FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Far-called our naves melt away—
On dune and headland sinks the fire—
Lo, all our pomp of yesterday
Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!
Judge of the Nations, spare us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

RUDDARD KILPING.

The Supreme Court of the United States seems to have cleared the way for successful attack upon the Trusts. If the railway companies cannot legally combine to prevent ruinous competition it is hard to see how the other Trusts, big and little, will be able to maintain themselves. There was a large measure of justification for the existence of the Joint Traffic Association of the railroad companies, which submitted itself to a broad interpretation of the interstate commerce regulations than for combinations having the single object of enlarging their profits by restricting trade and production.

The invitation which our Government has received from the British Embassy to take part in the West Australian International Mining Exposition, which is to open in March next, is something more in effect than a diplomatic courtesy, since it practically opens a door to American skill and enterprise whereby those identified with our mining interests may enter with renewed encouragement upon a large market. The recent exposition of similar character held on the Pacific coast showed the many advantages which American inventive talent has made in the production and reduction of ores; and the extension of these improvements to the Australian field would prove an international advantage by no means to be restricted to economic lines.

Since we can now, with our cheap iron and steel and wonderfully effective labor and machinery, build cheaper steamships than our foreign competitors, it is claimed with some show of reason by the advocates of subsidies or equivalent tonnage discrimination that there is no further motive for changing our Navigation laws so as to give our shippers the advantage of free registry and free ships. This is a great mistake. It needs the compulsive force of foreign competition to open the market for ships, and keep it open. Our Navigation laws put a premium upon monopoly, and bar the way to our re-entry upon the business of international maritime enterprise. In so far as the loss of our foreign carrying trade is concerned we are the victims of our own stupidity and greed.

Perfect order does not mean perfect quietness. Where there is activity there must be some noise, but it is the noise of business. I admire well regulated activity. To judge how quiet a school, a teacher speaking in a gentle conversational tone should be easily understood in any part of the room. There should be no lip slip whatever. No noise should be heard in the school room except the teacher's and the voice of the pupil reciting.

The habit of allowing children to be constantly assisting each other is a foe to the success of the pupil. It encourages a pupil to whisper to his neighbor to obtain help. It is better for the teacher in assigning a lesson to judge where help is necessary, and readily explain the difficult parts to the whole class. This should be done if possible when the lesson is assigned or at an early period. The skillful teacher must use great judgment in the matter of explanation. It is as easy to go to one extreme as to the other.

Make but few rules and forbid still less to the older pupils for many rules are hard to remember, besides the habit of forbidding indicates the teacher governs in words rather than in deeds.

If we can get a child oblivious to his surroundings when at his work we will have but little difficulty in governing him.

There is a vast difference between school discipline and military discipline as there is a wide gulf between the court-martial and the civil court. The one has the war spirit which is too often exciting to measure justice, the other has the normal spirit, seldom ever rash.

I observe the "Light" question continues to be paramount to any other in the mind of many residents, their seems to be a universal feeling that "Palmyra" is in need of street lights, being far behind neighboring towns in this direction, of course there may be a few scattering dissenters, who never want anything especially "light" but the world will move and it is hoped it will move light side up that there fellows may get an improvement on the present system of lighting without cost.

I observe some member of the kicker family has complained of "Rube" who appeared in the Jubilee procession claiming that Palmyra should not be burdened that it is not a farming community but a community of bankers, artisans and the like, well, be that as it may, it is certain that the little community of Westfield out among the farmers has "pluck" enough to have wires strung for electric lights for their roadways while Palmyra sits in the darkness of night to and from their habitations.

I observe that the corner of London England, while holding an inquest over the remains of the late Harold Frederic who expired while under the influence of Christian Science treatment, in reply to a witness who said that she believed the law of God is applicable to healing, developing her theories to the extent of arguing that Christ never sent the sick to physicians. Said—no certainly not because he was the greatest of all physicians. Christ had a power which those Christian Scientists are trying to usurp. They are trying to make themselves equal unto God and declared that he could not help thinking that some of the people would be much better, and very much safer, if they were confined in a lunatic asylum instead of carrying out such absurd and ridiculous ideas. If there are any of this sect left in Palmyra where the effect of their peevish practices has been felt they should congratulate the corner for such sound advice.

I observe the U. S. Supreme Court has decided the Sherman Anti-Trust law is constitutional. This law provides that every contract combination in the form of trust or otherwise, conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or with foreign nations is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such punishments, in the discretion of the court. As far as it goes it is a great victory for the people but we want to know what the Attorney General and his associates in New Jersey are going to do about it. What every voter should know is where his assemblyman and senator times up on the subject of trusts. Every man who has pride for his country and home should denounce these infamous trusts that will soon sap the life of the nation. 156 is the stupendous figure that confronts us as the numbers of these monopolies.

On the night of November 13th, 14th and 15th look for a dazzling display of fireworks in the sky from 11 P. M. until morning.

When you meet the teacher of a primary school list your hat reverently. She is the good angel of the republic. This woman takes a cartload of little bantlings whose mothers send them to school to get rid of them, and though each child is such an anarchist that neither father nor mother can get along with them, she makes useful citizens out of most of them.

DISCIPLINE IN SCHOOL.

Extracts from Dr. Gray's address to the Palmyra Teachers November 1st.

The end or government in the family is to secure order, mutual affection, and the general welfare for its members. The good fathers and mothers seek to have their children obey not through fear of punishment, but because the children love their parents and love to do right. The family government, if good, undoubtedly is helpful to the school. An ideal community (if such exists) where every family is thoroughly disciplined by parental love and respect is auxiliary to the discipline of the school located therein.

I do not wish to be understood that the discipline is secure, but I do say it is largely helpful to it. The school under such happy circumstances should continue the discipline thus bestowed and enlarge its usefulness. Nor do I wish to say that moral and pious parents always have obedient boys and girls; but that good boys and girls necessarily possess good parents.

Such laws of moral inheritance have never been universal; but I do wish to say that the influence of good homes is potentially felt in the school room as well as in every function of government.

I often wonder how many parents are helping in the training of the rising generation.

Every wise parent is a protector of the teachers prerogative. The teachers and the profession at a great price, and the profession has sealed the sacred covenant to the right and privilege thus acquired. They are here to give force and precision in her executive capacity. Do you not know that a teacher shorn of those rights, is sent forth to her work, like the unarmed and unfed soldier to fight his country's battles.

I wish to express upon teachers they owe a duty to the rising in that they must be vigilant are the children fall in to telling untruths. To establish telling truth among children we must impress the duty of confessing to a wrong. This is helpful and elevating to the child as well as the adult. "Open confession is good for the soul." Teach them that a person cannot be honest in the highest conception of the term without a life of candor. I fear parents in this busy age forget to teach their children the duty of the days of our fathers. The pupil years ago put emphasis on truth telling. It does still, but not as often as it should.

Perfect order does not mean perfect quietness. Where there is activity there must be some noise, but it is the noise of business. I admire well regulated activity. To judge how quiet a school, a teacher speaking in a gentle conversational tone should be easily understood in any part of the room. There should be no lip slip whatever. No noise should be heard in the school room except the teacher's and the voice of the pupil reciting.

The habit of allowing children to be constantly assisting each other is a foe to the success of the pupil. It encourages a pupil to whisper to his neighbor to obtain help. It is better for the teacher in assigning a lesson to judge where help is necessary, and readily explain the difficult parts to the whole class. This should be done if possible when the lesson is assigned or at an early period. The skillful teacher must use great judgment in the matter of explanation. It is as easy to go to one extreme as to the other.

Make but few rules and forbid still less to the older pupils for many rules are hard to remember, besides the habit of forbidding indicates the teacher governs in words rather than in deeds.

If we can get a child oblivious to his surroundings when at his work we will have but little difficulty in governing him.

There is a vast difference between school discipline and military discipline as there is a wide gulf between the court-martial and the civil court. The one has the war spirit which is too often exciting to measure justice, the other has the normal spirit, seldom ever rash.

I observe the "Light" question continues to be paramount to any other in the mind of many residents, their seems to be a universal feeling that "Palmyra" is in need of street lights, being far behind neighboring towns in this direction, of course there may be a few scattering dissenters, who never want anything especially "light" but the world will move and it is hoped it will move light side up that there fellows may get an improvement on the present system of lighting without cost.

I observe some member of the kicker family has complained of "Rube" who appeared in the Jubilee procession claiming that Palmyra should not be burdened that it is not a farming community but a community of bankers, artisans and the like, well, be that as it may, it is certain that the little community of Westfield out among the farmers has "pluck" enough to have wires strung for electric lights for their roadways while Palmyra sits in the darkness of night to and from their habitations.

I observe that the corner of London England, while holding an inquest over the remains of the late Harold Frederic who expired while under the influence of Christian Science treatment, in reply to a witness who said that she believed the law of God is applicable to healing, developing her theories to the extent of arguing that Christ never sent the sick to physicians. Said—no certainly not because he was the greatest of all physicians. Christ had a power which those Christian Scientists are trying to usurp. They are trying to make themselves equal unto God and declared that he could not help thinking that some of the people would be much better, and very much safer, if they were confined in a lunatic asylum instead of carrying out such absurd and ridiculous ideas. If there are any of this sect left in Palmyra where the effect of their peevish practices has been felt they should congratulate the corner for such sound advice.

I observe the U. S. Supreme Court has decided the Sherman Anti-Trust law is constitutional. This law provides that every contract combination in the form of trust or otherwise, conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or with foreign nations is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such punishments, in the discretion of the court. As far as it goes it is a great victory for the people but we want to know what the Attorney General and his associates in New Jersey are going to do about it. What every voter should know is where his assemblyman and senator times up on the subject of trusts. Every man who has pride for his country and home should denounce these infamous trusts that will soon sap the life of the nation. 156 is the stupendous figure that confronts us as the numbers of these monopolies.

On the night of November 13th, 14th and 15th look for a dazzling display of fireworks in the sky from 11 P. M. until morning.

TWO MEN.

I met one day upon my way,

Two men of whom I knew;

One weighed at least two hundred pounds,

He had no charms of voice or face,

He scowled when he was seen;

He loved to meet and hear all day,

And so, despite his size, you see,

Little great men he be.

The other man is short and thin,

And weighs, at most, five score;

But when you look him in the face,

He has a smile and a word to help

His struggling fellow man.

And of his love and gold, smooth,

He gives what he can.

