Rates Fixed for the County

Seven Townships Have Lower Rates — Total Valuations Exceed Last Year

Tax rates for municipalities in Burlington county have been compiled by the County Tax Board and are given below. The rate is missing for a few townships, due principally to lack of information about school appropriations that are yet undetermined in some districts.

The total valuation of real and personal property in the county is $68,264,073, as compared with $67,718,330 last year. It will be observed that notwithstanding exemption of automobiles from taxation this year, there still is an increase in the total valuations. This is due to an increase of about $2,000,000 in real estate over 1927. The loss of taxable valuations due to exemption of automobiles is about $1,250,000.

The county tax rate is $1.25; State tax, 44 cents, making a total of $1.69. To this is added the local municipal tax to complete the rate The State tax is as follows: Roads 10 cents; institutions, 5 cents; school, 27 cents; soldiers bonus, 1 cents.

Practically all municipalities in this section will have a higher rate this year. The towns and their increases over last year follow:

Moorestown, 47 cents, $4.10 to $4.57; Medford, 30 cents, $3.80 to $4.10; Mount Laurel, 4 cents, $4.24 to $4.28; Palmyra, 7 cents, $4.78 to $4.85; Riverside, 13 cents, $5.46 to $5.59; Riverton, 64 cents, $3.96 to $4.60; Delran, 34 cents, $4.00 to $4.34.

Northampton, which include Mount Holly, Delanco, Southampton Westampton, Willingboro, Woodland and Wrightstown townships all have lower rates this year.

SCREEN HITS

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo who as a team scored one of the sensational successes of the year in "Flesh and the Devil," and whose real-life romance immediately following furnishing gossip for film fans the world over, appear again before the camera, for the first time since, in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular filmization of "Anna Karenina," Tolstay's classic of Russia, which comes to the Walt Whitman Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The new picture, one of the most gorgeous and spectacular film romances of the season, presents both in roles that perhaps fit them better than any others that could be imagined. Gilbert, splendidly uniformed, is seen as the debonair and romantic County Vronsky, a role that recalls his great hit in "The Merry Widow," with Miss Garbo in the role of the tragic Anna, who sacrifices all for love, only to be dogged by a strange and sinister doom.

Modern youth, jazzy, scintillating, boisterous, adventurous, always ready for anything and fearing not even the lessons of life itself—but modern youth interpreted through the eyes of a sympathetic adviser who herself has suffered and laughed and loved—that is "The Lovelorn," Beatrice Fairfax's real life romance from the newspaper columns.

Dance halls and night clubs, highballs and petting parties in snappy sport roadsters, lingeries and heartaches, they are all there. But "The Lovelorn," differs from the other "youth" photoplays in that it is real and true. This play will be seen at the Walt next Wednesday and Thursday.

"The Girl From Gay Paree" will be the feature Friday and Saturday of next week.

Probably the next great boon for the common people will be the invention of an electric can opener.

Action Taken on Cross State Road

Meeting Held in Walt Whitman Hotel to Boom Building of Highway

Great impetus was given the movement for early construction of the new Camden-Manahawkin State Highway, Thursday evening of last week when representative men of three counties met at the Hotel Walt Whitman, Camden, and formed the Cross State Short Route Association. The organization plans to present an early plea, backed by big delegations of citizens, to the State Highway Commission, urging the vital importance of putting this highway on an early construction schedule.

The session at the Walt Whitman was called by the Long Beach Board of Trade. Other organizations participating included Burlington Countians, Incorporated; The Camden Chamber of Commerce; freeholders from the three counties and other prominent officials. Robert Engle, of Haverford, Pa., and Beach Haven, was chosen president of the association and August Keil, of Philadelphia and Spray Beach, vice-chairman. L. A. Odhner, of Camden, was made secretary.

The name of the association was adopted after a special committee had been appointed to receive and compile suggestions from those present. Members of this committee were Carleton E. Sholl, of Burlington; James Mercer Davis, of Seaside Park, and William D. Cowperthwaite, of Medford. The name finally chosen of Cross State Short Route Association was selected as emphasizing the fact that this road is to be the shortest cut from Philadelphia and the Delaware valley to the sea.

An executive committee of fifteen members, five from each county was named to carry on the active program of the highway. Burlington county's representatives include Charles R. Stout, of Florence; Joseph R. Cheesman, of Burlington; J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford; Charles B. Durborow, of Edgewater Park, and Frank P. Jones, Jr., of Beverly. Ocean county will be represented by Howard Applegate, of Toms River; Harry Cross, of Seaside Park; Howard Ewart, of Toms River; Robert Osborn, of Beach Haven; A. W. Kelly, of Barnegat. Leon Todd and four other men to be named later will represent Camden County.

Mrs. Bonsall Organizes Boys of 7th and 8th Grades

At the request of a number of boys a Bird Club was organized among the pupils of grades 7 and 8 by Mrs. Ida Bonsall, teacher of mathematics and literature, on Thursday, March 8.

These boys and their classmates have been studying the economic value of birds and have shown much enthusiasm in the subject.

Very delightful and profitable gatherings are planned.

Washing and Ironing with Electricity

IN the laundry the electric washer provides the most thorough, rapid, and most sanitary method of removing dirt from clothes and linens.

The Thor electric washer has a "twin shell" that permits the use of scalding hot water in washing, with the result that the clothes are sterilized as well as cleaned. In the revolving-reversing Thor cylinder, dirt is removed from fabrics by the force of hot soapy water—no friction is used, and clothes wear longer when washed by this method.

$5 down and 18 months to pay are the terms on the Thor washer.

The Thor Electric Ironer is of convenient size, folds easily and may be stored in small space. It irons even the most difficult pieces and cuts down ironing time at least one half.

There's a rack at the right of the ironer where the housekeeper may hang the pieces as she irons them.

The Thor ironer is electrically driven and may be gas or electrically heated—purchasable on terms of $5 down and 18 months to complete payment.

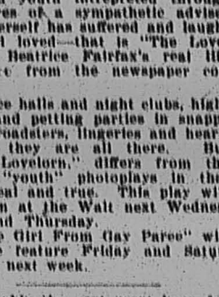

Electricity has greatly simplified the task of ironing by hand, and the automatic iron that controls its own temperature is the latest improvement in this direction. The Westinghouse Automatic "clicks" off when the temperature becomes too high, and "clicks" on again before it gets too low. Electric irons range in price from $7.75 to $4.50.

Women have become so used to the many ironing services that the little boudoir iron performs, that they refuse to be without one even when traveling. These little 3 pound irons are well designed for fine ironing. Prices begin at $5.

EDGE SEEKS COMPLETE COUNTY CONTROL

The Edge political machine will be satisfied with nothing less than complete domination of Burlington County.

The Board of Freeholders, which administers the internal affairs of the county, is the main objective of the Edge machine this year.

Four of the five members of this body are now independent, serving no master but the citizens of the county.

Two of these four must stand for reelection and if they are defeated the Edge machine will have a working majority of three to two in control of county affairs.

What it means to be under Edge dominion is shown by the experience of Camden, which has lately passed completely under the control of the Baird-Edge forces.

To satisfy the rapacity of the job hunters in the Edge train, the Baird-Edge forces have engineered a scheme to destroy the Civil Service system, so far as it applies to Camden, and their bill drawn to accomplish this purpose passed the State Senate two weeks ago.

Last year Edge sought to destroy the Direct Primary to facilitate his control of the state, but was defeated when the legislature paid heed to the roar of public indignation which was aroused.

Burlington County's State Senator, Clifford R. Powell, voted in favor of the Civil Service Ripper when it passed the Senate two weeks ago.

COMMUNICATED

Editor of The New Era:

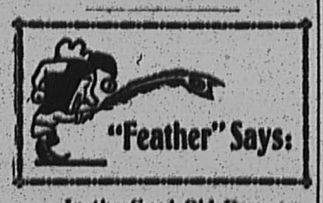

Thanks for your article as to water rents. My bill for 503 Bank avenue was $46.90 for three months or a consumption of 138,270 gallons of water by a careful family of four and a servant.

I fear Charles A. Wright will not sell much bridge stock in his home town if he exploits them so in his water company.

Why not take case at once to Supreme Court or certiorari?

That is the way Charles Biddle did in all his trouble and he usually won out.

In the Good Old Day

Progress measured year by year seems so slow that often we do not think we are getting anywhere unless we look back a century.

On July 5, 1830, Amasa Whitney posted the following "Rules and Regulations" in his factory in Winchendon, Mass.

Rule 1. The Mill will be put in operation 10 minutes before sun-rise at all seasons of the year. The gate will be shut 10 minutes past sun-set, from the 20th of March to the 20th of September; at 30 minutes past 8, from the 20th of September to the 20th of March; Saturdays, at sun-set.

Rule 4. Anyone who by negligence or misconduct causes damage to the machinery, or impedes the progress of the work, will be liable to make good the damage for the same.

Rule 5. Anyone employed for a certain length of time, will be required to make up their lost time, if required, before they will be entitled to their pay.

Rule 6. Any person employed for no certain length of time, will be required to give at least 4 weeks' notice of their intention to leave (sickness excepted), or forfeit 4 weeks pay, unless by particular agreement.

Rule 10. The hands will take breakfast from the 1st of November till the 1st of March, before going to work—they will take supper, from the 1st of May till the last of August, 30 minutes past 5 o'clock, P. M.—from the 20th of September till the 20th of March, between sun-down and dark—25 minutes will be allowed for breakfast, 30 minutes for dinner, and 25 minutes for supper, and no more, from the time the gate is shut till started again.

FLIES OVER WASHINGTON

H. H. Longaker, of Moorestown, president of the Burlington County Aero Club, chartered one of the planes of the Potomac Flying Service, Hoover Field, South Washington, Va., last Thursday.

The plane Mr. Longaker took his flight in was a Fairchild five place cabin monoplane, heated and equipped with Wright Whirlwind motor. Mr. Longaker cruised from Hoover Field over Washington, the Arlington National Cemetery and Mt. Vernon. He was in the air about thirty minutes.

"We extend invitation to all the readers of your paper and particularly the members of the Burlington County Aero Club to visit Hoover Field, to take similar air voyages and to study our equipment and aviation enterprise," stated Andrew H. Nash, secretary of Potomac Flying Service, Inc., in a letter to The Moorestown News.

FARMER'S WIFE MAKES CAKE.
ALL MEAT, BAD DIET.
CRIME AS A BUSINESS.
WIRELESS FLIGHT, PERHAPS.

This will interest farmers' wives, Mrs. James Hamilton, of Pawhuska, Okla., not satisfied with thirty cents a dozen for fresh eggs, developed this idea. She knew how to make good angel cake. Eleven eggs make a cake that sells for a dollar. Cost of other ingredients amounts to little. Mrs. Hamilton put her eggs in angel cake and got nearly one dollar a dozen.

Many farm wives, however, far from any angel cake market, can sympathize with an Irish farmer asked by an efficiency man, "Do you know what the ducks swimming in that mudhole would be worth in London?" "I do," replied the farmer, "and have you any idea what the puddle of water would be worth in hell if I had it there?" The market is the problem.

Stefansson, Arctic explorer, tests in a hospital, under medical supervision, a diet consisting exclusively of fresh meat and water. Thousands within the Arctic Circle live on such a diet for months at a time, some of them eating as much as twenty pounds of fresh meat in a day.

But it is not a good diet. Men were put on the earth to cultivate it and should eat all of its products, the spices and the oranges of the South, and the red meat from the West. But if compelled to choose between all meat and all vegetables, choose the meat.

You probably will not live as long, but you will think more. A vegetable diet is not good for thinking.

As regards crime, the city of Cleveland excels in police efficiency. The percentage is 83, against 63 in Baltimore, 36 in Kansas City, 16 in St. Louis. The National Crime Commission publishes Dr. Louis N. Robinson's statement that police inefficiency and leniency in courts have made crime almost the safest business in the United States. The percentage of failure is lower than in the retail grocery business, for instance.

In Chicago insurance companies notify the citizens that they will insure against bombing of buildings by various branches of crime, bootleggers, competing labor organizations, etc. If you can't discourage crime, the next best is to insure against it—although it doesn't help much if you happen to be at home for the bombing.

A new flying machine idea based on "free energy" or "magnetic power" interests Lindbergh and others. It burns no fuel, is expected to fly for 2,000 hours. Eventually, no doubt, as Tesla and others believe, flying machines will pick up "wireless power" from the earth, borrowing from Niagara, the Colorado River and other sources as they fly around the world. That will solve power problems, and 1,000 miles an hour speed will annihilate distance.

A French flier surpasses the American "loop record" by turning eleven hundred and eleven aerial somersaults with a monoplane in four hours and fifty-six minutes. That is exactly as unimportant as the number of back somersaults turned by a circus actor. It is thinking and inventing that count, not "stunts."

Moscow statistics for 1927 show four divorces for every five marriages. Divorces may equal marriages. Some young Russians, according to report, are divorced five and six times in one year.

Russian authorities say this is a proof of good morals, proving that young people insist on retaining the marriage status, even if they change every month, and that they will not sink to promiscuity. This must stir emulation in our young "trial" and "companionate" marriage enthusiasts.

A severe earthquake in Jerusalem makes us realize that nature and old mother earth pay no attention to the importance of persons or localities.

The price of liberty is eternal vigilance—and it is always payable in advance.

If you want anything done well, do it yourself. Always laugh at your own jokes.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

ETERNAL CHILDREN

Somebody said that a man has four ambitions: to plant a tree, to write a book, a build a house and to beget a son.

There is something peculiarly satisfying to a man when he has a son. It may be a survival of the old feeling that one must have an heir to inherit his estate.

In China they sometimes drown the girl babies because they do not want so many girls around, and prefer boys.

The affection between a man and his son is peculiarly tender. It is not the same kind of feeling that he has for his wife or for his daughter.

Somehow the son seems to carry on his own personality and when he looks at him he feels that his life has not been in vain.

A man at a banquet the other day got up and said:

"I am lonely. Nearly every man here tonight has his son with him. I have only the memory of mine."

Then he disclosed the fact that his son was somewhere in France either in an unmarked grave or lying unidentified near some wire fence or in a ditch.

The father wanted to go, but he was too old; they wanted young men. The son never came back.

It may be a faint consolation but this boy has one advantage in that he will always be a boy.

We lose our children in two ways. They either die or grow up. In either case they separate from us.

The eternal children are the ones who die. They always linger in our memory as children. We expect to see them in the next world as children. They will always be children.

But those who grow up and develop their own personality and individuality swing away from us.

Perhaps after all the loneliest person is the one who has seen his loved ones grow away from him rather than the one who has lost them by death.

The latter has them always with him in his memory, but to the former that memory is clouded by the reality.

FIELD CLUB BACKS PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

Plans to Present Grounds to Palmyra Free of Indebtedness

The Field Club Directors were much pleased to see the activities started in the interest of athletics by the meeting called by Mayor George N. Wimer on February 29.

The plan decided upon by the Directors of the Field Club some four years ago was to ultimately present the Field Club grounds to the Borough of Palmyra as a Public Park. This idea grew however to the plan of presenting the grounds free and clear of all indebtedness, and properly equipped as a playground and recreation park.

To do so will cost a considerable amount of money and could only be done this Spring by the people of Palmyra contributing toward the fund necessary to complete our plans.

The Directors of the Field Club have pledged themselves to hold the grounds intact until the plans for a complete playground can be realized. In the meantime the Directors are willing to rent the grounds for the amount of money necessary to pay the fixed carrying charges to any individuals or clubs interested in using them for athletics, the same as they did during the 1927 season, when some interesting games of baseball were played there.

INDEPENDENT GROUP

Baseball Team Organized and Other Plans Laid

The regular weekly meeting of the Independent YMCA Group was held in the "Y" building on Thursday evening, March 8.

During the regular business session several matters of importance were brought up, discussed, and acted upon.

The first matter was that of becoming affiliated with the "World Brotherhood" movement of the YMCA. This matter was finally settled by electing Paul Coddington as chairman of a committee to arrange a program for one meeting each month when the ways of living and the conditions of other nations will be considered.

The second matter to be disposed of was that of the baseball team. Jim Crawford, the group leader, was elected team coach and manager with Paul Coddington to assist him.

Henry Wilbraham was elected captain of the team. A challenge is issued to any group of fellows the size of this group to play them at a convenient time.

The leader spoke to the boys upon the subject "Ability," stating that ability was a direct gift from God and one possessed of a special gift should capitalize it to its fullest extent for his own benefit and the benefit of mankind in general.

After the business session had adjourned the group members assembled in the gym when the minstrel skit, "The Royal Order of Ham and Eggs" was rehearsed, all members participated in this with enthusiasm, leaving no doubts in the minds of several witnesses that it would be a 'howling' success.

Visitors are cordially invited to visit us on our group meeting nights.

JUNIOR PLAY

Friday and Saturday evening, April 13 and 14, the Junior Class of the Palmyra High School will present their annual play. The name of the play is "The Amazon."

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

Last Sunday's services were inspiring to large congregations both morning and evening. A large representation from the local Masonic fraternity listened to the pastor's special evening sermon and left with a broader and deeper vision of life's great truths.

Next Sunday morning Pastor Lockett's subject will be "Supreme Faith." This is the third in the series of pre-Easter sermons on Faith.

The pastor's evening topic will be "The Crown of Life." Only three more Sundays before Easter. Let us not miss any of them at the church services.

Miss Myrtle Pickett will be the leader of the special prayer meeting on Wednesday, March 21st.

This Friday evening the BYPU subject will be, "What Our Denomination Does For Missions." Mrs. Lockett will be the leader.

Saturday evening is the occasion of the St. Patrick's Day Supper in the church under the auspices of the Baraca Class. Covers will be served from five until eight. Celebrate with the men on Saturday evening; you'll enjoy it.

On Saturday afternoon, March 24th, the mothers of the children in the Primary Department are invited to a Spring musical tea, at which their kiddies will be the hosts and do the entertaining. This is only the beginning of the Primary Depagtment's Spring social activities.

"Central Baptist" wants you to be a 'stranger" in the community for as brief a time as possible. Whether you are buying a home or renting an apartment in Palmyra or Riverton, take root here where your home is. Count yourself as a full-fledged citizen of the community and share in its active religious life.

You want your children to be influenced by the bible school and church. Indifferent parents often more than offset the church's influence.

If you have made your home in this community, we invite you to make your "church home" here.

EPISCOPAL

Christ Church, Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack, M.A., L.Th Rector

Christianity is a singing religion and the mother of the arts.

It was from the beginning called The Beautiful Way.

Believing that mirth is medicine and that laughter lengthens life, "Ch'rup!" is what we say to all, fully endorsing Josh Billings' remark: "If a man kan't laff or sing, there's some mistake made in putting him together, and if he won't laff or sing, he wants as much keepin' away from as a beartrap when it's sot."

"It will last till men weary of pleasure in measure!
It will last till men weary of laughter And after.

Associate with people who are healthy in soul as well as body. "Health is contagious, as well as disease."

The very tip top of the morning to ye on the seventh erth of Ireland.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Monday March 19 at 2.30 promptly. Miss Mary French, Field worker of the "Church Mission of Help" will be the speaker.

Dr. Camille Estornolle of St. John's Church, Camden, will be the preacher on Wednesday next, the 21st, at the regular Lenten service.

The Guild of St. Agnes will hold one of their famous "Fish Cake" sales on Friday the sixteenth in the Parish House.

The Woman's Auxiliary meet every Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. for a Sewing and Study Class.

A class of ten was admitted to the Girls Friendly Society on Sunday evening last. One of the latest class to be formed is a group of 120 at Kyoto, Japan. A world-wide organization doing a splendid work. We congratulate our group of ten in Palmyra and wish them much joy in the work. The members had a very splendid cake sale for the funds of the order and added over $25 for various objects.

Services for the 4th Sunday in Lent:

7.30 a. m. Holy Communion.
10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer and Sermon, "Gathering up the Fragments."
2.30 Sunday School.
8.00 Evensong and seventh "History Sermon."

Never despair. "Lost hope is a fatal disease."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Rev. Alford R. Naus, of Delaware Gardens, Camden, will be the special speaker at the coming Thursday Lenten service, March 15. Mr. Naus has been in Delaware Gardens for about two years and has seen his mission church grow until the membership is now more than double of what it was when he took up the work. Temple Congregation, Delaware Gardens, is about to build the first of a three-unit building project.

John Ward, of Palmyra, will favor us with vocal solos as a special musical feature of this service.

Sunday School at ten in the morning. The attendance last Sunday was the largest that we have ever known for an ordinary occasion. We are climbing upward toward the "One Hundred Mark" in our adult division. Let us each determine, "It can be done, and it will be done."

Divine worship at 11.15 with music by our First Lutheran Choir under direction of Lee Milton, and sermon by the pastor on the theme: "Christ's Character and Ours."

Luther League will convene for the devotional session at 6.45 in the evening, with Miss Eleanor Bauer as leader. Topic: "What Are the Real Values of Church Membership?" Ephesians 4:1-16.

Vesper services will be held at 7.45 p. m. Do not forget this service. Your presence will do much to help the others as well as yourself.

Catechetical instruction at seven o'clock Friday evenings. Confirmation on the morning of Palm Sunday, April first. Details of confirmation ceremony and of other preparations will be given at the coming class.

A congregational meeting is called for a short period after the morning service on April first.

On the evening of April 1, Rev. Dr. C. K. Lippard, a missionary from Japan, now on furlough in this country, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the mission work of the Lutheran Church in Japan.

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its regular Sunday morning service of worship at 11 o'clock and the evening service at eight o'clock. The pastor will preach at both services.

All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 o'clock. A special invitation is extended to the men of the congregation and their friends to attend the Men's Bible Class which meets in the Social Hall of the Church at 10 o'clock.

This coming Sunday, March 18, will be Every Member Canvass Day. Members of the congregation are urged to be at home that day when the canvassers call. Mr. Elwell will be glad to have any men of the church who are willing to take part in this canvass get in touch with him.

The regular mid week service will be held in the Church School Auditorium on Wednesday, March 21.

The Golden Hour Circle will give an oyster supper in the Social Hall of the Church on Friday, March 23rd, from 5 to 8 o'clock. Tickets 75 cents.

MARRIED TEACHERS TABOO IN TRENTON

Superintendent Claims They Block Way of Those Who Would Teach Permanently

The sentiment against the employment of married women as teachers in public schools seems to be growing.

Under a new policy adopted by the Trenton Department of Education teachers in the public schools will be required to resign their positions when they marry. The rule has resulted primarily from the fact that there are now about 100 applications a year from local young women and only four or five places to be filled.

Dr. William J. Bickett, superintendent of schools, explained that the list of applicants includes many who wish to adopt teaching as a short period after marriage with a view to helping out the family finances until their husbands find it possible to shoulder the budget alone.

The rule will not apply to teachers who are under the tenure of office by reason of having taught three years. It will, however, automatically sever the connection of four or five married women teachers at the close of the present school year.

Borough of Riverton 1927 Audit

February 8, 1928

The Honorable Mayor and
Members of the Borough Council,
Riverton, N. J.
Gentlemen:

We report that we have audited the financial books and accounts of the BOROUGH of RIVERTON for the year ended December 31, 1927, and submit herein the statements and schedules shown in the table of contents which exhibit the financial condition of the Borough as of that date.

The accounts were found to be correct and in the proper form subject to the following comments:

Cash and Bank Accounts: Cash book receipts were compared with bank deposits and paid checks with recorded disbursements. All vouchers were found to be properly approved by the Mayor and the Borough Clerk in accordance with the provisions of Article XIV of Chapter 152, P. L. 1917.

As of December 31, 1927, the cash accounts of the Collector and Treasurer were reconciled with the bank balances which were confirmed to us directly by the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company.

RECOMMENDATIONS

....Deficit to be Raised by Taxation: The following deficit existed as of December 31, 1927:

Deficit — Tax Revenue — 1927 ..... $ 327.18

In accordance with statute requirements, it will now be necessary for you to insert above mentioned deficit, if not provided for, in the annual budget and raise the amount by taxation.

Tax Sale: No tax sale was held during the year 1927 and we were unable to locate any record of prior sales of property to the municipality. We direct your attention to the fact that a tax sale is required by Chapter 237, P. L. 1918 and we recommend that you take steps to comply with this statute.

We shall be pleased to assist you to the fullest extent in connection with the recommendations of this report.

Acknowledgement: In the course of our audit we received the complete co-operation of all the officials of the Borough and we greatly appreciate the courtesies extended to us.

Certification: It is hereby certified that to the best of our knowledge and belief the within report is a true and correct statement of the financial condition of the Borough of Riverton in the County of Burlington for the year 1927, as shown by the books and records of the said Borough submitted to us, supplemented by personal inquiry and investigation.

Very truly yours,
WIEGNER, ROCKEY & CO.,
William H. Welcker,
Registered Municipal Accountant (N. J.)

Riverton Council

Reporting for the fire and water committee, Mr. Randall said he had again taken up the matter of the township contributing $1000 toward the maintenance of the Riverton fire company, in view of the fact that 76.4 per cent of the fire alarms responded to last year had been in the township.

Benjamin Lippincott, chairman of the committee, said that he had taken the matter up with his committee and it was decided that the township would give $400 this year instead of $300 for which a check had already been sent, but could do no more. In the discussion that followed all the members agreed that $1000 was the minimum sum with which council would be satisfied.

No Service After April 30

Mr. Randall said he considered the proffered sum of $400 entirely inadequate. This situation, he said, had existed for years, and he did not want to be a party to continuing to spend the taxpayers' money for fire protection outside the borough limits. He made clear, however, that this did not apply to other municipalities which maintain fire departments of their own, and are on the list for interchange of calls for assistance.

At the end of the discussion, Mr. Randall offered a motion that the following letter be sent to the township committee, and it was unanimously passed.

"We do not consider the sum of $400 adequate compensation for the fire protection offered and given by the Borough of Riverton, and therefore can offer to continue our protection up to and including April 30, and we therefore return your check (for $300) herewith. Unless other arrangements are made we will not be in a position to answer fire calls in the Township of Cinnaminson after April 30"

Delinquents Will be Published

The collector of taxes submitted a list of delinquents amounting to $20,734.97, which immediately precipitated a discussion as to what steps should be taken to get some of this money in the coffers of the borough.

The amounts outstanding from 1919 to 1927 inclusive were as follows: 1919, $15.03; 1920, $59.83; 1921, $89.43; 1922, $216.98; 1923, $323.90; 1924, $925.59; 1925, $1,705.13; 1926, $5,820.59; 1927, $11,578.49.

Herbert Evans, former collector, was present, and in answer to a number of questions from members of Council, explained the procedure in collecting delinquent taxes, both personal and on real estate. The personal taxes, he said, could be advertised as delinquent, and if Council desired to go that far, the debtor could be sent to jail until the tax was paid. The collection of taxes on real estate is effected by means of a tax sale, which may be held after July 1 of the year following the assessment of the tax. Any real estate taxes due for the years prior to 1927 could be put up for sale at any time. This action cannot be taken on delinquent real estate taxes for 1927 until after July 1, 1928.

Mr. Evans called the attention of Council to the very material reduction he had made in the delinquent taxes of previous years during his term as collector. Just how much he had accomplished could be ascertained, he said, by referring to the records.

The report of the collector on delinquent taxes was ordered filed and spread upon the minutes, and a resolution was passed instructing him to mail notices to delinquents that unless taxes due prior to 1927 are paid within 30 days, such items will be advertised and collected according to law.

Highway Report

The highway department reported that three carloads of cinders had been received from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and used on the alleys in town, putting them in first-class condition. The new road roller had been tried out and found to be satisfactory. Work will be started on getting the streets in condition to oil as soon as the weather permits.

In the absence of Director of Public Safety Williams, Mr. Welsh, member of the police committee, reported that there had been fifteen "boarders" in the town jail during the month, and that two arrests had been made for parking without lights.

The appointment of William Gootee as special officer by the Mayor since the last meeting was confirmed by Council, and Chairman Lynch, of the highway committee requested that John Carhart, who has charge of the road work, be appointed special officer. Mr. Lynch pointed out that Carhart was around town all day, and that by vesting him with the powers of an officer, the borough would get just that much additional police protection without costing anything. A motion that the appointment be made was offered by Mr. Lynch, seconded by Mr. Randall and unanimously passed.

Dog Taxes and Licenses

Mayor Rogers brought up the matter of dog taxes. The clerk reported that of the 151 dogs on the assessor's books, only 27 had been registered. He explained that owners of dogs had two things to do —pay the tax shown on the tax bill, and, in addition, to have them registered or licensed. The tax is paid to the collector along with other taxes, and the registration is made with the borough clerk, at which time a tag bearing the registration number will be given. A dog appearing on the street without this tag may be impounded and destroyed. The matter was referred to the police committee for action, with instructions to secure from the assessor a list of dog owners in Riverton.

Councilman Lynch called attention to the fact that at the December meeting a motion was passed to re-locate the fire hydrant at Second and Fulton streets on Second street at the curb line, but that nothing had been done about it. The fire and water committee was instructed to have the change made.

Councilman Hubbs, a member of the borough property committee, reported that a request had been made by the public school to use Memorial Park on May 24 or 25 for field day exercises. The request was granted.

Borough Ordinances O. K.

Councilman Randall, who was appointed a special committee at the last meeting to go over the ordinances of the borough to see whether or not any should be revised or rescinded, said that there are 127 ordinances on the books, of which 20 had been passed for the establishment of borough laws, a few had created departments of fire, police, etc., and the balance were for sidewalks and curbs. He said they were in good shape, and his only recommendation was that a loose-leaf ordinance book be provided so that obsolete ordinances could be removed and filed from time to time, keeping the active ordinances in the book for ready references.

The Shade Tree Commission rendered a report for its activities during the past year, and outlined its plans for 1928. It was received and filed.

Councilman Welsh, chairman of the lighting committee, asked that the Commission be requested to trim the trees on Thomas avenue above the railroad before the installation of the new street lights, and the Mayor said he would take the matter up with Mr. Coale, the commissioner.

Garbage Collection Unsatisfactory

Councilman Hubbs reported that he had received many complaints of the manner in which garbage is collected—in some instances the collector had not called for weeks. The clerk was instructed to write to the garbage collector, calling his attention to the terms of his contract and advising him that unless the work is performed in a satisfactory manner the borough will have it done at his expense.

The matter of zoning was brought up by a communication from the Edgewater Park Township Voters' League, which addressed a letter to Council calling attention to the needs for proper maps and the advice of experts if zoning is to be well and wisely done, and suggesting that if a number of small municipalities would cooperate, the cost to each would be greatly reduced.

Getting Ready to Zone

The Mayor recommended that Council get prepared so that when the enabling legislation is finally passed it will be ready to proceed with the passage of a zoning ordinance. The clerk was instructed to write to the League advising that Riverton is in accord with its suggestion and asking to be kept informed of the progress of the proposition.

A motion was passed rescinding a number of delinquent tax accounts that could not be collected owing to removal, death, exemptions, etc., in order to clear them off the collector's books. This action is provided by law and is taken every year.

The ordinance fixing salaries of borough officers was passed third and final reading.

The building inspector's report showed building operations amounting to $3,750; fees $9.50.

"THE SHOWER OF ROSES" IS TO BE PUBLISHED

The Rev. Anthony Dressel, Rector of the Eastern Shrine of the Little Flower, and also in charge of the Eastern Headquarters of the Society of the Little Flower in the Carmelite Monastery, 55 Demarest Ave., Englewood, N. J., announces that the Society of the Little Flower has begun work on the publication of "The Shower of Roses in the United States."

NEW PONTIAC SIX IS SPORT PHAETON

Oakland-Pontiac Dealers Will Soon Display New Five Passenger Open Sport Car for Spring

Complying with an insistent demand for a sport type body of larger seating capacity on the New Series Pontiac Six chassis, the Oakland Motor Car Company is now building a smart five-passenger Sport Phaeton.

This latest Pontiac Six model embodies the same rakish swank of line and contrasting color which has brought the Sport Roadster into such high favor, particularly with the younger generation.

The low, graceful sweep of the new body reflects the artistry of the Fisher craftsmen. Extending back from the high narrow radiator, the hood line drops to a long panel of Micanopy Cream, contrasting effectvely against the Paquot Blue of the body. The hood louvres are edged with the same cream tint while the black mouldings above and below the color panel also are relieved by cream striping.

A convenient pocket is placed behind the rear seat for storing the Pyralin curtains and a boot cover contributes smooth lines to the folded top. With the top raised and the snug curtains in place, the Sport Phaeton affords secure comfort in any weather.

METHOD PREVENTS LOSSES OF CHICKS

Tapeworm infestation of baby chicks, which causes enormous losses to poultrymen, can be prevented by rearing the chicks in confinement. So states Dr. J. S. Black, assistant poultry pathologist of the New Jersey Experiment Station after extensive tests of the new method at Vineland, N. J., and elsewhere.

"By the confinement method," says Dr. Black, "we keep the chicks off the ground and under the fly-proof screen at all times.

