THRILLS GALORE AT BIG AIR MEET PLANNED BY CLUB

Burlington County Aero Unit's Dedication to be Specta- cular Event

CROSS-COUNTRY DERBY WINNER WILL ATTEND

Rowland and Burgin Join the Long List of Celebrities Expected

Every day brings more convincing proof that the Burlington County Aero Club's big meet and air races, a feature of the dedication of the Moorestown airport, will be one of the most thrilling and spectacular events ever held in this section of New Jersey.

Weather permitting, it cannot help but surpass, by far, the fondest hopes of those in charge. In fact, everything points to the most sweeping itself along to a most brilliant finish. Interest is widespread and the prospects of the event are more than "holding their own" with the presidential campaign as the chief topic for conversation.

Evidence of the fact that it is one of the most widely advertised air meets ever held in the country is shown by the fact that Earl Rowland, winner of the Class A race of the recent New York-Los Angeles air derby heard of it on the west coast. Immediately upon his return to New York Mr. Rowland communicated with H. H. Longaker, president of the club, and chairman of the race-making for the coming year. Club officials are confident Rowland will fly to the meet in his record-breaking Conquest biplane.

Another famous filer to enter is "Hard Luck" Emil Burgin, Burgin was one of the non-stop entries in the New York-Los Angeles race, but as his name implies, suffered some "hard luck" and was forced down in Texas. He will fly to the meet in the Tide Water Oil Sales Company's Bellanca plane.

The original estimate that forty ships would be at Burlington County's first airport Saturday and Sunday, October 13 and 14, the days of the meet, is now considered ultra conservative. The chief worry of the officials today is accommodations for the numerous fliers who seek to enter.

Mr. Longaker has just received word that the races are to receive world-wide recognition. The meet has been sanctioned by the National Aeronautical Association and R. Sanford Salus, Jr., who had already been selected as the starter, has been designated as the official representative of the body.

luncheon which is to precede the meet. This will be held Saturday in the Moorestown Community House, starting promptly at noon, and the public is invited to attend. This will be the public's only opportunity to get a "close-up" of the famous fliers. All of the visiting pilots will be introduced.

Another feature is the beautiful fifteen-minute movie program which is being published under the direction of Bradway Brown and former Senator Emmor Roberts. It will contain nearly fifty local pictures, a history of the club, a complete list of the events and entries and much other interesting information. As a special attraction, free rides will be offered holders of certain programs. Each program will be numbered and for four weeks after the meet a list of numbers will be published in the newspapers of the county. Those holding programs with these numbers will be given a free airplane ride upon presenting the program at the club's field that week-end.

The events scheduled for Saturday afternoon include two special "free for all" civilian races, National Guard and Army, Navy and Marine Corps races, a parachute jumping contest "dead stick landings" and a special parachute jumping exhibition. Sunday afternoon will be devoted to stunt flying.

Through the courtesy and co-operation of the U. S. Air Corps, the U. S. Army, the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Marine Corps, the following special events will be held:

tion of Loren B. Smith, chief entomologist at the Japanese Beetle Laboratory, Moorestown, the club will be supplied with up-to-the-minute weather reports which will give flying conditions for all of the eastern section of the country. This is an unusual service which very few clubs are able to enjoy and the unit deeply appreciated the splendid spirit of co-

H. B. Baldwin, a trustee of the Aero Club of Atlantic City, was a guest at the club's meeting Monday night. Mr. Baldwin's organization has a larger membership than the Burlington County unit's, but has not as yet been able to obtain a ship, while the local club has two brand new planes and two members who own individual planes in addition. He came up to "learn the secret to success" and decided Burlington County must really be "airminded" for its club "outclasses any similar organization in America." Mr. Baldwin is also superintendent of Atlantic City's airport and announced that several commercial planes from Atlantic City are planning to attend the meet. Such reports are coming from all over the country.

PRINCIPAL WELL SATISFIED WITH SCHOOL PROGRESS

Eckert Makes Encouraging Report and Thanks Board for Cooperation

COMPLIMENTS TEACHERS FOR THEIR EFFICIENCY

Tuition Rates and Payment by Outside Districts Are Discussed

Supervisor Principal Paul Y. Eckert made a very encouraging report to the progress being made by the Palmyra schools at the meeting of the Board of Education last Thursday night.

Mr. Eckert said he was agreeably surprised by the large number of efficient teachers on the staff and said with but few exceptions he was well pleased with the school's personnel.

The Supervisor took the occasion to express his appreciation of the cooperation extended to him by the Board and said this was a great help to him in his administration of school affairs.

The subject of tuition came up for discussion again, and members of the Board were of the opinion that since the cost per pupil in the high school was $125.00 per annum, outside districts should pay this much in tuition. The present rate is $100.

The clerk was instructed to get in touch with other Boards in the county who are taking tuition pupils and arrange for a meeting to discuss this question.

In the past some of the sending districts have been delinquent in paying tuition making it necessary for the Palmyra Board to borrow money and pay interest on it while waiting for outside funds to be paid.

At the August meeting officers of the state department were present and recommended that pupils be excluded if their boards failed to pay the tuition when due. The law on this subject was referred to and it was found the local board had full authority to impose these conditions.

This method is said to have been very effective in other school districts in the state. It is pointed out that the sending boards are to make payments rather than have their pupils barred.

Student Government

The student government committee reported that no further steps had been taken owing to the change in supervision. Professor Eckert was asked for his opinion on the subject and replied that he was very much in favor of it. The Professor will meet with the committee later to discuss the application of student government to the school.

The property committee reported the old buildings on Spring Garden street had been wired for electricity. Shubert will be ordered for the lawn in front of the high school by the end of the month.

The enrollment this year in the high school is the same as last year, 40, with 209 tuition pupils at present. The graded schools shown an increase of 13 pupils, 819 now against 806 at this time last year. There are 44 tuition pupils in the graded schools.

New Teachers Elected

Two new teachers were selected by the teachers committee at the beginning of the term, owing to the emergency existing from unexpected vacancies. They were formally elected by the Board at Thursday's meeting. They are Miss Viola M. Price, third grade teacher, and William Plank, who takes the place of Russell L. Tiroff, who resigned without notice shortly before the opening of school.

A protest was entered with the state department when Tiroff resigned without notice as required by his contract. A letter was read from the department stating that he had been barred from teaching in New Jersey for two years.

ANOTHER NEW CUB IN DEN OF LIONS

Joseph F. Yearly is Duly Initiated Into Mysteries of Palmyra-Riverton Organization

Another new cub was initiated into the Palmyra-Riverton Lions last Tuesday evening. The latest "Roarer" is Joseph F. Yearly, of the Joseph T. Evans Company, Riverton. Joseph gave a life-sized initiation vocally of the King of Beasts and was duly admitted into the inner shrine of the local den.

Two guests were present from the Merchantsville club with which the local organization has always had the most pleasant relations. They were the president, Dr. B. E. Blankenhush, and the secretary-treasurer, H. Mark Reeve.

In addition to these guests, the club was honored by the presence of the Deputy District Governor, Russell Moore, of the Camden Club.

Dr. Blankenhush invited the Palmyra-Riverton club to hold an inter-club meeting with Merchantsville at their den on Thursday, October 25. The invitation was accepted with enthusiasm. Audubon and Oaklyn Lions are also expected to attend the joint meeting.

Further plans were laid at the meeting for the Halloween celebration, for which the movie benefit was held last night and this (Thursday) evening.

MARY M. BARRY

Mrs. Mary M. Barry, 61 years old, died at her home in Baltimore last Wednesday. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the St. Anne's Catholic Church, Baltimore, Md. Burial was in St. Anne's cemetery, Baltimore.

The deceased was the wife of James Barry and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sarah Barry, of 729 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra.

Legionnaires' Serenade Surprises Rex MacCrosson and Sets Twin Towns Agog

Post Rodgers' Drum and Bugle Corps and Members and Visitors from Other Posts Honor New Vice Commander "A la Lindbergh"

Last Friday afternoon Palmyra and Riverton were dressed in gala attire without anyone apparently knowing the reason therefor, not even Legion State Vice Commander Rex MacCrosson, who it was later found was the one who had unknowingly caused the twin towns to don holiday attire.

Rex caused the celebration by getting himself so well liked by his fellow Legionnaires that they elected him State Vice Commander at the recent convention in Bridgeton. When a Legionnaire is popular enough to be elected to an important office his buddies in his own Post are not going to let it pass unnoticed—absolutely not.

"He didn't ask Rex if he would like them to give a party in his honor—that wouldn't have been half so much fun. Instead they arranged to have the new Vice Commander de-loused at a certain address, so he would be on hand when wanted; and then went about their plans quietly—ever so quietly."

Action Not So Quiet

In fact the only quiet thing about the whole affair was the quiet cause when action started it started with the blare of bugles and the roll of drums. Said bugle and drums being caused to emit music by the members of Post Rodgers' Drum and Bugle Corps as it paraded, followed by members of the local and visiting Posts from all over the county, to the house where, as aforesaid, Rex was being de-loused.

Rex didn't know all the celebration was for his own special benefit and was certainly taken unawares when the big parade stopped before the door. He was called out and had the news broken to him gently. All he could say was—nothing—but only for a minute. As the whole story dawned upon him he became himself again—all smiles and ready for what was to come—whatever it might be.

Parades to Riverton

He soon found out as he was led to an open car and hidden enter the tunnel, where he was seated "a la Lindbergh" and escorted by his buddies made a triumphant tour to Riverton and returned to the Legion House which had been decorated for the occasion with banners and flood lights.

After the procession reached its destination County Commander Jack Whimsley, of Riverside, took charge in the parade. He introduced Rex in a manner appropriate to the occasion and the new Vice Commander made one of his characteristic talks in appreciation of the honors bestowed upon him by his fellow Legionnaires.

Auxiliary Represented

Frank A. Matthews, Past State Commander, was called upon and made a short address. The Auxiliary was also represented by speeches from Miss Minnie Ivins, County President, and Mrs. A. B. Woot, president of the Riverside unit and also state historian and chairman of the county rehabilitation committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. MacCrosson, parents of the new Vice Commander, were introduced to the crowd amid prolonged applause.

After the ceremonies which were held on the porch of the Legion Home the members and visitors were called in to partake for a tasty repast, prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary, and to enjoy themselves among their buddies during a "wildcat hour."

PALMYRA RED CROSS REPORT

Approaches $900 Quota for Hurricane Sufferers; Over $500 Collected to Date

Engaged in the greatest relief task ever undertaken, the American Red Cross, with the co-operation of the War and Navy Departments, and the material support of our generous countrymen, is bringing succor to the hurricane-stricken people of Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the east coast of Florida.

The horror of the inundation of whole villages and the drowning of thousands of their inhabitants around Lake Okeechobee, Florida, is still an appalling thing, and thousands in that area are being cared for. But in Porto Rico more than half a million people are entirely dependent on the generosity of the American people through the Red Cross. A greater proportion of the population has been affected than in any other disaster we have been called upon to serve.

Of the vast sum needed for this task, Palmyra Branch of the American Red Cross has been asked to contribute only $900.00. Up to the date of this writing $532.27 has been contributed. Of this amount the Boy Scouts collected $84.02. The Branch takes this opportunity to thank the Scouts for their work and interest.

ROTARIANS HEAR REV. WILLIAM LEE

Inspiring Address on "Fellowship" Much Appreciated by the Club

The Fellowship Committee of the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club, comprising Thomas W. Beideman, Edwin Fish and Clarence Hubbs, in whose charge was the last meeting of the club, made a wise selection for the speaker of the evening when they secured the services of the Rev. William Lee, pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church, of Palmyra.

The Rev. Lee was in his usual form and his discourse was very appropriate in that his topic was "Fellowship." His address was all inspiring for in it he recalled the many prominent names in the world's history in which were depicted magnanimous acts prompted solely by the spirit of "fellowship."

The meeting last week was exceptionally well attended, there being nearly 100 per cent. present. Thus signifying an increased interest and a good start for the fall and winter season.

Following the meeting, the board of directors met and among some of the important matters discussed was that of the "Florida Relief." It was the unanimous vote of the board that the club contribute immediately to the fund and every member be extended this privilege also.

DR. FREDERIC C. WITTE

Dr. Frederic C. Witte died early Thursday morning at his apartment at The Maples, Main street, Riverton. The doctor had not been in good health for sometime, but was only seriously ill three days.

Dr. Witte was a son of Dr. E. B. Witte, a prominent physician of Trenton. He was a graduate of the Bordentown Military Academy, Princeton University and Hahnemann Medical College. In 1911 he purchased the practice of Dr. L. L. Sharp, of Palmyra. The doctor lived in Palmyra for a time and later moved to Main street, Riverton, where he lived and practiced for a number of years. He also established an office in Riverside. In April of this year he married Miss Catherine Sontheimer, of Riverton, and took an apartment at The Maples.

Services were conducted by the Rev. M. P. Fikes, of Trenton, Saturday morning at the Snover Funeral Home. Interment was made at Belvidere.

ILLUSTRATED TALK ON AIR COMPRESSION

Pupils in Palmyra High School Show How Mechanical "Device" Work

A demonstration and talk on compressed air was given at the Palmyra High School last Thursday to the freshmen classes in physics and general science by Earle Bowen, of Delaware.

The speaker used cut-away models of compressors which gave the pupils a very clear idea of how air is compressed for the inflation of tires and the operation of various kinds of machinery.

Mr. Bowen is selling air compressors, paint spray equipment, high pressure car washers and flexible shaft equipment for grinding, buffing and sanding, and also for polishing cars. He is giving these demonstrations in the very splendid lecture

VERY MYSTERIOUS

"Mystic Lloyds" will be presented in the K. of C. Hall, Saturday night, October 13. This play is described as "a night in magic land full of fun and mystery," and is said to be entirely different from anything ever presented in Riverton or Palmyra. There will be plenty of laughs and heaps of thrills, and special features have been incorporated in the program for the children.

The titles of some of the acts are: "The Lady and the Swords," "The Girl and the Hoop," "Spirit Silks," "Flight of Time," "The Great Turbidity Mystery," "The Funny Rabbit," "Dino and the Box" and many other mystifying exhibitions.

Tickets, 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS RECEPTION

Hear Lecture on Alaska; Other Speakers Stress Value of Cooperation

Professor D. E. Thompson, school principal of Jersey City, gave a very interesting talk on "The Land of Alaska," at a reception tendered to the teachers by the Palmyra Board of Education in the grammar school auditorium last Wednesday evening.

Professor Thompson is a personal friend of Supervisor Eckert and through his efforts the teachers and board were privileged to hear his very splendid lecture.

Mrs. Herbert Snyder, of Philadelphia, sang a beautiful soprano solo which was enjoyed very much and many words have since been spoken in praise of her voice. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Alfred VanOsten.

Miss Margaret Stockdale, one of the high school girls, rendered some very fine piano solos and played the piano for dancing in the gymnasium later in the evening.

After the program in the auditorium refreshments were served in the cafeteria. George Glover, chairman of the teachers' committee made a short talk in which he called upon the teachers and board members to get together as one happy family and work together for the good of the school.

He then called upon various ones for speeches. Professor Eckert made a brief talk in which he expressed his appreciation of the unanimous cooperation of the teachers and the full support of the board. Miss Brower, assistant principal, was called on and further expressed the desire of the teachers to work for the best interests of the school. Each member of the board made timely remarks along the same lines.

County Superintendent Kaser discussed schools in general and told his listeners of the advantages accruing elsewhere from the close cooperation between the various units of the educational system.

The philosophers tell us to follow the footprints of great men, but we need more time following the tire prints of the automobile speeders.

Honesty Is The Best Policy

If someone offered you a $10.00 gold piece for $5.00 what would you do? You wouldn't take it. You would become suspicious immediately, because $10.00 in gold is worth its equivalent anywhere. You would think the gold is not genuine, or there is a trick or scheme attached to the proposition.

If someone takes money out of your pocket he goes to jail, but if he overcharges more than what the article is actually worth its business. We disapprove of such methods. We believe honesty is the best policy.

George Washington is still remembered for his honesty in cutting down the cherry tree. Abraham Lincoln is still remembered as Honest Abe. We are inspired by such great men and will use their policies as our guide.

We are not going to offer you $10.00 worth of service for $5.00 and have you become suspicious. We will give $10.00 worth, or any amount for full value that will inspire you with confidence.

COLORED VOTERS NOT DEMOCRATS

Active Workers' Committee Colored Republicans of Burlington Co. Plan Drive

The Active Workers' Committee of the colored Republicans of Burlington county, which played such an active and clean-cut part in the primaries last spring, is now preparing to put forth a real effort in the general election this fall. We are prepared to refute and deny the already published statements of some of the colored voters (some of whom live in Riverton, Burlington and elsewhere) that the predominant number of colored voters will vote the Democratic ticket this election.

It is noticeable that the men who have made this statement are members of a chartered Republican organization which still has its charter, and these same men last spring in the primaries voted the Republican ballot for Republican candidates and now are supporting the opposite party, of course for a consideration.

The Active Workers' Committee intend to prove during the coming week of October 1-6 we intend to hold each night a meeting in some town of the county for colored voters with leading white and colored citizens on the platform to put forth the strong and unbeatable program of the Republican organization.

There are very few colored voters even considering the possibility of the Democratic ticket, much less actually voting it. The Active Workers' Committee being composed of colored voters who are mostly engaged in business for themselves appreciate what it will mean for the already well established prosperity and excellent opportunity for advancement for all who strive to be lost at this time all over the county.

The first meeting the Active Workers' Committee in its drive for the campaign, was held in Riverton on Monday and was attended by many. We invite the attention of all sane minded citizens of both races to help us make the issues clear to the colored voters and to oppose all who bolt because of pecuniary gain.

The Active Workers' Committee at present is entirely financing its own work for the campaign, as a proof of the sincerity of its members, and their purpose to establish the colored voters' character to all as being above money getting.

Rumors of Big Fund
It is rumored around Riverton and elsewhere that the Democratic party will spend $7000 among the colored voters and there are those in our township who are ready to risk everything, even honor, to get a hold on this vast bounty, and that they have already done so, as attested by their utterances as published in the Camden Courier recently.

Let some one approach these same citizens with an offer of slightly more and they will readily desert, the "missing link" party and run back to the fold. The Active Workers' Committee are out to put an end to this sort of politician, which purpose we declared and executed in the primaries last spring much to their consternation.

We again assert and will prove the statement, that the majority of the colored votes will be Democratic, is a falsehood and without any proof whatever and contrary to the intent and desires of the colored people of Burlington county. We intend to carefully watch these quick change artists and to expose them by name and deed whenever we catch them, that all may know. Yours for an active and honest campaign, the Active Workers' Committee of the Colored Republican Voters of Burlington County.

DAVIS GETS ASSISTANT

Prosecutor James Mercer Davis, of Ocean county, has secured the appointment of Percy Camp, of the River County, as his assistant in the handling of grand jury cases. Mr. Davis said that on account of the pressure of court business he had not felt that he could take a vacation this year, that he had handled 100 complaints before the late spring grand jury and had 170 for the consideration of the September grand jury. Justice Lloyd said that he had personal knowledge of the amount of work put on Mr. Davis' office and the selection of Mr. Camp was perfectly satisfactory to him. The compensation is to be fixed at a later date.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Holy Communion will be celebrated at the hour of morning worship, 11:15 this coming Sunday. Mr. Lee Milton, who has but recently returned from an extended trip to Europe, will direct the choir in its special rendition. The full communion service will be used.

In connection with the communion service, the rite of baptism will be administered. Those having infants whom they desire to have christened should present them at this morning service.

The sacrament will be given at the vesper service also, when a short sermon will be preached by the pastor and special music rendered by our choir. This service will be at 7:45, the regular hour for all but the summer months.

The primary, junior, intermediate, and adult departments extend a hearty welcome to new classes which have entered these departments, either by promotion or organization. The title of lesson is "Paul in Ephesus."

Rally Day will be a very successful occasion. By leaps and bounds the school is going forward, judging from the spirit of that day. Our school is growing. Go to it. Grow with it. Luther League will hold its devotional session Sunday evening at 8:45. Miss Rebekah Buchholz will be the leader. Topic: "Workers Together With God." I Cor. 3:1-9.

Our League has won the banner for the general South Jersey district, and was awarded same at our last rally in Gloucester. One hundred percent of the regularly enrolled membership were present at this rally, and several visitors. The Luther League is a going concern, which is going forward to a definite goal. Every young man or woman, who is either a member or friend of First Lutheran Church, should be a loyal member of the League.

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a chicken and waffle supper on Friday evening, November 16, from six to eight o'clock. A cake sale and bazaar will be conducted in connection with the supper. Owing to unavoidable circumstances the oyster supper formerly announced for October 26, will not be given.

Keep Friday, November 16 open for the big supper.

ODD FELLOWS VISIT MEDFORD

Attend Enthusiastic "Boosters" Meeting: Former Palmyrian is Speaker

The Odd Fellows of Palmyra, being determined that their home town should always be kept at the front, sent two car loads of "rooters" to the boosters' meeting held at Medford last Friday evening.

The "Boosters" were Herbert Richman, Ellsworth Hall, Edwin Fish, Harry Fish, Chris Rudolph, Fred Fred, Sr., Charles Friberg, Edson Carhart, Ella Roach and Joseph Seel.

To their surprise they found the Rev. Fred W. Meeks, pastor of Tabernacle M. E. Church and a former Palmyrian, was the speaker of the evening.

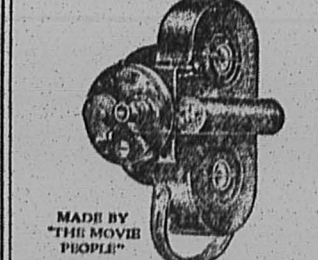

The Rev. Meeks gave a very interesting address, president of the boosters' association and supervising principal of the Bridgeboro schools, commented on the great spirit inculcated into the meeting by the Palmyra delegation.

Then, as a social feature, the Bell Telephone Company, placed on the screen an hour of instructive as well as amusing motion pictures illustrating the development, use and care of our national forests. This feature was directed by William Botter, of Riverton.

REPUBLICAN BANNER

AGAIN ON DISPLAY

The big Hoover-Curtis banner is again very much in evidence at the intersection of Palmyra's principal thoroughfares. It was taken down several days ago by Public Service employees who said they had had instructions to remove anything attached to the company's poles.

A letter was later received confirming their action stating it was against the company's policy to allow its poles to be used for such purposes.

The Palmyra Republican Club had a pole erected at its own expense Wednesday morning near the one to which the banner had formerly been attached.

RUSSELL McCARTY

Russell, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Carolyn McCarty, of Germantown, was taken ill Friday and died Monday night. The funeral will be held this Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. McCarty formerly lived in Palmyra and Russell is a nephew of J. Russell Jermon, of Riverton.

43RD CONVENTION HELD BY WCTU

Interesting Program Marks All Day Session at Mount Holly

The forty-third annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Burlington County was held in the Methodist Church, Mount Holly, Thursday of last week with Mrs. Caroline Engle Blair as presiding officer. The program provided for a morning, afternoon and evening session.

An interesting feature of the decorations for the occasion was a display of many prize winning posters which had been made by school children of the county. These posters were to illustrate different aspects of the wet and dry situation in the United States and showed marked ability in design and execution.

After the opening exercises the Rev. Harrison Decker, pastor of the M. E. Church gave an able address in which he welcomed the ladies of the convention, and encouraged them in the work they are trying to accomplish.

Various reports were made and the president, Mrs. Blair, gave her annual address. She stressed the need there is for every one who favors prohibition to vote at the coming election in November for the man for President who can be trusted to give the 18th Amendment its whole hearted and sympathetic support. New Jersey is included in the small group of states which are regarded as not strongly in favor of prohibition. This makes the situation serious and the duty to vote right imperative.

Election of officers resulted in the following: Mrs. Caroline Engle Blair, Mount Holly, president; Miss Kate F. Kimble, Lumberton, vice-president; at large, Mrs. Ella P. Haines, Evesboro, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Caroline S. E. Wills, Marlton, recording secretary; and Mrs. Florence Wimmer, Marlton, treasurer.

Mrs. Nina G. Prantz of Moorestown gave an interesting account of some of the outstanding points in connection with her trip to Lausanne, Switzerland, and the Worlds W. C. T. U. convention held there last summer.

NEWARK MAN BECOMES DRY ADMINISTRATOR

Edwin P. Ross, of Newark, who last week was appointed prohibition administrator for New Jersey, is the third administrator New Jersey has had since it was separated from the district of Eastern Pennsylvania in 1926. Ross has been in the bureau for more than four years, serving most of that period as an inspector in the permit division. When the prohibition department was placed under Civil Service, he took the examination for administrator and received the highest rating.

COUNTY ENTRIES WIN FAIR HONORS

Young Stock Owners Capture Fine Positions in Cattle Show

Burlington County club members figured very largely in the wards in the cattle show at the Trenton Fair Wednesday of last week.

Melba Jackson, daughter of A. R. Jackson, of Columbus, carried off the grand prize for club members for her showmanship after she had won the first honor on this same basis in the Holstein show in which she participated. This is quite a standing to reach in a show like the one held at Trenton, which County Agent Charles A. Thompson thinks is about the best exhibition of cattle he has ever seen at the Inter-State Fair. The showmanship award came in competition with 150 entrants in various classes and handling various breeds. Miss Jackson got second honor for her four-year Holstein cow, Martha Washington Radium.

In the Guernsey class Ruth, Ella and Richard Lippincott, children of J. Hansell Lippincott, of near Moorestown, carried off the first, second and third prizes in the order named in the four-year-old Guernsey Club class. Mabel Lippincott, another daughter, got fifth on her Junior Yearling Guernsey. Ella Lippincott got fourth on her Senior Yearling and Ruth Lippincott got fifth on her Senior Yearling.

Burlington county exhibitors got second prize in the Guernsey herd show.

The Bordentown Industrial School got fourth prize on a four-year Holstein cow.

The big honor among the adult exhibitors went to S. R. Matlack's Locust Lane Farm, at Medford, managed by A. H. Forgythe. The Locust Lane bull, Wilma Hardwick, was awarded the Junior Championship. This is considered the highest honor in the show. Mr. Matlack got the silver cup for the best bull shown and owned by a breeder in the state.

DANCE CAPS IN GOLD

For dining, dancing or the theatre the very latest conceit is the snug little cap of metallic crocheted woven to fit the head as tightly as a skull cap. Usually the braid pattern is swirled in great rosettes at each ear, while the balance of the cap is knitted in a straight mesh weave.

P. S. EARNINGS CLIMB

The First Step

The first step toward a business or financial success is a bank account.

There are certain mental qualities necessary, of course, but no one ever made the grade who did not have some funds to call on.

And experience has taught that the best place to keep money is in a bank.

HENRY FORD PICTURES NEW HOOVER ERA OF PROSPERITY Binghamton (N. Y.) Press

Henry Ford declares in a new interview released through the North American Newspaper Alliance, that Herbert Hoover will be elected President because he peculiarly fits the scheme of things now and the bigger scheme of things for the immediate future. He prophesies the greatest industrial development the world ever has known.

Next year the Ford plant will "produce 10,000 automobiles a day and sell them all." Mr. Ford says, "we could sell 20,000 a day just as easily, if we could produce them."

Mr. Ford, in effect, tells people who think this country is at the peak of a successful industrial age they are in for a tremendous surprise. The nation is on the verge of what he terms
"an industrial and comfortable age" that will exceed the finest of the men and women. And Mr. Hoover is the prophet of this new age, the first great government leader of that age, the first example of the new type of statesman.

Mr. Ford finds prohibition is only "froth in the campaign that will wash off, like a stale joke." He believes the country is permanently dry; that it will become dryer with more rigid enforcement; that the country has defi-

Mr. Hoover is just the man the country needs today "to clear the way for the greatest industrial development the world has ever known." Manufacturers and business men are set for the unparalleled prosperity that is ready to burst into flower.
Mr. Ford insists. The hydro-electric power men "have plans for developing American water powers and hooking up all of them together into one great system to serve the whole nation with cheap and abundant power."

When this development is accomplished Mr. Ford pictures electricity doing a good share of the drudgery of farm and town—electric cooking and lighting for all the people; mechanical refrigeration; electric washing machines, sweepers and churns; all sorts of farm machinery driven by power; easier life, greater comfort for all the people from the highest to the lowest.

Mr. Ford sees in Mr. Hoover a super-engineer and statesman thoroughly experienced in the affairs of our own government and in the affairs of all the governments of the world. He believes Mr. Hoover is called, as by Providence, for the great task. He is confident Mr. Hoover will be commissioned by the electorate in November to lead the new march of Successful America.

HOOVER AND THE NEW AGE

Fat volumes by the hundreds have been written about the industrial revolution which began nearly one hundred years ago when the machine first made its appearance as a factor in manufacturing. But more closely at hand, and within the last seven and one half years, the United States has passed through a new industrial revolution which has almost escaped observation.

It remained for Herbert Hoover, in his Newark address, to analyze this new movement, whose fruits have been the re-employment of some millions of men, the development of new and gigantic industries, a mobilization of the commercial and manufacturing facilities of the nation and, most important of all, a general increase in the American sense of wages. The result of this new industrial revolution has been one of the most important, our exports have grown tremendously, our exports have increased 50 per cent, or more than a billion dollars, over pre-war figures.

Mr. Hoover discusses any attempt to take credit on behalf of the revolution. He points out that the improvement "through the enterprise, energy and character of our people." His attitude is a gracious one, but it is rather clear that no small part of the improvement is due to the wise policies of government which have been put into effect during the administration of President Coolidge. When Republican candidates were swept into office in the elections of 1920, world trade was demoralized, business in the United States was headed for collapse and between five and six millions of workers were unemployed.

Immediate measures of relief were needed, and immediate relief was granted. The administration adopted a policy calling for the construction of necessary public works without delay, it inaugurated a conference on unemployment, it extended the facilities of the government to honest business, it instituted a sound, protective tariff. The result was a revitalizing of the commercial life of the United States. Within a year five million men were returned to their jobs. In the last year before the war our exports were less than $250,000,000. In 1922, the first full year of Republican administration, they had increased to $2,730,000,000 and last year they were $3,- 840,000,000, on the basis of pre-war values.

"This is proof of real progress. It is the road to further progress. It is the road to abolition of poverty," as Mr. Hoover so well said in his Newark speech.

SMITH IN A HOLE ON THE TARIFF

Governor Smith scarcely could have blundered more disastrously, if he had made a deliberate attempt to do so, than by his endorsement in his acceptance speech of the Democratic principle back of the Underwood tariff bill.

All the world knows the fiasco of that alleged "revenue-producing" measure. Instead of accomplishing what its author and other Democratic leaders prophesied for it, there resulted an almost immediate decrease of customs revenues and a period of business depression before the law had been in operation a year, which was checked from far more serious consequences only by the outbreak of the World War and the demand for American products produced thereby.

If Governor Smith keeps on talking about the tariff, Democratic spellbinders will have a hard time, in fact it will find it impossible to keep alive in Democratic breasts the myth of prosperity and good times for the American workmen under their parties tariff scheme. Facts always catch up with fancy; and if the Governor would keep known facts a little closer in mind when he indulges his fancy in hoped-for benefits from a Democratic-for-revenue-only, he would not embarrass his party and its leaders so much.

Of course if Governor Smith believes,
as some one asserted on one occasion, that business depression "is merely a psychological state of mind," and not a reality, it would not matter how much revenue was coming in from customs collections or how serious such depression might be. But if business is to be looked on as a practical proposition, involving the economic welfare of the entire nation, then the question of the tariff assumes an entirely different phase.

There is nothing "psychological" about a deficit in the Treasury resulting from dwindling customs receipts. There is nothing "psychological" about unemployment of American workmen in numerous industries due to the dumping in the United States of the products of cheap foreign labor, with which manufacturers in this country cannot compete.

The Democratic nominee cannot square the principle of the Underwood tariff bill which he says would be his and his party's goal, with any practical working out of an economic system which will permit the American workman to continue enjoying the wages and the comforts of life to which he is accustomed.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

The Empty North

One of the most striking passages of that ancient collection of literature known as the Bible is, "He hangeth the north over an empty place." It is found in the Book of Job.

The queer part of it is that astron-omically the north is a somewhat empty place. In a measure you can see for yourself that there are not many stars in that direction.

All this is called to mind when we read of General Noble's flight over the Pole a short time ago. He discovered again what had already been discovered, that when you get to the North Pole you find nothing there—just frozen emptiness.

Think of all these years that men have dreamed of getting to the North Pole, and driven for it and died for it. What does it amount to, after all?
It is simply a record to make, a sort of impossible line to toe, but all those fanciful dreams of Blinns, Hole, and the like, about there being an undiscovered country up there, are pure fiction.

The only part of this globe that is habitable is the temperate zone, and in a measure the tropics.

General Noble's discoveries, as well as those of others, reveal that the north is to be added to the oceans and the deserts and the mountain ranges as pure waste. A deal of the universe, as far as we can see, is waste in the sense of not being habitable by man. We cannot live in the seas, and life is difficult in the high mountain ranges.

Considering how vast is the universe, and how many of the stars are simply blazing balls of fire utterly uninhabitable by any form of life, and how gigantic are the distances between the stellar bodies, and even what a great portion of this planet is not habitable, one's philosophy of life unconsciously limit the importance of mankind, and adds a new meaning to the exclamation:

"When I consider Thy heavens, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that Thou visitest him?"

raw bull hide in the presence of a nothing on him.

Many words that we use every day, sofa, alcohol, many terms in chemistry, comes from the Arabic.

Raymond B. Blunt, of Chicago, is called the human time clock. He remembers where he was, what happened every hour, every minute of the last ten years. In four months of this year, for instance, he spent 900 hours in sleep, 25 hours in church, 200 hours at meals, 40 hours on pleasure, etc.

That's interesting, but keeping track of time, hours and minutes, is not as important as putting something into the hours and minutes.
For instance, the minute in which Thomas A. Edison decided that two messages, as well as one, might be sent over the same wire at the same time, was more important to the world than all the well regulated hours in the lives of ten thousand other men.

Gold has been the unit of value since men first found strange heavy little yellow grains washed down by mountain streams, thousands of years ago.

Men have struggled for gold and died weeping because they couldn't get it along, and have murdered each other for gold.

Now gold science tells you, "Gold won't always be the unit of value."
Nitrogen will replace it, being the foundation of our food supply, and of life.

Every square mile of air above the earth's surface carries twenty million tons of nitrogen, enough to last the world twelve years.

Any way of getting that nitrogen out of the air cheaply would be marvelously important, to farms especially.

Judge Jarecki, of Chicago, says that city will enlist 10,000 men to guard the polls in November. He doesn't want any more "pineapple" politics.

"Pineapple" you know, is Chicago's playful euphemism for an explosive bomb.

If pineapples only were used in the Chicago campaign it wouldn't be so bad. But automatics, machine guns and brass knuckles added to the "pineapples" make the way of the vote hard, unless he votes with the gang.

An exhibition in London introduces "Eric, the Robot," a man-shaped wooden and metallic machine that rises to its feet, stretches out an arm to command silence and make a speech.

The shiny, metallic man-machine its shining yellow eyes lighted by electricity, frightens spectators.

Some workers will dread the possibilities of competition by machine men. But there is no danger. When modern cloth-making machinery was first used England built forts to protect the machinery from enraged workers, convinced that it would starve them.

Those machines employed more men than ever at better wages.

Every efficient new machine increases prosperity, especially that of workers, by increasing man value.
With an ox team a man was worth $1 a day. With a locomotive he is worth $10.

Mr. Ouaff, French Arab who beat all runners of the world in the Olympic marathon, is here.

Nature, producing him, seems to have had a greyhound in mind. His legs are almost as thin as a grey-hound's, and, quite tall, he weighs only 124 pounds.

WOMEN LEGISLATORS

The 48 states chose at their last elections 148 women to represent them in the various legislatures. As this is less than three for each one of the legislatures, the progress of womanhood can feel that the country is still safe.

Women suffrage was a jolt to many old line politicians. It was like asking a business man to take on a largely new set of customers, whose demands he did not comprehend.

The old stand has often failed to produce the good the women call for.
The politicians met the situation with smiling courtesy, and graciously took the women into their councils.

But the work to be done had often been fixed up at a preliminary male council. In due time the women will have their own back room meetings, and there will be some men there too.

We doubt the election of November 6 will place many more than 120 women in the various legislative halls. Some alarmists may think the foundations of the republic will be shaken by the alleged "feminism" outbursts of the women. But the multitude of husbands who always take their wives' advice before doing anything, were at last accounts reported perfectly calm.