And so, despite his size, you see,

A great big little man he be.

Resolve for once and all,

What's the matter of wrong or pain,

Is nothing more than a trial,

And then you'll find and know the way

To reach life's true joys.

For great big little men, in truth,

Are great big little boys.

A WOMAN'S MERCY.

"Have you written anything lately?"

She knew his great success almost by heart in spite of the question.

"Nothing very good. A novel that is trying to write down to that level myself."

He looked at her disapprovingly—

almost sternly. He had put his heart into the book.

"I do not think that is the surest way of success."

She laughed scornfully. "Perhaps not for a genius. But I am not one,

as was pointed out by a great critic

once."

"Probably, he would now admit that he was mistaken. Time may have taught him that your idea of a woman was truer than he supposed. Time," he sighed, "destroys a good many of our notions."

"Great critics should be free from illusions."

"My illusion of woman's goodness is not quite gone nevertheless. I remember my mother sometimes as well as —he paused awkwardly.

"Other women?"

"Another woman. A beautiful woman without money," he corrected, looking hungrily at her.

"I suppose you mean a woman whom you treated badly and from whom you deserved no mercy?" she said, leaning her elbow on the couch, and putting her cheek on her hand. There was just the faintest pink flush upon her cheeks, and—

"My God, how pretty she is!" the man groaned to himself.

"I am sorry—very sorry—to see you looking so fragile," he said, as if he had not heard her question. "May we not have a truce? Let me fetch you a glass of wine—or anything?" she shook her head.

"There is nothing the matter," said

she. "Only I am not strong and things

hurt me. Writing is too much for me,

I suppose. If I could write one really good book, one that the great critics

—he rose angrily. "No, no, please don't go. I am not aiming at you

now. One that good judges would praise, I mean—I would give up writing and be content."

"The good judges?" You want their praise? The men who also dare to condemn?"

"Yes, when they condemn."

"Then, I suppose it is all right.

It is just enough. Oh, yes! I know it is just. But it nearly kills me!" She laughed hysterically. "Absurd, isn't it?"

"He looked at her very compassionately. "You are too excitable. Forget me for saying so, but you have altered very much during this last year. You look overworked, over-worried, over wrought. You must rest or you will never write your great book."

"I do not. I said from the first that you had ability—even in the criticism which hurt—which hurt you" (she dug

her nails passionately into her little white palms), "and for which you have taken the fullest revenge in your power."

He smiled a wintry smile and would have looked bitterly at her if he could.

"I don't suppose it hurt you much?"

she inquired, with a strange wistful-ness. If he read her as he read women in his books, he simply would have taken her in his arms. But he merely felt a thrill of horror at her revenge-fulness—a mental shudder that such a soft, fair, small creature should wish to

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

One may be better than his reputation or his conduct, but never better than his principles.—LATINA.

The young man who is petted too much at home is seldom any good.
What is wanted now-a-days is a practical man who can do something else
besides smoke cigarettes and twist a cane.
The time to learn to work and to learn business habits is in one's youth. He who leads the life of a butterfly until he is twenty-five or thirty years of age, and then recognizes the fact that he made an ass of himself, has precious little to recommend him when he applies for a job. This may be a "cheat-nut" but it fits not a few men of every city in the Union. The boys who are in the farm are better off, if they only know it, than thousands of the boys who are at large. There is nothing like doing practical, and there is but one way to do so. Acquire business habits and train yourself to good, honest, hard work. Don't waste your time learning to tie a cravat. You can buy cravats already tied.

Business is reviving in every department of trade. The retailers in all the large cities are feeling the effects and are beginning to realize that while business might be better, there is every reason to believe that the improvement is a perfectly healthy one made so by returning confidence. Our own merchants may share in this revival if they will but make use of the means to that end. Now is the time to let purchasers know where they are, what they have to offer them. The time has gone by when a retailer, whatever field of trade he may occupy, can afford to sit with folded hands and wait for business to come to him. Competition is far too keen for that, and there are so many others constantly alert to take advantage of every opportunity to outdo him that he must be prepared to be the one who rarely get left, and who get the cream of whatever trade is going. Now is the time to follow their examples, to imitate them in the matter of advertising, which is the master key of their notable success.

RIVERTON.

Ogden Steele is proud of his little son.

Mrs. Geo. Faust is visiting her son in New York.

Mrs. Curtis has re-occupied her house, on Elm avenue.

Miss Mamie Corner has resumed her position in the Post office.

The display of chrysanthemums grows more brilliant every day.

L. Corner is laying the asphalt block pavement on Broad street.

J. S. Bioren's house, on Main street,
has been repaired by S. J. Coddington.

Mrs. D. P. Corcoran, of Philadelphia, visited friends here on Wednesday.

Miss Rosalie Zisk returned home
on Sunday after spending two months in Philadelphia.

Mr. Frank Davis, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with his brother H. H.
Ferguson Davis.

The lodge of Shepherds of Bethlehem, gave a very successful supper on Wednesday night.

Mr. Pfeiffer, of Camden, has moved to S. Roddow's house, vacated by the Warrington family.

Atlantic City is the place selected for holding the New Jersey Annual Conference in March next.

Chas. Reinhard has moved from the Crosta house to one of E. H. Pannocci's houses, on East Main street.

Mrs. Rippenberger, of Fulton street, gave her daughter, Francis, and a number of friends a party on Tuesday evening.

The box of good things sent from Riverton to the soldier boys at Camp
Meade was received in good condition and was very much appreciated.

The Riverton foot ball team defeated the Woodbury's last Saturday in an exciting game by a score of 5-0.
This Saturday they expect to go to Phoenixville, Pa.

The latest swindle in Jersey is a fellow with a supply of lime beans saturated with oil of cinnamon, which he sells at 10 cents apiece, with the story that his brother brought a quantity from Manila, and that they are a sure protection against moths.

Entomologist John B. Smith, of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, at New Brunswick, has just issued a circular descriptive of the Angoumois grain moth, the parent of the kernel
caterpillar, which eats into the kernel, rendering it unfit for use. Remedial measures are recommended and Prof.
Smith will send the circular to farmers
upon request.

A certificate of incorporation of The Bertram Hyatt Company, of Beverly, has been filed in the County Clerk's office, the object of which is to carry on the business of printing, lithographing and engraving. The authorized capital stock is $50,000, divided into 2,000 shares of $25 each. The incorporators are Victor A. Bertram, Marvin E. Clark and Franklin C. Paxon, Philadelphia; James P. Bryan and Morris R. H. Levin, Beverly.

The handsome boat house belonging to the property of John Kelly, proprietor of the National Theatre of Philadelphia, who has a summer residence at Delanco, was burned down last night about 10 o'clock. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. Mr. Kelly removed his family to Philadelphia some time since and there was no one about the place at the time. The house contained several valuable boats, and the loss will amount to considerable.

One of the largest transactions ever consummated in life insurance in the United States, and undoubtedly the largest credited to the State of New Jersey, was closed last week by the Prudential Insurance Company of America. It was in the shape of an insurance of $400,000 of partnership insurance in favor of four members of the firm of Hahn & Co., proprietors of the Newark department store. The first annual premium of over $13,000 has just been paid and the policies delivered.

On Saturday Judge Gaskill sentenced George Brown and John Demchur to one year each in the state prison.
These are the two men who attempted highway robbery on the person of Louis Lowden, of Riverton, and who drawing a two-foot rifle from his pocket, pointed it at the highwayman, commanded him to throw up his hands and in the dark he marched them to the office of a justice and placed them under arrest. Brown is from respectable parents residing at Washington, D. C. He is a man of weak mind, having only accidentally fallen in with Demchur, he was not considered guilty by the jury, but it was necessary to try them together. A pair of brass knuckles was found on Demchur. Efforts will at once be made to secure a pardon for Brown.

THE DANCE.

The dance given in the Riverton Lyceum, Wednesday evening, was a great success. The hall was a bower of ferns and flowers. The music was furnished by Cook's Orchestra and was finer than usual.

The Patronesses were: Mrs. E. H.
Ogden, Mrs. E. B. Shovel, Mrs. J. B.
M. Shovel, Mrs. J. C. W. Frisbush,
Mrs. Thomas Roberts, Mrs. Joshua
Atlee, Mrs. C. M. Biddle, Mrs. H. C.
Biddle, Mrs. Theodore W. Reath, Mrs.
George W. B. Roberts and Miss Martha Biddle.

Among those participating were the Misses Biddle, the Misses Frisbush, Miss Peoples, Miss Gotschall, the Misses Smythe, Miss Needles, the Misses Woolman, Miss Thomas, Miss Bunting, Miss Cole, the Misses Walnut, the Misses Solomon, Miss Latta, Miss Lett, Miss Bertram, the Misses
Johnson, Joshua Atlee, James
Coale, E. Sutton, John Hovey, Leon
Wicks, John J. Reese, Mr. Potts C. B.
Brooksbank, the Messrs. Biddle, Mr.
Huckle, the Messrs. Righter, Mr.
Solomon, Mr. Cornelious and N.
Meyers Filer.

BOROUGH BUSINESS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council was held on Thursday evening. The Mayor and Councilmen Thomas and Hardman were not present.

The Treasurer reported a balance of $347.27 in the treasury.

The Finance Committee reported
regarding the Main street sidewalk delinquents. Upon the advice of the Solicitor the Borough Collector will bring action against delinquents
after December 17th.

The Highway Committee reported work done since last meeting. Upon its recommendation a truck was ordered to pull the surface water over into the sewer outlet in Palmyra.

The Sewer Committee handled in the report of the Borough Engineer on the sewer plan, which had been returned to the engineer. It was decided not to pass the Sewer Ordinance until after the special election.

The ordinance changing the names of the alleys to "roads" was taken up on final passage and adopted.

Mr. MacCarroll called attention to the ordinance requiring board walks to be down November 1st, not being observed. The Highway committee was ordered to have them enforced.

Genl James reported that the barn and outbuildings of the Law house were infested by tramps and children and that three fires had occurred there within a week; beer was also seen to be left there. He considered it a nuisance and thought it should be abated. The Marshall and special officer were ordered to take the matter in hand and the owner was ordered notified of the matter.

Bills were ordered paid as follows:
George Faust, Marshall salary, $33.33
Charles Armstrong, solicitor, 40.00
Novelty Electric Company, supplies, 2.20
Public Ledger advertising, 21.40
Crew, Lewis & Co., oil, 20.00
James Cunningham, work, 2.50
W. L. Bowen, printing, 15.40
Cinnaminson Electric Light Company
one light in front of Five House one month.

