FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

The less reasoning power and the fewer ideas a man has, the more arbitrary and egotistical he is. —Brock Pomeroy.

It will be remembered some time ago, when we first published the cases of the Justice Court, it was stated we hoped the publicity would prevent the crimes, and to some extent it has, but credit should be given to Justice Spayd, who has shown his ability to impartially consider a case and render an unbiased opinion. Squire Spayd is now a terror to evil doers, and he has made many friends by his firm action.

THE tableau entertainment in Riverton last week was commended on account of the good influence it would have, and since we have learned of its additional influence, as some who did not know of the Country Week have become interested in their work, and will doubtless aid them in their meritorious work.

THE recent storm and rapid growth of trees has partially obstructed the side walks in some places. It is almost impossible to carry an umbrella on some streets. The lower branches of trees should be cut off at once, not only for convenience but for safety to the pedestrians.

THE Riverton ball club has not only the finest ground in the county, but the best amateur ball is played we have ever seen. It is a pleasure to witness such a gentlemanly game, and those who do not attend miss an opportunity to enjoy honest base ball.

Disinterested benevolence and unselfish patriotism are commodities that are just about as plenty as hen's teeth.

There is in the world much of boasted benevolence, philanthropy, charity, etc., but where do we find the individuals who, in the exercise of these noble principles, regards strictly the first and second verses of Matthew VI? There may be, and doubtless are, some such people in the world, but they are marvellously like angels' visits. From the man that gives a penny to a beggar on the street to the man that gives his hundreds or his thousands towards the expense of building and maintaining a fashionable church or an unpretentious cottage to worship in, or for any enterprise, charitable or so-called, all are very willing, and generally anxious, that their sins and their charity shall stand forth in cold type on the pages of the most read newspaper. How pleasing it is to be known as philanthropic, as benevolent, as charitable; it so caters to the vanity of our human nature, of our pride, etc.

And as to patriotism in its simple purity, almost Holy, rising above all selfishness and preferring the nation's good to the good of the individual, and which prompts a man to make any sacrifice of wealth, of name, of fame, of ease, and to willingly endure privations and trials and any hardships, and even to give up life itself for the advancement of the nation's good, this would be patriotism in its simplest and truest sense; but the would-be patriot, like the politician, generally has an axe to grind, and each looks to his gain from his duty. Pure unselfish patriotism bears the same relation to the nation or kingdom in which we now live as true piety does to the Kingdom in which we expect to live hereafter. D.

Messrs. Jos. M. Roberts, Louis Corner and A. J. Briggs left on Thursday for an extended trip to Denver, Colorado, via the Knights Templar Pilgrimage. A train of special dining and sleeping cars go right through and our esteemed fellow townsman deserve a good time.

The base ball game last Saturday promised to be interesting, but the rain stopped the game in the fifth inning, with a score of 4 to 1 in favor of Riverton. Next Saturday the Lovell club of Philadelphia will cross here with the Riverton team, and bring their friends, as this will be a good game.

Mr. Chas. A. Wright gave a number of friends a moonlight ride on the Delaware in his fine launch, the Amerique, on Wednesday evening. Among those enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller, Mr. Atherton, Miss Atherton, Mrs. Wright and Messrs. Lippincott and others.

There will be an illuminated carnival, under the auspices of the Riverton yacht club, on the evening of Saturday, Aug. 13, at 8:30 p. m. All owners of launches, yachts, skiffs, row-boats, canoes, etc., are requested to participate with illuminated boats. There will be three prizes offered for the best decorated boats. The residents along the river are also requested to illuminate their houses to add to the effect. If the weather is unfavorable the carnival will be postponed until the 15th. The following committee has charge of the arrangements: William R. Ellison, Chas. W. Davis, Frank L. Patterson, Frank G. Stuart and E. L. Young.

Another warm wave has developed in the far northwest and is moving this way. While it may lose itself on the way, yet there is a possibility of a good deal of such weather yet ahead of us, and extreme carefulness in all matters pertaining to health should be observed.

An eloquent report from Mass. sonville, the wife of Edwin Shears having disappeared with a benefactor named Price, who had been ordered out of the house by the jealous husband, who didn't approve of the growing intimacy between the two. Neither of the missing couple have been seen since their disappearance.

There is a very perceptible difference noticed now in the length of the days, as they have grown much shorter, and yet it has seemed but a very brief time since we noted the longest day of the year.

The rain that we have at last been blessed with was the kind that surely no one could have found fault with. It came without violence, and was of such a gentle and refreshing nature that vegetation has been greatly benefited. The fall in the thermometer was a boon to all, and we can again feel that life is worth having and that we have very much to be grateful for. The kaydies have arrived and are telling the same old story over again and contradicting each other as much as ever.

PALMYRA.

Miss Mamie Walters is visiting relatives on Leconey avenue.

Miss Katie Yard, of Leconey avenue, is visiting friends in Burlington.

Mr. M. R. Longacre, of Cinnaminson avenue, has started his new house on Fourth street, near Berkley Hall.

There is talk among our Democratic friends of organizing a pioneer club here in the near future, as they have had such good luck heretofore in organizing clubs, they say they intend making it a grand success this time.

The Rev. Edwin MacMinn will spend his vacation in Europe. Mr. MacMinn's mother has gone abroad with him.

Howard Morland put in a day at Ashbury Park and Ocean Grove on Tuesday with some Merchantville friends. Despite the bad weather a good time was enjoyed.

L. Hartman Burr is receiving a great deal of sympathy on account of the sudden death of his wife on Tuesday after an illness of only two days. She was very highly respected and will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

Asa Roberts is greatly improving the farm property purchased by him near the Bridgeboro on Stenwick avenue and will remove his family there on completion of the residence.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Coles, of Chester avenue, are at Atlantic City.

For beating his wife while drunk Squire Pettit put Hollingshead Stokes under $200 bail to appear before next term of court at Mt. Holly.

A number of large trees on the property of J. Whitall Nicholson have been cut down, making quite a difference in the appearance of the property.

After a somewhat prolonged illness Letitia T. wife of Jones Yerkes, died on Friday last in the 60th year of her age. Her death had been expected for some time. The loss of her only surviving son was a great grief to her and now her family have been called on to mourn another loss. She was a woman of very kindly disposition and will be much missed.

Benjamin Rockhill, a prominent farmer of Marlton, received serious injury by being gored by a cow some weeks ago, and died on Thursday last. He was buried at Colestown.

Messrs. Geo. H. Pierce, Wm. C. Coles and Elwood Hollinshead, Jr., started on the 3rd, for a ten days trip through the New England States.

Rain stopped the game of base ball between the Moorestown Field Club and the Alumni, of Westtown, during the fourth inning with the score 3 to 0 in favor of the home team. The features of game was the battery work of Stokes and Coles for the Field Club and the fielding of Roberts and Leeds for the visitors.

The travel on the new macadam driveways on Haddonfield road and Elbow Lane has increased four-fold since they have been thrown open to travel.

The steam roller is now being used on the Riverton's Landing macadam road.

The Times-Advertiser came out this week as a Republican newspaper, and adds one more to Burlington county's weekly journals. Its plucky proprietor, Fred Turner, is determined to work his enterprise up to its full capacity and will fight for the side he represents through thick and thin, and promises that the new Republican organ will give no uncertain sound.

MERCANTVILLE.

The excursion to Ocean Grove last Tuesday was the largest of the season and consisted of 17 filled cars.

On Tuesday last, Mrs. Pascoch the aged mother-in-law of Wm. Pascoch, departed this life at the Stockton Hotel.

Had it not been for the timely discovery of councilman Longstreth's wash woman last Tuesday he would to-day mourn the loss of a valuable home. Hearing of an unusual storm in the stable she ran to learn the cause and found the horse lying on the floor with the halter tightly drawn around its neck. Realizing the critical situation she hastily cut the halter and saved the animal.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will go with the excursion to Ocean Grove next Tuesday.

In the ball game Saturday afternoon, between the Merchantville boys and the Oak Grove, our boys spanked their opponents to the tune of 23 to 3.

The springs at Horning's Grove only need to be known to be often resorted to. Besides the iron springs, which have been pronounced by Dr. H. L. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, of very salutary properties, Mr. Horning has recently found a sulphur spring which seems very promising. An analysis is about to be made to determine the constituents of this water.

Elijah Hosted who has been ill at his home for two weeks or over, is recovering.

Owing to the tardiness of a few of the subscribers to the Fourth of July fund the Treasurer has been unable to make a public statement of the receipts and expenditures of the committee.

Borough Council Tuesday night.

This is evidently a murder and suicide year.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sizemith, of Walnut avenue, have gone to Cape May, where they will remain until September 15th.

Mrs. N. Sterling, of Philadelphia, spent last Wednesday afternoon in town and was delighted with the decided change in the temperature here as compared with that in Phila.

Miss Annie Grisco, of West Philadelphia, spent a couple of days in Merchantville with her aunt Mrs. Henry Scull.

We regret to hear that the condition of Vice Consul Crump is very precarious. After a brief rally for a few days he has sunk again into an almost unconscious state.

The report circulated last Monday that Wm. Linderman was drowned on Sunday, was a fool's joke and its author received the merited condemnation of our citizens generally.

During the hot spell, Merchantville was the coolest spot within a radius of 100 miles of Philadelphia.

The Episcopal Sunday School excursion to Horning Grove is arranged for Thursday next, August 4th.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Firemen's Relief association, held last Tuesday night the treasurer's report showed a very favorable condition of finances. David S. Stetson, Wm. McFarland and Allyn Brewer were elected delegates to the State Firemen's Relief association to be held at Trenton next September.

Miss Maude Galbraith, a niece of Mr. Geo. W. Logan, who attended the National Meeting of Wheelmen at Washington, stopped at Wellwood last Monday night before returning to her home in Milton, Pa.

The observers and crop correspondents of the New Jersey Weather Service report for the week ending Monday, August 1, 1892, that the temperature has been abnormally high in all the districts, all stations reporting the thermometer several degrees above 90 from the 24th to the 29th inclusive. During this period more than the average amount of sunshine obtained. The rainfall (widely scattered and heavy showers) is reported above the normal in the northern counties, and in the extreme northwestern portion of Burlington and Gloucester counties elsewhere it was below the weekly average. The following is the precipitation reported, in inches: Toms River, 1.65; Belvidere, 1.15; Paterson, 0.90; Hammonton, 1.19; Oceanic, 0.09; Rancocas, 0.06; Hanover, 0.74; Imbrytown, 0.89; Whiting, 0.39; Franklinville, 0.07; Plainfield, 0.17; Bridgeton, 0.71; Somerville, 0.99; Egg Harbor City, 0.38; Gillette, 0.89; New Brunswick, 0.99; Toms River, 0.25; Flemington, 1.40; Livingston, 0.80; Moorestown, 0.12; Cape May, 0.23; Beverly, 1.11; and River Vale, 2.18. The growing and maturing crops, in nearly all the districts, have suffered serious injury from drought. This is especially so in the counties of Burlington, Middlesex, Gloucester, Ocean, southern portion of Somerset and eastern portion of Atlantic. In some of these sections potatoes are reported as beyond help from rain; and in Burlington county, on a large tract, much corn has passed beyond the bearing condition, and sweet potato and citron vines wilting as never before during twenty-eight years of observation. The light rain which fell on Sunday was quite general, and will, to a very great extent, relieve and greatly benefit all crops, and also make Fall plowing possible. The grape root, especially among the concord, is increasing rapidly, particularly in vineyards where early spraying was omitted.

The Union depot, built at Elizabethtown thirty-seven years ago for the use of the Central and Pennsylvania railways, has been razed to the ground last Wednesday afternoon. A big crowd saw the old landmark demolished, and many persons carried away bits of the wood for souvenirs. Two carpenters working on the job got hurt. One fell through the rafters of the roof while the other, who was on the roof, tumbled off the cornice of the building into a pile of timbers below and had his right ankle and wrist broken. The Pennsylvania railroad company officials took possession of the temporary station erected for their accommodation until the new one is built. The Central's officials moved into the stone station that has just been finished for that company.

