Burlington County Freeholders Pass Resolution Approving of Bill No. 165

The necessity for Boards of Freeholders having control over the payments of salaries and other expenditures they are required to make has long been felt. In Burlington County 45 percent of the money which the Freeholders raised by taxation is for mandatory expenditures, arbitrarily determined by forces outside of the board, and over which the board has absolutely no control.

It is, therefore, with much satisfaction that the Burlington County Board of Freeholders has noted the introduction of Senate Bill 165, and a resolution by Mr. Stout placing the board on record as endorsing the passage of this bill was unanimously passed last Friday.

The Resolution

The resolution follows:

Whereas, many laws have from time to time been enacted authorizing various officers, boards and agencies to call upon the Board of Chosen Freeholders in mandatory and arbitrary fashion to raise and disburse large sums of money over which the members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, as the elected representatives of the voters of the county for the government of the county have absolutely no control, and

WHEREAS, such mandatory and arbitrary demands have increased by leaps and bounds with the result that in the 1929 budget appropriations of this Board these mandatory and arbitrary demands comprise approximately forty-five per cent. (45%) of the total budget for the year, and

WHEREAS, such mandatory and arbitrary demands are often made without regard to the general financial conditions of the county or the effect on its tax rates or the relation of such demands to the necessity for other county expenditures, and

WHEREAS, it is impossible to establish and maintain an economical administration of the County Government under such existing law, and

WHEREAS, the members of this Board, as the elected representatives of the voters of this county for the government of the County, should have the authority and discretion to control and determine the necessity of demands upon the County for public funds, with due regard to the financial condition of the County and the County tax rates, and the relation of such demands to all other County needs, and should have authority to exercise their judgment in fixing the items of the annual appropriations in accordance with intent of the County Home Rule Act of 1918, vesting in the Board of Chosen Freeholders, the management, control and government of the finances of the County, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That Senate Bill No. 165, introduced by Senator Wolber, of Essex County, does express the ideas and principles of this resolution and that a copy of this be forwarded to the Senate and Assemblyman of Burlington County.

Contracts Awarded

Bids were received for bridge lumber and road materials. The contract for creosoted lumber for bridge work was awarded to the Johnston-Wright Company, of Toledo, Ohio, on their bid of $10,000.23. Other bidders were Delaware Wood Products, of Delaware.

HI-Y CLUBS ENJOY PHILADELPHIA TRIP

Visit U. S. Mint and Inquirer Building. Where They See Making of Great Newspaper

Last Saturday the Hi-Y Clubs of the Palmyra-Riverton Y. M. C. A. sponsored an educational trip to Philadelphia which proved to be a most worth while activity. Eighteen boys, accompanied by Harold B. Schafer, a member of the High School faculty and counselor of the Freshman Hi-Y Club, left Palmyra on a special bus, bound for the United States Mint as the first place of interest. From there they went through the Inquirer Building and saw the making of a city newspaper.

The entire group was the guest of the Christian Association at the University of Pennsylvania for lunch. During the afternoon various students showed the group the places of interest around the school. Among these were the various buildings—Freshman-Bellefont, academy boxing matches, basketball tournaments, and finally a swim in the University swimming pool. This finished the day for some, but still others remained for the boxing and wrestling matches between the Penn and Harvard wrestling teams and the Penn-Western Maryland boxing teams.

Every boy who availed himself of the opportunity to take the trip felt repaid and looks forward to the next trip.

WELFARE MUCH IN NEED OF FUNDS

Association Must Have Money to Continue its Fine Work Among Poor

The Palmyra-Riverton Welfare Association finds itself very much in need of funds to carry on its worthy work until spring comes and the employment situation improves.

At present there are several unfortunate families who look to the association for the food necessary to keep them from hunger and will continue to be dependent on the welfare until warm weather opens up outside work. The drain on the resources of the association has been very heavy and it has been unable to pay current bills. If the work is to continue more money must be gotten from somewhere.

Contributions will be most gratefully received from anyone who feels like helping the worthy cause. Communications should be addressed to George N. Wimer, president, Palmyra, N. J. The association acknowledges with appreciation the following contributions during the past week:

James P. MacFarlane, $5.00.
Church Sunday School, for milk and bread fund, $50.00.
Thomas C. VanOsten, $50.00.
Coombs & Bush, $10.00.

CINNAMINSON SCHOOL

Have those visiting the Cinnamon-School ever opened the Library door? If not, please do so. The quaint sign outside, with its Old English lettering and spelling, is one attraction, while the neatly arranged rows of books, the dustless tables and chairs, the pretty curtains and the friendly interest and ability of the pupils who have the care of this most necessary room.

While looking over the poetry section a girl comes forward and tells how the eighth grade pupils are compiling anthologies of their favorites. The school is dismissed, but the pleasant sound of a ukelele comes from across the hall. As the door is opened the player hastily dives for his seat, unwilling to exhibit his talent until he has further practice.

However, some of the boys who sing well, accompany themselves during morning assembly, thus adding much to the enjoyable time that these gatherings always are.

Phone Extension

Directors of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company have approved estimates calling for the expenditure of approximately half a million dollars for new telephone plant construction.

Among the larger projects approved were the purchase of property at 224-240 Lyons avenue, Newark, for the erection of a new central office building to care for growth in the southern part of the Newark area; placing of several miles of new cable and other outside equipment to provide for expansion in the Caldwell, Livingston, Orange, Plainfield, Passaic and Dunellen central office districts; purchase of property for the construction of a new central office in Vineland, and the installation of new equipment in various parts of the State where rapid growth is steadily reducing the reserve capacity of equipment now in use.

The Board approved expenditures necessary for the purchase of new central office equipment at Bordentown and Burlington.

RIVERTON SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Three Teachers Re-elected; Will Continue Diphtheria Prevention Work

Three teachers not under tenure of office were re-elected for the next school year by the Riverton Board of Education Monday night. They are Miss Ida W. Clerk, salary $1,450; Miss Julia H. Griscom, domestic science part time, salary $730; Everett H. Griffith, manual training part time, salary $850.

Mrs. Frederick Blair submitted the report of the school nurses for January and February.

Miss Chew submitted reports for the months of January and February, and gave an account of her attendance at the annual convention of the N. E. A. in Atlantic City.

Miss Chew's Report

School re-opened after the Christmas holidays with a good attendance throughout the month, proving that health conditions were good. Twenty-eight children were sent to Dr. Rogers' office during the month, and the nurses visited children reported sick—thus reducing the time of children's absence to a minimum, and also keeping our school free from disease.

Through the recommendation of Dr. Hulse, a moving picture and talk on "Teeth" was given to pupils of grades 4-8, by a representative of Colgate & Co. There was no mention of advertisement of the company, but tubes of toothpaste were sent later, which were distributed to the children. It has been an incentive to the care of the teeth, and so worth while.

The school is indebted to Mr. Eldridge R. Johnson for ten framed pictures entitled "Historical Landmarks of America," copies of which were presented to all schools in Burlington County during the month of January.

Good health conditions prevailed until the last week of February, when an epidemic of bronchitis developed, affecting principally the youngest children. This lowered our attendance record from 94.18 in January to 92.04 in February, the lowest percentage of any month this year.

The records of the annual medical inspection were completed and reports are now in the hands of the school nurses, who are doing follow-up work in the cases of children having physical defects.

Parents are asked to co-operate for the good of their children by acting immediately on the advice of the Medical Inspector as indicated on the card left by the nurses, and return the card to school after doing so. There are 70 children in the school having defective teeth. Dr. Dunn, of Palmyra, is willing to co-operate with the school and will make an estimate for work to be done for each child at a nominal price, if parents so desire. The nurses will take the children to the dentist, unless the mother prefers to take them herself.

The work of diphtheria prevention should be continued this year and an opportunity given to all who are now members of the school to have the inoculations under the same conditions as last year. This will entail some expense to the Board of Education, but will be a protection to many children. I would recommend that this work be undertaken again this spring and also as a part of the "Summer Round-Up."

NOTED LECTURER TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Dr. Andrew Johnson to Appear on Palmyra Parent-Teachers' Program

Dr. Andrew Johnson, noted philosopher, will deliver a lecture on the "Science of Living Among Men" to-night in the Palmyra High School auditorium at 8.15. The lecture will be sponsored by the Palmyra Parent-Teachers' Association. Admission will be charged.

Those who have heard Dr. Johnson say his lectures are a sure cure for the blues and beat a vacation at the seashore for the fellow who thinks he doesn't like lectures. In the language of breakfast foods, "There's a reason." First—the lectures are pitched in that great middle range of thought, where most people reside. They are thoughtful enough to command attention, sound enough to defy criticism, entertaining enough to make folks listen and laugh. They embody the belief that a serious thought need not be enshrouded in gloom, and that a laugh is not necessarily an indication of lightness.

Second—they are the voice of no mere theorist. Johnson earned his right to speak with some authority in a school of wide experience. Left an orphan at twelve years he won an education by the sweat of his brow, and achieved success by deserving it. He won recognition of his talents in other fields before accepting the call to the Lyceum, in which he has won merited success.

Nobody ever reports unfavorably after hearing Dr. Johnson lecture. And there's a reason for that, too. He has perhaps the greatest repertoire of point-illuminating stories of any man in Lyceum work, and he uses them with the judgment of a master craftsman. His wit and humor flow spontaneously. He surprises and convulses his hearers at one moment and in the next thrills them with the eloquence of a true orator. His stories are never used to decorate a lame thought, but rather to break the flow ground for the planting of a great truth.

All the townspeople are cordially invited to attend this lecture and the association promises that no one shall be disappointed.

BUSINESS MEN TO ELECT OFFICERS

Will Effect Permanent Organization Next Wednesday at Special Meeting in P. O. of A. Hall

Committees were appointed to draft rules and nominate officers for the Palmyra Business Men's Association at a meeting held Tuesday evening in the P. O. of A. Hall.

Great interest was shown by the business men as they lively discussions took place as to what was best for the town. No definite policies were decided on as it was thought desirable to wait until a permanent organization was formed.

Walter D. Leamon, George Carans and W. T. McAllister were appointed as a committee to nominate officers for the association to report at the meeting next Wednesday. A committee to draft rules and regulations for the new organization was also appointed. John H. Etris, David Schwartz and Harold B. Lever will serve on this committee.

OUTLOOK FOR POULTRY INDUSTRY TO BE DISCUSSED

One of the most important poultry meetings to be held in Mount Holly this year will be held in the Court House in Mount Holly on the evening of March 12 at 7.30. At this meeting Mr. W. Frank Knowles, Extension Economist in Farm Management, will discuss the outlook for the poultry industry. Mr. Knowles has made extensive studies of the poultry industry of the State, as well as gathering information as to the outlook for the poultry industry from a national standpoint. The poultry raisers of the County should be vitally interested in this meeting.

GIRL SCOUTS PLAN WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Riverton Troop to Give Two Plays During Special Anniversary Celebration

The Girl Scouts of America are eighteen years old this month. Mrs. Juliette Low, who was a personal friend of Sir Robert Baden-Powell and his sister, founded this great movement in the United States when she gathered together the first small band of girls of Savannah, Georgia, in March, 1912. The Girl Scouts of Troop 1, Riverton, are planning to celebrate this anniversary with a week of activities beginning Saturday, March 22, and ending Friday, March 28, when two plays will be given in the auditorium of Calvary Presbyterian Church, Riverton.

Tickets for the performance will soon be on sale at thirty-five cents for adults and twenty cents for children. The proceeds will be used for troop equipment and the beginning of a camp fund.

One play presents a mysterious singing stranger who finds "Maggie Gold Piece" in his pocket for good little scouts. The other tells the story of the ludicrous difficulties of a bunch of college girls who try to persuade "Bylva's Aunts" that college is a fit place for their darling niece.

Another event of Girl Scout Week will be an old Scouts' Reunion in Riverton on Saturday, March 23, instead of our regular meeting, Monday, March 24, in the Social Hall of the Presbyterian Church. Every girl in the vicinity who ever has been a Girl Scout is most cordially invited to come play with us that evening. The program for other days of the week will be announced later.

In preparing for this celebration, and in all the Scout work and play, the girls are fortunate in having a group of representative women from Palmyra and Riverton to serve as a permanent Troop Committee. At the first meeting of the committee, last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. C. R. Beggie, Mrs. Raymond Haines, Mrs. James M. Joseph, Mrs. Morgan, and Mrs. Charles Salzman, were present. Mrs. Morgan was chosen chairman, and announced the next meeting for Monday evening, March 10, at the Presbyterian Church. At that time, it is hoped the other women who have generously consented to give their time and interest, Mrs. Martin E. Goldman, Mrs. J. Lyonel King, Mrs. Nathan Lane, Jr., Mrs. George A. Rhoades, and Mrs. Harry R. Reiger, may also be present so that the organization of the committee may be completed.

BREAK DOOR TO FIND WOMAN UNCONSCIOUS

Fire Alarm Turned in as Smoke Is Seen Coming from Rooms

An aged woman was found unconscious in a smoke-filled room when a fire alarm was turned in from the Cinnamon avenue, Palmyra, last Friday morning.

Mayor George N. Wimer took the fire call over the police phone, and calling to Officer Lutz to sound the alarm, jumped into a passing car, driven by Albert Kerr, and rushed to the address given.

Smoke was coming from the rooms occupied by Mrs. William J. Parker, but as the door was barred it was impossible for Mrs. Harry Ellis, who lives in the house, to get in. The Mayor and the two young men who were with him broke through the door and found the unconscious form of Mrs. Parker on the bed. She was carried into another part of the house and a physician summoned. He decided that Mrs. Parker had suffered a stroke of paralysis. She is now very much improved.

Investigation showed that the smoke was coming from a kettle on the gas stove in the kitchen which had boiled dry. The firemen arrived shortly but were not permitted to enter the house as the gas burner was still burning which probably saved Mrs. Parker from asphyxiation.

Girl's Solo Flight Postponed Sunday

Followers of aviation of the Burlington County Aero Club received a disappointment on Sunday when the solo flight of Miss Betty D. Scanlon, of Palmyra, was indefinitely postponed because of the high winds.

Miss Scanlon will be the first South Jersey woman to make such a flight. She has had fifteen hours of instruction, taking her final ones on Saturday from James Erdman, chief pilot of the club. He advised her on Sunday that it would be dangerous to hop off in face of the stiff breeze.

Miss Scanlon, who is a trained nurse, said she had made no arrangements for the contemplated flight, and would leave the matter entirely in Erdman's hands.

FRAZIER TO GO ON TRIAL TUESDAY

East Riverton Colored Youth Expected to Enter Plea of "Non Vult"

Wilbert Frazier, 17-year-old East Riverton colored youth, who shot and fatally wounded David Nelson at the Riverton Ice Plant several weeks ago, will go on trial before Judge Rigg in Mount Holly Criminal Court next Tuesday.

Daniel Lichtenhal, Riverside attorney, has been appointed by the Court to defend the youthful slayer. He expects to enter a plea of "non vult," which, if accepted by the prosecutor, will save his client from the chair.

If the prosecutor refuses to allow the plea Lichtenhal will endeavor to win a light sentence, owing to his client's youthfulness. He will attempt to prove that Frazier was not responsible, owing to his failure to realize the seriousness of his crime. He will show how he was deprived of the advantages of education and family training.

Attorney Lichtenhal does not expect acquittal, but is firm in his opinion that the boy should not be given the extreme penalty.

The prosecutor will lean heavily on the defendant's signed confession. Nelson is said to have identified his assailant prior to his death, but a death-bed statement is not generally admitted as evidence in cases of this kind.

RIVERTON PARK COMMITTEE MEETS

Sub-Committees Appointed to Study Various Plans for Playground

The first meeting of the Riverton Memorial Park Committee was held Tuesday night. Councilman Francis B. Elwell presiding. Daniel M. Clifton, Borough Clerk, was secretary of the meeting.

In explaining the purpose of appointing the committee Mayor Howard M. Rogers said that the project was a forward-looking movement, the proper handling of which would mean a great deal to Riverton. The Mayor took it for granted that every resident is interested in the development of the Borough and in the establishment of recreational facilities for all its citizens, especially children.

Mr. Elwell said that the general outline of the plans to be considered fits in with the ideas of the Regional Planning Federation of Philadelphia and vicinity, and distributed booklets showing what had been done in the reclamation of waste space and the development of park areas in other places.

Many phases to be considered. Mr. Elwell pointed out that there were many phases to the development of Memorial Park if it is done on a comprehensive scale, and he thought the best way to handle the proposition was to appoint sub-committees for the various projects to be considered and to have these committees report on plans and costs.

Mr. Elwell suggested that if any of the committees developed plans which were thought to be too costly to complete at one time, they submit two propositions—one covering the completion of the plan and the other on a year-by-year basis.

Fine Lake at Small Cost

H. H. Murray, member of the Lake Committee, said that the Borough Engineer and a number of Councilmen and citizens had visited the park within the last few days, and that there were great natural advantages for the development of a magnificent lake at very small cost.

C. P. Mayfield thought that the lake would be a decided attraction and would greatly promote interest in the development of the whole park site.

It was stated that the State authorities and the War Department had consented to the construction of a dam at the railroad bridge, and that it now remained to secure the consent of abutting property owners.

Building for Winter Games

R. H. Stackhouse, chairman of the baseball and football committee, said that there was great need to provide facilities for boys between the ages of eight and twelve years in order to develop material for the home team a few years hence. NEW AIR SPORT SOON TO THRILL CLUB MEMBERS

Aviation Enthusiasts to Start Work on Glider in Near Future

MAY BUILD SEVERAL MOTORLESS PLANES

Movement is Being Sponsored by the Burlington County
Aero Club

Aviation enthusiasts of this section, members of the Burlington County Aero Club, are planning to indulge in the latest aeronautic sport, gliding.

The motorless means of flying, which has aroused the interest of some of the world's greatest aviation leaders, including Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, is being followed by Burlington County. It is planned to build a well attended meeting of the Aero Club in Moorestown Community House Monday evening.

Plans for the formation of a glider unit within the club have been under way for some time, and at Monday night's meeting they took on a more definite form when blueprints for the first "ship" were shown.

Work on the first glider, it was announced, will start in the near future, and it will not be long before one of these motorless ships of the air will be soaring over the club's airport on the Hartford-Westfield road, near Moorestown.

As the movement progresses, separate glider groups of twenty men each will be organized. It is present plans materialize, each one of these groups will build and fly its own glider.

But to get the work under way this ambitious program will be forgotten temporarily as all enthusiasts will devote their energies on the construction of the first glider, which will be of the primary type.

Any young man, sixteen years of age or older, is invited to take part in the glider activities, and may make arrangements by applying to Pilot "Jim" Erdman, at the airport; William R. French, treasurer of the club; or Robert Robinson, at Moorestown Post Office.

All enthusiasts will be given a cordial welcome, promises H. H. Longaker, vice-president and founder of the Aero Club.

The club members enjoyed an interesting talk by Lieutenant Jack Vickers, formerly of the British Royal Air Force, at their meeting Monday night. The lieutenant traced the development of planes and engines from the war-time models to the highly perfected types of today in a most interesting manner. He also emphasized the development of aircraft lubrication and fuels and told what an important part they are playing in the advancement of aviation.

PLANT A GARDEN

Grow Health, Pleasure and Profit;

Michigan's Catalog Points the Way

This is the season of the year when the thoughts of all turn gardenward. Not men and women only, but children, also—for the child who learns to plant and care for a garden is becoming acquainted early in life with one of life's greatest pleasures. To all in the home, the garden is an unending source of joy and pleasure, and it is the garden that brings the most surprises from earliest spring until late in fall.

From the average garden-bed which has been planted with well-chosen seeds, one can pick, all through the long spring, summer and fall season, a profusion of gorgeous blossoms to brighten the home without marring the beautiful picture which brightly-colored flowers in the beds make against the foreground of velvety green lawn.

Do not forget to write today to Michigan's Big House, 515 Market Street, Philadelphia, mentioning this paper and they will mail you a copy of this interesting catalogue. And jot down now in your radio log a reminder to tune into Station WIP every Wednesday at 8 p. m. At the time, "Everybody's Garden," a new feature sponsored by Michigan's will be broadcast, and this program will be replete with helpful information of timely importance to every garden lover.

mittee Chairman

This year the Y. W. C. A. will give its members and friends an opportunity to share in the support of its work with girls and women of Burlington County during the annual drive, March 17-22. Mrs. William Matlack, of Moorestown, chairman of membership, and Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, of Moorestown, chairman of finance, are heading up the drive.

On Saturday afternoon, March 16, the workers in each of the communities in the County will meet at the home of Mrs. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., near Riverton, to meet Mrs. Otto Huffman, of Long Island, national chairman of the Rural Communities Department of the Y. W. C. A.

Assisting Mrs. Matlack and Mrs. Armstrong in setting up the plans for the drive are Mrs. Raymond Eastwood, of Palmyra; Mrs. George B. Ferrier, Jr., of Moorestown; Mrs. Lotie Kirby, of Mount Holly; Mrs. Marcus W. Newcomb, of Brown's Mills; Mrs. Walter Reeder, of Columbus; Mrs. Benjamin Roberts, of Marlton; Mrs. George Ring, of Burlington; and Mrs. Caroline Warrick, of Rancocas.

Rancocas Banquet

The annual banquet given by the members of the Rancocas Woman's Club in honor of their husbands was held at the Firemen's Hall in Rancocas, Thursday evening, February 27. R. J. Beasley, County Director of Religious Education, was the speaker of the evening. He used as his subject, "The Fine Art of Living Together."

Mrs. William Stevens presided as toastmaster while Joseph Burkle responded to the gracious welcome extended to the husbands by Mrs. Arthur Miller, the club president.

Mrs. Albert R. Shinn told of the splendid work which the club has been doing during the past year, and Miss Sidonie Schaefer, of the County Y. W. C. A., spoke briefly of the development of the association and its present interests as they are to be studied at the National Convention in Detroit in April.

Old fashioned group singing under the direction of Mrs. John Wilkins was much enjoyed.

Leathercraft Demonstration

Y. W. C. A. leaders are fortunate in being able to have C. W. Dannenhauer, of Philadelphia, give them a demonstration of leather craft at the Y. W. C. A. club house on Paxson street, Mount Holly, Tuesday evening, March 18, at 7:30 p. m.

The fascinating processes of tooling and leather dyeing will be shown, as well as the more simple kind of leather work consisting of making purses, bill-folds and book-covers by lacing pieces of leather together. The latter has been done very successfully by a number of clubs which are now ready to take up the more interesting tooling and dyeing. Anyone interested in learning these crafts for the purpose of teaching them to groups or for personal use, is welcome to attend the demonstration provided the County Y. W. C. A. office is notified by March 15.

In addition to leather work, girls are learning to make other attractive and useful articles. Some groups have made their own wooden looms and are dyeing and weaving rugs, covers for porch furniture and some have even woven lovely cushion covers. Other groups are interested in making silhouette pictures for their own rooms or for club rooms by painting pictures on glass with black enamel and framing them.

$75,000 RAISED FOR BUILDING CHAPEL

Legion Memorial Chapel Association
Results Gratifying

Reports received by the American Legion Memorial Chapel Association in the campaign for the Cathedral Memorial, to be erected in Lakewood, show that approximately $75,000 has been raised.

Herbert H. Blizard, of Audubon, president of the association, in commenting upon the campaign to raise $150,000 for the Cathedral of the Air, memorial at Lakewood said:

"We consider the results thus far reported most gratifying. The popularity of the plan has responded through our Posts and Units to such a degree that it is quite evident that the enterprise is to be a complete success. Because of the continuing desire for signature pages, not only within New Jersey, but nationwide since the project has received such national publicity the Board of Trustees at a special meeting has unanimously decided to permit Posts, Units and their friends to continue to accept all autographs and contributions until further notice."

Reports received by the association up until Tuesday in the campaign for the Cathedral Memorial aggregate approximately $75,000.

County Represented at Conference

Dorothy French, Charlotte, Roberts and Mrs. Mary Warren, all of Moorestown, were Burlington County's delegates at the Eastern Regional Industrial Conference of the Y. W. C. A., which was held in Brooklyn, New York, March 1 and 2. Dr. Theresa Wolfson, professor of Economics at Hunter College, and Tom Tippet, of Brookwood Labor College, were the principal speakers. Subjects discussed at the conference were labor unions, unemployment, immigration and legislation.

Girls' Camp Announcement

Burlington County Girls will welcome the announcement that the Y. W. C. A. will again have a camp for girls at Ocean Grove this summer. The dates, August 6-27, have been chosen and registration blanks and further information may be secured through Dorothy Gehbart, of the County Y. W. C. A. office.

"RING OUT, WILD BELLS"

By ALFRED TENNYSON

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,

The flying cloud, the frosty light;

The year is dying in the night;

Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,

Ring, happy bells, across the snow;

The year is going, let him go;

Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind,

For those that here we see no more;

Ring out the feud of rich and poor,

Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,

And ancient forms of party strife;

Ring in the nobler modes of life,

With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the want, the care, the sin,

The faithless coldness of the times;

Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,

But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Ring out false pride in place and blood,

The civic slander and the spite;

Ring in the love of truth and right,

Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease;

Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;

Ring out the thousand wars of old,

Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,

The larger heart, the kinder hand;

Ring out the darkness of the land,

Ring in the Christ that is to be.

County Cabin at Wrightstown

With their work just begun, the Eagle Scouts of Burlington County have already collected over ten tons of old newspapers and magazines which will be sold to defray the cost of the cabin of the County Eagle Scout Association, situated at the County Scout Camp Site near Wrightstown.

Grant Mahon is in charge of the work in Moorestown. The other members of the local paper committee are William Coles, Jr., John Fountain, Irving Workman, Keeler Mahon, Woodrow Vennel and A. Parsons. The Eagle Scout rank is the highest to which a Boy Scout can attain. There are 48 of them in Burlington County. Since the formation of the Eagle Scout Association there have been a number of boys from throughout the County who have begun work on their Eagle merit badges.

PLANE TALKS

By L. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County
Aero Club

Last Saturday afternoon about three o'clock our old friend, Lee Benoit, hatched in his mad dash from New York to Florida, over Moorestown for fifteen minutes. Flying his beautifully streamlined white Lockheed Vega monoplane, in which he recently broke six world's records, Lee "shot" the Moorestown Airport and then circled over the town several times at terrific speed. Lee's ship is capable of a speed in excess of 185 miles per hour. Lee never forgets Moorestown.

In addition to being the world's youngest fire chief, Bill Krenson, of Delanco, is now a licensed private airplane pilot. Bill won his ticket last Friday, passing the examinations at the Central Airport. We salute you, Bill.

The Tri-State Aircraft Show to be held in the Camden Convention Hall April 18th to 20th, has been sanctioned as a Class "C" Show by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. Here's hoping the show is a huge success.

With the hangar of the Burlington County Aero Club at the Moorestown Airport loaded to capacity with ships, the Executive Board of the Club is wondering just what to do about the three additional ships whose owners are desirous of keeping their ships at the Moorestown field. If we had the hangar space we would have ten ships operating from our field by early spring.

Recently the closing of a State Bank in an Illinois town caused a rush on the National Bank. The president of the latter, using his head, wired the Federal Reserve Bank, of Chicago, and in less than two hours had $250,000 on hand via the trusty airplane, and restored normal business conditions at his threatened bank. We are willing to wager the said bank president is a real, live, go-getter and that he thanked his "wings" for men like the Wright Brothers and their successors who have poured millions of dollars and ideas into the industry to make aviation serve Y-O-U.

COURTESY URGED FOR BUS DRIVERS

Public Service Issues Bulletin to Operators to Set Example in "Road

Operators of Public Service street cars and buses are expected to be courteous not only to their passengers but also to drivers of other vehicles using the streets and highways. They are reminded of this in an executive bulletin by Vice-President Matthew H. Boylan.

"Co-operation and consideration on the part of motor operators will make it easier for everybody and this company wants you to set an example of 'road courtesy,'" Mr. Boylan says. "It is important for you to get your bus through on time to maintain your schedule—but it is just as important that you obey the rules of the road and to earn for yourself and this company the good will of other drivers," he continues.

MOORESTOWN MAN GIVEN JAIL TERM

John Eldredge Goes to State Prison for Three Years

Judge Rigg disposed of a number of defendants by the sentence route at the County Court in Mount Holly Thursday of last week, and by his action reduced the population of Burlington County by transferring two to Mercer County, at least for a time.

Joseph Weisner, of Maple Shade, will be absent from this County for the longest period, as he will spend the next seven years in State Prison. Weisner was convicted of incest, with his thirteen-year-old daughter as his victim.

The other man who will leave Burlington County for awhile is John Eldredge, colored, of Moorestown, who was in on a waiver and entered a plea of guilty to stealing a typewriter, suit of clothes and $10 in money from the home of Wilbert J. Warren, a next door neighbor.

He will be absent from his customary haunts the next three years, with his new address will be State Prison, Trenton.

Frank Stecher, of Riverside, charged with furnishing liquor at Charlie's Cafe, at that place, fined $50.

John Garnett, colored, of Riverton, carnal abuse, fined $200 and placed on probation for one year, being given six months in which to pay the fine.

Hamlet Chaul, Burlington, an old offender, who has been fined and also has served a jail sentence for liquor law violations, was fined $1,000 and given three months in jail.

Nicholas Marcella, of Camden, junk dealer, charged with receiving stolen goods, was fined $125.

William L. Letta, a seventeen-year-old boy from Bordentown, and the reputed head of a gang of young thieves who have committed numerous depredations in that city the past few months, came in on a waiver and boldly entered pleas of guilty to several different charges.

He went to Rahway Reformatory for an indefinite period and later will have to answer to Mercer County authorities.

Cecil Coft, aged 10; Earl Howe, aged 20; Edward M. Shull, aged 16; and Frank Bird, aged 17, who were companions of Letta, were more fortunate, being let go on suspended sentences after Judge Rigg had given them some fatherly advice, and will have to answer to Probation Officer Frank A. Hendrickson for one year.

Walter R. Keller, of Lamola, charged with neglect and desertion of his wife and three children, was given a suspended sentence of one year to pay his wife $15 a week, but he will be on probation for one year.

Z. Wilmer Draper, of Beverly, was another erring husband, and he will arrange to pay his wife $10 a week, being placed on probation for one year.

Other Happenings
Alexander Wilkins, of Delanco, indicted on statutory charges, retracted a former plea of not guilty on Tuesday and entered one of guilty to indecent assault, which was accepted by Prosecutor Hillman, and the Court sentenced him to pay a fine of $300.

Tony Mendial, of Burlington, indicted for assaulting William Guthrie, also entered a plea of guilty and he was fined $50 and was given six months in which to pay.

Another case heard was that of the State vs. Frank Stecher, of Riverside, who was charged with sale, furnishing and possession of liquor while acting as a bartender at Charlie's Cafe, in Riverside, which was raided on New Year's Eve.

After the State's testimony had been adduced, V. Claude Palmer, of counsel for Stecher, moved for a direction of verdict of not guilty, on the sale and possession charges, which was allowed by Judge Rigg, and then the defendant pleaded guilty to the charge of furnishing liquor.

Held Responsible Position
Joseph Weisner, of Maple Shade, who, according to the testimony, holds a responsible position in a wood house in Philadelphia, was charged with incest, the complainant in the case being his thirteen-year-old daughter, and the verdict was guilty.

Before the girl could be induced to testify, it was necessary to have her mother removed from the Court room, the child evidently fearing to tell the story of her father's wrong doing while the mother was present.

Another case of a revolting nature disposed of was that of John Garnett, colored, of East Riverton, who was indicted for carnal abuse of Amanda Scott, aged six years, also of Riverton. He was also convicted.

George W. Jones, a Riverside automobile dealer, had his tining in Court on Wednesday, being charged by Martin Hohn, also of Riverside with obtaining money under false pretenses. Hohn claimed that he paid Jones $315 on a car and never received the car nor received his money back.

The jury found Jones guilty.

Hamlet Chaul, of Burlington, was found guilty by a jury on a charge of possession and transporting liquor. Benjamin Fogel, Frank J. Miller and Samuel Rogrodsky, all of Philadelphia, and charged with an attempt to steal a still which had been taken in a raid at the Hoot Owl Farm, near Marlton, which was stored in the rear of the Court House, failed to show up when their cases were called, and their bail was ordered forfeited.

Bill Provides $10,000 for Injured Warden

Lawrence Powell, Camden County game warden, who was severely wounded in a gun fight with an Italian near Evesboro, would receive $10,000 under the provisions of a bill introduced Monday night by Assemblyman Walter T. Gross. Powell, who is married and the father of five children, now is in a Philadelphia hospital undergoing another operation as a result of the shooting.

Some months ago his case was heard by the State Compensation Board, and it was ruled that there was no law to allow him compensation for his injuries. He claimed he was entitled to financial help in view of the fact that he was acting as a State officer when he was wounded. As a result of that hearing it was decided to try to help him by special legislation, and the Gross Bill is the outcome.

FINE PROGRAM FOR DAIRYMEN'S DINNER

Big Event to Be Held at Mount Holly Thursday Evening; Wells, Speaker

The program is completed for the Burlington County Dairymen's banquet, which will be held in the Board Memorial of the Presbyterian Church in Mount Holly on Thursday evening, March 6, at 6:45.

Two of the best speakers ever secured will be on hand, namely, Judge Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown, and Dr. W. J. Spillman, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Judge Wells is known to every audience in this County, and will be looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure.

Dr. Spillman is probably one of the most popular from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and will talk on the outlook of the dairy industry. There are probably few men in the United States who know the agriculture of the United States as does Dr. Spillman.

In addition to the speaking program, there will be some special features that will add to the evening's enjoyment. While the committee would just wish to be held responsible for the following statement, nevertheless, persons might be able to hear Amos 'n' Andy in person.

DREER'S NURSERIES JOINS BROADCASTERS

Well-known Seed Firm Will Be Heard From Station WLT

A new radio entertainment went on the air Wednesday evening from radio station WLT, 8 to 8:30 when the nationally known seed house of Henry A. Dreer, 1308 Spring Garden street, Philadelphia, presented a program of instrumental music by an orchestra conducted by W. Irving Oppenheim, with Andrew T. Statton as guest announcer.

This and the succeeding concerts will combine the more popular of the classics and screen hits and the most useful selections of past generations. Josephine Barth, of Denver, who was left a million-dollar estate by her grandmother at the age of 11, says she will buy a "big, snappy roadster" as soon as she is old enough to obtain a driver's license.

"WORKING EVERY DAY, THANKS TO NEW KONJOLA"

Young Lady Wishes She Had Known of Modern Compound Long Ago

MISS FAY FIDELL

"I am at my work all day every day, and I owe this to Konjola," said Miss Fay Fidell, 409 Williams street, Camden, N. J. "A little over a year ago my stomach failed me, and I certainly suffered no end of pain and misery as the result. After eating, severe pains hit me in the pit of the stomach and I had to double up in my agony. When I had these attacks I would be unable to work and had to be sent home. I lost in weight and vitality. I was greatly worried and so was my mother.

"A friend told my mother about Konjola and she persuaded me to try it. What a surprise was in store for me! The first bottle brought wonderful results, and in three weeks I was feeling simply great. Every trace of indigestion is gone, and I am at work every day. I make this statement gladly, hoping that it may induce others to let Konjola do for them what it did for me."

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

COUNTY RAT DRIVE WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Greatest Mortality in History is to Take Place This Week

The greatest rat mortality in the history of Burlington County will take place on Friday night, March 7, when every resident of the County is expected to expose the co-operative rat bait being furnished by the rat-campaign committee of the Agricultural Extension Service and Farm Bureau.

A circular letter was sent out to every farmer and business house in the County last week and a large number have already returned their orders for the bait, indicating a tough time ahead for the rats.

The leaders point out that it does not do individuals much good to kill their rats if their neighbors continue to raise them. A warning is issued at the same time that a concerted attack on the rats usually causes many rats not killed by the poison to migrate to safer premises where no bait has been exposed. The safest procedure is therefore to join the war on rats and expose liberal amounts of the bait, whether many rats are present or not, to take care of any influx of rats on the night of the campaign.

Orders for bait must be placed at once. County Agents C. A. Thompson and L. R. Smith are directing the campaign. The baits will be mixed the day before the campaign by a Federal rodent-control specialist who states that in other campaigns as high as 80 per cent. of all premises treated have secured 100 per cent. rat riddance. Orders for bait should be mailed to the County Extension Office, Mount Holly, N. J. Phone 259.

Powdered red squill will be used as the active ingredient in the baits. This raticide has gained world-wide prominence in recent years as a poison specific for rats. This means that it does not endanger the lives of other animals, but is very effective in killing rats. Three different kinds of bait will be used, meat, fish and cereals. This cafeteria-style of feeding gives the rats a choice of foods, reduces suspicion and greatly increases the mortality rate. Each package of bait will contain three 1/2 pint boxes filled with the three different kinds of bait, together with directions for exposing the bait.

A charge of 50 cents for each package of bait will be made which is close to the actual cost of the ingredients used. The committee has voted to turn any amount of collections in excess of cost over to the County Hospital.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 9

THE PARABLE OF THE SOWER

Matthew 13:1-9; 18-23

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Some parts of Scripture state the truths so plainly that no one can misunderstand. It is that way in the lesson in hand for today. In the first place, the subject matter is very clear and, secondly, Jesus, in explaining the meaning to the disciples, makes the application very definite. For the first time in the New Testament we find the Master Teacher employing the parable as a means to convey His meaning. The parabolic form was not originated by Him, for we find Nathan used it in causing King David to comprehend the greatness of his sin against Uriah, the husband of Bathsheba (II Samuel 12:1-6). A parable has been well called "An earthly story with a heavenly meaning."

When the crowd was too great for the people to hear who thronged Him in Capernaum, the Teacher went to the shore of the Sea of Galilee and used a fisherman's boat as His pulpit. Jesus was always upsetting long-time traditions. He was the "heretic" of His day. He was ready to make use of new methods in order to render the largest measure of spiritual help to the needy populace. Who can imagine a Sadducee, Pharisee, or even a Scribe, sitting in a boat and addressing the throng that stood upon the shore which rose as a natural amphitheater? Jesus doubtless called the attention of the people, with a wave of the hand, to a farmer as He said, "Behold, the sower went forth to sow."

A four-fold illustration is presented in this parable from nature. In every case the seed is equally good and in the interpretation it is the very Word of God. The earth may have been made hard just by footsteps. "Grizzly Giant," the mammoth tree in Marinopolis Grove, California, was being killed by the tourists who walked up close to look at the wonder in nature. Then a fence was built for protection against just feet and the earth dug

Ford Philanthropy

It was almost inevitable that Henry Ford should sooner or later adopt some plan for devoting a part of his great fortune to the service of mankind. His plan involves spending some $100,000,000 for the founding of schools, and giving the rest of his active life to the cause of education.

