THE NEW ERA

Vol. 46 No. 35

RIVERTON, NEW JERSEY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1934

PRICE FIVE CENTS

7 LEGION CORPS ACCEPT TO DATE

Formal Acceptances Arriving Daily from Outstanding Eastern Units

During the past week formal acceptances have been received from many of the outstanding Drum and Bugle Corps in the East signifying their intention to enter the competition being sponsored by Post Frederick M. Rodgers, No. 156, American Legion at Riverton on Saturday September 29.

The competition is to be the main event of an all-day celebration to be held in Palmyra and Riverton in celebration of the inauguration of the new Pennsylvania Railroad train service direct to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

The list of competing units clearly indicates the excellence of the event, and those in attendance will witness, according to the committee in charge, an array of crack corps which has never before been seen in southern New Jersey.

The outfits which have definitely promised to compete are: Henry H. Houston, 2nd, Post of Genmantown, Pa., winner of the Eastern States Championship in 1933 and the outstanding corps in the East; Perth Amboy Post, present champions of New Jersey; Morristown Post, past New Jersey champions; Passaic Memorial Post, an outstanding unit of North Jersey; Oxley Post, of Tacony, Pa., which placed in the finals of the Pennsylvania State Championship Competition; Norristown Post, a leading contender in many Pennsylvania contests, and Woodbridge Post, recent winners in the Middlesex County contest.

Invitations have also been sent to the following organizations, and the invitation committee states that their acceptances are expected daily: East Orange Post, past New Jersey champions; Verona Post, New Jersey "B" champions; Wilmington, Delaware Post, Delaware State champions; Bayway Post, of Elizabeth, N. J., a crack corps of Union County; National Championship Corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Glenside, Pa., and two leading Cadet Corps of the Eastern States, the George D. Imhof Post of Germantown, Pa., and the Bristol Cadet Corps of Bristol, Pa.

Beginning Monday September 10 members of Post Rodgers in full uniform will go from house to house in Riverton and Palmyra to sell reserved seat tickets for the competition. These seats are to be located so that occupants will be assured of an excellent view of the entire competition and can enjoy the affair in comfort. Drexel P. Patterson, chairman of the general committee, states that at all of the many competitions where the Palmyra unit has participated that demand for seats is usually greater than the supply and he urges all local residents to purchase theirs early and thus avoid the discomfort of trying to find standing room. The tickets are priced at the nominal sum of 50c for adults and 25c for children. The number sold will positively be restricted to the capacity of the stands.

A limited number of box seats will be available at a slightly higher cost than those in the stands. Information regarding boxes can be obtained from members of the Legion or of the Committee.

At all previous state competitions the various corps have been followed by large numbers of citizens from their respective towns and the local Committee expects that 10,000 people will be in Riverton and Palmyra for the event.

Already many of the merchants in the two towns have signified their intention of decorating their properties and it is hoped by those in charge of the celebration that the main business streets will be decked in gala attire from end to end.

The Vice-Chairmen of the committee in charge of the day's celebration have appeared before the Councils of Riverton and Palmyra

NEW MUSIC FOR FELLOWSHIP CLUB

Thirty-four Select Numbers Added to Repertory of Popular Choral Club

With the Fall season looming just ahead, the Fellowship Choral Club is laying plans for materially enlarging its music library.

Alfred Van Osten, director, Claude Barto, music chairman, and Lee Mitten, accompanist, spent many hours this summer over a collection of some 200 chorus numbers, and after careful consideration have selected thirty-four new items. These, which represent all types of choral composition, will be added to the already commendable repertory of the Fellowship Club.

The new music will go into rehearsal at the beginning of the 1934-35 season, Monday, evening, September 24th. Members please note the time and place—same as last year, Riverton Porch Club at 8.15 o'clock. The executive board has asked Eric Warnick to continue the tone practice period started last season, and this will be held at 8 o'clock every rehearsal evening.

TINY CRAFT TO RACE AT RIVERTON

Eleven-foot Boats from Atlantic City and Cohansey
Here Sunday

On Sunday, September 16, Rivertonians will have an opportunity to witness a race between the tiniest boats that have appeared on Riverton waters.

On that date, two fleets of eleven-foot boats, one from Atlantic City and the other from the Cohansey Yacht Club, will hold a demonstration and competitive race here.

This little boat is cat-rigged and carries sixty-five feet of sail. It is essentially a boy's boat and the crew usually consists of one lad, although sometimes it carries two.

The tiny craft was originally built by Joel VanSant, of Atlantic City, who made the boat this odd length just because he happened to have some lumber of that size.

He tried out his experiment in the Thorofare where it attracted much attention, and several of his friends decided to try to build a similar boat which could out-sail the original model.

A fleet of a dozen or more was thus developed and the popularity of this tiny craft has become international.

Former Commodore E. K. Merrill, of the Riverton Yacht Club, was attracted to the boat because of its simple construction and moderate cost, and it appealed to him as a means of developing a desirable increase in the Riverton fleet.

This boat can be built and equipped complete, including the sails, for about $60.

The only restrictions in construction are that it must not be over eleven feet in length nor carry more than seventy-five feet of sail. These simple requirements leave a wide field for the originality and ingenuity of the builder.

to secure permission for the parade and for the use of certain public property. All requests were graciously granted by both bodies and the event has been assured of the whole-hearted cooperation of the governing bodies of the two towns.

Additional members of the various committees as announced by General Chairman Patterson are: H. C. Groome, Vice-Chairman, Harvey G. Fisher, Palmyra representative, Francis E. Baker and Lawrence B. Parker, Publicity Committee.

PET SHOW AT RANCOCAS FAIR

Event Full of Interest for Children—Many Prizes
To Be Given

First details about the pet show that is to be a feature of the country fair to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Baker, near Rancocas on Saturday, September 15, for the benefit of the Burlington County Hospital, have been given out by Mrs. W. E. Jenkins, of Palmyra, who is serving with Harry H. Brunt, of Riverton in arranging this attraction. There will be divisions for dogs, cats, birds, fowl and miscellaneous animals.

The awards in the dog class will be made for the longest and shortest tails, largest and smallest dogs, oldest, youngest, tallest, shortest, best and funniest dressed, best trained and best groomed. Dogs must be on leashes.

The cat awards will be to the largest, smallest, oldest and youngest. Cats must be in wooden containers with wire covers.

The bird and fowl class provides for awards to the largest, smallest, and the bird with the most colorful plumage.

The awards in the miscellaneous animal class will be made after a lot of measuring has been done, for the largest and smallest, and the ones with the longest and shortest tails. Every child exhibitor will receive a ribbon and box of candy in addition to the prizes that will be given to the owners of winners.

Mrs. Jenkins, who lives at 519 Elm avenue, Palmyra, and whose telephone number is Riverton 165, is prepared to give any further information that may be desired.

NEW OFFICE FOR R.R. CELEBRATION

Store in Collins Building Donated; Mrs. Trout
Gives Services

The Joint Celebration Committee has secured through the cooperation of J. S. Collins and Sons, Inc., of Riverton, and their local manager Edward Yerkes, the use of one of their stores in the Collins Building for the establishment of a headquarters for the transaction of the ever-increasing amount of business in connection with the coming Legion Competition and Railroad celebration.

Legionnaires decorated the window and set up temporary office furniture, and all records will be kept and correspondence handled from the headquarters.

Mrs. Grant Trout, of Palmyra, experienced stenographer, has generously volunteered to handle the correspondence and otherwise act in the capacity of office manager for the Joint Committee. She will be at the headquarters most every morning and afternoon, where she will be glad to handle any business in connection with the coming celebration.

POWERS ASKS FOR NEW FIRE INQUIRY

Damage to Cranberry Bogs Said to Have been Caused by Soldiers

The War Department has been asked to make a new investigation of the fire which damaged several thousands of dollars worth of cranberry bogs near Camp Dix on May 16-17, 1932.

The request was made on Monday by Congressman D. Lane Powers, Representative of the 4th Congressional District of New Jersey, which includes Burlington County.

The Congressman has been asked to obtain a new investigation by owners of the cranberry bogs which were damaged in the fire. They aver that the fire was started by soldiers at Camp Dix, and at original hearings held by a Board of Review at the Camp they were made tentative offers by the Government to repay their damage. These offers were later withdrawn by Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, who said it was not sufficiently proven that the fire started at the Camp.

FEDERAL AID FOR STUDENTS

Application to be Made Direct to College or University of Students' Choice

The continuation of Student Aid for the coming academic year, from September 1934 through June 1935, has been assured by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration to colleges meeting the Federal requirements and receiving funds for such purpose from the State Emergency Relief Administration, according to a statement made by W. Rex McCrosson, Executive County Director of Burlington County Emergency Relief Administration.

Applications should be made by students interested in this help directly to the college or university of their choice, asking whether such help is available at that institution.

The principal objective of using relief funds for student aid is to increase the number of young men and women going to college. Therefore funds allotted will not replace college funds heretofore available for student aid.

Students will be selected for the jobs on the following consideration:

(1) Need. The student's financial status shall be such as to make impossible his attendance at college without this aid.

(2) Character and ability to do college work.

At least 50% of the funds allotted to the institution will be paid to students who were not regularly enrolled in any college or university during January, 1934.

Jobs will be allocated between boys and girls in proportion to the enrollment of each in the particular institution.

The hourly rate of pay will be that which is commonly paid by the institution for the type of service rendered, but not less than 30c an hour, and no student will work more than 30 hours in any week or 8 hours in any day.

The pay will be not more than $20.00 per calendar month per student employed, and will be earned by socially desirable work.

Plans are also under way for the possible establishment of the Junior College and Trade School in Burlington County for graduate of High Schools, who so far have been unable to receive employment. It is felt that this project will fill a vital need in the social and economic position of these young men and women who have been unable to secure positions in the business world up until this time.

Formerly dad got those kill-me-quick cigars on Christmas only. Then someone thought up Father's Day.—Buffalo Evening News.

CAMDEN CO. SEEKS JUNIOR COLLEGE

Would Benefit Adjacent Territory. Applications Should Be Made Now

An opportunity exists for Camden County and adjacent territory to secure one of the Junior Colleges which are provided for by Federal grants and operated under the auspices of the Emergency Relief Administration. During the year 1933-34, six Junior Colleges were operated in North Jersey counties, practically the total costs being carried by the Federal Funds allotted for this purpose. At the present time, sufficient funds are available for one Junior College and this money is now being sought after by several counties of North Jersey which have not previously enjoyed the benefits of these educational institutions. In order that the application of Camden County for a Junior College may receive serious consideration, it will be necessary to prove to the Emergency Relief Administration that the necessary patronage will be forthcoming if the College were to be allotted to Camden County.

Prompt action is vitally important on the part of those who would expect to patronize such a College.

Persons who will be interested in enrolling in such an institution should send the following information at once to the supervising principal or superintendent of the local school district or, if no supervisory officer is employed in said districts, to the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, Court House, Camden:

Name and address, high school attended, course taken in high school; whether interested in general academic, business administration, or technical and engineering courses.

HEAVY LOAD OF TAX EXEMPTION

Last Year This Class of Property Cost Taxpayers $38,574. in Last Revenue

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association, in a statement issued on Monday calls attention to the growing list of property which is exempt from property taxation.

"In 1919 the value of property exempt from taxation was $316,000,000 but in 1933 it was over three times as much, or $1,027,000,000.

"The average tax rate for all municipalities in the State during this period increased from $28.53 to $37.56 per $1,000 valuation. In 1919, therefore, the taxes on the exempted property would have amounted to $9,024,000.00, while in 1933 they would have amounted to $38,574,000.00, or four times as much as in 1919.

"Over forty different kinds of property are exempt from taxation, public property being equal to 33 percent of the exempted value, schools 29 percent, churches and charitable institutions 20 percent, and miscellaneous properties 18 percent.

"The tax exemption policy in New Jersey should be revised so that only those properties which render a distinct public service to the people of the State shall be exempt from property taxation."

RELIEF DEMANDS STILL CLIMBING

Peak Reached in May, July Figures Higher Than Same Month Last Year

Tabulations of the State Emergency Relief Administration for July reveal a drop of 2,137 persons below the June total. The July figures were 492,029, and for June 494,166. In July, 1933, the load was 424,284, a difference of 67,745. For May, 1934, the record showed 506,889.

The number of persons cared for represented 12.6 percent of the 3,895,429 population in the 434 municipalities where the ERA operated, and 12.17 percent of the entire 1930 census population of the State.

July decreases in thirteen of the 21 counties, totalling 8,291, were offset by enlargements of 6,154 in the other eight. Passaic produced the greatest growth, 2,163 and Middlesex rose by 1,216. The other additions were: Bergen, 770; Essex, 531; Mercer, 408; Morris, 283; Somerset, 85; and Union, 698.

Expenditures for July went above $3,000,000 for the first time, to $3,079,863. Of which $245,728.78, or 7.9 percent, was for operating costs, including charges of all kinds as well as administration. Relief represented an average of $6.22 for each person during the 31 days, and $24.57 for each family.

RIVERTON BOATS WIN AT BEVERLY

Stiff Northeaster Drives R.Y.C. Craft to Victory in All Classes

The Riverton Yacht Club proved its sailing ability on Labor Day when its boats won three out of three starts against the Beverly Yachts on their own courses. This complete victory wipes out many previous defeats.

Labor Day was one of those typical "northeaster" days with plenty of rain and wind, and it was only with a great deal of effort that the Riverton boats were able to beat up against the wind to the Beverly Club for the races. Seven sail boats and some cruisers made the trip. The members of the Beverly Club served a fine lunch and hot coffee before the races started.

The first race started promptly at one fifteen and was between the Beverly Cricket boats only, no Riverton boats participating. Bob Levin on the No. 8 boat won this race. The next race was for boats under twenty feet not including the Cricket boats. Rod Merrill, of Riverton, won this race and Commodore Marshall's boat, sailed by Owen Merrill, came in second. Two boats were upset in gifting around the lower buoy but fortunately no one was injured when the boats capsized. The next race was for boats over twenty feet, and Ogden Mattis won this race in the "Bob."

The fourth was an impromptu race between the 16-foot class of Riverton and the Cricket class of Beverly.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN

Editor The New Era;
Since it seems to be the fashion right now to "write letters to the editor," here's my contribution.

Old Timer.

One of the questions which is bound to be discussed in the campaign this fall is just how far we have traveled toward prosperity under the New Deal, and just how much the New Deal has helped us along the road to recovery. The following extract from an editorial on Professor Tugwell in a recent issue of the Washington, D. C. Herald gives some interesting facts.

"The figures we give were prepared by the League of Nations economists and are predicated upon a world survey."

"The League of Nations statistics show that the peak of the boom was attained in the summer of 1929, and that the low point of the depression was reached in the summer of 1932. Since then almost every country has been pulling out of the depression. Taking the 1928 average as 100, the economists of the League of Nations had worked out a comparative index of industrial production for the end of 1933.

"Japan led the list. It was much higher than in 1928. Its index was 139.

"Great Britain was nearly back to the 1928 level. Its index was 92. Other countries were less than half way back. Belgium stood at 42, France at 40 and Germany at 35.

"And the United States at 32. . . . The most winsome and gallant smile in the world cannot laugh this off. Here is the New Deal's test—it is not promoting recovery but standing in its way!"

"Killing the Goose"

The thought expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his Labor Day address in Kansas, reminds one somewhat of a story of ancient times when a strike occurred among the Turkish soldiers. They said to the Government: "Our wages are very small and they should be increased." The Government was forced to give them their demands. Shortly afterwards they struck again. Finally all the incomes went to the pockets of the soldiers, to the extent that they killed the king, saying: "Why didst thou not increase the income so that we might have received more?"

Mr. Green said that Labor would fight for a 30-hour week with higher wages than now. Industry would only pay a small part of this added expense. The consumer would pay the balance in higher prices. I wonder just how many consumers COULD pay higher prices—no matter how willing they might be?

Consumer.

The Real Solution

With industry trying to find a way to satisfy the increasing demands of labor, the following extract from an article on economics and socialization by Alfred E. Lunt, a Boston lawyer, might well be given thoughtful consideration:

Strikes and lockouts in industry are a symptom, merely, of the faulty relations of worker and employer. The bargaining power of the great trades unions is based upon the collective influence of multitudes of workers whose only protection against injustice has been conceived to lie in the creation of a class bound together by a community of interest. But this community of interest is wrongly placed. It should be with the employer whose success and profit depends upon the worker's faithfulness and efficiency. Classes are an indication of separation in the business organism, and this has attracted the destructive forces of which strikes and labor troubles are but an inevitable result. The conflicting elements, therefore, must be bound together through a common interest. This interest is attained through true profit-sharing which contemplates a type of partnership or ownership in the business, on the part of the worker. This means, rightly worked out, that a new and hitherto unknown peace will come to the industrial ranks, which no outside force can break.

Besides this, the principle of wages sufficient to assure the workmen of an adequate support should be supplemented by the adoption of a method of pensions to be accorded to faithful workers who have become feeble and helpless. The purpose in all this is to confer a sense of security upon the worker, who comprises the vast majority of all men. This is brotherhood illumined by the light of justice. Wages, alone, fall short of justice to the man or woman whose hands, skilled or unskilled, have become calloused and hardened by countless hours and successive years of faithful service to his or her employer, firm or corporation.