At Washington, D. C. it is said word is scarce these dog-days, but saloons don't complain of dullness of business. Freshmen are out railing against the heat, but the "blue-ling" just the same. However, there is a large tent under the management of the Good Templars where a temperance meeting is held every night. Monday night is under the direction of the W. O. T. U. the different societies taking turns in leading the service.

The election held in Manalapan on July 28th, resulted in a victory for Prohibition—the city of Winspaw having 12,000 majority.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION TICKET

FOR PRESIDENT,
GENERAL JOHN BIDWELL,
OF CALIFORNIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
DR. J. B. CRANFILL,
OF TEXAS.

THE TRIBUTE OF AN OPPONENT.

(From The New Era, Greenbury, Ind.)

The editor of The New Era is pleased to know both the nominees. From all their ranks the Prohibitionists could not possibly have selected better men. Able, respected, practical and earnest, their nomination will do more to bring up the party in the respect of the nation than anything it has done for years. Such men belie the reputation that the party has heretofore borne as a set of bare-brained, unpractical enthusiasts or dissatisfied "sore-heads" from other parties. The editor of The New Era thinks that the Prohibition party is an unpractical and an unnecessary organization, but he is glad to have an opportunity to pay this tribute to two worthy men.

The Prohibition Party Press.

The time has come in this country when no great moral reform can go forward without the aid of a reasonable degree of permanent success until it has behind it a stalwart, uncompromising and self-supporting press. The Prohibition party is to be congratulated on having reached a point where it can demand a hearing. There are now 128 newspapers throughout the country that are uncompromisingly for Prohibition, and this does not include the many that are favorably disposed toward the party.

AN IOWA DAILY OUT FOR BIDWELL.

(From The Des Moines, Iowa, Daily News.)

It is not merely in retaliation and as a measure of discipline that Iowa should give a good vote to Bidwell and Cranfill. They are the nominees of the only party in the United States which at all times, at all places and under all circumstances contends for the Iowa idea of the home against the saloon.

In its bold and determined effort to rid its own borders of the liquor traffic Iowa has had at all times to contend with the insolent, powerful and unchecked liquor power of the United States. It is hard to stand alone, or nearly so, and all the harder because the Prohibition cause has languished in other States and given the liquor power at so little cost against it in other States that it could concentrate all of its forces in Iowa.

Now an effort is making to poll a million votes for the prohibition nominees for President and Vice President, Bidwell and Cranfill, and Ohio is asked to contribute about 14,000 votes as its quota.

If this effort is successful, it will make the prohibition cause aggressive all over the country and the saloon interest will be kept busy in its States without caring for the States of Iowa, Kansas, Maine and the Dakota, which now have Prohibition.

Burlington County Convention.

The Prohibitionists of Burlington county will meet in convention in the court house, Mount Holly, Saturday, August 6, at 2:30 p. m., for the purpose of electing thirty-one delegates to the State Convention to be held in Trenton August 9.

It is earnestly desired that there be a large attendance. Let us rally to the work and send a delegation of at least thirty-one members.

C. D. RAINE, County Chairman.

West Point has located a beer "canteen" in one of its government buildings. Recent have reached $1,000 in a single month, as reported by the New York Herald-Credit is given for a month, and on pay day the customer who fails to wipe off his score is "black-listed" till he does. This beer saloon is under the charge of a Lieutenant of the Quarter master's department, and is connected with the great National Military Academy is a national disgrace. The Board of Trustees has recently reported that West Point is the greatest military academy in the world and nothing should be permitted to antagonize its interests. Whether a beer saloon does this, the people's voice will some day decide at the ballot-box.

Wanamaker's.

Philadelphia August 1, 1892.

Closed Saturdays at 1 P. M.

Our modern methods of merchandising can meet and master any ordinary conditions. But a blizzard in winter or the lowering blaze of a boom of hotness in Mid-Summer tax our powers.

Therefore, while the dissolving temperature lasts, we will not print very much store news. If we were advertising much to-day the story would have a chapter each on—

Dress Goods in patterns, wools and cottons at 25, 40, 50 and 60 per cent off.

Housekeeping Linens, sold without profits. The sorts that brought satisfaction last week to so many prudent housewives.

Women's and Girls' Shoes of Canvas, brown and black.

Small Boys' Wash Suits of many pretty sorts.

To these many other things might be added—but the weather is hot.

Remember this: Once you are here you will find the store cool and restful. The sun smites not, all things are calm, you can rest when and where you please.

The store as a Summer resort is a success. Thus we make the Summer bargain-buying easy—very easy.

Do the little tots need Sea Shore Dresses? Wash Flannel, with reverses, $1; Zouave Jacket style, $1.75—for 2 and 3 year-olds.

The Gingham Guimpe Dresses at 50c, 85c and $1, have been 75c, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.

An armful of Summer Coats. 2 and 3-year sizes, at $1.75, $3, $5—from $2.75, $6 and upward.

Women's Suits. Now and then at third prices, often at half. Always stylish and desirable.

Women's white lawn and muslin dresses, $4, $6, $8; have been $25.

Outing suits of navy blue serge, full length coat, generous skirt, $7; better at $10 and more.

Women's outing coats start at $1, $1.50, and $2. Bathing suits start at $2.

For Misses and Children—Misses' jackets in tans, browns, gray, single and double breasted, pearl and horn buttons, some half lined with changeable silk, at $3.50 each. Valves have been up to $12.

Misses' White dresses, 4 to 12 year sizes, $2.

The White Guimpe at 75c are about half price.

You'd hardly care to do the stitching on some of these things for the money they'll cost you.

Books, of course, for the shady Summer nook. But what books? Choosing is the hard part. "Books for Summer Reading" is 32-page list that smacks delightfully of vacation days. We have had the idle hours in mind while making it. It's contents are Fiction (late publications). Paper novels at 10c each. Paper novels at 7c each. Bound Books at 20c each. Special bargains.

The Wanamaker general Book Catalogue, 144 pages, classifies the Book store stock by subjects.

Either or both these Catalogues free to any asker.

A Grip of course. Glance along that tier-on-tier of every Hand-bag kind. Settle on color, size, shape. Could picking be easier? Never mind the price—it will be as little as anybody's, almost surely littler.

LOVE'S YOUNG DEAM.

They were any of you ever dear to a girl.

And continually moaning and sighing:

Mad as a whip if she smiled on your cheek.

If she looked at you from the street.

Said: Did I love you ever dear to a girl?

When to me something sweet you were trying.

Whether words wouldn't come and your face turned red.

Said: Did you know that together like children.

As you carried her home from school?

Said: Did you drop 'em and slip off your shoes?

And have her? I was that kind of fool.

—Lytton Wharfedale Pillay in New York Sun.

THE MISSING MAN.

The inspection of the life saving station was finished, and it was compelling the captain upon the efficiency of his crew when it suddenly occurred to me that one of them, whom I had especially remarked at my last visit, was missing.

"What has become of the man you used to call Harry?" I inquired.

"He was the strongest and handsomest fellow I ever saw—quick as a cat and light on his feet as a feather. Has he left you?"

"The captain looked at me aghast.

"What! Haven't you heard about it?"

he faltered. "No! Well, it's quite a story. If you've plenty of time I'll tell you about it."

"I had plenty of time and wanted to hear the story, so we sat down near the door, and the captain began:

"I suppose you recollect that long severe southeast gale we had last winter, don't you? Well, it blew from the southeast for two days, with heavy squalls of snow. It was bitter cold. Everything was covered with ice and snow, and the worst sea that I have heard of began travelling up the river on the night of the 10th of January. At daylight it was blowing a moderate westerly breeze and the sky was clear. We searched the shore and sea for signs of a wreck, but could not find any.

"I was just going to put the glass away when my eye caught the glimmer of something on Damian's island. As soon as the glass was brought to bear I saw three men running across the beach. I supposed they were trying to keep themselves from freezing. There's the island off there—the one that is almost round.

"The island rises about twenty feet out of the water. The cliffs are almost straight up and down, with twenty-one fathoms of water at its base. But on the southern side there is a small beach, which is bare at low water. From this beach are picked two rock stacks, and away at low tide. They form natural jetties, and they are about fifteen feet apart and parallel to each other. They extend out from the beach in a southeast direction for about two hundred feet.

"I had the crew called, and everything was soon ready for starting. We decided that the only safe way for us to get the men from the island was to use the boats. We had two boats, and we had to go as close as possible and lying there, about the life line to them and haul them through the surf to the boat. It was a rough way, but as there was no other feasible plan we made our preparations for its execution. The only place on which a boat could land on the island was at that small beach, and to get there we would have to go between the two rock stacks, and every body knew that was a risky job with such a large boat. With the sea then running it was not to be thought of.

"As soon as I had seen every arrangement made, I called the men and we started. The boat was pulled out, and it came looking for the most favorable position for us to work from. We decided that the boat should be pulled up to the beach, and that the men would be the best place. So taking our station there we hoisted the two boats and Harry uncovered the gun and got his ready for use. While Bill looked out the boat was slowly descending, and the sea was a mass of foam, and the waves dashed themselves on the beach. Seeing a big wave coming, and feeling that the boat would be broken on the beach, I broke, however, just before it reached us, and in a mass of foam our boat was filled with water and we were thrown on the beach.

"Fortunately no one was hurt and the boat was not injured. The suddenness of it all, for it happened in a very short time, rather dazed us, but we were thankful for having landed so easily.

"We pulled the boat out and soon had her ready for launching again. But now came the question. How can we get her out? We could not row, as the bladders of the oars would not catch on the rocks. They slipped over the slimy surface and gave us no purchase. We could not remain inactive, as the tide was rising and the beach would soon be covered. We placed the shipwrecked crew on the boat and endeavored to launch her, using the oars to pole her out. The water soon deepened and we were able to start on the beach. Three times we tried to launch the boat, but each time we were thrown back on the beach.

"By this time we were wet through and chilled. Our clothes were frozen and our hands were numb. We were discouraged and almost exhausted. It was evident that the sea must go down before we could launch our boat and get away. But the tide was rising. The small boat was covered with water and we should have to retreat up the cliffs and leave the boat, our only means of escape, to be dashed to pieces on the rocks. What were we to do? Here we were a bare rock, covered with water, with no shelter, with a fire or any means of warming our almost frozen bodies.

Nothing but death in a horrible form was before us.

Owing to a blunder of a Railroad employee the copy of nearly half of our Riverton and Palmyra locals and some advertisements has been lost or mislaid, and rather than delay the paper we go to press without them.

THE Board of Freeholders refused to reconsider their action in rejecting bids for the new stone roads, at their meeting on Tuesday, by a vote of 15 to 8. Director Younker was very unjust in his parliamentary decisions, and the meeting came near breaking up in a row. The courts will now be appealed to, to enforce the law and build the roads, but the "law's delay" will prevent any work being done this year.

EVERY one in this vicinity should do all they can to make the Carnival successful, as in a measure the honor of the town is at stake. The idea, we understand, originated with Mr. Chas. W. Davis, and he is being ably assisted by indefatigable workers. Let us show the large number of visitors who will be present that we do not get up anything in a half-way manner.

Miss J. A. Kuech, the new principal of Berkeley Hall, announces that the school will open Sept. 14th, with a full corps of efficient teachers. Miss Kuech comes highly recommended, and will conduct a first-class school.

To the Editor of the News:
It may be all very well to go to Newport or Saratoga or to Long Branch or even to Atlantic City and leave all the care and anxiety of business at home, and it is doubtless healthful and invigorating to so enjoy the two weeks vacation usually allowed to city employees, and which many of the employers in mercantile pursuits enjoy as well, but it is quite another thing to travel from city to city with all the anxiety of business pressing upon you from day to day. The latter is my condition, out on a little business trip, through the Eastern States, New England states and around west through Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. I had a pleasant ride from New York to Stonington, on one of the finest steamers in the world, the "Maine." The company of passengers were very agreeable and the grand music at 8 to 9 p. m. made the scene on board the most enchanting. From Stonington to Providence one hour and a half by rail. Providence is a small city noted for its cleanliness, its several very large industrial or manufacturing establishments, and for a number of millionaires among its inhabitants. Just sixty minutes ride from there brings you to Boston the Hub, and as you know the synonym for all that is refined, educated, wise and polite, and especially so in the genteel sex, but where you may find also wretchedness, filth, degradation and crime, quite as bad or worse than anything in Forsyth street, New York, or Alaska street, Philadelphia, or anywhere else. Salem street, Boston, contains the most wretched population I ever saw in all my travels from Canada to New Orleans, and from Omaha to Charleston. Yours, D.

