NICK BETZ' NEW BOWLING ALLEYS TO OPEN TONIGHT

Fine Establishment at Broad and Morgan, Palmyra, Ready for Business

BILLY KNOX, EXPERT BOWLER, IN CHARGE

Ladies and Gentlemen Urged to Make Use of Recreational Facilities

Nick Betz' new bowling alleys will open tonight. The new alleys, at Broad and Morgan, Palmyra, form one of the finest "layouts" anywhere in the country—bar none. It is the latest and best, which the skill and experience of the experts of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company can produce.

The fine new building in which they are housed has just been completed by Eichler and Weber, Palmyra and Riverton builders. It is well designed and built to the most approved standards for the purpose for which it will be used.

The building is of handsome tapestry brick construction on the street side, with concrete block walls in the rear. The walls and ceilings are lined with a special sound deadening composition, which is guaranteed to keep the noise of the falling pins from annoying anyone living near.

No windows are within fifty feet of the pits where the balls will strike the pins. Curtains will be hung in front of the pits and at intervals on the ceiling.

The new enterprise will cater to women as well as men, and will be managed with a view to special facilities will be arranged for ladies. Instruction will be offered by an expert without extra charge in the afternoon.

A room has been provided for lady spectators and players entirely separate from the other seats and about three feet higher than the floor, with ample facilities for checking hats, coats and wraps.

Several leagues have already made arrangements to use the alleys and another is being formed by Billy Knox, the manager. Those who are not now members here will be able to join by notifying the manager.

Expert in Charge Mr. Knox is an expert sent out by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, at the request of Mr. Betz. He is a champion bowler and is considered the highest bidder obtainable to handle the new business.

Mr. Knox returned recently from a trip through the West and says it is surprising the number of people who are taking up bowling. "Everywhere this is becoming a leading sport," he comments. "Both men and women everywhere are becoming members of leagues and bowling whenever they find a few minutes' time. The new alleys being installed are much different from those in the past and are being operated on a strictly high class basis. Bowldom and the like is not tolerated by the modern bowling alley management," he concluded.

RIVERTON SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

Two Changes in Teaching Corps; Improvements Made During Summer

The Riverton Grammar School will open Monday morning, September 8th, under the supervision of Principal E. H. Cooper.

Mr. Cooper is a graduate of Harvard College and has done post-graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. His experience covers two years as supervisor at Perkasie, Pa. four years at Kennett Square as High School principal, and two years as supervising principal at Avon Grove, Chester County, Pa.

Mr. Cooper is a comparatively young man with a pleasing personality.

The corps of teachers will remain the same as last season, with the exception of the following two changes: Miss Zaida Garbel, 740 South Fifty-ninth street, Philadelphia, will take the place of Miss Foulke, and Miss Meribah Gardiner, of Moorestown, N. J., will take the position formerly held by Miss Ruth Moore, of 417 Linden avenue, Riverton, who taught the third grade.

A short meeting will be held Friday morning at the school for the purpose of getting acquainted and to make preparations for the opening of school next Monday.

New shades have been installed all over the building and necessary repairs made to the plumbing.

PERSON'S SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The Fall term of the Person's School of Music will open Wednesday, September 10. Pupils wishing to take these classes may either communicate with Mrs. Clara Person, 403 Clunminson avenue, Palmyra, or phone Riverton 235. Both piano and violin are taught in this school.—Adv.

Popular Pastor Tells of Interesting Auto Trip to Canada and New England States

The Rev. George Lockett Writes of Many Interesting Places Visited on Enjoyable Eighteen-Day Tour of Picturesque and Historic Points

The Rev. and Mrs. George Lockett returned Thursday from an eighteen-day trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and New England.

The Rev. Mr. Lockett, who is pastor of the Central Baptist Church of Palmyra and Riverton, has written the interesting account of the trip which follows:

"The author of 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' wrote of 'Thy rocks and hills, thy woods and temples hills.' It was our pleasure on our auto trip to see some of the beauties of our own country.

We visited Harrisburg and then followed the Susquehanna Trail to Niagara Falls. Just above Harrisburg the trail crosses to the western bank at Black's Ferry, and here the waters of the blue Juniata unite with the Susquehanna. The Susquehanna Trail leads over mountains, down beautiful valleys, near bubbling streams, over Blount Mountain, 2,140 feet high, through picturesque towns, and finally to Niagara Falls.

Here is one of the most spectacular scenes in the world. We descended to the foot of the Falls and looked up at the great volume of water pouring over the rocks. We saw the glorious rainbow, we sat beside the swift flowing river and said, 'What is man that thou art mindful of him?' Then we rejoiced in the knowledge that man was made in the image of God and we are his children.

We saw the various colors displayed upon the 'Falls' at night, a truly wonderful sight, but it did not equal the rainbow made by the spray from the Falls.

We crossed Lake Ontario and visited Toronto. It is a busy city. The large stores were crowded and the streets filled with busy people. We left Niagara Falls and visited Watkins Glen. Great improvements have been made in the last few years. It is owned by the State of New York and is well worth a visit. We then followed Sullivan's Trail into Scranton and the Lackawanna Trail over the Poconos and Stroudsburg. From Stroudsburg to Stroudsburg the scenery is most beautiful; the mountains give

RIVERTON PEOPLE HAVE IDEAL TRIP

Travel From Coast to Coast and Mexico to Canada; Enjoy Fine Weather

Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Heisler and children returned last Friday evening from a ten weeks' coast-to-coast and Mexico-to-Canada tour. They spent several weeks along the Pacific Coast and in National Parks. Roads were good across the entire continent with a few exceptions, where construction work was going on, and some mountain passes in New Mexico, Arizona and Montana.

The new Coast highway and Redwood highway, of California, and Cody highway, of Wyoming, were exceptionally beautiful and Yellowstone Park especially enjoyed by the children.

The entire trip of 11,000 miles was made according to schedule and without a misadventure of any kind. Weather was ideal always and other tourists on highways, including bus drivers, were most courteous and fair.

Hotels and service stations were at convenient places, even on the deserts and mountain tops.

The Heislars went out to California on the Old National and Santa Fe Trail, returning on the Old Oregon Trail and Lincoln Highway.

HOME FURNISHINGS NEEDED FOR YMCA

Secretary Asks for Donation From Friends of 'Y' Who Wish to Help

Secretary William H. Plank, of the Palmyra-Riverton YMCA, has returned from his vacation and is busily engaged in getting the 'Y' Building in readiness for another successful season.

Mr. Plank finds that certain articles of furniture are much needed to make the 'Y' as homelike as he would like it to be, and feels that some one in the community must have some things which they do not need which would be glad to give to the YMCA.

Among the items needed are a desk, photograph, sturdy arm chairs, heavy settee, bridge lamps, heavy vases and a book case.

Anyone wishing to donate any of the above articles will kindly call Riverton 604-W or 718 and the boys will call for them.

SMITH SISTERS IN SWITZERLAND

Interesting Letter Tells of Their Experiences and Impressions

The Misses Christine and Beatrice Smith, of Seventh street, Riverton, who are abroad for five months, have written the following interesting letter telling of their experiences and impressions in Switzerland:

We arrived in Switzerland at the Swiss frontier (Pontarlier) from Paris, the middle of July on a gorgeous early morning after riding all night, and we had our first view of the snow-covered Alps at seven-thirty a. m.

One can hardly realize the size and beauty of these mountains. Swiss engineering is truly marvelous and the long tunnels, some as long as twelve minutes to ride, are a great piece of work.

The scenes changed continually and the mountains fairly loomed up into the clear sky. Off in the distance we could see a whole range of snow-covered peaks just coming into view.

We stopped at Bern, Thun and Spiez, and the train then continued on around the Lake of Thun, thence to our destination, Interlaken.

Interlaken means 'between the lakes,' and it is literally true, as it is between Lakes Thun and Brienz.

The Jungfrau Mountain, being 13,667 feet high, is the central attraction at Interlaken. It is the largest of the three snow-covered ones, namely Eiger, Monch and Jungfrau. The three can be viewed together at various places.

The most striking of all the sights is to see the full glow on these mountains, caused by the setting sun on the snow. For a short time in the evening they are of a gorgeous crimson color; that is, if the day has been totally clear and there is a perfect sunset. No one ever misses a 'glow,' as it is a rare picture.

There are a host of 'natural' attractions in Switzerland and from Interlaken there are numerous places to visit. The steamer rides on the lakes are most enjoyable, a trip to the Giesbach Falls, Blue Lake, Bantus Caves, Grindelwald, Murren, Giengen, and to the famous mountain, 'Schneeig Plateau,' which is 6,000 feet high. Few people miss this picture-view trip up this mountain, as here a panorama

INTEREST GROWS IN GUN PRACTICE

Competition Gives Incentive for Better Marksmanship Among Cops

Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock eighteen policemen and five citizens participated in the weekly revolver practice held under the old law works on Main street, Riverton.

Since this new practice has been started the various policemen have been imbued with the spirit of competition and are shooting almost as seriously as though faced with an emergency. They watch their scores and measure their hits with an accuracy that is comparable only with a couple of old-time horsehoe pitchers.

If the competition grows much more intense it will be necessary to provide the outfit with a set of micrometer calipers to measure the hits.

The police are glad to have citizens who are interested in revolver practice to join them, and will give assistance and instruction where desired.

The target consists of a bull's-eye of about 6 inches in diameter and each hit counts 5 points. The next circle counts 4 points and the last one 3 points. Ten shots are taken from a distance of 50 feet and 5 from 25 feet. The best score, therefore, would be 75 points.

The participants last Saturday and their respective scores are given below:

JOHN C. ZINAK IS NOW UNDERTAKER

Jerome J. Zinak, Jr., of Riverton, has qualified as funeral director and embalmer, and established a practice at 621 Thomas avenue, Riverton. Mr. Zinak has had an experience of five years in the vicinity and Camden, and is the first native born to enter this profession.

The officers took the men and truck to police headquarters and Chief Guigley notified the Sheriff's office and State Police.

The truck and men were escorted to Mount Holly by State Troopers Rohrer and Turnbull, where they were held for further action under heavy guard.

BUSY WEEKEND ON PALMYRA BRIDGE

Gang Fight and Overturned Car Mar Otherwise Faultless Operation of Span

From Friday morning last until midnight Labor Day marked the busiest four-day period of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge since it was opened a year ago.

33,418 vehicles used the span during this period and paid over $1,000 in tolls. The great span, although crowded almost to capacity at times, was able to handle the traffic without delay.

While the flow of vehicles is very irregular at times, many more going in one direction than in another, no inconvenience has been felt, owing to the simple expedient of using three lanes in the direction carrying the bulk of the traffic.

The four-day period was not without incident, as a fight occurred Saturday night and a car overturned Sunday. A man and his lady companion were going towards Philadelphia when their machine was overtaken by another and the man attacked by four thugs. He was badly beaten up and was taken to a Philadelphia hospital by the police.

An fight took place on the Pennsylvania side Palmyra police did not get the details. They were of the opinion that it was a gang battle.

A Buick sedan, with Pennsylvania tags, overturned on the span Sunday night. No one was injured and the car was towed away by the Keystone Automobile Club. The machine was thought to have skidded on the wet roadway while traveling at a high rate of speed.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPT. 16

Was Established in 1793, Old in Years But Progressive in Spirit, Modern Methods Used

Little folks from Riverton, Palmyra and neighboring towns will flock to the Westfield Friends' School at Clunminson, Tuesday morning, September 16, on which day school will open for the fall term. Ever since 1793, this school, at the junction of the Burlington pike and Moorestown road, has opened its doors each fall for the education of the youth of the community, with the exception of a few years several decades ago, when it was temporarily closed.

Many new faces will be seen in the enrollment this year, particularly in the kindergarten and first grade. The Westfield Friends' School carries its pupils through the first six grades of the elementary school, and then sends them on to other schools equipped to begin the seventh grade which starts the junior high school.

There is no feature of this unusual school which appeals to more parents than the kindergarten, and the careful and up-to-date methods employed at the Westfield Friends' in starting boys and girls on their school careers.

Under the direction of wise and sympathetic teachers, children are stimulated to desire for study, while intelligent playground supervision develops good fellowship and initiative.

The playground program which has been the subject of much thought by both faculty and management in the past few years, will be expanded this year and made complete for all six grades. Full opportunity for play in large groups is provided to an unusual extent by the spacious grounds and venerable shade trees, some of which were planted long before Riverton and Palmyra were on the map.

The numerical proportion of teaching staff to pupils is so maintained as to insure a large measure of personal attention to each child, both in the study courses and in character molding. In the words of Miss Naomi Baisman, principal:

"We desire to train children to think clearly, to express themselves well, to take the initiative in rendering service that will make their community better because of their greater reasoning powers and usefulness, to

Police Raid 'Number' Racket Headquarters

Eleven Arrested as County Detectives Enter Home of Merrill Johns

THOUGHT TO BE LINK IN BIG ORGANIZATION

Cash Bail Provided in Few Minutes After Phone Call to Camden

What is thought to have been an important link in great South Jersey system of "number" operators was raided Saturday morning when county detectives, aided by state and local police, entered the home of Merrill Johns, Market street, West Palmyra.

The raid was staged just at the time collectors were making their returns for the previous day and eleven of them, all colored, were arrested.

About $236 in cash was seized by the police, but it is thought much money was in the room and was quickly picked up by some of the men.

At a hearing before Recorder William L. Fichter in Palmyra police headquarters all were held under bail for appearance in court. Merrill Johns, the proprietor, was held under $500 cash bail, while the others were required to post $250 each. Among them was a young stenographer, secretary to Johns, who gave her name as Mabel Price, Woodstown.

County Detectives The men gave names and addresses as follows: George Corsey, Woodbury; Edwin Price, Bridgeton; James Anderson, Camden; Robert Gaffin, Woodbury; Martin Hunter, Burlington; Joseph Walley, Camden; Harry Wilson, Burlington; George Jones, Camden; Orange Crowell, Philadelphia.

County Detective Clifford Cain, Morris Stevenson, an attaché of the county detective office, State Troopers Turnbull, Rohrer and Bradwick, in plain clothes, arrived in town about ten o'clock Saturday morning without warning and picked up Officer William Black, in order to have a local officer in uniform with them.

This raid was well planned and perfectly executed. As the officers rushed up the steps they could hear three adding machines in operation checking up the day's receipts. When they brushed into the "office" without ceremony they found three men and a girl in the room. Although startled, they made no effort to escape.

Tip From Camden Just where the tip came from that the "number" racketeers were established in Palmyra was not made public. The information is thought to have come through Camden sources, or possibly from a Harrison Dawson, colored, who was arrested near Burlington the Tuesday before with evidence of the "racket" in his car. He is being held under $500 bail.

The "number" game is one in which any sum of money may be placed on any number from 1 to 999. The winner is paid 540 times the amount placed on the number.

The winning ticket is determined from the New York bank clearing each day. These figures are typed in the newspapers and the winning number is composed of the second and third digits of the exchanges and the third figure of the balance.

The fact that the winning figure can be obtained from the newspaper and therefore can be manipulated, lends confidence to the players. It is necessary for all chances to be turned in early in the morning before the balances are given out.

Not An Even Break The game does not give the players an even break in that there are 999 chances with the winter being paid but 540. The difference represents the profits to the operators and is sufficient to make the racket very profitable.

Rumors of a close connection with a large ring in South Jersey was given credence when bail was required by the Recorder. Cash bail for the collectors was set at $250 each one of the leaders asked to use the phone and called a Camden number.

Apparently it was not necessary for either to identify himself as they knew easily from the voices. In a short conversation the case was explained and bail promised in a half hour. In less time than that a colored lawyer appeared with the money in $500 and $100 bills.

JOSEPH FABRICATORE Joseph Fabricatore, husband of Rosa Fabricatore, of West Sixth street, Palmyra, died Tuesday morning. High mass was held at the Sacred Heart Church, Riverton, this morning. Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, Riverside.

LEON RAESLY TO EDIT BURLINGTON PAPER

Will Take Up Duties on 'The Daily Enterprise' Next Monday

Announcement has been made of the appointment of Leon Raesly as associate editor of the Burlington Daily Enterprise, to succeed the late John H. Naylor, who died a short time ago.

Mr. Raesly is very well known in this community, having "covered" the territory for The Camden Courier for several years prior to his appointment to the position of radio and assistant State editor of that publication, which he now holds.

The new editor of The Enterprise will take up his duties next Monday and will make his home in Burlington in the near future.

Both Mr. Raesly and his wife, the former Helen Belcher, who now make their home in Riverton, have a host of friends in the two towns, who wish them every success in their new venture.

2 NEW CROSSINGS AT EAST RIVERTON

Improved Type of Construction; Automatic Blinker Lights Protect Users

The two very dangerous railroad crossings at Pompton and Bellevue avenues, East Riverton, which have been the scene of several tragedies, and near tragedies, have been permanently closed, and larger and better ones opened at Reed street and Union Landing Road.

The new crossings are twice as wide as the old ones, and have longer approaches which reduce the grade of the approach and minimizes the danger of cars stalling on the tracks. Each crossing has four 27-foot guard rails so laid and packed that it is impossible for a pedestrian to catch his shoe between rails and track while crossing. This is a new feature.

These crossings are built of two inch stone ballast, 14 inches deep, surfaced with 7 inch crushed stone, bound with Header oil. With these materials Foreman Albert VanSiver makes a job equal to asphalt construction.

Both crossings are equipped with the automatic blinker light danger signal which are in general use on the Pennsylvania System.

With the installation of these crossings the railroad company has made a very definite step toward safeguarding the lives of the people of this vicinity.

PUBLIC SERVICE BUSES LINK WITH AIRPLANES

Connecting Transportation With Central Airport at Camden Arranged From Philadelphia Terminal

Public Service Interstate Transportation Company has joined with the New York-Philadelphia-Washington Airway Corporation in providing connecting buses to the Central Airport for the operation of airplanes between these cities.

Buses will be operated from the Jersey Bus Terminal, Thirteenth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, directly to the Central Airport, Camden, and connections can be made with the airplanes. Reservations for the airplanes can also be made at the Jersey Bus Terminal.

Passengers arriving at the Central Airport on plane trips between New York and Washington can board Public Service buses for the trip to Philadelphia. Public Service also operates connecting buses between New York City and the Newark Airport, Newark, N. J.

BUSY WINTER PLANNED

Riverton Branch Needlework Guild Begins Its Winter Work

The officers of the local branch of the Needlework Guild of America are already busy laying plans for a full winter program.

For some seasons past the work of the Branch has been limited to the collection of garments by the various directors for distribution among hospitals, homes and other accredited charitable organizations. Last year, however, there was a most inspiring revival of interest in Guild work.

Several all-day sewing sessions were held in the Porch Club rooms, and the season closed with a delightful bridge-luncheon held at the home of Mrs. William Porter.

The same enthusiasm which made last year such a successful and profitable one for the Needlework Guild is already making itself felt in plans for the coming winter. An extensive program of sewing has been laid out by the committee in charge, and two all-day sewing sessions scheduled for the second and fourth Wednesdays in September.

Keep these dates in mind, and free from other engagements. The 10th and 24th of September. The place is the Porch Club. There will be work for everyone.

JANITOR HONORED BY SCHOOL BOARD FOR FINE RECORD

Joseph A. Davis Presented With Set of Resolutions After 32 Year's Service

PUBLIC INSPECTION OF BUILDING TUESDAY

Term Opens Monday; Beginners Must Have Birth and Vaccination Certificates

After thirty-two years of faithful service as janitor of the Spring Garden street schools Joseph A. Davis was honored by his employers when the Palmyra Board of Education presented him with a set of engraved resolutions at its regular meeting last week.

Mr. Davis, without being told what was to take place, was asked to appear before the meeting. When President Charles W. Davison arose to make the presentation speech he was unaware of what was to come. Mr. Davis called attention to his long record of faithful service and he had an inkling that he was to be honored by the Board.

The president of the Board spoke briefly in praise of the janitor's splendid record, saying that to his knowledge no complaints had been made as to the janitor's work in the Spring Garden street schools.

Mayor Compliments Colleague
Mayor George N. Wimer, hearing that his colleague on the Borough Council was to be honored, was present and added his compliments to those most generously expressed by the Board. Mr. Davis has served several years as a member of the Borough's governing body.

District Clerk William A. Donaghy mentioned Mr. Davis' splendid record with the school children, saying that they all looked to him as a friend and in all the years of service he had never had any difficulties with the pupils at the school.

Walter D. Lamon, a member of the Board, told of a story recently appearing in a Philadelphia newspaper about a Collingswood man who had served as school janitor for twenty-eight years. This was claimed to be the South Jersey record. Mr. Lamon said the honor properly belonged to Mr. Davis.

Complimented By President
After hearing the reports of the building and grounds and the educational committees, President Davison complimented them on their fine work during the summer, saying, "everybody of you have been on the job, working faithfully all summer, and as long as you keep at it you are bound to get somewhere."

Under the new organization of the Board, as proposed by the State Department, most of the work is done by these two committees. Mr. Lamon is chairman of the Educational Committee, while the other members are Mrs. J. C. Mallory and F. L. Durgin, Jr. Charles W. Davison, president of the Building and Grounds Committee, the other members are DeWitt Morris and F. L. Durgin, Jr.

Mr. Davison announced that the building would be ready for the opening of school on Monday and the new rooms would be finished. All grammar school children, fifth to eighth grades, inclusive, will attend the Delaware avenue school this year. The third and fourth grade colored children will attend this school. Otherwise, all first, second, third and fourth grade children will be in the Spring Garden or Cinnaminson avenue buildings. There will be kindergarten rooms in the Cinnaminson avenue building and also the Delaware avenue school.

Public Inspection
The Delaware avenue building will be open for inspection next Tuesday evening from 7:30 until 9:00 o'clock so those who wish may see the changes which have been made. Two additional class rooms have been provided by altering the interior of the school. This work was done at an approximate cost of $5,000 and fully solves the part time problem until such a time as the building shall be considerably increased.

All children entering kindergarten this year must be five years old on or before the end of the second week of school, September 10. It will be necessary for parents to present birth certificate and proof of vaccination from a physician.

A letter from August H. Weber was read, in which he highly commends the School Board and asked that copies of the new drum be purchased, as requested by the instructors. Most of the instruments are owned by the pupils, but in a few cases where instruments are very expensive or not suitable for individual ownership the school will buy them and they will remain as a part of the regular equipment.

Complete Teaching Staff
The date of the annual reception to teachers was set for October 3. This is an event established in previous years and is an excellent thing in helping the new teachers to get acquainted with each other.

The teaching staff was completed with the election of Miss Marian Huber, of Myerstown, Pa., Latin and English; Miss Mary Hayes, Haddonfield, grade school; Miss Myrtle W. Higgins, Bordentown, grade school. Miss Marie McDermott, Palmyra, was appointed secretary. This is not a teaching position.

Arrangements for leasing the High School athletic field to William Reagle Saturday afternoon, when not used by the school, was approved.

Peter J., a dog owned by Miss Elsie G. of Evansville, Ill., pulled the bed-covers off his mistress when her house caught fire.

Radio sets are now being used by several fishermen of Liverpool to help pass the time away when the fish aren't biting.

Rodeo Champions Prepare to March on Philadelphia

Rodeo riding is one sport left in the world in which the contestants are professionals by classification and amateurs at best. There isn't a rider or roper in the 300 top hands who will battle it out for the world championship in the World Series Rodeo, to be held between September 10 and September 20 at the Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia, who takes greater pride in the gold he wins than in the winning of the gold. The thrill of winning, the glory of rating as top hands, lure these riders into the arena. They will soon begin coming to Philadelphia at their own expense, they will maintain themselves throughout the rodeo, and pay their way home. If they are hurt, it's their own misfortune—they pay the bills. The only remuneration they receive is the prize money they win in the ring. Ranking golf professionals are able to make $40,000 or more a year for smacking a little white ball around the links. Prize fighters make huge sums for indulging in a few weeks of training and a few minutes of combat in the ring. Home run kings draw salaries larger than that of the President of the United States, and, among these, even the prize fighter is rarely seriously injured.

TEACHER IS HOME FROM QUAKE ZONE

Miss F. E. Sharp Escapes Catastrophe in Italy While Abroad

Miss Florence E. Sharp, teacher of history at the Moorestown High School, has returned from her trip abroad during which she escaped death during the earthquakes in Italy, in late July.

The instructor, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Sharp, of Washington street, Camden, was among a party of 37 headed by Rev. Rosa Stover, of Philadelphia, which sailed for Europe, July 3.

"The first of the earthquakes occurred at 1 a. m.," Miss Sharp said, "but we knew nothing about it. We were riding in a train toward Naples and if we were heading for a catastrophe—we were unaware of it. At least, there was nothing unusual on the train to indicate an earthquake."

"We reached Naples at 11 a. m., but it was not until we went sightseeing that we learned of the earthquakes. Then the guides told us."

"While we were in danger, I suppose," Miss Sharp reports, "we escaped the greater part of it."

Miss Sharp said her party seemed little alarmed upon learning of the danger and destruction being spread over southern Italy.

"We were not as frightened as some of the people who lived in Naples," she said.

"We found the natives going to their churches to pray, either that they be saved, or in thanksgiving for their safety. We visited one of these churches, where the vibration of the upheavals had knocked the plaster from the ceiling."

"Many residents of the city would not go to bed, fearful of a return of the earthquake. Those who owned a boat or could afford to hire one, took to the water."

"We remained in Naples two days, but did not visit the devastated regions to the south. We left then for Rome."

In the meantime she had called her parents, she was safe.

The entire trip took about six weeks. The party visited London, Paris, Switzerland, Rome and Venice, and witnessed the Passion Play in Germany.

Miss Sharp was graduated from Camden High School in 1918 and from the University of Pennsylvania in 1922.

BABY PARADE TO FEATURE MOUNT HOLLY CHURCH FAIR

A baby parade will feature a three-day lawn fête to be held on the grounds of the First Methodist Church, Mount Holly, September 4, 5 and 6. The parade will be held Saturday afternoon, the closing day, and will be the big event of the season in Mount Holly. Supper will be served Friday and Saturday nights by the ladies of the Loyal Sisters' Bible Class.

There is no factual basis for the popular belief that there will be cross-pollination between watermelons, pumpkins, and cucumbers when these plants are grown near together, says C. H. Nisley, New Jersey extension horticulturist in vegetable growing. His assertion is based on the work of Prof. L. H. Bailey, of Cornell; Prof. J. L. Fennell, of Iowa State College, and other plant breeders.

A pickpocket caught taking $10 cents from a man's pocket in Chicago, was sent to jail for six months.

PAIR ARRESTED IN MISSING GIRL CASE

Men to Face Charges of Reticence Lenora Minor for Immoral Purposes

Serious immoral charges were linked with an alleged plot to supply South Jersey beach runners with $15,000 worth of stolen motor vehicle certificates in the arrest in Philadelphia Wednesday of last week of a missing 16-year-old Lenora girl.

The girl is Mary Taylor. Missing from her home in Lenora since the Sunday previous, she was picked up at Twelfth and Mount Vernon streets, Philadelphia, at 5 a. m. by Detectives Kessel, Clay and Fisher on charges of soliciting.

She said she had been living at 1124 Mount Vernon street with two men who had taken her there on Monday from a saloon in Kalghia avenue, Camden. A third man, whose name she did not know, had taken her to the saloon on the pretext of getting her a job.

She drank beer, became dizzy and was introduced to the two men, who took her to the Mount Vernon street house, after forcing her to walk Camden streets one night, the girl asserted.

The detectives entered the house and arrested William Groves, 29, also known as Harrington and Haley, of 217 Friends avenue, and James Anthony, 20, of 767 Spruce street, both of Camden.

In their room were found a huge supply of blank New Jersey motor vehicle registration cards, worth $13,000, the althous said. They learned the certificates had been stolen July 17 from the office of William B. Kramer, motor vehicle agent, at 303 East Atlantic avenue, Audubon.

All the cards bore Kramer's official stamp, so that the thieves had only to type in fake names and other data and sell the cards to beach runners driving New Jersey cars. The fake cards would have been of great value to bootleggers in evading prosecution in case of arrest; the police said, and were undoubtedly intended for that purpose.

Magistrate Grella held the men without bail for a further hearing on September 3, on the charges of enticing a minor for immoral purposes. The girl was sent to the House of Correction in Morristown, and may be arraigned in Morristown. Groves was paroled recently from the State Prison at Trenton, after serving part of a three-to-six year term for burglary, in Newark.

FIGHT ON DRUNKEN DRIVERS APPROVED

Auto Club Indorses Hoffman's Campaign and Favors Physicians' Appearance in Court

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Hoffman's campaign against drunken drivers is strongly indorsed by the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey, which asserts in a statement that "there is no place on the highways for the motor vehicle operator who has so little sense of responsibility as to attempt to drive while under the influence of intoxicants."

"We are," says the statement, "thoroughly in accord with Commissioner Hoffman's attitude on drunken drivers. With the highways of the State teeming with traffic, it is essential that every operator bring to his task of safely operating a motor vehicle a clear brain and a steady hand. Nothing else will do. The emergencies and hazards of present-day car operation require all the skill and judgment that any motorist can offer."

"The club believes with motorist pioneer Hoffman that every motorist, accused of drunkenness is, however, entitled to a square deal. His trial on such a serious charge should be marked by the safeguards that surround persons accused of other crimes of equal gravity. The Commissioner in order that physicians who have pronounced defendants intoxicated be present at the trials is entirely warranted. We know of no other instances in legal procedure where defendants are convicted and jailed on the strength of a certificate signed by an absent witness."

STATE POPULATION SHOWS 27.6 INCREASE

Burlington County Has Growth of 12,063, or 14.8 Per Cent.

New Jersey's 1930 population of 4,028,027 shows an increase of 27.6 per cent, or 672,127 residents during the last ten years, it was announced on Monday by the Census Bureau.

The greatest rates of expansion occurred in Bergen County, which increased its population 74.4 per cent, from 210,703 to 365,405; Union County, 42.3 per cent, from 200,187 to 294,742; Ocean County, 40.6 per cent, from 22,185 to 31,148; Cape May County, 31.8 per cent, from 19,485 to 25,844; Atlantic County, 26 per cent, from 33,914 to 42,736; Gloucester, 46.4 per cent, from 48,224 to 70,822.

Camden County rated tenth in the rate of increase, its population rising 21.6 per cent, from 150,008 to 182,769.

Other County figures follow:

County	1920	1930	Per Cent
Atlantic	121,959	150,008	23.0
Burlington	82,883	120,946	45.8
Camden	150,008	182,769	21.6
Gloucester	48,224	70,822	46.4
Hudson	103,221	125,931	22.0
Monmouth	103,221	125,931	22.0
Morris	103,221	125,931	22.0
Passaic	103,221	125,931	22.0
Union	200,187	294,742	47.2
Warren	103,221	125,931	22.0

The 1930 census gives New Jersey six cities with populations exceeding 100,000, as against five in 1920. Elizabeth is the new one in the class, its population increasing from 68,782 to 114,867. Other cities with populations of over 100,000 are Newark, 425,822; Jersey City, 318,542; Trenton, 122,410; Paterson, 122,410; Camden, 117,172.

Heavy Storm Forces 3 Local Fliers Down

The heavy storm Wednesday night of last week forced pilots of three Moorestown airplanes to tie their ships down to the ground and stay overnight at Tabernacle.

All of the ships were connected with the Burlington County Aero Club and had "hopped" up to the Tabernacle Harvest Home, where passengers were carried.

Chief Pilot Jim Erdman, who was at the controls of one of the ships, reports that it was the first time in his career as a flier that he had been forced down to ground by a storm. The ships had just taken off on the hop homeward when the storm broke. The pilots immediately turned back and tied the planes to the ground, where they were kept until morning.

Five members of the Aero Club stayed with the ships overnight. The trip back to Moorestown was completed before seven o'clock Thursday morning.

Former State Senator Emmor Roberts was one of the other two pilots, flying his own plane, while the third was "Whitey" Pourvier, who took a private plane to Tabernacle.

COMMUNITY COURT TOURNEY STARTING

First Round Matches to be Played Off by September 15

The annual Moorestown Community House tennis tournament which will get under way this week, promises more upsets than ever before.

Eighteen players are entered in the tournament, but to pick a winner is almost an impossibility. Some of the hopefuls are Preston Roberts, Moorestown Field Club; Robert J. Rogers, Spring Hill Country Club; Keeler Mahon, Harold Budd, Howard Davis and W. Henry Jones. E. Russell Perkins and J. Alfred McConey, last year's finalist, are not entered this season.

The first round of the tournament is about to get under way, and will be completed before September 15. After the first round, winners must play each week thereafter until the tournament is completed.

This is a new ruling in the tournament, but a very necessary one. The rules are posted on the Community House bulletin board.

The tournament is slated to close not later than October 11.

In the drawings held in the Community House on Tuesday, the following pairings were made:

Howard Davis vs. Joseph Bush, Robert Rogers vs. Preston Roberts, Burt Rogers vs. Stanley Slater, Jack Schmeiser vs. Arthur Slipp, Keeler Mahon vs. W. Thompson, Franklin Stroud vs. Russell Boyer, Harmon Chegwidden vs. W. Henry Jones.

Herman Royce vs. Harold Budd, William R. Mullooney vs. George W. Nickols.

All games are to be played upon the Community House courts and booked by match makers.

LIGHTS WILL HALT SPEEDING AT POINT WHERE I MET DEATH

An ordinance passed last reading at last week's meeting of Pennsauken Township Committee that will provide for traffic lights at Westfield and Merchantsville avenue, where two deaths have occurred. The intersection is regarded as the most hazardous in the Township, next to that of Cove road and the boulevard.

AUTOMOBILES KILL 118

Automobile accidents during July caused the death of 118 persons in New Jersey, an increase of three over the previous month, the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Trenton, reported last week. Fifty-six of those killed were pedestrians. Suicides were on the decrease, with thirty-nine for the month of July, as compared with forty-three for June. Total deaths reported in the State for July were 5,423, a decrease of twenty over the previous month.

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

At a Loss for Materials

AN Easterner of sporting proclivities was spending his vacation up in the Northern Peninsula of Michigan. There he met a native of the wide who was neither a guide nor a woodsman but who seemed merely to be an onlooker at what went on about him. It would appear, further that he had neither vices nor habits. So far as might be judged, he didn't even have any pursuits, outdoor or indoor, that he followed. Filled with interest over having encountered so unusual a human phenomenon, the Easterner proceeded to ply the resident with questions.

"Don't you ever fish?"

"Nope."

"Do you hunt?"

"Nope."

"Do you run around any with the ladies?"

"Never have yet."

"You don't play poker, either, do you?"

"Nope."

"Do you go in for golf, by any chance?"

"I suppose not. Well, how about taking a drink once in a while?"

"Not for me."

"Possibly you've heard that there is such a thing as horse racing. Did you ever bet any money on the ponies?"

"No."

"Well, then," said the baffled stranger. "I'm coming now to the main question: In the winter time when everybody is in this part of the country is frozen in, what the hell do you do about it?"

FIREMEN INJURED AT HOLLY BLAZE

Incendiarism is Suspected as Flames Destroy Auto and Garage

Two firemen were injured and several large buildings at Mount Holly were threatened when a fire believed to be of incendiary origin destroyed a garage and automobile Wednesday of last week. Total damage was $1,800.

Mrs. John Schmidt, of Hulme street, near Pine, was awakened at 1:45 a. m. by the reflection of flames upon her bedroom windows and walls. She arose and saw that her husband's garage, in which was housed a new automobile, was afire.

As she leaned out the window to call for aid, she saw a prowler running from her yard.

Patrolman Robert Smiles and Frank Bowen heard the woman's calls, and sounded an alarm. The Union, Relief, Good Intent and America Fire Companies, in charge of Fire Chief Theodore Pennock, responded.

Both firemen injured were jolted from their respective apparatus while on the way to the blaze. Clarence Pennock, 60, of Wall street, fell from the Relief Company's pumper and suffered severe lacerations and bruises. He was treated at the Burlington County Hospital and held for observation. Claude Cline, of the America Fire Company, was treated for a sprained ankle when he fell from a fire truck.

The flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the garage. The rear of the Schmidt house caught fire, but quick work by the firemen saved the house.

Several buildings of the Hill Construction Company, adjacent to the Schmidt home, were threatened, and the roof of one caught fire. Firemen played water on those buildings and prevented a more serious conflagration.

Schmidt told County authorities he believes that the prowler started the fire, perhaps by smoking a cigarette while attempting to steal the car. The owner said the machine had been in the garage all day, so that the fire could not have started from overheating of the engine.

The garage was not insured.

STATE LEGION AT SHORE THIS WEEK

Many Notables to Attend 12th Annual Convention in Wildwood

Many distinguished national figures will attend the twelfth annual convention of the New Jersey Department of the American Legion which will be held at Wildwood this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans Affairs for the United States Government, of Washington, D. C., will attend the convention and is scheduled to address the session, as is Major General F. C. Harris, U. S. A., retired, also of Washington, who is national director of education work among war orphans for the American Legion.

Another distinguished visitor will be United States Senator Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth. Senator David Baird, Jr., of Camden, New Jersey's other representative in the Upper House, also will speak. Brigadier General Frederick Glickson, Adjutant General and State Service Officer of the State of New Jersey, from Trenton, is another of the distinguished guests.

Franklin D'Olier, of Moorestown, former National Commander of the Legion, and Frank Schoble, Jr., of Wyndome, Pa., National Vice-Commander, are others who will be there to speak. The list of guests includes prominent men who at various times will address convention sessions.

Arrangements have been made to make the convention the greatest ever held by the New Jersey Department. The entertainment features this year are the greatest ever planned.

225 ENJOY AIRPLANE RIDES AT CO. AIRPORT

Aero Club Ship Carry Passengers for Cent-Around as Half-day Feature

In view of the fact that so many people took advantage of the three-day vacation to go away, officials of the Burlington County Aero Club report they are well satisfied with the number of passengers their planes carried from the Moorestown airport at special holiday rates over the weekend.

"Jim" Erdman, chief pilot, reports 225 enjoyed airplane rides at a cent-a-round over Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The passenger who found riding on the weight basis the most expensive was a 220-pound man. A woman tipping the scales at 195 pounds paid the most among the fair sex.

An 81-year-old Riverside woman, whose name airport officials failed to obtain, took advantage of the special offer and took her first "hop," greatly enjoying a ride over her home town.

One Moorestown woman found the rides so delightful that she took five over the weekend, according to Erdman.

FEMBERTON SUE FOR DAMAGES

Two widely known Burlington County men have been made defendants in a $40,000 damage suit filed by a woman whom they had accused of stealing furnishings from a summer residence at Browns Mills. One of the men is Carlton H. Graves, Browns Mills property owner, and the other is Warren Hargrove, Femberton Justice of the Peace, on whom Graves has conferred power of attorney. The suit has been started in Supreme Court by Mrs. Mediana Springer, now conducting the Dane Hotel at Ocean City.

PLANE TALKS

By L. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

The finish of the non-stop Air Derby from California to Chicago gave the spectators at the National Air Races last week quite a thrill. All the ships were Lockheed and Lee Schoenhair was right on Wiley Post's tail as he zoomed over the grandstand wide-open. Billy Brook followed shortly afterward and Captain Turner about a half hour later.

Major "Jimmy" Doolittle put on a real firing exhibition in his Travel Air Mystery ship. Jimmy is a real ace and we mean that in every way, too.

Viva in France! We salute Dieu-donne Cote and his mechanic, Maurice Bellotte, on their marvelous achievement in spanning the Atlantic westward.

Marcel Doret, premier stunt flier of France, certainly put his French ship through its paces every day. One of his pet stunts was to come down wide-open in a power-dive from about two thousand feet, level off and shoot across the airport at ten feet from the ground and then pull his ship in an absolute vertical climb for a thousand feet.

In winning the Thompson Trophy free-for-all race "Speed" Holman averaged slightly better than 201 miles per hour for the hundred miles. This is the fastest time ever made in winning the Thompson Trophy Race.

And so ends the Tenth Anniversary of the National Air Races, held this year at the Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds Airport, Chicago. Next week we will resume our mixture of national and local aviation news.

Lieutenant C. Victor Williams, president of the Burlington County Aero Club, will return from two weeks' active duty at Langley Field, Virginia, this Sunday.

THREE ARRESTED AS FARM THIEVES

Charged with stealing 800 ears of corn from the farm of Armadya Hilton, Moorestown, Morris, Oliver and Clara Christian, all colored residents at Hartford, were arrested by Chief of Police John H. Bradshaw and Officer Walter A. Erickson last Saturday.

Members of the trio, whose name baffle their conduct, were committed to the Burlington county jail at Mount Holly in default of $500 bail each by Recorder Joseph W. Johnston after a hearing in Town Hall. It is believed that they will later be connected with losses suffered at the Hilton farm over a period of two or three years.

Last week Lloyd Tucker, 72 East Third street, was arrested by Officer Charles Erickson, charged with being drunk and disorderly. Recorder Johnston committed Tucker to Mount Holly jail in default of $500 bail each.

Three speeders were arrested during the past few days by Officer Walter A. Erickson. They were Ernest Forsberg, 1134 Roosevelt street, Delaware county, Pa.; Luther M. Ware, colored, 2246 Seventh avenue, New York, and Clifford A. Evans, Newark. Forsberg was fined $1 and costs by the Recorder while Ware and Evans were penalized $5.00 and costs.

Willis Johnson, arrested by Officer Erickson on reckless driving charges, paid $5.00 and costs, at a hearing before the police judge.

ROBERTS ADVISES RETIRING CARRIERS TO "LEARN TO FLY"

Ex-Senator Suggests Method of "Getting Back Into Service"

SURPRISE DINNER FOR BOLAND AND HUSTON

R. F. D. Workers Go on Pension After 32, 28 Years of Service

"Learn to fly, join the air mail forces, and then you can get back into the service."

That was the message Senator Robert Boland, former State Senator and Moorestown's most enthusiastic airman, delivered to two Moorestown postmen at a dinner given last Friday evening in celebration of their retirement after many years of faithful service.

Ex-Senator Roberts was one of the chief speakers at the dinner which was given at Ruloff's, West Main street, in honor of John K. Boland and Joshua Huston, rural mail carriers, who were retired from service on September 1.

Mr. Roberts is one of the patrons on the rural route that Mr. Boland has served for many years. Mr. Bolland was in the postal service for thirty-two years and during that time served in virtually every possible capacity at Moorestown Post Office, having worked under twelve postmasters.
Mr. Boland, during brief remarks, told his audience that he never missed a day's work because of illness during the entire thirty-two years of service.

Huston Served 28 Years

Mr. Huston, who had been rural carrier since he joined the postal staff, served for twenty-eight years.
The dinner came as a complete surprise to the two men, who had not even "suspected" the testimonial dinner up to the time Assistant Postmaster Benjamin J. Heal ushered them into the dining room, where they found twenty-three officials and members of the staff from the Moorestown office already seated at the tables.

The two men were lauded for the fine service they had rendered the department and the local office patrons by Mr. Roberts and W. C. Brigham, of Trenton, a former Post Office inspector. In addition to short addresses by Postmaster E. F. Ben-nert and Assistant Postmaster Heal, every person present said a few words to the two men. One of the most interesting feature of the "farewell" was the reading of a poem by Mrs. Laura Tiger, in which every member of the Post Office staff is mentioned.

Carlton M. Gardiner arranged the farewell dinner and Donald Donovan was the toastmaster. The music was furnished by Ralph Shreve, with the marimba, and Norman Stryker, at the piano.

Routes Divided

The routes of retiring men have been divided between the other three rural carriers, Nathan L. Wright, Carlton M. Gardiner and Harold Potts.
Moorestown will now have three rural routes instead of five.

Mrs. Tiger's tribute to the men follows:

THE PASSING OF THE R.F.D.

There's a moaning and a groaning
In the office of the post,
Like a banshee's weird moaning
Or McIntire's moaning ghost.
All the men about the office
Move with dragging steps and slow,
Brows o'cast with sadness,
Heads downcast in woe.

Marion, Ida, the two Marys,
Sort and stamp as in a trance;
Tear drops fall on their lashes,
Drooping on the mail, perchance.
Evan B. and Ben are trembling,
Biting off, convulsive sobs,
As they make out money orders
Or tend to other jobs.

Donovan, MacCracken, Ferd,
Sharp and Bill Greer
Start on their routes as usual,
But with faces pale and drear,
Harold Potts and Carlton
Share in the general woe,
While Nattie Wright and Mason
Show spirits plainly low.

Ralph Shreve and Rowen Robinson, Behind some sacks of mail,
Sit huddled up together
With many a tear and wail.
"What, you ask, 'can be the reason Why this turmoil in the mail?"
In a few words they will tell you,
Though their voices almost fail.

Many years have Josh and Johnny Drove along the country roads, Cheerfully each day delivering Mail for the R.F.D. in loads.
First with horse and ancient buggy,
Winter and summer without fail,
Faithfully did Josh and Johnny Serve their Uncle Samuel's mail!

Later on saw horse and buggy Giving place to swifter "Lays";
"Oil up, there," was heard no longer,
Gas and motor did the "bays."
So here's the reason for the sadness,
For the faces full of gloom,
Josh and Johnny now are leaving:
"R.F.D.'s no more their doom."

After years of faithful service,
Through sun, rain, snow and sleet,
Other Fords and other faces
The farmers' eyes will greet;
Yea! They'll rest from handing letters
To far house and cottage door,
Picture postals and newspapers
Will pass through their hands no more!

But their comrades in the office,
Missing them with keen regret,
Will not think of Josh and Johnny,
Those R.F.D.'s they'll never forget;
And so by very special delivery,
Stamped with their wishes sincere,
They hope that tale will register
Health and joy for them each year.

GENERAL ELECTRIC ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

Stars of The Air to Aid Presentation of New Full Range Radio

Advance announcement of what promises to be not only one of the greatest radio programs ever put on the air, but also one of the most novel, has just been received by C.
R. Sweeney, General Electric dealer.

The program which was sponsored by the new General Electric Full Range Radio, will include Phil Cook,
Vaughn de Leath, Jessica Dragonette, Floyd Gibbons, Billy Jones and Ernie Hare, Little Jack of Little, Vincent Lopez, Lucky Strike Orchestra,

den, Paul Oliver, Olive Palmer, Gladys Rice, The Revelers, Roxy, Nat Shil-kret and his orchestra, Rudy Vallee, and possible others.

During the broadcast these famous stars will have made broadcasting the biggest form of home entertainment today, will join with celebrated engineers of the General Electric Research Laboratory electricity's
"House of Magic." In paying tribute to the great progress made in the new art in which all of them have made fame. The program will be presented at 8:30 P. M. Eastern Daylight Time over the WEAF network of the National Broadcasting Company, Saturday, September 6.

TO COMPETE FOR LEGION HONORS

Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps Hopes to Retain Championship

The regular meeting of Post Rodgers, American Legion, has been postponed until Thursday evening, September 18, which is the night of the great American Legion broadcast to be sponsored by the RCA Victor Company.