He said that some of the schools would be large institutions and that they would be placed in various parts of the country, but that the number had not been decided. His principal object was stated to be the assistance of young men to find suitable places in the world.

That the proposed Ford schools will stress the practical side of education was also indicated by their donor's expressed belief that everyone should learn a trade, so as to be able to find employment in at least one line of useful effort.

As a hint to those who may feel the urge to offer him unwanted advice concerning his program, Mr. Ford says that he intends to invest his money in his own way, and does not care for any suggestions from persons who never made or saved a dollar themselves.

However, he may dispose of the millions he has decided to devote to his latest activity, it is safe to say that his decision will have a far-reaching and beneficial effect upon succeeding generations of young people.

Common Sense Justice

One of the distressing results of sending men to prison indiscriminately for all sorts of offenses is that it often works a terrible hardship on those dependent upon them. Judge Nova, of Brooklyn is one who recognizes this, and in certain cases adopts practical means to protect innocent victims of the law's operation.

When Frank Bruno, who earns $50 a week, was brought before him recently and pleaded guilty to having two wives, one with two children and the other with one, the judge said:

"I would gladly send you to Sing Sing, but your two wives and their children would be the sufferers. You will play the wife with two children $20 a week and the wife with one child $15."

Thus five persons, who would have been deprived of support through sending Bruno to the penitentiary, were provided for, while the culprit will be constantly reminded of his offense and is not likely to repeat it.

That appears to be justice tempered with common sense.

Standardizing Cities

There are 841 cities in the United States which have zoning ordinances in operation and in all probabilities the list will include a total of 1,000 cities before the end of 1930. Ten years ago there were only 38 cities with zoning ordinances.

"But this is only a part of the picture," says a bulletin of the United States Chamber of Commerce. "City plan commissions have been established in 751 cities and regional plan commissions in 18."

"Comprehensive city plans have been laid out or started in 336 cities. In 208 cities comprehensive thoroughfare plans have been started or completed."

"In 161 cities, park plans have been started or completed, and in 155 playgrounds have been established or are under way."

"The city of the future will not be the product of circumstance. It will, apparently, be built according to a definite pattern."

Costs and Farm Income

In his annual report L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, declares that the task before the American farmer is not only to produce efficiently, but also to reduce at every opportunity the costs of production.

In other words, the farmer's profit depends upon his being able to produce his crops at a cost below the price at which he must sell them, rather than upon the size of the crops themselves.

Obviously one of the chief aids to economical production is the employment of modern equipment suitable to the needs of the individual farmer concerned. Such equipment, judiciously selected, effectively used, and taken care of when not in use, is essential to success under present-day conditions.

Another important feature of profitable farming is the raising of as much food and feed as possible at home. As has been so often pointed out, the cow, sow and hen, with hay, pasturage and a good garden, are among the most valuable adjuncts of a sound farm program.

The decisions made along these lines during the next few weeks will largely determine the farmer's profit or loss during 1930.

Tolerance is Needed

In the present state of unrest, with crime rampant throughout the land, the need for tolerance and co-operation among honest and well-meaning people is greater than ever before.

Too much energy is being wasted in fruitless wrangles over politics, religion and other controversial matters and too little is being spent in sincere efforts to promote higher standards of public and private conduct.

People will always have different views on many questions and no amount of argument or abuse will ever lead us all to the same way of thinking. It is proper to have convictions and to stand by them, but we should accord the same rights to our neighbors.

On many of the vital problems of our time a majority of people could agree, if they would only lay aside unimportant differences and join in advancing those things that are really worth while.

We are favored in prosperity and opportunity beyond all other nations, yet we are wasting a great portion of our priceless heritage through senseless wrangling over trivial matters. Above all things else, we need to cultivate the spirit of true brotherhood.

ALCOHOL

More alcohol is being distilled in the United States than ever before. That has nothing to do with prohibition. The use of alcohol in industry has multiplied enormously since the war. The new chemical industries use it in a thousand ways. Next to sulphuric acid, it is the most important of all chemicals. Business would stop, in hundreds of lines, if the manufacture of alcohol stopped. But less grain is being used for alcohol than before. Molasses and potatoes are the chief sources of industrial alcohol. The sugar-growers of Louisiana are getting real money now for what used to be pure waste, and the potato growers of Maine, Michigan, Maryland and the other potato centers have a more stable market for their product.

CITIZENSHIP

Becoming a citizen of the United States ought to be as impressive as joining a church or a lodge. When you join a church it is a solemn occasion. You are welcomed into the communion by a ceremony in which ministers, elders, deacons or other officials take the lead and the whole congregation participates. When you join a lodge you are, for the moment, the central figure among the brothers; you are made to feel that you have achieved a new importance in their eyes, a new dignity in your own esteem. But when a man or woman goes into a naturalization court to get his final papers he is treated as if Uncle Sam wished he had stayed at home.

It would be a useful service for any Chamber of Commerce to undertake to make of the admission of aliens to citizenship an occasion for public rejoicing. And if the same idea could be extended to an annual welcome to the new American-born voters who have just come of age, that would certainly help impress upon them the responsibilities and the dignity of American citizenship.

CHEESE

There are more than five hundred varieties of cheese. Some are made only in certain parts of the world, such as Roquefort, which ripens only in natural caverns in France. Gorgonzola, a native of Italy, Bilton, as English as John Bull, Limburger, Brie and a hundred other "ripe" cheeses, besides the mild soft cheese such as Cheddar, cream and the others which should be eaten as soon as possible after they are made. Swiss

TIME TO STOP DRIVES

The time has come when it will be absolutely necessary to stop the epidemic of drives to raise money for various purposes. The people at large are positively tired of being dogged to death for contributions for numerous promotions, some of which should never have been started and others which could well wait for some brighter day without bringing suffering.

It seems to have become almost a disease in Mount Holly and other parts of the County to put on a drive for any old thing, and if the people are acting the way they are talking some of the campaigns are going to fall so flat that they will fail to rise again. Apparently, the people back of the campaigns in some instances have not stopped to consider whether their causes are necessary to the well-being of the citizens, but have gone ahead with the idea that the movements can be put over in part if not entirely.

Just at this time, when industrial and financial conditions are admittedly facing difficulties, the idea of shaming people into parting with money that they could well use in other ways is all wrong, and the sooner the fact is realized the better off the whole town and community will be. When people can't pay their ordinary bills, because depression has affected them seriously, we might wisely dispense with many of the money-raising campaigns. True it is that most objects are worthy, but are some of them necessary? The News thinks that at least a few could wait and others should be stopped. Notice might as well be served on the promoters of some of these drives that the sapped public is fed up on giving thousands of dollars away annually for the support of various movements that show more expenditures for salaries and office costs than for any direct benefit to the people for whom pleas are made. Like in business, the contributors want to see what they are buying, and want to buy welfare notions only when they can afford them.

Right here in Mount Holly there is justification for the warning. Many men and women on whom families depend are not working because there is nothing for them to do. The Overseer of the Poor says he has never had greater demands for assistance and men who have never before asked for charity from the town are coming to him. The town's poor fund is not going to hold out this winter and a card party was arranged recently to raise money for charity work.

There is a story within itself and no newspaper embellishments are needed. We are facing a condition as well as a state of mind that must be overcome before it will be fair to ask people at large to give away money for something not necessary. Merchants are not able to get the money due to them, and things are painfully tight if not alarming. Ask any business man what he thinks about present conditions and drives and listen well to his honest answer. We need a vacation from being dogged to death for money.

—Mount Holly News.

Rhoda Epstein, of Washington, entered high school at the age of 10, after having made perfect grades in grammar school.

Stop, Look, Listen...and if necessary, Get Out!

That, in effect, is the mandate of the United States Supreme Court to motorists who use railroad grade crossings. In this ruling, the highest court in the land held that, regardless of warning sounds or signals, it is incumbent on the driver of an automobile to get out of his car if that is necessary to determine definitely whether a train is dangerously near. If he does not do this, he enters the crossing at his own risk.

In New Jersey alone in the past ten years, 800 lives have been lost in grade crossing accidents. Most of this appalling toll might have been avoided by ordinary care and vigilance. Much of it would have been avoided if New Jersey were not lagging far behind almost every other progressive State in the matter of grade crossing abolition.

New Jersey highway traffic has increased more than 600% in 15 years and will continue to increase for many years to come. Railroad traffic, on the other hand, is not above the level of 1920 and there is an impending decrease due to the heavy diversion of traffic to the highways. Obviously, New Jersey and its citizens must accept a fair share of the responsibility for the gradual abolition of the 2932 grade crossings in the State. Just as obviously, every motorist who must use grade crossings has the sole ultimate responsibility for his own safety.

Be more than careful when you approach a railroad grade crossing. Heed the warning signs and signals. But remember, even these may fail—and death is always lurking there.

LAMB FRITTERS

A little cold lamb and a few slices of bacon, one egg, a very little white sauce, four ounces of flour, pepper and salt, one ounce of butter or frying fat. First make a batter with the flour, butter, one gill of tepid water, and the well-beaten white of egg. Let this stand while you prepare the meat. Mince the lamb finely, season it well with pepper and salt, and roasten with a very little white sauce. Place some on each slice of bacon and roll up. Now dip in flour, and then place them in the batter. Prepare a deep pan of boiling fat, then lift each roll out with plenty of batter adhering, and fry brown. Nettled Feelings in Evidence at First Meeting Following the Election

ADOPT RESOLUTION PRAISING MR. ECKERT

Citizens Present Are Asked to Express Their Thoughts, and Do So

A resolution expressing full approval of the work of Supervising Principal Paul Y. Eckert was passed by a majority vote of the Palmyra Board of Education at its regular meeting last Thursday night.

The resolution, drafted by Mrs. J. C. Mallory and William S. Branson, at the request of the president of the Board, George B. Clover, praised Mr. Eckert for his work since coming to Palmyra and for his co-operation with the Board.

The resolution was suggested by N. S. Beekley in a letter to Mr. Clover, which was read at the meeting. The letter was ruled out, owing to its having been addressed to Mr. Clover and not to the Board. Mr. Beekley, who was in the room at the time, requested that the letter be returned to him and later presented it again, this time addressed to the Board of Education.

Vote By Roll Call

A motion that the resolution be adopted was made by George W. Rogers and seconded by Mrs. A. C. Giberson. William A. Donaghy asked that the note be amended to include a vote by roll call. Messrs. Clover, Rogers, Branson, Mrs. Giberson and Mrs. Mallory voted affirmatively and the resolution was adopted. George I. Harvey was the only member absent.

At times during the evening a show of personal feeling, apparently an aftermath of the recent school election, was allowed to come into the proceedings. The McAllister Bill came up for discussion and it was suggested that the clerk, Mr. Donaghy, read the bill for the information of the Board. When he told the Board that the bill contained nearly a hundred typewritten pages, several of the members proposed that further discussion be postponed until another time. George W. Rogers insisted that the bill be read in spite of the clerk's reluctance to take the entire evening to read a bill that could be supplied to all in mimeograph form. Mr. Rogers was not satisfied and reiterated his insistence that the bill be read. Mr. Donaghy, becoming angry, handed copy across the table to him, exclaiming, "Here it is, read it yourself, if you're so interested." President Clover rapped for order and Mr. Donaghy promptly apologized, explaining that he had forgotten where he was for the moment.

No Suggestions Wanted

A few minutes later a discussion arose regarding certain rumors which Mr. Clover said had arisen prior to the election that $900 worth of lumber had been bought for the manual training work at one time. Several of the citizens present said they had heard nothing of such a rumor, and George Durgin, who was present merely as an interested citizen, said he not only had failed to hear the rumor, but suggested that in the future all such charges be traced to their source. William S. Branson, a Board member, without hesitation told Mr. Durgin, "We are not asking for suggestions from you." Mr. Durgin replied, "Thank you," and sat down.

The discussion of election "post-mortems" became general and Mr. Clover finally decided to call upon everyone present for remarks. Mrs. Fred H. Fitzmaurice took exception to Mr. Donaghy's using "swear words." Mrs. Leslie G. Lamroth, who was next called on, said, "If anyone wishes to criticize Mr. Donaghy for allowing a 'swear word' to slip out, why don't they also take exception to Mr. Branson for insulting a citizen and a taxpayer. At least Mr. Donaghy had the courtesy to apologize. But Mr. Branson hasn't."

"No, I didn't apologize and I don't intend to," replied Mr. Branson. "I have reasons." "Yes, personal ones," retorted Mrs. Lamroth.

Lumber Explained
The rumor about the lumber was explained by Mr. Donaghy when he recalled a meeting a short time before when a bill was presented for something more than $500 for lumber from the DuBell Lumber Company, Camden. He said that at this time some of the Board members asked why the bill for $500 should be presented at one time when the lumber was delivered in two lots. Other members at the time said they thought it would be better if each delivery should be billed separately so that such large bill would not become due at one time. The other $400 was for lumber purchased during the summer for the building of tables for various uses about the school and did not come under manual training expense.

Exception was taken by members of the Board to a lecture given at the school by a man said to have been an ex-soldier. This lecture was given during school hours and a collection was taken at the door for the lecturer. Complaint was for the father of one of the school children, who was present, saying his boy felt it was almost compulsory for him to put money in the collection box.

Mr. Clover recalled a case of similar nature in his own youth, when a collection was to be taken for the same purpose in the school which he attended. He said he didn't have any money with him and was embarrassed at the thought of going past the door without contributing to the collection and instead of going through the door he went out the window.

Another case was discussed wherein a man addressed a teachers' meeting and was alleged to have tried to sell them insurance, or at least to have told them of his proposition and inti-

FLOWER SHOW

Extensive and Elaborate Plans Being Made for Exhibit

March 24 to 29

More than a million dollars worth of flowers, plants, gardens, etc., the under one roof, in America, will be largest exhibit of its kind ever shown on display at the 1930 Annual Spring Flower Show to be held at the Commercial Museum, 3th and Spruce Sts., March 24th to 29th. Individual displays, which require from one to three to prepare, cost, in many cases, upwards of $25,000.

Judging from the advanced plans of the exhibitors and the increasing interest in floriculture, on the part of both commercial and amateur growers, the exhibit will far surpass those of all previous years. Increasing yearly competition has stimulated exhibitors to put forth their best efforts.

In addition to the cash prizes which aggregate approximately $20,000, the Show Committee has authorized a special die for use in casting gold medals at the United States Mint. These medals will contain the same United States alloy used in the casting of government gold coins, and will be exceedingly decorative in design.

The prizes will be given, as usual, for various classifications of gardens, potted plants and cut flowers. A large number of entries for these prizes are expected from private growers, which will include selections from the green houses of some of the most prominent in and about the city.

Feature among the large displays this year is a collection of orchids, the most expensive flower grown, covering more than 2000 sq. feet of floor space. As usual, the roses will have a dominant place in the exhibit, with hundreds of out door varieties.

An acacia exhibit which cannot be duplicated along with rock gardens and landscape effects, will be outstanding features. This year's exhibit includes rare and exotic plants, some of which have never been seen in Philadelphia before.

Officers of the Philadelphia Flower Show are James Boyd, President; John P. Habermehl, Vice-President; W. Albee Bueee, Jr., Treasurer; B. B. Starkey, Secretary; E. J. Fancourt, Chairman.

ADVOCATES FEE TO BUY HUNTING LAND

Fish and Game Commission Head Wants Sport Protection for All

Proposed legislation that will permit New Jersey sportsmen to acquire, through State action, permanent hunting and fishing rights on vast areas to be kept well stocked with game and fish, is endorsed in a statement issued by President H. J. Burlington, of the State Fish and Game Commission. Assembly Bill No. 169, enabling the State to take over such lands by purchase or lease and providing the necessary funds through an increase in the license fee was presented at the behest of organized sportsmen and is now before the Legislature for action.

President Burlington says the increased posting of farm lands and the fact that many private hunting clubs, generally composed of non-residents, are buying or leasing large tracts, has forced the issue at this time. He declares the proposed act will have the double advantage of putting the average sportsman on a par of privilege with members of private clubs and of discouraging the posting of ground. The State does not stock posted land.

The license fee system has built up for New Jersey fishing and hunting opportunities unsurpassed in the East and President Burlington says the organized sportsmen want to see these advantages protected and perpetuated. The present resident fishing and hunting fee is $1.50, one of the lowest in the United States, and the Otto Bill would increase this to $3 with a twenty-five cent issuance fee, one dollar to go into the land fund and the balance of the increase to be used to control vermin injurious to game and to abate pollution of public waters.

"Since New Jersey has become a mecca for sportsmen, due to the extensive stocking campaign carried on by the Fish and Game Commission, this new problem has arisen," says the Commission head. "Much of the best hunting and fishing areas of the State are being acquired gradually by newly formed clubs, organized for this purpose in many cases by people from out of the State."

"If this condition continues the time is not far distant when there will be little if any open areas for hunting and fishing in this State and this will automatically cut down the resources of the State for stocking purposes. Naturally there would be no incentive for sportsmen to buy a license if there were no places to hunt or fish.

"If stocking is not continued on a large scale as at present, the State will revert to what it was fifteen years ago, with a little native game, rapidly diminishing. Intensive restocking has averted the complete extermination of our native quail, rabbits, grouse and game fish, and has added ring-neck pheasants and new species of fish to our resources."

"Licensed hunters and fishermen have increased about 50,000 in the past few years. The increase in license fees has made possible an abundance of fish and game and this attraction accounts for the leasing of large areas of land and waters by private clubs. Those owners who lease their property for hunting and fishing only do not seem to realize they are killing the goose that lays the golden egg. When their property is shot out or fished out, who is going to restock it? The State will not stock posted lands."

"Owners should remember also that it is the sportsmen's money only, without any cost to the taxpayer, that protects the property owner from the illegal pot hunter, protects the insectivorous birds on his place, destroys the vermin through the warden service, and saved and built up the great hunting and fishing resources the State now enjoys. Clubs and individuals who lease the hunting and fishing rights invariably do nothing to replenish the fish and game they take."

"Apparently the only way to avert this menace is through the acquisition by the State Fish and Game Commission, through purchase or lease of public hunting and fishing areas in every part of the State where available. This can only be accomplished with the sportsmen's money through increased license fees. Land values are increasing and no time should be lost if we are to continue to enjoy good hunting and fishing in New Jersey for all time. This measure concerns our immediate needs and at the same time assures the passing on of a fine heritage of sport to future generations of New Jersey youth."

SNEAK THIEVES GET PIN VALUED AT $75

Enter Home of Louis Eldridge by Forcing a Rear Window While Family is Away

A bar pin valued at $75 was stolen from the home of Louis Eldridge, of 1302 Morgan avenue, Palmyra, by sneak thieves who gained entrance by forcing a rear window while the family was away last Saturday evening.

The theft was discovered about nine o'clock when the Eldridges returned to their home. They found the entire house had been ransacked but only the bar pin could be checked up as missing. The pin was set with eight sapphires and eight pearls.

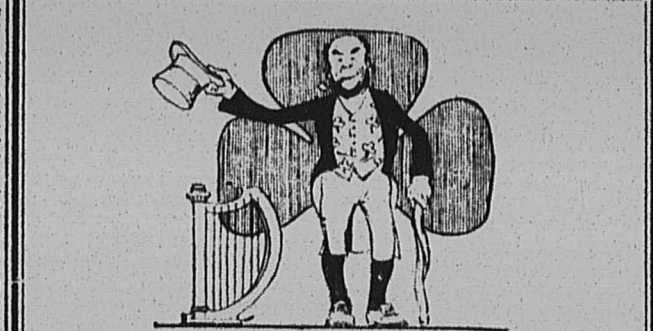

The Palmyra police department was notified and Chief Beck and Officer Rodgers responded. They made a thorough search of the neighborhood but were unable to find the culprits.

Palmyra High closed its 1929 basketball season last Friday night with a victory over Moorestown by an 18-20 count.

The game was one of the most closely contested and most interesting from the spectator's standpoint of any played this year. The "Pals" got off to a good start and ended the first half with a 9-6 margin. The final frame was a close affair with Moorestown scoring 12 points to Palmyra's 11. Bill Baker, playing his last game for Palmyra High School, was the leader on the attack, scoring three field goals and netting one from the 15-foot mark. Bolton, for Moorestown, played a fine game, leading the hoop for 11 points.

As a consequence of its win, Palmyra finished second to Burlington, which won the championship, with twelve victories and no losses. Palmyra placed out nine victories against three losses to other runners-up laurels, while Riverside was third, with seven wins and five defeats. Moorestown was fourth with six wins and the same number of setbacks. Bordentown wound up in fifth place, gaining four victories in twelve starts, while Mount Holly and Pemberton tied for last place, each winning two out of twelve games.

QUICK CLEANER FOR BATH PORCELAIN

Moisten a cloth with hot water, then dip lightly in gasoline and rub over porcelain; or dissolve salt soda in warm water and wash tub and basin with it. Both methods remove soil quickly and leave porcelain gleaming.

WASHING WOOL

Woolen garments and accessories can be made to look well and wear well if you remember a few simple rules in laundering them. Never permit woolen articles to become badly soiled, as rubbing, twisting or any kind of strenuous handling is likely to stretch and otherwise injure the fabric while it is wet. As woens require a special temperature of water in laundering, they should never be placed in a tub with other fabrics. A temperature of about 100 degrees Fahrenheit will prove satisfactory.

Dissolve a mild soap in hot water, then add cold water until the temperature is lukewarm before you immerse the garments. Press the suds through the fabric until the soil is removed, using additional clean soap-suds if necessary. Be sure that the rinsing water is the same temperature as that used for washing. Carelessness in this respect is likely to cause the fabric to shrink or harden.

After washing knitted garments press out the water and gather them together before removing them from the tub so that they will not be stretched by the weight of the water. For the same reason, never hang them while they are wet. Place each piece between Turkish towels or a flat, clean surface, spreading the sleeves out straight and adjusting the lines to conform to measurements taken before laundering the garments.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

Alfred R. Bradley, a member of the Palmyra Borough Council, has been elected to the directorate of Watson and Company, a large Philadelphia wholesale house. Mr. Bradley, who has been a salesman for the company for several years, will be in direct charge of sales. He many friends in Palmyra, Riverton and vicinity wish him every success in his new position, which, for his many years of conscientious service, he so well deserves.

TO DISCONTINUE SCOUT AUXILIARY

Will Turn Over Funds to Counsellors' Association for Work of Organization

Last Wednesday evening a meeting of the Boy Scouts' Auxiliary of Palmyra was held at the home of the president, William R. Gerkens, 1000 Garfield avenue, to discuss the advisability of disposing of the funds in the treasury and disbanded the organization.

The following members were present: Mrs. George Rhoades, Mrs. William R. Gerkens, Mrs. William Poulson, Mrs. Charles Davidson, Mrs. F. L. Shill, Mrs. Albert Fry, Charles Davidson, C. O. Melcher, William R. Gerkens, William McConnell and Albert E. Fry.

A motion was carried unanimously that the funds in the treasury be turned over to the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors' Association to be used for the Palmyra Boy Scouts. On motion the president appointed a committee to compile a summary of the work done by this organization. It was decided to hold another meeting before disbanding in order to receive the report of the above committee.

To a large number of men and women of Palmyra the above report will bring forth from the past many pleasant memories, memories of former associations, memories of work well done for the benefit of the Boy Scouts of Palmyra.

From the time of its organization in the High School auditorium in January, 1922, until the last meeting in 1929, the members were continuously busy.

They derived their funds from the proceeds of food sales, rummage sales, card parties, etc. With these funds they provided the Scouts with speakers and entertainment. They furnished the Scouts with a complete camping outfit to take care of fifty boys and a full set of instruments for the bugle band. They also saw to it that no boy was deprived of the benefits of scouting through lack of funds to pay his registration fee or to buy his uniform.

When the Burlington County Council came into being the Auxiliary was told that, as an organization, there was no place for it in the new arrangement and so the work ended.

The men and women of this organization have given liberally of their time and money that the Scout program of character building, citizenship and patriotism might be inculcated in the minds of boys of 16 Palmyra. Every success of the Troops in Palmyra today can be traced back to the foundation laid down by the Boy Scouts' Auxiliary of Palmyra.

They have now turned over their work to the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors' Association and hope that the new organization will carry on, as the Auxiliary did, for the Scouts of Palmyra.

As woens require a special temperature of water in laundering, they should never be placed in a tub with other fabrics. A temperature of about 100 degrees Fahrenheit will prove satisfactory.

Dissolve a mild soap in hot water, then add cold water until the temperature is lukewarm before you immerse the garments. Press the suds through the fabric until the soil is removed, using additional clean soap-suds if necessary. Be sure that the rinsing water is the same temperature as that used for washing. Carelessness in this respect is likely to cause the fabric to shrink or harden.

After washing knitted garments press out the water and gather them together before removing them from the tub so that they will not be stretched by the weight of the water. For the same reason, never hang them while they are wet. Place each piece between Turkish towels or a flat, clean surface, spreading the sleeves out straight and adjusting the lines to conform to measurements taken before laundering the garments.

NAMED TO COUNTY TAXATION BOARD

Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Haas Appointed to Positions by Governor Larson

Mrs. Nellie W. Russell, of Burlington, and Mrs. Mervil E. Haas, of Palmyra, have been appointed members of the Burlington County Board of Taxation by Governor Larson. They succeeded Newton Morton, of Florence, Republican, and Francis J. Mulraney, of Moorestown, Democrat.

Mrs. Russell's appointment is a reward for many years of untiring work for the Republican party in Burlington County. She has served as a member of the County Committee, as vice-chairman of the Republican County Committee, and as member of the State Republican Committee.

She always has been affiliated with the Burlington County organization, and did excellent work among the women of her party in the matter of club formation and teaching them the intelligent use of the ballot. The interest that Burlington County women have in politics today is due in a large measure to the efforts of Mrs. Russell in leading them along the new political way.

Some time ago Mrs. Russell retired from active politics and her place on the Republican State

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Being on tenter-hooks in Lent! A state of utmost anxiety is suggested by "tenter-hooks," but this it seems is all wrong, according to the article Dean A. Wright has quoted in his paper. Tenter-hooks are little wooden bars with spikes fastened to a loom for the purpose of stretching and holding in proper shape the cloth that is being woven. When we submit ourselves to the discipline of Lent, we are like the weaver stretching the tenter-hooks across the cloth. For is not the purpose of Lenten discipline to help us preserve the shape, width and pattern of the Christian life?

One of the most popular forms of indoor amusements is the Auction Bridge problem. You will see interested players in the theatre, subway trains, at the seashore and other Summer resorts, poring over some double dummy Bridge problem. Just to be in the fashion this article will deal entirely with such problems.

The first problem is one for you to think over during the coming week.

If spades are trumps and Z is in the lead, how can Y Z win six of the seven tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead the king of spades. A can safely discard the seven of hearts, Y should lead the ten of diamonds and B is forced to win the trick with the ace of spades. B now has the choice of two leads: (1) the deuce of clubs; (2) the nine of diamonds.

(1) Suppose B leads the deuce of clubs. Z should win the trick with the queen of clubs, all following suit. Z should now lead the six of hearts, A should play the eight, and Y should win the trick with the nine. B is forced to discard. He cannot discard a diamond or Y's king of diamonds and Z's six of diamonds will win two tricks. B is forced, therefore, to discard the five of clubs. Y should now lead the king of hearts and B again is forced to discard. He still cannot discard a diamond for the same reason given in the preceding trick: to discard the nine of clubs, Z should then discard the four of diamonds and A follows suit. Y should now lead the king of diamonds. B and Z follow suit and A is forced to discard. He cannot discard the queen of hearts or Y's jack of the queen of hearts or Y's jack of the king of hearts and Z must win the next two tricks with the king and seven of clubs.

(2) Suppose at trick two B leads the nine of diamonds. Z follows suit and A is forced to discard. He cannot discard his heart or all of Y's hearts will be good: so he is forced to discard the six of clubs. Y wins the trick with the king of diamonds. Y should now lead the ten of clubs and win the trick in Z's hand with the queen, all following suit. Z should now lead the six of hearts. A should play the eight and Y should win the trick with the nine. B is thus forced to discard. He cannot discard the queen of diamonds or Z's six of diamonds will be good: so he is forced to discard the nine of clubs. Z should discard the six of diamonds and A follows suit. Y should now lead the four of clubs and Z must win the next two tricks with the king and seven of clubs.

Thus in both cases, Y Z win six of the seven tricks against any defense. It is a pretty problem in the forcing of discards. Both A and B are forced to discard clubs and thus enable Y Z to make three club tricks when only two tricks in that suit appear to be winners.

The forcing of discards is one of the most common ways that good players adopt to win tricks that the average player would lose. Study this problem and the methods adopted very carefully. It will well repay you.

TELEPHONE MAP IN USE BY POLICE

Facilitates Spreading a Quick Tight Cordon About Crime Area

New Jersey police authorities, working jointly with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, have prepared a police telephone map of the State for use in spreading a quick, tight police cordon around any area after a robbery, hold-up or other crime. The map is now in the hands of authorities in all parts of the State, in an effort to combat the organization and speed of modern motor bandits by the great organization and speed of the telephone system, partially offsetting the handicap police work under in having to begin their activities in most cases after criminals have finished their.

The map gives a clear picture of principal highways and motor routes of New Jersey, shows by dots and squares the locations of local police headquarters and State police stations, and lists alphabetically their names, towns and telephone numbers.

Emmor Roberts Seen by Press as "Flying Farmer"

Former State Senator Emmor Roberts, of Moorestown, one of the largest apple growers in this part, is employing a unique method to keep in close touch with the general conditions and prospect of the fruit crop this year.

"During the past two weeks the former Senator has made flights to Maryland, Delaware and New York and visited canneries which are now contracting for the coming season's crop of apples and peaches.

"Mr. Roberts began taking flight instruction more than two years ago and is now ready for his transport pilot's examination. Flying, which first was indulged in merely as a sport, he has found to be of special benefit to his extensive fruit growing business. His orchards in Burlington County supply several canneries with apples and peaches during the summer months. The plane is a two-place open biplane with a top speed of about 120 miles an hour.

A large red apple has been painted on the side of the cockpit somewhat after the fashion of fliers who decorated their planes with good luck signs and the ship is kept in constant readiness for flight at the Moorestown Airport."

PLANS FOR SCHOOL ARE AGAIN REJECTED

Marlton Votes Almost Two to One Against Second Proposition for Separate Building

The voters of Evesham Township have for the second time within two months registered opposition to plans for a new school building at Marlton at a special election held Tuesday night of last week.

The first election was held on January 15, when a proposition for a new building costing $50,000 was rejected by a vote of 83 to 52. The proposition submitted at the second election last week provided for a new and separate building costing $48,000, and this proposition was even more decisively defeated than the first. The vote was 88 opposed and 49 favoring the plan.

A sentiment prevails and apparently is favored by a majority of the voters of the district that the additional rooms needed should and could be provided by building extensions to the present school building. It is contended that such plans would cost considerably less for both construction and maintenance.

The Board of Education is forced to continue efforts without much delay to provide additional rooms, as an ultimatum has been served on the Board that at least three additional class rooms must be provided for the next school term.

ROSES A FEATURE AT FLOWER SHOW

Spring Exhibit to Open March 24 in Commercial Museum, Philadelphia

Roses will hold an important place in Philadelphia's Spring Flower Show, to be held at the Commercial Museum, Thirty-fourth and Spruce streets, March 24th to 29th, inclusive. This year's exhibit will undoubtedly have the finest and largest collection of roses ever gathered together in this section. Among the 18 varieties of cut roses and 100 varieties of rose plants, will be a number of rare specimens never before shown in this country.

Chaplin's Pink Climber Rose, which is a pink flowered type of Paul's Scarlet Climber, a red climbing rose, will make its American debut at the show. This rose was gold medal winner at the exhibition of the Royal Horticultural Society of England.

"Gloria Mundi" The new Polyantha or Baby Rose, "Gloria Mundi" which is of Holland origin, will also be shown. This is a beautiful orange-scarlet flower, as bright as the richest colored geranium. It was one of the most striking features of Flower Shows in England, France, Holland and Denmark last summer.

"The Tallman"—a new hybrid tea rose—possessing a combination of shadings of gold, apricot, deep pink and old rose, will again be entered, as well as the President Hoover, an orange-scarlet rose of great fragrance.

Of the old favorites to be displayed are the Radiance, Red Radiance, Ophelia, Souvenir de Claudius Perret, Los Angeles, Madam Butterfly, Duchess of Wellington, Columbia, Mme. Edouard Harriet, Gruss an Teplitz, Mrs. Aaron Ward and Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, as well as many others.

Grow to Full Vigor The special process of training roses to their finest development is called "pinching." To obtain 200 exhibition roses, over 1,000 plants must be pinched. By this method all the strength of the stock goes into one flower, which causes it to grow full and vigorous and to approach the standard of perfection. About 30 days before the plant is to flower, pinching is stopped and efforts are then directed toward bringing the bud to perfection in time for the show.

The show management announces that 125 individual exhibitors in the commercial class have sent in entries. In the private growers' class, the entries will run into the hundreds.

NEW JERSEY ORCHARDS IN NEED OF MORE LIME

Inability to maintain a sufficient amount of organic matter in the soil, due to the failure of cover crops, is one reason why the vigor and productivity of many New Jersey orchards is impaired. As a means of correcting this unfavorable condition, applications of lime are advised by Prof. A. J. Farley, New Jersey extension pomologist. The amount required can be determined by a soil test, which will be made without charge by County agricultural agents on request.

STING OF BEEKEEPING REMOVED BY NEW PLAN

How to take the "sting" out of beekeeping has at last been explained by Ray Hulse, bee specialist of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. The plan as announced by him here today consists simply of keeping "good natured" Caucasian bees, which are natives of Caucasus, Russia, instead of the "hot tempered" kind frequently found.

By Lt. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

Joe Taylor and Jack Allen, of Moorestown Friends' School, won additional honors at the Philadelphia Model Aeroplane Association meet last Saturday. Joe was the winner in the Junior event, his ship staying in the air 2 minutes and 45 seconds, and Jack was third, his ship flying for 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Out of more than 200 contestants these two boys again kept Moorestown in the limelight. Great work, boys; we are proud of you.

The Spring maneuvers of the Air Corps will take place in California April 1 to 24, with 150 planes participating. It will be the first time that all four branches of Army aviation, pursuit, attack, bombardment and observation, have combined in maneuvers of this type to demonstrate the use of air forces in repelling invasion.

For the second successive Sunday extremely high winds kept most of the ships on the ground, it being too dangerous for student instruction and too rough for passenger flying.

Ship Number N. C. 5789, of the Burlington Aero Club, again took the air last week after having been completely overhauled and repainted. How do you like the new colors of Fokker Red with Aluminum Inlets and trimmings. We are deeply indebted to the genial W. K. Chambers & Son, automobile painters, of Moorestown, for the use of their paint shop while doing this work. We are now working out an even more attractive color scheme for N. C. 5181, which is now being prepared for overhauling, recovering and repainting.

CENTRAL BAPTIST TO CELEBRATE ITS 1ST ANNIVERSARY

Special Services to Mark Ending of Year in New Church

MANY ORGANIZATIONS
TAKE PART IN WORK

Membership Has Shown Pleasing Increase; 39 Members Added to Congregation

(By George A. Murray)

One year ago next Sunday was the biggest day in the history of Central Baptist Church, of Riverton-Palmira, when our beautiful new church edifice was dedicated, one of the most beautiful edifices in the State of New Jersey.

Our hearts were attuned for this great event—the result of years of planning and working to attain our goal. We had waited patiently for the day when we could go into our new church and the event brought with it a new spirit of enthusiasm and the close of the first year shows this enthusiasm has not abated. Every department of the Church and Sunday School, from the Primary Department up, are actively engaged in the work, and our first year has been a very successful one, financially and otherwise.

Our membership has increased, 39 having been admitted, 25 by baptism and 14 by letter and experience. We have a large Sunday School, which is growing, and we are proud that the largest organized Women's Bible Class in Burlington County is found in our church and this class is doing a wonderful work in the Church and community.

Much Enthusiasm

The Primary Department, too, the little folks, with its membership of over one hundred, has this spirit of enthusiasm and are doing their part. All of the classes are actively engaged in the work; an elite officers of the Church are School and deeply gratified by the co-operation they are receiving from a smooth working organization.

Next Sunday will be our first anniversary of the dedication and a special service has been arranged. In Sunday School and Church, Sunday School will be held at the usual hour, 10 a. m., followed by the morning Church service at 11:15.

Unique Service

The letters of C. B. C. (standing for Central Baptist Church) will be placed in the front of the Church and are arranged so flowers may be placed in them. The name of every organization of the Church will be called from the pulpit and a representative of the organization will place a flower in the letters, covering the letters with flowers. This will be very unique.

The choir of 25 voices will sing the "Gloria" and "Magnificat" and Miss Anna McConnell will sing, "The Holy City." The pastor will preach a short sermon.

At the evening service, at 7:45, the choir will sing "Dear Lord, O Jesus" and "My Path Leads Up to Thee," with a violin obligato by Claude V. Barto, and Edward Hoyt will sing a tenor solo. The sermon subject will be "The Baptists and Church Membership." Four persons will be baptized at the evening service.

Pastor Lockett, who began the fifth year of his pastorate in January last, is very much encouraged by the wonderful support being given him by our various organizations and the Church in general is looking forward to greater things ahead.

Come out to our services next Sunday and help us make this a great day in our Church history. A most cordial welcome awaits you. We are anticipating a large congregation. Do not disappoint us.

GAMES COMMITTEE DOING GREAT WORK

P. O. S. of A. Members Enjoy Program of Sports Each Monday Evening at Regular Meetings

Chairman Charles Matlack and his committee on games are doing good work in providing clean, wholesome sport for the members of Camp No. 23, P. O. S. of A., on the regular meeting nights each Monday evening.

The committee wishes to call attention to the fact that no charge of any kind is made for enjoying the various contests and tournaments.

The largest crowd of the season turned out to welcome the "Bug Chasers" from the U. S. Entomological Bureau last Monday. The Palmira teams won after a tough battle; the score was fifteen to nine games. Baseball will be the feature of the meeting next Monday and pinocle will be the attraction March 24. Some new pinocle tables will add much to the comfort of those who take part in the card playing.

Legislation affecting all fraternal organizations is under way at Trenton and it will profit the members to attend Camp sessions regularly in order to keep posted on the movements of the politicians.

A discussion of the State mortuary fund is scheduled for an early date. The next meeting of the County Association will be held at Mount Holly on Thursday, April 2.

EXTENSION SERVICE TO STAGE 30 HTLS SHOWS

What the well-dressed New Jersey woman will see this spring will be displayed in the series of 30 style shows of the New Jersey Extension Service in Home Economics. The Burlington County Show will be held at Mount Holly on Thursday, April 2.