The bill of the Riverton and Palmyra Water Co., of $330, was laid over until next meeting.

Adjourned.

To Cure Catarrh

Do not depend upon snuff, inhalants or other local applications. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and can be successfully treated only by means of a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood and removes the scrofulous taint which causes catarrh. The great number of testimonials from those who have been cured of catarrh by Hood's Sarsaparilla prove the unequalled power of this medicine to conquer this disease. It troubled with Catarrh give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial
at once.

Astronomers predict a great shower of meteors on the evenings of November 13 and 27.

Cheap Coffees Are Not Always Cheap in the Long Run.

They sometimes mean doctor bills. In order to make coffee a perfectly wholesome drink it should be thoroughly cleaned before roasting, which is not done in cheaper grades. The

HOME BRAND JAVA COFFEE

is not only thoroughly cleaned and scoured before roasting, but it is packed in one pound non-metallic boxes thereby preserving its flavor and also keeping it free from dirt, disease and the influence of the atmosphere.

IN THE SUNSHINE.

Al! we never miss the sunshine Till the storm clouds roll again, And we never miss the dear love Till we see the cold dead face;

And our hearts are seldom melted Till the voice is hushed and still, Of the loved one we have walked with Up the pathway of life's hill!

Let us linger in life's sunshine Till the last glad ray departs, Let the twilight and the dawning Link the closer trusting hearts;

Then each morning will be brighter For the sunshine that hath been, And life's burden will be lighter For the sympathies between.

O! to speak some words of kindness In the ear of human woe, In the eyes to stony blindness Of the groping ones below;

So the touch of tender fingers In the throbbing breast of pain, In the sweet of life that lingers Ere we turn to earth again!

WHERE THE DANGER LIES.

"Not broken off the engagement?" cried Sylvia Denton, breathlessly.

"Oh, Kate! And he's the handsomest fellow I ever saw in my life!"

"Yes," said Kate Harley, quietly; "he's a very handsome man."

"What has he been doing?" persisted inquisitive Sylvia. "Flirting with another girl? They all do that, my dear."

"No."

"Gambling? Playing cards? You must make some allowance, Kate, for men who have no home, except a hotel must be amused."

"I have heard no such accusations brought against him," said Kate, coolly.

"What is it then? Do speak out, Kate Harley, and not keep a poor girl in suspense."

"Because, Sylvia, I feared he was falling into the grooves of habitual drinking," Miss Harley answered with an evident effort. "Because I have a horror too great to be described of such bores."

"And was that all?"

"That was all."

"Kate," said Sylvia Denton, deliberately, "I think you are the greatest fool I ever knew in my life. All men drink. You yourself would despise one who did not, and be the first to characterize him as a sinner."

"On the contrary, I should respect him beyond expression."

"My brother-in-law, always with wine on the table," went on Sylvia, impulsively. "We invariably have champagne at our little evening gatherings; and I challenge you to have a better man or a kinder husband than Edmund Avery!"

"It is possible said Kate. "But in that case he is the exception, and not the rule. I have seen too many cases of young men being led to ruin by the glass offered in open handed hospitality, the decanter ever at hand, to approve of wine always on the table."

"You are as old fashioned as Methusalem's eldest daughter in your doctrines," retorted Sylvia, half laughing, half vexed. "I, for my part, should think no more of finding fault with Hervey Morrison because he takes an occasional glass of wine, than because his mistake is black instead of brown."

Kate smiled rather sadly.

"That is your affair, and not mine," said she. "I am not willing to risk it."

And Sylvia Denton went home and raised a general laugh at the dinner table of her pretty, blooming sister, at the ridiculous quibbling of Katharine Harley.

"She'll not get another offer like Hartford," said Mrs. Avery. "But Kate always had a streak of eccentricity about her."

"She had better go into a convent at once and be done with it," said Edmund Avery, contemptuously. "No, Kate, old boy" (to his eldest son, a fine lad of fourteen), "one glass of claret is enough for a slip like you. As I was saying, I've no tolerance for such extremists. I hope, Sylvia, you don't intend to follow your friend's example."

"I'll indeed," cried Sylvia, with a toss of her pretty head. "I am willing to satisfy myself with an ordinary man possessed of man's feelings. I don't expect to discover perfection. And neither do I believe in finding fault with trifles."

It was scarcely a week after this domestic discussion that Charles Avery came to his mother and scooped her in a mysterious whisper:

"Mamma, Bill Stickney is coming up from Pleasantville to spend the day in New York. I should like a holiday to show him around town. We used to be best mates at old Middleton's school."

"Very well, dear," said the indulgent mother, "I'll send a note of excuse to Dr. Lessonwell."

"And, mamma, can I take him to Barnott's for lunch? It's so much more jolly than coming home, you know. Just for once, mamma, dear—and I'll tell old Barnott to charge it to your bill."

"Yes, if you like," said Mrs. Avery, secretly proud of Master Charles's spirit and enterprise.

The same day Miss Denton, who had been shopping for a new blue silk party dress, chanced to meet Kate Harley just opposite the plate glass door and decorated windows of Barnott's fashionable restaurant.

"Dear Kate, do come in with me," said Sylvia, laying her perfectly kitted hand on Kate's arm. "I'm dying for a cup of chocolate and an oyster stew. Come in, and I'll show you a sample of the sweet shade of blue I've been buying, and ask you advice about how to have the corset cut."

"Here's a nice, secluded little table," said Sylvia, as they entered the restaurant, pointing to one surrounded by a semi-circular velvet sofa, and luxuriously seating herself. "Dear me, what a cozy crew is that opposite! Why, good gracious—it's our Charles!"

Charles Avery it was, seated with a boy of about his own age at a table diagonally opposite, loaded with all the dainties in and out of season which Barnott's larder could supply. A waiter stood grinning opposite, and M. Barnott himself was evidently recommending with his young customers.

"But Monsieur Charles has had enough already," he said. "Look—two bottles of de Veuve (Aigout) are enough for two boys. Monsieur, your papa would make of the great objection, could he know. Be satisfied, Monsieur Charles."

"Now look here, Barnott, that's all judge," said Charles Avery, whose thick voice and flushed cheeks denoted that the little Frenchman was right in his deductions. "Give us another bottle, and look sharp about it! Just as it was a country pig unused to wine! Why, we have it on our table every day."

Barnott shook his head.

"I should be pleased much to oblige," said he, "but M. Charles has had too much already. Take the word of an old campaigner that one more bottle would make you what you call—drunk."

"You are an old fool," said Charles, starting up—but the very motion betrayed that he was unsteady on his legs. "If I want champagne, I'll have it! And—"

"Monsieur," whispered the Frenchman to Charles's companion, "if you are wise get a carriage and take M. Charles home. He has already drunk too much. When he gets in the air it will go into his head, buzz—buzz, like one top spinning itself! Ah, he would rather ruin himself than be a fool!"

"Charles," came home," urged Billy Stickney, an honest, heavy featured fellow, who had not indulged with the freedom of his friend. "It's most time for me to take the train, too!"

"I won't go home," cried Charles, huskily. "Why, we've only just begun to enjoy ourselves. Bill! What a muff you are!"

But Sylvia Denton came hurriedly forward at this juncture of affairs.

"Charles," said she, "if you don't go home at once, I'll send a policeman after you! How dare you conduct yourself so disgracefully in a public place like this! Have you no atom of pride and decency left?"

And Charles, who stood in some awe of his Aunt Sylvia's authority, sullenly obeyed.

Sylvia returned to her friend to sip with what little appetite remained to her, the fruiting chocolate, served in painted cups as translucent as egg shells.

"And this," she said to herself, "is what comes of teaching boys to accustom themselves to the daily use of wine!"

While she was thinking thus the voices of two gentlemen in an adjoining room broke in upon her meditation. Evidently they, too, had not been unobservant of this little episode, and it had suggested some kindred topic to their minds.

"It's becoming altogether too universal," said one, a fine looking, gray haired man of sixty or thereabouts. "Now, there's that young Morrison—did you know that Meredith & Son had decided to dismiss him from his place as cashier in their establishment?"

"No."

"Upon that very account. He is getting to drink so constantly that they don't feel as if they could trust him any longer. It's a bad beginning for a young man, you know—leads to all sorts of other dissatisfactions, and one never knows what may be the end of it. I'm sorry for him myself; he's a fine young fellow, but I could not feel justified in recommending him to any other firm under all the circumstances. Won't you have another cup of coffee? No! Well, then, we may as well be moving."

Sylvia and Kate heard all this—Sylvia with deeply crimsoned cheeks, and Kate half sorry for her friend's distress and mortification, half glad that she was beginning to be undeceived so completely.

"Kate," said Sylvia, as at last they arose to go, "you were right when—where you rejected Basil Hartford; I never knew before how right."

Two good results eventuated from this day's happenings. One was the banishment of wines from the daily table of the Avery's and the reorganization of Master Charles's education on an entirely new basis; the other was Sylvia Denton's firm but quiet refusal to see her lover again until he had signed the temperance pledge.

Hervey Morrison was not so far gone but that he could see his own impending danger, and he did sign the pledge. Aye, and kept it too.

"Sylvia," he said, years afterward, "you were my salvation."

It was the truth.

WEATHER SIGNS.

Tree grow dark before a storm.

After a warm autumn a long winter.

A clear autumn brings a windy winter.

It will surely rain if moles cast up hills.

The more snow the healthier the season.

A green Christmas makes a white Easter.

Three white frosts will bring a storm every time.

If it rains before seven it will cease before eleven.

When worms are seen in winter expect plenty of snow.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

To have what we want is richer, but to be able to do without is power.

GEORGE MACDONALD.

Henry I. Budd, State Commissioner of Stone Roads, has just returned from Long Island, and advocates the use of fine sand upon the surface of the new roads, as is done in that locality.

He also endorses the idea of Ezra Lippincott, that all drivers keep out of the rut; that is each team go more to one side so as to make the wear more even upon the whole surface of the road.

There is no substitute for the local paper. It occupies ground that no other publication can successfully cover.

Scientists are now asserting that the earth is drying up, and a good many people wish daily that some talkative individual or other would follow its example.

