OWING to the discussion about the right of the trustees to sell the M. E. Church, we have had the deed examined and find that Isaiah Toy, John Springer, Richard Pike, George Smith and Charles Lowden, the trustees of the M. E. Church, bought the ground from Elias Morgan and wife, on August 23, 1863, for two hundred and eighty five dollars ($285). It consisted of 456 feet along the railroad, 597 feet along what is now called Cinnaminson avenue and 600 feet back to the front, making in all about two acres. The deed was made and acknowledged by Thomas H. Dudley. There is no restriction as to the resale or its future use and as the trustees bought and paid for the lot they also have a right to sell it.

To the Editor of the News:

Your article on the suppression of the dog nuisance, in last week's issue, is timely. 95 per cent. of the dogs in this township are worthless curs, and are a constant menace to the people.

The township committee should appoint an officer who will do his duty fearlessly in the premises, namely after capturing the dogs, if not redeemed in twenty-four hours, by making an end of them. He ought also be compelled to keep an accurate record of his work.

The township committee should make him an allowance per head for every dog taken and also allow him to retain the money retained for redeemed dogs, but under no circumstances permit him to sell, give away or keep any dog not redeemed.

An infraction of this rule ought to work his immediate dismissal. Of course every owner of a dog, valuable or otherwise, will pay his dog his bite (he evidently means a member of his family), but what guarantee is there that he will not bite any one not known to him? We hope the committee will take time by the forelock and instruct the township clerk to issue a proclamation ordering all dogs running at large muzzled, otherwise they will be subject to capture. This is a matter of vital importance to the community, and should have immediate attention.

Decoration Day Address by Rev. Geo. H. Nelson.

We are drawn together to-day by a common emotion. It is the feeling of gratitude to those who laid down their lives that the Republic might live.

Our faces to-day are directed not towards the golden present, nor towards the rosy future, but to the past of gloom, destruction and death. There are some here who looking through the eye of memory can vividly see the scenes of the great civil war. But the most of us at that time were in our cradles, therefore we can only view that bloody drama by using the telescope of history. What scenes does this glass bring to view! patriotic addresses, enlistings, farewells, drills, battles, and final victory.

History is also an immense graveyard. Here are interred colossal evils which in life afflicted mankind. In our gloomy corner is a dark shaft, erected at the head of crowded streets to-day. They are not mourners, for the assembled multitudes wear smiling faces and are jubilant.

The inscription upon the monument "In memory of State Sovereignty, Secession and Slavery, the three giants who reared the life of the nation, but were slain by the boys in blue." It was these foes that our nation contended with and buried so deep there will be no resurrection.

First, then, they sought to overthrow State Sovereignty. This was the hideous gallop of the nation's birth to the monarchy. Secession from the community of the government there were two antagonistic conceptions of the nature of the union of States. Some held that the relation was a family relation of States. The family union can never be changed. A brother must always be a brother and a sister a sister. So a State once born into the family of States never could be anything else than a sister State. Others held that the union was like the union of people in a crowd, who will remain together only so long as there was mutual good will and profit. These noble men who we commemorate to-day for four years contended that this was a nation, many of them died to prove to the world that this is not a mob of states but a family of states whose relation never can be changed.

Next they fought the monster, Secession. The South, checked in its purpose to spread slavery in every new state, resolved to withdraw from the Union and establish a confederation of states whose chief foundation was African slavery. What a confederacy that would have been so founded, we may judge. There would have been the condition of affairs we see in Europe. A standing army, border struggles, and oppressive taxation to support an army. But at the expense of their blood these men decreed for all time to come "there shall be no secession."

They fought slavery. At first slavery was only indirectly involved in the great struggle. But the "Emancipation Proclamation," as President Lincoln affirmed, was a war necessity. The proclamation was made in time of defeat, but victory after victory attended its promulgation and from that time on there were three ideas they fought, state sovereignty, secession, and slavery.

But toward the close another element entered into the struggle. They also fought for their northern homes. At Gettysburg those veterans spurred each other to do his best with the exclamation, "Boys we now fight for our homes." There is no mark of the devastation of war around us because they stood a human wall, between us and a cruel enemy. Well, then, we remember them to-day.

What men they were! They came, not from a caisson slums but from the farm, mechanic's shop, mercantile establishment, lawyers office, physicians dispensary, and pulpits.

They were as true to the flag as the needle to the pole. Forced marches, exposure, not even the satanic torments of our prisons could cool their ardor or cause them to renounce the flag. In all the thousands of union soldiers imprisoned only 21 are known to have taken the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy; though to do that meant food, health and liberty.

What heroically courageous men they were! A writer in the Century said, "Perhaps the most striking case of desperate and deliberate courage which the history of modern warfare has furnished was witnessed at Cold Harbor. The men had been repeatedly repulsed in assaulting earthworks, had each time lost heavily, and had become impressed with the conviction that such attacks meant certain death. One evening, after a dangerous assault had been ordered for daylight the next morning, I noticed in passing along the line that many of the men had taken off their coats and seemed engaged in mending rents in the back. Upon closer examination I found that they were calmly writing their names and home addresses on slips of paper, and pinning these slips upon the backs of their coats, so that their dead bodies might be recognized upon the field and their fate made known to their friends at home. Never was there a more gallant assault than that made by those men the next day, though their act of the night before bore painful proof that they had entered upon their work without a hope of surviving. Such courage is more than heroic; it is sublime."

Then let us scatter daisies on their graves, for as daisies they fell before the scythe of war; lilies, for their patriotism was as pure as its color; violets, since they were true to the flag to the violet to the blue of heaven. Place sweet flowers on their tombs, for their memory is still fragrant. Strew evergreen, because their names and deeds are immortal.

SOCIAL PICNIC.

On Monday last a large party of ladies and gentlemen, about forty, arrived from Philadelphia, on the 10.30 a.m. train to have a picnic on the river bank near the water works. They brought baskets heavily laden with vegetables, and had their table near Mr. Meager's boat house. After a sumptuous dinner, the party enjoyed themselves in fishing, boating, carriage riding, strolling around, bicycle riding, etc. A few of the guests, and some of the children seemed to enjoy bathing. A shower came up about four o'clock, when a party of ladies were out rowing with two of our gallant Palmyra boatmen, which was more fun for those who were in the boats than for those who were drenched with the rain in the boat. The guests did their best to get the ladies ashore quickly by attempting a near route through the splatter-docks which resulted in their getting stuck in the mud for several minutes, while it was pouring rain. The ladies were landed after the shower was all over, and the sun shining brightly. After supper the party all went to the residence of Mr. E. A. Meager, where they enjoyed the evening in singing and dancing. Before taking the 10.57 train, ice cream and refreshments were served.