Fair Player.

"SO IT SEEMS"

By Alfred Biggs

A Weekly Review of the World's News—spiced with a few personal opinions

The dramatic victory of Upton Sinclair in his campaign for the gubernatorial nomination in California is the outstanding sensation of the week. The recent "anti-Red" brutalities in that State, and the reactionary tendencies of those in office were, so it seems, an unintentioned camouflage for a deep underlying current of dissatisfaction which seized upon this opportunity to express itself. During recent years the suffering of the under-dog in that over-advertised "land of sunshine" has been acute. It is no wonder that they rallied to Mr. Sinclair's support; not even his opponents could deny that he has a clear vision of the plight of the forgotten man. A salutary lesson has been taught the bombastic vigilantes and colored-shirt terrorists as well as the highly "patriotic" officers of the law, who have recently jailed hundreds of men and women for no other reason than they sought by legitimate methods to ventilate their dissatisfaction with the current economic and industrial maladjustment.

Anticipates Opposition

Upton Sinclair shows intelligent anticipation of events to come when he says that when he is elected to office he will have to contend with direct opposition from the Legislature. And how! Under his "Epic" plan, he says, "The State will rent plots of land and idle factories, and on them the unemployed will exchange script which will be worthless to anyone but themselves. They will thus live outside the normal fiscal structure, with no loan to anyone." He certainly will not get very far with his program without the continued support of the people. His chances with the Legislature will be no better than those of a rabbit in a dog house.

New Pace for New Deal

While conceding that Upton Sinclair's Epic program is slightly Utopian, if not "epic" in an idealistic sense, it is within the bounds of possibility that if he is elected he will set a new pace for Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal which has somewhat lagged recently. It is difficult to see how the President will be able to maintain a non-committal attitude in the face of the sweeping reforms Mr. Sinclair proposes to inaugurate. He will have to declare himself for or against the Sinclair program to End poverty in California. Whatever he does will be met with a howl of execration either by the "ins" or the "outs." It is a clearly drawn issue; it may prove to be a pivotal point on which our national fortune will turn.

"But They Go in Rags"

The threatened textile strike has come. All who have our national well-being at heart will deplore the necessity for this devastating challenge which will bring hardship and suffering to hundreds of thousands of unoffending citizens, particularly the wives and children of the strikers. If the strike spreads to the silk and woollen industries, as it is likely to do, it will become a major national catastrophe. The mill owners have declined to reduce the present work week from 40 hours to 30 while maintaining the 40-hour week pay level, and also they decline to recognize the workers' Union. Francis J. Gorman, representing the United

Textile Workers, in making his public statement for the strike, added an after-thought in which he touched the heart of the question in its larger aspects. "Our people make cloth," he said, "but they go in rags."

Drifting to "Showdown"

As repeatedly stated in this column, that is the gist of our economic and industrial problem. All technical questions and difficulties in adjustment, and there are many that are terribly involved, are of minor importance in relation to the fact that the people in the mass are unable to purchase the goods they make. In one form or another the people must have adequate purchasing power. Under the present system they most decidedly have not. Mr. Hoover attempted to loosen credit, which virtually means purchasing power, at the top in the vain hope that it would percolate down to the people. Mr. Roosevelt promised to loosen it at the bottom but his efforts have been quietly sabotaged by the capitalists and industrialists. We are drifting definitely to a "showdown"—the eventual outcome of which no man can see. There is little doubt, however, that our children's children will profit through the pains and penalties of this present generation.

"As a Man Thinketh"

Hotheads may say: "A fig for our children's children, where do we come in the picture?" Neither by reckless tearing down, nor by hasty building up can the present economic structure which has taken generations to build be changed to keep pace with the times. A prerequisite to effective economic change is a change in the hearts of men. We have grown up in the belief that individual success can be measured by material standards; we still live in the shadow of the great fortune grabbers: we have yet to learn that only in cooperation and practical goodwill to men shall we find economic and industrial peace and contentment.

Winter—and HCL

But, in spite of all, we are very slowly gaining ground and possibly moving toward better conditions. Due to NRA there has been a slight improvement in the purchasing power of the people. Hours have been reduced and wages increased. Industrialists have increased their profits but this has been reflected in increased prices to the consumer. This increase in the cost of living has virtually absorbed the increase in purchasing power. At this time there is definitely a recession in business generally which has been too long continued. With the approaching Fall there may be a general pick-up in trade although the impending textile strike threatens to dash that pious hope to the ground. Perhaps it is better to look facts in the face and prepare for possible eventualities. We still have about 10,000,000 unemployed; funds are inadequate to meet the demands of those needing relief. In New York City alone we have around one fourth of the population on relief. Even the most optimistic observer can not hope for any worthwhile improvement before winter which now seriously threatens to be the most disastrous in our history.

THAT WILL BE SOMETHING

When that 1,000 miles of trees are planted there will be ample shade for all of us to sit in, and if things continue as they are we all shall have ample time for sitting.—Logan (La.) Observer.

The circle is not yet complete. The Government has invented no way by which it pays your taxes.—Detroit News.

W. C. McCoy of Mercer county, Pa., thus sums it up: "We've had very little relief from NRA, CWA, PWA and AAA. Why don't they try PIG, Cow, EWE, and HEN?"

DEPENDABLE SERVICE IS WORTH THE PRICE

TRUE, in paying the electric bill, you pay for the current consumed over a stated period.

But, however intangible, there is another commodity that is yours also as a user of electric service!

That commodity is—Dependability.

And dependability is based on 24 hour a day service. Electricity is a servant which is never idle, night or day.

Dependability is assured by the most modern equipment, up-to-the-minute findings of the research laboratory and the efficiency of well-trained workers.

In order that you shall have the best service at all hours of the day and night your company keeps pace with the latest improvements in the ever-developing field of electricity! It costs money to keep modern—and, thus, dependable. But who would have it otherwise?

You get a lot for a little when you pay for electric service that you can depend upon!

No other item in the household budget gives so much for so little as electricity.

OBSERVATIONS

By Dartash

Twisted and Twisted

Should Franklin D. Roosevelt, as president, announce that the taxpayers must furnish Union labor with funds to carry on war against the right of Americans to work without dictation from Labor bosses, it would mean war. Liberty is worth fighting for, as our ancestors proved.

When the administration announces that the striking textile unions shall be fed from funds raised by taxation, what is the difference?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"MAN" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 9.

The Golden Text is: "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Romans 8: 14).

Among the citation which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Genesis 1:26).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is coexistent and eternal with that Mind. He has been forever in the eternal Mind; God; but infinite Mind can never be in man, but is reflected by man" (p. 336).

Short-cuts to the Dinner Table

MAKING SALADS APPEAL TO THE EYE AS WELL AS THE PALATE

Summer days are truly salad days and what could touch the spot with more appeal than cold fruit or vegetable on crisp lettuce leaves or refreshing meat or fish salads that are not too heavy. Suppose, today, we go into this business of making a salad—one that appeals to the eye and the palate as well.

In making a salad, the first thing to do is make the lettuce deliciously crisp, and to do this, we must wash it under cold running water. Then dry the leaves very carefully and put them in a container in the refrigerator. Of course, we're not always going to have lettuce for the base of our salad, but the same principle applies for making crisp whatever we happen to use. For the base of a salad we may use endive, chicory, romaine, watercress or even cabbage.

The next thing to keep in mind, is, if we are using fruits that discolor quickly, such as pears, apples or bananas, to sprinkle a little lemon juice over them to keep them fresh looking until they are served. When we select ingredients which are to be diced or chopped, we should do this dicing or chopping with a sharp knife and then toss the ingredients lightly together.

Meat, fish or vegetable salads are improved by marinating, and to do this, make a dressing of 3 table-spoonsful of oil, one table-spoonful of lemon juice or vinegar and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Place the meat, fish or vegetables, as the case may be, in the dressing and place in refrigerator for about one hour before serving.

Suppose I give you several salad recipes today. The first is what we might call a Harlequin Salad with its combination of tongue, lima beans, pickles, etc. But here is the recipe.

HARLEQUIN SALAD
1½ cups boiled tongue diced
1½ cups cooked lima beans
½ cup sweet pickles—chopped fine
¾ cup stuffed olives
1 table-spoonful mayonnaise
3 table-spoonfuls salad oil
3 table-spoonfuls vinegar
Salt and pepper to taste

Blend together the mayonnaise, oil, vinegar and salt and pepper. Then combine this with the tongue, beans, pickles and olives. Chill thoroughly, drain and serve on crisp lettuce, or watercress, garnishing with additional mayonnaise and rose radishes.

Another delicious salad is an orange mint salad. It calls for four oranges, which should be made into sections, and have all white membrane removed—3 table-spoonfuls confectioner's sugar, 2 table-spoonfuls lemon juice, a dash of salt, 2 drops of almond extract, 2 table-spoonfuls chopped mint and one third cupful mayonnaise. This is an easily made salad, and a bit unusual. Merely combine all ingredients except the chopped mint and mayonnaise. Chill it and arrange on crisp lettuce leaves. When serving sprinkle chopped mint over the top and garnish with mayonnaise.

Season ingredients with salt and pepper to taste and mix with Mayonnaise, serving it on cold lettuce leaves. If desired, garnish with sliced tomatoes, hard cooked egg or pickled beets.

FOOTPATHS ALONG PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

New Project Recommended by State Emergency Relief Administration

Construction of foot paths along roads which connect centers of traffic in suburban and rural territory has been urged for years as insurance of limb and life to pedestrians but the expense of construction has been so restricted such improvements. Now the State Emergency Relief Administration proposes to do all it can to further the development.

To that end the Works Division of the ERA has urged construction of footpaths as among the most desirable projects. In a bulletin sent to all counties, the Works Division emphasizes the value of such jobs, and "particularly where the passage of school children and other pedestrian traffic is concerned."

"Projects of this type," the bulletin adds, "are socially desirable and will provide work for a large number of men with the minimum of materials. They should be undertaken wherever the opportunity is afforded."

France has been urged, by home advisers, to pay her debt to us in wine. It won't work, we are afraid. The way France feels about paying, the stuff would be vinegar.—Portland Oregonian.

TIPS ON GROWING

BY ONE WHO GREW UP IN THE BUSINESS

There is much discussion at the present time regarding the dainty little alpine Rose, Rosa Rouletti. (The smallest rose in commerce.) This, when grown under alpine conditions among rocks, seldom attains a height of more than six to eight inches, but is said by some that when grown in rich soil in full sun will attain a height of a foot to eighteen inches.

Others say that the true variety never loses its dwarf characteristics and that the taller growing type is a variety of Rosa Lawrenceana. However, a reliable grower, who secured plants from the eminent Swiss introducer Correvon, insists that plants propagated from the true variety Rouletti lose their dwarf characteristics when grown under exceptionally favorable conditions.

Those familiar with the utility value of the Daisy-like yellow hardy perennial Coreopsis will like the new deep golden colored sort from Australia, "Mayfield Giant"—tall and strong growing. Sow seeds now for flowers in late spring and early summer.

Another new variety is Auriculata superba, also bearing golden yellow flowers but with a border of maroon red surrounding the disc.

Annual trailers that always induce a lively interest are the ornamental Gourds, the "Pipes," "Dippers," "Spoons," "Dish Rags," etc., and a packet of mixed seed produces the most curious results. Gourds may be hollowed out suitable for flowers vases and pots and stained or painted attractive colors, and then sold as novelties when filled with flowers.

It is certainly a shame that the lovely fragrant Tuberoses seem to be shunned, because its odor "reminds one of funerals." Roses, carnations and violets are used in the make up of funeral pieces, and they are far from being banned on that account. In a yard on Scott Street, Riverside, one night last week a table of these glistening white flowers scented the street for some distance.

The Fleece Vine (Polygonum Auberthii) in flower is a mass of panicles of fleecy white bloom. It is probably the most satisfactory of all vines for blooming in late summer. Rapid and lengthy in growth when once established, hardy and disease-free. It dies down to the ground each season, eventually making a woody base. May be secured in pot plants now from the nurseries, or plants from the field in October.

What Would the Founders of Our Country Say to THIS?

Where Your Money Goes!

One is inclined more to pity the AAA than to laugh at its latest porcine pickle. How was it to know that there was anything more to Middlesex County than the embattled farmers of history, the rude bridge, and Harvard University? How was it to know that more hogs are raised in the broad fields between the Dunstons House bookshop and the Lowell Mills than in any area of its size in the West?

Such seems to be the case, however, and, according to a news dispatch from Boston, it has cost the AAA exactly $365,000 to find it out. Like Cal Coolidge, the Middlesex farmers were never much for talking and when the depression came they let their cousins out West to do all of that. Thus, when the "ploughing under" of pigs was ordered, nobody supposed that the environs of Boston would be a principal beneficiary.

But the silent men of Middlesex, who had fed the hogs and faced bankruptcy, followed the pig reduction program faithfully, like good citizens, and sent in the bill. And the government, aghast that the piggeries could be so extensive sent investigators into the territory. Sad-faced they returned. It was so. They raised an awful lot of pigs in Harvard's back yard. One hundred and five Middlesex farmers had "ploughed under" $365,000 worth of pork.—Washington Post.

It is certainly a shame that the lovely fragrant Tuberoses seem to be shunned, because its odor "reminds one of funerals." Roses, carnations and violets are used in the make up of funeral pieces, and they are far from being banned on that account. In a yard on Scott Street, Riverside, one night last week a table of these glistening white flowers scented the street for some distance.

The Fleece Vine (Polygonum Auberthii) in flower is a mass of panicles of fleecy white bloom. It is probably the most satisfactory of all vines for blooming in late summer. Rapid and lengthy in growth when once established, hardy and disease-free. It dies down to the ground each season, eventually making a woody base. May be secured in pot plants now from the nurseries, or plants from the field in October.

Memorial Park Playground Baseball Dope

Bankers 14—YMCA 1

The Bankers seem to have a yen for big last inning stands. This afternoon they pushed over eight needed runs in that stanza to rub it in on the YMCA by a score which finally stopped at fourteen to one. In the first game of the series, they tied the score with seven runs in the ninth. This victory deadlocks the playground world series at one game all, the first was a tie.

The lopsided score does not indicate that the game was tight, but it was; as late as the seventh inning, the Bank led only two runs with Y making scoring bids persistently. The first blood, two runs, was drawn by the Bank in the second inning when three hits, two walks, a wild pitch over the backstop, and a passed ball combined to do the trick. The Trust Co. added another in the fourth which the Y nullified by notching their only run of the game in the fifth inning, on three hits. Until the Financiers' big last inning spurge, that was all the scoring.

Hubbs, pitching his second game in twenty-four hours, had the edge on Woodward who hadn't hurled since Wednesday night; Hubbs allowed twelve hits and was invincible in the pitches, while Dick had twenty-two knocks charged against him.

The game was delayed for a few minutes in the eighth when Enskat's foul liked the trees so much that it roosted in the branches and took a great deal of persuasion to come down. This is only the second time such a thing has happened; the other time was during the Athletics-Lamplighters tussle on August 5, 1932. Today was the first "ball-up-a-tree" in a world series.

Weikman with five hits, and Bonatelli and King with three apiece, led the Bank attack, while Friberg and Beddow with three each topped the Y.

AUGUST 31—

YMCA 5—BANKERS 4

In real world series fashion, the fighting Why team nosed out the Bankers in a last ditch rally, by the score of five to four, giving them the edge in the series. Not only was the style of the playing world series, but the rooting, jockeying, and arguing was too—more of that later.

Going into the end of the ninth stanza trailing by one run, "Doc" Brady grounded out for the YMCA. Carpenter followed this gloomy opening with his fourth hit, a bunt. Hubbs threw out Finn, Carpenter advancing to base. Baker, who singled and made second as Carpenter went on to third. With the pro-YMCA rodders yelling blue-blazes, Walt Beddow singled, sending Carpenter over with the tying run. Baker played safe and hugged third, but he was boosted across when Shuck drove out a single.

The Bankers' big inning was the seventh when they scored three times to forge ahead for the moment. After Bonatelli had popped out, Weikman and King singled and worked a double steal while Brady was pitching to Burke, who had no more run making.

Umpires Rotenbury, Cook and Carhart did good work altho they were pelted with verbal pop bottles at any but the most obvious decisions. Twice the team in the field let a bunt roll which stopped so close to the line that surveying instruments were almost necessary to determine its fairness or foulness.

The Bankers did a lot of tearful appealing to the ump who seemed to get the crowd down on them. For instance, after Enskat had walked in the Bankers' fourth, Hardy popped in front of the box. Both Brady and Shuck, Y pitcher and catcher, went for it with the result that they collided and the ball rolled

NET TOURNNEY NEAR FINALS

Sunday Set for Tennis Cup Finals in All Divisions, Weather Permitting

Two of the four seeded players in the singles division of the Memorial Park Men's Tennis Championship were defeated in the early rounds of the tournament. The doubles play finds all four teams, which were selected to come through to the semi-final round, still intact. The first major upset was recorded when Clyde Ellsey's tactics of keeping the ball in play proved too much for a very erratic Vincent Hackett, fourth in the ranking list and winner of the cup in 1931. The final score was 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Throughout the match Ellsey never gave up, often recovering balls which seemed far out of his reach. Hackett, on the other hand, frequently gave way at crucial periods, serving doubles on game point several times. Ellsey's service was extremely faithful and fully half of his first attempts were well in the service court. This victory placed Ellsey in the semi-finals where he will meet E. Newbold Cooper.

