STATE COPS GET CHICKEN THIEVES

Two Young Men Caught in Mount Holly; Colored Fugitive Caught Monday

Two members of a gang of chicken thieves who have been raiding hen roosts in this vicinity for several months were arrested in Mount Holly Sunday night by Troopers Drosdick and Rohner, of the Delanco Barracks. The Mount Holly police stopped the chicken thieves as they were going through town and called the State Police to take charge of the case.

Troopers Drosdick and Rohner investigated the case and arraigned them before Justice of the Peace Kingdon, of Mount Holly.

Trooper Drosdick quizzed the prisoners and obtained a confession to the committing of a string of some fifteen thefts in Burlington County.

Waive Hearing

When John Kay, 22, and Arthur Forseman, 20, both of Camden, were arraigned they waived a hearing. By doing so the prisoners signify their willingness to accept the sentence of the Judge of Special Sessions Court without a trial by jury.

Upon examing the Ford touring the boys used in their chicken stealing the Troopers found a .22-calibre revolver, which both boys denied owning. Both were charged, however, with carrying concealed deadly weapons, besides being charged with larceny.

The State Police feel that with the capture of these two chicken thieves the ring or gang that has been operating in this territory will be broken and they exepct to round up some more of the gang in the near future.

Capture Colored Man

Corporal Johnson, of the Delanco Barracks, co-operate with the Columbus Barracks in the search for John Cannon, colored, of Lumberton, who was wanted for shooting Deputy Horace Haines, of Columbus, when Haines attempted to serve a warrant on Cannon Sunday night.

Haines was not seriously injured, as the bullet just grazed his side.

After conducting an all-night search for Cannon he was finally captured as he made a dash from a nearby woods to his home. Corporal Johnson and Trooper Frelich, of Columbus, succeeded in taking Cannon into custody.

He was immediately arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lochman, of Columbus, who committed Cannon to the Burlington County jail to await action of the Grand Jury.

Cannon will be tried on the following charges: Carrying concealed weapons, larceny, atrocious assault and battery, and resisting arrest.

PRUNE FORSYTHIA NOW

Forsythia, the early yellow blooming shrub, should be pruned immediately after blooming. If you wait until fall you will cut away all next year's bloom.

Cut away all dead wood, also all weak, straggly branches. Prune strong new shoots rather hard.

Shape the bush by nibbling all branches according to size of the branch or bush.

Palmyra - Riverton Night at Tabernacle

Palmyra-Riverton Night will be celebrated at the "Billy" Sunday Tabernacle in Mount Holly Friday night.

A special effort is being made to get as large a delegation together as possible to hear the great evangelist.

Announcement of the event has been made in the churches of the community and many have signified their intention of attending.

Moorestown and Maple Shade will also send large delegations on this occasion.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

H. FORD CARR

Well known lecturer, who has been engaged to address the graduating class of the Palmyra High School at its commencement exercises next month.

GAS STATION ROBBED AGAIN

Chief of Police Quigley Starts Investigation Which Leads to Bandits Arrest

The Riverton police received a call from the Gulf Gasoline Station at the Burlington pike and Moorestown road about 11.15 last Saturday night. The attendant, Carl Kendall, of Bridgeboro, said he had been held up by two armed men, James Pine and William Wallace, both of Gloucester.

Chief of Police Quigley, with Officers Miller and Gootee, went out and investigated the case. Chief Quigley called the State Police of Delanco, who arrived within a few minute, and Quigley turned the case over to them.

Kendall was relieved of six dollars of personal money. The Gulf superintendent had stopped and collected the money from the station only a short time before the bandits held up Kendall, thus a large loss was saved by this fact.

These two bandits also robbed another gas station in Maple Shade, where they beat the attendant so badly that he had to be taken to the Cooper Hospital.

Working on a flier sent out by Chief Quigley, the Merchantville police picked the bandits up and turned them over to the Maple Shade police. The State Police took Kendall to Merchantville to identify the men, which he did. County detectives took the stick-up men in custody from Maple Shade.

They were lodged in the Burlington County jail to await a hearing before the Grand Jury, on charges of robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Dear Friend:

Your article as to the River Bank was of course of great interest to me as I have known conditions there for the past fifty years.

I think the idea of Mr. C. C. Miller the best one printed, to fix up and not close up.

Not only the drive, but the stone wall should be taken care of by the Borough, as both are used quite as much by residents of the town as by residents of the River Bank.

The spending of $12,000 on the playground seems a large outlay to me. I am glad the young people have the park, and you may recall I did some valuable work to help the town secure that playground.

I hope, some day soon, a school building will be adjacent to it.

The last ten or twenty years the taxes have steadily increased on River Bank properties, while the values have as steadily decreased.

An expenditure of $10,000 on the river drive and stone wall would help restore to the town its chief asset of attraction, the river bank lawn, etc.

Very respectfully,
DAVID H. WRIGHT.

In addition to the note I sent you last week regarding the proposed "Park Program" the following thoughts might be of interest.

The park improvements are to be financed by notes which do not need to be approved by the residents at the polls. In this way the details will not be automatically brought to the attention of the people who pay the taxes.

One item of the improvement program provided $1,800 for a concrete rink for roller skating in the summer. It is intended to flood this rink to provide ice for hockey in the winter. The design of such a floor to stand the heat, cold, and weather involves special treatment since the problems involved are not simple. The consideration of subgrade drainage, proper curbs, provision for expansion and contraction, avoidance of set-

FREEHOLDERS NOT TO REMIT FINES

County Board Refuses to Interfere with Sentences Imposed by Court

Persons convicted of violation of laws need not look to the Burlington County Board of Freeholders for mitigation of their sentences.

Two weeks ago Bud Rigg, attorney for Alfred Marchesi, of Burlington, sentenced by Judge Charles A. Rigg to a jail sentence of three months and a fine of $2,400, appeared before the Board and asked that the fine be remitted.

The matter was referred to County Solicitor Harold B. Wells for investigation.

At the meeting of the Board last Friday the solicitor reported that he had been in conference with Judge Rigg, who said that Marchesi was an old offender and he saw no reason for extending clemency in his case.

The freeholders were unanimous in their decision not to interfere with the work of the County Courts. They felt that if any recommendation of leniency were to be considered they should come fro the judge who imposed the sentence.

The plea to have the fine remitted was not granted.

Since Marchesi was sentenced his wife has been arrested on a similar charge and is in jail.

Bids were opened for the reconstruction of the bridge on the Marne Highway over the north branch of the Pensauken creek at Maple Shade. William C. Cook, of Mount Holly, was awarded the contract on his bid of $12,657. There were three other bidders, as follows: Hill Construction Company, Mount Holly, $19,999.75; Klyn Construction Company, Trenton, $16,112.45; Charles S. Moses, Edgewater Park, $14,957.75.

Prosecutor Howard Eastwood sent a letter to the board requesting the purchase of an additional automobile for the use of Detective Ellis H. Parker's office. The communication was ordered received and filed.

The board gave permission to the Eastern New Jersey Power and Light Company to erect poles and string wires between Pemberton and Browns Mills and the county pumping station.

The following bills from the various departments were ordered paid: Roads, $5233.84; bridg, $3704.55; finance, $37,324.15; building, $10,549.35; public affairs, $11,578; making a total of $68,389.89.

GOLDEN HOUR CIRCLE PLAY FINE SUCCESS

Many Enjoy Quaint Costumes and Witty Sayings of Riverton Gathering

The play, "How the Ladies Earned Their Dollar," given by the Golden Hour Circle last Friday night, was a great success, and was enjoyed by a large audience. The program was as follows: Two piano solos, by Miss Marian Macfarlane; two soprano solos by Mrs. L. Turner; two contralto solos by Mrs. R. Rivers, and two interesting sketches by Mrs. A. Parker.

Those taking part were: Mrs. Hanna Smart, president of the society; Mrs. Joseph Morgan, Mrs. Miranda Knowall; secretary, Miss Mildred Macfarlane; Mrs. Matilda Thrifty; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Hemphill. The members were as follows: Mrs. Samantha Blunt, Mrs. James Mickle; Mrs. Martha Easygoing, Mrs. Spencer Johnson; Mrs. Mario Doolittle, Mrs. J. M. Coddington; Mrs. Betsy Toploft, Mrs. Frank Rue; Mrs. Phoebe Righteous, Miss Clara Bishop; Mrs. Prudence Wise, Mrs. Jas. Macfarlane; Miss Octavia Prim, Mrs. Chas. Yost; Miss Mollie Sensible, Mrs. H. Houder; Miss Dorothy Uptodate, Mrs. Hilton Smith; Mlle. Hermaline Francaise, Mrs. H. Fryling.

The play was coached by Mrs. Albert Parker and sponsored by Mrs. Hilton Smith. The prompters were Mrs. S. Young and Mrs. W. Sippel.

ANNUAL LAWN FETE PLANS BEING SHAPED

Cinnaminson Home Benefit to be Held at Field Club on Saturday, May 24

Plans are rapidly being whipped into shape for the annual Cinnaminson Lawn Fete and Horse Show, which is to be held at the Moorestown Field Club, Saturday, May 24. Proceeds from the affair are for the benefit of the Cinnaminson Home.

Mrs. M. Albert Linton is fete chairman, and William T. Reeve continues chairman of the horse show and gymkhana committee. Many fine entries are expected.

Miss Helen E. Woolman and Mrs. J. Howard Taylor, of Riverton, who have charge of the supper, are planning the usual cafeteria, and also a hot supper for those who purchase tickets in advance.

There will be dancing in the evening.

BANKERS TO ELECT

The Burlington County Bankers' Association will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers Thursday evening, May 1, in the Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company building, Riverton. E. L. Williams, president of the Riverton bank, is also president of the County association.

FREEMAN'S STORE AT MOORESTOWN ROBBED OF $1200

Store Ransacked by Robbers Who Select Most Expensive Merchandise

$500 WORTH WOMEN'S SILK HOSIERY TAKEN

Entrance to Building is Gained by Drilling Basement Window

Freeman's Economy Store, Main street just east of Mill street, Moorestown, was robbed of merchandise valued at $1,200, late Sunday night or Monday morning.

Entrance to the store building was gained through a basement window in the rear of the west side of the building. It is thought that the burglars, who opened the window with the aid of drills, approached the store from Mill street, through the yard of an empty house.

The robbery was discovered by Miss Helen Freeman, daughter of the proprietor, Samuel Freeman, of Palmyra, when she opened the store at 8.30 o'clock Monday morning. Boxes, from which merchandise was taken, were strewn about the floor with clothes hangers, from which dresses were taken, and articles that were discarded by the intruders. Some of the cases had been completely emptied.

The heaviest loss was in silk hosiery, the entire stock, with a retail value of $500, being taken. A large number of silk dresses, valued at several hundred dollars, were also stolen. The entire stock of silk slips was missing. Included in the loot were men's pajamas, men shirts, ties, collars, all of the men's hosiery, men's hats, trousers, small supply of men's shoes, as well as several other women's items.

No Arests Made

The work according to police and detectives, was that of robbers who have been operating in this locality. Several stores in other counties have been robbed in virtually the same manner, with similar items disappearing in each case. No arrests have been made in any of the cases.

Just how clever the thieves really are is shown by their uncanny knowledge of merchandise value. Only the most expensive items in each line are stolen, and it is difficult to understand how they are able to make their selections in the dark and with the speed that they are forced to work if their "getaway" is to be successful. There were three racks of ties on a case. Only the rack containing the most valuable neckwear was touched. On a rack of women's silk dresses there were four dresses that had been allowed to remain when the new spring stock was added. The four old dresses remained after the robbery, but all of the new stock was gone. A stand with a silk dress was taken from one of the show windows and the dress removed.

Chief Beck Finds Clues

County Detective Arthur Cain, who investigated the robbery with Chief of Police John H. Bradshaw and Chief C. Morris Beck, of Palmyra, who visited the scene, found many clues that indicated the work was that of the robbers who have been looting stores in other sections.

Joseph (Bonny) Freeman, son of the proprietor, visited the store at 10.30 Sunday evening reported that nothing had been disturbed at that time.

The store, from a police standpoint, is very difficult to protect. Virtually all of the side windows, which are very close to adjoining properties on Main street, one of which is also vacant, are boarded with shelving nearly to the top. The show windows are enclosed in the rear, the door giving the only view from Main street.

Mr. Freeman reports that he has been operating stores for the past twenty-five years and this is the first robbery he has suffered.

CHIEF BRANIN BETTER AS LEG GOES IN CAST

Skull of Delaware Township Police Head Reported Not Fractured; Is Now Recovering

John J. Branin, chief of police of Delaware Township, had his left leg placed in a cast at Cooper Hospital last week. Reports that his skull was not fractured, an dthat he is on the road to recovery, relieved the fears of his many friends, alarmed by first reports following his injury.

Chief Branin was struck by an automobile while he was directing traffic at Calvary Cemetery. A car that passed a standing bus at the cemetery gates, hurled Branin ten feet as its fender struck him. In addition to a fractured leg it was feared other injuries included a fracture of the skull.

Sylvester Campbell, colored, of 763 Carman street, Camden, driver of the offending car, was held under bail and committed to jail by Recorder Berry. In addition to a charge of assault, another for carrying a razor was filed against the man. He was fined, besides, for reckless driving and having improper brakes.

One of the finest feats of heroism ever performed by an American sailor is recalled by the death of Lieutenant Mons Monssen, retired. In 1904, when a gun turret of the battleship Missouri blew up, Monssen saved the entire ship from destruction by leaping through flames into a magazine, closing a heavy door and isolating the fire. He was an enlisted man at the time, and received the Medal of Honor for his gallant act.

Bankers' Leader

COUNTY BANKERS TO HOLD BANQUET

400 Will Attend Social Event at Walt Whitman on May 8

The ninth annual banquet of the Burlington County Bankers Association will be held in the Hotel Walt Whitman, Camden, Thursday evening, May 8, according to an announcement by Armitt H. Coate, trust officer of Burlington County Trust Company and a past president of the association.

Mr. Coate, who is now chairman of the association's executive committee, says that all of the twenty-three banks and trust companies in the county will be represented at the banquet, which is the big yearly social affair of Burlington County financial interests.

Walter H. Armstrong, cashier of the Bordentown Banking Company, who is treasurer of the association, reports that a large number of reservations have already been received and it is expected that four hundred officers, directors and employees of the county banks will enjoy the event.

The chief speakers will be the Rev. C. Estormelle, widely known Camden clergyman and after-dinner speaker, and William J. Couse, of Asbury Park, president of the New Jersey Bankers Association.

The banquet committee, in announcing the event, said, "We have been fortunate in securing the services of Miss Margaret Freeman, who is going to act as mistress of ceremonies. We also have the Lyric trio, which will entertain with songs and instruments, a celebrated banjoist, and a comedy act, full of pep. Christy, with his piano accordion, will also be there."

The officers of the association are E. L. Williams, president of Cinnaminson Bank and Trust Company, Riverton, president; William Cummere, president of the First National Bank, Roebling, vice-president Nelson D. W. Pumyea, assistant cashier, Union National Bank and Trust Company, Mount Holly, secretary, and Mr. Armstrong, treasurer.

Past presidents of the association are Walter E. Robb, president, Burlington City Loan and Trust Company; Walter I. Dill, vice-president, Union National Bank and Trust Company, Mount Holly; Armitt H. Coate, trust officer, Burlington County Trust Company, Moorestown; John H. Hutchinson, president, Bordentown Banking Company.

Franklin P. Jones, president, First National Bank, Beverly; George J. Pitman, president, Riverside Trust Company; W. Edward Ridgway, vice-president, Burlington City Loan and Trust Company, and Theodore H. Budd, vice-president, People's National Bank, Pemberton.

AUTO DESTROYED BY BLAZE AFTER CRASH

A Buick touring car, owned by Joseph O'Neil, Moorestown landscape contractor, was almost totally destroyed by fire following an accident on Bridgeboro road, just below Hartford-Westfield road, Tuesday evening about six o'clock.

O'Neil's machine, driven by "Danny" Frazier, colored, of Cinnaminson Township, sideswiped a Buick coupe owned and operated by LeRoy Jordan, also colored, of Bridgeboro. Following the crash, the machine driven by Frazier, careened about Bridgeboro road for nearly 90 feet, overturned, and caught fire.

Bridgeboro and Moorestown fire departments responded to a call, but it was impossible to save the blazing auto.

Frazier will be given a hearing on reckless driving charges by Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Moorestown Town Hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Jordan's coupe was damaged about the front. The drivers were the only occupants in the two cars. They escaped serious injuries, being only slightly bruised.

LIST OF 1930 LAWS

The Legislative Reference Department of the New Jersey State Library has just issued a Descriptive List of the Laws and Joint Resolutions enacted by the 1930 Legislature. The List, prepared by John P. Dullard, Assistant State Librarian, gives the bill and chapter number of each measure enacted, together with the name of the introducer, and a brief synopsis of the purpose of each bill. Copies may be had gratis upon application to the State Library, at Trenton.

STATE BANKERS TO MEET IN MAY

Better Bank Management to be Keynote of Atlantic City Convention

William J. Couse, president of the New Jersey Bankers' Association, has announced the perfection of plans for the 27th Annual Convention, May 15, 16, 17, at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City, and reservations are now pouring in to the secretary, Armitt H. Coate, of Moorestown, trust officer of Burlington County Trust Company.

The feature of the meeting will be the forum discussion on Friday May 16, devoted to furthering the movement for Better Bank Management. This movement started in 1929, by the American Bankers' Association, and under the able leadership of President Craig B. Hazlewood, vice-president of the First National Bank, of Chicago, Illinois, has been carried forward by regional conferences of the American Association. The prominence given it by the New Jersey Association will do much to advance its effectiveness.

Mr. Hazlewood has consented to lead the Friday morning discussion and under his inspiration the success of the meeting is assured. Every bank man in New Jersey who attends this meeting will take back with him information valuable to his bank and the community which it serves.

Prominent Speakers

The meeting will also be addressed by O. Howard Wolfe, cashier of the Philadelphia National Bank; John J. Driscoll, Jr., of Driscoll, Millet & Company, Philadelphia; William M. Nash, treasurer, Haddon Heights Bank and Trust Company, and J. Fisher Anderson, of Jersey City, all recognized leaders in bank management conferences.

The Convention Committee, headed by Charles H. Plenty, vice-president of The Hackensack Trust Company, has arranged a program which includes sufficient amusement to keep the visiting banker from being a dull boy.

On Thursday, May 15, there will be a golf tournament at the Country Club of Atlantic City, Northfield. Attractive prizes to be awarded at the smoker, have been provided and there are many golfers entered.

Thursday evening a smoker will be held in Westminster Hall, Chelsea Hotel, at which excellent talent will be shown, and, at the same time, in the Music Room of the Chelsea there will be a special showing of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's African Hunt picture, "Simbo," with sound, for the amusement of the ladies.

A card party for the ladies is scheduled for Friday afternoon in Como Hall, Chelsea Hotel, with worth while prizes.

Friday evening, following the all-day forum, the large ballroom of the Chelsea will be the scene of the 27th Annual Banquet of the Association. Here, too, the delegates will be given a treat. Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, and just returned from his attendance at the London Peace Conference, will be the speaker of the evening. He will have a message of special interest to every American and his speech will be on the air over WPG. Mr. Morrow will be followed by Roe Fulkerson, of Washington, editorial correspondent and special column writer. He never fails to please and through his anecdotes there runs a rich vein of humor.

A special banquet for the ladies in the American Dining Room of the Chelsea will be in progress while the big annual feast is held, and singers of note will gravitate between the two functions.

The big annual ball is arranged to follow the banquet and an excellent orchestra will provide the music.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the annual meeting will be called to order by President Couse. The committee will report, items of interest concerning the association and its activities discussed, and the officers for the coming year elected.

The high-brow hat, or the low-brow hat—which shall it be?

If you have a smooth, wrinkleless forehead, if your features approach the artist's idea, if you are under thirty and do not look over twenty-two, if your neck is not too long, nor too short, if your eyebrows are naturally well shaped—then you may wear the hat that leaves your forehead unprotected.

If on the other hand you wear glasses, if your eyebrows are too wide or insignificant, if you wrinkle your forehead in the sunlight or scowl when you read fine print, if your neck is too swanlike or too short—then by all means choose one of the new hats that give some protection to the brow.

There are some women—some young women in fact—who have worn the bare brow hats with such unbecoming results that you wonder when you see them whether they never look in a mirror or whether they really don't care to look their best. And because women wear these hats who ought never to have considered them, the fashion has been somewhat discredited. On the other hand there are some women whose beauty is so enhanced by them that we are loathe to see them pass from the field of fashion.

This season the milliners have been generous in their offerings. They have retained the high-brow hats for those who can wear them or who insist on wearing them, and they have made other hats with a crown just deep enough at the front to give the more generally becoming line.

Mirrors of Morrow

It is not generally known that Dwight W. Morrow, who gave up one of the most successful business careers in the United States to devote himself to public service a few years ago, started in life under great financial handicaps.

He was one of a family of eight children and his father, James Elmore Morrow, who was a President of Marshall College, was compelled to meet the exacting social requirements of a college president as well as the needs of this large family on a salary that did not exceed at its highest point $2,400 a year.

Dwight graduated from high school with high honors at the age of fourteen and worked as an errand boy and clerk in the County Treasurer's Office in Pittsburgh for four years before he could go ahead with his education.

When he finally started for Amherst College he had exactly $1.65 in his pocket after paying his railroad fare. Young Morrow sat up all night on the train on his way to Amherst and arrived there with his small capital unimpaired. Within a few days he had demonstrated his natural intelligence so successfully that he was engaged in tutoring fellow students in the freshman class. He paid for his education by tutoring and other work.

PENSAUKEN COPS TO STAGE CIRCUS

Unemployed of Township to be Aided by Old-Fashioned Show

Pensauken Township policemen expect to please the pleasure-loving public and comfort the unemployed of the township next week. An old-fashioned circus will pitch its tents at Crescent Boulevard and Federal streets May 5 and remain there until May 10. A liberal part of the receipts will be used to aid a considerable number of township residents who are not able to find work.

Chief Joseph Clark heads the committee in charge of the show, while a number of township officials and progressive residents are assisting. Mrs. Helen Carnati, who managed the police show at Central Airport last summer, is acting as contact between the police and the circus features.

The circus will have but one ring and a stage, but it will bring the bare-back riders, tumblers, contortionists, elephants and the usual circus procession, as well as its sideshows, peanuts and pink lemonade. The entrance of the big tent will be the stage for an automobile show.

An afternoon will be turned over to children, who will be admitted in return for any gift of foodstuffs they may be able to make. The collection of apples, potatoes, canned goods, etc., will be distributed wherever a family actually in need of food is found; and there are several such cases.

HOFFMAN WILL WAR ON IMPERFECT TIRES

War is to be declared on the owners of commercial vehicles damaging State highways through the use of imperfect tires, it was said last Friday by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Harold G. Hoffman.

Replying to letters directing his attention to the use of highways by commercial vehicles, equipped with tires that are not in good condition, by A. Lee Grover, Secretary of the State Highway Commission, and by Harvey L. Satterthwaite, attorney, of Lawrence Township, the Commissioner stated that his Department wished to ascertain the registration number or owner's names where vehicles are being operated with solid tires in such an imperfect condition as to cause damage to the pavement on highways.

Letters of reprimand will be directed to owners of such commercial vehicles, and if they fail to comply and place their tires in such condition that the highways will not be damaged, a summons will be issued to the owners on rule to show cause why their registration should not be revoked, the Commissioner said.

LEGION AUXILIARY

There will be a meeting in the Legion Home on Friday (tomorrow) evening to make final plans for our Poppy Sale. All members are urged to come out and help make this year's sale the biggest ever. Be at the Home at 6.30 p. m.

The coming month—May—will be a very busy month in the Auxiliary's calendar and all members are urgee to keep in touch with the unit so as to know what is going on and how you can help.

County meeting will be held in Mount Holly on Friday evening, May 16th. It is hoped that we can go by bus, but arrangements have not been completed as yet. Details will be announced later.

Don't forget the Card Party Wednesday evening, May 14th. Tell your friends to keep this date open and bring them to the Home that evening for an enjoyable time!

WCTU TO HEAR SUNDAY

The Billy Sunday Campaign Committee has invited all members of the Burlington County Woman's Christian Temperance Union to attend the services in the Tabernacle at Mount Holly Wednesday, May 7th, at 7.30 p. m.

John Holsten, of Derby, Eng., has been ordered to pay for a window he broke getting out of a church in which he had been locked.

GRANGE FLOWER EXCHANGE MAY 1

Interesting Event Part of Program for Thursday Evening Meeting

Moorestown Grange has planned an interesting flower exchange to be held in the Grange Hall, in addition to the regular program, on Thursday evening, May 1. Each member who has extra plants, bulbs, or flowers will take them to the meeting. In exchanging these, everyone will have an opportunity to get something he wants.

This meeting is the third on the summer schedule. Two interesting meetings were held during April, thereby opening the summer season, which provides for meetings to be held on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month, at 7:30 o'clock. This plan will continue until November.

The first meeting, held May 3, was in commemoration or Arbor Day. A program was presented which included a paper on "The Value of Re-forestation to Agriculture," prepared by Richard Lippincott; "The Life and Work of John Davey, the Tree Surgeon," prepared by Sara Roberts Haines; "Some Famous Historical Gardens," by Marion F. Ballinger and Nathan Conrow; "Flower Culture," by Harold Collins.

Several poems were presented, including "Plant a Tree," by Lucy Larcom; "The Story of the Wood," by Frank L. Stanton, "What We Plant When We Plant a Tree," by Henry Abbey.

Marion Ballinger gave the history of "The Hanging Gardens of Babylon," one of the seven ancient wonders of the world, with a description of them, and also told of the "Bartram's Gardens" near Philadelphia.

Nathan Conrow described the Kew Gardens of England.

At a meeting on April 17, Miss Mary Leaming, the Home Demonstration Agent of Camden county, presented a valuable talk on "What We Eat."

Horace Roberts will be present on May 15 to give an account of his voyage around South America. Friends are cordially invited to be present.

PLANE TALKS

By Lt. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

One of the most interesting exhibits at the All-American Aircraft Show at Detroit was the new Diesel airplane engine developed by the Packard Motor Company. Several ships in the show were Diesel equipped and there were two demonstrating ships on the field powered with this new engine. Burning fuel oil, the Packard Diesel, means a tremendous reduction in operating costs of aircraft. The engine weights a little in excess of 2½ pounds per horsepower. It is rated at 220 horsepower and weighs 510 pounds.

The Aviation Ball, sponsored by the Aero Club of Pennsylvania at the Hotel Walt Whitman during the Tri-State Aircraft Show was very well attended. The writer, accompanied by Mrs. Longaker, Miss Jane Grube, of Moorestown, and Lieutenant Thomas B. Colby, of Detroit, dropped in for awhile and among those we had the pleasure of greeting were: Parker "Shorty" Cramer, Arctic and Antarctic flyer; Martin Jensen, Trans-Pacific flyer; Miss Betty Scanlon, Lieutenant and Mrs. C. Vietor Williams, Bob Hewitt, "Sandy" Saltus, "Wee" Smith, "Jim" Erdman, Jack Throop and "Bob" and Mrs. Loutt, of Kendall Oil fame.

If you did not visit the Tri-State Aircraft Show in Camden during the past week you missed a very good representative exhibition of different types of aircraft. We feel that the show helped a lot to increase air-mindedness in this section and that next year's show will be very much better. You owe it to yourself to become interested in aviation, if only to stay abreast of the times.

Did you notice the decided increase in air traffic over the past weekend, especially on Sunday? Several ships stopped in at the Moorestown Airport on Saturday and we had a couple of visitors on Sunday.

The next and last big aircraft show of the year will be the New York Aircraft Salon to be held in Madison Square Garden, New York City, May 3 to 10, inclusive. A feature will be a display of all the largest transport ships built in this country, among them being the Keystone Patrician, Curtiss Condor, Fokker F-32, the Commodore flying boat and a Ford tri-motor.

The hangar at the Moorestown Airport will be painted in the very near future and Ship No. N. C. 5181 is being completely overhauled and re-painted. The club house is almost completed and the field is being improved for the busy spring and summer seasons.

About a Tree

That straight-stalked stripling's slender shaft
Is timid, now, before each waft of breathy breeze. But it is young.
The cumulative work of years
Will feed its heart till man reveres
This tree of trees. It finds a tongue,
And talks to winds loquaciously.
It lends its shadow speciously
To man's avail. There comes a time
When young blood must supplant the old,
Then man must weigh his tres with gold—
Or trees must fall—so runs a rhyme.

NEW BUS TERMINAL IS OPENED BY P. S.

Former Bell Telephone Building in Philadelphia Leased By Transportation Company

Public Service last Saturday opened its new "Jersey" Bus Terminal, southeast corner of Thirteenth and Arch streets, Philadelphia.

The new Terminal, the finest of its kind in this section and the first in Philadelphia, will be a convenience to the thousands persons who ride on Public Service buses.

Realizing the need of a terminal Public Service at considerable expense lease dthe building and expended a large sum of money to alter the first floor of the building formerly used by the Bell Telephone Company.

Confortable rest rooms and lounges been provided for passengers and when fully completed the terminal will have a lunch counter and soda fountain, a modern barber shop, flower and novelty shop and boot-black stands.

MANY AWARDS AT COURT OF HONOR

Huge Camp Reunion Held for County Scouts at Burlington Armory

Numerous awards were made at the Burlington County Scout Court of Honor and camp reunion held in the Burlington Armory, Friday evening of last week. There were about 350 people present, grouped about an artificial camp fire prepared by the Eagle Scouts' Association.

Colonel Thomas Landon, of Bordentown Military Institute, presided at the Court, while the master of ceremonies for the evening's program was Arthur W. Lace, of Moorestown, County Scout Commissioner.

Two Eagle palms were presented to William C. Coles, Jr., Scoutmaster of Troop No. 2, of Moorestown. These are in addition to the Eagle Scout badge, highest rank obtainable in Scouting. Most of Moorestown's awards were reserved for a later date, however, when the local Scouts will hold their own Court of Honor.

Camp emblems were awarded to 108 boys for some certain achievement at camp last summer.

John Erickson, of Troop No. 1, Maple Shade, Boy Scouts of America, received the president's medal as the best all-around camper at the scout camp last season, according to M. A. Shaw, Scout executive for Burlington county. Erickson was given the medal by H. M. Wall, president of the Burlington County Boy Scout Council.

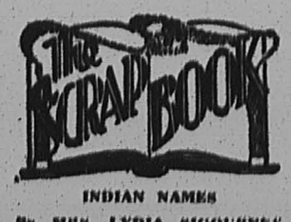

Troop No. 1 of Maple Shade won a five-year veteran's badge.

Troop No. 2, of Palmyra, was given an engraved shield for having won the county athletic contest. Albert Fry is scoutmaster of the troop.

Beverly boys who have been presented with apprentice seaman awards by Brian B. Kane, sea scout commissioner, were announced as: Herbert Carr, William H. Donaldson, Jr., Walter Erhardt, Allan K. Find, Donald O. Hunt, John P. Hunt, Charles Prothero and Robert Speace.

Star and life scout awards were given to Graham Farrington, Roger Haines, Morris Conway, Norman Keith, W. Patton Kinsey, Robert W. Knight, Jr., Martin Lude and William McNaul.

Other scouts in Burlington county who received merit badges for work in scouting are Malcolm Lewis, Burlington; William Brown, William Fuhrer, Harold Fuss, Oren Griffith, Carl Hookstra, Walter Kee, C. Rausch, Walter Smith, James Vodges, Albert Jacobs, Morris Conway, Frank James, and Charles Woodward, Beverly; John Pollett, W. P. Kinsey, Henry Ninsly, Archibald Seabrook, Harold Wagner, Victor Atkinson, Robert Espenschied, Robert Lex, Stephen Wright, Riverside.

INDIAN NAMES

By MRS. LYDIA SIGOURNEY

Ye say that they have passed away,
That noble race and brave;
That their light canoes have vanished
From off the crested wave;
That, 'mid the forests where they roamed,
There rings no hunter's shout;
But their name is on your waters,
Ye may not wash it out.
'Tis where Ontario's billow
Like ocean surge is curled;
Where strong Niagara's thunders wake
The echo of the world;
Where red Missouri bringeth
Rich tribute from the West,
And Rappahannock sweetly sleeps
On green Virginia's breast.
Ye say their cone-like cabins,
That clustered o'er the vale,
Have fled away, like withered leaves
Before the Autumn gale;
But their memory liveth on your hills,
Their baptism on your shore,
Your everlasting rivers speak
Their dialect of yore.
Old Mississippi wears it
Within her lordly crown,
And broad Ohio bears it
Amid his young renown;
Connecticut has wreathed it
Where her quite foliage waves,
And bold Kentucky breathes it hoarse
Through all her ancient caves.
Wachuset hides its lingering voice
Within its rocky heart,
And Allegheny graves its tone
Throughout his lofty chart;
Monadnock, on his forehead bear,
Doth seal the sacred trust;
Your mountains build their monuments
Though ye destroy their dust.

WILL CELEBRATE QUARTER CENTURY OF Y. M. C. A. WORK

Anniversary Convention of County Organization Will be Held May 12

BURLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH TO BE SCENE

Original Organizer of Association in County Will be Guest of Honor

The County YMCA Convention, which will be held in Burlington, May 12th, marking as it does twenty-five years of Young Men's Christian Association work in our County, falls on the exact anniversary date of the first County Convention. It was held in the same city May 12, 1906. YMCA work here in Burlington County was initiated at a conference in Mount Holly, June 17, 1905, and the report of the progress from that date till May 12, 1906, was made at the first County Convention on that date.

County Conventions for a quarter century since have been occasions where the public has been informed of the program, activities, scope and output of the YMCA in relation to the youth of Burlington County. The Young Men's Christian Association all these years has focused attention on the fact that while the County's industrial products have been of very great value, her greatest product is the kind of youth she produces.

This year's Convention will be held in the First Baptist Church of Burlington, beginning with dinner at 6.30 o'clock. Among the guests of honor will be William D. MacRae, of Springfield, Mass., organizer of the County "Y"; Robert C. Shoemaker, of Paterson, onetime Secretary here, and Albert E. Roberts, of the National YMCA Council, who will deliver the address.

Program features are being arranged by a committee headed by Alex C. Ferguson, Jr., a member from Edgewater Park, of the County General Board, which will make this Quarter-Century Convention an epochal event in the history of the YMCA in Burlington County.

Those desiring dinner tickets may obtain them from Board Members, Group and Club Leaders, or from the County YMCA Headquarters, Mount Holly. Tickets are a dollar each. Women are specially invited.

MARLTON OKAYS SCHOOL ADDITION

Only 76 Votes Cast for Building Project That Will Cost $33,000

Members of the Board of Education of Evesham Township took a long sigh of relief on Tuesday night of last week after the special election for an addition to the present school building at Marlton. The election resulted in favor of the plans for the addition and approval of the bond issue to provide funds for the addition.

This was the third election held for this purpose during the past three months. The two former elections provided for new and separte buildings and both propositions were voted down by rather large majorities.

The Board then resorted to a final effort and secured plans for an addition to the present building which were presented for approval to the voters at the election on Tuesday night.

Rejection by the voters of these plans would have made conditions bordering on desperate in the township as additional rooms must be provided for next school term and this proposition provides merely for actual addition needed.

The vote on Tuesday night was 48 favoring the addition and bond issue and 28 in opposition.

The plans for the addition provide for four class rooms to be added to the south end of the present building and basement and all fully equipped at a cost of not over $33,000.

Bertram W. Evans

Bertram W. Evans, 68 years old, of Meadow Brook Farm, near Moorestown, died in Burlington County Hospital, Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, following an operation for intestinal trouble. He had been under doctor's care for about a month and was taken to the hospital Sunday at midnight.

Funeral services will be conducted from his home on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, with Elwood Belton and Son as funeral directors in charge. Interment will be made in the old Baptist Cemetery in Marlton.

Mr. Evans was a well-known contractor and builder in Moorestown. He was a member of the Junior Order of Mechanics.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Ella; two daughters, Mrs. J. Alfred LeCaney, of Valley View Terrace and Mrs. Lawrence Jones, of Marlton, and a son, John Evans, of Easton, Pa.

FLOODLIGHT CRESCENT CIRCLES

Public Service Electric and Gas Company has completed the work of floodlighting the two Crescent Boulevard circles in Brooklawn. This system of lighting, designed to eliminate hazards at these two points, is the first installation of its kind in New Jersey.

George Webster, 78, won the annual club race in Hempstead, Eng., swimming in water filled with ice.

SPLENDID TALKS AT MEN'S CLUB

Freight Rates and Beauties of Nature Afford Subjects for Palmyra Group

The regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, was held in the Parish House Monday evening.

Two speakers were on the program of the evening. E. Uhler, chief clerk of freight department, Pennsylvania Railroad, spoke regarding the "Relation of the Freight Agents and the Shippers."

He brought out the fact that the man on the "firing line" was very often the one who bore the brunt of the dissatisfaction the shippers chose to express to the railroads. He stated that all the acts, ways and means of handling the freight shipments were regulated by Interstate Commerce Commission rulings, and the agent who was not careful would lose money for the railroad, as well as the shipper, and in certain cases would be in danger of imprisonment. He maintained that a serious study of the situation would result in a more amicable association between the shippers and the carriers.

William Morrow was the next speaker and gave a very sincere and interesting description of the "American National Parks."

Mr. Morrow had spent a great many years in wandering, camping, and living in the various National Parks, and the spell of the enchanting beauties of these parks has left an everlasting imprint in his mind. He therefore was able to put over to the members that feeling for and adoration of nature in its most stupendous aspects, which all men delight in.

He described the oddities of the Yellowstone, the sublimity of the Mount Hood National Park, the majesty of the Yosemite, the depressiveness of Death Valley, the beauty and cheer of Lake Tahoe, and the awesomeness of the Grand Canyon.

After the speaker had finished William Purnell acquainted the club with the fact that Joseph R. Wilson, a prominent Philadelphia attorney, and an honorary member of the club, had been honored by the King of Spain for his assistance while Director of Foreign Participation during the Sesqui in 1926.

Music was furnished by the club orchestra, under the direction of Joseph Siddal.

Two lovely piano selections were played by Miss Evelyn Waller, which were greatly enjoyed.

The May meeting promises to bring to a fitting close the activities of the club for the past season. Special musical entertainment is being arranged for, and the speaker at that meeting will be a man who has traveled into the little known regions of Sumatra, Borneo, New Guiana, and the lovely island of enchantment, Bali.

All members are urged to be present at this meeting to enjoy the unusual program that is being prepared.

PTA READY FOR SOCIETY CIRCUS

Pamahasika and Pets to Give Performance Tomorrow Afternoon, Evening

For nearly thirty years Pamahasika has been educating birds and animals, and now presents the best entertainment of its kind ever given in America.

A Shetland pony, King Silver, is the first and largest performer, and his remarkable displays of tricks and talent is followed by a clever dog show. The dogs, the pony and a monkey give a clever horseback and jumping performance as the final act of this division of the entertainment.

The canary troupe comes next, and it will be immediately seen that Pamahasika's claim to have trained all his little performers by methods of kindness, must be true, for in no other way could the tiny creatures be controlled. They promenade, then begin their individual acts. One of the cutest is their ladder race.

The parrot performance is, however, the most brilliant of the show, and every item of the lengthy program is sure to win the applause of the audience. A dozen sulphur crested cockatoos give a wonderful performance, ringing bells and striking gongs to any number of times asked, doing marvelous aerobatic tricks on the parallel bars, dancing, marching, operating and traveling on a merry-go-round, working a teeter, and figuring in scores of interesting stunts. Six or seven sulphurs of a dwarf species have other tricks to do, while a brilliant plumaged blue-and-yellow macaw from Brazil stars in rolling a big cylinder.

The finale is the assault and capture of a fort from the enemy, by the larger sulphur-crested birds. One of them, as a spy, enters the fort at a lower door. Then a gunner starts a bombardment and after the fort has been bombarded for a while, smoke is seen issuing from the top. A bird runs forward, sets up a ladder to an upper door of the fort, rescuing the spy.

Then the flag flutters down, signalling the defeat of the enemy. In its place the Union Jack is quickly hoisted. Immediately ladders are raised to the top, and the first bird up tilts a big bucket of water which puts out the fire.

Come with the children, and enjoy this splendid performance tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Salvadore, with 144 persons to the square mile is the most densely populated country in the western hemisphere.

To Attend Convention

WILLIAM D. McRAE

William D. McRae, who organized Burlington County for YMCA work nearly twenty-five years ago. The organization convention was held June 17, 1905. The first County Convention was held May 12, 1906. This year, on May 12, 1930, the 25th annual convention will mark a Quarter-Century epoch in the YMCA history of Burlington County. Mr. McRae will attend this event.

EAGLE SCOUTS HOLD MEETING

Discuss Many Activities of Past and Plan for Future Association Work

A meeting of the Eagle Scout Association was held at the Palmyra Lutheran Church last Saturday, with about 20 members present. After a fine sauer kraut supper, splendidly served by the women of the church, Carlton Tillinghast, president of the association called for reports and the following activities were reported on and discused.

Members of the association have been active in collecting papers, wholesale quantities, and selling them, proceeds of these sales were to go to the building for an Eagle Scout cabin at the scout camp at Wrightstown.

William C. Coles, Jr., of Moorestown, chairman of the building committee, presented a plan for commencement of the building operation which was approved, and on May 17 members of the association and a few friends will break the ground for the building.

Mr. Coles also reported on a moving picture benefit for the purpose of adding to this building fund.

It was decided that in order to pay correspondence and incidental expenses that nominal dues be charged and John Erickson, of Maple Shade, was elected treasurer for the balance of the year.

Avery L. Bennett, camp director, said a few words to the group regarding the camp program, and urged the scouts to give their co-operation.

Arthur W. Luce, new scout commissioner, was introduced to the group and also spoke a few words in complimenting the association on its progress by pointing out the fact that the council looks to the association for help and the scouts of the council look to them for inspiration.

Scout Executive M. A. Shaw, brought out the fact that the association is particularly adapted to the building of traditions which will promote fellowship and a great interest in scouting among the boys of the county.

Dodge — Weigle

Miss Anna Elizabeth Weigle, daughter of Mrs. Alice Weigle, and Edwin R. Dodge, of Philadelphia, were married last Thursday at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. J. W. Lee. The bride was atended by Mrs. Lucy H. Blades, of Palmyra, and George H. Weigle, a brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Dodge is a niece of Brigadier General William Weigle, of the United States Army. Mr. Dodge is a furrier in Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Dodge will be at home at 4516 Locust street, Philadelphia, after September 1st.

"I don't see how you can afford to take so many girls to expensive restaurants."

"That's easy; I always ask each girl, just before we go in, if she hasn't been putting on weight."

INTEREST SHOWN IN MEXICAN CHEST

Several Hundred People View Toys and Handicraft of at Moorestown

Several hundred people viewed with interest the cabinet filled with the toys and handicraft made by the Mexican children and sent by them to the children of the United States. Forty-nine of these cabinets were sent, one to each state and one to the District of Columbia, in appreciation of the gifts sent to the children of Mexico by the children of the United States in 1928.

New Jersey's chest, which was on display at the Moorestown Free Library last Saturday and Monday, is making a tour of the State. It has been exhibited in Atlantic City, Salem, Haddonfield, and was sent from Moorestown to Burlington, where it will be on display Wednesday and Thursday.

After it has made the rounds of the town and cities of New Jersey requesting it, the cabinet will become the property of the State Museum.

A meeting of the custodians of the Burlington County Library Stations will be held in Beverly on Friday, May 2nd, in the new Library and Paragraph Club room. The meeting will be begin at 10.30, with an afternoon session begining at 2.30. Luncheon will be served by the Paragraph Club to those attending the meeting. A fine program has been arranged, and librarians and those interested in the development of library service in Burlington County are especially invited to attend.

Railroad Man Defends Company's Policy of Curtailing Service on Trenton Division

Presents Mass of Statistics to Show How Trains Operate at a Loss Due to Competition of Private Automobiles and Motor Buses

Speaking before a Beverly service club last week, L. K. Marr, assistant superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, presented the case of the railroad in its much criticised policy of curtailing of local passenger train service.

The speaker introduced a mass of statistical data showing the tremendous decline in short distance traffic on the railroads of the nation during the past few years, which he said could be attributed almost entirely to development of automotive transportation on the highways.

Private automobiles and motor coaches are now carrying a large percentage of travelers who formerly patronized the railroads, Mr. Marr said, and of the two he felt that the private motor car was most responsible for diverting travel from the rails.

Continuing he said a local passenger train, under average operating conditions, must earn about $1.25 a mile in order to pay its way. He then produced figures to show that many of the local trains on the Camden-Trenton branch were earning far less, in some extreme cases, such as Sunday trains, the revenues fell as low as 11, 13, 16 and 19 cents a mile.

Mr. Marr placed the responsibility for train service curtailment squarely upon the public, declaring that the public had deserted the trains and had made curtailment an economic necessity.

At the close of his prepared address Mrs. Marr was deluged with questions from the club members concerning the railroad's plans regarding the Camden-Trenton branch. He was guarded in his replies and did not appear inclined to venture any predictions as to what the future held in store. He did say however the matter of direct passenger service from South JeJrsey into Philadelphia was receiving the earnest attention of the Pennsylvania Railroad's technical department which included the best engineering brains in the country.

Mr. Marr stated that the Camden-Trenton branch would in all probability be electrified in connection with the extensive program now under way, which calls for the complete electrification of the main line between New York and Philadelphia within the next five years. The speaker pointed out that the Camden-Trenton branch, in connection with the Delair bridge across the Delaware afforded a valuable detour or relief route in case of a blockade on the main line. In order to make this route available for use it must be electrified to conform with the main line.

When questioned as to the possibilities of securing direct passenger train service to Philadelphia via the Delair bridge, Mr. Marr refused to make any predictions. He admitted however that there was no physical reason why such service could not be established.

Speaking of the improvements on the other side of the river, Mr. Marr told his listeners that multiple unit electric trains would be in operation between Philadelphi and Trenton in the late summer or early fall. The program calls for complete electrification between New York and Philadelphia within five years. When this is accomplished it is planned to make the regular running time between New York and Philadelphia, one hour and forty-five minutes.

Mrs. Kate Marrin of Chicago was sent to prison for stealing purses from women attending services in different churches.

LIQUOR CAUSE OF DEATH AT PARRY

Swedish Workman Found Dead With Half Empty Bottle Near at Hand

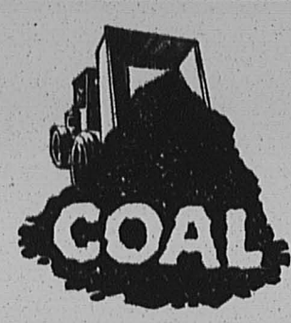

Otto Anderson, fifty years old, a Swedish workman, formerly employed by the S. J. Groves Construction Company, was found dead at the home of Tony Tucholski, of Parry, near Palmyra, early last Friday morning.

William P. Young, Burlington County Coroner, was called and after an examination by Dr. Dean H. LeFavor, issued a certificate giving the cause of death as acute alcoholism. A bottle of liquor of questionable quality was found near.

Anderson was discharged by the construction company about a week ago, owing to his excessive drinking. Since that time he had made his home with some of his acquaintances in Parry.

Tucholski had taken him in for the night and he had slept on a sofa downstairs. When the family came down Friday morning they found him dead. It is believed he had been dead for about five hours. There was no evidence of foul play.

The body of the dead man is now at the Snover Funeral Parlors awaiting word from the Swedish Consul, as to what disposition to make of it. It is believed that Anderson has no friends or relatives in this country.

NOW is the time to buy your winter's supply of coal. Prices are lower now than at any other time during the year. We have a large stock of well prepared, clean coal and you can save a dollar a ton on your coal bill by filling your bin during May. Place your order early and we will do the rest.

FIREMEN'S NIGHT

Next Tuesday night will be Firemen's Night in Billy Sunday's Tabernacle, Mount Holly, when a large portion of the seating capacity of the building will be reserved for the firemen of Burlington county and central New Jersey.

While it is always necessary for every community to have a sufficient number of firemen available to answer alarms that may arise, it is expected that every fire company of Burlington county will be represented by as many firemen as can be relieved from active duty.

It is also expected that fire departments in Atlantic, Camden, Gloucester, Ocean and Mercer counties will have large delegations present at this service.

LONE EAGLE GROUP

On Thursday, April 24, the members of this group attended the tri-State Aircraft Show in Camden. We learned and saw many interesting things. We were piloted by Mr. Hicks and "a good time was had by all."

The regular Lone Eagle meeting was held on Saturday, April 26. The president, Paul Guest, opened the meeting and we were then directed in Bible study by a member of the Hi-Y who told us about the three points of the YMCA triangle.

The secretary read the minutes and called the roll. We then decided to have a joint cake sale with the Hi-Y.

The meeting was adjourned and we played basketball.

BIG GANG MERGER

Mergers have loomed large in the news of the day for quite a while. Recently a new combination of unusual interest was effected in Chicago, according to the Associated Press, which said:

"The amalgamation of the Capone and Moran factions, heretofore at odds with each other over liquor, gambling and the vice traffic, has the reported purpose of ending the gang gunnery which has been responsible for hundreds of deaths in recent years, and the coordination of all major gang enterprises for the purpose of increased power and profits."

For several years rival groups of gangsters in Chicago have fought each other for the rich money rewards of organized crime. This gang warfare has been carried on with almost unbelievable savagery, with shootings, bombings, sluggings and every form of violence. Seven members of the Moran gang were slain with sawed-off shotguns and machine guns in a garage in broad daylight on February 14, 1929. The total number of gang killings will never be known.

Now, according to the report the two most powerful gangs have effected a merger to bootleg, rob and racketeer in concert, reserving their bullets for such law officials and citizens as may interfere with their program.

The new arrangement may mean greater comfort and profit for the bandits, but it does not promise much advantage for the general public. It is not likely, however, that the truce will continue very long. Gunmen will be gunmen.

BASEBALL AT NIGHT

League baseball will be played in Des Moines, Iowa, at night, this season, beginning on May 6, and all home games except those on Sunday will be played under artificial light.

Flood lighting of the ball park will be accomplished by 148 lights of 1000-watts each mounted on 90-foot steel towers. These will be distributed around the field in such a way that there will be neither glare nor shadows, and it is declared that the highest flies and longest home runs will be clearly illuminated for the benefit of players and spectators.

For some time night games such as football, tennis, golf and others have been played under artificial light, but the Des Moines field will be the first to be equipped for night baseball playing of regular league games.

Much interest in the innovation is being shown by followers of the national game throughout the country, and a distinguished gathering of league officials and sports writers will attend the opening game.

WORLD WAR LEADERS

Reviewing what has happened to the great leaders of the World War, a recent writer notes the fact that among them all Hindenburg alone today occupies a high place in world affairs. Rounding out five years as president of the German republic on April 26, he is still active at the age of 83, with two years more to serve.

Of the other great military leaders, Foch, Haig, Cadorna, Diaz and Grand Duke Nicholas of all the Allies are dead, as are also Moltke, Falkenhayn and Hoetzendorf of the Central Powers. All the prominent living generals of the war are in retirement, including our own Pershing.

Among the political figures of 1914-1918, only Lloyd George is still active, and he no longer holds an important office. President Wilson, Czar Nicholas, Emperor Francis Joseph, Premier Asquith, Premier Clemenceau and Chancellor von Bethman Hollweg are dead; Kaiser Wilhelm is in exile.

Thus briefly runs the story to date of those who guided the movements of more than 65 millions mobilized fighting men, of whom 10 million died and 20 million were wounded, in a struggle which changed the map of the world.

WHEN IS A MAN OLD?

"I dread to come to the end of a year," said a friend to me recently; "it makes me realize I am growing old."

That suggests a question. When is old?

In Shakespeare's time a man was old at forty, and often invalided long before that.

Sir Walter Scott at fifty-five bemoaned the fact that he was an old man.

Montaigne retired to his castle at thirty-eight to spend his declining years in peace and study.

Dr. Samuel Johnson once remarked that at thirty-five a man had reached his peak, and after that his course must be downward.

Physiologists tell us that in all mammals except man the period of life is five times the period of growth. A dog gets its full growth in two years, and lives ten; a horse in five years, and lives twenty-five. On this basis a man should live from one hundred to one hundred and fifty years.

But William James, the great psychologist, said that most men are "old fogies at twenty-five."

He was right. Most men at twenty-five are satisfied with their jobs. They have accumulated the little stock of prejudices that they call "principles," and closed their minds to all new ideas; they have ceased to grow.

The minute a man ceases to grow—no matter what his years—that minute he begins to be old.

On the other hand, the really great man never grows old.

Bismarck, who died at eighty-three, did his greatest work after he was seventy.

Titian, the celebrated painter, lived to be ninety-nine, painting right up to the end.

Goethe passed out at eighty-three, and finished his "Faust" only a few years earlier; Gladstone took up a new language when he was seventy; Commodore Vanderbilt increased the mileage of his lines from 120 to more than 10,000 between his seventieth birthday and his death at eighty-three.

Laplace, the astronomer, was still at work when death caught up with him at seventy-eight. He died crying, "What we know is nothing; what we do not know is immense."

I suppose that is the real answer to the question, When is a man old?

Laplace at seventy-eight died young. He was still unsatisfied, still growing, still sure that he had a lot to learn.

As long as a man can keep himself in that attitude of mind, he is still young.

FACTS

The basis of all successful business is facts. The head of one of the world's greatest corporations has a sign over the door of his private office reading: "What are the facts?"

The difference between leaders and followers in this world is that leaders know how to use facts. The way to begin to prepare for leadership is to study facts.

The greatest collection of facts about the United States, our government, industries, business, people and conditions, is in a book published annually by the United States government. It is called "The Statistical Abstract of the United States." Anyone who wants to be able to answer any questions of fact about our nation can get them all in this book for one dollar sent to the Public Printer at Washington.

WILLIAMS

The most widely known newspaper man in the world is probably Walter Williams. Williams started life as a printer on a country paper in Missouri. His education, except for a few years in the common schools, came from his newspaper work, travel and reading. He conceived the idea of a college of journalism and in 1908 established the first school of that kind, at the University of Missouri. There are fifty or so colleges of journalism now, in different universities, all founded on the Williams model.

The other day Walter Williams was made President of the University of Missouri. He still retains the title of Dean of the School of Journalism. He is the first newspaper man ever to head a great educational institution.

SUGAR

Straw and cottonseed may soon supply the world with sugar. Xylose, one of the most widely distributed organic compounds in nature, is found in all vegetable fibers. It is a sugar which does not produce fat when eaten. It was first discovered in 1886 and chemists have been working for 44 years to find a cheap way to extract it. Up to recently it cost about a dollar a pound to get it out of the fibers. Under a grant by Congress two years ago the Federal Bureau of Standards has been engaged in chemical research into xylose, and now announce the development of a process which extracts it from cottonseed hulls at a cost of only five cents a pound.

The salvation of the cotton farmer may come through this added by-product of the cotton seed, though it will hurt the sugar grower.

WELCH

"No human being in this country is not his debtor, though millions have never heard his name."

No greater tribute could be paid to any man than that phrase which was applied to Dr. William H. Welch, of Baltimore, "Dean of American Medicine," on his eightieth birthday.

Dr. Welch's great work has been in starting in this country the methods of medical research into the cause and prevention of disease and in leading in the application of the results of research to the practice of medicine. His especial interest has been in preventive medicine. The public health systems of America owe their origin largely to him. It is because he established the principle that it is the physician's chief duty to aid in preventing disease that the world owes him a debt of gratitude.

OIL

Oil is the world's most precious commodity. I am not thinking especially of petroleum, which is the first thing we think of when we say "oil." Palm oil from interior Africa, olive oil from the Mediterranean shores, whale oil from the seven seas, were articles of international traffic centuries before Columbus.

Today the animal and vegetable oils are still sought for everywhere and consumed in larger quantities than ever before. America has contributed corn oil, peanut oil and cottonseed oil to the list. We produce more linseed oil, from flax grown in the Northwest, than any other nation. Florida is beginning to produce tung oil, extracted from the nut of a tree native to China. The pursuit of whales for their oil has developed in the past twenty years to such an extent that international laws for the protection of these huge beasts are under consideration. Aviation has stimulated the demand for castor oil, which remains fluid at low temperatures and does not carbonize. Cod-liver oil is in greater demand than ever. Porpoise oil is used for lubricating watches. And the oil from cocoanuts is used in a thousands ways, for foods, candies and cosmetics.

One of the newest scientific discoveries is a germ which will extract the oil from cocoanuts without pressure, economically and completely.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

"HEART MEDICINE"

Are you going to believe me, when I tell you that you have the best and most dependable heart remedy known, always within your reach and absolutely free from cost to you? Well, you most certainly have. In these days of sudden death from "heart disease," it seems worth while to me to do a lot of sober thinking.

The horizontal position—the recumbent posture—lying in bed—call it whatever you please—is first and foremost in caring for a tired heart. I saw an aged man, not long ago, with a rapidly failing heart; one month in bed completely restored him, so far as I could discern; he shows no sign of heart failure today, and is apparently healthy as a man of his years can be. He took perhaps sixty cents worth of medicine! The recumbent position cured him; he was not permitted to even sit up to take his meals; orders were orders here; disobedience might have cost him his life.

Of course your heart isn't like that. But do you know that the eight hours you should spend in bed each night does the very thing for you that was done to the old man? And don't you know that the heart does three times as much work when you are up and doing as it does when the body is in the horizontal position? Then, if the heart becomes weakened, failing in its strength and function from overwork and abuse—the very first thing to do is, give it REST. In many cases that's all it needs.

The heart may be abused—overworked, in a thousand different ways; what are you doing to your heart? Are you giving it the rest that it absolutely must have? You, who are up all day, and extend the festivities till past midnight? Then, do you whip up the tiring organ with cigarettes, heavy food, or with alcoholics? Or with "medicine?" Let me tell you: You are tampering—flirting with danger to your life!

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

POTATOES

At this time of year, when new potatoes are not yet a matter of course and old potatoes are perhaps at their poorest, the clever cook sees to it that there is much potato variety. Whereas in a few weeks plain boiled potatoes, dressed with butter and parsley, will be served perhaps every day, and whereas mashed potatoes three months ago may have been an almost daily occurrence, this is the season for potato variety.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

Scalloped potatoes are one of the best ways of serving them T.here are two good ways to scallop potatoes. One is to slice them raw and put them in a buttered baking dish with a little flour sprinkled between the layers. Then season them with salt and pepper and butter, and cover them with milk. Cook them rather slowly for an hour in the oven—or until the potatoes are done.

The other way of scalloping them is to boil them and let them cool, then chop them or cut them into small dice, put in a buttered dish, cover with milk, season well and bake slowly until they are rich and creamy and brown on top.

Creamed potatoes are also good made of old ones. Again there are several ways of cooking them. One is to make a good cream sauce and heat the diced or sliced potatoes in the sauce. Another is to dice the potatoes, roll them in flour, and then heat in a double boiled in milk to cover them. The flour thickens the milk. Both sorts should be well seasoned.

CREAMED POTATOES

Creamed potatoes may then be poured into a buttered, shallow dish and browned a few moments in the oven or, carefully, in the broiler. Or they may be poured into a dish and sprinkled with buttered breadcrumbs and grated cheese and then baked until they are brown. Minced parsley may also be sprinkled over creamed potatoes to add to their taste and appearance.

Various sorts of friend potatoes are tempting at this time of year. You can French fry raw potatoes, or pan fry boiled potatoes. You can make latticed potatoes or German shoe strings—that is, finely cut raw potatoes cooked like French fried. You can fry boiled potatoes in thin slices with a little onion, and thus make a sort of Lyonnaise potato.

The point is, if the old potatoes are not now very good and the new potatoes are still expensive, to cook the old ones in a way to bring out their best points and minimize their worst ones.

KEIM NAMED AS NEW YORK PORT AUTHORITY

Edgewater Park Man Receives Appointment From Governor Larson to Bi-State Board

George deBenneville Keim, of Edgewater Park, was appointed last week, by Governor Larson, to the reorganized Port of New York Authority, a bi-State Board which has now taken over, in addition to its responsible port development duties, jurisdiction over the Hudson vehicular tunnel.

The Senate immediately confirmed Mr. Keim's appointment along with those of four others reappointed.

While the office pays no salary it is one of considerable responsibility and influence and carries a voice in the expenditure of vast sums in port development and other public works.

LINDBERGH — AND HIS WIFE

This young Lindbergh fellow has gone and done it again. Or rather he hasn't stopped doing it. Cuts three hours from the best flying time across the continent, and with the usual nonchalance.

Anne Morrow Lindbergh, of course, was with him. They say she looked a bit tired as she left the plane, and one reporter thought he saw her cry after she was seated in an automobile, safe from the strain and a few miles from her home. I she cried for the relief of nervous tension it only proves the more how brave she is. The flight at a speed of three miles a minute would have been no credit to a devil-may-care girl. Anne, probably, is quite normal.

Breaking air records, finding new paths for fliers is Col. Lindbergh's job. His flight to New York was just another one, like an architect plans a skyscraper higher than his last. It is not so much that an aviator flew faster than others, or that his wife flew with him. It is the adding, one after another, of air feats intended and certain, to make flying safer and of more commercial value that convinces us there was nothing accidental in that epoch-making flight to Paris.

There are some who believe Lindbergh has had his share of glory and worship by the public. They would shelve him and make light of his new acts.

It can't be done. Lindbergh will be front page stuff so long as he lives.

—Community News, Merchantville.

"That customer over there says his soup is not fit for a pig," said the waiter.

"Then take it away, you idiot, retorted the manager, "and fetch him some that is."

Boxer's Second: "Buck up, old man. Think of all your ancestors who have died fighting.

Losing Fighter: "That's just what I'm thinking about."

"Yes, I'm a cosmopolitan. My father was Irish, my mother Italian. I was born in a Swedish ship off Barcelona, and a man named McTavish is my dentist!"

"What's McTavish to do with it?"

"Why, that makes me of Scottish extraction!"

ANNUAL PLAY BY PALMYRA JUNIORS

Class Plans Dramatic Production to Defray Expenses of Washington Trip

The Class of '31, Palmyra High School, will present its annual play on May 16 and 17 in the high school auditorium. "A Full House" is the name of this unusual performance.

The cast has been picked, and under the supervision of Miss Ermyn Jewell, the members of the cast are practicing hard to make this play the best ever shown at Palmyra High School.

The play is full of mystery and comedy, and an enjoyable evening is assured. The tickets are on sale and may be obtained from any member of the Junior Class.

Reserved seat tickets are 75 cents and general admission is 50 cents. The reserved seat tickets may be exchanged at Buchi's drug store, Palmyra, for specific seats.

The proceeds of this play will be put in the class treasury for the annual trip to Washington.

Don't forget the date, May 16 and 17. Come out and make the play a success.

SUPERVISOR TO BE DENIED CONTRACT BY SCHOOL BOARD

ten resignations, so it was voted that contracts be withheld so as to leave the committee open to look for other teachers for these positions.

Retain 45 Teachers

A total of forty-five of the forty-nine teachers who now compose the faculty will be tendered contracts for the coming year. While some may refuse to sign the contracts proffered, it is thought there will be few cases of this kind. School Board members in nearby towns say there are more qualified teachers in the State than there are positions, and with the influx of Pennsylvania teachers attracted by the New Jersey tenure law Boards of Education are not concerned about the supply of teachers. They feel that any vacancies which occur this spring may be easily filled.

Before adjourning the meeting President Davison asked if any one present had anything to bring before the Board, extending a special invitation to members of sending boards who were present. George D. Steedle, of the Riverton Board, said he had been delegated to represent the Riverton Board and deplored the failure to call for opinions from visiting Board members before voting on Mr. Eckert's retention. He later said he was present merely as a spectator. Mr. Steedle was clearly in favor of retaining the present supervisior.

Howard Taylor, a member of the Cinnaminson Board, said he was disappointed that Mr. Eckert was not to be given another contract, but said he had confidence in the Palmyra Board and his Board would co-operate with the new supervisor.

May Reverse Decision

George B. Clover, former president of the Board of Education, and one of the "Three Georges" who were defeated for re-election in the last school election, made a few remarks, in which he admonished the Board members that they must keep the school up to Mr. Eckert's standards or Riverton would gain permission to send all of its children elsewhere. Mr. Clover was one of the Board members who claimed no improvement was needed in the school system prior to the present supervisor's appointment.

Mr. Dnrgin, a Board member ,told Mr. Clover the Board would assume full responsibility for keeping the school up-to-date.

William F. Engle, one of the citizens present, stated his thoughts pointedly when he said the people had been given an opportunity to express their views on the Eckert controversy at the election last spring and suggested that all be "good sports" and abide by the decision, which was made by a majority of virtually two to one.

Mr. Clover called to the attention of the Board that the resolution praising the supervisor, which was passed by the old Board, had never been sent to him. William A. Donaghy, District Clerk, told him he had not been able to send it because Mr. Clover, then president of the Board, had not signed it.

Waited Until Last Day

Mr. Clover told how he had waited until his last day in office and saw Mr. Donaghy on the street and asked him if the resolution was ready for his signature and was informed that it was, but he did not have it with him. Mr. Clover said Mr. Donaghy told him it was at his house and if he would call he would give him the copy to sign. Later that evening Mr. Clover said he went to Donaghy's home three times, from eight until twelve o'clock in the evening, but was unable to find him home.

Mr. Davison said he had no objections if Mr. Clover wished to sign the resolution and predate it. This Mr. Clover refused to do until he could get a decision from the State Commissioner on the legality of the action.

The meeting, which opened promptly at eight o'clock, adjourned at 9.20 with all business transacted. Prior to the organization of the present Board it was seldom the meetings adjourned until after eleven o'clock and often not until one o'clock in the morning.