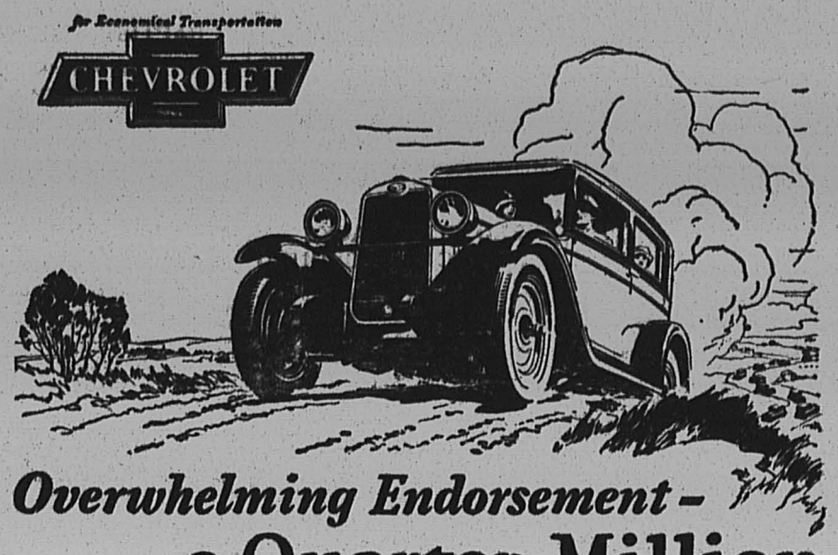

"A small two-door screened vestibule is used as an entrance, so that all flies entering the outer door can be killed before the inner door is opened. The chicks are provided with a small sun porch having a concrete floor (60-80 sq. ft. per brood of 250 to 300 chicks) enclosed with a fly-proof wire screen pen at least 20 inches high. Thus flies and other insects that carry tapeworms to chicks are effectively kept away from the brood.

"Confinement in this device also aids materially in preventing the chicks from becoming infested with the various species of roundworms. In addition, however, care should be taken not to carry roundworm eggs into the houses on shoes or green feed.

"Tail picking and cannibalism of chicks living in this enclosure can be avoided with a few precautions. Crowding must not be tolerated; 250-300 chicks are enough for one brood. Ample hopper space to accommodate all the chicks at one time until they are at least four weeks of age must be provided. Cockerels at this age or as soon as the sex can be determined should be removed. Cod liver oil to make up 2 per cent of the mash should be given, beginning with the first feeding. Enough perching space should be provided when the chicks are six weeks old.

"Green feed may be supplied in any form, or alfalfa leaf meal fed in the mash. Never permit the mash hoppers to become empty or the water vessels to become dry."

A camouflaged still was raided in New Jersey. It was making stuff camouflaged as whisky.

PER CAPITA WEALTH PICTURED FOR LEADING INDUSTRIAL STATES

In proportion to its population, New Jersey leads all the other industrial states, Connecticut excepted, in wealth.  Figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board show the per capita wealth of the state to be $3,691, as against $3,593 for New York, $3,546 for Massachusetts, and $3,389 for Pennsylvania.

Among New Jersey's principal assets are the electric, gas and local transportation facilities assembled by Public Service. No state has a more comprehensive or more efficient system of public utilities to serve its people.

Seek New Building for County Library

Friends' Meeting House Yard, Mount Holly, Favored as New Site

For some time, interested members of the Burlington County Society of History and Natural Sciences, which operates the Burlington County Circulating Library, at present housed in the Gaskill building, at the corner of Main and Murrell streets, Mount Holly have been casting about for a location upon which to erect a building suitable for the needs of the Society.

The Society has many valuable historical exhibits stored away in the Gaskill building which cannot be displayed for want of space, while the room used for library purposes, it is claimed by members of the Society, it totally inadequate.

Some time back an effort was made to secure the lot on Union street in the rear of the Folwell property, Mount Holly, now owned by the county, but the Freeholders have been loathe to dispose of this for fear that it might be needed in years to come.

Recently, however, the committee of the Society has made overtures to the members of the Friends' Meeting, owners of the valuable piece of land at the corner of Main and Garden streets, upon which stands the old meeting house erected in 1775.

The location desired is the lot fronting on Garden street, situated between the ancient meeting house and the Friends' burying ground, but if this cannot be secured it is said that the committee would consider that portion of the property which is now occupied by the old horse sheds, the thought being that if consent could be secured to use this—either through a long term lease or by outright purchase—a right of way for an entrance might be possible from Brainerd street just west of the First Methodist church.

Either of these locations would prove admirable for the purposes desired, as a building could be erected with ample floor space to house the valuable exhibits and library and provide a light and comfortable reading room for the use of the public.

Of course, the consent of the Meeting will have to be secured before either of these locations can be had, and there is some doubt that this can be accomplished, but it is said that some members of the Meeting feel very kindly toward the proposition, while others have plainly stated that they are opposed to encroaching on the property which has been kept intact from building operations for so many years.

TO SPEND $40,000

About $40,000 will be spent for the installation of a self-clinkering grate at the Public Service gas works in Camden. This is expected to effect a saving yearly of about thirty per cent. of the cost of the installation.

Record Breaking Development in Aviation Forecast for 1928

William B. Stout, Head of Ford Airplane Division, Speaks Before Camden Business Men

More activity and development in commercial aviation will be seen this year than for the whole period since the World War, said William B. Stout, Ford airplane-division president, in a luncheon speech before more than 200 business men and officials at the Walt Whitman in Camden, last Friday.

Predicting that the "airplane industry will in a short time pass the automobile industry" and that "commercial aviation will strike this country like a bombshell this summer" Mr. Stout warned of the immediate necessity for more airports to accommodate this new and rapidly-developing transportation system. Communities neglecting to provide such airport facilities, he said, will soon find themselves falling behind in the country's commercial progress.

"Aviation is not a coming industry, it is here," said Mr. Stout. "We hear much of stunt-flying and mishaps to planes, many of which are absolete and mechanically unfit to be in the air, but we lose sight of the fact that daily, every day in the year, commercial airplanes are flying without mishap or do thousands of miles, in the regular course of business. Regular air lines in this country at present are flying 25,000 miles daily, 6000 miles of which is night flying. Neither snow nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these modern couriers from the swift completion of their scheduled trips.

No Thrill Anymore

"There is no thrill to flying any more. The longest trip has become a casual journey, taking-off in one city and, after a brief chat, being gently rested on the airport of another. Modern airplanes, such as those being turned out at the rate of one every two weeks at the Ford factories, are equipped with smoking compartments, sleeping berths and washrooms, and they even have cigar lighters. The only thrill is in looking out of the cabin windows at the map-like panorama below.

Mr. Stout pointed out that the vast size of the country itself is most favorable to the development of aviation, because of the distance between cities.

"You'll see hundreds of thousands of airplanes, many of them piloted by private owners, in the air in a short time. Aero clubs are springing up all over the country whose purposes are to secure airports and ships and teach the members to fly. Today 85 percent of all planes manufactured are commercial planes, whereas four years ago only 25 percent of the factory output went into the commercial field. A commercial airplane is one that will support itself in the air, financially.

Flying Not Dangerous

"Present Ford air lines fly an regular schedules between Detroit and Cleveland (two round-trips daily), Detroit and Buffalo, and Detroit and Chicago. Last year these lines carried 19,000 passengers and it is expected that over 50,000 will use the lines, with their extended branches, this year. These lines have the record of never an accident with any of the three-motored ships. As regards safety, since the present development of commercial airplanes, there are more people killed in a single business block of a large city in one year than on all commercial airplane lines together. If flying was anywhere near as dangerous as the average person thinks it is, we would be fools indeed to be in the commercial airplane business."

About a dozen members of the newly-formed Burlington County Aero Club were present at the luncheon to hear Mr. Stout, in addition to representatives from other surrounding counties.

The Burlington County Aero Club already has an airport just off the Bridgeboro road, near Moorestown, and the members expect to have their first plane and a pilot-instructor engaged by May 1. H. H. Longaker, of Moorestown, is president of the club.

Among the guests from Burlington County who attended the luncheon were E. M. Becton, L. R. Baker, F. A. Matthews, M. W. Willis, and R. H. Stiles, of Palmyra; Freeholder Charles R. Stout, of Burlington; County Engineer H. B. Smith, of Mount Holly; Ted Mayer, George Jones and Ross Jones, of Riverside; J. Rapp, of Delanco; and Wm. deR. French, of Moorestown.

TAG DAY TO HELP TRAIN TEACHERS

Burlington County P. T. A. Will Ask for Contributions March 26

A trained teacher for every classroom in Burlington County!

In order to achieve this most desirable condition the Burlington County Council of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers started, seven years ago, a scholarship fund to assist worthy High School graduates through a Normal Course who are otherwise financially unable to get this course.

Thus far the council has been able to send only one student a year, but its ambition is to send as many students as funds will allow.

The candidate must be a Burlington County High School graduate who has attained an average of 85% in English and 80% in all other subjects during her High School course, and is recommended by her principal.

The committee deciding upon the successful candidate consists of the principals of the Trenton and Glassboro Normal Schools, the County Superintendent, the County Council chairman, and the chairman of the scholarship committee.

All parents want to have the best-trained teachers for their children, so every parent in Burlington County will want to help support the Burlington County Council in this program.

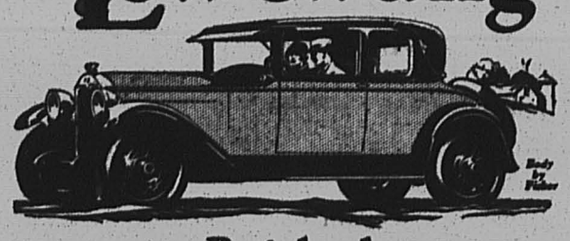

On March 26 all parents will be asked to buy a tag, and the proceeds of the sale throughout the county will go toward the scholarship fund.

How GAS serves the Home-maker

Cheese Souffle for Lenten Dinner

ADA BESSIE SWANN

1 cup cheese
3 eggs
1 cup milk
4 tbsp. flour
4 tbsp. butter
½ tsp. salt
f. g. pepper

Melt the butter, add flour, seasonings and milk. Add the cheese and beaten egg yolks and stir until the cheese has melted and the yolks are set. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered mold, and set in a pan of hot water. Bake 15 minutes in a slow oven, 325 degrees or until the egg white is set, and serve at once. It begins to fall as soon as removed from oven. The cheese souffle may be baked in ramekin dishes and served as a cheese course for dinner.

Ten Dollars for Your Old Stove If You Replace It With a Roper Oven Heat Regulator Gas Range

Save on the price of your new Roper oven heat regulator range and after it is installed you will find that cooking in the modern ventilated oven will help you keep your food bills lower—no "failures" in baking when ingredients are mixed accurately and baked in accordance with the Roper cooking chart that is shown on the inside of every Roper oven door.

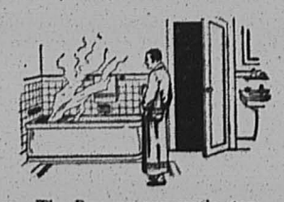

The terms of $5 down and balance in twelve to eighteen months are an added advantage in buying now.

Many styles and finishes included in this sale, including cabinet base models and the Roper color ranges—made to blend in color with the tints in your kitchen.

Prices include delivery, automatic top burner lighter and connection by experienced gas fitters.

Ten Dollars Allowed for Old Water Heater, If Replaced By a Rex Automatic Storage

PERHAPS there is no household task that women dislike more than washing dishes. Plenty of hot water at the turn of a faucet makes dish washing easier, and pleasanter work.

The Rex gas automatic storage water heater is self-acting in every respect and keeps a supply of hot water behind the faucet in your home

To help you to change to an automatic gas water heater we will allow you $10 for your old water heater if you buy from us a Rex gas automatic storage type during this month.

You need pay only $5 down and the remainder in 18 months.

A 24 gallon Rex, regular price $106, will be installed by experienced gas fitters for $96, if you turn in your old water heater.

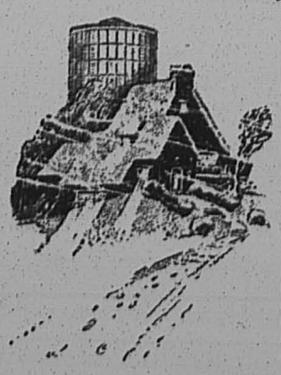

Dry Clothes Indoors With Gas Heat

With a gas heated clothes dryer in your laundry, everything can be dried nearby, without long trips back and forth from washer to clothes line. With the dryer, every day becomes a good day for washing and the dryer is so well ventilated that the dry clothes come out as fresh and sweet smelling as if dried in the open air.

Specially priced at $120 during March. This dryer may be purchased at a slight increase over cash price on the easy payment plan of $5 down and 18 months to pay.

Gas House Heating Will Transform Your Home

Gas, delivered as you use it, without dirt, or dust, and requiring no storage tank or bin, is the ideal fuel for house heating.

Coal strikes or oil shortages do not affect the comfort of those who live in a gas heated house.

The gas furnace or boiler is lighted in the fall and quietly operates throughout the cold weather season — automatically raising or lowering the heat to maintain an even temperature throughout the house. There is no furnace tending to be done. Warm, clean and comfortable basement space—made liveable through the use of gas heating—is released, offering many possibilities of utilization.

Public Service offers its customers a unique and complete service in gas house heating. Without charge it will inspect and regulate the gas house heating equipment it sells at regular intervals as long as the boiler or furnace is in use.

The story of the efficiency of gas as a fuel for house heating we feel sure will interest you. If so, tell us and one of our house heating engineers will call at your convenience.

Burn Rubbish in Gas Incinerator

The sanitary disposal of table refuse and of the rubbish that accumulates in all homes, is an important matter, for it involves to some degree the health of the household.

A gas incinerator burns all refuse and helps to keep your home sanitary. Two and three quarter bushel size $160 cash. Terms price $170.90 or $5 down—18 months to pay balance.

Use of Special Utensils Improves Hot Breads

The waffle iron designed for gas range use makes delicious waffles, tender inside and crisply browned on the outside.

Griddle cakes, so popular on the American breakfast table, are especially good when prepared on a griddle designed for use on the gas range.

Cookery experts like the Better Biscuit Baker. Its rolled end makes it easy to remove from the oven. The Biscuit Baker has no sides, so biscuits or cookies are browned on the top as well as on the bottom.

Waffle iron, pancake griddle, and Better Biscuit Baker specially priced at $3.99.

Gas Radiant Heater Brings Warmth and Cheer to Fireplace

Glowing firelight on a chill evening of early spring brings warmth and cheer to the living room. A gas fireplace heater has many of the charms of log or coal fire without the work, worry and dirt that the use of these involve, and the gas fire burns more economically.

At Public Service stores the prices of many fireplace heaters are marked down during March, and there are free connection offers on some models. The special prices begin at $14.40.

Are your gas appliances working satisfactorily? If not, please let us know at once. We will inspect and regulate them without charge.

Riverton Boy Wins Slogan Contest

Palmyra Chamber of Commerc Awards First Prize to Peirce States

The report of the Slogan Committee was read at the meeting of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. Sometime ago a committee was appointed to conduct a contest among the school children with the idea of selecting a suitable slogan for Palmyra.

Many lines were submitted and many of them were very good ones. The slogan decided on is "BOROUGH OF PALMYRA, BUILT ON PROGRESS."

This was submitted by Pierce States, 632 Linden avenue, Riverton. He will be presented with a five dollar gold piece as first prize. The second prize of $2.50 in gold went to Altana Parker, of Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, for "Palmyra, the Town You Love to Call Home." Lydia Mervine, of Leconey avenue, won honorable mention with, "Palmyra, the Town of Opportunities."

The winning slogan met with an enthusiastic reception from the members and steps are being taken to have plates made so that the business men may use it on their stationery.

Utilities Committee

The utilities committee was asked for a report and the chairman said that they were busy gathering information regarding the water situation but that they would not be prepared to make a detailed report until next month. Ralph Rivers read a letter from the Mayor of South River, N. J., regarding the municipal plant in operation in his city. Mr. Rivers also gave the rates of several nearby towns all of which are lower except, Beverly, which is about the same.

The Riverton Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday at which time representatives of Palmyra and Cinnaminson will be present. It is expected that they will decide on some action to be undertaken jointly.

The question of widening Broad street between Cinnaminson and Leconey avenues and Garfield and Morgan avenues was brought up again. The Chamber recommended sometime ago that Borough Council take this up with the result that one block was widened from Cinnaminson to Garfield. This has proved to be a very great improvement and many have asked that the good work be extended.

To Make Survey

A committee was appointed to make a survey of the difficulties to be overcome in this project and to ascertain if the property owners along the street will be favorable. It is hoped that the property owners who opposed the widening of the street before will be swayed by the improvement shown where the street has already been widened and co-operate for the benefit of the town and themselves.

During the last meeting the secretary was instructed to write to the Pennsylvania Railroad and request that the Trenton Division be included in the reduction of fares which recently went into effect on other South Jersey divisions.

The reply from the railroad was read and it was pointed out that the recent reductions were in the nature of an experiment and that they would not be extended unless it was found to be profitable. It stated that at present the prospects of the railroads where fares had been reduced were none too favorable and expressed doubt as to the success of the experiment. No change will be made until fall and if found that the experiment works out profitably the fare reduction will be extended.

McCamy Speaks

William A. McCamy, cashier of the Palmyra National Bank, was the speaker of the evening. He took for his subject, "Banking and its Relationship to the Community."

Mr. McCamy gave a brief history of banking since its origin in the Middle Ages. He told how the Italians started to trade with the Orient, how more money was needed to pay the expenses of these expeditions than was generally held by one individual. It was here that the money lender stepped in. Since the risk was very great the rate of interest was correspondingly large. The money lenders found their business was very profitable if properly managed and many of them began to create vast fortunes, some of which still exist. Other people with money to lend wished to benefit from this system and the idea of selling shares or stock began. This grew into a system of banks, many features of which are still in use.

The speaker went on to discuss the tendency of banks to consolidate so as to make more capital available. He said this tendency was growing to the extent that it was becoming a menace to the smaller community banks and that they were working for legislation to prevent the large mergers from crowding out the smaller banks.

Clearing House

He went on to say that the bank was the clearing house of the community, that it represented the combined capital of its patrons. The purpose of the bank, he said, was to promote industry and to help the individual.

He said that on an average there was only one-seventh of the actual cash necessary to carry on the country's business, that the other six-sevenths must be done on credit. The bankers' big question was as to how much credit the community or individual was entitled to. He said it was necessary to consider not only a creditor's honesty but his ability to meet his obligations.

A bank must always be ready to meet the demands of its depositors and for this reason must consider carefully the kind of investments that it makes. He said that the banks preferred to buy bonds that could be sold at any time that the money was needed. For this reason he said the banks could not invest in many long term mortgages.

Mr. McCamy warned the people about the practices of the loan sharks and the exorbitant rates of interest they charge, some of which are as much as forty-two per cent. per annum.

A photographer was present from the Philadelphia Inquirer to take pictures of the Chamber of Commerce and its officers. These pictures will appear in an early issue.

CLARENCE E. WORRELL

Clarence Worrell In Freeholder Race

Moorestown Township Committeeman Makes Bid For County Office

Clarence E. Worrell, Moorestown township committeeman, has announced his candidacy for Freeholder on a platform of economy and efficiency.

Mr. Worrell is an engineer and believes his technical training and experience would be of much value in the county governing board.

The Moorestown man is comparatively new in politics, but established quite a reputation for himself in a whirlwind sticker campaign for Township Committee last fall which he won against the regularly nominated candidate.

His evident personal popularity in this contest attracted the attention of the leaders of the Edge faction in Burlington county, who had been looking about for a likely candidate to carry their colors against Freeholders Charles R Stout and Curwen B. Fisher in the Spring Primary.

Freeholder J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford, now the only Edge man on the Board, first approached Mr. Worrell several weeks ago and promised him the united support of the Edge leaders in the county if he would undertake the campaign.

Following Wright's appeal, several other Edge leaders, such as State Senator Clifford R. Powell, State Committeeman William H. Reeves and the new State Treasurer, Albert C. Middleton, joined in the overtures to Mr. Worrell and at last obtained his consent to make the race.

Mr. Worrell will be teamed with James C. McCormick, of Burlington township. With these two candidates the Edge faction will attempt to gain complete control of Burlington county affairs by dominating the Board of Freeholders.

Four members of the present Board have refused to submit to Edge domination. They are director Howard Russ of Delanco; William H. Heisler, of Pemberton; Curwen B. Fisher, of Mount Holly, and Charles R. Stout of Florence.

The terms of Stout and Fisher expire this year and they are candidates for re-election.

NOTICE!

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Company wishes to correct an erroneous rumor that the Ladies Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Company and the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion are not cooperating.

These organizations did happen to select the same nights for their respective suppers and for a short time no one knew what to say regarding it.

However, after a short conference between the two chairladies, the Legion will retain the date they had so much difficulty in selecting, Wednesday, April 11, and the Auxiliary of the Independence Fire Company will hold their annual oyster supper Thursday, April 19.

Business hasn't been pressing in New York for a week or so, all the tailors and dry cleaners being on a strike.

PHS Basketball Five Champions

South Jersey Class B Title Again Won by Palmyra Team

Ken Dimond's Palmyra High School quintet annexed the South Jersey Class "B" Championship for the second successive year when they defeated the much heralded Ocean City team last Saturday on the Atlantic City High School's floor by a score of 26 to 20. This is the second championship the boys have won this year as they were already champions of the Camden-Suburban League.

The Ocean City quintet had fought its way to the final round of the South Jersey tourney and was regarded by many as the strongest team in this part of the state. Coach Dimond's protege had also survived the tourney and faced the shore outfit for the class "B" championship.

The ensuing battle was all that could be desired even by the most ardent fan. During the first quarter it was a nip and tuck affair with little to choose between either team. By the end of the half Ocean City was able to gain a one-point advantage.

When the third period opened the Palmyra boys realized that they had a foe worthy of their metal and put their utmost effort into the conflict. This canto ended with neither side having an advantage, being tied at 18 points each.

The final period was a classic of the courts in itself, a whole game crowded into a few minutes. Either team had an even chance for victory and the championship. Ocean City drew first blood by tossing in a two-pointer.

For the next ten minutes the action was fast and furious with neither side allowing the other an opportunity to score. With three minutes to play it looked like an Ocean City victory. But such was not to be.

Palmyra was allowed four fouls in a row. West counting two and Hennessey and Eisley one each, giving them the advantage 22-20. Cliff West then parted the cords for a double decker and a few seconds later Hennessey located the loop for another giving Palmyra the game 26-20.

Captain Eisley played a brilliant game at forward scoring 9 of his team's points. Hennessey and West scored 7 and 8 points respectfully. LaPore was the stellar performer for the losers.

Defeat Glassboro

The Palmyra tossers won the right to meet Ocean City for the championship by defeating Glassboro High last Thursday night at Camden. Eisley's return to old time form enabled Coach Dimond's porteges to brush aside the last remaining obstacle between them and a chance at sectional honors.

Captain Jack's injured digits, which have interfered with his play in the earlier games of the tourney, were in much better shape and he proceeded to show just how well he could perform under the stress of championship competition. His 23 individual points were more than sufficient to overcome the 15 registered by the entire opposing team.

This contest was not the set-up that the final score may indicate. The Glassboro team has made a name for itself in South Jersey competition and was regarded as a very difficult team to score on. When the opening whistle blew things started to happen with breath taking rapidity but it was the opposition that were doing the things instead of our side as has generally been the case. Before the game was two minutes old the Glassblowers had located the hoop for three field goals and things looked bad for the Burlington County entry.

Conference Called

Coach Dimond has taught his charges to play with their heads as well as their hands and this situation made it evident that something would have to be done without delay if the boys were to represent their Alma Mater in the tourney's final battle. Palmyra called time out at this moment and the boys got their heads together and decided on a plan to stop this free scoring by their opponents. From this time on there was a different story to tell. Glassboro failed to score during the rest of the quarter while Eisley and West scored a field goal each making the statistics for the first period 6 to 4 in favor of Glassboro.

When the second canto opened Jack went to work in earnest and before the period ended had scored 13 points himself while a teammate scored 2 giving Palmyra the honors for the first half 19 to 10.

Glassboro outscored the Burlington County entry 4 to 1 in the third period. The last quarter was somewhat of a repetition of the second with Palmyra outscoring their rivals 12 to 1 to make victory certain.

Erroll Adams was the stellar performer for the losers, scoring three field goals and two free tosses for 8 of his team's 15 points. "Spike" Hennessey and Allan Ware staged a spirited duel at center with "Spike" getting the better of the argument through his ability to knock the ball into the hands of his waiting team mates. Compass Club Hears History of Masonry

Walter G. Jones, High Priest of Siloam Chapter, Makes Address

Walter G. Jones, High Priest of Siloam Chapter, No. 19, R. A. M. of Camden, was the speaker at the meeting of the Palmyra Compass Club last Friday evening. The speaker gave a talk on the history of Free Masonry which was much appreciated by the members.

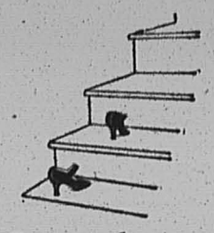

Mr. Jones is a personal friend of Francis Durgin and was entertained by him at dinner before the meeting.

After a brief business session the meeting was turned over to the the entertainment committee, George W. Shaner, George Rogers and Edwin Griscom had a great time initiating Joe Low into the various intricacies of the quoit pitching profession. Joe was an apt pupil and is now certain that he can trim anyone of the trio at their own game.

George Rogers, who takes most of his exercises in the same manner as does the Prince of Wales, decided that quoit pitching as a sport was too rough and joined Jim Hartley, Maurice Gerhard and Al Rycroft in a pinochle endurance contest. No one knows just when the last rubber was played except the participants themselves and they are as loquacious as clams when approached on the question. However George was seen emulating the popular Prince early the next A. M. so we do know that the contest did come to an end before daylight.

Walt Lamon and Russ Hammelman became baseball managers for an evening. Walt organized the Bears with such noted players as Harris, Stietler, Fryling, Branson, and Rycroft. Russell's Tigers had such stars as Carter, Morris, Jobe, Alloway and Price on the roster.

The Tigers won the series, 3 best out of 5.

THAT TIRED FEELING

You remember our grandmothers attributed the tired feeling one has sometimes after a winter indoors with hard work, little exercise, overheated rooms and perhaps several colds to the oncoming spring and recommended sulphur and molasses or sassafras.

The modern method of dealing with the condition is a visit to the doctor to "Let Him Decide" the reason and remedy. Some physical derangement is indicated and it may be tuberculosis. Prompt treatment of this disease with complete rest in bed, fresh air, sunshine, and good food under the direction of a good physician is followed by recovery. To delay or use quack remedies is to gamble with death. MAKE SURE, see your Doctor today.

During the coming two weeks moving picture films, Delay is Dangerous, and Working for Dear Life, will be shown through the courtesy of YMCA Industrial Secretary in the industrial plants and same films will be shown in theaters of county through the courtesy of the theatres —both calling attention to necessity of early diagnosis by family physician.

The cost of living may be coming down but there are several places in the mountains that it hasn't reached yet.

CITIZENS TURN OUT EN MASSE TO PROTEST WATER RATES

Riverton Chamber of Commerce Names Committee to Work With Palmyra

REVISION AND REBATE MAY BE SECURED SOON

The meeting called by the Riverton Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening for the purpose of considering steps to obtain relief from the present water rates, was attended by a large number of interested citizens. Collins' Hall was filled to overflowing. Every seat was taken and many were obliged to stand.

William H. Albertson, president of the Riverton Chamber, presided.

The chief speaker was Ralph S. Rivers, of Palmyra, who laid before his audience the results of his very thorough investigation. Charles A. Wright and Robert W. Knight appeared in rebutal.

During the evening the following phases of the situation were brought out. Under the new rate which went into effect last October, the increase in water bills has averaged from 69 per cent to over 100 per cent in many cases, depending on how frugal the consumers were in their use of water.

Increased Nearly 100%

While the company had asked for an increase that would produce about 5 per cent more revenue, it was shown that the decrease in the minimum water allowed, the rise in the rate from 30 cents to 40 cents and the boost in service charge from $3 to $4 really made an increase in revenue amounting to nearly 100 per cent.

Rates from other towns were quoted, many of them being considerably lower than those charged by the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company.

Mr. Rivers read a letter from the mayor of South Bend, where a municipally owned plant providing water, electricity and sewerage has been in operation for 25 years. Seven years ago it was wholly rebuilt and the latest machinery installed.

Paid All Borough Expenses

The financial side of the project is detailed by the mayor as follows:

"Our net earnings have been running at the rate of about $100,000 a year. To dispose of this surplus we were confronted with two plans; one which would call for a general reduction of rates so as to show no net surplus; or, charge a normal, fair price for electricity and water, and use the surplus revenues of the plant for the reduction of taxes. Most municipally-owned public utilities have adopted the former method, but in South River the Borough Council felt that the distribution of these earnings would be a little more equitable and fair if we adopted the latter plan of applying the surplus towards the reduction of taxes. With this surplus we found that we were able to reduce taxes to the extent of eliminating LOCAL TAXES.

"Our rates are $12.00 per year; there is no charge for sewerage. The retail light rate is 10 cents per kilowatt hour, less ten percent, making a net of 9 cents per kilowatt hour.

During the past six years we have paved more than thirty streets with reinforced concrete and sheet asphalt. Our assessed valuation is $4,500,000; which is approximately on a 25 per cent basis.

"What South River has done with its municipally-owned public utilities is something that can be accomplished anywhere, if politics can be eliminated. Our utilities are managed by a non-partisan board of public works, consisting of disinterested citizens who serve without pay. They are run on a strictly business basis, and the results have been most gratifying."

Sees Danger

Mr. Wright, president of the local water company, pointed out the weakness in the scheme of municipally-owned plants. While the consumer paid a lower rate, he said, it could never be accurately known what he paid in the total, as much of the expense of operation could be loaded into the taxes. He cited the United States Post Office department as an example of this, where the cost of buildings used for post offices is not charged against the department, but comes out of the treasury. Out of every dollar collected by the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company, 32 cents is paid out in taxes.

In answer to a question, Mr. Knight said that the company received in rentals for fire hydrants from the municipalities $8,000 and paid back in taxes $12,000.

Did Not Favor Meters

When the subject of meters was under discussion, Mr. Knight said, in answer to a question, that the cost of a meter, including installation, was about $18, which was included in the "service charge." He said that he had never been very enthusiastic about meters himself, but had been overruled when they were being considered by the company. He said that it cost a lot of money to install and read them every month, whereas it would be much cheaper to just pump the water and let it go at that. The company has about 160 fire hydrants and 2608 domestic users.

In answer to a question, Mr. Knight stated positively that the company had not made different or special rates to any patrons. He said that an impression that this was being done might have arisen from the fact that the form of water bills had been changed. He started out, he said, with a bill similar to that used by Beverly, but when a zoning system was installed, so that by dividing up the territory the meter readings could be made regularly, he had to change the form of the bill.

Rebates May be Given

In answer to a question as to whether or not there would be a rebate given if the rates now being charged were decided by the Utilities Commission to be excessive, Mr. Knight replied that this was in the hands of the commission. When asked if the company was favorable to give such a rebate, he replied in the affirmative.

Mr. Knight further said that while the commission had granted the new rates for a trial period of one year, he thought a readjustment would be made within the next two months. A report of the first three months operation under the new rates had already been rendered, he said.

D. F. Gould said he believed the people served by the water company were willing that the company have a fair return on its investment, but that as it had a monopoly in this service, the people had a right to demand that the charges should be fair.

Committee Appointed

Thomas McCrosson, chairman of the committee on public utilities of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce asked that a committee be appointed by the Riverton Chamber to cooperate with his committee. President Albertson appointed August Weber, William F. Becker, Joseph T. Evans, Karl Latch, D. F. Gould and Lindley C. Robbins.

Propose Service Clubs for Women

Increased Business Activities Develops Opportunity to "Get Together"

As an outcome of the world war the women of this nation came to the front in the recognition of the masses, proving their capabilities and efficiency in the arts, sciences and commercial ways. As an outcome the Business and Professional Women's Clubs were organized, developing from that keen economic urge and endeavor. As business and professional women were brought into closer relationship with each other, they felt the need of cooperation in community welfare, in educational training and business experience.

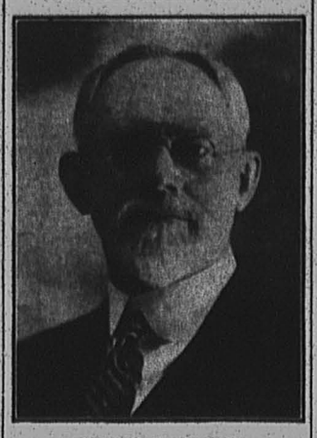

The National motto "Better Business Women for a Better Business World" means higher education, high ideals, constructive process of ways and means of carrying out our ideals, the putting into action our better impulses, leadership service and justice, helping to create better legislation, and securing for themselves and others the place in the world which they are so well qualified to fill.

The State and National Federation helps to make the business woman part and parcel of her community, it offers the increased power of a larger unit; it furnishes opportunities for mental and moral growth, it elevates the standards of women and creates fellowship. The federation numbers fifty thousand, with 874 clubs and is represented in every State in the Union.

New Jersey has sixteen clubs and over 700 members. Miss Mary L. Johnston, a distinguished professional woman of Trenton, is State president of New Jersey, having presided for six consecutive years.

Sucha Service Club can be organized in this vicinity. If you are a business or professional woman and would like to have details write Miss Mary L. Johnston, 21 South Westfield avenue, Trenton.

HAT'S IN THE RING

CURWEN B. FISHER
Member of the Board of Freeholders who this week announced his candidacy for reelection.

FISHER ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Curwen B. Fisher announces his candidacy for re-election to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Burlington County, at the coming Primary Election, May 15.