This broadcast will be over the NBC chain from 10:00 to 11:30 p. m., and will deal with the ideals and accomplishments of the Legion. The Ladies' Auxiliary has been invited to be present.

Post Rodgers' Drum and Bugle Corps will compete for retention of State honors at the convention in Wildwood Saturday. In the morning the Corps will take part in a monster parade and in the afternoon will enter the competition.

The boys are determined to bring the championship to Palmyra again this year and are leaving no stones unturned in their efforts to do so.
They will step out in brand new uniforms for the event. They will be of the same design as those which have made the organization famous throughout the State. Some items of new equipment have also been added, including new colors.

It was the flags which took several points from their average in the competition at Frankford last spring.
The convention will open today and continue Friday and Saturday. Judge Frank A. Matthews, Rex McCrosson and Charles C. Semmler are the delegates.

At the regular meeting of the Post officers will be nominated for 1931.

WORK TO START ON PAVING SOON

Contract Let for Lincoln and Parts of Highland and Morgan Avenues

Work will start on the paving of Lincoln avenue, Palmyra, within the next few days. The contractor has already made arrangements to move his equipment and as soon as it arrives work will start.

The contract was awarded last week to the Union Paving Company, as the lowest bid was submitted by this firm. Only two bidders figured on the contract as the specifications stated it would have to be done at a cost not exceeding $130 per fifty foot lot.
This was the price promised when the petition was presented to signers and the council was unwilling to allow the work to proceed if it could not be met.

The Union Paving Company was awarded the job at $17,372.00 for Besinite asphalt surface. The construction to be used is the approved type for residential pavements, being both economical and durable.

There was a week's delay in giving out the contract to make sure the borough was within the law in adding to its bonded indebtedness. It was found there was ample margin to allow the contract to be given out, as well as for the Morgan avenue paving which is expected to be awarded soon after final passage of the ordinance.

The contract awarded for Lincoln avenue also calls for the paving of Morgan and Highland avenue from the railroad to Spring Garden street.

WATER WORKS POOL WILL CLOSE MONDAY

The Moorestown Water Works Pool will officially close on Monday, September 8. Thereafter there will be no swimming at the "old" swimming hole.

"The park will remain open, however, and permits for building of fires and camping may be had by registering at the Community House," says Benjamin F. Rumpel, director of recreation.

Dr. Mary Pierson Eddy, a well-known missionary, was the first woman ever licensed to practice medicine in Turkey.

Miss Jeanne Livingston, of Wyoming, and Mrs. Afton Seal, of Ohio, are the only practicing geologists in the United States, and perhaps in the world.

CHAMBER ASSISTS ROADSIDE STANDS

Bergen's $21,000,000 Agriculture Industry Saved by Commerce Body

Bergen County's $21,000,000 agricultural industry is taking a new lease on life as the result of the successful adoption of a producer-to-consumer system of marketing that is being promoted by the Bergen County Chamber of Commerce.

The project, now at the height of its second season, is showing Bergen County farmers how to overcome unfair competition from unscrupulous hucksters, and how to make their enterprises profitable on high-priced land at a doorway to the world's largest city. For the consumers the project is prominently identifying the reliable, farmer-owned roadside markets where fresh, high quality farm products can be obtained.

The plan of operation was proposed by W. Raymond Stone, Bergen County agricultural agent, and the local representative of the New Jersey Agricultural Extension Service.
He urged the Chamber of Commerce, on whose agricultural committee he serves as chairman, to accredit the stands of farmers who would conform to certain rules for the standardization of roadside markets.

Must Produce 5 Per Cent.

The details of Mr. Stone's plan provided that the farmer, in order to have his stand accredited, must agree to produce at least 50 per cent.
of all products offered for sale, and to display on his stand only well-graded products of high quality. He further had to agree that products bought for resale would be from a nearby farm. A rental fee of $5 was to be paid by the farmer for the "Approved Roadside Market" sign, which remained the property of the Chamber of Commerce. It was agreed that violation of any of the rules of market standardization would be sufficient cause for removal of the sign.

The need for such a project became urgent as the number of hucksters who operated "farmers' roadside markets in Bergen County increased.
Many of these hucksters bought large quantities of inferior produce in city markets, "topped" it with good quality stuff, and then posed as farmers while palming it off on an unsuspecting public.

As a result, the consumers' confidence in all of these roadside markets was rudely jolted. Operators of stands were condemned as a group in newspaper editorials, and it appeared likely that the entire system would fall into ill repute. Conditions in Bergen County were no worse than in other sections where the swing to the roadside stand system of marketing had been rapid, but in that county the first successor effort in New Jersey to correct so deplorable a situation was instituted.

There are now 23 farmers pioneering in this new method of marketing in Bergen County, and among them are vegetable growers, poultrymen, and orchardists. There also is one young woman operating stand who specializes in the growing of gladioli and young plants.

Farmers co-operating in this project find that it has solved the problem of how to dispose of their products at the greatest profit, how to lick the huckster competition, and how to sell in the great consumer market of nearly 338,000 persons comprising Bergen County's population.
The project, according to agricultural authorities, is demonstrating that farming can be done profitably in Bergen County for years to come.

George U. Schoener

George U. Schoener, seventy years old, of Exeter, California, died at his home Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Schoener, who was a former resident of Palmyra, moved to California about ten years ago.

The body is being shipped to Palmyra for burial and is expected to arrive about Sunday. Funeral announcement will be made later and the services will be held from the home of his son-in-law, Louis Pike, of
No. 4 Spring Garden street, Palmyra.

Mr. Schoener is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Pike and Mrs.
Mary Harmon, of Palmyra, and one son, Burd Schoener, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Cornelia Weatherford, of Omaha, aged 98, has a pipe which she has smoked for more than half a century.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

CANNED FOODS IN SUMMER

The single object of canning eat-ables is, to preserve them in as nearly a natural state as possible, for a future time, when they would not be available or in season. American genius has canned about every edible thing known, so the canning industry has become national—even international in scope.

More indictments, I believe, have been rendered against canned meats than any other line of sealed provisions. Impure meats or fish in soldered tin cans, will retain the impurities till, and after being opened for consumption. I may say here that, dried meats and fish, properly handled, are much more desirable from the safety standpoint, than the canned. Dried beef and dried fish are highly nutritious, and are not likely to carry harmful bacteria to the system.

This can hardly be said of fresh canned meats. Fresh being an excellent nutritive medium for germs, it may become dangerous if exposed long to summer heat in open air. Shun the of the largest snow-covered region can be seen.

The mountain railways are cleverly constructed and seem very safe. The three snow-covered mountains and "Wetterhorn," together with many smaller mountains, are plainly seen, and this wonderful trip is well worth taking.

Find Glaciers Interesting

The glaciers are most interesting, and from Grindewald we visited the Ice Cavern and a glacier. The Alpine flower gardens are delightful also.
The real mountain flowers are beautiful, including "Edelweiss."

From Interlaken we took a week's trip to Lugano, Lucerne and Milan, Italy. Lucerne was our first stop from Interlaken and the Pilatus and Rigi mountains were perfect, but they are not as high as Jungfrau and really not as wonderful.

After two days at Lucerne we left there for Lugano. Lugano is on the Italian Lakes and noted for its ideal situation among mountains, so for that reason Lugano is visited by many people. The shopping district of this place is very odd. The streets are of cobble stone and narrow. The shops and markets display their wares outside on the street and one can see beautiful shawls and other objects hanging from tables or rafters.

The lake fronts are most attractive and the rides on the lakes are perfect. Lake Como is especially lovely.

Trip Into Italy

From Lugano we went to Milan.
At Chassano, custom inspection took place, as this is the Italian frontier.
Milan was very warm, so we returned to Lugano again, then Lucerne and back to Interlaken.

Switzerland cannot be described; it is a land alone in beauty, and one must see the little country to fully appreciate its rare charm. It is possible to take a complete trip up the Jungfrau, and this gives a view typical of all Switzerland.

The milk carts, drawn by dogs, are very odd, and rather a comparison with our method of delivery at home.

REPRIMAND BOYS FOR MELON THEFT

State Troopers Handle Variety of Cases During Past Weekend

Six Riverside Park boys were arrested by State Troopers last Sunday for stealing watermelons from the Fisher, Stewart and Everingham farms near their homes.

The boys arrested were Royal Dox-sey, Frank Frazier, Joseph Rudolph, John Rignone and George Gruthorp.
Most of them are minors and they were released after a severe reprimand when taken before Justice Wesley Perkins, of Delanco. The arrests were made by Troopers Turnbull and Rohner, of the Delanco barracks.

The same troopers arrested Frank Droughon, of Indianapolis, for speeding. He was fined $5 and costs when taken before Recorder Johnston, of Moorestown, Sunday morning.

James Troster, of 337 Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, and Mrs. Mary Gilbert, of 100 Park avenue, were the drivers of two cars which collided on the Burlington pike near Cinnaminson Sunday afternoon. The machine driven by Troster is owned by Albert Reynolds, of the same address.

Both drivers are charged with reckless driving and will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Cecil Bowers, of Riverton, today.

Thomas Pitts, of Pennsgrove, was arrested last Friday for reckless driving and given a suspended sentence at a hearing before Justice Bowers.
Sunday morning a machine driven by Walter Dnocksoski, of Riverside, collided with a car driven by H. Steinbrenner, of Philadelphia, near Hartford.
Steinbrenner was fined $15 and costs when arraigned before Recorder Johnston. He was also required to post $200 as a deposit on hospital bill for Dnocksoski who was severely injured.
The arrest was made by Trooper Droughon.

John Powe, colored, of Riverside, is being held in the county jail to face charges preferred by Ethel Johnson.

also colored, of Wrightville, near Fatal heat prostrations of fowls on New Jersey poultry farms would have been less numerous during the recent heat wave if better housing facilities had been available, reports J. C. Tayonly make heat prostration unlikely, he states, but they also are an aid in maintaining egg production.

A Distinctive Gift

EVERY once in a while you are confronted with the problem of selecting a gift that must be worth while, distinctive and personal.

This problem is very well met by giving a Ham-merrill Bond Cabinet of stationery, containing 100 letterheads and 100 envelopes of white Hammerrill Bond, each sheet and each envelope bearing the name and address of the person to whom you are giving it.

There are sizes for men and women and styles for personal, professional, and business use. The paper and envelopes are kept smooth and clean till the last one is used. The cabinet is dignified in appearance, and makes a worthy remembrance for any occasion.

NAMES OF TOWNS

If an "ask me another" fiend were to ask you what is the most popular name for towns in the United States, what would you guess? Unless you had checked up the names in the United States Postal Guide, it is safe to say that you would not hit upon the right name in a dozen guesses.

Of course, Washington would suggest itself, also Springfield, possibly Paris. But none of them is the leader, although Washington stands in the second rank.

The most popular town name in the United States is Clinton, of which there are 30.

Next comes Chester, Florence and Washington with 28 of each; Clayton, Madison, Marion and Troy, 27; Glenwood, Kingsport, Newport and Salem, 26; Ashland and Centerville, 25.

There are 24 Clevelands and the same number of Springfields, several of them being important cities. Other names range from this number downward. There is only New York, but two Chicagos, six Philadelphias and eight Detroits.

The outstanding popularity of the name of Clinton is somewhat difficult to understand, although two statesmen of that name were very prominent in the early days of the Republic.

George Clinton was the first governor of the state of New York and was vice-president of the United States at the time of his death in 1812. His nephew, DeWitt Clinton, was also governor of New York and an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency, being defeated by Madison.

Whether it be through the fame of these statesmen or the euphony of the name itself, Clinton is the favorite name for towns in the United States.

WASHINGTON "CROSSING DELAWARE" ON RHINE

Did you know that in the famous painting of Washington crossing the Delaware, Washington crosses the Rhine instead of the Delaware?

One pauses under the dome of the Capitol to gaze reverently at the large painting which hangs in the rotunda depicting the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and is asked by a visitor where he may find the painting of Washington Crossing the Delaware, but inquiry discloses that it is not even in the United States.

Curiosity and patriotism impels one to trace the history of this painting and it is found that it was from the brush of Emanuel Leutze in 1816, a German citizen. The artist used for his study the Rhine river and several German soldiers, and painting was actually done on the banks of the Rhine, the German soldiers posing for the leading figures in this much prized American painting.

It has been told that the artist actually sat on the banks of the Rhine and for many days made a careful study of the flow of the stream and outlined its banks. The German soldiers were dressed in American continental uniforms.

The German holding the American flag looks like Frederick the Great. The flag shown in the painting was evidently shipped to Leutze but in this case the painter overlooked the fact that at the time Washington crossed the Delaware the colonies did not possess the flag of "Star and Stripes" and that in portraying a flag with stars the canvas failed to record the truth for at that date the continental flag was of thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and as a union the British Union of the crosses of Saint George and Andrew was still kept as a symbolic of constitutional sympathy between the colonies and the mother country.

The Stars and Stripes with the thirteen stars was not adopted until several years later.

HEAVEN

A town in which there will be no bootlegging, no gambling, no vice, no flit, no unsightly billboards, no uncollected garbage, no disorder, is being built on the banks of the Colorado River. It is the town which will be occupied for seven or eight years by the engineers and laborers engaged in building the Boulder Dam. It has been planned and designed by the U. S. Engineers, who will administer the new town and control the conduct of its inhabitants.

Those employed on the Boulder Dam job who don't like to be restricted in their hours of duty can live somewhere else if they choose. Most of the ten or twelve thousand men who will be employed on the dam, however, will live in this new town, which hasn't been named yet. The name of "Heaven" has been suggested, but the U. S. Treasury of Heaven differ so from each other that not all will agree as to the appropriateness of that title.

MONEY

More than a thousand million dollars—$1,336,000,000, to be exact—of the "old" paper money is still in circulation. At least, that much has not been turned in at the U. S. Treasury for exchange for the new small-sized bills which were put in circulation a year ago. Washington officials estimate that probably half a billion dollars of this outstanding money never will be turned in. Some of it has been burned, some lost, some hidden where it may never be found. Sixty million one-dollar bills are still outstanding, and a great many $5,000 and $10,000 bills.

There are still tens of thousands of persons who have no faith in banks and keep their money in the home or buried in the ground, not realizing that they are tempting thieves. The only safe place for money is in a sound bank.

WINDOWS

Will the home, office or factory building have windows or not? Scientific architects and engineers say not. Temperature control, with abundance of fresh air is already a demonstrated possibility in buildings whose windows are never opened. Everybody who works in those buildings work at the same temperature the year around. Modern lighting is better than sunlight, even if it doesn't exactly match it; in addition, artificial sunlight can produce ultraviolet rays, which do not penetrate through window glass, and make indoor conditions more healthful than they are now.

Perhaps man's conquest of Nature may make up again a race of literal cave dwellers, creating our own climate.

LOCKS

In the Arabian Nights story of Al Baba and the Forty Thieves, the door of the robbers' cave opened when one stood before it and pronounced the words "Open sesame." In the Westinghouse laboratory a door has been built which will open when those words are spoken in a certain pitch, and which will not open by any other means. Now the General Electric laboratory has built a door which opens only when knocked upon in a certain way, at certain points, and which cannot otherwise be forced.

The first thing one thinks of is that such doors would be useful for lodge rooms and private offices. But there are many other uses to which they could be put.

PNEUMONIA

Curing pneumonia—actually curing it—by the use of electricity, is the latest medical achievement. It must be taken seriously, since it comes from one of the highest authorities in medicine, Dr. William A. White, head of the Government hospital for the insane at Washington.

According to Dr. Herbert C. Woolley, of Dr. White's staff, in the past eighteen months practically all of 500 cases of pneumonia have been positively cured by passing a high frequency alternating current of 70 volts through the patient's chest. This has the effect of heating the lung tissue without burning the outside skin.

Other hospitals are beginning to use this treatment. If it works as well elsewhere, the world will hail it as one of the great medical discoveries. Pneumonia is one of the three or four most common causes of death, especially among the elderly. Anything which reduces the death rate from this cause adds to everybody's expectation of life.

WAY OF LIFE

BY

BRUCE BARTON

NEW STANDARDS

A man whose wife had died, leaving him heartbroken, was complaining bitterly. Said he, "I have been a member of such and such a church for eighteen years, and not one man or woman in that whole congregation took time even to write me a letter."

He proceeded with a harsh criticism of the church, and of folks in general, calling them selfish and callous. I sympathized with his emotion, but his conclusions about the human race were too sweeping.

People often seem thoughtless because they do not know just how to act or what to say. Much that is branded as heartlessness is really indifference. For years I hesitated to write or speak to anyone who had suffered the loss of a relative or friend. "How empty and futile my words will sound," I thought. "What an impertinence it is for me, who am well and blessed with an unbroken household, to intrude myself upon such grief! Surely it will only intensify the hurt."

Then one day death came to our house. Suddenly the world was stripped from us. All around were people going about their work and play as usual, laughing, hoping, full of health. And we were huddled together, wounded and silent and terribly alone.

The first night was agony. But in the morning a wonderful thing began to happen. Letters arrived, and telegrams. People called upon the telephone. Flowers came in great bunches. The wall around us was broken down by friendly hands. We were no longer alone.

With what eagerness we pored over every letter! What a relief it was to answer the telephone or the front door bell, and to have a chance to talk.

And all through the years I had thought that words were futile; that a message might be an intrusion!

Great changes are going on in America, and a new order of society is in the making.

As long as the continent was an untamed wilderness there was no time for the niceties of life. Only the strongest hunter or the most vigorous tree-chopper was honored.

Then came the period of increasing population and mounting wants, and the feverish effort to produce. Captains of industry were worshiped, and millionaires were our heroes.

Now population begins to be more nearly stationary. Enough of everything can be produced by fewer hours of work. Leisure has come suddenly, and we shall have new standards.

Another generation will not have as its heroes either soldiers or captains of industry. It will give its praise to those men and women who, inheriting larger leisure, develop the technique of thoughtfulness and practice kindness as an art.

We need not wait for this next generation in order to make a beginning. Today would be a good time to start.

International Sunday School Lesson for September 7
JOSHUA — A ROYAL REFORMER
II Kings 22:1, 2, 6; 23:1-3, 21-25
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

The way in which the record of good and evil mingles in the Bible indicates that it is a very human book. Some of the kings were fearfully bad, as was the case with Manasseh and Amon. It is stated that Manasseh led the people into more ways of sin than did the surrounding heathen nations. The temple courts were debased with altars that urged to most licentious abominations as acts of worship. Amon the son had a base record also. There seemed little chance for the next in line—Josiah, but from the earliest years he showed different qualities for righteousness.

Thus from a base environment one can rise to better things. The mother's name is mentioned and she doubtless exerted right influences as did Hildah and Kiliath, prophet and priest. But why not give the boy credit for a willingness to be good? It is not necessary for any youth to first sow his wild oats before he finds himself. From the start it can be natural for him to delight in rectitude.

Genuine common sense was manifested in one of the early conclusions of King Josiah. If the people were to be good they needed a centralized place of worship. The temple in Jerusalem had been grossly defiled and this place should be made fit once more for the worship of Jehovah. Money was sought for renovation and the king's spirit had been so caught that an audit was not required. People can worship God as individuals, but history has shown that when they do this there is an urge to worship Him also with others of like precious faith and the church and synagogue become necessities to meet this conscious need.

While the work of renovation was proceeding a great discovery was made in the debris. The Scripture rolls came to light once more. These were probably the Pentateuch though some say that only the book of Deuteronomy was found at the time. It was an intense moment when Kiliath said to Shaphan the scribe: "I have found the book of the law in the house of Jehovah." At once King Josiah is notified and his joy is unbounded. Now he has the very word of the Lord to go by and need not depend on tradition handed down by word of mouth.

The Bible is a book for use, that its content may be put into practice for daily living. The Hebrews are summoned to a convocation or great School for Reading in the temple courts while the scribe and priests read the divine law to the people. Children must have been present also for the record for attendance is "small and great." Youth is never an indifferent part in any audience for right constitution in early years is far more resultful than a later attempt at the reconstruction of adult wreckage. At the conclusion of the reading the people showed how deeply they were impressed when they "stood to the covenant" and thus promised obedience to the commands and teachings of God.

THE JOURNEY ONWARDS

By THOMAS MOORE

As slow our ship her foamy track
Against the wind was cleaving,
Her trembling pennant still looked back
To that dear Isle 'twas leaving.
So loth we part from all we love,
From all the links that bind us;
So turn our hearts, as on we rove,
To those we've left behind us!

When, round the bowl, of vanished years
We talk with joyous seeming,
With smiles, that might as well be tears,
So faint, so sad their beaming;
While memory brings us back again
Each early tie that twined us,
Oh, sweet's the cup that circles then
To those we've left behind us!

And when, in other climes, we meet
Some tale, or vale, enchanting,
Where all looks flowery, wild, and sweet,
And naught but love is wanting;
We think how great had been our bliss
If Heaven had but assigned us
To live and die in scenes like this,
With some we've left behind us!

As travelers oft look back at eve
When eastward darkly going,
To gaze upon that light they leave
Still faint behind them glowing,—
So, when the close of pleasure's day
To gloom hath near consigned us,
We turn to catch one fading ray
Of joy that's left behind us.

Called to take the oath as witness,
James Pearson, aged 19, of Sheffield, Eng., said he had never heard of the Bible before.

Because Mrs. William Cloughy, of Belfast, gossiped about Miss Edith Morgan, her husband had to pay Miss Morgan $2,500 damages.

Organ strains coming from a trash pile after a fire in Boston amazed the firemen until they discovered a radio set working under the debris.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

SHORTCAKES

What is our most popular dessert? That is, perhaps, a question without an answer. It is difficult, at any rate, to find an answer to such a question. Fortunately, tastes vary. Some of us like one thing, some another. Pie may be my prime favorite, pudding my English friend's, ice cream my small son's.

But what about fruit shortcakes? Surely this is one of our best summer desserts—one of our favorites. A good fruit shortcake rather generously served lifts a meager, ordinary dinner right into the distinguished class. And a fruit shortcake very generously served may be the mainstay of a delicious luncheon. A good plate of lettuce salad, some bread and butter, a cup of tea if you will, and a big helping of fruit shortcake, makes a delicious and satisfying luncheon.

There are many ways of making shortcakes—and we will gladly send you directions if you want them. There are just as many ways of serving them. They may be made and served in one big cake, cut into small portions. They may be made and served in individual portions—both biscuit and cake foundations. They may be made round or square or oblong.

One delicious shortcake is made with bug cup cakes, the tops cut off and the crumbs scooped out, the insides filled with sweetened berries or other fruit, the tops replaced, and a generous topping of whipped cream piled on it all.

There are special pans for baking shortcakes. One bakes a cake with a depression in the middle, which is filled with cream and fruit. One bakes a cake with a little ridge around the edge to hold the berries and cream on top of the cake. If you wish you may bake a sponge cake in a tubular tin and fill the center space with berries, sweetened and slightly crushed—and top with whipped cream.

IT'S COOL WORK

Many women distinctly dislike to make sandwiches. They would rather go to the trouble to make cakes or cookies than bother with the complexities of sandwiches. And yet no cooking is needed to make most sandwiches. It is cool work for a summer's day even if it is a trifle fussy. Use firm bread, preferably twelve hours old.

Cut with a sharp, rather wide-blade knife. Most people have better success with a smooth blade than with the usual saw-tooth bread knife.

Cut the crusts from the bread before slicing it. Cream the butter before spreading. To do this take butter that is cold enough to be quite firm and work it light with a silver fork. It may then be spread without breaking the bread.

A life insurance company figures that a boy reared to the age of 18 has an economic value of $28,654. But the company lost in the market for any of them at that price.

PASTOR TELLS OF INTERESTING AUTO TRIP TO CANADA AND N. E. STATES

you extended views of lakes and winding rivers.

We again quoted the words, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of them that bring good tidings."

Our next destination was Providence, R. I. Enroute we stopped at New London to see Sir Thomas Lip-ton's new challenger, Shamrock V; it looked like a fast racing boat, and much favorable comment was heard.

We again saw her in Newport harbor and her tall mast gave her an attractive appearance. We also saw the Erin, the vessel that accompanied the Shamrock across the sea. After spending a few days in Providence we visited Boston. The traffic problem is very acute; there seems to be no end to the lines of traffic. We visited Bunker Hill, Lexington, Concord, and stood on the bridge at Concord, one of the most famous of all battle-grounds. Here we read the words of Emerson:

"By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled;
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world."

At Lexington we saw the place where the Minutemen were lined up on that April morning, 1775, and here we read the words of Parker: "Stand your ground; don't fire unless fired upon; but if they mean to have a war let it begin here."

This is indeed sacred ground. We saw the home of Louisa May Alcott, who wrote "Little Women"; the home of Nathaniel Hawthorne; and Lake Walden, made famous by Thoreau; then we sailed to Plymouth and saw again that sacred spot where the Pilgrims landed in 1620. Our hearts were stirred as we thought of that noble band of God-fearing men and women; when the Mayflower set sail in April, minus half her crew, who had died; and although many of the Pilgrims had died that first winter, not a single Pilgrim went back on her; elected to stay and work for the colony. There is a magnificent statue of Massachusetts, the Indian chief who became a friend to the Pilgrims.

Near the statue of Massachusetts is a monument with the names of those who died during the first winter. We also visited Bunker Hill and stood beside the graves of Governor Bradford, Captain Brewster, Mrs. Plasket, the first woman schoolteacher in America. Here in this cemetery is the oldest Masonic stone in the country. It is marked July 14, 1743.

What sought they thus afar?
Bright jewels of the mine?
The wealth of seas, the spoils of war?
They sought a faith's pure shrine.

Aye, call it holy ground,
The soil where first they trod,
They left unstained what there they found,
Freedom to worship God.

These were great men. Men like the Pilgrims are needed today. We made the return trip via the Boston Post road, Terrytown, Nyack, and over the new Route 25 from Newark. We had traveled just 1,510 miles.

We are conscious of the fact that great problems are confronting us, labor problems, social problems, foreign problems. No doubt stormy seas are ahead, but we thought of the words of Longfellow, taken from his poem, "The Launching," from the "Building of the Ship":

Thou too, sail on, O Ship of State,
Sail on, O Union, strong and great,
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What Workman wrought thy ribs of steel.

Our hearts, our hopes, are all with Thee;
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers,
Our faith, our triumphs, o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Cragger
The worship services during the month of September are to be devoted to the theme of Christian Joy. Our religion ought to be a joyous experience. Sometimes it is not. Someone has spoken of "The Lost Radiance of the Christian Religion."

It is not altogether lost, however. We want to catch some of its radiance and reflect it. The messages next Sunday will be on the Joy of Christian Faith and the Joy of Friendship with Christ.

The Luther League will resume its meetings Sunday evening after a two months' interval. The topic will be "Our Crusade Plans."

The Ladies' Aid Society held an enthusiastic meeting last Tuesday evening at the church. Plans for an amateur minstrel show to be given in the near future were discussed. The Church Council recently decided to establish a Parish Paper. The first issue has been distributed during the past week. It is a four page paper, called "The Church and the Kingdom."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientists, on Sunday, September 7, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "Thou hast dealt well with the servant, O Lord, according unto thy word. Thy hands have made me and fashioned me" (Psalms 119:65,73).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me" (Matthew 16:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The

GLADIOLI FOR EXHIBIT
By A. C. McLean, N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Gladioli are always a popular entry in flower shows, and with the season for such competitions already at hand, a few hints on preparing "glads" for shows will be timely.

A real show spike of gladioli should have large blooms, some of which are ope, and a large flower head. The ideal show spike should be cut as soon as the first buds are ready to open, and then hardened by being kept in a cool place. The buds will then develop slowly and normally, eventually producing a large number of high quality flowers. The spike will also ship and handle better if hardened.

Some gardeners put a soft elastic around the flowers to keep them from bruising, and from opening up before they are placed on exhibition. When this practice is followed, the spike should be cut at least a day before the show and kept in a cool place. Spikes have been kept in an icebox at a temperature ranging from 45 to 50 degrees for two weeks, and then shown in good condition.

It is hard to tell just how fast a spike will develop, so cut several spikes and then pick the best for the exhibit. Spikes cut direct from the garden and taken to a show are apt to wilt badly, and suffer by comparison with those which were placed in water and conditioned.

THIRD DEATH IN THREE MONTHS

Ill Fortune Pursues Members of Mrs. Herbert Evans' Family

Sorrow never comes singly. Mrs. Herbert Evans, West Second street, Moorestown, has found.

Last Thursday, the third death in her immediate family since June 8 occurred when her brother, Edward Gibbs, of Camden, well known former ball player and railroad man succumbed after an illness of less than two hours.

On June 8, Mrs. Evans' father, the Rev. Charles Gibbs, of Masonville, died, and on July 28, a brother, Charles, Jr., also of Masonville died.

The third victim, who was fifty years old, died at Cooper Hospital, Camden, Thursday morning about 10:30. He was seized with an attack of acute indigestion shortly after reporting for work at the Pennsylvania Railroad shops and died within an hour and a half after being admitted to the hospital.

During his residence at Masonville as a young man, Mr. Gibbs was widely known throughout this section for his baseball pitching. He was a widower and had lived in Moorestown with Mrs. Evans for five years prior to moving to Camden, where he had resided before the death of his wife.

Three sons, Wayne, Wallace and Edward, one daughter, Frances, and his mother survive Mr. Gibbs.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Evans Sunday afternoon at two o'clock with the Rev. S. K. Miller, pastor of the Rancocas Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment was made in the Mount Holly Brotherhood Cemetery.

English — Bond

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening when Miss Janice Engard Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nelson Bond, of 211 Leon avenue, Norwood, Pa., formerly of Palmyra, became the bride of Robert Ardrey English, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. English, of Upper Darby, also formerly of Palmyra.

The ceremony which took place at eight o'clock was performed by the Rev. Charles Eder, of Grace Episcopal Church, Chestnut Hill.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely creation of white georgette and carried

The annual meeting of the Palmyra Ambulance Association was held in the P. O. S. of A. Hall Friday evening, at which time the officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Mrs. C. W. Stockwell was the only newly elected officer, she was elected to the office of treasurer, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. John C. Hoepfner. Mrs. Hoepfner was one of the most active members of the association. Other officers are: George N. Wimer, president; Harry J. Saar, vice-president, and Mrs. George J. Spencer, secretary.

The treasurer's report showed a fair balance on hand. The committee which had charge of the ambulance benefit, which was held about a month ago on the Palmyra-Junior Golf Course, through the courtesy of Messrs. Cutting and Johnson, turned in $81.75, for which the association and its officers are very grateful.

The regular meeting for the organization has been fixed for the third Monday in each month in the Independence Fire House on West Broad street, at eight o'clock.

The following committee were appointed: Ambulance Committee, C. Morris Beck, Joseph L. Stack and Edward Bennett. Driver's Committee, C. Morris Beck, George N. Wimer and Harold B. Lever. Nurse Committee, Mrs. Edward Fox. Service Committee, Mrs. Frank Probsting.

Nurses for the month of September have been appointed as follows: Mrs. Clement A. Hines, of Washington avenue; Mrs. William Hoare, of Pennsylvania avenue; Mrs. Edward Fox, of Garfield avenue, and Mrs. Alfred Branson, of Garfield avenue.

DR. CARL FISCHER DEFEATS BROTHER IN TENNIS FINALS

Woodbury Country Club Star Retains West Jersey
Singles Crown

PITMAN LAD BEATS KIN IN JUNIORS' TITLE PLAY

Marion Blew Also Winner in Matches on Moorestown
F. C. Courts

Dr. Carl Fischer, of Woodbury Country Club, and ruler of the circuit, defeated his brother, Dr. Herbert Fischer, representing Moorestown Field Club, in the finals of the singles tournament of the West Jersey League of Field Clubs at Moorestown Monday afternoon.

This match proved a touching climax to the spirited competition that has been waged to unseat the Woodbury ace, and the three sets of play that began with a victory for the challenging kin, excited the gallery of spectators. The champion lost the first set, 7-5, but came from behind to take the second and third by scores of 6-3 and 6-4.

Another brother-vs.-brother combat was waged in the juniors singles set. Jack Mann, defending his title, encountered his brother, William, who also performs under the banner of the Pitman Cottagers' Association, in one of the semi-final contests. Champion Jack copped the verdict in straight sets, the toll being 6-4, 8-6. Following that triumph Mann outstroked James Wood, of Moorestown, 6-2, 6-0, to retain his title.

Miss Blew Triumphs
Miss Marion Blew, of Pitman, triumphed over Miss Dorothy Lynn, an associate of the Cottagers' team, in the finals of the women's junior singles. Miss Blew displayed the same impressive mastery of the court that marked her ascension to the throne last year when she smashed home straight set wins of 6-0 and 6-0.

The women's senior championship was not decided Labor Day due to an agreement between Miss Laura Pittenger, Haddon Field Club, defender, and Miss Vivian Beattie, her final round foe. The two won their semi-final events rather handsily, but withheld play in the finals due to the fact that Miss Pittenger had another tennis engagement.

Miss Beattie defeated Miss Matilda Glover, of the Haddon F. C., in the first semi-final event, by scores of 6-3 and 6-1. Miss Blew, competing in both senior and junior divisions, was Miss Pittenger's victim, in the other semi-final clash. The plucky Pitman lass drew the short end of 6-3, 6-1 scores in combat with her more seasoned adversary.

Hall Furnishes Opposition
Carl Fischer was again a stiff struggle by Edward Hall, of the Haddon F. C., in one of the semi-final tussles before encountering his brother in the finals. The latter eliminated William C. Cummings, also of the Haddon F. C., in the semi-final round. Both conqueror and conquered of the Fischer family will be represented in the national singles tournament at Forest Hills, starting Saturday, it was announced today.

Quakers Lose Tussle After Eight Innings of Fighting

Delanco had little opposition in defeating the Moorestown baseball nine, in a Burlington County Baseball League tussle, Saturday, by the score of 7 to 1.

Moorestown collected 10 hits off Harry Wenger, but Delanco took 14 off Harry Bowman.

Bill Horn and Bill Dann led with the willow for Delanco, each snaring a triple, while Robinson garnered a single and a double, while Wenger also helped the Delanco cause along with a pair of smacks.

Harry "Steve" Brodie was the big show with the stick for the Quakers, getting three hits, two of which were doubles, in four trips to the plate.

PARRY WINS FROM TIOGA TEAM, 5-3

Will Play Old Mill Inn Tomorrow Night; Riverton Playoff Sunday

Parry A. A. won from Tioga A. C. of Philadelphia, in a hard-fought game on the former's grounds last Sunday. The score was 5-3.

Reynolds was on the mound for the Reaglemen, while Menkevitch did a clever job behind the bat. Galfor and Morchee formed the battery for the visitors.

The first inning was scoreless, but Tioga scored a run in the second. Munamaker, the first man up, reached first on an error. The second man took first when Reynolds threw wild to second in an attempt to make a force-out. The ball rolled into center field and Munamaker scored.

Parry tied the score in the third when Reynolds doubled after one was out. Howard Schuck was hit by a pitched ball. Windish singled, scoring Reynolds.

Score Two Runs
Parry took the lead in the next inning by scoring two runs. Malley was safe on an error after E. Schuck walked. Reynolds drove out a long single and two runners galloped over the pan.

Tioga staged a rally in the seventh, scoring two runs and knotting the count. Trumben was safe on Windish's error. Herty doubled, sending the shortstop to third. Powell's single scored the two runners.

Parry put the game on ice in the eighth. Alexander singled and was sent to second by a sacrifice by E. Schuck. Reagle's single sent Alexander to third. Malley hit to short and Alexander was out at the plate. Reynolds lifted a high fly to right, which Powell muffed, allowing Reagle and Malley to cross the plate.

Two strikeouts and a fly to left ended the game in the ninth.

Reynolds held the hard-hitting Tioga crew to five hits and set ten down via the strikout route. He did not issue a pass.

Error Wins Game
Trumben pitched a great game, allowing only eight hits. An error by Powell let two runs come over the plate after two were out. This proved to be the margin of victory and ruined the hurler's performance.

Friday night the Old Mill Inn will be the attraction in a twilight game at Parry. The Old Mill nine is out for revenge and will have a few present and past day stars in the line-up. Rich Deighan, of R. D. Wood, will cavort at first. Neil Deighan, a former minor league luminary, will be behind the plate. Williams, a former big league, will also be in the line-up. Tom Shorten, once a minor league favorite, will perform in the center garden. Parry is looking for a real tussle and will be full of fight. In the first game with this outfit Parry came out victor, 2-1, in a tight pitchers' duel.

Saturday Parry will play the deciding game of a three-game series with Riverton. Each team has won one. The first game went to Riverton, 4-3. Parry evened the series in the next, 5-4.

Sunday Parry will play the Philadelphia Nomads on the Parry grounds.

MOORESTONIAN LOSES EAGLES MERE MATCH

Miss Elizabeth Roberts Defeated by Philadelphia Star, Last Year's Title Winner

Miss Elizabeth Roberts, of East Maple avenue, Moorestown, a member of the Moorestown Field Club, failed to annex the annual women's golf championship of Eagles Mere when she was defeated in a thrilling match by Miss Mary Nixon, Philadelphia Cricket Club star. This makes the second successive year Miss Nixon has carried off the crown and the Crescent Cup emblematic of the title.

The Philadelphia star turned in a score with a 5 and 3 victory over the Moorestown golfer.

Miss Nixon was out in 43 to the 48 of Miss Roberts, and was four up at the turn.

She won the tenth to become five up and halved the eleventh, but dropped the twelfth to a fine par 3 by Miss Roberts, and also lost the thirteenth. She relied off the next two for her 5 and 3 triumph.

The played out the hy-holes, and Miss Nixon finished with an 84 to the 60 of Miss Roberts.

YOUR CAR and the MOTOR LAWS

(Editor's Note: The eleventh of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is presented by this paper as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.)

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

XI. THOSE AMBER LIGHTS

No provision of New Jersey's traffic and motor vehicle laws has created more confusion in the minds of motorists than the article dealing with the amber light. Or, perhaps it would be better to say that it is merely another part of the law with which motorists have neglected to familiarize themselves. For the law itself is perfectly clear and is easily understood if carefully read.

Properly observed by motorists the amber light is a most useful device. It will help prevent traffic snarls and reduce the pedestrian death toll and property damage resulting from collisions.

The State traffic act provides for a three-color light system, red, amber and green. Green, of course, is permission for traffic to go, subject to the safety of others or the specific directions of an officer. Red means that traffic must stop before entering the intersection or crosswalk, and remain standing until green is shown.

Amber Light

Amber means that vehicles and street cars must stop before entering the intersection or crosswalk, "unless when the amber so appears the vehicle or street car is so close to the intersection that it cannot be stopped without fifty feet."

Then follows a provision in the law on the amber light that few motorists seem to understand. If the vehicle is within fifty feet of an intersection when the light turns amber, the driver may proceed across the intersection, or make right or left turns.

It is further provided that "no vehicles or street cars shall enter the intersection or crosswalk if not within this distance of fifty feet while the amber is displayed, but must wait for the green to appear alone."

Never Means "Go"
To repeat, amber means "stop," or "prepare to stop." It never means "go." But if a motorist is within fifty feet of an intersection when the light turns amber he may proceed across.

The amber light is primarily intended to give pedestrians an opportunity to cross a street in safety and it eliminates the situation where two light systems are used in which a pedestrian is frequently marooned dangerously in mid-street by a change of lights.

The amber light also makes unnecessary abrupt stops by vehicles, and thus eliminates the danger of rear end crashes.

There has been much discussion of the amber light, but I feel it serves a most valuable purpose. It can be made increasingly useful as the motorist public obtains a greater understanding of its meaning.

BRAKES WORKING? ASKS HOFFMAN

Points Out That Some States Insist on Stop in 25 Feet

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

What proportion of the registered motor vehicles in New Jersey would fail lamentably if, without warning, their brake equipment were to be tested as to stopping distance?

The question, of course, is an unanswerable one. However, the subject is interesting in the light of increasing adoption of periodic official mechanical inspection of vehicles and the growing belief that a more rigorous brake performance code should be put into effect everywhere.

With regard to tightening up in the requirements on brake performance, some States already have done so. One State has cut in half the stopping distances set forth in the code.

Many States have already been worked out by the United States Bureau of Standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers. Instead of the 50 feet stopping distance specified for a speed of 20 miles an hour, the figure is 25 feet. For higher speeds, the stopping performance is proportionately reduced.

Why this change?
Simply because the old code is regarded as obsolete in many quarters. It was drafted in the days when the majority of cars sold, if not the majority of makes of cars, still were fitted with two-wheel brakes. A second reason is that in those days car speeds averaged much lower than they do today.

The New Jersey motor vehicle act does not specify precisely the degree of performance that motor vehicle brakes must have. It merely sets forth that "every motor vehicle operated in or upon any public highway in this State shall be equipped with brakes adequate to control the movement of and to stop such vehicle."

GOOD LAWN SEED IS CHEAPEST
By Howard B. Sprague, Experiment Station Agronomist

Desirable lawn seed mixtures, while costing more to the pound than poor ones, are far cheaper in the long run. Cheap mixtures contain large quantities of weed seeds, chaff, dirt and dead grass seed. Furthermore, the grasses present in low priced mixtures are largely unsuited for the production of fine turf. The seed of most hay and pasture grasses start quickly and present a fine appearance for a few months when planted on a lawn, but they soon become coarse and unsightly or die as a result of the frequent mowing.

The better turf grasses for lawns include Kentucky blue grass, Rhode Island or colonial bent, seaside bent, velvet bent, and Cheviot or red fescue. Such grasses should make up at least 50 per cent. by weight of the mixture, with temporary grasses such as red top and rye grasses comprising the rest. Each of these grasses has its preference of soils, and the species should be chosen to suit conditions where the planting is to be made.

A large number of New Jersey seed firms and dealers are carrying in stock the mixtures of lawn seed prepared in accordance with formulas recommended by the State Agricultural Experiment Station. These formulas include (1) a standard mixture for soils of average condition; (2) a mixture for fine quality turf; (3) one for poor or sandy soils; and (4) a special blend for shaded areas. The names of dealers carrying these mixtures may be obtained by consulting county agricultural agents or by writing the Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVING CAMPAIGN

339 Pass Tests Conducted at Various Beaches During the Summer

The Campaign of Life Saving and Water Safety under the Burlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, for the season 1930, started in the evening, from the middle of June and extended on full time from July 1st to August 23rd.

Clifford W. Ergood, Mount Holly, again acted as County Director, and Victor H. Harshorn, Trenton, as instructor.

Ergood had charge of the Life Saving at Camp Oceanic, where the work was most active, and he passed 254 beginners, 125 swimmers, 44 juniors and 21 seniors.

The principle worked out in the County this year was to establish centers at the various swimming places, where a person or group would assume responsibility for the promotion of the work.

Eleven local examiners conducted the activity in as many localities and camps, as follows: Clifford W. Ergood, Camp Oceanic; William Mellon, Mill Dam, Mount Holly; John Falterheit, Sylvan Lakes; Clarence Winkelspecht, Sand Hole, Bridgeboro; David Paxson, Water Works Pool, Moorestown; Charles L. Juliana, Community House, Moorestown; Mrs. Sara D. Macomber, New Lisbon; J. Borton Willis, Camp Dark Water; Miss Maxine Melkner, Playground, Riverton; and Brian Kane, Boy Scout Camp.

The work at these places was supervised by Harshorn, who gave instruction during the summer in 19 different places.

Mr. Ringle was the leader of the Brown Mills group, until illness prevented his being active.

At Sylvan Lakes a group of seniors, under Falterheit and Crowther, established a First Aid and Life Saving station, and organized a corp and beach patrol with a definite schedule, when each member was on duty; they improved the method of guarding by changing the lookout tower and adding another.

On June 24th-29th an Examiner's Institute was held at the Moorestown Community House, Moorestown, under Herbert Young, Jr., of the National Red Cross staff.

A Junior Life Saving Meet was held at Browns Mills on August 20th; six were entered, including 36 individual swimmers, 15 first place; Browns Mills, second, and Bordentown, third; Mr. Hubert Noteboom presented the cup he had offered to the winning team, as well as the medals awarded by the National organization.

Owing to very stormy weather, it was impossible to hold the Senior Meet on August 23rd as planned.

The great importance of the work shown by the act that in Burlington County during the summer 16 rescues were made by those having passed the life saving tests.

The total number passing the Life Saving tests is:

Beginners 416
Swimmers 229
Juniors 115
Seniors 78

Total number of Life Saving Tests 839

In addition to above, 4 examiners were passed and one reviewed.

As previously stated, all credit is due Ergood and Harshorn, who organized, planned and carried on the work in Burlington County.

The Chapter wishes to take this means of thanking all those who assisted in any way in making the campaign a success, whether financially, by publicity, by the use of bathing beaches, or in any other way.

MOORESTOWN H.S. ADDS TO FACULTY

S. Russell Bozman New Full-Time Teacher in Mathematics Department

In the past three years the number of full-time Moorestown High School teachers has increased from thirteen to sixteen. Each year one additional teacher has been added to the faculty of the high school.

In 1928, the commercial department was expanded by an additional full-time commercial teacher, in 1929 the modern language department was increased by one full-time teacher, and this year the mathematics department is adding one full-time teacher.

The enrollment has increased at a much greater rate. In 1927, the high school enrollment was 493 students; in 1928, 518 students; in 1929, 527 students, and 1930 promises a still larger group.

The high school vacancies existing this year were caused by the loss of Miss Edna C. Graham and Miss Doris A. Flansburg from the faculty. The teachers to fill the vacancies are Miss Kathryn Altmeier and J. Bennett Dierolf. The additional teacher for the mathematics department is S. Russell Bozman. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Louise S. Baird is being filled by Miss Florence Ingram.

Other vacancies throughout the school system have been filled as follows: Catherine Pursell, kindergarten; Ruth Burn, library.

The supervisors and principals are looking forward to a very successful year which will start next Monday with registration day. School starts next Tuesday, September 9.

The complete list of Moorestown Township teachers follows:

George C. Baker, supervising principal; Caroline P. Haines, secretary. Special teachers: Enola Morgan, Kathryn E. Altmeier, Ruth Bump, Florence Ingram, Paul Isenberg, Elizabeth Lippard, Richard Noyes, Marie Scott and Edna R. Lewis.

High School: Mary E. Roberts, principal; Kathryn P. Pfender, secretary; Elizabeth Parsons, Charles Wible, Blair B. Bechtel, Gertrude Wible, Hannah Evans, Kathryn Swalm, Dora M. Belz, Lester S. Hess, Florence Shinn, Caroline Haege, J. Bennett Dierolf, B. Russell Bozman, Emily Foster, Ruth Stretch and Elizabeth Shinn.

Junior School: G. Edward McComsey, principal; Margaret Jones, Joseph Kleckner, Alta Petters, Lella Hite and Helmi E. Blair.