Enlarged in every department this season and now recognized as one of the biggest circuses on the road, Sparks Circus, internationally known, will give two exhibitions, at 2 p. m. and 8 o'clock, on Tuesday, May 13, in Burlington. Appearance of this famous show has created much interest among the circus enthusiasts of this community and many are making plans to attend the performances on Circus Day.

BOY JOB SEEKERS TO BE GIVEN AID

YMCA to Help Youths in Securing Part Time and Permanent Positions

With the coming of Spring and the end of school many business men and individuals will be looking for a reliable boy to do various jobs for them. At this time of year many boys are interested in getting little odd jobs and many boys who are finishing school are looking for a permanent position.

The YMCA is endeavoring to aid both those who are seeking boys and boys who are seeking jobs. During the past month Secretary William H. Plank has been taken into the confidence of business men who are looking for promising boys. In every case these men have had a number of boys who are interested especially in their line of endeavor call upon them and in each case some boy has been lined up.

Within the next month some forty senior boys will be interested in various professions and the YMCA wants to aid as many of these boys as possible to be placed in their correct vocation. The greater part of the failures of boys in busines sare because they have not entered the correct line. It is the desire of the local YMCA to aid their fellows to get a real start in life. Mr. Plank would be glad to have any person interested in getting in touch with some boy to call upon him and talk over any opportunity they may have and he will in turn endeavor to recommend boys who would be interested.

Give the YMCA a chance to serve you as well as the boys of the community.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"EVERLASTING PUNISHMENT" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 4, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord." Lamentations 3.39, 40).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive." (Ezekiel 18.27.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases." (p. 391).

Glowing Portrayal of School of the Future

The little red schoolhouse is poetic in songbooks and sentimental orations, but it exacts an appalling toll in the health of children condemned to spend much of their youth within its insanitary walls, a writer in the Chicago Daily News asserts. The schools of the future will be built primarily to serve the health needs of the growing child and the reward will be a generation of sturdy citizens with color in their cheeks and a spring in their steps.

Such is the picture painted by Dr. Max Seham, professor of pediatries at the University of Minnesota and a leading authority on fatigue in children. Doctor Seham, in Chicago in connection with recent baby week activities, holds that while America has been piling up riches beyond those of any nation in history, its children have been drifting toward physical bankruptcy.

"One million children have beginning tuberculosis. Four hundred thousand have leakage of the heart. One million suffer from spinal curvature and other deformities. Two million have defective hearing, and five million reveal malnutrition," Doctor Seham cited these figures as warrant for a vigorous effort on the part of the state to reorganize its educational program so as to build up the health of future citizens.

"Sixty per cent of the 25,000,000 school children of America attend rural schools. Hardly a rural community is without one or more insanitary, indecent, unfit schools. Children are compelled to pass their days in buildings in which no employer would think of asking workmen to toil."

The schools of the future, rural as well as urban, "will have fresh-air rooms, lighting will be from the sun, seats and desks will be adjustable, lunches will be served at least one wholesome, rational meal a day, physical education under the leadership of experts will be compulsory and universal, Doctor Seham believes.

"The weak and defective child, through corrective exercise in small special classes, will get its full opportunity for normal development. There will be clinics for the diagnosis of mental as well as physical ailments, with full-time physicians and nurses watching the health of the children.

"The teachers will be prepared to instruct in practical hygiene as well as in academic subjects. All of this will be linked up with the home—the school being considered the day home of the child."

Paul Haskon, 12, of Los Angeles, was selected as America's most artistic chil dancer in competition with 17,000 contestants.

tling, and the removal of summer rain water indicate that too small an expenditure may result in failure after a short time. The figure of $1,800 may be considerably increased when final designs are submitted covering a floor which might be expected to last long enough to be worth while.

The item of $2,500 for a dam to form a lake is very desirable. A lake is always an asset in a park and furthermore in this case, the depth of the children's swimming pool will be dependent of the tide, and swimming will be possible all day long. It might be worth while to increase the item sufficiently to cover a sand beach and bottom for the swimming area. After the use of the park grows, boats for hire may be provided by concession.

As I remember it, an item of $3,500 was included for a memorial building to provide toilets, showers, locker space and offices for the supervisors. The dimensions of the building have been forgotten, but it is intended to add to the building later. It was pointed out to Council that the present grand stand is failing to pieces. Since it is of frame construction it may be assumed that the new building will be more substantial, of stone, brick, or concrete. To avoid breakage it will probably be windowless and will have steel doors.

I am reliably informed that the nearest sewer line lies along Cinnaminson street. Is the cost of the sewer connection to this line included in the cost of the building? If so, will what money is left provide a building that the Borough is satisfied to call a memorial? Possibly the Borough is to supply this sewer line and charge the cost to something else. Another alternative is a cesspool or septic tank, but this involves disposal of the water through a tile disposal field. Shower baths will overload a septic tank, so there will be required a separate drain, probably to the creek. The nearest point is the vicinity of the bathing beach.

The police have been unable to protect the grand stand and to prevent its disappearance board by board. No blame can be attached to the police, since the location is remote, but presumably they would have no better luck protecting the new structure. It may be found desirable to appoint a custodian or watchman to protect the new building and flag pole. This would be a good berth for a "deserving Democrat" and he might later need an assistant. This seems to be the customary order of events. At any rate there is food for thought and consideration before the Borough is finally committed.

There is no attempt nor desire in these letters to belittle any movement to provide play facilities for the children or attractions for the Borough. The increasing number of vacant properties indicates that some attraction is desirable. The condition of the river bank and of the old Yacht Club are signs of changing conditions. Guesses and opinions as to causes and remedies are free. The entire community should be interested and unless it becomes interested, progress will continue in the same direction as it has for some years.

These letters may seem controversal. They are. If the proposed program has merit its sponsors should be willing to explain it in such detail as to answer all reasonable questions. The people who pay the taxes should be convinced that all parts of the program are not too elastic, so as to lead to unexpected extension. It should be made clear that sufficient qualified study has been given the matter to insure that the taxpayers receive value for the money expended. A difference of opinion will more quickly bring out the deciding factors of a project than will the blind acceptance of any one's assertions. If the community interest be aroused, these letters have well served their purpose.

The writer still feels that immediate acceptance of the program is unwise and that more money should be used to obtain competent and experienced playground supervisors. After a year of experience with the local situation, the recommendations of this type of supervisor would be far more valuable to Council than the advice of any individual resident. Of course pressure will be brought to bear on the supervisors to forward various personal ideas, but if competent, the supervisors will also be fair to the Borough.

Incidentally, we should not forget that a new school and sewerage system are subjects that are now sleeping, but may wake at any time.

Yours very truly,
H. L. UNLAND.

P. O. S. OF A. PLANS MANY ACTIVITIES

Will Celebrate Anniversary May 12 With Reunion Banquet for Members

(By FURMAN WOOD)

The Merrie Monthe of May will be a busy one for members of the Palmyra P. O. S. of A. Chairman Charles Matlack of the sports' committee announces a pinochle tournament on the 5th, with some worthwhile novelty prizes for the winners. He wants at least forty players out to show their stuff.

May 12 will mark the 37th birthday of the local camp. Chairman Edson Carhart and his capable committee have arranged for one of the best reunions ever held. The banquet will be served by McAllister in his usual fine style about 6.30 p. m. Acceptance cards have been mailed to all members and reservations must be in the hands of the committee by May 9. They have adopted the motto, "no reservations, no eats." Reception of candidates and a bang-up social session will follow the dinner.

On May 9, members will assemble at the hall, 7 p. m. to attend the Billy Sunday service at Mount Holly. All camps in the county have been invited and we hope to send a large delegation to prove our interest in the work.

The Burlington County Association will meet at Tabernacle on May 13. A visit to this earnest body of real Americans is always interesting and enjoyable. County President Howard T. Jarrett advises that Burlington and Mercer counties are running a close race for top place in the state and he feels we have a good chance to win out.

Camp 594, of Philadelphia, will entertain us on the 20th, and on the 26th, our dart men will test their skill with the boys of Camp 317, Philadelphia.

The bill proposing to make the Star Spangled Banner our national anthem passed the House of Representatives, April 21, by unanimous vote and is now in the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. A number of important measures affecting immigration are pending in both branches of Congress and it will be advisable for our members to attend the camp sessions in order to keep in touch with these matters.

Secretary Leslie W. Reeves attended the anniversary of Camp 35, Delanco, April 23, and the Camden County Association banquet on the 26th. He reports a growing sentiment favoring the complete independence of the New Jersey State Camp from all outside influences.

In the baseball game on April 28, Captain George W. Rogers made a D. P. which as explained to him later meant a double play; it forced two of his men off bases, retired his side and lost the game to Captain Nathan Coombs by two runs.

NOTED SPARKS CIRCUS COMING TO BURLINGTON

Demands of the juvenile patron have not been overlooked by the Sparks Circus, which will shortly make its appearance in this vicinity. In fact, this internationally known circus will stage two exhibitions in Burlington on Tuesday, May 13. Many folks are making plans to attend, some going by automobile and others by bus. Dumb actors from ponyland, monkeyland, bearland and dogland are given prominent positions on the lengthy Sparks program. There will be big and little dogs, who play at leapfrog, ride Shetlands and donkeys, and turn somersaults by the score. Then there will be monkeys who play ringmaster, jump on and off galloping ponies, bears that skate and ride bicycles and baby elephants that dance as their comrades play upon musical instruments.

LEGION TO GATHER TOYS FOR CHILDREN

Will Be Reconditioned For Children of Former Service Men at Christmas Time

The American Legion is making a drive for toys which will be reconditioned and given to the children of ex-service men at Christmas time.

All who have toys which their children have outgrown or tired of are requested to get in touch with either Ted D'Autrechy, Riverton 521-R, or Mrs. James T. Weart, Riverton 369, and they will be called for.

This is only one of the many good works being done by the Legion and one which will bring great joy to the hearts of the youngsters, especially the orphans.

A display of these reconditioned toys has been arranged in the window of George W. Rogers' office, 9 East Broad street, which shows the fine work which has been done in making them like new again.

William B. Powell

William B. Powell, 68 years old, of 261 West Broad street, Palmyra, died at his home early Tuesday morning after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Powell, who was a member of the Election Board for nearly twenty years and Palmyra Building Inspector for three years, was born in Indian Mills and movedto Palmyra about thirty-eight years ago. Mr. Powell was also employed by the Western Electric Company and the Emergency Fleet.

Mr. Powell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Amanda Powell, his sons, Howard E. Powell, of Camden, and Elvin I. Powell, of Palmyra; four grandchildren, Marjorie, Donald, Arrowet and William, and three sisters, Mrs. Sara Darnell, Mrs. Corella Cann and Mrs. Annie King, all of Palmyra.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Friday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. J. William Lee officiating. Frank A. Snover is the funeral director.

Friends may call Thursday evening.

R. C. Stephens, of Glasgow, bequeathed $5,000 and his $10,000 car to his chauffeur.

Nancy Roper, of Leeds, Eng., has had three books published although she is only 17 years of age.

SCOUTS ENJOY CAMPING TRIP

Camp Along Rancocas Above Bridgeboro for Several Days During Past Week

Troop No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of America enjoyed a very pleasant camping trip to the Scout Reservation on the Rancocas Creek above Bridgeboro several days last week.

Junior Assistant Scoutmasters, E. Dages and H. Gerkens, were in charge when the boys left for the camp last Wednesday morning. With them were Scouts K. Stanton, R. Dages, W. Samon, R. Roach, E. Smith, H. Young, A. Branson and E. Cooper. Five tents were pitched and, although it was very cool, the boys kept warm owing to the fact that a cheerful camp fire had been built.

Scoutmaster Branson and eight more Scouts arrived Thursday morning. The Scouts were: Junior Assistant Scoutmaster F. Green, N. Russ, W. Parsons, L. Mathis, E. Mathis, G. Kennedy and P. Martin.

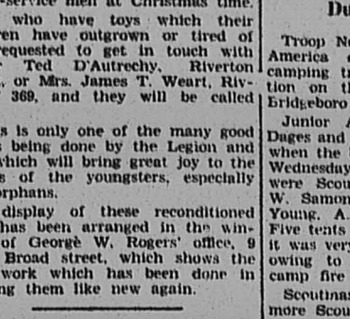

While on the trip many of the Scouts passed the fire building, cooking, knife and axe tests. Scoutmaster Fry, of Troop No. 2, and Scout Commissioner Brady paid the camp a visit Thursday evening.

The boys left for their homes before noon Friday in order to be ready in time to attend the Court of Honor, which was held in Mount Holly Friday evening. Troop No. 1 had twenty-six Scouts and four officers at the Court of Honor.

Sitting as police judge, Adam Smith of West New York, N. J. heard his son, Adam Smith, Jr., charged with viloation of prohibition laws, posession of gambling equipment, and attendance at a stag smoker where there were indecent carryings on. The father placed the son under $1,500 bond to await action by a grand jury.

Mark Elsom, a Chicago newsboy, was given a watch by a customer to whom he had returned some forgotten change.

Miss Pauline Woidell was a weekend guest at Pitman.

LIFE'S LITTLE JOKES—NUMBER 693,004 By RUBE GOLDBERG

PARRY A. A. OPENS WITH 11-0 VICTORY

Show Mid-Season Form and Trounce Strong Lenola Aggregation on Home Lot

Parry A. A. opened its 1930 baseball season last Sunday afternoon on the home grounds with a show of mid-season form which toppled Lenola A. A. with a score of 11-0.

Schultz was the winning pitcher and had the visitors eating out of his hand all along the route and allowed out two bingles. Only 29 aliens had a chance to look over his offerings.

Parry collected 8 singles, a trio of two-base blows and a triple from Voerth, the visiting hurler, who also allowed eight walks. Schultz only issued free transportation to one.

Box Alexander was the star batsman of the day with two singles and a double. He reached base a fourth time when hit by the pitcher. Schroeder, a new outfielder on the Parry club, displayed his baseball cunning by drawing two passes and walloped the horsehide into left field for a triple.

Next Sunday Parry A. A. will meet the strong Pearl A. A., of Burlington, on the home lot. The boys are out to put on a seaon of first class baseball and will welcome the support of the public.

PLAYING GOLF in the WIND

By "FAIRWAY"

A great many golfers find that their games deteriorate tremendously on a windy day. Even the best of golfers are often disturbed by the elements and it seems their difficulty arises from a very simple fault.

In golf, the player who stands more firmly on his feet than his opponent will always be the winner on a windy day. It stands to reason, therefore, that the higher the wind the more easily must the player swing his club; otherwise, he is sure to lose his balance.

The constant tendency is to use extra effort in playing against the wind. Remember, then, to swing easily, with special attention to the follow through. The main object is to hit the ball absolutely clean.

On a calm day a ball may be sliced or hooked or even hit high in the air without great loss of distance; but on a stormy or winday day the slightest inaccuracy is at least five times exaggerated and the golfer, who is inclined to drive with a cut, will find himself hopelessly out of the running.

Your first care on a winday day must be to swing absolutely true and that will be impossible if one attempts to force his stroke.

Secondly, do not try to drive too low a ball against the wind. Quite often this will lead you into topping your ball, and wind or no wind, a ball that is topped or even half topped will not get the distance as one that is cleanly hit. Moreover, in placing your ball in such a position as to hit it half on the top you are certainly interfering with your swing, and the result is a ball that either runs along the ground or ends in some kind of trouble.

The best way is to tee low and hit the ball clean. A low teed ball never flies very high, and the cleaner it is struck, the easier for it to keep its course, even in the teeth of a gale. So always bear in mind to just swing easily in your own natural way because any extra effort for a tremendous drive will nearly always prove disastrous.

Again, if the wind is behind you do not press to get even greater distance. If you do, it is easy to lose your balance and fail to hit a clean shot, and then all the advantage the wind would be to you is lost. If you have a wind that blows across the course from right to left play for a slight pull, and if it is left to right play for a slight slice. Do not overplay either of these shots because only a slight fraction of a change in your stance will give one the neded difference in direction.

BIG RACE SATURDAY

The largest number of entries ever received for a race meet in the East are now in the hands of the sponsors of the 100 mile AAA Championship race which will be run at the Langhorne Speedway, Philadelphia, on next Saturday, May 3. The field of qualifiers will number 38, out of which 18 will become eligible to start in the race. Beginning at noon on Thursday and continuing until 5 P. M. on Friday, the trials will be the center of interest for racing fans as interest narrows down to the possible starters.

STANFORD STARS ON PALMYRA RELAY TEAM

Colored Flash Made Brilliant Run at Great U. of P. Event Last Saturday

A quartette of Palmyra High School athletes made a very creditable showing in the Penn Relays last Saturday afternoon when pitted against the largest schools in the State in the one-mile event.

While not finishing among the first few teams the proteges of Harold B. "Boots" Lever, former Penn flash, were in the races all the way and gained some very valuable experience.

The work of Stanford, the colored speed demon, was especially brilliant, and during his time with the baton gained considerable yardage in a spectacular sprint, which, although a wonderful exhibition, was not enough to put the Palmyra entry in the running.

The race was won by Collingswood, with Camden second. Other New Jersey schools to compete were Haddonfield, Moorestown, Long Branch, Leonia, Burlington, Asbury Park and Vineland.

The Palmyra relay team was made up of Harold Lybrand, Eugene Bruno, Albert Stocker and Percy Stanford.

CINNAMINSON A. A. TO HAVE STRONG TEAM

Schuck Wil Try to Take Place of Paul Schele, Star Pitcher, Now with Riverside A. A.

With baseball season coming on, Cinnaminson A. A. will again put a strong team on the field. Bill Lynch, booking manager, is ready to hear from all first class teams in South Jersey. In writing for games, address letters to Bill Lynch, Moorestown, N. J.

The club will feel the loss of Paul Schele, star pitcher, who will be on the mound for Riverside of the Burlington County League. Ernie Schuck will try to fill up the gap. Johnny Broderson, star catcher for Riverton, will again be with the club. Ike Perkins, another Riverton boy, will probably be in the lineup.

The club will open up with Lenola A. A., Sunday, May 4, on Tom Brown Road near the Moorestown airport. Last year Schele fanned 24 batters to win 2 to 0, and another great battle is expected.

The candidates for the team are as follows: Bill Lynch, Paul Schele, Ernie Schuck, Bill Phelan, John Broderson, Ed Shea, Cad Shaffer, Ike Perkins, Bil Koch, Bill Anderson, Kid Swain, Joe Schaffer, Ben Flagg, Lester Hercher, and Rub Le Allen.

CHEER FAVORITES IN MARBLE TOURNAMENT

Champs and Near Champs Not Without Backers in Efforts To Win

As the Palmyra-Riverton marble tournament begins to thin out the winners of the various districts, the backers of the champs seem to be as enthused as the shooters themselves. Whenever an elimination contest is being held there are always a number of rooters, cheering their favorites on to the district meet, or perhaps the national meet.

The school eliminations are being run off by eighth grade pupils under the direction of the district chairman, H. Edson Hicks. At the Delaware avenue school, Harold Zayotti and Ralph Dages are conducting the contest. The Spring Garden school will "shoot" it off at the "Y" building under the direction of Robert Finney. Paul Guest and Clarence Hubbs arranged the contest at Riverton and also constructed one of the finest rings in this vicinity.

May 10 the district contest will be held at the YMCA building and from here the winner will go to Camp Ockanickon the following Saturday for the county meet. Each of the individual school champs will receive a medal and a trip to Valley Forge.

Dr. Ho, psycholigist, says that a floorwalker should be "lively, aggressive, responsive, alert, and pleasant." The sema qualities would make for success in almost any calling.

Approach - Putting Tournament May 1

The final approach and putting tournament is to be held at the Moorestown Field Club, Thursday, May 1, at 10 o'clock. Mrs. J. W. Price, manager of the women's golf team, urges that the ladies be ready to start at the time scheduled.

"Everyone is expected to bring a box lunch," said Mrs. Price. "Coffee and tea will be served at the club. There will be more golf in the afternoon. Thursday is set aside for women golfers."

EPISCOPAL

Rev. G. J. McCormack

For forty days after His resurrection our Lord lingered on the earth appearing at intervals to His chosen friends, teaching them, encouraging them, and preparing them for a fuller manifestation of His truth. What did He teach them in this period?

The history of the early Christian Church is a partial answer, especially as told in the record of the New Testament. Do you long to know more of His teaching? He will reveal it to you if you will only give some time and make some preparation.

Consider how He still lingers about the holy places where His people should seek Him, this human lingering of Jesus near us, hungering after us, watching over us so tenderly—waiting to be responded to by the heart open to the need of Him for fellowship and guidance.

The Annual Convention of the Diocese of New Jersey will meet on May 6th and 7th in Trinity Church, Elizabeth, commencing with Holy Communion at 10.30 Tuesday. The "Fellowship Dinner" Tuesday at six p. m. will be featured by prominent speakers and will doubtless be a very important and pleasing event. The delegates this year are Messrs. King, Borer and Rhoads and their substitute, Messrs. Branson, Torbett and Holmes.

The Auxiliary card party this evening will give an opportunity for pleasure and profit—the profit going to the funds of the Missionary Society of the Church, and the pleasure to those who come to this social gathering.

The Lenten Offering of the Children of Christ Church is nearly all in and so far we are happy to report two hundred and sixty dollars. Heartiest congratulations are extended to all who contributed. The Primary Class has the honor of being first.

The St. Agnes Guild will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday next, May 5th, at 8 p. m. The president, Mrs. Alfred Branson, hopes for a good attendance.

The different societies of the Church had some very interesting reports to give of the splendid work done at the annual Vestry meeting.

Services Second Sunday After Easter:
10.30 a. m. Holy Communion and Sermon, "Christ's Greeting."
2.30 p. m. Church School and Address, "An Escape From Prison."
8.00 p. m. Evensong and Sermon, "The Winner of Life's Race."

"Though we tread our earth-bound floor,
Tethered by many an earth-bound thing,
We still can lean against the Door
And hear the angels sing."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager, Pastor

The weeks that followed the first Easter were marked by many gracious revelations of the Christ to His disciples, and by much important teaching concerning the Christian Way. They were days of rich experience. The same privilege is open to the disciples of the present time, and the same onward progress should be made.

Sometimes there is an anti-climax after Easter; such a condition is an open reproach, giving unmistakable evidence of incompleteness in Christianity. The interests of the Kingdom in our community and in the world demand continuel zeal and Christian growth. These ough properly be times of spiritual depth and practical activity.

The congregation of First Lutheran had a gracious privilege last Sunday in receiving a message of Christian consecration ably presented by the Rev. J. E. Rudisill, of Philadelphia. The occasion was the formal installation of the pastor i nhis parish for the service of Christ and the Kingdom in this community. It was an inspiring challenge to both pastor and people to labor together in the great work of the Master.

The Mission Study Class met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. F. Ripka. They are completing the study of the message and challenge ofthe great Jerusalem Conference on Missions.

This (Thursday) evening the Luther Leagues of the District will hold a rally in our church. The principal speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Charles Fry, of Philadelphia. This matter is open to the public, and a cordial invitation is extended to join in the inspiration if the meeting.

Next Sunday evening the service will be devoted to the interests of boys, observing the celebration of Boys' Week. The message will be on the theme, "A Lesson in Spiritual Arithmetic."

Calvary Presbyterian

Rev. C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its morning service of worship Sunday at 11 o'clock; evening service at 8 o'clock. AAll departments of the Church School will meet at 10 a. m. The Christian Endeavor Society iwll meet in the Church School auditorium at 7 p. m.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold its regular meeting on Friday evening, May 2nd, in the Church Parlors.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet Wednesday, May 7th, at 2.30 p. m. in the Church School auditorium. This will be the last meeting until fall. The Women's Missionary Society meets at 8 p. m. the same afternoon.

FRELINGHUYSEN IS FOR MODIFICATION

Candidate Sees Failure of Act He Favored Ten Years Ago

In a statement on prohibition, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Republican candidate for nomination for United States Senator, last week expressed himself in favor of repeal or amendment of the Eighteenth amendment or of modification of the Volstead law under certain conditions. He said:

"As a candidate for United States Senator, it is proper that the voters should know my position on prohibition. As a member of the Senate I voted for the Eighteenth amendment because I believe that the people should have the opporfitunity to express themselves on any important proposed amendment to the Constitution in the manner provided therein and it would destroy the corrupt and debauching power of the liquor interest and work social, economic and moral benefits.

"I voted for the Volstead Act because it seemed to me the duty of Congress to enact legislation to make the amendment effective.

"Ten years of experience and study have modified my views. While the law has destroyed the open saloon, it has developed new and grave evils with which the public is familiar.

"The present law has encountered the obstacle inherent in our democratic form of government—that it is difficult, if not impossible to enforce a law making crimes of acts which large numbers of the people regard as moral and reasonable privileges of citizenship.

"I have therefore concluded that the policy of prohibition must be modified. Public sentiment has not yet crystallized in favor of any specification of modification.

"My judgment is that those who desire to use alcoholic beverages should be allowed to do so under conditions of national control that would eliminate the element of private profit and prevent the return of the saloon.

"I believe that any practical change in the policy of prohibition must ultimately come through a change in the Constitution. I will vote, if elected, to submit to the people through the method provided by the constitution any resolution proposing the repeal or amendment of the Eighteenth amendment which will carry out the principles heretofore stated, namely, national control, elimination of private profit and the prevention of the saloon.

"While I personally believe any attempt to modify the Volstead Act will become involved in long litigation as to its constitutionality and would lead to confusion without solving the problem, nevertheless I will vote for any modification if it embodies the principles which have previously stated.

"If elected, I shall support all reasonable measures for the enforcement of the law as long as the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law are in effect."

"IT'S A MAN'S WORLD" BECOMING OBSOLETE

Girl Who Startled Constantinople By Becoming Chauffeur, Uses Chevrolet for Taxi

The old adage, "It a man's world," is fast becoming obsolete even in Turkey, where feminine rights, as such, have only recently begun to receive attention. There are few fields that seem less fitted for women, even in the western world, than that of taxi-driver yet in Constantinople a young convent-bred girl recently proclaimed her emancipation by taking a chauffeur's test and embarking on a career of taxi-driving.

Mouamer Hanoum was just eighteen years of age when she startled Constantiople by anouncing her intention of taking a chauffeur's course. She subsequently passed the severe physical examination and, in a businesslike manner asserted that she was prepared to enter the driver's tests. She displayed such unusual skill at the wheel that she completed her course in record time and captured highest honors.

As a full-fledged taxi-chauffeur, Miss Mouamer's first consideration was the choice of her vehicle. She selected a Chevrolet six which has been specialy equipped for taxi work. She is now happily employed driving passengers around the Turkish capital and enjoying the distinction of being the first woman to enter the chauffeur's profession in that country.

Sees Frelinghuysen on Record of Error

A statement by Douglas G. Thomson, campaign manager for Dwight W. Morrow, follows:

Mr. Morrow, of course, indicated at the outset of the campaign that he would not discuss the issues until he had finished his duties as a delegate to the London Naval Conference. It might be well for me to point out at this time, however, that Mr. Frelinghuysen is now making a plea for a return to the Senate of the United States on a record which he admits himself is a record of error.

Mr. Frelinghuysen states that prohibition "has developed new and grave evils with which the public is familiar." If that is true, then Mr. Frelinghuysen admits that in voting for the Volstead Law he gave this country a law which has developed these new and grave evils, and he must therefore accept the responsibility of his previous actions in the United States Senate. His conversion appears to come at a late day, but it does not destroy his responsibility for what he states is a grave national error.

Mr. Frelinghusen says that he personally believes that any attempt to modify the Volstead Act "would lead to confusion without solving the problem." If he does not expect to solve the problem it is difficult to understand why he is for modification.

JUDGE WELLS IS VICTOR IN SUIT

Verdict Returned Against Henry M. Black for Claim Plus Interest

A suit brought by Judge Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown, against Henry M. Black, formerly of this County, now a resident of New York City, for services as counsel in litigation that extended over a period of about three years, was heard before Judge Jess, sitting in the Circuit Court Wednesday morning of last week, and resulted in a verdict for Wells.

The defendant, Black, was not represented at the hearing, although it was stated that notice of the trial had been served upon James Mercer Davis and his former assistant, Charles M. Atkinson, and Robert Peacock, who at times had been counsel for Black in this suit.

The testimony showed that litigation arose when a deal was made by Black with the Bell Telephone Company to buy shares of the former Farmers' Telephone Company, of this County, in 1917. The agreement was that if Black got control of shares of the stock at $50 per share, to be turned over to the Bell Company, he was to receive a bonus varying with the number of shares obtained. If all shares were bought, Black was to get $45,000 profit above the purchase price of $50 per share. He did get all except 80 of the 2,000 shares and sold them to the Bell Company, which then took over the Farmers' plant. For this service, Black got a bonus of $28,635.

Suit then was brought by stockholders of the Farmers' Company to compel Back to distribute that profit to the shareholders. The suit was heard before Vice Chancellor Backus, at Trenton, and a decree was issued that the profit should be distributed to the shareholders. An appeal was taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals, which reversed the decree below, thus permitting Black to keep his profit of $28,635.

The litigation started on November 14, 1917, and extended to November 18, 1920, during which Judge Wells testified that he appeared before the Court of Chancery four times; twice before the Court of Errors and Appeals; had numerous conferences with the parities to the suit, these conferences being held in Jersey City, New York, Trenton, Bordentown and Philadelphia; wrote over 200 letters in connection with the two suits, and performed other servoces. For all this he rendered a bill of $1,000 for counsel fee, deducting therefrom items of credit, reducing the claim to $440.65, which Black refused to pay, and for which suit was brought. A verdict for that sum was returned by the jury Wednesday morning of last week, plus ten years' interest, making the total verdict $690.35.

V. Claude Palmer and George M. Hillman, Burlington County lawyers, testified that the counsel fee fixed by Judge Wells was reasonable.

MAPLE SHADE MAN INJURED IN HOLDUP

Pair Suspected in Attack Accused of Second Gas Station Robbery

A Maple Shade gasoline service station attendant failed Monday afternoon to identify two Gloucester bandit suspects as the men who attacked him Saturday night in an attempted holdup at Maple Shade, which preceded a holdup the same night in Riverton.

The suspects, in handcuffs, and the man who was beaten, faced each other in Cooper Hospital, Camden. The prisoners stood at the foot of the injured man's bed. They were taken to the hospital by County Detective Arthur Carabine, Mrs. Anna Yoss Bading, secretary to Detective Chief Ellis H. Parker, and Camden County Detective Harry Ireton.

The hospital patient, David P. Jones, 29, of 1 Terrace avenue, Maple Shade, looked each man over carefully, but could not positively identify them. The suspects were William Wallace, 19, son of the late Harry Wallace, former president of Gloucester City Council, of 13 North Sussex street, Gloucester, and James "Jock" Pine, 25, amateur boxer, of 210 Orange street, Gloucester.

Police are continuing a search for an autmobile "sheik" who attempted to attack the wife of the Maple Shade victim Sunday morning when she was returning home from Cooper Hospital, where she had accompanied her husband. The woman, trusting the stranger as he offered to take her home, accepted a ride in his automobile. She escaped from the car when the man tried to attack her after driving past her home.

Riverton Station Robbed

Highway robbery charges against the suspects were pressed by Carl Kendall, 20, of Bridgeboro, attendant at a Riverton service station, who was robbed of $5 Saturday night after Jones was attacked.

In addition to the highway robbery charges lodged against the two defendants at the instance of Burlington county authorites, there is a charge against them of carrying concealed deadly weapons, lodged by the Merchantville police.

The car they are alleged to have stolen between 8 and 9 p. m. Saturday was that of Leon Mitten, 106 Middlesex street, Gloucester.

Wallace and Pine were arrested about midnight Saturday at Forty-second street and Crescent boulevard, Merchantville, by Sergeant Lloyd J. Masson, of the Merchantville police.

Caught at Boulevard

Sergeant Masson caught the two men after a chase of about a mile, 15 minutes after the Merchantville police received the bandit alarm with a description of the fugitives' automobile. Masson sighted the car on Maple avenue and pursued it on his motorcycle to Crescent Boulevard, where he crowded it against the curb.

The police reported that although both men were armed, they made no threat with their weapons, which Masson found. Both revolvers were loaded, the police said.

Jones, who was questioned at his home in Maple Shade by Chief of Police Clarence Ward before his removal to the hospital, said he was in the office of the "Big Tree" gasoline station, Moorestown pike and Fellowship road, Maple Shade, shortly after 10 p. m. Hearing a noise behind the building, he went outside. As he reached the back of the station a dark figure struck him on the chin. When he attempted to defend himself he was struck by a heavy instrument wielded by the other. Before he last consciousness he saw the men clearly, he said, and gave descriptions which fit Wallace and Pine "perfectly," Chief Ward said. The bandits fled without robbing Jones or the station.

Finds Husband Missing

Mrs. Jones had attended a motion picture show earlier in the evening. When her husband failed to return home about 10.30 she went to the station.

She found her husband lying on the floor of the station where he had dragged himself after regaining consciousness. He was stunned but did not appear to be hurt badly. Mrs. Jones took him home and notified police.

Shortly after 1 a. m. Sunday his condition became serious, and Dr. L. M. Hartman, of Maple Shade, was summoned. He ordered Jones removed to Cooper Hospital. At the hospital it was believed Jones suffered a fractured skull.

Kendall was working in the Gulf Gas station, Cinnaminson avenue, Riverton, shortly after the Maple Shade crime, when two men, both armed, entered the place. Holding him at bay, they took $5 and disappeared, but not before he obtained the license number of the car stolen from Mitten. Sunday, at Merchantville police headquarters, he made positive identification of Wallace and Pine as the holdup men.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HAS FEWER MOVES

Removal Orders for May 1st Indicate 30 Percent. Decrease Over Past Year

Jerseyites are going to sit tight in larger numbers this Spring than last to watch the other fellow move, telephone moving orders received to date by the New Jersey Bell Telphone Company indicate. A comparison of orders filed now with the number on hand at the same time in 1929, indicates about a 30 percent. drop in the number of moves. It is estimated that approximately 7,000 New Jersey telephones will be moved about the first of the month. Last year the number was about 9,500.

Although it is practically certain that there will be a general decrease in moving activities in the state, it is anticipated that the annual deluge of moving orders will call for he mobilization of all available installation forces in order that telephone tranfers can be made without delays.

Installers are preparing to work after hours, evenings and if needed, Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Each move not only requires the transferring of equipment on the subscribers' premises but it also makes necessary a readjustment of central office equipment. The telephone moving will be done by appointment and subscribers are placing their orders in advance in order that there will be no unwarranted delays or disappointments.

SPARKS CIRCUS ON 40th ANNUAL TOUR

Sparks Circus is one of the oldest and best and is now on its 40th annual tour. Throughout the United States and Canada its name is a household word as it always gives clean entertainment in enormous quantities. This season it will bring more wild animals, more famous performers, more funny clowns and more of everything.

One of the outstanding features of the 1930 tour will be the appearance of the original Nelson Family, world's premier acrobatic family. Father, mother, son and four daughters constitute this remarkable family, remarkable risley and tumbling champions. Other features include the Guice Family of Equestrians, direct from Holland; the Five Oerial Walters; Wright Duo, sensational equilibrists, Mlle Rosina, queen of the wire; Flora Bedini, petite equestrienne; LaVerne Hauser, noted horse-woman; Arensen Duo, the Carreons, and George Brothers. Fifty laugh producers headed by the one and only Paul Wenzel, will cavort around the hippodrome track.

Not only in trained wild animals, but also in domestic groups, will Sparks predominate. Among the noted subjugators will be Franz Woska and LaVerne Hauser.

"WONDERFUL -- MY OPINION OF THIS KONJOLA"
"Wish I Had Known of This New and Different Medicine Long Ago," Says Former Sufferer

M. T. W. HIGGINS
"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago, for this wonderful medicine did for me what all else I tried failed to do," said Mr. T. W. Higgins, 547 Chestnut street, Camden, N. J. "I feared I never could get rid of a severe case of stomach trouble that held me in its clutches. The smallest quantity of food caused pain. My appetite was gone, and what I did eat, I took to keep me going. Bloating caused sharp pains in my chest. I had terrible headaches, was lacking in energy and ambition, and everything I did was a task and an exertion.
"My daughter had derived such wonderful benefits from Konjola that I was influenced to try it. The very first bottle of Konjola showed me that I was on the right track. My improvement was rapid, and in three weeks my stomach was digesting whatever I ate, and I was taking on weight and strength. I feel like a new person, invigorated and refreshed. Wonderful is my opinion of Konjola, and I recommend it with enthusiasm."
Konjola is a medicine that, when given a fair trial—from six to eight bottles—easily and harmlessly eliminates the common ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.
Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

GRAND JURY ASKS THAT "BUYERS" BE PRODUCED

42 Indictments Refused Because "Under-Cover" Buyers Were Not Produced

FOREMAN JAS. T. WEART ISSUES STATEMENT

Find 110 True Bills for Possession of Liquor and Sundry Offenses

The April Grand Jury, whose foreman is James T. Weart, former Mayor of Palmyra, last week refused to return indictments in forty-two cases where the defendant was charged with the sale of liquor, because the enforcement authorities failed to produce the buyer.

Owing to the necessity of keeping the identity of the "buyers" secret for the sake of continuing their usefulness to the enforcement authorities, it had been the practice heretofore merely to submit affidavits to the Grand Jury that purchases of liquor had been made from the defendants.

County enforcement officials consider the action of the April Grand Jury as weakening enforcement in Burlington County and whether succeeding Grand Juries will follow the precedent remains to be seen.

Grand Jury's Statement

A statement concerning the attitude of the Grand Jury in this matter was issued by the foreman as follows:

Whereas, in presenting testimony in 42 cases of alleged violations of the Prohibition Enforcement Act the members of the present grand jury find that the person who made the complaint of having purchased liquor from the particular defendant was not produced to testify as to the sale of liquor, and therefore an indictment could not be returned for illegal sale of liquor, which in the opinion of the grand jury is the most serious of the violations of said act; therefore be it

Resolved, that we recommend that in the future more serious attention should be given by those charged with the responsibility thereof to the producing before the grand jury of the person who is alleged to have made said purchase of liquor for the purpose of returning indictment therefor.

Find 110 True Bills

After considering the cases presented to them by Prosecutor Howard Eastwood for four days, the grand jury found 110 of the 150 cases were true bills and returned indictments on this number. Some are not published because the alleged offenders have not

Anniversary Speaker

ALBERT E. ROBERTS

National Y. M. C. A. official, who will be the chief speaker at the twenty-fifth anniversary dinner of the Burlington County "Y" Council in the Burlington Baptist Church next Monday evening. He is the official speaker for the National "Y," traveling all over the United States to deliver principal addresses at important functions.

NEW ROAD MAPS ARE NOW READY

1930 Edition of New Jersey Road Maps Are Larger and More Legible

Enlarged and revised road maps of New Jersey have been printed by the State Highway Commission and are now ready for distribution.

Those who desire a copy of the new 1930 edition may obtain one without cost by writing to A. Lee Grover, secretary of the State Highway Commission, State House Annex, Trenton. The applicants have been requested to print the names and addresses clearly to avoid delays in the forwarding.

The 1930 map is the first to be issued by J. L. Bauer, State Highway Engineer, who had the Highway Commission adopt the plan for a map in colors and with more legible printing. The new map is twenty-two inches wide and forty inches long, making it six inches wider than the former map and ten inches longer. To make it easier to follow the route numbers, four colors have been used in this year's printing. The compilations were made by W. T. Campbell.

One of the new features has been the marking of the airports of the State by a drawing of an airplane. The U. S. Highways through New Jersey are designated as well as the approximate mileages of the different thoroughfares.

Other features include pictures of the magnificant new $1,500,000 bridge constructed across the Raritan River at New Brunswick for Route 25, the State's super-roadway and "The Cloverleaf" separations of traffic by the bridging of Route 25 over Route 4, the seashore artery, near Rahway. Separate maps are also given of the North Jersey territory near New York, South Jersey sections near Philadelphia and the new State Route S-26 which skirts the business center of New Brunswick, on the reverse side of the map of the entire State.

County "Y" Expects to Go Over Top in Drive

Last Friday evening, May 2, at the St. Andrew's Parish House, Mount Holly, campaign workers came together. They reported on their progress in securing the County YMCA annual budget. A little over $11,000 of the $12,500 required was the achievement at that time.

General Campaign Chairman Frank W. Thacher is now urging all community workers to see all former givers and prospects with a view to having the complete amount subscribed by the twenty-fifth annual County Convention, Monday evening, May 12.

Jennie P. Martin

Jennie P. Martin, twenty-three years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, of South Coles avenue, Maple Shade, died on Tuesday, April 29, from a complication of diseases after an illness of about three years.

Funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Henning, of Camden, were held on Sunday, May 4, from her late home. Elwood Belton & Son were the funeral directors in charge. Interment was made in Colestown cemetery.

She was a graduate of Moorestown High School in the class of 1924, and was employed at Campbell's Soup Company. There are two sisters living, Irene Martin, who graduated in 1929, and is now with Campbell's Soup Company, and Evelyn Martin, who is still attending high school.

OVERMAN WILL PRESIDE AT BIG Y. M. C. A. EVENT

Moorestown Man, County Chairman, Prominent on 25th Anniversary Program

FAMOUS SPEAKER TO DELIVER THE ADDRESS

Record Attendance Expected at Celebration Dinner in Burlington

With the expectation of a fine representative gathering of group and club members, leaders, local and County General Board members, friends and supporters of the Burlington County YMCA in attendance, Monday evening, May 12, promises to be a great fight in the YMCA history of Burlington County.

This occasion marks the rounding out of twenty-five years of such work here. Sponsored by the generous gifts of men and women all over the County for a quarter of a century, one of its great objectives has been the Christian citizenship development of boys and young men, so that a County already famous for its produce might be equally famous in men produced.

On this occasion special guests will be William D. McRae, who was responsible for getting the group of citizens together who organized the YMCA here; Robert C. Shoemaker, a former secretary, and Albert E. Roberts, of the National YMCA Council. Mr. Roberts, for many years National Town and Country Secretary, is now serving in the capacity as personal spokesman for the National Council and is truly known nationally as one of the greatest speakers in the Association movement. There is hardly a man all over the region who knows the County type of YMCA work better than Mr. Roberts.

In connection with the convention, nominations for membership on the County General Board will be made.

Dinner is being served by the ladies of the First Baptist Church, Burlington, in their social hall. Brief activity reports for the past year will be presented.

William F. Overman, of Moorestown, for some dozen and one-half years the head of the County YMCA, will preside.

Last minute ticket reservations up to Friday noon may be made by phoning the County YMCA Headquarters, Mounty Holly 800.

PATRIOTIC ORDER TO VISIT CHURCH

P. O. S. of A. to Open Anniversary Observance Sunday; Banquet oMnday

Following time-honored precedent the thirty-seventh annual reunion of Camp No. 23, P. O. S. of A., will be opened by attending services at the Palmyra-Riverton Baptist Church next Sunday. Those who wish to attend will assemble at the P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra, at 7.15 p. m.

"Man may live without books,
What is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope,
What is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love,
What is passion but pining?
But who is the man,
That can live without dining?"

So chants the poet laureate and answers, "Not I, for I shall be present at the banquet."

According to the Committee on Arrangements for the anniversary banquet to be held next Monday evening at 6.15, the poet expresses the sentiments which it is hoped all members of the Order will emulate. It is necessary for all reservations to be mailed in at once so that necessary arrangements may be made with the caterer.

Prospective candidates will be the guests of the camp, but their sponsors must notify Edson Carhart not later than tomorrow. The complete State Executive Committee has been invited and it is expected all will be present.

Tomorrow will be P. O. S. of A. Night at the Billy Sunday Tabernacle at Mount Holly. The County meeting will be held at Tabernacle Tuesday evening. A quoit game has been arranged with the Moorestown Beetle Boys on the nineteenth. A visitation will be made to Camp No. 594, Philadelphia, May 20. Camp No. 217, Philadelphia, will visit the Palmyra Camp May 26.

Friday, May 16, the P. O. S. of A. quoit tossers will meet the Odd Fellows of Cinnaminson Lodge, No. 201, Brothers Strang, Pike, Jackson and Bauer walked off with the prizes at the regular meeting last Monday night.

REMEMBER MOTHER

Sunday, May 11, is Mother's Day—Make it a pleasant one for her. Appropriate gifts on display at L. L. Keating's, Broad and Main, Riverton.

Candidate

CLIFFORD R. POWELL

State Senator from Burlington County, who has asked the newspapers to formally announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination in the spring primaries. The Senator will be unopposed on the G. O. P. ticket.

POPPY DRIVE TO OPEN THURSDAY

American Legion and Auxiliary, Assisted by Bugle Corps, to Sell Memorial Flower

The American Legion and Auxiliary will open their Poppy Drive next Thursday evening when the fire siren sounds at 7.30 p. m.

Members of both organizations, assisted by the State Champions, Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps, will canvass Palmyra and Riverton on that evening and it is hoped that every home visited will give its generous support to the members.

As has been stated before the proceeds of the poppy sale are used 100 percent. for rehabilitation work among the ex-service men and their families and if everyone would read the report of this local rehabilitation committee, it would not be necessary to urge that everyone buy a poppy.

Help the American Legion and Auxiliary of your community to carry on— to keep faith with those who have gone on before!

To Keep the Faith
by Moina Michael

Oh, you who sleep in Flanders' fields
Sleep sweet — to rise anew
We caught the torch you threw,
And holding high, we keep the faith
With all who died.

We cherish, too, the poppy red,
That grows on fields where valor led,
It seems to signal to the skies
That blood of heroes never dies,
But lends a luster to the red
Of the flowers that bloom above the dead
In Flanders' fields!

And now, the torch and poppy red
We wear in honor of our dead.
Fear not that ye have died for naught;
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders' fields!

HORSE BOLTS; MAN INJURED

Sunday afternoon, during heavy traffic, Donald Van Alystine, of Charleston, near Beverly, was thrown from his buggy when his horse bolted. Van Alystine suffered concussion of the brain and a lacerated upper lip. He was taken to the Zurbrugg Memorial Hospital in Riverside, where he is still confined.

Troopers Rohner and McGee, of the Delanco State Police Barracks, investigated the accident.

Raymond Frazer, of Fairview, was arrested Monday night by Troopers Rohner and Drosdick on a charge of assault and battery against his wife.

Justice McNulte, of Bridgeboro, held Frazer under $300 bail for action of the Grand Jury.

Trooper McGee arrested Charles Hess, of Collingswood, last Friday for speeding. He was arraigned before Justice Smith, of Burlington, who held Hess under a suspended sentence.

WOODS AFIRE

Woodland of F. S. Groves, Jr., Damaged By Fire; Flames Extinguished After Two Hours

Last Friday afternoon the Riverton Fire Company was called to extinguish a fire in a woods on the Burlington pike near the Charles Jessup homestead. These woods are owned by F. S. Groves, Jr.

The flames were extinguished after a two-hour fight with the rapidly spreading fire. Water was pumped from a small stream which runs through the woods.

There were about twenty men on duty to combat the flames.

Handy Hints for Garden Planting

Evergreens can be planted later than deciduous trees, but do not neglect to soak them with plenty of water daily for several weeks after they have been moved, because of the roots once get dried out they cannot be revived.

Daffodils do not need to be disturbed for several years, but when narcissi of any kind, or crocuses, are naturalized in the lawn the grass should not be cut until their leaves begin to turn yellow.

Peonies require an abundance of water while the buds are being formed in May. A spray of 1 pound of blue stone and 1 pound of lime to 50 gallons of water, applied while the buds are the size of buckshot, will prevent blight, and early applications of bone meal will supply nourishment. Wood ashes are good, but should be kept 2 or 3 inches from the crowns.

Some of the more hardy plants to grow in window boxes, besides the common geraniums, are petunias, verbenas, ageratums, lovelias, begonias, fuchsias (partial shade), lantanas, browallias, and alyssums.

COUNTY COUNCIL TO MEET IN PEMBERTON

Dr. Heberling, of the University of Pennsylvania, Will Address P. T. A. May 14

The Pemberton Home and School will be host to the Burlington County Council of New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers May 14 at the Pemberton High School. State officers of the oragnization will be present to conduct round table conferences on parent and teacher problems.

Dr. Heberling, psychologist from the University of Pennsylvania, will speak. Dr. Heberling's talk will be of interest to mothers as well as teachers.

The council will convene at 10.00 a. m.

Dr. Heberling will speak at the morning session. Child and education psychology are largely responsible for advancement in modern education; therefore, Dr. Heberling's talk should be of interest to every mother and teacher.

The local organization will serve luncheon at noon.

Following in the afternoon State officers will conduct round table conferences. It is a signal honor to have these officers at the council, thus giving a helpful contact with the activities of the rest of the State.

LICENSES REVOKED

Two driver's licenses have been revoked by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Hoffman for manslaughter, those of Stephen J. Gersitz, 117 Oxford road, Palmyra, and Thomas Marshall, Fairview street, Riverside. Marshall's car struck the rear of Gersitz's machine and overturned it on the Burlington pike in Fairview, Burlington county, on April 6, according to police. Gersitz's wife died a short time after the accident. Marshall is being held for the grand jury but no charges have been filed against Gersitz. If the charge is not pressed, Gersitz's license will be restored, it is understood.

RIVERTON P. T. A.

The last P. T. A. meeting of this school term will be held on Thursday, May 15, at 3.15. Mrs. Elwell will have charge of a group discussion at 2.30. Mrs. Harold Gilpin, of Merchantville, will give us solo selections.

There will be a County Council meeting at Pemberton on Wednesday, May 14, at 10 a. m. Any one wishing to go, call either Mrs. Blair 7-J, or Mrs. Baker, 197-W, for transportation.

Every one please come out and make the meetings a success.

A parcel of $125,000 worth of diamonds sent from South Africa to a firm in Antwerp contained only pebbles when it arrived.

BURLINGTON GIRL KILLED BY CAR

Gladys Aydelotte Dies from Injuries Hour After Accident Occurred

Little six-year-old Gladys Aydelotte, daughter of Elizabeth Aydelotte, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in front of her home on the Bridgeboro pike, just beyond Burlington City line, Saturday afternoon. The car which hit the child is owned by Miss Margaret H. Pierce, 313 South Eighteenth street, Philadelphia, and at the time of the accident was being driven by Goffrey S. Garston, Mayfair House, Germantown, Pa.

It is clanmed the little girl darted directly into the path of the oncoming machine. The driver applied the brakes, then, evidently believing he had not struck her, started to proceed up the pike. The child was thrown some distance by the impact. She was horribly mutilated and lived but an hour after being admitted to the Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly.

Both the driver and Miss Pierce were arraigned before Justice J. Leedom Smith, at Burlington. Garston was held under $1,000 bail for appearance in Mount Holly Monday morning. When given a hearing at the County Seat, Miss Pierce was fined $50 for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate her car, and Garston was held under bail for action of the Grand Jury.

At the hearing Saturday night Justice Smith refused to entertain charges against Garston of driving without a license and against Miss Pierce for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate her car.

Garston claimed innocence of driving without a license because he has been living in a State where a license is not required. However, he gave a Pennsylvania address.

Troopers Turnbull and Rohner, of Delanco Barracks, investigated the case and arraigned Garston and Miss Pierce.

AERO CLUB OFFICER NOMINATIONS MADE

Election is Declared Illegal Because Quorum Was Not Present; To Be Repeated

At the monthly bussiness meeting of the Burlington County Aero Club held Monday evening in the Moorestown Community House the nominating commitee presented a slate of new officers for the coming year.

Although action was taken on the acceptance of the names presented in a discussion which followed the meeting, it was pointed out that the election could not be held legal due to the fact that there was not a quorum present at the meeting. It will therefore be necessary to repeat the election at the next regular business meeting.

WILLIAM SHOEMAKER FIGHTS FOREST FIRES

William Shoemaker, of Riverton, was one of several students from Moorestown High School who volunteered to fight the forest fires that raged in South Jeersey this week.

"Bill," in speaking of his experience as a forest fire fighter, said, "It certainly seems a shame that valuable woodland such as we have in Jersey should be destroyed by fire." He also said, "I never was in so hot a place in my life as when I was down there in the woods."

One morning last week persons passing along the River road near the creek in West Palmyra witnessed the unusual sight of men, women and children catching fish on dry land.

The water, in a pond between River road and the railroad, had been drained out, leaving hundreds of fish "high and dry."

It is estimated several cart loads of "finney denizens of the deep," including carp, eels, bullheads, also called catfish and hornpout, were carried off in pails and baskets to grace the tables of folks living in the vicinity.

CAKE SALE

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a Cake Sale next Saturday afternoon, May 17 on Mayor Wimer's porch. This sale will be held in conjunction with the poppy drive. This organization asks for the town's heartiest support at this time as this is one time of the year when they need cooperation.

RIVERTON SCHOOL HEAD ENDS LONG TERM OF SERVICE

Miss Hannah H. Chew Retires After Ten Years as Supervisor

ECKERT'S SUCCESSOR UP FOR DISCUSSION

Board Will Advise Palmyra That Riverton is "Vitally Interested"

Miss Hannah H. Chew, supervising principal of the Riverton Public School, tendered her resignation in the following letter written to the Board and presented by District Clerk Hemphill at the meeting of that body Monday night:

May 3, 1930.

The Board of Education,
Riverton, N. J.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Ten years ago the members of the Riverton Board of Education elected me as Supervisor of the Borough Public School, a position in which I have served with much pleasure.

For personal reasons, it seems best that I retire from school work this year, and it is with regret that I close my long term of service in the State, as well as my work in Riverton.

For the support given to my work, for the unfailing confidence and courtesy accorded to me, and for the many favors granted me by the Board of Education, I am duly grateful, and desire herewith to express my sincere appreciation.

That the work of the Riverton Public School shall go constantly forward in the best interests of all the boys and girls of Riverton, is my most hopeful anticipation.

Respectfully submitted,
HANNAH H. CHEW.

Mr. Hemphill's motion that the resignation be accepted with extreme regret and that a set of resolutions be engrossed and presented to Miss Chew were unanimously passed.

Miss Chew has served as supervising principal for ten years.

George D. Steedle precipitated an interesting argument when he offered the following resolution: "It is recommended that the Palmyra Board of Education be advised that the Riverton Board of Education is vitally interested in their action regarding the election of a new supervisor, and will take action accordingly." The resolution was seconded by Mrs. Blair, but was lost on roll-call.

Revised Motion Passed

Mr. Steedle then submitted the motion with the words, "and will take action accordingly," eliminated. This was seconded by Mrs. Blair and passed by a divided vote, several of the members feeling that it was not in good taste to meddle into the affairs of the neighboring body.

In the discussion which followed the putting of the first motion, H. K. Rutherford said he had heard reports that the Riverton Board had stated that if Mr. Eckert was not retained, Riverton pupils would not be sent to Palmyra school next year.

Mrs. Mayfield replied that no such statement had been made; that certain people in Palmyra had called her on the telephone and had come to see her and would have liked very much to have her make such a declaration, but that she had replied there had been no meeting of the Board to consider the matter ,and that she was not in a position to make such a statement.

Not Allowed to Speak

Mr. Steedle said that he had attended the last meeting of the Palmyra Board, at which time it was decided not to re-engage Mr. Eckert. He said that he and other persons present at the meeting had attempted to speak on the subject of Mr. Eckert's retention, but had been refused the floor until after the Board had voted.

Mr. Steedle said that the Palmyra Board seemed to believe that since the decision of the State Commissioner of Education last year, denying permission to Riverton parents to send their children to Moorestown High School, Riverton would be obliged to send pupils to Palmyra and take whatever they saw fit to give. He urged that the Education Committee of the Riverton Board be authorized to find out who Palmyra intended to elect as supervisor, and if Palmyra's selection was not satisfactory to the Riverton Board, they take up with the State Board the matter of sending Riverton pupils to Moorestown.

Mr. Steedle further said that he held no brief for Mr. Eckert, but that he had heard Palmyra intended to employ a cheaper man. He said he was convinced that the Palmyra Board would "play politics for the next three years" and that under such conditions the school would inevitably deteriorate.

Barclay Advises Patience

Richard D. Barclay, the new member of the Board, remarked that it seemed to him Riverton was putting itself in the position of having sent Riverton's pupils to Mr. Eckert, and that upon Mr. Eckert's dismissal would send its children somewhere else. He thought it would be better to wait and see if the school really did slip back before making any protest to the Palmyra Board.

Mrs. Blair remarked that there

MOORESTOWN MAN GIVEN BLOOD BY CAMDEN DOCTOR

Harold Coxson, Young Physician, is Donor of Five-Eighths of Pint

FIVE MORE WILL GIVE LATER TRANSFUSIONS

Rotarians Volunteer EnMasse to Aid Popular Member in Fight for Health

The first of a series of blood transfusions to build up the resistance of Clarence E. Worrell, former Freeholder candidate, who has been seriously ill for several months, was given him at his home on Newbold avenue, Moorestown, Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Harold P. Coxson, prominent Moorestown physician, who is completing his interneship at Cooper Hospital, Camden, was the donor of the blood, giving five-eighths of a pint of his life fluid to aid him in his battle back to health after the long seige of illness.

Thus far, eighteen friends and relatives have responded to the appeal for blood for Mr. Worrell. Of the eighteen six, including Dr. Coxson, have been found to be the correct type and the remaining five will be used later, probably one a week, according to Dr. Howard C. Curtis, Mr. Worrell's physician.

The transfusion was made at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Dr. David Bently, of Camden, assisted by Dr. Curtis. Dr. Coxson suffered no ill effects, it was reported. He was, of course, somewhat weakened by the loss of blood.

A large percentage of those who have already volunteered to give blood are members of the Moorestown Rotary Club. Mr. Worrell was a charter member and one of the most active members in the club, having served it as secretary, vice-president and president. Dr. Curtis made the only appeal for volunteers at the Rotary luncheon meeting in the Community House last Thursday at noon.

In addition to Dr. Coxson, those who "typed" correctly with Mr. Worrell's blood and will submit to transfusions, are Mrs. Bertha Mortland, of New York, Mr. Worrell's sister; Chester L. Reagan, headmaster of the Friends' School and a director of the Rotary Club; James Davis, of Shafer-Davis Motor Company Robert Gill, of Dawson street, and James J. Tomes, secretary of the Rotary Club.

Nine other Rotarians volunteered and were given blood tests by Dr. Coxson at Cooper Hospital, but were found unsatisfactory. They were former State Senator Emmor Roberts, Henry H. Stiles, vice-president of the club; Edward P. Hyland, superintendent of water and sewer; Director of Recreation Benjamin P. Rumpeltes, Albert T. Andrews, Steward R. Maines, Albert Ellis, Earl C. Kuhns and Byron T. Roberts.

Other volunteers included Mrs. Worrell, Officer Howard T. Davis and F. A. Wilkins.

PLANE TALKS

By Lt. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

Joseph Tatem, of Haddonfield, a former member of the Burlington County Aero Club flew into the Moorestown Airport in his new Waco the other day for a short visit.

The New York Aircraft Salon now being held in Madison Square Garden is by far the best aircraft show ever held in the East. Several new ships made their first bow to the public here and all of the largest transport planes built in this country are now on exhibition.

Again we are grateful to W. K. Chambers & Son, Automobile Painters of East Main Street, Moorestown for the use of their shop and equipment in the re-finishing of ship No. N. C. 5181 of the Burlington County Aero Club. Both Club ships have been thoroughly overhauled and re-conditioned and are now in excellent shape.

The Keystone Aircraft Corporation at Bristol, Pa., will put on a night shift in all departments in the near future. This step is necessary in order for the Corporation to meet the delivery dates on the Navy Patrol Flying Boats and the Army Bombers they are building.

Did you know that the United States now leads the world in established airways and miles flown each day. There are 26,000 miles of airways, more than one-fourth of which are lighted for night flying. The mail and passenger lines together flew 20,000,000 miles last year.

Ensign Burr of the Naval Reserves, a former member of the Burlington County Aero Club flew into the Moorestown Airport last Sunday in a Curtiss Fledgling Navy Training Plane.

The Airbus, a new eleven passenger, single engined transport plane developed by the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation of New Castle, Delaware, will be flight-tested very soon. We expect this ship to become very popular with operators due to economy of operation of a single engined ship carrying large pay loads.

Must Register Dogs is Edict of Council in Response to Complaints of Citizens

Take Action to Prevent Nuisance of Roving Canine Bands and Minimize Danger of 'Mad Dog' Epidemic in Town During Coming Summer Months

Acting on numerous complaints of dogs running at large within the Borough of Palmyra the Mayor and Council have taken steps to remedy this nuisance.

It was at first thought that it would be necessary to go through the formalities of passing an ordinance requiring the licensing of all dogs in the Borough, but investigation reveals there is a State law covering the situation.

A proclamation setting forth the requirements of this act is published elsewhere in this issue. It makes it necessary for all owners of dogs to have them registered at the Police Station or or before the fifteenth of this month.

The licenses will be issued upon payment of one dollar and a metal tag will be issued bearing a number and the year 1930. This tag must be attached to the dog's collar and worn at all times.

Dogs found running at large and not so registered within the time specified will be impounded and destroyed in accordance with the State law.

This action has been taken at this time in order to abate a much complained of nuisance and minimize the danger of an epidemic of rabies during the hot weather.

Arrangements are being made to have someone at Police Headquarters during the next week all during the day so as to make it possible to have the dogs registered with as little trouble as possible.

Overseas Phone System Centered in New Jersey

The State of New Jersey plays an important part in overseas telephone communication. At Lawrenceville are the radio telephone antennae, in the form of coarse mesh curtains of wire suspended from steel towers 180 feet high, which send the voice of American to Europe and South America. Near Netcong are other antennae of brass pipe in the form of long, low oblong boxes supported by wooden frames. Here are plucked from the air the voices coming from other continents to America, says the New Jersey Public Utility Information Committee.

Small buildings near the antennae house both the sending and the receiving apparatus which are connected directly by telephone cable to Transatlantic headquarters in New York. Both sides of the conversation are heard together for the first time in New York whence they are transmitted by land telephone to that particularly part of the country where the call originates or terminates.

AVERY L. BENNETT SCOUT CAMP HEAD

Twelve Junior Leader Positions for Summer Open to Advanced Boys

The first step in planning for the summer camp at Wrightstown is being taken by the leaders of Scouting in Burlington County. Announcement has just been that the camp director will be Avery L. Bennett, of Moorestown, who held the same position last year. Mr. Bennett is thoroughly familiar with boys' work and is popular with the Scouts through the County.

Clarence Davenport, Mount Holly Scoutmaster, is to be Quartermaster. These, together with M. A. Shaw, Scout Executive, and one other, to be named later, will make up the senior staff.

There are twelve Junior Leader positions to be filled. Scoutmasters are asked by the Scout Executive, to inform all advanced Scouts over fifteen years of age, that if they are interested in a camp position this summer they should write to the County Headquarters, High street, Burlington.

While it is yet far from camp season, much interest has been shown on the part of both boys and leaders in the plans for 1930 camping. A record season is predicted, this year, since the camp is ready for operation; the building program having been so nearly completed last year.

The campus has a capacity of only one hundred and ten campers per week. Plans call for a five week season, which will be extended if registrations make it necessary to do so. Several Scouts have signified their intentions of spending the entire season in camp.

NEW TYPE TIRE AT WOOLSTON'S

Recent Development Makes Air Play New Roll in Auto Riding Comfort—Saves Gas and Oil

Considerable interest has been aroused among local motorists over a new-type tire recently announced by a leading maker and now on sale at a local dealer's store.

Improved riding advantages are attributed to a new principle of construction. More air and less rubber provide a buoyant riding quality hitherto unknown. Other new features include a silent, non-skid, rim-width tread and scientifically reinforced side walls. Elimination of unnecessary weight has resulted in a lighter, yet far stronger tire. Friction is reduced to a minimum.

Road tests prove that there is also an increase in mileage, a marked improvement in steering, acceleration and braking as well as a noticeable lower consumption of gas and oil. This remarkable tire development may be had in all sizes at the store of the local Fisk dealer, Woolston's Garage, Broad and Main streets, Riverton. Phone 460.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for kindness extended during our recent bereavement and also those who sent cars and flowers to the funeral.

MRS. A. B. POWELL and FAMILY.

DISMISS CHARGES OF "POISON PEN"

Former Riverside Radio Dealer Cleared by East Orange Detective

Because his handwriting did not resemble the "poison pen" letter received by his brother, Herbert Frank, of Belleview, near Riverton, has been cleared of charges of blackmail.

Richard Frank, Herbert's brother who lives in East Orange, signed a warrant for Herbert's arrest when he received a letter which demanded $500 under threat of kidnapping his daughter Ruth, 18. The letter was signed with Herbert Frank's name.

Chief of Police William Quigley, of Riverton, who arrested Frank last week, held him for East Orange officials. Frank was later questioned in the office of James Dill, chief of East Orange detectives. He denied writing the letter and proved by samples of his own chirography that the "poison pen" missive was a forgery.

Daniel Lichtenthal, Riverside attorney for Herbert Frank, was present during the interview. When Dill declared himself satisfied that Herbert had not written the letters Lichtenthal suggested that the man may be victim of a persecution.

Lichtenthal based his suggestion on the fact that several boxes of poisoned candy have been sent Richard Frank, accompanied by letters signed with Herbert's name. Herbert was arrested six months ago on that charge but dismissed on lack of evidence.

Life has brought Frank one litigation after another. He is a former Riverside radio dealer. Mrs. Margaret Kreps, of Riverside, was alleged to have cast aspersions about Frank's reputation. That followed shortly after Frank was said to have bound his wife to a chair and kept her forcibly at home for five days.