Some enterprise may be languishing, but the local columns of the city papers show that the buccino man is flourishing. It is an old day that he does not swindle a farmer who cannot afford to subscribe for a newspaper.

Good roads have a wonderful effect. They increase the value of farm lands, cheapen the cost of transportation, attract the hospitalities of the people, attract travel and business, fill up the school-houses and churches, and advance civilization and religion.

A queer year, this! Winter in the summer time and summer in the early winter. November sparring with April for the palm of fitchness. Still, as they say in the streets and on the stage the stars still shine and "don't you care." It won't make any difference whether you care or not.

The newspapers of this section pretty generally agree that "one of the greatest nuisances that farmers have to contend with in this section is the parties who chase over their farms with a gun and tear down more fences for a ten-cent rabbit than can be repaired by two dollars' worth of labor. No person has a right to trespass upon the lands of another for any purpose whatever."

Young man, look out for mother. You will never again have so true or kind a friend. Should her origin be simple think not of that, remember that she is the noblest work of our God and is your mother. Make her path through life as easy as you possibly can. Do not forget that she bore you, cared for you and tried to satisfy your every childish whim. When you grow to manhood be a manly man to others, but always "my boy" to mother.

It is said that President McKinley proposes to make a recommendation to Congress that the civil service rules be so amended as to direct that preference be given to veterans of the Spanish war as well as the civil war in appointments to all Government offices. Anticipating the adoption of the President's recommendation, Secretary Long will issue an amendment to the navy yard regulations within a few days directing that in the employment of labor preference be given, as in the case of veterans of the rebellion, to men who served in the Spanish war. This order contemplates that preference be shown first to those wounded in battle or who were actually at the front.

Composition will always be popular. The boy who can jump higher or run faster than his playmates is a juvenile hero. In the rural districts, laurels await the best corn husker, or the man who can surpass his comrades in the harvest field. Old printers remember the famous typesetting contests of former days, and there is on crossroad that has not traditions of some noted horse-hooper. A trial of strength, skill or quickness in any rational sport or honest occupation is creditable to the participants. Unfortunately, when such competitions become popular, variety shows present rivalries of a different nature. A pie eating match is not an elevating spectacle. No great benefit results from learning who can eat the greatest number of oysters, or swallow the largest quantity of liquor in a time. The first man to consume the quart of whiskey usually dines, and while the community is not ruined by the loss, the tendency of such contests is low and brutalizing. There is a broad line between legitimate contests and contests that only mean gluttony and drunkenness.

RIVERTON.

Christmas shopping has begun.

Ogden Steele has named his boy George Dewey.

Roberts' store closes Thanksgiving at 11 o'clock, A. M.

The Misses Thomas are home from the George School this week.

The almanac for 1899 are beginning to make their appearance.

Miss Katie Holvick spent several days this week in Philadelphia.

Mr. Rianhard, Sr., does not improve in health as fast as was hoped for.

Mrs. C. P. Bush, of Thomas avenue, has been sick but is now improved.

A package party was given at the home of Rev. C. P. Butler on Monday night.

Robert Biddle, Jr., new house, on the Lippincott tract, is nearing completion.

Miss Lucy Bradshaw entertained two lady friends from Philadelphia over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ogden have returned home after a few days at Atlantic City.

The Girls' Friendly Society paid a visit to the Society at Burlington on Thursday evening.

The book-keeping and drawing classes, that meet in the Parish House are progressing nicely.

Thos. Hurley has fixed Elm avenue, below Fourth, at a trifling cost, so that a culvert will not be needed.

Clarence Bowers expects to move to one of the Bickley houses on Cinnaminson street, in the near future.

It is not too early to suggest thinking about what you intend giving the loved ones as a Christmas gift.

Joseph Denner expects to move from Cinnaminson street to Thirty-first and Berks, Philadelphia, next week.

Messrs. J. W. and Ezra M. Perkins wheeled to Trenton on Sunday where they spent the day with relatives.

Edwood Wood and Howard Lippincott are spending the week on the Eastern shore of Mungatun, gunning.

The Misses Walnut and Miss Rees gave a large and very successful dance at the Lyceum on Wednesday evening.

The many friends of Charles Thomas are very much pleased that he has been promoted to First Lieutenant of Co. N, Third Regiment.

The reading class had a very successful meeting on Thursday night. The subject was John Wesley in charge of Mrs. Thomas Roberts.

Miss Bertha Lippincott gave a very pretty luncheon on Thursday for Miss Moore, of St. Paul, Minn., and Mr. W. Walter, of Wallingford, Pa.

John Wanamaker, Philadelphia's merchant prince, says he spends $40,000 a year for advertising, and advertises nowhere but in newspapers.

With a 123 bicyclist and a five day Atlantic steamer and a less than two minute race, the times are getting undeniably "fast" in more ways than one.

The smoke from burning leaves was so dense several afternoons last week that one could hardly see an object half square away. Moral: Burn your leaves when they are dry.

The Riverton foot ball team defeated the Phoenixville last Saturday. This Saturday they will play the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A., on Fifty-second street grounds, and are expected to be beaten.

There came near being a serious fire last Friday evening, by the upsetting of a large oil lamp at Mr. Delinger's, Fifth and Main streets. There was slight damage to the furniture and wall to the extent of about $15.00.

Ex-Senator M. B. Perkins was in the Borough on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The Cinnaminson Electric Light Company are extending their wires to Heulings Lippincott's residence, nearly half way to Moorestown.

With the improved sidewalk from Elm avenue to Fulton street and when the H. A. Dreer Company get the crushed stone pavement along their property Rivertonians can boast a good walk the entire length of the Borough.

Farmers' institutes will be held at the following places in Burlington county this month: Moorestown, 22d and 23d; Columbus, 28th; Medford, December 21st. If any of our farmers would like to attend the institutes of our county, they had better cut this out and paste it in their date book for future reference.

Accidents to gunners are more numerous this season, and the morality already reported in the daily papers now exceeds any like period of previous years. We have had no serious accidents to report in this immediate neighborhood, since the rabbit season opened, and hope we won't have. Too much care cannot be exercised in handling a gun.

L. Corner's men, under foreman Thomas Hurley, have started to construct what has been termed a boulevard in front of Dreer's along the railroad. They will take out the hedge and row of trees and cut the sidewalk down to grade along the whole front, from Fulton street to the Creek, which will also grade down an incline plane fifteen feet back from the fence. After the dirt is removed a row of European Sycamore trees will be set out, there will be a terraced and curb, a crushed stone sidewalk five feet wide, then more and to the fence, which will be of ornamental iron and was purchased at Onasha, where it took the prize. The fifteen feet back of the fence will also be sodded and the firm's name outlined in flowers. This will be a great improvement and will be especially attractive to passerby trains, and will also give a better view of the flower fields and grounds.

A READING BY PROF. ALBERT H. SMITH.

We feel sure that all in Riverton, and the surrounding country, who had the privilege of hearing Prof. Smith read Shakespeare a year ago, will be glad to know that he has consented to give a selected reading from various authors this fall. The reading will be given in the Parish House of Christ Church, Riverton, on Friday evening, December 2, at 8 o'clock. Tickets 35 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of the Parish House maintenance. This will be the only opportunity to hear Prof. Smith in Riverton this season. Remember the date and come. Tickets for sale at Cowperwaite's, Alfred Smith's and of the Maintenance Committee.

COMMUNICATED.

Riverton, N. J., Nov. 16th, 1898.

Dear Editor—Some of our soldier boys in the Third Regiment, where Riverton is well represented, read in your valuable paper about a box of good things being sent to Camp Meade and they felt a little jealous, as nothing had been sent to them yet.

No doubt the slight was unintentional, or perhaps it was thought that our boys were getting better treated. But if you will call attention to the matter they will not be overlooked next time.

Yours Resp'y, RIVERTONIAN.

DELAIR.

Rabbits and heavy frosts are plentiful nowadays.

Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Bennett spent Sunday at Atlantic City.

Watson Evald represents our town on the December panel of jurors.

The Board of Education has ordered a new well bored at the school house.

C. B. Yardley received a large bag of oysters direct from the cove on Monday.

Miss Mamie Hollibaugh entertained a large circle of friends on Tuesday evening.

An interesting meeting of the Brotherhood of the Union was held on Tuesday evening.

Hatcher's brick boat ran into the bridge on Monday evening and tore away the mast.

The freedom party of Arnold Beck enbach on Monday evening at the club house, was an affair long to be remembered by the young participants.

The array of pretty and well groomed girls was a sight to behold and the young men were all attention during the evening. Mr. Beckenbock may well feel proud of the arrival of his age of maturity.

Stool Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only medicine now known to the medical fraternity, curing a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for every case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

The regular November meeting of the Board of Freeholders was held in the Court House at Mount Holly on Tuesday, the 14th inst., at 10 o'clock, A. M.

The Clerk started in to read the minutes when Mr. Fairbrother, came to his relief by making a motion to dispense with the further reading of the minutes, which was adopted.

The Board took a half hour recess to give the members a chance to examine bills, and when they reconvened the Almonaster state report was read, showing that there had been five deaths and one birth since the last report. The Finance Department contains 52 items, one having died.

Among the bills passed were those of Sheriff Fleetwood, $1016.27 for expenses; Court House and Grounds Commission, $1003.00; personal bills of members, $1103.86; Mr. Fairbrother's bill for expenses, $1195.47; County Board of Elections, $1111.00; County Clerk Worrell, $511.86, which included $10 for service in connection with the recent election for each district; Children's Home, $162.50; Coroner Fisher, $45.89; Street, $24.82; Grubler, $10.25.

The Board died at Butterworth's hotel and at the afternoon session the treasury question bubbled up, when Mr. Higgins, of Bordentown, asked for a committee to view a culvert between the latter place and White Hill.

After some discussion as to whether the Monmouth Traction Company was using the bridge and culverts of the county without authority, Mr. Higgins withdrew his motion and presented a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter and enforce the legal rights of the county, with authority to take whatever steps they might deem necessary.

The Director named as this committee Messrs. Higgins, Sharp, Tallman, Drell and Woodward. It being the desire of the Solicitor was to co-operate with them.

On motion of Dr. Conrow all committees on stone roads were directed to have them plugged at least five times in each mile before final acceptance in order to ascertain whether they were the proper depth or not.

Then followed a general discussion in regard to the Riverside and Riverton stone road. Mr. Fairbrother said the contractor had told him the steam-roller had caused the road to spring, but the masonry soil underneath.