King Downs Caldwell

George King scored the second upset of the tournament. Playing excellent tennis, George literally broke Porter Caldwell's game to bits. Caldwell was making his first appearance in the tourney, his second seeding post having given him a bye into the second round. The off the field, Enskat tried to come home on the play and was tagged out by Brady at the plate. Then the Bankers tried to say that "two base on a ball into the crowd" and that Enskat should have stayed at third. The out remained.

The cheering and jockeying of the spectators was at once funny and unnerving. Besides Gus Schoenfeld, who gave his version of a red-skin scalping yell, some of the female rodders approximated a high-pitched transcription of the incidental noises from "King Kong" with a Tarzan cadenza for occasional contrast. It was interesting to notice how their caterwauls were stilled when their game went against their favorite teams.

The longest hit of the game was a three-bagger by Walt Shields in the fifth frame—he might have made it a homer, but didn't know, when he pulled up on first, that Shuck was going to miss the throw-in. Holly Carpenter bashed out four good hits for the winner's cause, and Shuck three. Clay Weikman larpured three and Enskat two to top the Trust Co.'s hitting army.

SEPTEMBER 4—

Bankers 9—YMCA 0

The Bankers came through in fine style tonight, not only beating the Y to assume the lead in the series, but whitewashing them by a score of nine to nothing—not a forfeit, either. The fine style consisted of inspired playing, both in the field and with the stick. The YMCA on the otherhand didn't seem to be good "money players"; evidently unnerfed by the huge crowd and the momentousness of the game, they went to pieces behind the pitching of "Doc" Brady.

The hero of the game was Paul Burke of the Bankers, who up till tonight only had two hits in three games; he smashed out four ringing blows, scored four runs, and had ten assists without an error. With not quite as many assists, perhaps, but with equal batting record, was pitcher Hubbs, Sr., also of the Bankers. For the YMCA, in their hour of misery, Beddow in leftfield, Buckholz behind the bat, and Ed. Friberg at first did good work; Friberg also had two hits.

The victory gives the Bankers the edge in the series, two games to one, with the next game coming up Thursday night, and the last, if needed, on Saturday afternoon.

match was very even. Caldwell started well and ran out of the first set at 6-3. King then tied the set, count by the identical score. The third set, the last half of which was played in deep twilight, found King the aggressor. He seized the lead to 5-3. Here Porter retained his service, but was forced to surrender the next after he had avoided three early in the set and held his service match points.

Borer Eliminates King
Robert Borer, six times junior champion, kept pace with Ellsey and Cooper to enter the semi-final bracket by administering a 6-3, 6-3, set back to George King. The tennis was of a very high standard, baseline driving featuring the play. Neither player's service was consistent, but their ground strokes more than covered the deficiency in other departments. Borer's forehand was very effective, and King could not seem to direct drives elsewhere. The shots were not spectacular, unless speed is to be considered as such, but they were consistently placed well.

Perhaps the most spectacular match of the tournament was the one in which Buhler and Gros crossed rackets; the former won but only after three gruelling sets, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Throughout the match service was the potent but not deciding element. Gros lead 3-2 in the first set, only to see his opponent whisk away four consecutive games. Gros came back in the second and pulled away after the score was tied at 3-3. Buhler's drives were almost always out in this set. Softening his game, Buhler played cautious tennis during the final chapter, being content to return the ball and wait for errors.

Cooper Defending Cup
E. Newbold Cooper, two time cup winner, made his tournament bow auspiciously by trouncing Walter Smith 6-0, 6-0. Cooper displayed much of his old form, but was uncertain in executing drives. Continuing his well directed drives, Cooper vanquished Lewis Robbins in the quarterfinal round 6-2, 6-3. Robbins simply could not cope with Cooper's superior all round play and was constantly driven out of position, affording his opponent many opportunities to make placements.

Carl Peterson, present champion by virtue of capturing the spring tournament, entered the quarterfinals easily by downing Jack Reynolds, 6-0, 6-2.

Doubles Under Way
Turning to the doubles, two pairs have entered the semifinals and meet there. Buhler and Latch outplayed Wallace and Welsh to win 6-1, 6-0. The losers had already won a hard 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 match from Barto and Moore earlier in the day and were tiring rapidly during the second set. The victors showed to good advantage but lacked the heavy opposition which would tell just how well they can play.

Borer and Peterson completed the semifinal round of the lower bracket by beating Ellsey and Jermon, 6-3, 6-0. Borer was far from the form which gained him his semifinal place in singles and Peterson did the major part of the work. The victors worked smoothly together, however, dropping no points because they were out of place.

A Few Forecasts
Although it is a risk to pick winners when the quarterfinal round has not yet been played by those whom one selects, this writer predicts that the singles final on Sunday will bring together Carl Peterson and E. Newbold Cooper with Peterson the eventual victor. To do this, however, Peterson must defeat in turn Buhler and then Borer, a matter not to be taken lightly.

In the doubles final the writer believes that Borer and Peterson will face Cooper and Woodward with the former contingents winning the cups. Again uncertainty reigns, for Borer and Peterson face the very powerful team of Buhler and Latch, and Cooper and Woodward have their hands full also. If these predictions are true, Peterson will repeat the feat which Cooper performed when he won both crowns. Hilda Hagstoz should again win the woman's singles trophy.

MEN'S SINGLES

P.R.R. GIVES NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE

Celebration Gains Momentum; Ticket Drive to Be Made
Soon by Legionnaires

During the past week the schedule of the new trains has been announced, and is reproduced at the end of this article.

According to the transportation committee from the Riverfront towns these trains have been scheduled in compliance with the desire of several thousand people who evidenced their preference in the recent questionnaire which was circulated in all the communities from Palmyra to Bordentown.

One of the features of the celebration of the new Pennsylvania Railroad service to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, to be held at Riverton and Palmyra on Saturday, September 29, will be the appearance of the Henry H. Houston Drum and Bugle Corps of Germantown, Pa., in the competition where leading outfits in the East will vie for honors.

This corps is a most colorful group, being attired in oxford gray uniforms patterned on the style of the Canadian Northwest mounted police. They also wear white Sam Browne belts and pearl gray Stetson hats.

The music itself is unique in that this corps has accomplished the seemingly impossible: playing operatic selections, waltzes and even popular music on a strictly regulated bugle. Their drill is extremely complicated and is performed from beginning to end without vocal or whistle commands.

Germantown won the championship of the Eastern States at East Orange in 1933 and is expected to be a leading contender for the crown in 1934.

In addition to the Houston group there will be at least twelve other corps present, all well known throughout the Middle Atlantic states. These units are of championship caliber and the Germantown unit should be furnished lively competition. Included in the list that will positively appear are posts from Perth Amboy, Morristown, Passaic, and Woodbridge, all of New Jersey; Tacony, Norristown and Bristol, Pa., and the Wilmington Corps of Delaware.

The competition prizes are as follows (continued on page 8)

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS AND SUBSCRIBERS FOR FELLOWSHIP CHORAL

At a recent meeting of the executive board of the Fellowship Choral Club, several important measures were initiated relative to the conduct of the coming season.

In response to numerous requests made last year for the establishment of an associate membership, a plan was adopted whereby a list of patrons and patronesses will be built up among those in Riverton and Palmyra interested in supporting the musical and social ideals represented by the Choral Club.

This list is now open to subscription. $2.00 a year, entitling each subscriber to four complimentary tickets to the Fellowship's Spring concert. Applications may be made immediately to Nathan Lane of Highway, Riverton, who is president of the organization. The number of subscriptions issued will, of course, be restricted, so prompt application is advised.

An initiation fee of $1 was established for new members. At present both bass and baritone quotas are full; voices are needed in the first and second tenor sections. Application should be made to Victor Ritschard, chairman of the membership committee.

The first rehearsal of the Fellowship Choral for the forthcoming season will be held Monday, September 24th, at 8:15 o'clock in the Riverton Porch Club. Tone practice under Eric Warnick at 8:00 promptly.

RAPS RECORD OF 1934 LEGISLATURE ON SCHOOLS

A report charging that one of the twenty-three bills affecting education passed thus far by the 1934 Legislature is a constructive approach to the basic education problem in the State was adopted today by the Executive Committee of the Citizens' State Committee on Education.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Dean Herbert C. Hunsaker of Dana College, outlined its activities for the coming months. These include direct personal contact by the committee with members of the present legislature and with candidates at the coming election, all designed to secure the early enactment of Assembly Bill 169. The Committee also decided to organize a speakers' bureau, which will arrange meetings and supply speakers in every county in the State; it will cooperate with the American Legion in the observance of American Education Week, November 5-11, and will make a campaign for increased membership, probably early in November. A special planning committee was set up to organize these activities.

The socialists say that Upton Sinclair is not a Socialist and the Democrats say he is not a Democrat but he says he wants to spend a hundred million dollars of taxpayers money and Harry Hopkins promptly welcomes him as a New Dealer.

$10,000 PROJECT FOR PALMYRA

Government Will Finance Extensive Tree Program for This Winter

That work on the pruning, trimming and removing of trees in all parts of the borough would start soon, was announced by Mayor Walter D. Lamon, at a meeting of the Palmyra Borough Council last Tuesday night.

Howard E. Powell, of West Broad street, objected to the expenditure of $10,000 for this work, but it was pointed out that the only expense to the borough would be for materials, the balance of the cost to be borne by the federal government as part of the re-employment projects.

Members of the railroad committee of council, Councilmen Floyd Spahr, Carl Thomas and Charles K. Mervine, were authorized to confer with officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in an effort to have a new grade crossing built at Chestnut street near the new municipal park.

The railroad company has agreed to build the new crossing if the present crossing at Wallace lane can be removed. Council notified the railroad officials that the borough's governing body has no authority in this matter, since there was an agreement between property owners of Wallace lane and the railroad many years ago for the maintenance of the crossing. Council asked the railroad company to get the consent of the property owners, agreeing to give their permission after that.

H. Harold Wills, works supervisor of the Burlington county E.R.A., conferred with members of council regarding improvement projects on federal funds.

Wills asked council to submit a list of projects to the E.R.A. officials for the Winter work projects of the county.

Various councilmanic committees will determine the projects for their departments, it was agreed.

RUMMAGE SALE

The thirty-second rummage sale of the Burlington County Tuberculosis League will be held at the Brown's Mills Auditorium on October 10th and 11th.

COAL BUYERS ARE WARNED OF FRAUD

County Superintendent, Weights and Measures Exposes Cheating

In my published reports, and otherwise, I have repeatedly brought to the attention of all our citizens specific state laws and regulations that seek to protect all against fraud and deception in the purchase of the usual commodities, especially coal, emphasizing the fact that all coal must be sold by weight, and that all deliveries, over 100 lbs. must be accompanied by a ticket, upon which must be expressed the name and location of the dealer, the name and address of the purchaser, the amount of the delivery in pounds indelibly written (ink or indelible pencil), over which the seal of a Weights and Measures official must be stamped. The ticket also signed by that Weights and Measures official who did the weighing. Notwithstanding all a series of swindles in the coal-by-truck traffic has been brought to light the extent of which is almost unbelievable.

"Easy Money"

A citizen saw an opportunity to make some easy money through the household's eager desire to meet his shrinking income and rising expenses by availing himself of the lessened cost of coal brought by truck directly from the mine. The citizen entered into partnership with a young fellow, Michael Kalnash, to deliver to said citizen coal at an agreed price. The citizen instituted a canvass in Mount Holly and elsewhere for orders. These Kalnash filled. The citizen collected the money and paid him for the coal, less the citizen's share for procuring the orders.

Early in the game Kalnash was picked up in front of the citizen's house by the county weights department. Both were instructed as to (continued from page 6)

TWO KILLED IN ODD ACCIDENT

Pleasure Car Runs Under Back of Ice Truck, Tearing Off Top

At three o'clock Monday morning a Ford sedan driven by James Jackson, of 412 North Twenty-ninth street, Camden, ran into the rear of an ice truck owned by Kitty Waldman, of 2332 South Tenth street, Philadelphia, and driven by Willie Smart, of 2126 Kimball street, Philadelphia. It is not known how the accident occurred but the car ran under the truck, cutting the top completely off.

In the car with Jackson were his wife, Lucille, daughter, Marion and one-year-old James Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, of East Riverton.

Mrs. Jackson was dead when help arrived, having received a cut throat, broken neck and a deep gash in the face. The baby died on the way to the hospital in the Merchantville ambulance. Marion was badly cut and Jackson received cuts of the head and face.

Officer William Stack, of the Palmyra police force, was patrolling on River Road near the Pennsauken bridge when he heard the crash. He transferred the injured into the police car and with the assistance of Smart took them to Dr. LeFavor who immediately ordered them to Cooper Hospital.

The case was then turned over to the Pennsauken police in whose district the accident happened.

HOFFMAN OPPOSES DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY FUNDS

Critics of Harold G. Hoffman, Republican candidate for Governor, who have found fault with his insistence that State Highway Bonds should not be diverted to provide funds for emergency relief, were further enlightened by him in a statement issued from his headquarters in Newark, Saturday.

"A further diversion of Highway Bonds," he said, "whether it be to finance relief or for any other purpose, would mean a one-third reduction in the amount of Federal aid which New Jersey would be entitled to receive for the years 1935 and 1936."

The Hayden-Cartwright Bill provides "that should any State divert highway funds, whether current funds or bond monies, after June 30, 1934, that such State would receive Federal aid for year 1935 and 1936 which would be reduced by 33 1/3 percent of the amount that it would receive had it not made such diversion."

In 1934 Federal aid to New Jersey for highway construction and maintenance amounts to approximately three and one-quarter million dollars.

"Highway construction, improvement and maintenance, have been a substantial factor in providing employment throughout the depression. A curtailment of Federal funds to New Jersey would mean a reduction of this method of providing employment," said Mr. Hoffman.

LOCAL WELFARE NEEDS GROWING

Applications for Relief Double Those of Last Year, Winter Clothing Needed

The Riverton-Cinnaminson Welfare Association is facing the most difficult year it has encountered since its organization three years ago. Already applications for relief are double those of last year. The majority of these applicants have been dependable, thrifty citizens. They have weathered the depression to this point, but now find their resources exhausted.

Every effort is made to make their present burdens lighter. If material needs are supplied and steady encouragement and backing are given, difficult situations invariably change for the better.

Few readers probably appreciate the fact that our communities had a surprisingly low number of families on relief during the summer. Compared with other towns in Burlington County the number was almost nil. This was due wholly to the zeal with which men of the family hunted jobs. Some walked miles for only a few hours' work. True, we have chronic relief cases, those who will always feel that the town and government owes them a living, but the number is relatively small.

At this time our resources in the way of clothing are practically exhausted. We are in urgent need of men's, boys', children's shoes, boys' blouses and trousers, men's suits, large women's dresses also infants wear.

Haven't you something stored away which won't be used this winter? And how about a job? We now have reliable men, women and girls who come to our office every day looking for work. This winter will be a hard one, and we can't let less fortunate citizens down.

If you are unable to give financial support give the Welfare a boost with a kindly word. Constructive criticism to the Social Worker is always welcomed.

Delay is fatal to good resolutions.

HAROLD HOFFMAN'S STAND ON CRIME

Recommends That States Combine in Fighting Growth of Lawlessness

The creation of an Interstate Crime Commission, in which New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania might join for mutual assistance in preventing crime and in enforcing their respective criminal laws and policies was advocated by Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, in an address last Tuesday before the convention of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association at Atlantic City.

"How to meet the challenge thrown down by law-breakers is one of the acute problems of our civilization," he said. "No one can deny that it is a challenge. Everywhere we see evidences of rapacious warfare against order and government."

"In fifteen years the number of prisoners in penal institutions for adults in New Jersey has nearly doubled. Other states have had the same experience."

"One of the worst aspects of the situation is the organization and energy displayed by criminals. We have long known with what ease a criminal could evade detection or make arrest difficult by escaping from one state to another. The underworld in New Jersey has learned some of the lessons of big business, and alliances exist between one form of crime and another and in some cases between the criminals and legitimate or semi-legitimate business. New rackets spring up on every hand. We need new measures to protect society and to reduce our staggering crime bill."

New Jersey, the candidate said, had been a leader in fighting crime, and he complimented the police and the court officials for their effective efforts.

"Our penal and correctional institutions are exceptional in character," he continued, "but no state can meet this problem alone. It is a task calling for concerted action by all states. Congress passed the Amherst-Summers Law, authorizing any two or more states to enter into compacts for mutual assistance in preventing crime

EYE WITNESS OF SEA DISASTER

Mrs. Harry C. Schwering Views Burning Vessel from Deck of Rescue Ship

Mrs. Harry C. Schwering, of Palmyra, a passenger aboard the S. S. Monarch of Bermuda, was an eye witness to the burning of the S. S. Morro Castle eight miles off the coast of Asbury Park Saturday morning.

Mrs. Schwering, who was returning from a pleasure trip to Bermuda, had arisen at four o'clock Saturday morning to see the harbor pilot arrive on board to pilot the liner up the river. At 3:40 a.m. the Monarch of Bermuda had received the SOS from the ship in distress. It took approximately half an hour for the pilot to get aboard because of the rough seas, and in the meantime the Bermuda had tried to wireless the S. S. Morro Castle to see if their help was needed. Receiving no reply they turned toward the burning ship some time between 4:30 and 5:00 a.m.