These charges against Frank have been dropped, but the former radio salesman is bringing "poison pen" charges against Mrs. Kreps, who is said to have couched her criticism of Frank in vehement language in a letter sent a friend in Plainfield.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"ADAM AND FALLEN MAN" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 11, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (II Timothy 3: 16, 17.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." (I Corinthians 15: 22).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is, always has been, and ever will be independent of matter; for Life is God, and man is the idea of God, not formed materially but spiritually, and not subject to decay and dust." (p. 200).

Charles P. Willits

Charles P. Willits, 70 years old, died on Saturday, May 3, at the home of his daughter Mrs. Thomas Hollingshead, of West Maple avenue, Moorestown.

He was buried on Tuesday afternoon in Evergreen Cemetery, Camden, with the Rev. Edgar L. Sanford, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, officiating. William Grobler was the funeral director in charge.

Mr. Willits is survived by his widow, Cardetta Willits; three daughters, and one son.

JURY ALLOWS $1,000 EACH IN DEATHS OF TWO BOYS

One thousand dollars each was awarded to the estate of Harry L. Garron, of Indian Mills, and Harvey Duncan, of Marlton, in suits brought by the fathers, Edward Garron and William Duncon, to recover for the killing of the boys, both 16 years old, in an automobile accident at Cross Keys on November 9 of last year.

The defendants were Thomas K. R. Gardner, owner of the automobile, and Hamilton Patterson, the driver engaged by Gardner, both of Indian Mills. The case was heard before Judge Frank B. Jess and a jury in Mount Holly.

ANNUAL FETE TO AGAIN BE STAGED

Cinnaminson Home Benefit May 24, Will Mark Real Social Event

The annual Cinnaminson Home benefit fete and horse show will be staged on Saturday, May 24, at the Moorestown Field Club. The Home is very largely supported through the proceeds of the annual event, and for this reason the managers strive to make one great effort in staging an affair which will satisfy all tastes and mark a real social attraction on the community calendar.

Mrs. M. Albert Linton is fete chairman. Early Saturday morning Mrs. Joseph Evans, of Riverton, and her assistants, will be busy preparing for the farmer's market and delicatessen booth, which opens at 10 o'clock.

The cake booth, conducted by Mrs. Samuel Haines, of Moorestown, and Miss Elsie Biddle, of Riverton, will be equipped to handle all donations. Cakes may be engaged in advance.

Mrs. J. Bispham Stokes, of Moorestown, plans to have a wide selection of potted plants, rose bushes, seedlings, garden tools and accessories, such as vases, baskets, porch brackets and door stops.

Miss Alice Matlack, of Moorestown, is in charge of the fancy work booth. She expects to offer dainty gifts and also many useful and practical wares.

At the candy booth, which Mrs. Charles T. Brown, of Moorestown, conducts, home-made candy and salted nuts will be on sale.

Furnishing amusement for the grown-ups and tiny tots is in the hands of Mrs. S. Emlen Stokes, of Moorestown, and her assistants. She plans to have an endless supply of balloons and whistles and all the toys dear to the kiddies.

The miniature golf course has become so popular that two courses are planned this year.

Alexander C. Wood, Jr., of Riverton, will conduct the refreshment booth, a cool oasis to be visited between the events of the horse show and the gymkhana.

The Supper Committee is headed by Miss Helen E. Woolman and Mrs. Howard Taylor, both of Riverton.

Horse show entries are being booked by George Bard Ferrier, of Moorestown, and William Reeve plans the usual diversity of events so that all lovers of horses may choose a class in which to exhibit favorites.

MOORESTONIANS IN FOREST FIRE FIGHT

Residents Turn Out to Aid in Battle to Save "Y" Camp

Moorestown was well represented when residents of Burlington County turned out late Monday afternoon to take up the work of forest fire fighters to save YMCA Camp Ockanickon, near Medford, from destruction by the flames that have wiped out thousands of acres of Jersey pines and numerous homes.

As the result of the fine work, Guy C. Hendry, executive secretary of the County "Y," says that only 25 of the 530 acres comprising the camp suffered.

Henry F. Stockwell, of Moorestown, president of the camp's Board of Trustees, was on the scene assisting with the fight against the flames, and Relief Engine Company was one of the dozen fire companies from the County that responded to the appeal for aid. Relief members spent several hours in fighting the blaze.

Avery L. Bennett, Scoutmaster of Moorestown Troop 3, took twelve boys out Monday afternoon to do patrol work. The boys, whose fine work has been highly commended, did not return to Moorestown until about noon Tuesday, spending the night on the scene.

The "Y" served sandwiches, cakes and coffee to the 200 workers, many of whom worked until three o'clock Tuesday morning.

At one time, Mr. Hendry reports, the firemen were pumping water through 1,800 feet of hose, four pumpers being used to relay it. The water was taken from the upper lake at the camp.

FRELINGHUYSEN TO BROADCAST TALKS

Candidate for United States Senate Will Employ the Radio in Campaign

The radio will be employed by Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination, to talk directly to the voters of New Jersey. Arrangements have been made with Station WOR, from which Mr. Frelinghuysen will present issues which are vital to the State, as well as to the entire country.

The candidate will give fifteen-minute talks one night a week during May, and three nights in June, concluding with a half hour address on Monday, June 16, the night before the primary election. The time assigned to him is 7.30 to 7.45 o'clock, with the exception of June 16, when the time will be from 7.30 to 8 o'clock.

The nights on which Mr. Frelinghuysen will talk are May 9, 16, 23 and 29, and June 5, 12 and 16, over Station WOR.

LOWER COAL PRICES

Read J. S. Collins and Son, Inc., advertisement in this issue and you will see why it pays to buy coal now instead of in the fall. Their lower prices are effective now.—Adv.

Scene Soon to be Duplicated

AERO CLUB PILOT ESCAPES DEATH

Jim Erdman Catches Plane Strut 1700 Feet Above Ground

Jim Erdman, chief pilot of the Burlington County Aero Club, saved himself from a head-first dive into the life hereafter Sunday morning, by crashing the strut of an airplane wing 1,700 feet above the ground. His escape was a hairbreadth one, a 1000-to-1 chance against death.

Erdman was aloft with a student, trying to get the feel of the wind when the radiator shutter snapped in a 40-mile gale. His safety belt unbuckled, and without a parachute, the pilot was thrown clear from the cockpit of his Waco plane when the ship launched into an air bump and dropped like a stone 300 feet.

With the shutter snapped, the motor began heating rapidly, leaving only two alternatives—making a forced landing or fixing the shutter.

Erdman chose the latter, which is located on the bottom side of the upper wing, just above the pilot's head. He unbuckled his belt and turned the "stick" over to the student, because he had to lean out of the cockpit to repair the shutter.

The pilot explains what happened in this manner:

"Just as I had cleared it we hit a bump and dropped 300 feet. My belt unbuckled, I was thrown flying from the seat with my feet shooting clear of the cockpit. It looked like curtains when my head hit the wing and just when I thought everything was over, somehow I caught hold of a strut, wedged my foot back into the cockpit, and squeezed back into safety."

The student, however, had his own venture which might have meant death for both had Erdman not the presence of mind to catch hold of the wing strut. Victor R. Fritz, the student, has been taking flight instruction but a short time and was unfamiliar with handling the plane way of explaining the thrilling adfor a landing, which would have cost the life of both had not Erdman been able to get back into the cockpit.

GREEN FEED FOR LAYERS

The importance of green food in the ration of the laying flock has been overlooked by many poultrymen in recent years, says J. C. Taylor, associate extension poultryman. This situation has developed as supplies of the so-called green food substitutes have become more readily available. What many poultrymen forget is that the feeding of almost any green food and many root crops adds vitamin and minerals to the ration, increases bulk, makes the feed more palatable, and decreases mortality.

It is for these reasons that poultrymen should plan now for a supply of green feed for next winter. Such a plan should consider, first of all, the vitamin content of the crop under consideration. Mangel beets, at one time the popular green food for winter feeding, are seldom used now because their vitamin content is relatively low. Carrots, which are rich in vitamins, are fed liberally.

Plant only a crop that will store well. Cabbage and carrots are two of the best crops from this standpoint, as they keep exceptionally well if stored properly. Moreover, these crops yield heavily. For late summer and fall feeding, Swiss chard and kale are excellent.

Detailed information on how to grow and store crops suitable for poultry is contained in the "Hints to Poultrymen," entitled "Green Feed for Poultry." This publication may be obtained free by New Jersey residents upon application to their local County agricultural agents or to the Mail Clerk, New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Annie E. Caldwell

Mrs. Annie E. Caldwell, 80 years old, died at the home of Edward S. Pettit, of East Main street, Moorestown, on Monday.

Funeral services were held from the home of Mr. Pettit Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. George Lockett, of Palmyra, officiating. William Grobler was the funeral director in charge. Interment was made in Colestown Cemetery.

Mrs. Caldwell died while visiting her friend, Mrs. Pettit. She was formerly of Palmyra, but has been making her home with her only son, Oliver Caldwell, of Plainfield, N. J.

GIANT FORD PLANE TO HOP OVER HERE

Tri-Motored Liner to Visit County Airport Under Auspices of Ford Dealer

Arrangements have been completed for a visit of a giant Ford Tri-motored monoplane by the local Ford agency according to an announcement made today by Joseph A. Schwartz, manager of the Lester S. Fortnum Agency.

The great air liner will arrive Saturday, June 7, with Pilot Ray Loomis at the controls. Loomis is known as the world's champion safe flier, having many thousand air hours to his credit without ever having even a minor accident.

The visit of the big plane is a continuation of the nation-wide tour being made under the auspices of Ford dealers all over the country.

"Being the Ford Dealer in this locality," said Mr. Schwartz, "it is our privilege to sponsor the project in this territory, thereby making it possible for the people in this community to see and ride in this modern Airliner."

"Practically every city and town in the country is active in the development of local aviation. From a community standpoint aviation has developed to the stage now where civic interest is merited because of its importance to the city or town. We believe the slogan, 'Boost your community for aviation and aviation will boost your city for you,' is a good one."

The Fortnum Agency is having the giant airliner brought to the Burlington County Airport so that people in this community can see and fly in this safe Ford plane.

Flight tickets are now on sale at $5.00 each. Each flight will be of 20 to 25 minutes' duration, according to Mr. Schwartz, which allows enough time for a person making his first flight to have a really enjoyable trip. The "hops" will be made over South Jersey and Philadelphia. It has been said that many people who took this ride for the first time expressed themselves as much preferring an travel to any other means of transportation. The plane has a seating capacity of fourteen passengers and is fitted with comfortable wicker chairs. It is attractively upholstered in green leather. No special clothing is necessary to ride comfortably in this plane, as it is entirely enclosed. No unpleasant sensation is to be anticipated by the passengers, as the pilot, who is an expert, and was trained at the Ford Airport in Detroit, makes it a point to demonstrate to the passengers on each flight just how smooth, comfortable and fascinating air travel can be.

NEED REFRIGERATION IN WARM WEATHER

With the approach of longer and more pleasant days everyone is looking forward to weekends, drives, vacations. For many years the bugaboo of short trips was the condition the home was in after the return.

Commenting on modern efforts for less worry, more efficiency and more leisure, C. R. Sweeney, local distributor for General Electric Refrigerators, said, "With this electrical refrigeration in the home there is no need for worry, as far as the food and refrigeration are concerned. When you leave your home you know that while you are gone there will be constant, unwavering temperature, and that the food left behind will be kept in safe condition.

"This time of the year," he continued, "the kiddies are apt to be more active, and want more light between-meal bites. It is a comfort to know that there is always something in the refrigerator that will be in fit condition for them to eat.

"Longer, warmer days mean more salads, cold drinks, more varying menus to feed the lagging appetites. Electrical refrigeration offers the means for all these."

EFFICIENCY IN SPRAYING

Every fruit grower should aim to spray his orchard thoroughly in the shortest possible time, and with a minimum amount of labor and material, says A. J. Farley, N. J. Extension Specialist in Fruit Growing. This requires adequate equipment operated by men who know how to spray, and the development of a method of spraying that will insure thoroughness of application without the use of excessive amounts of material.

ELECT OFFICERS AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. Herbert Trout Replaces Mrs. R. S. Green in Only Change Made

The Palmyra Woman's Club held the annual election of officers at the first meeting of the month, which was held in Society Hall, Palmyra, Monday afternoon.

All officers were re-elected with the exception of the financial secretary, Mrs. R. Stanley Green, who tendered her resignation owing to the fact that she is leaving town. Mrs. Herbert Trout was selected to fill her place.

The president, Mrs. W. Roland Dunn, gave a very fine outline of the year's activities with words of praise for those who so ably assisted her in the carrying out of the program, which had been so carefully planned. Following this the secretary's report was read by Mrs. F. L. Shill, and the financial secretary's report by Mrs. W. A. McCamy.

Mrs. Frederick Blackburn, chairman of the Legislative Department, gave a brief outline of the work done by her department. Mrs. Blackburn's enlightening discussions have been very much enjoyed by the club members during the past year. The music department, under the capable leadership of Mrs. George M. Becker, has made great strides to success. The club wishes to commend the members of the chorus on their untiring efforts in making the choral society such a huge success. The ladies are looking forward to many more pleasant afternoons in the coming year.

Mrs. Paul Y. Eckert, chairman of the literature department, told of the evenings spent in discussing countries all over the world, their religion, government and history. Mrs. George N. Wimer told of the worth while work being done by the Welfare Department.

Mrs. Stanley Lippincott sang two very beautiful numbers, after which tea was served by Mrs. H. B. Williams and her committee.

Last Wednesday sixty of the club members enjoyed a very pleasant trip to DuPont Gardens, at Longwood. The trip is one which will long be remembered by all those who took advantage of the opportunity to see this fairyland of flowers.

The club wishes to again remind the townspeople of the movie benefit which they will present at the Broadway Palace Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. The feature film will be "It's A Great Life," featuring the Duncan Sisters. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the organization, or at the door. Any child selling ten tickets will receive one free.

NO SYMPATHY FOR DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Commissioner Hoffman is Without Discretionary Power to Restore Licenses

Local magistrates who convict motorists for "drunken driving" and who later appeal to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for restoration of their license before the required two-year period is ended, will receive scant sympathy from Commissioner Hoffman.

Yesterday three "drunken drivers" appeared before the Commissioner with letters from the committing magistrates, requesting that the license be now restored. In each case Mr. Hoffman directed a reply to the magistrates quoting Subdivision 3 of Section 14 of the Motor Vehicle Act, which sets out the mandatory penalty of revocation of license for a period of two years from the date of his or her said conviction. He said further:

"The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is without discretionary power to restore the license until the two-year mandatory period has expired. If the defendant in this case was not guilty, you should have taken cognizance of this fact when imposing the penalty. Once a conviction is had, however, if the defendant feels an injustice has been done him his only recourse is to take an appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of the County where in the offense is committed, which appeal shall be noted within ten days from the date of entry of judgment.

"Please be guided by the information herein contained, when any further requests are made to you for the return of a license revoked for intoxicated driving."

Mrs. Griselda M. Huyett

Mrs. Griselda M. Huyett, thirty-eight years old, of 325 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, died in the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, Camden, Tuesday afternoon.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon from the late residence with the Rev. J. William Lee of the Epworth M. E. Church, Palmyra, officiating. Interment will be made in Arlington Cemetery under the direction of Frank A. Shover.

Mrs. Huyett was a resident of Palmyra for several years and had a large circle of friends. She was an active member of the Epworth M. E. Church, belonging to many of the church organizations.

She is survived by her husband, Wesley P. Huyett, three daughters, Helen, Betty and Mary Jane; one son, Richard, and two sisters, the Misses Nora and Mattie Carpenter. Mrs. Huyett is the daughter of Richard and Mary E. Carpenter, of Broadwater, Va.

Air mail service linking Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, Canada, is being inaugurated this month.

TOXIN-ANTITOXIN FREE TO CHILDREN

Palmyra Board of Health in Campaign to Stamp Out Diphtheria

(By Publicity Chairman—Board of Health)

The campaign for immunization of the children of Palmyra against diphtheria is in full swing. Ninety-one children were immunized by Dr. H. W. Bauer, with the assistance of Mrs. A .N. Palmer, at the High School Building last Thursday, and it is honed that each child who is eligible will take adavantage of this protection while the opportunity presents itself.

We believe that the true value of toxin-antitoxin immunization has shown itself in remarkable fashion in the winter season just past. Records show that in the entire community of Palmyra, only one case of diphtheria has been reported to date, during the present school year. Such a low rate of diphtheria incidence for a like period has never before occurred in the history of Palmyra.

The Board of Health of the State of New Jersey is working on a plan that will make a certificate of diphtheria immunization a requisite for each child entering upon his first school year, in the same way that a certificate of smallpox vaccination is now necessary. The rule is expected to go into effect during the next three or four years.

Why wait until this safety measure becomes compulsory, when each child over six months deserves this protection?

Take your children to the clinic at the High School Building this afternoon at three o'clock and help stamp out diphtheria.

WELLS MAY RECEIVE HIGHER JUDGESHIP

May be Considered as Successor to Circuit Court Judge Peter F. Daly

Judge Harold B. Wells, who was recently appointed to a lay judgeship in the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals, may be considered for the circuit court judgeship left open by the recent advancement of Judge Peter F. Daly, of New Brunswick, former circuit judge, to the Supreme Court bench, as the success of Justice Charles C. Black, of Hudson county.

Black's resignation from the Supreme Court takes effect on May 20, when Daly will take up the duties of this new office. It was reported when Wells was appointed to the Court of Errors and Appeals two months ago that he would eventualy be placed in the Circuit or Supreme Court. Governor Larson will make the appointment, and several names have been mentioned in connection with the high judicial post.

BICYCLE CLUB'S ANNUAL TOUR

The "Hardly Able Cyclists," of Philadelphia, made their thirty-fifth annual bicycle run to Mount Holly on Sunday, May 4th.

There were 50 cyclists in the party, many of whom are men well along in years, but who still peddle the distance from Philadelphia to Mount Holly and return every year.

This affair is held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Division of the "Century Road Club of America," which was founded in 1891. The "Hardly Ables" were organized in 1896.

The trip started from 3304 Germantown avenue, over Erie and Torresdale avenues to the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge. Crossing the bridge the party proceeded through Palmyra, to Riverton, stopping at L. L. Keating's store. From there they went to Moorestown and through Hartford to Mount Holly.

At Mount Holly the party dismounted to have dinner at the Washington Hotel.

After dinner and a rest the return trip was made by way of Rancocas, Bridgeboro, Riverside, Riverton, Palmyra and the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge to place of beginning.

FIGHT FOREST FIRES

Several Palmyra High School boys were among the volunteers who offered their services in fighting the forest fires which raged in the forests of Burlington County for several days early this week. A call was sent to the various High Schools in the County and the boys were allowed to go upon obtaining the consent of their parents.

SPRAY SPUDS IN 1930, IS ADVICE TO GROWERS

"The potato grower who does not spray this year is taking a chance which he can ill afford." This is the warning of Dr. W. H. Martin, plant pathologist for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, who points out that the acreage of potatoes in Southern States is "well in excess of last year" and "the present indications are that prices are likely to be low. In view of this situation," Martin goes on to say, "we must obtain maximum yields to the acre this season."

George S. Wall, of Birmingham, Eng., in three months was sentenced successively for thrashing his son, spanking his daughter cruelly and beating his wife.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF LIFE SAVING, MAY 15

Dr. Curtis, Chairman, to Preside at Meeting for Discussing Summer Campaign

Dr. Howard C. Curtis, chairman of the Life Saving Committee of Burlington County Chapter of Red Cross, will preside at a meeting of the committee at the St. Mary's Guild House, Burlington, May 15, for the purpose of discussing plans for Life Saving Campaign in this County during the summer months.

With the coming of summer this is an essential safety measure, as well as valuable from an educational standpoint.

Representatives from the various communities interested in carrying on this week will be present. The committee hopes to continue to employ the services of Victor H. Hartshorn as instructor during July and August and that other features which will help in reducing the total of deaths by drowning may be undertaken. Burlington County lost twelve of its own residents through drowning last year, besides the number of outsiders who met death in this way.

FAVOR FAIR GROUNDS FOR MT. HOLLY SCHOOL

The Mount Holly Fair Grounds was unanimously accepted as a site for Mount Holly's new high school building according to sentiment of 150 voters present at a meeting in the high school auditorium last Friday.

The public referendum on the school question will be held May 20. At that time three sites will be considered, the fair grounds, the Woolman tract, and the Miller Hill site. According to the board of education the fair grounds, with 25 acres will cost $28,800; the Woolman tract, 18.5 acres with improvements, $15,050, and the Miller tract, 14.9 acres and improvements, $18,400. The improvements include conections for water and sewerage as well as grading.

State Senator Clifford R. Powell, receiver for the fair grounds, declared the board of education's announced figures were wrong. He declared 20 acres of the fair grounds could be purchased for almost $10,000 less with improvements that the board's announced figures. He also said the fair grounds covered almost 30 acres.

Challenged by the Senator, Arthur D. Cross, a member of the Mount Holly Board of Education, admitted the board had not received its figures from the Senator, but from "someone in his office."

MRS. ARMSTRONG TO ENTERTAIN YW

Thirteenth Annual County Membership Meeting to be Held May 10

The thirteenth annual membership meeting of the Burlington County Y. W. C. A. will be held on Saturday, May 10, at the home of Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, near Moorestown.

A May Musical Pageant directed by the music committee of the Y. W. C. A., of which Mrs. Armstrong is chairman, will be presented at two-thirty in the afternoon. Catherine Kerlin, of Moorestown, Alice Lippincott, of Riverton, and Dorothy Burr, of Pemberton, are directing the groups and music of many countries will be presented.

The annual business meeting of the association will be held at 10.45 in the morning, at which time officers and members of the board of directors will be chosen and policies of the association will be determined for the next year.

Each person will take a box of lunch and spend the whole day. Coffee will be served and the High School Girl Reserves will have ice-cream and cakes for sale. A committee has provided recreation and games for the children.

Moorestonian Is Speaker

Miss Catherine Kerlin, of Moorestown, spoke on the Work of the League of Nations at a meeting of the Rancocas Women's Club on Tuesday evening, May 6, at the home of Mrs. William Laub. Miss Kerlin attended the Zimmern School of International Relations, at Geneva, last summer and was able to speak of the work of the league from her experience in Geneva.

Girl Reserve Banquet

Friday evening, May 2, the Girl Reserves of the William Allen School held a delightful mother and daughter banquet at the Burlington Y. W. C. A.

Miss Esther Dillon and Mrs. Cora Pollard, advisers, were in charge of the banquet, with Mrs. Pollard presiding. Miss Helen Jones, of the Burlington Y. W. C. A. Board led the singing.

The first number on the program was a scarf dance given by the Burlington Girl Reserves. This was followed by a short play, "The Backward Child," by the Mount Holly Girl Reserves, who were visitors at the banquet, and "Health's Reservoir," a play by the Burlington Girl Reserves.

Miss Margaret Haines, of the Burlington Board, was the speaker, and she gave a very interesting talk on health.

Annual Italian Ball Last Tuesday Night

Mayor George N. Wimer led the grand march at the fourth annual ball of the Palmyra Sons of Italy held in the P. O. S. of A. Hall Tuesday night.

Almost every member of Council was present at the affair, one of the most brilliant given in this Borough. Music for dancing was furnished by Ed Morton and his Kentuckians. Decorations, a rainbow effect, were put up under the direction of Albert Rinaldy, of Palmyra.

Domenick and Mamie Prisco, a "brother-and-sister" team of dancers, and Daniel Mento, 9-year-old artist, were features of the entertainment. The committee in charge, headed by Bernard Barney, local merchant, was composed of John Mento, Frank Bua, Albert Rinaldy, Peyer Baiada, John Sacca and Joseph Peditto.

HARMONY REIGNS SAYS SEN. POWELL

Denies Report That Three-year Peace Pact Has Gone on Rocks

State Senator Clifford R. Powell this week denied reports that the three-year harmony compact between his faction and that of Freeholder Charles R. Stout and Judge Harold B. Wells has gone on the rocks.

"Nothing at all has happened to break the harmony agreement," the Senator said. "Everything is now as it was when the pact was signed and the war called off for three years. We will soon announce the men who have been accorded the support of our party.

Stout's group is supporting Freeholder Howard Russ in his campaign for renomination to the Board of Freeholders and Powell is understood to be sponsoring the candidacy of Freeholder Lloyd Wright for renomination.

RUMMAGE SALE GREAT SUCCESS

Twenty-third Annual Benefit Largest in History of Organization

The twenty-third semi-annual rummage sale for the benefit of the Burlington County Tuberculosis League, which was held at Brown's Mills on April 30 and May 1, was the largest sale in the history of the League, the gross receipts being $1100. Of this sum $135 was realized from the luncheon and supper served on Wednesday, April 30th.

Many people from the county contributed in various ways either by donating material for the sale, for the luncheon and supper, or by giving their services on these days or by displaying the posters which helped to give us much publicity. The County newspapers were very helpful with their generous advertisements.

The amount raised at the sale will be used to further the work of the league which was increased fourfold in the last five years.

The Riverside Clinic of the Burlington County Tuberculosis League will be held on May 23 at 2.30, in the Riverside Town Hall, instead of the regular date of May 30.

The members of the League desire to thank all who helped in any way to make this sale so successful.

James L. Trimble

James L. Trimble, 84 years old, a former resident of Moorestown, died on Sunday, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. William Buzby, of Rutherford, N. J.

Interment will be made at Colestown this (Wednesday)- afternoon from the undertaking parlor of Henry A. Rambo, at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Robert McKay, former rector of the Episcopal Church, officiating.

Mr. Trimble is survived by two daughters.

HOW MUCH DO WE PAY OUR CRIMINALS?

The criminal class is one of the best paid in the United States.

We usually regard crime as a social problem, overlooking the economic aspect. Yet one estimate places the nation's annual crime bill at 13 billion dollars.

It will be said, of course, that our criminals are not actually "paid," in the sense of being employed. But it amounts to the same thing. Crime could not exist without public indifference and slothfulness.

We talk about it and don't act. We calmly watch our legislatures pile new laws each year on the sagging statute books. We read that we have the highest homicide rate in the world and, along with it, the lowest conviction rate for criminals.

The American people pay for crime. It is to a large degree within their power to lower the gigantic annual bill presented by the underworld to society.

STUDENT JOBS

About now a million or two of school and college students are looking for summer vacation jobs. Their eager faces are seen inquiring in business places. Soon they will be delivering goods from stores, waiting on tables at hotels, tossing hay on farms.

Don't take their errors too seriously. If the student waitress at your hotel brings you an omelet when you ordered ham and eggs, don't tear your hair and ask the proprietor to dismiss her. In a few years she may be personnel manager of some concern to which you apply for a job.

Many old timers chill the enthusiasm of these young workers by harsh criticism. The old saying was, "A boy is a boy, two boys equal half a boy, and three boys equal no boy at all." But that old saw was gotten up in the days when the school pupils spent much time on cube root and the mountains of China. They learn differently now.

They make errors due to inexperience, which are atoned for by their ambition. They think quickly, and if you try to argue with them, you would better leave the back door open for a graceful exit. And anyway, youth can never learn to manage the world, unless it is given a chance to do some of the world's work.

INSTRUCTING THE MOTORIST

The American people may have thought, when they reached adult age, that they had finished their education. But now that some 25,000,000 of them are driving automobiles, they have to go to school again, with traffic cops, licensing authorities and courts, as teachers.

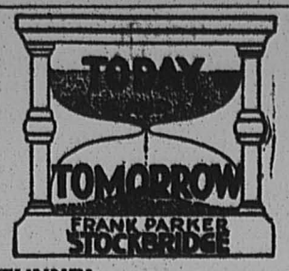

Many of them are dull pupils, deserving a good long seat on the dunce stool. Many are so stubborn, that one can imagine them as soon emerging quite tearful from a special session with the teacher.

Complaint is made that some of the officers who officiate as their instructors, bawl them out too roughly. But if such critics had been dealing for years with motorists who think anything goes provided no officer sees them, they might not preserve all their fine party manners.

Constant violation of well known traffic rules must wear the patience of the officers down to the last thread. The authorities of a town will erect No Parking signs in places where a clear street is necessary, but many motorists can't see these notices. Having such poor vision, they do not seem fit to operate cars on the road.

Or they will often park cars directly against a fire hydrant, which might cause very harmful delay if the firemen were called to the spot. They ignore traffic signals set against them, if no officer is looking. Speed limit laws they regard as humorous literature.

What shall we do with these lawless folks? If they were back in school, they would be sent home for parents to deal with. Now it is assumed that they have graduated from the bad boy stage, and wish to qualify as real citizens. If they are still kids in adult disguise, they should expect the discipline that is handed out to refractory children.

TUNNEL

The committee appointed by the British Government to investigate the feasibility of a tunnel under the English Channel connecting England with France, has reported in favor of the project. It seems to Americans such a simple and desirable engineering job that we wonder why it has not been done long ago, but there are plenty of "die-hards" in England who fear that such a tunnel would make it easier for an enemy to invade the British Isles. They are deaf to the obvious answers that all that would be necessary to stop a French army would be to let the water into the tunnel.

The British Channel, from Dover to Calais, is about twenty miles across, measured directly north and south. The shallow waters of the Channel are easily stirred up by winds and the crosing is one of the roughest in the world. Under the water is a bed of solid chalk, miles deep, though which a tunnel could easily be bored for electric trains. It would cost about $150,000,000 the committee estimates, and take eight years. The French Government is friendly to the project. When done, England would no longer be in a position where an enemy's ships could cut off her food supply, unless that enemy happened to be France.

It seems more likely now than ever before that the Channel tunnel will be built in the next few years.

POLICE

One of the reasons why criminals are caught more speedily in England than in America is that England has a single police force for the entire country and in the United States we have as many different police departments as we have towns, each operating under a different system and with no co-ordination between them except in rare instances.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has made a start toward remedying this. A network of telephone wires connecting every important town in the State with all the rest, and with four main centers of operation, operates a typewriter-telegraph system in every police headquarters. The moment a crime is discovered anywhere, all the facts and possible clues to the criminal are printed in the office of every chief of police and the whole criminal-catching machinery of the Commonwealth is set in motion.

We shall never get our criminal element under control until such a tie-up is in effect in every State and throughout the nation. Then we may have a chance of equalling England's record for the suppression of crime.

AGE

"A woman is as old as she looks and a man is as old as he feels."

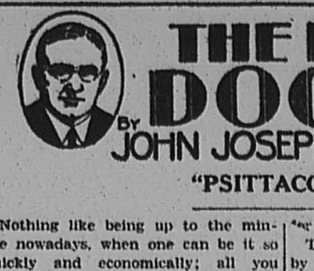

runs an ancient proverb. Many men of eighty or more are capable of doing as much work and with as much enthusiasm as most men of forty; many more men are old and past their usefulness at sixty. The difference, recent scientific research has discovered, lies in the secretions of certain gland of the body. When these diminish old age supervenes. Dr. Harry Benjamin, of New York, working in association with Dr. Casimir Funk, discoverer of vitamins, and Dr. Benjamin Harrow, of the College of the City of New York, has found a way of introducing the hormones, or essential secretions, of these glands, into elderly men, with surprising results. The effect is not to prolong life, in all probability, but to enable a man to retain his youthful energy through a period many years longer than the average.

So far this is experimental, but the experiments have been successful, and the time may be close at hand when old age and helplessness will no longer be synonymous.

RUST

One of the greatest enemies of progress is rust. For years the iron and steel industries have spent hundreds of thousands a year in research into means of preventing the rust that destroys bridges, factories, machinery, everything made of iron. Protecting metals against rust is an expensive part of all kinds of construction and manufacturing processes.

So called "stainless" steel is providing one answer. Instead of protecting the surface, certain other metals are alloyed with the steel and the metal becomes rustless, capable of taking and keeping a brilliant polish. Cheaper than nickel plate, more durable than chromium plate, one automobile manufacturer is already turning out cars whose bright parts are of stainless steel, and now other makers are considering entire bodies and chassis of the same metal. If this works out our roads may become as glittering as they were when everybody rode nickel-plated bicycles.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

"PSITTACOSIS"

Nothing like being up to the minute nowadays, when one can be it so quickly and economically; all you have to do is read the papers systematically during your spare time.

Hence psittacosis—understood as "parrot-croup." If you have a sick parrot, it isn't good policy to nose around him when he has a coughing spell, or is especially vociferous; no matter how much you love the feathered pet, you had better not put on any necking parties with him, if he exhibits any signs of not feeling fit.

The very latest advices tell us that the danger is limited to birds that have been recently imported. It is said that no thoroughly acclimatized birds have it, or almost none. But if you have a friend visiting within the tropics who notifies you of the shipment of a Polly, you may indulge just a bit of apprehension—and wisely hang her in the garage for a season after her arrival.

This psittacosis thing is described by those who have seen it at first hand—as being singularly fatal, on the order of pneumonia. However, no germs such as the bird carries have been found in human victims; and that makes things all the more perplexing for the physician in charge. I have never seen a case; hope I never may. I'm just giving you such information as I have gleaned in my habit of reading everything pertaining to the welfare of my people.

I dimly remember reading of a flock of turkeys, imported from Ceylon, bringing diphtheria to America. This dread disease has been traced to cistern water from roofs frequented by English sparrows; scarlet fever the same. Modern sanitary precautions have, however, done away with the filthy cistern. Anyway, we should be constantly alert for sources of probable infection, and —avoid them.

The Way of Life

By BRUCE BARTON

WHEN'S THE TIME TO MARRY?

I once did my very best to prevent a marriage.

It was immediately after the war. The young man came out of the army without a job. He owed me some money, which was incidental. I would gladly have loaned him more to get a start in business, but when he asked for a loan to finance his marriage I refused.

"You're crazy to get married now," I said. "There are enough difficulties in keeping a marriage happy without adding worries about money. You have not yet demonstrated that you can make a success of one life, yet you propose blithely to undertake the responsibility of two. Wait awhile till you have more judgment and some savings. Then you can start right."

Thus I spoke out of my aged wisdom; and he looked at me pityingly, and borrowed the money elsewhere, and was married at once.

Recently I visited his home. He has three children. He owns his house. He has a responsible position and money in the bank. All in all, it is as happy a family as one would want to know.

I have also visited in the home of a successful man of fifty. He did not rush into matrimony. Far from it. He accumulated money, and carefully on his guard, he looked over the whole feminine sex for many years.

Thus insured with wealth and wisdom, he proceeded at the age of forty-seven to pick himself a foolish and empty-headed little girl. Already the marriage shows signs of strain; it surely cannot last.

Earnest articles are written about the necessity for making marriage difficult. Young people should be compelled to wait, they say, until they have funds and experience.

It seems a sound argument, and yet such restrictions would have prevented the marriage of Thomas Lincoln and the birth of Abraham. They would have kept penniless Hawthorne from contracting one of the finest marriages of literary history. They would probably have postponed, if not prevented, most of the happiest unions that have taken place since the beginning of the world.

So having been a watcher of weddings for many years, I find myself less impressed with the judgment of maturity and more confident of the impulses of youth.

For what is mature judgment, anyway, but the total of our disappointments and worries, our burned fingers and our fears?

Maturity has judgment which is the wisdom of age, but youth has instinct which is the wisdom of the ages.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

PUDDING SAUCE

Fruit Sauce

Whip a cup of cream solid and fold into it half a cup of fresh or preserved fruit rubbed through a sieve and sweetened to taste. Jam, marmalade, or jelly may be used instead of the fruit, and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs may be used instead of the cream.

Golden Sauce

Rub to a cream half a cup of butter and brown sugar, heat in a double boiler, and add gradually the beaten yolk of one or two eggs. Cook slowly until thick, stirring constantly, and season to taste with wine or lemon. Add a little spice if desired.

Lemon Sauce

Cream one-third cup of butter with one cup of sugar and a tablespoon of flour. Add one and one-half cups of boiling water, simmer until smooth, and add a lemon which has been chopped without peeling, removing the seeds.

Foaming Sauce

Cream half a cup of butter with a cup of sugar and add a teaspoon of cinnamon. Add one egg well beaten and, very gradually, one cup of boiling milk. Serve immediately.

Hard Sauce

Soften a cup of butter with two tablespoons of boiling water and add gradually two cups of brown sugar. Add grated nutmeg to flavor, beat until light and creamy, and serve cold.

RICE

Rice has a large amount of starch in its make-up. If you use the coated sort, it has also valuable vitamine properties. It is lacking in fat and in proteins. So rice should always be served, if it is the mainstay of the meal, with food containing protein and fat. It is a good accompaniment of meat or eggs. Rice pudding is a well-rounded dish. Boiled rice served with butter and sugar is good as a hearty dessert for children, and with plenty of milk to drink and some fruit would make an excellent meal.

Here are some ways of cooking rice so that it tempts the appetite and satisfies it.

Rice Soup

Prepare a white sauce and while it is cooking let a slice of onion simmer in with the milk. Strain the sauce and combine with equal parts of nicely cooked rice gruel, made of boiling rice very soft in plenty of water. This soup may be varied by having a larger proportion of onion and allowing finely minced onion to remain in the soup. Cooked according to the first direction, it makes a delicate soup for invalids.

Spanish Rice

Prepare plain boiled rice, being careful to have kernels dry and mealy. Have ready a sauce composed of stewed, canned or fresh tomatoes, chopped onions, and any other savory vegetable fancy. The basis of the sauce being stewed tomatoes, it is quite possible to vary this popular dish by changing the vegetable added to give flavor. For example, another addition that combines desirably is vegetable oyster, or okra.

FLOWERING BULBS FOR RARE BEAUTY

Gladiolus Among Easiest to Grow; Balanced Plant Food Should be Used

(By W. O. HIRD)

The summer flowering bulbs include some of nature's rarest beauties, and a careful selection should be made for one's own garden. Gladiolus is probably the best known and one of the easiest bulbs to grow; for garden decoration it is unequalled, while its use as a cut flower is unlimited. Gladiolus can be had in every shade and color, with the exception of true blue. The best soil for Gladiolus is a medium loam. At the time of planting a liberal quantity of a balanced plant food should be thoroughly incorporated in the soil, care being taken to avoid the use of fresh stable manure.

To insure a succession of bloom the bulbs should be planted every two or three weeks, beginning about April 15th and continuing up to the 10th of July. The depth of planting should be determined by the character of the soil, in light sandy soils 6 to 7 inches is not too deep, while in heavy soil a depth of 3 to 4 inches is sufficient. Tuberous Rooted Begonias require a shady position and should be planted in rich loose ground to get the best results, the bulbs being taken up each fall and stored in sawdust during the winter.

Cannas are used extensively for beds and borders and make a fine display, the bulbs being planted when all danger of frost is past.

Tuberoses may be planted after the middle of May and require only good garden soil to produce them to perfection; the tall stately spikes emitting a very heavy fragrance.

Now is the time to make preparations for the Dahlia garden, if one prefers an early garden. The tubers should be taken out of their winter storage and started in sand or soil, the end of May being the time to plant for early blooming. If the flowers are wanted for exhibition purposes Dahlias planted from June 15th to July 4th will give best results. In preparing the soil this ground also should be well spaded and a generous quantity of a well balanced plant food thoroughly mixed in the soil. The tubers should be planted 5 to 6 inches deep in sandy soil and 4 to 5 inches deep in clay soil. During the growing period the ground should be kept well cultivated, thus providing a fine dust mulch. A thorough watering given once a week during dry weather will give better results than if watered a little each day.

To produce large blooms the plants should be disbudded, allowing the terminal buds to grow, but removing the laterals that grow out from the base of the first and second pair of leaves. The eyes at the base of the next pair of leaves will grow into branches and thus provide a succession of blooms. As the Dahlia is a gross feeder several applications of plant food should be given during the season.

POLITICAL NOTES

Something has happened to cause an awakening among the Democrats of Burlington county and it looks as though they are going to participate in the coming campaign, to establish a list of faithful sons, if nothing more.

The first substantial crack out of the box came at the Burlington County Women's Democratic Club dinner in Mount Holly, when Dr. Lyman B. Hollingshead, of Pemberton, announced that he was a candidate for Senator and would ask support of his party and all other voters at the general election.

Great applause greeted Dr. Hollingshead after he come to the front and the people assembled lost no time in giving him assurance of their support. George M. Hillman, Jr., of Moorestown, and Earl Hammell, of Burlington, had been mentioned by their friends, but neither tried to push Dr. Hollingshead off the county ticket.

Since then there have been other mentionings, such as William McConnell, of Palmyra, for Assembly; J. Edward Gillece, of Burlington; Charles A. VanGell, of Maple Shade; Frank S. Absalom, of Florence, and W. F. Kauderer, of Bridgeboro, for Freeholders, and Henry Colkitt, of Bordentown, for Superintendent of the Almshouse.

It seems early for the Democrats to be showing such activity, but if all reports are true they are not going to be short on candidates. Some of the old-timers of the party must be getting awake to something that they have not fully explained.—Mount Holly News.

MOUNT LAUREL

The Expectant Young Lady

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE young woman from the country who visited the dentist's office was evidently new at this sort of thing.

She eyed the equipment with widespread apprehensive eyes. It was with manifest reluctance that she seated herself in the chair and leaned her head back and, on invitation from the dentist, opened her mouth to reveal the tooth which, she said, had been misbehaving.

Her nervousness perceptibly increased as he japped with a sharp little steel instrument at the bad molar.

"I guess we can do something for it," he said, in a tone meant to be soothing. But the young woman was not to be soothed by mere words. Her rigid fingers gripped the arm rests of the chair until the knuckles showed white through the skin.

He filled an atomizer with an antiseptic fluid and treated the gum. As he withdrew the spray she clamped her mouth tightly.

"You may expectorate now," said the operator.

From between her clenched jaws she asked the question:

"Expect whut?"

would always be politics in schools "as long as the men are in it," to which Earl A. Shrader countered "and when the women get in it, we have the Parent-Teacher Association."

Mr. Steedle harked back to his original proposition that "something should be done about it," and asked if the other Board members were willing to just sit by and take no action.

Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Mayfield were strongly of the opinion that the Riverton Board should write the Palmyra Board and let them know "we are keeping an eye on them," and Mrs. Mayfield said that according to the provisions of the new law under which Riverton pupils were sent to Palmyra last year, the Riverton Board could send its pupils elsewhere if the Palmyra school "went down."

Cat Out of the Bag

An interesting sidelight on last year's fracas about sending pupils to Moorestown came out when it was stated that it was the State Commissioner and not the State Board of Education which ruled that Riverton pupils must go to Palmyra. In this connection it will be remembered that when three members of the Riverton Board desired to appeal from the Commissioner's ruling to the State Board of Education, they were denied this right, notwithstanding a resolution had been previously passed approving of the appeal, which resolution was rescinded at the following meeting.

In view of the information which came out in Monday night's meeting it became increasingly aparent that those who were interested in denying the right of Riverton parents to select Mcorestown High School for their children were afraid to trust the issue to the State Board on its merits.

Asks Pointed Question

Speaking on Mr. Steedle's contention that the employment of a supervisor at a lower salary by the Palmyra Board would necessarily mean the lowering of the school's standards, Mr. Shrader asked if, then, it followed that the employment of a teacher at a lower salary by the Riverton Board to take the place of a teacher who had just resigned, would mean the lowering of the standards in the subjects taught by the new teacher.

Mrs. Blair declared that "this is not an analogy."

Mr. Barclay agreed that perhaps it was not quite a fair comparison in that a supervisor was involved in the Palmyra situation and a teacher in the Riverton case. So he asked if the Riverton Board expected to pay the supervisor who will take Miss Chew's place the same salary as Miss Chew received at the time of her resignation, and if the employment of a supervisor at a lesser salary would mean a backward movement in Riverton's educational system. Mrs. Blair was not satisfied that this was an analogy either.

Must Ask Bids for Supplies

The District Clerk read a copy of a new law which required that Boards of Education advertise for bids for supplies, and a motion was passed authorizing the District Clerk to advertise for bids for supplies for the ensuing year.

The Clerk then offered a motion, which was passed, that the Business Committee be authorized to purchase supplies for 1930-31.

Ross E. Mattis offered a motion, which was unanimously passed, that the school nurse be engaged for another year under the same terms and conditions as last year.

Miss Chew's Report
Health

Conditions have been good this month, as shown by the attendance.

The response to the cards sent to homes has not been prompt in all cases, so that it is not possible to give an accurate account of co-operation on the part of parents.

From 125 cards sent out, there have bee 49 examinations and corrections reported. Twenty-four have had dental treatment by Dr. Dunn, and six have been given estimates on work to be done.

For the year 1928-29 we reported to the State Department as follows:

Reported to Parents for Treatment	116
Treated	17
Improved	12
Cured	5

Compared with the work accomplished this year, this feature alone would prove the value of Nurse Service to the school.

A full report of the year's accomplishment will be given in the final report for the year. It is hoped that all the cards sent to parents will be returned, so that the report shall be a record of all the work accomplished.

Field Day will demonstrate part of our Health work, and we are hoping for the same active co-operation from Board members and parents that we have enjoyed on so many like occasions. AsA already announced, the date is Thursday, May 22nd.

The Summer Round-Up will be conducted on Thursday, and Monday, May 8 and 12, in the Kindergarten room. Dr. Rogers, assisted by the nurses, will have charge. All parents of children who will enter school next year are earnestly requested to give their children this preliminary examniation, either at the school, or by their family physician.

Responses are coming in for requests for diphtheria prevention. This work will begin after the Round-Up.

All children enrolled have received the annual medical examination.

Miss Viola Foulke, who has been our Fine Arts instructor for six years, has been honored by an appointment as instructor at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. A Acondition of the appointment was that she report for duty May 1st. She has recommended to us Miss Zelda Garbell, who also takes her place at the Industrial Art School of Philadelphia Public Schools. I would recommend that Miss Garbell come to us on a substitute basis for the remainder of the school year.

The State examinations will be held May 7th. There are thirty-one pupils in the Eighth Grade.

I am happy to hear from the President of the Board that Dr. White, Assistant Commission of Education in charge of High Schools will be our speaker at the graduating exercises, June 11th.

The American Legion and Auxiliary would like to express to all merchants and friends who have made such splendid work possible, their heartiest thanks for their co-operation. It is great encouragement for those who have such a great task on their hands to feel that the need o fco-operation and support is realized and given so freely.

Charges Moscow Stole Calendar and He's Going to Law About It

Philadelphia Paper, Reporting Interview with Ralph Britton, Says "Big Man from Soviet" Gained Ralph's Confidence and Made Off with Invention

A story that appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer recently follows:

It just goes to show you can't trust them furriners — particularly them as runs Soviet Russia.

What'll they do? Why, they'll even up and steal a calendar on you. A calendar you've worked over, cared for, nurtured with almost a mother's love, you might say.

Such is the wail of Ralph Connor Dahlene Briton, Esq., of Moorestown, N. J., a voice crying in the wilderness that will not be comforted. But is Ralph Conner Dahlene Britton, Esquire going to take the knavery lying down? No, he is not. He's going to have the law on the pilferers, by hedges he is.

In other words, the gentleman from Moorestown, whose name has used up a godly chunk of the alphabet, is going to start suit against the Soviet Government for punitive damages, charging wilful, malicious and felonious theft of calendar.

This he announced in no uncertain terms yesterday upon arrival in Philadelphia. The only thing that appeared to bother him, however, is just how you go about entering suit for theft of calendar. Ralph Conner Dahlene Britton not having majored in international law or whatever it is takes care of calendar suits.

Idea Explained

Ralph, a mild-mannered man, with thick-lensed spectacles, decided several years ago that the present-day calendar is all wrong, what with one month having thirty-one days, another thirty, and February getting the dirty end of it. He sat down and figured a way to remedy it.

At this time things were not going so well with the savant. He had to seek employment where he might. Not to put too fine a point on it—and Ralph doesn't—he was playing the piano in a cafe. In this way he got to know few—er—peculiar people. One in particular, who gained his trusting confidence, said he was a big man in the Soviet. Ralph, who likes to be with big men, got too confidential one night, he says, and up and spilled the whole works about his calendar.

Time went by, and he had it patented, with the seal of the U. S. Patent Office. Ralph didn't quite like the idea that the patent mark carried the old calendar figures on it, 1927 A. D., but he felt he could afford to strain a point for the nonce. He'd soon be hailed as the great inventor, he thought, the man who had thrown out the old and obsolete January, February and March, including all the silly months without R's when you can't eat oysters. He was prepared for high honors.

Then Came the Shock!

Then came the shock!

He read—read with his own eyes, mind you—where the Soviet Government had approved a new calendar. And reading further what did he find? Why, it was the very self-same calendar he had revealed to that scoundrel over the keyboard in the cafes.

"I thought he'd be too big for that," said Ralph yesterday. "But it just goes to show you. He must have taken the copy I gave him and shipped it right off to Moscow. Probably claimed it as his own idea, too."

Although an embittered man over the dirty trick played upon him, Ralph consented briefly to explain his invention. Said he:

"My calendar makes everything come out even. It has ten days in the week (called decade by Mr. Britton), three decades in the month and twelve months in the year. Also it doesn't start on January 1, where a calendar has no legitimate business starting. It begins on March 21, which is the vernal equinox and the proper place for a year to have its beginning."

"Why so, Mr. Britton?"

"Because then you can work the calendar by the sign of the Zodiac. You can name the months Cancer, Leon, Virgin, Liber, Scorpy—"

"Tut, tut, Mr. Britton! Scorpy! Isn't that being too familiar with Ecorpio?"

"We won't go into that," said Mr. Britton. "The thing now is, how am I going to start suit against the Soviet? I understand United States doesn't recognize it.

"And if it gets away with this I won't recognize it, either," added Ralph Conner Ralene Britton.

THE QUIET LIFE
Written About the Year 1600
By WILLIAM BYRD

What pleasure have great princes
More dainty to their choice
Than herdsmen wild, who careless
In quiet life rejoice,
And fortune's fate not fearing
Sing sweet in summer morning?

Their dealings plain and rightful,
Are void of all deceit;
They never know how spiteful
It is to kneel and wait
On favorite, presumptuous,
Whose pride is vain and sumptuous.

All day their flocks each tendeth;
At night, they take their rest;
More quiet than who sendeth
His ship unto the East,
Where gold and pearl are plenty
But getting, very dainty.

For lawyers and their pleading,
They 'steem it not a straw;
They think that honest meaning
Is of itself a law
Whence conscience judgeth plainly,
They spend no money vainly

O happy who thus liveth!
Not caring much for gold;
With clothing which sufficeth
To keep him from the cold
Though poor and plain his diet
Yet merry it is, and quiet

Hints for Motorists

It doesn't pay to go shopping for tires among unreliable dealers. Even the best makes of tires deteriorate when kept on the shelf too long. They may be new in appearance, but they won't give the service obtainable from really new rubber.

Practice driving at night without looking at approaching headlights. Many drivers learn to keep their eyes on the right edge of the road and are not bothered by glare.

When you buy a pressure gauge, be sure to get the kind suited to your car. They are making them now for high pressure and balloon tires used on different types of wheels. The service station man can tell you.

SELECT HERD SIRE FROM VIGOROUS, FERTILE LINE

Failure of cows to breed regularly is not always the cow's fault. This fact is indicated when more than one cow in the herd is failing to breed—a warning that attention should be directed to the sire. Causes of failure on the part of the sire to settle some cows, according to Prof. J. W. Bartlett, dairy husbandman for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, may be due to an overfat condition, a lack of exercise, a poor ration, too much silage, or a general inherited lack of fertility. Bulls which have been fitted for show or allowed to get fat should be put on a ration which is low in carbohydrates, Professor Bartlett advises. When bulls are very fat, however, this change in the ration should be gradual to avoid impairing the animal's breeding powers.

PALMYRA LEADS BURLCO LEAGUE

Trounce Burlington in Hurler's Duel; Will Play at Riverside Tomorrow

Palmyra High will seek its fifth straight triumph tomorrow when it will engage the Riverside High School nine on the latter's diamond. Tuesday Audubon will play at Palmyra.

The fourth triumph of the minions of Coach Ken Dimond was earned in a neat pitcher's dual when Burlington was the guest team on high school field last Friday afternoon.

The victory, the second in league competition, puts Palmyra in undisputed possession of first place in the county school circuit as they have yet to lose a tussle. The first league victory was scored at the expense of Mount Holly.

Other wins were against the strong Camden Catholic tossers and the Haddonfield aggregation.

Gootee was a shade better than Lippincott, his Burlington rival, in Friday's fracas and came in a winner with a margin of one run which he scored himself in the seventh. The final statistics were 3-2 in favor of the "Pals".

The "Burls" took an early lead when they chalked up a single counter in the second. That ended their activities on the home stretch until the eighth when a one-run rally was all they could muster. Gootee's one run in the previous inning added to two made by his teammates, Coles and Baker, in the fourth was enough to insure victory.

Both hurlers were effective and between them allowed but seven hits, all singles. The "Burls" had the edge on their hosts with four of the seven. Each slinger issued seven passes. Gootee whiffed 13 alien bat bearers while nine of the "Pals" were retired via the strikeout route.

What the game lacked in slugging was made up in the base stealing department. Hullings, of Burlington, led the pilferers with two. His buddies, Wells, Costello and Hardy had one each. The Palmyra speed artists were Cadman, Coles and Davison, who were each successful in one attempt.

PEARL A. C. FALLS BEFORE PARRY

Winers Score in Every Inning to Amass a Total of 13 Runs

Parry A. A. continued its winning streak by defeating Pearl A. C., of Burlington, on the Parry grounds last Sunday afternoon by a score of 13 to 10.

The winners scored at least one run in every inning while the visitors reached the home plate once in the fourth, six times in the fifth, and three times in the ninth.

Malley started on the mound for Parry but was replaced by Schultz in the fifth. Spike Loveland got as far as the fifth for Burlington but was knocked out of the box in this session. F. Loveland finished the fray.

Malley was nicked for six hits during his term of office, one being a home run by F. Loveland. Schultz allowed three single, a double and a triple. The Loveland brothers allowed thirteen singles between them, one of them being a home run which resulted when Menkevich connected with one of Spike Loveland's fast ones.

Each of the hurlers, except Schultz, whiffed seven batters each. Schultz had two strikeouts.

E. Schroeder was the slugging star for Parry with four hits out of five times at bat. Menkevich and Nash both had a home run and a single. Howard Schuck connected for two singles. F.—Loveland, with three single and a home run, was the star slugger for Pearl A. C.

Mariton will be the attraction on the Parry lot next Sunday afternoon. The game will start at three o'clock.

SMITH PRACTICING

George Smith, golf "pro" of Moorestown Field Club; Marty Lyons, "pro" at Spring Hill Country Club; John Beadle, Paxon Hollow "pro," and John Edmundson, former "pro" of North Hills Country Club, will play practice rounds at Bala Country Club next Monday.

The Philadelphia Professional Golfers' Association Championship is to be played at the Bala Club on Monday, May 19. George Smith is the present champion and will defend his title.

MARBLE FINALS AT OCKANICKON

District Champion to Compete in County Tournament at YMCA Camp

As Boys' Week draws to a close this Saturday, so will the district marble tournament. For the last three weeks boys and girls have been competing in their school contests. It is from these contests that the winners will come to the district tournament to be held at the "Y" building, Saturday morning.

The winner of this contest will go to the county finals as a representative of this district. A runner-up will also accompany the winner to the finals at Camp Ockanickon Saturday, May 17.

The winners of Riverton, Delaware avenue and Spring Garden street schools are the only ones yet to win out. At the other two schools the enthusiasts are still battling for the coveted medal. The lucky two at Riverton are Philip Mathews and Leonard King, runer-up. The Delaware avenue school will be represented by Ike Rothbaum and Ralph Dages. Warren Cooper and Caton Marcone will shoot for the Spring Garden stret school.

As a reward for their prowess in the marble game, these winners will receive a medal symbolic of their victory at their schools. As a further reward these lucky boys will be guests of the Evening Bulletin on a trip to Valley Forge and to the Navy Yard.

Golf Competition

By "FAIRWAY"

As time is at hand . Start the team matches it is also time to try to analyze your golf. Are you a cool, steady player, or are you a high-strung, nervous player?

If you are cool and steady you have little to fear, as a little thing like someone speaking, moving, or dropping a club, will not annoy you; but if you are a nervous, temperamental golfer, any slight disturbance is simply the ruination of a shot if it comes at the time to hit a ball.

The best way to overcome this fault is simply to walk up to the ball, take a comfortable stance, and try not to think about what the gallery is thinking or doing. Just hit the ball. If your tee shot is not what you think it ought to be, and you get the thought that it was a dub shot, forget it as quickly as possible, and put all your thoughts on the next shot that is to be hit.

In team matches never let one bad hole worry you. After it has been played, forget it, and get the thought that that was only one hole, and that you are going after the next one. On the other hand, if you win the hole, keep the thought that you were pretty steady and it is just as easy to win as it is to lose.

Even if you lose two holes, remember that there are eighteen in a team match, or in any other match, and that you have been paired with a player who is about your equal; and that you have as great a chance as they have, or perhaps a better.

In a team match, try to play according to the U. S. G. A. rules. If you do, seldom, if ever, any trouble arises. If it does it will be very slight. Always settle a dispute on the hole that is being played, before you go to the tee of the next hole. If players are unable to agree between themselves on a disputed point, before they tee off on the next hole they should either send for the manager of the teams, or call someone who knows the rules of the A. and R. game.

There is always a strain in competition golf, but try to keep in mind that the other fellow is just as nervous as you are. Even in some of the largest tournaments such noted players as Bobby Jones, the "King of Golfers", cannot button his collar or tie his tie; so just take thing as cool as possible and remember that in all team matches or competitive golf of any description, that it is the same as a friendly game, and just play against par instead of your opponent. Then you will more than likely come home the winner.

There is always another thing to think about. Nine golfers out of every ten have what they considered a jinx hole, or maybe two. The best thing to do with such a mental hazard hanging over you, is to play each one of those holes quite a number of times until you play them well. You will surprised to find that the hazard has been removed and that those holes are just as easy to play as the others.

In the end, however if you sum it all up, the temperamental golfer has as big a chance if not a better one than the golfer who is placid and calm, because he generally rises to the occasion.

HI SCHOOL TO VIE WITH "HAS BEENS"

Track and Field Meet Being Arranged for Saturday, May 17

Arrangements for the track and field meet between the Moorestown High School and the Community House to be held on Saturday, May 17, on the South Church Street Grounds, are progressing.

Because of the fact that the High School aggregation has been organized for the whole season that team is intact; but the Community House team is in the making at this stage. The committee in charge of the meet is getting together an array of yesteryear stars who are going to make the school boy step for their victories.

Many of the former college stars and some of the present college runners will be in the town lineup.

This affair, which is the second annual meet, is sure to be interesting to the people of the town and that all may witness the carnival the meet will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, May 17, at 2.30 o'clock

Charlie Juliana, who heads the committee to get the "has beens" together, will have the official lineup of the Community House team next week. "If I do not get in touch with anyone who would like to take part in the meet, please call me at the Community House. I am sure you will get a place on the team," says Charlie. "All the men who have already signed up to take part have started to get themselves in shape and by the date of the meet they expect to be in the 'pink.'"

The townspeople are invited to attend this function and cheer for their side.

MARBLE CONTESTS ARE IN FULL SWING

County Championships Scheduled for May 17 at Camp Ockanickon

Right now in nine districts throughout Burlington County local school championships have been pretty much determined in preparation for district championships which are scheduled for this week, a number of them for Saturday, May 10.

Winning a school championship this year carries with it more than just the receipt of The Bulletin bronze medal. It also includes a Valley Forge historical pilgrimage on June 22.

Chairmen of the nine districts throughout the County who are arranging for their district contest this year are:

Robert M. Oberholser, Bordentown; Harold E. Moore, Florence; S. Roger Oliver, Burlington; William M. Hess, Riverside; H. Edson Hicks, Palmyra.

Franklin S. Chambers, New Lisbon; C. B. Davenport, Mount Holly; Walter M. Lippincott, Moorestown; Herbert L. Cochley, Medford.

County Chairman Guy C. Hendry has fixed upon May 17 as the date when the various district champions and runners-up will compete for the County Championship. This will be run off at "Acres for Character"—Camp Ockanickon, Medford, Saturday, May 17, commencing at 10.15 a. m.

Winners of district contests will receive the Bulletin gold medals and for the County champion there is already residing at the County YMCA Headquarters a beautiful silver Waltham wrist watch provided by The Bulletin through the J. L. Caldwell Company, Philadelphia.

BURLINGTON TO ENTERTAIN FAMOUS SPARKS CIRCUS

Enlarged in every department this season, Sparks Circus, widely known, will give two exhibitions, at 2 p. m. and 8 o'clock, on Tuesday, May 13, in Burlington. Appearance of this famous show has created much interest among the circus enthusiasts of this community and many are making plans to attend the performances on Circus Day.

One of the outstanding features of the 1930 tour will be the appearance of the Original Nelson Family, world's premier acrobatic family. Father, mother, son and four daughters constitute this remarkable family, remarkably risky and tumbling champions. Other features include the Civico Family of Equestrians, direct from Holland; the Five Aerial Walters; Wright Duo, sensational equilibrist; Mlle. Rosina, queen of the wire; Flora Bedini, petite equestrienne; LaVerne Hauser, noted woman; Arensen Duo, the Carreons, and George Brothers.

SPRING HILL OKAYS TOURNEY SCHEDULE

Program of Fifteen Big Events Planned By Fast-Growing Golf Club

A complete list of golf tournaments for the year was approved by the large number of members attending the meeting of the Spring Hill Country Club at the club house, Chester Township, last Friday evening.

In addition to golf, the tennis courts will see plenty of action this season, from all reports. Leon Raesly, of Riverton, was named the tennis chairman and plans a big program. He is also considering the organization of a team that may see league competition. Other members of Mr. Raesly's committee are William Matlack, of Moorestown, and Joseph Evans, of Marlton.

The club's golf course is in splendid condition and H. F. Stockwell, Jr., president, announced that 106 golfers are now members of the fast-growing Spring Hill Club. The club also voted to join the South Jersey Golf Association.

The schedule of tournaments, as approved by the club, follows:

May 3—Kickers' tournament.
May 17—Flag tournament.
May 30—Memorial Day 36-hole match play.
June 14—Match vs. par.
June 28—Qualifying round, spring handicap.
July 4—Independence Day 36-hole medal play; obstacle putting contest, regular putting contest, and mixed ball foursome.
July 19—Four ball, best ball foursome.
August 2—Mitch vs. bogey.
August 16—Qualifying round, two-man team championship.
September 1—Labor Day tin whistle event.
September 13 and 20—Qualifying round, club championship, 36 holes.
September 27—Auction golf.

Doppler — Brodie

Miss Sabina Brodie, of North Washington street, Moorestown, became the bride of Joseph Doppler, of Riverton Road, on Thursday morning, May 1, at 9 o'clock at the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, the Rev. Father Rudden officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brodie, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Doppler.

The bride wore a costume of powder blue georgette, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and sweet peas. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Joseph Wojcik, also of Moorestown who wore pink georgette and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Joseph Brodie, brother to the bride, was the best man. Miss Helen Boland of Camden, played the wedding march and H. Prescott Herr sang.

Following the ceremony a reception was given the newly married couple at the home of the bride's parents on North Washington avenue. Only members of the two families were present.

After this Mr. and Mrs. Doppler left for a wedding trip to Washington. They returned home on Sunday and are living on Riverton Road.

MIRRORS of MORROW

The first financial success of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senate in New Jersey, came through his love of learning.

After four years of the hardest kind of work at Amherst College, where he paid his way by tutoring and other odd jobs, young Morow was graduated in 1895. He just succeeded in paying his way and was practically penniless on Commencement Day.

The week prior to the Commencement exercises, Dwight invited his sisters, who were teaching school in Pennsylvania, to come to Amherst and see him graduate. They replied and told him that they were unable to stand the finahcial burden of a railroad journey and could not go. Dwight urged them to come on and said he would pay their expenses out of his first earnings on leaving college.

On Commencement Day his sisters were seated in the audience when the announcement was made that their student brother was the winner of two of the principal prizes, one of $200.00 and another of $100.00 in cash. The delighted young man was not only able to pay the expenses of his two sisters on the trip, but had enough left over to open a bank account and finance himself until he could get a job.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager, Pastor

A most enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the congregation and some friends last Friday, when a reception was tendered to the new pastor and his wife. Greetings were brought by the Rev. George Lockett and the Rev. A. J. Harke, and other ministers of town who were unable to be present sent their good wishes. were present and spoke included the Ministers from other towns who Rev. S. M. Wenrich, of Riverside, the Rev. Mr. Yund, of Merchantville, and the Rev. Mr. Naus, of Delaware Gardens. Representatives of all the organizations in the church joined their voices of welcome and gave assurance of their cooperation in the work of the parish.

Special musical numbers had been arranged by Lee Mitton, consisting of several solos, a duet, and a quartet; these were all much appreciated. A beautiful basket of flowers was presented to the Rev. and Mrs. Creager as a token of the good-will of the congregation. Refreshments were served by the confirmation class, concluding a most delightful event.

Another happy time was enjoyed by the young people Saturday afternoon and evening, when the Luther League entertained the confirmation class on a hike at Jessup's farm.

Next Sunday the celebration of Mothers' Day will claim our grateful attention. The sermon at the morning service will be on the theme, "Mother, the Great Builder".

EPISCOPAL

Rev. G. J. McCormack

Last summer the rector and his wife visited St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, and found a map of the world at the gateway be-sprinkled with little flags. These flags mark the places where men are working. Far to the north in Arctic Alaska, on the Behring Straits, a single flag bravely holds its own.

The man indicated by that flag, Archdeacon Goodman, ministers to a thousand Eskimos in that bleak, inhospital region.

Another flag represents almost as lonely a game played by the Rev. S. Lawton, on the coast of Labrador; still another represents the Rev. Ernest Gribble, a great pioneer of missions.

Another member of this glorious band is Bishop Stirling, who did such heroic work amongst the Fuegians on the stormy coasts round Cape Horn, a polished English gentleman giving himself in humble service to men who were considered by some utterly beyond the reach of saving grace.