School No. 9: Martha B. Sayre, principal; Anna Hannlon, Mary W. Wells, Ruth Evanson, Mary Conover, Annie Yarrington, Helen Baker, Helen Cox, Kathryn, Margaret Denison, Mildred Dill, Dorothy Mathis, Winifred MacClelland, Mae Oable and Catherine Pursell.

Stanwick School: Josephine Beebe, principal; Elizabeth Sherwood.

Lenola School: Doris W. Heltz, principal; Edith Oler, Ethel Kolb, Bessie Ridgway, Christine Smith, Grace Atkinson, Edith Parker, Maxine Gibson.

School No. 7: Hattie Branch, principal; Edvina Boyd, Catherine Shockley, Roxana Yancy, Gertrude Williams.

It is a dress that we admired the first time we saw it a week or so ago. Coming as it did from one of the smartest sports wear shops, it never occurred to us that it could be copied by the home dressmaker.

And then, examining it a little more closely, we realized that it was precisely the sort of dress that the home dressmaker could copy to perfection—that is, the home dressmaker who knows how to use a crochet needle.

The dress is of lightweight beige wool jersey—an admirable material for the season's outdoor wear. It is made with a slightly gored skirt and a simple slip-on blouse with long sleeves that are finished with a little at the cuffs. But in place of cuffs the sleeves are finished with a band of crocheting, which is also used to make the neckline and long girde knotted at one side. Brown, beige, yellow and orange were the colors chosen for the wool, with the colors repeated in the tassels at the ends of the girde. The neckline of the blouse was finished with a narrow hem and the first row of crocheting was worked over this narrow hem. A stiletto may be used to make the holes for this first row. They should be made at regular intervals about three-quarters of an inch apart.

First take a stitch through the first hole, then chain three or four and then go into the next hole. The number of chain stitches will depend on the thickness of the wool and the crochet hook used. This first row of crocheting is taken with brown. The next—which should be done in double crochet stitch—is of beige, then follows a double crochet of yellow and finally a row of single crochet in orange.

ROTARY HEAD IS GUEST OF CLUB

District Governor Edward S. Fretz Pays Official Visit to Moorestown

Edward S. Fretz, of Collegeville, Pa., governor of Fiftieth District, Rotary International, of which Moorestown club is a part, paid his official visit to the Moorestown Club last Thursday.

Following nearly a two-hour conference with the officers, directors and committee chairmen, he addressed the entire club membership at the conclusion of the regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Community House.

"The world sometimes looks upon us as a luncheon club, but that is because it sees but one side of us," he told them when you are tired, weary of business and sometimes discouraged, it is a great work in itself, but it is merely a means to an end."

In citing some of the serious objectives of Rotary and some of the achievements it has already made, he called attention to the fact that in Rotary men throughout the world are meeting regardless of creed or race. This movement has been responsible for a world fellowship of business and professional men.

Since the establishment of Rotary ethics, 141 craft organizations have adopted and are adhering to similar codes, many of them upon the original Rotary ethics.

Governor Fretz told the Moorestown Rotarians they are apart of the world's largest Rotary unit in the world, as but two districts in the international movement have more clubs or members than the fiftieth.

Stokes to Speak at Reception to Reeves

Former New Jersey Governor to Address P. O. S. of A., at Palmyra

NIGHT SET ASIDE FOR STATE OFFICER

Newly Elected Master of Forms Fourth From Local Camp

Edward C. Stokes, famous former governor of New Jersey, will be the speaker when Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., of Palmyra, honors one of its most active members.

Monday, September 22, has been set aside as Leslie Reeves Night at which time a reception will be held for him in honor of his elevation to a state office. Mr. Reeves was named Master of Forms at the recent convention of the order in Trenton.

The former governor has signified his acceptance of the request to come to Palmyra to speak on this occasion. Explaining that he has virtually given up public speaking Mr. Stokes said he would make an exception in this case and would be on hand when the camp convenes in honor of Mr. Reeves.

Fourth State Officer

While Washington Camp is the largest in the state of New Jersey it has had few state officers. Only three have been so honored prior to the past convention. One of the three was George N. Wimer, present Mayor of Palmyra, who was state president in 1895 and state treasurer for twenty years thereafter. The other two were the late Thomas J. Prickett and the late John G. Horner. Both served as state president after going through the chairs. Mr. Horner was one of the few New Jersey men who attained the national presidency. He held this office for two years in 1896-7.

Mr. Reeves, who makes his home in Palmyra where he is in the jewelry business, first became a member of the P. O. S. of A. in 1911 and a short time afterwards was elected to a camp office, continuing through the chairs. He was elected president in 1913.

Since that time he has served the camp as recording secretary and is also secretary of Burlington County Association. He expects to resign from the latter position in a short time. Mr. Reeves was also a former district president of the order.

Executive Committee

The office of Master of Forms is one of the most important in the state organization as it has to do with the development of the various camps and the secret work of all. This officer is also a member of the state executive committee which is composed of State President Lawrence Correll, of Bradley Beach; Vice-President Robert E. Milten, of Bayonne; State Secretary George W. Smith, of Philadelphia; and State Treasurer Howard W. Mercer, of Pensacola.

The complete program for Reeves' Night has not been given out as yet but the committee is working to make it a real success and a fine representation is expected to be on hand. In fact the officers of the camp will be very much disappointed if there is not a large gathering on hand to hear Ex-Governor Stokes and to honor their fellow member.

The Burlington County Association will meet tomorrow night at Green Bank. Cars will leave the hall at 7 o'clock. Anyone wishing to go and not having a car will be provided for if they will notify President George R. Evans, not later than tonight.

MEN'S CLUB BANQUET TO OPEN FALL SEASON

Annual Dinner to Be Served in Parish House of Church September 22

The annual banquet ushering in the activities of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, will be held at the parish house on Monday evening, September 22, at 7 o'clock.

The committees having the arrangements of this banquet in charge have succeeded in securing very interesting and capable speakers, and also can assure those who can be present that they will be treated to a repast that will satisfy the most exacting appetite.

Music of appropriate character will be rendered to enhance the gaiety of the occasion.

All members will receive invitations and all are urged to make a particular effort to be present to enjoy a particularly entertaining and enjoyable evening.

K. G. E. CARD PARTY

BAHAI TEMPLE PLANS APPROVED

Unique Temple of World Religion to Be Erected Near Chicago

The attention of leading architects has been drawn to the new principles of design incorporated in the Baha'i Temple soon to be erected at Wilmette, Illinois, contributions to which have been made by a number of local residents.

Working plans are now receiving final approval by the Temple trustees, prior to letting contracts for construction. Quoting from a letter written by H. Van Buren Magonigle, former president of the National Society of Architects, to Dr. F. H. Newell, president of Research Service, Inc., consulting engineers in charge of temple construction:

"It has been necessary for me as architectural member of the Advisory Board," writes Mr. Magonigle, "to adjust myself to an unusual point of view. Mr. Bourgeois, in designing the Baha'i Temple, has conceived a Temple of Light, in which structure, as usually understood, is to be concealed, visible support as far as possible eliminated, and the whole fabric to take on the airy substance of a dream. It is a lacy envelope, insubstantial, an idea, the idea of Light, a shelter of cobweb interposed between earth and sky."

This description is thought to be the most vivid interpretation yet made of the edifice symbolizing the world religion, founded by Baha'ullah, the purpose of which is to establish peace upon a foundation recognizing the unity of all revealed religions.

Special interest attaches to this Temple because it is the first Baha'i Temple to be erected in the West. Local Baha'is point out the fact that the Baha'i Temple constructed in Ishkabad about twenty years ago, under permission of the Russian government, has recently been seized by the Soviet authorities and all Baha'i activities banned.

CARPENTER INJURED IN FALL ON CONCRETE

Riverton Man Suffers Fractured Skull When He Falls at West Palmyra

Frank Rush, 18 years, of Second street, Riverton, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when he fell from a high porch last Thursday.

He had gone to the home of Charles Carle, 321 West Fifth street, Palmyra, which Charles contemplated having done. While standing on a concrete porch, seven feet high, Rush was seen to stagger dizzily for a moment, and before any one could reach him had fallen over the side. He struck his shoulders and the back of his head on the cement paving below, where he lay unconscious.

Dr. Dean H. LeFavor was called and he ordered Rush sent to the hospital. He was taken to the Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly in the Palmyra ambulance and operated on immediately after being admitted. His condition is reported to be improving.

YOUTHS CAUGHT IN STOLEN BOAT

Were Heading Out to Sea When Captured by Coast Guards

Two Trenton men are in the Burlington County jail, being held under $500 bail each for court charged with stealing a sailboat from the Riverton Yacht Club.

The men are: Casey Dougherty, 21 years old, and W. H. Brook, 22 years old. They were captured by Coast Guardsmen of Cape May station while putting to sea in the 26-foot sailboat they are alleged to have stolen from the club Monday of last week. The craft is the property of Oscar Neff, Haddonfield.

Officials of the yacht club notified Chief of Police William Quigley, who sent fliers describing the boat, named the "Bronco," to all Coast Guard and State Police stations.

Coast Guardsmen say they probably saved the lives of the two men by arresting them. It was said the small skiff would not have survived any small wind on the ocean. Chief Quigley believes the men gave fictitious names. He is conducting an investigation into their past, co-operating with Ellis H. Parker, chief of the Burlington County detectives. Robert Knight, commodore of the Riverton Yacht Club, has sent his congratulations to Quigley and the Coast Guards.

Chief Quigley and Officer Miller went to Cape May and brought the prisoners to Riverton, where they were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Cecil Bowers, who committed them to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The men would give police little explanation of their pasts. Chief Quigley declared himself certain that both have criminal records under other names. Their case will come before court in the next session, it is asserted.

The boat was brought back to Riverton by the owners.

50th ANNIVERSARY SURPRISE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeGraw, Sr., Given Party Saturday Evening By Sons and Daughters

A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. DeGraw, Sr., of Riverside, Saturday evening, September 6th to celebrate their 50th anniversary.

The event was planned by their two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Frelan Smith, of Riverside; Claud T. DeGraw, of Syracuse, New York; Mrs. Robert H. Haines, of Charles H. DeGraw, Jr., of Riverton.

Gold was the color scheme for the house and the table decorations. There were fifty guests present.

The couple received many beautiful gifts mostly in gold.

A chicken dinner was served at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. DeGraw makes her home with her daughter in Riverside, while Mr. DeGraw travels.

FIREMEN'S "NIGHT IN MONTE CARLO"

Another Evening of Fun Planned by Riverton Firemen; Ladies Especially Invited

Everyone is invited to attend the "Night in Monte Carlo" given by the Riverton Fire Company on Thursday night, September 11.

This is something unusual and will afford you many thrills. The Fire Company is very much in need of funds and ask you to turn out and give them a little support.

The boys are planning to hold some affair each week during the coming winter. They want you to come out and enjoy one evening a week in their fine new building.

Don't forget, this Thursday. Bring your friends and "buck the tiger." A special invitation is extended to the ladies.

The boys need your help now. There is no telling when you will need them.

SCOUT COUNSELLORS PLAN SEASON'S WORK

Decide on Course of Action for Coming Year and Receive Fine Reports

A meeting of the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors' Association was held Tuesday evening at the Methodist Church in the Scout meeting room.

A large number of men were present and much interest was shown in the program of activities as suggested by various members. A course of action was definitely outlined for the oncoming season and various committees set to work to accomplish the consummation of these activities.

It was particularly gratifying to note the work that had been done during the summer months by the various members of the association, acting through committees, and results are noticeable on the benefits that the Boy Scouts have enjoyed.

As it is through this organization the fathers of Boy Scouts can best help, it is earnestly hoped that more fathers will come out to the meetings, which are held on the second Tuesday of each month, at the Scout room in the Methodist Church.

RIVERTON SCHOOL OPENED MONDAY

Enrollment is 346; Metal Work Added to Manual Training This Year

The Riverton Public School opened on September 8th with a large number of new pupils. Including the Kindergarten there were 46 boys and girls that have not been enrolled before. A list of the number of pupils in each and of the teachers is as follows:

Grade	Total	Teacher
8	32	Miss Staman
7A	22	Mrs. Bowers
7B	20	Miss Lippincott
6A	28	Mrs. Bush
6B and 5B	27	Mrs. Williams
5A	27	Mrs. Murgatroyd
4A	23	Miss Paulding
4B	18	Miss Cunningham
3A	28	Miss Clark
3B and 2A	24	Miss Gardiner
2B and 2B	30	Miss Evald
1	33	Miss Justice
K	31	Miss Parker
	346

After a short session on Monday the full-time sessions were begun the following day and the attendance has been good so far early in the season.

In addition to new shades in the building, many minor repairs and improvements have been completed. The books and supplies that were ordered have practically all arrived and in many cases have been distributed. A new pictured encyclopedia makes a valuable addition to the reference work.

The special subject teachers, Miss Garbell, Drawing; Mr. Griffith, Shop; Miss Griscorn, Home Economics; Miss Lucas, Music and Physical Education, will begin their classes, which do so much toward broadening the outlook of the pupils.

The new course in Metal Work will be offered this year to boys, and its projects will be alternated with those of the wood work.

The assembly will be held this Friday, and in addition to the music and salute to the flag and similar exercises, which have been a regular part of the program, a Seventh Grade group will present a short play, under Miss Lippincott's direction. The regular assembly period this year will come on Monday, the time on Friday being used for listening to the musical programs broadcast by Dr. Walter Damrosch, which have such cultural value.

The activities of faculty members during the last summer have been as follows:

Miss Staman, six weeks at Columbia University.

Mr. Bowers, trip through Catskill and Adirondack Mountains, visiting Montreal at time of R-100's arrival. Returning via Vermont and Massachusetts.

Miss Lippincott, visited seven countries in Europe.

Mrs. Bush, six weeks at University of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Williams, traveling; Maine and other New England States.

Mrs. Murgatroyd, six weeks at University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Paulding, short time at shore. Miss Cunningham, three weeks at shore. To New York to welcome nephew home from Europe. Visits to Valley Stream, Montclair and North Jersey.

Miss Clark, short trip at shore and mountains.

Miss Gardiner, six weeks at Bucknell Summer School.

Miss Evald, delightful trip abroad.

Miss Justice, month at shore, short time at Poconos, remainder of time at Haverford.

Miss Parker, short vacation at the shore.

Mr. Cooper, attended New York University.

SORDON FAMILY IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Riverton Folks Injured When Car Is Sideswiped on Curve Near Doylestown

Four members of a Riverton family were injured Monday morning when the car in which they were riding was sideswiped near Doylestown by another machine driven by M. G. Robbins, of Easton, Pa.

Howard Sordon, 18, 708 Thomas avenue, was so badly cut about the head six stitches were necessary to close the wound. His mother, Mrs. Bertha P. Sordon, also suffered lesser cuts.

Edward Sordon, driver of the car, and Howard D. Sordon, father of the driver and the injured youth, escaped with minor bruises, although they were badly shaken by the force of the collision.

Edward, a senior in Lehigh University, was on his way back to school when the accident occurred. A short distance from Doylestown, while rounding a curve, they were sideswiped by the other car.

The operator of the other vehicle was driving on the wrong side of the white line which marks the center of the highway. Edward, trying to avoid the collision, swerved his car to the gravel shoulder at the side of the roadway. However, the other machine went out of control and crashed into the Sordon car.

Edward continued on his way to Bethlehem after the accident, the other members of the family returning home by bus and taxi. Howard will begin his second year at Haverford on September 18.

CROWDS GREET BOWLING ALLEYS

New Palmyra Recreation Centre Officially Opened by Mayor Wimer

More than 200 people attended the opening of N. Bette's new bowling recreation, Morgan avenue, below Broad street, Palmyra, last Wednesday evening. A ribbon was stretched across the front of the alleys and Mayor Wimer officially opened the building to the public when he severed the ribbon and rolled the first ball at the pins.

It is estimated that half of those attending were women, and Manager "Billy" Knox states that the building was filled to capacity until closing time. Many women became enthusiastic over the sport and tried their hand.

Mr. Bennett rolled the highest score of the evening when he clinched a 219.

For the ladies Mrs. Ayres rolled highest with a score of 137 points. Dick Letford had the honor of registering the first strike on the alleys. The Artisan League, composed of 16 teams, will open its season on Wednesday and Thursday, September 17 and 18, and continue, with the exception of the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, until April 30.

On May 6th and 7th the championship play-off will be held.

The Palmyra-Riverton League, also with 16 teams, expects to open the following week.

Due to numerous requests Mr. Bette is forming an afternoon league for ladies, which he hopes to start soon, and any lady or team of ladies who wish to enter should communicate with Mr. Bette as soon as possible.

Proprietor Bette is also contemplating starting a tournament comprised of five-men teams, to be known as the "house league." This league is open to any team from Palmyra, Riverton and vicinity, and individuals may join by giving their names to Mr. Bette. This league will bowl every Monday evening.

Continued improvements are being carried on at the alleys and the owner will welcome any practical suggestion for the improvement of the service or equipment.

CINNAMINSON SCHOOL

Enrollment 396; New Rooms Added During Summer and Another Teacher

Tuesday the P. T. A. representative spent a delightful morning in the Cinnamon School.

School No. 2 opened with an enrollment of 248 and No. 4 with 148. A number will enter during the week.

Such a happy, healthy set of children! They show the pre-school care and the effects of the Summer Round-up.

Fresh paint has been used to advantage, and in School No. 4 a first floor room has been fitted out and an additional teacher installed, to meet the needs of Grades One and Two.

A sub-primary for No. 4 is now accommodated in the Mission building, where twenty-seven beginners are cared for by a trained Primary teacher.

In School No. 2 a sub-Primary room has also been furnished. Green painted furniture and old gold drapes make it a delightful setting for the sixteen little ones under the care of Miss Stewart.

Hot lunches are being furnished by the capable matron.

DROWNING YOUTH PULLS CHUM TO DEATH IN WATER

Colored Youth, Seized With Cramps, Sinks While Swimming in Creek

HEROIC ATTEMPT AT RESCUE IS FUTILE

Double Tragedy Results as Group From Philadelphia Bathe in Pensauken

Two colored youths, both Philadelphians, were drowned while swimming in the Pensauken Creek, near Burlington pike, Sunday afternoon. Robert Cooley, 16, 1508 Stiles street, was seized with a sudden attack of cramps, and his chum, Joseph Banks, 18, 1540 North Fifty-seventh street, went to his death in a heroic attempt at rescue.

The two boys came to Jersey with a group of friends from the city and were enjoying a swim in the creek along a narrow beach close to the new State Highway, 8-41, which intersects the pike at this point. Cooley was swimming in the channel of the creek when he was seen to go down with hardly an effort to save himself. His frantic shouts for help were heard by his companions and Banks, who had been his pal for years, started for the spot where he had disappeared without hesitation. When he reached the drowning youth he made a courageous but futile effort to bring him to safety and was finally pulled under when Cooley grasped him in a death grip.

The Pensauken police were notified and at once called the Palmyra police department. Chief of Police C. Morris Beck and Officer William Stack responded immediately with a pulmotor and grappling irons.

After grappling for nearly an hour Beck and Stack brought the bodies to the surface, still locked in each other's arms. Before getting them to the shore Cooley's grip broke and he again sank. The Pensauken police recovered the body a few minutes later.

In the meantime unsuccessful attempts were made to resuscitate Banks through artificial respiration and by use of the pulmotor. Cooley also failed to respond to prolonged efforts. They were pronounced dead by Police Physician Dean H. LeFavor, of Palmyra, and Dr. C. M. Beideman, of Merchantville.

Both youths were strong swimmers and were perfectly at home in the water.

As the tragedy took place Sunday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock near the intersection of two heavily traveled highways, a large crowd gathered in a short time, many offering to aid in any way possible.

PLANS NOW COMPLETE FOR K. OF C. PARTY

"SKILLO," A New Game, Will Be Featured at Social Event in K of C Hall

Friday night, September 19, a card party under the auspices of St. Joseph's Council, K. of C., will be held in the K of C Hall, Palmyra.

One of the features of the evening will be a new game known as "Skillo." "Skillo" can be played and enjoyed by all ages. The committee plans to award 100 prizes to winning card players and a large attendance is hoped for.

TELEPHONE PIONEERS TO MEET AT SHORE

Three From Palmyra and Riverton to Enjoy Outing at Asbury Park

John M. Graham, 400 Leconey avenue, Palmyra; Mrs. P. Clara Radcliff, 403 Fourth street, and William H. Botger, 219 Linden avenue, Riverton, will be among almost a thousand telephone pioneers from all parts of the State who will gather this weekend at Asbury Park for their annual outing and get-together.

They are members of the H. H. McCully Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America. Each has had a minimum of 21 years in the service of communication and this is the one time in the year when the entire membership assembles for a State-wide meeting.

These three local residents have been in the telephone business for many years and are among those who assisted in establishing the telephone industry in New Jersey.

WILL FIGHT CUT IN TRAIN SERVICE

Moorestown to Have Solicitor Carson Take Matter to Utility Board

Moorestown Township will join with other municipalities along the Pemberton branch in a fight against further curtailment of railroad service. This action was promised Amos C. Bement, member of the Recreation Commission, at the regular meeting of the Township Committee in Town Hall Monday evening.

Solicitor Walter Carson, it was announced at the meeting, will be instructed to take up the fight in behalf of the riding public of Moorestown before the Public Utility Commission. It is understood that similar action is proposed by Pemberton, Mount Holly and Pensacola.

Mr. Bement, in addressing the members of the committee, said, "I would like to make a request. I would like of the people of Moorestown who are compelled to use the Pennsylvania Railroad trains to commute between Moorestown and Camden."

"It is understood that the P. R. R. contemplates the removal of more trains and this action will compel riders to commute in buses. The buses, not only being uncomfortable and costing each rider approximately $3.25 a month more, are not safe."

"I personally am employed at Nineteenth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, and I am compelled to go to work by bus. I have to walk to Eight and Market in order to obtain transportation, and, as you know, spend from an hour to an hour-and-a-half traveling."

"I feel that the Public Utility board at Trenton should be told that the removal of more trains will prove a big detriment to Moorestown. It will affect the growth of our community and cause people to go elsewhere to establish their homes. People will not buy where transportation is poor."

A similar complaint, in the form of a letter, came from Steward L. Maines in behalf of the many new people who have come to Moorestown through buying properties in Maines' developments.

About Radio
A letter from residents in the neighborhood of the Robinson miniature golf course, Pleasant Valley avenue and Kings Highway, complained against the operators permitting the radio to run until midnight nearly every night. The complainants, in their letter, suggested the radio should operate only between 8 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 until 10 o'clock in the evening.

Township Clerk Charles Laessle was asked to communicate with Steward L. Maines, the proprietor, urging him to comply with this request.

Five new street lights for Market avenue, Main street to the Township line, were ordered. It was announced that Mount Laurel Township will continue the new lighting system in its territory.

Clerk Laessle read a letter from Sedley H. Phinney, executive secretary, inviting Moorestown officials to attend the sixteenth convention of the New Jersey State League of Municipalities in the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, Paterson, on Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, will be one of the speakers. He will talk on "Reorganization of State Government." It was announced at the meeting that Engineer Henry J. Sherman will read a paper on municipal engineering.

ANNUAL BABY PARADE HELD AT MT. HOLLY
Dorothy Frake Wins Title of Prettiest Child; Billy Hunt is Custodian

More than 50 children competed Saturday in Mount Holly's fourth annual baby parade sponsored by the Methodist Church.

Led by Miss Valeria Longaker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Longaker, who was selected as queen and who rode in a violet and white float, the children marched and rode from the public school building on Brainard street to Main street and the grounds adjoining the church where the prizes were awarded.

Dorothy Frake was awarded the first prize as the prettiest baby in line, with Helena Gaskill second. Billy Hunt was judged the cutest entrant, closely followed by Leslie Reamer.

The prize for the best float was won by Elizabeth Moore, while Mary, Helen and Jean Lee, in their native Japanese costume and float, were awarded second prize.

The judges were Mrs. Lawrence E. Mingin, of Medford; Mrs. William Parsons, of Burlington; and Mrs. Harry Laird, of Pemberton.

Mrs. William J. Miner was chairman of the committee in charge of the parade.

UNCOVER ANCIENT CITY
The French Government and Yale University are uniting in the work of uncovering the ancient city of Doura on the Euphrates river.

The scientists have been excavating for about a year and the objects unearthed are said to have thrown new light on the little-known area of 300 A. D. as well as the obscure Parthian civilization.

Up to the present time the finds consist mainly of parchment records, of no importance in themselves, being most minor legal documents, but of great value in supplying names of officials and other data of the city.

BAKED HAM SUPPER LARGELY ATTENDED
A baked ham supper given by the Pine Grove Union Sunday School was well attended at the Community house, Marlton, last Saturday night.

County Club Pilots in Aerial Tribute to Flier Killed During Phila. Legion Races

Erdman and MacIntosh Fly Over Train as Body of Captain Donaldson, World War Ace, is Sent Back to Atlanta

"Jim" Erdman, chief pilot; "Joe" MacIntosh, mechanic, of the Burlington County Aero Club, were among the fliers who paid tribute to the memory of Captain John O. Donaldson, World War hero, when the flier's body was shipped to Atlanta, Ga., from West Philadelphia Station shortly after noon Tuesday.

Followed by three other planes, two Burlington County Aero Club planes piloted by Erdman and MacIntosh, flew in blank file over the railroad station as the body of Captain Donaldson, who was killed during the American Legion air meet at Philadelphia Municipal Airport Sunday afternoon, was put on the train to be taken South. Blank file is a three-plane formation flown by two ships, the missing plane being that of the dead flier.

Just as the casket was being put on the train, American Legion pilots were dropped on the station from Erdman's plane by Miss Edna Biddle, of Philadelphia, a passenger in the ship piloted by aero club's chief pilot. Although Erdman was flying at an altitude of nearly 1,500 feet, the pilots dropped very close to the remains of Donaldson.

Captain Donaldson, who was president of the Newark Air Service, was killed Sunday afternoon when the Travelair plane he was piloting crashed.

PHILA. MAN BEING HELD IN ROBBERY

Charged With Taking Surgical Instruments From Moorestown Home

A cigarette he dropped in Philadelphia led to the undoing of Thomas J. Blair, 27, of 228 Vine street, Philadelphia, and Monday night he was committed to the Burlington County jail at Mount Holly, charged with a robbery at the garage of Dr. Harry Jarrett, Chestnut street and Market, Moorestown, on the night of August 27.

Blair was arrested by a Philadelphia detective on suspicion before the Jarrett robbery had been reported to Moorestown police.

Blair was found under the influence of intoxicating liquor, dropped a cigarette on the pavement. As he leaned over to pick it up, a small case, containing surgical instruments, dropped from his pocket. A Philadelphia detective, who stood nearby, questioned Blair and when the drunk was unable to give a satisfactory reason for possessing the instruments, he was arrested on suspicion.

While Blair was arrested on August 28, the robbery was not reported to Moorestown police by the Jarretts, who had been away, until August 30. Blair, who had admitted he had stolen the instruments from a private garage in New Jersey, was still being held in Philadelphia when a report was sent there from local authorities.

After being detained in Philadelphia until police determined whether he had been involved in any robberies there, Blair was released to Chief of Police John H. Bradshaw, of Moorestown, police, and Detective Sergeant Hauling, of the New Jersey State Police.

Although he has been grilled several times by local authorities, Blair only admits to the Jarrett robbery. Several cases of valuable instruments were taken from the doctor's machine, which was parked in his garage, and all have been recovered.

Blair has a long record, including a robbery and bad check passing in this County and numerous robberies in Camden County and Pennsylvania. It is expected that he will waive Grand Jury action and plead guilty to the Jarrett robbery at special court in Mount Holly today.

Davis — Hunt

Miss Kathryn Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hunt of 350 East Broad street, Burlington, became the bride of Harry A. Davis, of Peach avenue, Moorestown, at a quiet ceremony in St. Paul's Church, St. Mary and East Union streets, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Henry Russell officiated.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of dark brown transparent velvet with a hat to match and carried yellow roses.

Miss Stella Ellis, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore a dark green gown with hat to match and carried pink roses.

Leonard Hunt, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony and reception.

The young couple left on a tour of Canada for their honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will reside in their newly furnished home on Summer avenue, Edgewater Park.

WILD CREATURES HIS PETS
According to reports from Abyssinia, Ras Tafari, the regent who made himself emperor, lives somewhat after the fashion of the feudal lords of the Middle Ages in Europe. Ras likes all kinds of wild animals and he has quite a menagerie on the grounds around the royal palace at Addis Abeba, the capital of the kingdom of Ethiopia, as it is officially called. The monarch is especially fond of lions and has several fine specimens. He makes pets of the cubs. They can often be seen sleeping or romping around the throne itself.

Ras, who claims to be a descendant of the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon, likes to imagine that nature endowed him with many of the qualities of the king of beasts.

HEEDING RIGHT OF WAY IMPORTANT

Absolutely Necessary When Relating to Emergency Vehicles

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Observance of the right-of-way regulation is of fundamental importance at all times, but where it relates to such emergency vehicles as fire apparatus, police vehicles and ambulances, it should be practiced without exception by all motorists, declares Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Harold G. Hoffman.

He calls attention to the provision in the New Jersey traffic code which gives absolute right of way to all emergency vehicles on official business. This includes also United States mail vehicles and the cars of physicians.

"The purpose of such regulation is apparent," says Mr. Hoffman. "The emergency vehicle must be accorded the right of way. The chances of preventing or averting a serious fire depend largely on the dispatch with which the firemen can reach the scene. The police likewise cannot be hampered in responding to urgent calls for their services. In the case of an ambulance or a physician's car it may be a matter of life and death for either to be able to reach its destination a few seconds earlier."

Motorists should realize that no regulation is more important. If they do there will be the likelihood that they will fail to observe the right of way of the rule governing right of way.

HIGH COST OF ROADS LAID TO LEGISLATURE
Responsibility for increased cost of completing the present state highway program was laid to the Legislature Monday by C. F. Bedwell, construction engineer of the state highway commission. In testimony before the Abell Commission at Trenton.

So many additions have been made by the legislature to the original 1927 program that more than $100,000,000 has been added to the cost, he said. It will cost $304,759,575 to complete the program now legislated, or $114,383,775 more than the original estimate of $190,355,800, the probers were told.

Since the highway program first was planned, the Legislature has added 92 miles of road in the North Jersey metropolitan area, where building costs are extremely high, Bedwell declared. The cost of constructing a mile of road is that section is $165,000 while the original estimate was $99,000.

Bedwell said that counties, towns and boroughs are receiving a major portion of motor vehicle money intended for state roads. He estimated receipts of the state highway funds from the motor vehicle funds will be cut this year to $5,800,000 when other demands on the money are met.

NOW TIME FOR HOUSING. EARLY-HATCHED PULLETS

When the combs of early-hatched pullets begin to turn red it is time to make the laying houses ready for them. Then, if moved into their new quarters promptly, these birds usually can be depended upon to add to the poultryman's income at a time when the hens are slackening their efforts. Space for the early-hatched pullets can be found in the laying houses by removing market hens and culls, and concentrating the survivors in fewer pens, advises Prof. W. C. Thompson, poultry husbandman for the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

DAIRYMEN OF TOMORROW. TAKE FARM SHORT COURSE

Training that emphasizes practical work without neglecting the findings of science will again be given in dairy farming and dairy manufactures during the agricultural short courses here at Rutgers University this year. These two 12-week courses, along with those in fruit growing, vegetable gardening, and poultry husbandry, will begin on November 10.

GIRLS TO CAMP AT DARKWATER

Business, Professional Women of County to Enjoy Weekend Trip

Business and professional girls from Burlington County who would enjoy a delightful weekend camping trip should register at once with the Y. W. C. A. for the weekend of September 13 and 14, at Camp Darkwater, near Medford. This will be the third year that the Y. W. C. A. has had Darkwater for weekend camps, and the popularity of the camp the past two years promises a good attendance this year.

"Because many girls do not have means of transportation, the association is arranging to call for such girls at their homes. An extra fee of fifty cents is being charged for this. The cost of the weekend is $2.50."

Y. W. C. A. Bazaar at Moorestown November 12

The Y. W. C. A. wishes to correct the statement in last week's paper regarding the date of the bazaar at the Moorestown Community House. It will be held on Wednesday, November 12.

Mrs. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., and Miss Helen E. Woolman, of Riverton, are the general chairmen of the bazaar, while Mrs. William Matlack, of Medford, will be in charge of the dinner. There will also be cake, candy, delicatessen, and useful article booths, and a table of fifty and seventy-five-cent articles.

Several of the Girl Reserve clubs in Burlington County are holding their opening meetings this week.

There are two especially active groups in Delanco which started on their new season Thursday evening, September 4, under the able leadership of Mrs. Ralph Fish and Mrs. Arthur Fennington, both of whom have recently become the regular advisers of the clubs. Many groups have been waiting for the reopening of school, where the girls can meet with a teacher as leader.

On Tuesday evening, September 9, the Girl Reserve Secretary, Beatrice Shipley, was interested by a visit to the Flanders-Wooden Club.

She talked with them on "How the Girl Reserve Movement Can Help Meet the Needs of the Girls of Today." The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Burkle.

MEDAL IS SOUGHT FOR YOUNG PARKER
Beach Haven Urges Reward for Detective's Son Who Saved Woman in Sea

A movement was started by residents of Beach Haven last week to obtain a Carnegie medal for Ellis H. Parker, Jr., 22-year-old son of Burlington County's detective chief, in recognition of his heroic rescue of a drowning woman being carried out to sea by strong offshore currents last Wednesday.

In the meantime he has been given $100 as a reward by the father-in-law of the woman he saved.

Summoned by a policeman from the ice wagon on which he is employed at Beach Haven during the summer, Parker, a Temple University athlete, pulled off his clothes on the beach and swam 1,200 yards, towing a heavy life preserver, to where the woman was making a feeble effort to keep afloat.

He reached her just as she lapsed into unconsciousness and with one arm around the life preserver and the other around the woman kept her afloat for a half hour until Captain Wagner, a German, reached him in his motor dory.

Bennett — Willard
Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Willard, daughter of Mr. Lena Willard, of Wrightsboro, Collingswood, and Norris H. Bennett, of Pleasant Valley avenue, Moorestown, son of Mrs. Sarah Bennett, of Collingswood.

The wedding ceremony was performed at their new apartment in Haddon Heights on Sunday, August 27, at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. C. Estorrell, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, Camden.

Mrs. Warren Schantz, of Mount Airy, Pa., was the bride's only attendant. Warren Schantz acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a dinner was held in honor of the bride party and a few friends and relatives at the Warwick Hotel, Philadelphia.

The newly married couple then left on a wedding journey to Lake Mohawk. They will be at home in the Haddon Heights Apartments after October 1.

Mr. Bennett is the proprietor of the Washington Markets in Moorestown and Camden, and is a member of the Moorestown Rotary Club.

SWEET POTATO GROWERS. GET SEED SELECTION TIPS

Careful selection of sweet potato seed will assist greatly in reducing the losses from diseases of this crop, advises Dr. W. H. Martin, plant pathologist for the State Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick.

He explains that severe serious diseases of the sweet potato are seed-carried, and while certain of these may be controlled by disinfecting the seed, there are others, such as stem rot, which will not respond to this treatment.

That fungus causing stem rot is carried in the seed and consequently the selection of clean seed has been found necessary for its control. When seed potatoes infected with the organism causing this disease are sowed, the sprouts become infected and the disease is carried to the field. Where no effort is made to control stem rot, serious losses are frequently experienced, and fields have been observed where more than 50 per cent of the plants were killed by the disease.

DICK SHELTON, holder of Madison Square Garden steer wrestling record, who will compete at the World Series Rodeo, Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia.

Wrestling Steers. That is what an enterprising young man can make if he can demonstrate that he is able to wrestle wild bovines from Texas as well as Dick Shelton, Paddy Ryan and other cowboy stars who perform the stunt for rodeo audiences.

Some of the greatest steer wrestling in the country will appear at the World Series Rodeo, opening September 10 and continuing through September 20 at the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium. Among these will be Dick Shelton, holder of the world's record in steer wrestling. Dick downed a steer five seconds after the animal had dashed from the chute at a Western rodeo. This stands as the world's record. Last year Dick almost tied this record at Madison Square Garden, throwing a steer in five and three-eighths seconds. This year he thinks he can tie or beat his best record.

Paddy Ryan, celebrated all-round cowboy, is an expert steer wrestler. Ryan is below medium size and not heavily built, but he has the knack of steer wrestling to perfection. In the opinion of many people steer wrestling is the most exciting of all rodeo sports. There is a thrill for everybody when the rider darts after the running steer and makes the leap from the saddle.

The steer wrestlers, like the contestants in other events at the Philadelphia rodeo, compete for prizes. This is the only payment they receive, and, naturally, they are out to do their best. But all of them pay tribute to old Bill Pickett as the man who "discovered" the unique and thrilling steer wrestling sport, which now yields thousands of dollars to its stars.

Bill Pickett was the Negro cowboy's name. Bill got mad one day when he was trying to round up a particularly obnoxious steer on the Texas ranch where he was employed. He "looked after" the running steer on his pony and, leaping from the saddle, grasped the animal by the horns, stopped his flight, and threw him to the earth.

Some other cowboys who had seen Bill's stunt were amazed and delighted.

"Bet you can't do it again, Bill," they bantered.

Bill Pickett took the dare. He raced after another steer, leaped from the saddle at full tilt, and threw the animal.

The news of Bill's exploit got around. He was asked to do it again and again, and he always made good. Finally he got to "bulldogging" steers, as it was called, in rodeos. For awhile he was alone in this feat, but Clay McConigle and some other old-time cowboys who

PLANE TALKS
By LI. H. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

After a week of the National Air Races and two days past weekend at a nearby Air Meet, we are certainly "fed-up" with so-called stunt flying. If it is necessary to have stunts to draw the Dear Old Public to air meets, then let's stop having air meets. We are selling speed, transportation and, above all, safety, and the public does not distinguish between useful and sensible flying and the death-defying antics that are so unnecessary to Aviation.

The sixth annual National Air Tour will start at Detroit on September 11th and return on September 27th. The Tour this year will cover 4,500 miles and visit thirty-two cities in eighteen States in this country and three Provinces in Canada.

Chief Pilot "Jim" Erdman and his "Man Friday," Joe MacIntosh, of the Burlington County Aero Club, together with several club members, took two of the Club's ships over to the Air Meet at the Philadelphia Airport during the last weekend.

"Jim" flew one of the ships in the race for OX-5 powered planes.

When the Pan-American Airways takes over the NYRBA line on September 15th, it becomes the largest air line in the world, operating the world's largest fleet of commercial airplanes and flying over 100,000 miles every week in every country in Central and South America. This has been accomplished in less than twenty months of operation.

Joseph Tatem, of Haddonfield, a member of the Burlington County Aero Club, will shortly move his new Waco P ship, now in Maine, to the Moorestown Airport. We certainly are glad to have you come back, Joe.

Did you know that there are 9,773 licensed and identified airplanes in the United States and 13,941 licensed pilots? California has 1,275 ships and 2,515 pilots and New York 1,145 ships and 222 pilots. Almost one-quarter of the ships in the country in two States. Now, I ask you, is that right? Wake up, the rest of you States.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD CAMPOREE

Troops From County Will Assemble at Scout Camp on Sept. 13

Plans are under way for the holding of the Second Annual County-wide Scout Camporee. A camporee, as the name indicates, is a camping out contest with a lot of fun thrown in. Entries will be sent in from a number of Troops throughout the County. A camporee is not a contest between individual boys, but between groups of boys, known in Scouting as patrols.

The contesting patrols will meet at the County Scout Camp in Wrightsboro and be ready for the first inspection at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, September 13th. There will be one judge to each patrol entering. The boys report to each judge with their whole camp equipment in their packs, all ready to start out on a hike. The judges will not only inspect, but will make suggestions so that the boys not as experienced will be able to learn considerably more about hiking and camping.

After this inspection each group will hike a short distance and then choose its site, set up camp and prepare a meal. All this time the judges will be watching, not only noting the boys, but also giving them hints for future care.

A handsome shield will be presented to the winning patrol. This shield was offered last year by Brian Kane, of Edgewater Park, and will be retained by that Troop winning it.

During the afternoon and early evening there will also be held a first aid and signaling contest. These events have, in the past, carried considerable interest.

S. L. MAINES DIES; VETERAN BUILDER

Contractor Succumbs to Prolonged Illness at Moorestown Home

Steward L. Maines, veteran Moorestown builder, died at his home in Camden avenue, where he had been confined by illness for more than a year, Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock. He was 68 years old.

Mr. Maines, the descendant of a long line of carpenters, was born in Moorestown and had lived for the most part of his life in the town in which he died, following the prolonged illness.

Continuing the contracting and building business established by his father, the late Eli Maines, Mr. Maines founded what is now the firm of Steward L. Maines and Sons, with offices at 300 Chester avenue. His two sons, F. Nelson and Steward L. who now conduct the business, took over the active management of the company about seven years ago when their father retired.

Mr. Maines and his father built many of the finest and oldest homes in Moorestown. The present Eldridge Reeves Johnson mansion, on East Main street, was built by Eli Maines for Samuel Allen. Many Moorestown homes have been erected by the three generations of the Maines, who have been so prominently identified with the building business there.

Mr. Maines was a quiet and conscientious man, highly respected by all who knew him, and his loss is mourned by a large circle of Moorestownians who have known him as a friend for many years.

The late builder had been a director of Burlington County Trust Company, but resigned about two years ago because of ill health.

Funeral services will be held at the late residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Coletown Cemetery, with Funeral Director William Grobler in charge. Friends may call this evening.

Mr. Maines, whose wife died last October, is survived by his two sons; a daughter, Mrs. Marion Baylis, who made her home with him; two brothers, William Maines, of Camden avenue, and E. Wesley Maines, of Leola, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Wilkins, of Camden avenue.

HOME IS ROBBED AT MOORESTOWN
Loot Club Estates Residence of Valuable Jewelry and Clothing

A robbery much similar to the one suffered by Warren Armstrong, of the Club Estates, was committed at the home of Charles F. Brown, 618 Chester avenue, Moorestown, Wednesday night or Thursday morning of last week.

As was the case at the Armstrong home, bedrooms, and not the first floor, were thoroughly ransacked and much valuable clothing was taken. The Brown loss, it is understood, includes some jewelry.

The Brown family was away at the time of the robbery and police have not as yet been able to obtain a complete list of the stolen articles. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are returning from their vacation this week.

The robbery was discovered Thursday morning by a chauffeur. Entrance was gained by cutting screening and breaking a window on the north side of the house. Three bedrooms on the second floor were ransacked and the loss is expected to be quite high. A servant, believe much valuable clothing belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Brown is missing.

It is definitely known that the loot included a watch and diamond studded cuff links. Just how much more jewelry was taken is yet to be established.

None of the servants were sleeping in the home the night it was robbed.

Chief Bradshaw, in an interview, said the police are desirous that persons living in the Club Estates and other sections where there are large residences similar to those that have been robbed recently, report to the police when their homes will be unoccupied over the weekend or for any length of time. Co-operation along this line will greatly aid the officers in their drive to run down the burglars, he says.

MISSING MOUNT HOLLY GIRL. FOUND BY PHILA. COPS

Martha Cotton, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Cotton, of 102 Wall street, Mount Holly, disappeared from home Sunday morning before her parents were out of bed. They immediately notified the police. Her mother said she did not have any boy friends, and few girl friends, and she did not know what caused her to leave home, unless it was the fact that school was opening on Tuesday and Sunday she did not want to resume her studies.

Sunday night word was received that the girl was picked up by the police in Philadelphia, and her parents went after her. She took all her clothing.

The Cottons have ten children.

ESCAPED SCHOOL INMATE FOUND AT MOUNT LAUREL
Hannah MacIntosh, 14, escaped inmate of the Potomac Training School, near Newry, was found at her home at Mount Laurel last week and was returned to the State Institution. The girl was the object of search by State Police and municipal authorities when news of her escape was broadcast. Troopers Droadick and Turnbull, of Delance Barracks, of the State Police, apprehended her.

PASS ORDINANCE FOR SURFACING MORGAN AVENUE

Palmyra Council Approves Paving Street on Second and Final Reading

CONCRETE OR ASPHALT TO BE DECIDED LATER

Dirt Removed by Contractor to be Used for Filling Low Places

An ordinance providing for the paving of Morgan avenue from the railroad to the borough line was passed at an adjourned regular meeting of the Palmyra Council Tuesday evening.
Only two citizens were present at the hearing and, although having opposed paving in the past, offered no protest at the meeting.

Surfacing of first block of Morgan avenue was provided for in the same ordinance authorizing the work on Lincoln avenue and the first block of Highland. The new ordinance was made to cover the entire street in event it was decided to use concrete.
Provision was made in the contract with the Union Paving Company to provide for this.

Bids are being advertised for today for both concrete and asphalt for Morgan avenue and will be opened at an adjourned meeting of council Tuesday, September 23.

Asphalt on Concrete
When the amount of the bids are known the council will take steps to ascertain which type of paving the majority of property owners prefer.
Alternate bids were requested when the residents of the street petitioned the borough officials for permanent surfacing.

Just what steps will be taken are not known but it is likely all property owners will be sent cards giving the cost of each type and asked to indicate their preference and return the cards. This will not be done until after the bids are received.

There was some discussion as to the desirability of six inch concrete and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that nothing less than seven-inch reinforced concrete should be considered.
The matter was left in the hands of the street committee to consider with the advice of engineers.

Inspect Finished Work
At the time of the meeting work had not been started on Lincoln avenue by the Union Paving Company and the engineer was instructed to get in touch with the company and find the reason for the delay.

A final inspection of the curbs, gutters and sidewalks recently completed by the Palmyra Concrete Company was made the same afternoon by the major and the street committee. The work was found to be in good shape and will be formally accepted by the borough in the near future.

In West Palmyra the gutters are above the street level in some places in order to give the proper pitch for drainage. The contract with the Union Paving Company requires that they take the excess dirt from Lincoln avenue and put it on these streets at the direction of the engineer.

TAKES OVERDOSE OF SLEEPING POWDER

Philadelphia Woman Brought to Palmyra Police Headquarters in Early Morning Hours

After taking an overdose of sleeping powder Mrs. Sara B. Rosenfeld, 1828 North Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, was brought to Palmyra Police Headquarters by her companion, L. P.
Eastburn, Henry street, Riverside, in a critical condition last Friday morning about three o'clock.

Officer Nelson Wallace, who was on duty at the time, took the woman to the office of Police Physician Dean H.
LeFavor for treatment. He ordered her removed at once to the Cooper Hospital. Her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Eastburn is employed in Charlie's Cafe, Pavilion avenue, Riverside. The two left the cafe together shortly after midnight Thursday in Eastburn's car.