Gets Medal

MISS IOLA D. GIBBONS

Perth Amboy telephone operator, to whom has been awarded the Vail Memorial Medal for heroism at her post.

REWARD IS GIVEN PHONE HEROINE

Perth Amboy Operator Receives Theodore N. Vail Memorial Medal

Because she displayed heroism and resourcefulness in the use of telephone facilities to summon aid after a blast had wrecked and set fire to the building in which she was working, a Perth Amboy girl has been awarded the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Medal in bronze.

She is Miss Iola D. Gibbons, 447 Division street, Perth Amboy, who as night chief operator for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company at the Woodbridge central office, remained at her post of duty early in the morning of March 8, last, risking her life to avert further destruction and possible loss of life following an explosion in a harness shop next door.

Announcement of the medal award was made by the Regional Vail Memorial Medal Committee, which also voted honorable mention to another New Jersey Bell Telephone Company employee, Arthur O. Lucas, a lineman in the Trenton district, who assisted in the rescue of a man who had come into contact with high voltage wires.

Medals Given Annually The Vail medals are given annually, when the committee deems them to be merited. In memory of Theodore N. Vail, pioneer in telephony, whose home was in Morristown, New Jersey, and who was head of the Bell System for almost fifteen years. The medals are given for acts of heroism arising out of or in connection with the performance of regular duty and which employ to some extent the plant and equipment of the telephone system.

Announcement of the medal award to Miss Gibbons recalls the violent explosion about 2:30 a. m. in the morning of May 6, which shook the business district of Woodbridge, injuring five persons, five persons, damaging a large amount of property, including the Woodbridge central office building, and putting all telephones in Woodbridge and Carteret out of commission.

Miss Gibbons, alone in the operating room at the time, was thrown violently to the floor, glass and debris showering on her and inflicting cuts and bruises to her face and scalp. Dazed and unaware of the cause of the explosion, she made her way back to the switchboard and called the Woodbridge police headquarters, telling of the blast.

Aids Injured Girl Although the building she occupied already had caught fire and the force of the explosion had shattered all the windows, cracked a wall and knocked off most of the plastering in the operating room, Miss Gibbons continued to sound the alarm and quickly called Miss Alice J. Dolan, Woodbridge chief operator, and the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company Emergency Bureau, at Newark.

Then she went to the assistance of Miss Mae E. Smolinski, 196 East Millon avenue, Rahway, night relief operator, who was sleeping in the retiring room near the operating room and who was stunned by a blow on her head when a door was blown down across her bed. Both girls stumbled back into the operating room and were at the switchboard when police arrived a few minutes later. Police were obliged to use force to get the girls out of the building and to a place of safety.

As a result of the alarm spread by Miss Gibbons, firemen were soon on the scene to extinguish the flames and at 2:50 a. m. about twenty minutes after the blast, the first telephone repair man arrived.

FRED PIANI TO PLEAD INSANITY

Attorney Peacock Will Use Court Order in Attempt to Gain Slayer's Release

When Fred Piani goes on trial in the next future for the alleged murder of Mrs. Isabelle Shedaker at Burlington in December, 1927, a part of his defense will be that a Supreme Court justice has already found he was insane before and at the time he killed the woman.

Robert Peacock, of Mount Holly, attorney for the accused man, declared yesterday he would present in court the order Supreme Court Justice Frank T. Lloyd signed when he sent Piani to the State Hospital for the insane May 10, 1928. This order, Peacock alleges, states definitely that Piani was not only crazy after he killed Mrs. Shedaker, but at the time he fired the fatal shots and even before that.

Piani recently was released from the State Hospital and was pronounced cured. At the time he was sent there State physicians and County medical authorities declared he was crazy. He had fired a bullet into his own neck in an attempt to take his life after he had shot Mrs. Shedaker.

Prosecutor George M. Hillman, who goes out of office in April, will conduct the prosecution. Peacock asserts Hillman affixed his signature to the justice's order in "approval as to form."

The parts of the order which Peacock will use in the insanity plea defense are:

"The above named Fred Piani being in confinement under indictment for the murder of Isabelle James Shedaker and being on this day (May 10, 1928) about to be placed on trial for the said indictment, and it appearing that the said defendant may be insane and the application of Robert Peacock, Caesar Pianiani, his father, and a person interested in the admission of the said Fred Piani into an institution for the care and treatment of the insane in this state, and to which there were attached the certificates of Dr. Henry A. Cotton, Dr. Harold E. Longmire, Dr. D. F. Remer, setting forth the insanity of the said Fred Piani."

Gibbons S. Irons, owner of the Metropolitan Inn, where Piani boarded, who testified that Fred Piani was insane before the crime was committed at the time it was committed and was insane at the time he shot Isabelle James Shedaker.

"And I do further order that the said Fred Piani be forthwith removed and confined in the New Jersey Hospital for the Insane, at Trenton, there to be confined and kept until he shall have been restored to sanity and shall have been discharged therefrom according to law, and this shall be sufficient warrant of authority for such confinement and detention; and that he be released from imprisonment until he be restored."

ORGANIZE NEW GROUP

Jack Hasty, Basketball Star, Will Act
as Y. M. C. A. Leader

Friday evening, March 7, a group of young fellows met in the Y. M. C. A. Building, under the direction of Secretary Plank, with the purpose of organizing a new group. Those present were Jack Windsor, William Zaun, Nick Belts, Jacob Belts, John Krauss, Arthur Polanski, Spencer Zaun, Earl Lenker, Joseph Lambing, Roger Shamer and Lawrence Bishop.

The meeting was called to order and the first item of business was the election of officers. Those chosen to direct the activities were as follows: Jack Windsor, president; William Zaun, vice-president; Nick Belts, treasurer; Jacob Belts, secretary, and John Krauss, reporter. Every one of the fellows were greatly pleased when Mr. Plank told them Jack Hasty had consented to be the leader of the group. Imaginary pictures began to flash through the minds of every fellow. Jack, the star basketball player, and now they might succeed in absorbing some of his art.

Some plans for the remainder of the season were discussed and some rather definite plans were reached. One of these was the limit the membership of the group would have. There are now five places and any fellow interested in this group should get in touch with one of the members. Even with the late start and being the newest group, every indication points to this group doing some fine work yet this season.

Mount Holly Mail Carrier Has Rounded Out Twenty-nine Years of Service

William H. Stillwell Started Delivery of Mail to County Seat Residents When President McKinley Was Inaugurated Second Time

William H. Stillwell rounded out his twenty-ninth year as a mail carrier for Mount Holly Post Office Tuesday.

That statement may surprise old residents who know that free delivery did not go into effect in Mount Holly until July 1, 1901. Stillwell explains that his service dates before the opening of the free delivery. He started to take letters around to residents on the day President William McKinley was inaugurated for the second term. He charged residents one cent for each letter or postal card delivered.

During those days when he was a "free lance" deliveryman Stillwell averaged $6 a week for collections. He took the job, he explained Tuesday, so he would be on the ground floor when

TELLS HOW TO USE FERTILIZER

Garden Expert Gives Timely Advice on Care of Soil for Best Results

(By W. O. Hird)

One of the chief essentials of a good garden is proper fertilization. While the soil contains plant food, certain elements must be added to replace the same or the growing crops will lack color, be slow in reaching maturity, and lack crispness and flavor. Flowering plants will be undernourished, producing spindling stalks, yellow leaves and poorly developed blossoms. If the soil is sandy or deficient in organic matter, a liberal application of decayed stable manure or humus should be thoroughly incorporated with the soil, this making it friable and able to retain moisture.

Four soils should be given an application of time to neutralize the acidity and make available the plant food, the lime being applied in the early spring.

At the time of planting the vegetable and flower seeds, a balanced plant food containing the essential elements of plant life—Nitrogen, Phosphoric Acid, Potash—should be used, applying 3 to 4 pounds per each 100 square feet, and working it lightly in the soil. When the plants are well above the ground another application should be given, care being taken not to put the fertilizer too near the plants.

Lawns should be given a top dressing in early spring to induce vigorous growth and thus discourage the weeds. To maintain this growth, several applications should be given during the growing season, applying each about 3 or 4 weeks apart.

In making a selection of fertilizers a thorough study of the various kinds should be made. During the past few years several kinds have been placed on the market, among them being "Bacon" and "Vigoro." Both of these are balanced plant foods being composed of the elements that are necessary to good lawn and garden making; sheep manure and bone meal are also excellent fertilizers and can be used with safety. In conclusion, if one would get the best out of the lawn and garden, proper feeding is essential.

GALA EVENT AT COMPASS CLUB

Real Old Fashioned Dance and Royal Good Time is Planned

The gala night of the year is promised members of the Compass Club of Palmyra and Riverton if they attend the meeting tomorrow night.

According to the committee several of the members have suggested that a real old-time entertainment be held, like in the olden days, when everyone danced and had a royal good time.

The committee has taken for the idea and is prepared to put it into effect tomorrow evening. The Fox Theatre Orchestra has been engaged in contemplation of the biggest time of the year.

The refreshments will be in charge of the ladies who were so successful in their surprise luncheon at the February meeting. They are expected to supply a gastronomic treat which will be appreciated by all present.

Another mystery feature is promised which no one will know about until the zero hour.

The February meeting was a wonderful success, with the initiation of the new members, and the wonderful luncheon provided by the ladies.

The ladies report they did exceptionally well with the card party held at the Fox Club on February 14th, with over one hundred taking part. They want to take this opportunity to thank the club for its co-operation.

Modern science hasn't improved everything. For instance the matrimonial matches they made in the old days lasted a lot longer than the ones they make nowadays.

He—You look like a sensible girl. Let's get married.
She—Nothing doing! I'm just as sensible as I look.

Make Father Happy

An extra bathroom in the home saves that rush and hurry in the morning when the household prepares to begin a new day. Father gets delayed and has to run to catch his car or perhaps John Jr. is late for school—in any case, even the small-sized family can do with another bathroom. And when guests arrive there is no embarrassment over inadequate bath and toilet facilities. This extra convenience can be had by utilizing the space wasted at the end of a hall, in an alcove or unused closet.

Conscience and Citizenship

Following is a statement by the Religious Society of Friends:

We invite attention to the growing number of cases in which applicants for United States citizenship are being rejected because of their allegiance to conscience in the matter of war. The recent ruling in the case of Dr. Douglas C. Macintosh raises the issue pointedly. Dr. Macintosh, a professor in the Yale Divinity School, is obviously unusually qualified to become a citizen. He is rejected, however, for the reasons set forth by the District Judge as follows:—

"It appearing that the said Petitioner, considering his allegiance to be first to the will of God, would not promise in advance to bear arms in defense of the United States under all circumstances but only if he believed the war to be morally justified, it is decreed, that the Petitioner is not attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and further decreed that said petition for citizenship is denied."

The Macintosh case is but one of an increasing number of applications of both men and women rejected for similar reasons. This policy seems so unjust to the individual and so detrimental to the public welfare that it is cause for grave concern.

Liberty of conscience is a cornerstone of all enlightened democratic governments today. Denial of it is recognized as oppression. It is something more. For to deny the rights of free conscience is to strike at the very heart of individual character and to undermine the foundations of democratic institutions. No modern government such as ours can afford to ignore this principle. America was long a haven of refuge for freedom loving men and women persecuted in other lands. We refuse to believe it is now to be the established policy of our government that we must obey man rather than God, and that those who give their first allegiance to God are disloyal to the United States.

Governments cannot always recognize the freedom of the individual conscience, but we submit that they should always do so except where it clearly violates the moral or religious sense of the community. In this day when a constantly increasing number believe that war and Christianity cannot be reconciled and when all of the leading nations of the world have solemnly renounced war as an instrument of national policy, it clearly cannot be said that a conscientious refusal to bear arms violates the moral or religious standards of our country.

At a time when the nations are striving for disarmament and the pacific settlement of disputes, the conscientious objector to war will be an asset rather than a liability. He will not be a mere negative protester. His love of country will be as deep and genuine, and his service as helpful as that of many other citizens. He may be counted upon more than most to support his country in its efforts to abolish war.

The policy of exclusion for conscientious conviction is grossly undiscriminating. It raises no barrier to the applicant who is unscrupulous, or unthinking, or morally and spiritually dull. It excludes such persons as Dr. Macintosh. It would have excluded William Penn and most of his associates in the founding of Pennsylvania. It would today exclude a Ramsay MacDonald.

We should be false to our forefathers, to the example of the early Christians, to our Master Himself were we to allow religious liberty and freedom of conscience to be violated without protest.

We ask our fellow citizens to join in service to our country by loyally supporting the ideals of civil and religious liberty upon which it was founded. We appeal to them actively to cooperate in establishing the principle that the refusal of a promise to bear arms because of a supreme loyalty in God, shall not be a bar to citizenship in the United States.

This is signed on behalf of American Friends Service Committee by Henry J. Cadbury, chairman; Five Years' Meeting of Friends in America by W. O. Mendenhall, clerk; Friends' General Conference by Arthur C. Jackson, chairman; Representative Meetings of the Religious Society of Friends of Philadelphia and Vicinity (Arch Street) by Harold Evans, clerk, and the Representative Committee of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends, (Race Street) by Jane P. Rushmore, clerk.

Business is Getting Better

Men whose occupation it is to keep their fingers on the pulse of national conditions report with a great deal of confidence that the outlook for business is better than they had expected to find it at this time. There was a belief at the turn of the year that it might be mid-summer before industrial conditions got back to normal. Now there is a general feeling that it will not be much after Easter before the slack has been taken up. Definite predictions with a time-limit are always doubtful, but the fact that intelligent investigators believe that the worst is over is of great significance and interest.

One of the most reliable indexes of business confidence is the volume of national advertising. Six of the largest advertising agencies recently reported that not only had there been no cancellations among their advertising clients, but that many of them had increased their advertising appropriations by from 10 to 15 per cent.

There are several reasons why what looked in November like the beginning of a business depression did not develop as such things have done in the past. One was, of course, that the sudden slump in stock values did not reflect any business or industrial condition but was the natural reaction from a speculative boom in which stocks were sold at from twenty to forty or fifty times their net earnings. Another was that there was no great mass of "frozen assets" on the shelves of merchants and manufacturers.

With the improvements in transportation facilities which have been made since the Armistice, business requires less capital investment in goods than used to be the case. One of the great mail order houses last year reported an inventory of only $77,000,000 as against $121,000,000 in 1921, yet the total volume of business done on the smaller inventory was four times as great as when the larger stock was carried. Something like that is reflected in the records of every merchant who runs his business on an up-to-date basis today. Small stock, speedily replenished on hurry-up orders to manufacturers or jobbers, enable the retailer to make two to four times as many sales on the same amount of capital. He runs less risk of having money tied up in slow-moving goods and by frequent re-ordering keeps his stock fresh and attractive, besides being ready to respond instantly to any change in style or tastes.

Because this system of retailing has become almost universal, business credits were not materially curtailed even when the situation looked worst, and today are almost as free as they have ever been. The trend of wages is still upward, unemployment is diminishing, and the general public will soon be, if it is not already, in better buying position than ever.

After reading the news dispatches from Chicago, U. S. A., the people of Chicago, South Australia, voted to change the name of their town to Booth, after the founder of the Salvation Army. If that doesn't make Chicago ashamed of itself, Chicago, Kentucky, might threaten to change its name to King George and see if that will have any effect.

ATHEISM

The Russian government's war against religion may prove the spur needed to unite all Christianity into making common cause against the enemies of God. Incredible as it sounds, the armed and disciplined minority which controls Russia has prohibited religious teaching and preaching, is seizing churches and converting them into museums and factories, is killing missionaries and confiscating the property of farmers who support the churches.

There have been many religious wars in history, but always each side has professed the fighting to be in the name of its own God. The organ of this anti-religious movement in Russia is a newspaper published in Moscow called "The Godless One." The avowed purpose is to stamp out all religion and destroy all faith.

Unless Christianity is to confess failure, a greater war than the world has ever seen is inevitable. It will be a war of all Christians against the Godless rulers of Soviet Russia.

DUCKS

A Boston man went hunting in Maine. He shot ninety ducks. The other day he paid $2,700 for them in the United States Court. Thirty dollars a duck. That is the fine imposed by the Federal government for killing elder ducks, for which there is no open season.

Too few hunters are informed of the Federal game laws which protect migratory birds. Before going out with a gun one is required, in most states, to take out a shooting license and to be informed about the state and local game laws. Any state game warden can give full information about the Federal game laws, also. Unless they as well as state laws are enforced there will soon be no game left to hunt.

CARS

There are approximately twenty-seven million families in the United States. There are about twenty-two million automobiles registered in the various states, including trucks, buses and other commercial vehicles. The average of passenger cars is about one car to every one and one-half families.

It will not be long before there will be as many passenger cars as there are families, and a high percentage of all families will own two cars. Little cars weighing only half as much as a Ford and costing a third less will be on the American market this year. More paved roads will tend to multiply cars. We can look forward to the day when nobody will walk except for exercise.

GIVING

Two brothers named Mills started a country weekly newspaper in Squam, N. Y., about thirty years ago. They got into other enterprises, including electric light and power companies. They sold their power interests recently for several million dollars. But they still own and run the Squam Record, still live in the little country town where they were born.

O. R. Mills, one of the brothers, decided he wanted to do some good with his money. He gave a radio set to a crippled woman in the village. She got so much pleasure out of it that he gave some more radio sets to shut-ins. He got so much fun out of that that he told other men of means about it and they began giving away radio sets. Out of that has grown the "We Follow Him" club with members all over the United States. Thousands of radio have been given to hospitals, to charitable institutions and to prisoners. All anyone has to do to become a member is to give a radio set to some "shut-in" invalid or prisoner and send his name to Mr. Mills.

GREATNESS

I attended a social gathering a few nights ago at which those present were asked to decide who were the five greatest men and the five greatest women of all time. Several persons offered lists of names and the prize was given to the one who named these:

Greatest men: Buddha, Julius Caesar, St. Paul, Charles Darwin and Karl Marx. Greatest women: Joan of Arc, Queen Elizabeth, Florence Nightingale, Queen Victoria, Susan B. Anthony.

It is an interesting game, and proves nothing. The greatest men and women who ever lived are probably unknown to history. The man who discovered how to make a fire and the woman who first cooked a rabbit over the fire certainly started something which changed the whole world.

MOUNT VERNON

Greatest of all our national shrines is Mount Vernon, the country seat of George Washington, on the Potomac, a few miles below Washington. It was a neglected, almost ruinous old house when, more than fifty years after Washington's death, a band of ladies selected from the various states, raised funds with which to purchase and repair it.

From time to time a movement for the Federal Government to take over Mount Vernon and be responsible for its maintenance has been begun. For nearly eighty years the burden has been carried by private donations and subscriptions. If there is any one spot in American which should properly be a charge upon the whole nation, it is Mount Vernon.

When I was a commuter I sometimes went to the station early to watch the other commuters running for the trains.

I came to know many of them by sight.

There were ladies and old men, infrequent visitors to the city who arrived long before train-time.

There were business men, who arrived one minute ahead.

And—just as the gate was about to slam—there would come piling across the station the members of the Just a Little Late Club.

I used to sympathize with them at first, supposing them to be unfortunate who had missed a car or lost their watches.

But after two years of watching I knew different.

The membership of the Just a Little Late Club does not change from day to day. Membership is not a misfortune; it is a habit. And one of the most exasperating habits in the world.

I was lunching with a friend the other day when a "captain of industry" passed us. He began work twenty years ago as an office boy, and today heads one of the great manufacturing concerns of his city.

"A wonderful fellow," said my friend. "Last year I had a long series of negotiations with him about the formation of a new company. It was necessary for us to meet practically every day for nearly three months. In all that time he was never late but twice, and then only for a few minutes. And each time he sent word to me from his office telling me that he would be late."

J. P. Morgan figured that every hour of his time was worth $1,000, and he had no patience with men who were late for appointments, or who, when they came to see him, did not give him his money's worth in exchange for the time they took.

"It is not necessary for me to live," said Pompey, "but it is necessary that I be at a certain point at a certain time."

And Lord Nelson said: "I owe all my success in life to having been a quarter of an hour before my time."

I hold up the record of these famous men, in the faint hope that it may do some good.

And yet, the hope is very faint. The habit of unpunctuality is very tenacious.

If I am fortunate enough to be inside when the party gates are closed on the judgement-day, I shall know what to expect.

Five minutes later there will be a terrific battering on the gate. St. Peter may be surprised, but I shall not be.

When the gates swing open again, there they will be—some of the most lovable and exasperating people who ever lived—panting, apologetic, explanatory to the last.

WHILE THEY'RE INVENTING NEW WAYS TO GET THERE QUICKER WHY DON'T SOMEONE INVENT SOMETHIN TO DO WHEN YOU GET THERE?

Visitor: "You are growing into a nice little fellow and will be just like your father."

Little Boy: "Yes, that is what mother is afraid of."

The chairman of the committee was addressing a meeting of a teachers' institute.

"My friends, the schoolwork is the bulwark of civilization, I mean—ah—"

He began to feel frightened.

"The bulwark is the schoolwork of civ—"

A smile could be felt.

"The workhouse is the bulwark of—"

He was evidently twisted.

"The schoolbus is the housework—"

An audible snigger spread over the audience.

"The bus-school—"

He was getting wild. So were his hearers. He mopped the perspiration, gritted his teeth and made a fresh start.

"The schoolhouse, my friends—"

A shuf of relief went up. Halleluiah was himself again!

He gazed serenely around. The light of triumphant self-confidence was euthroned upon his brow.

"Is the workhouse—"

And that is when we lost consciousness.

WILL JERSEY TAKE ANOTHER TIP FROM AUSTRALIA?

New Jersey's secret ballot system came from Australia.

After trial in the lower Pacific continent, the merits of the system were so plain that its application in New Jersey was virtually unopposed.

Today, Australia is offering our State another "tip."

It is the site-value method of taxation.

In principle, that of the so-called "Pittsburgh plan."

As we have pointed out before, this method consists of making site-value of land the principal basis for direct taxes, instead of assessing improvements heavily, as at present.

It consists of encouraging improvements to property, instead of penalizing them, as now.

Site-value taxation has been in effective operation in Australia since 1916, for thirteen years. It has proven an overwhelming success. New Zealand has adopted it. So has British South Africa.

Imagine! South Africa with a more up-to-date tax system than New Jersey!

A bill to permit—not compel—site-value taxation in this State has been introduced by Assemblyman Thompson, of Ocean County, who is enthusiastic regarding it.

The measure is now in the Committee on Revision of Laws, where it has created much favorable attention.

We urge South Jersey's legislators to study this measure, to observe its real merits, to mark the relief which it would give the improvers of property, the land owners, the farmers!

We believe the time has come to make a trial of this system in New Jersey.

If it has worked in Australia for more than a decade, in New Zealand, and nearer home, in Pittsburgh and Scranton, let us give it a trial in Jersey.

The Thompson bill would not force site-value taxation on any community. It would simply permit a community to adopt the system, on a gradual basis.

The measure deserves general support and we hope that South Jersey's legislative delegation will give that support.

We took one tip from Australia. Let us try this second one.

FACTS AND FIGURES FROM THE ANNUAL REPORT OF PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION OF NEW JERSEY

IN 1929, there accrued against Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and its subsidiary operating Companies Federal, State and municipal taxes in the amount of $15,458,564.64.

For the operating Companies taxes for the year amounted to eleven per cent of operating revenue for the year and 26.5 per cent of their net income.

The State of New Jersey and its municipalities are partners in the operations of Public Service Companies in so far as a division of the receipts of those companies are concerned.

The municipalities receive as a franchise tax five per cent of the gross receipts of the utility companies.

In addition the companies pay, in lieu of personal property tax, a tax on their gross receipts levied at the average tax rate for the State.

And they pay the usual taxes on their real estate holdings.

It takes the average daily receipts of the companies, for 40 out of the 365 days of the year to meet the Companies' tax bills.

Since 1903, when Public Service Corporation of New Jersey came into existence, Public Service operating utility companies have paid $134,828,520.94 in taxes.

"Not only through the services they provide, but also through the taxes they pay, do Public Service Companies contribute to New Jersey's welfare."

The memorial flag pole at Broad street and Chinnaminson avenue was repainted yesterday by Stremlack "Tip" Bell. While the flag was flying at half mast Monday in honor of the late Chief Justice William H. Taft, the strong wind caused the halcyon to break. As it was necessary to have a steelhook climb the pole to repair the damage it was decided to have it repainted. A new type of flexible steel cable was used for the halcyon this time which is warranted not to break for several years.

Mrs. Frank Rue, of 201 Morgan avenue, entertained a number of friends at luncheon Wednesday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"SUBSTANCE" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 16, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Philippians 4:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits all thine increase" (Proverbs 3:9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of decay and decay. Truth, Life and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrew: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen' (p. 608).

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, B.D., Pastor

The monthly meeting of the Women's Society was held in the Church on Wednesday last. It was an all day meeting.

Happy Hour Friday at four p. m. Intermediate B. Y. P. U. Friday at seven p. m. Topic, "What Help Can We Get When Tempted?" Leader, William Cooper, Jr.

Friday evening, at 7.15, there will be a Children's Division Conference held in the Sunday School room. This conference is planned to suggest, inspire and develop a new sense of responsibility. Discussions on the following subjects: Beginners' Department, "Making Worship Better" and "How is a Real Departmental Preparation Achieved?" Primary Department, "What Are the Tests of a Worship Period?" and "Making Handwork Count." Junior Department, "How Can Worship Be Improved?" and "The Possibilities of Pre-Sermon Work." The speakers will be three outstanding people from outside the County and a leader from Denver will be among the group. A very profitable meeting is anticipated.

The Primary Department extends a cordial invitation to the congregation and their friends to attend a "Friendly Tea" next Saturday afternoon from three to five. This is another event to meet the Primary pledge to the Church Budget. This affair promises to be equally as delightful as the "Anniversary Tea," which was given in January.

The annual banquet of the Samaritan Class was held in the dining hall Tuesday night. The banquet was prepared and served by the Junior Philathea Class. Fifty-one partook of the meal. Following is the menu: Grape fruit, celery, olives, hearts of lettuce, chicken patties, mashed potatoes, green peas, mince, salted peanuts, biscuits, ice cream, cake and coffee.

Following the banquet there was a moment of silent prayer. Afterward prayer was delivered by the pastor in memory of J. Russell Biles and Howard J. Showers.

The president of the class, James M. Weart, who acted as toastmaster, then called on Charles A. Dietz, who made an address of welcome. This was followed by short addresses by Messrs. Van Osten, Murray, McConnell, Yerkes, Lockett, Low and Wimer. The speaker of the evening, the Rev. Elwood Harrar, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Camden, delivered a most inspiring address. "The Spirit of Conquest," dividing his subject into five headings, "Intelligence," "Confidence," "Enthusiasm," "Tenacity" and "Sacrifice." The address was listened to very attentively by all and was greatly enjoyed by all. Several songs were sung during the banquet, with Miss Evelyn Waller at the piano. A rising vote of thanks was tendered the Junior Philathea Class for the wonderful meal they served. After the banquet a humorous "Radio" sketch was given in the Sunday School room, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Piano selections, by Miss Waller and Dr. Dean LeFavor; a violin solo by Roy Hanzplant, and a vocal solo by Lloyd Major were rendered.

The Samaritan Class, one of the largest in the Sunday School, is a class of young men and is a live-wire organization, taking an active part in the work of the Church. They have a very efficient organization and are doing a wonderful work. The class has full charge of ushering at the Sunday Church services, and every service finds these young men on hand for this important duty. They have been highly commended for the past of the work. Mr. Dietz has been teacher of the class for many years and is justly proud of this wonderful organization.

MADE MISTAKE IN PLEADING GUILTY

Burlington Musician Unable to Have Fine Set Aside in Charlie's Cafe Case

When Charlie's Cafe, at Riverside, was raided on New Year's Eve, one hundred and eight men and women who were in the house at the time were arrested and brought to the jail in Mount Holly, where they were given hearings before Justice Frank M. Lockman, of Columbus.

The records show that when the charges "that they did loiter in a disorderly house" were read to them by the justice, practically all of the victims of the raid elected to plead guilty and were fined $5 and costs. Harold del. Phillips, of Burlington, a musician, who was employed at the cafe for the evening, was among this number, so, when through counsel, he applied to Judge Rigg for a review of the case on Friday, the application was dismissed on the grounds that Phillips had previously pleaded guilty.

A similar appeal taken by John C. Clymer, of Riverside, and heard by Judge Rigg on January 29, was granted upon the ground that the defendant had been illegally arrested and penalized, and the conviction was set aside by the Court.

Clymer, however, had pleaded not guilty in the justice's court, but was convicted.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION DOES SPLENDID WORK

Last February, at his request, he was given food twice. During the early summer, the Community Welfare Association, who had the case in charge was surprised by a visit from the old man, who handed her five dollars and expressed his sincere gratitude for the loan given to him. Such a case does much to establish confidence in the minds of the workers, for so much of the work is done among the entirely uneducated and ungrateful class.

As a contrast to the case above mentioned, is that of a man, who while in the Cooper Hospital, where he was taken as a result of an automobile accident, reported that his wife and ten-year-old child might starve while he was away from home. When the case was investigated it was found the man was buying a home through the building and loan, owned property in Philadelphia from which he received an income, and had two sons working at Dreer's.

The boys were under twenty-one and were making $16 and $18 per week. The father said that he had not mentioned the boys because he thought that all they could do would be to take care of themselves and pay the building and loan. When the Welfare worker made her visit she found they had plenty of fuel and food in the cellar. The case was dismissed as one not worthy of charity.

During the visiting at Christmas time one worker's attention was called to a man and wife in distress; the man was an ex-soldier and badly crippled. A basket of food was sent for the immediate relief of the pair. The man, it seemed, had been in the hospital several times, but each time came home unchanged in health. He was suffering from a nervous affection, probably incurable.

Legion Gives Help

He had been told the American Legion would not help the colored soldier. After investigation the Welfare worker reported the case to the Red Cross and to the American Legion. Both organizations are now helping to maintain this man while steps are being taken to secure his rightful compensation from the government.

Another type of case which comes before the association is that of a man and wife with a large family, who, though putting forth every effort possible, are unable to make ends meet in a small wage. The man working full time brought home $16 per week for the support of a family of twelve. The family here mentioned never asked for help, but news of the condition in which they were in came to the Welfare.

At Christmas time a basket of food was sent them and clothing is given from time to time. The children in such a family would be greatly benefited by drinking milk, but, of course, little milk can be bought with such a small income and such a large family. If the Welfare had more funds at its disposal, many undernourished children could be properly cared for. There are, of course, cases which come to the association which are most discouraging. To deal with the lazy, illiterate class, and with those who drink to excess will always be a difficult problem. In many cases months and even years are spent before any constructive work can be accomplished.

Riverton's Report

The Borough of Riverton presents a different condition from either Palmyra or Cinnaminson. The Community Welfare Association has but few cases of distress reported among its residents. However, two very interesting ones have come to the attention of the association during the past year.

Last December Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, asked one of the directors of the association to investigate the case of a young man on Cinnaminson street. Two visits were made and the following report was turned in: The young man, while listening in on the radio at his boarding place, heard Tom Noonan, "Bishop of Chinatown." Being inspired by the evangelist, he wrote a letter to him telling him of his illness during the past summer and of his inability to find a job, his aged mother in Delaware who was dependent upon him for support, and of his present lack of funds.

When Mr. Noonan received the letter after giving it some thought and attention, he sent it on to Clay Reesman, of Camden, one of the City Commissioners. Mr. Reesman in turn sent the letter to Mr. Wimer, asking him to investigate the case. Mr. Wimer went to work on the investigation immediately and submitted a report to Mr. Reesman.

A Worthy Case

The report described the young man as being well kept in appearance and worthy of any assistance which could be given him. He was sent to the Public Service, where he secured a position as bus driver. Such a case gives a clear picture of the advantages of co-operation among organizations which are trying to benefit the unfortunate. The young man was very grateful to the association for the assistance given him at a time when it was most needed.

The other case was that of two children whose mother had deserted them and left them alone in a house without food or fire. With the co-operation of the visiting nurse the children were moved to the Cinnaminson Home, while plans were being made to place them elsewhere. Within ten days one child was taken to the Children's Aid Society Home, at Trenton, while the other found shelter and care at the Episcopal Home, Ralston, N. J. Reports from the former come regularly and the child is

"WONDERFUL IS HEALTH THAT KONJOLA GAVE"

Man, Who Suffered Dreadfully, Finds First and Only Relief Through New Medicine

MR. JOSEPH WARNER

"Wonderful is the health that Konjola gave to me," said Mr. Joseph Warner, 312 Bronson street, Painted Post, N. Y., near Corning. For many years I was in constant misery and was unable to find any medicine that gave me more than temporary relief. My limbs were so swollen and ached so terribly that I could scarcely get around. The weakened condition of my kidneys got me out of bed at all hours of the night. Indigestion caused gas to form in quantities, and I had severe pains in the region of my heart.

"I had been unable to find a medicine that reached the source of my troubles, and that is why I did not have much faith in Konjola when it was recommended. But after my friends kept insisting, I finally decided to put it to the test. Well, before I hardly knew what was happening, Konjola made me feel better in every way. Gradually I regained perfect use of my limbs. My kidneys were strengthened; my appetite improved, and health returned. No medicine can ever compare with Konjola."

McClintock, Brown's Mills; Guy Hendry, Arthur Walters and Clifford Ergood, of the County YMCA staff.

Last County Swim
The last of the monthly swims conducted by the County YMCA for members of "Y" Groups and Clubs all over Burlington County will be held in the Moorestown pool Tuesday evening, the 18th.

In a recent County-wide letter to leaders, Secretary Clifford Ergood, who has charge of these swims, is asking everyone to meet in the Men's Club Room of the Moorestown House at 7:30 p. m., where a forty-five minute special educational and entertainment period will take place; then the general swim for a forty-five minute period, ending at 9 o'clock, when the last of the aquatic contests will be held. Following this completion the Ringle trophies will be awarded to the Junior and Senior teams having made the best seasonal score.

CHARGES ASSAULT

A charge of assault and battery by automobile and reckless driving was preferred against Thomas Griffin, of 604 Morgan avenue, Palmyra, by George Wycinski, of Delanco, Tuesday night. The charges grew out of an accident when a bus driven by Griffin struck Wycinski. He was released until $500 bail for further hearing when the injured man is able to appear against him.

We are beginning to hear the cry from London that it is up to Uncle Sam again to "save the world" and somehow or other that slogan has a familiar sound.

CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP MAY GO TO WELLS

Baird Reported as Favoring Donges to Succeed Justice Black

The elevation of Circuit Judge Ralph W. E. Donges, of Camden, to the Supreme Court Bench, to succeed Justice Charles C. Black, of Jersey City, whose resignation becomes effective on May 20 next, is being discussed in political and legal circles.

North Jersey lawyers are claiming that the appointment should go to that section of the State because Justice Black hails from Hudson, and Circuit Judge Nelson Y. Dungan, of Essex, and Edwin C. Cuffey, of Bergen, both are being urged for the place soon to be vacated by Justice Black.

All of the eligibles mentioned are Democrats, it being assumed that the Governor, following precedent, will name a lawyer of the same political faith to the vacancy in preserving the partisan balance on the State Bench.

United States Senator David Baird, of Camden, than whom no man has a stronger influence with the present State administration, has announced that he is committed to Judge Donges for the appointment and it is conceded even by those opposed to him, on geographical lines only, that this gives the Camden jurist strong backing for the post.

Judge Donges is popular with the Bar and has made an excellent record on the Circuit Bench. Prior to his being named for his present post he served with high credit as a member of the State Board of Public Utilities. He is now presiding over the Camden Circuit.

An interesting story and one that is only referred to in subdued tones, has an interesting Burlington County angle. This is nothing less than that in the event of Judge Donges' appointment to the Supreme Bench the vacancy thus created may be filled by taking Judge Harold B. Wells, of the Court of Errors, from the post to which he has just been named, and placing him on the Circuit Bench.

While it is the custom to maintain an even balance or as nearly as possible an even division politically on the Supreme Bench, the Circuit Judges are usually named by the Governors from among the lawyers of their own political party. It is known that Judge Wells in accepting the place on the court of last resort was not unmindful of the fact that he might be transferred to the higher salaried Circuit Court or Supreme Bench before the present State administration had passed out of office.

To be sure, this is merely gossip and it may not get beyond that stage, but it is known that both the Governor and Senator Baird would like to see Judge Wells on the Supreme or Circuit Bench when opportunity presents. This may be the chance to place him there.

The salary of an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Justice is $18,000; that of a Circuit Judge, is $16,000.

Hints for Motorists

A speed that is safe for a car with four-wheel brakes in adjustment is suicidal for a car with two-wheel brakes out of adjustment. These are the extremes. The thing to do is to regulate your speed by the condition of your car—and keep the car in as good condition as possible.

If you lose the cap of your gas tank, don't plug up the hole with rag or cork. This may prevent air from entering the tank, which is bad, and lint or particles of cork are almost certain to fall into the tank and clog the fuel line, which is worse. Get a new cap.

A motorist needs a pump so seldom these days that he often neglects to make sure that the one which came with the car is in working condition. Or he uses it in the home garage and leaves it standing in a corner when he goes out. But when a pump is needed, it's a necessity. Before starting on a trip, be sure that yours is under the seat and ready to do its stuff if required.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1929-30 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1929, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 21

An article in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle recently bore this heading: "Woman Holds 13 Hearts at Bridge, Bids Cleverly, Scores 974 Points." The following day the newspaper received a letter, which was published under this heading: "Says Holder of 13 Hearts Did Not Bid Hand Cleverly." The writer of it is suspected of being a New Yorker.

The article and the letter follow: "If you're a Bridge player, the chances are more than 100 to 1 that it never happened to you. But it did happen to Miss R. Estelle Plotkin of 1504 E. 26th Street, Fourth Hand on rubber game, she was dealt all 13 Hearts in the deck. And she bid four Clubs! Yet on the hand she won a total of 974 points. Here's how: One of her opponents dealt and passed, her partner passed, her other opponent bid two Spades and then came Miss Plotkin's bid of four Clubs although she didn't have a Club in her hand.

"The man who dealt doubled. Miss Plotkin's partner and her other opponent passed. Then Miss Plotkin bid four Hearts, the man who dealt doubled, and when the two other players passed, Miss Plotkin redoubled.

"The others thought her Heart bid was forced to get her out of the Club double. The result was that Miss Plotkin got three tricks over contract with the bonus of 100 for contract, 300 for the three overtricks, and inasmuch as it was rubber game she also got 250 for rubber. This, with the 100 for all honors in one hand and the 224 for game (56 multiplied by 4 because of the redouble) gave her a total of 974 points on the hand.