From a worldly standpoint there is little to say for this superhuman effort and many might say, "It is a sheer waste of splendid material". But from a Christian standpoint, this flaming faith in the value of every scul, this evidence that Christ died literally for all men, we might ask, "Is there any motive but that inspired by Christ strong enough to drive men to such work?"

The Volunteer Choir did exceedingly well in its first venture and promises great things in the near future.

The Lenten Offering still continues to come in and is now over $273.00. The rector urges that anyone still holding a Lenten Box, kindly return it next Sunday.

The G. F. S. is planning to take its play, "Tessa's Tongue," to Camden and Riverside in the interests of the society. Definite dates will be given later.

Advance notice of a cake sale by the G. F. S. is given. May 24 is the date.

The G. F. S. will have an admission service Sunday evening.

When March winds make,
So old their beauty is—
Oh, no man knows
Through what wild centuries
Roves back the rose."

MORAVIAN CHURCH

Albert J. Harke, B. D. Pastor

All the regular services will be held next Sunday. The Sunday School session and the morning service will be dedicated to the sacred memory of mother, that we may again pay our tribute to mother and cherish her sacred memory.

This Friday evening at 8 o'clock the Men's Club meets for the regular meeting. Four teams were in the field in the initial series of games just closed. Each team played twelve games, the winners of the series winning ten and losing two games.

The 68th Anniversary of the organization of the congregation will be observed Sunday, May 13, with special services in the morning and afternoon.

The repainting of the interior of the church will be entirely completed by next Sunday, and will add much to the effectiveness of the services.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for May 11
JESUS ACCLAIMED AS KING
Matthew 21:1-11
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Familiar events crowd for attention in this lesson. Some are especially spectacular, quite in contrast with the retiring life Jesus had sought to live during His public ministry. The Perean ministry was ended when the party from Galilee crossed the Jordan. At Jericho blind men were healed. Then the ascent to Jerusalem was negotiated and it is indeed a climb as personal memory can testify. Bethany was the lodging place over the Jewish Sabbath. When sundown of Saturday came a feast was given in the home of Lazarus and Martha, the sister was an active host as usual in caring for the needs of the guests. Mary made this an occasion for a most beautiful tribute to her Lord and friend who had raised Lazarus's body from the tomb. She expended no less than the amount of 300 days' pay for an ordinary laborer as she broke her alabaster jar of ointment and anointed both the head and feet of Jesus, as He reclined at the table. Then Judas exposed his cupidity and Mary was commended for her deed as further reference was made to the approaching cross, now less than six days distant.

On Sunday morning, the first day of the week, plans were made for a special journey to Jerusalem, already thronged with multitudes from every section who had come up to the Passover. Many in Bethany seem to sense the situation and go with Him to the Holy City. They always had something for glorious memory. Two disciples found the ass and the colt as Jesus had predicted and Jesus rode in really royal state. Garments padded the back of the beast of burden and other garments were cast along the way as a carpet. With the waving of palm branches the people chanted the great Hallel, Psalms 113-117, which were especially used en route to Jerusalem by the pilgrims going up to the various feasts.

There was one minor strain in this great song. It was when Jesus first beheld the city as the procession rounded Olivet. At once His grief for the indifference of humanity was expressed as He wept over the city because it would not recognize Him as the long promised Messiah. Then onward down the slope and across the Kedron stream. A company from the city came out to meet Him, and these turned about and greatly lengthened the procession. Together they acclaimed Him king, though they did not fully sense the import of their use of Scripture as they cried "Hosanna to the Son of David. Blessed be him who cometh in the name of the Lord." For a graphic description of what may have actually taken place turn to the account in "Ben Hur." One of the incidents in fiction is the healing of the sister and mother of Ben Hur who had been afflicted with leprosy. The faithful nurse said that Jesus would hear their cry of faith no matter how weak might be their voices. He looked, He spoke His word of power, and they were cleansed.

This Triumphal Entry, as it is called, and celebrated on Palm Sunday each year, is a great appeal to join the growing company of those who follow with Jesus in life's service. Of course there were those who shouted his praise on Sunday and who cried "crucify Him" on the following Friday. There were also real followers who were ready to go with Him even unto death in helping mankind. Today at least one-third of the population of the world acknowledge the name of Jesus as Saviour. The subject for the Young People and Adult classes is an appeal to all of us in applying this lesson study. It is "Make Christ OUR King." First comes a definite enlistment for life and then follows a life of service for His sake.

LIBRARY GROWS

County Organization Increasing, Miss Clark's Report Shows

Burlington County's Library Association has continued its steady progress during the past year, according to a report made by Miss Hazel C. Clark, county librarian, at the association's annual meeting in Memorial Hall at Beverly.

Miss Clark declared that during the year the Beverly hall has been built, which was constructed as a memorial to veterans and is being used by the library and Beverly Paragraph Club, a new library station was opened at Florence, and one is about to be opened at Columbus.

The county library custodians were present at the session. They are persons from communities throughout the county who operate, without pay, branch stations for the library. There are 57 branch libraries in homes and 68 in schools.

A type of costume that makes a strong appeal to many women this spring consists of the one-piece frock and matching jacket. The silhouette and general effect of this sort of thing are precisely those of a suit, while to some women the one-piece dress has advantages over the separate blouse and skirt. Last spring we would have called this sort of thing an ensemble, but fortunately this word—always difficult for Americans to pronounce—is heard less often at the present time and until something better is devised we must content ourselves with calling it simply a dress and jacket.

In the picture, shantung with brown and green figures is used with plain shantung for scalloping the jacket.

STATE MOTOR VEHICLE IS CLOSED BY HOFFMAN

As one of the initial steps in reducing the cost of operating the Department of Motor Vehicles, Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman today announced the closing of Union City Agency No. 2. No new agent, the Commissioner said, will be appointed, a sone agency is entirely adequate to meet the needs of motorists in Union City. There are other agencies in adjacent communities.

"WAS MISERABLE UNTIL KONJOLA RELIEVED ME"

Buffalo Lady Pays Fine Tribute to Famed Medicine After It Ended Indigestion

MRS. BARBARA RUDA

"No words of mine are strong enough to express my gratitude for Konjola and what this splendid medicine did for me after all else I tried had failed," said Mrs. Barbara Ruda, 79 Sobieski street, Buffalo. "For years I was a victim of stomach trouble. No matter how little I ate nor how light the food, bloating, gas, and pain was sure to follow, and the pains of indigestion were terrible. I became weak, nervous and rundown and worried over my condition.

"A friend told me that Konjola did her a lot of good and she insisted that it would do the same for me. She proved to be right. Konjola went right to work and four bottles did the work. I haven't a touch of indigestion; my nerves are quiet, and I sleep well at night. More than that I am feeling better all over. Konjola acted as a medicine and then a tonic, and I endorse this splendid medicine with all my heart."

Konjola goes to the source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism and nervousness. When taken over a period of six to eight weeks, the results will amaze those with even the most stubborn ailments.

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO ABOUT SPEED?

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
STATE MOTOR VEHICLE COMMISSIONER

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner

What are we going to do about speed?

The improvement of the automobile and its increased use to the point where we are definitely a motorized Nation make this question one that is peculiarly appropriate. Are we going to ignore the rising tide of speed on our highways and the desire of our people to travel faster, or must we set our hands to the task of seriously considering, at least, a readjustment of our viewpoint regarding the relation of speed to safety. I believe that the latter course is the one we should follow.

While I would not consider, until after the most searching study, offering as a hurried solution of the problem the complete abandonment of the limitations we have placed upon the rate of travel on our streets and upon the open road, I believe that it is a duty of the motor vehicle administration to keep abreast of the times. What we adhered to in 1920 certainly is not wholly applicable at the present time. As already pointed out, the automobile itself has undergone marvelous development during the last decade. Four-wheel brakes, high compression engines, more sensitive steering and generally easier handling of the car have made it a much more controllable vehicle. This point must be borne clearly in mind when we attack the problem of speed today.

Not Speed Limits Alone

But it is not a question of speed limits alone. Just as the automobile has been made a safer means of transportation with its quicker response to the will of its driver, so have other factors in the whole field of motoring advanced. We have more efficient methods of regulating our traffic by means of automatic devices. The growth of the boulevard stop-street idea had had important results. And when we go outside our city limits into the open country, we find that the highways are being built with the express purpose of permitting traffic to flow smoothly, swiftly and without many of the dangers inherent on the older type of roads.

If traffic is to be maintained with any appreciable degree of safety and freedom from congestion on any of our main highways, those arteries should be broad enough to accommodate four lanes of travel; curves should be super-elevated with a slight distance permitting a broad margain of safety; and the road should be freed from such obstructions as embankments, trees and shrubbery, or billboards and the like, which impede vision at points of intersection with other arteries, at curves or at railroad grade crossings.

Having made the automobile safer to handle in emergencies and having achieved progress in highway design, we have laid the ground work for moving traffic with greater expedition. Nor can we overlooR the fact that the great body of motorists have become more experienced in driving under the most exacting conditions.

Not Inherently Dangerous

It is generally recognized that speed in itself is not inherently dangerous. Accidents in which it is a factor usually are more directly traceable to narrow roads, poro visibility, mechanical weaknesses caused by neglect, pure recklessness or driving in an intoxicated condition. It seems apparent, therefore, that these are the factors to which we must direct our attention rather than to speed itself. But speed, of course, never must be permitted where conditions do not make it safe—in congested residential districts, in school zones or the like.

New Jersey has ever been in the vanguard of States permitting a liberal rate of travel on its highways. In 1918, there were but three States having a numerical limit which allowed a speed greater than our own restriction of 30 miles an hour. Since that time we have seen fit to increase the maximum on the open road to 40 miles an hour. Thirty-five other States have limits which exceed 30 miles an hour, ten having gone to 45 miles an hour, and one to 50.

These developments clearly indicate a trend toward the permission of higher speed on the open road. Whether New Jersey should increase its limit arbitrarily to a higher figure or whether it should adopt a prima facie limit that shall apply in case of accident only or place no numerical restriction, but govern driving solely upon conditions prevailing at the time is the problem, as I see it, which we should endeavor to solve.

MEMORIAL POPPY TO BE SOLD THIS WEEK BY LEGION

Auxiliary to Aid in Drive Which Starts With Siren Call Tonight

TO CANVASS EVERY HOME IN COMMUNITY

Blood Red Blossom, Emblematic of Heroic Dead, to be Worn in Reverence

When the fire siren sounds this evening at 7.30 p. m. remember it is time to expect a call for "help!"

The members of the American Legion and Auxiliary begin their Poppy drive this evening and every home in this vicinity will be canvassed. The little red poppy seems a small thing but what a world of meaning it holds for those who make them, wear them and hold them in reverence.

During the week or two just prior to Memorial Day, millions of Americans will wear the blood-red poppy of Flanders Field, in memory of those gallant American boys who sacrificed their lives that American ideals might live.

The wearing of the Poppy is no empty form. It is no idea developed in the mind of any man and pushed to public acceptance by clever promotion. It is a symbol of reverence—a sign that the high ideals, for which those men gave their lives, still live and are honored.

As American soldiers struggled forward through shattered villages, across shell-torn fields and over the blasted hillsides, they saw only one touch of life and a beauty in all that region where death and destruction reigned. This was the little red poppy. Along the very edges of the trenches, about the ragged shell holes and in the fields raked by machine gun fire, the brave little poppy grew and bloomed.

When comrades were left beneath the bare dirt of hastily dug battle graves, the poppy sprang up and clothed these graves with flowers. It semed as if the gallant spirit of the dead had passed into the blood-red blossoms and that through the little flowers they were sending a message of courage and hope to those who still lived. Thus, the poppy became the symbol of the dead—their memorial flower.

That is why we pin on the poppy when we pay tribute to our World War dead. The poppy covers the soil in France beneath which they lie and on Poppy Day we place the flower over our hearts where the memory of the great sacrifice they made for our country is forever enshrined.

Remember the message of the poppy "Buy Me — Wear Me!"

POPPY DAY

By Mrs. R. R. Emery

"Over There" is a field where poppies grow,
And they call it Flanders' Field,
Where crosses—white
In the hush of night,
Stand like guards with buckled shield.
They watch o'er the brave who sleep
there today,
'Neath a gleaming carpet of red,
And the world walks by,
With a tear and sigh
And whispers, "They are our dead."

There are hearts today—in our land of the free,
Who will mourn and remember anew,
How the cause of Right
Led our boys to fight—
To die for the red, white and blue.
We grieve with you, dear ones, who gave the most,
When we think of those you have lost.
Though the years drift away,
We know you, today,
Are silently counting the cost.

"WE HONOR THE DEAD BY SERVING THE LIVING"

"If ye break faith"—Oh trouble not
That we shall let you be forgot.
That we might live, ye yonder lie,
As the world's tumult hurries by.
Fret not that thoughtless souls do slave
For gold, that not one life could save.
We grateful thousands shall recall
Those Over There who gave their all.

If poppies blow where heroes lie,
Think not the flag of shame we'll fly.
Our duty to them lies at hand—
Help to the living in this land.
To those less fortunate than we
Who cannot hear and cannot see.
Those shell-shocked souls with minds distraught,
With such a price, our freedom bought.

'Twere better far, we all were gone
Than that we fail to carry on
Till every man who needs our care,
Receives a recompense that's fair.
We'll work and fight, till there shall come
Justice to our disabled ones.
We'll keep the faith to us revealed.
By those who lie in Flanders Field.

RIVERTON BOY GETS ENSIGN'S COMMISSION

Paul Burr, son of Paul C. Burr, of Linden avenue, Riverton, is home after completing a nine months' course in the Naval Reserve Air School at Pensacola, Florida.

After one month in an elimination school in Philadelphia, Paul was sent to the Florida school, where he completed the course.

Upon completion of the flying course in the Florida schol he was commissioned as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

He is waiting to start a year's service in the Navy, which he is expecting to begin about July. The Navy Department requests that persons taking the flying course give a year of active service after completing the course.

Paul has about 250 hours' flying time to his credit.

3 CARS CRASH; FOUR INJURED

Accident Occurred at Burlington Pike and Highland Ave., Cinnaminson

Four persons were severely injured at noon Wednesday when three cars collided on the Burlington pike, at Highland avenue, Cinnaminson.

Mario Reyes, 29, of New York City, was driving his Dodge sedan towards Camden and was following the Philadelphia Market House truck, driven by Richard Polis.

Reyes attempted to pass the truck and saw that he could not make it when it was too late to pull in back of the truck again. His car collided with a Buick sedan owned and driven by Frank Harmstead, of Ardmore. Reyes was arrested by Trooper Drosdick, of the Delanco Barracks, and arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Fichter, of Palmyra, who fined him $5.00 and $1.00 costs for reckless driving.

Reyes agreed to pay for damages to Harmstead's car and no further action was taken. The injured, all of whom were passengers in Reyes' car, were Robert Ayala, 5, lacerations of face and scalp; Talo Rodrigues, 22 months, sustained lacerations of left hand and of face; Mary Ayala, 42, mother of Robert, suffered lacerations of right ankle and contusions and possible fracture of the left shoulder; Vincent Rodrigues, 32, sustained possible fracture of right leg. Mario Reyes, the driver, was uninjured.

Neither Frank Harmstead nor Richard Polis were injured.

Harmstead's car and Reyes' car were very badly wrecked, while the Philadelphia Market House truck was only slightly damaged. The injured were taken to Cooper Hospital, Camden, by Trooper Drosdick.

CINNAMINSON LONE STAR YMCA

The regular meeting of the Cinnaminson Lone Star YMCA was held on Wednesday evening, May 7, 1930.

On May 17, we have decided to have a party. It will be held in the auditorium of the Cinnaminson School. Certain persons were appointed by the president to try to make the party a success.

Wednesday evening we had a visitor from Mount Holly who was Guy C. Henry. He gave a very interesting talk on how the YMCA started and what it should mean to every boy. He also stated that there would be a YMCA convention at Burlington, Monday, May 12. We are sending six delegates.

Last week we joined the baseball league and Thursday we won our first game from Reading YMCA with a score of 11-2. Tuesday we play Vincentown and Thursday Columbus. We hope to go through the season undefeated.

COPS BREAK UP WHOOPEE PARTY

Eleven Philadelphians Arrested; Colored Woman and Son Among Prisoners

About two-thirty Sunday morning six officers and a justice of the peace swooped down on a small house along the Pensauken Creek, near Parry, and arrested seven men and four girls for being disorderly. They were tried before Justice of the Peace Cecil A. Bowers Sunday morning and each was fined three dollars and three dollars costs.

According to reports the folks were enjoying a regular "whoopie party" when the police suddenly broke up the fun. Those arrested were: Albert Reynolds, 25, 2643 E. Venango street; John Strempk, 2619 E. Tioga street; Joseph Dietz, 22, 2614 E. Venango street; Joseph Smith, 26, 3493 Weikman street; Frank Whalen, 24, 2061 Allegheny avenue; Harry Shields, 26, 2856 Gillhan street; Matthew Clchowski, 21, 2804 E. Venango street; Mary Smith, 21, 3493 Weikel street; Marie and Helen Brennan, 25 and 23, 123 E. Harold street, and Marie Kelly, 23, 2865 N. Ruth street, all of Philadelphia.

The officers who took part in the raid were Troopers Turnbull, Rohner and Drosdick, of the Delanco Barracks; Officers Miller and Gootee, of the Riverton police; Officer Dorworth, of Cinnaminson, and Justice of the Peace Bowers. The raid was made after a complaint had been made by Maurice Conrow, of the Cinnaminson Township Committee.

After their arrest early Sunday morning the prisoners were put in the new jail in Riverton's new Fire House. They were the first prisoners to be lodged in the new jail.

Justice Bowers warned the offenders to either stay away from Cinnaminson Township with their parties or shut down at a reasonable hour, so as not to annoy the citizens living near their house. Each prisoner was reprimanded sternly by the justice.

Chief of Police William Quigley came on duty and remained on duty until after the officers returned from raiding the "whoopie" party.

While the police were raiding the "whoopie party" they also picked up Mrs. Edith Carnish, 44; colored, of Parry, on a warrant and complaint of Mrs. Hattie Williams. Mrs. Williams accused Mrs. Carnish pf using abusive language and threatening her.

Justice Bowers fined Mrs. Carnish $10 and $6.25 costs.

George Simmons, 21, colored, also of Parry, and son of Mrs. Carnish, was arrested for assault and battery and robbery committed against John Bauers, white, of Palmyra, January 26, 1929.

After committing the crime Simmons skipped away to Newark, N. J., and from there to Delaware, and then to Philadelphia, returning to his home in Parry last week. Officer Dorworth learned of the boy's return and aided in his arrest. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Fichter, Sunday, and was committed to the Burlington County jail without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, but was later released under $200.00 bail.

Simmons was arrested by Troopers Turnbull, Rohner and Drosdick.

ARRESTED FOR GRAND LARCENY

Servant Stole $40.80 From Her Employer in Two Weeks

Ethel Thomas, 29, colored, of Beverly, was arrested Monday by Trooper Drosdick on charges of grand larceny made by Mrs. Shelesinger, of Edgewater Park, for whom she had been working as a servant for about two weeks.

Ethel Thomas was accused of stealing a total of $40 from the home of Mrs. Schelesinger. She was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Kingdon, of Mount Holly, and was committed to the County jail in default of $500 bail.

Ethel Thomas pleaded not guilty but said she was willing to work out the amount if that was agreeable to Mrs. Schelesinger.

BOYS JAILED FOR DOING GOOD TURN

Game Warden Arrests Palmyra Lads for Moving Dying Fish to Fresh Water

Two Palmyra boys, Charles Simmons and Walter Wolf, were arrested by Game Warden Bernd, of Delanco, last Thursday afternoon when he caught them taking fish from the "turnout" near River road, Palmyra, just west of Pensauken creek.

Despite their plea that they were taking the fish because the water was being drained off and they intended to transfer them to other waters to prevent their dying, the warden arrested them and they were arraigned before Recorder Diehl in Pensauken Township.

Diehl imposed a fine of $40 and $20 cost against Simmons and $20 fine and $10 cost against Wolf. They were sent to the Camden County jail in default of the fine.

They remained in the jail until Saturday when their fines were paid. In the meantime every effort was made to reach some one with authority in the case, but agents of the Fish and Game Commissioner denied responsibility and refused to act.

No charge of selling the fish or of benefiting in any way was brought against the boys. Their only offense was that they did not get a permit to move the fish.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT MYSTERIOUS COMEDY

Play to Help Finance Washington Trip Will Be Staged Tomorrow and Saturday

The Junior Class of the Palmyra High School will present the mysterious comedy, "A Full House," in the High School Auditorium Friday and Saturday.

The members of the class have worked very hard and are now ready to give the townspeople a real treat in the form of some peppy entertainment.

Miss Ermyn Jewell, the coach, reports the play is coming along very well and it promises to be one of the most successful ever held in the High School. The sparkling wit of this comedy will give everyone an excuse to laugh and the dog catcher's first case will entertain some mystery.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Junior Class. Reserved seats are seventy-five cents; general admission, fifty cents.

The proceeds from this play will be put into the class treasury to help finance the trip to Washington next spring.

LEGION AUXILIARY

All members are urged to be at the Legion Home tonight not later than 7.15 p. m. to be ready to start the Poppy drive when the siren sounds at 7.30 p. m.

This is one time of the year we need your hearty co-operation and it is hoped each member will be ready and willing to give her support this evening. All ladies who have uniforms are requested to wear them.

The regular monthly business meeting of the unit will be held in the Legion Home next Wednesday evening, May 21, at 8.30 p. m. Plans for Memorial Day will be made at this time.

County meeting will be held in Mount Holly tomorrow (Friday) evening.

Don't forget the cake sale Saturday, May 17. This sale is in conjunction with our Poppy sale. Have your friends place their orders for a cake Saturday. Help make this a big success.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for kindness extended during our recent bereavement and also those who sent cars and flowers to the funeral.

FREEHOLDERS NOT TO REVERSE COURTS DECISIONS

Refuse to Remit Fines of Two Bootleggers Who Are Old Offenders

ONE PAYS $1000 FINE AFTER PLEADING POOR

Markiewitz Produces Full Amount After Attorney Fails To Get Rebate

A persistent effort is being made by attorneys for bootleggers to induce the Burlington County Board of Freeholders to remit fines which have been imposed by the County Court.

For three successive meetings Budd Rigg, attorney for Alfred Marchesi, of Burlington, has asked the Board to remit a fine of $2,400, claiming that his client could not raise the money, and that his family was in financial straits owing to his incarceration. Each time the Board has refused to interfere with the sentence imposed by the Court.

The first request for leniency in the case of Marchesi was referred to County Solicitor Harold B. Wells, who took the matter up with Judge Charles A. Rigg, before whom Marchesi was tried. It was learned that Marchesi was an old offender, this being the sixth time he had been arrested for bootlegging. Since his last arrest his wife has also been arraigned before Judge Rigg for bootlegging on her own hook. Under the circumstances the Freeholders could see no reason why they should interfere with the sentence of the Court.

Another Plea for Clemency

At last Friday's meeting Stanley K. Heilbron, attorney for Edward Markiewitz, another Burlington bootlegger (who was serving his seventh sentence), made a plea for clemency for his client, who had been sentenced to three months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000. The jail term had been served and Attorney Heilbron asked the Freeholders to remit one-half of the fine. He said

DANCE RECITAL FRIDAY EVENING

Mrs. Alexine Tomes to Hold Exhibition at Riverton Porch Club

The annual exhibition of Mrs. Alexine Tomes' dancing classes will be held in the Riverton Porch Club this Friday evening.

An unusually large number of attractive solos, demonstrating the types of dancing taught by Mrs. Tomes, are included on the well-rounded program. There will also be several exhibitions of class work.

In addition to numbers by Palmyra and Riverton students, some of the outstanding pupils in the Moorestown and Delanco studios will be seen in some clever solo and group numbers.

"Buddy" DeLaney, popular eight-year-old Riverton boy, will demonstrate his skill with the drums, as one of the features of the recital.

Mrs. Tomes' studio is in the Lions' Club Rooms, Society Hall, Palmyra.

SPRING FESTIVAL AT WESTFIELD FRIENDS' SCHOOL

The Spring Festival of Westfield Friends' School will be held on Thursday, May 22nd, at ten o'clock. The "Townfolk of Westfieldia" will celebrate their annual May Day in the palace gardens in honor of Princess Lydia, when their different groups will entertain her with songs, dances and dramatizations.

Immediately following the program the sixth class will hold a fair, at which they will sell cakes, candy, plants and various useful articles.

Merit Plus Advertising Is Credited for Success

In an interview with G. H. Mosby, president of the Mosby Medicine Company, makers of Konjola, he was asked by newspapermen to what he attributed his marvelous success.

His modest reply was, "Whatever success we have had is due to the merits of Konjola and the selling power of newspaper advertising, properly and consistently applied."

The Mosby Medicine Company spent over $1,700,000 in newspaper advertising alone during the past year. Mr. Mosby says that since the inception of the company, seven years ago, it has never discontinued a contract once placed with a newspaper. In other words, in every paper to which a Konjola advertisement has ever appeared that same paper is still carrying the copy regularly.

Praised by Sunday

ROSCOE C. SHINN

Popular Sheriff of Burlington County, who was highly complimented by the Rev. William A. "Billy" Sunday last week for his activities against the bootleggers. His deputy, Charles Carslake, also came in for a share of the praise.

SUNDAY PRAISES SHINN-CARSLAKE

Evangelist Compliments Sheriff and Aide for Enforcement Work

Sheriff Roscoe C. Shinn and Under-Sheriff Charles Carslake were publicly commended for their activities against bootleggers in a sermon by Billy Sunday at the Mount Holly Tabernacle last week.

Calling the sheriff and under-sheriff to the platform during rounds of applause from hundreds of W. C. T. U. members in the congregation, Sunday shouted:

"I've heard of the wonderful work that the Burlington county sheriff has been doing and I want to commend him."

Shinn and Carslake sat on the platform during the remainder of the service. Great applause from 4000 persons who crowded the tabernacle greeted their appearance and continued until the evangelist waved for silence.

"You've got a lot of bifocal judges who see dry out of one eye and wet out of the other," Sunday declared. "We've got them clear from the courthouse to Congress. You tell me prohibition is an invasion of personal liberty. Sure it is, to crooks. Every law on the books is an invasion of personal liberty for the dirty dog who wants to break that law.

"Is prohibition a failure?" Well then, why are all you wet guys so het up over it."

Motioning five young boys to the front of the platform Sunday told the audience that "there stands the raw material which bootleggers are seeking to make the weak-kneed, weak-minded lascivious and criminal man of tomorrow.

"Are you going to sit and not fight to make prohibition so tight that you won't be able to squeeze a drop of whisky from a whisky bottle this side of Canada," he asked.

"It would be a million times worse to repeal the liquor law than let it alone. You've got to vote for a dry man. I'm a Republican, but if the Democrats put up a dry man and my party one who was wet I would vote the Democratic ticket."

Mrs. Elizabeth K. Brown

Mrs. Elizabeth K., widow of the late Rev. Amos Brown, of Riverton, died at the Mount Holly Hospital Saturday, where she had been for the past month.

Mrs. Brown was a member of the choir and a faithful worker at the Mount Zion A. M. E. Church, of which the Rev. Seymour H. Barker is pastor. Services were held Wednesday at 1 o'clock at the church, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. R. B. Smith, presiding elder of the Camden-Trenton District of the N. J. Conference of the A. M. E. Church.

Interment was made at Mount Peace Cemetery on the White Horse pike, under the direction of Frank A. Snover.

Mrs. Brown was well known in the community and throughout the general church and leaves behind a host of friends to mourn her loss.

The Rev. Samuel T. Boyd, who is executor, had charge of the funeral arrangements. Mrs. Mary Emma Anderson, a sister, survives. Mrs. Anderson was a guest in the home of Rev. Boyd, at East Riverton, during Mrs. Brown's illness. The Rev. Boyd is ex-presiding elder of the New Brunswick district, and now has a pastorate at Jersey City, where he will move in the near future.

RIVERTON'S PARK PLANS RAPIDLY TAKING SHAPE

Concrete Grandstand to Take Place of Memorial Building in New Plan

CHANGE IN TRAFFIC LIGHT THIS MONTH

Will Move Signal to Corner of R. R. Station; Automatic or Hand Control

Plans for the development of Memorial Park occupied the center of the stage at the meeting of the Riverton Borough Council, Thursday night of last week.

Stanley Stewart, architect, presented tentative plans for a concrete grandstand to take the place of the proposed memorial building. The grandstand will have a roof, and in the base there will be room for storage, toilets, dressing rooms for boys and girls, etc. The approximate cost is $4,000.

Following the discussion on the grandstand and other items in the proposed development of the park, an ordinance was presented by Councilman Joshua S. Bartley, chairman of the Finance Committee, providing for the issuance of temporary notes in the amount of $15,000 to take care of the following expenditures, should it be decided by Council to make them:

Construction of Dam on Pompess Creek	$3,500.00
Cleaning out Bushes and Obstructions in Area to Be Covered by Pond or Lake	500.00
Grandstand, Rest Rooms and Toilets	4,000.00
Open Air Pavilion	500.00
Concrete Skating Rink	2,000.00
Improving Roads and Walks	1,000.00
Trees, Plants, and Planting Same	500.00
Miscellaneous Expenses	2,000.00
	$15,000.00

Good Word for Chief

Chief of Police William Quigley was given a word of well-merited praise by Director of Public Safety DeLaney when he offered a resolution adding $5 a month to the salary of the Chief. Mr. DeLaney said that Officer Quigley had been appointed Chief at no increase in salary, but that he had shown so much interest in the duty of his new office that he felt he was entitled to a raise. Chief Quigley has been putting in fourteen and sixteen hours daily on active duty and in supervision.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Bartley and unanimously passed.

In reporting on traffic conditions in Riverton Director DeLaney said that the department expected to have the traffic booth removed and a signal light placed on the corner of the railroad station platform within two weeks. The new traffic stand will operate automatically or can be manipulated by hand.

GAME WARDENS SHOULD BE SPORTSMEN

The State Fish and Game Commission would do well to look into the acts of some of its agents.

The arrest of two Palmyra boys last week and their subsequent detention in the Camden County jail for three days for nothing more than a technical violation of the law should not go unnoticed.

The only charge against the boys was that they were moving fish from one body of water to another without having first obtained a permit. Their reason for moving the fish was that the water was being drained off and they were dying in great numbers.

There was no reason to believe the boys could benefit in any way from their act. They were not charged with selling the fish or otherwise disposing of them.

Being true sportsmen at heart they could not stand by and see the fish die from lack of water when they could be saved and placed in a lake where they might furnish sport to other disciples of Isaak Walton in the future.

The boys are to be commended for their sportsmanship; certainly they should not have had to suffer for such an act.

The rash and unreasonable acts of game wardens have come up for censure before, but it seems they are slow to learn. The answer would seem to be the appointment of real sportsmen to protect the fish and game rather than to persecute those who seek to do so.

It would have been a kind and considerate act had Warden Bernd assisted the boys in moving the fish and one for which no one would have censured him.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON ZONING ORDINANCE

The proposed zoning ordinance for the Borough of Riverton will be submitted to the public at a meeting to be held in the Auditorium of the Riverton Fire House, Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock.

PATRIOTIC ORDER ANNUAL BANQUET WELL ATTENDED

More Than Two Hundred Members on Hand for Thirty-seventh Anniversary

REV. ROBERT WHYTE MAKES FINE ADDRESS

"American Institutions" Subject of Discourse Which Lauded Ideals of Nation

One of the most enjoyable affairs ever staged in Palmyra was the thirty-seventh anniversary celebration of the founding of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., held in the lodge hall, Monday night.

Well over two hundred members were on hand to take part in the festivities, which opened with a splendid banquet served by McAllister's the well known Philadelphia caterers.

Preceding the banquet Pastor George Lockett was introduced by the toastmaster, Mayor George N. Wimer, and pronounced the invocation. Following this he led in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The state officers present were introduced by the toastmaster and received generous applause. The charter members were introduced one at a time, by Mr. Wimer, who is also a charter member and one of the organizers of the Camp. The others were Albert Giberson, George Seel, Frank Toy and John Hinkle. About thirty of the past presidents were present and received an ovation as they were asked to rise.

Beautiful Decorations

The decorations, which were left by the courtesy of the Sons of Italy, following their annual ball a week before, were truly magnificent. The hall was beautifully draped in varied colored crepe paper and streamers which presented a charming effect of pleasing color combinations.

Music was furnished by Stanley Black and his Commanders, a newly organized orchestra of mostly local talent. The selections of the musicians were pleasingly rendered and much appreciated. Many favorable comments were heard on the splendid musical program.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Robert Whyte, pastor of the historic First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia. His talk on "American Institutions" was one of real value and was ably presented.

He sketched vividly the great benefits of freedom carefully guaranteed in that greatest of all human documents, the Constitution of the United States.

Internal Dissent

A part of his discussions were related to freedom in religion. He admonished the Protestant peoples to avoid internal dissent and to give their thoughts to a better understanding of each other.

Another point stressed by the speaker was that of political fredom. He told how the two most outstanding presidents of the past century came from opposite extremes of society — Lincoln and Roosevelt. Lincoln born in a Kentucky log cabin, without schooling and without wealth, but yet he ascended the heights of political achievement to gain the presidency; Roosevelt, born of wealthy parents in the city of New York, with every advantage and yet he became the champion of the rank and file of his fellowmen.

The Rev. Mr. Whyte referred to the public schools of the country as the "Fundamental American Institution" and made the plea that they always be kept free from all influence which might interfere with their historic freedom.

Lauds American Home

The last point mentioned was that of the American Home. The speaker, himself a naturalized American, and ineligible to membership in the order because of his foreign birth, having been born in Scotland, lauded the home as the very bulwark of the future and the inspiration of the past.

He stressed the evils of divorce, which he would prevent, by raising the requirements of marriage. He called attention to the fact that one could obtain a marriage license with much less trouble that he could get a license to operate an automobile.

The speaker's hour was all too short for his interested listeners, and upon completion of his discourse a rising vote of thanks was accorded him, in which he was enthusiastically applauded.

Following the dinner the members adjourned to the lodge rooms for the regular business session. The following State officers were present and made short speeches: Erdman V. Baker, of Gloucester, State president; the Rev. Lawrenson Correll, of Bradley Beach, State vice-president; George W. Smith, of Phillipsburg, secretary; Howard Mercer, of Pensauken, State treasurer.

Make Short Addresses

County President Howard T. Jarrett, of Bordentown, and Past State President Neil Jameson were present and made short addresses.

A feature of the session was the presence of a corps of the Volunteers of America from the Merchantville Camp, who offered to assist in organizing a similar unit here.

The work of Edson Carhart and his committee was highly praised, as the entire evening was without an incident to mar its success. Everything was well planned and the various events on the program were completed to the entire satisfaction of all.

Sunday evening preceding the banquet a large delegation attended services at the Baptist Church, where Pastor Lockett preached a splendid patriotic sermon.

The Friday before this was P. O. S. of A. Night at the Billy Sunday tabernacle in Mount Holly. A beautiful American flag and staff was presented to the evangelist by County President Howard T. Jarrett on behalf of the Order.

The flag was presented to Billy,

Accident in Which Moorestown Man Lost Life

Above is shown the sedan in which George Clark, colored, of Moorestown, lost his life when it was struck by the P. R. R. eastbound gas-electric train at the Borton's Landing Road, Moorestown, Saturday afternoon. Clark was instantly killed. Clark's car, authorities believe, stalled in the path of the on-coming train. He was attempting to leap to safety when the crash occurred.

100 DEFENDANTS IN COUNTY COURT

Defendants Summoned by Grand Jury Action Admit or Deny Guilt

Criminal matters had precedence in Judge Rigg's Court at Mount Holly Thursday of last week, when due to the fact that more than a hundred offenders against whom indictments were found by the April Grand Jury were in to plead, Judge Jess, who had been conducting Court in the main Court Room all the week, gave way to Judge Rigg, and the Circuit and Supreme Court cases were moved to the second floor, while Judge Rigg heard the pleadings in the main Court Room.

Judge Frank Matthews and his District Court occupied the former Grand Jury room on the second floor south side of the building.

In addition to the pleadings of the indicted offenders, several were in on waivers, among them being John H. Kay, Jr., of Camden, and Arthur Foersom, of Chester, who admitted that they stole chickens from at least fourteen farmers in this County. Kay also pleaded guilty to having a revolver in his possession.

These two young men were captured in Mount Holly by Officer "Buck" Smires and they had sixteen chickens in their car at the time.

Judge Rigg wanted time to consider sentence, and they went back to the County Jail for one more week.

Sebastiani, Aleric, of Delanco, who kay and Foerman say was in on the thefts, refused to plead guilty, although he admitted being with them on at least one of the trips.

Edgar Blackwell, of Bordentown, charged with jumping a board bill of $200, admitted that he owned his landlady board, but said it did not amount to $200 and that the reason it had not been paid was because he had been out of work.

He was released under a suspended sentence and will be on probation for one year.

Pleadings and Sentences

Very few of the defendants elected to plead guilty to the charges as read by Prosecutor Eastwood, but some did, however, and a few were sentenced immediately, but most of the guilty ones will be back this Thursday for final disposition of their cases.

Those who pleaded guilty were as follows:

Henry Wells, Florence, larceny of an overcoat, sentenced to jail for thirty-five days, to date from time of original commitment, April 8.

John Kundash and Joseph Devin, of Florence, malicious mischief.

Clarence Vernon, Burlington, gambling and disorderly house.

Hamlet P. Ghaul, Jr., Burlington, obstructing an officer.

Harry Russo, Riverside, obtaining money under false pretenses.

Alphonso Henry, Burlington, desertion.

Lois Bailey, of Eugene, Ore., received a silver trophy given by H. A. Moses, of Massachusetts, in a contest for the outstanding 4-H girl of the United States.

Mirrors of Morrow

When Dwight W. Morrow arrived at Amherst College in 1891 he found in his class a quiet, self-contained young man from Vermont, Calvin Coolidge. Both boys were poor and had no special advantages except that they both came from homes where integrity, stern honesty and a true sense of values was stressed and practiced by their parents.

Morrow was a mixer and soon became one of the most popular men in his class. Coolidge was well liked, but his shy nature kept him from the wide range of activities in which his classmate indulged. Both had a strong aversion to "bunk."

When the senior class voted as to who would be the most likely to succeed all but one vote was cast for Dwight Morrow. That one vote was the vote of Morrow and he voted for Coolidge. The friendship of their college days has ripened through the years.

MRS. DARLINGTON YWCA PRESIDENT

Burlington Co. Officers Elected at Annual Membership Meeting Saturday

Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon, was re-elected president of the Burlington County YWCA at the annual membership meeting Saturday, May 10, at the home of Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, near Moorestown. Other officers of the association are Mrs. William Matlack, of Moorestown, first vice-president; Mrs. Barclay Allen, of Vincentown, second vice-president; Miss Helen Woolman, of Riverton, third vice-president; Mrs. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., of Riverton, secretary, and Miss Gertrude Brick, of Crosswicks, treasurer.

New members elected to serve on the Board of Directors for a term of three years are Mrs. Charles Barton, of Marlton; Mrs. Charles S. Beckwith, Pemberton; Mrs. Albert Kirby, of Medford; Mrs. Clifford R. Powell, of Delanco; Miss Hannah Severns, of Burlington, and Mrs. Burton E. Thresher, of Moorestown, while Mrs. J. Harvey Borton, of Moorestown; Miss Gertrude Brick, of Crosswicks; Mrs. Lester Collins, of Moorestown; Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon; Mrs. Lawrence Parsons, of Burlington; Mrs. Louis Rauser, of Medford; Mrs. William Ross, of Vincentown; Mrs. Caroline Warrick, of Rancocas, and Miss Helen Woolman, of Riverton, were re-elected to serve for a term of three years.

The reports showed that there is a constantly increasing field for the association to work here in Burlington County.

In the afternoon a folk festival of music was presented by some of the clubs of the County with the girls giving songs and dances which they had been learning during the year. The musical was under the direction of Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong and Miss Catherine Kerlin, of Moorestown; Miss Alice Lippincott, of Riverton, and Miss Dorothy Burr, of Pemberton. About two hundred and fifty were in attendance.

Nature Leader Secured

Mrs. Florence Conrad Griscom, of Roslyn, Pa., has been secured as the director of nature study at the YWCA camp for girls at Ockanickon, August 6 to 27.

For several years girls have found the woods at camp a fascinating place for learning more about the out-of-doors. With the bringing of Mrs. Griscom they are assured of a leader with a vast experience in this line of work. For years she has been connected with the nature work at the Mitten Estates, near Philadelphia, and her home, Briar Bush Bird Sanctuary, is well-known by nature lovers. In addition to Mrs. Griscom other leaders are being secured for other interests at Ockanickon.

Registrations for camp are being received daily at the YWCA office and girls who wish to attend should send their registrations soon. Camp will be held for three weeks, August 6-27, and registration from Burlington County is limited to forty-five for each week.

Mother-Daughter Meeting

The Indian Mills Girl Reserves entertained their mothers on Thursday evening, May 8, with a party at the school. Songs, playlets and poems expressing appreciations of the mothers were given by the girls. An interesting little play depicting every girl seeking for the best in life and being helped by Girl Reserves to choose wisely, told something of the ideals of the club. Miss Sidonie Schafer, of the County YWCA, was the speaker.

A delicious supper prepared and served by the girls was much enjoyed.

Senior Council to Meet

The County Council of Senior Clubs will have a picnic supper on Monday evening, May 26, at 6.30 o'clock, at Miss Madge Huff's cabin, on the Rancocas. At this time the senior club delegates to the Detroit Convention, Beatrice Shadell and Helen Pitko, will give their reports. All members of senior clubs and business and industrial girls are invited to be present.

MOORESTOWN MAN INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

George W. Clarke, Colored, Dies as Auto Stalls on Grade Crossing

WAS ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE WHEN STRUCK

Demolished Machine Carried Hundred Yards by Gas-Electric Car

George W. Clark, highly respected colored resident of Moorestown, was instantly killed when the old Cadillac sedan he was driving was struck by a gas-electric Pennsylvania Railroad train at the Borton's Landing Road grade crossing about 3:58 Saturday afternoon.

An investigation by Chief John H. Bradshaw, of the Moorestown police, and Coroner William Young, of Burlington, indicated that Clark's machine had stalled on the tracks, in the path of the on-coming train, which was said to have been traveling about 35 miles an hour.

Witnesses of the tragedy say that Clark realized his peril and was attempting to escaped when the train, which was east bound, hit his car, completely demolishing it. The door beside the driver's seat was open, and one of the victims's feet were on the running board when the crash occured.

The wreckage of the machine was carried at least a hundred yards from the scene of the accident, it is said, and the body was dragged fifty feet east of the crossing. Clark was driving toward Main street on Borton's Landing Road.

Coroner Young, in his verdict, indicated that the victim had died instantly. Clark's head was crushed and arms and legs were badly broken. The body was removed to the Henry Rambo morgue shortly after the accident.

Monday Thomas Ford, 517 Haddon avenue, Collingswood, the engineer, other members of the train crew and witnesses gave their statements to Ellis Parker, chief of the Burlington County detectives, at Mount Holly. Among the witnesses were John T. Fitzgerald and Raymond Applegate, both of Moorestown, August Klemm, of Riverside, and George Scheirer, 653 Washington street, Camden. Fitzgerald and Applegate are employed by Thomas Dolly and Son, whose property backs up to the railroad along Borton's Landing Road. Scheirer is a Camden Scoutmaster. He was walking down Borton's Landing Road with several boys when the accident occured.

Clark who was about 47 years old, was one of the most highly respected colored residents of this section. He was well educated, being a graduate of Bordentown Industrial School and Tuskeegee Institute and formerly was a school teacher in several places including Bordentown and Downington, Pa.

He was active in civic and musical among his people and was the leader of the affiliated colored Church choirs of Burlington county at the time of his death. He operated a farm on Creek Road, near Borton's Landing Road. He was born in Virginia, but had lived in this section since he was eight years old.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Moorestown colored Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. S. H. Hill, officiating, assisted by the pastors of the various Churches where Clark had been active with the choir. Interment was made in Wrightsville Cemetery with Funeral Director William Grobler in charge.

Clark was the father of nine children, six of whom are living. In addition to the six children, Mrs. Clark survives him.

TRANSPORTATION BODY ENDORSED

Moorestown Chamber of Commerce Directors to Support Work of Citizens Association

The board of directors of the Moorestown Chamber of Commerce met at the office of the secretary, Roy D. Cole, Monday evening, and by motion went on the record as endorsing the Citizens Better Transportation Association.

The Chamber, according to a report of the secretary, urges that the people of Moorestown get behind this movement and boost it to the greatest possible extent.

During the discusion, the thought was developed that a number of promient townspeople feel that unless the people who do use the transportation facilities do their part toward obtaining better transportation for Moorestown, the town will suffer considerably in developing.

New people will not move into a town where the transportation facilities are poor, the Chamber directors feel.

DOCTOR TO EXAMINE PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

Physician to Be at Delaware Avenue Building Every Thursday Afternoon at 3.00 O'Clock

Dr. H. W. Bauer, Palmyra school physician, has expressed his willingness to be in the Delaware Avenue School every Thursday afternoon at three o'clock to examine all children who will enter school in September so that any defects may be noted and corrections made before school opens. This is in line with the summer round-up sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

If the children who come under this classification, who are now receiving toxin-antitoxin treatments, will be at school early this Thursday afternoon, their examinations may be made at that time.

The P. T. A. appreciates the cooperation of the Board of Health in supplying the toxin-antitoxin and of the school doctor, and school nurse and various members of the P. T. A. who are giving their time to help conduct this program toward the betterment of the health of the children of Palmyra.

EAGLE SCOUTS TO CONSTRUCT CABIN

Building To be Erected in Shade of "Old Hickory" at County Camp

With the camping season just "over the hill," Burlington County's Boy Scout summer retreat near Cooktown presents a scene of great activity every weekend. Both grounds and buildings are being thoroughly cleaned up and new cabins are being erected.

It is expected that construction of the Eagle Scout cabin will get under way this week and that work will be completed in time for use during the approaching season. When finished, this cabin will be one of the show spots of the camp.

Beneath the gigantic branches of stately "Old Hickory", this Scout home for those who attain the highest honors in scouting, will be situated. Just as "Old Hickory" must be looked up to by every other tree in the surrounding woods, so the boys who occupy the cabin in its shade will be looked up to by their fellow scouts.

Then too, a trail will be built through the camp leading to the Eagle Scout cabin. Along this path will be constructed huts, fireplaces, and similar objects to represent each station in scouting. Pilgrimages will be held by the boys once or twice a year along the trail.

At each stopping place those scouts who have reached that particular station in scouting will stop, and brief ceremonies will be held, with the purpose of attempting to encourage the boys to continue along the path of scouting until they attain the highest scouting honor.

Carlton Tillinghast, of Burlington, is president of the Burlington County Eagle Scout Association. John Erickson, Maple Shade, is treasurer, and Davis Simons, Burlington, is secretary. All Eagle Scouts are eligible for membership, as are the County Executive, Camp Commissioner, and Sea Scout.

Three robbers attempting to loot a residence in Evanston, Ill., were captured by a police dog.

COUNTY BANKERS HOLD FINE DINNER

Annual Event Attended by More Than Three Hundred and Fifty

Walter H. Armstrong, of Bordentown, was elected president of the Burlington County Bankers' Association at its annual dinner meeting in the Hotel Walt Whitman, Camden, Thursday evening of last week, taking the place of E. Eayre L. Williams o,f Riverton, and Nelson D. W. Pumyea ,of Mount Holly, was elected vice-president. John I. Parker, of Maple Shade, was elected treasurer, taking the place of Mr. Armstrong.

The new officers were installed at the close of the dinner program.

The annual dinner was attended by more than three hundred and fifty guests. An excellent program was prepared by the dinner committee and every minute of the festive occasion was thoroughly enjoyed. The decorative effect was pink and what with a profusion of this beautiful color and many lovely flowers the dinner setting was a perfect one.

Howard Eastwood, of Burlington, prosecutor of pleas of Burlington County, served as the toastmaster, and performed that office with mastery and grace.

The principal speaker was the Rev. C. Estornelle, D.D., rector of St. John's Church, Camden. Dr. Estornelle took "The Open Door" for his topic and named three of them—the spiritual open door, the open door of mastery of mind, and the open door of good will. He said that no matter the handicap spirituality will assert itself and come through the open door. He also declared that the master of the mind would prevail. He pointed to John Milton, the famous author of "Paradise Lost," saying that although he was blind his brilliant mind continued to function and his poems continued to come through the open door. Dr. Esternolle also referred to Miss Helen Keller, whose blindness in no way prevents the part she is playing in the great scheme of things.

And in speaking of the open door of good will ,Dr. Estornelle said that one can take no more out of life than one puts in it; that we cannot give a little and expect much; that we must give freely if we would reap bountifully.

Senator Clifford R. Powell, of Delanco, who was a guest of honor, made a brief address in which he referred to the high standing of the Bankers' Association and the delight of the annual dinners. He also told of the great community good that the bankers were doing.

Assemblyman Marcus W. Newcomb, who was enlisted as an honorary guest, was unable to be present, and the same was true of William J. Couse, president of the New Jersey Bankers' Association.

The honorary guests included Albert T. Middleton, of Moorestown, State Treasurer.

Miss Margaret Freeman, of Philadelphia, was mistress of ceremonies. She introduced the Lyric Trio, which gave a number of delightful selections; Charles Frink, who played charmingly on his banjo; Eckert and Moore, who did some pleasing comedy work, and Christy who performed masterfully on his accordion.

Prizes were awarded. There was a beautiful bouquet at each table and some lady sitting at the table won it. Men were given cigarette holders. Many fine souvenirs were given.

Following the speaking program there was a dance that added much to the pleasure of the evening.

The dinner committee was composed of Nelson D. W. Pumyea, chairman; E. Eayre L. Williams, of Riverton; Armitt Ridgway, Walter H. Armstrong, of Bordentown; Theodore H. Budd, of Pemberton, and David B. Robb, of Burlington.

Boy Scouts Honor Mothers, Entertaining Them at Banquet in Lutheran Church

Three Candidates Receive Tenderfoot Investiture; Program of Varied Interest Presented by Lads and Their Guests is Greatly Enjoyed

Mother's Day was appropriately observed by Palmyra Boy Scout Troop No. 2 last Thursday when the scouts held a dinner in the Lutheran Church with their mothers as the guests of honor.

Fifty-eight mothers and their scout sons were present and at a signal given by the toastmistress, Mrs. Ida Chandler, each son presented his mother with a white carnation.

The evening's program was opened with the singing of America, Mrs. Alfred Van Osten at the piano, and a prayer by Mrs. A. H. Zayotti. Following this, a dinner, prepared by the scouts, was served.

After the dinner was finished Mrs. Ida Chandler gave an excellent talk on "Mother", in which she also pointed to the value of scout training in its relation of the proper training of boys. Her reading of James Whitcomb Riley's charming poem, "Mother", was deeply appreciated.

Tenderfoot investiture services then followed in which Scouts Pierson, Rogers and Van Osten were invited. This was conducted by the deputy commissioner of the Burlington County Council, W. H. Brady.

Scoutmaster A. E. Fry, of Troop No. 2, introduced the troop committee to the scout mothers, after which he outlined the history of the troop, elaborating upon the tests of scouting, the value of the "Good Turn," and the general value of scouting in its effect upon moulding the character of the boy.

Mrs. R. E. Sanford and Mrs. Charles Don told of the beneficial effect scouting had had on their sons. Mrs. Ralph S. Rivers sang several beautiful selections.

An exhibition of the Indian and Sun Dances was given by members of the Pathfinder Patrol of the troop and Scout Lew Jordan demostrated his ability as a bugler. The evening's program was brought to a fitting close in the usual Scout fashion.

Garwood — Evans

Mabel Bartram Evans, of Mariton, and Samuel Garwood, of Medford, were married in the Friends' Meeting House, at Cropwell, Saturday afternoon, at four o'clock. Miss Evans is the daughter of Mrs. Abigail L. Evans and Mr. Garwod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Garwood, of Bank street, Medford.

The bride wore an eggshell satin princess model, with matching tulle veil, caught on each side with a cluster of pearls. Her shower bouquet was formed of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Anna L. E. Stiles, the bride's rister, attended as matron of honor. Her gown was of pink organdie, and her large horsehair picture hat was in the natural shade. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

The bridesmaids, Irene Garwood, a sister of the bridegroom; J. Ruth Lippincott, Margaret Lippincott, of Marlton; Isabelle Mowry, of New York City; Mary V. Javis, of Philadelphia, and Sarah E. Wilkins, of Medford, all wore frocks of organdie, and carried arm bouquets of spring flowers.

Miss Garwood and Miss Wilkins appeared in a soft shade of peach, Margaret Lippincott and Miss Wowry in green, Miss Javis and Miss J. Ruth Lippincott in lavender. Their horsehair hats matched their frocks.

Donald W. Garwood, of Medford, attended his brother as best man, and Milton J. Atkinson, of Mount Holly; John E. Bridegum, of Hainesport; Edward Winters, Robert B. Sax, of Overbrook, Pa.; Harry C. Troland, of Philadelphia; William G. Figoni, of Springfield, Mass., acted as ushers.

Mrs. Garwood is a graduate of Westtown School and Peirce School, of Philadelphia. She has been employed at the Moorestown Trust Company for the past two years. Mr. Garwood attended Mount Holly High School and later graduated from Lehigh University.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, on Cooper avenue, following which the young couple left on their wedding trip to St. Simon's Island, Ga.

They will be at home after June 15, at the Greene Manor, Germantown, Pa.

Census Enumerator Asserts Authority

When Ezra Bowker, of New Hanover Township, refused to make answers to proper questions propounded by Census Enumerator Maurice Lippincott on Wednesday, and later ordered the questioner off his premises, and it is said threatened him also, complaint was made before Recorder M. Warner Hargrove, at Pemberton, and Bowker was immediately arrested and incarcerated in the County jail.

This is the first case of this nature reported in Burlington County, and the outcome will be watched with considerable interest.

High school Senior girls will care for the little children in the kindergarten room.

FRAZIER FINED AS RECKLESS DRIVER

Cinnanminson Man Penalized $15 as Outcome of Crash in Which Car Burned

"Danny" Frazier, colored, of Cinnaminson township, was fined $15 and costs as the outcome of an accident on Tuesday evening, April 29, at a hearing before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Moorestown Town Hall Thursday evening of last week.

Frazier was driving a Buick touring car, owned by Joseph O'Neil, Moorestown landscape contractor. The car was totally destroyed by fire when it careened about the road, overturned and caught fire after it had sideswiped a Buick coupe, owned and driven by LeRoy Jordan, also colored, of Bridgeboro, on the Bridgeboro Road just below the Hartford-Westfield Road.

Bridgeboro and Moorestown fire departments responded to a call, but it was impossible to save the blazing auto.

Jordan's coupe was damaged about the front. The drivers were the only occupants in the two cars. They escaped serious injuries, being only slightly bruised.

DRYS MAKE GAINS IN DIGEST POLL

Three More States Join Enforcement Column in Huge Straw Vote

Three more states voted bone-dry in The Literary Digest's main poll on prohibition, as the total vote tabulated passed the four million mark, according to last week's issue of the magazine.

North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee are the states which have joined Kansas and Arkansas in voting over 50 percent. for strict enforcement.

Only three states, Connecticut, New Jersey, and Rhode Island have a majority vote for repeal.

Of the 4,150,117 votes in the eighth and current report of the major poll by the magazine, $1,248,589, or 30 percent. vote for enforcement; 1,231,849, or 29.68 percent. register for modification; and 1,669,579, or 40.23 percent. are for repeal.

While there has been no marked change in the ratios of the three groups, it is noted that there is a general trend in the later reports towards a dryer vote.

For the first time since the poll started the vote for enforcement passes that for modification.

Kansas continues to lead as the dryest state in the poll and Connecticut also continues to head the wet column.

Although there is no clear majority Louisiana and New York each have a vote of over 49 percent. for repeal.

Over 40 percent. of the vote in Alabama, Colorado, Iowa, Mississisppi, Nebraska, South Carolina, and Texas is for enforcement while in Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and the District of Columbia over 40 percent. of the ballots are registered for repeal.

"The big poll continues to smash all records for returns," Dr. William Seaver Woods, editor-in-chief of The Literary Digest states. "With over four million individual sentiments already tallied in this huge undertaking and with hundreds of thousands of votes yet untabulated, we feel that the poll must have a tremendous interest to the public.

"We have been advised by 67 newspapers throughout the country that they are conducting local polls to check our returns in their own section. Where the check-up has been at all exhaustive we have been advised that the newspaper returns vary but slightly from ours."

Tax Rate Between .. $4—$5 Predominates

Two hundred and thirty out of the 559 taxing districts in New Jersey have a tax rate between $4 and $5 per $100 of valuation, according to the 1930 figures recently made public by the State Board of Taxes and Assessments.

There are only 32 districts ranging between $2 and $3, and only one in the State below $2. That one is Bordentown Township, Burlington County, where the rate is $1.85 this year. There are 121 districts with rates between $3 and $4 and the same number running from $5 to $6. Forty-three reported rates from $6 to $7 and in the $7 and $8 class there are eight districts.

The highest district tax rates in the State are three in number. Oxford Township, Warren County, has $8 even. Washington Township, Burlington County, is next highest with $8.30, and Tuckerton Borough, in Ocean County, tops them all with $8.43.

The figures were announced by the State Tax Board in its campaign to obtain equality districts. Inequalities are responsible for the high tax rates, the board declared.

TRIO OF MOTOR LAWS VIOLATORS PENALIZED

Two Reckless Drivers and Speeder Pays $5 Each in Police Court

Three motor laws violators were arrested and fined in Moorestown over the weekend. Two were charged with reckless driving and the third was penalized for speeding. Each was fined $5.00 and costs at a hearing before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Town Hall.

The offenders were: Andrew Slowey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrested Saturday by Officer Ralph Marks for reckless driving.

Cade Lafues, 955 Randolph street, Philadelphia, arrested by Officer Walter A. Errickson on Saturday and charged with reckless driving.

J. W. Bingham, Long Island, New York, arrested Sunday and charged with speeding,the arrest being made by Officer Walter A. Errickson.

EXPERT TO PILOT GREAT AIR LINER

Ray Loomis, Graduate of U. S. College of Aeronautics, to Fly Ford Ship

Ray Loomis, pilot of the giant Ford tri-motored all-metal Monoplane which is being brought here June 7 and 8, through the courtesy of the Fortnum Ford agency, was formerly on the staff of pilots at the Ford airport at Detroit, operating a Ford tri-motored plane on the Chicago to Detroit run, one of the regular Ford airlines operated on a daily schedule.

Mr. Loomis has had varied experience flying transport ships. Previous to his joining the Ford staff he flew the night air mail from Los Angeles to San Francisco. This line is operated by the Pacific Air Transport and covers a distance of approximately 400 miles.

Having begun his training at Brooks Field, Texas, in 1922, Mr. Loomis, after graduating, entered the United States College of Military Aeronautics at Kelly Field. He graduated with honors at the completion of the course with the rating of airplane pilot.

In charge of the maintenance of the ship is Myron Hightower, Flight Engineer, who is an expert on Wright motors as well as on the construction of Ford all-metal monoplanes. He spends an average of four hours each day in checking and inspecting every part of the plane before he gives an O. K. for the ship to fly.

WINS ESSAY PRIZE

Dorothy Mullowney Second in League of Nations Contest

Miss Dorothy Mullowney, of Linden street, a senior in the Moorestown High School, recently won second prize of $10 in the League of Nations essay contest among high school students in this State.

Announcement of this award was made Tuesday by the New Jersey Branch of the League of Nations Association.

Her essay was entered in the national competition and won honorable mention. This is an exceedingly creditable showing, since in the national showing there were only three prizes and four honorable mentions.

NOTICE

All readers or local notices of entertainment, suppers, fairs, dances, etc., given for the purpose of raising money, will be charged for at the rate of fifteen cents a line. The New Era Office is equipped to do all kinds of Fine Printing at reasonable prices.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

The New Era is a Legal Newspaper. Commissioners', Sheriff's and other Sales, Administrators' and Executors' Advertisements are solicited. The New Era will appreciate being remembered in this connection.

GRAFTING UPLIFTERS

Some time ago the commissioner of public welfare of New York declared that many so-called charitable agencies divert to the use of their own personnel at least 50 per cent of the money collected from the public.

This statement was made before a conference of charities and corrections, and coming from such an authoritative source is entitled to consideration.

Many "welfare" campaigns are conducted by professional workers on a percentage basis, whereby the promoters and their associates reap great personal benefits, according to the commissioner. These "social workers" are often only social parasites, who exploit the generous impulses of the ordinary citizen for their own profit and glorification.

This should not deter charitably inclined persons from giving to really worthy causes through reputable agencies like the Red Cross and Salvation Army, for instance, but it should be a warning against fly-by-night organizations which exist principally for the purpose of giving a lot of pseudo uplifters an opportunity for easy pickings.

TO FLY THE PACIFIC

Next Fall it is planned to span by airplane the world's greatest expanse of water from east to west, the Pacific Ocean. At City Island, N. Y., a giant seaplane designed to make the trans-Pacific trip is being constructed.

According to the announcement, the new plane will have a wing spread of 150 feet, will be propelled by 10 motors, and carry a pay load of eight tons.

In the light of the rapid advances in airplane engineering which have taken place recently there is no reason to doubt that the plan may be successfully carried out.

BRIDGE FIEND TEST

Considering the great spread of the bridge-playing industry, it is strange that none of our legislators has had any laws passed for its regulation. Now comes a suggestion that players be compelled to pass an examination before being licensed to indulge in the game.

The suggestion comes, not from a United States Senator, but from an editor, whose zeal for the public welfare has been aroused by a report from Kansas City, where a wife shot her husband. The victim was also the lady's bridge partner, it appears, and when he bid one spade and another player plunged on a different suit the wife raised to four spades. The husband was set, blaming the wife for reckless bidding, and as a result of the argument she shot him.

Now, the aforesaid editor asserts, all persons who aspire to play bridge should be caused to pass a rigid test, not with reference to their skill, but to determine their mental poise. If the applicant is unable to be set or have an ace trumped without showing undue emotion, a license should be denied.

The trouble is that such a law, if enforced, would practically eliminate all who take the game seriously.

THE NOSE - COUNTERS

Many amusing stories are being told of the woes of Uncle Sam's census enumerators, who have been laboring faithfully during the last few weeks to get an accurate count of our population, together with such other information as the census act requires.

In Iowa an enumerator found a man whose house stood on a county line, and whose bed had its head in one county and its foot in another. After due consideration it was decided that the "head of the family" was in the county in which the head of his bed was located.

President Hoover was required to confide to the enumerator that he was able to read and write, and that he was married to his first (and only) wife at the age of 25.

One nose counter made 12 cents extra by happening to arrive at a home a few minutes after triplets had been born. In another case a baby had not been named and the enumerator suggested the name of Alice, which was accepted by the parents.

A few census takers admitted that they had habitually added some 10 to 15 years to the ages given by certain ladies in their territory, when their questions had appeared to be embarrassing.

One lady enumerator was unable to get information from a Chinese who thought she was trying to obtain a laundry package without presenting her ticket.

PROFITS

The Ford Motor Company earned $81,797,861 profits in 1929. That was the first profitable year since 1926. In 1927, when the factory was shut down for six months while new machinery for the production of Model A was being installed, the company lost $42,786,727. In 1928 while the market for Model A was being built up, the company lost $72,221,496.

Those are amazing figures. No less amazing is the Ford report of cash on hand on December 31, 1929, totalling $346,937,496. Most of this is money on deposit, subject to check. For many years Henry Ford has carried a larger cash balance than any man in the world ever had.

Only a closed corporation like this, in which all of the stock is owned by one man, his wife and his son, can do business on such a basis. In other corporations, stockholders demand distribution of assets in dividends. Mr. Ford once told me that the reason he bought out his other stockholders, Senator Couzens and the Dodge Brothers, was because they wanted dividends and he wanted to use the profits to enlarge the business and reduce the cost of production. If he had not had such enormous cash resources he could not have weathered the crisis which the abandonment of the old Model T caused. As it was, the loss of $115,000,000 in two years was a mere incident.

CROSSINGS

Nearly half of the 30,000 annual deaths in automobile accidents in America occur where highways cross railroad tracks on the same grade. Some States have begun work on programs of eliminating every grade crossing, compelling the railroads to pay most of the cost. The Federal Government is taking an active part in this movement, in the case of roads which are built with Federal aid. Since 1917 4,676 grade crossings have been eliminated on Federal Aid roads.

It is not always necessary to build a bridge over the railroad or a subway under it. Only 995 of these crossings were eliminated in that way; the others were abolished by the simple means of relocating the highway itself.

One of the things that is going to come about in America is a highway system in which this cause of accident and death will be absent.

BOOKS

Guests at the White House as well as future Presidents will have plenty of good reading matter for their leisure hours, if any. A committee of the American Booksellers' Association has selected a library of five hundred volumes which has been presented to the United States for the White House library.

Undoubtedly many additions will be made to this nucleus, and some of the books will be less read than others, but there are many among them which will never die. In the list are such great American classics as Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," such truly great books as Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and Kingsley's "Westward Ho," as well as many of the great histories, biographies, books of travel and of poetry, in addition to the best of the works of the writers of today.

Leaving out the modern, whose work still has to stand the test of time, and limiting it to books more than twenty-five years old, this library contains within itself all the elements of a complete, well-rounded education. I ca nthink of no better way to bring up young folks to a high standard of morals, honor, courage and duty than to turn them loose when children in the company of the great masters of literature.