MAKE REPAIRS IN SUMMER IS WORD TO POULTRYMEN

The finding of pullet eggs on the range forcefully reminds poultrymen that it is time to put their laying houses in condition for the winter and complete any construction work that may have been started, says L.
M. Black, New Jersey extension service poultryman. He suggests that leaky roofs be repaired and waterproof paint be applied where needed; that the more satisfactory, sliding-front type of curtain be installed to replace the swinging type; and that in some houses insulating board be used to obtain a warmer environment in winter. He also points out that repairs to mash hoppers, nests, wired roosts, screened manure sheds, and other buildings or equipment be delayed no longer.

TWO WOMEN HELD FOR COURT FOLLOWING RAID

Two women were held in jail in Mount Holly for court Monday following a raid on an alleged disorderly house. The two are Mrs. Frances Brown, said to be estranged from her husband, Guy Brown, and Mrs. Amelia Bennett, a widow. The pair was arrested Sunday night on Shreve street, when Patrolmen Robert Smith, Frank Bowen and Charles Hooper raided the place. Two soldiers, John McCarthy and Roy Edwards, privates from Camp Dix, also arrested on the premises, were arraigned with the women before Recorder Joseph P. Kingston. They were released and sent back to camp.
The policemen admitted they could find no cards or liquor on the premises.

TELE-TYPEWRITER FOR STATE POLICE

Crime Bulletins of Whole State to be Automatically Recorded

New Jersey State Police will use telephone-typewriter alarm systems beginning October 1.

Paul F. Verba, a sergeant formerly in charge of Malaga Barracks, will be stationed at Hammononton to operate the telephone-typewriters there.
John E. Munane will be in command at the State Police headquarters at Trenton. Albert E. Norman, detached to Troop C headquarters at Freehold; E. M. Bowen, assigned to Troop B Station at Morristown; and Joseph Hoek, who will go on duty in the Newark metropolitan area.

More than 70 miles of wire and 60 sending and receiving telephone-typewriters are used in the new system.

An alarm can be broadcast to any part of the State within a few minutes after a crime has been committed. The system has a "key" station in the State Police headquarters at Trenton.

A zone center has been established at Newark which will enable the State Police to communicate quickly with the New York State and city police departments and the metropolitan area which includes Essex, Hudson, Passaic, Bergen and Union Counties.

The central station at Trenton will be in direct communication with the Pennsylvania State Police through the Morrisville (Pa.) Barracks, which is directly across from Trenton, and is connected with the New Jersey State Police wire system.

The South Jersey zone center at Hammononton will be directly in communication with the Philadelphia police department and in turn will repeat any alarms from its sending station at Troop A headquarters.

Other zone stations have been opened at Morristown, where Troop E headquarters is located, and at Freehold, where Troop C is detailed.

COUNTY GRANGE PLACES SECOND

Local Exhibit Wins Honors in Fair Fruit and Vegetable Display

Burlington County Pomona Grange, which set an inimitable record last year by winning first prize in the Grange fruit and vegetable exhibit staged at Trenton Fair, here to be content this year with the second prize award. This does not mean that the exhibit put on this year is not of the same high quality as staged last year, but rather that the competition from other Granges in the State was much keener.

The feature of the exhibit this year was two large gold colored cornucopias placed in the rear center of the exhibit space, each facing toward the front corner of the exhibit space.
From the mouth of one of these horns flows a stream of different varieties of apples and peaches and from the other a plentiful supply of different kinds of vegetables, giving a sharp contrast in color with tomatoes, carrots, red cabbage, sweet potatoes, beets, etc.

The fruits and vegetables actually judged for quality were placed in 4 and 12 quart climax baskets, spreading out in a fan shape, one for fruit, one for vegetables, from each of the cornucopias in the rear. The background was filled in with a decorative display of greens furnished by Harold Horner, of Mount Holly, a member of the Moorestown Grange.

The committee responsible for the exhibit included Pomona Master William T. Baggs, Beverly; the three Deputies, Maurice Conrow, Riverton; Howard Emmons, Pemberton; and Howard Wills Mariton; together with the Masters of each of the ten subordinate Granges in the County.
William Bodine, of Florence, acted as chairman of the committee.

Those who actually staged the exhibiting were Mr. and Mrs. Amor Gaunt, Jobstown; Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Frickitt, Medford; Mrs. Harold Pew, Mount Holly; Miss Caroline Gaunt, Jobs-town. The second prize carries a cash award of $50.

LAUNDRYMAN DIES WHEN HIT BY BUS

Husband of Former Palmyra Woman Killed in Accident at Oaklyn

Jacob Peterson, 71 years old, of Oaklyn, husband of Mrs. Augusta
Peterson, the former Mrs. Augusta Hansen, of West Broad street, Palmyra, was killed by a bus on the White Horse pike last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Peterson is well known in Palmyra, having made her home here until shortly before her marriage to Peterson, about five years ago. One of her daughters, Mrs. Ruth Carhart, is still living in Palmyra. She has three other daughters, Mrs. Hertha Stokely, of Merchantville; Mrs. Florence Jensen, of Philadelphia; and Mrs.
Ethel Detwiler, of Chester, Pa.; and three sons, Walter Hansen, of Mer-chantville; Edward Hansen, of Riv-erton; and Harry Hansen, of Claymont, Del.

Mr. Peterson, who is the owner of the Twin Cities Damp Wash Laundry, of Merchantville, was killed when he stepped from in front of his automobile into the path of a Public Service bus driven by Leon Burack, of West Berlin.

It was through his painstaking effort to please a customer that Peterson met his death. Mrs. Kate Johnson, of No. 1 White Horse pike, Oaklyn, had given her laundry to one of the drivers Wednesday morning with the urgent request that it be returned the same day. Peterson was attending to this himself when the accident occurred.

Funeral services were held Friday night at the late residence in Oaklyn. Interment was made in the Lutheran Cemetery, Little Village,
L. I., Saturday morning.

Peterson is survived by three sons,
Clifton, Joseph and Fred, all of New York.

Fish and Game Commission Has Just Made Distribution of New Quota

The New Jersey Fish and Game Commission has just distributed 300 more pheasants in each of the counties in the State of New Jersey, according to a statement just issued by Commissioner Benjamin W. Cooper, Moorestown.

Burlington and Camden received their quota of 300 each distributed on September 2 and 3.

Five hundred black bass will be liberated in each of these counties this week. More bass will be liberated later and also blue gill sun fish for the different ponds throughout the

NAME GIVEN IN DERISION

"Blimp" is the popular name for a small, elongated balloon without internal frame. These balloons were used in the World War for observation purposes, flying on a cable attached to a windlass on the ground.
The name was first applied to them by British airplane pilots, who used it jokingly as a term of derision.
Some believe that the word was coined from balloon and limp, others believe that it goes back to an old English word, blimp, meaning a small blister.

Former Palmyra Music Supervisor Weds Delanco Man at Valley Forge

Miss Violet Lippincott Married to Frank B. Pennington, at Ceremony in Famous Memorial Chapel by the Rev. Dr. Herbert Burke

The Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, Pa., was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, when Miss Violet Grace Lippincott, of Mount Holly, became the bride of Frank Bishop Pennington, of Delanco.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Herbert Burke, rector of the chapel.

Miss Lippincott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Lippincott and is a graduate of Mount Holly High School and Trenton Normal School.
She was also instructor of music in the Palmyra school system for the past two years.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Warren Phillips, of Pemberton, as matron of honor.

2 PERSONS HURT IN LENOLA CRASH

Occupants Badly Shaken Up as Truck Runs Into Automobile

Two persons received cuts and the other occupants of the car were badly shaken up and bruised when a truck crashed into the automobile driven by Edward L. Aaronson, of Moore street, Lenola, on Sunday evening shortly before 8:30 o'clock.

Aaronson made a left turn off Camden avenue onto New Albany road, Lenola, when the truck, which was driven by Lionel S. Burleigh, 305 Shaw avenue, Glenolden, Pa., ran into him.

The Lenola man's car was badly damaged. Aaronson had three stitches taken in his head, and his daughter,
Clover, had three stitches in her lip.
They were treated at the office of a local physician.

The other occupants of the automobile were Mrs. Aaronson and children, June, Betty and Kenneth.
Burleigh was taken before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston, Moorestown, and was released in $500 bail to await the outcome of the injuries to the children.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Marianna
Dudley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Levi L. Dudley, of East Third street, Moorestown, to Virgil Frank Benford, of Richmond Ind., was announced Tuesday evening of last week, at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., where Miss Dudley is secretary to the dean. No date has been set for the wedding.

WATCH TIRES TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Motor Vehicle Commissioner
Hoffman Says Worn
Treads Unsafe

"Watch your tires," is suggested by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Harold G. Hoffman as a slogan that all motorists might well adopt to eliminate tire failure as a cause of accidents.

"Continuing to drive with badly worn tires is a foolhardy practice," said the Commissioner. "To maintain them in good condition is just as essential to safe motoring as well-adjusted brakes. It is true that the number of fatal accidents resulting from blowouts is relatively small in comparison to other causes, but they are sufficiently numerous to warrant attention to this part of a car's equipment."

"Many accidents which are described as resulting from running off the roadway had their source in an old tire that blew out at high speed.
And it makes little difference whether it is a front or rear tire, for while many believe that a blow-out in the rear is the more dangerous, there is considerable difference of opinion among the experts on that score."

"In the interest of economy, a driver can save his tires by checking air pressure periodically. But at all events, when the tread is badly worn or the fabric is showing, the safety of all users of the highway demands replacement."

"KONJOLA HAS NO EQUAL IN MY OPINION"

New Medicine Again Proves Its Prowess Against Stubborn Ailments

MRS. HELEN MENNINGER

"For two years I suffered with stomach trouble, nervousness and rheumatism," said Mrs. Helen Menninger, 4600 New York avenue, Jersey City.
"Then my forearms broke out with a rash and finally became a mass of sores. My hands and fingers were badly swollen and caused me great pain. I had little appetite and, as a result of nervousness, spent many sleepless nights. I became greatly discouraged."

"I certainly was amazed at the way Konjola went to work in my case. Each day brought improvement. My appetite was improved and sleepless nights became a thing of the past.
The swelling is gone from my hands and fingers and there is not a blemish on my arms. Five bottles of Konjola completely freed me of my ailments and proved itself a master medicine in my case. In my opinion Konjola has no equal."

Konjola is recommended and sold on its record alone. From six to eight bottles constitute a treatment in the average case. Give Konjola a trial today.

Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

CAREFUL MOTORIST PREVENTS ACCIDENTS

Intensive campaigns are now being conducted throughout the nation to make the public highways safe for careful, competent and responsible motorists, and to banish the danger presented to life and property by the reckless.

It is hoped that the campaigns will be successful. But in the meantime, the careful motorist can themselves do much to lower the accident toll by expecting the other driver to do something dangerous.

In the words of Charles F. Kettering, vice-president, General Motors Research Corporation, "It has been my experience in a great many years of driving that if you will consider the other fellow is likely to do something which he may not do, it is a great safety factor. I believe that we should always be upon the lookout and expect that somebody will come out of every blind alley and make the wrong turn, because if we are assuming that, we are always on the alert and know just exactly how to stop and when to stop."

This is sage advice. When assuming all other drivers are capable, the most competent and careful driver is often powerless to avert an accident. And, when lives and property are destroyed, the blame is of only secondary importance.

Every state should do its best to formulate modern, enforceable and adequate traffic laws that will protect the careful and punish and eliminate the reckless. But until Utopian highway conditions arrive, we should all be pessimistic of the other fellow's ability at the wheel.

WORLD'S BEST LOSER

For unlimited sportsmanship we must give the palm to Sir Thomas Lipton, the gallant Irishman who will again contend for the America's Cup, the most coveted yachting prize in the world.

It is now 79 years since the famous cup was first won by an American boat, approximately named the America, on August 22, 1851, and in the intervening years it has been successfully defended 13 times.

Beginning in 1899, Sir Thomas Lipton has made four attempts to lift the cup without success, and the forthcoming races starting September 13 will mark his fifth. That he has accepted successive defeats with equanimity and is willing to risk another leads Will Rogers to dub him "the best loser on earth."

After his first defeat in 1899, Sir Thomas came back in 1901 and 1903 to meet the same fate. He challenged for 1914, but the war upset his plans. He was again a contender in 1920, losing once more. Each time his yacht has been named the Shamrock, his newest challenger being the Shamrock V.

While patriotic Americans will hope to see the famed cup remain on this side of the water, there will be no great sorrow if the pluck and determination of Sir Thomas shall be finally rewarded by victory.

WE ALL PAY FOR FIRE

In 1926 fire accounted for the greatest loss in our history—$560,000,000. The following year there was a decrease to $464,000,000, and in 1929 the waste totaled $473,000,000. Loss for the first part of 1930 has been higher than last year.

But one conclusion can be drawn from these figures—that a large part of our people are careless in regard to fire and indifferent to the results of their carelessness.

It is said that the factor of ignorance is responsible for an appreciable part of the waste. Yet any number of public and private organizations have given unremitting efforts, culminating each year in a "Fire Prevention Week," to educate the public in proper use of electricity, the danger of poor building construction, the need for care in handling refuse and the like. It is a telling commentary that often during "Fire Prevention Week" the loss will fall below the average, only to rise immediately after.

Our fire loss will go down permanently when the public realizes that every member of a community is financially penalized by every fire. Every citizen must pay for fire in higher insurance rates, in unemployment, loss of taxes, business depression or some similar way. We all contribute our share to America's gigantic annual fire waste.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

By F. E. C.

Henry Ford, waiting for Europe, said the business slump was ending. He also said the country was bone dry. We hope his batting average is at least 500.

Al Wilson's cross-country flight had to be postponed when he fell out of bed in Chicago Monday and dislocated two vertebrae. Aviators should never go to bed without their parachutes.

George M. Sleeper, genial and plumpish editor of the Mount Holly Herald, was either trying to reduce or emulate the Welsh Prince when he was thrown off his horse Sunday. He is reported to have been painfully but not seriously injured, which is what one gets for violating the blue law against horseback speeding on the Sabbath.

The pastor of a Glassboro Church brought the proprietor of a miniature golf course to trial for operating his course on Sunday in violation of the ancient blue laws. But the pastor made the mistake of violating the same laws by driving his automobile on Sunday to get evidence against the golf course man and the case was dismissed.

Rudy Vallee's private secretary, Miss Langfeldt, who reads all his fan mail, is on a vacation trip to Europe, so now Rudy might take a look at some of the fervent letters himself, but we doubt it. The letters with checks in them are probably the only ones that have a real heart interest.

One or two Camden County road-houses have been closed, a few others have been raided, opening up again as soon as the raiders leave, but most of the rest have a real pull with the County authorities and political bosses. On a somewhat smaller scale these things are run the same way in Burlington County.

Something to think about—The bicycle manufacturers in convention in Atlantic City announced that more two-wheelers were sold last year than since 1919. These pedal cars are actually economical in oil and gas, and most of the speed laws governing their operation are still on the statute books. Buy a bicycle and spend the difference.

Which makes us think—Apparently that revolutionary idea about FREE WHEELING being boosted by Studebaker is just the old coaster bicycle hub idea which became popular when Dad was a boy. And the difference in cost between pedal and motor transportation made it real free wheeling, too!

Charles Folwell, of the Mount Holly Mirror, who spills more ink editorially than all the rest of the County editors laid end to end, was quite

WAY OF LIFE

BRUCE BARTON

CHEATING

Once upon a time I hired a man to do a certain piece of work. He was well along in middle life, and I wondered why he had not made more progress, since he seemed honest and industrious.

I said to him: "I cannot be here to watch this work and so I shall have to trust you to do it as if you were working for yourself."

He was profuse in his assurances. He seemed to want the job. At the end of six months I visited him. He had done fairly well, but was rather glib with alibis. Other people were always holding him up. The weather was always very bad. He would have done so-and-so if he had been sure just what I had wanted, but I had failed to let him know.

I put this down as the grumbling habit of an old man.

"At least he is honest and means well," I said. But one day, after about a year, I happened to appear unexpectedly. He was not in evidence. Upon inquiry I discovered that he was using my time and some of my materials on a little private job of his own. We had a solemn conference and decided to part.

When you put a man on his honor and then have him take advantage of your trust it is a blow to your faith in human nature. So I was depressed and a little sore.

But only for a few minutes. Then I said to myself: "How foolish I am to let this thing worry me. This man has cheated me out of a few hundred dollars, but what a petty thing that is compared with the way he has cheated himself! All his life he has held a nickel so close to his eyes that he couldn't see a dollar. All his life he has lived on alibis, watching the clock, stealing a little here and there from his employers, and imagining that he was doing well for himself.

"And where is he at sixty? Poor and jobless, and a failure. Reaping what he has sown."

The old idea of Heaven and Hell was very bad because it made us think that our reward or punishment is contingent to us in some far-off place hereafter.

In the same way most people misinterpret the verse in the Bible which reads: "Be sure your sin will find you out."

They say: "Lots of people sin and are never found out. Therefore the verse is untrue."

But the verse does not say that your sin will find YOU out. It says, "Be sure your sin will find YOU out"—be sure that it will settle down in your heart and mold you in its own image.

That's a terrifying thought, or a very encouraging one, according to the way you live. Everything you do has its influence on what you are.

When you cheat you cheat yourself. And whatever you do that's decent automatically and inevitably builds you up.

EARTH'S WEIGHT

There is nothing to indicate that there has been an actual change in weight in the earth. The experiment of Dr. Paul Heyl in reweighing the earth merely gave a more exact result.

There are more than a million finger prints on file in the Department of Justice at Washington.

Housewives would rather have SLICED Bond Bread than any other sliced loaf

GROCERS tell us that more housewives are asking for sliced Bond Bread every day. Now that Bond Bread may be bought either in the sliced loaf or in the unsliced loaf, it is no longer necessary to buy ordinary bread.

Careful housewives, especially those with large families, see the advantage in buying a more substantial loaf. Because of its firm, close-knit texture, Bond Bread gives more nourishment to the slice. There's more enjoyment for everybody, too, when bread substance is combined with bread flavor that is really appetizing. Home-like texture and flavor have made Bond Bread the favorite loaf of the American Housewife.

A 4-H club's use is to help, the young farm idea to sprout. It should never try to help the older folks through its young members. They have their own agencies which have their own part in the far-flung scheme of State and Federal extension systems.

This was the policy laid down a year ago by Federal officials deeply interested in the proper development of the 4-H club. It isn't fair to the youngster and it isn't fair to his elders, to use him to reach them, it was said. How has this advice worked out when applied to the practical realities of advising farmers on crops, combating the drought, increasing his poultry revenue, weeding out his stock?

The best answer, says George L. Conway, the Department of Agriculture expert, who keeps his finger on the pulse of extension work in every State, lies in the demand for home economics and County agricultural agents.

In nearly every State in the Union, the director of extension work is going to add from one to six home economics experts; provide additional funds to enable State directors of 4-H club work to keep in constant contact with the work; and to put on new subject specialists.

A feature is the interest this year in marketing specialists. Two-thirds of the States are adding these men to give local advice as to how to take full advantage of the vast Federal Farm Board program. The contact of these specialists with the boys and girls of the 4-H clubs is expected to furnish one of the best avenues to success in the Farm Board's plans.

Not only is the budget for this year in extension work more extensive as regards allotment of Federal funds, but every State is expected to increase its expenditure. So insistent has the demand become that a special $1,000,000 appropriation was asked of Congress and was granted just before the session ended. This brings the Federal expenditure for the work to more than $4,000,000 for the fiscal year just beginning. With the State funds added, the total for the country will not be far from $10,000,000.

Washington offers few contrasts for visitors which equal that between the dry-as-dust figures being ground out by the census bureau as a result of the enumeration just ended and the army of workers who do the grinding. There is nothing dry-as-dust about one of the long card-punching rooms in the bureau, for nearly every one of the 6,000 or so temporary employees who do the routine work of compiling the figures is a flapper apparently a year or so short of college.

Because Director W. M. Stewart felt youth was a requisite for the alertness and speed needed, an age limit of 35 was set for these employees. As a result the age limit appears to have been 20. Half after half in the ugly temporary shacks of the bureau blossoms with rows of sprightly youngsters, most of them feminine. But for all their youth Director Stewart is highly pleased with the speed and accuracy thus far displayed.

Just as the Government reached the end of the $10,000,000 pocket-book out of which has come money to battle the corn-borer, nature stepped in to help out. The drought, which has meant destruction to many grain farmers, will be a boon to many others if, as is expected, it halts the advance of the borer. Only $125,000 remained of the corn-borer fund for use this year and it will be exhausted by the end of the year. Many moths of the borers died before coming out during the drought and others did not lay the usual number of eggs.

The Army and the Navy have been so bitterly engaged in a controversy over which branch of the service shall control coastal air defense that the President has been asked to intervene to settle the matter and Charles Lindbergh has been called in as a youthful arbiter. The fight is of long standing, but was renewed recently when the Army discovered that the Navy has equipped planes for fighting as well as for scouting in Hawaii and Panama. The Army has contended that its air forces shall do the fighting from land, and the Navy has been permitted to have only scouting planes on a land base. The Navy has replied that such a distinction is impossible, asking whether a Navy plane must seek an Army flyer when an enemy is found over land.

The Gas Refrigerator Has Earned Its Popularity

THE Electrolux gas refrigerator gives the same fine refrigeration that every good automatic refrigerator gives—namely, dry cold evenly maintained throughout, ample ice cube supply, quickly frozen—in addition the gas refrigerator has advantages that are unique, important among these, noiselessness.

The silent operation of the gas refrigerator makes it the favorite of many home-makers. The Electrolux is safe, odorless, and servicing, if required, is done without charge.

Attractive porcelain-lined gas refrigerator, $195 upward. A little higher in price if purchased on the easy payment plan—a small sum down and twenty-four months to pay balance.

The Vitalizer, a covered pan specially designed for holding fruits, vegetables or other foods in the automatic refrigerator, is given with every Electrolux sold for use in a private home.

There is no need to hesitate about buying more sleeveless blouses and making as many more yourself, because their usefulness is sure to outlast the summer. During the warmer days of autumn they will be useful under the cloth suit jacket, and in cooler weather they may be worn conveniently under the lightweight Cardigan type of jacket to make a useful indoor costume. Once you have cut out a pattern for a plain slip-on blouse that fits you, there is an almost endless variety to be gained by different arrangement of the collar, and the addition of various sorts of frills and jabot trimmings. The blouse or blouselet shown today was made of fine handkerchief linen—a soft shade of blue to be worn with a dark blue linen suit. Of pale yellow or green, it would be a smart complement to the popular black pique suit. Parallel tucks trim the front and tabs give the becoming neck finish.

ERDMAN MAY START AIR GROUND SCHOOL

Aero Club Chief Pilot Considering Night Classes During Fall and Winter

If the proper interest is shown, "Jim" Erdman, chief pilot for the Burlington County Aero Club, says he will start a ground school in aviation within the next few weeks.

Classes, according to Mr. Erdman's present plans, will be held two evenings a week throughout the fall and winter. The location of the school has not been definitely decided upon, but it is expected that it will be somewhere in Moorestown.

Mr. Erdman, who is well qualified to give instructions, will lecture on motors, airplane construction, theory of flight, navigation, meteorology, and other subjects. He is a Department of Commerce license to qualify. "The enrollment and interest shown in this proposition will determine whether or not these classes are to be started," declared the chief pilot. Mr. Erdman may be reached at the Moorestown Airport.

Little Donald West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. West, of Morgan avenue, returned home Saturday, after enjoying the summer in Ocean Grove. Donald was the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. James Hutchinson.

BRIDGETON TAKES STATE HONORS BY POINT AND A HALF

Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps Nosed Out for Championship

HAS WON TWICE IN FOUR YEARS

Will Go to National Convention to Vie With Nation's Best

The American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps of Post Rodgers, Palmyra, twice winner of State honors, the three years since competitions were inaugurated, was nosed out by Bridgeton for the New Jersey Championship at Wildwood last Saturday.

Palmyra lost by a scant 1.56 points and took third place. The handsomely uniformed East Orange unit placed second with 56 of a point more than the Post Rodgers boys. The scores were as follows: Bridgeton, 97.33; East Orange, 96.33; Palmyra, 95.77.

The Burlington County Corps lost enough points to have won when certain items of equipment took two points from their average. While the men were attired in their new uniforms and marched with their new colors, the color guard had not been supplied with new belts and the fact that their brass buckles did not match the chromium plating of the other equipment scored against them.

To compete at Boston They are very well pleased with the showing made otherwise and maintain high hopes of finishing well up in the running when they go to the National Convention in Boston this fall.

Many residents of Palmyra and Riverton were on hand when the drills were held and praised very highly the work of the Post Rodgers Corps, especially the musical ability of the unit.

The Burlington County Legion Band won second place in the band competition. The crack Hudson County outfit was first.

There were also many comments made in favor of the appearance the Burlington County delegation in the mammoth parade, which is said to have been the biggest ever held in Wildwood. The County Auxiliary also made a fine appearance.

The annual convention of the American Legion Auxiliary was also held at the same time, as was the annual gathering of the Forty and Eight and the Eight and Forty. Election of officers and prize awards were made before the conventions adjourned.

Elect Officers

The new Auxiliary officers follow: Mrs. Thomas J. Hutton, Pompton Lakes, president; Mrs. Emma F. Beach, Freehold, first vice president; Miss Minnie B. Ivins, Beverly, second vice president; Mrs. J. K. Skille, Perth Amboy, third vice president; Mrs. George W. Day, Dunellen, treasurer; Miss Edith Stackhouse, Hightstown, historian; Mrs. John N. Smith, Beverly, chaplain; and Mrs. Maud C. Jones, Hightstown, sergeant-at-arms.

Delegates to the national convention at Boston will be the retiring president, Mrs. J. Iredell Wycoff, of Merchantville; Mrs. Hutton, Miss Beach, Mrs. Day, Miss Ivins, Miss Stackhouse, Mrs. Ralph S. Heaton, of Clifton; Mrs. Carl N. Voecker, Ventnor; Mrs. George Duncan, Bogota; Mrs. C. Richard Allen, Camden; Orange; Mrs. Franklin N. Ritchie, Highland Park, and Mrs. William Perry, Morristown.

The Monmouth County contingent won the two silver cups offered for the quartette and glee club competitions. Membership prizes were won by Essex, Warren, Atlantic, Somerset and Morris Counties.

SCHOOLS NOW OPEN WITH ROOM FOR ALL

Part Time Eliminated as New Term Gets Underway; Space Available for Increase

The Palmyra schools opened Monday with an enrollment of 1,280 in all departments. Ample space is available for all the children and none will be on part time.

According to Supervisor C. F. Deniger a crowded condition will not exist this year, in fact, there are seats not being used in some of the rooms. While the enrollment is expected to increase slightly as the school year gets under way, there will still be enough room.

Several citizens availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the improvements made at the Delaware avenue building Tuesday evening, when the members of the School Board were present and held open house.

The enrollment by schools is as follows: Spring Garden street, primary, 453; Delaware avenue, grammar school, 414; High School, 415.

LIONS' CARD PARTY

The Palmyra-Riverton Lions' Club will hold another one of its delightful card parties in the Lions' Den Monday evening.

As usual, there will be a large assortment of valuable prizes. The number of players will be limited, thus assuring ideal playing conditions.

Don't forget the date, Monday evening, September 15. Playing will start promptly at eight-thirty. Subscription, fifty cents.

BEARDED INDIANS

Most Indians would have a slight to moderate growth of beard and mustache if they allowed the hair to grow. Beards are not wholly unknown among them. Some of the Mexican Indians have full beards. The Quereyas, of Bolivia, wear long straight beards and Chinches of the Upper Ucayali are bearded.

Dominique Prisco Forsakes Promising Career as Dancer to Enter Priesthood

Matriculates at St. Joseph's College, Princeton, as First Step in Preparation for Pastorate in Catholic Church; May be Missionary

As a distinct surprise to his many friends came the news that Dominique Prisco, well known Palmyra dancer, had entered St. Joseph's College, Princeton, as the first step towards preparation for the Priesthood in the Catholic Church.

The news is all the more surprising in view of the fact that Dominique has come a considerable measure of success in what, until recently, he had chosen for his life's work. His dancing has attracted favorable comment from all who have seen his exhibitions locally and from many well known personages in the theatrical world.

Dominique has made several appearances professionally and has danced before some of the most critical audiences in the East. His work in some of the amateur shows in and around Palmyra has been exceptionally fine. He will be remembered for his "Adagio" in the first Lion's Club "show, And How" and again in "Buy U. S. A."

He explains that his decision to enter the Priesthood is not the result of a sudden change of mind but is the result of many months of serious thought. He has considered carefully the sacrifices to be made and is ready to go into his chosen work with the same zeal which has characterized his devotion to his former avocation.

After a course at St. Joseph's, which will take two or three years, Dominique expects to enter St. Vincent's Seminary, Germantown, Should he fall in his ambitions to become a priest he will take up foreign missionary work.

FOUR VETS ELIGIBLE AS MOTOR INSPECTORS

Former Soldiers Win Preferred Ratings in Civil Service Examinations

Four Burlington County men were among the South Jersey eligibles who took the Civil Service examinations for positions as State motor vehicle inspectors at Trenton last week.

Donald A. Shinn, of 437 Locust avenue, Burlington, was among the list of eligibles following the preferred seven which were chosen because of injuries suffered in the World War.

George H. Morrison, Delanco, was the only Burlington County man in the preferred seven. He is a World War veteran with a disability rating.

Edward J. Thompson, Jr., of Bordentown, and William G. Phillips, Jr., of Mount Holly, were in the second list of eligibles. Both are former service men.

Following the entertainment there will be a flower exhibit open to all members of the club. All members are urged to be present with the enthusiasm needed to make the coming year a success.

HOLLY CAR DAMAGED

An auto driven by Alfred J. Muller, Main street, Mount Holly, was considerably damaged in an accident on the Mount Holly pike, near Hartford, Monday evening.

The driver of the other machine that figured in the crash was August Achels, 1711 South Tenth street, Philadelphia.

Moorestown police were called to the scene of the accident, but turned the case over to State Police, as the crash occurred outside of the Township limits. The drivers are to appear before Recorder Joseph W. Johnston in Moorestown Town Hall this Saturday.

YOU, YOUR CAR AND THE MOTOR LAWS
By Harold G. Hoffman
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Editor's Note: The twelfth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is presented by this paper as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

XII.—TURNS.

Motorists would save a lot of inconvenience for themselves and others on the roads if they developed the habit of making right and left turns in accordance with the method outlined by the State traffic law.

The Woodbridge clover-leaf grade separation and the roadpoints, or traffic circles, being constructed at various important intersections throughout the State, with their emphasis on keeping to the right, undoubtedly are developing a turning technique which many motorists heretofore have lacked. But there are thousands of drivers who do not have occasion to travel over these roads and they continue to make unnecessary trouble for themselves and for others by their clumsiness in making right and left turns.

A right turn is simple, if the driver prepares for it by working his way into the extreme right traffic lane before he approaches an intersection. Some motorists may ridicule this suggestion as being elementary. They may insist that the practice is so obviously necessary that it does not warrant re-statement. Let such critics stand at any busy intersection and note the actions of even experienced drivers.

An unbelievably large number will approach an intersection on the extreme left of traffic and then, recklessly swerve or cautiously nose across traffic on their right to make a turn.

And this notwithstanding the express provision of the State traffic law that "the driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection, shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right-hand curb or side of the highway, and in turning shall keep as closely as practicable to the right-hand curb or side of the highway until the turn is completed."

When intending to turn to the left, the law says the driver "shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic to the right of and nearest to the center line of the highway, and in turning left shall pass immediately to the left of the center of the intersection, passing as closely as shall be practicable to the left of the center of the intersection."

Here it may be appropriate to voice a word of warning against the all too prevalent practice of cutting corners, which means turning sharply along the left curb. Especially is this hazardous at blind corners, where the approach of another car on the intersecting street may cause a serious collision. By obeying the law and turning from the left of the center of the intersection, and precisely at that point, clear vision down the intersecting street is obtainable.

It should be understood that the law gives local authorities, in their respective jurisdiction, authority to modify these methods of turning or of forbidding turns altogether, by clearly indicating by buttons, markers or other direction signs, within an intersection, the course to be followed by vehicles. But in the absence of such special directions, the motorist is bound by the provisions of the State traffic act.

Before we end this discussion of turns, it may not be amiss to repeat the gist of an earlier article in this series. Never make a turn without giving drivers behind adequate warning of your intention. An adequate warning can be given only by the hand and arm, extended well out from the car. For a left turn point with the index finger to the left. For a right turn make a sweeping motion from the rear to the front to indicate to drivers behind that they may pass to the left.

SEES IMPROVEMENT IN MOTOR BUSINESS

Definite Sign of Immediate Climax Noted by Chevrolet Motor Co.

Definite signs of immediate improvement in the low priced automotive field were noted by J. C. Chick, assistant general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, during a recent field survey which brought him into contact with every major marketing area East of the Mississippi.

Sales are picking up. Stocks are in satisfactory shape. And the relation of new to used car stocks is in decidedly better proportion than in 1929.

"Perhaps the most noteworthy sign, however, is the confident attitude voiced by business leaders I spoke with during the trip," Mr. Chick said. "Merchants, bankers, professional men everywhere seem to feel sure of an improved Fall and Winter, and such opinions are a reflection of the attitude of that part of the public which those men deal with. If, as has been said repeatedly, the recession this year was mainly psychological, then we may expect an early return of new record months for the public is looking to the future with confidence, where a few months ago it looked with a certain amount of hesitancy."

MAIN STREET LOOKS AT BROADWAY

BY ERNEST CAMP JR.

Three short blocks from the glitter of Broadway, sprawling like some slightly monster beside the Hudson River, extends the gray squalor of New York's tenement district.

This is a side of the city that few outsiders know. To most persons living in small towns—and I was one of them—New York is the symbol of wealth and ultra-modern luxury.

True, it is a city of spectacular wealth. But it is also one of spectacular poverty. The jewels and perfume of Fifth Avenue are but a block away from the unshaven faces, the garbage cans and prowling cats of Sixth Avenue.

A city of startling contrasts

Amid these tenements is human drama that only a Dickens could picture. The current drive against violators of the tenement house law has shocked the author of "Oliver Twist."

Housing inspectors found eighty persons living in three rooms, only one of which had a window. Fifteen such families live in this building. And there are no bathtubs—none in the entire neighborhood. Some houses have running water. Others do not.

In another house, which had no lights, five families living on the same floor use the same bathroom, containing no bathtub.

"There doesn't seem to be any water," the inspector commented to the janitor.

The janitor laughed. "There isn't any water because there aren't any pipes."

"What happened to them?" "Stole 'em. If the tenants didn't cut them out and sell them, prowlers did. Same way with the light bulbs."

One house boasts a small flower garden, gay with sun flowers and nasturtiums. . . banners of defiance against a sullen world.

But it grows in buckets and tin cans perched upon a fire escape.

In case of fire it would cut off the exit of more than a hundred persons. It must come down, the inspectors ordered.

Not far away, in a tiny room, sits a man with three convictions against him. The next conviction means life imprisonment. Soon, on the dark, narrow stairs that lead to his hiding place, there will appear a man wearing a badge. Things may happen. They may not. For the tenement inspectors, it's all in the day's work.

Sam Grossman had an idea—a plan for pepping up a certain radio program. Time and again he presented the scheme to the station manager. Each time he received encouragement, but no definite offer of purchase.

A few days ago he had another appointment—the sixth in two weeks. Up to the fifteenth floor he went. Then down the corridor to the door. But this time, somehow, he couldn't force himself to go in. . . . Maybe this would be like so many other trips.

He wandered down the hall. Up the stairs. And to the sixteenth floor. It isn't worth while, he decided. Then he threw himself down a window. On the floor below, the station manager waited—and waited. Grossman's contract lay on the table, ready for signing. He couldn't understand where Grossman was. He had always been so prompt before, so eager to go ahead with the deal.

A Gentleman of Color, with several of his dusky friends, was preparing for a Sunday joy ride.

Their ancient auto creaked up to a filling station. Out popped the driver.

"Ah wants some gasoline," he said, with a grandiose air.

There was a delay of several minutes, punctuated by sounds of wrangling between the driver and the station proprietor. Finally, one of the girls in the car poked her head out to see what was the matter. She was just in time to hear her choicest Lochinvar exclaim:

"Aw, put in a whole gallon, then!"

Roadside sign: "Where will you spend eternity?"

What a subject for hot weather!

BRIDE SINGS AND GROOM LEADS BAND

Maple Shade Singer and Band Leader Furnish Music at Own Wedding

It was a musical marriage which united Miss Margaret Freness and David W. Paterson in the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, at Maple Shade, on Wednesday of last week.

The bride sang, the bridegroom led the band and a string trio played in between times.

Miss Freness was a member of the Philadelphia Opera Company and took a leading part in the Sesqui-Centennial spectacle, "Freedom." Her husband also had a part in the latter production and now is director of music at the State Colony at New Lisbon.

The band from the colony serenaded the couple at a reception. Selections were played by the Philadelphia Trio, composed of members of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

JEREMIAH—THE PROPHET OF INDIVIDUAL RELIGION

Jeremiah 1:4-10; 31:27-34

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Jeremiah wrought through the reigns of four kings: Josiah, Jehoiachin, Jehoiachin and Zedekiah, at which time Jerusalem was taken captive in 586 B.C. Throughout all his ministry this prophet sought to stop the people in their entrenched sins. When this could not be accomplished golden promises were given for the future, although the nation was about to begin their seventy years of Babylonian captivity.

Getting started right and as early as possible is of vast importance. Jeremiah had much to be thankful for in his home associations. He, like Timothy, was brought up in the midst of God-fearing surroundings. At about the age of 23 he understood that the Lord was calling him to definite service as a prophet and should speak forth divine messages to a sinning people. The modesty of the youth is apparent as he calls himself only a child in wisdom. Boldness in work, however, is manifested as soon as he is assured that he is to be an ambassador for Jehovah in dealing with both kings and people. He believes that the God who calls will adequately equip for the required service.

Trying to excuse self when in the wrong is not a new attitude in life. It had become quite the custom then to lay the blame for the present on the doings of the past. This was often expressed by saying "The fathers have eaten a sour grape and the children's teeth are set on the edge." This is just another way of blaming heredity and environment for all of our present situation. A new psychology, or way of thinking, was called for. Jeremiah made it clear that God was not dealing with the people as a group, but that everyone was individually responsible unto Him. This great principle is further enlarged in the New Testament. Paul, in our Golden Text, stated: "Each one of us shall give an account of himself unto God." Romans 14:12.

This fact gives a new incentive in living. We may be handicapped by the past but not bound down by it. No matter how bad present conditions may be there can be a worthwhile future. Jeremiah boldly presents this fact by his wonderful sweep of prophecies. He is addressing a people about to be taken captives and will tell them that in time they will return to their beloved Jerusalem as a center, and that the nation still has a glorious history as their heritage. The horizon for blessings is still further enlarged as the world is looked upon as a vast neighborhood with Jehovah as the one loving father. Jeremiah looks out upon progress down the ages from the viewpoint of the Almighty. In that day they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord. Divine favor is extended to this world-wide family of God for He will forgive their iniquity and remember their sin no more. Such hopes enable us to be steadfast today and enlarge our efforts in righteousness tomorrow.

TRANSPLANTING EVERGREENS

By A. C. McLean, N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Early fall is one of the best times for transplanting such evergreen trees as spruces, pines and cedars. These trees have now completed their season's growth and the terminal buds or the branches could be broken.

Any time from September until the first of November is a good time to move these trees. They should not be moved later than November 1 because of the danger of winter killing. In moving these trees it is essential to include with them a ball of earth about the roots, which never should be allowed to become dry. If the evergreen are transplanted rather early this fall, new roots will become established in the soil, making it possible for the plants to obtain all the water it needs. Lack of water, not cold weather, is the principal cause of the winter-killing of evergreens. Water the evergreens well when setting them out, and mulch with some such loose material as straw, leaves, grass, or peat moss to hold the soil's moisture.

Do not cut back evergreens when transplanting. With heavy and some of the broad-leaved evergreens, however, it is advisable to remove the leaves as a means of stopping the evaporation of water from the plant. Fall-planted evergreens start early in spring and make a better growth than those transplanted the following spring.

SET PEONIES NOW

By A. C. McLean, N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

September is one of the best months of the year for dividing and setting out peonies. When the plants are set out during the month there is sufficient time for new roots to become established before the weather turns cold. The top growth, which is now ripe, should be cut off before the peonies are transplanted.

When setting out peonies, divide them so as to leave three to five eyes on each piece. Dividing the peonies into smaller pieces is inadvisable, because there will not be enough roots to make a good growth and plants produced from such roots will be weak. Set the eyes about two and one-half inches under the surface of the ground.

Make the soil fairly rich, but do not use fresh manure. A little lime will help, because peonies like a fairly neutral soil. They prefer the heavier type of soil to the lighter ones. When properly mulched and fed, however, good peonies can be grown on very light, sandy soils. Newly planted peonies should be mulched over winter to hold the moisture in the soil, and to keep the soil from heaving.

In buying peonies, select the colors you like from among any of the varieties that are rated over eight by the American Peony Society. Those rated lower are not the better varieties and are only used for special purposes. Good, large divisions planted in the early fall should give a limited amount of bloom next spring, and then a profusion of bloom the following year. When peonies are transplanted in the spring they usually grow poorly the following year and generally give unsatisfactory results.

BANANAS

Baked Bananas

Arrange bananas in a shallow pan, cover and bake until skins become very dark in color. Remove from skins and serve hot, sprinkled with sugar.

Banana Fritters

Three bananas, one cup flour, one and a half teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar, quarter teaspoon salt, one-third cup milk, one teaspoon lemon juice, one egg. Mash the bananas fine, mix the flour and seasonings, combine with the bananas, alternating with milk; add lemon juice, and lastly the egg, beaten light. Drop by spoonful into deep fat and fry. Drain on paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Bananas in a Casserole

Peel five or six bananas; scrape off the coarse threads, and cut the bananas in halves, crosswise. Put these into a casserole. Melt a small glass of currant jelly in a cup of boiling water and pour over them the juice of half a lemon; cover the dish, and let cook in a moderate oven about half an hour.

WARM WEATHER WARNINGS

Ice-cold water is a tempting beverage during the heated season; not only that, but every possible dainty in iced dishes keeps our youngsters busy devouring all they are able to pay for. From tens of thousands of counters, ice cream in endless variety of combinations, is dispensed, and too often is swallowed as fast as the husky master or maid can get it down.

This would all be very well—if something serious didn't result; not in every instance, of course, but now and then. And, it's tough for the victim when it happens; which makes this word of caution timely.

A very excellent New York surgeon told me some time ago that cases of appendicitis were five times as frequent in August as in December. He attributed the fact to the wholesale eating and drinking of ice-cold foods and beverages during the hot months.

He was operating on a fifteen-year-old girl at the time he spoke to a post-graduate class. "This little lady," he said, "doubtless frequents cold-drink stands and drug-store fountains Sunday afternoons and every evening in the week; she has probably averaged five to fifteen ice-cold dishes or drinks at each visit to the resorts."

"No, the beverages are not impure; you couldn't find a germ in any of

HEATING PLANT PUZZLES BOARD

Riverton Board of Education Will Try to Make It Last;
New Building Is Up

"Will the heating plant in the Riverton Public School survive two more winters?"

This is the problem which confronted the members of the Board of Education last Monday night.

For some time the School Board has been quietly considering the erection of a new building, and with this possibility in view, it was decided last spring to try to get along with the present heating system rather than go to the expense of installing a new one in a building which might soon be discarded.

George D. Steele, chairman of the Building Committee, said he believed it would be at least two years before it would be possible to occupy a new building even if the voters approved of its erection. He pointed out that it would first be necessary to purchase the land, in the sale of which a number of heirs are to be considered.

Many Delays Seen

Then an architect must prepare plans and an estimate of the cost of erecting the building, to be submitted to the voters at a special election. Following this the land must be actually purchased, and bids for the erection of the building advertised for. Should the bids exceed the amount authorized by the special election, a delay of several months may result, Mr. Steele pointed out.

What, then, to do about the heating plant, which, it is claimed has never been satisfactory? Some thought was given to installing an auxiliary plant to heat the northern portion of the building but Mr. Steele finally said he believed that by employing a night fireman it would be possible to heat the building satisfactorily with the present plant, and it was decided to try this plan.

Mr. Steele also reported that the improvements to the interior of the building authorized in the spring had been completed, including the new shades, which were installed by D. M. Clifton.

Mr. Cooper's Report

E. Newbold Cooper, the new supervising principal, submitted his report, which was in part as follows:

A conference of the school physician and the school nurses has been held with the result that much the same plan as was used last year will be followed. Dr. Rogers started his examinations today and wishes to have them finished in about two weeks.

It is hoped that the nurses may be able to get in closer touch with

K. of C. CARD PARTY

Everything Set for Big Time Friday Night of This Week

The season's first big card party to be given by St. Joseph's Council, K. of C. of Palmyra and Riverton, Friday night, September 19, is "going over" in grand style.

Tickets sold to date and the fine prizes that are now in the hall are indications of a full house on Friday. New cards will be used at every table and a group of experienced tally clerks will keep the scores.

Before and after "card time" skills will keep everyone entertained, and suitable prizes will go to the winners. Anybody can play "Skills."

Admission is 50 cents, wardrobe free. Everyone is welcome to enjoy a good game of cards in the cool, comfortable K. of C. Hall.

MORE TUITION PUPILS AT PALMYRA HIGH

Seventy-three tuition pupils entered the first year class of the Palmyra High School this year to ally all fear that there was a "dwindling" from this source would be deeply cut.

All together there are 211 tuition pupils in the High School this year, six more than last; 83 come from Riverton and 53 from Cinnaminson Township.

A significant feature is the fact that ten have entered the Freshman class from Delanco, where the students have the option of entering either Riverside, which is only a mile away, or Burlington, which is also closer than Palmyra.

The Delanco Board has not adopted Riverside as its official high school but allows students the option of attending there if they wish. Next year it is expected to be officially designated by the Board.

RARE PLANT BLOOMS AT W. R. VAUGHN HOME

Unusual Variety of Flower Blossoms
But Once a Year and Only at Night

A night blooming cereus of rare variety blossomed Monday night at the home of W. R. Vaughn, 8 Broad street, Riverton.

The plant has the unusual feature of blooming but once a year. The flower bursts into full glory about midnight, but withers and dies before daylight. The fragile plant has a blood red stem on which the snow white flower, closely resembling a lily, is attached. The delicate plant had a banner year, producing two blooms. There is usually but a single flower on plants of this variety.

Several of Vaughn's neighbors were on hand to see the rare specimen in full blossom.

Program

Tonight Post Rodgers, American Legion, will hold open house for its friends and members of the Auxiliary on the occasion of the great Victor-NBC-American Legion broadcast.

