Phila. Firemen Visit Riverton

Jim McNeil, Former Riverton Fireman, Brings Seven as Guests

Monday evening of this week eight Philadelphia firemen visited the Riverton Fire Company.

Chief Armstrong of the local fire department had arranged for a drill so that the visitors might see how the Riverton boys worked and offer suggestion as to how the fighting of fires could be improved upon by the home town smoke-eaters.

The rain, however, prevented the program, as planned, from being carried out. With about 25 of the Riverton firemen gathered about the visitors they told of experiences they had had in the fire service of Philadelphia.

Sandwiches and coffee were prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary and were enjoyed by all.

After the sandwiches and coffee had been made to disappear the men present turned to a humorous trend. The Philadelphia Firemen told jokes and stories on each other and soon these eight men were telling tales about the other fellow to get square—and what yarns a Philadelphia fireman can spin!

The visitors were Jim McNeil, former member of the Riverton Fire Company; Lieutenant Joffe, hosemen Sharp, Dunlap, Miller and O'Mara, all from Jim's station at 65th and Woodland avenue. G. Holt, a man with 34 years' service in back of him, came out with the boys, and what he knew about Jim was plenty. Assistant Chief Glatz, of the Falcon Fire Company in Delaware County was also a guest of the Riverton Company.

Mr. Diehl, of the new Riverside Park Company, and several of his men were present to learn what they could about fire fighting.

Enjoy Anniversary at Walt Whitman

Splendid Program Presented at Popular Camden Theatre This Week

The anniversary program at the Walt Whitman Theatre at 45th street and Westfield avenue, Camden, was enjoyed by scores of Palmyra and Riverton folks this week.

Everybody reported that the popular playhouse had fairly outdone itself in honor of its first birthday. The show presented each evening was described as "one hundred per cent. entertainment" and every act was a big hit.

The feature attractions were John Barrymore in "When a Man Loves"; Vincent Carr's Orchestra, Ohman & Arden, piano duetists, on the Vitaphone; The Admirals, vocal harmonists, on the Vitaphone, and Bobby Heath, the popular vaudeville artist, on the stage as master of ceremonies.

The feature picture for next Friday and Saturday brings to the screen for the first showing one of the screen's finest crook dramas.

Featured in the cast are Claire Windsor, Antonio Moreno and Eddie Gribbon, and the supporting players are of equal merit and high standard.

The plot of the story is one of intense drama, mystery, human interest, romance and love, and gives forth an intensely interesting story told in a most gripping way.

The surrounding program will be one of unusual entertainment, embracing as it does, not only three acts of high class vaudeville of exceptional merit, the Movietone News, which brings to you the news of the day in both sight and sound, and in addition to all this there will be one of the best orchestras ever brought to a theatre in this part of the State. Vincent Carr's Musical Merrymakers will entertain with an unusual treat in modern music.

CARD PARTY AND FROLIC

Don't forget the card party and frolic to be given by the B. V. M. Sodality of the Sacred Heart Church.

When? THIS Saturday evening, June 9.

Bridge, pinochle, "500" and euchre will be played, for which pretty and useful prizes will be given.

HAINES-REIDENBAKER

Miss Susan M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reidenbaker, and Mahlon Marcel Haines, were married Saturday at four o'clock in the Moravian Church at Five Points.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Ann Reidenbaker, as maid of honr, and Miss Etta O'Donnell and Miss Laura Banif were bridesmaids. The flower girl was Eleanor Cotton. The groom was attended by his brother, Harry Haines.

The bride was gowned in white georgette and wore a veil trimmed with lace and held in place by orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was white roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor wore a dress of pink georgette, a pink picture hat and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in canary yellow georgette, with picture hats, and carried red roses. The flower girl wore a dainty blue dress and carried a basket of flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and early that evening the happy couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will reside on Fork Landing road.

LEGION AUXILIARY

All mmbers of the Ladies Auxiliary of Post Rodgers, American Legion, Palmyra, are invited to attend the big rally at Roebling, Saturday, June 9. Exercises start at 3.30 p. m. and there will be "something doing" every minute thereafter, including a big parade, "Chow," Legion "Wildcat" Hour and last, but by no means least, a military ball in the Auditorium.

A good time is promised, so everyone join us—Saturday afternoon, June 9. You who have cars, bring the ones who haven't! Be at the Roebling Legion Home by 3.30 p. m.

The Auxiliary wishes to thank everyone for their support during our Poppy Sale. To the members of the Civics Club, who have helped with this sale, we have already expressed our thanks.

The School Award to be made by the Auxiliary will be presented by our President, Mrs. T. M. D'Autrechy at the commencement exercises this evening. The award for Riverton school will be given at their commencement exercises next Wednesday evening, June 13.

62 Will Graduate from Palmyra Hi

Commencement Exercises Will be Held in School Auditorium Tonight

Sixty two young men and women of Palmyra, Riverton and vicinity will be graduated from the Palmyra High School at Commencement exercises to be held in the High School Auditorium tonight.

Diplomas will be presented by Charles W. Davison, a member of the Board of Education, who will have the privilege of handing one of the prized certificates to his son, Wilbur S. Davison, a member of this year's graduating class.

The Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. George Lockett, Pastor of the Central Baptist Church at the morning services last Sunday. Arthur C. James, Ph.D., of Philadelphia, will address the graduates tonight. He is said to be one of the most able speakers ever heard in this vicinity and no doubt will have an inspiring message for his listeners.

Jack Eisley, track and court star, is the president of the class. Virginia Good is vice-president; Ethel McCord, secretary, and Edward Hutchins, treasurer. The class motto is "Labor, non fortuna, felicitati", the colors garnet and gray and the floral emblem the red rose.

Resigns From School Board

President Murray C. Boyer Tenders Resignation; Effective at Once

The resignation of Murray C. Boyer as member and president of the Riverton School Board came as a surprise to his fellow members at the board meeting Monday night of this week. Mr. Boyer addressed a letter to the board tendering his resignation under date of June 4, to become effective immediately. No reason for his action was given.

S. L. Warren, vice-president, will occupy the chair until another president is elected. Mr. Boyer's retirement will leave a vacancy in the board which will probably be filled by appointment.

The property committee was authorized to have the necessary repairs made as usual during the summer months, including the scrubbing of the floors throughout the building. Mrs. C. P. Mayfield reported briefly on the meeting she attended at the nurses' home which was addressed by Dr. Marcus W. Newcomb, superintendent of the County Tuberculosis Hospital at New Lisbon. Dr. Newcomb, she said, stressed the necessity for a thorough examination of school children twice a year, and for school nurses to to follow up the recommendations made by the examining physician to see that the necessary corrections are effected.

Examinations Superficial

Dr. Newcomb said that many school examinations were so superficial that they were little more than inspections. He said that many children who were looked upon as backward pupils would be able to keep up with their grade if the physical defects pointed out by the school physician were remedied.

The subject of school nurse for Riverton came up for discussion, and further information as to various plans submitted was asked for by members of the board.

Miss Chew pointed out how valuable a school nurse would be in several cases which she cited.

Valedictorian

Edward Hutchins will be valedictorian at the Palmyra High School this year, and under the standing offer of a reward of $20 in gold for pupils from Riverton graduating with first or second honors, he will receive the prize this year. The presentation will be made by Miss Chew. Virginia Good, another Riverton pupil, graduated third in her class. Several Riverton pupils at Palmyra High School were exempt from their examinations this year.

In Riverton 76 pupils were neither absent nor tardy and will receive the usual award of books.

On motion of Mr. Clifton, the board voted to send a suitable bouquet of flowers to Professor A. S. Griffith, principal of the Palmyra High School, who is ill at his home.

Miss Chew's Report

The graduation exercises will be held Wednesday evening, June 13, and school will close on the fifteenth. Miss Chew submitted her report which was in part as follows:

Miss Chew's Report

The highest percentage of attendance was in grade 4, 98.7 per cent and next highest in grade 3, 98.6 per cent.

Riverton won two third prizes in the County Contest. The sixth grade in arithmetic and the seventh grade in spelling.

In the eighth grade State Examinations Riverton's median was higher than that of either State or County in all subjects. These examinations were given May 1, and under new County rules results are considered as one-third in computing standings for eligibility to High School.

Field Day was satisfactory from the school standpoint. The children worked well and had a good time. We are grateful to the Board of Education for the new victrola, and to the chairman of the Physical Training Committee for the work done to prepare the field for our use.

The Parent-Teacher Association is rounding up the pupils who will enter school for the first time in September, with the co-operation of Dr. Rogers, our medical inspector.

The following bills were ordered paid:

REINOEHL-CLARK

Miss Bessie Clark and George Chaney Reinoehl, of Germantown, were married in Christ Church, Riverton, Saturday, June 2, at high noon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. S. Lewis.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, James C. Clark, and was attended by her sister, Miss Doris Clark, as maid of honor. The best man was John Reinoehl, a brother of the groom. The bride wore white crepe and a bridal veil fastened with orange blossoms, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was dressed in pale green georgette and carried pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinoehl will live at Elizabethtown, Pa., where Mr. Reinoehl is president of the Reinoehl Motor Car Co.

FLORENCE M. LUTZ

Mrs. Florence M. Lutz, widow of Jacob Lutz, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. C. Horner, 631 Morgan avenue, Palmyra, last Sunday.

Funeral services will be held at two o'clock this afternoon from the late residence with the Rev. J. William Lee officiating. Interment will be made in Glassboro Cemetery with Frank A. Snover in charge.

So far, we have complaints, but want it understood that everybody is invited to t an active part in what we are t ing to do. Suggestions of all kin are welcome. Do not hesitate let us have your ideas if you thi they will be helpful.

Batting Practice

The baseball end of it has be fairly successful, but right now th team seems to be in a battin slump. The boys are doing thei best and are even sore at them selves, so with a little batting prac tice this week, something is bound to happen. Once they are out of the slump, watch them go! If the team makes a fair showing in the first half, who can tell but that they may bring home the bacon in the second half. Never give up hope.

However, now is the time the team needs your support and encouragement at the games, both home and away. Just because the team is having a losing streak doesn't mean that you should lose interest in it. Be a good sport, for while you are enjoying a game of baseball, you are also helping the Community Movement to get under way. This movement in a few years is going to mean a lot to Palmyra and you will be proud to say you had a part in supporting it.

The team is playing at Burlington this Saturday and on Saturday, June 16, at Riverside and hopes are held that the two games will be on the winning side.

On Saturday, June 23, Moorestown is the attraction at home and it is hoped that the largest crowd of the season will be on hand.

FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL

The Riverton Firemen's Carnival, which will be held June 21, 22, 23, will have many new attractions for the kiddies and the grown-ups.

There will be a fish pond for the youngsters and several other new amusements. "Beano" will make its first appearance in Riverton for the kiddies and the grown-ups.

Finding something for the small children to amuse themselves with on the Fourth of July has always been a great problem in Riverton. The Fire Company has arranged to help solve this problem by having a kiddies' party on the Memorial Park grounds. There will be—Oh, I almost forgot—I am not to tell. It is to be a surprise. Mother and Dad, bring your lads and lassies to the party and enjoy the day." More information will be given later.

In order to put over this party the firemen need the support of everyone in the town. Help us so we may show the youngsters a good time on the Fourth.

Committee.

RIVERTON COPS SECOND GAME

Riverton won its second game of the season, Saturday, by slugging two of Philco's pitchers for twelve hits and nine runs.

The features were the hitting and fielding of J. Snyder, and the hitting of Johnny Linton, who secured two two-baggers.

Next Saturday, Riverton will play Kirlin of Philadelphia, who have a strong club this season, having defeated such teams as Corley C. C., Wentz, Olney, Frankford, Cusays, etc.

Long hair, says a women's page note ,will come back slowly, if at all. Bobbed young ladies who are trying to grow it already knew that.

New Store Building Damaged by Fire

Chief of Police C. Morris Beck of Palmyra was first to reach the scene with fire fighting apparatus, consisting of the chemical extinguisher with which the police car was recently equipped. The smoke was so dense the Chief was unable to get close enough to the fire to do any good with the hand extinguisher.

The Parry and Palmyra fire trucks arrived quickly and soon had two hose lines playing on the blaze. The pressure was not very high and it was necessary to connect the pumper before any real headway could be made. The fire was soon brought under control but not before the second floor had been pretty well burned out. The water damaged the plaster on the ceiling and side walls of the first floor to such an extent that it will have to be replaced.

A second alarm was turned in which brought the Riverton Company to the scene.

The floor on which the fire started was occupied by the owner and builder, Wills, as a woodworking shop. No one was in the shop when the fire started. The damage estimated at several hundred dollars, was covered by insurance.

The alarm Thursday night was a rubbish fire at the dump on Highland avenue near Burlington Pike. Some one thought it was a house on fire and called the firemen.

INDEPENDENCE GROUP

The Independence Group held its weekly meeting, Monday, June 7. The meeting was opened by the President who called upon Walter Price for a short prayer.

Plans were completed for the Strawberry Festival to be held June 23 outside of the YMCA building, Palmyra. The tickets are 25c each and entitles the bearer to homemade cake, ice cream and strawberries. All donations of cakes will be appreciated. Phone Riverton 556-W.

LAWN FETE

A lawn fete will be given on the lawn of Christ Church Parish House, Riverton, Wednesday, June 13, 1928, from 3 to 8 p. m. A light supper will be served and there will be various attractions. Tickets, including ice cream, strawberries and homemade cake, 25c.

EPWORTH PICNIC

Palmyra Sunday School Will Enjoy Day at Camp Ockanickon

The annual picnic of the Epworth Sunday School will be held next Wednesday, June 13, at Camp Ockanickon, the Burlington County Y. M. C. A. camp, near Medford. All the buses except one will leave the Church at 12.30 p. m. The other one will wait for the Riverton school children and will not leave until 3.45.

A varied program of amusement have been prepared and as Camp Ockanickon is a wonderful place for a picnic a good time is to be expected by all. A feature of the program will be a baseball game between the married and the single men. Foot races, boating and bathing will have a place in the afternoon's sports.

Ice cream, candies and soft drinks will be on sale at the YMCA canteen on the grounds.

Electric Iron Cause of Fire

Family Out About Two Hours When Fire Breaks Out Upstairs

An electric iron had been left with the switch turned on by Mrs. Rouse when she and her husband left the house about 6.30 that evening. The iron had been left on a small pool table in the sewing room on the second floor. It burned its way through the table and set fire to the floor.

All the windows and doors had been locked and the house was filled with a dense smoke and the wood-Thompson, saw the smoke shortly before 9 o'clock and called the Palwork and furniture on the second floor were scorched by the heat.

The next door neighbor, William myra fire department, which alongwith the Riverton department quickly responded.

The fire fighters were baffled by the smoke in their first effort to locate the center of the blaze, but after breaking in some windows were able to get a stream of water on the fire and extinguish it.

Palmyra's fire chief, Joseph Stack, in forcing open a window, cut his right hand badly. Police Surgeon LeFavor had to take nine stitches in the wound and Chief Stack was considerably weakened by loss of blood.

Several rumors were spread to the effect that a boy or a man had been trapped in the house, but as it turned out the only rescue effected was that of a dog belonging to a young son of the family. The dog had been left in the house and was apparently none the worse for his experience.

LIONS ROARING

New Officers Will be Installed Next Tuesday Evening

New officers of the Palmyra-Riverton Lions Club have been nominated and will be elected and installed at the meeting next Tuesday evening.

Frank A. Kates will be president. "Gus" Weber, vice-president; Raymond Warner, secretary; "Bill" McCamy, treasurer, Merle Schaff, Tail Twister and Walter Lamon, Lion Tamer.

New directors will be "Bill" Lynch, Ben Reilley and Fred Lippincott.

Several Lions will attend a convention at Asbury Park today. Plans are under way for a club baseball team and other summer activities.

MRS. CHARLES PARRY

After a short illness, Anna M. Parry, widow of Charles* Parry, died Friday evening, June 1, at her home, 204 Park avenue, Riverton.

Mrs. Parry,who was born in Pennsylvania, had spent the greater part of her long and busy life in or near Riverton, where she was known to a wide circle of friends for her gentle and bright disposition and her interest in community welfare.

Two weeks ago, while at the railroad station here she suffered a fall in stepping from the railroad station platform, the shock of which caused her fatal illness. Her death took place at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edward V. Bertram, with whom she made her home.

A son of Mrs. Parry, William S. Parry, resides in Miami, Florida, spending part of the year in the old homestead in Cinnaminson township, formerly occupied by his parents. She is also survived by a brother, James J. Sill, of Wyncote, Pa.

Funeral services were held at her home on Park avenue, Monday afternoon, with interment at the Westfield Friends' Burying Ground.

MAY PROCESSION

The annual May processional was held at the Sacred Heart Church, Riverton, last Thursday evening, and was participated in by the small children of the Sunday School and members of the Sodality. Recitations were given by the Misses Gladys Trudell, Marie Clelland, Anna Lochowitz and Margaret Casey. The crowning was done by Miss Winifred Brennan. Father O'Leary, of Villa Nova College, delivered the sermon. This was followed by the Sodality reception of eighteen new members.

JOHN E. JONES

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Snover Funeral Home with interment in the Wrightsville cemetery.

Injured Student Improves Rapidly

Edward Arndt, of Riverside, Convalesces After Explosion in P. H. S.

Edward Arndt, Palmyra High School Senior, who was injured in an explosion in the chemical laboratory in the High School last Thursday morning, is in the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, Camden, where he is reported to be going as well as could possibly be expected under the circumstances.

Although painfully injured his condition was not nearly as serious as reported by many. Immediately after being admitted to the hospital the thumb of his left hand was amputated, and for a while it was feared he might lose two fingers or the entire hand, but that is hardly expected now.

Nearly a hundred bits of glass have been taken from his body, which was badly cut in places. He was cut by flying glass about the face and chest and was considerably weakened by loss of blood. The wonderful first aid work of the hygiene nurse, Miss Olwell, and the quick response of the Palmyra ambulance made it possible for him to arrive at the hospital in better condition than would otherwise have been the case.

Teacher Escapes Injury

The explosion occurred at about 11.30 Thursday morning with only Arndt and one of the teachers, Russell Tieroff, in the laboratory. Mr. Tieroff was sitting at a desk in the other end of the room marking papers. The chemistry teacher was not in the room and no class was in session. Arndt had finished his work and had gone to the laboratory without asking permission.

He was working in the opposite end of the room from where the teacher was sitting.

Suddenly the chemicals with which the boy was working exploded with a deafening roar and Mr. Tieroff, seeming to sense the danger, dropped to the floor, and it was well that he did, as a large piece of debris was hurled past him and through the window behind his chair.

A blinding flash accompanied the explosion and the room was filled with smoke. Mr. Tieroff jumped up and went to the aid of the injured lad and was just in time to see him walking dazedly through the door. It is said that his clothing was on fire when he left the laboratory and the flames had to be beaten out by the teachers and students who quickly recovered from the shock and surprise of the explosion.

Rushed to Hospital

The boy was helped to the clinic room on the first floor where he was given first aid treatment. In the meantime the Palmyra ambulance had been called and was soon on the scene manned by drivers Harold B. Lever and William Huff. Arndt was rushed to the office of Dr. Vorhis, who made an examination without removing him from the ambulance and ordered him taken directly to the hospital. Huff made the run in about 12 minutes, and about a minute later the patient was on the operating table.

Just what caused the explosion is not known and several theories have been advanced. Some seem to think the experiment was being made with ether, as there was a strong odor in the room, but Arndt is said to have had a vial of ether in his pocket and it is thought that this broke and caught fire.

The boy has since said he was using a mixture of potassium chlorate and phosphorous, but chemists say this could not explode without being brought into contact with an open flame. It is not thought that such a mixture could have caused an explosion of such terrific force.

The concussion of the explosion was felt throughout the school building and the noise is said to have been heard by policemen at Broad and Main streets, Riverton, which is over a mile away. Students in the rooms below were sure the roof had been blown off, so violent was the shock.

Laboratory Wrecked

The laboratory itself was a mass of ruin and was locked immediately so as to remain intact in case the authorities wished to make an investigation. Several window panes were broken and broken bottles and pieces of apparatus were strewn all over the room. The table on which the experiment was being made was of heavy oak construction with a top about two inches thick. The table was shattered and a piece of the top, four inches wide and two feet long was split off and blown across the room.

Arndt is the son of Benjamin Arndt, a contractor of 540 Fairview street, Riverside. He is 19 years old and had passed all of his studies and was ready to graduate at the commencement exercises this Thursday.

At the boy's home it was said that he had always been much interested in chemistry and had always been fascinated with the experiments which were performed in the laboratory. They told how a certain experiment which was dangerous inside the building had been performed out on the school grounds early in the season when he was absent. This experiment was not dangerous when done out in the open but is regarded as very dangerous in a closed room. It is thought that he had probably been working on this, as he had expressed regret that he was not present before.

BOYS—ATTENTION!

A new feature will be added to the Fourth of July parade this year in Riverton, and that is a harmonica band, composed of boys under twelve. Boys who would like to be a part of this new feature are requested to telephone Riverton 554-J. First and second prizes will be given.

Convicted Burglar Gets 8-Yr. Sentence

"Tullytown Sue" Sent to State Home; Other Cases Disposed

In the Burlington County Courts at Mount Holly last Thursday, Judge Slaughter rid the county of two offenders against society, one for eight years and the other, a notorious female, was given an indeterminate sentence in the State Home for Women at Clinton. Still a third offender, convicted in the Burlington County Courts on serious charges had appealed his conviction to the Supreme Court, and lost out when the sentence of the lower Court was sustained, had his bail forfeited for non-appearance.

William Ingram, colored, of Cinnaminson, known to the police as "Texas," was the man who went to state prison for eight years—two years each on four charges of breaking, entering and larceny—the places mentioned in the complaints being the office of Joseph Evans, home of Edward Saas, home of Mrs. John Denneler and the store of John Denneler, all of Riverton, while he admitted at the time of his arrest by Trooper Horn of the State Police, that he had entered several other places.

Mrs. Sue Conors, of Burlington who goes by the name of "Tullytown Sue," had retracted her plea of not guilty to keeping a disorderly house in Burlington, and she will go to the State Home for Women.

This woman is an old offender whose offenses in the past have consisted of debauching young girls, running houses of ill repute, sale of liquor, etc.

As usual, when she comes before the bar of justice, she had to be assisted to the rail, but it is said she is quite spry when at liberty.

Nicholas Giordini, of Evesham township, is the man who was convicted of the criminal abuse of an eleven year old girl, which action was sustained by the Supreme Court after an appeal to that body, but he had failed to appear in Court, and as a result his bondsman, Benedetto Luzeri, will be called upon to turn the cash over to the county.

Another old offender before the Court was Mrs. Carrie Middleton, of White street, Mount Holly, a persistent offender against the prohibition laws, and she retracted her former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty, being sentenced to the county jail for forty-five days.

Edward Horton, a son of the notorious Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Horton, of Beverly, who have been regular visitors in the Courts for a number of years, also made a retraction and his pleaded guilty to having beer in his possession when his home was raided.

His counsel, Robert Peacock, gave the young man a very good reputation for sobriety and said he had been employed in Riverside for the past seven years without losing a day, but he was fined $200, the Court feeling that the youth should have learned his lesson from the example set by his parents.

His wife, Ella Horton, had also been indicted for the sale of liquor, but as the husband assumed all responsibility, the case against her was nolle prossed.

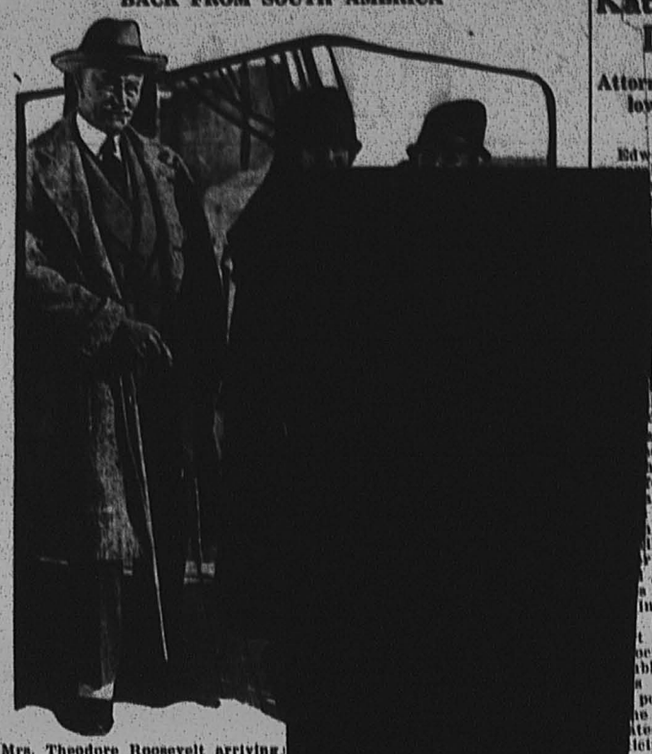

Charles Moser, of Roebling, had seven gallons on hand in his restaurant when the officers raided the place, and he evidently thought it useless to fight the case and he also made a retraction.

He was fined $350.

Francis McKenna, the Maple Shade boy who had been before the Court on a charge of incorrigibility, went back home with his parents for a further respite.

The Court disposed of several Orphans' Court matters and one adoption, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Conover, of Delanco, adding little seven-year-old Doris Mae Simpson to their household.

CAMPBELL HANDLES AUBURN IN LONDON

Famous Driver Who Made World's Record to Handle American Car

Captain Malcolm Campbell, famous English race driver, who set a world's record for speed by driving his 12-cylinder Bluebird 206.956 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Florida, is now affiliated with Auburn, Malcolm Campbell, Ltd., London, having been named distributor for Auburn cars in England.

Campbell, the sensation of the beach speedway, in his 900 horsepower Napier Bluebird, in February smashed the record made by Segrave in 1927 of 203.79 miles an hour, setting a one-way speed of 214.79 miles an hour.

"I have had many tempting offers to take over the London agency for American cars," Campbell said in discussing his franchise, "but I feel that the Auburn car is the best value in America today and the company is without doubt one of the most substantial that is producing cars.

Katzenbach Sets Date for Hearing

Attorney General's Action Follows Former Judge Carey's Probe Demand

Edward L. Katzenbach attorney general, opened the way for a grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities by Democrats in Hudson county last week when he called on former Judge Robert Carey, Jersey City, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, to appear before the grand jury Friday, June 8, and to present his evidence of improper registration in the recent primary election of so-called "One-day" Republicans. This action by the attorney general was his answer to the insistent demands by Judge Carey for an investigation of Hague voting frauds.

Katzenbach promised to attend the grand jury session himself and said that whatever business would be scheduled for that date. At the same time an invitation was extended to Carey who may have evidence bearing on the question to be on hand. He is willing that the entire matter be threshed out before the grand jury the attorney general contends to differ with Carey as to the proper interpretation of the election laws. In quoting the law in an attempt to establish a crime by the Democrats said to have voted the Republican ballot boxes, Carey omitted an important provision, it is pointed out.

The act provides, Katzenbach related, that the voter who did not participate to vote in either ballot boxes in the subsequent primary, after voting in the Republican primary it is alleged that the Democrats who were Republicans for a year contributed to the 20,000 voters enrolled in Carey's home town by former State Senator Morgan F. Larson, successful candidate for the Republican nomination.

TO HOLD FLOWER SHOW ON MONDAY

Garden Department of Woman's Club Will Conduct Affair; Tea Table New Feature

Moorestown's annual flower show will be held in the gymnasium of the Community House, Monday, June 11. The exhibition will be open to the public from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 9.30 in the evening. There will be no charge for admission.

The flower show this year is being conducted by the Garden Department of the Moorestown Woman's Club instead of the Improvement Association as it has been for the past several years.

This year in addition to the floral exhibition, there will be a tea table. Cash prizes will be awarded to children.

Exhibits will be received at the Community House from 8.30 in the morning until noon. Programs may be obtained at Stiles' Drug Store, Service Pharmacy ,and the Community House.

BRIDGE NETS 12,000 FROM HOLIDAY CARS

Fourty-eight thousand vehicles which crossed the Camden bridge Memorial Day added almost $12,000 to the treasury of the Bridge Commission. The exact receipts for the holiday were $11,780.25, from 47,685 vehicles. This was an increase of 2,177 vehicles and $1,111.45 in toll over last Memorial Day.

NEW COURT HOUSE CORNERSTONE HAS A TEXAS TOAD

Eastland, Tex.—A Texas horned toad was entomed in the new court house cornerstone here. Three months ago, when the old court house was torn down, a horned toad was removed from the cornerstone, witnesses said, after 31 years of imprisonment.

Four Vacancies in School Faculties

Palmyra School Board Must Seek New Teachers; Await Survey Report

At a meeting of the Palmyra School Board last Thursday, the teacher's committee reported the resignation of four of the teachers, Mr. Hurlock, Miss Goepp, Miss Lodge and Mrs. Delong. The vacancies caused by these resignations have not as yet been filled.

The survey of the school by the State experts was finished about two weeks ago but a report will not be made until about July 1, as this time will be required to check up the papers and make a summary of the results.

Mr. Davison, as chairman of the property committee, made a report as to the damage done by the explosion in the chemical laboratory and said the room was locked and would remain so until the outcome of the boy's injuries could be ascertained.

Rules for Laboratory

A resolution was passed forbidding any of the students being allowed in the laboratory except under the direct supervision of the chemistry instructor. The room is to be kept locked at all times when the instructor is not in charge.

The sanitary condition of the Spring Garden Street school came up for discussion and the property committee was instructed to take steps to correct the conditions complained of.

A ruling was passed that pupils must vacate the building not later than five o'clock each day unless under the direction of the teachers.

The work of Marie V. Olwell, the hygiene nurse, was highly praised by members of the board. She proved her value when Professor Griffith collapsed some time ago and when Edward Arndt was injured in the explosion last Monday. It was said that her work in these two cases more than justified her expense to the school.

Certificates Received

Certificates were received to be presented to both the fourth and fifth grades for winning third place in a spelling contest held at Burlington on May 4.

The kindergarten question was again brought up by some of the parents who were present, but it was decided to take no action until the report of the survey was made.

This AUBURN STRAIGHT EIGHT for $1695 Gives More Value than can be Bought in Any Other Car for $2000

This Will Surprise You;

Listed below, with names omitted, are some of the principal SIX cylinder Sedans and prices. Comparison shows what overwhelming value the Straight Eight Auburn gives at $1695.

NAME	WHEELBASE	MODEL	PRICE
Omitted	128"	Six Sedan	$1995
Omitted	127"	Six Sedan	1925
Omitted	120"	Six Sedan	1495
Omitted	118"	Six Sedan	1795
Omitted	116"	Six Sedan	1585
Omitted	119"	Six Sedan	1985
Omitted	122"	Six Sedan	1950
Omitted	121"	Six Sedan	1845
Omitted	120"	Six Sedan	1895
Omitted	126"	Six Sedan	1995
AUBURN	125"	STRAIGHT EIGHT Sedan	1695

If you think this is exaggerated, we invite you to COMPARE and DRIVE the Auburn Straight Eight Model 88 in competition with ANY and ALL of the above cars and SEE FOR YOURSELF. THAT TEST is the ONLY way to make sure YOU will get the MOST for YOUR money.

See what $1695 BUYS;

The strongest frame under any automobile.

Seven inches deep. Three inches wide. And doubled half way back from front. Radiator remains steady at all speeds.

Not six but EIGHT cylinders. And a STRAIGHT Eight at that. More horsepower than any stock car per size. Faster, smoother, more flexible.

Dual carburetors and manifolding. Improved head and port design. Bohnalite steel strut pistons and Lynite rods give maximum efficiency with minimum weight and less pressure on bearings therefore longer wear.

Ozone-proof high tension ignition wires.

Wires housed in nickled conduits. Coils mounted to insure they are always dry. Cam and lever type steering. Not even the smallest car steers and parks easier than Auburn.

Transmission, clutch, universal joint and axle have all been improved and brought up to new degrees of efficiency and endurance to be on a par with the greatly increased horsepower of the motor.

Four wheel, hydraulic internal expanding brakes.

Compensating cylinder on brakes. This means the pressure system is connected with an auxiliary supply tank that keeps the braking lines full, insuring instant, easy and positive action at all times.

Bijur chassis lubricating system. One push with foot and you thoroughly lubricate 21 points in the chassis. Only Auburn, Packard and Rolls Royce have this priceless improvement.

The seating ANGLE is the most comfortable you ever sat at. Try it and see. Upholstery springs are of de luxe type and only genuine curled hair is used.

The controls are most conveniently located. You drive with LESS EFFORT than any other car. Find THAT out for yourself too.

No "reaching" for lever. It is right there. All controls are located on instrument panel including the starter button.

No scuffing of shoes searching for the starter on the floor. If you stop your motor on a hill, keep your foot on the brakes and start with the hand-button. THAT is safety. All pedals are rubber covered to protect ladies shoes.

And you get all of this and MORE for $1695.

But the final test of ANY automobile is WHAT it does and HOW it does it with YOU at the wheel. Compare and drive this Straight Eight Auburn Model 88.

We MEAN it when we say that its value is so great; that it gives so much MORE for so much LESS than any comparable automobile, that all we have to do is to let it SELL ITSELF.

No wonder this Model 88 is selling "like hot cakes"—there never was such a marvelous performing, enduring, car of such overwhelming value offered any where near the price.

If THAT sounds like exaggeration—remember our promise—make the car ITSELF prove it, or you won't be asked to buy.

6-66 Roadster $995; 6-66 Sport Sedan $1095; 6-66 Sedan $1145; 6-66 Cabriolet $1145; 76 Sedan $1395; 76 Sport Sedan $1295; 76 Cabriolet $1395; 76 Roadster $1195; 8-77 Roadster $1245; 8-77 Sport Sedan $1295; 8-77 Sedan $1595; 8-77 Cabriolet $1395; 88 Sedan $1695; 88 Sport Sedan $1595; 88 Cabriolet $1695; 88 Roadster $1495; 88 Speedster $1695; 88 Phaeton Sedan $1895; 115 Sedan $2195; 115 Sport Sedan $2095; 115 Cabriolet $2195; 115 Roadster $1995; 115 Speedster $2195; 115 Phaeton Sedan $2395.

Aero Club Hears of Detroit Show

H. H. Longaker Gives Interesting Talk at Meeting Monday Evening

"A Trip Through the All America Aircraft Show," was the subject of a very interesting and instructive address by H. H. Longaker, of Moorestown, who is president of the Burlington County Aero Club, before the meeting of the club in the Moorestown Community House on Monday night. Mr. Longaker was in charge of one of the lacquer exhibits at the show and witnessed the almost unbounded enthusiasm found there for eight days during the exhibition.

"The show comprised an area of 166,000 square feet of floor space, with a total of 83 airplanes, exhibited by 44 different manufacturers," said Mr. Longaker. "An idea of the interest shown by the visitors is obtained when it is noted that over 200,000 people visited the show, a greater attendance than at any Detroit Automobile Show ever held. It is the intention of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, who sponsored the exhibit, to make it an annual affair."

Galaxy of Models

The speaker personally conducted the club members past each exhibit and commented instructively on each. Such makes of aircraft as Waco's, Eagle Rock's, Laird's Swallow's, Travelair's, Monocoupe's, etc., were visualized for the audience and priced all the way from $2800, to $50,000, depending on the size, motors and appointments.

Mr. Longaker commented enthusiastically on the riot of color that the galaxy of ships presented to the visitor as he passed up and down the aisles. "No bird house in a zoo, with its multicolored feathers from the tropics," he said, "could present a more varied or more brilliant array of rainbow hues than these show birds of the American Aircraft Industry."

The speaker described the Ford Airport at Detroit—one of the most completely appointed in America—where a number of the aircraft manufacturers also had ships for demonstration purposes. This airport is the only private field that has a mooring mast suitable for mooring the Los Angeles. Another feature of this field is that it is closed to all aerial operations on Sunday, except in cases of great emergency.

Army Squadron Cooperated

One of the most sensational features of the show week, said Mr. Longaker, was the army pursuit squadron of 19 ships, in six units of threes, and one lone tail guardian, which soomed over the city of Detroit every morning from Selfridge Field. Major Lamphier, who is now associated with Colonel Lindbergh, was in charge of these aerial demons of speed.

It is hoped, said Mr. Longaker, to have a similar show at some city in the East during the year, and he expressed the desire that as many members of the Burlington County Aero Club as possible could arrange to be present at such a wonderful exhibit.

An aircraft show will be held in Chicago for a week in December, to be followed by the National Aeronautical Conference in Washington, D. C., the week before Christmas.

The members of the local club greatly appreciated Mr. Longaker's address which was loudly applauded and which concluded the meeting.

SIX-CENT VERDICT

Colored Woman Brought Suit Against County Officials

A verdict for six cents damages was returned against Sheriff Haines and his deputy, Roscoe C. Shinn, in suit brought by Ida Bruce Waters, a Bevery colored woman, and heard before Circuit Judge Oliphant at Trenton last week.

The woman demanded $25,000 in her complaint but the fact that she got even a six-cent verdict caused some surprise among those familiar with the circumstances on which the woman started suit for damages.

The case arose from an ejectment suit against the Bruce woman on which there were court costs amounting to $49.49, which the defendent refused or was unable to pay. In default it became necessary to take her to the Mount Holly jail. No force was necessary or was used, the sheriff and his deputy declare, in taking their prisoner to the county seat, but when she arrived at the jail she loudly insisted that she would not submit to being locked up. Finally of the sheriff's office at the time, Constable Harry Bate, an attache took the woman by the arm and without violence, led her to the woman's wing in the jail. There she remained for several hours and until her daughter arrived and paid the court costs.

COURT FOR BOW-WOWS

Chicago.—Judge Charles McKinley has been chosen to preside over the dog court—believed to be the first of its kind in the country—where only cases concerning dogs will be tried. It will not be necessary for dog defendants to be present at all cases. Vagrant dogs that are picked up will be tried at the court and dogs allowed to go without a muzzle will also have their casses aired in this unique judicial chamber.

It does absolutely no good to try to guess a woman's age. No man would have th ecourage to tell the truth if he were certain of it.

N. J. Republicans Solid for Hoover

Mott Predicts Every Delegate Will Vote for Commerce Secretary

Chairman E. Bertram Mott, of the Republican State Committee, has predicted every delegate from this State to the Kansas City convention will vote for nomination of Herbert Hoover.

"I expect Secretary Hoover to be nominated for President on the very first ballot," said Mr. Mott. "New Jersey was one of the first States in the Union to favor his nomination and the delegates, I feel sure, will place themselves on record for his immediate nomination, realizing he is the strongest man in the party to carry the Republican party to victory in November.

"In our State Platform to be adopted in convention in Trenton, we will commend the policies of President Coolidge and Herbert Hoover, and the State Committee can be depended upon to do everything possible to further the candidacy of Mr. Hoover and win the State for him on Election Day. We look forward to victory in November for every Republican candidate in New Jersey."

A survey of the official figures in all counties of the State at the recent primaries by Hoover Clubs of New Jersey, Inc., show that Mr. Hoover received a total of 389,854 in the preferential Presidential vote. The state delegates received an average of 335,000 votes. George E. Bates, who ran as a delegate pledges to vote for the nomination of Vice President Dawes, received a total of 70,839 votes.

Besides Mr. Hoover, the other votes in the preferential primaries were for the following: President Coolidge, 478; Lowden, 420; Dawes, 303; Borah, 127; Hughes, 14. A few of the county clerks failed to give the vote in the preferential primaries for these five, however.

The vote for Mr. Hoover by counties follows: Atlantic, 20,542; Bergen, 36,862; Burlington, 16,352; Camden, 46,998; Cumberland, 12,100; Cape May, 6,352; Essex, 62,410; Gloucester, 4,748; Hudson, 26,030; Hunterdon, 3,264; Mercer, 17,067; Middlesex, 17,690; Monmouth, 15,603; Morris, 15,657; Ocean, 5,922; Passaic, 27,671; Salem, 4,117; Somerset, 6,995; Sussex, 2,445; Union, 27,036; Warren, 3,383.

A pedestrian should always have himself under control.

COLORIST TALKS TO WOMEN FIELD DAY

A talk on "Color in The Home" will be given by M. Rea Paul, consulting colorist of the National Lead Company, New York, at the annual Field Day of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, June 13, from 2 to 3 p. m.

Preceding this talk, from 1 to 2 o'clock, Miss Jessie A. Winchell, director of the Department of Child Study, Monmouth County Organization for Social Service, will discuss, "What Has a Child a Right to Expect of His Home?"

Both talks will be given in the short course building on the college farm, not far from the natural amphitheatre where speeches on general agricultural topics will be given in the morning.

Beginnig at 9.30 o'clock with the opening of the Informal Exchange, the home economics department has scheduled continuously throughout the day until 4 o'clock something of interest to women.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

In observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, a dinner was given Friday night at the Hotel Robert Treat, Trenton. Upwards of 600 persons attended including Governor A. Harry Moore, state and municipal officials, prominent public utility men and representatives of the industrial and business life of New Jersey and the nation. President Thomas N. McCarter was toastmaster and the speakers besides himself, were Governor Moore, Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board, General Electric Company; Arthur W. Thompson, president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, and Edmund W. Wakelee, vice president in charge of law of Public Service.

Bridge Commission Shows Span Costs

A report of the Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission shows the span has cost $36,427,680.88 up until the end of May.

Actual construction work cost $28,517,702.66 while $7,369,693 went for the purchase of land on the Philadelphia side and $3,437,080.34 for land on the Jersey side. Engineering expenses were $1,650,266.53 and administrative costs $452,938.36.

Appropriations for the Delaware River Bridge amounted to $37,462,364.57.

Of the difference of $1,034,683.96; $428,075.01 was applied for the condemnation of land and $270.59 went for contracts. The rest of the unapplied appropriation was disbursed as follows Philadelphia, $292, 141.55; Pennsylvania, $292,141.84 and New Jersey, $22,054.90.

The report further shows that on the last day of April, this year, the joint commission has on hand a cash balance of $633,233.74, in banks in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The total income of the bridge has been $4,305,243.35 of which $4,270,297.58 represented tolls collected; $24,075.02 interest on bank balances and the rest miscellaneous receipts.

The total expenses of operation were $631,414.89. Of this amount, $151,347.31 went for the cost of collections, $212,291.27 for police service, $76,075.78 for administrative and $191,700.53 for maintenance.

With these expenses deducted from the income, there remained for distribution among the two states and the city a surplus of $3,673,828.46.

Of this surplus there has been distributed $3,040,604.72, of which Philadelphia and Pennsylvania each received 706,151.72 and New Jersey $1,502,302.36. The difference between the actual surplus and the distributed surplus, or $633,233.74, is the amount still remaining on deposit in banks.

HOSPITAL STAFF ORGANIZES

The physicians of the county, who in part compose the staff of the Burlington County Hospital, met last week and organized by electing Dr. H. E. Longsdorf, of Mount Holly chief of staff, and Dr. Harry L. Rogers, of Riverton and Moorestown, secretary of the staff. Business pertaining to the staff and the hospital was discussed and passed upon.

A BEAR WITH TAKING WAYS

Middleton, N. Y.—When two workmen here, who were working in the woods went to get their dinner pails hidden in the brush, nearby, they found a big black bear helping himself to their lunch. When the men approached the animal disappeared in the timber, having cleaned out the pail.

SHUN THE PEDDLER

The summer season, now at hand, brings with it an economic ill that annually takes a toll of thousands of ill gained dollars. It is the itinerant peddler, the house to house door bell ringer and those of his kind who travel from place to place plying their trade and imposing on the credulity of unthinking, offering bargains in this and that which most always turn out to be inferior merchandise sold at higher prices or in short measure. It is well to beware of these fellows and the plausible stories that they tell to engage the interest and confidence of their prospects.

Inferior articles of many kinds are peddled about, hither and yon during the summer months. The automobile has been a great aid to this kind of chicanery, for after he has landed a few gullible prospects a day's journey will take him far away and beyond the reach of the buyer who discovers that he has been victimized.

What better insurance can there be than buying from the home town merchant? If for any reason the article proves unsatisfactory he is ready and willing to correct the trouble and satisfy his customer. Not so with the peddler—he is gone tomorrow or yet today if the chase gets too hot. He is not seeking to satisfy his customer—he is after the money alone. The home town merchant stakes his reputation and his success on his record for fair and honest dealing. He may be found at his place of business day in and day out, year in and year out. There is nothing elusive about him.

When folks want support and contributions for this and that, they know where to find him and he gives willingly and generously. Did anyone ever hear of the itinerant merchant contributing a single cent for the advancement of a local cause? There is one real way of insuring good goods at reasonable prices, one way of getting good value for the dollar expended and that is to buy of the reputable town merchant.

KEEPING UP THE BUS

Car owners will benefit, it is said, by extensive research work which has been carried on by chemists employed by the du Pont Company to study the causes of traffic film and develop means to safely remove the film without injury to the fine finish on present-day automobiles.

Microscopic examinations and chemical tests of traffic film have shown it to be due to accumulations of dust and minute particles of oily, sticky dirt, smoke from chimneys, and carbon from the exhausts of the many thousands of cars on city streets. Scientists estimate that a surprising amount of these materials is present in the air and is deposited on streets, buildings and other surfaces during a period of time. Owing to travel in heavy traffic, the average automobile is rather rapidly covered with a comparatively thick film, which when moistened by rain and baked by the sun and the heat of the car forms a hard, dry coating that cannot be removed by soap and water.

Traffic film may be removed by the use of almost any abrasive, but it is pointed out that the pyroylin finishes now used on practically all cars will be injured by too harsh abrasives, acids and certain other chemicals which tend to bleach the pigments of modern finishes. However, a number of car manufacturers tell in their instruction books how to care for the finishes on their cars, while some car makers go so far as to put sample cans of an approved polish in the tool boxes of cars leaving their plants.

It is now being advocated that traffic film be removed at regular periods or after a car has been run a given number of miles, just as the oil in the crank-case is renewed after a fixed mileage has been run.

JUNE BRIDES

This is the merry month of marriages. June has come to be the favorite time for weddings. We have no doubt that during this month several charming daughters of this town will be led to the altar. We want to wish them happiness.

June is a very appropriate month for marriages. In this month all Nature is gay. The plants are bursting forth with blossoms, the trees have taken on their summer dress, the sun beams kindness upon the world.

Let wedding bells ring, then, in tune with Nature. Despite the mocking of cynics and the proclamations of professional philosophers, marriage is still the most holy, most beautiful and most delicate institution in society.

Therefore as June appears on the calendar one cannot help feeling a little contended, satisfied with the world, and hopeful for the future. June is the month of marriages—and marriages, for the most part, mean happiness. Kingdoms topple and fall; political changes bring new conditions; powerful men descend from their rich estates; change is eternal—but marriage still seems to hold its own!

CHARACTER AND CAREFULNESS

The World demands character and carefulness. Schools, churches, magistrates, the printed word, and the best efforts of fathers and mothers are striving to develop the finest traits of human character in children, and to inculcate carefulness into their every day life. "Watch your step," and "look out for the cars," are admonitions familiar to every child.

Character is a part of our education and it is on a different basis from the way it was viewed when the old Colonial Governor Berkeley complained way back in 1671, that he "thanked God there are no free schools, nor printing," because "learning has brought disobedience and heresy, and sects into the world and printing has divulged them, and libels against the best Government."

Growing children should strive to respect the laws and obey them, as one of the pathways to the development of character.

