The following were re-elected as members of the Board of Directors to serve for a term of three years: Mrs. Barbara Allen, of Hancocks; Mrs. F. Wallis Armstrong, of Moorestown; Mrs. Cecilia Hutchinson, of Bordentown; Mrs. Margaret Jones, of Moorestown; Mrs. Walter Bader, of Columbus; Mrs. Eugene Scattergood, of Burlington; Mrs. Alexander Wood, Jr., of Hancocks. Among the important items of business transacted at the meeting were the changes in the constitution, which change the annual membership meeting from May to January, and which changes the basis of voting membership from the church basis to the personal basis. This means that voting and office holding in the Burlington County Y. W. C. A. will no longer be confined exclusively to members of Protestant Evangelical Churches, but voting and office holding will be confined to those women who express their personal sympathy with the Christian purpose of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Frederick Paist, of Wayne, Pa., who spoke at the afternoon session of the meeting stressed the changes that are taking place in the national organizations and the cooperation the Y. W. C. A. has for the needs of girls and women.

Mrs. J. Harvey Barton, of Moorestown, led in an inspiring devotional service, while Mrs. William Grobler, of Moorestown, was in charge of the singing.

THE VOICE OF DESPAIR

To the Editor of the Times: Sir, I have today received following letter to all my creditors: "I wish to inform you that the present shattered condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request."

My present financial condition is due to the federal laws, State laws, county laws, corporation laws, by laws, brother-in-laws, mother-in-laws, and out-laws that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through the various laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, set upon, flayed out and squeezed until I do not know where I am or why I am.

"These laws compel me to pay a merchant tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, income tax, real estate tax, auto tax, gas tax, light tax, cigar tax, street tax, school tax, syntax and carpet tax."

"In addition to these taxes, I am requested and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind man can organize. To the Society of St. John the Baptist, Woman's Relief, Navy Relief, Children's Home, Policeman's Benefit Fund, Motion Picture Society, Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, Jewish Relief, Near East, Gold Diggers' Home, every hospital and every charitable institution in town, Red Cross, Black Cross, White Cross, Purple Cross and Double Cross."

"The government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, commanded and compelled to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race and, because I refuse to donate to all and so out and beg, borrow and steal money to give away, I am accused and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what the hell is coming next."

P. S. OBTAINS WRIT AGAINST SCHLITZ

Maple Shade Line Accused of Violating Order on Moorestown-Phila. Route

A temporary injunction restraining Joseph Schlitz, Inc., Maple Shade, from operating intra state buses between Moorestown and Philadelphia was granted to the Public Service Corporation Tuesday by Vice-Chancellor Edmund B. Leaning, of Moorestown in Chancery Court at Camden.

According to Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin, who appeared as attorney for the Public Service Corporation, Schlitz, Inc., have been taking on Camden and Moorestown.

"This, Baldwin argued, is in violation of the permit issued to Schlitz by the Public Utilities Commission. The commission, according to Baldwin, had granted Schlitz permission to operate inter-state only. Inter-state permits allow buses to carry passengers from New Jersey to another state but do not give them the privilege of picking up and discharging passengers within New Jersey.

In order to secure a permit to operate intrastate buses, Schlitz first must secure the consent of the various towns and townships through which the line runs, Baldwin declared. This, he said, Schlitz has not done.

"The Schlitz line is operated through Camden, Merchantville, Moorestown and Pennsauken, Delaware and Chester townships.

"The Public Service Corporation is losing thousands of dollars yearly through Schlitz's alleged illegal operations," Baldwin said.

Chancellor Leaning, in granting the temporary injunction, said he would hold a final hearing on the case next Tuesday.

Schlitz was represented in court today by Attorney Samuel P. Orlando.

PLANE TALKS

The sixth annual Aircraft Engineering Research conference of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, held at Langley Field, Virginia, was attended by aviation engineers and experts from all over the country. Visits were made to the atmospheric wind tunnel, variable density wind tunnel, power plants laboratory, flight research laboratory and propeller research tunnel, sea plane channel and the new full-scale wind tunnel.

Lieutenant Thomas B. Golby, of Detroit, flying a Laird plane powered with a Wright 300-horse-power engine, is spending two weeks with the writer attending conferences and visiting all the aircraft factories in the East. The Laird is one of the fastest commercial ships to visit the Moorestown airport, having a cruising speed of 130 miles an hour and a top speed of 165.

A check-up of the cars on the Moorestown Airport over the past week-end proved that the majority of people who took advantage of the rent-a-plane flights were from Philadelphia and vicinity.

Among the Moorestownians who spent the past week-end in Washington for the Air Corps maneuvers were Mayor and Mrs. James E. Kelley, Miss Jane Grube, Miss Peggy Grube, Mr. Longaker and the writer. While in Washington our party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis K. Reiser, and Captain and Mrs. Dave Wallace. Mr. Reiser is vice-president and general manager of the Kreider Reiser Aircraft Company of Hagerstown, Md., and Captain Wallace is head of the Baltimore School of Aeronautics.

On Friday, May 29, the New York Washington line (Ludington) carried 357 passengers. This is a record for this line for a single day of operations. By the way, since September last, this one line has carried 28 per cent of all the air line passengers in the United States.

Here is one that will make you flying skeptics click your heels and salute the Air Corps. During the recent maneuvers the boys flew over 2,000,000 miles in 672 ships without a single casualty and only four forced landings. This is a marvelous achievement and speaks volumes for Air Corps training and organization. During the last two weeks, the Air Corps Division only had four days that could really be called ideal flying days.

P. R. R. ENGINEER EXPERT WITH GUN

Edward Downs, Engineer on PRR, New York Division, Shoots 99 Out of 100

Edward Downs, locomotive engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad and a member of the Golden Arrow Trap Shooting Team of the New York Division, is probably the best marksman on the Pennsylvania System.

Engineer Downs is accustomed to breaking 49 out of 50 clay pigeons in competition. He holds a record of 99 out of 100 birds made at the Trenton State Fair grounds. He has been shooting all season at the Sportsmen's Trap Shooting grounds, Trenton, and the Cedar Forest Gun Club at Monmouth Junction, N. J. This summer he anticipates taking part in the Amateur Trap Shooting Association of America contest to be held at Vandalia, Ohio.

Downs attributes his success as a marksman to the fact that he practices aiming every morning in his future home, which is a speck of court plaster placed on the mirror of his dressing table for that particular purpose.

The railroad engineer is a resident of Princeton, and is now building a new home there, on Varsity avenue, in which he will make his future home with Mrs. Downs and two small sons, after July 15, when the house is expected to be entirely completed.

GAS GONE IN STOLEN AUTOMOBILE, THIEF TAKES SECOND CAR

An auto thief, in stealing a car from an East Main street, Moorestown, yard early Sunday morning, left another machine which he had stolen from Asbury Park Saturday night.

Sunday morning Joseph Cavallo, 1209 South Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, reported to Moorestown police that his Chrysler roadster, which he had left in the yard of Alexander Massa, East Main street, whom he was visiting, had been stolen.

The police, upon arriving on the scene, found another machine, the gas tank of which was empty, standing in the street. Investigation revealed that the car, owned by John N. Burtis, Asbury Park, had been stolen from the shore resort Saturday night.

The authorities are of the opinion that when the gasoline supply in the stolen auto was exhausted, the auto thief decided to steal another machine instead of running the risk of arousing suspicion by attempting to buy motor fuel in the wee hours of the morning.

A complete description of the Philadelphia man's roadster was sent over the State Police teletype, but the car had not been recovered Tuesday evening.

FOURTH COURSE ON CURRICULUM FOR P. H. S. STUDENTS

General Subjects Will Be Added to Preparatory and Commercial Courses

KINDERGARTENS REPLACE THE PRE-PRIMER CLASSES

The addition of a fourth course to the curriculum of the Palmyra High School was the subject of much discussion at the regular meeting of the school board last Thursday evening.

The present schedule of three courses was felt to be inadequate for all the students. At the present time two college preparatory courses and one commercial course are the only ones offered to the students.

The contemplated added course will treat of general subjects without specializing in any one line of endeavor. The addition to the curriculum was suggested throughout the year by members of the faculty. Prof. C. F. Dengler stated. The new course will provide for those who cannot be properly provided for in the other sections. A selection of history courses will be the principal change in the preparatory courses while it will no longer be compulsory for a commercial student to study a foreign language.

A general course was dropped from the curriculum about three years ago and this is the first attempt to replace it. The contemplated changes met with the approval of the Palmyra Board and only await ratification by the county and state authorities. Mr. Dengler said he felt there would be no doubt as to its approval by the higher boards.

In his report he also recommended the changing of the present pre-primer grades to kindergarten classes. The present pre-primer grades were too far advanced in the type of work they were doing, and first year students who had advanced from the so-called kindergarten were forced to repeat much of the preceding year's work. The simplification of these grades would make real kindergarten instead of the present pre-primer grades.

With the passing of the resolution that the kindergarten be established, the age limit for entrance into this grade was also established. Only children who will attain the age of five years before December 1 of the year in which they seek to be admitted to the class, can be enrolled as a pupil of the kindergarten. The completion of their year's work in the kindergarten would make them attain the age of nearly six years before their admission into grade work, and Mr. Dengler said this was supposed to be the best age for the beginning of the child's education.

The new members of the kindergarten must be enrolled during the first two weeks of school. The report of attendance was also submitted by Mr. Dengler. During the previous month 457 children of the Spring Garden street school had attained a 90 per cent attendance average; the 438 pupils in the Delaware avenue school had maintained a 92 per cent record for attendance and 417 high school students had compiled a percentage of 94.4 for attendance. The total enrollment of 1312 had a general average of 92.0 per cent for the month.

The schedule for next year's term, as suggested by the County head, was also submitted to the Palmyra Board. The term will open Tuesday, September 8. Vacations will be given the students during Thanksgiving, from November 26 to 30; during Christmas, from December 24 to January 3; on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, and during the Easter holidays, from March 25 until April 4. The term will close June 17.

Among several communications received by the Board was one from the New Jersey Association of Public School Officials recommending that the Palmyra Board be given the power to curb the showing of "gangster" and other underworld pictures in moving picture houses. The members of the association felt the display of such pictures had a bad effect on the minds of the school students who went to see them, especially on the younger pupils.

Another letter from Louis Kaser, County school superintendent, told of his dissatisfaction with the condition of the blackboards, floors and stair treads in the Spring Garden and Cinnaminson buildings. It was decided to point out to him the fact that the floors and stairs had been relaid within the past few years, and excessive wear would be almost impossible during the short time they had been used.

Plans for the proposed changes in the domestic science room in the high school were approved and Charles K. Mervine, chairman of the Building and Grounds committee, was authorized to employ competent workmen to finish the job.

The report of the Athletic Committee cited the purchase of swings, now in use in the Delaware avenue school playground. The concurrence of the Board in the purchase of the equipment was asked and the act was approved.

The motion also made and carried that half the sum tendered the School Board by the Parent-Teachers Association for the rental of the high school auditorium for the presentation of a play be refunded to the organization in appreciation of their excellent work among school children. Accordingly instructions were given to refund the P. T. A. $35.00 of their rental fee.

Burlington County Historical Society Has Annual Meeting and Hears Fine Report of Many Activities During Year

A vice-president and five directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Burlington County Historical Society last week. The session was held in the Fenimore Cooper house, 457 High street, Burlington.

Mrs. Benjamin Decker, of Burlington, was the vice-president elected. The five directors were: Mrs. John C. Biddle and Miss Ann Taylor, both of Burlington; Mrs. Samuel McClenahan, of Edgewater Park; Mrs. C. E. Lord, of Mount Holly, and Mrs. N. Ewen, of Moorestown.

Other officers are: President, Mrs. William D. Lippincott, Moorestown; vice-president, Mrs. J. Lindsay Clark, son, of Burlington; corresponding secretary, Miss Rena Middleton, of Moorestown; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles B. Gilbert, of Burlington; treasurer, Miss Helen Woolman, of Riverton. The society has for its purpose the recording and preservation of the historical interests of the county. Its home at 457 High street, Burlington, not only is of great historical interest itself, but houses innumerable treasures of early New Jersey. The house is open Sunday afternoons from three until six o'clock and the first Saturday of each month at the same hours. Interested groups may arrange to call at other times by appointment. The public is always welcome.

Roller Not Present
The speaker at the meeting was Louis C. Kaser, superintendent of schools for Burlington county. Colonel Franklin d'Olier was slated to speak but was unable to make the appointment.

Mr. Kaser spoke on the subject "The Relation of Historical Societies to Education". In going over the subject the speaker pointed out the advantages of such a society in the education of the children and emphasized the great services being done by the Burlington society.

Mayor Harold V. Holmes was also one of the speakers and told of the beginning and growth of the society. The society was organized fifteen years ago and met in the free library building on West Union street. Eight years ago it purchased the James Fenimore Cooper house and made its home there.

The society paid $3,000 on the property at the time and mortgaged the balance, $2,000. This mortgage was recently paid off and the mayor officially burned the mortgage during the meeting.

The income from life memberships was used to apply for the mortgage account and various entertainments had been given to pay to the fund. A balance of $350 was still owing a short time ago and this was paid by two of the members, the Misses Ann and Julia Taylor, of Union street, Burlington.

Educational Value
Efforts are being made to relieve the property of taxation on the grounds that it is an educational institution. Steps have been taken in this matter and it is expected some real progress will be made.

A large number of people are interested in the society, it having 570 members from all over the county. Thirty new members have joined this year. Many valuable gifts of historic interest have been presented to the institution during the past year, as revealed by the reports at the meeting.

One of the most valuable was a series of photographic copies of historical papers. These papers themselves are priceless and the copies are greatly treasured. Another historical relic is the "key" to the old covered bridge at Bridgeboro which was torn down three years ago to make way for the present modern structure. This "key" is the lever used to turn the draw of the bridge and has been found on the outside wall of the building under the roof of the old bridge, which also has been fixed to the wall.

"Key" on Wall
The "key" was delivered to the society by Lester S. Portnum, of Bridgeboro, who received it from the attendants at the bridge and kept it until a short time ago.

A feature of the beautiful garden surrounding the house is a sun dial recently placed on a pedestal made from bricks from the old Smith house, which stood on the site of the present Mechanics' Bank building. This house was the oldest in Burlington, having been erected in 1703. The bricks were brought to the colonies from England.

The flower boxes at the Cooper house have just been filled with beautiful flowers, the gift of Raymond Parker, the florist.

MEN ENTERTAINED BY FLYER'S TALK

Club Members Hear Lieut. R. R. Dennett, Officer of Los Angeles

Members of the Men's Club of Palmyra and Riverton were treated to an unusually enjoyable evening's entertainment at their regular monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building last Thursday.

The club was fortunate in procuring Lieutenant Richard R. Dennett, of the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, and an officer on the giant airship "Los Angeles" as the speaker. He gave a very interesting lecture relative to lighter than air craft.

The lieutenant traced the development of this type of aircraft from 1789, when the so-called "balloons" were filled with smoke and hot air. His lecture led up from these primitive models to the great present day dirigibles and "Zepp" which are raised by helium gas.

In conjunction with his talk he showed several reels of motion pictures, one of which was devoted exclusively to the mooring, housing, ascent, flight and maneuvers of the Los Angeles.

Another reel depicted the experiment of the Los Angeles acting as a transport for airplanes. The carrying is done by means of a trapeze-like device suspended from the dirigible. A special hook-like contrivance attached to the plane enables the connection between the two to take place.

The pictures showed the approach of the airplane to the air giant, the approach being made in line with the suspended trapeze-like device. Skillful maneuvering on the part of the airplane pilot enabled the flying machine to be hooked to the lighter-than-air craft.

The third reel showed the "jumpers" or parachute experts dropping from airplanes. Of special interest in this reel was the fall of a star jumper, who, while dropping, inflated a rubber raft and landed safely on the water.

Many interesting and instructive facts were given by the speaker and after the lecture and pictures were concluded, numerous questions were asked by the various club members.

The speaker has been assigned to the giant airship "Akron" now under construction, as the fourth in command.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Professors Remner and Gordon, violinist and pianist respectively, both of Philadelphia. Refreshments of ice cream and pretzels were served by the refreshment committee after the program had been concluded.

During the months of June, July and August, no meetings of the club will be held, the next meeting is scheduled for September 24.

2 DRUNKEN AUTOISTS CAUGHT IN PALMYRA

Arrest of One Follows Collision at Cinnaminson Avenue and Cuthbert Road

Charged with drunken driving in Palmyra, Arthur Heileman, of 2112 East Biltmore avenue, Philadelphia, was given 60 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace William L. Fleiter last Thursday. Commitment was made in default of $200 fine and $22.50 costs. Heileman was pronounced intoxicated by Dr. Dean last Thursday.

John Pierson, 712 Parry avenue, Palmyra, was arrested for driving while intoxicated Sunday night. His arrest followed a collision with the car driven by Mrs. William Murphy, of Lincoln avenue, Palmyra, at Cuthbert road and Cinnaminson avenue. At a hearing Tuesday night he was fined $200 and $22.50 costs by Justice of the Peace William L. Fleiter. In addition to the fine Pierson agreed to pay $91.75 for damage to the Murphy's machine.

Herbert Endren, of Hornback, La., a passenger in Pierson's car, was also fined $10 on a drunkenness charge.

SUMMER ROUND-UP IS NOW NEARLY FINISHED

Palmyra Parents Are Urged to Give Children Advantage of This Examination

While parents of a number of Palmyra's pre-school children have recognized the advantage of a physical examination for their children in order that any defects disclosed by such examination may be corrected before the children go to school in September, a large number have not as yet paid any attention to either the personal or newspaper notice.

Dr. Bauer has been very generous with his time doing this work, which is not a part of his required duties, and parents should appreciate this fact that it is his great desire to see the school children in the best possible condition, that he is willing to give his time to it, and should show at least as much interest.

Diphtheria immunization and Schick tests have been given each Thursday the past four weeks. Anyone wishing to have children immunized MUST bring them this Thursday, June 4th, as three weekly injections are necessary and no more will be begun after today. Examinations will discontinue after next week, so all parents should make up their minds quickly to have this most important matter attended to.

It is hoped that Palmyra will set a record and have examinations and corrections of school entrants one hundred per cent this year.

Moorestown Bank Official Dies at Age of Seventy-five Years

John Whitall Nicholson, 75 years old, one of the oldest directors of the Provident Trust Company and the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, and the Burlington County Trust Company, of Moorestown, died at his home on East Main street, Moorestown, on Saturday. He had been a resident of Moorestown more than 40 years.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence, with interment in Friends' Burial Ground, at Westfield, near Moorestown.

Mr. Nicholson was graduated from Haverford College in 1876 and immediately entered the employ of the Whitall, Tatum Co. glass manufacturers of Philadelphia. He became a member of the firm and a vice-president. He retired about five years ago, after serving in the concern for fifty years.

Son of William Hopkins and Sarah Whitall Nicholson, he was born on the old Linden farm, on the White Horse pike near what was formerly known as Baker's Corner, now in Audubon. He was a grandson of Capt. John M. Whitall, who for many years commanded a ship that plied between Philadelphia and English ports, and a great-grandson of Anne Whitall, after whom the D. A. R. chapter in Woodbury was named, and whose house still stands on the banks of the Delaware river in Red Bank. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Eliza S. Nicholson; two daughters, Mrs. Francis C. Stokes, of Moorestown, and Mrs. Henry H. Perry, of Dover, Mass.; a son, Alfred, of Cambridge, Mass.; 14 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, of Chestnut Hill, and Mrs. J. Snowden Rhoades, of Germantown, and a brother, William H. Nicholson, Jr., of Moorestown. The oldest son, John W. Nicholson, Jr., died while doing Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Dix during the war.

BUSINESS and BASEBALL

We were talking the other day with a friend whose main interest in life, outside of his own business, is baseball. We were talking, as most men do when they meet these days, about the business situation.

"The business situation reminds me of the baseball situation," said our friend. "You remember that for the past few seasons an enormous number of big league players were batting home runs? They would stand at the plate, holding the bat by the tip and line them out over center field fence until home runs got to be almost commonplace. People began to get tired of them.

"Last winter the baseball magnates got together to see how they could tighten up the game. They developed a new ball, which is being used this season. The leather cover is thicker and the seams are rougher, which gives the pitcher better control and a sharper break on his curves. Players who used to bat the old ball all over the lot found they could not even hit the new ball half the time. Then somebody began to think back, and recalled that Ty Cobb, the greatest batter of them all, used to hold his bat somewhere in the middle and crouch over the plate. He didn't hit many home runs but he got to first base oftener than any other batter in his time. So the baseball players of this season instead of swinging high, wide and handsome, have just shortened up their bats and are playing for base hits instead of home runs.

"Now it seems to me," our friend went on, "that there is a lesson in that for business men. Everybody in business was batting home run two or three years ago. But we are playing business with a new kind of ball, and the fellow that swings a long bat and keeps trying for home runs these days does not even get to first base. But the wise business men are just shortening up their grasp, playing up close to the plate, and they are batting out base hits, while the ones who have not found out yet that the new ball is harder to hit are beefing about hard times and blaming their troubles on everybody but themselves."

It seems to us that there is a good deal in what our friend said. There are a lot of business men who had things coming their way too easily during the boom, but the ones who are holding their own today and getting ahead are not the ones who are waiting for the old times to come back, but are the ones who are adapting their ideas and their business methods to today's conditions.

THE ROADSIDE LANDSCAPE

At intervals of a few miles along every state highway in Tennessee there is an inconspicuous sign which reads, "No Advertising Is Permitted Within the Right of Way of Any State Highway in Tennessee."

For adopting this rule the state of Tennessee deserves a Pulitzer prize, or a Carnegie medal, or a tablet in the Hall of Fame. The state, of course, cannot control advertising signs not located actually on the highway property, but the mere fact that it has adopted this regulation, and is calling attention to it, undoubtedly has an influence on the whole subject of the defacement of the landscape by advertising billboards. These little unobtrusive signs create in the public mind a realization of the fact that advertising signs are a defacement and a nuisance.

Tennessee has some other pretty good highway laws and regulations. There is no speed limit in the state except such as municipalities set up, where traffic is thick. You may drive a hundred miles an hour in Tennessee, if your car will go that fast, but you are held strictly responsible for reckless driving and violation of the rules of the road. One of the things they are particular about in Tennessee is passing a car going in the same direction when both are going uphill. The state traffic police are vigilant, and the usual fine for this offense is $50. Tennessee has learned that most automobile accidents are not the result of speed but of carelessness.

Some other states and communities could learn something from Tennessee.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

Comparatively few automobile accidents are caused by criminal recklessness or flagrant errors on the part of the driver.

Most of them are caused by little mistakes—by allowing attention to stray from what you are doing; by forgetting to slow up, or neglecting to look both ways at a busy intersection; by being in just a little more of a hurry to get somewhere than the occasion really demands; by becoming irritated or impatient at the actions of another driver.

These are the kinds of things which drivers are doing all the time. In most cases, nothing happens. But sooner or later the right combination of circumstances arises, so that just a few seconds' inattention, or just a little too much speed in the wrong place, puts you into the path of another machine.

The careful driver controls himself as well as his car. He refuses to allow scenery, conversation, a wrecked car by the roadside or the person in the back seat to distract his attention from the road. He governs his speed according to traffic, weather, and highway conditions, curbing his impatience to get there, or his irritation at the poor driving of the man ahead. He is actually safer under the most dangerous traffic, weather or highway conditions than is the inattentive or irritated driver under the safest driving conditions.

Pretty Home Wedding

Last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock Miss Anna Elizabeth Wilbraham and Howard Edgar Ingle were married at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. D. W. C. McIntire officiating. The bride is the youngest daughter of Reuben and Deborah Wilbraham. She was charmingly dressed in white organdy, trimmed with satin ribbon. Miss Mabel Price was maid of honor and wore Paris muslin. William Wilbraham, brother of the bride, was best man.

Walter Roy and Frank Adams were ushers. Both the young people are well known in this vicinity, and their many friends join with The New Era in congratulations and best wishes for many years of happiness.

Trolley Accident at Edgewater Park

The first accident to happen on the road between Edgewater Park and Riverton occurred at Edgewater Park Wednesday morning when Baker Bahmuller's wagon collided with car No. 16. The horse became frightened and unmanageable and before the motor man could stop the car it struck the wagon breaking it into pieces. The driver, John Seaseux, was thrown out and received a severe gash over the eye and some scratches about the face. He was taken to Dr. Taylor, who dressed his wounds.

THE PROBLEM

By Ralph Waldo Emerson

The hand that rounded Peter's dome,
And groined the aisles of Christian Rome.

Himself from God he could not free;
Wrought in a sad sincerity;
He builded better than he knew—
The conscious stone to beauty grew.

Earth proudly wears the Parthenon;
As the best gem upon her zone,
And Morning opens with haste her lids
To gaze upon the Pyramids.
O'er England's abbeys bends the sky,
As on its friends, with kindred eye,
Fox, out of Thought's interior sphere,
These wonders rose to upper air;
And Nature gladly gave them place,
Adopted them into her race.
And granted them an equal date
With Andes and with Atriat.

I know what say the fathers wise—
The Book itself before me lies—
Old Chrysostom, best Augustine,
And he who lent both in his line,
The younger Golden Lips or mines,
Taylor, the Shakespeare of divines,
His words are music in my ear.

I see his cowed portrait dear,
And yet, for all his faith could see,
I would not the good bishop be.

The word unto the prophet spoken
Was writ on tablets yet unbroken;
The word by seers or sibyls told,
In groves of oak, or fane of gold,
Still floats upon the morning wind,
Still whispers to the willing mind,
One accent of the Holy Ghost,
The heedless world hath never lost.

TRENTON NEWS LETTER

Enthusiasm and unity marked the annual state convention of the New Jersey Republicans, and the campaign starts off with a feeling of victory in the air. The convention was marked by a fine spirit and the utterance of former United States Senator Baird, Jr. chosen candidate for governor displayed a strength of character and a certainty of kept pledges which caught the fancy of the whole assemblage, which evinced its approbation with rounds of applause.

United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow who was made temporary chairman after State Chairman E. Bertram Mott had called the convention to order paid glowing tribute to the candidate for governor declaring him to be a business man in whom every trust and confidence could be reposed by the voters. Mr. Morrow showed the necessity at this time of choosing such men to perform the duties of administering government because of the economic requirements of the time. He said that Mr. Baird had shown great capacity as a successful business man in whom the affairs of the state could be safely trusted. Moreover he was rewarded everywhere as one of the most powerful and unselfish of organization leaders. He said that the candidate would be judged by his record, and with marked emphasis sounded the keynote of the convention with "We welcome that judgement."

Mr. Baird gave every evidence of depth of feeling and appreciation as he arose before the great assembly to make known some of the ideas he intends to convey to the voters during the campaign.

Perhaps the strongest and most emphatic statement he presented in his address was "If I am elected I will lead. If my opponent is elected he will be led."

Mr. Baird called special attention to the manner in which Democratic candidates had been picked by the boss of their party, Mayor Hague. He said that the campaign was not so much directed toward the defeat of his amiable opponent as to the defeat of the man Hague, who would be the dominating power behind the administration.

— 14 feet from pole 6427..."

MILES away at a test board, the telephone expert learns instantly of the break and directs repairs.

Disturb the delicate wires in the cable, and sensitive electric instruments in the Wire Chief's office indicate the point of trouble within a few feet.

Cable men sent to the scene run a "bug" (magnetic portable tester) along the cable and locate the break exactly.

Gas, under pressure in cables, is another modern method of discovering trouble. When there is a break in the sheath the pressure drops at that point, and instruments at the test board note the change.

Thus do scientific methods help to give you increasingly dependable telephone service at low cost.

MAIN STREET LOOKS AT BROADWAY BY ERNEST CAMP JR

THE BEST RADIO!

New Yorkers, better than anybody else perhaps, know the best make of radio. There is no argument about it. Even your local dealer will probably agree after he has heard about it.

The machine is made in New Jersey. It sells for something quite a lot more than $1,000. Frankly, we were not really curious about the exact price.

SOME GUARANTEE

When you drop down on Saturday night to get one—that is supposing you do—be sure to insist on their guarantee. It consists of a promise to give your money back if it doesn't cut through any kind of interference and bring in stations 2,000 miles or more away like one in the next town. At least that's what the King of Siam was promised when he was shut up in a darkened room for several days after his eyes were operated on, successfully, by an American doctor. He got it for the Siamese broadcasting.

NOT FOR AMATEURS

The de luxe radio is a fourteen tube set and has every duo-dad you can find on any other machine that is worth having. If the makers can't buy the patent rights they want for the few machines they build, they just buy a complete machine, scrap what they don't want, and fit in the part.

Each machine is built entirely by one man, and it takes several weeks for him to construct. There is a waiting list of intended purchasers, so it is more than likely that any of your local radio fans who wish to buy a machine had better stick to the regularly advertised models. That is, if they want to get a radio this year. It's really millionaire stuff.

The Mystery of Wednesday

By IRVIN S. COBB

A BROADWAY actor got carried away by the spirit of the prohibition times and remained carried away for several days. He came to himself in his own room without knowing exactly how he got there. A friend sat beside him.

"Hello," he said, as he opened his eyes, "what day is this?"
"This," said his friend, "is Thursday."
The invalid thought it over a minute.

"What became of Wednesday?" he asked.

A FAMOUS FIGURE

The daily grind in New York does not shorten men's lives, judging by two men who have just passed on—George F. Baker, the famous banker, who died at 91, and David Belasco, famous theatrical man who lived to 76. Both men made their mark and had an important part in shaping the destinies of millions of other men.

Of the two men Belasco led the more public existence and affected the lives of more people. Through his efforts the American stage was lifted from the melodrama of the '80's to the fine productions of the present day.

A GENIUS

Belasco, himself, was a genius, beyond question. Although primarily a producer, he wrote many plays, designed stage settings and lighting effects, taught his actors how to strut through their parts, and in general was a past master of all things concerned with the stage.

His capacity for taking pains was unlimited. He demanded realism in everything. In one play antique settings were demanded. He refused to have reproductions made and spent $100,000 in getting 15th Century furniture. After the play was finished, he had the valuable settings removed to his own set of rooms above one of his many theatres and passed his remaining years surrounded by priceless furniture.

He was a gambler in the best sense of the word. Three times he went broke, twice when he was well past middle age, but he kept hammering away and is believed to have left a fortune to his widow and children. He is only one of thousands of examples of men who have given their lives to New York only to be enriched in turn.

When Mrs. E. McFadden of White Salmon, Wash., investigated sounds of "hello, hello" coming from her chicken yard, she found a parrot that had disappeared about six weeks previously from Klickitat, Wash., about 35 miles from there.

EPISCOPAL

(Rev. Edgar L. Sanford, Rector)
Sunday, June 7

The late Festus J. Wade, of St. Louis, Mo., who achieved great business success in the face of unusually adverse conditions, once compiled this "decade of success" for an organization of young men:

Become affiliated with some religious creed and follow its principles. Devote at least an hour daily to study. Hold truth supreme and despise deception. Always try to do more than is required of you. Avoid egotism, intolerance and bigotry. Be charitable in the broadest sense.

Encourage every form of education. Be active in the public good. Be loyal to your employer and grateful to those who aid you. Cultivate integrity, industry, patience, temperance and charity.

Mr. Wade won the title, "first citizen of the Southwest." He must have practiced what he preached.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"GOD THE ONLY CAUSE AND CREATOR" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 7.

The Golden Test is: "Let all the earth fear the Lord; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast" (Psalms 33:8,9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered, for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress" (p. 170).

Best Way to Dry Shoes

It is difficult to dry shoes so that they are as pliable as they were before they were wet. They should be stuffed with tissue paper when taken off and dried slowly, as heat tends to crack the leather.

When William Caldwell of Centerville, Ia., rushed into an office yesterday there was a fire, for he smelled smoke, the foreman answered him by drawing a pair of burning gloves from Caldwell's hip pocket.

VERY LATESTS
By MARY MARSHALL

A yard and a quarter of soft frilling by the yard about six inches in depth will make one of the most becoming of all collar and cuffs sets for a simple dress with a deep round neckline. The cuffs are made from strips of the frilling ten inches each in length and the remaining twenty-five inches are used for the collar. The pieces for the cuffs are seamed up so that they flare slightly. The piece for the collar is attached in with a slightly flaring seam which comes at the back of the neck. When the frilling is turned down over the dress it rolls a trifle at back and sides and falls in soft folds at the front. The frilling chosen consists of a bias strip of silk voile or chiffon about four inches wide with a double ruffle of two inches at the edge.

Circular frilling may also be used to give a becoming finish to the round neck dress. This may be of pleated chiffon or of lace. The piece used for the collar should be eased in a little at the front of the neck so that it will not draw. The cuffs will flare slightly on account of the circular cut of the material, but any excessive flaring may be taken care of by tacking the frilling down to the sleeve here and there.

Frilling may be used as effectively on short sleeved dresses as on long-sleeved ones and may be used to outline V necklines as well as round ones. To be prepared for any emergency in the way of an unexpected invitation for luncheon or bridge, you should have on hand several lengths of frilling with which you can give a fresh touch to one of your spring dresses.

The chorus lately formed, led and instructed by Mrs. Sim, gave a couple of selections, making the audience to join in the last, America the Beautiful.

The joint field-day and P. T. A. picnic on Tuesday, the second, was another enjoyable affair. Shortly after 2:00 p. m. parents and children began arriving at the school, and a goodly number was on hand when the sports began at three. Each grade gave something individual; games, dances and a flag drill was especially fine. After these the races began. Three-legged, sack and other races and stunts, lasted until nearly five when little groups ate their picnic supper under the trees, supplemented by the ever present hot dog sandwich, and Dixie cups, which were offered for sale by the lunch room. Lastly, a Twilight game of baseball. Men vs. Boys, finished a gay afternoon.

On their silver wedding anniversary, Rev. John Bydake, 61, and his wife, 52, of Nottingham, Eng., celebrated by passing their final tests for air pilot certificates.

EDITORIAL

The eighth grade of Riverton public school, are patiently awaiting a very important day of their lives, a day that has in store for them a remembrance, yes, for it will not be a reminder of their last days in grammar school. But it will also remind them that they are about to commence a new stage of their life, for commencement is almost here. They are at most young men and women, but yet are still boys and girls and are not yet finished the schooling. They will go through high school to be better prepared for business. High school might be called the final preparation, so if any individual's records are not up to standard in grade school, he will get another chance in high school. Let's hope each person will be inspired by commencement and will try to give a good name to Riverton school by working hard whenever he goes after graduation.

MEMORIAL PARK

Everyone who was at Memorial Park May 28th saw Riverton school's annual May program known as field day. Those who got there early and ate their lunch at the park were "lucky" for they got the best places on the field. Every class in the school took part in this affair. The lower grades performed interesting dances; while the upper grades did club drills and a mass drill. Two of the features of the evening were a game of dodge ball and a game of volleyball. After this program came the athletic events for boys and girls.

FIFTH GRADE MAKE MODELS OF INVENTIONS

The fifth grade has been studying inventions and have made models of them. These people made telegraph keys, Robert Matthews, Marie Zimmerman, Frederick Freeman, George Trautman, and Robert Dunlap. The stage coach was modelled by Doris Steedle; the telephone, by Marie Zimmerman; radios, by Marie Haines, Eleanor Friday, Lois Bentliff, and the steamboat by Robert Crowell, George Trautman and Billy Meyers.

They are also making posters showing the progress of lighting and heat.

REAL WOOD CARVERS

The 6-A class have about completed their bird study and will take a real excursion to see live birds. They made birds, dogs, cats and butterflies out of wood and mounted them upon wood holders. Such a lovely display of birds! Each pupil tried to make his bird represent a songster and the brighter the color, the better the job. These lovely life-like birds can be seen in our flower gardens this summer and also serve as weather vane. The dog, cat and butterflies will grace the fences.

Johnson, of Vineland, will be the speaker of the occasion and Alfred VanOsten, of Palmyra, will lead the singing. Ladies are cordially invited to be present. Cars will leave Palmyra station at two o'clock. It is hoped that Palmyra will be well represented.

All ladies of the church and Sunday School are cordially invited to be present. The hostesses of the occasion will be Mrs. Horace Finney and Mrs. Floyd W. Spahr. The election of officers will precede the picnic.

TRIPS PROVE ATTRACTIVE TO MANY GRADES

Several classes have already made trips this year. The upper grades have gone to Supplee's and to see the water front of Philadelphia. Just last week four-B visited Supplee's, too. On Friday the sixth and two-A and three-B classes went to the zoological gardens. Next week the first and second grades are planning to take the same trip.

The 2-A and 3-B children are making a picture of a circus on their bulletin board. They have already finished several animals for the procession. Perhaps they will get some more ideas for it from their visit at the "Zoo."

CREATIVE WORK IN ENGLISH

The children of the two upper grades have been exercising their creative ability in their English work. Recently groups of them have worked together to write plays. Two of these have been given on the stage for class programs.

They wrote, cast, coached, and costumed these plays themselves. A number of talks have been given, many of which have been illustrated. Edward Hebrer brought his alligator so that the class might see it as he talked about it.

Original poems, stories, and essays have been composed to form a book. They have correlated their art with English and drawn illustrations for their compositions.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen E. Boas, of Horace avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at Mrs. Rieger's Maternity Home on Sunday morning.

When Abraham Springer was Postmaster of Palmyra in 1876, the post-office was in a general store, where Fortnum's is now located. Mr. Springer astonished the natives by putting in a small section of call boxes.

Mayor George N. Wimer's father took Box No. 15 and it has been in the family ever since that time, until the present removal of the post-office and the change of boxes seems to have eliminated that particular number. It seems that the boxes have numbers higher than fifteen, as well as lower, this number, however, is eliminated. The Wimer family has been getting mail from Post Office Box No. 15 for fifty-five years.

Miss V. Andrews, of Reading, Pa., has been spending two weeks with Mrs. John Moffitt, of Lincoln avenue.

The Palmyra Fourth of July committee will meet Monday evening at the Palmyra police headquarters and each Monday following, until July 4.

The radio given away last Thursday night at the Broadway Palace theatre was won by Anthony Sacca, 415 West Sixth street, Palmyra. The lucky number, 788, was pulled by Nancy Winifred Snyder, of Main street, Riverton.

A cake sale will be held on Saturday, June 13, on the porch of George N. Wimer, by the members of the girls' basketball and the boys' basketball teams of Palmyra High School. The proceeds of the sale will be used to purchase awards for members of the two teams.

Several Palmyra ladies will attend the last meeting, until fall, of the Annis Stockton Chapter, of the D. A. E. to be held in Delanco, at the home of Mrs. William Baggs, on Monday at 2:15 o'clock. Mrs. Baggs has entertained the chapter at strawberry time for many years.

A notice was read of the meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education to be held in Trenton, June 5.

Mr. Cooper, supervising principal, submitted his report, which was in part as follows:

Mr. Cooper's Report
The percentage of attendance during April was 93.71 per cent, a gain of about four per cent over the preceding month. At present some pupils of certain grades are suffering from mumps, which fact will lower the percentage of attendance in May. The best attendance was in 7A, with a record of 99.4 per cent. Nine out of thirteen rooms reported no tardiness.

Seventeen pupils were sent to the medical inspector's office and the final dental clinic was held on May 28.

The annual round-up of the P.T.A. was held on May 21. Dr. Rogers and Dr. Dunn were in attendance, and examined thirteen children. Two more were gone over by their own physicians and two were done at a later date by Dr. Rogers, making a total of seventeen in all. The afternoon was rainy, which fact kept some children away.

This year we shall not use any one criteria to determine whether a child shall be promoted, but shall try to do what is best for the individual child. The ninth year book of the Dept. of Superintendent lists six principles relative to promoting, of which the first two are: (a) Promotion should be decided upon a basis of the individual pupil. (b) Promotion should be on the basis of many factors. The final decision as to whether a particular child should be promoted, should rest not merely on academic accomplishment, but on what will result in the greatest good to all-around development of the individual.