Some of the people love Nature so much, that they go out along the country roads and pull up the flowers by the roots, so Nature can't grow many more of them.

It is claimed that 20,000 people make their living by crime, but a part of their living comes in the form of fines.

Wise men learn more from fools than fools from the wise.

Will Rogers Says-

You can hardly get a man to do anything for you these days in politics without offering him a Cabinet position. I been giving a mighty lot of thought to my Cabinet and I find that every rich man now pictures himself as another Mellon. The rich man used to think that he would be slum-ming if he mixed himself up with any of those Pumpkin Seed jobs, like a Cabinet officer, but Mellon stepped out and got so much publicity that all the rest began to think, "How long has this been going on?"

I have made a lot of promises, but they were only political promises, and I have no idea of keeping any of them. I can promise the best Cabinet of any of them. Henry Ford would be my secretary of the Treasury. He would make us forget that aluminum pays as well as silver, and as for General Motors and Taskok and that gang, we would cut our profit to $300.00 a car and put them right out of business. Say, Ford could take our little dab of money, that our Treasury has, and let him handle it a little while and he would have us out of Red by Xmas. And as for my Secretary of State, what's the matter with using Coolidge? He knows everything that a Secretary of State does and I believe if a man could get him he'd be worth the money.

So with Calvin and Henry in there
I got the nucleus of a pretty snorty cabinet. You see I am in a position to get the best talent available. I have no Campaign Manager to take care of. And there are no "president makers" in our Anti-Bunk party that has to be rewarded. I'm self-made.

There is some fellow named "Vox Populi" or something like that. I don't know who he is, but I want him for Post Master General. He writes more letters than anybody.

—WILL ROGERS.

CANDY AND BOOKS

One of those persons who is always figuring out things has recently discovered that Americans buy seven pounds of candy to one book. We presume that this is intended as a bit of sarcasm aimed at American intellectuality. However, we do not think this a particularly bad sign. The truth is America buys a great many books, and reads a great many more.

More books are being printed in America now than ever before in history.

More people are buying books than ever before, or borrowing them from libraries. Perhaps the whole argument may hinge on the fact that one can't get candy at a public library. And that while one can't eat one's candy and have it too, one can very well read one's book and have it too!

Americans are both candy lovers and book lovers. Incidentally, the way these modern realists write, it is sometimes necessary to consume seven pounds of candy after reading one book in order to get the taste of the book out of the mouth.

This country has brain power enough to secure good government, but it needs more leg power to enable people to walk to the polls and vote.

PALMYRA PIGSKIN WARRIORS WIN IN OPENING BATTLE

Defeat Del-Wyn Eleven by Splendid Teamwork Despite Muddy Field

FORMAL OPENING TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY

Post Rodgers Hagle Corps to Parade Before Game With Maple Shade

The football team sponsored by the Palmyra Community Movement opened the 1928 gridiron season in an auspicious manner last Saturday afternoon when it downed the strong Del-Wyn eleven by a score of 11-0 in a game played under the worst football weather imaginable.

The score in itself was not an accurate indication of the progress made by Manager Wright's squad. It was the splendid teamwork and will to win that encouraged both manager and players to the best of their ability who braved the miserable weather to witness the opening game on the home grounds.

The contest, like most all other games played in this part of the country on Saturday, was marred by fumbles and lost opportunities due to the muddy field and slippery players. Palmyra punters bewailed the loss of four scoring opportunities due to such unfortunate breaks and insist that the margin of superiority of their gridiron warriors was more than 6-0.

Their contention was not without foundation to the impartial observer, also, as the play was kept in foreign territory most all of the time, with the visitors being unable to make more than three first downs to twelve for the P. C. outfit.

To heighten the futility, once the honor of making the first touch-down of the infant season after they carried the oval within fifteen feet of the goal line, Schwartz failed to make the point after touchdown as the water-logged ball was knocked down by the charging Del-Wyn line.

The opening day formalities were dispensed with owing to the inclement weather and it was decided to hold the formal opening next Saturday afternoon when the fast Maple Shade eleven will be the attraction.

The line-up: Del-Wyn C. C. Palmyra
Reed left guard Godley
Cormley center O'Neil
Korner right guard Phelan
Berman right tackle Kelly Baker right end King
White quarterback Williams
Shields left halfback Schwartz Fiedler right halfback
Wade fullback Reagle

Score by periods:
Palmyra 0 0 0 0-6
Touchdowns—Reagle. Substitutions—O'Neil for Shields; O'Neil for Law; Law for Baker; Hagg for Berman; Berman for Korner; Walters for Reed; Reed for Harris; Stone for Lodjek; Palmyra—Abright for Godley; Faller for Hartley; Wayne for Todd; Corley for O'Neil; Wescott for Kelly; Wagner for Fiedler.

Dill, the party nominee for Governor, will be in Burlington county on October 9, for a tour of the county, making a number of speeches at designated meeting places. CAMDEN MAN MAY SUCCEED BUGBEE

William D. Sayres, Jr., Mentioned to Fill Office of State Comptroller

If Morgan F. Larson, Republican nominee for Governor of New Jersey, is elected, Commissioner William D. Sayres, Jr., Director of Public Works in Camden, may be appointed State Comptroller, announced several months ago that he would resign his post at the termination of the present administration. The post, while it only pays $8000 a year, is regarded as one of the most prominent and important in the State. The Comptroller also is State Banking Commissioner. This position carries no salary, but also is regarded as a strong political office.

Commissioner Sayres is being groomed for the post by David Baird, Jr., Republican State Comptroller of Camden county and leader of the organization in South Jersey. It is reported.

However, if the Republicans gain control of the government, their opposition to the appointment of Commissioner Sayres is expected from North Jersey. Leaders of the northern faction are said to be opposed, as South Jersey now has the office of State Treasurer.

This post held by A. C. Middleton, of Moorestown, former treasurer of the Victor Talking Machine Company, who succeeded William T. Read when he resigned.

The first inkling that Commissioner Sayres was to be selected as the South Jersey candidate for the post was gained when he announced that he intended to resign as commissioner in January.

This move was contemplated by Commissioner Sayres several months ago, regardless of whether he received a State position. The city official has been in ill health for the last few months. Last winter he was ill from diphtheria and was confined to the Municipal Hospital for six weeks.

SIXTY-TWO DRIVERS LOSE THEIR LICENSE

Twenty-nine for Speeding Cars While Intoxicated; One from Fieldwork

Automobile licenses of sixty-two persons in this state were revoked last week by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles William L. Dill. Ten, belonging to North Jersey persons, were revoked for maintaining licenses, nine were revoked for drunken driving, including the license of one woman, Julia Kline, of Hampton.

South Jersey persons whose licenses were revoked for drunken driving are: Isaac Champlin, Fieldboro; R. H. Byers, Trent River; Arthur Criffield, 124 Short Division street, Atlantic City; Charles J. Stangel, 223 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia; and Edward J. Jolly, 1223 North Darlan street, Philadelphia. Also lost Jersey licenses for drunken driving, and Charles Folcarelli, 1917 South Seventh street, Philadelphia, lost his license from driving on left side.

MELON BLIGHT FIGHT SAVES JERSEY, $3,000

The farm that sprays in the farm that pays! In no season, according to the agricultural experiment station, has the above been more true than during the present one of continued wet weather. The experience of two muskmelon growers of Ocean county is a case in point.

Edwin Voorhees, who has a farm near Lakewood, recently completed harvesting of a fine crop of melons from a 6-acre field. Earlier in the season about 800 was spent to spray this field six times with bordeaux mixture to prevent blight from ruining his melons. The spray was effective. His crop, according to conservative estimates, will be worth $3,000.

A neighbor of Mr. Voorhees also had a 6-acre field of melons, or rather he planted the field to melons last spring. He was too busy to spray, and the vines in his melon field were blighted early. Few melons could be picked and they were of an inferior quality. Being too busy to spray cost this man $3,000, or the value of the crop.

Only eight per cent of New Jersey's melon growers spray their crops, according to C. H. Nisley, state extension vegetable specialist. If the other 92 per cent of the growers would spray their vines with the bordeaux mixture, he said, New Jersey could produce uniformly high quality melons, and would have no cause to fear competition from other regions.

CAN YOU JUDGE A GOOD SMOKE?

We Want Your Opinion of This Cigar

Havana Ribbon is its name... a cigar for five cents... that from end to end contains nothing but fully-ripe middle leaves of choice tobacco plants. No bitter under-ripe top leaves, no flat-tasting over-ripe bottom leaves. But quality tobacco captured just when Nature has given it its truest, mellowest, mildest flavor and aroma. And long-filler tobacco at that! No short ends to crumble in your mouth.

We contend that Havana Ribbon is without doubt the greatest five-cent value that has ever come out of a cigar factory. See if you don't agree with us—try Havana Ribbon. Never mind wondering how such cigar goodness is possible for a nickel (immense production and genuine manufacturing sincerity are the reasons, if you insist on knowing). Judge Havana Ribbon solely on smoking enjoyment and money-saving value. Also Franchise Pocket Package of five cigars.

PAUL IN EPHESUS
Acts 19:8-10, 18-20; Ephesians 4:11-16
By Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

Closing his work at Corinth, Paul took Aquila and Priscilla who had been his helpful friends there and left them at Ephesus while he went onward to Antioch in Syria. Thus the second missionary journey was concluded.

Soon the third journey was undertaken and Paul found that Aquila and Priscilla had been making good use of their time during the interim in Ephesus. The nucleus of another strong church had been brought together there.

The theory that it does not make any difference what you believe if only you are sincere had its rebuttal in two similar incidents in Ephesus. One, an Alexandrian Jew, had attracted much attention by his eloquent teaching along Christian lines. But when careful attention was given to his messages it was noted that essential truths were lacking. On inquiry it developed that he knew only the baptism of John, which was typical of repentance from sin. He believed in Jesus, and proclaimed him, but had no knowledge of the Holy Spirit. Aquila became his special teacher; belief followed and in baptism he entered upon the larger spiritual life. When Paul arrived he found twelve who also knew only about John. They were asked, "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when so believed?" They, too, were apt pupils and were blessed in their great understanding of spiritual things.

Paul found an indifferent audience in the synagogue and changed his audience room to the school of Tyrannus. Then things began to happen. The central shrine of Diana was the colossal temple in Ephesus. Idol makers grew rich by carving images of this goddess. Others worked on the superstition of the people and sold "writings" that were supposed to be a charm that would offset any evil influence. Naturally Paul's success cut into the shrine and charm business. The people were told that Diana was only a myth and the idols were absolutely worthless. They were instructed in the Jesus way and many believed in him as their Saviour from sin. The people were called upon to evidence their new faith in a living Christ, whom Paul had actually seen when near Damascus, by destroying these Diana idols and the costly charms that each one had purchased. The people showed that they were sincere and relics of great value were brought for burning in the public square. The fire was thus kept up for days. The value of the things thus destroyed was the equivalent of the ordinary pay for 50,000 days of labor, say $250,000 in the reckoning of today.

The second Scripture portion is from Ephesians, the letter which Paul wrote to those Christians during the first Roman imprisonment. That entire letter should be read with care. Coleridge called it "one of the divinest compositions of man." That Paul did a truly great work in Ephesus is evidenced by the fact that such a profound epistle could be written to the brethren in that city. In our lesson text Paul indicates the goal before each individual, even "a full-grown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." The unity of the Kingdom is also set forth with Christ, who is the head. There is an essential place for every one in his Kingdom building. Unity and love can have their fullest expression as all become "his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works." Eph. 2:10.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

Dr. John Joseph Calves, M.D.

REMEMBER

Disease germs have three avenues of entrance into the human system. They may be inhaled, swallowed, or may get in through scratched or lacerated wounds of the skin.

In warm weather, when most of our houses are wide open, the danger of inhaled germs is practically all. Pure air is a wonderful disinfectant, especially, except against the tubercular germ, which should be guarded against at all seasons.

Most acquired infections in summer, of the digestive tract, the bacteria are swallowed with food or water. We should therefore be discriminating at this season. Edibles taken raw, must be scrupulously clean, and thoroughly masticated. Fruits should be ripe, fresh, and free from punctures by twigs, or specks of decay. Don't give the child a banana that is green, or part-ripened, or punctured through the skin. Potato salad that is carried over from meal to meal—better throw it away, or do without the mixture entirely.

See that all cooked food is thoroughly done, especially meats. It is not good policy to eat the boiled ham that you had left over from the picnic, especially if it reposed in the basket on the ground for a few hours. The same is true of cake wrapped in newspaper and kept in the same basket. Flies haunt outdoor picnics. They love to crawl over deviled eggs, potato salads and the like. It is not pleasant to think of what they may shake off from their filthy feet and bodies.

It goes without saying that all drinking-water these days should be attested in purity, by a capable rather than a political official. A stitch in time saves more than nine. Put nothing of doubtful purity into your stomach, and be careful not to overload.

Thousands of prisoners now have cells equipped with radios. Everything is being done to make the prisoners feel at home—they can even be kept awake by their neighbors' radio sets.

THE NEW LEADERSHIP

If ever there was a time when there was a call for moral leadership it is now.

Fortunately, a great national leader is here, ready to face the responsibilities of the hour. At Palo Alto, in the presence of a vast audience, the standard bearer of the Republican party raised his banner and defined moral, spiritual and political leadership. In accepting the nomination he transfused into the veins of the nation a stimulating tonic of civic righteousness bound to strengthen heart beats of an awakened people, a mighty army when organized to fight in a moral cause.

Herbert Hoover, in accepting that leadership, gave his word to the people in the few significant sentences which follow:

"Economic advancement is not an end in itself. Successful democracy rests wholly upon the moral and spiritual equality of its people. Our growth in physical achievements must keep pace with our growth in physical accomplishments. Material prosperity and moral progress must march together if we would make the United States that commonwealth so grandly conceived by its founders. Our government to match the expectations of our people, must have constant regard for those human values that give dignity and nobility to life."

MR. CLIFTON RESIGNS

Daniel M. Clifton has resigned as a member of the Riverton Board of Education, after fourteen years of faithful and efficient service. It is to be regretted that conditions arose which will deprive the taxpayers of Riverton of the valuable services of Mr. Clifton. Two good men have resigned from the board in less than a year.

The annual maintenance drive for the Burlington County Hospital will open on October 14 and continue through the week to the following Sunday. The whole county is organized under the splendid leadership of Alexander C. Wood, Jr., and on the eve of the campaign the managers feel every confidence that the citizens of the county will respond generously and make the drive the success it should be.

Following is a list of the various district chairmen, all of whom, veterans in the hospital work, have gathered under their group of men and women ready to go out into their respective districts and anxious for the opportunity to do this service for the county's leading institution.

Only those who have, within the last three months, visited the hospital can appreciate the wonderful work being done. From the day the doors opened, the hospital has been practically self-sufficient with serious cases as well as lighter, a great number of accident cases and an unusual number of surgical cases. The surgical staff, under the able direction of Dr. Walter E. Lee, one of the most eminent surgeons in the past, has had remarkable success. A great number of major operations have been performed and exceedingly few of them were unsuccessful.

The hospital offers to the citizens of Burlington County not only the very best surgical and medical attention but the highest grade of nursing care so necessary in the pulling through of serious cases. Dr. Lee, speaking before a group of interested people, recently asserted that the Burlington County Hospital has no peer in this part of the country; that he did not know of a suburban hospital so splendidly equipped and well managed and, further, that situated as it is in the country, away from the noise and dirt of the city, the patient is offered every opportunity to recover, even though recovery may seem questionable.

The hospital is so constructed as to get the benefit of the full day's sun and light and every ward and room has not only the comforts and appearance of home but is specially equipped for the purposes for which it is built.

The citizens of Burlington County are interested in aiding many institutions working both in our midst and in the county generally, but probably there is none that appeals to every man and woman in the county as does our hospital. Only two years ago the need for proper facilities for hospitalization was felt, the county became enthused and, what was probably the greatest and most successful financial campaign ever run in Burlington County, was put through. The result of the generosity of our citizens is now about to be consummated in the splendid building at Mount Holly.

It now rests with us to maintain this hospital, and to maintain it on the highest possible plane. It is a Good Samaritan binding the wounds and healing the diseases of such and such a kind and it is our privilege to strive for and contribute to funds so that this beautiful work may continue. We never know when we will require the facilities of our hospital. Accident and sickness are monsters that strike when least thought of and it is a comfort to us all to know that in our midst is an organization offering us the best possible care and attention.

Let us support this drive with enthusiasm. The widow's mite is as much sought after as the millionaire's check and is probably more appreciated. Let every man and woman in Burlington County contribute something toward the maintenance fund during the week of October 14 to 21.

DEMOCRATS HOLD BIG SMITH RALLY

Large Crowd Attends Meeting Held in Palmyra High School Auditorium

An enthusiastic "Smith for President" rally was held in the Palmyra High School auditorium last Friday evening. Several hundred voters, who nearly filled the big auditorium, were present from Palmyra, Riverton, and nearby towns.

Prolonged cheers were provoked by the drawing back of the stage curtains which revealed a large picture of "Al" himself.

Mrs. Merrill Haas opened the meeting with an eloquent statement of the aims and hopes of the country's democracy. She introduced William H. Harrison, who in turn introduced Hans Froehlicher, of Moorestown, who presided during the rest of the meeting.

A splendid solo by Miss Mary Steele was much enjoyed.

The first speaker of the evening was State Committeeman George M. Hillman, Jr., of Moorestown, who made a plea for religious tolerance in politics. Reginald Elamon, of Mount Holly, Democratic candidate for assembly, asserted that Burlington County was not receiving many things which would legislative representatives should be able to get for her, and he promised, if elected, to see that a square deal came this way.

Congressman John J. Douglas, of Massachusetts, was the main speaker of the evening. He opened up a general attack on the Republican party and its candidates. He criticized roundly President Coolidge's noted silence and declared that Herbert Hoover was proving even more silent than "Cal" on the vital issues of the campaign.

Douglas also scoffed at Hoover's calling prohibition a "noble experiment" and cited the many scandals, such as those in the Republican cities of Chicago and Philadelphia, which are traceable to the maladministration of prohibition.

All the speakers were accorded many cheers during their remarks.

A permanent Democratic organization for Palmyra and Riverton was formed at the meeting.

John Reaher was elected chairman; Thomas A. Eaden, vice chairman; Mrs. Anna Musser, first vice chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, second vice chairman; Lawrence Joyce, secretary; Adolph Stroblin, assistant secretary; Robert J. Wood, treasurer; and William H. Hays, chairman executive committee.

A big street parade preceded the meeting. The procession was led by a police escort and a forty-piece band and contained sixty-eight automobiles. A count of those in attendance made by officials of the "Smith for President" organization placed the number of adults at 568.

naminson Avenue, Palmyra,

Three automobiles figured in a collision on Cinnaminson avenue and Wallace street, Palmyra, Tuesday night about six o'clock.

He was detained in the borough lock-up and will be sent to Mount Holly jail for sixty days unless the fine is paid.

Muse was driving a truck belonging to Joseph E. Feltus, 130 Howard street, Riverton. He was going south on Cinnaminson avenue, driving in a reckless manner, when he struck the front of a machine driven by Aaron White, of 918 Highland avenue, Palmyra, who was coming from the opposite direction.

White's car skidded to the opposite side of the road just in time to collide with a car driven by Herman Denner, of Branch pike, who had been following Muse. The Denner car was forced to the side of the road, where it struck a pole, throwing the driver out. He was slightly injured.

White's machine turned completely over, all the occupants escaping serious injury. Earl Cooper and Henry Keen were forced to a college came to the side of the road after the collision and ran up on the sidewalk where it overturned. All three machines were almost totally wrecked.

Chief of Police C. Morris took charge of the situation immediately after the crash.

About an hour later Officer Rodgers was called to West Palmyra where Mrs. Alfonso Tagliapietra, of 219 West Broad street, was injured when thrown from her car after it had been struck by a trolley car.

The machine driven by Albert P. Rhinoldi, 217 West Broad street, is said to have been struck after backing onto the trolley tracks.

Walter Winter, of 415 West Fourth street, Palmyra, had his driver's license revoked and was sentenced to thirty days in the County jail after being arrested by Officer Lawrence Betty last Saturday afternoon. DEDICATION OF NEW MUSIC HALL

Large Delegation from Riverton Porch Club Witness Event October 3

More than eight hundred club women, including thirty-two from the Riverton Porch Club, were present at the dedication of the new Hall of Music, of the New Jersey State College for Women, in New Brunswick, on Wednesday, October 3rd. This building was a gift from the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs to the college. The dedication exercises were held in the semi-circle in front of the new building at 11:30 a. m. The dedicatory addresses and other speeches were delivered from the steps of the new building.

Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey was the main speaker. Mrs. L. V. Hubbard, of Upper Montclair, President of the State Federation, presented the building in behalf of the club women, and Dean Mabel S. Douglass accepted it in the name of the college. Mrs. J. Frederick Wherry, of Newark, and Mrs. M. Caswell Helme, of Maplewood, both of whom were very active in the financial campaign for the new building, made remarks. Dr. William H. S. Demarest, a former president of Rutgers, with which institution the State College for Women is affiliated, and Dr. John Martin Thomas, the present president, were among the speakers.

After the exercises were over, the guests were invited to inspect the building. It was with interest that the women examined the special room and private gift and memorials, some given by individuals, and some by local clubs. With pride the women of Riverton inspected the various rooms and tablets, but especially the bronze tablet in the upper foyer hall containing the names of the clubs which cooperated to the full extent of their membership in the gift of this building. The Porch Club of Riverton met its quota of $4 per member almost $800 and, therefore, received a place on the roll of honor.

In the afternoon, in the Voorhes Chapel, overlooking the Athletic Field the guests enjoyed a musical program including organ preludes by the college organist, songs by the college choir and an address by Mr. W. J. Henderson, music critic for the New York Sun. At this time, also, six scholarships were awarded.

Until the New Jersey College for Women began its first academic year in 1918 with fifty students, New Jersey was the only state which had no state university for its women. The story of the growth of the college, from its inception up to the present time when there is an enrollment of over one thousand students, reads like a fable. While in her Jersey Club, the idea for such a college came to Mabel S. Douglass, now a doctor of Philosophy and dean of the college. The college is beautifully situated overlooking the Raritan river, and consists of many handsome buildings some 45 in number, of which three were erected by the State.

GREAT AIR MEET REPLETE WITH THRILLS TO MARK DEDICATION OF CLUB'S FIELD SATURDAY, SUNDAY

Spectacular Events to Attract Thousands to Moorestown Airport This Weekend

HOST OF CELEBRATED FLIERS TO ATTEND

Affair to be Greatest Aerial Demonstration Ever Held in State

All roads will lead to Moorestown this weekend. One of the greatest air meets ever held in the state will be the feature and it is expected to attract thousands of automobiles from all over South Jersey and Philadelphia.

This event, which will be replete with thrills, is to mark the formal dedication of the Burlington County Club's new field—the first at the Burlington County Club on the old Westfield road, just south of Moorestown.

It is estimated that ten thousand automobiles will be attracted to the field which has gained national reputation for its spectacular aerial demonstrations of celebrities, prominent fliers, and almost every type of airplane.

The program includes thrilling events to the Moh degree—flying National Guard, Army, Navy, Marine Corps planes, parachute contests and "dead stick" flying. These events will start at 10:30 Saturday afternoon, immediately after the dedication of the field. Sunday afternoon will be devoted to formation, stunt flying and passenger hopping.

There will be at least fifty airplanes, including all types of commercial, Army, Navy, Marine Corps and National Guard ships, entered. The Army, Navy and Marine Corps officials have given H. H. Longaker, president of the club and Director General of the meet, definite assurances that their departments will send planes. National Guard flying units from Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland are entered. Commercial ships will come from all over the Eastern section of the country.

Main Celebrities
Chief among the celebrities to attend are Lieut. "Buddy" Henderson, Marine Corps daredevil who thrilled 30,000 spectators at Wilmington last Saturday. Martin Jensen who flew Aloha on the ill-fated Los Angeles-Honolulu solo flight is placed second. Earl Rowland, Class A winner of the recent New York-Los Angeles air derby; Emil Burch, of non-stop flight fame and Robert P. Howitt, of Philadelphia, one of the best and most widely known fliers in the country. Jensen will fly to the meet in the Aloha and spectators will be given an opportunity to take "hops" in the world-famous ship.

Clarence Chamberlin, the trans-Atlantic flier, a personal friend of President Longaker, has expressed a keen desire to attend and has assured the chairman that he will attend if it is at all possible. George Haldeman, Ruth Elder's pilot, is now in Detroit and has wired Mr. Longaker that although he cannot make any definite promises, he is in hopes that he will be able to participate.

Governor A. Harry Moore has designated several high ranking officers of his staff to represent the state at the dedication exercises. State Senator Clifford R. Powell, a war hero who was wounded while flying over the German lines, members of the County Board of Freeholders and officials of all the municipalities in the county are among the prominent men in official line who will attend. Colonel Leonidas Coyle, State Forest Fire Warden, will fly to the meet in one of his department's planes.

Elaborate Policing
Elaborate policing arrangements have been made to handle the huge crowd. The Moorestown police department will be assisted by twenty State Police troopers, commanded by Sergeant Hensling of the Columbia barracks, members of the Moorestown fire department and five hundred Boy Scouts from all over the county.

An effort to eliminate congestion, Moorestown Township Committee ordered all roads in the vicinity of the airport closed to parking. The roads are reserved for sufficient parking grounds and will supply guides.

Prominent Men Judges
A list of officials includes some of the most prominent "air" men of R. Sanford Bates, Jr., vice of Ludington-Philadelphia.

This will be the public's only opportunity to get a "close-up" of the famous fliers. All of the visiting pilots will be introduced at the luncheon.

Another feature is the beautiful souvenir program which is being published under the direction of Broadway Brown and former Senator Emmor Roberts. It will contain nearly fifty local pictures, a history of the club, a complete list of the events and entries and much other interesting information. As a special attraction, free rides will be offered holders of certain programs. Each program will be numbered and for four weeks after the meet a list of numbers will be published in the newspapers of the county. Those holding programs with these numbers will be given a free airplane ride upon presenting the program at the club's field that weekend. Boy Scouts will sell the program.

P. T. A. RECEPTION

Annual Event to be Held October 18. Will be Addressed by Dr. Vollmer

Don't miss the Parent-Teacher reception at the Riverton School on Thursday, October 18, at 8 p. m. Those who belonged last year know what good talks and good times were given at the school. Come again or come and join!

Dr. Philip Vollmer will speak. Dr. Vollmer should need no introduction. He is well known in connection with his position as Executive Secretary of the Commission on Christianity and Social Problems, and as the author of several well known text books on similar subjects. Those who have heard him lecture feel that the parents who attend will be well repaid.

COMMUNICATED

TRUE CHRISTIANITY

Dear Mr. Editor:

I clipped the following article from a recent issue of the Public Ledger, which I will thank you to publish in the interest of fair play.

LIBERAL.

The Rev. Dr. Edward F. Randolph, pastor of Tioga Presbyterian Church, 18th and Tioga streets, told his congregation yesterday that the fear that the election of a Catholic to the presidency would cause the United States to be ruled from Rome is "a fear of a ghost of the Middle Ages."

The real fear of the hour, Dr. Randolph declared, is in Catholics and Protestants hating each other—both calling themselves followers of the Christ of Love.

Preaching on the topic, "That Catholic Hoax," Dr. Randolph cited as his text, "If a man say I love God and hateth his brother, he is a liar."

"The R. K. K.'s and all others who use the cross of love as an emblem for promoting hate are guilty of the most blasphemous crime of the ages," Dr. Randolph declared.

Maryland, one of the thirteen original States, was founded by Catholics. He went on. Catholics were among the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

First, whose Americanism can never be questioned, appointed as Chief Justice of the United States a Catholic and during his entire Administration Chief Justice Edward D. White's Americanism was never questioned by serious-minded people.

"The real fear of the hour is the way in which Catholics and Protestants hate each other. Think of it—both followers of the Christ of Love, and yet hateful toward each other. What inconsistency, what pathos, what shame! No wonder Eastern thinkers point the finger of shame at Western civilization."

The dissemination of the idea of democracy has doomed "Empire"—city, or ecclesiastical—Dr. Randolph said. If we are true to democracy we must be true to our brother, for democracy is based upon brotherhood. If we are true Protestants, we must recognize Catholics as brothers," he concluded.

BRIDGEBORO SPAN NEAR COMPLETION

Announcement Made That It Will Open for Traffic on October 15

The "missing link" in the Camden-Trenton state highway—the new bridge over the Hancocks Creek at Bridgeboro—will be opened to traffic Monday, October 15. It has been anticipated. It will not be completed, however, until November 1.

The span replaces what was one of the last covered bridges in South Jersey and one of the longest.

Built at a cost of $460,000 the bridge has a single leaf, rolling bascule span "drawbridge," allowing a sixty-foot waterway. Flanking this are two fixed spans, eighty-five feet long, another fixed span thirty-one feet long and two approaches. The approach on the south side is 250 feet and the one on the north 800 feet.

The structure is forty feet wide a six-foot walk on the west side. The walk will be gravel and the roadway macadam with bituminous surface. The span is of structural steel, with a wooden deck.

The opening of the span will again provide a short, direct state highway route from Camden to Trenton. During its construction motorists have been forced to go from Bridgeboro in Riverside and then round about through Delanco, Beverly and Edgewater Park into Burlington, instead of going directly from there to Burlington.

As soon as the bridge is opened the state highway commission will take up the proposal to pave Cooper street, Beverly, which has been part of the Bridgeboro-Burlington detour during the span construction work.

BOWKER'S GEESSE

In last week's issue an advertisement appeared with a "goose problem" in it and at the offer by Bowker's Tax-Account Shop giving a free lunch to the first three persons turning in the correct answer.

This little riddle caused quite some fun as a few gave the answer almost instantaneously while others labored with algebra and other forms of higher "math" for hours and still could not bring about the proper solution of the "goose problem."

The first correct answer was turned in by Miss Beryl Buchanan with Susan Freeman a close second. "Tired" others went to Fred W. Frel, Jr., and Rene Gros placed fourth.

Because of the closeness of the race Mr. Bowker decided to give four lunches instead of three.

KEYS FOUND

A large bunch of keys has been found and turned over to Officer Quigley. Owner may have them by identifying.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT IS CAUSE OF ARREST

Palmyra Barber Swears Out Warrant for Man Who Damaged His Car

Frank Kreutzberg, son of the proprietor of the Palmyra Hotel, was arrested Monday morning by Chief of Police C. Morris Beck on a warrant charging him with disorderly conduct last Friday afternoon.

Kreutzberg, according to testimony at the hearing before Police Justice Fiechter tried to prevent Tony D'Amato, Palmyra barber, from driving through the driveway that leads to the rear of Lester S. Fortnum's garage. The driveway was leased by Fortnum from Kreutzberg for the convenience of his customers and D'Amato insisted on his right to use the drive. Young Kreutzberg accordingly to testimony became disorderly and threatened to attack D'Amato. Kreutzberg was let off after paying the costs amounting to $6.35 and promising to pay for the damage to the car.

RIDGEWAY-JONES

Mrs. Margaret Olives Jones, of 107 Morgan ave., Palmyra, and W. Edward Ridgeway of Burlington, were married at the Baptist Temple, Philadelphia, last Saturday at noon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alonzo Ray Petty, pastor of the Baptist Temple. Immediately after the nuptials Mr. and Mrs. Ridgeway left for a honeymoon trip that will take them through Baltimore, Washington and points in the south. It is expected that they will be gone about two weeks. They will make their home in Burlington on their return.

Mr. Ridgeway not only is one of the best known residents of Burlington, but also enjoys the reputation of being one of the outstanding bankers of the county. He is vice-president of the Burlington City Loan and Trust Company and has served as both president and secretary of the Burlington County Bankers' Association. He also is a member of the American Bankers' Institute.

The engagement of Mr. Ridgeway and Mrs. Jones was quietly announced at the annual dinner of the Burlington County Bankers' Association in the Wash. Willman Hotel, Camden, in May. Mrs. Jones accompanied Mr. Ridgeway to the dinner.

"MYSTIC LLOYDS"

Something new in the line of entertainment will be given at the R. of C. Hall next Saturday night, when a show entitled "Mystic Lloyds" will be presented.

Special features for the kiddies are incorporated in the two hour show. A musical program has also been arranged.

DOG FOUND

A black spaniel was found in Riverton on Tuesday and turned over to Officer William Quigley. Owner may have the animal by proving property.

PENSAUKEN MAN HELD IN CRASH

Gives Palmyra Address Which Later Proves False and Is Held for Hearing

Joseph Wills, of Pensauken, was held for a hearing before Recorder Fiechter as a result of a collision with a Burlington-Philadelphia bus at Delair last Sunday afternoon.

Leon Eagan, of Beverly, driver of the bus, asked Wills for his license, which he produced and then surprised everyone by jumping into his car and speeding away, leaving Eagan in possession of the license.

A policeman soon located the car abandoned along the road but was unable to find the driver until several hours later. Eagan insists that Wills was intoxicated, but the officer who made the arrest said he was sober when he was found hiding in an empty house.

Wills gave his address as Palmyra and it was so reported in the Camden newspapers, but investigation proved him to be a resident of Pensauken township. George Hartman, of Delair, was in the car with him but left the scene of the accident immediately.

The car was the property of Harry Hunter, of 600 Delaware avenue, Riverside, and the license was also his. Hunter said he had driven to the Mohlen Club with Wills earlier in the day and that Wills had taken both the car and license without permission.

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED

Edwin Tossun, New York, arrested by Officer Walter A. Erickson, charged with reckless driving, was fined $3.00 and costs at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Walter F. Middleton at a hearing in Moorestown Monday.

BIG PARTY PLANNED BY PALMYRA P. T. A.

Teachers and Parents Invited to Enjoy Novel Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

We all like parties, do we not? The Palmyra P. T. A. is planning a real honest-to-goodness party for the teachers and parents. This party will be held in the auditorium of the Delaware avenue school on Tuesday night, October 16, at 8:15 o'clock. Be sure and mark this date on your calendar.

To parents and teachers, this is a most important party. We're going to be "kids" again, play games, have "eats" and a jolly good time all around.

Not only members of the PTA are invited, but all parents and teachers whether members or not. At this party you will be given an opportunity to join the Association and to really know your children's teacher.

The following musical program has been arranged:
Mrs. Harold Gilpin, Pensauken, vocal soloist; Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, Palmyra, vocal soloist; Everett Lamb, Philadelphia, violin soloist; Mrs. Everett Lamb, Philadelphia, pianist; and Miss Attaline Edson, pianologue and reading.

Don't forget the three big facts—The date, October 16, 1928. The time, 8:15 o'clock. The place, Auditorium of the Delaware avenue school.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson is dis-covering that campaigning Arkansas for re-election to the senate is much easier than trying to convince the Southerners that there is no anomaly in electing a set of dry congressmen to uphold the hands of a wet President, with his witness being paranoiac in the states necessary to his election.

Services in P. O. S. of A. Hall. The Samaritan Class held its monthly meeting of merriment and good fellowship at the home of the class teacher, Charles A. Dills, on Tuesday evening. There is still room in this active class for more members, more work and more profit. This evening (Thursday) the Phila. Class invites us all to a "Tartan Table Treat Supper" which will be a real banquet for fifty cents. Phila. Class members need to further advertisement than their announcement. This one will be served in the P. O. S. of A. Hall from 5 until 7 o'clock.

On Friday evening all the young people of the congregation are especially invited to meet in the home of Miss Myrtle Pickett, 609 Lincoln avenue. The new church edifice has reached its beautiful tower top and daily grows more beautiful under the labor of its builders. Likewise its material progress is inspiring the church members to make their religious activities fitting for its important place in the new building. Attendance at the temporary services in P. O. S. of A. Hall grows from week to week and enthusiasm for the dedication of the new building is likewise increasing.

Pastor Lockett's sermons on Sunday are as follows: Morning at 11:15, "The Bearer of Good Tidings." Evening at 7:45, "John Hiss," the second in the series on "Heroes of the Cross."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

On the coming Saturday evening a moving picture show of a very high grade will be given in the basement of the church. A silver offering will be accepted, ice cream and cake sold also, for a music fund. Our choir, under the leadership of Lee Milton, is rendering most excellent service in the ministry of song, and nothing must be left undone to give them the full needed equipment for their work.

The pictures will begin at 7:30 p. m. The evening promises to be one of the liveliest and most enjoyable. Come early to assure yourself of a good seat to enjoy the program to the fullest.

We are mighty glad to extend the hand of welcome to Lee Milton, our choir leader, who has been spending a vacation in England. Make this Saturday evening a special reception for him by your attendance and show of appreciation of his good work.