There is a world of difference between the spirit for legitimate adventure and a class of recklessness that borders on the edge of lawlessness. Character may be developed by the child who refuses to deceive his, or her, parents, or to embarrass or bring pain or shame upon a solicitous or indulgent father or mother. Even if our parents may be "old-fashioned," why not humor them? It is a safe thing to do.

Character and carefulness developed in youth will enable the child that grows to manhood and womanhood to avoid the tremendous dangers of gambling and speculation.

It is a violation of the laws and of the rules of society to endanger the public by reckless automobile driving. The youth who "puts his foot down hard" should remember the warning of the cop who advised a young lady to wear lighter shoes because those she had on bore down too hard on the gas.

JUNE

The poets have done well by June. The subject supplies inspiration enough for any rhymester to do his best.

If June is ordinarily well behaved it deserves all that the great and little poets have sung about it. Occasionally the month shows a rebellious spirit, but so rarely is this true that the exceptions may be taken to prove the poet's rule of blessedness and praise for June.

Nature perfects herself in the sixth month of year. Perhaps some persons will hold that nature's perfection comes at the harvest season, which falls well forward into the hazy days. There is, however, a harvest of flowers as well as of fruits and grains, and the abundance of blossoms comes in June along with brides, girl graduates and other things pleasant to look upon.

GOOD ROADS

Paved city streets and improved highways leading to the city, affect the growth and prosperity of the community in many ways.

In the first place, cost of upkeep of an unimproved road is much greater than if the thoroughfare were paved.

The entire surface of a paved street is usable; that is, there are not two lines or ruts which the traffic follows, as on a dirt or gravel road. Therefore, paving increases the capacity of streets and highways.

Paving enhances property values and acts as an inducement for home owners to improve the appearance of their grounds and houses, making that street a more pleasant place to live on.

We are no longer living in the days of the old walled cities. Good roads, good streets and rapid locomotion have annihilated time and distance and virtually made the whole world kin.

H. E. BROWN

Herman E., husband of Mrs. Ada V. Brown, died on Thursday after being ill since the first of the year.

Mr. Brown, who was born at North Haven, Maine, had lived in Riverton more than twenty years. He will be remembered by many as superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Co., but of late years had been connected with the Ballinger Co., architect engineers, of Philadelphia. He was a deacon of the Central Baptist Church, and a member of the P. O. S. of A.

Lodge services were held Sunday evening, and on Monday at 2 o'clock Rev. George Lockett conducted services at his late residence, 105 Seventh street. Interment was made at Odd Fellows cemetery, Burlington by Frank A. Snover, funeral director.

The deceased leaves his widow and son, Dr. James E. Brown, of Palmyra, and Mrs. J. Russell Jermon, of Riverton.

CORRECTION

An item in this paper last week was worded so as to give some the impression that Harry Fish's truck ran into the little daughter of Tony D'Amato at Broad and Cinnaminson the previous Monday. Onlookers declare that such was not the case, but say that the little tot walked into the side of the truck as it made the turn.

RIVERTON ITEMS

Mrs. E. B. Ritchie, of Mineral Wells, Texas, spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. L. E. Carpenter.

J. I. Yost, of Reading, is visiting his son, C. H. Yost.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tarbuck and children, of Philadelphia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bailey over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Good and a party of friends spent Saturday and Sunday at the Good summer home in Margate.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Steinbuehler, of Brooklyn, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Burns.

Mrs. John H. Moore has returned to her home in Clearfield, Pa., after spending three weeks at the home of her daughtr, Mrs. C. H. Yost.

Mr. and Mrs. Jac Warner were weekend visitors in Atlantic City.

Miss Helen Shain spent the weekend at Wildwood.

Mrs. John Denneler and son, Herman Denneler, of Cinnaminson, attended the commencement exercises at New Rochelle College, New York, where Miss Margaret Dugan, of Moorestown, was a member of the graduating class. The party will return home by way of Niagara Falls and Canada, arriving the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Bush and son Archibald attended the commencement exercises at Swarthmore College, Monday, at which time their son, Vincent, graduated as one of the honor students.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Coe returned last week, after spending two months in Europe.

Miss Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Broderson, and William Watkins, both of East Riverton, were married in the Episcopal Church at Riverside, Saturday, June 2.

Mrs. Reeves, of 107 Seventh street, was taken to the Burlington County Hospital on Saturday last in the Palmyra ambulance. Harold B. "Boots" Lover, of Palmyra, drove the ambulance.

Four big prizes are being offered by the K. of C. to be given away on Wednesday, June 20. Any member of the Knights will gladly tell you all about it.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Riverton Fire Company gave their last social meeting of the season in the firehouse Tuesday evening. Dancing and games were indulged in and refreshments were served.

Dr. Alex Marcy, Jr., and Dr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rogers are attending a medical convention at Atlantic City. Dr. Emhoff will substitute during the absence of Dr. Rogers.

The children in the kindergarten were given a joy ride on the Riverton fire truck last Friday morning. This is an annual event to which the children look forward with great glee.

Porch Club members will be interested to hear that the rummage sale, held May 18, netted over $60. From that amount a check for $50 has been sent to the Regional Planning Federation. This progressive and ambitious organization plans for future development in three States within a radius of 40 miles of Philadelphia. A scientific plan for the laying out of zones, the building of highways and parks, the protection of the water ways, etc., is well under way.

HARRY RAHELIC

Harry, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Helen Rahelic, died Thursday in the Pennsylvania Hospital, after being a patient there for several weeks for heart trouble. It is said that preparations had been completed for his removal to a sanitorium but that a slight operation was to be performed before he left the hospital. It is reported that the lad died under ether, before the operation took place.

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the residence of his mother, 204 West Fifth street, Palmyra, under the direction of Undertaker Snover. Interment was made at Odd Fellows cemetery, Burlington.

Orchestra at Rotary

Some fifteen members of the County Y. M. C. A. Orchestra entertained members of the Mount Holly Rotary Club at their evening dinner meeting, Thursday, May 31. Avery L. Bennett, of the Mount Holly High School staff, a member of the Rotary Club and also pianist and clarinetist in the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra, was instrumental in the arranging of this program.

Visit Monmouth Office

As a final contribution to their period of training for County Y. M. C. A. work, Howard Shinn and Wilmer Robbins, members of the class of 1929 at the International Y. M. C. A. College, Springfield, Massachusetts, who have been getting practical experience in Burlington County, on Friday, June 1, together with Secretary Guy Hendry and County Y. M. C. A. Office Secretary Lavinia M. Wood, visited the Monmouth County Office at Freehold for observation and study. Secretary Leigh E. Cobb contributed greatly to the profit derived from this visit.

Weekend at Ockanickon

Representatives of the Young People's County Councils of Religious Education for Burlington, Camden and Gloucester Counties spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Camp Ockanickon under the leadership of Henry Reed Bowen, State Sunday School Secretary for Young People's Work. Mr. Archibald Buck, of Mount Holly, who, together with his wife has been engaged as Chef for Camp this summer, with his son Clarence, prepared the meal for this conference which numbered about forty.

Secretary Hendry Speaks

Sunday evening, June 3, Secretary Hendry had a part in the special Chapel service at the Bordentown Military Institute, at which time announcement was made for those eligible for graduation this June. Later he addressed the members of the Y. M. C. A. in a final meeting of the season and took occasion to discuss some plans for the work of the Association next fall.

Qualifying for Life Saving

Already being qualified as a Y. M. C. A. Life Saver, Secretary Clifford Ergood of the County Y. M. C. A. Staff, is also taking the required tests for recognition as an official American Red Cross Life Saver and Instructor. He passed a number of his tests on the evening of May 31 and the next day, June 1, had occasion to put some of his knowledge to immediate use in endeavoring to resuscitate a child who had fallen into the Rancocas Creek at Mount Holly. The little four-year-old youngster had, however, been in the water too long to be revived. Mr. Ergood will have charge of all the water activities at Ockanickon this coming summer.

In connection with his interest in life saving work, Ergood was responsible for the attendance of a number of people at the official Red Cross Life Saving demonstrations which were held in the Moorestown Community House pool, Monday, June 4, one at four o'clock, and the other at eight o'clock.

To Picnic at Ockanickon

The schedule of Sunday School picnics which will be held at Camp Ockanickon, previous to the opening of the Camp on June 23, are these: Palmyra Methodist Sunday School, Wednesday, June 13; Saturday, June 16, Presbyterian Sunday School of Moorestown; Wednesday, June 20, Episcopal Sunday School of Moorestown.

Camp Dates Set

Camp Ockanickon for boys opens for a six weeks' period, Saturday, June 23, with emphasis being laid on an enrollment for two weeks so that fellows can get the most out of the program that is arranged. The cost this year is the same for board, namely, eight dollars a week, with an added registration fee for each week a fellow is there. The age limit has been lowered from twelve to nine and the upper limit is up to seventeen years. Fellows who are going to Camp should send to the County Y. M. C. A., Mount Holly, the official enrollment form. When this is filled out and returned to the county office, instructions are then sent campers as to what they will need to take, when and how to make the trip, as well as general information about the operation of the Camp program and activities. LEADERS NEEDED! Older men who have an appreciation of the aims and objectives of Camp Ockanickon and who would like to make a portion of their vacation count in serving in a capacity of tent leaders at Ockanickon, are invited to correspond or communicate with Secretary Hendry. Leaders' enrollments for one week will be accepted, and how could you plan for a vacation that would mean more?

DEMOCRACY SUBJECT OF REV. MR. LOCKETT

"Bishop" Makes Interesting Speech on Growth of Idea Since 1215 B. C.

Notwithstanding the fact that he has won recent fame in the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club as a composer and vocalist of his own compositions, "Bishop" George Lockett again gave the Club a treat on Thursday evening last when he was presented as the speaker of the evening.

He took as his subject of discourse, the "History of Democracy" and very ably presented an interesting bit of history dating back to 1215 B. C. when democracy was first conceived. He then followed the events in history to the present date, showing where democracy was the prominent and important factor in the promotion of peace. Mr. Lockett claimed that outside of the Church he believed that Rotary was the greatest influence in the spreading of Democracy that the world has come to realize.

It is by such a movement as Rotary with its underlying principles that will hasten the Brotherhood of Man.

The Club's incoming president, Joseph S. Low, who resigned in favor of Mr. Lockett as delegate to the National Convention of Rotary International, will, with Mrs. Low and Mrs. Lockett leave on June 16 to attend the convention. They anticipate a very profitable and enjoyable trip.

The fellowship committee reported the condition of Prof. A. S. Griffith as being somewhat improved and it was the general and unanimous expression of the Club that they hope to see him at the meetings shortly.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

The annual Children's Day program will be given this coming Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. This service will take up the regular hour of church worship. An inspiring program is assured. Just as our Sunday School has been showing a gain over corresponding Sundays last year, so our Children's program will manifest the spirit of progress, splendid as all our accomplishments in this respect were in the past.

Luther League Sunday evening at 6.45 p. m. Miss Louis Landgraf is the leader, with the topic: "How Are Our Amusements a Measure of Our Christianity?" We are glad to welcome the new members or friends of the church to join the organization. Don't forget the banquet at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Collingswood, on the evening of June 21, and the rally in our church just one week later.

Mr. Robert Fraser, the blind gospel singer, will be with us to conduct the service on the morning of the 17th. Mr. Fraser will preach from the theme: "Christ Seeking Sinners." He will have a series of solos of gospel music. The regular order of worship will not be used at this service.

In the evening of June 17, Washington Camp No. 23, Patriotic Order Sons of America, will worship with us as special guests. Besides music by our First Lutheran Choir, we have procured for this occasion the Cornish Male Choir, twenty voices, which rendered just an acceptable series of selections only a couple of weeks ago. The pastor will preach on the them: "Eternal Vigilance is The Price of Liberty."

ODD FELLOWS

Despite the ruthless attacks made by the daylight saving time upon lodge attendance and the many other lures that present themselves at this season of the year, the attendance at Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201 has been keeping a very encouraging average.

On last Friday evening an attendance prize drawing was again held. This was the first since the inauguration of this feature. The member whose name was drawn was present and he received a handsome leather wallet. The winner was in this particular drawing, Chester McConnell, one of the youngest members of the Order.

Preparations are under way for the picnic of the season which will be held some time this month. Suggestions for a suitable place to hold the affair will be welcomed by the Good of the Order Committee. Come out this Friday and express yourself.

As the Good of the Order Committee is desirous of making a report on the moving picture benefit recently held, a request is made that every brother not having thus far made his returns for tickets, do so at once and thereby assist this Committee whose endeavor is to render a service to the Lodge and its brothers.

PHS ALUMNI

The third annual banquet of the Palmyra High School Alumni Association will be held in the high school this Saturday evening.

Frank Terry, Palmyra's first athletic coach, will be the speaker. After the banquet there will be dancing in the gym until 12 o'clock. This affair promises to be the biggest and best the Association has ever given.

BELKNAP-JAMES

Mrs. John Houghton Reese announces the marriage of her sister, Anna Whitall James, to Mr. Maurice G. Belknap, on Wednesday, June 6, at Christ Church Cathedral, Lexington, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Belknap will be at home after September 1, at 311 Bank avenue.

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

The Primary Department children rehearse this evening (Thursday) at 7 o'clock and again on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for their Children's Day pageant.

Saturday evening from 5.30 until 8.30, a big, delicious supper will be served by the Junios Philathea Class. Tickets are only 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for children, and may be secured from any young lady in the class. Plan to dine out on Saturday evening.

Sunday will sparkle with the joy of childhood at all services. It is Children's Day.

At the Bible School sessions at 10 a. m., the children will have charge of the opening service. There also will be a special program in the Primary Department. Don't miss it.

At the morning worship service at 11.15, Pastor Lockett will deliver a special sermon on "Childhood." There will be Dedication of Children by their parents at this service. Communion also will be observed.

In the evening the service will begin 15 minutes earlier—promptly at 7.30, with the officers of the Bible School in charge. The program includes recitations and songs by children of the beginner's and cradle-roll departments.

As a grand climax to the evening, the juvenile pageant entitled, "Crown Jewels" will be presented in costume by the Primary Department, assisted by members of the Junior Department. Children will represent jewels in the Crown of the King of Kings. These, according to the pageant, are the Pearls of Purity, the Garnets of Loyalty, the Emeralds of Service, the Opals of Faith, the Amethysts of Love and the Diamonds of Peace.

Next Thursday evening, June 14, Mrs. Bartoe's Class, "The Bricks," will present a splendid array of musical talent in a concert at the Palmyra High School.

The artists will be: Eleanor M. Showers, concert pianist; Beatrice Flint Collin, contralto; Harold L. Mueller, violinist; Ruth Peterson Bell, accompanist, and Franklin E. Cresson, director of the Hyperion School of Music, accompanist.

The proceeds will be a contribution by the "The Bricks" to the building fund. A real musical treat by an all-star cast.

On July 14, the Primary Department is planning a "What Not." And how! More details later, we are told.

MRS. THOMAS HELLINGS

Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Hellings, died last Friday evening at the West Jersey Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Hellings, who moved to Riverton about three years ago, was active in the work of the Central Baptist Church, being a member of the choir, of the Philathea Class and the Women's Missionary Society and had many friends. She leaves her husband and two daughters, Hilda and Lorraine.

Services were held Monday afternoon at 3.30 from her late residence on Elm avenue, conducted by the Rev. George Lockett. Interment was made at Odd Fellows Cemetery, Burlington.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. H. E. Brown and family desire to thank those who sent cars and flowers to the funeral and assisted in other ways during their recent bereavement.

CARD OF THANKS

RECKLESS DRIVER

Tried to Pass Four Cars Abreast on Palmyra's Main Street

Thomas H. Staples, of 723 Burlington avenue, Delanco, was arrested by Chief of Police C. Morris Beck, Friday morning on a charge of reckless driving. He was taken before Justice Fichter and fined five dollars and costs after settling for damages done to another car.

Staples was following a line of cars going west on Broad street when he attempted to go around the line near the intersection of Morgan avenue. A trolley car and another line of cars was approaching from the opposite direction, which, combined with the cars parked on the side made four abreast.

The Delanco man evidently decided about this time that Broad street was never made for five lines of traffic and tried to get back in line and in so doing hooked his front bumper into the rear bumper on the car ahead. Since there was not room for five cars, the machine coming from the other direction sideswiped Staples' car and damaged its fenders considerably.

The Chief of Police appeared on the scene about this time and placed Staples under arrest.

John Poland, of 45 Washington street, New Brunswick, was arrested by Officer Rodgers, of Palmyra, Saturday night, on a charge of reckless driving preferred by Tony Cugliatta, of West Broad street. Poland ran into a car belonging to Cugliatta while it was by Tony Cugliatta, of West Broad and was taken before Police Justice Fichter where he was fined $10 and costs.

List of County Players Eligible

Two Major League Stars Are in Roster of Burlington County League

Over two-hundred and fifty players have been listed, and declared eligible, with Secretary Albert W. Staley, by the eight clubs which comprise the Burlington County Baseball circuit.

Moorestown heads the list with forty-eight players signed, while R. D. Wood, of Florence, last year's champions, and Riverside, have the least number of players available with twenty-two each.

Four players who have seen major league service are among the names listed by the various managers, Walter "Fitz" French, of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Russell "Lena" Blackburne, coach of the Chicago White Sox, appear on Moorestown and Palmyra rosters respectively. Moorestown also has "Wid" Conroy, former New York Giant third baseman, available. "Wid" is now coach of the Camden team. Vincentown has Jeff Emerson, who went south with Philadelphia Athletics this spring, and who was later sent to Bloomfield of the Three I League under an optional agreement. Jeff will return to the Athletics in September.

Elwood Krepps, a resident of Lenola, who was with Martinsburg last season, has been added to Moorestown's list of available players.

The list of players filed with the secretary of the league and declared eligible by the executive board follows:

NEW DEVICE WILL AID IN DOCKING LOS ANGELES

The installation of new equipment whereby the navy dirigible Los Angeles will be docked and berthed by 100 men instead of 400 is expected to be completed by July according to naval officers stationed at Lakehurst. The device is very simple, consisting of a track and a single cable system that passes to and from certain frames of the ship. In the past the men have been forced the "walk" the ship into the hanger and to accomplish this it required all the man-power available at the station.

SUGGESTS SEVERAL KINDS OF SALADS

One of the fine things about salads is that they offer an enormous variety of ways to eat the highly healthful fresh fruits and vegetables.

Lettuce, cabbage, and celery are available in almost any market during the entire year, and may be used alone or with other foods. Several combinations are suggested by the state extension foods specialist. New cabbage is delicious served with a sour cream dressing. If desired, add some diced celery or cucumber. Celery seed may be substituted if fresh celery is not available. Pineapple and cabbage is another favorite. Few vegetables offer the body as many minerals and vitamins as raw cabbage.

Among the cooked vegetables used for salads at this season we immediately think of asparagus. When preparing asparagus for dinner, cook an extra amount to be used for salad the following day. Remove that which is to be used for salad before it has become too soft. Season cooked vegetables with a little French dressing about fifteen minutes before serving. One or two teaspoons of the dressing will be sufficient to season the asparagus. Cut a narrow ring from the green or red pepper and slip the asparagus into it; usually six tips are served to each person. Cooked string beans are attractive served in this way when they are not broken before being cooked. Any cooked vegetable, meat or fish is improved in flavor if placed in French dressing awhile before combining the salad.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, and sweet-flavored onions furnish a variety in flavor and texture. The acid flavor of the tomato is desirable with many food combinations.

French dressing is usually served with a dinner salad. Cooked dressing is equally good if the family prefers it. Mayonnaise dressing is better for the salad which is the main dish of the meal such as a meat or fish salad.

EXPERT WARNS OF ROSE BLACK SPOT

Black spot or roses is one of the most difficult diseases of roses to control, reports R. P. White, assistant plant pathologist at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Once a rose bed is badly infected with black spot, 100 percent control of the disease is almost never obtained. Not only does the disease cause circular black spots on the rose leaves, yellowing of foliage, and premature defoliation, but indirectly it also is the cause of a large amount of winter injury. Bushes prematurely defoliated enter the winter months with an excessive amount of improperly matured, soft wood which is sure to be killed back.

Picking off infected leaves reduces the sources from which infection comes and is a good practice to follow. Fallen leaves should not be allowed to remain on the ground, as the fungus causing black spot continues to live in them. Old leaves should always be thoroughly cleaned up and burned in the fall.

Because of the persistency of this disease once it is established, rose beds or plantations at present free from it should be dusted regularly throughout the season with a mixture composed of 90 parts of dusting sulfur and 10 parts of arsenate of lead, as a safeguard. Frequently light dustings should be applied from the time the first leaves are half size until late in the summer. This dust also controls mildew. For beds already infected, more frequent applications of the dust are necessary.

Bordeaux mixture and ammoniacal copper carbonate sprays have been as effective against black spot disease as the sulfur-lead dust. Moreover, bordeaux sprays stain the foliage rather badly. There are, however, more diseases of roses, such as brown canker and cane canker, for which these copper sprays are recommended.

He—"No, I was being shaved by a lady barber when a mouse ran across the floor."

Your Flower Garden

By Romaine B. Were

French Lilacs or the Common?

If it were a question of buying one or two lilacs, a common variety in a bush that was heavy and strong, maybe three or four feet tall, and a French Named variety only 18 to 24 inches tall, I would take the latter every time.

Now, the above may sound strange to those who do not know, but let's consider the reasons. The lilac is one of the longest lived of all of the shrubs we may plant in our gardens and once it is established it is a sure bloomer every year. But it is rather slow to establish itself. I have seen common lilacs that did not bloom till they had been established for five to eight years, and if you attempt to move a plant of any size they may sulk on you for several years. On the other hand I have seen French lilacs that were only two feet high literally covered with bloom and they keep right on blooming year after year. The French varieties are as long lived as the common lilacs and they grow just as large, besides they will give you from ten to fifty times the quantity of bloom and the blooms are so much larger.

In purchasing the French lilacs be sure they are not budded or grafted upon common lilac root stock. If they are you are badly cheated, as within a few years the common will choke out the French and you will be the loser. Some dishonest nurserymen and some that do not know any better, send them out this way and you are the loser. They may be grafted or budded upon Privit stock and then by planting them deep they will produce their own roots and your plant will always be satisfactory. If your lilacs are on their own roots then every root sucker that comes up around the plant will, if dug up and planted, product just as good a plant as the original.

Lilacs have very few enemies and if you will keep them growing by cultivation and liberal watering, also giving them a good mulch of well-rotted manure in the fall, you will have little trouble with them. They are especially valuable for hedges and for any place you need a fairly dense screen or background.

AIRPORT AT TOMS RIVER

Through the efforts of W. S. MacLaren, formerly a flyer in the U. S. Navy, and a graduate of Annapolis, the stage has been set for an airport in the vicinity of Toms river. A company is being formed and it is hoped to have enough stock subscribed to have three airplanes on the field by mid-June.

ARE YOU SKEPTICAL OF 5c CIGARS?

We don't blame you. Read this:

You've smoked 'em bitter; smoked 'em "flat." You've had 'em crumble in your mouth or burn lopsided. You've probably given up the idea that 5c can buy an enjoyable cigar. But—just to show you that a really fine-tasting, clean-burning cigar can be made for a nickel—we ask you to try Havana Ribbon.

Havana Ribbon is the pride of one of the world's largest cigar manufacturers. As different from ordinary five-centers as juicy-ripe apples are different from green or over-ripe. And that's just the secret: It's ripe tobacco—long-filler, uniform, evenly-laid. No short ends or "scraps." No bitter under-ripe top leaves; no insipid over-ripe bottom leaves. Only choice fully-ripe middle leaves age-mellowed and cured to the sweetest, mildest flavor you ever tasted in a cigar selling for so little. Get out a nickel quick. There's a cigar counter near. And the countersign is—Havana Ribbon. Also Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

DAIRYMEN TO HAVE FIELD DAY PROGRAM

A special program of activites for dairymen and breeders has been arranged for the annual Field Day of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station which will be held on Wednesday, June 13, at New Brunswick this year.

In addition to talks by several authorities on dairy and livestock management there will be an inspection of the college herds. Visitors are invited by the college to ask questions regarding their own animals.

Prof. S. J. Brownell, specialist in dairy husbandry at Pennsylvania State College, is to talk on "Better Sires and How to Get Them."

"Results of Feeding New Jersey Dry Grain Mixes to Calves," will be described by C. B. Bender, assistant dairy husbandman at the experiment station. The college herd has produced three world record animals in the last three years. One of these as a 2-year-old produced 345.8 pounds of milk in seven days. Visitors will have an opportunity to see her when the leading animals are paraded at the conclusion of the talks.

"Some results of Our Breeding Program" is the subject of a talk to be given by J. W. Bartlett, dairy husbandman at the experiment station. Professor Bartlett will also describe the practices employed to get results.

F. C. Button, assistant dairy husbandman at the college, is scheduled to talk on "Proper Cooling Necessary for a Good Milk Supply."

Besides the inspection of the dairy herds under various housing and feeding tests, visitors will be shown the sheep and swine. Prof. W. C. Skelley, assistant animal husbandman at the college, will be in charge.

Admission to Field Day is free and no charge is made for any information, the program announces.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

Soon the roads will be dotted with cars bearing friends and neighbors from north, south, east and west of you—all eager to renew acquaintance after winter's stay-at-home days.

And how gladly you'll welcome them—IF you know your pantry shelf is ready for emergencies. One needs so little to be prepared for unexpected guests—yet this little item is so often neglected!

For a hurried luncheon or tea, what could be nicer than salmon or tuna fish served with thick golden mayonnaise; potatoes fried slowly in butter or margerine, so they are crisp and brown; assorted pickles and preserves arranged attractively in a condiment dish—and hot biscuits? These are homely foods, and inexpensive. But fish and dressing, pickles and preserves must be on the shelf—if they are to come to your rescue, pronto!

Since half the charm of hospitality lies in its seeming to be no trouble at all, let's remember these tricks of preparedness that help so much when friends "just drop in."

Date and Nut Spread

For luncheon or tea, use this spread on slices of buttered white or graham bread. With these open sandwiches, serve others of pimento cheese (this may be bought in jars). And cut your bread in fancy shapes, without crusts.

¼ cup dates, chopped; ¼ cup chopped nuts, 4 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Beat milk and lemon juice together with a fork until thick. Add dates and nuts and mix well.

Tonic for Asparagus Beds

Easy Way to Preserve Cherries

Fill glass jars with sound, clean cherries; cover with syrup made of one pound sugar (beet or cane) and one quart water. Close jars; immerse in boiling water, allowing one inch of water over tops. Simmer slowly 15 minutes. Remove, let stand 15 minutes, and set in cool place.

Do Your Omelets Fall?

One way to be certain of success with omelets is to add a tiny bit of baking powder to the eggs when whipping them.

Measuring Flour for Cakes

In baking cakes, it makes a difference whether flour is measured before or after sifting. So always examine recipes carefully, noting direction in this respect. Newer recipes invariably specify the use of prepared cake flour sifted once before measuring, then sifted as many additional times as the recipe directs. This makes lighter, fluffier cakes.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS

Public Service to the People

THE last quarter century has seen the introduction of new and efficient methods of housekeeping which remove much drudgery from the home-maker's duties. Work which formerly demanded her strength and energy is now performed with ease by electrically driven appliances, while the instant response of gas to automatic control make unnecessary, attention to gas appliances, beyond lighting and turning them off.

For twenty-five years the service of Public Service has stood back of every appliance sold. Every make of electric appliance is tested at our laboratories before it is listed for sale, and every gas appliance must meet the rigid specifications of the American Gas Association.

Fine Cooking With Oven Heat Regulator Gas Range

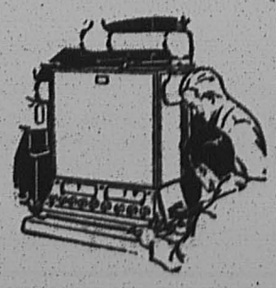

Many gas ranges with oven heat regulators are reduced in price during the week of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Public Service.

Gas range prices at Public Service stores include an automatic top burner lighter and connection from the gas fuel outlet in the kitchen by experienced gas fitters.

Prepare Now for Comfort—Install Gas for House Heating

Steam, hot water, vapor or warm air may be used when gas heats your home. Gas is used to fire the furnace or boiler and the heat can be distributed through the system that best suits your convenience.

Gas, burned in a furnace designed for its use, takes up comparatively small space and gives the householders a clean basement for other uses.

Gas makes it as easy to heat your home as electricity does to light it.

Call on Public Service for an estimate on the cost of heating your home with gas.

Heat Water With Gas Automatically

Prices on automatic storage water heaters at Public Service begin at $72.50 cash and any water heater may be purchased on the easy payment plan at a slight increase over cash prices.

Install a gas automatic storage water heater now, and avoid the delay and inconvenience of "no hot water." This type of water heater requires little attention and operates at moderate cost.

Let Electricity Banish Blue Mondays for Housekeeper

THE Thor Agitator, an electric washer that is compact in size and is a thorough and fast washer, will make all the soiled things fresh and clean in a short time. The home-maker is the guide, the Thor does all the work, and materials wear longer, because they are washed without friction.

The Thor Agitator costs only $105. On terms $110—$5 down and 18 months to pay.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey began operation June 1, 1903, and is today celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary.

It was organized by men who had unwavering faith in New Jersey's future, confidence in the possibilities of the utility industries, and a firm belief that the State and these industries would grow and prosper together.

Time has established the soundness of these convictions. During the quarter of a century that Public Service has existed New Jersey has developed at a rate which has made it one of the greatest of the United States, and Public Service has grown and prospered with it.

At the inception of the Public Service enterprise, a policy of expansion and improvement to meet in full the public utility needs of the people it served was established, and this policy has since been consistently pursued. More than $300,000,000 of new capital has been expended for new facilities, for the betterment of existing facilities, and to make service more widely available to industry and to the people. The result has been an addition to the State's resources which has played an important part in its development.

Public Service Is a Builder! Since Its Organization It Has Expended More Than $300,000,000 to Extend and Improve Utility Service for New Jersey People.

The utility services furnished by Public Service are constantly becoming more necessary to the people of the great community in which they are furnished. For every electric customer it had in 1903, it now has forty-two, for every gas customer, three and for every passenger on its transit lines, five, while electric energy furnished industry has grown from a practically negligible amount to more than sixty percent of all power used.

Equally marked is the spread in ownership of the enterprise. In 1903, the stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey was held by a few hundred individuals. Today it is held by more than 74,000, representing every part of the community, and the number is increasing with every offering of securities.

The increasing essentiality of service and the growing number of those financially interested emphasize the quasi-public nature of Public Service operations. The duties and obligations imposed upon the organization by this condition of mutual dependence is fully recognized by its officers, who upon this twenty-fifth anniversary renew their pledge of service, to the end that the progress and prosperity of the State shall be promoted and the welfare, comfort and convenience of its people conserved.

Palmyra Tennis Team Wins 6-3

Four Leading Netmen Capture Both Singles and Doubles

The Palmyra Tennis Association won its first match in the newly organized Tri-County League at the expense of Pyne Point, of Camden, on the latter's courts last Saturday.

The Palmyra netmen captured six out of nine matches, winning four singles and two doubles. The first four ranking players won their singles and also their doubles when teamed together.

This is an excellent start for the local racquet wielders and as the club is gaining strength daily it should be able to put an even stronger team on the courts in the next inter-club match which will be held on the home courts, Saturday, June 16.

The summaries:

Singles

R. Hobbs, Palmyra, defeated L. R. T. Hardy, Palmyra, defeated P. R. T. Hardy, Palmyra, defeated P. Albright, Pyne Point, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

A. Wright, Palmyra, defeated R. A. Roberts, Pyne Point, 6-4, 6-2.

B. Vanderslice, Pyne Point, defeated E. Hoyt, Palmyra, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles

Hardy and Burgess, Palmyra, defeated Allen and Albright, Pyne Point, 6-3, 3-6, 9-7.

Hubbs and Wright, Palmyra, defeated Roberts and Vanderslice, Pyne Point, 6-0, 6-0.

Young and Lehman, Pyne Point, defeated Strang and Hoyt, Palmyra, 7-5, 8-6.

The Palmyra girls lost to the Greenpoint Tennis Club by a score of three matches to two. They split even in the singles winning two out of four. The doubles match proved to be the deciding contest and was won by the visitors.

The summaries:

Singles

Miss Grant, Greensport, defeated Miss McConnel, Palmyra, 6-0, 6-2.

Miss Slemmer, Greenpoint, defeated Miss Hagatoz, Palmyra, 6-3, 9-7.

Miss Giberson, Palmyra, defeated Miss McNickols, Greenpoint, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

PALMYRA TENNIS CLUB BOOMING

Local Association Growing Rapidly and Much Enthusiasm is Displayed

The Palmyra Tennis Association is enjoying a great revival this year. Dozens of new members joined the club and nearly all of the veterans are back.

The men's team scored a decisive victory in the first match of the Tri-County League last Thursday and the girls team showed up well in their encounter with the Green Point team from Philadelphia. All the courts are in splendid condition and new ones are being opened.

Anybody interested in tennis in Palmyra, Riverton, or from any nearby point is eligible to join and the rates are said to be the cheapest offered in the whole State, $10 per season for men, $6 for women and $3 for juniors. Applications may be made to Ray T. Hardy, president; Helen McConnell, secretary, or Frank Chambers, treasurer.

STANFORD STARS

Speedy Palmyra High Track Athlete Scores Eight Points

The speedy Stanford, representing Palmyra High School, shared high scoring honors with Jack Grube, Moorestown flash, in the Camden Suburban League track and field meet held at Collingswood last Thursday afternoon. Each was credited with eight points. Each won a first and a second place in the track events.

Stanford won the 220-yard dash, beating out Grube and Mayer, of Haddon Heights, for which he was awarded five points. He scored three additional points when he took second place in the 440-yard run. Grube equalled Stanford's score by winning first place in the 100-yard dash.

"Spike" Hennessey scored five points for Palmyra when he took first place in the high jump at 5 feet 6 inches.

Haddonfield won the meet with 32 points, Collingswood was second with 14⅓, Moorestown third with 13⅓, Palmyra fourth with 13, Haddon Heights fifth with 10 and Woodbury last with 8.

TWILIGHT GAMES

On Tuesday evening, June 12, at 6 p. m., Riverton will open their twilight season with one of the teams of the Burlington County League. (Look for later announcement).

The fans will all remember the stirring twilight games last season and it is hoped the loyal rooters will be out in force.

With the girls all working, young whippersnappers may get the notion that a helpmeet is one who will help meet the expenses.

Tuesday Score

Schedule for Saturday

Vincentown at Delanco; Moorestown at R. D. Wood; Palmyra at Burlington; Medford at Riverside.

Lefty Reber, supported by a revamped and rejuvenated lineup, shut out the strong Vincentown nine in an abbreviated Burlington County League game played at Vincentown Tuesday evening.

Lefty was so good that the highly touted sluggers from the Pine Belt metropolis were only able to connect for one safe hit during the six innings the game was in progress before Jupe Pluvius stepped in and put an end to the activities.

Not only was Palmyra's star moundsman in rare form but the entire cast performed behind him like big leaguers. Many scorching grounders were scooped up by the ever alert infielders before they had half a chance to be labeled hits. The outfielders patrolled the outer gardens in great style and turned in a flawless performance.

Reber Fans Eight

Catcher Harper continued his clever mask work and was a great help to Reber in fanning eight of the twenty men to face him. Only one of the opposing batters reached second and that was the result of a double, the only hit made off Reber. One man was presented with a free ticket to first and that was the sum total of Vincentown's base running activities during the evening.

Two new players were on display for the first time before the Burlington County League fans. They were "Len" Baker, well known about this village for his sterling first base play and Jack Eisley, Palmyra High School's fleet-footed outfielder. Both had a large share in pepping up the spirits of the other players who were becoming downcast under the weight of five straight reverses.

The boys are up and at them now and with the return of Joe Stack to the coaching lines they are ready to give a good account of themselves against any team in the league.

Lose to Burlington

The boys lost to Burlington in a league game played on the home grounds last Saturday afternoon. The score was close until the ninth inning when the opposing sluggers hopped on Pitcher Reber for four hits and scored three runs making the final score 5-0 in favor of the invaders.

Winchell Foster, Burlington moundsman, held the locals to four hits and fanned five. Reber fanned eleven, but was touched for nine hits, two being of the two-base variety.

Second Team Wins

The Palmyra second team, playing as the Palmyra Ramblers, won from both Westfield and Masonville during the past week.

The game with Masonville was played at Rancocas Park before a good turnout of fans. Pitcher Orcutt held the opposition to eight hits and three runs, fanning twelve. The Ramblers made eleven hits and scored eight runs.

Rumpel, Reagle, Harder and Orcutt led the attack with two hits each. Reagle connected for the only home run of the game.

In the game with Westfield, Welkman toed the mound for the local outfit and held the opposition to two tallies, while his mates run up a total of eight. Johnson was the batting star with three safeties. Barney, Reagle and Eisley turned in two hits each.

The other players on the team are Peditto, Stack, Larcher, King, Sack, Rumpel, Bennett, Burke, Cooper and Bradley.

In Shady Dells

How sweet it is, in shady dells,
And over wooded hills,
To stroll around through Nature's realms
And do just as one wills.
No noisy, crowded thoroughfare,
With people all around;
But everywhere dear Nature's charms,
In harmony, are found.

The brook is babbling to the trees
That shade its water, clear,
While, singing of the joyous birds,
We, everywhere, will hear;
Until our hearts rejoicing, too,
Are filled with sweet delight,
And we are loath to leave the woods
Until approaching night.

There are so many pleasures there,
And flowers, oh! so sweet,
That will seem scattered all around,
And nestling at your feet.
No wonder nature's charms we love,
With their sweet harmony,
And in the beauty all around,
The Father's hand we see.

17-YEAR LOCUST

Within a short time now brood No. 2 of the periodical cicada or 17-year locust will emerge from the ground and its songs will be heard everywhere. Even now many of the exit holes have been opened and the yellowish-brown, grub-like creatures may be seen. This brood in point of number and state-wide distribution is the most important occurring within the limits of New Jersey.

Its last appearance above ground took place in the year 1911. It will appear in 1928 and again in 1945.

The periodical cicada is a peculiar insect in that it appears above ground in the winged form for a few weeks, flies about attracting much attention by its song and numbers, lays its eggs and dies. From the eggs, which are laid in twigs and branches of trees and shrubs, hatch tiny grub-like creatures that fall to the ground, burrow into the soil and remain there unnoticed by men, feeding and growing for nearly 17 years.

Twenty-five in Cinnaminson Class

Graduating Exercises Held Monday Evening, June 11; Interesting Program

A house of over 400 attended the closing exercises at the Cinnaminson Public School on Monday night, June 11.

A class of twenty-five, twelve boys and thirteen girls, received certificates. About half of these are expecting to enter high school in September.

The class was addressed by Rev. Ronald J. Beazley, pastor of the Community Church, of Jobstown, and general secretary of the Burlington County Council of Religious Education. He advised his hearers o go into life as they would into a game of football. First, know the rules, then keep the rules, play hard and play fair, and above all keep in training.

The presentation was made by Ernest Mitchell who suggested the banner might be carried by the school to its athletic contests. Mr. Taylor, who received it on behalf of the school, expressed sincere appreciation of the gift and outlined the results of the year in soccer, basketball and baseball. He believes that "the boy at play is the key to the boy at work," and that organized games between schools are a valuable aid in characted building. He expressed the aims of the school as particularly emphasizing education for character.

Miss H. Eloise Bryan, supervisor of the school, presented prizes of $2.50 in gold to eleven boys and girls in the school who had made the highest scores in the County Spelling and Arithmetic contests. These prizes were made through the generosity of Herbert Dinges and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lippincott.

Preceding the graduation exercises the boys and girls of the lower grades presented an operetta, "Peter Rabbit." Costuming, stage setting, singing, and dancing were skillfully combined to make a very attractive number.

The program was as follows:

ROTARY CLUB

In order that Chairmen and their respective Committees may convene and make arrangements for their work for the coming year, President-elect Joseph S. Low, the new head of the Palmyra and Riverton Rotary Club, announced his appointments at the meeting Thursday evening prior to his departure for the National Convention to be held in Minneapolis next week.

The speaker last week, obtained through the efforts of Clinton B. Woolston, was E. F. Morris, who gave the Club a very interesting talk illustrated by motion pictures in which was shown a very thorough portrayal of the methods used in obtaining rubber and the many commodities made from rubber including the well known B. F. Goodrich automobile and truck tires.

It was instructive and entertaining throughout and kept the interest of the members long past the usual closing time for the dinner meeting.

JUNIOR MINSTRELS JUNE 14 AND 15

K. of C. Cadets Have Some Surprises On Program

While the coming show of the Columbus Cadets bears the title of a "minstrel" the entire program is arranged to present this usual form of entertainment in a little different way. After working hard for the past two months the junior theatrical stars are primed to make their initial stage appearance a real success.

Some of the juvenile musicians in the outfit are on the program as soloists, and it will be well worth one's time to hear the different quartettes and the real up-to-date humor contained in the two-hour show.

The members of St. Joseph's Council and the Ladies Auxiliary are assisting director A. J. Pfaff in putting over this show, and of course every proud mother and dad is anxious to see "sonny" display his talents.

Thursday and Friday, June 14 and 15 are the dates, and the time is set at 8.15, in K. of C. Hall. Bring the youngsters and enjoy a real junior minstrel.

Historical Pageant by Colored School

Early Development of State Shown in Commencement Day Program

An original historical pageant of New Jersey was given at the closing exercises of the colored school at Cinnaminson on Tuesday evening, June 12. All the grades took part. Costuming was elaborately done. The Indians in their native woods, dancing before the feast of "Big Fish" and "Yellow Corn" was especially attractive. The Dutch, Swedish and Quakers settlers followed, with appropriate actions and dialogues to show the importance of their periods in the development of New Jersey.

The military drill representing the Revolutionary War period was very well done by a group of twelve boys dressed in white, and all carrying guns.

"New Jersey of Today" was introduced by Chester DeShields, who outlined the high positions of our State in agriculture, good roads, education and commerce. He concluded with the remark that New Jersey's greatest asset was her noble men and women.

The Product Revue provided various fruits and vegetables as boys and girls in costume. The Keystone Watch Case Co., Victor Talking Machine Co., the ship-building importance of Camden were represented.

Dancing in the playlette, "The Fairies' Party" was spontaneous and apparently enjoyed alike by the primary grades who gave it and the audience.

T. C. Williams, assistant principal of the Bordentown Industrial School, addressed the class of six graduates. In referring to the pageant of New Jersey, he said we were justly proud of our State, but advised his hearers so to live that New Jersey would be proud of them.

Russell Jones, one of the graduates, will enter Bordentown in the fall.

Certificates were given out by Howard G. Taylor, Jr., who also announced the names of sixteen boys and girls who had perfect attendance for the year and of eighteen who did not miss more than three days.

The colored Civic Club presented the school with $25 toward the maintenance of its dental clinic. This amount was part of the proceeds from the entertainment held in the school on May 10.

Those who had perfect attendance are as follows: Leon Stanford, Margaret Stanford, Raymond Marks, Lloyd Hardy, Conrad Hardy, Clarence Scales, Joseph Hardy, Hyter Keys, Earl DeShields, Geraldine Hardy, Mabel Thompson, Catherine Stanford, Frances Carter, Arra Hardy, Chester DeShields, Leroy Harrison, Mildred Webb, Theodore Edwards, Richard Ransom, Robert Davis, George Dobson, Fair Belle Gibson, Edward Morton, Arland Stanford, Helen Moore, Russell Jackson.

Pupils who have not been absent mores than three days: John King, Lucille Abanathy, Pauline Harrison, Russell Jones, Marie Abanathy, Robert Scott, Eucebas Morris, Benjamin Roberts.

PALMYRA GIANTS

The Palmyra Giants this year are determined to give their fans a good baseball club and in order to do so they are planning to play much faster clubs than they did last season. Saturday, June 16, the Giants will meet the strong Silver Lake aggregation, a fast club from Clementon, N. J., on the Palmyra Field Club grounds, at 3:30 p. m., and go to Clementon the following day in a return engagement. The silver Lake nine was recently defeated by the strong Maple Shade team 6 to 5 in a hectic battle, so you see they will be a rather strong opponent for the Palmyra giants.

"TRICKY" BIKE STOLEN

Imported Bicycle Disappears While Owner Watches Ball Game

When Edward Hirst got his "tricky" bicycle from England, a few weeks ago, he was the proudest, happiest boy in town. It was the only one of its kind in Riverton—in fact anywhere in this neighborhood so far as is known. It had a "gear shift" giving three speeds, hand brakes for both front and back wheels and a lot of other little things that would delight the heart of any boy.

But now Edward's heart is heavy, for his wonderful bicycle is gone. It was stolen while the ball game was in progress last Saturday afternoon. The local and county police have joined hands in trying to locate the stolen wheel.

OFFICER SHOT IN STRUGGLE WITH ROBBER

Nelson Wallace Shoots His Assailant After Being Wounded Himself

BOTH MEN VICTIM'S OF COP'S OWN GUN

Colored Prisoner Confesses to Many Small Burglaries in This Section

Officer Nelson Wallace of the Palmyra police force is recuperating from bullet wounds in both thighs, which he received in a desperate struggle with a colored robber whom he arrested early Sunday morning.

Alfred Brown, who has confessed to a score of robberies in this vicinity, is in the Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly, under armed guard with a bullet wound in his left thigh and a bullet lodged in his ankle.

Palmyra's Police Chief, C. Morris Beck was convinced that Brown was responsible for petty robberies which had been taking place for over a month and instructed his men to arrest the suspect on sight.

About 2.45 o'clock Sunday morning Wallace recognized the man on Weart Boulevard near Broad street and immediately jumped out of the police car and ordered him to halt. Brown at first made a move to run but changed his mind and walked towards the officer, who by this time had drawn his gun. Without warning the husky thief lunged for Wallace's gun hand and tried to turn the weapon against the officer's body.

Officer Shot in Leg

Wallace was quick to sense the seriousness of the situation and realized that life or death depended on his coolness in meeting the attack of his heavier opponent. With supreme effort he was able to pull the gun away from the vital part of his body, and just in time, for the weapon was discharged as he pulled it to one side and the bullet went through his thigh.

The struggle continued and almost immediately afterwards the gun was discharged again, this time the bullet entered the other thigh. Wallace is of the opinion that this bullet also hit the thief's ankle, as he was able to break away for an instant and during this second was able to pull up his pistol and shoot Brown in the leg.

At this point the thief lost his nerve and wailed, "I'm shot, I'm shot," which didn't deter the wounded officer from finishing the job with his blackjack. Residents of the neighborhood were aroused by the shots and were soon on hand to assist Wallace in taking his prisoner to the lockup. Orrie Layton, Branson Cook and Joseph Stack, who live nearby, were the first ones on the scene.

Wounds Are Treated

Police Physician LeFavor was called to the police station where he treated the wounds of both. Wallace was taken to the home of a friend, John B. Watson, 721 Main street, Riverton, and the prisoner was sent to the Burlington County Hospital. He will be taken to the jail as soon as his wounds will permit.

Several stolen articles were found on the person of the prisoner, including a small gold clock which was valued at $300, two watches and a fountain pen. A shopping bag which he dropped before grappling with the officer was found to contain a leg of lamb, a pound of butter, a bottle of milk and three bottles of soft drinks.

When confronted by Chief Beck, who was called to the police station, Brown confessed to robberies of which he has been suspected during the past several weeks. Harry L. Harder was called to take his confession in short hand.