The only Palmyra people participating with them in their pleasure were the Meagers, the McCordys and the Lippincotts.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The North-east Branch, Y. M. C. A. of Phila., came to our town last Saturday and succeeded in taking a game from our boys by a score of 3-1.

The loss of the game was attributed to the "off day" condition of some of Palmyra's players, on in particular.

The battery work of our team was superb, as only 2 hits and 2 stolen bases were credited against them, and if it had not been for their fine work the score would, no doubt, have been larger.

Next Saturday, June 11th, the Y. M. C. A. team will play the Parker club, a reputable team from Phila., when every effort will be made to give our patrons a good exhibition. The ladies are respectfully invited to attend these games.

W. C. T. U.

The subject for next Thursday will be, "Accepted." There will also be a parlor meeting on Thursday evening, at the residence of Miss Carl Peterson, on Horace avenue.

The ladies in charge of this meeting extend a cordial invitation to all, as a pleasant social evening is anticipated.

If Birch, of Burlington, N. J., keeps on trying to give away his Broad street lots and talking about them, they will become as much of a cheat as his celebrated carriages and harness, that is what some people would say. You do not find clubs under trees that do not bear fruit. Some people could not do it, it costs money to advertise lots to give away. All great achievements had to be talked about and anticipated a long time before they were accomplished. Besides, Birch's style of advertising is good for sick people. A lady came down this week from the upper part of the state and purchased a carriage and harness. She said she thought if Mr. Birch was giving away building lots he would sell carriages cheap. She also said that her husband had been sick all the spring and he was impatient every week to get the paper, as it seemed to do him good to see what Birch had to say about his celebrated carriages and harness.

Birthday Progressive Euchre Surprise Party.

As June 4th was Mr. E. A. Meager's birthday some of his Palmyra friends called on him unexpectedly that evening to play progressive euchre taking with them refreshments. Twenty-four ladies and gentlemen enjoyed the game immensely. "Cash" were often obtained by many of the best players, to the amusement of the more fortunate.

The prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McCordy after quite a sharp contest. Mr. Faunce and Mrs. Walker easily won the Booby prizes.

Those participating in the game were Mr. and Mrs. T. V. McCordy, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Meager, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Keston, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. a. e., Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McFotridge, Mr. and Mrs. Faunce and Mr. Fish and Miss Lina Hockel, of Phila.

Y. M. C. A.

The late Archbishop of Canterbury said young men are left very much to themselves. The restraint of home withdrawn, how very important that they should have a guide, such as that given by the Y. M. C. A. provides, keeping in mind by its very name their highest calling that of Christians giving their every assistance for a useful and happy life, teaching them to associate together for a good and holy purpose, and thus enabling them to avoid thousands of temptations which would otherwise beset them.

Bishop Fos, of the M. E. Church, in his farewell sermon at the Hanespin Avenue M. E. church, Misses July Oct. 14th, 1888, said, "I want to say to you that next to the direct support of the church of Christ and its missions and benevolent institutions, there is nothing you can do with $10,000, $5,000 or $500 better than put it into the Young Men's Christian Association and its work. I know something of the work of the association in this city and elsewhere, and it is always commendable. I wish it splendid success."

The late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, of London, said the value of the Y. M. C. A. to our great city cannot be too highly. Every Christian man who is gaining wealth in London is under bond to uphold the Y. M. C. A. It should be his delight as well as his duty.

IMPROVED ROADWAY IN BURLINGTON COUNTY.

At a largely attended meeting held in the Mt. Holly Court House last week the proposed improvement in country roads was discussed. Howard Parry, Esq., acted as chairman.

James D. Owens, of Newark, a practical road builder, was introduced and gave a history of the extent to which the building of stone roads had been carried on in the upper part of the state. At first there was much opposition to these roads, but the people in that section are enthusiastic in favor of them.

Clayton Conrow, of Cinnaminson, made an address in favor of improved roadways, and characterized the township plan of road construction a failure.

President Edward Burroughs, of the State Board of Agriculture, explained the provisions of the road law under which the proposed improvements are being made. He said a few years ago there was a mud blockade all over the country. Roads were impassable, crops could not be marketed and business was at a standstill. This started the movement for good roads, which is now spreading rapidly. A uniform system of good roads will improve the value of property generally, especially farm property. The movement in favor of good roads has come to stay. The people throughout the State are behind it and it will succeed. A motion was made to pass a resolution requesting the Board of Freeholders to keep the expenditure for roads down to as low a figure as possible, but it was afterwards withdrawn for fear that it would do harm to the movement.

A special meeting of the Board of Freeholders was held on Saturday for the purpose of taking action in relation to the work of building a number of country stone roads, under the provisions of the new law.

The first road reported on extended from Beverly to Cooperstown, 15 feet wide and 9 inches thick. It will be a telford roadway in the centre, with macadam sides. The stone used in all the new roads will be trap rock. As no provision was made in the law for grading, it was proposed that a separate contract be made for that part of the work. The road was ordered built.

The next road reported will extend from the river pier at Riverton to Westfield, and will vary in width from 20 feet to 12, the widest part being in Riverton. Where the soil is wet and springy a telford road will be used, and where the soil is dry and sandy the macadam road will be laid, the engineer explaining that the macadam is cheaper and just as good. The road was ordered built and bids advertised for.

Another road was ordered built from Cooperstown to Beverly, 12 feet in width, 8 inches in depth.

The plan of the new road from Moorestown to Mount Laurel was amended by J. B. Joyce, and the work ordered done. This will make a continuous stone roadway from Mt. Laurel to Riverton. The Mt. Laurel road will be but ten feet wide, ten inches deep, and a combination of telford and macadam.

Two new roads were ordered built at Moorestown, one extending from Staunton station to the Bridgeboro road, and the other from Chester Avenue to the Bridgeboro road to the township line.

A petition was filed for another stone roadway in Chester township, to a southeasterly direction from Moorestown, and for one in Beverly township, along the river road to Delaware, both of which were referred to a committee.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

"Old age is only fond of moral truth, lectures too grave to digest, and youth, but he who blends instruction with delight."

Wine every reader, nor in vain shall write."—POPE.

Our representative will make collections in Palmyra and Riverton next week, and we will be obliged if all who are in arrears for subscriptions would be prepared to pay him when he calls.

SOME of our Palmyra friends who have sided with the back districts at town meetings begin to see through the wool that was pulled over their eyes, and hereafter will fight with the "new comers" for the best interests of the town.

This hearty co-operation by the pastors of the different churches is appreciated and to more fully aid their good work we propose to publish a part of a column of live church news instead of the usual standing church notices. Let each clergyman prepare brief notices of subjects of sermons, or addresses, any special or important service on kindred information and send to us on Wednesday or not later than Thursday evening. THE WEEKLY NEWS is not a religious journal, but unhesitatingly supports every good effort.