On the morning of October 21, Arthur P. Black, executive secretary of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship, will speak for us at the hour of worship. Mr. Black is much in demand as a speaker, and is constantly on the job of delivering his message to laymen's gatherings. It is informing, frank, and compelling. Just a few hours before he will appear before us Mr. Black will teach the Sunday School over a radio station at Washington, D. C., where he has his headquarters.

Avail yourself of the opportunity of hearing this great layman. The Ladies' Aid Society will give a chicken and waffle supper on Friday evening, November 16, from six to eight o'clock. In connection with the supper a cake sale and bazaar will be held. The ladies are making this the biggest supper and bazaar for years, and have already accomplished much, although the affair is over a month away.

Junior Luther League meeting is conducted by Miss Rebekah Buchholz and assistants on Friday evenings at 7:15. Miss Buchholz is not only head of our local Junior League, but is Junior League secretary for the Camden district of Luther League. Sunday School at ten in the morning. HISTORICAL SPOTS LISTED IN BOOK

New Book Gives Interesting Data About Early Jersey History

Listing hundreds of historic places which the patriotic motorist should see, "Historic Roadside in New Jersey" has just been published by the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey. It was while Governor of the society that Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood inaugurated the work that resulted in the publication.

The Historical Committee is: Francis Chapman, chairman; James M. Crowell, Tensilis Dix, Dr. D. Webb Granberry, E. Burd Grubb, Rev. H. St. Claire Hathaway, Charles M. Jones, Frank W. Melvin, Walter Moses, J. Brooks B. Parker, George Van W. Voorhees, John V. B. Wycoff and the secretary Walter L. Gienney of Plainfield.

Historic places in New Jersey since the first authenticated visit of any European, to what is now the State, was made under French authority by de Verazano, a Florentine, who in the spring of 1524, dropped anchor in Sandy Hook. Historic places in the Revolutionary period in which New Jersey had such a big part are set forth in fiction and picture. Names every school boy knows are found on almost every page. At Bordentown, the book points out, once lived Francis Hopkinson, J. Fenimore Cooper, Clara Barton, Richard Watson Gilder, Patience Wright, Admiral Charles Stewart, Joseph Bonaparte, once King of Spain, Prince Lucien Murat and daughters of Joseph Bonaparte.

FINE PARTY FOR FLORIDA RELIEF

300 Attend Delightful Affair for Hurricane Victims; Receipts Total $200

A check for $200.20 representing the proceeds of the card party and musical given at the Community House, Moorestown, last Friday, has been sent to Mrs. Howard C. Curtis, local representative of the American Red Cross.

The party was given under the auspices of the employees of the Japanese Beetle Laboratory for the benefit of the Florida hurricane sufferers. The affair was one of the largest of its kind ever held in Moorestown, and was attended by nearly 300 persons.

The prizes were unusually beautiful and costly, and were displayed on the state, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Following the card party a musicale was held which was a treat for those present. The Metropolitan quartet of Philadelphia donated their services for the evening. The quartet was composed of Miss Mary Steele, soprano; John Ambrosi, tenor; Joe Williams, tenor, and Frank X. Hartman, baritone.

The singing was delightful and its high order of merit shown by the enthusiastic and hearty response on the part of the audience, many of whom have expressed themselves as hoping the same talent would again be heard in Moorestown. Many out of town guests were present from nearby New Jersey towns, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington.

A list of the individuals and firms donated prizes to the benefit card party follows:

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

IMPROVED COLD WEATHER PERFORMANCE Resulting from the CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR

The cross-flow radiators in the cooling systems of the Pontiac Six and the Oakland All-American Six reduce to a minimum the evaporation of water and alcohol. An automatic thermostat prevents water circulation until the engine reaches correct operating temperature. As a consequence the engine warms up quickly and less choking is needed, reducing dilution of crankcase oil. Because of the protection the cross-flow radiator provides against losses of water and alcohol, the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six require less attention in winter than other cars. Also, through their thermostat control, they reveal far better performance than other cars in their fields when the temperature is low. The cross-flow radiator is available only on the Pontiac Six and the All-American Six. Come in and see it. And learn while you're here of the many other advancements which only these two great General Motors Sixes provide.

VISITING NURSE

As the time comes round again for the annual collection of funds for the Visiting Nurse Society, it is right that the public should know something more about our work.

You know we are affiliated with the Red Cross Town and Country Nursing Service, with headquarters in Washington. Once a year a Supervisor sent out by them visits our nurses for one or two days—goes over the field, the keeping of records, our finances and every detail of the service. Also the two life insurance companies (Metropolitan and John Hancock) whose policy-holders call on our nurses when ill, have conferences or send representatives to 600 Lincoln avenue.

All this keeps our standards very high and is a great help. A year ago Miss Cook took two months' training in up-to-date public health nursing methods in Philadelphia.

The nurses also attend conferences, Miss Blair even going to the great National Convention at Louisville, Kentucky, last May 1, where, with more than 4,000 nurses present, the problems common to them all were discussed by leaders from all parts of this country. She felt it a most stimulating experience. Thus, you see, we are trying to give this neighborhood an up-to-date nursing service, second to none. We appreciate the fine co-operation given by the doctors and the community in forwarding our work. So, please, when a collector calls, be ready to give generously.

COLUMBUS DAY

All praise is due to Christopher Columbus for his strong faith in his enterprise, for his wonderful perseverance, and for his determination to succeed.

WE ALL owe a great debt to the fearless navigator who, in a mere shell of a ship, sailed out of Spain, he knew not whither; and it is most fitting that a day should be set apart on which to honor him whose faith and daring gave to the world an ever-widening home of LIBERTY and FREEDOM.

COLUMBUS

The most heroic story in history—the story of the voyage of Christopher Columbus and the discovery of America—is celebrated on October 12. On that day in 1492 when Columbus discovered a new continent, who could have guessed what an important part of the globe this continent would become, containing, as it does, several of the greatest nations in the world.

The story of Columbus in itself is inspiring and magnificent—the story of a brave pioneer who feared no disaster, spared no effort, to prove to his own satisfaction and to the satisfaction of Europe that the world was indeed round. Little known, he was paid to Columbus during his life-time; he was jeered and thought crazy; his path was beset with difficulties and dismay, his accomplishments disbelieved, his theories discounted. Yet today his name is held with reverence the world over.

Since the days of Columbus the Eastern and Western worlds are close neighbors; Lindbergh, by spanning the Atlantic in an airplane, showed us how close they really are. In the days of Columbus the way from Europe was beset with perils, both real and imaginary, and sailors on comparatively short trips always feared, tremblingly, that they would come to the "edge of the world and fall off."

Now we do not fear the "edge of the world"; science and improved methods of transportation have destroyed the legends of the past; now a man may talk in one continent and by radio, be heard across the seas; distance has been demolished—travel has become a pleasure instead of a hazardous undertaking. Yet, we cannot even glimpse the mystery of life, the Divine Purpose of all—and probably never shall. We know more and more about ourselves—but have no more knowledge than in the past of the workings of Providence. But just as Columbus praised God for his accomplishment, so must we too praise God for the things that have come to pass since the days of Columbus.

Think of brave Columbus! Whitman has sung of him, "old, poor and paralyzed," nevertheless thanking God for his Divine help. We who have not to face the martyrdom of a Columbus, nor encounter the difficulties that he encountered, should surely not be swayed from the spiritual by the mechanical and scientific discoveries of this age. The Soul of Man is more important than man's accomplishments, important though they be.

THE SHADOW IS STILL THERE

Gov. Smith's Oklahoma speech was filled with ineptitudes.

He admitted it was all right for some Republicans to call him a good fellow, a master politician.

But, horrors, to mention Tammany Hall was to drag a red herring across the trail.

Gov. Smith, didn't you make Tammany an issue on your Fourth of July speech before that organization when you said because it had lived so long it must be good?

When you uttered that statement weren't you aware of the rotten record back of Tammany, and of the more recent scandals bred in Tammany which have filled newspaper headlines in New York City?

How do you expect the country to forget, even though you may have said that the New York Times upon the death of Boss Murphy in 1924 said: "Tammany Hall has a long list of political crimes on its record. It professes to cherish the people, but at heart it always intends to exploit and debauch them." Richard Croker, with his brazen cynicism, said that, as leader of Tammany Hall, he was working for his pocket all the time. His successor was less indifferent, not so boldly defiant, but the motive of the organization has not changed.

WHY THE WOMEN ARE FOR HOOVER

A full-page advertisement in the October issue of Modern Priscilla, signed by thirty-seven leading women tell why the women of the country will vote for Herbert Hoover on November 6. These women, who differ in race, creed and political party, are one in the belief that it is a clear duty and high privilege of American Womanhood to elect Herbert Hoover President of the United States. "Hoover's cause is the cause of the home," they say. Every woman should feel the deepest pride that her vote can help make this man the leader of our country.

The reasons why Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., Mary Roberts Rinehart, Katharine Norris, Mrs. Thomas Edison, Ellen Pendleton, Mrs. Henry Ford and the remaining thirty-seven who signed the statement, are going to vote for Herbert Hoover is because they believe:

"He has the vision to understand great problems, the courage to undertake them, the ability to conquer them."

"No other man knows so deeply the horrors of war and is so capable of commanding peace."

"In 1914 he gave us his mining interests and the certainty of wealth to feed and clothe ten million war-ravaged people."

"He saved the families of thousands of American farmers at the close of the war by persuading the Allies not to cancel contracts for American agricultural goods."

"He is the great humanitarian of the age and the greatest organizer a man who makes his dreams come true. He organized food relief for 600,000 homeless Americans and developed a sound business life for the stricken communities. Working with 100,000 citizens, he made possible the Better Home Movement to raise our standard of living. He built the American Child Health Association, saving each year thousands of children."

"He exemplifies American opportunity. An orphan at eleven, without money or influence, he made his life one of the most useful in history"—Hacksack Republican.

FACTS ON FAMILY LIFE

Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, has made an interesting analysis of family life in America. It shows that behind everything, historically and statistically, there is some economic reason.

For instance, the marriage rate in the country is higher than in the city. The man in the country is not confronted with the cost of living to such a great degree as the man in the city. Also a wife is often essential in the operation of a farm.

The country also has a greater birth rate. In the city the greater number of children the greater the cost of maintenance. This is true too in the country, but when the children in the country reach a reasonable age they become producing factors on the farm.

The economic factor enters in largely in divorces, too. There is a heavier divorce rate in cities than in farm districts. Mr. Dublin's figures show. The highest divorce rate, he says, however, is in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. An analysis of the figures might show that the majority of the divorces in these states come from the towns and larger cities.

However that may be, the survey in the main shows a more domestic state of things in the country than in the city, due to economic forces. In other words, the men in the country has a greater opportunity than the city man to attain those things that men strive for—a happy home, a loving wife, and a family of children—even though he may be comparatively poor.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Work

According to accepted traditions, work was a curse pronounced upon man by the devil when man was expelled from the Garden of Eden.

If this is true, then it is true that the curse of God is better than the blessing of man.

For there can hardly be any doubt that working for one's bread and butter and shelter is about the best thing that ever happened to a man. Suppose all the teeming millions in New York were idle, that they had nothing to do but amuse themselves, it would not be a week before the city was burned down. It is the fact that most of us have to put in a certain number of hours a day in earning our livelihood that keeps us sane.

The sanest thing on earth is work. Men who devote their time to imagining, to theology, to philosophy, or to other speculations are fertile soil to all kinds of disorder. It is men who have to work that are the flywheel of every nation. As a rule they want things to remain as they are. And as a rule they are the bulwark of morality. Crime news and divorce court scandals originate largely in the idle classes. Chesterton

Will Rogers Says-

I am the only candidate that is tending to his own business not to the people's. I am not running around wearing derby hats in the summer-time or putting wreaths on every president's birthday. I can find.

These other two fellows are devoting their entire time to nothing but spending money and trying to show that the country will perhaps be on a level with Nicaragua if they are not put in charge of it.

I am not going out around the country making a monkey of myself just to let people see what kind of a man they would have in the White House if elected. I did all that before I was nominated.

At made a speech to the farmers, or what he thought was farmers. They were actually Merchants, and Clerks, and Bootleggers, and Policemen and just the very kind of a crowd he would have in Newark, or the Bronx.

There was no farmer there. Omaha is not a Farmer's town, it's a City, and a farmer wouldn't have any more chance getting into a Hall there than he would have making an opening night in New York. The people there had seen plenty of movies, but they had never had a "straight from New York production, with the original cast." So naturally they all turned out. It was big opening night for Omaha.

And it's the same with Herbert, he comes into Newark the other day marked "exhibit A." Now there is no dignity to that, we want a President, not a exhibit. The White House isn't a Museum, with glass cases and things. So there are some same people in this country who will appreciate dignity and not showmanship in their choice for the Presidency. Being a Candidate didn't give me a chance to see the country. I had seen it before.

I have no free shows to give around the country, and no one to pay my way to them, in return for cabinet positions afterwards. So if your town wants to have a holiday wait till Ringling Circus comes along and see a good show.

What every woman wants: A chance to vote for Hoover. They helped do the trick in Maine, and they will do just as much in every other state in November.

Joe Robinson, Democratic candidate for Vice President, said in a speech to the facts. By doing so he would command more respect. Deliberately distorting facts is despicable, and nobody can defend it.

Service men who fought for their country are doing practically the same thing today in fighting for Herbert Hoover.

All I can do for Herbert Hoover, as head of the women's division will not amount to two cents unless the women register and vote." Mrs. Heri could not tell the women of this country any more than what she said in those few words.

Senator Caraway's attack on the church in which Herbert Hoover worshipped God is not a whisper, but it is equally reprehensible as anything that can be said in any tone of voice. Before long the source of bigotry is liable to be determined.

The fact that Herbert Hoover does not have to take occasion to defend himself every fifteen minutes is making votes for him rapidly. It is not a very spectacular manner of vote-making but, in thinking it over a minute it can be seen where he is wood and enlarging the pile.

If the people want a comedian for President, that's one thing. If they want a capable, constructive citizen, that's another. We opine they want the latter.

The love which was created in the hearts of the working people for Herbert Hoover when he spoke in Newark will live as long as they live. Hoover knows the mind of the man and the woman who work.

Some men can gain more respect by maintaining a dignified silence than others can by telling all they don't know about agriculture and other things, too.

Governor Smith, the Tammany candidate for President, said again at Omaha that he would consult farm leaders before he took any definite step. There is no record that he ever consulted farm leaders in New York state before he was elected.

Some of his foolish recommendations one of the to make milk a public utility and then fix the price on it. "Smith leaves on palatial train," newspaper cynicism. How are the lowly rated.

The Futility of Governor Smith's Prohibition Plan

By act and speech Governor Smith continues to serve notice that he regards prohibition as the outstanding issue of the campaign. We agree with him when he says that few questions are closer to the lives or the hearts of the people. We endorse his contention that anything that can be done to cure the abuse of the present situation ought to be done at the earliest possible opportunity. But, despite much study of the subject, we cannot convince ourselves of either the utility or the inherent sincerity of the remedy which Governor Smith set forth in his acceptance speech and which, in the days since, has attained the stature of an addendum to the Democratic platform.

Governor Smith proposes "an amendment in the Eighteenth Amendment which will give to each individual State itself, only after approval by a referendum popular vote of its people, the right wholly within its borders to import, manufacture, or cause to be manufactured, and sell alcoholic beverages, the sale to be made only by the State itself and not for consumption in any public place."

First, as to the utility of the suggestion. How can Governor Smith or any other intelligent man, think that such an amendment could be effected? This proposal must run the same gauntlet that any amendment to the Constitution has to run. Initially, it would need to be passed by a two-third vote of both houses of Congress, and then could become effective only upon ratification by three-fourths or thirty-six of the States. The adverse votes of thirteen States would end its career almost before it was started.

Where are the votes to come from? To begin with, the South is dry, that is, it is dry when it goes to the polls. Because of economic and social reasons it is irrevocably dry. By no stretch of the imagination can the thirteen Southern States be expected to support a wet proposal of any kind. In fact, even now these States are calling for the election of congressmen and senators who will vote against changing the Volstead Act in the slightest particular. We have, then, within the governor's own party, enough votes to make such amendment impossible. For good measure, and to put revision still further out of the question, there are several States in the Middle West and at least one in New England which will stand unalterably against any tinkering with the Eighteenth Amendment.

Second, as to its sincerity. Has not Governor Smith considered what will happen if, in some wholly unlikely event, his program is adopted? Have not his intelligent friends and supporters considered it? Do they not see that the present objectionable features of the Eighteenth Amendment will remain? There will still be the need for enforcement by the Federal Government. The opportunity for graft and bribery will still be at hand. The Canadian system is held up to us as an ideal, yet in the Dominion itself that system is criticized because of the corruption which attends it. Furthermore, if we will not remember the history of our own country, an even better standard of comparison presents itself. Not many years ago South Carolina tried the experiment of a State liquor dispensary. The results are only too well known. Almost immediately there was such an orgy of graft that the plan was abandoned. The scheme which Governor Smith proposes is the old South Carolina plan on a large scale. It might succeed in giving us liquor, but it would not succeed in doing away with the corruption which the governor deplors. It would simply exchange the corruption we now have for a new corruption.

With the Smith amendment in force, it is doubtful if more than fifteen States would avail themselves of the right to dispense intoxicating liquors. The line between each of these States and the dry States would be a Canadian border which the Federal Government would be bound to guard. Those who know the difficulty of patrolling our northern frontier at present will appreciate the immensity of the problem of patrolling perhaps thirty frontiers.

Again, as to its sincerity. Governor Smith and many of his followers say they recognize the fact that some men are opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment not for the reason that they want liquor but because of the flagrant evils attending the present liquor traffic. Chief among these evils, to use the governor's own words, is "the anxiety and worry which has been brought to them (parents) by their children's use of liquor which was unknown to them before prohibition." How does the Smith program meet this situation? It meets it in a most unusual way. It proposes to cut down the use of liquor by children by offering to children the opportunity to secure more liquor, to secure it more easily and at far lower cost.

But the main point—and the point that Republicans of wet tendencies should not forget—is that the promise that Governor Smith holds out to the voters is a vain one. He must know it is vain. He must know it never can be anything except a campaign pledge impossible of redemption. We cannot believe that the citizens of this State or of any State will allow themselves to be deluded by it. They will see that it cannot bring liquor one inch nearer their lips.

THAT a store should be a selling place, not a storage place.

THAT stores that accumulate many "shelf-warmer" are out of luck. It's usually their own fault; they should not try to place the blame elsewhere.

THAT profits are made when goods are sold. Many merchants seem to forget that fact.

THAT goods must not only be bought right, but must be sold right. THAT advertising through the printed page is the greatest sales creator known.

THAT everywhere in every line of business, advertising is making real friends for those who advertise.

THAT well advertised goods are goods of known and proven value. They have won the confidence of the public.

THAT dealers, awake to the demands of the public, never try to substitute for quality. The consumer can't be fooled with unknown goods. Well advertised lines of goods not only make customers, but gain their good will and their future business.

THAT the American workers can purchase about four times as much bread and butter on what they can earn as the foreign working people can on their wages abroad is all there is to the argument for a continuance of a high tariff.

Some day a more highly developed race, able to think in trillions and in the fourth dimension, may want to know just how far away that other universe is. We may all go there some day. "In my Father's house are many mansions."

There are many ways of making the world talk about you.

Thank heaven, the President and Postmaster-General New, the Post Office at least encourages flying, in earnest.

In the Post Office, flying is treated as a separate important enterprise, not tacked on to post office trains and trucks as a "minor auxiliary."

Not satisfied with excellent air mail service, the Post Office plans to increase mail plane speed thirty-five miles an hour, making the trip between the Atlantic and the Pacific in twenty-four hours, cutting off one day.

That is progress.

A well-known merchant, fifty-five years old, played a "hard, fast" game of tennis, beating players half his age, went home, told his wife about it, and was dead a little later.

Tennis or any other violent game is dangerous to every man past forty. Howard M. Anderson, a traveler, seventy years old, very strong, says "Take a cold bath every morning. I get up at 5, can do cartwheels and handstands."

Mr. Anderson might do double back somersaults and still it would be foolish for a man of seventy, or any age past thirty, to take a cold bath in the morning before exercising.

Your nervous system should not be shocked violently, but saved to give warnings and information. A cold bath in the morning in many cases is a short cut to the grave.

Professor Albert A. Michelson, of Chicago University, Nobel prize winner, and greatest living physicist, has concluded experiments at Pasadena, confirming his findings as to the speed of light. The POLITICAL PARADE

By HARRY R. BLACKMAN

What's the silent vote going to do? Political voters of both parties would be spared a lot of anxiety if they knew. In the absence of advance information, the surprising increases in Republican registration in states all the way from Massachusetts to Arizona stand out significantly.

In half a dozen strongly Republican districts of Boston the recent registrations showed an increase of more than 9,000, while in six equally strong Democratic districts the increase was approximately 3,500. In Louisville, Ky., some 20,000 more voters have registered as Republicans than ever before. Arizona has registered 55,000 more Republicans than in any previous year. So go the reports from almost every city in which registration has taken place. They are regarded as the best political straw in sight to indicate which way the election breeze are blowing.

Two more distinguished names have been added to the roster of active Hoover-Curtis supporters. They are those of Elihu Root, former Senator, cabinet officer and now one of the leaders of the American bar, and of George Eastman, who gave the world the kodak, and has done as much to aid his employees as any industrial leader in the country. Root calls Herbert Hoover "far the most competent" man available for the presidency, while Eastman sees him as the author of a "constructive economic and social program that will provide security of employment for our citizens."

A third great American, now dead, joins with the living in praise of Hoover through his autobiography. That is Samuel Gompers, for many years president of the American Federation of Labor, who relates that he was so impressed by Hoover's sincerity and dependability in handling the Belgian relief administration that he subsequently urged President Wilson to place the comparatively unknown engineer in charge of America's food administrative problems.

"Tell the people what they want to hear" is an old maxim among machine politicians in big cities. The Democratic candidate for president is certainly familiar with it, judging by his choice of topics for speeches on the western tour he has just concluded. Confessedly selected for their popular appeal, most of these topics represented ventures into new and uncertain fields, as far as Governor Smith is concerned. He could give no assurance that his free handed promises would ever be kept.

Herbert Hoover, on a Southern speaking trip which will bring him in contact with states which have heretofore been democratic, is not making the journey to tell the people what they want to hear. He proposes to make an entirely non-partisan speech rather than a mere bid for votes by means of rash promises, and that comparison of methods used in "enemy territory" is another instance of the difference between the opposing candidates.

Nothing but amazement is voiced in political circles that Governor Smith traveled thousands of miles through and made six speeches in a territory vitally affected by the protective tariff, without once mentioning that outstanding issue. The conclusion drawn by these even impartial circles is that the Democratic party finds its stand on the tariff extremely embarrassing. American producers have turned thumbs down on the "competitive tariff" proposed by both the Democratic platform and the party textbook, which would simply enable commodities grown and produced abroad to enter American markets freely, beating down domestic prices, closing down many industrial plants and curtailing employment. If the Underwood "competitive tariff" idea is not what the Democratic party proposes, why has Governor Smith absolutely ignored the question in what he acknowledges to be the six most important speeches in his campaign?

The press of the country has found incapable the parallel between the Bryan tour of twenty and thirty years ago and Governor Smith's western invasion of 1928. The hospitable and enthusiastic west received both with utmost friendliness. Bryan was loudly cheered and so was Governor Smith. But if the crowds of 1898 and 1908 couldn't forget the benefits of the protective tariff long enough to vote for the "Commoner," what has the Democratic party to hope for in 1928, when the west has its own candidate in Herbert Hoover, thoroughly versed in all of its problems, and the Democratic candidate absolutely refuses to talk tariff at all?

Thinking Out Loud!

The man who called duty a pleasure was never faced by customs officials.

Every time the girls start wearing something new from Paris an epidemic of colds sets in.

A doctor is privileged beyond all other humans. He can with impunity ask a woman to keep quiet.

Mrs. John B. Steele, of the Association for the Improvement of Divorce Laws, Inc., asks that "lonesomeness" be regarded as grounds for a divorce. We think in some cases a little more "lonesomeness" might work out as a preventative of divorce!

Prohibition agents in Northern New York State are being made to wear special type caps to prevent their being mistaken for highwaymen. Well, there's nothing like warning the public.

English spiritualists are entering politics. They are so well organized in fact, that the next British election may go by the ouija boards.

The Maharajah of Patiala, visiting Berlin, wears a turban of exactly the same color as the dress that his favorite wife is wearing at the moment. Now the fashionable ladies of Berlin are trying to get their husbands to adopt the same idea in regard to their hats. Well, if their wives were willing to change their dresses as often as the men change their hats, many American husbands would welcome the introduction of the idea in this country.

If the talking movie actors said everything they used to look as if they were saying in the old "silent" days, the cops would get after them.

Four hundred thousand gallons of beer were consumed by singers in the Austro-German song festival at Vienna. Music hath charms indeed!

The little boy who used to tell the boss that grandmother died in order to get to the baseball grounds, now has a different formula: "I can't come in tomorrow. I've got to take grandma to the game."

Keep the American cupboard full and the high standards of living will continue. That's the Hoover idea and it's right.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS
I Corinthians 12:4-7, 31; 13:1-8, 13
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

Those who ask what are the logical consequences of Christianity will find their answer in the lesson text now under study. Religion is not something that is mechanical or that can be evaluated in terms of material things. To begin with, the basis is the Father, God and Jesus said of the Father, "God is a spirit; and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth," John 4:24. Using spiritual means, according to their have special wisdom and knowledge, power of working miracles or of stating prophecy. Some even speak in strange languages. Such "gifts" come by the favor of one God. Regardless of what any one possesses he should not be boastful over another. Rather all are to consider themselves as part of the body of Christ and as such each has his own essential function to perform.

In contrast with such things, which are spectacular, there is a possession which can be common to all and the exhortation is "Desire earnestly the greater gifts." Then Paul sets forth in the great Love chapter, I Corinthians XIII, a perfection in spiritual gifts which can enter into. This chapter should be committed to memory, even as multitudes have done.

Herein we are told that deeds in loving kindness count above all high sounding professions or spectacular achievements. Angel-spoken do not take the place of deeds of love. We must so act toward those we meet in the everyday life that we will be comfortable folks for others to live with. It is possible to talk in the language of God and refer to "prophecies," "mysteries" and "all knowledge" but what is called for in this needy world is to walk among men as Jesus did when on earth and speak rather in deeds of love. One may even make large gifts that such bounty may be seen of men, but what is pertinent in the Christian life is that the giver shall go on his own errands of loving kindness and tender mercy.

There is a patience in love that "suffereth long and is kind" and that "endureth all things." Love is not boastful and vaunting. It does not talk self up and the other fellow down. Love does not hunt for the little evil in another and then take delight in broadcasting the imperfection. Before telling anything that may be said against another it is well to always ask at least two questions: Is it true and will any good be accomplished by the telling? Love hopes against hope that the rumor of stumbling may not be so.

Too often one thinks of the Christian life as negative, what one gives up or does not do. Such omissions are only the starting point for the positive and constructive. Now read again the Love Chapter and write out the fifteen different positive qualities in love that are enumerated. Each one of these is to be wrought out in your life that there may be a symmetrical whole.

VOTERS ARE TO PASS ON CO. HOME DEMONSTRATOR

Adding some degree of local interest to the approaching election, notice has been sent out to the municipal clerks by County Clerk Reeves, that the voters of the county will be called upon to pass upon the public question, at the approaching election and that such notice must be included in their advertisement of the election. Advocates of adding a "home demonstrator" to the list of county salary-drawers had first to file with the County Clerk petitions containing the signatures of at least a thousand qualified voters.

COUNTY HISTORY OF 50 YEARS AGO

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror, September 26, 1878

If a good crop of corn insures cheap pork, then we should have another season of low price pork, too cheap to pay the farmer.

Several large sea turtles—600 to 1,000 pounds each in weight—have been washed ashore on the beach between Barnegat Light and Beach Haven the past ten days.

The Rev. E. Braslin, pastor of the Mount Holly Baptist Church, who has just returned from a tour of Europe, was tendered a reception by his congregation at the church on Saturday evening. The welcoming address was by Rev. Henry H. Rees, who had charge of the church during the pastor's absence.

While the apple crop in this county is not excessive, it is plentiful, and we doubt not but that the fruit hand-picked fruit may be laid in for winter use at from 50 to 75 cents per bushel. Red birds are reported to be plentiful. They are selling at 75 cents per dozen in New York markets.

Nathan W. C. Hays, of Burlington township, noted for raising fine watermelons, has an unusually good crop this season. Some of them weigh over 50 pounds each.

A Rancocas farmer recommends as a remedy for the cabbage worm, a solution of water soaked with tobacco stems and sufficient whale oil soap to make strong soda.

Hon. J. Howard Pugh, of Burlington, was unanimously nominated for Congress at the district Republican convention held in Trenton at Thursday. In his speech of acceptance, Dr. Pugh said the chief issue is currency and he stated his position against the greenback.

In the Common Pleas Court on Saturday, licenses were granted to six hotels and five saloons in the county. Fees for the hotels were from $25 to $30 each, and $20 for the saloons.

A meeting of citizens of Columbus, held in the town here on Monday night, raised $210 for relief of yellow fever sufferers in the south.

The telephone, one of the wonders of the age will be in use at the coming Mount Holly Fair.

T. Pharo has a 104-pound pumpkin on exhibition at the Ocean House, Toms River.

William Wallace, of Mount Holly, at a match at Morrisville, last week, jumped nine feet ten inches.

Samuel Johnson will be at his farm near Georgetown today with 200 fine two-year-old steers and heifers for sale.

Joseph Haines, Jr., of Masonville, has an egg-plant stalk on which are several perfectly formed tomatoes. He will exhibit this wonder at the Mount Holly Fair next week.

The Messrs. Harvey, of Columbus, have this year raised 185 bushels of Pultz wheat on four acres—an average of 46 1/2 bushels per acre. The land had previously produced three successive crops of tobacco.

Bispham Returns

Charles Bispham, Esq., has returned with his family to his winter home in Mount Holly, from his cottage in Long Branch. This is the 24th summer Mr. Bispham has spent at that resort.

Senator Enson, the largest cranberry grower in Ocean county, reports the crop there to be very poor. One bog that last year netted him $6,000 will not return $50 this season.

A young man named Atkinson walked from Berlin's Hotel, Burlington, to the Arcade Hotel, Mount Holly, and returned, on Saturday, on a wager that he could make it in three hours. He won by a minute and a-half less than the time set.

John Taylor, of Trenton, forwarded sixty head of cattle to New York last week to be shipped to Glasgow, Scotland. The cattle averaged 1,500 pounds and were bought in Shelby county, Kentucky.

Mammouth Cattle

Herbert & Sons, Mount Holly butchers, have received a pair of mammoth cattle from A. & J. Christy, Philadelphia, that weighed 3,200 pounds. One of them is expected to dress 1,100 pounds. They were slaughtered to supply dinners for Mount Holly Fair visitors next week.

As a testimonial to the excellent quality of grape wine made by our venerable and worthy townsman, Joseph C. Clark, Esq., we may state that a clergyman in the eastern part of New York state writes that he recently was called upon to administer communion to a lady of 90 years, supposed to be near her end. After the holy office was performed the minister left a partly filled bottle of Mr. Clark's wine. A few days later the lady, who was supposed to be ready to pass up, was up and about again. That's what good spiritual wine will do.

Beverly City's lamp lighter, Edward Swanson, while on duty on Wednesday night, was seized with cramp colic and was found insensible on one of the streets. He was taken home where he recovered in a few days.

Like other towns in the county, Beverly has responded to the call for aid for yellow fever sufferers by sending cash and clothing to the southern cities where the scourge is flourishing.

FIELD TRIAL OF DOGS

Entries close on October 19 and should be made to William W. Worrell, Mount Holly.

The classes will include members' amateur derby, members' all age and members' open.

HOOVER RALLY AT RIVERSIDE

Over a Thousand Citizens Hear County Leaders Present Important Issues

Riverside witnessed the greatest Republican Rally in its history last Wednesday evening when more than a thousand voters packed the auditorium of the public school to hear the Republican leaders of the county discuss the outstanding issues of the current campaign.

The meeting was preceded by a street parade led by Headman's string band, which filled the air with strident music and added to the already glowing enthusiasm of Riverside Republicans. The band also rendered several selections during the meeting and was roundly applauded.

That Herbert Hoover's election means continued prosperity for the whole country and a prospect for Riverside's industrial revival, already under way, was the topic of every speaker. And that prosperity for Riverside is the thing nearest the voter's heart was evident with every burst of applause.

DEATH CLAIMS RIVERSIDE "VETS"

Asa Comley Roberts and Chas. Hullings, Sr., Answer Final Roll Call

The thinning ranks of the Civil War Veterans of Riverside were further depleted last Thursday when to w of the few remaining members answered the last roll call. Asa Comley Roberts, 81 year old veteran died at his home at 122 Huellings avenue about nine o'clock and a few minutes later his comrade in arms, Charles Hullings, Sr., of Bridgeboro, passed away.

Mr. Hullings had been a life long resident of Bridgeboro and was known to practically everyone throughout the county. He was the oldest member of the Bridgeboro Odd Fellow's Lodge. Mr. Hullings was present at the organization of the lodge sixty-three years ago and had been an active member ever since. He was also a member of the Moorestown Red Men.

In spite of his advancing years the Bridgeboro veteran had been able to travel about the country until eight weeks ago. At that time his health began to fail and he had been confined to his home. Mr. Hullings had not been bedfast and Thursday morning seemed to be feeling unusually well. A few minutes after nine he asked for a drink of water. After the water was given him he remarked how good it was and died instantly.

Mr. Hullings is survived by a son and a daughter, Charles Hullings, Jr., and Mrs. W. E. Newkirk. The funeral services were held from the home Sunday afternoon. The Rev. John P. Lennon officiated.

Asa Comley Roberts died at his home on Huellings avenue at nine o'clock Thursday after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Roberts was well known throughout the community. He was a member of the J. O. U. A. M. and the I. O. M. and served one term as township committeeman in Riverside.

Because of his age the Riverside veteran did not enlist in the army for service in the Civil War until 1864. Mr. Roberts was only sixteen years old at that time but saw more service during the remainder of the war than most of the soldiers who were in the army during the whole time. The Riverside veteran took part in some of the hardest battles of the campaign, including the Battle of the Wilderness, the Battle of Gettysburg, the Battle of the Bloody Angle, in the last engagement he was seriously wounded. He was sent to the hospital suffering with gunshot wounds in his right side and right foot. After his recovery he was honorably discharged on the general order at the end of the war.

Mr. Roberts was buried Sunday afternoon with full military honors with the Riverside American Legion in charge. That burial is survived by his widow and six children.

Judge's Josh.

The maid had been surreptitiously using the bath tub of her employer, an elderly bachelor. He was a bachelor, very fastidious about his toilet, and desired the exclusive use of his tub.

He reprimanded the maid with much indignation: "What distress me most, Mary, is that you have done this behind my back."

A negro was receiving bricks at the top of a ten-story building where some repair work was going on. Another negro was going on. Another negro on the ground was loading bricks on the carrier.

The negro above accidentally dropped a brick, hitting the one on the ground squarely on the head.

He was indignant, and yelled to the one above: "Be a little more careful up there. That brick hit me and made me bite my tongue!"

He: "Tomorrow morning you will meet me at the Coney Cafe."
She: "But suppose mother insists on coming with me?"
He: "She won't. I have invited her to meet me at the same time at River restaurant."

Patient: "I can't afford to be ill."
Specialist: "Is your business so profitable?"
Patient: "No; yours is."

Mary had a little mule.
It followed her to school.
The teacher, like a fool,
Went up behind the mule.
And his him with a rule.
And there wasn't any school!

Princeton President to Vote for Hoover

John Otter Hibben, President of Princeton University, the institution from which Woodrow Wilson was graduated into politics and eventually into the White House, will vote for Herbert Hoover on November 5.

A majority of his fellow citizens of New Jersey will do likewise, if the poll being conducted by the Republican National Committee of persons whose names appear in "Who's Who in America" can be taken as an index.

Tabulations to date show that Mr. Hoover is the choice of the distinguished citizens of New Jersey by a ratio of approximately ten to one. So far Mr. Hoover has received 306 votes of the New Jersey members of Who's Who to only 33 for Governor Smith. For the country as a whole the ratio is about seven to one for Mr. Hoover.

FORM "SMITH FOR PRESIDENT" CLUB

Large Attendance at First Meeting Held in Palmyra
Last Week

A call was recently issued to the residents of Riverton and Palmyra who are interested in the Smith-Robinson part of the national ticket to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Hays, of Palmyra.