In a signed statement before Chief Beck, Chief of Police Williams, of Riverton, Joseph Stack, Palmyra special officer and Walter D. Miller, Riverton officer, the prisoner confessed to the score of robberies of which he had been suspected.

Robbed Evans Office

In January, 1927, he said he had entered the office of the Joseph T. Evans coal yard in Riverton and took about $50 from the safe which he found open. Entrance was made through a cellar window which had been left unlocked. He then went to Greenboro, Md., for a while and later returned and entered the same office again and got a like amount of money, again going back to Greenboro.

Brown next turned his efforts to robbing homes in Riverton and Cinnaminson. He admitted entering two homes on Elm avenue about six weeks ago and taking $3.00 and a watch. On another trip he entered the home of Edward Holland, 314 Penn street, S. H. Young, 408 Linden avenue, and Russell Holvick, all of Riverton. He tried several others but was unable to get in. The same night he entered the home of Seymour Parker, colored preacher, at 315 Penn street.

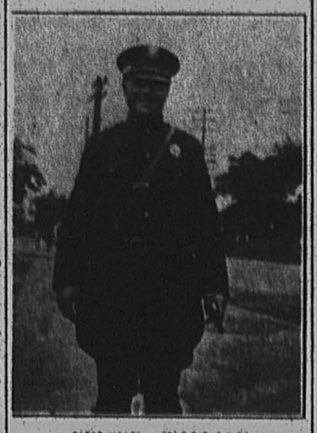

On Friday, May 18, he admitted entering the home of George Heffner, at East Riverton, where he took a felt hat and an umbrella which he left when frightened away from his next job at the home of Calvin Stow. He identified the hat and umbrella when they were shown to him Sunday morning.

Came Up on Bus

The last trip before he was captured was on Monday night, June 4, at which time he came up from Philadelphia on the Riverside bus, which runs to Riverside via the Burlington Pike. This time his depredations were confined to homes at Cinnaminson on the Burlington Pike. He took $5.00 and a pocketbook from the home of Ralph Sims, a hat, coat and watch from the

Riverton Meets First Defeat

Loses First Game This Year to Strong Kirlin Team of Philadelphia

The two baseball teams that the Riverton Athletic Association has placed in the field are making good with a vengeance. The first team is playing in mid-season form and those who have seen the early games are loooking forward to better baseball than the town has had for years.

Last Saturday the team lost its first game of the season to the strong Kirlin team from Philadelphia. It was anybody's game up to the eighth inning, the score being 1 to 0 in favor of the visitors. The final score was 3-1.

Tuesday night, in a twilight game, Riverton beat the Delanco team of the Burlington County League by the score of 4 to 0. The team plays at Memorial Park Saturday afternoons and on Tuesday nights, starting at 6.30.

The Juniors, whose uniforms are the same as those of the big team, except that the word "Juniors" appears on their shirts, are providing a glad surprise to the Committee. This team also plays twilight games and have won all three of the games played. On Monday night they beat Parry A. A. team 12 to 2.

The Athletic Association hopes that the townspeople will turn out and support their efforts to put Riverton on the baseball map, as it is only in this way that winning teams are made.

MOVIE SHOW AT K. of C. HALL

Harold Lloyd and Felix the Cat Will Share Honors

A first-class moving picture show will be the drawing card to fill the K. of C. Hall next Wednesday, June 20, when the local knights will give away four valuable prizes.

A quartette of film attractions, with Harold Lloyd, in "Safety Last" as the feature picture, will be shown. The balance of the bill includes "Felix the Cat," always a laugh, "North of No Where," a comedy love sketch in four reels, and the sporting laugh, a picture of the "padded knuckles" called "The Upper Cut."

Harold Lloyd in "Safety Last," is described as a dynamo of laughs which will electrify you with thrills. The first picture will be at about 8.30 and preparations are being made by T. A. Eadon and his committee to handle an overflow crowd.

The prizes for the drawing are $50.00 in gold, a handsome ladies' wrist watch, a beautiful boys' bicycle and a ton of heat producing nuggets that will help to keep the home fires burning next winter.

LIONS CLUB

New Officials Plan Year of Great Activity

The Palmyra-Riverton Lions Club heard an interesting talk Tuesday evening by Mr. Neal who is connected with the Burlington County Red Cross Life Saving Division.

Mr. Neal told of the scope of the work, its purposes and methods and urged the cooperation of the club in the movement.

New directors are "Bill" Lynch, Ben Reilley and Fred Lippincott.

Kates also has been made a member of the State Board of Directors, having been elected to this honor at the convention held in Asbury Park last week.

The new officers plan a year of great activity and achievement. Next week the speaker will be George Robeson, chairman of the South Jersey Aviation Commission. Entertainment will be furnished by the popular MacCord brother, well known Palmyra musicians.

CAUSE OF FAILURES

Recent statistics on business failures shows 31 percent because of indifferent attitude of salespeople; 10 percent tactless handling of customers; 7 percent insolence; and delay in recognizing the customer's presence, 5 percent. Advocate the improvement of the dispositions of the personnel of your organization and avoid failure. Give this a great deal of thought and you cannot but realize that truth of the above authentic figures.

BRIDGEBORO BRIDGE TO BE OPENED FIRST OF SEPTEMBER

New Structure Will be 16 Feet Higher Than Old and Have 40 Foot Roadway

FORMER TENDER WILL OPERATE NEW DRAW

According to present calculations it will take just about a year to build the new bridge over the Rancocas Creek at Bridgeboro. In an interview last Friday, C. A. Eaton, of Atlantic City, superintendent of construction, said that it is expected to have the bridge open for traffic by the first of September this year.

In September, 1927, the Eastern Engineering Construction Company, of Atlantic City, started operations on the State Highway bridge to replace the old one over the Rancocas Creek at Bridgeboro. Soon after work began quicksand was encountered in midstream, and the method of construction had to be modified somewhat in consequence. Notwithstanding this initial setback and some delays caused by the swift-running tide, progress has been consistent and rapid.

Old Timber Still Good

While tearing down the old structures the workmen found many hand-hewn timbers thirty feet long and a foot square, which were in a perfect state of preservation. These timbers had been driven a few feet into the mud at the bottom of the creek and "anchored" by dumping many tons of stone around them.

The two shore abutments, bascule and rest pier are completed. One pier remains to be finished, and it is expected this will be completed by June 20.

The pier foundations are made of pilings of which about 1500 will be used. Each of the shore abutments has 276 piles and the bascule has 260 piles as a foundation. These piles were cut off 29 feet below high water level.

The superstructure will be of steel girders 80 to 90 feet long, and weighing about 30 tons each. These girders will support the roadway. All the steel work will be encased in concrete except the bascule draw. The engineers estimate that about 6000 cubic yards of concrete will be used. Fifty men constitute a full crew on the operation.

New Bridge Higher

The channel at the bridge is thirty feet deep. Small boats will be able to pass the bridge without opening the draw, as the deck of the bridge will be sixteen feet higher than in the old structure.

Navigation through the draw will be greatly facilitated by the new fender racks, which will be sixty feet apart. They will be constructed of creosoted timbers.

On the east side of the bascule there will be a masonry house for the machinery operating the draw, and a similar structure on the west side will be occupied by the operator. The motive power will be furnished by gasoline engines, and the construction of the operating machinery is such that electric motors can be installed at a later date, if desired, at very little cost.

Forty Foot Roadway

Adequate room for the heavy traffic which will flow over this bridge as soon as it is opened has been provided by a roadway forty feet between curbs. A six-foot sidewalk will accommodate pedestrians. The hand rails will be of concrete except on the draw, where they will be of steel. The total length of the bridge will be 380 feet.

No change has been made in the location of the bridge. The additional width has been added on the down-stream side.

It has been necessary to raise the roadway on each side of the bridge owing to the sixteen-foot elevation of the bridge deck. The fill will require about 35,000 cubic yards of material. This work has been completed on the northern end, and the engineers expect to start the south fill late in June.

Rodman T. Gaskill, of Bridgeboro, who operated the draw in the old bridge for forty years will be in charge of the new structure.

The Eastern Engineering Company built the two-mile bridge at Barnegat, and will soon start work on the reconstruction of a bridge at Manahawkin.

WARNICK-ELLSWORTH

A pretty mid-June wedding was solemnized Wednesday morning the 13th at eleven o'clock, daylight saving time, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus M. Ellsworth, when Miss Gail Mary Ellsworth became the bride of Mr. Albert Ernest Warnick, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Doctor Frank Lukens, of Burlington.

The bride, who wore ivory georgette and a lace hat of matching shade, carried Ophelia roses, and had as her maid of honor Miss Nellie Catherine Armstrong, of "Blinkbonire," Kewanie, Illinois. Mr. C. Paul Warnick, of New York City, brother of the groom, was best man. Ernest Felix Potter, choirmaster of Holy Trinity Chapel, Philadelphia, played the wedding march.

The house was attractively decorated with peonies and ferns, and about fifty guests from Philadelphia, Chicago, New York, Wilmington, Burlington, Haddonfield and Riverton witnessed the ceremony.

PORCH CLUB NOTES

The Juniors of the Riverton Porch Club are giving a bridge party and cake and candy sale, Tuesday, June 19 at 2.30 p. m. The proceeds are to go to the Palmyra ambulance fund. Last year the club made over $100.00 and hope to do even better. All are asked to lend their support. Admission is 50c. All are invited to come and make up tables.

CONGRATULATIONS SENT BY RIVERTON'S MAYOR

Mayor Howard M. Rogers, of Riverton, called Mayor George N. Wimer on the telephone and congratulated him on the efficiency of the Palmyra Police force after Officer Wallace had captured Alfred Brown, colored thief, in a gun battle at Broad street and Weart Boulevard early Sunday morning.

The thief had not entered any homes in Palmyra and when he was being questioned about the robberies said he knew the Palmyra police were always on the job and that he would have had a slim chance of getting away with anything in Palmyra.

Cinnaminson Boys County Champions

Defeat Medford in County Grammar School Class in Final Game

The boys of the Cinnaminson School won the grammar school championship of Burlington county, when they defeated the Medford school on the South Church street grounds, Moorestown, on Friday, June 9. Both teams had won all their previous games except one, and this game provided the Little World's Series for the county school boys.

Cinnaminson was present with 50 rooters who helped to inspire the late rallies which won the game. With the score tied 6-6 at the end of the fifth inning it looked like anybody's game. The local boys, however, added one run in the sixth, five in the seventh and two in the eighth, while the best Medford could produce was two in the ninth.

Medford used three pitchers who allowed 18 hits, while Anderson, of Cinnaminson, granted only three. The latter's inability to find the plate was responsible for 13 passes. These, combined with a dozen stolen bases and three errors, were responsible for most of Medford's runs.

The championship banner of the league is being made and will be held by the Cinnaminson School at least until next season.

RIVERTON JUNIORS WIN THIRD IN ROW

The Riverton Juniors won their third successive game when they defeated the Parry A. A., Monday evening, by a 10 to 2 score.

In the three games played so far this season the younger generation of baseball players has shown a good brand of ball to the public. The Juniors have scored 37 runs, banged out 26 hits to their opponents' 4 runs and 10 hits—a good record for a team of their experience.

NATHAN LANE, 3rd GOES TO R. O. T. C.

Riverton Boy One of Eight Selected from New Jersey

Nathan Lane, 3rd, of Riverton, was one of eight New Jersey youths among R. O. T. C. students at Bordentown Military Institute who were named, May 30, by Major-General Hanson E. Ely, U. S. A., to attend the Reserve Officers' Training Corps encampment opening at Plattsburg, N. Y., on June 15.

According to an announcement from General Ely's headquarters on Governor's Island, the eight have been called to duty for practical field training, maneuvers, and target practice under guidance of Regular Army officers of the Twenty-sixth U. S. Infantry, permanently stationed at Plattsburg.

Thieves Rob Home of Chas. W. Wanger

Daughter's Return Frightens Daylight Robbers Before Looting is Completed

Last Friday afternoon thieves who were attempting to rob the home of Charles W. Wanger, on Golf Road, were frightened off by the return of Mr. Wanger's daughter from school.

As Mary Wanger tried to unlock the back door she heard someone moving about upstairs. Thinking it was her mother, Mary went out to play with her pet dog.

When Mary entered the house she called to her mother but received no reply. After playing a victrola record she went upstairs and found a pile of clothing, including fur coats, silk dresses and linens on the floor in the hallway. The girl was not concerned at the sight as she thought her mother had been housecleaning, but when Mrs. Wanger returned later in the afternoon she realized that they had narrowly escaped a serious loss. Mrs. Wanger called Officer Quigley who took a list of the missing articles and reported the robbery to the county officials.

The value of the goods actually taken was about $250.

SUSPECT PROVES HIS IDENTITY

Taken for Burglar When He Sought Direction to Home of Friend

About two o'clock Friday morning the Riverton police department received a call from the Japanese Beetle Laboratory in Cinnaminson township that someone was trying to break into the building.

Director of Public Safety Williams, accompanied by Officers Miller and Gootee, hurried to the scene of alarm, but saw no one. While cruising about in the neighborhood with the lights on their car out, the officers ran across a man who said he had called at the laboratory to inquire the way to the house of his friend, Harry Lamb, who lived somewhere thereabouts, though he did not know just where.

The stranger was taken to the home of Mr. Lamb, who lives on the Burlington pike near Bridgeboro, where he was identified as Charles Nelson, a Canadian who once worked for Mr. Lamb.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary will be held next Wednesday evening, June 20, in the Legion Home.

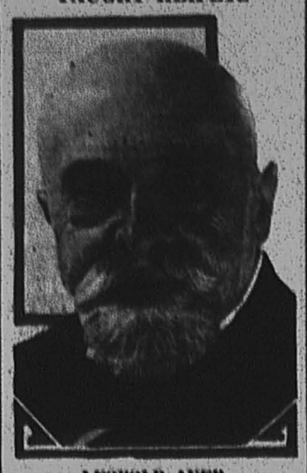

The Auxiliary had a few members in the big parade at Roebling last Saturday afternoon. A good time was had by all and those who did not go surely did miss something great as this was one of the biggest events of Burlington county's activities.

The prize winning essay on "Americanism" written by Edythe M. Winters of Palmyra, who received the medal awarded by the Auxiliary, appears in another column of this paper. Next week, the essay written by the student who receives the medal offered to the Riverton school winner, will be published.

EFFORT TO SELL OR RENT FORMER TEXTILE PLANT

At a meeting of the Mount Holly Chamber of Commerce, held recently, a committe composed of William H. Absalom, George M. Sleeper and William D. Marren, was appointed to cooperate with Royle & Pilkington in efforts to sell or obtain tenants for the large mill belonging to that firm and which has been shut down indefinitely as a textile plant. The sum of $200 was appropriated to be used in advertising the property.

RAMBLERS WIN TWO

The Palmyra Ramblers copped 3 games during the weekend, defeating Sterling A. C. of the Camden Twilight League 13 to 12, McCoy's Cardinals of Riverside 2 to 1, and Gibbon A. A. of Riverside 6 to 5. The Ramblers showed their fight in each game by coming from behind and winning in the last few innings, keeping their slate clean with 6 wins and no defeats.

AUGUSTUS HOLLAND

Augustus, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Holland, died Sunday afternoon from rheumatic fever, which affected the heart at the last. Augustus had been out of school for nearly two months but returned to take his State examinations and passed with high marks in spite of his absence. He was a member of the eighth grade class which graduated from the Riverton public school on Wednesday.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 12 o'clock at the residence of his parents, 208 Penn street, conducted by the Rev. Logan, of Philadelphia. Eight of his boy friends acted as pall-bearers. Interment was made at Eden cemetery, Philadelphia, under the direction of Frank A Snover.

L. G. E. CELEBRATE

Palmyra Temple, L. G. E., celebrated its nineteenth anniversary last Thursday evening. The Temple orchestra rendered two selections, and then a very delightful musical program was furnished by Mrs. Clara Person, of Cinnaminson avenue, and her pupils. About fifty members were present. After an enjoyable evening a banquet was served by Companion and Nellie Lutz and her committee.

Order Wire Fence for School Ground

Delaware Avenue Buildings to be Enclosed by 7-Foot Guard

The program for improving and beautifying the Delaware avenue school grounds was begun last Friday night when the Board of Education met and awarded the contract for furnishing the material and erecting a seven-foot woven wire fence around the grounds.

The contract went to the S. L. Sellers Company, represented by Elwyn Jackson, a former resident of Riverton. The fence which Sellers agreed to furnish is of the very latest type and much better than fences of this kind in general use. The cost of the improved type was but four cents higher than the lowest bid for the ordinary kind. The amount of the contract was $2,529.40.

The use of the Delaware avenue side of the building as the main entrance is to be discontinued when the program is completed. The side facing Weart boulevard and Broad street will be beautified with lawn, shrubs and flowers and will be used as the main entrance.

Under this plan the old building will not be opened when the auditorium is being used in the evenings and entrance will be made through the side door. The long hallway leading through the old part of the structure will not have to be used and will be closed off by means of metal lattice gates which are to be installed. These gates will be on both floors and the basement and persons using the auditorium will not have access to other parts of the school.

The grounds other than the side which is to be planted will be enclosed with the fence and will be graded and paved with cinders making an ideal playground. The fence will also prevent the children from running into the street and will save them from danger of passing automobiles.

HEN TEAM MAKES RECORD

Modesto, Cal.—A team of ten white leghorn hens on a poultry farm near here has been doing very well indeed. The team is believed to have established a world record for egg production during a contest taking thirty days.

The Modesto hens laid 271 eggs, or an average of 27.1 eggs in thirty days for each hen. One bird laid thirty eggs, making an individual record.

Bridge Shuttle Plan Condemned

South Jersey Officials at Merchantville Rap Camden Scheme

Condemning Mayor Winfield Price's shuttle line bridge trolley plan as of advantage only to Camden, official representatives of ten South Jersey towns met Wednesday evening of last week and organized to work for high speed railroad lines over the span.

The meeting was held in the Merchantville borough hall. Mayor Frederick L. Horman, of Merchantville, was elected chairman. He accepted on the condition that the election hold good only for 1928.

He was empowered to name a subcommittee which is to confer with engineers of the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads on plans for the construction of railroad tracks over the Delaware River Bridge.

The organization wants tracks that will link South Jersey communities with the centre of Philadelphia. They condemned the shuttle trolley line idea as slow and cumbersome.

Mayor Holman took several slaps at Public Service Corporation during the discussion. He scored the corporation's efforts to get trolley lines over the span "when it's not giving the public proper service on existing lines. It wants new tracks when it's now tearing up most of its old tracks," he said.

The group already has been in conference with members of the Bridge Commission, and at the last meeting, one of the members was quoted as saying that the bridge trolley line called for nothing more than a "merry-go-round."

A resolution offered by Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, urging that the committee "confine its first efforts exclusively to secure railroad transportation from South Jersey to central Philadelphia," was passed.

Mayor Philip G. Knebel, of Collingswood, was chosen vice chairman, and Mayor E. H. Rigg, of Woodbury, secretary-treasurer.

Plague has only one syllable, but Ague has two. Whether or not it can be confuted is not for me to dispute.

SOME GAME

Berkeley, Cal.—The University of California and Stanford have been playing a game of chess since 1928. The game is likely to last ten years. Seven players at the University of California started the game in 1928. Only one member of the original team still attends the university. Each day at noon the California team decides on a move and mails it to Stanford. Stanford mails its move to Berkeley. And the same game still goes on!

COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE

During the removing of the injured in a railroad wreck one man was found to be lodged among twisted rails and rods and impossible to remove. Conductors duty was to find out who has was. He called: What's your name? John Smith. Where do you live? St. Louis. Are you married? No. This is the worst fix I was ever in.

County YWCA Elects Officers

Mrs. Davis Mrs. Matlack and Mrs. Wood in Executive Positions

President, Mrs. John W. Davis, Edgewater Park; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. William Matlack, Moorestown; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Charles S. Beckwith, Pemberton; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. E. P. Darlington, New Lisbon; Secretary, Mrs. Alexander Wood, Cinnaminson; Treasurer, Mrs. M. W. Newcomb, Brown's Mills.

The following Board members whose terms expired in June, 1928, were re-elected to serve for another period of three years:

Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, Moorestown; Mrs. John W. Davis, Edgewater Park; Miss Lydia H. Parry Hainesport; Miss Mildred Purnell, Mount Holly; Mrs. Walter Reeder, Columbus; Mrs. George Rigg, Burlington; Mrs. Alexander Wood, Cinnaminson; Mrs. Charles Wright, Columbus.

New members elected to serve on the county Board were as follows:

Mrs. A. R. Gaisler, Riverton; Mrs. Barclay Allen, Vincentown; Mrs. Helen Wilkins Johnson, Medford; Miss Cecelia Hutchinson, Bordentown; Mrs. John Hamilton, Pemberton; Miss Marjorie Marcy, Riverton.

Excellent reports of the year's work were given by chairmen of standing committees, district chairmen, and officers. The president, Mrs. John W. Davis, stated that these reports showed the extensive and intensive piece of work that is being done by the Burlington County Y. W. C. A. With three secretaries employed in the work the future offers even greater opportunities for service.

The staff for the coming year is as follows: Sallie Sumner, executive secretary; Sidonie Schafer, associate secretary; Dorothy Rehbart, girl reserve secretary; Rebecca Phillips, office secretary.

Miss Elizabeth Blick, State Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was in Mount Holly, Friday and Saturday of last week working on plans for the Y. W. C. A. camp for girls of Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, and Monmouth counties.

Mrs. John W. Davis, president of the Burlington County Y. W. C. A., was one of the speakers at the organization meeting of the Somerset County Y. W. C. A. at Somerville on Wednesday, June 13. Miss Elizabeth Blick is organizing this new county association.

Miss Frances Crittenden of the national Y. W. C. A. staff, of New York, will speak at the county Board meeting on Tuesday, June 19, at 10 A. M.

The Riverside Girls' Adventure Club met Monday evening at the Methodist Church. The girls are working hard on preparations for the recognition ceremony which will be held early in July. At present they are particularly interested in learning the Girl Reserve Code perfectly and making a set of flags for their club.

Friday evening the Riverside colored club held an interesting meeting at the school. These girls are planning many worth-while things to do this summer. They will have a recognition service in July. At the close of the meeting they played baseball.

Thursday afternoon the Moorestown High School Girl Reserves elected their officers for the coming year. Ellen Alpigini was elected president, with Peggy Frecht vice-president, Mary Elizabeth Reeter, treasurer, and Doris Henlon, secretary.

Moorestown Boy Wins Essay Prize

William Herman Writes the Best Paper in County WCTU Contest

William Herman, of the Ninth Grade of Moorestown High School, has been adjudged the winner in the County Essay Contest conducted by the County W. C. T. U., and he has been awarded the first prize.

What Effects of Alcohol Make Total Abstinence Important in Modern Method of Travel?

What would Columbus think if he were to cross the Atlantic Ocean to America in the Santa Maria today? Fast ocean liners would cross the ocean and return many times while he was going across once. When he got here, countless automobiles would be speeding along paved highways. The sky would be full of fast airplanes carrying mail and passengers. Great express trains would be roaring across mountains and plains.

This has all come about because man has learned to harness the forces of nature. However, these same machines can play havoc if left to themselves. Man's brain and nerves are necessary to guide the machines.

Alcohol thickens the brain. One cannot think swiftly when under the influence of alcohol. Locomotive engineers have to have their brains sharp. Alcohol lessens one's ability to see danger and, after the danger has been seen, alcohol interferes with the ability to avoid the danger.

Alcohol impairs one's judgment in regard to distance. In the heavy traffic of large cities, bus drivers and taxicab drivers have to watch out for pedestrians and for cars coming out of side streets.

Alcoholic liquors deaden one to taking necessary precautions in regard to danger. They make one reckless in the face of danger, from over-confidence.

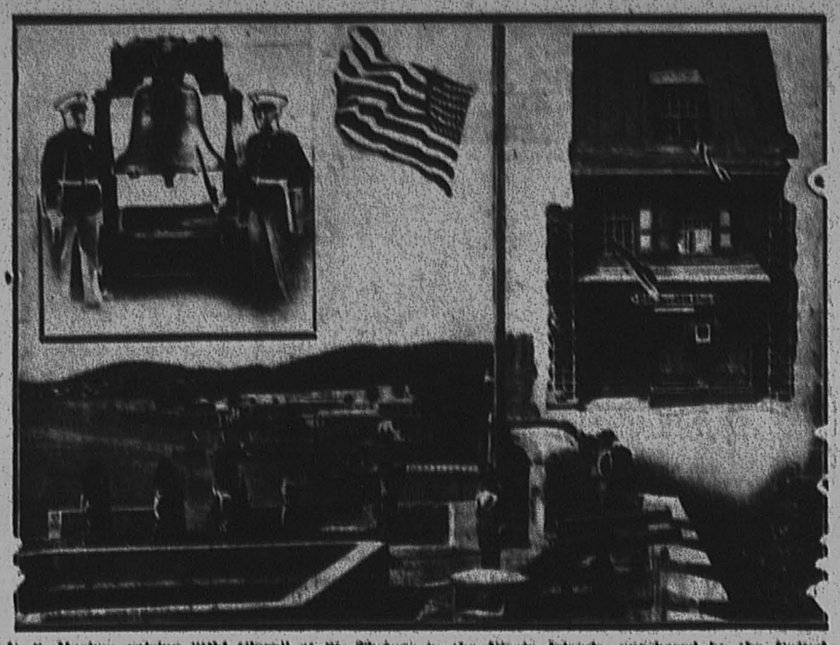

Control of one's nerves is weakened by alcohol. A railroad engineer or dispatcher has many signals to obey. A wrong interpretation of a signal may spell disaster. Bus drivers and taxi drivers in cities have traffic signals to watch out for.

Intoxicating liquors make unsteady hands and feet. The hand at the throttle of an engine must be steady. Steady hands are necessary to apply brakes. The bus driver or motorist must hold the wheel steady or he will find himself in the ditch. A common slogan among car drivers is, "Booze and gasoline don't mix at the steering wheel." Aviators must surely have a steady hand on the "stick." The aviator must keep his "ship" on a steady course to avoid danger to his plane and to himself. A slogan among aviators is, "Wine does not mix well with flying."

Hearing is affected by alcohol. The bus or taxcab driver, railroad engineer, or aviator cannot tell when a part is not functioning properly in the engine, if he is under the influence of alcohol.

To be a good citizen of the United States, one should do his best to obey every law of his country and teach others to do likewise. As Henry Ward Beecher said, "Laws are not masters, but servants and he rules them who obeys them."

Tariff Hearing

Notice has recently been received from the U. S. Tariff Commission stating that it has finished an investigation of the fresh tomato situation as it is effected by the imports from foreign countries, and that a public hearing will be held at the office of the U. S. Tariff Commission, at Washington, D. C., at ten o'clock on June 25, 1928. At this time and place all parties interested will be given opportunity to be present to produce evidence supporting their contention that there should be an increase in the tariff on fresh tomatoes.

Kinds of Salads

Lettuce, cabbage, and celery are available in almost any market during the entire year, and may be used alone or with other foods. Several combinations are suggested by the state extension foods specialist. New cabbage is delicious served with a sour cream dressing. If desired, add some diced celery or cucumber. Celery seed may be substituted if fresh celery is not available. Pineapple and cabbage is another favorite. Few vegetables offer the body as many minerals and vitamins as raw cabbage.

Among the cooked vegetables used for salads at this season we immediately think of asparagus. When preparing asparagus for dinner, cook an extra amount to be used for salad the following day. Remove that which is to be used for salad before it has become too soft. Season cooked vegetables with a little French dressing about fifteen minutes before serving. One or two tablespoons of the dressing will be sufficient to season the asparagus. Cut a narrow ring from a green or red pepper and slip the asparagus into it; usually six tips are served each person. Cooked string beans are attractive served in this way when they are not broken before being cooked. Any cooked vegetable, meat or fish is improved in flavor if placed in French dressing a while before combining the salad.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, and sweet flavored onions furnish a variety in flavor and texture. The acid flavor of the tomato is desirable with many good food combinations.

French dressing is usually served with a salad dinner. Cooked dressing is equally good if the family prefers it. Mayonnaise dressing is better for the salad which is the main dish of the meal, such as meat or fish salad.

JEALOUS LIONS ATTACK TRAINER

Syracuse.—Seven veteran lions of Spark's circus became jealous when a new lion was brought into the act. They started fighting, and John Guiltoyle, trainer, in trying to rescue the new lion, was bitten and clawed severely and is in a serious condition.

Harriet Guiltoyle, leopard trainer, was the first to enter the cage to help her husband, who is expected to recover. There were over 1000 spectators. A panic was narrowly avoided.

Character that keeps countenance dispite insult can be seen by Character, its brother. Can you quality?

VISITING NURSE

There were three nursing organization represented, The American Nurses Association, The National Organization of Public Health Nurses and the League of Nursing Education. 4500 nurses registered. Every State was represented.

During the week, Miss Blair attended a dinner of the Public Health Nurses from Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, of which she was a graduate of the Class of 1924, a dinner of the American Red Cross Nurses, a luncheon of the General Hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, from where she graduated.

Four big points were stressed during the convention: 1. To reduce and improve the supply of graduate nurses. 2. To replace students and graduate nurses. 3. Help the hospitals meet the cost of the graduates. 4. Get public support for nursing education.

ADDITIONAL ROAD FUNDS

Freeholder Charles R. Stout, head of the road department in Burlington county, appeared in person before the State Highway Commission at its meeting in Trenton last week and made a request for $25,000 for Burlington county from the State road fund, with which to complete the Bordentown-Chesterfield-Jacobstown to New Egypt road, less than one mile of which is yet to be built, and which will form a connecting link of hard-surfaced road between Bordentown and the coast resorts. His request was granted.

DOESN'T LIKE REDUCING

Bayonne, N. J.—Leo Fauer, local "fat boy," who weighs 276 pounds, disappeared from the Presbyterian Hospital because he did not like the diet which had reduced his weight ten pounds. When he was found after several days, his father had him arrested on a technical charge of disorderly conduct. Later he was bailed out.

SHOOTS BIRDS, THEN HIMSELF

San Antonio, Tex.—Edward Perrenot, 12, committed suicide by hanging himself in the doorway of his home. A note, left by the boy said simply: "I killed myself on account of shooting a redbird."

Number of Hospital Patients Increases

Value of New County Institution Fully Realized by Public

Quite remarkable has been the increase in the number of patients at the new Burlington County Hospital in Mount Holly over the maximum number handled at the old hospital. When the new building was occupied on May 15 there were fifteen patients to be moved from the old hospital. On June 1 there were sixty patients in the new institution, and since then the daily number has been above fifty.

These figures and this condition bear out the early prediction of those identified with the hospital work that the people of Burlington county would not be long in recognizing the value of a modern hospital equipped with a medical and suratical staff, a nurse organization and all the facilities needed to meet the demands of the sick and injured. The prediction is now made that within a year the new building will be almost occupied and the 100 bed capacity will not be any too great to meet Burlington county's requirements.

Many New Patients

Among the new patients there are people who could well afford to go to any hospital of their selection, but they went to Mount Holly after having seen the new institution and inquired about the character and ability of the staff and had made themselves acquainted with the last-word appointments.

Added to the surgical and medical layout is a most efficient business management to which much credit goes for the smooth running that has attracted attention of patients, visitors and critics.

Nurses' School Coming

When the Board of Managers met on Tuesday it was decided to establish a nurses' training school in the fall. It is expected that this school will be given state recognition so the graduates will have a recognized standing that will make them eligible for State Board examination.

The Managers have been given the liberty to make it known that Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lewis, of Mount Holly, both of whom have been wonderful friends of the hospital and patients, have provided the major operating room with equipment as a part of their gift, including a very expensive lighting equipment for this room. This is a lamp that is so constructed as to give the maximum of light required without casting any shadows that would interfere with a surgeon's work. A surgeon may move about as he pleases in operating and the light on the patient will always be the same.

Free Ward Treatment

The hospital staff, Dr. Harold E. Longedorf, of Mount Holly, chief of staff and Dr. Harry L. Rogers, of Riverton, secretary, have adopted a policy followed by all modern hospitals in regard to the treatment of ward patients, namely, free medical attention. The public wards are provided for people who do not have the means to pay their full maintenance to the hospital. The maximum daily fee of $2.50 is charged, whereas the full maintenance would be nearly $6.00. In cases where people are unable to pay anything to the hospital they are admitted and cared for in the same manner as pay patients. The staff provides free medical attention for ward cases.

The hospital is known as an open hospital. A patient in a private room or a semi-private ward may have his own physician attend him regardless of the department designation of such physician. Such patients have the privilege of calling in any consultants whom they may desire at any time.

CAR INSPECTION BEFORE LONG TRIP

Service Station Visit Good Precaution Before Starting Trip

A service station inspection of the car before starting off on a vacation tour constitutes the best assurance of a pleasant and untroubled trip, it is pointed out by R. A. Armstrong, service manager of the Oakland Motor Car Company.

"If nothing else, have the car tightened up, thoroughly oiled and greased," he said. "Fill the crank case with fresh oil, check the lubricant in the transmission and differential. Sustained driving during warm weather is the most severe test of lubrication and this detail above all should not be neglected.

"If the motorist has not already done so, he should have the generator charging rate reduced lest the preponderance of day driving overcharge and damage the battery. It is well, too, to have the battery tested occasionally enroute. Another good tour precaution is to have the valves ground and the carbon cleaned. This will assure maximum performance. And above all, be sure of your tires."

HITTING THE PUBLIC EYE

"The American public likes art that is wholesome, genuine and "folksy," declared the art editor of a national magazine, in a recent discussion of his long experience in selecting covers to please millions of readers. The American public takes its magazine covers seriously, he says. It echoes thunderous applause, registers hurt disapproval, laughs heartily, and offers suggestions.

Hitting the public eye with pictures is a complicated, interesting and important phase of the publishing business. Time was when the ideal cover bore the head of a lovely girl, and to be a cover artist meant merely being a painter of beautiful women. But the beautiful cover girl did not bear the test of time. Today she is practically extinct.

Today the cover of a magazine works. It increases the contacts between a magazine and its readers. It provokes a flood of letters from a public that has come to take a personal interest in its favorite publications.

As a result, cover themes have changed, and the selection of designs has become a higher science for the art editor and his associates.

A cover selection last year showed a puppy being bullied out of his plate of bones by a big red rooster. "It never could happen;" no puppy would ever be frightened by a rooster," wrote hundreds of earnest readers. The editor replied meticulously to the critics and produced a photograph of a similar occurrence.

Again last Christmas, when the cover artist showed a youngster finding a puppy in a Christmas stocking there was wide discussion among ardent cover fans. Some declared the picture portrayed a form of cruelty to animals. Others again asserted that "It couldn't happen." The file of photographs once more disclosed a similar scene from real life.

That is how real the gures in a magazine cover are to the public. There is a general dislike for pictures of haughty girls looking out from half-closed eyes. They arouse the ire of men, especially. Accordto the editor, the interest of the public increases a magazine covers, and varieties must be endlessly drawn from real life. Hundreds of suggestions come from readers; few of them are practical for a variety of reasons, but all of them get a complete and careful consideration from the art editor or his assistants.

THE CLOSE OF SCHOOL

When you were a school-boy, or school-girl, a red letter day of the year was when school was dismissed for the summer vacation. It mattered not if you were one of the ones who like to go to school. There are such girls and an occasional boy of the same kind. The attitude of the pupils at the closing of the school year will not be misunderstood by those who have not forgotten their own feelings under similar circumstances. There is eagerness to lay aside books and pencils and rest from the routine which has been the order for many months.

The suggestion which is sometimes made that the school year should be continuous and that the summer vacation, if granted at all, should be short, gets mighty little indorsement from those whom it would affect chiefly. Even the teachers we imagine would not wish to surrender the weeks of relaxation though it might mean a little more pay.

The average boy in the grades regards school as a species of punishment inflicted on him because he cannot help himself. It is the exception for the boy to hold it needful to do more than will "get him by." This may not be the ideal boy, but it is somewhere near the description of the normal boy. When the boy lands in the high school, ambition may burgeon, but the small boy who is too studious is likely to be regarded as catering to the prize of being the teacher's pet and that in the average estimate is nothing but a disgrace.

It is well that parents and school authorities have views somewhat at variance with the pupils, else school rooms would not be filled to the extent they are. Were it not so there would be longer vacations and shorter school terms. It happens that so long as children are in the grades, the parents know what is best for them. When the children get into college the situation may be reversed and the children know what is best for parents. At least there is some practice on that theory.

HOOVER ON ADVERTISING

"Advertising has become one of the life of our modern world, declares Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in a recent article.

"Advertising has become one of the vital forces in our entire industrial and commercial system," says Mr. Hoover. "It is now fixed as an integral part of this complex civilization we have built up.

"Were it not for the growth of newspaper advertising our publishers would not be able to produce the great journals which are of such incalculable value. Advertising has taken over the job of creating desire, and also the job of creating good will in order to make desire stand hitched. Our standards of living are much higher today than they would have been, were it not for the part played by advertising."

DEATH TO THE FLY

If there is no breeding place for flies there will be no flies. The almost total disappearance of stables from cities has removed a prolific source of fly propagation. But not all the spots which assist the fly in preserving his species were in the vicinity of stables. Where there is filth there will be flies and where flies go there will some of the filth accompany them.

Time was when flies were endured as an inevitable annoyance without an appreciation of the menace to health their presence is. They swarmed because no effort was made to eradicate them. That era is past but there are still those who tolerate conditions which in effect are not inimical to the interests of the fly. Not every house occupant can prevent flies from seeking entrance but everyone can keep them on the outside. It is within the province of all to refuse to purchase food products which are accessible to flies.

Were everyone to eliminate breeding places on his own premises and to screen and swat, the fly soon would become as completely extinct as the monsters of which we know only through their fossil remains. The fly is small but he makes up in industry and persistence what he lacks in size. We become alarmed when an epidemic threatens, yet too many of us tolerate the fly when we know his capacity as a disease carrier. Because he is no novelty we minimize the peril which he may transmit.

OUR STORES

Retail stores are doing business today on a smaller margin of profit than ever.

The higher range of prices prevailing since the war has stimulated competition and has forced retail trade to remodel its system of operation and to make every possible improvement and economy in its methods. The stores are saving a margin for the public as a result of improved distribution methods.

Merchants today are putting more brains in their work. They get better expert advice, they understand markets better, they train their employes to render better service.

The best way to make the people of our town realize the fine quality of the service they get from their stores is by consistent advertising of those stores. As they read the newspaper advertising people learn about special chances to buy goods which they would never have known about otherwise.

They learn that stores are carrying lines that they knew nothing about. They get information warning them of conditions that tend toward higher prices, and showing them how they can save money by prompt purchasing. They learn that their home merchants have been scouring the country to obtain the best merchandise obtainable. They discover that their home stores are working mightily to provide the necessities and conveniences of life at the lowest possible price consistent with substantial merit.

The advertised store is the appreciated store.

FLAG DAY

Of unusual siguificance this year is Flag Day, which falls on June 14. For within the past year our flag has been carried by brave, adventurous flyers to far corners of the earth. And our flag flies now over a domain that is blessed with peace and good will—good will even toward former enemies. The rifts between nations have healed. The flag flies over a happy, contented, peaceful and prosperous land.

Flag Day this year, should inspire noble sentiments and gratitude. We should be thankful that our international relations are amicable and grateful for the prosperity our country enjoys. Now we are embarked on a great undertaking; negotiations are going on through Secretary Kellogg that may result in the ultimate outlawry of all war.

As we look up at our flag flying over homes and official buildings on Flag Day, as we participate in local celebrations of the event, we should bear in mind that our flag has become a symbol of international good will, and a harbinger of the message of eventual peace the world over.

All honor to Our Flag.

THE MONTH OF ROSES

June is the month of roses. Roses that gladden the heart, delight the senses. Roses that are the fairest flower of God's creation!

What can be more beautiful than a lovely, full-grown rose, exhaling the very odor of beneficence?

Let us make June truly the month of roses, in more senses than one. June ushers in the summer, the glad time of play and healthful occupation, the season of sport and flowers and sun-beauty. By taking full advantage of the opportunities for beautiful living offered by the summer, we can make our lives as joygiving, as perfect, as a rose!

We must not droop and lose color, but remain in full bloom throughout the summer—alive and glowing, like the flowers in our garden.

From time immemorial poets have compared their loves to the rose. It has always been the symbol of whatever is healthy, lovely and of good report.

Let your mind dwell on the perfection of the rose, and strive for that perfection in your own life.

A NEW PLAN
SINGING AND HEALTH
NO RAIN IN FOUR YEARS
THE VICE-PRESIDENCY

H. G. Wells has a plan for management and government of this earth, with one board of directors running the whole thing.

Religions, says Wells, have run their course. Christianity, which began with "the complete communism," has become the completest capitalism.

"Take all thou hast and give to the poor," has been changed to "get all thou canst, and Devil take the hindmost."

Buddhism began a complete renunciation. Buddha let the hungry tigress eat his body. Now vilest superstition replaces Buddha's teachings—and so it goes.

Mr. Wells' plan is interesting like that of Plato, in his "Republic," Moore in his "Utopia," and Karl Marx, in his book that became the foundation of modern sollalism.

Each one would work as well as the other, that is to say, not at all. Yet each is useful, for it makes men think, and that is important.

The human race is an individual on a bigger scale, and it is in its infancy. It is useless to contemplate a baby two years old and plan to make a man of it in six months.

You must observe how and at what rate your race or individual can grow, then do what you can to direct and promote good growth.

The most important work now is to encourage thought and to distribute knowledge. And the greatest agency is the public school.

"Give light, and the people will find their own way," Give good public schools and you give light.

Madame Reggio, opera singer, climbed the 1,358 steps of New York's Woolworth building in 13 minutes and 4 seconds, beating previous records.

Thirty-eight years old, weight 104 pounds, the lady earned $3,000 by the climb, and did a useful thing by impressing the health value of singing. Nothing develops the lungs as singing does. Sing at your work and avoid consumption. Teach your children to sing. Imitate the British, who always sing, whether they CAN sing or not.

Farmers in the Little Karoo and other parts of Cape Province are disturbed by the worst drought in South Africa's recorded history. No rain has fallen in four years, fertile lands turn to deserts, farm houses are falling into ruins, the last green leaf has disappeared.

We have all cause for thankfulness. Lack of rainfall would make life impossible. A tilting of the earth, spilling the oceans, would sweep this continent with a tidal wave a mile high. A change in water from H2O to H2O2 would change the water into peroxide of hydrogen. And if, like other substances, water contracted with the cold, instead of expanding, as it turns to ice, the ice would sink to the bottom of lakes and rivers, accumulate there and prevent navigation.

We have reason to be thankful.

Whom would you suggest for Vice-President on the Republican ticket? How would you go about selecting him?

New York's Business Men's League suggests Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. His father accepted the Vice-Presidency against his will, complaining "I am being sidetracked." It turned out to be quite a conspicuous "side track."

Governor Lowden is said to have declined the Vice-Presidency when Harding was elected. Had he accepted, he would be President now.

One blast, one underground explosion, one cave-in kills miners in West Virginia, Kentucky and Nevada. And hope has been abandoned for more than one hundred miners in the Mather mine in Pennsylvania.

Ten seniors of Princeton University announce their intention to take up aviation as a life work. Ocean flights have stimulated that interest.

FARM PRICES WILL AID AUTO INDUSTRY

Auburn Official Sees Unusual Demand for Cars Throughout the Year

Report of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics that farm prices are the highest in three years is of especial interest to automobile manufacturers and dealers in that it opens up a sales field that has been dormant for some time, W. E. McDarby, sales manager of Auburn points out.

"The optimistic report of the bureau, which shows that farm products are generally higher for May and June 1928 over the same period of last year should be a stimulus to all automobile men and especially to those in the smaller towns," McDarby said.

He pointed out that the basis of the nation's prosperity depends on the prosperity of the farmer and with higher prices in view for his products, 1928 automobile business should move to new high records.

McDarby called special attention to the report of the bureau which showed increases in the prices of grains, fruits, vegetables and live stock.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

THE NEW CALENDAR

Attention has been called several times in this column to the efforts being made to have adopted a new calendar having 13 months of 28 days each.

It has been suggested that America have the courage to adopt this standard without waiting for Europe. If it shall be so, if the South American and North American countries unite in their effort to change the calendar it will be another indication that American civilization has definitely broken the bonds still further that heretofore have tied them to the older peoples of Europe.

We have got used to the old system, whatever it is. We acknowledge its drawbacks, but we know what they are. We do not know what difficulties an untried plan would involve.

Most of us are familiar with the proposal. It is to have 13 months of 28 days, exactly 4 weeks in each month, making every week day occur on a fixed monthly date and having every holiday occur on the same week day, making calendars unnecessary, having the date of the week indicate the day of the month, adding an extra day to the year and inserting an extra month, the 13th, as a month called Sol between June and July, and adding an extra day every Leap Year to June.

This seems to be a subject that could well be considered by the League of Nations, but it is now proposed that America lead the way without waiting for world consent.

Mr. Cotsworth says that if conservative Europe could discard the computations of hundreds of years and adopt the metric system of weights and measures it is not too much to expect that advanced and efficient America could discard an antique calendar wholly unadapted to this modern age.

RIVERTON ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. W. Field attended the commencement exercises of Bucknell University last week, at which time their daughter, Margaret graduated with "magna cum laude" distinction, and attained the second highest standing in her class of 217 graduates. The Palmyra baseball team journeyed to Burlington Saturday to do battle with the Burlington team of the Burlington County League. You folks who have never seen this ball park haven't seen everything in the way of pastures where the national pastime is indulged in.

On this particular baseball lot the right field fence is located a few short steps back of first base and the right fielder plays just about where second basemen cavort in other parks. All he has to do during the game is to lean against the fence and watch pop flies sail over the barrier and be written in the statistics as two-base wallops. The left field barrier is something different, when sacrifice flies are hit to this garden they refer to them as three-baggers.

All this wouldn't be so bad if it wasn't for the swamp grass that grows so luxuriously in the outfield, where baseballs become entangled in the meadow grass and lose themselves before the outfielders have a chance to gather them up. Add to this a backstop that doesn't backstop and you have a fair idea of the baseball facilities of the big town up the river.

While we are about it it wouldn't be out of the way to tell you something about the ball game,—well, Palmyra lost, that's the reason we are all "hot up" about the ball park and if you don't think it justified just take a look the next time you travel up the state highway. About the game,—Burlington won, 6 to 3.

This game wasn't a comedy of errors, not that there weren't enough errors, but the loyal fans failed to see anything to smile about. Pitcher Reber did his stuff splendidly, a thing which is beginning to be expected of the flashy southpaw. In one inning Reber made one put out unassisted and struck out four opposing batsmen. That's a hot one for you,—figure it out if you can. It happened this way: One man hit a roller just inside the right foul line. Reber rushed over, scooped it up, and tagged him out. Twice the batter reached first after the catcher dropped the third strike, one time beating the throw to the bag and again being safe after Baker threw the horsehide to third without touching the initial basesock.

The locals hit safely twelve times but were unable to make their hingles count. Burlington touched Reber for ten and he disposed of fourteen via the strike-out route.

ODD FELLOWS

Cinnaminson Lodge Will Pay Tribute To Deceased Members

In keeping with their usual custom, Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201, I. O. O. F. will pay tribute to their deceased members at a Memorial Service to be held in the Lodge room this Friday evening.

A special program has been arranged to fittingly commemorate this occasion and it is hoped that every member will avail himself of this opportunity to pay his individual respect to the departed brothers, many of whom laid the foundation of No. 201, and through whose efforts Cinnaminson Lodge has grown and thrived through the years.