Mr. Jones said the engineer had told him he would not have credited the road had been properly constructed, if he had known as much before as he found out afterward.

On motion of Mr. Egan, $100 was directed to be transferred to the Eastampton bridge account from any unexpended balance.

The bond of Auditor-elect Joseph Gibson for $1000, signed by himself, Philip Haines and Benjamin W. Zellew was received and accepted.

The semi-annual report of County Collector Powell, showing a balance of $6,453.84, was received and read.

Finance Committee having approved it, Doctor Conrow started a discussion by saying that a lawyer had told him that the day of the Auditor to examine and audit all bills. During the debate the following one made a motion to adjourn and it was carried.

Your Best Interests

Will be served by making sure of health. It will be a loss of time and money to be stricken with serious illness. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and purify your blood. In this way all germs of disease will be expelled, sickness and suffering will be avoided, and your health will be preserved. Isn't this a wise course?

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Price 25 cents. Success comes to those who persevere.

BUILDING LOTS.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

November 14th, 1898.

The probability of an extra session of Congress in the Spring is much stronger, now that it is certain that the Republicans will have a majority of the next House. It has been regarded as improbable ever since the close of the war that Congress will be able at the coming session, to act upon all the legislation made necessary by the war, in addition to the regular appropriation bills and routine business, but it was thought that an extra session would depend largely upon the control of the next House. Had the Republicans lost it, the administration would have done everything possible to avoid an extra session, by trying to push through at the short session all the legislation needed to carry out its policy, colonial and otherwise. Now, no haste will be necessary, and should the present Senate not meet the administration's expectations in acting upon the present Congress does not expect an extra session of Congress will do as he wishes, as his party will have a large majority in the Senate after next March. The administration will therefore be indifferent as to an extra session, knowing that if the last session of the present Congress does not act upon needed legislation, an extra session of the next Congress will.

Things look a little threatening in connection with the peace negotiations at Paris. That is, from the European point of view. Nobody in Washington considers the chances of a Spanish intervention as anything more than European newspaper talk, paid for with Spanish money. In fact, at the last Cabinet meeting, Secretary Day was instructed to have our Peace Commission in London discuss the possibility of an intervention of Spain, and to make it clear that it was beyond the power of any European nation or combination of nations to modify our demand for the Philippine islands—a demand that this government is prepared to back with force, if it becomes necessary. The Peace Commission, however, has given a straight-up answer, saying that this country was growing tired of the delay, and that if they failed to act much longer, the negotiations would be broken off by this government.

Admiral Schley and Mrs. Schley are in Washington. In order to avoid annoyance, the admiral has been given a private apartment at the hotel. The admiral declines to say one single word about the thinly veiled slurs at him in the official report of Admiral Sampson, or to add anything to what he said in his own report. He showed some annoyance when his name was called to the controversy over which political party he belonged to, and said that he had no politics; had only voted once in his life; that he belonged to the country and that his first and highest duty was always to the administration in power in charge of the country. Those are model views for an Army or Navy officer, too.

The annual report of Adjutant General Corbin, just made public, says of the National Guard: "While the yearly military service has been productive of positive good in imparting practical instruction to the troops participating, the experience of the recent campaign has demonstrated the absolute necessity of future assimilating the condition of encamped troops to the actual condition of active service by making the men, while in camp, dependent for their subsistence on the army rations to be furnished by the state authorities, on ration returns, and cooked by the troops in precisely the same manner as on actual service in the field. An organization ordered to a state camp for military instruction, relying on a caterer to furnish the necessary food, can never acquire the self-reliance which characterizes the regular soldier on active duty, for without previously received instructions in preparing food, the natural result, when their turn to cook comes, is a cooked and wasted ration, which, failing to strengthen the physical man, makes him liable to febrile and stomach troubles incident to service in all kinds of weather, under distressing, but unavoidable conditions."

The Canadian American Commission, which has been in session here last summer at Quebec, is now doing the same in Washington. Anything like an agreement upon the matters in dispute between the United States and Canada definite enough to be put into a treaty is still a long way off. It is expected that the Commission will meet in Washington for a considerable time, although the assembling of Congress will make it difficult for Senators Fairbanks and Faulkner and Representative Dingler, three of the five American Commissioners to give much of their time to its meetings. The other two American Commissioners are Hon. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, and Hon. John A. Kasson, who is a special diplomatic agent for this government in the negotiation of reciprocity treaties under the Dingler tariff.

In view of the failure of other government experiments, the cycles are disposed to poke fun at the announcement that the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications of the War Department, had decided to spend $25,000 experimenting with flying machines.

According to the commander of the Federal wrecking tug which took recent possession of the Maria Teresa, the stranded cruiser lies in twelve feet of water, about one mile from the shore, with her temporary deck broken up and the tide rising and falling in the interior of the ship. As the vessel draws twenty-three feet of water when in perfect trim, and probably thirty feet in her waterlogged condition, there can be no mistaking the tremendous force of the storm which drove her into twelve feet of water and an even greater depth of sand off Cat Island. The wreckers will be fortunate indeed if they shall succeed in moving the derelict bulk from her present resting place.

Path Cure and a Carbuncle.

Say I have an obtrusive carbuncle on my nose. I call in the Christian Scientist, who administers "a high attenuation of truth." My belief in the carbuncle disappears, and with it goes the carbuncle, too, so far as I am concerned. It may be that I look in the glass and perceive no carbuncle. The Christian Scientist takes her seat and leaves me in company with my friends. Brown and greets me with, "Hello, old man, you have got a nose on you," or some such vulgar and inconsiderate remark. I endeavor to suppress the thought that is in my mind, but the carbuncle is a creation of his diseased imagination. But Jones and Robinson speedily turn up and accuse me in similar terms, until my mind becomes impressed with an uneasy suspicion that all is not as it should be with my nose. The morbid delusion of my friends extends to me.

I take up the glass again, and there, sure enough, is the carbuncle as large and angry as ever. Under these circumstances it seems a clear waste of money to pay a Christian Scientist to cure my carbuncle unless the fee is to include the treatment of the whole circle of my friends, who are all suffering from the same morbid delusion. I may meet by chance in the street—London Truth.

Power Harnessed on a Bicycle.

Some recent results of tests made by Professor Carpenter of Cornell to determine the power required to drive bicycles may be of more interest to electrical engineers if reduced to the familiar units of power, the watt. These tests show that for a speed of five miles an hour on a good level road the rider works at the rate of about 10 watts, which is not one-third the power used in an ordinary 16 candle power incandescent lamp. At ten miles an hour the power applied by the rider is about 80 watts, and for hard, continuous riding on a bicycle under the ordinary conditions, while it is possible for a rider to expend about as much power as is required for about five of these lamps.—Electrical Engineer.

Our Cosmopolitan Capital.

"I am just finding out the charm of Washington society, which lies in the great variety of people one meets and hears of in the city. There is time to talk," writes "A Cabinet Member's Wife," in giving her observations and experiences in Washington in the Ladies Home Journal. As home everybody had known everybody else in society from the cradle, and we did not have much but each other to talk about, but as I get to know people and go to cosmopolitan circles, I begin to understand why so many come to Washington for residence who have no business, official or domestic ties in the place. It is rather nice not to have people know just how much money you pay your servants and when you bought your last piece of furniture."

General Rosecrank Autograph.

Carefully treasured by a Columbia man who has an interesting collection of autographs is a note written some 15 years ago and signed "W. B. Rosecrank, General, U. S. A." The note, which says: "Your application for autographs should contain an envelope, stamped and addressed to yourself. This is the rule of the office and is worth far more than a quotation from your own known poet."—Kansas City Journal.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Nov. 14, 1908.

Wanamaker's Christmas Toy Stores Are Ready

That is announcement enough to make every child-heart beat quicker. And the man or woman who is too staid to enjoy Christmas liveliness, even much of the noise of it, is a misanthrope to be afraid of.

Well on to a third of an acre of the always-new old Toy Store in the Basement—here still are to be found the aristocracy of doll-doll and the musical instruments, and—but come and see.

On the Fourth Floor surely more than half an acre of toy store—bigger, brighter than ever.

The donkey is life-size, and in bray and complacency, would do credit to his kind in Egypt. $50. The camel has gravity enough to offset but not upset the monkey on his back. The cylinder printing press is run by hot-air motor—turns out real work—the outfit is $33.

There are more steamships here than Uncle Sam owns—and with guns and turrets and marines—oh, Spain! beware! Real electric motor keeps endless machinery on the spin. There are trolley cars, in all but the current—with tracks and overhead wires. What fun the toy chief must have gathering all these funny things from the Thuringia Forest, from Vienna, from Paris! His Christmas started away last summer. Yours and ours starts now.

GEORGE N. WINTER, P. M.

Officer Grubb arrested three men from Cinnaminson township, James Carney, Frank Smith and Frank James for disturbing the peace, on Tuesday night and the next morning Justice Hires committed them to Hotel Fleetwood for 90 days each. [When]

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the M. E. church, Thanksgiving morning, and the sermon preached by Rev. C. F. Butler, of the Presbyterian church. The collection will be given to the Methodist Hospital, Philadelphia, for the benefit of the soldiers.

The annual supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Epworth M. E. church, held in the basement of the church on Wednesday evening, met with their usual success, accommodating 125. Many were the compliments paid the ladies for their bountiful supply of good things.

Already the children are heard wishing Christmas would hurry up and get here, but they are the only people who are indulging in such visions. The grown-ups who have to act the role of Santa Claus are by no means sure that they will be perfect in their part when the time arrives for their debut.

Joseph Sleeper, who was reported having been killed by falling from a telephone pole by some papers last week, is far from being a corpse, but did have a bad fracture of the knee cap which will lay him up for several months, we fear. He is at St. Mary's Hospital, Front and Palmer streets, Philadelphia.

A choral society with Mrs. William R. Winters as director, has been organized among the young people of the Epworth M. E. church, with the object in view of learning the rudiments of vocalization and improving the voice by interesting exercises. There is no charge for tuition and all the young people who can sing or who desire to learn, are invited to become members.

A rally of the senior and junior leagues of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in the auditorium on Sunday evening next. An interesting program has been arranged which will include solo, duets and choruses, an address by Rev. Marshall Owens and an illustrated talk by William R. Winters, president of the league. The topic will be "The Childhood of Christ." This promises to be a very attractive service to which all are invited.