Forty-one were present at the meeting which was called to order by George Hillman, State Committeeman. Temporary officers were elected as follows: Temporary chairman, W. R. Harmon; secretary, Lawrence Joyce; finance committee, R. J. Wood and Charles Hawke.

Organization along political lines was discussed at length by George Hillman, who said that "from the attendance at this meeting and the enthusiasm shown, I look for one of the liveliest 'Smith for President' Clubs of the county to be working in Riverton and Palmyra."

Mr. Froelicher, of Moorestown, Mount Holly, referred to Governor Smith as "a new leader in a new era, and one who has conducted the affairs of our largest state in a manner that bears no questioning." The speaker also said that "many Republicans are breaking old party lines during the past seven and a half years, chief of which are farm relief, prohibition and inland waterways."

Mrs. Jacoby, of Riverton, state committeewoman, denounced the people who are attacking the New York Governor because of his religion. She said, "I cannot understand why this exists. Any citizen of this broad, free land who believes down deep in his heart that the affairs of this nation could be best administered by having Governor Smith in the White House for the next four years, and then turns around and votes against him because he is a member of the Catholic Church, is in no way a decent, upright American citizen. Those who heard Governor Smith's address in Oklahoma City will recall that the candidate clearly expressed his own views in the matter."

Other speakers were Richard Hughes, of the Civil Service Commission of the State of New Jersey, and Mr. Absalom, of Florence.

Mr. Harmon announced that any one of voting age is eligible to membership in the club, and also that contributions for financing the work of the body would be cheerfully accepted. A good nucleus for the club's treasury was started before the ladies and gentlemen left the building.

"FIRE PREVENTION WEEK" WARNINGS

Insurance Companies Issues Suggestions to Reduce Loss from Fire

In connection with fire prevention week which is being observed throughout the nation in pursuance of a proclamation issued by President Coolidge designating this week "National Fire Prevention Week," the insurance companies have sent out the following warnings.

Matches: Hundreds of children are burned to death each year through carelessness with matches. Always use safety matches that strike only on the box. Never throw down a match until it is cold. Form the habit of breaking every used match with your fingers before you put it away. Then you are sure not to throw away a burning match. Put used matches in a glass or metal container.

Inflammable Liquids: Many women have been burned to death or scarred for life from the careless handling of kerosene, gasoline and inflammable cleaning fluids—from using kerosene to start fires—cleaning gloves or clothing with gasoline in rooms where there is a fire, lighted gas jet, or exposed flame.

Asches: Don't put ashes in wooden boxes or barrels. A live coal may smolder unnoticed and cause a serious fire. Use metal waste barrels.

Kindling and Paper: Kindling and paper piled behind the kitchen stove or near the furnace are a great source of danger. Don't start open hearth fires with piles of loose paper.

Chimneys: Examine all chimneys at regular intervals, particularly before starting fires in the fall. If they are cracked or if the mortar has fallen out, have them repaired immediately.

Oil Mops and Dust Rags: Oil mops and dust rags containing oil should never be shut in warm closets or hidden away in confined places. They may ignite from spontaneous combustion and cause a dangerous fire. They should be hung where air can get to them.

Open Fires: Don't light the winter fire until the chimney, stovepipes or flues, and all heating appliances have been cleaned and put in perfect repair. Don't leave an open fireplace without a spark fender or screen. Guard against too hot fires. Watch the dampers of your stove.

Electric Wiring: It is dangerous to tamper with electric wiring or fixtures. A great, needless loss of life and property is caused by carelessness in lighting arrangements. Don't experiment with the electric wires. Call a qualified electrician.

Electric Irons: Always pull out the plug when an electric iron is not in use. Any iron will quickly become overheated and cause a fire if left unattended.

Windshield or Wipers Note Required by Law

Motor Vehicle Commissioner William L. Dill, ruled in a reply to a query of the Motor Truck Club of New Jersey, that the new state motor vehicle act did not require passenger cars or trucks to carry windshields.

While he believes windshield wipers imperative to safety, Mr. Dill said should an owner refuse to equip his car or truck with one, he could not be compelled to, and that a motorist would not bar him from receiving one of the yellow sticker certificates which were issued by the motor vehicle department in the safety campaign under way in the state provided his car is in other particulars mechanically O. K.

with the current turned on. Be sure to buy only first-class appliances.

Rubbish: Keep your premises free from rubbish, inside and out. Rubbish heaps are dangerous. Don't permit accumulations of empty boxes and barrels in your cellar. Be careful about building bonfires. Watch them carefully, and don't leave them until they are extinguished.

Fire Protection: Keep a chemical fire extinguisher bearing the label of the Underwriters' Laboratories handy. Instruct every member of the family how to use it. Be sure that every one in the household knows the telephone number of the nearest fire station, where the fire alarm box is located, and how to turn in an alarm.

COUNTY ASSESSORS FORM ASSOCIATION

New Organization to Protect Property Owners from Unreasonable Increases in Taxes

After Burlington county assessors held a conference with the County Tax Board at the court house in Mount Holly last week, they formed a county association, the object being to more fully equalize assessments throughout the county.

E. Howard Frazier, of Edgewater Park, was elected president, and Harold T. Blinn, of Burlington, secretary, of the new organization.

Owing to constant demands made on the assessors to increase county valuations, the last request of five per cent, coming from the State Tax Board, it was decided by the thirty-one assessors present that organization will help protect property owners from any unreasonable increases in taxes.

Another meeting of the association will be held in Mount Holly on October 24, when further plans of work will be made.

HOOVER IS NOT IN SNIPING CAMPAIGN

Republicans Not Fighting Smith But Are Working for Own Candidates

Washington, D. C.—A good many Democratic leaders seem to have difficulty in grasping the significance of Herbert Hoover's recent statement to chairmen of the Republican Service Clubs of Maryland that this "is not a campaign of opposition, but a campaign in favor of the issues and candidates in the Republican party."

That declaration, according to those associated with Mr. Hoover in planning the balance of the presidential campaign, should answer every question about the intentions of the Republican nominee, without the Republican party is standing in this campaign.

His Religious Issue
As to the thrusts of the Democratic nominee at religious intolerance, Dr. Hubert Work and other Republican leaders have quietly pointed out that in Herbert Hoover's speech of acceptance, nine weeks ago, he made a very forceful declaration on the same subject, which was as follows: "I come of Quaker stock. My ancestors were persecuted for their beliefs. Here they sought and found religious freedom. By blood and conviction, I stand for religious tolerance both in act and spirit. The glory of our American ideals is the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience."

That was one of the high points of Mr. Hoover's address at Palo Alto, the entire country agreed. Republican leaders do not believe the memory of it will be dimmed in the slightest by Governor Smith's subsequent remarks on the same subject, from which his tenacious might have inferred that the Democratic candidate was the only one to deliver a blow at prejudice in this campaign.

The C. O. P. speakers who predicted early in the campaign that the tariff would be no less an issue than it has been for years have not been disappointed. With the publication of the Democratic campaign textbook, asserting that rates of duty must be limited to the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, farmers and workers have begun to realize that this means an application of the "competitive tariff."

Unfavorable Reaction
That embosoms low wage, foreign competition with high wage, American farm and factory products. The unfavorable reaction among workers and farmers to the Democratic tariff stand has been responsible for the attempts of Gov. Smith and the Democratic chairman to show that Gov. Smith did not endorse the Underwood act. What he did say was that he approved the principles of the law, and those principles are what Chairman Work says caused a $100,000,000 cut in the American payroll twice within the lifetime of the act, not to mention the damage it did to the farmer by opening the domestic market to foreign competition.

The Republican party learned 20 years ago that the theory of using the difference between production costs here and in other countries as a factor in tariff duties is utterly impossible of application. The same conclusion has been reached more recently by the federal tariff commission, which now admits that only in a few instances has it been able to obtain accurate figures on foreign costs of manufacture or production for any industrial or agricultural commodities.

Eastman for Hoover
Another of the country's business geniuses has been added to the imposing list already out for Herbert Hoover in George Eastman of Kodak fame, who thus joins Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, Walter Chrysler, and General J. G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation, to mention but a few.

Mr. Eastman says:
"The election this year appears important to me because it will determine the progress of the United States for another decade. During the next four years we should have a President whose capacity for leadership will insure this country a constructive economic and social program that will provide security of employment for our citizens."

"The nation needs Mr. Hoover's leadership because it needs an engineer who can keep the trains running on the main line and not be sidetracked because of wet and dry trouble on a siding."

She Still Seems Near

Through all the years, my soul looks back.
In tender memory,
To see again the face of one
Who was so dear to me.
Her presence, through the fleeting years,
Comes back to mind again;
I seem to see her sweet face now,
Just as I saw it then.

Her lips, so full of tenderness,
Now smile again at me,
And all the glory of her eyes
Comes back, through memory,
O, how my soul with longing fills,
To bring my love back here—
Back from the realms of silent death,
Before me, to appear.

Life's loneliness oppresses me,
And for my love I long;
I would so like to hear her voice,
In love's most tender song.
Ah! I am grateful though that she,
In spirit, comes to me,
And enters in my loving heart,
Through doors of memory.

Wreckage Supplies Coffins for Storm Dead

This photograph, taken at Belle Glade, Florida, shows men making a coffin from the wreckage of one of the home there. With more than a thousand dead, there was a demand for coffins in which to bury the dead. Rough caskets were made from the wreckage of houses.

Canada Upsets a Theory

Facts have a way of refuting theories. And they do not seem to mind who the theorists are. For instance, some very high-minded people, and others in high places, have told us that the liquor business would be good if we only gave it half a chance. Of course, they have said, we must expect laws to be broken when they violate personal rights; give the people, and the liquor interest, a chance to do business in a legitimate way, and everything will be all right. The people will get their booze, and the government will get the money. Hence, government-regulated liquor stores in the Ontario and Quebec system. They seem to forget that in the old days of license the liquor interests violated every law of God and nearly every law of man—with impunity in both cases. Still, they say, the Canadian system works; ours doesn't; there the law is respected; here it is violated. Perhaps the people observe the law, but do the liquor interests? July 11 the police of Ontario seized liquor stocks valued at over $3,000,000. Why? Not because they were intended to be sold in violation of the laws of a friendly neighbor, but—so runs the news account—because "much of the liquor brought to the warehouses instead of being 'exported' to the United States, found its way back into Ontario, where it competed illegally with the government liquor stores." So it ever was, and will be: liquor respects no laws; it obeys only those it must.—William Frederic Bigelow, Editor Good Housekeeping.

LEGION WILL BUILD LAKEHURST CHAPEL

Pos. Is Throughout New Jersey to Raise $25,000 for Air Service Memorial

Construction of a memorial chapel dedicated to naval fliers at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station has been approved by the executive committee of the New Jersey Department, American Legion.

The structure will cost between $20,000 and $25,000. The funds for it will be raised among legion posts of the State and by general subscriptions.

Plans for the memorial building are being worked out in co-operation with Chaplain Commander William Wilcox Edell, naval chaplain at the Lakehurst Station. He is commander of the corps of chaplains of the United States Navy.

As planned at present, the chapel will have a memorial window to Floyd Bennett, a chief petty officer in the navy. There will also be windows dedicated to the dead officers and crew of the dirigible Shenandoah, which fell in Ohio three years ago, to the victims of the ZR-2, which was destroyed while over Hull, England, a number of years ago, and to other naval air heroes.

The sum of $1,500 has already been subscribed by the Grand Volture, 40 and 8 of New Jersey, toward an organ for the proposed structure. Funds have also been pledged for the memorial windows.

OUR THIRSTY AUTOS

With the mid-year crop of new cars forecasting a fleet of 25,000,000 motor vehicles on the highways of the United States by the end of the present year, it is naturally of some concern to the motorist whether the annual output of gasoline can keep pace with this tremendous growth.

The current year, it is estimated in the lamp SPINDLE HEADQUARTERS THE LAMP, published by the Standard Oil Company (N. J.), will see a new record of 200,000,000 barrels of gasoline manufactured and sold within the borders of the United States. This is more than three times the gasoline production immediately after the war and evidence of an ever greater development in the output of motor fuel than the rapid increase in the number of automobiles on the roads, which are over twice what they were ten years ago.

In 1900 there were only a few thousand cars in the United States, mostly owned by well-to-do people. Less than 2,000,000 barrels of gasoline were ample for the needs of the country. Knowing that petroleum is an irreplaceable, exhaustible natural resource, the statisticians of a quarter of a century ago would have predicted a shortage long before we became a 25,000,000 car nation. Yet, largely through the adoption of the revolutionary cracking process and other refining improvements designed to increase the yield of gasoline from a barrel of crude, the United States has multiplied by nearly 200 its output of motor fuel during that period.

New automobiles are still taking to the roads faster than the old ones go to the junk pile, boats and aircraft are crisscrossing the demand for fuel. But the gasoline output is meeting the challenge.

BIG MEN FROM SMALL TOWNS

Charles M. Schwab, Steel King, Starts Life in Williamsburg, Pa.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB

One of the outstanding figures in American business and public life is Charles M. Schwab. He is respected and admired throughout the civilized world. He was born in an American small town, Williamsburg, Pa., in 1862. He holds many honorary college degrees, and has been honored here and abroad in hundreds of ways; he is one of the richest and most influential men alive today.

How did Schwab start his career? He was educated at the village school at Loretta, Pa., where his family moved when he was five years old, and at St. Francis College. He drove a stage coach from Loretta to Gresson, Pa., a distance of five miles, when a boy. Later he entered the services of the Carnegie Steel Company as a stake-driver in the Engineering Corps of the Edgar Thompson Steel Works, finally becoming chief engineer and assistant manager.

His rise in the steel industry was rapid. In 1897 he became president of the Carnegie Steel Company; four years after, he headed the United States Steel Corporation. Later his business activities became so varied that it would be impossible to enumerate them here. It may be said, however, that he became a dominant figure in the great steel industry at Bethlehem, Pa.

Think of it! This little boy from Williamsburg, Pa., who drove a stage coach and was educated in a "little red school house," is the directing genius of one of America's greatest industries. Truly it is an inspiring story.

And even more inspiring is the thought of his work as the director general of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, when he contributed valuable services to the American government during the World War.

Inspiring, also, are his numerous charitable and philanthropic activities. He built a new Catholic Church costing $150,000 at Loretta, Pa., where he spent his early formative years. He established an industrial school at Homestead, Pa., an auditorium for the Pennsylvania State College, a Catholic school at Braddock, Pa., a home for children at Staten Island, New York, and a school at Weatherly, Pa., and numerous other worthy projects have had his financial support.

He has a great personal charm and is an excellent speaker on public questions. His business sagacity and enduring personal qualities have won him universal praise. The career of the former stage coach driver and stake-driver who by dint of tremendous talent and capacity for work became a great Steel King should prove of genuine inspiration to the small town boys of America.

LEGION ARRANGING BIG CELEBRATION

Mount Holly Will Be Scene of Rally of South Jersey Legionnaires and Others

Mount Holly Post No. 11, of the American Legion, is completing arrangements for celebration of the tenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, and have arranged for a parade beginning at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 10.

The celebration will be in the nature of a South Jersey rally, all Legion Posts in South Jersey having been invited to attend with their bands and bugle corps. The National Guard units of Mount Holly and Burlington are also expected to be in line, and possibly detachments from the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst and the League Island Navy Yard. All the troops of the Boy Scouts and Columbus Cadets in Burlington county also have been invited to be in line.

The parade will be followed by short speeches at the reviewing stand in front of the Court House, and the visiting legionnaires will be dined at the army. In the evening there will be a dance, with music furnished by the Burlington County American Legion orchestra.

HOSPITAL DRIVE SOON TO BEGIN

Maintenance Fund for Burlington County Hospital Will be Solicited

Just a few days more and the campaign for the collection of funds for the maintenance of the Burlington County Hospital during the coming year will be in progress.

The people of the county will be asked to raise a fund of $50,000 to take care of the charity work that is being done at the hospital. When it is considered that this is the first maintenance fund drive since 1925 there is every reason to believe that the response to the call will be immediate and liberal.

The hospital as now operated has been such an important part in the life of Burlington county that it is certainly a necessity that cannot be denied and the people who know what is being done to take care of suffering humanity on a strictly charity basis are ready to lend a hand in carrying on the campaign to begin on October 14 to get this maintenance money.

On the hospital's charity list there are several outstanding cases in which the limit of attention is given, and it is not necessary to go back beyond September 5 to cite the case of a colored woman who was re-admitted to the hospital on that date. She had been a patient at the old hospital several times and had been at the hospital twice since the opening in May.

The social worker visited the home last winter, found the husband out of work and seven children not old enough to add to the income of the family. The family was living in two small rooms in a rooming house and was in great want. With the efforts of the friendly institution, food and fuel were provided through the winter and early spring. The Social Service Department clothed the children and a public-spirited man gave the family rent free.

The first time the patient was admitted she was suffering from bronchitis and it appeared that tuberculosis of the lungs was developing. She improved very much and was discharged. This last time she was admitted she was carefully examined and the surgeons believed that she might become cured by operative procedure. This attention was given, the patient made a remarkable recovery and was discharged in good condition. In the meantime, work was found for the husband on a farm where he could get rent free, fuel potatoes and a small salary. The Friendly Society moved these people down into the country, and through this assistance and other co-operative agencies the family has been rehabilitated and is able to stand alone.

Such things are happening right along in the routine work of the hospital, but they seldom reach the ears of the public because they are done quietly and without any thought of having them shouted from the house tops. It is only when some one digs them out, as was done in this case, that the people at large are made acquainted with the real extent of the hospital's service to the community.

This is the character of work that attracts the attention and receives the support of big women and men of the county who want to see that the hospital is kept in proper condition, financially and otherwise, to meet every demand made upon it. The managers are merely asking this year for sufficient money to operate the hospital that the people have erected in such a handsome way. They are sure that $50,000 will be needed for charity work, and under the circumstances they have a feeling that the campaign will be a success.

5c IS ENOUGH FOR A GOOD SMOKE

It Buys a Dandy Cigar—If You're a Good Picker

No doubt you've done your share of hunting for "a good five-cent smoke." And finally decided "there ain't no such thing." Well—here's the liveliest tip ever handed you: Havana Ribbon. Try that cigar, sir, and you'll be playing five-cent limit till the cows come home.

Havana Ribbon is as different from ordinary five-centers as a home run is different from a pop fly. That's because we've landed squarely on the secret of what makes a cigar good: Ripe tobacco. Unlike the average nickel cigar, Havana Ribbon contains no bitter under-ripe nor flat-tasting over-ripe leaves. No "scraps" or cuttings discarded in the making of higher priced cigars. But only long-riper, fully-ripe leaves from the mid-section of choice tobacco plants.

"Sounds reasonable," you say. Why, man, it's nothing short of amazing! Sold everywhere. Also Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

MORE YOUNG MEN JOIN "AG" COURSES

The four year courses, commonly called the "long courses" of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, started the fall term on September 21 with a total enrollment of 121. By classes the agriculture students consisted of 13 seniors, 19 juniors, 40 sophomores, and 49 freshmen. This is the largest agricultural enrollment at the New Jersey college in recent years, according to Howard F. Huber, acting secretary of the institution.

The agricultural students come from both city and country homes to receive training for future work in practical farming, in high school and college teaching, research in agricultural science, and business in agricultural fields. In order to fit these men properly for such varied work it is necessary to give a broad training in the fundamental sciences underlying agriculture. Courses in chemistry, botany, mathematics, zoology, bacteriology, entomology, economics, rural sociology, history, and English are required of all men, who pursue the same work the first two years.

The last two years are devoted to more special work in which there are Japanese beetle quarantine restrictions have been lifted from all inter-state movement of farm products by C. F. Marvin, acting secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

No wonder the farmers have surplus crops they can't dispose of, with all the flappers denying themselves food while trying to reduce their weight.

Freeholders Asked to Make Improvement Between Delanco and Beverly

A delegation composed of Thomas Lee, former Mayor of Beverly, Dilwyn Stevenson, president of Beverly Council, and Harry Reisinger, of the U. S. C. I. & Co., of Burlington, appeared before the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday with a suggestion for widening the road twenty feet between Beverly and Delanco. The present roadway ranges from 18 to 22 feet in width.

The committee pointed out the necessity for a wider roadway at this point owing to the heavy traffic and said most of the property owners along the line were willing to donate a ten-foot strip for the proposed improvement.

Mr. Lee, who is a heavy owner of property in this section, said he thought the increase in the value of lots along the line could more than compensate the owners for the land surrendered. The cost of the improvement is estimated at $100,000. In what proportion this sum is to be divided between the state, county and Beverly city, has not been worked out.

Should Act Now

Mr. Lee and his colleagues stressed the fact that the improvement could be made at this time at much less cost than in the future, after buildings have been erected on the adjoining land, which has been laid out in building lots.

The Board instructed County Engineer H. B. Smith to make a survey of the section of highway involved in the proposed plan.

In connection with the proposed widening, the Delaware River Water Company sought permission of the Freeholders to excavate and reset fire hydrant openings now, as it would be much cheaper at this time and would save the new road from being torn up for that purpose. The proposition met with the favor of the Freeholders, but was referred to Freeholder Stout, of the Road Committee, for further consideration.

Freeholder Fisher reported that two automobiles had been damaged by coming in contact with a hinge on the turntable of the Centerton bridge, and while the trouble on the bridge will be repaired immediately, he felt that the county should recompense the men for the expense incurred, if it were not establishing a bad precedent. The matter was referred to Solicitor Wells. A Mr. Stowe and Mr. Steiner were the owners of the cars.

5 Percent Increase

A communication from the State Board of Taxes and Assessments called attention to the fact that Burlington county's assessment would be increased 5 percent instead of 10. The letter was accompanied by a table showing the increase in the various counties of the state.

The Public Service Gas and Electric Company was given permission to erect 65 poles and string wires on the Medford and Red Lion road.

Freeholder Fisher called attention to the fact that the county was in a position to do work under the law and that the work could be done immediately. The probable cost will be $1,200 and the resolution authorizing the work to be done was voted "yes" by the entire board.

The following bills were ordered paid: Bonds, $12,978.76; bridges, $2,476.86; finance, $799.07; public affairs, $8,100.03; public buildings, $9,814.24; making a total of $29,659.11.

The entire production is under the personal direction of the Musical Carra. Included in the cast of over fifty players are some of the best known players of the talented younger set. Dorothy Robinson, Dorothy Rogers, Clark Johnson, George Amos, Marjorie Roberts and a host of others.

There will be one show each evening, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. Doors open at 7:15; admission 75 cents—no reserved seats.

No man and no woman will make a mistake in voting for Mr. Hoover. He stands for that which is best in government; above all he stands as the unqualified, tried and trusted servant of the people.

remitted. The list was referred to the finance committee for consideration before final action was taken.

Chief Walter Armstrong, of the Riverton Fire Company, reported that the new fire apparatus purchased a little more than a year ago was not working satisfactorily and never had. He claimed that the engine lacked power, and that notwithstanding the company from which it was purchased had sent mechanics to Riverton several times to remedy the difficulty, results were not satisfactory.

Asks Prompt Action

The clerk was instructed to write to the American-La France Company, asking the situation and asking for immediate action.

Mayor Rogers brought up the subject of repairing the roadway on Thomas avenue where it had been cut up to install the new street lights, and Councilman Welsh, chairman of the lighting committee, said that he would take the matter up with the Public Service.

William Lynch, chairman of the highway committee, reported that he had raised the crossing at Broad and Fulton streets to do away with a muddy condition which had existed there for some time.

Reporting for the sewer committee, Councilman Hubbs asked that maps be prepared showing the location of all sewer lines in the borough, and was authorized to see what could be done towards securing such maps. Clerk Daniel M. Clifton stated that the sewer maps were complete since 1916, and it would only be necessary to secure data prior to that year.

A resolution was passed empowering the finance committee to negotiate a loan not in excess of $25,000 in anticipation of taxes.

Alleged Assault

George D. Steele, a member of the Riverton School Board, asked Director Williams what steps had been taken in the matter of the alleged attempted assault on a little girl the previous Sunday night. Mr. Williams replied that the case had been reported to the police department and that he, in consultation with the officers, had worked on it during the night, but with no results. He said that the department was still looking for the man. The story, as related by Mr. Williams, was that about 7:30 p. m. a ten-year-old girl was escorted by a strange man on Howard street. He invited her to go with him to the river bank, but she refused. He then grabbed her by the hand and forced her to accompany him. On reaching the bank the child broke away and ran home, where she told her father of the circumstances. Mr. Steele said that this was the second time such an attempt had been made recently.

The building inspector reported permits granted for $1,776 worth of building operations and fees amounting to $10.

The medical inspector submitted his report and fees amounting to $7.

ROTARIANS ENJOY EVENING OF MUSIC

Splendid Program Arranged by Music Committee Surprises Members

As a departure from the usual literary evening the music committee of the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club was given charge of the meeting last week. Unusual taste was displayed in the selection of a program which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Chairman "Pat" Steele was apparently subdued by an unusual quiet spell, for he placed "Blah" Lockett in "charge-de-affairs."

The offerings on the program were presented by Miss Mary Steele, soprano; Miss Eleanor Cornell, pianist; and Alfred Van Orben, tenor, who was very ably accompanied by Mrs. Van Orben.

So thoroughly was the evening enjoyed that the members totally forgot the usual closing hour of the meeting and seemed disappointed as the program was concluded.

This Thursday evening will be designated as Ladies' Night. "Ed" Thum, chairman of the program-committee, has planned a big surprise and, according to all reports, it will be "all that."

Members will be present with their wives and the following program will be carried out. As it is a surprise, further details will have to be assumed, but no member should miss this event.

Dr. Dean LePaver, who has been a frequent guest of the club, and who has contributed to the enjoyment of the meetings by his playing of the piano, was duly admitted to the membership on Thursday evening last.

It was with regret that "Ed" Fish, of the fellowship committee, announced the illness of "Woody" Beldeman and "Chuck" Goelard. They both have the best wishes of the club for a speedy recovery.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edward P. Sardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Sardon, of Riverton, has been awarded "Freshman Honors" by vote of the faculty of Lehigh University, at Bethlehem, Pa.

This distinction goes annually to the first year student holding the highest scholastic record. The name of the winner was announced during the Founders' Day exercises on October 3, which is one of the most important events at the University. Young Sardon is a graduate of the Palmyra High School, where he made an excellent record.

The teaching corps of the Palmyra country school is the country school to report a one hundred per cent membership in the State Teachers' Association. A similar membership record has been reported in the National Educational Association.

Pupils of the High School are selling Christmas greeting cards for the benefit of the Athletic Association. The cards are of very fine quality and come twelve in a box. They may be obtained from any of the High School students for $2.00. The proceeds are to help pay the cost of school athletics and the townspeople are asked to help the good cause along.

Particular interest attaches to the new All-American because of the record of the Oakland company for introducing into the automotive field more new features than any other manufacturer. Among the Oakland-pioneered advances are four-wheel brakes, Duco finish, the harmonic balancer, the G-M-R cylinder head, foot-controlled head lights, oil filter, air cleaner and fuel pump.

"Feather" Says:

Baseball is in grave danger of losing the title as the "National Game." Golf, that young upstart for old men, is capturing the interest of young America in the same degree that baseball did some twelve or fifteen years ago. Then it was baseball on vacant lots or Saturday mornings. Now it's caddyding at the Country Club all day Saturday and Sunday. Kids nowadays beg for cast-off golf clubs as eagerly as they once haunted big league parks for bats; it has even gone so far that in some clubs signs have been posted requesting kids to cease picking up lost balls until they have stopped rolling. Ask a kid what Babe Ruth is batting and ten to one he won't know, but most of them can tell the number of strokes Bobby Jones used to win his last tournament.

What Is This Golf?

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a rich man to enjoy it. It is physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200.00 clubhouse.

Golf is what letter carrying, ditch digging and carpet beating would be if these three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gawky-looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood.

Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up and the toughest looking after you have been at it for ten or twelve years.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected grass with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75 cents to $25.00. It is possible to support a family of ten people—all adults—for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course consists of 18 holes, 17 of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of the "green." A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.00 a blade and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees and a lot of unfinished excavations.

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the 18 cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words.

The ball must not be thrown, pushed, or carried. It must be propelled by a family of ten people—all adults—for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know the purpose of each one. They are the exceptions.

After each hole has been completed, the golfer counts his strokes, then subtracts six and says, "Made it in five; that's one above par. Shall we play for fifty cents on the next hole, too, Ralph?"

After the final eighteenth hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached 87. He then takes a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline," and calls it the end of a perfect day.

LEGION AUXILIARY

A good time is ahead, members!

Friday evening, November 3, the Post and Auxiliary are going to give a Halloween Party in the Legion Home. And how! Fun for everyone is promised. Charlie Seemiller has a "bag of tricks" for that evening and the games that boy has planned! A six-piece orchestra will furnish the music and you know the ladies never "stink" on the cats! Get in touch with those in charge of this affair and see what you can do to help!

Oh, where, oh, where, has my little dog gone? sang a certain gentleman. Finally it and many other "dogs" were located at Giberson's Grove last Saturday evening, when we held our "Doggie Roast." But how those dogs disappeared! This surely was a jolly affair and those who missed it have reason to be sorry. The "menu" for this occasion was: Hot dogs, toasted sandwiches of all varieties, coffee, toasted marshmallows and apples. Doesn't that sound good? It was!

Now don't forget to hunt out the masquerade suits for Friday evening, November 3!

VOSBURY TALKS TO LIONS CLUB

Varied Tasks of Municipal Engineers Explained by Camden Experts

DeWitt Vosbury, of the engineering firm of Remington and Vosbury, of Camden, addressed the Palmyra-Riverton Lions Club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Vosbury's firm acts as municipal engineers for fifty-five boroughs and townships in South Jersey, including Palmyra.

The speaker explained that the municipal engineer could be merely a rubber stamp, performing only the mechanical and technical work asked of him, or he could be a vital factor in the development and progress of a community. It is the latter ideal to which the Remington and Vosbury firm adheres.

Not only does this firm manage the engineering features of municipal improvements, but it advises governmental bodies as to the necessity of such improvements and their proper cost and helps to sell the idea to the public.

To be of real service it is necessary for the engineering firm to be organized on a large scale, so that it may embrace experts in all the various lines required by the rapidly growing communities it serves. Such a firm has Remington and Vosbury become.

The speaker also related many interesting and amusing incidents which he has experienced during his career. One time he found petrified fish far under the surface at Pitman. Another time a drill struck a log 800 feet below the surface at Seaside Park, showing that the ocean once covered this territory with a great depth.

While drilling a well in the Mississippi Valley, the drill passed through a mine stable 300 feet below the surface, killing a mule. When the drill came up covered with blood there was great excitement. The workmen thought their drill had struck Old Nick himself and were in great terror until the right explanation was learned two or three days later.

everyone in this vicinity. The Nash cars range in price from $885 to $1,990. The Nash company makes Standard, Special and Advanced sizes in many beautiful colors and models. A carload of new Nash cars is expected within a week.

Reed Smoot, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has renewed his attack upon the Democratic pro-temotions of sympathy with business and on its platform declarations on the tariff. His first attack, made about ten days ago, dealt with generalities. His second attack goes into particulars. He makes it clear that the Democratic party cannot be trusted with tariff legislation.

President, Irene Snelson; vice-president, Anna Yerkes; secretary, Dorothy Randolph; treasurer, Helen Andrews.

Tonight (Thursday) the Burlington County Council of Religious Education will hold its convention in the Calvary Presbyterian Church of Riverton. All who are interested in Bible School work are urged to attend and profit by the exchange of many ideas and co-operative plans.

Sunday's services will be held in the P. O. S. of A. Hall, with the following Department session in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Pastor Lockett's topic for the morning worship will be "The More Excellent Way."

In the evening the pastor's third sermon in the "Heroes-of-the-Cross" series will consider "Devotionals."

As the new church and school edifices are completed many thoughts have turned back a few years to recall the splendid work done in the Bible School by the late J. Otto Thilow, who was superintendent of the school for twenty-five years and senior deacon of the church. A plan has been suggested for a memorial service to be held soon to prepare for a fitting tribute to his memory, in the new building. More details will be announced on Sunday.

CHRIST CHURCH, PALMYRA

Rev. G. J. McCormack, Rector

The Rector will resume his work this coming Sunday, October 21, at the morning and evening service. There will be no early morning service until further notice.

A very grateful memory of my many kindnesses, both of my own people and my many good friends, will remain for many a long day, and I know that all who know me will realize my very heartfelt thanks.

I am asking my own congregation to rally fresh and with the help of the different officers and societies more than keep up the splendid work they have so loyally maintained during my illness.

The Girls' Friendly Society will meet every week as usual. The Seniors at 10:30 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon, "In the Garden of Eden," 2:30 P. M.—Sunday School, 8:00 P. M.—Evening Sermon, "The Hidden Life of Man."

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held Monday and the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. William Branson. Vice-President—Mrs. J. B. King. Secretary—Mrs. E. E. Fox. Treasurer—Mrs. Frank Stanton. Supply Secretary—Mrs. B. S. Torbet.

The reports were very encouraging and the finances in excellent shape. Services on Sunday next: 10:30 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon, "In the Garden of Eden," 2:30 P. M.—Sunday School, 8:00 P. M.—Evening Sermon, "The Hidden Life of Man."

I know not where His islands lift Their trampled palms in air; I only know I cannot drift Beyond His love and care.

—Whittier.

Rev. W. M. Erhard, Pastor

Mr. Arthur P. Black, executive secretary of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship, will be the speaker this coming Sunday morning.

Mr. Black is acclaimed the leading speaker in our United Lutheran Church on the subject of stewardship. What is more important for us to hear than an inspiring talk on a subject which is most in the concern of every loyal First Lutheran member?

Mr. Black is much in demand as a speaker and organizer. It was only after considerable correspondence that we arranged the date, as his open hours were very scarce. He will broadcast the Sunday School lesson over a radio station of Washington, D. C.

Now, if Mr. Black is willing to take his valuable time and go to the expense to be with us, to help us in our time of need, shouldn't we, each and every one of us, not only a scattering few, come out to hear him. We must not expect others who would have no interest in us, except as they are lovers of the Christian brethren through Christ, to come such distances, and then fail to be greeted by capacity audience, when they arrive.

We cannot expect others to go to more pains in helping our cause, than we are willing to go to ourselves.

Luther League rally at St. John's Lutheran Church, Camden, Thursday, October 23. All members and others who are to go as visitors will meet at the church promptly at 7:30 P. M. If we receive the banner, another time we shall equal the record for holding the banner in the district. But let us not go only for the banner, but more for the inspiration which comes from meeting together.

Mr. S. S. Buchholz will be the leader at the devotional service of the Luther League Sunday evening at 8:45. The topic is "Can All Be Missionaries?" Acts 8:1-13.

Junior Luther League on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. Please note the change from Friday evening.

Eden Bible Class Halloween Party will be held on Saturday evening, October 27. The entire congregation is invited. Further announcements will appear later.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a chicken and waffle supper on Friday evening, November 10. A cake sale and the annual bazaar will be conducted the same evening.

AVIATION CAUSES HEAVY TRAFFIC

Attractions at Moorestown Airport and Lakehurst Jam Roads With Cars

Aviation gave Moorestown one of the heaviest traffic jams ever experienced over the weekend.

Due to the joint attractions at the Moorestown Airport and Lakehurst, all main thoroughfares were congested with automobiles Saturday and Sunday, and naturally, the number of arrests for motor vehicle law violations were unusually high.

William W. Schemel, of Haddon Heights, heads the list as a "hit-run" driver. He was arrested by Officer Ralph Marks and Howard Davis Sunday and has been committed to the county jail at Mount Holly in default of fines and costs amounting to $128 by Recorder Joseph W. Johnston. All offenders were tried before Recorder Johnston in Town Hall.

Schemel was accused of failing to stop after his auto had struck a car driven by Henry Sholl, 2457 South Seventh street, Camden, at the intersection of Main and Church streets. Saturday's reckless drivers included Robert F. Hodgson, Highland Park, Pa., Ida Kustin, New York City, and Harry W. Orlinson, 1190 Morton street, Camden. All were fined $10 and costs. Hodgson and the Gotham woman were arrested by Officer Walter A. Erickson while the third offender was arrested by Officer Bruce MacDonald.

Sunday Officer Erickson arrested Charles Schaffer, Bayside, N. Y., Louis Rolando, 4652 Melrose street, Philadelphia, and Harry Dresner, 315 Gross street, Philadelphia. All were charged with reckless driving. Schaffer paid $10 and costs while the other two escaped with $5.00 fines. Harry Stewart, Margate, was arrested by Officer Ralph Marks last Friday. The shore resident likewise was accused of being a reckless driver and was assessed $5.00 and costs.