The program will open at ten o'clock and continue for an hour and a half, during which time such national figures as President Hoover, Esquire, Coolidge, Clegg, Pershing and former Governor of New York, Alfred E. Smith, will speak.

B. L. Bodenhamer, National Commander of the American Legion, and the Governors of Ten States will also have a part in the program. A gallery of world famous artists will present a musical entertainment such as has never been equaled since broadcast.

A Victor radio of the very latest type has been installed in the Legion Home by W. T. McAllister and will be used for the program. According to Mr. McAllister this machine is the finest ever produced by the Victor organization and will give a clear and lifelike reproduction of the voices and music which will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting chain from various parts of the country.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to hear this wonderful program to be present at the Legion Home tonight.

Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps will compete with twenty corps at Olney Saturday for a first prize of $400. The drill to be used at the National Convention in Boston will be executed for the first time by the Post Rodgers boys.

Weekly Shoot at Riverton

A large group of policemen participated in the weekly target practice, with revolvers, held at the old gas house on Main street, Riverton, last Saturday.

That "practice makes perfect" is being shown here by the marksmanship improvement on the part of several of the officers and citizens.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD

There will be an all-day sewing by the Needlework Guild at the Porch Club next Wednesday, September 24, starting at 10 o'clock. Any wishing the 25-cent luncheon, please call Riverton 329. Everybody welcome.

FORMER MARSHAL FINED FOR TIPS AUTO DRIVING

Thomas R. Finley, of Union street, Mount Holly, a former U. S. marshal, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of liquor Sunday, after colliding with a parked car belonging to C. Edgar Alcott, of Mount Holly. Finley was convicted before Recorder Kingston, and a fine of $200 and $21 costs was imposed. His license was revoked for two years. At the hearing Finley admitted he had been drinking "home brew."

BETSY ROSS FLAG

It is difficult to get positive evidence of the first flag made by Betsy Ross and some historians regard it as purely traditional. The flag she made is not preserved in any museum. It is true that she was a flagmaker in Philadelphia at the time the flag was officially adopted and that she was commissioned at various times to make flags for the government.

LEGION AUXILIARY PLANS ACTIVITIES

Officers Installed by County President at Meeting
Last Night

At the regular monthly meeting of the local Unit, No. 156, of the American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary, held in the Legion Home last night, the new officers for the coming year were installed by the County president Mrs. Mabel Shinn, of Burlington.

The new officers are as follows: Mrs. Charles S. King, president, who being ill and unable to attend was installed by proxy; Mrs. Maurice Sandoe, first vice-president; Mrs. George Luce, second vice-president; Mrs. George Weigand, secretary; Miss Mary Frisco, treasurer; Mrs. Stanley Lippincott, chaplain; Mrs. Alfred Lippincott, historian; Advisory Council, Mrs. James T. Weart, Mrs. Harold Marshall and Mrs. Theodore D'Aurechy.

The coming fall and winter are expected to be seasons of increased activity and all members hope for this to be the most successful year in the organization's history.

Reports of delegates to the State Convention held in Wildwood early this month were very interesting and show the work of the Auxiliary is becoming more important and more necessary each day. The work done along the lines of rehabilitation and child welfare is wonderful.

No one has any idea of the value and far-reaching benefits of this work until the reports are read and studied. Burlington County is in the lead in this work and the local Unit is setting the pace for the County. It is a source of pride to know that the local Unit is doing such worth while work on such a large scale.

The Auxiliary has been invited to join the Post in listening in this evening at the Legion Home, when the American Legion program is broadcast. This promises to be a splendid program.

A County meeting will be held in Riverside tomorrow evening. Due to the proximity of the meeting place, a large number of the local members are expected to attend this meeting, which will be both interesting and instructive.

CINNAMINSON P. T. A.

The executive committee of the P. T. A. held an interesting meeting Wednesday, the 10th, when the program committee offered a carefully prepared schedule for the coming year's work.

The boys in the printing shop are setting this up, and on completion the drive for membership will begin.

All of the beginning class have been given the Binet-Simon Tests, every one passing satisfactory, which is most gratifying both to parents and teacher. The guests of the members of the Garden Club, formed last Spring, are to be visited and judged very soon, and the prizes awarded at the evening meeting when Dr. Brockmarter, of the University of Penn., is expected to be the speaker.

IN BRIDGE CRASH

Two of Coward Family Injured When Car is Hit by Truck

Robert D. Coward and Mrs. McKell, son and married daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Coward, of 400 Lippincott avenue, Riverton, probably escaped death by a narrow margin on the Camden bridge at Camden early Tuesday evening, when their car was struck by a truck driven by four colored men.

The truck drivers, it is said, attempting to pass another car on the bridge went into the wrong traffic lane, hit another car and then careened off into the Coward machine.

Both the occupants of the Coward machine were taken to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, where it was found that Mrs. McKell had suffered a broken arm, several broken ribs, scalp wounds and possibly other injuries.

"Bob" Coward as he is known locally, suffered severe cuts and bruises and was later brought to his home in the Palmyra ambulance.

The Cowards have a host of friends in this vicinity who hope for the speedy recovery of both. Mrs. McKell is from Chillicothe, Ohio, and was visiting her parents at the time of the accident.

STAG PINOCCHLE

The first of a series of Stag Pinocchle will be held next Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Knights of the Golden Eagle at Society Hall, Palmyra. A grand prize will be offered for the winner of the series.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement, especially those who sent cars and flowers to the funeral.

PLAN TO REBUILD PENSAUKEN BRIDGE

Burlington County Freeholders to Cooperate With Camden; Buses
Now Forced to Detour

At the meeting of the Burlington County Board of Freeholders last Friday, the Director of Bridges, James McCormick, and the County Engineer, H. R. Smith, were directed to cooperate with Camden county in the reconstruction of the bridge over the Pensauken Creek on the River road in West Palmyra.

The bridge is to be rebuilt to accommodate loads up to twenty tons. For some time this bridge has been condemned as unsafe for heavy trucks with the result that buses from the Riverton towns have been forced to detour to the Burlington Pike from Palmyra, returning to the River road at Delair. This detour adds ten minutes to the trip and has been quite annoying to commuters.

Just how soon the two counties will be able to get started on repairing the bridge is not yet known.

B. F. HALLOWELL NEW LEGION HEAD

Maple Shade Man Elected County Commander at Burlington Meeting

B. Frank Hallowell, of Abram-Montz Post, American Legion, Maple Shade, was elected County Commander of the American Legion at the meeting of the Burlington County Committee in the Memorial Hall, Burlington, last Friday evening. He succeeds W. B. T. Collett, of Burlington.

At the same time Charles Gallagher, one of the organizers of the Willits-Hogan Post, of Roebing, was elected Vice Commander and Anthony Lett, of the Riverton Post, of Bordentown, was selected Finance Officer.

The adjutant and the various committee chairmen will be appointed by the new commander.

Following the meeting the entire committee was entertained at a luncheon by the retiring commander, W. B. T. Collett, at his home on Conover street, Burlington.

The past year, under the leadership of Commander Collett has been one of the most successful in the history of the county organization and he was congratulated for his untiring efforts by the entire unit.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the October meeting by State Vice Commander, G. Richard Allen, of Camden.

PENNINGTON HEAD AT MENS' CLUB

Will Speak at Annual Banquet of Christ Church Organization

Members of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, do not want to forget next Monday evening, on which the annual banquet, opening the season's activities, will be held at 7 o'clock in the parish house.

Prominent among the speakers secured for this occasion will be Dr. Francis Harvel Green, headmaster of Pennington School for Boys. Any one who has heard Dr. Green speak realizes an evening of enjoyment is in store for them.

In addition there will be several other speakers, and as a surprise there will be a musical feature none can afford to miss.

The ladies of the St. Agnes Guild have arranged an excellent banquet, and altogether the occasion promises to rival previous banquets.

Members are urged to return their invitations at the earliest possible moment so the committee will know how many to prepare for.

LUNCHEON DATE CHANGED

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the I. O. O. F. have changed their luncheon O. F. from the fourth Tuesday to the fourth Wednesday of each month. The first of the season will be at the home of Mrs. William Crouch, 106 Seventh street, Riverton, Wednesday, September 24. The annual "doggie roast" will be Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schriener's farm, Beverly, Saturday, September 27. Meet at Palmyra station at three o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all Odd Fellows and their families.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE TO LAY CORNER STONE

Unless there is a change of date necessitated, the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple being erected on Garden street for Mount Holly Lodge of Masons, will be laid with impressive Masonic ceremonies on Saturday afternoon, October 11, and the exercises will be in charge of the Grand Lodge officers.

L. G. E. DANCE

The Ladies of the Golden Eagle will give a dance in Society Hall, Palmyra, Thursday evening, October 2. A door prize of $2.50 in gold will be given and a prize will be offered for the old fashioned "waiter." There will be three special features during the intermission. Music will be furnished by the Original Commanders. Donation, fifty cents.—Adv.

FREEHOLDERS O. K. BOND ISSUE PLAN

All Speakers Favor $100,000,000
Program at Bridgeton Meeting

At the meeting of the New Jersey State Association of Freeholders at the Cohamick Club, Bridgeton, last week every speaker urged the proposal of the $100,000,000 road bond issue at the general election.

As every County in the State was not represented at the meeting action on the bond issue was deferred until the next meeting, October 13, at Jersey City.

Former State Senator Firman M. Reeves, State Highway Commissioner, replied to a radio speech made by State Senator Emerson L. Richards attacking the proposed bond issue, the State Highway Commission and Mayor Frank Hague, Jersey City, Democratic leader of the State.

Reeves said Legislature appropriates the money spent by the Highway Commission and passes laws governing its actions. He urged approval of the bond issue, declaring the Highway Commission's program for improved roads could be completed within five years.

Charles R. Stout, Burlington County, former State president of the association, urged the approval of the bond issue.

Roscoe Ward, counsel for the Cumberland County Board, which was host to the State Association, said his County would follow the lead of Reeves and approve the bond issue.

Walter R. Darby, State Commissioner of Municipal Accounts, also favored the huge issue.

In his radio speech Richards said Hague claimed taxpayers would profit from the bond issue, because the direct tax for State institutions would be eliminated if the bonds were approved.

Senator Richards said there would be an increase of a cent in the poll tax under the bond issue and that this would more than offset the saving, because the motorists are part of the taxing public.

The Atlantic Senator declared the increased tax would result in a loss of $18,000,000 in five years under the figures of the accounts engaged by the Highway Commission.

Mayor Hague, according to Mr. Richards' statement, predicts a saving of $880,000 to the people of Hudson through the elimination of the poll tax for institutions. If the bond program is adopted, Richards sees the motorists of Hudson paying a big gas tax, which will cut the saving to $118,000.

The bond issue money is to be divided so that $10,000,000 is to go for the construction of a new State institution, and this is to be in lieu of the direct tax for this purpose, which has been levied for some years. The sum of $83,000,000 is to be devoted to highway projects and the remaining $7,000,000 to the State Water Policy Commission for the acquiring of water supply sources.

MISS IVINS DELEGATE

Beverly Woman Will Attend National Convention at Boston

Miss Minnie Ivins, of Beverly, will be one of the delegates to the national convention of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held in Boston next month.

Miss Ivins was made second vice president of the state auxiliary at the state convention held a week ago at Wildwood. She and the other state officers will be installed following the national convention.

The new officers and Mrs. J. Iredell Wyckoff, of Morelandville, are delegates to the Boston session.

The new state officers are: Mrs. Thomas J. Hutton, Pompton Lake, president; Mrs. Emma Florence Beach, Freehold, first vice president; Miss Minnie Ivins, Beverly, second vice president; Mrs. J. K. Sault, South Amboy, third vice president; Mrs. George W. Day, Dunellen, treasurer; Miss Edith Stackhouse, historian; Mrs. John W. Smith, Beverly, chaplain, and Mrs. Maude C. Jones, Hightstown, sergeant-at-arms.

The official delegates are: Mrs. Wyckoff, of Morelandville, Mrs. W. C. Hutton, Miss Beach, Miss Ivins, Camden county president; Mrs. Ralph S. Heaton, Cloister; Mrs. Carl M. Boelker, Red Bank; Mrs. George Duncan, Bonata; Mrs. Howard Grosvenor, East Orange; Mrs. Franklin Ritchie, Highland Park; Mrs. W. Grossman, West New York; Mrs. William Perry, Madison, and Miss Stackhouse.

CAR STRIKES CYCLIST

George Blake, colored, residing at 108 Pear street, East Riverton, was struck last Thursday while riding his bicycle at the intersection of Broad street and Thomas avenue, Riverton, by a car driven by E. A. Witte, of 428 Thomas avenue, Riverton. Blake was taken to the office of Dr. Harry L. Rogers by Chief of Police Quigley where it was found that he had suffered a bruised right leg and arm. No arrests were made.

MAN'S NECK BROKEN WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Antonio Sabca, Moorestown, Dead as Result of Accident; Troopers
Nab Driver

Antonio Sabca, 50, of Moorestown, is dead in Cooper Hospital as the result of being hit by an automobile on the State Highway near Fellowship Tuesday night.

He was walking along the side of the road, on his way to work, when a car driven by Benjamin Antrim, 17, of 104 West Maple avenue, Merchantville, knocked him to the pavement and ran over him. He died from a broken neck.

Antrim was arrested by State Troopers Rohmer and Turnbull, of the Delanco Barracks, on a charge of manslaughter. He was released in his recognizance for his appearance today (Wednesday) before Judge Howard Eastwood at Mount Holly.

CAMDEN EVENT ON AIR FRIDAY

City to be Dedicated as the Radio Center of World

Outstanding business men and government officials will vie with a group of internationally known vocalists and musicians in a salute to radio for solving the unemployment problem at Camden during an hour's program through the combined National Broadcasting Company networks Friday night, September 19.

The program, originating in Camden, will climax a holiday declared by the Mayor in celebration of the dedication of the concentration of the activities of the RCA Victor Company there. Thousands of people have been given employment as the result of this concentration, which places the full resources of the organization, including manufacturing, engineering and research, in Camden.

Short speeches by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, A. E. Robertson, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, E. E. Shumaker, president of the RCA Victor Company; Senator David Baird, of New Jersey, and Governor Morgan P. Larson, of New Jersey, will be interspersed with a musical and vocal program, featuring famous radio and recording talent.

Graham McNamee, best known of all announcers, will introduce those taking part in the program, which will begin at 10:00 o'clock Eastern Daylight Time.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Nathaniel Shilkret and his twenty-four-piece Victor Salon Orchestra. Vocalists who will be heard include Richard Crooks, concert tenor, and Frank Crumit, Victor recording artist.

The program, to be called "The Dedication of Camden As the Radio Center of the World," will be broadcast from the main ball room of the Wald Whittman Hotel during a dinner celebrating the occasion.

Engineers of NBC are expected to spend several days installing special equipment for the broadcast.

The Camden celebration was declared by the Mayor to commemorate the transfer of the RCA sales activities, the engineering products division and the RCA export division, which places all resources of the RCA Victor Company, including manufacturing, engineering and research, in Camden.

Friday night's program marks the fulfillment of a back-to-work movement inaugurated by the company several months ago. In his radio talk Shumaker is expected to point out that other manufacturing concerns, encouraged by this start, are preparing to follow in the radio organization's footsteps in the spread of renewed prosperity.

Both WEAF and WJZ, New York, will be linked with the extensive NBC network broadcasting the Camden program.

DR. HENDERSON ON N. J. DENTAL BOARD

Governor Larson Appoints Moorestown Man to Registration and Examining Body

Dr. Clarence L. Henderson, of East Main street, Moorestown, has been named a member of the State Board of Registration and Examination in Dentistry of New Jersey.

Dr. Henderson's appointment to this important state board, which has eight members, was made by Governor Morgan P. Larson, effective September 1, for a term of three years. The chief duty of the board is to examine dental school graduates who seek a license to practice in this state.

Dr. Henderson, who is a graduate of Philadelphia Dental College, is a past president of the Moorestown Rotary Club and takes an active part in other civic work.

MRS. ELIZABETH L. BESWICK

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Beswick, seventy-one years old, widow of the late John L. Beswick, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Vogt, of 1067 Garfield avenue, Palmyra, last Friday night. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. George Lockett, of the Central Baptist Church, Palmyra, officiating. Interment was made in Morgan cemetery, under the direction of Frank A. Snover.

ACTION TAKEN ON SEWER RENTALS

Riverton Borough Sewer Committee Authorized to Disconnect Delinquents

Evidently tired of trifling with Palmyra residents who owe rental for using the Elm avenue sewer, and who pay no attention to bills and requests for settlement, the Riverton Borough Council last Thursday night passed the following resolution.

"In view of the delinquency of a number of Palmyra residents in paying the Borough of Riverton sewer rents during the past several years, and their neglect to pay any attention to bills rendered for this service, be it hereby.

"Resolved, That the sewer committee of the Borough of Riverton be authorized, in accordance with the terms of the agreements now on file with the borough clerk, to disconnect these sewers from said premises if said bills remain unpaid thirty days from this date."

The collector has been trying for several months to get these accounts paid without success.

The Zoning Ordinance came up for final action and was unanimously passed.

Mr. Williams Present

Edward R. Williams, former member of Council, was present "in person" to express his appreciation of the gift presented by Council upon his retirement. He said it had been a pleasure to serve the Borough as a member of its governing body, and that he still had the interest of the town just as much at heart as when he occupied a desk around the table.

He expressed the hope that Council would do something to redeem the river bank, once Riverton's crowning glory.

Mayor Howard M. Rogers replied to Mr. Williams and assured him that the river bank was one of the problems which was uppermost in the minds of the borough fathers, and expressed his appreciation of Mr. Williams' past services and present interest in borough matters.

AID NEW DRIVERS, URGES HOFFMAN

Give Beginners a "Break" When They're Driving in Traffic

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Do you remember when you were a new driver, when traffic seemed a puzzling mix-up with cars darting out from all directions and a hundred and one points about the machine and the traffic regulations to remember?

Perhaps that was long ago, but memory is not so unresponsive that the recollection will be entirely dimmed by the passing years. The first time you stalled your motor at a busy intersection, the first skid, that first experience with tire changing or running out of gas, all come back to make you feel like a veteran.

Those first few months had their trials and you appreciated any consideration shown by those civil folk who could go scurrying through traffic. As a new driver, you probably were a bit timorous and sensitive to the motorists who sounded their horns when the engine stopped and traffic piled up behind your car.

They may be experiences that preferably might be forgotten, but it is well to keep a few of them in mind the next time you meet one of those newer drivers who are doing the very same things today. There are many ways in which one can be helpful in assisting the tyro to become the experienced veteran, and there is no better way than to give him a "break" while driving in traffic seems so very complex.

One case in point comes to mind. Not so very long ago I was driving on one of New Jersey's main highways. A woman was at the wheel of the car ahead of me, and as another machine "cut in" ahead the whole line was brought to a sudden halt. She stalled her motor and several drivers in the procession immediately sounded and startled their horns.

Being new at the game, she did what anyone in the same position would do, found it hard to think as quickly as the situation demanded. But she got started and it occurred to me then that this was a good way to discourage.

There are thousands of persons on our highways each year who are learning to drive. Last year the number of new licenses issued in New Jersey was 129,164, sizeable addition to the vast motoring clan. However, it is not a case of just adding so many drivers each year. It is motorist's task to assimilate this new blood, and to do this they must be started right.

Be Correct Evils

The man who is new to the task of driving has it within his power to correct many of our traffic evils. The veteran is apt to become careless. He has been "through the mill," and unthinkingly slips into the habit of feeling that there is nothing new under the sun in motoring experiences for him.

The new driver necessarily takes a different viewpoint. Everything is a novel experience, and he has the advantage, even though he may not think of it in that way, of having had to learn under more exacting conditions. With traffic so much heavier than it was a decade ago, with cars giving greater usage, and people generally more "traffic conscious," the man or woman who serves an apprenticeship nowadays receives intensive training.

The best advice to the new driver is not to ape the veteran. Emulate his good qualities, but don't take it for granted that everything he does is right. Mistakes may have become a habit with him, and his disregard of right of way, blind intersections and speed limits are just so many factors in our "traffic problem."

SCOTCH BURR FOOLS PHILADELPHIA POLICE

Accent of State Trooper Turnbull Leads to False Arrest as Drunken Driver

State Trooper William A. Turnbull, of the Delaware River, received some very unfavorable publicity last week when both Camden and Philadelphia newspapers published an account of an accident in Philadelphia in which he was a participant. On being taken to the police station at Front and Westmoreland streets, Turnbull was pronounced drunk, according to newspaper reports, by Police Surgeon Dr. Edward J. Gianglossi.

Upon investigation, the reports were proven to be false, the police medic declaring that Turnbull had been sober and that there was not the slightest trace of alcohol about his breath. When Turnbull was examined in New Jersey the same verdict was reached by the examining physician.

It is believed that the broad Scotch accent natural to Turnbull led the Philadelphia police to believe that the Trooper's speech was affected by intoxicants and thus led to the erroneous statement. Such a report, if true, would be ruinous to the morale and good name which the New Jersey Police have established for themselves.

The arrest followed an accident at Eighth and Westmoreland streets between a car which Turnbull was driving and a machine driven by George Lotwick, of Philadelphia, N. J. Riding with Lotwick were his son, Edward, 24 years old; Alice Jones, 17 years old, who lives at the Lotwick home, and Mary Brostich, 20 years old, of 347 Merchant street, Philadelphia. All were treated for cuts and bruises at the Episcopal Hospital.

O. C. Herrin, American sailor, dived overboard in full uniform and saved the life of a drowning French stevedore at Cherbourg.

Rodeo Continues at Philadelphia Stadium

The World Series Rodeo, now running at the Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia, has caught the fancy of amusement lovers in the City of Brotherly Love and its environs.

The rodeo opened Wednesday, September 10, to a big audience, and attendance has been increasing, indicating that by the time the finals are run off in the cowboy contests on Saturday night, September 20, the great Stadium will be taxed to its capacity.

The rodeo has provided a new thrill for those who love outdoor sport spectacles. It has all the quick thrills of boxing, the tense interest of a good game of baseball, and calls for more skillful riding than polo. In addition, the rodeo has had the life and color of the Wild West show. The contestants, in their best hats and high-heeled boots and generally picturesque cowboy attire, are the "top hands" of the cowboy world and they put on a real show for the reason that they are out to get their share of thousands of dollars in cash prizes that have been put up for the winners.

GIRLS NEED AID ON PROSPECTIVE JOBS

Should Have Advice Regarding What To Expect From Position

"Girls need more help and advice regarding kinds of jobs available and what to expect from a job," was the agreement reached by twenty business and professional girls at the weekend camping trip arranged by the Y. W. C. A. at Camp Darkwater, near Medford, September 13 and 14.

In these days of increasing mechanization and specialization we must not expect full satisfactions from our jobs. Our leaders must provide many of the opportunities for richness in living for us.

Another expression from the group was the need for a change in ideas about being successful in their work. "Advancement in position and salaries are not the only ways to determine our success, but the continued doing of our job and doing it well should be termed being successful in our work."

Miss Mildred Wilcox, of New York, led this discussion on Saturday evening. Miss Margaret Jones, of Moorestown, conducted the service of worship on Sunday morning, while Sunday afternoon Mrs. Eugene Pharo, of Moorestown, led in a delightful sing.

Canoing, swimming and a watermelon party were the most enjoyable sports of the weekend.

The Senior Club Committee of the Y. W. C. A., which is the committee responsible for work with business and industrial girls, in the Association, met on Tuesday evening, September 16, at the cabin of Miss Margaret E. Huff, of Mount Holly. The committee will undertake a study of the vocational needs in Burlington County, in order that the Association may be of more help to girls.

Miss Dorothy Wells, vocational expert on the National Staff of the Y. W. C. A., 600 Lexington avenue, New York, who was present at the meeting, will co-operate with the committee in its study. Consideration will be given to the changes in and future needs of industry, business, domestic service and home-making.

Burlington Plans Active Program

The Burlington City Board of the Y. W. C. A. met at the club house on Monday evening, September 15, at eight o'clock. Among the activities being planned are classes in English and citizenship for Greek and Italian women, among whom the Association has been giving personal help.

Two years ago the Association had a English class for the Italian women and many are eager to continue with it. A committee of business and industrial girls was selected for the purpose of planning events for them. Arrangements were made for continuing the rest rooms in the building and for keeping them open every day from nine in the morning until ten at night.

Reserves Plan Conference

The Girl Reserve Committee met at the County Y. W. C. A. office in Mount Holly Thursday, September 11. Plans were discussed for a "Settling Up Conference" for Senior High School girls.

This will be held at the Y. W. C. A. club house in Burlington on Saturday, October 1, from ten to four o'clock. Charles S. Beckwith, of Pemberton, was appointed to take charge of a council of girls who will plan the conference.

EDUCATORS TO ATTEND N. J. STATION ANNIVERSARY

Seven university and college presidents are among the large number of leaders in agricultural education and research who already have accepted invitations to attend the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick on October 8 and 9. They are Livingston Farrand, Cornell University; Bradford Knapp, Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Raymond Pearson, University of Maryland; R. W. Thatcher, Massachusetts Agricultural College; E. C. Brooks, North Carolina State College of Agriculture; F. D. Bluford, Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina; W. J. Hale, Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial State College; and Julian A. Burruss, Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

CORONERS' BILLS WILL GET PAID

County Physician Not Properly Sworn In, So Coroners Must Function

Burlington County has no official "County Physician" and the Coroners are entitled to fees for the services they have rendered. Such is the decision of County Solicitor Harold B. Wells, as given in a report of J. Lloyd Wright, director of the department of public affairs, submitted to the Board of Freeholders last Friday.

The investigation ordered to be made by the department of public affairs several weeks ago, when the legality of paying the bills of the Coroners was raised in the Board, revealed the fact that the Rev. Daniel F. Remer, who was appointed County Physician, had taken oath of office before the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, whereas it should have been administered by the County Clerk. Mr. Remer, therefore, did not qualify for the office in the manner prescribed by law.

Solicitor Wells pointed out that nearly all the County officials take oath of office before the Judge and that in so doing Mr. Remer, doubtless thought he was taking the proper course.

Since the law provides that where there is no County Physician the duties of that official shall be performed by the coroners, in the County, the Solicitor held that the bills in question should be paid if they were otherwise correct.

Wright Sounds Warning

In his report Mr. Wright expressed the opinion that Coroners had been called upon by individuals and hospitals when their services are not really required and sounded a word of warning against a continuance of this practice.

Since the sum of $1,500, appropriated the first of the year for the expenses of Coroners had already been exhausted, with bills amounting to about $150 still unpaid, Mr. Wright offered a resolution, which was unanimously passed, authorizing the issuance of an emergency note for $1,000 to meet the expenses for the balance of the year. Mr. Wright also suggested that the appointment of a County Physician be considered for next year.

The Hill Construction Company, of Mount Holly, were low bidders for the reconstruction of the Batato River bridge. Their price was $4,000. Other bidders were: Rancocas Construction Company, Delanco, $5,650; Charles S. Moses, Edgewater Park, $5,872; William C. Cook, Inc., Mount Holly, $6,649.

Favors Bond Issue

Charles R. Stout, director of the department of roads, stated that in the event of the approval of the voters at the fall election of the one hundred million dollar bond issue, the apportionment of State money for road construction in Burlington County would be increased by one million dollars.

This bond issue is intended to raise funds for road work, bridges and institutions. In the event of its passage, the State tax for institutions will be removed, but one cent a gallon will be added to the gasoline tax.

All the members of the Board of Freeholders expressed themselves as being in favor of the bond issue, and Mr. Stout's resolution placing the Board on record to that effect was unanimously passed.

In a report of the director of bridges and County Engineer, the bridge over the Pensauken Creek at West Palmyra was declared to be unsafe, and a resolution was passed empowering the director of bridges and Engineer to co-operate with Camden County in its reconstruction.

Resolutions presented by Mr. Stout and unanimously passed granted permission to the Public Service to open High Street in Burlington from Federal street to the river for the purpose of laying conduits, to extend its gas mains in Columbus on Main street, east of Cherry, and to erect a pole on Crosswicks street, Bordentown.

Extension By R-P Water Co.

Permission was also granted to the Riverton-Palmyra Water Company to extend its mains 2,000 feet along the Riverton-Moorestown road and to make two cuts of about fifteen feet each in the paving of the roadway.

Shannon Township requested that the Board of Freeholders co-operate in improving the road from Jackson's Bridge to Small's Hotel, a distance of about three and a half miles, was referred to the director of roads. This is one of the roads of the township. The township can secure State aid to the extent of fifty per cent. of the cost. The cost to the County will be about $2,000 per mile, of which the township is willing to pay one-half out of its own funds.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Roads, $58,431.33; bridges, $10,212.79; finance, $33,872.12; public buildings, $30,473.44; public affairs, $16,665.83. Total, $149,655.51.

LOCOMOTIVE FIGURES IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Two locomotives figured in a head-on collision on the main tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad line near the Bordentown station early Sunday. Both engines were slightly damaged, but the train crew were uninjured. The accident happened when the local work train was standing west of the signal tower near the station and a Camden-bound freight train came in. The work train was towed to the Moraville repair shops, but the freight train continued to Camden under its own power.

HOURS FOR SLEEP

The time of day appears to have little importance in influencing sleep, except that persons trying to sleep in the day are more frequently upset by noise and light. Professors of psychology who have conducted tests pertaining to sleep have found that persons first go to sleep than they do in the latter part of sleep.

Hoffman Bans Noisy Air Horns on Buses

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Harold G. Hoffman, today issued a ruling under which the use of compressed air horn on buses in the State of New Jersey is prohibited. He declared that these horns have become not only a nuisance, but a menace to safety, and that their use must be discontinued immediately.

A large number of buses operating upon the highways of the State, said Commissioner Hoffman, "are equipped with a compressed horn which blows two or three trumpets. These horns are extremely loud, giving a volume of sound that is comparable to that of a locomotive whistle. They make far more noise than is necessary as a warning signal."

There is no reason why the bus should have a louder warning signal than any other motor vehicle on the highway. Sirens are forbidden for private cars, and these horns are far worse than a siren. From the standpoint of safety and the abatement of a serious nuisance, it becomes necessary to prohibit their use on the highways of New Jersey.

N. J. LAWS DO NOT FAVOR ROAD HOGS

Hoffman Urges Drivers Who Take "Middle Half" to Read Regulations

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Roads apparently never will become so wide that some motorists will use the middle lane and thus make of themselves that obnoxious phenomenon known as "road hogs."

It would seem that the widening of highways would have been so obvious in its purpose that all motorists must appreciate it. Truly, unfortunately, has not been the case. There still are many who insist upon taking their "slice out of the middle" regardless of the menace such a practice creates.

And, there never was a time when road hogs were more dangerous and less justified.

Highways have been widened. So have city streets. The outer lanes of both are quite as smooth as that in the center. The shoulder of the road in most cases is wide and smooth.

It is just as easy and just as safe to drive in the middle of the road as it is to drive in the outside lane. It is just as easy and just as safe to drive in the middle of the road as it is to drive in the outside lane. It is just as easy and just as safe to drive in the middle of the road as it is to drive in the outside lane.

There are some drivers of the "road hog" type who believe they are supported in their abominable tactics by the law. They are mistaken. The law gives no encouragement to the selfish sense of road possession that some drivers feel. It should not be necessary, however, to invoke the threat of punishment for such a practice. Each driver should possess a concept of good manners that would prevent him from becoming a "road hog."

The thought is one that can be commended to all who operate automobiles.

Sleeper — MacKenzie

Announcement was made Friday of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Rosalind MacKenzie, of Lancaster, Pa., and George Howard Sleeper, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Sleeper, of Grant street, Mount Holly.

The marriage took place at Media, Pa., on Saturday, August 23. The announcement was withheld until Friday and came as a great surprise to their friends in Mount Holly and Lancaster.

The bride is a graduate of Lynn, Mass. and Mount Holyoke College. She is a graduate of Mount Holyoke High School. He is associated with, being advertising manager of the Mount Holly Herald.

MacMurtre — Barclay

Mrs. Stacelle M. Barclay, 37, of North Maple avenue, Marlton, N. J., and Frank MacMurtre, 45, department head of a trust company, of 206 N. Mount Pleasant, Philadelphia, Pa., were married in the Little Church Around the Corner, N. Y., on Friday.

Mrs. Barclay was born in Marlton, daughter of George I. and Emily Kain. MacMurtre was born in Philadelphia. She has been a widow since 1925.

The bridegroom was born in Philadelphia, son of William and Carolina Waldron MacMurtre.

ROEBLING MAN JAILED ON SECOND THEFT CHARGE

Arrested for the second time within a week on a larceny charge, Stephen Kresko, of Roebling, was taken to the Burlington County jail at Mount Holly last Thursday to serve a 30-day sentence. Kresko was arrested by State Police on a charge of larceny of merchandise from the roadside stand of John Powell, of Bordentown Township, earlier in the week. Last Saturday Kresko was arraigned for larceny of fruit and produce from truckmen along the Burlington-Bordentown road.

BLAIR SENTENCED TO LONG TERM

Four Burlington Residents Before Judge Charles A. Rigg Yesterday

Judge Charles A. Rigg in the county court last week added a term of five years in the state prison to the long criminal record of Donald C. Blair, of Camden, when he was arraigned for robbing the garage of Dr. Harry Jarrett at Moorestown a few weeks ago and stealing a lot of surgical tools and a kit of medicine valued at $150. Blair entered a plea of guilty and excused the crime by saying that he was drunk when he did it.

Judge Rigg didn't consider that drunkenness was any excuse in view of the man's prison record, which began back in 1912 with prison sentences. His first sentence was down in Virginia on a charge of robbery and forgery, and in addition to that he has been in the jails of New Jersey and Pennsylvania for similar crimes.

George R. Carter, Mount Holly, charged with maintaining a house where liquor was kept and possession of liquor, found when Mount Holly police went to his home to arrest him on a charge of assault and battery on his wife, was fined $37.50 on each charge and placed on probation for six months. The fine is to be paid within three months.

William Hollingsworth, of Mount Holly, pleaded not guilty to possession of liquor and maintaining a house where liquor was kept. He was fined $50 on each charge and put on probation for six months. The fine is to be paid within three months.

Benjamin Staskas Burlington, was fined $100 for maintaining a house where liquor was kept and possession of liquor, was placed on probation for six months, and is to pay the fine in three months.

Rachel Devan, Burlington and George Cole, Palmyra, charged each with an atrocious assault and battery. They were before the Court in June on a similar charge, and at the same time Rachel Devan was fined on a liquor charge. Cole was sent to the County jail for six months, and the woman was given three months in the same place.

John Wallace, Burlington, charged with adultery, was fined $50.

John D. Cooper, Jobstown, charged with larceny of $81 from Joseph Endicott, Springfield Township, where he was employed as a farm hand, was sent to the County jail for four months.

Harry Dunphy, alias Harry Cassidy, of Philadelphia, and Joseph Bird, alias Joseph Rock, of Delair N. J., pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a sloop from the Riverton Yacht Club. They were given a suspended sentence, but on probation for two years, and given one year in which to pay fines of $50 each.

Robert Young Jr., Moorestown, entered a plea of guilty on a charge of running a lottery. Sentence was deferred for three weeks.

Frank Weber, of Burlington, who was arrested last spring for illegal practice of medicine over a period of more than a year, pleaded guilty to the charges brought against him. He was fined $50 on each charge, and given one year in which to pay the fine.

WANTED IN BEVERLY, TAKEN IN NEW YORK

Colored Girl Who Worked Buncos Game to Be Returned to This County

The long arm of the law took another good reach last week when it seized in New York a colored girl who is wanted in this county in connection with a buncos game worked successfully in Beverly last year. She is Lillian Myers, alias Marion Edwards and Anna Watson, and is the girl who worked a lost pocketbook racket in Beverly along with Juice Strain, colored, who skipped, was indicted and brought back from Boston, and then sentenced to the state prison where he is now serving time.

The girl was picked up in New York when she had drugs in her possession, the police suspected for unlawful purposes, and then a search was made to ascertain whether she was wanted anywhere else. Through fingerprints taken and in the possession of County Detective Parker she was identified as the fugitive from Burlington county. Evidently not desiring to give her severe punishment, the New York officials notified Parker to get out extradition papers and she would be held pending their arrival. It was also advised that she would be arraigned in the New York court again on September 15 and would be available for Burlington county officials on that day.

To Be Married

Announcement has just been made that the marriage of Miss Anita Mae Shinn and LeRoy L. Townsend will be solemnized at the Washington Memorial Chapel, Valley Forge, Pa., on Saturday, September 20, at 6:30 o'clock.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Shinn, of 54 East Second street, Moorestown.

Mr. Townsend is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Townsend, Sr., of 5722 North Twentieth street, Germantown.

Miss Shinn is a graduate of Moorestown High School and Mr. Townsend is a graduate of Germantown High School.

CONFESSED SLAYER TRIES TO DIE IN TRENTON JAIL

Michael Duhr, 35, who has confessed to a murder, attempted suicide Monday in the Mercer county jail by slashing his neck with a razor blade. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital where it was learned he had not been injured seriously and he was returned to the jail after receiving treatment.

COUNTY PARKS MEETING PLANNED

Civic Groups to Send Delegates to Session at Mt. Holly Sept. 22

A meeting of representatives of all Burlington County civic organizations has been arranged for Monday evening, September 22, at 8 o'clock at the Mount Holly County House, for the purpose of discussing the park needs of Burlington County and to decide upon a date for an inspection trip of the Union and Essex County, N. J., park systems.

A letter describing the nature of the meeting has been sent to all civic groups in Burlington County by Mrs. Henry J. Sherman, representing the Moorestown Women's Club; T. Sherman Borden, representing the Fivel Edge Club of Beverly and Edgewater Park; W. R. Conard, of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce; J. William Penell, of the Burlington County Real Estate Board, and George M. Sleeper, of the Mount Holly Chamber of Commerce, inviting each organization to send two representatives to the meeting.

"For some months past a number of committees appointed by several civic organizations in Burlington County," the letter said, "have been individually studying the possibilities of County-wide park development."

Various of these groups have inspected the Camden County Park System and the work of the Mount County Planning Commission and of the Regional Planning Federation of the Philadelphia Tri-State District, and have reviewed the existing enabling legislation relating to County park systems.

The purpose of these studies has been to determine what the park needs and possibilities of Burlington County are and if their findings are in the affirmative what the park program of the County should be."

YMCA BOARD TO PLAN 1931 SEASON

Camp Ockanickon Trustees to Hold First Fall Meeting Thursday

The first fall meeting of the Trustees of Camp Ockanickon representing the YMCA organizations of Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Monmouth Counties is scheduled for Thursday evening, September 18, at Oliver's Tea Room Burlington, commencing at five o'clock.

Important recommendations from the Plans and Development Committee of this organization will be presented at that time, which will deal with new program and equipment features for the 1931 camping season. A report will also be made by this year's Camp Director, Ross S. Musselmann, Gloucester County, on the high spots of this past summer.

Henry F. Stockwell, of Moorestown, president of the Board of Trustees, will preside.

To Dedicate Building

Sunday afternoon, September 21, at 2:00 o'clock on the grounds of the Military Institute at Bordentown there will be held the dedication of the new YMCA Building connected with the school, which was completed during the past summer. The speaker on this occasion will be E. W. Barnes, of the State YMCA staff, with headquarters at Newark. Captain J. F. R. Long, president of the Mount Holly YMCA Board, will represent that Association.

Secretary E. W. Barnes and Guy C. Hendry have already consulted with Colonel T. D. Landon regarding the service of dedication and how the building should be properly administered in the interest of the student YMCA.

YMCA Worker at College

Arthur Walters of Hainesport, for two years connected with the County YMCA Headquarters as a student, left on Sunday, September 15, for Springfield, Mass., where he is entering as freshman in the Town and Country Course in the International YMCA College.

Freshman at Ockanickon

This coming week-end, September 19-20-21, some 150 Drexel Freshmen will go to Camp Ockanickon for a three day pre-school acquaintance and conference period, under the auspices of the Student Division of the Philadelphia YMCA. This will be their fourth summer at Camp Ockanickon. The regular Camp Chiefs, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Buck, of Mount Holly, will be in charge of the commissary during this period.

GLIDER CRASHES

Bordentown Man Injured When Motorless Plane Hits Pole

Crashing into a telephone pole while on a test flight near Bordentown last week that town's only glider was badly damaged and James Murphy, its pilot, received a dislocated shoulder.

Murphy was piloting the glider, which he had just cut loose from its towing automobile, as it approached a tree. Murphy swerved to miss that obstacle and crashed into the telephone pole, falling twenty feet to the ground, with the glider on top of him.

Dr. J. S. Marks, of Bordentown, treated Murphy. Less than two weeks ago Murphy's brother, William, was shaken up when the same glider went into a nose dive from a height of 40 feet.

The plane is owned by the Bordentown Gliding Club and will be repaired for use again.

SEAPLANES FORBIDDEN TO LAND ON N. J. LAKES

The New Jersey Board of Commerce and Navigation Monday ruled that hydro-airplanes could not land on New Jersey's inland lakes. The board held that such landings are a menace to other watercraft. The decision, first of its kind on file at Trenton, was made in denying the application of a man to operate hydro-airplanes between Lake Hopatcong and New York City.

HURT WALKING ON ROAD

George Riggio, 25, of 812 Main street, Riverton, suffered injuries Sunday when he was struck by an automobile owned and driven by Edward Simmons, of Camden, while he was walking on the River road. Riggio suffered lacerations of the head and shoulders and was treated at the office of Dr. Harry L. Rogers, Riverton.

Complaints continue to be made regarding the garbage collector. In speaking on the report, Mayor Rogers complimented the police department on its successful activities during the month. He said that boats had been interfered with, damaged and even stolen in the past, but that this was the first time the culprits had been arrested and punished.

Mr. Ellwell reported that the edge of the park was being used as a dumping ground, and the matter was referred to the police department with instructions to erect signs and take such other steps as may be necessary to prevent its continuance.

Grandsland Nearly Finished

Mr. Ellwell also reported that the pavilion at the park was nearly completed and the grand stand would be finished in about two weeks.

On motion of Councilman Joshua S. Bartley, chairman of the finance committee, resolutions were passed authorizing the issuance of a note for $7000 to meet current expenses, and another for $3000 to finance expenditures for park improvements.

The borough collector, C. Kenneth Davis, reported that the real estate tax sale had been held the previous Saturday, and that of the eight properties involved one had been bought by an individual. The other seven had been bought in by the borough. Foreclosure proceedings were already under way on three of the properties at the time of the sale. Mr. Davis said, and there is prospect of an early settlement of the taxes. Owners of the other four properties said they would try to redeem them within the two years allowed.

The building inspector's report showed permits issued for $900 worth of building operations and the collection of $5 in fees. Director of Public Safety DeLaney reported that he was still receiving complaints about the manner in which the collection of garbage is being handled, and that he would lodge a complaint with the Board of Health.

COMMUNICATED

Coincidence is a great thing—in moderation. But when things have been planned and schemed for, and other people know it, then it is time to put coincidence in the back-ground.

It has for some time been apparent that someone was doing a very successful restaurant (?) business just beyond the limits of Palmyra. Nameless, a certain grill. Any person that is successful in business deserves credit, when it is a legitimate business. When a person can satisfy the demands of people's appetites in a satisfactory manner, he deserves credit, when it is a legitimate appetite.

However, is everything just as it should be? To a person who has should the grill in question several nights a week ever since it has been in operation, it seems strange that chicken and steak dinners to be so popular to forty or fifty auto loads of people, the majority of them Pennsylvanians, at any time from eleven o'clock at midnight to the wee hours of the morning. It seems that such a condition exceeds even the most astounding instances of coincidence.

Imagine, from one hundred and fifty to two hundred people, more than half from the Quaker State, becoming so hungry for chicken or steak at eleven o'clock at night or after, that they must congregate at one place, night after night, to satisfy that hunger, despite the fact that first-class restaurants abound in Pennsylvania.

Even more strange does it seem when, were any one to pass the same place at a normal eating time, he would find it and the parking space nearby empty, or with only a very minute percentage of the number of midnight patrons. Even worse does it look with the shades lowered.

Now, don't make a mistake. We don't say that anything wrong is going on at this place. We have no proof to say any such thing. But with the chain of events as they are, things look rather suspicious.

Coincidence is a great thing—in moderation. But when it bulges out the sides of moderation with an almost unmistakable chain of circumstances, coincidence becomes something else. Namely, suspicion. It might even pay to look into such matters.

WILL APPEAL TAX BOARD DECISION

State Expected to Reverse Decision of County in $45,000 Reduction

The recent reduction in assessments granted three Palmyra landowners by the Burlington County Board of Taxation will be appealed to the State Board by the Borough Council.

Appeals for lower assessments were heard at a meeting in the Fire House last June when the Borough was represented by Mayor George N. Wimer, Assessor James H. Hartley and Solicitor Joseph S. Low. They left the hearing fully convinced the appeals would be denied and the judgment of the Assessor upheld.

It came as a considerable surprise when the Board announced its decision in granting a reduction of large amounts. The Palmyra Realty Company asked that the valuation on its Schwartz Farm be reduced to $12,500 and its appeal was granted. Mr. Hartley's figures on the property was $30,600. The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company asked that the valuation of $48,900 on its valuable farm property be reduced by $24,520. A reduction of $15,920 was allowed. The Wallace Estate put in a plea for a cut of $19,791.30 on its tract of land lying between Cinnaminson avenue, Cuthbert road, the Pensauken Creek and Charles street. A reduction of $13,455.50 was allowed. The assessment was $26,600.

Reversed Last Year

A similar plea on the part of the Wallace Estate was made last year and was granted by the County Board. It was over-ruled by the State Board when the Borough made an appeal, as it intends to do this year. The County Board made a decision on the appeal, and the State Board reversed it.

The total of the reductions granted is in excess of $45,000 and if not reversed by the State Board will make a considerable difference in the tax rate.

Mr. Hartley feels that he has made all assessments in fairness according to his judgment and the only logical thing to do, if the County Board decision is not reversed, is to lower all valuations in town.

This would not result in any saving to the taxpayers, but would merely increase the tax rate, a thing which is not considered as a desirable change, but the only solution to what would be a bad situation if the County Board's action should be sustained.

The Borough Solicitor and the Assessor were instructed to take up the matter of the appeal at a meeting of Borough Council Tuesday night. Mayor George N. Wimer told members of Council he was in informal conference with members of the State Board last week and felt they would be in sympathy with the Council, as they were interested in keeping assessments up near the true values of the properties.

Amend Building Code

At the same meeting a committee was named to make sidewalk and curb assessments as follows: Walter D. Lamon, chairman; William Engle and James T. Weart. These assessments will be worked out by the engineers in the near future and any complaints will be heard by the committee.