Here is the letter: "Editor Brooklyn Daily Eagle: 'It is evident that the writer of the caption 'Woman Holds 13 Hearts at Bridge, Bids Cleverly, Scores 974 Points,' knows very little or nothing about Bridge when he states that the holder of this hand 'bids cleverly.'

"It is even more evident that one of Miss Plotkin's opponents, who doubled her bid of 'Four Clubs' knows, if possible, less than the writer of this article, and is evidently the senior member of the firm of A. Sapp & Co."

Answer to Problem No. 19

Hearts—Q, 4, 5
Clubs—none
Diamonds—A, K, 7, 6
Spades—Q, 4

Hearts—K
Clubs—Q, 7, 6, 5
Diamonds—4, 3
Spades—10, 9

Hearts—10, 9, 8, 7
Clubs—K, 8, 3, 2
Diamonds—A
Spades—none

Diamonds are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win eight of the nine tricks against any possible defense?

Solution: Z should lead the deuce of clubs which Y should trump with the six of diamonds. Y should then lead the four of spades and Z should trump with the nine of diamonds. Z should then lead the trey of clubs and Y should trump with the seven of diamonds. Y should then lead the ace and king of diamonds. A and B follow suit and Z should discard the seven and eight of hearts. Y should then lead the queen of spades. B must discard the trey of hearts, Z should discard the nine of hearts and A follows suit. Y should now lead the five of heart.

Company made famous by Wynne Ferguson in his 'Little Red Book.'

"Miss Plotkin does not bid cleverly, the contrary being the fact. She was simply beneficiary of fortuitous circumstances, in that she profited by a lack of knowledge of proper bidding on the part of her opponents."

"Four Clubs' undoubled, if made, is never game at a love score, but 'Four Clubs' doubled is. Why then, in the first instance, double four of a Minor suit, thereby making game possible?"

"When Miss Plotkin's opponent doubles 'Four Clubs' he expects to defeat the contract, this being a business double. If he has a double for Clubs and thinks he can defeat the contract, why double and give her the opportunity to shift from a suit that he wants to play to a suit that he does not want to play and a contract that he cannot defeat?"

"Miss Irwin's advice on the subject of doubling, while perhaps ultra-conservative, is, I believe, nevertheless, sound. 'Never double a suit bid unless you can double every suit'; the double meaning a business double."

"The same argument holds true of that Miss Plotkin's redouble, which was also bad bidding as it gives the original Spade bidder the chance to go to 'Four Spades,' which it appears she should have done under the circumstances, thereby forcing Miss Plotkin to bid 'Five Hearts,' which she should have been left to play, undoubled, reducing the score to 500."

"However, there can be no question that Miss Plotkin should have been left with the contract 'Four Clubs,' the double being atrocious bidding and a shining example of 'Auction Crimes.' 'Not even the scoring of this hand is correct, the correct score being 1074. Why give such bad bidding so much publicity? I believe in justice to the many Bridge fans who read your valuable paper, which is usually more reliable. The Eagle should, at least, offer some explanation, if not humble apology, for the erroneous and misleading information conveyed when it stated that this hand was bid cleverly.'"

PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Eight parables are found in this chapter. One, that of the Sower, was studied last week. Matthew follows his custom of grouping similar teachings, though possibly spoken at different times. The one theme that is being developed is that of the Kingdom of God. A fine description is given in that petition of the Lord's Prayer, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven." The Kingdom extends through two worlds, this and the one of spirit life that is to come. The Kingdom began with Jesus' ministry but there will never be an end of His reign. The Kingdom is much broader than the Church.

Many find fault with the Church because all in it are not living according to their profession. This fact was recognized from the very beginning, and the parable of the wheat and the tares indicates that both will live together here, but the time will come when the good and the bad will be separated. The angels are spoken of as those who will do this work. Surely it is not the function of man to either admit or exclude from Heaven, though many would like to have such a privilege.

Wonderful things were stated concerning the extent of this Kingdom and it must have been hard for those disciples to accept what the Master declared. They knew their own capacities. They did not have the social standing of the Pharisees and Sadducees. They were farmers, fishermen and one was even a former tax gatherer. Their attention was called to that very small mustard seed, from which the twelve-foot-tall stalks would develop. In like manner, the beginning of this spiritual Kingdom might appear insignificant, yet in time it would provide refuge for the nations of the earth. Today about one-third of the population of the world acknowledges the name of Jesus Christ. The process of growth is indicated in the parable about the leaven. Sour dough would be placed in three measures of meal, something over a bushel in quantity. The fermentation would take place as a single germ touched the next particle and it in turn would become a propagating center. This was kept up "till it was all leavened." This in reality is a vivid description of the WIN ONE campaign that Jesus inaugurated and the plan has never been changed. The early disciples went forth to proclaim the message and all believers, in turn, have been commissioned to preach the Gospel in the whole world. The effectiveness is through the activity of the Holy Spirit.

Hebrew method of instruction is often by way of repetition, and this parallelism is the basis of Hebrew poetry. Study the two parables that liken the Kingdom to a pearl of great price and to a treasure which was hid in a field for safe keeping. In both places all lesser values were given up that one might possess that which is most valuable. Some good things and all that are bad are to be given over that we may make sure of our place in this everlasting Kingdom to which Jesus invites all. It is not material but spiritual as in indicated in the Golden Text: "The Kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit." Romans 14:17. The parable of the drag net conveys the same teaching as the wheat and the tares.

FARM GRADES APPROVED

Benefits to the producers and consumers of fruits and vegetables in New Jersey were recognized at a conference recently at the State House, Trenton, through the setting up of definite grades for New Jersey perishable commodities. Grades on 25 New Jersey farm products, as drawn up by the State Department of Agriculture, were discussed and approved at the meeting.

URGES JERSEY FARMERS TO PREPARE FOR CENSUS

Sample schedules of the fifteenth United States census now being distributed to New Jersey farmers for advance study and filling out contain 232 questions concerning farming enterprises. In New Jersey, as in other States, questions are asked not only on all phases of the farm business, but also on the facilities of the farm home. The results of the census, when tabulated, are expected to provide the most comprehensive picture ever taken of the country's agriculture. Samples of the census forms containing all questions and explanations are being distributed by County agricultural agents.

YACHT CLUB MAY BE TRAINING BASE FOR PENN CREW

Riverton Commodore Expects
Arrangements to be Consum-

DELAWARE RIVER MORE DESIRABLE

Smooth Waters of Schuylkill Disadvantage in Competition in Rough Water

The University of Pennsylvania crew will train at the Riverton Yacht Club this spring, according to an announcement made today by Commodore Robert W. Knight.

While arrangements have not been completely consummated the commodore is confident they will be and that 200 college boys will be doing their stuff in the training barges on the Delaware when the season opens April 10.

The headquarters for the crew has been on the Schuylkill in years past, but there are several good reasons why a change would be beneficial. Conditions along the Schuylkill are not of the best for purposes for one thing and for another the smooth water at the former training base is not encountered when competing in the regattas along the Poughkeepsie.

In the Poughkeepsie regatta last year the Penn boys did not do as well as the advance dope predicted. The water was rough and as their training had been in smooth water they were at a distinct disadvantage.

The Delaware offers an expanse of water which will be more than ample for any distance which may be needed. The establishment of a training base along the Delaware is expected to bring some of the big races to Riverton.

If the offer of the Yacht Club is accepted the crews will be guests of the club and all of the facilities enjoyed by members will be accorded the collegians.

The complete details of the arrangements made will be available in a few days and the Riverton commodore is sure his club will be the one chosen.

WILL CONTINUE LAW PRACTICE

Judge Harold B. Wells Denies That He Will Give Up Private Office

Judge Harold B. Wells has announced that contrary to rumored reports, he will not give up his law practice.

"The notices which were sent out last week were merely for dissolution of the firm of Wells and Tomlinson," he declared. "That does not mean I am going out of the law business because I became a judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals. It signifies solely that the firm is dissolved and that my former partner, Jay B. Tomlinson, will have separate offices."

"I have every intention of continuing my practice in Bordentown, although I do not expect to practice in Trenton. There is nothing in the state laws to prohibit me from continuing with my private law cases while I am judge. The law does not stop me from taking criminal cases or pleading in my own court. I am not alone in this decision to continue active practice. Judge Henry Kays and Judge Henry Ackers, both of North Jersey, have made similar decisions."

The new jurist, who was formerly a Burlington county judge, declared he did not intend to give up his office as solicitor for the Burlington County Board of Freeholders.

"I could not live on the salary I am to get as judge," Wells pointed out. "I need the private practice. I want to clear up the mistaken impression that I am through as a lawyer and to stop any reports of that nature circulating in Burlington county."

Judge Wells resigned as Republican state committee man from Burlington county when his appointment as judge was ratified.

TWO MEN OUT FOR FREEHOLDER JOBS

Delanco and Riverside Residents to Run in Coming Primary Election

Although only two men have announced their candidacy, the names of five others are mentioned as probable candidates for the two Republican nominations to the Board of Freeholders in the Spring primaries.

Howard Russ, of Delanco, "daddy" of the Board, has thrown his hat in the ring, as has Charles Edinger, of Riverside, a member of that town's governing body. Both announcements followed the public announcement of the three-year pact signed by Senator Clifford R. Powell and Charles R. Stout.

It is reported authoritatively that Russ, and William H. Reeves, former County Clerk, will be coalition candidates for the two vacancies. J. Lloyd Wright, the other Freeholder whose term expires this year, has definitely declared that he will not be a candidate, and is, it is rumored, looking with long eyes toward the superintendent's job at the Leesburg prison farm, recently left vacant by Major Stone, who advanced to the keeper's position at the State prison.

Reeves has made no announcement of his candidacy. He is one of the leaders in Senator Powell's faction and if he comes out for office, it is seen throughout the County as certain that he and Russ will receive the full support of the two factions.

The other five men who have been mentioned as probable candidates for the vacancies are not certain they will enter the field since the harmony move was affected, none as yet having made a definite announcement of his intentions.

IMPROVEMENTS AT COUNTY 'BASTILE'

Recommendations Made by State Department Have Been Carried Out

Burlington County's historic jail came in for its periodical criticism again last Friday when the State Department of Institutions and Agencies addressed a communication to the Board of Freeholders giving the result of an investigation recently made by one of the agents from that department.

The communication complimented the Sheriff and his deputies on the excellent effort that had been made to make the best of conditions as they existed, and pointed out several things that should be done, among them being the removal of drain pipes on the outside of the building which offered a means of escape for prisoners, the installation of a more modern kitchen, etc., and the establishment of a work house at New Lisbon for County prisoners in conjunction with a suggestion made by Sheriff A. Engle Haines during his term of office.

Howard Russ, director of the Board, said that since the communication had been received many of the suggestions contained therein had been carried out.

Approval of Bill 165

Freeholder Stout called the attention of the Board to a hearing on Senate Bill 165 to be held in Trenton the following Monday and recommended that the County Solicitor represent the Board and speak in favor of its passage. This bill, if passed, will give the Freeholders some voice in determining the amount of salaries and other expenditures for which they must raise the money.

Mr. Tillaght, field secretary of the Tri-State Federation of Regional Planning, invited the members of the Board to visit the Federation's headquarters in Philadelphia, and go over the tentative plan for the third regional district, which includes Burlington County. The plan being formulated by the Federation, he said, would in no way interfere with local initiative. The Board arranged to accept the invitation on March 28th.

Judge Charles A. Rigg notified the Board that he had approved for payment bills of $100 each for Ann M. Lichstein and Daniel M. Lichstein, attorneys appointed to defend Wilbert Fraser, charged with the murder of David Nelson at the plant of the Riverton Ice and Cold Storage Company, East Riverton. The defendant had pleaded guilty and was sentenced without trial. The bills were ordered paid.

A communication was received from the State Highway Commission approving of the list of material for road work and recently submitted by the County Highway Department.

Director of Highway Department and the County Engineer recommended that the contract for 2,000 tons of pea gravel be given to the National Supply Company, of Mount Holly, on their bid of 85 cents a ton.

Location Deciding Factor

At a previous meeting of the Board three bidders submitted the same price for this material for 2,000 tons. Freeholders referred the bids to the State Highway Commission for a decision as to who should receive the contract, and the Commission decided it should go to the local bidder.

The State Department of Conservation and Development addressed a communication to the Freeholders asking if there was in the County any land so barren or so located that it was unsuitable for agriculture which might be used by the department for growing seedlings for reforestation.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $4,154.43; Bridges, $1,022.74; Finance, $670.30; Public Buildings, $13,516.14; and Public Affairs, $1,913.16, making a total of $31,266.77.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK BEGINS SATURDAY

Program of Varied Activities to Interest All Friends of the Organization

"Girl Scout Week" for the community opens Sunday when the Troop Committee of Riverton Troop, No. 1, entertains the girls and their mothers at tea informally in the parlor of Calvary Presbyterian Church. Here, briefly, is the complete program of the week's activities:

Saturday, 9 p. m. to 4 p. m.—Tea for Girl Scouts, mothers and community members.

Sunday, 8 p. m. to 9 p. m.—"Scouts' Own" evening service; everybody invited.

Monday, 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.—Old Scouts' Reunion, and regular Troop meeting.

Tuesday, 8 p. m. to 9 p. m.—Tenderfoot Enrollment and Court of Awards; public.

Friday, 15 p. m. to 10 p. m.—Clays and sale of candy, benefit of Camp Fund.

All the gatherings will be held in the Presbyterian Church, the home meeting place of the Troop. The Rev. Charles T. Bates and his congregation have been most generous in giving not only the use of the church buildings, but also their own time and interest in support of Scouting for the girls of the town.

All girls who ever were Scouts are urged to come to Monday night's meeting and play at being Scouts again. New girls are welcome, too (girls twelve years old or over), during Girl Scout Week on any Monday evening. Miss Hazel Riecke, local director of Girl Scouts in Camden County, will be a guest at Monday's reunion, and it is hoped to have a number of former leaders in the work present also that evening and at other times during the week.

It is hoped that all the citizens of Riverton and Palmyra who want their girls to have the best that can be given them in their growing-up days, will show their interest in the good cause of Girl Scouting by coming out to the public Enrollment and Court of Awards Tuesday night. And, of course, it is hoped everybody will buy tickets and come Friday night to see the two amusing plays, "Magic Gold Pieces" and "By a Aunt's." All members of the Troop and committee have tickets for sale at 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for children, and if you will telephone to Mrs. Mickle, Riverton 24-J, or Mrs. Ross, Riverton 6-J, they will see that you receive the number of tickets you desire.

Throughout the week the girls of the Troop will wear their uniforms and will gladly answer questions about the Girl Scouts and their work. A window display at the Gray Swallow Tea Room, in Palmyra, by the courtesy of the proprietor, will show a few of the things Girl Scouts do, and a moving picture, a talk called "The Girl Scout Trail," will demonstrate further our ideals and the fun we have growing toward them. It was not possible to book the picture as part of "The Week," but Mr. Romm has kindly arranged to show it for us Wednesday and Thursday of the following week, April 2 and 3.

In 1895 Mr. Lippincott entered the woolen wholesale business as a member of the firm, Lippincott-Johnson Company, of Philadelphia.

Funeral services will be held at his late residence Friday, March 21, at 2:30 p. m. Interment private in Westfield Friends' burying ground.

Former Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Boats Get New Names as They Go to Chester

To be Named for New Terminals After Overhauling at Sun Shipbuilding Yards; Old Jacksonville, Now the "Mount Holly," Now at New York

An enterprise which came into being only after many many years of planning has now passed into the limbo of forgotten things after eight short years of a busy and eventful life.

The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry is no more part and parcel of the thriving Borough of Palmyra. While the corporation organized to establish the ferry between that point and Tacony is still very much in existence, its boats are no longer in evidence at the end of the embankment built out from the end of Cinnaminson avenue.

The boats were taken away quite some weeks ago. Both the Tacony and the Palmyra are at the Sun Ship Yard in Chester, Pa. The old Jacksonville, rechristened the Mount Holly when put into service between Palmyra and Tacony, is now in active service in East River, New York City. It was the last boat added to the line and was disposed of in 1927 after the business of the company fell off following the opening of the Camden Bridge. The Jacksonville, coming from the vacation land of Florida, was one of the old pleasure type ferries, with ample accommodations for large crowds of excursionists on her spacious upper deck.

To Get New Names

Both the Tacony and Palmyra have been sold to the Delaware River Ferry Company and will ply between Chester and Bridgeport. Both boats will be sporting new names when they come from the docks of the Sun Yard, where they are being overhauled. The Palmyra will be given a Jersey name when she is rechristened the Bridgeport. The Tacony will be given its third moniker when it will have the name "Chester" painted over its present title.

Both these boats were built in the William and Hollingsworth Yards at Wilmington, Delaware. The Palmyra, a "side-wheeler," was launched in 1884 and given the name of "Colorado." She was later sold to the Reading Ferry Company and became the "Atlantic City," plying between Chestnut street, Philadelphia, and Kedge's Point, Camden. She was in service there for many years, until sold to the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company in 1921.

The Tacony, a single screw type vessel, was built by the same famous shipbuilders in 1895 and started life as the old Gloucester Ferry as the "Fearless." She was built as a special automobile carrier with the entire deck arranged to accommodate cars. The upper deck was used for passengers.

Remodeled for Autos

The Palmyra, although a side-wheeler, was remodeled to carry a much larger number of cars than originally planned for. Her passenger cabins were torn out in 1925 and additional space devoted to the use of automobiles. The automobile traffic was by far the most important on this line and, accordingly, more attention was devoted to their accommodation.

New slips are now under construction at Chester and the bridges and hoisting apparatus will also be transferred. It is expected to have the new ferry in operation by Memorial Day.

Part of the crews which manned the two boats while at Palmyra will go with them to their new duties. Captains G. N. Bond and David Van Hoes will remain in charge. Frank Meyers will go along as fireman and Horace Pratt will be employed to general work for the new company.

Long a Dream

A ferry between Palmyra and Philadelphia was for many years the pet dream of Charles A. Wright, prominent Riverton financier. He foresaw the great need of a Delaware river ferry for the new company.

Chief of Police

WILLIAM QUIGLEY
who for 27 years has served as a Borough Marshal, was appointed Chief of Police of the Borough of Riverton at a council meeting last Thursday evening.

MARSHAL QUIGLEY CHIEF OF POLICE

Unanimously Appointed by Riverton Council After Ordinance is Passed

William Quigley, after serving 28 years as Marshal in Riverton, was appointed Chief of Police by the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night, immediately following the passage of an ordinance creating that office.

Heretofore the chairman of the Police Committee was by virtue of his office Chief of Police. Under the police regulations conforming to the new ordinance, the Chief of Police is appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by Council, and the chairman of the Police Committee becomes Director of Public Safety.

In his message to Council at the organization meeting on January 1, Mayor Howard M. Boney recommended a revision of the ordinance creating the Police Department, and the appointment of a Chief of Police other than the chairman of the Police Committee.

Immediately following the Mayor's recommendation a report became current that Marshal Quigley, the oldest member on the force, was not slated for the new position, and friends of the veteran officer signed petitions to the number of 987, asking Council to appoint him Chief of Police.

At the meeting last Thursday night confirmation of the Mayor's appointment of Chief Quigley as Chief of Police was moved by Councilman Bartley, seconded by Councilman Elwell, and unanimously passed.

The Mayor appointed Edison Carhart, James Goodwin and Walter Medford as special officers. They later took the oath of office and will be subject to call by the Director of Public Safety at any time. Following the adoption of the new ordinance a set of regulations concerning the Police Department was submitted by the Police Committee and unanimously passed.

Councilman Clelland, head of the Highway Department, said that some patching had been done on the streets and cutters kept clean during the winter, and that as soon as the weather was suitable further work on the streets would be started.

Councilman DeLaney reported that the result of his conference with Palmyra authorities concerning the non-payment of sewer rental by residents on the Palmyra side of Elm avenue who used the Riverton sewer on that street, had not resulted in the payment of the delinquent rentals, and that he would take the matter up again with the Borough attorney.

Councilman Randall reported on the request for a street light on Cinnaminson street between Fourth and Fifth, that the committee did not feel it could grant the request at this time.

Director of Public Safety DeLaney submitted a written report of the activities of the Police Department as follows:

"The following report covers the activities of the Police Department from February 13th, 1930, to March 12th, 1930:

"Complaints have been received of 'unlicensed dogs running at large in the Borough. The Department is endeavoring to locate the owners of such dogs. There is an ordinance in the Borough of Riverton regulating dog licenses. All those found violating said ordinance will be dealt with according to law."

"An officer is on duty during the evening banking hours of the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company, inasmuch as the bank did not request this protection, the Police Department is taking every precaution to prevent (Continued on Page 3.)

EXCITING EVENTS DURING SERVICE

Captured Burglars, Saved Girl from Death on Tracks
by Quick Action

Twenty-seven years ago a well-built young man of twenty-two years was appointed to fill a vacancy in the Riverton police force. This man, now nearly fifty, has served the Borough of Riverton faithfully and continuously for more than a quarter of a century. He never has held another position during these years.

It seems only just and fitting that after giving the best years of his life to the protection of life and property of others that William Quigley should have been appointed the Chief of Police of the Borough of Riverton, the new office provided for in an ordinance recently passed by Council.

"Bill," as he is better known, started as a town marshal when caring for the street lights was a part of the job. When he joined the force the officers had to push a wheelbarrow around town and fill the oil lamps in the daytime, then at night go around and light them. After that was done they went home, donned their uniforms and came out to patrol the town.

A Blameless Record

Fred C. Brown was Mayor of Riverton when Bill was appointed to the force. Previous to his appointment he was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In all the years he has worked for the Borough he has never been called before Council for negligence of duty or inefficiency. In fact, he has not been reprimanded for any act committed in executing his duties as an officer of the Borough.

Bill's 27 years of service have not been uneventful days. Quite a little has often risked his life to save another. The rescues that Bill performed included drowning persons and people endangered by trains.

Saves Child From Train

Several years ago as the noon fier was sweeping down the tracks a little girl caught her foot in the truck at the Main street crossing. Bill was on the job watching the school children. Seeing the child's plight, he unlaced her shoe and pulled her out of the way just in time to save her from a horrible death.

The school children have learned to depend upon "Mr. Quigley" to get them across the Broad and Main streets intersection safely. In all the years Bill has been watching the children as they go to and from school he has never been an accident at that corner. This in itself is a big factor towards the comfort of parents who send their little ones to school.

Captured Robbers

About 1921 two men robbed Joseph M. Roberts' store. One took a little gun, on foot, to Hyllon's sand hole. There he shot one in the arm and brought him back to the jail. The next day the prisoner's buddy came to visit him and he was also locked up.

The following year Harry Gilbert robbed the home of F. S. Groves, Jr., of several hundred dollars' worth of clothing. About two weeks after the robbery Bill captured Gilbert walking the streets of Riverton at three o'clock in the morning. Gilbert was sentenced to two years in the State Prison, while the two who robbed Roberts' store were sent up for four years each.

Alfred Brown, colored youth, was captured by Bill as he was trying to steal some automobile tires from Joseph T. Evans' garage on Main street, in the early morning hours.

Found Homes for Waifs

There are five children alive today who owe their lives to Bill. He has found five deserted infants during the past 27 years and has seen to it that every one was adopted into a good home.

Bill's big-heartedness and kindness has won him many friends. For many years he has been overseer of the poor in Riverton and his sympathetic handling of the duties of the office has done much to relieve the distress of Riverton's unfortunate.

During the World War a provision train was wrecked at Union Landing. Again Bill was on the job and rescued much of the stock. This was one of the worst railroad accidents in years.

Besides his activity on the police force the new Chief was an active member of the Riverton Fire Company for many years. He has a record of never missing a fire in all his years of service as a fireman. Bill was retired from active duty and put on the honorary list several years ago.

Sports found their way into Bill's life when he was young. He used to play center on the Riverton football team and was catcher on a Riverton baseball team. He also indulged in bicycle riding on the old track track, which was at that time back of the present location of the freight station. Bill is a member of the Foresters and of the Patrolmen's Beneficial Association.

PALMYRA COUNCIL IN FULL ACCORD ON IMPROVEMENTS

Unanimous in Passage of Ordinance Providing for Curbs, Sidewalks, Gutters

LET CONTRACT FOR BRIDGE BOULEVARD

Contractor Promises to Employ Local Labor for Work as Far as Possible

The largest gathering in many months was on hand at the meeting of the Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday night to discuss the proposed improvement of various streets with sidewalks, curbs and gutters. The chief opposition to ordinance providing for the improvement came from persons living on Lincoln, Washington, Highland and Morgan avenues, along which streets it is proposed to lay a four-foot concrete gutter to take through the drainage which has for so long been a problem for the street department.

The ordinance was warmly supported by several residents of West Palmyra, who are eager to have sidewalks and gutters laid so they will not have to walk through and along the side of the streets.

No Experimenting
According to the plan to be followed out the four-foot gutters along the streets mentioned will be of such construction as to form a permanent part of the street and at any time a hard surface is decided upon it will have to be laid only between the gutters. There will be no reason for tearing up the work which is to be put down under the terms of the ordinance.

No Change in Grade
Some of the citizens asked for an explanation of a section of the ordinance which called for grading to be done at the expense of the abutting property owners. They were assured those who had previously had sidewalks and curbs laid in accordance with the plans of the Borough Engineers would not be put to any expense for grading and that the section referred to applied to places where curbs and walks had never been laid. This item will not add any considerable cost to any property.

The ordinance was brought up for passage following the discussion and was passed by unanimous vote of Council. It provides for curbs, gutters and sidewalks where same do not exist in all the territory north of the railroad and lying between Delaware avenue and Market street, in addition to the territory in the section south of the railroad between Morgan and Lincoln avenues. The detailed description of the work to be done may be had from the ordinance and advertisement for bids which appear elsewhere in this issue.

Award Contract
The contract for the construction of Bridge Boulevard was awarded to Eugene F. Verga, of Camden, who was the low bidder. This road, which will run from Temple Boulevard and Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, to the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Plaza will be of twenty-foot concrete and will be started at once. The Council insisted that Mr. Verga agree to employ local labor as far as possible on the work, which he agreed to do.

The employment of local labor will also be insisted upon for the work of building the curbs and sidewalks when the contract is awarded. Six bids were presented for the construction of the boulevard, as follows: Eugene F. Verga, Camden, $27,852.08; Union Paving Company, Philadelphia, $28,216.92; William Eisenberg and Sons, Camden, $29,794.34; Palmyra Concrete Company, Palmyra, $30,890.36; John P. Lafferty, Haddon Heights, $30,929.60; Fish-Rutherford, Inc., Camden, $31,260.16. The bids were officially received last Wednesday night and the two low ones submitted to the State Highway Department for approval.

No Cost to Borough
The work will be done under the direction of the Palmyra Council and paid for by the Borough. Immediately upon completion of the work the Highway Department will reimburse the Borough for three-fourths of the cost. The balance will be paid by the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company. The only cost to the Borough will be for engineering fees in connection with the laying out and supervision of the road.

In discussing the proposed dog registration the clerk reported that he had ordered tags and they would be ready in a few days. Arrangements are being made to have every dog registered before May 1. Details of this matter will be published later.

BOY SCOUTS ENJOY INTERESTING MEETING

Busy Season of Varied Events Is Planned for Spring and Summer Season

Last Thursday evening the Palmyra Boy Scouts, Troop No. 2, held their Scout meeting and very interesting features marked the course of the evening.

A Troop hike is planned for Saturday, March 29th, and this promises to be an outstanding opening event of the spring, summer and autumn activities.

Assistant Scoutmaster Brady conducted a nature contest. Mr. Schriver provided delightful entertainment in the form of moving pictures, the "Rocky Mountain Moose in Canada," "Hoot Gibson in the Calgary Stampede," and a comedy entitled the "Sally Gub."

A number of visitors were present during the latter part of the evening and evinced a decided interest in the program. And general activities of the Scouts.

Taking of 1930 Census to Begin on April 2d

The 1930 census will start on Wednesday, April 2, and will be completed in two weeks, according to the statement of Albert Heimroth, supervisor for this district, which includes Ocean, Monmouth and Burlington Counties.

In pushing the work through in two weeks' time, Heimroth says that there will be an enumerator for every 1,500 people, as near as can be arranged in advance, and each enumerator's territory will be carefully mapped out. There will be 43 enumerators in Ocean County, 79 in Burlington, and 120 in Monmouth.

"POINTED HEELS" IS WHITMAN FEATURE

Helen Kane Sings Songs in Her Typical Baby-Voiced Style; Other Support Great

The Victoria Amusement Company is continuing to set the pace for the better class of entertainment in and around Camden County, with the announcement of a bigger and better show for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the beautiful Walt Whitman Theatre, located on Westfield avenue where Forty-sixth street crosses.

Heading the vaudeville section will be "Kidding Cinderella," featuring Ida May Sparrow, along with a cast of Broadway celebrities, in a "Satire of Mischief and Broadway." This act played the famous Palace Theatre, New York City, just a few weeks ago.

Other acts on the splendid bill are Robert De Peron Trio, presenting a new sensation, "The Human Merry-Go-Round"; Billy Naah, known as "The Midnite Son"; and Bobby Carbone and Company, in a comedy skit entitled "Kiss Me Again."

"William Powell fans, Helen Kane fans, Fay Wray fans, and "Skeets" Gallagher fans will have the time of their lives this week, for they will have a chance to see and hear the idols on the audible screen on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when the Paramount All-Talking, Singing and Dancing Photoplay, "Pointed Heels," is shown.

Powell is the suave villain; Helen Kane is the vocal performer, who "boop-a-doop-a-doops" her way into a big revue; Fay Wray is the beautiful girl from the chorus who falls in love with Phillips Holmes, a young composer; and "Skeets" Gallagher is the fat-haired husband of the luscious and lovely Katherine. The play is from the story which was published serially in recent numbers of Collier Humor magazine.

A story of strangely complicated loves in an English household, culminating in the mysterious murder of its occupants, is told in the Warner Brothers Vitaphone production, "The Sacred Flame," which comes as the feature photoplay Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with Pauline Frederick in the starring role, supported by Conrad Nagel.

In the story Miss Frederick is the mother of Conrad Nagel, who, on the day of his marriage, is so severely injured that he is doomed to spend the rest of his life in a wheel chair. Life is not wholly unhappy for him, however, on account of the devotion of his young wife, played by Lila Lee.

Three years after the accident the invalid's brother comes to England on a visit from his home in South America, and the shadow of "the eternal triangle" falls over the household. And three months later, on the day of the brother's return to South America, the invalid is mysteriously murdered. The solution of this tragic mystery brings to "The Sacred Flame" a denouement that is positively breath-taking in its unexpectedness and reveals Pauline Frederick, in her role of young wife, played by Lila Lee.

A program had been arranged to be given between the courses, with Mrs. Herbert Martin, president of the class, acting as toastmistress. Mrs. Parker T. Barnes was called on for the class history and in a humorous way she touched on the high lights of the two years' existence of the class. Mrs. Martin J. Walsh, in a wide flight of imagination, outlined the future of the class in her class prophecy.

Mrs. Herbert Magowan composed the class poem, dealing with the foibles and fancies of the class members in a comedy vein. At the close of the banquet the hostess presented each member with a comedy gift she considered especially adapted to their needs.

SUPER-SERVICE STATION PLANNED

Fortnum's Palmyra Ford Agency to Add to Its Present Facilities

Work on Fortnum's new and thoroughly modern Super-Service Station, adjoining the Palmyra Ford Agency, will start just as soon as the demolition of the old Palmyra Hotel property is complete.

An up-to-date drive-in gasoline station will be erected on the front of the property, while the service buildings will be built along the rear line for high pressure washing and greasing. The buildings will be of modern construction of material to harmonize with the existing garage building, with which it will be connected.

The old hotel has long been a landmark in Palmyra and was an important gathering place in the days when the town was nothing more than a roadside hamlet. In the old days public gatherings of all kinds were held in the building, on the porch, and on the lawn.

Was Meeting Place
When the entire territory now embraced in Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson was one Township the Township Committee often met at the hotel. It was the official place for the assessor and tax collector to sit to hear complaints and to receive taxes.

The Palmyra Hotel building was one of the oldest in the town. It was originally built in 1846 by Leonard Larkens, who was at that time a carpenter and builder. This was a small structure, while later formed the rear rooms to the hotel building, which was erected later. Larkens ran a general store and bakery here for several years until he took over a hotel license.

Wallace Buys Property
During this time John Wallace, father of Lewis Wallace, who now lives at Fourth street, Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, served his apprenticeship as a carpenter with Larkens. Ten years later Wallace bought the property from its original owner and lived there for six years, until he sold the place.

In 1867 Wallace bought the property back and in 1870 built what is now the main part of the building. The room on the east, in which the bar is located, was not built until several years later. While Wallace was running the hotel here he was also station agent for the Camden and Amboy Railroad, now the Pennsylvania Railroad. The station at that time was located directly in front of the hotel.

The hotel property went to Lewis Wallace upon the death of his father and was held by him until about 1912, when he sold out to John Blum, who occupied it as a hotel property until the Prohibition Amendment was adopted.

Sold to Fortnum
Blum, who now makes his home in Atlantic City, owned the property until he sold it to Fortnum last fall. Shortly after the sale a fire destroyed the roof of the main building and it was only used as a car storage place during the winter.

Between the time the Prohibition Amendment was adopted and the final sale of the hotel it was occupied by several different persons, among which were George Zang, Thomas Coffee and "Al" Kreutberg. At the time of the fire the property was occupied by John Morahan, the station maker, and the Palmyra Restaurant. Morahan is now located around the corner on Delaware avenue, while the restaurant is located a few doors east of its former address.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Palmyra Group Entertain Guests With Special Program; Mrs. Parker's Recitations Feature

The March 17 meeting of the Woman's Club of Palmyra was the most enjoyable affair. Guest day and a delightful program were featured. Many out-of-town guests swelled the attendance to a record number.

The room was attractively decorated in green and white in honor of the day, with ferneries of growing plants adding their beauty and further carrying out the color scheme.

After the singing of "America" and salute to the flag, the president, Mrs. W. R. Dunn, made a few announcements, after which the Federation song was sung and the collect read. Mrs. George M. Becker then took charge and introduced Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, who sang two beautiful contralto solos and generously responded to encore.

Mrs. Robert Bin then rendered two piano solos of pleasing selections, which were greatly appreciated by her audience. Next came Mrs. Ellen Parker, who gave several humorous readings, then a dramatic impersonation of Joan of Arc, which was especially well done. Mrs. Parker then gave several original poems showing remarkable talent and understanding. The club chorus then sang two numbers under the direction of Mrs. Becker, after which delicate and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses of the day, headed by Mrs. H. B. Williams.

The next literature department meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Lippincott, 77 Morgan avenue, on April 4 at 7:45 p. m. The topic will be "Switzerland." Mrs. William C. Sherman will read "The Country" and Mrs. H. L. Lippincott "The People."

Five bullets which he fired at his head in an effort to commit suicide bounced off the skull of H. A. Beyer, of Warsaw, Mo., and he was only slightly injured.

A giant gander given to Dr. U. S. G. Arnold, of Martinsburg, Mo., 20 years ago as a part payment for his services, is his household pet and guardian of his automobile.

INTOXICATED DRIVER FINED BY RECORDER

Palmyra Police Also Arrest Man for Operating Truck With Fictitious Tags

A Philadelphia man is now serving a 30-day sentence in the Mount Holly jail following his arrest for driving a car while intoxicated Saturday afternoon.

The arrest was made by Officer Nelson Wallace, of the Palmyra Police Force, after a car struck a telephone pole at Broad street and Morgan avenue, Palmyra.

The driver, whose name is James McDermott, 1648 Meadow street, Philadelphia, was taken to the office of Police Physician LeFavor, where he was pronounced intoxicated. Sunday morning he was arraigned before Recorder Fichter and given the option of paying a fine of $200 or going to jail for thirty days. Being unable to pay the fine he was taken to jail Monday morning.

Gus Kontop, 5231 Race street, Philadelphia, was arrested by Chief C. M. Beck last Wednesday for operating a truck with fictitious tags. He was fined $25.00 by the Recorder.

COMPASS CLUB NOW IN OLD TIME FORM

Palmyra-Riverton Group Enjoys Each Meeting With Great Zeal; To Give Musical Show

The Palmyra-Riverton Compass Club scored another hit last Friday with an evening's entertainment comparable to the best ever given by the old-time club—plus the new spirit— which is so much in evidence among the members.

The dance was a real success and was greatly enjoyed by all who were present, who say it was far more enjoyable than they had anticipated. The dance music of the Fox Theatre Orchestra was exceptionally good.

The attendance at the Compass Club is showing a steady increase each week and there has not yet been a meeting held without taking in at least one new member.

The Ladies' Auxiliary has been even more successful in increasing its membership and has done much to help the club reach its present happy situation. The club will sponsor a musical show sometime in May, with a cast of exceptionally good local talent. This will be the gala event of the club's spring social activities.

JEWISH WOMEN HOLD MEETING

The Burlington County Section, Council of Jewish Women, held its meeting at the Burlington Synagogue, Tuesday evening, March 11.

The following appointments were made: The 4th District N. J. State Federation of Jewish Women's Clubs conference will be held March 19 at Hopewell, N. J.

N. J. State Conference, Council of Jewish Women at Elizabeth, May 23, 24 and 25.

April 8th meeting at Synagogue will be a Mother and Daughter meeting, the Juniors planning a delightful surprise.

Mrs. Eugene Springer and Mrs. M. K. Arnold, of Philadelphia, were guest speakers. Mrs. Springer, who was a delegate to the Twelfth Triennial Convention at Los Angeles, Calif., in January, delivered a most vivid and interesting report.

Mrs. Chalken and Mrs. Soffer, as hostesses, served refreshments. Don't forget, Council Sabbath, Friday evening, March 14, 7 p. m., in Burlington.

BEITZ ANNIVERSARY

The Beitz Delicatessen is now celebrating its sixth anniversary of service to the people of the community.

During the next few days this store will offer special values to its customers as advertised in another section of this paper. The Beitz store wishes to thank its many friends and patrons for their patronage which has made the six years of the store's existence one of pleasure and profit.

FIREMEN BANQUET

The firemen of Independence Company, No. 1, of Palmyra, and their guests enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner Monday night, which was prepared by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

About thirty men were present in addition to the ladies. The Palmyra Councilman and Mayor were present as guests of honor, also ex-Mayor James T. Weart.

Joseph L. Stank, fire chief, was toastmaster and evoked much mirth through his remarks, which at times were more truth than poetry.

Walter M. Horner, president of the fire company, made a few timely remarks of interest to the firemen. Lewis Wallace, a charter member of the company, was also present.