TELEVISION

The other day I sat in a little room on Bethune street, New York, and talked face to face with a man in another little room on Dey Street, three miles away. I could see him and he could see me, as plainly as if he were in the same room. The conversation was as if we were talking across a table—no telephone instruments to speak into or to hold to the ear.

That was the first public demonstration of two-way television. It works. The electrical engineers who explained it told me that it will work over ten thousand miles by radio as easily as over those three miles by wire.

It is still very expensive to install and maintain. It will be cheapened. Very soon there will be little rooms in every important center of population, like the ones Mr. Campbell and I sat in, to which anybody can go and for a fee talk to people hundreds of miles away, seeing them as if face to face.

Television is another age-old dream come true.

A lion escaped from a circus in Berlin, but was captured and dragged back to his cage by an elephant.

WHAT MAKES A JOB GOOD?

One morning the elevator starter was breaking in a new elevator-boy.

At noon the new boy was running the car alone. He had on a uniform, and was starting and stopping with the confidence of a veteran.

From apprentice to professional in a couple of hours.

What thoughts are in that young fellow's head as he receives his instructions from the gray-haired veteran?

How can he fail to look forward and see in the older man a picture of himself twenty years from now.

He is taking up a low paid job—a job with no future. Twenty years from now he will be just where he is today—only older, with a grasp on the job somewhat less secure. His experience will count for nothing, because it is experience that any other man can gain in a couple of days.

He may from time to time force an increase in his pay. But the increases will not be large. Why?

Because he learned the job in two days. And in any other two days the company can find plenty of men who will learn just as fast and take the job away from him.

Recently I met in a hotel restaurant a friend of mine who has just come back from England after taking special work in surgery under some of the greatest men in the world.

He is thirty-one years old; it is fourteen years since he entered college.

For ten of those fourteen years he has been in medical schools, in hospital, and in foreign countries studying.

Fourteen long years of hard, uninterrupted study. Years made more difficult by the necessity for self-support: and filled sometimes with questionings, as he has seen his college classmates moving forward to their places as well paid physicians, and he lingering still in school.

Yet with what result?

He has acquired a specialized training such as only a few other men in New York possess.

He will begin his life with an income of several thousands; he will pay back his educational debts in a couple of years; in ten years his income will be tens of thousands.

Fourteen years of his life went into the mastery of his profession. But he need have no fear of losing what he has gained. No other man can displace him, except at the cost of fourteen years of work.

And when he said it he epitomized the philosophy of Business.

The job that the gods sell for two hours' training is worth just what it costs.

Only that job is worth much which has tied to it the price tag of constant, unceasing study and work.

Editorial Comment

DWIGHT W. MORROW

For the next six weeks New Jersey will be the theatre of a political contest in the Republican primaries between former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow. The campaign will be watched with intense interest throughout the country. The interest is due entirely to the candidacy of Mr. Morrow. For outside of his own immediate following there is no interest in Mr. Frelinghuysen as such. He has occupied various offices in New Jersey. He has been a Senator of no distinction whatever and of uncertain convictions. The people of New Jersey have passed upon his record and rejected him once. Since his defeat he has performed no noticeable public service and his main energies seem to have been devoted to seeing whether he could assemble a somewhat more popular set of opinions than those on which he was defated the last time. At the moment he seems to be staking his hopes of victory on an appeal to the self-interest of local politicians and upon a rather recent conviction that, after all, in spite of years of political dryness, he is now a wet. He is, in short, a mere office-seeker who, if he were nominated and elected, would add not one shred of distinction to the State of New Jersey and no additonal wisdom, capacity and experience to the deliberations of the Senate.

The contrast presented by Mr. Morrow is striking. On the basis of achievement in public affairs of great moment he would be among the few at the very top of any list of living Americans. Indeed it would be difficult to find a half-dozen men in active public life today who have dealt at first hand with such a range of public questions. In the realm of finance and of business his competence will not be disputed. He is a lawyer of distinction. He has been the intimate adviser of one President. In the Diplomatic Service he has dealt with the very greatest issues of our time.

There is no need to rehearse in detail the service he rendered to the United States as Ambassador to Mexico. It is enough to say that he took the post at the darkest hour in the relations between the two countries and that he has made peace in a region where bitterness prevailed. In the annals of American diplomacy there is no finer chapter than the Morrow mission to Mexico. It has been a practical demonstration of what understanding, not as a rhetorical phrase but as a daily practice, can achieve in protecting the peace, the honor and the cordiality of this hemisphere. He proved, what the cynical and the selfish had always denied, that it is perfectly possible without resorting to violence to safeguard not only every tangible American interest in Latin America, but to safeguard the larger American interest in maintaining the good will of Latin America.

There are among the active peacemakers two classes of men: there are those who rely upon large generalizations, fervent rhetoric and ingenious machinery, and then there are those who believe that the way to make peace is to deal concretely with the sources of trouble, to understand and to settle, and by understanding and settlement of problem after problem to establish the habit of settlement and understanding. Mr. Morrow is not one of the generalizing and rhetorical statesmen. He belongs to the concrete-minded, to those who prefer to settle one thing right than to settle everything rhetorically.

It is these qualities of mind and character which ought to make him one of the great figures i nthe Senate. New Jersey will not find a man in whom it can take a greater pride. If any one is ready, then he is ready, to throw a healing light upon the contentious issues which today divide parties into factions and the country into sectional and class alignments. What he will say about this issue or that we shall not attempt to anticipate. The issue in New Jersey is deeper than the particulars which are debated. It is whether under popular government the absolutely first-rate man can capture the popular imagination, whether the voters of New Jersey, with a clear opportunity to choose the best they have, will make the most of it.—New York World.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

VACCINES

Some time ago I attended a meeting of my medical society, the program being a sort of symposium—"What I Know About Vaccines"; all members were to participate in the discussion. After several interesting talks, one physician noted for his terseness and pointed expression, arose and said, "I can tell you in very short time what I know about vaccines—not a damn thing!"

Nevertheless the vaccines have come to stay. With their judicious and timely use, typhoid fever has all but become a thing of the past. We have learned to depend upon immunizing effects of certain vaccines, and thus prevent colds and like respiratory infections. It is believed that we can immunize against influenza, and I am perfectly sure that I have so in many instances. Just how long the immunity holds good we do not known very definitely.

It is not to be wondered at that we don't know a very great number of things, such as the invisible line of immunity; but we do know that certain vaccines keep off certain diseases; the principle has been proven in our rather crude method of vaccinating against smallpox. With diligent safeguarding we have almost banished that scourge from our shores.

Some individuals have complained to me that, "as soon as winter sets in I get a cold that stays with me till warm weather comes"; and this very season I have vaccinated several that missed their "colds" this year so far. Your own physician, if you consult him about it, will do his utmost to prevent your getting sick, and he will know the best preparation to employ in your case. Of course, there are many worthless preparations made to sell; that is the case with every branch of the health game. A vaccine, or immunizing preparation, made by a reliable, well-known manufacturer, is dependable.

AGAIN KONJOLA SHOWS WHY IT HAS WON FAME

Father Is Grateful for New Health Modern Medicine Brought Himself and and Daughter

MR. WALTER CROOKS

"For five years I had a lot of trouble because of constipation, and I could find nothing to give me more than temporary relief," said Mr. Walter Crooks, 35 Commercial street, Holyoke, Mass. "I felt tired and listless all the time; had no energy and was steadily losing in strength. Stomach trouble contributed to my misery. After eating, I had to endure awful misery and sickening pains in the pit of my stomach.

"After a fellow workman sincerely recommended Konjola, I began the treatment, and now I am enthusiastically praising this new medicine. My bowels act normally, and that old dread of the after affects of meals is gone as I now eat heartily and never have a trace of indigestion. I feel better in every way than for years. My five year old daughter had no appetite; was weak, and underweight. Konjola surely improved her health and now she has a good appetite. Konjola proved the right medicine for both of us."

That's the kind of medicine Konjola is . . . one that keeps the faith; that brings results; that makes good. A complete treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for thorough results.

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

GOOD PROSPECT FOR FRUIT CROPS

Low Temperatures Caused Little Damage in County, Says Smith

Many conflicting reports regarding the amount of frost injury to the fruit crops have been issued this spring, particularly since the recent cold snap.

L. R. Smith, Associate County Agricultural Agent, has made a personal examination of the amount of injury caused by low temperatures in all sections of the County and reports that in general the prospects at this time are for a good crop of fruit this year.

Surprising as it may seem, the low temperatures caused very little damage, this in spite of the fact that early blooming varieties of apples and peaches were in bloom. The dry atmosphere and the fact that the change in temperature was not sudden, giving the buds a chance to harden, probably are the factors which prevented severe damage occuring.

There is generally a light set of buds of Yellow Transparent, Golden Delicious and Wealthy, this being the off year for these varieties. Starrs are somewhat spotty. Those orchards in which a heavy crop was produced last year are rather light, while in other orchards there is a very heavy setting of bloom. On all other varieties of apples there is generally a good setting of bloom and although there may have been some of the buds injured by frost, the amount will have no bearing whatever on the total yield of fruit. In the Vincentown section, there probably will be some reduction in the crop of Red Delicious, which can be attributed to the cold weather.

The peach crop in Burlington County will be short, not because of the influence of cold weather, however. The dry weather experienced last summer influenced materially the amount of fruit buds set on Elberta. Probably as high as 70 per cent. of all the peach trees of bearing age in the County at the present time are of the Elberta variety. Many thousands of trees of both early and late varieties have been taken out. There has been little injury to peaches from the cold weather, except in those orchards around Mount Holly and Vincentown, where the damage has been rather severe. Elbertas have a much heavier set of blossoms in the riverfront section than in other parts of the County.

Cherries are probably injured more than any other tree fruit. The Early Richmond variety, especially will have a light crop. The Montmorency variety had a great many buds killed during the winter but based on the amount of bloom, the crop may be estimated to be around 65 to 70 per cent.

All pear blossoms examined were found to be in good condition and at present there is prospect of a good crop of all varieties.

Some frost damage was found on Premier and Aberdeen varieties of strawberries, but a majority of the buds were not far enough advanced to be injured.

Reports from other sections of New Jersey are to the effect that in some sections a large percentage of fruit buds have been killed, but due to the heavy setting of buds, probably the total yield of fruit will not be reduced to any great extent.

Will Increase Police Protection

The automatic operation of the new signal light will release for patrol duty the officer who has heretofore been confined to the booth directing traffic. Mr. DeLaney pointed out that another advantage of the new system will be the removal of the present obstruction to traffic caused by the booth. It will also make possible the operation of a directing light at all hours instead of the part-time service which is often confusing to motorists.

Department Well Organized

Mr. DeLaney presented to Council for inspection a day book in which all activities of the Police Department are recorded each day, including requests for information, telephone calls, complaints, etc. From this book each day's business is transferred to complaint dockets and other court records where court action is involved.

The Director was complimented by the Mayor and his fellow Councilmen on the thoroughness and efficiency with which he is organizing the department.

Mr. Delaney submitted the report of the activities of the Police Department for the past month as follows:

Report of Police Department

The following report covers the activities of the Police Department as reported by Chief of Police Quigley, from April 6th to May 6th, 1930:

Chief of Police Quigley and Officer Miller are to be commended for their prompt action in the capture of two armed bandits who held up and robbed the Gulf Service Station at Burlington pike and Moorestown road at 11.15 p. m. April 26th, 1930. Ten minutes prior to this robbery, the bandits held up, assaulted and robbed the attendant of a service station in Maple Shade and escaped. Upon receiving notification of the robbery of the service station on Burlington pike these officers formed a dragnet by telephoning all towns within several miles of Riverton and advising the various police departments of the robbery. Their vigilance was soon rewarded, for the bandits were picked up by the Merchantville police and turned over to the Mape Shade police, and are now in the Burlington County jail awaiting a hearing before the Grand Jury. This is the second time within three months that this station was robbed and the bandits captured.

Call from H. W. Wright, 200 Linden avenue, at 10.40 p. m., April 21st, 1930, revealed that his home had been broken into by persons unknown. Upon investigation the police found only one room was ransacked. Nothing of real value was taken. The unknown parties entered by forcing a window on the sun porch. A careful study was made of the marks on the doors and window. A pair of pliers were found which fitted the marks perfectly. Later, Mrs. Wright advised the police that she believed she knew the guilty party and requested that the matter be forgotten.

Several complaints have been received from a number of our citizens regarding mischievous boys. A careful checkup is being made by the Department regarding these boys, and their parents will be duly notified.

A bicycle owned by Howard Elliott, of Fourth and Elm avenues, was reported stolen. The police have a description of this wheel and are endeavoring to locate same.

Hylton Smith, Jr., nine years of age, of Linden avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Richard Graff, of Eighth street. Junior was taken to the office of Dr. Rogers, who put one stitch in his face. He also suffered from bruises and shock. Witnesses who saw the accident said it was unavoidable. No complaint was made.

Herbert Frank, of Bellevue, East Riverton, was arrested on a warrant from East Orange, New Jersey. Frank was charged with sending threatening letters to a woman of East Orange. He was turned over to two detectives, who returned with him to East Orange.

Director DeLaney reported a complaint by Biddle Atlee about a storm sewer at Second street and Elm avenue, the opening of which was so large that there was danger of children falling into it. The matter was referred to the Sewer Committee.

To Pave Howard Street

Councilman Robert H. Clelland, chairman of the Highway Department reported that the gutters had been cleaned and some patching done on the streets. He recommended that Howard street, from Fifth street to the improved portion near Main, be top-dressed with Amelsite, which could be put down over the present foundation. All other forms of reconditioning, he said, would require scarifying the roadway and building a new surface which would cost considerably more than the Amelsite method, which could be done for about $1,000.

"Terry" McDonald requested permission to erect a refreshment stand near the swimming pool in Memorial Park. Councilman Elwell suggested that it would not be wise to permit anyone to erect buildings of any sort on public property, and recommended that the Borough should own a refreshment stand which could be built in conjunction with two proposed dressing rooms for boys and girls. The matter was referred to the Property Committee for consideration.

The Building Inspector's report was read, covering operations amounting to $7,411 and fees of $21.50.

Riverton Girl Play Director

Mr. Elwell, chairman of the Property Committee, reported that he had secured the service of Miss Maxine Meitzner as play leader for girls for July and August. Miss Meitzner is taking a course in the Sargent School of Physical Culture, Boston. The play leader for boys has not yet been engaged.

In speaking on the lake proposition, Mr. Elwell said that he had secured consent of all the abutting property owners except T. Bayard Brunt, and he is willing to have the dam constructed if he can be protected in certain matters which he set forth in an agreement which he had prepared. After the agreement had been read Mr. Elwell offered a resolution accepting the terms thereof, which was unanimously passed.

Mr. Brunt's proposition will now be submitted to the Borough attorney and if it meets with his approval the Borough will then be in a position to enter into a formal contract, if the Mayor and Council so decide.

R. R. Crossing Raised Again

Mr. Clelland reported that in the process of repairing the railroad crossing at Thomas avenue the railroad company had raised it about three inches. He said that he had stopped the work when he saw that the tracks were being raised, but that after a few days operations were resumed. If these increases in elevation were allowed to go on it will soon be impossible to use this crossing, declared Mr. Clelland.

Mr. DeLaney expressed the opinion that it was the deliberate purpose of the railroad company to make this crossing so high that motorists could not use it. He pointed out that it had been the desire of the company for many years to close this crossing, and he thought that this was all a part of the game. The Mayor spoke very pointedly about these encroachments of the railroad company, and the clerk was instructed to address a communication to the company asking them to send a representative to an adjourned meeting of Council which will be held Thursday evening, May 15th, to explain why the tracks were being gradually raised, and why work was resumed after it had been stopped by order of a Borough official.

Mr. DeLaney, who has a penchant for statistics, said that since the subject of empty houses in Riverton had been brought up two or three months ago, he had had an opportunity to see the result of a survey made by the Real Estate Board of Camden County. He submitted a list of some of the towns in that County and the number of empty houses as follows: Camden City, 1,586; Pensauken Township, 183; Audubon, 73; Bellmawr, 19; Berlin, 22; Barrington 18; Brooklawn, 27; Clementon, 62; Collingswood, 98; Chesilhurt, 27; Delair, 15; Delaware Gardens, 17; Gibbsboro, 12; Gloucester City, 140; Gloucester Heights, 18; Glendora, 20; Haddon Heights, 21; Haddonfield, 82; Hi-Nella, 12; Kirkwood, 10; Lawnside, 29; Laurel Spring, 29; Lindenwold, 18; Magnolia, 18; Merchantville, 81; Mount Ephraim, 445; Oaklyn, 38; Runnemede, 67; Somerdale, 38; Stratford, 25; W. Collingswood Heights, 13; Westmont, 42, and Woodlynne, 31.

Riverton, he said, had the highest percentage—about 8 per cent.

Hartshorne — Pohlke

Miss Doris Pohlke, daughter of Otto H. Polhke, of Linden avenue, Collingswood, and Clarence Hartshorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. artshorne, formerly of South Church street, Moorestown, were quietly married Monday evening, at the home of the bride, with the Rev. Frederick B. Morley, pastor of the Moorestown Methodist Episcopal Church officiating.

She was tastefully dressed in a gown of pink georgette and wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas and lillies of the valley. She was unattended.

The ceremony was private, with only members of the immediate families and intimate guests present.

A wedding supper followed the marriage.

The bride has been organist at the Moorestown Methodist Episcopal Church for the past three years, and has won many friends for herself in this vicinity. The bridegroom is president of the Moorestown Alumni Association, president of the Epworth League, and a member of the firm of Hartshorne and Company, Housemovers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartshorne left for a trip through New York and New England. They will be at home on South Church street after May 20.

"ALUMNITE"

Members of the Palmyra High School Alumni Association are completing plans for an informal reception and dance to be given in honor of the graduating class of 1930.

In former years there has been little done to receive new members into the association, but with the activity shown this winter by the present committee, a gala event for the Seniors is assured.

The Riverton Country Club has been engaged for Friday, June 6, and a popular seven-piece orchestra will furnish the music. Plans are not yet complete for the reception program, but it promises to be full of surprises.

BOY SCOUTS TO PRESENT FLAG

Counsellor's Association to Arrange for Escort to Unfurl Emblem Each Morning

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors' Association was held Tuesday night in the American Legion Home.

Ralph S. Rivers, president of the association, presented a number of timely suggestions relative to various lines of activities, which he thought would be of decided benefit to the Boy Scouts, and to the association. These suggestions were discussed at length and action will be taken to bring about the fulfillment of their purpose.

The association has authorized the purchase of a flag to be presented to the town of Palmyra, in the custody of the Boy Scouts, which is to be unfurled each morning with ceremony by an escort composed of Scout members.

Richard E. Wilson suggested that three cups be provided, and presented, as a stimulus to the Scouts, one to be given annually to the Troop which presents the most outstanding marching excellence during the parade held on the Fourth of July; the others to be presented semi-annually to that Scout of each Troop who by secret ballot of the Scouts is chosen as one who has attained the highest degree of Scout excellence and conduct.

Mr. Rivers spoke at some length relative to the number of fathers of Scouts who as yet have not shown apparent interest in their sons to attend the association's meetings, and help with this work which is of so much benefit to their sons. He makes a strong appeal to them to be present at the meetings which are held on the second Tuesday of each month at the Legion Home.

ARMITT COATE IS Y'S MEN'S SPEAKER

Secretary of State Bankers' Association Tells of Organization's Work

Armitt Coate, secretary of the State Bankers' Association, was the speaker at the last Y's Men's meeting in the Moorestown Community House. Mr. Coate attributed a great deal of the present steadiness of business in the face of difficulty to such associations throughout the country. The New Jersey Association was established in 1803.

The State Bankers' Association, according to Mr. Coate, not only acts as a clearing house by establishing credit clearing houses and information centers, but renders other services to the banker and to the public as well.

By keeping banks reserves within the state, the properity of New Jersey is increased. It educates bankers along better methods of business, and the public to the services that may be attained through banks.

Many other interesting things about the association and its business were received with a great deal of interest by the club.

A number of Y's Men will journey to Salem Country Club this Thursday evening to enjoy the annual Planked Shad Dinner of the Salem Y's Men. A number of other clubs in this vicinity will be represented.

Mrs. Mary Hyass, 50, of Kennan, Wis., won the grand sweepstakes prize of $1,000 and the title of America's champion home canner with a quart of green peas entered in the national contest held in Chicago. She also received $250 for the best jar of vegetables.

Mrs. Alice Plunkett, of Hull, Eng., was arrested for obtaining a cake for her wedding by fraud.

TIME FOR SPRING RADIATOR CLEANING

Thorough Flushing and Complete Removal of Scale and Sediment Increase Cooling Efficiency

Most water used in automobile cooling systems carries a small amount of lime and other substances in solution Sometimes it carries small quantities of silt or solid matter in suspension. When this mineral or silt bearing water is heated and circulated through the cooling system it leaves deposits of sludge or mud or a coating of scale in the cylinder jackets and water passages of the radiator. Also a certain amount of iron rust is formed in the water jackets and may join with the other impurities in the water or may accumulate in the jackets and radiator. This mud, scale or rust interferes with the flow of heat from the cylinder heads and cylinders into the cooling water and with the escape of the heat from the water into the air that passes through the radiator core.

To insure cooling effectiveness the system should be drained every month and flushed with clear water, and should be cleaned with a suitable scale and sediment removing compound in the spring when the antifreeze compound is drawn off, according to Clinton B. Woolston, proprietor of Woolston's Garage, Riverton.

"In recent years," Mr. Woolston says, "the practice usually approved for radiator cleaning, outside of the regular radiator shops and large automobile service stations, has been to use ordinary washing soda or lye dissolved in water to loosen the sediment and scale. With engine running on retarded spark and radiator covered and radiator cap on tight, the circulating water and chemical is circulated at a boiling temperature for a few minutes. Drain cocks are then removed, or better, hose connections detached, to permit the water to drain rapidly and carry with it the loosened sediment, scale and rust.

"Lately the engineers of one prominent radiator manufacturer, after exhaustive research, have developed a special preparation which they recommend as being more effective than washing soda for radiator cleaning and at the same time non-injurious to the brass, copper, soldered joints and hose connections. Several chemical copanies offer preparations for the same purpose, some of which exert so forceful a corrosive action or set up such electrolytic action that injury may result to the thin metal or soldered joints unless the directions on the container are followed explicitly.

"To insure the most thorough cleaning," Mr. Woolston adds, "it is better after the chemical treatment has been completed to disconnect hose from both the top and bottom of the radiator and from both top and bottom of cylinder block and remove the thermostat and then flush both radiator and cylinder jackets with a full stream of water from the hose. Flushing should be both from bottom up and fro mtop down to remove all accumulations.

"The cooler engine and cooler radiator that will result from thorough cleaning of the system twice a year and from draining and flushing once a month during warm weather will amply repay the owner for the trouble he takes in giving the cooling system the service attention it needs or the small expense of having the work don in an authorized service station.

"The thoughtful driver interested in securing the best possible performance from his car has the engine oiling system drained and refilled on a definite mileage basis and has the rear axle and transmission flushed and the lubricant renewed each season. If twice-a-year radiator cleaning and frequent flushing during the warm season is not on his schedule for motor car care, it should be added."

Radiator service may be obtained at Woolston's Garage.

MRS. LOUISE B. SHERMAN

Mrs. Louise B. Sherman, nee Faunce, of 5338 Osage avenue, Philadelphia, formerly of Palmyra, died Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services were held from the late residence yesterday afternoon. Interment was made in Morgan Cemetery, Palmyra.

She is survived by her husband, J. Leason Sherman, two sons, and her father, Lemuel Faunce.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sherman were former residents of Palmyra and Mrs. Sherman is the niece of Mrs. D. M. Clifton, of Riverton.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"MORTALS AND IMMORTALS" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 18, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh." (II Corinthians 5:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." (II Corinthians 5:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science reveals the glorious possibilities of immortal man, forever unlimited by the mortal senses." (p. 288).

PALMYRA NINE STILL IN LEAD

Win Over Riverside is Third Straight in County High School League

Palmyra High won its third straight game in the Burlington County High School League Friday when it trounced the strong Riverside nine by a score of 7 to 1 on the latter's field.

Although the winners were held to four hits by Seaman, who occupied the box for Riverside during the entire frame, the loose playing of the home team in the field, gave the Pals several opportunities to romp over the plate when they would ordinarily have been hard pressed to score.

The "Pals" stepped right into a three run lead when they produced a trio of tallies in the second frame, and then added another in the third. They were blanked in the fourth, however, but came back with two in the fifth and marked up their final run in the sixth.

Seaman and Gootee hurled fine ball, the former fanning 14 men, while the later pushed him hard, totalling one less when the final out was called. Gootee failed to allow a single walk, while Seaman passed five.

Snyder and Miner proved the slugging aces of the tussle, the former colliding with a two bagger and a triple, while Miner socked a timely three base bingle in the fifth. Kaplan also marked up a double in his scoring column.

The box score:

With Len Miccuci hurling in brilliant form, Coach Ken Dimond's Palmyra High School tossers chalked up an impressive victory over the Audubon High School nine here Tuesday afternoon by the score of 4 to 1.

Miccuci allowed the minions of Coach Clark Glies only a pair of bingles, a double to Bob Wheatly and a single to Walker. In turning in the splendid performance, Miccuci set down eight opponents by the strikeout method, while only permitting three passes.

"Pop" Dempsey, on the other hand was touched for six safeties, the "Pals" bunching these in the two frames in which they scored, a pair of markers, in the third and fifth sessions. Dempsey also was wild in his offerings to the Palmyra batters, for no less than eight lads reached first by the free pass route.

Scheer led the attack for the winners with three hits in as many trips to the plate, one of which was a double, while Kelley smacked out a pair of singles for the "Pals" and Larner managed to chalk up the sixth and final hit for the home team.

REAR MORE TURKEYS

There has been a considerable increase in the number of turkeys grown in New Jersey and other Eastern States during the last year. This increase has followed the development and adoption of effective preventive measures for the control of blackhead, a disease which for years has ravaged turkey flocks, and particularly those in Eastern States.

RIVERTON'S FIRST GAME SATURDAY

Same Team to Represent Borough as Last Year; Some New Players

The Riverton baseball team will open its 1930 season on Memorial Park Field this Saturday afternoon, May 17, with the Farnersville Club, of Burlington.

Two years ago a team of Riverton boys was organized and known as the Riverton Juniors. Last year these boys supplanted the semi-pro team of the present year and enjoyed a very successful season.

We are again presenting to you the same group of boys that played last year and sincerely hope you will give them your hearty support at every game.

When the "Ump" says "play ball" we shall see "Speed" Bottger cavorting around first base, with "John McGraw" Terrell covering the keystone sack. Our old friend, "Ike" Perkins, is covering the short field this year, and "Chick" Foulke is again at the hot corner.

"Johnny" Broderson gave up the receiving job and has captured the left field berth, with "Jack" Eisley assisting in center and "Dusky" Coles will patrol right field.

The back-stopping this year will be done by Buchholz. He will handle the "shots" of Smith, Welkman and Graham.

We have told you all the news there is up to date about the Riverton baseball team. Come out Saturday afternoon at three and see the opening game.

Don't forget us—We need YOU.

Manager.

STANFORD IS STAR IN TRIANGLE MEET

Wins First Place in Two Events; Bill Green Cops High Jump

Captain Percy Stanford, Palmyra High's outstanding track star, was easily the most brilliant performer at a triangular track and field meet held between Palmyra, Collingswood and Camden High Schools on the Forest Hill track Wednesday afternoon of last week.

While Collingswood won the match with 54½ points, the "Pals" put up some unexpected opposition in garnering 20½ points. Camden was low with 15. Both Camden and Collingswood are Class A institutions and compete generally only with larger schools in South Jersey.

Stanford outdistanced Norman Hughes, Collingswood quarter-mile ace, in the 440-yard dash. Running easily and taking the lead at the start the Palmyra colored flash was never in danger of being passed and crossed the finish line a full eight yards in the lead. Earle, of Collingswood, was third. Stanford's time was 54 4-5 seconds.

The Palmyra captain also found the 220-yard dash to his liking and covered the distance in the record time of 23 1-5 seconds. In addition to being a new meet record, this is the best time made in the furlong this season in South Jersey scholastic ranks.

Stanford's time in the 220 is all the more remarkable when it is considered that the Forest Hill track is far from in the best of condition. Had the Palmyra flash run the same kind of race at Collingswood, for example, its a sure bet that he would have set up a new state record. Stanford also ran anchor on the Palmyra relay team and gained considerable ground on Eggert, of Camden, but was unable to pass him.

One of the upsets of the day occurred when Bill Green, of Palmyra, won first place in the high jump with a leap of five feet, eight inches. Bill Conover, of Collingswood, was a lopsided favorite to win this event as he has frequently topped the bar at sif foot two. He had to be satisfied with a tie with Winters, a teammate, for second place.

Palmyra placed second in the mile relay which was won by Camden. The "Pals" were represented in this race by Bruno, Poulson, Stocker and Stanford.

Other point winners for Palmyra, were Evans, who was third in the broad jump; Dages, who finished third in the mile run, and Bruno, who had a tie for third place in the pole vault.

Next Saturday afternoon the Palmyra High track team will go to Atlantic City to participate in a dual meet with the seashore school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clowry, of Melbourne, robbed a bank of $4,000 the day after their marriage, but were caught in a few hours.

Isenberg Stars Cop Class C Honors in Delaware University Interscholastics

Moorestown Team Scores 25½ Points to Run Off With Championship in Competition With Twenty Prep and High Schools

The Moorestown High School track team won the Class C event in the Delaware University interscholastics meet last Saturday with a total of 25½ points. duPont High, Wilmington, with 15 points, was second, and Ocean City placed third, scoring 12 points.

Four hundred athletes from twenty high and prep. schools of four States took part in the meet, which was witnessed by a record crowd. Tome School, Maryland, with 45 points, placed first in the Class A event. Episcopal Academy, with 41, was second, and 18 points netted Germantown Academy third in that division.

Collingswood High nosed out Vineland, 34½ points to 32 points, in the Class B section, while Wilmington High placed third, collecting 23½ points.

Moorestown's team covered itself with glory in this fast company and virtually every man on the team did credit to the coaching of Paul Isenberg. The performances of Aubrey Walton, Harold Pond, Frank Bolton, Bernard Ott, John Hesser, John Barton and Horace Juliana was outstanding for the Class C winners.

The team has a busy schedule. Today (Wednesday) it travels to Haddon Heights to take part in a triangular meet with Haddon Heights and Collingswood High Schools. This Saturday the dual meet with the Alumni is scheduled at the South Church Street Grounds and next Wednesday there is a dual meet with Riverside High at Moorestown.

On Saturday, May 24, the proteges of Isenberg go to the Perkiomen Interscholastics, to be staged by Perkiomen Prep. at Pennsburg, Pa. On Saturday, May 31, the boys will seek local laurels in the Burlington County Track and Field Championships at Mount Holly, and Saturday, June 7, they go to Trenton to make a strong bid for the State Championships.

The Class C summaries of the University of Delaware Interscholastics follow:

220-Yard Dash—Won by Eckell Eddystone High; second Safroney, Ocean City; third, Smith, Georgetown. Time, 23 6-10 seconds.

Broad Jump—Won by Dietrick, Swedesboro High (20 ft. 2½ in.); second, H. Pond, Moorestown High (20 ft. 2¼ in.); third, Gahr, Swedesboro High (20 ft. 1½ in.).

Sprint Medley Relay—Won by Moorestown High (A. Walton, J. Barton, F. Bolton ,H. Juliana); second, duPont High, Wilmington; third, Salesianum High. Time, 2 min. 38 4-10 sec.

880-Yard Dash—Won by Bolton, Moorestown High; second, Carey, Ocean City High; third, Bolen, Salesianum High. Time, 2 min. 8 4-10 sec.

High Jump—Tie between Ott, Moorestown High, and Curlett, duPont High; third, six-cornered tie (J. Hesser and H. Pond, both of Moorestown, figured in the tie for third place). Winners, 5 ft. 3 in.

Shot-Put—Won by Lee, duPont High; second, Mills, Newark High; third, Carey, Ocean City High. Distance, 42 ft. 9 in.

100-Yard Dash—Won by Safroney, Ocean City High; second, Walton, Moorestown High; third, Lamberton, Claymont High. Time, 10 5-10 sec.

FEIRCE HAS STRONG TEAM

A squad of potential track and field record breakers is representing Peirce School on the cinder path this season. Although the season is yet very young, two marks have already been erased from the books by members of this group and many more new records seem in the offing. John Valenti, giant weight man, tossed the 12-pound shot 50 feet 8 inches to create a new record for the Columbia University Interscholastics, where Peirce took second from a field of 58 schools. Joe Lipschutz, in jumping six feet one inch, created a new high jump mark for this same meet, but his record was erased later in the day when George Spitz, world's interscholastic champion and record holder, leaped 6 feet 3 inches.

NEW PLANTING RULES URGED FOR VEGETABLES

The simple expedient of observing new spacing rules in planting tomatoes, cumbers and cantaloupes will enable vegetable growers to obtain larger yields with less labor, says C. H. Nissley, New Jersey extension horticulturist in vegetable growing. For years, he points but, tomatoes have been spaced at distances of 4 feet each way to allow the growing of 2,722 plants to the acres. "The better distance for planting tomatoes," Nissley advises, "is 3 by 5 feet. This spacing allows the setting of 2,909 plants to the acres, 182 more than the older planting rule. Furthermore, the extra foot between the rows gives more room for spraying, and for harvesting the crop."

ETIQUETTE OF GOLF

By 'FAIRWAY"

The following etiquette of golf should be observed by all golfers:

1. No player, caddie, or onlooker should move or talk during a stroke.

2. No player should play from the tee until the party in front have played their second strokes and are out of range, nor play to the putting green till the party in front have holed out and moved away.

3. The player who leads from the tee should be allowed to proceed before his opponent tees his ball.

4. Players who have holed out, should not try their puts over again when other players are following them.

5. Players looking for a lost ball must allow a two-ball match playing the whole round to pass them.

6. A party playing three or more balls must allow a two-ball match playing the whole round to pass them.

7. A party playing a shorter round must allow a two-ball match playing the whole round to pass.

8. A player should not put at the hole when the flag is in it.

9. The reckoning of the strokes is kept by the terms, "the odd," "two more," "three more," etc., and "one off three," "one off two," "the like." The reckoning of the holes is kept by the terms so many "holes up," or "all even," and so many "to play."

10. Turf, cut or displaced by a stroke in playing, should at once be replaced.

YMCA BASEBALL LEAGUE IN ACTION

Junior and Senior Divisions Played First Game Last Week

All three divisions of the Burlington County YMCA Baseball League are now in action. The Seniors opened up on Tuesday evening of last week with Pemberton playing at Cookstown and Columbus at Jobstown. Both proved to be interesting fracases.

The first games of the Junior Division were played last week, with Pemberton taking it on the nose from Beverly, 2-1. Medford and Delanco battled it to a 7-7 tie on the latter's grounds, and played it off on Monday night. Jobstown will get going this week.

Results of last week's games, Intermediate Division:

Vincentown, 10; Moorestown, 3.
Columbus, 15; Mount Holly, 2.
Cinnaminson, 11; Hedding, 2.

The Intermediates are now well under way and the standing of the teams is as follows:

Team	W.	L.	P.C.
Columbus	2	0	1.000
Vincentown	2	0	1.000
Cinnaminson	1	0	1.000
Hedding	1	1	.500
Moorestown	0	2	.500
Mount Holly	0	2	.500

Boys Visit Princeton

A group of over a dozen high school boys, under the auspices of the Burlington County YMCA, spent the weekend at Princeton University.

The boys who were in the group were Harold Faunce, Chester Pennington and Gerald Baggs, of Delanco; Walter and Thomas Price, Fred Green, of Palmyra; George Pew, Allen Long, F. W. Holbein, Steven Helhouski, Secretary Clifford Ergood and Hector Stewart, Springfield College Junior, of Mount Holly; Herbert Haines, of Medford, and Wilkins Powell and William Herman, of Moorestown.

The Burlington County group joined the Camden and Morris County groups at Princeton making a total of over fifty boys.

Jack Nelson, one of the seniors, a member of the Philadelphian Society, University YMCA, was host and guide.

Saturday afternoon the boys were the guests of the university at an Interscholastic track meet, polo game, baseball game, and tennis matches. In the evening they had an informal chat with three seniors and one junior, then listened to group singing by the seniors.

Sunday morning, Carey Weissegert, one of the students, led the group in a devotional service in Murry-Dodge Hall; then the group attended the services in the chapel.

PALMYRA LOSES IN JUNIOR GAME

League Sponsored by American Legion Comprises Eight Clubs in County

Palmyra lost to Burlington in the first game of the season to be played in the County Junior Baseball League by a score of 3 to 2.

The game was closely contested from start to finish, with many thrilling situations, in which either team might have broken up the ball game.

The Junior "Burls" scored twice in the first inning and again in the eighth to break up a 2-2 tie and win the game. Palmyra chased across single counters in both the third and seventh innings.

Games in this league will be played Monday and Thursday evenings under the auspices of the American Legion. There are eight teams in the league: Palmyra, Burlington, Beverly, Bordentown, Florence, Roebling, Moorestown and Maple Shade.

The league was organized under the rules of the National Association, which is directed by the American Legion and the major leagues. A gift of $50,000 dollars was made by organized baseball to encourage the playing of baseball among the younger boys.

Only boys who will not reach the age of seventeen before September first are eligible to compete. The winners in each County will enter the sectional tournaments and in each case the winners will go into another round, which will ultimately terminate in a National Championship series to be played in the fall.

The Palmyra team is being sponsored by Post Frederick M. Rodgers, under the direction of the athletic officer, Harold B. "Boots" Lever, and Coach Kenneth Dimond, of the High School.

Tonight Roebling will play at Palmyra and Monday Palmyra will play at Florence.

Spring Hill Joins S. J. Links League

H. F. Stockwell, Jr., president, has announced that the Spring Hill Country Club, Chester township, has joined the South Jersey Golf Association and the new club's team will play its first competitive golf this Saturday when it travels to Woodbury to meet the Woodbury Country Club stars.

The selection of team members has not been completed, says Mr. Stockwell, but everything will be in readiness for the first big match within a few days, he declares. Jules Gomez, of Oaklyn, is the captain, and the Spring Hill golfers will be under the managership of L. A. Conniey, of Haddonfield.

Other member clubs of the South Jersey Golf Association are Wildwood, Ocean City, Pitman and Woodbury.

Members of the Camden City Athletic Club are being extended privileges of the Spring Hill course, says Mr. Stockwell. A thousand courtesy cards, to Camden C. A. C. members, to be used between May 15 and July 15, are now in the mails.

PLAN OUTBOARD RACES

A meeting of the South Jersey Outboard Boat Drivers Association, was held at Township Hall, Mays Landing, Sunday, May 4. This organization, which is affiliated with the South Jersey Speedboat Drivers Association, adopted final rules for their coming South Jersey Outboard Racing Regatta Calendar for the 1930 season. There will be one continuous program of about 18 outboard racing derbies, opening at Lake Lenape, Mays Landing, Memorial Day, May 30, and the closing race, September 6, at Mays Landing, with a hundred mile marathon, the first protracted single racing event of this magnitude in the East.

6. This Ordinance shall take effect

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

EPISCOPAL

Rev. G. J. McCormack

A news item says "At Saturday's 'Football Cup Final' the community singing before the match kept the 92,000 people cheerful and in good temper. The singing of 'Abide With Me' was perfectly thrilling, even to a listener twenty miles away."

Hymn singing combined with football? It reminds us of the text, "And on the bells of the horses, was Holiness unto the Lord." Yes, every department of life can and should make its definite contribution of spiritual giving so that the life of the nation everywhere and at all times should naturally think of the Giver of all.

The singing of hymns and the closing of 233 jails mentioned in the news items of the same week are hopeful indications worthy of more than passing comment.

The Convention of the New Jersey Diocese held some very interesting sessions at Trinity Church, Elizabeth, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The Laity had things all their own way this time at the Fellowship Dinner, every speaker being a layman. The Hon. Ira W. Stratton spoke on "The Layman's Work in the Church."

The Hon. A. duPont Parker, on "A Layman's Responsibility"; William A. Cornelius, of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, on "The Work of a Lay Reader," and Mr. F. M. Pearse and Mr. R. B. Gribbon, on "Layman's Work in the Diocese." The clerical brethren seemed to be good listeners.

The Church School will hold its closing session Sunday, May 25, and the picnic this year will take place at Knight's Park, Collingswood, Saturday, May 24. Full particulars will be given in the next issue.

The play, "Tessa's Tongue," will be given at St. Paul's Church, Camden, May 20, and at St. Stephen's Church, Beverly, May 26, both under the auspices of the G. F. S.

The Candidates of the G. F. S. will give a playlet, "The Meadowgold," Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock in the Parish House.

Miss Laura Fenimore was the speaker at the District Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary and her subject was "The Diocesan Altar Guild."

Services Fourth Sunday After Easter:

10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer and Sermon, "It Happened to Me."

2.30 p. b. Church School and Address, "The Man With a Torch."

8.0 p. m. Evensong and Sermon, "Oh, What's the Use."

I pardoned every one."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager, Pastor

The Wednesday evening prayer service is a very significant factor in the life of a church. It is a barometer of the spiritual health of the church. It is also a power house for generating spiritual energy. A real prayer meeting is of greater value than can be estimated. And its privileges deserve to be used most fully. In conection with this prayer service the congregation is studying the very important message of Paul's letter to the Ephesians. It is proving to be a profitable hour.

The Women's Missionary Society will held its monthly meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Landgraf, 331 West Broad street.

The choir will hold its rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Johns, 920 Cinnaminson avenue, this evening, and enjoy a social time in connection therewith.

The Church Council has decided to hold evening services during the summer months at 8 o'clock instead of 7.45.

MORAVIAN CHURCH

Albert J. Harke, B. D. Pastor

Next Sunday the Palmyra Moravian congregation celebrates the sixty-eighth aniversary of its organization with special services.

The first beginnings of the church date back to 1853, ten years previous to its organization. In September of 1853 the first Moravian services in the community were held by the Rev. Phillip Gapp, Home Missionary in Philadelphia, Pa. These services were continued from time to time for a number of years and plans made for the erection of a church building. The outbreak of the Civil War interrupted the work and for three years the services practically ceased. But in 1863 the first church, a stone structure was completed, and on May 17 of the same year dedicated free from all debt and with a small balance of cash in the treasury. One the same day the congregation was formally organized with 19 communicant members, beginning its period of steady growth and development.

On August 10, 1902, the cornerstone of the second and present church building was laid, and the new church was opened for worship November 23, 1902. It being the custom of the Moravian Church to formally dedicate no church building until free of debt, the new church was not dedicated until May 29, 1904 after all indebtedness had been wiped out.

During the last three weeks the interior walls and woodwork of the church have been repainted and renovated in preparation for the anniversary services next Sunday.

The Anniversary sermon at 10.30 a. m. will be preached by the pastor, who on May 1 completed five years as pastor of the congregation.

Anniversary Lovefeast Service at 2.30 p. m. The speakers for this service will be the Rev. Harold L. Creager, pastor of the Palmyra Lutheran Church, and the Rev. R. K. Stanfield, pastor of the Riverside Moravian Church.

Calvary Presbyterian

Rev. C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its morning service of worship Sunday at 11 o'clock; evening service at 8 o'clock. All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 a. m. The Christian Endeavor Society invites all the young folks of the congregation to meet with them in the Church School Auditorium at 7 o'clock.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening, May 16th, at 8 o'clock in the Ladies' Parlor.

Mid-week Service at 8 p. m. Wednesday evening.

At the Sunday evening service on May 25th the Commandry of Knights Templars, Covenant Lodge, Covenant Chapter and Demolay will be present.

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Subject, "A Three Story House." Gospel Hymn song service at evening service.

The Samaritan Class held its regular monthly business meeting on Tuesday evening. Following the meeting a sketch was presanted by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Weart and Mr. and Mrs. George Erickson, assisted by Mrs. A. B. Seither, after which refreshments were served.

The children of the Happy Hour ended their season last Friday evening, by presenting an entertainment, one of the best ever given in the ning by presenting an entertainment, Church. There were several instrumental and vocal selections by the children, Jesse Tryon, Jr., of Burlington, being a special guest, rendered several beautiful violin selections. Jesse is only 9 years of age and shows great ability; his selections were of a high class.

The special feature of the evening, a Mock Marriage, was very well presented. The bride, Carol Bauer, was given away by her father, Billy Mickle. Harry Horner acted as the clergyman. The best man, Jack Seemuller; flower girl, Eleanor Hulse. The bridesmaids were Grace Horner, Helen Mansfield, Jane Hulse and Marie Frank. The ushers, Lewis Oliver, Lester Feldman, Robert Unland and August Morhuss. There was a large audience and everyone was greatly pleazed with the evening's entertainment.

After the marriage the bride presented her bouquet of sweet peas to Mrs. Walton Taylor, May 9th being the anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's wedding.

OUT OF THE AIR

By ALBERT ZUGSMITH, JR.

The "big noise" in the Columbia Broadcasting Company is Al Sinton, chief sound engineer. When you hear a rooster crowing or the wind howling, it's neither of the two, but Al pulling away at one of his weird contraptions.

As a bottle breaking before the microphone does not sound like breaking glass to the listener-in, many miles away, strange devices must be devised to give that effect. Artificial means are called upon to reproduce the sound also of a locomotive whistle or a wave breaking upon the shore. Sinton has invented a noise box, which at the press of button will reproduce any one of over 50 sounds. Thus the man of a million noises, at an instant's notice, can provide the cry of a baby, the hum of a horse fly or any of the myriad sound effects of the air.

Johnny Martin has told his last bedtime story. As sandman for the Columbia Broadcasting Chain his concluding remark each night was, "Good night, dear children—pleasant dreams." One night, he got slightly fed up on fairies and what not. So after his usual conclusion, thinking that he was off the air, he vented his disgust in, "yes, you little brats, good night." Unfortunately for the "late" Mr. Martin, several of the smaller stations leave their mikes open when they go off the chain. Six minutes later the Federal Radio Commission called in person, and Mr. Martin is now looking for another job.

Any one anxious to learn how to live on 50 cents a day in New York can obtain expert testimony from William Simmons, the American baritone, who broadcasts, during the Atwater Kent Hour, Sunday nights. While preparing to win the Metropolitan Opera Company Scholarship Simmons actually lived on that sum. Incidentally, Simmons recently established a record in being heard simultaneously in North Nigeria, West Africa, Montevideo, and Uruguay.

Ted Husing carried a radio broadcasting station on his back. With two men trailing him to hold up his aerial, he gave CBS invention a try-out at the Penn Relays recently. Thus he was able to follow the races at close range and give all the intimate details of the event. His instrument having a range of 15 miles, the short wave broadcast was caught by Station WCAU and then sent over the nation-wide network.

that Markiewitz's wife and friends had scraped together every penny they could, and were able to raise only $500. The Freeholders again refused to interfere, and how little justification there was for the plea for leniency was demonstrated by the fact that when it was found a reduction in the fine could not be secured, the whole amount was paid to the Sheriff that afternoon and Markiewitz was released.

Mileage Bill Cut

At the last meeting of the Board a bill for mileage was presented by Arthur Carabine, of the County detectives' office, for the use of his car on County business. The rate charged was 12c per mile. This was considered excessive by the Freeholders and payment of the bill was withheld. At the Freeholders' meeting Friday Mr. Carabine was called on to explain how he arrived at 12c a mile when other County institutions were allowed but 10c a mile. Mr. Carabine said that he did not know what rate others were getting, but that it cost him 12c per mile to operate his car. After going into the matter with the Freeholders, Mr. Carabine agreed to accept payment at the rate of 10c per mile, and his bill was ordered paid.

Russell Cone manager of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company, accompanied by Charles Evans and Maurice Conrow, members of the Township Committee of Cinnaminson Township, appeared before the Board with a request that the County take over and improve the nine-tenths of a mile of Church road lying between Five Points and the Moorestown Township line. It was explained that this little stretch of road was a connecting link between two section of County-owned roads on a short route and that it was very little used by residents of Cinnaminson Township. Mr. Cone stated that 10,000 cars passed over the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge last Sunday, and that when improved this short section of road would complete a direct route to the shore. Under present conditions, much of the short traffic via the bridge is diverted into Brank pike, in which there is a dangerous curve where it meets the Riverton-Moorestown road.

Mr. Evans, speaking on behalf of the Township, said that his little bailiwick was not a wealthy one and that for the Township to attempt to improve this road was quite out of the question.

Dangerous Curve

He also referred to the dangerous curve at the intersection of Branch pike and the Moorestown road, stating that several serious accidents had happened there recently.

Mr. Conrow said that the top dressing of cinders, which had been quite adequate for local use, could not withstand the heavy shoreward traffic from the bridge, and urged the Freeholders to provide some relief.

Freeholder Stout, director of County Department of Roads, advised the delegation that Cinnaminson Township could probably get aid from the State to the extent of 75 per cent. of the cost of rebuilding this road with penetration macadam. This is a permanent form of road construction and the Township's share of the cost would be about $4,000. Mr. Stout explained that this fund was not available to Counties, and that if the County took over the improvement of this road the Freeholders would have to bear the total expense.

Board Will Co-operate

The Board assured the delegation from Cinnaminson Township that if they would apply for State aid the Board would render whatever assistance they could in getting the application granted.

The New Jersey Power Company was granted permission to erect 22 poles on the New Lisbon-Pemberton road.

The Water Department of the City of Burlington asked permission to open the street at Holbert avenue and Lindsay street. Permission was granted, the work to be done under the supervision of director of Roads and County Engineer.

A bill of William D. Cowperthwaite submitted at the last meeting of the Board for services as Jury Commissioner during the illness of Commissioner Frank A. Braddock, and which was referred to the County Solicitor for investigation, was ordered paid. The amount was $100.

New Almshouse Needed

The need for a new Burlington County Almshouse building was stressed in a report made to the Board by the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies.

A representative of the department recently made an inspection of the old almshouse at New Lisbon. In the report submitted to the Board the investigation showed that while the institution was well managed and inmates and buildings kept in a neat and tidy manner, there were many things not up to standard. The refrigeration is inadequate, the report stated, the fire risk great, the hospital for men patients not large neough and a sterilization plant badly needed.

The report concluded by stating it would probably be more economical to erect a new building than to attempt to remodel and modernize the present structure.

The report was received and filed.

Salary Increased

The salary of John B. Tilton, secretary of the Burlington County Board of Taxation, was raised $400 by the Freeholders Friday, on recommendation of the County Board. He will receive $2,400 a year instead of $2,000.

A bill of $10 for William D. Cowperthwait, of Medford, Acting Jury Commissioner during the illness of Commissioner Frank A. Braddock, was ordered paid.

Mids were opened for widening two bridges on the Marne Highway, one located near Hartford and the other at Rancocas Park. William C. Cook, of Mount Holly, was awarded the contract on his bid of $3,691.72. Other bidders were Charles S. Moses, Edgewater Park, $3,965.30; Hill Construction Co., Mount Holly, $4,428.45; Roscoe C. Gale, Mount Holly, $4,561.

ROB BIRTHDAY BANK AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

For the second time within a year, the First Lutheran Church of Palmyra and Riverton has been ransacked and small articles taken.

This petty thievery is believed to have been done some time Saturday. The janitor had been in to clean the church Saturday morning and everything was apparently all right, but later in the day one of the members of the congregation entered the church and found the closets in the basement had all been pryed open and the locks broken.

The Sunday School secretary's desk on the first floor had also been pryed and a "Birthday Bank" containing a small sum of money was missing. It is believed that nothing of any real value was taken.

The other case was committed about this time last year, practically the same things were broken into, and the "Birthday Box" was emptied.

DON'T TURN COWS OUT ON WEED-INFESTED PASTURES

Many dairymen manage their herds so as to produce and maintain the high quality milk demanded by the public. At this time of year an important problem of these dairymen is to keep the milk free from foreign tastes and odors, which are not uncommon when cows graze on weed-infested pastures. Plants which are particularly objectionable from this standpoint in early pastures are wild garlice and wild onions. Cows should be allowed to eat these plants, and also many others with objectionable flavors, only shortly after milking. The farmer therefore should remove his cows from pasture several hours before milking, advises H. H. Tucker, New Jersey State Creamery Inspector.

PUPILS PRIZE PARRISH LETTER

Eighth Grade of Westfield School No. 4 Gets Letter From Noted Painter

A most unusual distinction has come to the eighth grade of Westfield School, No. 4, in Cinnaminson Township. The pupils have received a letter from Maxfield Parrish, the greater painter, in reply to one they wrote to him about his painting, "White Birch," which was published in the March issue of The Ladies' Home Journal.

It came about in this way.

Pictures of many kinds have been used this year in School No. 4 to suggest to pupils subjects and ideas for oral and written composition work.

When the "White Birch" was placed before the class the result was an instantaneous and unusually enthusiastic response, which found expression in verse rather than in prose. Two assignments were given in which the pupils were to express in poetry any thoughts suggested to them by the picture.

Following the second assignment some of the pupils said they wondered what Mr. Parrish would think of their effort and it was decided to write him a class letter, enclosing copies of their poetic efforts.

This was done and the answer was looked forward to w ith much eagerness by not only the class, but the whole school as well.

The Letter

Riverton, N. J., April 17, 1930.
Mr. Maxfield Parrish,
Curtis Publishing Company,
Independence Square,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Mr. Parrish:

Last month, when your beautiful painting, "White Birch," appeared in The Ladies' Home Journal, our teacher used it as the basis of an English lesson. During the course of the lesson many beautiful thoughts were expressed. We decided to write them out in poetic form. We are sending to you the best of these.

Will you tell us if we have expressed in words some of the beauty you had in mind when you painted "White Birch?"

Anxiously awaiting a reply,
Sincerely yours,
THE EIGHTH GRADE,
of Westfield School, No. 4.

The Reply

In due time the following letter was received from Mr. Parrish, and is cherished by the Eighth Grade among its most prized possessions:

Windsor, Vermont.

Dear Eighth Grade of Westfield School, No. 4:

I have your beautiful letter of April 9th, and the beautiful, beautiful poetry. As poetry takes a lot of imagination maybe you can put yourselves in my place and not wonder that I don't know what to say. Completely overcome is putting it mildly. Many paintings, I believe, are in-

SUMMER ROUND-UP NEAR COMPLETION

The last P. T. A. meeting of the year was held in Riverton School on Thursday, May 15th. Mrs. Elwell had charge of the group discussion preceding the regular meeting, and her topic was "When Children Quarrel." Mrs. Baker called for the final reports of the treasurer and chairmen of various committees. Mrs. Blair announced that the play had cleared $85, which would be sent as our contribution to the Student Loan Fund. She reminded us, however, that so far only $2,000 had been raised of the $6,000 which is the goal for the fund. Mrs. Coddington gave the report of the Round-Up exeaminations, saying that there were only four of next year's kindergarten class left to comply with the regulation.

She also announced that almost all the children of the present kindergarten have been protected from diphtheria by the toxin-antitoxin.

It was with deep regret that the meeting heard Miss Chew's report, for she took that opportunity to say a few words of farewell to the organization and wish it future success. Miss Chew's spirit of practical idealism and her unfailing co-operation in all things pertaining to the welfare of the school children has made her place in this organization one which will be indeed hard to fill.

Miss Gilpin, of the County Chorus, led the singing and gave some solo numbers, after which the mothers and teachers present tried their skill at answering 33 questions of an intelligence test for parents. Mrs. Elwell won, answering all correctly! The usual social chat followed with the tea, served by the eighth grade girls.

Don't forget today (Thursday) is Field Day, and supper will be served at Memorial Park from 5 p. m. on!

FLOWER SHOW—JUNE 4TH

The Riverton Flower Show, held annually by the garden section of the Porch Club, will take place on Wednesday, June 4.

All residents of Riverton are cordially invited to take part.

Notices of the classification of exhibits are being mailed and will be published in next week's issue.

Committee in charge, Miss B. H. Perry, chairman. Phone 767-W for any information.

Hearing on Zoning Ordinance Friday Night

A public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance for the Borough of Riverton will be held in the auditorium of the Riverton Fire House tomorrow evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock.

Copies of the ordinance were distributed to every house in Riverton, Wednesday evening in order that residents might have an opportunity to become acquainted with its provisions before going to the meeting.

Members of the Zoning Commission will be present to answer questions.

PLAN TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Legion to Honor Departed Comrades; Compete Saturday at Frankford

Plans are being formulated by Post Rodgers, American Legion, for observance of Memorial Day in Palmyra.

Details have not been fully arranged as yet, but will be announced next week. The P. O. S. of A. and Borough Council have already accepted invitations to participate. Other organizations will also take part.

A parade with ceremonies at the cemeteries will be held, as in previous years.

Next Saturday afternoon the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will take part in a great drum and bugle corps competition to be held in Frankford under the auspices of the Frankford Post, National Champions.

Crack outfits from five States, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and Delaware, will enter the competition. The Palmyra Corps, New Jersey State Champions, will enter with full expectations of finishing well up in the rankings and will make a strong effort to capture first place from Wilmington, the present title holders. Frankford will parade, but will not compete.

The drills will begin at one o'clock and will continue until probably six o'clock. Last year sixty-three corps were in line and more are expected this year. Mayor Mackey, of Philadelphia, and other distinguished guests will be in the reviewing stand.

The judges will be chosen from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. Their identity will not be known until the competition opens. The various units will be judged and graded on five counts, namely: Music, uniforms, rhythm, cadence and maneuverability.

Post Rodgers will be represented with a full corps of forty-seven men. There will be twenty-four buglers, eight snare drums, four tenor drums, two Scotch drums, two cymbals and a six-man colored guard. The corps will be under command of Alfred H. Lippincott.

K. of C. MINSTREL SHOW THIS WEEK

St. Joseph's Columbus Cadets are all set for their minstrel show when the curtain rises this Thursday and Friday evenings, May 22nd and 23rd, at 8.15 at the K. of C. Hall. The Schoolmaster or "Ding-Dong Dumbell," a rural sketch, with Andrew J. Pfaff as the teacher, is a scream from start to finish. A specialty number by Buddy Delaney is handled to perfection, while the quartette of tap dancers composed of the Misses Marie Eck, Marie Jander and the Pfaff sisters, will exhibit some new steps. Casey and Malone, the end men, who went over big last year, are due to repeat, while the interlocutor's chair will be taken care of by Capt. Joseph D'Autrechy. Fred Hoare and Edward Carrigan are also booked to do a specialty.

Everyone attending is promised a good show. Tickets may be had from any of the cadets or at the door on the night of the performance; adults, 50 cents, and children, 25 cents, which will include dancing after the show on Friday night with music furnished by the Cadet Troubadours.

The proceeds are to be used to outfit the boys in uniforms.

Boulevard Complete

The work of laying the concrete roadway on "Bridge Boulevard", from 300 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, to the Taconny-Palmyra bridge plaza is now complete.

The road will be ready for use just as soon as the concrete has had time to properly harden. Plans for a formal opening are underway for Memorial Day when the highway will be thrown open for traffic.

This fine new avenue to the bridge was constructed by the State Highway Department in cooperation with the Borough of Palmyra. The part of the cost to have been paid by Palmyra has been assumed by the bridge company with the result the taxpayers of the town will not have to pay for anything more than preliminary engineering work in drawing up the plans.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND SERVICES

Eminent Commander Daniel Clifton Will Head Delegation to Riverton Church

Cyrene Commandery, Knights Templar, of Camden, will attend Ascension Day services at the Calvary Presbyterian Church of Palmyra and Riverton, next Sunday evening.

The Camden lodge will have as its guest, Helena Commandery, of Burlington, and will also act as escort to Covenant Lodge, F. & A. M., of Palmyra, and Excelsior Chapter, Order of DeMolay, of Camden. About two hundred and fifty swords are expected to be in line.

The lines will form in front of the P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra, promptly at 7.15 p. m. There will be ample parking space and the cars will be looked after by the Palmyra police force.

Daniel M. Clifton, of Riverton, the Eminent Commander, of Cyrene Commandery, urged the attendance of the lodges at the Presbyterion Church, Riverton, owing to the fact that he is a member there. Each year the commandery atends Ascension Day services at some church, and it is usually the church of which the Eminent Commander is a member.

COUNTY GROUP HEAR DR. J. S. HEBERLING

University Professor Gives Suggestions To Parents; Mrs. Giberson Receives Certificate

Dr. James S. Heberling, of the University of Pennsylvania, gave some very worthwhile thoughts in his speech at the County Council meeting of the Burlington County Parent and Teacher Association at Pemberton, May 14.

He told of the fine material in the ideas of the young people of today and the duty laid upon the parents and teachers to help the younger generation to develop into trustworthy men and women.

One of the most interesting parts of the meeting was the presentation of a Life Memership Certificate to Mrs. A. C. Giberson, past county chairman, who was forced to resign her position due to ill health.

After lunch, served by the local association, a most profitable series of round-table discussions were held.

Before adjourning, the Council accepted, with thanks an invitation to hold their October meeting in Vincentown.

About two hundred members were present.

FORT FOR SENATOR ON DRY PLATFORM

Law Enforcement League Will Boost Candidacy at Meeting on May 23

Burlington County League for Law Enforcement will hold a meeting in the Friends' Meeting House, High and Garden streets, Mount Holly, Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock, in the interest of Ex-Governor Franklin Fort for United States Senator.

Mr. Fort has come out on a bone-dry platform in order to give the voters of New Jersey an opportunity to register their sentiment on the repeal of the 18th Amendment, both of the other candidates, Morrow and Frelinghuysen, having declared themselves as wets.

Mr. Fort, as Congressman from the ninth district, is one of President Hoover's most loyal supporters in Washington.

REGISTRATION DAY, JUNE 3

The first registration day for the coming Primary Election is June 3, at which time the election board will make the house-to-house canvass.

Voters not registered in this canvass may be registered on Primary Election Day at the polling place. Notice giving full details of the election is published in this issue.

Candidates must file petitions with the municipal clerk on or before May 22.

CIVIL SERVICE

A Civil Service Examination for the position of Clerk and Carrier will be held on June 21, 1930, at the Palmyra post office. Anyone wishing to take this examination must have his application in not later than June 6, 1930.

PROBLEMS ARISE IN PARK PROGRAM

Cost of Lake Exceeds Expectations; Concrete Court for Ice and Roller Skating

An adjourned meeting of the Riverton Borough Council was held last Thursday night to consider further plans for the development of Memorial Park.

Howard Coe, chairman of the Tennis Committee, submitted a report recommending the construction of a cement court 50 feet by 100 feet at a cost of $1400 to $1600, to be used for rollei skating in summer and ice skating in winter. He said that on more mature consideration it was thought that this type of construction would not make a very satisfactory tennis court, and suggested that gravel tennis courts might be constructed later if it was found desirable. The concrete court which he recommended could be flooded with 2 or 3 inches of water which would freeze over night, making a safe place for children to skate. After a lengthy discussion Mr. Coe's report was referred to the borough property committee of which Councilman Francis B. Elwell is chairman.

Swimming Pool In Lily Ponds

Mr. Elwell reported that Lewis D. Steele, of the Rancocas Construction Company, Delanco, had made soundings of the lily ponds and found that for a distance of about 60 feet from the shore there was a gradually sloping ledge of gravel, partially covered by mud. When this mud is removed and the ponds flooded, a bathing beach will be provided with water varying from 3 to 5 feet in depth. Beyond this 60 feet ledge there is a deposit of mud more than 10 feet in depth. Mr. Steele gave a price on clearing the mud from the ledge and from the deeper portion of the pond. The amount, however, was in excess of what had been anticipated, and after some discussion Mr. Elwell was requested to ascertain the cost of clearing out one corner of the lily ponds to provide a bathing place for small children this summer.

Stanley Stewart, architect, submitted a revised plan for a grand stand which was discussed at length. The erection of this structure, however, would require changing the location of the baseball diamond, which would, in turn, encroach upon the football field.

Make Haste Slowly, Says Bartley

Councilman Bartley expressed the opinion that members of council were not sufficiently informed to take final action in the grand stand matter. He said that many other things would have to be considered in this connection. He proposed that an engineer be employed to prepare a new layout of the park, properly locating the numerous things it is desired to install.

Councilman DeLaney thought that everything could be worked into the plan which council already has by making a few slight changes which would not require the services of an engineer. This plan was prepared by Fletcher Street several years ago at a cost of $500.

It was finally decided that definite action on all the matters discussed would be deferred until such time as all the members were present.

Councilman Robert H. Cielland reported a conference between C. M. Wiesman, assistant to the Division Engineer of the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Councilman William H. Albertson and himself in reference to the borough's protest against raising the railroad crossing at Thomas avenue. Mr. Cielland reported that Mr. Wiesman had promised that no more crossings would be raised in Riverton, and stated that he would confirm this in writing.

The meeting was adjourned at the call of the chair.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Troop Committee of Riverton-Palmyra Troop No. 1 of the Girl Scouts met at the home of Mrs. Horace Ross, Scout captain, on the afternoon of May 13.

Mrs. Joseph Morgan, president, presided, and those attending were Mrs. Horace Ross, Mrs. Charles Saltmer, Mrs. Raymond Haines, Mrs. James Mickle, Mrs. C. R. Beegle and Mrs Martin E. Goldman.

Mrs. Ross described the Scout activities, and growth of the troop, and Mrs. Mickle, the treasurer, reported that the proceeds of the play given by the Girl Scouts on March 28, netted approximately twenty-five dollars.

The troop is invited to a Scout rally at Knight's Park next Saturday.

A cake sale will be held, June 14, at 15 W. Broad street, Palmyra.

The committee has decided to hold its meetings on the second Thursday of each month.

A. LINCOLN JONES

A. Lincoln Jones, of Newport News, Virginia, father of Harry A. Jones, of Riverton, died at his home last Saturday at 9.30 a. m. Burial was made at Mount Holly Tuesday.