The service will follow the regular business meeting, the latter of which will be shortened in order that due time will be given to pay respects to the deceased.

On Saturday evening, in front of the residence of Mayor Wimer, the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Good of the Order Committee will hold a cake and pie sale. Cards have been issued the members asking for contributions toward the sale and Noble Grand Edwin Fish has issued a special request that every member also do his bit toward making this venture a success.

DEMOCRATS ENTERTAINED

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

The Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its regular morning service of worship at 11 o'clock Sunday and the evening service at 8 o'clock. The pastor will preach at both services.

All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 o'clock.

At 7 o'clock Sunday evening the Christian Endeavor Society will meet in the Church School auditorium, and invites all the young people of the congregation to meet with them.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold its regular meeting tomorrow, Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Church parlor.

Wednesday evening, June 20, midweek service at 8 o'clock.

The Church School picnic will be held this year at Knight's Park, Collingswood, on Friday, June 22. Buses will leave Riverton station at 10 o'clock and at 1 o'clock; they will also stop at Palmyra station. There will be a charge of 25 cents for transportation for those who are not members of the Church School.

The Men's Brotherhood will meet Monday evening at eight o'clock.

SAMARITAN CLASS

A new spirit has entered into the activities of the Samaritan Class of the Central Baptist Church as was well manifested at their regular monthly meeting held on Tuesday evening in the church.

While this class has been proclaimed one of the most enthusiastic of bible classes in this vicinity, it is not resting upon its laurels but is, on the contrary, taking on additional impetus since the starting of the erection of the new church.

During the business of the evening, the Secretary, George Weaymans, read a communication from an admirer of the class, in which was contained a check for $100, with a request that this amount be added to the class budget toward the new church building.

A committee comprising Albert Reeves, Thomas Taylor and James Weart was appointed to confer with the Building Committee of the church to decide upon just what contribution will be made by the class in connection with the new building or the furnishings.

Collecting old newspapers and selling same, an established method used by the class to increase its treasury, has been a profitable enterprise and the class will again collect on this Friday evening. They will meet at the church at 7 o'clock and hope to have the co-operation of all the members.

Tuesday evening was a notable evening, as it was the birthday anniversary of Leslie Reeves, Sr. A fitting toast was given him by James M. Weart, and all the members joined in extending Mr. Reeves their hearty congratulations. Dr. LeFavor was present, and needless to state, the balance of the evening was enjoyable.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, Pastor

Tonight the Palmyra High School auditorium will reverbrate the strains of music from violin, piano and voice. Five concert artists will combine their talents for a single evening's entertainment. Music lovers will not remember a higher-class musical program ever presented in Palmyra. Mrs. Bartge's class, "The Tricks," are sponsoring the concert, the proceeds from which are for the building fund. Be there!

Pastor Lockett will leave this week for the convention of Rotary International in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The convention meets from June 17 to 22, inclusive.

Robert D. Coward, of Riverton, will preach at both morning and evening services on Sunday, during the absence of the pastor.

The new Central Baptist Church continues to grow under the daily effort of the builders. Beautiful new post-cards have been made showing the architect's drawing of the magnificent edifice when completed. These cards are being sold by members of the Primary Department, and every member and friend of the church should have some for their own inspiration and to mail to their friends.

So many social activities have been covered by the various church organizations that the Primary Department is now planning a "What Not." What's that, we wonder? We'll know before July 14, however.

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

J. William Lee, Minister

The Church School will begin at 10 a. m., with courses of character building for all.

Morning Worship, 11.15 a. m. Ministry of Music. "Melody in F," Rubenstein; "Berceuse," Goddard. Anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord." Sermon, "Hallowed be Thy Name." Second sermon on The Lord's Prayer.

The Epworth League Devotional Meeting, 6.45 p. m.

Evening Worship, 7.45 to 8.45 p. m. Ministry of Music. "Romance," Rubenstein; "To a Wild Rose," MacDougall; "Prize Song," Wagner; Anthem, "Hear My Prayer." Inspiring Song Service. First sermon in new series, "Bible Types of Modern Men We Meet Every Day, Every Where." Subject, "The Man Who Has Forgotten Yesterday."

On account of Sunday School picnic the Mid-week Service will be held on Thursday, June 14.

Epworth League business meeting for the election of officers will be held at the close of the prayer service.

The Intermediate League Social to have been held Thursday evening has been postponed.

The Standard Bearers will hold their last meeting for the season at the home of Virginia Willis, 934 Columbia avenue, at 6.30 p. m. A good social time has been planned and all girls between 10 and 16 are invited. Bring a box lunch.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild will be held in the Temple, Thursday evening, June 21, 8 o'clock. An interesting program and social hour will follow the election of officers for the ensuing year. All the women of the Church are urged to attend.

8 DRUNKS IN FOUR DAYS

Three drunken drivers were arrested in Merchantville and Pennsauken township in four days last week.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Washington Camp No. 23, Patriotic Sons of America, will worship in First Lutheran Church in a body on this coming Sunday evening, June 17, at 7.45 P. M. The large middle section of seats will be reserved for the special guests of the evening. Besides music by our First Lutheran Choir, under the leadership of Lee Mitton, the Cornish Male Choir will render sacred music suitable to the occasion. This is a large choir of male voices which has achieved distinction in years past for their work in religious, social and lodge gatherings. They gave a most acceptable program of music in our church on the evening of April 27 last. The pastor will preach on the theme: "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty."

Robert Fraser, the noted blind gospel singer and preacher of Philadelphia, will be with us in person to sing and speak. He has chosen as his subject, "Christ Seeking Sinners." This service will start promptly at 11.15 Sunday morning.

We wish to thank all children and adults who took part in the inspiring Children's Day program given in our church last Sunday morning. The large number present attested to the fact that they believed a good program was forthcoming, and the satisfied expressions and words of praise showed that their presentiment was fully justified. Let us keep this splendid spirit in our Sunday School throughout the summer months. The devotional period begins at ten Sunday morning.

A special service for the men of our church is planned for the morning of June 24. The slogan "100 men present" has been adopted and there will be novel features in the service. Christ issued a challenge to the men of our church and every other church to take advantage of the opportunity offered in this generation to win the communities to Him. Come.

In the evening of the 24th, our First Lutheran Choir and the Hillyard Instrumental Quartette will render a sacred musical service. Further details of the program will be given later.

Luther League Sunday evening at 6.45. Miss Ethel R. Eggman is the leader. Camden District Rally in our church, June 28.

The Ladies' Aid Society is holding a strawberry festival and cake sale on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, June 16, in the basement of the church. Your patronage is cordially solicited.

MRS. ALICE DORRANCE HOOD

Mrs. Alice Dorrance Hood died last Wednesday evening at the home of her brother, Dr. John T. Dorrance, at Pomona Farms, Cinnaminson, after a prolonged illness contracted while visiting South America.

Mrs. Hood was born at Bristol, Pa., the daughter of Mrs. John Dorrance and the late John Dorrance. She attended St. Mary's Hall, Burlington.

Besides her mother, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Robert E. Lake, Shorehill, N. J., and Mrs. Roy Dudley, Coronado, Calif., and two other brothers, Dr. George N. Dorrance, Philadelphia, and Arthur C. Dorrance, of Riverton.

Funeral services were held at St. James Church, Bristol, at 11.15 Saturday morning.

Palmyra Grammar School Graduation

Fifty-four Boys and Girls Ready to Enter High School

Graduation exercises for the Palmyra Grammar School were held last Friday morning in the Delaware avenue building.

The diplomas were presented by the President of the Board of Education, William A. Donaghy, Miss Patterson presented certificates to forty-five grammar school pupils who were neither tardy nor absent during the term.

A very pleasing program was given by the children. Edith Winters read a delightful little poem about birds which she had written herself. A reading by Anna Johnson and a piano solo by William Kraus were features of the program.

Many words of praise have been heard on the selections played by the grammar school orchestra. Marjorie Powell sang "To A Wild Rose," and the Glee Club sang "Would God I Were An Apple Blossom" and "Voices of the Woods."

The fifty-four boys and girls who received diplomas are:

Carrie Bates, Dorothy Beck, Jacob Beltz, Ruth Brown, Martin Casey, Burton Conway, Winfield Davis, George Fichter, Kenneth Fountain, Jane Fowler, Christine Green, Beulah Haines, Margie Hein, John Kraus, Mary Lord, Elias Malone, Virginia McCann, Mildred Mickle, Rosalie Sacca, Roger Shaner, Ruth Stager, Mary Wells, Edith Winters, Helen Young, Cecilia Baker, Elinor Bauer.

"AMERICANISM"

By Blythe M. Winters

We are thankful that we live in this wonderful land called America. No other land has more opportunities and so many beautiful places so, therefore, let us love it and do all we can for it.

Americanism begins when we are born and ends when we die.

If our home training has been that of good, truthful obedience and honor it will help us to be better Americans.

Our lives, as we live them in school are almost what they will be when we get out into this great world of ours.

It is every boy's or girl's duty to their country and to themselves to get the best possible education they can. We should honor and obey our teachers who are striving to make us better Americans. We should obey all of our school restrictions and always try to do everything to improve our schools. Our Scholarship is the great foundation of our lives. If it is strong, we will be strong, if it is weak, we will be weak and fail.

Honor should be another great attribute in every person's life. We all have a certain sense of honor and sometimes, only through foolish habits, we ruin our honor. Our country has known many an honorable citizen, and will continue to know them, through the ages to come, for honor is a thing which can never be destroyed. The greatest things in our lives that we should honor are, our God, our Country, and our Flag.

Courage, too, is a wonderful feature for a person to have. One of Courage does not flinch when he knows he is doing the right thing. He with Courage will dare to do the thing which no one has thought of doing. He with Courage will fight for the right until he no longer can fight. Courage and Honor go hand-in-hand. Those brave boys who went "Over There" for their country's sake were of the finest type of Courage known. When their country called them they went, when their country called them they died.

Service to your Country should mean a lot to you. Everyone does not get the chance to fight for his or her country but everyone has the chance of being of Service to their native or adopted land. We can be of Service to Our Country by obeying its laws, being good citizens, and always loving and supporting its flag.

Our Country needs leaders, too, leaders in time of peace as well as in time of war. Where would this land of ours be without the leadership it has had? Take the great leader George Washington, who feared no one but God and was afraid of nothing but dishonesty and disloyalty. On down through our history, we find Lincoln, Grant, Lee, Dewey, Pershing, Coolidge and countless others who have proved themselves worthy to be called Americans.

Every boy and girl should be prepared for whatever comes, and with the five qualities I have mentioned, every boy and girl will be prepared and be worthy to take part in our government and call America their own.

BOYS' BASEBALL

The Junior Council of the Palmyra Community Movement plans to start a baseball league composed of boys under sixteen. The idea is to have six or eight teams of boys of this age play in the afternoons, supervised by the Junior Council. It would be necessary to start the League as soon as possible and all Sunday School classes, K. of C. Cadets, YMCA, Boy Scouts and other groups are invited to take part.

If such a league is formed promptly it will mean that the young fellows will have baseball in the afternoons for the rest of the summer.

Those interested in such a project should immediately get in touch with William Kersey, 130 W Fourth street, and get full particulars. Prompt action is necessary in order to get things under way.

Fame sometimes is worthless, but the value of friends is stupendous.

Bertram Marple, of Palmyra, west best man and several Palmyra folks attended. A reception was held at McCaffrey's. Mr. Klepper is connected with Coates and Rainer, Inc.

George Reber and son, Horace, motored to State College, Pa., early this week to attend an Alumni reunion, Horace having graduated with the 1918 class. Many points of interest enroute were visited.

Miss Betty Scanlon, of Washington avenue, was operated upon for appendicitis by Dr. Dever at the Laukenau Hospital Saturday and is now convalescing nicely.

The reflection in the sky which attracted the attention of many Palmyra people Tuesday night was caused by barges being burned in the river near Morris. Old barges are towed up periodically and destroyed.

The contributing membership drive which was held Monday and Tuesday evenings by Independence Fire Company was very successful. Full details will be published later.

What is to be had can be had by taking the road Patience leading the way to fruition by your determination.

By-Pass Highways Are Now in Style

Regional Planners to Lessen Congestion by Carefully Routing Traffic

By E. E. Duffy

Wandering cows no longer determine course for highways. Today, city streets and rural roads near populous centers are usually located by regional planning experts who forestall regret with study. One of the greatest offerings of planning commissions to the congestion worried motorist is the by-pass.

By-passes are simply city avoiding roadways. In the early days of this modern highway building era, it was the avowed purpose of highway associations to place as many big towns and cities as possible on the route and these routes passed directly through the so-called fortunate cities. The thought on this has changed.

Forcing traffic through cities is no longer held advisable, for the profit accruing to the larger city is of doubtful volume, and the attendant traffic congestion and discomfort doubtless make it uneconomical. The motorist in a hurry, too, is deserving of consideration. Forward looking communities are solving the problem by designating and constructing by-pass routes which carry traffic around and not through the city. Smaller communities find it profitable to construct substantial connecting routes that will attract trade but not through traffic.

In the Philadelphia-Camden district great circular roadways are under construction. New Jersey has a "Crescent Highway" around Camden. This highway, from 28 to 56 feet in width, is part of a comprehensive plan formulated by New Jersey in the attempt to handle efficiently the great herd of pleasure seekers travelling to and from the New Jersey seaside resorts. By routing traffic around Camden, hopeless traffic tangles are avoided.

Chicago and Milwaukee some day have to be joined by a wide express highway. It is planned, however, that this highway will not enter directly into downtown Chicago. The route will be laid west of Chicago to meet the Lincoln Highway. This highway is already routed away from Chicago so that through traffic will not be thrown unmercifully on Chicago streets.

Detroit and Los Angeles also are making progress in by-pass building. Buffalo, located in Erie County, New York, is going forward rapidly with a Greater Motorways system. Here again, wide pavements will carry through traffic around Buffalo. Buffalo's business men consider this a wise move, for it is expected, when the system is completed, that access to Buffalo itself will be more easy and more comfortable and therefore inviting of more trade.

Smaller cities and towns are also seeing the wisdom of the by-pass. Many State highway departments now route main State highways around towns rather than through them with wide connecting stubs for those who care to stop

HAGUE "REPUBLICANS"

Judge Carey persists in bringing up the ballot box stuffing in Hudson during the last primary. He feels grieved that the Attorney-general rules, as everyone expected him to, that Democrats not voting in the year preceding has a legal right to cast votes in the Republican Primary. The Judge knows of Democratic officials who openly boasted that they had voted in the Republican primary and he thinks that this is a wrong principle. Doubtless it is, but no law can be made fool-proof. Some provision has to be made for those who wanted to change their party allegiance. It seem to us that the legal provision as it stands for doing this is about as nearly perfect as it is possible to get it. It makes a man wait at least a year to establish his conversion.

We rather suspect that many Democrats in Hudson that voted in the Republican primary this year also voted in the Democratic primary last year. Especially do we suspect this of organization men, whom the Judge has particularly in mind. It is seldom that those who get the plums fail to vote in the primary.

If our memories were longer, it might be well to watch these men—Democratic office holders who have been converted to Republicanism—to see whether they vote in next year's primary and in which box they deposit their ballots. If they wish to return to their party, they cannot do so lawfully, unless they refrain from voting next year, which is a difficult thing for an organization office-holder to do.—Freehold Transcript.

SMOKE MAGIC

Here's Some Smoke Magic You Can Do With a Nickel

Converting nickels into dimes or quarters by sleight-of-hand is interesting. It's phony, of course. But here's a trick that's genuine. You can do it: Lay a nickel on a cigar counter. Measure what it usually buys in a cigar. Then ask for a Havana Ribbon and see the value your nickel attains!

Here's a cigar, men, that's been famous for thirty years. Its production has risen by millions. Wise experience and the use of nothing but ripe tobacco from heart to wrapper have so marvelously bettered this cigar, there's simply nothing else in the wide world to compare with it for the price.

It's mellow, mild, fragrant. Not a tinge of bitterness. Not a trace of "dottiness." No "scraps" or short ends to fray or crumble in your mouth. No, sir! Long filler only—like you find in higher priced cigars. Give it a chance. Don't forget the magic words—"Havana Ribbon." Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

P. S. DRIVERS TOLD TO BE ATTENTIVE

Give Your Work Your Undivided Attention, Advice of Vice President Boylan

Operators of Public Service buses and trolley cars are told by Vice President Matthew R. Boylan in an executive bulletin to give their undivided attention to their work at all times.

"When you are driving a car or a bus, give your entire attention to that. Don't allow your attention to be distracted by someone's talk; don't try to adjust your day card or do anything else but drive," says Mr. Boylan.

"When you are collecting fares give your entire attention to that, see that the proper entries are made and the correct amount of money turned in."

"When you are dressing to report for work give your entire attention to that—see that every part of your uniform is properly adjusted and that it is brushed clean so you will present a good appearance."

"As each item in the day's work comes up devote your entire attention to it and to it alone, until it is accomplished, and you will find the day's work easier and better done."

REPUBLICAN STATE?

In proportion to population New Jersey, when the Republicans are united, gives a larger Republican majority than Pennsylvania. The repeated lessons as to faction and languor may have been a growing recognition of the fact that the majority party has no excuse for throwing away the State it can always win when it tries.

After a century and a half the country still remembers and quotes Franklin's pithy advice to those who hesitated over signing the Declaration of Independence. "If we do not hang together, we shall all hang separately." If a party does not move as an army moves, if it does not emulate the united motion of a railroad or business plant, its numbers do not count. It wins by the votes it casts, not by the voters who stay at home.

The Republican party of New Jersey favors the nomination of Herbert Hoover, a man who has served humanity it both hemispheres. It supports the wise President who has stood out for national reduction of taxes. It believes in protection to home industry in duties on the products of the soil and in duties to guard the mill and the workshop. It upholds law and order. It may and should before the summer passes be so harmonious that its opponents will look on their case as hopeless.

In seven out of eight Presidential elections the Republicans have swept this State. Will they do so again? They certainly will, if they try.—West Jersey Press.

State to Build Many Highways

Improvements Planned Are to Complete Boulevard Across New Jersey

With contracts representing $10,000,000 already awarded for roads and bridges, the New Jersey State Highway Commission will this year establish new records in construction totals.

The work under way will add ninety miles of the most modern type of paving to the State system and engineering corps are rapidly completing surveys on other projects which will greatly increase the amount.

One of the extensive operations, the building of a new highway from Trenton to Elizabeth, a distance of forty-four miles, will be under way this year and will provide the highest type of roadway both to the Holland Tunnels and to Camden. The Highway Commissioners, General Hugh L. Scott, Percy H. Stewart, Firman M. Reeves and Abraham Jelly have toured this alignment, which will be partly over new right of way and have made a study of it with Major W. G. Sloan, the State Highway engineer.

From Trenton to New Brunswick this new road will be designated as State Route 26 and from there to Jersey City is known as Route 25. The Route 25 also extends to the south through Cranbury, Hightstown and Bordentown to the Delaware River Bridge at Camden. Several sections of Route 25, including the portion between Robbinsville and Bordentown are now under construction and with their completion, New Jersey will have a thoroughfare of boulevard proportions, extending from its northern limits, with connecting links, to the tip of Cape May.

Every section of the State is included in the improvements which have been started and both coast and mountainous resorts as well as industrial establishments will have the advantage of these new roads which will reduce traffic congestion and lessen traveling to all parts of New Jersey.

TO PROBE CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Also Hudson Co. Voting System; Commission Appointed at Trenton Last Week

South Jersey has a particular and intimate interest in the two State Legislative commissions named at Trenton last week, one to probe the New Jersey Civil Service Commission and the Hudson county political situation, and the other to make a survey of the whole question of the elimination of railroad grade crossings.

The civil service probe is the outcome of the successful effort made by the Camden County Republicans during the winter session of the Legislature to have the present commissioners ousted from their posts and a new commission of one man created. The demand arose from alleged unfair rulings in the treatment of cases affecting the city commissioners of Camden and the city employees.

The Hudson county angle of the probe is the outgrowth of the charges made both during the legislative session as well as during and following the recent primary election, purporting to show that irregularities existed in the voting system of the North Jersey county involved in the so-called "Hague Machine."

The grade crossing survey is the result of an unsuccessful attempt by Senator Frank B. Davis, of Woodbury, they have passed a bill to establish a new basis for division of the expense of the proposed elimination.

Doctor: "It's a them."

Beetle Pamphlet Issued by State

Valuable Information on Japanese Pest is Ready for Public

Stating plainly that the Japanese beetle will never be exterminated, a pamphlet issued by the Department of Agriculture of the State of New Jersey is, nevertheless, of great value in giving information for fighting the menace to agriculture and floriculture.

The pamphlet, described as "Circular No. 140," contains questions and answers that bring out about everything learned of the parasite by the experimental stations which can be put to practical use.

In addition to providing formulae for sprays, information of traps and methods for attacking the beetles during the season of their activity, the pamphlet tells how beetles may be shaken from vines and bushes early in the day and destroyed by oil or eaten by fowls.

The birds that eat the grub are described, and it is learned that encouraging birds to live in a garden is one method of helping keep the beetle from multiplying as rapidly as it let undisturbed.

Golf greens and lawns are described as the most successful breeding places.

In addition to telling what will kill the beetle, the pamphlet also tells what will not kill it, protecting the ignorant from waste of time in experiments.

The publication may be obtained by writing to the agricultural department. The Japanese Beetle Research Laboratory, Moorestown, will also provide information.

MEMORIAL HALL GIVEN TOWN

Memorial Hall became the property of the city of Burlington last week when the beautiful little building was turned over to Common Council by the committee that erected it and has had charge of it up to the present time. The committee included Cooper H. Prickett, chairman; Robert Turner and James H. Birch, representing the citizens of Burlington; Colonel Edward B. Stone, Lieutenant William E. Rink and Lieutenant Howard M. Lewis, representing the military unit of Burlington, and the mayor of Burlington.

The Prince of Wales has taken up aviation. It seems to us the Prince has sailed through the air before!

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Only Very Moderate Sums Were Spent in the Recent Primary Campaign

Expense accounts filed by candidates for nominations at the recent primary election have been filed in the county clerk's office, as required by law. The accounts, verified by affidavits of the respective candidates, show very moderate expenditures. The items are principally for advertising, printing and postage. The list follows:

Freeholders, Republican—Charles R. Stout, $509; Carwen B. Fisher, $485.11; James C. McCormick, $232.37; Clarence E. Worrell, $478.16. Democratic—Joseph M. Bobenrieth, no account filed.

Storm Tilts Club's Plane, Breaks Wing

Saturday Night's Wind Lifted Parked Waco From Moorestown Field

It was an ill wind that blew over the field of the Moorestown Airport during the storm on Saturday night. With only three members of the Burlington County Aero Club on the field at the time and the plane cockpits covered with tarpaulin, a heavy gust of wind lifted the Waco a short distance from the ground only to drop it down again about a hundred feet further out in the field and break a wing-tip.

The plane was immediately placed on a truck and taken to the shops of the Ludington Exhibition Company, at the Philadelphia Airport, for repairs. The club hopes to have the wing repaired so that the ship may be back on the Moorestown field as soon as possible.

At the invitation of William deR. French, chairman of the field committee, John E. Thropp, of Trenton, took up passengers from the field on Sunday so as not to disappoint the large number of people who had planned to take hops. Thropp's plane is also a Waco 10, identical with the Aero Club's ship. If the club's plane has not been re-inspected and approved by the Department of Commerce by next week-end, it is probable that Thropp's Waco will be on hand again to accommodate pasengers.

On Sunday a large Fairchild cabin monoplane landed at the Moorestown field. The passengers were "Bill" French, Harry Middleton, Maurice (Whitey) Forvour, and Joseph MacIntosh, members of the Aero Club, who had chartered the ship and flew from the Phialdelphia Airport. The pilot was "Bob" Hewitt, chief pilot for Ludington's.

The big Fairchild circled the field gracefully and made an easy landing. The take-off for the return trip likewise was accomplished with no difficulty, proving the field to be amply large for accommadation of the largest aircraft. The same four passengers returned to Philadelphia with the monoplane.

Ex-Senator Emmor Roberts, of Moorestown, hired the Aero Club ship on Friday for an aerial inspection of some of his Burlington County farms and some of the other interesting views from the air. William delt. French, of Moorestown, accompanied Mr. Roberts on the trip and Lieut. E. G. Pennock was the pilot. The ship glided the passengers through the air for almost an hour at about 80 miles per hour, so that the passengers were able to scan many, many square miles of landscape. Mr. Roberts expressed keen satisfaction and enjoyment at the conclusion of the tour.

The regular meeting of the Aero Club will be held in the Moorestown Community House on Monday evening, June 18, at 8.30. This meeting will be open to the public. A very interesting speaker has been secured in the person of Lieutenant James Work, in charge of the lighter-than-air experimental work at the Naval Aircraft Factory.

The club has arranged to accommodate a large crowd of aviation enthusiasts at this meeting and prospective members may join the club at that time.

Boys Like Model Building

The interest being shown by boys in the airplane model building plans being published by some of the county newspapers is very gratifying to James Tomes and Russell H. Stiles, members of the club's publicity committee, who will be glad to put any boys interested in building airplane models in touch with these series of instructions. County Engineer H. B. Smith, Mount Holly, is also interested in this activity, especially with regards to the Boy Scouts.

It is likely that the Burlington County Aero Club will sponsor an airplane model-building contest among the boys of the county in the autumn.

"SECRET SOCIETY" DIES IN ITALY

Facts About the Famous Sicilian Maffia as Told by Webster's New Dictionary

Mussolini and the Fascist Government of Italy have, it is reported, dealt a death blow to the "secret society" known as the maffia (sometimes spelled mafia). Some say the group is not really eliminated; others believe that it has indeed passed, and that with it has gone much crime and violence that heretofore has kept fairly well out of the clutches of the law.

The maffia, as a more or less vague group, has gathered about it various legends and traditions. It has frequently been the subject of romantic fiction. The actual state of affairs to which the word refers, however, is clearly summarized by Webster's New International Dictionary as follows:

"In Sicily, the popular sentiment of hostility to the law, leading to refusal to bear witness in case of crime, and hence to frequent violent crimes, especially against persons, as officers, who have incurred popular displeasure; also, a body of persons imbued with this sentiment."

Pictured as a powerful secret society, the maffia has often been regarded by the romantically inclined as comparable to Robin Hood's band of Sherwood Forest in English folklore. Those sympathizing with the maffia, in fact, did foster the notion among the poor of Sicily that the maffia would protect the weak from aggression, and in the manner of the fabled Robin Hood, would rob the rich to feed the poor.

From Sicily the fame of the maffia spread world-wide. People sometimes speak of emissaries of this society, bent on vengeance of some kind of other. On this point the Dictionary is specific: "A supposed organization of Sicilians or Italians in foreign countries, as revealed by hostility to law and by acts of violence, as murder and blackmail."

COASTING

Activity is health producing and invigorating. Knowing this, we find men who compare fully with the lad who was lying still in a health culture class while the teacher asked them to lie on their backs and use their legs as if riding a bicycle. Asked why he was lying still, he replied, "I am coasting."

Your Flower Garden

By Romaine B. Ware

Keeping Cut Flowers

There is no great secret in the fact that some folks are able to keep cut flowers so much longer than other. It's simply in knowing how and any of you can do just as well if you will pay attention to a few little details.

In the first place most flowers seem to keep better if they are cut early in the morning before the dew is off their petals. They absorb moisture and vitality all night and when you cut them early they are full of it and will last much better. Then the sooner you get them into water the better they will be.

Another thing, plunge the stems deep in the water as they will absorb that much better. If you are cutting such hard-stemmed things as the roses, pecnies, chrysanthemums and similar things, split the stems with a knife an inch or so up from the cut end. This will allow the water to be absorbed that much easier. After cutting flowers and placing them in water set them in a cool and preferably darkened place for a few hours. This may not always be possible but it will help if you will do it. In cutting always cut on an angle and cutting with a knife is considered better than with snips unless the snips are very sharp. Dull snips crush the stems and so prevent them from taking water freely.

Cut flowers should never stand in a draught. This will make them wilt much faster than where there is no draught. Neither should they stand in the sun.

Sometimes when you are given some flowers and are not able to get them into water till they have become apparently hopelessly wilted if you will try this it may help. Fill the vessel you are going to put them into with hot water, about as hot as you can stand having your hand in, and put your bouquet in this water. It will, many times, revive them when nothing else will bring it to. And don't forget to cut the stems every time when you bring flowers in from the garden.

County "Y" Notes

At the meeting of the representatives of the teams in the Junior Y. M. C. A. Baseball League last Thursday evening, it was decided to start the second half schedule the week of June 18. The Juniors will play two games a week this half so as to complete the schedule within six weeks' time. Regulations and schedules will be sent out from the Y. M. C. A. office this week.

The second half of the Senior Y. M. C. A. Baseball League will start during the week of June 25, according to the decision of representatives of the teams at the meeting in Mount Holly last Wednesday evening. It is hoped that the schedule will be completed in six weeks' time.

John Lennon, of Bridgeboro, a Senior at Moorestown High School, was a runner-up for the Wesleyan University Alumni Scholarship. Lennon was backed by the Y's Men's Club of Moorestown. In representing the High School for this Scholarship, it was necessary for him to have an analysis made by the Human Research Corporation of Philadelphia and then go before the Wesleyan Alumni Scholarship Committee. There were twenty applicants for three scholarships. These were finaly eliminated to a half dozen fellows, of which Lennon was one. Although he did not receive the coveted honor from the Wesleyan Alumni, it is probable that he will receive a scholarship from some other source.

Through the interest of the Moorestown Y's Men's Club, Paul Burke, of Beverly, a sophomore at Moorestown High School, was selected by a vote of the Sophomore class as the student with the greatest potentialities for success twenty years from now. As a result of this honor, Burke was given an analysis by the Human Research Corporation of Philadelphia, and was the guest of the Cornell Alumni Club of Philadelphia, where he was introduced to Henry Ford, who was visiting Phialdelphia at that time. Burke is now awaiting a trip under the auspices of the Cornell Alumni Association to Cornell University at Ithaca, New York. He will most likely take the trip this fall.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

That you should say with enthusiasm the good things you advance in praise of your city.

That you should make your city noted for its progressiveness and as a good city in which to trade.

That your city has stores that carry large stocks for the convenience of your citizens.

That these merchants advertise, knowing that advertised goods are the backbone of profitable business.

That you should not handicap yourself by buying from distant markets; such delays are costly as you cannot see what you buy and the goods sometimes are not as represented.

That you can buy advertised merchandise in your own home city—goods that you can see before buying and if not as represented the matter can be easily adjusted at home.

The merchants of your city carry large stocks of seasonable merchandise. Read the advertising pages and then shop where the best buys are!

$25,000 State Aid for County Road

Request of Freeholder Stout Granted by State Highway Commission

At the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday, Charles R. Stout, director of roads, reported that accompanied by the county engineer and supervisor of roads, he had visited the State Highway Commission on June 5, and arranged with that body for $25,000 state aid in reconstruction of the road betwen Bordentown and New Egypt. The grant of state aid was made with the understanding that the county would appropriate a like amount.

Mr. Stout introduced a resolution providing for the necessary appropriation by the county, which was passed with Lloyd Wright voting in the negative.

There was but one bid for kitchen equipment at the Fairview Sanitorium, and that was submitted by the Roebling General Store. The amount was $1,647.50. The bid was referred to the director of public buildings for report.

The director of roads submitted his schedule of road improvements for the year, which was unanimously adopted.

A resolution was passed directing that the annual audit of the county treasurer's books should be made by the State Department of Municipal Accounts.

The requests of the Pennsylvania Railroad that the services of two watchmen at the crossing in South Pemberton be dispensed with and flashing signals submitted, was referred to the resident freeholder.

The Public Service submitted a bond for opening roads and streets, which was referred to the solicitor.

The following bills were ordered paid: Roads, $8,286.29; public buildings, $7,671.11; finance, $1,351.75; bridges, $4,404.85; affairs, $5,199.86.

STEALS LOCOMOTIVE

Atlanta, Ga.—Artist Henry, negro, ran off with a locomotive! He took an A. B. and C. locomotive under steam in the railroad yards, and drove it from a side track into a string of box cars.

There is now a legal quibble on as to whether he should be indicted or theft or for "malicious mischief," as there seems to be no way of telling whether he intended to divert the engine for his own use or not. He will undergo a sanity test.

Banker Attended Farm Conference

Armitt H. Coate, of Burlington County Trust Company, at Luncheon

Armitt H. Coate, of Moorestown, trust officer of the Burlington County Trust Company, Moorestown, was among those who attended the conference and luncheon in the State House, Trenton, Tuesday of last week. The conference was arranged by Governor A. Harry Moore for the purpose of solving the farm problem.

Mr. Coate was present because of the keen interest of himself and his bank in the affairs of the farmer, especially in seeking some way to reduce the burden of his taxation.

William B. Duryea, secretary of the State Department of Agriculture, who was at the conference, said that "Agriculture in New Jersey is still in depression following the rapid deflation of the World War." Secretary Duryea spoke to many prominent business men in presenting the details of the agricultural situation. "It takes many years for wages and public service charges to decline and the disparity between farm prices and the retail price of farm products will continue as long as deflation lasts unless there is a big drop in production," he said.

"The cause of our depression is low prices of farm products in comparison with taxes, interest payments, wages and the prices of commodities that the farmer buys," said Mr. Duryee. "Agriculture cannot shut up shop like manufacturers when it cannot sell its products at favorable prices. Farm prices are out of adjustment with prices in cities, wages, taxes and freight rates, and increasing foreign demand offers no relief because European countries are making successful efforts to become self-sufficient."

Mr. Coate is the secretary of the Burlington County Banker's Association and also the secretary of the State Bankers' Association.

HOW TO LIVE LONG

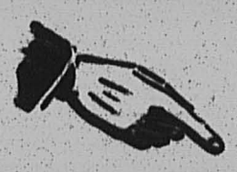

Dr. Raymond Pearl, director of the Bureau of Biological Research, Johns Hopkins University, in a letter to Mrs. Christine Pirl, of St. Louis, wanted to know, for the benefit of many, how she conducted life to have attained such an advanced age and retained her mental vigor. She was 95. Her answer was, "I eat very little meat, drink four cups of coffee and two glasses of wine and a glass of beer with an egg beaten into it every day."

Alongside of the healthful news item we read where one prohibition officer destroyed 2820 gallons of wine.

Will some research professor tell us how many lives were shortened; how many hearts are aching, if the Johns Hopkins University should agree with Mrs. Pirl.

Three years ago we determined to build a car so good that it would sell itself after you had driven it. Upon this basis Auburn has built its remarkable success and growth. The car HAD to be good to win out in this acid test. Because we DO mean it, we are offering you this week an opportunity to see for yourself

This is Auburn "Show Me" Week

1- Without the slightest obligation you can take advantage of "Show Me" Week at the Auburn store. Open evenings, too.

2- Come and ask for an Auburn car to drive and make it "show you." If it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.

3- Or, telephone Riverton 506-W and a car will be sent to your home for a demonstration without obligation to you.

Show me—is the attitude to take when getting an automobile. Because a salesman cannot talk something into a car that is not built into it.

The "show me" buyer is simply selecting a car with the same business acumen that he uses in buying bonds or real estate or in making any other investment.

The only difference is that he probably knows more about cars.

He has owned several.

He has driven them for years.

His own experience and his own NEEDS qualify him to know WHAT he wants a car to do; HOW he wants it done and how LONG it should stand up and endure at its peak of efficiency.

Auburn sales will again increase this year, because—People DO know motor cars, and can tell the DIFFERENCE by comparing and by DRIVING them.

Therefore we offer you "Show Me" Week so you can sample the Auburn.

Come and see for yourself that it DOES give greater value; better performance; easier handling and does ALL the things you want a car to do BETTER than ANY other.

If the car then does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy—we MEAN it!

There is no magic about Auburn's amazing growth. It is simply by giving the buyer MORE for his money.

That is why it is GOOD BUSINESS to buy an Auburn.

HOLD SPLENDID EXERCISES FOR P. H. S. GRADS

Commencement of 1928 Class Marked by Splendid Program

INJURED BOY PRESENT TO RECEIVE DIPLOMA

Many Special Prizes Are Awarded to Students Who Led Classes

Commencement exercises for the graduating class of the Palmyra High School were held in the high school auditorium last Thursday evening. The sixty-two graduates, in their caps and gowns, made an inspiring spectacle which became a thing of beauty as masses of flowers were presented after each number.

Edward Arndt, the boy who was injured in an explosion at the high school just a week before was present to receive his diploma. He was not expected to attend as hospital physicians would not give their consent but he pleaded with them until finally they relented and he was placed in an ambulance and taken to the school. His left arm was in a cast and was supported in a sling. His right hand was free but the arm was bandaged. His face was not badly marked. After the exercises he was taken back to the hospital.

The program was opened with a selection by the high school orchestra after which the Rev. J. William Lee gave the invocation. The salutatorian, Helen A. Lipkin, delivered an oration, "Religious Toleration in the U. S." in which she traced the struggle for religious toleration since the time of Christ. She told how the Romans persecuted the early Catholics, how later the Catholics persecuted the first Protestants or Lutherans, how the Protestant Church of England persecuted the Puritans just because their belief was different from the established or orthodox religion.

Toleration in America

She told of the struggle of the Puritans and of their coming to America, where they in turn began to persecute those who expressed different views. She told of the settlement of Roger Williams in Rhodes Island where religious toleration really began and every one was permitted to worship as he pleased.

The spirit of religious toleration grew in America and when the Constitution was adopted toleration was written in as one of the fundamental laws of the land and so stands today in fact if not always in spirit. The spirit grows and each succeeding years sees greater toleration than the past.

The valedictory oration, "Envelopes to Match" was delivered by W. Edward Hutchins. The title applied to life as well as envelopes as the speaker pointed out how necessary it was for the envelopes of life to fit the individual.

The Class Banner was presented to next year's senior class by M. Virignia Good in an oration, "Play the Game Squarely." It was received by Charles Knight who promised in behalf of his class to "Play the Game Squarely" and keep the prized banner unsullied by any stain.

Dr. James' Address

The address of the evening was made by Arthur C. James, Ph. D., of Philadelphia. Dr. James gave a delightfully humorous talk which carried a moral all the way through. No doubt, the seniors and everyone else present will benefit greatly if they follow the speaker's friendly admonitions and heed his advice on how to live more useful lives.

A saxophone solo by Louis Meunier preceded the presentation of diplomas by Charles D. Davison, acting in the absence of William A. Donaghy, president of the Board of Education. The diplomas this year have been changed, much to the delight of all who received them. Formerly they were rolled and tied with the class colors, but now they are encased in a flat case which opens like a book and keeps the prized certificate always in good condition. The engraving has been brought up-to-date and a certificate with the credits enumerated is included.

Special Prizes

Special prizes were presented for a variety of accomplishments. Prizes of five dollars in gold, offered by the Riverside Board of Education, to the Riverside boy and girl finishing with the highest average, were won by Howard Bright and Helen Lipkin. Edward Hutchins won one of the twenty dollar gold pieces offered by the Riverton board to the boy or girl from Riverton finishing with first or second honors.

The Rennsalaer Polytechnic Institution Medal, which is offered each year to the boy in the senior class who has taken all the mathematics and science offered by his school and who has the highest average, was awarded to Howard Bright. Pierce States was a close second for this honor with an average of only 9-100 of a points lower.

The Alumni Association Cup, which is presented to the boy in the senior class who has done the most to promote athletics was presented to Jack Eisley.

Several awards were presented to the grammar school children at this time. A bronze medal was offered by the American Legion Auxiliary to the eighth grade girl writing the best essay on "Americanism," including scholarship, honor, service, courage and leadership. This award went to Edith Winters.

School Board Awards

The awards, of five dollars in gold, given by members of the school board were as follows:

Mrs. Giberson, for seventh and eighth grade arithmetic, won by Helen Young.

Mr. Davison, for fifth and sixth grade arithmetic, won by Myra Spahr.

FREEHOLDER HEISLER HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Pemberton Man Uninjured in Serious Crash With Car at Burlington

Little short of miraculous was the escape of William H. Heisler, of Pemberton, member of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders and brother-in-law of Harold B. Wells, Republican State Committeeman, in Burlington, Saturday night when his car collided with a machine driven by Hugh B. Miller, Jr., of Edgewater Park, at the intersection of the State Highway and Columbus avenue.

Mr. Heisler's machine was struck in the rear, thrown around and around and forced between two telephone poles on the lot on the south side of the avenue. It is said that the space between the two poles was just wide enough to permit the car to pass; that there was not a inch to spare on either side.

Happily, none of the occupants of the two cars were injured. All, however, were rather badly shocked. Mr. Heisler was riding alone. Mr. Miller was accompanied by his brother.

The Heisler car was badly damaged in the rear. The Miller car also suffered. Both were taken away for repairs shortly after the accident, which happened about nine o'clock.

WILLINGBORO GRADUATES 13

The Rev. Millard O. Peirce, of Burlington, was the principal speaker at the commencement exercises of Willingboro School held at the school last Wednesday night when thirteen graduates were presented diplomas. An attractive program was presented by the members of the graduating class. Those who received diplomas were Florence Bowker, Ida Buzzell, Conjetta De Luca, Elsa Hamersley, Marguerite Hays, Minnie LaCorte, Mildred Monk, William Fenton, Raymond Grovatt, Augustus Johnston, Ralph Johnston, Matthew Jordan, Charles Workman.

Mother: "Betty, why don't you and Archie play house together?"

Betty: "No, mamma; we would rather play something there isn't any quarreling in."

On the night of his capture he got off of a Green Line bus at Broad and Linden, Riverton at 12.50 a. m. and went to the home of A. C. Dorrance, 405 Main street, where he took the two watches, fountain pen and clock which were found on him when captured. From there he went to the home of Gorham Sargeant where he took the groceries from the ice box.

County Detective Ellis Parker took a statement from Brown at the hospital Tuesday morning which agrees in almost every point with the confession given before the local authorities.

Patrolling Streets

For the past several weeks Chief Beck and Officer Rodgers have been on extra duty patrolling the Burlington Pike looking for the thief and Officers Wallace and Betty have been on night duty patrolling the streets of Palmyra. Just before Wallace's encounter with the thief he and Betty were called by the Riverton police to look for two suspicious characters who had been reported to them.

Acting under the Chief's instructions that both officers should not leave Palmyra for any length of time, Wallace returned, telling Betty he would patrol the section of the town lying between Cinnaminson avenue and the creek. It was at this time that he met Brown on Weart Boulevard. The two suspicious characters were not located and it is not thought that they were implicated.

In all the robberies no locks were broken and Brown entered only where the doors were left unlocked or where he could crawl through a cellar window and gain entrance from the basement.

Stayed Out of Palmyra

Brown said he never "pulled any jobs" in Palmyra because he knew the Palmyra police were always on the job and that the risk of being caught was too great. It seems that his greatest mistake was in getting in territory being patrolled by the Palmyra force as this resulted in his capture.

The prisoner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Brown, of Union Landing Road, East Riverton. He was born there and lived with his parents until the time he was sent to the reform school a few years ago for robbing the home of Evaul Chambers. He had been out less than a year and was under parole at the time of his arrest.

For the past several months he had not lived in East Riverton but had a room in the Horse Shoe Hotel at 12th and Lombard streets, Philadelphia. Several pawn tickets were found in his room by Officer Rodgers when he went over to check up on him Sunday morning. The pawn tickets will enable the owners of the stolen articles to recover most of them.

Avidity brings on stupidity.

CHARLES T. BROWN ON COLLEGE BOARD

Prominent Moorestown Man Has Been Elected Treasurer of Swarthmore College Managers

Announcement has been made at Swarthmore College that Charles T. Brown, prominent Moorestonian, and president of the Franklin Printing Company, Philadelphia, has been elected to the Board of Managers of the college to fill the vacancy caused by the death of E. Pusey Passmore.

Mr. Brown will also assume the duties of treasurer of the board, a position which Mr. Passmore held for several years prior to his death.

Mr. Brown was graduated from the college in 1898 and from Harvard in 1890, having prepped at the West Chester Friends School. He has been connected with the Franklin Printing Company since 1906 and has been president since 1919.

Mr. Brown's home is on Chester avenue, Moorestown.

$600 RAISED FOR AMBULANCE

About $600 has been contributed toward the purchase of the new Beverly Salvage Corps Ambulance. The new ambulance is expected to arrive in Beverly in about two weeks. It is planned to hold a donation day when an active drive for funds will be inaugurated. The new ambulance will cost $3370.

County History of 25 Years Ago

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror, June 3, 1903

It is predicted that harvesting wages this year will be $2 per day.

John D. Johnson, Jr., of Mount Holly, graduates from Montclair Military Academy this week.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed in the county clerk's office by the Methodist Episcopal Church of Florence.

James Hendrickson, son of Judge Hendrickson, was graduated from Penn Charter School, Philadelphia, last week.

William A. Nevell, who makes his home with his uncle, John Black, at the Wigwam Farm, is a member of the graduating class of Princeton this year.

Rev. George E. Davis has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist Church at Jobstown. He preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening.

The Elks' Home on High street, Mount Holly, was formally opened on Saturday, after having been renovated and furnished with club facilities. Many members availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the club house.

After a fierce struggle, during which several men were badly scratched and had their clothes torn, a gray eagle, measuring seven feet from tip to tip of wings, was captured on the farm of Judge W. J. Terrill, on the Oxmead road, near Burlington, on Saturday morning. The bird was shot and its wing broken, by Joshua Pew, before being captured.

Joshua Matlack Dies

Joshua Matlack, Sr., who has been in poor health for a long time, died at his home on Madison avenue, Mount Holly, on Thursday night, at the ago of 70 years. For many years he was a passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad, retiring about a year ago.

The usual Memorial Day exercises were held in Mount Holly on Saturday, when the members of Gen. A. E. Shiras Post, the Sons of Veterans and Company E, headed by the Florence drum corps, visited the cemeteries and conducted services, decorated graves and fired salutes.

While workmen were engaged in making alterations at the Manhasset Hotel, Seaside Park, last week, a box of silverware was found in a partition. The lot included six dozen spoons and forks and a quantity of other pieces. It is supposed it was hidden by one of the waiters, the previous summer, who was arrested for theft, and probably was taken into custody before he could dispose of his loot. A number of guests were robbed at the same time, but their belongings were recovered.

The State of New Jersey is advertising for bids for voting machines, to be used in future elections, in compliance with an act of the legislature.

Farmers are complaining of the drought, which has lasted about six weeks and which has caused considerable loss to crops that are drying up.

Marlton Gas Plant

Marlton's gas plant is now assured. Nearly all the stock of the new Marlton Light and Power Company has been subscribed. An acetylene plant, large enough to light all the houses and streets of the town, will be installed.

William R. Haines, of near Marlton, made his first picking of strawberries on Wednesday. He picked 1,000 quarts.

The deadlock in Moorestown over the selection of a chief of the fire department has been broken, the commissioners having appointed Charles F. Robinson to succeed himself. The other candidates, Evan F. Benners, withdrew in the interest of harmony.

T. W. Eayre Post No. 49, G. A. R., conducted Memorial Day services, assisted by delegations from civic societies. Exercises were conducted in the cemeteries in the morning and in the afternoon at the town hall, addresses were made by a number of clergymen, including Rev. Albert Latscher, of Crozier Seminary.

During the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Methodist Protestant Church, Moorestown, on Sunday evening, the leader, Miss Mamie Magee, fell to the floor unconscious and died within two hours. Her death is attributed to acute indigestion.