TALENT DAY IS HUGE SUCCESS

Palmyra Parent-Teachers Hold Program of Great Interest to All Present

Palmyra P. T. A. held its first Talent Day in the High School auditorium Tuesday, March 1, at 3.15 p. m.

The talent, which had been recruited from the teachers, mothers and children, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

The first number was a piano solo by seven-year-old Martin Martin, who showed remarkable ability.

She was followed by another grade school pupil, who gave two splendid readings. Miss Dorothy Johnson, soprano soloist, was accompanied by Miss Muriel Burmann.

Miss Gladys Booth played as a piano solo the "Sextet From Lucia," arranged for the left hand alone.

Miss Ethel Morton, another of the teachers, soprano soloist, sang two selections. She was accompanied by Miss Violet Lippincott, the music supervisor.

Miss Gladys Stafford gave a humorous reading. Mrs. Ralph Rivers, contralto soloist, sang two selections, accompanied by Mrs. George Becker.

Mrs. Albert N. Parker, who had charge of the afternoon's program, read the remaining compositions on "Dad," which were very good, and upon request of the president, Mrs. Elias Toy, gave four short readings of her own verses.

The P. T. A. appreciates and wishes to thank all those who took part in the program, also the members who contributed to the success of this meeting through their culinary talent.

Mrs. D. M. Wass, program chairman, wishes to thank the members for their co-operation, and regrets that the time was so limited that she could not use all the talent which was offered. She has made a memorandum of it and would be glad to use it at some future date.

MEN'S CLUB FORUM

Next Monday evening will be the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, at which time will be held one of the famous forums composed of the members.

Previous forums have been exceedingly popular, entertaining and instructive, and the one for this meeting promises to outdo those in the past.

The members participating are William McConnell, James Davidson, S. L. W. Field, William Rawlings, Herbert Warren, Ralph Rivers and Richard Hunter.

A delightful musical program has been arranged. The officers of the club earnestly desire that all members who possibly can do so should be present.

Joseph Stone, Frankford, Philadelphia, Pa., was arrested for disorderly conduct, Sunday evening, February 24th, 1930. This charge was the result of an automobile collision with a car owned by Charles Currie, of Philadelphia. The car owned, but not driven by Stone, contained four persons, three men and one woman. After the crash, which wrecked Stone's car, two of the men, one of which was driving the car, disappeared. Several empty bottles with evidence of having contained liquor, also a pint bottle of whiskey, were confiscated. The woman, Mrs. May Austin, was arrested. She was taken to Riverside Hospital, treated, and then taken home. Stone, when arrested, was under the influence of liquor. Mr. Currie filed a complaint of drunken driving against Stone, but as he was not driving the car, the charge was dropped. Stone and disorderly. He was tried before Justice Coddington, and being unable to pay his fine he was committed to Mount Holly jail for a fifteen-day sentence.

"Civil Service Station, Riverton road and Burlington pike was held up about 9:30 p. m. Monday evening, February 24th, 1930. Eight dollars was taken from the cash drawer. Lewis Bell, the attendant, was forced into the bandits' car, taken to another gas station, Burlington pike and Westfield avenue, which the bandits also held up and kidnapped the attendant. The kidnapped attendants were then taken to a point in the vicinity of the airport field on Crescent Boulevard and then released. The Riverton police, upon being notified of the hold-up, reported the matter to the State Police and other towns in the near vicinity of the hold-up, and took charge of the station until the manager of same arrived. The bandits used a car stolen by them earlier in the evening from Joseph Brach, of Camden. Several days ago the bandits were captured by the Collinswood police, after their ninth hold-up, and are now in the Camden County jail awaiting trial.

"An automobile driven by Miss Grace Davis, Main street, collided with a car owned by Mr. Harry Sim, Thomas avenue, and driven by Harry Burns, at the intersection of Main street and Fourth street, on March 7th, 1930, at 6:10 p. m. Sim's car was badly damaged and the Davis car slightly damaged. No one was injured. No charges or arrests made. A change has been made in the hours of the police officers. These hours have been so arranged that an officer is on duty during the entire twenty-four hours. Two officers are on duty at night between the hours of 9:00 p. m. and 5:00 a. m. Any citizen wishing the services of an officer any time during the day or night can have same by calling Riverton 67."

New Fire Hydrant Ordered
Mr. Randall reported that he had investigated the request for a fire hydrant on Shrewsbury lane and had ordered one placed on that thoroughfare, the location to be approximately at the end of Cherry lane.

Mr. Elwell offered a resolution confirming the action taken by Mr. Randall, which was unanimously passed. The Riverton Fire Company addressed a communication to Council outlining the company's financial responsibilities following the reconstruction of the old Fire House, and requesting that Council pay a rental to the Fire Company of $2,000 a year for the use of the Council chamber, the hall, a court room and housing the fire apparatus. The letter was signed by President Walter C. Wright and Thomas W. Downs, chairman of the Building Committee.

The request of the company was unanimously granted on motion of Mr. Randall.

Mr. Elwell reported that the Memorial Park Committee had held a meeting on March 8, at which time several sub-committees were appointed. Another meeting will be held on April 1, at which time these sub-committees will report, after which the Park Committee will make a report to Council.

The Building Inspector submitted a report of permits issued during the month, together with $12 in fees.

Considering P. R. R. Proposition.

Mr. DeLaney reported progress for the Railroad Committee appointed at a previous meeting to consider the proposition of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to make certain improvements in the Borough of Riverton. Mr. DeLaney said that the committee had met with the railroad officials and received their proposition officially. A counter-proposition was made for the company's consideration. William Worth, representing the Co-ordinated Transport, asked for permission to run through Riverton a bus line operating between Camden and Trenton and making local stops en route.

Mr. Worth said that a previous plan to run buses in connection with trolley cars had not been favored by the State Highway Commission and had been dropped. The permission he was now asking was for the operation of buses entirely independent of trolleys, he said, and that the trolleys would not be discontinued; therefore, the income to municipalities from trolley franchise taxes would not be disturbed. The fare, he said, would be the same as charged on the trolleys. Mr. Worth explained that the buses would run on a twenty-minute headway, and be ready for operation in two or three months. On motion of Mr. DeLaney the resolution presented by Mr. Worth was adopted.

The report of the auditors of the Borough accounts was presented and an extract thereof ordered published.

Tax Delinquents Reported
C. Kenneth Davis, Tax Collector, submitted a list of delinquents for the year 1929 amounting to $23,651.50. Delinquents for previous years brought the total up to about $34,000.00. On motion of Mr. Randall the matter was referred to the Finance Committee for a report on the advisability of publishing the list of delinquents in the newspaper.

Mr. Davis also submitted a list of uncollectable taxes amounting to $319.18, and asked that they be remitted in order to clear his books. This was also referred to the Finance Committee.

Albert S. King, a resident of Bank avenue, addressed a communication to Council requesting that some improvements be made to the roadway on the bank. He protested that while the residents there paid taxes, they did not receive any benefit from the money spent by the Highway Department. As is well known to the members of Council, and to those of the residents of Riverton, Bank avenue has not been kept in repair by Borough funds, owing to the fact that many of the residents claim this road to be private property and have refused to permit the Borough to touch it. At one time suit was threatened if the Borough attempted to do any work on the street.

Borough Should Fix Street

Mr. Randall expressed the thought that since it was a public highway in the Borough, the Highway Department should keep it in repair, regardless of the discussion as to whether it was a part of the Borough Highway system or privately owned by the abutting property owners. On motion of Mr. DeLaney, Mr. King's communication was referred to the Highway Department for report at the next meeting.

Mayor Rogers appointed the Fourth of July Committee as follows: William H. Albertson, chairman; Robert H. Clelland, Joshua S. Barley and Daniel M. Clifton, secretary. Mr. Barley offered a motion requesting the Mayor to appoint a transportation committee of citizens to keep Council informed on all matters pertaining to traffic incidents to the two bridges and concerning adequate transportation facilities between Riverton and the business section of Philadelphia. On this committee the Mayor appointed Howard Sordani, A. B. Garwood, J. W. Sylvester, Francis Ehle, E. C. Merrill, Ralph L. Flower and Raymond S. Hance.

Committee on Vacant Houses

Mr. Barley also suggested that the Mayor appoint a Citizens' Committee on Vacant Houses to see if some means could be devised to secure occupants for some of the 49 houses reported to be vacant by the Police Department last month. In approval of Mr. Barley's suggestion, Mr. DeLaney said that Haddonfield has such a committee, which is soliciting funds to be used to advertise the advantages of Haddonfield as a place of residence and that the commissioners had appropriated a sum of money to this fund.

In this connection Mr. Elwell reported that he had appointed a Real Estate Committee as one of the subdivisions of the Memorial Park Committee, of which he was chairman. He said it was his idea that this committee would formulate some plan of capitalizing the improvements to be made at the park and advertising it as an additional attraction to invite people to come here to live. A resolution was passed requesting the Mayor to appoint such a committee. The following bills were ordered paid:

Ferry Boats

crossing at this point long before anyone else could be led to believe in its possibilities.

He was finally able to interest others in a ferry company and early in 1921 the ferry was placed in operation. After five years of successful operation the opening of the great Camden-Philadelphia Bridge cut into the demand for cross-river transportation at this point and caused the ferry officials to make plans for regaining their lost business. It was decided that the best way to compete with the Camden bridge would be to also build a bridge.

It was first intended that the bridge between Palmyra and Tacony should be owned by the Ferry Company, but as this did not work out as expected a new company was formed, which has since been known as the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company. Most of the Ferry stockholders and officials became interested in the new bridge.

Bridge Supersedes Ferry
With the opening of the bridge in August, 1929, the need for a ferry was no longer felt and consequently it ceased to operate. The Delaware River Ferry Company at Chester is said to have been organized by persons formerly interested in the Tacony-Palmyra Company.

Walter C. Wright and John R. Naisby, of Riverton, are active in the new company. The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company still has extensive holdings in Palmyra. A large tract of land lying along the Riverbank between the ferry fill and the new bridge, is the property of this company. The contract for a new boulevard across this property was let by the Palmyra Borough Council Tuesday night and with its completion development of this tract is expected to progress rapidly. Some are of the opinion that the former Ferry Company will go into the real estate business and change its name to the Tacony-Palmyra Realty Company and sell its property as building lots as a means of paying a higher dividend to its stockholders.

Headline English

Professors of English held a convention in Kansas City and among other things discussed the influence of newspapers in modifying the speech of the people. As might have been expected, some felt that this influence was good, while others thought it terrible.

In their search for short words which will fit in the limited space available to them, writers of newspaper headlines have developed a peculiarly effective, though sometimes inelegant, form of expressions.

In the headlines, an investigation, of which there are many, is called a "probe," because five letters are easier to handle than 13. Similarly, a collision is a "crash," an agreement is a "pact," to denounce is to "flay," an explosion is a "blast," an atheistic contest is a "tilt," and so on. On the sport page "journalists" does its worst.

Deploring what he considers the evil effects of newspaper English, Dr. Hopkins of the University of Kansas said that teachers were duty-bound to take a stand against it, but significantly added: "In theory that is our stand, but it does us little good to take any stand. We might as well quit and let the language go its way. It will anyway."

And that probably covers all that is to be said on the subject.

Foreign Air Lines

Rapid development of the air mail service is generally known to have been in progress, but it will be surprising to many to know that the United States now has direct air mail service connections with 22 different countries of the western hemisphere.

This fact is reported in a recent survey by the American air transport association, which discloses that this international network of air lines is 16,736 miles in extent. An uninterrupted airway between New York and Buenos Aires, by way of Miami, is nearly 8,000 miles long.

While until recently air passenger service has extended only into Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Bahama Islands and Porto Rico, passengers as well as mail service will shortly be established into twenty or more countries of Central and South America.

The amazing development of aviation can be grasped to some extent by remembering that 20 years ago few persons had even seen an airplane.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

THE COLON

It has impressed me very much the past year—the attention being paid to the human colon, especially by irregular practitioners and outright quacks. Perhaps the colon has been neglected by its individual possessors; it may be that earnest physicians have overlooked the principal sewer of the body to a certain extent, and maybe not. Anyway, the quack is capitalizing big on the "colon craze" and its many victims.

A normal colon demands no attention whatever. If diseased, the treatment depends on the nature of the trouble, which only a capable physician can diagnose. To me, the height of stupidity is to imagine you have "colon trouble," and pay some charlatan a big sum (in advance) to guarantee you a cure!

I cannot go into symptoms, diagnosis and treatment here; your physician is the man to do that. But I may caution you strongly against the abuse of powerful purgatives, in order to force a tired, relaxed organ into activity. Better build up your nervous system, take outdoor exercise, appropriate diet, and plenty of drinking water. Medicines are for pathological conditions. Physical methods, such as

Awful Possibilities

Horrible as were some of the engines of death employed in the World War, they were probably far less destructive than those which might be brought into play in a future death struggle of nations.

Prof. Leonard Hill, in his address as president before a London sanitary association recently cited one possibility which is terrifying in its implications. He declared that a certain kind of germ which can be easily cultivated is so deadly that a spoonful suitably distributed could kill a million persons.

This is not the first time such measures for the extermination of troops and non-combatants alike in the event of another great war have been hinted at. And there is little use to argue that such diabolical means, if developed would not be used.

Poison gas in warfare was condemned and agreements to avoid its employment were made long before the World War, but it was used with telling effect by both sides after the Germans resorted to it at Ypres in April, 1915. Our own experts declare that chemical warfare will play a far more important role in any future war. And there is not the slightest doubt that disease germs would be likewise employed if a practical method of doing so were developed. With all these added horrors in prospect, it is little wonder that thoughtful persons everywhere are seeking to prevent another world tragedy, which might easily wipe out entire populations. Civilization must preserve peace, or perish by the instruments of destruction which it has created.

Queer Superstitions

Superstitions regarding the prevention and cure of disease have persisted from time immemorial, many of them being still prevalent in the more backward sections of the country. A few were called to mind by a recent writer, in noting the death of an aged Kentuckian who continued to wear earrings to the last, in the belief that they were good for his eyesight.

Another old-time notion was that wearing a mustache was beneficial to weak eyes, just as it was thought that carrying a buckeye or a potato in the pocket would prevent or cure rheumatism.

One doesn't have to be so very old to remember when children were caused to wear a little bag of asafetida strung around the neck as a protection against "catching" diseases, and when in many homes bunches of various dried herbs were hung about for the same purpose. Some believed that keeping a goat around the house was a prime health measure.

The writer remembers being warned when a boy not to wade in water when afflicted with hives, lest they "strike to his heart, and kill him." He waded, nevertheless, and lives to tell the tale.

These superstitions, like the belief that a horsehair placed in the rain barrel would turn into a snake, are gradually dying out—but many presumably intelligent persons to this day will refuse to take the third light from a match, or walk under a ladder for fear of dire consequences.

Uncle Si Tinklepaugh says there's one good thing about this Russian attack on religion; it gives a lot of preachers something to preach against without making their own congregation sore.

radish or cucumber, etc.; seeds, such as are in blackberry pie, raspberry jam, and other delicacies of similar nature. All are harmful to lazy colons. Sweet milk may be taken too freely, and if constipating, should be excluded. The whole-grain cereals with cream, I have found beneficial. I am convinced thoroughly that the routine deluging of the colon with solutions of drugs is positively harmful. In ulcerations and malignancies, the colon tube used "hit or miss" may hasten a fatal issue. Treat your colon with the utmost respect, under skilled instruction.

In the game of life, when information is substituted for imagination, opposition strikes out.

Is there a telephone hour in your home?

THERE is nothing quite like telephone hour when absent relatives come home for a regular chat by telephone.

The family is gathered in the living room. It's an exciting time. Dad will call Marjorie and John at college first, and then the family will talk with the folks back home.

There is a telephone hour in many homes. Talking to loved ones is next best to seeing them. It's easy and inexpensive.

IRISH

Wherever you go you can find folk of Irish descent. And wherever you find them you will find them with a finger in the political pie. Politics and fighting seem to be gifts with which every Irishman is born. One of the greatest leaders of the American Revolution was General Sullivan. A McMahon was a Marshal of France and afterwards President of the French Republic. Admiral O'Higgins is one of Chile's national heroes. O'Reilly street in Havana is named for a Cuban patriot of Irish descent. One of the members of the French Cabinet which took office in February is named Hennessy. Tradition has it that the Obregons of Mexico were really O'Briens. Three Presidents of the United States have been of Irish stock. Men of practically unmarked Irish descent control the governments of New York City and Boston and of many other American cities.

The secret seems to be in the Irishman's innate ability to adapt himself to his surroundings, a quality which many other races seem to lack.

CHINA

The North China Republic seems to be on the way to firm establishment on the basis of democracy as we understand it. That part of China has been free from war since 1928. The name of the old city of Peking has been changed to Peiping, which means "City of Peace." The leaders of the Nationalist party have inaugurated an educational program looking toward the establishment of a constitutional, representative government.

It may take China a hundred years, and probably will, to lift its people to the levels of civilization as we understand it, but the present movement is the most hopeful of any which have been undertaken.

SALVATION

Fifty years ago, on March 10, 1880, six young women dressed in strange-looking blue bonnets with red ribbons across them and wearing blue capes lined with scarlet, landed at Castle Garden. They were the advance guard of the Salvation Army, sent across the Atlantic by General William Booth, that inspired son of a Jewish pawnbroker, to carry his militant Christianity, with the aid of the bass drum and the cornet, into the slums of America.

They and their successors have reached down to levels which the churches had never plumbed and lifted thousands of hopeless, weak and miserable human beings into a new life of faith, hope and courage. No other organization or sect so endeared itself to our soldiers in France as did the Salvationists, with their human, simple, selfless helpfulness. No other religious organization today holds the respect of all intelligent church people as the Salvation Army does. It has proved itself the friend of the poor and the unfortunate. Its leaders and members have justified their faith by their works.

CORPORATIONS

The business corporation, the shareholders in which have no liability for the company's debts beyond the amount of their investment, is only 100 years old. In 1880 the Commonwealth of Massachusetts enacted the first law permitting manufacturers to incorporate. Today more than nine-tenths of the nation's business, aside from farming, is done by or through corporations.

Corporate farming is the next step. Farmers are learning about corporations and corporate management through their selling co-operatives. In several sections corporations are operating farms successfully.

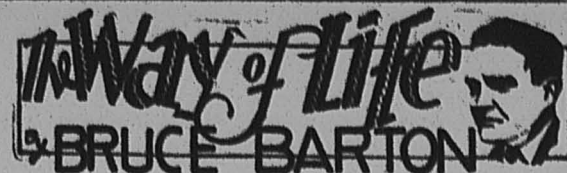

The most important thing we have learned about business corporations in 100 years is that their success depends almost entirely on their management. They do not run themselves. And the success of corporate farming will depend entirely upon the management of the farming corporations.

PEMBERTON PRODUCES GOOD MEN

Now that Harold B. Wells, of Burlington County, has been elevated to a seat in the state's highest judicial body it is hoped that even his most intimate friends will refrain from calling him "Skip." This nickname, earned while he was a Princeton student, has clung to him ever since, even when he represented Burlington in the Senate and served as County Judge. Judge Wells is physically small, but mentally he stacks up with the best of them. He is regarded as a sound lawyer and for several years has been one of the state's most popular after-dinner speakers. He is a native of the pretty little town of Pemberton, which also produced the late Governor John Franklin Fort, and down in Burlington County they think that Judge Wells would make a worthy successor to Governor Fort.—Newark Call.

STATE AIDS UNEMPLOYED

Necessary improvement work on the New Jersey State Forests, under jurisdiction of the State Department of Conservation and Development, is materially assisting with the unemployment problem in rural communities. In addition to the regular State Forest personnel, workers in localities where steady employment is precarious during the winter months have been almost continuously employed since early winter doing woodland improvement and recreational development work.

"THEREWITH TO BE CONTENT"

I ran across this paragraph in the note-book of Samuel Butler:

"I imagine that life can give nothing much better or much worse than what I have myself experienced. I should say I have proved pretty well the extremes of mental pleasure and pain; and so I believe each in his own way, does almost every man."

Charles M. Schwab, at last reports, had more money than I—but just what can he buy with it?

Three meals a day. They will cost more to serve than my three, but if Charlie enjoys them any more he is going some.

A roof over his head. It will be a wider and steeper roof than mine, and more rain will run off it; but the rain that runs off mine will be just as wet, and underneath I shall be just as dry.

A good night's sleep—if he's lucky. He can own more of the world's surface than I. But, try as he may, he cannot breathe up any more of its air; he cannot absorb any more of its sunshine; he cannot bribe the ocean to give him any more invigorating bath; nor the evening stars to shine any brighter over his estate.

The world is full of pleasant sights and sounds and smells, and his ears and nose and eyes do not bring him any sensation a particle more sweet than mine bring to me.

CHAIN ARGUMENTS GROUNDELESS

Economic reasoning in many sections of the country appears to have its "blind spots" on the chain-store question or else the agitation is deliberately misrepresenting the case. The argument that the chains take money out of a community which goes to Wall street is repeatedly offered. The sales of the chain units are added up and the citizens explosively informed that all this money is lost to them and raked in by monopoly.

Even the most casual acquaintance with business makes this error clear. What the chain store pays for its merchandise, and what the independent store puts out for its stock goes to manufacturing or distributive centers. The cost of the goods to the store goes out of the community unless the community makes all the merchandise which it consumes.

With this angle of the matter out of the way, there is the question of what the community actually does lose in money. It loses the profits made by the chain units. Now, those profits are usually small compared with volume—that is the underlying principle of successful chain-store operation. And an offset to those profits is the money saved the citizens by their savings on purchases—these savings in many cases running quite a bit higher than what the chain stores earn. So that upon examination it is found that more money actually stays in the town after than before the chains came on the scene.

The only real argument against the chains lies in their treatment of employee sources. If they prove willing to pay fair prices for what they buy, so that manufacturers are not squeezed and labor standards raised, then there can be no complaint, and only praise, for their efficiency.—New York Times.

PUBLIC SERVICE AND INDUSTRY

FACTS AND FIGURES from the ANNUAL REPORT OF PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION OF NEW JERSEY

MORE than 64 per cent of all electrical energy sold by Public Service in 1929 was used for industrial purposes.

More than 28 per cent of all gas sold by Public Service in 1929 was used for industrial or commercial purposes.

The connected power load on the lines of Public Service at the end of 1929, amounted to 1,165,595 horse power.

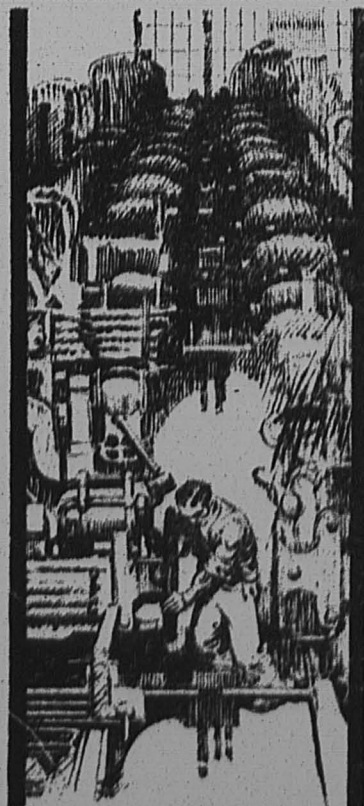

Consumption of gas for industrial purposes in 1929, showed an increase of 625,000,000 cubic feet or 23 per cent.

Adequate electric and gas service is a necessity to New Jersey industry.

The use of electricity for power purposes is one of the controlling factors in that great improvement in production methods that has given America its industrial supremacy; the use of gas in heating and treating processes of manufacture is rapidly increasing efficiency and lowering unit costs.

Wherever a manufacturer locates in the section of New Jersey served by Public Service, he is assured of a dependable and ample supply of electricity and gas at uniform rates.

"The far reaching electric and gas systems of Public Service are New Jersey assets, which play a major part in the upbuilding of the State, and every New Jersey citizen shares in the prosperity that they help to create."

CITES NEED FOR EARLY DELAYED DORMANT SPRAY

The delayed dormant spray for apples may need to be applied somewhat earlier than usual this year in Central and South Jersey orchards if injury to trees is to be prevented when growers spray to control scale, aphids, and European red mite. This is the belief of Prof. A. J. Farley, extension pomologist for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, who reports that the extremely warm weather in late February has caused an appreciable swelling of apple fruit buds.

VERY LIGHT PEACH CROP ANTICIPATED

Damage to Buds on Riverfront Light; Moorestown Area Irregular

Present indications point to a very light peach crop in New Jersey for the coming season, according to a survey just completed by the State Department of Agriculture. The weather, which is blamed for many of the farmers' ills, has taken its toll of this fruit crop during the past few weeks. The peach outlook, not only in New Jersey, but throughout the United States, indicates a very light crop with the probable result that prices will be above normal.

A sudden and severe cold spell about the middle of February did considerable damage to the fruit buds. Under normal circumstances the drop in temperature would not be harmful, but it followed a rather warm and rainy spell, which combined with unfavorable factors caused injury to the buds ranging from nothing to practically a hundred per cent. In different parts of the peach growing areas.

Along the River Front section of Riverton and Beverly the damage was slight. Elsewhere, however, the buds and the early varieties being less advanced were not injured to any extent. The fruit set in this area is light, however, especially the Elbertas. The other varieties show a nearly normal fruit bud set. Warm weather following the extreme cold spell has caused the buds to advance prematurely, and there are still chances of considerable damage in this territory.

The situation in the vicinity of Moorestown shows that the damage done is quite irregular. Orchards on favorable sites, with plenty of air drainage, seem to have escaped the damage, while those located in lower places show injury as high as 80 per cent. All varieties seem to have suffered about the same damage, which will average 50 per cent. for the area. The bud set was very light before the freeze, and it is expected to be much smaller than normal.

The Hammonton area suffered the most serious damage of all the various peach areas of the State. Injury in the Bridgeton area was quite severe, averaging about 50 per cent. to all varieties in the entire section. In the peach sections of Gloucester County, the damage was not quite so severe as in other areas, but in individual orchards the damage may total as high as 50 per cent.

New Jersey is not alone in suffering from freezing injury. The Middle West, particularly Illinois and Ohio, suffered much injury from severe weather earlier in the winter, while the crop in the Ozarks region of Missouri was seriously damaged in January. The recent damaging freeze extended south through Maryland, Delaware and Virginia. North Carolina and Georgia have a good bud set, but the season has progressed too rapidly, and there is still danger of damage from freezing.

The return to fashion of the separate blouse strikes me as a real boon to the woman who must make small dress allowances go a long way. The most practical of the new blouses are washable, and the woman who has acquired the habit of washing her own laundry lingerie should find it no hardship to wash and iron a blouse or two every week.

In selecting a blouse of the washable sort, you should not merely satisfy yourself that the material itself is washable. Remember that the better grade crepe de chine and wash silk is much less likely to shrink than the cheaper, flimsier sort. Plain, solid colors and ruffles are attractive, but they lose their charm when they have been washed. Be sure that the buttons used to fasten the cuffs or to provide ornament to the blouse are of the washable sort.

It is always wiser to select a blouse made of one color than one in which a colored material is used for trim, or a light blouse. If the color "runs" a little in the wash no harm is done in the monotone blouse—whereas if a colored material is used on a light blouse even a little "running" will be disastrous.

SIX FOREST FIRES REPORTED

Captain John A. Thornburg, division fire warden, had six fires reported to him Thursday of last week, the most destructive in this vicinity being near Toms River. Thirty acres of woodland were burned over. Sixty acres were burned near Jamesburg, and twenty-five acres at Shrewsbury, while the other fires covered smaller acreages.

Tentative Dates Set for Murder Trials

As a conference between Prosecutor George M. Hillman and Assistant Attorney General Robert Peacock Thursday of last week, it was tentatively agreed, subject to confirmation by Judge Rigg, that the trial of Julius Ussak, of Reobling, charged with murder of his wife, would be started on March 31, and if necessary continued April 1 and 2, while the case of the State vs. Fred Plank, charged with the murder of Mrs. Isabel Sheddaker, would be started on April 3.

Attorney Robert Peacock will represent both defendants, having been engaged as counsel in the case before his appointment as assistant attorney general was made.

Sheriff Shinn on Thursday afternoon drew a special jury of forty-eight from the regular December panel to hear the Plank case.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

CROSS ROADS

In the old days of horse driven vehicles there was plenty of time to see the signs which you came to the cross roads. The horse and buggy could draw up to the most prominent position and study the signs to the heart's content of the driver.

But those days are over. Cross roads are now danger points to the motorist to be approached with care and a rigid adherence to the law.

The silent policeman far out in the country at the cross roads should be as greatly respected by the motorist as the live policeman on the city street crossing.

Caution signs should be obeyed. The flashing light which warns of the intersection should always be a signal to slow down in speed and should never be ignored by the motorist.

When the necessity for looking at the road signs presents itself the stop should be made with every thought for the safety of all concerned. The car should be drawn up on the right side of the road and the motorist should alight and inspect the signs on foot. Do not drive up to the signs and engineer to place your car so that you can read them from the driver's seat, regardless of the oncoming traffic.

A flashlight should be in good working condition in every car. The motorist can not depend on making a stop at night which will bring his lights to bear on the signs. The old days are gone. Safety is the key-note for the modern traveler in a modern world. Cross roads should call out the instant response, "safety first" in the mind of the operator of every motor vehicle.

State Department of Agriculture Finds Modern Farms in This County

Survey Reveals Extensive Use of Latest Machinery, Noontime Radio Market Reports on 699 Receivers, Real Home Comfort and Sanitation

Since 1877, when the first English settlers reached the territory of what is now Burlington County, agriculture has been the most important occupation of its people. The soil of this region is suitable for the growing of different vegetables and fruits as well as for the livestock industry. As a consequence, the farmers of the County are engaged mostly in the peach, apple, cranberry, string bean, tomato, sweet corn, lima bean, poultry and dairy industries.

According to the 1925 United States census, Burlington County had 2,132 farms with 139,088 acres of improved land. The predominant size of the farms was 60 to 125 acres. There were in 1924, eleven farms under three acres in size; 164 from three to nine acres; 205 from ten to nineteen acres; 399 from twenty to forty-nine acres; 540 from fifty to ninety-nine acres; 603 from one hundred to one hundred and ninety-nine acres; 192 from two hundred to twenty-five acres; two hundred fifty-nine acres; 61 from two hundred sixty to four hundred and ninety-nine acres, and seven from five hundred to nine hundred and ninety-nine acres. The value of all farm property in this County amounted in 1924 to $29,341,438.

Burlington County was selected for a State Department of Agriculture survey, which was made in the summer of 1929. The main object of the investigation consisted in finding the changes in acreage of the different agricultural commodities since 1925, when the United States census was taken. Parallel with that, attention was paid to the number and type of conveniences found on the farms. "We did not find any marked changes in acreage," says the department's report, "but the number and varieties of farm conveniences and farm machinery have greatly increased."

Small Farms Eliminated
The small farms, from one to twenty acres, were almost eliminated from our survey list. The remaining 1,750 farms were the object of our investigation, but due to different causes not all of them were enumerated.

THE QUALITIES OF LEADERSHIP

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

Leadership and success, in a general way, are synonymous. They are both founded upon simple codes of thought and action, upon the realization that he who wins the laurels must be a doer, not a waiter, that application of energy, not time or luck, is what counts most. A rabbit's foot is a poor substitute for horse sense.

Both success and leadership, if they be of the highest quality, are the result of service to humanity. Service has been aptly described as "the supreme commitment of life." Analyze the lives and times of all great leaders of history and you will find that those whose names are enshrined in the hearts of their countrymen are those who sought to render a needed service to the populace.

Leadership, like success, need not, however, be international or national to achieve great results. There is room for each of us to be a leader in his community, in his work, in his church, and in various organizations. One of the indispensable qualities of leadership is the ability to persist steadfastly in the face of discouragements. If George Washington had not possessed the quality of persistence, he and his soldiers would never have survived the hunger and privations which were theirs at Valley Forge.

We have too many young men and young women these days saying a job cannot be done. Too many spend their time explaining why a thing can't be done, instead of saying, with firm resolve, that it can be done, and then going out and doing it. Anything that ought to be done is capable of being done. And anything worth doing at all is worth doing well. The fellow who handles a little job in a big way is always on the road to greater fields.

PLANE TALKS

Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

The Packard Diesel engine has been given an Approved Type Certificate by the Department of Commerce. This engine is a 6-cylinder, air-cooled type and is rated 225 h. p. at 1,800 r. p. m. It's dry weight is 610 pounds.

Lieut. Jim Erdman was the speaker at a well-attended meeting of the Burlington County Aero Club in the Moorestown Community House on Monday evening. The chief pilot of the club gave an extremely interesting talk on the common faults of the student flier and how to correct such faults.

Everything is in readiness for the Third Annual Air America Aerial Show to be held in the new million dollar hangar at the City Airport in Detroit, Michigan, April 5 to 15. Over 300,000 square feet of floor space available in the monster hangar was sold out weeks ago. We believe this will be the largest and best Aircraft Show to be held this year.

We just received an air mail letter from San Jose, Costa Rica, to commemorate the first flight of air mail from that country to the United States. The sender of the letter is J. B. Harvey, former Lieutenant, Army Air Corps, who paid several visits to Moorestown last summer. Lieut. Harvey is flying the Sikorsky Amphibians on the Pan-American Airways line from South America to this country.

DRIVE WORKERS HEAR SPEAKER

National Rural Chairman Says YWCA Broadens Vision of Life

Mrs. Otto V. Huffman, of Mount Kisco, New York, National Chairman of the Rural Communities Department of the Y. W. C. A., was the speaker at a tea for the workers in the annual Y. W. C. A. drive which was held at the home of Mrs. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., of Riverton, on Saturday afternoon, March 15. Mrs. Huffman read extracts from letters from Y. W. C. A. members in all parts of the United States in which they spoke of the broadened outlook on life which had been theirs since they had become a part of the Association.

Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon, and Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, of Moorestown, told of the work and needs in Burlington County, where over 3,000 girls and young women are reached by the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, of Palmyra, sang two numbers and Mrs. Lester Collins, of Moorestown, led a devotional period.

Mrs. William Matlack, of Moorestown, presided at the meeting, where about sixty women who are this week working to secure a budget for the Y. W. C. A. for this year were in attendance.

County Girls Study Issues

Burlington County girls and women are devoting a great amount of time to the study of issues which are to be presented at the Eleventh National Convention of the Association in Detroit, April 25-May 1.

This week three groups, the County Board, the County Council and the Senior Club, have devoted time to securing information in our own society, which deals specifically with the problems of unemployment, agriculture and the textile industry.

Mrs. Lester Collins, of Moorestown, presided at the discussion at the County Board meeting on Tuesday. Beatrice Shadell, of Mount Holly; Helen Pitko, of Burlington, and Mrs. Mary Warren, of Moorestown, will be in charge at the Senior Club Council on Thursday, March 21. The material at the Senior Club Committee meeting on Monday evening.

Camp Committee Meets

The South Jersey Camp Committee, with representatives from Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Monmouth Counties, met Thursday, March 13, at the Industrial School in Bordentown. Burlington County representatives on the committee are Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon; Mrs. Bessie Allen, of Vineland; Mrs. Edward S. Harmer, of Moorestown; Mrs. John H. Sines, of Edgewater Park, and Sidonie Schaefer, of the Burlington County Y. W. C. A.

Plans for the camp at Ocean Grove, August 6-27 were worked out. The committee is very fortunate in having for the camp director again this year, Miss Fern Kissinger, National Y. W. C. A. Secretary for South Jersey. Another efficient leader who will again be at Ocean Grove this summer is Mrs. Roy Clement, of Woodbury, who will be at the head of the swimming department.

Burlington County girls are registering for camp with Dorothy Gehlbart at the County Y. W. C. A. office.

Child Specialist Speaker

Miss Edith D. Dixon, specialist in child training and parental education, will be the speaker at the Mount Holly Mothers' Club on Monday evening, March 24, at the Y. W. C. A. club room, on Paxson street, at eight o'clock. Miss Dixon will give special attention to the problems relating to adolescence.

In order that she may give the most help possible, Miss Dixon is asking that mothers send to Sidonie Schaefer, at the County Y. W. C. A. office, any questions they may have. These will be sent on to her and answered at the meeting.

All mothers in Mount Holly are welcome at this and other meetings of the Mothers' Club.

New Officers

Among the new officers of Y. W. C. A. clubs in Burlington County are the following in the Bordentown Extension Division: Mrs. Wilhelmina Coatin, president; Mrs. Thelma Gibson, vice-president; Mrs. Florence Carter, secretary; Miss Anna Harris, assistant secretary; Mrs. Mattie Harris, treasurer; while at the Willingboro Senior Club has chosen Margaret Cook as president; Catherine Cook, vice-president; Bessie Griffith, secretary, and Mrs. Donalda Perkins, treasurer.

URGES SPORTSMEN BACK STATE IN LAND-BUYING

Advocating the prompt enactment of the bill now before the Legislature for establishing public hunting grounds and fishing waters in New Jersey through an increase in the hunting license fee, Fish and Game Commissioner George B. Clark, of Newfield, says the plan has manifold advantages that should engage the attention and support of all sportsmen.

Hunters and fishermen, now shut out by the posting of many private lands, are demanding their own game sanctuaries, hunting grounds and open streams for fishing, and he shows how the proposed act provides a means for obtaining them without cost to the general taxpayer.

YMCA

Party Week

Last week was set aside as "Party Week" at the Palmyra-Riverton YMCA. Three of the groups used their meeting nights to entertain their lady friends, while the fourth kept theirs stag. Members from the four groups got together and decorated the gymnasium and then each one used the decorations in turn.

The first group was the Edison Pioneers, led by Fred Green. Fourteen couples were present and enjoyed the evening of games. The refreshments were cakes, made by some of the fellows' mothers and the ice cream was paid for by the group treasurer.

The Christiansers, under the leadership of Henry Wilbraham, were the next to hold a ladies' night. Their party being held on Thursday evening. Here again the mothers furnished the cakes and candy so necessary for a party. Twelve of the fellows brought their girls and the evening passed quickly playing games.

The Lone Eagles, composed of eighth grade boys and led by Secretary William H. Plank, celebrated Saturday evening with their girls. Their endeavors were more elaborate in decorations and refreshments, which would be expected since they were older fellows than the other groups. One of the clever things of the evening was a treasure hunt. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and dancing. The refreshments were in great abundance and every one present had a real evening of fun and "eat."

The Tribe of Massasoit, led by Clifford Taylor, held the stag party of the week after their regular basketball meeting and a lively game of basketball the fellows adjourned to the kitchen where the cats were served. How those cats vanished only the leader knows.

The games and entertainment at all the parties was kept buzzing by the guidance of Secretaries Plank and Hicks. There is no doubt that the past week will long be remembered by a great many fellows and girls as one of real fun.