Mr. Jones was a very prominent citizen in Newport News and was secretary of the Seamen's Rest Association, a YMCA organization for seafaring men, and was an active member of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Mr. Jones is survived by his widow and two sons, Charles G., of Newport News, and Harry A., of Riverton.

Active in Fete Work

MRS. ALEXANDER C. WOOD of Riverton, president of the Board of Managers of the Cinnaminson Home for Convalescent Women and Children, who is aiding in preparations for the annual Horse Show, Gymkhana and Fete to be held at the Moorestown Field Club on Saturday for the benefit of the home.

RIVERTON MAN HEADS LARGE FIRM

Harvey L. Hirst, 707 Main street, Riverton, who for several years has been vice-president of Bayuk Cigars, Inc., was elected to the presidency last week.

Mr. Hirst started with the firm twenty-five years ago as a shippi clerk.

He also has a brother, A. N. Hirst, of Germantown, who is treasurer of the Bayuk concern.

STATE POLICE NEWS

Get Convictions on Five Motor Vehicle Violations

State Troopers Turnbull and Drosdick, of the Delanco barracks, investigated an accident on the Burlington Pike last Thursday upon the complaint of Francis Keppler, of Pennsylvania.

A Buick touring car, driven by David Johnson, of Camden, was driven off the road over an embankment and was badly wrecked. Neither the driver nor his companion, the owner of the car, were injured. Ivan Malone, colored, of Haddonfield, is the owner of the car.

Johnson was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving, $10 and costs for driving a car without a license and Malone was fined $50 and costs for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Justice of the Peace Fichter heard the case.

Last Friday another accident occurred on the Bridgeboro-Moorestown road involving a Ford touring and a Ford coupe. The touring car was badly damaged and had to be towed away.

Berton Miller, driver of the coupe, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Cecil A. Bowers, for reckless driving. The touring car was owned by Rebecca Ross and driven by Norman Ross, both of Riverton.

Troopers Rohner and Drosdick investigated this accident.

Clara Dunnmore, of Camden, was arrested Saturday on charges of fraud by Augustine Gibbs, of Fairview. She was arraigned before JuJstice McNulty, of Bridgeboro, who held her under $500 bail for the grand jury. Troopers Turnbull and Drosdick made the arrest.

Sunday, Trooper Drosdick arrested William Kinsley, of Philadelphia, for operating a car without a license, Justice Fichter fined him $5 and cost.

POPPY SALE

The Poppy Sale, which was begun last Thursday evening by the American Legion and Auxiliary, has been a great success and these organizations, sponsoring this sale, extend to the citizens of this community their hearty appreciation of the generous response they have made to the call for help. The Cake Sale, held last Saturday, in conjunction with the Poppy Drive, was also a success, and the Auxiliary would extend a hearty "Thank you" to all who helped make it so.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation of the kindnesses and sympathies extended to us during our recent bereavement and to those who sent cars and flowers to the funeral.

FRIENDS IN STRONG STAND FOR "DRY"

Urge "Cooperation With Forces of Order to Forward Divine Purpose"

A resolution adopted by the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends in session at Fifteenth and Race streets, May 12 to 16, follows:

"We believe that the first requisite to make prohibition a working principle in this country is not the assertion of personal freedom in all the details of life, but a fusion of our impulses and desires into the general welfare of society. This constitutes good citizenship.

"Prohibition and its enforcement have a much deeper significance than the mere elimination of liquor drinking. Disregard of any law logically leads to the breaking of other laws and disintegrates the very structure o' government. We are convinced that the customer of the bootlegger is equally guilty with the seller and should be subject to the same punishment. The traffic in liquor corrupts the agencies of government, lessens the efficiency of industry, threatens public safety, disorganizes the home. It lowers the whole tone of human life, striking at childhood, youth, maturity and old age. It tends to degrade men's comprehension of the divine spirit.

"Only by cooperation with the forces of order can we do our part in forwarding the Divine purpose in the world."

CINNAMINSON P. T. A.

The last business meeting of the season proved very interesting, as all felt that the work had helped greatly in bringing the members into closer touch with each other, and with the school.

A substantial balance makes its possible to draw on the treasurer in case of need during the summer.

Friday, May 23, will be a combination P. T. A. picnic and field day. Come and enjoy the stunts and spend the afternoon.

Hot cocoa will be provided, please bring cups.

Buses will furnish transportation as usual.

BIG HORSE SHOW AT MOORESTOWN THIS SATURDAY

Stage All Set for Brilliant Social Event at Field Club

FARMERS' TABLE, BIG FEATURE, OPENS 10 A. M.

Fete To be Greatest Held in History of the Institution

Plans for the Cinnaminson Home horse show and fete which is scheduled for Saturday, May 24, are now complete. Every committee reports more elaborate preparations than previous years and the event is expected to be the greatest ever staged in Cinnaminson Home history.

The farmers' market and delicatesen shop opens at 10 o'clock and closes at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The horse show starts at 1.15 o'clock. Children's events will be first on the program and promise to be one of the most attractive features of the day.

Several of the little girls in shining bright carts will be driving their ponies. Ann Freeman, Janet Johnson and Marion Burns are entered. Ruth Collins usually rides and little Miss Wheeler will ride John Dudley's black pony.

George Perrier, Jr., states that there are more than a hundred entries in the show, at least twenty-five more than at this time last year. All the old favorites will be there—Miss Kathryn Sharpless, Richard and Eldridge Freeman, with their hunters; Robert Brown, on "Buckshot"; J. V. Bishop, of Columbus, on "Southern Queen"; Samuel Roberts on Dr. Jones' "King Sanford," from Four Mile; and Mrs. Lester Collins on her handsome Mare, "Irish Girl," last year's champion.

1929 Winner Entered

B. Gale will show two saddle horses, "Judge" and "Kelley." The Wenonah Military Academy has entered three or four hunters. Harry Leeds, of Atlantic City, will present a green hunter, with his son in the saddle. Jesse White, of Merchantville, is expected to show last year's winner in the five gaited class.

An entry is expected by Charles H. Chase, of Riverton, and one from Dr. George Maguire, of Delanco. Mrs. Rogers, of Mount Holly, has a new horse to show. Samuel Roberts will enter three horses from his stables—one a green hunter just up from Kentucky.

Ordinance providing for Memorial Park improvement.

Mrs. Edson Carhart

Mrs. Rae Jester Carhart, aged 33, wife of Edson Carhart, died in the Burlington County Hospital, Saturday morning at 1.30. She had been operated on for appendicitis two weeks ago.

Mrs. Carhart, who had been married seven years, leaves her husband, a daughter, Beatrice, aged 3, and sister, Mrs. Sarah Austin, of Camden. Her former home was in Elmer. She was a member of the Shepherds of Bethlehem.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Snover Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. J. W. Lee. Interment at Morgan Cemetery.

To Build Theatre

Plans for the building of a moving picture theatre at Broad street and Morgan avenue, Palmyra, were revealed in an interview with Jacob B. Fox, former Burlington county movie magnate, a few days ago.

Mr. Fox recently leased all his theatres to Warner Brothers and will soon leave on a trip to Europe. He expects to remain abroad for a year at least and probably longer.

Immediately upon his return he says he will begin the erection of a modern theatre on his Palmyra property which he has been holding for that purpose.

INTRODUCE ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT OF FOUR STREETS AS PART OF PROGRAM

Palmyra Council Acts to Cut High Cost of Maintaining Borough Highways

DECIDE ON ASPHALT AS MOST SUITABLE

Lincoln, Washington, Highland and Morgan Avenues First To be Paved

An ordinance providing for the paving of Lincoln, Washington, Highland and Morgan avenues was introduced and passed on first reading at a regular meeting of the Palmyra Borough Borough Council Tuesday night.

The ordinance provides for permanent paving between the four-foot gutters recently laid. The type to be used is a bituminous asphalt top over a trap rock base of water-bound macadam similar to the sample street recently laid on Highland avenue.

The ordinance was introduced by Chairman Frank A. Snover and passed without a dissenting vote, following a discussion as to what would be the best way to cut down the high cost of street maintenance in the Borough.

Several types have been discussed and investigated and the asphalt pavement decided upon as the best answer to the question both from a standpoint of cost and desirability. Asphalt is said to have all the advantages of concrete at about half the cost. Macadam and oil and gravel types were discarded as being only of temporary nature and requiring constant upkeep.

Gravel Expensive

In making his report for the roads and streets department Councilman Snover said it would be necessary to spend $15,000 for gravel and $3,000 for oil to put these streets in condition if this type of road should be decided on. In addition to this the cost of oil would be a yearly proposition if the streets were to be properly maintained.

Even to make temporary improvements with gravel would cost $3,000, according to the report, with an additional expense for a dust laying compound of about $4,000 if all the streets were treated. Mr. Snover pointed out that this would mean an expenditure of $1,000 a month just to lay the dust during the summer.

It was his opinion that the only economical solution would be permanent paving. He said that improvement of these streets this summer would allow him to reduce his street maintenance budget by $2,000 next year, and that this amount could be still further reduced from year to year if more streets were paved.

He explained the cost of the asphalt as being $130 for each fifty-foot lot, including financing and engineering. This would cost each lot owner about four and one-half cents a day or thirteen dollars a year for ten years. Mr. Snover further stated that the saving in four years would be enough to pay the assessments against the properties.

Should Reduce Taxes

Ralph Rivers was present and asked if he could be given definite assurance the reduction of taxes would equal the added expense. Mr. Snover said he could not make any statements as to the taxes in the future, but was sure the saving would be enough in a few years to offset the costs.

Fred H. Fitzmaurice asked what the rights of the citizens were if they did not want the paving, other than holding an indignation meeting. He was told that the law made it necessary for 76 per cent. of the assessed valuation to petition Council to override the passage of the ordinance. It was explained that there was no intention of going on with the work if any great number of citizens opposed it.

Mr. Fitzmaurice drew the ire of the Council when he inferred that notices had not been sent out prior to the passage of the ordinance for sidewalks and gutters a few weeks ago. He later qualified his remarks by saying he did get a notice, but that it was only a day or so before the final hearing on the ordinance.

Must Be Published

The law requires that all ordinances be published at least two weeks before final passage. In fact, in this case, it was published twice, once four weks before and again a week later. Auditors of the bond houses check up closely to see that the law has been complied with in each case like this before they will accept the bonds for any improvements.

Joseph S. Low, Borough Solicitor, made a few remarks in which he ably presented the case from both sides and explained how it was necessary to do something to prevent the necessity of spending large sums on the streets each year.

He explained that the Councilmen were not interested in forcing improvements on the taxpayers, but were only asking for their co-operation in solving a very difficult problem. Mr. Low brought out the fact that the cost of material merely for laying the dust each year would pay the interest on an eighty thousand dollar improvement. In addition to the cost of the material it costs considerable to have it applied to the streets.

Mr. Low complimented the members of Council when he said he had never been associated with a group of men that were more sincere and earnest in their desire to be of service to their community. His remarks were well received and produced a very favorable reaction from the citizens who were present at the time.

Asks About Tarvia

Mr. Fitzmaurice asked about a Tarvia pavement and was told about Cinnaminson avenue, south of the railroad, which is of this construction. Its cost is almost as much as that of asphalt and requires a dressing of crushed stone and oil each year. Not only is this an expense, but it makes the use of the road very undesirable for a few days following the application of the oil and stone.

Alfred H. VanOsten spoke in favor of the improvement of the streets and offered his full co-operation. He said many times friends from other towns had chided him about the condition of the streets and asked, "Why do you live in a town like this?" He told them the town suited him fine and that was why he lived in it, but that he did hope steps would be taken to rid the Borough of bad streets. He said he felt the value of the property would be increased more than the cost of the streets immediately upon their completion.

Mr. Snover said he wanted to do what the taxpayers wanted him to do, but said he did not want to be chairman of the Street Committee another year if he must continue to spend the Borough's money for work which was of no permanent benefit.

Major George N. Wimer asked a pointed question when he addressed the citizens present and asked them what they would propose in case a paving program was not adopted. No one had any suggestions to offer.

Separate Bids

The question was asked as to why the work of paving and laying the gutters was not done at the same time. Mr. Snover explained that there would not have been anything to gain as the work, being of different nature, would have been awarded in separate contracts. Councilman Buchholz added that the bonded debt of the Borough was such as to prevent it at the time. He explained that now it could be done, as the situation was improved.

Councilman Davis insisted that the other streets of the town be treated with the dust laying compound even if the section under discussion were paved. It is understood that this is the intention of the Street Department.

Mr. Snover commented on the amount of gossip which he had heard during the past few weeks, which ranged all the way from minor accusations against the officials to charging them with accepting bribes. He mentioned a conversation with a local minister, in which the clergyman said that in all his experiences he had not heard so much untruth as he had heard since coming to Palmyra.

Charge Irregularities

One of the charges which came to the ears of Mr. Snover was that the contract for the concrete work recently awarded was given to the Palmyra Concrete Company without the formality of a competitive bid. As a matter of fact the contract mentioned was one most eagerly sought by seven bidders, all of whom were in the room when the contract was awarded. These meetings are open to the public and a large number of citizens were also present.

A bidder may, if he wishes, and many of them do, hold his bid until just before they are opened and then hand it to the Clerk in a sealed envelope. The bids are opened before their eyes and it is impossible for other bidders to know how much their estimates are beforehand.

The Palmyra Concrete Company has been very successful in getting jobs in Palmyra and vicinity, largely bacause their equipment and men are here and do not have far to go. In addition to this the company has its own gravel pits nearby, which gives it a great advantage.

Accept Invitation

An invitation from the American Legion to the Mayor and Council to participate in the Memorial Day exercises was accepted.

A request from the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge Company to erect signs at the corner of the new boulevard directing traffic to the bridge was granted.

Another request from the Bridge Company to restrict parking on Market street was referred to the Street Department.

Councilman Buchholz read a statement from the County, showing where a large part of the tax money goes. It was the County statement calling for some $76,000 to be paid, one-half in June and the balance next December.

A letter from Frank A. Mathews, Jr., as attorney for his brother, J. W. Mathews, was read, in which it was claimed the sidewalk in front of his property had been torn up and rebuilt without his receiving proper notice. The engineers stated the walk was in dangerous condition and that he had been properly notified. The communication was referred to the Solicitor.

The Lighting Committee reported that a new boulevard standard of the same type as the othrs in the business section had been requested by merchants west of Leconey avenue and asked for approval in placing a light about one hundred feet from the corner. The request was approved and the Public Service Corporation will be instructed to proceed with the work.

Camp Ockanickon

Before another month has passed, beautiful Camp Ockanickon will again thrill to the echo of youthful voices, raised in the glorious joy that only freedom of the great outdoors can give.

Burlington County is indeed fortunate in having such a camp within its boundaries. All south Jersey is fortunate in having this and other advantages which the Young Men's Christian Association provides.

This community and others should come to a fuller appreciation of what the "Y" is doing for its youth. Every boy can enjoy the facilities offered by the local Y. M. C. A. and should do so. Every parent who has a boy, and those who do not would do well to acquaint themselves with the work of this great Christian organization and lend their moral and financial support whereever possible.

Now that the summer camping season is approaching interest in Ockanickon is at its height. Many boys are planning to attend for the first time—still others are living in joyful anticipation of returning to their happy experiences of prevous years.

The two week's perod at camp is well worthwhile. It is filled with a program of play, work and study, which is delightful to every boy.

All activities are under capable direction of trained men who are devoting their lives to work among youth—men whose Christian character and special training make them ideal leaders of boys.

The camp is well equipped and orderly conducted. Nature Study in "five hundred acres for character", swimming in a beautiful lake of cedar water, canoeing, rowing, water sports and sports of every kind are provided in each day's supervised program.

The boys live in tent houses, each under the direction of an older boy and each group carefully watched over by an adult advisor.

Ockanickon is an ideal place for any boy to spend two weeks away from home.

The one unfortunate feature is that every boy cannot go—the camp is virtually a self supporting institution. It is necessary to make a charge of ten dollars a week—twenty dollars for the regular two weeks period.

Every boy should have the privileges of camp Ockanickon unfortunately many cannot for lack of necessary funds.

The Y. M. C. A. has made no appeal for funds for this purpose, but it would be splendid thing if a way could be found of sending some of the boys to camp who could not otherwise go.

This thought is offered for the consideration of the individual and organization of all kinds with the hope that some may see fit to act on it. The local Y. M. C. A. secretary would be pleased to co-operate to the fullest extent, we are sure.

More information on the camp and camp life, together with a map and artist's sketch of the camp appears in another page of this issue.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES IN P. O. S. of A. CIRCLES

Quoit Tossers Tied With Beetle Boys; Will Hold Playoff Soon

The quoit tossers from the Japanese Beetle Laboratory, Moorestown, won from Palmyra P. O. S. of A. Monday night by a score of 15 to 7. As this leaves the series in a tie, a playoff will be arranged in the near future.

A delegation from the Palmyra Camp visited Camp 594, Philadelphia, Tuesday evening and report an enjoyable evening with their city brothers.

The Camp accepted the invitation of the American Legion to cooperate in the Memorial Day celebration. A committee of three will be appointed to look after the details.

Nearly a hundred members of the organization, including the state president and state secretary, were present at the county meeting held in Tabernacle, May 13. Camp 155, Rancocas, won the attendance honors for the third successive time and gained permanent possesion of the flag.

The next county meeting will be held at Rancocas June 18.

The "Billy" Sunday committee reported that the P. O. S. of A. had a larger attendance May 9 than any other fraternal organization which had made a visitation up to that date. Unofficial reports have it that the Junior Mechanics beat the record a few days later when they sent a delegation to the tabernacle.

The County Association will present a beautiful American flag and pole to the Burlington County Hospital, June 14, which is Flag Day.

The county class initiation will be held in Palmyra, June 16. A committee from each Camp is busy working up the arrangements.

A suggestion was made that a visit be made to Monmouth battle grounds on a date near the anniversary of that historic event, June 27, 1778. The day selected will probably be Sunday, June 29.

State President Baker and State Secretary Smith were present at the meeting and each made a few timely remarks. The point was brought out that there are no adequate laws under which the government can bring action against Communists.

ARTISANS GOING TO LAKE GEORGE

Will Leave Memorial Day for Two-Day Excursion Via Rail and Boat

Reservations close Saturday, May 24, on another great Artisan trip which has been arranged by the Extension Committee of the Artisans Order of Mutual Protection. Many residents in this section Artisans and their friends, will be included in the party of 900 who will go on a remarkably interesting two-day tour.

The trip will be to Lake George, New York and return. Because of the size of the party, and the fact that it will only take two full days, the remarkably low rate of $10.50 has been obtained from the railroad and steamship companies. All but one meal, berths at night and all transportation, are covered in the charge. It will be necessary only for the members of the party to buy luncheon in New York, on the way home.

Members of the party leave Broad Street Station Memorial Day afternoon at 4 P. M., daylight saving time. At Jersey City they embark on the Steamship Berkshire, of Albany line. Staterooms will be assigned before the party leaves. The night will be spent steaming up the Hudson to Albany. At Albany on Saturday morning a train will be boarded and the party conveyed to Lake George, where the rest of the morning and part of the afternoon will be spent on a boatride around the lake.

Returning to Albany at dinner time, the members will have the evening in the capital city of the State of New York. The Berkshire, returning, leaves Albany at 11 P. M. and on arrival in New York the tourists will have a few hours sightseeing in New York before boarding their train to return at 4 P. M. Sunday afternoon, June 1. Allen P. Cox, secretary of the Artisans Extension Committee, is making the reservations for the trip. Application should be made at 1001 Colonial BIBuilding, Thirteenth and Market Streets. Virtually all the space has already been taken but all who are interested, whether Artisans or not, will be enrolled until the accommodations are exhausted.

LEGION AUXILIARY

Members of the Auxiliary are invited to attend the evening service at the Central Baptist Church on Sunday evening, May 25th. Meet at the Legion Home at 7:15 p. m.

The Unit will take part in the Memorial Day exercises, as usual, and it is hoped that we may have a good representation in the line of parade. Refreshments will be served to the boys of the Post and Battery D, after the parade, in the Legion Home.

A few members attended County meeting held in Mount Holly last Friday evening. This local Unit will be hostess to the County at their

Despite the inclement weather last next meeting in July.

Wednesday evening, our card party was well attended, and every one ha da pleasant evening. Next month will end this series of monthly card parties until next fall and we hope everyone will help make this last one a big success. Keep the date in mind—June 11th.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"SOUL AND BODY" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 25, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the rtrength of my heart, and my portion for ever." (Psalms 73: 26).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." (Matthew 16: 24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is not wise to take a halting and half-way position or to expect to work equally with Spirit and matter, Truth and error. There is but one way—namely, God and His idea—which leads to spiritual being." (p. 107).

Mme. Josephine Beaulais, of Paris, was arrested for caning a woman she found kissing her husband, but was discharged.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Readings By Miss Helene Johnson and Solos By Mrs. Gilpin Greatly Enjoyed

The Woman's Club of Palmyra held its second meeting of the month in Society Hall, Palmyra, Monday afternoon. It was devoted almost entirely to music, current events and reports on the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Federated Woman's Clubs, which was held in Atlantic City recently.

Miss Helene Johnson gave two delightful musical readings, which were very much enjoyed by the members. Miss Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Richard Stauffer. Mrs. Marion Reber Gilpin also favored with two beautiful solos.

Mrs. W. R. Dunn, president of the club, and Mrs. William A. McCamy gave reports on the convention.

Miss Johnson and Mrs. Gilpin were then heard again and all present agreed that the Palmyra Woman's Club is very fortunate in having such wonderful talent in its midst.

The club will hold its last meeting Monday, June 2, at one o'clock in the afternoon, in the form of a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. John Moffitt will be in charge. The Junior Club members will furnish the entertainment.

JUNIOR PLAY IS WELL RECEIVED

Production Praised by Many As One of Best Presented by Students

Nearly a thousand persons witnessed and thoroughly enjoyed the performance, "A Full House," the mysterious comedy, which was presented by the members of the Junior Class of Palmyra High School last Friday and Saturday evenings. The production was well received and praised by many as one of the best ever staged by students of the school.

Members of the cast were Stanley Eckert, Edna Barker, Marie Jander, Jane Blackwell, Dorothy Shea, Francis Klevan, Robert Young, Walter Price, Harry Furman, Richard Furman, Albert Stocker, Ruth Paterson, Margaret Smith and Elizabeth Hassell.

Miss Ermyn Jewell, an English teacher at the school, directed the play. Faculty advisors were Miss Eleanor Ballentine and Porte Weiff.

Chairmen of the committees in charge were Murray Kirkpatrick, program; Rodman Merrill, stage; Thomas Price, tickets; Robert Pinney, publicity; Nan Evans, wardrobe; Ruth Perkins, candy, and Harold Gerkins, property.

The Palmyra High School orchestra, under the direction of Miss Violet Lippincott, rendered several selections between the acts.

Proceeds from the production will be put into the class treasury and will be used in financing the annual Washington trip next year. Another play will be given by the class during its senior year, the proceeds to be used for the same purpose.

PARENT-TEACHERS ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Elias Toy Again Heads Palmyra Association; Parker is Speaker

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the last regular school-year meeting of the Palmyra Parent-Teachers Association held in the high school auditorium Tuesday afternoon.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Elias M. Toy, president; Mrs. Fred Seeber, first vice-president; Mrs. Nathan Beekley, second vice-president; Miss Ruth Laessle, recording secretary; Mrs. Elvin Powell, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Mallory, financial secretary.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, contralto, favored with two beautiful selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. Frank A. Mathews at the piano. The musical numbers were, as always, very much appreciated by the audience.

Supervisor Robert Parker, of the Mount Holly schools, was the speaker of the afternoon. He spoke on "The Seven Major Aims of Modern Education."

The P. T. A. is conducting a summer "round-up" every Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. Dr. H. W. Bauer and Mrs. A. N. Palmer, acting school nurse, are in charge.

Every parent of pre-school children is urged to bring them to the clinic for examination so any defects may be found and corrected, thus assuring the child a fair start in life.

DONATION RESULTS

The Parry A. A. baseball club wishes to thank their many friends of Palmyra, Riverton and vicinity for helping to make their grand donation a success. The winners have been announced as follows: 1. Mrs. Phelan, $10; 2. H. Barker, $5; 3. Kensington Shipyard, $5; 4. Mrs. Harry Schaffer, $2.50; 5. Julia Tucholski, $2.50; 6. Charles Morgan, $2.50; 7. M. Bowland, $2.50.

PORCH CLUB NEWS

On Tuesday, May 20, the Annual Charter Luncheon was served to ninety-six club members in the attractively decorated club house. Iris of many hues adorned the long luncheon tables, while orange blossoms graced the mantel and window sill. A new feature was the singing of grace with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Maurice Belknap. Mrs. Ralph Flower deserves all the credit for the delightful luncheon, which was ably served by her committee.

The guest speaker, Miss Margaret Buttonheim, was introduced by the president, Mrs. Joseph L. Thomas. Her topic, "Americans Abroad," was enthusiastically received by everyone. The club choral gave several selections which were greatly enjoyed and lent so much to the pleasure of the afternoon. The whole day stands out as one of the best annual luncheons the club has ever had.

CARD PARTY

There will be a luncheon and card party for the benefit of the Riverton Branch of the Needlework Guild at the home of Mrs. William Porter on May 28. Tickets for either 50 cents or $1.00 for both, and to see Mrs. Porter's garden alone is worth the price of admission! Apply to any director for tickets. Mrs. William Hendrickson in charge.

150 AT RIVERSIDE, DELANCO BANQUET

Many Present at First Gathering of Mothers and Daughters

More than one hundred and fifty girls and women from Delanco and Riverside gathered at the Drenk Memorial Home in Riverside on Friday evening, May 16, at 6:30 o'clock for the first mother and daughter banquet under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. in the two communities.

Mrs. Henry Albertson, of Burlington, who gave the address, used as her subject, "The Home." "Once in a while we need to be lazy," she said, "and forget the many tasks that seem pressing and take time enjoying with our families the beautiful about us." Mrs. Albertson stressed the need today for parents to have "eyes that see, ears that hear and an understanding mind and heart."

Mrs. T. B. Hayward, of Delanco, responding delightfully to a toast given to the mothers by Elizabeth Schaffer, of Riverside, Mrs. Frank Lord and daughter played a piano duet while the two groups of Delanco Girl Reserves, of which Mrs. Charles Denning and Mrs. William C. V. Wells are leaders, gave a beautiful Blue Triangle Drill.

Miss Mabel Gormand's group of Camp Fire Girls sang a club song and the Senior Girl Reserves, of Riverside, of which the Misses Anne Fernsler and Helen Bethel are leaders, also sang. Miss Reba Troxell, of Burlington, was the splendid song leader, and Mrs. Charles Denning, of Delanco, was not only the able toastmistress but also the chairman of the committee responsible for the banquet. Others on the committee were Mrs. T. B. Hayward, Mrs. Louis Steele, Mrs. J. Henry Thadigaman, Miss Alice Toy and Mrs. William C. V. Wells, of Delanco, and Miss Helen Bethel, Mrs. James Carruthers, Miss Mildred Collar, Miss Anne H. Fernsler and Mrs. Amos Henry, of Riverside.

RESOLUTION OF THE Y. W. C. A.

WHEREAS it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst our beloved co-worker, Helen S. Gausler," it is hereby resolved, that we express our deep sympathy with her bereaved family, our sense of personal loss, and our sincere appreciation of her interest and valuable service in the work of our Association.

During the time that she worked among us, her enthusiasm and real helpfulness made her an inspiration to us all.

Resolved, that this resolution be spread upon our minutes, and that a copy be sent to the family and to the local papers.

Miss Beatrice Stadell, of Mount Holly, spoke at the Willingboro Senior Club meeting on Saturday afternoon, May 17, at the "Y" hall in Willingboro. She was one of the delegates from Burlington County who attended the National Convention of the Y. W. C. A. in Detroit April 25-May 1. The part that business women are playing in the association's thinking was her main emphasis and she spoke of the commissions of business girls which are studying unemployment, vocational adjustment, wages and the cost of living, and vocational training.

COUNCIL TO MEET MAY 26

On Monday evening, May 26, the County Council of Senior Clubs will have a picnic supper at Miss Madge Huff's cabin, on the Rancocas, at six-thirty o'clock. Following this the reports of the National Convention will be given by the delegates. All business and industrial girls are invited to be present.

On Friday night, May 16, the High School Girl Reserves, of Medford, entertained tehir mothers at a covered dish supper.

Among the speakers at the program were Miss Florence E. Kinney, of the Sunday Evangelistic Party, Mrs. C. Harry Evans, of Medford, and Mrs. Lester Collins, of Moorestown, who spoke of the values of the right use of leisure time.

Etta Cook, the president, welcomed the mothers, while Mrs. Emily Casaboon, the club leader, spoke of the aims and ideals of the Girl Reserve Club, and Florence Cook told of the work of this club.

The mothers were interested in seeing the Treasure Chest which the girls were filling to send to the Philippines as a part of the project of the Committee on World Friendship Among Children.

The club appreciated very much a letter from Mrs. Jacob Cochley, who has been so interested in the club from its beginning, and who was the first president of the Burlington County Y. W. C. A.

Music for the evening was furnished by a quartette composed of Blanch Wilkins, Grace Jones, Dorothy Mortimer and Thelma Powell.

MYSTERY OF GLOWING CROSS IS EXPLAINED

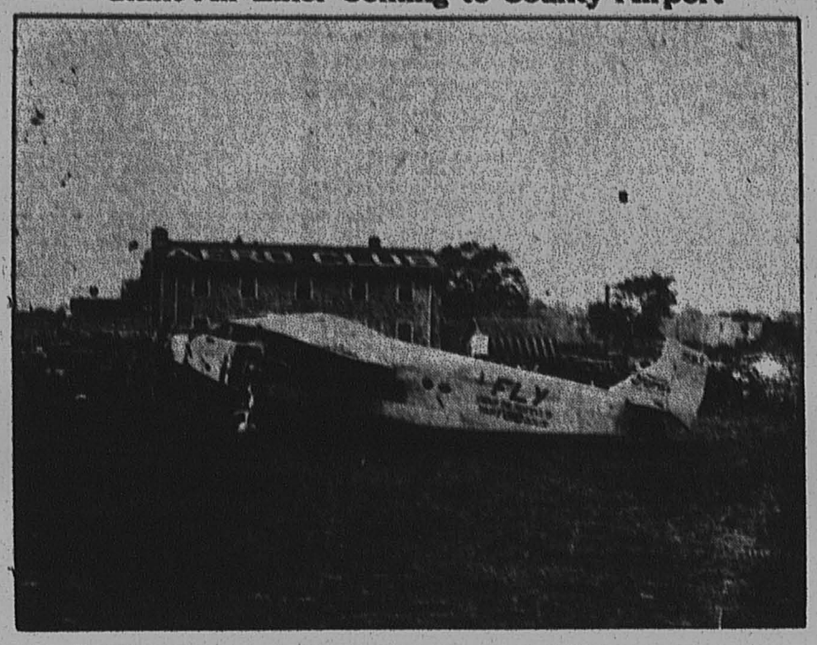

Steeplejack Finds That Reflected Light Caused "Miracle" at Freehold

A steeplejack has solved the mystery of the glowing cross atop the steeple of St. Rose of Lima Church, at Freehold, N. J., which many believed of supernatural origin.

Since the death last month of Monsignor Frederick Kivelitz, for 59 years pastor of the church, thousands of persons visited the neighborhood at night and reported a rose-colored glow about the cross.

James Montague, of Trenton, explained the mystery last week. Climbing to the tower he discovered that the light was due to reflection of moonlight and street lights on the peeled golf leaf shell of the cross.

Giant Air Liner Coming to County Airport

The above is a photograph of the giant Ford tri-motored all-metal Monoplane which will visit the Burlington County Aero Club's Airport, Saturday and Sunday, June 7-8, under the auspices of the Fortnum Ford agencies in Palmyra and Bridgeboro. The big machine is coming as a part of a two year's educational tour of the country and arrangements are being made to give residents of this section an opportunity of making flights in this luxurious 14-passenger plane. Tickets for flights may be obtained from either of these agencies.

FORD TRI-MOTOR TO ARRIVE SOON

Will Afford Many Opportunity to Fly in Modern Air Liner

Much enthusiasm is anticipated over the visit of the Ford-Motored All-Medal Monoplane making a visit of all the principal cities of the United States which will stop here and operate for two days June 7-8, under the auspices of the Fortnum Ford Agency.

The plane will make aerial tours over this section and Philadelphia at regular intervals during its stay at the County Airport near Moorestown. Each tour will be of fifteen minutes duration and cover approximately twenty to twenty-five miles. The purpose of the tour is to promote aviation and to provide an opportunity for the public generally to see and ride in a modern airtransport. Giant air-liners of this type are now operating daily on regular schedule carrying passengers between various cities and several new lines have already been announced to start operation soon.

The visit of this plane has the sponsorship also of the County Aero Club and other civic organizations who welcomes this opportunity to help them develop the local interest in aviation.

"In the early days of automobiles, the stigma 'bad roads' stuck to communities that failed to grasp the need for better roads to smooth the way for this new vehicle. "Inefficient railroad service" has hampered the development of cities that might have become important commercial centers, and now that a new revolutionary portation, the towns and cities of to-leap forward has been taken in transday are going to be greatly influenced by the degree of attention they pay to airports, and the encouragement they give to commercial flying," said Mr. Schwartz of the Fortnum Agency, who is handling all arrangements.

Tickets for flights may be obtained at the Fortnum Agency in either Palmyra or Bridgeboro.

POLITICAL

Former Governor A. Harry Moore will be the principal speaker at the Bevel-Edge Club dinner in Beverly on Thursday evening, May 29.

Ernest Watts, well-known Burlington lawyer and city solicitor of that city, has announced his candidacy for membership in the Board of Freeholders. Mr. Watts is a Republican.

William H. Parry, of Newark, former State Senator and also a product of Burlington County, being born at Hainesport, where his mother and sister still reside, has taken the stump for Hon. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen for United States Senator, and it is said he is making some mighty fine talks in favor of his candidate.

A second attempt to obtain passage of a resolution at the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs held recently in Atlantic City, reiterating its stand in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment, failed by a vote of 343 to 91. The convention was thrown into wild disorder when the measure was proposed.

The tenth annual convention of the New Jersey League of Women Voters was held in the parish house of the Church of the Redeemer, at Morristown, last week, and was attended by women prominent in the organization in various parts of the State. Among presidents of units located in this County who attended were Miss Helen Paul, Moorestown, and Mrs. Frances Firth, Burlington. Mrs. Elizabeth G. Terry, of Beverly; Mrs. Pearl Bridegum, of Hainesport, and Mrs. John G. Gillam, of Mount Holly, represented the Mount Holly-Edgewater Park unit.

Smith Sees Successful Drive Against Beetle by Thousands Property Owners

Entomologist Says Application of Lead Arsenate to Lawns and Golf Courses Has Spelled Doom to Millions of Pests and Grubs

A most successful drive against the Japanese Beetle has been carried out this spring by thousands of property owners in this section. The treatment of hundreds of acres of lawns and golf courses in the 30-mile radius of Philadelphia City Hall, is resulting in the destruction of millions of Japanese Beetle grubs that have been hidden in the soil awaiting the proper time to emerge in June.

The application of tons of lawn fertilizer carrying lead arsenate has resulted in the destruction of these beetle grubs that have been busy gnawing at the roots of the grasses in the lawns and on the golf courses. Large amounts of the lead arsenate applied alone to other hundreds of acres has also spelled the death of additional millions of beetles in the last five or six weeks.

In explaining this newest and most certain method of killing the beetle, Loren B. Smith, Principal Entomologist in charge of the beetle laboratory at Moorestown, qualifies these statements by saying, "While we know from actual experience that by treating a lawn fifty by one hundred feet with the lead arsentee, many thousands of beetle grubs will be killed, the owner must not expect that he will have no beetle infestation this summer as countless numbers will flock over to his property from his neighbors who have not treated their lawns in the same manner."

Sees Owner "Doing His Best"

"There is a certain satisfaction," continued Mr. Smith, "that by treating a lawn the owner can proudly state that he has done his little bit to rid his community of this pest. The destruction of a few thousand beetles even in the isolated lawn that has been treated may not reduce the beetle population in that community to any great extent this season, but as after this treatment the lead is good for several years without further applications, it will have a cumulative influence in gradually cutting down the number of beetles in that community," stated the beetle specialist.

The beetle population will also be further reduced as other property owners in the same neighborhood will gradually come around to treating lawns with the lead arsenate. "It is possible," declared Mr. Smith, "to reduce the beetle infestation through this method to where it was ten years ago, if a large enough proportion of the property owners would treat their lawns in this manner."

"At the laboratory here at Moorestown, we consider the lead arsenate treatment as one of the most certain means of combatting the beetle that we have ever discovered," said the representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who has spent years on this work. "Unlike sprays and traps, once the treatments have been applied to the lawn, it is equally as effective several years from now as it was when applied. The rains or a thorough sprinkling of the lawn immediately washes the poison down in the soil where the beetles are feeding and it takes only a very small amount of it to kill a beetle grub," explained Mr. Smith.

Results Can't Be Seen

"The only unsatisfactory thing about the lead arsenate treatment is that the owner never realizes how many beetles he has killed as they never appear above ground after they are poisoned, while with the sprays and traps he has dead beetles as evidence of his labors."

LICENSES OF 241 REVOKED BY ACT

Commissioner Hoffman Obliged To Take Driving Privileges by Legislation

The high-water mark in revocation of licenses for failure to comply with the Financial Responsibility Act in the State of New Jersey, was reached during the past week, when Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Harold G. Hoffman, was obliged, under existing legislation, to revoke two hundred and forty-one licenses.

Commissioner Hoffman has expressed the opinion that a large number of these revocations are due to failure to understand the provisions of the law, and he is moving to correct this by the compilation of a non-technical pamphlet explaining the provisions of the act, to accompany the original notice sent each person who becomes subject to the financial responsibility law.

"There are also cases," said Commissioner Hoffman, "where, because of the apparent injustice in the law, certain motor vehicle operators are placed in a frame of mind that prompts them to refuse to comply with its provisions and their driver's licenses, under the act, must be revoked.

"Under this act, for instance, a person operating a car in a perfectly legal manner, at a moderate rate of speed, and on the right side of the road, can have his car struck by a vehicle being driven wildly by a 'drunken driver'. When the report of this accident is made, I am obliged, under the law, to call upon the innocent operator, as well as the guilty one, to furnish proof of financial responsibility, for a period of three years. This must be done, because the law requires a certificate from any person 'concerned' in an accident.

"This apparent injustice may, however, be an administrative necessity; unless both parties were required to furnish insurance, we would be placed in a position of determining just who is right and who is wrong in all accident cases. The insurance companies charge 10% for filing a certificate, where the owner or operator has previously been insured, and the insured loses his merit rating by reason of a conviction, even though it is for a minor violation."

"The law requires insurance in amounts of $5,000 and $10,000, with $1,000 property damage. The man who happens to carry insurance in larger amounts, say $100,000 to $200,000, which results in greater protection to the public, therefore pays a greater penalty than the man who carries a policy in lesser amounts.

"The law in its present form establishes a perpetual 'Christmas Eve' for the insurance companies."

EXECUTIVE TO WED

County Scout Head to Marry Burlington Girl, May 29

The engagement of M. A. Shaw and Miss Frances Randolph Hawkey, both of Burlington, has recently been announced.

Mr. Shaw, who has a wide circle of friends throughout the county and is well known here, is the Burlington County Scout Executive. He came to the county council several months ago, formerly having made his home with his parents in Worcester, Mass. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkey, York street, Burlington, and is a popular member of the younger set in that community.

The wedding, which will be private, will be on Thursday, May 29.

John Sankavich, of Chicago, is a peaceful citizen who never noses into his neighbor's affairs, and he doesn't understand why other folks cannot bequally considerate. When a census enumerator began asking him questions, John said: "I mind my business and you mind yours."

JUDGE WARREN DAVIS LAUDS BILLY SUNDAY

Tells Evangelist What a Blessing He Has Been To Burlington County

Judge Warren Davis, of the United States Circuit Court, mounted the platform of the tabernacle Sunday evening, and before a huge crowd told the Rev. "Billy" Sunday what a blessing he had been to Burlington county. The judge said that every case entering his court in New Jersey, Pennsylvania or Delaware, involved at least two million dollars, but that his service for the welfare of the land was trifling compared to the benefits of Billy Sunday's preaching.

Billy Sunday closed his five weeks of strenuous preaching on Sunday evening, using as his text the word of Pharoah to Moses, "Tomorrow." He dealt very forcefully with the evils and sad consequences of putting off until tomorrow what should be done today.

This was a very memorable occasion at which more than forty-five hundred people were present.

Testifying against Miss Flora Agnew, charged with disorderly conduct, Mrs. J. C. Clayton, of Chicago, said the young woman's "language was as thick as the paint on her face."

CHAMP WOMAN LOOPER

Another remarkable airplane feat by a woman was performed a few days ago when Miss Laura Ingalls of New York made 344 consecutive loops over a field at St. Louis, setting a new world's record for women.

But that was not all. After replenishing her gasoline from a reserve tank while in the air, she made 66 additional loops before landing, but these did not count for record. The total of 410 loops was made in an hour and 45 minutes at an altitude of about 8,000 feet.

Upon landing Miss Ingalls expressed disappointment that she had to stop to refuel, as she had set out to make 400 consecutive loops. Her great record was an official one, however, as her performance was checked by representatives of the International Aeronautics Federation, who used field glases and a counting machine to verify the number of loops made.

Miss Ingalls is 25 years old, and recently received her transport pilot's license, being the 15th woman in the United States to qualify under the rigid requirements for such a license.

The courage and skill of the rapidly increasing number of women flyers compels the highest admiration.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING

Usually the argument is made that every business concern should advertise. Generally speaking, this is true, but there are exceptions. In fact, some concerns hardly dare to advertise, because they can not make good according to the requirements of modern business practices.

When advertising is untruthful or misleading it does more harm than good. Only an enterprise which fulfills the promises made in its advertising can stand the spotlight of publicity. Hence, when we find a store or other business establishment boldly advertising its wares or service, month after month and year after year, we may generally conclude that it can and does give real values.

Observing the advertised businesses of any community, large or small, will enable one to identify the most dependable concerns in that community. Only efficient and reputable establishments dare to advertise.

SUN MAY COOL OFF

For many years astronomers have speculated regarding the possibility that some day the sun will have exhausted its heat and become cold.

Dr. E. L. Trevine, president of the Mexican Astronomical Society, is one who holds this view, and points out that thousands of now extinct suns are known to have existed in the dim past. In lectures at the University of Edinburgh, Prof. A. S. Eddington also expresses the belief that the universe is slowly running down, although he admits the possibility that the heat thrown off by the sun and other stars may be gathered again in some manner to form new suns.

In any event, Old Sol appears to be good for a billion years or more, so his ultimate end has little practical interest for us. But it is fascinating to contemplate what may be the final fate of mankind when, if ever, our solar system begins to undergo a marked change, such as these astronomers predict.

MERGERS

Consolidation of several small enterprises to make a single large one is not confined to manufacturing industries. Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, who knows what he is talking about most of the time, says that more than a million acres of Kansas farm lands are now owned by corporations, and that recently one corporation bought thirty farms in the winter wheat region and merged them.

Corporate farming is more of a business enterprise and less of a mode of living than farming by an individual is. According to Senator Capper, these farm corporations hire men who leave their families behind, to go out in the Fall and put in the crop. In Summer they hire other men to come in and harvest the crop. The rest of the year nobody lives on the big farms.

That seems menacing to the Senator from Kansas. He thinks it will result in depletion of the soil, through lack of crop rotation, maintenance of fertility and diversification. It is hard to believe that any group of capital engaging in business on a large scale would be so short-sighted as not to take those things into consideration and apply the most modern principles of agriculture to their enterprise.

LONGEVITY

Human life is not getting any longer, according to the men who make a business of studying vital statistics. The average life is longer because a large proportion of babies live to grow up. Fewer people die in childhood and early life than formerly, but the man who reaches fifty-four, which is the average expectation of life of every new-born baby in America, has no better chance of living to seventy than his grandfather did; not so good, according to some.

Certainly the average life of a President of the United States is shorter than it used to be. Col. Leonard P. Ayres, of Cleveland, one of the world's famous statisticians, points out that Mr. Taft lived longer—to 72—than any other President since Millard Fillmore, who died 56 years ago. Out of the first eight Presidents Washington, who died at 67, had the shortest life! John Adams, living to 90, the longest; the others were 85, 83, 80, 78, 73, and 66 at their respective deaths. The average life of the eight was 80 years and a half. The four latest presidents who died averaged only 66¾ years of life each; McKinley and Harding died at 58, Roosevelt at 61, Harrison and Wilson each at 67, Hayes at 70, Cleveland at 71 and Taft at 72.

The job of President of the United States is getting harder, for one thing. For another, nearly all men work more intensively and wear out their hearts and nervous systems earlier than men did a hundred years ago.

BLANKENBUSH
The Drug Store Your Doctor Recommends

The Way of Life
By BRUCE BARTON

"IF A MAN DIE, SHALL HE LIVE AGAIN?"

Sounds almost alluring, doesn't it? Gives one a sort of dreamy feeling just to think of it. Yet, as used in medicine, and quackery as well, it is one of the most deadening combinations of drugs we have at our command.

The originators of the formula known as "H.M.C." claimed at first that a thigh might be amputated without pain under its influence. The attention of the medical world was attracted. That was a good many years ago; and the best surgeons of America are still using the safer method of aether annesthesia; "twilight sleep" dropped back to its very limited sphere and stayed there.

Hyoscin, Morphin and Cactin are the ingredients of the compound; the first two are most powerful drugs, and the more so when used in combination; the latter has, if any effect at all, a very negligible one. My experience with "H.M.C." led me to abandon it early in its history as too dangerous to tamper with.

For instance, a patient of mine, an inebriate, was in delirium tremens—alcoholic mania; he had not slept for four days. Having tried everything else, in despair I gave him a dose of the new "twilight sleep." Well—it worked; within five minutes the man was snoring loudly, and almost blue from cyanosis; he breathed only six times per minute! I stayed at his bedside fourteen hours, until the poison wore away—never more anxious before or since. When he awoke he declared, looking wildly about him, that he had been drugged!

I told him if he hadn't, then there never had been a man drugged. He immediately ordered his belongings packed and left town and I didn't blame him. I blamed myself and the new "twilight sleep." Now I only use the stuff in eighth-grain doses, to soften the terrible pains in childbirth—and I haven't used it even that way in fifteen years.

The quack, however, uses "twilight sleep" as a slogan, and dopes his dupes in his own sweet way with the deadly thing.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

"TWILIGHT SLEEP"

It is the age-old question, asked at the side of every bier.

And what can one say in answer to it?

Every one of us is taught in childhood to believe in God and after life.

"The world just happened," say some men. "It created itself through the operation of natural laws."

But who or what established the natural laws and set them to operating?

When you can dump a load of bricks on a corner lot, and let me watch them arrange themselves into a house—when you can empty a handful of springs and wheels and screws on my desk, and let me see them gather themselves together into a watch—it will be easier for me to believe that all these thousands of worlds could have been created, balanced, and set to moving in their separate orbits, all without any directing intelligence at all.

Moreover, if there is no intelligence in the universe, then the universe has created something greater than itself—for it has created you and me.

Is it easy to believe that a universe without personality could have created us who have personality?

Isn't it easier to believe that our personality is a little part of the great pervading Personality that has created and now permeates the universe?

And if there be a Personality in the universe—a God—what kind of God is He?

He must be at least as good as you or I. He could not have made us better than Himself. The worse cannot create the better.

And if He is a good God, is it reasonable to suppose that He would have planted in human hearts this unquenchable yearning for immortality, and left that yearning unsatisfied?

You and I would not have done so.

Go where you will, from the most savage race to the most cultured, you will find that same instinctive assurance that death is not the end. Would a good God plant that assurance in his creatures merely to mock them?

Without immortality the world is an answerless riddle. We are born; we struggle up through slow years of development; and just as we have reached our highest point of usefulness—we are cut off.

It is hard for me to believe in a universe that made itself, and that ruthlessly casts away its most precious possession—human personality.

It is easier to believe that behind the universe is a guiding Intelligence, of whose personality my own is a tiny spark that shall not go out while He lives.

If I cannot prove that this is so, neither can any one prove to me that it is not so.

And, until some one can disprove it, I find it easier, more helpful, more efficient, to believe.

BOWLING ALLEYS PLANNED TO OPEN EARLY NEXT FALL

Nick Beitz Has Purchased Dietz Property Near Broad, for Building

SOUND-PROOF WALLS OF REINFORCED CONCRETE

Will Start Work Early Next Month; To be Finished by Labor Day

Work will start within two weeks on a fine new building to house eight bowling alleys on Morgan avenue, near Broad street, Palmyra.

The erection of bowling alleys has been a favorite topic for speculation for the past year or so, and many rumors have been current, but this time the venture has definite assurance of being carried through.

The Dietz property at 523 Morgan avenue has been purchased by Nick Beitz, well known Palmyra shoemaker, who plans to build a building in which sound-proof alleys will be installed. The alleys will be in the basement and the first floor will be used as a garage and as a place for the patrons to park their cars.

The present dwelling will be remodelled into a double house, one side of which will be occupied by Mr. Beitz and his family. The new structure will be built on the ground south of the house which is ample for the building which will be 48 feet wide and 95 feet long.

Sold by Lamon

Announcement of the plans were made by Walter D. Lamon, the real estate dealer who negotiated the sale, and affirmed by Mr. Beitz. They have been working on the details of the proposition for several months and have just now completed all arrangements. An agreement of sale has been executed and final settlement will be made in the next few days.

The bowling alleys will be of the finest construction and housed in the most approved type of building. Great care will be used so as to make the installation sound proof. The room used for the alleys will be six feet below the surface of the ground and will extend to a height of four feet above the ground. It will be of reinforced concrete construction with walls sufficiently thick to prevent noise from escaping.

A garage will be erected above the alleys and will be leased by the owner to a responsible party. It will also be of reinforced concrete construction and will be completely modern.

Plans are being made for two afternoons each week to be reserved especially for ladies. Two ladies' bowling leagues are already being formed.

Plan League Bowling

Arrangements are being made for several men's leagues to use the alleys during the winter. The entire project is expected to be finished in time for Labor Day.

The Beitz building on Broad street will also be altered in the very near future and a new store built. Mr. Beitz contemplates adding additional equipment to his shoe repair shop and will need a larger store when he does so. He plans to rent his present shop and build a new store on the east side of his property to take in a part of the barber shop.

This new store will be completed in time for Mr. Beitz's twentieth anniversary in business in Palmyra on July 4th. Mr. Beitz started in business in the building which now houses the Palmyra police headquarters on July 5, 1910. In 1916 he moved into his present location after erecting a modern building there.

Eichner and Weber have the contract for the work of remodelling the old buildings and building the new one.

BIG HORSE SHOW TO BE HELD HERE THIS SATURDAY

Those who remember that display of magnificent horsemanship in the draft horse event last year will be delighted to know that H. H. Bell, of Mount Ephraim, will return his teams, with his son driving as before. There are three new entries in this class, Freihofer Baking Company, Supplee-Wills-Jones Milk Company, and Scott-Powell Dairies.

The horse show is scheduled to last until 6.30, and with 21 events to run off, the entire time will undoubtedly be taken up.

Mrs. M. Albert Linton is chairman of the fete and William F. Reeve is managing the horse show. For weeks committees have been planning for the different tables and there will be unusual and inexpensive things on sale.

List of Hostesses

Mrs. J. Milton Griscom, of Moorestown, and Mrs. Nathan Lane, of Riverton, are joint chairman of the hostesses. Among the hostesses will be Mrs. Watson Shallcross, Mrs. Hans Froelicher, Jr., Miss Helen Paul, Mrs. Louis T. Klauder, Miss Alice T. Lippincott, of Moorestown; Mrs. Frank W. Thacher, Edgewater Park; Mrs. Howard Coe, Mrs. William Porter, and Mrs. E. M. Kinsey, of Riverton; Mrs. Charles Dunn and Mrs. Frank Mathews, of Palmyra. Mrs. Francis W. D'Ollier is chairman of the hostesses of the hot supper.

The cafeteria supper to be served from 5 to 7 o'clock will be under the direction of Miss Helen Woolman, of Riverton, and Mrs. J. Howard Taylor, of Taylor Station. Hot waffles will be made while you wait. Hot supper will also be served to those having reservation.

Dancing, under the chairmanship of Mrs. orace T. Greenwood, of Morestown, will begin in the club house at 8 o'clock and will continue through the evening.

This year will mark the 39th consecutive year that the Cinnaminson Fete has been held and the proceeds each year, in a large measure, carry the overhead and expenses of the Cinnaminson Home, which is located halfway between Riverton and Moorestown.

Numerous other attractions are planned and South Jersey society, which will be well represented, is expected to make this one of the most brilliant and successful events ever held.

Rev. C. Frank Hoffman

Rev. C. Frank Hoffman, aged 29, of Lexington, Va., died suddenly May 8. He had been in swimming with a companion when his heart suddenly gave out and he sank without a struggle. The body was sent to the home of his parents in Cape May for burial on May 13.

The Rev. Hoffman, who was a brother of Mrs. Ernest Chew, of Riverton, graduated last spring and visited her before leaving for his duties in Virginia. He was assistant pastor of the Lexington Presbyterian Church, and student pastor to the Washington and Lee University and the Virginia Military Institute.

AIRPLANE RIDES FOR CENT POUND

Aero Club to Make Unique Offer Over Memorial Day Weekend

How much do you weigh? Only 110 pounds! Why you may ride in an airplane for only $1.10, the lowest rate ever offered in Burlington county.

At least, that is the essence of a unique offer to be made by the Burlington County Aero Club over Memorial Day weekend. In other words, the club will carry passengers in its planes, from the airport, Hartford-Westfield Road, near Moorestown, for a cent a pound. That is, providing you weigh a hundred pounds or more, for $1.00 has been set as the minimum charge.

Lieutenant H. H. Longaker, vice-president and founder of the club, has just made public the good news. The offer will be good for Friday, May 30, which is Memorial Day, and the Saturday and Sunday following, May 31 and June 1.

The Aero Club elected officers at its meeting in the Moorestown Community House Monday evening, choosing Lieutenant C. Victor Williams, of Merchantville, as president, succeeding former State Senator Emmor Roberts.

Lt. Longaker continues as second vice-president and William G. Krusen, of Delanco, is the third vice-president. William deR. French, of Moorestown, treasurer of the club since its organization, was again re-elected, and County Engineer H. B. Smith, of Mount Holly, was returned as recording secretary. John Lockowitz, of Riverton, is the new financial secretary.

BIG FIVE RING CIRCUS COMING TO CAMDEN

Greatest Show on Earth Announces Early Appearance With 1001 New Attractions

It's actually coming. There is but one really great circus. And therefore it was good news which was today received that Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth will soon visit this section—with all its myriad of wonders.

The first advance advertising car heralding the appearance of the colossal amusements organization is now in this territory and its gaily-colored posters and lithographs blazon forth the news throughout the countryside.

Coming on its own four trains of 100 double-length railroad cars, carrying its entire compliment of 1,680 persons and 1,700 animals. The great Ringling-Barnum combined circus will exhibit more new features this year than ever before in its history; including an entire tribe of Ubangi men and women from the remote jungles of Africa, a region in which few white men have ever set foot. These primitive savages with mouths and lips as large as those of full-grown crocodiles will appear as a feature of the main performance, and not as a separate attraction. And there will be a return engagement by popular demand, of Hugo Zacchini, the Human Projectile, who is now fired bodily from a cannon in more terrific and longer flights than last season.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus with its multitude of marvels brought from the four corners of the Earth will exhibit in Camden, Thursday, May 29.

spired by poetry, but it isn't often a picture brings forth poetry, and certified Eighth Grade poetry at that.

I wish I could agree with you that it was a beautiful painting, but if you lived away off here in the hills of New Hampshire with me, and every day saw the northern white birches clear cut against a sapphire sky, you would agree with me that I fell far short of getting the magic quality that is in them.

This is the country of white birches and white pines; they are in their glory here. I have often marveled at their beauty glowing against the diamond air.

But you wait; I am going to try again and see if I cannot come nearer. Yesterday I was over in Vermont, getting acquanted with a glorious white birch, a famous one, spreading in all directions, like a white oak; but I don't know, it seems to me music would do it greater justice than paint.

We'll see. In the meantime I think it was the nicest thing in the world to do what you did.

And from Riverton of all places! Why, my father, and his father, and many other Parrishes spent their summers there long ago; and all the stories of my father's youth were of Riverton.

So thank you a thousand times, Grade Eight, and every good wish to you.

MAXFIELD PARRISH.

The poems written by members of the Eighth Grade and sent to Mr. Parrish are given below.

EARTH AND SKY TOGETHER

The blue sky hovering o'er us
That holds the world together,
But God has it as one united form
Earth and sky together.

The white birch standing on yonder plain.
The plains that clash, no never,
But with a continuation that seems to meet—
Earth and sky together.

Old Mother Nature and her wonder work—
The soil men have to sever,
But God has it as one united form,
Earth and sky together.

—Sylvia A. Williams.

THE SEASON I LIKE BEST

The birds are here,
The apples are ripe,
And grandfather sits,
Smoking his pipe.

The grass is dark green,
The trees are not bare,
Because everyone has seem them,
Why should I care?

The roses are red,
The violets are blue,
There's thunder, I dread,
And lightening, too.

The farmers are growing,
Almost every grain,
Hoping and praying
That there will be rain.

With birds and trees,
With sun and rain,
That summer's the season for me
Is very plain.

—Lucile Fisher.

THE BIRCH TREE

I like to see the birch tree in the Spring,
When it is dressed up in its leaves
And is gently bowing in the breeze.

As the farmer plows by
He often stops and wonders why,
God would let a birch tree die.

—LeRoy Harrison.

UNDER THE EVENING SKIES

Under the evening skies....
I took my plow and horse,
And worked away until dark,
Turning the dirt yellow and coarse.

By this process o'er and o'er,
Still, with my horse and plow,
I helped to make the land
What I hope it to be now.

In those days far back,
The blue of the evening sky,
Seemed to make work easier
With the help of the white birch nigh.

It stood robed in white, like a kind,
Upon a clay throne-tan,
Swaying gently in the breeze
O'er looking the land.

—Rose Shockly.

WEST OF THE GREAT DIVIDE

Out in the West
A white birch did stand.
It was put there by God
And not by man.

Up on the hill
It stands as a guide
Welcoming strangers
West of the Divide.

The earth below,
And the sky above,
Give a wonderful impression
Of all that is love.

With its beautiful branches
All covered with white,
It gives to the traveler
A wonderful sight.

It grows in the most unexpected place,
Out on the mountainside,
But ever its branches seek God's face
West of the Great Divide.

—Samaria Turner.

AN ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Fitler, of "The Terraces," Rosemont, formerly of Riverton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nan Fitler, and Mr. William Lawrence Graham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence Graham, of Masontown, Pa. Miss Fitler, who made her debut in 1925, attended Westover School and is a member of the Junior League. Mr. Graham was graduated from Yale in 1929 and is a member of the Cloister Club.

MAPLE SHADE'S NEW BUILDINGS DEDICATED

Ceremony For Church and School Which Was Recently Completed Held Sunday

Dedication of the new church and school of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, on Main street and Fellowship road, Maple Shade, took place Sunday, May 18, at the church. The ceremony began at 2.30 in the afternoon when the procession left the rear of the building and proceeded north on Poplar avenue to Main street, thence east on Main to the front of the church, and then inside.

The Columbus Cadets, school children, altar boys and Reverend Clergy made up the procession. Many clergymen of note were present to dedicate the two fine buildings which have just been completed.

The celebrity was the Right Rev. Monsignor M. R. Spillane, V. G., while the deacon and sub-deacon were the Rev. Thomas Rudden and the Rev. Joseph M. Sutliff, respectively. The master of ceremonies was the Rev. Thomas U. Reilly, Chancellor of the Diocese.

The Rev. James I. Ryan, of Westfield, preached the sermon. Following the ceremony was the benediction.

GRAF ZEPPELIN EXPECTED IN LAKEHURST ON MAY 28

The Graf Zeppelin, mightiest of the dirigibles, proud and storm-seasoned veteran of five trans-Atlantic crossings and a record-smashing, round-the-world voyage, will leave its home hangar at Friedrichshafen, Germany, on Sunday, May 18, for New York—its fourth visit to American shores. The huge silver sky cruiser will once again be under personal command of Dr. Hugo Eckener. The Zeppelin is scheduled to arrive at the naval air station at Lakehurst on May 28 or 29. It will come here via South America, and will make but three stops 'en route, namely: Seville, Spain; Rio Janeiro and Pernambucco, South America. It will carry passengers and mail as on previous trips.

TIRES as good as these USUALLY COST A LOT MORE MONEY

...but these are Goodrich Cavaliers...really fine tires at really low prices

MEAN that? Of course, we mean it! And we can prove it, too . . . any way you want to name! Find a tire that matches the Cavalier point by point and you'll find a tire that costs more!

That's because Cavalier is made by Goodrich. Made under the strictest standards in the business. Made to stand up as only Goodrich Tires stand up . . . in spite of bad roads, high speeds, quick stops, constant punishment.

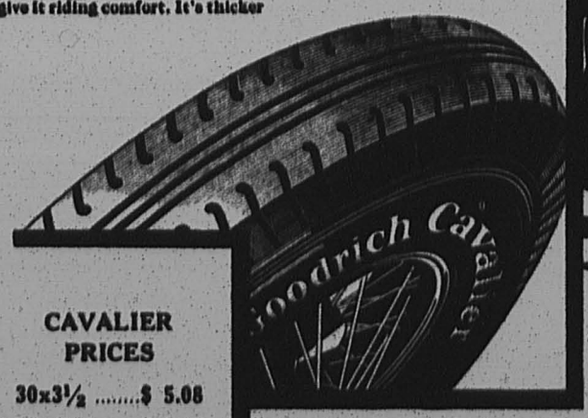

It's bigger in cross section to give it riding comfort. It's thicker through the tread, to give long life and high mileage.

Its carcass is of weftless cord . . . its tread rubber is dense and slow wearing. And the whole tire is water-cured to give it equal toughness all the way through.

Yet with all that, Cavaliers cost less than just ordinary casings.

So if you want to see a good tire . . . see Cavalier. Your size in stock now . . . and two sizes for trucks. They won't last long . . . so come in quickly. Tomorrow, sure.

CAVALIER PRICES

30x3½	$ 5.08
29x4.40	$ 5.96
29x4.50	$ 6.90
30x4.50	$ 6.96
31x5.25	$10.95
33x6.00	$13.60
30x5HD	$20.25

YOU NEED NOT WORRY when roads get rough or when your schedule calls for high speed, if your tires are Cavaliers! Goodrich built an extra margin of stamina into these tires to keep tire worries off your mind. And still these tires cost no more and often less than merely ordinary quality!

RIVERTON OPENS SEASON BY 9-0 VICTORY OVER BURLINGTON

Clayton Welkman Pitched Air-tight Game Allowing Only Six Hits

NEW TEAM SEEMS TO BE WINNING COMBINATION

Borough's Mayor Hurls a Strike as Team Opens Season

The Riverton A A's baseball team opened its 1930 season by defeating the Farnerville team, of Burlington, by a 9-0 score.

Mayor Howard M. Rogers gave the boys a good send-off when he tossed out the first ball of the season. His Honor stepped into the pitcher's box and threw one over the pentagon for a perfect strike.

Neither team scored in the first three innings, and the game looked as though it might be closely contested, but in the fourth frame the Riverton boys started fireworks and plenty of them to the tune of four runs.

They scored another trio of runs in the fifth and added single markers in each the sixth and seventh innings.

Play by Play

McCloskey, the first Burlington batter to face Welkman, was retired on strikes. Shreve Nelson gathered in Jones' fly to left field. Kilpack was tossed out at first by Williams at short.

Clinton fanned Franks the first Riverton batter; Bottger fouled out to Kilpack. William flied out to Pitco in left.

Second Inning

Bottger retired Broderson at first, unassisted. Pitco and McConnel hit successive singles but were unable to score as Welkman tightened and fanned both M. Kilpack and A. Pitco.

Nelson was retired at first by Broderson. Jones gathered in Eisley's grounder and threw him out at first. "Chick" Foulke worked a pass to first out of Clinton but Kranta was thrown out at first, McCloskey to Broderson.

Riverton Loads Bases

Welkman fanned Clinton to start the third frame. McCloskey singled but was out at second, Welkman to Franks. Jones took three swings at Welkman's shoots and retired.

Riverton loaded the bags in their part of the third frame after two were down but failed to score. Buckholts flied out to center and McCloskey's throw beat Welkman to first.

Franks walked and Bottger was safe on Clinton's error. Clinton lost his control temporarily and walked Williams. The best Shreve Nelson could do was to hit a grounder to the pitcher who threw him out at first.

Fourth Frame Fireworks

Kilpack and Broderson retired on flies to the outfield and Pitco singled but Buckholts made a perfect throw to Franks at second for the third out.

Jack Eisley opened the home half with a single and took second on Foulke's infield sacrifice. Kranta singled. Buckholts walked, filling the bases. Clayton Welkman came through with a smashing double to score enough runs to win his own game. Franks singled sending Welkman to third and he scored when Jones muffed Bottger's hot grounder. Four hits and four runs. Williams flied out to short and Nelson lifted one to center.

Riverton Adds ThreeMore

Only four men faced Welkman in the fifth. He fanned McConnel the first batter. Faulke threw Kilpack out at first. A. Pitco singled but Clinton fanned.