Sees Burning Ship

At the time the ship turned back on its course none of the passengers knew the reason, Mrs. Schwering states. After seeing the pilot aboard she went to the lounge room, where she napped intermittently. Shortly after five o'clock she decided to go into her stateroom and pack, as the ship was due to land at 9:00 p.m. She hadn't been at the task very long, when a steward knocked on her door and asked her in a very calm manner if she would like to see a ship that he "thought" was burning not far away. Mrs. Schwering rushed to the porthole of her room and there before her eyes was the massive liner ablaze.

From the sun deck she watched the rescue of as many as possible of the ill-fated ship's passengers and crew.

She watched six life boats lowered into the sea with many of the Monarch's officers and crew. Mrs. Schwering saw one man jump into the ocean from the stern of the burning vessel. He was immediately picked up by one of the life boats from the Bermuda.

Nearly Roasted Alive

She told of watching a man hang from the center of the blazing ship on a rope for nearly one hour and a half. He was standing on a buffer, about four feet out of the water and each time a wave broke, it came nearly to his shoulders. During the time of the rescue it had begun to rain. This quieted the sea and made it possible to rescue him. When he came aboard the Monarch his whole side was badly scorched and he was in a state of collapse.

A waiter on the Monarch of Bermuda, had formerly been on the Morro Castle.

When he arrived at the scene of the disaster he was one of the first to offer his help, as he knew many of those aboard the ill-fated ship. He jumped into one of the life boats and in picking up people from the water rescued his best friend. At the time of the rescue the friend was blinded from the fire and water. The rescued man recognized the voice of his friend and those on board the Monarch witnessed a very happy reunion.

A Brave Rescue

Mrs. Schwering also told of the bravery of Chief Mate McKeekin and eighteen members of the crew going out in a life boat to rescue some people floating near the aft end of the vessel. The sea was quite rough at that time and they were dangerously near the rudder of the ship, so much so, that the boat nearly capsized. They brought in five people, who might otherwise have drowned.

Mrs. Schwering said the flames had died down entirely and the ship was smoking when the Monarch of Bermuda turned toward New York shortly after nine o'clock.

When asked if she would ever take another ocean trip Mrs. Schwering said, "Surely, a tragedy like that would probably only happen once in a life time."

Like Men With Palsy

The first life boat back to the S. S. Monarch took forty-five minutes to land on the Monarch because of the rough sea. The survivors in this boat were shivering so badly it looked as though they were victims of palsy. Mrs. Schwering said that the whites of their eyes were as red as a piece of beefsteak from the smoke and salt water. One man who was standing on the front of the boat was so close to the flames that when he had been rescued and brought aboard the Monarch the witnesses saw that his pants had been nearly burned off.

Dropped Like Flies

Mrs. Schwering said that they were watching the people on the forward part of the top deck of the Morro Castle, and when a life boat would get anywhere near them they would just drop or jump off the burning vessel like so many flies.

Those who were able to, were forced to walk around the Monarch to start the blood circulating, and those who were not were taken below to the doctor who fixed them up with whiskey and other stimulants.

One man who had been given a cup of hot coffee continued to try to drink from the cup long after it was empty. Mrs. Schwering said that she believed he was so excited that he didn't even know what he was doing.

Monarch Rescues 64

Sixty-four people were rescued by the Monarch and when the boat turned back toward New York there were no living left in the sea. Mrs. Schwering said that there were a good many bodies left, but she was sure they were dead because their bodies were turned face down.

Immediately upon the arrival of the survivors on board the Monarch, a sign was posted asking for clothes for them and a fine response was made.

SMITH TREASURER FOR STATE G.O.P.

Opposes Bureaucratic Control of Rights and Liberties of Individuals

H. Alexander Smith, chairman of the New Jersey Republican Council, succeeds Bernon S. Prentice, of Rumson, as treasurer of the Republican State Committee, and the selection has met with the unanimous approval of party leaders.

As former executive secretary of Princeton University, Smith proved himself an able organizer and an unusually competent executive.

Mr. Smith unqualifiedly endorses a recent statement of the New Jersey Republican Council, which has been widely quoted:—"We believe that existing federal legislation vesting dictatorial powers in the President of the United States during the present emergency, must never become a permanent part of our governmental system. We are at the crossroads. The road ahead leads either to a complete bureaucratic control over the economic activities of the individual, which involves the loss of vital civil liberties and opportunities, or towards an enlightened and cooperative democracy."

FRIENDS' SCHOOL 150 YEARS OLD

Moorestown Institution Was Started in 1785, Many Improvements Made.

One hundred and fifty years of continuous operation. Such is the record of Moorestown Friends' School. The school is a lineal descendant of three schools established in earlier days by the Society of Friends, to which society almost all of the first settlers in this part of New Jersey belonged.

The first of these schools was opened in 1785 on the site of the present elementary building. In 1829 a frame school house was erected at Second street and Chester avenue. In 1878 the stone building on Main street was enlarged and called Moorestown Friends' Academy. In 1880 a large brick building was erected at Second street and Chester avenue and called Friends' High School. In 1920 Moorestown Friends' Academy and the Friends' High School were consolidated under the name of Moorestown Friends' School.

A committee of the two Monthly Meetings of Friends has enlarged its opportunities, improved its facilities, and it has been continuously growing. A number of its students are from Riverton.

Twelve acres of land ample space for playgrounds for pupils of all ages. There are three buildings which house the primary department, the elementary section and the large, modern building for the Junior and Senior High classes.

The Senior High School specializes in college preparatory work. During the past few years pupils graduating from the school passed many college entrance examinations with highest honors. Last Spring, in competitive examinations Frances Moffett won the four-year Curran scholarship to Wilson College. Lila Kirkpatrick was awarded a Wellesley scholarship and two other scholarship winners were Margaret Heiser, who is going to Swarthmore, and Byard Brunt, who will enter the University of Pennsylvania.

K. C. FAIR AGAIN THIS WEEKEND

Original Plans Rained Out, But Better Ones Are Now Under Way

The Sacred Heart parish fair and carnival which originally was intended for last week, was postponed until this Friday and Saturday, September 14th and 15th, due to the continued rain, and will be held on the K. of C. lawn at Broad and Elm avenue. While many were disappointed, it did give the committee time to elaborate more on the details, and they are now ready to put on a bigger and better fair and carnival.

Herbert J. Kemmerle, general chairman, says that additional stands and attractions will be erected, and that many prizes will be awarded during the progress of the affair. A ground prize for attendance will be awarded each hour, while the major award of $50, $25 and $15, will be made on the final night, Saturday. The stand that will attract the most interest will be in charge of Adolph Strohlein and his committee, composed of Gerald Smythe, Edw. Collar, Russell Holvick, Jos. Gette, A. E. Conlow, F. Braun, Aug. H. Weber.

Hot dogs, coffee, ice cream and fresh-baked home-made cakes will also be offered. Frank Strohlein will have charge of the milk bottle stand where skill can be displayed in "bawling them over."

You Can Purchase Thor Laundry Equipment

for $69.50

The Thor electric washer and its ironing attachment were not built to meet a price. They are part of the Thor standard line. Thor equipment justly bears the reputation of first class workmanship built into good materials and long and dependable service.

The Thor washer is designed to do thorough work without injury to the most delicate fabrics. Eighteen swirling currents of water keep the clothes in motion. Hot suds are thrown over and through each article with force enough to loosen and remove the dirt. Only the water touches the clothes, so there is nothing to pull or injure materials.

Remove the wringer and fasten the ironing attachment in its place. Swing it around to a convenient angle and do all your pressing on it. It cuts ironing time in half. Flat work goes quickly and it takes only a little practice to press the more difficult pieces skillfully.

Prices on Thor electric washers begin at $49.50 cash. The ironing attachment sells for $20. Carrying charge extra if you buy on the monthly payment plan.

What, No Promises?

In a Declaration of Principles which should make interesting reading for those who have the welfare of New Jersey close to their hearts, Harold G. Hoffman, Republican candidate for Governor, once again proves himself a patriot rather than a politician.

"I shall make no pre-election promises," he said. "Such pledges in the heat and pressure of a political campaign usually are hastily made and difficult, indeed they are invariably impossible of fulfillment.

There are many reasons for the statewide popularity of the Republican candidate for Governor. His clean record in both private and public life, his keen understanding of statecraft, his close application to the job at hand and his clear perception when dealing with the possibilities of the future are largely responsible for this endorsement.

Another quality is his clean fighting tactics. "I do not intend to make this a campaign of recrimination," he has said. "On my side, at least, it will be a clear discussion of the State's requirements and my own qualifications for the office of Governor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"SUBSTANCE" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 16.

The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus (Philippians 4:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished" (Isaiah 51:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "That matter is substantial or has life and sensation, is one of the false beliefs of mortals, and exists only in a supposition mortal consciousness. Hence, as we approach Spirit and Truth, we lose the consciousness of matter" (p. 278).

Buyers of Coal

Warned of Fraud

the state requirements, given copies of the laws, and warned. Soon thereafter Kalnash was again picked up, July 9th, on making a delivery without proper weight certification, and fined by Judge Roberts $25 and costs. Still later Kalnash was again found delivering coal without proper certification, August 31st, and fined $25 and costs.

Questions Weigh

The citizen in the case continued actively piling up orders until a delivery was made at last to a thinking citizen who had gumption enough to question the delivery of six tons of coal by a four-ton truck. He tried to bring complaint to the attention of the writer, who was then, by direction of his state chief, at work in a distant county, assisting in a state drive in an effort to apprehend the illegal traffickers in coal in those parts. Failing to find me, this gentleman brought his complaint to the attention of the county detective department. Mr. Zeller of this department at once began an investigation, and by a visit to the New Jersey weighmaster where Kalnash stops in transit from the mine to get his required New Jersey weight certification, he discovered that the load of coal delivered to this man for six tons, and the money therefore collected by the citizen in the case, weighed a little over five tons; that is, he found that he paid the citizen for 1900 lbs. of coal that he did not receive.

Held in $1000 Bail

On my return from Camden that afternoon I was called to the office of Recorder Roberts and confronted with the facts. The writer at once made formal complaint against Kalnash on the short weight evidence and the transgressor was fined $50 and costs, September 5th.

A hasty review of the additional evidence Mr. Zeller's shrewdness had quickly gathered, convinced the department that the extent of the shortages in weight warranted a greater punishment than the limitations of the weights and measures regulations made possible. Therefore an additional complaint was made under the charge of fraud and willful deception. Kalnash pleaded guilty, and was sent to jail under $1000 bail to await the review by the grand jury.

The writer, with the assistance of Assistant State Superintendent Bodewiser, instituted a thorough investigation of the entire series of transactions of this man from Shamokin, Pa. It was found that he had brought approximately 50 loads of coal into the state, filling orders largely procured by the citizen in the case. The largest amount of any one load as certified by the New Jersey weighmaster, and weighed upon a very accurate 20-ton scale, is but a little more than 5 tons, or to be exact 10100 lbs. All the many loads brought in and certified over this scale show weights ranging from 8600 lbs. to 10100 lbs., the latter filling the 4-ton truck to capacity. Yet in all the thirty loads so far traced, save one, Kalnash managed by raising the weights on the weighmaster's ticket to deliver the entire load as six tons, and the money for six tons was collected by the citizen. For example, from a load that actually weighed 8875 lbs., one citizen citizen got 4000 lbs., another 8000 lbs., a total of 12000 lbs.—according to the raised tickets.

The method allegedly used by Kalnash in perpetrating this fraud was by raising the amount on his delivery tickets after he left the New Jersey weighmaster's scale. He did not present to his customers the original weight ticket given him by the weighmaster, but presented the raised ticket in each case.

Indifferent

The unbelievable part of the story is that citizens of intelligence seemed to forget the usual procedure of the formerly patronized local established dealers in accompanying his coal delivery with the ticket of weight certification, and accepted the Kalnash coal without proper certification or, in most cases, with no certification whatever, and when the said citizen came along to collect,

Scores of "tables" and amusements have been provided by hundreds of willing and enthusiastic workers, providing something for everyone.

Many well-known women from this section of the county are taking an active part.

Mrs. Robert Sim and Mrs. Joseph T. Evans are heading the Cinnamon group that will have a booth for the sale of candies and many of their own pantry specialties, and also balloons.

Moorestown has a large committee, made up of Mrs. Everett C. Williams, chairman; Mrs. Charles Laessle, Jr., Mrs. William Kennard, Jr., Mrs. J. Clyde Rogers, Mrs. Thornton Hollingshead, Mrs. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., Mrs. George M. Hillman, Mrs. Howard Darnell, Mrs. E. W. Strawbridge-Brophy, Mrs. B. Hubert Cooper, Mrs. J. R. Ulmer, Mrs. Wilmer Collins, Mrs. James M. Stokes, Mrs. Albert Linton, Mrs. John Cecil, Mrs. David R. Lippincott, and Mrs. A. G. Wallace. They will spread an elaborate cafeteria lunch that will be served for 35 cents. Mrs. Kennard and her assistants, in attractive costumes, will sell cigarettes and nuts. Mrs. Lloyd Heulings will preside over an old book table.

TIPS ON GROWING

BY ONE WHO GREW UP IN THE BUSINESS

The Accommodation Plant (Phytostegia) is thus called because it accommodates the flowers to turn the flowers at right angles to the stem, where they will remain. The Gas Plant (Dictamnus) throws off a volatile gas which may be ignited with a match. Honesty (Lunaria) because of its transparent pocket-book (seedpod) and the Christmas Rose (Helleborus) likely because it isn't a rose and does not bloom at Christmas—at least very seldom.

Speaking of fitting names the names Crimson Glory and Fluffy Ruffles for two new roses are "right on the nose." The first is truly a glorified crimson and the crinkly-edged satiny silvery pink petals of the second variety seem a throw-back to the Gay Nineties when they wore "them" ruffles. Both varieties have just been registered and Crimson Glory, patented. Both will be on the market the coming spring.

Somewhat resembling the wild flower Spring Beauty are the dainty little Brodiaeas, hardy bulbous plants native of the West. Plant the bulbs in September or October for May and June blooming. They paid over the money without question. Now that they wake up and find themselves swindled in a brief few weeks of hundreds of dollars they, in some cases, even resent the investigation that seeks to protect them against such fraud, and charge us with an attempt to aid the much protested coal code.

It is not our concern as to what you pay for your coal. We have no part in the administration of the code. The weights department seeks to assure you a fair deal, honest weight, in compliance with the laws and regulations to which all alike are subject, coal dealers established, or those that fly by night.

Pulcher (handsome) the Latin specific name for Senecio is an apt name selection: This is no plant for the lovers of the anemic pastels but those who like their colors vivid will love this glistening amaranth purple perennial daisy. In flower now. Show in a dark vase by itself or in combination with golden yellow hardy Sunflowers. Groundsel the "common" name seems to imply a creeper tho this plant grows two feet high.

The coloring of the spring wall-flowers are brought into the late summer perennial border in Helenium Brunum coccineum. An awful name certainly but when you see the beautiful flowers you'll forget it. This and another named after the old town, Riverton Gem, show the golds and reds of autumn, hinting already, like the chirp of the first katydid, of the coming fall.

Summer Hyacinths (botanically Galtonia or Hyacinthus candicans) are plants grown from bulbs planted in late spring about five inches deep so as to withstand the wind without staking. Produces white bells and is best planted in the mid-section or background of perennial border interspersed with the hardy plant inhabitants of the bed. Bulbs usually bloom every second year.

COOPER FIGHTING TO DEFEND TITLE

Swings Into Final Bracket by Defeating Ellsey 8-6, 2-6, 6-0;
Buhler a Threat

E. Newbold Cooper, for the third consecutive year, swept through his way of the draw to enter the final round of the Memorial Park Men's Singles Tennis Tournament. Cooper has at present two legs on the three-year cup and can, therefore, by winning this next match, retire the trophy.

Clyde Ellsey furnished the opposition in the semi-final round for Cooper and bowed after a three-set match by scores of 8-6, 2-6, 6-0. The initial two sets contained a close contest, for Cooper could not control his drives, and Ellsey kept his errors down to a minimum. Throughout the first part of the opening set, Ellsey held the upper hand; he led 2-0, 3-1, 4-3 and 4-5, but was unable to hold his service at the crucial times. Cooper pressed his advantage to lead 6-5 after he had deuced the set, but this time Ellsey called upon his reserve to again tie the count.

The two-time champion then pounded out four straight points before his service and ran out the set 8-6.

Ellsey Downed

The second set started with two service breaks, and then games followed the serve to 2-2. Ellsey broke Cooper to lead 3-2, continuing his winning stride for the next three games. During this period the games when Cooper served were long, but Ellsey yielded only a single point in each of his service games.

Coming out of the slump in startling fashion, Cooper reeled off six straight games to finish the match and earn the right to meet the winner of the Borer-Buhler contest in the finals on Sunday.