It is confidently predicted that he will have the undivided support of all citizens who approve good government and efficient business administration of public affairs. For two years he was County Auditor. His efficiency in that responsible position led some of the best citizens to suggest his candidacy for a place on the Board of Chosen Freeholders, resulting in his election by a large majority.

For the past two years he has been Director of the Department of Bridges. In this most exacting position he has shown ability; giving to the task his entire time. The work speaks for itself. Citizens have freely expressed their appreciation of the quality of the service rendered. Those in a position to know are convinced that close personal supervision of every detail of the work, the application of approved business methods, guided by the latest expert engineering knowledge, have resulted in substantial saving to the taxpayers, immediate and future.

Mr. Fisher is a man of the highest personal integrity, possessing an established reputation, being well known throughout the state, especially from the Raritan River to Cape May Point. He has ever welcomed constructive criticism. Adverse criticism should in all fairness be traced to its source, and its basis determined before reaching a judgment.

The wiles and tricks of the political demagogue should not be permitted to becloud reason. Mr. Fisher has conscientiously done his duty without fear or favor, with fairness to all whether white or black, Jew or Gentile, Protestant or Catholic. No section of our large County has been slighted in his consideration of its needs.

He has selected those immortal words of Abraham Lincoln for his slogan.

"I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to what light I have. I must stand with anybody that stands right, stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong."

TAG DAY TO BENEFIT SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Money Used to Help Finance Girls Training for Teachers

The Burlington County Council of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers will hold their annual Tag Day on March 26 for the benefit of the scholarship fund which has been sponsored for seven years by the association. This fund provides assistance to selected High School graduates who otherwise would be unable to secure a Normal School training.

The worthy purpose of providing a trained teacher for every classroom in the county merits the support of the Tag Day effrot. Trained teachers are essential if children are to have the full benefit of the school facilities provided.

Every community which secures a trained teacher rather than an untrained one as a result of this co-operation of the Parent-Teacher Association has a generous return for its participation in the annual Tag Day sale.

YACHT CLUB NOTES

New Clubhouse Planned on Pier; Commodore Robertson Builds New Boat

The Riverton Yacht Club has decided to sell its house on Bank avenue, between Main and Howard, and to build a new club house on the pier.

The old club house will be torn down and the new one built on the old pier after it has been repaired and reinforced. It is expected that the new structure will be of the most modern design for a yacht club.

So far the Regatta Committee has not finally arranged its program for the coming season but the activities will be about the same as last year. A series of Spring races and a series of summer races, with special races for Decoration Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day.

Commodore Robertson is building an International Star boat which he will sail this summer in the Chesapeake Bay, and in the events of the Corinthian Yacht Club at Philadelphia. This class of boat belongs to the largest racing fleet in the world, there being about five hundred of them in existence. Mr. Robertson has been working on his craft since last November, and hopes to have it finished in time for the first Corinthian Club races in April.

AFTER FIRE PROTECTION

If Municipalities Cannot Get Together, May Put in Own Fire Department

COLORED CIVIC CLUB URGES COOPERATION

The Civic Club of the colored citizens of East Riverton, Riverton and Palmyra, is still running true to form in its endeavor to help its people and to promote better public spirit among them. In accord with this idea the president of the club, Roy Williams, procured from Howard Taylor, Jr., a large number of tickets for the comedy presented last week at the school. The purpose of the affair being to aid the dental clinic at the Cinnaminson school, we felt that the colored citizens should be urged to do their part and show a proper interest for the clinic will aid both colored and white children who attend the school. The response was generous and many of the colored people enjoyed the most happy event, and more regretted that they could not attend.

The club intends to keep on the alert for any such opportunities for inter-racial harmony, and especially to urge the colored people to do their part wherever the matter concerns them or their children and not simply leave it all to their white friends while they share in the benefits.

Will Fight Political Graft

While the Civil Club is emphatically not a political organization, yet as a Civic body we intend to fight all those things that tend to lower race pride and civic pride in good government and clean politics. The greed for money in politics among the colored politicians in Burlington county has reached such a condition and has produced such results fraught with deceit, rougery and deception that if it is not curbed it will seriously affect many affairs of importance to the good government—both of our state and of the national government. Hiding under the guise of honest citizenry as officers of churches, as local business men, these politicians have destroyed every vestige of the respect which their fellow citizens should have for them or for the institutions which they represent.

Want Fire Protection

The Civic club is also greatly concerned about the matters of the water rates, and the possibility of the township in which most of us live and own homes, being without fire protection, due to lack of cooperation between the township and the borough. We most urgently desire some light on this last-named subject and if it cannot be solved by the towns, then the citizens will most certainly have to put into being a fire department of their own to protect their homes and children from the dread menace of fire. The club is ready at any time to meet with the bodies governing both the borough and the township to help solve this dangerous condition. Certainly the numbers of people who are being urged in Philadelphia newspaper advertisements to purchase the home already built and being built by those owning real estate in East Riverton, are not going to come and buy under these conditions, without fire protection.

Working for Lunch Room

The club is trying to arouse the interest of the colored parents and friends to establish a lunch room in the colored school in Westfield but many obstacles arise. The most difficult obstacle is the indifference of the people themselves. Although a PTA was established some time ago it never functioned and has done no constructive work, especially along this line. We have planned a meeting at which Miss Bryan will explain to us how the lunch room is managed at the white school, but we have not been able to find an adequate plan to get hold of the parents of all the children. Owing to illness, Mrs. Layfield Young, one of the teachers at the colored school, and who is the Civil club chairman on educational matters, we have not been able to perfect the plan for this meeting, which we hope will revive the parent-teacher affiliations and get action on many problems affecting the children at the school which things the parents should do themselves.

The club is working on a future event to be held at the Cinnaminson school if the plans are approved by the members, which will act as a tonic on all the colored people locally, to awaken interest in school matters.

CAMP 23

Camp 23, P. O. S. of A., of Palmyra, has set next Monday evening for the annual Past Presidents' Night in the Camp.

The committee in charge urges every member to be present and help make the evening worthy of the occasion. An evening of good fellowship with some of the "old timers" should prove to be an inspiration to the young men of the Camp to "carry on."

All past presidents are especially invited to attend this get together meeting.

Camp 23 extends to all members of the P. O. S. of A. a cordial invitation to visit Camp 23 any Monday night. Meeting place P. O. S. of A. Hall, opposite Palmyra station. Time 8 p. m.

WELLS, TUNNEY SPEAK

Former Judge and Mrs. Harold B. Wells returned on Thursday from a three weeks' trip to Florida. While in Miami, Judge Wells addressed a meeting of over 500 Rotarians and, as might be expected, made a big hit. Miami newspapers spoke in flattering terms of his address. The other speaker at the meeting was Gene Tunney.

LASLOCKY COW BIG PRODUCER

"Royal Princess," One of Fine Herd Produces 886 Pounds of Butter Fat

"Royal Princess of Millside Farm" No. 208689, a Guernsey heifer less than 2 years old at the beginning of her official test, owned by S. R. Laslocky, Millside Farms, near Riverton, has completed her year's Advanced Registry test and produced 8118.9 pounds of milk, containing 386.0 pounds of butterfat.

"Princess" through her production of 386.0 lbs. of fat made a percentage increase over requirement for entry into the Advanced Register of 32.87%. Figuring her daily production, she averaged 22½ lbs of milk for every day in the year, which cannot be but considered at her tender age, a remarkable performance. Her sire is Gerar's Roses Royal Prince, while her dam is Naomis Bell Castel's Choice; the latter animal having made a good Advanced Registry record several years ago.

Mr. Laslocky expects to place all his Guernseys on Advanced Registry test, and there is no doubt but that they will make creditable records; they are well bred animals and receive the best of care. The products of these Guernsey cows in the for mof milk and cream are tested continuously for their quality and purity and such tests have given most excellent results.

"Stage Wife" Becomes Bride

Leading Lady in "Her Step-Husband" Married Between Performances

"Her Step-Husband," a comedy in three acts, presented by the Westfield Dramatic Club, at the Cinnaminson Public School, Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, was played to capacity houses both nights.

The proceeds will benefit the dental clinic just installed in the school through the cooperation of the members of the Board of Education and the Parent-Teacher Association.

The story had to do with a young couple who had eloped and who were about to be visited by a maiden aunt of the bride who had refused consent to the marriage, and had only recently forgiven them. A touch of realism was added to the stage romance by the fact that the leading lady, Alma Shipps, of Delanco, actually became the bride of Sheldon Risley of the same place, Saturday afternoon. They deferred starting on their wedding trip until after the Saturday evening performance.

Much of the success of the play was due to the efforts of Mrs. Samuel L. Swift, coach; Miss Eloise Bryan, director; Miss Charlotte Rogers, assistant director, and Miss Elizabeth Goepp, make-up artist.

The cast of characters was as follows:

ENTERTAINMENT FOR RIVERSIDE LADIES

Riverton Fire Company Auxiliary Puts on Attractive Program for Their Riverside Friends

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Riverton Fire Company entertained the Auxiliary of the Riverside Company Tuesday evening with a program rendered entirely of local talent.

Wearing blue caps, red shirts and white trousers the ladies presented a nifty appearance as they sat around, telling jokes on the local merchants and firemen and singing songs. The "Chief," Mrs. Annie Cole, reminded one of the Kaiser, with a sharp upstanding mustache and goatee, and a cigar nearly a foot in length. One of the special features was a grasshopper song, in which all participated, although only a few played leap frog.

Mrs. Mary McDermott danced the Charleston and also joined with Mrs. Cole in a jig. Mrs. Ruth Carhart was accompanist.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

LIPPINCOTT ON CO. TAX BOARD

Former Freeholder Takes Place of Joseph L. Thomas

Fred Lippincott, of Moorestown, former member of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, has been named as a member of the Burlington County Board of Taxation. He will succeed Joseph L. Thomas, of Riverton in that position. His name was sent to the State Senate by Governor A. Harry Moore last night.

Mr. Lippincott served several years on the Burlington County Board of Freeholders, holding at different times nearly all of the directorates. Mr. Lippincott also has served on the State Board of Agriculture and in several other important positions.

The other members of the County Board of Taxation are Clifford Emmons, of Pembreton; Mrs. Florence Jacoby, of Edgewater Park, and John B. Tilton, of Mount Holly. The latter is the secretary.

WATER COMPANY WILLING TO RETURN TO 10,000 GALLONS

In Conference with C. of C. Committee Officials Willing to Compromise

JOINT C. of C. MEETING CALLED FOR MARCH 22

A prospect that the Palmyra-Riverton water rate question may be solved by a return to the 10,000 gallon minimum, with a lower rate for water used in excess of this amount, developed at a joint meeting of the Riverton and Palmyra Chamber of Commerce committees held in the Knights of Columbus Hall Monday evening.

Charles A. Wright and Robert W. Knight were present by invitation, to speak for the water company. Mr. Knight admitted that the company had received many complaints. He said, however, that up to this time it was impossible to tell how the new rates would work out, since they had only one three-months' period for comparison—from October 1 to January 1.

Bills for the second quarter will be rendered the first of April. These two periods, both being in the winter months, he said, did not give a fair comparison, and suggested that after bills were rendered the first of July the company would be in a better position to form some idea of how much revenue the new rates would produce.

The rates for the July first bills would be tabulated by the tenth of July, he said, and it would then be practical for the consumers, through their representatives, to apply to the Utilities Commission for a readjustment in rates, if the facts as then presented warranted such action.

Wright Suggests Delay

Mr. Wright said that it was entirely fitting that patrons of the water company should appoint representatives to look after their interests if they felt they were in any way being jeopardized, but he recommended that action be deferred until the Utilities Commission had facts upon which to base its consideration of the revision of rates.

Mr. Wright further said it seemed to him there were two facts to be decided first, are the new rates producing the desired amount of revenue, and, second, it is being done equitably.

It was the consensus of opinion that a base rate which would take care of the needs of the average user of water, and a very much lower rate than the one now charged for excess water used, possibly ten or fifteen cents a thousand gallons, would be satisfactory. Mr. Knight said he believed the water company would be in favor of such an arrangement.

Minimum Inadequate

It was generally thought the minimum of 6250 gallons per quarter was inadequate, particularly during the summer month, and Mr. Knight was asked if, the company would be willing to raise this to 10,000 gallons during the summer. He said the matter of rates was entirely in the hands of the Public Utilities Commission and the company had no authority to change them in any way. He did consent, however, with the concurrence of Mr. Wright, that the company would lend its support to the suggested recommendation if made jointly by the Chambers of Commerce.

The representatives for the two Chambers voted to call a meeting of the two bodies, Thursday evening, March 22, in the K. of C. Hall for the purpose of considering the proposition of filing this request with the Public Utilities before the beginning of the third quarter, the first of April.

PLAN GREAT DINNER

Burlington Countians to Hold Big Affair in Burlington Next Tuesday Evening

On Tuesday evening, March 27, the new county-wide organization, Burlington Countians, Incorporated, will have a dinner meeting at the First Baptist Church in Burlington at which it is expected to have a large gathering of the residents of the county who are interested in its present and future welfare.

The members of all service clubs have been invited to attend as have the members of the various business and agricultural organizations and a number of prominent residents of the county not affiliated with any organization.

An interesting program has been arranged, Judge Harold B. Wells will preside as toastmaster, and in addition to short talks by several prominent residents of Burlington County there will be two speakers who are experts in Community development.

Those interested in the development of Burlington county and who have not been invited through an organization are asked to get in touch with the secretary, F. G. Fromuth at 15 East Broad street, Palmyra, to make reservations.

Federated Clubs Meet at Riverton

Department Conference Held in Parish House Tuesday; Mrs. Driscoll Speaks

"He who plants a tree plants hope, and he who brings a flower to blossom brings a blessing." This was part of the inspiring message given by Mrs. Alfred Driscoll, State Chairman of Homes and Gardens, who was the first speaker at the Department Conference for the First District of the Federated Women's Clubs of New Jersey held in the Parish House at Riverton on Tuesday, March 20.

The meeting was opened by singing "America" anda repeating the "Lord's Prayer." A welcome by Mrs. Ruben Corry, president of the Porch Club, was extended to the visiting delegates, and a response given by Miss Mary Robbins, First First District Vice President.

Mrs. Driscoll continued her talk by giving many suggestions followed out by other clubs and urged that the Juniors be encouraged to take up garden work.

Mrs. Augustus Wilson sang two beautiful solos.

"Starts Something"

Mrs. Thomas Flockhart was the second speaker of the morning and spoke on the Fine Aarts. Mrs. Flockhart urged a greater interest in the early American Arts, and much of her talk was given over to creating an interest in civic beauty. Her slogan is "Start Something," and emphasized the necessity of destroying the tent caterpillar and gypsy moth eggs. "Teach children to love the flowers in their own back yards and they will never destroy the wild flowers."

Mrs. Russell Shirrefs spoke on Public Welfare. Mrs. Shirrefs asked club members to take a greater interest in the general health conditions of the community, and to co-operate with other organizations in trying to wipe out disease by preventative measures.

At noon luncheon was served to nearly 250 delegates under the direction of Mrs. Edw. Merrill.

The afternoon sesion was opened by singing "America, the Beautiful," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Coming Events

Miss Robbins spoke of the State Convention to be held at Atlantic City, May 9 to 12; the Literature Congress to be held at the Moorestown Community House on April 17; and the special Chorus Contest to be held in Camden April 23, urging each club to compete in this contest.

Mrs. Wilson sang again, followed by Mrs. Chauncey Marsh, of the State Department of Literature, who was the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Marsh spoke on the value of greater interest in the reading of good literature, saying that great literature admits you to the sphere of the Immortals, and admits you to an inner shrine of each others' hearts.

"Fit your personality," continued Mrs. Marsh, "and develop your characters by your reading. Good literature as well as good music and good arts helps to steady us. We are apt to fill our lives with too many things, and in so doing we often let the vital things pass.

"Write what you feel. Put it down on paper for your own analyzing. Do not write only in your uplifted moments, but write also when you are angry. This clarifies your view."

HEALTH LECTURE

The choir of the Epworth M. E. Church, Palmyra, has arranged a Wearever Aluminum Health Lecture to be given in the gymnasium of the church at eight o'clock, Thursday evening, April 12.

At this lecutre there will be prepared a substantial meal which will be served without cost to those who attend. Cards of admission may be obtained from any member of the choir or call Riverton 696 or Riverton 513-W.

EMMA J. UNDERKOFFLER

Miss Emma J. Underkoffler, 65 years old, died Thursday, March 15. Funeral services were held Monday from the home of her niece, Mrs. Emilie Edwards, 434 Horace avenue, Palmyra. The Rev. J. William Lee and the Rev. Mr. Radcliffe officiated. Interment was made in Northwood Cemetery, Philadelphia with Frank A. Snover in charge.

"TALENT DAY" BY RIVERTON P. T. A.

Some Sing, Some Cook, Some Recite, and Some Do Fancy Work, But All Have Good Time

A display of talents of all kinds was the source of much enjoyment at the monthly meeting of the Riverton P. T. A. on March 15.

After the regular business session a varied program consisting of the following numbers was given:

The African National Hymn sung by a choral which was accompanied at the piano and led by Mrs. Seymour Barker.

A playlet entitled "In Our Neighborhood," by Mrs. Clarence Hubbs, Mrs. Gilbert Coe, and Mrs. Everett Wolcott.

Piano Solo by Mrs. Paul Ridley.

Vocal solo by Mrs. Erma Gross accompanied by Mrs. Seymour Barker.

Reading from "Penrod and Sam" by Mrs. Frances Elwell.

Trio by Mrs. Luther Turner, Miss Chew and Mrs. Everett Wolcott, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Ridley.

The program was brought to a close by singing the chorus of the P. T. A. song.

Other talents such as sewing, crochet work, embroidery, silhouettes, potted plants, cakes, pies, cinnamon buns, rolls, candy, baked ham, potato salad were on sale before and after the program.

This was the second Talent Day conducted by the Riverton P. T. A., the one last year having met with enthusiasm from all present.

By working together in every available way the objective of the P. T. A., the advancement of children, is being accomplished.

Grades 5 and 6A received pictures as awards for having the highest percentage of mothers present.

PROF. PICKETT AT WESTFIELD

Prof. Clarence E. Pickett, of Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, will deliver his lecture, "Modern Thinking About Jesus" at the Westfield Friends' School, third month 25th, at 7.15 o'clock. Those interested are invited to attend.

ROTARY CLUB'S BIG INTER-CITY MEET SUCCESS

200 Attend Moorestown Group's Splendid Affair in Community House

DISTRICT GOVERNOR IS GUEST OF HONOR

Twelve of the Host Members Entertain With Fine Minstrel Show

The Rotary Inter-City meeting held by the Moorestown Club in the Community House Wednesday evening of last week was one of the most delightful Rotary affairs ever held in this section.

As one of the Mount Holly papers said, "The Moorestown Rotarians did things in their usual fine style." The Moorestown club is recognized as one of the liveliest and most successful Rotary groups in this section and it has a reputation for making every undertaking a huge success.

The crowd at the splendid dinner and entertainment numbered more than two hundred. Rotary Clubs in Palmyra-Riverton, Mount Holly, Pemberton and HaddonField did not hold meetings last week and attended Moorestown's affair 100 per cent. strong. There were also large delegations from the Camden and Woodbury clubs. A Rotary club from Collingswood which is now in the process of organization was represented and there were five members of the Chester, Pa.$ club present.

Complete Success

The program was a complete success from the fruit cup to the closing of the minstrel show which members of the club cleverly presented.

The meal was tastily prepared and served in a very attractive manner with the ice cream, which was moulded in the form of a Rotary emblem, as a unique feature. The table novelties and the entire scheme of decorations were very appropriate, being green in observance of St. Patrick's season.

The dinner was interspersed with lively singing led by Dr. Howard C. Curtis, Moorestown club's exceedingly capable leader, and Clarence E. Worrell, the "peppy" vice-president. The song leaders from the various clubs represented each led in a number. There was snappy music by Joseph Conway and Company's orchestra with Mrs. William de R. Frencir, the Rotary Club's ever faithful accompanist at the piano. Selections on the new $6,000 auditorium orthophonic were roundly applauded. The visitors were deeply impressed by the tone of the marvelous machine.

Governor is Guest

The presidents of all the clubs were presented were introduced and several delivered short talks. The guest of honor was Samuel C. Smucker, of West Chester, Pa., governor of Fiftieth District, Rotary International. All of the clubs represented are in Fiftieth District and the popular governor, who is beloved by all Rotarians in his district, was*given a rousing welcome. The governor was called upon for remarks and later in the evening, after the chief address, he was called again in response to the insistent demands, "We want Sam,$ of the Rotarians.

Joseph Sleeper, head of the Sleeper Business College, Chester, Pa., was the chief speaker and delivered a very eloquent address. Mr. Sleeper is a Rotarian, being a member of the Chester club, and has been prominently identified with Rotary activities for many years.

Baker Presides

George C. Baker, supervising principal of Moorestown Schools who is president of the host club, presided at the dinner and punctuated his remarks with sparkling wit.

Jonathan W. Powell, as the interlocutor, handled the minstrel line like an experienced trouper and won much applause with his solo. The end men were Henry H. Stiles, Steward R. Maines, Loren B. Smith and Norris H. Bennett. This all-star quartet had an abundance of good jokes and each favored with some fine songs and clever dancing.

One of the hits of the show were "You Scream, I Scream, We All Scream for Ice Cream!" featuring the ever popular comedian, Rotarian Stiles, and his fellow end man, Rotarian Bennett. Clarence E. Worrell almost brought the house down in a hecker "skit." After coming back for several encores, Rotarian Worrell sang "Among My Souvenirs" and exhibited some mirth producing "souvenirs."

Splendid Shows

The chorus also won its share of the laurels in both singing and dancing numbers. In the circle were Dr. Howard A. Lippincott, Benjamin P. Rumpelter, Mr. Worrell, Edward P. Hyland, William Grobler and Earl C. Kuhns. Dr. Lippincott favored with a solo. Irving Hollingshead might be called the "character actor" of the company, as he filled such a role with honors.

"The Hub," the weekly publication of the Camden Rotary club, said in part:

"Of all the snappy, peppy, Rotary meetings we have attended, that Inter-City meeting at Moorestown last Wednesday evening was the winner * * * *Fellowship reigned supreme * * * * As a concluding feature the Moorestown boys put on as good a Minstrel Show as you ever saw * * * * Camden is more than proud of her grandchild, Moorestown."

AWARDED VAIL MEMORIAL MEDALS

Three Vail Memorial medals in bronze have just been awarded to employees of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company for acts of heroism and noteworthy public service in 1927.

The medals—are given annually in memory of Theodore N. Vail, and are the first awarded by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company since its organization.

Mrs. Cook saved the life of a girl who had fallen into a stair well on the eighth floor of a building in Newark. Mrs. Cook was on the sixth floor and caught and dragged the girl to safety when her body struck the sixth floor railing.

Miss Pease, by unusual effort, secured a doctor needed in the case of an accident where several persons had been killed and others dangerously wounded.

Mrs. Algor traced in New Jersey and New York City a woman who had picked up a bottle of acid in a drug store, thinking it was an eye-drop prescription and reached her in time to prevent her from using the acid on her eyes.

WAYS OF SERVING EGGS IN BOOKLET

Fourteen ways of serving eggs are described and a page devoted to the preservation of eggs in a bulletin, entitled "Eggs", by Marie Doermann, extension specialist in foods at the college of agriculture.

The author points out that eggs may be served for breakfast, dinner, or supper, and lists several receipts for each. A few of them are: shirred eggs, steamed eggs, scalloped eggs, apple whip, lemon pudding, French omelet, plain or puffy omelet, and cheese souffle.

She emphasizes that because of their high food value eggs form an important part of the diet, and that the yolks have recently been found to have a special value in the prevention of rickets.

Since the price of eggs increases as cold weather approaches, it is a good plan for the thrifty housewife to buy a large quantity while prices are low and preserve them for winter use. Complete directions for preserving eggs in water glass are given in this pamphlet.

The college of agriculture has a large supply of this publication on hand and copies may be obtained free on request by residents of the State by sending a postal card to the mail clerk, college of agriculture, New Brunswick.

Cardea Hero Medal Received by Widow

Impressive Memento of Palmyra Man's Sacrifice Placed on Display

The Carnegie Hero medal, awarded to Mrs. Demetrio Cardea, of Palmyra, in recognition of the sacrifice made by her husband in his vain but heroic effort to save the lives of two young girls on July 7, 1927, was received by the widow last week and is on display at Buchi's Drug Store.

The medal is of bronze, about three inches in diameter. It bears on one side a bust relief of Andrew Carnegie and the inscription, "Carnegie Hero Fund, established April 15, 1904."

On the reverse side is the inscription, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." Across the face of the medal are arranged three coats of arms, those of the United States, the state of Pennsylvania and the City of Pittsburgh. In the centre is a panel with the inscription "Awarded to Demetrio C. Cardea, who died attempting to save Anna M. and Madeline Fabritore from drowning, Palmyra, N. J. July 7, 1927."

The two girls were swimming in Pennsauken creek near the Hylton road. One got beyond her depth and the other went to her aid. Cardea, who had been accustomed to taking his children swimming in the evening at the same place, dived in fully clothed, but found the task of saving the two girls too great and all three drowned.

There were no witnesses to the tragedy except the hero's young children.

The award of the Carnegie hero Fund carries with it a substantial income and in addition to this the people of Palmyra contributed a considreable sum for the relief of the Cardea family immediately after the tragedy.

HOLDING SUPPER FOR AGED WOMEN'S HOME

Affair Will be Held in Burlington's First Baptist Church This Thursday Evening

The board of managers for the Burlington County Aged Women's Home is planning for a large crowd at the supper to be given at the First Baptist Church at Burlington on Thursday evening, March 22.

The tickets are selling for $1.00 and the proceeds are for the benefit of this worthy institution.

The home is maintained by private contributions and the interest from a small endowment and takes care of aged women from all over Burlington County. There is always a waiting list of applicants for the Home with its present accommodations can take care of only twenty-five guests.

There are many things needed for the general comfort of these guests and it is hoped a large sum will be realized from this supper.

The 'Fiddler Crab' is so called because the male has one brightly colored claw of immense size, which when he runs, he waves as if he were playing a tune on a violin.

No Local Taxes Due to Town Ownership

South River's Municipal Plant Earns Profit of $100,000 a Year

The following letter was received from William A. Allgair, Mayor of South River, N. J., by Ralph S. Rivers, of Palmyra:

I acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 8th, and will try in a brief way to give you a few of the "high spots" concerning South River. We are a manufacturing municipality of about 12,000 population, consisting of Poles, Russians and Hungarians to the extent of about 50%, the balance are old line American families.

About twenty-five years ago the two had grown to a size when it became necesary to install public utilities. The Borough Council at the time conceived the plan of installing a water, sewerage, and electric plant. This plant was used until about seven years ago, when it was thoroughly scrapped, and a modern Diesel engine plant installed in its place. The result has been beyond anyone's expectations.

Our net earnings have been running at the rate of about $100,000 per year. To dispose of this surplus we were confronted with two plans of action. One which would call for a general reduction of rates so as to show no net surplus or charge a normal, fair price for electricity and water, and use the surplus revenues of the plant for the reduction of taxes. Most municipally owned public utilities have adopted the former method, but in South River the Borough Council felt that the distribution of these earnings would be a little more equitable and fair if we adopted the latter plan of applying the surplus towards the reduction of taxes. With this surplus we found that we were able to reduce the taxes to the extent of eliminating local taxes.

Our rates of water are $12.00 per year, no charge is made for sewerage. The retail light rate is ten cents per kilowatt hour, less ten percent, making a net of nine cents per kilowatt hour.

During the past six years, we have paved more than thirty streets with reinforced concrete and sheet asphalt. Our assessed valuation is $4,500,000.00, which is approximately on a twenty-five percent basis.

What South River had done with its municipally owned public utilities is something that can be accomplished anywhere, if politics can be eliminated. Our utilities are managed by a non-partisan Board of Public Works, consisting of disinterested citizens who serve without pay. They are run on a strictly business basis, and the results have been most gratifying.

69 CENT SALE

Freeman's Economy Store Offers Unusual Bargains

Freeman's Economy Store offers another one of its famous money saving sales in the advertising columns of this issue. This store has offered unusual values in all its sales in the past but the coming event promises to outdo all the others.

This sale is a departure from past custom in that instead of offering one dollar specials it offers specials in every department at prices ranging from sixty-nine cents up. Under the new plan high er priced merchandise can be included and priced way below what you would expect to pay.

Why not take this opportunity to show your appreciation of the effort put forth by one of Palmyra's merchants and by so doing encourage them to offer greater values and better service in the future.

COUNTY REAL ESTATE BOARD MEETS AT HOLLY

At the monthly meeting of the Burlington County Real Estate Board, held at the YWCA, Mount Holly, last week, it was decided that the members shall attend a banquet to be given by Burlington County, Inc., in Burlington on the evening of March 27. Roy Cole, of Moorestown, president of the board, presided.

The next meeting, to be held April 10, probably in Moorestown, will be a join session of the Real Estate Board and county insurance agents. The principal address at that session will be by Harry Godshall, of Atlantic City, president of the New Jersey Association of Underwriters.

MOVE IN BURLINGTON TO ABOLISH CITY COUNCIL

In a statement to members, directors of the Chamber of Commerce, of Burlington, last week asked for a vote of approval on the launching of a campaign for the adoption of the commission-manager form of government for that city to supplant the present Mayor and Council system.

The recent nine-week deadlock over the selection of a president of Council is said to be the cause of the move on the part of the Burlington business men.

A Burglar Proved its Worth—
But why wait for a burglar?

Gray dawn. Suddenly he roused—every sense alert. Stealthy steps—apparently in the kitchen. His main telephone was downstairs in the library but that mattered not for quietly he reached for the extension telephone beside his bed. "Police" he called. The intruder got away—but without a haul.

An extension costs very little—a small service connection charge—and then about two and one half cents a day. Quick Installation.

County's Legal Machinery Kept Busy With Miscellaneous Matters

Judge Slaughter disposed of a number of Orphans' Court matters in the Burlington County Court at Mount Holly on Thursday of last week and then heard argument on a motion made by Attorney V. Claude Palmer for a new trial for Edwad Royce, of Columbus, recently convicted of assaulting his wife and also with deserting her.

Counsel briefly stated that he had no fault to find with the verdict of the jury, insofar as the assault charge was concerned, but he thought the verdict of guilty in connection with the alleged desertion was wrong.

The assault and desertion indictments, by agreement of counsel, had been tried as one case.

The Court listened attentively to the arguments for and against a new trial on the desertion charge, as presented by Mr. Palmer and Prosecutor Hillman, and then announced that the motion would be denied.

Royce will appear for sentence on March 29.

Mrs. Tillie Andzyeski, of Riverside, pleaded guilty to two charges of liquor law violations, after she had signed a waiver, one charge stipulating that she had liquor in her possession and the other that she had a still.

Riverside Family Wins

A case which occupied the attention of Judge Slaughter and a jury the greater part of Wednesday was that of Albert L. Swensen against Levi Abromowitz, father, and his two sons, Samuel and Levi Abromowitz, all of Riverside, in which Swensen claimed damages amounting to $15,000 as the result of an assault upon him by the defendants more than four years ago.

All three of the Abromowitz were indicted by a Grand Jury for assaulting Swensen, and later they were convicted and sentenced to pay fines of $100 each.

George Aaron, a Camden lawyer, represented the plaintiff, and the defendants' case was looked after by Attorney Robert Peacock.

The jury rendered a verdict of no cause for action.

L. D. Gillian, of Philadelphia, charged with larceny as bailee, in that he converted to his own use certain bonds and securities belonging to Mrs. Rachel S. Davis, of Rancocas, appeared before Judge Slaughter and pleaded not guilty, being released after he had furnished $2,000 bail.

Hears Liquor Case

Adam Waryasz, of Burlington, charged with possession of liquor, was fined $200, and two other indictments against him were nolle prossed.

Tony Zymoloong, of Philadiephia, who had just completed serving a sentence imposed by the Federal Courts, was brought to Mount Holly from Camden by Detectives Carabine and Cain, and he pleaded guilty to possession of liquor in Cinnaminson township.

At the time of the raid on a new house in Cinnaminson township a big still and ingredients for making liquor were confiscated and John Chili and Andrew Karchmarski were found in the house and arrested.

Later, Chili pleaded guilty and was fined $500, but Karchmarski died after being admitted to bail and before sentence could be imposed.

Zymoloong was not arrested at the time of the raid but he was afterward apprehended. He was fined $200 on Wednesday.

Eugene Byrd, colored, of Florence, who had already pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession was fined $75.

LOSING WEIGHT?

Unless You Are on Reducing Diet, It May be Warning of Serious Condition

Are you losing weight? Unless you are on a reducing diet under the direction of a physician or can otherwise account for it, this loss may be a warning of a serious condition especially when accompanied by "that tired feeling." Don't waste time worrying and wondering, go to your doctor at once and "Let Him Decide" the reason and remedy for your trouble. It may be tuberculosis which in early stages is readily cured by rest, fresh air, sunshine and good food under the care of an experienced physician.

The following Boards of Health to date have endorsed the National Campaign for Early Diagnosis Campaign being fostered by the Burlington County Tuberculosis League: Moorestwon, Riverton, Mt. Holly Pemberton, Burlington, Medford Marlton, Bordentown, Crosswicks Riverside, Maple Shade.

FIELD IS LEASED

William de R. French Moorestown, chairman of the Field Committee of the Burlington County Aero Club, announced Tuesday evening that negotiations have been completed and he has leased the airport site for the Club.