This approach of the Fourth of July will cause some to decide upon the best method to properly celebrate the occasion. Would it not be wise to adopt a more intelligent than the usual fire, noise and smoke, which will probably yield the usual number of accidents and destruction of property? Let a representative committee be appointed to have a union gathering of some kind, with appropriate music and the reading of the Declaration of Independence and possibly an address. Every citizen should make this an occasion to have flags and bunting decorations for their homes. The Fourth is so intimately connected with Bunker Hill that probably there will always be more or less powder burned, but in addition there should be some education in patriotism and a love for the institutions of this "land of the free and the home of the brave."

The hearing before Squire Spayd on Thursday night was a deplorable sight. Five young men were found by the mother of one of them, drinking beer at Miller's saloon, West Palmyra, although none of them are of age.

These young men are of respectable families, whose parents and relatives deeply feel the disgrace their act have caused. Any person who offers a reward to ruin to such young men should be made to feel the full extent of the law and it is believed that these parents, who have been so vitally staked will be able supported by the ministers and other respectable residents, in an attempt to convict and punish the keeper of such a place.

A drunkard's son may not fall any lower than his parents, but when our best homes are broken up by this demon there is but one thing to do, and that is exterminate the cause of such destruction.

Let every mother and father consider the possibility of a drunken son, and then consider how much these grieving parents need their sympathy. These young men did not consider the anguish their acts would cause, or we are sure they would have kept away from temptation. This public hearing will double make them avoid such places hereafter. They have honorable parents and we cannot think they wish to dishonor their homes and break their mother's hearts, and probably drive them to an early grave.

This case should be pushed and the full extent of the law applied.

OUR notice last week of the use of tobacco dust is even more useful than we were informed. Mr. J. C. W. Frishmuth, who began the use of this valuable germicide kindly invited the representative of the WEEKLY NEWS to inspect his current and gooseberry bushes and not a worm could be found nor any of the leaves destroyed.

Mr. Frishmuth has been trying the dust on grape vines this week and as far as can be seen, with marked success. This is valuable information and we are glad to be able to give our numerous inquirers such positive facts from such a reliable source. Tobacco dust is the refuse of factories and can be had from most of the supply houses.

In this connection we are glad to state that Mr. Frishmuth's gardener, Peter Rice states that four or midlings sprinkled on the plants is an effective exterminator for cabbage worms. He has successfully used it many years.

It looks as if the township committee was making a show of practicing economy in expenditures for an effect. Take the case of the special policemen for instance—instead of putting on two men for Palmyra, where we have four places where liquors are sold, from which the "drunk and disorderly" persons are supposed to originate, and where most of the tramps are attracted, and where there are more houses than in all the rest of the township together, only one man is on duty because the condition of the treasury will not warrant putting on two men, yet a man is appointed for the full three months to watch the half dozen houses at Taylor's Lane. Where is the saving? If it was necessary to have a man at Taylor's why was not one of our deserving constables employed instead of a new man?

To the Editor of the News:

Mr. Editor—

What is the matter with the Dr. of the News? He has antagonized the citizens of Palmyra for years, and has not met with much success, and is now trying his hand on the dead.

Most every week of late he has an article on the necessity of moving the cemetery from the Palmyra M. E. Cemetery, as it is detrimental to the health of the town. Is it not strange that he alone has just discovered this when nearly every city and village in the State has cemeteries in them, even the city of Philadelphia has them in the center of the city and they have not made the discovery that the doctor has, but he says the law forbids them nearer than two miles for any town. Suppose we move all cemeteries two miles away from any town—what a resurrection there would be! Few cemeteries in the State but what would have to be removed. Well, in his nature, if he can't fight the living he must try the dead. Do not worry doctor, the Palmyra M. E. Cemetery will remain just where it is long after you and your children and great grand children have been laid away.

Cemetery.

Ziak has a fine stock of shoes, both for adults and children, and the prices are right.

The time for holding the morning church services in the Presbyterian church will be changed to 10:45.

The Riverton club will play the Indian club from West Philadelphia this afternoon on the home grounds.

Mrs. Nelson, of Florence, gave a missionary address at the Rectory on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Reath are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Roberts. The latter leaves shortly for Europe.

Master John Reath left on Tuesday for Wilcox, Pa., where he will spend the summer.

A stated meeting of the vestry was held at the Rectory on Monday evening.

Services at the church of the Sacred Heart will be held during rebuilding, in the Lyceum.

Mrs. Chas. Leek, of Broad street, left on Thursday for a visit to relatives at Ocean Grove and Perth Amboy.

The Presbyterian Sunday school will hold its sessions in the morning, commencing to-morrow the 19th inst. at 9:30.

Our collector will be on his annual rounds next week. If you are in arrears please be prepared to settle with him.

The Cinnamon Building Association met in the Lyceum on Monday night. $7,000 was sold at 51 per cent.

The Riverton Ball Club Minstrel Troupe has postponed their annual performance, on account of the absence of some of the members.

Messrs. J. T. Severns & Sons have secured the contract for all mill work for the new Broadway M. E. Church, Camden.

Miss Jessie Davis entertained the Children's Sociable on Saturday evening last. Master Jack Converse will entertain them this week.

Squire Ourt committed to Hotel de Shinn, at Mt. Holly, a female tramp on Thursday morning brought in by constable Get.

The Roman Catholics will worship in the lyceum until their new church is completed. There are now about 200 communicants and the little church will only seat about 125.

The Riverton Ball club has resigned from the Suburban League and hereafter will be strictly an amateur organization. It is said the pay roll of the players was too expensive.

Mr. Ed. H. Hancock left on Thursday afternoon for Kenova, W. Va., where his son Mr. Stacy Hancock is in line 18, Mr. J. Briggs, of Lippincott avenue, will have charge of his affairs, during his absence. Mrs. Hancock will not go until next week.

Among our residents at the opening of the Moreillon Inn, at Torresdale, on Monday last were S. B. Coale, Gen. Wm. L. James, E. H. Fidler, Jr., George Senat, Ezra Lippincott, E. H. Ogden, Chas. M. Biddle, J. B. Shovel, E. B. Shovel, Charles Wright, A. J. Briggs, and a number of the guests of the Leno House.

Mr. A. C. Heulings has broken ground for two houses on Bridge street above 7th, to cost about $3500 each. This will be a good opportunity to have a house erected for a prospective home, as we understand Mr. Heulings will arrange plans to suit a proposed purchaser.

The scholars of the Presbyterian Sunday school are specially requested to be present Sunday morning, as it is expected that the officers of the school will then be able to give the details in regard to the excursion which will be held Thursday, June 23d.

There will be a vocal and instrumental entertainment in the Lyceum on Thursday evening, June 23d, by several performers. Miss Adele Ritchie will be the chief singer. It will be a gratification to hear this well known singer, and doubtless there will be a large attendance.