The people who believe all missionary efforts should be kept at home will have an opportunity to aid in a worthy cause of this character at the festival to be given in the basement of the Methodist church, on December 2nd which is to raise funds to buy an organ for a neighboring church, whose slim membership is already overtaxed with other expenses. Mrs. William B. Powell is the moving spirit in the undertaking and is meeting with much encouragement.

Palmyra was the banner Republican election district, giving all the candidates large majorities than any other election district in the whole county. The total votes cast was also greater in Palmyra than in any other district. This vote is all the more remarkable when it is remembered that not many years ago Palmyra then aided, as a part of Cinnaminson township in rolling up the largest Democratic vote in the county, and our townsmen, the late John Wallace, exercised considerable influence with his party because of the prestige of its big Democratic majorities.

Sheriff Fleetwood renewed his bond for $30,000 on Tuesday afternoon before Judge Gaskill. The bondsmen are William A. Townsend, of Mansfield, Edward Wainwright, of Florence, Benjamin W. Zieley, of W. Budd Deacon, of Mount Holly, Hilary Stokes, of this city, Charles T. Parker, Edward Rigg, Sr. and Hamilton Hill, of Burlington. The bondsmen and other friends of Sheriff Fleetwood were entertained by the latter afterwards at the Washington House, Landlord Zieley having prepared one of his toothsome dinners, to which all present did ample justice. Uncle Joe is now on the last year of his term.

Three young fellows from Philadelphia pretending to be buying rugs, etc., and giving the names of Joseph Cupp, Edward Pinco and Joseph Lamine, the latter probably an Italian, got in trouble here on Wednesday and now are languishing in Mount Holly jail.

The Italian was discovered by Thomas Foidis acting in a suspicious manner in the yard of one of Mrs. Foidis's houses on West Fourth street, having a bag in which he pretended to be picking up bones. Upon examination a quantity of lead pipe was found in his bag and he was taken into custody by Officer Jones. The other two fellows got wind of the matter and started with a horse and wagon they had for Camden. After looking up Lamine, John Saar's new trotter was hitched up and John got his gun (the one that shoots around a corner) and the fleeing fellows were captured near Bethel on Justice Pike. Justice Hires committed them without bail for court.

It is surprising what ignorance is displayed by some of the election officers throughout the county. This fact is made more apparent at the County Clerk's office where the returns are filed. The ballot box keys were this year filed there, and one fellow, coming from a distance, brought with him a key three inches long to which was attached a large piece of wood. It was probably used fifty years ago. "I had to give a receipt for that key," said the individual, as he cautioned the clerk not to lose it. In a number of cases returns that should have gone to Trenton were sent to Mount Holly, and some of them were only partially made out, while others were filed in the most ridiculous manner. One ignorant officer thought it necessary to file his ink bottle and blotting pad. In one section Voorhees was given a majority greater than the whole number of voters in the township. The filing of election returns is an interesting occasion to those whose duty it is to receive them.

TOWNSHIP BUSINESS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Palmyra Township Committee was held in Society Hall on Tuesday evening.

The petition for a sidewalk on Henry street was taken up and there being no protest against granting the petition, the same was granted.

A petition was presented for an improved sidewalk on Arch street, from Broad to Second, on west side and from Broad to Third on east side. The usual notices were ordered posted, and a public hearing will be given on November 29th.

Bills were ordered paid as follows:

Albert D. Read, pipe for lock-up, $ 2.50

R. T. Creighton, drugs for poor, 3.50

W. S. Vaughn, hauling truck, 2.00

Louis Carney, horse carriage, 3.00

J. J. Tomes, policeman, salary, 40.00

M. J. MacDonald, groceries for Ella 25.00

William Thomas, cleaning street, 13.75

Frank Haines, " " 27.50

Henry Armstrong, " " 13.75

James Ryan, " " 30.94

John P. Saar, supplies for lock-up, 33.25

J. O. Singer, hauling ashes, 2.50

The Clerk was directed to communicate to A. V. Horner, Overseer of Poor, Constable and Poundkeeper who was now reported to be living in Philadelphia, and ascertain if he intended to fulfill the duties of his office.

The application of the Cinnaminson Electric Light Company to enter the Township was taken up. Ex Senator M. B. Perkins, the manager of the company was present. It was decided to Mr. Perkins which would then be considered in conference with the Solicitor and Township Committee.

Officer Tomes stated that several property owners on Fifth street had not put down sidewalks. An ordinance was therefore introduced requiring payments to be put down on Fifth street between LeCony and Delaware avenues.

The Treasurer was directed to borrow $300 for current bills.

C. F. Dobbins was given permission to remove three poplar trees and replace them with maples.

A petition was received for an improved sidewalk on Market street, East side, from Broad to Third. The usual notices were ordered posted.

SLIGHT FIRE.

The bay window of F. P. Eris, house was damaged by fire on Friday of last week, together with a carpet and a few articles of furniture. The fire started in a couch, but the cause is not known. It is thought, however, that a parlor match had in some way found its way into the inside of the couch and became ignited while a child was playing upon it.

The rare presence of mind displayed by Mrs. Eris when she discovered the fire perhaps saved the house from destruction, for with the aid of her children she formed a bucket brigade and by dint of determined effort she had the fire practically out before the arrival of the firemen. The loss is fully covered by insurance, the house being insured in the Standard Insurance Co., of Trenton, and the household goods in the Insurance Co., of North America.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Cline celebrated the sixth anniversary of their marriage on Thursday evening, at their home corner of Fourth and Garfield avenues.

The host and hostess were in a happy mood and every one seemed to enjoy themselves.

Mr. Winters entertained the company with several vocal solos. A fine collation was served. Among those present were: Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Byers, Miss Lillian Atkinson, Marx Fagel and wife, Walter Nusky and Miss Laura Fox and Howard Fox, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Kate Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Winters, and Miss Nina Winters, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cline and Miss Anna Cline. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Sleeper, of Palmyra.

"God, Our Country and Our Order."

Brothers—Camp No. 23, still meets at the same place every Monday evening, at eight o'clock.

One candidate elected to membership last Monday evening.

Brother Joseph Sleeper would be glad to see any of the Camp members at St. Mary's Hospital. Visitors are admitted Sundays and Thursdays.

The Good of the Order Committee will give a "smoker" to the members on November 28th. An enjoyable time is anticipated.

If our Past Presidents were more regular in their attendance the members of the Camp might believe that they appreciated the honors they have received.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health of Palmyra Township was held on Tuesday evening.

The Inspector reported that there had been no complaints and the health of the town was first class. He stated there had been only one case of disease that was contagious during the past year.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church of Doylestown, Pa., on Monday afternoon extended an unanimous call to Rev. Lewis Seymour Mudge, of this place, to become pastor at a salary of $2,000 and the manse rent free. The church has had but three pastors within a period of 70 years, and has a membership of 600.

Many of our citizens were aroused from their slumbers early last Sunday by the long continued blowing of a factory whistle, to find the town brilliantly illuminated, caused by the burning of a large barn at Eddington, Pa. The seasons crops consisting of hay, corn, potatoes, etc., were entirely destroyed, the live stock was rescued, with the exception of one calf.

The Trustees of the Beverly Baptist Church will give a "Moving Pictures" entertainment in Odd Fellows' Hall on Saturday evening, November 26th, for the benefit of the Church Repair Fund. The pictures will consist of scenes of actual battles and incidents of the later Spanish war. In connection with the above a literary and musical program will be rendered. The price of admission will be reserved seats 55 cents, general admission 25 cents, children 10 cents.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

If thou wouldst find much favor and peace with God and man, be very low in thine own eyes; forgive thine little, and others, much.—LUTHER.

We are glad Queen Victoria likes American girls. It is always pleasing to have our opinions shared by persons high in authority.

Texas and North Carolina seem to have had unusually successful elections. Six men were killed in the former and four in the latter state.

The voting machines used on election day in Rochester, N. Y., were a success. Twenty minutes after the polls closed the full result of the voting was known in that city. Fraud was made impossible in the casting and counting of the ballots, and voters had not the least difficulty in casting their ballots. This promises a reform that will be of great value.

The losses by fire in this country and Canada for October were little more than half those of the preceding month, and were far below the losses in September of last year or 1896. Still, owing to the heavy losses in September and February, the total losses for this year are $96,703,000, which is nearly $5,000,000 greater than in the same period of 1897.

The result of the elections in Utah showed plainly that the state is firmly in the grip of the Mormon church. All of its candidates were elected and all of those whom it marked for defeat were beaten at the polls. The conditions in Utah show Mormonism rampant; if, indeed, it be not militant Polygamy has been openly endorsed by the majority of its people, and the State and Federal offices are filled with men affiliated to a greater or less extent to the church that preaches and practices immorality.

Something is the matter with the sun. At least that is how a Danish scientist accounts for the intense heat of the past summer and the eccentric variations of recent autumn weather. He claims that the climates of the earth are undergoing an important change, that the Arctic regions are gradually becoming temperate and that the temperate regions are slowly but surely approaching another glacial period, when their surface is to be covered for thousands of years with ice. There is, however, plenty of time to get ready for migrating to a place of safety, as we shall not be glaciated for ten thousand years. Still, it is just as well to be prepared to move in the direction of the Klondike.

It is obvious that the Hon. Robert P. Porter, the special commissioner sent by President to look into the financial and commercial conditions of Cuba is an advocate of annexation. He does not say so in his very carefully prepared report that he has submitted to the President, for it was not his province to make suggestions in this direction, but the facts that he gives are such as to show that the future prosperity of Cuba lies in a connection with the United States. American capital is needed there to build railroads and develop the plantations and to create great markets. Certainly without a stable government, one in which capitalists and those employed by capital can have confidence, the full growth of which Cuba is capable cannot be realized.

Thanksgiving Day has now become a national milestone, showing foot-prints on the sands of time of increasing cheerful significance. Many of the present generation can remember when Thanksgiving Day was but an echo from the New England States, and celebrated only by those of New England ancestry. Since the War of the Rebellion the appointment and observance of this festival have become so national that the turkey is the bird of promise from Maine to Florida and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. There are a good many things to be thankful for. The work of all the churches of all denominations has been immense in the direction of improving the physical conditions of mankind, and this generous sympathy extends down to the outcast, whose highest aspiration is to get a square meal. This square meal philanthropy is wide-spread and far-reaching on Thanksgiving Day. Very few prosperous citizens fail to do their share toward providing a feast for the less fortunate and doubtless for all such the Lord will bless their digestion.