The prize books for attendance have been ordered as in the past, and will be distributed in the last assembly period. It will be announced at that time, that these books will not be awarded in the future. It has been found that the county certificates act as just as efficient a spur for attendance, yet do not have the objectionable features of prizes.

Field Day—The program at Field Day was quite satisfactory. It was well organized by Mrs. Lucas assisted by Mrs. Bowers, and ran off without a hitch. A large crowd was present, no doubt due in some measure to the splendid weather. The P.T.A. had the most successful refreshment serving in its history, at least from a financial point of view.

The large amount of popular interest in Field Day was gratifying; it shows the value of continuing in some form at least, an event which has become Riverton tradition. The school appreciated very much the assistance of those Board members, parents, and friends of the school who cooperated to make the affair a success, and

BOY SCOUTS TAKE UP SEA SCOUTING

Riverton Troop Planning Additional Activity for This Summer

"Ship ahoy! Lay aloft, Mates, and take a double reef in the bowsprit, and two half hitches in the stern post marlin spike. Clew the belayin pin to the mizzen mast tops! shake out the top hamper, and pipe all hands aft for the dog watch." All of which means absolutely nothing but serves to introduce the fact that at last the Riverton Scouts have gone nautical, or at least a patrol of older boys has taken to the water.

For some months past Assistant Scoutmaster Henry Seabrook has been quietly working to get sea-scouting organized in Troop 50. He has accomplished his end against considerable opposition and now a patrol of Sea-Scouts is actually underway, with Mr. Seabrook as patrol leader or perhaps he should be called "mate."

Sea-Scouting is for older boys, who have already become proficient in land-scouting and who want to go on progressing in the Scout program. Sea-Scouts must be first-class Scouts and they must be at least fifteen years old.

There are many rumors as to what Mr. Seabrook has up his sleeve for his jack tars. He is keeping a strict silence about his plans, but the rumors must have some truth behind them and they are most interesting and exciting, ranging all the way from boats to cruises. By July 4th it is expected that the Sea-Scout patrol of Troop 50 will be completely outfitted in sea-going togs, and so will have the confidence which natty uniforms always give to members of an organization. With such a young man as the leader, and with the heritage of boating and the water which every Riverton boy has behind him, the Sea-Scout patrol for older boys should prove a real success.

Of much interest in connection with thanks them heartily for this trouble. To the teachers and pupils whose faithful daily practice made possible the performance, belongs the lion's share of the credit for its excellence.

The following bills were ordered paid by the board and the meeting adjourned until June 26.

Public Service Electric and Gas, $10.88; Public Service Electric and Gas, $10.88; Joseph T. Evans, sawdust, $1.10; Sellers Cope, use Victrola, $5.00; R. H. Cleland, hauling ashes, $2.50; Staveley and Reilly, repairing gongs, $75 cents; World Book Company, books, $22.00; Milton Bradley Company, white poster board, $2.21; Milton Bradley Company, paper, etc., $11.22; Drier's athletic supplies, $5.09.

the Sea-Scout program is a hike which was announced at the meeting Friday. Over the week-end of June 27th and 28th, Assistant Scoutmaster William Cook, who is himself an ex-Marine and thoroughly at home on the water, has promised to take certain members of the troop on a fifty-mile canoe hike. All members of the troop who have passed the swimming merit badge test will be entitled to go on this trip. There isn't a doubt in the world that those who are fortunate enough to go will have a thrilling week-end. Incidentally this trip will be of great assistance in showing which boys are qualified to become Sea-Scouts.

The program for the Riverton Scouts is packed with interesting plans. In addition to the Sea-Scouting program and the plan for a canoe hike, a mystery hike will take place early in September after the regular camping season is over. The Scoutmaster refuses absolutely to give any details about this affair. It may be land or it may be by water. The troop may hike on foot or ride in automobiles. The destination is also shrouded in mystery, but it is certain that the troop will not go to any of the familiar camp sites. Any boy who was in the troop at the time Mr. Garwood first became Scoutmaster and who has been in the troop since that time knows that Mr. Garwood is capable of supplying great excitement and thrills as well as mysteries. Land scouting is progressing. Two new candidates for membership were accepted on probation last Friday night. Every meeting is packed with real Scouting.

Plans have been started to have a return engagement of the Drexel Hill Players on Friday, June 26th, with another delightful comedy which will be even more enjoyable than was "The Mollusc." Any Rivertonians who missed "The Mollusc" because of counter attractions elsewhere will have an opportunity to see these delightful players at this later date.

FINDS INCREASED USE OF MACHINES ON N. J. FARMS

An index of the extent of farm industrialization in New Jersey is the decrease of 46 per cent in the number of horses and 39 per cent in the number of mules on farms during the 10-year period ending 1930, according to W. C. Krueger, extension service engineer of the New Jersey Experiment Station. This trend, he points out, indicates that "slowly but surely animal power is being displaced with mechanical energy as a means of economical adjustment to a changing agriculture."

Palmyra High School - Riverton Benefit Ball Game Here Tonight at 6:15

PALMYRA MEETS TEAM OF FORMER SCHOOL PLAYERS

Prospective Scholastic Champions in Exhibition Game at Home Field

HAVE LOST ONE GAME OF TEN TILTS PLAYED

Proceeds Will be Used to Purchase Awards for School-boy Tossers

Although the official season for the Palmyra High School closed last Friday afternoon, Coach Kenneth C. Dimond's schoolboys play one more game before they put away their diamond equipment for the school year.

The high school team has received but a single setback this year, that coming last Friday, and seems to be headed for the Burlington County Scholastic League championship. Their excellent record has not been bettered by any team this season and despite last week's loss they are considered very much in the running for the South Jersey Class "B" championship. Audubon High, already proclaimed as titleholder of the Camden Suburban League, seems to be the main obstacle in the path of the Pals for the sectional title. A tilt played April 28 between Audubon and Palmyra resulted in an eleven-inning stalemate.

Riverton, a new entry into the Burlington County Baseball League has had fair success in the games played so far this season. To date they have shown either exceptionally good form or else have played like children.

The Riverton team has lost two games to the Medford team by bulging scores, dropping the first one at the alien field by a 20-1 count, and then being trimmed last Saturday on home ground by a 22-5 rout.

The other league contest which they have lost was a well-played contest which Burlington was fortunate enough to win, 9-3.

Several former high school players now included in the Riverton lineup are Bottler, Foulke, Buckholz, Weikman, Baker, Coles, Easley and Bartley are numbered on the Riverton roster, while Terrell and Gootes at present on the Palmyra team, will see action with them after the close of the school term. Levi Sloan and Jim Reeves, now ball hawking at Dickinson College will also join the Riverton aggregation later in the season. Whether these members will be back in time to participate in tonight's game is doubtful.

The proceeds of the contest will be used for the purchasing of awards for the high school players. In recognition of their fine showing this season, Palmyra school authorities feel such awards would be appropriate. The Riverton players being willing to play such a contest the date has been set for tonight. The contest will be staged on the new High School athletic field.

Howard Davidson, Palmyra athlete who has been playing shortstop during the early part of the season, has been taken out of the line-up for playing outside ball in a Camden league. Whether Dimond will use him the game against Riverton is problematical. In the ten games played this year the Palmyra hitters held their opponents to 39 runs. Previous to last week's defeat rival teams were able to garner but 20 runs from the Palmyra batters, but they overcame a nine-game stretch. In these contests the Pals have pushed 46 runs across the plate.

Base Stealing With Twilight Leaguers

The long delayed game between Parry and the Ramblers was played last Thursday night after twice being postponed because of rain. Parry, previously undefeated, lost the first game when the Ramblers broke a deadlock in the last inning to win 4-3. Parry started strong in the first inning when Howard Schuck started a three-run rally with a long home run. The Ramblers tied the count in their half of the inning. Both teams were tied again, 3 all, in the fifth inning. In the dual chapter, the Palmyra team slipped over the one run necessary to win the game.

In winning the game the Ramblers again entered into a deadlock for the sunbaked position, and are now tied with the Artisan nine with three wins out of four starts.

Somewhat disheartened because of Thursday's loss, the Parry team dropped its second straight to the Artisan outfit Friday night. The lodgements doubled the score on the suburbanites to top the game, 10-3.

After Howard Schuck had dropped an easy fly to give the Artisans a two run lead in the first inning, he cut the lead by holding one of Will Hiltner's choicest hooks over the rightfield fence to send the lead. When the Artisan "hot" to Malley, the Parry fliker, in the next three innings to bring their score to 7-3. Reynolds ascended the peak for the Parrymen. Three runs off the "wild man's" delivery gave the A. O. M. F.'s a bulging 10-3 margin. Easing up in the last frame, Hiltner gave up two more runs to enable the Parry outfit to half match the Artisan's score.

The second game to be postponed because of rain was washed out Monday night. The fast rising Rogers News team and the league leading Rambler outfit were scheduled to meet

R.G.S. FIELD DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

Large Audience Thrilled by Splendid Performance of School Pupils

The annual field day program sponsored by the Riverton Grammar School, with the Parent-Teacher Association co-operating, was held last Thursday at Memorial Park.

The weather was excellent and the affair was probably the best attended since its inception. The P. T. A. had for sale an excellent array of foodstuffs for light lunches and cleared approximately $120 over expenses. The Wm. S. Scull Company, of Camden, donated Boscoville coffee and sent one of the company experts here to operate it for the P. T. A.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing electricity to operate the coffee percolators and the amplifying Victrola. Many feet of extension cord had to be run from the nearest electric outlet to the park to provide the necessary current, with which the park is not equipped.

R. N. Cooper, principal, is grateful to the many friends who assisted in making the event so successful. Dr. Henry L. Rogers secured and directed the officials for the athletic events. Ross Mattis made a good job of marking the field for the various activities, and many others showed a fine spirit of co-operation.

Numbers among the guests was Miss Hannah H. Chew, of Wrights town, Pa., former supervising principal at Riverton.

Three folk dances were given by the kindergarten, first and second grades. The kindergarten, "Chimes of Dunkirk" by the kindergarten, "Dance of Greeting" by the first grade and "I See You" by the second grade. Grades 7 and 8 presented a club drill followed by a dance. "The First of May" given by grades 2 and 3. An Indian club mass drill embracing the 4th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades was next on the program followed by "Hansel & Gretel" a third grade folk dance. Grades 5 and 6 engaged in a lively game of dodge ball, and were followed by a game of volleyball with the 7th and 8th grades contesting. The final three events by the grades was a folk dance, "Tantarella" by grades 7 and 8, a flag drill by grades 4-13 and a maypole dance by the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades.

The perfect rhythm and grace with which these various events were performed and which drew many expressions of appreciation from the spectators, is not so amazing as Mr. Cooper, when one considers that such exercises are a part of the daily drill the pupils receive at school.

The athletic events and their winners are as follows: The boys relay teams tied for first place. One team was made up of Ted Hunn, Frank Alloway, James Webb and Joseph Yearly, and the other Harry Turner, Richard Payne, Charles Willis and Jacques Douglas.

Sherran Gootes took first place in the baseball throw with a distance of 219 feet to his credit. Howard Alloway came in for second place with a throw of 214 feet, and he was followed by Edgar Wallace who threw the ball 166 feet for third place.

In the high jump Charles Willis cleared off first honors when he cleared the bar at 4 feet 9 inches, and was pushed hard by Ted Hunn who took second place with a jump of 4 feet 8 inches. Harry Turner and Dudley King tied for third place by a distance of 4 feet 4 inches.

In the running broad jump Ted Hunn came in for first place with a jump of 15 feet eight and one-half inches. Harry Turner took second with fifteen feet five and seven-eighths. Howard Alloway took third place with twelve feet eight and one-half inches.

In the boys' 100-yard dash Joseph Yearly came across the finish line first with Jacques Douglas second and James Webb third.

The girls' relay race was won by a team composed of Edith Ridley, Deborah Jones, Mary Wilson, Eleanor Sordun, Mildred Speer and Olive Jones, and known as the "Reds."

Edith Ridley won first place in the girls' fifty yard dash, followed by Alice Williams second and Julia Washington third.

Eleanor Sordun won the girls' basketball throw with a distance of 117 feet; second, Elizabeth Woolston, 105 feet; and third, Mary Wilson with a throw of 100 feet.

The final event, the girls' standing broad jump, was won by Edith Ridley with a jump of 6 feet nine and three-eighths inches. Second, Alice Williams with 6 feet nine inches, and third, Julia Washington with six feet three inches.

but O' Jope Pluvius had entirely different ideas. Showers throughout the day have left the poor condition for the day and additional rain at same time caused the contest to be postponed. No date has been set for the play-off.

PARRY DOUBLES 'RIVERTON SCORE

Pounds Three Rival Pitchers to Win Slugging Match, 12 to 6

Johnny Broderson's Parry baseball outfit doubled the score on the Riverton team of the Burlington County League in a game played last Wednesday night, winning by a 12-6 tally.

Both teams garnered an even dozen hits but hitting in the pinches enabled the Parry nine to score freely. Parry opened the game by making five runs in the first inning, a circuit, clout by Bill Phelan driving in four. They crossed the plate once in the second inning and then sewed up the game by tallying five more in the third. They added their final counter in the seventh stanza.

Riverton started out strong, pushing across four runs in the first inning, but were unable to do much after that time. A brace of markers in the fifth frame brought the total count of the Rivertonians to six.

Phelan, the Schrader brothers and Menkevitch each collected two hits for Parry, while Edge and Baker led the Riverton attack with four and three hits respectively.

Schultz repeatedly pitched himself out of tight holes and numerous Riverton players were left stranded. In addition to the twelve hits, the Riverton tossers were aided by four errors and a lone pass.

PALMYRA GIANTS DROP TILT BY LONE TALLY

Bill Lange's homer in the ninth with two out and one on, gave Second Ward an 8-7 victory over the Palmyra Giants at the Civic Centre, last Saturday.

After the Giants had scored two runs in the first half of the final inning to forge ahead, 7-6, Welsh's single and Lange's homer gave the Warriors the necessary markers to win the contest. Lange's hitting featured throughout, the burly outfielder getting three singles along with his homer to finish with a perfect average.

WATCH FOR SPIDER MITES

C. C. HAMILTON
(N. J. Agr'l. Experiment Station.)

Spider mites or red mites, of which there are several different kinds, frequently infest various ornamental plants in summer. These small mites have four pairs of legs and are usually found on the under surface of the foliage of infested plants.

A mottled grayish or brownish appearance on the upper surfaces of leaves may be taken as an indication that spider mites are present. This discoloring of the leaves, the result of punctures made by the mites, indicates a loss of green coloring material, or chlorophyll, from the leaves. Continued and severe infestations cause the lower leaves of such plants as philodendrons and other perennials and annuals to become brown, dry, and to drop off prematurely.

Philodendrons, delphiniums, and roses among other plants, are especially susceptible to attacks of spider mites. So also are many shade trees, particularly oaks and elms among the broad-leaved varieties, and junipers, spruce, and boxwood among the evergreens.

The control of spider mites will depend somewhat on the available equipment. Thorough and frequent syringing of plants with strong streams of water often prevents the mites from becoming numerous enough to cause serious injury. The dusting of plants that have compacted foliage, especially when the temperature is 80 or more degrees Fahrenheit, gives satisfactory control because the dust provides protection for several days. Evergreen trees having fairly open foliage may be sprayed with a lime-sulfur solution diluted 1 part of lime-sulfur to 50 to 60 parts of water. The use of pyrethrum soap sprays also has proved satisfactory when done thoroughly. The application of any spray or dust should be directed to the under surfaces of the leaves where the mites are most numerous.

Spider mites increase in numbers very rapidly, and a severe infestation may develop within a week or 10 days. Therefore, it is necessary to observe the plants continually and to repeat control measures at frequent intervals.

STILL TIME TO PLANT ANNUALS

By A. C. McLEAN,
(N. J. Agr'l. Experiment Station.)

There is yet ample time to sow many annuals for late August and September bloom.

Asters, one of the best of the fall-blooming annuals, may be planted as late as June 1 with the expectation of getting a good display of bloom in late September. Feed asters liberally, give them plenty of room and sunlight, and protect them from disease. Complete directions for preventing diseases of asters are contained in Bulletin 232, "Aster Diseases," by Dr. R. P. White of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. Any New Jersey resident may obtain a copy of this publication from his local county agricultural agent, or by writing to the Mail Clerk, New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Snapdragons now will produce good fall bloom, and scabiosa planted in June will be at their best in September. Other annuals that may be planted now or even in early July for September bloom are centaureas, corn flowers, calendulas, and candy tuft. All of these annuals are easily grown. Usually young plants produce better fall bloom than do early-planted ones that have already bloomed during the summer.

In sowing these annuals, be sure to keep the seed bed damp until germination takes place. This may be done by thorough watering or by covering the bed with burlap. These late-sown plants may be used to replace early-blooming annuals or perennials that have passed their prime.

JUNE-PLANTED DAHLIAS

June is probably the best month to plant dahlias. When planted earlier, dahlias usually develop vigorously at first, but are later retarded in growth by the hot weather of summer and attacks of insects. A severe cutting back of the plants will help to overcome the growth-retarding effects of hot weather, and thorough spraying will keep insects under control.

June-planted dahlias make a slow but sturdy growth during warm weather and a faster growth during the cooler days of late September and early October. These late-planted dahlias usually produce the best flowers, and they require less work on the part of the gardener. It should be remembered that dahlias are essentially fall flowers and are at their best during September or early October.

The best dahlia blooms are produced on young, strong-growing shoots of young plants. The gardener may plant roots or green plants (rooted cuttings) at this season with good results. The writer believes green plants give the best results, since they do not produce as strong or as excessive an early growth as do roots. Gardeners who intend to plant roots, however, should let only one stem or sprout grow. Cut off the other shoots. Dahlias should be planted 5 to 6 inches deep in well-prepared soil. The dahlia grows best on a light, loose soil that is well aerated.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will L. Lindhorst

USE NOSE TO FIND CERTAIN PENNY AMONG SIX COINS

Place six pennies close together on a table, select one, pass it around to persons in the audience and have each person note the date on the penny. Then blindfold yourself and ask that the penny be placed in the group on the table. Immediately stoop over and touch the pennies with the tip of your nose and you will find that one coin feels warmer than the others. The warm coin, which has become so through being fingered by persons in the audience, is the selected penny. Copper retains heat better than other metals, and the nose being more sensitive than the fingers will easily detect the difference in the warmth of the coins.

(Copyright, Will L. Lindhorst.)

Late-planted dahlias may be fertilized immediately with good advantage, since there is not much danger of excessive growth early in the season. About 1 tablespoonful of fertilizer containing 5 per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphoric acid, and 5 per cent potash, is recommended for each hill. Thoroughly mix this fertilizer with the soil. The best time to feed dahlias, however, is late July or early August, when the plants are starting to develop buds. At that time they may be given another tablespoonful, or perhaps a little more, of the 5-10-5 mixture. These applications of fertilizer, especially if accompanied by thorough cultivation of the soil and a thinning of the plants to 5 or 6 strong-growing buds, should enable the gardener to produce good blooms in September.

Gardeners who wish to produce blooms of large size will have to remove all but one of the buds as they start to develop. Retain only the one bud on top of the shoot and remove all side growth down about 2 feet.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson
JESUS CRUCIFIED
Luke 22:33-46
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Here is the most meaningful event in history. Nothing else has been written about as much. The entire social complex of the nation has been changed thereby. The approach to the cruelty that was enacted just outside the walls of Jerusalem began when Jude came forward with his kiss of betrayal as Jesus had completed His preparatory prayer season in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Pilate sought to evade the issue and even offered to release Jesus, but Barabbas was chosen for freedom according to the custom at the Jewish Passover. Many think that Calvary, the place of the skull, was just north of the Damascus gate and that it could not be at the site of the present Church of the Holy Sepulchre which is within the city. Two thieves were crucified with Him. Look through the accounts in the four gospels and make note of the Seven Words or sayings from the cross.

Then followed six trials that were packed with illegalities. Three were before Jewish authorities and three under the auspices of the Roman who was a kindly man who could say under such circumstances, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

When all was over the Centurion gave his testimony as he declared, "Truly this man was the son of God." The Bible teaches that Jesus Christ was making an atonement for the sins of the world. The Golden text is plain: "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed." Isaiah 53:5.

Mrs. Lucy Hatch, 102 years old, of Wichita, Kans., has asked to enter the poor farm because "her little boy," Harry Hatch, 70 years old, spends her money in wild parties.

THE NEW ERA

Vol. 43, No. 23.

RIVERTON, NEW JERSEY, THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1931

ANNUAL REPORT OF RIVERTON PTA

Association Had Busy Year;
Summer Round-Up Fills
Children for School

The first meeting was an usual reception and was held in October. It was very well attended, many mothers and fathers as well as teachers being present. Mrs. Jessie B. Dotterer, Director of Elementary Education of Cheltenham Township Public Schools, was the principal speaker. There were also short addresses by the president of the Board of Education, Mrs. Clifton Mayfield, and by the new supervising principal of our school, Mr. E. W. Cooper.

The study groups in child training which were begun two years ago continued this year and were held before every meeting. A different mother had charge of each one and they were very interesting.

The December meeting was as usual devoted to the children with Christmas stories and carols. The P. T. A. donated a small gift for each child and also furnished a Christmas tree trimmed with balls and electric lights. Baskets were also supplied to the P. T. A. and filled by the children for the Welfare Association.

Mrs. Charles C. Miller, of Riverton, asked our P. T. A. to take charge of the Christmas work she had been doing for so many years for the New Jersey State Colony. The association agreed to do it and several members met and cut out tarlatan stockings and these were distributed to eight schools and the children in the eighth grades filled them with candy and nuts. These were collected and taken to New Lisbon where they were given to the children at the State institution at Christmas.

Free milk has been given to those children needing it as recommended by the supervising principal.

The January meeting was held during thrift week and the speaker at this meeting was the Rev. J. D. Turner who spoke on "The Efficient Use of Time." There was also a very interesting class demonstration of school procedure by the sixth grade.

Talent Day was successful as in former years and the teachers took an active part. The delicious food on sale went quickly and over sixty dollars were made.

A money gift for Founders' Day for child welfare extension work was sent in February.

Our association was very fortunate to have as the speaker at our March meeting, Mrs. William P. Little, president of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The April meeting was held in the evening and was Father's Night. Dr. Harry L. Rogers, one of the fathers, had charge of the program. There was another interesting demonstration of school procedure by the fifth grade. The speaker of the evening was Dr. J. Lindsey Rowland. There were 180 mothers and 170 fathers present.

A card party was given in April for the benefit of the County Student Loan Fund. The sum of six hundred dollars was cleared and was sent to Mrs. H. A. Frantz, chairman.

The roundup has been completed with the help of Dr. Harry L. Rogers and Dr. W. R. Dunn and there will be another examination of these children in September. Last year's results of the roundup were very successful and the association received a certificate from the state.

Our membership this year is not as large as last year and there are only 127 members. As fifteen cents for each member must be paid to the state for state and national dues, one can easily understand why we must depend on Talent Day, Field Day and sometimes other things, such as a candy sale, for our resources. We also pay county council dues.

We have paid the fees for two speakers and their expenses and under publicity expenses were the cost of the invitations to the reception, the programs for the year and fliers every month.

We have given books to those rooms with the largest attendance of parents at P. T. A. meetings. The association also furnished the material for the curtains in one of the class rooms and several members made them. We also put several much needed articles in the teachers' room.

The association has paid for X-ray, dental and tonsil operations as recommended by the district nurses.

A contribution is sent to the Riverton Public Library every year.

There has been a wonderful spirit of cooperation between the school and the association and the officers appreciate the help they have had from the teachers, the supervising principal, the members of the Board of Education as well as from the members of the association.

Respectfully submitted,
CAROLYN J. BAKER,
President.

CORRECTION:

The New Era wishes to correct an article appearing in last week's paper relative to the Riverton Grammar School field day exercises. The amount of money cleared by the Parent-Teacher Association from the sale of food totalled $100.00 and not $120.00 as published. The makers of Montecito brand coffee donated and prepared the coffee for the Parent-Teacher Association and not the makers of Bosc coffee as published.

BEER TRUCK HITS TREE AND UPSETS

18 Half Barrels of Beer Seized and Turned Over to Prosecutor; Driver Flees

At 6 o'clock today Troopers Cause, Lauterbach and Murphy responded to a call in Cheltenham and found a large beer truck and against a tree near the Westfield Grammar School.

18 half barrels of beer made up the cargo which was turned over to the prosecutor's office in Mt. Holly through Detective Carabine and was transported there by Harry Shea.

The driver of the truck, owned by the Atlantic Transportation Co. of Pitman, apparently fled from the scene of the accident.

DRUNKEN DRIVER PAYS $221 FINE

Jersey Fire Water Proves Expensive in Many Ways;
Burglar Sentenced

Officer Robinson of the Riverton police force will soon qualify for a position on a coast guard cutter, detecting run runners.

Last Sunday night about 11 o'clock he spotted a car proceeding from Riverside, cutting a jagged course down Broad street, apparently undecided whether to follow the car tracks or Dr. Rogers' curb.

When stopped at Broad and Main streets the driver stumbled from the car and announced himself as Edward Monaghan, of 4328 Lieper street, Frankford, Pa. His companion and owner of the Hudson coach he was driving, James Glibney, of 4645 Maple street, Philadelphia, also seemed to be slightly in his cups.

Robinson immediately took both men before Dr. Harry L. Rogers who made an examination and pronounced them intoxicated and unfit to operate a car.

At a hearing before Police Recorder Cecil A. Bowers, the operator of the car, Monaghan, was fined $200.00 and $21.00 costs or 90 days in jail.

Both spent a quiet night in jail and Monday morning the fine was produced and they were released.

Joseph DeLange, 74 year old burglar, picked up by Officer Robinson at Fourth and Linden avenue, Riverton, on March 27, received sentence last Thursday at Mount Holly.

Charged with and found guilty of possession of burglar tools, he was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the state prison at Trenton.

If he lives to fulfill his sentence he will have reached the age of 79 years and will have spent 40 of them in prison.

Hoepfner — Bonomo
Mrs. Adele Geisz Bonomo, of Philadelphia, became the bride of John C. Hoepfner, of Washington avenue, Palmyra, at noon on June 4.

The ceremony, which took place in the "Little Church Around the Corner," New York City, was a quiet one.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoepfner are now enjoying a honeymoon at the Lincoln Hotel, in the White Mountains, Lincoln, N. H.

Miller — Mertens
John Russell Miller, son of Walter O. Miller, and known through Riverton as "Russ," was married Tuesday to Miss Gertrude Barbara Mertens, of Pompton Lakes, N. J.

The young couple were married in the Pompton Reformed Church at Pompton Lakes and immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the St. Moritz at Pompton Falls, N. J.

TWO SETS OF BROTHERS

Harry and George Clover (top) and Martin and Louis Sacks (lower) two sets of brothers who are graduating from Palmyra High School next week.

Three Sets of Twins and Two Sets of Brothers Graduate from Palmyra High

Three pair and four of a kind—no it's not a card game. Three sets of twin boys and two sets of brothers are graduating next week from Palmyra High School. Enough for two basketball teams or a baseball team and an umpire.

These boys have probably been the source of much confusion in the minds of the teaching staff upon more than one occasion.

Think what a blessing for Richard if the teacher asked him to prove that the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the square of the other two sides of a right angle triangle, and Harry seeing his brother's predicament would stand up and reel it off to perfection. The teacher might say, "Harry, I asked Richard to recite," and Harry bravely says, "Sure, I'm Harry" and to prove it he took off Harry's earlier recitation, which he has heard—and there the matter closes, and both get an A plus for the day's work. Not that this has actually happened but what a beautiful opportunity for close co-operation.

FOURTH OF JULY PLANS UNDER WAY

Program to Begin With Children's Program at 10 a. m.;
Big Celebration Planned

The Palmyra Fourth of July Committee met at the Police Headquarters Monday evening and made plans for one of the most elaborate celebrations ever held here.

The programme will start at 10:00 a. m. with a children's parade, after which, cash awards will be given the lucky contestants. The parade will be followed by a band concert. In the afternoon there will be a city's parade, which will march to Memorial Park, Riverton, to participate in the exercises and dedication of the park.

Following the parade games will be played in Palmyra, the place and kind of games will be announced later.

Old folk, as well as the younger folk, will be asked and urged to participate in this fun fest. The prizes are expected to be larger and a more plentiful than ever before.

There will probably be dancing in the P. O. S. of A. Hall in the evening and the celebration will conclude by a display of fireworks.

The committee in charge of arrangements will meet again on Monday evening at the Police Station.

PALMYRA-BERLIN HIGHWAY HELD UP

Grade Crossing Dispute Prevents Finishing of New Cut Off to Shore

With New Jersey's new highway from Palmyra bridge to White Horse pike, below Berlin, almost finished, a Berlin grade-crossing squabble threatens to hold up use of the road indefinitely.

State highway men have been feverishly pushing ahead with work on the roadways, S. 41, which cuts south-east from Palmyra to a roundpoint behind West Berlin and then skirts Berlin borough to the old Bishops road.

Near the Bishops road the paving stretches up to the embankment of the Pennsylvania Railroad and ends there, to continue on the other side of the elevation.

The tracks have not been elevated as they obviously must be, in accordance with the level of the new road. No span has been started in order to allow the roadway to pass beneath them. The cut for the road and most of the paving ends abruptly near the rise of the embankment. No work is being done at this point.

Instead efforts are being concentrated on the bridge over White Horse pike which with approaches in the direction of the actual connection with White Horse pike may not be in use until fall.

State highway officials said that the work that has been done, including some contracts yet unfinished, totals about two million dollars. Before the squabble arose, completion was set for July 15. Under present conditions the actual connection with White Horse pike may not be in use until fall.

Meanwhile without the assuring ordinances that the crossings will be closed, as part of the whole agreement, nothing is being done at the railroad intersections.

Berlin is willing to adhere to the closing of Harkers avenue but wants the Washington avenue Chestnut street crossing left open. The official attitude is, according to spokesmen, that Berlin objects to a number of blind streets on which many homes have been located for many years.

Meanwhile without the assuring ordinances that the crossings will be closed, as part of the whole agreement, nothing is being done at the railroad intersections.

BORER WINS HONORS
Robert C. Borer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. G. Borer, 718 Main street, Riverton, has attained prize awards in both Latin and Science at the annual commencement exercises of Mercersburg Academy, where he is a student in the class of '34.

THREE SETS OF TWINS

These six boys will graduate when Palmyra High School holds its commencement exercises next Thursday evening. At the top are Harry and Richard Furman, the middle pair are Walter and Thomas Price and below are Robert and Murray Kirkpatrick. They all reside in Palmyra.

FLAG DAY

Sunday, June 14th, will mark the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes, by the Continental Congress in the year 1777.

It is to be hoped that Riverton will not be lacking in the observance of this day and that many flags will bear silent witness to the patriotic spirit for which our borough has always been noted.

JUNE 20 TO 27 DATES FOR LEGION CARNIVAL

Bagle and Drum Corps to Give Real Old-Fashioned Affair at Bellevue

The Drum and Bagle Corps of Post Frederick M. Rodgers, American Legion, Palmyra, will hold a real old-fashioned carnival from June 20 to June 27 on the River road, at Bellevue.

There will be something doing every minute of each evening. The public is cordially invited to help the Legion boys make this one of the most successful carnivals ever held in this section. Valuable prizes will be awarded.

A great deal of parking space will be available and police protection is assured.

PARRISH RECOVERING

Riverton Man Released from Hospital Following Motor Accident Last Week

Henry Parrish, of Riverton, who was injured in an automobile accident between Wilmington and Chester last week was able to leave the hospital in Chester, where he was taken for treatment, on Monday. Parrish was cut and badly bruised, but escaped serious injury.

Miss Mary Ogden, of Indianapolis, his fiancée, who was with him in the car, is still in the hospital, suffering with a fractured skull and serious cuts and bruises.

The accident happened on a hill when a car cut out of the approaching line and crashed head-on into the Parrish car.

MUSIC BROADCAST AT CINNAMINSON

An invitation from grades three and four, School No. 4, to hear the broadcast of the result of the year's music lessons, was the means of the visitor enjoying a delightful hour last week.

Harold Turner, as announcer, was a decided hit, speaking through the microphone (?) and reminding the audience that they were listening to Station WPS, Westfield, Public School, operating upon a frequency of 565 kilocycles.

A number of songs by little Marjorie Lewis, who wielded her baton in a masterly manner, were very sweetly sung.

Very pleasing piano and violin solos were rendered by two young men visitors, and Raymond Marks, who also accompanied the choros. Vocal solos by several children were accompanied by Mrs. Young.

Interpersed were a graceful Spanish and an amusing Chinese dance, a fan drill and an original playlet, "A Dream," in which the dreamers saw many composers, from Wagner to Darnoch, pass by, appropriate selections being played by Raymond Marks as they fled through.

Finally the announcer signed off until next year.

One of the finest features of the affair was the freedom from self-consciousness that the children showed.

Too much credit cannot be given to the corps of splendid teachers whose untiring labor has achieved such gratifying results.

FIRE CO. HOLDS 3-DAY CARNIVAL

Committee Promises Best Prizes
Ever Offered; Big Ground
Prize Each Night

Tonight's the big night folks. The Riverton Volunteer Fire Company launches its annual carnival. Fill up the rumble seat with your family or somebody else's family and bring 'em along.

Ten cents—one dime—the tenth part of a dollar will purchase more excitement per square mill than you ever thought could be possible.

Wrap your jaw around one of those egg shaped nickel rockets and let 'em fly at a pile of milk bottles—knock 'em over and win a 10c seeger.

Take a chance on a bicycle wheel and come home with a double broiler, bridge lamp or hand painted wooden blankets. The merchandise this year, so the boys tell us, is better than ever before.

And then there are the young folks; we always like to see the young folks enjoy themselves. For them there will be dancing in the fire house, to the tune of irresistible rhythm.

Since June is the month of romance, brides, etc., we suggest you bring your sweetie and take a few chances on the spinning wheel. At 10c a chance and with such prizes as electric toasters, percolators, clocks, stewing pans, rolling pins and silk kimono's a prospective couple might be able to win enough to set up in light housekeeping for a son.

Rain will make no difference this year. Everything will be conducted in the fire house should the weather man be again' us.

Everybody—lets go—and make this a bang up year for the boys and girls. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

SEND IN REQUESTS BEFORE JUNE 15th

Children Sleep in Cellars Where It Is Much Cooler

June 15 is the last day to send in requests for children from the "Fresh Air" Committee. A number of children have already been asked for and there are still quite a few who have not had invitations for at least two weeks in the country fresh air and sunshine.

Call any one of the following committee and tell them that you wish to give a city child a vacation this summer: Mrs. Frederick Blair, Mrs. Herbert Morris, Mrs. C. P. Mayfield, Mrs. Robert Ayres, Mrs. J. D. Clark, Mrs. Henry Lippincott, Mrs. Joseph Thomas or Mrs. E. K. Merritt.

Don't forget, June 15 is the last day. Mr. and Mrs. F. have a family of ten children, from the ages of 19 years to 8 months. They have four rooms on the top floor of a tenement on the lower East Side. These rooms are very poorly furnished with worn and broken furniture, plaster has fallen from the walls and ceilings leaving large gaping holes, free access for rats. There is no heat or hot water supply, of course. For cooking purposes, a stove, store does duty, heating in winter also.

Mrs. F. is a jolly, tired, worn, little woman who tries to keep her family together. She is often so tired from constant worry that she has no ambition to make her home clean and neat.

Mr. F. is a cook in a restaurant and earns $25.00 weekly, sometimes managing to bring home portions of food for his hungry family. He is a quiet and steady working man but seldom pays attention to or takes an interest in his family outside of their immediate needs for food.

The three elder children are unable to find employment. Nicholas, 12, and Andrew, 10, sometimes cause their parents much worry by disappearing for a few days at a time. When questioned the boys say they have been sleeping in cellars where it is cooler and they don't have to sleep with four or five other children. The boys and girls in this family are all small, pale and thin. Contact with them shows they are obedient and anxious to please. The remainder of the family are quite and seldom cause their mother any worry.

Every summer these children look forward to the fresh air vacation. It means so much to their starved little souls and bodies to be able to play where it is the right for every child to play—out under tall trees and blue skies. It is a wonderful gift to the mother, who is unable to give the children their rightful childhood.

The holder of the first number, 223, failed to appear in time to claim the money which aggregated approximately $350, and Mrs. Payne, who held the second number, 33,411, was declared the winner.

Mr. Payne has been out of employment for more than three months.

SCOUT ADVISERS TO MAKE AWARDS AT HONOR COURT

LEGION OFFICERS WILL MAKE PRESENTATIONS

Bugle and Drum Corps Will Participate in Ceremonies at M. E. Church

At the regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors Association, held Tuesday evening, plans were presented by W. H. Brady, chairman of the Court of Honor Committee of the Burlington County Council, Boy Scouts of America, for another court of honor to be held in the Palmyra Methodist Church next Tuesday evening.

The court will be held under the auspices of the Counsellors' Association and will be conducted by Mr. Brady, assisted by the Post Rodgers American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps. The purpose of the court is to award merit badges to the various qualified Scouts of Troops No. 1 and No. 2. Investiture service will also be held to receive boys into the Scout troops.

The program of the evening will commence at 8:05 o'clock at which time both troops will march into the auditorium, followed by the members of the Legion Corps.

At 8:10 the bugle call to "Colors" will be given by the Legion trumpeters. Theodore Dauterbach and Charles A. King. This will be followed by a prayer by the Rev. Ira S. Pimm, pastor of the church, and chaplain of Troop No. 1.

Remarks by Mr. Brady will be followed by the investiture service, wherein the new Scout members give their oath of allegiance to the Scout laws and are entered as Tenderfoot Scouts.

The Court of Honor will then act to award the various badges, the presentation of which will be made by members of the American Legion as follows:

Second Class Scout badges by Frank B. Thielman, finance officer. First Class Scout badges by Grover C. Oakes, finance officer, Antrim Post. Maple Shade, by William T. Miller, sergeant drummer, Bugle Corps.

Merit Badges, by Alfred H. Lippincott, commander of bugle corps, and Fred W. Reinström, adjutant, bugle corps.

Veteran Scout badge, by Rev. W. McCrosson, past commander, Rodgers Post.

At the close of the Court of Honor, "Taps" will be sounded by the bugle corps. Post Rodgers has entered into active promotion of the Scout movement in Palmyra, which should greatly increase the benefits to be had by boys who are Scout members.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies and the parents of the Scouts are urged to be present.

PALMYRA GIRL IN RAINBOW WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Naylor to be at Home in Burlington After June 20

Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Naylor are honeymooning in Atlantic City today, following their wedding, which took place in the Central Baptist Church, Palmyra, Saturday evening at seven o'clock.

Mrs. Naylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eula Roach, of 430 Delaware avenue, Palmyra, and Mr. Naylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter Naylor, of 203 York street, Burlington.

The church, decorated in palms and roses, formed a lovely setting for this gorgeous rainbow wedding. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Lockett, pastor of the church. The young couple received at the church immediately following the ceremony and a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate relatives of both the bride and bridegroom.

About fifty guests were present from Riverside, Swedesboro, Collingswood, Haddonfield, Bordentown, Burlington, Merchantville, Woodlynne, Roeboling, Florence, Wisnomin, Kearney and Palmyra.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor were the recipients of many lovely gifts and will be at home at 314 Penn street, Burlington, after June 20.

P. O. S. of A. NOTES

A special occasion has been planned for the ladies by members of Washington Camp No. 23, P. O. S. of A., Palmyra, next Monday night. A card party, at which refreshments will be served has been arranged for by the men. Pinochle, "500" and bridge games will all be in progress at Monday's meeting.

The camp officers have accepted an invitation to attend patriotic services at Ranocas Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday, which is celebrated as Flag Day. The Palmyra delegation will leave by automobile caravan from the P. O. S. of A. Hall at 7 p. m. in order to reach the church in time for the service which begins at 7:30.