The summary of the point score follows:

First Set
Cooper 2441452434434 4-8-8
Ellsey 4605034251250 2-38-6

Second Set
Cooper 0941413 1-23-2
Ellsey 4714645 4-35-6

Third Set
Cooper 64445 4-27-6
Ellsey 411230 -11-0

Dark Horse Wins

W. Buhler, dark horse of the tournament and now favorite to prevent Cooper from winning permanent possession of the cup, upset Carl Peterson, third ranking player and this writer's choice for champion. The match was called because of darkness after the set score had been brought to 1-1, and resumed late Sunday afternoon. Buhler had previously won the first set 6-4 and lost the second 6-3. In each of these sets there was but one break in service, and this proved the telling factor. The final set found Peterson in form and he succeeded in winning only one game.

Opening the match, Buhler won his service and went into the lead 3-1 by taking an extremely long game for a service break. He held this lead by placing the ball and passing Peterson as he rushed the net behind very weak shots. Buhler's control over his ground strokes was remarkable, and no one was playing at the Park can rival his accuracy. The lone missing point is speed.

Peterson quickly took his serve at love to start the second chapter, but Buhler's underhand slice service so unnerved Carl that he dropped the following three balls into the net. Seemingly to find the correct place to play against his stratagist opponent, Peterson finally scored the decisive break in the second set, and darkness halted the play. The final set was of very short duration. Peterson was far off touch and lost the first three, held his serve, and then won no more games.

Buhler-Latch Lose

Completely ignoring Buhler, who was one of their opponents, Borer and Peterson concentrated their shots on a weak Latch and smashed through the semifinal doubles match 6-1, 6-2. The victors dominated the play and never permitted Buhler and Latch to gain the upper hand. Rushing to a 2-0 lead, Borer and Peterson were momentarily halted when otherwise known to the general public as "Dick," "Stan" and "Sog," who, since the Bankers have trotted out with the championship, claim that it was their headwork that put the Bankers on their feet.

The above snapshots were taken by the park photographer and bear a remarkable likeness to the "Board of Strategy."

Latch held service, but they continued their streak to complete the set 6-1, winning the concluding game from Latch's service at love.

The second set continued the rout, for Buhler dropped his service; but Borer was unsteady for a moment and lost the longest game of the match behind his serve. Again Borer and Peterson assumed the upper hand, faltering only in the sixth game before they won 6-2.

The point score follows:

First Set
Borer and Peterson 442444 4-26-6
Buhler and Latch 242220 -14-1

Second Set
Borer and Peterson 4645436 4-36-6
Buhler and Latch 0463254 1-25-2

Predictions

Analyzing the type of play which the remaining singles players will probably use, the writer finds no freak shots except the underhand serves which Buhler and Borer sometimes employ; however, in a semi-final match this is very unlikely to be found because of the sporting element.

In the Borer-Buhler tilt Borer's game will probably be a terrific first service with a poorly placed second to follow. If Buhler can take its bounce, which is close to the net, he will probably earn many points outright. Borer's ground strokes are his chief asset, and he is essentially a baseline driver, only going to the net behind the best forcing shots which assure a weak return. Buhler will probably pound Borer's backhand with well placed shots, which he executes so well. His service is very hard to handle; for he is left handed, and the ball curves toward the backhand corner. The match will be Buhler's placements against Borer's speed.

The winner of this match will in all probability use the same tactics in the final against Cooper; in return Cooper has a hard service and control, when he is "right," second to none with the exception of Buhler. Buhler and Cooper play the same type of game, although Cooper's is a trifle more severe, but Buhler's is more certain.

Public Invited

Fine tennis is certain to be seen in either of these matches. The writer urges the residents of Riverton to attend, for either is an exhibition well-worth the time. Buhler is the most experienced player on the courts, having faced such masters as Gregory Margin and John Van Ryn, former Davis cup stars.

Memorial Park Playground Baseball Dope

By "BNI" Schopp

SEPTEMBER 10—

Bankers 10—YMCA 3

The Bankers are the World's Champions of Playground Ball—at least they are Riverton Champions, if you are a stickler for exactness. Tonight they slammed their rivals, the YMCA, around to the tune of ten to three, in a game which by agreement was limited to seven innings. Six runs in the fourth inning did the trick.

During that big session, six hits bounced off the Banker bats, among them and climaxing them, a three-run homer by Jack Easley. Two errors helped in the scoring. The inning finally ended in a double play: Borer, up for the second time, slashed a liner to Pitcher Dick Woodward; it hit him in the chest and he held it in the crook of his elbow, later throwing to first, doubling Enskat off the bag.

Altho the Y drew first blood with a two-run spurge in the first, that big inning dragged them down. The Y's third run was a homer from the bat of Bill Baker, their star infielder and captain.

Twice during the game the infield fly rule was brought up and taken down again. In the fourth inning, with Friberg on first, Dick Woodward hit a pop fly which fell just outside of the diamond of the infield. Clay Weikman, Banker shortstop, noting that Dick was walking away from the plate and that Friberg was performing tied to first, let the ball go thru his fingers, and touch the ground; he then threw to second forcing Friberg, and second baseman King threw to first putting Woodward out. This, we suppose, is a lying down double play. The YMCA did the same thing on the Bankers later on.

Carpenter, of the YMCA, led his team with three hits, while Jack Easley did the same trick for the Bank. Yet the real hero of the Bankers, and for that matter of the series, is Pitcher Hubbs, Sr., who pitched all six of the games and fragments thereof for his team, winning the three necessary for the series victory, and to boot, getting on base with an uncanny number of times, more than the averages show. He is always wide awake to chances of advancing a base; he keeps the other side guessing.

The first game of the "World Series" was played on August 29, a Wednesday evening. The YMCA had a nine to two lead going into the last stanza of this game, but this the Bankers nullified by scoring seven times. The game ended in the three-cornered tie between the Bankers, the YMCA and Darkness.

The second game the YMCA won by scoring twice in the ninth inning, the final count being five to four; this was on Friday, August 31. The third game the Bankers had an easy time of it; they whitewashed the "Why" four to one on Saturday afternoon, September 1.

The fourth game, on September 4, Tuesday, was won by the Bank via the shutout route, nine to goose-egg. This gave the Trust Company the edge in the series, two games to one.

An attempt was made to play the fifth game on Thursday night, September 6, but it had to be called on account of darkness after five innings had been played; the score at that time was YMCA 6, Bankers 5. Altho in ordinary competition this would constitute a legal game, in our World Series play, it does not. Another attempt was made on Friday night, but rain interfered.

It looked as if Jupiter Pluvius would forestall tonight's game, but about an hour before the game, the sun came out. As it was, a pick-up "grounds crew" had to abolish some mud-puddles at first, the plate, and the box, with dirt and some shovels. At any rate the Bank won. They get the cup. When the cup presentation and feed will be has not been decided upon; that will be announced later.

The score by innings for tonight's fray was:

YMCA 201 000 0-3 12 4
Bankers 101 602 x-10 12 2

Harold G. Hoffman, Republican Candidate for Governor, has very kindly donated a handsome cup for the winner of the contest, which the committee hopes will be emblematic of the championship of South Jersey.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced that many of their leading officials will be on hand for the celebration, and every effort is being made to have the Drum and Bugle Corps of the railroad enter the competition.

Drexel P. Patterson, general chairman in charge of the celebration, reports that excellent cooperation is being secured from the various organizations in Palmyra and Riverton, and that general enthusiasm is already running high in anticipation of the big day.

It is reported that many residents are planning to entertain guests from out of town for the day, and in connection with this John L. Metzger of the ticket committee urges every one to purchase their tickets for reserved seats as early as possible in order to avoid being disappointed, since the number of seats is limited.

Drexel P. Patterson, general chairman in charge of the celebration, reports that excellent cooperation is being secured from the various organizations in Palmyra and Riverton, and that general enthusiasm is already running high in anticipation of the big day.

It is reported that many residents are planning to entertain guests from out of town for the day, and in connection with this John L. Metzger of the ticket committee urges every one to purchase their tickets for reserved seats as early as possible in order to avoid being disappointed, since the number of seats is limited.

In his preamble, Mr. King pointed out something must be done with that section of the town. He declared that the riverbank was going to pieces as fast as it could, and that the matter had never been properly handled.

His proposition was to pave the roadway on bank avenue in a manner similar to that on Main street. Mr. King read a letter from State Senator Clifford R. Powell stating that no state funds could be spent on the riverbank. The Senator stated, however, that there is a fund available through the Board of Freeholders for borough and township roads under which the state pays 90% of the cost of reconstruction and the municipality pays 10%.

Palmyra Will Cooperate

Mr. King said that he had been assured by Palmyra authorities that the adjoining municipality would be glad to go along with any plan which would rehabilitate the roadway on the riverbank.

The broken down portion of the sea wall, Mr. King believed, could be declared a public nuisance, and as such could be handled by the borough council. He said most emphatically that he was opposed to closing the riverbank, but also thought the property owners there had not been given a square deal, and questioned whether the borough could collect taxes on properties on a street which had not been ceded to the borough.

Mayor Shows Interest

Mayor Hahn replied to Mr. King that council has the interest of the riverbank at heart the same as any part of the town. One of the objections made when council wanted to fix the riverbank before was that it would "encourage speeding," and that council had also been confronted by the contention that it was private property and some of the owners objected to having public funds spent on their properties fearing that it might affect their claim to private ownership of the roadway.

Mr. King said that he had arranged for a conference with Freeholder Charles R. Stout, director of the County road department, and believed that he could get somewhere if the borough council backed him up in his plans. In leaving, Mr. King urged council to act immediately and to advise him of their decision and of what other steps they desired him to take in the matter.

THE WEED NUISANCE

Councilman Merrill called attention to the heavy growth of weeds overhanging the sidewalks along the Samuel Cook property on Main street, and after a discussion of this and similar situations in various parts of the town, including low hanging branches of trees, Mr. Merrill volunteered to get in touch with the Burlington County Trust Company in reference to the Cook property.

Daniel M. Clifton, borough clerk, reported that as a result of the notice recently published regarding the registration of dogs, eighteen more canines are now wearing medals, bringing the total up to seventy-seven out of an approximate 250 dogs in the borough.

Will Hire Dog Catcher

After some discussion it was decided to publish a notice that after September 30 dogs found running at large will be disposed of.

HAS SOLUTION FOR RIVERBANK

A. S. King Asks Council to Pave Roadway With Government Help

A. S. King, a resident of Bank avenue, appeared before the Riverton Borough Council with a solution for the problem that has been vexing mayors and borough councils for many years—"what to do with the riverbank."

In his preamble, Mr. King pointed out something must be done with that section of the town. He declared that the riverbank was going to pieces as fast as it could, and that the matter had never been properly handled.

His proposition was to pave the roadway on bank avenue in a manner similar to that on Main street. Mr. King read a letter from State Senator Clifford R. Powell stating that no state funds could be spent on the riverbank. The Senator stated, however, that there is a fund available through the Board of Freeholders for borough and township roads under which the state pays 90% of the cost of reconstruction and the municipality pays 10%.

COUNTY REACHES ELLIS SETTLEMENT

Solicitor Wells Reports Final Arrangements Made for Land for Bridge Approach

After a year and a half of bargaining and jockeying, Solicitor Harold B. Wells reported to the Burlington County Board of Freeholders at its meeting last Friday that he had reached a final settlement with Jacob Ellis, for property taken by the county to construct the by-pass to the Burlington-Bristol bridge, in Burlington. Ellis had asked $4000, whereupon condemnation proceedings were begun, but an amicable agreement was finally effected, with $3000 set as the price. The solicitor recommended payment of an additional $50 for a pro rata share of taxes and interest, and the board agreed.

Fire Hazards

County Fire Marshal William J. Smith reported two fire hazards, one, he asserts, being the old blacksmith shop in Rancocas and the other at 520 Front street, Beverly. He was instructed to present his complaint in writing at the Board's next meeting.

Three communications were read from Beverly. One requested the county to take over Broad and Cooper streets in that city. The second asked that tracks of the Public Service Company on Warren street be filled in, while the third asked for aid in removing surface water at the end of Warren street. The later two matters were referred to the director of roads and county engineer, while the first was ordered filed.

The Public Utilities Commission gave notice of a hearing to take place in Trenton regarding a change in location of a railroad crossing light on Cooper street, Beverly.

Pemberton township asked for action on a previous application requesting the county to take over the Lake Shore drive, Brown's Mills, and the road from Comical Corners to Pemberton. Request was filed.

Want Sign Moved

The Long Branch Board of Trade requested that the freeholders change the location of a warning sign on Route S-40, near the Central railroad crossing below Chatsworth, and that white lines be painted on the road at the curve near that point. This matter was referred to the director of roads.

Tilt Between the Adamses

Just before adjournment the session was enlivened by a tilt between Freeholder Palmer L. Adams and Alfonso Adams, clerk of the board. Freeholder Adams, clerk of the board, had been purchased for the sheriff's office over his head as director of the department of public buildings.

Clerk Adams retorted the move was necessary after the recent accident in which Sheriff Wimer was injured and the car wrecked. The clerk charged the freeholder with neglecting to take care of the matter over a four-week period, whereupon he sought and secured the permission of the other freeholders to make the purchase himself, he said.

Under resolutions presented by Charles R. Stout, director of roads, the Public Service Electric and Gas Company was granted permission to open High street, Mt. Holly and lay pipes, with the proviso that the company should return the street paving to the same condition in which they found it. Public Service was also granted permission to erect poles as follows: two in Mt. Holly on High street at Bertram avenue; six on the Riverton-Moorestown road at the intersection of Tom Brown, road; fifteen in Evesham Township on the Hainesport road; one on the Vincentown-Red Lion road near the intersection of Cricket road in Southampton Township; one on the Wood Lane road near the intersection of Arney's Mount Birmingham road in Pemberton Township.

The following department bills were ordered paid, Freeholder Adams voting in the negative: finance department, $25,589.32; roads, $64,620.77; bridges, $12,272.66; public buildings, $28,485.42; public affairs, $22,613.39, for a total of $151,581.56. A fifth installment due the con-

APPLE THIEVES CAUGHT IN ACT

Eight Men from Tacony Captured by Officer Dorworth After Robbing Taylor Orchard

Tuesday afternoon, on information received from a watchman on the farm of Howard Taylor, Jr., Officer George Dorworth, of the Cinnaminson Township police, arrested eight young men from Tacony who were stealing apples.

When Officer Dorworth arrived, the men were in a row boat filled with apples and just putting off to a motor boat which they had anchored out in the river.

Dorworth ordered the men back to shore and placed them under arrest. At a hearing before Recorder Bowers they were fined $3 and $2 costs. Four have paid the fine and the other four are serving five days in Mount Holly jail.

The names of the young men are as follows: Frank Caputo, Lewis Augustino, Charles Nicoletti, Frank Nicola, Fred Lang, Paul Arena, Alfred Zeltner and Frank Augustino.

Dorworth, with the aid of Charles Frank, of East Riverton, piloted the boats and men down to the Riverton Yacht Club where the boats were tied up waiting for their owners to claim them. The motor boat was borrowed from John Lang, of Tacony, and the row boat from Pete Blythis, also of Tacony.

ON THE UP AND UP

We heard a lot last year about processing taxes levied on wheat and hogs for the benefit of the farmer. The professors and other theorists told us that the tax would be absorbed by the packer and the big millers and bakers. Well, do you think it turned out that way? If you do, just compare the price of a bag of flour now with the price a year ago, and then do the same thing with pork products. A nice ham will cost you just about double what it would have cost a year ago.

FIRST CLASS SCOUTS

Merrill Heberern and William D. Kitchen, of Troop 5, Palmyra, passed the District Board of Review examinations to become first-class scouts. The investiture service was held Monday night in the Palmyra Methodist Church.

ROTARIANS GUESTS AT "DOC'S" CABIN

For the second time this year Palmyra-Riverton Rotarians enjoyed the hospitality of Dr. Mills at his cabin in Brown's Mills. The bad weather interfered with bathing and canoeing, but not at all with the quip pitching, always a highlight of the visit. The usual large number of invited guests was present, a further testimony that Rotarians have such a good time at Doc's, that they want to share it with their friends.

The program was very brief, but long enough for the club to accept the American Legion's invitation to act as hosts to visiting officials, at the approaching bugle corps competition. The meeting date was, therefore, moved from Thursday, September 27th to Saturday, September 29th. Many members expressed themselves as glad to cooperate in a celebration designed to mark so important a civic improvement as the new Broad Street train service. Rotary has always backed any move that makes for community betterment, and this is certainly one, in the judgement of Rotarians. Dinner for as many guests as there are men in the club will be Rotary's contribution to the affair.

tractor building the new bridge over the Rancocas creek between Delanco and Riverside, amounting to $36,148.50, was also ordered paid. In the absence of Director William H. Heisler, Freeholder James McCormick presided at the meeting.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO BE IN CAMDEN

America's Most Beloved Singer Will Appear in Camden on October 30

The life story of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink is an epic. South Jersey people will have an opportunity to hear it from her own lips when the famous contralto appears in "Story and Song" at Convention Hall, Camden, Tuesday evening, October 30th in a benefit for the Girl Scouts.

For more than half a century Ernestine Schumann-Heink has been an outstanding figure on the world's concert and operatic stages. Fame and fortune, the devotion and adulation of a worshipping public have never obscured her fundamental greatness. She has become an American institution. Five decades of music lovers have enjoyed her glorious voice.