By THOMAS MOORE

'Tis the last rose of summer,
Left blooming alone;
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No flower of her kindred,
No rosebud is left,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh.

I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Do sleep thou with them.
Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves of the bed
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.

So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from Love's shining circle
The gems drop away.
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
Oh, who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

HOME VEGETABLES GARDEN FREQUENTLY NEEDS LIME

The soil of many home gardens has become so acid that unsatisfactory results are obtained with vegetables and flowers. The cure for soil acidity is lime, which should be evenly distributed after plowing or spading, and well worked into the soil. Some garden crops are more sensitive to soil acidity and are more benefited by liming than are certain other crops, according to H. R. Cox, New Jersey extension agronomist. He says of the vegetables, spinach, lettuce, onions, and beets are among the most sensitive to acidity, and asparagus, celery, peppers, and eggplants are among the least so. In contrast to them, potatoes, strawberries, and tomatoes can stand a considerable degree of acidity.

ICE SKATING IN AUGUST

Ice skating in August! This will be a feature of The American Fair, an annual national merchandising exposition to be held in the Atlantic City Auditorium from July 17 to August 27 next. While thousands gather along the sun-bathed boardwalk in the height of the summer season, on the sands of the beach and in the surf, the mammoth rink of the auditorium, within the largest building of its kind in the world, fronting directly on the beachfront, will be in full operation. The rink, 200 feet long and 100 feet wide, is in the center of the vast floor space of the main auditorium chamber.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Following the example of other organizations in not asking for donations at this time, on account of business conditions, we have changed the Annual Donation Day of the Mary A. Dobbins Memorial Home for the children of Burlington County, at Mount Holly, from April to September.

Further notice of the date will be given.
LUCIA W. WOOD,
Chairman Publicity Committee.

Immediate Arrest of Auto Violators Urged

Immediate arrest of motor law violators instead of the yellow-ticket procedure was advocated in a report submitted to the Legislature at Trenton last week by the Uniform Traffic Committee.

The committee also suggested placement of automatic red, amber and green lights only at intersections where a traffic reaches 500 vehicles per hour. No decision was reached on the practicability of State traffic courts.

More rigid enforcement of stop-street rules was recommended and it was suggested that all pedestrians should wait facing traffic on rural roads. The report urges elimination of a loophole in the State law permitting local control over traffic signs and signals.

"THE MOTHER OF INVENTION"

Little Johnny's teacher had asked him to write a fable, after the style of Aesop's familiar fables. The boy sat at his desk and chewed his pencil and endeavored his budding wits in the effort to think up a really good plot, but in vain. Nevertheless, knowing that he had to turn in a story of some kind, he grimly set himself to the task. This is what he wrote:

"Once upon a time a mud turtle was sunning himself on a log in a swamp. Suddenly he saw an alligator sick his head up out of the water right beside him. The mud turtle slid off the log and paddled the sixty feet to the shore, with the alligator right behind him, with his big mouth wide open. The turtle climbed up on the bank and ran as fast as he could, but the alligator was gauding on him. In a few more steps he would catch him. Just then the turtle came to a tree, and he climbed right up that tree, so the alligator didn't catch him after all, because alligators can't climb trees."

After the teacher had read it over, she said: "Johnny, this is a very exciting tale, but it isn't true to nature. You surely know that a mud turtle cannot climb a tree!"

Johnny replied: "This one could, Heck, he had to!"

NEED GOOD MANAGEMENT TO REAR HUSKY CHICKS

Four management practices termed "absolutely essential to successful chick brooding" are listed by J. C. Taylor, New Jersey associate poultry specialist, as preventing overcrowding, providing an ample supply of fresh air, supplying plenty of food, and maintaining sanitary conditions. Overcrowding of the young stock, according to Mr. Taylor, is the greatest evil of brooding. No chick, he asserts, can grow and develop into healthy pullet if reared in a crowded house. To prevent crowding, it is suggested that each 100 chicks be allowed at least 50 square feet of floor space, and that not more than 300 chicks be brooded in a single flock. The early separation of cockerels and pullets is another way to reduce crowding.

Hints for Motorists

Cars with two-wheel brakes are growing fewer and fewer, but there are still a good many left on the roads. When you notice a very old automobile, therefore, make extra allowance for the distance in which it can be stopped.

Watch your distance when following a car equipped with chains. It can make a quicker stop than a car without chains.

If you would increase the mileage you get out of gas, don't race the motor when standing in traffic. Turn off the engine when you stop for more than a minute, don't drive with the choke out longer than necessary, be sure that your brakes are not dragging, and make sure that your engine does not idle faster than it should.

The driver who makes an abrupt stop and slides on his tires not only wears out rubber, but takes a chance on a puncture. A tire may suffer no damage in rolling over a nail or glass, but when it's sliding, it's likely to pick up anything.

GOLF HINTS
for Women

By "FAIRWAY"

I have attended a number of ladies golf tournaments in the North, East, South and West. On several occasions I took particular notice of the golf dresses of many noted players, such as Mrs. Lee Mida, Mrs. Melvin Jones, Miss Helen Payson, and Miss Olenia Collett, who were participating in the tournaments. I have interviewed a goodly number in regard to what is the most sensible form of dress for the links, where the game is taken seriously.

Of course, I received all kinds of replies, but the majority voted for a very practical skirt, not too full, and a sweater that has plenty of room across the back and in the arms. The material of a golfing costume should be firm so that it will hang close to the body and wrap around the club or cast shadows on the green, or again when it becomes wet in the summer shower will not be too light and cling to the body, or too heavy to weigh one down so that it will be difficult to hit your shots well. It has also been found that a hat with a slight brim will be very useful in keeping the sun out of one's eyes. In the beginning of the season, if one has not been playing golf all winter, on account of tender hands, after a few weeks of playing the hands will become used to the club through the gloves, and will be slightly hardened, which will prevent the hard callous places from forming on the palms of the hands and finger which grip the club.

"JOHN FAUST, Ph. D."
BY MASK AND WIGU. of P. Cast Now Rehearsing for Show to Open April 21
at Garrick

An outstanding feature of "John Faust, Ph. D.", the forty-second annual production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, to be offered at the Garrick Theatre for two weeks commencing April 21, will be the glee chorus. Just as much attention is being given to this particular aspect of the show as is being devoted to the dance ensemble for the simple reason that "John Faust, Ph. D.", reverting as it does to the type of entertainment made famous by the Mask and Wig glee in the past, requires a high standard of vocal excellence. Henri Eikan, well-known in local musical circles, is in charge of the glee chorus, which has been recruited from the entire student body of the University, but which has depended, particularly on the Pennsylvania Glee Club for its talent.

General rehearsals are now going ahead at full speed for "John Faust, Ph. D.", which as the title suggests, is a travesty on the famous Faustian legend. Jasper Deeter, head of the Hedgerow Theatre in Rose Valley, and experienced director for many professional and "little theatre" movements here and in New York, is staging the book of this year's Mask and Wig show and it is already reported that great strides have been taken in this very vital part of the production. At the same time, Francis C. W. Patton, a former Mask and Wig star, is putting on the chorus dances, always a notable feature of the Club's performances.

Charles Gilpin, who has provided the Mask and Wig offerings with so many hitting song-hits in past years, is said to have written an unusually catchy and delightful score this year. Among the songs that are expected to capture popular fancy are "My Marguerite," "When Mephistopheles Calls," "A Soldier on Leave" and "How Can a Devil be Good."

The cast of "John Faust, Ph. D." is as follows: Mephistopheles, J. Alexander Bleding; Dr. John Faust, Edward Craven; Marguerite, Wilbert Mordant; Beaumont, Benjamin L. Cursey; Clark, Siebel; Maria, L. Charles Taber; Valentine, Gerald George Christ; Brander, Walter T. Sheldon; Christopher, Ward Monroe; French, Daniel Allegretti; Royal Dour, Las Greig; Virgil, John Albert Palmer; First witch, W. R. Swire; second witch, Fred Sturewald, Jr.

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

At just this season of the year many parties of tourists are going through Palestine. A guide is an important feature and each Tourist Agency seeks to place a suitable man at the disposal of each group. During the past twelve weeks we have also been touring the Land of the Book and our Guide has been none other than the Source of all spiritual knowledge. To have become better acquainted with Him has been our objective and in doing this we have learned local facts as well. In our review it is like going to a height, such as Mount Tabor, and surveying the whole country through which we have been passing.

First, read through at one sitting the sixteen chapters of Matthew, which have been the textual basis for study. A good New Testament map should have been in sight all the while for there is need to know the place named and in following in order as you made any journey with Jesus. There are charts which sketch these itineraries, but it is still better for you if you will draw an outline map and draw your own lines of travel as you advance. In time you have come from B. C. 5, the approximate date for the birth of Jesus, to the summer of A. D. 29, nearly thirty-three years later. You are in the midst of the third year of His public ministry.

Artists have given much attention to the portraiture of Jesus and to depicting the scenes as recorded in the Gospels. Become acquainted with the best of these paintings, and they are many. He has been the theme for more paintings than any other person in history. Any skeptic would do well to look through the various art galleries and then ask why so

GOLDFISH AS PETS
Have you a jar of goldfish? They are in the vogue just now. And the reason why isn't that the goldfish are any different from goldfish of a few years ago, but that the glass jars for holding them are different. They are more attractive than they ever were before. Therefore everybody wishes to have goldfish.

There was a time when all pet goldfish—they are never pet goldfish in one way, but all tame goldfish—lived in glass jars, big or little or medium sized globes of glass. But that was a long time ago and the methods of keeping goldfish have developed largely since then. For now one has a truly lovely thing wherein to keep one's goldfish. It may be any shape one desires, and one chooses the shape to suit one's taste and one's room.

One of the prettiest of the new holders for goldfish is a box that swings from the ceiling or from a bracket high up on the wall. This globe looks like a big Japanese lantern, with a lacquered base of red or green or black, and a colorful tassel hanging from it, and cords at the top for fastening it to its hook or bracket. This is a particularly decorative bit of furnishing.

There are also all the charming fish bowls or holders that stand on supports of metal. These are sometimes just little frameworks that are placed on the table, sometimes they are high ones standing on the floor. The metal is finished usually in an antique bronze finish.

Sometimes the fish bowl is iridescent in color and this is particularly attractive. For it suggests all the brilliancy of a soap bubble captured and made tangible.

You know, don't you, that there are supposedly harmless liquids which you may dissolve in the water in a fish globe to tint the water? You may have blue or green, red or yellow tinted water.

And then there are colored marbles sold especially to pile in your fish globe. These, too, are a pretty trick as they make the fish globe more interesting in color.

VEAL KAMAKINS
Little left-over pieces of veal and ham, one ounce of butter, one teaspoon of flour, one teaspoon of beef extract, one small onion, little lemon juice, pepper and salt. Mince the scraps of veal and ham. Pour a cup of boiling water on the extract, put the butter in a small pan, and when melted mix into it the teaspoon of flour, then stir in the cup of broth. Continue to stir until quite smooth. Remove from heat, and when a little cool, stir into it the minced meat, seasoning of pepper and salt, the very finely minced onion, and a squeeze of lemon juice. Now heat all thoroughly, and pile up in little kamakin cases, sprinkling finely chopped parsley over the top.

CINNAMINSON HORSE SHOW ON MAY 24

Monday was an ideal day and the Parent-Teacher Association visitor came away from the school with the impression that "All's well with the world."

A physical culture class was exercising energetically on the playground; a peep into the sunny class room disclosed a well attended room with a box of growing bulbs, an aquarium of goldfish, another aquarium containing a number of tadpoles and a small catfish; all these helped to make the lessons more interesting, as was proven by the interested class in geography.

A look into the dental room revealed the dentist busy at work, and looking through the window across the road a girl was sketching the school buildings, later to be colored.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, B.D., Pastor

The first anniversary of the Church dedication on Sunday was an event which will be long remembered. The morning service was very largely attended—extra chairs being required to accommodate the people.

The placing of flowers in the letters C. B. C. (Central Baptist Church) was a very pretty part of the service. The representatives of the various organizations were assembled in the Sunday School room and to the strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" from the pipe organ marched up the centre aisle, each bearing a red carnation, and as the name of the organization was called the flowers were placed in the letters. The flowers, together with sprays of asparagus ferns, on a white background, presented a beautiful appearance. After the placing of the flowers the representatives joined hands and with assistance of the singers and others in the congregation formed a circle extending around the room, and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." There was a short sermon by the pastor. The evening service was also very well attended. The pastor preached on "The Baptists and Church Membership" after which four persons were baptized. Twenty-five members of the Samaritan Class attended in a body to see one of their number baptized. They sang "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," during the service.

The Chorus Choir of 25 voices were highly commended for their wonderful service, at the service. The eulogies were beautifully rendered. At the morning service Miss Anna McConnell sang "The Holy City," and at the evening service Edward Hoyt sang "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again," and Claude Y. Barto accompanied the choir in one of the anthems at the evening service with a violin obligato.

A special offering was taken at these services and the amount received was very gratifying. The attendance at Sunday School on Sunday was 312, the largest of the attendance on Dedication Sunday, when 339 were present.

To permit parents who have children too small to attend church service, to attend the service there is a Children's Church service held in the Primary Department room under the direction of the Primary teachers. Do not stay home from the church service on account of the little ones—bring them along and let these young ladies care for them.

An entertainment and sketch will be given by "The Palms," a class of girls, in the Sunday School room Tuesday evening at 8.15. A fine program is being prepared. Tickets, 15 cents. Proceeds for benefit of Building Fund.

The Philathea Class will hold another of its famous fish cake sales in the dining hall tomorrow at eleven a. m. Phone your orders to Mrs. F. N. Johnson, Riverton 718, or to any member of the class, and they will be taken care of.

The Junior Department is planning an entertainment to be given Friday evening, April 4.

Happy Hour Friday afternoon at four. The Intermediate B. Y. P. U. Friday evening at seven. The topic is "Why Should We Belong to the Church?"

Sunday services, as usual. Sunday School at 10.00 a. m. Preaching service at 11.15 a. m. Sermon subject, "The Presence of the Master." B. Y. P. U. at 6.45 p. m. Topic, "Win Barren Ground People Away From Christ." Preaching service at 7.45 p. m. Sermon subject, "A Great Family."

A Missionary Rally of the Camden Federation of Baptist Young People will be held in the Camden Baptist Church, King's Highway, Haddonfield, next Thursday evening at 7.45 o'clock. The Rev. Bruce E. Jackson, field secretary of the Board of Christian Cooperation, will be the speaker. The topic will be "Torch Bearers." There will be a Supper Conference at 6.15 p. m. sharp. Reservations for supper should be made through Joseph J. Hanson, 120 Main street, Oaklyn. No reservations for supper can be made after March 23.

Last Saturday afternoon the little folks in the Primary Department, and their teachers entertained at a "Friendly Tea." The program was very interesting and varied from mirth provoking numbers by the Cradle Roll children to the classical selections by the pupils of Mrs. Ruth Bell and Harold Mueller. This was the second time which the Primary Department has given this year and from the many favorable comments heard it is hoped another will soon be given. The next event which is being planned is an "Evening of Music" during the month of April.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"MATTER" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 23, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof, but he that does the will of God abideth for ever" (1 John 2:15, 17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service" (Romans 12:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one way to heaven, harmony, and Christ in divine Science shows us this way. It is to know no other reality than good, God, and His reflection, and to rise superior to the so-called pain and pleasure of the senses" (p. 348).

CHRIST CHURCH

Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack

The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church. The president of the Russian Episcopal Synod in a recent letter made the following statement: "According to our latest information, thirty-one bishops, 1,500 clergymen, and more than 7,000 monks and nuns have been killed without trial or hearing, solely for acknowledging Our Lord. Forty-eight bishops, 700 clergymen, and more than 8,000 monks and nuns are languishing in prison. The account of actual suffering is too ghastly to print. Brutalities during the war pale by comparison. What a test it would be for many of us to go through these persecutions, and how many would be for their faith?"

Mrs. S. O. Wells, the wife of general Canon Wells, is to be the speaker Monday next at 2.30, at the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary. Her topic will be "The United Thanksgiving."

Since the new Prayer Book of the Episcopal Church was published, last October, a million and a half copies have been sold, according to figures gathered by the National Association of Book Publishers.

The Rev. Arthur S. Lewis, rector of Christ Church, Riverton, will be the preacher at the Lenten service next Wednesday evening, at 8.00 p. m. The children of the Church School will present another pageant at Easter time.

The Sunday School will help swell the Lenten Mission Offering when the Rev. Robert Horner gives an evening of moving picture fun Thursday, the 27th, at 7.30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Church School.

The Church School is very grateful to Mr. Whitcomb and Mr. Torbett for a fine depicting the growth of the Lenten offering this year. It is a splendid piece of work and will doubtless bring good results.

Remember your mite box every day! Services: Third Sunday in Lent: 10.00 a. m. Morning Prayer and Address, "Courage." 12.30 p. m. Church School and Address, "Thought: Resolution: Action!" 8.00 p. m. Evening Song and Sermon for Children, "A Ribbon of Blue."

Or, lest the sermon should be dry;
Or, any other reason why."

HOLD OPEN HOUSE AT YMCA BUILDING

Palmyra-Riverton Christian Association to Entertain Parents Saturday Evening

Next Saturday will be "open house" at the Palmyra-Riverton YMCA. This will be the first program of this type held since the local association severed its connection with the Burlington County Association late last year.

With the assurance of the financial backing of the townspeople and the coming of the new secretaries many improvements are underway. The "Y" building is being all repapered which was greatly needed. Beautiful draperies to harmonize with the paper are being made by a member of the Women's Auxiliary. One of the groups contributed the money to purchase new pads for the steps so the entire building will have a more pleasant atmosphere. The object is to make the YMCA as homelike and inviting as possible. "Y" means many needed improvements the great part of the task will be accomplished.

The secretaries, William H. Plank and Edson Hicks, are very anxious to meet the parents of the boys who attend the Y. This is the second reason for holding the "open house" Saturday and it is the sincere desire of all interested that any one in the two communities who are interested in the work of the YMCA will visit the association building Saturday afternoon or evening.

During the evening (7.45) there will be a movie for all the boys and their parents. Anyone who attends a "Y" movie always has a good time and every indication points that this will be no exception.

ALL-STAR FEATURE FOR LEGION BENEFIT

Ex-Servicemen Will Canvas Town in Selling Tickets for Movie Next Wednesday and Thursday

"The Marriage Playground" will be the feature of the American Legion moving picture benefit to be given at the Broadway Palace, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week.

The Legion plans to make a house-to-house canvass with tickets for the event and the townspeople are urged to give their heartiest support to the enterprise.

In this picture Mary Brian, one of the best known movie actresses makes a very strong bid for well-deserved applause. Her appealing acting, her charming voice were never seen and heard to greater advantage than they are in this sympathetic role of Judith Wheeler, the eldest of the seven children of "The Marriage Playground"—a filmation of "The Children" a best selling novel by Edith Wharton.

Frederic March is co-featured with Mary Brian in the leading male role. He has appeared in "The Wild Party," "The Murder Mystery," "Jealousy." He left the stage of the Belasco Company in Los Angeles to follow a screen career. He is a gifted romantic actor.

DELINQUENTS IN COUNTY COURT

Probationers Who Are "Not Making Good" Called Before Judge Rigg

Tempering justice with mercy as a policy in imposing sentences was given a setback at the County Court House at Mount Holly Thursday of last week, when no less than seven defendants who had been placed on probation for various offenses and had failed to live up to the terms of their probation, were taken before the Court for further consideration and action, they having been re-arrested by authority of orders issued by County Probation Officer Frank A. Hendrickson.

This misplaced confidence may work out to the disadvantage of some defendants in the future, for Judge Rigg has shown a tendency to give every man or woman brought before him for sentence that consideration which their offenses warranted. In many instances, particularly desertion of a wife, he has made every effort to reunite husband and wife or provide for the care of children, who suffer by the disagreements of their parents, but as stated above his efforts are evidently unappreciated.

Lewis Vansclver, of near Rancocas, had failed to support his wife and child, and was ordered by the Court, but this time he agreed to pay his wife $6 a week, and gained his freedom.

This was the second time this man had been taken in by the probation officer, and the Court made it clear to him that if he goes back he will stay in jail until the wife gives her consent for his discharge.

Must Support Children

Lewis Coleman, colored, of Florence, was another who had refused to pay for the support of his two children, as ordered, but he claimed that he had had no work since the sentence was passed.

He admitted that he was making $24 a week at present and the Court ordered him to pay $12 a week for the support of his children out of his first pay, and then make up the arrearages as soon as possible.

Walter Elsie, colored, of Burlington, had failed to pay his wife $5 a week for the support of his child, but his mother having agreed to take the child, the wife did not want him in jail, so he, too, was given another chance.

George Morris, also colored, of New Hanover Township, had not paid his wife anything since he was sentenced in January, his excuse being that he could secure no work.

He was given six weeks in which to make good, or he will again face the Judge.

Didn't Pay Costs
Albert Johnson, colored, of Burlington, charged with larceny, was sentenced on June 7, 1928, to pay costs amounting to $12.50 within three months, but he has made no effort to meet the provisions of the sentence.

Johnson is but seventeen years of age, and the Court sent him back home with instructions to pay the money within one month.

Harry Naprena, of Burlington, who has been on probation twice, the second time being in March of last year, when he was ordered to pay costs of his case, amounting to $50, has paid nothing.

He was given one more month. James A. Ware, colored, of Burlington, the high school boy who was shot in the head when he was detected robbing the store of Clifford "Kip" Shaler, in that city, has made no effort to meet the financial terms of his probation, but he claimed he was going to school and had no earning power.

The Court instructed him to stay in school until the end of the term and then secure work and pay up by the first of September.

While Rev. W. W. Dietrick was preaching a sermon on honesty to the congregation of the First Methodist Church in Akron, O., a thief stole his overcoat from his study.

COUNTY SCOUT DRIVE SOON TO GO OVER TOP

$10,100 of $12,000 Budget Already Raised: Expect to Complete Campaign Next Week

Scout leaders of Burlington county are highly enthusiastic over the results of their finance campaign and confidently predict that the drive will "go over the top" by the latter part of next week when they hope to be able to make public the reports of all the community chairmen, giving the amounts raised by each town.

Thus far, $10,100 has actually been raised. The entire budget, which, in addition to carrying the operating expenses of the county council, will allow some reduction on the new county Scout camp near Cookstown, is but $12,000.

Several hundred dollars has been verbally pledged, in addition to the $10,100 already reported, the leaders report, but they decline to "count their chickens before they are hatched," to resort to an old adage, and are only reporting actual receipts and signed pledges.

"OF FINE MERIT," SAYS THIS LADY OF NEW KONJOLA

Suffered for Years—Could Not Eat a Meal Without Distress—New Medicine Triumphs

MRS. KATIE LARKEY

"I suffered for years with stomach and kidney trouble," said Mrs. Katie Larkey, of 80 Elm road, Newark, N. J. "Food was never properly digested and I followed each meal. I belched sour liquid and was subject to heartburn. Never was I without a dull, burning pain in the pit of my stomach. My kidneys weakened and added to my misery. Sharp pains and stiffness in my back made me nearly helpless at times."

"I knew I had, at last, found the right medicine shortly after I began taking Konjola, and after taking nine bottles every vestige of my illness disappeared. My kidneys are normal again and all pains have disappeared. I have a wonderful appetite and even the heaviest foods digest without pain and misery. My general condition is excellent and I feel better in every way than I have for years."

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Associate Corporation of Large Amusement Company Takes Steps to Secure Site

WILL OPEN IN FALL
ACCORDING TO RUMOR

If Built Will be Strictly Modern and Have Large Seating Capacity

A great amusement company will open a large modern theatre in Palmyra early next fall unless plans now under way meet with an unexpected setback.

A corporation, said to be associated with Hunt Amusement Company, owners and operators of sixteen theatres in New Jersey and New York, have options to purchase four centrally located properties, according to the owners.

The present plans, which are said to be authentic, call for the purchase of the Hawke property, on Broad street, near Cinnaminson avenue, the property occupied by the Freeman store, which adjoins it, and the two Wallace properties on Cinnaminson avenue next to the Warner Building.
It is also said a part or all of the Warner Building will figure in the deal.

Will Build Theatre
Tentative plans call for the erection of a show house to seat 1,200 or more to be built on the back part of the lots which adjoin at the rear.
According to present plans the street frontage will not be taken up by the theatre, but will be used for modern stores, except for the necessary space for the lobby to front on one of the main streets. It is understood no definite plans have been drawn for the building, but that it will be of modern construction and will house one of the finest theatres which it is possible to build.

The Broad street stores, probably three or four in number, will be built to a depth of possibly eighty feet and will be leased to enterprising merchants.

Just what the plans for financing the project are have not been revealed, but it is known that the company interested has entered a contract with the Camden Courier and Post and plans an advertising campaign which they hope to induce local merchants to pay for.

It is this part of the plan which is causing considerable skepticism, as it is thought the advertising proposition is one arranged for the purpose of selling stock.

A prospectus showing the Tacony-Palmyra bridge, with insets of Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, and Mayor Howard Rogers, of Riverton, has been presented to Mayor Wimer for approval, which he has refused to endorse until assured that the advertising will not be used to influence stock sales.

He says he is heartily in favor of a new theatre being built, and will do his utmost to aid provided he is convinced the company will be able to finance the project without depending on local capital.

RETURNED FROM OHIO

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Van Leeuwen and little daughter, Jean Lee, returned to their home at 300 Midway, Riv-erton, on March 10.

Mr. Van Leeuwen is in charge of the General Insecticide Investigations for the United States government at the Moorestown offices of the Japanese Beetle Laboratory and for the past three and a half months has been head of the department of Entomology at the Davey Institute of Tree Surgery at Kent, Ohio. He reports a very pleasant winter teaching a course in Shade Tree Insects to a group of approximately 200 freshmen, juniors and seniors at the Institute.

Members of this tree organization are employed each season by the Riverton borough to take care of the street trees.

A CORRECTION

Riverton's tax rate, published in our issue of March 13, contained an error. The figures given for the Borough rate and the school rate for 1929 were transposed, making it appear that the Borough tax rate was higher than last year and that the school rate was lower. The fact is, that the school rate for 1929 was $1.30, whereas this year it is $1.42.

The Borough tax rate, which was $1.55 last year, is only $1.41 this year.

By exercising the utmost economy in making up their appropriation, the chairman of the various departments of the Borough Council succeeded in cutting 14 cents from the rate devoted to Borough purposes this year, of which they are justly proud and for which they should receive full credit.

WILL NOT REBUILD THE FREEMAN STORE

Building Has Been Sold and Alteration Plans Have Been Abandoned

Owing to the unexpected sale of the property occupied by Freeman's Economy Store, the building will not be remodelled as was previously planned.

Mr. Freeman, in announcing a rebuilding a few days ago, did so in order to reduce his large stock to make ready for the builders, but instead of making alterations as intended and opening a new and larger store, it will be necessary to vacate the premises.

Next week the big stock of the Freeman store will be placed at the mercy of the public in one great sale.
All the new sporting merchandise, which is arriving daily, will be included in this great selling event.
Full details will be announced in the advertising columns of this paper next week.

WINDOW BREAKERS GIVEN REPRIMAND

Palmyra Recorder Releases Mischievous Boys When Dads Promise to Pay for Damage

Charged with breaking out the windows at the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company building at the Palmyra terminal three Palmyra lads entered a plea of guilt when arraigned before Recorder Richter Saturday evening and were later discharged with a severe reprimand.

The three boys, Charles Powell, Jr., 9; George Truman, Jr., 8, and William Friberg, 11, were brought to police headquarters by their fathers following their arrest and confession.
The windows were broken some time before last and were not discovered until the officers began investigating the breaking of windows at the High School building a week ago last Friday.

Chief Beck reasoned that the boys who broke the windows would again come back to play around the building. Accordingly, he made it a point to drive by the ferry frequently to see if he might find any boys playing there.

Last Friday he saw young Friberg on the roadway into the ferry slip.
After driving down to where the boy was, without stopping him, he drove up and demanded to know who was with him when the windows were broken. The boy unhesitatingly replied that it was George Truman.
Further questioning implicated
the other boys and all admitted their guilt.

Charles A. Wright appeared at the hearing, but refused to press the charges. He said that he personally would not ask for damages, but would have to refer the matter to the directors of the company. In case the company asks for damages, the parents of the boys promised to pay.
Since the buildings are to be removed it is not thought that any further action will be taken.

K. of C. NOTES

St. Joseph's Council, K. of C., is now whipping into shape plans for a bazaar or indoor carnival to be held at their hall, corner Broad and Elm avenue, on Friday and Saturday, April 26th and 27th.

Committees are now at work gathering articles such as tapestries, art needlework, bric-a-brac, cut glassware, etc. A unique feature of this affair will be a section devoted to antiques. The committee was given this idea when several valuable pieces of furniture were donated to be offered at auction.

Joseph V. Landers, chairman, announces that other features of this bazaar are now being worked out by the various committees, which will be both entertaining and profitable to those who attend. The Ladies Auxiliary are assisting in carrying out the plans as outlined.

CINNAMINSON SCHOOL

A wonderful geography lesson held the attention of the P. T. A. visitor on Monday of this week.

The wonders of South America were demonstrated by the pupils, using maps, text and reference books. All this done by the children themselves, the teacher only quietly suggesting a pertinent question here and there.

"The interest and desire to help each other understand the various subjects brought forth was most pleasing.
From beginning to end there was not a wasted minute."

It is hoped that no one will miss the Recital to be given by Mrs. Connor on Friday, the twenty-eighth instance, as it is of the latest type approved by the Standard Company."

STATE TROOPERS HAVE BUSY WEEK

Variety of Cases Keep Men Stationed at Delanco on the Jump

During the past week the Delanco Baracks of the State Police have been very active in a variety of cases ranging from motor vehicle violations to manslaughter.

Joseph Devlin, of Philadelphia, was arrested early Monday morning by Troopers Piana, Turnbull and Mc-Bride on charges made by David Sager, of Riverton.

Devlin was driving a truck on St.
Michael Drive, near Cambridge, when it collided with Sager's car and also involved a car owned and driven by George Carans, of Palmyra. Devlin was given a summons to appear before Justice McCloskey, of Beverly, Tuesday evening.

Sager was taken to the Zurburg Hospital, in Riverton, where he was treated for lacerations of the face and hands by Dr. Wagner.

Speeders Arrested
William R. Mann, of Delanco, and Clarence Smith, of Camden, were arrested by Trooper Piana and arraigned before Justice Johnson, of Moorestown, and fined $5 and costs on charges of speeding.

Corporal Brown and Trooper Turnbull arrested Frank Miller, of Merchandiseville, Wallis Bailey, of Philadelphia, and Harry Uensberg, of Collinswood, for speeding. They were taken before Justice Richter, of Palmyra. Miller and Uensberg were fined $5 and costs, while Bailey was fined $5 and costs.

Drunk and Disorderly Peter Mink, of Bridgeboro, was picked up along the highway for being drunk and disorderly. Corporal Brown and Trooper Piana took him before Justice Merrill, of Delanco. Mink was given a suspended sentence and paid court costs.

Edward Hawkins, both of Mount Holly, were arrested for speeding by Troopers Turnbull and McBride and tried by Justice Kingston, of Mount Holly, who imposed a fine of $3 and costs on each offender.

Manslaughter
Troopers Turnbull and Piana have been co-operating with the Delaware Township and Camden County officials in investigating the death of Howard "Gimp" Thomas early Saturday evening.

Harry McClain and William Hernsey, both of Camden, were arrested by the Troopers and are being held by the Camden officials in connection with Thomas' death.

These two men admit being with Thomas when he was killed. They say that they met Thomas in Camden and he told them he had borrowed the car he was driving, but was too drunk to drive it, and asked Hernsey to drive. As they were speeding along the Marlton pike Hernsey says McClain complained of the speed they were traveling. Thomas said the speed was not excessive and to show McClain how quick the car could stop pulled up the emergency brake. The brakes not being equalized the car ran to one side of the road, where it overturned three times and finally righted itself about fifty feet from where the accident occurred.

Held on Two Charges

According to Hernsey, Thomas was thrown through the windshield and killed. McClain and Hernsey left the scene and were captured by the Troopers about a mile from the spot.
Hernsey is being held on charges of manslaughter and larceny of an automobile. McClain is being held on an accessory after the fact on both charges.

Gas Station Robbed
Sunday, John Pearly, who is employed at a gas station in Riverton Park, reported that after eleven o'clock Saturday night the station was broken into and ransacked.

The invaders took a telephone, telephone coin box, $25 in cash, five gallons of oil, and a radio valued at $60. Troopers Turnbull and Piana were detailed to investigate the robbery.

Trooper Piana Arrested Harold Brown, of New York City, on a charge of speeding, Justice Shain, of Delanco, fined him $5 and costs.

Another Hit and Run Upon investigating a telephone report of a hit-and-run accident, Troopers Turnbull and McBride found Joseph Franko, of Beverly, lying along the road near the Rancocas road, on the Burlington pike. He was suffering from lacerations and body injuries. Franko was taken to the Zurburg Hospital, where Dr. Wagner treated his injuries.

CONTRACT FOR BRIDGE OVER PENSAUKEN CREEK

The Atlantic Construction Company, of Atlantic City, had the lowest bid among fourteen received by the State Highway Department for the construction of the bridge over Pensa-uken creek, between Palmyra and Maple Shade. The bid was $123,315.

The bridge will connect with the new route, S-41, intended to receive traffic from the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge, and which links with the White Horse pike at Berlin.

CARD OF THANKS

reavement and also thank those who

Club held its Music Reciprocity Day in the club house on Tuesday, March 25th. Ten clubs of the first division had been invited to participate.
A large number of guests and members gathered in the attractively decorated

The president of the Porch Club, Mrs. Joseph L. Thomas, welcomed the visitors, after which the musical program opened with the singing of "America, The Beautiful." Piano solos were rendered by Mrs. Howard Brower, of Merchantsville, and Mrs.
Sims, of Palmyra. Mrs. Carl J. Harris, of Salem, sang two selections, which were followed by a piano quartet, played by four members of the Riverton Porch Club. Two songs by the Porch Club Choral concluded the morning program.

Luncheon prepared by Porch Club members was served at 12:30.
The following program was very varied, containing piano solos by Mrs.
Rice, of Pitman; vocal solos by Mrs.
Charles Coddling, of Beverly, and Mrs.
Lipincott, of Palmyra, and also recitations by Mrs. Beebe, of Pitman. Selections were sung by a trio from the Woman's Club of Palmyra, a quartet from the Woman's Club of Haddonfield, and also one from the Woman's Club of Collingswood. This concluded the program, which was very much enjoyed by everyone.

OPTIMISM SHOWN AT COUNTY MEET

Big Attendance

Several important business matters were discussed at the Burlington County meeting of the P. O. S. of A. held in the Hainesport lodge rooms
Tuesday evening, with County President Howard T. Jarrett presiding.

Nearly a hundred members were present at the meeting and a feeling of optimism for the future was everywhere in evidence. It was agreed that a committee of three members from each camp be appointed to assist the County President in carrying out his work.

The County association went on record as favoring the separation of the New Jersey State Camp from the Pennsylvania organization. A special order will be made to send a full delegation to the next State camp at Trenton, which convenes in August.

The Hainesport camp was awarded a

"SONG O' MY HEART" AT FOX-LOCUST

John McCormack will begin his third week in the Fox-Movietone production, "Song O' My Heart," at the Fox Locust Theatre Monday night.
The reproduction of Mr. McCormack's voice has exceeded his fans' expectations and the picture play is presented to Philadelphia audiences with his whole-hearted support.

In the delightful lyrical romance
Mr. McCormack sings eleven songs.
The love interest which is predominant throughout is romantically acted by Maureen O'Sullivan and John Garrett. Mr. McCormack's wonderful supporting cast also includes Alice Joyce, Farrell MacDonald, J. M.
Kerrigan, Tommy Clifford, Emily Fitzroy, Edna Miller, Edwin Schmal-sdorf, and Segovia and Edward Martindel.

The picture was commenced in Ireland last summer. Scenes reflecting the incomparable beauty of that country was made in Kerry, Wicklow, Dublin County, the Midlands and in the immediate vicinity of Mc-McCormack's beautiful estate at Moore Abbey, Monasterevan. It is the first talking picture to be made in Ireland. The interior scenes and the concert scenes were completed in Los Angeles.

"Song O' My Heart" is the story of a broken romance which marries the life of John McCormack, a young and ambitious singer, in Ireland. The girl, Alice Joyce, marries another, becomes the mother of a boy and girl, and is deserted by the husband chosen for her by an autocrat decides against McCormack because of his poverty. In after years Mr. Mc-McCormack comes to the assistance of his former fiancée's daughter in a brilliant and romantic way. He aban-dons his concert tour in America at the height of his success and returns to Ireland to see that the daughter of the woman he has always loved is happily married to the young man of her choice.

In addition to the evening performances matinees are given every day.

RIVERTON MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

John B. Watson Caught at River Road Crossing
Thursday

John B. Watson, 69, of Main street, Riverton, was killed last Thursday afternoon when the car which he was driving was struck by a train at the River road crossing at West Palmyra.

At the time of the accident Mr.
Watson was on his way home from a service station in Delair, where he was employed.

The train struck Mr. Watson's car at the River road crossing and carried it to the Arch Street crossing, nearly 800 feet distant. The wrecked car was taken care of by Ed's Garage, of Palmyra.

He was employed by the E. H.
Fittler family for a number of years as a chauffeur, the first one in Riv-erton. After the death of Mr. Fittler Mr. Watson continued in the employ of Mrs. Fittler for a number of years.

Mr. Watson worked for N. Meyers
Fittler until he moved to Pennsylvania. After that he worked for Dale Fittler.

After the death of John Quigley,
Mr. Watson took over the stage business which Mr. Quigley had conducted. The heavy stables were then located at Seventh and Main streets.

The stable was later moved to the present location of the J. S. Collins stable, at Harrison and Lippincott avenue.

Dr. Robert S. Watson, a dentist, in Orange, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Frank Warrington, of Morrisville, Pennsylvania, and Mary Watson, of Riverton, survive Mr. Watson.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Snover Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Arthur Lewis. Interment was made in Morgan Cemetery.

urday evening, the marriage of Miss Clara Mae Halstead, daughter of Mr.

and is a member of Phi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Becton is a graduate student and assistant in the Department of Zoology and Entomology at the State University.

degree at the University earlier this month and a Bachelor's degree from the University of Kansas. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Mr. Becton will probably continue as a member of the faculty of the State University, but nothing definite has been decided as yet.

A CORRECTION

In the article published last week stating that Judge H. B. Wells would give up his private practice owing to being appointed Judge in the Court of Errors and Appeals, a mistake occurred which changed the meaning of the article.