The graduating class of the Mount Holly high school will hold class day exercises in the Masonic Temple next Wednesday afternoon and commencement exercises in the opera house the following evening.

TO INCREASE CAPITAL

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the First National Bank, of Beverly, a resolution was passed increasing the bank's capital to $100,000 and also securing trust powers. The name of the bank will be changed to the First National Bank and Trust Company. The action of the directors is to be ratified at a special meeting of the stockholders July 12 and the changes will become effective September first.

AVIATION ENGINEER SPEAKS AT COUNTY AERO CLUB SESSION

Delivers Instructive Talk at Meeting Monday Night; Buy Second Ship

INTEREST GROWING IN ACTIVITIES OF CLUB

The Burlington County Aero Club was fortunate in having as a speaker at the Monday night meeting at the Community House, in Moorestown, H. S. Cocklin, aeronautical engineer at the Naval Aircraft Factory, Philadelphia. Mr. Cocklin is in charge of project engineering on flying boat types for the United States Navy and is the designer of the famous PN-12 which recently broke the world's record of endurance flight for this type of ship.

The designer showed the club members a large number of lantern slides of the construction, materials and testing of naval aircraft and of the amount of experimental work being done by the Navy. Some of the views showed the NC-4, which was the first airplane to cross the Atlantic Ocean, and the PN-9, which made the Hawaiian flight.

Designing Aircraft

Mr. Cocklin explained the method of designating the aircraft as follows: the first letter indicates the type, such as P for patrol; the second letter designates the service, such as N for Navy; the number is the development number in a series of a certain type, such as 12, the twelfth in development of PN planes. Mr. Cocklin announced that another more advanced PN plane was now being projected.

For more than an hour the speaker instructed the audience in wing construction, merits of wood, steel and duraluminum as materials, aircraft engines, weighing and testing. At the conclusion of the illustrated talk Mr. Cocklin described amusingly the endurance flight of the PN-12 These ships are not particularly fast for aircraft having a speed of 113 miles-per-hour, but they do develop 525 horsepower at 1900 r. p.m. as a great amount of power is necessary for a seaplane to take-off. In addition to the patrol planes, the speaker told the club that the Navy is maintaining a large number of torpedo carrying planes which are considered a very helpful type in case of war.

Buys Another Ship

H. H. Longaker, president of the club, announced the purchase of another Waco 10 airplane which now gives the club two ships of this type for instruction and passenger-hopping. The new Waco was on the field at Moorestown on Sunday for the first, having been flown in from Troy, Ohio, the Waco factory.

Another ship to land at the airport on Sunday was the large Fairchild monoplane from the Philadelphia Airport, piloted by "Bob" Hewitt. This was the same ship that brought the Bremen fliers from Curtiss Field, L. I., to Philadelphia It seats four passengers besides the pilot and "Bob" Hewitt gave a number of passengers their first aerial ride in it during his short stay at Moorestown on Sunday.

The concrete foundation for the club's steel hangar has been laid by William de R. French, chairman of the field committee, and it is expected that the steel upper structure will be erected in a few days by the members of the club.

Field Improvements

Signs have been erected at the field, a new parking area fenced off which provides facilities for 1000 automobiles, and members of the field committee in future will wear white suits with the club insignia across the back that they easily may be identified.

Posters are being distributed throughout the county inviting citizens to take advantage of the field's flying facilities and to have a look at beautiful Burlington County from the air.

Prospective members throughout the county should get in touch with their local membership committee representative or ask any member wearing the club pin for information. Flying will continue daily from the Moorestown Airport.

SUMMER PRICES AT WALT WHITMAN

The Walt Whitman Theatre at Forty-sixth street and Westfield avenue (Burlington Pike) is starting its new summer prices this week. The admission on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Fridays will be reduced to thirty cents for adults and twenty cents for children.

With the coming of the summer months programs of more than usual interest will be provided and many new vaudeville acts have been booked. For the evening of Saturday, June 30 a special vaudeville feature of five acts will be presented.

The Walt Whitman is the first theatre in this section to provide facilities for the parking of the automobiles of its patrons in perfect safety and without charge. A watchman is on guard at all times and it is not necessary to park your car on the street.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the Association held last Thursday evening will be the last meeting until September as no meetings will be held during July or August. Any calls directed to the president will receive attention.

The treasurer reported the following contributions: Lions Club of Palmyra, $250.00; Friendship Circle Bible Class of the Epworth M. E. Sunday School, $25.00. We thank these generous donors.

Several men are still out of employment. Can any one help in this matter?

HURT IN COLLISION

Collingswood Man Seriously Injured In Accident

Harry Hoell, of 24 West Madison avenue, Collingswood, was seriously injured when his car sideswiped a truck owned by James E. Wescott, of Riverton, about three o'clock last Saturday morning.

The accident occurred on the Burling pike near the intersection of Highland avenue. Hoell's car was said to be traveling at a high rate of speed when it struck the truck and overturned, pinning the driver beneath. He was extricated by the driver of the truck and State Police who soon arrived, and was taken to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, in a serious condition.

Last reports indicate that he will recover, but his condition is said to be critical. The car was damaged beyond repair and was towed to Ed's Roadside Service Station on Cinnaminson avenue.

Drexel Institute Honors Schwarz

"Chris" Won Much Athletic Fame During Four Years at College

On Monday, June 18, Drexel Institute awarded diplomas and degrees to one hundred and seventy-six graduates, one of whom Palmyra claims, in the person of Christian Kenneth Schwarz. Although "Chris" comes from Asbury Park, during the four years of his Civil Engineering Course at Drexel, he has made his home with his brother, D. Grey Schwarz, at 710 Parry avenue.

Because of his ability in basketball and football, he has made himself known to most lovers of these sports both in college and here in Palmyra. For four years he has played various backfield positions on Drexel and for three years was a familiar figure on Drexel Court, while for two seasons he passed the ball in the Sunday School Basketball League.

After the graduation exercises, a dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Grey Schwarz, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Schwarz of Asbury Park, William Schwarz of Matawan, Miss Hilda Lippincott, Christian K. Schwarz and Mr. and Mrs. D. Grey Schwarz and family of Palmyra.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. Schwarz left for a six weeks' course at Camp Leonard Wood, Baltimore, Maryland, to complete his training as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Infantry Officer's Reserve Corps.

ORCHESTRA BANQUET

Miss Emma A. Price Is Toastmistress At Annual Affair

The Women's Symphony Orchestra, of Philadelphia, gave its second annual banquet Wednesday, June 13, at Wissahickon Farms, Chestnut Hill.

Miss Emma A. Price, president, was toastmistress.

Following the dinner was an interesting entertainment program and dancing.

Guests of honor and speakers were Bruce Carey, of Girard College, Mrs. Ackroyd Clare, president of Philadelphia Music Club; Mrs. Mabel S. Ewer, founder of the orchestra; Mrs. F. W. Ferguson, concert manager; J. W. F. Leman (conductor); Chief Strongwolf, an Indian, and others.

PAYS $400 FINE

Harry Kreutzberg, proprietor of the Palmyra Hotel, was fined $400 for illegal possession of liquor by the county court at Mount Holly last week. Two and one half gallons of liquor were taken from his place when it was raided by enforcement agents a short time ago.

HERBERT-RHOADES

Miss Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Rhoades, and Mr. Clement O. Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Herbert, of Riverton, were married in the Presbyterian Church last Saturday at 6 o'clock. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. T. Bates.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe and lace with a long tulle veil over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. She was attended by Miss Lillian McAllister, of Philadelphia, as maid of honor, and Miss Elsie Hines, of Palmyra, and Miss Anna Hewitt, of Ocean City, as bridesmaids. John Pickard, of Mount Holly, was best man.

The maid of honor were an orchid crepe and lace dress, with hat to match. The bridesmaids wore gowns of peach and yellow, with hats to match, and they all carried bouquets to match their gowns. They wore flesh-colored stockings and silver slippers.

Mrs. Joseph Turnock sang "O, Promise Me" and "At Dawning." The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Stockdale.

The ushers were George A. Rhoades, Jr., a brother of the bride, Samuel Herbert, a brother of the bridegroom; John White and Walter Hoeschst, of Glenolden, Pa.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 30 Henry street, Palmyra. The happy couple went to Atlantic City for their wedding trip and will reside at Linwood, N. J.

Future of Aviation Described to Lions

Commercial Flying Already Well Advanced in This Country

The Lions Club had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting speaker on a very interesting subject at the meeting Tuesday.

George Robeson, chairman of the aviation committee of the Tri-state Regional Planning Commission, was the speaker. He took for his subject, "The Development of Commercial Aviation in the United States." He told how important the commercial airways are becoming to the National transportation system of the country.

He gave some interesting comparisons of the miles of air routes in America to those which we hear so much about in Europe. Over 25,000 miles are flown daily by commercial planes in this country which is many miles more than is flown in Germany. The mileage of American commercial planes is over twice that of England's Imperial Air Routes.

Mr. Robeson advocated the use of roofs in Palmyra for markers to guide aviators and to identify the town. This would result in much favorable publicity and cause Palmyra to become known from the air.

Charles D. Ohdner, secretary of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker next week and will deliver his famous address on South Jersey.

Walter D. Lamon was delegated to attend the Burlington County Red Cross Life Saving meeting to be held at Burlington, June 22.

David Schwartz and John H. Etris were appointed a committee to confer with the Lions Clubs of Camden, Merchantville, Collingswood, Audubon, Westville and Clementon on the outing and testimonial dinner to be given to the newly elected District Governor, Albert E. Burling.

"Y" SUMMER SCHOOL

Camden Offers Attractive Opportunity to Students

To most boys and girls, a summer school is something to avoid, but this is not true when it is possible to go to school and take a swim immediately after class. This is what the boys and girls are going to get this summer when they enroll in the Camden YMCA Summer School. The boys will have the full privileges of the "Y" pool and the girls will get similar privileges at the YWCA. The Physical Director and his staff will have full charge of this part of the program. Just imagine, a hot bath, cool shower and a cold plunge in the pool with water polo, swimming races and other aquatic sports.

This Summer School gives opportunity to a number of different students. It enables those boys and girls who have failed in some subjects to review their work, take the make-up examination in the fall and instead of having to repeat the course, receive credit for it and go on with their advanced work. These failures are due, not only because some pupils ar a litti slow, but also because some have been compelled to be out of school because of sickness or who have moved into the school district during the school term. When a student has failed in two or three subjects, he loses his class standing, and instead of continuing with his friends, he knows that he must make a new set of friends. He knows also that it will take him one half to a year longer to complete his school work. This very often gives a student an opportunity to become very much discouraged with his work and give it up rather than graduate with the lower class.

NEW AUTO DEALER

Charles Don to Open Chevrolet Sales and Service

A new automobile agency is being opened in the Blackwell Building at 309 East Broad street, Palmyra, for the sale and service of Chevrolet cars. Charles Don, of Collingswood, is the proprietor of the new business and comes to Palmyra with several years of experience in the automobile business.

Mr. Don was for five years assistant service manager for the Ford Motor Company's Philadelphia branch. He has had considerable experience selling Ford and Chevrolet cars.

Several applications were made for the Palmyra agency and it was given to Mr. Don only after careful investigation as to his ability and fitness to act as agent for this popular line of motor cars. A large part of his 14 years in the business has been spent in the servicing department and service will be one of the big features of the new agency's policy.

Mr. Don is now living at Collingswood but expects to make his home in Palmyra in the near future. He is 34 years old, married and has three children, all boys, including a set of twins.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Schwartz was the scene of a joyous crowd on Thursday evening, when they entertained to celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in dancing and playing cards, and at a late hour refreshments were served to about a hundred guests from Lansdowne, West Philadelphia, Moorestown, Riverton, Delanco, Riverside, Berlin and Palmyra. Music was furnished by Charlie Schwartz's orchestra.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Music Studio of Miss Emma A. Price, 416 Lippincott avenue, Riverton, will be open during the summer. During vacation is a good time to get children started on piano. For terms and appointments apply at Studio or call Riverton 806. adv.

TENNIS TOURNEY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Local Garden Club To Participate Big Annual Event Scheduled For June 23; Dinner and Dancing

On Saturday, June 23, the West Jersey League of Field Clubs' tennis tournament will be held on the courts of the Riverton Country Club. Matches in men's singles and doubles, ladies' singles and doubles and mixed doubles in each of which Riverton, Moorestown, Haddonfield, Merchantville and Woodbury will have entries, will start promptly at 2.30 p. m.

Following the matches, supper will be served at the Club House at nominal cost and music provided for dancing in the evening. In case of rain, necessitating the postponement of matches, supper will be served at 6.30 p. m. Plenty of seats will be provided for watching the play, and the general public is invited. No admittance fee will be charged.

The team representing Riverton will be selected from the following players: O. R. Rauth, Jr., R. M. Kraft, H. S. Coe, A. F. Coe, Lieut. N. W. Gokey, U. S. N.; Miss Kathryn Graff, Mrs. H. S. Coe, Mrs. Perot Nevin, Miss Kathryn Johnson and Miss M. Taylor.

With fair weather, this will be the gala tennis day of the year for Riverton, and a large number of guests from other communities are expected to be on hand.

Three New Palmyra Ordinances Passed

Fireworks, Restaurants and Amusement Places Subject to Regulation

An ordinance relating to the sale and use of fireworks was passed at the meeting of Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday evening at the firehouse.

The ordinance provides that no fireworks, firecrackers or similar explosives shall be discharged within the Borough except from twelve o'clock noon on the third day of July until eleven-thirty p. m. on the Fourth of July. When the Fourth of July falls on Sunday a different time is set.

No one is permitted to sell or store fireworks without first getting a written permit from the Mayor and Chief of Police. Certain kinds of dangerous fireworks are not permitted to be sold, and firecrackers in excess of three inches in length and one-half inch in diameter are not permitted.

Under this ordinance fireworks can only be stored in places approved by the Chief of Police and must not be exposed to the rays of the sun while on display in the stores. The Chief of Police is authorized to confiscate and destroy all fireworks stored or displayed in violation of the ordinance.

Another ordinance regulating places where food and drink are sold to be consumed on the premises was also passed. Provision for licensing these places is made so that the local authorities will be able to regulate them.

A third ordinance which passed final reading was one providing for the licensing of pool rooms, bowling alleys and theatres.

The flooded condition at the foot of Market street was discussed and Clerk Spencer instructed to write to the owner of the property which is being filled in and notify them that any obstructions interfering with natural drainage must be removed.

A letter from the War Department was read which asked if there were any objections to the dumping of some 100,000 yards of soil by the American Dredging Company. This soil is being pumped from the channel of the river and deposited on the lowlands adjacent to the foot of Market street. Copies of the letter, evidently a matter of form, were given to each Councilman in case anyone wished for information. The committee appointed to look into the stump controversy reported that the matter had been settled and that Mr. Griffenberg would pay $30 and Mr. Albright $40.

The Chairman of the Roads and Street Committee reported that the garbage collection would continue as usual but there would be no ash collection until fall.

Half of the Firemen's appropriation amounting to $500 was authorized to be paid at this time.

Clerk George J. Spencer is acting as Registrar owing to the absence of Mr. Davison during the summer months.

PROFIT IN PEAS

How often has this question been asked? "Does the home garden really pay?" Here is one who would answer the question with a decided "yes."

Mrs. Neely, of Garfield avenue, planted in a space appoximately 50 x 75 feet peas, at a cost of $2.00.

During the week of the 11th she picked 200 lbs. for which she found a ready market at 10 cents per pound, and still there are 50 pound more ready to be picked.

Her customers not only came back three and four times, but said the peas were the finest they ever ate. This was Mrs. Neely's first attempt at growing peas.

HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. C. A. Nesbit, 605 Thomas avenue, Riverton, and two friends were badly cut and bruised when her car struck a pole near the Friends' Meeting Grounds at Westfield in the heavy rain storm late Tuesday afternoon.

The three injured women were treated by Dr. Harry L. Rogers and sent to their homes.

Mrs. Nesbit was accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Rogers, of Burlington, and Mrs. George Mount, of Beverly. Mrs. Mount was taken home in the Palmyra Ambulance. Mrs. Nesbit will be confined to bed for several days.

MOORESTOWN GIRL WINS PEACE PRIZE

Young Student Wins Over Large Field Of Contestants

Frances Elizabeth Klander, of the Friends' School, Moorestown, was awarded first prize of $500 for a trip to Geneva, Switzerland, for her original speech submitted in a national contest on the subject of outlawing war by the ratification of arbitration treaties.

Thousands of contestants from 37 States and Hawaii submitted speeches on the general subject of obtaining permanent peace through treaties for the renunciation of war and the settlement of all international disputes by other means than war. The contest was conducted by the National Oratorical Contest on Outlaw War Treaties in which prizes were offered by Charles M. Biddle, of New York City.

Gold medals were awarded for the best speech submitted by contestants in each State and the New Jersey award went to Florence Cooyman, of the Manasquan High School.

Second prize in the national contest, consisting of $300 cash, went to Harwood Stump, Long Beach, California.

The judges of the contest were Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times; George W. Wickersham, former United States attorney general; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War; James G. McDonald, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association, and Mrs. Edgerton Parsons, of the Industrial Federation of University Women.

M. E. PICNIC

The largest crowd that ever attended the annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday School was on hand to enjoy Camp Ockanickon last Wednesday afternoon.

Ockanickon, the Burlington County YMCA camp, appealed to everyone as an ideal place for an outing and several have expressed themselves as wishing to have the picnic there next year.

A large variety of amusements was provided for the children and and grown-ups, too, among which were swimming, canoeing and races.

A baseball game between the married men and the single men was a feature of the program. The benedicts won the decision 19 to 14. Nate Coombs was the "Ty Cobb" of the winners with four solid smacks and some classy base running which netted his side four tallies. Sunday School Superintendent Edwin A. Griscom toed the mound for the married men and held his opponents to 14 runs.

WALLACE IMPROVING

Wounded Palmyra Officer on Way to Recovery

Officer Nelson Wallace is recuperating from bullet wounds in both thighs received while making an arrest a week ago Sunday morning. The wounds are healing nicely but the physician will not say when the officer will be permitted to walk around again.

Alfred Brown, formerly of East Riverton, whom Wallace arrested, was taken to the Burlington County Hospital and placed under armed guard after confessing to a score of petty robberies in and around Riverton. He has since been committed to the county jail.

Brown admitted a number of robberies which William Ingram had confessed to and for which Ingram is now serving time in the state prison. Robert Peacock, attorney for Ingram, has asked Judge Slaughter to recall the prisoner and give him a new trial. Peacock claims his client confessed only to save himself from the severe "third degree" which the State Troopers inflicted upon him.

County Detective Ellis Parker is checking up the conflicting confessions. It is said that the methods used by the State Police will be subjected to careful investigation.

JUNIORS WIN

Coles and Clan Wipe Out Riverside's 4-0 Lead and Win, 8-4

Riverton's Junior baseball team has played four games and won them all, so far this season. Monday evening the youngsters took into camp the McCoy Cardinals by an 8-4 score in a hectic battle.

Jack Smith started on the mound for Riverton and had a little hard luck in trying to find the plate. He allowed the visitors four runs in the first two innings.

The Juniors could not score until the third when they pushed across a quintet of runs, which would have been enough to win. A single marker was scored in the fourth and a duo in the fifth.

Leon Coles took on the mound duties for the Juniors in the second and held the visitors to two hits in three and one-third innings. The young twirler also garnered three base hits and scored two runs. Broderson and Bartley assisted Coles, with two bingles each. Leon fanned seven of the Riverside boys.

THEY GRADUATED TOO!

The names of Marjorie Powell and Harry May were omitted from the list of grammar school graduates published last week. Miss Marjorie sang a solo entitled, "To a Wild Rose," during the exercises which were held in the grammar school auditorium last Friday morning.

HISTORICAL PILGRIMAGE

The June Pilgrimage of the Burlington County Historical Society will be held at Stony Brook Meeting House near Princeton, June 23, at 2.30 p. m. daylight saving time.

Address by Walter H. Olden, of Princeton.

SINGLE BID HOLDS UP OILING RIVERTON STREETS

Attorney Rules Contract Cannot be Awarded With Only One Bid

RIVERTON FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL TONIGHT

The Riverton Fire Company's Carnival opens its three night program this evening on the lot at Broad and Thomas, where it was held last year.

Two new stands have been arranged for this year. A fish pond for the kiddies and an aluminum stand where mother may win some useful kitchen ware.

Remember that this evening and Friday and Saturday evenings you have an opportunity to show your loyalty to the boys who protect your lives and properties.

FIRE CO. PROPOSES MUNICIPAL BUILDING

Councilman William B. Lynch, chairman of the highway committee, will not be able to proceed with the oiling of the streets as soon as he expected, owing to the fact that only one bid was submitted for road oil at the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night and the borough attorney advised that contract could not be awarded on one bid.

When bids were called for, the only one submitted was that of Hylton Smith. After some discussion as to whether or not the contract could be awarded on one bid, Councilman Bartley, chairman of the finance committee, called Senator Read, borough attorney, on the telephone, and was informed that it was necessary to have more than one bid.

Advertise for New Bids

A motion was immediately passed to readvertise for bids, to be opened on Monday, July 2, at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time.

Mr. Lynch reported that Thomas avenue was about in condition for the application of oil, and that work was being done on Linden avenue. The delay in gettiag the oil put on, he said, might necessitate doing some of this work over again. Mr. Lynch also pointed out that under conditions which had arisen since the appropriation for oiling streets had been made, it was not going to be possible to do as much oiling as originally planned. He pointed out that the temporary improvement of Park avenue would take about $1000 of the money intended for oiling and that the engineer's bill of $277.50 for surveying Park street last year when it was intended to make a permanent improvement would further cut into the amount.

Two Coats Required

In addition to all this, Mr. Lynch said, the engineers recommended that two coats of oil should be applied, instead of one, as originally planned, which would, of necessity reduce the number of streets treated. It was agreed that it would be better to make a good job of a fewer number of street than to put one coat all over town and not get satisfactory results in the end.

A general discussion as to permanent street improvement followed, during which Engineer Sherman expressed the opinion that no comprehensive program of road paving should be attempted without some plan of assessing the cost against the abutting properties, and that new sewer construction incident to the installation of a sewer disposal plant should be done before the streets were improved. Mr. Sherman suggested that the construction of roads be assessed against the properties on each side of the street, and that the borough pay for the intersections.

Good for Three Years

Councilman Lynch said he understood that oiling the streets would keep them in good condition for at least three years and he did not think any permanent improvement should be done until the expiration of that time, otherwise the money spent for oiling would be largely wasted.

Councilman Hubbs said he thought all the streets should have sidewalks and curbs before council did any permanent paving.

Director of Public Safety Williams reported that the police department had held for investigation four strangers during the month, suspected of being connected with some of the robberies about town, but that they all gave satisfactory accounts of themselves and were released. Four calls from Cinnaminson township reporting attempted robberies had been answered and investigated. Bill Faunce, of Riverton, had been sent to the county jail for 90 days for disorderly conduct.

Riverton Police Force

Mr. Williams reported in detail on the arrest of Alfred Brown in Palmyra by Officer Wallace of the Palmyra police force, and gave Wallace full credit for the capture. Brown admitted to several robberies in Riverton, and was reported to have said that he did not operate in Palmyra because he knew

Urge Referendum on "4th" Fund

Palmyra Chamber of Commerce Wants Question Voted on This Fall

The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as favoring the placing on the ballot this fall of a proposition to have the Borough appropriate a certain sum for a Fourth of July celebration every year.

Mayor George N. Wimer is much in favor of such a proposition and said at the meeting he would rather have the people vote on the question than for Council to authorize it without knowing whether the majority are in favor of such a move.

The question of holding a celebration this year was brought before the Chamber at its June meeting and it was suggested that the organization sponsor a movement to mark this great patriotic holiday. There was considerable discussion as to how this could be done in so short a time and it seemed that the only way possible would be to get a group of workers to canvass the town to raise the money.

This idea met with strenuous objections from several members who said they would not favor anything which called for the annoyance of the residents with pleas for money in a canvass. It was finally decided since a suitable program could not be arranged in the short time left that no celebration be held this year but instead the Chamber of Commerce take action to see that the community has a real Independence Day celebration hereafter.

This brought forth the idea of asking the Mayor and Council to make an appropriation such as is done in Riverton, but on further thought it was deemed wise to find out if the citizens of the Borough really want the town to observe this great holiday. In line with this thought a motion was made and passed, petitioning Mayor and Council to have this proposition placed on the ballot at the general election this fall.

PARRY FIREMEN

The Parry Fire Company was called on to extinguish two fires over the weekend. The first was about ten o'clock Friday evening when a yacht owned by Mr. Knast caught fire at Fork Landing. The other was an automobile at Five Points Service Station at eleven o'clock Saturday evening. The new sterling siren recently installed on Parry's new firehouse has proven adequate as the response of the firemen has proven.

Roscoe Shinn Tells of Sheriff's Work

Under-Sheriff Delivers Interesting Address Before Riverside Kiwanis Club

Roscoe Shinn, of Burlington, Under-sheriff of Burlington county, addressed the Riverside Kiwanis Club last week on the work of the Sheriff's office.

Mr. Shinn spoke as follows:

"I was asked to come down here and tell you of the work of the sheriff's office of Burlington county. It is rather difficult to tell you all that is being done, but I'll try to give you an outline so that you may know something of the variety and expanse of the office. I think the work can be classified under two headings—first, the jail, and second, the court.

"Since the jail is usually associated with the sheriff's office I thought you would be interested to know just what goes on there.

"The Burlington County Prison as it stands today was built in 1808, thus making it one of the oldest jails in this part of the State still in use. On the upper floor there are 4 wings, each having 4 cells, with 8 beds and a bath; 1 murder cell, and 4 cells with 2 beds each. In the basement or "subway" as it is called, there are 20 beds in each section, and 9 beds for the kitchen help; the total number of beds being 70.

Cooking by Prisoners

"All the cooking is done by the prisoners without pay. There is one head cook and he with his seven helpers prepare the meals for the entire group of prisoners I'll give you an idea of the meals served:

"Breakfast—bread, oatmeal, coffee (no milk or sugar,) and potatoes.

"Dinner—various soups, stews, codfish cakes, baked beans and bread.

Supper—coffee, bread and boiled rice.

Twelve Work Each Day

From the number of prisoners in jail, twelve are taken out each day to work, receiving 50 cents for their services. Six go to the sanitarium, and six on the bridge "gang."

"There is an average of 50 prisoners in the jail the whole year round. Winter is usually the season when the capacity of the prison is taxed. During the time I have been in office I have taken the following from there to various institutions :35 to State Prison, 9 to Rahway Reformatory, 5 to State Home for Women at Clinton, 3 to Stitle home for Girls at Trenton, 6 to State Home for Boys at Jamesburg, 5 to State Hospital at Trenton and 5 to the New Lisbon Asylum; a total of 68.

"To take care of and oversee the prison at all hours, there are three wardens 1 day warden on from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.; 1 night warden on from 5 p. m. to 4 a. m.; 1 night warden on from 11 p. m. to 8 a. m.

Two During "Wee" Hours

This is so arranged that there will be two men on duty from eleven to four, the most lonesome hours of the night.

"The appropriation to cover expenses of the jail and the keeping of the prisoners for the year 1928 was $12,500.

"That is about all there is to the prison side of the Question.

Now the the Court side:

"All juries are drawn by the sheriff or under-sheriff. There are 300 names put in for the Grand Jury, and 50 drawn out. For the petit jury there are 500 names put in and 100 drawn out. These juries and the court constables are summoned from the sheriff's office for the court terms beginning as follows:

"4th Tuesday in April,

"2nd Tuesday in September, and

"4th Tuesday in December.

"The following types of papers are served by the Under-Sheriff:

"Summons and complaint.

"Attachments.

"Divorce citations (easiest ones to serve).

"Demands and replevins, and Executions out of Chancery, Supreme, Circuit, and Common Pleas Courts.

Many Miles Covered

"There have been 3,129 of these various writs served in twenty months, and the mileage covered in delivering them and prisoners for one year and seven days is 37,250 miles, making an average of 99.6 miles a day.

To cover the expenses of the sheriff's office for the year 1928 the appropriation of $11,520 was made.

"I have told you the major duties of the office; there are many minor ones, but they are to numerous to mention. We would be glad to have you come up and inspect the jail at any time, and if there are any questions you would like to ask regarding the work I'll be glad to try to answer them for you."

OAKLAND-PONTIAC SALES ON CLIMB

Sales of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes during the first five months of this year reached a record total of 128,305 cars according to figures released at the factory Saturday.

This volume of sales shows an increase of 49,019 or nearly 62 percent over the 79,286 Oakland-Pontiac sales recorded during the first five months of 1927 when the Oakland Motor Company was moving up from ninth place to fifth place in the automotive industry.

Oakland executives are making no predictions as to what position the company may attain at the end of the year. They merely point to the figures. One illuminating bit of data shows that when the year 1928 was only three months old, the sales of Oakland and Pontiac sixes had reached a total of 74,118 which nearly equals the sales registered by the company during the entire first five months of 1927.

W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales, states that recently increased factory facilities now are adequate to take care of the growing volume of orders.

CARS COLLIDE

Five Colored Men Hurt When Machine Hits Hein's Coupe

Five colored men were injured when the car in which they were riding struck a coupe driven by Mrs. C. J. Hein, of Leconey avenue, Palmyra, about six o'clock Wednesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Hein was not injured.

The driver of the car, W. H. Hicks, of Morrisville, near Delair, was the most painfully injured. He suffered a deep cut on his forehead and minor bruises about the body. Ernest Caughman, of Morrisville, was bruised about the legs. Price Hall, also of Morrisville, received bruises on his left arm.

William Busbee, of Merchantville, suffered from bruises on his face and shock. William King, of Merchantville, received minor bruises. All were treated by Police Physician LeFavor and sent to their homes.

The car driven by Mrs. Hein was making a left turn onto Broad street from Vine when the car in which the men were riding approached the intersection at a high rate of speed. Their car, a light roadster with a pick-up body, struck the coupe and overturned, throwing the occupants to the street.

BUSES NEED CURBING!

The buses are getting bad again. Last Thursday afternoon a Riverton resident was crowded off the road and in the trolley tracks on Broad street between Thomas and Lippincott avenues, by a bus driver cutting out to pass another bus and a car that was passing the standing bus. Some of these bus drivers, depending on the weight of their machines, absolutely disregard all rules of the road and the rights of other drivers.

Exceeded Speed Limit

New York — Jack Gelman was fined $20 for speeding. It was a rather unusual case, as he was not speeding in a motor car, but was driving a horse, hauling a laundry wagon, "at an unreasonable rate of speed."

CONSTABLE BURROUGHS TO BE TENDERED PICNIC

Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs, of Mount Holly, constable and court officer, is to be the honored guest at a picnic to be held at Cedar Lake on Thursday, June 21, the affair being sponsored by the members of the December and April petit jurors, who are desirous of doing something to show their appreciation of the fine treatment accorded them by Mrs. Burroughs while they were doing jury duty at the Court House. Judges Jess and Slaughter and Prosecutor Hillman are specially invited guests. The picnic will be an all-day affair.

To be happy you must overlook some things entirely, among which is the cost of running an automobile.

$2,500 Assessed in Bootleggers' Fines

Jail Sentences Included in Penalties Meted Out by County Court

If fines and jail sentences go for anything among the bootlegging contingent of the county there should be fewer infractions of the law by this element for the next few weeks, at least, for last Thursday was sentence day in the Burlington County Courts and Judge Slaughter meted out some penalties to bootleggers that should put a quietus upon their activities for awhile.

John Mitchell, of Mount Holly, referred to as the "manager" of the Edna Connors wet goods emporium on Paxson street, Mount Holly, came in and made a retraction of his plea of not guilty to possession of liquor and pleaded guilty, being fined $200.

The Court said he would feel just as well satisfied if Mitchell obtained a position out of town.

Bernard Latina and Josephine Caruso, both of Moorestown, came in on waivers and admitted they were guilty of serious charges and were each fined $50.

Albert Bowker, Burlington, liquor charge, $250 fine.

Jessie Gach or Gackowski, Riverside, liquor charge, $350 fine and the sentence will also react against him if he ever applies for naturalization papers.

Mary Horvith, Roebling, liquor indictment, 30 days in county jail.

Charles Homeniuski, Riverside, larceny of automobile tire, placed on probation for two years and must pay costs amounting to $50.

Bennie Sakowski, Riverside, liquor indictment, 45 days in county jail.

Alex. Lisiewski, Riverside, liquor indictment, $400 fine.

Walter Toljeski, Riverside, liquor indictment, had his sentence laid over for one week.

Nick DeFarria, Burlington, statutory charges, $50 fine.

The Court suggested to the prosecutor the advisability of padlocking this hostelry, as this made the fourth time that the place has been before the Court, under one name or another.

Leroy Bozarth and Leonard A. Muntello, Mount Holly boys who had pleaded guilty to five charges of petty larceny, will spend an indeterminate sentence at the New Jersey Reformatory, at Rahway.

The case of the State against Thomas I. Shinn, of Burlington, charged with embezzlement, consumed practically a day last week, the defendant bringing numerous citizens of his home city to Court to testify as to his good character.

It was charged by the State that Shinn, as a confidential friend, had embezzled about $200 from Mazie Saabye.

The Saabye woman some time back had arranged to purchase a home from Benjamin Farner, Sr., and after making a deposit of $700 changed her mind and Mr. Farner resold the house and paid the money back to Mrs. Saabye, about $200 of which she deputized Shinn to receive for her, and it was this amount that the woman claimed she had lost through Shinn's dishonesty.

Shinn claimed that he had paid all the money entrusted to him over to Mrs. Saable and produced receipts to show for it.

The defendant was given a very good name by his friends in Burlington, and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

George Whittick and Lewis Scott, known in police channels as "Scotty," were charged in several indictments with the robbery of the drug store of Edward T. Hee, at Delanco, on March 3, when goods to the value of $200 were taken.

Both men have police records and "Scotty," in particular, has been a very unruly prisoner since being confined in the county jail, he at one time having made a blackjack out of an old spoon and a lot of tinfoil, evidently with the intention of knocking off one or more of the jailers.

The defense was an alibi, but the jury, after a half hour's deliberation returned a verdict of guilty as to both men. They are also charged with the robbery of Venable's store, Moorestown, last winter.

The law of nature means to have the power of prediction under certain given circumstances certain others follow always and inevitably; it means to discover causes and their effects. The great chancellors of God, are Cause and Effect.

Judge Wells Stuns Anti-Prohibitionist

Ovation Received by Burlington County Man for Bold Upholding of Constitution

The Prudential Life Insurance Company gave a banquet in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel at which upwards of 1,200 of its superintendents, executive heads and managers were present. The president, Edward D. Duffield, spoke in a general way on sumptuary legislation, decrying the making of so many unnecessary laws. His speech was a patriotic one and a credit to a man occupying his position.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway System, gave a facetious dig at prohibition, referring to the fact that some Americans received "illumination" from Canada since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The New Jersey Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, Mr. Maxson, also spoke. He is a pronounced anti-prohibitionist. He said, in substance, that in his judgment the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment was an outrage on the people of America; that the Volstead Act was the most pernicious legislation ever written into our statutes; that the sooner the people repealed the one and wiped out the other, the better it would be for all concerned.

Then Judge Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown, New Jersey, was introduced and said, "I have listened with much interest to what has been said by the president of one of the greatest insurance companies in the world about sumptuary legislation. I am interested in what has been said by the president of one of the greatest railway systems on earth.

"I listened with bated breath to the denunciation of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act by my friend, Mr. Maxson, Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of the great State of New Jersey. These three men are great men, leaders in their respective spheres.

"On the other hand, I am only a little country lawyer from a small New Jersey town, who always comes to New York with fear and trembling. I do not have the courage to speak out what is in my mind about these matters, but if I dared to speak, I would say that, in my judgment, the best thing that ever happened to the United States of America was the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act."

He added, "I would go further, if I dared, but fear restrains me. Were it not for this fear, I would say that, in my judgment, every self-respecting, decent American citizen, could do but one thing now that the amendment has been written into the Constitution and now that the statute has been passed by Congress, and that is to respect it and enforce it. Of course, I would be afraid to say this here in New York in the presence of these distinguished men, but I would have said these things if I had the courage."

The applause that followed this courageous statement by Judge Wells was so tremendous and prolonged that it astonished Mr. Duffield, who afterwards said to Judge Wells that he was amazed at the applause that he received for his flat-footed declaration in favor of prohibition, because he thought that the audience of insurance executives would have been more likely to have been opposed to prohibition that in favor of it.

Judge Wells said, "Mr. Duffield, what people are opposed to in the United States is not prohibition, but the lack of it. They are sick and tired of a pussy-footed attitude on the subject, and many intelligent people think it ought to be enforced or repealed, but their preference is for enforcement."—From The American Issue.

Arlington Mausoleum

In Beautiful Perpetual Care Arlington Cemetery in Pensauken Township

Where shall I be buried?
Where shall I place the remains of my loved ones?

These are significant questions; people are thinking more about them today than ever before. There is a better way than the open grave, a beautiful permanent dry resting place where nothing can desecrate, defile or destroy.

Mausoleum ENTOMBMENT not only is the humane way of caring for our beloved dead, but is the logical product of years of scientific research, with supplemental constructive thought and experiment by practical conservators of public health, heart desire, private economy. The charming grace of marble halls, the fragrance of flowers, the peaceful security, the scientific sanitation safeguarding the living, the ample endowment for perpetual care; these appeal to the immortal affections and protective pride of discriminating hearts.

The rapidly increasing demand for space in this beautiful Mausoleum, the very limited numbers of crypts it contains, and our easy payment plan during the construction of the building, far-sighted people cannot afford to overlook. No down payment required to secure space. Never before in the history of Southern New Jersey, have the people been offered the opportunity of securing space in a magnificent temple for the dead in richness and beauty of construction, beyond words to describe, standing sentinel through the ages, silent, yet speaking with a voice that reaches beyond the tomb.

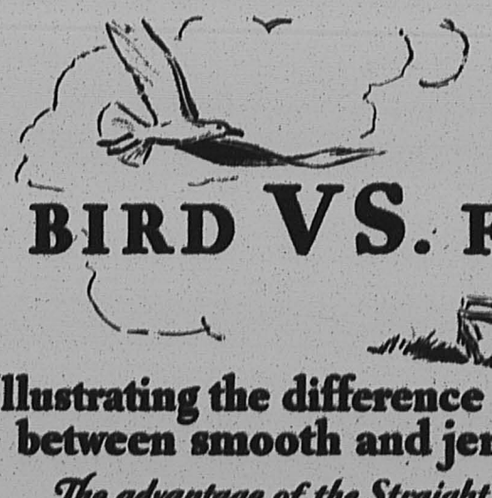

The Arlington Mausoleum now makes it possible for those of moderate means to entomb their beloved dead above ground in this superb, stately structure, at no greater cost than first-class ground burial. Heretofore only the nation's illustrious dead and families of great wealth could enjoy this priceless and much desired privilege.

The cost of space in this beautiful Mausoleum is within the reach of all.

THE GOD-GIVEN MIRACLE

In a little out of the way farm house away down the road, many miles from the much-beloved Main street, where in his sprightlier days he had lived an active and colorful life as the leading town politician, sat a little old man who was almost broken in spirit.

Once the cynosure of the eyes of the community, a moving spirit in all the town activities, but now practically a hermit—for years he had hardly ventured out of his little farm house. Even his eyes seemed to have failed him so that he could hardly read his local newspaper.

Unexpectedly he was presented with a radio, and he has since become a different man. He interest in life has been renewed.

Suddenly, out of the miracle that is called radio, came to him the speeches and sounds and cheers and even the spontaneous demonstrations of a great national political convention. To his ears are carried the hoarse cheers of delegates for their favorite candidates. A moment after a decision is made, he hears of it. As soon as the candidate is picked, he has the news. In fact, he is transported by radio into the very midst of the great convention so many, many weary miles away.

And what has happened to this old man, is happening in every part of the country to thousands and thousands of bed-ridden shut-ins.

AN ADULT NATION

The United States has definitely grown up. The swaddling clothes stage of its existence is forever past.

Not so very long ago we were the precocious child among nations. It was the general custom to kindly pat the growing child on the head and remark that it might amount to something some day if it carefully emulated its elders.

The order of things has been suddenly reversed. The one-time baby of nations is the center of amazed eyes of its once patronizing elders.

It was a healthy child and grew to manhood with unforeseen rapidity. It left the nursery to become a world leader in industry, in business, in finance.

We took the best the old world had to offer and embellished it with new qualities of shrewdness, progressiveness and unprecedented foresight. The result is the greatest industrial civilization the world has known.

At the beginning of any life there is bound to be experiment. It is a necessity of eager youth. What waste it causes is the price of progress.

We have sifted the good from the bad. We have found stability; we have blazed our trail along sound economic lines. We have exalted and striven toward an ideal—the uttermost efficiency.

FEDERAL ROADS AID

The growth of the movement for good roads was set in motion on July 11, 1916, when the law was approved by which the United States gave its financial support to "aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes." Prior to that date the Government had not given support to the States for highways. The first Federal aid bill provided $5,000,000 for 1919. Uncle Sam thought he was going some at that. But the experiment was so popular that the expenditures were raised to $75,000,000 for the year 1920, and it has never gone below that figure.

The bill passed at the last Congress sticks to the sum of $75,000,000 a year for Federal aid. Representative Gardner, of Indiana, who is a member of the committee of the House having charge of roads legislation, declared at the time of the adjournment of Congress that every member of his committee favored increasing the appropriation for State aid to $100,000,000 a year, beginning next year, but they were restrained from recommending this increase in the appropriation because they were informed that the President would not sign a bill increasing the annual amounts expended for Federal aid above $75,000,000.

SCHOOL CLOSES

The long school term is over, and now children are getting ten weeks of vacation-time, and probably they are very tickled at the prospect. Who wouldn't be?

Anyway, times have changed. The school boys and girls look forward to vacation now, but not half as much as they did years ago. That's because the school of today is run on scientific, humane principles.

For in place of hard and stony looks, scathing words, and, often, the application of corporal punishment, the pupils today get the friendship and help of competent, efficient, keenly interested teachers.

Not that there were not excellent schools and teachers in the old days; but the general level seems to have been raised.

COUNTRY WEEKLIES VITAL.
SCHOOL FOR PARENTS.
THE PYGMIES LEARN HOW.
FIJI ISLANDERS.

H. S. Mitchell's "Sentinel" at Bermidji, Minn., wins the prize as best weekly in the National Editorial contest. This is a good time to remind the public in general, and national advertisers in particular, that country weekly newspapers are the most important organs of public opinion and protectors of public welfare.

And their advertising value, per mill line, is not excelled by any publication of any kind.

The reader of a country weekly buys everything, from shingles on the roof to cement in the cellar floor, and every advertiser has in him a possible customer.

What is the matter with our children? Not much, but a great deal is the matter with some parents.

The police are hunting for a little girl, ten years old, invited to go to a party by a plausible man, fifty-eight years old. The child did not know the man, the parents did not know him. But the parents said, "Certainly." Off she went in the stranger's car, and that's the last seen of her.

Every public school should have an annex with the sign over the door:

"Primary Common Sense for Parents."

Miss O'Brien, adventurous young explorer, returns to St. Paul, Minn., disappointed in the African pygmies. She shot all kinds of game, endured all kinds of hardship and says Africa is all right for a woman, but a little too rough for a man.

"The pygmies are darling little creatures," she says, "but I had to teach them to act wild." She wanted moving pictures of them.

Many American girls could teach any pygmy to act wild, and do so.

Those Fijians once had an annoying habit of eating white men. This time they only cheered them.

The fliers have beaten all records, including Lindbergh's long distance flight over water. It is 5,538 miles of ocean from Oakland, California to Suva, Fiji Islands, via Hawaii.

The next hop, 1,700 miles, took the fliers to Brisbane, Australia, on the way to Sydney. The world is really flying.

The 250 Fiji Islands, about eighty of them inhabited, belong to old grandmother Britannia. She rarely overlooks anything.

When young people that now read this column get their around-the-world flying machines they may find chances to grow up with the country on some of those uninhabited, unexplored Fiji Islands.

Crops in the corn belt have taken an upward turn. The Arkansas River Valley reports, "Wheat will make thirty-five bushels to the acre."

All that is cheerful for the Republican candidate.

George Bernard Shaw, becoming less important and less accurate after seventy, declares that accumulated money is the root of all evil.

Without accumulated money Niagara Falls wouldn't be harnessed, the Panama Canal, which helps Britain as much as it does us, wouldn't be dug; automobile production wouldn't be on a quantity basis and this country would have, perhaps, 240,000 expensive automobiles, instead of 24,000,000 inexpensive automobiles.

Great accumulations of capital, like great accumulations of water going down hill, represent power. Eliminate accumulated capital, and you would eliminate possibilities of higher civilization.

If the people haven't brains enough to watch and control accumulated capital they wouldn't have enough to control small capital.

President Coolidge will have a hard time saying "I Do Not Choose to Run" to the Wisconsin mosquito hordes!

The big onion area of Northern Indiana held a special gala Onion Day. Must have been promoted by handkerchief manufacturers!

County History of 50 Years Ago

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror June 6, 1878

Edward L. Durand has a half acre of rye near his slaughter house in Mount Holly, the stalks of which measure over eight feet in height.

The Spiritualists who have been living near Blue Anchor, Camden county, the past eleven years, have disbanded and are selling out. Their affairs were conducted on the co-operative plan. It was a failure.

The Pennsylvania railroad has reduced the fare between Mount Holly and Trenton from 68 to 62 cents.

Collins' Strawberries

Isaac Collins, of Moorestown, has a right to be proud of his strawberries. His "Monarchs" are of wonderful size, running over one and a quarter inches in diameter. The price is 12½ cents per quart.

Rev. G. K. Morris was the orator at Memorial Day exercises held in the court house, following a parade that visited the cemeteries. Hon. John C. Ten Eyck presided at the meeting and vocal selection were rendered by a choir composed of Mrs. John H. Dobbins, Miss Eva Wells, John H. Dobson, John M. Huff, Richard P. Holeman and Joseph C. Cowgill.

The enterprising shoe manufacturers in Lumberton—Shinn, Read & Co., Joseph Worth & Co., and Morton Elder & Co.—have shut down after doing an extensive business the past nine months. They expect to resume operations in a few weeks.

June 13, 1878

There is a woman in Mount Holly who has not spoken to her husband in ten years. It's said to be a peaceful household.

About 170 hands are now employed at the Smithville works, with fair promise of increased business.

A rooster belonging to William Garon, on Water street, Mount Holly, has taken charge of a brood of chicks that was deserted by the mother. He finds food for them during the day and shelters them under his wings at night.

The machinery of the broom factory of Obadiah Engle, deceased, late of Mount Holly, was sold at public sale on Saturday. John W. Hodine and William R. Ewan are the purchasers. They intend to continue the business.

Performance typical of the Century's motoring progress

STYLE · POWER · SPEED · STRENGTH

ANY Hupmobile owner will tell you that sparkling performance comes foremost in the list of his car's fine qualities. Power, rated not in spasmodic bursts of speed, but in the manner in which these superlative high-compression engines settle down to their tasks; sweetly and smoothly without visible effort or strain. Mechanically, the new Century Hupmobiles are as far in the van of Twentieth Century motoring progress, as the modish body styles and luxury with which they are surrounded. Prove this statement to your own satisfaction by an hour or a day's test in a Century Six or Eight.