Jack Eisley started the fifth frame rally when he was safe on McCloskey's error. Faulke flied out to third. Kranta came through with his second and scored with Eisley when Buckholts smashed a double. Welkman came to bat and collected his second hit, another blazing two-ply wallop which scored Buckholts. Franks was out at first on a throw from short to first and "Speed" Bottger popped up to Jones at short.

Sixth Inning

McCloskey pried open the sixth frame with a long fly to Eisley. Chick Faulke handled Jones' grounder and retired him at first with a perfect peg. Kilpack garnered his hit the day but could not advance as Broderson again filed out to Franks in right.

Riverton Gets Another

Williams was safe on McCloskey's muff. He took second on Nelson's infiel dout and scored when Jack Eisley slammed a hot one through the infield for a single. Kilpack's throw to McConnel at second was perfect and retired Jack. Faulke walked and Krants fanned.

Seventh Inning.

Pitco lifted one to Nelson. Welkman issued his first pass to first by walking McConnel. M. Kilpack was the second out on a fly to Nelson. Pitco popped up to Williams at short.

Buckholts scored Riverton's last run in the seventh after he walked. Welkman was safe when M. Kilpack dropped his fly. Franks filed to McConnel at second. Bottger cracked a single which scored Buckholts. Williams was safe on a fielder's choice and Welkman and Bottger advanced and tried to pull a double steal, but Welkman was run down between third and home. Nelson hoisted one to center field for the third out.

Eighth Inning

J. Clinton walked but only advanced to second. McCloskey was thrown out at first by Welkman. Jones fanned. Kilpack hit to Faulke who threw him out at first.

"Bud" Griffenberg, who replaced Eisley for the last two frames, opened Riverton's half with a foul fly to the catcher. "Chick" Faulke crashed a solid double down the left field foul line but died on base as Krants and Buckholts both were victims of J. Clinton's pitching.

Ninth Inning

Broderson slammed a hot towards second which Franks handled for the first out. Bottger retired. Pitco unassisted. Welkman's th row beat McConnel to first to end the game.

Although the score would indicate an easy victory for Riverton it was necessary for the locals to be on the hop all the time. Clayton Welkman pitched a very good game allowing but six hits, two bases on balls and fanning eight men.

The support given Welkman was errorless and with men on base Welkman was master of the situation.

Welkman led the sluggers with two doubles while Krantz had two singles. Eisley also collected two singles. Buckholtz and Faulke each had two-base hit. Franks and Bottger each added a single to the base hitting. Williams and Nelson were the only regulars to go hitless.

PALMYRA BEATS CAMDEN CATHOLIC

Chase Trio of Hurlers to Score Ten Runs on as Many Base Hits

The Camden Catholic High School tossers closed their season at Palmyra Tuesday afternoon by dropping their second tussle to Palmyra High School by the score of 10 to 7.

Earlier in the season the "Pals" ran roughshod over the "Irish" pitchers, and accomplished the same trick Tuesday afternoon. The game was marked by heavy hitting on both sides, but was marred considerably by the faulty playing of the participants.

Coach Hertzler used three pitchers in an effort to halt the rampage of the home team. Bill McIntyre started the tussle for the Camden lads, but did not last the first inning, being replaced by "Sonny" Cunningham, after he had issued four consecutive walks, permitting the "Pals" to score their first run.

In the second Cunningham was forced to take to the showers, after the Burlington County lads had crossed the plate on six occasions. The home team continued its attack on McCarty in the third by scoring three more markers, but from then on the final "Irish" hurler held the homesters at bay.

The "Pals" only outhit the invaders by one smack, collecting 10 safeties against nine for Camden Catholic. Three of the invaders' bingles went for extra bases, Henion getting the longest hit, a triple, while McGuire and Burns each poled out a double. McGuire led the attack with three safeties, while Sheers, Terrell and Pole led the hitting for the winners with two apiece.

TENNIS COURTS OPEN SATURDAY

All Interested in Playing Invited to Join Association; Dues Are Very Moderate

The Palmyra Tennis Association will hold its official opening Saturday. Tournament play and team practice will begin the week following the opening.

The dues are ten dollars per year for men and six dollars for women, one half payable on May 24 and the balance before June 30. Dues are payable at the courts, or may be sent to Frank E. Chambers, Broad and Lincoln avenue, Palmyra.

The courts are in better shape than ever before and the townspeople are urged to come out and make this one of the most successful seasons the Palmyra Tennis Association has ever experienced.

COLORED FLASH STARS FOR 'PALS'

Stanford Romps Away With 220 and 440 at Atlantic City Meet

The Palmyra High School track and field athletes gave a fine account of themselves last Saturday afternoon when they clashed with the strong Atlantic City team at the seashore resort.

The "Pals" scored 29½ points against 42½ for their rivals. Considering that the resort school is a Class A institution and one of the largest in the State, the showing of the Palmyra lads was one which reflects much credit on their efforts.

The individual star of the meet was Stanford, the colored speed demon. He fulfilled Coach Lever's expectations in the two track events in which he entered, winning easily in the 220-yard dash and the 440-yard run, annexing 10 points for the "Pals."

Bruno wa sthe only other Palmyrian to take a first place in the meet. He won the honors in the pole vault with a jump of nine feet four inches. First place in the high jump was a tie between Green and Conwell, both Palmyra boys.

The summaries:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Metz, Atlantic City; second, Pettinga, Atlantic City; third, Evans, Palmyra. Time 10 3-5 sec.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Stanford, Palmyra; second, Metz, Atlantic City; third, Weeks, Atlantic City. Time 23 3-5 sec.

440-Yard Dash—Won by Stanford, Palmyra; second, Kibbe, Atlantic City; third, Mendte, Atlantic City. Time 53 2-5 sec.

880-Yard Run—Won by Mills, Atlantic City; second, Mendte, Atlantic City; third, Moore, Atlantic City. Time 2 min. 10 3-5 sec.

High Jump—First place tie between Green and I. Conwell, Palmyra; third, tied between O'Neill, Atlantic City, and J. Conwell, Palmyra. Height 5 ft. 5 ins.

Pole Vault—Won by Bruno, Palmyra; second, Davies, Atlantic City; third, Merrill, Palmyra. Height, 9 ft. 4 ins.

Shot-Put—Won by Halliday, Atlantic City; second, Fletcher, Palmyra; third, Weeks, Atlantic City. Distance 38 ft. 4 1-2 in.

Broad Jump—Won by Rosenberg, Atlantic City; second, Kibbe, Atlantic City; third, Evans, Palmyra. Distance 19 ft. 10 ins.

Mile Relay—Won by Atlantic City (Halliday, Mills, Moore, Metz); second Palmyra (Paulson, Dages, I. Conwell, Stocker). Time 3 min. 48 sec.

PARRY IS WINNER IN TENTH INNING

Reagle's Triple and a Single by Reynolds Breaks Up Thrilling Contest

Parry A. A. nosed out a victory in a thrilling 10-inning game with Lenola last week by a score of 10 to 8 on the home grounds.

Six errors by the home team were almost enough to lose the game which was pulled out of the fire in the tenth when Manager Bill Reagle poled out a long triple and scored on a sacrifice by Reynolds.

Reagle was the batting star of the day with a perfect average for his five trips to the plate, two singles, a double, triple and a sacrifice. Johnny Broderson was runner-up for batting honors with two singles and a triple. E. Smith and E. Haig were the bright lights for Lenola with a single and a double each.

Schultz was the hurler for Parry and whiffed 12 men. R. May tossed the apple for Lenola and fanned 9.

Parry is playing first class ball again this season wth a clean record of four wins in four starts. Coming attractions on the Parry field are as follows: Marlton A. C., May 25; Columbia A. C., Memorial Day, morning and afternoon; Haddonfield Cubs, June 1; Locustwood A. A., June 8; Beverly Red Jackets, June 15.

1,313 POULTRY KEEPERS WAR ON WORMS, DISEASE

New Brunswick.—More than 1,300 poultrymen and poultrywomen, owners of nearly 2,000,000 chicks, comprise the New Jersey army that is warring on the diseases and parasites that annually exact a heavy toll from the State's $28,000,000 poultry industry. All of these poultry keepers are enrolled in the "Wage War on Worms and Disease Campaign" of the Extension Service, New Jersey College of Agriculture and Experiment Station. From the poultry specialists and County agents of this institution, the poultry keepers receive information and advice on how to reduce mortality from disease and parasites.

Sunday services as follows: Sunday School at 10.00 a. m. Church service for children in Primary Department under direction of the Primary teachers, at same time as the regular Church service. 11.15 a. m. Church service, sermon subject, "The Mission of Jesus." BYPU service at 6.45 p. m. Subject, "How Missionaries Advance World Peace." Preaching service at 7.45 p. m. Sermon subject, "Our Priceless Heritage." There will be a visitation of the American Legion at the evening service and the 10.00 o'clock Ritual will be exemplified.

The attendance at Sunday School last Sunday was somewhat lower than usual, probably due in part to the weather.

Well attended services, either in Church or Sunday School, is a source of encouragement both to the Pastor and Sunday School officers.

EPISCOPAL

Rev. G. J. McCormack

A newspaper man once greeted Captain Jack Crawford with the salutation, "Who do you know?"

The poet-scout took out of his pocket a scrap of paper and wrote the following lines:

"What do I know? Poor little me,
I need a microscope to see
What I do Know"

"The overflow
Of nature's riches, all aglow
And sparkling with the stars and dew,
I only know beyond the blue
I cannot see. Poor little me.
What do I know? I know but this;
I know my ignorance is bliss
Most wisely planned.
God's brand! Why, every little flower
That blossoms in His richest bower
Is branded with His wondrous power
And mighty hand.
And thus in everything I see,
From bursting buds to tallest tree,
God's face is peeping out at me—
I've got the brand."

The Spring meeting of the Burlington District Sunday School Association will be held Wednesday, May 28, at St. Andrew's Church, Mount Holly. The Rev. S. Hardman, of Riverside, will be the speaker at the evening session. The annual election of officers will take place. 2.00 p. m., afternon session; 6.00 p. m., supper; 7.30 p. m., evening session.

Everything is ready for the Church School Picnic on Saturday at Knight's Park, Collingswood, and everyone is looking forward to the event. As is the custom teachers and scholars will meet in the Church for a short service at 8.30 a. m. Buses will leave immediately after the service. Those going in the afternoon can get trolleys from Camden to Collingswood.

The C. F. S. will hold a cake sale sale on Saturday of this week. Phone Mrs. W. Branson or Mrs. George J. McCormack.

A good attendance is urged at the play which is being given by the Candidates of the C. F. S. Friday evening, in the Parish House. The title is "The Meadowgold." Mrs. R. C. Anderson is president of the Candidates.

The C. F. S. Seniors will give their play, "Tess's Tongue," at St. Stephen's Church, Beverly, Monday evening.

Services Fifth Sunday After Easter: Morning Prayer and Sermon, "The Voyage of the Mayflower."

Church School and Address, "The Walls of Sparata."

Evensong and Sermon for Children, "Palmyra, The City of Palms."

"Spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil."

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager, Pastor

The season of Pentecost is rapidly approaching. The whole Christian world is celebrating this year this exceedingly significant festival. While the exact dating of early history is of course a matter of great uncertainty, it is thought by many scholars that the first Pentecost, with the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the disciples, occurred in the year A. D. 30. This is accordingly considered the nineteen hundredth anniversary, and is receiving the earnest attention of all Christian churches.

In line with the importance of this great event, the morning services for the next three Sundays in this church will be devoted to a consideration of the meaning and significance and challenge of this great day. The three sermon topics will be "The Pentecostal Year," "The Pentecostal Church," and "The Pentecostal Christian."

The Women's Missionary Society will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, which is open to the public. The Missionary Societies of the Lutheran Churches in Merchantville and Delaware Gardens are also participating in this service. The principal address will be given by Miss Mary Scott, Philadelphia, Pa., one of the staff workers in the Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church. Other short addresses will also feature the program.

The Married Men and the Single Men of the Church have started a series of baseball games which are arousing much interest and enthusiasm among both the players and their respective supporters.

At a business meeting of the Sunday School it was decided to hold the Sunday School picnic on Saturday, June 14, and the Children's Day program on Sunday morning, June 15. More complete announcements of both these events will be made later.

Calvary Presbyterian

Rev. C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its morning service of worship Sunday at 11 o'clock. All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 a. m.; Christian Endeavor Society at 7 o'clock.

At the evening service at 8 o'clock there will be in attendance the Cyclone Commandery, of Camden; the Helena Commandery, of Burlington; Covenant F. and A. M., of Palmyra; and the DeMolay Order, of Camden. All the members of the congregation are cordially invited to attend this service.

The Lord's Supper will be observed on Sunday, June 2nd. Preparatory Service will be held Wednesday, May 28th, in the Church Auditorium at 8 o'clock. Any one wishing to unite with the Church at that time, either by letter or by confession of faith, may do so by consulting the pastor, and meeting the Session at the close of the Preparatory Service.

MRS. FISCHER WINS TOMBSTONE MATCH

Greater Interest in Ladies' Golf This Year Than Ever Before

The Ladies' Tombstone Tournament played at the Riverton Country Club, Tuesday of this week was won by Mrs. Carl Fischer.

This tournament is different than most other tournaments. The players handicap is added to the par for the course, 72 strokes, and the player advancing the farthest on the course in that number of strokes wins the tournament.

Mrs. H. E. Biddle turned in the lowest gross score, 104 strokes.

The other players were: Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Boehme, Mrs. Coe, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Schrader, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Krusen, Mrs. Nevin, Mrs. Sheble, Mrs. Steiner and Miss Biddle.

Every Tuesday is set aside at the Riverton Country Club for the ladies' tournaments. There is more interest and activity in ladies' golf this year than has ever been shown.

Next Tuesday, May 27, the ladies will have a medal play tournament.

This year there are three ladies teams representing the Riverton Country Club in the Suburban Cup matches while in previous years there have been but two.

GERMANTOWN GIRL RETURNED TO MOTHER

16-Year-Old Colored Runaway Detained by Palmyra Police Until Parents Call

Vivian Weaver, 16-year-old colored girl, was returned to her parents Tuesday afternoon by the Palmyra police, after it became known that she had run away from her place of employment in Germantown.

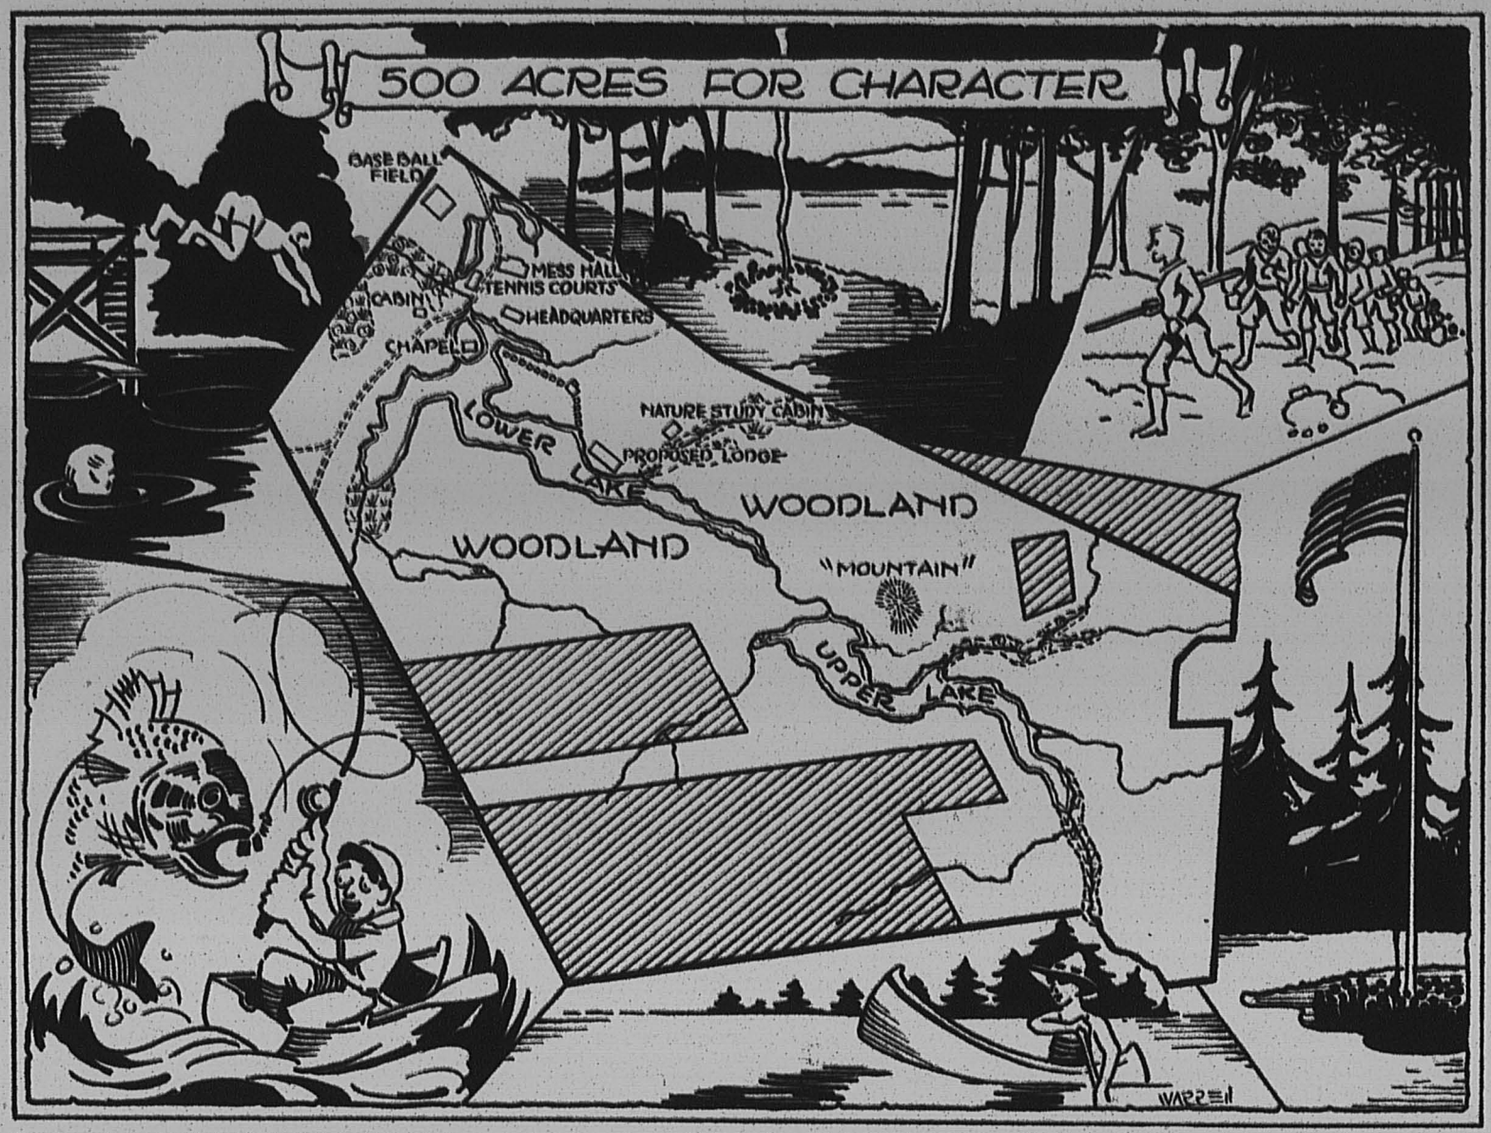

The girl had been employed by Mrs. Harry Hendler as a domestic and had become dissatisfied with her work and also with her home life. She started out to get another job and boarded a train at the Camden terminal without a ticket.

The conductor on the train became interested when the girl told him she did not have any particular destination and asked where she could find work. Thinking it would be well to direct the girl to where her case would be investigated he suggested she get off at Palmyra and ask for work at Mayor Wimer's house.

She did as directed and when questioned by the Mayor told the entire story. She was turned over to the police and detained until her mother called for her.

Postmaster John Jones, of Minifordd, Wales, has retired after walking 160,934 miles in 40 years' service.

Beautiful YMCA Camp Ockanickon to Open For Six Weeks' Summer Season June 18th

The above diagram and picture illustrates graphically the many pleasures of camp life awaiting the boys who are fortunate to enjoy a two-week period of out-of-doors life at Camp Ockanickon this summer. Five hundred acres of nature's wonderland comprise the camp, which has been preserved for the youth of Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, Monmouth and Ocean counties through the organized efforts of the Young Men's Christian Association. The camp is under the direction of YMCA officials and the boys who attend one of the camp periods will have a splendid vacation under able Christian leadership. The woodland, to which the camp owes it beauty, was menaced by the forest fire which raged throughout this section several days ago, but through the heroic efforts of the many friends of the camp little damage was done.

Increased Popularity Marks Fifth Year of Camp Ockanickon at Its Present Site

"500 Acres for Character" To Open June 18 With Added Facilities for Carrying on Y. M. C. A. Work Among the Youth of Five Counties

Camp Ockanickon, the YMCA "500 Acres for Character," will open June 18 and continue until July 30. The camp was established on this site in 1926 and has enjoyed increased popularity each year since.

Ockanickon grows more attractive each season. Those who know the Camp from other years will find many new features in the 1930 camp program, and many improvements to the site.

There will be additional cabins and tent houses; a newly constructed nature study cabin and museum located along the nature trail. There will be additional rowboats. The camp library will have a building all its own. Many ideas will be introduced in the craftwork under the direction of experienced men.

Woodcraft and nature lore will have a larger place in the program. Overnight camping hikes will be especially featured. There will be boating, swimming, life saving instruction and all of the popular program features of other years.

Meals Are Fine

Ockanickon has a reputation for fine meals. The dining room and kitchen are splendidly equipped. Chef Buck, his wife and assistants will look after the meals. Any "old timer" knows what that means! Each cabin or tent has a separate table in the dining hall. Under each counsellor's direction table manners are not neglected.

A combination of the plans of all the men in charge of various phases of camping activity at Ockanickon gives promise of 1930 being a better season than ever before, dedicated to the Christian citizenship training of better American boys.

This year there will be three age divisions of campers, each with its own special head director, in addition to individual cabin or tent counsellors; each division occupying its own separate area. The divisions are 9-11, 12-14, 15-17.

The spaciousness of Ockanickon's "Acres for Character" makes it easily possible for each of the three camps to have ample area for many of their own distinct program activities.

This year camp will run for six weeks, commencing on Wednesday, June 18, and closing July 30. Each new period will commence and end on Wednesday.

Additional information may be obtained from the County YMCA secretary, Guy C. Hendry, Mount Holly, or in the Palmyra-Riverton district, from Secretary William H. Plank, Palmyra, N. J.

Enrollments should be for at least two weeks. This minimum period is stressed because the program is planned for units of two weeks, and a fellow coming for only one week is just really getting into the swing of camp life in a way to have it mean most to him. He doesn't want to have to go home right then.

The cost per week to boys residing in the counties organized for YMCA work (Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, Monmouth-Ocean) is $10.00 a week. At the time of registration a fee of $1.00 is charged for each week for which a Camper enrolls, which is deducted from the $10.00 weekly rate.

It should be borne in mind that the $10.00 a week covers not only board, but instruction in the various interest groups, including swimming and life saving, use of the Nature Study Cabin and of the carpenter shop and woodcraft room, boats and canoes, as well as medical attention by the resident camp doctor.

Ockanickon, organized in 1906, has now been established on a beautiful site of its own since 1926, with 530 acres of woodland, open spaces, two large lakes and numerous smaller ones, picturesque shore lines, gradually sloping sandy bottom swimming beaches. Fine progress has already been made in acquiring necessary equipment for a well rounded camping program.

YMCA Property

The camp is owned and operated by a Board of Trustees of the County YMCA's of Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Monmouth Counties, Medford, N. J., is the Camp Post Office.

The entrance to the camp property is some three and one-half miles south of Medford, down the Indian Mills road. A large entrance sign on the left-hand side, about a mile south of the beginning of the Medford Lakes Development, directs one where to "turn left." Headquarters is about half a mile in from the "main road."

Following is an account of a typical daily program by one of the secretaries:

"I can't get 'em up." "Setting up" exercises. Breakfast at "Ockanick Inn." Morning devotions. Policing. Interest groups, such as camp craft, nature study, construction projects. Morning swim. Instruction class if you're a beginner or can't swim. Preparation of your bunk or cot and camp "home" for inspection. Get ready for personal inspection and dinner.

Right after the mid-day meal the store is open. Then come all sorts of things to do; baseball, volleyball, tennis, track, work-shop projects, nature study observations and collections, quiet games with two or three of your friends, reading, boating, fishing, hiking, ping pong, etc.

Spearing the "Sturgeon"

Afternoon swim, short rest period and then supper. Store again. During twilight hours campus games, boating, spearing the "sturgeon" contests, match volleyball games, preparation for evening entertainment.

Then picture such evening entertainment features as these: Sings and storytelling at the "Bowl," campfire programs for the different "Camps," stunt night by ten groups, a visiting speaker or orchestra or entertainment, movies. Finally comes the call to quarters, evening devotions by the various ten groups, sleep . . . Each new day brings its suggestions of new things to do, new friends to make, old friendships to strengthen. There are discoveries to be made all about in the world of nature, new things you want to learn to do. If you've never been camping there begin now to make your plans. You'll have the time of your young life.

The Men in Charge

Ross S. Musselman, Executive Secretary of the Gloucester County YMCA, will be the 1930 General Camp Director. William H. Plank, Secretary of the Palmyra-Riverton YMCA, will be Director of the Senior Camp. Thomas C. Carter, a Gloucester County Junior Secretary, will be Director for the Intermediate Camp. Wilmer Robbins, a Junior Secretary of the Monmouth County YMCA, will be Director for the Junior Camp. Clifford Ergood, of the Burlington County YMCA, will have charge of water and athletic activities. John D. Merwin, of Camden County, will be the Associate General Director and the Business Manager. Carroll Loughlin, of Gloucester County, will be the Dining Hall Manager. Harry F. Landis, of Palmyra, will be the Camp Doctor. William McKay, Manual Training Instructor of the Woodbury High School, will supervise the Woodcraft shop.

H. H. Pratt, of Gloucester County, will have charge of Nature Lore instruction.

PROTECT TOMATO PLANTS FROM INSECTS' ATTACKS

The supply of early canhouse tomatoes is limited, a situation which makes urgent the need to protect the plants both before and after they are set in the field. Especially to be guarded against are adult potato bugs, flea beetles, aphis and cut worms, insects which have ruined many a stand of tomatoes when preventive measures were delayed. Cut worms may be destroyed through the use of a poisoned bran mash, according to C. H. Nissley, New Jersey extension specialist in vegetable growing. To prepare such a mash, first make a dry mixture of 20 pounds of bran and 1 pound of fresh Paris green. Then mix two quarts of cheap molasses with the juice of 2 or 3 lemons and about 3½ gallons of water. All of these materials are next combined to make a wet mash. As cut worms are active only at night, the bran mash should be broadcast, or small quantities placed near the plants, in the evening.

IN JAIL ON SUSPICION OF STARTING BLAZES

Suspected of having been responsible for causing four of the most serious forest fires that swept through Burlington County, a young man who says he is Harold Edmunds, of Palmer, Massachusetts, is now in the County jail.

He was arrested at Tuckerton by State Troopers when they were informed that he was suspected of attempting to set fire to a house there. Paper and rags had been placed about the property and everything was set for the touch-off, and Edmunds had been seen loitering about the premises.

When arrested he was wearing a special officers' badge containing the seal of New Jersey, and he is said to have impersonated an officer. He told police that he had come from Massachusetts to Philadelphia in search of work, and that finding none he came over to New Jersey to see about fighting the forest fires.

Feeling was so intense about the forest fire situation when he was arrested at Tuckerton that Edmunds came very near being mobbed by a crowd of infuriated men before the State Police took him into custody.

Detective Parker is making an investigation and it is understood that the suspect admitted being questioned by a Massachusetts chief of police who was investigating the origin of some fires there and was ordered to get out of the State before he got into trouble.

GOES TO SOURCE OF STOMACH AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Famous Konjola Scores Fine Victory Over Stubborn Ills of Newark Lady

MRS. H. TRANGNER

"For several years I suffered from stomach and kidney troubles," said Mrs. H. Trangner, 70 Bleeker street, Newark. "Indigestion pains were the bane of my life. Every bite of food fermented and distressed me. Due to the weakness of my kidneys, I was forced to rise many times at night. There was a constant pain across the small of my back and I was subject to dizzy spells, when hundreds of spots appeared before my eyes. Daily I got worse although I tried everything recommended for these ailments.

"But all that is ended now, and I owe all my health to Konjola. When I started the treatment I thought I would receive some relief, but was hardly prepared for the wonderful surprise in store for me. So quickly, yet thoroughly, were my ailments swept away, that I hardly knew what was happening. I eat when I please now, sleep soundly every night, and pains and dizzy spells are things of the miserable past. That is what Konjola did for me and that's why I am enthusiastic about Konjola.

Although Konjola works quickly and many people are greatly benefited within a couple weeks, it is best to take this medicine six to eight weeks for thorough relief.

Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

AUTO PARADE TO MARK OPENING OF NEW BOULEVARD

Highway From Center of Palmyra To Bridge Plaza Opens This Evening

CEREMONIES SPONSORED BY BUSINESS MEN

Lyric Band To be in Line and Give Concert Later in Grove

Appropriate ceremonies will mark the opening of Bridge Boulevard at seven o'clock tonight. The arrangements are being sponsored by the Palmyra Business Men's Association.

The opening ceremonies will start promptly at seven and will be followed by an automobile parade over the new roadway to Cinnaminson avenue, to Broad street, to Riverton Station and return to the Palmyra Municipal Grove.

The parade will be led by the Lyric Concert Band, of Camden, followed by the Mayors and Councils of Palmyra and Riverton, the fire equipment of both municipalities, together with trucks, floats and automobiles representing the various business interests of the community.

The parade will form on Arch street, near the intersection of the new Boulevard, and be ready to proceed immediately after the ceremonies ,which will be held promptly at seven.

When the procession returns from Riverton the band will play several selections in the three main business blocks in Palmyra, where special attractions are being arranged by the business men.

All the stores will be open until late, as it will be the evening before Memorial Day. The public generally is invited to participate and enjoy the evening's entertainment. All expenses are being paid by the business men.

The new boulevard was recently built by the State Highway Department in conjunction with the Borough of Palmyra to form a new outlet for bridge traffic direct to the center of town. It starts at the Bridge Plaza and runs along an extended line of Delaware avenue to an intersection with the road formerly known as Temple Boulevard. It continues along Temple Boulevard to Cinnaminson avenue in the 300 block.

Plans for the ceremonies were enthusiastically approved at a meeting of the Business Men's Association held in the Palmyra Fire House Tuesday evening. Practically all of the men at the meeting agreed to have cars or floats in line and to assist in any way possible to make the occasion a big success.

A committee, consisting of C. R. Sweeney, Joseph Stack, George A. Van Oyen, Harry Williams and Morris Lipkowitz, were appointed to cooperate with Mayor George N. Wimer in arranging the details of the event.

FIELD DAY AND PICNIC ENJOYED BY MANY

Cinnaminson Residents Make Merry With Children at Athletic Meet

The combined P. T. A. picnic and school athletic meet on Friday, the 23rd, was very enjoyable.

The beautiful day, parents coming in numbers, the pupils entering into the sports with enthusiasm, all helped in developing a community spirit.

The two Maypoles with the dancers, were very pretty, while the races with their handicaps, were more than funny.

Best of all, was the exhibit of work done during the year. This was gathered from the different rooms and arranged by the pupils themselves on the walls and tables in the basement.

Prettily covered booklets containing individual work in geography, history, nature studies, literature. Many of them were illustrated by the children themselves. Pictures and posters relating to lessons. Some of the latter made by the lower classes, were very clever.

The Domestic Science and Manual Training classes showed some beautiful finished work.

About five o'clock chattering groups gathered under the trees to enjoy a picnic supper, when hot cocoa was served to all who wished it.

A twilight ball game between the men and boys finished a most succesful day.

Perkins — Saylor

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Norma C. Saylor, daughter of Mrs. N. C. Saylor, of Parry avenue, Palmyra, to Charles Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Perkins, of Cinnaminson street, Riverton, at Media, Pa., on March 20. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, an aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, accompanied the young couple to Media.

CORRECTION

Last week it was stated in this newspaper that Jacob B. Fox planned the erection of a new theatre on his property when he returns from Europe next year. Mr. Fox will leave for Europe June 20, but expects to return this fall and will begin building operations soon afterwards.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ATTEND SERVICES

Cyrene Commandery Heads Parade From Palmyra To Riverton Church

Two hundred Knights Templar, in full uniform, from Cyrenne Commandery, Camden, together with delegations from Helena Commandery, Burlington; Crusade Commandery, Haddonfield, and a hundred members of Covenant Lodge, Palmyra, in civilian clothes, attended services at Calvary Presbyterian Church Sunday evening.

The Riverton Church was chosen in deference to Eminent Commander Daniel M. Clifton, who is a member there. The parade, which formed at the Palmyra station, was led by Cyrenne Commandery Band. DeMolay members, with their fezes, were also in line.

The parade marched up Broad street to Main street and thence to the church. Following the services the procession countermarched to the station again and disbanded.

The sermon was preached by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Charles T. Bates, who took for his subject, "The Divine Pattern."

Mr. Clifton, who is also Riverton's Borough Clerk, praised the police forces of both Palmyra and Riverton for the splendid arrangements made to avoid traffic congestion. Riverton police were aided by firemen in uniform at each intersection.

The forming and disbanding of the parade at Palmyra Station was handled without confusion.

The commander announced Cyrenne Commandery would journey to Haddonfield next Sunday to take part in services with Crusade Commandery.

APPRECIATION

The following letter was received by Director of Public Safety Charles DeLaney this week:

May 26th, 1930.

Mr. Charles DeLaney,
Chairman of Police Committee,
Riverton, N. J.

My Dear Charles:

On behalf of Cyrene Commandery, No. 7, K. T., and our guests, I wish to extend our sincere thanks to you and all your officers, also the boys from the Riverton Fire Company, for the very efficient manner in which they handled the traffic situation last evening during our parade.

Many favorable comments relative to the Police Department were extended to me and in turn I convey them to you and your men for their courteous and efficient service.

With kindest personal regards I remain,

Courteously yours,
DANIEL M. CLIFTON,
Eminent Commander.

MRS. TERRY TAKES STAND FOR FORT FOR U. S. SENATOR

State Committeewoman Quits Morrow Because of Liquor Issue

LAUDS DRY CANDIDATE FOR HIS FINE RECORD

Declares Wets Would Pave Way for Return of Old Saloon Evils

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Terry, of Edgewater Park, Burlington County's woman representative on the Republican State Committee, this week issued the following statement:

With many loyal Republicans of Burlington County, I rejoiced when it was announced that a man of the mental capacity and moral integrity of Mr. Dwight W. Morrow was a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senatorship at the Primaries to be held in June.

Ex-Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, who at one time had espoused the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, had announced his candidacy on a platform which called for the repeal of the Prohibition Amendment, and the distribution of liquor by the United States Government—something which no sincere believer in Temperance could tolerate for a moment.

The loyal Republican women of Burlington County who for so many years had fought so vigorously and persistently for a sober State, felt confident that a man of Mr. Morrow's reputation would declare himself in no uncertain terms in support of the Constitution of the United States and all legislation enacted in the enforcement thereof, and that he would offer some constructive solutions to eradicate the evils that had crept into the administration of the enforcement laws by reason of political manipulations. With that in mind, and in the absence of any statement from Mr. Morrow to the contrary, I, with many other coworkers, was preparing to wage an enthusiastic campaign in his behalf.

Like a bolt from a clear sky came his out and out declaration for the absolute repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and his advocacy of a plan to relegate the entire liquor

SEEK MORE AID FOR HOLLY ROAD

Board of Freeholders To Ask State for Additional Funds

An echo of the forest fires which devastated South Jersey recently was heard at the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday when James McCormick, director of the Department of Bridges, and County Engineer Smith reported that seven bridges had been destroyed by fire and would have to be rebuilt at once.

A resolution was passed authorizing the issuance of emergency notes in the sum of $5,050, the amount thought to be necessary for the work of reconstruction.

Having explained to the Board that the sum appropriated for the widening and improvement of the road between Moorestown and Mount Holly would be insufficient to do the work properly, Charles R. Stout, chairman of the Department of Roads, offered a resolution authorizing the Road Department to appeal to the State Highway Commission for additional aid for this project.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Road Inspection Satisfactory

Mr. Stout submitted a report of the inspection of roads in Burlington County by E. E. Reed, Assistant State Highway Engineer, in company with the Director of the Road Department and County Engineer on May 22, at which time Mr. Reed complimented the County Department on the splendid showing it was making in its maintenance schedule this year, and mentioned particularly the way the penetration macadam construction at Maple Shade is holding up. He said that the improvement should be carried through Moorestown to Mount Holly.

Township Makes Request

Charles DeLaney, representing Remington, Vosbury and Goff, municipal engineers for Chester Township,appeared before the Board with a request that the County assume the expense of improving three streets in Maple Shade, at a cost of about $93,000. The streets are Stiles avenue, Fellowship road and Coles avenue. The State had offered to pay three-quarters of the cost, and the $93,000 represented the part the Township would have to pay if the work was done under the State-Township plan. Mr. DeLaney said the Township was financially unable to raise this amount of money, and suggested that since two of these streets afforded access to the new State Highway S-41 from the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge, and the

CAMPBBELL'S PLANTS SHIPPED TO RIVERTON

For the past two weeks farmers from all parts of South Jersey have been coming to the Riverton Freight Station to get tomato plants shipped from Georgia for the Campbell Soup Company.

The farmers contract to raise these plants for the Campbell firm and they obtain their plants through these carload shipments.

Last year's shipment of 49 cars is expected to be surpassed this year. So far about half the shipment has arrived.

Farmers from Atlantic County to Monmouth County take part in this yearly activity.

TWO TOWNS JOIN IN BIG MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION

Exercises Under Auspices of American Legion To be Held at Cemeteries

HOWITZER COMPANY TO FIRE SALUTE AT GRAVES

Scout Counsellors Will Present Flag To Palmyra; School Children in Line

Special significance will be given the Memorial Day exercises of Palmyra and Riverton, which will begin at 2 p. m. by the unveiling of a bronze plaque containing the names of the heroic dead of Riverton by the honorable Howard M. Rogers, Mayor of Riverton, himself a veteran of the World War. The plaque will later be placed on the wall of the assembly room of Frederick M. Rodgers Post, American Legion, beside that of a similar plaque containing the names of Palmyra's honored dead.

The Mayors and members of Council of both boroughs have been invited to be present and participate in the ceremonies. The pastors of the various churches of Palmyra and Riverton, all of the civic and fraternal organizations, together with the school children of both towns, the Boy and Girl Scouts and the Columbus Cadets have been asked to participate with the members of the local Legion Post.

The Howitzer Company of the 114th Infantry, New Jersey National Guard, under command of Captain Harold West, a member of the local Post, will fire the salute to the dead at both the local cemeteries.

The ceremonies will begin with a parade which will form at the Riverton fire house at 2 p. m., proceed along Broad street to Cinnaminson avenue to Morgan Cemetery and counter march to the Methodist Cemetery. The participants will then assemble in the Palmyra Municipal Grove where addresses will be delivered by the Rev. George J. McCormack, pastor of the Palmyra Episcopal Church, Mayor Wimer and Mayor Rodgers.

An American flag will be presented by the Boy Scouts Counsellor's Association to the Borough of Palmyra. This flag will be returned to the keeping of the Scouts who will raise it each morning with proper ceremonies.

Wesley Hemphill, a student of the Palmyra High School, will deliver Lincoln's Gettysburg address and there will be singing of patriotic airs by the entire assemblage.

The Bugle and Drum Corps of the local Legion Post, New Jersey State Champions, will have a full complement in parade and will furnish the music for marching as well as play several selections in the Grove.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion will provide refreshments for the visiting members of the Howitzer Company and will take charge of the school children in the parade.

The exercises are under the direction of W. Rex McCrosson, member of the National Executive Committee of the Amrican Legion.

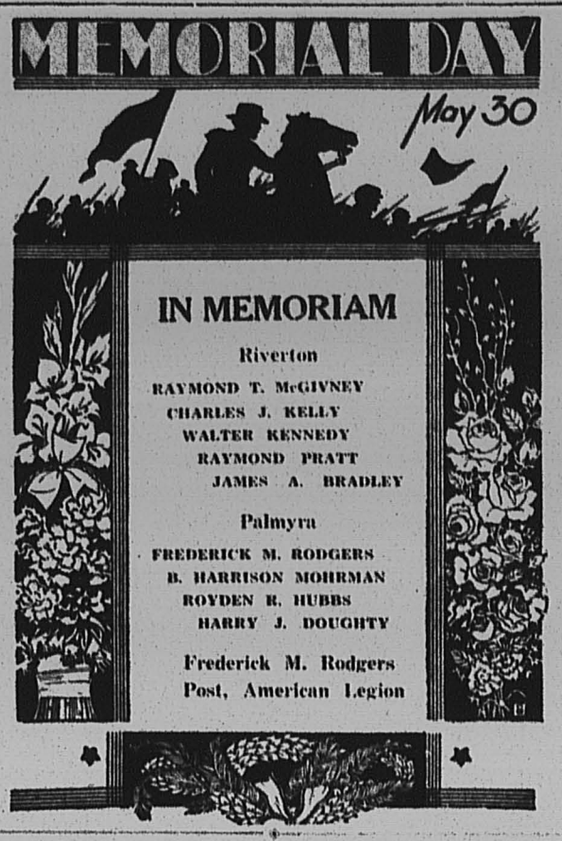

Master of Ceremonies will be Carl Thomas, commander of Frederick M. Rodgers Post.

DRUNKEN MAN HITS OFFICER

Ettore Biancone Injures His Shoulder Trying to Get Away

Sunday night, a little after midnight, Officers Miller and Gootee, of Riverton, arrested Charles Miller, of Riverside, for reckless driving. With him at the time were John Ryan, of Palmyra, and Ettore Biancone also of Riverside.

When the officers arrested the trio, Biancone struck Officer Miller in the stomach. Officer Miller seized the prisoner's right arm and Biancone injured his shoulder when he attempted to break loose. Monday morning Chief of Police Quigley took Biancone to the Zurbrugg Hospital and had X-Ray pictures taken of the injured shoulder. The plates showed that Biancone's shoulder had been badly wrenched in his attempt to get away.

The three men were given a hearing before justice of the Peace Jesse M. Ciddington on Monday and $1.00 costs. Biancone was fined $5.00 and $6.25 costs, for being drunk and disorderly, Ryan was dismissed as he did not have any part in the fracas.

When Officer Miller was searching the car for liquor Biancone threw a bottle out of the car which broke on the highway. This is also a fineable offense. He was also liable to a fine for resisting and assaulting an officer.

SERVICE STATION NETS BANDITS $30

Newlin Bauer is Victim of Latest of Series of Robberies

Another service station robbery occurred at 4.15 Monday morning when a lone bandit held up Newlin Bauer, 17, of Five Points, the attendant at the Atlantic Gas Station at Five Points. The hold-up man took about thirty dollars, twenty-five of which was Bauer's personal money and the balance he took from the cash register.

Bauer was sitting in the station when a young man with a handkerchief across his face entered and ordered him to "stick 'em up." The attendant thought the person was one of several young fellows who often stay there with him at night and did not comply with the order immediately. The bandit then announced the fact that he wasn't "fooling."

Bauer opened the register when ordered to do so and the robber took about six dollars from the drawer. He then felt Bauer's hip pocket and took his wallet, containing twenty-five dollars.

Mrs. Baker, wife of the proprietor, awoke at the talking and awakened her husband, just as the bandit was about to leave. The robber went out and around the right side of the building. Mr. Baker went out and around the other side, nearly bumping into the bandit. When Mr. Baker saw the man he opened fire with five shots from a revolver and the bandit made his get-away across a rye field and on through an orchard and a woods.

Officers Gootee and Miller, of Riverton; Officer Rogers, of Palmyra, and Trooper McGee were called and conducted a search until seven o'clock in the morning. The only thing they found was the bandit's flashlight, which he dropped in his haste to get away.

The bandit is described as being about five feet six inches in height, weighing approximately 140 pounds, wearing blue trousers with black and gray-checked sweater, black shoes and dark cap.

K. of C. WILL TREAT CADETS TUESDAY

Sponsors Well Pleased With Achievements of Boys in Minstrels

On next Tuesday night, June 3, St. Joseph's Council will have a big night at which time the Columbus Cadets will be entertained by the council. Entertainment will be provided and plenty of refreshments will be on hand. The council feels proud of the achievements and progress made by the boys and have turned this night over to them in order to let the full membership of the council see the results of this cadet unit that is being fostered by them.

The recent minstrel show was a decided success and has gone over big, everyone participating, acting his part to perfection, and the committee appreciates the support given to the boys by those attending the affair.

At this same meeting the annual election of officers of the council will take place, so the entertainment committee has provided for a large turnout for this dual occasion.

WATTS WITHDRAWS

Notice was received this morning from the County Clerk's Office of the withdrawal of Ernest Watts from the Freeholder race.

ONLY FOUR AT HEARING ON NEW ZONE ORDINANCE

Two Citizens Ask Questions, Two Look On; Chairman Reads Code

SECOND HEARING WILL BE HELD FRIDAY, JUNE 6

Following This Ordinance Will Go To Borough Council for Final Hearing

Four citizens of Riverton and one member of the Borough Council attended the public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance for Riverton in the Fire House last Friday night. They were C. A. Nesbitt, Max Sontheimer, Joseph M. Roberts and A. O. Cilfillan. The Councilman was Joshua S. Bartley.

Members of the Zoning Commission present at the meeting were: Harry F. Jones, chairman; J. Wilson Sylvester, Dr. Harry L. Rogers and R. H. Stackhouse. The absent member was Herbert Kieckhefer.

Mr. Roberts wanted to know if the restrictions in the zoning ordinance would prevent people from building on certain narrow lots he had in mind. He was assured that if these lots were owned and shown on the tax map as separate lots, nothing in the ordinance would prevent any building uses which were permissible before the Ordinance was passed.

Would Like Change

Mr. Nesbitt wanted to have the section of South Broad street between Steedle's garage and Thomas avenue, placed in the residential portion of the zoning ordinance. It was pointed out to Mr. Nesbitt that it would be practically impossible for the owners of this land to use or dispose of it for other than business purposes.

He was shown on the map that the lot on the corner of South Broad street and Thomas avenue, facing on Thomas avenue, on which it was proposed to erect an automobile show room and service station a few years ago, had been placed in the residential section. This would protect his property, which is next to the corner lot now vacant, from the encroachment of business.

Origin of Zoning Commission

In opening the meeting Mr. Sylvester explained how the commission came about. He said that year before last a Zoning Committee was appointed by Council to investigate zoning for Riverton and report to the Borough Council. The late Edgar Lippincott was chairman of this committee. After an exhaustive study of the subject the committee reported that Riverton should be zoned.

On the strength of this report Council appointed the present Zoning Commission.

Organized in 1929

Mr. Jones said that in March, 1929, he was notified by the Mayor that he had been chosen as chairman of the Zoning Commission. The commission employed John Nolen, well-known town and city planner, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, to prepare a zoning map and ordinance, the purpose of which was to protect Riverton in both its business and residential districts. (Mr. Nolen was represented at the meeting by Justin R. Hartzog.) Mr. Jones then read the ordinance in full and Mr Sylvester read the section of the State law providing for the establishment of a Board of Adjustment and defining its powers.

Would Remove Restriction

Charles Avis, of the Special Advice Department, and W. H. Bottger represented the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Avis requested that the Bell Telephone Company be taken out of the classigcation which required approval of building plans by the Borough Council.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Sylvester pointed out that the ordinance provided that the Bell Telephone Company could erect an exchange in the residential section with thi sone restriction. The commission and Councilman Bartley felt that this restriction should not be removed.

Mr. Avis was advised that the company could submit a written protest to Council when the ordinance came up for passage.

Mr. Rush, representing the Public Service, was present to ascertain the lines of the business district.

The only change made in the ordinance was the addition of apartment buildings and apartment hotels to the list of buildings requiring approval of plans by the Borough Council before construction is started.

Another public hearing on the zoning ordinance will be held in the Riverton Fire House Friday evening, June 6.

Thomas Robinson

Thomas Robinson died at his home in East Riverton Friday, after being ill for three years. For many years he lived at Pensauken creek and Public road, Palmyra, and will be remembered by many as a huckster. The family moved to East Riverton about a year ago. He leaves a widow, three sons, Theodore, John and Thomas, and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Bennett and Mrs. Oliver Cook.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Snover Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. C. T. Bates. Interment at Morgan Cemetery.

HORSE SHOW, FETE FOR CINNAMINSON IS HUGE SUCCESS

Proceeds From Affair Net Home Between $3000 and $4000

EQUESTRIENNE EVENTS PROVE BIG ATTRACTION

Larger Number of Entries Made This Year Than in Any Previous Showing

The annual Horse Show and Fete for the benefit of the Cinnaminson Home, Saturday afternoon, at the Moorestown Field Club, far surpassed the event of any other year, and proceeds amounted to between $3,000 and $4,000.

Nearly two thousand people were attracted to the event, which is one of the largest on the social calendar of Moorestown.

The horse show, which was particularly fine this year, with many more entries than formerly, was the biggest attraction of the day.

Almost perfect weather gave the occasion a happy beginning and rain held off until the last horse had been shown and nearly all of the suppers served.

All of the booths prospered, and the hearty co-operation of the committee in charge and the friends of the Home made the affair a great success.

The events and winners of the horse show are as follows:

COUNTY BALLOT HEADED BY FORT

Frelinghuysen Gets Second Place; Kelly is Third With Morrow Fourth

Congressman Franklin W. Fort drew first place on Burlington County Republican primary ballots when Lawrence Mingin, County Clerk, cast lots for positions before a number of local candidates and newspapermen last Friday afternoon.

Fort's name will be followed on the ballot by Joseph S. Frelinghuysen. Third place goes to John A. Kelly and fourth to Dwight W. Morrow. Morrow won first in the short-term candidacy, with Kelly second.

County candidates crowded about the Clerk as he drew for positions in the Freeholder fight. Ernest Watts, Burlington, won first place. Other candidates in the order in which their names will appear on the ballots are: H. Blanchard Earnest, Riverside; J. Lloyd Wright, Medford; William P. Young, Burlington; Charles L. Edinger, Riverside; Charles De Jessup, Cinnaminson, and Howard Russ, Delanco.

Charles C. Rossell, Mount Holly, is first on the list for Republican nomination to Coroner. John C. Belton, 3rd, of Moorestown, and William O. Cunningham, Riverside, are the other candidates.

PHILADELPHIA COP DRUNK, DISORDERLY

Jailed By Officers Betty and Stack and Fined $10.00 By Palmyra Recorder

Nelson White, a Philadelphia policeman, was fined ten dollars when arraigned before Recorder William L. Fichter, of Palmyra, Tuesday morning, on a drunken and disorderly charge.

White was arrested by Officers Betty and Stack at 3.00 o'clock the same morning, at the Palmyra end of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge. He was apparently in a drunken condition when the officers walked up to him as he was standing beside a parked car.

When questioned by the police he became noisy and they put him in the car with his two friends and told them to go on across the bridge.

After the car has gone about a hundred yards it was seen to stop and suddenly start backwards, stopping when it ran against the bridge railing. The officers found that White had struck the driver over the head and disabled him.

Officer Betty then placed White under arrest and took him to the Palmyra lock-up. His companions went on to Philadelphia after the driver recovered his senses.

James Steer, arrested in Manchester, Eng., for stealing, is the father of a set of triplets and two sets of twins.

MANY ACTIVITIES AT LOCAL CAMP

P. O. S. of A. Closes Busy Month and Plans for Full Schedule in June

Memorial Day services, which will be held Friday, in co-operation with Post Frederick M. Rodgers, American Legion, will bring to a close a month of activity, which has seldom been surpassed by the Palmyra Camp, P. O. S. of A.

Monday night a delegation of nineteen live-wire members of Camp No. 317, Philadelphia, tried to show the Palmyra Camp what they could do at indoor baseball. "Bambino," better known as Nate Coombs, saved the day for the local players, with five home runs, a three-bagger, a put out and an assist. The score of two to one, readily shows what a close game was played and how the Palmyra men had to be on the lookout.

Some pinochle fans tried their skill. This resulted in an even break, game and game. A few of the visitors made some interesting remarks, which brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

The month of June has a schedule that will keep everyone in Palmyra Camp working from the beginning to the wind-up. The principal event of the month will be a County class initiation to be held June 16 in the P. O. S. of A. Hall, Palmyra. Every member who brings in a new candidate to the local Camp is entitled to a dinner, which will be given at the Walt Whitman Hotel, Camden, early in July.

The Rancocas Camp will give the Palmyra quoit team a run for the honors on June 2. On June 9 the Palmyra rubber tossers will meet the local I. O. O. F., and on June 18 the County Association will meet at Rancocas.

At the meeting of the Palmyra Camp on the twenty-third, officers will be nominated for the coming year, and on the thirtieth, the delegation of these officers and of the delegates to the State Camp Convention to be held at Trenton in August.

The local Camp hopes to make this an even better month than the month of May and urges that all old members take it upon themselves to encourage all those who do not belong to the Palmyra Lodge to join. The Camp also urges that the members themselves turn out for the June meetings, which promise to be better than any ever before held.

DANCE EXHIBITION WELL RECEIVED

Enthusiastic Audience Enjoys Recital By Members of Community House Classes

An enthusiastic audience enjoyed the annual exhibition of the Moorestown Community House dancing classes, under the direction of Mrs. Alexine Tomes, in the Community House gymnasium last Friday evening.

The program included delightful solos by Peggy and Patsy Kelley, Lucille Bailey, Helen Wonderland, Lillian Preneau, Grace Jordan, Mildred Powell, Jean Tucker, Mary Zimmerman, Mary Pharo, Dorothy Lebengood, Genevieve Long, Dorothy Byers and Mrs. Tomes, with all of the favorites of former recitals gaining still additional popularity for their work. The new soloists of this year's program were also well received.

There were also several different group and specialty numbers that aided in demonstrating the various types of dancing taught by Mrs. Tomes.

Music for the recital and for social dancing at the conclusion of the program was by Joseph Conway's Orchestra.

1932 LICENSE PLATES TO BE WHITE ON BLACK

Automobile license plates in New Jersey in 1932 will have a black background and white numerals, Harold G. Hoffman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, has announced. The Commissioner would retain the black background permanently and vary the color of the numerals. He says a saving of $15,000 annually would be effected by this practice. William B. Dill, formerly Commissioner, chose white letters on a red background for the 1931 plates. Hoffman said he chose the colors for 1932 now to give the other States notice.

MANY OBJECTIONS TO PAVED STREETS

Residents on Four Palmyra Streets Attack Improvement Program

Eighty residents of Lincoln, Washington, Highland and Morgan Avenues, south of the railroad in Palmyra, gathered at the home of Councilman Frank A. Snover Tuesday evening to discuss the proposed improvement of their streets.

An ordinance has been introduced in Palmyra Council providing for the building of sheet asphalt roadways for these streets, which also have recently been improved by the construction of four-foot concrete gutters. The gutters were necessitated by the fact that all these four streets run down grade from Morgan Heights and a great deal of surface water must be taken care of during rain storms.

Councilman Snover explained the proposed improvement, asserting that he was willing to take the entire responsibility for the proposal. Citizens have repeatedly demanded of him, he said, that he initiate a definite street improvement program to remedy Palmyra's deplorable street conditions, and that the present plan was in his estimation the best and most economical that could be devised. The project involves the extension of the paving program to other parts of town from year to year, with the costs assessed against the owners of the properties involved.

Sees Tax Reduction

Permanent surfacing of Palmyra's streets would bring about great saving in the long run, declared Mr. Snover, and is the only way by which taxes can be reduced. At the present time the upkeep of the gravel streets is a constant drain on the Borough treasury, with no permanent results. The work must be done over year after year. By paving these four streets alone, said the Councilman, he would be able to clip $2,000 off the street maintenance program next year alone, inasmuch as these are the most expensive streets in town to maintain under present conditions. Even the new gutters will save quite a bit.

Other suggested street measures, such as oil bound macadam, dow flake, etc., would mean simply postponing the evil day, and would mean more wasted money with no permanent improvement in return.

Costs Compared

The oil bound macadam would mean an increased tax of $12.15 per year on an average property assessed at $3,000; dow flake would cost $4.71, while the permanent asphalt improvement plan would cost average 50-foot lot properties $130 spread over a period of ten years, or $13 per year plus the interest on the unpaid balance, and the property owner would not only find the value of his home increased, but would also be able to point to a definite permanent improvement in return for his money.

Most of those who attended the meeting were opposed to the project, with a few enthusiastically in favor of it.

The most apparent reason for opposition was that business conditions are bad and most of the property owners were firmly set against spending any more money on their streets at the present time, despite Mr. Snover's convincing arguments that his plan would really save money in the long run.

Many Objections

Many and various other objections were raised. One was that the residents of the improved streets would have to continue to pay for the upkeep of unimproved streets in other parts of town. Mr. Snover replied to this that residents of other parts of town were already helping pay for the $35,000 storm sewer built some years ago to carry water off the four streets under discussion.

Then several in the assembly attacked the efficiency of the storm sewers.

Attacks were made on the concrete gutters, on the crossings, and on nearly every subject that the objectors could think of.

After about three hours of more or less stormy discussion, the meeting adjourned and Mr. Snover took the whole matter under advisement.

LEGION AUXILIARY

All members are invited to take part in the Memorial Day celebration tomorrow (Friday)—meet at the Legion Home at 2.00 p. m. Those having uniforms are requested to wear them.

Saturday is the day of the big rally at Trenton—all members of the Auxiliaries are invited and it is hoped to have a large representation from Burlington County as there are prizes offered and it would be just fine if Burlington County could take the first prize for the largest number in line. At Egg arbor, a few weeks ago, Burlington County won second prize.

The last card party of this present season will be held on Wednesday evening—June 11th—in the Legion Home and it is the hope of the Unit to have this the biggest success of the year. Remind your friends of the date and see what a successful affair we can make of this.

The coming weeks and months contain many activities of interest to the Auxiliary as well as the Post, and it is hoped that all members will keep in touch with the Unit in order to know what is planned and how each and everyone can do something to make all of these affairs successful.

Those who attended the party held at the Navy Yard in April will, no doubt, be glad to learn that arrangements are being made to have another party next month. Tuesday, June 24th, has been suggested and as soon as definite arrangements have been made, further details will be announced. But—tell all your friends about it—remember you can take as many as you like—and keep it in mind. We will go by bus, same as we did before.

Communists Did Not Start Fires—Britton

A letter from Ralph C. D. Britton, of Moorestown, to the editor of a Mount Holly paper, follows:

"With reference to reports which appeared in your paper of May 14, accusing Communists of starting forest fires, it is my opinion that any respectable American citizen should be ashamed to publish such degrading remarks as these.

"It is the purpose of the Communist party to educate by means of constructive propaganda, and if the Communists had anything to do with our forests, they would rather utilize such valuable resources to good advantage.

"As to forest fires, they can be attributed to many different causes, but I believe that most of them are kindled by careless smokers. For goodness sake, please stop slapping friendly neighbors in the face, and put the blame where it belongs!"

COOPER HOSPITAL MART JUNE 7TH

Many Different Contests at Flower Mart This Year

An interesting new feature of the Cooper Hospital Flower Mart on June 7th will be a real Flower Show in which flower fanciers will contest for prize ribbons in various classes including Miscellaneous Cut Flowers, Flower Arrangements, Roses, Vines, Plants, Miniature gardens, Tea Table Sets, Bridge Luncheon Tables, Photgraphs, Drawings and Paintings of garden subjects or of flowers; Floral Novelties; and Junior Classes (for children sixteen years of age or under).

Great interest is being shown in this new feature where the loveliest flowers grown by amateurs in this section of the state will be exhibited as specimens or in bouquets. Detailed information may be had from any one of the following members of the committee in charge of the show.

Miss Lyall Welsh, Riverton; Miss Marion Biddle, Riverton; Mrs. Arthur Cox, Riverton; Miss Alice Lippincott, Riverton; Miss Catharine Frances Potter, Moorestown; Mrs. F. PHI NU CLASS

"The Contrast Between Faithfulness and Slothfulness" will be the subject for discussion next Sunday morning at Phi Nu class meeting in the Presbyterian Sunday School at 10 o'clock. The monthly business and social meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Martin Williams, 303 Elm avenue, Monday evening, June 2.

TROOPERS HAVE SLOW WEEK

Fish and Game Violator Arrested for Using Set Line

A complaint by Edith Carnish, colored, of Parry, that her husband, Walter Carnish, was drunk and disorderly brought about his arrest by Troopers Turnbull and McGee early Sunday evening.

Carnish was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Cecil A. Bowers, on Monday morning, and was bound over to keep the peace with a suspended sentence.

Stuart Booker, colored, of East Riverton, was arrested Monday afternoon by Trooper McGee on a charge of assault and battery made by his wife. Justice Bowers also heard this case and held Booker under $500.00 bail for Grand Jury.

A violator of the fish and game laws was arrested by Trooper Rohner last Thursday when he found Alfred Morgan, of Burlington, fishing with a set line. Justice of the Peace Heckel fined him $20.00 and $7.50 costs. Morgan was fishing in Sylvan Lake near Burlington.

Trooper Drosdick and Chief of Police Ward, of Maple Shade, investigated an accident which occurred near that town last Friday and arrested Angelo Maturi, also of Maple Shade, on a charge of reckless driving, preferred by Lincoln Stiehl, of Bradford Pennsylvania. Justice of the Peace Addison, of Maple Shade, heard the case and fined Maturi $5.00 and $1.00 costs.

Sunday, Trooper McGee arraigned William Lowden, of Bordentown, before Justice Perkins, of Delanco, for desertion and non-support. Lowden was held under $500.00 bail for grand jury.

John Hammett, of Florence, was arrested by Trooper Turnbull for reckless driving. He was fined $5.00 and costs by Justice Smith of Burlington.

Monday morning, Fred Frank, of Allentown, was arrested by Trooper McGee for speeding. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Enoch Johnson, of Delanco, who fined him $3.00 and $1.00 costs.

Last Saturday morning Trooper Rohner escorted the Captain MacFarland Post 79 American Legion while they decorated the graves of to various cemeteries in the county cooperating with the Riverton and Palmyra police, escorted the Cyrene service men.

Sunday evening Trooper Drosdick Commandery of Knights Templars from Palmyra to the Presbyterian Church in Riverton.

PUBLIC WELCOME AT U. S. CEMETERY

Superintendent James J. Brierly, recently placed in charge of the National Cemetery on South Broad street, Beverly, wishes the public to understand that everyone is welcome to visit the beautiful cemetery at any time between the hours of sunrise and sunset, the visiting hours prescribed by the U. S. Government. This applies to any day in the year. Visitors are at perfect liberty to take flowers and place them on the graves of their friends or relatives.

PLANE TALKS

By Lt. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

It is now possible to cover the 1943 mile stretch between Chicago and San Francisco in 20 hours. The inauguration of night passenger flying over the Rocky Mountains makes this remarkable time possible. Leaving Chicago at 8 a. m. in an 18 passenger trimotor Boeing transport, you stop for lunch at Omaha, have dinner at Cheyenne, make night stops at Salt Lake City, Elko, Reno, Sacramento and arrive at the Oakland, California airport at 4.30 a. m. the next morning. The ships reach an altitude of 14,000 feet in crossing the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Preparations are being made to handle a record crowd at the Moorestown airport of the Burlington County Aero Club this Friday (Memorial Day) Saturday and Sunday when you will be able to fly for one cent a pound. If you weight less than 100 lbs the charge will be $1.00, which is the minimum charge.

* * *

On June 1st, an affiliated company of Pan-American Airways will begin service between New York and Atlantic City and New York and Washington. Eleven passenger Sikorsky amphibian, twin motored planes will be used.

* * *

The planes owned and operated by the Burlington County Aero Club at the Moorestown airport have been completely overhauled, reconditioned and repainted. The ships have just been inspected by Department of Commerce inspectors and certificates of airworthiness awarded for the year ending June 1, 1931.

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has just issued a booklet entitled "Happy Landings" containing air photographs, technical data, field sketches and a summary of service accommodations of all the airports in Philadelphia and vicinity. The booklet is being sent all over the country. Of course, the Moorestown airport is listed and described. The rest of the world knows exactly how to find the Moorestown airport. Do you The time may not be far away when you will thank these pioneers for their vision in establishing one of the safest airports in this section of the country. Can you remember the time when there was not a railroad station in Moorestown? Then, why in the name of modern times, not support your airport?

Waitress: "Don't you like your college pudding, sir?"

Diner: "No, Miss, I'm afraid there is an egg in it which ought to have been expelled."

George Marron, of Belfast, who rented his house and put his family in a shed formerly used for pigs, was ordered by the health officials to move.

AIR-FLIGHT

Principle TIRES have created a place for themselves no other line of tires has ever occupied

—that's a pretty big ticket! but nevertheless thousands of motorists in changing to these new and better tires have found that there is a vast improvement in the Air-Flight Principle Tires over those constructed in the ordinary manner. From their larger Air-Chambers all the way through to their road-shaped tread these modern Tires by Fisk are packed with exclusive features that bring to your car a new interpretation of Riding Comfort along with a greater mileage than the average motorist will ever need. The costly delays and inconveniences of tire trouble will vanish into thin air and take their place among the "has-beens" of the past, once your car is equipped with Tires by Fisk.

Approximately 20% of all the new cars built during 1930 will enjoy the Trouble Free mileage and Greater Riding Comfort which Tires by Fisk alone can give. Leading automobile manufacturers selecting these highly perfected tires, first subjected them to a series of competitive tests under conditions many times more severe than they would ever receive in actual use. Their preference is conclusive evidence of a superiority which is being recognized by wise motorists the world over.