If the plans for the stone road on Main street are carried out it will make it a very satisfactory work. The county proposes to pay for 20 feet, the township 8 feet and 4 feet will be generously subscribed by the property owners. The curb will be moved out 2 feet on each side and then we will have a wide sidewalk and 30 feet of fine stone road. Let the good work go on.

Ground was broken this week for the new Catholic church at the corner of Fourth and Linden avenues. The ground plan is 40 feet on Fourth St. by 100 feet deep on Linden avenue, with wings on each side of the rear 10 x 20. It has not been decided fully as to the style of the superstructure but it is to be of frame and to cost about $12000. Mr. Eli Brown has contract for the stone work.

Joseph Remine, foreman of the section gang on the railroad in bad repute. He has been staying out very late at night, and last Monday about 4:30 a. m., when it is supposed his long suffering wife reproached him, he brutally struck her several times in the face and body. Remine then packed up some things and left for Riverton and afterwards went to Philadelphia. He returned on Wednesday, but as he wished to continue his wayward career no amicable settlement was reached with his wife.

Peter Lawson, aged about 50 years, a man having a family, was arrested on the 10th inst., on the charge of criminal assault on Mary Graham, a domestic in his house. At his house before Squire Ourt the same evening no defense was made more than a denial, and he was committed to Mt. Holly jail for trial. Afterwards through some influential friends he was brought back and on Wednesday he was given a rehearing, and various witnesses were produced tending to nullify the evidence of the girl, and he was discharged. Justice Ourt, in discharging him said he discharged him, not because he believed him innocent, but because the evidence was not sufficient to convict.

The subject for next Thursday will be Joyfulness.

In some countries the inhabitants build their homes around the foot of a mountain. After a time faint mutterings are heard within. No notice is taken until the burning lava has overflowed and ruined their homes. The people on the opposite side say "What a terrible disaster has overtaken the town of C!" but take no heed to their own safety. Some day the crater overflows on their side of the mountain, and then, suddenly awakened to sense of the danger threatening their homes they seek some way of saving their families from destruction.

Friends, we have heard enough to convince us our boys are in danger. Body and soul will be destroyed if they are not rescued from the peril that is threatening them. Pray earnestly, Christians, that the rum power in our town may soon be controlled. Destruction and sorrow follow in the path of the saloon.

THE CROP BULLETIN

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING JUNE 14, 1892.

The observers and crop correspondents of the New Jersey Weather Service report that during the week ending Monday, June 13, the rainfall (heavy thunderstorms) has been greatly in excess of the average, and that cloudy weather generally prevailed up to Friday evening. The temperature has been about the average, although the nights continue too cool for tender vegetation. The crops generally are reported to be in a most flourishing condition. Orchard fruit is a season well below the average, notably in Burlington County. In portions of Cumberland County the rose-bugs are doing much damage to grapes, cherries and other fruits. Wheat, rye and oats promise a bountiful harvest. The heavy rains have done little injury to the growing crops, but greatly retarded their cultivation.

ATLANTIC COUNTY.

EGG HARBOR, C. J.—The weather on Thursday was injurious to strawberries. Grapes, especially those sprayed, are not injured by the rain. The rains of latter part of week of great benefit to all crops. Potatoes and grass much improved.

H. Y. POSTMA.

HAMMONTON.—The greater portion of the strawberry crop has been picked, and the yield far below the average. "Black rot" is growing rapidly and will begin to spread (in a week). A large yield is indicated. Corn and sweet corn are growing rapidly and will begin to ripen this week. A large yield is indicated. Corn and sweet potatoes are growing rapidly. The hay crop is very good. Rainfall, 0.68 inch. JAS. R. SCULLERY.

BURLINGTON COUNTY.

BEVERLY.—Cool nights have retarded growth somewhat; good crops of peas and strawberries are being gathered; wheat, rye, corn and clover look well; a few grapes and cherries are falling; some vines are reported as losing all their grapes by insect pest.

Mr. HOLLY.—All kinds of farm work progressing favorably. Grass, with few exceptions, is poor; old sod better than new; the death of clover gives the new grass fields a stunted and ragged appearance. Apples falling badly; plums rotting; cherries and peaches light crop strawberries plenty and cheap. Grain, where standing, looking well. Potatoes making good progress. The new crop appearing in the above windows and markets in small quantities. Bill-bog damaging many fields of corn. Corn late, but under favorable conditions is making good growth.

SUMMER TOURS.

The Latest Publication of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The 1st of June is a date looked forward to by the thousands who make their preliminary plans for summer outings, and their main guide is the Summer Excursion Book issued yearly by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which regularly appears on that date. Advanced copies for the season of 1892 are fresh from the press, and certainly excel anything of like character ever published by this progressive railroad company.

It is not only a compendium of all the most prevailing opinions on the connecting lines to the principal resorts of the land, but it is equally as valuable as a guide-book, with full and explicit information as to how trips may be made, and as to what desirable variations may be utilized to enhance their pleasure and profit. Nearly five hundred routes, ranging from Prince Edwards Island to the mountains of Western North Carolina, from the southern extremity of New Jersey to the wild lakes of Canada, from the great inland lakes, are described at length, and over fifteen hundred routes, representing a stock of fifteen hundred special forms of tickets, are set out clearly and intelligently within its pages.

In arranging these routes care has been observed in making them read over lines that present the greatest number of interesting points, and in every case there is a wide field for choice. They also provide for a return trip by a different direction; so that the tourist may find his outing a continual succession of changing scenes.

It is so comprehensive that one could hardly find for a ticket to any Eastern resort of any prominence and find to find it ready-made by a variety of routes. One hundred and thirty railroad and steamboat lines are represented in the coupons of these tickets, every one of them connecting directly or remotely with the Pennsylvania system.

The cover to this handsome edition represents one of the famous Pennsylvania Observation Cars artistically executed. The illustrations are the finest style of half tone work, on as high a grade as the popular magazine productions.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13, 1892.

Black Satin Stripes Grenadines are the Grenadines this season. At the top for style and for favor. Here's a lot of very best, in all respects the most reliable Grenadines in the market for wear, and the price is 25 per cent lower than ever before made—75c a yard instead of $1. Taking all the maker had makes this bargain possible.

More of the Cotton Dress Goods prices have been fluttering downward. Handsomest styles, winsomest qualities.

A just-heretofore—a gem among the printed Cottons—is Swiss Muslin; so sheer and picture-bright that you are cooler and happier for even looking at it. 36 in., 18c.

Some of the heavier Dress Goods are also price-shrived. Here's a light-weight in fancy Plaids, checks and Stripes at 37½c from 50c. Width 35 in.