To the Editor of the News:
It is surprising to know and see how many persons there are in Palmyra who refuse to contribute a small mite for church purposes.
The West Palmyra Mission seems to want to be built up in looks and in membership, and it surely will be the help of our Lord Jesus.

There are a few persons in East Palmyra who refuse to give for the Mission because, as they express it, "nothing but drunkards and colored folks went there." Just as though colored folks had no soul. If all church doors were closed to drunkards, poor people and the colored race, and just open to the elite, what would become of this place? Thank God! such is not the case, for Salvation is free. The Mission needs a helping hand, and those who are trying to interest themselves in it should not be discouraged by being rebuked and refused help for Mission work.

Take West Palmyra to-day, and look back three or four years ago, and see what a shining contrast it makes. Many who drank liquor, fought, cursed and lived in perpetual turmoil, have been converted to God, and thrown aside their bad habits and ways, and have taken up their daily Cross for Christ's sake, and are living a life of peace and happiness. This is the work wrought by our little Mission. Why not multiply the number of happy homes here in this place? Kind friends, do please help a little! The mite that is being asked is ten cents. How many ten cent pieces there are thrown away foolishly for little or nothing. Any kind of a book suitable for library or any Sunday-school cards that the children in Palmyra families feel like disposing of will be gladly and thankfully received either at the Mission or in Post Office box 204. A formal invitation is extended to all.
Mrs. M. M. Brown.

RIVERTON.

Rev. J. H. Converse and family left on Wednesday for Cape May. Mr. C. C. Rainhard returned from Beach Haven on Monday. He had fine luck fishing in Monnet Bay.

Mr. E. H. Fidler, Jr., and family, started for Elberon on Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowperthwaite went to Ocean City for an outing on Thursday.

Mr. S. F. Ringgold returned home on Wednesday evening after an extended trip through the West.

Mr. Chas. Parry and wife, Mr. J. L. Thomas, Jr., and the Messrs. Conrow went on the excursion to Newburgh-on-the-Hudson, on Thursday. The man arrested by Constable Burr, of Moorestown, in Phila., for stealing Mr. Showell's horse was released by the Magistrate. The evidence is said to be strong against the man and he may be re-arrested.

It is desired to secure additional boys chosen for Christ Church, to fill vacancies which will shortly occur. Parents having boys between the ages of 10 and 14 years, are invited to send them to the church next Monday evening, Aug. 15th, at 7.30 o'clock, when the voices will be tried. Those selected will be put in training immediately, and in due course will be admitted to the choir. See advertisement in another column.

The first annual picnic of the Burlington County Dairyman took place at Browns Mills on Friday. It was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all.

The corner stone laying of the Riverton Catholic Church, on Sunday last, proved an attraction to many of our residents.

The trouble between the Moorestown Turnpike Co. and the Camden Electric Railway has settled and the work will be completed as soon as possible.

Thomas Jones, who goes under the alias of Criss Trimple, and who has been wanted by the officials of Mt. Holly for some time, was caught at Haddonfield Thursday and lodged in Mt. Holly jail, for stealing a horse from David Ewan, who lives near Mt. Holly.

At the Grange picnic at Horning's Grove last week some miscreant stole the harness from Silas Walton's horse. It was probably the same individual who stole enough from others who were present to make a complete outfit, and then started off with it.

The lawn party entitled the "Kettledrum," held at the house of Rev. P. A. Houghaling, Thursday afternoon and evening, August 4th, was a grand success, both from a social and financial point of view. The weather was all that could be desired, but the late rising of the moon involved the use of Chinese lanterns about the grounds and when these were lit up the scene was very animated and cheerful; the porch lights also added to the brilliancy. Various booths were scattered about the lawn under the trees, that having candy being tastefully decorated by Mrs. and Miss Maguire, who had it in charge. Mr. Alex. Marcy, Jr., with a representation of "Rebecca at the Well," dispensed lemonade and fruit; while Mrs. D. P. Dill was the superintendent of the fruit table. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith and Mr. A. Gappel, with an able corps of assistants, managed the ice cream. As the articles sold rapidly a sung sum was realized, and thus repaid the ladies for their efforts in perfecting the details.

The Corner Stone Laying of the New Catholic Church.
The corner stone of the new Catholic church, at Fourth and Linden av., Riverton, was laid with impressive ceremonies on Sunday afternoon, by the Rt. Rev. Michael Joseph O'Farrell, and the following Priests, Revs. F. Fitzsimmons and Kelly of Camden, Revs. Jachette, Philan and Peters, of Trenton, Rev. J. J. Griffin, of Burlington, Rev. John Murphy, of Moorestown, Rev. N. McMenamin, of Florence, Rev. M. Brennan, of Mt. Holly, and our own Rev. John M. McClellan, assisting at the solemn function, chanting hymns and I responses appropriate to the occasion.
The music was supplied by choir of Sacred Heart Church, under the able direction of Mrs. Clemens Haas, of Palmyra, assisted by a select choir from Philadelphia. Delegates of the A. O. U. E. from Moorestown, A. O. of Elberon from Moorestown and Burlington were present. Many visitors from Philadelphia, Moorestown, Burlington, Bordentown, Trenton and Princeton.
The Rt. Rev. Bishop preached eloquently, explaining the meaning of the ceremony. He exhorted all Catholics to be steadfast in their faith; also asked Protestants (of whom many were present) to think of us as living up to our faith, without prejudice; tolerant of all, admiring all who are not afraid or ashamed to profess their faith before all.
He also thanked the Protestants for their presence, and hoped that good will and fellowship would always exist between us.
He concluded by hoping that the corner stone of the house of God would prove a monument to the faith and prosperity of the people of Riverton and Palmyra.
The box put in the corner stone contained copies of the News, New Era, New York and Philadelphia papers, names of President and Vice-president of U. S., and Governor of State, a record of the corner stone laying and a few common coins.
Notes.
The occasion was a very successful one; nearly 600 persons witnessing the ceremony.
All of the old parishioners were glad to see Father Peters who was the first Priest who had charge of the chapel, in which service was read for the first time July 7th, thirteen years ago. Before that service had been held around in different dwelling houses. The first mass was read in Riverton in Edw. McKee's house on Main street on Easter Monday 1878.
A handsome collection was taken up, amounting to about $300.
The Bishop and priests were entertained at a fine dinner at the house of Edw. McKee after the laying, through the liberality of Miss Katie McKee, of Philadelphia.

STAFF NEWS.

A cow owned by Wm. Brower, a farmer living near Keyport, gave birth to a cow the other day and which was a remarkable freak of nature. The calf's legs and body were formed naturally, but its head was almost round, and it had three eyes, two nose, four ears, two throats, two sets of teeth and a double lower jaw. One of the eyes was in the center of the forehead, from which projected a double ear, which hung down over the eye. The animal lived only a short time.

Capitalists want to purchase a large tract of land and lay out a new town at Ridgway, Ocean county. All the land needed has been secured, except about 200 acres. There are fine water power privileges belonging to the tract, which is on the main line of the New Jersey Southern Railroad, just north of Manchester.

There was considerable excitement at Asbury Park, early last week, when it was known that Miss Mabel Twiley, the belle of the hotel Brunswick, had eloped with Richard Rooper, a night clerk in the Phila. post office. Miss Twiley's mother opposed the match and the elopement followed a quarrel between the mother and daughter over the matter. Mrs. Rooper is happy and contented with her husband, at Point Pleasant. Mrs. Twiley refuses to receive Rooper as her son-in-law.

On Wednesday afternoon a very large school of blue and weak fish came to the water's edge on the beach at Holly Beach, Cape May county. The bathers in the surf were thickly surrounded and came in contact with them. After much delay a net was secured and by hard drawing in the surf six or eight barrels of very large fish were landed on the beach.

Two West Point Pleasant fishermen recently made a shipment of sea bass to New York. When the returns came back they found that, instead of receiving anything for their fish, they were indebted to the commission firm to the extent of five cents.

A three-year old son of Mrs. Wm. Gray, of Red Bank, while playing on the beach at Highland Beach on Tuesday was knocked down by a large wave and was being carried out to sea when a man who sat near by rushed in and rescued him. Mrs. Gray knew nothing of the accident until she saw her son in the arms of the stranger, who refused to give his name, but smiled with satisfaction when the rescued boy kissed him and the mother tearfully thanked him.

Cape May fishermen complain of the depredations of the menhaden fishermen, who throw their nets close in to shore and destroy hook and line fishing.

Harry C. Haven, son of Ocean county's County Clerk, has sailed for Beirut, Syria, where he will take a professorship in the Syrian Protestant College.

Dr. John E. Rubekam, a Washington cottage at Cape May, thinks he has discovered gold on his premises, on Madison avenue. While digging a well, workmen struck a rich deposit of metal that is being carefully assayed.

MOORESTOWN.

One of the horses used in hauling stumps for the new road, was overthrown by the heat on Wednesday and died during the night.

The prospect of having the macadam roadbed on Chester avenue widened to fifteen feet, from the railroad to the Bridgeboro road, is very bright. It is to be hoped that the project will not fall through.

The execution of a judgment note for $2,500, dated July 26th and payable in one day, issued against Evan F. Benners by Gustavus B. Benners on Friday last. It is to be hoped that Mr. Benners will soon find a way out of his difficulty.

John L. Dix, the manager of the cannery department of the Cannery factory, while at work yesterday, received injuries, that came near being fatal. While standing on a water tank in the process room, the crane accidentally swung around knocking him across a tub, thereby hurting him severely. Dr. Frank Stroud was summoned, who pronounced his injuries serious. Two of his ribs being broken and three fractured. He was taken home where he now lies, unable to move except with assistance. It was reported last night that his condition was improving.

A 17 year old lad named Joseph James, was brought before Squire Pettit charged with the theft of $21 from his brother Michael. In default of $100 bail he was committed to jail. Two more popular excursions will be run to the coastland of Long Island Sound by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, leaving Philadelphia by special train and Jersey City by steamer on Wednesday, August 27th, and Wednesday, August 28th, 1892. On the 17th regular train will leave lower station, Bordentown, at 7.29, connecting at Trenton with special train. On the 28th, special through train will leave lower station, Bordentown, at 7.38 a. m. Fare in each case $2.25 for the round trip. Stops will be made and tickets sold from prominent points on the Amboy division.

William Saunders, a teamster in the employ of John C. Hopkins, was severely shaken up last Saturday. As he was returning from Merchantville the linchpin of one of the front wheels of the wagon came out, and the wheel came off, causing Saunders to be thrown forward on the axle-tree. By keeping tight hold of the lines he was saved from being injured. He was in a wagon body, and after traveling a hundred yards the team was stopped by running up back of a truck sheltering the driver of which sprang out and assisted Saunders in getting matters straight.

Squire A. S. Pettit, feeling the need of a safe to keep his documents and papers, purchased one of Mrs. Tyler, who is selling out the stock and fixtures of her store on main street. Gilbert Aitken has two fine pets in the shape of two young opossums, which he caught in an out-house while repairing it. He has them in a large cage.

A number of her young friends tendered Miss Anna Dougherty a surprise party on Thursday last in honor of her birthday. The evening was very pleasantly spent in dancing and games.

Pat's bill on the Wilson road is being graded, preparatory to being macadamized. The dirt is used to fill and widen the approaches to the bridge, which already shows great improvement.

The new station at West Moorestown is being advanced rapidly. The brickwork is finished and a force of carpenters are completing the wood-work part of the contract.

The colored man named Brown who was arrested on a charge of chicken stealing, disappeared while he was out looking up bail, and has not been seen since. A sharp lookout is being kept for him.

Officer Burr arrested Edward Lynch last week on a charge of bigamy. His first wife, whom he deserted several years ago, learned of his living here with a woman named Poinsett, and came on and preferred a charge against him. He was sent to jail to await his trial at the next term of court.