CINNAMINSON SCHOOL NOTES

The weekly visits of the PTA representative, resumed this week, found full classes and every inch of available space utilized to the best advantage in School No. 2. The kindergarten and first grade are located in the auditorium, where there is ample space for the low tables and tiny chairs, leaving room for the necessary activities.

The only new teacher is Miss Irene Sipple, who is helping Mrs. Whitehill with these little ones.

The members of the faculty spent their vacations in various ways: Miss Bryan acted as counsellor for August at Camp Ockanickon; Mrs. Clark and her husband visited the Pacific Coast going by automobile; Miss Parker attended summer school in New York; the others recuperated as best pleased them.

The PTA programs are not printed, but will be ready for the first meeting, this week. These will be printed in the "office" or mimeographed on the new machine provided by the Board, and supplied by the mimeoscope bought by the PTA.

The Cinnaminson Township booth under the auspices of the PTA at the fair at Rancocas last Saturday, netted over one hundred and fifty dollars, while the president's (Mrs. Robert Sims) pet raccoons, Lucy and George, received two blue ribbons in the pet show.

THE "NEW DEAL"

BY JULIAN MASON

Vice President National Republican Builders

The Maine Election

Republicans can take the Maine election as direct and unexpected proof of present Republican weakness. That would be the "old way" of looking at it. And that is bad enough.

But, worse than that, is this "new way" in which the election must be viewed. It must be taken as a sudden actual embodiment of what has heretofore been considered a merely possible, or theoretical, evil of the New Deal. That is the buying of a state by government expenditures within its borders.

Instantly, the political instinct of the country has fastened on this as the real meaning of Maine's breaking all records in electing a Democratic governor to a second term.

This is not to say that the old interpretation has not also been made. The adage, "As goes Maine, so goes the Union," has properly been used as a political portent, bad for the Republicans. The stock tickers at once announced the result as an indication of a practically unredressed Democratic majority in the next Congress.

Facing the Facts

Realists must accept the Maine vote as a direct blow at Republican strength. Sentiment has not turned against the New Deal to the degree that had been hoped. The Republican party is a lot farther back than its leaders have believed. There is no use blinking that political fact.

Americanism Threatened

Happy as the Maine result may be for the prospects of Mr. Roosevelt and the Democracy in the November elections, it has raised up this new spectre against their future career. Dr. Wirt put into plain terms, capable of understanding by the people, the abstract suspicion that the Brain Trust was seeking to undermine the American system of government. Maine has put into equally understandable terms the abstract suspicion that the flinging out of federal billions along strictly partisan lines might buy for the national administration whole states and even the country itself.

Dragon's Teeth

This was openly an issue in the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt performed what seems to me an unpardonable political act, when, by letter, he opened to Maine the possibility of the government's financing the long-dreamed of Passamaquoddy Bay power project. Secretary of the Interior Ickes did something unworthy of his "reform" record in politics, when, without promising anything, he gave substance to Mr. Roosevelt's gesture by going into the state to "inspect" the "Quoddy" site. These acts, evasive (and therefore doubly dishonorable) as they were, may return to plague them. They certainly should, if this country is even to shake itself free of this new federal-money enslavement and turn itself once more into a nation of free men.

"Standing In"

Governor Brann, again as dishonestly evasive as Mr. Roosevelt himself, played the other end of the game. It's a two-handed game, you see. First you have to have a central government that says: "Come and get it!" Then you have to have, in the states, some one that says: "I'm the best go-getter. Elect me, and you'll get more of it!" Brann played that role to the queen's taste. Big Business, all over Maine, supported and elected him by boiling down his speeches into the question, "Don't you think we ought to re-elect the governor who is 'in so right at Washington' that he has been able to bring into Maine $108,000,000 of federal money?"

New York City faced that question in the mayoralty elections a year ago, when Mr. Farley, in behalf of the national administration, put Joseph McKee into the race. McKee was ballyhooed as the man who had administration contacts close enough to get Washington money for New York. McKee was beaten, in part, because the money hadn't yet been "allotted." The people of New York did not have physically before their eyes, as Maine had, the use and advantage of the bribes. So the country with its publicans who have declined to join in clearing off its campaign debts and helping its reorganization; "All right. What are you going to do about it? Let this become a one-party country? Have no organized conservative opposition to swing to, when the inevitable crash comes to the New Deal?"

It Worked

It worked in Maine, though. And it is being "tried on" by almost every Democrat running for office everywhere. Months ago it was known that the researchers for the Democratic campaign committees in Washington were "researching" exactly how much "prime-the-pump" money had gone into every state and sending the figures to Democratic candidates for use on the stump. While Mr. Farley was doing this, there were the usual indirect and right hints of disapproval from the White House. Yet Mr. Roosevelt himself had used the same general bait in his post-Hawaii exploitation of big dam projects in the North-West. And he used it specifically and undeniably in the Maine election, through his letter on the Passamaquoddy Bay project.

What can be done about this new-born, full-fledged threat to our national integrity? This is really the paramount issue raised by the Maine election. It is far superior to the mere question of Republican or Democratic party superiority. It changes a theoretical prophecy about the New Deal into an immediate and shocking indictment of it.

The Silver Lining

Here, I believe, is to be found the answer: Once these hundreds of un-

American abstractions, framed by the Washington professors, come to be translated into definite facts, the people will see them in their true proportions, grasp their meaning and act upon them as they did upon that other beautiful abstraction called National Prohibition. In other words, I believe it to be the part of the Republican Party to change the emphasis of its present fight. It should, for the moment, at least, lay less stress upon constitutional abstractions and more upon the actual evils wrought by the New Deal. To say it in newspaper parlance, it should "report" rather than "editorialize." What is hurting Mr. Roosevelt's experiments more than anything else today is the mouth-to-mouth stories of their injustices and absurdities. Maine's election is a "story" of national proportions, plain for every one to see. If it is to be true that "As Maine goes, so goes the Union" in November, that story will assume dimensions sufficient to shock the American people into their old common-sense. The self-respect of America is really our best hope of a rebellion against the use of Relief and Recovery money to buy for Franklin Roosevelt permanence in office. From the headquarters of the National Republican Builders, 60 East 42nd Street, New York City, there has gone out this week the "Republican Builders Review." It is in form of a small two-page newspaper. Mail response has been such as to bring the belief that the experiment is worth-while.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN

What Hoover Needs

It is easy to see why Herbert Hoover was unpopular with the "pee-pul." He lacked political acumen. Here he is writing a book, with ample opportunity to throw nice gooey mud at his opponents, and he gravely marshals historical facts, and philosophical systems, and hands them courtously to the New Dealers. What Mr. Hoover needs is a good lesson in bad manners!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"MATTER" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 23.

The Golden Text is: "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob" (Psalms 114:7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the flesh do mind the things of the Spirit" (Romans 8:1,5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "A straight line finds no abiding-place in a curve, and a curve finds no adjustment to a straight line. Similarly, matter has no place in Spirit, and Spirit has no place in matter."

The reason politics makes strange bedfellows is because so many like the same bunk.

matter. Truth has no home in error, and error has no foothold in Truth" (p.282).

THE "NEW DEAL"

BY JULIAN MASON

Vice President National Republican Builders

Blow Hot—Blow Cold

Some one has written a widely circulated pamphlet on "Suppose a Presidential Candidate Had Run on This Platform in 1932." It takes up Mr. Roosevelt's surprising and utterly unmandated acts and asks, in effect: Could he, by any possibility, have been elected, if the country had had the least inkling that he was going to do the wild and costly things which have marked his White House career?

I wonder if he, in his infinite political wisdom, is not putting up to the country now exactly the same exhibition that the pamphlet on '32 portrays with such deadly irony. Is not Mr. Roosevelt offering for the Congressional elections of 1934 the same mild conservative prospect that he offered in the Presidential elections of 1932?

That $2,800,000,000

Consider, for instance, just the main political happenings of the past ten days. Look upon them with an eye to determining whether the hush-hush, lay-low, appear-to-be-moderate-policy does not run unvaryingly through them. Line them up something like this:

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in a public statement used the $2,800,000,000 gold "profit" as a "double" asset, failed to charge off his "general fund balance" against charges already undertaken, and used other devices of bookkeeping to make the public believe that the cost of the New Deal is little more than a few hundred millions. A bold attempt to meet the country's growing fear of the terrific expense of Mr. Roosevelt's experiments.

Mr. Roosevelt sprang into the breach the next day, to help his next bond issue, by assuring the country that this more-or-less suspect $2,800,000,000 won't be used in any immediate financing. Again a "moderate" move.

Last Conservative Leaves

Director General of the Budget Lewis W. Douglas, the last of Mr. Roosevelt's conservative advisors, resigned from the impossible task of balancing the budget. Mr. Roosevelt surrounded with dead silence what might have been an incident most embarrassing to the New Deal. He was ungracious enough to refuse Douglas a well-deserved word of praise and slick enough to take advantage of Douglas's courteous willingness to make no statement as to his reasons for resigning.

The "General Still Rules" General Johnson rowed bitterly with Miss Perkins and General Counsel Richberg about NRA, but won his points all along the line. He held his job and got his pay raised to $15,000 a year, despite overwhelming reports that he was to resign. Let's see how long he lasts after the elections shall have removed from the administration the immediate political danger found in his vituperative tongue. With Douglas and Johnson on the stump against the New Deal, the people would have glimpsed the truth of a situation now being withheld from them.

Soft Pedaling

President Roosevelt, who fought for weeks the effort of the newspaper publishers to get into their code the constitutional guaranty of a free press, almost took the head off Senator Schall for saying that he now was planning suppression of free speech through the establishment of a federal news agency. Once more, we find the New Deal putting on the conservative colors of the Old.

Feeding the Strikers

The announcement of Harry L. Hopkins, head of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, that the textile strikers would be put on government relief rolls was "copied" by a milder statement from Mr. Hopkins a few days later, while Donald Richberg simultaneously declared that any such relief would be as small as to be negligible. Two palpable backdowns toward the "Right."

But Sinclair Was "Satisfied"

Upton Sinclair, long-time party Socialist, captured the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California. Mr. Roosevelt as once dodged, with his usual great ability, the pitfall either of seeming to accept the Sinclair doctrine or of repudiating the Sinclair vote; he asked Sinclair to see him at Hyde Park but said he won't "talk politics." And again he avoided scaring the country as to his own radicalism.

Shall handsome suburban communities be ruined by lack of transportation?

These questions and answers are dedicated to the thinking residents of South Jersey.

200 Years of Wishing

For several generations, in fact, dating back to colonial times, the inhabitants of Southern New Jersey have expressed a lively interest in bridging the Delaware River and thus having direct entrance into Philadelphia. Since the eighties and nineties, when the "shore summer resorts of Jersey have beckoned to the residents of Philadelphia, these citizens have shown a corresponding interest each summer.

A bridge—or tunnel—had to come. It did, and today it extends across the River from Philadelphia to Camden.

A Wish Comes True

When definite plans for the bridge were being blueprinted, it seemed wise—it was wise—to incorporate therein accommodations for railroad connections, both local and long distance. As a consequence "wings" providing for future rail lines were added to the bridge at a cost of ten million dollars. Remember that figure. You'll see it again.

Even prior to the opening of the bridge many handsome suburbs had been developed—Woodbury, Haddonfield, Moorestown, Riverton and others.

Philadelphia—Yesterday

Those were the days when Philadelphia's business was definitely "downtown," when the banking and business offices were in the vicinity of Fifth and Chestnut Streets.
Then Philadelphia grew west—and business followed. But in the good old days it was highly convenient to live in New Jersey—many ferry boats and frequent train service made the Jersey suburbs as convenient as those on the Main Line or Germantown sections.

These were the days when the Pennsylvania Railroad built a bridge between Delair, New Jersey and Frankford, Philadelphia, thus connecting the two regions by rail, but never offering local commutation service on this route. Jersey commuters, educated to enter the city by the ferries, clung to the old habit, until, due to the westward move of business to Broad and Market Streets, they realized that it would be more convenient for them to live in a Pennsylvania suburb and have Board Street Station or the Reading Terminal within easy walking distances of their places of employment. So...they moved!

New Jersey homes began to empty, properties to depreciate.

Philadelphia—Today

Finally the Philadelphia-Camden bridge was opened—and New Jersey made a mistake. Philadelphia was anxious to see this structure free of tolls. Philadelphia's demand convinced New Jersey that so many Pennsylvanians wanted to reach the shore points that the bridge could be made to "pay for itself" through tolls. And so, tolls were agreed upon.

New Jersey Makes a Mistake

New Jersey forgot that year in and year out, a large percentage of its residents would wish to reach Philadelphia and what would be a short, inexpensive ride by automobile for the commuter, would, because of tolls, become relatively expensive, costing an additional three dollars a week.
Three dollars will purchase a lot of gasoline, two weeks tolls will purchase a new tire for a light car! Think it over.

Plenty of South Jersey residents did think it over—after it was too late.

Boom Days—A False Prosperity

But in spite of this, South Jersey enjoyed a few years of a false, and not permanent prosperity. Bus lines into Philadelphia sprang into existence. Railroad-ferry traffic dwindled, trains were withdrawn, patrons became disgruntled, turned to the buses, more trains were cancelled and the vicious circle continued until the railroads were forced into a consolidation and until decay of the railroad properties became apparent even to the casual glance.

Buses—and More Buses

In the meantime, the bus situation became chaotic. Rival lines operating anything that ran on wheels "cowboyed" each other—and their passengers—off and on the highways—unregulated, because the Interstate Commerce Commission has no jurisdiction over buses.

Finally Public Service of New Jersey and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company combined in establishing some semblance of order in a joint operation of the Penn-Jersey bus lines. Competition remained keen and eventually the joint line bought out most of the competitors. Subsequently, Public Service purchased P.R.T.'s half interest in the Penn-Jersey lines and approximately eighty percent of bus operation between Philadelphia and South Jersey passed into unified management. But with it came an inheritance of "wrecks" and "freight cars" and "ice wagons"—as they were sarcastically referred to by their drivers.

Public Service invested heavily in new buses, junked as many wrecks as possible, reconditioned the others.

But the harm had been done.

Exodus from "The Promised Land"

Disgusted by inadequate and often unsafe service; jolted for miles of uncomfortable riding; irritated by dependable schedules, sickened by gaseous fumes and the odor, all winter long, of confined humanity, Jersey families by the scores poured into Pennsylvania. Appeal after appeal went to the railroads for direct service into Broad Street Station across the Delair Bridge—but the railroad could not act; Broad Street was so jammed by traffic to the South, West and North that it was impossible to add additional trains to New Jersey, there simply wasn't room for them. And the pil-

Family after family gave up their New Jersey homes at ridiculous prices; tore up the habits of several generations to get away from New Jersey. Real estate suffered a blight that sent prices tumbling to figures that made the depression look like relative prosperity. Towns shrank and President Hoover's prediction of grass growing in the streets of a thousand cities comes dangerously close to realization. Today, two or three thousand dollars will purchase in South Jersey a property worth twice or thrice that amount in a Pennsylvania suburb—despite the depression.

And still the situation is being aggravated.

From Bad to Worse

For instance:—since Public Service obtained control of the consolidated bus lines, the Company has received permission to eliminate many competing trolley lines, also Company owned, and to replace this service with buses inside the New Jersey area. To do this it has been necessary for the Company to consolidate some bus lines, reroute others and to obtain permission from the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission to do an intra-state business.

Prior to these readjustments, the New Jersey commuter was assured of express bus service between his home and Philadelphia, and, due to a regulation enforced by the Delaware River Bridge Commission, was also assured of a seat for every passenger without dangerous overcrowding or the multiplied risk of injury or death if a bus with standing passengers were involved in an accident.

Now the commuter is still paying for express bus rates between his home and Philadelphia and is getting local service. Now the commuter frequently finds his bus crowded to the doors between Camden and his suburb and one shudders to think what could happen if a bus were to catch fire when carrying fifty passengers and only built to accommodate say thirty-two!
Overcrowding, more frequent stops—with out a fare reduction, and on rates which were established in prosperity days. Is it any wonder that still more people are deserting South Jersey?

From Worse to Worst

With these conditions already in existence, still a greater menace hangs over the entire southern part of the state—due to inadequate transportation.

There is being built by public funds contributed by the United States government and guaranteed by bridge tolls a high speed line connecting the city of Camden with Philadelphia.

This line will cost at least eleven million dollars.

It already has been leased to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. It will have its Camden terminus near the P.R.R.
Broadway Station—but many feet below the railroad right of way. It is rather obvious that P.R.T. could not afford to operate this line in the face of bus competition. Therefore it is extremely logical to expect that bus passengers will be transferred in Camden to this high speed line with bus lines terminating in Camden.

Let's examine this—let's see how it will affect the South Jersey area and Philadelphia. For Philadelphia's merchants will suffer. Thousands of New Jersey shoppers, spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in Philadelphia will, due to expensive and inconvenient transportation, purchase in Camden—a boon to that city but a serious loss to Philadelphia.

Here's why—

Suppose the existing bus fare between the commuters' home and Philadelphia's City Hall Plaza—the acknowledged transportation center of Philadelphia—is now 25c; 20c to Camden. The rate of fare across the bridge on the new high speed line has been announced as 10c. Remember those figures while we trace the route of this new high speed line through Philadelphia.

A Subway that Goes—Where?