WHEN YOU'RE INSIDE LOOKING OUT

THE second hand on the electric clock ticks off the last minute of the hour, the radio announcer leans closer to his microphone, the orchestra leader raises his hand, and, then—as the engineer, behind the window of the control room, gives the signal... "Good evening, My friends,"—and another major broadcast is on the air. Only the fortunate few have been privileged to witness a broadcast from the inner sanctum, where the engineer sits, with one eye glued to his sensitive meters and the other on the performers outside the window. The above picture was taken recently during a broadcast of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra. Just outside the window may be seen Edward Thorger, announcer, and back of him, H. A. Rolfe with a few of the musicians, who make up this popular orchestra of over fifty veteran instrumentalists, grouped at the microphones. It is a thrilling experience to watch the man at the control

FEAST AND DANCE AT RIVERTON CLUB

Alumni Banquet and Dance Tomorrow Night; Annual School Prom Tuesday

The annual dinner and dance tendered by the Alumni Association of Palmyra High School to the graduating class of the school will be given tomorrow night.

This event is the first opportunity which the undergraduates have to become actively associated with the alumni association. At such affairs the outgoing students are welcomed by members of the alumni association and are obligated by the ones who have graduated before them.

The affair this year will be held at the Riverton Country Club instead of the Palmyra High School gymnasium, as has usually been the custom.

Following the dinner a short period will elapse before the dancing commences. The interlude will enable those persons who have partners who cannot come to the dinner to get them in time for the dancing program. Cards will be provided for those who do not wish to dance.

The Riverton Country Club will be the scene of another frolic next Tuesday night when the annual Junior-Senior "Prom" will be held by the high school students.

This affair has been held at the Riverton club for the past several years and a new time limit has been set for this year's dance. Because of the good behavior of the students and their guests in the past, the club officials have extended the closing time of the club from midnight until one o'clock.

For both the alumni banquet and dance and for the students' dance there have been well known orchestras engaged.

Attendance at the dinner-dance entitles the members of this year's graduating class to life membership in the Palmyra Alumni Association.

N. J. TO PAY CHILDREN TO RAISE GAME BIRDS

Boys and girls of New Jersey, especially those on farms and in suburban sections, are offered an unusual opportunity by the State Fish and Game Commission to make vacation money by raising ringneck pheasants for the State. The department will start the juvenile poultrymen in business without cost by furnishing eggs of the pheasant, which is a popular game bird, and complete instructions for the care of the pheasant chicks. When the young birds are ten weeks old, the commission agrees to buy them for one dollar each. Thirty-six eggs will be delivered to each applicant, whose only initial requirement will be to find bantams or small domestic hens to hatch the eggs. Eggs are now ready for distribution and applicants should file their orders at once as the offer is limited as to time to July 15. Boys and girls having facilities for hatching eggs may make application to the office of the Board of Fish and Game Commissioners, State House, Trenton, for two settings, thirty-six eggs. Eggs will be available to June 15 and will be delivered by the warden of the county to a proper applicant.

AT LEGION RALLY

Rex McCrosson, of Palmyra, state membership committeeman; J. A. Whomley, Riverside, state executive committeeman, and Frank Hollowell, of Maple Shade, county commander of the American Legion, all members of the Burlington County Executive Committee, attended the dinner and rally of 8,000 Legionnaires of Hudson County held at the Post headquarters in Secaucus, Saturday night.

The eighty-seven members of the graduating class will attend in a body, and will occupy a section of the auditorium reserved for them.

COUNCIL TO TOUR UNION CO. PARKS

Burlington County Group Planning Interesting Trip for Saturday, June 27

Following the desire expressed at several general meetings, the executive and technical advisory committees of the Burlington County Parks Council have arranged a tour of the Union county park system by Burlington county citizens.

The date of the tour is Saturday, June 27. Union county has made wonderful strides in the development of a county parks system and this tour is planned in order that Burlington county citizens may see at first hand the benefits of a coordinated county-wide park and recreational system.

Burlington county has numerous beautiful and useful natural play spaces but these are rapidly being commercialized and unless some prompt steps are taken to reserve these for public use, the county may, before many years have passed, be forced into expensive purchases in order to provide adequate recreational facilities for a growing population. At the present time lands immediately adjacent to a number of our small streams are of low value and easily acquired, very often by gift.

The plan of the tour is as follows: Those making the trip will assemble at the junction on Routes 25 and 39 just outside of Bordentown on Saturday, June 27 at 8:45 a. m., being met there by officers of the parks council who will escort the motor cavalcade to Rahway, where it will be met by officials of the Union County Parks Commission and conducted through their park system. Luncheon will be had en route through the parks, each person bearing his or her luncheon expenses. The tour will leave Union county in time to arrive back home about dark on the same day.

Members of the parks council in the various communities throughout the county are working up parties to take part in this tour. These parties will converge on the intersection of highways near Bordentown as noted above and proceed from there in a body to Union county.

The public has been cordially invited to join this tour. Persons desiring further information may communicate with J. William Pennell, Medford, chairman of the parks council; George C. McKann, Jr., secretary, or Henry J. Sherman and William J. Shedwick, Jr., both of Moorestown and chairman and secretary respectively of the Technical Advisory Committee to the council.

Congregational singing and a violin solo will be the only music during the services.

The baccalaureate service is open to the public and a cordial invitation to all friends and relatives of the members of the class of 31 to attend the exercises.

The complete program follows: Invocation, Rev. George J. McCormack; hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King"; Scripture Reading, Rev. George J. McCormack; hymn, "America, the Beautiful"; address, Rabbi Nachmann S. Arnoft; hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy"; address, Rev. George J. McCormack; hymn, "God of Our Fathers"; address, Rev. Joseph A. Rigney; violin solo, Ruth Pendrell; benediction, Rev. George J. McCormack.

FIREMEN PLAN TO CONDUCT CANVASS

House-to-House Drive for Contributions Will be Held All Next Week

The fire siren Monday at 7:30 p. m. will initiate the annual firemen's drive for contributing memberships. The firemen will gather at the fire house and at the sounding of the siren will start a house-to-house canvass of the town, as has been their custom for many years.

The firemen ask the support of the townspeople, not for themselves, but for the excellent work they are doing for the community.

While the borough contributes a certain amount each year, it is not enough to cover all the expenses of the department and it is necessary for them to raise money for certain of their expenses.

The only way they have of doing this is to go to the people of the town and ask their co-operation. The response of the people to the smoke-eaters' appeal has been very gratifying and the firemen greatly appreciate the interest of the people whom they serve.

Every home in town will be visited and it is requested that those who can be at home Monday, be prepared to offer their contribution to the firemen who call. This will prevent the necessity of back calls and will aid the fire-laddies in their canvass.

The canvass will be held all during the next week from Monday evening until Saturday.

SEVEN ARRESTED WHEN MAN MAKES HOLDUP CHARGES

Accused Persons Say Victim Lost Money in West Palmyra Crap Game

ACCUSER HELD FOR HAVING BEER IN CAR

Participant of Second Game Taken to Hospital With Broken Nose

Seven persons, all colored, were arrested Saturday night by Palmyra police after they had answered the call of a man who claimed he had been robbed.

Jacob Gross, of Front and Lippincott avenue, Riverton, told the officers he had been held up by six youths at Second and Arch street. He stated one of them, Bus Pratt, had held his arms to his sides while the others had rifled his pockets of $13. When the alleged offenders had been apprehended, they all denied they had robbed him, saying that he had lost his money in a crap game.

The ones accused were Russell Fitzgerald, Bus Pratt, Clyde Daniels, Arthur Daniels, William Loper and Thomas Allen, all of Palmyra. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter, each was fined $5 and costs for gambling. In addition to the gambling charge, Gross was also held for having beer in his car. Fichter fined him $25 and costs.

Another gambling game in West Palmyra proved costly to one of the participants, Cornelius O'Donnell, 2112 Haddonfield road, Pensauken, was taken to the Cooper Hospital suffering from a broken nose and laceration of the eye after a heated argument had led to an exchange of blows.

The dispute had arisen over the crap game and culminated when William Turner, colored, 19 years old, of 5155 Haverford avenue, West Philadelphia, struck O'Donnell, fracturing his nose in two places. When O'Donnell refused to press charges, Turner was dismissed under a reprimand and a suspended sentence for disorderly conduct.

NEW TROOPERS AT DELANCO BARRACKS

Riggio, Newly Married, and Rutter Transferred to North Jersey Troop

Two new troop leaders have been stationed at the Delanco state police barracks as the result of the wide troop transfer.

The newly arrived officers are Herbert Lauterwald, formerly of the Woodruff barracks, and Joseph Armino, formerly serving at the Flemington station.

They replace Troopers Joseph Rutter and Chester Riggio, who have been transferred to the North Jersey troop with headquarters at Morris town. Corporal Jarvis Wood is still in command of the Delanco station.

Riggio, who had planned to marry Miss Frances Reed, of Manalapan, next week, had his plans altered by the transfer and surprised his friends by marrying last Thursday night. He had expected to make his home in Riverside, but the transfer also caused him to alter these plans.

He was stationed at the Freehold barracks before serving at Delanco and Rutter had been transferred to Delanco from the Columbus station. Both of them come from North Jersey. Riggio from Passaic and Rutter from Fort Lee.

MISS WIMER LEAVES FOR CALIFORNIA ON S.S. PENNA. SATURDAY

Miss Mildred Wimer, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, who is spending a few days with her parents, will leave tomorrow for New York and will sail on the S. S. Pennsylvania Saturday for California.

Miss Wimer will stop over in Panama for two weeks, during which time she will visit friends, and will continue to San Francisco at the end of that time on the S. S. California.

She expects to visit the Mortons, who are now residing in Berkeley, Calif., and who formerly resided in Palmyra. Miss Wimer will also spend some time with a college friend who resides in Berkeley.

The Palmyra maid will also visit with friends in San Diego.

She expects to take a librarians' course at the Leland Stanford University, Palo Alto where a former Palmyra school friend is now employed in that library.

CITIZENS APPROVE TAX ASSESSMENTS

No Complaints Registered by Taxpayers at Special Meeting of Palmyra Council

Persons on the improved streets in Palmyra are evidently well satisfied with the improvement and the amount they have been assessed for the work done.

At a special meeting of Borough Council last Thursday night, held especially for the purpose of hearing appeals on the tax assessments, there was not a single expression of dissatisfaction on the part of any of the taxpayers.

One citizen, Richard E. Wilson, was the only person to make any expression on the assessment question. He inquired whether the assessment had been more or less than the original estimate. It was found that the estimate had been slightly less than the first estimate and the assessments had been lessened accordingly.

With no dissent on the part of the citizens as to the assessment for the paving on Morgan, Highland and Lincoln avenues, the report of the assessment committee was adopted and filed.

With the adoption of the committee report, ordinances for the issuing of bonds were passed on their initial reading. The two ordinances called for an issue of $57,000 of bonds, $27,000 of this sum was for general improvement bonds and the remaining $30,000 for assessment bonds.

At the special meeting it was resolved to pay $36,808.53 as the Palmyra share of the county tax, $12,684.50 was given to the Palmyra School Board.

METHODISTS WILL PRESENT PAGEANT

To Observe Children's Day Sunday Evening With Delightful Program

Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock the children of the Church School of the Epworth M. E. Church of Palmyra and Riverton will present a Children's Day Programme at the church.

The feature of the programme will be a play entitled "Out of the Bible", by Lyman R. Bayard. This beautiful production is the story of the children of the Bible who will come to life and tell what they know, as they step out of a specially built representation of the Bible.

The children will be dressed to represent biblical characters. There will be special lighting effects upon the tableau, following the program.

The cast of characters includes: Ishmael, Edmund Turnock; Joseph, Joseph Horner; Isaac, Billy Brown; Samuel, Arthur Seedorf; Jacob, Robert Dunlap; New Testament Boy, Eleanor Caproni; Captive Maid, Helen Wilcox; Daughter of Jarius, Betty Huggitt; Miriam, Madeline Harman; David, George Edell. A group of primary children will also take part in the program. They are as follows: Marilyn Burr, Alice Hughes, Maribou Baker, Lois Ward, Letty Renner, Robert Kennedy, Melvin Cromwell, Wesley Davis, Donald Seelhorst, and William Evald.

In addition to the program, there will be exercises and songs from the members of the Beginners and Primary Departments.

In the morning service at 11:00 o'clock there will be baptism of infants and reception of members.

TUBERCULOSIS CLINICS GROW

Number of Patients Increase and Active Cases Show Decline

Chest clinics of New Jersey examined 2,125 new cases in April, according to reports received by the statistical department of the New Jersey Tuberculosis League. Reports of practically every service rendered the people of New Jersey by tuberculosis and chest clinics were included.

Fifty-four per cent of the new cases in April were children. There were 47 per cent more girls 15 to 24 years of age among the new cases than of boys and young men. Slightly more men than women over 25 years of age were brought into the clinics. These figures are in accord with the general tuberculosis situation and show an improvement over a year ago when there were more women than men in the clinics. Gloucester county reports the largest average attendance with 37 visits per clinic session. Sussex is very close to this with an average of 35.7 visits. The high attendance in Gloucester is largely due to the two special clinics in Marlton and Williamstown, and the special clinic in Vernon accounts for the high average in Sussex. Burlington county attendance at clinics in April was 106 patients compared with 98 in April of last year which is an increase of 8.2 per cent.

An increase of more than 5 per cent in the number of all cases examined was noted in the clinics reporting last year. New cases increased only slightly more than 1 per cent. Although a large number of cases were examined the number of active tuberculosis cases found decreased by more than 20 per cent.

Prevention Work
The large number of children and contact cases examined probably accounts for the small number of persons found suffering from the disease, according to Ernest D. Easton, executive secretary. This is in line with the policy of prevention followed in tuberculosis work. Mr. Easton explained. The child or adult who has been exposed to the disease can usually be saved from breakdown when kept under careful supervision.

The report shows the modern methods of examination and treatment in use in the clinics. The X-Ray was used in 765 examinations and the fluoroscope 255 times. There were 586 sputum examinations and 859 tuberculin tests. Light treatments were given to 484 patients. Nurses visited 8697 cases and made a total number of 11,651 visits to patients. There were 181 nurses and clerks and 143 doctors employed in the clinics.

For the month of May Loring County Tuberculosis League has the following report to submit: 35 new cases came to clinic, while 25 patients returned for re-examinations, of these 60 patients only 4 were diagnosed pulmonary tuberculosis, 8 hilum or childhood type of tuberculosis, 28 were non-tuberculous, 9 were undiagnosed. 11 reported as arrested cases. Three clinic sessions were held with a total of 9 hours spent by each of three physicians and three nurses, 18 X-rays were taken and 24 tuberculin tests given. Our nurses made 83 visits in reference to tuberculosis patients and contacts during the past month.

APPOINT NEW PRIEST

Father Sutton, Assistant Pastor at Woodbridge Church

The Rev. Charles A. Sutton, of South Washington avenue, Moorestown, has been appointed assistant pastor at the St. James Church, Woodbridge, according to an announcement made by Bishop John J. McMahon, head of the Trenton Diocese.

Father Sutton was recently raised to the dignity of the Holy Priesthood. He said his first solemn high mass in the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel on Sunday of last week.

The new priest is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Sutton, of South Washington avenue.

PLANS TURF FIELD DAY FOR EXPERIMENT STATION

A meeting to discuss methods of growing and maintaining turf on lawns, parks, and golf courses will be held at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick, on June 15 under the auspices of the experiment station, the New Jersey State Golf Association, and the New Jersey Greenkeepers Association. Persons attending the meeting may see the several hundred turf plots of the experiment station where extensive investigations are being conducted to obtain information that may be utilized by New Jersey gardeners in making better lawns and by estate managers and greenkeepers in growing better turf.

POULTRYMEN WARNED TO PROTECT EGGS FROM HEAT

The fact that exposure to heat quickly impairs the quality of eggs explains why the hot weather of summer always brings added problems to the poultryman who sells to a discriminating trade. He must continue to produce eggs of a high quality, despite the handicap of hot weather, if customers are to be satisfied and the best prices are to be obtained. The first step in the maintenance of egg quality in hot weather should be to remove all males from the laying flocks, advises J. C. Taylor, extension service poultryman of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. This is necessary, he says, because infertile eggs deteriorate much less quickly in warm weather than do fertile ones.

LEARNING ATTACKS INTRA-STATE LAW

Continues Injunction Against Schlitz But Hits Jersey's Bus Ban

Vice Chancellor Edmund H. Learning, of Moorestown, in Camden chancery court Monday continued indefinitely injunction granted to the Public Service Corporation against Joseph Schlitz, Inc., forbidding Schlitz from operating intra-state buses on a Moorestown-Philadelphia line.

At the same time, Vice Chancellor Learning scored the intra-state law and said all buses should be operated as intra-state conveyances. He declared all bus companies, whether they operate between states or not, should be permitted to take on and discharge passengers where ever the passenger cares to go. He said the laws were ridiculous.

Samuel P. Orlando, attorney for Schlitz, produced affidavits from drivers and from Schlitz himself which declared that only unemployed persons seeking work were permitted to ride within New Jersey on Schlitz buses and that these persons were not charged fares.

Schlitz, in his affidavit, told of an advertisement appearing in a Maple Shade weekly newspaper in which persons out of a job were invited to ride free to any point passed by his buses if they were looking for work. Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin, representing the Public Service Corporation, asked Vice Chancellor Learning to continue the hearing because the affidavits did not deny an intra-state business. Vice Chancellor Learning directed Schlitz to present the proper affidavits before another hearing.

Vice Chancellor Learning fixed next Monday as the date for a further hearing of the case.

BAIRD LEADS FIGHT FOR BETTER TRANSPORTATION

Governor Larson will shortly, it is reported, call a special session of legislature to consider the enactment of bills which will permit New Jersey to join with Pennsylvania in a program for a railway line over the bridge between Camden and Philadelphia.

In accordance with present plans, a new body, to replace the present Joint Bridge Commission, will be appointed by the two states. This commission, with increased powers, will be similar to the Port Authority of New York and will be in a position to issue bonds with which to finance its projects.

A rail line over the bridge from Carman street and Haddon avenue, Camden, to connect with the Eighth street subway in Philadelphia is scheduled to receive the first consideration of the new body. Other matters pertaining to the development of transit facilities between the two states will come under the jurisdiction of this commission, but rails on the bridge will be FIRST.

Such action will be a big step in the right direction. It should pave the way to better transportation for all South Jersey communities and it promises a bright future for South Jersey towns providing the speeding up of transportation facilities does not stop with the rail line between Camden and Philadelphia.

To David Baird, Jr., of Camden, former United States Senator and Republican nominee for governor, has been given most of the credit for bringing this important matter to a head. Pennsylvania legislature did not lend a very sympathetic ear to the proposition and Philadelphia interests were reported as forming the chief opposition.

Senator Baird was determined that this project should be pushed through, and it was largely through his efforts that Pennsylvania legislature passed the important bill authorizing the creation of a new commission.

Charles R. Bacon told part of the story behind the passage of the bill in Pennsylvania last week when he wrote:

The bill had been passed by the Senate there, but hung indefinitely in the House. For weeks it had thus lain and some of the Philadelphia members averred that it would never see daylight. Somehow, it has been very difficult, indeed, to gain the hearty cooperation of certain Philadelphia elements in the progressive steps found necessary for the development of modern demands of traffic. It was true of the early efforts to put across the Delaware River Bridge between Camden and Philadelphia. The pioneers in that movement were almost completely discouraged by the attitude of Philadelphia in the early stages of that enterprise.

Mr. Baird applied himself with characteristic energy to the solution of the transit problem as it has confronted the people of the lower part of the State, with the swift increase in motor traffic and movement of larger numbers of the people, and early in the session of the Pennsylvania legislature he held a series of conferences with Governor Pinchot and leaders for the purpose of reaching an agreement upon the subject which affects so many thousands of residents of the two states. When, therefore, the seeming jam occurred he waded in, got the logs to moving and finally untangled the mesh.

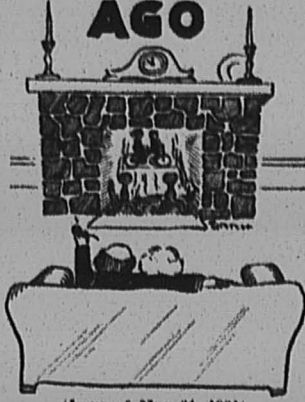

If South Jersey communities ever get the high speed lines over the bridge, or by tunnel, they will owe much to David Baird, Jr., for he has, in his quiet and effective manner, led the fight for them.

PRAISE FOR EASTWOOD

That a gang of self-confessed young incendiaries has been turned loose in our community to strut and leer about our streets in brazen defiance of law and justice is certainly not the fault of Prosecutor Howard Eastwood, who conducted the case against them. The consensus of those who have followed this notorious case carefully is that Mr. Eastwood handled the prosecution vigorously and skillfully, securing his convictions in clean cut, decisive style. Mr. Eastwood has done his duty. No blame can be placed on his shoulders and he merits the thanks of the community for his efforts.

With Eastwood in office there is some ground for hope that a complete breakdown of law and order in Burlington county may be averted. Beverly Banner.

FIRST REGATTA OF THE SEASON

The Riverton Yacht Club opened the season of 1901 under favorable conditions yesterday and with an encouraging degree of enthusiasm.

There are several new boats in the fleet this year, and some very interesting contests are expected. One of them, the Catherine, J. H. Reese, won the catboat race.

The boats got off nicely bunched before a rather strong breeze from the southwest, and maintained their positions until the finish, except the Pamphe, J. Friedman, which fell behind on the last lap. Harry Walnut, of the mosquito fleet, was unfortunate in his finish, sailing outside the buoy and securing third place. But for that he would have been first.

The Carolyn, C. C. Harnard, broke her mast near the start, in the early part of the race, and could not compete. H. N. Emmons suffered a similar accident with his Kooloola. John H. Reese became entangled in a fishing net when coming about the first buoy, and was hindered in the finish by a steamboat making a landing at the Riverton wharf, but secured first place in spite of these drawbacks.

From the first it was apparent that the contest would be between Walnut and Cook of the mosquito class, and Reese and Harnard of the catboats. Both the latter sailed boats of the new type.

Lee Cook's Sea Gull secured third place.

GOLD

New gold discoveries are reported from Mexico and South Australia. How rich they are has not yet been determined. The Australian "reef" has long been a tradition under the name of "Aladdin's Cave," so rich is it supposed to be in the precious metal. The Mexican bonanza is said to be also rich in silver, lead and petroleum. Both regions are in territory occupied by hostile natives.

If either report proves true there will be another great slaughter of aborigines who stand in the way of the white man's greed, and there will be such an addition to the world's gold supply as to still further complicate the money problem. Gold will be cheaper, which means that prices will be higher. It is doubtful whether society as a whole will be any better off.

PENSIONS

I take off my hat to John Hawkes, of Beacon, N. Y. Mr. Hawkes is 72 years old. He heard that the state of New York had adopted an old age pension law, so he went to the town hall and applied for his allowance. As he was out of work, the application was granted and he collected $80 in the course of a few weeks.

Then he learned that the old age pension was only for persons who were dependent upon others, or unable to earn a living. That put another light on it in the eyes of old John Hawkes. He went out and got himself a job and before long walked into the town hall again. He laid $80 on the clerk's desk and told him to give it to somebody that couldn't earn anything. He was willing to take an old age pension, but not when it carried the stigma of pauperism with it.

John Hawkes is the sort of American that one can be proud of. He puts self respect above money. There are too many men younger than he who are content to live on charity; too few who refuse to accept anything they have not earned.

VACCINATION

The health officer of Newark, N. J., recently required everybody living in a certain section of the city, some 1,400 persons, to be vaccinated.

There was, of course, the usual protest on the part of ignorant and wrong-headed persons who "don't believe in" vaccination. The world is full of people who "don't believe in" the facts of modern science. Not long ago the same sort of people "didn't believe in" flying machines.

The fact is that vaccination has resulted, in 132 years, in making smallpox a minor and controllable infection in every civilized country. Vaccination is not pleasant, and there are people who are unhappy when deprived of the privilege of shooting off revolvers at random. Society has to protect the many against the undisciplined few, whether the menace be pistols or smallpox.

WONDERFUL SHOPS

No other city in the world, unless it may be Paris and London, can compare with New York for its shops. One can find trucks little clocks right from the Swiss Alps, dried olives from Greece, which natives of that country swear are infinitely better than the best California queen olives, Armenian pastries and confections, shawls from Persia, and in fact almost everything the world has to offer in the way of novelties and luxuries.

Turning the old proverb around, a woman and her money are soon parted—if she goes shopping in New York.

NEW YORK BARGAINS

A half-page advertisement in the New York Sun the other night offered for sale a necklace at half price. The advertiser, a famous jewelry house, said they were willing to take $49,000 for it. They also offered a few diamond trifles around $10,000 or so.

There are lots of real bargains here if one can afford them.

THEATRE BARGAINS

One good tip for visitors is about Joe Leblang's theatre ticket office, back of Gray's drug store at Forty-third street and Broadway. If you get there half an hour before the theater, open you can always pick up cheap theatre tickets, usually at half price. Maybe they will not be for the show you have set your heart on seeing that night, but they will be for some show just about as good.

Recently we acquired for $1.50 a pair of tickets for a first-class attraction that had been running here for months. It just happened to be one night that the house had failed to sell out and rather than let $100 worth of seats go unsold, the theatre rushed over a block of seats to Leblang's and they were sold over the counter. Joe Leblang, who founded this business, died the other day, leaving a million.

NOVEL TICKET SELLING

Whenever a pair of tickets comes in that way to Gray's store, a man on a stool back of the counter calls out what he has and the waiting crowd surges forward and the first one to get to him buys the tickets and darts off for the show.

As far as we have ever seen, this town is the only one in the world that has an establishment like Gray's.

WHERE CHORINES BUY

less than $50 very often. And they have wonderful material in them. But, also something that can be bought for little money, provided one knows where to hunt.

One of the favorite districts for bargains is in midtown, right off the theatrical part of town. Chorus girls and actresses with thrifty dispositions do all their buying in little shops where marvelous deals can be made and where bargaining in the good old French way still exists as part of the business. Loaded with $25 or $30 in currency, with luck, a well-dressed woman can return home even better dressed and with bargains that she will brag about for months.

FURS

One of the lines in which the greatest apparent bargains can be obtained is in furs. For $50 one can buy a Hudson seal coat that looks wonderful—in the window. Fur scarfs for $15 are plentiful and other furs are accordingly priced.

Nearly every shop girl in New York has her furs, all bought and paid for on infinitely small wages. That they have to skimp on their food to pay for the finery goes without saying, but they get them, and look really smart in them, unless they happen to brush close to a woman who is expensively gowned. Then the contrast may be noted.

In the deals it is a case of caveat emptor. Let the buyer beware—that she knows what materials and styles really are.

HORSES EXPENSIVE

If someone led a Percheron weighing 3,000 pounds down Broadway he would probably cause more excitement than if he towed a live dinosaur down the car tracks. The only horses seen in the city are the chunky truck horses and the fine saddlers one sees along the numerous bridge paths in city parks.

A good saddle horse can cost anything up to $1,500 without being a blue ribbon winner or the possessor of a long pedigree. The same horse would have cost General Grant about $150 while President Roosevelt could have mounted his tough riders, and probably did, for about $100 each.

In the last few years something has happened: either money is freer or the few who want horses are wealthier than the buyers of other days. To get a well-matched team that can do a mile in five minutes costs nearly as much as a Rolls-Royce—and they cost considerably more to keep and the depreciation is much heavier. Good horses are a profitable thing for any farmer to breed and raise.

"Judge's" Job.

Bloofus—How do you get along with your wife? Oofus—I wonder sometimes myself.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for June 11.
CAUSING OTHERS TO STUMBLE
Romans 14:13-23
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

The Minneapolis Times said on March 2, "Prohibition has come to the forefront as the leading national issue." This was the opinion after a poll had been taken. Administration of Justice was second on the list. Thus in giving attention to the quarterly temperance lesson you are but in harmony with the popular study of the day.

Paul was writing to the Romans from Corinth and took his illustration from things that were taking place in that city. Animals were killed and certain parts only offered to idols in worship. The rest was meat absolutely good for food. Many Christians objected to eating meat which had first been offered to idols. The Apostle said that respect should be paid to personal opinion and a thing omitted for the sake of the good in another which might not be any harm in itself. He gave as a good reason for such conduct: "For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit." The question about how much we will give up for the sake of another centers around the consideration of how much we really love our fellow man and desire his greatest good.

They also saved the farmhouse by spraying it with chemical to protect it from the flames.

(Rev. G. J. McCormack, Rector)

"Without ideals life is flat. Without inspiring power it is flat. Without the church our ideals, our purpose, power, in the lives of prophets and heroes, and in the life of Jesus Christ, the Church holds up the ideals by which character and achievement can be measured."

In the call to help build the kingdom of God on earth, the church presents the purpose which can give new meaning to everything men do. In common faith and in co-operation of purpose, the church releases through human lives, the transforming power of God.

The picnic of the Sunday School and all the different organizations and societies of the church will hold the annual picnic at Knights Park, Collinswood, Saturday. A short service of fifteen minutes will take place in the church at nine a. m. after which, we will proceed on our journey.

The rector will be glad to know how many adults are planning to join the throng, as the arrangements may be made. The children's transportation is arranged for, and some offers of cars are available. Phone, Riverton 809 for further information in regard to the picnic.

MT. HOLLY HANDS PALMS SECOND LOSS

Palmyra May Lose Title After

Mount Holly, 5; Palmyra, 0.

All hope of the Palmyra High School baseball team for winning the South Jersey championship vanished when Mount Holly High upset the "Pals" last Wednesday afternoon, 5-0. After winning eight straight games the Palmyra team met its initial defeat two weeks ago at Pemberton. Despite the lone setback Palmyra was considered a prospective champion until the Mount Holly setback.

Last week's game and no bearing on the league standing as the only regularly scheduled game between the two teams was won by Palmyra on April 17 by a 7-3 score. A victory against the Quakers, who have yet to turn in a victory this season, has given the Mount Holly team a record of five wins in six starts. Palmyra, with a similar record, will not be deadlocked for the title as last week's game will serve as a playoff match.

The Pals lost the title Tuesday when Mt. Holly defeated the Quakers by a 6-2 tally.

Mount Holly High School baseball team ran rough shod over the Moores town diamond representatives in the second inning of Tuesday's game, gathering all its runs to win the closing frame of the season 6-2 and the championship of the Burlington County High School League.

Although out of 11 to 7, Coach "Pete" Dileo's charges were handed three passes in the second frame along with a couple of errors and two hits to score all their six runs. During the balance of the contest, Mount Holly was held at bay.

This was all the scoring for Mount Holly during the day, as MacFarland here down during the next three frames, until relieved by Frank Bolton in the sixth, who also continued to lay on the whitewash to the "Hollies."

YOU KNOW ME, AL

Dear Al:
I got your letter the other day and would have written you sooner except for a pain in my chest given me by mother-in-law who is staying with us. It is not like a pain in the neck because this one comes from a good whelp she handed me. I cannot tell you how about how to treat my wife and how she is afraid of her but what are you going to do if there is a big brother of a hanging around which has sudden death in both hands? If I was to hand off and beat her, they would probably have me arrested for such a female, and she'd cry her way out. All I can mark about this brother and Edna picking on me all the time is like what the sparrow said after he almost got his when a three inch shell whizzed over his head. "They must certainly be hard up for meat."

Your friend,
Jack Kase.

RIVERTON LOSES TO R. D. WOOD

Score of 11 to 2 Made Possible
Through Injury to Babe
Flynn's Pitching Paw

Riverton's defeat of 11 to 2 at Florence last Saturday would seem to indicate that Riverton was very much outclassed but on the contrary they might have had a very different score had "Babe" Flynn not injured his pitching hand in the third inning.

Both R. D. Wood and Riverton were scoreless up to the third inning when Frapoli of Florence smacked a line drive right at Flynn. It was a hot one with plenty of steam in back of it and "Babe" tried to stop it only to get it on the bare hand, with the result of a serious bruise.

"Babe" attempted to carry on the game and from that point on seven runs came across the bag for R. D. Wood.

Baker and Coles went in the game to relieve Flynn in the fifth inning with the bases loaded and none away, and allowed only one more run to come in. In the remaining four innings Coles held the R. D. Wood nine down to one hit.

BORDENTOWN PRISON FARM NINE WANT GAMES

The Bordentown Prison Farm baseball team is looking games to be played on their newly constructed diamond and extend a special invitation to Burlington county baseball organizations. So far this season the Prison Farmers have played and defeated the Progressive Club of Chesterfield, a member of the Delaware River League, as well as the Croden A. A. of Trenton, the American Stars A. A. of Bordentown, the Trenton Wilcates, the Jacobstown Club, Parson's Mount Orchestra team, and others of similar caliber. Teams of the Trenton City League are booked to play the Prison Farmers but Manager William A. Ritter is anxious to fit out a number of open dates on the schedule with teams representing Burlington county clubs or towns. Saturday games at the Prison Farm begin at 2:00 p. m. and twilight games begin at 6:00 p. m. No Sunday games are played. Arrangements for games may be made by communicating either by letter or by telephone to the Prison Farm. The telephone number is Bordentown 937 and letters may be addressed to Manager Ritter at the New Jersey State Prison Farm, Bordentown, N. J.

LEAGUE STANDING	W	L	Pc

Parry	3	2	600
Ramblers	3	2	600
Rogers News	2	2	500
Harrier	2	3	400
R. D. C.	0	0	000

The Artisans team took a big jump in the league during the past week and now is the sole resident of the league summit. Unleashing a powerful attack in its game with the Baptist team last Friday night, the Artisans team rolled up a 15-4 score before hostilities were abandoned in the sixth inning. The game was called because of darkness. The lodgment were aided considerably in their win by the wildness of the Baptist hurlers.

Ray Lamont showed a commendable split in the pinches. Nine of the Artisan players were left on the bases in the first three innings. "Chick" Foulke proved the batting star of the fracas, hammering out four safe blows, one of which was a home run.

The A. O. M. P.'s took their third straight game Monday night when they soundly whipped the Ramblers by an 8-1 tally. Dave Wenger kept the Ramblers' hits well scattered and was aided considerably by adept fielding by his mates, Foulke and Harrier coming in for most of the honors.

The Baptist team regained its winning stride at the expense of the Knights of Columbus team Tuesday night. When the Churchmen were finally tired of running the bases and darkness made it almost impossible to see the pitched balls, keepers came close to the correct score and named it at 14-1.

To date the "Knayses" have been the doormats of the league, falling in every game but one, that their opening game, to close the season, as the second place position is open to the winner.

In practically every contest such scores as 15-1 or worse have been chalked up against them. When they get fair pitching, the Belding goes "haywire," and when hit by these big pitchers, their hitting attack is nil. At the present writing they repose as undisturbed residents of the cellar.

The game between Rogers News and the Ramblers scheduled for Monday night of last week, will be played off tonight. This promises to be a battle, as the second place position is open to the winner.

The Ramblers, should they win, will take undisputed possession of the runner-up berth, at the same time sinking the Newsboys into the reverse runner-up position, next to last place. On the other hand, should the "Newsies" stop the other team from "rambling" into second place, they will advance into a deadlock with Parry for that position, and will drop the Kingmen into a fourth place tie with the Baptists.

Parry and Rogers News will battle tomorrow night. If the Rogers-controlled nine wins tonight, the contest will be for second place honors. If they lose, then Parry must win tomorrow to gain a tie for the second run from the top. The Newsboys must win by meeting the Ramblers tomorrow evening. All the games will have a strong bearing on who will press the Artisan team for league honors. The A. O. M. P.'s do not see action until next Friday when they play the K. of C. outfit.

RIVERTON NOSES OUT PALMYRA HI

Comes From Behind to Win
Benefit Game at High School Field, 5-1

Palmyra High School's baseball team showed championship form in holding Riverton, of the Burlington County League, to a 5-4 score last Thursday night.

Riverton, with a revamped line up, was forced to come from behind to win the game. After two passes, and an error had given the Pals their first run in the second inning, Eddie Friberg, the Palmyra hurler, weakened in the fourth frame to allow the Riverton team to cross the plate three times. After another rally in the seventh inning, which threatened to score several runs had been stopped, Hino replaced Friberg on the mound for the schoolboys and held the visitors scoreless in their last stand.

The game was played for the benefit of the high school teachers, who wished to raise funds for the proceeds of the contest. The feature of the game was the fine fielding exploits of Jack Kelly, Palmyra short stop, who several times cut off what seemed to be sure base hits and converted them into outs.

The Palmyra hitters had the best of the mound struggle, limiting the rival batsmen to seven hits, while the school swingers were gathering eight. Four of the Pals received free tickets to first while one pass was given the Riverton club. Good fielding in the pinches, the only thing that saved the Riverton line from being defeated.

Moorestown Bows as Mt. Holly Wins Title

Palmyra lost its chance to gain the county scholastic baseball championship when Mount Holly defeated Moorestown, 6-2, Tuesday afternoon.

The Mount Holly team gathered all its runs in the second inning when three passes and two errors, together with a couple of hits, enabled the county sentries to cross the plate six times.

FANS URGED TO BOOST ATHLETICS

Games Played Monday, Tuesday and Friday Evenings at 6.15 o'clock on H. S. Grounds

The Twilight Baseball League, of Palmyra, which was organized by popular demand about six weeks ago, wishes to attract those interested in sports to attend the games, which are being played every Monday, Tuesday and Friday evening.

The games are not being attended as well as the organizers of the league had hoped, but there is still time for all those who are interested in sports to attend the games, which are being played every Monday, Tuesday and Friday evening.

During the spring there was a general cry for home town baseball and a few men were sufficiently interested to organize a league, in which may be found some of the best baseball players in the town. The persons, who at the time of the organization of the league seemed to be the most interested, are now most conspicuous by their absence.

The members of the league are taking this opportunity to urge each and everyone in the town, who is interested in good clean sports at home, to come to the games, which are to be played during the balance of the season.

The games begin promptly at 6.15 o'clock and are played on the Palmyra High School Grounds. Tomorrow evening the Rogers News Boys will oppose Parry. Monday evening Rogers News will battle the Baptists and Tuesday evening Parry will play the Ramblers.

The boys are urging everyone to "High Boost Athletics" support the Twilight Baseball League.

TRENTON NEWS LETTER

A forcible illustration of the unanimity of New Jersey Republicans facing a hard battle was presented in the final session of the State convention when without a single change of vote the Republican platform committee was adopted.

The motion of Senator A. Crozer Reeves, of Mercer, chairman of the committee, received such emphatic endorsement that nothing was left to doubt as to the attitude of the entire delegation. Including the plank on prohibition, which is regarded as one of the salient features of the platform, only two or three faint "noes" were recorded.

Not one of the delegates offered any substitute for any of the planks, and the general impression of all those present was that the document stands as a clear, concise and comprehensive announcement of the Republican party's stand upon all vital public questions. It also goes into detail of the work accomplished during the administration of Governor Morgan F. Lutzon, first Republican Governor after nine years of Democratic rule of that important office.

What may be regarded as the key note of the convention, perhaps, was that of President of the senate, Joseph G. Wolber, of Essex county, who provided a wonderfully valuable campaign document in a keen analysis of the legislative record for the last three years. He dealt with considerable length with the subject of reorganization of the State government under the series of Abell bills and called especial attention to the fact that these measures were adopted as the result of an investigation conducted by a Republican commission and not through any impulse to respond to clamor.

It was the principle of the "best bytes" which actuated the Legislature in its resolve to accomplish these results. He also said that in this great enterprise the counsel and aid of the candidate for Governor, David Baird, Jr., had always been upon the side of right and honesty, seeking the most effective means for betterment of governmental machinery.

Senator Wolber called attention to the fact that during all the three years of Mr. Moore's administration he was absolutely silent upon the question of reorganizing the state government or the accomplishment of any kind of purpose.

Mr. Lewis S. Thompson, one of the women leaders, spoke briefly in terms of highest commendation of the legislative record and the purpose of the Republican organization.