Elmer L. Norcross, the efficient and obliging agent of East Moorestown station has been obliged by illness to lay off work for a time. Mr. Wright is filling the position in the meantime.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8, 1892.

Senators and Representatives are few and far between to-day. There was an immediate exodus as soon as adjournment took place, the Senators as a rule going to summer resorts and the Representatives to their districts to enter the campaign for a re-nomination or for a re-election if the nomination had already been captured.

In summing up the results of the session it is almost surprising to find how small they really are, so far as legislation of national importance is concerned. The appropriations are large, larger by numerous millions of dollars than those made by the first session of the Fifty-first Congress, and that fact is expected by the republicans to count against the democrats in many close Congressional districts.

Only one cabinet officer is in town to-day, and he is going away tomorrow. Secretary of State Foster, will be here tomorrow, and he will remain indefinitely because of the important business pending before his department.

The head of the gavel used by Vice-President Morton at the close of the session of the Senate was made of magnolia from a tree planted at Mt. Vernon by General Washington, in 1785, and the handle from a box wood tree named in honor of Gen. Lafayette. This gavel is the property of the John Brown Fort company and will be exhibited among the relics in their building at the World's Fair.

President Harrison will remain at Loon Lake with Mrs. Harrison for an indefinite period, and he left orders that the White House that no business was to be sent to him unless it became absolutely necessary to do so. Mrs. Harrison's continued illness is a matter of general regret, but it is not surprising to those who know her real condition when she left here.

The people's party and Representatives accuse the democratic leaders of the House with having acted in bad faith concerning the sub-treasury bill, which was adversely reported during the last hours of Congress from the Ways and Means committee, whereas they claim that they had been promised that it would be reported in a favorable way.

A good story has leaked out concerning a recent application for an office in the gift of the President. The applicant who was backed by a number of Senators after making a strong fight for the position surprised one of his Senatorial friends one morning by saying: "I have given up the fight." "Nonsense! What for?" said the Senator. "Hasn't the President spoken kindly of your record, and almost promised you the place?" "Oh yes," answered the applicant, "but I discovered to-day that my opponent is 'I'm going home.'" "Why?" "Well, in the first place he is from Indiana." "So?" "Then he is an ardent prohibitionist."

"Indeed!" "Has great prominence in the prohibition cause." "Suppose then," said the Senator, "that you go to Sunday School." "Dear!" "And served in the 70th Indiana through the war. Is a straight shoot and can't be beat. Good bye."

World's Fair officials appear to be perfectly satisfied with the gift of $2,000,000 from Congress. They say it is preferable on the whole to the appropriation of $5,000,000 as a loan as proposed at first.

A PARTY OF GROWTH.

The Prohibition party had a small beginning, but its growth has been so rapid and steady as to encourage its friends and give earnest of ultimate victory.

The Prohibition party was organized as a national party in 1890. The prohibition movement had been struggling since early in the fifties. It grew out of the temperance movement of still earlier beginning. Before the war there had been stringent temperance laws placed upon the statute books of several States, but after the war the influence of the liquor men in politics increased, so that in the year 1867 the State Convention of the Sons of Temperance and God Tempers passed resolutions declaring it to be their purpose: "if the adversities of temperance shall continue to receive the aid and countenance of present political parties," to break existing political affiliations and seek redress by an independent appeal through the ballot.

When the Grand Lodge of Good Templars convened at Oswego, May 27, 1869, the suggestion for independent political action was revived, and a meeting of those favoring it was held at which it was decided to issue a call for a Convention to organize a National Prohibition Party. This Convention met in Chicago, September 1, the same year, with nearly five hundred delegates the states represented being California, Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Vermont and Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia. Rev. John Russell, of Michigan, was the temporary chairman; Jas. Black, of Pennsylvania, permanent chairman, and J. A. Spencer, of Ohio, secretary.

At first it was designed to call the new party the Anti-Salutary shop party, but after a long and vigorous debate the present name was chosen. The first state to return votes for a separate Prohibition ticket was Ohio, in the fall election of 1869.

The first national prohibition convention was held in 1872, and the total vote was only 5,607. In that convention only four States were represented, and but six of them put up electoral tickets. In the convention of 1888, all the States were represented, and thirty-seven States cast votes for the nominees—Fisk and Brooks, and the total vote was 245,945. This year it is probable that the vote will run over a million. Thus it will be seen that the Prohibition party is one of growth and one that has come to stay. It has not for a day or a single campaign, like the Know Nothing or Granger parties. It is not founded on passion or sentiment, but on right reason, appealing to the judgment of men rather than to their passions. Its principles are so well understood that there is no ambiguity, disagreement or misunderstanding. It has one great, grand and good object—protection of the home from the evils of the dramshop.

Wanamaker's.

PHILADELPHIA, August 8, 1892.
Closed Saturdays at 1 P. M.
Yes, Monday's thermometer of sales marked the highest of any August day since the store opened, one Monday morning in March, going on sixteen year ago. There are reasons for business creeping up and up in this plain, old, unmodern building, covering a village of busy people, with miles of floor streets, gas and water pipes, etc., etc., upon plans evolved by one thinking head and organized by one firm hand.

These reasons are that neither heat nor cold, dull times or rushing times are permitted to change the tenor of trade—the service or supply of goods. None must be disappointed at this store when they come for certain goods, neither while they are visiting the store nor after they have left and are at home with their selections.

"Going to Wanamaker's because the stock is equally good all the year round," and your sense of security in the rightness of quality and price is everything to us as merchants. The great, quick and sustained response to the Trade Sale offerings is gratifying. The reasons for the sale are strong. The telling of them has been logical. The result is as usual.

The $25 Oak Dining-room Suit contained a concrete idea. All the Furniture for a dining-room—sideboard, extension table, six chairs—for $25. The demand for them was great: the supply at command is good for one more day's selling such as yesterday.

We add another Oak Dining-room Suit to-day at $50—sideboard table and six chairs. The normal price was $56.50, the Trade Sale price $58.50, the concrete price $50. The pieces are all solid and elegant.

Neither Wardrobes nor Chiffoniers have yet had mention in the advertising of the Furniture Trade Sale. They are going thus:

Ash wardrobe, single door, drawer and shelf, $10.
Ash Wardrobe, double door, shelves and two drawers, $13.50.
Oak Wardrobe, single door, 18x40 inches German plate glass, 1 drawers and 1 shelf, $20.
Imitation Walnut Wardrobe, single door, German bevel mirror, 18x40 inches, $10 from $15.
Walnut Wardrobes single door, drawer and 1 shelf, $14.
Imitation Walnut Wardrobes double doors, 2 drawers and 3 shelves, $14.50.
Imitation Walnut Wardrobes, double door, French plate mirror 18x48 inches, drawer and shelf, $16 from $22.
Walnut front Wardrobes, double doors, 2 drawers and 3 shelves, $18.
Wardrobes at $25, $30, $40, $45, $65, $75.
Oak Chiffoniers, plain tops, 6 drawers, $9.
Oak Chiffoniers, plain top, 5 drawers, 2 closets, $12, or 6 drawers and bonnet closet, $12.
Oak Chiffoniers, 5 drawers and bonnet box, with toilet glass $15.
Oak Chiffoniers, 5 drawers, with toilet glass, $20.
Oak Chiffoniers, 4 large drawers, large bonnet closet, with toilet glass, $25.
Oak Chiffoniers, at $17, $18 up to $95.
Mahogany, Maple or Birch Chiffoniers in a great variety and at low prices.

When we advertise bargains in Shoes because sizes are broken we tell you. The sizes are not broken in the Women's fancy velvet gold embroidered Turkish Slippers at $1, reduced from $2.
Women's Oxford Shoes at $1.25 from $2, $2.50 and $3.
The sizes are broken in the Women's white Oxford Shoes at $2.50 from $3.50, but your size is probably still here.

The wonderful house-keeping Linens of which sales were so lavish a few weeks since are still moving largely.

We add to-day a great lot of beautiful and very perfect soft-finished German Napkins at $1.65 that we know are worth in the market $2.50 a dozen. Another one of our Linen buyer's bright doings in Saxony.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

True happiness is to no place confined. But still is found in a contented mind.

HORACE.

It is reported that the proposed new railroad to Mt. Holly from Camden may run up between the other two railroads, along the Burlington pike touching Westfield, Bridgeboro and Rancocas.

SEVERAL of our residents have made it much more convenient and safe to walk under the trees opposite their dwellings by a liberal trimming of the overhanging branches. Others should do likewise.

We would be glad to help further the project of having a regular ferry between Riverton and Tacny. We believe it would create a boom for this locality and be a great convenience. We hope the Up-river Steamboat Co. will take the matter in hand and establish a ferry.

MHE changes at the water works pumping station are now about finished. The plants now practically duplicated by addition of a new pump and boiler, and when they have depended the well, they will have one of the best plants in the state. Our people can well be proud of our water works.

We desire to call the attention of all interested in the cause of civil service reform to the newspaper called "Good Government." It is $1 per year, and is edited at 80 Corcoran Building, Washington, D. C. It is bright, witty and full of the latest political "points" from all parts of the country. No well informed politician can afford to be without it. On the staff are Geo. Wm. Curtis, of N. Y., Mr. Chas. Bonaparte, of Baltimore, and Mr. Herbert Welsh, of Philadelphia.

THE river bank opposite Palmyra should have more attention by the officers of the law. The gamblers have changed their squatting ground a few hundred feet and go on with their soul destroying work. Several of our residents occasionally take their children to the river side, but now only a part of the bank can be visited, as more than half-grown nude boys run about in all directions, and the locality is not fit for any girl to visit. This should be prohibited at once, and no one should be allowed to go in bathing there without proper suits or tights.

THE river Carnival on the Delaware opposite Riverton last Saturday night, was a beautiful sight. The account given in another column does not adequately describe the charming beauty and splendor of the occasion, as no words can be found to justly picture such a rare treat. The heavy co-operation by all the residents on the bank was of no little account in making the Carnival a thing of beauty. The experience gained will doubtless aid in making another even more attractive, as there will probably be plans for launches to exhibit in combination, some outline of what will be considered prize-worthy, and a larger number of beautifully decorated boats will take part.

Those who provided and took part in the brilliant panorama have been commended from all sides. One gentleman who visited the Carnival in Venice said this was the best he ever saw. The reason why everything is such a success in Riverton might namely be considered in other localities.

To the Editor of the News:

My attention having been called to an article in several of the Philadelphia papers, of Monday, Aug. 8th, about one W. H. Hamilton, of Palmyra, N. J., and his conduct at Atlantic City, I desire to take this opportunity of stating that he is not in any way related to me, that I do not know him, and have never seen him.

C. H. HAMILTON.

Aug. 9th, 1892.

To the Editor of the News:

The Cinnaminson Building and Loan Association of Riverton, will issue a new series in October. Any one may borrow the night they join. Money is selling at from five to ten per cent.—the profits on their stocks in two to three years would more than pay the premium they would pay. It is a cheaper and better way to borrow money than a private loan at five per cent. It has three to five thousand dollars to loan monthly. There is no doubt there will be seven to ten thousand dollars to loan at the meeting the second Monday of October, 1892. Now the time for anyone to commence to build in anticipation of joining them and borrowing.

If any one desires to borrow at meeting in September, they can do so by paying for stock back to last Oct. This association has matured and paid off four series. It has loaned nearly three hundred thousand dollars. It invites your inquiry. For further information inquire of secretary.

H. B. HALL.

To the Editor of the News:

Dear Sir—After an extended tour North and West through Cleveland and a beautiful ride on steamers over Lake Erie to Detroit and through a portion of Canada to Windsor, we have returned to Kenosha, and I mail you the Detroit Free Press and thank you for the WEEKLY NEWS (which I just read) and have received it quite regular in my absence from home. It is received and read by us with much interest, for it tells us about home interests. I am such a poor composer or I would write something for your valuable paper. We had such a delightful time on our Northern trip, and could write you a long letter in its description and pleasure and not be half told. We will start again in a few days, and will take steamer to Cincinnati, and from there to Dayton, to visit the Soldiers' Home, the like of which is not in the United States, where we will go to Indiana, and just where else we cannot say.