RIVERTON.

Days are approaching their shortest. The gobler was gobbled on Thursday.

Dr. M. J. Brown in Maryland gunning for quail.

The colored folks are holding a mission in Roberts' hall.

Some fifteen soldier votes were polled in Burlington on election day.

Miss Mary Myers, of Torrington, visited relatives here on Tuesday.

Harry Sims expects to start this Saturday on a trip through the West.

There is very little rust on asparagus and the crop will pay well next season.

In order to elevate yourself it is not necessary to throw down somebody else.

A fat pocketbook is a fine tonic for hard times, but how many have this panacea.

Miss Rebecca and Helen Thomas were home from the George school over Sunday.

Many Thanksgiving parties were held at the homes of our residents on last evening.

Samuel B. McCabe is quite sick with pneumonia, at his home on Lippincott Avenue.

Clarence Lee, who mysteriously disappeared several weeks ago, returned home on Tuesday.

There were very few, except trivial, complaints before the Commissioners of Appeal on Tuesday.

The first snow storm of the season appeared yesterday, and it looks like winter has begun in earnest.

Presbyterian Sunday school will have a Thanksgiving service at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon. All are invited.

During the early days this week the stores made a fine display of Thanksgiving poultry and novelties.

Rev. C. P. Butler will exchange pulpits with Rev. L. H. Copeland of the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Farmers here are nearly through husking and are preparing for spring work getting out the manure and in some cases plowing.

The ordinance naming the alleys between Thomas Avenue and Main Street "Maple" and "Church" roads is published in this issue.

E. H. Pancoast, of Camden, and Mrs. White, of Riverton, of Camden, and Mrs. M. and Mrs. Stacy Pancoast, of Delanco, on Thanksgiving.

It is reported that Bert Seaman who was recently transferred to Riverside as agent of the railroad is no longer in the employ of the company.

Notice has been posted by order of Freeholder Enoch Evans warning housekeepers against sweeping trash into the gutters on Main and Broad streets.

A great many ring necked pheasants have been killed in this county since the gunning season opened. These birds would increase rapidly if they were only given half a chance.

The prospects for the coming winter in this city are not very encouraging to the working man. No doubt the different charitable societies will have their hands full supplying the wants of the needy.

A box of good things for Thanksgiving for our soldier boys at Athens, Ga., was shipped by express on Monday. It will not doubt be appreciated, as we understand their fare is chiefly hard-tack and bacon.

Guns are reported the scarcity of game of any kind in this vicinity. The opinion of all sportsmen is, that gunning should be prohibited for the next two years to allow the quail and rabbits to increase in number.

A search among the effects of the late Dr. J. W. Greene, the deceased member of Bass River township, revealed at the residence of many Confederate bonds, which were a great financial loss to this eccentric recluse.

The new officers of the Presbyterian church are as follows: Superintendent, Andrew G. Appel; assistant, Dr. Samuel Glover; treasurer, Miss Fannie Bishop; secretary, William E. Good; organist, Miss Florence Good; superintendent of infant department, Mrs. Alex. Marcy.

Franklin Hunter, aged 69, died at his home, at Union Landing, on Monday of heart trouble. His funeral was from the Ashbury M. E. church on Wednesday, and was largely attended. Undertaker Bolton had charge. Mr. Hunter had lived in this vicinity all his life and was well known.

Keeping apples by burying them in the ground proves successful when other methods fail, provided every apple is sound and free from blemish when harvested. The reason is that the temperature in the ground or mound, in which apples are kept, varies but little, and they are always cool. The same result will be obtained if a cool and even temperature can be secured in a cellar.

Acting Governor David O. Watkins has appointed the following Senators as a State Board of Censors, to canvass the votes cast at the election on November 8: E. C. Stokes, Cumberland; William H. Johnson, Bergen; Charles A. Reed, Somerset; Lewis J. Martin, Sussex; James H. VanCleaf, Middlesex. The Board will meet at the State House on Tuesday, November 29th.

A great many truck farmers here are setting out Keiffer pear trees in large numbers, so we can expect very low prices in a few years at most. They are making a mistake in putting out so many pear trees. Apples would prove more profitable as but few trees are being set out and they by wise fellows who do not believe in putting all their eggs in one basket.

Gunning is a dangerous sport, but the great majority of accidents to gunners arise from pure carelessness in handling the weapon. The safest way to go gunning is to purchase your game of a game dealer, then go home and make your friends believe you shot the birds. In this way you can pose as a sportsman without the least possible risk to life or limb.

By a decision of the internal revenue collector of the fifth district of New Jersey, W. D. Rutan, it has been decided that all orders for the payment of money drawn by the secretary of an order of beneficial society on its treasurer in favor of a third person require a two cent stamp.

In the Orphans' court, on Saturday, argument was heard in the matter of the estate of William Wilson, deceased, Edgewater Park. Mr. Wilson owned several ground rents in Philadelphia, and the question in controversy was whether they were real or personal property. If the latter they are subject to the collateral inheritance of this state. Mark E. Sooy represented the estate and Prosecutor Budd looked after the state's interests. After argument the case was laid over until the Attorney-General could be heard from.

The Grand Lodge of New Jersey, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers on Thursday of last week at Trenton: Grand Master, Malcolm B. Wood, Newark; Deputy Grand Master, H. J. J. Melosh, Jersey City; Grand Secretary, Lewis Parker, Trenton; Grand Treasurer, John R. Deacon, Bordentown; Grand Warden, E. O. Bussing, Lyndhurst; Grand Representative, Frank W. Tussey, Camden; Grand Marshal, Chester Thompson, Clinton; Grand Conductor, G. L. Ross, Crocksicks; Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. K. Manning, Trenton; Grand H. S. Pine, Camden; Herald, James Stevens, Orange.

The monthly meeting of the Burlington County Teachers' Association was held in the High School building Mount Holly, Saturday, November 19. On account of the absence of Mr. Watts both the algebra and the arithmetic were omitted, and the whole session was devoted to literature under Miss Anna M. Reed, of Burlington.

At the beginning of the lesson each member of the class gave a quotation from Spenser's "Faerie Queene" which was the subject of the day's study. A short sketch was given of the life of Spenser and also of the famous temporary Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir Philip Sidney. An outline was given of the whole poem the "Faerie Queene" after which it was taken up in detail and the argument of the different books read by members of the class.

THE DANCE.

On Wednesday evening, the 16th, Riverton added to her long list of social events a very successful dance. The hall was decorated with palms and autumn leaves.

The patronesses were, Mrs. Henry C. Biddle, Mrs. Thomas E. Walnut, Mrs. William L. James, Mrs. Edward B. Shovel, Mrs. M. M. Reese, Mrs. Charles M. Biddle, Mrs. J. C. W. Friemuth, Mrs. Charles S. Walnut, Mrs. Harvey Mitchell, Mrs. Walter Spackman, Mrs. J. F. Sachs, Mrs. Horace Edwards, Mrs. F. S. Groves.

Among those present were, the Misses Biddle, the Misses Walnut, Miss Elna Friemuth, Miss Edwards, Miss Groves, Miss Hibbs, Miss Fell, Miss Katie Reese, Mrs. H. F. Davis, Miss Bertram.

From Philadelphia: Dr. Campbell, Dr. Reilly, Dr. Chain, Mr. Barrington, Bert Fullmer, Mr. Newell, the Messrs. Righter, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Samuels, Mr. Hurlock, George Tyson, John Allen, Walter Woolman, Mr. Elliott, George Codman.

From Germantown: Henry Pugh, Mr. Flavel, Mr. Supple.

William P. Wood from Trenton and Morse Archer from Camden.

RIVERTON II. BEVERLY I. The snow storm of Thanksgiving afternoon did not lessen the long standing rivalry on the ground between Riverton and Beverly and the annual fixture for Thanksgiving had to be played out, storm or no storm.

If it had been a nice day there would have been no end to the crowd going to hear Prof. Smyth in the Riverton gymnasium. Don't miss it. Tickets 35 cents for sale at Cowperthwaite's, Alfred Smith, and of the Parish House Maintenance Committee.

Stoo Reward, Stoo. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

November 21st, 1898.

Inside information from Europe concerning the back down of Emperor William from his bluff, intended to make Spain and this country believe that he was about to take a hand in the disposition of the Philippines, is the cause of much quiet amusement in diplomatic and official circles. This bluff was the Emperor's announcement of his intention to visit Spain, on his way home from the Holy Land; an announcement that resulted in an unexpected stiffening of the backbone of the Spanish Peace Commissioners, but did not change the American policy.

The back down, which has made him the laughing stock in every capital in Europe, except his own, was his announcement "that on account of the weather" he had abandoned his visit to Spain. The "weather" in the case was a straight bluff, his intentions towards Spain were no more consequence to the United States than the presence of those German warships in Manila Bay were to Germany and would have had no more effect; and that if he was looking for trouble he could find it by meddling in any way with Uncle Sam. It is stated by members of the administration that Spain has been notified that our demand must be accepted or refused in a given time, but the time is not given.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, of the U. S. Geological Survey, whose full knowledge of the subject is unquestioned, said, in a lecture before the National Geographic Society, on "Cuba and the Home Life of the People": "The opinion regarding the Cubans, which is now, unfortunately, quite prevalent, is that the colored men are by no means a lot of thieves, although undoubtedly there is a large class of these on the island. The larger part of the population, however, is composed of intelligent, fairly well educated men, who have property interests to guard and business affairs to superintend, as in any other civilized country. In mechanical lines, the Cubans do not progress as rapidly as they might, for they are essentially an agricultural people. As tillers of the soil they rank very high, and many of their plantations are models of their kind. While the colored men contained a large percentage of colored men, there are thousands and thousands of pure whites, thoroughly Cuban in heart and mind. Then, too, the colored Cuban himself is not such a bad fellow. In fact, Cuba is the only one of the West Indian islands, in which I have found that the colored man will work; in Porto Rico and all the other islands, his wife, like the Indian squaw, is forced to perform all the drudgery. In Cuba, as you know, the colored man enjoys social privileges accorded him in few other places, but there is no doubt that the colored man is here, as in Africa, as the negro population is constantly decimated by disease, while the white thrives and increases in number."