Mr. Baird in a brief characteristic address outlined a bit further the vigorous and business like policy he expected to pursue when he becomes Chief Executive of the State. He was greeted as usual with a storm of sincere applause and was very much affected by the demonstration.

In Mr. Baird's speech recently, he made the statement, "If I am elected I will lead; if my amiable opponent is elected, he will be led." That declaration gives emphasis to the thought uppermost in the minds of all the leading Republicans of the state and he will indeed be his own master.

YOU, YOUR CAR AND THE MOTOR LAWS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, written to familiarize New Jersey motorists with the regulations which govern their conduct and increase their safety on the highways.

50. COURTESY

The motorist of New Jersey contribute annually more than $25,000,000 in revenue to the State treasury. I have repeatedly said that in view of this fact, they should not be looked upon as potential criminals. I feel that there is a duty upon those engaged in motor vehicle administration, as long as the motorist makes a decent effort to abide by our laws and shows due regard for the safety of others, to expedite his travel, promote his comfort and insure his safety.

I have felt that the activity of our department and of the local police should not be based upon the thought that we are obliged to "get" every motorist for each real or fancied violation of the law. It is especially unwise, it seems to me, to take this attitude toward the out-of-state driver. There is scarcely anything that is so beneficial to a state or community as courtesy shown the visiting motorist. It is from the persons he meets more than in any other way that the tourist obtains his impression of a town or city in which he finds himself for the first time. Unless that impression of him is friendly, he is likely to go away with the hope that he will not have to return.

The policeman frequently is the first person the traveler meets as he enters a community. On that policeman's attitude may depend the visitor's impression of the whole town. If the officer acts as a friend and shows a reasonable consideration for the motorist's lack of knowledge of the laws, the community gains a friend immediately.

The violation may be one of pure thoughtlessness and a well tempered warning will serve the purpose of preventing its repetition. Such a course does not mean laxity in enforcement but rather discretion. Between a person who has acted unthinkingly and a criminal, it will breed a far greater respect for law than a bullying attitude that is entirely unnecessary and ineffective.

No. 31

Sherman Cooter, Joseph Yearly and Philip Matthews, chairman of the committee, have studied the subject of transportation and submitted the following report:

Out of the many fathers of Riverton, only nine of them are employed in transportation, including 4 railroad employees, one bus driver, one express driver, and one taxi driver.

Man in the beginning was known as his own beast of burden, then came the pack mules. By the time of the invention of the wheel vehicle, man had already tamed the oxen. There are records of these being used as far back as 2700 B. C.

Transportation is the fundamental factor in modern society. Without it, there would be no such great nations as we have today.

Automobiles, aeroplanes and boats are the modernized means of transportation.

Boats have one advantage over other vehicles in that they furnish cheap transportation. They also have a disadvantage; they are slow. Some means of transportation have advantages in speed such as: Walking four miles per hour.

Wagon, seven miles per hour.

Horse back riding, 12 miles per hour.

Train, 60 miles per hour.

Aeroplane, 100 miles per hour.

This is just the average speed.

The bus plays an important part in the world, because it carries people to and from their destination. This plane can carry mail or passengers from New York to California in 24 hours.

When we took the trip around the harbor of Philadelphia, we saw boats from Norway, England, and South America. The different kinds of boats we saw were, others, tramp steamers, tug boats, Coast Guard cutters and pleasure boats. The U. S. S. New Mexico and the Pennsylvania, warships, were in dry dock being modernized. We also saw the largest crane in the world at work.

The bus is taking the place of the trolley, because of the bridge across the Delaware River and the fact that the bus can make a better schedule. When the Tacony Palmyra bridge was being constructed the ferries went out of business, because the cars could go across the bridge without being delayed. Automobiles are the chief means of transportation in Riverton. Stop and think what would happen if the transportation vehicles stopped running for six or eight months. Every branch of industry would be paralyzed and the large cities would be famine stricken.

Already it can be said with little fear of contradiction that not a single person exists on earth who is not affected by this enormous transportation system. This is the growth of many years. What lies ahead?

CLEVER ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS GIVEN

The last assembly of the year was held Monday morning. A play called, "The Necklace" was given by the seventh B class.

Those who took part in the play were Olive Jones, Harry Turner, Eleanor Gordon, Alice Williams, Wetaona Barker, Florence Gorman, Dolores Siddie, Gladys Bishop, Margaret Reed and Annie Glid.

Mrs. Mayfield presented the books for perfect attendance to the children. Miss Lavery received the Pora Club thimble, which was presented to her at that time.

Last week's assembly program consisted of two very clever glass blowers and lecturers, who came to entertain and instruct the children. While one man spoke, the other man blew glass into various articles. All of these on display in the hall after the program. Just previous to that the eighth grade presented a dramatization of Hale's story, "The Man Without a Country." John Warren played Philip Nolan, who was well. Others who took part were Robert Hahn, Walter Mattis, Lloyd Uland, Walter Smith, Mae Lavery, Edith Ridley, Eleanor Williams, Newell Hunt, Edward Paulus, Howard Barto and Mary Patterson.

Stikshiny—Thought transference? Nothing to it. I've tried it.

Obfusca—You've got to have some thought to start with, you know!

HINTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

STRAWBERRY CUP

Strawberry cup is an easily prepared dessert which makes use of sweet berries in a delicious way. Line a glass dish or individual dishes with split lady fingers, and fill in the centers with the sweet berries and whipped cream. Serve very cold.

WITH MUTTON

Soak a tablespoonful of haricot beans overnight. Cut the mutton into small pieces, and fry them just brown in a little dripping. Peel and cut up a carrot, turnip, and onion, and fry them for five minutes in the fat the meat was fried in. Put the meat in a casserole or stewpan with a seasoning of salt and pepper, the vegetables, and haricot beans. Just cover with water. Bring to the boil, remove any scum, then simmer for two hours.

Two cutlets, or four if small, may be cut off the neck of mutton and grilled or fried in egg and bread crumbs and served with mashed potatoes, or surrounded with boiled macaroni and tomato sauce.

A GOOD VEGETABLE SALAD

One of the tea rooms in a big city makes a specialty of this vegetable salad: Lettuce as a foundation. In one lettuce cup a big spoonful of potato salad mixed with mayonnaise; in another a pile of sliced pickled beets. Then a slice of tomato, a spoonful of sliced beets, and two stalks of asparagus. The whole is dressed with French dressing.

CURRENT BISCUITS

Sift together two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Cut in with silver knife one tablespoon butter. Gradually add three-quarters of a cup of milk or enough to make a soft dough. Place it on a floured board and pat it to half an inch thickness. Spread it with cinnamon, sugar and dried currants. Roll and cut in half-inch slices and bake in a quick oven.

LEFT-OVER PORK

Cut the pork into small dice. For a pound of it you will need two medium size onions finely chopped, two apples coarsely chopped, four level tablespoons of butter, a scant tablespoon of flour, a teaspoon of lemon juice, a cup of stock—which may be made from gravy or a beef cube—a little dry mustard and salt and pepper. Melt the butter in a stewpan and add the onions and fry until tender and slightly browned. Add the apple and fry until tender but not broken. Sprinkle in the flour and let cook very gently for a few minutes and then add the stock and stir while it cooks for four or five minutes. Add the meat, lemon juice and salt, mustard and pepper to taste. Let it heat thoroughly and serve with mashed potatoes or rice.

AT COUNTY JAIL

Why Sensible Young People Do Not Smoke

Any young person who has a good taste for things will not choose smoking as an art, but consider it an evil. They, like most older folks, realize the harm of tobacco and turn aside from it when offered to them.

Although by far half of the older generation of our country indulges in the habit of smoking, it is hoped that the smoking habit made common by the older folks, and quite a few of the younger "show-offs," will be extinguished. It is realized, by doctors especially, that smoking ruins the delicate tissues of the heart, and many of them warn against the habit of smoking. Sensible young people will take the wise bit of advice and use it to protect themselves from any dangerous ailments contracted from the use of nicotine. Not only does it ruin the inside of the body, but also the younger folks have many living examples of the ruin of appearance of many people that smoke.

Of course many healthy men and women indulge in the habit without fear of ruining their good looks or becoming ugly. But when you look at the smoker's escape without some tell tale mark that points out the smoker—the coloring of the teeth for instance. Wise young men and women realize to the fullest extent the harm of smoking, not only to their fundamental condition, but to their appearance as well.

A young person must take warning, for once in the habit, it is infinitely hard to get rid of it. You can see on almost any of the street corners, a man slovenly in dress, rough in his appearance, half starved looking. You glance from his shabby clothes up—up to the half feeling face and there to your surprise, or perhaps you have grown so used to it that it is not a surprise any longer, you see a cigarette hanging limply in his mouth, with the possibility of many more in his sagging pockets.

Take warning, younger generation, for it is upon you that the nation's fate may rest some day and it will call for only those who are fit to meet its tests. Will you be ready to meet them?

MARION STAGER.

Mrs. Matilda Grau

Mrs. Matilda A. Grau, seventy years old, died at the home of her son, John Fry, 227 Elm avenue, Palmyra, Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock from the Shover Funeral Home, with the Rev. Ira S. Pimm, pastor of the Epworth M. E. Church, of Palmyra, officiating. Interment was made in Morgan cemetery.

Mrs. Grau is survived by her husband, Lemuel Grau, and four daughters, Mrs. Fred Bickie, of Camden, Mrs. Charles Bailey, of Palmyra, Mrs. Eleanor Brown, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. George Kroppe, also of Philadelphia; and one son, John Fry, of Palmyra.

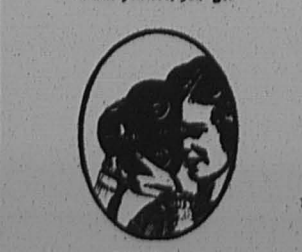

A wealthy Kansas woman who suffered a bereavement recently invited friends to a wake which lasted four days and nights, during which she recounted the virtues of the dead to any who would listen. Then the remains of Phil, beloved French poodle, were deposited in an elegant marble tomb.

GIRL RESERVES AT ALL-DAY MEETING

Eleven Clubs Gather at Moorestown for Grade School Conference

Girl Reserves from eleven clubs gathered at the Moorestown Community House, Saturday, June 6, for an all-day conference for grade school girls.

The program opened with singing, led by Mrs. William Grobler, with Miss Marguerite Luce at the piano.

Miss Sidonie Schafer of the YWCA led the devotions, and Mrs. J. Harvey Borton, of Moorestown, offered prayer.

The conference divided into groups. "Choosing a Job and preparing for it" was discussed under the leadership of Miss Mildred Furnell, of Mt. Holly. Miss Dorothy Burr, of Pemberton, led a group on "Our spare time." "Girls and the church" was discussed under the leadership of Miss Sidonie Schafer, and Miss Beatrice Shipley, of Moorestown, led a group on "High School Life."

Miss Hannah Severns, of Burlington, took charge of the story hour, telling the girls the story of "Pippa."

A picnic lunch on the lawn was followed by games directed by Miss John Ransom, of Moorestown.

A very fascinating kind of handicraft, the dyeing arm bands to make the special Girl Reserves insignia, was demonstrated by Mrs. Susan Thomas, who will be camp director at the YWCA Camp Ockanickon August 13 to September 3.

The conference then divided again for club leadership groups, with the following leaders: president, Miss Esther Dillon, of Mount Holly; treasurer, Mrs. E. F. Darlington, of New Lisbon; music leaders, Mrs. William Grobler, of Moorestown; devotions chairman, Mrs. Edwin A. Russell, of Moorestown; publicity chairman, Miss Sidonie Schafer, and program chairman, Miss Beatrice Shipley.

The speaker of the afternoon, Miss Cornelia Vassilovitch, is at present a nurse in Philadelphia. She came to this country in September from her home just outside of Athens, in Greece. She spoke of the life of girls in Greece, telling especially about their education and the celebrations at holidays and weddings.

The women are taking an increasingly greater part in civic and philanthropic activities, and the YWCA in Greece is an active organization among girls and women.

Mrs. Charles Burton, of Marlton, took charge of the table of Girl Reserve supplies, and girls from the William Allen School in Burlington served punch at lunch time.

All High School Girl Reserves in Burlington County are invited to attend the conference.

Miss Elizabeth Marsh, of the American Friends Service Committee, will speak at the banquet. Discussions will be held on several subjects, with special leaders on unemployment, vocations, religion, and internationalism.

MOW THE LAWN REGULARLY

By HOWARD B. SPRAGUE,
(N. J. Agr'l. Extension Station)

Many well-established lawns throughout New Jersey are now being injured as a result of failure to mow them properly and regularly. Many of these lawns are being allowed to produce tall seed stalks which make even the finest grasses appear coarse and unsightly.

The cutting of this tall growth will reveal the sod is no longer smooth in texture or of a desirable color. Several weeks or perhaps months may be required to restore the grass of such lawns to a satisfactory condition. Regular mowing at a height of three-fourths to one inch will prevent this injury.

All lawn grasses grow vigorously in May or June, and seed stalks will be produced if turf is left uncut. Regular mowing, however, stimulates grass plants to produce roots, creeping stems, and leaves instead of seed stalks. The color and texture of the sod is greatly improved as a result.

Turf grasses may require mowing as often as twice a week when moisture is plentiful and plant food abundant. One mowing each week is nearly always necessary at this season. More frequent cutting may be done without harm, providing the height of cut is not less than three-fourths of an inch.

To adjust the mower to the proper height, first place the machine on a level floor or sidewalk. Then set the roller on the back of the machine at a height that the bedknife is three-fourths of an inch from the floor at each end. The bedknife is the long flat blade against which the blades on the revolving reel cut.

FALL-BLOOMING PERENNIALS

By A. C. McLEAN,
(N. J. Agr'l. Extension Service)

There still is time to plant fall-blooming perennials, particularly late asters and chrysanthemums. The latter should be divided each year or grown from cuttings. Although fall-blooming asters can also be moved at this late date, it is better to do it earlier in the season. If the garden lacks fall-blooming flowers, however, plants of asters or chrysanthemums may well be set now where early-blooming bulbs have been taken up. In planting either asters or chrysanthemums now, be sure to cut back the foliage and also shade the plants from the sun for a few days. This will prevent the plants from "drying out" before the new roots start. These precautions are taken, asters and chrysanthemums may be easily divided and moved now and still make a full display in the fall. Do not plant chrysanthemums after July 1 or asters after June 20.

If the chrysanthemums are kept pinched back until late July or early August, vigorous and bushy plants will be the result. If you divide chrysanthemums into single shoots or plant rooted cuttings during June, and pot them carefully about September 1, they will bloom well in the house. Pinching protects the flowers from early frost. For best results, not before the nights get too cold and the chrysanthemum foliage hardens.

MOVE THIS NOW

By A. C. McLEAN,
(N. J. Agr'l. Extension Service)

One of the best times to move iris plants is immediately after they have stopped blooming. This is especially true of the so-called German types, which send out new roots and make new growth just as soon as they stop blooming.

Iris transplanted now will make enough new growth this summer to bloom well next year. If the moving of these plants is delayed until late summer, however, they may not make sufficient growth to develop flower buds for another season. These flower buds are formed in late fall on young growth made this summer. Therefore, next year's bloom depends primarily on the growth that iris plants make during late summer and fall.

In moving the iris immediately after they have stopped blooming, cut back the fan-shaped leaves to about four inches in length. This will reduce the amount of evaporation from the plant until new roots have made a good start. This applies particularly to the German types of iris which include early, intermediate, and late-blooming varieties. The Siberian and Japanese iris are best moved early in the spring or in September. At these times the gardeners can make a better selection of colors and varieties. It is possible to buy iris in full bloom at the nurseries, bring them home, cut back the foliage, and transplant them successfully.

SIMPLE LARYNGITIS

By this term, I mean the sort of "hoarseness" that has no chronic, tubercular, or other complicated nature. Its cause is sudden exposure to extremes of temperature, or over-use of the vocal organs in an improper manner. Clergymen get it frequently—and amateur vocalists; children with adenoids, large tonsils—and those who breathe through the mouth, from nasal or other respiratory infection.

The onset of simple laryngitis is usually sudden; its duration depends upon the treatment employed. When, in the case of singers, hoarseness and husky voice appears, REST is the treatment; perfect silence, if it can be enforced, may be maintained for 24 or 48 hours and will produce wonderful results. Simple gargling with warm water containing a mild antiseptic such as boracic acid, is good home treatment.

"Croup," now seldom heard of, is laryngitis in the simple form. For a long time diphtheria was called "membranous croup," singularly fatal before the discovery of anti-toxin; the improved treatment is little less than a God-send which has almost banished terror of this, one of childhood's most fatal maladies.

The simple laryngitis of childhood may or may not disable the youngster. The hoarseness precedes the loud, barking cough. The attack may be cured in two, or three days, by attention to the bowels and hygiene of the child; minute doses of any good cough remedy helps to dislodge the annoying cough; I employ one with a little syrup of ipecac, to secure relaxation of the skin and to favor sweating; of course the little patient is kept in an even temperature until he is well; and his play outdoors should be undertaken gradually, until he is well used to the pure outdoor air. Lobelia is very useful in spasmodic croup, but it should be given under the supervision of your doctor.

One smile for children, two smiles for adults was the price of admission to the annual playground circus held in Memphis recently.

HIGHER FEES FOR OPENING STREETS

Riverton Council Considers $5 for Gravel, $10 for Asphalt, $20 for Concrete

The Riverton Borough Council has taken steps to insure the proper reconditioning of street surfaces after they have been opened for laying sewer pipes, etc.

At the meeting last Thursday night after a discussion of ordinance No. 71, concerning the opening and replacement of streets, in which Councilman Albertson called attention to the unsatisfactory way in which the work had been done on Thomas avenue, Councilman DeLaney offered the following resolution which was seconded by Councilman Woolman and unanimously passed:

"Resolved: That ordinance No. 71, be repealed and that a new ordinance be drafted by the borough engineers and approved by the borough attorney through co-operation with the Ordinance and Highway Committee."

Fees $5 to $20
It was tentatively agreed that the fees for opening streets should be $5.00 for gravel, $10.00 for asphalt and $20.00 for concrete, in order to cover the cost of replacement in case the contractor does not do the work properly.

The contract and bond of the Bituminous Service Company, which is oiling the streets in Riverton, were approved, and the clerk was authorized to return to the company its certified check which accompanied its estimate for doing this work.

Councilman DeLaney, chairman of the fire and water committee, reported that he had ordered 600 feet of White King brand 2 1/2 inch fire hose from the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company at $1.20 per foot amounting to $720.00.

Washington's Birthday Celebration

Commission for the celebration of the 200th Anniversary of George Washington's Birthday, asking the Mayor to appoint a committee to arrange for suitable local celebrations covered by the program of the Commission starting with Washington's birthday next year and lasting until Thanksgiving.

The police committee report included: two drunken drivers who were fined $200 and had their licenses revoked, five cases of reckless driving, strange men loitering about town, a child bitten by a dog, cars left standing on the highways, and a number of other minor matters, all of which had been given suitable attention.

EDWARD HIRST IS HERO OF RESCUE

Riverton Lad Saves 7-Year-Old Warren Lamson from Drowning

Edward D. Hirst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Hirst, of 707 Main street, Riverton, is responsible for saving the life of a seven-year-old Palmyra boy last Saturday.

The child, Warren M. Lamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Lamson, of Cleveland avenue, Palmyra, was playing on the riverbank near the Riverton Yacht Club when he fell into the wharf into the river, which he did not realize was about six or seven feet in depth at that spot.

The Hirst lad, who was paddling a boat near the scene of the accident, immediately headed in the little fellow's direction and reached him just as he came up for the second time.

When questioned about the happening Edward modestly admitted he had lifted Warren from the water, but said he hadn't thought very much about the occurrence.

Hirst, who is eleven years old, is a student at the Westfield Friends' School, where he won the marble championship this spring. He was taught to swim at Ocean City, when he was about five years of age, and was mascot for the Ocean City Life Guards for several years.

Edward swam the Delaware River on Monday of this week.

WHERE OLD HATS GO

When everybody wears silk hats there was a rushing trade in second-hand hats, cabbies getting most of them. Now the stage costumers buy up most of them and sell them to magicians and actors for fifty cents each. There also is a strong market for them in Central Africa, where native chieftains regard them in much the same light as King Alfonso did his jeweled crown. How many thousands are sold in equatorial Africa may never be known.

CINNAMINSON HAS TWO GRADUATIONS

Wednesday and Thursday Evenings Devoted to Exercises of Schools 4 and 2

Wednesday and Thursday of last week saw the graduation exercises of the Cinnamonson schools.

Wednesday evening, notwithstanding the frequent heavy showers, the auditorium was filled with interested parents and friends who gathered to enjoy the offering of School No. 4.

The class presented a play written by themselves, and based upon the history and geography of our country. This was a well given dramatization of the making of the "Outlying Territorial Possessions of the United States" or "The Gifts to Our Country."

The costumes were by the Art class of the fifth and sixth grades. Miss Chrysalis Bird then addressed the graduates, her subject being, "Growing Up," and her text, the last verse of Oliver Wendell Holmes' "Chambered Nautilus."

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul
As the swift seasons roll,
Leave thy low vaulted past,
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from Heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at last art free
Leaving thy outgrown shell by Life's undulating sea."

The charm and earnestness of this gifted speaker were most impressive, and the children of No. 4 are to be congratulated upon their fortune in having her to finish, by her admonitions, the loving work of the faithful teachers who have guided them to the steps of High School.

Thursday, the auditorium was again crowded as the twenty-five graduates of No. 2 appeared in a dramatization of Longfellow's "Hiawatha." This was the work of a class member, and included Hiawatha's Childhood, Wooing and Wedding, the Famine, and the coming of the White Man.

The scenery and costumes were the voluntary work of the class, and were well carried out, a fly of white birches being especially good.

The Indian songs and dances, the sincere interpretation of the story, the clear tones of the spoken words, given with an evident enjoyment and spontaneity all added to the pleasure of the audience.

Several songs by a quintette from School No. 4 and a quartette of girls from No. 2, helped fill the intermission while the graduates were preparing to again appear, to listen to a short, stirring, pointed talk by the Rev. Norman Sargent, of Merchantville. The subject was "Moving On," and was inspired by Dickens' character of poor "Jo" in "Bleak House."

From the manner in which the address was received by the class, as well as by the audience, every one appreciated and enjoyed it.

The class then held an informal reception, happy in holding well earned diplomas.

Most of the members of both schools expect to enter high school in the fall.

This class has been both earnest and faithful in trying to do its part in keeping the morale of the school as high as possible and all who have come in touch with it feel a shade of sadness in losing it.

MAN DROWNS AT BELLEVUE BEACH

Philadelphia Disappears While Playing Ball With His Family

The first drowning tragedy of the season in the vicinity of Riverton occurred Sunday afternoon in the Delaware of the bathing beach at Bellevue.

Emil Wood, 48, of 6004 Reinhardt street, Philadelphia, was bathing with other members of his family at the foot of Kern street and all were engaged in a lively game of ball. After a while they discovered he was missing. They went to the house to look for him but found it empty. A quick search of the beach was made believing that he might have strolled along the water edge.

A call was made to Riverside for Chief of Police Yostler, who brought a grappling iron and a pullmotor. The two sons of Wood, Edward, 20, and his brother Joseph, 23, manned a canoe and started grappling while Chief Yostler went to Riverton for a suitable boat. Chiefs Miller and Voshell both returned to the scene of the tragedy in time to see the two sons bringing their father's body ashore.

The pullmotor was used in conjunction with hand massaging by the two sons. This was kept up from 3:00 p. m. until 4:35 when hope for his life was finally abandoned.

Chief Miller, of the Riverton police, turned the body over to Funeral Director Frank Snover, of Palmyra, before the arrival of Coroner Young of Burlington.

The Woods have recently rented a home on Kern street and were enjoying their second week-end when the tragedy happened.

John Hulings and Edward Grant, both residents of Bellevue, were working about several hundred feet from the beach when they saw the danger. Whether Wood stepped into one of these holes or whether he suffered a heart attack is in doubt, but Hulings and Grant have since been looking for another such tragedy might be averted.

James Higbee, 21 years old, of 1323 North Redfield street, Philadelphia, drowned in Rancocas Creek near Mt. Holly Saturday.

Higbee was drowned at 9 p. m. Saturday when he and Miss Louisa Butler, 20, also of Philadelphia, were riding in a canoe on the creek. They stooped simultaneously to escape hitting a low branch. Miss Butler slipped and the canoe upset.

Neither could swim. Miss Butler clinging to the overturned canoe until her cries brought help. Her rescuers also dived for Higbee's body without success. Grappling iron found it on the bottom of the creek directly beneath the tree which caused the fatal accident.

Higbee was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania last week. His body was sent to Pleasantville, where his parents are summing.

New Traffic Record Set On Palmyra Span

The past week-end was one of the busiest ever experienced by the employees of the Palmyra Bridge Company.

Bridge officials said 14,000 machines had used the span on Sunday alone surpassing all records, with the exception of the first Sunday the bridge was open. At that time it was estimated 16,000 autos used the new structure.

The unusually heavy traffic was handled without mishap by Palmyra police who reported little or no tie-up of machines. On one occasion, while the automobile were held up at the West Palmyra crossing to allow a train to pass, a line of autos, and in some places a double line, extended from Arch street station to the Burlington Pike underpass.

Palmyra officials expect the congestion through West Palmyra to be greatly relieved by the completion of the new state highway and the underpass at the River road railroad crossing. Although most of the traffic was handled at West Palmyra, many machines used Cinnamonson avenue and the Temple boulevard as a quicker means of reaching the bridge. Congestion at Broad street and Cinnamonson avenue was also handled without mishap.

May Rebuild Riverside Span

Freeholders Consider Reconstruction of Old Bridge to Four Lane Structure

The reconstruction of the bridge over the Rancocas Creek at Riverside came up before the Board of Freeholders for discussion at the meeting last Friday when Engineer Smith reported that he and the bridge department had estimated the cost of reconstruction to a width of 24 feet, providing for three lanes of traffic, to be about $230,000.

The engineer reported, however, that the Bridge Engineering Company, of New York, had a new process by which they could reconstruct the bridge for $65,000. This figure included new concrete foundations at each end and under the centre span, and the insertion of new steel where needed, making a practically new structure. The company would fully guarantee the work, Mr. Smith said.

The matter was referred to the director of bridges, James McCormick.

Upkeep Has Been Heavy
In reporting on the condition of this bridge, Mr. Smith and Mr. McCormick said that the center span was supported by concrete piers on piling, which was continually settling, allowing the bridge to sag in the middle so that the draw would not work. It was necessary, they said, to insert steel wedges at frequent intervals, making a continual expense.

It was suggested by Freeholder Stoen, however, that to improve the bridge, it would be advisable to make the bridge four lanes in width, in which his colleagues concurred. Mr. Smith said the additional cost of the extra lane would probably be about $10,000 to $12,000.

Other Bridges Need Repairs
The bridge over White's canal, between Browns Mills and Lakehurst, was reported to be too narrow and it was recommended that a new and wider bridge be erected of concrete.

The township committee of Cinnamonson township complained to the freeholders that the Forked Landing bridge was showing signs of decay and was bulging badly. The bridge department will investigate.

The residents of Green Bank and Lower Bank, in Burlington county, want electric lights. A communication received from the Atlantic City Electric Light & Power Co., stated that the company was willing to erect poles and string wires to those places provided sufficient business could be obtained. The company also suggested that the freeholders install motors on the drawbridges at the two places mentioned and also string lights at the approaches to the bridges.

Alice Ellis Morris, a member of the commission of the Burlington County Free Library Commission, presented her resignation. She expects to take up her residence in the West.

Department bills were ordered paid as follows: Finance, $1,278.14; Roads, $24,665.66; Bridges, $2,397.41; Buildings, $21,810.00; Affairs, $25,595.80.

Francis J. Shinkel, trustee, John Holvick, delegates to county chapter, Joseph D'Autechry, Joseph F. Yearly, Dennis Dougherty, Jr., and Francis Shinkel, delegates to state convention Joseph F. Yearly and Andrew J. Pfaff, alternates, A. E. Conlow and M. J. McDermott.

Oil Improves Riverton Streets

Several Streets Added to Program Laid Out for This Year. Work Being Well Done

The application of the first coat of oil to the streets in Riverton has about been completed. Some of the streets will receive the second coat after the fourth of July.

The work is being done by the Bituminous Service Co., which is making very good job of it. The service is being applied in such a manner as to cause motorists the minimum of inconvenience.

Owing to the very favorable price quoted by the company it will be possible to extend the oiling to streets that were not in the original plan for this year.

Bank avenue has been scarfed, graded and rolled by borough equipment and oiled by the contractors. This roadway is now in much better condition than it has been for many years.

Elm Terrace, from Seventh street to Park street, which has never been in a satisfactory condition, has been graded and oiled, and the residents of that vicinity are looking forward to a summer of dustless comfort.

John Carhart, supervisor of streets, has been patching the streets wherever needed, ahead of the oiling crew.

The highway department, of which W. H. Albertson is chairman, is to be complimented on the smoothness and efficiency with which the whole operation is being carried out.

RIVERTON CAR AIDS IN CHASE

Merle Schaff and Camden Traffic Cop Pursue Drunken Hit-Run Driver

A circuitous chase through three miles of city streets terminated with a typical riverton chase between a Camden policeman and a drunken driver Sunday. Eleven vehicles were damaged and 20 shots fired before the drunk-motored was beaten into submission at a downtown garage.

Removed to police headquarters after the hectic ride the man gave his name as James K. Morrison, 25, of 5506 Mickle street. He was examined by Dr. Garnett Summerlin, act. ing police surgeon, and pronounced intoxicated. So thoroughly drunk was he that it was deemed necessary to postpone arraignment until Monday.

Speeds Toward Red Light
The exciting race began on the Admiral Wilson boulevard, in front of the Sears Roebuck store, where a number of cars were waiting the flash of the traffic signal. Morrison, operating a huge machine, was speeding as he reached this point and bumped or sideswiped several vehicles in the line.

Policeman Harry Kreher, stationed at the scene, blew his whistle in an attempt to halt Morrison but this had no effect. Kreher then commanded the car of Merle Schaff, of Riverton, which showed little damage from contact with the speeding motorist, and the chase began.

Schaff pursued Morrison along the boulevard while Kreher, gun in hand, tried to halt him by firing at the tires of the speeding car. The dash finally ended in a garage at Fourth and Chestnut street.

After being corralled in the garage, the drunken blunderer captured Morrison only a short hard to hand scuffle.

In addition to the drunken driving, charge Morrison was accused of driving without a license or registration cards.

It developed after the arrest that the tags on the car were issued for Helen V. Bodine, of the Kingsway Apartments, Haddonfield.

Among the machines damaged most seriously when Morrison started his wild ride were those of David F. Patchell, Bridgeton; William A. Taylor, Bridgeton; and Schaff.

According to Kreher, Morrison came in the Wilson boulevard from the vicinity of the airport and turned the Delaware Valley Utilities Company, a Delaware concern, which was incorporated last May.

The Riverton and Palmyra Water Company is one of the twenty-four companies, which has recently been purchased from the National Water Works Company of New York, by the Delaware Valley Utilities Company.

The Riverton and Palmyra Water Company was incorporated in 1888, the articles of incorporation having been signed by Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State, on July 23 of that year.

The incorporators were Edwin F. Partridge, William B. Perot, Jr., David J. Hoar, Clifford Stanley Sims, William M. Paul, Howard Parry and Edward H. Ogden.

The first meeting was held in the office of Mr. Partridge, 1025 Arch street, Philadelphia, on the last day of December, 1888, and organization effected with the following officers: Edward H. Ogden, president; Morgan, vice president; and Howard Parry, secretary, treasurer and superintendent.

The original equipment consisted of a twenty-foot tank with a capacity of 40,000 gallons, a pump with a capacity of a million gallons in 24 hours, and about eight miles of pipe. The average daily consumption to day is about 990,000 gallons.

On August 16, 1918, the company was reorganized with Charles A. Wright, president; W. D. Roland, vice president; E. L. Williams, secretary; R. W. Knight, treasurer; William H. Buck, superintendent, who, together with Howard Ellison and Walter C. Wright, made up the board of directors.

In August, 1921, the new organization sold the company to the National Water Works Corporation, of New York, which, in turn, has now sold to the new owners.

The purchasing price of these companies, ninety-five per cent, which are located in New Jersey and Pennsylvania was $11,000,000.

The Pennsylvania companies are as follows: Reading Suburban Water Company, Girard Water Company, Shenandoah Citizens Water and Gas Company, Lehigh Valley Water Supply Company, Mauch Chunk Water Company, Freeland Water Company, Hedges Water Company, Citizens Water Company of Tower City, William Valley Water Company, Citizens Water Company of Scottsdale and the Greenville Water Company.

The graduating exercises of the Riverton Public School were held in the auditorium, Thursday evening of last week.

Howard W. Alloway, Jr., Howard S. Barro, Robert Cole, Anna E. Cook, Jacques R. Douglas, John C. Geiss, Jr., Sherman C. Gocter, Robert H. Hahn, Edward J. Hahn, Ralph N. Hahn, Mae M. Laverly, Philip J. Matthews, Jr., Walter E. Mattis, A. Robert McConnel, Mary A. Patterson, Edward C. Paulus, David H. Reed, Edith S. Ridley, M. Elizabeth Showell, Walter L. Smith, Mildred R. Speer, H. Lloyd Unland Jr., Edward T. Wallace, John R. Warren, Eleanor J. Williams, Charles H. Willis, Mary T. Wilson, Lawrence E. Witte, Elisabeth K. Woolston, Joseph L. Yearly, Deborah J. Jones.

The stage was attractively decorated with roses, and the program was along new and interesting lines.

The program was explained by Walter L. Smith.

Robinet Cole spoke on the taking of the census, which is done yearly by the school. Last year's census, he said, showed 303 families and 483 children of school age in Riverton.

Councilman Roberts were given an Agriculture by Edith S. Ridley, who stated, among other things, that Drier's Nurseries were ninety years old, and had been located at Riverton for fifty years.

Elizabeth K. Woolston reported on Professional Service, giving a number of Rivertonians so engaged.

Howard S. Barro told why he preferred newspaper work and short story writing, and Mildred Speer related why nursing appealed to her. Lawrence E. Witte had a leaning toward the stage and gave some of the qualifications for this profession.

Graphs and posters were exhibited and explained by David H. Reed and Edward J. Hahn.

The exercises were opened by prayer, by the Rev. Charles T. Bates, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church and an inspirational address was made by the Rev. J. D. E. Turner, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Avondale, Pa. His subject was "The Humiliated Horrible."

Selections were rendered by the Glee Club.

The graduating class presented the school with a banner done in the school colors, blue and yellow, and bearing the initials RPS. Max Laybelle made the presentation, and the banner was accepted on behalf of the school by Mr. Coop, supervising principal.

Mrs. C. P. Mayfield, president of the Board of Education, congratulated the class on behalf of the board, and presented the members with their diplomas and a copy of the Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the State of New Jersey.

Mrs. Mayfield also spoke on the necessity for a new school building, stating that the present building is inadequate and does not lend itself to modern educational methods. The president said that a year ago the matter of remodeling the old building had been thoroughly considered and the board had decided that it would be unwise to spend the necessary amount of money to bring it up to state requirements. The board then turned its attention to the consideration of a new building on a new site on the Drier estate, with a view to having Junior High School with the cooperation of Cinnamonson Township, which had been asked to send its seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils to the proposed new school. After careful consideration, said Mrs. Mayfield, Cinnamonson Township had rejected the offer because it did not meet their requirements, and the board returned to the consideration of a new grade school.

Owing to the desire of a number of citizens, Mrs. Mayfield said, the board had again taken up the matter of remodeling the present building, the facts and figures on which would be ready in a short time.

Miss Vera M. Brower, principal of Palmyra High School, and member of the Auxiliary of the Frederick M. Rodgers Post, American Legion, presented Edith S. Ridley with a medal on behalf of Post Rodgers, as the outstanding girl in the graduating class for courage, service, loyalty, Americanism and good citizenship.

COUNCIL REFUSES RESPONSIBILITY IN S-41 TRAFFIC JAM

Too Much Congestion at Palmyra Intersection of Highway for Local Police

O. K. PLANS FOR SPRING GARDEN ST. EXTENSION

Bond Issue Ordinances Passed by Borough Officials on Final Reading

Palmyra Borough Council refused to take the responsibility for traffic congestion and automobile accidents at the new underpass at Broad street and River road. The decision was made at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday evening.

Mayor George N. Wimer, speaking of the traffic problem, declared the opening of the new part of the state highway, S-41, would result in such a congestion at that intersection that the Palmyra officers would be unable to handle it. He stated that he was of the opinion that the traffic officers would be needed to handle the line of cars at this point, and that the present condition of borough finances did not warrant the hiring of more policemen to handle the situation. The use at one end of the town of all the officers on duty at one time would leave traffic in the central part of the borough without supervision, as well as leaving the eastern part of the town unprotected.

Many Turns to be Made

The traffic along River road will have to back up the heavy traffic along the state highway, and in order to proceed in either direction will have to make a left hand turn on one side of the railroad and then within a few hundred feet make a turn to the right on the opposite side of the tracks. While a badly congested condition would not result, except on Sundays and holidays, the jam on these days will grow worse each succeeding week. Mayor Wimer cited the heavy traffic last Sunday night as a sample, in a lesser degree, of what might be expected throughout the summer.

While borough officers were willing to assist in handling the long lines of machines, the council was unwilling to assume responsibility for any accidents that might occur. The matter was left up to the state highway department with the assurance of cooperation on the part of borough police.

Another matter dealing with the state highway at this point was discussed by council. In accordance with the other improvements being made, the highway commission will erect a concrete curb on both sides of the roadway near the underpass. State officials gave the Palmyra council a choice of whether or not to leave an opening for South Broad street traffic to enter the road. The section of Broad street in question extends from Public road to River road and is the chief means of entrance to the H. B. Williams coal yard and several business establishments fronting along the railroad.

Last Minute Notice

The matter was brought to the attention of council too late to make any investigation as to the proposed curbing, but the matter was left to the judgment of the local highway committee. Mayor Wimer deplored the fact that so many items were brought to the attention of council at the last minute. It either forces council to make a snap judgment or postpone their decision in the matter. He was seconded in his statements by Councilman C. Nevin Buchholz.

The plan submitted by H. B. Williams, showing how the extension of Spring Garden street would be made was also subject of some discussion by the council members. The proposed plan calls for the extension of this street to meet the state highway a short distance above the River road junction. Although it was agreed that traffic coming through this street would somewhat further complicate automobile congestion at this point, the motion of Councilman Floyd W. Spahr, that the plan be approved, was carried.

A further highway problem, that of the closing of the turnout into Bank avenue at the extreme end of Cinnaminson avenue, was left in the hands of the solicitor. The old turn from Cinnaminson avenue into the ferry entrance had been made on ground belonging to the ferry company and since the discontinuance of ferry service the turnout will be closed. The matter of fixing the boundary lines for the opening of Cinnaminson and Bank avenues was left to the solicitor.

On final reading, the ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds, one issue of general improvement bonds for $27,000 and the other for $30,000 of assessment bonds, was passed on final reading by council.

PREDICTS BETTER PRICES FOR POULTRY AND EGGS

Business prospects for eastern poultrymen are distinctly encouraging and 1932 promises to be the best of recent years for them, Prof. Willard C. Thompson, poultry husbandman for the New Jersey State Agricultural Experiment Station, asserted at the institution's annual Field Day at New Brunswick last week. "By September, although not before, we shall see an advance in egg prices, which have been down to alarming low levels," he predicted. "All farmers who can get hold of good sets of flocks this season should do so and those who have them should keep them."

When Judge Fredrick Fisher, of Shenandoah, Ia., saw his wife in court as a traffic law violator, he fined her and then paid the fine.

PLAYGROUND FOR PALMYRA KIDDIES

Local Board of Education Sponsoring Recreation Center: To Open July 6

A recreation center, which is being sponsored by the Palmyra Board of Education, will be opened at the Delaware Avenue School Monday, July 6, at 9:00 a. m., and each week day following for the balance of the summer.