The field is about 50 acres of flat, desirable land, and is on the Hartford - Westfield Road directly opposite the home of former Freeholder Fred Lippincott, on the outskirts of Moorestown. This is just south of Bridgeboro Road and the field, hangar and airplanes will be easily seen from the main thoroughfare.

It is understood that the land is owned by the Stanley Company. It was leased through Cole and Edgar, Moorestown Realtors.

Robert Hewitt, noted aviator, recently inspected the field and pronounced it "great." He declared that any type of plane can land or take off from it in perfect safety and it will be ideal for a training base. Mr. Hewitt was extremely enthusiastic over the prospects of the club with such a field as its airport.

SEE CHANGES IN CO. BALL LEAGUE

Two New Teams Already Lined Up For Season; Seek to Revise By-Laws of the Circuit

Seven clubs were represented at the meeting of the Burlington County Baseball League held in the Moorestown Community House last Friday night, Lawrence Mingin, of Medford, presided.

The session was called for the purpose of revising some of the by-laws of the League. This was done, although the rules have not yet been adopted.

The clubs represented were Medford, Moorestown, Delanco, R. D. Wood and Vincentown, members of the circuit last year; and Riverside and Riverton, two new clubs.

Burlington and Bordentown, which competed last season, were not represented. It was announced at the meeting that Palmyra is expected to seek a franchise.

GENERAL SCOTT IS ROAD BOARD HEAD

Re-Elected Chairman of State Highway Commission at Annual Meeting

General Hugh L. Scott, of Princeton, was re-elected chairman of the State Highway Commission at the annual meeting held in Trenton last week.

He has served in that capacity since his first appointment to the commission in 1923. A. Lee Grover, of Trenton, was re-elected secretary, and Charles Fishberg, assistant secretary.

The commission directed the placing of advertisement for bids for construction of a new bridge over the Raritan River near Weston's Mills at New Brunswick. The estimated cost is $1,500,000. The bridge will form a link in the new highway route No. 25, extending from the mouth of the Hudson tunnel to Camden. The new sections of the route are being laid out to avoid, as far as possible, congested territory.

The commission voted $70,000 to Camden as the State's share of an expenditure of $125,000 for the extension of Haddon avenue, Haddonfield.

KINGDON MADE CHAIRMAN COUNTY BOARD ELECTIONS

Joseph C. Kingdon, of Mount Holly, was elected chairman of the Burlington County Board of elections at the organization meeting in Mount Holly last week. Mr. Kingdon had been secretary for several years and this position will now be filled by Frank S. Absalom, of Florence. The other members of the board are Newton Morton, of Florence, and Francis S. Muiraney, of Moorestown.

County Aero Club Hears W. L. LaPage

Expert from Pitcairn Company Congratulates Organization on Its Progress

W. Laurence LaPage, assistant to the vice president of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., delivered a splendid address at the meeting of the Burlington County Aero Club in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening. Eight new members were taken into the Club and the attendance, including several visitors, totalled more than fifty.

In opening his address Mr. LaPage congratulated the Club on its remarkable success and commented on the progressiveness of Burlington County in whole-heartedly supporting the movement. He described the airplanes and personnel of the New York—Atlanta Mail Line, and gave the members some first hand information on radio beacons. He also talked on the new slotted winds.

"You are doing a wonderful work and are real pioneers," declared Mr. LaPage. "Every man and woman in the county should boost your organization and it should have the support of all commercial interests of Burlington County.

"The progress you have made in the short time you have been in existence strongly indicates that the county will soon be known all over the United States through the Club. It will gain a reputation as a real live-wire progressive county and the advertising the county and all of its communities will receive will be extremely valuable."

Freeholder Charles R. Stout, of Florence, enjoyed the distinction of being the first man to take honorary membership in the Club.

It was announced that Moorestown is the first town in Burlington County to advertise itself to aerial travelers. The word "Moorestown" has been placed on the Walter S. French Company buildings, West Main street, in letters 19 feet high and extending 120 feet in length. There is an arrow pointing toward Philadelphia marking the distance of 15 miles and another arrow pointed to the Club's airport which is about a mile from the building.

H. H. Longaker, president, said the Club will endeavor to have every city and town in the county have its name on the air map with its name on the roof of some large building.

The field will probably be ready for use by April 1 and the officers are arranging for demonstration of various types of ships and training purposes.

The ground school class will start shortly after April 1. The classes will be held evenings and will be for members of Classes A and B of the Club.

An important meeting of the Club will be held at Moorestown Community House Monday evening, April 2.

FAMOUS AUTHOR AND PREACHER TO SPEAK

Moorestown Will be Afforded Great Treat in Message of Hugh Black March 25

Moorestown is to have a great treat Sunday evening, March 25, when Hugh Black, D. D., L. L. D., professor of practical theology at Union Theological Seminary will preach at the Community Service in the Criterion Theatre. The service will start at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Black was born in Scotland in 1868, graduated from University of Glasgow, held the pastorate of St. George's Church in Edinburgh until 1906 when he came to the United States to fill the chair which he still holds in Union Theological Seminary.

He has endeared himself to hundreds of thousands of Americans by his eloquent preaching and by his helpful books. He is the author of Friendship, Culture and Restraint, Practice of Self Culture, The Open Door, The New World, Lest We Forget, and many other books which have had a wide circulation

Our Newspapers

By Maude B. Colwell

First of all do you know how and why they came to be called newspapers?

About 2,000 years ago in ancient Rome a bulletin called the "Acta Diurna (daily happenings) was posted by the government in some prominent place in the city of Romulus and Remus for all to read.

In Anno Domini 53 the Franks invaded Gaul and between the years 800 and 900 A. D., the Capetian Dynasty, had not only conquered France but had sent some of their borrowed Roman customs ahead of them to Britain.

One, in fact, the chief one, was the above quoted "Acta Diurna" now known under a different name.

The towns of Britain were small and far apart—events were scarce, a few murders (we don't mind them in 1928—in the papers) a dynasty overthrown here and there, a beheading, a short and generally futile invasion, etc., etc. These were about the sum total so usually a central town was chosen; the runners would be sent from the four corners of the country. They carried what we now call megaphones and as they ran they shouted the items on the bulletins. These runners came from

The North—N.
The East—E.
The West—W.
And the South—S.

Finally they were called News runners. Eventually the bulletins became the NEWS and when the bulletins did not suffice and in 1622 a paper was actually put out for sale it was known as the NEWS paper.

"Of Public Intelligence"

By the way, the first newspaper published was "a paper of public intelligence." It was printed in Venice in 1620.

Now of all things around a house I do believe that newspapers are treated the worst, thrown from chair to chair, more often on the floor and finally either given to the Salvation Army or given to the rag man.

And yet they maintain and sustain our interest in life.

What is a newspaper?

A publication issued for general circulation at frequent intervals. No man can be educated without the acquisition of knowledge, and where, I ask you, particularly in these days of "Quiz" "What do you know?" "Ask me another," etc., can you pick up more information than in a newspaper.

Why intelligent clippings from different sources for just one year would equal a course in any college (omitting naturally the football, hockey and physical development).

Our home newspapers keep up a good average with the city papers. And we get more charity for one thing. Charity is love, as you know, and covers a multitude of sins.

Instead of reading solely about murders in Chicago, fires in Montana, a large run of fish in Alaska and a larger run of divorces in Reno we hear of our neighbor's baby. That arouses personal interest. Then, perhaps, the recent sale of a nearby lot. That makes us think how clever we were to buy when and where we did.

And Those Parties!

The description of a party at Miss Brown's. "Ah ha! I'll give a party too"—a little jealousy perhaps but all these are of benefit to our community.

Why not more about the people with whom we live, people who are within a radium of our circle of life?

Interest in our friends is reactionary. It is like bread on the waters, it comes back one hundred fold—our newspapers contain beside this homey, home stuff all the major happenings of the outside world. The rise and fall of presidents and kings, the growth and interests of countries and the ceaseless changing of frontiers. All these we can learn without the blatant crudity of the tabloids and the colored journals.

What we read from abroad is mostly conjectural.

What we read from home is educational and education is development, not merely instruction, but an actual making up of the mind.

You can't convince a self-made man that he gave himself the worst of it.

ELECTRICITY and
Your Spring Frocks

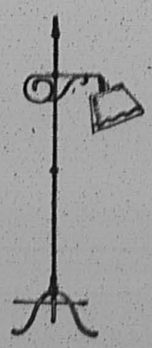

THIS is the busy season for the home dress-maker, and as she designs and sews she finds that electricity is her ally in shortening her hours of work.

An Electric Motor attached to the sewing machine ends tiresome pedaling and with but a small expenditure in electric current speeds up the dressmaker's labors.
The woman who is clever enough to design and make clothes, effecting big savings in their costs, will appreciate an electrically driven sewing machine.

The Daylight Mazda Lamp

Bridge Lamp
A bridge lamp, simple in design and piped and weighted to prevent tipping, is a useful part of equipment for the sewing room. A wrought metal stick with a shade of smooth parchment is suitable.

An Electric Heater
is often a source of comfort in the sewing room. It is light in weight and may be carried from place to place with ease. Prices begin at $4.00.

An Electric Iron
is indispensable in the sewing room. Think of the steps saved in running up and down stairs to press out a pleat or a ruffle. Electric iron prices begin at $4.50.

LICENSING DOGS

The sight of seven men, entrusted with the conduct of a three million dollar business spending upwards of $60,000 a year, sitting around a table and discussing the licensing of dogs at one dollar per license, is apt to bring a cynical smile to the face of—the unthinking.

When the Riverton borough fathers insist that every dog must be properly registered with the borough clerk, they are merely enforcing a State law. But when they insist that homeless dogs, or dogs whose owners do not care enough for them to have them registered(and, by the same token do not see that they are properly fed) shall be put out of the way, they are protecting the lives of every man, woman and child in Riverton from a menace that is rapidly increasing.

"Our Dumb Animals" published by the Massachusetts State Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has this to say about the spread of rabies:

"For the past five months the cases of this malady brought to our Hospital and diagnosed as rabies have mounted as high as twenty and thirty a month. There have been days with records of three, four, and even five cases. Every one of these unfortunate victims has died.

"How have they dealt with this situation in such a country, for example, as England? First, by insisting upon a long period of quarantine, if my memory serves me, for three months, for every dog brought into the country, and secondly, by compelling for other long periods the restraining of all dogs, the leash rather than the muzzle being deemed by far the better method. The disease rarely appears there now, and when it does is generally traced to airplanes as the transporting devices that escape the customs.

"In view of what is here written we have seen no other course for us but to favor the restraining order of the State authorities, and this in the interests of the dogs themselves, to say nothing of their owners. Furthermore, if every owner of a dog would give him his just due of a license and a collar bearing his owner's name and address, and if the vast number of unlicensed, stray, roaming dogs were reduced to the minimum, we feel confident this dread disease would soon cease to cause the trouble and anxiety with which we have been so familiar of late in and about Boston.

Nearly every summer sees one or more "mad dog" scares in Riverton. Several of the heads sent for examination to the State Board of Health have been reported on as showing unmistakable signs of rabies.

The licensing of dogs, if it is carried to its logical conclusion by the destruction of dogs that are not licensed, is a necessary measure for public safety, and the borough authorities are performing a duty to their neighbors and townsmen when they see that this State law is rigidly enforced.

More power to them!

"ECONOMY" LAST REFUGE OF EDGE GANG

"Patriotism is the last refuge of the scoundrel," said Samuel Johnson.

In view of political developments in Burlington County it might be said that "Economy is the last refuge of the politicians."

Anybody can plead proposed economy. It is the most transparent catch-penny or catch-vote propaganda in politics. The candidate figures that the purse lies nearest the voter's heart about election time and that, when elected to office, he will find plenty of excuses for not having saved the thousands he so glibly promised.

Judging from the amount of money which it is reported the Edge faction plans to spend to gain control of Burlington county, the economy program does not apply to the vote getting campaign.

"Thousands for Edge control, not one cent for county bridges," might well be J. Lloyd Wright's version of Pinkney's famous defiance.

Mr. Wright says he can repair the Wading River Bridge for a thousand dollars, instead of building a new one for $75,000. The voter who wants to judge this declaration properly should journey to Wading river and view the narrow dilapidated structure which the War Department has condemned and decide whether it is real economy to waste money repairing a bridge which will have to be rebuilt in a very short time, no matter how much is spent trying to fix it up for campaign purposes.

The Edge faction claims it can save $100,000 a year in County expenses. This is the same faction which is trying to destroy the Civil Service system in order to provide more political jobs for its henchmen.

Economy might well begin at home. We do not want Burlington County administered after the Edge-Baird pattern in Camden.

—The Palmyra News.

POLITICAL VENGEANCE OF A RARE SORT

Friends of Miss Sarah R. Budd, of Mount Holly, are showing considerable resentment at the failure of Senator Powell to recommend Miss Budd's reappointment as member of the State Library commission.

Miss Budd is president of the Commission and regarded as a very valuable member of that body. No salary attached to the place and the incumbent, moreover has to pay her own expenses.

In the circumstances it is felt that Senator Powell might with propriety waive whatever feeling he holds against Miss Budd because she frankly favored Senator Roberts for renomination last June, and ask Governor Moore to reappoint the Mount Holly woman.

For Miss Budd it may be stated that she has taken no step to her reappointment. She has said that if the State desires her to do so she will be glad to serve again, but the appointment being more in the nature of an "honor" than a "job", she does not feel warranted to become an active candidate and she has declined to do so.

It has been said at Trenton that if Senator Powell refuses to endorse Miss Budd or does so in a way that gives Governor Moore to understand that he is not particularly interested in the subject, the Executive will probably give the place to a Hudson Countian, a step that he has been desirous of taking from the first, it is reported.—Mount Holly Mirror.

A FAIRER ATTITUDE BY WATER COMPANY

The officials of the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company are to be congratulated for assuming a reasonable attitude in the water rate question.

It is clearly evident that the minimum of 6,250 gallons is entirely inadequate for the average household and, coupled with the high rate charged for excess water under the new rates, results in an extortionate burden upon the public.

That the individual water bills should be so large during the winter period of low consumption proves that a real hardship would be visited upon the citizens of these communities in the summer when much water is needed for other purposes.

Since water can be pumped so cheaply, and the delivery of extra water adds so little to the expenses of the company, it would be little short of criminal to force the customers of the water company to resort to pinch-penny economy in the use of water during the summer months.

An increased minimum allowance and a reasonable rate for excess water will allow the citizens of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson to be comfortable during the warm season without being overtaxed for the privilege of watering lawns and gardens, and the company will still make plenty of money.

It always has!

—The Palmyra News.

STATEMENT ON CIVIL SERVICE RIPPER

By Former U. S. Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen

The effort to pass the Civil Service "Ripper" bill in the Assembly should be condemned by every public-spiritetd citizen in the state. As one of those who sponsored the bill as a long-heralded reform against the spoils system and boss rule, and as a Republican desirous of retaining these reforms so necessary for good government, I wish to protest against this reactionary move to tear down a safeguard which has been the law for years.

I am told that due to the change of political control in Camden County, the Civil Service Commission refused to remove three Democrats under protection of civil service and replace them with Republicans. I know nothing of the facts in the case. This, I am also told, is the reason for introducing the "Ripper" bill sponsored by Camden County leaders. If the bi-partisan commission is violating the letter and spirit of the law; if the president and commissioners are guilty of favoritism, it can and should be investigated and if proven, they can be removed.

But to tear down the bi-partisan system, which is a policy and principle of the Republican Party, and replace the present commission with a single-headed commission is like trying to abolish the judicial system because a judge is partial or a jury renders an adverse verdict, and setting up a dictator in their place. The Civil Service law was passed to protect faithful employees of both parties in the civil service against removal through change of political control and to secure efficiency through character, integrity and merit in appointments.

The board was made bi-partisan to remove partisan bias from selection. Under it are veterans, firemen, policemen, and thousands of others in the civil service who gain their livelihood and support their families from the wages they receive from the state and municipalities. Their very existence depends upon their positions, and the law protects those of good behavior and efficiency from losing their jobs through change of party control. They rely on the good faith of the Republican Party responsible for the law, and as a Republican, I shall keep that faith by fighting against the proposed change.

The Republican Party freed itself from boss and corporation control years ago. It took fifty years to do this. Ever since that time, the struggle between political control and freedom from it has gone on. There are two influences that govern in political life, one is the influence of the bosses to gain more power and the other is the influence of the people to retain their power.

I am opposed to any changes in existing laws that would deprive the people of further rights or weaken the power of the people and strengthen the power of the bosses in our state government. I am also opposed to changes in existing statutes which would abolish the merit system and substitute for it a political machine. I protest against the exploitation of the party by these so-called leaders in an effort to bolster up favorite candidates and insure their continuance in power.

The members of the legislature who are maintaining the honor ersed of representative government deserve great commendation and support from the people.

As to any candidate who sacrifices a great principle for political expediency or in return for a pledge of personal support, I am sure that every proper thinking voter will use the weapon of the ballot to defeat him overwhelmingly as wholly unworthy of holding public office high or low.

Ed. Note—Burlington County's State Senator, Clifford R. Powell voted for the Civil Service Ripper when it passed the Senate.

COMMUNICATED

Editor New Era:

I note in your issue of March 15, 1928, a letter signed David H. Wright, wherein he states that his water bill at 503 Bank Avenue, Riverton, was $46.96 for the past three months. He recites that there were but five persons residing therein.

This would surely indicate that either the plumbing in that house was very defective, or that the folks residing there were very wasteful.

Mr. Wright expressed a doubt in that letter that I may not be able to sell much bridge stock in my home town. In order to assure him and completely eradicate these fears, will state that I was compelled to decline subscriptions of over $50,000.00 for bridge stock from some of the most reliable persons in Riverton, simply because the stock was all sold.

I note that Mr. Wright recommends taking the water rate case to the Supreme Court. The belligerent attitude on the part of such an enthusiastic peace advocate as Mr. Wright seems to be slightly inconsistent, and particularly in conflict with his published poem "Is there Peace on Earth."

I believe our citizens will adequately protect their interests in this rate case in some far less expensive way that resorting to Supreme Court decisions as Mr. Wright suggests but should they elect to do so, perhaps they will avail themselves of Mr. Wright's legal ability.

Respectfully,
Chas. A. Wright.

RIVERTON BOY SCOUTS

Our troop is being recruited quite fast. We have about ten boys applying for th eprivilege of becoming a scout, and they all seem enthusiastic. Scoutmaster Follet is trying to have a full troop, which is four patrols of eight boys each. Now we are preparing for the summer season, which is the best season in scouting, although "all seasons are scouting seasons."

I am sure that the troop would be very glad to welcome any applicants for membership, and as we are having a lively time continually no boy would lose anything in joining our troop. Although boys have good times it is also beneficial to the brain and education because of the tests it is necessary to pass to gain certain ranks in the organization, "tenderfoot," "second class" and "first class."

BIG CROWD AT ST. PATRICK DANCE

Many Prizes Awarded at Mid-Lenten Social Function at K. of C. Hall

A good crowd of dancers enjoyed the celebration of St. Patrick's Day in the local K. of C. headquarters last Saturday night.

Those who won prizes were: Door prize, Mrs. John Doonan; patrons' prize, Mrs. Sanford; elimination dance, John Lochowitz and Miss Jane Doughtery; spot dance, Miss Mary Escheman and Ed Steedle.

The second degree of the order was conferred on nine new members last Tuesday night after the regular business meeting of the council.

Grand Knight Doughtery, of Barry Council, Philadelphia, accompanied by his staff of officers, took charge of the degree work, assisted by the officers of St. Joseph's.

Visitors from every council in Burlington county were on hand to witness the activities, and the following officers were heard from after the degree work: Grand Knights, Mead, of Merchantville; McHue, Burlington; Carlin, Moorestown; Schwartz, Riverside; Cavanaugh, Mount Holly; District Deputy Maguire, of Riverside; Past State Treasurer Gibson, Moorestown, and Past District Deputy Smith, of Camden.

The annual communion breakfast of the local council will be held next Sunday at the K. of C. Hall.

At seven o'clock Mass the entire membership of St. Joseph's Council will receive Holy Communion in a body, and after the services will march to the Hall where breakfast will be served.

Some prominent speakers will be on hand to address the Knights, and Chairman Thomas McCrosson, of the committee on arrangements, is holding back the names so as to spring a surprise on the members.

This affair is held at this particular season of the year to commemorate the feast of St. Joseph, the Patron Saint of the local Council.

WRIGHT—LOANE

Miss Elizabeth A. Loane, of Philadelphia, and Charles A. Wright, of Riverton, were married in Philadelphia, Tuesday morning, March 20, at 11 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Wright left immediately for a short trip and are expected to return to Riverton on Friday.

Mr. Wright has been a resident of Riverton for thirty-five years and has always taken an active interest in civic affairs. He is president of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company, Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company, Riverton-Palmyra Water Company, Bourse Restaurant, Standard Card Index Company, Anteek Forj, Inc., The Pipe Construction Company, besides being a large stockholder in many other concerns. It was solely through the efforts of Mr. Wright that the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge project became a reality. During his busy life he has invented many mechanical appliances, all of which were successful.

Mr. Wright's first wife, who was Miss Mary Elizabeth Roland, died in February, 1927.

He has five children all of whom are living, Mrs. G. Rex Showell, Mrs. R. W. Knight, Mrs. Thomas Mooney, Walter C. Wright, and Arthur Wright.

DENNELER'S STORE ROBBED

Last Friday evening, while the family was attending the entertainment at the Cinnaminson public school, the home of Leonard Denneler was entered and the store robbed.

Entrance was made by breaking the lock on a rear window. The thief went directly to the store and took about $5 in small change. Nothing else was disturbed, and the intruder left by a side door, which he left open. It is thought that he may have been scared off, by the family's return earlier than he expected.

TODDY

This delicious drink may be served hot or cold—and it tastes just as good in winter as in summer.

To serve Toddy hot, put 2 to 3 heaping teaspoonfuls of Toddy into a cup. Stir briskly as you add hot milk or water. Do not boil. It destroys the dietetic and digestive properties.

Toddy may be flavored with ice cream, raw eggs, yeast, nutmeg, vanilla or cinnamon as your taste desires.

Get a can today and try it.

The Junior League, Friday, 4 p. m. Continuing the delightful pictures of Bible scenes and characters.

The action of Mayor Wimer in stopping commercial traffic in Palmyra on Sunday was endorsed by the congregation by a unanimous rising vote at the evening services last Sunday. The Mayor's action grew out of disturbances caused by the heavy trucks hauling grave to the Palmyra-Tacony bridge approach on Sundays.

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold the usual morning service of worship next Sunday at eleven o'clock and the evening service at eight o'clock. The pastor will preach at both services.

All departments of the Church School will meet at ten o'clock in the morning.

The Christian Endeavor Society invites all the young people of the congregation to meet with them in their service in the Church School auditorium at seven o'clock.

The Lord's Supper will be celebrated Sunday morning April 1 at eleven o'clock. Preparatory Service will be held on Wednesday evening, March 28th, at eight o'clock, in the Church School Auditorium. Anyone who wishes to unite with the church either by letter or upon profession of faith, should get in touch with the pastor as soon as possible, and meet the Session after this preparatory service.

The Golden Hour Circle will give an oyster supper on Friday, March 30, in the Social Hall of the Church, from 5 to 8 o'clock. Tickets 75 cents.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

Friday afternoon the Happy Hour children and the Junior BYPU meet at four o'clock. On Saturday afternoon the Junior BYPU members and their friends will meet at the church to begin a hike ending in a "doggie roast."

The BYPU meeting on Friday evening will be in charge of the missionary committee—topic, "What Can Our Society Do For Missions."

Saturday afternoon also is the occasion of the Primary Department Spring tea party to which all the mothers of the kiddies are specially invited.

Sunday's services are as follows: Bible School at 10 a. m.. Morning Worship at 11.15, at which service the pastor will preach on "Faith That Overcomes the World"—the fourth in the series on faith. At the evening service at 7.45 the pastor's topic will be "The Life Eternal"—another in the "life series."

The special prayer meeting next Wednesday evening will be in charge of Pastor Lockett. These meetings are a great inspiration for the coming Easter meditations.

Next Thursday afternoon, March 29, the Philathea Class thimble party will be held at Mrs. F. B. MacCormick's home, 805 Lincoln avenue.

"Leave God to order all thy ways,
And hope in Him, whate'er betide.
Thou'lt find Him in the evil days
Thy all-sufficient strength and guide:
Who trusts in God's unchanging love,
Builds on the rock that nought can move."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

This coming Thursday evening, Rev. Samuel M. Wenrich, of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Riverside, will preach. This will be the first time the Rev. Wenrich has ever appeared in our church, and we hope that he may be greeted with a very large audience. The Rev. Harold Mumper of Westville N. J., will conclude the special series of Lenten services on the evening of March 29.

On the morning of Palm Sunday, confirmation exercises will be held, and there will be a reunion of the confirmation class of 1927. In the evening of the same day Rev. Dr. C. K. Lippard, a man who has spent twenty-five years as missionary in Japan, will give an illustrated lecture on his work in that country.

During Holy Week services will be conducted on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings at eight o'clock. The pastor will preach a series of sermons on "Scenes from The Last Hours."

Monday, April 2—"A Scene in A Guest-chamber."

Tuesday, April 3—"A Scene of Tumult."

Thursday, April 5—"A Fireside Scene."

Friday, April 6—"A Death Scene."

Preparatory service and Holy Communion will be included in the Good Friday service, as well as special music by the Choir.

On Easter Day at ten in the morning, the Primary Department will conduct Easter exercises, while at the service at 11.15 there will be reception of members, baptism of infants, and administration of Holy Communion. The full communion service will be used.

At the 7.45 service, our First Lutheran Choir will render an elaborate Easter music service. Our Lutheran constituency and the vicinity need not be apprised of the high quality of this program, as the special services of sacred musical services which Lee Mitton and the choir have been rendering monthly since last September, has made a reputation for our musicians.

Holy Communion will also be administered at this service and a special consecration ceremony for the Lenten offering boxes which members of congregation have been using, will be held.

Catechetical instruction, Friday at 7.00 p. m.

Sunday School at ten in the morning, followed by divine worship at 11.15. Miss Lillian Hall will lead the devotional services of Luther League: Topic: "What is My Share in Missionary Enterprise?" Vesper service at 7.45. Our Choir will have special music at both church services.

There will be a brief congregational meeting immediately after the morning service of April 1st, as announced last week.

FOUND GUILTY IN GIRLS' DEATH

Philadelphian, Father of Ten, Convicted by Mt. Holly Jury

After deliberating three hours Tuesday night a jury at Mount Holly found Harry Gerdelman, fifty-six, of Philadelphia, guilty of performing a criminal operation which resulted in the death of Katherine Glick, of Riverton.

Mrs. Mary Glick, mother of the dead girl, testified Gerdelman performed the operation in their home, 601 Cinnaminson street, Riverton, January 26, and the girl died February 4, in Cooper Hospital, Camden. Physicians said peritonitis caused her death.

Dunphy testified he had known the Glick girl two years. He said she formerly lived in Philadelphia but moved to Riverton a short time ago.

With the girl, Dunphy said he met Gerdelman, January 23. He met Gerdelman again January 26 and went with him to the Glick home, where, according to Dunphy's testimony, the operation was performed, with Dunphey as a witness.

The witness said he paid Gerdelman $40. Dunphey testified that Gerdelman said the girl should be taken to a hospital the following day. Dunphey said he then called Dr. Harry Rogers, of Riverton, who ordered the girl to Cooper Hospital Camden.

RIVERTON LADS IN MARBLE TOURNEY

Burlington County Champion Will Be Selected at Mt. Holly, April 28

All the boys who think they can play marbles in district No. 5 which includes Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson township, are busy selecting their best "shooters" and polishing up their technique for the try-outs which will determine the lucky lads to compete in the big tournament to be held in Mount Holly on April 28, to decide the championship of Burlington County.

The committee in charge of the tournament is under the direction of Guy C. Hendry, County YMCA executive secretary, and Louis J. Kaser, county superintendent of schools. They have divided the county into nine districts. Each district has its own chairman. "Boots" Lever is chairman of the Palmyra district, but Arnold B. Carter, local YMCA secretary, is in charge of the details.

Among the Riverton boys who are in keen competition for the coveted honors are: Charles "Bubbles" DeGraw, Arthur Reeves, Earl Pine and Edward Hunn, although there are a number of other lads who, while they are not making much noise, are doing a heap of "sawing wood."

The boy who wins the title from Burlington county will meet the champs from Gloucester and Camden counties and Camden for the championship of Southern New Jersey in a specially built ring in Camden Civic Centre on May 5. The National Marble Championship will be held at Atlantic City in June.

AID TO BEVERLY

Mayor Wimer Offers Use of Palmyra Ambulance

Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, offered the services of the Palmyra ambulance to the Burlington police, after the Beverly ambulance was wrecked in a collision last week.

The Burlington City ambulance is in a garage, undergoing the first complete overhauling that it has had since it was put in service more than a year ago. The Burlington force was using the Beverly ambulance, until the local machine was repaired. Acting Captain of Police Frank Gilbert thanked Mayor Wimer for his offer, and promised to call on the Palmyra machine if needed. No calls have been made to date.

NON-SUPPORT

East Riverton Man Sent to Jail on Wife's Charges

Charged with desertion and non-support of his two infant children, Clifford Bell, of East Riverton, was held under $400 bail to guarantee his payment of $8 a week for the children's support by Police Justice William L. Fichter, of Palmyra, last Wednesday night.

Bell was unable to furnish the bond required and was sent to the county jail for 30 days.

He was arrested on complaint of Harry J. Saar, overseer of the poor, when his wife asked for support of her two children. She refused to ask for any of her husband's money for her own support.

MOVIE HITS

To have taken an active hand in the evolution of pictures and, further, to have one's name woven indelibly into the tradition of the screen are two noteworthy accomplishments. That these honors have been attained by a girl not yet twenty-seven years of age is remarkable and completely illustrative of the mushroom-like growth of the photoplay from the day of the despised peep-shows to the present gigantic industry.

Constance Talmadge who stars in "Breakfast at Sunrise" at the Walt Whitman theatre next Monday and Tuesday was born to the industry. Near her Brooklyn home was the old Vitagraph studio—then a collection of unprepossessing barns wherein many strange things were always taking place. Sister Norma had been led there by curiosity and had stayed to work and not to be outdone, Constance made her first timorous visit to the place.

A pulse-stirring romance that rocked three nations and played a dramatic part in the winning of California to the United States 70 years ago is the theme of "Rose of the Golden West," which will be seen next Wednesday and Thursday.

George Fitzmaurice, who gave the screen "The Dark Angel," "The Tender Hour" and other successes offers the theatre-going public a thoroughly satisfying and thrilling love story in a gorgeous setting, that of the rich country by the Pacific when it was ruled by the Spanish dons.

"The Tragedy Of Youth," a Tiffany-Stahl production is on the Walt's bill for the weekend.

MRS. MABEL D. SCHAFFER

Mrs. Mabel D. Schaffer, wife of the late Edward Schaffer, died at her home in the Schaffer Apartments, Fourth street and Leconey avenue, Palmyra, early Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Schaffer, who was 56 years old, had been seriously ill for the past seventeen weeks, having suffered a stroke just prior to Thanksgiving Day.

She had a large circle of friends in Palmyra, having moved here in 1900 as a bride. Mr. Schaffer died at their home, 400 Morgan avenue, in 1910. She was well known in Mount Holly section, where she was born, and had a host of friends among the vacationists at Beach Haven, having succeeded her late husband in the management of the Engleside Bath Houses. Although in poor health, she went to Beach Haven last summer to continue her work there.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. J. William Lee, pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment will be made in the Baptist Cemetery at Mount Holly with Funeral Director Stanley Earnest, of New Egypt, in charge. Friends may call at her late home Friday evening.

She is survived by two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. A. St. C. Tomes, Palmyra; Mrs. J. Beldon Hancock, Cookstown; Reading Frake, Mount Holly, and Howard Frake, Atlantic City. Mrs. Edith Lee, formerly of Douglasville, Pa., has made her home with Mrs. Schaffer for a number of years.

MOTHERS' MEETING

Last Thursday the members of the former Mothers' Meeting gave a farewell luncheon to Mrs. John J. Reese in Christ Church parish house. Eighteen guests were present and the tables were very attractive with the St. Patrick's decorations.

It was decided to re-organize the group and Mrs. William R. Hoffman was elected president; Mrs. Michael Faunce, vice-president; Mrs. Alfred Smith, treasurer, and Mrs. S. R. Cole, secretary.

NEW FIRE HOUSE

The Parry Independent Fire Company is building a new fire house on the same ground where the old one stood.

This new structure is being built of fireproof material with reinforced concrete floors downstairs.

On the second floor is a large room to be used for the Fire Company meetings and as a social hall.

Fred Green, the builder of Spanish Homes, is building the Parry fire house.

Borough of Riverton 1927 Audit

February 8, 1928

The Honorable Mayor and
Members of the Borough Council,
Riverton, N. J.
Gentlemen:

We report that we have audited the financial books and accounts of the

BOROUGH of RIVERTON

for the year ended December 31, 1927, and submit herein the statements and schedules shown in the table of contents which exhibit the financial condition of the Borough as of that date.

The accounts were found to be correct and in the proper form subject to the following comments:

Cash and Bank Accounts: Cash book receipts were compared with bank deposits and paid checks with recorded disbursements. All vouchers were found to be properly approved by the Mayor and the Borough Clerk in accordance with the provisions of Article XIV of Chapter 152, P. L. 1917.