GREAT AIR MEET HISTORY-MAKING EVENT

Lieutenant E. G. Pennock circled and combed the field for fifteen minutes in the Aero Club's blue and yellow Waco while Mrs. H. H. Longaker, wife of the club's president, rode as a passenger and threw out hundreds of tiny American flags to signify the official dedication of the airport.

President Longaker, as Director General of the air meet, then started the air races that thrilled the thousands of spectators for the remainder of the afternoon. The races were flown at the top-speeds of which the various ships were capable and were over a six-mile, triangular air course marked out by pylons, one of which was placed in the center of the Moorestown field. As each of the daredevil pilots rounded this pylon with a vertical bank, their planes at full throttle, many spectators held their breath and gasped until the pilot again levelled off for another two-mile straightaway to the next turning point.

Seven Thrilling Events
Five racing events were followed by four parachute drops for prizes to the men landing nearest to a designated spot. A dead-stick landing contest from a 1500-foot altitude culminated the thrills of the afternoon. The winning pilot in this event landed his motorless ship only 24 feet from the spot designated, having maneuvered his plane to the ground with care that was almost precise.

In the evening at 8.30 a private banquet at the Walt Whitman Hotel was tendered to the visiting pilots and special guests by members of the local flying club. The $50.00 prizes, loving cups donated by the Moorestown Chamber of Commerce, and the handsome wrist watches were presented to the winners of the various events after the banquet.

On Sunday, beginning at 10 a. m. and continuing until dark, hundreds of air-minded passengers were afforded the opportunity to hop aloft in any of the commercial ships that were on the field and the ships were kept busy with these trips continually during the entire day.

Jensen Kept Busy
The reported nearness of the Graf Zeppelin to its destination at Lakehurst kept Martin Jensen busy all day flying the famous Aloha to Lakehurst and return every forty minutes with four passengers at a time.

Aside from the honor of riding in a trans-Pacific plane, Sunday's trip to Lakehurst by air was one of unusual interest and beauty. Those passengers who were fortunate enough to make the trip from Moorestown in the Aloha saw New Jersey's forests, a quilt work in brilliant scarlet, magenta, green, buff, and tan. Contrasting was the cedar's dark green and through it all the occasional gleam of a strip of white sand appeared. Watching from above one realized the impotence of artists. The Aloha's windows presented a marvelous panorama of autumn's pigments unseen by less hardy travelers who clung to the earth.

Both ends of the Aloha's route seemed to show a concentrated collection of half of the motoring world—masses of shiny, black objects dotted the edges of both the Lakehurst Airport and its sister field at Moorestown—cars, thousands of them had brought their thousands of passengers to the air terminals. Thoughts of aircraft filled the air.

Many of the Sunday spectators at Moorestown thought the breath-taking stunts of the three crack Marine fliers in the afternoon to be the most worth-watching event of the entire meet. These flying leathernecks from the Marine Corps Air Base at Quantico, Va., are masters of aerial acrobatics. They were Captain W. W. Neill, Lieutenant John McQuade and

Lieutenant W. L. Pugh.

Although late in getting started, due to last-minute adjustments of the parachutes, two intrepid jumpers dropped 1500 feet before a crowd of 25,000 spectators at the end of the day's activities on Sunday. Sergeant Kelly, who was the first to leap from the soaring plane, made a perfect landing. Charles De Bever, who jumped next from the same plane, caused the crowd to miss many heartbeats as he rapidly descended 800 feet with his chute only partly open, but due to his skillful manipulation of the silken cords he floated his final 200 feet to a safe landing directly at the feet of the crowd along the Hartford-Westfield road.

As a special attraction and as a plan to further spread air-mindedness throughout the county the souvenir programs of the meet were stamped with numbers, some of which will be drawn each week for a period of four weeks and published in the newspapers of the county. Those holding the lucky numbered programs may bring the programs to the Moorestown Airport on the Sunday afternoon following publication and receive an absolutely free ride in one of the club's Waco ships. A new list of numbers will be published in the county papers each week.

President Longaker wishes to thank everyone who in any way assisted in making the air meet and dedication of the airport the great success that it was. The progressive club president is greatly encouraged by the evidence of interest shown at the meet and states that the club stands ready to serve the residents of the county in any way possible. Also, says Mr. Longaker, "the advancement of aviation in this great county is the Burlington County Aero Club's main project and any assistance citizens may render will be for a progressive, and unselfish cause."

Chamber's Cooperation
The Moorestown Chamber of Commerce expressed its appreciation of the club's work as follows: "Moorestown is particularly fortunate in having located within its limits the first Airport of the Burlington County Aero Club, a club composed of young men who in the spirit of adventure are carrying this community into a place of high standing among towns of like size. They have by their seal and energy created that spirit of progress that may well be prized by any community. That spirit has carried us to a position abreast the times and we take this opportunity to acknowledge our obligation to them for the advantages they have brought us through their enterprise."

The great air meet at Moorestown last weekend in addition to being an aerial show, the largest demonstration of its kind yet held in New Jersey, has been a means of creating much goodwill among the various communities and of spreading favorable publicity for many miles.

The officials of the meet were T. Sanford Baltus, representative of the National Aeronautical Association, starter; Henry A. Berliner, Major Templeton Joyce and Clarence E. Worrell, judges and Lieut. C. William Glase, Ellis H. McAllister and Benjamin P. Rumpeltes, timers.

TWO CHARGES EXPLODED

Acting apparently on the theory that the public can be made to believe anything, the Democrats have attempted in their farm propaganda to establish two points—first, that the Republican Party was responsible for the post-war deflation in agriculture; and second, that the Republican administration has done little or nothing to relieve that situation. Both these contentions are unfounded. This fact is well known and easily may be demonstrated even to those who have had no opportunity to examine the facts.

In 1920 the Federal Reserve Board ordered a severe restriction of credits which brought an immediate slump in the price of agricultural products. Within less than a year, corn fell from $1.53 to 60 cents; cattle from $15.38 to $8.09; wheat from $2.80 to $1.43, and other prices accordingly. This deflation took place under a Democratic administration and nearly a year before the Republicans came to power. That the deflation did not come even more rapidly was due largely to the fact that Herbert Hoover succeeded in disposing of vast quantities of food-stuffs in Central Europe at a time when every possible obstacle was placed in his way.

When the Republicans came into power, the farmers of the United States already were in acute distress and were on the verge of complete disaster. The Republican Congress immediately undertook the enactment of a series of fiscal measures designed to supply emergency credit needs of the farmer and to provide the machinery for permanent credit on a sound basis.

Since 1921 Republican administrations have made available to agricultural borrowers a total of $274,164,040. This takes no account of $10,000,000 voted by Congress in 1921 at the instigation of Secretary Hoover for the purchase of American food supplies in Russia.

In the same period, under the Farm-ers' Emergency Tariff and the Fordney-McCumber Tariff which protects more agricultural products than any other in history, the farm price of wheat has increased 60 percent, rye 20 percent, corn 70 percent, oats 30 percent, barley 60 percent, flaxseed 27 percent, beef cattle 80 percent, calves 50 percent, butter 15 percent, hogs 25 percent, sheep 80 percent, lambs 75 percent, and wool 100 percent.

No other class of citizens in the United States, no other industry or group of industries has been so directly aided by the federal government to tide them over a crisis as has agriculture during the last seven years.

UNANSWERABLE

The record, about which a certain candidate speaks so often and frequently so recklessly, can't be effaced, it is true.

For that reason, unless there are good reasons to nullify it, the record must stand. In this case, no such reason exists.

So, it is only fair to say, in spite of the fact that the New York World is supporting Governor Smith, that its editorial on February 20, 1920, still constitutes one of the strongest reasons for the election of Herbert Hoover as President of the United States. Therein the World stated:

"Those qualifications and achievements which make Herbert Hoover so eminently desirable as the next President of the United States have never been better described than by Charles E. Hughes at the Carnegie Hall meeting at which the Civic Forum's medal for distinguished public service was conferred upon Mr. Hoover:

"The Americanism of Hoover is shown in every deed, in every utterance. His achievements glorify the nation and established prestige for the American name abroad which even the mistakes of diplomacy cannot obscure. He bears a name illustrious because of remarkable achievements;

but best of all, it is a name untarnished, expressive not only of exceptional ability but of the simple life of a modest citizen."

"This is the opinion of a man who has been a distinguished governor of New York, a distinguished Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and the Republican candidate for President of the United States. It is likewise the opinion of an increasingly great number of American citizens of all parties, men and women alike. Where is there another candidate, Democratic or Republican, to match him?"

The World's question then, and now, is unanswerable.

TARIFF AND WORKING CONDITIONS

Henry M. Leland, of Detroit, founder of the Lincoln Motor Company, is speaking:

"Our 30,000,000 wage earners work altogether the shortest hours and receive by far the largest wages of any wage earners on earth. If tariff schedules are reduced to a point where manufacturers in the cheap-labor countries of Europe can bring their products into this country and undersell our own products, there is then one of two things for our industries to do and that is, reduce wages to meet that competition, or else close down their plants and throw millions of our workmen into idleness. Our people largely spend as they go; in fact, many of them spend far in advance of their incomes, and the want and distress which would result from the cutting off of their incomes, and the result to their creditors, are absolutely indescribable."

Mr. Leland is not merely viewing with alarm for political effect. His statement is a well-reasoned argument for the continuation of Republican policies under the leadership of Herbert Hoover. It is a statement which concerns every man who works and every man who has what Mr. Hoover calls "the will to work."

There can be no doubt that the prosperity which has characterized the administration of President Coolidge is due in no small measure to the operation of the protective tariff, the central principle of the Republican economic doctrine. "Coolidge prosperity" is actual, not mythical. The proof is to be found in the fact that 4,000,000 more men are now employed than at the beginning of this administration, that wages are high and living conditions better, the agriculture has largely recovered from the condition into which it was pitched by the Underwood tariff, that the business outlook continues to grow better.

If the worker in the United States is to preserve his home from want, he must have a protected market—a market of the sort which a fair, protective tariff guarantees.

Mr. Leland talks dollars-and-cents wisdom when he calls attention to the danger of lowering the tariff. Protective workers of whatever sort or class will do well to heed his words."

On the various subjects of internal policy, such as the development of waterways, Governor Smith's views, which are general in their generality, run rather parallel to those of Mr. Hoover, and in this respect he is at a disadvantage, for the public has every reason for confidence in Mr. Hoover's special and exceptional equipment to deal soundly and constructively with the whole complicated problem of internal development.

It is easy to coin a catch phrase, but it is a deep-seated truth behind the middle westerner's witicism that one would rather eat than drink. It means that with many people the economic argument (prosperity) rather than prohibition will dictate their ballot.

This Week

A REAL KING.

THE RIGHT ANSWER.

LADY ASTOR RETURNS.

AMERICAN ENGLISH.

King Zogu, of Albania, pulled down the flag of the republic and made himself king. A stalwart Albanian of the old kind that used to chase travelers with bear hounds, Zogu has modern ways, with a neat little moustache, clipped on both sides in the modern fashion, and more medals than Marshal Foch ever had.

Some asked why Zogu be a real king. But no more doubt. He arrested 300 conspirators against his throne, hanged eleven and will probably hang more.

The answer by President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg to the Franco-British plan for a naval agreement notifies Europeans, none too soon, that this is an independent country, not a British or French dominion.

It is refreshing and reassuring to read in the plainest kind of English that the United States "cannot consent to proposals which would leave the door wide open to unlimited building of certain types of ships of a highly efficient combatant value (to France and England), and would impose restrictions only on those types peculiarly suitable to American needs."

This nation should now build whatever it NEEDS. Cruisers, submarines and airplanes, especially the last two.

"We have the money," as Britain used to say, and should outbuild France and Britain combined.

Lady Astor, born in Virginia, busy now in the House of Commons, returns to the United States, saying, "The women of the world are organizing for peace." They have always been organizing for peace, and manufacturing sons for war.

American "talking movies" seen and heard in England, arouse enthusiasm and prediction that the silent picture is doomed.

British critics suggest that American actors should "cultivate Oxford accent." They don't like our brand of English.

Perhaps the talking movies will teach them to like the American language, just as they have been taught by our silent movies to like American clothes and some other things.

Alcoholic drinks under prohibition are various. In the South "white mule," powerful alcohol made of corn, is popular.

In the Middle West "needing" beer is drunk by workmen. It is "legal" beer, originally containing no alcohol, but brought up to a high alcoholic percentage by "needing" it with alcohol, procured by redistilling denatured alcohol bought at gasoline stations.

New York City speakers, surrounding newspaper and other plants, sell "smoke," a deadly alcohol with a little ether added to give the cloudy, "smoke" effect. This drink is well described as follows: "Three shots and you know nothing until next day."

Doctors in New York discuss "How to fight old age."

Dr. Vincent says doctors "concentrate on old people after they are ill, instead of keeping them well."

Luigi Corrao solved his problem, starting at forty, when given up by doctors. He lived to one hundred and two, mounting his horse without assistance at ninety-five, and wrote to the Pope: "I had to live to ninety years old to know that the world is beautiful."

Will Rogers Says—

Well, the Campaign is degenerating into just what I thought it would. It started out to be honorable. It was a noble experiment but it just didn't bring home any soup bones.

At first we was all hearing so many whippers that it began to look like everybody that spoke to you had colds their voice. We layed it to bad colds for a while, then we discovered that everybody coudden have Phenomena at once.

The funny thing about it was that the things they had been whispering was not as bad as the things they were saying out loud. So they quit whispering and started saying worse things at the top of their voices.

Oh, it's a Gentlemen's game? Everybody is of a "high type"—all the time comes when there is something worth while to be little over, then they revert to type.

But through all this our old Anti-Sunk Party has maintained its dignity. As the candidate, I am not running about the country shouting in everybody's ear, "as I said so ably in my acceptance speech."

We didn't say anything in our acceptance speech. We didn't even accept and at that we said more than they did. They can always bring up their acceptance speech, for that is as far back as they want their record looked into while the campaign is going on.

WILL ROGERS.

The POLITICAL PARADE

By HARRY R. BLACKMAN

Six weeks ago Herbert Hoover returned from California to be confronted with the assertion that the Republican party was on the defensive in the east, and that herculean effort must be made to save the states along the Atlantic seaboard from going over to the enemy.

The campaign program of the Republican party in the east since that time has been to get Mr. Hoover's stand on the important issues of the day before the voters, and the effort to win has been no more intensive than in states further west. Today the Democratic party is fighting the defensive battle in the east according to the press although its leaders launched their drive in this section far in advance of the Republican counter effort. The hope of Democratic leaders in the east is now confined to two or three states, in every one of which Republican strength is reported to be increasing every day.

"That much progress in six weeks is a fair indication of the strength of the Republican ticket and of the failure of the Democratic candidate to sell to the nation an uncertain program for the future."

Eighty-six newspapers which are listed as Democratic or independent in their political preferences have come out editorially for Hoover and Curtis, according to a recent tabulation. They are located in 15 states, from Minnesota to Texas and from New York to San Francisco.

In every instance, their preference for the Republican candidates is based upon a sincere conviction that Herbert Hoover, with his remarkable record of administrative experience gained in tasks of unusual difficulty, would be a much more capable president than the Democratic nominee from the standpoint of the home, industry and agriculture.

A California presidential candidate has certain advantages which even astute politicians apparently had not realized before Mr. Hoover was selected. In order to direct his campaign from an eastern headquarters, as both parties usually do, the California contender must make two long trips, one from his home to the east and the other back to the west coast to vote, for California laws do not permit absentee voting. Thus he is able to cross the country at the beginning of the campaign and at the close, greeting thousands of voters en route.

The glittering but vague proposal which Governor Smith dangled before the farmers of the northwest at St. Paul promises to become a boomerang before the campaign is over. Senator Borah and other able Republican leaders have pointed out to agriculture in that section that the essential feature of the McNary-Haugen plan, the equalization fee, demands a high protective tariff on all farm products if it is to be effective at all. Governor Smith gave his assurance that he favors tariff duties any higher than those of the Underwood act, which left every commodity produced in the northwest open to destructive foreign competition.

Reports from that section indicate that farmers are rapidly realizing the extent to which they have been imposed on by the candidate who worked out his theories of agricultural aid in New York City. Probably some of them recall that ancient admonition, "Beware of the Greeks bearing gifts."

There is very tangible evidence of mutual admiration in the strong endorsement of Mr. Hoover's candidacy by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. When Col. Lindbergh returned from his epochal trans-Atlantic flight, he found one man in Washington to whom his ideas on the development of commercial aviation had immediate and tremendous appeal. That man was Herbert Hoover, who probably visualized the possibilities growing out of the Lindbergh flight more clearly than any other government official, as well as the great expansion of flying facilities necessary to prepare for the commercial conquest of the air.

Lindbergh's inspiration and Hoover's organizing ability have combined to produce, within a year's time, a national service of the airlines. The government has been well picked, for they represent the ideals that motivated Theodore Roosevelt.

The three are Charles Evans Hughes, former U. S. Secretary of State; Frank M. Chapman, noted ornithologist, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Mr. Hughes is honored for his work in the administration of public office and in the development of public and international law; Mr. Chapman for his studies of American bird life, and Colonel Lindbergh for the example he has given American youth, alike in peril and in triumph, of courage, modesty and steady judgment.

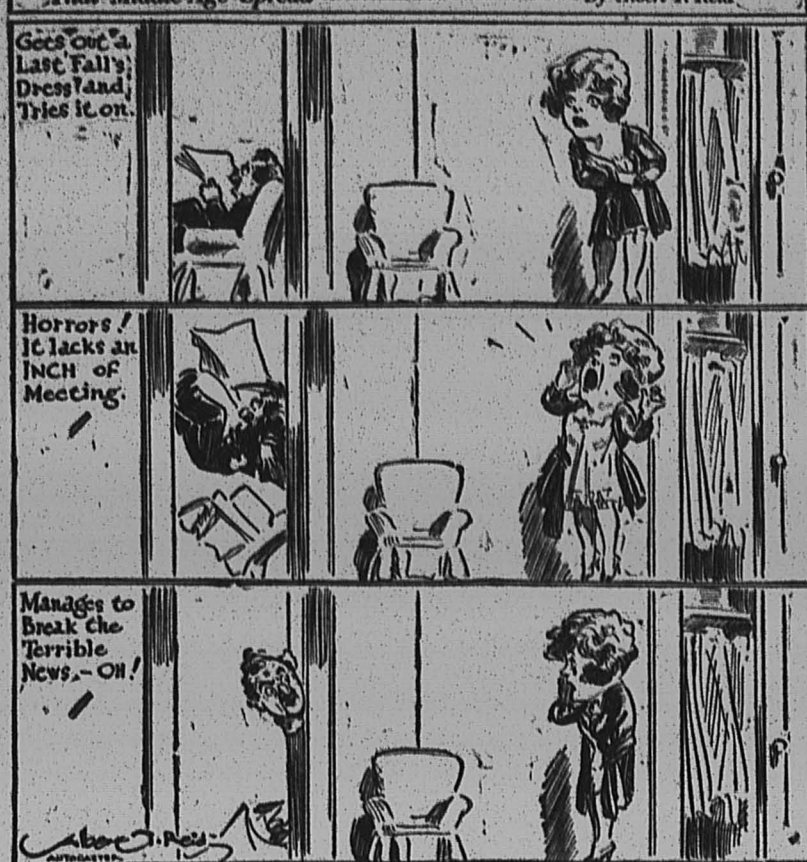

Truly the recipients of the Roosevelt Medal have been well picked, for they represent the ideals that motivated Theodore Roosevelt.

Like Charles Evans Hughes, Roosevelt was a noted administrator; like Frank M. Chapman, he was of a scientific turn, seeking always to add to the world's knowledge of the Kingdom of Nature; and like Colonel Lindbergh, he gave American youth a wonderful example of courage and achievement.

The anniversary of Roosevelt's birth could not be celebrated in a more fitting manner than in the award of the Roosevelt Medal to the three extraordinary Americans selected for the honor.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

INVESTMENTS

It is often as hard to keep money safely as it is to get it in the first place.

The best rule for an investor is to consult those responsible people who make a business of studying the market.

Go to your bank or to some established bond house and follow their advice. Don't listen to interested friends. Beware of people that have a sure thing.

The old rule is a good one, and that is the larger the returns the more risky the investment. Don't imperil the safety of your capital just for the sake of one or two per cent. interest. Americans are said to sink one billion dollars a year in bad investments. This is simply because they act on the advice of friends instead of financial specialists.

In the words of a recent magazine, "Americans who pride themselves on being the most thoroughly money-wise people on the earth, are annually putting a round billion dollars into dubious financial schemes, practically all of which is lost eventually. We know how to make money and probably are the best money makers in the world, but we don't know to invest it and take care of it."

Men are about as bad as women; in fact, if anything, women are the shrewder of the two. Don't go to your grocer or to a successful business friend, but to a financial expert for your advice. This is but common sense. You wouldn't go to your minister for medicine if you were sick. You wouldn't go to your doctor to talk about your soul. And when you want to talk about your money go to an expert.

The investment business is constantly growing more complex. It is impossible for any person of the ordinary type to make intelligent selections himself.

Any modern bank will supply you with an investment expert, and it is a good plan to listen to his advice. He may not offer you securities bringing great returns, but his counsel will be safe.

Even the wisest managers of their own business dare not trust their judgment in the matter of investments. There are so many securities on the market, some of them extremely hazardous and by badly managed concerns, that only one familiar with investments can weed these out and tell you what is safe.

Above all you do not want to imperil your principal, and the more money you have the more necessary it is to consult those who know and to follow their own judgment.

International Sunday School Lesson for October 21

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

II Corinthians 8:1-9; 9:6-7, 10

Rev. Samuel D. Price, World's Sunday School Association

It is possible for a teacher to get so much attention that the people will not listen to his message. This was the case with Paul at Ephesus after the uproar, when multitudes rushed to the theatre and cried against his interference with the sale of images and charm verses. Then it seemed wise to follow the letter which he had recently written to the Corinthians. Titus had been the messenger and this man is now in Macedonia and gives a good report of what had been adverse conditions in the Thessalonian city. At once Paul writes the second letter to the church at Corinth and dispatches it by Titus. Now read that entire epistle, and then read chapters 8-9 which give the full context for this lesson study.

One of the points under discussion at the Church Council in Jerusalem, A. D. 50 was the adequate care of the impoverished Jewish Christians in that city. While certain freedom of action was accorded the Gentile converts to Christianity the obligation was laid on them to make continued contributions for their needy brethren who were related to the mother church. This, Paul and his collaborators were always diligent in doing. In writing the former letter to Corinth (I Cor. 16:1) the question of gifts had been brought to their attention. In this second epistle a direct appeal follows the former suggestion.

"Going over the top" was a familiar expression in raising funds during the recent war time. Quotas were assigned and rival cities were stimulated by telling what the other had done or could do. Paul arouses the ambition of the Corinthians by telling what the people of Macedonia did in previous giving for the same Jerusalemites. From their "deep poverty" they had an "abundance of joy" in the "riches of their liberality." No pressure had been needed. In fact the Macedonians had begged the privilege of sharing in "this grace and the fellowship of ministering to the saints." The reason the people of that Macedonian church were so eager to share

"yea and beyond their power" was that "first they gave their own selves to the Lord." Religion cannot be separated from giving. Costly shrines and expensive systems of religion, out of all proportion to the ability of the people, are maintained in non-Christian lands because the inhabitants fear to do otherwise. The people in Corinth know how much local idolatries had cost. The making and idolizing of images had been the reason for the recent disturbance at Ephesus. All such giving was non-productive for others in need. Paul comes forward with a humanitarian principle that is empowered with a rich, spiritual motive. The strongest kind of a supporting appeal is made in the reference to Founder of their faith, as he tells them "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might become rich." 2 Cor. 8:9. Only as we share what we have as others are in need, do we evidence the sincerity of our declared love both for Christ and for mankind.

Giving is not to be a matter of compulsion or emotion. "Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart." It is sensible to have a budget of distribution, whether it is for the nation, firm, home or individual.

Republicans who vote for Smith with no other thought than entering a protest against the Amendment would seriously regret their mistake should they find the country plunged into the business upheaval which experience with Democratic tariff bills has taught might be expected were Governor Smith and a Democratic Congress chosen.

Hoover will win * * *. And for this, when the heat of the fighting has passed, even the most ardent "wet" and the hottest of libertarians will be glad.

About Your Health

VARICOSE VEINS

Of course you know what I mean.

Those large, crooked vessels just beneath the skin of your legs, below the knee. They deform, and do not look good through a thin stocking; besides, if very large they may be painful after you have been on the feet a good while. Varicose veins may occur in several different localities; some forms of rectal disease are only varicose veins, but I shall confine this talk to such veins below the knees.

The cause is usually inflammation of the vein itself—its walls, I mean; this weakens the vessel, so that the blood-stream distends it more and more. Over-feeding on highly-seasoned foods and eating too much are remote causes, and aggravate existing varicosities.

You know, also, of various measures for relief from this condition. The most common is the elastic bandage or the rubber stocking. These, indeed, relieve immediate distress, but only while they are worn; they never cure. Chinese back the veins into short sections, drain, and heal the wounds rough, but radical. Surgeons remove the veins that are troublesome, but it's a bit of cutting—and people dread cutting, you know.

The best method for a radical cure, one that does not disable or inconvenience the patient much, is the injection method. It must be done by the physician, but results are very satisfactory. A point is selected where the swelling begins, that is, nearer the ankle—not at the top of the vessel treated. A solution is thrown into the vein that obliterates the canal; of course that vein is done for—and deeper veins must do its work, and will. The diseased vein becomes as a fibrous cord—it is cured. Your physician will tell you all about it. Go get well.

Tammany? No!

As heretofore noted, Mr. Hearst, noted newspaper and magazine publisher, has supplied some powerful reasons why Al Smith and his supporters cannot make prohibition the dominant issue in this campaign.

He has also given strong reasons why the Democrats cannot be successful this time.

The first of these is his belief that the prohibition issue in a presidential campaign is distinctly a false issue, because prohibition is in the constitution, can only be taken out by a vote of three-fourths of the states, and these states must decide the whole matter. All a president can do is to make recommendations and all the Senate can do is to submit a resolution for the states to vote upon. Therefore, he concludes, the question must be fought out in the states and decided in state campaigns.

Another reason he thinks the Democrats cannot win this year is because the people of the United States don't want Tammany in control of the nation. "Tammany," he declares, "is a political Mafia, an organization of graft and political blackmail. The history of Tammany under Tweed and Croker and Murphy, and in fact the Tammany scandals in New York today, establish that fact beyond contradiction. It is bad enough to have Tammany in control of New York. It would be a calamity to have it in control of the United States."

This, indeed, is one of the strongest reasons why the people will not sanction the election of Governor Smith as president.—Clarkburg (W. Va.) Gazette.

Marlon's acetylene gas plant is well along to start operation.

About 30,000 bushels of cranberries have been gathered in the vicinity of Medford this season.

It is promised that the Mount Holly and Moorestown trolley road will be in operation some time this winter.

High street, Mount Holly, is being sprinkled every day this week during the Fair. It is done with the new Fair Association's new sprinkler.

An expert was in Mount Holly last week, explaining the operation of the voting machine that is to be used in the first district of Northampton township at the coming election. It is on exhibition in the cigar store of Walter T. Stewart, township clerk.

Turner Birkhead's hosiery mill, Beverly, employing about 150 hands, was almost totally destroyed by the explosion of the boiler in the power plant on Monday morning. The loss is estimated at $40,000. Seventy-five machines were destroyed.

The great Mount Holly Fair is in full swing this week. There is a large number of exhibits. One that attracts much attention is a pumpkin, shown by Cooperstown Farmers' Club, that weighs 247 pounds. All the buildings look spick and span with a new coat of paint.

If automobiles continue in popularity, managers of the Mount Holly Fair will be compelled in the future to set aside a large space for storing cars of spectators.

The carcass of a man-eating shark floated ashore at Bristol, Pa., last week. It was seven feet long and is supposed to have been killed by being struck by the propeller of a steamboat.

It is stated that the Pennsylvania railroad is getting estimates to double track the road between Mount Holly and Camden. The cost is estimated at a quarter million dollars.

October 16, 1903
Halter and Union fire companies, of Mount Holly, will take part in the big firemen's parade and carnival in Bordentown tomorrow.

Ceremonies incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the Masonic Orphanage, near Burlington, took place on Saturday. There was a large attendance of members of the order.

Torrents of rain which fell on Thursday and Friday caused an unusually high crest in the Rancocas creek and the lower section of Mount Holly was flooded. Streets were covered with water, including sections of Mill and Washington streets. Cellars of hundreds of houses were filled with water. The eastern light plant was out of commission two days and nights because the lower floor of the power house on Water street was inundated.

Supreme Court Judge Garrison being unable to be present at the opening of the October term of court yesterday, County Judge Cassell charged the grand jury, of which Samuel L. Tomlinson, of Mount Holly, is foreman.

Henry C. Risdon, well-known resident of Mount Holly, died suddenly at his home on Garden street on Thursday evening. He had been in apparent health until a short time before he expired, when he was seized with an attack of indigestion. Heart failure is supposed to have caused death.

There were about seven railroad carloads of people that did not get to the fair on Thursday. The train arrived during the heavy rain that afternoon and the excursionists decided to remain in the cars until time for the return trip.

Some of the fine old maple trees which have adorned High street, Mount Holly, for many years, are being ruined by the gang of telephone linemen chopping huge limbs off in rebuilding the line through that thoroughfare. Entirely too much latitude is given corporations in this direction.

The total tax valuation of Chester Township is $2,721,582, which is $349,119 higher than that of Burlington City, the next largest in the county.

REPUBLICANS FIRST

G. O. P. Wins Preferred Position on Burlington County Ballots

In compliance with the provisions of the election law, County Clerk Reeves conducted a drawing last week to determine the positions of the Republican and Democratic candidates on the blanket election ballot to be used at the November election.

The drawing took place in the presence of a number of witnesses at the county clerk's office at Mount Holly.

The first slip of paper drawn was marked Republican, which places that party's candidates in the first column on the ticket. Last year those positions were reversed.

TRUCKS ALL TESTED

High standards of dependability and performance demanded by trucking and commercial hauling are insured by road tests for every truck that leaves the final assembly line of the Graham plant, truck division of Dodge Brothers. Despite record-breaking production and a heavy backlog of unfilled orders, the company insists that all trucks and commercial cars must be carefully tested on a concrete proving course within the factory grounds.

GLOVES SHOULD HARMONIZE

It is also important that the gloves be "right" for the trend costume. Colors should harmonize with the fabric instead of contrasting, and models should be strictly tailored. Suede, washable kid and cape leathers are all suitable, and the wrist strap style perhaps leads in favor.

Curbing the Growth of Weeds

This picture illustrates a process invented by a Hawaiian planter that may bring the weedless garden to every yard. The up-to-date crop producer applies paper to the floor of his garden, which shuts off the growth of weeds between rows and permits the real crops to obtain the full benefit of the moisture and plant food contained within the soil. Charles F. Eckert is the inventor of the unique method shown in this picture. The heavy paper is impregnated with asphalt. Among other advantages, this process eliminates the hoe.

SURVEY BEING MADE OF NEW SHORE ROAD

Proposed Highway Extends Through this County; Passes East of Mount Holly

A survey is being made of the new road from Yardley bridge, Trenton, to Dacosta on the White Horse pike, three miles east of Hammonton. A large force of surveyors has been placed in the field by the New Jersey Highway Commission.

This route will be largely for the accommodation of traffic from the eastern section of Pennsylvania north of and including Bucks county; from North Jersey and New York.

Beginning at the eastern end of the Yardley bridge, the road will by-pass Trenton by about a mile, passing Trenton Junction, Ewingville, Bakersville, Mercerville, to Bordentown. Instead of continuing to Burlington and the macarons to Mount Holly, the route will continue to the east through Columbus and by-passing Mount Holly and intersecting the main thoroughfare to Toms River, Seaside Park and points to the north.

The present road to Vincentown will be used, but on account of the narrowness of the main street, it is possible that a new road will be built to skirt the town. Tabernacle will be reached over the present road, which recently has been built. The Atson road will be reached at Indian Mills and on it traffic will move to the White Horse pike. At this junction traffic may continue either on the White Horse pike to Dacosta or may continue over a road equally good and skirting the southern part of Hammonton and meeting the White Horse pike at Dacosta.

Dacosta has been selected as the southern terminus of the new route because from there a road runs through the deer woods of Atlantic county by way of Weymouth to Mays Landing, at which point a junction is made with roads direct to Atlantic City by way of Pleasantville to Ocean City and all resorts to the south.

MEDFORD GRANGE

HALLOWEEN DANCE

The Halloween Masquerade and Dance, under the direction of Medford Grange, will be held in Grange Hall, Medford, Monday evening, October 22. Conway's orchestra, of Moorestown, has been secured to furnish the music. Grangers and their friends are invited to participate and compete for the offered prizes.

HAINESPORT FIREMEN BUY CHEMICAL TRUCK

Company Already has Pump; New Apparatus will Allow Quick Response to Alarms

A three-tank chemical truck purchased by Hainesport Fire Company has just been delivered. While the first decision of the firemen to purchase a new truck caused a split in the women's auxiliary of the company the whole community is now in harmony with the action. The company already has a pump, but the new truck will serve for quick responses to alarms from small fires and for service in prevention of large losses where quick action may stop a blaze in its incipency.

RATHER SLIM PAY

Boy Says Salem Farmer Paid 25 Cents Every Two Weeks

Owen Duncan, 15, of Burlington, who was with a party of chicken thieves who robbed a number of farmers last spring, was taken to the county jail at Mount Holly last week by Detective Carabine.

On account of his youth at the time of sentencing other defendants for the chicken thefts, Judge Blaugher placed the boy in charge of the Board of Children's Guardians. The board found a home for the lad in Salem county. After being there while he ran away and got rides on trucks until he reached Bayonne, there he was picked up by police and kept in custody until the Board of Children's Guardians asked that he be returned to this county.

The boy says the Salem county farmer gave him an allowance of only 25 cents every two weeks.

The lad probably will be found another home by the State Board of Guardians.

ARRANGING CURTIS WELCOME

Republican women of South Jersey recently met in Camden to plan a welcome to Senator Curtis, Republican candidate for Vice President, who is to speak in Convention Hall, Camden, at a rally on October 15. Among those from this county who attended the meeting are Mrs. Pearl M. Bridgman, of Hainesport, who was named chairman of the Burlington County Publicity Committee; Mrs. Harry Kenney, Riverton; Mrs. Catherine Stiberry, Maple Shade; and Mrs. Elizabeth G. Terry, Edgewater Park.

BEGIN CUTTING STATE BUDGET

State Department Heads Called to Explain Requests; Deep Cut is Necessary

Deep in a maze of figures running well into the millions, New Jersey's budget department has started the task of reconciling estimated revenues for the fiscal year with department requests.

The requests invariably exceed the estimated revenue by several millions of dollars. Then ensues a series of conferences between the Governor and the budget officer on where and what to pare. Heads of various departments are asked to appear for explanation of requested appropriations, why certain increases are needed, and whether they are immediately necessary. After the hearings the finishing touches are put on the budget, which must be delivered to the Legislature at its opening session.

Much ground is covered by the budget officer during the year. He visits various institutions, making a survey of buildings and personnel to gain first-hand knowledge of conditions. In this way he acquires information of much value in considering requests. The Legislature, however, has the last say on the appropriations. Since the budget was established, however, the recommendations of the budget officer have been generally accepted. Prior to the passage of the appropriation bill the appropriations committee invariably makes a tour of inspection, which sometimes results in changes. Information is furnished the budget office by department and institution heads on specially prepared blanks, which show both requests and grants for the year. These form the working basis for the compilation of expenditures.

For the present fiscal year, which started July 1, requests totalled slightly more than $30,500,000. This was reduced to $25,812,000. The Legislature, however, tacked on about $700,000, bringing the total to $26,512,000.

SMITH MUST MAKE IMPOSSIBLE GAINS

Observers Agree That "Al" Can Hardly Overcome Big Hoover Margin

Washington, D. C.—A month remains before election. Within that period, observers now are generally agreed, Governor Alfred E. Smith must make tremendous and virtually impossible gains in order to win. Every indication points to a Hoover-Curtis victory, and by a decisive margin.