The work will be under the direction of DeWitt Morris, chairman of the Athletic Committee of the Board of Education, and Clinton B. Gardner, a member of the High School faculty.

It is sincerely hoped by the members of the board, that such a playground will be the means of providing the younger children with a suitable place in which to play under helpful direction and supervision.

Both the members of the local board and Mr. Gardner are asking for the full co-operation of the parents in this attempt to introduce a recreation center. Keeping the children off the streets, and teaching them co-operation, good sportsmanship, and the elements of good citizenship in play, will add much in molding their future as American citizens.

Although definite plans have not been fully completed, the general plan is as follows: to provide suitable games for the children of various ages, that is children from four to 12 years of age. Games requiring skill and co-operation, as well as short, snappy games, are expected to make up the program. Some new equipment will be added to that which is already on the playgrounds.

Boy Scouts of Palmyra Troops Nos. 1 and 2 were given awards for proficiency in Scouting at a Court of Honor service held in the Epworth M. E. Church Tuesday night. The program was carried out under the auspices of the Burlington County Council and the Palmyra Boy Scout Counsellors' Association.

W. H. Brady, chairman of the county council court of honor committee, presided at the meeting, and awards were made by members of Frederick M. Rodgers American Legion Post.

Ralph Dages took most of the honors, being awarded 13 merit badges and a badge denoting membership as a life Scout. Francis Bailey had the unique distinction of being the first Scout in Palmyra to ever receive a bee keeping merit badge. Alfred B. Branson, Jr., son of the Scoutmaster, was also awarded a life Scout badge. At an investiture service, preceding the court of honor, 10 boys were initiated into the local troops. They are: Sydney White, George W. Beddow, Ernest Fissell, Lloyd Raria, Robert Messenger, William Kitchen, Frank Williams, Thomas Grey Schwartz, Harry C. Hodson and William E. Alt-house.

Badges Presented

Special badges were awarded by Scoutmaster Alfred B. Branson, for perfect attendance at troop meetings. The badges were awarded to Alfred B. Branson, Jr., for perfect attendance for 36 months; George Kennedy, 18 months; Harry Sedgley, 12 months; William Fahr, 16 months; Harry Gilbert, 12 months, and Ralph Stanton, 15 months.

The awards follow: Veteran pin, awarded by Rex W. McCrossan, past commander of Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps, to Edward Dages, second class badge, awarded by F. W. Thielman, finance officer of Rodgers Post, to George Comeyes, Ralph Walling, Charles Saltzman, Nelson Russ, Robert Rockett, and James Watson, first class pins, awarded by C. E. Oakes, finance officer of the Maple Shade American Legion Post, to Wesley Crawford, Lawrence Schweizer, Robert Lippincott, Arthur Randolph, and Earl Cooper; the star Scout badge, awarded by W. T. Miller, sergeant drummer of the Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps, to Russell Rivers, Robert Fry, William A. King, of the Rodgers Post Corps.

After the court of honor, an address was made by Ralph Rivers, chairman of the Boy Scout Counsellors' Association of Palmyra.

The invocation was by Rev. Ira Pimm, pastor of the Palmyra Methodist Church, and chaplain of Troop No. 1. Music was furnished by the Post Rodgers Drum and Bugle Corps and "Colors" were blown by Theodore D'Autrechy and Charles Russell Rivers, Robert Fry, William A. King, of the Rodgers Post Corps.

Following the dedication, games will be played in Palmyra, more details of which will be given later.

The committee is planning to have dancing in the P. O. S. of A. Hall during the evening and the day's program will be concluded by a display of fireworks.

Members of the Fourth of July Committee are asked to attend the meeting in the Police Headquarters, Palmyra, on Monday evening.

MAKE LONE ARREST IN WEEKEND TRAFFIC JAM

Palmyra Squire Fines Reckless Driver; Disorderly Person Fells Bond

Despite heavy traffic last week end, the Palmyra police report but a single arrest for motor law violations. Oscar Penney, 2740 Arthur street, Camden, was held for reckless driving, after his machine struck that of Harry Ashton, of Holmesburg, Pa. When Ashton offered to settle the damage to his car for $5 rather than press charges, Penney refused.

Ashton charged him with reckless driving and Penney was fined $5 and costs by Justice of the Peace William L. Fleiter. When he was unable to pay his fine he was lodged in the Palmyra jail until friends from Camden brought sufficient funds to gain his release.

Frank Dougherty, of Holmesburg, Pa., was arrested Sunday night for being drunk and disorderly. When he failed to appear at a hearing the following day he forfeited a bond of $20.

NEW SITUATIONS FACED BY YOUTH

Reserve Conference Speaker Tells Needs of Young People Today

"The youth of today in all countries are facing many situations which are new in the history of the world," said Miss Elizabeth Marsh, of Philadelphia, to high school girls at the conference at the Moorestown Community House, Saturday, June 13.

"More changes," she continued, "have probably taken place in the last fifty years than in any other fifty year period in history, and our physical progress must be accompanied by equally progressive changes in attitudes and social life. Four things which young people of today must acquire in order to live happily and rightly in this changing world are the vision to see what is needed, the courage to stand out against the crowd whenever it is best, the knowledge of how to meet complicated situations, and the ability to live as Jesus did, with spiritual experience as a guide."

The conference was opened by the president of the county Girl Reserve High School Council, Miriam Pickard, of Mount Holly. Morning worship was led by Phyllis Kemble, of Delanco. Mrs. William Grobler, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Luce, led the singing.

Discussion Groups

The girls then divided into discussion groups. The subject of "Good Sportmanship" was discussed with Miss Elizabeth A. Adams, of Burlington; "Girl Reserves in school life," with Mrs. C. S. Beckwith, of Pemberton; "Vocations," with Miss Ruth Stanley, of Camden; "Youth and Religion," with Miss Margaret Ewing, of Camden; "Unemployment," with Miss Sidonie Schafer, of Mount Holly; and "Internationalism," with Miss Kathryn Pennypacker, of Trenton.

A picnic lunch was followed by a stunt hour, and then Mrs. Harold Horner, of Mount Holly, told a very delightful story about early settlers in the pines.

Interest groups were held in handcraft with Miss Mabel Wells, of New Brunswick, as leader, in music for snobs, with Mrs. Grobler, in recreation, with Miriam Pickard, and in publicity, with Miss Schafer.

A banquet at six o'clock a colorful affair with decorations by the Mount Holly and Palmyra clubs. Phyllis Kemble, of Delanco, was toastmistress and introduced Mrs. E. P. Darlington, of New Lisbon, and Mrs. C. S. Beckwith, of Pemberton, both of whom brought greetings from the Y. W. C. A. The conference closed with Miss Marsh's splendid talk on "Youth in a Changing World."

Excellent Camp Progress

The Y. W. C. A. camp committee with representatives from Camden, Burlington and Gloucester counties, at its last meeting made its final plans for the girls' camp at Oceanic, August 13 to September 3. An unusual group of leaders has been secured, many of whom are returning after one or more years at Oceanic.

Mrs. Florence Griscom, of Roslyn, Pennsylvania, whose knowledge and love of the out of doors is exceptional, will again help girls discover and know the bird, animal and plant life which abounds in Oceanic-kon's woods.

Swimming, which is always so popular, will have a new director, Anne Warren, of Camden, who was assistant director last year. Ann Chalmers, of Philadelphia, will return as director of land sports, while Mrs. Otto Frick and Mrs. Harriett Ladd, of Freehold, will have respectively horse-back riding and photography.

Other expert leaders have been secured for music, story-telling, dramatics, handicraft, and religion.

Among the leaders from Burlington County are Ethel Townsend, of Columbus, office secretary; Mary Clayberger, of Vincentown, who will assist in horse-back riding; Mrs. Howard Sleeper, of Mount Holly, for canoeing; Grace Whitelock, of Julietstown, religion; Lydia McIlvaine, of New Lisbon, and Margaret Jenkins, of Palmyra, swimming aids.

tant Mrs. Edwin A. Russell, of Moorestown, will be the hostess during the first week.

Registrations are open to girls over twelve years in age and should be sent to Beatrice Shipley at the Y. W. C. A. office in Mount Holly, before July 23. Only a limited number of girls can be accommodated and girls are therefore asked to send in their registrations at once.

Mrs. Minnie Fitzgerald

Mrs. Minnie Fitzgerald, wife of Frank Fitzgerald, of Mill street, Moorestown, died in the Burlington County Hospital, Mount Holly, last Thursday afternoon. Although she had been ill for nearly three years, her death came suddenly and was a shock to her many friends. She was 36 years old.

Funeral services were held from the home of her sister-in-law, Miss Mary Fitzgerald, 5 West Second street, Moorestown, Monday morning. Requiem high mass was celebrated at the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

by the Rev. Thomas F. Rudden. Interment was made in Mount Carmel Cemetery, with Funeral Director Phil McChesney in charge.

MAN DIES WHEN HIS CAR CRASHES INTO GUARD RAIL

Victim of Accident Near Moorestown Was 72 Years Old

HIGH CROWN ON ROAD IS CAUSE OF CRASH

John Kiessling, Driver, Believed to Have Been Killed Instantly

John Kiessling, of Northfield, near Atlantic City, was instantly killed when he lost control of his automobile and it crashed into the guard rail along Haines Mill road, near Moorestown, about 8:45 Monday evening.

The victim, retired Riverside hotel keeper, was 72 years old.

Mr. Kiessling's auto, a large Buick sedan, ripped the top of the guard rail, a four-by-four inch piece of timber sixteen feet long, loose. The end of the rail entered the front of his car through the windshield, badly mangled the victim's face and fracturing his skull, and then went out the rear of the car, curling the metal on the back of the body up on the top of the machine.

Mr. Kiessling's car travelled more than three hundred feet before it stopped after hitting the fence. It left the road, going out into the field on George Holmice farm, a half mile north of Bridgeboro road.

Mr. Kiessling had driven to Riverside from Northfield early Monday morning, making the trip in the record time of one hour and fifteen minutes, it is said.

He visited at the home of his daughter in law, Mrs. Paul Douglas, 317 Fairview street, Riverside, and was going to Moorestown to drive his grandson, John Kiessling, back to Riverside after the grandson had left his car at a garage to be repaired.

The grandson, who was driving some distance ahead of the Northfield man, did not see the accident. He looked back shortly after it occurred, however, and saw the machine in the field. He was one of the first to reach his grandfather's side. There were no witnesses of the accident. Mr. Kiessling was alone in the car.

The victim was rushed to Ziehring

One-Arm Drivers Are Rapped by Auto Club

"One-arm" drivers are as dangerous as "one-eyed" motorists in the opinion of Trevor B. Mathews, manager of the Camden division of the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey, who Tuesday called attention to the twin-peril of the highways.

There is no disposition on our part," said Mr. Mathews, "to interfere with love's young dream, but we submit there is a time and place for everything, and it cannot be argued that the time for hugging is while a motorist is engaged in operating his car in modern traffic. Two hands are essential to the business of driving. Our suggestion is that love making be confined to honeyed words, at least while the car is in motion."

Hospital, Riverside, by Frank Jessup and Arthur Lehman, of Moorestown. Hospital authorities were of the opinion that he died instantly.

Coroner John C. Belton, 2nd, of Moorestown, who investigated the accident with Officer Walter A. Erriekson, expressed the belief that the high crown on the road caused Mr. Kiessling to lose control of his car. The coroner issued a certificate of accidental death.

The victim is survived by his wife, Katherine, his daughter in law, Mrs. Paul Douglas, and two grandchildren, John Kiessling and Mrs. Thomas Kinney, of Philadelphia, one great granddaughter, Anne Marie Kinney. His son, Bernard Kiessling, is dead.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

A Minnesota law making the publication and circulation of any "malicious, scandalous and defamatory newspaper, magazine or other periodical" a public nuisance, and providing for methods of preventing its publication, has proved to be another good intention gone wrong.

Taking advantage of this law the city police of Minneapolis seized copies of a newspaper, The Saturday Press, that contained an attack upon the administration of Mayor Kunze, and without any legal authority, proceeded to destroy 30,000 copies of a 40,000 edition.

Of course it never was intended that the law should be used as a club to suppress free speech, even though, as was claimed by the Minnesota authorities, the newspaper was more sensational than useful.

In overruling the Minnesota courts and declaring the law invalid, the Supreme Court decision took the view that such a law came close to censorship of the press. Justice Hughes observed:

The administration of government has become more complex, the opportunities for malfeasance and corruption have multiplied, crime has grown to most serious proportions, and the danger of its protection by unfaithful officials and of the impairment of the fundamental security of life and property by criminal alliances and official neglect, emphasizes the primary need of a vigilant and courageous press, especially in great cities.

The fact that the liberty of the press may be abused by miscreant purveyors of scandal does not make any the less necessary the immunity of the press from previous restraint in dealing with official misconduct.

The "gag law" has been declared unconstitutional.

TIME TO BEGIN SPENDING

This is the time to begin putting money back into circulation. There is more money in banks, subject to the checks of individuals, than at any previous time in our national history. It is lying there because its owners have been waiting for the business situation to "touch bottom."

All the indications now are that it has touched bottom and has begun to rise. At the moment, retail prices of every sort of commodity are lower than they have been since the days before the war. A dollar will buy as much of almost anything today as a dollar and a half would buy two years ago. The reduction in the price of raw materials is now being fully reflected in the price of manufactured goods to the consumer.

There may never be another opportunity, in the lifetime of most of us, to make a dollar go as far as it will go today. We would never advise anybody to go contrary to Benjamin Franklin's wise counsel, when he said: "Never buy anything you don't want merely because it is cheap." But we know that thousands of people in this community and vicinity have been putting off buying things which they really want, believing that they would go lower.

We feel justified in saying to those people that the time has come for them to buy. Business in general is beginning to pick up rapidly. We can't tell how far up it is going, and probably we shall not have another such "boom" as we had three and four years ago—at least not right away. But with business picking up even appreciably, money for wages and materials getting back into circulation, the number of buyers will increase and the law of supply and demand will attend to sending retail prices upward again.

30 YEARS AGO

Dr. C. S. Mills hurt his knee cap while playing tennis last Saturday, and has been obliged to use crutches this week.

M. M. Reese and family moved from their home on Bank avenue Monday, and will be at the Lawn House, S. C. Woolman will occupy the house for three months.

The Borough Council met last evening, and adjourned in order that the Mayor and Councilmen might attend the commencement exercises of the Riverton Public School. They will meet again tonight at 8 o'clock.

L. M. W. Manning, a well-known printer and formerly a resident of Norfolk, Va., but now of Philadelphia, said this office a brief call. He is surprised at the growth of Riverton since his last visit.

HONORED A FORMER PASTOR

At the annual council meeting, assembled in St. George's church, Kansas City, Mo., the Rev. George Heathcott, Hills, at one time rector of Christ Church, Riverton, was honored with the highest gifts in their possession. He was elected to the standing committee, made a delegate to the general convention soon to meet in San Francisco, elected a director of the missionary board, appointed chairman of the Sunday School committee, member of the committee on canons and continued as examining chaplain. We mention these facts concerning him, as they are many in this community who remember him, and are interested in his good work at St. Joseph's, Mo., the queen city of the Missouri Valley.

NEW ENEMY IS FOUND FOR JAPANESE BEETLE

Microscopic Parasite Enters Bodies of Grubs and Kills Them

Effectiveness of a recently discovered microscopic worm parasite is being investigated with the idea of further developing natural means on combating the Japanese beetle, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

The tiny worms or nematodes, as they are more properly termed, were found two years ago in Haddonfield, where investigations were being carried on in an effort to learn why a decrease in the Japanese beetle population there had occurred. When the bodies of dead beetle grubs were examined the nematodes were found in them. Some of the nematodes were propagated artificially last winter. This Spring they were used by the Department of Agriculture to inoculate two test plots containing grubs in the vicinity of Elmer in the southern part of the state.

Examinations already made showed that, despite cold weather, the nematodes were successful in entering the bodies of the grubs and killing them. If investigations during the Summer continue to indicate that the nematodes are effective, they will be cultivated on a comparatively large scale for use next year.

Another enemy of the Japanese beetle grub, the Uphiya wasp, has been studied by the state and federal departments of agriculture and promises to be effective against the insect. The wasp was imported from Japan, where it is a natural enemy of the beetle. In New Jersey it has flourished and its life cycle here is synchronized with that of the beetle.

WET HANDS SAVE

MANY SMALL FISH

Millions of small fish can be saved this summer by wetting the hands before taking them off the hook and putting them gently back into the water, officials of the American Game Association announce. Dry hands dislodge the protective film of the fish, causing fungi to attach to the injured places. This fungi eventually kills the fish, experts declare.

While J. B. Vansickle, of Canton, O., was walking to work with a bottle in a package under his arm, officials took the bottle from him but discovering it contained malted milk apologized and hurried away.

TODAY and TOMORROW

MEAT

Meat packers are making a great deal to do over the advice of the U. S. Public Health Service that people should eat less meat in Summer. The packers have sent a protest to the Government, saying that Eskimos live on meat the year around and do not suffer from it.

This is an interesting example of the way in which commercial interests try to influence governmental affairs. The public health is a secondary consideration with the packers; they are concerned with selling more meat.

Americans are the largest meat eaters in the world. Also we have the highest rate of deaths from heart disease and hardening of the arteries. I asked an eminent heart specialist the other day whether there was any connection between these two facts. His reply was that meat is a highly concentrated source of muscular energy which should be used sparingly by everybody who does not regularly do a great deal of heavy physical work or exercise.

"Eat what you like, but all in moderation," was his advice, which sounded like good common sense.

DIESEL

Walter Lees and Frederick Brossy recently flew their airplane over Jacksonville Beach for 84 hours and 33 minutes without refueling. The engine that made it possible for them to stay so long in the air is the latest application to aviation of the invention of the late Rudolf Diesel, an engine which uses crude oil instead of gasoline, and ignites its fuel by the heat of compressed air and so needs no electrical ignition system.

Diesel engines today drive half of the world's ships, at a third of the operating cost of steam engines. Building them light enough to fly with is a problem which engineers are beginning to overcome.

The new Navy Zeppelins, being built at Akron will have Diesel engines. So will most of the airplanes and airships of the near future. Fifty years from now some other kind of engine may supplant the Diesels in turn.

After driving an automobile with out a license for 20 years, Dory Pelton of Dormantville, N. Y., was finally haled into police court.

TRENTON NEWS LETTER

Just to what extent are the people of New Jersey expected to swallow without a grimace the hypocritical ejaculations of the Democratic spellbinders who have such dreadful things to say about the extravagance of the Republican Legislatures?

How many are expected to believe the claims of the Hague candidate for governor when he attempts to pass the buck as he is called to account for his own regime as executive for three years?

He has attempted to charge the Republican administration with profligate expenditures and disregard of the interests of the taxpayers, but you will search the records page after page and fail to detect any evidence of economy which may be traced to his account. There was nothing in any of his moves to indicate a purpose of that character.

There was no mention in the former governor's messages of any latent desire to look after the welfare of the dear people whom he has so eagerly called to his banner for the last three years. He had no sooner quit the office, leaving it to the care of Governor Larson, than he began a vigorous campaign for another term this year and for three years he has been very diligently pursuing that ambition aided by his ever-present master, Dictator Hague.

Some of the speeches of the candidate and his backers with respect to the Republican "boss" look mighty ridiculous in the light of the bossism to which Mr. Moore was and has been subject. As has been said here upon a previous occasion, every executive appointment made during that three years had to have the sanction of that same party boss to which the governor owed his nomination and election. It was necessary upon several occasions for the Senate to exercise its powers and deny confirmation to those who had been named for important office because of unfitness of the appointees.

Later in the campaign more definite attention will be called to these cases because they were so conspicuous a feature of the three years' of that administration.

Another of the sophistries of the Democratic campaigners is the baseless charge of extravagance with the people's money on the part of the Legislature, but you will seek in vain for information as to the efforts toward economy put forth by their candidate during his term. Governor Larson came into office at a period when there was insistent demand for public improvements of a major character, more progressive steps, indeed, than had been taken for some period and the Legislature was confronted with demands which had to be met.

Necessary expansion of the state charitable and correctional institutions, extensions of the road building program and kindred items of progress entailed larger and more comprehensive financing which meant heavy increases in appropriations.

The Democratic candidate calls attention to the increases in the annual bills since his term expired, but fails to recall the increases which occurred during his term. Nor does he make the slightest attempt to shed any light upon the reasons for the increases. That would never serve his purpose.

The voters would know, then, that their money had not been unwisely spent, but that the huge sums had been accounted for in expansion, construction and maintenance.

PLANE TALKS

By L. H. LONGAKER
Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

Bill Kennedy, of Palmyra, and Joe Stow, of Riverton, have started flight instruction at the Moorestown Airport under the able tutelage of Chief Pilot Jim Erdman. These youngsters have been on the job at the airport for almost two years and we are certainly glad they are well on their way to handle ships "upstairs."

Here is an item especially for the attention of the Moorestown Township Committee: About $225,000 is being spent this spring on improvements to airports throughout the country and the greatest sums are being spent by municipal governments. Moorestown has received extremely favorable and valuable advertising through the Moorestown airport. Surely you should support and aid your own airport. How about it?

Sixteen years ago Glenn L. Martin, president of the aircraft company bearing his name located at Baltimore, flew Mary Pickford in one of his ships and reached a height of 3,000 feet. That was considered quite a news item in those days.

There was a decided increase in passenger flights at the Moorestown Airport over the past weekend. Good news—and let's have more! Why don't more of you good people start learning to fly? The Burlington County Aero Club has made an enviable record for safety and flight instruction during the last four years.

Perhaps by the time you read this Ruth Nichols will have landed on her trans-Atlantic flight and arrived safely in Paris. With a "break" in the weather, Ruth is ready to take off at a minute's notice. "Good luck and happy landings, Ruth."

Three ships from Central Airport, two Fiesels and a Buell-Bull Pup, piloted by students, landed at the Moorestown Airport on Sunday for a short visit. The students were on a practical cross-country flight.

HOMENTOWSKI TO SERVE 20 YEARS

Riverside Slayer, 59 Years Old, Gets Long Term for Crime

Joseph Homentowski, of Riverside, charged with the murder of John Wainowski, also of Riverside, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty to second degree murder, Judge Charles A. Rigg, said. He was sentenced to 20 years in the state's prison. He is now 59 years old.

Wainowski was found dead on the porch of the Homentowski home Easter Monday. Homentowski was arrested for the murder after an investigation by Ellis H. Parker, chief of Burlington county detectives. Homentowski later confessed to the killing in a drunken brawl.

The plea made by Homentowski was the same as guilty to second degree murder, Judge Rigg pointed out.

Attorney Daniel Lichtenthal, of Riverside, had been assigned by the state to conduct Homentowski's defense.

The next case was that of Henry Pieman, of Beverly, charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons. It was claimed that Pieman went to the Beverly home of Jennie Hayes, while intoxicated, and pointed a gun at a member of the woman's family. The gun was not loaded, it was brought out. Pieman was sentenced to six months in jail.

Pieman had just finished serving a 30-day sentence for drunk and disorderly conduct.

Charles Spolter, of Burlington, accused of maintaining a house where liquor was sold, pleaded guilty. Spolter recently left the hospital where he lost his right leg from an infection. He was fined $100 for possession of liquor and $75 for maintaining a house where it was sold. Spolter, the police said, was fined $1000 in 1929, for operating gambling devices.

Maurice Craythorn, Beverly, charged with neglect and non-support, made an offer of $5 a week, which was accepted. He was placed on probation for one year and ordered to furnish his own $500 bond.

Henry H. Lippincott's Jerseys Complete Their Tests

Hendry Tells Club of His Organization's Wide Scope of Work

Dr. Harry L. Rogers presided at the request of Simon Myers, vice president, at last week's luncheon meeting of the Moorestown Y's Men's Club on Wednesday.

A report was made by Howard F. Knight that the club is in a position to send three boys to Camp Oceanikon for two weeks out of funds produced by recent special functions.

The meeting was then turned over to Armit H. Coate, chairman of the speakers' committee, who introduced the speaker, Guy C. Hendry, general secretary of the County Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Hendry selected as his topic "Making Y's Men Y. M. C. A. Wiser." Mr. Hendry told of the beginning of the Y. M. C. A. in London by a group of twelve men. The first introduction in America was in Boston in 1851. At that time an international committee was formed, which gave way about six years ago to the national committee as we know it today. The national council operates under a revised constitution and meets every year. A general board governs all activities between sessions of the national council.

The various activities and divisions of Y. M. C. A. work were discussed by Mr. Hendry as follows: Home Work Division, Foreign Division, Student Division, Personnel Division, State Association and Training Agencies.

Under the Home Work Division the following activities are being conducted: The boys' work which also includes young men's work, summer camps, various boys' clubs, industrial work which is covered by summer conferences at Silver Bay, the immigrant work which is conducted in all foreign countries as well as on Staten Island where the immigrants are contacted before landing in this country; the colored work in which some of the professors at Bordentown are very much interested; railroad work which provides good fellowship and additional opportunities for that class of workers; soldiers and sailors are contacted in practically all foreign countries as well as at home; town and county work which is conducted by workers out of a central office without physical equipment. Spiritual emphasis division: Leaders from all over the country are very much interested in putting special emphasis on the spiritual side of the work.

Educational division: There are many classes in which various trades are learned, degrees are given, summer schools are conducted. In fact it is the great second educational chance for many young men.

Building division: All architecture and plans for Y. M. C. A. buildings are passed upon as to usefulness, actually, before the buildings are erected.

Finance division: Conducts intensive campaigns for raising funds for Y. M. C. A. work.

Business division: Supervision over all Y. M. C. A. buildings and equipment. There is a general home secretary over all of these activities.

Foreign division: The foreign division is now functioning in 32 different countries. The work in these various countries is conducted by loaned American secretaries whose business it is to start the work and work out a plan for them. They find a capable leader from among their local group to take up the work after the American secretary leaves it. There are now 150 American secretaries working in foreign fields all supplied by the American Y. M. C. A. Through the contact made by these American secretaries in foreign countries, international good will is established which is of inestimable value in world affairs.

Student work: There are more than 10 million students in the colleges of United States. On 700 campuses student Christian associations are carrying upward of $9,000 students and professors are giving themselves to the task of claiming for the college as a whole the necessities for higher living which are offered in the teachings of the Y. M. C. A.

Personnel division: This division has all records pertaining to the general secretaries and other Y. M. C. A. personnel. It is its business to keep a proper check on the ability of the various men in Y. M. C. A. work.

State Association Groups: State conferences and state committees have been a big factor in the expansion of the association movement in the United States. The state organizations are carrying a great responsibility and are providing the experienced leaders needed in the national council.

Training agencies: The association movement maintains three association colleges for the training of personnel. There is a continued demand for trained men to serve in the association in other lands and these three colleges are continually meeting that demand. In addition to this there are several summer schools maintained in various localities all over the country.

The talk given by Mr. Hendry was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present and all of the members were particularly thankful for this opportunity to get additional first-hand information concerning Y. M. C. A. activities.

In addition to this there are several summer schools maintained in various localities all over the country.

The talk given by Mr. Hendry was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present and all of the members were particularly thankful for this opportunity to get additional first-hand information concerning Y. M. C. A. activities.

Under the Home Work Division the following activities are being conducted: The boys' work which also includes young men's work, summer camps, various boys' clubs, industrial work which is covered by summer conferences at Silver Bay, the immigrant work which is conducted in all foreign countries as well as on Staten Island where the immigrants are contacted before landing in this country; the colored work in which some of the professors at Bordentown are very much interested; railroad work which provides good fellowship and additional opportunities for that class of workers; soldiers and sailors are contacted in practically all foreign countries as well as at home; town and county work which is conducted by workers out of a central office without physical equipment. Spiritual emphasis division: Leaders from all over the country are very much interested in putting special emphasis on the spiritual side of the work.

Educational division: There are many classes in which various trades are learned, degrees are given, summer schools are conducted. In fact it is the great second educational chance for many young men.

Building division: All architecture and plans for Y. M. C. A. buildings are passed upon as to usefulness, actually, before the buildings are erected.

Finance division: Conducts intensive campaigns for raising funds for Y. M. C. A. work.

Business division: Supervision over all Y. M. C. A. buildings and equipment. There is a general home secretary over all of these activities.

Foreign division: The foreign division is now functioning in 32 different countries. The work in these various countries is conducted by loaned American secretaries whose business it is to start the work and work out a plan for them. They find a capable leader from among their local group to take up the work after the American secretary leaves it. There are now 150 American secretaries working in foreign fields all supplied by the American Y. M. C. A. Through the contact made by these American secretaries in foreign countries, international good will is established which is of inestimable value in world affairs.

Student work: There are more than 10 million students in the colleges of United States. On 700 campuses student Christian associations are carrying upward of $9,000 students and professors are giving themselves to the task of claiming

RIVERTON SCOUTS ARE INCREASING

New Members Caring In Fast as Troop 50 Provides Many Interesting Events

The title "Riverton Trooper" as applied to members of Troop 50, Burlington County Council, Boy Scouts of America at Riverton, is just becoming a title of distinction. The work in scouting is progressing so rapidly and the membership of the troop is increasing so steadily that it is only a question of a very short time before there will be a waiting list in the troop.

Events are transpiring so fast that the reporter has trouble keeping track of them. Last Friday night the troop had a visit from two patrols of the Beverly Troop under the command of Sea Scout Commissioner, Brian Kane. It was a very lively meeting. Various contests were held. In the first and contest Riverton won first and third place. Beverly second and fourth place. In the singing contest Beverly won. After the singing events were over a lively hour of games was held after which and which were served.

As regards future events, the plans are as follows. On Friday, June 26, the Drexel Hill Players will present "Happy" under the auspices of the troop. The next day will start the canoe hike previously announced. Beginning July 1 a training school for officers and non-commissioned officers of the troop will be conducted two nights a week. The troop of course expects to go to Camp Mahanah later in the summer.

There is one way in which the troop can be of great service to the community, and a way of which the community has not always taken full advantage. This is the matter of group assistance in time of an emergency. A few years ago before the troop was really so highly organized as it is now, it was turned out to search for an old man who had wandered off. Together with a group of police and citizens, this search was made at night and again at dawn and it was the good fortune of the Scouts to find the lost man, to administer first aid to him and to arrange for him to be carried back to his home.

Two weeks ago a child, Ruth Gladney, the sister of one of the members of the troop, was lost. The assistance of the troop was not called in until after ten o'clock at night when many of the boys had gone to bed. In spite of this fact, the troop was fully mobilized and assembled for action within fifteen minutes after the Scoutmaster was informed of the need. Fortunately the little girl was found before any extended search was necessary and this particular rescue of the Bay Scouts were not needed after all. Nevertheless, potential service which an organization such as this can give, is most valuable, and it is important that the troop be called out at the earliest possible moment after the emergency arises instead of several hours later when other agencies have failed. Forty enthusiastic and energetic boys, properly organized under competent officers and non-commissioned officers, can be of the greatest possible assistance to the community in almost any emergency which may arise from a fire to a disappearance. A Riverton Trooper is always ready to do a good turn and a group of Riverton Troopers can be expected to do a very good big turn.

GRADUATING CLASS ATTENDS SERVICES IN H. S. AUDITORIUM

More than 250 people attended the baccalaureate services held Sunday afternoon for the graduating class of Palmyra High School.

The exercises, which for the past several years have been held in the high school auditorium, were under the direction of Protestant, Catholic and Hebrew leaders.

The addresses were made by the Rev. Joseph A. Rigney, of Sacred Heart Church, Riverton; the Rev. George J. McCormack, Christ Episcopal Church, Palmyra; and Rabbi Nachmann S. Arneff, of Camden.

The eighty-seven members of the graduating class marched into the auditorium to the strains of a march played by the Misses Ruth Blazer and Mildred Meyer, and took the section of the hall reserved for them.

Miss Ruth Pendrell rendered a violin solo. The assembled relatives and friends of the class, with the singing of hymns, supplied other music for the service.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

EPWORTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. Ira S. Pimm, B. D., pastor

When the trees are in full splendor, and the sun is high at noon and the ivy robes the church in summer splendor, and the service in church is as it may be very soon, and the rector's soul is feeling very mean; then remember, all you people, that the person and the steeple are fixtures in the churchyard past the same, and that father, wife and baby are as welcome there as may be, and that "churchman" isn't just a pleasing name.

Then come to worship gladly, and do not look so sadly, don't forget the power of God is still in view, and while you sing His praises, both the tenors and the ladies, praise the Lord who gave this sunshine all for you!

A very happy gathering enjoyed the picnic of the parish to Knights Park, Collingswood, last Saturday; and we think all those who by gifts and by help, made it so enjoyable. We noticed several future admirals displaying their skill in the lake and so far as we observed nobody tried to "rock the boat."

We congratulate Mrs. William Branson on her election to the presidency of the Burlington District Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church. Christ Church is proud of the honor, and will see to it that we rise to the challenge of her leadership.

Mrs. Houchens is filling the unexpected term until the fall election.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Romans 13:1).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all power, and to knowledge, any other power is to dishonor God" (p. 228).

BUGLE CORPS WINS PRIZE IN GLENSIDE

Places Sixth in Competition With 22 Other Units Last Saturday

The Bugle and Drum Corps of Frederick M. Rodgers American Legion Post, of Palmyra, added further honors to its long list when it won sixth prize in competition with 22 other units at Glenside, Pa., last Saturday.

Competing against some of the largest and wealthiest corps in the eastern part of the United States, the Palmyra group was given $50 as the award for being the sixth best corps in line. The competition was held as a part of the Flag Day parade and Field Drill held at Temple Stadium.

The 23 corps entered in the contest were comprised of more than 1500 men. In addition to the American Legion outfits, 1500 school children paraded and drilled in the stadium. The children showed excellent training in executing difficult maneuvers.

One of Palmyra's old rivals, Lancaster Post, walked off with first honors in the affair. Norwood, an other corps which has often competed against Palmyra, was fortunate enough to place second. The well-known Frankford unit was next in line for honors, followed by Trenton, Houston Post, of Germantown, and Palmyra.

In a further effort to raise funds the Palmyra Post will hold a carnival throughout next week at River Road, in Bellevue. Starting Saturday night of this week, the affair will end next Saturday evening, June 27. Legion members are promising the public plenty of live wire entertainment throughout the carnival. Valuable prizes, plenty of parking space and sufficient police protection are promised as further inducements to the public.

GARDEN SCIENCE IN PLAIN LANGUAGE

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
EXPERIMENT STATION

ASTER WILT AND STEM ROT By R. P. WHITE. (N. J. Agr. Experiment Station)

Although aster wilt and stem rot are most evident at blooming time or thereafter, both of these diseases kill many seedlings at transplanting time, at which time seedlings that fall to become established in their permanent locations in the garden will often be found to have partly or completely decayed root systems.

Older aster plants may suddenly wilt and die, especially at blooming time or shortly afterwards. This is the result of aster wilt, which destroys the water conducting system in the stem and also causes a rotting of the roots. The stem rot disease, which causes a girdling canker at or just above the soil level, also may be responsible for the wilting and sudden death of the older plants.

Seedlings started outdoors in beds and later thinned to the desired number have been found less subject to wilt than transplanted asters. This is because such seedlings suffer no root injury by transplanting, and are not checked in growth. If either aster wilt or stem rot of asters have been severe in the garden, the soil should be either replaced with fresh soil or sterilized before making new plantings. Information on soil sterilization can be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

SOW FORGET-ME-NOTS IN JUNE By A. C. McLEAN. (N. J. Agr. Experiment Station)

June is an excellent month in which to start forget-me-nots or Myosotis for next season's bloom. Although these plants may be sown as late as August and still bloom well the following spring, earlier sowing gives better results.

Forget-me-not seeds generally require about 10 days to germinate. During this period the seedbed should be thoroughly shaded until the young plants break through the soil. This will prevent the surface soil from drying out and causing the death of the seedlings before they have time to become well rooted.

Florists have found the forget-me-not a profitable plant for spring sales, yet amateur gardeners can grow their own plants just as easily as the florists. Forget-me-nots grow best on a rather light and partially shaded soil. Shade may easily be provided for the seedbed by using a screen made of building laths nailed about three-fourths of an inch apart. Such a screen, elevated about 1 foot over the beds, provides for an equal distribution of light.

The modern forget-me-nots bloom in all shades of white, blue, and pink. The one most commonly grown, M. alba, is a short-lived perennial and is cultivated as a biennial in New Jersey because of our hot summers. M. scorpioides or the swamp forget-me-not, is a true perennial. It needs a moist environment for best results. Forget-me-nots, in order to survive winter in good condition, need more protection than do most perennials. This protection should be more against water and ice than against low temperatures. A cold-frame is ideal for wintering forget-me-nots, although they also may be wintered well in the open ground, provided they are covered with a coarse material that will not hold the water and ice around the crowns of the plants.

PLANT CAMPANULAS IN JUNE By A. C. McLEAN. (N. J. Agr. Experiment Station)

The gardener who wishes to have a profusion of flowers from Campanula and other biennial campanulas next season should sow seeds monthly, the plants will grow large of these plants this June. Sown this early they will be easily cared for, and yet they are not likely to become overgrown.

In addition to the Canterbury bell (Campanula medium), there are several other biennial campanulas that are well worth growing because they bloom profusely the second year from seed. These are C. longistylis, C. mirabilis, C. patula and C. phyllidifolia. Most of these varieties are easy to grow from seed, and they germinate quickly.

The main precautions to take in starting these plants are to guard against sowing the seeds too deeply, and to make sure that the surface of the soil is kept moist until the seeds germinate. The soil may be kept moist by shading it with burlap or excelsior. The occasional watering of either of these materials will prevent the soil surface from drying out under the hot summer sun. The perennial campanulas are harder to start because their very fine seed requires a long time to germinate. When given the same attention required by the biennial varieties, however, most of the perennial campanulas will bloom from seed the second season.

There are two classes of perennial campanulas; the tall, large, showy ones represented by periclyfollia (peach leaf bellflower), and the dwarf or rock garden kinds represented by C. carpatica (Carpathian bellflower). These are two of the best of the perennial kinds but there are innumerable other ones worthy of the gardener's care. Most of the bell flowers prefer a rather light soil, but will grow well on any soil that is well drained and not too acid.

QUAKERS BOW TO BURLINGTON, 6 TO 3

Medford Continues to Lead
County League Circuit;
R. D. Wood Second

Burlington took the measure of Moorestown 6 to 3 in Saturday afternoon's Burlington County League game, leaving the local team still to break into the winning column this year.

Medford continued to set the pace by handling the lowly Riverside outfit 10 to 0, while R. D. Wood, the defending champion, maintained its hold on the runner-up post by taking Riverton over the hurdles, 14 to 2. Delanco dropped its game to Vincentown, 5 to 4.

As it now stands, the race appears as a three-cornered affair between Medford, R. D. Wood and Burlington, with the result that the chase will become more closer after the conclusion of this Wednesday's combats. Only a single game separates the third-place Burlington club from the league-leading Medford, while R. D. Wood only a half game, the rear of Charles Galbraith's Braves.

Delanco's setback at the hands of Vincentown on Saturday did not create much excitement among league followers, due to the fact that the "Vines" were expected to come out of their slump sooner or later, and it just had to be against Delanco.

THURSDAY-Rambler, 11; Rogers News, 6.
FRIDAY-Parry, 5; Rogers News, 6.
MONDAY-Rogers News, 6; Baptists, 0.

Following one of the busiest weeks since the opening of the twilight league season, the Artisans nine still remains perched on the top rung of the loop ladder, followed by the ramblers of marmains by the Parry and Rambler teams.

Tied on the cellar stairs are Rogers News and the Baptists with three wins out of seven starts. The "newsies" played three of their games during the past week, playing a postponed game last Thursday, and regularly scheduled contests on Friday and Monday evenings. The K. of C. nine has a perfect percentage for losing games and are undisputed Champions of the Cellar.