Madras and Oxford. From the best Scotch makers of Cotton Dress Goods. Sturdy, slightly. Favorite weaves for mountain, seashore and morning dresses;

Irish Lawns have a sure-enough linen look, but they're every thread Cotton and Yankee at that. Happy hit to get up goods so crisp and cool and neatly printed at only 12½c 36 in wide. 8 yards ($1 worth) for liberal Dress pattern. The makers are put to it to supply demand.

Swiss Muslins are close by, Yankee again. The "Swiss is a myth, except that the fine, sheer cambré is printed in dainty Chintz, coverings, the whole fabric worthy of Switzerland or France or anywhere. 36 inches, 18c.

Hemstitched Organdie.

More than hemstitched—cut through and through by single or cluster streaks of cord-edged hemstitching two or three inches apart. Lightness of cobweb, airiness and openness of lace, and all in solid colors. But such colors! Cream, pink, light blue, lavender, corn—worthy of any sunset or sunrise simile that ever struck a poet's fancy. All in all, one of the most quietly elegant little-price Cotton Stuffs of the season. Price as delightfully surprising as anything—15c.

Three Dress Goods lots that will command attention. Very light in weight, choice in weave and elegant in coloring—cream, navy blue, grays, tans, red, pale blues, pinks, reseda and heliotrope. Little-then-ever prices: 18c Half-wool Challis.

Two of the choicest patterns of this season's make come to the counters to-day—cream grounds. Plenty of the red grounds with black figures once more. These 18c Challis have made delighted friends wherever they have gone.

Suits of foreign Homespun in light colors are about the handsomest you'll see in town. $18, $20, $22.50, $25.

For the man with time and liking for out-door sports there are special Suits.

For office wear, too

Men's blue and black Serge Suits, $10.

A Wash Suit for the Boy, of course. Neat, natty and tough enough to save worry. By far the largest and most varied stock in town. Half a dozen hints:

Light blue-and-white striped Galatea Suit, light blue trimmings, white flannel shield, 3 to 9 years, $3.

Zouave Suit of blue-and-white stripes, including white blouse, 3 to 7 years, $6.50; same style in Galatea stripe, $6; Suits without the blouse, $4.45.

Good common sense is as healthy as onions: we often see those who are good, simply because they have not got sense enough to be bad; and those who are bad, just because they have not got sense enough to be good.
JOHN BILLINGS.

We publish a number of the cases before the Justices this week, and propose to continue this from week to week. We hope it will cause some to think before they do anything that will give them this unenviable publicity.

The arrest of Meier last week for selling to minors has caused a profound feeling in this community and there will be a determined effort to see that the full penalty of the law is enforced. The other licensed places will do well if they unite in punishing this transgressor to conviction or they may be classed with him.

Civil Engineer Harrison, who was here looking over the roads this week, has suggested to the township committee, that the use of the space between the road and the trees be made five feet wide, and set apart for the use of bicyclists. This is a good suggestion and should be adopted both for the wheels and the safety of pedestrians.

COMMUNICATED.

An Apology for Uncle Josh.

Our dear Uncle Josh writes for the New Era, and says he feels it to be a duty to help the Editor make a success, financially and otherwise, of his newspaper. Uncle Josh writes Dr. Janney from the bottom of his heart, receiving only the reward of deadhead, like numberless others who never even write a line for the paper. The News comes to our house and the subscription is charged to Uncle Josh. It seems to care but little for it, I suppose because its editor is not a professional or wealthy man. I asked Uncle Josh why he liked the Era best, and was so anxious to get it every week, and was told because he wrote for it, and also because the Rev. Mr. Talmage, of Brooklyn, sends a copy of his last sermon every week to Dr. Janney for publication, which, with the Washington letter, college notes, and the able editorials on Alaska, Russia, stone roads, etc., make it so high-toned that his excellency President Harrison is a subscriber. Uncle Josh thinks Dr. Janney very patriotic, because his deadhead subscription list in Palmyra and elsewhere is so large. Most of our family disagree with Uncle Josh in regard to the merits of the two papers. I like the News because it always comes out on Friday night, which is more than can be said of the Era. Joshua very often feels greatly bad on Sunday when the Era misses coming out. It completely dispels all religious ideas from his soul, even the Bible fails to always comfort or soothe him. I like the News for its local, its excellent story on the front page and the selected matter which interests and instructs everybody.

Uncle Josh thinks it queer that the Era should lose subscribers and patronage in our town. I told him the other day this was because the paper contained so much that was obnoxious to our citizens that were getting disgusted with it. There is scarcely an issue of the paper in which the best interests of Palmyra are not opposed or our citizens belittled and sneered at in their earnest efforts toward improvement. Further, the paper is the organ of the township ring, upholding the bosses in all their efforts to rob and stunt our advancement and growth.

Joshua has been troubled somewhat of late, hence his last sermon on Contemplation in the Era. Joshua is very familiar with Bible texts, being at one time a Sunday-school superintendent. One might think the gossip and tattlers had been abusing him, from his sensible observations. If I do say myself, that is his blood relation, Joshua's character can't be ruined by any such people. He may owe a few bills and not go to church this week, but he will never move away in debt, or be a backslider in the church, or do any way but fair and square with the Dorcas society. Joshua must be troubled about his business or getting married again, but the good dear never bothers any of us about his pecuniary or love affairs. He is undoubtedly fond of flowers, sparing no expense on bouquets for his young inamorata.

Hoping this explanation and vindication of Uncle Josh by me will be satisfactory, in sisterly love to all close.

AUNT SAMANTHA.

THE RISING YOUNG MEN OF OUR TOWN.

To the Editor of the News:
Kindly grant a small space in your paper for the education of the young men of our town, and I hope they will profit and mend their ways by this short resume of their conduct. These rising young men of our town, are sufficiently strong to smoke cigarettes and loiter around the saloons each hour when the parents of all well regulated families would compel them to be home. A few evenings ago a lady, while waiting out of one of our stores for her husband, was grossly insulted by some of these rising young men. Ladies who are compelled to be on our streets at night, are frequently accosted and remarks passed by these rising young men of our town.

Let these young fellows be on their guard and conduct themselves in a manner which will gain them the title of MEN; not be disorderly in the places of worship which they frequent; not play football with their hats and pitch pennies on the sidewalks; not insult the ladies, then they will in truth be the rising young men of our town. If they do not mend their ways it will be only a question of time, and a short time at that, when they will be brought before a court of justice as violators of the law. Trusting the parents will awaken to the needs of the occasion, I remain,
JUSTICE FOR ALL.

The modern houses are painted in better taste than the house of fifty years ago, and the improvement is in a great measure due to the manufacturers of mixed paint, who have produced colors that properly contrast with each other, and the whole harmonizes with the surroundings of the house.

The public has become familiar with the Color Cards that can be obtained at the paint stores, and when the house is to be painted the colors are selected from the card. We have the color cards of the Chilton Manufacturing Co., whose pure lined oil paints, on account of their good wearing qualities, have become the standard from which other paints are judged.