The sentence referred to read: "The law does not stop me from taking criminal cases or pleading in my own Court." It should have read: "That I could not with propriety take criminal cases nor plead in my own Court."

MRS. ELIZABETH V. KENNEDY

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Kennedy, sixty-five years old, wife of John Kennedy, of 742 Highland avenue, Palmyra, died at her home Friday afternoon.

afternoon at two o'clock from the late residence with the Rev. George J. McCormack, of Christ Church, Palmyra, officiating. Interment was made in North Cedar Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia, under direction of Frank tertainment, which you will not want to miss.

EDWARD OTT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car in Which He Was a Passenger Struck By Sedan Driven By Riverside Man

Edward Ott, of 810 Morgan avenue, Palmyra, received severe lacerations and bruises of the face when the car in which he was a passenger was struck by a sedan driven by August Clemm, of Riverside Park, at the intersection of Pavilion avenue and Polk street, Riverside, Monday evening at six o'clock.

The car in which Ott was riding was owned and driven by Winfield Estelove, of 503 Arndt avenue, Riverside. The two other passengers in the car at the time were Edward Johnson and Charles Zeffel, minor injuries; these three received minor lacerations and bruises.

Patrolman Louis Harris, of the Riverside police force, took the injured men to Zurburg Memorial Hospital, where they were treated, and afterwards allowed to return home.

PARENTS HEAR FINE ADDRESS

Dr. Rogers and Nurses Stress Fine Work of Summer
Round-Up

"If you have a child whom you expect to send to school in September, get him ready now! Have your doctor examine him. Have him weighed and measured. Have his eyes and throat examined, and have his hearing tested; even if you are sure he is all right."

"Tuberculosis that is too big or diseased should be removed under the expert care of a surgeon. The child's health is dependent on a clean throat. All the neighborhood germs meet at the school. Guard your child from infection by giving him a clean throat.
Adenoids should not be tolerated.
They are a foreign growth and can only do harm; they are a menace to the growing child and they make the most intelligent child take on the manner and expression of an imbecile."

Miss Blair Reports
The above remarks are quoted from Angelo Patri, but Dr. Rogers enlarged on just these points in the splendid talk he gave at Riverton school last Thursday. He also went on to mention the serious results of neglecting bad tonsils, such as rheumatism and heart trouble.

Dr. Rogers expressed his willingness to examine the new pupils again this year in the "Round-up," when for any reason other physicians failed to co-operate, and stated that so many children failing to have this examination has been the drawback to the success of former summer "Round-ups" here.

Miss Blair, one of the school nurses, gave an interesting account of the dental work which Dr. Dunn has been so generously doing for the school at cost. The children of Riv-erton school are found to be in need of an appalling amount of dental work, and the nurses have been taking them to the dentist in groups of ten.

Miss Blair spoke of the cordial way in which the nurses have been received in the homes where the school work has taken them, and no one who heard her speak could doubt her interested co-operation in the work.

Lost Fund Explained
Mrs. Frederick Blair gave an explanation of the Burlington County Student Loan Fund, which enables any Burlington County student to borrow sufficient funds to complete his education up to the point of entering the University. This contract was only awarded last week and it is expected to have the road ready for use by Memorial Day.

When the work now underway is completed it will give Palmyra and vicinity four new streets, two of concrete, without any cost to the borough.
The first street to be improved by the state was Marke street. This street was paved last fall with a macadamized surface and is now in use as a temporary bridge outlet. Cutbush and Oxford roads were also improved in the same manner.

COOPER URGING HIGHER FEE FOR GUNNERS IN N. J.

Commission Says Increase Could be Used to Lease Farm Land

FINDS MOST OPPOSITION
HERE IN SOUTH JERSEY

Bill to Raise Charge to $3.00
Has Already Passed in Assembly

Leasing of lands by the State for use of hunters is regarded by Benjamin W. Cooper, of Moorestown, a member of the State Fish and Game Commission, as a panacea for present-day hunting ills in New Jersey.

Commissioner Cooper, who is president of the Moorestown Chapter of the State Game Commission, said Tuesday the State could lease, with money derived from a proposed increase in the hunting fee, lands from farmers who now keep their property posted against hunters.

"Local gunners are charged $1.65 for their fish and game license," Mr. Cooper said. "If this amount were raised to $3 the extra funds could be used to lease lands for hunting. By adding the extra $1.35 gunners would get a much larger area over which to roam in search of game without fear of running into a 'No Gunning' sign with its threat of prosecution."

"The present fee is just about enough to permit the Commission to carry on its work of protecting game and restocking the open lands. We are, of course, not permitted to restock lands which are privately owned. Fish and Game Commissioners throughout the State are working for passage of Assembly Bill No. 100, which will give the Commission power to increase the fee."

"The Commissioner pointed out what he called a 'peculiar angle' of the situation."

"In North Jersey, where there isn't much room for them to hunt, the people are all in favor of the bill. South Jersey, with its acres of undeveloped timberland, has a tendency to oppose it. If the bill is lost, it will be South Jersey which defeats it."

The bill has been passed by the State Assembly and is now up for consideration before the Senate.

She is the world's leader in Parent Teacher Work, helping all nations to a better understanding of the right development of the child. Mrs. Louis T. De Valliere, fourth vice-chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, who was the former State president of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, a woman of rare executive ability, who is a valuable link in the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. William Little, State president of New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, whose leadership is outstanding in every channel for which the organization stands, and James Plant, Director of Juvenile Clinic of Essex County.

YELLOW RESISTANT EARLY CABBAGE PLANTS AVAILABLE

The Agricultural Extension Office has secured one pound of a specially selected seed of the Jersey Wakefield type, which is resistant to cabbage yellows. P. B. Griscom, an experienced plant grower at Medford, is growing the plants. Anyone interested in securing early cabbage that is resistant to yellows or who is interested in growing a variety of cabbage that is true to type, should make arrangements with Mr. Griscom for securing plants which may be obtained at the cost of growing. The plants will be ready for distribution about the 7th to 10th of April.

OUTLOOK FOR CABBAGE

The favorable returns obtained in the intermediate shipping states, which includes New Jersey, in spite of the increased acreage in 1929, may cause a further increase in plantings for 1930. Growers should remember, however, that low yields probably caused the 1929 market situation to be more favorable than that of 1928. A decrease of 5 per cent. in the acreage in the intermediate States, with average yields, would show that adequate supplies in view of the summer price slump which is usually experienced.

Twenty-one years ago Andrew Ellis, of Adrian, Mich., loaned Vincent Peache 30 cents to get a hair-cut. Recently Peache sent Ellis the 30 cents, plus five cents for interest.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

WHEN UNCLE SAM BUILDS ROADS

Of vital importance to every town and city in the Union is the fact that the United States Government is to pay out two and one-half billions in the coming year for roads throughout the nation. There is no need to cite the obvious good accruing from this program, which it is planned will be carried on into the year 1931.

Certainly such a program will have a tremendous effect on traffic. Thousands of new cars and hundreds of thousands of miles of new roads mean an increase in the number of cars which pass through YOUR town. Your traffic problems will grow accordingly over night.

The corner which was unpleasantly crowded last year will be impossible next, and the bottle neck through which the car stream managed to pass last year will be an impassable barrier in 1930.

How are you equipped to meet these changes? Are your authorities men of vision, and are your laws and rulings capable of large interpretation and revision?

Vision requires a looking ahead, not just one summer, but for several summers. Stop gap methods are more costly in the long run than the larger plan which admits of growth. The patched highway may carry the traffic for a few months but it is apt to go beyond repair after a few hot days. Sooner or later the four-ply road on a new and direct route will have to come. Elastic laws and rulings must be interpreted for the good of the many, not for the few. It was well enough in the old days for any old kind of parking to hold good in the small town. But as the small town becomes a big town through the magic of the motor car, it pays a return compliment in the form of more rigid enforcement of laws and the creation of rulings which, when properly enforced, are the very life of that fresh flow of commerce.

No town can afford not to be on the alert when Uncle Sam gets under way.

Coopertown Union Sunday School to Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Special Services Will be Held Friday Evening, April 4, and All Former Members and Friends are Invited to Attend

The Coopertown Union Sunday School will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary with a special service Friday evening, April 4th, at 8 p. m.

The Coopertown Sunday School was organized in 1880 by a group of the residents as a union Sunday School, so that all of the children of the neighborhood might receive religious instruction regardless of denomination, and has continued as such ever since. The Sunday School has always met in the brick building located south of Beverly near the Burlington pike. Among the first officers were the following, all now deceased: Timothy Bishop, Abraham Marter, C. K. Van Silver, J. D. Cornish, Mrs. Amanda Van Silver, and Benjamin Bishop.

Those among the officers and teachers at the present time are: Isaac Van Silver, Miss Martha Bishop, Mrs. Clement Anderson, Miss Kathryn Heal, Miss Martha Rankin, Miss Elizabeth Stuart, Miss Bernice Walton, Miss Alice Stuart, Robert Stuart.

During the fifty years of continuous service there has been but six superintendents. The following four now deceased: Abraham Marter, C. A. Van Silver, Austin Pharmaris and Dr. J. J. Currie. Isaac Van Silver is the present superintendent, while Dr. James A. Stuart preceded him for several years.

WOMAN IS DEAD IN MAPLE SHADE FIRE

Mrs. Mary Meyers Burns to Death Preparing Lunch
in Kitchen

Trapped by fire in the kitchen at her home as she prepared the noon-day meal for herself and two other aged women with whom she made her home, Mrs. Mary Meyers, 77, was burned to death at Maple Shade Wednesday of last week.

Summoned to the scene of the blaze, located on the southeast corner of Maple avenue and Main street, Fire Chief William Frech found the victim was his aunt.

Just how the fire started is a mystery. It is believed Mrs. Meyers was making coffee and that her dress was ignited by the flame of the gas stove. Mrs. Meyers, it was said, was almost blind.

Two other women who lived on the premises, Mrs. Louisa Meyers, 80, a sister of the dead woman, and Mrs. Caroline Bowin, narrowly escaped when hearing Mrs. Mary Meyers' screams, they sought to extinguish their flaming dress.

Firemen extinguished the blaze in the kitchen with slight loss.

Mrs. Meyers was unconscious when carried from the house. Two doctors, who were passing, stopped their cars to see if they could be of assistance. They were Drs. Theodore Gallop and Sydney Corpening. Dr. Corpening pronounced Mrs. Meyers dead and a coroner was called.

The dead woman was the widow of William Meyers. Mrs. Louisa Meyers is the mother of Chief Frech and the widow of Herman Meyers, whom she married following the death of her first husband. William and Herman Meyers were brothers.

A total of 1,460 acres of land has been added to the New Jersey State Forest, under the supervision of the State Department of Conservation and Development, since January 1, according to word received from the State Forester's office. This brings the total area of the State Forest to 31,223 acres. The department reports 1,080 acres have been added to the New River State Forest, near New Orleans, Burlington County.

YWCA TO PRESENT EASTER PAGEANT

Interpretation of Resurrection to be Given on Friends' Outdoor Stage

The Y. W. C. A. will again present an Easter Pageant at the Moorestown Friends' Meeting House at sunrise on Easter morning. The pageant, "The Tree of Life," is an interpretation of the meaning of the Resurrection.

Mrs. William Grobler will direct the music of the service, while Mrs. Edwin Russell is the general chairman.

Girls Conduct Service
At Brown's Mills, Sunday, March 23, the Girl Reserves had charge of the evening service at the Community M. E. Church. Mrs. E. P. Darlington, president of the County Y. W. C. A. Board, told of the ideals of the Y. W. C. A. and Mrs. Barclay Allen, County Girl Reserve chairman, talked to the girls of the value of club work.

Following these talks the new members of the Brown's Mills club were recognized as Girl Reserves by the lovely candle ceremony which is used by Girl Reserves everywhere. All the girls, dressed in the Girl Reserve uniform of white and blue, lighted small candles at the flames of three large ones, symbolizing Health, Knowledge and Spirit, and signified their willingness to accept the Girl Reserve pledge: "I will do my best to honor God, my country, and my community; to help other girls; and to be in all ways a loyal, true member of the Girl Reserves."

After the ceremonial the girls presented the story of Esther in a drama of their own composition.

Tea For Finance Workers
Mrs. R. H. Mason entertained the Mount Holly women who are working on the annual drive of the Association, at a tea at her home on Thursday, March 20. The reports of these women were most enthusiastic about the attitude of the community to the work of the Y. W. C. A. Reports from other parts of the County indicate a similar interest and it is the feeling of these in charge that success is assured.

Leather Crafts Demonstration

Tuesday evening, March 18, a group of Girl Reserve, Campfire and Boy Scout leaders met at the County Y. W. C. A. office to participate in the demonstration in leather crafts conducted by C. W. Dannenhauer and Mr. Pollock, of Philadelphia.

The demonstration included instructions in cutting, punching, lacing, dyeing and coloring leather for the simple types of work such as purses, book covers, book marks, belts, key chains and so on. Leather work can be done in all kinds of club groups, for some is simple enough and inexpensive enough for children, while the more difficult types will test the skill of adults and give room for development of original ideas.

Any group desiring material for this work may secure it through the County Y. W. C. A. office.

Ranococas Club Meets

The Ranococas Women's Club met on Tuesday evening, March 25, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Benzel. Mrs. Ernest Oldershaw gave a most interesting story of Ranococas, telling of a number of the historical places there. Mrs. William Stevens delighted the group with a short sketch of the life of "Amos and Andy," as told by themselves.

Willingboro Plans Programs

Miss Marian Pennington was the hostess to the Willingboro Senior Club on Saturday afternoon, March 22. An interesting part of the meeting was spent in planning a program for the club for the next three months. Included in the plans are nature study, first aid, and handicraft.

Medford St. Patrick's Party

The Medford High School Girl Reserves had a delightful St. Patrick's Party Monday evening, March 17, at the Y. W. C. A. Hall. Each girl wore a green costume, the decorations and refreshments were green, and games suggestive of Ireland were played. Mrs. Emily Osoobon is the new adviser of this club.

WRIGHT NOT OUT OF FREEHOLDER RACE

Medford Man Says He Will Shortly Announce His Candidacy for Re-election

Freeholder J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford, declares that contrary to newspaper reports, he is not "looking with longing eyes toward the superintendent's job at the Leeburg prison farm, recently left vacant by Major Stange, who advanced to the keeper's position at State Prison."

Wright, who is director of public affairs, is serving his second term on the Board of Freeholders. He was first elected in 1920 and after being succeeded on the Board by Freeholder Helmer, ran again as an independent and won his second term.

The Medford men say that he withdrew from the race as a "preclusion of his first term in favor of Mr. Helmer, in accordance with the provisions of a "harmony" program.

Three bandits bound Joseph Cathen in his home near Dublin and burned his feet with hot irons until he revealed the hiding place of his wages.

Labors to Steal Free Publications

The theft of some of its informational bulletins led the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick to announce that its publications are free and there is no need for anyone to break and enter to obtain them.

A thief whose avocation appears to be flower gardening and fruit growing happened open a glass show case in the horticultural building and made off with bulletins on apple and peach pruning, and on methods of cultivating tulips, narcissus, peonies and rhododendrons. A bulletin on the apples of New Jersey and another describing a device for testing peach texture were not taken.

Officials at the experiment station, while desirous of maintaining the present wide distribution of their informational bulletins, prefer that interested persons obtain them by less laborious methods. To that end, the publication office of the institution employs a mailing clerk to handle the thousands of requests received annually for bulletins, and 19 County extension offices in various sections of the State also disseminate the station publications. Any of these, which cover practically all phases of New Jersey agriculture, may be obtained free of charge.

LOCAL CONDITIONS DOMINATE IDEAS

Fish and Game Commission Flooded With Suggestions, States Report

A statement from the annual report of the New Jersey Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, as made public by Commissioner Benjamin Cooper, of Moorestown, follows:

"The Commission each year is flooded with ideas from sincere devotees of outdoor life for changes in the laws. Further, local conditions often dominate their opinions, and the State in its entirety is lost to sight."

Of late years the Board has acted on the policy that the constant changing of the laws, except where necessary, met with poor response from the legislators and the great body of sportsmen, and caused confusion among the law abiding. It is safe to say that if the Board and Legislature listened with action on the many suggestions, that most of our laws might be changed over night.

"Every idea presented to the Board, however, has been given careful consideration in the light of the greatest good to the greatest number, and the Commissioners take no little pride in the thought that they are engaged, not only in producing valuable dividends to the hunter and fisherman of today, but are conserving our wild life for future generations."

"The Board held several conferences with hunters and fishermen during the year, when there were interesting discussions of conditions. It is to be noted that as the result of such conferences there arises a better understanding among those participating."

"There are many problems which seem simple of solution in the matter of the underlying principle, but when the State's interests are viewed as a whole, the means at the hands of the Board and the conflicting interests, there are numerous difficulties to be overcome."

"At the beginning of one conference it was apparent that there was a feeling that the Board was not doing all it should do, but at its conclusion the visitors were undoubtedly impressed with the fact that the Commissioners were alive to all the situations, and the Commissioners extended a vote of thanks for their interest and action in true conservation."

NEW PEACH WITHSTANDS SEVERE WINTER WEATHER

The recent subnormal temperatures have had no adverse effect on the buds of New Jersey No. 66, the new peach seedling developed at the State Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick. This is the report of Prof. M. A. Blake, chief of the horticultural division, who states that "practically no bud injury has been found to date on the new seedling." Persons who desire to plant trees of the New Jersey No. 66 this spring may obtain them, in lots of 25 or more for commercial tests, by writing to Prof. A. J. Parry at the experiment station.

CO. ALMSHOUSE IS OVERCROWDED

Now Has Family of 129; Halls
Being Occupied as Sleeping Quarters

What he is going to do to take proper care of all of the inmates of the County Almshouse at New Lisbon is more than Superintendent Henry I. Worrell is able to figure out at this time, and he is wondering what anybody is going to do about it.

Last week the number reached 129. There were three arrivals during Wednesday of last week. In these days of unemployment and depression the demands upon the accommodations are so heavy that the institution is taxed far beyond its capacity.

At the present time the hallways as far as they can be used with safety are being occupied for sleeping quarters. Superintendent Worrell and his capable assistants are puzzled about the next moves that they may have to make. They expect more arrivals, as commitments have been decidedly regular lately, and what is going to happen to the overflow can't be figured out by any method with which they are familiar on the basis of ingenuity or past experience.

Those in charge are doing their best and hoping that no serious mistakes will be made, but all the while they are uneasy about the future that seems to present no avenue of relief. Superintendent Worrell doesn't want to be censured for putting two where only one should be, when the remedy is not in his hands.

BELIEVES FROST WILL HIT APPLES AND OTHER FRUIT

Frost and freezing damage to apples, pears, plums and strawberries between early April and the middle of May is predicted by Prof. M. A. Blake, horticulturist for the State Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick, unless the remainder of March is "unusually cool" or there develops "an extended period of dull cool weather when these fruits are in bloom." Premature development of fruit buds due to unseasonable warm weather, plus the certainty of expected frosts in the next few weeks, is the basis for the horticulturist's prediction. His statement closely follows published reports of earlier freezing and frost damage which is expected to reduce New Jersey's 1930 peach crop at least 50 per cent.

All former scholars and friends are cordially invited to attend this anniversary service on Friday, April 4th.

PLANE TALKS

By Lt. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County
Aero Club

The contract for 73 Keystone L. B.-10 Bombers, just recently made public by the War Department, is the largest order ever placed for Bomber Planes. This is a part of the several millions dollars' worth of contracts we told you about a few weeks ago. Now another order for 10 additional Keystone Air Yacht Amphibians was just placed by commercial interests. Another $300,000.00. You know the Keystone Aircraft Corporation is located at Bristol, Pa.

Our old friend, Lieutenant Eddie Pennock, dropped in on us at the Moorestown Airport, Sunday, in an Army O-17 ship. It sure was great to see you, Eddie.

New Jersey has 30 listed airports, 172 licensed airplanes and 230 licensed pilots. When you consider that New York State only has 54 airports, we may think we are pretty good, but take a look at sunny California with 156 airports, Los Angeles county alone having 53.

Russel Thaw flew over from Palco Field the other afternoon to tell us all about the new model Monocoupe with the 90 h. p. Lambert engine.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new twelve-passenger, single engine transport monoplane being developed by the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation, New Castle, Delaware. The new bi-quad-cooled, geared Curtiss Conqueror engine, developing 625 h. p., will be used.

The annual battle of the elements versus men and machinery will soon start, no less than seven Trans-Atlantic and Trans-Pacific flights being planned. If any should be successful, just what good will they do aviation?

"LARGEST KITE" FLIES AND FLOPS

Mount Holly Boys Encouraged by First Attempt With Monster

Mount Holly's first real monster of the air, the world's largest kite, constructed by Lester and William Albertson, Reginald Karke and Charles Morrell, from fifteen to seventeen years of age, and residents of Water street, was given its first try-out Wednesday afternoon of last week in a field along Water street and it went up and came down, and went up and came down again.

The uncharted descents must not be taken to mean that the experiment was a failure, and, above all things, the boys are not discouraged. The first time it came down the sash cord used to hold it under the control of about twenty-five boys was not strong enough and broke. After a heavy rope was attached there was another ascension, but this time young Karge was hanging to a cross bar when the thing went up. When it was up several feet he was shaken loose and his back was quite painfully strained when he landed on the ground.

During the ascension somebody stepped on the kite's tail and some of the ribs were broken when it came down. Repairs are now being made, the framework is being covered with muslin instead of paper and preparations are under way for another trial. The boys are not at the least discouraged. They say they have known of absolute failures in this aerial business, and then followed some of the greatest flying accomplishments in the world.

This kite was made by the four fellows mentioned and no gang ever had greater enthusiasm over an operation of the kind. They planned the whole thing and have labored industriously toward the goal of success that they hope to attain. Nobody disputes their claim that it is the largest kite in the world. It is 32 feet wide and 54 feet high and weighs about 40 pounds. Everybody will agree that it is a monster to take the air with nothing beyond kite flying ability of the boys to propel and sustain it. It is expected that there will be a tremendous crowd on hand for the next try-out.

Movie men, news photographers and reporters were on hand and they have the whole operation pictured as far as the boys were able to carry it on.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

TO FROSE THE CAKE

The making of a cake is in the frosting. That is, a good cake may be ruined by poor frosting and a mediocre cake may be much improved by good frosting. Marshmallow frosting is delicious. This is the way to make it.

Heat in a double boiler one-fourth a pound of marshmallows cut up into small pieces. When very soft add two tablespoons of boiling water, cover, and let cook until smooth. Meantime, heat six tablespoons of sugar in two tablespoons of milk over the fire; stir until sugar is melted, then let boil with constant stirring five or six minutes, and immediately beat into the softened marshmallows. Continue beating until nearly cool; add flavoring to taste, and spread at once over the cake.

CURRIED BEEF MOULDS

Half pound cold beef, four ounces breadcrumbs, two ounces butter, one egg, a seasoning of salt and pepper, half teaspoon curry powder, two tablespoons gravy, one tablespoon chutney, mashed potatoes or rice. Put the meat through a mincer, mix with the pepper and salt, curry powder mixed with the gravy, the melted butter, breadcrumbs and the beaten egg. Press firmly into small buttered moulds and steam gently for three-quarters of an hour. Serve turned out and surrounded with well-seasoned mashed potatoes, or rice sprinkled with chutney.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES

Two cups minced chicken, half cup fine breadcrumbs, some gravy or melted butter, one well-beaten egg, two hard-boiled eggs (yolks only), pepper, salt, chopped parsley to taste, flour, and fat for frying. Mix into paste the chicken, breadcrumbs and egg, adding enough gravy to moisten the whole. Next put in the seasonings and the yolks of the hard-boiled eggs, rubbed fine with a silver spoon. Mix into a paste, which must not be too wet, with the gravy or melted butter. Flour your hands, and shape the mixture into croquettes with your fingers, coating them well with flour. Fry a few at a time in hot fat.

CRANBERRIES

Many persons like cranberry sauce better than any other sort of cranberries. Others choose jelly. Either one should be most carefully made for the Christmas feast. You can make the jelly in a big mould, and serve it thus on the table, or you can make it in a flat pan and cut it in cubes—perhaps an inch and a half in measurement—and pass those. Cranberry sherbet is another delicious way to serve this appetizing winter berry. To make the sherbet, first wash the berries and then flavor them with plenty of sugar and drip them as you would for jelly, or if you like a thicker sherbet—and it is just as appetizing and slightly—rub them through a sieve. Then add water enough to make a quart (for a pint of berries) and freeze as you would any other sherbet. If you like, you can add the juice of a lemon and more sugar to give added flavor. But the straight cranberry flavor, properly sweetened, gives excellent results.

Broadcasts for Tom Noonan

Former Metropolitan Opera star, will be heard over the air next Sunday afternoon from The Rescue Society Mission, 5 and 7 Doyers street. On the same program the Rev. Anthony N. Vote Straight Tickets is Advice to Poultrymen

"Vote the straight ticket!"

Never before has the non-political Burlington County Extension Service proffered such advice, but this year is the exception.

The "ticket" referred to, however, deals not with politics or politicians; it is the "health ticket" of the "Wage War on Worms and Diseases Campaign" of the extension service, which shows poultrymen how to cut their chick losses to a figure as low as 9.9 per cent.

The County extension service is giving poultrymen the opportunity of voting this "straight ticket" through the distribution of health ballots, upon which are listed in concise form the seven points for checking poultry diseases and parasites. The poultrymen are being urged to vote for and follow all of these seven points during the 1930 chick rearing season. Ballots are to be returned to the County extension service, which, with the co-operation of the State Agricultural College and Experiment Station, will carry on an intensive campaign to acquaint poultrymen with the details of successful chick rearing.

The "straight ticket" for poultry health, as outlined by Chas. A. Thompson, County agricultural agent, provides for the following:

1. Hatch or buy chicks before May 15.
2. Keep brooder houses clean.
3. Provide clean range, or brood, in close confinement.
4. Keep old and young stock separate.
5. Protect fly-screened manure shed.
6. Wire the dropping boards with 1½-inch mesh, 16-gauge wire.
7. Clean the dropping boards daily.

This is the third year that the extension service has conducted a "Wage War on Worms and Diseases Campaign" for poultrymen. Records gathered throughout the State during the last two years reveal a marked decrease in mortality on those poultry farms where all seven recommendations of the campaign were followed.

Poultrymen who voted the "straight ticket" in 1928 reduced losses to 14.3 per cent, and in 1929 the same method brought the mortality rate down to a low level of 9.9 per cent.

By way of contrast, poultrymen who voted a "split ticket" suffered losses ranging from 16.8 to 20 per cent. in the past two years.

TURKEY FEATURE OF SPELLING BEE

Everybody Eats After Annual Contest at Peirce Business School

Nine hundred persons, guests of the Peirce School of Business Administration at the fourth annual Peirce Intercollegiate Spelling Championship, were tendered one of the big treats of the year, a full course turkey dinner which was served them at the school, Pine street, west of Broad, Philadelphia, Saturday, March 22, prior to the "Bee."

Whether or not there is any difference of opinion regarding the outcome of the spelling bee, every one agrees about the turkey dinner. It put all in a happy frame of mind and made for good fellowship, with students mixing with their teachers and principals. As yet there has never been a case of anyone eating themselves out of the championship.

James Christie, of Chester (Pa.) High School won the individual championship, while he correctly spelled the word "dilgreet" to defeat Kathryn Rabe, of Haddon Heights (N. J.) High School. Thirty-seven high schools entered a total of 185 contestants in the "Bee."

Egg Harbor (N. J.) High School easily won the team championship with a high total of 19 2-5 points. Moorestown High was runner-up with 12 2-5 points, and followed in order by Spring City with 6½, Mays Landing with 6, Quakertown with 5 2-5, Barnegat with 5, Chester with 2 2-5, Vineland with 1, Bristol with 1, and Lansdale with 0.

Of the forty-two contestants who qualified for the individual championship, only eleven were boys, so it is very significant that one of the eleven boys was the final winner. It makes the second year in succession that a Chester High entrant won the bee, and also marks the return to winning form of the boys, who lost out for the first time last year when Norma Bram, of Chester, was the winner.

Moorestown High, which was the runner-up this time and Spring City, which took third place, were the defending champions for team honors. These two schools tied for first place last year. Egg Harbor was tenth last year. The ten best teams qualified in this order: Egg Harbor, Barnegat, Mays Landing, Quakertown, Spring City, Vineland, Lansdale, Chester, Bristol and Moorestown.

Louis B. Moffett, Jr., Director of the Peirce Intercollegiate, presented prizes to the winners. The Egg Harbor team and James Christie were each presented with a plaque, medals were given to the members of the Egg Harbor and Moorestown teams, and also to James Christie and Kathryn Rabe. The champion speller of each school also received a cup.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 28
JESUS TEACHING AND HEALING
Matthew 15:21-31
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

An unusually large amount of related material is to be found in the context, so read from Matthew 13:53 to 16:12. John the Baptist was beheaded in the Macherus prison, the multitudes were fed and Jesus walked on the sea as He came to the storm-tossed disciples on Galilee. This period marks the climax of His popular favor. Thence special schooling is given in the Training of the Twelve for their work after His departure. When Jesus would not become the bread-making king for the people many turned against him. This was one reason for seeking retirement in the parts of Tyre and Sidon, just north of Galilee. The upper portion of this area is now under French mandate.

Usually we are entirely unconscious of the hidden misery, so close at hand, as we journey along the highway of life. Real tragedy is within many home circles and these problems are both real and vital. While Jesus sought to remain invisible He was soon recognized. It is only about forty miles from Nazareth to Tyre and Sidon is twenty miles further north. This Canaanite woman had a beloved daughter that was possessed by an evil spirit. For a study of this kind of ill, turn to "Demon-Posession and Allied Themes" by Nevilous, a veteran missionary to China. As the mother learned of the presence of this miracle-worker she knew that the opportunity of a life-time had come. She literally dogs the steps of Jesus as he cries out for help.

An important item right here is to note how personally this case is met. It is always that way on the part of Jesus Christ. No individual is lost in the mass, no matter how many

APPLE SCAB WILL BE EARLY THIS SEASON

W. R. Livesey, Burlington; Hiram Haines, Medford, and Clarence Balingier, Moorestown, are sending to the laboratory at New Brunswick regularly a supply of material from which determinations are made as to when apple scab infection is likely to occur.

A report received from Dr. W. H.

Martin, Plant Pathologist, on Saturday, states that a few mature spores have already been found in the material received from Burlington County. This indicates that scab infection will occur unusually early in Burlington County this year. Orchards in which scab has been troublesome in previous years should be sprayed with concentrated lime sulphur at the delayed dormant stage in preference to oil.

If oil is to be used, its application should not be delayed, for in all probability it will be necessary to follow almost immediately with a lime sulphur spray. If this application of lime sulphur is made prior to the prepping stage (when the central bud of the fruit cluster first shows color) lime sulphur should be diluted 1-20. If the spray is applied after the prepping stage, the concentrated lime sulphur solution may be diluted 1-40.

Our Largest and Best Investment

Taking the whole nation into consideration, it is probable that we spend more money every year for education than for anything else beyond the necessities of life, food, clothing and shelter. Certainly we spend, as a people, more money on schools and colleges than do the people of any other nation. School appropriations rank next to those for highways in most communities, ahead of road funds in many. And there is no other cause to which so much money is given by men of wealth who wish to prove their right to accumulated means by their wise disposition of their money.

Henry Ford recently announced that he plans to spend upward of one hundred million dollars on education. Mr. Ford has a very practical theory, which is that the average boy ought to be taught a trade after he has gone as far in the general schools as his circumstances permit. In the Ford Industrial School at Dearborn several hundred boys are constantly passing through courses which turn out the most highly skilled mechanics and junior engineers in the country. Those who have the will and the intelligence to do so go from the Ford school to the great technical universities and become expert engineers; the others never fail to find and hold highly-paid jobs.

That is one purpose of education—to enable its recipient to develop his talents to the best economic advantage to himself and society. Another purpose is to enable him to get the greatest possible enjoyment out of life. The joys which last are those which have their roots in the cultivation of the emotional perceptions. Of these, Mr. George Eastman believes, music is the most enduring. So out of the sixty million dollars which he has already given for educational purposes, nearly all of it has gone for the teaching of music and cultivation of the appreciation of music.

There is no compilation available of the amounts of money which private contributors have given for educational purposes in America. George Washington set the example when he founded and endowed a free school in Alexandria, Va., which is still going. John Smithson, the illegitimate son of an English Duke, gave half a million dollars a hundred years ago to establish a great scientific educational institution in America, the Smithsonian Institution of Washington. A hundred or more of Andrew Carnegie's millions went into educational funds, not counting the libraries which he founded, themselves educational institutions. John D. Rockefeller is estimated to have given away more than seven hundred and fifty millions, nearly all of it for education.

The only cure for the troubles of humanity is education. It is the slow but sure method of changing human nature. No revolution, no legislation, no "reform" movement, ever gave humanity a new outlook on life. The right sort of education can do that—in time. It is worth all it costs.

Two Months

Official reports given out by heads of Departments, emphasize the statement recently made by President Hoover to the effect that business will probably return to normal in two months. Many industrial activities are showing renewed life, according to the official reports. Even the stock market is beginning to breathe regularly again.

MORE THAN ONE MAN IN THIS TOWN KEEPS HIS RE-LIGION IN HIS WIFE'S NAME

"What do you think of the new typist?" asked the boss. "How is she doing her work?"

"Well," replied the clerk, "I don't know. But she spells atrociously."

"Really," replied the boss, "she must be pretty good then. I can't spell it myself."

"Now, James," said the teacher, "if your father can do a piece of work in one hour and your mother can do it in one hour, how long would it take them to do it together?"

"Three hours," answered James, "counting the time they would waste in arguing."

Father: "I don't like to see our daughter lighting cigarettes."

Modern Mother: "Oh, don't be old-fashioned, John."

Father: "It isn't that. She's too young to be playing with matches."

"You look very downcast."

"Yes, my wife has been away for six weeks and I wrote her every week and said I spent the evenings at home."

"Well?"

"She is back now and the light bill has come in—it's for fifty cents."

Girl: "This is where that young fellow I told you about grabbed me and kissed me."

Honely Friend: "Let's hang about for a bit. They say they always re-visit the scene of a crime."

The Value of Little Things

The story is being told of a lazy young man who got a job on an English railroad. He started "at the bottom" but didn't like the hard work. He asked the management for a "thinking job" and was told that if he would think of one idea a year which would save the company money they would give a salary proportioned to what he saved them. After a week he came back with his first great idea. He had noticed that all the rolling stock of the road bore the initials of the Great Western Railway in gilt letters. Anybody could tell by looking at them, he said, that they belonged to a railway, so why paint on the unnecessary "R." The company officials, whose head is an American, by the way, had an estimate made and found they could save $35,000 a year by using "G. W." instead of "G. W. R." So the lazy young man's salary is $3,000 a year.

A famous economist once calculated that one inch added to the shirt-tail of every inhabitant of China would make some millions of profit annually for the Manchester cotton mills. A boy in the stationery stock room of a big manufacturing concern worked out a plan for reducing all printed forms to a few standard sizes and grades of paper and saving the company $35,000 a year. When the first Ford car to cross the Rocky Mountains under its own power came back to the factory, Mr. Ford noticed that one bolt was missing. He learned that it had been lost east of Denver. "We don't need it, then," he said. The car design was changed to omit the unnecessary bolt, costing four or five cents to make and install. The saving on the next twelve million Model T's was more than half a million dollars.

Sometimes it pays to spend money liberally. It always pays to cut out unnecessary expense.

Curves Are in Again

Employers of women, particularly young women, welcome the passing of the drastic semi-starvation 18-day diet once so popular in Hollywood. It is definitely being supplanted in public favor by the more rational 30-day diet, which provides a balanced ration producing health and energy and at the same time bringing the willowy curves which are now the accepted mode. And the girls are pleased too, for the new diet is much more palatable and in practice is more comfortable. Mealtimes are again something to look forward to.

As far as vitality and vigor were concerned, the 18-day diet was a fast rather than a diet. It contained so little of the elements necessary to form a sound ration that its practitioners were hampered both at work and at play by lassitude, and that "all gone" feeling. Members of the film colony on the Pacific Coast who attempted its rigorous limitations soon discovered their physical inability to maintain their program of work and recreation.

The originator of the Hollywood 30-day diet is Nancy Carroll, one of the younger screen stars. With the aid of doctors and dieticians she fashioned a combined program of exercising and sensible daily menus. The principle of the new diet is the retarding of the reducing process by extending the time to 30 days, and the reduction of the daily calories without eliminating the carbohydrates which are so necessary to health and vigor. One pleasant feature is the inclusion of sweets as an essential part of the menu. The "dieter" is permitted, and even encouraged, to eat candy every day, preferably as a dessert after luncheon and dinner.

The popularity of the new "diet" is another proof that the pendulum of fashion has swung over to curves and health again, and that the mad craze for slimmest bordering on emaciation is fast disappearing from the American scene.

Uncle Si Tinklepaugh says one reason some folks rather listen to a poor radio program than a good piece of music on the phonograph is that they're too lazy to change the records.

Somebody has discovered a region in West Virginia with 30,000 people and not a single telephone. Just the place we've been looking for. Sounds as if a man could do a day's work there without being interrupted by people calling wrong numbers.

"Do you ever hear from Mary?"
"No, let's call her up!"

NEW JERSEY BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

A NEW JERSEY INSTITUTION BACKED BY NATIONAL RESOURCES

EDISON

Think for a minute of what one man, still active in his 84th year, has done to change the world in a single lifetime. He made the telephone a practical instrument. He invented the incandescent light. He invented the phonograph. He invented the motion picture. Imagine a world without those inventions. It is impossible, except to those whose memories, like my own, go back to the time when Edison was known only as the inventor of the multiplex telegraph.

Now he has found a way to get rubber out of goldenrod, not as a commercial product, but as a war reserve resource. And he is still working.

"A man can't die so long as he keeps busy," he told me once.

MUSIC

Good music is increasing in popularity, but there are more musicians out of work than ever before. We are getting our music more and more by mechanical methods of reproduction.

First the phonograph, then the radio, now the sound motion pictures, have brought the very best music, played and sung by the highest grade of musical talent, within reach of everybody. The largest piano company in America went into bankruptcy recently. Pianos are still sold, and always will be. There will always be youngsters with talent coming along to produce the good music of tomorrow. And there are more "freak" instruments being sold than ever—saxophones, ukuleles and the like. There are probably more first-class singers of American birth and training appearing in public now than ever before. But the second-rate and hopelessly third-rate musicians no longer command audiences. The American people have developed a higher taste in music.