As of December 31, 1927, the cash accounts of the Collector and Treasurer were reconciled with the bank balances which were confirmed to us directly by the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Deficit to be Raised by Taxation: The following deficit existed as of December 31, 1927:

Deficit — Tax Revenue — 1927 ..... $ 327.18

In accordance with statute requirements, it will now be necessary for you to insert above mentioned deficit, if not provided for, in the annual budget and raise the amount by taxation.

Tax Sale: No tax sale was held during the year 1927 and we were unable to locate any record of prior sales of property to the municipality. We direct your attention to the fact that a tax sale is required by Chapter 237, P. L. 1918 and we recommend that you take steps to comply with this statute.

We shall be pleased to assist you to the fullest extent in connection with the recommendations of this report.

Acknowledgement: In the course of our audit we received the complete co-operation of all the officials of the Borough and we greatly appreciate the courtesies extended to us.

Certification: It is hereby certified that to the best of our knowledge and belief the within report is a true and correct statement of the financial condition of the Borough of Riverton in the County of Burlington for the year 1927, as shown by the books and records of the said Borough submitted to us, supplemented by personal inquiry and investigation.

Very truly yours,

WIEGNER, ROCKEY & CO.,
William H. Welcker,
Registered Municipal Accountant (N. J.)

Camp Dix Rumored Veterans' Hospital

Reports From Congressional Channels Indicate Institution Necessary

Assurance that New Jersey is certain to get a government hospital for treatment of disabled World War veterans and possibly that it may be placed in or near Wrightstown and Camp Dix, was expressed by members of an interested delegation who attended Congressional hearings.

Spokesmen for the veterans backed by Dr. Henry A. Cotton, medical director of the State Hospital at Trenton, and Adjutant General Fredrick Gilkyson, submitted evidence that the government already is handling six hundred cases from New Jersey, four hundred among the various government hospitals in other States, and two hundred in contract hospitals in this State.

The original plan of the government was to erect an eight hundred-bed hospital in Philadelphia that would care for New Jersey patients, too, but Dr. Cotton and Commissioner William T. Ellis, of the Department of Institutions and agencies, argued with seeming success against this proposal.

The question at issue was whether this State had enough cases to warrant such an institution. After the three-day trip to Washington, Richard F. Harris, of Newark, liaison officer of the New Jersey Veterans of Foreign Wars, said the proposed hospital, he anticipates, will contain accommodations for four hundred sufferers from nervous diseases as a result of the war.

Other legislation to benefit World War veterans that is likely to be adopted at this term of Congress includes the emergency disabled veteran's bill and the bill to assure World War veterans of preference for United States Civil Service posts.

ANNOUNCE TRAINING CAMP QUOTAS FOR 1928

Burlington County's Allotment of Young Men is Set at 32; 235 is South Jersey's Number

South Jersey's quota of young men to be sent to citizen's military training camps during the summer of 1928 is 235. Burlington county's allotment is 32. The figures for this county for three years follows:

1925 quota, 36; applicants, 31; enrolled, 21; 1926 quota, 36; applicants, 18; enrolled, 15; 1927 quota 36; applicants, 30; enrolled 25; 1928 quota, 32.

The 1928 figures were fixed by Major General Hanson E. Ely, commander of the Second Corps Area, who announced the quota for New Jersey, New York and Delaware had been set at 6000 this year.

Rulford Franklin, Summit, has been appointed civilian aide for New Jersey. He will organize all-civilian committees throughout the State to stimulate interest in the C. M. T. C. plan.

Under this plan 30 days of outdoor training are offered young men at no expense. Food, uniforms, cots, laundry service, athletic equipment, bedding and railroad fare are provided by the Government.

Two camps will be held in New Jersey in August, a coast artillery camp at Fort Hancock and a radio and signal corps camp at Fort Monmouth.

Burlington county applications for entrance to the camps should be sent to Col. Thomas D. Landon of Bordentown.

OAKLAND'S $3,000,000 EXPANSION FINISHED

Only Four Months Required For Huge Project—Will Start Operating in April

Last week, less than four months after the first rattle of pneumatic hammers signalized the commencement of the latest expansion project of the Oakland Motor Car company, the new $3,000,000 car assembly and shipping buildings for the Oakland All-American Six were completed and pronounced ready for the installation of conveyors, processing equipment and machinery.

The speed with which the buildings were erected is believed to constitute a record for this type of steel, brick and concrete construction.

The new structures provide the company with 580,191 square feet of additional floor space besides five more railroad shipping spurs, four of them entirely within the walls of the shipping building. The company now has ten tracks in its private "railroad yard."

Nearly all of the machinery to be used in the Oakland assembly will be entirely new. The old assembly plant will cease operating on March 24 in order that a portion of the equipment now in use may be transferred to the new assembly. President A. R. Glancy expects that production in the new plant will start April 2. The old assembly building will be used for material storage.

Ambulance Drive Nears $2000 Mark

Half of Funds Needed Expected Soon to be in Hands of Committee

The Moorestown Community Ambulance fund is gradually climbing and it expected to reach the $2,00 mark—half the goal—very shortly.

Various organizations of the town are now beginning to make contributions and their funds are expected to greatly bolster the amount received through the house to house canvass two weeks ago.

The goal is $4,000, which will purchase a modern and confortable ambulance with full equipment and leave a balance for the maintenance and operation of the ambulance during the first year. The machine will be purchased and put into operation just as soon as the contributions reach the $4,000 mark—and that time should not be far distant.

The ambulance will be at the service of everyone and there will be no charge to residents of Moorestown Township, which includes Lenola, for the use of the machine, either going to or from a hospital or in case of an emergency.

The ambulance will be purchased through the public subscriptions and will then be placed under the jurisdiction of the Commission of the first Fire District, which will supervise the operation and maintenance of the machine. Therefore it will be under the careful direction of Fire Chief Ellis H. McAllister who has also kindly agreed to supervise its operation, call drivers and take out the ambulance himself in case of an accident or any other type of rush call.

There is a great need for an ambulance in Moorestown. It is not always possible to obtain the services of the machines in other communities and also, it is not fair to ask the people who have already purchased one to have their machine serve Moorestown while there might be need for an ambulance in their own town.

It has been pointed out that ambulance are much similar to fire engines. They are vehicles used in a case of any emergency and the need for one may arise at any time of the day or night. If a community had but one piece of fire apparatus its authorities would not consider allowing it to respond to the alarm of another town and leave the town where it belonged without protection. An ambulance should be looked upon in much the same light.

Contributions may be left at the office of Walter F. Middleton, 63 Main street, who is in charge of the drive, S. Roger Gale, chairman of the Community Ambulance Committee, or Robert J. Rogers, the treasurer.

Former County Judge Becomes Candidate for Republican State Committee

Harold B. Wells, former County Judge and State Senator, has announced his candidacy for the Republican State Committee at the Spring Primary, May 15.

Judge Wells has long been a political leader in Burlington County, always standing for clean progressive government.

He will oppose the present State Committeeman, County Clerk William H. Reeves, who is one of the leaders of the Edge-Powell faction.

COUNTY RED CROSS

At the monthly meeting of Burlington County Chapter American Red Cross, held March 12th, plans were discussed to start classes in First Aid and Life Saving, with Mr. J. Lloyd Neal, of Bridgeboro, as Instructor. It is felt the county YWCA and YMCA may be interested in this department of the Red Cross.

A Home Hygiene department is about to form classes, with Mrs. John Severns, of Burlington, as County Chairman.

Bordentown Branch reported having sent its Visiting Nurse to New York City to attend a conference on nursing and Home Service work under the Red Cross.

Thirty-one caps, one pair of wristlets, three sweaters and twelve garments were reported as having been made for men in the Government Hospitals.

Nine cases were reported as having been assisted by the Home Service Secretary and three by the Emergency Relief Committee.

NINETY-DAY PRIVILEGES NOW FOR NON-RESIDENTS

Automobile owners from other States may now spend 90 days in this State before being required to obtain a New Jersey license.

Extension of the reciprocity privilege, which formerly was limited to 15 days, was brought about by the Richards Senate bill, signed by Governor Moore on Monday of last week.

NEW JERSEY! One of the Greatest of the United States

NEW JERSEY LEADS NEIGHBOR STATES IN FARM INVESTMENT

Forty per cent of New Jersey's land area is devoted to farming. There are 23,671 farms representing an investment of $311,000,000 or an average of $10,484 per farm. Such agricultural activities, stabilize the business conditions of New Jersey.

To the farmer, as to other citizens of the territory it serves, Public Service offers adequate electric, gas and local transportation facilities and service of the highest class.

"The success of Public Service and development of New Jersey are bound together."

STRAWBERRIES SET EARLY STRONGEST

"The man who sets vigorous plants of the best varieties of strawberries as early in the spring as the ground can be prepared properly, has gone a long way toward assuming a successful crop," says J. H. Clark, assistant pomologist of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Very early planting, by the first of April in south Jersey and by the second week of April in the northern part of the state, is to be preferred," Professor Clark continues, "since at that period the plant is more nearly in a dormant state and weather conditions are more favorable. Later plantings are likely to run into periods of warm, dry weather, which will cause some of the plants to die and others to be permanently stunted.

"The correct depth of planting is more important with the strawberry than with most plants. If the plant is set too deep, so that the crown is covered, growth will be slow and death will result; if too shallow, the upper parts of the roots dry out and growth is hindered. The ideal way is to set the plant as deeply as possible without covering up the growing point at the top of the crown.

"A vigorous one-year-old bed on a man's farm or on that of a neighbor is the best source of plants, provided the varieties are right. If new varieties are wanted it is often advisable to buy just enough for the nursery row the first year so that later a commercial planting may be made from this row with plants which have not been subjected to the hardships of packing, shipping, and possibly delay enroute. Even from a vigorous bed it is advisable to discard the weak plants, setting only those with large crowns and root systems.

"Varieties which will succeed in the community are the ones to plant in quantity, although others might be tried on a small scale. Howard 17 (Premier), an early sort, has given satisfaction in commercial plantings in most parts of the State while Lupton has been very satisfactory in Cumberland county and vicinity. Varities which may be recommended for home consumption are Chesapeake, Joe, and Aberdeen."

FERTILIZERS PAY WELL ON PASTURES

Permanent pastures that receive regular fertilizer treatments carry cows 9 days longer during the season than do untreated pastures, according to a recent survey covering all the important dairy sections of New Jersey, made by the Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the bureau of Statistics and Inspection of the State Department of Agriculture. It was found that while the feed units per day yielded by the treated and untreated pastures were alike, because of the longer season each acre of the fertilized pasture yielded 86, or 5.4 per cent, more feed units than did an acre of untreated pastures.

Of the 264 pastures surveyed, which were chiefly in Salem, Cumberland, Burlington, Mercer, Hunterdon, Somerset, Warren, and Sussex counties, only about 80 were receiving fairly definite or regular fertilizer treatments. A study of 55 of the treated pastures compared with 32 untreated pastures on similar soils, showed that a considerable number of the pastures received more than one kind of treatment. Thirty-three of the treated pastures received lime; 21 commercial fertilizer; and 40 manure. The principal commercial fertilizers used were, superphospate (acid phospate), bone meal, ammonium sulfate, and sodium nitrate.

The survey showed further that about 17 per cent of all farm land in New Jersey is occupied by permanent pastures. This is about one-third as much as there is in all crops combined. The feed obtained from this permanent pasture land furnished practically the roughage and takes the place of a small amount of concentrates in the dairy cow's summer ration.

FRELINGHUYSEN RAPS RIPPER BILL

Effort to Pass Measure Should be Condemned by Public-Spirited Citizens, He Declares

A recent statement on the Civil Service "Ripper" by former U. S. Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen follows:

The effort to pass the Civil Service "Ripper" bill in the Assembly should be condemned by every public-spirited citizen in the state. As one of those who sponsored the bill as a long-heralded reform against the spoils system and boss rule, and as a Republican desirous of retaining these reforms so necessary for good government, I wish to protest against this reactionary move to tear down a safeguard which has been the law for years.

I am told that due to the change of political control in Camden County, the Civil Service Commission refused to remove three Democrats under protection of civil service and replace them with Republicans.

I know nothing of the facts in the case. This, I am also told, is the reason for introducing the 'Ripper" bill sponsored by Camden County leaders. If the bi-partisan commission is violating the letter and spirit of the law; if the president and commissioners are guilty of favoritism, it can and should be investigated and if proven, they can be removed.

But to tear down the bi-partisan system, which is a policy and principle of the Republican Party, and replace the present commission with a single-headed commission is like trying to abolish the judicial system because a judge is partial or a jury renders and adverse verdict, and setting up a dictator in their place.

The Civil Service law was passed to protect faithful employees of both parties in the civil service against removal through change of political control and to secure efficiency through character, integrity and merit in appointments.

There is more true philosophy in an inch of laughter than there is in a yard of sarcasm.

WHY NOT PUT THE OTHER 80% OF S. JERSEY TO WORK

If 80% of a man's farm is idle and producing nothing year after year, the owner would be heading for the poor house. At least, he certainly would have to do some scratching on the 20% that was working to make both ends meet. These working areas would have to carry the load of the entire farm.

But, 80% of the so-called pine section of South Jersey is virtually idle; has been so for many years; and unless some action is taken bids fair to continue so for many years more, yet few residents of the section seem much concerned about it. They keep right on scratching on their little 20%.

Eighty per cent (1,250,000 acres) of the South Jersey pine section is woods. On much of this vast area the tree growth is of such a poor character it is commonly referred to by the natives and visitors as "scrub oak" or "pine barrens". The rest contains trees large enough for cordwood and in limited cases of saw-log size. Given a fair chance this vast area of woodland would in time begin to produce paying crops of timber and could be kept producing timber crops of increasing size, quality and value.

It certainly would mean something to all property owners in South Jersey to have this great area of woodland self-supporting. The owners, of course, would gain directly through cash income from their woodland. The entire section would profit by increased tax revenues which could be borne without sacrifice by the woodland owners; and which would make possible development and growth now impossible.

Thrifty forests would prove a stronger appeal to people seeking permanent location for their homes or business, or searching for a summer resort than does the present "scrub timber." To those who love hunting, fishing or camping, real timber would offer real satisfaction.

Fire is the one dominent factor which is now making such a desired development impossible. As the development of this 1,250,000 acres of woodland depends on its being adequately protected from fire progress in this vast section hinges intimately upon the solution of the forest fire problem.

The State Forest Fire Service is doing a splendid piece of work. During the last three years, they have reduced the fire risk to one-half of what it was previously. This great reduction in risk was made possible chiefly; first, through a reorganization of the Forest Fire Service which has resulted in greater fire fighting efficiency, and second, through a progressive program of studies and investigations from which the Service is constantly learning more about the chief forest fire hazards and problems.

To date, the woodland owners have done little to protect their woodland. Adequate protection depends upon their taking such action. Studies made by the State Forestry Department show that efficient fire lines can be made by the woodland owners at little or no cost. The State Forestry Department and the State Extension Service offers the services of trained men to all woodland owners desiring more information about the construction of fire lines.

Not "Scrub-Oak"

Many persons believe that most of the timber growth in South Jersey is "scrub oak" or "scrub pine" which can never grow good timber. Fortunately, this belief is not correct. The majority of these trees are of the same species (kind) as those which in other sections grow rapidly, and make big timber. The present scrubby form and appearance is due to severe and repeated damage by fires, and to past abuse.

Forest fires not only kill or severely damage th, larger trees but completely destroy and consume the leaf-mould on the surface of the ground and devour the smaller trees and seed. Such seed as is later produced is of course lacking in strength. It produces weak trees which are further weakened and retarded by the lack of humus and available plant food in the soil. It is not surprising that after many generations of repeated fires the tree growth, though of good species, is "scrubby."

SWEET POTATO SEED STERILIZATION

FOR: Control of scurf, black rot and soft rots which are carried on the skins of sweet potatoes.

TIME: At the time of bedding sweet potatoes.

MATERIALS: Corrosive sublimate crystals (bichloride of mercury, a deadly poison). Dissolve 1 ounce of crystals in warm water, then dilute to 8 gallons. Must be handled in wooden vessels.

NOTE: Immerse potatoes for 10 minutes. Bed immediately without washing. For 32 gallon quantities, after treating each 10 bushels, add 1½ ounces of corrsoive sublimate and enough water to bring up to 32 gallons to keep up the strength. Sweet potato seed treated as recommended above should be bedded 7 days earlier than is the usual practice.

Organic Mercury: Semesan Bel 1-20 or Bayer Dip Dust 1-20. (1 pound to 20 pints or 2½ gallons of water).

In using organic mercury, a dip, thoroughly wetting the entire potato, is all that is necessary.

Wire dipping baskets or slatted crated should be used for dipping. NEVER USE BURLAP BAGS.

These 2 materials have given very good results for Dr. Martin last year.

The potatoes are quickly dipped and the materials need not be replenished, but are good to the last drop.

THE DELAYED DORMANT SPRAY FOR APPLES

The 1928 spraying recommendations as announced by the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station give the apple grower a choice of several combinations of materials for use at the delayed dormant application. One combination consists of stabilized lubricating oil emulsion, or one of the standard miscible oils; plus 50% free nicotine.

This combination is recommended for the control of scale, aphis and European red mite. Another combination consists of concentrated lime-sulphur and 40% nicotine in the sulfate form, and is recommended for the control of scale, aphis and scab. Growers who do not fear aphis may omit the nicotine from those combinations. The value of the second combination in connection with scab control depends largely upon the time when scab spores begin to be discharged.

This seldom, if ever, occurs in New Jersey until after the delayed dormant period, usually about the time the fruit buds begin to show pink. Therefore, the material that will be of the most value in the average New Jersey apple orchard during the delayed dormant period is one of the oil sprays with or without nicotine, depending upon the danger of injury from aphis. On the other hand, in orchards where scab control has been a serious problem and where European red mite has caused very little injury, concentrated lime-sulfur is the logical material to use during the delayed dormant period. This will be particularly important if, due to an abnormal season, scab spores mature earlier than usual this spring.

Growers are advised to keep in touch with their county agricultural agent for the latest information on the development of insects and diseases in relation to time of application and materials to use.

HOW, WHAT, WHEN OF LIME

Because of numerous inquiries reaching the N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick regarding the use of lime, A. W. Blair, soil chemist there, makes the following statement covering the more important questions.

To find out how much lime is needed on land, a sample of the soil should be sent to the county agricultural agent or to the soil department of the Experiment Station and a statement made of what crops that are being grown.

How often lime should be applied depends on conditions. If it is applied at the beginning of a five-year rotation, and if at the end of the rotation, tests show that the soil is still under the neutral point it is certainly not necessary to add more lime. On the other hand, if tests made even at the end of only three years show that the soil has become sharply acid, and acid-sensitive crops are being grown, it is then time to re-lime.

The kind of lime materials to be used is of less importance than the amount. The important point is to apply enough of some form to bring the soil into proper condition. If either burnt lime, hydrated lime or ground limestone is used in amounts sufficient to give the same quantity of actual lime, the results will be satisfactory. In deciding what kind to choose it is necessary to consider (a) the analysis, (b) the price, (c) freight charges and distance of hauling, (d) the physical conditions of the material and especially the fineness of the ground limestone.

The best time to apply the lime is usually after plowing and a few weeks before planting, so that the material will have an opportunity to act on the soil acids.

MRS. GRIEBEL'S ANNUAL SPRING FASHION

On Tuesday afternoon, March 27, at 2.30 o'clock, Mrs. Catharine H. Griebel, Extension Clothing Specialist, from the N. J. State Agricultural College, will stage her Annual Spring Fashion Show in the Mount Holly Theatre.

This is an event that is looked froward to by several hundred women of the county who have had the pleasure of attending such an occasion before. To those who have never attended one of these meetings there is a real treat in store, as well as an opportunity to get some up-to-date information on clothing, not only as to styles but information on ways of making savings in dressmaking.

Be sure to keep this date in mind and make an effort to come hear Mrs. Griebel.

DODGE BROTHERS SET RECORD FOR FEBRUARY

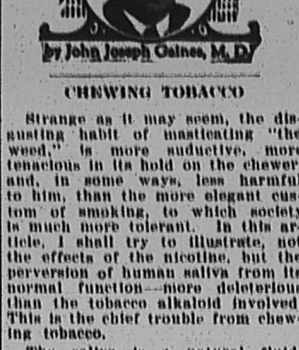

Export of 3,801 units of Dodge Brothers cars and Graham Brothers trucks and commercial cars during February set a record for all time for that month for the company, according to official figures just compiled by the company.

The total of 3,801 units sold compares to 3,013 for February 1927, and 3,472 for February 1926. The factory output for February this year represents a gain of more than 26 per cent over February a year ago.

About Your Health — Things You Should Know

CHEWING TOBACCO

Strange as it may seem, the disgusting habit of masticating "the weed," is more seductive, more tenacious in its hold on the chewer, and, in some ways, less harmful to him, than the more elegant custom of smoking, to which society is much more tolerant. In this article, I shall try to illustrate, not the effects of the nicotine, but the perversion of human saliva from its normal function—more deleterious than the tobacco alkaloid involved. This is the chief trouble from chewing tobacco.

The saliva is a natural fluid, secreted by the glands, for a definite purpose — to balance the acid gastric juice. The, chewer wastes it by his successive expectoration. If he chews before breakfast, so much the worse—he is sure of excess of acid for the digestion of this highly important meal. Prolonged state of this normally alkaline saliva being thrown away, the victim discovers himself to be a dyspeptic with chronic acid stomach. Sourness, gas eructations, inability to digest fatty foods, and even burning pain are evidences of the trouble. It is not the nicotine, but the lost saliva that produces the condition; chewing any other thing, and spitting out the salva, would doubtless cause as much trouble.

The victim seldom lays his trouble to the tobacco. Excess of acids will in time corrode the wall of the stomach and produce ulcer. A patient of mine once relieved all his stomach distress by stopping short on the chew within the hour before and after meals. I once saw a chap of 101 years, who had chewed "ever since he could recollect," but never chewed before brakfast, nor to excess any other time.

Of course the better way is, to never chew tobacco, or anything else but good, wholesome food in moderation; but the aged brother who chews, must be borne with in charity.

It is well to make a good beginning—and it is also well to remember that the end is what determines everything.

It is better to follow one good example than it is to set a dozen bad ones.

Text of Utility Commission's Decision on Water Rates

STATE OF NEW JERSEY BOARD OF
PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSIONERS
IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF THE RIVERTON & PALMYRA WATER COMPANY FOR INCREASE IN RATES.

DECISION

G. C. Richman, by William J. Kraft, for the Petitioner

William T. Read for the Borough of Riverton

Joseph Low and A. B. Cramer for the Borough of Palmyra

The Riverton & Palmyra Water Company filed with the Board on August 22, 1927 a petition praying for approval of increased rates, said increased rates to become effective October 1, 1927. All the municipalities served, consisting of the Boroughs of Riverton and Palmyra and the Township of Cinnaminson, were duly notified and printed copies of the petition were widely distributed.

The present schedule of metered rates is as follows:

¾" meter, including an allowance of 10,000 gallons, $3 per quarter

¾" meter, including an allowance of 12,000 gallons, $4 per quarter

With special contracts on larger meters.

First 25,000 gallons per quarter $0.30 per thousand gallons

Second 25,000 gallons per quarter $0.25 per thousand gallons

All over 50,000 gallons per quarter, $0.20 per thousand gallons

The proposed schedule is a two part schedule, comprising a fixed service charge and a consumption charge. The fixed service charge is as follows:

Size of Meter	Per Quarter	Per Year
⅝ inch	$ 1.50	$ 6.00
¾ inch	2.70	10.80
1 inch	5.40	21.60
1½ inch	13.50	54.00
2 inch	18.00	72.00
3 inch	45.00	180.00
4 inch	63.00	252.00
6 inch	120.00	480.00

Fixed service charges are payable quarterly in advance on the first days of January, April, July and October, and will not be pro-rated for part of a quarter, and may, in connection with large consumers, be made payable monthly.

In addition to the service charge, the charge for all water consumed will be in accordance with the following schedule:

For the first 30,000 gallons used in one quarter, 40 cents per thousand gallons

For the next 30,000 gallons used in one quarter, 35 cents per thousand gallons

For the next 30,000 gallons used in one quarter, 30 cents per thousand gallons

For the next 30,000 gallons used in one quarter, 25 cents per thousand gallons

All over the 120,000 gallons used in one quarter, 15 cents per thousand gallons

Consumption charges are payable on the first days of January, April, July and October of each year and may, at the Company's option, be made payable monthly.

Minimum charge shall be $4.00 per quarter or $16.00 per year.

As a basis for rates, a witness for the Company testified regarding a complete inventory and appraisal made by him. This appraisal had been previously furnished to the Board's Engineers and the quantities had been checked, the unit prices carefully examined and tested, the property itself inspected to determine which elements were now used and useful and which should properly be discarded or partially depreciated in order to arrive at a fair basis of value of that which the Company devoted to the public use. This appraisal sets out as the value of the property the amount of $542,709.17, which includes an allowance of $61,476.44 for going concern value and all other intangibles, including cost of obtaining franchises, etc., and allowance for working capital of $8,000. Depreciation has been deducted by the Company's witness in the amount of $141,531.70.

In the inspection of the property by the Board's Engineers it developed that there are two parcels of land, each 150 feet by approximately 300 feet, lying on both sides of Garfield Avenue and Bank Avenue, Palmyra. These lots were purchased at a time when it was necessary to protect the sources of water supply (that is, the location of wells, etc.,) before the territory was supplied with sewerage facilities. The testimony is not conclusive as to the present necessity of retaining this property but as the value of land in this neighborhood has been increasing rapidly, no loss can have been incurred by the retention of this unused land even if it be agreed that the land is not needed for proper operating purposes. The investment involved in this land will be referred to later.

SERVICES

In the appraisal submitted by the Company's Engineer, all of the service connections between main and curb have been included as if fully paid for by the Company. For many years the services were paid for by the customers themselves and therefore not capitalized by the Company. Owing to the issue of an order by this Board some years ago, the Company's practice has been changed and new services lying within the street limits are installed at the Company's expense and charged to capital account. Furthermore, since the Board's order went into effect, a large number of the old services have been replaced also at the Company's expense, and the replacement has been properly capitalized. All services, however, have not yet been replaced and there should be a deduction from the value as set out in the appraisal representing so much of the services as have not been installed at the Company's expense.

DEPRECIATION

As above stated, the Company's Engineer has deducted depreciation to the extent of $141,531. There has been retained by the Company, although not in use for many years, a steam plant consisting of two boilers, pumping engine, auxiliaries, brick stack, etc. It would appear from the fact that these have not been used for the last five years or more that they should have been charged off and eliminated from the basis for rates. Against this the Company contends that if the steam plant were entirely removed, it would be necessary to have in place a second pumping unit of the internal combustion type, the main operations now being conducted by electrically driven pumps, supplemented by a gasoline driven unit.

An examination of the balance sheet as of December 31, 1926 indicates that under the general extension rules, customers have deposited with the Company in partial or full payment of extensions, the amount of $10,786. Under certain conditions these moneys may or may not be paid back to the customers, but when paid back will, of course, be charged to capital account. At the present time, however, this amount represents a loan to the Company on which no interest is paid.

As will appear hereafter, it is not necessary at this time to determine definitely the value of the property. For the purpose of this report, however, we will take the Company's basis of value, namely $542,709.17, and from that deduct the value of services not yet paid for by the Company, because not yet replaced, unused steam plant, surplus land, customers' contributions, and make also the corresponding adjustments in overhead charges and intangible allowances, giving a value of approximately $475,000, which does not include the cost of new meters which it is estimated will approximate $21,000.

EARNINGS AND EXPENSES

Estimates have been made as to the effect of the proposed rates. Due to the fact that approximately 35 per cent. of the customers are still being served in accordance with fixture or flat rates, the effect of the change to a metered schedule cannot be accurately forecast. The estimates of the Company, which have been checked by the Board's Statistician, indicate, however, for the first twelve months after the new rates become effective, a gross revenue of approximately $71,000 with a net income, available for return on the value, of $28,600. This net return would amount to 6 per cent. on a value of $475,000; 5.27 per cent. on a value of $542,710 as set out by the Company.

Furthermore, the rates proposed are uniform with those already in effect in Beverly, Riverside and Delanco, and it is the opinion of the Company that as the territories are quite similar, the uniformity of rates is desirable if they are not in themselves unreasonable or burdensome.

At the hearing in Trenton on September 27th, the representatives of the municipalities and of the Company agreed that the rates should be considered as experimental or trial rates, to be readjusted after a fair trial covering possibly a period of a year. In order to assure full information, however, it will be necessary to receive periodical reports from the company.

CONCLUSIONS

The Company has already agreed to file with the Board at the close of every quarterly period a statement showing the revenues from the various classes of customers, the expenses of operation in detail, and the net revenue available as return on the value of the property, and under these conditions the Board will allow the proposed rate schedule to become effective with bills for the quarter commencing October 1, 1927. The Board will retain jurisdiction of the matter with a view to altering or amending the rates if and when the results indicate that such amendment is desirable and necessary.

Dated, October 6th 1927.

THE AMAZONS

Palmyra High School Will Present Play April 13 and 14

The Junior Class of the Palmyra High School is presenting its play on April 13 and 14. This year the play will be "The Amazon," a farcial romance in three acts by Arthur W. Pinero.

The name "Amazons" was taken from the mythical race of women warriors. In this play, three girls, who have been brought up to be like boys, tall, strong and masculine, meet three gentlemen, and, contrary to the plans and expectations of the fond parent, immediately fall in love. The complications arising are most amusing.

The cast has been carefully chosen, and is working hard to make its play a success. Under the efficient coaching of Miss G. V. Kendall, they are devoting time and energy to making this play the best that has been given in the history of the P. H. S.

Tickets may be had from any of the members of the Junior Class. Reserved seats 75c, rush seats, 50c. Push in and get a reserved seat early.

A man's gratitude is always its best just before you do him a favor

Cup to be Given Champion Team

John S. Warner Trophy Will be Presented at Rotary Meeting

The John S. Warner Cup, emblematic of the South Jersey Class "B" basketball championship, will be presented to the Palmyra High School team at a dinner to be given to the boys and their coach by the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club, March 29, at the Porch Club, Riverton.

The cup has been on display in the window of the new flower shop of Fred Frei and Son, at 529 Cinnaminson avenue. It will be suitably engraved before presentation.

The boys, coached by Ken Dimond, made a wonderful record this year and have carried the fair name of Palmyra to all parts of South Jersey. This kind of civic advertising has caused favorable comment wherever the boys have played and will result in much good to this part of the county in the future.

The Warner Cup is much appreciated by the entire High School and the basketball squad in particular. The donor is due many thanks for his interest in local athletics. The cup will be a lasting momento of this winning team and will be an inspiration for future efforts by the high school athletes.

It has been suggested that since the boys have made such a creditable record, in winning 22 games out of the 24 which they have played in South Jersey competition, that each one of the letter men be given an individual trophy which they might keep as a cherished personal remembrance of their association with the championship team of 1928.

Accordingly several citizens have made contributions to a fund to purchase small gold basketballs, one to be presented to each of the letter men in the squad. These trophies will be engraved with the names of the players together with the championships they have won. They will be presented to the boys at a date to be announced later.

BIBLE SCHOOL RALLY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Dr. Arthur C. James Will be Speaker at Epworth Auditorium

A Men's Bible Class rally will be held in the Epworth Temple of the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 2.30. All the Men's Bible Classes in Palmyra and Riverton have been invited. It is hoped that men not at present belonging to any of the classes will also attend. They are most cordially invited.

A very interesting program has been arranged for the occasion. Dr. Arthur C. James, of St. Andrew Methodist Church, of Philadelphia will be the speaker. Dr. James is a widely known orator and will have a message worth hearing for all who are fortunate enough to be there.

The musical program will include several selections by Lee Mitton's orchestra. The Glee Club, of the Central Baptist Church will supply the vocal talent.

MEN'S CLUB

Dr. Paul Berman, of Baltimore, will be the speaker at the Men's Club, of Christ Church, Palmyra, at the regular meeting Monday. The Rev. Mr. Berman delivered a very interesting lecture at the January meeting on the subject "The Jew in America." He is Jew himself, having been born in Jerusalem and later converted to Christianity.

The members of the club expressed the desire at the time to have him return and deliver his illustrated lecture on the Holy Land and will be pleased to know that he has consented to come back at such an early date.

In accordance with the motion passed last month the meeting will be called to order promptly at eight o'clock. Try to make it a point to be there a few minutes before eight.

All members are requested to be present. Dr. Berman has a rare treat in store for them. If you are not a member come over and get acquainted. You can join later if you wish.

ENGAGED

Betrothal of Miss Betty Dean Announced at St. Patrick's Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Linwood Dean, of Morgan avenue, Palmyra, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Dean and Howard Humphreys, of Philadelphia.

The announcement was made at a St. Patrick's Day party given last Saturday afternoon.

Covers were laid for eighteen of Miss Betty's girl friends around an artistically decorated sham rock table. Large shamrock place-cards, concealing a twin-photo mounted ring, revealed the secret when the cards were lifted apart.

Limericks, stunts and games appropriate to the day filled the time leading up to the main thrill of the afternoon.

Miss Evelyn Sheppard, of Bridgeton and Miss Grace Vanaman, of Eastern University, Miss Betty's cousins remained to spend the weekend.