Yours Truly,

EDW. H. PANCOAST.

To the Editor of the News:

This is a great country we live in, and it requires, and has great minds to control and protect the interests of this nation. There are some things easily understood and some things not so easy to understand, and when we read as we do sometimes of the launching of a government ship or vessel of any kind, it is always a puzzle for me to understand why with a Christian President, and some at least of the members of the political or national household, Christians of a most pronounced and refined type, and some too, it may be of the lawmakers and general rulers of the nation's affairs, that such ship should be christened or baptized, if you please, by some fair haired breaker of a bottle of whisky or some other of the poisonous beverage over its prow as it glides into the element destined to bear it with all its treasures upon its bosom. Why, in the name of all that exalts a nation, would not the only beverage that God made, and that upon which the ship is to live as equally as well, answer all the purposes or formalities, and be far more significant to the officers and crew, and certainly promise no less safety and prosperity to all?

There are many thoughts and suggestions connected with the subject, but I must not attempt to tax valuable space in your most excellent and readable paper with them now.

RIVERTON.

Mr. J. E. Kroyer has moved to Pennsylvania.

Mr. J. Lawrence Lippincott is recovering very nicely.

Miss Anna Saunders has returned from Bedford Springs.

Mrs. Walter Spackman and Miss Antoinette Campbell are at Beach Haven.

Mr. Coombs the aged mother of Mrs. Jonathan Cottrell, is not expected to live.

Mr. Walter G. Wilson, a former summer resident is stopping with Mr. J. C. W. Frishmuth.

Miss Margaret McCreely, of Lippincott avenue, has gone to Atlantic City to spend several weeks.

The Dreer company have five of the new buildings under roof, and the others will be finished soon.

Mrs. LeCognets and children and Mr. H. H. Ellison and family have returned from Beach Haven.

Mr. W. H. Libe completed his first year in the grocery business in Riverton on the 17th. He is very well satisfied.

Caris are out for the marriage of Mr. J. Grant Cattrell, the genial clerk in Roberts' store, to Miss Fannie Corner, Sept. 1st.

Mr. Ogden Mattis and family, Mr. William Mattis and family, and Mr. Cunningham and family, spent Thursday at the City-by-the-Sea.

Rev. Paul A. Houghtaling has been spending his vacation at his old home on the Hudson. Rev. M. D. Dashiell preached in his place last Sunday.

There are rumors of another Carnival to be given at Morelton Inn shortly, and also to hold a miniature landing of Columbus at Riverton next summer.

Mr. H. C. Worrell is putting in a Primo heater in Mr. H. Clymers house, Palmyra, and also doing the plumbing work in Mrs. Cuyler's house, Morgan avenue, Palmyra, and Mrs. S. T. Baker's house on Main street.

A play will be given at the Lyceum on the 15th of August, by the Frivoli Club, for the benefit of the Church of the Sacred Heart and the Woman's Exchange.

Lewis Corner and A. J. Briggs, were so well pleased with the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City, that it is reported they have bought it and will turn it into a skating rink.

The little item in our last issue, relating to a colored man charged with stealing Mr. Shovel's horse, was taken from a Burlington paper, and was supposed to refer to a new clue. It did not refer to Philip Stark who was arrested before on this charge, and who clearly proved his innocence.

The West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. gave our ball team a drubbing last Saturday, but if they will return when our members come back, they will be beaten, as they were the first time they came. The Huntingdon athletic association will play the Riverton today.

Mr. John M. Davis, Jr., Paying Teller at the Southwestern National Bank, has come to reside among us again. His family has increased since he left us. He will find it more desirable to raise his children here than in the city. He is a full fledged Methodist, being actively engaged at Bethel M. E. Church, Philadelphia.

The Riverton Carnival

A Beautiful Sight Viewed by 2000 People.

The illuminated carnival, which was given under the auspices of the Riverton Yacht Club, and directed by Messrs. Charles Biddle, William R. Ellison, Charles W. Davis, Frank L. Patterson, Frank G. Stuart and E. S. Young, came off as per our announcement last week, and was much more than a "miniature Venetian carnival," as some of the Philadelphia daily papers dubbed it. There were about fifty decorated boats in the different lines, over one hundred in the river, which either were too heavily decorated, or the lanterns were so arranged as not to be able to stand the brisk breeze which was blowing, with several without trimming.

Judges Charles A. Altherton, John S. Davis and George Berry, awarded three equal prizes. For sail boats, first prize to Capt. John P. Edwards' Majorie, of the Riverton Yacht Club; for steam launches, first prize to Mon Reve, Capt. Massey of Morelton Inn. For skiffs, first prize to Mr. Reese of Riverton.

The canoe Deerfoot, owned and paddled by Capt. Charles W. Davis was one of the most attractive boats on the river. It was arranged as a Japanese pagoda, the stories being made by Japanese umbrellas of different sizes. The house was draped with bunting to represent the large porch, all being lighted with many colored lanterns and red lights. There was too much wind to permit this pretty canoe to enter the line, or it would doubtless have taken one of the prizes.

Mr. J. B. M. Shovel had a design for his boat which would have attracted much attention, but the wind was too much for his lanterns.

The boats in the lines represented buildings ancient and modern, from the Japanese house and Chinese Junk to the Riverton Gun Club building. Japanese umbrellas of all sizes, lanterns of every imaginable shape and kind, arranged in cute, methodical or fantastic shapes, as an anchor, pyramids, immense ships, full sail and jib, were represented by the various boats, all being more or less covered with bunting and flags.

The following is a partial list of the boats, some leaving before we could learn their names. The schooner Floreie, owned by Mr. B. Pratt, was anchored and had the band of music during the movement of the boats, anchored near her were the sloop Killdeer, owned by Seymour Rank; the Majorie, J. P. Edwards; the Belle, C. S. Davis; Spray, L. C. Cook; Olga, Wm. H. Brower & A. W. H. Hinsel; Wannie, R. K. Neff, Jr.; Countess, C. M. McElroy; Warina, W. Barclay Henry; Ethel, James Bond.

The launches were: America, Charles A. Wright; Mon Reve, Edward Morel; Camer, F. G. Stuart; the F. C. Arnold, Folly, C. M. Moore.

Other boats that were belonging to Charles C. Rianhard, Norman Ellison, C. W. Davis, E. L. Young, T. H. Altherton, D. H. Wright, J. Schmidt, Chas. Biddle, Jr., Melvin Biddle, Harold Godwin, M. E. Harsted, A. P. Rohman, Julius Wilson, Ed. H. Ogden, S. Coddington, the Skakudwa and others.

The residences, and along the river front were elaborately decorated with lanterns of every style and kind known to this age, all the houses were lighted up except that of M. M. Roberts, on account of the death of his daughter, Katharine H., who died at Beach Haven on the 6th, and Mr. Fidler's who are at Elberon, and several of these displayed bunting and flags. Mr. J. C. W. Frishmuth extended his lanterns down to the river bank. There were probably four or five thousand lanterns and lights, used by all, with the numerous red, blue and green lights and fireworks, made the occasion one of splendor and magnificence, which will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness this brilliant aquatic American Venetian Carnival.

BASE BALL.

The Eagle base ball club of this place visited East Fairmount Park last Saturday and defeated the Cascades club by the score of 16-8. This Saturday the Eagles will play the Laurel A. A. of Manayunk at East Park and a good game is expected.

The Athletic club was again victorious last Saturday in their visit to the Parker club, defeating them by a score of 8 to 5. The game was interesting and enjoyable from beginning to end. The Athletic club took a batting streak in the sixth inning and made four runs, three of which were earned. There were a number of excusable errors made which was due to the condition of the grounds, the grass not having been cut in time. Today the Crusader team from West Philadelphia will be here, and a good game may be expected, as the visitors although young men, have a very good reputation. Ladies are invited to witness the contest.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
From our Washington Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15, 1892.

Politicians are not content with Washington just at this time. They are here here have not lacked for a sensation to discuss since the announcement was made a few days ago that Judge Graham intended to take the stump for Weaver and Field.

Democrats and Republicans alike refuse to believe that the announcement is authentic, but they agree that it will make hard dodging for the republicans in Indiana, if Graham really does go on the stump for the People's party, owing to the great personal influence he wields with a large number of voters in the State, and it is stated that he could control almost as many votes in Illinois where he has made his home of late years. At the Farmer's Alliance headquarters, where People's Party men usually may be found, no doubt was expressed of the authenticity of the announcement which was there regarded as a boom for Weaver and Field.

Speaking of Judge Graham, just before the Omaha convention met when all indications seemed to point to him as the head of the ticket to be nominated, there was a secret conference of prominent republicans, presided over by Mr. Clark, then chairman of the National Republican Committee, held in Washington, at which it was practically agreed that in case Graham was nominated and he carried enough States to throw the election into the House the republican electors were to make a flank movement in Illinois where he has made his home of late years. At the Farmer's Alliance headquarters, where People's Party men usually may be found, no doubt was expressed of the authenticity of the announcement which was there regarded as a boom for Weaver and Field.

Why should the United States Treasury pay fancy prices to Express Co., for transporting large amounts of money from one point to another? is a question which has been often asked since it was known that $200,000 in gold was recently taken from San Francisco to New York by Government officials at a cost of about $2,500, while the express company's charge for doing the same work was $60,000. Surely it is cheaper for the United States to assume the risk of loss than to pay such enormous profits to the express companies for doing so. Not long ago the United States Express Co. was paid $3,500 for less than three hours time of a few of its employees, just enough to load boxes containing $700,000 in gold on an express car at Philadelphia, and two hours later to transfer the same from the same car to the sub-treasury at New York. Secretary Foster is understood to be in favor of the Treasury doing its own transportation when the amounts are large enough to tempt the express companies to make such big charges.

From Saturday at noon to this afternoon, when the Secretary of the State returned from the mountain resort where he spent Sunday, Washington was without a single official member of the administration. Congress kept the most of the cabinet here so late that they are all taking their vacation at one time.

So-called officials seldom give out news until after it has long since ceased to be new; but I have a note on excellent authority that they are a little worried by the fear that the Gladstone government of Great Britain may not be as friendly towards the international monetary conference as that of Lord Salisbury was. The date for the meeting of the conference cannot be fixed until the wishes of Mr. Gladstone are ascertained, and should he be disposed to be unfriendly towards it, he could easily cause it to be indefinitely postponed by deferring its consideration upon one or another plea without actually committing himself against it. The most that will be said about it at the State department is that "it is expected that the new cabinet to be formed by Mr. Gladstone will give its early attention to the matter."

It is just often that a speech delivered by a Republican Congressman is circulated in the South as a Democratic campaign document, but the Democratic Congressional campaign committee is now sending thousands of copies of the speech attacking Gen. Weaver, which was delivered in the House, by representative Henderson of Iowa, several years ago, to the Southern States. It is one of the bitterest set speeches ever delivered in Congress. Worse things have been said of members by other members in the heat of sudden anger, but Mr. Henderson's attack on Gen. Weaver was a masterpiece of deliberation, and the intention to say the worst things that possibly could be said.

STORIES OF TRAVEL IN MANY LANDS.

The current issue of Alden's illustrated weekly paper, Knowledge, begins a series of illustrated sketches and stories of travel in many lands, by Mary Traveler, which are indicated by this issue, will prove highly entertaining and instructive. This first paper is by E. G. Butler on "Pam or The Land of the Incas," and has several fine illustrations; this is devoted to personal adventures and observations; another paper will be devoted to the ancient civilization and the antiquities of Peru, some of its monuments and fortifications, dating back, it is supposed, to the age of the pyramids of Egypt, being illustrated.

A specimen copy of Knowledge may be had free; the price is only 50 cents a year, amazingly cheap, as Alden's publications always are. JOHN B. ALDEN, Publisher, 57 Rose St., New York.

The Great Mount Holly Fair

The schedule or Premium List of the Burlington County Agricultural Society is now ready and can be had free on application at any of the following stores. Don't fail to call for one, $20,000 in money premiums, and many valuable special premiums are offered. A new feature has been introduced. Liberal premiums are offered for Dogs or Bench Show.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION TICKET.
FOR PRESIDENT,
GENERAL JOHN BIDWELL,
OF CALIFORNIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
DR. J. B. CRANFILL,
OF TEXAS.