CHURCHES

"I could empty every country church and half the city churches on Sunday mornings by broadcasting better sermons and services than all but a few great churches offer," the head of one of the great broadcasting chains said to me the other day.

The time is coming when small-town churches will install radio sets and get their music and their sermons out of the air. They will need no local preacher, but instead will become centers for community work in the name of God, making it their charge to protect the moral and physical health of their communities, to inspire the amusements and elevate the educational standards of their young folk.

RUBBER

Rubber gets its name because its first use was to rub out pencil marks. The Spanish conquistadores found Mexican and Brazilian children playing with balls of this peculiar gum, but it was three hundred years before it became a commercial product. Mackintosh, the Scotchman, used it first to waterproof cloth; Goodyear, the American, found how to take the stickiness out while retaining the elasticity.

A very small amount of commercial rubber is grown in the United States, in California and Arizona, where it is produced from the guayule shrub. Most of it comes from the East Indies and South America. Harvey Firestone is planting a million acres to rubber trees in Liberia, Africa. Unskilled cheap labor is necessary to keep the price of rubber down. A difference of 50 cents a pound in the price of crude rubber may mean a difference of $10 in the price of automobile tires.

The next step will be the discovery of a method of reclaiming old rubber and using it again.

LAWS

It ought to be apparent by this time that the effort to make people good by passing laws is a failure. The other day a judge in New York sentenced a young woman to prison for life. He had no option; it was her fourth conviction for larceny and under the Beames law a fourth offender must be locked up until he or she dies. That isn't going to do this girl or society any good. The time when something could have been done about her case was when she was a child. She grew up without education, without moral sense, without any feeling of responsibility.

The only reason we put people in prison or execute them is because we are afraid of them. Our prison population has doubled in twenty years. As we grow more prosperous we become more afraid of the unprosperous. It might be a good plan to spend as much money trying to keep people out of prison as we spend now to keep them in it.

SHOWS NEED FOR AMPLE DAIRY BARN VENTILATION

Adequate ventilation of the dairy barn is the preventive of "barny" odors sometimes characteristic of milk produced by herds that are closely confined in winter. The need for ample barn ventilation in the production of milk for discriminating markets is generally recognized by dairymen, and many of them have installed flue-controlled ventilating systems to meet this need. Some dairymen, however, lacking the money to install such a system, have not recognized the possibilities of window ventilation as a substitute for one of the flue-controlled systems.

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO BREATHE?

I once had the misfortune to know a pessimist. There was some excuse for his pessimism. He was a narrow-chested chap threatened with tuberculosis.

He had given himself up for lost. One night somebody induced him to go to a singing school.

A year later his chest was filled out; there was a sparkle in his eye; his laugh could be heard a city block away.

He had learned how to breathe. Even when you practice deep breathing exercises you probably do not fill your entire lung capacity.

You expand your chest; but the really important part of your breathing is done with your diaphragm—a big flat muscle that forms the floor of your chest.

And the abdominal muscles are the boys you never hear of. If you are to get the most out of your diaphragm, fill your lungs until you feel your stomach muscles hard against your belt.

That means that your diaphragm has straightened down and is massaging the top of your stomach and intestines—helping along with the process of elimination.

When you breathe out, do it forcibly, with the stomach muscles; like a horse snorting—but without the snort.

Your stomach and intestines will be forced up against the diaphragm again and given another massage. Breathing in is important, but breathing out is much more important.

Read sometime a book by a man like Thoreau, or John Burroughs, or Stewart Edward White—one of the great open-air writers.

Then, while the impression of its rich, bounding optimism is still strong upon you, pick up a book written by one of the Russian novelists, or by one of our modern long-haired writers who believe that realism necessarily means murder and drunkenness and prostitution.

What a difference! And what makes the difference?

The realist will tell you that it is because he thinks deeply, while the optimistic writer thinks superficially.

As a matter of fact, the difference is not in the brains of the two men, but in their livers.

It is not the depth of their thinking so much as the depths of their lungs.

The corpuscles of the one are red and fed with oxygen; the corpuscles of the other are pale and fed with cigarette smoke and germs.

"For what, after all, is Life?" asks an old Sanskrit quotation. And answers: "Life is the interval between one breath and another—he who only half breathes only half lives."

UNCONQUERED

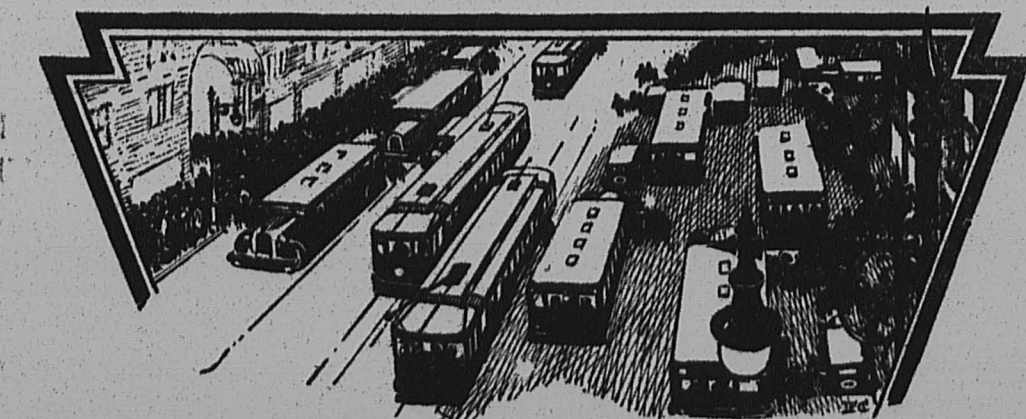

By William Ernest Henley

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods there be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find me, unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul.

PUBLIC SERVICE and TRANSIT

FACTS AND FIGURES from the ANNUAL REPORT OF PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION OF NEW JERSEY

IN 1929, Public Service carried on street cars and motor buses a total of 655,484,666 passengers, an increase over 1928 of 12,350,485.

Public Service is operating 54 street car lines, using in the service 1,170 cars and 212 motor bus lines, using 2,325 motor buses.

During the year $8,530,343.09 was spent for capital improvements and additions, including the purchase of 293 new motor buses of the latest and best type.

The comprehensive system of local transportation maintained by Public Service contributes in full measure to the growth and development of the territory served.

The character of the community with its many separate municipalities, politically independent, but economically interdependent, requires adequate and convenient transportation facilities in and between them.

To meet this need Public Service has by coordinating street car and motor bus service, created a unique system of transit, which it is constantly improving and expanding to better and further serve the people of the State.

For the development of the more populous sections of New Jersey, local transportation facilities have been largely responsible, and they will play an increasingly important part as time goes on.

"No single service offered the people of the State creates greater benefits than the transportation system provided by Public Service."

REMARKABLE IS THIS CASE WON BY NEW KONJOLA

"I Was Amazed at the Wonderful Results I Obtained," Says Grateful Man

MR. JOSEPH DUNN

"I was amazed at the wonderful results I obtained from Konjola," said Mr. Joseph Dunn, 19 Pleasant street, Auburn, N.Y. "My kidneys were in a poor condition, causing dreadful pains across my back, and cruel headaches kept me from sleeping. I had to get up two or three times every night on account of bladder actions. I had no appetite, and what I did eat caused intense suffering. Gas formed, and my stomach bloated. I was anxious to find some worthwhile relief."

"Friends told me about Konjola, and urged me to give this new medicine a trial. I did, and how Konjola met the test! It wasn't long before my digestion was restored, and my stomach was returned to its normal condition. My kidneys have been corrected, and I never have to get up during the night. I have more pep and energy, and look and feel like a different man. Do you wonder that I am enthusiastic about this modern medicine?"

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Fear ye not, neither be afraid, have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? ye are even my witnesses. Is there a God beside me? yea, there is no God; I know not any" (Isaiah 44:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science reveals incontrovertibly that Mind is All-in-all, that the only realities are the divine Mind and idea" (p. 109).

CHRIST CHURCH

Parry Avenue
Rev. G. J. McCormack

Half-way through Lent! One can check up by a percentage basis, how much of an effort has been made to appropriate the Easter message? One big Easter service can mean little or nothing to many—much more honest to have nothing to do with the day than to fool yourself that Christ will give his blessing without any personal effort.

Crowded Easter services have very little satisfaction to many pastors, for if Easter, with its triumphant notes, is a reality, it will show in definite ways, and none more surely than by the manifest keen personal preparation.

The visit of Miss Arnold, Provincial Secretary of the Girls' Friendly Society, was a very helpful event and her message will be remembered for a long time.

Mrs. S. G. Wells gave a very breezy message when she spoke of the "United Thank Offering" last Monday, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary. Every occasion for thankfulness finds the little blue box used as a means for recording blessings received, and as a result 200 women missionaries have been maintained in the field. In addition, a Nurses' Home has been built in Raleigh, N. C., and at Berkeley, Calif.; schools at Porto Rico, Florida, and North Carolina; a chapel at St. Margaret's School, Tokio, Japan; and dormitories in Minnesota. The gifts from these blue boxes total nearly a million and a quarter dollars.

The young people are preparing for their Easter pageant, under the leadership of Miss Helena Hannold, and will doubtless make as good an appeal as they did at Christmas.

The Rev. Dr. R. Brestell, of St. Paul's Church, Camden, will be the speaker at the Lenten Service on Wednesday evening next. The congregation have been very fine and have steadily increased.

The Church School is to have a slight break during our Lenten fast when an evening of moving picture fun, with appropriate films, will be given by Robert Borer, Thursday 27th, in the Parish House.

During the Lenten season the Woman's Auxiliary are sewing for the Church Mission of Help and give you a hearty greeting to assist this very worthy cause. They meet every Wednesday at 2.30.

Services Fourth Sunday in Lent: 10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer and Sermon, "One Thing I Know." 2.30 p. m. Church School, "Sickness, Sin, Sorrow." 8.00 p. m. Evenson and Sermon, "Impossible Commands." Past achievements will not atone for present duties left undone.

Burlington County Movie Magnate Without Five Dollars to Pay Fine

Thirty Dollars Drops on Table but Jacob B. Fox Doesn't Know
It and Has to Give Palmyra Recorder Check for Reckless Driving Penalty

Jacob B. Fox, Burlington County movie magnate, and reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in this section, was unable to pay a five-dollar fine assessed against him by Recorder William L. Fichter, of Palmyra, last Friday night.

Fox was arrested by Troopers Turnbull, McBride and Piana, of the Delanco Barracks of the State Police, on a charge of reckless driving, when he crossed the intersection of Burlington pike and Cinnaminson avenue at a high rate of speed.

He was brought to Palmyra and arraigned before Recorder Fichter, who fined him $5.00 and costs. Reaching into his wallet for the money Fox was surprised to find that he did not have enough money. The Recorder agreed to take his check after Fox showed him papers to establish his identity.

A few minutes after the theatre owner had left Fichter noticed a small manila folder on the table and upon examining it found it to contain six five-dollar bills. He thought he had seen such a folder among the papers Fox had shown him for identification and laid it aside to await results. The next morning Fox called up to ask about the money and explained his son had slipped it into his pocket an hour or so before his arrest, and that he didn't know he had that much money with him.

The same evening John J. Gilbert, of Burlington, was brought in by the Troopers and also fined $5.00 and costs on a charge of reckless driving. Shortly after this the three Troopers went out to patrol the highways and just happened along in time to arrest the two Camden racketeers, Harry McClain and Henry Hornisey, who were with Howard "Gimp" Thomas at the time he was killed in a mysterious automobile accident near Ellensburg last Friday night.

Shortly before coming up to the scene of the wrecked car the Troopers saw two suspicious men in a field along the road and when they quickly returned to where they had seen the men and arrested them. They later happened along in the car when it was wrecked.

BANKERS STUDY CHAIN BANKING

The Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has been specifically instructed by the general convention of the association to study and report on chain and group banking developments, and also on the proposal of the Comptroller of the Currency for an extension of branch banking in the national banking system, to permit those banks to conduct branches in the trade areas surrounding their locations.

R. S. Hecht, President Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans, Louisiana, is chairman of the commission. The members are: George E. Roberts, Vice President National City Bank, New York, N. Y.; vice chairman; Nathan Adams, President American Exchange National Bank, Dallas, Texas; Leonard P. Ayres, Vice President Cleveland Trust Co., Cleveland, Ohio; Frank W. Blair, Chairman of Board Union Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan; Walter W. Head, President Foreman-Stat National Bank, Chicago; W. D. Longyear, Vice President Security-First National Bank, Los Angeles, California; Walter S. McClaugh, Chairman of Board Commerce Trust Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Max B. Naim, Vice President Citizens National Bank, Bowling Green, Kentucky; Melvin A. Traylor, President First National Bank, Chicago; Paul M. Warburg, Chairman of Board International Acceptance Bank, New York, N. Y.; O. Howard Wolfe, Cashier Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Gurden Edwards, American Bankers Association, New York City, secretary.

A survey showing the extent to which chain and group banking has been made and issued in booklet form by the American Bankers Association of New York City.

SECTIONS WHERE SAVINGS DECREASED

A regional analysis of the drop in the national savings deposits in banks, as recently reported by the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division in its annual compilation for 1929 showing the first recession in national savings in the twenty years during which it has published this data, reveals that all sections except the New England and the Pacific States groups recorded losses.

The published figures showed that on June 29, 1929, the total savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States stood at $23,217,656,000, which was $195,305,000 below the similar total for 1928, when there was an increase of $2,209,000,000.

The regional analysis by state groups discloses, however, that the six New England states as a group gained more than $58,500,000 in savings and 152,984 in savings depositors, while the seven Pacific states as a group gained over $79,600,000 in deposits and nearly 273,000 in number of depositors. The gains in these two sections, however, were smaller than the gains recorded there for 1928. The sections which showed losses are the Middle Atlantic States, Southern States, East Central States and the West Central States.

American Legion Auxiliary News

All members are invited to participate in the exercises in conjunction with the laying of the corner-stone of the new high school in Riverside Saturday afternoon. The Riverside Legion Post has been assigned the honor of laying this corner-stone and all Posts and Auxiliaries in Burlington County are invited to join in the exercises. There will be a short parade, forming at the Legion Home in Riverside at 2.45 p. m. There will be "cater" for all and a good time is promised. Members of this unit who can arrange to go will please notify the president as soon as possible.

Several members attended County meeting held in Moorestown last Friday evening. This was a very interesting meeting and the rehabilitation and child welfare reports of the various units in this County were ample proof of the immense amount of work that has been carried on by the Auxiliaries this past fall and winter. The demands on these committees are very heavy and seem to be increasing daily. Members who do not attend these County meetings surely miss a lot of interesting facts in connection with our work and it is hoped that there will be more representatives from our unit attend these meetings in the future.

On Friday, April 11th, our National President, Mrs. Donald McCrae, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be held in the junior ballroom of Hildebrecht's in Trenton. This will indeed be a very enjoyable affair. Tickets for this luncheon are $1.50 and all members who would like to attend are requested to get in touch with the president as soon as possible, as all reservations must be made by April 7th. Don't forget the date—April 11th, at 1.00 p. m., at Hildebrecht's, in Trenton. Must be done by April 7th.

We are planning a card party at the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, about April 23rd. Details will be available at an early date, so keep in touch with your unit, invite your friends and make this a big party. We had a very good time there last year, when we went, and it will do your heart good to see how much an afternoon's pleasure means to these men who are so far away from home and everything that goes to make life happy.

WHEN MINUTES COUNT

"I'll Phone the Prescription," said the Doctor

"Take your car and get it!"

HURRY! HURRY! ... There's not a minute to lose! ... Speeding through the harsh, cold night, it's good to know that the prescription has gone ahead of you.

You realize now your dependence upon the druggist—the man with the mortar and pestle and his bottles of prescription chemicals, compounding the medicine your doctor prescribed.

Perhaps you haven't realized that it is the sale of everyday necessities which enables your druggist to stay in your neighborhood, ready to serve you in the time of sickness, too.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D. BIRTH CONTROL

A subject that has been engaging the reading, intelligent American public for some time. It is unfortunate that the ignorant shack-dweller, who reads nothing, and would not understand if he did, cannot participate in this eminently vital question. I am a believer in rational birth-control, obtaining my convincing evidence from my environment. I understand that both Church and State oppose the movement.

I know of many families that could support two children, and make of them respectable citizens, that utterly founder on six. The day of quality and manna being showered over the Israelites has passed; it is only the man who can pass the cash over the counter that can afford to educate. We need educated, enlightened citizenry in America now more than ever before. The dozen poor children huddled together in rags, with no money to buy clothing and school equipment, stronger a sermon for birth control than words can portray.

These starvelings grow up into men and women the same as all animals grow up—with the one distinction that they vote. What they vote for can better be imagined than described. They are compelled to pay for what they consume—or do without; the bonus of crime appeals strongly; they have little dread of prison life; they may live better in prison than at "home." Their battered, hungry natures crave stimulation—they get it if they have to kill for it. If they marry and reproduce, it is in conformity with the inexorable law that like begets like.

Honest, earnest working mothers appeal to the doctors for relief from the calamity that another baby would bring. The law makes it a crime for the tender-hearted family doctor to tell such women how to prevent conception. The doctor knows that two babies could be raised properly by the average couple, where ten would produce invalidism, drudgery, poverty, squalor, and utter ineffectiveness.

WILMINGTON BOWS TO MOORESTOWN

Local Swimmers Surprisingly Upset Southern Natators by Score 37 to 29

On last Thursday evening the Moorestown Community House swimming team met the strong Wilmington Y. M. C. A. swimmers in the new "Y" building at Wilmington, Delaware, and completely upset the "apricot" by defeating the southerners by a score of 37 to 29.

These same two teams met previously at Moorestown and the local boys were given an overwhelming trouncing by the count of 42 to 18.

With Captain "Hank" Roberts splashing to three well-earned first places the Moorestown boys were inspired to the highest pitch. Hank's victories came in his three favorites, the 100-yard free-style, 50-yard back stroke and the 50-yard free-style.

Little "Bud" Paulsen gave the town natators their other first place in the diving event with 4 points, just nosing out "Johnny" Alden, his teammate, by one point. Cooper, Graham and McCourt also gathered points to make the Moorestown victory more sure.

This victory against the Delaware aggregation and the win at Trenton against the Trenton Y. M. C. A. are the two most noteworthy accomplishments of the Juliana-coached team during this season. The local splashes have three more meets before the season closes and they hope to win all three of them. If this prediction comes true then the boys will surely have enjoyed a very successful season.

Summaries of the Wilmington meet: 200-Yard Relay—Won by Wilmington, Wilson, McGuire, Fisher and Palmer. Second, Moorestown. Time 1:56.

Diving—Won by Paulsen, Moorestown (48 points); second, Alden, Moorestown (47 points); third, Beeson, Wilmington (44 points).

25-Yard Free Style—Won by Wilmington; second, Graham, Moorestown; third, McGuire, Wilmington. Time 12:3.

5-Yard Back Stroke—Won by Roberts, Moorestown. 2nd McGuire Wilmington. 3rd Holt, Wilmington. Time 34:1. 50-Yard Free Style—Won by Roberts, Moorestown. 2nd McGuire Wilmington. 3rd McCourt, Moorestown. Time 27 sec. 50-Yard Breast Stroke—Won by Kenworthy, Wilmington. 2nd Paulsen, Moorestown. 3rd Rosenzweig, Wilmington. Time 37:4. 100-Yard Free Style—Won by Roberts, Moorestown; 2nd Cooper, Moorestown; 3rd Wilson, Wilmington. Time 54 sec.

As the golf season is about to open at the Moorestown Field Club with quite a few new members and beginners, it will be useful to know what some experienced players consider the proper clubs to use in starting to learn the Ancient and Royal Game.

A Spoon, Mashie, Midiron, and Putter will be found to be about as many as can be used for some weeks. A Spoon, used as a driver, has a greater loft than a Brassie or Driver, and will lift the ball into the air much easier.

The Mashie will be used for the approach, and getting out of sand and out of the rough, until the Midiron is mastered later.

The Putter, of course, is necessary on the greens, as no other club will be allowed. The Midiron, or No. 2, will be used on the fairway for a long distance shot when the ball is in a cuppy or low lie, or for a shot that will not be as long as a Spoon shot. Also, when the ground is very hard in the hot weather, instead of lifting the ball on an approach shot with a mashie, one will find the Midiron an exceptionally useful club for a runner up to the cup, as a Mashie shot if not played short of the green, and allowed to run to the cup, is more than likely to end in a bunker on the far side of the green.

In beginning to play, do not try all of the other clubs, because you master the ones already mentioned, the others will not be quite so difficult to use later. If you find that you can use your iron to good advantage, it will not hurt to slip a No. 3, or Mid-Mashie in your bag, as many times it will become very useful.

Boxing and Wrestling at Community House Scores Big Hit at Moorestown

"Free-for-All"; With Local Boys Participating, Comes as Thrilling Climax to Exciting Athletic Program Enjoyed by Crowd of 300

More than three hundred men were present at the men's smoker held Friday at Moorestown Community House. The crowd got so much fun and enjoyment from the program that the committee in charge of the affair were well repaid for its time and efforts.

Unusual exhibitions of boxing, wrestling, tumbling, and muscle control were put on. There was a total of eight different attractions and it is hard to pick one of the eight which could be called the best, but the bout between "Hoot" Graham and "Johnny" Fountain produced the most applause.

These two lads from the home town put on one of the toughest battles of the evening and had the spectators in an uproar all the time. At one time during the second round of this bout the referee was so hot that the boys paid no attention to where they were in the ring and the next moment both were picking themselves from the floor outside the canvas. Both lads were so intent on fighting that they slipped through the ropes onto the floor.

If there was a decision to be given for this encounter the verdict of a draw would be made, both lads were so evenly matched that there was little that would give either the lead above the other.

A wrestling bout which drew the approval of the followers of the many look "one on the chin" and it was a matter of swing and duck or else someone was bound to get in the way of a wild punch.

This smoker pleased the men so that they are shouting for another. "Hold everything," says "Al" LeConey and his committee. "There'll be another soon."

MASONVILLE

The Parent-Teacher Association cleared $85 from its recent supper held in the Fire House. The association has under consideration the purchase of a motion picture machine for use in the school, which proves that the association has the welfare of the schools under consideration at all times.

The ladies of Centennial Home held a card party in Brotherhood Hall on Monday evening. It was well attended. Centennial Circle has announced that on April 17 they will have as guests the Grand Chief Washington and his staff of officers. All members are urged to attend.

Carlous C. Davis, local station agent, returned home on Friday, together with Mrs. Davis, from an extended visit to the Pacific Coast. Mr. and Mrs. Davis visited Mexico, California, Oregon and Washington. This trip was but one of many the couple have taken to various points all over the United States.

Thirty-six former members and guests of the Masonville Glee Club, an organization which existed a few years ago and which subsequently disbanded, met in Brotherhood Hall on Friday evening on the occasion of a "get-together" meeting, instigated by Messrs. W. Mason Fogg, C. W. Stiltz and R. C. Bougher, who were identified with the club in its "hey day."

Each former member was asked whether he favored the reorganization of the club, and it was unanimously agreed to reorganize. Another meeting has been called for Friday evening, April 4, at which time the club is expected to formally reorganize. "There is no question, but what the movement will have the hearty endorsement of the entire community. The present incomplete plans call for a meeting monthly on and after April 4. W. Mason Fogg was elected president; C. W. Stiltz, treasurer, and R. C. Bougher, secretary. All former members are requested to keep April 4 in mind and to be present.

Among those present at the "get-together" meeting of the former members of the Masonville Glee Club were: John Zelley, Oaklyn; Robert Smith, Seaside Heights; Randall and Orville Maser, Mount Holly; Earl Zelley, Clarence Graham and Edward Gibbs, Camden; Arthur Hoes, Riverside; H. V. Iverson, Burlington; Elmer Bougher, Westville; Arthur Bensel, Ranococas; W. E. Gibbs, Ranococas; Herbert Coverly, George DeBolt, C. W. Stiltz, Leonard Stiltz, Howard, Clifford, Wilbur and Randolph Johnson, Maurice Forvour, Harry Jacobs, Albert Roberts, Fred Gibbs, John Gibbs, Norman Shinn, Franklyn Elbersen, Charles Elbersen, W. H. Bougher, Adam Weber, W. Mason Fogg, David Garlinger, R. C. Bougher.

The unemployment situation has affected the shipping of heating sand, an industry about Masonville which usually employs a number of men, and which is usually in full swing by this time. As a result, many of the residents are without work.

One of the surprises on the fashion program for 1929 is the return of the "shirt-waist." And, for one, would never have chosen this fashion of the past for revival. The very word shirt-waist is one that has been banished from the vocabulary of the fashion reporter, who has long since learned to substitute the words blouse or bodice for the sort of thing that was once called a "waist."

But here it is—the shirt-waist of 1929; and there is no longer any doubt of its acceptance.

Another wrestling bout which was a "humdinger" was that between Roy Hullings and George Connely. Roy, a Moorestown lad, had the better of George, and was able to muster two falls to none before the time limit was up. This bout impressed the men very favorably and, of course, when their favorite won were justly pleased.

MEN'S CLUB HAS FORUM PROGRAM

Palmyra Group Enjoys Short Talks by Eight Speakers on Interesting Subjects

The regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, was held in the Parish House on Monday evening with an unusual number of the members present.

At this meeting one of the club's popular forum programs was presented, and proved an extremely entertaining and enlightening feature, being thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

The members participating in the forum presented their subjects as follows:

James Davidson spoke upon "Dredging for Sand and Gravel," in which he explained the methods of procedure, starting with the sounding or prospecting to the final ready mixed concrete for delivery to any building site.

Herbert Warren chose as his subject a story entitled "Face to Face," and sympathetically portrayed a word picture of two young men who had been incarcerated for their wrongdoing, and after their release followed the straight and narrow way, and who were brought face to face twenty-five years later by the wrongdoing of the son of one of these men.

William Rawlings spoke upon the topic, "Across the American Continent in Ten Minutes." He gave some interesting facts regarding the various places en route.

Ralph S. Rivers introduced the unusual subject entitled "How to Fail," and successfully put across the fact that the surest way to fail, mentally, physically, ethically and spiritually, was to do nothing that would benefit some community, organization, or person.

George B. Snyder spoke regarding "Sports in Palmyra," and showed the decadence that existed in sports is due to the indifference of the people as a whole, and to the rapaciousness of certain groups.

S. L. W. Fields portrayed the intricacies of "Why Is a Freight Rate?" tracing its development from the early days to the present time.

William McConnell spoke upon "Human Development" and remarked upon the tremendous strides that humans have made in the last twenty-five years as compared to the previous two hundred and fifty years. He also brought out the thought that while all could not be a prime mover in this progress, yet all are benefited by having witnessed this progress, and having played a little part in the purpose for which the Creator placed them on this earth.

Richard E. Wilson was in charge of the forum and as the last feature presented a novelty which evoked a great deal of interest and merriment.

Giles Knight, of 211 Howard street, Riverton, was nominated and elected to membership.

The club orchestra greatly added to the delightfulness of the occasion by the rendering of pleasing music before, during and after the meeting.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by members of the St. Agnes Guild.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1929-30 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 23

The London Sunday Times has just completed another of its competitions, involving twelve questions on Auction Bridge. The interest that these competitions arouse is really remarkable. Very often five thousand or more competitors enter the competition. The prizes are awarded by judges appointed for that purpose, so you will have an opportunity to compare your solution with that of the English judges and the writer. If available, the decision of the majority of the competitors in each question will also be given. The questions follow and the analysis of each will be given in the next article.

Z is always the dealer and the players are seated at the table as follows:

Y B
A Z

1. Z Y, one game; A B, 0. Z bids "One No-Trump"; A, "No Bid"; Y, "Two Hearts"; B, "No Bid". What should Z say holding Spades, A, J, 10, 6, 5; Hearts, A, Diamonds, A, Q, 7, 4, 3; Clubs, A, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1?

2. Z Y, 10; A B, 0 in rubber game. Where Z said "No Bid"; A, "No Bid"; Y, "One Spade"; B, "Two Hearts"; A, "Three Clubs"; Y, "Three Spades"; what should B say, holding Spades, A, 10, 4; Hearts, A, Q, J, 7, 6, 4; Diamonds, A, 6, 3; Clubs, Q?

3. Z Y, 10; A B, 9 in rubber game. Where Z bid, "One No-Trump"; A, "Two Hearts"; Y, "No Bid"; B, "Two Spades"; Z, "Three Diamonds"; A, "Four Clubs"; Y, "Four Diamonds"; what should B say, holding Spades, K, Q, 10, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2; Hearts, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2; Diamonds, 6; Clubs, Q, 9, 8, 7?

Answer to Problem No. 20

Spades—J

Diamonds—J, 7, 5

Spades—none

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win five of the six tricks against any defense?

Solution: Trick one: Z should lead the five of diamonds, winning the trick in Y's hand with the queen, and B is forced to discard. He cannot discard a heart or Y Z will have three heart tricks. He is thus forced to discard a club. If he discards the trey of clubs, he can be forced in the lead later and be obliged to lead a losing heart trick. To avoid this situation, B should discard the queen of clubs so that A's seven of clubs can win the first round of clubs.

Trick Two: Y should now lead the deuce of hearts and Z should win the trick with the queen.

Trick Three: Z should now lead the jack of diamonds, A follows suit and Y should discard the four of clubs. B is thus again forced to discard. He cannot discard a heart or Y will have two good heart tricks. He is forced to discard a club, therefore, and the club discarded should be the king so that

B cannot be forced in the lead and thus be obliged to lead a losing heart.

Trick Four: Z should now lead the seven of hearts and A is forced to discard.

(a) A can discard a spade but, if he does, Y should overtake the seven of hearts and lead the trey of spades, thus losing only the last trick (the trey of hearts).

(b) A can discard the eight of diamonds but, if he does, Y allows the seven of hearts to hold the trick and Z's seven of diamonds will be good. In this way also Y Z will lose only the last trick (the deuce of clubs).

(c) A can discard the seven of clubs but, if he does, Y allows the seven of hearts to hold the trick. At trick five, therefore, Z should lead the deuce of clubs and force B in the lead with the trey. B must lead the six of hearts, which Y wins.

Therefore, no matter what A discards at the fourth trick, Y Z must win all but one of the remaining tricks, giving them five out of

Lutz — Zarnitz

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday, March 15, when Miss Marie Zarnitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zarnitz, of 4646 North Eleventh street, Logan, Pa., became the bride of Carl W. Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lutz, of 52 Henry street, Palmyra.

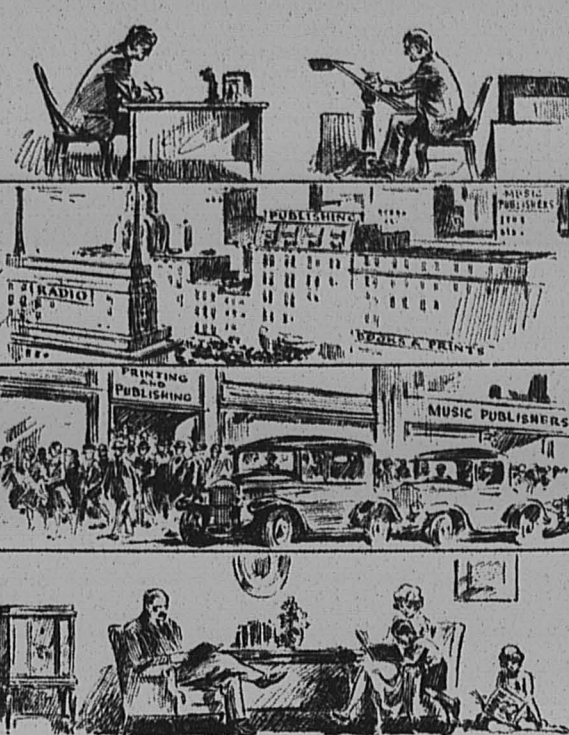

Charles Keisling and Evelyn Keisling, friends of the young couple, served as best man and maid of honor. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Meyers, of the First Lutheran Church, of Logan.

After a wedding trip to Buffalo the happy young couple will take up their residence with Mr. Lutz's parents and will be at home to their many friends after Tuesday, April 1.

A Pictorial Editorial

By Albert T. Reid

In the creations of the Author, Artist, and Composer, the public finds its entertainment, information and education. These Creations represent property to those who produce them.

A vast industry, representing a turn over of more than a billion dollars annually is the direct outgrowth of this creative work—the printing and publishing business, music, the radio, and the movies.

This great business gives employment to hundreds of thousands of people, and yet the rights of those upon whose work this industry depends, are inadequately protected under our antiquated Copyright law.

A bill designed to set out these property rights and protect the rights of those who compose and create, is now before Congress.

If passed it will do much to stimulate these arts in our country and the public will benefit.

If YOU believe the Composer, Artist and Author is entitled to have his rights properly safe-guarded, write to your Senators and Congressman urging them to support this measure. You will help greatly to promote creative work.

Senior Hi-Y

Monday evening the Senior Hi-Y, under the leadership of William Plank, had one of the most interesting meetings of the year.

Leon Sloan, who is home from Dickinson College, where he is a freshman, spoke to the club on his impressions of college. Every fellow appreciated Leon's observations and they now feel they have a little different slant on college life.

The class of '29 seemed to be on the entertaining list for the second feature was an illustrated lecture on Washington, D. C., by Edson Hicks. A great many of the members of the Hi-Y Club are senior and since they go to Washington during Easter vacation, this was of special interest.

The various committees on the Hi-Y dance, to be held Saturday evening, reported definite progress.

The Vikings Orchestra from Camden will furnish the music. The decorating committee has decided to use the colors of Easter, purple and gold. Every indication points to this being one of the outstanding social events of the year.

Sophomore Hi-Y

Last Monday, the regular meeting of the Hi-Y was held in the Presbyterian Church.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Secretary William H. Plank. This was followed by an interesting Bible talk by Leader Bruce Beahn.

He also gave some interesting sidelights on his trip, when he liked to California. His description of climing Pike's Peak made every fellow envious of him. Just how many hikers will be recruited for this summer is uncertain to date.

Freshman Hi-Y

The Freshman Hi-Y Club held its regular meeting in the "Y" building Tuesday evening. Mr. Schaefer, the leader, was absent. Secretary Hicks took charge of the group. Vice-President Stanley Lipincott called the meeting to order and after a short business meeting, Horace Finney, Jr., now a student at Dickinson College, gave the following talk on College Life and what it means. He pointed out to the fellows that even if they still had three more years in high school it was not too soon to begin to plan for college.

YMCA Swim Meets

Tuesday the last monthly swim under the auspices of the Burlington County YMCA was held at the Community House pool in Moorestown. Every month during the winter one of these free swims and aquatic meets were held. Fitting trophies were offered for the senior and junior teams by J. B. Ringle, of Brown Mills.

Although the local "Y" has not been represented with a team in every meet, it has made a fine showing with the number of boys attending the various swims. Last Tuesday about 50 fellows attended their swim under the leadership of William H. Plank.

This swim being the last of the year had to have some suitable round-up, so the committee in charge arranged an hour of movies and talks which preceded the swim. The pool was then open to all for one hour, after which the fine swimming meet was held. Many of the fellows started home before the meet was under way as they were plenty tired, but happy.

A mob of women beat to death a vegetable dealer in Turin, who was charging excessive prices.

SALE OF QUALITY BULLS FOR APRIL 5

On Saturday afternoon, April 5th, the Herd Improvement Association and Extension Service will conduct a Purebred Bull Sale, consisting of approximately 15 to 20 bulls, whose dams have production records of 350 pounds or betterfat or more. Of the bulls already consigned to this sale, the average of the dams is 491 pounds of butterfat or more. Of the art of production will be maintained for all consignments, and no bull will be allowed to enter the sale unless he is backed by good production and is approved by a committee. This will not be a sale to just simply dispose of pure bred bulls, but will be a sale in which real opportunities will be offered to dairymen to secure a good herd sire.

The ages of the animals will range from a few months of age up to and including a year old. Consignments are already made for both Guernseys and Holsteins, and it is hoped before the sale date that a few high quality Jerseys can be secured in the County.

Several of the breeders of Burlington County have stated to the County Agent, Chas. A. Thompson, that they had this supply of bulls on hand, and realizing that high quality bulls are a real asset to every dairy farmer, it was decided to call a meeting of the Herd Improvement Association, a committee of which is working with the County Agent in the conducting of the sale. This committee met in the Extension Office on the evening of March 17th and started plans for this event. It is definite plans at which the sale will be held to be announced at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Blackmar, of Columbus, Ga., recently celebrated their 7th wedding anniversary.

Doctor Tells How Flaxolyn Speeds New Energy to Run-down, Worn-out People

Health Seekers Here Acclaim Vitaminized Herbal Flaxolyn! Report That Flaxolyn Brings Sound Restful Sleep, Keen Appetite and Normal Bowel Functioning.

Another physician has added his name to the long list of American and European doctors who have publicly endorsed Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn.

Dr. William W. Kern, (M. D., University of Pennsylvania), says: "Dr. Luntz's new vitaminized Herbal Flaxolyn tones the stomach, drives out the poison toxins which form in the constipated intestines. It acts as a remarkable diuretic to the kidneys, and gives gentle stimulation to the liver."

"To those in fagged-out, run-down condition, I earnestly and enthusiastically prescribe Herbal Flaxolyn."

WM. W. KERN (M. D.)

"Mother Nature Herself Endows Flaxolyn With Its Health Powers," Says Dr. James Forquer

Dr. James Forquer of Cleveland, states: "Flaxolyn is a NATURAL product. It derives its great benefits from Nature—the same source from which we get our food. Flaxolyn tones the internal organs, rids the body of toxic impurities, and restores normal action."

Every pleasant spoonful of Flaxolyn contains:

1. Vitamins equal to those found in a whole yeast tablet.
2. Extracts of sun-dried herbs.
3. Bile salts, which activate the sluggish, torpid liver and promote the flow of precious bile.
4. Valuable therapeutic ingredients with tonic, laxative and diuretic properties; approved by the highest medical authorities.

Flaxolyn costs you nothing unless it does you good.

Deposit the price of a package with the druggist, and if you are not satisfied by the sixth spoonful, return the partly-used bottle and get your money back.

YOU KNOW ME, AL

Dear Al,
Sampson, the Kid's manager, wants me to get a job in Pauline's camp as sporting partner so I can work with him and find out what he's got, but it would be a big laugh if I should get over at him which I might do if he stings me and knock him kicking. If that happened, it would spoil the fight, and I'm supposed to cut in on Dugan's share for working with him. I told Sampson I had better dress up like a bum so they wouldn't know me, and he said, "No, just put on a clean shirt and collar and they'll think you're Gene Tunney." He's a great kiddo. So I said, "I guess they'll think I'm the Champ all right if I throw a punch." And then he didn't say nothing so he knows he can't fool with me and get away with it.
Your friend,