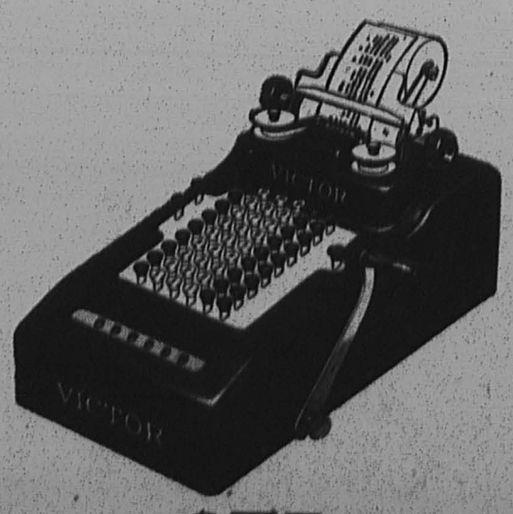

24 body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century, $1345 to $1625. Century Eight, $1825 to $2105. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

Get This Straight —Men

A LOT of dealers who sell cheap tires can give you a great selling. But remember—it isn't much of a jump from cheap to "gyp." So be hard-boiled. If we were buying tires instead of selling them—we should be willing to put our money on the kind of tires we know Millers to be. And we can prove every last statement we make when we sell you one—or a set.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

THE MAN WHO KEEPS HIS WORD

It is like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land to run across as we do occasionally, a man who keeps his word.

You may be able to sue on written promises and contracts put in writing, which are usually binding, but somehow the man who does not keep his word strictly is a slippery customer and it is hard to get hold of him, even with a piece of writing.

If a man has character and is upright you are safer in lending him money than if he gives you a mortgage on his farm. Doing business with a liar is never satisfactory. Somehow he will attempt to wriggle out of his promises.

It is easy to detect the strictly honest person. When he owes you money he does not avoid you, but openly and frankly pays you something on account right along, if he cannot pay the whole amount.

The test of the fundamentally honest man is his punctuality in meeting his engagements or in frankly explaining to you why those engagements cannot be met.

A man who is in debt sincerely tries to meet that debt whether it hurts him or not. It is very trying and very disturbing to our faith in human nature to find a person who is always looking for alibis, always seeking explanations for not doing as he said he would do.

The good loser, the man who loses and yet is cheerful is the man who is after all one of the chief pillars of the social fabric.

Miss Olwell reports that the clinic will be held at the High School Wednesday mornings during the summer from ten until twelve o'clock.

L. G. Rogers, Watson Hampton and Elmer Vaughn voyaged to Lead Point on Oyster Creek last Friday and returned home with a catch of 40 fish. They are one of the first fishing groups to visit the shore resorts from this community.

Christian K. Schwars, of Parry avenue, a senior in the engineering department of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, was signally honored at the Institute Day Exercises held by the Philadelphia college when he received his "D" certificate for work in athletics and was commissioned a 1st Lieutenant in the Drexel Reserve Officers' Training Corps, one of the largest units in the East.

PALMYRA AMBULANCE

The last meeting of the Association until September will be held Friday evening, June 22, in the Independence Firehouse at 8 p. m. No meetings will be held during July and August.

The following contributions are acknowledged: Mrs. Satterthwaite, $5.00; Hilton Smith, $5.00; Harry Johnson, $5.00, and Walter Bowen, $5.00.

Ambulance calls are almost a daily occurrence. What would we do without it? What would we do without those volunteer nurses who are on instant call day and night? What would we do without those drivers who leave their business at a moment's notice when called to service? Think it over. What are you doing to help humanity?

The County Council of Business Girls are sponsoring a Silver Bay meeting which will be held in Mount Holly on Monday, June 25. All women and girls who have attended a Silver Bay conference are invited to meet at the Club House in Mount Holly at six o'clock. From the Club House the party will go to the cottage of Miss Madge Huff on the Rancocas creek where they will enjoy an out-door supper. An interesting Silver Bay program is being planned for the evening's entertainment.

The camp committee representing Monmouth, Camden, Gloucester, and Burlington counties, will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Harmer in Moorestown on Friday, June 22, at 3 p. m. Miss Henrietta Roolofs and Miss Elizabeth Blick, of the national staff, will be present at this meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the county Y. W. C. A. was held at the county office on Tuesday, June 19. Miss Frances Crittenden, National secretary, of New York, was present and explain the Y. W. C. A. Retirement Fund to the Board.

Many Y. W. C. A. clubs have decided to continue their program through the summer months. The Girl Reserve program offers varied and interesting opportunities to girls who have much leisure during vacation time. Groups are planning to study flowers, ferns, birds; to do handicraft; to swim, and to hike, and other activities.

The following clubs have planned summer programs: Bridgeboro, Mrs. Caldwell, leader; Lenola grade, Miss Mary Haines, leader; Lenola High School, Mrs. Caroline Wurst, leader; Riverside grade, Miss Dorothy Prau, leader; Riverside colored, Miss M. E. Hines, leader; Masonville, Miss Rebecca Jones, leader; Marlton, Miss Edith Tomlinson, leader; Columbus grade school, Miss Rebecca Poinsett, leader; Columbus, Mrs. Edith Walwyn; Jobstown, Miss Mabel Letts; Mount Holly grade, Miss Eleanor Fillius; Moorestown colored, Mrs. Margaret Baylor; Maple Shade, Mrs. George Hardy; Medford, Mrs. Louis Rauser; Willingboro, Mrs. Lena Sever; Willingboro senior, Miss Doneida Bertrand; Rancocas senior, Mrs. Florence Irwin.

The Lenola grade school Girl Reserves enjoyed a picnic at Camp Ockanickon, Friday, June 15. There was time for swimming, rowing, a long hike over the camp, and games. After eating a delicious lunch a business session of the club was held and some new songs were learned.

LIBERTY'S EMBLEM

There's a beautiful emblem,
Our Nations true pride,
For which men have fought bravely—
Some suffered and died.

It has floated so proudly
To the breeze of Our Land
And been cheered—Oh, so loudly—
From mountain to strand.

On the sea it has carried
To the Nations beyond,
Great tidings of freedom,
Nobly fought for and won.

Enemies would tear it
From our home, school and shop,
But the boys of America say,
"Who comes there? Stop!"

That flag ne'er defeated
On land or on sea,
Ever fighting for liberty,
Defended shall be.

And saved from all enemies
Of Our Country we love,
Depending for guidance
And help from above.

That star-spangled banner,
Forever let it wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave

—W. JOHN BARKEL.

WOODLAND MUSIC

Gaily swelling through the forest,
Hear the songs of joyous birds,
With their music oft more thrilling
Than our songs with human words,
Joy and happiness abundant,
Ripple through their mellow lays;
While the heart, entranced, delighted,
Near their music, gladly stays.[ed,
Nature seems to be most charming
Where the little birds will sing;
There she spreads her leafy tree-tops
And, her sweetest flowers, will bring
Till we almost will be dreaming
That a bit of paradise,
From the realms above, was taken
To be spread before our eyes.

Palmyra Netmen Lose to Woodbury

Only Hobbs and Hardy Victors in Contest With South Jerseymen

The Palmyra Tennis Association met with defeat for the first time this year when it lost to the strong Woodbury team on the local courts last Saturday afternoon.

The results, which were considered an unusual upset by the dopesters, were seven matches to two in favor of the visitors. The two ranking players of the Palmyra club, Hardy and Hobbs, won their singles matches without great difficulty but all others were lost.

The local club was weakened by the absence of two of the ranking players but they will be on hand for the next matches and will strengthen the team considerably.

The tennis courts continue to witness scenes of much activity but there is plenty of room for new members. Stop down at the courts any evening and ask about membership. The cost is very moderate.

The summaries:

Roy Hardy, Palmyra, defeated J. H. Avis, Woodbury, 8-6, 6-4.

J. C. Maier, Woodbury, defeated William Burgess, Palmyra, 6-0, 5-7, 7-5.

J. W. Shiffer, Woodbury, defeated A. Wright, Palmyra, 6-0, 6-4.

R. S. Claypole, Woodbury, defeated William Erhard, Palmyra, 8-6, 6-3.

F. Allen, Woodbury, defeated H. Strang, Palmyra, 6-4, 8-6.

Doubles

Holmes and Avis, Woodbury, defeated Burgess and Hardy, Palmyra, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Claypole and Derby, Woodbury, defeated Wright and Hobbs, Palmyra, 6-0, 5-7, 7-5.

BURLINGTON COUNTY EXTENSION SERVICE

Charles A. Thompson, County Agricultural Agent; Leonard R. Smith, Associate County Agricultural Agent. Office, Corner Main and Union Streets, Mount Holly. Phone 259

More than 20 leading pea growers of Burlington county attended the meeting held at the farm of William H. Hookstra, Beverly, last Friday evening to note in influence of various fertilizer treatments, and methods of application on the control of pea rot.

The only control measures which we have been able to suggest for pea ropt rot are early planting, use of disease tolerant varieties and liberal use of fertilizers. Since the general practice in New Jersey is to plant as early as possible, little improvement can be expected along this line. Further results may come, however, from the use of suitable varieties. The introduction of the World's record as a result of variety trials conducted in 1922, is a good example of what may be expected from variety tests.

The great popularity of the World's Record is evident from the fact that in Burlington and part of Camden county approximately ¾ of the pea acreage this year is planted with this variety, as compared with only trial acreage in 1923. Although the World's Record has greatly improved the pea industry in the root rot areas, this variety is by no means all that can be expected from the root rot and certain other standpoints.

Although the reduction in yield, as the result of root rot infection seems to be less on the World's Record than on any of our other popular varieties, it is, nevertheless, very susceptible to root rot infection, and may, under certain soil conditions, especially lack of fertilizer, suffer seriously. We can still hope for, and should continue to search for, suitable varieties which are more resistant than World's Record.

For a number of years our observations and experiments have been pointing to the fact that root rot is greatly reduced, if not prevented, by large applications of commercial fertilizers. In order to test this out more thoroughly, and to gain further information on the effects of the various fertilizer ingredients and methods of application a field test is being conducted this year at William Hookstra's.

Twelve treatments are being tried as follows:

1. No fertilizer.
2. Acid Phospate only (amount in 1000 lbs. of 5-10-5) in row.
3. Muriate of potash only (amount in 1000 lbs. of 5110-5) in row.
4. Muriate of potash only (amount in 1000 lbs. of 5-10-5) in row. Muriate of potash only (amount in 1000 lbs. of 5-10-5) side dress.
5. Nitrogen mixture. (Amount in 1000 lbs. of 5-10-5) in row.
6. 5-10-5. 1000 lbs. per A. in row.
7. 5-10-5. 500 lbs. per A side dress at first blossom.
8. 5-10-5. 1000 lbs. per A. on top immediately after planting.
9. 5-10-5. 500 lbs. in row, 500 lbs. side dress.
10. 5-10-5. 1000 lbs. in row, 1000 lbs. side dress.
11. 0-10-5. 1000 lbs. per A. in row x N mixture side dress.
12. 5-10-5. 1000 lbs. per A. in row x 50 lbs Semesan.

Now the plots which received no fertilizer, root rot is extremely severe (100 percent) and growth is very poor. Acid phospate, potash, or nitrogen used alone reduces rot very slightly and increased growth slightly but showed no remarkable improvement.

The No. 7 treatment also failed to show any great improvement, although the fertilizer in this case was applied after infection occurred.

The No. 9 treatment with only 500 lbs. in the row and an additional 500 lbs. side dress (after very noticeable improvement over infection had occurred) showed about 50 percent root decay, a the unfertilized plots.

In all plots where the complete fertilizer was used at the rate of 1000 lbs. per acre or more before infection occurred, the roots showed a great reduction in amount of rot, a remarkable increase in abundance of roots and noticeable improvement in nodulation.

A large portion of the plants in these treatments showed a perfect root system with no visible evidence of root rot infection. Growth was also excellent on the highly fertilized plots in spite or the fact that the plot was on which the test is located is not heavily infected with the root rot fungus. In 1927, peas on this field had 100 percent root rot and were very poor.

From these results, it may be definitely concluded that pea root rot may be practically controlled by liberal applications of commercial fertilizer.

Although the exact amount required and the best method of application has not yet been fully worked out, it seems that 1000 lbs. per acre applied in or on top of the row may be expected to give good control. However, with 1000 lbs. per application, either in or on the rot, there is danger of more or less injury to germination. Our experimental results show conclusively that the nitrogen in the fertilizer mixture is the principle cause of seed and seedling injury, although the potash portion may also give some trouble. This danger to germination may be practically eliminated, however, by placing an N-free mixture in the row and side dressing with the proper amount of nitrogen. Another alternative would be to apply 500 to 700 in the row in a wide band and side dress with an additional 300 to 500 lbs. before infection takes place. If the side dress is delayed until after infection has taken place, much of the beneficial effects will be lost.

With the experimental results which we have on hand, we feel safe in stating that good crops of peas may be grown on soils most heavily infested with the root rot fungus, if commercial fertilizers are used in sufficient quantity.

The best time to side dress is when the plants are 3 to 5 inches high and just before cultivation. With early plantings, this will surely be before infection.

Condition of the Fruit Crop

The New Jersey apple crop this year is forecast at 75 percent of a normal, as compared with 60 percent of a normal in 1927 and 73 percent of a normal for the past ten years.

The Delaware apple crop this year is forecast at 87 percent of a normal, as compared with 55 percent of a normal in 1927 and 83 percent of a normal for the past ten years.

The Maryland apple crop this year is forecast at 83 percent of a normal, as compared with 54 percent of a normal in 1927 and 80 percent of a normal for the past ten years.

The Virginia apple crop this year is forecast at 81 percent of normal, as compared with 30 percent of a normal in 1927 and 50 percent of a normal for the past ten years.

The New Jersey peach crop this year is forecast at 1,800,000 bushels, as compared with 2,304,000 bushels last year's estimate, and 2,43,000 bushels, the average production for the past five years.

The Delaware peach crop is forecast at 148,000 bushels this year, as compared with 287,000 bushels last year, and 279,000 bushels, five-year average.

The Maryland peach crop is forecast at 439,000 bushels this year, as compared with 352,000 bushels last year, and 505,000, the five-year average.

The Virginia peach crop is forecast at 750,000 bushels this year, as compared with 150,000 bushels last year, and 788,000, bushels, the five-year average.

The New Jersey pear crop this year is forecast at 474,000 bushels, as compared with 420,000 bushels last year, and 573,000 bushels, the five-year average.

The Delaware pear crop is forecast at 130,000 bushels this year, as compared with 128,000 bushels last year, and $279,000 bushels, the five-year average.

The Maryland pear crop is forecast at 258,000 bushels this year, as compared with 193,000 bushels last year, and 315,000 bushels, the five-year average.

The Virginia pear crop is forecast at 210,000 bushels this year, as compared with 130,000 bushels last year and 261,000 bushels, the five-year average.

The total peach crop for the United States this year is forecast at 64,186,000 bushels, as compared with 45,468 bushels last year and 62,224,000, the average production for the past five years.

The total peach crop for the United States this year is forecast at 28,180,000 bushels, as compared with 18,072,000 bushels last year, and 20,150,000 bushels the five-year average.

Newest Forest Methods

Five state forests, where the most modern forestry practices are being carried on by the foresters in charge, have been thrown open in South Jersey for public inspection and recreation. To these areas, farm woodland owners wanting information on how to make their wood lots pay, are being taken by E. L. Scovell, extension specialist in farm forestry at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

On the state forests an improved type of fire break is now used, and large areas of native pines and oak are being developed. A novel feature is the large variety of pines from distant regions. Many of these pines promise surprisingly large and valuable yields on even the poorest soils, it is said.

The resident foresters or their men are always glad to show visitors through the state forests, and give full information about each operation. Every possible effort is made to make these forests comfortable and attractive as recreational grounds, so that entire families may enjoy a trip to them.

The five state forests in South Jersey are: the Jackson State Forest, located on the road from Lakewood to New Egypt, about one mile east of Cassville; the Lebanon State Forest, just east of New Lisbon; the Mt. Laurel State Forest, near Moorestown; the Penn State Forest, near Penn Place, and the Bass River State Forest near New Gretna, just west of Tuckerton, New Jersey.

Fighting Flies

While experience has shown that it is not practicable to screen the cow stable, this cannot be used as an excuse for not screening the milk house.

The best type of screen for the milk house windows is that which swings out, for, says the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick, this readily enables one to clear the room of flies during the day. The door should be double-screened if possible. Farmers who have electricity available claim that a fan blowing directly on the strainer and cooler is a most effective way of keeping flies away.

The treatment of manure heaps with commercial disinfectants will rid the barn and milk house environs of fly breeding places. The common practice in keeping flies off the cows at milking time is to spray them with the common commercial fly preparations as soon as the cows are brought into the stables.

BLUEFISH REPORTED TO BE PLENTIFUL

Have Made Their Appearance in New Inland Channel Between Barnegat and Beach Haven

Several large catches of bluefish in the new Inland Deeper Waterway channel, ten miles from either Barnegat or Beach Haven inlets, have brought a rush of anglers to the bay waters at Beach Haven and have started much speculation as to the effect the waterway will have in future bay fishing.

The new extension of the State channel from Brant Beach to the Manahawkin bridge was completed last summer and native fishermen predicted at the time that it would not only benefit power boat owners but that it would improve fishing.

The appearance of the big, fighting "blues" in that part of the bay, whereas heretofore they have remained near the inlets, would indicate that the fish are following the new channel from inlet to inlet. Some of best catches have been made this week at the drawbridge.

Surf fishermen have deserted the ocean beaches and are trying their luck in the new bay channel. Not fishermen also are making valuable catches of bluefish in the bay.

BACKLEBARNEY POPULAR

Hacklebarney State Park, located on Black river, two miles south of Chester in southern Morris County, has attracted nearly 2,000 picnickers and trout fishermen from various portions of the State since the opening of the trout season, according to information received today from the Division of Forests and Parks, of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Development.

RIPE TOBACCO LONG-FILLER CIGAR

For a Nickel! . . . Imagine!

Never since "nickel" first meant five cents has it meant mild, sweet tobacco fragrance such as it brings to you in Havana Ribbon cigars. No kidding. No loose talk. Because there isn't another nickel cigar in the world that's produced in large volume of such tobacco. No bitter-tasting under-ripe leaves; no insipid over-ripe leaves. Only fully-ripe middle leaves from choice tobacco plants, aged and cured to a mellow-mildness not excelled in any cigar for the price!

If you think this a pipe-dream, prod yourself. Dig up a nickel. Light up a Havana Ribbon and you'll realize that there sure has been some progress in cigar-making and cigar values.

Don't confuse Havana Ribbon with five-centers made from "clippings" or short ends of tobacco leaves that crumble and come out in your mouth. Havana Ribbon is a long-filler cigar. For five cents!

Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

Summertime Becomes Playtime When Electricity and Gas Work for You

Oven Heat Regulator A Help to Every Cook

The oven heat regulator gas range is so simple to use that inexperienced cooks can rely upon it with perfect confidence. If the correct ingredients have been mixed properly, the regulator set at the right temperature and the food left in the oven the proper time, there will be no baking or cooking failures.

Ranges bought of Public Service are connected to the gas outlet in the kitchen without charge. All gas ranges may be purchased on the easy payment plan.

$5 down, twelve to eighteen months to pay balance.

Use Electricity for Washing and Ironing

The New Thor washer, Agitator type, is small enough to keep in a small apartment, yet compact enough to take care of a large washing. It is a quick worker, does the washing with speed and thoroughness and without injury to the finest materials.

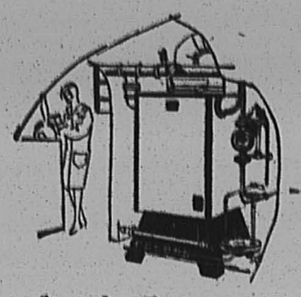

The Thor Agitator costs only $105 cash. On terms $110—$5 down and eighteen months to pay the balance.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Riverton Council

the Palmyra police were on the job all the time. Mr. Williams said he was present when Brown made his confession, and that he did not hear him make this statement. If, continued Mr. William, Brown had been seen in Riverton he would just as certainly have been arrested. The Riverton police force is just as much on the job as anybody, declared the director.

Mr. Bartley wanted to know if all the streets in the borough were patrolled every night, and was assured by Mr. Williams that every street was covered, not once, but three or four times.

Director Asks Cooperation

Mr. Williams further said that several robberies had been committed recently that were not reported to the department. He asked for this co-operation on the part of the citizens. He said that the department was doing all it could to protect the town. Several night members of the State Police had been working with the local officers.

Mr. Williams said that on the night Brown was captured Officers Wallace and Rodgers, of the Palmyra force, had been in Riverton assisting Officer Miller and himself in a search for four strangers who had been acting suspiciously. Wallace left the group to run down to Palmyra and see if any calls had come in at police headquarters, and was going down West Broad street when he sighted Brown and arrested him after a hand-to-hand struggle in which the officer was shot in both legs with his own gun. After Wallace was wounded he succeeded in shooting Brown in the leg and ankle.

The Peddler Nuisance

Mr. Williams reported that the advent of warm weather had brought out the usual swarm of peddlers selling everything under the sun, from kitchen utensils to books and magazines. Some of these venders collect money in advance, and that is the last ever seen of them or the articles they are supposed to sell. He urged that a suitable ordinance be passed by council under which such people could be compelled to register with the police department and take out a license.

It was pointed out to Mr. Williams by the clerk that two such ordinances had been passed many years ago and recently repealed. However, Mr. Williams thought that under recent State legislation Riverton could now pass an ordinance along these lines that would be workable, and the matter was referred to the ordinance committee with instructions to investigate and report.

Sidewalk Conditions

Mr. Williams reported that grass was overgrowing the sidewalks in many places and in some instances hiding the fire hydrants. Mr. Lynch replied that this matter had already been reported to the supervisor of streets, who had notified the property owners to correct this condition. A letter had been received by Mr. Lynch from the railroad company stating that the grass on its property would be attended to in a few days.

The attention of council was called to several sidewalks about town that were in dangerous condition. They were referred to the supervisor of streets.

Power Mower Suggested

Reporting for the borough property committee, Mr. Williams said Memorial Park was in pretty good condition, but there was more grass cutting to be done as soon as the mower could be secured to do it. He explained that the power mower owned by the Riverton Country Club was rented at $3.00 an hour and that it took over five hours to do the work. This mower was not always available when needed, he said, and expressed the thought that the borough should buy one of its own.

Mr. Williams further reported that the use of the park had been granted to the Wharton School of Finance on June 8, and to the dental graduates of the U. of P. on the 13th.

Letter From R. A. A.

The Mayor and Council,
Borough of Riverton,
Riverton, N. J.

Dear Sirs:

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Riverton Athletic Association, I was directed to communicate to your body the suggestion that you consider the possibility of permitting the Association to supervise the allocating of dates for the various athletic activities that may take place on Memorial Park grounds.

This, of course, would be carried out in conjunction with the Borough Property Committee and our thought would be only to avoid conflict in dates.

If this is entirely proper and meets your approval, we would ask your formal confirmation of same.

Respectfully,
Riverton Athletic Association.
Herbert Evans, Secretary.

Request Not Granted

In speaking on the communication Mr. Williams said that the Riverton Athletic Association was undoubtedly doing a lot for the promotion of sports in the town, and should receive every credit and encouragement, but that in his opinion the borough council should, through proper committees, retain control of who should use the park, and when.

Councilman Hubbs said that the Association now had the use of the park one night a week and Saturday afternoons, and seemed to think that was enough. He said that the team put on the diamond by the Association was made up entirely of out-of-town players, and what the people wanted was a home team. Mr. Lynch corrected Mr. Hubbs by saying there was already one Riverton boy playing on the team, and that a second team was coming along which would soon provide first team material.

The clerk was instructed to write to the Association stating that there was already a motion on the books placing the allocation of dates in the hands of the property committee, but that it was the desire of the mayor and council to co-operate with the Association in every way possible.

Fireworks on Barge

Councilman Hubbs, chairman of the Fourth of July Committee, reported that Palmyra had finally decided not to go in with Riverton in the fireworks display in the evening, and that he had made arrangements for a barge, 30x60 feet, to be anchored off the foot of Lippincott avenue, from which the fireworks will be discharged. This barge is to be furnished without charge by the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company, which will tow it into position and take it away.

Councilman Lynch reported a conference with the Pennsylvania Railroad officials concerning several matters discussed at the last meeting. He said that the company had promised to put down a good crossing at Main street, and to improve the crossing at Thomas avenue. Moving the freight station, cutting away part of the passenger platform, moving the passenger station to a point central for Riverton and Palmyra were also discussed. The company had suggested that the borough put in writing just what it would like to have so that the matter could be considered officially. Councilman Randall, who served on the committee with Mr. Lynch, and who was presented at the conference, said he believed considerable had been accomplished, and that some of the needed improvements would be forthcoming in the very near future.

Municipal Building

Councilman Williams again brought up the matter of a municipal building, which he has laid before council several times within the last few years. He said that while Riverton had once been a leader among all the towns in the vicinity, it was falling behind in some respects, and that its facilities for handling its municipal, police court and fire housing was one of them. There was, he said, no suitable jail, police court or place to keep public records where they would be accessible at all times. He suggested that if council could get together with the fire company a plan could be worked out whereby all these things could be had with very little if any additional expense to the borough.

At this juncture, Councilman Hubbs presented plans for a municipal building to be constructed of brick, old English style of architecture, which would provide a suitable home for the fire company and meet the needs of the borough at the same time.

Fire Company Proposition

George D. Steedle, speaking for the fire company, said that the need for such a building had been recognized for a long time, and had often been discussed. He had been given to understand, however, that the borough was not in a position to finance such a project. After mature consideration the fire company had decided that it could handle the proposition with the proper co-operation from council. He suggested that a conference be arranged between the fire and water committee of council and a committee from the fire company to go over the details of the plan.

Councilman Randall, chairman of the fire and water committee, complimented the fire company on the initiative it had shown in preparing plans and submitting a proposition to council, and said he would confer with the fire company further. He thought, however, that it would first be desirable to decided whether the fire company should put up the building, or council should do it.

Meeting of Mayors

Mayor Rogers reported that he had attended a meeting of the mayors of South Jersey to consider the improvement of transportation facilities. At this meeting a permanent committee had been appointed to consider the various phases of this large and important subject, and that Riverton will be called upon to pay its share of the expenses of this committee, which will not be very large. He said that Mayor Wimer, of Palmyra, had suggested that the efforts of the committee should be directed to the improvement of railroad service, which has been severely curtailed owing to the inroads of the buses. The mayor pointed out that it was possible that as the roads become more congested with motor travel, the buses will become inadequate, and the traveling public will return to transportation by rail.

The building inspector submitted his monthly report showing permits issued for $3,600 worth of building operations, and fees of $20.

NOTED ENGINEERS BUYERS OF AUBURNS

Delivery of an Auburn Straight-eight 115 Speedster to Ray Keech, holder of the world's speed record of 207.55 miles an hour, adds another famous name to the long list of automobile engineers who own and drive Auburn cars.

Keech, who smashed Malcolm Campbell's record of 206.95 miles an hour, at Daytona Beech recently, will use the Auburn as his pleasure car. Campbell also recently purchased an Auburn 115 Speedster.

In commenting on his purchase of an Auburn, Keech said:

"I wanted a car that had speed—but most of all I wanted one with—stamina. Ease of driving and performance of the Auburn, its record for standing up, appealed to me."

Among other famous racing engineers, who own and drive Auburn cars are: Harry Miller, Fred Dusenberg, Dave Evans, Leon Duray, Cliff Woodbury, Babe Stapp, Pete Kries, "Doc" Shattuck, Earl Devore, Jimmie Lee, Cliff Bergere and Fred Come.

Miller and Fred Dusenberg, are recognized as the two greatest racing car engineers the industry has ever produced. Miller cars took first and second place in the last Indianapolis race, and Dusenberg's products are consistent winners.

Duray recently set a new world's record at Detroit for a circular track.

P. S. HELPS EMPLOYES

As a feature of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, President Thomas N. McCarter, announces that as the result of action by the Board of Directors, employes of the corporation and its subsidiary companies, are given an opportunity to double the amount of life insurance carried under the Group Insurance plan at a substantial reduction in rate of premium. The popularity of the insurance plan with the employes of Public Service is indicated by the fact that on December 31, 1927, the lives of 12,669 employes were insured for $16,226,000, an increase during the year of 1298 employes and $1,517,000 insurance. Undoubtedly all employes will welcome the opportunity now presented to double the amount of their insurance, at an extremely low rate of premium.

Enthusiasm is the watchword to the Temple of Success.

KATZENBACH GETS CHURCH POSITION

Has Been Appointed Chancellor Of Episcopal Diocese Of New Jersey

Attorney General Edward L. Katzenbach has been appointed chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of New Jersey, to succeed the late Bayard Stockton, of Princeton.

He was appointed last week by the Rt. Rev. Paul Matthews, bishop of the diocese, with the concurrence of the standing committee, at a meeting of that body in the diocesan house, Hamilton avenue, Trenton. Mr. Katzenbach is a vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church, that city. By reason of this appointment, he becomes an ex-officio member of the Cathedral Foundation.

MOUNT HOLLY TO JAIL TAX EVADERS

Many Residents Fail to Come Across; Large Sum Remains Uncollected

Delinquent taxpayers of Mount Holly are threatened with jail sentences if they do not pay up.

The Northampton township committee has notified Tax Collector Albert C. Worrell that officials will stand behind him and he was instructed to proceed under the law to collect all back taxes, both real and personal, no matter how small the amount.

Worrell says there are a number of residents who pay no attention to the payment of personal or poll tax, and they can be incarcerated until such time as the taxes with interest and costs are paid in full. It will be this policy that will be followed in Mount Holly in the future. After all have been given a liberal time to make payment, tax warrants will be issued and turned over the constables who will arrest the delinquents.

PREJUDICE

Prejudice is a terrible thing to overcome: it thrives on the meats of yesterday; wherever is hovers, like carion crow, there is rottenness; easy to create; it is the most difficult thing in the world to destroy; it seems to rejoice and feed on what first nurtured it and gave it life; it stultifies progress; it is the betrayer of decent impulses, and makes an outcast of justice. Whenever the thought of prejudice will be nauseating to us as a foul disease, then suggestibility will be turned to advantage.

SOME FACTS ABOUT HORSE RACING

How The Steeplechase and Derby Got Their Names

The end of May is marked in England by the famous horse-racing event known as the Derby, named after the twelfth Earl of Derby who instituted the race in 1780. Horse racing, though a year-round sport, is perhaps most in mind right at this time because of the Derby, and also because of the Grand National Steeplechase, recently run, in which an American horse, Billy Barton, finished second to an Irish Horse, Tipperary Tim. The Grand National is the most famous Steeplechase of them all. The course is four and one-half miles long, with no less than thirty jumps in it.

The origin of the steeplechase is interesting. It was at first a cross-country race of hunters, and later, to enable spectators to watch the race, it became customary to run in along an artificial course with prepared obstacles. The steeplechase, according to Webster's New International Dictionary, is "supposedly so called from the goal being some conspicuous landmark, as a church steeple; hence a race over a prescribed course obstructed by such obstacles as one meets in riding across country, as hedges, walls, etc."

A curious horse-racing word in this connection is sweep-stakes which means simply a race in which the whole stake on an event, a given amount being put up by each contestant and sometimes additional prizes added by the promotor, is awarded according to an agreement either all to the winner or shares to several. Two words combined to form one in this way always makes picturesque, vivid names. Other examples are sky-scraper, thunderstruck, windshield, handbook, etc.

"Aren't you often ashamed, when at the end of a hard day's work, you look back and see how little you have accomplished?

Bandits Invaded Maple Shade Shop

Manager Thrown in Cellar; Gun Pressed Against Assistant's Back

Bandits, for the first time in seventeen years, invaded Maple Shade last week and, after hurling the manager of a chain grocery store down the cellar steps and threatening the life of his assistant with revolvers, rifled the cash register of $70.

The victims, Walter Newhall, 40 years old, of 1155 Beidmann avenue, Camden, manager, and Walter Webb, 16 years old, of Maple Shade, clerk, told the police two bandits entered the store at Ninth street and Fellowship avenue shortly after 4.30 p. m.

When Newhall turned his back to reach for the cigarettes the men drew guns and ordered him and Webb to hold their hands above their heads. One of the intruders grabbed Newhall by the arm and threw him down the cellar stairs and locked the door. The other kept a gun pressed against Webb's back and threatened to shoot if he made an outcry.

After taking the money from the register they ran from the store and jumped into an automobile bearing New York license tags and sped along Fellowship road in the direction of Berlin.

"AMERICANISM"

By ALICE BARTLEY

Every boy and girl should have some ambition; something which will make him gradually climb higher and higher, following the right standards. One of the most important of these is honor.

Honor is one of the most essential standards in life. No one can trust you if they are not sure that your honor is unstained. Without honor you will find it impossible to have leadership.

Leadership is a quality which everyone does not possess. If you set an example which you are proud for others to follow, you will find people following you. To be a good leader you must have courage.

One who is timid would be a very poor leader. To have courage, is a very good quality. To be afraid of the wrong and courageous toward the right is to be doing right. Working overtime needs courage and that usually leads to scholarship.

It is necessary to have a good standing in school. Anyone who does not know the important things taught in school, is of no worth to the outside world. Unless these things are learned you cannot serve.

Everyone should try to be of service to all. When you are ready to serve the world by working, you are finished with school, but even while in school you can serve through the Junior Red Cross and other large organizations. You can also serve by helping your fellow citizens.

If you have these qualities you are on the right path to success.

'MAKING GOOD NAME BETTER' IS SLOGAN

"Making a Good Name Better."

That's the prize winning slogan in Dodge Brothers $20,000 contest to find the best one describing the Victory Six car.

Of the 340,000 slogans sent in from every State in the union and many foreign countries, C. C. Michael of Colorado Springs, Colorado, submitted the winning one by unanimous decision of the judges. Michael has been awarded $1,000 first prize, and checks have been mailed to the entire list of 354 prize winners scattered over 44 States and Canada.

Contestants had to ride in the car before they could submit slogans and thousands of reactions to the Victory's performance made the task of selecting the best one difficult.

"The money will help me own my home much sooner than I expected to," said Michael. "A man with a wife and two children certainly can use this money to good advantage."

Michael is 26 years of age, and is employed as a distributor for a bakery company.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Sunday School at ten in the morning, with one of the most interesting review lessons in years. It covers the scope of Christ's public ministry.

At the hour of morning worship, 11.15, the pastor will deliver a sermon to the men at a special rally. The slogan "One hundred men present," has been adopted. Let every man check up the other male members of our Lutheran Church who may live on his street. If you go after the other fellow, and he comes after you, both will be there. Make it such a campaign. Ask him before he asks you. Special music will be furnished by our First Lutheran Choir, and the pastor has a message from his heart to bring on the theme: "Our Faces are Forward." What do you say, men?

We count the evening service a gala occasion. The service will be a program of praise to God and a message of divine truth to men through the medium of sacred music. Three special features will characterize the program: selections of special arrangements by First Lutheran Choir, Lee Mitton, leader; soprano solos by Miss Amy Mitton, and instrumental numbers by the Hilyard Instrumental Quartette.

Our own choir has been rendering most delightful and edifying sacred programs on the last Sunday evening of each month since last September, and the series of solos, quartette, choruses and other arrangements will merit the largest possible hearing.

Miss Amy Mitton has served the cause of our church most acceptbly in times past by her vocal music. As this will be the last opportunity to hear her for some time, it will behoove all to be present. As pastor and people, we express to this family the deepest heart-felt wish that they may soon return to our midst and also the most abundant thanks for the inestimable service in musical leadership rendered.

The Hilyard Instrumental Quartette will render a sacred program, using the saw, the harp, the flute, the violin, and the piano in their renditions. The mere mention of their coming will bring out all who have ever heard them before. We shall be prepared to extend the seating capacity, when we remember the enthusiasm with which these musicians were received last year in our church.

Luther League Banquet in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Collingswood, tonight (Thursday) at 7.30 p. m., and the district rally in our own church the following Thursday at 8 p. m.

First Lutheran Picnic will be held at Knight's Park, Collingswood, Saturday, June 30. All members of Sunday School and church, as well as friends of the church, are invited.

Long Letter to Mother Answered by Firemen!

New York.—Bridget Daily, 14, who came to this country a short time ago and obtained employment as a maid, wrote a long letter to her mother and then inquired how to mail it.

She was told to walk to the corner and place it in a mail box attached to a telephone pole. Instead of placing the letter in the mail box, she pulled a lever in another box and then stood to one side to wait for the postman.

Instead of a postman a half dozen pieces of fire apparatus drove noisily to the corner! As it was decided she had not rung the alarm with "malicious intent," Bridget was not arrested.

SHORE COMMUNITIES OPPOSED TO BAY FILL

People along the coast as well as those in several inland towns, especially Toms River, have been aroused over the attempt to make a fill-in in Barnegat Bay, which it is estimated would net its promoters upward of $300,000. The application for permission to fill in is made in name of George C. Zeller, of Bordentown, but it is said he has sold his property in Barnegat Bay, known as Pelican Island, to a syndicate, and that the name of Mr. Zeller is used because title had not passed to the syndicate. The names of the others interested are being kept in the background.

First Haircut At 21

Albia, Ia.—A youth here, aged 21, has just been to the barber for the first time. As a child he had beautiful hair and his brother so admired it that he promised the lad $1,000 if he let it remain uncut until he reached 21. The lad got the thousand.

Some men are born executives and some acquire the ability by experience, but the great majority never get over the idea that they must do all the work themselves.

Shade Tree Work About Finished

Commission Has Planted 135 New Trees and Removed Many Dead Ones

The work of the Shade Tree Commission in Riverton has, in the past three years, greatly improved the condition and appearances of the borough's trees.

During the past year about 135 trees have been replaced with new, young trees. Plans are being made to replace more of the old and diseased trees next year.

The Oriental Plane has been used in most of the replacements because it is a rapid-growing tree, very hardy, and long lived. This tree is attacked by very few insects, which makes it desirable for municipal plantilg. Japanese beetles do very little damage to the Oriental Plane.

To Use Sweet Gum

Replacements in the future will probably be made with sweet gum, trees. The sweet gum is a fine-looking, hardy tree and is not subject to any insects, so far as is known by the Davy Tree Surgeons, who suggested its use.

James S. Coale, chairman of the Shade Tree Commission, said several trees on the Howard street side of H. H. Seabrook's property, at Bank avenue and Howard street had been seriously injured by the curbing and sidewalk work which has recently been done there. The tap roots of some of these fine big trees have been injured by being cut away in order to maintain the grade established by the engineers.

Big Beech Damaged

One tree in particular, a big beech measuring two feet across, was very seriously damaged when an eight inch tap root was cut off to make room for the cement work. Mr. Coale said, "A tree has a hard enough time to eke out an existence because of the hard-surfaced roads and sidewalks which keep a large portion of moisture away from it, without shortening its life further by cutting off one of its life-giving roots."

The Chairman urges more co-operation between council, its engineers and the commission, and suggests that when a strip of walk or curbing is to be laid the highway committee look over the ground and see if any trees are in danger because of their being close to the line laid by the engineers.

Tree "Butchered"

Mr. Coale saw one of the borough's trees that had been "butchered" by a person inexperienced and uneducated in tree surgery. The one who authorized the "execution" of the tree had no right to do so, as all trees beyond the pavement and those within two feet inside of the walk belong to the borough and are not to be trimmed or cut without the consent of the Commission. "To authorize any one to work on the borough's trees without the Commission's permission is unlawful and the guilty party is liable to court procedure," said Mr. Coale.

The Japanese beetles have not done any serious injury to the shade trees so far. The beetle is being very carefully watched by the commission, and if it attacks the shade trees sufficiently to threaten any serious damage, immediate steps will be taken to protect the trees.

Leopard Moth a Foe

The greatest insect problem that faces the Commission is the Leopard Moth. This insect bores through to the inside of the tree and does considerable damage.

A program of fertilization will probably be put on next year. This will strengthen the trees to help them fight the borer. The only sure cure for this trouble is the finding of a natural enemy, which of course may take some time.

Mr. Coale said he felt satisfied with the shade Tree Commission's progress during the past three years and that furthermore improvements would be accomplished by the body if the Borough Council continues its very generous appropriations for the work.

THIEVES FRIGHTENED

Riverton Man Saves Tires by Calling Police

Monday night about eleven-thirty, Joseph Schuler heard queer noises in his backyard at Fifth and Cinnaminson streets, Riverton. Upon investigation Joe found two men were trying to steal the tires from his truck which was standing in the yard.

The Riverton police answered Joe's call for aid but a thorough search through the town failed to reveal the thieves.

INJURED IN FALL

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Devinney, of West Broad street, Palmyra, suffered fractures of both wrists when he fell from a cherry tree in the yard of James J. Flynn, on New Jersey avenue, last week.

The boy was taken to the West Jersey Hospital in the Palmyra Ambulance by driver "Sonny" Freeman where his wrists were x-rayed and set.

Mrs. Laura Blake, 59 years old, of East Riverton, died at the Burlington County Hospital last Thursday followmig an operation.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Snover Funeral Home with the Rev. Mr. Foster, of East Riverton, officiating. Interment was made in Monument Cemetery, Beverly.

The husband, George Blake, survives her.

Would Substitute Lights for Gates

P. R. R. Petitions Board of Freeholders to Permit Change

At the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company asked permission to substitute flashing lights at the railroad crossing in Smithville for the gates which were installed in 1917 at the time when there was heavy traffic over this road to Camp Dix. Accompanying the request was a record showing vehicular and foot traffic over this crossing during one week in January. Director Howard Russ pointed out that the traffic at this time of the year would be very much heavier than in January.

Freeholder Stout suggested that owing to the greatly decreased revenue of the railroad company it might be desirable to relieve it of operating expenses where it could be done without jeopardising the safety of the traveling public. The request was referred to the road department.

The Public Service Electric and Gas Company asked permission to erect 134 poles at the curb line between Bordentown and Chesterfield. A resolution of Freeholder Stout granting the desired permission was adopted.

Superintendent Cox of the County Hospital for the Insane reported favorably on the bid of the General Store at Roebling for kitchen equipment for the institution and the Board passed a resolution awarding the contract.

The annual report of the sinking fund commission, of Burlington county was submitted by Walter R. Darby, State Commissioner of Municipal Accounts.

The following department bills were ordered paid: Roads, $9414.49; Bridges, $4832.75; Finance, $466.11; Public Buildings, $12,994.05; Public Affairs, $938.52. Total $28,645.92.

Many Activities at Central Baptist

Pastor to Deliver Inspiring Sermons; Primary Department Busy

"The True Desire" will be the subject of the sermon by Rev. George Lockett at Communion services Sunday morning at 11.15 o'clock. Mr. Lockett's morning addresses have been attracting large congregations by virtue of the fact that they contain many helpful suggestions as to how to get most out of life, particularly in these days when, in the quest of happiness we fall prey to the lures of the world and find ourselves deserted by the wayside with discontent still lurking in our beings.

Such spiritual stimulation is needed, and it is by this method that we are enabled to run the course, overcome obstacles, and find the true source of happiness.

But how to be masters of ourselves and avoid these distastrous temptations will be told in the Rev. Lockett's sermon on Sunday evening, when, as an example he will cite "Paul's Mastery Over Self."

The public is cordially invited to attend these services in Central Baptist Church where they will find its home-like, and where a hearty welcome always awaits one.

It is quite evident that the Primary Department of the Sunday School intends to place in the new church the proposed "memorial window." They are, at the present time selling picture postal cards of the new church at a cost of 5c each. This not only helps the window fund but gives everyone an opportunity of securing a very attractive picture of the church, which they can send to their friends, to show them what kind of a church Palmyra will have when finished.

A "What Not," and the writer of this article, can only describe this in the terms of its title, will be held on the lawn at the corner of Broad and Maple avenue on July 14 by the Primary Department. From the past activities of this department, anyone attending will be assured of "what not" for their money. Let's encourage them by being there.

Bible School will convene at the regular hour, 10 a. m. Sunday and while the vacation periods are now being consumated, those who are still at home will find it an hour well spent by coming out.

CARD PARTY FOR AMBULANCE FUND

Riverton Porch Club Juniors Raise Over $60 At Card Party and Cake Sale

The junior members of the Riverton Porch Club gave a most successful card party, June 19, for the benefit of the Palmyra Ambulance Association. The main room of the Club House was filled to capacity. Cakes and candy solicited by the girls were sold, and in many cases were used for prizes at the different tables. The proceeds from the afternoon netted over $60.

Miss Eloise Boyer and Miss Elisabeth Shoemaker, President and Secretary, respectively, were in charge of the afternoon's party.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Palmyra Ambulance Fund through the medium of the Juniors of the Porch Club may do so by sending a check to Mrs. William M. Shoemaker, adviser to the Junior Club, 408 Lippincott avenue.

SPECIAL NOTICE

A meeting of the Citizens' Fourth of July Committee will be held in the Riverton Borough Council Chamber Monday evening, July 2. Every member is requested to be present, as this will be the last meeting before the big celebration.

FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL TO BE CONTINUED

Owing to Inclement Weather Last Week, Will Be Held June 29 and 30

Owing to the rainy weather that prevailed during the Firemen's Carnival, the committee has decided to hold it Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

The boys have planned a fine entertainment for the kiddies on the Fourth of July. They need money to put this over and ask you to give your help.

We also wish to thank the people who have already given support to this affair.

Don't forget, this week, Friday and Saturday. There will be music and a Charleston contest put on by Mitch Myers, the famous Charleston king of Palmyra.

Committee.

Pastor Tells of Rotary Convention

Delegates From Many Lands Join in Interesting Program

By Rev. George Lockett

It was my privilege to attend the 19th annual convention of Rotary International held at Minneapolis, June 18 to June 22. The city was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants; stores were decorated with flowers and the flags of many nations, hundreds of electric street lights were surrounded by flowers to which our attention was called by signs "The hanging garden of Minneapolis greets you."

The general assembly for all Rotary delegates to discuss proposed legislation was held preceding the opening of the convention on Monday afternoon in a great church seating 5000 people. The session was opened by prayer and the singing of America led by Homer Rodeheaver. It was a very stirring sight to see so many men from so many different nations and hear so many voices join in the Lord's Prayer. The convention held its first session on Monday night. The University of Minnesota band furnished the music and the Mayor of the city; the Governor of the State, delivered excellent addresses of welcome. President Arthur H. Sapp responded.

The Growth of Rotary

The meeting was closed with a scenic production depicting the growth of Rotary around the world. The pageant was entitled "The Blue Flower of Rotary." The scene was a beautiful garden; "The Garden of Life"; flowers were blooming, achievement, leadership, prosperity and culture were proud of her garden and invited humanity to admire it, but humanity sees an ugly spot, the weeds of selfishness. Genius tells man that her garden can never be beautiful until the weeds of selfishness are uprooted and in their place is planted the Blue Flower, the Flower of the Heart.

At last the weeds of selfishness are uprooted and the Blue Flower blooms in profusion, then the nations come and join in the joy of service.

The meetings were held in the new Municipal Auditorium with a seating capacity of 10,545. It cost $3,000,000 and is fully equipped with a stage, 50 dressing rooms adjacent, portable pipe organ console and a disappearing orchestra pit.

Forty-four Nations

On the platform were grouped 44 flags representing the nations which now have Rotary Clubs. The following list of speakers will give an idea of the spread of Rotary: Wilhelm Guna, Hamburg, Germany; Joaquin Anorga, Cuba; Eduardo Mooie, Chile; Stanley Foster, New Zealand; Edouard Willems, Belgium; R. G. McGhee, Australia; Nils Paimann, Norway; Julio Zetina, Mexico; Albert Hickling, England; Norman Sommervill, Canada; Kenneth Young, South Africa; Richard Momsen, Brasil, Joseph Schuiz, Czecho-Slovakia; also delegates from China and Japan who spoke in perfect English.