BURLINGTON COUNTIANS HOLD MAMMOTH BOOSTER MEETING

400 Attend Dinner at Burlington, and Hear of County's Greatness

"SELL COUNTY AT HOME FIRST" ADVISES SPEAKER

Four hundred interested citizens of Burlington county attended the dinner given by the Burlington Countians, Incorporated in the First Baptist Church, Burlington, Tuesday evening, to hear the plans of that organization for the development of this great commonwealth.

The meeting was opened by Chas. B. Durborow, president of the Burlington Countians, and Harold B. Wells, former Senator and Burlington county judge, was toastmaster. The County YMCA orchestra furnished the music.

President Durborow briefly outlined the purpose of the organization to advertise Burlington county to the world, and painted a glowing picture of the growth and development that is sure to come within the next decade.

"County Consciousness"

Howard Strong, secretary-director of the Regional Planning Federation of the Philadelphia Tri-State District, said that the people of Burlington county were developing "county consciousness," as was evidenced by the large attendance at the meeting, which would enable them to work for the advancement of the county as a whole, rather than for individual towns. He pointed out that while ten years ago the trend of population was toward the cities, today it is just the reverse, and that people who do business in cities are going into the suburbs for homes.

He said that population in the outlying districts is growing twice as fast as in the cities, and that industrial expansion is three times as great, which means that suburban districts are bound to benefit by this change of conditions if they are prepared for it. Develop the county, he urged, and there will be no difficulty about getting the people and the industries. Be not only a booster, but a builder.

Banks Back Project

Walter E. Robb, president of the Burlington City Trust Company, said that the banks were back of the movement to develop and advertise the county, and that there was plenty of money available to finance the building part of the program.

George N. Wimer, who has been associated with every forward movement in Burlington county, spoke on "Burlington County as a Place to Live In." He said that Burlington county had all the advantages looked for by a man who is seeking a home—accessibility, sites for country estates, modern towns and facilities for industrial plants. He urged his audience to get prepared for the overflow from Philadelphia and the northern section of New Jersey which is sure to come within a very few years.

"Best Loved Citizen"

Toastmaster Wells introduced ex-Senator Emmor Roberts as "Burlington county's most beloved citizen," and the hand received when he arose to speak, bore out the toastmaster's characterization. Mr. Roberts spoke on the agricultural aspect of Burlington county, citing the important position it holds in the State and in the United States in dairy products, grain, fruits and vegetables.

Loring Borton, a Burlington business man, spoke on the effect a bigger and better Burlington county would have on the retailer.

County Industries

Harry Reitinger, resident manager of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Co., of Burlington, told of the industrial conditions in our county. The value of the industrial products of the county reaches the total of $61,319,000.00 yearly, and the agricultural products will total $10,000,000.00. There are 19 different classes of articles produced in the county, in the manufacture of which 23 different nationalities are employed. One of the manufacturing concerns of the county employs 2500, while three employ more than 1200 each, 7 have 600 each and 9 have more than 20 each.

Recently four inquiries have been made by firms desiring to locate industrial plants in our county — 2 from Ohio, one from Michigan and one from Pennsylvania. One has decided to settle here employing between 8,000 and 9,000 people.

The weekly payroll of Bordentown, Florence, Roebling and Burlington will reach nearly $100,000

L. D. Odhner, secretary of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, who is always inspiring, laid emphasis on getting all the facts together about Burlington county, and getting them properly lined up.

Sell County at Home

First, he said, we must sell Burlington county to the people who live here. He cited among other attractions the wonderful road system which has been developed in the last few years. If the improved roads in this county were laid end to end they would reach to the Gulf of Mexico.

A man in California has just written a book on Burlington county's road system, and ten states are following our methods of road construction. Burlington county is the only one in the State that has the facilities for work, food and play all within its own borders—work in the industrial secton along the river, food from the central agricultural section, and a magnificent playground in the National forest reserve about to be opened by the Federal government in the pine district.

World's Greatest Here

In speaking of the greatness of the southern district of the state, Mr. Odhner said:

"One enters South Jersey over the Camden Bridge—the longest suspension bridge in the world.

"One no more reaches the Jersey side of the bridge than one is greeted with a view of the largest talking machine plant in the world

ATTEMPT TO ROB FOILED BY OFFICERS

Resident Calls Police, But Suspects Escape in Darkness

One evening last week Mrs. John Hughes saw two men prowling around her home on Linden avenue. Mr. Hughes called for the police. Officers Gootee and Miller answered.

The officers saw the men fleeing through the yard and over the next street but lost them in the dark. Apparently the burglars were after the tires on a car in a nearby garage.

The promptness of the officers probably saved the neighborhood from losing considerable property.

Riverton Boys to Form Home Team

Junior Sports Committee of R.A.A. Call Big Rally at Fire House Friday

The Riverton Athletic Association has made plans for the boys of Riverton to have several baseball teams playing games at Memorial Park this coming summer. The Committee in charge has called a meeting for all the boys to be present at the Fire House at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, April 6th.

All boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen years are invited, and the Committee hopes that a large turnout will be on hand to start the ball rolling.

It is planned to form a team of the best players, to be known as the Riverton Juniors. This team will be uniformed, and a schedule of twilight games will be arranged with outside teams.

The remaining boys, who are not able to make the first team, will be divided into teams according to their age and size, and will play a series of games with each other.

The Committee in charge will do everything possible to foster baseball for the boys, but it all depends on the boys themselves, as to whether the plan is successful or not. So be sure to be on hand the night of the meeting and bring all your buddies.

Palmyra Police Have Busy Time

Weekend Marked by Several Arrests for Varied Assortment of Crimes

The past week has been a very busy time for the Palmyra police force. Several arrests have been made for robbery, drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Early Saturday morning as Officer Nelson Wallace was making his rounds his attention was attracted by shadows in the grocery store at Broad and Market street. As he stopped to see what was going on a man crawled out of one of the side windows. The officer called to him to stop and at first he refusel, but when the officer commanded him to halt the second time he complied.

Wallace searched him on the spot and found five boxes of cigars, sixty packages of chewing gum and an assortment of candy and seeds.

He was taken to the lock up and left until Saturday evening when he was arraigned before Police Justice Fichter. He was held under $200 bail for appearance before the Mount Holly Court. He gave his name as Herbert Kiedaisch, of Union avenue, Delair.

Sunday morning Officer Joseph Rodgers arrested Clifford Bell for driving without a license. He was taken before the Police Justice Monday and fined $6.26. This is the same man that was sent to jail a short time ago for failure to support his children. He is out under bail after being ordered to support them.

William Smith was arrested Saturday for drunkenness. He was fined $6.25.

Joshua Clark was arrested Monday on the same charge and received the same penalty.

William Johns and his wife Margarete, of Haddonfield road, Pensauken Township, were arrested on West Broad street, Monday. Johns was charged with driving while intoxicated and had his license revoked for two years when brought before the Justice. He was also fined $200 and was sent to jail awaiting payment of the fine. His wife was arrested for being drunk and disorderly and was fined $26.25, which she did not pay, so she was also taken ot the County seat.

About five o'clock Monday afternoon Officer Rodgers noticed five young boys at Broad and Vine streets. The boys being strangers the officer decided to investigate. After questioning the boys they admitted that they had run away from home to seek their fortunes in the wide open spaces. All the boys lived in the 42nd Police District of Philadelphia so the police of that district were notified by Rodgers.

The boys were John Pakes, 10, 1011 N. 45th street; Francis Coldren, 12, 938 Belmont avenue; Edward McMeaney, 12, 4716 Merion avenue; Joseph Watson, 9, 920 N. Markoe; John Kelly, 10, 928 N. 43rd street.

PLEASE NOTE

The next meeting of the Riverton Athletic Association will be held in Collins' Hall, Thursday evening, April 5. As matters of importance will be taken up at this time, every member in the association is urged to attend.

ART SYMBOL OF WORLD PROGRESS

So Says Miss Dorothy Grafly in Addressing Porch Club

"Art at all times is a symbol of what is taking place in the world. It expresses the trend of thought of each generation."

This is a statement made by Miss Dorothy Grafly who spoke at the Riverton Porch Club, Tuesday, March 27, on the current exhibition at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

"The exhibition in Philadelphia," continued Miss Grafly, "is an expression of American Art, while the exhibition at the Carnegie Galleries in Pittsburgh is an expression of International art.

"The trend of American artists is conservative. We are generations behind in our art because of lack of belief in ourselves. There is an inclination toward a 'throwback' to Egyptian and Grecian art. We are perfectly ready to accept new styles in dress. Why not in Art?

"The radicals who have known what they are doing have had a slight influence, although now their trend is not so blatant. The idea, however, which they have tried to express is more prevalent.

"Representative art is not all found in exhibitions. Most of the best pieces of sculpture are too large for exhibition purposes. Our best buildings express a form of American art. America has given to the world the sky scraper—so we must keep our eyes and ears open and apply our intelligence."

It is interesting to know that a noted English architect who came to America to study American architecture, upon returning to England exclaimed, "They have office buildings like cathedrals!"

H. S. Junior Play Soon to be Given

"The Amazons" Will be Shown on Evenings of April April 13 and 14

Soon it will be April 13th and 14th, the evenings of the performance of the Palmyra High School Junior Play. Rehearsals are progressing rapidly, plans are being put into execution, tickets are going fast! Have you your tickets? If you have not, get them from any of the Juniors.

You wouldn't want to miss this play. It's going to be great!

You'll certainly be amused by some of the star actors, for instance: Jay Lewin and Hayes Brady.

Jay is playing the difficult role of Gaifred, Earl of Tweenways, an effeminate, fastidious young man. His partner, Lady Thomasin Belturbet, is a bright, rosy little tomboy who wears mannish clothes and leaps gates. Kitty Burr, a P. H. S. hockey and basketball wonder, plays the part of this individual.

Hayes Brady plays Andre' de Greval, the handsome young Frenchman who is "French by birth," but professes to be "English in appearance, manner and voice." His little Lady, the sweet, quiet, gentle, feminine Wilhelmina, is none other than Betty Eadon.

Time and space prevents a very long discussion of the other equally good people in the cast, such as the athletic Litterby and the imperious young Lady Noeline Belturbet, played by George Long and Kathryn Johnson, respectively; the convincing Rev. Roger Minchin, known around the P. H. S. as Allen Hemphill; Anna Randall, or Lady Castlejordan, fond mother of the three tomboys; the most illustrious, remarkable "Sergeant" Shuter, Helen Bates; and many others.

To know them all for yourself, and to enjoy their acting, come to see "The Amazons."

COMMUNITY WELFARE

We have several men seeking employment. These are clerks, electricians, mechanics, etc. Can you help them?

We are in receipt of a check for $10.00 from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus for which we thank them. Our funds are running low. Who else wants to help.

At the last meeting of the Lions Club of Palmyra-Riverton, a resolution was adopted showing their appreciation of the work done by our organization. This was very pleasing.

We are hoping with the advent of spring to find that most of our dependents will be able to take care of themselves. We would rather give them work than give them charity.

We will need some further donations to carry on the work for the balance of the season.

Geo. N. Wimer,
President.

PLANTING SHADE TREES

Now is the time to plant your shade trees to beautify your property, increase its value, uphold your towns' reputation for it's fine trees.

The Oriental Plane tree is recommended as being the best for this purpose.

They can be obtained at a libera' discount through the Palmyra Shade Tree Commission, who will also take care of the planting.

MAGOWAN—TOOLEY

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Tooley, 322 Friends avenue, Camden, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Caroline, to Mr. David R. Magowan, of Riverton.

BRIDGE CAISSON IS LAUNCHED

Bridge Officials and Guests Witness Launching at Wilmington, Del.

OTHER TWO CAISSONS WILL BE LARGER

The first of three caissons for the new Tacony-Palmyra bridge was launched last Monday afternoon at four o'clock from the yard of the Dravo Construction Company at Wilmington, Delaware.

A party of about twenty witnessed this advanced step of progress in the bridge construction. The great steel structure measured 26'6" x 72' and was about 30' high. Everything was in readiness at four o'clock when the hausers holding the sleds were cut. The caisson slid slowly down the ways, struck the water of Christiana Creek, tipped a little, then settled and all was over.

The other two caissons are to be somewhat larger, being 36' x 72'

Captain Nicholson and his tug, Gene, started to tow the caisson to its berth on the Tacony side of the river immediately after it was launched.

After the caisson has been settled to the river bed there will be six feet, in height, of standing room. The men will work in three-hour shifts, each man working two shifts, making a six hour day. The pressure under working conditions in the caisson will be approximately 26 pounds. The bottom of the caisson will be about 64 feet under high water level.

There is also under construction in the Dravo Yard six steel barges for use in building the new bridge.

Those who witnessed the launching were Charles A. Wright, president of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company; Edward G. W. Borer, treasurer; Mrs. Hester Morris, Mr. Wright's secretary; Charles Modjeski and his wife and son; Messrs. Goot and McHenry, assistants to Mr. Modjeski; William Miller, vice president of the Dravo Company; R. W. Remp, engineer in charge on the Tacony-Palmyra bridge; Carl Jansen, who at present is building the University bridge in Philadelphia; Samuel Felix, of the Dravo-Doyle Company; Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra; Walter C. Wright and Robert W. Knight who took motion pictures of the launching; Gerrish Gassaway, manager of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Dent also of the Chamber of Commerce; Former Judge E. P. Moody, of Wilmington, and S. D. Townsend of the Wilmington Trust Company; Captain Sidney Albertson of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company; Oliver Bowen; and Ben Courter of the Camden Post.

After the launching the party returned to Philadelphia and enjoyed an informal dinner at the Penn Athletic Club.

MISS JOHNSON STAR IN COLLEGE PLAY

The play was also presented by the "Masquera" of the college at the annual Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic Contest which was held at State College, March 9 and 10. In addition to her work in dramatics, Miss Johnson is a member of the college Clee Club.

Miss Johnson was graduated in 1924 from Palmyra High School where she was manager of the hockey team.

DR. NEWCOMB AT PORCH CLUB

It is not only our privilege but it is also our duty at citizens of this country which we all love to learn what is taking place when our law makers meet.

The members of the Riverton Porch Club and their friends will have the rare privilege on Tuesday April 3, at 4 p.m. of hearing Dr Marcus W. Newcomb, assemblyman, give a report of the State Legislature for 1928.

It is not often we can have "first hand" information of this kind from a speaker of Dr. Newcomb's ability.

Business meeting as usual at 3.00 p. m.

MARY HAEHNLE

Miss Mary Haehnle, 38 years old, died at her home, 221 Cinnaminson street last Monday afternoon. The funeral was held this Thursday morning with High Mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Riverton. Interment was made in St. Mary's Cemetery, Middletown, Pa., with Frank A. Snover in charge.

She is survived by a sister, Catherine Haehnle.

RECEPTION TO REV. & MRS. LEE

A reception will be given in honor of the Rev. an Mrs. J. William Lee, by the Official Board of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Churhc, in the Temple, on Thursday evening, March 29, at 8.15. All members and friends of the Church are invited to be present and join in greeting Mr. and Mrs. Lee and extending a welcome to them upon their return to the pastorate.

P. O. S. of A. NOTES

The past presidents of Camp 23 were entertained last Monday night in the Camp room.

George N. Wimer presided over the past presidents and called on every one of them for a few words.

After an enjoyable evening listening to the happenings of years gone by the meeting adjourned to the hall and refreshments were served.

POLICE NEWS

Man Finds Body of Baby on River Bank; Two Arrests for Theft and Drunkenness

Last Friday afternoon Howard Washington found a white baby boy on the river beach in front of D. F. Vaughan's residence. The child was dead. Washington notified Officer Quigley who took the body to Snover's Funeral Home. Mr. Snover said the child had not been drowned as there was no water in its lungs. Quigley notified the coroner and the County detective's office. The county officials are trying to learn the parentage of the child.

Cecil Brown, of Union Landing, was arrested on warrant by Officer Quigley Monday morning, for stealing clothes from George Vincent after breaking into Vincent's home. Brown was wearing some of the clothing at the time of his arrest. Justice of the Peace Coddington held Brown for the grand jury and committed him to the county jail in default of bail.

George Blake, also of Union Landing, was arrested by Quigley for drunkenness and disorderly conduct Monday night. Coddington imposed a penalty of $3.50.

Dr. Rugh Addresses Local Rotary Club

Orthopedic Specialist Urges Service Men to Aid Crippled Folks

It was with great pleasure that the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club was addressed by Dr. J. D. Rugh, Philadelphia's most noted Orthopedic Specialist.

With his most fascinating and humorous personality, Dr. Rugh presented his subject "Hunting at Midnight" in an unusual manner. Dr. Rugh likened the professional man in any sphere to the real pioneers of the Rotary movement. "Service above Self," the Rotary Motto, is emulated by everyone in a profession for they lead an altruistic life.

"Cripples are a liability to any community, State or Nation" said Dr. Rugh, and it is our duty to obliterate or lessen this liability to a minimum. The spirit of Rotary is essential in order to establish that impetus for the promotion of such work. Likewise, a man in any vocation should give his best no matter how insignificant it may seem.

Dr. Rugh urged upon the Club its closer attention to the crippled children in the community and suggested work along this line of endeavor in cooperating with proper authorities to alleviate the suffering and the making of stronger and better generations in the future.

Following the Doctor's remarks, several members of the Club, who, through experiences of friends or relatives had gained knowledge of his wonderful accomplishments, gave him most praiseworthy testimonials.

In behalf of the Henry A. Dreer Company, J. D. Eisele and J. C. Clark presented each member with a very beautiful boutonniere in commemoration of Flower Week. They also extended a personal invitation to the Club to attend the Flower Show. Many members accepted.

George L. Heck, Vice-President and General Manager of the Jensen Manufacturing Company, was the guest of Charles Gheland, also representing that Company. Mr. Heck extended to the Club an invitation to witness their Laundry Exposition which was held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week in the Jensen plant. The Club unanimously accepted. They were escorted through the plant and after witnessing the exposition, were shown just how the Jensen Washer is made.

It was a very interesting and instructive evening and the members felt indebted to Mr. Heck and Mr. Gheland for the interest shown.

This evening, the Club will present the John S. Warner Cup to the Palmyra High School basketball team which has taken the honors of being champions of South Jersey. The Club will have the team as its guests.

ODD FELLOWS

That the interest in Odd Fellowship is growing and that Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201 is quickening its already established fast pace was evidenced lasts Friday evening at their regular meeting.

With nothing of exceptional interest other than the realization of the principles of the order the attendance numbered around sixty.

The second and third degree was confered upon a class of nine candidates who were finally admitted into the link of Odd Fellowship. Bordentown Lodge led by Grand Treasurer Cawley was present to witness the work of Cinnaminson on a number of their own members.

It was a rousing and enthusiastic meeting from the very beginning and closed with no less a great fraternal spirit when Bordentown, appreciating the weakness of the male, brought with them refreshments for all.

Brothers Harry Williams of Trenton Lodge and Albert Stewart, of Cinnaminson, who have not been present for some time, were quite in evidence and the lodge hopes to see them more often.

Don't forget this Friday is Ladies' Night and the Committee is planning "big doings." All out! Keep the brotherly and sisterly love that has prevailed still in force.

"OLIVET TO CALVARY" , Christ Church, Riverton

For the evening service on Palm Sunday the choir of Christ Church, Riverton, will sing Maunder's cantata 'Olivet to Calvary," and special instrumental selections will be rendered on the organ with violin and cello accompaniment.

Everyone will be welcome at this service which will begin promptly at eight o'clock, Sunday evening, April 1st.

WATER COMPANY JOINS IN PETITION FOR LOWER RATES

RIVERTON RATE $4.60

Increase of 64 Cents Due to Enlarged Borough and School Budgets

Riverton's tax rate this year is $4.60—the highest in the history of the borough. The increase is due almost entirely to larger sums appropriated for borough and school expenditures.

The borough rate advanced from $1.11 last year to $1.54, and the school rate from $1.16 to $1.37.

How the rate is made up, and a comparison with last year's is shown below.

State Road	$ .10	$ .10
State School	.27	.26
County	1.25	1.23
Borough	1.54	1.11
Borough School	1.37	1.16
State Institutions	.05	.05
Soldiers' Bonus	.02	.02
State Bridge & Tunnel	.00	.03
	$4.60	$3.96

YMCA Minstrels March 30 and 31

Friday and Saturday of this week will see the presentation of the YMCA minstrel to the public.

Every fellow who is interested in the show has been working very hard during this past week to put the final touches on what is really a finished product. There is no doubt that the fellows have given up much time and pleasure to make this a worthwhile production. It has been said by some witnesses of the rehearsals that they believe it to be the finest home-talent affair that has ever been presented to Palmyra and Riverton.

It is a fun providing, laugh provoking entertainment that will be thoroughly enjoyed by all those who attend.

There are still a few tickets securable; if you cannot find a YMCA group member who has a supply, call Riverton 1019 on the telephone and we will deliver them to you.

Should you be not quite certain as to what night you may attend, plan to arrive at the P. O. S. of A. Hall about 7.45 and secure your ticket at the window.

The program is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. sharp, and our earnest desire is to raise the curtain promptly at this hour. Be there by eight and enjoy a fine minstrel put on by the finest fellows in the twin towns. Your boys and the boys of your friends are doing this for a fine cause and a good purpose; support them, and enjoy yourself while you are doing it.

Remember! Friday and Saturday of this week, at the P. O. S. of A. Hall at 8 p. m. Admission, adults 50 cents, children 35 cents.

Press Committee.

VETS HOSPITAL

The following article was published in the Camden Courier March 28. Neither American Legion Officials nor real estate men of Palmyra have any information about this new project which is to be placed in New Jersey to care for the boys who offered their all for humanity.

Washington, D. C., March 28.—The Veterans' Bureau has under consideration several prospective sites for the erection of New Jersey's 400-bed veterans' hospital but will not make a selection until the hospitalization bill, auhtorizing the hospital, becomes law and the necessary funds are appropriated.

When the matter was before congress last year the bureau made a survey of all government-owned property in New Jersey, as well as other sites, but no decision was reached. The survey was entirely preliminary in nature.

It is understood, however, that General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau, favors a location on the banks of the Delaware river, somewhere south of Trenton, probably in the vicinity of Palmyra. This general location is favored, it is said, because of the excellent train service in that part of the state and because of its proximity to Philadelphia and other large centers of veterans' population.

During hearings on the hospitalization bill this year the Camp Dix site was mentioned prominently but the bureau does not seem to favor this site because of its poor train service and inaccessibility by other means of travel.

It is doubtful if the bureau will do anything towards selecting a site for the hospital before the bill becomes law and funds are made available to proceed with the first year of the hospitalization program. The final selection of a location of a location, under the measure, is left entirely to the discretion of the Veterans' Bureau.

The Bureau has information on sites in New Jersey, as well as in other sections o fthe country, but is disinclined to divulge which of the sites will eventually be chosen.

Th hospitalization bill will come up in the House shortly and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Massachusetts Congresswoman, who has succeeded Congressman Robert Luce of Massachusetts, as chairman of the subcommittee, will have charge. She intends to ask that the bill be considered under suspension of rules which will preclude amendment on the floor. If this procedure is followed the bill is expected to pass in the form reported and without jeopardizing the recommendation that New Jersey be given a 400-bed hospital for neuropsychiatric patients which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Send Letter to Commission Recommending Minimum of 10,000 Gallons

WILL NOT AFFECT FUTURE REVISION

The joint meeting of the Riverton and Palmyra Chambers of Commerce, held in K. of C. Hall last Thursday night, confirmed the action taken by the committees representing these two bodies a week before, when a resolution was passed to petition the Public Utilities Commission to permit the Riverton and Palmyra Water Company to give 10,000 gallons for the minimum, in place of 6,250 gallons, from April 1 to October 1.

Representatives of the water company, present at both meetings, agreed to this proposition, and sent a letter to the commission to that effect.

Copies of both letters are given below.

This action does not in any way affect a possible further readjustment of the present rates at the end of the trial year for which they were granted.

Water Company Letter

March 21, 1928

Board of Public Utility
Commissioners,
Trenton, New Jersey.

Gentlemen:-

The Municipal governments and the Chambers of Commerce of Palmyra and Riverton have conferred with the officers of this Company relative to the increase in rates and the elimination of the allowance of ten thousand gallons of water which this change made necessary.

They feel that during the summer months this change will make many people so niggardly with water that it may possibly have a series effect on the public health, and without at this time determining the justice or injustice of the new rates, they feel that it would be advisable to replace this allowance of ten thousand gallons per quarter for the two summer quarters of 1928, starting April first and ending October first.

The Officers of the Water Company are in accord with this petition, and will agree thereto, keeping a careful record of the financial result of the change, so that it will not confuse the revenue question, at the end of the year.

The cost to the Water Company of this replacement of the former allowance would be approximately $1.50 per quarter to each consumer, or a total of $7,800.

As it is our understanding that no change in rates or allowance can be made without the consent of the Commission we hereby agree to the change should such consent be given.

Very Respectfully,
R. W. KNIGHT,
Treasurer.

Citizens Letter

March 23rd. 1928

The Board of Public Utilities
Commissioners
Trenton, New Jersey

Gentlemen:

Your petitioners, Chambers of Commerce of Palmyra, N. J. and Riverton, N. J. respectfully show that:

On or about October 1st, 1927, permission was given by your board to the Riverton and Palmyra Water Company, of Riverton N. J. to increase the water rates.

In pursuance of said permission, the said Water Company advanced its rates according to your recommendations.

Pressure has been brought by the citizens of Cinnaminson Township, and Riverton and Palmyra Boroughs, on your petitioners to investigate with the Water Company, as to the justification of the increased rates.

Your petitioners met with the officers of the Water Company on March 19th, and it was unanimously agreed that it was wise and just to replace the allqwance of 6250 gallons per quarter to read 10,000 gallons per quarter, for the period between April 1st and October 1st, 1928.

Your petitioners feel that the arrangement will bring temporary relief pending the final disposition of the question of the rate to be determined by your Board on or before October 1st, 1928.

Your petitioners therefore pray that your Board instruct the said Water Company to change its rates as above set forth.

Respectfully submitted,
PALMYRA
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
Thos. McCrosson
Chairman Utilities Com.
Walter D. Lamon
President
Geo. M. Harris
Secretary.
RIVERTON
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
August Weber
Chairman Utilities Com.
Wm. Albertson
President
Louis C. Clelland,
Secretary.

K. of C. NOTES

At the last meeting of St. Joseph's Council plans were disclosed of many forms of Spring activities which will be of interest to the Knights and their friends of Riverton and Palmyra.

Lecturer T. A. Eadon has arranged for a group of three Sunday night concerts, and artists of exceptional ability will be presented in vocal and instrumental numbers.

On the schedule for the regular meeting nights some special entertainment is on the books.

Committees will also be appointed by H. C. Sim, Grand Knight of the local council, to handle the annual Spring card party and dance.

Freeholder Board Awards Contracts

Mount Holly Contractors Low Bidders in Three Out of Four Cases

Mount Holly contractors were successful in landing three out of four contracts awarded by the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday.

Bids were opened for the erection of a creosoted pile bridge over Sutton's Creek on Old York road, and also for a reinforced concrete structure over Black's Creek at Chesterfield. William C. Cook, of Mount Holly, was the successful bidder in both cases.

Another contract awarded was for building of an addition to the kitchen and dining room at the Fairview Sanitorium at New Lisbon. This went to Theodore G. Clatts, of Mount Holly.

The contract for furnishing light and heavy tars for the Road Department of the county, which had been re-advertised, went to Theodore Tobish, of Trenton. He won out by one tenth of a cent a gallon over his nearest competitor.

The bids submitted were as follows:

Addition to kitchen and dining room at Fairview Sanitorium: T. G. Clatts, Mount Holly, $2,425; Hobart & Dix, Browns Mills, $2,600; William C. Cook, Mount Holly, $2,942; Hugh B. Miller, Edgewater Park, $2,588; William H. Earlin and F. L. Harker, Browns Mills, $2,870.40.

Concrete bridge over Black's creek at Chesterfield: Conard & Buzby, Burlington, $8,063.40; William Driver, Inc., Trenton, $7,147; Charles S. Moses, Edgewater Park, $6,822; Rancocas Construction Co. Delanco, $13,744.50; William C Cook, Mount Holly, $6,795.20; D. R. Lemmon, Browns Mills, $7,993; C. M. Buckman, Newtown, Pa., $7,273.

For furnishing the county with 250,000 gallons of cold tar and 100,000 gallons of hot coal tar, applied: Barrett & Co., New York, cold tar 15 5-10 cents gallon; hot coal tar, 16 5-10 cents gallon. Thomas J. Barrett, Bordentown, coal tar, 15¼ cents gallon; hot coal tar, 16¼ cents gallon. Asphalt Service Co., New Brunswick, cold tar, 15 4-10 cents gallon; hot coal tar, 16 4-10 cents gallon. Doesch-King, Inc., Newark, cold tar, 15 1-10 cents gallon; hot coal tar 16 1-10 cents gallon.

An application of the Pennsylvania Railroad to erect caution lights at the Cooper street railroad crossing in Beverly was submitted and approved after it had been explained that the township authorities of Edgewater Park township had approved the plan.

Communications were received from Elwood Hollingshead, of Moorestown; the Moorestown Chamber of Commerce, the Church Federation of Moorestown and the Moorestown Meeting of Friends, all commending the workhouse plan as suggested by Sheriff A. Engle Haines, for the employment of prisoners committed to the county jail.

Curwen B. Fisher, the director of bridges, and H. B. Smith, county engineer, reported the Rancocas Construction Company had completed the inter-county bridge at Green Bank and recommended its acceptance. Director Fisher took occasion to say that the construction company had given the county a very excellent piece of work.

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, through a representative announced that the company was stringing a new aerial toll cable from Camden to Beverly, and requested permission to erect 33 additional poles along the Taubel, Collins, Perkins and the Beverly Gardens properties in Delanco and Edgewater Park townships. The request was granted with the understanding that the work is to be done according to the instructions of the county engineer.

During the noon recess the members of the board inspected the improvements made to the court house and then voted to accept the work.

Bills for the various departments were read and approved as follows: Roads, $3,274.01; bridges, $8,642.63; finance, $93,241.56; county buildings, $11,238.06; public affairs, $1,258.52.

P. S. BUS DRIVERS WATCH FOR RIDERS

Operators Cautioned to Be On Alert To Pick Up Every Person Who Wishes to Ride

Operators are cautioned to be on the alert to pick up every person who wants to take his car or bus, in a bulletin issued by Matthew R. Boylan, vice president in charge of operation, Public Service Coordinated Transport. The operators are reminded that nothing causes more annoyance or is the cause of more complaint than the failure of operators to stop for passengers.

"To avoid the possibility of such occurrences, operators should approach every stopping point, in the expectation that people will be waiting there to take the car," the bulletin says.

"Go a little further than you have to. Look up the side streets for approaching passengers, figure on those people who do not always think it necessary to signal a car be ready for those whose approach may be cut off by other vehicles; act as if you were looking for customers and never as if you wished to avoid them.

"We want your assistance in this very important matter and I feel sure that this bulletin will result in a decrease of complaints," Mr Boylan concludes.

BRIDGE HEARING EARLY IN APRIL

United States Engineers Will Have Discusion on Revised Plans of Burlington Fabric

Notice has been given by the engineer's office of the United States War Department that another hearing on the Burlinton-Bristol Bridge will take place in the Assembly Room, Bourse Building, Philadelphia, on Tuesday, April 3, at 10.30 o'clock. The notice was issued by Colonel J. A. Woodruff, district engineer.

The purpose of the hearing is to have a discussion of the revised plans for the Burlington-Bristol Bridge, recently submitted by Mayor Clifford Anderson, of Bristol, and Joseph R. Cheesman, of Burlington, the bridge promoters.

Under Colonel Woodruff's notice interested parties are invited to be present and state their views on the subject to be considered.

DRUNKEN DRIVER

Palmyra Man, Arrested at Lenola Goes to Jail in Default of $200 Fine

Howard Hubbs, 26 years old, of Public Road, Palmyra, was committed to the Burlington County jail at Mount Holly Monday by Recorder Joseph W. Johnston, Moorestown, in default of a $200 fine.

Hubbs was arrested by Officer Bruce MacDonald on North Lenola Road Sunday evening as a drunken driver. He was examined by Dr. G. H. Wilkinson, of Moorestown, who pronounced him intoxicated.

Recorder Johnston imposed the $200 fine and revoked Hubbs' driver's license for two years.

Firemen Discuss 60 Per Cent Fire Duty

Other Matters Before County Association Meeting at Mount Holly

The monthly meeting of the Burlington County Firemen's Association was held in the R. & P. auditorium, Mount Holly, Wednesday evening of last week, with delegates present from thirty-eight companies.

The firemen were welcomed to the county seat by S. Earl Asay, chief of the Mount Holly Fire Department.

"What constitutes 60 per cent. of fire duty?," was the principal subject under discussion, and was finally brought to a satisfactory conclusion when Frank L. Smith, of Medford, took the floor, and not only read, but explained rules and regulations that had been approved at a meeting held in the court house, Mount Holly, about seven years ago. This meeting, he said, was called by Lawrence G. Mingin, then vice-president of the State Firemen's Association, to establish uniform rules in the county. After the rules were read and explained the firemen were satisfied that every angle of service had been thoroughly and satisfactorily covered.