We shall be glad to give you one, and if you are going to paint to suit you the Chilton Paints, which we cannot recommend too highly to those who wish for a first-class article.

The Firemen's Day.
Last Saturday was a great day in Mt. Holly. There were about 976 men in line and they were a fine looking lot. Both of our home companies were there and the occasion was truly expressed that Moorestown turned out the finest looking and best dressed men in the parade. No. 1 had on their new uniforms of white and they looked well. No. 2 showed up well with their pioneer corps, conspicuous among them being J. S. Rogers and James Young. After the parade a fine collation was served to the visiting firemen. Our boys were all well pleased with their treatment and hope to return it at some future time.

The following companies took part in the order named:
1 Hope Fire Co. of Burlington.
2 Young America.
3 Humane Fire Co. of Bordentown, and the Bordentown band.

4 Citizens Fire Co. of Madison, with hose carriage, life and drum corps.
5 Niagara home company, Merchantville with hose carriage and drum corps.
6 Moorestown Fire company No. 1, with hose and ladder truck. Pioneer corps of 30 men and 6 boys, carrying flag.

1 Wonder What Bunch, of Burlington, Will Say Next?
I guess that is what he is thinking about himself. I should think he would get tired of talking about the Broad Street lot he is giving away, and his celebrated Carriage and Harness that he is having such a run on. He does get tired, everybody gets tired of everything, but according to the way the world was made, or after the change that came from the disobedience in the Garden of Eden you are not indulging in kind, in business the world over, and if you drop by the way side no one cares. It is a personal matter.

ATLANTIC CITY.
A booming season is said for the Great Resort and the Reading's Royal Route.

The popularity of Atlantic City long since reached National proportions and it continues to grow from year to year. The approaching season promises to be the greatest ever known at this, the greatest of all seaside resorts.

The Reading Railroad, whose superbly magnificent line between Philadelphia and Atlantic City has become famous throughout the country as the "Royal Route to the Sea," will continue to be the principal and favorite means of getting to and from the Sea.

The Reading's superiority in equipment is generally conceded. A chief advantage consists in the fact that it has the only double track line of railroad to Atlantic City. The importance of this cannot be over-estimated. Not only does it insure the absolute safety of passengers, but it admits of quicker and reliable transit.

The Reading line is also several miles shorter than any other road to Atlantic City, and it runs almost as straight as the crow flies. The great "Seventy-five Minute Flyers" are the most talked of trains in America. For beauty, elegance, and speed they are literally beyond rivalry and those of our readers who visit Atlantic City should not fail to experience the delight of a ride on one of these matchless trains.

The summer schedule will comprise a larger number of fast express trains than has ever before been run on any line. Trains will start at such frequent intervals that one can scarcely fail to catch a "Flyer" at whatever time he may desire to go. The spring time table now in effect shows week day trains leaving Philadelphia at 8:00 and 9:00 a. m., 2:00, 4:00 and 6:00 p. m. Sunday morning express trains leave at 8:00, 9:00 and 10:00 a. m.

Returning trains start from Atlantic City at 7:30 and 9:00 a. m., 4:00 and 6:00 p. m. on Sundays. The "Seventy-five Minute Flyers" leave Atlantic City at 7:30 and 9:00 a. m., 4:00 and 6:00 p. m. on Sundays.

Henry Dunlap, of Green Tree, it is stated, has been crazed by rum to such an extent as hardly to be responsible for his actions, having been drinking much of the time since his mother's death. On Sunday night he made an attempt to cut his throat but was prevented and on Monday night took a heavy dose of Paris green, but was saved by a physician's efforts.

On Wednesday morning he got into his wagon and started for Camden and his friends are apprehensive he will get into more trouble while absent.

We have come this week to the longest days of the year, but not necessarily the hottest. That generally comes afterwards as the days are shortening, but if anything hotter than this month is in store for us then we may play ourselves in advance.

William Lusk, a teamster in the employ of James Workman was the victim of a serious accident on Tuesday. He was driving a pair of young mules to a truck wagon along the Centennial turnpike, and while passing John B. Warlick's farm a bicyclist came into view of the mules.

The animals were so startled that they turned short around, upsetting the wagon and throwing the driver against the barbed wire fence with such force that his leg was badly cut and lacerated above the knee the wound being four inches long and nearly in to the bone. The bicyclist who proved to be a Mr. W. M. Wilshire, a newspaper man out for a trip, immediately rendered what assistance he could and after getting help for the wounded man started for a doctor. He was fortunate in meeting Dr. A. E. Coover, who put a number of stitches in the wound, which proved to be a serious one. Latest reports from the patient state that he is making very good progress but will likely be confined to the house for some weeks.

The bicyclist, though not liable for any damage because he was on his own side of the road felt so much sympathy for the injured man that he left a sum of money sufficient to defray all expenses and offered to stand any further expenses if the patient made a slower recovery than was expected.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE FAMOUS ORGANIZATIONS OF YALE.

Strange proceedings on the campus of the New Haven University—Peculiar Rites and Ceremonies of Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key and Wolf's Head.

The election ceremonies to the Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head societies of Yale University, are very important to the students of the junior class on the afternoon of this day. The election takes place in one of the big buildings which are used by the scholars as sleeping rooms. The windows of every other building, which commands a view of the campus below are crowded with other scholars and their friends.

Suddenly a solemn looking young man comes around a corner of one of the dormitories. He goes straight toward the waiting crowd without a word to any one. He walks in among the fellows, many of whom are looking at him without noticing anybody. Every other student stands perfectly still, and without turning his head follows with his eyes the movements of the mysterious looking fellow who has recently appeared. He is going up and down, up and down, in and out, and in and out among the crowd, looking at nobody, speaking to no one, apparently seeing nothing. Then he goes around a corner of one of the buildings. The people in the windows on every side lean a little farther out and watch with increased interest. It is a moment of intense suspense! All of a sudden the quiet man, on whom every body's eyes are fastened, slips a fellow student right between the shoulders and almost knocks him over.

Then a great shout goes up! The students on the campus are yelling themselves hoarse. The crowded windows are alive with frantic men and women who are waving handkerchiefs and hats, clapping hands and laughing and adding something to the general uproar. Meanwhile the student who was slipped on the back is the happiest man in the immense crowd, for he has been elected a member of Skull and Bones, the famous secret society of the university.

The first thing the fortunate student does when he realizes that he has been slipped is to go straight to his room, without a word to his most intimate chum, or even to the man who has so recently struck him. He is followed by the man who did the slipping, and who all this time has not even so much as smiled or said "Hello" to any one—in fact has not recognized the man he is following except by the slip.