An amendment to the building code was passed on first reading, which gives the Building Inspector authority to refuse permits if buildings are to be erected over the building line. It also provided that frame buildings may not be built within ten feet of each other in rows of more than two. These provisions do not apply to brick, stone or similar construction.

Chairman Frank A. Snover, of the Roads and Streets Committee, reported work had been started on the paving of Lincoln avenue and would be finished in about a month. The dirt being excavated on this job is being hauled to West Palmyra and used to fill in low street. There will be enough to take care of all the streets now below grade.

Connect to Storm Sewer

Attention was brought to the fact that the State Highway Department had connected a 24-inch drain to the Borough's 42-inch storm sewer at Market and Madison streets without consulting the local authorities. As it is feared this will cause the sewer to overflow the engineers were instructed to take the matter up with the Department with the idea of having it removed or another sewer installed at the expense of the State.

An invitation was extended by the Public Service Company to the Councilmen to attend a banquet at the Mansion House, near Bordentown, tomorrow evening, at which time transportation will be discussed. Mayor Wimer and Councilmen Snover and Buchholz will attend if possible to represent the Borough of Palmyra.

Officials of all the towns along the riverfront are being invited. The Public Service Company is expected to put forth a proposal to remove trolleys and substitute buses. The Council is expected to look with favor upon the plan if proposed.

Police Department

The report of the Police Department was read as follows:

Police Report

To the Honorable Mayor and Council: The following report is the monthly report of the Police Department from August 18th to September 16th, 1930:

August 18, 1930—Chas. W. Wood, Parry. Disorderly. Fined $5.00.

August 25, 1930—George Orha, Trenton, N. J. Reckless driving. Fined $5.00.

August 27, 1930—John W. Carney, Philadelphia. Disorderly. Fined $10.00.

August 29, 1930—Robert J. Hewitt, Philadelphia. Disorderly. Fined $20.00.

August 31, 1930—Arrested for gambling. Ten men and one woman. All were held in jail for County Court.

September 5, 1930—Joseph Stone, Philadelphia. Drunk. Reprimanded. Discharged.

The police answered twenty-two calls and complaints. We had four minor auto accidents and two boys drowned.

We had nineteen ambulance calls. Gassed ten dogs and cats.

We had nineteen night lodgers. No fires.

Respectfully submitted,

C. MORRIS BECK,
Chief of Police.

BURLINGTON CO. MEN LOSE AUTO LICENSES

Two From This Section Among Motorists Punished by Commissioner Hoffman

George Vincent, of East Riverton, and Charles E. Haines, of Jarvis street, Pemberton, were among South Jersey motorists who had their licenses revoked by Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman recently, for drunken driving.

The list that follows contains the names of other violators of South Jersey that had their licenses revoked for the same offense:

John Stelman, 2172 Westfield avenue, Camden; Samuel Lesky, 628 Jackson avenue, Camden; Leslie Cramer, 100 North Laurel street, Bridgeton; Lawrence Hughes, Millville (for his third offense); Riley Davis, Jr., 413 Deepford avenue, Woodbury; Ellis Boardman, Swedenboro, and Thomas Meade Kings Highway, Mount Ephraim.

Others whose licenses were revoked were: Samuel Capille, 340 Pine street, Camden, and Leon Burak, Haddon avenue, West Berlin, for manslaughter; Walter Nutt Millville road, Cedarville, for reckless driving, and Harold Perkins, of 130 South Pine street, Bridgeton, for carelessness.

N. J. GOLF ASSN. MEMBERS WILL SEE MACHINE PUTTER

A mechanical putting machine of unerring aim will be seen in action at New Brunswick when members of the New Jersey Golf Association and the New Jersey State Greenskeepers' Association meet on September 29 to inspect the turf management plots of the State Agricultural Experiment Station. This machine, while expected to provide a novel demonstration of accurate putting that even a Jones or a Sarazen would find difficult to emulate, will not be brought to New Brunswick merely for a trick putting exhibition. Instead, it will be set up for the more serious purpose of demonstrating which are the best types of grasses to grow on putting greens.

MUCH INTEREST IN FLOWER SHOW

Many Exhibitors Fill Meeting Room With Galaxy of Beautiful Blossoms

A colorful and beautifully arranged room of magnificent flowers greeted the members of the Palmyra Woman's Club when they assembled for the first fall meeting in the Lions' Den, Society Hall, Monday afternoon.

Almost every member of the club contributed to the exhibition, and a few friends sent fine specimens. Acknowledgement is gratefully made to the friendly contributors: Dreer's Nurseries, for gladiolus; Edwin A. Parker, for his decorative palms; C. Morris Beck, for his beautiful dahlias; Mrs. A. H. Lippincott, for her basket of charming variations in dahlias and gladiolus.

Mrs. George DuBell, as chairman of the flower show, with her committee, was responsible for the attractive setting. The program of the afternoon was arranged and presented by Mrs. M. W. Wans.

Entertaining Program

Clever impersonations by Mrs. Albert B. Parker introduced a program which was varied with other selections by her, and also several numbers by the club trio. The trio, which is composed of Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Stanley Lippincott and Mrs. William Dunn, accompanied by Mrs. Alfred VanOsten, rendered some very beautiful musical numbers.

The program for the next meeting, a literature meeting, to be held October 3, at 902 Highland avenue, was announced by Mrs. J. C. Mallory, chairman of the literature department. Biographies are being studied this season. Mrs. R. Selby Williams will preside at the meeting and a life sketch of Sir James Barrie will be given by Miss Theresa Wolcott.

A cordial invitation is extended to all club members to be present. Opportunity was given at the close of the meeting for a closer inspection of the flowers. The judges were Mrs. Lewis H. Wallace, Mrs. A. J. Brooks and Mrs. Elia M. Toy.

Announcement Decisions

Announcement of the judges' decision of blue and yellow ribbon winners was made by Mrs. DuBell, as follows:

Garden Flowers—Best blooms, annual asters, in vase or other receptacle. First, Mrs. Robert K. Snow; second, Mrs. C. W. Lutz; third, Mrs. George DuBell. Best arrangement of cosmos: First, Mrs. Albert B. Parker; second, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Large Marigolds—Vase or basket: First, Mrs. George DuBell; second, Mrs. Albert Parker; third, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Petunias—Vase or basket: First, Mrs. A. G. Anderson; second, Mrs. Munn; third, Mrs. Munn. Snapdragons—Vase or basket: First, Mrs. A. G. Anderson; second, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Zinnias—Vase or basket: First, Mrs. George DuBell; second, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Garden Flowers—In vase: First, Mrs. Conrad Friday; second, Mrs. E. E. Headington; third, Mrs. George DuBell. Garden Flowers—In crock: First, Mrs. George DuBell. Garden Flowers—In bowl, suitable for table decoration: Cockscomb: First, Mrs. Conrad Friday; second, Mrs. George DuBell. Cocksplumes: First, Mrs. George DuBell; second, Mrs. George DuBell; third, Mrs. Conrad Friday.

Display of Roses

Roses—One bloom, pink or red: First, Mrs. Lewis Wallace; second, Mrs. A. J. Brooks. Vase or bowl of roses: First, Mrs. Selby Williams; second, Mrs. F. L. Shill; third, Mrs. R. Selby Williams.

Gladiolus—Single spike, any color: First, Mrs. E. E. Headington; second, Mrs. George DuBell; third, Mrs. A. J. Brooks.

Dahlias—Basket: First, Mrs. Dayton H. Lamont. Bowl or vase: First, Mrs. Robert K. Snow.

Novelties—Miniature pictures of still life and flowers: First, Mrs. F. L. Shill; second, Mrs. A. J. Brooks.

Separate Entries—French Marigolds: First, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Dwarf Phlox: First, Mrs. Conrad Friday. Yellow Daisies: First, Mrs. George DuBell; second, Mrs. E. E. Headington; third, Mrs. Evans.

Thorne Bush: First, Mrs. Lewis Wallace. Bachelors' Buttons: First, Mrs. A. B. Brooks. Ivy: First, Mrs. F. L. Shill. Honorable mention for Japanese Lanterns was given Mrs. Evald.

Engaged

Announcement was made at a bridge-luncheon, Saturday, of the engagement of Elizabeth MacAnath Rogers to Lawrence Littman. Miss Rogers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Rogers, of 300 West Main street, Moorestown, and Mr. Littman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Littman, of Baltimore, Md.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Dickinson College, and is a popular member of the younger set in Moorestown.

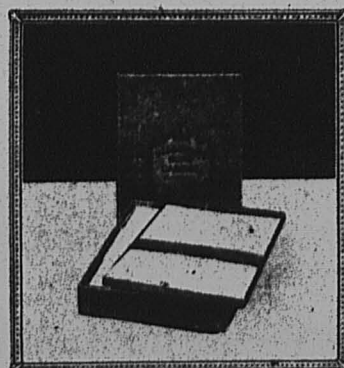

Mr. Littman finished at John Hopkins University and is now affiliated with the U. S. Pipe and Iron Foundry Company.

MODESTY OF THE GREAT

It is generally taken for granted that between rival artists in the same line of work there exists a high degree of professional jealousy. Therefore, it is refreshing to note the mutual admiration of two of the world's outstanding tenors, as well as their extreme modesty.

John McCormack, the famous Irish singer, who became a naturalized American citizen in 1919, once objected to being advertised as "the world's greatest tenor." He said:

"I am not the greatest tenor in the world. I object to that title. The greatest tenor (Caruso) is dead, and the next one has not arrived."

An interviewer asked who he considered greater than himself, to which McCormack replied: "The Canadian singer, Edward Johnson, is the best all around operatic tenor in the world, and in addition he has a perfect figure which so few tenors possess."

And when McCormack's compliment was conveyed to Johnson, that fine artist returned it by saying: "As coming from one tenor to another, I should say it was the acme of generosity."

Further, although startled by its pleasing flattery, I must say that his expression is exactly my feeling for John, a great artist and a kindly friend."

The truly great, even in the artistic world, are usually considerate and modest.

MEN MAY PLAY GOLF ALL DAY

The Government made the discovery first, but retail stores have not been slow to profit by recent information, unearthed by a national survey. It seems that women today make up between 85 per cent and 90 per cent of the purchasing power in the United States.

Moreover the ladies, it should be known, not only constitute this tremendous purchasing force, but research brings to light their tremendous influence on the purchases made directly by men. Thus certain motor cars are purchased directly by the masculine head of the family not because as he may believe he has all by himself made up his mind but because one or more feminine heads have investigated the motor market, sat behind this and that steering wheel, talked to this and that mechanic.

Likewise the average man doesn't investigate the textile market and decide he wants cast iron shirts or pin tucked pajamas. But his wife or mother guides him tactfully to the style or quality she favors.

It has thus come to pass that a prominent middle Western women's specialty shop has actually opened a men's furnishings department—not particularly with the thought of intriguing the gentlemen there but because it will save the ladies the trouble of going elsewhere to make complete family purchases. The department consists of suspenders, socks, shirts, tie and the like, and is perhaps but a stepping stone to the day when out of business hours the gentlemen may spend every waking moment on the golf course or at the baseball games.

FLIES

Motoring through Connecticut the other day I stopped for a bite in a good-sized town. To my amazement, the principal restaurant of the place was swarming with flies, which were crawling unrestrained over the food. I did not eat there.

The danger of flies seems not yet to have penetrated everywhere. It has been said by someone that it takes three generations for any new fact to filter down through all levels of intelligence to the lowest. It is less than forty years since the discovery was made that flies are the chief carriers of typhoid fever. In the big cities and in most progressive small towns, public health authorities now compel the covering of garbage and other filth in which flies breed. The automobile has done a great deal, practically eliminating the horse stable, once the flies' chief breeding ground. In the general clean-up of Europe since the war long steps have been taken, until there is at least one town in Italy, Montecatini, which boasts that it has not a single fly!

HELIOPHOBES

Are you a heliophile or a heliophobe? Everybody is one or the other. Heliophiles love the sunshine and thrive under exposure to sunlight. Heliophobes are the unfortunate blondes who do not tan but burn and blister and sometimes become seriously ill in the effort to acquire the golden-brown skins of the more fortunate heliophiles.

A skin specialist in a New York hospital estimates that more than 200,000 working days are lost in that city every year from illness due to sunburn. These heliophobes sufferers are usually of the blonde North European and Scandinavian type, coming from a stock bred for countless generations in the high latitudes where sunlight is scanty and indirect. The perfect heliophile, on the other hand, usually has a strain of Mediterranean blood, Italian, Greek, Spanish or Semitic.

DREAMS

"One must have some daring if one is to live one's dreams," said Captain Wolfgang von Gronau as he landed his flying boat in New York harbor after flying over from Germany by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador. This pioneer of a new trans-Atlantic air route dared to try to realize a dream which he had had for years.

All have dreams of things we would like to do; few of us have the daring to attempt to make the dreams come true.

"Many loved truth, and lavished life's best oil Amid the dust of books to find her."

So wrote James Russell Lowell in his great Commemorative Ode. But the poet saw the truth clearly:

SHEETS

To determine why cotton fabrics wear out, the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics has made a laboratory test of 400 sheets discarded by a big Washington hotel.

The results of the tests have been submitted to manufacturers of sheeting, who are trying to find ways to make sheets which will wear longer in the parts where these gave out. Not a matter of great national importance, perhaps, but an illustration of the way in which scientific research by the Government aids manufacturers and incidentally helps to provide the public with better goods.

Editorial Comment

May Extend Sheriff's Term of Office

It has been stated that legislation will be introduced this winter looking toward the extension of the term of office of Sheriffs from three to five years, and if the bill which is to be sponsored before the Legislature by the Sheriff's Association of New Jersey is passed upon favorably, then the matter will come before the voters for referendum action.

Back in the days when Sheriffs were not allotted a salary, but received their compensation through fees collected, it is said that the chief was an extremely profitable one. Possibly that is the reason why the term of office was limited to three years. The thought of the framers of the limitation probably being that any Sheriff ought to be willing to retire at the end of that time and give someone else a chance to receive the emoluments of the office. That, probably, was also the reason why it was decided that Sheriffs could not succeed themselves, which has remained a provision of the law to this day.

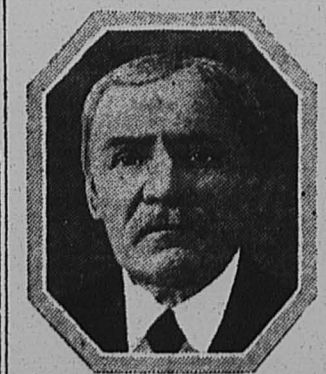

Now that the office has been placed on a salary basis, the same as that of County Clerk, Surrogate, Common Pleas Judge, etc., the terms of which cover a five-year period there seems to be no logical reason why the Sheriff's term of office should not be lengthened to correspond with them, particularly when it is remembered that he cannot succeed himself.

The action taken upon the proposed legislation will be watched with interest.

KONJOLA GAVE NEW HEALTH TO THIS MAN, 72

Atlantic City Resident Ends Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble Through Use of New Medicine

MR. JOHN F. PALMER

"I have suffered from rheumatism since I was a boy and I am now 72 years of age," said Mr. John F. Palmer, 150 South New York avenue, Atlantic City. "My back constantly pained me because of kidney trouble and I was forced to rise frequently at night. The rheumatism was of the inflammatory kind and I have had my arms wrapped in cotton for weeks at a time. I suffered headaches of the severest sort and try as I could, I could find nothing to relieve me."

"I was induced by numerous friends to give Konjola a trial. I took this medicine about five weeks and I felt fine. The rheumatic pains have gone and the severe headaches are a thing of the past. I heartily recommend Konjola to anyone suffering as I did."

Given a real test, in most cases over a period of from six to eight weeks, Konjola can do for you all that it has done for Mr. Palmer. It is free from alcohol, nerve deadening drugs or heart depressing chemicals. Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

I rode downtown in a taxicab, and looked at the picture of the driver on the license card which is issued by the police.

Where had I seen a face like that? Suddenly I knew. An acquaintance of mine looks enough like that taxi driver to be his twin.

If the whole truth be blurted out, I doubt if there is a very wide difference in intelligence between that taxi driver and my acquaintance. Neither has much education. Neither is well read. Neither can be accused of profound thought.

How is it, then, that one is on the front seat of a cab and the other rides in the back seat of a limousine?

Luck? Undoubtedly there is a lot of luck in every successful career. But I think my acquaintance has at least one quality which the taxi driver lacks. He stuck to his game through some pretty lean, tough years when there was every reason to be discouraged and quit.

The dividing line between success and failure is just a hairline in thousands of cases. One single decision may make all the difference.

A young man has just been promoted into the vice-presidency of a corporation, and given a stock participation that will make him many times a millionaire.

He told me that he started in a branch office of the company as an accountant. Before long he had made himself master of one certain phase of the company's affairs.

He looked around him and above him, and was discouraged. Everywhere his way seemed to be blocked by men who had been there longer, but were young enough so that they would be active for many years.

One night he definitely decided to look for something else. The next day an officer of the company visited his branch, and a violent discussion ensued. The officer upheld one side of the question, my young friend the other. And my young friend knew his facts; he was right.

The argument ended by the officer asking him to come down to New York "for a few weeks." He has been there ever since.

If he had resigned the preceding evening, my young friend would have missed his one great chance.

Hanging over the door of the laboratory of a great automobile company is this sentence: "No one ever would have crossed the ocean if he could have got off in the storm."

I am not writing this piece to try to make any man contented with a poor job. There are plenty of instances where men have made their everlasting fortunes by making a fresh start.

But more often, I think, the battle is won just by sitting tight.

PUBLIC SERVICE

1675

This Week
IN WASHINGTON
BY RADFORD MOBLEY
AUTOCASTER, WASHINGTON BUREAU

In five hundred and five rural counties in the United States, Uncle Sam's medical men are keeping a personal, direct and watchful eye on the health of the citizens.

In those counties the death-rate has been reduced, fewer babies die in infancy, infectious diseases have been reduced or eliminated, time lost from work because of illness has been cut down, and the dollars-and-cents prosperity of the communities has been enlarged.

Those are some of the tangible results which have followed the appeal of Yakima County, Washington, in 1911, to the U. S. Public Health Service for aid in combating a typhoid fever epidemic.

In those days every part of the country had its typhoid outbreaks, but nobody did very much about them. The citizens of Yakima decided to do something very concrete about this particular epidemic, and when their resources were exhausted they turned to the Federal Government. The result was the establishment of the first county unit of what is now the service's rural sanitation division.

2,500 Counties Need It

Dr. L. L. Lumsden, the veteran of thousands of fights like that in Yakima, who directs the system, says there are 2,500 counties that should have this service, and the day is not far distant, he believes, when the Federal Government will realize this. President Hoover himself is an ardent sponsor of a bill introduced last session of Congress by Rep. Cooper Ohio, which would give the service $2,250,000 a year instead of the $346,000, or about one-tenth that amount, which it has to spend this year.

How does the rural sanitation unit work? What does it do for your community?

Answering this Dr. Lumsden said the typical county sanitation system is a "four-piece unit." At the head is a man, nearly always with the degree of doctor of medicine who is a field agent of the public health service. He is also always a county health officer and usually a State health officer.

Triple Responsibility

The field agent's salary, which runs about $2,400 yearly, is paid by Federal, State and County governments. He holds his position under all three and his responsibility is triple. To be successful, he must not only be a competent physician, but he must combine expertise in preventive work and sanitation with expertise in human relations. In other words, he has to be a diplomat and know people if he is to secure co-operation, always essential, in the community.

Under him are a sanitary inspector, a health nurse and an office clerk. All of these are full-time employees and all are paid by and responsible to the three agencies named. This varies according to the size of the county and its peculiar needs, and every effort is made to make it eventually a local county organization in every respect.

As to what it does for the individual county, individual instances of what it has done show that better than generalities, Dr. Lumsden said. His favorite instance is that of Walker County, Alabama, the State which leads all others in its co-operation in this work with the Federal Government.

Walker County

Since 1913 a full-time county health officer has been maintained in Walker County. Such practical matters of environment as installation of sanitary privies in every home, testing of wells, elimination of mosquito breeding spots and similar matters were attacked. The individuals in the community were given practical lessons in personal hygiene, children and adults were given thorough examinations and told how to correct their defects.

Altogether this work cost an average of $3,800 the last five years, part of which was shared by the Federal Government. Dr. Lumsden estimates at least $360,000 annually has been cut from the county's doctor bills since 1913.

The infant death rate per 1,000 births in 1913 was 155; by 1926 it was 60. The death rate per 1,000 population for all causes dropped from 17 to 10.9 in that time.

"This means 360 less deaths a year in the county," said Dr. Lumsden. "For every death prevented by health work about ten cases of incapacitating disease are prevented, and the average case of such illness, in wage loss and expense of the sick, would be $100. The hard cash value of the work therefore is clear."

Record of County

Dr. A. M. Waldrop is the public health service field agent in Walker County, and the record of the county Dr. Lumsden regards as an eloquent statement of its ability.

Another typical county is Kanawha County, W. Va., where the yearly budget is $16,691. In that county alone in three years 31,277 persons were immunized against smallpox, 8,597 against typhoid, and 6,112 against diphtheria. In addition, highly effective measures were taken to improve sanitation of water, milk and other food supplies and especially for the hygiene of mothers, babies and children of before-school age.

As a result, annual deaths from typhoid dropped from 16 to 6; from diphtheria, from 14 to 1; scarlet fever, from 6 to 0; from tuberculosis, from 72 to 42; and the infant mortality rate, from 84 deaths per 1,000 live births to 48.

$100,000 Budget

San Joaquin County, Calif., has established this service with a budget of more than $100,000 annually, perhaps the greatest public health project in the world. Remarkable reductions in death rates from various diseases have been shown, at a cost less than before the system was established, when the four large cities in the county attempted to handle public health through part-time officers.

Summarizing the future burden of the service, Dr. Lumsden said:

"There are 1,000,000 persons in our rural communities incapacitated at the time by illness, much of which is preventable. About 70 per cent of the children suffer from physical defects. Nearly all of these could be prevented or remedied. Over 60 per cent of the men and women between 40 and 60 years old are in need of health aid. There is no room for reasonable doubt about the need for more and better rural health service in this country."

FEDERAL RESERVE
PAYS GOVERNMENT

In the fifteen years since its establishment in 1914, aggregate net earnings of the Federal Reserve System's twelve regional banks have amounted to $515,216,000, of which $96,672,000 has been paid to the members banks as dividends representing 8 per cent annually on their contributions of capital to the reserve banks, while $277,434,000 has been added to the surplus of the reserve banks and $147,110,000 has been paid over to the Federal Government as a franchise tax.

FOSTERING GASOLINE SUPPLY

All official motor cars of State and National Governments in Brazil are required by law to use alcohol as fuel as a part of the government's drive to popularize alcohol against the time when the gasoline supply will be exhausted. Although alcohol costs about twice as much its increasing use has already caused a considerable drop in the price of gasoline.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

By F. E. C.

Almece Semple McPherson, after having her face bloodied, is said to have quarreled with her surgeon because he wouldn't remove some surplus adipose tissue, elsewhere. Almece should go to Turkey to convert the heathen Ottoman, for embonpoint among the ladies is said to be popular there. Or to the Cannibal Islands, where plump missionaries have a splendid opportunity to get on the inside.

Recent deaths of film celebrities, at an age when most men and women are in their prime, seems to indicate that something behind the silver screen leaves an unusual toll.

Undertakers tell us the death rate is lower in hard times than in years of prosperity. Strange that when people have more to live for they should live less. Or is it that they live more, but faster?

The proposed $100,000,000 bond issue may be a splendid thing. We all appreciate good roads and the many new ones built in recent years have demonstrated their value. But the argument that the bond issue will save the taxpayers money, by the trick of exchanging one type of levy for another, smacks too much of hokum to be good logic.

Charles R. Stout, one of our several County political bosses, has developed the habit in recent years of repeating his every sentence several times, perfixing each repetition with, "I say." Just what mental complex is responsible for this we leave to the professional psychologist, but our tip to Charlie is to "cut it out," even if he has to chew tobacco as a substitute.

A certain riverfront councilman has abandoned his unique pronunciation of "asphalt" which used to put his hearers in stitches, but the number of town and county officials who still accent the "cip" in municipal has not diminished.

Henry Ford says the factory employe of the future will put in three months of the year on the farm to even up agriculture and manufacturing. Going fishing in the summer is more popular.

Immature golf is said to have played an important part in the current industrial revival.

But if the shearing of the lambs in Wall Street during the last year or so teaches the tired business man that work is still the secret of success, the industrial revival may be more permanent.

They're booming Elizabeth Crotty Verga for the State Senate in Camden County. Elizabeth has long been one of Senator David Baird's right hand men, and if he wants her in the Senate, he'll put her there.

Those Stinson-Detroiters humming over the riverfront towns on their trips between Camden and New York, flying regular as clockwork, straight as an arrow and smooth as smooth, are doing a lot to make the people of Burlington County realize they live in the Twentieth Century.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

BAPTIST

Rev. Geo. Lockett, B.D., Pastor

Sunday services as usual. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. Sermon subject, "God's Will and Ours." B. Y. P. U. service at 6:45 p. m. Topic, "How to Improve Our Organization and Team Work." Preaching service at 7:45 p. m., preceded by Gospel Hymn Song Service. Sermon subject, "The Yard Stick of Value."

One of the most gratifying reports at the business meeting of the Sunday School Association last week was the report of the Primary Department on the Children's Church service held each Sunday morning in the Primary room at the same time as the regular church service.

These services are well attended—sometimes the attendance being around 40. The little folks show a keen interest in the services and take an active part, which affords them an excellent training. The services were started by the Primary Department to take care of the children while the parents attend the regular church service. Parents having children too small to attend church are especially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity of coming to church with the assurance that the children will be well taken care of.

The Primary Department will hold a Cake Sale Saturday afternoon, September 27th. There will be a table at Buick's Corner and one at Broad and Morgan avenue to accommodate patrons from both ends of the town. Those wishing to either donate or purchase will kindly get in touch with any one of the Primary teachers. Any special requests will be gladly filled. The ENTIRE proceeds will be given to the Church Building Fund.

The Woman's Guild will open their new room, which they have furnished so beautifully, Thursday night. Everyone invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"MATTER" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 21, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "The fashion of this world passeth away" (1 Corinthians 7:31).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect" (11 Samuel 22:33). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with a Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Take possession of your body, and govern its feeling and action. Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man" (p. 393).

Rev. Harold L. Creager

The Women's Missionary Society will meet this Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Florence Saar, 205 West Broad street. The ladies will have the privilege of hearing Mrs. Emma Lippard, who was for years a missionary in Japan and is now connected with the headquarters staff of the Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church in Philadelphia.

Sunday evening the service will be given over principally to the singing of songs of praise and worship, with just a few brief remarks by the pastor. This will form one of the series of services on Christian Joy which has been adopted as the theme of the month.

Next Wednesday evening, September 24, a Congregational Supper and Rally will be held in the church, to which all the friends and members of the congregation are invited. The meeting will be marked by entertainment, features, songs, and the discussion of the opportunities facing the church and the programs for meeting them. The supper will be served at 6:30, and be followed immediately by the other matters on the program.

COLLEGE COMEDY BY WOMAN'S CLUB

Cast of 150 to Present Clever Production for Palmyra Organization

A committee representing the Palmyra Woman's Club headed by their president, Mrs. R. Dunn, met with Lela Morgan, representative of the Universal Producing Company, of Fairfield, Iowa, to complete the arrangements for the production of the famous college comedy "Aunt Lucia" at the high school auditorium, October 10 and 11.

The production is something entirely different in the matter of community entertainments. "Aunt Lucia" has a record of the largest and most appreciative audiences and the best press reports of any production being offered in the amateur field today. It requires 150 local people to stage the production, and it is a screaming comedy from start to finish.

The story is one of college life and particularly adapted to amateur players. The complete details of the play and cast will be given at a later date.

The show is a screaming comedy and will use a number of local business men in unusual comedy parts. Reports from all over the country show that it has been a tremendous success wherever staged.

Margaret Davis

Margaret Davis, six years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Davis, of Moore street, Lenola, died at her home on Thursday following an illness of nearly four months. FORMER HOLLY RECTOR 50 YEARS IN MINISTRY

The Rev. Dr. John Dows Hills, widely known former Mount Holly rector, completed 50 years in the ministry Saturday. Dr. Hills, who is now rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Pittsburgh, and president of the Pittsburgh Diocese, was ordained in St. Mary's Church, Burlington, on September 12, 1880. His first parish was St. Andrew's, Mount Holly, where he was rector from 1882 to 1889.

Mary E. Smith

Mary E. Smith, 41 years old, wife of Sylvester Smith, of South Church road, Moorestown, died at the Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly, on Monday, following an illness of just a few days.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral parlor of Elwood Belton and Sons. Interment will be made in Mount Laurel Cemetery.

The teachers in order that the latter can receive the assistance of the former's training and experience in dealing with individual cases. The follow-up work will proceed along the same lines as heretofore, including visits made at the request of the principal. Daily telephone calls by the nurses and the service at Dr. Rogers' office will be the same.

The nurses reported that the dental work is at a standstill because of the fact that Dr. Dunn is no longer willing to do the work at a loss; he wants a salary from the Board of Education. Everyone realizes the importance of care of the teeth, and much has been written about the time lost from school by children because of a bad tooth condition. Every up-to-date school system makes an effort to have a dental clinic, usually engaging a dental hygienist to clean the teeth and diagnose the oral needs of the pupils. She is capable of doing some minor dental work and sends the more serious cases to a dentist.

Very often two or three districts combine in employing a dental hygienist and Cinnaminson, Palmyra and Riverton are ideally located for such a project. This is suggested as a possible solution to the problem for it would be a step backward to discontinue a piece of health work so valuable and so well begun.

Tests Under Way
The testing of new children and of those who were to be given another chance this fall is under way. It will be our aim to permit progress from B to A sections, or vice versa, when a pupil's record indicates the advisability of such a change. An essential part of any plan of homogeneous grouping is the keeping open of the section doors so that the results of work, or lack of it, will be recognized in a positive way.

It is our plan to organize a few more extra-curricular activities in the upper part of the school. An orchestra will be the first of these to get under way, and if the necessary co-operation from the students is forthcoming, more will be undertaken.

In discussing that portion of Mr. Cooper's report referring to the proposition to pay Dr. Dunn a salary for dental work, it was the consensus of opinion that the dentist should make his charges to the parents of the patients high enough to meet his requirements, rather than to look to the School Board for a salary.

District Clerk Hemphill submitted a list of pupils who had been certified to the Palmyra and Moorestown High Schools for tuition this year. Twenty-six are going to Palmyra and six to Moorestown.

TWO MOORESTONIANS GET JAIL SENTENCES

Caught in Vice Clean-Up in Camden Ordered By Justice Lloyd

In one of the first moves to carry out Justice Frank T. Lloyd's demand for a clean-up of vice in Camden, two Moorestown men were among the 60 persons who received sentences Monday in police court. They were John MacDonald, 63, and Michael Sexton, 78.

MacDonald was sentenced to 60 days in jail on a charge of drunk-ness. Sexton, who was ordered to pay a fine of $25 for disorderly conduct and drunkenness, was unable to get the money and then received a jail sentence of 30 days.

Pneumonia was the greatest cause of death from disease in the World War. More than 40,000 died of this disease. Of these, probably 25,000 deaths resulted from the influenza pneumonia pandemic which swept through every camp and cantonment in this country and caused thousands of deaths in the expeditionary forces.

IN ORDER to be assured of adequate heat this winter, these are some of the things which ought to be looked into:

Are radiator valves O. K.
Did every radiator heat last winter
Did your pipes pound
Is your boiler clean
Smoke pipe in good condition
Dampers working properly
Have you automatic control
Are grates in good shape
Has plant proper safety devices.

A telephone call from you will bring an expert to make an inspection without charge. Then you'll know just what to expect from your heating plant.

Editor's Note: The thirteenth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles is presented by this paper as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

XIII—THE CAR STEALING "RACKET"

Today you are the owner of a car, paying yourself on the back for your good fortune in securing such a wonderful bargain from the fellow who lost money in Florida, or who suffered in the Wall Street crash. Tomorrow, unless you have exercised a degree of caution greater than that taken by most buyers of used cars, you may find yourself without an automobile, minus whatever you did pay for the car, and the possessor of a summons to appear in police court, or before the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, to explain how you came to be in possession of a stolen car. If this happens you will be simply one of thousands of victims of the "car stealing racket" in the United States, and, although you would not knowingly be a party to a crime, your loss, and your embarrassment, will be even greater than that of the car owner who actually suffered the loss by theft.

When a car thief steals an automobile he can ride away with his booty, a feature that makes this form of their attractive to the crook, and contributes to a gigantic fraud totaling $10,250,000 annually, exceeding thefts of jewelry and all other financial loss from other forms of theft combined. However, he must dispose of his loot, immediately. A stolen car in his own possession would result in his apprehension, and would destroy his easy means of livelihood. He therefore quickly disposes of a car to a buyer, or preferably works upon the almost unbelievable carelessness of the unsuspecting purchaser of used cars, and thus gets it into the hands of someone upon whom suspicion will not immediately be fastened.

License May Be Revoked
It is presumed, however, that the circumstances attendant to the purchase of stolen cars are such that the suspicions of the buyer should have been aroused, and as the holder of a "hot" car, as these vehicles are called in the parlance of the underworld, you may be prosecuted and summoned to appear before the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles on a rule to show cause why your license to drive should not be revoked.

New Jersey is located between the Metropolitan areas of New York and Philadelphia, with fourteen million population. It has been a fertile field for those who specialize in the sale of stolen cars, and assuming the duties of Commissioner of Motor Vehicles on April 1st, it was shocked to find that New Jersey was flooded with stolen cars, and hundreds of our people the victims of this nefarious practice.

There are four major reasons for auto thefts:

(1) For commercial value—gangs are well organized to steal and sell cars. They are well equipped and have established fences or receivers.

(2) As a means of transportation by crooks who want to escape on the scene of other crimes; they are also stolen for use in the transportation of liquor and narcotics, stolen farm produce, or other merchandise; cars stolen for this purpose are usually abandoned.

Heaviest Losses Nov. and Dec.
The owners conspire to have cars stolen or burned that are often submerged or taken in the woods and hidden. The heaviest losses in this type of car theft or fraudulent disposition are in November and December.

(3) Joy-riding. This is a form of theft hard to combat. Cars are often stolen by minors who are identified with the cars so briefly that the courts are sometimes lenient in dealing with the offenders. However, they are encouraging embryo thieves. These people find it so easy to steal a car and "get away" with it, that they are tempted to enter this lucrative field of crime. Cars are sometimes taken, too, by hating joy-riders, students, soldiers, sports fans who pick up a car to add them in getting to their destination.

To aid in preventing crime is the duty of the motoring public and the first and most important step of preventing theft is to always lock your car, even though it may remain unattended for only a few minutes, as thieves await just such opportunities to steal and conceal motor vehicles.

Vigilance Required
While theft prevention is a most important fact, the purchase of a second-hand car requires great vigilance, as sellers of stolen cars resort to convincing sales arguments, but their greatest success is in offering the car at a bargain price, which in many cases is so low a figure that the prospective purchaser should be placed on his guard and investigate to the fullest extent and particularly as to all names of seller, reasons for selling, etc.

Persons selling stolen motor vehicles use ingenious methods and are ready to sell cars purporting to be owned by them or giving convincing stories which would seem to be valid reason.

Some stories frequently used are as follows:

"Car was owned by a race track man who lost heavily on the horses and now finds it necessary to have immediate funds.

"Car is owned by a stock broker or other business man who has met reverses and must raise money at once.
"Car is being sold to settle an estate and must be sold at once.
"Car was found too expensive to operate, and owner now has a smaller car."

"Car is owned by man whose wife is getting divorce, and he does not want her to come in possession of the automobile."

Bargains Repossessed Cars
"Bargain automobile by reason of fact that it is a repossessed car."
The man who owns a car is concealing assets in bankruptcy."

Another excuse used by sellers of stolen cars is that car is owned by army officer, doctor or other person, who are obliged to go abroad, or are compelled to move to a distant point.

The person who approaches you may represent that he just wants a loan on the car, and may want to secure it again at a future date. Usually the seller will demand the full amount in cash, but once in a while an ingenious crook, in order to allay suspicions, will agree to take a small note in part payment.

While other excuses may be used, investigation of statements made by persons attempting to sell second-hand cars will quickly determine whether the car is stolen or legitimate, and will save possible trouble and financial loss.

When a second-hand car is offered for sale the numbers should be looked at, and if they show the slightest evidence of change or tampering the State Motor Vehicle Department should be notified, as the motor vehicle laws forbid the use of a car on the highway of this State which has any numbers removed, altered, covered, or mutilated, and prescribes a penalty for using such car, or even having same in possession.

Dangerous Buying
The purchase of a second-hand car from other than an authorized dealer or a person of good standing in the community and one having a permanent address at which place he can surely be found in case of necessity is dangerous and in many cases costly.

It is an amazing thing that many persons who would not think of buying a piece of property without having the title carefully searched, and in some instances who would not buy from a person unknown to them, and who might take the added precaution of having a survey made of the property, will buy an automobile from a total stranger, paying hard-earned cash, with no thought of examining the chain of title to the car, and without ascertaining whether it has altered or mutilated numbers.

The general public can be of great assistance to the Department of Motor Vehicles by reporting any suspicious circumstances or by furnishing facts which might lead to the recovery of stolen cars, or furnish information leading to the apprehension of automobile thieves, or sellers of such cars.

In no case will the Department of Motor Vehicles divulge the names of persons furnishing information and all communications will be treated confidential.

The Scrap Book
Sweet is the voice that calls
And soft the breezes blow,
From babbling waterfalls
In meadows where the downy seeds
Are flying;

And eddying come and go,
In faded gardens where the rose is dying.

Among the stubbled corn
The blithe quail pipes at morn,
The merry partridge drums in hidden places.

And glittering insects gleam
Above the reedy stream,
Where busy spiders spin their filmy laces.

At eve, cool shadows fall
Across the garden wall,
And on the clustered grapes to purple turning;

Along the eastern sky,
Where the broad harvest-moon is redly burning.

Ah, soon on field and hill
The winds shall whistle chill,
And patriarch swallows call their flocks together

To fly from frost and snow,
And seek for lands where blow
The fairer blossoms of a balmy weather.

The pollen-dusted bees
Search for the honey-lee,
That lingers in the last flowers of September.

While plaintive mourning doves
Coo sadly to their loves
Of the dead summer they so well remember.

Yet, though a sense of grief
Comes with the falling leaf,
And memory makes the summer doubly pleasant.

In all my autumn dreams
A future summer gleams, Passing the fairest glories of the present!

International Sunday School Lesson for September 21
JONAH — THE NARROW NATIONALIST REBUKED
Jonah 3:1-5, 10; 4:1-11

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.
"You are a Jonah" is a phrase that is often used when one makes a mistake, and it is usually a clumsy one.

Many are so disturbed over the "whale" that they fail to get the great lessons on foreign missions, grace abounding and the triumph of a cowardly man. "Great fish" is the meaning of the Hebrew.

Jehovah gave commission to Jonah at his home Gath-hepher, near Nazareth, to go to Nineveh some 800 miles away and proclaim their sins and that the city would be destroyed if they did not repent within forty days. Jonah went 50 miles in the opposite direction to the port of Joppa and there took shipping for Tarshish in Spain that he might get as far away as possible from the place where he should have obeyed God. The storm, the casting of lots pointed him out as the cowardly messenger. He was cast overboard.

Even after Jesus Christ gave the great commission to preach the Gospel in all the earth it was over 1700 years before the matter of missions to other nations was taken at all seriously. It was Peter who gives us further understanding of the heart of God in our Golden Text: "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to Him." Acts 10:34-35.

MAIN STREET LOOKS VERY LATESTS AT BROADWAY
BY ERNEST CAMP JR

In a city where children are so scarce, and where human beings display so little love for one another, it is not surprising that people should take their pets seriously. One of the most common afflictions is lavished upon dogs and cats.

Wealthy New Yorkers, especially, display in some cases an almost incredible devotion to pets. Perhaps the most famous example is the woman that has a $2,000,000 playground all its own.

He belongs to the wealthy and eccentric Wendell family, only one member of which is now living—an elderly spinster. In the gloomy old mansion looking down upon Fifth Avenue, she lives a secluded life. It is said that her bedroom contains two beds with silken covers. One is for her, the other for the poodle.

Every day the dog is taken for a walk in a small courtyard adjoining the house. A solemn household rite, this is guarded from the public gaze by means of a high wall.

Repeated efforts have been made by business interests to buy the plot of ground. The family is said to have been offered as much as $2,000,000 for it. But no—the poodle must have his playground.

At Hartsdale, N. Y., near the metropolis, is the Hartsdale Canine Cemetery. Here wealthy and sentimental people have expended fortunes upon tombstones for their departed pets.

Towering above other costly marble shafts is the $40,000 monument that the M. F. Walsh family, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., erected above the grave of their three, Mexican Chihuahua and two water spaniels.

A $25,000 marble arch marks the last resting place of two Pekinese. Guarding the cemetery entrance is a magnificent memorial to the war dog, placed there by popular subscription.

Mourners kneel, weeping, at graves of cats and dogs piled high with costly flowers and toys. Tombstones bear epitaphs expressing love and undying sorrow, and the hope of a reunion in the hereafter between dog and master.

One New York woman has visited the graves of her two dogs, Colonel and Tigie, every Sunday for fifteen years. She has an especially built wicker chair that permits her to sit for hours looking sorrowfully at the grave.

But the most touching dog story I ever heard took place in my own experience. I was working on a weekly newspaper in Monroe, Georgia (Chamber of Commerce please note).

Hobo was a collier, and the kind of dog that makes a fellow think more of dogs and less of men. A real pal.

But one day Hobo, frolicking with a neighbor's child, bit a youngster. Frantic parents insisted that the animal be killed and the head examined for rabies.

I could no more have killed Hobo than I could have cut off my own right arm. I asked a policeman to do it. Gun in hand, he walked out beyond the city limits, Hobo frisking at his heels.

Five minutes later I was hunched over my typewriter. Very much depressed over the loss of my pet, I was having a struggle grinding out a story. I fidgeted and fidgeted.

There—outside the glass door—was Hobo. His head cocked to one side, with that quizzical, perky expression that only a dog-lover knows, he had planted his forepaws against the door, pleading to be let in.

"What's the matter here?" he seemed to whine. "I've never been treated this way before."

I pretended not to see. A little while later, the man with the badge reappeared, and Hobo was led off again—this time for good.

And I grew furiously busy at that typewriter, writing something that didn't matter, something I couldn't even read.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

SANDWICHES

When in doubt about refreshments for the summer party, serve sandwiches—dainty little sandwiches that intrigue the appetite and satisfy it without giving one a feeling of repulsion.

If you serve afternoon tea—which usually consists of iced drinks in summer—serve dainty little sandwiches with crisp lettuce, cucumber, or green pepper and cream cheese filling. If you want to provide refreshments for tired tennis players make some dainty sandwiches which will prove more acceptable than cakes or crackers. For the afternoon or evening bridge party when light refreshments are wanted, serve a fruit salad, with sandwiches, and a choice of hot coffee or iced drinks. For the late supper after dancing a plate of carefully made little sandwiches and glasses of ginger ale provide just the bit of refreshment that most people find most acceptable.

SCISSORS FOR LETTUCE
Use a pair of scissors to cut the lettuce leaves before putting them in the sandwiches and to trim off all edges that project beyond the edge of the sandwiches.

Have as part of your sandwich-making equipment a small wooden chopping bowl and chopping knife and use this for chopping nuts, green peppers, onions and other ingredients that would be mashed in the meat grinder. Where only small amounts of meat are needed it is easier to chop them in the bowl than to use the grinder.

Have a grater at hand to use for grating cheese or apples needed in making sandwich mixtures.

SPANISH OMELET
A well made and well seasoned Spanish omelet is a lunch in itself. Melt a tablespoon of butter in a saucepan, add an onion chopped fine, six mushrooms and one red and one green sweet pepper cut in small pieces, cover and cook slowly for twenty minutes. Make a plain omelet from six eggs, turn it on a hot platter, pour the Spanish sauce, around it and send at once to the table. Spanish omelet is sometimes made by American cooks from stiffly beaten eggs, the yolks hardly mixed with the whites, even after they are cooked.

Photograph records of many famous singers, actors, statesmen and others are being collected for preservation in a Paris museum.

Here is the little scarf that we have found such a useful addition to the motor wardrobe, when almost every dress has short sleeves or is made without any sleeves at all. There are times when one is quite warm enough everywhere but across the shoulders and arms. One adds the little jacket to match the dress but hesitates about putting on a coat.

To fit a girl of average proportions you will need a strip of silk or light weight wool jersey fifty inches long and thirteen and a half inches wide. You may use a piece half as long and piece it in the middle if you like.

Carefully hem the material on the four sides and arrange buttons and buttonholes at the ends as shown in the diagram, taking care that the buttons appear at one side on one end and at the other side on the other end.

When you pack or carry the scarf it should be unbuttoned. When you put it on to keep your arms warm it should be buttoned. If you want protection for the throat and chest, wrap the scarf round the neck like a stock collar and then button one set of buttons and the buttonholes on the other end so that it forms a sort of high vest in the front.

LANDMARKS OF THE BODY

Of course it is stupid of anybody to speak of having "stomach trouble" unless one knows reasonably well the situation of that organ within the body. If you can, with a finger, locate the lower end of the breast-bone, you are not far from mid-way of the stomach in its long diameter from left to right. Its larger area is to the left; it narrows and drops slightly lower to its termination at the right, where it empties into the first portion of the small bowel. Near this point, beneath the "short ribs," the gall-bladder is hidden. If you invert a coffee cup two inches to the right of the point of the breast-bone, you will cover the site of gall-stone colic, and the burning distress of hyperacid stomach, and many cases of gastric ulcer or duodenal ulcer. Pain in this locality should have immediate attention.

Gaseous distension of the stomach is likely to bulge the area to the left, and just below the point of the breast-bone; I am not going into diagnosis here. I am trying to acquaint you with important localities.

This gaseous distension of the stomach is most likely to interfere with the heart-movements, for approximately two inches to the left of the point of the breast-bone, is the site of the apex-beat of the heart—easily encroached upon by the distended stomach. You ought to know at once if it is gas making your heart "palpitate."

Roughly speaking, your colon occupies a space beginning at the right "flank"; it ascends to just above the edge of the liver, bends leftward, crosses just below the stomach to a point opposite its first bend; then descends to the left "flank"; like a horse-shoe hanging toe upward. The coils of the small intestine lie within the area described by the colon, communicating with it low in the right flank. Here is the site of the appendix; colics in this region are worth watching closely. If I may digress: a "colic" anywhere within the abdominal space may, within twenty-four hours descend to the appendiceal region, and mark the site of an abscess. Remember that.