When the Democratic candidate began his western trip three weeks ago, it was unanimously agreed that a golden opportunity to bolster his cause lay before him. With the results of that 6,000 mile journey carefully tabulated and estimated, Governor Smith's venture beyond the Mississippi quite evidently has failed to accomplish its purpose. No notable increase in Smith sentiment is reported from the states which he visited, and that should leave all of them safely Republican, as they were in both 1920 and 1924.

The failure of the Democratic candidate to arouse west, according to a consensus of opinion, is due to his lack of a program for a sound national administration. Given the chance to tell the serious-minded folk of that section exactly how he proposed to run the governing, if elected, he contented himself with abstract discussion of several unrelated issues, without getting down to practical discussion of the problems involved. As a result, he left his audiences without information as to his program on the tariff, on fiscal policies, on immigration, and other equally important questions, and these oversights have shown his weakness.

Herbert Hoover, in contrast to his opponent, has been adhering to a well considered campaign program. From the start of the campaign, his purpose seems to have been to convince the voters that he has a thorough understanding of every major issue involved in this campaign. With the splendid record of the Coolidge administration as an example, Mr. Hoover has devoted his speeches to analysis of the big problems still to be solved, and has succeeded in convincing the country that he is the man to continue the present even and prosperous trend of conditions.

That his course is drawing to him men of every school of thought is constantly evident. One of the most recent converts to the Hoover program is B. F. Yoakum, life-long Democrat and pioneer railroad builder, who has probably opened more agricultural land to settlement through transportation facilities than any living railroad man. For a number of years, Mr. Yoakum has been a careful student of the agricultural problem. Since Governor Smith began his flirtation with the McNary-Haugen bill, Mr. Yoakum has come out squarely for the Republican program of farm relief as outlined by Herbert Hoover, endorsing his plan for development of a nation-wide farm commodity marketing system through government aid.

The assurance that stability of government will be continued under Herbert Hoover has also been an important factor in the decision of 80 editors of Democratic and Independent newspapers to support the Republican national ticket. Their newspapers are located in 15 states.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan tersely summed up the advantage of the Hoover-Curtis ticket in the middle west recently by pointing out that employment in most industrial centers is as general or better than it has ever been, that the refusal of the Democratic candidate even to discuss the tariff leaves the middle west uncertain about his intentions, but inclined to distrust them from previous experience, and that the failure of Governor Smith to understand the importance of such great projects as the St. Lawrence waterway takes much interest away from his candidacy in the inland industrial and agricultural states.

For the remainder of the campaign, Mr. Hoover's plans call for about one speech each week, in which he will continue his plan of discussing the issues. The extensive preparation which he devotes to each one of his speeches has made them clear cut, concise dissertations on the more important questions which the majority of the voters are interested in, rather than spasmodic efforts at working up interest through attacks on his opponent.

It is grotesque to expect improved enforcement from a man who complains that prohibition is unenforceable and who signed a law repealing the State Enforcement Act for New York.

Money Loaned to Erect Still Not Collectable

The bottom dropped out of a civil suit before Judge William A. Slaughter at the Court House, Mount Holly last week when the plaintiff admitted that the sum of $130 that he was trying to collect had been loaned to the defendant for the purchase and setting up of a still for the illicit manufacture of liquor.

The court held that his illegal object barred collection of the money and granted a motion for a non-suit.

CAMERA MAGNATE SMALL TOWN BOY

Chairman of Board of Eastman Kodak Co., Born in Waterville, N. Y.

GEORGE EASTMAN

George Eastman, the great pioneer of the camera industry, was born in the small town of Waterville, N. Y., on July 12, 1854. Eastman's marvelous work in the field of photography has made him famous all over the world. He has invented and developed processes that have revolutionized the art. Besides the work he has done in his chosen profession, Eastman is a leader in business and philanthropic movements; he has given over $50,000,000 to institutions of higher education. His life is one of the great romances of this scientific age.

Eastman was educated in Rochester, N. Y., and started his career as an amateur photographer and experimenter. It is hard to think of Eastman as a humble "amateur"—yet it is encouraging to think what an "amateur" could finally achieve. It teaches us the lesson that by cultivating our hobbies to the limit we may make them the mainstays of our existence later on. Many a small town boy now occupying himself with some art as an amateur, will in time become a leader in that art. The secret lies in learning to do something better than it has ever been done before. That's just what Eastman did when he perfected a process for making dry plates.

In 1880 he began to manufacture dry plates on a small scale; later came the epoch-making invention of the kodak. Eastman rose from obscurity to fame and fortune. From then on his life has been a triumphal march from achievement to achievement.

Now he is chairman of the board of the Eastman Kodak Company of New York and Eastman Kodak Company of New Jersey. He is a paramount figure in one of the largest industries in the country—an industry which is becoming more and more important as the years go on, bearing such a vital relation to the progress of the press, the development of the motion picture and the new field of television. George Eastman, small town boy, "amateur" at photography, experimenter, inventor, now the head of a gigantic enterprise, merits the admiration of every small town boy at the threshold of life.

The denial of national prosperity which Governor Smith undertakes to make in his speech of acceptance is a denial of a manifest fact.

the Armory and a long list of feature attractions has been arranged for the coming season, such as carnival night, moonlight skating, masked parties, girls' and boys' egg races, ribbon races, candle races, barrel races and laundry parties.

Skating as an exercise has been endorsed by many prominent physicians in the county and is advocated by many as a safe and sure way to take off excess weight. It is one of the best ways to train for boxing and a healthful way to keep physically fit for everyday work.

The Burlington Rink is one of the most popular in Burlington County and the management at all times strives to maintain the fine reputation it already enjoys.

Mr. Hoover on Prosperity

"At such a time as this a change in national policies involves not — as some may lightly think — only a choice between roads by which we may go forward, but a question also as to whether we may not be taking the wrong road and moving backward. The measure of our national prosperity, of our stability, of our hope of future progress at this time is the measure of what we may risk through a change in present policies. More than once in our national history a change in policies in a time of advancement has been quickly followed by a turn toward disaster."—(Newark Speech, Sept. 17, 1926)

NEW JERSEY DAIRYMEN VISIT GREAT FARMS

One of the features of the tour which New Jersey dairymen will make into Connecticut from October 24 to 26 inclusive will be a banquet to be held in Danbury, Conn., where staff members from Connecticut Agricultural College will address the Jersey men. Another attraction of the tour, as described by E. W. Perry, New Jersey specialist in dairy husbandry, is the Emmadine Farm at Hopewell Junction, New York, one of the world's most famous cattle breeding establishments.

"Controlling Abortion in Connecticut Dairy Herds" will be the subject of the address to be given at the banquet in Danbury on the evening of October 25 by James G. McAlpine, bacteriologist for the Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station, where studies of this disease have been carried on for years.

"The How and Why of Profits on some Connecticut Dairy Farms" will be the subject of the second address, to be given by Prof. Allen G. Manchester, assistant director of the extension service in the Connecticut institution, and head of the farm management department in the college.

At the Emmadine Farm, which has been heavily endowed to insure continuance of its breeding program for at least 100 years, opportunity will be given to view what is generally conceded to be one of the best Guernsey herds in the world. This herd is given credit by Mr. Perry for winning more blue ribbons and money at the big dairy shows during the last five years than any other dairy herd in the world. Almost 200 Guernseys may be seen on the farm, which is owned and endowed by J. C. Penney, chain store owner.

EGG SHOW PLANNED FOR STATE POULTRY MEETING

Many New Jersey poultrymen are this week shipping the choicest of their product to Atlantic City, where an egg show is to be held as a part of the annual convention of the New Jersey State Poultry Association from October 17-19 inclusive. The purpose of the show, which is to be held in the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel, is to stimulate interest in the production of eggs of high quality, and to afford poultrymen of the state an opportunity to display their product in competition. Awards will be placed by Prof. T. B. Charles, head of the poultry department in the University of New Hampshire.

There will be four classes in which eggs may be exhibited, according to Prof. C. B. Platt, assistant poultry husbandman for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, and superintendent of the egg show. Cups will be awarded for the best entry in each class, and a sweepstakes cup will be awarded for the best entry in the show. Ribbons and cash prizes are also offered.

Each of the four classes will be subdivided into white and brown egg sections. Entries of one dozen eggs will be received in Class A from commercial egg producers, breeders, general farmers, fanciers, and owners of backyard flocks. The foregoing may also make entries of three dozen eggs each in Class B, which is likewise open to hatcheries, egg buyers, poultry associations, co-operative associations, and state institutions. Class C has reserved for entries from boys' and girls' clubs, and Class D for vocational high school students. In the latter two classes, special awards are offered junior clubs and schools, having the most entries and the highest average score.

MUST BEAT BAD FROST TO GET GOOD SEED CORN

Now is the time, before a killing frost comes, to prepare for next season's corn crop, says Edward E. Ewalt, of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, who suggests that the selection of seed corn should take precedence over other farm operations.

Experimental work has shown that yield, time of ripening, number of suckers, and position and character of the ear may all be changed within wide limits by selecting seed corn from the standing stalks. Mr. Ewalt states. Yield has been changed as much as seven bushels per acre by rigid selection, and in some varieties the date of maturity has been advanced 10 days. Disease-free seed has been found to yield 15 bushels more than diseased seed.

"The most satisfactory way to select seed corn," Mr. Ewalt declares, "is from the standing stalks in the field. This should be done as soon as the corn is ripe and before the first killing frost. Make selections from healthy, vigorous, upright plants showing better than average productivity. Choose ears that are mature of medium size, free from disease, and borne at a convenient height on the stalk."

"Although 15 medium sized ears will furnish enough seed to plant an acre, one should select twice this number for each acre to be planted, because much will be discarded after drying and testing. The same day the seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be stored in a dry place where there is free circulation of air, and arranged in such a manner that the ears do not touch.

ASPARAGUS BRUSH

Asparagus growers who burn old top growth in the fall should realize that they are destroyed the equivalent of 10 tons of manure per acre in keeping up the humus content of the soil. When brush is to be removed in the fall, cutting should not take place too early, as plant food materials continue to be translocated from the tops to the storage roots until the tops are practically dead.

Fall disking has the advantage of allowing the pieces of tops to partly decompose by the time harrowing starts again early in the spring, and it also kills clumps of weeds or grass which would otherwise live over until spring. The winter quarters of the asparagus beetle are also broken up by the fall disking. The fact that the old tops hold the snow and prevent blowing of the soil was cited as an advantage of waiting until early spring before disposing of the top brush.

Repeat Free Courses

The 12-week winter courses in the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, will begin this year on November 12. Students have a choice of specializing in either dairy farming, dairy manufacturing, fruit growing, vegetable gardening or poultry husbandry. No charge for tuition is made to New Jersey residents.

The primary purpose of these courses is to prepare people for more effective work on the farm, to give them a broader understanding of the problems of agriculture as an industry, and to give them a deeper appreciation of rural life. Since their establishment in 1908, the winter courses have attracted more than 3000 students, many of whom are now successful farmers.

The prospects for farming as a life job for young men are good. This is the advice of nationally known authorities on agricultural conditions in this country. These same men also point out the necessity of proper training because of the tremendous changes that are taking place so rapidly in the production and marketing of farm products. Short courses in the College of Agriculture have been planned to meet the needs of the person who is to engage in production work.

The courses are open to men and women 16 years old or over. Entrance examinations are not required for admission, but candidates should present credentials evidencing a common school education.

Sooty Blotch Cuts Value

Failure of New Jersey horticulturists to continue spraying operations well into the growing season is responsible for the noticeable increase in the amount of sooty blotch, a fungous disease of apples, on this year's fruit crop.

Growers whose apples have been affected by sooty blotch are being forced to accept lower prices for their crop because the disease detracts from the appearance of the fruit and possibly impairs the keeping quality also. Apples showing the blotched areas of the disease cannot be utilized for fancy packs, and they will not sell for more than ordinary fruit at best.

It is regrettable that our apple crop shows so much sooty blotch this year, for the disease easily could have been prevented by one or two applications of New Jersey Dry-Mix or some other good fungicide. If more growers would continue spraying operations later in the season, instead of stopping around the middle of June, when there is less to fear from scale, curculio, and codling moth, control of sooty blotch would be no problem. This disease does not develop until late in the season, which makes continued spraying imperative.

MOUNT HOLLY WILL AGAIN HAVE TOWER

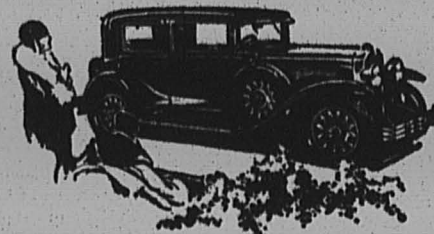

To be Placed by Government on Crest of Mount for Observation Purposes

The summit of the Mount at Mount Holly is again to be a designated observation point by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey in the extension of the survey to Buffalo. Years ago there was a wooden tower there but it long since disappeared.

Charles Schanck, of Lambertville, Chief of Survey Party, in the federal coast survey service, was in Mount Holly a few days since and was in touch with James Logan, one of the Park Commissioners, with a view of obtaining permission from the Commission to erect a steel or frame tower on the summit of the Mount. This permission will undoubtedly be given. Chief Schanck and his force are now making a reconnaissance survey, including the present old granite monument, placed there by the Survey authorities many years ago. This is not the original marker, however, for the first stone was placed there in 1839, at which time the official record stated that there were no trees on the Mount. The Mount then belonged to a man named Haselhurst. It is not proposed to erect the new tower until next year.

PUBLIC SERVICE

With emphasis—we state that here is the very finest cigar a nickel ever bought

NO QUESTION about it—Havana Ribbon, as it comes to you today, is the most remarkable example you ever saw of what five cents can buy in a cigar.

Many five-cent cigars, it is true, are made largely from "cuttings" and the poorer grades of leaves not considered good enough for higher priced cigars.

But, here, gentlemen, is a five-cent cigar made entirely of selected tobacco, cured and age-mellowed with utmost care and patience.

Think of it!—a five-cent cigar containing no bitter under-ripe top leaves, nor flat-tasting over-ripe bottom leaves of the tobacco plant. No short ends or "scraps" to crumble in your mouth. But only fully-ripe, long-filler middle leaves laden with true, smooth, mild flavor and fragrant aroma.

Only years and years of experience, combined with immense production, can make such a thing possible. Havana Ribbon is the realization of a truly delightful smoke for five cents.

THE REAL ISSUES

Above the fog of words, words and more words, above the smoke screen of misrepresentation of well-meaning but ill-informed partisans, and the mud slinging of a lot of enthusiasts whose zeal has run away with their better judgment, on both sides, certain fundamental issues in the presidential campaign stand out in sharp relief.

Which candidates and which party is better fitted to successfully carry on the national and international business of the people of the United States?

Which candidate has shown in his public utterances—his acceptance speech and those which have followed—a better grasp of the problems confronting the country?

Which candidate has shown a real understanding of the serious and extremely difficult problem of the farmers?

Which candidate best understands our problems at home—financial and otherwise?

Which candidate is qualified by experience and training to handle our international relations on which depends so much of the happiness and well-being of the world, including our own, in the coming years?

Which candidate has stood by the platform and principles of his party on tariff and prohibition?

Which candidate has been more consistent in the announcement of his policies, regardless of the section of country in which he happens to be speaking?

Which candidate will protect the working man and woman and maintain industrial conditions on the high plane which enables the American toiler to live better than those similarly employed anywhere in the world?

Judged by his past record, his present pronouncements and the political party by which he is backed, which candidate will do more toward maintaining conditions which will preserve the sanctity of the home, the respect for womanhood and the protection of children?

The Republican platform stands four-square for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and Herbert Hoover, the Republican candidate, makes no qualification when he says he is for its enforcement.

Herbert Hoover has a wide knowledge of industrial conditions at home and abroad which have convinced him, without reservation, of the necessity for a protective tariff for which the Republican party has always stood and under which the American working man has enjoyed his greatest periods of prosperity and happiness.

The vested interests of capital and the earning power of the working man will both be protected under the administration of Herbert Hoover.

As the election draws near, and the voters of the United States have had time to analyze the claims made by both parties, they are more and more realizing the fundamental issues at stake.

The appeal of Herbert Hoover is strong to those who desire to see the Constitution of the United States respected, the laws enforced, prosperity maintained and our international relations handled in a manner that will reflect credit on this country, benefit the other nations, and extend our world leadership for the betterment of all mankind.

BUGLE CORPS IN BIG CELEBRATION

Marches, as Guests, in Parade With Prize Winning Frankford Unit

On Wednesday of last week Post Rodgers' Drum and Bugle Corps participated, as a guest corps, in a welcome home celebration staged in honor of the prize-winning Drum and Bugle Corps of Frankford Post, American Legion.

The Frankford Corps, resplendent in its new uniforms resembling the world famous Northwest Mounted Police, of Canada, returned from the National Convention of the American Legion, held at San Antonio, Texas, the week previous, where it captured third prize from a field of 54 competing corps from all over the United States.

Several Corps Participate The parade and celebration was a token of esteem and gratitude from the people and business men of Frankford for their boys and a task well done.

The route of the parade, in which were bugle corps and bands from Fairboro, Palmyra, Olney, Bristol and Teano, also United States Naval contingents and old G. A. R. veterans, was over the main streets of Frankford, ending at the High School auditorium, where the winners and also their guests were entertained by the prominent speakers of the evening, headed by the Honorable Harry A. Mackey, Mayor of Philadelphia, who was primarily responsible for financing the trip.

Auxiliary Active The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Post are very busy these days. Last Friday evening the first of a series of card parties was held at the Legion Home. These popular and well-attended parties will be held monthly during the fall and winter seasons.

Next Saturday, morning and afternoon, the ladies are holding a cake sale at Buoh's Drug Store corner, weather permitting; otherwise at the Legion Home. The proceeds of this sale will go into our rehabilitation fund, the source of much help and good cheer to the needy ones being cared for by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Halloween Party The next event on the social calendar is the Halloween Party, November

PROF. VOLLMER SPEAKS TO PTA

Palmyra Man Delivers Interesting Lecture at Meeting in Riverton

At the twelfth annual reception of the Parent-Teachers Association of Riverton, which was held on Thursday evening, last, in the school auditorium, Professor Dr. Vollmer, of Palmyra, delivered a lecture on "True Educational Ideals" of which the following is an outline:

About two hundred years before Christ, there lived in Rome a noble lady whose name was Cornelia. She often spoke to friends of her precious jewels and when she was asked to show them, she called in her two boys and said, "these are my jewels." This lady had the true conception of the value of children. They are the most precious possessions of parents, community, church and State.

Of course, they are "diamonds in the rough" and must be polished and set in right relations. This polishing process we call education, which means the drawing out of an individual what nature has put into him. One day a sculptor stood before an unshapely block of marble in deep meditation, and when his friend asked: "What do you see in this unshapely stone?" He answered, "I see an Angel in it." He began chiseling and polishing and in the course of time the features of an angel did appear.

Must Begin at Home This educational process should begin in the family. The mother is the child's first teacher, but the father should remember that the child, especially the boy, needs "fathering" as well as "mothering."

The public school continues the educational process of the child. American communities are concerned with the importance of providing adequate school equipment and excellent teaching forces. These two educational agencies should heartily cooperate as you are doing in this Parent-Teachers Association.

There are four chief purposes of school education. The first is, a trained mind secured by imparting useful and usable knowledge, skill and efficiency. Our children should be trained to think. A second objective is an open mind. There is too much tight-mindedness among all classes of people and that is the reason why social, political and religious reforms proceed so slowly.

A third aim of a true education is a cultured mind. Already in the grades, but especially in the high schools and colleges, the so-called culture studies, languages, literature, history, art, etc., should be encouraged. This school district is therefore to be congratulated upon the fact that under the new leadership of the Palmyra High School, great improvements along these lines have been made. Prominent among these are General History and the study of German.

Thorough education along these lines not only leads to the highest development of personality, but also has a distinct money-value. A recent writer says: "What is education? I stand at the mouth of a mine and find there a dirty, shapely piece of iron. I pick it up and bring it to an expert, and say, 'How much is that worth?' 'Ten cents.' I throw it into the furnace and it comes back pig iron. 'How much is it worth now, sir?' 'One hundred cents.' I throw it into the furnace again and it comes out steel. 'How much is that worth?' 'Six hundred cents.' I take that steel and make it into fine pieces of steel for watches, and hold up the pieces and say to the expert, 'What is that worth, sir?' 'One thousand cents.' What has been done? That dingy, dirty, shapeless piece of iron has been educated; transformed; and has drawn out of it its latent possibilities and there has been made out of it the best that could be made. That is education."

The highest aim of all true education should be the development of a good character. Among the most important rights of every American child, is the right to be taught and trained in high morality and social virtue, prominent among which are, obedience to lawful authority, in family, school and society; private and public honesty; industry and love of work; purity in thought, word and action; sobriety and tolerance; true patriotism, including good citizenship, law observance and love of peace.

Good Forces Help Of course, all the forces of good society, the family, the Sunday School, the Church, the best fraternities and lodges, do contribute towards the development of these characteristics. On this occasion we are concerned with the peculiar contribution of the school to the development of a good, dependable character.

Our public schools in all these departments can assist the other moral forces in the development of good character. First, by direct and clear teaching of what is right, especially in youth many sins are committed because of ignorance and inexperience. We do not desire any union of Church and State, but neither do we tolerate in America, the separation of the true fundamentals of religion from the life of the nation and the operations of State and Government, for this is a Christian Nation, as the United States Supreme Court held in the famous "Girard College Will Case."

As we teach, and rightly so, the religious principles of Buddhism, Mohammedanism and even the deistic mythology of the Greeks, and of our Teutonic forefathers, why in the world do we rigidly exclude the religion of the American people on

BOYS FINED FOR DEFLATING TIRES

Squire Threatens Heavier Penalty for Future Cases of Similar Nature

Three Palmyra boys were arrested by Officer Lawrence Betty Monday night after he had caught them in the act of letting air out of several automobile tires.

The first complaint came from the owner of a car which had been parked near Broad and Lecony avenue. Soon afterwards the officer saw three boys doing the same trick in front of Christ Church, where the Men's Club was assembled.

He gave chase and was able to catch one of them and obtained the names of the others, whom he soon found also. The boys were escorted home and their parents told to appear with them at a hearing in police headquarters before Squire William H. Fichter Tuesday night.

After hearing the testimony the Squire fined each boy two dollars and costs and instructed the parents to see that they worked and earned the money to pay the fines. The parents were quite willing to comply with this provision.

The boys were George Fisher, 14 years old, 626 Highland avenue; Ralph Dages, 13 years old, 909 Washington avenue; and Robert Bates, 15 years old, 203 Horace avenue. Young Bates, according to the officer's testimony, seemed genuinely sorry for what he had done, but the others were defiant.

In all about a dozen cars had their tires deflated which, in most cases, was done by unscrewing the valve core and throwing it away. Some of the drivers drove away without knowing their tires were flat and this resulted in considerable damage.

One man who was present at the hearing had had a tire ruined in this manner Sunday night. The parents of the boys said they were at home Sunday night and, consequently, could not have been responsible. Police are investigating the case and expect to locate the culprit soon.

Squire Fichter calls attention to the seriousness of the offense, according to the ruling of the Motor Vehicle Act, which makes tampering with cars punishable by a heavy fine. In this case the boys were fined for malicious mischief, but if again cases come up, the Squire threatens to invoke the penalty provided by the Motor Vehicle Act.

Officer Betty sent word in to the Men's Club and an announcement was made so that the men could look at their tires before driving away on flats. Several were found and the owners of the cars were saved from some strenuous work when Oswald Melcher brought his car around, which is equipped with a power air pump, and supplied them all with air.

"Many thanks," said all, and they meant it.

REPUBLICANS MEET AT EAST RIVERTON

Women Workers Gather at Home of Mrs. James Fox; Mrs. Thacher Speaks

A Republican meeting for women was held at the home of Mrs. James Fox, on Warrington avenue, Tuesday afternoon, and the house was crowded with interested women.

Mrs. Ella Hoover Thacher, of the River Hills, in Riverside, spoke on "Tariff and Immigration." Mrs. Harry Kenny, of Palmyra, explained about getting out the vote, and "What Women Should Know About Tariff."

Mrs. Pearl Bridgman, of Hainesport, spoke on the merits of the candidates and the issues of the campaign. The speakers handled their subjects so graphically that the audience became familiar with many points that had been obscure on the effect that tariff and immigration have on our homes.

Charles R. Stout, chairman of the Republican County Committee, was present also.

NOTICE

It appears that chances have been sold in Riverton "for the benefit of the Parent-Teacher Association." The name of the town was not given.

Both the Palmyra and Riverton Parent-Teacher Associations take this opportunity to state that the scheme is not sponsored by them and is without the support of either Association.

Any plan for money raising which involves the selling of chances is contrary to the policy of both the National and State organizations.

MAY REGISTER ON ELECTION DAY

Under the election laws in effect this year those entitled to vote but who have not registered, may register and vote on election day.

Arrangement has been made by the workers in each of the districts in Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson Township to provide transfers for those who have moved from one district to another, or for those who moved out of town and are still entitled to vote here.

If you have any doubt about your being entitled to vote, get in your district.

Vote early on election day.

SPEAKERS AT REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING URGE GETTING OUT VOTE

Palmyra's Mayor Challenges Riverton to Vote Getting Contest November 6

GIVES DEFINITION OF RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

A mass meeting under the auspices of the Republican Club of Riverton and Cinnaminson was held in the Riverton Public School auditorium last Friday night.

George D. Steedle, president of the club, occupied the chair.

Mayor Howard M. Rogers spoke a few words of welcome and was followed by Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, who challenged Riverton's Mayor to a contest of ballots on November 6—the challenge being that if Palmyra did not poll a larger percentage of votes for Hoover than polling in Riverton, Mr. Wimer would treat Riverton's chief executive to a dinner. Mayor Rogers accepted the challenge.

The Speakers The speakers were Dr. Marcus W. Newcomb, candidate for re-election to the Assembly; William H. Helsler, secretary of the Republican County Committee; Charles R. Stout, chairman of that organization; Mrs. Elizabeth G. Terry, State Committeewoman from Burlington County; Robert Price Bell, of Fishkill, New York; Clifford R. Powell, State Senator, and James McCormick, candidate for freeholder.

Douglas Robinson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who had been scheduled as the chief speaker, was not present.

It was later learned from the New Jersey Republican State headquarters, in Trenton, that Mr. Robinson had been sent to Burlington, instead of Riverton. The mix-up occurred in the speakers' bureau in New York City.

The meeting was preceded by a parade, starting at Five Points and led by the Collingswood Municipal Band, which also furnished music throughout the evening. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the singing of "Hoover's There," a new campaign song, released last week. The tune was "Over There."

The Hague Menace Dr. Newcomb spoke briefly of the menace of the Hague machine in Hudson County and urged that voters in this section of the state turn out in force in order to overcome the big lead which can also be counted upon in Hudson. He said that 98% of the votes in Hudson County were polled, whereas Burlington County did little better than 45%. He closed his remarks by asking, "Do we want another Democratic Governor, with 21 prosecutors, judges and other important officers to be appointed during his term?"

Mr. Helsler added to Dr. Newcomb's urge that everyone of his hearers should not only vote, but take a friend with him to the polls election day.

Mr. Stout stated that the Republicans in Burlington County were better organized this year than ever, and were looking forward to rolling up a tremendous majority for Hoover in Burlington County, which always stood by the best candidates, even when the state went against them. He announced that the annual tour of the county would be held on November 5, leaving Mount Holly at 8 o'clock, and invited everybody to take part. On this tour addresses will be made by Hamilton F. Kean, candidate for United States Senator; Morgan F. Larson, candidate for Governor; Isaac Bacharach, candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives, and others.

Differences Buried "This election," said Mr. Stout, "is too big and important to consider any factional differences that might have existed in the primaries. That fight is over now and we are all Republicans, working for the whole ticket."

Mrs. Terry spoke briefly of the enthusiasm of the Republican meeting held in Camden the night before and addressed by Charles G. Curtis, candidate for vice-president on the Republican ticket. She referred to this as the greatest thing ever accomplished by the women of South Jersey. The women of seven counties joined in the undertaking. Mrs. Terry said that while Hoover was making a constructive campaign, the other side was doing little but knocking. "Evil let alone grows," she said, "and it has been necessary to answer some of the misleading statements made by the opposition."

Mr. Bell traced the history of Tammany Hall and Governor Smith's connection with it. He called attention to the Governor's attitude on prohibition and said that the tariff was not an issue because the Democrats had accepted it. He laid particular stress on his statement that a vote for Governor Smith is a vote for Tammany and all that Tammany stands for—that it has been and what it is. He dismissed the clamor for "religious tolerance" by saying, "If no man should vote against Governor Smith because of his religion, then no one should vote for him because of it."

Work for State Ticket Senator Powell stated that while the Republicans in New Jersey were well-organized this year and would undoubtedly give Hoover a large majority, there was danger of losing some of the state candidates unless care is taken to vote the whole ticket.

He said that Hoover's qualifications for Presidency of the United States were too well known to need enumerating, but pointed out that in order for him to be able to accomplish the best results as the nation's leader it

Hallowe'en Celebration

The Lion's Club of Palmyra and Riverton is arranging a very elaborate parade in connection with the Halloween celebration to be held next Wednesday night.

The Lions are paying a large part of the expenses from their own treasury, but as there will be two bands and several professional entertainers the club is requesting the citizens who appreciate its efforts to contribute whatever amounts they can.

Members of the Club were almost unanimous in their refusal to conduct a house-to-house canvass for funds and are therefore dependent upon voluntary contributions.

Those who wish to contribute to this fund are requested to send remittances by mail or in person to the offices of the Palmyra News, 9 East Broad street, Palmyra, or The New Era, New Era Building, Riverton.

The Lion's Club entertainments in the past have been very pleasing to everyone. This will be no exception.

Any person who has not been approached for a donation to the Burlington County Hospital maintenance fund is requested to kindly send his contribution to George W. Rogers, Chairman, or leave same at no. 111, 9 East Broad street, Palmyra.

HOSPITAL FUND

was necessary that he have a safe majority in the United States Congress. He pointed out that Coolidge had a majority of only two and stated that it was remarkable that the chief executive had been able to accomplish as much as he had—under these conditions.

Mr. McCormick predicted the largest majority for Hoover that a President has ever received in this country,

LADIES PRESENT 'SPIRIT OF ROTARY'

Rotary-Anns Stage Playlet
Written by Mrs. Ethel
S. Hubbs

"Surprise Night" was observed at the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club on Thursday evening last. As Chairman "Ed" Thum had forwarded it was a surprise in that the entire evening's program was arranged by the Rotary-Anns of which Mrs. Pearl Shover is presiding officer.

The event was attended by the Rotarians and their wives who heard as the first number on the elaborate program a very eloquent address on "Patriotism and America's Future," delivered by Mrs. A. W. Carnell, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Carnell, whose thirty years' experience in social work taking her in almost every state of the union, has endowed her with an enviable knowledge of the social, spiritual and political conditions throughout the country, cited many concrete and practical methods which the present generation should adopt to safeguard America's future.

Surprise number two was the presentation of a little playlet, "The Spirit of Rotary," by the Rotary-Anns, assisted by a number of Rotarians. This very unique manuscript was based upon Rotary's motto, "Service Above Self," and was written and directed by Mrs. Ethel S. Hubbs, to whom much credit for its success was given.

This was not only the first attempt made by either Rotary-Anns or Rotarians as producers of stage productions, but with the majority of the cast it was their first public appearance over the footlights. With this fact in mind they received the hearty commendation from their many listeners.

Everything is "all set" and the third annual Halloween celebration promises to be another one of those big and delightful community parties which have proven such a big success in the past two years.

While the event will not be so highly commercialized this year, everything points to wider participation and a more genuine community Halloween celebration.

The program includes a big parade, two-day carnival and a brilliant ball game as the fitting climax.

This week end everyone suddenly taking a great interest in the affair and the next few days will find much activity in many of the homes and business houses. This year will be a record for minute preparations.

Everybody has suddenly become busy arranging costumes and floats.

The parade, of course, will be one of the big features. It will be headed by the Township Committee and other Township officials, with former Senator Emmor Roberts as the grand marshal.

The Celebration Committee has engaged two bands and it is expected that several other organizations will have their own bands in line. The Mount Holly and 114th Field Artillery bands have been engaged by the committee.

Several commercial, civic, social, political and welfare organizations have already aligned their intention to enter floats. The masked section is expected to be the largest ever. James M. Conroy and his committee have stimulated unusual interest in his division and the ranks of the individual entries will be swelled materially through their efforts. All of the schools are co-operating and numerous class rooms are expected to enter a unit.

Prizes will be awarded for the best girl, spookiest boy, best couple, costume or fancy, funniest Ford, equestrian or equestrienne, best organization, best float, most beautiful costume, woman; most beautiful costume, man; most comic costume, man; most beautiful costume, boy; most beautiful costume, girl; best window display, best commercial group, best dressed couple.

Five hundred Boy Scouts from all over Burlington County will participate in the celebration. John R. Telle, county Scout commissioner, has completed arrangements for the field program, which is to be held in the rear of the Community House Saturday afternoon. Mr. Telle has announced that the boys will remain in Moorestown for the parade.

The field day program includes archery, wood-chopping and nail-driving contests, Indian wrestling, sack and field events. The Scouts will pitch tents in the rear of the Community House, where the afternoon's activities are to be run off.

POLICE WATCH FOR HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

Chief Serres Notice That Mischief Will Not Be Tolerated

With the approach of Halloween, Chief of Police C. Morris Beck has directed the officers to be on the lookout for acts of malicious mischief perpetrated under the guise of Halloween merriment.

Parents will be held strictly responsible for any damage done by their children to automobiles or other property. A heavy penalty will be inflicted on anyone caught tampering with parked cars.

The Chief says he does not wish to interfere with the children having a good time and will permit them to have all the fun they like just so long as they do no damage.

THREE ARRESTS

Two Motorists Pay $500 Fines for Passing Traffic Light

The past weekend found motorists in Moorestown very well behaved. While none were arrested Saturday and Sunday, one was arrested last Friday for passing a traffic control light with the signal against him, and a second driver was taken into custody for a like offense Monday.

The offenders, John W. Jackson, East Main street, Moorestown, and Milton S. Whit, New York City, were arrested by Officer Walter A. Erickson. They were tried before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Town Hall and each paid a fine of $500 and costs.

Recorder Johnston also fined Harry Palmer, North Church street, Moorestown, $10 and costs on Monday. Palmer was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

BAPTISTS TO HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

Will Honor Memory of the Late
J. Otto Thilow Sunday Morning

Next Sunday morning at 10.30 the Central Baptist Church and Sunday School will hold a special combined service in the P. O. S. of A. Hall in memory of the late J. Otto Thilow, of Palmyra.

During the construction of the magnificent new Central Baptist Church edifice it was thought by many of the church members that a fitting memorial to J. Otto Thilow should be included. Mr. Thilow was one of the organizers of the church in 1885 and was always deeply interested in its work. For many years he was senior deacon of the church and superintendent of the Bible School for twenty-five years.

The plan of the church is to make all of the stained-glass windows in the new Bible School Temple, together with a suitable tablet, a memorial to Mr. Thilow and his work there. The Thilow Barica Class, a class of men named for its founder, is particularly active in this plan.

At the Sunday morning service speakers will participate, representing the various business and fraternal organizations with which J. Otto Thilow was prominently identified. There also will be special orchestral and choir music appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. Thilow was an internationally known horticulturist and was associated with Henry A. Dreer, Inc., for forty-two years. During this time he traveled extensively and was noted for his illustrated lectures on horticultural subjects.

He was a 33rd-degree Mason, that honor having been conferred upon him in New York in 1917, and was a Past Master of Covenant Lodge No. 161, F. and A. M. of Palmyra. He was also a vice-president of the Olinamson Bank and Trust Company and a president of the Cinnaminson Building and Loan Association.

Born in Richmond, Virginia, in 1885, Mr. Thilow moved to Palmyra in 1924 and always took an active interest in community affairs. In 1924 he moved from Palmyra to Rosemont, Pennsylvania, where he died on September 15, 1926, at the age of 71.

As one of Palmyra's oldest and most prominent residents, as well as for his deep interest and work in the Central Baptist Church, it is highly fitting that his memory be permanently recorded in the new church building.

Sunday morning's service will be of interest to the entire community, who knew Mr. Thilow, and the public is cordially invited.

The loss is placed at about $10,000, partly covered by insurance.

The farm equipment was to have been sold at public sale on October 31, had not the fire occurred.

A second farm fire occurred about 4.30 when the large barn on the Richard V. C. Watkins farm on the Pointville-Brown's Mills road, recently purchased at receiver's sale by Daniel R. Lemmon, of Brown's Mills, was burned to the ground, together with its contents of forty-two loads of hay.