Nobody knows, except these two, what takes place in the room, and the man is not seen again that day, for the interest of the people outside is centered on another man who has come from the same direction as the first one, and who is going through exactly the same performance that the first fellow executed. When he finally slips a man, another great shout goes up, and then these two students go away to the room of the one whose back has been slipped. These scenes are repeated until forty-five men have been slipped, for that is the number composing the three societies. Each society is made up of fifteen men, no more and no less, and each member is said to choose one student.

When the forty-five have been selected the elections are over and the people go home feeling that they have witnessed an event more interesting and more exciting than the graduating exercises which take place when a whole class is about to leave the school. Nothing more is done to the students who have been slipped until the next Tuesday. What occurs then is a thing of mystery except a few of the students who have been slipped of the secret society houses.

The names even of the societies are not known. They are called Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head, because each member wears a little gold pin, with one or another of these objects on it as the case may be. The Skull and Bones pin is a horrid bit of gold in the shape of a human skull and crossbones. The Scroll and Key, as the name implies, is made up of a small sheet of gold, like an ancient piece of paper. On the scroll is a key, above the key are the letters "S. P." and below the key are the letters "C. C. C." What they stand for only the wearers of the pins know.

The other society has for its pin a little gold head of a savage looking man. Often the eyes are made of two brightly shining diamonds.

Another wonderful thing about these pins is that the wearer never loses one. He never lays it down even for a second. Of course they have to bathe, and how do you suppose they would have to lay the pin aside at that time anyway, wouldn't you? But they don't; they hold their gold in their mouths!

"Bones" is the oldest of the three societies. Tradition has it that the pins first appeared in 1832. About ten years later came the Scroll and Key, and about 1850 came the Wolf's Head. The Wolf's Head was founded less than ten years ago, but today is almost as exclusive in its membership as either of the others. In fact it generally represents as much wealth among its members as the two other societies combined.—New York Herald.

Blotting Paper from Cottonseed. The cottonseed hull is like the scale of a fish, and when it is treated it becomes paper cellulose. It is absorbent to a wonderful degree and will in all probability enter largely into the future manufacture of blotting paper, as it is better than any other paper cannot be made from it.

Who Did What?

In the days when our grandmothers were girls there came occasionally into the family of a good 'tison with nine children a village dressmaker. She had an absorbing interest in other people's affairs, and always looked forward with particular pleasure to the week during which she cut and fitted for the deacon's girls, knowing that his house was in some sort a social center, where she was likely to hear plenty of fresh news and entertaining anecdotes.

One day she arrived late for her work, and as she entered the house caught a glimpse of the six daughters already assembled in the family sitting room with their gowns and petticoats, their work boxes and their new roll of "fairy-tale" linen.

But none of them were at work; for one was telling the other a story of such absorbing interest that they sat breathless and spellbound, with hands fallen in their laps or needles suspended in the air.

The sight was too much for the new-comer. With one leap she started off, her unfinished pattern hanging from her shoulders, her bonnet above and its lashed strings streaming, she appeared in the doorway, crying at the astonished girls, crying at the same time: "What? What? What is it? Who did what?"

She had interrupted, almost giving a full answer to the question of the whole story, but her comprehensive inquiry became thereafter a family by-word.

What did what?—Youth's Companion.

Taking Thackeray Seriously. The obscurity in which Thackeray has left the beginning of Newcome, Bart, is an instance of his forgetfulness about his people, which, glaring as it is, has hitherto escaped comment. Thomas Newcome, the elder, is said to have been "the founder" of the Newcome family. We are given to understand that he was a founding. Up to the time of his death there was no Newcome, Bart. Mr. Newcome "might have been made" one, but "he achieved blood red hands." As he said, "it couldn't be done." The Quaker community couldn't like it.

But his twin sons, by his second wife, Sophia Alethea Hobson, are stated to have been called Hobson and Brian, respectively. "After their mother and late grandfather, whose name and rank they were destined to perpetuate." The "rank" is clearly the Newcome baronetcy, but equally clearly the uncle and grandfather must have been Hobson. As it is I make my own law. I suppose I am severely criticised for the show I make of myself. In addition to the conspicuous part I play, that which I have to offer in music strikes as well as my own. Am I as big a fool as some think me?

And what about the girl who was slipped, which carried away, carrying on the back philosophy as well as red hair.—Chicago Tribune.

Genuine Bay Rum. Genuine bay rum is always imported. Thackeray's few lines show that the genuine bay rum is not to be found in the Indies. It is the distillation of the green leaves and berries of the bayberry tree, mixed with absolute pure alcohol. Could be used in the very best quality of the preparation.

There is but one true bayberry, but there are many varieties of it in the West Indies, and no one can resemble the Primæria coccinea, or true bay, that great care is necessary in gathering the leaves, for the presence of a small quantity of the leaves of any other variety is sufficient to destroy the entire product of a still. Ripe berries are taken in the still with the leaves. The best bay is distilled in steam in copper kettles, but the ordinary commercial spirit, such as bay rum, is made from here, is distilled over an open fire. The genuine steam distilled bay spirit is not only many times stronger than the other, but the refreshing odor that characterizes it is ten times as lasting. The West Indians find the bay rum so necessary to their comfort, that the numerous plantations in the West Indies in the climate of their country that they use about all that they can produce its scarcity in this and other countries.—Interview in New York Evening Sun.

Yankee Thirst. The Maine man who cannot turn his hand to another source of profit when one fails him is a scarce article. An engraver and carver of old time repute, in the gallery day of Maine highland, he was a resident of Kittery, fishing his occupation gone as a sculptor of figure-heads for vessels, is engaged in making idols and graven images for the heathen! He is a large order that will employ him for the next few years.

From a missionary just returned from Central Asia to this country. This missionary, by the way, is evidently something of a Yankee himself.—Kennebec Advertiser.

ADIRONDACK FISH STORY. A Gold Watch Found Inside a Pickled That Had Been Salted.

The scene of the following incident was about forty miles from Glenville, where a fisherman had just picked up the table land at Pisco lake in Hamilton county. The lake is not large, but it measures from two to three miles long. The fisherman was a little fellow, and he had been fishing for some time when he caught a large fish, and he was very much pleased with his luck. He had taken nearly fifty pickled in less than half a day, and the size was good, weighing from 2 1/2 to 3 pounds. The last year around the "lucky point" was being made before he started for home. Everest, who was trolling one of the lines, said:

"I've got another; he's a good big one from the way he pulls."

Everest let him play at one time nearly 300 feet of line before the fish could be turned. When he had been brought into sight he was not so large as some he had already in the boat, but there was an unusual motion all about him. Soon the line was drawn so tightly it was necessary to let him play again. When brought back it was discovered that a large pickled had attempted to swallow the hook, which was now quite exhausted.