The question of a fire marshall for the county was again taken up The law which provides for the appointment of such by the Board of Freeholders, together with comments on the statute by Senator Clifford R. Powell were read, and the secretary was requested to furnish copies to the newspapers of the county for publication. Senator Powell, in his letter to the firemen said he could see no objectionable features in the law and could see no reason why the appointment should not be made.

Chief Ellis H. McAllister, of Moorestown, who submitted to Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill a light for fire apparatus to distinguish such from other vehicles at night, reported that it had been declared illegal. He said Legislature would pass a special bill before it could be adopted and used for fire apparatus.

The committee appointed to arrange for "Ladies Night" reported that the affair would take place next fall.

Riverside Park, a new fire company, was admitted to membership and it will be represented by delegates at the next meeting of the Association.

The next meeting will be held in Burlington on April 18.

Among the visitors were Chief Francis, of New Brunswick; Ralph Holman, Second Assistant Secretary of the New Jersey State Firemen's Association and delegations from Middlesex, Mercer and Camden counties.

SPRING DANCE

The first of a series of Spring Dances will be held at Moorestown Community House this Saturday evening, March 31.

Bill Ford's Orchestra, Mount Holly, will furnish the music.

Younger folk from Moorestown and the neighboring towns are expected to attend in large numbers.

Dancing will commence at 8.30 o'clock and the admission as usual will be fifty cents.

YOUNG FAILS TO REGAIN HIS SEAT

Attempt to Put Him Back in Burlington Common Council Results in Failure

An attempt to reseat William P. Young, the blacksmith-evangelist, at the adjourned meeting of Burlington Common Council last week failed. The evangelist recently was ousted from Common Council because he held the position of alderman at the same time.

City Clerk Walter W. Marrs read Mr. Young's resignation as alderman on January 10, and then President Harold V. Holmes declared that a vacancy existed in the membership of Common Council from the Second Ward.

Mr. Young was nominated. The vote was six to five against the ousted councilman. The members voted the same as they did during the deadlock.

ARBOR DAY SOON

All schools, civic and county bodies, and patriotic and other organizations throughout New Jersey are requested by State Forester C. P. Wilber, of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Development, to make a special effort toward a fitting observance of Arbor Day, which falls on Friday, April 13, this year. The department issues free literature concerning Arbor Day celebrations upon request.

Arbor Day in New Jersey has been designated by an act of Legislature as the second Friday in April of each year. Throughout the United States it is annually observed at different times, depending upon the climatic conditions peculiar to various sections of the county.

Mr. Wilber points out that while it is the formal announcement of spring, the practical purpose of Arbor day is to remind us of our dependence on tree growth and to urge upon us the necessity for planting trees to replace those which have been cut and removed in order that future generations may continue to enjoy the comfort and prosperity which we are enjoying in the present day.

Most Presidents Practiced Thrift

Practically All of the Chief Executives Knew Value of Saving

By S. W. STRAUS
President American Society of Thrift

If you would learn a lesson in the constructive values of thrift, study the lives of our Presidents.

John Adams taught school as a young man to obtain money for his education in the law; Zachary Taylor labored as a boy on his father's southern plantation and had practically no early educational advantages; Millard Fillmore, worked as a village school teacher and borrowed the money to enable him to study law.

The early struggles of Abraham Lincoln and the disadvantages under which he became one of the greatest men of all times, are known the world over. As a boy Lincoln, "the rail-splitter," worked for ten years on his father's farm and it is said that all of his schooling amounted to only one year. Andrew Johnson came from a poor family in North Carolina and as a boy was apprenticed for ten years to a tailor, during which time he taught himself to read and write.

James A. Garfield had practically no educational advantages as a young man and was compelled to maintain himself early in life by the hardest kind of farm labor. At one period he earned his livelihood by driving a team of mules for a canal boat.

Warren G. Harding started life on a farm in Ohio. For several years he earned his livelihood as a printer, school teacher, insurance agent and newspaper reporter.

Calvin Coolidge's first job was a chore boy on his father's farm. He worked his way through college part of the time. His vacations were spent in earning money.

One might easily add to the list of our Presidents who have learned the value of thrift as an element of success. Hays, Cleveland, McKinley and Wilson learned its value out of the book of their early struggles.

These are not new facts. Every school boy should know them. Every young man beginning a business career should be reminded of these splendid examples of obstacles overcome.

Some people would have to work overtime if they practice what they preach.

Luck is the trump card played by a fool.

BUSINESS FAILURES IN NEW JERSEY

Proportion of Failures To Total Number Concerns in Business

The ratio of business failures to the total number of business concerns in New Jersey in 1927 was 0.13 per cent. lower than the ratio for the United States as a whole. An indication of the substantial prosperity of the State,—a prosperity founded upon increasing population and developing industries.

Among those outstanding resources which contribute to New Jersey's business stability are adequate and comprehensive public utility facilities, supplied to five out of six of its people by Public Service.

FLYING STARTS AT COUNTY AIR CLUB SUNDAY

Airport on Outskirts of Moorestown to be Scene of Passenger Hops

FIRST RECOGNITION WITH ARMY SALUTE

Burlington County Aero Club's field on the outskirts of Moorestown will be baptized this Sunday when one, and possibly two, airplanes will do passenger flying from Burlington County's first airport.

The field is about fifty acres of fine land on the Hartford-Westfield road, directly opposite the home of former Freeholder Fred Lippincott. It is just south of Bridgeboro road. Under the direction of William de R. French, chairman of the Field Committee, a force of workmen have been busy for several days putting the grounds in shape.

The field has been burned off, harrowed and scraped and is now in excellent condition for flying purposes. A wind sock has been erected and a 100-foot circle has been placed in the center of the field. The word "Moorestown" is in the center of the circle.

The field received its first recognition Monday afternoon as workmen were completing the circle. The circle designates an airport and two army ships flying over Moorestown "zoomed the field. "Zooming" a field is dipping the plane as a salute.

H. H. Longaker, president of the Club, reports that one airplane has already been engaged for passenger flying Sunday and if possible the Club will have two ships. The passenger flying will probably start about noon Sunday.

Arrangements are being made to install gasoline and oil pumps on the field for both airplanes and automobiles.

An important business meeting of the Club will be held at the Moorestown Community House Monday evening, April 2. The members will adopt the Constitution and by-laws of the Club and arrange for the formal opening of the field which will probably take place about a month later.

OAKLAND ASSEMBLY WILL OPEN APRIL 2

Present Plant Closed This Week for Transfer of Machinery

The new $3,000,000 car assembly plant for the Oakland All-American Six will start production on April 2, it is announced by A. R. Glency, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car Company. The old assembly building was closed on March 24 to permit the transfer of a portion of the machinery to the new structure. A large proportion of the new plant equipment, however, is entirely new. Electrically-driven machine units with individual control are used throughout. The old building will be used for material storage.

With the completion of the new assembly building for the Oakland All-American Six, the company now has one of the most modern automobile factories in the world. Two model assembly plants, one devoted exclusively to Oakland Six production and the other to Pontiac Six production, now lie parallel to each other. They are served by an "indoor railroad yard," nine of the ten tracks being under roof. Construction throughout both plants is of brick, steel and concrete and the monitor type roofs admit a maximum of daylight. A huge addition to the Oakland-Pontiac shipping building was erected at the same time the new assembly plant was being constructed.

Y. W. C. A. News

Miss Sara Carter, finance director from the National YWCA Headquarters in New York arrived in Mt. Holly, Wednesday, March 28th, to direct the campaign for funds to carry on the work of the YWCA in Burlington County.

On April 11th at 1.30, a luncheon for all workers in the drive will be held at the YWCA Dining Room in Mount Holly. Information for the drive will be given at this time.

Mrs. Edward S. Harmer will leave April 4th enroute to Sacramento, California, to attend the tenth National Convention of the YWCA of the United States of America. Mrs. Harmer is sent as a delegate from the National Board of New York, but she will also represent the Burlington County YWCA.

YWCA Educational Force

When girls grow older they need to "belong to something" as much as their younger sisters do. There are many organizations for teen-age girls, but compared to them there are few for young women in business or young mothers, except of a strictly social nature. At this point the Senior Clubs of the YWCA fill a great need and render a fine service.

Being in business and holding down a job is, for the most part, an experience originated in the present generation, as far as women are concerned. This has created new possibilities and new problems as any wide-spread movement does. With these comes a different outlook on life and a struggle for adjustment.

There is also another problem—that of being a voting citizen. It is for the understanding of these questions that the YW working girls are aiming. In their code is given in detail the principles of honesty, intelligence and cheerfulness in business for which they are striving, and they hold discussions as to the place and work of the Christian woman in this field. They also discuss the quesitons of true citizenship and the prevention of war. Many girls are taking up a reading course on the last two subjects so that they will have knowledge on which to base their opinions. To keep all the county girls in touch with each other and united in their efforts, a County Council of Business Girls meets every six weeks to discuss qustions of common interest.

Study and Discussion

In addition to this list of things for study and discussion the colored groups are studying the music, the literature, and and history of their own people. This helps them to increasingly understand their own race and the value of their heritage. For every race and people have something to contribute to all the others, and the ruling race will be the loser if it suppresses the individuality of another. An appreciation of this value of their race brings to the colored girls an honest pride in their own people.

These foregoing things are those in which the business girl finds interest and help in the YWCA. But this organization helps the young mother with her problems, too. At the present time we have only one Mothers' Club in the county, but this club has active, interested membres and is proving of great value to them. It co-operates with the Parents' Council of Philadelphia in having training by a leading psychologist in the understanding of the problems of the control of the child, religious training in the home, interpretation of sex to the child, and the development of his vivid imagination. Meetings are also held on home hygiene and the proper feeding and care of the child. With the advancement of science in the knowledge of these matters must come the understanding use of this knowledge in our homes.

St. Patrick's Party

Monday evening, March 19, the Moorestown Senior "Y" had a St. Patrick's Day party at the Community House. Mrs. Caroline Wurst and Miss Esther Hughes directed the games of the evening, and Miss Jane Flick, a guest, entertained the girls with several selections on the piano.

Refreshments of green jello and cup cakes were served from a table attractively decorated with green crepe paper and candles.

The Lenola Girl Reserves held a business meeting Friday evening at the home of Vera Winkler. Plans were discused for the minstrel which they are intending to present sometime in May. The girls accepted the house which Mrs. Branin so kindly offered them for use as a club house.

The Willingboro Girl Reserve basketball team went to Bridgeboro on Saturday afternoon, March 24, to compete with the Girl Reserves team here. The game proved to be an interesting one, the final score being 34-19 in favor of the visiting team. Although the Bridgeboro team is newly organized, they show promise of developing some very fine players. Marion Pennington, Bessie Griffith, Alice Stuart, Bessie Brock, Eva Curry and Cook played for Willingboro. The Bridgeboro players were Lillian and Kathryn Hintermeir, Marion Elliott, Anna Stratton, Dolora King, Sue Denneler and Kathleen McCord. Phyllis Bozarth of Mount Holly acted as referee.

MOVIE HITS

More than a quarter of a million dollars' worth of antiques, including furnishings, were used in the settings of "Quality Street," Marion Davies' new starring production, based on Sir James Barrie's noted whimsical play, coming to the Walt Whitman next Monday and Tuesday.

Five rooms, which are depicted in the heroine's home, in provincial England, about 1810, were completely furnished with antiques of the early Georgian period.

A cast of excellent caliber was gathered to support Dorothy Mackaill an Jack Mulhall in their latest First National co-featuring vehicle, "Man Crazy," which comes to the Walt Wednesday and Thursday.

More than 350 people engaged for a huge beer garden scene in the Tiffany production "Night Life" will always have cause to remember their many days work in this remarkable dramatic picture of Vienna the gay and care-free city before the war, with the story including the dark days during the war and the darker ones immediately following the armistice.

Long Beach Span Survey Completed

Highway Commission Will Soon Ask Bids for Barnegat Bridge

State highway engineers have completed their survey for the new bridge over Barnegat Bay from Manahawken to Long Beach with the hope of starting the construction, if possible during April, the commission will ask at once for bids. The new road will form the ocean end of the proposed highway short-cut across New Jersey from Camden to the coast.

The present span, originally erected as a toll bridge, is of timber construction. The new bridge will cross the bay at the same location over a series of causeways and concrete spans. Efforts are being made by resorts to have the State Highway Commission include a footpath on the south side of the bridge owing to the danger attendant upon pedestrians attempting to use the main motor driveway. This would also provide the greatest fishing and crabbing facilities for visitors on the coast, without interference with traffic.

The War Department recently gave its approval for the construction of the new bridge. There wil' be no change in the location of the inland waterway and the present draw, on the east end of the bridge, will be incorporated in the new structure

PAYMENT ON STOCK ORDERED

In the Chancery Court at Trenton last week, vice Chancellor Buchanan signed an order, the import of which is that stockholders of the Burlington County Progressive League must pay the balances owing on their stock subscriptions given when the Mount Holly Fair Ground was purchased by the League, which is said to be affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan. There are about three hundred shareholders. Senator Clifford R. Powell, receiver for the League made the request for the order.

MRS. ELIZABETH TERRY FOR STATE COMMITTEE

Edgewater Park Women's Leader Candidate to Succeed Mrs. Russell

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Terry, of Edgewater Park, prominent in Republican women's organizations of Burlington county, has announced her candidacy for Republican State Committee.

Mrs. Terry is vice-chairman of the Republican County Committee and has had much experience in Burlington county affairs. She is president of the Civic League of Burlington, a member of the League of Women Voters, the Beverly Paragraph Club, the Annis Stockton Chapter, D. A. R., is corresponding secretary of the County Council of Republican Women and a member of the Mosquito Control Committee, whose work she initiated.

Since the withdrawal of Mrs. Nellie Russell, who has been state committeewoman for a number of years, due to ill health, Mrs. Terry's friends thought that she was the logical successor to Mrs. Russell.

It is understood Mrs. Terry will be supported by the independent county Republican organization, headed by Freeholder Charles R. Stout, inasmuch as the Edge faction is backing Mrs. Gaskill, of Moorestown.

On Mrs. Terry's committee on vacancies is Mrs. Wallis Armstrong, Mrs. Nellie Russell and Killam Bennett, former Mayor of Riverton.

GEORGE DeB. KEIM SEEKS G. O. P. DELEGATE POST

Petitions are now in circulation it is rumored, for George DeB. Keim, of Edgewater Park, and Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of Atlantic City, as two delegates from the second congressional district of New Jersey, to the National Republican convention to be held in June. Keim is understood to be a patron of State Senator Clifford R. Powell.

Alternates are State Senator Charles C. Read, of Cape May, and Isaac Shoemaker, of Bridgeton.

SEVEN CONVICTS SEEKING PARDONS

All Sent to State Prison From Burlington County; Applications Filed With Parole Court

Among the applications for parole before the Court of Pardons are those of the following convicts sent to State Prison from Burlington county.

John Williams, soldier, sentenced October 5, 1922, to ten years, for robbery. He and a companion, enroute from Newark to Camden robbed a man who gave them a ride, when near Beverly.

Norman F. Lippincott, sentenced November 6, 1926, to five years for causing the death of Mamie Bowker, of Chesterfield township, by reckless driving of a car which upset and crushed the woman.

Stella Coleman, colored, sentenced November 11, 1927, to eighteen months for conducting a disorderly house in Burlington.

Thomas Gillmore, Camp Dix soldier, guilty of manslaughter and sentenced on February 25, 1920 for life. He killed John Wormwood, Wrightstown jitneyman, to get the man's money.

Joseph Kain, of Burlington, carnal abuse, sentenced May 6, 1927, to five years.

Rosario Pitzi, statutory charges, in Cinnaminson township, sentenced September 24, 1924, to serve five years.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE?

The most welcome news taxpayers in Burlington County have heard in a long while is the promise of some of the newspapers in the county backing Worrell and McCormack for freeholders, that these gentlemen, if elected, will reduce the county tax budget $100,000.

Now, if they will also tell just where the cuts are to be made, it may help the voters to believe that the promise is not too good to be true.

A reduction of $100,000 would be a comfortable saving if it can be effected without affecting the progress and development of the county.

Glittering generalities are not very convincing. The brittleness of election promises is proverbial.

If these promises, so glibly made, can be reduced to facts and figures, the voters of Burlington County will be ready to "talk turkey."

OPPOSES CONSPIRACY TO CONTROL STATE

George L. Record, Progressive Republican leader in New Jersey, has put three questions to the candidates running in the Republican primary for Governor, as follows:

1. If nominated and elected, will you use your influence to maintain the principle of the nomination by the direct primary system of all party candidates, including United States Senator and Governor, without any pre-primary convention or other similar device?

2. If nominated and elected, will you use your influence to commit the Republican party and the Legislature to the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment?

3. Will you if nominated and elected, use your influence to destroy the party leadership of Senator Edge, and secure the control of the party by leaders who sincerely believe in the maintenance of the direct primary and the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment?

Champions Open Primary

Mr. Record recites his efforts to secure the primary law, and declares that he will not sit idly by and see the program to destroy the primary law carried out without doing whatever he can to prevent it. This is an indication that if necessary Mr. Record may enter the list of candidates for Governor to maintain the principles he advocates.

Mr. Record's statement follows:

"The coming Republican primary unless something is done to arouse the voters is likely to result in the choice of a candidate who will use or permit to be used the power and patronage of the governorship to overthrow the direct primary law and nullify the Eighteenth Amendment. The party voters and the public do not understand the situation and nobody is calling attention to the plan which is secretly being carried out. The situation is this.

"Senator Edge was opposed at the last senatorial primary by Hamilton Kean, who went all over the State denouncing him as a party traitor, and calling upon the party voters to establish a new party leadership. Mr. Kean has now withdrawn his opposition to the Senator's leadership, leaving him in complete command of the party organization.

Plans State Control

"I wish to make it clear that I have no personal feeling against Senator Edge. He has made his way from a poor boy to a successful career of which he can be justly proud. My differences with him are purely political, and in state matters are confined to two issues. He has openly announced his intention to abolish the direct primary, to reestablish the convention system, and to commit the Republican party to the nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment. The candidate for Governor selected by the Edge organization will be either in open accord with the Senator's program, or will be prepared to distribute the patronage in accordance with the Senator's recommendations, which would give the Senator the necessary power to control the Legislature and the party convention, and carry out his program.

"The proposal to destroy the primary is of vital interest to me. I drew and had introduced into the Legislature of this state in 1893 the first direct primary act ever presented to any legislative body in the United States. For the following seventeen years, in season and out of season, I labored to create a public sentiment in favor of this great reform. Finally, taking advantage of the gubernatorial campaign in 1910, I induced Woodrow Wilson, then a candidate for Governor, to pledge himself to adopt this idea if elected, a pledge which he fully redeemed. In the meantime it has spread all over the United States. It is one of the well recognized instruments of popular government today, and is the most effective means by which party machines can be made to respond to the will of the voters.

Will Alienate Voters

"As a mere matter of party expediency, the Edge plan will if carried out alienate so many Republicans as to hand over the governorship to the Democratic party for years to come.

"As a part of this plan the State organization is now trying to put through the Legislature a bill to make it impossible for any independent candidate to run at the general election. This bill requires an independent candidate to get 100,000 signatures in order to get his name upon the ballot for Governor or Senator. This is the most outrageous attempt to deprive the people of the power that has been made in any State in the Union. It nullifies the fundamental principle of our government that the people shall on election day have an opportunity to freely register their will.

"Similar conditions apply to the plan of Senator Edge to commit the party to the nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment. While I did not advocate prohibition, I am in accord with the supporters of this amendment on certain vital points. The most ardent prohibitionist could never by any possibility despise and abhor the old saloon system more than I did. It was a blot upon our civilization, and putting it under the ban of the law is a distinct advance in human progress.

"This amendment was adopted by the will of the overwhelmingly mass of people. The popular judgment is well expressed by Secretary Hoover, to the effect that the Eighteenth Amendment constitutes a noble experiment in human progress and proceeded from the highest and most altruistic motives, and that it was the clear duty of the Republican party to enforce it.

"The attempt to commit the Republican party to the nullification of this great expression of the popular will if successful would split the party into two waring factions, and destroy its chances of success.

"This is the situation that confronts the Republican voters. For my part, I do not propose to sit idly by and see the program to destroy the primary, so frankly announced by Senator Edge, carried out without doing what I can to prevent it."

NOT A LOCAL ISSUE

The impoverished victims of the Mississippi flood, the farmers of the seven states affected, are not the only ones that are concerned with the matter of reconstruction.

The proposal that the seven states affected pay a large part of the expense involved in reconstruction is construed by many as unfair. This work would benefit the entire United States.

More than thirty of the states pour their water into the Mississippi and the waters from these states pouring down through the Mississippi Valley caused the floods and the damage.

Certainly it seems logical that the states who send their waters into the Mississippi ought to pay their share.

Making the Mississippi safe its entire length is a work for the entire nation. In the opinion of many, not individual states or land owners, but all the people of the United States should help.

WEATHER FORECASTS

Fame and fortune await the man who can discover some method of making accurate long-range weather forecasts. Such a weather prophet would be worth all the hire he asked if he could tell how much rain would fall here next August. He would save the farmers a great deal of money and worry.

The Chief of the United States Weather Bureau in Washington recently made himself the center of a word storm because he denied the ability of weather prophets to make such long-range forecasts with any degree of accuracy.

Official forecasters do not pretend to foretell the weather for more than a week or so ahead, and two or three days is nearer their normal prophecy. But at that there may be some method of telling, other than be mere conjecture, what the tempature and rainfall will be for months ahead. If they is any such method, its discovery would be farm relief of the best possible kind.

Senator Walsh is too modest to be a good Presidential candidate, a New York writer says. Some people think that's just the kind of candidate we need.

Trust the country editor to get to the bottom of things, as, for example, the one out in Oregon who says that the cause of modern baldness is the absence of hair.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

HONEST MAN

There are some people who are just naturally honest. They live up to their contracts and do not seek to break them. They are not always considering the letter of the law, but have an inward letter that they obey.

It is refreshing to meet these people. They renew your faith in human nature.

Some one has said the honest man has the advantage over the dishonest one because the honest man knows there is one honest man in the world, while the dishonest man does not know there are any.

A lawyer named Gavin McNab died the other day in San Francisco. In his will we find two bequests, one to Mrs. Elkins of thirty-five thousand dollars and another of five thousand dollars to Joseph Finnell.

The money was bequeathed in each instance because the people had lost money on account of advice given them by Attorney McNab.

He was under no obligation to return this money, but he just felt better for doing it.

The explanation is simple.

The man was honest.

And he wasn't honest because he had to be, but just because he was.

The other instance is that of Reuben H. Donnelly, millionnaire head of a publishing company.

Twenty-two years ago Mr. Donnell's company passed through bankruptcy. He afterwards made good is now sixty-three years old, and has some money.

He has voluntarily made good all the debts that were wiped out by bankruptcy.

Some of the creditors held claims for only small amounts, but they were in the humbler walks of life and in many cases a little money meant a good deal to them.

Now he is taking care of these little fellows.

There was one man who had a claim of eighteen dollars when the house went into bankruptcy. That was in 1905. He got his check for $38.75, which is plus interest for twenty-two years.

Mr. Donnelly said in his letter to the old creditors, "While the unpaid balance does not constitute a legal claim, I have always considered it a moral one."

It is a comfort to know that there are some people in the world who cannot rest easy until they have discharged all their obligations.

INHERITED KNOWLEDGE.
DRIFTING FROM RELIGION.
THE UNEMPLOYMENT CRISIS.
CALIFORNIA'S GOOD ROADS.

Men are interested in animal genealogies. Ants, wasps and other insects have developed marvelous inherited knowledge, which we foolishly call "instinct," because they were millions of years before men came.

Science shows that men will continue on earth, barring catastrophe, at least 100,000,000 years more.

Some day babies will be born inheriting accumulated knowledge and ready to attack new problems. That will be a race worth while.

Read Fabre's account of surgical operations performed by mud wasps that never saw father or mother, took no lessons and were born to know how.

The Rev. Dr. Straton, in California to debate on evolution, says our people, youth especially, are drifting from religion and all respect for the laws of God or man. Our nation and race are threatened. He is sure of it. Some centuries ago earnest, well-meaning priests of Greece and Rome were saying the same thing.

And when Christianity came along thoses ancients were sure the world was going to the dogs. They went, but the world improved.

Unemployment, according to experts, is less serious than it was. That's small comfort for a man without a job.

Big business says you must expect unemployment crises. They will always recur. They said that once about financial panics, but the Federal Reserve System ended them.

Big business opposed the reserve system, now universally praised.

Big business is old and age accepts new ideas reluctantly.

The marvelous thing is that unemployment is not worse. In the automobile industry today thirty-three men do as much as 100 could do in 1914, thanks to improved machinery and methods.

Next year California will spend seventy-eight million dollars on good roads, and California has more good roads than any other State already. In consequence, California leads in automobile ownership, which means family comfort.

If other States, with good roads could build up automobile ownership as California has done, there would be sixty million instead of twenty-four million automobiles running in this country. Other States might think that over.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, able Supreme Court Justice, who realizes that the Constitution was made by and for men, not men for the Constitution, is seventy-eight years old He continues working, obeying his motto, "rest is not the destiny of man." A big monument would reward Justice Holmes if he could tell what the destiny of man realy IS how we got here, whence we came whither we go from here, what happens after we go.

But about such questions a learned Supreme Court Justice knows as little as an Eskimo watching for seals in the ice hole.

Science and religion are and must remain separate. Science gradually reveals to men that which they can explain and understand. Religion, which changes as men's civilization changes, represents the effort to know and understand that which men can never know or understand. Religion, destined to remain a matter of faith, never to be proved, is at least as important as science. Science gives knowledge, safety and wealth. Religion gives peace.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES

The structure will contain two stores and eight dwellings. An American Store will occupy one end. Mr. Wills expects to have the building ready for use about June first.

The many fine homes being erected on the Palmyra Extension development are all built by Mr. Wills.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT if business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and increase it by the right kind of advertising.

THAT getting the business in not always a selfish proposition. Modern business entails a certain amount of service that is of much interest to the buyer as to the seller.

THAT in the stores of your city you will find obliging clerks who will greet you with a smile, wait on your courteously, answer your questions politely and are willing to take the trouble to supply any information wanted. They help to make better business.

THAT mail order houses succeed because they advertise. You can beat them at their own game by advertising in your local paper.

THAT many citizens would be pleasantly surprised if they were to investigate the various kinds and classes of merchandise obtainable in their city. With this knowledge, they should spend all their money at home.

A dollar spent in your own city helps your city. Money spent in some other city helps that city. Buy at home!

"The largest coffee roasting plant in the world—the Wm. S. Scull Company, and the largest manufacturing retailer of furniture in the world—the J. B. VanSciver Company.

"If one looks to the South one sees the largest private ship yard in the world—the New York Ship Building Company. If one looks to the North one sees the largest manufacturing plant of glazed kid in the world—the John R. Evans Company. Straight ahead one sees the largest plant in the world manufacturing automobile supplies—R. M. Hollingshead Company.

"One then proceeds East and just as one leaves the city one sees to the South the smoke of the world's largest plant for manufacturing cinder blocks—the Concrete Specialty Company.

"Continuing East one comes to the White Horse Pike—a sixty mile highway—which mile for mile is the most traveled highway in the world.

"Then one comes to the great South Jersey Agricultural belt. Here are the world's greatest cranberry bogs. Here grow the world's largest blueberries, the world's finest fancy sweet potatoes, and the world's finest fancy poultry. The world's best peaches are raised in this district and at the mouths of its streams the world's greatest oyster beds.

Many Became Members

Alex. Fergusson, of Edgewater Park, one of the directors of Burlington Countians Incorporated, spoke of cooperation of all parts of the county in advancing the interests of the county as a whole, and of the Burlington Countians as the organization through which this cooperation might function.

An invitation was extended to those present to become members, and a large number did so, in order that they might be enrolled and kept in touch with the activities of the organization.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Charles R. Stout, chairman; Mayor Wimer, Fred G. Fromuth, Palmyra; Carlton Sholl, Burlington and Fergusson. Music during the dinner was furnished by the Burlington County YMCA Orchestra.

Dr. Jonas L. Edwards, of Riverside, directed the singing. One of the features of the musical program was a song, "Hail to Thee," dedicated to the Garden State, and composed by Doctor Edwards. Pat Steedle, of Riverton, and Roger Oliver, of Burlington, assisted in directing the community singing.

Rev. John Goorley, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church Trenton, well known in this neighborhood having served as pastor of the M. E. Church at Medford for several years, has been appointed chaplain of state prison by Timothy J. Murphy, principal keeper.

The Rev. Mr. Goorley succeeds the Rev. Mr. Charles H. Elder, who died of heart disease while conducting the service at the prison. The new clergyman is pastor of the church which the Rev. Mr. Elder served seventeen years.

God's Laws

'Tis not man's law that maketh right;
But it must be God's higher law;
For sometimes human laws are worst
Injustices you ever saw.
They oft; with greed and selfishness
And other evils will be filled;
So they resemble not at all
The laws our Heavenly Father willed.
So, inward, look, in conscience, find
The laws that you will know are right;
Through it God speaks and, to our souls,
Will ever show his guiding light.
His guidance will not lead us wrong
As human laws may often do.
His laws will, no injustice, teach;
But what is noblest, best and true.

A NORTH JERSEY VIEW OF EDGE-HAGUE ENTENTE

—Hudson News, Union City, N. J.

There are rumors that Senator Edge and Democratic State Boss Frank Hague have a very amicable arrangement in regard to political control of New Jersey. In North Jersey where the Democrats are strong, Hague is given full sway over local affairs, while he cooperates with Senator Edge in attempting to put reactionary legislation through at Trenton. This year Edge is supposed to have a technical advantage because it is a presidential year and New Jersey has been Republican in National affairs since the Wilson administration.

F. N. Johnson and daughter, Miss Kathryn, spent Saturday and Sunday in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Harry Kemmerle, Sr., visited her daughter, Mrs. Michael Haughey, in West Philadelphia, on Monday.

Mrs. H. E. Ingling, of Atlantic City, visited relatives in Palmyra last Thursday.

Mrs. Belle Ludlam and daughter, Clarobelle, of Camden, spent Monday with her aunt, Mrs. A. B. Powell.

Mrs. Edwin Fish entertained the Ladies Auxiliary of the IOOF Tuesday at luncheon.

Mrs. Arthur Fichter and children, of Camden, visited Mrs. Joseph Graham last Friday.

Calvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Speers Kerr, is in the West Jersey hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

The father of Charles Pine, who lives at Washington and Wallace streets, was buried in Philadelphia on Monday.

Mrs. Harry Kreutzberg, granddaughter Betty and son Frank, of the Palmyra Hotel, left Tuesday on a motor tour to Baltimore, Washington and Virginia. The party will stop in Baltimore where they will be the guests of Mrs. Kreutzberg's cousin. The trip will extend over a week and the historical places of Washington and Virginia will be visited.

Mayor George N. Wimer, Captain Sydney Albertson, Robert W. Knight and Mrs. H. W. Morris were among the Palmyrians who attended the launching of the caisson for the new Tacony-Palmyra Bridge at Wilmington on Monday.

Ed Griscom, Gus Conlow and George Rogers enjoyed a day's outing in the pines of Jersey Monday. The party saw the ruins of several villages and encountered a few deer in their wanderings. Thirty miles of woods were toured without a sign of habitation.

Miss Katherine L. Hirsch, of New York, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hirsch of Highland avenue.

Rev. George J. McCormack, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, of Palmyra, who has been ill at his home for a week, was removed to Cooper Hospital Sunday. It is believed that the rector is suffering a nervous ailment, although physicians have not been able to determine the cause or the exact nature of the illness. Services in the church are being held by visiting preachers.

A reception will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. J. William Lee this evening in honor of his return to the Epworth M. E. Church for another year.

Jimmie Caruso, West Palmyra's popular contracting mason, gave a birthday party at his home on West Broad street last Saturday night. The party was a wonderful success and was much enjoyed by all present. During the wee sma' hours of the morning the genial host provided a spaghetti dinner with roast pig for his guests. Among those present from Palmyra were Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Taglialatela and Calvin Stow. There were many others from Riverton, Delair and Philadelphia.

Walter Todd, Arthur Hoff and John Gorman will sail Tuesday, April 3, for South America where they will be employed by the Ajax Rubber Company. They expect to be gone several months.

Another house is being built on Morgan Heights. Curtis E. Stavely is the builder.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Mahood, of Lincoln avenue, entertained at bridge at his mother's home in Germantown Monday evening. Guests from Palmyra and Riverton were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snowden, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Orlemann, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker and Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Mark. Mr. and Mrs. Mahood have been spending the winter months in Germantown and will return to their Lincoln avenue home about the first of May.

Last week Prof. Philip Vollmer closed a series of lectures on "Social Evangelism" at the Presbyterian Seminary at Bloomfield, N. J., speaking on the United States proposition on the "Outlawry of the War System."

EDWARD D. STEWART

Edward D. Stewart, died at his home, 428 Garfield avenue, Palmyra Friday morning after a long illness Mr. Stewart was an old resident of Palmyra and was known to many as a kind and considerate gentleman. Previous to his last illness he was employed as a salesman for Strawbridge and Clothier for nearly thirty years. He was a member of the S. and C. Quarter Century Club. He leaves a widow, Mary E. Stewart.

The funeral was held Monday from the Snover Funeral Home with the Rev. James H. Rendall, of the Beverly Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was made in Morgan Cemetery.

No doubt some of the 274 men who are now engaged in a foot race across the United States objected to running down to the corner grocery for a loaf of bread when asked to by their women folks.