GENERAL BIDWELL'S RECORD.

General John Bidwell, the Californian, whom the Prohibitionists have selected as their standard bearer, is a man of forceful character and a leader among men. In his own State few men are better known or more highly esteemed for good qualities of head and heart. Since the Presidential campaign opened, not a year ago, he has been the "favorite son" of the Golden State and he has won the honor almost without a serious struggle.

General Bidwell is an old pioneer on the Pacific slope and is well-known in all the States of that section, and was once sent to Congress by the Republicans of California. Afterward he was the Republican nominee for Governor, but was defeated by the combined opposition of the corporations of the State. After his nomination, a committee from these interests went on him and demanded to know what he would do or refuse to do in the interests of corporations. He said: "If I am ever elected Governor of California I will be the public servant of the whole people, and not the representative of any special interests."

He was not elected.

Soon after his defeat he became interested in the drink problem. His large ranch known as "Rancho Chico," was conspicuous for its productive vineyards. He became a convert to the Prohibition faith, and caused all his vines to be dug up and destroyed, and all the wine in his cellars to be poured out. In 1890 he became the Prohibition nominee for Governor, and was endorsed by the Farmers' Alliance. He polled 10,000 votes, 2,000 more than Fisk polled for President, in 1888. General Bidwell is a temperate and a moralist, and a self-sufficient. He has turned his vineyards into fruit orchards, and personally superintends thousands of acres and gives employment to hundreds of men. In personal bearing he is tall, stately and straight, with the presence of a leader. He is in every sense a popular man and a man of the people.

DR. J. B. CRANFILL.

Dr. J. B. Cranfill, the nominee for Vice-president on the Prohibition ticket, is a gentleman of splendid physique, bright, intelligent and full of vim.

He is a native Texan, having been born 35 years ago in a camp among the Comanche Indians in Parker county, last State.

He for years followed the life of a cowboy and a ranchman and is considerably well-to-do.

They all had a good time.

A dog on Leconey avenue between 4th and 5th streets, makes a habit of jumping at pedestrians. Several ladies have already been attacked by him; the owner should either muzzle him or keep him in. A correspondent asks if he would be justified in shooting him. We know of nothing to prevent him if he has sufficient grounds for his action. A word of warning should however be sufficient for the owner.

Contractor Joseph Bishop has secured the contract for the new M. E. Church at Fifth and Morgan avenues. He will begin work the latter part of this month, and expects to be ready to lay the corner stone in about a month.

The building will be 92x66 feet, with a spire about 100 feet high. The main building will be arranged in circular form with seats for about 500. Mr. Bishop will furnish the bell, heater and lighting, or allow them to be furnished by the church. The church will be one of the finest buildings in the town, and will be a lasting advertisement for him and the good work he has done in this neighborhood.

Quite a number of old-timers were out to the meeting last Wednesday evening.

On Wednesday evening, Aug. 31st, Palmyra Castle will hold their annual watermelon party. Several Castles have been invited, and it is requested that all members of Palmyra Castle be present.

THE TWO WAYS.

By L. E. N.

There are two ways in life my friend, The wrong and the right; The false and the true;

They're counter to each other from end to end.

There are but two roads in life my friend, The straight and narrow;

You never will travel this way again, The one is best with foes my friend, The full of allurement.

But danger is there; The other leads steadily on, my friend, To a heavenly land that is bright and fair.

MOORESTOWN.

The flow of water in the cellar of the new station at West Moorestown is so strong as to prove a decided hindrance. Two men spent all day yesterday in a vain attempt to run it dry.

The new station building is being pushed ahead. The roof is nearly finished, and the interior will soon be ready for the plasterers.

East Moorestown is already getting jealous of the improvements at the west end, and are finding out that they need a new station at their own end much more than they realized, and not intend to allow East Moorestown to be left behind in the march of improvement.

The question is asked as to whether the young politicians now coming on are alive to the position they will very shortly occupy among the nation's voters.

The young Republicans have already answered the question by a vigorous organization, and the young Democrats are also preparing to make a strong showing of their loyalty to party. The advent of settled coolness is likely to put a good deal more life into the political machinery of all parties.

A trio with uncertain gait and lagging step, marched down Chestnut avenue from Main street on Tuesday afternoon, with enough liquor on board to give them a general air of irresponsibility. They attracted attention by the chorus they were singing, and keeping step to. Later on one of them fell into the clutches of Officer Wright and seemed to have sustained a fall in spirits.

Edward Ross had his hand crushed at the canning factory on Monday by having it caught in the machine he was working. It was considerably damaged and had to receive some surgical treatment.

THE MOUNT HOLLY FAIR.

The Great Excursion to Be Greater Than Ever.

For forty-five years the exhibition of the Burlington County Agricultural Society, better recognized as "The Great Mount Holly Fair," has been an annual event of more than ordinary interest. This year the exhibition opens on September 12th, continuing until the 16th, inclusive. Great preparations are being made by the management, and if hard work, honest endeavor and a liberal expenditure of money is criterion, this will undoubtedly be the grandest exhibition of the kind ever given.

The railroads have arranged low rate excursions from all points, and for one week Mount Holly will be a scene of merry-making, merriment and excitement.

115 W. BROAD ST., PALMYRA, N. J.

It is not a good thing to believe everything you read in a newspaper advertisement; the veracity of the advertiser is often at stake. But when it comes to our advertisement—with a backbone—we are right there every time. The backbone is one where the advertiser has the goods to back up the statement. Our goods are just as represented. If anybody doubts it let them give us a trial and thus convince themselves that what we say has a backbone.

Creamery Roll Butter.—Anybody that buys it once want it again. It is 30c a pound.

Homestead Flour.—Well, it is hardly worth while for us to tell you about that. Just ask your neighbors about the great success they are having with it and then try a bag yourself. 80c large bag, 40c small bag.

Salt Shad.—Oh, you have heard about them, have you? Well, try one. 10c lb.

Mackerel No. 1.—They are very tempting. 18c lb. Try one. Mocha and Java is the coffee that makes your husband smile all day. 27 lb.

Old Government Java is not far behind at 35c lb. Pickles in Quart Jars.—Don't have to be showed, they simply slide out without effort. 25c jar. There are three kinds—plain, mixed and chow chow.

Cream cheese goes rapidly at 2 lbs. for 25c. Fine-apple, Grated.—Something fine. Don't forget to have a can put in your order. 10c can.

Teas why yes, they are right up to the dot. We have them from 40c to 75c.

Lime Juice.—What is it? Why, it is the pure juice from the lime and it makes one of the best summer drinks you ever tasted, 30c bottle.

Cakes.—You don't have to bake this warm weather. You can buy them cheaper already made. Four kinds—Pound, White Mountain, Spanish Ham and Citron. 30c pound.

Corned Beef, packed for the finest trade, 18c 2-lb. can.

A PERIL OF THE SEA.

It was the second "dog watch," from 6 to 8 o'clock in the evening, and the crew of the bark Beatrice were gathered upon the main deck, indulging in their evening pastime of sailors, yarn spinning.

The vessel was homeward bound from Rio Janeiro after a very prosperous voyage.

Darkness was approaching as the chief mate, who was on duty, called a quick look about the horizon. When his eyes roamed toward the west they rested for some moments on a small bank of leaden clouds which seemed to be wafting up from the water.

"Ah, we'll have a change of wind before midnight, and if I make no mistake, it will bring nasty weather with it."

They were hearing Cape Hatteras and were quick to look out for squalls. You might cuss up and furl the light sails so that we will be prepared for whatever comes. If it looks too bad give me a call, and I'll be right on hand."

The second mate with his men sought their bunks to have a few hours' needed rest, while the chief officer, with his portion of the crew, took charge.

The seaman who came to relieve the wheel was a new lad in years, but as skillful a mariner as any on board and a prime favorite with all, as could be seen by the kindly tone of the mate's voice as he addressed the youth.

"Watch her close, Harry, my son. If we have a shift of wind it'll come quick, and we don't want to get taken aback."

"Aye, aye, sir," was the respectful reply, as he laid his hands on the spokes of the wheel.

Copper headed, feather shaped clouds now began to chase each other across the starry canopy of heaven.

As the gaze of the helmsman alternated between the compass, the sails and the horizon, he was alarmed to see away upon the starboard bow something that appeared like a heavy black shaft, reaching up from the water, in the shape of a tunnel, until it met another similar in formation which seemed to drop from the skies.

"There's a sport, sir," he said to the mate.

"Aye, aye, I've been looking at it. It's a heavy one too. As they always work to windward, I'm afraid she'll come uncomfortably nosed. Keep the vessel's head north, and I'll speak to the skipper. I'd rather he'd be on deck when those fellows are about."

Obeying the order, Harry threw the wheel over, and the bark swung off her course, and the danger of collision was a little lessened or avoided.

Mr. Gorham, the officer, hurried to the companion way and called:

"Captain Bruce, there's a water-sport making down upon us. Perhaps you'd like to take a look at her."

"Aye, aye," came a voice from the cabin, and the next instant the master was on deck.

He took one hasty glance at the danger impending, another at the compass, before he said quickly, "Let her go west," then shouted: "Check in the sails about four points to port. We must work out of our course. I will give my rifle if it comes too near I will try to break it," and with that he hurried below.

The wind, which up to this moment had been reasonably strong, now died out to a "stark calm."

The sails were trimmed, but the head-way of the vessel was slackening, for the mate had lost her proper power.

The speed of the terrible volume of water power which was approaching them was not checked, and when the captain reappeared on deck with rifle in hand the boy black came to a halt, and the vessel like a ball, and the whirl of the angry, seething element was borne to the ears of the frightened and terrified seamen as they watched the outcome of her perilous power.

Quickly the weapon of the commander was brought to his shoulder, and was instantly followed by a flash and report. Then came the deluge.

Tons and tons of water, mingled with sand, fell upon the deck, threatening to submerge the vessel and crowd her down into the frightful vortex which yawned close under the stern.

The mate and the crew were crowded aloft, while skylight and bulwarks were crushed like eggshells in the grasp of a giant.

This latter calamity, however, proved to be a passing one, for the vessel was not so much as touched by the vast volume of water to flow freely into the sea.

Harry had been knocked senseless over the wheel and there lay more dead than alive.

But the captain! Where was he? His voice was silent.

The second mate, who with his watch had been below, rushed forth from the cabin through the other companion-way.

"For God's sake, what has happened?" he exclaimed. "Have we been in collision?"

But he received no answer, for there was no one to reply.

By the feeble light of the stars, which now began to twinkle forth, the officer observed the boy who had fallen, and casting a hasty glance at the pallid features of the lad was convinced that he was past all hope of recovery.

The second mate, then crawling along the starboard rail to the "break of the poop," looked down upon the main deck, and to his horror, saw several bodies washed back and forth among the wreckage, to be swept, one after another, out through the rifts in the bulwarks.

"Are you all dead?" he at length found voice to exclaim. "Am I left alone?"

But he was instantly gladdened by a reply from forward. "The starboard watch is here, sir."

"Thank heaven!" Then louder the second officer called out. "She is all right, sir. That's good. Hold her steady until I sound the pumps and see if we have sprung a leak." He hurried to his room and secured the sounding rod and lines, as most of the water had now rolled out from the main deck he succeeded in reaching the pump.

HEART'S HUNGER.

We met her just for a little while. The looks and smile were the same. Our hearts are with that new made grave in the night.

All dark and shadow haunted in the gloom. God pity those who wait in vain to hear the sound of feet that never will tread again. Or long to him while form lies hid away. In their deep beds beneath the snow and rain.

The wind from out the barometer came. The dead leaves, that were once so full of life. On your sleeping ones as still they lie. Oh, you who never saw your dear one's face. Who never heard his voice and saw him smile. And held out empty arms and hearts to God. And knew the pain we feel tonight.

A GHOSTLY BRIDAL.

The stagecoach which ran between Paris and Marseilles had just reached Grumbeaux, when the young Baron de Saint Andre climbed up to the front seat.