MAN DROWNED AS SAILBOAT UPSETS IN RIVER CHANNEL

Palmyra People Witness Tragedy From Shore. Unable to Aid

DELAY EXPERIENCED IN GETTING BOAT

Victim Thought to be William H. Simmons, of 3353 Malta
Street, Philadelphia

Within full view of several persons, all too far away to aid, a man, thought to have been William H. Simmons, 29, 3353 Malta street, Philadelphia, went to his death Sunday afternoon when his small sailboat capsized on the Delaware River, a short distance upstream from the Taunoy-Palmyra Bridge.

Among those to see the tragedy were Miss Eleanor Ballentine, a teacher in the Palmyra High School, and Ivin J. Wanles, 201 Garfield avenue, Palmyra, who were seated on the old Taunoy-Palmyra Ferry slip, while sketching. William Flick, Bristol, Pa., workers on a barge tied to the ferry wharf were also witnesses of the accident. They were fully a half mile from the scene and powerless to help.

Near the ferry slip at the time were H. Clifford Allen, 22, of Merchantville, and Robert Harvey, 25, of Oaklyn, who were in a canoe rigged with sails. They also witnessed the drowning and made every effort to get to the scene in time to affect a rescue. They had no more than set their course in that direction when Simmons went down and was not seen again.

According to witnesses Simmons was sailing his boat near a buoy which marks the channel between the ferry slip and the bridge. He was seen to stand up in the boat evidently changing his position, when a gust of wind caught the boat and threw him into the water.

The boat continued down the river with the tide and Simmons swam after it until a sudden squall struck the boat and reversed its direction, driving it upstream and some distance from the swimmer. Seeing it would be impossible to get close enough to the boat to get hold of it, he turned and started for the New Jersey shore, apparently not seeing the buoy, which was considerably closer. After swimming a short distance he became exhausted and, shrieking for help, soon sank below the surface.

A hurried call was sent to the Palmyra Police Department and Officer Charles Lutz, who was on traffic duty at the time at Broad street and Channell avenue, responded immediately with a pumpboat and grapple hooks. Officer Joseph Rodgers followed him a few minutes later, after notifying the Philadelphia police and calling various yacht clubs for boats.

Some difficulty was experienced in getting a suitable boat to the scene for grappling and valuable time was lost. Boats from the Riverton and Keystone Yacht Clubs arrived after a few minutes and assisted the officers in grappling for the body. Chief of Police Quigley, of Riverton, came in one of the boats and assisted in the attempt to recover the body.

The water at this point is about forty feet deep and considerable trouble was encountered with the light grapple hooks. The Philadelphia police arrived with a larger boat and more complete equipment after a short time and took charge of the work. They continued until darkness without results. Continued grapping Monday was also futile.

The possibility of the body drifting down the channel into a sixty-foot hole dug by the dredge which has been filling the lowlands, and either getting lodged in the hole or being sucked into the blower which pumps the dirt into the marshes, has lessened the hope of recovering the corpse.

The boat which carried Simmons to his death beached on the Pennsylvania shore some time later and it was from this that police traced the identity of the drowned man. It was identified as his boat and he was known to have left his home to go out in it.

Palmyra Girl is Bride of Westmont Man In First Wedding in New Baptist Church

Miss Anna Mary Yerkes Married to Lindsey Little in Ceremony Performed by the Rev. George Lockett Assisted by the Rev. C. W. Dannenhauer

A very beautiful early autumn wedding took place Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in the Central Baptist Church, Palmyra, when Miss Anna Mary Yerkes, daughter of Mrs. Mary J. Yerkes, of 509 Delaware avenue, Palmyra, became the bride of Lindsey Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Little, of Westmont.

The Rev. George Lockett, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. C. W. Dannenhauer, a brother-in-law of the bride. This was the first wedding to take place in the new Baptist Church building.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Clarence T. Yerkes, of Riverton, was gowned in a most becoming model of white satin with a lace yoke and short puff sleeves. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and orchids. Her veil was arranged with a headpiece of California orange blossoms.

Miss Esther Yerkes, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore an attractive creation of printed celanese trimmed with pink tulle and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses. Miss Sarah

Gibson, of Philadelphia, was the only bridesmaid. She was attired in a stunning gown of lavender satin and carried pink roses tied with a lavender satin ribbon.

Little Ruth Yerkes, a niece of the bride, made a most charming flower girl in a frock of pale green flax crepe. George Scheerer, of Camden, acted as best man and Ridge Yerkes, brother of the bride, of Philadelphia, and Howard Little, brother of the bridegroom, of Westmont, were the ushers.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers, which were furnished by Gaehering's of Philadelphia. The decorations made a most attractive background for so colorful a wedding party.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. About forty guests from South Jersey and Philadelphia were present.

The happy young couple are now enjoying a honeymoon at Jefferson Heights, Catskill, N. Y., and upon their return will take up their residence in their newly furnished apartment at 705 Lincoln avenue, Palmyra.

WELFARE FACES WINTER PROBLEM

Fears Result of Prolonged Period of Unemployment
During Cold Weather

The Community Welfare Association of Palmyra, Riverton and Channell, held its first meeting of the fall and winter season in the P. O. S. of A. Hall last Thursday morning.

The treasurer reported several outstanding bills which he hopes to get straightened out in the very near future.

George N. Wimer, president, stated that he looked to the winter months with a feeling of much dread, owing to the fact that so many men had been out of work during the summer months and knowing how much harder it is to obtain employment in the winter.

Mr. Wimer appointed a committee of three, Ross E. Stover, Evan Stover and Joseph T. Evans, to prepare a 1930-31 budget in order to have some idea of the amount of money needed to carry on the fall and winter activities of the association.

It was suggested the members who are not coming out regularly to the meetings be spoken to, personally, about their attendance and told it is a matter of vital importance with so much to be done within a short time.

The association will probably start its drive for funds early in October and it is hoped that everyone in the three towns will make a special effort to help with the good work.

JURY AWARDS VERDICT OF $346

A jury in Common Pleas Court Tuesday awarded a verdict of $346 in favor of Annie E. Holstein, Philadelphia, against the estate of J. Edwin Lees, former Palmyra Councilman. The plaintiff claimed she endorsed two notes for Lees for $250 each before his death in 1928. The jury found a verdict of no cause for action in one of the notes and added $90 interest in the other. The case was tried at Mount Holly.

Public Service Stresses Cooperation at Dinner to Riverfront Officials

New Transportation Policy Will Take Into Consideration the Needs of Various Municipalities; Burlington and Beverly Protest Extra Fares

Cooperation was the keynote sounded by the Public Service Company in outlining its new transportation policy before a gathering of riverfront officials at the Mansion House, Fieldsboro, near Bordentown, last Friday evening.

Officials from every municipality from Trenton to Camden along the riverfront were invited to be present at a dinner given by the company. William A. Worth, of Beverly, represented the Public Service Company.

Many were of the opinion that the company would propose elimination of trolley service at the meeting but they were informed this was not the reason for calling the meeting and that no such proposal would be made at present.

It was explained that the company wishes to get the opinions of the people affected in an effort to improve service and plan for the future. It was represented by John Straw, attorney, as spokesman and other transportation experts.

TILLCUM STAFF ELECTED AT PHS

Robert Finney is Editor-in-Chief of 1931 High School
Year Book

The staff of the Tillcum, year book of the Palmyra High School, was elected last week by the Senior Class. Robert Finney was selected to be the office of editor-in-chief; Murray Kirkpatrick was chosen as business manager, and Fred Green was given the post of associate editor.

The circulation managers are Marie Jander, William Brown and Arthur Tover. The advertising managers are Harold Lybrand, Robert Young and Archie Seabrook.

Two new positions have been created on the staff this year, namely: a photographic editor, whose work will be arranging for the great number of photographs that go into the Tillcum, and a personnel editor, who will write the individual Senior histories. Rodman Merrill fills the office of photographic editor, while Sylvia Shields and Louise Smith will perform the duties of personnel editors.

The remaining duties of the staff include Virginia Zavotti, girls' sports editor; Marjorie Spahr and Irene Bippie, art editors, and William Landgraf and Charlotte Hollingshead, secretaries of the staff.

Already plans are being made to produce the finest Tillcum yet published. The first step will be the presentation of "That's That," a Roger theatrical production, in the form of a musical comedy. This play will supplant the "Minstrels" of last year. The dates set for the presentation are October 31 and November 1. The production will be staged in the high school auditorium.

Many people will remember this play as the production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, three years ago. This fact alone should speak for itself. It should be said, however, that the production of the co-operation given by the "Tillcum Minstrels" last year by the student body, it will be the outstanding event of the season.

During the next week, printers, photographers and engravers will be interviewed, to determine who gets the contracts for the work of publishing the 1931 Tillcum.

NEW EAGLES' IN RIVERTON TROOP

Three Riverton Lads Attain Highest Rank; Other Badges Awarded

The Riverton Scouts have just completed a rather successful summer in spite of handicaps. Most of the Troop attended Burlington County Boy Scout Camp near Wrightstown for periods varying from one week to four weeks. As is known to many Riverton people, Burlington County Boy Scout Camp offers an almost ideal summer vacation for any boy. Under the capable camp directorship of Mr. Avery Bennett and of the Scout executive, Mr. Shaw, the boys received much valuable training in Scout craft, and with it had a bully good time.

Practically all the Scouts who attended the camp made much progress in test passing. Three members of the Troop reached the highest rank possible for a Scout to obtain, namely, Eagle Scout. The three new Eagles in the Troop are Scouts Patton Kinsey, Henry Natsby and Ted Hum. To become an Eagle Scout a boy must first be a First-Class Scout.

His record of satisfactory service as a First-Class Scout shall have been for a period of at least one full year. During this time he shall have qualified for twenty-one merit badges, which shall include First-Aid, Life-Saving, Personal Health, Public Health, Cooking, Camping, Civics, Bird Study, Plant Study, Powering, Athletics or Physical Development, and any ten of the more than fifty other merit badges available. These other merit badges include every conceivable activity which a boy may take up from Agriculture to Wood-Work. To have passed and passed successfully these many tests, living up to the rigid requirements demanded by the Scout regulations, is an achievement. The citizens of Riverton can well be proud of the boys who have accomplished it.

It is planned to present these badges at a church service to be held later in the fall. It is the custom of Troop 30, of Riverton, to hold Eagle Scout Presentation Services in the church of which the winners of the honor are members.

When the above mentioned Scouts receive their Eagle badges, Riverton Troop will number among its members five Eagle Scouts, the other two Eagles being Assistant Scoutmaster Henry Seabrook and Scout William Sheemaker, 3rd.

In addition to winning the Eagle Scout rank, Scout Kinsey served during the entire summer in charge of a Junior Counselor in charge of certain phases of Scouting activities in the camp.

The Troop is now launched on its regular fall and winter program of meetings. Mr. Garwood, the Scoutmaster, has planned a well-balanced program, which takes in all forms of Scouting activities.

Christ Church has arranged to turn over to the Scouts as a meeting room the large basement of the Parish House. An outside entrance is being cut, which will allow the Scouts to make use of their meeting hall without interfering with the rest of the building. The contract has already been let for the door. As soon as this is completed, the Scouts themselves will be in charge of the interior. The old wooden floor was removed by the Scouts during the summer and as soon as the rest of the cleaning and painting is completed, a new concrete floor will be laid. When finished, this meeting hall will be one of the finest ones in the County.

RIVERTON SCHOOL

Student Council Organized; Savings Plan Under Way

Three assemblies have been held at the Riverton School with varied programs, including piano solos, songs by individuals and groups, a short play, description of visits to interesting places by students, poetry and essays.

An orchestra has been started with six string instruments and drums. Miss Lucas will temporarily fill in at the piano, but later on a student will play.

Dr. Rogers, school physician, is well along on the medical examination, having missed only one day in a week and a half. Dr. Imhoff has assisted at times and the two community nurses are always in attendance.

A Student Council has been organized, consisting of nine members from Grades Six, Seven and Eight.

The idea is to vest in the children the under-faculty supervision. The children to have charge of extra curricular activities, and perform traffic duty at street crossings, for the protection of smaller children.

The Council is composed of: president, Ted Hum; vice-president, Mary Wilson; secretary, Robert Gust; treasurer, Lawrence Witte; Annie Glud, Robertson Coe, Lloyd Gladney, Dorothy Wolcott and James Burns.

The school savings began last Tuesday. The amount deposited was $60.57 and the depositors number 137, 424 per cent of the student body.

Several teachers are going to take the course at Burlington given by Dr. Howe, of Columbia University, entitled "Teaching the Individual Pupils" and others are going to Penn to take up special subjects.

Milk is on sale during recess and is being consumed at the rate of 50 bottles per day.

Novelty football schedules for P. H. S. may be had by applying at The New Era Office, Riverton.—Adv.

GEORGE N. WIMER AGAIN IN BUSINESS

Repurchases Insurance and Real Estate Agency He Founded 25 Years Ago

The real estate and insurance business established by George N. Wimer in 1905 again passes into his possession with the announcement that he has repurchased it from Harold B. Lever.

Mr. Lever, who graduated as an insurance specialist from the University of Pennsylvania shortly before moving to Palmyra, has accepted a position as branch manager of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Insurance Company and left Wednesday to take up his new duties at Bridgeport, Conn.

Mr. Lever decided upon the sale of the business after being appointed to his new position and offered it to Mr. Wimer. Mr. Wimer having retired from active business following the dissolution of the Palmyra-Riverton Realty Company in 1928, had declined to enter into competition in the insurance field as long as Mr. Lever retained the agency.

The Wimer business was founded in 1905 by the present owner and the late William H. Hires. Two years later it passed to Mr. Wimer, who conducted the business until 1925, when he sold it to the Palmyra-Riverton Realty Company. This firm was a consolidation of the Wimer business and that of Lamon and Griscom, which had been organized a short time before, and other real estate interests.

Mr. Wimer, upon his return to active business, welcomes his former customers, as well as new ones, and pledges the same conscientious service upon which his business was originally built.

COLLEGIATE PLAY BY WOMAN'S CLUB

"Aunt Lucia" to be Staged in Palmyra High School Auditorium

The Woman's Club of Palmyra will stage the great collegiate comedy "Aunt Lucia," October 10 and 11 in the high school auditorium. This production promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season in this country. It is a comedy of college life and more than 150 people are used in the cast.

This production has been staged throughout the United States with unusual success and many towns throughout the states have produced the show successfully.

The play will be staged by the Woman's Club and coached by Miss Beatrice Murchison, who is now in town arranging for its production.

Full particulars in regard to the people chosen and other details will be announced later.

DR. JOHN THOMPSON DORRANCE SUCCUMBS AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Noted Business Man, Scholar and Philanthropist Ill
Only Five Days

PRESIDENT OF CAMPBELL
SOUP COMPANY, CAMDEN

Was Chiefly Responsible for Development of Condensed
Soups in U. S.

Dr. John T. Dorrance died at his home, "Pomona Farms," last Sunday after an illness of a few days. He was in his 57th year, and apparently in fairly good health until about a week before his death, when he suffered a slight indisposition which was not regarded as serious. In fact, he was planning a trip to Europe within a few days.

The widow, Mrs. Ethel Mallinckrodt Dorrance, a son, four daughters and two brothers were at his bedside when Dr. Dorrance died. His daughters are Mrs. Nathaniel P. Hill, the former Ethel Dorrance; Miss Ethel Mallinckrodt Dorrance, Miss Margaret Winifred Dorrance. The only son is John Thompson Dorrance, Jr., a supervising granddaughter is Miss Dorrance Hill.

Two brothers at the bedside were George Morris Dorrance, of Philadelphia, and Arthur C. Dorrance, of Riverton, general manager of the Campbell Soup Company. Two sisters are Mrs. Robert H. Blake, of New York City, and Mrs. Roy Dudley, of Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were conducted at Christ Church, Riverton, of which Dr. Dorrance was a senior warden, at 11 a. m. Wednesday. Rev. Arthur D. Lewis, pastor of the church was in charge.

Married Baltimore Girl
Dr. Dorrance was married on August 16, 1906, to Miss Ethel Mallinckrodt, a member of a well-known Baltimore family. She has been associated with many charities and her husband also dispensed huge benefits to charity of which the public never learned.

Dr. Dorrance made his home at "Pomona Farms" in 1907. The property, formerly owned by William Parry, who, in conjunction with his brother, John R., conducted "Parry's Pomona Nurseries," established in 1838 and famous all over the Eastern part of the United States. The Parry brothers had adjoining residences on the property. The nursery business was sold to T. E. Steele in 1900.

Word of the death of Dr. Dorrance shocked Camden and industrial leaders, advertising experts, and scientists throughout the nation and even in places of Europe where he was well known for his contributions to the food of the world.

He was the originator of condensed soups, and it was the fruition of this idea backed by his enterprise that built up his immense fortune.

Dr. Dorrance received his early education at Rugby Academy, Philadelphia, and in 1895 was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a bachelor of science degree.

In 1897 he was graduated with a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Göttingen, Germany. It was during his student days, three years, that he conceived the idea of later making him a multi-millionaire.

In 1898 he returned to America and received his first job—that of chemist with the Joseph Campbell Preserve Company, at Second and Front streets. His uncle, Arthur Dorrance, was a member of the firm.

Paid $750 Per Week
His weekly stipend was $750, and in addition to this he furnished his own laboratory equipment. In fact, this equipment was the only "laboratory" which the company boasted. The company was operating at a $60,000 annual deficit when he arrived there. Two hundred varieties of food were being canned at the time.

"Let's throw these lines out and start making soups," he suggested to his uncle. His uncle was not so easily persuaded, but young Dorrance continued his experiments with soup. To ship soup you must ship a certain amount of water with it, and this was the thing which the young chemist had set himself to overcome.

A series of trips to butcher shops in Camden began. He experimented upon the meat he purchased. These experiments ended in success—the condensation of soups. From that moment on the Joseph Campbell Company prospered.

Educated the Nation
Advertising increased soup consumption. The quality of the soups improved, supervised by the most famous French and European chefs. The third year after originating the condensed soups Dr. Dorrance received a salary of $125,000 per week.

The use of the billions of cans of soups made by the firm built up his fortune. In 1914 he bought the business and succeeded his uncle as president. All preserved goods were dropped from manufacture and only beans, soups and spaghetti retained as the company's products.

Dr. Dorrance "grew up" with the firm through the production department and on January 17, 1910, he became general manager, after having served vice-president and a member of the board of directors since September 11, 1900. It was on January 5, 1910, that he bought the entire company.

Advertising became a "hobby" as well as a business with him. He had succeeded in producing a tasty soup (Continued on Page 3.)

DR. JOHN T. DORRANCE

COUNTY HOSPITAL DOING FINE WORK

1663 Cases Admitted in Eight Months; Death Rate and Costs Low

Few people in the county realize the magnificent work being done by the Burlington County Hospital at Mount Holly and the important place that this institution occupies in the life of the county.

For years woman service was done by the hospital, housed in the old wooden buildings now used as a nurses' training school and there doctors and nurses fought with diseases and injury and performed a service of incalculable benefit to our citizens. But as time drew on it was realized that the facilities for hospitalization in the county were sadly lacking.

In 1927 the problem was courageously faced and a county-wide appeal for funds to build a modern, up-to-date hospital met with a magnificent response, and today the county has, in the words of one of Philadelphia's noted surgeons "one of the finest equipped and managed hospitals in the outskirts of Philadelphia" and that every citizen of the county should be proud of.

For the period of eight months, ending August 31, 1930, the hospital admitted no less than 1663 cases, of which more than one third were treated without any charge whatever; almost another third were part-payment patients. There were nearly 900 operations performed, and 143 births, and yet of the cases admitted there were only 5 per cent. of deaths. A big majority of these were accident cases.

For the period under review the daily average number of patients in hospital was 114 and the highest population on any one day 98. That is, the hospital was filled to capacity, as it is always necessary to keep a few beds for emergency cases. The average cost per patient day was slightly in excess of five dollars, a cost far below that of many hospitals in New Jersey.

Such is the work being done in the community quietly and without ostentation, but most telling and constructive in the general life of the community.

REEVES NIGHT IS GREAT SUCCESS; FINE ATTENDANCE

Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., Palmyra, Pays Tribute To One of Its Members

EX-GOVERNOR STOKES SPEAKER OF EVENING

Many Officials of Order Praise Work of New Master of Forms

Members of the P. O. S. of A. turned out in full force to honor their brother member, Leslie W. Reeves, at a reception given Monday night in commemoration of his elevation to a state office in the organization.

Mr. Reeves, who is recording secretary of Washington Camp, Palmyra, was elected State Master of Forms at the recent State camp held in Trenton. This election puts him in line for the State presidency.

Former Governor Edward C. Stokes was introduced by George N. Wimer, acting as master of ceremonies, and made a very delightful speech which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mr. Stokes was elected governor of New Jersey in 1902 and served until 1908. Prior to this he was president of the State Senate and also Senator and Assemblyman from Cumberland county. Since his vacating the governor's chair he has served as president of the Mechanics' National Bank of Trenton.

Not Safe For Democracy
Mr. Stokes' address, while full of sparkling humor, was a serious discourse on Americanism. "The World War did not make the world safe for democracy," he declared. "There are more dictators in the world than ever before, witness Italy, Spain, Poland, Roumania and Jugoslavia. Germany, even, is on the verge of a dictatorship. Either dictatorships or democracy must fall."

"I do not mean to sound a note of pessimism," continued Mr. Stokes. "Mr. Wimer asked that this be a meeting of optimism and I am heartily in accord with him. America is not losing its democracy, but I feel it my duty to sound a solemn warning against all those subversive doctrines which are being preached by the disciples of Communism."

"America certainly does not deserve the criticisms aimed at her by Europeans," the speaker declared fervently. "When a tall man stands in a crowd all eyes are turned upon him, because he is conspicuous. It is so with America. She stands head and shoulders above the nations of the world and for this reason others are prone to find fault."

Divine Guidance
"God in his infinite wisdom has taken care of this great nation — giving us a Washington, when the pressing need of the day, given us a Lincoln, when only a great and humble mind could carry the dreadful burden of a nation divided against itself — giving us a Roosevelt, when only a Roosevelt could bring to a young and virile nation full realization of its great influence and the family of nations. Always we see the hand of God in the history of America," declared Mr. Stokes. "He has taken the best of the many races of Europe and welded them into a great American nation. Always those who sought opportunity in the new land have been the finest blood of their mother countries — the Puritans of New England — the Holland Dutch, of New York — the Quakers of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and the English Cavaliers of Old Virginia."

Mayor George N. Wimer, as master of ceremonies, opened the meeting and presented Mr. Reeves with a basket of flowers on behalf of the camp. He complimented the new state officer on the way he has worked in every office he has held in the Order and in presenting the flowers said: "The flowers are only a symbol of the feeling the members of this camp have for you. They will wither and die, but the love, affection and respect which the members of this camp have for you will live in their hearts forever."

Makes Acknowledgment
Mr. Reeves very graciously acknowledged the flowers amid the plaudits of the camp and thanked them in a few well chosen words, saying: "This is the banner night of my career as a member of this Order. It has always been a privilege for me to work in behalf of this camp and I hope my work with the state committee will reflect credit upon Washington camp. I will not be satisfied until Burlington county goes into first place in the State."

Mr. Reeves was warmly congratulated by several members of the Order who have attained high offices in the State. Among the speakers were the Rev. Lawrence Correll, State president; George H. Ritzman, commander-in-chief of the Commandery; Robert E. Milden, State vice president; George W. Smith, State secretary; Howard T. Jarrett, district president; Neil Jameson, William G. Magann, and Edwin J. Baker, past State presidents and George Stammetz, State guard.

66 CRIPPLED CHILDREN CARED FOR BY ELKS

That the Mount Holly Lodge of Elks is doing commendable work in caring for crippled children was shown in the report made to the lodge by Assistant Attorney General Robert Pascoe, who is chairman of the lodge's committee on crippled children. During the last year 66 children have received treatment, of which 25 underwent operations. Many were fitted with special braces and shoes and X-rays were taken to determine progress being made by treatment and operations.

Pew Plans Class Music Instruction for County Public Schools' Pupils

Realizing that music as a means of livelihood for the young men and women of today has greater possibilities due to good music becoming generally more known and appreciated, an arrangement has been made through the office of Burlington County Superintendent of Schools, Kaser, with Walter Pew, violinist, of Moorestown, for class instruction in the public schools of the county.

Mr. Pew will be assisted by Spencer R. Atkinson, pianist, of Burlington. An instructor will also be furnished for brass and reed instruments. Class instruction will be available to all pupils desiring to study violin, and class piano instruction to pupils that have a piano in their school.

Mr. Pew and Mrs. Atkinson were among the first teachers in Burlington county to take up instrumental teaching by the class method in their private school, the Pew-Atkinson plan.

POST RODGERS A WINNER AT OLNEY

Drum and Bugle Corps Takes Third Place, Beating East Orange

The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of the Frederick M. Rodgers Post, Palmyra, added more honors to their already long list when they captured third prize in the "Back Home Week Celebration" at Olney last Saturday.

A huge crowd lined Fifth street Saturday evening from the Roosevelt Boulevard to Godfrey avenue, to watch the parade of twenty gaily uniformed drum and bugle corps.

The parade followed the afternoon concert at the P. O. S. of A. Athletic Field, Eighth street and Taber road.

The first prize of the contest, with its award of $400 in cash, was captured by John Wesley Cross Post, No. 507, of Norwood, Pa. The winners were accorded well-earned applause as they marched down Fifth street in dapper red and gold-trimmed uniforms and Hessian plumed helmets.

Lancaster Post, No. 34, represented by a classy outfit in black-trimmed white uniforms, was awarded the second prize of $300.

The Palmyra aggregation, in their new outfits, were forced to be content with a third prize of $200. This sum will be used to help defray expenses of the corps when it goes to Boston to enter the National Championships October 8.

The Rodgers outfit had the satisfaction of beating out the East Orange Corps, which was awarded first honors in Wildwood, three weeks ago.

More than 2,000 persons watched the corps from Doylestown, Norwood, Wilmington, Woodbridge, Phoenixville, Glendened, Chester, Trenton, Lansdale, Marcus Hook, Ephrata and Havre de Grace, Md., participate in the afternoon competition.

Among the invited guests present in the reviewing stand set up at Fifth street and Olney avenue were Lieutenant Frank Schoble, National Vice-Commander of the Legion; Lieutenant Colonel Vincent A. Carroll, Past National Vice-Commander; Charles L. Egnard, Pennsylvania State Commander; James J. Deighan, Department Adjutant; Colonel Lewis J. Sorely, Chief of Staff, Seventy-ninth Division, and Congressman William W. Rorer, of Philadelphia.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR BIOGRAPHIES

Snoover Funeral Home Sponsors Contest Among School Pupils

Three prizes are being offered by Funeral Director Frank A. Snoover for the best and most complete biography and scrap book, taken from the advertisement, "American Biographies in Miniature," which appears in the advertisement of the Snoover Funeral Home, Inc., in each issue of this paper.

The first prize will be $10.00 in gold; second, $5.00 in gold and the third will be $2.50 in gold.

A complete written history of any one of the men whose miniature biography has appeared in this paper from October 2, 1930 to May 7, 1931, and also a scrap book, containing each week's advertisement, are all that are necessary to enter the contest.

The contestants are asked to keep three things in mind, first, completeness; second, neatness, and third, general appearance.

Following are the rules governing the contest: Contests starts October 2, 1930 and closes May 7, 1931. Any grammar school or high school student may enter the contest. The scrap book must contain each Snoover Funeral Home advertisement which appears in this paper from October 2, 1930 to May 7, 1931. Only one full and complete biography is necessary, but it must be one of the men whose miniature biography has appeared in this paper during the time of the contest. The entries will be judged according to completeness, neatness and general appearance. The scrap book and biography must be in the hands of Mr. Snoover by May 15, 1931. The names of pupils entering the contest must be given to the principal of the school which they attend not later than October 10, 1930.

All grammar and high school students of the two towns are urged to enter the contest. All those entering not only have a chance to earn in cash reward, but they also have a chance to gain a vast store of knowledge concerning men who have played an important part in the history of our country.

School of Music, Burlington. The class method of teaching is now generally used by teachers throughout the country, particularly for beginners. Class periods will be arranged by the principals of the schools and will be started October 1.

In schools where there are only five pupils to take the course, fifty cents per pupil will be charged. For six pupils and up to ten, the cost will be forty cents each and eleven pupils or more will be charged thirty cents per pupil, payable in advance for six lessons.

Through their several years of teaching experience, Mr. Pew and Mr. Atkinson have combined their ideas of class teaching with the experience of well known pedagogues of America and have found the class method to be highly successful.

Mr. Pew will visit the schools in the next two weeks and explain his plan.

1,050 PHEASANTS FREED IN COUNTY

Cooper Reports Every County in State Received Same Number

The New Jersey Fish and Game Commission has finished the distribution of the English Ring-necked Pheasants throughout the State, each county receiving 1,050 young birds in good shape, Benjamin W. Cooper, of Moorestown, state commissioner, has announced.

Burlington and Camden received the last of their quota which was distributed last week.

The distribution of fish throughout the State of New Jersey by the Commission from July 1 to September 1, 1930, is as follows:

Brook Trout	12,175

PLANE TRAVEL BEST, SAYS 'MAYOR' GRUBE

Chairman Mooretown Township Committee Makes Trip From Richmond in Third R. H. Time

"Mayor" F. W. Grube, father-in-law of Lieutenant H. H. Longaker, sponsor of the Burlington County Aero Club, is also an aviation booster.

The chairman of the Moorestown Township Committee is convinced that the "air way" is the "real way" to travel.

Last Saturday Mr. Grube was in Richmond, Va., and was very anxious to reach Moorestown. Instead of taking the train, he hopped aboard the mail-passenger Ford tri-motored plane bound for Central Airport, Camden, and made the trip to New Jersey in two hours and fifty minutes, about one-third the time it would have required to travel by train. The fare, said Mr. Grube, was only slightly more than he would have paid the railroad company.

In speaking of the trip, Moorestown's "Mayor" said, "I certainly enjoyed the ride; it was great! I shall continue to use this form of transportation between here and Richmond, where I go at least once every month."

TWO BARN BURN

30 Tons of Hay, 20 Tons of Straw Destroyed Near Mount Holly

Fire of unknown origin destroyed two large barns and a wagon shed on the farm of Frank J. Snyder, on the Mount Holly-Jacksonville road Sunday night, with a loss of $15,000.

The barns were filled with 30 tons of hay, 20 tons of straw, 11 bushes of wheat, farm machinery and three wagons. All that Snyder was able to save was his automobile and a hay loader.

Four fire companies were on the scene. The firemen saved the house, which was only about 90 feet from the barns. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

LACK OF LICENSE COSTS FISHERMAN $50 FINE

Joseph Candela, of 719 Ninth street, Philadelphia, was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace John Throckmorton, of Mount Holly, last Tuesday, on a charge of fishing without a license in New Jersey. Candela was arrested by Deputy Game Warden John M. Oliver, of Hainesport, while he was fishing in the Hainesport Creek at Centerton.

BIDS OPENED FOR PAVING WORK ON MORGAN AVENUE

Estimates Asked For on Both Concrete and Asphalt Surfacing

CHOICE LEFT UP TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY

Palmyra Concrete Company or Union Paving Will Get Contract

Bids for the paving of Morgan avenue were received by the Palmyra Borough Council at an adjourned regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The low bidder for concrete was the Palmyra Concrete Company at $14,841; for asphalt, the Union Paving Company at $11,338.

Postal cards were mailed to the property owners on the street immediately after the meeting, asking that they indicate their preference. The exact cost per fifty-foot lot of each type of paving was detailed on the cards.

Five firms bid on the work, three for both types of paving, one for concrete only, and one for asphalt only. The low bidder for concrete was the Palmyra Concrete Company at $14,841. The low asphalt bid was made by the Union Paving Company, the contractors who are doing the work on Lincoln avenue. Their estimate was $11,338.

Other bidders on the concrete alternative were the Pennsylvania Paving Company, $16,382; Union Paving Company, $14,408; Farnfield Construction Company, $15,838. The other asphalt estimates were as follows: Pennsylvania Paving Company, $14,841; Fish, Rutherford, Inc., $14,897; Farnfield Construction Company, $14,380.

The bids were regarded as exceptionally low for the work and supports the contention of Council that the paving can be done this year at a lower figure than any time in the past several years and probably lower than in future years.

A special meeting of Council will be held next Tuesday evening, at which time the contract will be awarded to the lowest bidder for the type of surfacing preferred by the property owners.

Morgan avenue, from the railroad southward to the Borough line, is the section to be paved under the contract. It is a wider street than Lincoln avenue and will cost correspondingly more. The cost of the street will cost $195 per fifty-foot lot for asphalt and $245 for concrete. These figures are based on engineers' estimates for total cost.

PARENT LOCATES DESERTED BOYS

Palmyra Police Find Two Children at Request of Grandfather

A story of parental neglect came to light last Saturday on the receipt of a letter by Mayor George N. Wimer, of Palmyra.

The letter was from J. P. Bill, of New York City, requesting the police to attempt to locate his two grandchildren, Edward Carter, 8, and Clyde Carter, 7 years old.

The children had been left to board with Mrs. Tillie Storick, Broad and Market streets, Palmyra, last November by their father, who gave his name as Clyde Carter. His right name was Solomon Carter. He agreed to pay five dollars a week for each of the two children.

Carter, who gave his address as 1723 Moyamensing avenue, Philadelphia, said his wife was not living with him and Mrs. Storick was recommended to him as a suitable person with whom to leave the children. The same person recommended Carter as a responsible father who had the welfare of the children at heart.

Carter was last seen in Palmyra, December 1, when he visited the children. At that time he ceased paying the children's board and vacated his lodging in Philadelphia.

All efforts to trace him failed, although Mrs. Storick kept the children. About three weeks ago, Carter was apprehended in Norfolk, Virginia, where he had murdered his wife with an axe and then attempted suicide by shooting. Although his suicide attempt was unsuccessful, he was taken to a hospital for his injuries.

Questioned in the hospital for a reason for the murder, Carter declared his wife had been living with another man. Carter died about ten days ago from an infection of the mouth. His suicidal injuries coupled with diseased teeth had proven fatal.

Carter's father-in-law, J. P. Bill, having heard of the double tragedy was at a loss to account for his grandchildren.

He sent word to the Palmyra police department explaining the case and asking them to aid in the search for the boys.

Mayor Wimer took charge of the case and within twenty minutes from the time the letter was received, the lads had been located and the grandfather notified.

Since the boys were in Chester, Pa., Saturday with Mrs. Storick, it was necessary for Bill to wait for their return to Palmyra Sunday.

Mr. Bill arrived in Palmyra Sunday and returned to New York with the children. He highly praised the manner in which the case had been handled by the Palmyra police.

State Bond Issue is Favored by Cooper

"I am very much interested in the $100,000,000 Bond Issue and I think the Freeholders have taken the right stand in endorsing the same for conservation and development, water rights, game sanctuaries and preserves, also the elimination of grade crossings," said Benjamin W. Cooper, of Moorestown, member of the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, and president of the Moorestown Chamber of Commerce, on Monday.

"It will enable," continued Mr. Cooper, "Burlington and other Counties to continue their State Highway projects as well as the improvement of the County roads."

The bond issue will be financed by the slight increase in the gasoline tax and will not reach the real estate tax.

AIR PILOT ASSISTS COUPLE TO ELOPE

Victor C. Williams Files Ship to Aberdeen, Md., Where Ceremony Occurs

A young Camden couple enlisted the aid of a Burlington County Aero Club pilot when they eloped last Wednesday. The elopers flew out to the Moorestown airport shortly after noon.

C. Victor Williams, president of the club, piloted the ship to Eglon, where John Kyler, twenty-five, of 2737 Garfield avenue, Camden, and Dorothea Ethel Griffin, eighteen, of 300 Fulton street, Camden, tried unsuccessfully to be married. The minister refused to perform the ceremony, declaring the bride looked too young.

Credit for the final success of their attempts to get married belongs to Williams. He had once been stationed at the Army Proving Grounds at Aberdeen, Md., and knew the ins and outs down there. He suggested that the couple go there and they agreed.

At Aberdeen they found the Rev. T. E. Brandt, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who performed the marriage ceremony on the proving ground.

As the newly married couple alighted from the plane at Moorestown, they were greeted with a shower of rice and old shoes from a number of people who had heard about the first elopement from the county airport.

STATE B. of A. HOLDS MASONVILLE SESSION

Delegates From Pennsylvania Also Attend Convention of N. J. Circles

The fifty-seventh annual session of the Grand Home of New Jersey, Brotherhood of America, was held last Thursday in the lodge rooms of the Centennial Circle No. 10, of Masonville. Delegates representing circles in New Jersey and Pennsylvania attended. The Pennsylvania delegation was headed by the grand secretary, Mrs. Katherine Fritz, of Quakertown, Pa.

Officers elected were: Grand guardian, Harriet Montefiore, of Bridgeton; grand mentor, Lizzie V. Bougher, of Masonville; grand warden, Mabel Dolan, of Masonville; grand herald, Margaret J. Smith, of Wrightstown; grand waiter, John J. Ester, of Pine, of Masonville; grand watchman of night, Margaret Dunn, of Trenton; grand trustee, Margaret Hall, of Bridgeton.

The session was presided over by Grand Guardian Lillian Hand, of Bridgeton.

Delegates from Washington, Charles H. Long and Supreme Scrollkeeper John Ruhl, of Philadelphia, national officials, were present.

An entertainment in the evening was sponsored by Centennial Home No. 7. Music was furnished by a group from Perkasie, Pa.

LEGION RALLY FOR OAKLYN SATURDAY

Posts From All Sections of State and Pennsylvania Expected to Participate

Every one is invited to the rally that is to be staged by Oaklyn Battlewood Post, No. 84, American Legion, at Oaklyn, Saturday, September 27. Posts from all over South Jersey, North Jersey and Pennsylvania will take part in the drills and contests.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the victors in the various contests. The parade, which will be one of the big features of the day, is expected to have hundreds of Legionnaires in line, all in their beautiful and varied colored dress uniforms.

At night the outstanding feature will be the finals for the Interstate amateur boxing championships. The amateur boys of New Jersey are especially urged to enter these contests.

There will be a baseball game, golf, pictures, free dancing and bowling.

MAN'S LEG BROKEN; WAS HIT-BURN DRIVER'S VICTIM

Dominick Surface, 52, of 1248 Imlinger street, Philadelphia, is in Burlington County Hospital leg and cuts and bruises of the body as a result of being struck by a hit-and-run driver on Saturday night while he was walking along the Mount Holly-Medford road near Cross Roads.

Another motorist took him to the hospital. State Police were notified. A description of the car which struck him was obtained by State Police.

There was a very decided pick-up in passenger hours at the Moorestown airport of the Burlington County Aero Club over the past weekend. The country is especially beautiful from the air at this time of the year.

The next air meet to be held in this vicinity is October 17 and 18. This meet is for the benefit of the proposed Chapel of the Air at Lakehurst, sponsored by the American Legion. Be sure and attend.

One of the events last Sunday during the boat races on the Rancocas was a race between a Chris Craft and Lieutenant C. Victor Williams in his Waco "Vic" stayed at about 500 foot altitude and ran rings around the Chris Craft.

Joseph Tate, of Haddonfield, a member of the Burlington County Aero Club, flew from Maine on Sunday in his new Waco "Vic" from Moorestown airport will be the permanent home for Joe's ship.

Our latest private pilot, Charles A. Baza, went up in the clouds the other day and I mean he went up. Charles soared to about five thousand feet and had as his passengers two charming ladies from Moorestown. High, who have been having trouble with higher mathematics.

Mark the dates of November 8 and 9 on your calendar now with big red circles. The Jersey air races sponsored by the American Legion Posts, will be held at the Moorestown airport of the Burlington County Aero Club. These races promise to be the largest and best ever held in the state. Watch the papers for further details.

OPEN HOUSE AT YMCA BUILDING

Entire Community Invited to Enjoy Program One Week
From Tonight

The Palmyra-Riverton YMCA will officially open its winter season next Thursday evening. The program will be of the nature of an "open house" and an invitation is extended to the entire community to visit the "Y" that evening and enjoy the full program being prepared.

A feature of the evening will be a lecture by Ross Musselman, who has traveled extensively in Utah and other mountain states.

Plans for the winter's program were discussed at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in the "Y" building last Thursday evening. Nathan Lane, Jr., of Riverton, newly elected president, presided.

Secretary William H. Plank reported that all preparations had been completed to have eleven groups organized. The entire leader's corps is planning to attend the state leader's conference to be held at Camp Oceanic, on October 4-5. This will be a statewide meeting and promises to give every man some real training.

A number of important matters had to be held over until the October meeting for further consideration. After adjournment the entire board made an inspection of the building.

A new group meeting room has been furnished on the second floor. The side walls of the gymnasium have all been refinished and the greater part of the building has been repainted.

Everything is in readiness for the greatest winter season the local association has ever had.

CINNAMINSON P. T. A.

The chairman of our membership drive, Mrs. John Hurl, has an interested team of workers who will endeavor to visit every home in the Township during the present week.

A circular letter of information will be sent to parents and all others who are interested in Cinnamon School No. 2.

The next meeting will be on October 1st (Wednesday) at 3.30 p. m., when a report of the drive will be given.

The music chairman requests all who can sing to be present.

A visit to the school today made it the usual Red Letter Day of the week for your correspondent.

Just go some time and see for yourself how delightful it is to see so many happy satisfied children all working willingly.

CORRESPONDENT.

DR. J. T. DORRANCE SUCCEEDS AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

and convinced the public of the value of the product, for while soup had been sold in cans in Europe it was always the complete product with water.

Depended on Advertising
It might be said that his campaign of educating the American public to use his product, made him the foremost exponent of advertising in this country. The Campbell Soup Company now spends more money than any other one concern in advertising one product.

In 1900 the firm spent $4000 on advertising, and now it spends more than $3,000,000 annually. Since 1900 the company has spent more than $50,000,000 in advertising.

The rollicking Campbell kids are as well-known to the universe as Alice-in-Wonderland, and the publicity which Dr. Dorrance used taught America to eat soups and appreciate the dietary importance of them as a food.

The company used produce grown on more than 60,000 acres, and these commodities put into cans are found on the farthest lands and the loneliest places—the result of advertising.

The astounding success of the Campbell Soup Company is attributed to the genius and enterprise of Dr. Dorrance.

The story of Dr. Dorrance's rise to fame and fortune is the story of an idea and the enterprise behind the idea that put it over, not only to the American public, but to the world.

The company was founded in 1869 by Joseph Campbell, who lived to see the commencement of the soup business through the genius of Dr. Dorrance.

In 1882, Arthur Dorrance, uncle of the doctor, became a co-partner with Campbell. In that year the company employed 25 hands constantly and 300 hands during canning season.

Scientists, dietitians and chemists agree that Dr. Dorrance's idea of condensing soup, and of educating the American people of its use, was of revolutionary effect on household economies. His product was tasty and sold at a popular price, and now, these scientists state, the idea has exerted a salutary influence. The soup ingredients, they agree, cut down dyspepsia, once the characteristic ailment of the American people.

Dr. Dorrance was a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Girard Trust Company, of Philadelphia; Guaranty Trust Company, of New York City; a member of the executive committee of the Philadelphia National Bank, and a director of the Port Reading Railroad and Philadelphia and Camden Ferry Company.

Liked Club Associations
He was a member of 32 clubs. Fifteen Philadelphia clubs are Automobile, Bryn Mawr Polo, Gulph Mills Golf, Manufacturers, Merion Cricket, Midway, Philadelphia Country, Philadelphia Gun, Racquet, Radnor Hunt, Rittenhouse, St. David's Golf, Techology, University, and Wilderness. New York clubs are Metropolitan, Midway, New York Yacht, Technology and Recess. Miscellaneous clubs are Camden Club, Camden Bar Harbor, Me. Club, Bar Harbor Yacht Club, Kebo Valley, Bar Harbor, Long Key Fishing Club, Florida, Madison Fork Ranch, Yellowstone, Mont., Riverton Country Club, Sea-view Golf Club, Sora Gun Club, Bridgeton, Shepherd Gun Club and Union Interallies, Paris, France.

Men of national prominence joined in paying solemn tribute to Dr. Dorrance at funeral services in Ivy-covered Christ Episcopal Church at Riverton Wednesday afternoon.

The services began at 11 a. m. with the arrival at the church of the funeral procession from the Dorrance home at Cinnamon. Two State Troopers on motorcycles led the procession.

The honorary pall-bearers were:

James S. Alexander, Philadelphia banker; F. Wallis Armstrong, advertising expert; Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Morris R. Bookius, Philadelphia lawyer; George Fritz Chandler, Philadelphia banker; Carl C. Conway, Boston banker; Jay Cooke, Philadelphia banker; Elisha Lee, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Effingham B. Norris, Philadelphia banker; Philip F. Nieuwkirk, purchasing agent of the Campbell Soup Company; Philip Stockton, Boston banker; W. T. Stotesbury, New York capitalist; Joseph Wayne, Jr., Philadelphia banker, and Herbert L. Williams, treasurer of the Campbell Soup Company.

At 10.30 a. m. a special train of six coaches and an observation car containing members of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad arrived in the Riverton station. These men, all of them close friends of Dr. Dorrance, marched in a body to the church. They were led by Sam Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

The church was filled to capacity when the Rev. A. S. Lewis, rector, preached the funeral service. The casket was covered with a pall of orchids and lilies.

During the service details of Camden, Riverton, Palmyra and Pennsylvania Railroad police in charge of Chief William Quigley, of Riverton, diverted all traffic from the vicinity of the church.

At the conclusion of the services, the procession started for West Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia, where the final rites were conducted by Rev. R. H. Gurley, pastor of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, Radnor. Dr. Dorrance was a senior warden in the Riverton Church.

GIRL SCOUTS TO MEET

The first regular meeting of the season of the Girl Scouts of Riverton, Troop No. 1, will be held Monday evening in the Social Hall of the Calvary Presbyterian Church. All members are urgently requested to be present, in uniform if possible. Patrol leaders will meet at the home of Mrs. Horace Ross, of 913 Washington avenue, Palmyra, Saturday morning at nine o'clock, to complete plans for Monday evening's meeting.

Mary Johnson and Billie Carter, school girls of Ketchikan, Alaska, go bathing daily in the ice-cold waters of their northern home.

NEW TARGET FOR PISTOL PRACTICE

Official Mark Has Smaller Bull's-Eye: Highest Possible Score
150

The police engaging in the weekly target practice with revolvers, at Riverton, are taking their shooting seriously.

Officer Miller secured some official pistol targets which were used this past Saturday in place of the old hand-made ones. With the new target a bull's-eye counts ten points. It is smaller in diameter than the old one—the successive rings from the bull's-eye are separated by a distance of about two inches, and the score is graduated from ten to two in the usual way. Five shots are taken from a distance of 75 feet and ten from 50 feet.