With only one game having ended in a shutout previous to last week's game, Artisans on both Parry and Rogers News teams turned in mound masterpieces in blanking their foes.

The Parrymen held the Rogers News team without a run in winning 5-0 last Friday night, while the paper team in turn blanked the Baptists Monday night and turned in a 6-0 victory.

The important postponed game between the Rambler and Tommy Schwin's newboys last Thursday was won by the Kingmen. Two hurlers were treated roughly by the Rambler, who rammed into second place as a result of their 11-2 triumph.

The Artisans are expected to add to their lead when they meet the weak K. of C. outfit tomorrow night. The Parry and Baptist aggregations meet Monday with third place at stake for the winners. Rogers News meets the league leading A. O. M. P. team in what is expected to be a close game Tuesday night. The "Newsies" handed the lodgermen the lone defeat chalked up against them, turning the trick by a 3-2 count on May 19.

The game on Tuesday which would have broken the second place deadlock between Parry and the Rambler was postponed because of a muddy field. Continual rain left the diamond in too bad a shape for the playing of the contest which would have advanced the winner to within a half-game of the Artisan team. The postponed tilt will probably be played off tonight.

Burco High Loop Championship to Be Decided in Fall

The disposition of the Burlington County High School League basketball championship will not be made until the Fall term, when it will be possible to have the attendance of all coaches. Paul Isenberg, coach of Moorestown High and president of the circuit, announced Tuesday night.

Isenberg stated that he was unable to garner a quorum of coaches in order to hold a session Tuesday night. The meeting was intended to decide as to whether Mount Holly High or Palmyra High would be crowned champions, due to a dispute which arose over a replay of a tie game between the "Hollies" and Riverside High, as neither of the latter schools were able to go through with the skirmish.

Palmyra finished its season with five victories and one defeat, while Mount Holly's record consists of four wins, one tie and one defeat.

LARGER ATTENDANCE AT BASEBALL GAMES DURING PAST WEEK

Quite an increase in attendance was noticed at the Twilight Baseball League games during the past week. It is hoped there will be a still larger turnout at future games.

The boys are playing good ball and you need attend only one game to become interested enough to want to see every game.

The members of the league are using their best efforts to make the league a success and it is hoped that the fans in this vicinity will do their part as well.

Many of the new faces expressed great surprise at arrangements made for their convenience. Seats are provided for the onlookers' comfort and a screen has also been provided for safety's sake.

Folk are urged to remember the days and the time, 6:15 o'clock each Monday, Tuesday and Friday evening.

'SCRIBBLE' HAINES TRACK MEET STAR

Community House Team Turns in 59-31 Score Over
High School

Assuming the role of a "one man track team," Charles "Scribble" Haines, Albright College star, proved the undoing of the Moorestown High School track team when the Community House team took Isenberg's charges over the hurdles by a 59 to 31 score in a meet staged on the South Church street grounds, Saturday afternoon.

Haines scored just one point less than the school boy outfit scored altogether.

BURLINGTON HIGH COACH RESIGNS

Announcement was made by Burlington High School officials that David "Red" Buchanan, coach of all sports, has tendered his resignation in order to take over his new duties as head coach at Jeddington, N. C. Buchanan, starting next fall, will be head coach of the Burlington County High School football team.

The board also stated that Alfred T. Rundle, now coach at Northampton, will replace Buchanan and will take charge of all athletics beginning at the fall semester.

During his one year stay at Burlington, Buchanan has made an enviable record, winning the Burlington County High School League football and basketball championships. His football team suffered only one defeat during the season, losing to Vineland and held Collingswood High, South Jersey Class A champions to a tie.

Rundle will take over the reins in September and is expected to produce the same quality of teams as he has had fine success at Northampton. He is a graduate of the State Teachers' College at Stroudsburg, Pa., where he earned letters in football, basketball and baseball. He has coached at Northampton for the past two years.

CAMP OCKANICKON

August 12

Beautiful 530 Acre Site, Indian Mills Road, Medford, N. J.

Camp's the Life

What pictures and happy memories flash before the minds of the fellows who have camped at Ockanickon, as they look forward to this summer? Three camping areas. Beautiful bodies of water. Two large lakes and numerous smaller ones. Boating. Canoeing. Fishing. Dandy swimming. Sandy, gradually sloping beaches. Raft diving tower. Red Cross Life Saving work. Nature trails to explore. Craft shop for building boat models, and concrete work, leather craft, hammered iron work, woodwork, silver work, basketry. "Store is open." Athletics. Ping Pong. Library. Two light campus games. Volley ball. Tennis. Council. Hike. Ceremonies. Evening singing programs. Entertainment at the "Bow." Boat night. Overnight hikes. Adirondack canoe on top of "Mount." Evening devotionals. Taps. Whistles. Sleep in tents or cabins, or out under the stars. Oh, Boy, Wish it were camping time now! Anyhow, plan now to come.

New 1931 Features

This summer interest in archery will flourish. The new Log Lodge is ready for use as Nature Study Headquarters. Sixteen horses will be available for the use of campers at very reasonable rates, with a seasoned equestrian in charge. Leather work, silver work, basketry and making bows and arrows will be new.

Three Distinct Age Groups

Ockanickon has three age divisions of campers, each with its own special Head Director, in addition to individual cabin or tent counselors. Each division occupies its own separate area. The divisions are Juniors, 9-11; Middles, 12-14; Seniors, 15-17.

The Men in Charge

The General Camp Director is Secretary Ross S. Muscunich, of the Gloucester County YMCA, popularly known as "Chief." The YMCA of Burlington, Camden and Monmouth counties also provide secretaries for various responsibilities. Others, mostly teachers and college men, have charge of such departments as commissary, business, nature study, music, crafts, religious programs, evening entertainments, health, overnight hikes, horses.

Ownership and Location

Ownership of YMCA Camp Ockanickon is vested in an incorporated Board of Trustees of the County YMCA of Burlington, Camden and Gloucester, Monmouth-Ocean, Inc., Medford, New Jersey, is the Camp Post Office.

The entrance to the Camp property is some three and one-half miles south of Medford, down the Indian Mills Road. A large entrance sign on the left hand side, about a mile south of the Medford Lakes Log Cabin Lodge, directs one where to "turn left." Headquarters is about a half-mile from the main road.

This Camp was organized in 1906, twenty-five years ago this year. The 1931 season will be the sixth at the Camp's own beautiful 530 acre site. The spaciousness of Ockanickon's "Acres for Character" makes it easily possible for each of the three Camps to have plenty of room for their own programs and fun.

Camping Dates

The 1931 boys' camp will be eight weeks in length, commencing Wednesday, June 17, and closing August 12.

Cost

The cost at YMCA Camp Ockanickon, to boys residing in the southern New Jersey counties, organized for YMCA work (Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, Monmouth-Ocean) is $10 a week. At the time of enrolling, a fee of $1.00 is payable for each week for which a camper signs up, which is deducted from the $10 weekly rate. It should be borne in mind that $10 a week covers not only "costs" but the privilege of participating in the various interest and craft groups, instruction in swimming and life saving, use of the Nature Study Cabin and of the carpenter shop and woodcraft room, boats and canoes, as well as medical attention by the resident Camp Doctor. An additional charge is made for materials which are used in the various elective craft enterprises around Camp. These can be purchased reasonably, either at the Camp store or from the instructor. Such materials include leather, tools, archery supplies, food, lanterns, lamps, lumber for various articles made in the carpenter shop, silver, reed, etc.

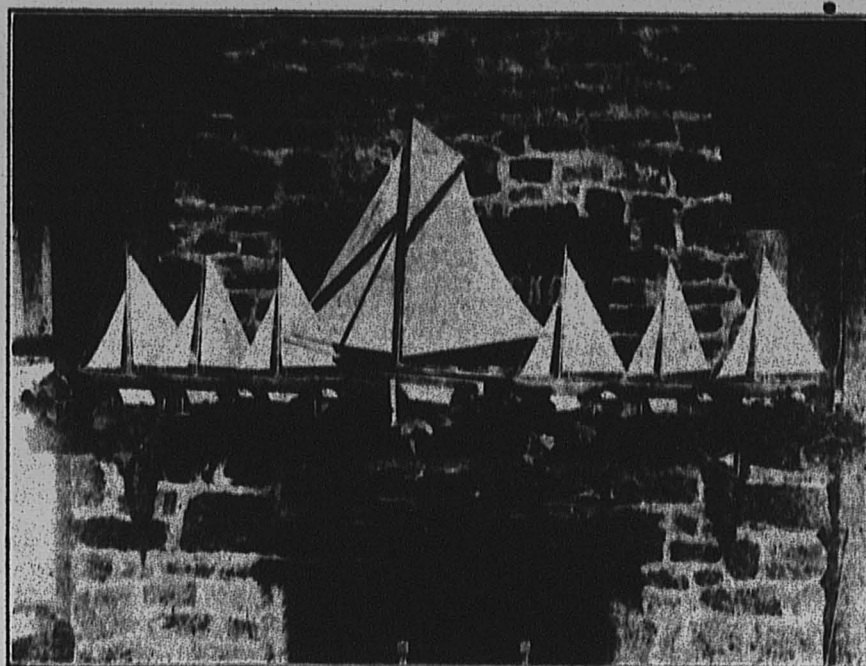

The cost for boys other than from the above mentioned counties will be $12.00 a week, with the registration fee deducted from this amount. At the time such boys register they are requested to send $2.00 for each week they enroll, with their application.

RIVERTON WILL DEDICATE ITS MEMORIAL PARK JULY FOURTH

TWELVE-HOUR PROGRAM CROWDED WITH ACTION

Prizes for Baby Crawl Parade, Athletic Contests and Water Sports

Plans for Riverton's most elaborate Fourth of July celebration are well under way.

The distinguishing feature this year will be the dedication of Memorial Park at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with a program starting at Legion Hall, Palmyra, where the Legionnaires will form and march to the park by way of Broad street, Main and Seventh, accompanied by the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, the five companies of both towns, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Moose Band of Camden, visiting Legionnaires from various parts of the county, a body of Palmyra citizens led by the Little Band of Camden, and a marching unit in uniform from the Junior American Mechanics of Burlington.

Former Mayor William E. Bennett, under whose administration the park was purchased, will give a brief resume of the acquisition of the community's playground, and addresses will be made by W. Rex McCrosson, National Committeeman, American Legion, and Hon. Clifford R. Powell, State Senator and Legionnaire.

Mayor to Preside
Mayor Howard M. Rogers will preside at the exercises, which will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Charles T. Bates, of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, Riverton.

The community singing will be led by Robert F. White, and the drum and bugle corps of Post Rodgers will put on the famous drill with which it has won many prizes.

The committee having the dedication in charge is composed of William E. Bennett, H. M. Murray and Charles C. Seemiller.

The morning program will be similar to previous years. Prizes will be given for the various classes in the children's parade. These prizes are now on display in the windows of Mrs. Smith's and Keating's stores.

The Riverton Yacht Club is putting on an attractive program of sailing races and aquatic sports, in the morning.

The athletic events will be held on the river bank immediately following the patriotic exercises. Prizes for these events may be seen at Keating's.

Fireworks From Barge
The fireworks display in the evening will be from a large barge anchored off shore. It will be particularly fine this year, as Palmyra is sharing the cost.

Music will be furnished by the Moore Band of Camden.

The full program for the day follows:

47 TAKE COLLEGE ENTRANCE 'EXAMS'

Students From Six South Jersey High Schools Take Tests at Friends' School

Forty-seven students from Collingswood, Haddonfield, Palmyra, Riverside, Camden and Moorestown Friends High School took college board examinations at Friends' School last week.

This was the first time that college board examinations have been given in this section and Professor Winslow Hallett, of the University of Pennsylvania, who was in charge, was delighted with the results.

Formerly students had to go into the university for the examinations, and the confusion of the crowds there was eliminated at the Moorestown school and the arrangement proved much more satisfactory for all concerned.

Professor Hallett's father is in charge of the examinations for Pennsylvania.

CAMDEN CATHOLIC GRADUATES 109

Six From Twin Towns Awarded Diplomas; Jack Barr Receives Honors

John Holvick Barr, son of Mrs. Elmer Barr, graduated from Camden Catholic High School Sunday, June 21, with high honors.

"Jack" as he is better known to his friends in Riverton, was one of the speakers of the evening, his address being entitled, "Our Ladies' Warrior," based on Knute Rockne, former Notre Dame coach.

Jack had the double honor of being president of his class and president of the whole student body.

Other local graduates from Camden Catholic High School were Miss Marie Eck, of Palmyra; Miss Mary Barr, Albert Young, Thomas Kenney, of Riverside, formerly of Riverton, and Miss Mary Roedel.

BEVERLY ROAD TO BE ILLUMINATED

Township Committee Acts on Petition; Water Turned in Springside Mains

A new lighting district will be formed in the Beverly road section of Burlington township as soon as the necessary formalities can be complied with.

This action was taken by the Township Committee in compliance with a request from citizens in a petition presented at a meeting Tuesday night. About sixty residents signed the papers.

The matter was referred to the township solicitor with instructions to proceed with the preparation of the necessary papers without delay.

The lighting district proposed will include Beverly road as far as a short distance below Sheddok school house. It will also include Orchard View and Plaza Park.

Papers for the formation of a Springside lighting district are already in the hands of the solicitor and this matter will be acted on as soon as possible.

Laying of the water mains in Springside is now virtually completed. An extension of service on Twelfth street was authorized at the last meeting of the committee.

Water was turned on in the new mains yesterday and is now available to residents in virtually the entire area to be served. The first residence to be connected was that of Parker Moore.

Walter Kressler will have charge of tapping the mains.

Service will be supplied to Springside residents at the same charge in effect in the city of Burlington.

LEAGUE DISCONTINUES PREVENTORIUM IN CO.

Lack of Funds Stops County Work Temporarily; Children Sent to Farmingdale

The Burlington County Tuberculosis League has temporarily discontinued its summer preventorium on account of lack of funds to build a permanent building of its own. Osmund, which has been at the disposal of the league for the past five years and which has been operated successfully by this organization, is not available this year.

The needy children from this county are now being sent to Farmingdale Preventorium, in Monmouth County. This organization is struggling very hard to increase its funds to such an extent that a building which would house many needy children for the summer might be erected and might some day be developed into a permanent all year round preventorium, which is greatly needed in this large county.

Mrs. Daisy S. Hollingshead, executive secretary, would like to express her appreciation to all people who helped to make the lawn fête and supper so successful. The amount raised was about $900, and this will be applied to preventorium work.

'CHUTE' JUMPER LANDS IN WIRES

Spectators at Legion Carnival Get Thrills; Balloon Also Destroyed

Ralph Chapman, a parachute jumper, escaped death at Bellevue Tuesday night when he dropped into high tension wires and both his chute and balloon were destroyed by flames.

Chapman, who is a featured jumper with the Major Smith Balloons, has been performing nightly at the carnival being held at Bellevue by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Post Frederick M. Rogers, American Legion of Palmyra. The carnival began last Saturday and will continue until Saturday, June 27.

In spite of heavy rain and unfavorable weather conditions Chapman ascended in the balloon and jumped out. His chute didn't open at once and a slight current of air carried the jumper away from the field and over the parade route.

As he came down the parachute caught in the high tension wires but Chapman swung himself under the wires and dropped unharmed to the road.

A second later the balloon itself dropped on the high tension wires 100 feet away and burst into flames. The Riverton Fire Department responded to the alarm but the balloon was a total loss when flames reached the scene.

It was Chapman's second accident within a week. In Bridgeton last week his balloon knocked over a pole and fell on a small boy, severely injuring him.

Chapman was scheduled to make another ascent last night in a new balloon. On Saturday night he and Major Smith will do a double drop at the Legion carnival.

The carnival is given by the Rogers Post Drum and Bugle Corps to benefit the general treasury of the Corps.

The general committee in charge of the carnival includes: Fred Rhenstrum, chairman, William Spelberger, and Frank Thielman.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS FOR FUNDS

Mrs. A. C. Hirsch is Chairman of Committee in Palmyra

The Salvation Army in Southeastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey has opened an appeal for funds for the maintenance of its work in this division.

The following local committee is sponsoring the campaign and is asking everyone by contributing to the fund, to aid this worthy organization, which has gained the title of "Everybody's Friend."

Mrs. A. C. Hirsch, chairman; Mrs. William T. J. Purnell, Mrs. James P. Macfarlane, Mrs. J. Horace Finney, Mrs. R. E. Sanford, Mrs. J. Charles Mallory and Mrs. Raymond Eastwood.

William A. McCamy, cashier of the Palmyra National Bank, is treasurer of the local committee.

In this division alone, the Salvation Army maintains fifty-nine agencies to carry on its work as follows: 28 evangelistic posts, five men's social service institutions, one girl's rescue home and maternity hospital, one orphanage, one settlement and day nursery, one fresh air camp, one prison department, twenty family and transient relief bureaus and one hotel for men.

The Palmyra committee hopes the people in this vicinity will respond generously to this appeal from such a worthwhile organization.

Well the pessimist is now having his day to lead the parade, and perhaps we shouldn't begrudge him the opportunity, because he has had very few chances to strut in America.

HOLD COURT OF AWARDS MONDAY

Program During Past Year Has Been Varied in Interest and Training

MEMBERS TO ENJOY HIKE THIS AFTERNOON

Riverton Troop No. 1 Has Changed Name to Palmyra No. 1

A Tenderfoot Enrollment and Court of Awards to be held Monday evening at the Central Baptist Church, will mark the close of a successful year for the Girl Scouts of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson.

The program has been varied in interest and training for the girls. By the end of the year, the troop had included sewing, the Needlework Guild, several hikes and outdoor meetings and some members devoted themselves to "non-traditional" craft work, an effective handicraft which the girls used in making bean bags for the troop and personal Christmas gifts for their friends.

At Christmas time, small dolls were bought and dressed, and given to the Welfare Association. Later in the winter another handicraft, the making of muller paper, was put to use in fashioning attractive covers for writing cases and nature notebooks.

Want to Camden

In February, the troop attended the mid-winter Court of Awards of the Camden County Girl Scouts by invitation, and made an excellent showing there, with a number of girls receiving Second Class and Merit Badges, one girl, Mary S. Rhoades, her Letter of Commendation, the only one presented, and two girls, Virginia Beagle and Rose La Goldman, First Class, a greater number than from any other troop represented.

In the spring a group of girls from the troop took part in the Junior Pageant at the national convention of the Needlework Guild, held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia. Outdoor activities became popular again, culminating in a "Lingo" week-end at Camp Lingo, located on the Rancocas at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Evans, and their daughter, Tenderfoot Scout Marion Evans.

Paraded Memorial Day
The troop was represented in the Memorial Day parade, assisting in the ceremony of placing wreaths on the soldiers' graves. There have been hikes and nature trips this month.

There will be one this afternoon, having Mrs. Horace Finney, 912 Washington avenue, at one o'clock, and a series of outdoor meetings, about twice a month, will be continued through the summer.

During the past two weeks, the one Girl Scout troop active here for a number of years has grown to three. Riverton Troop 1 is being reorganized with Miss Katherine Graff, of Riverton, as captain; Miss Lenore Howell, of Riverton, as lieutenant; let Class Scouts of the old troop, Emily Barclay and Elizabeth Shaw, as assistants, and a new group of enthusiastic younger girls.

The old Riverton Troop 1 is registering as Palmyra Troop 1, since the captain, Mrs. Ross, the acting lieutenant, Scout Mary S. Rhoades, and all the new girls who have joined recently are residents of Palmyra.

Six Patrol Leaders
Six girls, former members of Riverton Troop 1, are acting as Patrol Leaders and Corporals in a newly formed Cinnaminson Troop 7, under the leadership of Miss Adelaide Emery, of Fort Hancock, New Jersey, captain, and First Class Scout Rose La Goldman, assistant. Fourteen of the forty girls of the Cinnaminson troop were created at the annual field day and others will receive their Tenderfoot pins at the Court of Awards, Monday evening.

Girls of all three troops will receive the badges of the ranks, which they have attained at that time. The climax of the evening will be the awarding of the Golden Eagle to First Class Scout Mary S. Rhoades. This is the highest honor a Girl Scout can win and so far as is known, has never before been awarded to a girl in this vicinity.

It is hoped that a large number of the people of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson, will be present at the Court of Awards to encourage the girls in their efforts. The meeting will open promptly at eight o'clock and will close as nearly as possible at nine. The place of meeting, through the kindness of the Rev. George Lockett and the trustees, will be the Central Baptist Church.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends for the kind expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement, especially those who sent cards and flowers to the funeral.

Joseph R. Reeves, of Palmyra, charged with stealing a diamond ring belonging to Ella Reeves, was committed to jail for court by Judge Throckmorton.

EARL COOPER SAVES COMPANION'S LIFE

George L. Fichter Also Aids in Carrying for Lad's Cut Foot

Quick action on the part of a companion probably saved a Palmyra lad from death due to loss of blood Sunday of last week.

Harry Hutter, eleven years old, a member of the group of boys who had taken a weekend camping trip near Bridgeboro, had been swimming Sunday afternoon in a pond nearby. As he was preparing to leave the water he walked on the jagged edge of a broken bottle which was partly buried under the muddy bottom of the pond.

The sharp edge of the bottle cut a long, deep gash into the boy's foot causing it to bleed profusely. A companion, Earl Cooper, fourteen, stopped the bleeding by exerting pressure on the vein which had been severed. When aid had been summoned from the camp, the wound was given more advanced treatment by George L. Fichter, leader of the group, who applied first aid compresses and a cataplast. The injured boy was removed to his home soon after.

Sargent School of Physical Education Portrays "The Golden Name"

Miss Maxine Meitzner, of Riverton, was a member of the cast of an elaborate pageant, "The Golden Name," which was given at Boston University's Sargent School here commemorating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Sargent School of Physical Education in Cambridge, Mass. The affair was the highlight of a festive weekend program for which 500 alumni of the school returned.

Two years ago Ledyard Sargent, son of the founder, Dr. Dudley Allen Sargent, finding that university training was needed in the field of physical education and having no facilities for providing it, offered the school to Boston University. Last year President Daniel I. Marsh and the university trustees purchased the school camps in Peterboro, and the unit of school and camps has been operated as a branch of the B. U. school of education.

"The Golden Name" pageant was an impressive presentation given in the open on the camp field, with 126 girls colorful in picturesque costumes.

If you did not get your tickets in the mail get them from any Boy Scout or at the door the night of the play, but be sure you are there and don't miss "Happy."

'CAGE' MATLACK, SURROGATE, DIES

Deceased Held Important County Office for the Past Ten Years

WAS CAPTAIN OF OLD COMPANY "E"

Prominent in Politics Since Early Youth; Led "Plumed Knights" for Maine

Michael E. Matlack, for nearly ten years, Surrogate of Burlington County, died at his home at 401 Third street, Mount Holly, about 11 o'clock Saturday night, after an illness of several weeks. For some time he had been in poor health and lately had been suffering from a complete nerve breakdown. He was in his sixty-ninth year.

His passing removes one of the best known and most liked men in Burlington county, and brings to a close a life which was active almost from its very start. As a young man, Surrogate Matlack was a leader among other young men and as he matured he carried that leadership among the older men with whom he came in contact.

Surrogate Matlack was born in Mercer County on December 16, 1862. At the age of 19 he embarked on his military life, entering Company F, Second Regiment, in October, 1881. On October 2, 1882, he was made a corporal, and on December 5, 1883, he was promoted to sergeant. He was made first sergeant on December 1, 1885, and became a second lieutenant on April 4, 1887. During the summer of 1891 he resigned from the company.

During three years he had been studying law, beginning in the office of John C. Ten Eyck and finishing with Howard C. Lewis, and in 1890 he was admitted to the bar.

Answering of Phone Causes Row in Holly

A police judge without a telephone is about as helpless as a traffic cop without a whistle. That is the opinion of Recorder Joseph C. Kingston, of Mount Holly, as a result of John Dabrow, police chief, issuing an order prohibiting him answering police calls.

The police phone sits on the recorder's desk at police headquarters. There is an extension in a traffic booth 100 feet away. Kingston has been answering police calls for years.

Dabrow's latest order makes it mandatory that the police answer their own calls in the traffic booth. Kingston says an officer is not always on duty in the traffic booth.

For two or three successive years and on one exceptional case for four, J. Scott Burger completes the fourth grade this year without having been either absent or tardy since he started school in the first grade.

The older grammar school pupils, those of the Delaware Avenue School, had a somewhat larger list of perfect attendance records. Those awarded the certificates were:

Friends Hear Historical Facts About Old Quaker Meeting House

Joseph Engle, Descendant From Early County Settler, Tells Assemblage at Arney's Mount About Building Erected for Worship There

A large number of the members of the Burlington County Historical Society and historically inclined friends gathered at the old Arney's Mount Meeting House of the Society of Friends recently, when Joseph Engle, of Mount Holly, a direct descendant of Thomas Budd, one of the early settlers in Burlington county, read an historical sketch of the Meeting and the Meeting House, prepared with the collaboration of Mrs. T. Sherman Borden, of Cooperstown.

Incidentally, Mr. Engle, one of the county's best known retired farmers, looks after the Meeting House and the cemetery in his spare time and notwithstanding that he has passed his eightieth milestone, keeps the grass carefully mowed and the old stone wall about the cemetery in apple-pie order. Just last year fifty feet of the stone fence crumbled and Mr. Engle, with the assistance of a boy, rebuilt it in its entirety, it requiring fifty bags of cement and time to do the work, besides the strenuous manual labor.

Due to the length of the paper we are unable to print it in full, but some highlights of the historical old Meeting House and its cemetery follow.

"In 1695, Thomas Budd and his brother William were the original proprietors and owners of the land now occupied by the town of Pemberton, and their property extended to what is now known as Arney's Mount.

"An old dwelling still standing between Birmingham and Arney's Mount was sold by the Budds to Arney Lippincott and it was from him that the Mount gained its name, it being the Friends' custom to use the first name.

Asks To Meet In 1743

"The nearest Meeting House at that time was at Mount Holly, so on the Third Day of the Eighth Month, 1743, sundry Friends belonging to the upper part of Mount Holly Meeting made application in writing to the Burlington County Meeting for liberty to hold a Meeting for Worship on the first day of each week at a schoolhouse standing near Caleb Shure's Mount.

"The Meeting continued to be attended and in 1770 a preparative Meeting was established; at this time it numbered 53 adults, 51 minors, a total of 104.

"First Meeting House was constructed of logs. Ephraim Tomlinson, in his journal says 'On the 20th day of Sixth Month, 1771, I was at the marriage of my son-in-law, John Gardner, at the log meeting house, hard by Julia's house.'

"On information furnished by former Judge William A. Slaughter, of Mount Holly, it has been learned that his great, great grandfather, Richard Ridgway, gave the ground to the Society of Friends for a meeting

YWCA CAMP HEAD DISCUSSES PLANS

Miss Susan Thomas in County to Work Out Program

Miss Susan Thomas, of Philadelphia, who is to be the director of the YWCA Camp Ockanickon, August 13 to September 3, spent Saturday in Mount Holly with Sidonie Schaffer and Beatrice Shipley of the county YWCA, in working out plans for the camp.

A decision has been made by the members of the camp committee to increase the size of the camp because of the many demands by girls for a place in the camp. The additional counselors and leaders needed will be a source of interests and opportunities for the teen age girl.

Miss Thomas, who has had considerable experience as a YWCA secretary and as a director of association camps, is planning a program with a variety of interests and opportunities for the teen age girl. Not only will a girl have a good time for one, two, or three weeks, but she will have learned new skills, have met, worked and lived with other girls, and have acquired a deeper appreciation of the out of doors.

Girls who are interested in coming can get additional information and can register with Beatrice Shipley at the county YWCA office in Mount Holly.

Y. W. C. A. club girls met on Monday evening for a world fellowship party at the home of Mrs. John Stines, of Edgewater Park. Upon arriving at the home of Mrs. Stines the girls enjoyed an hour of games directed by Miss Cornelia, of Mount Holly. Mrs. Lester Collins, of Moorestown, then told several delightful stories. After a picnic supper on the lawn, folk songs, out of door songs, and many Y. W. C. A. songs which the girls enjoy were sung under the leadership of Mrs. William Grobler, of Moorestown.

Miss Ruth Doud, of the German town Y. W. C. A., who has spent some time in Turkey, spoke of the work of the Y. W. C. A. there.

Since the Burlington County Y. W. C. A. is taking some responsibility for financing the work in Turkey, a candle lighting ceremony was held with clubs and girls bringing their offerings for this work.

Delegates to Be Chosen

Four Burlington County High School girls will be chosen during the next two weeks to attend the Girl Reserve Conference to be held at Kiskiminetas Springs School, at Saltburg, Pa., August 17 to 24, under the auspices of the Girl Reserve department of the National Y. W. C. A.

Conferences for high school girls from this section of the country have been held every summer for many years, and this particular conference at the beautiful Kiskiminetas School, in the Pennsylvania mountains, offers an unusual opportunity for Burlington County Girl Reserves to enjoy a week of meeting interesting people, hearing stimulating speakers, and exploring with other Girl Reserves the fascinating fields of music, handicraft, worship, and out door life.

All girls interested in attending should apply immediately to Mrs. C. S. Beckwith, of Pemberton, at the number of delegates is limited to four girls besides an advisor or committee member. Expenses for each girl will be very low as the girls will go in the Y. W. C. A. car. Any high school girls interested are urged to apply immediately.

MANY WILL GO ON PARK PILGRIMAGE

Burlington County Folk to Make Trip to Union This Saturday

The Union County Park system will be at the height of its season when members of the Burlington County Parks Council and their friends visit it on Saturday, June 27, according to J. William Pennell, chairman of the council.

With public school sessions over for the summer and extended sea shore and mountain vacations not yet at their height, the Union County system will be in constant use by thousands of both children and grown-ups, the council is advised by W. Richmond Tracy, chief engineer of the system.

Already a large number of citizens have registered to go on the pilgrimage, which is being conducted to illustrate the advantages of county parks and to further the development of a county park system for Burlington County. The county has reached that stage in its development where the Ramoocas, Crosswicks, Pen saukon and other beautiful streams in the county can not be expected to remain their beauty and scenic definiteness are taken to that end, the council states. It points to Westchester, Union, Camden and other counties where it became necessary to acquire at tremendous cost lands that could have been secured a few years earlier at much lower prices. If the public had realized soon enough that they would have to be acquired soon or later, despite high costs these counties have found the parks to be a paying investment.

The Council points out that Burlington County is the only county from the Hudson River to the Delaware River that is not taking definite steps to save its natural beauty and provide recreational areas for its increasing population.

The motorcycle will leave the junction of Routes 25 and 39, near Bordentown, at 8:45 a. m. The Council has extended an invitation to all Burlington countians to be present.

87 GRADUATE AT COMMENCEMENT IN PALMYRA HIGH

Fine Addresses Made by Honor Students of Graduating Class

DR. EDWIN C. BROOME IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Banner Presented to Juniors by Wesley Hemphill, Senior President

Eighty-seven more young men and women have received awards for the completion of four years of training in Palmyra High School. Diplomas were awarded to this number at the commencement exercises held last Thursday night in the High School auditorium.

The graduation ceremonies, from the entrance of the seniors through the several addresses and presentations, musical selections and announcements, until the departure of the graduates from the auditorium, left a deep impression on the assembled parents, teachers and friends of the students.

Following the invocation pronounced by the Rev. Harold L. Cramer, the second honor student of the class, Roy Williams, made the salutatory address, choosing "The American Game" as his topic.

The salutatorian traced the game, baseball, from its beginning, showing the benefits to be derived therefrom, but abundantly pointing out also the disadvantages of playing the game for a living.

The game, if followed as a profession, leaves the player, at the close of his diamond career, almost helpless so far as obtaining other employment is concerned. The mediocre player, after he has passed his prime, is seldom fitted to make a living in any other way. He cited the fact that many of the stars of the game have died poor, although they had been highly paid. The tendency of the professional player is to spend his earnings as fast as they come in, thus leaving him dependent on others as his fame on the ball field dwindles.

On the other hand, baseball, if played as a recreative sport, is unsurpassed as a means of enjoyment. Not only does it act as a health builder, but offers a means of relaxation, which does much to relieve strain on both body and mind.

The salutatory address delivered by Elizabeth C. Hassell, also treated on athletics. Her topic, "The Value of Athletics in Building a Character," showed the multiple benefits which athletics give to the participants of sporting events.

The spirit of courage developed by athletes is a trait which would be of great benefit to them in other enterprises followed throughout life. With this courage comes a feeling of self reliance and initiative which often proves invaluable later on.

School athletics are carried on under supervision of competent college trained coaches, who instill in their proteges a determination to show good sportsmanship, whether the contest in which they engage are won or lost. Co-ordination of both mind and body is developed, a clear thinking brain and smoothly working muscles being a requisite of the inducement in sports.

Loyalty, in following a team, whether it be winner or loser, self denial, in keeping training rules, and leadership are only some of the character traits developed by the athlete.

Dr. Edwin C. Broome, superintendent of the Philadelphia schools, and principal speaker of the evening, advised four things for the graduate to do as he entered the world. He said that much could be accomplished if the graduate would know, think, keep straight and didn't quit.

In knowing, he said, do not try to know a little about everything, but rather specialize in one certain field. Make sure of one thing, then do it. It is the trained man who is looked up to today, the person whose knowledge is respected and whose advice is followed.

Thinking is the foresight of planning. Action without thought must of necessity be haphazard. Therefore to increase the possibility of success in various endeavors, thought must precede action.

The third admonition, is of all the most important, said Dr. Broome. Never was any saying more true than the old adage, "Honesty is the best policy." Two declarations made by Dr. Broome were very instrumental in crystallizing his point. He said that "often placed incompetent men in a public office, but never a dishonest one. He declared a man may come back, although everything is lost, if he has saved his good reputation."

Last of all, he said, don't be a quitter. No one admires a person who gives up. The heroes of the world have been those who have persevered in their attempts to accomplish a certain purpose. He cited Lindbergh, Peary, Byrd, Washington and Lincoln, as great Americans who refused to give up, although at times everything seemed against them.

Several awards were made to the members of the graduating class. Prizes for several of the students were awarded by Prof. C. F. Deinger, Palmyra school supervisor. Freshman English prizes were won by Clarence Hubbs, first, and Henry Naisby, second. A science prize, awarded to the senior who attained the best marks in mathematics and science during the four years, was won by Jesse Coddington. Two scholarships to commercial schools were presented to graduates.

A six month scholarship to Camden Commercial College was awarded to Howard Meyers, while the second scholarship, covering two years' tuition at the Palmer Business School, of Philadelphia, was won by Louise Fisher.

Alumni cups, honoring the seniors who had done the most for high school athletics, were presented by Decker Showell, Alumni president, to Catherine Hinke and Arthur Terrell.

Two awards for the best essays submitted by members of the Senior class were won by William Landgraf and Mary Sanford. These awards were made by the Lions Club, with Joseph F. Yearly, president making the presentations.

The annual award of the Palmyra Parent Teacher Association to the student having attained the highest general average, was made by Frank L. Durnin, Jr. to the class valedictorian, Elizabeth C. Hassell.

The final and most impressive presentation of the evening was that of the Frederick M. Rodgers' Post American Legion of Palmyra, to the Senior boy who was outstanding for his qualities of leadership, personal integrity, interest in athletics, scholarship and popularity. Several members of the Post Rodeo and Drama Corps participated as the Legion members saluted the winner of the award, Robert Kirkpatrick.

Prof. Dender made a short speech, publicly thanking the Palmyra School Board, the Parent Teachers and the friends of the students of all the schools for the fine spirit of co-operation which they had shown. He said the advent of a new supervisor very often caused a spirit of unrest but his assimilation with the people of Palmyra had been very easily accomplished. He also publicly thanked Miss Vera M. Brower, principal of the High School, for her assistance and fine spirit of co-ordination throughout the year. Her assistance and knowledge of school affairs has been invaluable to him and he wished to make a public declaration of his appreciation.

Music was furnished by the High School Orchestra and Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Vera Melrose and Mildred M. Meyer, a member of the graduating class, honored the audience with a piano solo.

Presentation of diplomas was made by Frank L. Durnin, Jr., president of the Board of Education. Following the reading of the diplomas, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Ira S. Pinn.

The members of the class who received the diplomas were:

EUROPE WORSE OFF THAN U. S.

Nicholas Beltz Reports Serious Depression in Foreign Countries

Stories of the bad business conditions existing in Central Europe have not been exaggerated, according to Nicholas Beltz, proprietor of the Palmyra Bowling alleys, who returned from a visit with his parents in Roumania last Saturday.

Although conditions here are bad, Mr. Beltz says the economic depression has been much more severely felt in many of the European countries. Germany is in the worst condition of the Continental nations. Five million of the 65,000,000 inhabitants are unemployed, and are dependent on the government for support. The Federal rulers have been supporting the unemployed for some time and in addition to allowing each unemployed man a certain weekly stipend, also allow the man's children a little for food. With such a large number depending on the government for a living, the federal system finds the prolonged strain on the treasury beginning to have a serious effect.

In Desperate Straits

People of the country are willing that their "Fatherland" should do anything in order to get food or supply the inhabitants with the money to purchase it. They are willing to become citizens of any of the surrounding countries, should those countries take control, if only they may be assured of a living.

The inability of the German manufacturer to find a market for their manufactured articles has been the cause of the need in the country. A condition of almost suffering exists in Austria, Roumania and Hungary. In all the countries there has been a false inflation of the money standard, with a resultant depression and lack of credit.

England and France have been the least affected of the European countries, said Mr. Beltz. The British firms have had sufficient backing to enable them to build factories in the other countries and they find that shipping the finished product to England is cheaper than transporting the raw material to the British Isles and manufacturing it there.

Pay in Gold

This is due partly to the cheapness of labor in central Europe and partly to the fact that English concerns are able to pay the workmen, both mill hands and farmers in gold coin. Having the actual gold, and using the raw materials to be bought more cheaply than the manufacturers of the country in question could buy on credit.

Mr. Beltz believes the present monetary move of President Hoover's will do some good to the afflicted Germans but also says the period of recovery for the German treasury and industries will be prolonged for a much longer period than the one-year period suggested.

In a somewhat lighter frame of mind, Mr. Beltz told of the only bowling alleys he had seen on the trip. The alleys in question were found in Munich, and had concrete runways, and wooden bowling balls. Although the alley surrounding job was simplified, the use of the concrete alleys was extremely hard on the balls. He said the construction of alleys such as are found in America would cost a small fortune, with very little chance of such an expensive enterprise ever realizing a profit.

BIG CELEBRATION FOR JULY FOURTH

Punch and Judy Show at 11:30 A. M. to be Added Attraction

An added attraction to Palmyra's Fourth of July celebration will be a Punch and Judy Show for children, to be held in the Grove at 11:30 a. m. immediately following the parade.

The children's parade, which will form at the West Boulevard at 10:30 a. m., will be the biggest feature of the day's program. Large cash awards will be made to the participants in the procession.

The awards will be made only to boys and girls who are residents of Palmyra.

The line of march is as follows: from West Boulevard east on Broad street to Morgan avenue, conforming to the Municipalities' plan. Those who do not care to compete for prizes are asked to join the ranks and help swell the crowd.

Awards will be made in the Grove immediately following the parade.

The Lyric Band, of Camden, will render an all day concert. Those who have heard the band on previous occasions need not be told of the excellent music one may expect to hear.

In the afternoon there will be a citizens parade to Memorial Park, Riverton, to participate in exercises and dedication of the park. It is hoped the Palmyra people will see fit to join the line of march and make this an elaborate celebration.

After the dedication exercises games will be played in Palmyra. There will be races for the young and old alike. It is hoped that all ages will take part in this fun fest.

From four until six o'clock in the afternoon ladies are urged to compete for prizes on Maple View and the Little Giant golf courses. There will be a golf tournament for men on the V. M. C. A. grounds.

Dancing to be held in the P. O. S. of A. Hall in the evening has been planned by the committee. The day's program will be concluded by an excellent display of fireworks.