The sixth object of Rotary was the one most discussed. One Chinese delegate said "We can keep down war, even if we cannot abolish it." One speaker said that a letter had been sent to all the various nations asking them to state what they meant by service and all had answered in terms of their own religion.

The city of Minneapolis extended every possible courtesy, the program was international, foreign delegates were given the pre-eminence, friendships were renewed and formed. Men are going back to their clubs with a new vision, a better understanding of each other, with consideration for others, with a new determination to work out locally that which will spread to all the nations of the earth, good will, love brotherhood, justice, respect, until at last we shall hear again the words, pronounced on Bethlehem's Plains nearly 2000 year ago, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"

RUTH ANNA THOMAS

Mrs. Ruth Anna Thomas, died last Saturday at the home of her son, C. H. Thomas, 214 Morgan avenue, Collingswood.

Funeral services were held from the Snover Funeral Home, 313 East Broad street, Palmyra, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock with the Rev. J. William Lee officiating. Interment was made in the old Methodist Cemetery, Palmyra.

The deceased formerly lived on Thomas avenue, Riverton, and was well known in this vicinity. She was the sister of Louis F. Lowden, of Riverton.

Patriotic Order Elects Officers

Small Attendance for Election of Officers and State Camp Delegates

Monday evening of this week P. O. S. of A. Camp 23 held its semi-annual election of officers. A complete ticket had been nominated the previous week.

The offices were filled without opposition except in one instance, the master of forms. George F. Bailey and Walter J. Selbold were the contestants. Thirty-five ballots were cast, Bailey received 25 and Selbold 10.

Vice President, John A. Bauer.
Master of Forms George F. Bailey
Conductor, Walter M. Horner.
Inspector, Roy Whartaby.
Guard, Israel Groff.
Camp Trustee, 18 months
John Banff.
Building Trustees, 18 months
Walter D. Lamon
A. N. Stewart, Sr.
Walter M. Horner

After the election of officers came the election of delegates to attend the State Camp at Newark, August 21 and 22. The results as tabulated below are in the order of their majority. John White and Edson Carhart were tied for first place and on the toss White won the chairmanship of the delegates. 35 ballots cast.

Delegates

John White	34
Edson Carhart	34

The Camp nominated 26 for the delegates list but Albert Koppenhofer withdrew because he would be unable to attend the State Camp.

Richard Wilson Addresses Rotary

Community Movement Explained; Tells of Junior Council's Activities

Richard Wilson, who now heads Palmyra's Community Movement, in his usual concise and comprehensive manner, explained to the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club on Thursday evening last, the objects of, and the results thus far obtained through the Community Movement which is being received with great enthusiasm by the sporting and educational element in Palmyra.

It is not only necessary to have the genial neighborly spirit in a community, but in order that any community may be successful as a community, those residing in it should also show an interest in community affairs that tend to elevate and enlighten and which will promote clean sports which develop the physical strength of all the ages.

While the Community Movement is comparatively young, it has shown evidence of being heartily received in Palmyra. Baseball has been revived among the older sporting fanciers of this national game and the season of 1928 promises to be a most successful one. The old Field Club grounds have been secured for these sports and they are now open to the junior class, who have found it a haven where they can give their sporting accomplishments ample room for development.

From the observations made during the activities of the junior class it has been quite noticeable that home training is lacking. To this end a Junior Council has been appointed comprising some of the younger class which will lend their efforts to see that discipline and correct behavior is maintained at all times, thus adding a moral feature to that of sport.

The backers of the Palmyra Community Movement realize that at this time it would be futile, yet they are looking forward to and planning for a community centre for Palmyra where activities will be centralized and where all ages will find a recreation spot which will be opened to every sect or creed.

Mr. Wilson in concluding his most interesting remarks, asked for the co-operation of the Rotary Club to further this movement, stating that while this movement was started in Palmyra, the same conditions prevailed in any community and therefore the same principles may be applied. In fact, a Community House for Riverton and Palmyra would be along the lines of constructive progress.

ROSE-GRIFFENBERG

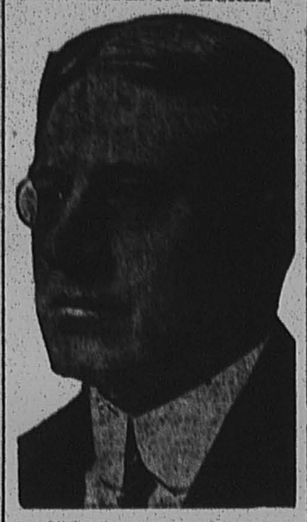

Miss Ethel Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. D. Griffenberg, 843 Highland avenue, Palmyra, was married to Mr. Frank G. Rose, of Philadelphia, last Wednesday, in that city.

The bride was attended by Miss Molly Rush, of Palmyra, and the best man was James Rose, Philadelphia.

After a wedding trip to Detroit, Buffalo, and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Rose will reside at 822 Morgan avenue, Palmyra.

GETS PENN DEGREE

ELDRIDGE R. JOHNSON

Prominent Moorestonian who was honored by the University of Pennsylvania last Wednesday at the commencement when the honorary degree of doctor of fine arts was conferred upon him.

Johnson Almost Misses Degree

Prominent Moorestonian Arrives Late at U. of P. Commencement

A brief flurry of excitement was caused at the University of Pennsylvania's 172d commencement last Wednesday when it was discovered that Eldridge Reeves Johnson, of Moorestown, one of the six men to be given honorary degrees at the exercises, had failed to arrive in time to participate in the academic procession.

As the University does not confer degrees "in absentia" it was feared Mr. Johnson would not receive his degree of Doctor of Fine Arts. Mr. Johnson is chairman of the board of managers of the University Museum, a trustee of the University and donor of the Eldridge R. Johnson Foundation for Research in Medical Physics.

While the procession was forming at 10 a. m. and marching into the Palestra, Mr. Johnson was detained unavoidably in his home here. It was 10.05 a. m. when he left his home to go by motor to the university.

Mr. Johnson arrived at the Palestra about 10.45 a. m as Frederic L. Ballard, the orator of the day, was delivering his address. He waited until the speaker had finished and then took his place on the platform.

After the doctorate had been conferred upon him Mr. Johnson commented upon the tardiness by saying, "It was just a little mistake and wasn't my fault.

STARTED TO WORK; LANDED IN ELKTON

Dan Cupid Leads Riverton Couple To Maryland's "Gretna Green"

A motor trip and a quiet wedding looked a lot more attractive to a young Riverton couple last Tuesday morning than going to their jobs at Dreer's Nurseries, and after Lester Felton and his sweetheart, Miss Eleanor Schnep, had started to work together, as was their custom, they decided to go to Elkton instead, and four hours later Felton wired home to his parents that Mr. and Mrs. Felton would take a short honeymoon trip before returning.

Miss Schnep met her husband-to-be at Dreer's, where they were both employed, several months ago. The friendship that immediately sprang up soon ripened into romance, and they became engaged. No date had been set for the wedding and their sudden decision to wed came as a surprise to their friends.

OFFICER RODGERS HURT IN FALL

Second Palmyra Policemen To Be Injured On Duty In Past Three Weeks

The Palmyra police force suffered another casualty when Officer Rodgers was injured in a fall from the police motorcycle las Sunday afternoon.

He received a call to go to Five Points and as he was turning the motorcycle around to go on the call a car backed up unexpectedly and forced the officer to turn into the curb. He was thrown from the machine and landed flat on his face, and spectators thought he had been seriously injured.

Fortunately however his injuries were not as serious as had been feared, but he is suffering from badly bruised ankles and is not able to walk around. He expects to be back on duty in two or three days.

Officer Wallace, who was injured in a battle with a thief about three weeks ago, is improving as rapidly as could be expected. He was carried down stairs Tuesday afternoon but is not allowed to walk as yet.

NEW FEATURES IN RIVERTON'S FOURTH OF JULY PROGRAM

WILL SHOW FIREWORKS FROM BARGE IN RIVER

Riverton has arranged a full-day program for the Fourth of July. One of the new features of the day will be a kiddie Karnival at Memorial Park from 1 until 3 in the afternoon, arranged and financed by the Riverton Fire Company. There will be gifts for the boys and girls, and refreshments for all.

The committee in charge of the carnival will be composed of John W. Carhart, Walter C. Wright, Edson Carhart, Charles R. Cole, Lawrence Joyce, Clarence Armstrong, G. Lloyd Major, Walter Armstrong, chairman.

The children's parade will march to the river, starting at 9.15. The address will be made by Edward H. Flagg, Jr., former mayor of Riverton. Music will be furnished throughout the day by Irons' Band, of Burlington.

In the evening the fireworks will be displayed from a large barge anchored off the foot of Lippincott avenue. The committee in charge of this part of the day's program has taken every precaution to have a good display.

To the prizes for the various features of the children's parade has been added one for harmonica players, who will doubtless add considerably to the divelliness of the occasion.

Program

The program for the day will be as follows:

9.30—Formal flag-raising ceremony by Troop No. 1, Riverton B. S. A., at Broad and Main streets.

9.45—Children's flag parade to river bank (velocipede, bicycle, wagon, baby coach—comic and fancy—and harmonica players).

10.00—Address by Edward H. Flagg, Jr., and patriotic songs led by George D. Steedle.

10.30—Yacht races and athletic events for boys and girls of grammar school age of Riverton and Cinnaminson township.

1-3—Kiddie Karnival at Memorial Park, under auspices of Riverton Fire Company. Gifts for boys and girls, and refreshments for all.

3.30—Baseball game at park, Riverton vs. Kerlin.

Thrills Aplenty on Speedway

"Parachute" Race Will bt Big Feature of Fourth of July Program

Something entirely new in the way of a thrill novelty will be offered the assembled posts of the American Legion and other spectators at Amatol, N. J., this Fourth of July, when the Atlantic City Speedway is burned by motorcyclists in three national championship events and the leading automobilists of the country in a one hundred mile special, the entries for which include Zeke Meyer, fresh from finishing fifth at Indianapolis, and Al Aspen.

"Reckless" Johnson, famous as a third rail walker and general stunt man, will engage in a parachute race.

Ordinary descents not being thrilling enough for this mocker of death who was enlisted in the legion of the reckless by nature of birth, he devised this scheme of schemes to further satisfy that craving he gets for danger ever and anon and to add materially to his bank roll, as thrills never come cheap.

Parachutes are subject to manipulation. The downward journey can be made slow or fast. But speed is accompanied by increased risk and so such a thing as a race between two dropping humans, with death the penalty for too much speed, and defeat the penalty for too little, and the margin separating the two as thin as the thinnest supporting cord of the canopy of life above each head—well, nothing like it has ever been done.

The event will be one of the minor features of the program, arranged for the Fourth and is expected to attract the most favor of the early happenings.

MISS HUNTER'S PLEA FOR FARMERS

Attends Democratic Convention and "Speaks Her Piece"

Two Riverton women are attending the Democratic convention at Houston, Texas. Mrs. Florence Jacoby is there as member of the State Democratic Committee, and Miss Sallie Hunter is her guest.

Miss Hunter, who is seventy-three years of age, is having her first convention experience, and is an interested spectator at every session. And, on occasion, Miss Hunter can "speak her piece," too. She demanded a change in conditions which make the farmer buy at high prices and sell at low, and approved of the promise of Senator Edwards that he would seek to have a plank inserted in the platform to increase the tariff on goods which the farmer sells.

Miss Hunter is the survivor of the "Hunter Sisters," who conducted the Hunter farm on the Burlington pike near Riverton for thirty-five years. About ten years ago the sisters moved to Riverton and occupied the Wyman property on Lippincott avenue. Later, the other sister, Anna Mary, died.

FLORENCE B. & L.

The Florence Building and Loan Association issued its 21st series, Thursday night of last week. Mortgages amounting to $57,500 were cancelled, and $52,500 paid in cash, a total of $89,800.

TROUBADORS vs. JUNIORS

Tomorrow (Friday) evening, at 6.15, Partelow's apple-crashing Troubadors will play the Riverton Juniors on Memorial Park field.

Riverton Slugger Hits Two Homers

Miller Scores Round Trippers in 13-8 Victory Over Bridesburg

Riverton's pill-punching baseball team slugged its way to victory over the Bridesburg Pioneers by a 13 to 8 score on the Memorial Field last Saturday afternon.

First baseman Miller, who played for the local tossers last year, knocked out a homer in the first frame with Reds Young on base. This terrific wallop was the longest hit ever made on the Riverton field, clearing the tree tops in left-center field. In a later inning Miller socked one for another four bases.

Purcell, of Camden, pitching for Riverton, and Shiler for Bridesburg, offered loose pitching, thus making the game a slugfest. Although runs were scored freely by both teams Riverton held a commanding lead throughout the game.

This Saturday afternoon the Riverton team will be host to the Dunkirk A. A. of Philadelphia. This team played two games with Riverton last year and each team has one game to its credit. An exciting battle is looked for as both nines are anxious to annex the od game.

The Kirlin Catholic Club, also of Philadelphia, will be the attraction on the Fourth of July. This club defeated Riverton by a 3-1 score on June 2 of this season.

"El" Bearint, the slugging southpaw hurler, will toe the mound for Riverton in the holiday tilt.

Twilight Game, 4-4

Tuesday evening the Riverside Baseball Team of the Burlington County League played Riverton's first team to a 4-4 tie.

"El" Bearint was on the mound for Riverton and was opposed by Woodington, who hurled for Riverside. Both pitchers were in form and kept the hits pretty well scattered.

Linton, Young and Bearint, with two hits apiece, gathered six of Riverton's seven hits. Every Riverside player had one safe hit except Dunn, and Gotta had two.

SIX STRAIGHT

The Riverton Juniors added two more victims during the past week by defeating Westfield, 8-4 and Florence Tak-Aboott, 8-5.

Foulke, pitching for the Juniors against Westfield, allowed but three hits and fanned six batters. Bartley and Broderson made several brilliant plays in this game.

The Florence boys hopped off to a two run lead when aDaniels hit a homer with a man on base in the first inning. But the Juniors were not downhearted. They jumped into Florence's two pitches and sent hits to all parts of the field.

So far this season the Juniors have six victories and no defeats.

Aviation Leader Rotary Speaker

R. Sanford Saltus, Jr., of Philadelphia, in Splendid Address Before Club

The rapid strides made by commercial aviation since the World War was the theme of an interesting address delivered by R. Sanford Saltus, Jr., of Philadelphia, at last week's luncheon meeting of the Moorestown Rotary Club held in the Community House Thursday at noon.

Mr. Saltus is an authority on the subject, having been connected with the industry for years. He is vice-president of the Philadelphia Ludington Flying Service, operators of the Philadelphia municipal airport, and a director of the Keystone Aircraft Corporation.

The end of the war gave commercial flying a big impetus, said the speaker, in opening his address The government had a great number of training ships on its hands and sold them at exceptionally low prices, some at less than $500.

Every civilian flyer who could "scrape up" five hundred dollars, purchased a givernment plane and many of them went around the country barnstorming.

This was the beginning of commercial aviation. Those who purchased the ships and were good business men soon succeeded in making enough money to buy better equipment. The others, not possessing keen business minds became a liability to the industry. They could not obtain funds with which to purchase new ships and after a time their equipment became old and worn and consequently caused numerous accidents which hurt the "flying game."

Asked for Regulations

Then leaders in the industry established a precedent. They went to the government and asked that regulations which would put commercial aviation on a higher plane and make it more safe be established. With the aid of aeronautical experts, the Department of Commerce under the leadership of Secretary Hoover, prepared and passed legislation which is both fair and reliable to members of the commercial aviation industry and the public.

As a result of this effort, commercial aviation has made rapid strides and the great increase in public confidence has been remarkable. Pilots must pass rigid tests before they are permitted to fly passengers and planes, in order to obtain the Department of Commercial license, must be sturdy and reliable in every sense of the word.

European governments are helping to boost aeronautics to the extent that they reimburse commercial operators for financial losses. But despite all this, Mr. Saltus believes that America's commercial aviation is superior to that of Europe because America's lines are so well established that they do not depend upon government aid.

Air Lines Successful

The United States did not, however, ask its private operators to take big risks of starting air mail lines. After the government had maintained its own planes for five or six years to demonstrate that air mail lines would be practicable and could be made profitable, the work was then let to operating companies.

Passenger lines are beginning to start. The Guggenhein Fund is now financing such lines. As to just what the traveling advantages these lines will offer Mr. Saltus called attention to the air-railroad company with which Colonel Lindbergh has become associated. Traveling by train and plane, passengers may go from coast to coast in twenty-four hours. There will be no night flying, as transportation will be furnished on trains at night.

Night flying will have to be developed, said Mr. Saltus. More radio beacons and better flying instruments will be necessary before night flying can fully establish itself and be put on schedule.

Aerial photography, mapping and forest patrol work include some of the other great uses to which aeroplanes are being put to today.

Newark's New Airport

Airports are becoming almost as necessary as railroad stations, said Mr. Saltus. He predicted that Newark, with its new airport which will be one of the finest in the country, will probably take away much of the transcontinental traffic which is now using New York's airports as a terminus.

H. H. Longaker, of Moorestown, president of the Burlington County Aero Club, was present and introduced the speaker. Mr. Longaker called attention to the fact that in less than five months the Aero Club has a field which is absolutely safe, and is one of the best in this section of the country, a hanger and two brand new planes. He urged the members to "get behind the movement" and help boost aviation in Burlington County.

Mr. Saltus, at the close of his address, commented on the club's success. He said, "I have been all over the country, I have seen a lot of clubs, but I don't believe there is another club in America today that has the facilities and equipment of this one. Some of the outstanding clubs boast of the fact that they have a 'good second hand plane.' And this group has two new Waco's!"

EXCLUSIVE BEACH CLUB

Land has been purchased at Deal, N. J., as the site of the proposed Casa Blanca Del Mar, an exclusive residential beach club. The plot, consisting of twenty acres, is situated in the finest residential section of Deal with an ocean and beach frontage of 900 feet. The purchase price was $375,000. The brokers were MacDonald and Ely, of Asbury Park, representing the Casa Blanca Del Mar, and Ross M. Clayton, Inc., for Mr. Clayton who was the owner.

It is proposed to build upon the property at a cost of $1,250,000, a club house offering every feature of a modern city club with the added attraction of the sea shore. It is estimated that the entire project including the development of the grounds will approximate two and a half millons of dollars.

Red Cross Seeks to Curb Drownings

County Chapter Will Have Water Safety Man Here Two Months

Each day 20 persons drown at America's beaches, lakes, ponds and rivers. This month will claim a total of 600 lives—the next twelve months will reveal 7300 deaths by drowning. Last year in our own small county thirteen lives were lost in this way.

This tragic loss of life each year has caused the local Chapter of the American Red Cross to institute one of the most far reaching campaigns for water safety that has ever been attempted in this locality.

In order to arrange for the campaign the Life Saving Committee of Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross met on June 22, and plans were made for the carrying on of the Life Saving classes.

It was decided to employ a water safety man for two months, who will teach swimming and life saving methods all over the county.

More than 160,000 swimmers in the United States have been given instructions by the American Red Cross, and after passing the tests have been enrolled as life savers.

These life savers know what to do when a person is drowning. They know how to avoid the death grips of the drowning. If by accident they are caught in one, they know how to break every grip in which a drowning man can grasp his rescuer. They can hold him with one arm with perfect control while swimming to shore with the other. They can perform resuscitation and have revived persons who have been in the water thirty minutes. Each year these life savers rescue hundreds of persons.

After successfully passing the tests the swimmers will be entitled to wear the official insignia of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps upon their bathing suits.

BORDENTOWN GETS OFFER OF EQUIPPED PLAYGROUND

Offer to provide Bordentown with an equipped playground has been made by Augustus Trask Ashton, city solicitor of Philadelphia, and graduate of the Bordentown public schools. Mr. Ashton's offer was made in the course of an address at Bordentown to the graduating class of the Bordentown High School. Declaring his desire to benefit the children of that city, Mr. Ashton said he is willing to equip a playground and athletic field, providing the people secure a suitable site. Even if this is not done by the public, Mr. Ashton said he will consider the acquisition of a site at a reasonable price and furnish the equipment through annual donations. He suggested the formation of a committee of three to handle the matter, and it is understod that the Board of Education proposes to take steps at once to take advantage of the offer.

Mt. Holly School Principal Resigns

Bunce Will Leave County Seat to Accept Supervisorship at Metuchen

Professor Edgar F. Bunce has presented his resignation to the Northampton Board of Education as supervising principal of the public school at Mount Holly. The Board of Education met last Thursday afternoon and voted to accept the resignation after considering it for several days.

Mr. Bunce stated that he had received an attractive offer to become the supervising principal of the public schools at Metuchen, at a considerable increase in salary, and asked that he might be released immediately.

In taking up his new duties at Metuchen he expects to remain on the teaching staff of the summer course at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, and he will also have Saturday classes at Rutgers during the regular college semesters, the Metuchen Board of Education having agreed to permit him to do this. As Metuchen is but five miles from New Brunswick, he will thus be in a position geographically in his new home to accomplish this without great hardship or materially interfering with the supervisorship of the Metuchen schools.

The building equipment of the Metuchen schools is somewhat similar in size and condition to that of Mount Holly, but the town is growing rapidly and plans are already under way to erect a new modern high school there.

YMCA Camp Ockanickon Scene of Varied, Healthful Activity

More Than Two Hundred Boys on Hand for Opening of 1928 Season; Many Improvements Over Last Year

The County YMCA Boys' Camp at Medford is now a live place. The Ockanickon season opened Saturday, June 23, with a total camp family of over two hundred. What a hustling place it was, with cars arriving from all over South Jersey, boys registering, paying their board, banking their money for safe keeping and to insure credit at the camp store, finding their tents or tent houses (as the case might be), fixing up cots or bunks and getting "set" generally for whatever might be next on the program, whether it be dinner, the swimming hour, the store hour or various campus games, depending upon when a fellow got there.

Former campers were interested in discovering all the improvements since last year. Parents were shown the woodcraft shop, the nature study centre, the headquarters office, the dining hall, and many were glad to simply enjoy the beauty of Ockanickon.

To the usual attractiveness of the Camp's "Acres of Character" is the added loveliness of the laurel, which has continued in bloom longer this spring than heretofore, even up to the present, and thanks to a considerate public, it has remained for all to enjoy.

The opportunities that a YMCA Camp like Ockanickon offers a fellow to have a part in construction projects helps develop in many a chap a warm loyalty for the Camp, for where some of his labor is there is his heart also, particularly when he labors for the love of it.

Some of the projects planned for the 1928 season, in which many campers will participate with delight, include the following: A bridge across the Mountain Run branch of the lake (which will open up a wonderful new section of the property for exploration, nature trails, and development); a log nature study building; additional tent houses.

New Tent Houses

Eleven more tent houses are already up. Funds for four more have been secured. Thirty such tent houses will be required. The cost (for materials only) is $150. It has been found that one can be erected in about three days, and that when a tent of fellows learn that they can occupy a certain house upon completion, even the three day record has been lessened. They enlist their friends. Campers, old and new, and scores of parents are enthusiastic about these structures which are the out-door homes of the campers; solid floor, shingled roof, double deck canvas bunks, and canvas sides which can be rolled up or fastened down, according to the weather.

Four new row boats for life crew use in patrolling the swimming area at each stated swimming period (the only time campers are allowed to go in) add greatly to the effectiveness of the work the crew is trained to do. Special periods for classifying all campers according to their swimming ability by actual demonstration in the water, determine the kind of label they get, and this in turn determines whether a fellow can go out in a canoe.

The label is a chicken leg marker in a variety of colors, each color denoting swimming or non swimming ability, according to test. Fellows who cannot swim are thus easily "spotted," and there are plenty of campers who are eager to earn emblem points by teaching a fellow camper how to swim. This is done at special instruction periods.

By the water buddy system, during the swimming period, campers are divided into pairs, every fellow having a water buddy in his own class or grade. A check-up by buddies is made before and after each swim, and usually at intervals during the swim. When the aquatic instructor, Secretary Clifford Ergood of the Burlington County YMCA staff, blows one blast on his whistle, each camper in the water joins his buddy, and swimming is not resumed until every pair of buddies reports O. K. With two blasts on the whistle swimming is resumed.

BOTTLE MESSAGE GIVEN BACK BY ATLANTIC

Greenwich, Conn.—More than a year ago Thorwald Kroyer, of this city, threw overboard from a trans-Atlantic liner a message in a bottle.

It was carried ashore on the coast of Iceland, where it was found by a fifteen-year-old boy who returned the message to Kroyer.

Away down the river,
A hundred miles or more,
Other little children
Shall bring my boats ashore.

HOOVER AND BUSINESS

The nomination of Herbert C. Hoover should be an inspiration to every American. It is a promise and a pledge of the continuance of the Coolidge policies. It is no discredit to the originator of those policies to say that it is an advance. In accordance with the best historical tradition, it places in the hands of one of the ablest practical engineers living, the carrying out of fundamental principles that have brought unexampled prosperity to this country.

Americans at large, and American business men in particular, have, therefore, not only great cause for satisfaction, but they have just cause for pride in the recognition of the fact that it is from the governmental department dealing directly with business and commerce that the people have selected the next President of the United States.

No other selection could more directly satisfy the business men that Coolidge policies are assured to the country.

There has been no time in history when the business man has had greater opportunity to make his voice effective than the period from now to the coming election in November. With the choice of Herbert Hoover as the standard bearer of the Republican Party we have a man who recognizes the vital influence business plays in the nation's development as evidenced by his cooperation with every American industry during his incumbency of the office as Secretary of Commerce.

OBLIVION FOR LINDBERGH?

Will Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh within a few months or years drift into oblivion as have other American heroes and prominent figures whose names were temporarily on every tongue?

If not, he will be one of the few exceptions in history since Marcus Aurelius wrote "al is ephemeral —fame and fortune as well." Those exceptions who were not forgotten are remembered because they were continuously and systematically advertised. Names passing fleetingly through the headlines did not carry enough weight to insure their retention in public memory. Only those who have built up their reputation painstakingly, step by step, have achieved enduring remembrance.

This is the great lesson that may be drawn from an article appearing in The American Magazine, entitled "How Many of These Celebrities Do You Recall?" The article is not an ordinary memory test. It is a modern application of the Marcus Aurelius theory—A commentary upon quick-flaming and quick-dying American enthusiasms. But it can well be applied to flashy, spasmodic advertising, comparable to newspaper headline fame or notoriety.

Classifying the noted and the notorious of recent years, Frederick L. Collins, author of the article, reminds his readers that few people can name six members of Roosevelt's cabinet or of Taft's; that they cannot name six persons who went down with the Lusitania or the Titanic. The average person cannot name the wireless operator of either ship although they were heroes for weeks. Who was Ves'a Victoria, Thomas B. Reed, Lyman Abbott, Mr. "A," Mary Autin, Howard Carter, or Clara Morris, asks Mr. Collins, and then he continues with a list of scores of names which have been on the lips of every American within the span of a few years.

"Is it possible that Lindy, the unforgettable, will sometime take his place among the heroes we've forgotten?" asks Mr. Collins. "Perhaps, but I don't think so. His achievement might be forgotten if it weren't for two things. One is his own personality; the other his glorious youth.

"The men we have forgotten were often good men, but they were one-time men. They sold themselves to their public honestly and soundly. But they didn't follow up their sales. And most of the profit, as every business knows, is in the 'repeats.'"

HOOVER'S ACCEPTANCE

The spirit in which Herbert Hoover, nominated by the Republican Party for the highest office in the land, responded to his nomination was beautiful and touching. The good taste of his message of acceptance must remained unchallenged by all, friends and foes alike.

Hoover denied that the party owed him the nomination, as some politicians had put it. Hoover said that the country had no obligation to him at all; owed him nothing. Rather, he owed the country a great deal.

He stressed the fact that in no other country could a man coming as he did from a tiny village in Iowa, with no background of wealth or official position, receive the opportunities which he had received in America. He expressed gratitude for having been able to serve the country in the various posts he has held. His message was a poem of praise for America and the opportunities that it offers all citizens, rich and poor alike.

There was no vain glory in his message—there was simple, straightfrom the shoulder gratitude, and a beautiful reverence for the land that gave him birth. He showed that he felt indebted to America for the chance to do the work he has done in this county and elsewhere, rather than feeling that America needed to repay him for his service.

The rise of Herbert Hoover from an Iowa cottage to the Republican candidacy for the Presidency is but one more manifestation of the democracy and equality of opportunity in the United States.

ACCUMULATED MONEY

In a recent issue of his syndicated column, "Today," Arthur Brisbane refutes George Bernard Shaw, the English Socialist, when he says that accumulated money is the root of all evil.

Brisbane replied that it is accumulated money that has harnessed Niagara Falls, built the Panama Canal, and has placed automobile production on a quantity basis that has given the American people 24,000,000 inexpensive motor cars.

Great accumulations of capital, like great accumulations water going downhill, represent power. Eliminate accumulated capital and you would eliminate possibilities of higher civilization.

He says the people have brains enough to watch and control accumulated capital and take advantage of the benefits conferred by it, quoting these figures to prove that the country is prosperous: In May, corporations in which millions of employes are stockholders declared dividends of $347,900,405, and in June dividends will total $500,000,000.

The first of June, the total number of persons employed by all Detroit motor car factories was 359,073, highest on record—real prosperity.

BUSINESS THE CIVILIZER

The "hard boiled" business man is becoming a legend of the past. The older generation recalls his gruff voice: "Business is business," and "Let the buyer beware." But the modern business man is recognizing more and more clearly that lasting success comes only from service rendered.

The new attitude of business leaders was recently described by Roscoe C. Edlund, manager of the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers and general director of Cleanliness Institute, in an address before a national gathering of social workers.

"In commerce and trade," he said, " as well as in the operation of public utilities, 'The public be damned' is succeed by 'The public be served.' Business leaders today commonly take pride in sharing in public service not only as individuals in their leisure time, but also through the commercial enterprises whose destinies they guide. To an increasing degree, trade and commerce justify the title an advertising man applied recently to his new book, 'Business the Civilizer.'"

This is especially true of the support given by business research to advertising and educational programs aimed at better health, greater cleanliness, improved housing and more adequate recreational facilities. These movements are accomplishing results in bringing about higher standards of living. Directly or indirectly, the advertiser profits—yet he does so through promoting the welfare of the general public.

Social workers, teachers, health authorities, and other leaders in public services are increasing their reliance on the resources of industry in carrying forward their beneficial activities. No longer an alien, business is fast becoming an ally of movements for social betterment.

Residents of Pittsburgh are objecting to the use of the word "Brandywine" as the name of a telephone exchange. We guess they don't care about awakening painful memories.

A New York girl is to marry a man whose automobile hit and injured her. Evidently a "hit-and-kiss" driver.

Mechanical "robots" or "televoxes" have been perfected, says a news story, so that they can talk and do everything the average salesman can do except think. Some cynics believe that sentence is just about two words too long!

This Week

GOING TO COLLEGE.

ONE KIND OF SALESMAN.

THE CAREER OF PHIPPS.

Felstead, with betting 33 to 1 against him, won the Derby. Horses, more fortunate than men, can inherit a father's qualities. Felstead's father, Spion Kop, also won the Derby.

Rich fathers, ask yourselves what would have happened had Spion Kop left his winnings to his son, to squander as he chose. Would Felstead have won any races?

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., tells Fisk University students that merely going to college doesn't necessarily mean getting an education, it may mean only "forming habits of indulence, acquiring an unwarranted sense of superiority, or becoming dissatisfied with circumstances and environment in which one's lot is cast."

Mr. Rockefeller's definition of what education ought NOT to do should be posted up in every college. It ought not to cram the mind with dates, facts figures, produce shrewd, money-seeking lawyers, turn out doctors that reckon success in dollars, or "fit men for a business life that is sharp, slick, shady."

The mechanical man, or "talking Robot," has been financed $25,000,000 worth.

Manufactured in thousands, he will be used as a salesman, mechanically uttering certain words, handing out cigarettes, etc.

You may say, "But he cannot THINK, how can he be a salesman?"

He can be THAT kind of a salesman, and it's a numerous kind.

In Ohio, fifty years ago, an earnest young clerk named Phipps worked all day in a hardware store, then walked eight miles and back to keep books for a blacksmith. Phipps, the blacksmith and young Andrew Carnegie went into the iron business.

Some farmers think they need a low tariff, but don't. Tariff protection makes possible high wages, and high wages make it possible for American workers to buy farm products.

This country produces ninety billion dollars' worth of new wealth every year, thirteen billions from the soil, six billions from mines, sixty-three billions from industry.

Cripple that industry with foolish tariff tinkerers, and everybody will have trouble.

A survey by the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice, partly financed by the Carnegie Foundation, says gambling, thoroughly organized for many years, plays a great part in Chicago's crime problem.

Gambling is literally the worst of vices, most dangerous to those that practice it, and to the community on whom they prey.

Those that promoted a revival of Chicago race tracks are responsible, whether they know it or not, for much of Chicago's crime.

It is hard to escape the crime wave these days. In one case bandits kidnaped a doctor, ordered him to treat one of them, wounded, then beat him cruelly and finally killed him.

Taxicabs are associated with banditry in the public mind. The policeman "meaning it for the best" shot down two of the innocent taxi men, killing one, knocked a third unconscious with his club.

Old China changes slowly. Chang Tso-lin fled from Peking to Mukden, his stronghold, on the advice of magicians and astrologers. Two astrologers, one called "Prince Benevolence," seventy-seven years old, another, "Iron Mouth," have predicted things that convinced him.

The Mongolians like magicians. Jenghis Khan was ruled by one of them nearly 700 years ago. Ultimately and wisely, he had the magician's back broken by a strong wrestler.

Thinking Out Loud

by Jameson

No woman made a nominating speech at the Republican Convention, but three of them made seconding speeches. Just like a woman to want the last word!

* * *

A quartette sang at the Convention and couldn't be heard. This is the first time in history that a male quartette hasn't been able to make more noise than a few thousand people!

There were plenty of beautiful speeches made at the Convention, but nobody heard them.

Now that a strong prohibition plank has been adopted, the thirst is yet to come!

Evidently the Republicans were anxious to bolt the convention door before any of the dark horses escaped with the nomination.

It is said that only one man in Kansas City escaped being mistaken for a political leader. He is being offered a vaudeville contract.

The senior class of the Mount Holly High School held graduating exercises in the opera house on Thursday night. There were twelve graduates, as follows: Latin Scientific course, Miriam E. Oatman, Edith E. Cook, Rebecca H. Clark, Warren A. Vanderveer, Norman W. Harker; Commercial course, Lydia A. Baker, Phoebe V. Dobbins, Anna H. Crockford, Edith W. Saulsbury, Eleanor E. Huff, Chester R. Foulks, Mark L. Durand. The high school orchestra made its debut before an opera house audience and received loud applause. The address was by Prof. Franklin Spencer Edmonds, of Philadelphia.

Yearlings from the Rancocas Stock Farm, Jobstown, were sold in the paddock on Thursday. Prices ranged from $750 to $1,200.

Rector Resigns

Rev. Richard A. Rodrick, former rector of St. Andrew's P. E. Church, Mount Holly, has resigned as rector of St. Paul's P. E. Church, Camden. He gives ill-health as the reason for leaving the church. The resignation was accepted, the vestry recognizing that the clergyman needs a long rest. He has no intention of quitting the ministry.

Prosecutor Samuel A. Atkinson, Eckard P. Budd and Charles H. Chambers, all of Mount Holly, attended the annual dinner of the New Jersey Bar Association at Allenhurst Club House Friday evening.

Chester Levis, who has graduated from St. Paul's School, Concord N. H., is visiting his grandfather, Franklin B. Levis in Mount Holly. He will soon sail for England to join his father, Howard Levis, who holds a responsible position in London. Next fall Chester will enter Princeton College.

Commencement exercises of Moorestown high school were held on Thursday night. There were ten graduates.

Heulings Lippincott, of Moorestown, who is touring Europe, had the honor of being presented to Pope Leo XIII while in Rome.

Ten shares of stock of the Moorestown National Bank, sold in Philadelphia last week, brought $54 a share.

Riverside Bank Opens

It is expected that the Riverside National Bank will open for business this week. The five-ton safe has been shipped from the factory, and all other fixtures are in place.

"What is so rare as a day in June?" Most people will agree that such June days as Sunday and Monday cannot be any too rare. They were raw.

Company E, National Guard, had its annual inspection at the King street armory, Mount Holly, on Tuesday evening of last week. Captain John W. Miller, representing the regular army, expressed great satisfaction at the fine showing made by the company. Fifty-seven men of the company were present at the inspection. After the inspection Captain Gaskill entertained the visiting and commissioned officers of the company at a dinner at the Elk's club.

June 24, 1903

Miss Edna L. Bacon, of Dividing Creek, has been added to the corps of the Mount Holly High School.

Many carp have been caught in the lowlands back of Monroe street, Mount Holly, since the meadows in that vicinity were recently flooded by the big freshet.

Robert S. Smythe and Miss Lillian Buckage, both of Mount Holly, were married in New York on June 11. After their honeymoon they will continue to reside in Mount Holly.

Thus far thirty propositions for membership have been received by Mount Holly Lodge of Elks. Of these 25 have been elected thus for. The other five were received at the meeting last week.

At the June examinations conducted by the Supreme Court, George D. Hendrickson, of Mount Holly, was admitted as an attorney-at-law, and Thomas Logan Gaskill secured a commission as counsellor-at-law.

While playing baseball last week, a hard struck ball struck the watch of Rev. A. E. Latachar, pastor of the Baptist Church, Vincentown. The timepiece was smashed and now the pastor has no means of measuring the length of his sermons.

Moorestown Odd Fellows at last have secured a site for a hall, having bought the Worthington property on Main street for $6,475. A modern building will be erected.

MEXICO'S GOOD WILL ENVOY

All hail to Mexico's own Lindbergh! Captain Emilio Carranza has shown the stuff of which he is made! He successfully completed a flight from Mexico City to Washingaon, where he was the guest of President Coolidge. This flight was a touching expression of good will and friendship from Mexico. It is said that Mexico is more stirred over this accomplishment of peace than is has been over any other event in its history.

Lindbergh's flight from Washington stirred the imagination of the Mexicans, who have longed to have a flier of their own to emulate him; and then Carranza applied to President Calles for permission to return the good will flight of the Lone Eagle. Money for the flight of Carranza was raised by public subscription. Carranza's flight was one of 2,175 miles, accomplished in twenty hours.

The feats of Carranza in the air have been many. Once, when he flew from Mexico City to the border, his engine caught fire. He managed to put the fire out by sideslipping and flying through a raincloud which fortunately came his way. His presence of mind in emergencies is remarkable. He has handled machines so expertly as to arouse gasps of amazement from other aviators.

Carranza's good will flight was a magnificent achievement, bringing him rapidly to the front as Mexico's foremost flyer.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

CONDEMNED

The lurid descriptions of Mrs. Snyder and Mr. Gray's last hours before execution gave us all the shivers. The newspaper reporter seems to have the same complaint that some preachers have who at a funeral strive to dwell upon all the effective scenes concerning the death of the departed in order to produce tears from the auditors. It is technically known as boring for water.

The more we think of it, however, we conclude that there was but one terrible thing about this execution. That was the certainty of it.

We are all condemned to death, as Victor Hugo says. We must all walk the plank, soner or later, or face a firing squad, or die in battle or breathe our last in our beds. Dying is dying whatever be its accompaniment.

And the act of death is probably not so horrible to the actor as it is to the spectators.

Dying is simply lapsing into unconsciousness and worst pains are felt by those about the victim who realize that they will never see him again.

Also the anticipation of death is worse than death itself. The certainty that they were to die upon a given date was fiercer torment to the souls of these criminals than the passage through them of the electric charge, which occupied but a few seconds.

If we knew that we had to die upon the stroke of a certain hour we should die 100 deaths in anticipation of it.

Shakespeare says:

The valiant never taste of death but once.
Of all the wonders that I yet have heard,
It seems to me most strange that men should fear;
Seeing that death, a necessary end,
Will come when it will come."

That men turn their thoughts to religion when they think death is certain is a testimony of death upon life and to the superior and immortal qualities of our spiritual natures.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

MIND OVER MATTER

In these days, when everybody seems to have "colon trouble," a short talk on the subject abovenamed, appears to me very timely. I want you, not only to read, but to heed this, for it may concern you in particular.

Any form of profound emotion, as anger, fright, grief, and such like, exert a most decided effect on the colon, or large intestine. I have noticed that heavy brain workers are almost always troubled with that bane of healthy bodies—constipation. Any excess of effort on the part of the brain, subtracts from the necessary nerve-forces of the involuntary system, and to the detriment in health of the individual concerned. And, I am sure that those placid natures among men and women—those who take life temperately—who are not impulsive, irritable or quarrelsome, invariably have the best-working elementary canals; I could mention many cases in proof.

I know of one man who cured his constipation—a severe form—by studiously avoiding his habit of fault-finding, and, his was one of the most perfect cures I have witnessed. For years he had been a persistent "grouch." He could not argue on any question, without insulting his opponent by his own anger. He said he became "so mean that his family could hardly live with him." His physician told him the clogged bowel was the cause of his nerve trouble; a capable nerologist told him—and proved it—that his habit of growling produced the constipation! He simply quit being mean, and got well.

Here is something, then, worth thinking about—worth trying, since the trial involves no expenses in time or money. If you are overworking the mental energy in any direction, stop it, and work temperately; and as for foolish mental outbreaks, stop them anyway. We know that mental emotion affects the bowel profoundly. Now see if you can go about in intelligently—and cure yourself.

Finding Joyousness

Sing a joyous little song
Of sweet peace and happiness,
Other aching hearts to bless.

Smile and find a cheerful way
To bring round a brighter day.
Let love's sunshine fill your soul,
Then you soon will reach the goal.

And a tweet, contented mind,
Soon for you will seem to be;
Then, a brighter world, you'll see.

Rays of sunshine will appear,
As a brighter day will dawn,
With life's darker shadows gone.

A MODERN RIP VAN WINKLE

Belgrade—A Rip Van Winkle in real life has been discovered in the person of one Franja Kreiner. He had lived for 22 years hidden in one room of a large deserted house.

When he emerged the other day he did not know there had been a World War, he thought the Emperor Franz Josef was still alive, and he had never seen an automobile. He was amused by the present-day masculine clothing. The hermit returned to his room without seeing any women.

Recently Kreiner was discovered. Naturally he was thought insane, but tests proved him sane and extremely clever. Twenty-two years ago Kreiner disappeared after a broken romance, and everyone thought he had left the country. He kept one servant to bring him water and the plainest sort of food.

Roads and Streets

Highland, Washington, Lincoln and Morgan avenues are all in need of replacement of material because of the wash down the grades of these streets. As promptly as possible all wash sand now on these streets will be removed and gravel and cinders used for fill.

Many complaints having been received during the last several months concerning the condition of Memorial avenue. By arrangement with Raymond Warner, who has built several houses on that street, it has been brought up almost to grade, Mr. Warner paying for the most of the material and the Borough is paying for part of the material and furnishing the labor.

Complaint has also been made concerning the undeveloped portion of Pear street and Dr. Lamb, owner of the abutting lots, has stated that he has arranged for the street to be graded at the contractor's convenience.

Grade Stakes

Publicity was given to the material applied on Garfield avenue, in the hope that residents on other streets might see the advantages of this material and be induced to ask for application of the materials at a cost of not to exceed $3.00 for each 50 foot frontage, but up to this time there have been but three inquiries in the whole Borough so evidently there is not much interest in the matter, although the results on Garfield avenue have been excellent, not only from the standpoint of laying dust but in keeping the surface of the street pliable and preventing washing.

The Borough Solicitor has been asked for information as to method of procedure in those cases where planks and piping have not been removed from gutters as requested and will later advise.

The flag pole in front of the P. O. S. of A. Hall was painted in time for the Memorial Day celebration. Flowers have been planted in the Park in front of the school house at the junction of Cinnaminson and Parry avenues.

Guard signs have been placed at the west end of Spring Garden street at the intersection of Walnut street where traffic was going over the sidewalk and at the foot of Walnut street.

Enamel street signs have also been placed on the light standards at the intersection of Broad street and Weart Boulevard and showing the way to the Palmyra High School.

Respectfully submitted,
F. G. FROMUTH, Chairman

Police Report

The following is the police report from May 15th to June 19th.

Four arrests for drunkenness, five arrests for reckless driving, two arrests for driving without a license, one arrest for passing traffic sign, two arrests for larceny.

Six picked up after midnight on suspicion and released the following morning.

Arrested for burglary one, Alfred Brown, formerly of East Riverton, who had entered about twenty-four homes in Riverton, East Riverton, and on the Burlington Pike. He was arrested by Officer Wallace at Broad street and Weart blvd., where both officer Wallace and Brown were shot. Wallace was shot in both thighs. Brown was shot in the calf of his right leg, the bullet lodging in his left ankle.

ODD FELLOWS PICNIC SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Browns Mills in the Pines Selected as Place for Outing

Having concluded indoor activities, Cinnaminson Lodge No. 201, IOOF has entered upon its summer program of social events and will stage its first picnic of the season this Saturday afternoon.

The members will meet at Palmyra station at 1 o'clock where cars will be provided for those who have no means of transportation and will proceed to Browns Mills in the Pines. Here they will be met by Brother Alvan Swain who resides in the Pines and around whose residence will be the center of activities.

On Tuesday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. Eula Roach, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Lodge met to formulate plans for the event and have made arrangements for a picnic lunch which will be made up of contributions by those attending. However, it is the desire of the Lodge that every member who can, attend the picnic, for there will be sufficient lunch provided for all. A program of sporting events for both the ladies and the men will be conducted and a general good time is in store for everyone.

All that is necessary is for every member put on his outing togs and be on hand at the alloted time. The usual Odd Fellows spirit will prevail as always.

JAMES BARR

Mr. Barr, who was about 80 years old, was very well known in Moorestown, having lived in Fellowship many years previous to the time when he took up his residence in Camden about twenty years ago.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence Friday morning at 8 o'clock with requiem high mass at the Immaculate Conception Church, Camden, at 9 o'clock. Interment in Mount Carmel Cemetery, Moorestown.

Mr. Barr is survived by his wife, four daughters and three sons, Mrs. Joseph McDonough, Camden; Mrs. James O'Donnell, Moorestown; Mrs. Henry Evans, Medford; Miss Elizabeth Barr, Camden; William P. Barr, Riverton road, Moorestown; Edward Barr, Palmyra; and Joseph Barr, Collingswood.

MINNIE FELTON HORNER

Mrs. Minnie Felton Horner, 54 years old, died at her home, 426 Delaware avenue, Palmyra, last Saturday morning.

She is survived by her husband, Walter Horner, caretaker of the Palmyra High School, and five children, Mrs. Emily Wells, William Horner, Edna Bonsal, George Bonsal, of Riverside, and Alonzo F. Bonsal, of Upper Montclair, N. J.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10.30 from the Snover Funeral Home, 313 East Broad street, Palmyra, with the Rev. J. William Lee officiating. Interment was made in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery, Burlington.

Addresses Lions on South Jersey

L. D. Odhner, secretary of the Camden Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker at the Lion's Club Tuesday.