Entering Philadelphia, the line passes under Franklin Square in a subway which connects, at Eighth and Race Streets, with a municipally-owned subway, where the line now operates as far south as Eighth and Market Streets. Physical construction of this subway has been extended south of Eighth Street to Locust and west on Locust Street to Rittenhouse Square. But this section has not been equipped with tracks, switches, signals, lighting fixtures, etc., and will not be until it is the opinion of the city of Philadelphia that the subway should be so equipped. You know the financial status of Philadelphia well enough to realize that completion of this subway below Eighth and Market Streets is quite probably in the dim and distant future.

But there will be connections between the Bridge high speed line and the Market Street subway in Philadelphia—at an additional cost of 3c. Now, when that line goes into operation within the next year, the resident of South Jersey, desiring to reach city hall, now available for 25c in a continuous bus ride, will probably be forced to do this:

New Jersey Pays and Pays

Get aboard a bus and pay 20c to reach Camden. It is barely possible that this rate of fare will be reduced. Let's be generous and say that it will be reduced to 15c. Arriving in Camden there will be innumerable stairs to descend into a subway and a wait for a train into which humanity will be packed as P.R.T. already packs rush hour passengers into its West Philadelphia, Frankford, and Broad Street trains. Of course you will pay 10c for this. That makes your ride to Philadelphia cost 30c—or being generous like we are—25c.

You reach Philadelphia at Eighth and Market Streets in a sub-subway—a tunnel which passes UNDER the Market Street Subway. Then what? More steps to climb, an additional 3c for an exchange ticket and eventually, at a minimum cost of 28c and more probably 33c, you arrive at City Hall, Philadelphia, the transportation center of the city, your trip having cost you three to eight cents extra, your having been forced to ride upon three vehicles where previously you rode one AND WITHOUT THE AS-SURANCE OF A SEAT IN ANY ONE OF THESE THREE VEHICLES.

Is New Jersey's Future in the Past?

Quite probably this is what is going to happen. Ladies and Gentlemen, South Jersey has no assurance whatsoever that today's bus lines will continue to operate across the bridge after the high speed line is put in operation. South Jersey has no assurance that this transportation will cost less than today's fares. South Jersey has no assurance that there will be a seat for every passenger.

Yet this high speed line has cost twenty-one million dollars to date! Twenty-one million dollars! Why, do you know, this would practically pay the entire cost of a railroad tunnel from the new Pennsylvania Suburban Station at 16th and the Parkway to Camden, passing under the River? Do you know that if it were not for this twenty-one million dollars it would be possible for the outstanding obligations of the Delaware River Bridge to be paid off in our lifetime, and the bridge made free for us to drive across it as we would drive through our home town?

Ruin?

Do you want to keep on living in South Jersey when you will have to ride three different vehicles to go eleven miles to reach City Hall, Philadelphia? Do you want increased bus fares to force you to buy in the city of Camden where New Jersey State Codes may make prices higher than in Pennsylvania? Do you want to lose all your neighbors, see all our towns forced to go on scrip due to loss of tax incomes because of abandoned homes and properties? Do you want to own a property only a short distance from City Hall, but so distant that you must ride two subways and a crowded bus to reach it?

But that's what is going to happen . . .

... or Rails?

Unless—
You ride the new railroad trains between Broad Street Station and the riverfront towns in Burlington County. Within the past two years the Pennsylvania Railroad has completed its handsome new Suburban Station on the Parkway. Out of this station ride the aristocrats of Philadelphia commuters. They go to Overbrook, Merion, Narberth and other Main Line points, to Bala and Cynwyd, to Lansdowne and Swarthmore and Ridley Park, or to Germantown and Chestnut Hill or Torresdale
... in comfortable, air-conditioned electric trains. We bump along in buses, smelly, crowded and slow!

But . . . and what a big BUT this is!
The opening of this new station releases many previously congested tracks in the old Broad Street Station. This station is now prepared to accommodate many more trains and passengers.

And Here Is the New Service

The combined transportation committees of Palmyra, Riverton, Riverside, Delanco, Beverly, Edgewater Park and Burlington have persuaded the railroad to inaugurate a new through rail service, by way of the Delair Bridge between Broad Street and the above towns.

This service starts Monday, October 1st, 1934, with three trains a day to begin and others to be added as soon as the first trains "break even." These trains will bring you directly to the heart of Philadelphia without jolting for miles in buses, without transferring to subways, without overcrowding or risk of skids on wet pavements, and with the promise of a seat for every passenger.

These trains, if popular, can and will attract many, new residents to our towns—people in search of comfortable homes, reasonably priced. And today we've got plenty of them. Our towns are as attractive as the Pennsylvania suburbs, we're empty, that's all. Our schools are in good shape, our country clubs acknowledge no seconds in the Philadelphia area, we've got the only yacht clubs of any suburbs around Philadelphia outside of Torresdale. We've got everything but decent transportation. Now we are going to get a taste of that? But it will be only a taste unless we patronize
it. RIDE THE TRAINS!

IS IT RAILS ... OR RUIN?

THIEVES FLEE AS WATCHMEN SHOOT

Two Men Caught Robbing Orchards Escape, Leaving Canoe and Booty Behind

The apple orchards of Howard G. Taylor, Jr., at Taylors Lane in Cinnaminson township, which were raided by thieves several times last year, received the attention of these gentry again last week.

Two men, who are believed to have robbed these orchards Friday night, escaped as farm watchmen fired several shots after them. The suspects fled in a canoe loaded with apples.

Chief of Cinnaminson Township Police George Dorworth has been called upon by farmers of the township, especially those along the Delaware river, to stop the theft of farm products.

Two watchmen, whose names Chief Dorworth did not reveal, have been watching the orchards of the Taylor farm for several nights. Friday night they came upon two men at the river's edge just as they were about to push the canoe into the stream toward the Pennsylvania side.

When their commands for the men to stop went unheeded, the watchmen fired several shots and the men jumped overboard. It is not known whether they swam across the river or ran along the shore. The canoe, with its cargo of apples, was seized and turned over to Chief Dorworth who is investigating its ownership with Pennsylvania police.

YMCA STAMP CLUB of Palmyra and Riverton

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra-Riverton Y.M.C.A. Stamp Club will be held at the "Y" Building, Broad street and Garfield avenue, Palmyra, Friday evening, September 28th, at 8 o'clock sharp.

The guest speaker of the evening will be G. A. Henhoeffer, stamp editor of the Evening Public Ledger. Many of our members will recall the very interesting talk on the stamps of Haiti given by Mr. Henhoeffer at our meeting last September, and, no doubt, he will have an equally interesting subject this time.

There will be a four-page exhibit open to the public. Members of other clubs may enter or anyone who is a collector, but not affiliated with a stamp club, seniors or juniors. All entries must consist of four pages, loose leaf only. Facilities for exhibiting will be provided. Exhibits will be judged but no prizes or awards will be made.

The auction will consist of approximately twenty pieces of better class material.

Also there will be a raffle and door prize.

This promises to be a very interesting meeting. Come along and invite your collector friends.

ENROLLMENT FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE

Students Who Would Attend Institution Should File Application at Once

Negotiations still are in progress with the Emergency Relief Administration looking forward to the establishment of a junior college for Camden County and vicinity. Delay in the settlement of certain financial arrangements with the federal government has caused a postponement of any definite announcement about the location of the school and date of registration for students.

Advance reports from school districts indicate a good patronage for the proposed college. However it is vitally important that all students who expect to attend such a college seek quarters elsewhere. Negotiations have been in progress for the use of the Collingswood High School for the junior college and if these are brought to a successful termination this week the college will in all probability be placed in Collingswood.

Original plans had provided for the college to be located in Camden City because of transportation facilities and convenience to the greatest numbers of students, but the inability to secure a definite promise of a building with adequate library and laboratory facilities in the Camden school system made it necessary to

1000 PER CENT

HOWARD B. CONOVER

The only "honest-to-gosh" banker on the Bankers team, and who, while on the bench 99 per cent of the time, was the only member to bat 1000. His fielding was 1000 because no balls came his way in right field. He played one inning in two games and knocked in one run and scored in the other. In an exclusive press interview Conover was reluctant to admit that he was SO EXTRA VERY GOOD that the "brain trust" used him only when the Bankers faced a crisis.

Miss Staman reported an enrollment of 265 at the opening of school, which is thirty less than last year. Twenty-four children brought lunch on Monday, some of whom would probably otherwise have been kept home because of the inclement weather.

Preparing for Throngs on 29th

Posts will be in line to swell the ranks of the marchers. A reviewing stand is to be erected along the line of march where visiting dignitaries will take the salute of those in the parade.

During the past week an important added feature of the celebration was announced by the committee. There is a concert to be given at 10 p.m. in the band stand at the Grove, Palmyra, by the Concert Corps of the Frankford Post, American Legion. This organization is composed of 40 members and has won many prizes for the excellence of its music. The committee feels extremely fortunate in obtaining the services of this group.

SHORT-WAVE MUSINGS

BY O. M. "C. W."

This season of the year, with school starting, the populace home from their vacations, and renewed activity in business and recreation, brings to mind the realization that T.O.M. has not been before the public eye since July. Therefore, this week starts "Short-Wave Musings" by O. M. "C. W."

The fall season brings us a multitude of new sets from the manufacturers.

The RCA-Victor is presenting 30 new models this fall, including two of the auto type. The most interesting to the purchaser should be the all-wave receiver. Reports garnered from owners of previous all-wave sets lead us to believe that these sets are a "honey." H. C. Schering is the authorized representative for RCA-Victor for Palmyra and Riverton.

Atwater Kent presents 21 models including four automobile numbers. The most interesting of this line is the "Tune-o-Matic" all-wave set, an eleven tube superheterodyne, with an electric clock self-tuning device which will give fourteen pre-selected programs. All of this without the touch of a human hand! Clinton B. Woolston, of Riverton, has been the agent for Atwater Kent for years. Lester S. Fortnum is the agent for these sets in Palmyra.

The Philco people are introducing several new models this fall. This make of receiver has enjoyed quite a sale in these two communities and John Etris, Palmyra, is the agent for Philco in Palmyra and Riverton.

The tube situation is being clarified. The various manufacturers have settled down in the last few months to the production of the types of tubes manufactured in the past year.

Clinton B. Woolston and H. C. Schering are authorized agents for RCA-Cunningham tubes. Schering also handles Arcturus. Wm. W. Cook is the authorized agent for National Union tubes in Palmyra and Riverton. Lester S. Fortnum handles RCA-Cunningham and Majestic tubes and John Etris is agent for Philco.

For amateurs the National Paterson, Hammerlund and various others are presenting some very interesting models.

The New Era has distributed "Log" sheets to half dozen official Radio Listening Posts in the vicinity of Palmyra and Riverton, from which we expect to print some very interesting reports each week about amateur and broadcast "catches." Any DX fans who are desirous of being included on the staff of the New Era's Official Listening Posts should get in touch with the editor of this column.

Quite some interest is being shown in amateur work in the vicinity. We should have some interesting news in the near future. "Buddy" DeLaney has applied for his Class B ticket. "Chris" Davis is still "cranking" for his license. "Chris" expects the delivery of a Paterson pre-selector, which, by all reports, is the best s.w. receiver known to-day. Phil Mingle has constructed himself an oscillator and is massaging his arm freely with "key oil." "Bud" Bowen is still constructing

CINNAMINSON B&L 53 YEARS OLD

Organized in 1878, It Has Played Important Part in Community

Fifty-six years ago next month there was founded by a group of substantial business men, residents of the communities of Cinnaminson, Palmyra and Riverton, an organization of which the present generation should justly be proud. On October 1, 1878, a certificate of association was presented to the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Burlington certifying that in accordance with a state act an Association to be known as the "Cinnaminson Building and Loan Association of Riverton, New Jersey," had been formed.

This Association was so well founded and subsequently so well managed that today it is probably stronger than at any time in its history. It has the very creditable and unusual record of having matured a series of stock in every calendar year since the first series matured in 1890.

The 45th series consisting at the beginning of its fiscal year of over 1400 shares will mature in the near future. Of this number over seven hundred shares are free, requiring the payment on the part of the Building and Loan Association of $140,000. This amount will be paid in cash as has been the Association's invariable practice. Practically all of this amount will be distributed in this community.

The maturing of the 45th series will also mean the satisfying of mortgages, aggregating $89,900 and the clearing up of stock loans, amounting to $27,900, a grand total of $258,700.

The Association will open its books on Monday evening, October 8th next, for subscriptions to its fifty-seventh series.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD PLANS CARD PARTY

Reservations for Tables Should be Made to Mrs. H. F. Jones
Before October 6

If the sewing days of the Needlework Guild are to be a real helping lift to the needy during the coming winter, directors are urged to reserve tables and interest friends in the card party to be held at the Porch Club at 2:30 p.m., October 8th.

Receipts from this party will be devoted to the buying of materials for use in making garments. Every person persuaded to cooperate will mean real assistance to this worthy work. Tea will be served, and the charge is but 50c each.

The need for funds is urgent and the help given such local institutions as the Visiting Nurse, Welfare, and Cinnaminson Home when distribution is made following the annual meeting, should be a particular reason for widespread community support.

Reservations for tables must be received by Mrs. Harry F. Jones not later than October 6th.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN MOORESTOWN

The first South New Jersey Conference of Branches of the Needlework Guild of America will be held at the Moorestown Community House Tuesday morning, October 9, at 10:30 o'clock.

An interesting program is being planned with discussions on publicity and junior work and a report of the meeting held last Spring in Lexington, Kentucky.

It is hoped that the National President, Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, will be present, also Miss Rosamond K. Bender, executive secretary, Mrs. G. Donald Spackman, publicity chairman and Miss Maria Stryker, national junior director. Several members of the National Board will probably be present also.

Luncheon will be served at one o'clock at a charge of fifty cents. Reservations may be made through Mrs. William T. J. Purnell, Riverton 249, before October 3. The luncheon fee will be paid at the door.

Needlework Guild Meeting

The next Needlework Guild sewing day will be Monday, October first, at the Porch Club at 10 a.m. Starting in November the regular sewing day will be the second Monday in each month.

Lunch will be served for 25c. Anyone wishing to have luncheon please notify Mrs. William G. Porter the morning of the meeting.

The Ten Commandments are violated even more than prohibition; why not have them repealed?

SOCCER

At a meeting of the Riverton Soccer League held Monday night, September 24, the following board of control was elected: Dick Steedle, Jim Burns, Ed. McGinnes, Fred Conway, chairman.

The season will open Saturday, October 6, at Riverton's Memorial Park.

Three teams have been named as follows: Celtics, Victorians and Dreer's Collegians. The fourth team has not been named as yet.

SHORT - WAVE MUSINGS

BY O. M. "C. W."

During the past week my editor has been absorbing various pieces of literature from manufacturers of "custom built" and "kit" receivers. A careful check-up will be made with actual reception tests before any comments are stressed in this column.

One point the prospective purchaser of a new set should watch carefully—that the set be contemplated purchasing will cover the portion of the wave-band he desires to receive. To the average person, numerous models brought out by the various manufacturers, and their claims, are very confusing.

There are several broadcast stations in the lower wave-lengths (one in particular, Davenport, England) reception of which is not provided for in some models.

Several of the manufacturers claim that anyone owning a good, modern broadcast receiver, can, by the purchase of an up-to-date converter, enjoy the same or superior results as may be had with an all-wave set.

Such a combination is highly recommended by several of the manufacturers in the higher price level.

Below are some suggestions on s.w. reception, published by courtesy of The Ken-Rad Corporation.

To take full advantage of the inestimable pleasure that exists in the dialing of foreign stations, it is best that you acquaint yourself at the very beginning with the proper technique for bringing them in.

The short waves that carry programs from distant lands to your receiving set are quite different from the long waves that we are accustomed to.

These feats of distance reception are not accomplished, however, simply by hurriedly turning the station selector as one does with a broadcast receiver. Much greater skill in tuning is required in order to obtain the best possible results. There are a large number of short-wave channels, and they occur closer together on the station selector dial than ordinary broadcast stations. Many of the stations are radio telegraph rather than radiophone service, but phone stations are interspersed between these.

Because of the great difference in time between different parts of the world, one must be familiar with these time differences and with the broadcasting schedules of foreign stations. Weather conditions, and daylight conditions must also be appropriate before the reception of far-distant stations can be accomplished satisfactorily.

Read this and subsequent articles carefully and follow the suggestions outlined as closely as possible, and as you acquire skill you will begin to enjoy the full potentialities of your receiver.

FORTNUM SHOWING NEW RADIO MARVEL

Automatic Devices Provide Twelve Hour Program. Selections From 7 Stations

Development of a robot radio which tunes itself on and off different stations according to a pre-selected schedule, starting and stopping and changing programs automatically over a 12-hour period, is now on display at Lester S. Fortnum's, Palmyra.

Once set, the robot, or Tune-O-Matic radio, provides any combination of programs desired, and after turning itself off at night will go back on again in the morning and serve as an alarm clock. The first model perfected was exhibited by Kent and looks like any other large all-wave radio, except for an electric clock set into the front panel.

Shadow tuning, a new feature, indicates when the peak of the incoming signal is reached. The set is equipped with an auditorium type dynamic speaker capable of handling great volume without distortion and with a wide range of frequency response.