Mrs. Nellie Barrett had but recently moved into the farm house, where she had opened a tea room, and the barn had not been used, except for the storage of the hay.

The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin, with no clue to the perpetrator of the dastardly act.

The Relief and America companies of Mount Holly and the Vincent Company, of Vincentown, answered the call for assistance.

The loss is placed at about $20,000. Fire of unknown origin early Thursday morning caused considerable damage to several barns in the rear of some of Thomas Herbert, Second street and Tallmadge avenue, Bordentown, the loss being estimated at $5,000.

The Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, was delightfully entertained by a varied program last Monday evening.

The meeting was opened with two delightful tenor solos by Albert Parker, accompanied by Lee Milton at the piano.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Hillard Gage, of Westphalia. He took for his subject "Good Intentions" and delivered a very fine address, stressing the need of trying to do better things. According to the speaker it is, "Better to have planned and failed than never to have planned at all."

The Rev. Gage's kindly smile soon captivated his audience, causing them to listen with rapt attention to his very timely remarks.

The Rev. MacCormack, president of the club, and Pastor of Christ Church, was present for the first time since his illness last spring. He was greeted with prolonged applause, showing how much he is appreciated by the members.

A musical program was rendered by Mother Moore and her boys from the Navy Yard, assisted by Mrs. Chick and her daughter and Miss Rutter.

The program followed with Mrs. Chick at the piano. Vocal Solo—Tom Cooper. Vocal Trio—Kemp, Stock and Lucas. Reading—Miss Rutter. Vocal Solo—Mrs. O'Connor.

The following men were elected to membership: Grover H. Fox, Thomas S. Blivas, George W. Back, Walter J. Searles, John H. Werner, William H. Waite, George Mathews, William Ledger and Eliza Taylor.

Al Smith may not be the boss of Tammany, but let somebody start something around there and see whether he is or not.

Auto Death Toll Shows Increase

Nearly three times as many fatalities in New Jersey last year were due to automobile accidents than were caused by railroad and street car accidents combined, according to figures made public by the Department of Commerce at Washington.

Deaths caused by automobiles increased during the year from 792 to 973, or about 23 per cent, compared with 392 deaths in railroad accidents for the year and 29 fatalities caused involving railroads for last year were eight less than the preceding year.

Deaths from all causes in New Jersey dropped from 44,876 to 42,122 in 1927. The death rate in 1928 was 1,219 per 100,000 of population as compared with 1,123 per 100,000 of population last year.

COUNTY HAS FOUR BARN FIRES IN DAY

All Break Out Within Few Hours; Incendiary Origin Suspected

Burlington county was the scene of three serious barn fires last Thursday morning, the first occurring about 1.30 when a hired man on the farm of H. H. Thompson, of Collingswood, on the Kayestown-Vincentown road, occupied by Joseph H. Worrell, was awakened by the barking of the dogs and discovered the large cow barn was ablaze.

Members of the Worrell family were aroused and all haste was made in an effort to liberate the cows, but seven of the finest were burned to death and two more so badly scorched that they had to be shot later.

The two large barns on the place were destroyed, together with their contents of 25 tons of alfalfa, 12 acres of oats, several tons of alfalfa, two wagons, hay loader, two hay rakes and several other pieces of farm machinery.

The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin, with no clue to the perpetrator of the dastardly act.

The Relief and America companies of Mount Holly and the Vincent Company, of Vincentown, answered the call for assistance.

WHY JERSEYMEN PREFER HOOVER

A Few Reasons Culled From Thousands All Over the State

W. R. Bradley,
400 North 3rd St., Millville.

The largest problems of the next few years will have to do with international relations. We need a President who "knows his nations."

Francis Harvey Green, Headmaster of School for Boys, Pennington.

He is superbly fitted for the position—both by nature and experience.

J. Horace Harding, Rumson.

For the good of the country—which includes twenty other reasons.

Andrew F. West, Princeton.

He represents so well the things on which our highest national welfare depends.

Wm. N. Hunyon,
East 8th St.,
Plainfield.

His character as a man of outstanding, independent thought and action. His world-wide acquaintance and training. His genius for system and organization. His superlative accomplishments in every activity with which he has been connected. His freedom from old-time political methods and platitudes.

Rev. R. H. Morris, Haddonfield.

1. I have more confidence in him. 2. I believe he is better fitted to deal with complex foreign relations. 3. I prefer a conservative rather than a radical.

E. S. Voley, Summit.

He will do as he says.

Thomas D. Landon, Bordentown.

He has higher grade qualifications in preparation, training, standards, association. I think the chances for faithful and effective maintenance of the Constitution, and the laws and for general advancement of our citizenship under the old rule, the greatest good for the greatest number, will be much better if Hoover is elected.

Miss Gertrude Kuevel, 50 Wheeler St.,
West Orange.

His service to Belgium. His record as a citizen.

Ralph B. Pomeroy, Llewellyn Park,
West Orange.

His record, especially in view of the economic problems of the country at the present time.

Charles L. White,
Plainfield.

He has the ideals, experience, wisdom, courage and character we need in a President.

F. H. Pearson,
Upsale College,
East Orange.

He stands for sound American traditions. I prefer his practical measures and principles.

Rev. Chas. S. MacFarland, Mountain Lakes.

Every reason I can think of.

Henry B. Kimmel, Trenton.

By inclination a Republican, I naturally favor that party's nominee but that is not always controlling, as I have sometimes voted the other ticket. I regard Hoover, because of his training, his world-wide experience, his familiarity with world affairs and his success as a Cabinet officer, as preeminently the better man for the job.

Charles T. Jackson, 253 Oress Avenue,
Lew. Branch.

As a Southern Democrat, and not as a believer in the Prohibition theory, I still think that Mr. Hoover's record as a constructive administrator and his knowledge of our foreign and domestic problems entitle him to the Presidency.

Charles H. Whitman, Rutgers University,
New Brunswick.

His splendid training, his successful management of affairs of first-rate importance; his clean life; his sanity; his simplicity of character; his avoidance of the limelight.

R. H. Sellers,
77 Grove St.,
Montclair.

I am a Democrat, but shall vote for Hoover for our next President. I am not leaving the Democratic party, but hope to see that party free itself from Tammany interference and come back into power.

H. V. Army,
125 Washington Ave.,
Montclair.

A Wilson Democrat. I feel that Mr. Hoover is more likely to follow the ideals of President Wilson than is Mr. Smith.

RICHARD TAYLOR

Richard Taylor, 69 years old, died at his home, 317 Lecony avenue, Palmyra, early Tuesday morning following a brief illness.

Funeral services will be held from the late residence at three o'clock Saturday afternoon. Friends may call Friday evening.

The Rev. J. Willard Lee will officiate and interment will be made in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, Burlington, under direction of Frank A. Stover.

The deceased has lived in Palmyra for the past twelve years and was well known locally. He is survived by a widow, Alice, and five children, Florence, Jane, Dorothy, Alice and Clifford.

A Cincinnati third stole 23 pairs of shoes, leaving the left toe out of ten more pairs. Evidently figured that the bootleggers get their stuff.

Robert is anxious to locate the owner of the case and has applied to the newspapers to aid him. Robert is a student at Moorestown Friends' School and his home is at 800 Chester avenue.

"MOVIE CZAR" WAS SMALL TOWN BOY

Will H. Hays, Former Postmaster-General Was Born in Sullivan, Ind.

The man who so distinguished himself as the postmaster-general of the United States, and was later called on to act as the "czar" of the motion picture industry, Will H. Hays, was born at Sullivan, Ind., an American small town, in 1879. He studied law and was admitted to the Indiana bar in 1900. His political career began even before he was twenty-one; and in 1918 he became Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

President Harding appointed him postmaster-general; he left this post to become president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. Besides this activity, with which he is closely allied in the public mind, Will H. Hays' sphere extends to many other fields. He is one of the most versatile, able, respected men in the nation. He still retains an office in the Sherman Building, Sullivan, Indiana, loyal to the town of his birth. And that town, we know, has many, many reasons to be proud of him.

He is associated with financial, railroad and charitable activities of many kinds, and belongs to a large number of leading American clubs. He is actively identified in an important way with such outstanding and inspiring groups as the American Boy Scouts and the American Red Cross.

His has been an active life, full of achievement, adventure and service.

Two Big Events at Airport This Sunday

William de F. French, chairman of the Burlington County Aero Club's field committee, has arranged for two big events to be staged at the Moorestown airport this Sunday afternoon. Starting at 1:30, planes are to thrill the crowds with aerial stunts, and promptly at 4 o'clock Chief Petty Officer Starr, the Navy's oldest and most famous parachute jumper, will make a parachute jump from one of the club's airplanes. Starr is in charge of the Naval parachute school at Lakehurst.

This is one of the biggest and most entertaining Sunday afternoon programs ever arranged by the club and will undoubtedly attract a record crowd to the club's field.

His influence in the motion picture industry has been tremendous—as the "czar" of that industry he sees that its skirts are kept clean of all indecency and dishonesty.

LOSE LICENSES

Night South Jersey Men Lose Operator's License for Drunken Driving

Eight South Jersey motorists were among thirty-three whose licenses were revoked for drunken driving last week by Commissioner William L. Dill. Three other South Jersey drivers lost their licenses for other offenses.

The drunken drivers are: Frank Muse, 515 Penn street, Riverton; John Syerman, 193 South Shore street, Pennsboro; Joseph Becker, 61 Park avenue, Riverside; Walter Wilson, 418 Fourth street, Palmyra; Samuel J. Volpe, 118 Lincoln avenue, Burlington; James Hannon, 4 Elizabeth street, Bordentown; Percy T. Horner, New Egypt road, Cookstown, and George D. Colley, Toms River.

The others losing their licenses were: Clayton D. Dye, Ashland, manufacturer; Caesar Sabatini, 603 West street, Camden, and James P. O'Brien, 232 South Broadway, Gloucester, reckless driving.

As to the election of Herbert Hoover, there is nothing to it now but the shouting. But a word to the wise: Keep up the enthusiasm, and the

BEVERLY HOST TO COUNTY FIREMEN

Presidents Asks for Ordinances Giving Power to Department Chiefs

More than one hundred visiting firemen, members of twenty-four companies throughout the county, attended the regular monthly meeting of the Burlington County Firemen's Association, held in the house of the Hope Hose Fire Company, No. 2, Beverly, Wednesday evening of last week. David Brotherton, of Burlington, presided.

Luther D. Tristle, principal of the Beverly Public School, was introduced to the gathering and delivered the address of welcome, speaking briefly on the work being done throughout the county in the public schools toward the prevention of fires and cited the fire loss in the United States, comparing it with foreign countries.

C. G. Krusen, a member of the Philadelphia Fire Department, who is located at East Montgomery and Girard avenues, gave a very interesting talk appropriate for the occasion.

A heated discussion came up during the regular business meeting, following the report of a resolution being lost, misplaced or pigeon-holed at the recent convention held at Atlantic City, said to be the only resolution ever presented by the Burlington County delegation at the annual meeting in 1927.

Joseph Adams, of Edgewater Park, a delegate of Neptune Fire Company, of Burlington, played William Gunglen, of Bordentown, the Secretary of the Association, and Evan F. Benner, of Moorestown, for their laxity in handling the resolution, asking who was to be held responsible. Mr. Adams also stated that the Burlington delegation had been "booted" down at the convention.

Mr. Benner emphatically denied the imputation, that the resolution had been sidetracked because it did not meet with the approval with some one higher up. "If the imputation is directed at me," declared Mr. Benner, "I deny it; if Mr. Adams knows of any of the higher ups and I am one, and have been for thirty years, who attempted to kill the resolution, it is not the truth, and again I deny it." Mr. Benner also stated that the Burlington delegation had not been "booted" at the convention.

President Brotherton urged every member of the departments present to do all in their power to secure the passage of an ordinance in their respective municipalities, which would give the Chief of the department the power to inspect the stores, factories, schools, cellars of houses, and order a general clean-up in the event any

COUNTY "Y" NOTES

Lane Eagle Group

The Lane Eagle Y. M. C. A. Group, of Palmyra-Riverton, held its first meeting Saturday of last week. Eleven fellows, consisting of seven members, three applicants for membership, and one visitor, were present. All the applicants were accepted. The meeting was opened by President pro-tem Walter Hurst, who requested Secretary Carter, our acting leader, to lead us in prayer. The group was then led in Bible study by Secretary Carter.

Next Officers—
The group then elected new officers, as follows, who will preside for the next five months: President, Cecil Guest; Vice-President, Charles Woolston; Secretary, Robert Martin; Treasurer, Walter Hurst; Reporter, Stanley Eckert; Rear Book Director, Walter Barclay.

Thursday is "Y" night at the Moorestown Pool. Most of the group members expect to be there. A masquerade party is to be held Friday evening, October 26, at the Y. M. C. A. Building. The Lane Eagle Group expects to be present en-masse.

There being no further business, the meeting was closed by the Y. M. C. A. Friendship Circle.

STANLEY ECKERT, Reporter.
The Obsolete Y. M. C. A. Group held its weekly meeting in the Community House. The following fellows will guide the Group in its activities this year: Alfred Roussel, President; Carl Graham, Vice-President; James Downey, Secretary; Jack Richey, Treasurer; Irving Hollingshead is leading this Group.

Preparations are being made by the Burlington County Y. M. C. A. to place a float of Camp Oceanikon in the Halloween parades of Riverside, Moorestown, Mount Holly and Palmyra-Riverton. These parades, coming on different nights, make it possible for the Y. M. C. A. to put this float in various parades. A truck has been made available for this float by Joseph H. Hahn and sons, of Medford. Other materials will be made available by friends of the Y. M. C. A. A number of boys who attended the camp this summer will be on the float, depicting one of the many beautiful camp scenes.

A number of older fellows, members of the Burlington County Y. M. C. A., will act as ushers at the Princeton-Cornell game, which will be held at Princeton Saturday, October 27. The Princeton Athletic Association gives a large number of ushering positions to Nearly a hundred boys, members of the County Y. M. C. A., enjoyed a swim in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening, October 22. This was the first of a number of swims which have been planned by the Burlington County Y. M. C. A. Staff for the groups during the winter months. Lloyd Neil, Red Cross Life-Saving Examiner, of Moorestown, with the assistance of Lloyd Smith, a Senior Life Saver, of Riverton, instructed a number of boys in swimming.

A Dance With the Breeze

Sailing downward from the trees, Autumn leaves spin in a dance. With the sportive autumn breeze, Whose soft music will enhance The enjoyment which they find. As they leave their summer home, Traveling with the wayward wind, Over country fields, to roam.

Now they dance so merrily, Never thinking of the night. When, in winter, they will be Covered up from human sight, With the cold, relentless snow, Which the clouds will scatter down. Where the flowers used to grow: Decking city, field and town.

With the counterpane of white, Nature spreads upon the earth. When comes winter's chilling night; And men gather round the hearth Trying to keep good and warm. As cold north winds come along, Bringing down a winter's storm. That will freeze each joyous song.

LINDBERGH, HOOVER AND AVIATION

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, more nearly than any other man the national hero of this generation, has secured the candidacy of Herbert Hoover because "the problems which will come before our country in the next four years will be best solved" under his leadership.

As a broad statement, Colonel Lin-dbergh's reason for supporting the publican nominee is a sound one. If he spoke as one primarily concerned with the problems of aviation his indorsement carried added weight and point, because Mr. Hoover, in eight years as Secretary of Commerce, has proved himself "air-minded" to an unusual degree. Those eight years have been filled with tremendous developments in flying. The production of airplanes in our factories has increased tenfold, the number of air-miles traveled annually has increased four times, airports and airways have been located in even the remotest sections of the country.

Mr. Hoover was pitched officially into this rapidly expanding field of transportation in 1920 through the passage of the Air Commerce Act, which placed the direction of civilian aviation under the Department of Commerce. He was not unprepared.
Even before 1920 the Transportation Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in Mr. Hoover's department had undertaken a study of the development of aviation by government and private interests.
When in 1924 he appeared before the Air Board created by President Coolidge he had before him the results of two inquiries into aviation conducted by agencies which he fostered. At that time Mr. Hoover made these recommendations:

Selection of air routes in relation to atmospheric conditions.
Development of a service to broadcast warnings of weather disturbances.
Provision for landing fields, airports and the lighting of airways used at night.

Development of a system for inspection of planes and personnel.
Provision for a body of law comparable to the merchant marine law.
Six months after Mr. Hoover had made the recommendations the Air Commerce Act became effective, and his suggestions were included in it.

Since that time the Division of Aeronautics of the Department of Commerce has accomplished these things under Mr. Hoover's direction:

The Bureau of Standards has formulated the first safety code for aviation with the result that flying has been reduced.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey has charted the most favorable air routes.
The Bureau of Lighthouses has undertaken the development of beacons for night flying.

The Bureau of Standards, in cooperation with the War and Navy Departments, is developing radio beacons which, through "beam" broadcasting, warn pilots when they leave their proper courses.

The record of the last eight years demonstrates that Mr. Hoover's understanding of aviation is thorough and practical. His accomplishments in this new field of transportation are only added reasons why his election, to quote Colonel Lindbergh again, "is of supreme importance to this country."

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

For the past five years one of the most important experiments in the history of the electric industry has been carried on at Red Wing, Minnesota. Here the first experimental rural electric line in the world was established, for the purpose of developing, by practical tests, the value of power to agriculture.

The results, which are shortly to be published in a report by the University of Minnesota, show conclusively that electricity, if employed in an intelligent and sound manner, is a time, labor and money saver to the farmer.

The experiment is rapidly ironing out another problem: that of making farm business acceptable, from a financial standpoint, to the utility.
Farm lines and service necessitate expensive construction and facilities that, obviously, cannot be provided when but small amounts of current are used. Now, through instruction and tests, farmers are learning that it pays them to use larger amounts of electricity and perform a multitude of farm tasks with power.

One of the most important parts of the experiment had to do with farm equipment. It was found that electric stoves of the type used in cities, for example, were not acceptable on the farm, because of the heating and boiling problems. Farm implements are low speed machines, while the motor is a high speed affair, with intricate belts, pulleys and gears. Now, however, these difficulties have, in the main, been solved to the mutual satisfaction of the farmers and the company.

There are still, of course, many farmers who do not understand the full value of electricity and how to utilize it to the best advantage. This condition has been greatly offset by the creation of rural electric service departments which conduct educational campaigns among the farmers.
The success of this movement is shown by the fact that, on the Red Wing line, farm electrical consumption is now almost five times greater than before these investigative projects began to yield results.

BIRTHDAYS

On the household calendar there is no more important event than birthdays. Times and customs change and it is said the home is not what it used to be, but a child's birthday anniversary still remains a red-letter day.

If course there are birthday presents and great confusion during the administering of one speech or one line of the car for every year the little heir or heiress has been in the household. And sometimes the occasion is celebrated with a birthday party.

Every fond parent knows it is out of time to punish Little Bobby on his birthday, so the day is inaugurated with solemn vows that no matter what he does there are to be no scoldings or whippings that day.

Unfortunately the juvenile hero of the day has more reasons for being naughty on his birthday than at other times. He is excited and full of energy. He cannot understand why he cannot have his own way since it is his birthday party. And he is quick to discover that the bars of parental discipline have been lowered for the day.

Youthful minds do not distinguish between liberty and license. Nor do they realize that there are other rewards for being good than security from punishment. If the parental discipline has been broken one usually knows where to place the responsibility.

A birthday anniversary without temper or tears is ardently to be desired, but seldom realized. For though the honored one may have been a gift from the gods his conduct is most inhuman even on the anniversaries of his presentation.

Both from its humane and practical side the work which Mr. Hoover has done appeals to thinking men and women. Hoover has successfully handled problems which would have infuriated most men. His record is un-passed.—Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette Bulletin.

An eminent man recently said that Herbert Hoover was the best qualified candidate for the Presidency that any party had ever had. Mr. Hoover's record in public life would seem to prove that the statement was just about right.—Bridgeton (N. J.) Evening News.

ATHEISM VIA RADIO.
THANKS, MR. WILBUR.
OLD HEARTS NEED CARE.
AMERICANS ARE TALLER.

The American Association for the Advancement of Atheism demands a high powered radio station in New York City and does not get it, although the easiest way to make an atheist ridiculous is to let him talk.
It is hard to understand how anybody could talk atheism, knowing that his voice propelled by a power beyond comprehension, travels around the world through the mysterious ether.

Atheists, young ones, especially, might meditate on one of Bacon's collected aphorisms:
Similes, being asked of Hiero,
"what he thought of God," asked a seven night's time to consider it, and at the seven night's end he asked a fortnight's time, at the fortnight's end, a month.

At which Hiero marveled, Simonides answered "that the longer he thought upon the matter the more difficult he found it."

The more glibly you answer Kins Hiero's question the less you know.

Congratulations to Secretary Wilbur, who has ordered for our navy two dirigibles that will be the biggest in the world.

They will be three times as big as the Los Angeles, one third bigger than the German giant County Zeppelin and each will carry, under the great gas bag, five airplanes for scouting.

The Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation will build them and friendly nations abroad are informed that we do not intend to be taken by surprise.

A fleet of such dirigibles, each carrying fifty tons of explosives and modern war gear, able to unleash one hundred fast destructive planes, could leave with Uncle Sam's compliments a visiting card in Europe or Asia that would not soon be forgotten.

We make war on no nation, but we should be ready and able to fill with subsequent regret any one attacking us.

William W. Breck, retired business man, fell dead while playing golf. He was sixty-four years old.

At sixty-four, make no violent effort, unless a good doctor has pronounced your heart "foot proof."

Cliff is good for old men that play, as they should, talking, laughing, walking slowly. It's dangerous for those that strain and strive to better their game.

Remember, old gentlemen, that whether you go around in 120 or 100,
the cosmos will roll on, just the same.
Treat an old heart as you would a delicate vase, not as you would treat an old rubber boot.

Americans are not going backward, FIFTY-FIFTY, at least. Girls are taller and stronger than ever. And among 100 candidates reporting for freeman crew practice at Cornell 48 were 6 feet tall; a good sign.

A well-balanced body, of good size, about 6 feet, is the right sort.

No wonder American boys and girls grow. The nation's food bill is TWENTY-THREE THOUSAND MIL-LION DOLLARS.

Forty-seven thousand, nine hundred and eighty-five factories of different kinds turn out food products, assisted by 6,448,366 farmers. And 22 per cent of the food plants produce nine-tenths of the food products. Shiver at that, if you dread monopoly.

Will Rogers
Says—

If all the charges that has been made in this campaign in regard to both candidates were laid end to end it would take 'em over two hours to pass a given point.

If all the denials were heaped in a pile an aviator couldn't fly over them.
It is a funny thing about a denial. It takes twice as many words to deny it as it did to make it.

While Smith was heaving charges at him, Hoover just pulled down the blinds and shut the windows and through close association with Coolidge he has become practically speechless—commencing with "Work."

There is nothing gets you quite so sore as to have somebody ignore you. Al is asking questions, but he is not even getting a minority report on them.

A woman in Virginia sent out a scenario saying that the Catholics wouldn't make good postmasters so Herbert paid enough attention to her to have a padlock put on her typewriter. Mr. Work promptly said that he didn't tell that Alabamian to produce any samples about Al's religion.
Work said he was "exceedingly sorry" but didn't say whether his tears were caused by the insult to Al's religion or the fact that the story leaked out in northern papers.

So that's the way things have drifted along. Just from one scandal to another. But as the candidate of the Anti-Bunk Party I have just gone and have not only kept clear of church but also of state matters. Our whole sympathy is to the broadminded element and I doubt if I receive even a hundred votes.

—WILL ROGERS.

Wood Analyzes Smith Wet Stand

BY WILL R. WOOD, M. C.

(Chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.)

When a majority of the voters in three-fourths of the states in the union come to the conclusion that prohibition is a failure and that it is wrong in principle and inimical to the best interest of our people, then and not until then will there be any change or modification that will weaken the Volstead law.

The only way that such a change can be had is by changing the constitution itself, either by eliminating the eighteenth amendment entirely or altering it so as to permit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor.

The Supreme Court of the United States long ago decided the alcoholic content of liquor that would not produce intoxication and fixed that content at one-half 1 per cent. So it is utter folly to pretend that the congress of the United States, or the legislature in any state can pass a law that would run counter to this decision. The man or woman, therefore, who votes for Gov. Smith with the belief that his election to the presidency will bring back booze with a kick in it will be greatly disappointed.

Enforcing the Volstead Act

This, however, will occur in the event of Smith's election. Every violator of the Volstead act will feel that he has greater immunity in law violations than he had before Smith's election, basing his conclusion upon his knowledge that Smith has been, and is, and will be opposed not only to the Volstead act, but to the eighteenth amendment as well. True, Governor Smith, in his letter of acceptance, declares that if elected president he will enforce this law as long as it remains upon the statutes, but his past performances does not afford a very promising guaranty that he will do this thing.

Four times he has been elected governor of the great state of New York;
four times he has taken the oath not only to support the constitution of his state, but also to support and uphold the constitution of the United States and to enforce all the laws under these constitutions. That he has made no attempt to enforce the prohibition law is known of all men. It is likewise well known that he has belittled and ridiculed the federal prohibition law every time the opportunity has presented itself for him to do so. He signed a bill passed by the New York legislature providing for 2.75 per cent beer, knowing full well when he did it that it was unconstitutional. He also signed the non-enforcement act, so that today there is not a New York police officer who lends a hand toward the enforcement of the federal prohibition act.

Repudiating the Party Platform

After the Houston convention had adopted its platform and nominated its candidate, within a few minutes of its adjournment, when it was too late to undo what had been done, Nominee Smith sent his famous dispatch repudiating the prohibition plank in that platform and declaring his opposition to both the Volstead law and the eighteenth amendment. Many have looked upon and declared this action on the part of Smith to be courageous.
To my mind his action was cowardly. Had he been courageous and had he been fair with the resolutions committee, he would have informed its members of his attitude on the prohibition question before the platform was adopted.

Smith was apprised at all times during the deliberation of the platform committee of the fight that was being made before it on this much vexed question. He was equally as well informed that his attitude was contrary to the attitude of the vast majority of the platform committee on this proposition. To an unbiased mind, this action looks more like a track than anything else. Is it any wonder, therefore, that democrats all over the country are up in arms at this repudiation of their platform and this betrayal of the trust they had a right to impose on their candidate?

To add insult to injury Raskob, the democratic national chairman, immediately upon his selection by Smith, declared that one reason for his accepting the position as chairman was "to help the governor get rid of this damnable prohibition that is ruining the country." While Raskob may be a tyro in politics, he is wise enough to know that all he can do to help the governor is to fool the people in regard to this prohibition proposition. The prohibition issue is a smoke screen, which Smith himself purposely brought into the campaign to beloud other vital and determining issues.

He wants the minds of the voters as far away as possible from the agricultural problem, which is, as Mr. Hoover declares, the most important problem confronting the American people, and should be the first to be solved. He also wishes to keep the voter blinded as to the protective tariff, which the democratic party has denounced for 140 years, and whose virtues it now grudgingly acknowledges only as a matter of expediency.

It occurs to me that the business men of this country and the working men of this country are more interested in the continued prosperity of the land, are more interested in maintaining a republican protective tariff that insures good prices, good wages, increasing prosperity, happy faces and happy homes than they are in aiding Al Smith again to be able to put his foot upon the rail and blow off the froth.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

The Piano

If you were limited to one book you might want the dictionary. Some people would want the Bible. If you were limited to one piece of furniture in the house your choice should be the piano.

The piano is easily the most important instrument in the world.

It is the greatest common denominator of all musical instruments.

Most music that is written for an orchestra or a band, or a symphony or the human voice is reducible to a piano score, and usually is first composed on the piano.

There is no doubt about music being the most cultural of studies. It connotes rhythm and harmony, two things that are essential in all departments of human activity. Rhythm is necessary even in the motion pictures, and you must have a sense of harmony if you are going to be an orator, a painter or a sculptor.

The piano is the best door to the knowledge of music. Almost everybody enters into the field of music by that door.

The piano is the heart of the home.
About it naturally groups all the family. A silent house is essentially a desolate one.

The piano is the life of every social gathering.

If anyone can play the piano, even manage so-so with accompaniment, a group gathers around him and the house is enlivened by the voices of the young, or partners are chosen for dancing.

Almost every child can learn music if he is taught young enough. Modern methods of instruction are so simple that even the dullest can understand.

It is a deprivation for any child not to know the piano.

It is the best form of self-expression. As Thomas Moore's Anacreon-ta runs:
"Music! Oh how faint, how weak,
Language fades before thy spell!
Oh, why should passion ever speak
When thou canst breathe her soul in words?"

Our moments of greatest delight, perhaps, are our moments of self-expression. Nothing is better suited to fully set forth our phases of emotion than the piano.

No substitute will do. It is not enough to play the harp or the violin without a basic acquaintance with the piano.
Of course there is a pleasure in

About Your Health

CORN

No—not any of the distillates, so plentiful nowadays. I mean the other thing—those pests, often agonizing—that find lodgment on the tops of and between the toes.

In these highly-specialized days, most everybody has a chiropodist. The fellow who don't know just what a chiropodist is—and hasn't one—he's the one I'm talking to; the one who is willing to do most anything for a bit of relief.

Of course you know, those corns are all your own fault; they couldn't help appearing; you invited them yourself. Corns never intrude themselves into polite society—they are always invited guests, that stay longer than they are wanted once their character becomes known.

If your feet need soaking, soak them. But it doesn't help corns—much. As soon as you put that heat-then shoe on again, the corns begin to speak up. Pull that shoe off again; if you throw it away, so much the better.
Take a small "wing" of four-ounce absorbent cotton and wrap it snugly around the toe—as you'd spread it around a lead-pencil—snugly—so it will stay, when you draw on your stocking; then, saturate the cotton above the corn with any sort of good, refined, lubricating oil. Olive oil is excellent; Sperm oil is very good; if you haven't either, seize your wife's can of sewing-machine oil! I've used it myself—and cured my corns, too. Dress the toe in this manner, morning and night, and wear low heels. Your stockings will get oil on them, of course; but what of it?

If you are extra careful, shave the callous thin before applying the dressing. If you'd rather have corns, keep the foot heels and narrow toes.

Smith's 'Wet'
Plan Attacked
By Democrat

LOS ANGELES—Impracticability of Gov. Alfred E. Smith's liquor plans as outlined in his recent acceptance speech, was stressed by Nathan Newby, prominent Democratic leader of Los Angeles, when he said:

"The personal platform of Governor Smith on the prohibition issue is a subtle, but none the less certain, attack upon the Constitution and would be fatal to the highest ideals of the American people if ratified at the approaching election."

His proposal to allow each state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of liquors, manufactured or sold for beverage purposes, would destroy prohibition even in those states that might desire to retain the prohibition amendment in all its vigor.

"One of the reasons for adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment was the constant violation of local self-government by the liquor dealers in wet states who refused to respect the prohibition laws of the dry states. In the last analysis, Governor Smith's plan amounts to indirect nullification of the Constitution by any state that does not desire to enforce the prohibition law, as New York is now doing under the leadership of its Governor, who aspires to be President."

After all, the big issue, this year as always, is a continuance of the prosperous conditions which have made the United States the envy and the marvel of the world.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The POLITICAL PARADE

By
HARRY R. BLACKMAN

Washington, D. C. — Immigration can't be an issue in this campaign, say Democratic leaders, because both candidates are equally firm in their stand for its continued restriction.
Governor Smith did his best to encourage that impression in his St.
Paul speech by declaring that he, like Herbert Hoover, is in favor of dropping the national origins provision, which is included in the 1924 immigration act, but has never been made effective.

These same Democratic leaders carefully avoid reference to Governor Smith's assertion, in his speech of acceptance, that he is "opposed to the principle of restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census 38 years old."
He has never altered that statement, which has reference to the use of the 1890 census in the present restrictive act.

If the Governor opposes the continued use of the 1890 census, supported by Herbert Hoover, the evidently favors a change to either 1910 or 1920. The 1910 census would increase the number of immigrants admitted annually from 104,067 to 240-350, under the present method of computing quotas. The 1920 census would increase the total to 241,420. If either the 1910 or 1920 figures should be used, the number admitted from Great Britain, Germany, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and France would comprise but 60 per cent. of the annual total, instead of 82 per cent. as at present. So there is, after all, a considerable difference in the ideas of the opposing candidates about immigration restriction.

There is one part of Herbert Hoover's record that receives much less attention than it deserves. That is his campaign against industrial waste, which he began some time before entering the cabinet as secretary of commerce. A survey made by a committee which he appointed discovered an average waste of 49 per cent.
in industry, due chiefly to excessive variety of types of products.

In the Department of Commerce,
Mr. Hoover created a division of simplified practice, which tackled the waste problem. Today American industries are saving $300,000,000 annually through simplification and their employees are sharing in the benefits of that saving, according to Director Burgess of the U. S. Bureau of Standards. Economies in specific lines through elimination of waste by simplified practice include $2,000,000 on metal laths, $4,500,000 on steel reinforcing bars, $6,000,000 on sheet steel, $5,500,000 on range boilers, $15-500,000 on invoices and $20,000,000 on bank checks, and many more.

A president who knows how to bring about simplification might be a good thing for the government of the United States.

Governor Smith's supporters have proclaimed that his greatest appeal lies in his "amazing frankness." It may be assumed that a fair sample of this was the impression he spread through the agricultural west that he favors the McNary-Haugen bill. But before going west he told reporters that a New York World editorial set forth exactly his views on the bill.
That editorial said, "We take it for granted that Governor Smith's declaration comes down to this: 'That the plan for applying this principle in contained in the McNary-Haugen bill, is not acceptable to him' and that "he has no plans of his own for carrying out that principle." Frankly, governor, how about this McNary-Haugen business?

Says Governor Smith, "Surely no organization could have existed as long as Tammany Hall if there had been anything wrong with it." Heriles Senator Moses, "Well, the Mafia, the Black Hand, and other terrorist societies have been going even longer than Tammany."

FACTS ABOUT OLD TOWER AT HOLLY

Structure Was Erected During Lee's Advance; Semaphore Station at Mt. Laurel

Recent news items about a new tower to be built on the mount at Mount Holly refer to an old tower which formerly stood there. This was a temporary structure, built of unburned poles, hastily erected by the signal service of the United States army when Lee's forces were headed north with New York as their objective point.

Lee's advance ended at the battle of Gettysburg, and the tower at Mount Holly was never used. It stood for ten years, more or less, and its removal was said at the time to be due to the anxious mothers of certain small boys who persisted in climbing to the top of it.

The stone now on the mount was placed there by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, who are engaged in an ambitious project to survey the whole of the United States by a system of triangulation. Most of their work thus far has been at and near the coast.

Their "monuments" are found in several cities in the form of brass plugs about four inches in diameter imbedded in stone steps of prominent buildings. One of these may be seen at the central entrance on the north side of the Philadelphia City Hall.

These monuments all carry a number and any one interested may obtain the exact latitude and longitude and elevation above sea level of the spot where the monument is placed by writing to the office of the Survey at Washington.

Long ago Mount Laurel and Arney's Mount were used to transmit messages between New York and Philadelphia by means of a semaphore operated manually by levers. There was a small building, at both places, above which the semaphore was placed. The Philadelphia station was on the roof of a building on Delaware avenue near Chestnut street, and similar stations were located on elevations across the state all the way to New York City. Each operator watched the semaphore on the next station through a small telescope, and moved his semaphore in unison with the one he was watching.

Only the senders and receivers at the ends of the line could interpret the signals. This prevented any "leak" along the line. A large part of the business consisted of stock quotations. Probably there were built operators even then in Wall Street. If the exchange was located in Wall Street—and the conservative Philadelphia bankers no doubt viewed with alarm the surprising quotations which were sometimes reported by the semaphores.

Charles Darnell, who had a coal business in Mount Holly for many years, was the operator at the Mount Laurel station. He thought he had a steady job until one day a telegraph wire was run between New York and Philadelphia. This ended the signaling system, and young Darnell lost his job. All of which is a good illustration of what the political economists speak of as "deprivation by invention."

One Burlington county hill which is not as well known as it should be is Apple Pie Hill, between Retreat and Chatsworth. It is not as high as some of the other hills, but a commodious observation tower has been built on it, from which there is an unequalled view of "the Pines." Probably at no other place in South Jersey can such an expanse of uncultivated land be seen. The hill is private property, but the owner, who lives near by, courteously permits visitors to use the tower. The roads to the hill are not as good as they might be, but they are passable for automobiles except after a heavy storm.

COUNTY HISTORY OF 50 YEARS AGO

Items of Interest Published in Mount Holly Mirror Oct. 17, 1878

Quail are reported to be plentiful in all parts of the State.