The members of the Fourth of July committee will hold their last regular meeting in the Palmyra police headquarters Monday. All are urged to be present, as final arrangements will be made at that time.

PLAYGROUND TO OPEN JULY 6TH

Elaborate Plans Being Made to Make Recreation Center a Success

Clinton B. Gardner, a member of the Palmyra High School faculty, is making elaborate plans for the playground for Palmyra kiddies, which is to be opened at the Delaware avenue school on Monday, July 6, at 9:00 a. m., and each week day thereafter for the remainder of the summer. This recreation center is being sponsored by the Palmyra Board of Education. DeWitt Morris, chairman of the athletic committee of the board is also devoting much of his time in an effort to make the undertaking a success.

Parents need have no fear for the safety of their children, as they will at all times be under the supervision of Mr. Gardner.

Parents are urged, both by Mr. Gardner and the members of the Board of Education, to send their children to this excellent playground, where they may learn the elements of good citizenship in play. It will also teach them co-operation, and good sportsmanship.

It is Mr. Gardner's purpose to provide suitable games for children from four to 12 years of age. Games which require the use of the brain, as well as the body, and short, snappy games will make up the program.

Some new equipment will be added to that which is already on the playground.

The 10,000 posts of The American Legion have been requested by the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, through departments, to aid in the American Red Cross campaign to raise money for drought sufferers. Many responses show posts are placing their facilities at the service of the Red Cross in this endeavor.

Why You Should Have Your Floors Lacquered

The finish will last four to five times as long as shellac, and about twice as long as varnish.

UNEASY LIES THE HEAD

During the past twelve years the general attitude toward the Presidency of the United States has suffered a change which, if continued, will eventually affect the quality of man willing to undertake the leadership of the country.

Until the second term of President Wilson most presidents had been immune to personal attack. The presidency stood for something which should not be destroyed. It was like the flag, the symbol of Government. The office was to be respected and held aloof from disarrangement.

Mary Roberts Rinehart calls attention to the fact that this immunity of the office ceased with President Wilson. She writes forcibly and fearlessly regarding the resultant situation.

"The new use of a President as a whipping boy by his political enemies is dangerous," she asserts. "Deliberate attempts are made to ruin him, merely that his party may be destroyed with him. Why is this dangerous? Because respect for the presidential office is a part of the respect for all Government, and when a hostile Senate plus an inflammatory portion of the press deliberately belittles the one, it undermines the other."

No President goes into office to destroy the country. Practical politics, personal ambition, and idealism alike dictate that he shall give the nation the best that is in him. He may appeal to the popular mind or he may not. Probably not, for there is no time in the office today for showmanship.

The presidential job, under the most favorable conditions, is a burden few men have the temperament and physique to stand without breaking. At its worst it is a man-killing position, stultifying to pride as well as to effort, and increasingly difficult to administer.

Perhaps it needs reorganizing. As things are, it will be difficult as time goes on to secure men physically and mentally able to carry it. Certainly it needs whole-hearted public support, and there should surely be a restoration of the dignity of the office and its immunity from attack.

RISKS

The first reaction of everyone who reads about the accident to the submarine "Nautilus" which disabled it while it was cruising on the surface from America to England, was how fortunate it was that this did not occur while the ship was under the Arctic ice.

Perhaps Sir Hubert Wilkins and his crew are not proposing to take any more serious risks than did many of the pioneer aviators. In the case of flying it was fairly easy for anyone, however, to recognize the value of these early experiments if they should prove successful. It is difficult to see any possible value to humanity, or importance to science, in the effort to reach the North Pole by a submarine boat.

It looks, to any impartial observer, as if human life were being risked merely to provide thrills, just as a circus performer provides them.

RADIODYNAMICS

That is the word coined by John Hays, of New York, and now accepted by the patent office and Congress, to mean the control of energy at a distance by means of radio.

Hammond began to experiment with radiodynamics when he was a student at Yale in 1909. He invented a method of controlling the surface of the water and a torpedo under the surface by radio impulses, as well as steering an airplane over a long course without a pilot on board.

This is something quite different from transmitting power by radio. Only enough power can be transmitted to set a piece of machinery in motion or stop it. The machinery must have its own independent power plant. The day may come when actual power can be sent through wires, but that is a long way in the future.

SPORTS

Interest in collegiate football is declining, the Carnegie Foundation reports for the Advancement of Teaching.

There is a very decided difference between sports participated in by students for the benefit of the student body, and the professional nature of their health and the indulging of their morale, and sports undertaken as a means of advertising particular colleges or of making money.

It is suggested that all intercollegiate sporting contests should be abolished, but it is certainly true that public interest in them is declining, and it is probable that they will play a less important part in college life in the future than in the past.

PIGEONS

A blue homing pigeon flew 504 1/2 miles from Salisbury, N. C., to New York City, in 13 hours, 11 minutes and 51 seconds the other day. This was not quite a record for the 500 mile annual pigeon race, but it comes very close to it.

A large part of a homing pigeon's time in flying long distances, however, is taken up in the bird's questing, or circling at high altitudes to find landmarks to guide it back to its home loft. There is no longer any great mystery about how the homing pigeon finds its way back to its home nest. The bird has no mysterious sixth sense or homing instinct. It cannot find its way home at night or in a dense fog or conditions of low visibility. Like almost all birds, however, it has telescopic powers of vision beyond anything which human beings can easily imagine, according to Dr. Casey Wood, famous oculist, who has devoted many years to the study of the eyes of birds. The homing pigeon memorizes landmarks near its home loft, and, as it is given longer and longer flight trials, it learns the lay of the land at greater distances, until it knows the country so well that, when liberated within 500 miles from home on a clear day, it can see some remembered landmark in the direction of its home.

ROCKETS

Prof. Robert H. Goddard, of Clark University, who has been experimenting with and talking about propelling aircraft by means of rockets, has taken out a patent on a rocket-propelled airplane. The plane is expected to rise from the ground like any other plane, its propellers being turned by a turbine engine, for which the gas from a succession of rockets will furnish the motive power. When it gets into the rarified upper atmosphere the engine will be cut off and the propulsive force will be that of the rockets themselves.

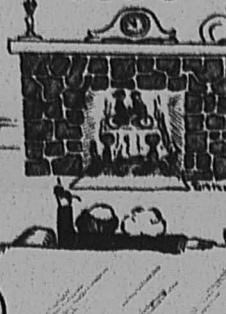

Prof. Goddard is no idle visionary. Just what he has got in his desert laboratory in New Mexico he is not telling the world as yet, but if anyone in this country is going to succeed in flying by means of rockets Prof. Goddard will probably be the first.

Private passenger cars involved in accidents have increased 37 per cent although registrations have gone up only about 14 per cent in the last three years in one survey area. Trucks, in spite of the 19 per cent advance in registration, were involved in accidents less frequently than in 1927. Taxis and buses also showed declines. In 1929 private passenger cars were involved in 78 per cent of all fatal and non-fatal accidents as compared with 67 per cent of fatal and 71 per cent of the non-fatal accidents reported in 1927.

Walter, the little son of Frank Stotick, met with a painful accident last Friday which cost him a toe. He was jumping on an ice wagon and slipped, both feet going under the heavy wheels. One toe was cut off completely and another badly crushed.

Last Wednesday a serious fire was narrowly averted at the home of William Lloyd on Elm avenue. His 10-year-old daughter Ella, stepped on a match the head of which ignited and flew off, setting fire to a lounge. Fortunately Mr. Lloyd was working in the garden and immediately ran into the house and threw the burning piece of furniture into the yard. In so doing he fell and hurt his arm quite badly.

The Wilmington Steamship company, operating between Trenton and Philadelphia, announces that it will dredge the Delaware river channel between Trenton and Philadelphia at a cost of $25,000. The channel has rapidly been filling up of logs and the bottoms of the boats often scrape the river bed. Under this condition no speed can be reached. Two dredges will be put in operation. The deepening of the channel is expected to lessen the running time a half hour each way.

TRENTON NEWS LETTER

The most candid and eloquent reports of the progress of the Republican campaign for Governor come day by day into headquarters, indicating widespread interest in the contest and a determination upon the part of leaders and workers in all the counties to put forth their best efforts to make victory big and impressive. The reports also disclose the fact that there is to be little let-down of the interest during the summer, for plans are being made for numerous events which will bring the voters together to hear the issues intelligently discussed.

There is some indication that the Democrats will endeavor to target personalities into the fight, but former Senator David Baird, Jr., Republican nominee, will have none of that kind of campaigning in his program. He has in use for those who are unable to mark the difference between serious business and the petty bickering of political opponents. Indeed, those who are the more familiar with Mr. Baird and have had opportunity to measure his character and qualities very well know that it would be quite impossible for him to use the tactics of the ward heeler in conducting a campaign for such an important office as Governor involving so much of a vital nature to the people as a whole.

Ever since Mr. Baird entered political circles and took upon him the obligations he felt were his he has shown a high ideal of service. In all his relations with those who have become his loyal and enthusiastic followers, he has made it very plain that he cannot countenance dishonesty or double dealing. Those who have trusted him have learned that he is a square shooter, saying just what he means and acting in a straightforward manner in all his movements.

That, indeed, is just what raised him to the leadership he has accepted with such marked distinction. That he was at least selected to make the canvass for Governor was none of his choosing; he would have preferred it if it were known among his close friends, to remain along the coaching lines for the team play that is so essential this year.

Having been induced to make the race, however, he is putting into it all the energy, vim and intelligence of which he is capable. That means much for the Republicans since it shows to what extent their leader is willing to assume more than his share of the burden of the fray.

Now, all hands are pushing for ward with an enthusiasm seldom known in recent years. In his speech of introduction of Mr. Baird at the recent state convention, U. S. Senator Dwight W. Morrow emphasized the fact that the candidate would never tolerate dishonesty and that trait has been one of the strong points of his character. Fancy, then, what it may mean to the government of New Jersey and the taxpayers who support that government. It will bring about, no doubt, a great and beneficial change in the systems of doing business and the establishment of many economies which will ultimately effect a refreshing reduction in taxes.

That will be one of the foremost talking points of the campaign and no man is better equipped to discuss it from a business standpoint than the Republican candidate. What have the Democrats to offer in this respect? Certainly nothing from the records to show that they have been interested in the affairs of the taxpayers when they were in command of the state government. Certainly nothing in the career of their candidate for Governor to indicate any desire or purpose to effect beneficial changes in the administration.

He was formerly a member of the Board of Commissioners of Jersey City, of which his sponsor and boss was the head as Mayor, but there has come forth no tangible evidence of any plan or purpose of that body to effect reforms in the interest of taxpayers in that big municipality.

Hague has been supreme master of the situation there for years and has been able to dictate plans and policies, but the Case-McAllister Committee from the Legislature learned nothing of the great wealth he is

WAY OF LIFE

BY BRUCE BARTON

Spotlights

I went to see Frank Craven's play "That's Gratitude." After the show Mrs. Craven and Grandfather Rice took me up to Frank's apartment. Other friends dropped in, and presently Frank himself arrived—gentle, whimsical, modest, totally unspooled.

Seeing him in his own home made it easier to understand his success. Everything was simple and old-fashioned and sincere. When he writes a play he just picks a situation out of an ordinary American home, and then he walks on the stage and is home.

On the way home another thought struck me. He is the author of the play, and his name is printed on the program and written in front of the theatre in electric lights.

Yet it is a play without a star. At least five other characters are on the stage no more than they are, and they are given just as many good lines.

He might have written the piece so as to monopolize the spotlight, and it might have been a success or it might have been a flop. But being the sort of chap he is, he is content to be in the background and good share of the time. His royal ties will reward his good sense.

Years ago Cameron McWensie wrote a short story entitled, "The Man Who Was It." The story told about a business that had been making good profits for many years. The president took life very easy. He played golf, traveled in Europe, and let the boys assume responsibility. After his death a young and very efficient executive was brought in, who decided that everything needed tightening up. When the purchasing agent was about to sign a big contract, the new boss jumped into the negotiations himself. When the sales manager had a large order to close, the boss said: "I'll pack my bag and go with you." When the production manager made plans for rearranging the plant, the boss revised his plans. He worked about twenty hours a day, and was always criticizing his predecessor who had seemed to work so little.

The result was that his associates, being robbed of both responsibility and credit, lay back and let him do it. He worked himself into a nervous breakdown, and the business went on the rocks.

I am told that the Jesuits had this motto: "A great deal of good can be done in the world if one is not too careful who gets the credit."

Wise leaders recognize this golden principle and profit by it. The foolish hog the spotlight, and frequently go to smash.

YOU, YOUR CAR AND THE MOTOR LAWS

World's Greatest Motor Vehicle

52 ACCIDENTS

Illustrating facts on the motor vehicle accident situation are made available by the exceedingly painstaking survey just completed by the National Safety Council.

Motor vehicle accidents resulted in 33,000 deaths in the United States during 1930, an increase of nearly six per cent over the 1929 total of 31,215. There is a ratio of about 35 non-fatal injuries to each fatality. As a rough approximation it can be said that there are 1,000,000 non-fatal motor vehicle injuries each year.

There are, of course, many accidents causing no injury, but considerable property damage. Taking account of both injury and property damage, the first National Conference on Street and Highway Safety estimated about $500,000,000 as the cost of motor vehicle accidents in 1929. This means a cost of $900,000,000 for 1930, a figure quite well substantiated by recent independent investigations.

Deaths Decreasing While the population rate has gone steadily upward, primary accidents, excluding collisions with heavier vehicles and motorcycle accidents, and total motor vehicle accidents have not advanced equally. The rate for primary accidents has increased approximately 140 per cent from 1920 to 1930, whereas the total motor vehicle rate has increased only about 127 per cent. This is indicative of the improvement that has occurred in the collisions of automobiles with heavier vehicles. Deaths from collisions with trains or street cars, which during most of this period have been running about 10 per cent of the total, were less than eight per cent in 1930. These deaths are decreasing in number as well as in proportion to the total. From 1920 to 1930 there was a decrease of about 400.

The fatality rate in the United States is far higher than elsewhere. Our increase of 13 per 100,000 population from 1927 to 1928, however, was exceeded by an increase of 27 in New Zealand, 21 in Canada, 16 in England and Wales, and 14 in Germany.

There have been important variations in the types of accidents. The most important element in the decline of accidents where heavier vehicles are involved is the railroad train. Interstate Commerce Commission figures indicate a decrease from 2,102 motor vehicle grade crossing accidents in 1929 to 1,708 in 1930, about 19 per cent. Collisions of automobiles with street cars have increased less than 20 per cent since 1924, during which time automobile fatalities in general have increased approximately 75 per cent.

Important changes have occurred in the age distribution of those killed and injured in motor vehicle accidents: Child and adult experience has moved in opposite directions in one area covered by the survey. G. K. Chesterton tells a good story of the great Catholic hymn writer, Frederick W. Faber, author of "Hark, My Soul," "Faith of Our Fathers," etc.

In his last illness, after he had received extreme unction, and composed his mind for death, he asked the physician how long he had to live, and the answer was, "About an hour."

Whereupon, he said to a friend, "Then you can read me another chapter of Dickens, to which he listened with delight."

The Golden text is: "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee" (Isaiah 60:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus said and said: He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me. I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness" (John 12:44).

The Lesson Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christianity as Jesus taught it was not a creed, nor a system of ceremonies, nor a special gift from a ritualistic Jehovah; but it was the demonstration of divine Love casting out error and healing the sick, not merely in the name of Christ, or Truth, but in demonstration of Truth, as must be the case in the cycles of divine light" (p. 135).

GARDEN-SCIENCE

FERNS FOR SHADY AREAS

By A. C. McLEAN

(N. J. Agr. Extension Service)

The gardener who is seeking plants for the shady, north side of his home can seldom do better than to plant one or more varieties of the shade-loving ferns. The beauty and value of these plants is not fully appreciated in America, yet in Europe they enjoy great popularity. One nurseryman, for example, finds it necessary to list more than 150 varieties for outdoor cultivation.

The Christmas fern, Cinnamon fern, Royal fern, and one or more varieties of the wood fern are among those that grow well in shady locations. The Christmas fern and varieties of the wood fern are rather low, close growing plants that thrive in dense shade. They require liberal amounts of humus in the soil and they do best in the leaf mold that so often is their natural growing medium. These ferns are usually found on moist, fairly high ground that is densely shaded.

The Christmas fern, a pretty semi-evergreen, is largely used by florists in making up sprays and baskets. Wood ferns make a beautiful growth in summer but they die back to the ground in winter. These ferns thrive on high, well-drained soil, in semi-shade, provided the soil is moist. They make their best growth in acid soils containing large amounts of humus.

Both the Christmas and Royal ferns are large, tall growing varieties that usually are found in swampy locations. They are probably the easiest to cultivate of all native ferns, and they will grow on high ground provided there is a liberal supply of moisture in the soil. The Cinnamon and Royal ferns are probably the best of such plants for evening bare areas on the north side of a dwelling. This is because they grow well in either dense or partial shade.

GLADIOLUS FOR FALL SHOWS

By W. RAYMOND STONE

(N. J. Agr. Extension Service)

The gladiolus reaches its height of bloom during August. At that time most home gardeners have a profusion of bloom which would add to the beauty of any garden show. In September, when most local garden shows are held, there are very few of these popular summer blooming flowers left in the garden. Yet it is possible to retard the bloom until these shows are held if the planting of corms is delayed until late June.

Select or purchase large, plump corms. Plant them 12 to 15 inches apart in a soil of good tilth. Then, if you really want to win some blue ribbons, mix a forkful of compost or well rotted manure in the soil where the bulbs are to be planted. Plant the corms 3 or 4 inches deep. When the tips of the shoots poke through the ground, apply 2 or 3 heaping tablespoons of a 5-8-5 commercial fertilizer on top of the soil surrounding each bulb. Spread it to cover a circle of about 6 inches. Then take it in. Bamboo or similar light garden stakes 3 to 5 feet in length help support gladioli and keep long spikes straight.

There is a wide divergence of opinion among exhibitors and judges concerning the relative merits of gladioli varieties. However, the following varieties, if well grown, are invariably among blue ribbon winners in local New Jersey shows: pink Catherine Coleman, pink Perfection, Mrs. Leon Douglas, W. H. Phipps, and Giant Nymph; yellow-Golden Meander, and Gold; purple-Anna Eberlus; red-Dr. F. E. Bennett, Crimson Glow, Scarlet Wonder, and Pythia; lavender-Mrs. F. C. Peters, Louise, and Byron L. Smith; white-Albino, Helen Wells, and Carmen Sylvia; dark red or maroon-Purple Glory.

WARNS OF ANTHRACNOSE ON SYCAMORES AND OAKS

By R. P. WHITE

(N. J. Agr. Extension Station)

Anthracnose, a fungous disease of sycamore and oak trees, is now becoming severe as a result of the continued rains of the last few weeks. The spores of the fungus which cause this disease overwinter on the buds and twigs, as well as on the fallen leaves that were infected last year. With continued wet weather, conditions are ideal for these spores to germinate and cause infection on the newly formed leaves on this season's growth.

It is well to know the symptoms of anthracnose. On infected trees, the tips of twigs and the leaves attached to them, as well as leaf clusters in the center of the tree, may be entirely killed. Infected parts are a light chocolate brown in color and appear scorched. On many of the older and less severely affected leaves, brown areas develop between the veins of the leaves, and extend out into the leaf blade for varying distances are evident. If rainy weather continues, this infection of sycamores and oaks, as well as similar troubles of many other shade trees, will seriously mar the beauty of the infected trees.

Much can be done to prevent serious injury. Infected shade trees of considerable value should be thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture. This spray will, to a large extent, prevent further injury, but another application may be necessary at a later date. Next winter, or early next spring all dead wood should be pruned out and the tree sprayed with a solution

PLANE TALKS

By L. H. H. LONGAKER

Founder, Burlington County Aero Club

Saturday and Sunday, July 4 and 5, will be big days at the Moorestown Airport of the Burlington County Aero Club. The Popular "cent per pound" flights will be in force and parachute jumps will be made both days by "Daredevil" Bud Rafter.

The Kellett Aircraft Corporation at the Philadelphia Airport has been given an approved type certificate by the Department of Commerce and is being put into production. Of the first ten ships now being built one has already been sold to an Atlantic City pilot company.

There is a hot weather tip for you! Last Saturday afternoon Joe Tatum of Haddonfield, accompanied by Mrs. Tatum, clad in bathing suits, drove over to the Moorestown Airport, strapped on their parachutes and took off in their "Waco" P for Wildwood. After a thrilling dip in the ocean they flew back to Moorestown.

There are now eighty-two regularly scheduled passenger and mail planes landing at Central Airport every day. In order to accommodate the greatly increased air traffic the taxi aprons are being widened to 150 feet.

Last Sunday "Jim" Erdman, chief pilot of the Burlington County Aero Club entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rait of Wilkes Barre, Pa. Their son, Lieut. Harold B. Rait, is quite a friend of Jim. Lieut. Rait is now in the Panama Canal Zone with the U. S. Air Corps.

The last of the 73 B-3 bombers being built by the Keystone Aircraft Corporation of Bristol will be delivered to the Air Corps this week. Work has been started on the new contract for 64 more of these bombers. The Keystone Corporation is also working on two orders of flying boats and amphibians for the Navy.

The reason the movies are displacing the legitimate stage is that the movie actors can play in a hundred different cities at the same time but they have to be fed only in Hollywood. And they travel in tin cans instead of drawing rooms.

A solution consisting of 1 part of concentrated lime-sulfur to 9 parts of water. In treating large trees, which usually are more severely infected, it is advisable to have the services of a tree specialist.

What pictures and happy memories flash before the minds of the fellows who have camped at Ockanickon, as they look forward to this summer? Three camping areas. Beautiful bodies of water. Two large lakes and numerous smaller ones. Boating. Canoeing. Fishing. Horse swimming. Sandy, gradually sloping beaches. Raft. Diving tower. Red Cross Life Saving work. Nature trails to explore. Craft shop. Fun building boat models. Art. Concrete work. Leather craft. Hammered iron work. Woodwork. Silver work. Basketry. "Store is open." Athletics. Ping Pong. Library. Two-light campus games. Volley ball. Tennis. Council flag. Ceremonies. Evening camping programs. Entertainment at the "Bow." Stunt night. Overnight lakes. Adventure dark lantern on top of "Mound." Evening devotions. Taps. Whippoorwill. Sleep in tents or cabins, or out under the stars. Oh, Boy. Wish it were camping time now! Anyhow, plan how to come.

New 1931 Features
This summer interest in archery will flourish. The new Log Lodge is ready for use as Nature Study Headquarters. Sixteen horses will be available for the use of campers at very reasonable rates, with a seasoned equestrian in charge. Leather work, silver work, basketry, and making bows and arrows will be new.

Three Distinct Age Groups
Ockanickon has three age divisions of campers, each with its own special Head Director. In addition to individual cabin or tent counselors, each division occupies its own separate area. The divisions are: Juniors, 9-11; Middle, 12-14; Seniors, 15-17.

The Men in Charge
The General Camp Director is Secretary Ross S. Muselman, of the Gloucester County YMCA, popularly known as "Chief." The YMCA's of Burlington, Camden and Monmouth counties also provide secretaries for various responsibilities. Others, mostly teachers and college men, have charge of such departments as commissary, business, nature study, music, crafts, religious programs, evening entertainments, health, overnight hikes, horses.

Ownership and Location
Ownership of YMCA Camp Ockanickon is vested in an incorporated Board of Trustees of the County YMCA's of Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Monmouth counties, Medford, New Jersey, is the Camp Post Office.

The entrance to the Camp property is some three and one-half miles south of Medford, down the Indian Mills Road. A large entrance sign on the left-hand side, about a mile south of the Medford Lakes Log Cabin Lodge, directs one where to "turn left." Headquarters is about a half-mile in from the main road.

This Camp was organized in 1906, twenty-five years ago this summer. The 1931 season will be the sixth at the Camp's own beautiful 530 acre site. The spaciousness of Ockanickon's "Acres for Character" makes it easily possible for each of the three Camps to have plenty of room for their own programs and fun.

Camping Dates
The 1931 boys' camp will be eight weeks in length, commencing Wednesday, June 17, and closing August 12.

Cost
The cost at YMCA Camp Ockanickon, to boys residing in the southern New Jersey counties, organized for YMCA work (Burlington, Camden, Gloucester, Monmouth-Ocean) is $10 a week. At the time of enrolling, a fee of $100 is payable for each week for which a camper signs up, which is deducted from the $10 weekly rate. It should be borne in mind that $10 a week covers not only "cots," but the privilege of participating in the various interest and craft groups, instruction in swimming

This Week in WASHINGTON
BY RADFORD MOBLEY
AUTOCASTER WASHINGTON BUREAU

President Hoover's trip West for the purpose of addressing the Republican editors of Indiana and making a speech at the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial at Springfield, Ill., is being taken by observers here as a preliminary entry to the active work of the presidential campaign next year. Denials that he had any such motive were issued from the White House days before he made the trip, but they were taken here as routine denials.

The facts are that voters are looking further into the future than they have ever done, except perhaps in the days when Bryan was expounding his free silver doctrine three years before he was nominated to run against McKinley in 1896. The same reason for public interest in the national election existed then as now, general depression, both in this and other countries. Voters looked to a political Moses to lead them out of their troubles. Bryan's plan appealed immensely to almost half the voters and he nearly won the election.

There is no question but that Republican leaders realize that the attempts being made by the Democrats right now to blame the country's troubles on the O. C. P. must be answered often and early and Hoover's short swing into states that have been flirting outrageously with his political enemies can have but one real purpose; much as he may attempt to disguise it by speaking on other topics.

Franklin Roosevelt is also lining up his forces, his recent visit to Col. House, which resulted in his gaining the public support of Mayor Curley of Boston and other Bay State politicians who previously had shown a strong liking for Owen D. Young, showing he is intensely at work. Roosevelt is an astute campaigner and his relationship to Theodore Roosevelt will gain him many votes from Republicans, his supporters claim. That he is not overlooking that angle was demonstrated by Mayor Curley's remark that "it was time we had another Roosevelt in the White House."

Older people who have lived through several other panics will not be swayed by the old "dinner pail" promises, as they have learned that prosperity does not depend upon which party rules but only on the natural laws of supply and demand. By this time next year nearly everybody expects the country to be enthusiastically on the upgrade and the entire political complexion may return to the flat uninteresting campaigns of former years when the main slogan was "don't rock the boat."

Vincent B. Phelan, of the Department of Commerce, has compiled a book covering the subject of repairs to the home. It is designed to inspire home-owners out of work to fix up their homes during the enforced idleness, or to induce others to give work to the unemployed at a time when they need help the most. The book covers such subjects as bureau drawers that stick, floors that squeak, door keys that do not fit, repairing the door bell, eliminating the thumping noise in faucets, insulating the attic, preventing the frosting of window panes and painting inside and outside. Making the repairs now is urged as a measure of economy.

The Government has issued a booklet on "Problems of Wholesale Dry Goods Distribution" that shows that home dressmaking is going out of fashion. More ready-made garments are being worn by women all over the country, the report shows, with the result that the fair sex is better dressed now than ever before. One trouble with the business of selling ready-made garments is that styles disappear so fast that manufacturers have difficulty in avoiding heavy losses. Piece goods are becoming a

Incidentally, another survey uncovered the fact that hosiery sales are greater than those of any other merchandise carried by department stores. Their sales approximate five per cent of the grand total for all lines. Men's socks run about one-fifth of the total for hosiery, children's hose accounting for less than one per cent.

That chain stores are not running the independent storekeepers out of business is shown by a study made of the census by a Federal Bureau here, which gives the chains only around 17 per cent of the total business. The figures are drawn from a survey of 489 cities over 10,000 population. Analyzing the figures, it was shown that the chains did less business in the smallest cities, gaining as the cities became larger until in Chicago and Los Angeles they accounted for nearly twenty per cent. Even these figures do not reflect the actual situation as it exists for the small store, the survey shows, as filling stations and other lines not reckoned as shopkeeping are included in the chain totals.

Housewives are cautioned by the National Library here to go carefully through any old trunks they may have in the attic and see if they cannot unearth some historically important documents. Dr. Herbert Putnam, the and life saving, use of the Nature Study Cabin and of the carpenter shop and woodcraft room, books and canoes, as well as medical attention by the resident Camp Doctor.

An additional charge is made for materials which are used in the various elective craft enterprises around Camp. These can be purchased reasonably, either at the Camp Store or from the instructor. Such materials include leather, tools, archery supplies, iron for bridge lamps, lumber for various articles made in the carpenter shop, silver, steel, etc.

The cost for boys other than from the above mentioned counties will be $12.00 a week, with the registration fee deducted from this amount. At the time each boy registers they are requested to send $3.00 for each week they enroll with their application.

Instructions for Enrolling
The enrollment is on this page. Read the regulations governing enrollment. Fill out, have it signed, and mail, with required registration fee, to Chas. C. Hendrix, Secretary, Burlington County, YMCA, Mount Holly, N. J.

Two-Week Enrollments
The 1931 Camping Season is divided into four two-week sections.
Section One: June 17-July 1
Section Two: July 1-July 15
Section Three: July 15-July 29
Section Four: July 29-Aug. 12
Fellows should plan to enroll for at least one section, namely, two weeks. Many boys will want to come for four, six and eight weeks, and what a summer it will be for them! Of course, there are some who can come only for one week. They should come one of the first two weeks, and indicate that they will arrive either June 17 or 24.

What Fellows Think of Camp Ockanickon
A Beverly Camper: "Camp Ockanickon was full of fun. I first learned what true friendship and clean sportsmanship meant. I did my first swimming there and it was there that I responded to my first challenge to live in the 'deans' way.'"

A Freehold Camper: "I went to Ockanickon the first year because the gang was going. After that I went as often as I could because I wanted to go there more than any other place."

A Fellow's Daily Program at Camp
"I can't get 'em up." "Setting up" exercises. Breakfast at "Ockanick Inn." Morning devotions. Poling. Interest groups, such as camp craft, nature study, construction projects, morning swim, instruction class. If you're a beginner or can't swim, preparation of your bunk or cot and camp "home" for inspection. Get ready for personal inspection and dinner. Right after the mid-day meal the store is open. Then come all sorts of things to do, baseball, volleyball, tennis, track, workshop projects, nature study observations and collections, quiet games with two or three of your friends, reading, boating, fishing, hikes, ping pong, etc. Afternoon swim, short rest period and then supper. Store again. During twilight hours campus games, boating, spearing the "sturgeon" contests, match volleyball games, preparation for evening entertainment. Then picture such evening entertainment features as these: Songs and story-telling at the "Bow," campfire programs for the different Camps, stunt night by ten groups, a visiting speaker or orchestra or entertainment, movies. Finally comes the call to quarters, evening devotions by the various tent groups, sleep. Each new day brings its suggestions of new things to do, new friends to make, old friendships to strengthen. There are discoveries to be made all about in the world of nature, new things you want to learn to do. If you've been at Ockanickon, how it all comes back to you. If you've never been camping there begin now to make your plans. You'll have the time of your young life."

MAIN STREET LOOKS AT BROADWAY BY ERNEST CAMP JR.

NEW YORK LIFE

Old New Yorkers never get tired of watching the unending and varied panorama of the life that flows through the big city's streets. In one block the other day we passed a cripple with both legs entirely gone and a few feet further on encountered a man of stills.

The latter stood ten feet tall and halted right in the stream of traffic to read his paper, just as casually as the man on a corner in a village. Of course, a big sign on his coatbills told where to buy your clothes.

IMITATION FAKIR
Another funny sight often seen here is the brother of Isadora Duncan, the dancer, who belongs to a cult, the founded which advocated loose dressing. He parades around here in what looks like a cotton bathrobe. His bare legs and unkempt locks hardly win more than a casual extra glance from the shop girls. The town is nearly shook proof as far as eccentricities of dress are concerned.

A HAZARDOUS OCCUPATION
Window washing is one of the most dangerous of all the jobs of modern existence. It is superlatively healthy, like a drink of milk fresh from a cow, but, again like the milk, good only to the last drop.

There is a higher percentage of fatalities among window cleaners than in any other common calling, and yet there are always plenty of applicants for the job. Climbing thousand feet above Broadway does not phase men who have built up to it by working on three and six story levels.

A SICKER
As the window cleaners work on percentage it is to their advantage to work as fast as possible. Recently one of the companies took on a new man who admitted he knew nothing about the work. He was shown how to make one swipe with the chamois do, in place of the scrubbing the average housewife gives the glass, and then sent out alone on the job.

Right away he began to turn in signed tickets showing he was working a third faster than their best man had done up to then. An inspection of his completed work showed his windows were beautifully cleaned and everybody was satisfied. Finally there came a kick.

"Please don't send that big man around here to clean our windows," the letter read. "He gives us all heart disease climbing on the sills twenty stories up without using the safety belt and it makes us too nervous to watch him."

And to the secret was learned. He refused to wear the belt because it slowed him up. Come to find out, he used to be a sailor on a deep sea whaler and he had an insatiable food, meat nothing to him. He was tired.

CHAMONIS KINGS
Ten thousand a year is a comfortable income, even in New York, although one can't go very far on that. Still it's a lot of money to make out of weathering windows. There are probably a dozen men here who make that much and more by supplying men to wash the chamois for you. The business is on a substantial basis, and its workers have their own union and everything.

$168,350 TO FIX OLD BUILDING

Riverton School Board Considers Revised Plans; Would Buy More Playground

At a meeting of the Riverton Board of Education, Monday night, Stanley Stewart, architect for the new school, presented a revised set of plans contemplating changes in the present school building to meet specifications outlined by E. N. Cooper, supervising principal.

The plans included 16 class rooms, a kindergarten room and rooms for home economics, manual training, a library, a gymnasium and auditorium combined, necessary administrative offices including one for the physical director.

The estimated cost was placed at $168,350, with $12,000 additional for furniture and equipment.

These figures do not include the purchase of additional land for playground, and the board passed a resolution to ascertain the cost of adjacent property which might be purchased for this purpose.

Would Close Howard Street

In presenting the matter to the board, Mrs. Clifton P. Mayfield, president, stated that after the visit of the committee of citizens at the last meeting of the board there seemed to be nothing to do but to get the cost of remodeling the present building and buying additional ground adjacent to the school.

She suggested that the three properties on Howard street opposite the school might be purchased for a playground and the town officials asked to close Howard street between Fourth and Fifth while school was in session.

The resolution, however, included getting prices on the property in the block bounded by Fourth, Howard, and Cinnaminson streets to the rear of the school building.

The committee which is to secure these prices, was also named.

The education committee recommended the employment of John E. Hank, Reading, Pa., to take the place of Mrs. Gladys Bowers, resigned.

The appointment was confirmed.

Salary Increase

This committee also recommended the appointment of Miss Caroline M. Starn as assistant principal at an increase of $50 a year in salary, and a $50 increase to Miss Gladys Bowers.

Both recommendations were acted upon favorably.

The resignation of H. K. Rutherford as member of the board, tendered at the last meeting, accepted with regret.

The township board of education declining to agree to send their seventh, eighth, and ninth grade pupils to a proposed Junior High School in Riverton was received and ordered acknowledged and filed.

School Calendar Adopted

After some discussion in which several members of the board desired to defer the opening of school in the fall until September 14, the following calendar for the school year was adopted:

PALMYRA COP BREAKS LEG AS CYCLE SPILLS

Compound Fracture Results After Machine Upsets Early Memorial Day Morning

William Stack, a member of the Palmyra police department, faces several weeks' stay in the hospital following accident early Memorial Day morning.

While patrolling Cinnaminson avenue on his motorcycle, Stack ran into a pile of building material which had been left by a contractor in front of Herbert Trout's home.

Marys George N. Wimer, of Palmyra, and Howard M. Rogers, of Riverton, together with other local officials of the two towns were participants in the celebration.

Professor C. F. Deppeler, supervising principal of the Palmyra schools, was the main speaker at the services held in the grove following the parade.

The parade formed at Riverton shortly after two o'clock and then marched to Cinnaminson avenue, Palmyra, and out to Morgan cemetery.

A counter-march brought them back to Riverton, where a salute was fired over the graves of the war heroes by members of the 11th Howitzer Company of Camden.

The music for the procession was furnished by the high school band of the Frederick M. Rogers American Legion Post of Palmyra which sponsored the entire program.

In addition to the music furnished during the march the corps also rendered several numbers during the exercises in the grove.

Beautiful Camp Ockanickon, was through the courtesy of the county Y.M.C.A. the scene of the spring meeting of the Burlington County P.T.A. on Wednesday, May 27.

A fine spring day, birds twittering overhead, sparkling water glimpsed through the green of young leaves, gaily colored dresses and interested faces all joined to make the very worthwhile program most enjoyable to the 400 delegates who were present.

After the devotion led by Guy Hendrix, the regular business, including the reports of the nominating committee and standing committee was disposed of with celerity.

A chorus from Cinnaminson, led by Mrs. Sammie Cope of the Parent-Teacher society, and then led America the Beautiful, requesting the delegates to join.

A short and interesting Study Group demonstration was given by the members of the Haddon Heights, Camden county P.T.A.

After lunch, which was served in the mess hall by the camp chef, the meeting again assembled in the outdoor-chapel to listen to the report of the election, balloting being done during the lunch hour in a very business-like way without requiring any one to be on hand at a particular moment.

Miss Mildred Murphy of the State Extension Service, stressed the importance of having a Home Demonstration for Burlington County.

Assistant Commissioner of Education Mr. Sparzo spoke of the pleasing progress in our schools and school work making the subject both enlightening and amusing.

During the meeting Mr. Kaser, county superintendent of schools, spoke of arrangements for the Loan Fund Lectures to be given during the fall and winter, including Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Angelo Patri and General Smedley Butler. The fund now needs less than $500 to make the amount desired before issuing any loans.

The outgoing officers deserve the utmost credit for the manner in which the meeting was conducted.

LUCKY NUMBER FOR CASH AWARD DRAWN TUESDAY

PRIZE WILL AMOUNT TO APPROXIMATELY $350

Son of Palmyra Post Commander Draws 25 Tickets at Legion Home

The much discussed advertising campaign started by the merchants of Palmyra and Riverton last December was brought to an end Tuesday night when the ticket for the awarding of the prize was drawn at the Legion home.

The original plan of giving away a Chevrolet sedan was abandoned several months ago when it was found that the sale of the lucky number tickets was far below expectations.

The drawing Tuesday night was for a cash amounting to about $350.

The drawing for the prize had been repeatedly postponed the original date early in January, because for too soon for Legion officials, sponsors of the campaign. At the close of the ten weeks the scheduled time for the drawing, there had been scarcely more than enough tickets sold to cover expenses, current with running the drive, exclusive of the cost of the car.

When further sales indicated that a long time would elapse before sufficient funds could be raised to purchase an automobile, it was decided to give the cash instead. The action, as prompted by the attitude of the merchants, who wished to have the campaign concluded, and the townspeople themselves, many of whom preferred to have the cash rather than the automobile.

Twenty-five numbers were drawn Tuesday night, with the number 2234 having the first call for the money. Should the holder of this number fail to claim it by June 6, the second number will automatically become the winner and so on down the line until the money is awarded. Each successive number holder will be allowed two days in which to present his claim.

TOMMY WOULD LIKE TO SEE PARK AGAIN

Two Weeks in Country Would Do Little of Seven Much Good

Write or call any of the following ladies to secure information about taking one of the little "Fresh Air" lot at least two weeks this summer. Mrs. Frederick Hanes, Mrs. Robert Adams, Mrs. J. D. Clark, Mrs. Henry Lippincott, Mrs. Clifton Mayfield, Mrs. F. K. Merrill, Mrs. Herbert Morris, or Mrs. Joseph Thomas.

Below is a story of how one little boy spent his life and the conditions under which he must live. The week in the children's visit are between July 2 and 16.

The B family lives in a dingy dark three-room apartment on the corner of a dilapidated tenement, but situated on a market street in lower Manhattan. The house is badly in need of repair and is of the old-fashioned type, built on only the first floor water tanks in the hall, where mattress, dark dirty and stinky.