MEN'S CLUB

Illustrated Lecture Given by the Rev. Paul Berman

The members of the Men's Club, of Christ Church, Palmyra, were delightfully entertained Monday night by an illustrated lecture on the Holy Land. The lecturer was a man well qualified to talk on this subject, being the Rev. Paul Begman, a native of Palestine and now converted from the Jewish faith to Christianity.

The Rev. Mr. Berman gave a new light on the study of the Bible. He told how the customs in the Holy Land differed from those of the Western World and owing to that fact a great many circumstances described in the Bible were entirely different when studied with Eastern customs in mind.

Joseph Wilson, an honorary member of the Club and a member of the Philadelphia Bar, was present and gave a short talk which was very interesting to the members.

Charles W. Davison was appointed a committee of one to send flowers to the president of the Club, the Rev. George J. McCormack, who is ill in the Cooper Hospital, Camden.

The musical program was greatly appreciated by every one. J. J. Siddall's orchestra rendered several selections. Mr. Siddall played the violin, Joseph Williams was the cornetist and Mr. Martin the pianist.

Miss Gertrude Wittman gave two humorous readings entitled "Betty at the Baseball Game," and "Nora at the Country Club." Miss Wittman has a natural gift of wit and her audience could not restrain from whole hearted laughter during her recitations.

A vote of thanks was given The Rev. Mr. Berman and also the talent which was greatly appreciated.

NO FACTS ON HAND.

The current belief is that crime conditions are known to authorities, and that careful statistics are available. The National Crime Commission, however, through Louis McH. Howe, assistant to the chairman, has let it be known that there is no way of telling how much crime there is in the country and how this crime is divided among the various states and communities.

The Commission therefore is sponsoring a bill, to be introduced in the various legislators, asking that all crimes be promptly reported by local police officers.

It is a queer fact, and few are cognizant of it, that most of the crimes committed in the United States are not reported or recorded.

All estimates on crime conditions are mere guesswork, reliable agencies unite in declaring. Statistics are altogether inadequate.

There has been talk of a crime wave for three years. When the National Crime Commission was formed, it determined to find out if there really was a "crime wave." A reliable statistical bureau was engaged to collect the figures on crime, and reported that there was no general collection of figures.

The statistics had never been gathered together by localities.

The statistical bureau said it would cost about one million dollars, and take about six months, to collect data that would probably be incorrect at that!

Thus it was demonstrated that imaginary figures on this matter are just as good as printed ones.

If crime is greater in the cities than in the smaller centers, then the herding together of large populations is a cause of crime; if crimes are just as prevalent in the country as in the city, then there must be another prime cause; nobody knows.

And until facts about crime become known facts, no sane, responsible study of crime conditions, with a view to reducing criminality, can be made. Therefore it seems to act compelling all local police officers to report every crime that comes within their ken might prove very helpful and salutatory if it becomes a law.

Girls Basketball Season is Success

Twelve Victories and Five Defeats is Record for 1928

The Palmyra High School girls' basketball season has come to an end. The girls chedule included seventeen games twelve of them victories. The to al points scored by Palmyra were 427 against 306 for opposing teams.

Kitty Burr heads the lists as high scorer with a total of 212 points. Peg Jenkins comes second with 141. Kitty was the highest individual scorer in the South Jersey Hockey League. Peg was captain of the PHS hockey team, carrying her team on to a tie for second place in the League. Captain Anna Rohland played jumping center for the basketball team with Grace Kersey and Anna Randall attending as side center. Grace Sipple and Helen Bates made up the defense as two tenacious guards. Violet Wallace, a Sophomore, alternated as forward.

The girls played a scientific game of basketball, a game worth watching. The Palmyra spirit was seen in every game and best of all their splendid sportsmanship was always present in both victories and losses. It is hoped that next year will be even more successful. The team will be captained by Helen Bates.

Girls vs Boys

On Thursday evening, March 22 at the High School, a unique and interesting event took place. The girls played the boys in basketball and amid much merriment on the part of both players and spectators the boys won with a score of 38-30.

To a stranger, the spectacle might have been a confusing one, the girls seemed suddenly changed to boys and vice versa. Everyone was thoroughly decided that the tables were turned when Mr. Dimond appeared in Miss Purbeck's gym togs and Miss Purbeck appeared in knickers. Half of the game was played by girls' rules with "Miss" Dimond officiating and the second half under boys' rules with "Mr." Purbeck in official capacity.

The girls donned the boys' red sweat shirts and the boys wore the girls red basketball bloomers. The game was attended by approximately 250 people. Everyone enjoyed a good many hearty laughs at the absurd tactics of the players, not to mention the methods of the officials. As a game it was a farce but as a comedy it was a howling success.

When a man keeps his wife in the dark, he shouldn't expect her to make light of it.

Occasionally a man climbs so high that he roosts above everybody else then he begins to get lonesome.

Some men will stand up for the fair sex everywhere except in a street car.

Lots of men are failures because they never attempt anything.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias, to me directed out of the Court of Chancery of the State of New Jersey, I will sell at Public Sale, on

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

This afternoon (Thursday) Mrs. F. B. MacCormick, 805 Lincoln avenue, will entertain the ladies of the Philathea Class at their monthly thimble party.

Friday afternoon the meetings of the Junior BYPU and Happy Hour kiddies will be held as usual.

Friday evening Pastor Lockett will be the leader at the senior BYPU service.

April 1st is "Palm Sunday" as well as the occasion for the Communion service. It should be a day of triumph, eclipsed only by Easter itself. Bible school at 10 a. m. should be a banner session. A total of 264 were present last Sunday.

"The Triumph of Christ" will be the pastor's morning subject. The choir will sing "The Palms." In addition to the communion service there also will be dedication of children by their parents.

The pastor's evening topic will be "The Conquering King," with continuation of Palm Sunday music by the choir.

Let us not fail to fully share in the victorious spirit of the day!

Various organizations continue with Spring activity plans. The Samaritan Class is arranging for an evening of entertainment and fun to be offered soon.

The Primary Department already has tickets out for a full-course supper to be served by the Fuhrman Company on Saturday, April 21st.

Soup and fish-cakes are being sold in the church kitchen on Fridays. Advance orders may be placed by calling Mrs. W. S. Tees, Riv. 155-J.

The officers and teachers of the Bible School will hold their conference next Tuesday evening.

"And when he was come nigh, even now the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works that they had seen; saying "Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord."—Luke 19:37-38.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

On Thursday evening, March 29 at eight o'clock, the Rev. J. Harold Mumper, of Westville, N. J., will deliver the last of the special Lenten messages to our Palmyra and Riverton people. Mr. Mumper has had quite a distinguished career for so young a man. He has traveled as a speaker for the religious education movements; he has served as an officer in the Philadelphia Ministerial Association, and, has been active in the work of the Philadelphia Conference, serving as secretary for a term and as treasurer for a term. He is an entertaining speaker and his presence should warrant a large attendance. The opening song service will start promptly at eight.

The last class in catechetics for the current church year will be held Friday at seven o'clock. Confirmands will receive further instruction concerning the ceremony and will complete the study in the catechism as well.

On Palm Sunday morning at 11.15 the confirmation ceremony will take place. The pastor will preach on the theme: "What God Expects of His People," and there will be appropriate music by our First Lutheran Choir. A reunion of the confirmation class of 1927 will be held Palm Sunday morning and Easter Sunday morning.

Palm Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. C. K. Lippard, who has spent twenty-five years as a missionary in our Lutheran Mission in Japan, will give an illustrated lecture on "Our Mission in Japan." The customs of the people of that land will be graphically described in words and beautifully exhibited with colored slides.

There will be services Monday Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings during Holy Week, at which hours a series of sermons on "Scenes from The Last Hours," will be delivered by the pastor. On Good Friday evening the choir will have special features in connection with the Holy Communion, which will be administered after the sermon.

On Easter morning at ten o'clock our Primary Department of the Sunday School will present a program of "little tots" Easter exercises. After this, the service of Holy Communion, with reception of members and baptism of infants will be held.

In the evening our choir will render an elaborate Easter music program. Let us have a packed house for this service. After the musical service, Holy Communion will be administered and the Lenter daily offering boxes will be consecrated with a fitting ceremony.

Bear in mind the congregational meeting which will be held for a few minutes after the morning service on Palm Sunday.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Scout Commissioner Kane Will Talk to Boys Next Friday Night

At the regular meeting of the Riverton Troop next Friday night, Bryan Kane, the Scout Commissioner of Burlington county, will speak to us about the continued success of Scouting throughout the county, and more particularly about the working being done by the troops in Beverly with their some eighty odd members, and of which he was the ranking scoutmaster up to the time of his appointment as Scout Commissioner.

It is certain that Mr. Kane's talk will be interesting to the older members of our troop and instructive and inspiring to the applicants for membership who are now studying to pass the tenderfoot tests in order to become members.

At the county meet held last summer at Palmyra, the Beverly Troop won for the third successive year, the blue honor flag of the county. We don't wish that troop any hard luck, but three times are too many for any one troop to win that flag. Troop No. 1, of Riverton is going to try to give them a hard tussle for its possession this year. Scoutmaster Follett and Assistant Scoutmaster Alex Cole have planned an intensive training course for us, so that any troop that can beat us at this year's meet will surely have to know its stuff.

The fathers of the members and prospective members of our troop are invited to attend our meeting next Friday night.

The Scout Scribe.

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

DEMENTIA PRAECOX

Just how much the average reader may care to know about this unwholesome condition is not clear to me; but since it is now being utilized by lawyers as an excuse for the most terrible crimes of this or any other age, I may be pardoned for this necessarily shallow skimming over the subject.

Dementia of any variety means insanity—absolute absence of any of the so-called higher mental traits, the opposite pole of mentality or reason. The type indicated in my heading is supposed to refer to the dementia of youth. I may say here that my last case was an adult, aged fifty, who was incapable of normal sane action or reasoning. He was silent, secretive, furtive, preferred to be alone, and would ramble through the woods as stealthily as a carnivorous beast; his very presence was uncanny—but he would reply civilly if spoken to. It was impossible to elicit from him any word of personal pain or distress. Only once did he excite fear on my part—when I told him I was going to take him to a sanitarium for treatment. He was a giant physically, but yielded to my wholly assumed bluff. I saw nothing to remind me of Hickman. His head angular and ugly, was utterly devoid of hair; he said he had been poisoned, but could not say how or when. He was of Croatian ancestry, without history of insanity in the family. He did not desire treatment, and obeyed reluctantly court orders on probation—was afraid of a policeman or sheriff and showed no disposition to carry weapons of any kind whatever. He is still in an asylum.

It is not every spoiled or neglected boy that has dementia praecox. Give your son an automatic pistol and an automobile, with access to corn whisky and low "society," let him go scott free—and he will not be long getting into jail! It's your boy and my boy I'm talking about.

BIBLE CLASS RALLY

A Men's Bible Class Rally was held in the Epworth Temple last Sunday afternoon. All the members of the Bible Classes of Palmyra and Riverton were invited. About a hundred men were present to enjoy the interesting program.

Dr. Arthur C. James, of St. Andrews Methodist Church, Philadelphia, delivered the address of the afternoon. Dr. James took as his subject, "Going Fast—But Where," in which he discussed some alarming tendencies of the present generation. Several of those present at the meeting have expressed the regret that a larger number was not present to hear this noted speaker.

A minute of silent prayer was offered in memory of the Rev. John B. Whitton, who previous to his death about a year ago lived at 501 Vine street. Flowers were presented to the Church in his memory by the Bible Class and also by his family.

The opening prayer was made by the Rev. George Lockett, of the Central Baptist Church. The benediction was given by the Rev. J. William Lee, of the Methodist Church. The genial J. Horace Finney led the singing.

Lee Mitton and his orchestra rendered several delightful selections. The vocal numbers by the Baptist Glee Club were much appreciated.

Upton and Gerdelman Found Guilty in Trials at Mount Holly

Charles H. Upton, of Springfield township, convicted by a jury of atrocious assault and battery, which consisted of the act of firing a load of shot at an automobile in which were riding three youths against whom his feelings had been inflamed through jealousy over a young woman, was before Judge Slaughter for sentence last week, and he was sent to the New Jersey State Reformatory, at Rahway, for an indefinite period.

Upton was found guilty after a trial before Judge Slaughter and a jury on Monday on a charge of atrocious assault and battery on Emil Seiler, William Seiler and Thomas Lovell.

The indictment against Upton, who is regarded in the neighborhood where he resides as being not quite normal mentally, was found by the Grand Jury after it had heard testimony that Upton had fired a charge of shot at an automobile owned by the three complainants as they were returning from a party where Upton had upbraided them for being too familiar with one young woman who was a guest at the affair.

It was stated that Upton was enamoured with the young woman in question and resented the attentions paid to her by the Seilers and Lovell, while it was also said that the young lady did not reciprocate the feeling with which she was regarded by the jealous swain.

Dynamite Stolen

This case was investigated by the state police and they with the complainants were the state's witnesses.

Attorney Robert Peacock appeared for Upton and did the best he could with a poor case.

Upton is also charged with stealing a box of dynamite from the sand pits of John Gaell, but this indictment was nolle prossed.

The case of the state against Harry W. Gerdelman, of Philadelphia, father of ten children, who was charged with performing a criminal operation on Miss Catherine Glick, of Riverton, from the effects of which she died at Cooper Hospital a few days later, was moved on Tuesday by Prosecutor Hillman and the trial occupied the entire day, the jury not being sent out for deliberation until 5.30.

Admitting his connection with the case and having pleaded non vult and turned state's evidence against Gerdelman, William Dunphey, twenty-one years of age, of Kensington, Pa., was the first witness to be placed on the stand by the state and he detailed how he had known the Glick girl for two years, having met her while she was a resident of Philadelphia.

Dunphey Tells Story

He then told of keeping company with Miss Glick, and with her he said he met Gerdelman on January 23, when arrangements were made for the latter to go to the Glick home in Riverton on January 26 to perform the operation, Mrs. Glick, the mother, being in the house at the time. Dunphey also testified to paying Gerdelman $40 for the work.

Before leaving the house, Gerdelman said the girl should be taken to a hospital the next day. Dunphey said he then called Dr. Harry Rogers, of Riverton, who ordered the girl removed to the Cooper Hospital in Camden, where she died on February 4.

He identified Gerdelman as the man who performed the operation, as did Mrs. Glick.

Alibi Defense Fails

The defense was an alibi, but the jury evidently was convinced that the state's witnesses told the truth, for they returned a verdict of guilty about 7.45 in the evening, after partaking of dinner in the Washington House.

Charles M. Atkinson, of James Mercer Davis' office, and Attorney Sheffield, of Philadelphia, represented the defendant.

Another case heard on Monday was that of the state vs. William Braddock, of Burlington, charged with having a concealed weapon in his car.

Attorney Peacock was successful in having the jury believe that Braddock was within his rights in having the weapon in his car, and the verdict rendered was not guilty.

The first case of the day was a civil action in which O'Brien & Hoover, Inc., sought to recover on a promisory note given by Sumner E. Elliott, of Itaucocas rum barge fame, and the verdict of the jury was for $164.70 for the plaintiff.

FIREMEN'S PARADE ROUTE ANNOUNCED

Committees representing the four fire companies comprising the Mount Holly Fire Department have completed arrangements for the celebration of the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the Union Company and also the housing of the new 600-gallon Seagrave pumper, which is to take place on Saturday afternoon, March 31.

The parade, which will be made up of two visiting companies and the four local companies, with their apparatus, and six bands of music, will form on High street and move promptly at 3 o'clock.

The route will be as follows:

Down High to Water, to King, to West Washington, countermarch; to Madison avenue, countermarch; to Washington, to Mill, to Pine, countermarch; to Mill, to Mount Holly avenue, to Garden street, to Main, to Washington and disband at the Union fire house, where the housing and other exercises of the day will take place.

Following the parade, Smith's band of fifty pieces, of Burlington, will give a high-class open-air concert, weather permitting.

Community House Anniversary Soon

Big Week's Program to Open With Fine Service Sunday, April 15

Preparations are being made for the second anniversary of the Moorestown Community House which will be observed the week beginning Sunday, April 15.

The anniversary week program will be well inaugurated with a splendid community meeting Sunday evening with the famous Samuel W. Graffin, of New York's West Side Y. M. C. A., as the chief speaker. He is one of New York's most popular speakers and will have a very interesting message. A recent magazine article on Mr. Graffin was captioned, "A Gentleman and a Scholar." He has been in charge of ship and shore activities and religious work director of Gotham's West Side "Y" for nine years. His topic will be "Religion and Recreation."

The meeting will be much similar to the fine service which was the opening number of last year's anniversary week program. Of course, the wonderful new $6,000 Auditorium Orthophonic, recently presented to the Community House by Mrs. Eldridge Reeves Johnson, will prove an additional feature to this year's activities. Everyone will be welcome to attend the meeting and the presidents of all organizations using the Community House will be on the platform.

The program for the remainder of the week is only in tentative form. According to present arrangements, there will be a community social evening for Monday, card party on Tuesday, dramatics and music Thursday evening and possibly a sports card with the usual "Men's Night" attractions and added features for Friday. The big week, naturally, will conclude with a dance under the direction of the Community House Association Dance Committee.

It is the aim of those in charge to demonstrate, as far as it is possible in one busy week, the full uses and all of the opportunities offered by the Community House as a recreational center. It is hoped to bring all of the facilities of the House into play.

Mrs. F. W. D'Olier, secretary of the Recreation Commission, is arranging Sunday's program. Other members of the Second Anniversary Week Committee are J. Alfred LaConey, Miss Marguerite Lippincott, Irving Hollingshead, E. Russell Perkins and Benjamin P. Rumpeltes, the genial director of Recreation.

AUTO CLUB FINDS THAT CARS GET BETTER CARE

If analysis of the emergency road service records of one of the largest motor clubs in the country reveals the general attitude of motorists toward their cars, great progressive strides are to be made in the elimination of the petty maladies that delay and stall the individual car owner.

This is the substance of a statement issued by the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club of Newark, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association and which points out that indifferent car-care is responsible for more than 50 per cent. of the calls for emergency assistance.

When Electricity Works in the Kitchen

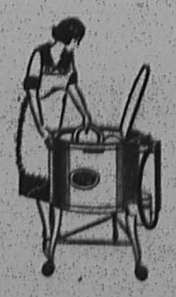

WHEN Electricity Operates the Refrigerator it becomes a clean dry cabinet, checking the growth of bacteria, enemy of pure foods. Electric refrigeration is self-regulating and continuous—even the most perishable foods may be stored in the electrically-cooled box for days at a time, and lose nothing of their flavor or crispness.

Electric refrigerating units to fit your present box, or electric refrigerator cabinets complete, may be purchased on the divided payment plan for a small sum down and seventeen months to pay balance.

When a Specially Designed Unit Furnishes Light

It banishes gloom and glare from the kitchen, and brings instead a soft pleasing radiance that lights up every corner of the table or range or refrigerator. A switch plug on the cord permits the use of an electric appliance. Made of porcelain enameled steel that will not discolor. On terms $9.50—$1.50 down and $1 a month with the light bill.

When Electricity Washes The Dishes

It washes and rinses, sterilizes and dries them! The dishes do not move in the dish washer, obviating the danger of breakage. The electric dish washer is equipped with rollers so that dishes may be easily transferred to the pantry shelves!

The G. R. S. dish washer automatically cleans and sterilizes itself. This labor-saver may be purchased on the convenient terms of 10 per cent down and 10 per cent monthly.

When Electricity Provides Kitchen Ventilation

The American Blower Fan fits into any window, and supplies correct ventilation for the kitchen. It operates at low speed, insuring quietness and long service.

Prue Grapes on Arbors

Grape vines on arbors are usually expected to furnish shade and act as a screen, as well as produce fruit. Pruning decides how well they serve these three purposes.

A very light pruning preserves the density and general shape of the vines but is likely to cause poor, short growth and a small crop of inferior bunches. On the other hand, if the vines are pruned severely, as they are in commercial vineyards, the fruit will be of much better quality, but so few canes are left that very little shade will will be produced in early summer.

The one-year-old, smooth-barked, light brown canes are the ones which bear the fruit buds. For the best production of first-class fruit, a mature Concord vine should carry 40 to 60 buds after pruning. Where shade is desired, this number of buds may be considerably increased, although the clusters produced will not be so large. These each bearing 8 to 10 buds, or on a buds may be left on a few canes, number of short spurs, preferably the former. Such canes should be tied in at least two places to prevent their being broken off by the weight of the fruit.

Old neglected vines will probably have new wood only at the ends of long, crooked trunks. If as much as possible of the old wood is removed, leaving only enough to support the one-year-old canes which were left to produce the crop, growth will be more vigorous, pruning will be easier next year, and the general appearance of the arbor will be greatly improved.

Treating Seed Corn

Information has previously gone out from this office to the effect that increased yields secured by treating seed corn with one of the several organic mercury compounds on the market cannot be depended upon in this state. The reason for this is that one of the organisms causing corn root rot in the Middle West, where most of the results have been secured, is not prevalent in this state. The only benefit that might be secured for treating seed corn in this section is where corn is planted very early. The cool, wet conditions which sometimes exist when the crop is planted early retard germination and frequently result in the rotting of the seed, due to the activities of the various soil fungii. The presence of a film of the organic mercury compounds on the seed would probably protect it from the rot-producing organisms and an improved stand would result.

However, it is common practice to plant seed corn thick for the purpose of assuring a good stand, and then thinning out the unnecessary stalks. Where this plan is followed, it is questionable if any results can be noted through the use of the seed treatments.

The various materials used for treating the seed are inexpensive, cost of the material amounting to about 5c an acre, and therefore it may be worthy of a trial. To those who contemplate using any one of the various materials that are now on the market that are being recommended for this purpose we would like to make the following suggestions: (1) To use a tightly closed container to mix the dust with the seed and to mix for five or ten minutes in order to assure a thorough coating of the seed; (2) To use a wet handkerchief over the nose and mouth, in order that the dust is not inhaled; (3) Treated seed should not be fed to livestock, and should be labeled "poison"; (4) To use two ounces of dust per bushel of seed; (5) Treated seed may not drop as rapidly as untreated seed; therefore, the planted should be set accordingly.

Rather extensive field tests will be conducted in the state this year by members of the Department of Plant Pathology of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Two such tests will be conducted in Burlington county, one at the farm of William Hookstra, Beverly, and the other at the farm of A. L. Richie, Riverton.

Dormant Spray for Peaches

Some time ago a statement was made by the County Agricultural Extension Office, Mt. Holly, to the effect that no dormant fungicidal spray was being recommended for peaches in Burlington County. This spray is ordinarily applied for the control of peach leaf curl, and inasmuch as curl is of no economic important in this section, it was suggested that the growers omit the application of lime sulfur. Growers should not take this recommendation to mean that a dormant spray should not be applied to peaches. Where over-wintering eggs of the European red mite are present in the peach orchard, especially when peaches are interplanted in the apple orchard, a dormant spray of oil should be applied to the trees. This spray should be applied before the buds swell, and should be completed after green shows on the trees.

The material recommended is stabilized oil emulsion containing at least 66% actual lubricating oil, used at the rate of 3 gallons to 100 gallons of water, or one of the miscible oils to be used at the manufacturer's recommended rate of dilution. In spraying for red mite, the under sides of all branches and twigs should be well covered. A thorough job is essential for successful control.

Caution should be exercised not to apply any of the oil sprays when the temperature is below 45 degrees Fahrenheit. If one is spraying during the afternoon, and indications are that the temperature will drop below 45 degrees in the evening, spraying should cease in ample time to permit the trees that have already been sprayed to become thoroughly dried.

On apples, the growers has the choice of applying one of two different sprays, depending on the conditions existing in his individual orchard. If over-wintering eggs of the European red mite are present, he should use an oil spray, the same as is recommended above for peaches. This should be applied at the delayed dormant period, which begins when the fruit buds show silvery, and ends when the leaves stick out from the fruit buds, the size of squirrel ears.

In addition to controlling European red mite, the oil spray will control all forms of scale. Black Leaf 50, which is a free nicotine product, may be added to the oil at the rate of 1½ pints to 100 gallons of spray, and may be applied for the control of aphids.

In the orchard that is free from European red mite, concentrated lime sulfur solution, diluted at the rate of 1-9, may be used. This will control scale and protect the new foliage against apple scab, in case scab infection is occurring at the time. The regular nitocine sulfate, commonly referred to as Black Leaf 40, should be included at the rate of 1½ pints to 100 gallons of spray, for the control of aphids.

Treatment of Peas

Every year there are a few growers who report fertilizer burning on peas. It is evident that peas are very susceptible to fertilizer injury, especially during the germination period. All the principal fertilizer elements will cause injury if placed in direct contrast with germinating peas. Of the various fertilizer ingredients used, nitrate of soda is the most injurious. Muriate of potash is less toxic and acid phosphate is by far the least injurious of the three. Bone meal may cause considerable decay if placed in direct contact with the seed.

If fertilizer is applied in the row, a thorough mixing with the soil is absolutely essential to prevent injury to germination. Excellent results have been obtained from making an application of acid phosphate and potash in the row at planting time, and the nitrogen applied as a side dressing after the plants are a few inches high. An application of fertilizer on top of the row after planting will prevent injury to germination and will give good results. This method is practical except on certain soils and under certain weather conditions.

The most important fertilizer ingredient for peas depends on the previous cropping system, and fertilizer applications made to a particular field. Under certain conditions either nitrogen, phosphorus or potash may show the greatest benefit.

Pea root rot may be partially controlled by applications of fertilizer. Preliminary tests conducted over the pasts two years indicate that potash may be especially beneficial in reducing the amount of root rot. Black foot rot has been found to be much more severe on thin, unfertilized soils. The amount of infection and the injurious effects may be reduced by liberal applications of fertilizer.

Last year there were quite a few pea growers who tried out the value of inoculating seed at time of planting. A number of these growers found out that they already had natural inoculation in their soil. A number of other growers who tried artificial inoculation were successful in securing it for various reasons, largely because of the high degree of acidity. There were still other growers who did succeed in securing successful inoculation as a result of their applying artificial inoculation to the seed, and these same men are satisfied that the inoculation gave them a material increase in yield.

It should be borne in mind that inoculation is not being recommended as a cure for all pea ailments. Under conditions of high fertility, it is very doubtful if any benefit will be derived from the use of commercial inoculants. On the other hand, in fields that are deficient in organic matter and lacking in soil fertility where attention has been paid to correcting the soil acidity, inoculation may be expected to show a material increase in yield. The commercial inoculant is so inexpensive that it does not seem that the pea growers would take a chance in not using it. Mr. Stevenson, at Cedarville, in Cumberland County, is always cited as an example of a grower who takes this attitude. Mr. Stevenson inoculates his seed every year regardless of the fact that he already natural inoculation.

NEW P. S. BUSES

First Shipment of Gas-Electric Machines Arrived Monday

The first shipment of 331 gas-electric bus chassis in connection with the order recently placed by Public Service Coordinated Transport with the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Company was made March 26. Matthew R. Boylan, vice president in charge of operation, with Martin Schreiber, general manager in charge of plant, of the company, have returned from Detroit where they inspected the work under way at the new $8,000,000 Pontiac plant.

Three chassis a day will be turned out up to April 15, and five a day there after until the completion of the order late in June.

The bus bodies are being built in the Newark shops of Public Service and will be ready to assemble as soon as the chassis arrive.

"He's a hard-hearted brute."

"How come?"

"His wife said she was going home to her mother and he laughed out loud."

"Why?"

"He knew that her mother had gone home to grandmother the night before."

"That puts another face on the mater," shouted the mischievous youngster as he threw acid on his mother's face.

"I need a rest," remarked the hard-working student. Therewith, he walked over to his desk calendar and took a day off."

"This is the last time I get stewed," muttered Freddy the souse as the cannibal chief dropped him into the kettle.

Screams came from beneath the trolley car. "Another case of the woman at the bottom of it," remarked the confirmed cynic.

FIREMEN BUSY

The Palmyra Fire Department answered three alarms this week, none of which resulted in any serious damage.

Monday a grass fire that broke out in a peach orchard on West Broad street was extinguished with little trouble.

Early Wednesday morning the company was called out to fight a grass fire near William's coal yard. The fire, for a time, menaced the buildings at the coal yard, but was quickly brought under control.

About 11.30 Wednesday morning the firemen answered a call at 708 Parry avenue, Palmyra. This was also a grass fire, but on account of it being in a built up neighborhood the company was called and put out the fire before any damage was done.

Palmyra Plans Baseball Team

Community Movement Hopes to Regain Past Prestige in Athletics

A definite move was made to place Palmyra in its rightful position as far as athletics are concerned at a meeting of the Palmyra Community Movement in the P. O. S. of A. Hall Friday evening.

At the previous meeting a committee consisting of James Hartley, Carl Thomas and DeWitt Morris was appointed to interview the Field Club Board of Directors and their report was made by Mr. Hartley. Mr. Hartley said arrangements had been made with the Field Club whereby the Community Movement could lease the grounds for the rest of the year by payment of a sum necessary to meet carrying charges on the property. This amount was set at $250 for which the newly formed organization shall have full rights to the grounds and have the privilege of sub-letting if they wish.

The committee was authorized to sign th elease and complete arrangements with the Field Club.

"Jim" Rapp, who is to be manager of the baseball team, suggested that Palmyra enter the Burlington County League. The league will probably consist of teams from Riverside, Delanco, Florence, Vincentown, Medford, Moorestown and Palmyra. A vote was taken in which his suggestion was approved and steps will be taken to accept the invitation extended by the league if the franchise is still open.

Games Every Other Saturday

Under this arrangement there will be games played at home every other Saturday and a few twilight games. In these games the "home" team will retain the entire gate receipts and there will be no guarantee necessary in order to get teams to come here. On holidays games will be played in the morning and afternoon and the gate will be split 50-50 between the two teams.

In order to obtain the league franchise it will be necessary to pay $100 to the treasurer which sum will be refunded at the end of the season less some small expenses estimated at about twenty dollars.

The agreement with the Field Club calls for payment of the $250 in five monthly installments of $50 each, beginning May 15. The question of how to raise this money was discussed. Mr. Wilson suggested that season tickets admitting one to all league games played at home except holidays be sold for $5.00 each. This suggestion met with general approval but no vote was taken, it being suggested that final arrangements should be formulated by an executive committee to be appointed and later submitted for approval.

The temporary committee of James Hartley, Carl Thomas and DeWitt Morris was appointed as the permanent executive committee. Richard Wilson was elected chairman and George T. Becton was elected secretary and treasurer.

Grounds Committee

A grounds committee of "Pete" Jenkins, "Tommie" Schwink and Clayton Weikman was appointed with Joe Stack as chairman.

The finance committee will be composed of Walter D. Lamon, Wilbur Crane, George Snyder, William Jenkins, Robert Cook, Ralph Rivers, Mrs. Saltmer and Mrs. M. F. King.

Before adjournment Mr. Wilson made a short talk in which he pointed out the advantages of local athletics and civic enterprises and suggested that all present give some serious thought to the future of such movements in Palmyra and go out and talk it to their friends and the townspeople in general with the idea of creating enough interest that Palmyra may have a real civic center in the not-to-far-distant future. He stressed the need of a Community House where a suitable auditorium and indoor athletic facilities would be available.

A great many Palmyra people are of the opinion that such a building would be a great thing for Palmyra, but consider the time when such a thing will be possible as several years in the future. If enough people are interested the proposition will not be so vague as it may seem at first thought.

PHILATHEA NOTES

Moorestown Auto Kills Pedestrian

Intoxicated Man Struck by Car Driven by Ralph T. Rommell

John Slezeskis, 43 years old, of Adams street, Riverside, was struck and killed by a Ford sedan driven by Ralph T. Rommell, of East Third street, Moorestown, on State Highway, Burlington, Sunday evening about 11 o'clock.

The man was rushed to the Burlington Emergency Hospital but was dead when the institution was reached. His arms were broken and his head was badly injured.

An examination by Dr. E. R. Mulford and Dr. Richard Anderson, both of Burlington, revealed that the man, who was staggering along the road at the time he was hit by the Moorestown auto, was intoxicated. A small bottle containing some "moonshine" was found in the man's clothes.

Coroner Benjamin Farmer, Burlington, was just ahead of the Moorestown car. Mr. Farmer said that he was compelled to jerk his car to the side of the road to avoid hitting the man who was staggering.

Rommell was accompanied by Raymond Ward, of West Third street. After hitting the man, their machine plunged into a telephone pole, causing considerable damage. Both Moorestown youths escaped injury.

The dead man has a wife and an 18-year-old son in Lithuania. He was planning to send for them to come to this country. He had been a resident of Burlington for a number of years previous to moving to Riverside.

PALMYRA ARTISANS

The regular meeting of the Palmyra Assembly No. 65, A. O. M. P., was held March 20. Those brothers who did not attend missed an opportunity of a big night. The first prize was won by Brother Harry Scheble, the second by Edward Leaming and the main prize, a beautiful windsor chair, by brother Hilton Smith. A special prize donated by a brother who doesn't want his name mentioned was won by Brother Charles Jobe. If you want to know the name of the donor, ask one of the officers and he will set you straight.

The surprise spoken of previously was the attendance of the Pine Patrol in its beautiful uniforms. The Patrol gave a very pleasing drill and was voted a prize winner. Chief Woodsman Brother Horace Finney was the leader. There was a debate by speakers of great renown and a wonderful entertainment of five acts.

If you missed this meeting, come out to the next. There are more surprises for you.