Mr. Odhner called attention to the transportation facilities serving the riverfront towns and said they were far behind the facilities enjoyed by other South Jersey communities. He cited an example which he had just had called to his attention through personal experience when he came up to address the club. He found he could go to Philadelphia from the Walt Whitman Hotel and get to Palmyra quicker than if he waited for a train or trolley going direct.

The speaker cautioned the Lions about the many fake stock schemes which were being exploited in Camden and vicinity at this time and told them to be on the alert for any questionable stocks which might be offered. He suggested the management of companies offering stock for sale be carefully investigated through the banks, Chamber of Commerce or other such sources before investing any money.

Mr. Odhner discussed the possibilities of South Jersey territory, dividing into three zones. The first division mentioned was the "Western Division" including the territory along the Delaware river which the speaker said presented the finest opportunity for industrial development of any territory anywhere in the world.

The second zone mentioned was the "Central Zone," whose agricultural possibilities are second to none. The third zone discussed was the Eastern or "Atlantic Coastline Zone," which has long been recognized as "The Play Ground of the World." This section, while highly developed in many places, still offers unlimited opportunity to those who can see its possibilities.

He mentioned the fact that South Jersey had 15,000,000 visitors last year and said the State of California would be willing to spend $200,000,000 to bring that many visitors to the West coast.

He told of the necessity of taking steps to improve the landscape of South Jersey so as to give visitors a better impression of our State.

A beautiful travelling set was presented to Lee Mitton in appreciation of his untiring efforts in behalf of the Club. Mr. Mitton has arranged some wonderful music for the Lions and his work has been a big feature in the success of the organization.

He is to leave Saturday for a four months' tour of Europe and the Lions took this means of sending their good wishes along with him.

LEGION AUXILIARY

Special Meeting To Be Held On Monday Evening

A special meeting of the Auxiliary will be held next Monday evening, July 2, at 8 p. m., in the Legion Home. Important business necessitates this meeting and all members are urged to attend.

County Meeting, Friday evening, July 13, at Maple Shade. All members are invited and there will be cars to take us over. If you can go, phone your president or secretary, who will tell you when and where to meet. Don't forget the date—Friday the 13th!

The Auxiliary and Post are going to hold a picnic on Saturday, July 21, at Grenloch Park. It is hoped that a big crowd will arrange to go, for this should prove a very enjoyable occasion. If this is as big a success as the banquet, a good time is surely in store for all who can go. Details have not been finally decided but there will be more to tell you later. The date, however, has been fixed, so don't forget it. Saturday, July 21.

PARRY FIRE COMPANY

The Parry Fire Company was called to extinguish a fire on the Van Sciver Estate, Burlington pike and Pensauken Creek, Friday of last week, at 5 o'clock.

The Parry Fire Company carnival will be held at Palmyra Extension on July 19, 20 and 21. Don't forget the dates. The new firehouse certainly warrants your support.

GREGORY-WARNER

Miss Dorothy, daughter of Mrs. J. P. Warner, of Palmyra, and Mr. C. Emerson Gregory, son of Mrs. Charles Emerson Gregory, of Providence, R. I., were married in the Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge Saturday afternoon, June 23, at 5.30.

The bride wore a gown of white point d'sprit and carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lillies of the valley and sweet peas. The net veil was trimmed with princess lace and caught up with orange blossoms. She was given in marriage by her brother, Harold P. Warner.

MRS. MARGARET PLATT

Mrs. Margaret, widow of the late Captain Alfred Platt, died suddenly on Monday at the home of her son, Franklin Platt, in Haddon Heights.

Mrs. Platt and her daughter, Mrs. Ella Hicks, with whom she made her home on Washington avenue, Palmyra, went to Haddon Heights three weeks ago to spend the summer.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Franklin Platt, Haddon Heights. Interment will be made at Odd Fellows' Cemtery, Burlington.

The deceased leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ella Hicks, of Palmyra, and lanco; Everett Platt, of Haddonlanco; Everett Platt, of Haddonfield, and Franklin Platt.

PALMYRA NOTES

Miss Frances Green has returned home after spending two weeks at Seaside Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Stonehurst, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kemmerle, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rudduck are spending the week at Atlantic City.

Miss Margaret Giberson spent Thursday and Friday at Wildwood.

Joseph, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Shoemaker, former residents of Palmyra, died in the Atlantic City Hospital on June 22, following an operation for appendicitis. Interment was made in Pleasantville Cemetery. Mrs. Shoemaker was formerly Miss Mamie MacDonald, of Palmyra.

Mrs. Carmela Manieri, of Hopewell, Va., spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Alfonso Taglialatela, of West Broad street. Thursday evening they attended the commencement exercises of Temple University, where Mrs. Manieri's daughter, Hilda, received the Bachelor of Science degree.

Mr. and Mrs. George Perkins and son, Jack, of Cuthbert road, will spend the coming week with her father, in New York State.

On Thursday evening a Hudson coupe, belonging to R. H. Mahlon, and a Dodge meat truck collided at Five Points. The coupe's axle was damaged and the car was towed to Ed's Roadside Service, where it was repaired. The truck was towed to Philadelphia. No one was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gottschalk, of Horace avenue, entertained friends from Brooklyn for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Robert Hayes, Mrs. Bert Ward and Billy and Florence Kiem spent Thursday at Riverview Beach.

A special meeting of the Girl Scouts will be held next Tuesday evening, July 3, at 7.30, at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. George J. Seel returned home last Thursday, after having spent two weeks at the Hotel Biscayne, Ocean City.

Don't forget the cake sale to be held by the American Legion on Saturday, June 30. See other item about this sale in another section of this paper.

Club's New Waco in Very Busy Premier

Burlington County Aero Unit's Second Plane Very Much in Demand

The new "Waco 10" airplane, the second ship of this type purchased by the Burlington County Aero Club has had a very successful premier week of flying from the club's Moorestown Airport. Lieut. E. G. Pennock, the club's regular licensed pilot from the Pennsylvania National Guards, has been taking up passengers daily and made several short distance hops during the week.

Ex-Senator Emmor Roberts, who is a member of the aero club, was one to engage the ship for another inspection of certain parts of the county from the air. Mr. Roberts said that vegetation was noticibly green and heavy as seen from the sky at present due to the abundance of rain.

Sunday afternoon was particularly active for passenger hopping and a large number of sightseers went aloft with Lieut. Pennock for their first experience.

H. H. Longaker, president of the club, who was on the field on Sunday expressed great satisfaction at the rapid growth of "airmindedness" in Burlington County since the Moorestown Airport has offered loocal opportunity to residents to taste the thrill of flying and witness the ease and safety with which it is done. Mr. Longaker emphasized the importance of knowing when taking a flight that one is going up in a licensed ship, flown by a licensed pilot (both of which are licensed by the U. S. Department of Commerce) and that the ship has been tested and definitely proven as to its airworthiness. All of these rigid requirements are strictly complied with by the County Aero Club.

Beginning next week the club ships will be housed on the Moorestown field in the new steel hangar which is rapidly nearing completion. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening, July 2, at 8.30. Prospective new members may apply for membership at this meeting.

MOTOR MISSION CARAVAN TO HOLD CO. MEETINGS

The Church Army of the Episcopal Church will visit Burlington county for ten days, June 27 to July 8, inclusive, and will hold services at Pemberton, Lumberton and Vincentown. The Church Army travels about it a van, the gift of Bishop Matthews, and two evangelists of the Episcopal church head the church workers.

On the two Sundays the Army is in this vicinity services will be held at Vincentown at 11 a. m., Lumberton 5 p. m. and Pemberton, 7.30 p. m. There will be services every weekday evening at 7.30: Pemberton, June 27, 28, 29 and 30; Lumberton, July 1, 2 and 3, and Vincentown, July 5, 6 and 7.

BUICK SETS NEW BIG SALES RECORD

Buick sales for May exceeded those for April by almost 5,000 cars, C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company, announced this week. The figure is taken from retail delivery reports, which reflect considerable improvement in business conditions practically everywhere in the country. Mr. Churchill also made public a set of tables showing the dollar value of various makes of automobiles ending March 31, 1928. These tables indicate that the public paid $365,000,00 for Buick cars during that period, as compared with $250,000,000 for the cars of the second highest producer in the fine car field, and $223,000,000 for those of the third.

The local patrons of the national pastime had the opportunity of witnessing a different brand of baseball last Saturday afternoon than that which has been handed out to them on previous occasions by the team playing under the direction of the Palmyra Community Movement.

In defeating Moorestown 2-0 the entire team played as if they enjoyed the game of baseball in sharp contrast to the weird performances which have been placed on display before the loyal partisans in earlier contests. Not a semblance of an error blemished the support of the airtight purling of Earl Harder who turned in one of the best pitched games seen in the league so far this season.

Harder was at his best in the pinches. In the third inning the hostiles had runners on third and second with one out and it looked very much as if Moorestown would score enough runs to put the game on ice. However this was not to be. Harder passed the next man, loading the bases. This proved to be a wise bit of strategy as the next batter hit a roller to the box which the pitcher fielded cleanly and tossed to Harper for a forceout at the plate and Harper relayed the ball to Baker for the third out of the only really dangerous inning.

The deciding tallies were scored in the eighth when Bennett opened with a single to left and Harder was safe on an attempted bunt when the initial hassock was left unguarded. Conroy developed a streak of wildness and passed both Baker and King, forcing in Bennett with what proved to be the winning run.

STUDENT AT AGE 89

The Rev. David H. Schock, of Pitman, N. J., eighty-nine years old, is enrolled as a regular student in the Summer School of Drew University at Madison, New Jersey, now in session. This is the eighth summer session at Drew which the Rev. Mr. Schock has attended. While the Rev. Mr. Schock retired from the active ministry in 1913, he does not even intend to give up his long-established habits of study, believing that a man's education should never end.

Where was time raised? In the lapse of ages.

County "Y" Notes

Miss Sidonie Schafer, of McPherson, Kansas, will arrive in Mount Holly on Saturday, June 30, to begin her work as Associate Secretary of the Burlington County Y. W. C. A.

Miss Schafer is a graduate of the University of Kansas and of the National Y. W. C. A. Training School of New York City. She has been executive secretary of the McPherson County Y. W. C. A. of Kansas, and the Jefferson County Y. W. C. A. of Nebraska.

Burlington County will welcome Miss Schafer as a third secretary added to the Y. W. C. A. staff. Her work will be with industrial and business girls and the adult educational program.

The Y. W. C. A. Rural Promotion Committee for the State of New Jersey met at the home of Mrs. Edward Harmer in Moorestown on Friday, June 22, to consider plans for work for the coming year.

Miss Elizabeth Blick of the National Y. W. C. A. reported that plans for extension of the Y. W. C. A. movement in northern New Jersey are progressing very satisfactorily.

Mrs. Harmer, chairman of the Rural Promotion Committee, stated that her committee is now ready to concentrate on the development of new work in southern New Jersey. There are many communities which are in need of Girl Reserve clubs and also for club work for the young business girls.

Following the meeting of the Promotion Committee, the camp committee met and perfected the last details for the summer camp, Ockanickon. The Y. W. C. A. has rented the Y. M. C. A. Camp Ockanickon for three weeks in August and expert leadership has been employed to run the camp for girls.

Clean-Up Made of Co. Criminal Court

Docket Cleared of Several Miscellaneous Indictments During Past Week

There was no court work of any importance in the Burlington County courts at Mount Holly last until Thursday, when several defendants were before the bar for sentence. Prosecutor Hillman, on motion, disposed of four other cases by the nolle prosse route.

In one case nolle prossed the county was saved the expense of a trial by the fact that the defendant, Thrifton Makowski, indicted for liquor law violations, was asphyxiated in his underground distillery at his home, near Hedding, a few weeks back.

Among the three other cases nolle prossed was that of the Rev. Alexander W. Boswick, formerly of Vincentown, but now residing in Philadelphia, who was indicted for extortion while acting as a justice of the peace of Southampton township, and in whose case there was a disagreement of the jury.

Another case which had been heard and in which the jury could not agree was that of Samuel Martin, also of Vincentown, indicted for larceny. This case will not be tried again, the Court having granted the motion to nolle prosse, while the fourth case so closed was that of the State vs. Frank Eldridge, indicted for assault and battery by automobile.

Trenton Man Fined $350

Sparatio Lucidi, a young Trentonian, who had entered a plea of guilty to possession and transporting liquor, he having been apprehended by Florence township officers while in the act of delivering liquor in that community, went to jail in default of a $350 fine.

Walter Toljetski, of Riverside, classed as an old offender, was before the Court for the second time on a charge of possession of liquor and having a still for the manufacture of the same, but due to the fact that it was stated he had been of service to the officers, he escaped a jail sentence and was fined $200.

Frank Torchia, of Maple Shade, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses, was given thirty days in jail, sentence to date from the time of his original commitment.

Torchia was charged with purchasing building materials for the erection of a house, he claiming that he owned the lot, but it was later ascertained by his creditors that he did not own anything.

Not Collection Agency

This was one of those cases in which it appeared an effort was being made to make a collection agency out of the Court, and Judge Slaughter saw no reason why Torchia should be dealt with very severely.

He had already served thirty days in jail, so he went home.

Flossie May Nixon, a Burlington colored damsel who shot her paramour after a quarrel, the bullet just grazing Jesse Lloyd's skin, was charged with atrocious assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons, and she was sent to the State Home for Women, at Trenton.

Philip Jackson, colored, of Moorestown, before the Court on a charge of desertion of his wife and three children, and who has given the Moorestown authorities considerable trouble because of his neglect of his family, will go to jail for six months unless he can furnish a bond within twenty days guaranteeing the support of his wife and children.

Robbed Riverton Home

Nora Grant Craythorne, employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Hollingshead, of Riverton, charged with the larceny of about $767 worth of wearing apparel, jewelry, blankets, etc., made a retraction and pleaded non vult. She will be back for sentence later.

Isiah Truitt, colored, of Evesham township, retracted his plea of not guilty to assault and battery in shooting a fellow farmhand, George Webster, in the leg, as a result of which Webster suffered the loss of the leg, and pleaded non vult. Sentence was postponed.

Harry Brown, colored, of Beverly, admitted the charge of having beaten his wife, because he said she was constantly nagging him, and he agreed to pay her $3 a week and keep away from her, and he went back to Beverly.

SETTING UP EXERCISES

"SMITH DAY" AT SEA GIRT SET BY GOVERNOR MOORE

Governor A. Harry Moore has announced that Thursday, July 19, will be "Smith Day" at Sea Girt, the state's military campground and summer home of the Governor. On that day the Governor expects to have as guests at the "Little White House" Governor and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and expects that fifteen thousand or more, from all parts of the state, will be present to meet, and perhaps hear his guests. "Smith Day" this year will be combined with "Hudson Day," which during the recent succession of Democratic Governors has always been marked by the largest turnout of any of the county pilgrimages to the Governor's summer cottage.

CHANGE OF TROOPERS

A change will soon be made in the assignment of State troopers now stationed at Columbus. Troopers Doyle and Horn will be given a new station in the neighborhood of Riverton or Bridgeboro. Troopers Collins and Sawyer will come from the Trenton headquarters to take the places vacated by Brown and Doyle at Columbus. Sergeant Crawford and Troopers Campbell and Brown will remain at the latter place, giving one additional man at that station. The change will take place as soon as suitable quarters may be found in the new district.

Red Cross Plans Life Saving Course

Instruction Will be Given at Various County Bathing Beaches

Arrangements are being made by the Burlington County Chapter of the American Red Cross to inaugurate classes in life saving which will be started this month. Clifford H. Ergood has been appointed county director of life saving by the chapter. He will be assisted by J. Lloyd Neal.

Under the plans of the County Red Cross a licensed instructor will visit the various beaches and other bathing places and form classes with a view to teaching both old and young how to swim; how to protect themselves while swimming, and how to help others who may be in distress.

To the end of forming the classes Ergood and Neal have been visiting the various service clubs in order to get the members interested in the work. It is felt that the clubs can do a great co-operative work if their assistance can be secured. It is believed that considerable help will come from this quarter.

There are other possibilities in the prone pressure method of artificial resuscitation. The same method is used in restoring people who may be suffocated by gas or smoke. The prone method has the big advantage of requiring no equipment. Only two hands and a level head are required.

Recently there was a demonstration in the pool at the Community House, Moorestown, under the auspices of the Burlington County Chapty Chapter. At that time Mrs. Howard C. Curtis and J. Lloyd Neal, of Moorestown, took an examination to renew their licenses as Red Cross examiners. At the same time Ergood, who lives in Mount Holly, and Edward De Merlier, of Moorestown, were successful in passing the required tests and also became entitled to certificates as examiners.

The Moorestown demonstration was given by Captain Caroll L. Bryant, the American Red Cross life saving field representative. The demonstration was witnessed by many and keen interest was shown.

The importance of the work may be seen at a glance. There are numerous bathing places in Burlington county. None is protected other than through the good swimmers who may be among the bathers. In case of accident the right man might save a life. It is the purpose of the county Red Cross to have that right man at as many of the bathing places as possible.

Of course all the bathing places cannot be covered immediately, but the most urgent needs will be taken care of under the Red Cross program. The program could be greatly widened were the service clubs to co-operate. And because of what the work means it is believed that they will.

POLLS AND HEADS

Polls Are Comparable to a Counting of Noses

The polls are much in the press right now. Besides being a presidential campaign year in this country, Japan "goes to the polls" for the first time and receives a great deal of publicity on that account. All of which suggests that the word poll means one of two things to most people—the polls or voting place; or the poll tax, which is levied usually against every male adult.

It is interesting to trace the history of this word. Originally it was used to mean the head or skull, or that part of the head covered with hair. From this, the word came to designate an individual in a group (now obsolete). Then, since it is easy to count the number of heads (or, as in the common phrase, the noses), poll meant and still means the total number of persons. The natural step from this was to use the word to name the list of people against whom a poll tax was levied—and, since it was often a rule that one cannot vote unless he has paid his poll tax, and also by association with the idea of counting heads, poll came to mean register of eligible voters in a given locality. Various extensions of the meaning of the word along these lines connected with voting are familiar to everyone.

The word poll comes, according to Webster's New International Dictionary, from a Middle English word which is related to the Low German "polle," meaning the head, the crest of the bird, or the top of a tree.

REFINEMENTS IN CAR BODY HELP

New Body Development Important During Long Vacation Travels

With mechanical refinements perfected to almost the nth degree, auto tourists this year are turning their attention somewhat from the feature of their cars to that of body refinements. This tendency has been brought emphatically before the auto manufacturers by the multitude of reports from the dealer organization as to what the buying public is asking when it approaches the point of signing on the dotted line.

Especially is this true as the vacation season opens. More and more vacationists are turning to auto travel and more and more they are demanding comfort and refinement in the bodies of their cars as well as the sturdiness and quiet in what is under the hood.

The demands of the motoring public have been impressed on the factory and from them the manufacturers have envolved cars that incorporate comfort, beauty, safety and engine dependability.

The engineering and sales departments of the Oakland Motor Car Company have worked tirelessly in co-operation with the Fisher Body Corporation to bring about this co-ordination of utility and comfort so that in the Oakland or Pontiac cars of today the tourist has an automobile which stands every test.

KNOW NEW JERSEY!

The Public Servant Of A Great State

A new moving picture presented by Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, in connection with the celebration of its Twenty-fifth Anniversary.

Includes a remarkable series of aerial motion pictures, revealing much of New Jersey as the aviators see it, and shows some of the plants and other facilities of Public Service which provide electricity, gas and local transportation for the most populous section of the State.

Will be Shown at

WALT WHITMAN HOTEL, CAMDEN

FRIDAY, JUNE 29, at 8 P. M.

STRAWBERRY PATCH FRUITS TWO YEARS

Usually the best crop of strawberries is produced the spring after the plants are set. Where the beds are well filled out with strong, healthy plants of a good variety, however, and it is possible to keep weeds down without too much trouble, a second crop and sometimes even a third may be produced at a profit, says J. H. Clark, associate pomologist at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. This, he points out, means two crops from three years' use of the land instead of one crop in two years.

If the patch seems worth keeping for another year it should be renewed or renovated as soon as the crop is picked, explains Professor Clark. On soils of average fertility or below, fertilizer should be broadcast as soon as the fruit is all picked. About 500 pounds of acid phosphate and 200 pounds of nitrate of soda is ample for most soils, or, 800 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 4-8-4 may be used.

The main purpose of renovation is to thin out the plants and stir up the soil. A good way to do this is to plow up all but a strip about a foot wide on one side of each matted row. A spike-tooth or spring-tooth harrow is then used to level the ground and thin out the plants in the strip. They should be left about as thick as plants in a new bed at the same time of year. Afterwards the patch is cultivated and weeded the same as a new bed.

Many of the larger growers have found it better to go through the alleys with a one-horse cultivator and thin out the plants in the matted row with a disc or spring-tooth harrow. This is satisfactory if the plants are thinned enough so that the new runner plants will have room to take root and grow. Only enough old plants are needed to produce sufficient runners to fill out the matted row.

N. J. ROAD BONDS EAGERLY SOUGHT

Overbid Three or Four Times; Considered Highly Desirable Investment

The $5,000,000 New Jersey road and bond issue, offered for sale at Trenton last week, was overbid three or four times, it was estimated by the state's fiscal officials, who received more than one hundred bids for amounts ranging from $5,000 up to the entire issue.

The prices ranged from par to $102.50 offered for a lot of $50,000. While the officials have not checked the tabulations, they estimated that more than $7,000,000 had been bid for at prices above $101.25, and said it was indicated that none of the bonds would be sold for less than $101.50.

On these figures they estimated the premium at about $85,000, which they said would bring the yield to about 3.85 per cent. The allotment will be made as soon as the checkup is completed.

CAN'T USE "PUBLIC SERVICE"

On the application of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, vice-chancellor Berry has granted an injunction restraining Public Service Finance Corporation of Newark from using the words "Public Service" as part of its title. At a hearing before the Vice Chancellor, affidavits were filed that showed that Public Service Finance Corporation, which is incorporated to do a personal loan business, was not connected financially or otherwise with either Public Service Corporation of New Jersey or any of its subsidiary companies, and that the use of the words "Public Service" in its title was misleading to the public and was a cause of injury to the complainant.

CHILDREN HELP FIX MEALS FOR PICNIC

Many mothers find it is more work to pack a picnic lunch than to prepare a meal at home, but, says the state extension specialist in foods, this will depend entirely upon what is planned for the outing. She suggests that a picnic should be what the name implies—an enjoyable outing for every member of the family. The children will enjoy fixing some of the camp dishes which they have been taught to prepare in their scout work. For this a fire is quite essential and, after all, the open fire adds much to the spirit of the picnic. In New Jersey and some other states, however, a permit from a local fire warden is necessary, before building any open fire either in or near the woods.

Sandwiches are tedious to prepare; for that reason mother could spend her time in baking a sponge cake or some simple cake for dessert. Hard rolls can be purchased, butter put in a covered glass, allowing each person to prepare the sandwiches at the picnic. Bacon broiled by the children on a wire toaster can be placed in the rolls. Even the small children can eat bacon sandwiches.

Lettuce can be washed at home and taken in a heavy paper bag or covered kettle. Tomatoes are always appetizing and taste good eaten from the hand as one does an apple. Hard cooked eggs are easily carried. Potato salad or potato chips may be added for the older members of the family. Fresh fruit and sponge cake will complete this meal. Milk or cocoa could be taken in a thermos bottle for the children, while tea or coffee is prepared over the fire for mother and father.

Always have a supply of paper plates, cups, and napkins on hand during the summer months so that a picnic basket may be packed on short notice. The fewer dishes and the less silver required, the more the picnic is enjoyed.

MINERALS IMPORTANT IN FEEDING RATIONS

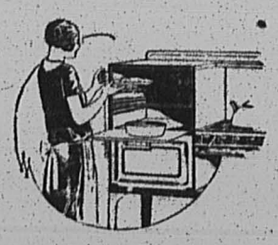

The right kind of mineral, which is perhaps the cheapest food ingredient, in the rations of animals and poultry, can be converted into another kind of mineral—more money in the pocket—if wisely fed, says Bulletin No. 151, issued by the Poultry and Animal Research Institute, with offices at 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City. This mineral is calcite, the purest form of native lime, which occurs in mature and semi-hard, crystalline formation, and which runs from 85 to 95 percent pure calcium carbonate. The bulletin also points out the difference between various kinds of limestone, with particular reference to the most suitable for animal and poultry consumption. A copy of the bulletin may be had free by addressing the office of the institute.

"Allowing poultry or animals to shift for themselves to obtain the necessary minerals has long ceased to have a place in the successful scheme of things," the bulletinn continues. "For instance, with high-pressure production of eggs such as must be obtained if poultrymen are to enjoy success in their business, the supply of calcium carbonate must be made certain at all times, and this can best be done by making available calcite crystals in the form of grit and feeding calcite flour in the mash. Otherwise, in an attempt to maintain the pace of heavy production, the birds will lay the lime out of their bones in an effort to clothe the eggs with shell. The net result of such mineral starvation is a reduced vitality of the flock and financial losses that could have been avoided if the proper attention were given to minerals.

"Then to, from the standpoint of healthy and complete growth, calcuim carbonate in all important. Witout it in proper balance, the framework of the body will remain under-developed, with consequent loss in the amount and quality of the meat."

The rhododendron is the state flower of both Washington and West Virginia.

Electric and Gas Service Now Replaces Woman Power in Housekeeping

Regulated Oven Heat Ends Baking Failures

When cooked by the time and temperature method in a gas range with an oven heat regulator, all the flavor of food is brought out and baking and cooking failures are unknown.

Prices on oven heat regulator gas ranges begin at $51.75. Payment terms are $5 down with twelve to eighteen months to pay. Allowance made if old cooking stove or plate is traded in.

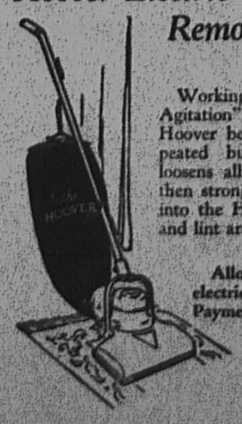

All Lamp Prices Reduced 25%

Our lamp stock includes many novel lamps fashioned along modernistic modes. Lamps with pottery bases are popular this season and when completed with cone or cylindrical shaped shades of smart color combinations they add an attractive touch to a room.

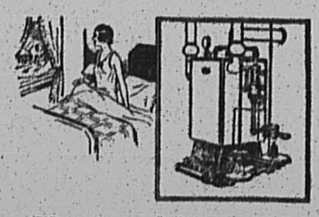

Every lamp in stock is reduced in price 25% and all are sold on the divided payment plan.

Hoover Electric Cleaner Removes All Dirt

Working on the "Positive Agitation" principle, the new Hoover beats the rug with repeated but gentle taps and loosens all the ground in dirt, then strong suction draws it up into the Hoover bag. Threads and lint are picked up too.

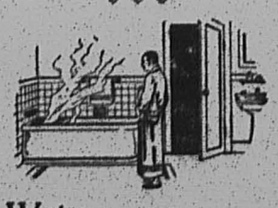

Allowance made if old electric cleaner is traded in. Payment terms are $5 down and $5 a month.

Gas Heating Means New Home Comfort

Gas burned in a furnace designed for its use may be used to operate your favorite heating system—steam, hot water, vapor or warm air. The gas furnace takes up comparatively small space. Smoke, grime and ashes are removed at the gas plant, and the work they cause is absent when a house is gas heated.

Consult Public Service for facts and figures. Let our househeating engineers make a survey of your heating requirements at no cost to you.

Hot Water When You Want It

All the comforts of a reliable hot water service may be enjoyed if a gas automatic storage water heater is installed. Operating cost is low because gas is burned only when necessary.

Prices begin at $72.50, installed. Easy payment terms $5 down and eighteen months to pay. Allowance made if old water heater is traded in.

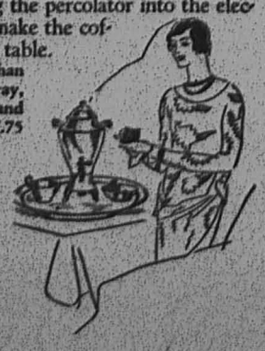

Electric Percolator Makes Good Coffee

Manning Bowman set includes urn, tray, cream pitcher and sugar bowl $17.75

Hotpoint Percolator set, specially priced at $13.75

Pot type percolator prices begin at $4.50

A FIVE-CENT CIGAR you can really enjoy

IF YOU smoke for pastime, most any cigar may often do. But if you want a cigar that really puts taste enjoyment into your smoking — and saves you money besides!—here's one that will do it: Havana Ribbon. And this is why:

Havana Ribbon contains no bitter under-ripe top leaves of the tobacco plant. No flat-tasting over-ripe bottom leaves. No "clippings" or short ends to crumble and come out in your mouth. . . . But only long, true-tasting, flavor-laden, fully-ripe middle leaves of choice tobacco plants.

You naturally expect such tobacco in a higher-priced cigar. But have you ever heard of such a thing in a five-cent cigar? Isn't it just about the biggest piece of smoke news that has ever come before you? No wonder today's Havana Ribbon is riding the biggest wave of popularity in all the thirty years it has been on the market! At cigar counters everywhere.

Miss Klauder's Brilliant Paper on "World Peace Through Treaties"

In the estimation of the judges, Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, George W. Wickersham, former United States Attorney General, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War, James G. McDonald, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association and Mrs. Edgerton Parsons, of the International Federation of University Women, the best original speech submitted in a national contest on the subject of outlawing war by the ratification of arbitrating treaties was written by Frances Elizabeth Klauder, of Moorestown, and she will receive the award of $500 for a trip to Geneva, Switzerland, according to an announcement at Washington last week.

The second prize of $300 was awarded to Harwood Stump, of the Long Beach High School, Long Beach, Calif., and the third prize of $200 to Robert Picken, of Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa.

Thirty-seven States and the Territory of Hawaii submitted original speeches in the National Oratorical Contest on Outlaw-War Treaties. Forty-six States, the Territories of Hawaii and Alaska, Porto Rico, and the Philippines took part in the speaking contests in which bronze and silver medals were awarded to winning speakers in high schools and churches.

Biddle Gives Prizes

The prizes and medals were offered by Clement N. Biddle, of New York City, for the purpose of encouraging discussion among young people and also the preparation and delivery by them of orations on the general subject of obtaining permanent peace through treaties for the renunciation of war and the settlement of all international disputes by other means than war. This study and discussion has included consideration by thousands of high school students of the earlier proposals of M. Briand, the French Foreign Minister, and the later suggestion of multilateral treaties made by Secretary of State Kellogg. The contest was in charge of a national committee of a hundred nationally prominent educators, editors, and publicists from all parts of the country, of which Dr. Philander Claxton, former United States Commissioner of Education in Washington and now superintendent of Schools in Tulsa, Oklahoma, is chairman, and Sidney L. Gulick, of New York, and Arthur Charles Watkins, of Washington, are secretaries.

As indicated by the number of original speeches that survived the bronze and silver medal contests and all the other elimination tests and were finally entered in the national contest, the States that took highest rank were as follows and in the order given: Louisana, Montana, Ohio, California, Texas, West Virginia, Oregon, Indiana, New Jersey, Iowa, New York, and Virginia.

Miss Klauder, who is the daughter of Louis T. Klauder, 435 Camden avenue, was a member of Moorestown Friends' High School graduating class. She has already delivered her speech three times, at the oratorical contests in the Moorestown Presbyterian Church before the W. C. T. U. branch and at the Friends' School commencement.

Miss Klauder's essay, in full, follows:

"WORLD PEACE THROUGH TREATIES"

History is divided into ages marked specifically by some movement, outstanding in its nature and its results. Today, this movement is in behalf of international peace and the means through which this may be secured. We are thrown so closely together through discovery and invention, that all nations are in almost daily contact, and there is no longer any part of the earth so remote that it does not have interests in common with those geographically separated. Now is the crucial time, while universal interest is aroused, to cement the existing spirit of proximity and friendship by means of agreements and treaties.

The world is just recuperating from the throes of a terrible war, and that a ture war would be the "cemetery" of civilization is an acknowledged theory. "A war of airplanes, poison gas, and hate!" For the sake of our future generation, such a war must be averted, but how? Shall the world's answer to that question be "By Force" or "By Cooperation?"

Excessive Armaments Fail

The army and navy officials of our United States, very naturally deem it their duty to advocate preparedness. They assert that adequate military and naval equipment will insure the esteem and respect of the other countries. This policy is undeniably selfish and experience has proved that excessive armaments invariably lead to war. No nation has ever had military forces large enough to insure it both against attack in time of peace, and of victory in time of war. "There is no security for any power unless it be a security in which its neighbors have an equal share."

The alternative for preparedness is effective international machinery or world organization, which must be truly democratic in form. This would include a court and a representative body, both sustained by public approval; for machinery unsupported by sympathetic public opinion is worse than useless.

An international court of justice has long been recognized by American statesmen as the cornerstone of world peace, and it is evident to those who have made a study of the problem, that provision must be made for the adjustment of international controversies. The Permanent Court of Internal Justice, popularly called the World Court, is the type of tribunal required. President Coolidge and both the Democratic and Republican party platforms have endorsed a proposal that the United States join the World Court, provided that the Hughes Reservations are accepted by the other powers. These Reservations protect us from inadvertently joining the League of Nations.

League of Nations

The Court can deal with legal disputes and since the most dangerous controversies are political and economic rather than legal, the World Court alone will not end war. There must be some kind of league or association of nations for other disputes. Such an organization has been realized in the League of Nations, which, as yet, is only a beginning, but a definite and actual beginning, and greater things are expected of it in the near future. It is hindered by the article in its convenant which relies on coercion as the ultimate means of enforcing its decisions. With reservations on Articles Ten and Sixteen, America should join the league, for it is now making important decisions in which she should take part.

The world has long been accustomed to using treaties as a means of settling disputes, but to use them to forestall misunderstandings is a comparatively recent idea. Not long ago, when Monsieur Briand proposed a treaty between United States, it was generally supposed that this treaty would be satisfactory. But, our statesmen perceived, even though some of us cannot always comprehend their motives, that the suggested agreement was not precisely the type required, and consequently it was rejected. Our State Department has realized that, by the terms of this treaty, France wished us to be so bound to her that in the possibility of her going to war with another country, we should be her alley. Of course, France cannot conceive of herself as an aggressor, but other countries with an equal amount of national egotism are able to. Any agreement of the United States renouncing war with a single European power inevitably weigh the scales in favor of that power. The United States attempted to alter the agreement, but failed to do so to the satisfaction of France so a new treaty was arranged.

Friendship Treaty

This new treaty, to be used by this country as a model for similar pacts with many other nations of the world besides France, is a pledge of friendship rather than a treaty to outlaw war. Its purpose is to prevent any interruption of peaceful relations, and to promote the cause of arbitration in place of war as an instrument of international policy. This, though not a leap or bound, is a step toward universal amity.

In Nineteen Twenty-five a Conference was held at Locarno in which treaties were made between Germany, France and Belgium, each agreeing to respect the existing boundaries, not to attack the others, and to settle all disputes by peaceful methods. Great Britain and Italy guaranteed the aggressor, should any of the three violate the conditions. This treaty has set an example which other European countries are speedily following.

Progress Against War

Undoubtedly the World Court, League of Nations, and treaties mark great progress in the movement against war, but this machinery is powerless unless supported by staunch public opinion. It is for us and others who live in Republics to show our desire, for in this form of government the will of the majority must ultimately be respected. The decision of the patriots must be manifested by means of talk; talk in the press, talk from the soap box, talk from the pulpit, talk in the schoolroom, and talk in public meetings. This must be done in America particularly, for what is whispered in America today echoes and re-echoes throughout the civilized world. Co-operation must replace isolation; progressive world organization must replace international anarchy, and above all, the spirit of the team must replace grandstand playing and national egotism. Who does not feel himself individually impelled to voice his sentiments in behalf of peace when he hears the words on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington?

"Because you would not think,
O World, there is a better way to serve,
Justice and liberty, than thus to fling
The glory and the wonder of young lives
Beneath the hoofs of horses, You
others who must live
Shall do a harder thing than dying is—
For you shall think! And ghosts will drive you on."

MEYER—HAFNER

St. Stephen's Church, Riverside, was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings of the season, Saturday, June 23, when Miss Ida Mae Hafner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hafner, of Riverside, became the bride of Dr. Eugene A. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Meyer, of Lincoln avenue, Palmyra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in white satin and carried a bouquet of lillies and white roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. Elmer Christie, of Okanogan, Washington. She wore pink silk, a black picture hat and carried pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Marian Hafner, sister of the bride; Edna M. Scilly, cousin of the bride; Josephine E. Nelms and Margaret LeConey, all of Riverside.

The groom was attended by John H. Donelly, of Philadelphia, as best man. The ushers were Joseph Hafner and William Hafner, brothers of the bride; Dr. Austen Kimble, of West Philadelphia, and John Shasty, of Dumont, New Jersey.

Mrs. Anna Lusk, Riverside, sang "At Dawning" and "Oh! Perfect Love." The wedding march was played by C. P. Palphreyman, Palmyra. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip the young couple will reside at 68 East Main street, Moorestown, where Dr. Meyer has opened an office. Dr. Meyer is a graduate of Hahnemann Medical College and just completed his internership at the West Jersey Hospital, Camden.

The young couple are graduates of Palmyra High School and have a host of friends in this vicinity.

OLD CIGAR BOX SWINDLE WORKS ONCE MORE

Newark, N. J.—Frank Roberts reported he had been swindled out of $2,600, his life's savings, by two strangers he met in Lincoln Park. One told Roberts he had received a $7,000 legacy and suggested that they pool their resources.

All three put money in a cigar box. It was given to Roberts to hold. It contained scraps of paper!

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Holy Communion this coming Sunday morning at 11.15 and evening at 8.00. Please note the later time of the evening service. Communion about the table of the Lord should have that same enthusiastic attendance which we had at the series of special occasions during the month of June. "This do in remembrance of me." It is easy to forget during the summer months, and the attendance at the sacrament will make it easier to be true during the Sundays which follow, whether at home or away among Christians of another congregation. We are praying that God will put it into the hearts of each and every member to put Communion first among their engagements for the coming weekend.

This coming Saturday our annual First Lutheran picnic will be held at Knight's Park, Collingswood. A bus and a number of private cars will be at the church at ten o'clock in the morning to transport the children and their chaperons. All who are going in their own cars and have extra passenger space in their cars may help be of great service to the children, by stopping at the church at ten o'clock and taking as many children as they are able to accommodate.

We cannot too strongly impress upon our Sunday School and church members and their friends, the fact that a most unique and elaborate program of activities, especially of a humorous nature, will be carried out. There will be attractive prizes for the boys and girls who win events. Two baseball games are on the program, one for juniors and one for adults (between married and single men.) Prizes for adult contests, as for best lady whistler (any who smile in contesting are ineligible,) for the fattest man present, for the couple married the longest (in peace and happiness), and so on ad infinitum.

The dinner and supper are to be furnished by the Eden Bible Class at a price which is scarcely the cost of the food in its raw state. They are preparing for a good number of adults and should not be disappointed in this preparation. Children's tickets are half price of the nominally priced adult ticket. You'll have your best time at the picnic of all places you may go. Be there.

The Camden District Luther League convention will meet in our church this Thursday evening at eight o'clock. After the regular business transactions, our local league will entertain the visitors in the basement of the church. The little drama, "Stranded Strangers," will be repeated for their pleasure.

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

J. William Lee, Minister

The Church School will convene at 10 a. m.

Morning Worship at 11.15 a. m. Ministry of Music. "Melodie," Matthews; Invocation," Mailley; Anthem by the Choir; "Pomposo," Schuler. Holy Communion.

The Epworth League devotional meeting 6.45 p. m. Robert D. Coward, speaker. Topic "America First — In What?"

The meeting last Sunday was very helpful and the attendance greatly increased.

Evening Worship at 7.45 to 8.45 p. m. Ministry of Music. "Awakening," Engleman; Processional, "Lead On, O King Eternal"; Anthem by Choir; "Intermezzo," Kitelbery. Delightful song service. The new song books will be used. Sermon, "The Man Who Makes the Best of Himself."

Next Wednesday being a holiday there will be no prayer service.

First Quarterly Conference on Thursday, July 5, 7.45 p. m. Rev. S. G. Pitt, District Superintendent, presiding.

In your effort to make money are you sure that your principles are normally sound? If there is any doubt they are economically unsound.

Experts Working on Peach Problems

Burlington County Men Assist State Agricultural Experiment Station

The New Jersey State Horticultural Society will assist the State Agricultural Experiment Station to devise plans for distributing new varieties of peach trees developed on the experimental farm at New Brunswick.

A council of ten experienced peach growers has been appointed by John Hankinson, president of the society, at the request of M. A. Blake, horticulturist of the experiment station. The appointees are: Charles Barton, Marlton; A. Clinton Clement, Westville; Lester Collins, Moorestown; A. J. Farley, New Brunswick; Harry F. Hall, Moorestown; John Hankinson, Glen Moore; Robert Hulsart, Manasquan; Lloyd Lewis, Bridgeton; Laton Parkhurst, Hammonton; and Byron Roberts, Moorestown.

These men will attempt to solve the perplexing problem of determining the method by which trees of an approved new seedling shall be distributed to the growers. The horticultural division of the experiment station is not equipped to engage in the commercial distribution of peach stock, and many authorities believe that it is not the function of the station to engage in such a field. It is for this reason that a plan which will provide efficient distribution of the new varieties of peaches is considered desirable.

Another problem to be solved by the committee will be the determining of the nature and length of the orchard test to which a new variety of peach is to be subjected before it is approved for distribution to the fruit growers of the state.

Horticulturists have found that New Jersey greatly needs better commercial varieties of peaches than those now grown, and, as a result of large-scale operations, the experiment station has considerable numbers of new seedlings coming into bearing annually.

Calvary Presbyterian

C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold a morning service of worship next Sunday. The pastor will preach at this service. Sunday evening service will be discontinuted during July and August.

All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 o'clock in the morning, with the exception of the Men's Bible Class which will be discontinued during July and August.

The Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 7 o'clock Sunday evening in the Church School auditorium.

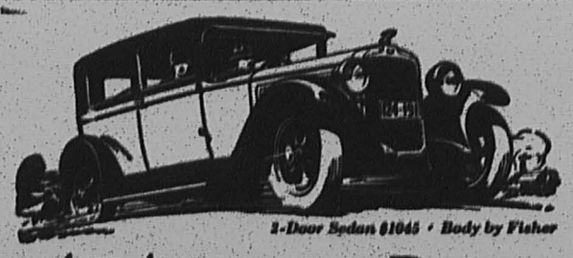

Owing to the inclement weather of last Friday the Church School picnic was postponed until tomorrow, Friday, the 29th. The buses will leave Riverton station at 10 and 1 o'clock for Knight's Park, Collingswood. The buses will also stop at Palmyra station. There will be a transportation charge of 35 cents for non-members of the Church School.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold a food sale tomorrow, the 29th, in the Roberts' Building, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Mid-week service will be discontinued during July and August.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold a meeting on Friday, July 6, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Matthews, Fourth and Elm avenue.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

So much beauty can be given to rooms through the use of attractive slip covers that it seems we should try our hands at making a set for the summer home.

Printed linens, chintz, cretonnes in quaint floral patterns are ideal for the purpose, and need not be expensive, so long as coloring and design are good.

Lay material over chairs or sofa, tuck well into corners, crease and pin according to the outlines of the furniture. Cut from the pattern you have molded, allowing a half-inch for seams. Fold seams back, lay pieces on furniture again and pin together so they fit snugly. Remove cover, baste and stitch with a "welt seam" on the right side, allowing a six-inch opening at each side in back so the cover can be slipped on and off.

Eggs With Macaroni

A substantial luncheon dish.

A half cup milk, a tablespoon butter or margarine, a half cup canned mushrooms, a cup cold boiled macaroni, two eggs, a half teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Heat milk in a double boiler, add the butter or margarine, mushrooms, cut fine and macaroni, then the eggs, well beaten. Stir for ten minutes and serve.

When Children Become Finicky

When Sonny and Sister become tired of eggs, prunes, spinach or carrots—four of their most wholesome foods—try preparing them in the form of a fancy gelatin dessert or salad. Use fruit flavors for dessert combinations, and lemon-flavored gelatin for salads. Mold in fancy shapes and see how welcome they are.

Saves in the End

In preserving according to new methods the use of pectin may be specified in recipes. Although these new recipes require more sugar (either beet or cane), the yield in finished jellies and jams is much greater, and the cooking time many minutes less.

Takes Place of Eggs in Cakes

A dessert-spoonful of vinegar added to a cup of milk will answer the same purpose as two eggs in cake making. Prepared cake flour should be used in this, as in all cake recipes, to insure lightness and uniform success.

When Baking Peppers

To keep peppers whole when baking, place them in buttered muffin tins, and when ready for serving, remove with the aid of two large spoons.

Let the children thread a package of needles on the loose ends of your spool of thread and fasten the thread under the notch in the spool. Then you will have a dozen threaded needles to use when sewing.

MOUNT HOLLY MERCHANT FILES BANKRUPTCY PLEA

Israel Rosenthal, of Mount Holly, listed assets at $1,125 and liabilities of $3,269.76 in a petition for bankruptcy given in its first hearing before Referee Thomas L. Gaskill, Camden, last week. Rosenthal said he had been bankrupt once before, in 1905. He said he opened a women's and men's furnishing store at 61 Main street, Mount Holly, on September 19, 1927. He said business depression had "forced him to the wall." A further hearing will be held this week.

OVERDOSE OF TONIC COSTS DRY AGENT JOB

Newark, N. J.—Thomas R. Bailey, prohibition agent, was discharged after being brought to court for driving an automobile while drunk.

Dr. E. U. Helistein testified when Bailey was discharged that he had prescribed a tonic for the dry agent, which was highly alcoholic, and Bailey had taken an overdose.

"We wasn't playing marbles, ma. We just had a fight an' I was helpin' Eddie to pick up his teeth."

Moorestown Pool Has New Schedule

Summer Changes Call for Free Periods for Boys and Girls

The Moorestown Community House announces its summer swimming schedule which includes two free periods for children. According to the new schedule, the boys have a free period Monday mornings, 11 to 12 o'clock, and the girls have the use of the natatorium Thursday mornings, 11 to 12 o'clock, without charge.

The new program also calls for a large number of mixed periods. The pool is open for mixed swimming Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. There are also mixed periods four afternoons of the week.

Monday—11.00-12.00, boys' free swim; 3.00-5.00, girls; 8.30-10.30, mixed.

Tuesday—11.00-12.00, girls' free swim; 3.00-5.00, boys; 8.30-10.30, mixed.

Wednesday — 3.00-5.00, mixed; 8.30-10.30, mixed.

Thursday — 2.00-3.00, lessons; 3.00-5.00, mixed; 8.30-10.30, mixed.

Friday — 2.30-5.00, mixed; 7.30-10.30, mixed.

Saturday — 10.00-11.00, lessons; 11.00-12.00, tots; 3.00-5.00, mixed; 7.30-9.30, men and boys.

Swimming at Water Works Park 11.00 a. m. to 9.00 p. m., daily and Sundays. Thursday afternoons reserved for the colored people.

To be an artist in any chosen vocation he must be occupied that this action is delightful both in the process and the result, and not because his actions are performed under brutal compulsion of keeping alive.

Plan Before You Build

Many people make the mistake of not planning carefully before they start to build and their errors cost them money. One of the first things to consider is the kind of house you want.

Let us help you plan the "layout and design" of the building you will call home. If your home is built to suit YOU it will mean more towards happiness during the time you live in it.