The fish still followed, shark-like, for the dead body of his victim, which, however, we were not disposed to give up. Just as Everest was about to strike the fish on his hook into the boat the professor took up the oar, hoping to strike and thus capture the large fish. The movement of the oar attracted the attention of the fish, and in a twinkling he made a pass at it. The blade was about as wide as his jaw, and his jaws grated across the upper and lower edge, saving a groove in either side with his sharp teeth.

The professor, by carrying the oar forward with the movement of the fish, at the same time raising it over his head, kept the fish from getting his head into the boat. The professor took up the oar, hoping to strike and thus capture the large fish. The movement of the oar attracted the attention of the fish, and in a twinkling he made a pass at it. The blade was about as wide as his jaw, and his jaws grated across the upper and lower edge, saving a groove in either side with his sharp teeth.

We then discovered a pretty little gold chain, which was very much surprised that the fish had taken it. The fish was about as wide as his jaw, and his jaws grated across the upper and lower edge, saving a groove in either side with his sharp teeth.

More than pleased with his fishing expedition, we returned to the Adirondack hotel, and informed the proprietor, George A. McCoy, of our luck. He had been fishing for some time when he caught a large fish, and he was very much pleased with his luck.

Only Man Ever Killed by a Mosquito. To the writer's certain knowledge there has been one case on record where a human being has been killed by a mosquito or fall of meteoric stone. The fatality mentioned occurred in a small town in Wisconsin, Crawford county, O., in 1874, and is recorded in the Bucyrus Journal as follows:

As David Misenholder, the famous stockman of Whitewater township, was driving his cows to the barn about daylight this morning he was struck by a mosquito and instantly killed. It happened as if the stone had come down from a direction a little west of south, and the man just as he was about to shoulder, passing between the trees, and the stone struck him on the right shoulder, just above the left hip, burying the greater portion of his body under itself in the soft earth. The stone is about the size of a wooden water bucket, and appears to be composed of pyrites of iron.—Philadelphia Press.

A Red Headed Girl Talks. Many people in Chicago are familiar with the sight of a red headed girl who sometimes finds her way into the streets through the principal streets of the city, and sometimes drives a team of white horses attached to a carriage. The writer has seen her and brought her to and asked her of her mission. She asked if public opinion was to the effect that she was making a fool of herself. The answer to her query has no connection with the story.

"I am making an honest living," she said, "I am not making a fool of myself in any manner of doing that than are some of my own sex in what they do. I know, and so do you, that if I put on a substage (garb) and went from house to house with the articles I have to sell, I would not make enough to earn a cracker. I must do something that has in it an attempt at originality in order to make people talk. When one succeeds in doing that, then one can be a success. It is a hard world to live in, but I am making my own law. I suppose I am severely criticised for the show I make of myself. In addition to the conspicuous part I play, that which I have to offer in music strikes as well as my own. Am I as big a fool as some think me?"

And what about the girl who was slipped, which carried away, carrying on the back philosophy as well as red hair.—Chicago Tribune.

THE PINT OF ALE, JOHN. A Big Saving May Be Made by Buying Little Bricks. A. McCarty, of Chicago, a printer, was asked, by a lady, by his friend, to allow her to have a half pint of ale as her share of the family comfort. John made the bargain cheerfully, feeling it hardly became him to do otherwise, inasmuch as he drank two or three glasses a day. The lady, however, as she took the small allowance, said: "I will hold you to it, John."

When came the anniversary of their wedding cake, and John looked around on the festal board and, seeing his wife, longed to do something to celebrate the day took possession of him.

"Mary, we've had no holiday since we were wed, and only that I haven't a penny in the world, I'll take a jaunt to the village and see the mother."

"Would these like to go, John?" she said.

There was a tear with her smile, for it touched her heart to hear him speak tenderly, as in the olden times.

"If she'd like to go, John, I'll stand by her."

"Thou stand true, Mary! Hast got a fortin left thee?"

"Nay, but I've got the pint of ale," said she.

"Get what wilt?"

"The pint of ale," she replied. "I have been thinking of the hearth, and from my little stock of the stone I have drawn out a stocking, from which she has drawn out the sum of 200.

"Thou art a good girl," John said, "I have a good girl."

"What is this?" he asked in amazement.

"It is my daily pint of ale, John."

"I have to offer in music strikes as well as my own. Am I as big a fool as some think me?"

And what about the girl who was slipped, which carried away, carrying on the back philosophy as well as red hair.—Chicago Tribune.

Genuine Bay Rum. Genuine bay rum is always imported. Thackeray's few lines show that the genuine bay rum is not to be found in the Indies. It is the distillation of the green leaves and berries of the bayberry tree, mixed with absolute pure alcohol. Could be used in the very best quality of the preparation.

There is but one true bayberry, but there are many varieties of it in the West Indies, and no one can resemble the Primæria coccinea, or true bay, that great care is necessary in gathering the leaves, for the presence of a small quantity of the leaves of any other variety is sufficient to destroy the entire product of a still. Ripe berries are taken in the still with the leaves. The best bay is distilled in steam in copper kettles, but the ordinary commercial spirit, such as bay rum, is made from here, is distilled over an open fire. The genuine steam distilled bay spirit is not only many times stronger than the other, but the refreshing odor that characterizes it is ten times as lasting. The West Indians find the bay rum so necessary to their comfort, that the numerous plantations in the West Indies in the climate of their country that they use about all that they can produce its scarcity in this and other countries.—Interview in New York Evening Sun.

Yankee Thirst. The Maine man who cannot turn his hand to another source of profit when one fails him is a scarce article. ADIRONDACK FISH STORY. A Gold Watch Found Inside a Pickled That Had Been Salted.

The scene of the following incident was about forty miles from Glenville, where a fisherman had just picked up the table land at Pisco lake in Hamilton county. The lake is not large, but it measures from two to three miles long. The fisherman was a little fellow, and he had been fishing for some time when he caught a large fish, and he was very much pleased with his luck. He had taken nearly fifty pickled in less than half a day, and the size was good, weighing from 2 1/2 to 3 pounds. The last year around the "lucky point" was being made before he started for home. Everest, who was trolling one of the lines, said:

"I've got another; he's a good big one from the way he pulls."

Everest let him play at one time nearly 300 feet of line before the fish could be turned. When he had been brought into sight he was not so large as some he had already in the boat, but there was an unusual motion all about him. Soon the line was drawn so tightly it was necessary to let him play again. When brought back it was discovered that a large pickled had attempted to swallow the hook, which was now quite exhausted.

The fish still followed, shark-like, for the dead body of his victim, which, however, we were not disposed to give up. Just as Everest was about to strike the fish on his hook into the boat the professor took up the oar, hoping to strike and thus capture the large fish. The movement of the oar attracted the attention of the fish, and in a twinkling he made a pass at it. The blade was about as wide as his jaw, and his jaws grated across the upper and lower edge, saving a groove in either side with his sharp teeth.