SENTENCES METED OUT BY JUDGE RIGG

Fourteen Cases Before Court for Consideration and Final Disposition

Sentences were imposed by Judge Rigg at Mount Holly Thursday of last week upon a number of defendants who had either been convicted after trials before juries or had elected to go in the County Court and plead guilty.

Prosecutor Eastwood moved the following cases:

Russell Evans, Bordentown, charged with receiving stolen goods, was released under a suspended sentence, but he will be on probation for two years.

Mary Smilowski, of Riverside, convicted on a charge of assault and battery on her son-in-law, fined $75.

William Kimble, colored, of Riverton, charged with gaming, fined $25.

Mary Salkowski, of Riverside, an old offender against the liquor laws, had sentence deferred for one week, and her husband, Benjamin Salkowski, who has been in Court on numerous occasions for liquor law violations, was sent to the County jail in order that his sanity may be inquired into by County Physician D. F. Remer.

Daniel Lichtenthal, of Riverside, who represented Salkowski, stated that the liquor found in the Salkowski home was there for the use of Salkowski exclusively, it being necessary for him to have two quarts a day in order to keep alive, as he was in the last stages of tuberculosis.

Salkowski was a rather healthy looking defendant, but evidently was under the influence of liquor at the time, and the Court felt that alcohol had so impregnated his mind that he was at least entitled to an examination.

May Go to New Lisbon

If it is found that his mind is affected, he will be sent to the Burlington County Hospital for the Insane at New Lisbon.

Raymond E. Dischert, of Cinnaminson, convicted on a charge of embezzling the funds of his employer, was fined $75 and placed on probation for three months.

Harry Tomlinson, of Burlington, who had pleaded non vult to assault and battery on his daughter, received a suspended sentence, and the Court announced that if ther are any more eruptions in Tomlinson's household he will be brought back and have sentence imposed.

M. F. Mosley, of Camden, indicted on a charge of embezzling $48 from the Des Moines Lightning Rod Company, by whom he was employed as agent, and who was taken in from Camden on a fugitive's warrant, entered a plea of guilty to the charge, although there appeared to be some mitigating circumstances. He was fined $100, being given three months in which to pay.

Narrow Escape

George Simpson, of Vincentown, charged with gaming, and who is also an old offender against the liquor laws, narrowly escaped a jail sentence. He was sent home and told "to sin no more," and should he stray from the straight and narrow path again he will be taken back and go to jail, as the Court released him under a suspended sentence and he may be taken in at any time.

Ernest R. Nixon, of Mount Holly, charged with possession of liquor, was fined $100.

H. S. Peters, of Berlin, charged with passing two worthless checks on a former Red Lion hotel proprietor, entered a plea of guilty and he will be back in two weeks for sentence.

Joseph Heinz, of Chesterfield, convicted by a jury on a charge of possession of liquor and having a still, was fined $200 and given three months in which to pay.

Teressa Marchesi, of Burlington, whose husband, Alfred, is serving out a fine amounting to $2,400 in the County jail on numerous charges of liquor law violations, was before the Court for sentence on a liquor charge, and she was fined $200 and placed on probation for one year.

Angelo Leitteri, of Southampton Township, agreed to pay $5 a week for the support of his children and was released on furnishing a bond for $500 to keep his word to the Court.

Howard H Erving, of Belmar, appealed from the decision of the lower court on a charge of drunken driving, and after hearing the testimony the appeal was denied by Judge Rigg.

P. S. EARNINGS CLIMB

A comparative statement of combined results of operation for the twelve months ending April 30, 1930, issued by Public Service Corporation of New Jersey shows for the corporation and its subsidiary companies gross earning of $138,576,579.61, as against $128,453,938.21 for the twelve months ending April 30, 1929, an increase of $10,422,641.40.

Life - Saving Efforts Rewarded

1, Francis W. Kapus; 2, Charles J. McCarthy; 3, Edwin W. Redfield. Each of whom will be presented with the President's Medal of the National Safety Council at a dinner to be held in Newark next Monday.

Palmyra and Riverton Men Receive Awards for Their Life - Saving Efforts

Edwin W. Redfield, Francis W. Kapus, Edward F. Bennett and Edwin C. Grubb Cited by National Safety Council for Meritorious Service

For outstanding services in the saving of human lives, the President's Medal of the National Safety Council has been awarded to three New Jersey telephone men, according to announcement made today by the Administrative and Executive Committee of the Council.

The men are Charles J. McCarthy, 870 Westside avenue, Jehsey City; Francis W. Kapus, 508 Cinnaminson avenue, Riverton, and Edwin W. Redfield, 622 Pennsylvania avenue, Palmyra.

At the same time announcement also was made that two other telephone men, Edward F. Bennett, 621 Pennsylvania avenue, Palmyra, and Edwin C. Grubb, 501 Delaware avenue Palmyra, have been awarded certificates of meritorious service by the same organization.

Annual Award

The President's Medal is an annual award of the National Safety Council and is given for the successful application of the prone pressure method of resuscitation in cases of asphyxiation, drowning, electric shock and other accidental cause. This form of first aid is an important part of the course in safety first which the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company provides for all employees and the five men honored all hold first aid certificates from the company.

Mr. McCarthy, field dispatcher for the telephone company in Jersey City, on July 14, 1929, saved the life of a young woman who was drowning off the beach at Port Monmouth. She had been floating on an inflated automobile tire when the air escaped and she sank. Attracted to the scene by shouts of witnesses, Mr. McCarthy plunged into the water and with the aid of another man pulled the drowning woman to shore where Mr. McCarthy immediately used artificial respiration. After about fifteen minutes, the unconscious woman revived and was taken away by friends before her name was learned.

Kapus, Redfield, Bennett and Grubb, all of whom are employed by the telephone company at Camden, are accredited with having saved the lives of a boy and girl early in the morning of August 26, last year, when the home of Martin Rosner was destroyed by fire at Palmyra.

Applied First Aid

Awakened by the Palmyra fire whistle these four men rushed to the scene and when Mr. and Mrs. Rosner and their children, Israel, aged 6, and Norma, aged 9, were carried from the burning home unconscious, they immediately began the application of first aid. Mr. Bennett ran five blocks to the Fire House, got the local ambulance and ordered Mrs. Rosner removed to a hospital, where she died two days later.

In the meantime Mr. Kapus applied artificial respiration to the boy and Mr. Redfield, relieved at intervals by Mr. Grubb and Mr. Kapus, resuscitated the girl. Both regained consciousness in about ten minutes and have since recovered. Mr. Bennett applied artificial respiration to the father and Mr. Kapus continued to work with the stricken man while he was being taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The medal and certificates of awards are to be presented to the five men at a dinner June 2, in Vail Hall, at the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company headquarters building, in Newark. More than 100 guests, including company executives and telephone employees from all parts of the State, will attend and the presentation ceremony will be conducted by representatives of the National Safety Council.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Billing Dept. of P. S. in Record for Accuracy

A remarkable record for accuracy and bill production has been made by the central billing department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company since the organiation of the department in 1924.

During April, which is typical, forty-six young women in this department had a production average of 204.64 bills per hour and an accuracy average of 99.68 per cent. —a fraction less than three errors per 1,000 bills. This includes the averages of five who are just learning the process of preparing the bills. The department prepares electric and gas bills on accounting machines for approximately 950,000 customers each month.

After the bills are prepared, they are audited in order to insure absolute accuracy before they are sent to customers. The bills are checked so thoroughly that only one error, affecting the amount of the bill, for every 100,000 meters passes through the department undetected. Each customer, therefore, is virtualy assured an accuritate bill.

CANDIDATES FILE IN COUNTY FIGHTS

Seven Aspirants in Field for Two G. O. P. Freeholder Nominations

Last Thursday was the last day fixed by statute for filing nominating petitions for State, County and Township offices to be voted for in the primaries on June 17, when Republicans and Democrats will decide who shall run on their tickets at the general election to be held on November 4. The County offices to be filled are those of State Senator, Assemblyman, two Freeholders, Coroner and Steward of the Almshouse.

According to County Clerk Mingin seven Republicans filed for Freeholder, the list being made of Howard Russ, of Delanco; J. Lloyd Wright, of Medford; Charles L. Edinger and H. Blanchard Earnest, of Riverside; William P. Young and Ernest Watts, of Burlington, and Charles B. Jessup, of Cinnaminson.

James J. D'Arcey, of Chester Township, was the only Democrat to file for Freeholder.

Three Republicans want to be Coroner, in the persons of John C. Belton, 2d, of Moorestown; Charles C. Rossell, of Mount Holly, and William O. Cunningham, of Riverside.

There were no Democratic petitions filed for Coroner.

For State Senator, Clifford R. Powell, of Delanco, is the only Republican candidate, and he will be opposed by Dr. Lyman B. Hollingshead, of Pemberton ,Democrat.

For Assembly, Dr. M. W. Newcomb, of Brown's Mills, will have opposition in the person of Attorney William S. C. Roray, of Palmyra, Democrat.

Henry I. Worrell, of Pemberton Township, Republican, is unopposed for Steward of the Almshouse.

SWARM CONTROL PAYS

If a swarm of bees in May is worth a ton of hay, a colony that does not swarm is worth at least two tons of hay. Observation over a experiment station apiaries shows this to be true as colonies that were kept from swarming produced from two to four times as much honey as colonies that swarmed. The methods of swarm control effectively employed involved the use of queen bees and allowing the bees plenty of room.

SEES POTATO CONTINUING IMPORTANT JERSEY CROP

A prediction that the potato will continue as one of New Jersey's most important crops in spite of competition from far western States was made by Dr. W. H. Martin, potato authority for the State Agricultural Experiment Station. Grounds for this optimistic view, Dr. Martin states, are found in the fact that the State's potato growers have tremendously increased their efficiency in the last 10 years. Production costs have been so materially lowered that Jerseymen can and are meeting the competition for their markets from growers of distant States.

Martha A. Mitchell

Mrs. Martha A. Mitchell, 74 years of age, died at the residence of her nephew, Stanley Browning, of East Central avenue, early Sunday morning. Her death was caused by pneumonia, after an illness of about two weeks.

Funeral services will be held today (Wednesday) with William Grobler as the funeral director in charge. Interment will be made in Westerly, Rhode Island, her former home.

Mrs. Mitchell has lived in Moorestown only about a year. She is survived by two sisters, besides her nephew.

THIS IDYLLIC SEASON

Many things are seasonable in summer — such as fresh fruit, garden vegetables, vacationing, circuses, sleeping-porches, swimming, baseball and golf — but from the working man's point of view it just seems as though summer is first of all the season for straight-way, unadulterated and undisturbed loafing. And when we use "working man" in this connection we mean every man and woman who is earning a living, every woman and man who is keeping house and every boy and girl who is going to school or college.

The economist who discovers a means whereby the world can earn a livelihood and create an estate in the nine months from September 1 to June 1 should be sainted, knighted, degreed, elected to some good paying public office and pensioned. Even though the formula has not been discovered, there should be great fortune-making possibilities in high-powered advertising of such a prescription secretly discovered and offered to a distressed public for the first time.

During autumn, winter and spring the righteous indignation of the toiling world rises up against such as will not work but thrive as parasites upon that part of humanity which works. What a different complexion public opinion takes on during the warm and smiling days of summer! Nobody blames a fellow for turning hobo then. The meals mother prepares on hot summer days would be ample grounds for divorce at any other time of the year, but father complains not and the children are satisfied. Mother hasn't the energy to prepare better and the other members of the family haven't the energy to eat that which she has provided.

So it is resolved that summer was made for hammocks, ice-cold lemonade in the shade, a water-side cottage, a loafing automobile or anything whatsoever except work.

POWER OF ADVERTISING

Beyond all question the most potent creator of business demands is the newspaper advertisement. Millions upon millions of dollars are expended every day in the stores of America because well written advertisements have directed public attention to convenient, becoming, attractive, useful, ornamental and suitable merchandise. The sale of all necessities, all luxuries, all indulgences, is more powerfully stimuated by the newspaper advertisement than by any other agency. Only hunger, cold and nakedness are comparable to the advertisement as a promoter of sales—and even purchases of food, fuel and clothing are directed more largely by the business columns of the press than by any other influences except immediate necessity.

The largest stores in our greatest cities have been built up by their advertising, their persistent and clever invitation to the public in the press to share in their bargains. Imagine what would happen to daily sales of merchandise, real estate, theater tickets, insurance, books and other things, if newspaper advertisements were prohibited by law for six months. It is not exaggeration to say that they would drop 50 per cent.

It is not the current news of events alone that makes the press of such incalculable value to the nation, nor the free editorial expression of opinion. The business news of the day, as told by business concerns in their announcements to the public, decisively influence both the volume and the direction of trade which flows to this or that store, office or bank. This is a fundamental fact no business house can afford to overlook.

MURDER

One person out of every ten thousand is murdered every year in the United States. That does not mean that your chance of not being murdered is only ten thousand to one. For the ordinary peaceable citizen the chance is nearer a million to one that he will die at the hands of a murderer. Most of the murderer's victims are themselves potential murderers. In probably half of the killings it a question of which criminal got the drop on the other.

I lived several years in Chicago, many years in New York. My work as a newspaper man took me into the most dangerous parts of both cities at all hours of the night. I never felt the need of carrying a weapon and I never knew of anybody not a crook, who was sober, unarmed, and not displacing signs of wealth to tempt a footpad or a burglar, being murdered except by some crazy man, which might have happened anywhere.

PROPHETS

The voice of the prophet is still heard in the land, but it is the voice of the scientific research worker discovering new processes which will revolutionize some industry, and of the trade commissioner reporting these new developments to manufacturers.

A short time ago one of the Government's trade commissioners reported from Berlin that German chemists had found a new and cheap way to make methanol, usually called "wood alcohol." The Department of Commerce broadcast that news to every producer of methanol in America. Only one paid any attention; he sent a man to Germany to find out more about it. The others sat tight until, a few months later, a shipload of the new German methanol arrived in New York, to be sold at less than the American cost of production. Then the manufacturers demanded to know why they had not been told. They simply had not listened.

All of the old plants for making methanol had to be scrapped and new ones constructed to make it by the new process, and the man who had listened to the prophets was the first American in the field with cheap methanol.

SPERRY

Elmer Sperry, inventor, has just retired from business at 72. He probably will keep on inventing. He built the first electric lighting station in the world, using arc lights, before Edison invented the incandescent bulb. He invented the modern electric coal-mining machinery. He made the first electric automobile. He invented a process for extracting chlorine and alkali from common salt which forms the basis of one of the great electric power industries at Niagara Falls. He discovered a way of reclaiming tin from old tin cans, founding a business which buys tin scraps from the can factories, removes the tin and sells it to silk manufactures to weight their goods and melts up the iron plates into window-sash weights. He invented and built the most powerful searchlights in the world, giving off more candlepower per square inch of surface than the sun itself, and now used by every Army and Navy in the world.

Sperry is best known as the inventor of "Metal Mike," the automatic steersman for ships, utilizing the mysterious principle of the gyroscope. He invented the gyroscopic compass, the gyroscopic stabilizer for ships and for airplanes. One of his recent inventions tells railroad men whether there are any hidden flaws in their rails. His latest is a light weight Diesel type engine for airplanes. Only Edison has produced more useful inventions than Elmer Sperry.

MOON

The hottest object anywhere near the Earth is the Moon. Also it is the coldest. Observers using the 100-inch telescope on Mount Wilson have been measuring the moon's temperature for a year. They report that the parts of the moon on which the sun shines are hotter than boiling water, and the side away from the sun is at least 254 degrees below zero.

The reason for this is that moon is a dry, dead mass of cooled-off lava, or melted rock. It has no water, no vegetation, no life, nothing to make clouds to temper the rays of the sun. If it were not for water vapor in the earth's atmosphere we could not live on it. The blanket of vapor keeps the heat from the sun from burning us up in the daytime, prevents that heat from escaping at night.

One way astronomers can tell whether other planets than ours are probably inhabited or not is by studying their atmosphere through their great telescope. The only one on which it seems possible for life as we know it to exist is Mars. When the new 200-inch telescope is finished we shall probably get some evidence as to the population of Mars.

MORROW ONLY CANDIDATE FOR SHORT SENATE TERM

Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow will become the Republican nominee for U. S. Senator to fill the unexpired term of Walter E. Edge. That was assured when former U. S. Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen withdrew his petition for the short-term nomination, leaving Morrow as the only candidate, with the exception of John A. Kelly, "a dark horse," who is virtually ignored in the race. Frelinghuysen and Congressman Franklin W. Fort will oppose Morrow for the full six-year term only.

Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, noted author, is the only woman member of President Hoover's public lands commission.

The Way of Life By BRUCE BARTON

A LETTER TO A YOUNG MAN

You ask me how you can get a better job.

My answer is that you can't.

All over the country are millions of young men who, in a vague sort of way, want a better job; and here and there among them are the worth while few who want the better job.

And the millions wonder why the few move on, while they stand stationary year after year.

You must, first of all, pick out the better job—some particular job that is better than yours. Then train your guns on that and capture it.

You tell me that you are bookkeeper and that you earn $25 a week. I know certified public accountants who earn $10,000 a year and more.

If I were a bookkeeper earning $25 a week, I should go out for a public accountant's job. I might die on the road, but whoever found my body would notice that my face was toward the summit.

Second: You can never make anybody pay you more money until you have more to sell.

I can advertise in a newspaper tomorrow morning and have a hundred bright young men here at eight o'clock. Each one will have just as much to offer me as you have; the same two years of high school; the same experience in keeping books, the same good record. Every one of them will be willing to work for $25, and some of them for $18.

The only way you can lift yourself out of that $25 class is by giving yourself an equipment that the rest of the fellows in that class do not have. In other words, by study—by education—by specialized training.

Third: When you have picked out the one particular better job that you want, when you have fitted yourself for it then be careful of your letter of application.

Your letter is your representative. For heaven's sake, if you have in you any spark of originality that other men have not, make your letter a tiny bit different from the other letters that the other men will write.

The only letter that I read with interest is the letter of the young man who has studied my business and who points out to me how I can make more money for my employer by employing him.

Ideas are the keys that unlock big men's doors.

When you have fitted yourself, for the better job, let your letter of application contain an Idea.

Fourth. I receive many letters of application. In one form or another, they usually say something like this: "I want a better job; I am thinking of getting married"; or, "I have a mother support"; or, "I have been three years in this place without a raise and see no future."

All of which interests me not at all.

The only way you can get a better job is by doing something that is far from a reason. He had a fine opportunity and failed completely.

Every one has at least one talent, and most of us have more than the one, if we will be honest in evaluating what powers and opportunities have been given us by our Lord. Because we may have only one is no reason for not using it to the utmost. The brightest saying found in the preparation for this lesson study is that an engine of one cat power used continuously is far better than one of forty horse power standing idle all the time. Excuses will never help any when the time comes to stand and deliver. As humans equipped with material and spiritual things we must be ready for the Judgment which is ahead of every one. If we do our bit and our best there will be glorious joy when, in the final accounting, the Golden Text for today is pronounced upon us: "Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things. I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Matthew 25: 21.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

By Francis Miles-Finch

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the fleets of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grave-grass quiver
Asleep are the ranks of the dead:—
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Under the one, the Blue;
Under the other, the Gray.

From the silence of sorrowful hours
The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers,
Alike for the friend and the foe:—
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Under the roses, the Blue;
Under the lilies, the Gray.

So, with an equal splendor
The morning sun-rays fall,
With a touch impartially tender
On the blossoms blooming for all:
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Broidered with gold, the Blue;
Mellowed with gold, the Gray.

So, when the summer calleth
On forest and field of grain,
With an equal murmur falleth
The cooling drip of the rain:—
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Wet with the rain, the Blue;
Wet with the rain, the Gray.

No more shall the war cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish our anger forever
When they laurel the graves of our dead:—
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the Judgment Day,
Love and tears for the Blue;
Tears and love for the Gray.

CONTRAST BETWEEN FAITHFULNESS AND SLOTHFULNESS

Matthew 25:14-30

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

If any of those in and about Jerusalem put off hearing Jesus that Tuesday afternoon when He addressed a group on the Mount of Olives they forfeited their last chance of being in His audience. During the morning many listened while Herodians, Pharisees and Sadducees tried to get the best of Him in argument when in the vicinity of the Temple. Then the meeting place was changed to the slope on the other side of the Kedron valley that overlooked Jerusalem. Though arrest was only a few days off Jesus tried to include friend and foe alike in His messages that all possible good might come to them, both in the immediate present and likewise in the future that could not be avoided.

One of the clear teachings of the Bible had special emphasis in the subject matter that was presented in the form of a parable. Jesus was the "man, going into a far country." In time He would come back whither He went away and call for an audit of all that each had meanwhile been blessed with. Many, in their interpretation of the Bible, declare that Jesus will return to the earth in a Second Advent. The time is still unknown. In the early apostolic church some thought the Return was close at hand and they were not preparing to care for the real work of living as they should. To correct this error Paul wrote II Thessalonians. The Jews waited long for the First Advent and the Christian Church is still looking forward to the Second Advent, which will surely take place.

Really great values were entrusted to servants and slaves in the Orient. An incident in fiction is the responsibility of Simonides in "Ben Hur," and he so traded as to make the son of Hur the richest man in the world. From one to five talents were entrusted, in the parable, to three servants. Even the man who received one talent had a considerable responsibility for the value was approximately $2,000, which would represent about $30,000 today. In time the Lord returned and demanded an accounting. Through shrewdness and industry the five and two talents had been doubled and due commendation was accorded. The man who had only one talent dwelt on the idea of "only" rather than on the value that was in hand. He did not even begin to make good but hid the amount in the earth. The excuse he presents when called to the audit

The annual target season is in progress on the range at Camp Dix, and people are warned from going in that vicinity of the reservation. Firing will continue until the latter part of September.

Mrs. Joseph Rudderow, of Mount Laurel, entertained the members of her club at bridge Tuesday evening. Her guests included Mrs. H. Ford Stockwell, Jr., Mrs. Grant Mahon, Mrs. Paul Froelicher, Mrs. Frank Horned, Miss Edith Conrow Mrs. Norman Lippincott and Mrs. J. Brinkley price, all of Moorestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Armitt H. Coate, of Chester avenue, will motor to Washington, D. C., by way of the Shenandoah Valley, to spend the weekend.

The Moorestown-Woodbury ladies' golf teams clashed at the Moorestown Field Club Wednesday of last week, the local team losing four out of five matches. Mrs. J. W. Price was the only member of the home team to win her match. A delicious luncheon was served at the club house following the game. Moorestown team will play a return game June 6.

Stanwick Home and School Association will hold election of officers at its next monthly meeting, Friday, June 6.

After much discussion last week Haddonfield Bourough Commissioners appointed four new men for the paid fire department. The list includes: William K. Hunter, acting chief; Jarvis Dunphey, Clarence W. Birmingham, William H. Mackin, John Eggleston, Lewis Hunt, and Andrew Rexon. Dunphey and Mackin were reappointed. The men dismissed from the paid department are: Chief R. W. Holloway, George Day, Howard Holloway and Carl Eldredge. This action was to comfirm the vote of the volunteer firemen, who at a recent meeting decided that there was to be a change.

Haddonfield cops are displaying something new in hats. The new chapeaux, donned coincident with the change into the newsummer uniforms, are of a style new to this section of the country. The eight-cornered model worn by the New York police will henceforth grace the heads of Chief Baxter and his men.

Deputy County Clerk J. Harold Price of Burlington, was re-elected president of the Burlington County Federation of Baptist Young people at the annual meeting held in Medford last week. Others named were Edith Ellis, Moorestown; Warren Given, Beverly and Ida May Tull, Moorestown, vice-presidents; Dorothy Atkinson, Burlington, corresponding secretary; Ethel Shover, Medford, recording secretary and James Phillips, Mt. Holly, treasurer.

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club of Moorestown will be entertained at luncheon Tuesday, June 3, at the home of Mrs. Albert Haines, of Masonville.

IN talking with many of our customers we have learned that the average business man would not know how to replace valuable papers if lost or stolen.

Then why take chances and have important and valuable papers exposed to theft—loss or destruction by fire?

To prevent loss by placing them in one of our Safe Deposit Boxes, is cheaper than to attempt to replace them, which sometimes is impossible. Why not look over your important papers and bring them for safe keeping — NOW —

Services Sunday After Ascension:

10.30 a. m. Holy Communion and Sermon, "The Place He Has Gone to Prepare."

8.00 p. m. Evensong and Sermon, "The Forty Days After He 'rose.'"

"I live for those who love me,
For those who know me here;
For the Heaven that smiles above me
And waits my coming to;
For the cause that needs assistance,
For the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
For the good that I may do."

MORAVIAN CHURCH

Albert J. Harke, B. D. Pastor

The Book of Acts relates that after the Ascension of Jesus the disciples returned to the "upper room" in Jerusalem. And there "these all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication." This practice was continued until the day of Pentecost. "And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place."

It is very fitting that we make the days preceding the coming Pentecost, days of fervent prayer, of intimate communion with our Lord, and of intercession for the Church of Christ. Therefore, let us also be "with one accord in one place in prayer and supplication."

A week of special Pentecostal services has been arranged for the church in conjunction with the other Moravian churches in this area. We announce the following services with the subject and speaker for each service.

Sunday, June 1—10.40 a. m., "The Meaning of Church Membership," by the Pastor; 8.00 p. m., "The Holy Spirit Hindered," by the Pastor.

Monday, June 2—8.00 p. m., "Pentecost and Prayer," by the Rev. H. E. Kemper, of Egg Harbor City.

Tuesday, June 3—8.00 p. m., "Pentecost and Witnessing," by the Rev. W. S. Meek, of Philadelphia.

Wednesday, June 4—8.00 p. m., "Pentecost As the Power of God At Man's Disposal," by the Rev. F. E. Raub, of Philadelphia.

Thursday, June 5—8.00 p. m., "The Promise of Pentecost and the Christ-Defined Mission of the Holy Spirit," by the Rev. R. K. Stansfield, of Riverside.

These evening services are designed to be meetings for prayer and spiritual refreshing in preparation for Pentecost Sunday in the culminating service and Holy Communion at 10.40 a. m.

Calvary Presbyterian

Rev. C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will observe the Lord's Supper Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At this time any who wish may unite with the church, either by letter or upon profession of faith. The evening service of worship will be held at 8 o'clock; Christian Endeavor at 7 o'clock. All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 a. m.

Mid-week Service, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. E. W. G. Borer, 718 Main street, on Wednesday afternoon, June 4, at 3 o'clock. As this will be the last meeting until fall it is hoped all members will be there. A most cordial invitation is extended to new members in the church to attend this meeting and meet the ladies of the society, in a social hour which will follow the program. At this meeting the Thank Offering boxes will be received.

On next Sunday, June 8th, Children's Day exercises will be held. At that time any parents who so desire may have their children baptized, if they will consult the pastor beforehand.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. George Lockett, B.D., Pastor

On account of the season of Pentecost the Children's Day services will be held Sunday, June 15, one week later than usual. At the morning service there will be dedication of children.

In preparation for this program the Primary Department is rehearsing in the Sunday School auditorium each Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. If the boys and girls are reminded of this rehearsal it will assist both the leaders and the children.

Friday being Memorial Day, there will be no meeting of the Grenfell BYPU. Instead of the regular meeting this organization had charge of the Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

Services next Sunday as usual. Sunday School at 10.00 a. m. Children's Church service in Primary Department at 11.15 p. m. Preaching service at 11.15 p. m. Sermon, "The Garment of Praise." BYPU service at 6.45. Topic, "How to Avoid a Summer Slump in Our Society Work." Preaching service at 7.45 p. m. Sermon, "Spiritual Culture." There will be baptism at the evening service.

EPISCOPAL

Rev. G. J. McCormack

All disciples of Isaak Walton, and that means all fishermen the world over, should possess a copy of "The Compleat Angler," and dip into it from time to time as they wait for the really big ones. Isaak lived from 1593-1683, a good ninety years, and gives excellent advice to all lovers of fishing.

'Tis a quaint and lovely book and breathes the very spirit which links all devotees of thesport into one vast brotherhood. Here is one extract:

"I could sit there quietly, and looking on the waters, see fishes leaping at flies of several shapes and colors; looking on the hills I could behold them spotted with woods and groves; looking down the meadows, could see here a boy gathering lilies and and lady-smocks and there a girl cropping columbines and cowslips, all to make garlands suitable to this present month of May. I say as I thus sat enjoying in mine own happy condition, I did thankfully remember that my Saviour said that the meek possess the earth."

Thursday of this week is Ascension Day, a festival observed in twenty different countries and intended to rank with Christmas, Easter and Whitsunday. It receives its highest interpretation in the exaltation of the Son of Man, who, though for a time lower than the angels, was at His ascension crowned with glory and worship. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10.30 a.m.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager, Pastor

Today is Ascension Day—one of the significant dates in the Christian calendar. While it is not the most important of the Church festivals, it deserves to be treated not only as a holiday but as a holy day. It brings a message of the triumphant glory of the Christ, reminds us that He ever lives with God as our Mediator, and challenges us so to live that we, too, may be exalted to the heavenly realm.

This evening the Luther League of the District will hold their monthly Rally in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Collingswood. A number of the young people from the local League expect to attend.

The Dramatic League of the Church held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Harry Sloricks.

The services next Sunday, both morning and evening, will be directed toward the celebration of the Pentecostal Anniversary. This occasion should mean a real revival of true spiritual religion throughout the whole Christian Church.

Freeholders

other connecting with S-38 to Camden, the Township should not be expected to do so. In this contention he was supported by John Potjie and Charles Collins, members of the Township Committee.

Mr. Stout, Director of Roads, said he did not see where the County was going to get the money, as it was already in the position of having to ask the State for additional aid for projects already under way.

Suggests State Do Work

J. Lloyd Wright suggested that the Township appeal to the State to do the work outright and bear the full cost. He said he thought the Freeholders would be willing to lend their support to such an appeal to the State, and to this suggestion all the members agreed.

Permission was granted Public Service to erect 122 poles on the Mount Holly-Jobstown road, and to lay a gas main for a distance of 48 feet on the south side of East Main street in Columbus.

A communication was received from the State Highway Commission stating that it would take over and maintain Route S-40, from Medford, through Marlton to the Ocean County line.

The residents of Union street, Mount Holly, sent a communication to the Board expressing their appreciation of the improved appearance of the County lot on that street since the old buildings had been torn down and the debris removed.

Eastwood Gives Report

Prosecutor Howard Eastwood reported in a communication to the Board that James Emery had been arrested in San Francisco and was being held by the authorities there subject to the decision of the Burlington County authorities as to whether or not they would send for him.

Emery is wanted here for burglary. In 1922 he broke into school houses at Moorestown, Mount Holly, Palmyra, Riverton, Riverside, Burlington and Florence. He was sentenced by Judge Wells to from two to seven years in the State prison. That night he broke out of the County jail and made his escape.

The Prosecutor stated it would cost between $800 and $1,000 to bring the prisoner back to Burlington County.

The matter was referred to County Solicitor Wells, who sentenced him.

Will Dedicate Land

Solicitor Wells submitted a report on the Batsto road matter, which was referred to him some time ago. He said that he had received from Judge Starr, attorney for the Wharton estate, assurance that the estate would dedicate to the County a section of land which would make it possible to eliminate a dangerous curve at Atsion on the road between Indian Mills and Hammonton.

Attorney Budd Rigg made his semi-monthly appearance before the Board in the interest of his client, Alfred Marchesi, convicted of bootlegging, sentenced to jail and fined $2,400. The jail term has been served, and only the fine now stands between the prisoner and liberty. The first appeal of Attorney Rigg was that the fine be remitted. Last Friday he took another tack and asked the Board of Freeholders to accept a bond signed by Marchesi and the woman said to be his wife, that the fine would be paid within three years. Rigg claimed that the Marchesis had a small equity in a house they had recently purchased and which they valued at $4,000.

The attorney admitted that Mrs. Marchesi had been fined $200 for bootlegging on the previous Wednesday.

The matter was referred to the County Solicitor.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $6,095.22; Bridges, $11,634.65; Finance, $831.49; Public Buildings, $10,520.71; Public Affairs, $5,675.21.

Clerk: "I'm taking a correspondence course to get more money, sir."

Boss: "Ah, too bad! I'm taking one to reduce expenses."

DISTRIBUTE NEW P. H. S. TILLICUM

Second Edition of Palmyra High School Annual is Bigger and Better

The recent annual edition of the Palmyra High School Tillicum made its appearance during the past week in a handsomely bound book of 120 pages chronicling the accomplishments of the class of 1930 and the doings of the lower classes.

The latest edition of the high school yearbook contains 24 pages more than the first issue and is generally more elaborately designed. It contains, this year, several features which were not incorporated in last year's book.

The annual is dedicated to Miss Vera M. Brower, principal of the high school, in a few expressive lines which convey the high esteem in which she is held by the student body.

Individual pictures of the entire high school faculty are placed in the pages of the book for the first time. The seniors have pictures and a brief resume of their school activities. Other classes and organizations are shown in group pictures.

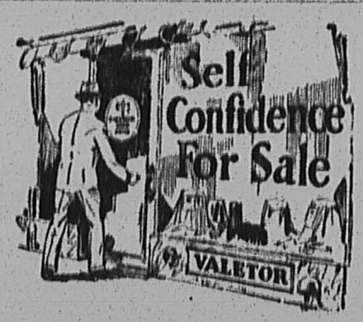

Much credit for the success of this edition, as well as the previous one is due to the popular faculty advisor, William H. Plank. The work of the entire staff has been high commendable and the result is well worth while.

The staff is as follows: Howard Shaner, editor-in-chief; Henry Wilbraham, business manager; John Ranaugh, Frederick Wilbert, William Cadman, associate editors; Walter Poulson, Irving Tallman, Henry Seabrook, advertising; Leon Coles, Grace Kersey, athletics; Eugene Bruno, Lenore Showell, Estelle Billard, arts; Marion Pennington, George Reed, Vincent Hackett, circulation; Samuel Villari and Agnes Dries, typists.

RECEIVER FOR INN

Daniel R. Lemmon, of Brown's Mills, has been appointed temporary receiver for the Pig'n Whistle Inn, Brown's Mills, by Federal Judge Avis. The complaint, instituting the action, was made by MacAllister W. Felton, of New Alexandria, Pa., and Nancy Felton, of Glenside, Pa., stockholders, and W. F. Dougherty and Sons, who hold a judgment of $330.23. It is charged by the complainants that the present officers and directors have mismanaged the establishment.

"I won't accept it," explained Miss Dorothy Morrison, of Belfast, when awarded $50 in a breach of promise suit. But she did.

A man must have confidence in himself if he wants to succeed in business or professional life. Wrinkled, careless clothes kill self-confidence. Valetor pressing makes wrinkled baggy clothes look and fit like new. Bagginess at the knees and elbows disappears. The soft lustre of new cloth is restored. Well-worn suits seem as shapely as new.

And—as soon as wrinkled carelessness goes, self confidence returns. A man who looks successful and feels successful will be successful.

Send your clothes here to be made young again the Valetor way!

SUBMERGED
IT RUNS UNDER WATER

IN A SPECTACULAR nation-wide exhibition, General Electric is dramatically demonstrating that the "On Top" refrigerating unit cannot be harmed by dirt, air, moisture and rust. Amazed crowds gather day after day in front of General Electric display windows—witnessing an astonishing demonstration. Completely submerged in water, a General Electric Refrigerating Unit operates with quiet, smooth, unfailing efficiency.

Only a General Electric—born of years of exhaustive research, built for trouble-free service and sealed in steel—could withstand this gruelling test.

Here is the only unit hermetically sealed in steel—oiled once and for all at the factory. Efficiency is sealed in—trouble sealed out. The simple, flawless mechanism is protected forever from dirt, air, moisture, rust and heat by a permanent wall of steel.

NOW PRICED AS LOW AS $205 at the Factory

An engineering triumph—built to run through the years without a thought.

General Electric Refrigerators are modern in principle, fast in freezing performance, greatest in food storage capacity and by far lowest in cost per year. They embody every desirable convenience from ready movability and quiet, unfailing operation, to a handy, accessible freezing control. Cabinets are all steel—white porcelain-lined.

Not one of hundreds of thousands of owners has ever spent a cent for service.

A telephone call will bring a refrigeration specialist to your home.

RIVERTON COMES FROM BEHIND TO DOWN CAMDEN BY 5-3 SCORE

Second Ward Team Goes Ahead in Early Innings But Fail To Hold Lead

WEIKMAN RELIEVES GRAHAM IN FIFTH

Locals Score Tieing Runs in Seventh and Win Out in Eighth Inning

The Riverton baseball team defeated the Second Ward team, of Camden, last Saturday afternoon by a 5-3 score after an uphill battle.

In the second inning the Camden tossers gained a one-run lead on a triple by Lang and a single by Miller. Buehholtz stopped their scoring by a perfect peg to second to catch Miller at the keystone sack.

Reed, the Warder's twirler, held the Riverton bat-toters in check until the sixth frame, while his mates hopped into Graham's delivery for a trio of runs. Their two runs in the third inning were scored on two hits, a walk and a sacrifice. The Camden boys ended their scoring in this frame.

Vic Krantz stirred the home boys up to a hitting mood in the fifth inning by slamming out a solid single.

Score One Run

The sixth frame opened with "Speed" Bottger at the plate. Bottger's single was followed by a sacrifice fly by Eisley and he scored when "Chick" Foulke cracked out a two-bagger.

Riverton tied the score in the seventh. "Bud" Griffenberg walked. Weikman singled, sending "Bud" to third. Francis forced Weikman at second. Bottger then banged out his second hit of the day, a two-bagger, which scored Griffenberg and put Francis on third. Williams and Eisley both worked Reed for a pass and forced in the tying run for Riverton. Foulke popped up to third for the last out.

The home boys were not to be discouraged a bit by their late start in the scoring for in the eighth frame they tallied two more runs which won the game for them.

Krantz pried the lid off the eighth inning with a single. Griffenberg beat out a bunt. Weikman singled, scoring Krantz and placing Griffenberg on second. Francis forced Griffenberg at third. Again Bottger turned up as the "punch man" by slamming out his third hit of the game, another double, which scored Weikman.

Graham made a good start by fanning the first three batters to face him, but the Camden players solved his shoots early in the game, and he was relieved by Weikman, who held the visitors hitless in his four-inning term on the mound.

Many people, when they are out to play just a friendly game of golf, are apt to be lax in the observance of the rules of the game.

In any match, hardly anyone likes to take a hole on a technicality. However, try to remember that to disregard the rules in friendly matches is apt to encourage an ignorance which may prove very costly when the generosity of an opponent has nothing to do with it.

In match or tournament, or especially in medal competition, it is the duty of every competitor to call attention to infractions of the rules and to see that the proper penalty is imposed.

Nearly everyone hesitates to call a penalty upon an opponent, and the best way to save embarrassment is to turn the matter over to the authorities to settle; but in play, there should be no such hesitation, for every player, in regard to what happens within his ken, is the representative of every other player. He might be willing to waive the penalty in a personal encounter, but he has no right to waive it for the many golfers against whom his playing partner is competing. If he does this he is liable to disqualification.

It is almost impossible for one to learn all the rules of golf, for this would mean lots of serious study, but one should never enter any important competition without a fair understanding of the rules and questions which are apt to come up. Again and again, in even national championship competition, you will see displayed an ignorance of the rules.

For instance, one should be very careful in removing obstructions on the putting surface. If your ball is on the putting surface, not more than twenty yards from the hole, you would have no more right to remove obstructions than you would have if you were in the fairway two hundred years from the green.

If golf is worth playing at all, it is certainly worth playing well.

PARRY A. A. WILL PLAY 2 GAMES TOMORROW

Due to a misunderstanding Parry A. A. was without a game last Sunday, so an impromptu game was arranged with several of the fans making up a team. The boys proved to be good ball players, in addition to being enthusiastic fans, and put up a good scrap.

When the A. A. takes the field Memorial Day they will wear their new white uniforms. There will also be a new outfield in the lineup in the person of Tommy Shorten, former Camden and Gloucester County player. Shorten has also played with Meadville and in the Delaware County League.

Parry will play two games with the same team Memorial Day, in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Columbia A. C. will be the visiting team.

Next Sunday they will meet the Haddonfield Cubs on the home field. The Cubs are making a good showing in the Camden County League. These two clubs are both fast teams and make a first rate attraction.

WESTFIELD FRIENDS CELEBRATE MAY DAY

Children's Entertainment Given Before Appreciative Audience Last Thursday Morning

In the palace gardens of Westfieldia, there were unusual scenes last Thursday, May 22. For the Princess and her hand-maidens and other personages of the Court made merry in celebration of the return of Spring.

The gardens, with their beautiful shade trees and shrubbery, adjoin the Westfield Friends' School, and thither went scores of people from Riverton, Moorestown, Merchantville, and other towns to see the Princess and her subjects hold forth.

The green lawns were flooded with golden sunshine and the setting was perfect for the dancing and singing, also cleverly done by the little folk who attend the school.

"May Day for the Princess" was the title of the peformance, and as Lydia Parry, the Princess, sat surrounded by her attendants, the Peasants and Rose Maidens and English Stick Dancers and Folk Dancers trooped before her and gave their entertainments. Mother Goose was there too with many of her famous characters—and a colorful May Pole Dance followed by the School Song ended the festivities.

Then actors and audience repaired to another part of thre lawn where the Annual Sixth Grade Fair was in progress. Cakes and other dainty food stuffs, garden tools, plants, and fancy work articles, sold by the children, were snapped up by eager purchasers. The proceeds to be devoted to the school equipment fund and to purchase a gift to the school by the departing class.

The following was the program in full:

URGES "JERSEY JUSTICE" FOR ALL CHICKEN THIEVES

Stiffer sentences for convicted chicken thieves are urged in a resolution by the executive committee of the New Jersey State Poultry Association. The resolution states that poultry thieves, when brought to trial, "often arouse public sentiment any sympathy in their favor so that sentences incommensurate with the extent of their crimes are imposed."

Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps Places Sixth in Frankford Pageant

Pride in Original Colors of Palmyra-Riverton Unit Prevent New Jersey Champions From Finishing Higher in Five-State Competition

Post Rodgers' American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, of Palmyra and Riverton, scored the highest number of points for musical ability in competition with twenty-four corps from five States at the Military Pageant and Bugle Corps Contest held in Frankford last Saturday afternoon.

Post Rodgers placed sixth in the competition and won a cash prize of $200 for the Corps treasury, in addition to a handsome loving cup. The failure of the boys to finish first was due largely to their pride in their Post colors.

The colors carried in the parade were the cherished flags presented to the Post when it was organized shortly after the war. It never occurred to members of Post Rodgers that new flags could supplant the banners carried since the unit was first chartered and through three State championships.

The military judges refused to let sentiment enter into the rating and credited the Corps with 10.8 points out of a possible 15 for Uniforms and General Appearance. 2.8 points gained here would have carried the unit into third place.

As a result of their experience at Frankford the officers of the Bugle Corps are taking steps to get new colors to replace the old ones for use during competitions. The original colors will be kept and will hold the place of honor on other occasions.

The Frankford competition was one of the most colorful of any ever staged and was participated in by some of the finest units in the East. The National Championship Frankford Corps was on the field, but did not enter the competitions.

First place was won by Lancaster, Pa., with a well equipped and handsomely uniformed corps. The winners received a total of 86 points out of a possible 100. York, Pa., was second with 86. Olney, Pa., took third place with 3.9. Fourth place went to Wilmington, Del., with 83.6 points. East Orange, N. J., placed fifth with 83 points, just ahead of Post Rodgers, which scored 81.2. Other of the first ten placed as follows: Lansdale, Pa., 81.1; Bridgeton, N. J., 78.4; Easton, Pa., 74.8; H. L. Greenwood Post Philadelphia, 74.1.

In a special competition of drum majors, A. H. Lippincott, of Palmyra, won fourth place; Herbert Smedley, of Chester, was the winner of this event.

The Post Rodgers' color guard was awarded sixth place in a special review during the afternoon. Post Rodgers took third place for uniforms and equipment.

KALBACH'S TALK GREATLY ENJOYED

Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, Shows Much Interest in Travelogue

"Travels and Experiences in Tropical Islands" was the subject of a very interesting discourse given at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, Monday evening.

The speaker, Edward H. G. Kalbach, of Woodbury, was the speaker of the evening and gave a very fine account of his many exsperiences in the Dutch East Indies.

Mr. Kalbach has traveled extensively through these tropical islands and had many thrilling experiences to relate. The islands of Sumatra, Java, Bali, Borneo and Java were the ones described in considerable detail.

The speaker told of the quaint Dyak villages of Borneo, the strict moral code of the people, the cleanliness of their communities and many other peculiarities of island life.

Bali is the South Sea island of enchantment, according to Mr. Kalbach. The natives are a friendly and pleasure loving people, as yet unpolluted from contact with the whites.

He told of their customs, their habits, and their art. Their art is expressed in their temples and in their weaving of varied colored cloth. They are a clean-living people of wonderful physique, always hospitable and good-natured.

Mr. Kalbach told of transporting heavy machinery through the jungles on the backs of the diminutive horses. In one instance it took him and his companions twelve days to travel twelve miles and every possible jungle hardship was experienced en route.

He said Bali was thinly inhabited, owing to its inaccessibility. The coast on one side is bounded by shoals and rocks, while on the other side the slope is so gradual it is impossible for ships to get within miles.

The evening's musical entertainment was furnished by the popular Hillyard quartette, which has made many appearances before audiences in the community. Their music was greatly appreciated by all. A rising vote of thanks was given the musicians and also the speaker.

Two new members were admitted to membership, William Wells, 14 West Charles street, Palmyra, and Robert W. Knight, 211 Howard street, Riverton.

A letter written by the secretary congratulating a club member, Joseph R. Wilson, upon being honored by King Alfonso, of Spain, was read at the meeting, as was Mr. Wilson's acknowledgement.

The club adjourned to meet again at the annual banquet in September. No meetings will be held during the summer months.

A check for $500 for convict X46812, radio hero of the Columbus penitentiary fire, has been mailed to the Ohio State prison by Bill Paley, CBS head. It has been revealed that Mr. "X46812" is Otto V. Gardner, colored secretary of the Protestant Church in the penitentiary. The check was a reward for the "lifer's" masterly description of the holocaust over the radio.

SIXTY-FIVE JOIN ARTISAN'S ORDER

Large Class Initiated at End of Most Successful Membership Campaign

Sixty-five new members were initiated at the May meeting of the Palmyra Assembly Artisans' Order of Mutual Protection, which was held in P. O. S. of A. Hall, Tuesday night of last week. This is the largest number that have ever been received into the assembly at one time.

The initiatory work was performed by the degree team of Palmyra Assembly. Most of the credit for this large delegation of new members goes to Arthur Wright, who was the director of the campaign, and whose untiring efforts helped the old members to encourage so many to join this lively organization.

Allan P. Cox, recorder of the assembly, was present and complimented the members on the large class being initiated; he also complimented the degree team on the way they carried on the work.

Several visitors were present from Camden and Haddonfield, as was also Past Master Walter Schmidt, formerly of Palmyra, and now of Pittsburgh, Pa.

A most delightful entertainment brought the evening's activities to a close.

The Annual Ladies' Night was held in the Palmyra High School auditorium the following evening.

The lucky name prize, which was a beautiful chair, was won by Mrs. Harry Clem, of Riverside, whose husband was the lucky Artisan who had his name drawn. The drawing of the card was done by little Lorraine Meyers.

Master Artisan Howard Vile made a very brief announcement, after which ten acts of high class vaudeville completed the evening's program.

Holding that froth could not remain on beer for 50 minutes, as Mrs. Ann Rollins claimed, Magistrate Priestly, of Hitchins, Eng., fined her for selling drinks after hours.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To George W. MacKay:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Burlington County Trust Company is complainant and you, George W. MacKay, and others are defendants, you are required to appear and answer the bill of said complainant on or before the Thirtieth day of June next or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Samuel C. Cook to The Burlington County Safe Deposit and Trust Company, dated December 19, 1904, and recorded in the Clerk's Office of Burlington County in Book Y-4 of Mortgages, page 51, upon lands and premises situate in the Borough of Riverton, County of Burlington and State of New Jersey.

And you, George W. MacKay, are made defendant because you are the husband of Mabel Cook MacKay, one of the owners of the lands and premises covered by said mortgage, and by reason thereof may have or claim to have an inchoate right of courtesy in said lands and premises or some other estate or interest therein.

Borough Clerk.

MRS. LIPPINCOTT STANDS FOR FORT

National Law Enforcement Committee Chairman Makes Statement

A statement issued by Mrs. A. Haines Lippincott, Chairman New Jersey Committee of Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, follows: Why I am for Hon. Franklin W. Fort for candidate to the United States Senate:

First: Because the platform of the Republican Party adopted at its National Convention in Kansas City contained a plank in support of the 18th Amendment, and President Hoover said in his acceptance speech, "I do NOT favor the repeal of the 18th Amendment", and on these declarations the party received the votes of millions of citizens who were not otherwise interested.

Second: Because the Ambassador to Mexico and a former United States Senator now repudiate these declarations, and presume to ask for the votes of the Republicans of New Jersey in exact opposition to the policies of the Administration; whereas Franklin W. Fort, a regular Republican, who has served his party, state, and nation with distinction for years now offers himself as a candidate for this high office promising full support to these policies, on which the party made its appeal to the home-loving, high type citizens of New Jersey who place loyalty to the Constitution and the General welfare of the people above the personal liberty of individual appetite.

Third: Because every proposal made by the two wet candidates to remedy conditions has been tried and proved a failure before the 18th Amendment was adopted so overwhelmingly.

Fourth: Because I am looking toward the future welfare of all citizens, and know that legalising liquor cannot bring welfare. I see no Justice in employers PROHIBITING liquor to their employees in mechanical or other occupations that require steady nerves, clear brains, and strong bodies, and in LEGALIZING liquor for the privileged class, and for drivers of privately owned automobiles.

Fifth: Because wet leadership, in some instances, has brought us to the condition we now deplore, due to the lax inforcement of the 18th Amendment by officials sworn to support and defend the Constitution of the United States, and this is no time to support that leadership which has tried in every way to mullify the 18th Amendment.

Sixth: Because for years I have been working for the support of the 18th Amendment and cannot now bring myself to mullify that work by supporting any candidate who is catering to the wet element of the State. Whereas' Franklin W. Fort has stated: "The true motive for my candidacy is obvious. I am opposed to any return of the sale of intoxicating liquor under any known or suggested form of law or regulation. I believe in the 18th Amendment, and I am unwilling that my native state should directly or indirectly go on record for its repeal.

Frances W. Polhemus

Frances W. Polhemus, 63 years old, died at her home on Newbold Avenue, Moorestown, last Wednesday night suffering acute myacarditis. Mrs. Polhemus had been ill for a long time, but was not confined to her home until two weeks ago.

She was born in Portland, Oregon, the daughter of Quarternaster-General and Mrs. Weeks. She was the widow of Major Surgeon Adrian K. Polhemus, of the United States Army, and before coming to Moorestown a few years ago, all her life had been spent in various Army Posts in the Far West, Panama, and the Philippines.

Mrs. Polhemus was an exceptionally cultured and well-educated woman, and though leading a very quiet life, she did a great deal of good.

Mirrors of Morrow

As soon as Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Republican candidate for nomination for United States Senator from New Jersey, announced the appointment of Mayor Douglas G. Thomson, of Englewood, N. J., as his campaign manager, a man and woman from South Jersey motored all the way to Englewood and called on Mayor Thomson.

"We want to tell you that we are going to do everything we can for the election of Mr. Morrow," they explained. When Mr. Thomson inquired the reason for their deep interest in the candidacy of Mr. Morrow they explained that a year previous they had been in Mexico City and had decided to call upon the American Ambassador. "We had hardly reached the door before Mr. Morrow came out himself, and, learning that we were from his home State of New Jersey, invited us in to dinner. He insisted on our remaining at the Embassy for the night and seemed to enjoy getting all the news from New Jersey.

"We were going back to the States the next day and to our great surprise we found that Ambassador Morrow had arranged for us to fly to the border in one of the planes escorting Col. Lindbergh.

"We can never forget the simple hospitable way in which one Jerseyite welcomed another in a foreign land and we look forward to seeing him in Washington."

MRS. TERRY TAKES STAND FOR FORT

question back to the individual States.

True, he said that the saloons must not come back, but if his plan is carried out, the saloons will come back. There is nothing to prevent their return.

Mr. Morrow's solution of the liquor question is, therefore, to return to the system which was in existence in the country for over a hundred year, and which, after a fair trial, was banished by the votes of forty-six out of forty-eight States, as being wholly unworkable.

I am one of those who sincerely believe that the Eighteenth Amendment has brought about a great improvement in the conditions that existed under the system of States' control and I believe it can and will eventually be satisfactorily enforced.

It certainly has not had a fair trial.

History shows that great moral reforms take years to produce satisfactory results, and as Mr. Hoover says, "Prohibition is a great adventure." Its purpose is noble, its accomplishments already manifest, and no one with a vision of the possibility of the tremendous benefit coming into the lives and homes of thousands of our American people by the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment can condemn this adventure as a failure after only ten years' trial.

Welcomes Fort Candidacy

In my judgment, the question of the retention or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is by far the most important question confronting the American people today, and I simply cannot support any man for the position of United States Senator whose solution of this important question is the repeal of the Prohibition Amendment and the inevitable return to the conditions that existed prior to the adoption thereof.

Fortunately for those who regard the Constitution of the United States and the laws enacted to enforce the same as more than "mere scraps of paper," there has now entered the contest for this Senatorial nomination a man who has the vision to see the dawn of a great Day and the courage to fight for that vision.

I refer to the Honorable Franklin W. Fort.

He sounds no uncertain battle call in this fight, but comes out boldly for the preservation of the Eighteenth Amendment and the enforcement of the laws of the land.

He has every qualification for the office of United States Senator. His experience in Congress will prove invaluable. His close personal friendship with our President, Mr. Hoover, will assure him of a position of influence in the affairs of the State.

He is a loyal friend of the farmer. His speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, two years ago, on farm relief, was pronunced the finest speech made in the halls of Congress for the last ten years.

Comes From Burlington County

He comes from good old Burlington County stock. He is a prominent lawyer, a successful banker, a distinguished statesman, and as the Secretary of the Republican National Committee, intimately acquainted with the leaders of the Republican party throughout the United States.

He compares very favorably with Mr. Morrow in ability and integrity and, in addition, is on the right side of this, the most important, question confronting the American people.

He is one of the best campaign speakers in the country and in him that vast army of home-loving women and law-abiding men have a great champion.

Wets Hail Morrow

Mr. Morrow's announcement has made him the undisputed leader of the "wets" throughout the United States. The "wet" Press hails his declaration as the beginning of the end of the Eighteenth Amendment and confidently asserts that nothing has given such encouragement to the hope for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as has the bold stand of Mr. Morrow on this subject.

I know there are those who will say, "Well, Mr. Morrow cannot bring about the repeal of Prohibition, and he is such a high class man I am going to overlook his attitude on this question because men like Mr. Morrow are needed in the United States Senate."

I cannot subscribe to this idea.

Mr. Fort will be able to do all that Mr. Morrow can do, and the victory of Mr. Morrow will be hailed throughout the nation as a great blow to Prohibition.

Now is the time for the men and women of New Jersey who believe in the Eighteenth Amendment to vote their principles.

We cannot afford to take any chances. Mr. Morrow's influence as our United States Senator, working for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, will be tremendous and will more than offset any possible good he can do in international affairs.

It behooves me and every man and woman who opposes the return of the saloon to give of their means, to use their influence and to exert themselves to the utmost to nominate and elect the Honorable Franklin W. Fort to the United States Senate.

LAWYER PEACOCK GETS DIVORCES FOR CLIENTS

The following divorces have been granted by the Court of Chancery of New Jersey to Burlington Countians: Charles H. Shinn, from Elisabeth Shinn, Riverside; Ralph Mingin, from Lillian Mingin, Medford; Wilbur Collum, from Violet Collum, Delance; Richard Lute, from Helen Lute, Mount Holly; Vincenza Carboni, from Matteo Carboni, Edgewater Park; Beatrice Sprowles, from Warren B. Sprowles, Burlington; Pearle E. Morris, from Harry C. Morris, Riverside; George Aikins, from Rae Aikins, Florence; Fred West, from Ada West, Fieldsboro; John C. Adams, from Mabel Adams, Riverside. Robert Peacock, of Mount Holly, was the attorney for the successful parties in the above causes.

JOAN CRAWFORD STARS IN BENEFIT

High School Tillicum to Sponsor Show at Broadway Palace Theatre, June 4—5

Joan Crawford, usually associated with society drawing rooms and flapper boarding schools will be seen in a new environment in "Montana Moon," her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering which will be shown at the Broadway Palace Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for the benefit of the 1930 Tillicum of the Palmyra High School.

This production was made on a cattle ranch in the San Jacinto Mountains, 200 miles north of Los Angeles where Miss Crawford, together with her director, Malcolm St. Clair and a supporting cast which included John Mack Brown, Dorothy Sebastian, Ricardo Cortez, Benny Rubin, Cliff Edwards, Karl Dane and Lloyd Engraham established location headquarters.

The picture is said to be unique in the respect that the majority of its extra players were recruited from the staff of cowpunchers on the ranch, whose activities, including the riding of bucking broncos, lassoing of steers, handling the stampedes and other purely Western pursuits were included in the story as part of the general atmosphere detail.

It is reported that during the making of the picture, members of the company were required to adhere to a strict daily routine which included reporting for work at 7 a. m., wearing the same clothing during scenes while the temperature ranged intermittantly between 50 degrees above zero in the morning and 76 above at midday, riding horseback almost all day long with cowboys, having dinner at 6 p. m. and responding to "taps" at 9 p. m.

The story, an original by Sylvia Thalberg and Frank Butler centers about the daughter of a retired Montana cattleman who comes from New York to visit her father's ranch for a vacation. Here she falls in love with a cowboy but the wide difference in their social positions seems an impregnable barrier to their happiness. The ingenious method by which the rancher finally convinces the Eastern girl that she could be contented as his wife is said to give the presentation unusual interest.

RIVERTON COUNTRY CLUB GOLF NOTES

The sixteen men to qualify for the Riverton Country Club Golf Championship this year were: R. Eastwood, R. M. Hollingshead, Jr., H. Jones, J. A. Boehme, E. S. Wood, Bruce A. Wallace, Jack Graff, C. B. Wallace, W. K. Woolman, H. L. Hirst, C. Berry H. K. Rutherford, Al Seither, H. N. Sheble, W. W. Smith and J. E. Lippincott, who has been the club champion for the past three years.

There were 64 contestants who entered the qualifying round for entrance in the championship contest.

Tuesday afternoon R. Eastwood and Dick Hollingshead played the first elimination contest for the championship. Eastwood defeated Hollingshead, 6-4

Last Wednesday the Old York road team deefated the Riverton Country Club in a Suburban match. Andy Kay, of the Old York Road Club, set a new amateur record for the Riverton course with a score of 69 strokes.

Leo Shea former pro at the Riverton Club, holds the professional record with a 68 score.

Wednesday afternoon of this week the Cedar Brook team played Riverton. Last year Riverton finished last in the first division in the Suburban matches and the Cedar Brook golfers finished first in the second division, which gives them the privilege of challenging Riverton for their position.

W. K. Woolman defeated H. L. Hirst last Thursday to win the Walter H. Lippincott Trophy. Woolman defeated Hirst one up.

Tuesday Mrs. P. A. Ransome won a club medal play by defeating a field of 22 contestants. Mrs. Ransome had a low net score of 81 and also the low gross score of 103.

Next Tuesday the ladies will play the qualifying round for the club championship. The first round will be played Wednesday, semi-finals on Thursday, and the finals on Friday.

Decoration Day will be a day for mixed foursomes at the Riverton Country Club. The playing will start at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Rides in Airplane for Cent-a-Pound

In observance of the holiday weekend, the Burlington County Aero Club will offer greatly reduced passenger flying rates this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning Friday, Memorial Day, the club will fly passengers for a cent a pound, the minimum rate being one dollar, however. In other words, if a person weighs eighty-nine pounds he must pay a dollar to ride. A person weighing one hundred and seventy pounds pays $1.70.

All flights will be made from the club's airport, Hartford-Westfield road, near Moorestown, and scales will be available to establish the charge for each passenger.

The offer will be for Memorial Day, Saturday and Sunday only, according to an announcement by Lieutenant H. H. Longaker, vice-president, and founder of the club. Beginning Monday, June 2, the usual passenger "hopping" rates of the club will again go into effect.

NEW PHONE BOOK BEING DISTRIBUTED

Big Increase in Number of Listings in Latest Directory Just Off Press

A new issue of the telephone directory is now being distributed, appearing this time in an attractive gray cover of the same general modernistic style as the brown-covered bok that it is replacing and which last winter marked an innovation in New Jersey telephone directories.

More than 45,000 copies of the new book are being distributed in this area, according to E. A. Curtis, manager for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, a hint of the growth of this district being seen in the fact that the book's alphabetical section has increased to 172 pages, and that there are3580 more listings this time than there were in the last volume.

Ppople moving into this section, moving away, having their telephone numbers changed, and changing from party lines to individual line service, have run the number of changed listings up to 57,800 since the last issue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"ANCIENT AND MODERN NECROMANCY, ALIAS MESMERISM AND HYPOTISM, DENOUNCED" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 1, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "The wicked have drawn out the sword, and have bent their bow, to cast down the poor and needy, and to slay such as be of upright conversation. Their sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bow shall be broken" (Psalms 37: 14, 15).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord, your God" (Leviticus 19: 31).

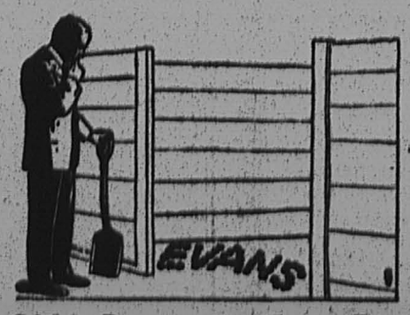

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human" (p. 102).

LEGIONNAIRES TO RALLY AT TRENTON

Palmyra Bugle Corps Will Give Exhibition But Will Not Compete

The State Champion Drum and Bugle Corps of Post Rodgers, American Legion, Palmyra, will attend the Mercer County Legion Rally next Saturday afternoon at Trenton, but will not compete. The Corps will give its competition exhibition, but owing to being state champions will not be eligible for prizes.

This state-wide Legion Rally will be held in Trenton under the auspices of the Mercer County Legion organization and will center around special contests between 75 and 100 musical units of various posts.

This "windjammers contest" will not be confined to Jersey units alone, but will embrace units from other states. The Philadelphia section of the Legion is sending several Bugle and Drum Corps and drill teams from the city as well as outlying sections, therefore the Jersey units must look to their laurels.

During the war the bandmen at the front had to turn to other occupations as there was too much competition in the noise. Besides this fact the music only drew fire, consequently few stirring merches were heard until the parade after the war. However, Legion units are making up for lost time by organizing bands, drill teams, and drum and bugle corps.

Frankford Post No. 211, national champions, will not participate owing to having made a prior engagement.

AIRPLANE FACTORY SOLD

One airplane, the hangar and equipment of the defunct Victor Aircraft Company, of Mount Holly, were sold at receiver's sale recently. The airplane, which was the only one built by the company, was sold to Frank Mills, of Essington, Pa., for $550, Roscoe C. Gale, the contractor who built the hangar, bought it for $3,250. Arold T. Parker, receiver, had charge of the sale, which included machinery, tools and office equipment.

EARLY SPRAY IS NEEDED IN CODLING MOTH CONTROL

Apple growers in central and southern New Jersey should be prepared to apply the first cover spray for the first brood of codling moth side worms earlier than usual this year on account of the unusually warm weather during the last two weeks, advises Prof. A. J. Farley, New Jersey extension horticulturist in fruit growing. A considerable number of the over-wintered generation of codling moths have already emerged, he states, and a continuation of the recent high temperatures will bring out enough moths and cause enough egg laying to justify the application of an effective cover spray.

FOREIGN FEATURES TO ENLIVEN CIRCUS DAYS

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth Brings Many New Sensations

One need not be young in body to have felt a real thrill of pleasure when the announcement was made that the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus is to exhibit its thousand and one wonders in this section. For at once, youngsters of all ages became young at heart and it was glorious news to all.

The only five-ring circus in the world with a "big top" or main tent seating more than 16,000 persons will this year offer more new and startling features than ever before.

Foremost among these is the weird Ubangi tribe of men and women savages from Africa's darkest region who will appear for the first time in any civilized land. No people like these have ever before been seen by the average white man or woman and their appearance has been the signal for interest on the part of great scientists.

Albert Powell, a sensation of the circuses of Europe during the past winter, is to be seen here with the Big Show. And countless other European novelties have been brought to make of thi sthe greatest circus season in history.

Hugo Zacchini, the Human Projectile, fired bodily from a cannon at each performance, will play a return engagement by popular demand and the distance over which he is hurtled has been lengthened.

The menagerie of the Ringling-Barnum circus is the largest traveling zoo in the world and contains 1,000 rare animals while with the circus there are also 700 horses, beautiful and sleek in appearance at all times.

Forty-three giant and baby elephants appear in the Big Show. There are 26 camels and an equal number of zebras. These are but a few of the wonders to be seen when The Greatest Show on Earth exhibits at Camden this afternoon.

Who said there were no candid candidates? Harvey McClehee, of Paris, Ark., is running for the office of district attorney because "I think I can make a living out of it." He also declares that he will put in his time during the campaign "kissing babies, bragging on the women's cooking, complimenting the farmers on their crops, and warming things up for my opponents."