Here he found a good looking fellow of his own age, and straightway the two became great friends. At the end of an hour they began exchanging confidences after the manner of young men.

The action of noble stock was on his way to Paris, to buy an officer's brevet, so as to serve his country, as his ancestors had done before him; the other, who was the son of a rich tradesman, was also bound for Paris, for the purpose, however, of marrying an heiress, the daughter of an old friend of his father.

"It is an even thing," cried the young Baron laughing. "A mere money matter for each of us. The little God Cupid has no more concern in your business than mine."

He opened a tortoise shell case, and Saint Andre exclaimed admiringly: "What an angel! Indeed, my dear fellow, you are very fortunate to have found her. I should have been disappointed if you had not."

"I do not complain," said the bridegroom elect. "and now I am going to sleep, if this miserably jolting concern will allow me. I am expecting to breakfast at my future father-in-law's as soon as I reach Paris, and as I shall then be presented to my betrothed I want to look as well as possible."

At the end of three days and two nights the heavy stagecoach lumbered into the metropolis and the two travelers went to the nearest hotel and engaged two rooms, intending to take a little rest. Saint Andre had just thrown himself upon the bed when he heard a deep groan in the next room, and on rushing in found his late companion rolling on the floor in agonies of pain.

The servant who came to the summons, a physician was brought in, and the latter declared that the patient was suffering from acute colic, which had probably been contracted before he left home and had been aggravated by the fatigue of the journey. He pronounced the malady a very serious one, and so it proved, for, in spite of every care, the youth expired at the end of an hour.

When he was overwhelmed by the catastrophe, and when he found that he could do nothing more for his friend he stood gazing sadly at the lifeless clay which lay on the narrow bed in the bare hotel room, for, fellow! So young, so gay, looking forward to a bright future, and now snatched away without warning! What would the fair bride-elect say when she heard of this tragedy?

Saint Andre dressed the bearing of the dead youth, and the family, but there was no one else to perform the errand, and so he set off, carrying with him the dead youth's satchel.

When he reached the stately mansion the front door flew open and two footmen in livery came to meet him. One relieved him of his satchel, the other took his hat and cloak and a voice was heard exclaiming joyfully: "Welcome, here is your son-in-law at last!"

"Dear fellow!" cried a little, fat, white haired man, rushing into the hall, "let me embrace you," and he clasped the newcomer passionately to his heart. As soon as he could get his breath Saint Andre said hurriedly: "Pardon me, sir, but—"

"I pardon you for being late," interrupted the other. "Look, it is 12 o'clock, and breakfast is growing cold. Come in and see my daughter. The little pup was waiting for you. She is all impatient to meet you."

He pulled the young man into the breakfast room as he spoke, and without pausing an instant added, "My wife, Uncle Dorival, Aunt Dolores, here is the son-in-law at last; Sylvia, my child, bid him welcome!"

"I beg pardon, sir," cried Saint Andre, but again he was interrupted him.

"Don't tell me that you wish to draw back at the last moment, my dear fellow! Everything has been arranged by my esteemed friend, your father, but if you have any objection to urge I will hear it later; but news can always keep. Now let us sit down to breakfast at once and be merry. Sit by me, son-in-law, and give me your opinion of this pigeon blaque."

The visitor was young and very hungry, having fasted since midnight. The shock of his companion's sudden death had unnerved him somewhat, and so for the time being he yielded to the force of circumstances.

"Come what will," he said to himself, "I cannot but be put to dampener upon the joy of the first good people; at least not until they have had their breakfast."

He joined therefore in the general merriment, smiled sweetly upon blushing Sylvia, the bride-elect, and replied unhesitatingly to his supposed father-in-law's inquiries.

"How is your Aunt Armada, my son?" asked the old man suddenly. "I remember her as a charming young woman, when I was twenty I came near falling in love with her! We must keep her in good care, for she will be a great help to her nephew."

"Dear aunt!" exclaimed the youth in

The stagecoach which ran between Paris and Marseilles had just reached Grumbeaux, when the young Baron de Saint Andre climbed up to the front seat.

Here he found a good looking fellow of his own age, and straightway the two became great friends. At the end of an hour they began exchanging confidences after the manner of young men.

The action of noble stock was on his way to Paris, to buy an officer's brevet, so as to serve his country, as his ancestors had done before him; the other, who was the son of a rich tradesman, was also bound for Paris, for the purpose, however, of marrying an heiress, the daughter of an old friend of his father.

"It is an even thing," cried the young Baron laughing. "A mere money matter for each of us. The little God Cupid has no more concern in your business than mine."

He opened a tortoise shell case, and Saint Andre exclaimed admiringly: "What an angel! Indeed, my dear fellow, you are very fortunate to have found her. I should have been disappointed if you had not."

"I do not complain," said the bridegroom elect. "and now I am going to sleep, if this miserably jolting concern will allow me. I am expecting to breakfast at my future father-in-law's as soon as I reach Paris, and as I shall then be presented to my betrothed I want to look as well as possible."

At the end of three days and two nights the heavy stagecoach lumbered into the metropolis and the two travelers went to the nearest hotel and engaged two rooms, intending to take a little rest. Saint Andre had just thrown himself upon the bed when he heard a deep groan in the next room, and on rushing in found his late companion rolling on the floor in agonies of pain.

The servant who came to the summons, a physician was brought in, and the latter declared that the patient was suffering from acute colic, which had probably been contracted before he left home and had been aggravated by the fatigue of the journey. He pronounced the malady a very serious one, and so it proved, for, in spite of every care, the youth expired at the end of an hour.

When he was overwhelmed by the catastrophe, and when he found that he could do nothing more for his friend he stood gazing sadly at the lifeless clay which lay on the narrow bed in the bare hotel room, for, fellow! So young, so gay, looking forward to a bright future, and now snatched away without warning! What would the fair bride-elect say when she heard of this tragedy?

Saint Andre dressed the bearing of the dead youth, and the family, but there was no one else to perform the errand, and so he set off, carrying with him the dead youth's satchel.

When he reached the stately mansion the front door flew open and two footmen in livery came to meet him. One relieved him of his satchel, the other took his hat and cloak and a voice was heard exclaiming joyfully: "Welcome, here is your son-in-law at last!"

"Dear fellow!" cried a little, fat, white haired man, rushing into the hall, "let me embrace you," and he clasped the newcomer passionately to his heart. As soon as he could get his breath Saint Andre said hurriedly: "Pardon me, sir, but—"

"I pardon you for being late," interrupted the other. "Look, it is 12 o'clock, and breakfast is growing cold. Come in and see my daughter. The little pup was waiting for you. She is all impatient to meet you."

"I beg pardon, sir," cried Saint Andre, but again he was interrupted him.

"Don't tell me that you wish to draw back at the last moment, my dear fellow! Everything has been arranged by my esteemed friend, your father, but if you have any objection to urge I will hear it later; but news can always keep. Now let us sit down to breakfast at once and be merry. Sit by me, son-in-law, and give me your opinion of this pigeon blaque."

The visitor was young and very hungry, having fasted since midnight. The shock of his companion's sudden death had unnerved him somewhat, and so for the time being he yielded to the force of circumstances.

"Come what will," he said to himself, "I cannot but be put to dampener upon the joy of the first good people; at least not until they have had their breakfast."

He joined therefore in the general merriment, smiled sweetly upon blushing Sylvia, the bride-elect, and replied unhesitatingly to his supposed father-in-law's inquiries.

"How is your Aunt Armada, my son?" asked the old man suddenly. "I remember her as a charming young woman, when I was twenty I came near falling in love with her! We must keep her in good

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Industry and sobriety, when in partnership, always annihilates the blues and poverty.

Advantage Thought.

It will be remembered some time ago we called attention to the importance of providing a frequent supply of fresh water for dogs in the hot weather. That suggestion was made by Doctor Sharp, and since then has been commended by the "New York Tribune," "St. Louis Dispatch" and other leading papers. A fund will be raised in St. Louis, to provide one hundred and fifty dog watering troughs, next summer.

It is believed by leading authorities that if dogs are given a good supply of fresh water and shielded from the hot sun, there would be few or no cases of rabies.

An ineffectual attempt was again made on Wednesday at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders at the County House, to have the proposed stone road built. The vote stood 15 to 9. The members of the Board from the back townships are not making an honorable fight, they do not want the stone roads in their townships and are determined that no one else shall. The increase in the tax rate, over the whole county, is so small that the fight is more mere stubbornness than one of economy.

Dr. Janney waxes hot in argument for the stone roads, and advances the same reasons for building them, that our towns do against the back district—that we should have returned to us our proportion of the taxes—but that is another question. (?)

THE astronomer (the wise men) will have to hurry up or they will not have that aerial train ready for excursions to Mars during the World's Fair.

NEW ELECTION OFFICERS.

The County Board of Registration have appointed the following election officers for this township:

1st District—Joseph A. Davis, Samuel Thompson, Jr., K. George W. Hall, Elmer Wallace, D.

2d District—Louis Corner, Ogden H. Mattis, R. Joshua Wilkins, Theodore Hensen, D.

To the Editor of the News:

There is no use to attempt to cover up or apologize for the plain, simple truth, that in this country there is a serious trouble (and likely to be far more and more general in the near future) growing out of the contention between capital and labor; and it must be plain to the reflecting mind that most of it is brought about by the influx of the army of foreign rabble that is still being brought over by the ship-load and turned loose upon American soil, and who congregate in cities and industrial centres. This is the nineteenth century. I have visited in the last three weeks, and in all cities and in all large railroad stations they swarm in crowds quite equal to the negroes in the southern cities and states, but it is a noticeable fact that where the negro population predominates you see comparatively few of this miserable foreign rabble. Respectable colored people are too dignified and refined to associate with them. Early in the nineteenth century when there were but few emigrants coming into this country, and they nearly or quite all Irish or German, the outlook was for no more so fearful or distressing for with the Irishman's love for whiskey he brought also a large amount of brains; and while the German stuck to his beer and his pretzels he brought with him also industry; and both Irish and German often brought means sufficient to secure them a permanent position. And who ever heard of a strike among workmen before 1840? And I think not until after 1850! D.

Dayton, O., 8, 22, '92.

To the Editor of the News:

Having occasion to entertain a party of friends from a distance the past week, who are frequent travellers in various parts of the country. I was more than mortified at the frequent comments made upon the system of sidewalks and lights in this vicinity.

On one occasion I had on various occasions spoken of the great advantage of Palmyra. Among some of the questions asked, were, "Has an earthquake struck your sidewalks?" the unevenness of the surface reminds you of hills and valleys. Who does the grading for your town? where are your lights? the night reminds you of the Diabolical Swamp. Your town's people can't have much push or they would remedy these defects; they want to travel a little and see the enterprise displayed elsewhere among suburban residents. What excuse had I to offer? I said what they said has a fact—and I had never realized it to such an extent before, when strangers thus behold us—it is not time to awake from our slumber. I hope you will do all you possibly can through your paper to arouse to the necessity of the day. ROBERT.

The Moorestown Canning Factory is putting up large quantities of corn at the present time, and a great deal of night work is being done. They also announce that they are prepared to receive tomatoes.

At a meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee it was decided to hold the State Republican convention at Trenton, N. J., on Tuesday Sept. 13th 1892, instead of the fifteenth. This change was made as that day was the big day at Mt. Holly, Summerville, and Somersville.

Next Thursday will be the first of September, the beginning of the "month," bringing with it suggestions of school books, oysters, cool weather, Autumn enjoyments, etc., etc. After the experience of this Summer's heat it is encouraging to feel that relief is near at hand.

The rush of railroad traffic to pleasure resorts is over for the season, but the ebb of travel will give Riverton a good deal to do for some time yet. Had the summer been a season of no more than ordinary weather the general scarcity of money would have greatly curtailed travel to the shore and elsewhere. The great heat caused many to change their minds, but though there were great crowds at many places, the amount of money spent was small in proportion, so that landlords and others are complaining of small profits for the amount of business done.