Another entirely new radio feature, the multi-purpose control switch, is also on the Tune-O-Matic. This provides a fourth tone position. The first for its highest quality reception with necessarily less selectivity; the second position calls for high selectivity with tone pitch in the upper register and a third for its high selectivity with the lower tone pitch. In the fourth position the set will be free from tube and background noises and has good selectivity. Under favorable atmospheric conditions this is the best position for tuning to foreign short-wave stations.

RECOGNITION DAY FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS

THE "NEW DEAL"

BY JULIAN MASON

Promises vs. Performance

Franklin Roosevelt vs. Franklin Roosevelt. His words one day as compared with his words another day. At some time in our future history that comparison is going to be made by the people in deadly earnest.

Listened to this declaration:

"For three long years the Federal Government has been on the road toward bankruptcy."

"For the fiscal year 1931 the deficit was $462,000,000."

"For the fiscal year 1933 it will probably exceed $1,200,000,000."

"For the fiscal year 1934, based on the appropriation bills passed by the last Congress and the estimated revenues the deficit will probably exceed $1,000,000,000 unless immediate action is taken."

"Thus we shall have piled up an accumulated deficit of $5,000,000,000."

"With the utmost seriousness I point out to the Congress the profound effect of this fact upon our national economy. It has contributed to the recent collapse of our banking structure. It has accentuated the stagnation of the economic life of our people. It has added to the ranks of the unemployed. Our government's house is not in order and for many reasons no effective action has been taken to restore it to order."

"Too often in recent history liberal governments have been wrecked on rocks of loose fiscal policy. We must avoid this danger."

Deficit Nearly Doubled

Those were Franklin Roosevelt's words in a special message sent to Congress, March 10, 1933, six days after his inauguration.

He warned the legislators that an accumulated depression deficit of $5,000,000,000 had closed banks, stopped business and increased unemployment. He added that he must be given the power to cut government expenses. "I give you assurance that, if this is done, there is reasonable prospect that within a year the income of the government will be sufficient to cover the expenditures of the government."

Compare this amazing statement with actual conditions today. The depression deficit is now $5,000,000,000 and $9,500,000,000. And of this $4,500,000,000 increase all but $100,000,000 has been incurred from April 1, 1933 to June 30, 1934. In other words, during these fifteen months when he has had absolutely full power over the nation's finances, the man who promised not to increase the deficit has almost doubled it.

More than that. The evils which he saw eighteen months ago as inherent in a gigantic deficit are actually with us today. The banks are in actuality largely paralyzed; business is in fact "stagnated," and 10,000,000 unemployed are still with us.

In the Economy Bill message from which I quote today, Franklin Roosevelt wrote the severest financial indictments of his own administration that I have seen. No hostile pen could be more cruel—or more true.

"NRA Too Big"—Johnson

General Johnson this week has done the same thing. He has framed an indictment against this administration that touches the bulwark of all our liberties—the United States Supreme Court.

In his speech on the textile strike the NRA chieftain criticized the good faith of the unions, and, in the resulting turmoil, his amazing revelation was largely overlooked. Speaking of the long fight over the reorganization of the National Recovery Authority, the General said:

"During the whole intense experience I have been in constant touch with that old counselor, Judge Louis Brandeis. As you know, he thinks that anything that is too big is bound to be wrong. He thinks the NRA is too big, and I agree with him."

Here we have a Justice of the Supreme Court helping to reorganize an institution, the legality of which will come before him for decision!

Has Justice Brandeis been the "counselor," too, on other New Deal, Brain Trust experiments?

A Congress alert to the preservation of American liberties would investigate the Johnson revelation with a view to impeachment. In my judgment Justice Brandeis should deny the charge or resign.

"Addlepat or Crook?"

Mr. Morgenthau is getting, abroad, some of the severe dressing down which he deserved but did not get here over his pre-funding speech on the condition of the Treasury and the cost of the New Deal.

The English Weekly goes so far as to say:

"Even in his own job of bookkeeping, it is evident to an unchartered accountant that Mr. Morgenthau is either an addlepat or a crook; for upon no other hypothesis than that of incompetence or fraud is it possible to explain his recent brag that, far from having impoverished the Treasury by the expenditure of six billions of dollars, the nation has really made a profit on it. By the increase of 'Cash in Hand,' by the windfall of the 'profit' on the devaluation of the gold dollar, and by the production of 'tangible assets' in the form of roads, dams and power-plants, Mr. Morgenthau claims that not only has the nation got good value for its money, but that, in fact, even monetarily, the nation is better off than before. Now is this farago of 'explanation' more political raving, done to exhibit Mr. Morgenthau as an impudent tyro?"

In his own country Mr. Morgenthau was pretty well saved from such plain speaking by the general fear of hurting still further the slipping credit of the Government.

Placing the Blame

The temper of our correspondents is definitely changing. Letters coming in this week to the office of the National Republican Builders, 60 East 43rd Street, follow the example set this week by the Saturday Eve-

HELEN EISLEY IS TENNIS CHAMPION

Defeats Hilda Hagstoz to Take Women's Singles Trophy by Score of 4-6, 7-5, 6-4

Playing magnificent tennis, Helen Easley threw off the jinx which has kept her from winning the Women's Singles Tennis title on two previous occasions, and scored a 4-6, 7-5, 6-4 victory over Hilda Hagstoz. Not since Robert Borer defeated George Lathbury 7-5, 1-6, 10-8, 4-6, 6-3 for the Park Championship two years ago, has such a dramatic match been seen on the Memorial Park courts. Hilda Hagstoz, the dethroned champion, also showed to advantage, for she avoided three match points before finally succumbing at 5-3 in the second set. Hilda was within two points of the match, but Helen scored two brilliant placements down the sidelines and stepped out of danger in the following game. Baseline rallies with no letup for fifteen or twenty exchanges were constant throughout the play, and neither woman ever equalled this performance before. It was top notch tennis with very few careless errors.

In the opening set Hilda went out to a 2-0 lead only to be tied 2-2. Then she continued to chop with marked effect until 5-2. Here Helen strengthened her game, which heretofore had contained few forcing drives, and rallied to 4-5, but Hilda was not to be denied and finished the set 6-4 behind her service. It is noticeable that women's serves help them little, and in this match the server lost 17 games and won only 15.

It seemed as if the match was over when Hilda lead 3-0 in the second chapter. Then she dropped her serve, and Helen followed suit, making the score 4-1. The strokes of Helen Easley were superb at this point. She seemed to have perfect control, and the effect of her drives was telling. The score went to 4-3 before Hilda could tally; but this was only a momentary pause, for Helen blasted her way through the set to win 7-5.

Keeping up the fast pace, Helen increased her streak to six straight and a 2-0 lead in the final set. Hilda braced to even the score, but Helen lost only three points in capturing the next three games for a commanding lead of 5-2. Hilda held up very well when faced with two match points and drew up to 5-4 by cracking Helen's serve with the loss of but one point, but she could not continue the fast pace and 4-0 was against her in the match game. Hilda forced an error and then hit weakly into the net, thus losing the match. The cup contains the name of Ella Bussell twice and the two this year's finalists once.

The point score follows:

First Set
Hagstoz 444244424 4-36-6

Second Set
Easley 41214144145 5-40-7
Hagstoz 64404024313 3-34-5

Third Set
Easley 653344441 4-38-6

BACK FROM FAIR

Joseph T. Evans and son Howard, local coal merchants, have just returned from a week's tour, taking in many places of interest en route, among which were the Century of Progress at Chicago, returning via Niagara Falls and Watkins Glen. Mr. Evans believes the Fair this year surpasses last year's exhibition.

FIRST FALL MEET OF RIVERTON PTA

Sessions Resumed Monday. Following Recess for Summer. Miss Staman Speaks

A most informal and friendly atmosphere prevailed at the opening meeting of the Riverton PTA on Monday afternoon. The teachers and mothers met in the class-rooms made gay with fall flowers placed there by the "room mothers," and chatted freely on the subjects most interesting to them.

The business meeting followed with a welcome by Mrs. Howard Coe. After reports of the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Blackwell read the by-laws of the Association which were approved and adopted.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham chairman of the Child Study Group, extended a cordial invitation to everyone to join the group which will meet the first Monday of each month in the kindergarten room at 3:00 p.m. The subject for the year will be "Understanding Ourselves and Our Children." Various members of the group will lead the discussions.

Mrs. Robert Sim, president of the Cinnaminson PTA, invited all who could to attend a series of discussions on Child Psychology led by Miss Eloise Bryan, supervising principal of Cinnaminson public school to be held at the school.

Mrs. Curtis, guest soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Sim sang several charming folk songs.

A capable person will be engaged to take charge of the young children during the meetings, each mother paying a small sum for the service.

Miss Caroline Staman, supervising principal of Riverton public school welcomed the members and expressed a wish that parents visit the school often. Miss Staman then discussed the subject "Problems of Lessons."

After the meeting adjourned punch and cake were served by Mrs. Fred Metzger and her committee.

RIVERTON PTA DY GROUP

First Meeting Will Be Held October 1. Subject, "Little Known Facts About Grandmothers"

The first meeting of the Child Study Group will be held on Monday, October 1st, at 3:30 p.m. in the kindergarten room.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham will lead the discussion on "Little Known Facts about Grandmothers," taken from the chosen topic for the year, "Understanding Ourselves and Our Children." Everyone is welcome.

There will be a capable person in charge of the children, in the small school building. The small sum of 10 cents will be asked of each mother who brings her child, thus assuring herself a pleasant time at the meeting with the knowledge that her child is well taken care of.

The modern home is one in which a switch regulates everything but the children.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"REALITY" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 30.

The Golden Text is: "Whatever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, that dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made heaven and earth" (Isaiah 37:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made" (p. 472).

ORGANIZE YOUR DEMOCRAT MOVEMENT

Mrs. Mervil Haas will hold a meeting at Burlington tonight (Friday) at which she will organize a group of young people from the Burlington County towns to form a "Young Democrat Movement" in the county.

The lawyers are examining the New Deal and may go far enough to verify or deny reports that somewhere in the picture is the Constitution.—Indianapolis News.

and which no one can afford to miss. Similar contests in other parts of the state have proved to be tremendous attractions and all indications point to a huge assemblage at Memorial Park on the day of the celebration.

Seating and Parking

Temporary stands accommodating two thousand people have been erected at the Park in such a manner that the occupants will have an excellent and unrestricted view of the entire event. In addition there are 24 boxes, each holding 10 seats.

A large parking space with capacity for several hundred cars has been provided adjacent to the field where the competition will be held. Parking will be conducted by members of the Riverton and Palmyra Fire Departments, supervised by William Gootee, Chief of the Riverton Police, C. Morris Beck, Chief of the Palmyra Police, and George F. Dorworth, Chief of the Cinnaminson Police. These officers, with the assistance of additional police from various towns in the county and a number of State Troopers, will also direct traffic. The Pennsylvania Railroad will provide special guards at the various crossings, and railroad police will assist wherever necessary.

Committee in Charge

The committee in charge of the day's celebration is composed of the following: Drexel P. Patterson, general chairman; Karl W. Latch, vice-chairman in charge of programs; H. C. ### Rotary Club Host

Many prominent state officials will be present among these being D. Lane Powers, member of Congress, Clifford R. Powell, State Senator, and Marcus W. Newcomb, member of the New Jersey General Assembly.

All the guests of honor will be entertained at dinner by the Palmyra-Riverton Rotary Club, in the Porch Club building.

Program of Events

The handsome souvenir program, prepared under the direction of Karl W. Latch, will be on sale the day of the celebration for ten cents, and will contain complete information regarding the entire activities of the Competition and other events.

Through the courtesy of the Freihofer Baking Co. adequate amplification will be provided at the Park by means of their mobile unit which contains all the latest equipment necessary for satisfactory audition in all parts of the stands.

Refreshments

There will be ample time for supper between the close of the Competition and parade in the evening.

The Knights of Columbus will serve a buffet supper at their home with a varied menu of delicious food. The members have also kindly offered the entire facilities of their home during the day of the celebration. The street in front of their quarters will be brilliantly illuminated by powerful flood lights during the passage of the parade.

The Lutheran Church, Broad and Garfield, Palmyra, plans to serve a delicious supper of home-cooked foods at a reasonable price and it is expected that other organizations in Riverton and Palmyra will also provide eating facilities. The two stands operated at the Park by Post Rodgers will carry a complete line of all kinds of sandwiches, coffee, soft drinks, etc. Local restaurants are also arranging special menus.

Parade at 7 p.m.

The parade will start promptly from the vicinity of Memorial Park at 7 p.m. and will be composed of all competing corps with the addition of uniformed units from the ## various American Legion Posts in Burlington County.

Route of March

The route of march will include Broad to Market street, Palmyra, and counter-march to Cinnaminson Avenue, Palmyra. It will be reviewed by the guests of honor from a stand located near the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, Palmyra. Prizes will be awarded at the Legion Home, Palmyra, where the parade will disband.

Carnival

The carnival, which will be in full operation after the parade, will be located on the Legion grounds instead of near S-41 as originally planned. The carnival committee will provide many attractions for young folks from three to ninety-three.

Concert in Grove

At 10 p.m. there will be a concert in the Grove, Palmyra, by the Concert Corps of the Frankford Post, American Legion. This organization is well known in Philadelphia and vicinity and the concert is expected to attract a large audience.

Trees Valuable Asset

Rev. Fr. Ashley, comparatively a newcomer to Riverton, living here since last April, said that he had previously lived in Long Island and that the tunnel out to Long Island had induced practically one third of the population of the state of New York to move to Long Island.

Father Ashley went on to say that people who are employed in the (continued on page 8) had finished their remarks and the chairman stated that the meeting was open for discussion.

For a few minutes it looked as though everyone was speechless, so Dr. Rogers called on Ross T. Elliott to say what he thought of the whole plan.

Mr. Elliott said that he felt that everyone who possibly could, should ride on the trains in order to show the railroad company that the people of the riverfront towns really appreciate what the company is trying to do.

Proposes Tunnel

Edward W. G. Borer said that he felt if the committee had not already done so, it should look into the matter of building a tunnel within ten miles of the present Delaware River Bridge.

Mr. Borer went on to say that he had noticed a number of new mills over near Frankford Junction in the vicinity of Kensington and Erie avenues, and felt sure that some of the superintendents and junior executives would much rather live on this side of the river if suitable transportation could be provided.

Mr. Borer in reference to the cost of the tickets suggested that perhaps after the railroad had seen that the people of Riverton and communicating towns meant to use the railroads they would have a monthly ticket at the price of $5.00 which all members of the family could use. This he thought would be very practical.

city all day, prefer a suburban home with the wide spaces between houses, the trees and the birds—a place where they can relax and rest.

He also suggested that the Transportation Committee put an advertisement in the leading newspapers of Philadelphia telling of the advantages of Riverton and the other riverfront towns and invite the people to come over and see what we had to offer. He said that he felt that the people of the riverfront towns, Riverton especially, did not half appreciate what they had in the way of beauty. He said that Riverton was unique in the fact that it has trees all over the town, not only in the strictly residential sections, but in the business sections also. He said that recently he had occasion to visit the various towns along the riverfront, and not in one place did he see trees along the streets near the railroad, until he came down to Riverton.

Funds Needed

The question came up as to how much money there was in the treasury and when Mr. Elliot said that he had $4.25, a committee was named by Dr. Rogers to raise money to carry this transportation project along. The committee named was as follows: Ralph Flower, chairman, Walter Rogers, Jack Harper, Gilbert Coe, Nathan Lane, John Werner and Lawton Steedle.

Henry L. Randall, president of The Riverside Metal Company, said that his company employed close to a thousand people and he would be glad to have slips printed to go into the payroll envelopes explaining just what the committee was trying to do and urging its employees to ride the trains instead of the buses when they go shopping to Philadelphia.

Mr. Randall also said that his company would contribute to the fund that is being raised.

Wilton E. Mount, secretary of the Palmyra-Riverton YMCA, said that he was present on a trip to Valley Forge not so long ago and that only 5% of the boys had ridden on trains. He said that he felt the children as well as the grown-ups should become train-minded. Mr. Mount said that since the buses had forbidden private cars to take on passengers he felt sure that people would feel more kindly towards the trains.

HERE THEY COME! THERE THEY GO!

World famous speed demons will attempt to break the half mile dirt track record at the Trenton Fair on September 29, which has been designated by J. Fred Margerum, General Manager, as Auto Race Day as the grand finale of the fair.

The races have been sanctioned by the American Automobile Association and will again be supervised by Ralph A. Hankinson, America's foremost impresario of speed. When the starter's flag drops, and the dare-devils step on the gas and hurtle into the first turn, the crowd will be presented with a thrill of a lifetime.

Because of the high type auto races at the Trenton Fair each year, record crowds have been attracted to the grandstands to witness the events. The track is considered one of America's widest and best banked racing roads and has the distinction of being the best safeguarded fair track in the country.

Many of the leading auto racers of the country have entered the Trenton Fair races in an effort to lower the track record and the avalanche of falling speed records that is sweeping the national racing record books this year seems certain to reach the great exposition.

Should the records tumble the new marks will have the stamp of authenticity for the A. A. A. contest board has already granted a sanction for the contests. Plan now to attend the Trenton Fair and take every member of the family along. The admission price is only twenty-five cents.