Some police departments are keeping a record of the scores their men make and the competition between individuals is extremely keen and in some cases humorous.

That the practice is an excellent idea is the opinion of most everyone, and denotes a progressive attitude on the part of the men and officials responsible.

Williams, a civilian, who shoots weekly, has made some excellent score and was high this past week with 142. Three weeks ago an error was made in Mr. Williams' score and 20 was listed in the papers instead of 70 which he actually made.

Sergeant Johnson, who counts the shots and marks up the scores, is very careful that the record is accurately made. The wrong score published for Mr. Williams was a typographical error.

The results of the practice are as follows:

DOES WINTER TAKE A ROOM WITH YOU?

In a great many homes the "west room" or the "north room" or one of the bedrooms, has to be closed off during very cold weather because it can't be warmed. It means that one room can't be used when it's cold.

The trouble may be anything, from the boiler to a radiator valve. But it can be corrected.

Telephone us — we'll inspect your heating plant, and we'll dispossess Winter of that room it has been taking!

AUTOMOBILES and CHILDREN

"School, Go Slow." Do you obey that warning sign when you see it? Or are police officers and schoolboy patrols stationed to guard the school children from automobile drivers like you?

What is your opinion about the many traffic accidents of which children are victims? How about all these impatient drivers who can't slow up a particle on a street where children are playing or crossing to a schoolhouse.

If the speeding element had the right spirit, they would decide never to drive in any way affecting the safety of any little child. They would give the small folks the benefit of every doubt.

It makes no difference even if some excitable kid, hurrying to pick up a baseball, does rush out in the street where he has no business. Even then the driver should have his car under such control that the too heedless youngsters will be safe.

A driver who will take a chance on crushing the life out of an innocent child, should be operating a wheelbarrow instead of an automobile.

An annual expenditure of $36,720 by the federal government on an almost completely unknown work directed from here holds possibilities of aid to the individual farmer which will shadow all the gigantic marketing, planting advisory and other projects sponsored by the government.

The $36,720 mentioned is the yearly appropriation which the astronomical observatory receives from Congress for its study of solar radiation. Solar radiation may sound technical; reduced to ordinary terms it means the heat the sun sends to the earth. In other words it is the source of life for everything that does live on the planet.

Furthermore, if its variations and changes, heretofore unpredictable, can be reduced to an understandable system, the scientists who do so will be able to tell the farmer, insurance man, baseball fan and anyone else interested in the weather, just about what will be happening to the climate two years or more ahead.

In other words, if the sun's eccentricities had been understood two years ago, the drought which has crippled so many individuals this year could not have crept upon us as it did. Every area which was likely to suffer would have been warned two years ago, in time to assure water supply, change plantings, even to dig wells or build additional storage structures.

Dr. C. G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who is directing this work, does not promise that predictions of such accuracy can be achieved at any time within the immediate future. But there is plenty of evidence to show that such predictions will be routine work for the weather man of the future.

It is already known, for instance, the sun's radiation varies in periods of definite length, one period of two years, another of 15 months and another of 11 months. It is already known that the cycle of sunspots on the sun is 11 years. Taken together these make up what "seem a predictable variation of the sun," according to Dr. Abbott.

The complex nature of this study is heightened by the effect wind circulation over thousands of miles, also in cycles, and by the oceans, mountains and valleys on the earth's surface.

So marked will be the effect of these factors that it has been shown that an increase in the radiation of the sun, far from causing higher temperature in North America, would cause cooler temperature because of the effect of clouds, humidity and similar forces over this continent.

All that is needed, however, despite these complications, to enable successful long-range weather forecasts, is more statistics, say the scientists. The astronomical observatory is gathering these through its stations in California, in Chile and cooperating with the National Geographic Society, in southwestern Africa. In addition, observers all over the world are engaged in the same work on humidity, clouds, winds and the related phenomena.

Practical long-range forecasting therefore may not be nearly so far in the future as it now appears.

Few things in Washington bring home to the casual visitor the vastness of the federal machinery more than a single day's batch of statements from the commerce department press room. Here in a single handful of blue and white mimeograph paper is information on coffee prices in Hejaz, the Danish trade in rubber footwear, the installation of new airports in British Honduras and even the status of an air traffic investigation now under way in Greenland. All of these are actual specimens of the data the department daily grinds out. These are the tangible results of the hundreds of long fingers the department has in foreign commercial pies. Each is based on a report from an individual trade commissioner. The government is spending $1,862,563 on the work this year. In 1925 it spent $1,208,844.

THE CHARACTER OF A HAPPY LIFE

By HENRY WOTTON (1684)

How happy is he born and taught
That serveth not another's will;
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill!

Whose passions not his masters are;
Whose soul is still prepared for death,
Not tied unto the world by care
Of public fame or private breath;

Who envies none that chance doth raise
Nor vice; who never understood
How depths of wounds are given by praise;
Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from rumors freed;
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers
feed,
Nor ruin make oppressors great;

Who God doth love and early pray
More of His Grace than gifts to lend;
And entertains the harmless day
With a well-chosen book or friend;

This man is freed from servile bands
Of hope to rise, or fear to fall;
Lord of himself, though not of lands;
And having nothing, yet hath all.

The Surrogate Fight

Burlington county voters will have a long time to consider this one, but think it over.

According to all present indications, there will be a battle for the Republican nomination to the office of Surrogate next spring.

The Surrogate's office has jurisdiction over wills, testaments, and many of the legal details of the county governing body. The position is very adequately filled now.

The only thought in connection with the coming fight that the Daily Enterprise wishes to put before the voters is that the office is more responsible than most county berths. It requires a special education for successful handling.

The Surrogate should be a lawyer. When you go to the polls next spring remember these six words.

The Surrogate should be a lawyer. —Daily Enterprise, Burlington.

DRIVERS' LICENSE REVOKED

AFTER HE BUMPS TWO CARS

Charles Force, 18, of North Tenth street, Camden, a former resident of Burlington was arrested by Officer Nathaniel Estlow Saturday night for reckless driving.

Force was driving west on Union street between York and Stack streets, when he hit the car of Frances Morris, parked at the side of the street, and the car of Councilman J. Park McConnell. Force tried to go between the two cars. He did not stop to see what damage he had done. When caught it was found that he had no registration card. At the hearing in the City Hall, Leedom Smith, his driver's license was revoked for one year. He must pay for all damages to the two cars. After a reprimand he was released.

TIME

We have almost reached the point where the work of the world can be done in half the time that it took twenty years ago. The shortening of the hours of the working day in industry has only just begun according to the U. S. Department of Labor. The eight-hour day is general in many industries, but in some sections the ten-hour day still prevails.

It is the belief of those that have studied the subject closely that a universal seven-hour day will give everybody work at all time, except for a reasonable vacation period, and would not slow up production below the demand for finished products, in any line. The difficulty is to get competing industrial establishments to agree to the change. Such difficulties are not insuperable, however. Twenty years ago nobody would have believed that it would be possible to get all of the department stores in New York to agree to close all day Saturday in summer, but it has been brought about.

The newest thing in building construction is the "hung" building. Instead of a foundation as big as the building, with posts at the four corners, the building is hung from a single steel pole set in concrete and resting its lower end on bedrock.

Two such "hung" buildings have been constructed in New York. The center pole is in the middle of the building, and all of the steel floor beams are suspended from it and braced against sagging. The outside of the building is merely a shell of brick or terra-cotta to keep out the weather and does not have to support anything more than its own weight.

Now efforts are being made to introduce lighter materials for the walls and floors of hung buildings, including featherweight, fireproof concrete for floors and glass for the outer walls. Another innovation is steam radiators only ankle-high.

One set of inventors is working on a scheme of weaving rugs and draperies with electric wires concealed in the fabric through which a current can be run to keep the room warm, on the principle of the electric heating-pads, now familiar everywhere.

ICE CREAM

Every person in the United States ate three gallons of ice-cream last year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. If you got less than that, somebody else ate more. The consumption of ice-cream has increased by one-half in ten years.

We are shipping ice-cream from America now to every part of the world. At present, Cairo, Egypt, or Bombay, or Hong Kong, you will find a well-known American brand of ice-cream on the menu. One of the greatest inventions in the food life is the homogenizer used by ice-cream manufacturers, which enables them to store surplus cream through the winter in the form of butter. Butter will keep where pure cream will not. It is run through the homogenizer, which breaks up the fat globules, mixing them with milk, and pure cream is the product, which can then be flavored and frozen.

LIGHT

A young man named Elmer Sperry went to Chicago fifty years ago and began to make electric arc lights. He built a tower on the top of the Board of Trade Building and installed 20 electric arcs, which gave 40,000 candle power of light. It was the wonder of its time, but another young man named Edison brought out incandescent light that soon replaced arc for city lighting.

Elmer Sperry kept on experimenting with arcs, however, and developed the searchlights which are used today by every navy in the world and by most armies.

Sperry died a few weeks ago at the age of 70, but before his death he gave the city of Chicago the light powerful light ever built. It is known as the Lindbergh Beacon and was first used during the national air meet in August. It stands on a tower 600 feet above Lake Michigan, and throws a light more intense, per square inch of radiating surface, than that of the sun. It can be seen for 200 miles, to guide flyers to the Chicago Airport.

Who could want a better monument than that?

FREEZING

After three or four years experimenting with frozen fish and meat, one of the largest food distributing companies is now going for frozen fruits, vegetables and oysters. Modern methods of instant freezing instantly check all tendency to decay. When the frozen product is thawed out it is said to be exactly as good as when fresh.

Spinach, cherries, loganberries, red raspberries and peas are among the foodstuffs to which the freezing process of preservation has been applied with success thus far. In addition to practically all kind of meat and seafoods.

Policeman Mays arrested Miss Ella Ryan, of Chicago, for intoxication because she kissed him, and she was fined $25.

Because her husband likes to play ghost and frighten her, Mrs. Caroline Martin, of Hull, Eng., was granted a separation from him.

TAKING THE GUESS OUT OF BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

BANKERS and business men err in not adopting more universally the tactics of the scientist. When the scientist wishes to fathom the mysteries of the universe or to solve things into their component parts he calls to his assistance the magnifying power of the microscope.

There before him, like an open book, lie the secrets of nature which unaided eyes cannot observe.

The uncanny power of the microscope's all-seeing eye has revealed countless secrets for the material and intellectual progress of humanity. It has enabled us to study the processes of growing cells in plant and animal life, trace the causes of disease and successfully combat the ills of mankind; it has aided the engineer in his search for stronger and more serviceable materials, giving us taller, lighter and more sanitary structures, and better highways; it has disclosed the defects in steel rails and brought us an era of safer railway travel; it has added to the food supply of the nation; in fact, it has affected favorably nearly every activity of the human race, whether it apply to production, distribution or consumption, in time of peace or in time of war.

In the business and banking world, economic research and analysis serve as the microscope through which we are enabled to see basic factors more clearly and thus determine the causes of success and failure. Only recently have we begun to realize the full value of research and analysis and apply them in such a way as to eliminate the guesswork that was characteristic of industry a few years ago. "Eliminate the guess and reach success," might well be a motto for all of us.

Banking Conducting Continual Research

The American Bankers Association is daily submitting every phase and every department of banking to searching scrutiny and study, says John G. Lonsdale, president of this the world's greatest financial association. The findings of these investigations are made available to the 20,000 members of the organization for their guidance.

"It is a fine tribute to the spirit of cooperation among bankers that it is able to carry on this work," he says. "Bankers from one end of the country to the other are constantly giving freely and unselfishly of their skill and experience so that the association may produce the truly great results that are being accomplished."

Statistical information on national and state banks, savings institutions, trust companies and trust departments, clearing house groups and general banking is prepared after exhaustive inquiry and distributed for the use of all bankers. The organization's investigations have resulted in the passage of beneficial legislation, revision of banking practices and innumerable changes for a stronger and more efficient banking structure. It has set up an educational system through its affiliated American Institute of Banking, where 45,000 ambitious young bank men and women are now availing themselves of the opportunity to advance in the banking field.

"It has been well said that the American Bankers Association, exclusive of the Federal Reserve System, has been the greatest single nationwide source of stability and improved conditions for banking in the United States," Mr. Lonsdale says.

Banking Grows More Complicated

DENVER, Colo.—The increase in the technicalities of the banking business in the past dozen years was shown by a speaker before the American Institute of Banking which held its annual convention here recently when he pointed out that in 1918, when the institute last met in this city, it gave only three courses, while today it gives 10, with more subjects in preparation. At the earlier date, he said, the curriculum of the institute consisted of elementary banking, commercial and banking law, and money and banking, whereas today it consists of banking fundamentals, commercial law, negotiable instruments, standard economics, standard banking, credits, investments, trust functions, analyzing financial statements, and public speaking, while the two new subjects of bank operation and organization, and bank management are to be added.

The New Pace of Business Change

Business evolution used to move slowly—it measured off its gradual changes almost invisibly, like the hour hand on the clock. But today its tempo is that of the second hand. The movement of evolution that is quickening business with rapid changes is alarmingly visible and makes it difficult to keep up with them.—H. H. Hecht.

A prominent young couple married in Chicago received among their gifts seven cake baskets of exactly the same design.

MOTTOES

Under the glass top of the desk of an interesting New Yorker I saw a bit of white paper with these words: "The dog barks, but the caravan passes on."

Taken in connection with the man's character and career, the sentence is revealing.

He has been barked at plenty, but he has proceeded. He has done his work, built a great enterprise, created employment for thousands of people. The barking long since became faint and very far behind.

The First National Bank of New York is presided over by a white whiskered gentleman of more than eighty named George F. Baker. When his name gets into the newspapers it is usually because some stock in which he is known to hold a large and permanent interest has advanced a hundred points in a week and added several million dollars to his fortune.

A friend of mine visited the bank on business, and came back with this sentence:

"The vision to see them; the courage to buy them; the patience to hold them."

Whether it came from Mr. Baker or not, it is his philosophy, and the secret of his fortune.

In Boston there is another old man, perhaps the most unselfish human being I have ever known. His whole life has been devoted to service to the city's poor, and the look in his eyes is a benediction. I asked him once whether he is worried about the future. "You give away all you earn," I said. "What will you live on when you are too old to work?" For answer he pulled a slip of paper out of his pocketbook, and passed it over to me.

"Trust in the Lord and do good. So shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed."

That, he said, is a promissory note from the Over of the Universe. On that promise he has lived for seventy years, and he has confidence that it will continue to be good.

Each of these three men has continued in the world a long time, and paid a price for experience. Each is quite different from the others, yet, from their three motives one might evolve something in the way of a philosophy.

"If you are going to do anything you must expect criticism. But it's better to be a doer than a critic. The doer moves; the critic stands still, and is passed by."

"You must believe in something—in yourself, in the country, in God. You must have courage to back that belief with your money and your life, and patience to wait for fulfillment."

"This is old stuff, you say. And I answer that everything important is old stuff. Love is old stuff. Building a home is old stuff. Becoming a father is old stuff."

But all old things become thrillingly new as each man discovers them for himself.

Professor: "You can realize the great distance of this star from the earth when you consider that the light took several thousands of years to reach the earth."

Lady: "Yes, but the stars only shine at night; otherwise it would have got here quicker."

Cook: "Yes, ma'am, I'm leavin' in exactly three minutes."

Mrs. West: "Then put the eggs on to boil and we'll have them right for once!"

Billy: "You keep very strange hours at your house."

Willy: "Yes, we try to sleep when baby does."

"Janitor, you could cool our apartment nicely if you would run ice water through the radiators."

"Can't be done, ma'am."

"What did you have in them last winter?"

"You have a splendid collection of mounted fish—but what are the long empty panels for?"

"Oh, those are some that got away!"

Latham: "Ever eat in those arm-chair lunch rooms?"

Gray: "Just once. A leithanded man sat next to me and ate my dinner."

How the GAS REFRIGERATOR Effects Economies in Housekeeping

FOODS will keep fresh and pure for long periods in the Electrolux Gas Automatic Refrigerator, giving the housekeeper the advantage of marketing in quantity at lower prices.

'Left-overs' stay crisply fresh and appetizing.

It costs so little to run the Electrolux that refrigeration expense is one of the smallest items on the housekeeping budget.

Noiseless, clean, dry and housed in a handsome porcelain-lined cabinet, the Electrolux is one of the best-lined of modern appliances.

It seldom requires servicing but should any be necessary, it will be done without charge.

Prices begin at $195 installed, and the Electrolux may be purchased on the divided payment plan at a slight increase over cash price—small down payment and twenty four months to pay the balance.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

ABOUT YOUR BODY

It is surprising, come to think of it, how few people know enough about their own bodies, to intelligently describe a pain or distress to the physician. For instance, a husband called me over the phone about his wife, who was in bed and suffering severely "with a hurtin' in her side." That's all I could get out of him, except that I was to "come over in a hurry." He could not have given me more information as to the locality of that pain, if his neck depended on it! A man of far more than average intelligence, too. To forewarn your physician is to forearm him. If he has the faintest inkling of what the trouble is in advance, he knows better what to bring with him, and hence may give quicker relief.

I remember a hurry-up call one dark night, to see a stranger, an old man, who was "nearly dyin' with a pain in his stomach." I hastily gathered additional remedies for my emergency bag; put a stomach tube and equipment for lavage—everything I could think of that would be likely to aid me at that hour. Imagine my dismay at this world in general—to find that I needed at catheter! Nothing whatever else. I had to track back to the office and get one, requiring almost an hour of time, that much more suffering, that much extra loss of sleep. I added the little instrument to my equipment after that, and carried it devotedly until it wore out from disuse in that emergency bag; and all, because a fellow didn't know his bladder from his stomach!

I find this same ignorance of the human body in my modern, otherwise well-informed patients; it's because they have never picked up even the rudiments of the topography of their bodies.

Our editor will permit, I am going to offer some simple information in my next two or three letters, about the landmarks of the human body; things that every one should know. I shall try to make it interesting and worth while. Watch this space next week.

Joan Harding, 10 years old, of Boston, is believed to be the best juvenile equestrienne in New England.

10.30 a. m. Morning Prayer and Sermon, "The Church."
3.30 p. m. Sunday School.
8.00 p. m. Evensong.
Religion that costs nothing is worth what it cost you.

BAPTIST

Rev. Geo. Lockett, B.D., Pastor

Activities for the fall and winter months are opening up and several events are announced for the immediate future. The Women's Missionary Society will hold an entertainment in the Sunday School room Friday evening, a more detailed account of which will be found in the news items. On October 17th the B. Y. P. U. will give an entertainment. The Junior Philathea Class will hold a Rummage Sale October 18th. During the week of October 20th the Primary Department will sponsor an Organ Recital, with Mr. William Davies, of Philadelphia, at the console. He will be assisted by a mixed quartette of solo voices and a cellist. The Junior Philathea and Samaritan Classes will also give an entertainment, probably during the first week of December. Owing to the combination Sunday School and Church Service next Sunday morning the Graduation and Promotion Exercises of scholars in the Primary Department has been postponed until the following Sunday, October 6th.

Rally Day Services will be held Sunday. Sunday School will convene at the usual time, 10.00 a. m., and after the opening service the entire School will attend the church service. The pastor will preach a short sermon, in the form of an Object Lesson, which will be interesting for both the children and adults. The service will be brief and will be over before twelve o'clock. The B. Y. P. U. service will be held in the Junior Department

Room at 6.45 p. m. and the regular preaching service preceded by the Gospel Hymn Service at 7.45 p. m.

The entire offering at the services Sunday will be turned over to the Building Fund. There will be no appeals made for money in any form, and the offering is desired to be strictly a "Free Will Offering." We are planning to make this the greatest Rally Day service the church has ever known. Come out and help us reach our expectations.

FIRST LUTHERAN

Rev. Harold L. Creager

Next Sunday is Rally Day. We are trying for a big turnout at Sunday School. At this time also promotions will be made and pins awarded for attendance during the past year.

Next Sunday is also Luther League Day. Observed in League all over the country. The local League will have a special meeting at the regular hour Sunday evening, with a talk by William H. Plank, of the High School faculty. The League is engaged in a membership drive, in which they hope to increase their numbers greatly.

The Camden District Luther League will hold its monthly rally this (Thursday) evening in the Lutheran Church at Camden. The Rev. Harold L. Creager will be the speaker at this occasion. A number of the local Leaguers are planning to go, and they will meet at the church at 7.45 this evening.

The Rev. Mr. Creager, Mrs. William Ott and Mrs. Thomas Hottel attended the Religious Education Conference held by the East Pennsylvania Synod at Lancaster last Tuesday.

Calvary Presbyterian

Rev. C. T. Bates, Minister

Calvary Presbyterian Church will hold its morning service of worship at 11 o'clock. All departments of the Church School will meet at 10 o'clock. Sunday, September 28th, will be Rally Day in the Church School. Let every member arrange to be present that day and bring a new scholar along.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet Wednesday, October 1, at 2.30 p. m., and the Women's Missionary Society at 3.00 p. m. Both meetings will be held in the Church School auditorium. At this meeting plans for the "Gold Bag Luncheon" will be made. Preparatory Service will be held Wednesday, October 1, at 8 p. m., in the church auditorium; the Lord's Supper being observed the following Sunday, October 5th. Those who may wish to unite with the church should see the pastor.

The Golden Hour Circle will hold its regular meeting Friday evening, October 3, at 8 p. m., in the Ladies' Parlor of the church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"REALITY" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 28, 1930.
The Golden Text is: "Then spake Jesus again unto them saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life" (John 8:12).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations" (Psalms 145:13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas" (p. 331).

of Former Actress

MRS. TILLIE PAGE

"I suffered for twenty years with stomach trouble, rheumatism, neuritis and constipation," said Mrs. Tillie Page, 19 Beach street, Jersey City. "My whole system was in a deplorable, weakened condition. In fact, I never expected to be well again. I was terribly constipated, and the pains of rheumatism and neuritis were so dreadful I thought at times I would lose my mind. My joints were sore and swollen, and I was bedfast for months at a time. I had not finished the third bottle of this Konjola before my appetite was restored, and my bowels were acting normally. And in six weeks this splendid medicine completely conquered rheumatism and neuritis. All the swelling has left my joints, and I do not have an ache nor a pain. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I shall never be without Konjola."

It is logical to believe that what Konjola has done for others, it will do for you—for everyone. This is especially true if Konjola is used for a period from six to eight weeks. Konjola is sold in Riverton at L. L. Keating's store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

PARRY LOSES BY NARROW MARGIN

Cinnaminson Winner in First of 3-Game Post-Season Baseball Series

The Parry baseball team lost the first game of its post-season series with Cinnaminson A. C. Sunday afternoon by a 5-4 score.

Ernie Schuck did the twirling for Parry, while Paul Schiele toed the slab for Cinnaminson. The game turned out to be a pitching duel, Parry garnering but five bingles, while the winners could collect but six. Cinnaminson scored one run in the second inning, Lynch and Phelan singled, Lynch was thrown out at third. Phelan scored on Smith's error. They coiled another run in the fourth inning, Botter singled and scored on Phelan's drive.

Parry went ahead in the fourth by scoring three runs after two were out. Ernie Schuck reached first on an error, Schultz singled, Shorten reached first on Elvert's error, scoring Schuck. Howard Schuck walked. Two more runs scored on Parry's error. Broderson ended the inning by flying out.

The score remained in Parry's favor until the eighth, when Cinnaminson scored three runs. Elvert, who scored when Phelan reached first on an error, Schiele ended the inning by grounding out to first.

Reynolds batted for Alexander in the Parry half of the ninth and reached base by virtue of a single.

He stole second and third and scored on Lynch's bad throw. Schiele then put on steam and fanned Pinch Hitter Malley and Schultz.

Bill Phelan led both teams with the willow, getting two hits. Elvert made the longest hit, a home run into deep left field.

The second game of the series will be played this Sunday at Parry. Woodington and Lynch will form the battery for Cinnaminson, while Broderson will probably catch Malley's slants for Parry.

The box score:

DIMOND MEN HOLD RIVERSIDE TO TIE

Scoreless Game Results as Red and White Touchdown Is Ruled Out

An intercepted forward pass and a brilliant seventy-six-yard run for a touchdown by Tommy Price went for naught as Palmyra was held to a scoreless tie by Riverside High on the latter's gridiron last Saturday.

The cheers of the Palmyra rooters were quickly silenced when Clancy, head linesman, ordered the ball brought back and penalized Palmyra five yards for off-side play. This one penalty cost the "Pals" the game and a flying start in the newly-formed Burlington County Football League.

Numerous fumbles cost both sides several chances to score. A fumble occurred the first time Tommy Price attempted to carry the ball. Another fumble followed a brilliant thirty-five-yard run by "Tubby" Moffitt early in the third quarter, when Palmyra earned a first down deep in the Riverside territory.

While Palmyra was out-matched in the matter of first downs, the break of the game went to Riverside. On several occasions, while making a strong rally, Palmyra was forced back by penalties, or lost the ball on fumbles.

Palmyra made a strong bid for a touchdown in the beginning of the third period. "Oiz" Terrell made a pretty twenty-yard run back of the opening kickoff, bringing the ball up to his own forty-yard line. Moffitt then traveled around left end for thirty-five yards, giving Palmyra a first down on Riverside's twenty-yard mark. On the next play a fumble cost Palmyra its best chance to score. Riverside kicked out of danger after the Palmyra line held them on downs.

Late in the game quarter Riverside completed several forward passes, bringing the ball to the Pals' thirty-five-yard stripe as the period ended.

Continuing the advance with more passes, Riverside gained a first down on Palmyra's twenty-four-yard mark. A line plunge lost some ground and the Riverside gridmen attempted another aerial maneuver. This was never destined to succeed.

Just as the ball was about to land in the arms of the Riverside player, a red-jerseyed flash, Tom Price, playing a stellar game as substitute for Lybrand, snatched the pigskin out of the air, wiggled away from several would-be tacklers, side-stepped and dodged until several crimson-jacketed players formed protecting interference and romped seventy-six yards for a touchdown.

The Palmyra rooters burst into frenzied cheers, but their shouts were soon replaced by those of the Riverside fans when instead of the score, Palmyra received a five-yard penalty for off-side performance. This one penalty was the most costly of the afternoon.

Terrell, Gerkins, Green, Tom Price and Lybrand were outstanding in the Palmyra line-up.

Wilkinson, flashy end, who played halfback after the second period, shared honors with Captain Seaman for the Riverside gridgers.

The line-up:

Riverside	Positions	Palmyra
Van Selver	left end	Green
Lieswiski	left tackle	Conway
Pocier	left guard	Wilkins
Keebler	center	Lybrand
Summers	right guard	Gerkins
Gembler	right tackle	Carr
Wilkinson	right end	Polinsett
Carruso	quarterback	Terrell
Seaman	left halfback	Reynolds
Freynik	right halfback	Lenker
Kaplan	fullback	Moffitt
Substitutions—Palmyra: W. Price for Reynolds, Pay for Wilkins, Furman for Carr, Klevan for Pay, Zain for Polinsett, T. Price for Lybrand, Riverside: Wright for Summers, Minifree for Freynik, Tee for the Wilkinson, Maurer for Lieswiski, Tilley for Keebler, Referee—Armstrong, Gettysburg, Umpire—Cromag, Swarthmore. Head Linesman—Clancy, Delaware. Time of Periods—8 minutes.

Palmyra will open its home season Saturday when the strong Vineland High eleven will be played. The Wilkinson, Maurer, Referee—Armstrong, Gettysburg, Umpire—Cromag, Swarthmore. Head Linesman—Clancy, Delaware. Time of Periods—8 minutes.

Girls' Hockey Team of Palmyra High Confident of Third Successive Crown

Miss Grace S. Dugan, Newly Appointed Coach, Will Present Well Drilled Squad When Season Opens With Paulsboro Next Wednesday

Palmyra will play nine league games according to an announcement by Lydia Mervine, manager of the team. One outside game with Bridgeton, to be played at home, has been scheduled for November 14th. Five of the ten games will be played away from home.

The complete schedule follows: October 1—Paulsboro, Away. October 8—Haddon Heights, Home. October 15—Moorestown, Away. October 22—Woodbury, Home. October 29—Pitman, Home. November 5—Auburn, Away. November 12—Collingswood, Home. November 19—Bridgeton, Away. November 26—Claremont, Away. November 26—Haddonfield, Home.

As a new feature, the second team also has scheduled several games with second teams of other high schools this year. Miss Dugan thinks this is an excellent idea. The second team will be gaining valuable experience, which can be used in the future, and the players will have a chance to show their mettle in outside competition. Their work will not go unrewarded, for the members of the second team will receive either numerical or junior varsity letters.

The hockey team has a record of being undefeated for the past two seasons. In that time they have been tied but once.

Many Candidates
Captain Elizabeth Hassell, flashy performer of the past two seasons, has been shifted to a center halfback post. Her comment on the prospects of this year's team was voiced in a single sentence, "We all are doing our best to make this a team as good or better than last year's, and I think we will succeed."

Helen Young is back at right wing, while Mary McNulty, right inside, "Sis" Baker, left inside; Catherine Hinke, left fullback, and Esther Reeves, goal, complete the list of letter girls.

There six have been placed on the first team in practice. Playing with them are Irene Parry, Eleanor Bauer, Myrtle Harmon, Christine Green and Dot Meitzner. While this is the tentative line-up, Miss Dugan explains it has no bearing on the chances of any candidate for a position on the first team.

The players who have not received letters in the past are making it very difficult for the veterans, despite their greater experience, to assure themselves of their positions.

More than forty candidates appeared when practice was called, and virtually none of them have quit the squad. Among them are several promising freshmen. Miss Dugan is pleased to see the fresh blood taking such an interest, and told them that even though they were unable to make the grade this year, they would be gaining valuable knowledge of the game. She pointed out that it had taken some of this season's team two years to attain their present places.

The backfield aspirants who are daily showing ability on the playing field include Ella Russell, Ruth Barley, Rose Lavery, Janet Koenig, Ida Trout, Edith Winsor, Catherine McDermott, Joan McKee, Margaret Smith, Ann Evans and Jane Fowler.

Another lively bunch of girls are striving for the coveted positions on the forward line. Mary Sanford, Dot Sheehan, Margaret Rhodes, Mildred McKie, Edith Hotick, Catherine McDermott and Marjorie Lyons are in this group.

Among those making a strong bid for inside and wing positions are Violet Hicks, Dorothy Wise, Pearl Kelly, Ruth Brown, Naomi Leutywyler, Sylvia Shields, Thelma Cromwell, Myrtle Dalport, Martha Dowey, Bernice Kates and Margaret Habfast.

All Have a Chance
Miss Dugan made it clear that everyone still had a chance to make the team. Under the system that is being used, individual stardom is discouraged. The aim of the coach is to organize a well-balanced, smooth-running team, relying on perfect co-ordination for success. While a player may be flashy one day and so attract special notice, the steady worker who can assist in organizing teamwork is the one to whom credit is due.

are high school swimming teams. Church organizations, County Boy Scouts, County Y. M. C. A., County Y. W. C. A., boys' and girls' clubs, as well as many special groups and parties from all over South Jersey.

In pointing out some of the other advantages Mr. Rumpeltes said, "Private lessons, given by appointment, are very popular. A competent Red Cross life saving examiner, who gives special attention to non-swimmers, is on duty at all times, and a high standard of discipline is always maintained. Red Cross life saving classes are conducted free of charge during the winter and swimming teams for both boys and girls are a very important part of the pool program."

The Community House swimming team won the championship of Camden, Gloucester and Burlington Counties in 1928.

LITTLE GIANT GOLF COURSE

Miniature Golf is not only a popular sport, it has become the dress parade of the democracy.

Players are dressing for it as society once dressed for the races and it still does for the opening night of a Grand Opera season.

Fine feathers may not make fine players, but what does the score card matter if the sporting outfit shows to full advantage?

There is no better opportunity than the brightly lighted stage-like setting of the

Little Giant Golf Course

It has been estimated that $125,000 has been spent on the sport.

This is not half of it, a far greater amount has been spent in dressing for the game.

The Little Giant Golf Course has kept apace with these requirements by being given a brand new dressing. That is good for business.

The sport takes young and old into the open. That is good for health.

These fairways and greens give you the advantage of accurate putting.

Satisfactory arrangements for the use of this course for benefits can be made with the management.

YOU, YOUR CAR AND THE MOTOR LAWS

Editor's Note: The fourteenth of a series of articles by the Commission of Motor Vehicles is presented by this paper as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

XIV—WHERE REFORM IS NEEDED.

Like many diseases in which nature is the best healing agent, the cure for a considerable number of traffic ills lies within the victims themselves. It is easy to advocate more policemen, more signal lights, more arrests, more fines, more license revocations, the elimination of blind intersections, wider roads, fewer curves, but all these are primarily palliatives. They do not effect a permanent cure, for the disease has its roots in the carelessness and selfishness of the drivers themselves.

Only common sense and a realization that the safe way is the best, and in the long run the swiftest, way will cure carelessness and selfishness, and thus cut down the number of traffic hazards. For example, a dangerous intersection, i. e., a heavily-traveled intersection would cease to be dangerous if all motorists approached it cautiously and obeyed warning signs which point out its unusual character.

Evidences of carelessness may be seen on every side along the highway. Driving with one headlight or glaring headlights or no tail light; parking on the wrong side of the street, or too far from the curb, parking on curves or without lights, driving with inadequate brakes, overloading, falling to signal when turning or stopping, are some outstanding examples of carelessness.

Under selfishness might be listed such practices as forcing other drivers off the road by cutting out of line in heavy traffic, fast driving under conditions when prudence and decency demand low speed, passing stop street signs, running past traffic signals, "blowing" pedestrians out of the way, failing to yield the right of way, hogging the middle of the road and driving too slowly, thus forcing other drivers to take unnecessary chances to get around.

"Something Should Be Done" No driver, perhaps, observing one or more of these violations, has failed to mutter to himself that something should be done about it, that there ought to be more cops or more State Troopers, that too many dumb drivers have been given licenses, that a lot of these birds ought to be shot. Never, apparently, does he realize the easiest and most effective solution of all is a reform in driving habits by the drivers themselves. Let the motorist who is annoyed, shocked, alarmed and disturbed by the folly or recklessness of other drivers ask himself if he has ever been guilty of such practices. An affirmative answer is probable in nine cases out of ten, if he is honest with himself.

Let him continue his self-examination and ask why he committed an offense he finds so heinous in a fellow driver. Then let him close with a resolve that he will constitute himself a police force to regulate his own driving in accordance with the law and that no matter how others may drive he will see to it that, so far as he is able, he will obey every rule of the road.

"Every motorist his own policeman," may sound trite, ineffective or even silly, but some calm reflection will show that if every driver conducted himself when at the wheel alone exactly as he would if a traffic cop were at his elbow, there would be a vast decrease in the amount of regulation necessary, a vast decrease in the number of accidents and fatalities, and a vast increase in the pleasure of driving.

Plain Rudeness Causes Crashes

The need for courtesy from driver to driver has been emphasized so often it has almost lost its meaning, but the plain fact is that at the bottom of most of our accidents lies nothing but plain rudeness. All drivers are going some place, and they want to get there just as quickly as possible. Unfortunately, some of them move along as if there were no one else on the road, traveling either excessively fast or unnecessarily slow. They are utterly oblivious of the rights of others, indifferent to the possibility of accident, intent only on their own desire to reach their destination. Apparently the idea that others are just as anxious to make their goal never enters their heads.

The same attitude can be seen in parking. They treat as a joke the idea that the other fellow has just as much right to use the curb, and they park as long as they please. If their car is ticketed for over-time parking they complain loudly about police persecution.

It is this general intolerance, this general trampling on the rights of fellow drivers, this general attempt to beat the traffic law when it can be done with impunity, which has made motoring a hazard instead of a pleasure. I do not want it to appear that I am advocating less stringent police enforcement method, nor relaxation in traffic supervision. But I do insist emphatically that more self-regulation by motorists will really cure a disease which can otherwise only be ineffectively treated.

BANQUET OPENS CLUB SEASON

Annual Dinner in Christ Church Parish House Enjoyed by Men

The annual opening banquet of the Men's Club of Christ Church, Palmyra, was held in the parish house, Monday evening at which time an unusually large number of members were present.

A great amount of time and effort was expended to make this festive occasion one long to be remembered and those who attended no doubt would unanimously agree that it was the most enjoyable banquet ever given by the club.

The absence of the present president of the club, William Carson, due to his severe illness, was deeply felt, and the members earnestly trust that his speedy recovery may ensue.

Delicious Repast Vice President Charles O. Melcher, called upon the Rev. George Lockett, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, to open the banquet with the blessing, and the members then partook of the delicious refreshments, served by the ladies of the St. Agnes Guild.

Musical during the banquet was rendered by an orchestra under the direction of J. A. Haddock who also played several excellent violin solos. H. R. West led the members in singing, which greatly contributed to the spirit of the occasion.

After the banquet was finished, Vice President C. O. Melcher then called upon the first president of the club, William T. J. Purnell, to preside as toastmaster.

Immigration Lawyer The first speaker of the evening, Adrian Bonnelly, Esq., of Philadelphia, was introduced by Richard E. Wilson. Mr. Bonnelly is one of the foremost immigration lawyers in the country, and has devoted his talents to the helping of those people who become entangled with the immigration laws of our country, and are in need of one who can help them without thought of any compensation.

He spoke regarding immigration, its evils, and its benefits, tracing its history from the time it was instituted to the present day.

Humorous Lecture

The next speaker of the evening, Dr. Francis Harvey Green, headmaster of Pennington School for Boys, was introduced and immediately launched into one of the most delightfully humorous talks the club has ever been privileged to hear. Dr. Green is without a doubt one of the foremost speakers in the country today, and it was a treat to hear him.

He spoke upon the "Nature and Worth of Wit and Humor," and appreciation of his talk was evinced by the continuous hearty laughter of the audience from the start to the finish. Delightful solos and duets were rendered by Miss Anna McConnell and John Ward, which greatly added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Judge Frank A. Mathews, of Palmyra, contributed some well timed remarks after which the members adjourned to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO OPEN FALL SEASON

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold its first fall meeting Sunday night at 6:45.

After discontinuing these meetings during the summer, the league will continue its activities this fall. The older members of the Intermediate League are invited to become members of the Senior League.

Those who have not received a personal invitation have not been intentionally omitted and they are invited to be present Sunday evening. Everyone is welcome to these meetings, regardless of age or creed.

A special musical program will be featured Sunday. The leader will speak on the subject "Ships That Last in the Night."

RELATIVE OF DENTIST DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Sister-in-Law of Dr. W. Roland Dunn in Fatal Accident Near Wilmington

Mrs. Della Dunn, of Wilmington, Del., sister-in-law of Dr. W. Roland Dunn, well known Palmyra dentist, was instantly killed Tuesday morning when the car which she was driving skidded and overturned while rounding a sharp curve in Creek road at Brinton's Bridge, near Brandywine Creek, four miles south of West Chester, Pa.

Mrs. Dunn, who was the night supervisor in charge of private rooms at the Wilmington Hopeopathic Hospital, was returning to the hospital from a picnic at Lenape, Pa. There were four other persons in the Dunn car when the accident occurred. They received minor injuries.

Mrs. Dunn was twenty-five years old, and the wife of John Dunn, an interne at the Wilmington Hospital.

Doris Mae Furter

Doris Mae Furter, four months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Furter, of Rose Gardens, near Maple Shade, died at the home of her parents on Saturday evening about 8 o'clock.

The baby, although it had never been entirely well, was stricken suddenly on Friday.

Funeral services were held on Monday with the Rev. Edgar L. Sanford, pastor of the Moorestown Trinity Episcopal Church, officiating. Elwood Belton & Sons, funeral directors, were in charge. Interment was made in Brotherhood Cemetery, Mount Holly.

Mr. Furter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Furter, of East Second street, Moorestown.

Palmyra Man Back From Europe After First Visit to Parents in 24 Years

Eberhard Beltz, Delicatessen Store Proprietor, Enjoys Ten Weeks' Trip to Former Home in Roumania; France, Switzerland and Germany on Itinerary

After a ten-weeks trip through Europe, during which he visited his parents and other relatives in Roumania, and other relatives in Roumania, whom he had not seen since coming to America twenty-four years ago, Eberhard Beltz, Palmyra delicatessen store proprietor, returned home last Saturday.

The return trip was made aboard the S. S. New York from Hamburg, Germany. The trip to Europe was made aboard the S. S. Deutschland, which sailed July 10 for Cherbourg, France.

On his route from Cherbourg to Roumania, Mr. Beltz stopped at Paris, Vienna, Budapest and at several points in Switzerland. The train took him to Temesvar, Roumania, a point about thirty miles from Ulyehy, Banat province, Roumania, which is his home town. He enjoyed five weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Beltz while there. On his return from Ulyehy he came through Germany, stopping at Munich, Berlin and Hamburg, where he boarded the ocean liner for New York.

On his trip he visited six countries, France, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Germany and Roumania were on his itinerary.

One difficulty seemed to pursue Mr. Beltz throughout his entire voyage, that of making himself understood. In Paris, particularly, he had a rather harrowing experience. He was unable to explain to others what he wished to eat. According to Mr. Beltz there were a great many Americans and Germans in Paris but he had a hard time to meet any of them.

Of particular interest to a traveler is the rare beauty of the Swiss Alpine district. Mr. Beltz said it was a country whose marvelous scenery is unsurpassed anywhere.

It seems strange that anyone should wear overcoats in July and August. Yet such was the condition which confronted Mr. Beltz. He said although the days were as hot as they are here in the summer months, the nights are extremely cold. Often at ten o'clock in the evening an overcoat is a necessity.

When asked about labor conditions in Europe, Mr. Beltz declared all countries which he visited, with the exception of France, were in the throes of a business depression, seemingly as bad as that in America. He is at a loss to explain why France should be more prosperous than her neighbors. It is even necessary for France to import labor from some of the nearby countries.

The drought which has affected crops in America has dealt as harshly with the European countries. The district in which Mr. Beltz's parents live was without rain from April to July. Even the scarcity of agricultural products in Europe has not raised the price. The farmers are unable to obtain more than a meagre existence from their farms. Labor is cheap and work is even scarcer than in this country.

The condition of Europe is such, Mr. Beltz said, that a small fortune of $5000 would enable a person to live in elegance in Roumania. Such a sum would almost correspond to the fortune of a millionaire in the United States.

That Europe is popular with Americans is shown by the fact that Mr. Beltz was unable to engage a passage on the date when he wished to return. Such a large number of Americans were returning to this country that he had to wait a week before he could book passage to the United States.

Railroads in Europe are almost on a par with those here, Mr. Beltz stated. While the cars are not as luxurious and not as large, they are comfortable and swift.

Switzerland, despite comparative poverty of the people, looks prosperous. Mr. Beltz says he believes this is due to the immaculate manner in which their homes and towns are kept. Of all the countries which he visited, there were none which made any cleaner or neater appearance than Switzerland.

Mr. Beltz was a good traveler. On neither crossing of the Atlantic was he seasick. He said the voyage across was fine but the return trip was rather stormy.

Mr. Beltz' one regret is that he cannot make the trip every year.

HI-Y CONFERENCE AT WAWAYANDA

Y. M. C. A. Leaders Will Meet at Andover Camp Sept. 26-28

Over the weekend of September 26-28 the State YMCA Camp Wawayanda, located at Andover, New Jersey, will be the scene of the eighth annual Hi-Y Camp Conference of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New Jersey, under the auspices of the State Executive Committee, State Association of Boys' Work Secretaries and the State Association of County Work Secretaries.

Officers of Hi-Y clubs and chairmen of important committees of the various high schools of our county who are now beginning their new term of office are the fellows who are being urged to attend from the County YMCA headquarters.

Secretary Guy C. Hendry, of Burlington County, has in charge the preparation of a State-wide Hi-Y exhibit. It is expected that five or six cartloads of fellows will attend from the county.

Many persons remark to the County "Y" Secretaries these days, "Well, camp is closed now, isn't it?" Their reply is "No!" The special camping season for boys and girls has come to an end, but the camp property is in constant use. Just recently, for instance, the facilities of three neighboring high schools had afternoon and evening outings there.

Over the weekend of September 20 some 150 incoming Drexel freshmen enjoyed a three-day camp, primarily for the purpose of becoming well acquainted with one another at the very outset of the school year.

Over the weekend of September 13 a group of twenty-two Monmouth County YMCA girls and their leaders enjoyed a three-day outing at camp. On Saturday, September 13, the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School of Palmyra-Riverton enjoyed an afternoon and early evening picnic there.

Secretary Guy C. Hendry, of Burlington County, is the registrar for camp reservations. Such reservations can be made by communicating with or phoning him at the Burlington County YMCA headquarters, Mount Holly. Phone 800.

STANWICK H. S. PLANS TEACHERS' RECEPTION

Association Holds First Meeting of Season; Mrs. Beebe, Teacher Leads Discussion

Plans for a teacher's reception to be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Whitmer, president of the Stanwick Home and School Association, Thursday evening, September 25, were discussed at the first meeting of the organization held on Thursday evening at the Stanwick school. "Any member who wishes transportation to the reception," Mrs. Whitmer writes, "Please call Moorestown 830."

A round table discussion was conducted by Mrs. Beebe, a member of the faculty of the school, on the topic, "How parents can help the child in the job of going to school."

The school improvement committee reported that a piece of playground equipment had been ordered.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the session by Mrs. William Mahon, chairman of the hospitality committee and her assistants. A large number of the members of the association attended the meeting and the president reports that she anticipates a highly successful season.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for September 28
REVIEW—THE GREATNESS OF THE GOD FEARING
Devotional Reading Psalm 8
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Fourteen outstanding characters in the Old Testament have been studied during the quarter. To read the Scripture content would take you from Genesis to Jonah. You can at least read the various Scripture passages indicated for each lesson and then summarize the general teachings by a careful perusal of each Golden Text. One of these conclusions, supported by the experiences of those studied in recent weeks, is found in today's Gold Text: "The fear of Jehovah is the beginning of wisdom, and a good understanding have they that do his commandments; his praise endureth forever." Psalm 111:10.

Since biography involves the study of history it is possible to trace the life of a mighty nation from the very inception when Abraham left Mesopotamia to become the Father of the Faithful in Palestine until that nation, after reaching its summit in the days of Solomon, was led into Babylonian captivity. Those were days of pioneering in building up a religious faith as well as in establishing the life of a nation.

The Bible is a book for humans and not just for rabbits. Therein we find the record of baseness as well as of goodness. All deeds recorded in this Book of Life are not to be recommended, though we can profit from the experience of each.

Women always have an essential place in all progress. Deborah and Ruth are types for careful study. Men seemed to have lost heart when the nations oppressed Israel in those pioneer days. It was then that Deborah listened long enough to hear the commission to act as a deliverer, Naomi and Ruth present the fact that many know too well, how tragedy lies so close to the highway of life.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Muir, of Glasgow, was held outdoors because her coffin was too large to enter the door of the church.