The South Jersey farmers are greatly alarmed over the breaking out of Texas fever among the stock of E. Weigand and Isaac Goldy, near Kirkwood, Camden county. Mr. Weigand has lost fifteen head of stock out of a herd of seventeen in the last two weeks, and of 3 owned by Mr. Goldy one has died. The fever is supposed to have originated from a herd of Texas cattle, which were driven through Kirkwood and allowed to graze on the two farms. Steps will be taken by the farmers to have an inspector in Camden to inspect all cattle coming in the state by the ferries.

The time is fast approaching when the school children will have to hunt up their books etc. and begin their winter term at studying.

ANOTHER SET-BACK.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Freeholders was held on Wednesday.

The principal thing considered was the road question, the advocates of which were out in full force. They presented arguments and facts to prove their position in asking for the road but all to no purpose. An effort was made to have the resolution reconsidered which postponed action till November, but that also failed. Had the Board reconsidered their action and allowed the roads asked for to be built, the county would have been spared the big expense it will be put to by the fight with the Supreme Court. The oppositionists are having their innings now, but the road improvement advocates will have theirs later on, and the county will foot the bill, made greater by the action of the honorable Board of Action Freeholders, in defying the mandate of a higher body.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
GENERAL JOHN BIDWELL,
OF CALIFORNIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
DR. J. B. CRANFILL,
OF TEXAS.

John W. Carter, of Carbondale, Ill., is another prominent man whose accession to the Prohibition Party is just reported. He has been a foremost speaker in former Republican Presidential campaigns.

Ex-Attorney General Baker, of Iowa, Judge Nourse and Judge Harvey, also of Iowa, Judge Saylor and son of Indiana, and now Carter, of Illinois, are among the prominent converts to the Prohibition party since the Cincinnati Convention. Keep the fight hot.

"Men of your make-up have cursed every age and organization. This is the sort of talk the Republican politicians of Iowa are now bestowing on ex-Attorney-General Baker. But if such men are a curse to an organization, why get a mad when they leave? You want all the "curses" removed from the Republican Party, don't you?"

Shame on the father who prefers to liquor curse his son rather than to vote against his party.

Shame on the Christian ballot that would rather help the saloon than to hurt "my party."

There are already four daily papers supporting Bidwell and Cranfill: The Des Moines (Iowa) Daily News, the Harrison (Iowa) Daily Advance, the Western (R. I.) Daily Tribune, and the Petaluma (Cal.) Daily Impulse; and in another month we hope to see a Daily Liberator of Dayton, Ohio. The Boston Traveler is not supporting our ticket, or any other, but we don't think we are violating any confidence when we say that three out of six of the Board of Directors expect to vote for Bidwell and Cranfill.

If the liquor traffic is not evil, then Christian men can consistently cast whisky party ballots. It is a sin, these men are under God's condemnation.

"I charge that the Republican party has deliberately thrown Prohibition over, and does not intend to do so in the future. I charge that which they have so loudly declared to be 'the settled policy of the State.' They are bidding for the votes of the saloon."—A. J. Baker, ex-Attorney General of Iowa (R. p.) in Des Moines Daily News.

The moderate drinker is simply a moderate drunkard. Think it over and see if he isn't.

THE CROP BULLETIN.

The observers and crop correspondents of the New Jersey Weather Service report for the week ending Monday, Aug. 22d, 1892, that the temperature and the sunshine have been above the average, with a total absence of rainfall in all sections. These conditions, following the rain of the previous week, have been favorable to the northern and western sections of the State, where the pasture fields are again looking green, and corn and other crops are much improved.

In the central portion the crops, especially corn, continue in a promising condition. Throughout the southern counties of the State the reports received show that all crops, except grapes and buckwheat, have been seriously retarded in growth and maturing by the excessive sunshine, high temperature and the absence of rainfall. In Ocean County, corn, potatoes (both vegetables), pumpkins, and in fact, all crops have been seriously injured. Lima beans in all sections where grown, are suffering from the prevailing hot and dry weather. Tomatoes, too, are seriously affected in Burlington county. In Atlantic Co. these conditions have also been unfavorable to cranberries, and the scald has already set in. In all the districts Fall plowing is well advanced, but in some sections is now being retarded owing to the hard and dry condition of the soil. From the reports already received at this office it is evident that the yield of the white potato crop will not be more than one-half the average, and that from week to week corn is rapidly nearing the average mark.

THE MOUNT HOLLY FAIR.

The Great Exhibition to be greater than ever.

For forty-five years the exhibition of the Burlington County Agricultural Society, better recognized as "The Great Mount Holly Fair," has been an annual event of more than ordinary interest. This year the exhibition opened on September 13th, continuing until the 16th, inclusive. Great preparations are being made for the management, and if hard work, honest endeavor and a liberal expenditure of money is a criterion, this will no doubt be the grandest exhibition of the kind ever given.

The railroads have arranged low rate excursions from all points, and for one week Mount Holly will be a scene of merriment, bustle, and excitement.

STORIES OF TRAVEL IN MANY LANDS.

The current issue of Alden's illustrated weekly paper, Knowledge, begins a series of illustrated sketches and stories of travel in many lands. By many travelers, which as indicated by this issue, will prove highly entertaining and instructive. This first paper, by E. G. Souier on "Peru or The Land of the Incas" and has several fine illustrations; this is devoted to personal adventures and observations; another paper will be devoted to the ancient civilization and the antiquities of Peru, some of its monuments and fortifications, dating back as far as the age of the pyramids of Egypt, being illustrated.

A specimen copy of Knowledge may be had free; the price is only 50 cents a year, amazingly cheap, as Alden's publications always are. JOHN H. ALDEN, Publisher, 67 Rine St., New York.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22, 1892.

The Canadian Government will not have a "show down" with the United States in the matter of the freight passing through the St. Lawrence Canal having been issued Saturday. It was only when President Harrison became convinced that the Canadian Government was trying to stave off a settlement of the question that he directed the Secretary of State to make public the proclamation. It is the impression here that the proclamation will soon be received, because it is believed that the Canadian Government will now when it can no longer evade the right thing by American shippers.

There is a little stir in the department of Justice over a letter received there Saturday. The letter was from Mr. J. W. Hayes, General Secretary of the Knights of Labor, and its subject was the apprehension of the United States prisoners at Boise Idaho, who are waiting trial for complicity in the recent labor riots in the mining districts. Mr. Hayes said in his letter that a prisoner named Peter Green had been a particular victim of the cruelty of the United States marines in the treatment of the prisoners at Boise Idaho.

On Wednesday afternoon at 1.15 o'clock, Chas. Brown Early, son of Chas. and Elizabeth S. Early, gently passed away from his sorrowing relatives, after a year and seven months illness, at his late home on Maple avenue. The funeral will take place from the family residence at 2.30 p.m. this [Saturday] afternoon.

Rev. I. Mench Chambers and wife, who have been visiting in Eastern for a couple of weeks, left Philadelphia, N. J., on Wednesday for the home of Mr. Chambers' parents in central Pennsylvania, where they will spend a week or ten days, and then go to Stroudsburg and rest the balance of the vacation.

"THE BEST OF CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE."

Certainly if that question is up for discussion in any household, it will be the magazine selected. From its first number in 1873, the press of the greatest writers of the English world, and the pencils of the most famous illustrators, have been at its service. Twain, Langhorne, Bryant, Thackeray, Emerson, and many others have written for it. It is a magazine for the young, and it is a magazine for the old.

BASE BALL.

The recently organized Palmyra A. A. played its first game last Saturday and were defeated by the Riverton Jrs. in an uninteresting game by a score of 14 to 6.

The Eagle base ball club visited East Park last Saturday and defeated the Laurel A. A. in an unusually exciting game by the score of 9 to 6.

This Saturday a team composed partly of the Eagles and the Palmyra A. A. will play the Lions club, of Philadelphia, at Morgan avenue, 3:45 p. m.

The Athletic club added another victory to its string last Saturday in the defeat of the Crusaders by a score of 12 to 7. The game was a repetition of the two previous ones—interesting throughout. The audience was more enthusiastic than on previous occasions, applauding at every opportunity, and they had lots of opportunities. The patronage at the grounds is on the increase, especially in the ladies' department, and the management earnestly desire that it may grow to much larger proportions before the season closes.

To-day the Century A. A., of Camden, a strong team, will be here and a good game is promised. Ladies are respectfully invited to be present.

NOTES.

Miller is a good coach.

Miskey is a crack all-around player. Wimer is a crack short-stop.

Holbrook is a good first baseman. Beckenbach is an excellent thrower.

Sheffer covers lots of ground at second.

The Eagles have lost no games yet.

PICNIC AND STRAWRIDE.

Last Saturday afternoon quite a large party of our citizens went on a picnic to Cedar Lake in two hay wagons, furnished by Mr. George L. Miller, of Parry. They left the town on the arrival of the 1:40 train, and had a delightful time playing croquet and other games. A few bathed in the placid lake and some strolled over the hilly slopes and through the shady woods that border on the romantic Pensuaken.

About six o'clock the baskets were unpacked at a bounteous feast was spread in the grove near the edge of the beautiful lake and all did full justice to the tempting meal.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. V. McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Meager, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Aus-worth, Mr. and Mrs. Fannon, Mr. and Mrs. Greaser, Miss Flora Meager and Miss Matthews, of Baltimore, Miss Ida Shaddock, Mr. Wm. Weaver and Mr. Hulse, of Philadelphia, Mr. Walter Slackhouse and a large number of little folks.

About dusk, the party, through the kindness of Mr. Miller, were given a very pleasant ride of six miles around the township through Pomona, Westfield and Riverton and along the river bank back to their homes. All were well pleased with their trip.

MOORESTOWN.

THORNTON C. HIRES,

115 W. BROAD ST., PALMYRA, N. J.

TRI-PHOSA is an article, the manufacturers of which claim will largely supercede the use of ammonia for household purposes. They claim that for the toilet and bath it is both invigorating and refreshing, and for general household purposes it surpasses all other preparations as a cleanser of dirt and grease. It has no unpleasant odor about it, on the contrary it is fragrant and does not lose its virtue by evaporation. Fifteen cents per bottle.

AMMONIA of the full strength of 16 degrees is something very unusual to find on the market in the ordinary ten cent bottle. If you get 14 degrees you are getting as strong as is generally put up, and there is any quantity of it that will not show this strength. Our "Home-stand Ammonia" is put up full sixteen degrees and if you find it stronger than you have been accustomed to using, you can easily reduce it by the addition of water to any strength desired. 10 cents per bottle.

WORCESTER SALT always proves the most satisfactory even though it cost a little more money than the common kind. It is both cleaner and stronger. 2 1/2 lb. bag 5 cents, 5 lb. bag 9 cents.

THE FINEST LIQUID BLUE is a large bottle of excellent blue which is universally satisfactory as to quality and more than satisfactory as to price. You generally pay 10 cents for the same size bottle. We sell it at 5 cents.

WASHING SODA should find its way into every home where they believe in it when it can be bought at the rate of 3 lbs. for 5 cents. Soaps and Washing Powders in very great variety, and at prices in most cases below what you will pay elsewhere. As for instance, Babbitt's 4 1/2 cents, Dreydoppe's Borax 8 cents, Brook's Crystal 4 1/2 cents, Ivory (large size) 7 1/2 cents, Siddall's 8 cents, Pearline 4 cents, Soapine 4 cents, Ivoryine 4 cents, 1776 Powder 3 1/2 cents.

The above goods are homely and not particularly interesting or novel in themselves, except so far as the prices go. But at the same time they are articles you are using all the time, and while it is true that the slight difference on a single article is very trifling, the aggregate purchases of a year or six months would show an astonishing amount particularly when the same relative difference is maintained on most of the goods you are buying.

These things simply serve to indicate to you what we can do from the completest stock of groceries exclusively to which you have access in this vicinity. Prices are always low and in most cases lower than elsewhere.

H. K. READ.

American People Love to be Independent.

It has always been a well authenticated fact that the best system upon which to do business was the cash system. And neither is it a one-sided affair, but is an equal benefit to the purchaser as well as the one disposing of the merchandise. 1st. When we deal on the book system our bill seems to run up very fast. 2d. We are apt to feel we are paying a little too much for the quality of goods we get. 3d. If we see a good thing at another store we do not feel as if we could get it because we deal on book at Mr. Credit's store. These things with many more of a similar character,