The Smithville Band, Prof. Raymond, leader, furnished music at the Mount Holly Fair last week.

Isaiah Werrell grows Indian corn fifteen feet high with three ears nine feet from the ground.

About eighty lots were sold at Lavallette City on Thursday for about $5,000. In the neighborhood of 300 persons went on the excursion to that resort.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at Concert Hall, Mount Holly, tomorrow night. Admission, 25 and 15 cents.

Joseph Haines, Sr., of Masonville, set out 600 tomato plants at the beginning of the season on a fifth of an acre of ground and picked 180 baskets during the summer.

It is reported that the cranberry crop of Mr. Hinchman, Taunton, will approximate 20,000 bushels this year. The pickers have been turning them in at the rate of about a basket a minute.

Charles B. Hornor, of Mount Holly, exhibited 150 varieties of plants and 25 varieties of ornamental and evergreen trees at the fair last week, and Mrs. Hornor had some beautiful samples of cut flowers.

Frazer County Fair. The State Gazette, Trenton, says: "The Mount Holly Fair closed yesterday. It was one of the most successful ever held there and one of the best in the State. It was but little inferior, in any respect, to the State Fair at Waverly."

William W. Hawkins, agent for Schalk Brothers' Newark brewery, was at the Mount Holly Fair last week, dispensing to appreciative hundreds of people free samples of the famous lager beer of this well-known brewery. Schalk's beer is a good thing to have in the house, and we are not alone in that opinion. We award it first premium.

Many people who visited the fair last week were surprised to learn that this county produces a fine grade of Axminster carpet. It is made at Birmingham by Mr. Sinclair and attracts much attention.

The number of visitors at the fair approximated 25,000 for the four days, October 24, 1878.

A. B. Cherry, of Mount Holly, U. S. gauger for this internal revenue district, one day last week gauged 3,500 gallons of apple whiskey in Gloucester county.

William A. Johnson, of Hainesport, last week brought to Mount Holly two sweet potatoes that weighed four and a half pounds.

Tax rate for 1878: Northampton, $1.10; Cinnaminson, 92c; Mansfield, 75c; Medford, 70c; New Hanover, 74c; Springfield, 70c; Westampton, 70c; Willingboro, 70c; Woodland, $1.20; Evesham, $1.00; Mount Laurel, 72c; Lumberton, 75c; Florence, 85c; Shamong, 85c.

Pierre Lorillard's running horses for races in England, sailed from New York on Saturday. The list embraces eight horses. Jockeys accompanied the animals.

Master Clarence H. Folhemus, of Mount Holly, brought a carrier pigeon from Philadelphia on Saturday evening and liberated it at nine o'clock on Sunday morning. The bird immediately flew in the direction of Philadelphia and arrived at its home, Chestnut Hill, at five minutes past ten o'clock. The distance is 30 miles and the pigeon flew against a strong westerly wind.

A correspondent writes: "I have visited all the places of note in Philadelphia and come to the conclusion that Wanamaker's Grand Depot is the greatest wonder of them all, and no one should fail to see it. How such an immense business is conducted by one man is a marvel. Here are various departments, selling all sorts of merchandise, and each has a larger line than can be found in any other establishment in the city."

TIRE AIR FOR TREES
Washington, D. C.—Compressed air, forced in among the roots of large trees that have been transplanted, have been found to be of assistance in causing the tree to recover quickly from its disturbance. In most planting operations the dirt is thrown back into the soil with so much water that it puddles and prevents the roots from getting needed air from the soil.

TURKISH MODESTY
Constantinople.—All Turkish girls starting the school term passed in review before their teachers, and those whose skirts were considered too short were sent home with orders not to return until the skirts came down an inch below the knee.

BEEF STEW EN CASSEROLE
Use 1 pound lean raw beef cut in inch cubes, 3 cups tomato pulp, 3 sliced onions, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, pepper and paprika to taste. MARY H. ARMOR SPEAKS THIS MONTH

"Georgia Cyclone" to Speak at Delancey, Burlington and Moorestown Late This Month

Burlington County is to be particularly favored by having Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, L.L.D., the "Georgia Cyclone," deliver three addresses in this neighborhood. It was at first thought possible to obtain her services for only one address, which was to have been held in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Delanco, Tuesday evening, October 30, but in addition to this lecture she will also address audiences at Moorestown Sunday morning, October 28, and at Burlington the same evening.

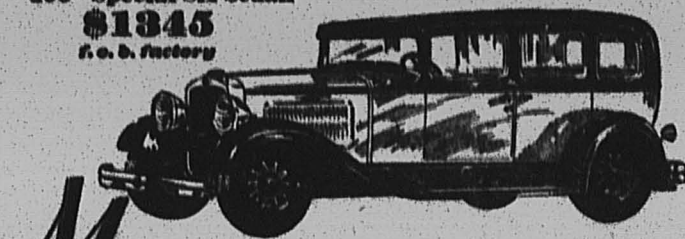

Mrs. Armor, who is an enthusiastic worker in the Women's Christian Temperance Union, is a "dry" Democrat, and it was largely through her efforts that Georgia went so overwhelmingly dry. She will talk on "Prohibition and the Coming Election." Mrs. Armor is one of the dry electoral candidates in her State.

Newspapers all over this country and abroad wherever she has spoken have been very profuse in their tributes to her eloquence and ability, and as "the Outlook," New Zealand, says, "She is undoubtedly among the foremost of the world's orators at the present time."

There will be no admission charge, and everyone is very cordially invited to attend any or all of the addresses.

COURT SANCTIONS ADOPTION OF BOY

Two-Year-Old of Mixed Race Parentage Becomes Son of Palmyra Chinese

Adoptions have not been uncommon transactions in the Burlington County Orphans' Court the past year, there being scarcely a week that Judge Slaughter had not passed upon the eligibility of parties interested who sought to add a child to their home, but last Thursday there was a novelty in this line when Lee Louis Chung and his wife, Leung Chung, residents of Palmyra, through their counsel, Frank Matthews, requested permission to adopt little two-year-old Harry Mark.

The evidence disclosed that this was clearly an inter-racial adoption, as it was shown that the little boy's mother was a negress, while the father was a Mongolian. Both parents are alive and little Harry had become a part and parcel of the Chung laundry establishment at Palmyra.

The Chungs are of the higher class Chinese and it was testified by American neighbors that they are treating little Harry in fine style and that he is one of the best dressed boys in the neighborhood. It was also shown to the satisfaction of the Court that the parents were not competent to take charge of the boy.

The Court signed the order and little Harry Mark went home little Harry Chung.

The Court also disposed of two other adoption matters, after which several estates were closed.

There was no criminal business transacted, but announcement was made that the cases against Herbert Alloway, aged 12, and his brother, Earl, aged 14; Norman Alloway, aged 12, a cousin, and Preston Lewallen, aged 14, Mount Holly boys accused of larceny, whose cases are being investigated by Probation Officer Frank A. Hendrickson, would be laid over for another week.

This quartet of youngsters has given the Mount Holly police and the county officers no end of trouble, due to their penchant for other people's property, and the Court is in more or less of a quandary as to just how to dispose of them. It has been ascertained that negligence of their parents is responsible for a lot of the trouble the boys get into and it may be possible that the parents will be called to account.

HOME HINTS

The decorators tell us that every living room should have its screen. If it is not needed to match the entrance to the dining room or bedroom, then it is invaluable as a "high place" to balance the tall secretary, bookcase or upright piano on an opposite wall. Most attractive screens can be made at home at very little cost by covering the bare frame with antique wall paper or a delightful modern paper may be used if the modernistic touch is wanted in the room.

Another effective screen that can be made at home is the screen of prints. Wall paper in a tiny gold star, diamond or cross stitch pattern makes a good foundation; then mount old-fashioned flower prints, Godey or quaint French prints in panels at the top.

Recent stories of President Coolidge's marksmanship have been arousing admiration for the president in all quarters of the country. Here he is shown at Brule, Wis., in the act of shooting over clay pigeons. He scored twenty-nine out of thirty-seven pigeons.

HOOVER HELPS OUT PETS

Herbert Hoover does not have many pets of his own, but he fully understands how much they mean to others.

While the Mississippi flood was at its height, and his whole attention was riveted on the task of assisting thousands of refugees, a soldier came into his temporary office.

"What are we going to do with these dogs, Mr. Secretary?" he asked.

"What dogs do you mean?" asked Hoover.

"Why, a lot of these refugees have brought dogs with them, and some have cats, too," replied the soldier.

"We'll take care of them, and good care, Hoover announced. "Those people haven't saved much. If any of them have pets—dogs, cats, or elephants—let them keep them and take care of them. Have some of the refugees build corrals with runways for the dogs."

"A few of them have canaries—," the soldier began.

"All right," said Uncle Sam's emergency man, and turning to his secretary, "Order some bird seed, and if it is not on the regulation list, charge it to me."

LEADERS TO SPEAK

Educational Authorities Will Address Meetings in Burlington County

On next Monday, October 22, Dr. Frank McMurry, former instructor in Teacher's College, Columbia University, New York City, will speak on "Judging My Own Teaching."

Dr. William Kipatrik, of Teacher's College, will discuss on November 27 "Newer Notions in Discipline."

Tickets for the short term course are $2.00 on the co-operative basis. This meeting will be held at 4 o'clock in the Junior High School, Burlington.

All interested are invited to share in this opportunity.

REUNITE AFTER HALF CENTURY

Elsworth, Wis.—After a half century of separation, during which neither knew of the other's existence, Kerry Michaels, of this city, and his brother, Charles, of Leavenworth, Kan., were reunited. Charles was taken from Elsworth by his mother when he was two years old. About a month ago he learned that a Michaels family lived in Elsworth and investigated. The brothers served in the Spanish-American War and were in the same engagements.

NEED EXISTS FOR TRAINED DAIRY MEN

A comprehensive course in dairy manufactures will again be offered for a period of 12 weeks this fall and winter by the college of agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, as part of the regular short courses, which begin on November 12 at the state institution.

"For those who desire practical training in the handling of market milk, and the manufacture of dairy products, especially ice cream, the course in dairy manufactures is particularly well adapted," states the official announcement of the college.

"Persons engaged in milk plants, ice cream factories, or farm dairies have found the course a profitable investment. The metropolitan district has many opportunities for the man who has both a scientific training and a background of practical experience."

Students in the course undergo practical work in the laboratories and college dairy. They study and find solutions for the problems of dairy sanitation and learn the methods used in determining the bacterial count of milk as well as methods of testing milk and other dairy products.

"As a part of the market milk course, the students take up the study of city milk supply, country and city milk plants, pasteurization and processing of milk, board of health regulations, and other pertinent problems. Much time is also devoted to the commercial manufacturing of ice cream, butter, and cheese."

The course in dairy manufactures is, according to the announcements, free to residents of New Jersey.

DISPUTED TALLY BEATS PALMYRA

P. H. S. Eleven Loses When Referee Allows Touchdown After Half Ended

Last Friday afternoon Coach Kenneth Dimond's Palmyra High School eleven went down to defeat by the margin of a disputed touchdown before the greatest aerial game ever seen in these parts.

The strong Collingswood team was the attraction and scored three times via the aerial route, while Palmyra counted twice on recovered fumbles.

The final score, 13-13. The disputed marker came just as the first half ended. The "Colls," by a series of perfectly executed passes, had worked the ball to Palmyra's 3-yard line. The next play accounted for a 3-yard gain and Collingswood hurriedly lined up for the next play, knowing there was but a second or so left in which to score.

Umpire Blows Whistle

Just before the center snapped the ball Umpire MacKisic blew his whistle, signifying the half had ended. Referee Nelson failed to hear the whistle and MacKisic ran into the line in an effort to stop the play. In the meantime the ball was passed and Peacock carried it over the goal.

Coach Dimond and several hundred Palmyra rooters rushed on the field and protested. Referee Nelson admitted that he had failed to hear the whistle, but allowed the touchdown on the grounds that nothing but the referee's whistle could stop the play.

With everything considered it was a real tough break for the Palmyra lads.

Should Have Been Tie

Had the referee stopped the play when he admitted he should the game would have resulted in a 13-13 tie instead of a defeat for Palmyra. The fans were unanimous in blaming the referee for the loss of the game.

Hostilities began with Collingswood receiving the kickoff and ripping off a first down. Palmyra braced and Seaman dropped back to punt on fourth down. Down's pass from center was poor. Seaman scooped up the ball, darted around right end for 10 yards, but Palmyra took the ball on downs.

Minot helped the Collingswood cause when he intercepted a pass on the 30-yard line. It looked like a touchdown, for interference quickly formed, but speedy Joey Black caught the Blue and Oold captain on the 45-yard mark. After three thrusts at the line Collingswood elected to punt. Seaman fumbled the pass from center and was again forced to skit right end. This time he succeeded in making a first down.

Probing Grabs Pass

Probing intercepted a pass by Peacock on his own 30-yard line, but Peacock recovered a fumble on the next play. Then came a break for Palmyra.

Seaman, calling signals, shouted "23-45." Peacock, who was to take the ball, thought the quarterback said "40" and Down's pass went between the two backs. Bob Bartley, Palmyra's fleet-footed wingman, and Peacock raced for the ball, the former reaching it first and racing 65 yards for a touchdown. Jack Knight's drop-kick for extra point went squarely between the uprights and Palmyra was ahead.

Collingswood immediately cut loose with an overhead offensive. Peacock threw a 20-yard pass to Steele, "Slip," dodging his way 10 more yards to Palmyra's 40-yard line before he was downed. Peacock then tossed one which Minot caught for a gain of 31 yards. "Pony" promptly threw another, Steele pulling it down out of the air and crossing the goal line. Seaman's drop kick was accurate, but both teams were off-side and the kick had to be made over. This time Peacock blocked it and Palmyra was ahead, 7-0.

Sloan's 40-Yard Run

Tod Sloan thrilled the big crowd when he returned the kick-off 40 yards to midfield, then realized him and saved a touchdown. Palmyra was unable to gain and punted.

Peacock got off a beautiful 40-yard pass to Seaman, who was downed on Palmyra's 30-yard line. "Chub" wrenched his neck on the play and had to leave the game.

Peacock shot a short pass to Willard, who had replaced Seaman, for a gain of 5 yards. Then Knight knocked one down. But Steele made a thrilling catch of another from Peacock for a gain of 24 yards, placing the ball three yards from the goal line. Followed by Peacock's two assaults at the line and the resultant touchdown, despite the fact that the half was over before the six-pointer was made. Willard tied for a place kick for extra point, but the ball went wild.

Minot's Fumble Costly

Harry George fumbled the kick-off that started the second half, and Sloan recovered for Palmyra on the alien 40-yard line. Knight punted over the goal line. Collingswood took the ball in play on the 20-yard line, and on the first play Minot, hitting left tackle, was bumped hard and the ball flew out of his hands. Spencer Cooper scooped it up and dashed 30 yards for the touchdown that gave the Red and White eleven the lead once more. Knight's drop-kick was wide. The score was 13-12.

Walton Schultz recovered a fumble by Sloan on Palmyra's 30-yard line soon afterwards. Peacock threw a pass to Schultz and it netted 13 yards. Jack Earle and Peacock ripped off a first down on the 17-yard line on two line plunges. Minot circled right end for 10 yards, but the play was recalled and Collingswood was penalized for off-side. Then Peacock uncoiled a long pass which Seaman caught in the run over the goal line. With that play went the game. Seaman's drop-kick was true and the figures were 13-13.

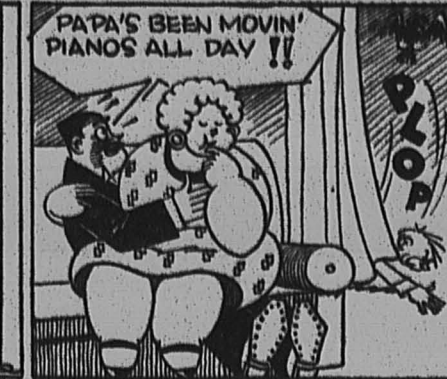

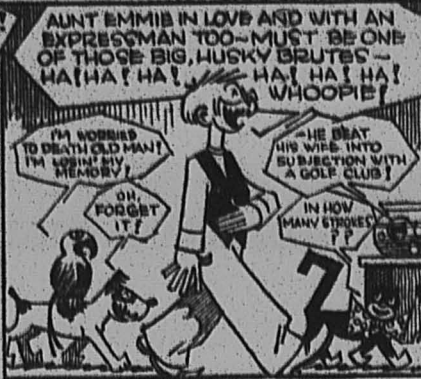

Palmyra Aerials Intercepted

Palmyra immediately opened up with aerials, but of the three attempted, Tommy Lenox intercepted one and Peacock took two.

Peacock's passes were the feature of the game. This sticky youngster could make distance with uncanny accuracy. Seven of his 19 tosses were caught.

PALMYRA WINS FOURTH STRAIGHT

PCM Footballers Display Power Against Strong Paulsboro Eleven

Coach Joe Stack's red-jacketed pigskin gladiators emerged triumphant after an hour of thrilling play last Saturday afternoon to give Palmyra its fourth football victory in as many starts.

All the scoring was done in the first half when the P. C. M. warriors rolled up an impressive lead of 40-0, after which Coach Stack took advantage of the situation to give the second string men a work-out.

The first six-pointer was written in the statistics shortly after the kick-off when Pettito raced around end on a reverse play for 20 yards and a touchdown. The try for point failed.

Reagle Scores

The next tally came as a result of a 20-yard off-tackle play, with Reagle carrying the oval to the 3-yard line. He then plunged through the line for the touchdown. Pettito added the extra point with a perfect drop kick.

Palmyra threatened to score again near the end of the quarter when Paulsboro was unable to gain an inch in three plays from their own 30-yard line. On the fourth down Augustine fumbled as he attempted to kick and was downed as he recovered the ball on his 10-yard line. After the ball went over the Paulsboro line stiffened and held Palmyra on downs.

The third touchdown came in the second period after Pettito carried the ball to the 6-yard line in a beautifully executed off-tackle play, which netted 20 yards. Reagle then went through the line for the remaining distance. Pettito's kick failed to go over.

Intercepts Pass

Palmyra threatened to score again after Reagle intercepted a pass. A series of plays carried the ball to Paulsboro's 3-yard line where a forward pass over the goal line, on the fourth down, was grounded. A 40-yard punt went out of bounds, giving Palmyra possession of the pigskin.

A forward pass, Reagle to Phelan, was good for 10 yards. A pass was attempted on the next play, but was intercepted by Paulsboro as the whistle ended the half.

Palmyra presented an almost entirely new line-up as the teams took the field to start the next half. Neither side was very successful in advancing the ball. Palmyra's line played a wonderful game, forcing the ball back so frequently that several times Paulsboro had more than 10 yards to go on the fourth down.

Haddonfield to Play Here

Haddonfield A. A. will be the attraction next Saturday and the hardest battle of the season is expected. The result will have considerable bearing on the Class "B" championship. Come out and lend the boys your encouragement. Palmyra has reason to be proud of its representatives on the gridiron this season.

PHS IN DEADLOCK FOR HOCKEY LEAD

Miss Cornelia Harding Stars as "Pals" Triumph Over Collingswood

The Palmyra and Haddonfield girls' hockey teams were deadlocked for the lead in the New Jersey High School League as a result of each scoring a 4-2 win last Wednesday afternoon.

Palmyra was victorious over Collingswood and Haddonfield won a hard-fought game with Woodbury. Pitman defeated Paulsboro in the only other contest of the afternoon by a margin of 7 to 2.

The "Colls" were defeated on their own field largely through the splendid work of Cornelia Harding, sparkling left-inside of the Palmyra line-up. Miss Harding counted twice in the first half and again in the final period. Kitty Burr registered the other Palmyra tally.

Miss Purbeck's eleven showed to advantage almost from the start by taking control of the ball and driving it the entire length of the field soon after the start of the contest. Collingswood played gamely and succeeded in matching the performance of the "Pals" by scoring twice in the first half.

The second canto took on a different character with the Palmyra girls outclassing their opponents. Two goals in the final half accounted for Palmyra's margin of victory.

Evelyn Bell, star center-forward for the "Colls," drove in the two consolation pointers for the losers.

MOORESTOWN NO MATCH FOR A. C.

High School Eleven Meets Defeat at Hands of Shore Gridders

The Moorestown high school football squad was defeated by the strong Atlantic City high team on Bader Field, Atlantic City, Saturday, 35-0. It was the fourth straight triumph for the shore stars.

Herm Danenbaum, Bill Ruffa, Captain Lou Mathis, George Sterne and "Toss" Myer crowned the Moorestown goal line during the course of the game. Myer kicking two extra points and Sterne, one. The other two points came as the result of a safety in the last quarter.

Coach Isenberg's charges played good football in the first three periods, the score at the end of this time being 15-0, but in the final period, the shore machine scored three touchdowns and a safety, for 22 more points.

Danenbaum and Ruffa were the sparklers in carrying the ball for the victors, both breaking loose for several long runs. Captain Mathis, Al Kovack, Ernest Perkins and George Stokes, Jr., played well on the line.

The local boys will meet the Burlington chargers on the South Church street field this Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Coach Isenberg expects his machine to put up a splendid fight and crush the Blue and White team with a score that will make up for its defeat Saturday.

The game will start promptly at 3:30 and the admission will be only twenty-five cents. See if you can't see the game. With your support the boys guarantee that it will be a worthwhile game and that you will get your money's worth.

IRWIN TO SPEAK AT MOORESTOWN

Famous Author to Give First Hand Information of Candidate

"Will Irwin, eminent author and lifelong friend of Herbert Hoover, will be the chief speaker at a big Republican rally to be held in the Moorestown High School auditorium this Friday evening, starting at 8 o'clock.

As this is the only campaign meeting in Moorestown, the auditorium is expected to be filled to capacity.

Other prominent men who will speak in behalf of the Republican candidates are Congressman Isaac Bacharach, of Atlantic City, candidate for re-election, and Burlington County's favorite orator, former Judge Harold B. Wells, Republican State Committeeman from this county. Music will be furnished by the Moorestown band.

Unparalleled Opportunity
This meeting will offer to the citizens of Moorestown an unparalleled opportunity to obtain first-hand information concerning the life and work of Herbert Hoover. Thirty years of unswerving allegiance as a friend and co-worker entitles Will Irwin to speak with authority on all questions pertaining to Hoover.

From college days, through perils in Belgium, up to the present moment, Will Irwin has stood by Hoover, his loyal adherent. Monday evening, when Hoover spoke with unprecedented and far-reaching eloquence of the issues of the campaign for the Presidency, Will Irwin sat beside him on the platform at Madison Square Garden.

He knows Hoover and will tell his audience with conviction why voters should cast their ballot for Hoover; the Hoover whose work in Europe and America during the war and since is an economic miracle.

A statement by a prominent Moorestown woman follows:

"When we witnessed last season the performance by Script and Score of the play called 'The Thirteenth Chair,' of which Will Irwin is co-author, we little realized the momentous occasion which would bring the author himself to the Moorestown rostrum.

Book Influential
"No book has been more influential in the present campaign for the Presidency than Will Irwin's 'Herbert Hoover, A Reminiscence Biography.'"

From freshman days when Irwin and Hoover shared Enclina dormitory at Stanford University—Hoover was an eminent senior—Irwin has been an enthusiastic admirer of Hoover and a keen observer of his rise to fame. So thoroughly has Irwin been imbued with the Hoover spirit of self-effacement that one licks in vain in Irwin's biography for any reference to himself.

"It is with pleasure all the keener because of his modesty that we find Irwin's work with the Relief Commission in Belgium, and as war correspondent with the French, Italian, British and American armies; also as Commissioner on Public Information, bringing him recognition of the highest order. He received from the French Government the decoration 'Chevalier of the Legion of Honor,' and from Belgium the King Albert Medal; also from Belgium the 'Medaille de la Reconnaissance.'"

K. OF C. MASQUE PARTY AND DANCE

Hallowe'en Celebration to Be Given October 30; Cash Prizes Awarded

Anybody desiring to try out their ability of making others believe they are someone else will have this opportunity at the annual Knights of Columbus Hallowe'en dance and party which will be staged in the K. of C. Hall next Tuesday, October 30.

This is the official opening of the masque season in Riverton-Palmyra and promises to surpass any like event ever held in these towns, as a large committee of experienced ladies and gentlemen connect with St. Joseph's Council are at work on every detail of this annual affair.

Instead of offering various articles to the winners in the different classes the committee has decided to offer cash prizes to all winners.

Special attention is being paid to the decorations, which are to be entirely different from previous Hallowe'en trimmings.

The music will be furnished by the Vagabond Orchestra, a real drawing card for this seasonal event.

A large committee of ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Sanford, are assisting A. J. Pfaff, chairman of the committee, in arranging all the details of this annual affair.

Interest among the Council members is manifested by the large attendance at a "pop meeting" of the affair held last Friday night in the K. of C. headquarters.

Some special events that will please the children are being planned and the winners will also be given cash prizes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The fifty-first annual Burlington County Sunday School convention was held in Calvary Presbyterian Church last Thursday.

The theme of the convention was "Christian Education as Life-Changing," and this was the subject the Rev. Samuel L. Hamilton took for his evening address.

In the morning Miss Frances M. Hedden, superintendent of the children's division of the New Jersey Council of Religious Education, gave an address on "At What Age Should Evangelism Begin?" The Rev. Hamilton led a round table discussion, and the Rev. J. W. Lee conducted a forum on "Joining Church or Finding Christ."

In the afternoon Dr. W. J. Thompson spoke on "The Process of Change in the Christian Life." Dr. Thompson is head of the Department of Religious Education, Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J. This was followed by numerous departmental conferences.

Your Contribution

The best contribution any voter in Riverton and Cinnaminson Township can make to his favorite candidates is to VOTE EARLY. In several districts in Riverton, Palmyra and Cinnaminson Township there are about 700 registered voters. The polls are open from 6 A. M. to 7 P. M.—13 hours. To poll all the votes in these districts it will be necessary to average one ballot per minute.

As many of those who work in Philadelphia cannot vote until they return home, it is of first importance that those who are in town during the day should vote before 3 o'clock. Otherwise, it may be impossible to accommodate those who are forced to vote during the last two or three hours the polls are open.

VOTE EARLY.

"POWDER MY BACK" DR. RAIGUEL ON CURRENT TOPICS

Well Known Lecturer Addresses Members of Porch Club

Dr. George Earle Raiguel filled the Porch Club auditorium Tuesday, October 23, when talking on current topics. An audience, quite representative of the Porch Club of Riverton, listened attentively for over an hour to Dr. Raiguel, who discussed the subjects which are uppermost in the minds of the great statesmen of today. Dr. Raiguel, who has visited most of the countries of the world, and some of them many times, took up at length each country as bearing a part in the world peace movement. In speaking of the adoption of the Multilateral Treaty, which is a plan by which peace will at least be deferred before the thought of war is entertained, he thought a leap forward, not a step, had been made.

In talking of Germany, the speaker said he felt sure that country is going through a period of co-operation. He cited as an example the fact that rances furnishes many raw materials which are manufactured in Germany, and in turn, are sent back to France or export.

While taking up the political situation in our own country, Dr. Raiguel spoke of the necessity for reorganization of our government departments. Our departments under the present administration have been housecleaned, but the rest are waiting for the direction of the new president. Both candidates, continued Dr. Raiguel, have pledged themselves to this organization.

The lives of the two vice-presidents for election were outlined and pointed out by Dr. Raiguel as being parallel for the most part. In summing up the good qualities of Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith, Dr. Raiguel said the country would prosper under either candidate, as both are great executives.

At the close of the afternoon tea as served, with Mrs. Raymond Fuller at the table. The program for the afternoon was arranged by Mrs. Douglas Clark, who is chairman of the Fine Arts Department.

FARMERS TOLD TO GET POWER LINE

A warning by W. C. Krueger, extension specialist in rural electrification for the New Jersey College of Agriculture, has just been issued to New Jersey farmers not to sign wiring contracts until they have personal assurance from the local power company that the electric line will be extended to serve them.

"Several South Jersey farmers," says Krueger, "have had their premises wired in the belief that the power line would then be built, only to find that the power company knew nothing of the activities of the wiring company until the farms were wired and that the lines could not be extended without additional payments to the power company for construction."

In some cases the wiring contracts specifically stated "No cost for poles," also "No cost till lights are burning." However, upon completion of the wiring the farmer was asked to sign a slip stating that the work was satisfactorily completed, this slip was shown a finance company as evidence that the contract was fulfilled, the finance company bought the promissory notes attached to the contract, and the farmer is then expected to pay for the wiring on maturity of the notes—generally from two to six months after wiring. Since the notes are in the hands of a legally innocent third party they can be collected, creating a situation wherein the farmer pays for his wiring and still cannot use it for lack of power service.

"Farmers should, before signing a contract, make sure of the fitness of the contractor. There are those who specialize in farm wiring that understand the farmer's needs and that are dependable. Others are in the business to get the most money in the shortest time with least cost to them."

"The local power company and the local agricultural agent should be consulted before contracts are signed. Contracts should be read over with care, especially the small type, as statements increasing obligation of the farmers are sometimes buried in an inconspicuous part of the document."

MEETINGS FOR WOMEN

The Active Workers Committee of the colored voters of Burlington County have arranged for three meetings within the next few days. The first will be at the home of Mrs. Frank Stanford, in Wrightville, at 4:00 o'clock, Friday, October 26. On Saturday, the 27th, at 3:30, a meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Victoria Johnson, Penn street, Riverton, and on the 29th, from 6:00 to 8:00 in the evening, at the home of Mrs. Lee Hill, East Riverton.

At these meetings the colored women will have an opportunity which will be held given before to get close to the issues and also be instructed as to the correct manner of balloting.

HAMMELL SECOND IN NET RANKINGS

Moorestown Star Next to Dr. Carl Fischer in West Jersey League

Dr. Carl Fischer, of Woodbury, former intercollegiate tennis champion, for the second straight year heads the ranking list of the West Jersey League of Field Clubs.

Dr. Fischer has been awarded first place because he won the West Jersey open championship at the Moorestown Field Club, the tournament closed to league members at the same place and also the title court at Woodbury.

Bert Hammel, Moorestown Field Club star, who is Swarthmore's No. 1 player, is second in the ratings. He showed at his best in the closed tournaments, winning at Riverton, Haddonfield and Merchantville. Lieutenant R. Morgan Watt, of Woodbury, No. 3, has gained national prominence by virtue of his sterling performances as one of Navy's representatives in Leach Cup competition. Lieutenant Watt also has proved his worth in league and tournament events.

Fourth Place for Orr
Charles P. Orr, of Haddon F. C., who was West Jersey's ranking player before Fischer and Hammel made their appearance in West Jersey competition, is assigned fourth place. The fact that he is just below his sterling rival is not to his discredit.

Orr is a splendid player, who has stood out conspicuously as a representative of the Haddon Field Club in its championship triumphs in recent years.

He is followed by Edward C. Hall and William C. Cummings, his teammates, who have played an important part in the amazing achievements of the Haddonfield team for fourteen straight years.

C. Van Hart, another Haddon Field Club ace, is ranked seventh. He first gained recognition on the courts as captain of the Swarthmore tennis team.

Preston Roberts, of Moorestown, holds the No. 8 position. Roberts fought with characteristic courage in all tournaments and always proved a dangerous contender against the strongest players in the league.

Dr. Glover Ninth
Dr. L. L. Glover, also of Haddon F. C., lies in the ratings. He was the individual point winner.

W. C. Holmes, of Woodbury, played well in all his matches and helped his club gain third place in the team competition.

Miss Laura Bittenger, Haddon Field Club's foremost woman representative, is No. 1 in the ladies' rankings. She captured the title at Haddonfield and also aided the club in carrying off the league team honors.

Her teammates, Miss Matilda Glover, Miss Taylor, an individual point winner, Dorothy Haydock, are listed in the order named.

The other positions are held by Miss Ruth Walton, of Woodbury; Miss Anne Grandall, of Haddonfield; Miss Marcia Wilt, of Woodbury; Miss Betty Collins, of Merchantville; Miss Betty Wilson, of Woodbury, and Miss Katherine Graft, of Riverton.

Harold Furness, Lieutenant N. W. Gokey, Miss Beatie Taylor, Miss Eleanor Shinn, Miss Reeves and Mrs. E. B. Roberts were not named because of insufficient data. The ranking list was drawn up by the Ranking Committee, composed of C. S. Mears, chairman; W. C. Cummings, C. A. Johnson and Lieutenant N. W. Gokey, and will be formally announced at the annual meeting of the West Jersey League of Field Clubs.

REALTORS MEET

The regular quarterly meeting of the general advisory committee, local board of governors, presidents and secretaries of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards, was held at the Newark Athletic Club, Newark, last Friday at a luncheon meeting. There were really men present from most of the 55 real estate boards in New Jersey. This was the last meeting prior to the annual convention, which will be held in Atlantic City December 6, 7 and 8.

There seems to be general opinion that Herbert Hoover is the best qualified man ever nominated for the Presidency.

FROM ONE WHO LIVES IN A GLASS HOUSE

Boston Transcript

One of the most incomprehensible of Governor Smith's utterances, in his speech of acceptance, was his attack upon the fiscal policy of President Coolidge. Nothing in the speech has met with so little response, and, in fact, his figures have been challenged by the authorities in Washington. The criticism did not come with the best of grace from the most expensive governor New York ever had. Governor Smith cites the inevitable increase of expenditures of the Federal Government from 1914 to 1923, but he does not inform us that in his own state expenditures increased from $79,742,000 in 1917 to $215,704,000 in 1927, a gross increase of $143,111,000. Total decreases during that period, which includes the two administrations of the Democratic candidate, amounted to $7,149,000, leaving a net increase of $135,961,000. The reductions were effected in the executive, legislative and public service branches; the chief increases were for education, highways and mental hygiene.

We would not, however, without detailed information, condemn Governor Smith for this enormous addition to expenditure and debt, any more than he can justify himself for attacking the President. Neither official controlled the appropriations, and both were confronted with more or less hostile legislatures which did about as they pleased with the funds of the government. Perhaps the people of New York got their money's worth, along with the contractors; and Governor Smith can attract more votes with his wet program than by attacking Calvin Coolidge as a spendthrift.

RED CROSS PLANS YEARLY ROLL CALL

Judge Wells, Chairman of Burlington County Chapter, Issues Summons

Plans are nearing completion for the Twelfth Annual Roll-Call of the American Red Cross to be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day as part of a nation-wide effort to enroll 5,000,000 members, the quota of Burlington County being 7,000 memberships. Harold B. Wells, Roll-Call Chairman of Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced this week.

Assisting in the enrollment in twenty-two towns in the county will be a corps of workers under the leadership of a local Roll Call Chairman.

Stressing the fact that only during the Roll Call, once a year, does the organization seek the support through memberships for its local, national and international work, Mr. Wells said the campaign plans will include the extension of a direct invitation to every resident of the county. This will be done by reaching them at their places of business and at their homes.

"The American Red Cross," he said,

"merits the support of everyone. The services it is rendering in this community, in the nation and internationally, are indispensable and must continue. They can do so only with adequate response to the Roll Call."

"It is the only agency organized and equipped to cope with disasters in this and other communities. It answers alike the call for help from the smallest town and the challenge of such overwhelming disasters as the Mississippi Valley flood of a year ago and the Porto Rico-Florida hurricane of this year. In the last three years it has collected and disbursed for the relief of sufferers from fires, floods, hurricanes and other disasters, more than $30,000,000.

"The confidence of the American people in their Red Cross is unbounded. They have only to be asked and they will join. This is why we are laying such careful plans to present to every man and woman in the community a personal invitation to join the Red Cross for the ensuing year."

To keep peace in the family, many a man finds two radios necessary—one for political speeches, and one for dance music!

JUST a year ago—on October 27, 1927—Hupmobile started automotive circles with the announcement of a new beauty and a new value in moderately priced six and eight cylinder motor cars.

In their first month, Hupmobile Century Sixes and Eights broke all previous records in Hupmobile history. Month after month, new high sales peaks were recorded culminating early in July with totals that surpassed all of the previous year's production.

To signalize the greatest year in Hupmobile's 20 years of fine car manufacture, we announce a special Anniversary Showing of the complete new 1929 line of Century Sixes and Eights at our Showrooms.

Come in and view them at your leisure—then drive any of the forty-two standard custom-equipped bodystyles now available. Prove to yourself that Hupmobile with its brilliantly refined 1929 models is still a year ahead in every quality by which motor car values are judged.

Forty-two body and equipment combinations, standard and custom, on each line. Six of the Century, $1345 to $1645; Century Eight, $1825 to $2125. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.