The family consists of father, mother and two children, Tommy, seven, and Jimmy, two. They are Irish-American. The father is a teamster. He has his job only in the winter and since then has worked only one or two days a week, earning very little money. Mother is a very attractive little blonde, being what money he makes for drink and gambling.

Mrs. B has a very hard time feeding and keeping the family together. She is fond of the tenement home in which they live and that helps take care of the rent, but she has been forced to apply for free food and coal this winter as the occasional dollar which her husband gives her after a lucky night at cards would never buy sufficient food for her and the two growing children. In addition to the family's many hardships, Jimmy was ill for two months with pneumonia and complications due to lack of heat and ventilation in the home.

Tommy is a very attractive little lad with brown hair, large grey eyes and a smiling mouth. He is undernourished and several pounds underweight. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that he doesn't get all the fresh air he needs or the necessary food such as milk, eggs and vegetables.

The street where he lives is a dangerous place to play as the sidewalks are narrow and filled with busy people carrying baskets, and shuffling crates while the street is filled with trucks which Tommy has to dodge. An extremely poor playground for Tommy!

He is a many little chap, helps his mother in all kinds of ways, running errands, collecting fire wood, taking care of his little brother, etc. Two weeks in the country would do Tommy a world of good. His only idea of the country is his one visit to Central Park.

CARNIVAL

FOURTH COURSE ON CURRICULUM FOR P. H. S. STUDENTS

General Subjects Will be Added to Preparatory and Commercial Courses

KINDERGARTENS REPLACE THE PRE-PRIMER CLASSES

The addition of a fourth course to the curriculum of the Palmyra High School was the subject of much discussion at the regular meeting of the school board last Thursday evening.

The present schedule of three courses was felt to be inadequate for all the students. At the present time two college preparatory courses and one commercial course are the only ones offered to the students.

The contemplated added course will treat of general subjects with an emphasis on any one line of endeavor. The addition to the curriculum was suggested throughout the year by members of the faculty. Prof. C. E. Denger stated. The new course will provide for those who cannot be properly provided for in the other sections and will be a great aid for those who prefer to continue their education at a vocational school.

With the additions of the new course, Mr. Denger also announced there would be several changes in the present studies as outlined in the existing courses. A selection of history courses will be the principal change in the preparatory courses while it will no longer be compulsory for a commercial student to study a foreign language.

A general course was dropped from the curriculum about three years ago and this is the first attempt to replace it. The contemplated changes met with the approval of the Palmyra Board and only await ratification by the county and state authorities. Mr. Denger said he felt there would be no doubt as to its approval by the higher boards.

In his report he also recommended the changing of the present pre-primer grades to kindergarten classes. He said the present so-called kindergarten grades were too far advanced in the type of work they were doing, and first year students who had advanced from the so-called kindergarten were forced to repeat much of the preceding year's work. The simplification of these grades would make real kindergarten instead of the present pre-primer grades.

With the passing of the resolution that the kindergartens be established, the age limit for entrance into this grade was also established. Only children who will attain the age of five years before December 1 of the year in which they seek to be admitted to the class, can be enrolled as a pupil of the kindergarten.

The completion of their year's work in the kindergarten would enable them to attain the age of nearly six years before their admission into grade work and Mr. Denger said this was supposed to be the best age for the beginning of the child's education. The new members of the kindergarten must be enrolled during the first two weeks of school.

The report of attendance was also submitted by Mr. Denger. During the previous month 457 children of the Spring Garden street school had attained a 90 per cent attendance average, the 438 pupils in the Delaware avenue school had maintained a 92 per cent record for attendance and 417 high school students had compiled a percentage of 94.4 for attendance. The total enrollment of 1212 had a general average of 92.6 per cent for the month.

The schedule for next year's term, as suggested by the County Board, was also submitted to the Palmyra Board. The term will open Tuesday, September 8. Vacations will be given the students during Thanksgiving from November 26 to 30; during Christmas, from December 24 to January 3; on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, and during the Easter holidays, from March 25 until April 4. The term will close June 15.

Among several communications received by the Board was one from the New Jersey Association of Public School Officials recommending that the Palmyra Board call in its power to curb the showing of "gangster" and other underworld pictures in moving picture houses. The members of the association felt the display of such pictures had a bad effect on the minds of the school students who went to see them, especially on the younger pupils.

Another letter from Louis Kaser, County school superintendent, told of his dissatisfaction with the condition of the blackboards, floors and stair treads in the Spring Garden and Cinnaminson buildings. It was decided to point out to him the fact that the floors and stairs had been relaid within the past few years, and excessive wear would be almost impossible during the short time they had been used.

Plans for the proposed changes in the domestic science room in the high school were approved and Charles K. Mervine, chairman of the Building and Grounds committee, was authorized to employ competent workmen to finish the job.

The report of the Athletic Committee cited the purchase of swings now in use in the Delaware avenue school playground. The concurrence of the Board in the purchase of the equipment was asked and the act was approved.

The motion also made and carried that half the sum tendered the School Board by the Parent-Teachers Association for the rental of the high school auditorium for the presentation of a play be refunded to the organization in appreciation of their excellent work among school children. Accordingly instructions were given to refund the P. T. A. $25.00 of their rental fee.

Burlington County Historical Society Has Annual Meeting and Hears Fine Report of Many Activities During Year

A vice-president and five directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Burlington County Historical Society last week. The session was held in the Fenimore Cooper house, 457 High street, Burlington.

Mrs. Benjamin Decker, of Burlington, was the vice-president elected. The five directors were Mrs. John C. Miller, and Miss Ann Taylor, both of Burlington; Mrs. Samuel McGinnis, of Edgewater Park; Mrs. C. E. Lord, of Mount Holly, and Mrs. N. Ewen, of Moorestown.

Other officers are: President, Mrs. William D. Lippincott, Moorestown; vice-president, Mrs. J. Lindsay Clark, son, of the present; corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Middleton, of Moorestown; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles B. Gilbert, of Burlington; treasurer, Miss Helen Woolman, of Riverton.

The society has for its purpose the recording and preservation of the historical interests of the county. Its home at 457 High street, Burlington, not only is of great historical interest itself, but houses innumerable treasures of early New Jersey.

The house is open Sunday afternoon from three until six o'clock and the first Saturday of each month at the same hours. Interested groups may arrange to call at other times by appointment. The public is always welcome.

Roller Not Present. The speaker at the meeting was Louis C. Kaser, superintendent of schools for Burlington County. Colonel Franklin D'Olier was slated to speak but was unable to make the appointment.

Mr. Kaser spoke on the subject "The Relation of Historical Societies to Education." In going over the subject the speaker pointed out the advantages of such a society in the education of the children and emphasized the great services being done by the Burlington society.

Mayor Harold V. Holmes was also one of the speakers and told of the beginning and growth of the society. The society was organized fifteen years ago and met in the free library building on West Union street. Eight years ago it purchased the James Fenimore Cooper house and made its home there.

The society paid $3,000 on the property at the time and mortgaged the balance, $2,000. This mortgage was recently paid off and the mayor officially burned the mortgage during the meeting.

The income from life memberships was used to apply on the mortgage account and since the mortgage had been given to pay to the fund, a balance of $350 was still owing a short time ago and this was paid by two of the members, the Misses Ann and Julia Taylor, of Union street, Burlington.

Educational Value. Efforts are being made to relieve the property of taxation on the grounds that it is an educational institution. Steps have been taken in this matter and it is expected some real progress will be made.

A large number of people are interested in the society, it having 576 members from all over the county. Thirty new members have joined this year. Many valuable gifts of historic interest have been received.

Interest have been presented to the institution during the past year, as revealed by the reports at the meeting.

One of the most valuable was a series of photographic copies of historic papers. These papers themselves are priceless and the copies are greatly treasured. Another historic relic is the "key" to the old covered bridge at Bridgeboro which was torn down three years ago to make way for the present modern structure. This "key" is the lever used to turn the draw of the bridge and has been hung on the outside wall of the building under the roof of the old bridge, which also has been fixed to the wall.

"Key" on Wall. The "key" was delivered to the society by Lester S. Portman, of Bridgeboro, who received it from the attendants at the bridge and kept it until a short time ago.

A feature of the beautiful garden surrounding the house is a sun dial recently placed on a pedestal made from bricks from the old Smith house which stood on the site of the present Mechanics' Bank building. This house was the oldest in Burlington, having been erected in 1703. The bricks were brought to the colonies from England.

MEN ENTERTAINED BY FLYER'S TALK

Club Members Hear Lieut. R. R. Dennett, Officer of Los Angeles

Members of the Men's Club of Palmyra and Riverton were treated to an unusually enjoyable evening's entertainment at their regular monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building last Thursday.

The club was fortunate in procuring Lieutenant Richard R. Dennett, of the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, and an officer on the quait airship "Los Angeles" as the speaker. He gave a very interesting lecture relative to lighter than air craft.

The lieutenant traced the development of this type of aircraft from 1783, when the so-called "balloons" were filled with smoke and not air. He lectured on the great present-day dirigibles, and "Zepps" which are raised by helium gas.

In conjunction with his talk he showed several reels of motion pictures, one of which was devoted exclusively to the mooring, housing, ascent, flight and maneuvers of the "Los Angeles".

Another reel depicted the experiment of the "Los Angeles" acting as a transport for airplanes. The carrying is done by means of a crane-like device suspended from the dirigible. A special hook-like contrivance attached to the plane enables the connection between the two to take place.

The pictures showed the approach of the airplane to the air plant, the approach being made in line with the suspended crane-like device. Skillful maneuvering on the part of the airplane pilot enabled the flying machine to be hooked to the lighter than air craft.

The third reel showed the "jumping" or parachute experts dropping from airplanes. Of special interest in this reel was the fall of a star jumper, who while dropping, inflated a rubber ball and landed safely on the water.

Many interesting and instructive facts were given by the speaker and after the lecture and pictures were concluded, numerous questions were asked by the various club members.

The speaker has been assigned to the giant airship "Akron" now under construction, as the fourth in command.

Much for the occasion was furnished by Professors Renner and Gordon, violinist and pianist respectively, both of Philadelphia. Refreshments of ice cream and pretzels were served by the refreshment committee after the program had been concluded.

During the months of June, July and August, no meetings of the club will be held. The next meeting is scheduled for September 24.

2 DRUNKEN AUTOISTS CAUGHT IN PALMYRA

Arrest of One Follows Collision at Cinnaminson Avenue and Cuthbert Road

Charged with drunken driving in Palmyra, Arthur Heilman, of 2112 East Baltimore avenue, Philadelphia, was given 60 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter last Thursday.

Heilman was in default of $200 fine and $22.50 costs. Heilman was pronounced intoxicated by Dr. Dean H. LeFavor, of Palmyra, and pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned.

John Pierson, 712 Parry avenue, Palmyra, was arrested for driving while intoxicated Sunday night. His car driven by Mrs. William Munroe, of Cuthbert road and Cinnaminson avenue. At a hearing Tuesday night he was fined $200 and $22.50 costs by Justice of the Peace William L. Fichter.

In addition to the fine Pierson agreed to pay $51.75 for damage to the Munroe's automobile.

Herbert Sharen, of Hordwick lane, a passenger in Pierson's car, was also fined $10 on a drunkenness charge.

Palmyra Parents are Urged to Give Children Advantage of This Examination

While parents of a number of Palmyra pre-school children have recognized the advantage of a physical examination for their children in order that any defects disclosed by such examination may be corrected before the children go to school in September, a large number have not as yet paid any attention to either the personal or newspaper notices.

Dr. Bauer has been very generous with his time doing this work, which is not a part of his required duties, and parents should appreciate this fact that it is his great desire to see the school children in the best possible condition, that he is willing to give his time to it, and should show at least as much interest.

Diphtheria immunization and Schick tests have been given each Thursday the past few weeks. Anyone wishing to have children immunized MUST bring them the Thursday, June 4th, as three weekly injections are necessary and no more will be begun after today. Examinations will discontinue after next week so all parents should make up their minds quickly to have this most important matter attended to.

It is hoped that Palmyra will set a record and have examinations and corrections of school children one hundred per cent this year.

J. W. NICHOLSON RITES TUESDAY

Moorestown Bank Official Dies at Age of Seventy-five Years

John Whitall Nicholson, 75 years old, one of the oldest directors of the President Trust Company and the President Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, and the Burlington County Trust Company, of Moorestown, died at his home on East Main street, Moorestown, on Saturday. He had been a resident of Moorestown more than 40 years.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence, with interment in Friends' Burial Ground, at Westfield, near Moorestown.

Mr. Nicholson was graduated from Haverford College in 1870 and immediately entered the employ of the Whitall Tatum Co., glass manufacturer of Philadelphia. He became a member of the firm and a vice president. He retired about five years ago after serving in the concern for fifty years.

Son of William Hopkins and Sarah Whitall Nicholson, he was born on the old Linden farm on the White Horse Pike near what was formerly known as Baker's Corner, now in Audubon. He was a grandson of Capt. John M. Whitall, who for many years commanded a ship that plied between Philadelphia and English ports, and a great-grandson of Anne Whitall, after whom the D. A. R. chapter in Woodbury was named, and whose house still stands on the banks of the Delaware river in Red Bank.

Use the Thor for all your washing. If soap and water will not remove a stain, you can wash it safely in the Thor. ## BUSINESS and BASEBALL

We were talking the other day with a friend whose main interest in life, outside of his own business, is baseball. We were talking, as most men do when they meet these days, about the business situation.

"The business situation reminds me of the baseball situation," said our friend. "You remember that for the past few seasons an enormous number of big league players were batting home runs? They would stand at the plate, holding the bat by the tip and line them out over center field fence until home runs got to be almost commonplace. People began to get tired of them.

"Last winter the baseball magnates got together to see how they could tighten up the game. They developed a new ball, which is being used this season. The leather cover is thicker and the seams are rougher, which gives the pitcher better control and a sharper break on his curves. Players who used to bat the old ball all over the lot found they could not even hit the new ball half the time. Then somebody began to think back, and recalled that Ty Cobb, the greatest batter of them all, used to hold his bat somewhere in the middle and crouch over the plate. He didn't hit many home runs but he got to first base oftener than any other batter in his time. So the baseball players of this season instead of swinging high, wide and handsome, have just shortened up their bats and are playing for base hits instead of home runs.

"Now it seems to me," our friend went on, "that there is a lesson in that for business men. Everybody in business was batting home run two or three years ago. But we are playing business with a new kind of ball, and the fellow that swings a long bat and keeps trying for home runs these days does not even get to first base. But the wise business men are just shortening up their grip, playing up close to the plate, and they are batting out base hits, while the ones who have not found out yet that the new ball is harder to hit are beating about hard times and blaming their troubles on everybody but themselves."

It seems to us that there is a good deal in what our friend said. There are a lot of business men who had things coming their way too easily during the boom, but the ones who are holding their own today and getting ahead are not the ones who are waiting for the old times to come back, but are the ones who are adapting their ideas and their business methods to today's conditions.

THE ROADSIDE LANDSCAPE

At intervals of a few miles along every state highway in Tennessee there is an inconspicuous sign which reads, "No Advertising Is Permitted Within the Right of Way of Any State Highway in Tennessee."

For adopting this rule the state of Tennessee deserves a Pulitzer prize, or a Carnegie medal, or a tablet in the Hall of Fame. The state, of course, cannot control advertising signs not located actually on the highway property, but the mere fact that it has adopted this regulation, and is calling attention to it, undoubtedly has an influence on the whole subject of the defacement of the landscape by advertising billboards. These little unobtrusive signs create in the public mind a realization of the fact that advertising signs are a defacement and a nuisance.

Tennessee has some other pretty good highway laws and regulations. There is no speed limit in the state except such as municipalities set up, where traffic is thick. You may drive a hundred miles an hour in Tennessee, if your car will go that fast, but you are held strictly responsible for reckless driving and violation of the rules of the road. One of the things they are particular about in Tennessee is passing a car going in the same direction when both are going uphill. The state traffic police are vigilant, and the usual fine for this offense is $50. Tennessee has learned that most automobile accidents are not the result of speed but of carelessness.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

Comparatively few automobile accidents are caused by criminal recklessness or flagrant errors on the part of the driver.

Most of them are caused by little mistakes, by allowing attention to stray from what you are doing, by forgetting to slow up, or neglecting to look both ways at a busy intersection, by being in just a little more of a hurry to get somewhere than the occasion really demands, by becoming irritated or impatient at the actions of another driver.

These are the kinds of things which drivers are doing all the time. In most cases, nothing happens. But sooner or later the right combination of circumstances arises, so that just a few seconds' inattention, or just a little too much speed in the wrong place, puts you into the path of another machine.

The careful driver controls himself as well as his car. He refuses to allow scenery, conversation, a wrecked car by the roadside or the person in the back seat to distract his attention from the road. He governs his speed according to traffic, weather, and highway conditions, curbing his impatience to get there, or his irritation at the poor driving of the man ahead. He is actually safer under the most dangerous traffic, weather or highway conditions than is the inattentive or irritated driver under the safest driving conditions.

Trolley Accident at Edgewater Park

The first accident to happen on the road between Edgewater Park and Riverton occurred at Edgewater Park Wednesday morning when Baker Brothers' motor car rolled over on its side. The driver John Semons, was thrown out and received a severe scalp wound on the face and some scratches about the face. He was taken to Dr. Taylor, who dressed his wounds.

TRENTON NEWS LETTER

Enthusiasm and unity marked the annual state convention of the New Jersey Republicans, and the campaign starts off with a feeling of victory in the air. The convention was marked by a fine spirit and the attendance of former United States Senator Baird Jr., chosen candidate for governor displayed a strength of character and a certainty of principles which caught the fancy of the whole assemblage which culminated in a resolution with rounds of applause.

United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow who was made temporary chairman after State chairman E. Bertram Mott had called the convention to order paid glowing tribute to the candidate for governor declaring him to be a business man in whom every trust and confidence could be placed by the voters. Mr. Morrow showed the necessity at this time of choosing such men to perform the duties of administrative government because of the economic depression at the time. He said that Mr. Baird had shown great capacity as a successful business man in whom the affairs of the state could be safely trusted. Moreover he was a man of everywher as one of the most powerful and successful of the great business leaders. He said that the candidate would be aided by his record and with marked emphasis sounded the keynote of the convention with "Welcome that Independent."

Mr. Baird made every endeavor to do his best and the great assembly to make known some of the ideas he intends to convey to the voters during the campaign.

Perhaps the most important and most interesting statement presented in the address was that of Mr. Baird who said that the campaign was not so much a contest of the great ideas of his noble character as it was the test of the man who would be the democratic power behind the administration.

MAIN STREET LOOKS AT BROADWAY BY ERNEST CAMP JR

THE BEST RADIO

New Yorker better than anybody else perhaps, knows the best make of radio. There is no argument about it. Even your local dealer will probably agree after he has heard about it.

The machine is made in New Jersey. It sells for something quite a lot more than $1,000. Frankly, we were not really serious about the exact price.

SOME GUARANTEE

When you drop down on Radio City, right to get one—that is supposing you do be sure to insist on their guarantee. It consists of a promise to give your money back if it doesn't run through any kind of interference and bring in stations 2,000 miles or more away like one in the next town. At least that's what the King of Bismarck was promised when he was shut up in a darkened room for several days after his eyes were operated on successfully by an American doctor. He got it for the Bismarck broadcasting.

NOT FOR AMATEURS

The de luxe radio is a fourteen tube set and has every device you can find on any other machine that is worth having. If the makers can't buy the patent rights they want for the few machines they build, they just buy a complete machine, scrap what they don't want, and fit in the part.

Each machine is built entirely by one man, and it takes several weeks for him to construct. There is a waiting list of intended purchasers, so it is more than likely that any of your local radio fans who wish to buy a machine had better stick to the regularly advertised models. That is, if they want to get a radio this year. It's really millions of stuff.

The Mystery of Wednesday

By IRVIN S. COBB

A BROADWAY actor got carried away by the spirit of the prohibition times and remained carried away for several days. He came to himself in his own room without knowing exactly how he got there. A friend sat beside him.

"Hello," he said, as he opened his eyes. "What day is this?"
"This," said his friend, "is Thursday."
"The invalid thought it was a miracle."
"What became of Wednesday?" he asked.

A FAMOUS FIGURE

The daily grind in New York does not shorten men's lives, judging by two men who have just passed on. George E. Baker, the famous banker, who died at 81, and David Belasco, famous theatrical man who lived to 76. Both men made their mark and had an important part in shaping the destinies of millions of other men.

Of the two men Belasco led the more colorful existence and affected the lives of more people. Through his efforts the American stage was lifted from the melodrama of the 1800s to the fine productions of the present day.

A GENIUS

Belasco himself was a genius, beyond question. Although primarily a producer, he wrote many plays designed stage settings and handling effects, taught his actors how to move through their parts, and in general was a past master of all things concerned with the stage.

His capacity for taking pains was unlimited. He demanded realism in everything. In one play antique settings were demanded. He refused to have reproductions made and spent $10,000 in getting 16th Century furniture. After the play was finished he had the valuable settings removed to his own set of rooms where one of his many theatres and passed his remaining years surrounded by priceless furniture.

He was a gambler in the best sense of the word. Three times he went broke, twice when he was well past middle age but he kept hammering away and is believed to have left a fortune to his wife and children. He is only one of thousands of examples of men who have given their lives to New York only to be enriched in turn.

When Mrs. E. McFadden of White Salmon, Wash., investigated sounds of "hello, hello" coming from her chicken yard, she found a parcel that had disappeared about six weeks previously from Kilkenny, Wash., about 35 miles from there.

P. H. S. ATHLETES MAKE EXCELLENT RECORD IN YEAR

Girls Boast of Undeclared Basketball and Swimming Teams for Season

COURTEERS ONLY ONES TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Baseball Nine Compiles Envyable Mark and Has Good Title Prospects

Athletic teams in Palmyra High School have enjoyed one of the most successful years experienced at that institution in several seasons.

The outstanding teams developed at the school were the girls' basketball and swimming teams, both of which were undefeated by league teams, and the boys' basketball team which lost a single game in the county league.

The girls basketball team registered thirteen wins out of fourteen starts, their lone defeat coming at the hands of Mount Holly, which team was not a member of the West Jersey league. The Palmyra ladies were also the highest scorers in the league. In addition to the record made by the first string sextette, the reserves won two of their scheduled five games.

The swimming team, although losing the coveted South Jersey League championship, also sported an undefeated record. The winners of the title managed to win the crown after they had secured a bulging lead by virtue of a forfeited meet.

The championship Haddon Heights team kept its own record intact by leading the Palmyra mermaids to a 29-12 point tie when the two teams met. High hopes of retaining the title next season are held by Miss Grace E. Dugan, coach, and the swimmers themselves, as only four of this year's squad are lost by graduation.

Diamond Squad
The baseball team managed to win eight of its first nine games, including its first five in the county league. The remaining contests were a non-league win over Moorestown and two triumphs over Camden Catholic High. The remaining games were an eleven inning tie with Audubon High, champions of the Camden Suburban League and titleholders of South Jersey.

This affair ended in a deadlock. As a result of their showing, the Palmyra lads were in the running for southern state honors, when a disastrous defeat at the hands of Pemberton banished hopes of a South Jersey championship team. There is a strong possibility of the "Pals" winning the county title, as Mount Holly had not played all the games on the schedule and had not pulled up to an equal rating with the Palmyra team.

The boys' court team was beaten out by a narrow margin for the county league championship after leading the pack for more than half the season. Last year's championship Burlington outfit and Moorestown, the present South Jersey titleholders, did the trick. A second defeat at the hands of the Quakers eliminated the Palmyra five after it had reached the semi-finals of the South Jersey Class "B" tournament.

Hockeyists Handicapped
The loss of several star players from last year's championship girls hockey team was too much of a handicap for this year's eleven to overcome and the players were forced to be content with the runner up post. The team finished the season with a record of five wins and a tie in nine starts.

The grid squad enjoyed a good season although losing five out of 12 games played. The first two games dropped were the Vineland and Millville, both Class "A" institutions. Burlington, 1929 Class "B" champs, handed the Pals their worst defeat while the others were suffered at the hands of Riverside, 1930 Class "B" champion, and Moorestown. The Riverside defeat came after the two teams had battled to a scoreless draw at the beginning of the season.

Lost Track Star
The track team's most successful, as a team, of all the sport representatives. The track athletes made their best showing at the Penn Relays when, in their division, they led the other South Jersey quartets across the finish line.

The loss of Preston Stanford, due to ineligibility, was very severe. In the county meet they placed second only to lose in turn to Riverside in a dual meet. The showing of Irving Conwell in the high jump was the outstanding field performance of the cinder path lads. He capped the individual South Jersey title and tied for the state title at the meet held in North Jersey.

Patrick Henry, Oklahoma ranchman, met, courted, and won Daisy Frame on a bus trip to California, where they were married.

A real treat is in store for the links fans of this section Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock, Spring Hill Country Club, Maple Shade, is putting on an amateur professional golf match that should be a dandy.

George Smith, Moorestown Field Club "pro," former Philadelphia F. C. A. champion, who recently qualified for the open this year, and Marty Lyons, another clever "pro" and tutor at the host club, will pair up against J. M. Miller and Dennis Ryan, a couple of crack Philadelphia golfers.

DELANCO APPLIES WHITEWASH COAT

Harry Young Blanks Riverton, 5-0, in County League Game Saturday

In a game featured by fine fielding and timely hitting, Riverton bowed to Delanco in a Burlington County League game at Riverton last Saturday, by a 5-0 score.

The game started out to be a pitching duel, Delanco being unable to score after the first inning, when they registered a single counter, until the fifth frame. In this stanza and in the one following, lone tallies were made by the visitors, who then pushed across two more in the seventh for their final runs of the game.

Coles, Riverton hurler, allowed the Delanco batters ten hits and a pair of walks, while his mates were touching Harry Young for seven bingles.

The snappy fielding was the outstanding feature of the contest, both teams showing exceptional power on the defense. The Riverton ball tossers looked better in the field than at any time this season. Bartley sparked at second for the Rivertonians, accepting nine chances without a slip.

Delanco was equally as good in the field, with the defensive couple of C. Young and H. Young, the latter being made by Horn and Bauer, who accepted seven chances each without the semblance of an error.

MILL TOSSERS UPSET GOLDEN SLIPPER NINE

Although touched for 11 hits, Jim Mulligan kept these well scattered to breeze through a 10 to 5 victory for Old Mill over the Golden Slipper tossers Monday afternoon in their annual contest at the former's field.

Mulligan still proved that he has plenty of power remaining in his wing, fanning no less than a dozen opponents. Joe Armstrong co-starred with Mulligan in giving Old Mill the triumph, slugging out four bingles, a pair of doubles, a triple and a single.

Palmyra Athletic Teams Feel Loss of Thirty-four Members by Graduation

Basketball Hardest Hit as Six of Girls' Championship Team and Seven of Boys' Squad Receive Diplomas; Grid and Track Squads Lose Twelve Each

Athletic teams in Palmyra High School have been seriously affected by the graduation of this year's class of Seniors.

No less than 33 of the 87 graduates have participated in athletics during their stay in the high school. The loss of the sport-loving students is divided between both the girls' and boys' teams, nine participants of girls' sports having received their diplomas, while 24 members of boys' teams were awarded the sheepskins, at last week's commencement.

For the girls, the basketball team is the hardest hit. Six of last season's championship players have graduated, leaving but two experienced players around which to build next year's team. The four graduate players of the hockey team are included on the list of those lost to Palmyra hockey, while the football team adds three more graduates to a pair of natives already numbered on the hockey and court teams.

Dot Meltzer and Irene Parry have participated on all three teams, while Betty Hassell and Catherine Hinkle are numbered on the field and court teams. Dot Shea and Jean McKinn, of the court sextette, and Virginia Zavotti, Molly Meyer and Irene Smith, of the pool squad, complete the list.

The football squad is the hardest hit for the boys, although the majority of the basketball team are also lost by graduation. No less than twelve of the gridiron squad were graduated. This number includes the outstanding players of both teams, many of whom have played in their respective sports for a three year stretch.

Otz Terrell, the grid captain, and numerous players in both basketball and line are lost to the team. Fred Green, Rodman Merrill and Joe Carr, ends; Andrew Wise and Richard Furman, tackles; Harold Gerkins and Jack Wilkins, guards; Tom Price and Harold Lybrand, centers; Harry Furman and Walt Price, of the backfield, have all finished their high school grid careers.

Of this number, Green, Walt Price and Carr were on the court squad. In addition to these three, Dimond saw Howard Davidson, the captain; Jack Kelly, Howard Miner and Robert Finney pass from his tutelage. Six members of the basketball squad wound up their ball-tossing careers with Palmyra this season. Charles Heino was the only one who had not played on one of the other athletic teams. Terrell, of football fame, Walt Price, grid star and court player, and Davidson, Kelly and Miner, also of the basketball five are numbered on the list of graduates.

An even dozen members of the track squad received diplomas. Preston Stanford, colored sprinter and captain; Irving Conwell, phenomenal dusky higher jumper; Al Stocker, Bill Brown, Bill Shodorick, Joseph T. Carr, and Myrtle Backs, participated in the track and field event alone. The football players, Green, the Furman twins, Merrill and Wilkins, were the others to see action with the spiked shoes of the gridiron.

Despite the loss of the athletes, the promise of the reserves on their showing last season, have encouraged both the girls' coach, Grace E. Dugan, and the boys' mentor, Kenneth C. Dimond to look for a bright season next year.

Coach Harman Tells Rotarians of Gates Plan for Athletics at Penn;

Says He Will Have 'Scrappy' Team

Harvey J. Harman, new Penn coach, explained the Gates Plan for athletics at the University of Pennsylvania in a talk before Moorestown Rotary Club at its regular luncheon meeting in the Community House last Thursday afternoon.

In opening his address, the coach told his audience that he believes intercollegiate athletics originally were started in an effort to lead students from "tearing up sidewalks" and generally giving vent to their youthful enthusiasm.

And, too, since the beginning of the activities, there has been a demand for reform, not only in the sports as in the administration of them. The reason for so much interest being evidenced in the conduct of college sports is easily seen, said, pointing out that thirty million persons will actually come in close contact with football next fall, either in the role of a player, coach, official or spectator.

While administrators have finally lent an interested ear to the great activity known as intercollegiate sports, said Harman, and that is the reason for Penn's new system. President Gates, shortly after becoming head of the university, made up his mind to give Penn the best of the program possible and appointed a committee of three prominent men to study conditions in all colleges in this and foreign countries. The present program is the result of their findings.

Many Grid Teams
It has always been said, Harman told the Rotarians, that sports build the bodies and character of participants. Working on this assumption, it was decided to spread out the good to the entire student body. If a student does not play football, on a team in one of the three leagues that have been organized, on the "varsity" junior varsity, scrub or with the new 150-pound team, it is his own fault, for a determined effort is being made to get out every young man in the university who is interested in the great gridiron game.

He also explained the new coaching system. He says he has a splendid staff of young coaches, all of whom are specialists in one or another phase of football. The coaches, including those who tutor members of league teams, and all of these eleven will have their coaches, will be drilled in definite football fundamentals, embracing the Penn system. The coaches will be taught by the "varsity" instructors. They, in turn, will teach the minor team members the same kind of football that the "varsity" players learn. This method will permit a player to readily work up to a higher team, eventually to the "varsity" if he shows the talent.

Harman, however, believes that football has been overdone to some degree. As an example, he has abandoned spring training and spring games. "We may have a little football in the spring," he said, "but

PALMYRA LOSES TO CATHOLIC NINE

Moorestown Scores in Early Innings to Win Easily by a 13 to 7 Score

A savage hitting attack in the first three innings enabled the Moorestown Catholic Club to hand a Palmyra team a 13-7 lacing in a game played at Moorestown last Saturday.

Crossing the plate three times in the first frame, four times in the next, and six times in the third stanza, the Moorestownians assumed a lead too bulging to be overcome. The winners made most of their 14 hits in these innings. Bolton and Cunningham held the visitors to five hits, which with several errors and blunders enabled the Palmyra nine to register their seven runs.

J. Bartello, with a home run and a double, and Brodie, with a triple and a two-base blow were the most aggressive of the Moorestown bat swingers. Roagan, Bolton and Conroy also accounted for two hits each.

No one in the Palmyra lineup was able to gather more than one safe blow from the offerings of the Moorestown hurlers.

POOL AT COMMUNITY
DURING SUMMER HEAT

The hot days of summer are here, and everyone likes to take a swim and refresh himself.

To get the most enjoyment and health value from a swim, it is essential to have proper equipment and to be able to swim properly, says a statement from the Moorestown Community House.

The Community House swimming pool, continues the statement, "has all the modern up-to-date equipment; the water is pure; the swimmers are always genial and full of fun; and most important, a life guard is always on duty to serve you and help in Red Cross Life Saving tests."

If you wish private instruction, Spencer Cooper, the popular Red Cross examiner who has been with us for the past two seasons, will gladly teach you.

Appointments may be made any time during the day by phoning Moorestown 326. The fee is very small.

"We hope you will give our pool a try."

The Artisan nine increased its lead over the Parry and Rambler outfits when it won two games since last Thursday night.

The loop leaders were hard pushed to defeat the revamped K. of C. club Friday night by a 10-5 score. A late rally put the game on ice for the lodgemen and sank the Kayases a little deeper in the cellar.

The K. of C. team turned out with a revamped lineup, and made the best showing it has made thus far. Instead of the slovenly fielding formerly witnessed by the spectators at the Kayases' games, the changed lineup picked up pen to make several clever fielding displays. The pitching of Fred Davis was good in all but two innings, in both of which the Artisans were able to push over four runs. The Catholic team, trailing by four runs in the early innings staged a rally to pull up to within a run of the winners, and then again pulled up to within a single tally after the Artisans had once more crossed the plate. A four-run spurge in the sixth proved to be more than enough for the A. O. M. P's to win.

Party continued on the leaders trail when it took a game from the Baptists Monday night, keeping the churchmen in the sub-cellar of the league.

The second conquest for the Artisans was made at the expense of Rogers' News Tuesday night, when the top runners shut out the Schwinn men by a 5-0 score. With Ramsbury pitching a one-hit ball game, the Rogers' team was easily kept away from the plate. The win increased the lead of the Artisans to one and a half games over the Parry outfit.

With a battle for second place still going on, the Parry outfit and the Ramblers are scheduled to meet at the High School grounds tonight. This game is a playoff of the regularly scheduled game for Tuesday of last week. A muddy field caused a postponement of this tilt and another game at the ball field kept this game from being played off last Thursday night. A victory for the Ramblers will put them in second place as they trail by the slim margin of a half-game. Should Parry win, they will remain within striking distance of the league leaders.

NEW YORK LIFE

Old New Yorkers never get tired of watching the unending and varied panorama of the life that flows through the big city's streets. In one block the other day we passed a cripple with both legs entirely gone and a few feet farther on encountered a man of stills.

The latter stood ten feet tall and halted right in the stream of traffic to read his paper, just as casually as the man on a corner in a village. Of course, a big sign on his coatalls told where to buy your clothes.

do. In place of the scrubbing the average housewife gives the glass, and taught other tricks of the trade and then sent out alone on the job.

Right away he began to turn in signed tickets showing he was working a third faster than their best man had done up to then. An inspection of his completed work showed his windows were beautifully cleaned and everybody was satisfied. Finally there came a kick.

"Please don't send that big man around here to clean our windows," the letter read. "He gives us all heart disease climbing on the sills twenty stories up without using the safety belt, and it makes us too nervous to watch him."

And so the secret was learned. He refused to wear the belt because it slowed him up. Come to find out, he used to be a sailor on a deep sea whaler and height and insecure footing meant nothing to him. He was tired.

CHAMOIS RINGS

Ten thousand a year is a comfortable income, even in New York, although one can't go very far on that. Still it's a lot of money to make out of washing windows. There are probably a dozen men here who make that much and more by supplying men to wash the chammois for you. The business is on a substantial basis and its workers have their own union and everything.

President Hoover's trip West for the purpose of addressing the Republican editors of Indiana and making a speech at the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial at Springfield, Ill., is being taken by observers here as a preliminary center to the active work of the presidential campaign next year. Denials that he had any such motive were issued from the White House days before he made the trip, but they were taken here as routine denials.

The facts are that voters are looking farther into the future this year than they have ever done, except perhaps in the days when Bryan was expounding his free silver doctrine three years before he was nominated to run against McKinley in 1896. The same reason for public interest in the national election existed then as now, general depression, both in this and other countries. Voters looked to a political Moses to lead them out of their troubles. Bryan's plan appealed immensely to almost half the voters and he nearly won the election.

There is no question but that the attempts being made by the Democrats right now to blame the country's troubles on the G. O. P. must be answered often and early and Hoover's short swing into states that have been flirting outrageously with his political enemies can have but one real purpose; much as he may attempt to disguise it by speaking on other topics.

Franklin Roosevelt is also lining up his forces, his recent visit to Col. House, which resulted in his gaining the public support of Mayor Curley of Boston and other Bay State politicians who previously had shown a strong liking for Owen D. Young, showing he is intensively at work. Roosevelt is an astute campaigner and his relationship to Theodore Roosevelt will gain him many votes from Republicans, his supporters claim. That he is not overlooking that angle was demonstrated by Mayor Curley's remark that "it was time we had another Roosevelt in the White House."

Older people who have lived through several other panics will not be swayed by the old "dinner pail" promises, as they have learned that prosperity does not depend upon which party rules but only on the natural laws of supply and demand. By this time next year nearly everybody expects the country to be enthusiastically on the upgrade and the entire political complexion may return to the flat uninteresting campaigns of former years when the main slogan was "don't rock the boat."

Vincent B. Phelan, of the Department of Commerce, has compiled a book covering the subject of repairs to the home. It is designed to inspire home-owners out of work to fix up their homes during the enforced idleness, or to induce others to give work to the unemployed at a time when they need help the most. The book covers such subjects as bureau drawers that stick, floors that squeak, doors that do not fit, repairing the door bell, eliminating the thumping noise in faucets, insulating the attic, preventing the frosting of window panes and painting inside and outside. Making the repairs now is urged as a measure of economy.

The Government has issued a booklet on "Problems of Wholesale Dry Goods Distribution" that shows that home dressmaking is going out of fashion. More ready-made garments are being worn by women all over the country, the report shows, with the result that the fair sex is better dressed now than ever before. One trouble with the business of selling ready-made garments is that styles disappear so fast that manufacturers have difficulty in avoiding heavy losses. Piece goods are becoming a minor department of the business, the book explains.

Incidentally, another survey uncovered the fact that hosiery sales are greater than those of any other merchandise carried by department stores. Their sales approximate five per cent of the grand total for all lines. Men's socks run about one-fifth of the total for hosiery, children's hose accounting for less than one per cent.

That chain stores are not running the independent storekeepers out of business is shown by a study made of the census by a Federal Bureau here, which gives the chains only around 17 per cent of the total business. The figures are drawn from a survey of 488 cities over 10,000 population. Analyzing the figures, it was shown that the chains did less business in the smallest cities, gaining as the cities became larger until in Chicago and Los Angeles they accounted for nearly twenty per cent. Even these figures do not reflect the actual situation as it exists for the small store, the survey shows, as filling stations and other lines not reckoned as shopkeeping are included in the chain totals.

Housewives are cautioned by the National Library here to go carefully through any old trunks they may have in the attic and see if they cannot unearth some historically important documents. Dr. Herbert Putnam, the librarian, cites recent finds that have been immensely valuable, among them being some of Benjamin Franklin's old letters, which were found in possession of a tailor in Paris who was using them to cut out patterns. Robert Morris' collection of letters and diaries was found in a stable. Both of these collections are now in the possession of the Library of Congress and are of great importance to the historian. According to the report, almost any old trunk in the possession of a pioneer family may yield up important treasures. It is said the recent find of the Ulster County Gazette was made in a dusty old New York state attic.

What takes us up in the middle of the night in a cold sweat is fear of what the archaeologists of a few thousands of years hence will dig up as evidence of present day culture. —Arkansas Gazette.