It is regarded as reasonably certain that the fifty-fifth Congress will, before the close of the last session, soon appropriate more than two billions of dollars. It has already appropriated almost one billion, and the war expenses that must be provided for at the last session, leave little doubt that the two billion mark will be reached. But there will be no political cry raised against any appropriation made necessary by the war.

Private James S. Sowers, of the 71st New York, told the war investigating commission that the reason the regulars fared better than the volunteers in the Cuban campaign, and elsewhere, was that the regular officers took care of their men, while the volunteer officers took care of themselves. He is the first private who has told the Commission that, but thousands of them have told the same thing to their friends.

Those who believe in the dominant power of bread and butter arguments think that all of the democratic and populist Senators will try to prevent an extra session of Congress in order to have their friends who hold positions under the Senate, keep them until the end of next year. It will be remembered that no one party having a majority in the Senate, the patronage of that body is distributed proportionately to the voting strength of each party. However, it is not likely the patronage of the Senate will be a factor in deciding whether there will be an extra session of Congress. It is true that if an extra session is held, there will be a re-organization of the Senate, which would give the majority the big positions, such as secretary and sergeant-at-arms, but the minority Senators who have friends holding minor positions, will have no trouble in keeping them in place. The Senate has always been more liberal in this respect with the minority, than the House. A Senate minor official's place is usually secure as long as his Senator keeps his seat, but not a day longer. In other words, the Senate patronage is controlled by individuals more than by party. To deprive a Senator of any of his post is regarded as a violation of "Senatorial courtesy."

The talk of Representative Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, who is a speaker Reed's right hand man in the House, does not bear out the opinion expressed in some quarters that a clash is likely between the Speaker and the administration on the colonial policy. It is generally understood that the administration military rule at the last year before Congress attempts to legislate for the Philippines. We can run along with a military government until the conditions are thoroughly understood."

If you have catarrh, don't dally with local remedies, but purify and enrich your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Demand for PRINCESS MAY GLOVES in Paris

One of the most famous glove sellers has asked for them—the goodness and our name for it—Princess May. And that is recognition for years of trying to catch up to the French in glove selling.

Thank you, Mr. Frenchman, for the endorsement. But the folks at home want the gloves—our City Hall Square and our Broadway store need every pair of Princess May gloves that great maker at Grenoble can produce. It isn't simply the making—it is the selection of fine clear kidskins and the perfect tanning and coloring that is half the battle. The making is the other half—and every glove bearing the "Princess May" stamp is made in this one factory and especially for us. We know they fit, we know the skin is just right, and we know that the sewing is so well done that not over three pairs in a thousand rip. These are cheerfully made good to you. We assume all glove risks. We never knew gloves that showed smaller percentage of fault. We made the Price, a Dollar a Pair before tariff changed. It has been a close shave, from a profit standpoint, since. But that's our loss. Not a penny is skimmed out of the gloves. Black, white, colors. And orders come for pair after pair— from way-off Oregon and down east at Portland, Maine. Every pair is, as we've said, real French kidskin.

Furs This fur store has been rather envied than copied. Its ways are extreme. To follow courage; to follow looks almost like losing profits that might be gobbled. So, alone, interesting to you, because it means some dollars safely saved on almost any piece you buy.

$7.50 for imitation marten scarfs with cluster of tails. $10 for scarfs of real marten, 2 heads and cluster of tails. Others, $12 to $22. $22.50 for stone marten scarfs, with 2 heads, claws and cluster of tails. $25 for stone marten scarfs, with full-size head and cluster of tails; one tab finished with tails.

A favorite "made up" fur for scarfs is called "blue fox." Scarfs, $15 and $18.50. Electric seal capes, $21. Finest, $75. Persian lamb coats, 24 in. long, $145 and $175.

Women's Shoes Twenty-four brand new styles of $4. Then some stand-bys at same price. A word of one, which we're willing to let stand as a proof of the shoe store's goodness— Fine kidskin boots with soles made up of good leather for wear, a layer of cork for safety from dampness, and a cushion of felt for inner sole—felt that takes up the jar.

Clumsy? No, indeed. These are among the trimmest shoes on show. Much lighter looking than some of the swell new styles. $4. But we've told again and again that money goes farthest here in shoe buying.

John Wanamaker.

AN ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE NAMING CERTAIN STREETS AND HIGHWAYS IN THE BOROUGH OF RIVERTON.

Be it ordained by the Council of the Borough of Riverton, that the street or alley beginning on the northerly side of Broad street, between Main street and Lippincott Avenue, (the northerly side of which said alley begins at the southerly corner of premises of one Charles E. There will be special music and addresses and the decorations will be appropriate for the occasion. It is expected that the P. O. S. A. and other orders will be present in a body.

Miss Eunice Colony, aged 23, a niece of John Westney, died last Friday evening of rheumatism of the heart. She arrived here November 8th en route for Hot Springs, Va., and only stopped off for a rest. Her parents and brother, who had come on, accompanied the body to their home in Keene, New Hampshire, for interment, on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Wilkins, wife of Andrew Wilkins, died last Friday night at her home on West Broad street, of Bright's disease, aged 65 years. Her funeral was held on Monday in the Methodist church, and interment was in Morgan cemetery. Undertaker Bellou had charge. The deceased was one of the oldest members of the Methodist church, and probably the oldest native born citizen of Palmyra.

The school saving bank idea should be adopted by the local Board of Education, the plan is adapted to teaching the use of money, a most desirable class of knowledge. Parents who favor the idea should say so to the trustees, who would undoubtedly try and comply with the wishes of their constituents in this particular, especially as the adoption of the plan would not add to the operating expenses of the school.

Joseph J. Sleeper, Jr., who had his knee cap fractured by falling from a telephone pole in Philadelphia, was operated on at St. Mary's Hospital last Saturday night and the broken pieces of the bone were fastened together by books, which will be removed after the bone knits together. The operation was quite successful and there appeared to be no ill effects, so that it is hoped he will regain the use of his limb in due time, although it will require considerable time and patience.

Joseph Schroepfer, the 17 year old son of the late John Schroepfer, fell into a vat of vitriol, at the Watch Case factory, at Riverside, on Wednesday evening. After he had quit work he got into an altercation with a fellow workman and ran into the field, back of the factory where he stumbled into the shallow vat, which had been left uncovered. The acid got on both legs and one arm but was not supposed to have burned him much until his clothes were taken off, at his sister's house, where he was taken, at Delaware, where he was boarded, when it was found he was terribly burned. Dr. Small gave him every attention but it was feared he would not survive the shock.

PALMYRA TEACHERS' MEETING.

The sixth meeting of the teachers for professional conference took place last Friday afternoon. To prevent monotony the exercises were somewhat varied. A syllabus on the history of education was taken up. Several of the teachers took part and did great credit to themselves. Among those entering the discussion were Misses Rainer, Dover, Ely, Boal and Principal Gray. Miss Rainer's exemplification of traditional instruction of the orientals was very elaborate and rendered in good colloquial style. Miss Dover's exceptions to the ancient orientals in that all selected female education was very full and showed her resources to original search.

Principal Gray related the founding of the school at Crotona, Italy, by Pythagoras. He said that in America we have Clark University in Massachusetts, in many points similar to the ancient school, in that professors and students are on the same level, so far as the search for truth is concerned. They seem to be one family. Whether the ancient school or its modern pattern is the ideal in education, he was not willing to say, for Clark University is only one of the many efforts being put forth to elevate education. He said, we teachers are here on common ground, for mutual advancement in professional training. The teachers having caught the idea, when Dr. Gray said that he wished the teachers would elect one of their number to conduct the exercises of the question box. He said several of the teachers had long and valuable experience and he hoped it would be done as it would be a great help to the meetings.

Upon motion of Miss Eckhardt, Miss Ward was elected unanimously conductor of the question box. Miss Ward having answered very satisfactorily some of the questions, a very knotty question was taken up. Miss Ely said the attempt to discipline a boy under such circumstances should be relegated to the asylum for incurables, which brought forth much laughter. It was then getting dark and Principal Gray said it would be well to adjourn.

These meetings are getting quite interesting, and Mr. Gray intends to add some other new features.

The drawing in Miss Ward's and Miss Rainer's rooms bid fair to be a success for the children like drawing and these teachers are enthusiastic in this new feature.

OBSERVATIONS BY PENN.

I observe the Rev. Marshall Owens, whose pastorate at the Epworth M. E. church will close in March next, has been recently honored by the Drew Theological Seminary with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. This is a well merited compliment which will doubtless result in the reverend gentleman ultimately becoming a full fledged D. D.

I observe our genial jail keeper has a splendid specimen of a goat which doubles as the cause of Palmyra being a famous landmark in trampdom. For originality John is still ahead, as an assistant for keeping tramps and law breakers of all sorts on the move a goat of this size is invaluable.

I observe the Roman Catholic church of the "Sacred Heart," 4th and Linden avenue, under the care of Rev. Father Walsh attracts a good sized audience. The parishioners were favored with some excellent music, the past week, Rev. Father Lee, of Mount Holly gave a practical and impressive talk during the observance of the "Forty Hours."

I observe we are getting nearer the "light question." The town requires it and strangers ask, where it is. If the men were to let the women decide the question we would have had better lighted streets at night before this. I witnessed an exhibit of the new Klean incandescent street lamp and was surprised at the brilliant and steady light. The rent per lamp a year under this system would be about $50, considerably cheaper than electric lighting. Let everybody talk on the street lights question "pro and con."

I observe the filthy habit of spitting on the steam rail road cars has not been abolished yet and women are sometimes obliged to sit in seats, where the floor is a crust of tobacco, or other filthy excretionary. Why not have the Board of Health of Palmyra township request the Penna. R. R. Co. to place "No Spit" signs in their cars similar to those used on the trolley cars and steam boats. There seems to be no other remedy for the spreading of this uncleanly and for a horrible nuisance to a travelling public.

I observe the P. O. S. A. invite their brothers to visit St. Mary's Hospital in Philadelphia, where one of their number is confined. This displays a commendable and may prove an object lesson to bigots and doubters will show them the tenderness and sympathy that is displayed by many of the self sacrificing sisters who minister to the afflicted.

I observe the curfew law is spreading from country villages to towns and from towns to cities the results of which are awaited with interest by many so called reformers.

Observation leads me to think it would be a good thing for Palmyra, if we were to tell the people we meet what a charming village settlement we have, with good sidewalks, good roads, good water, good moral atmosphere, good school, plenty of churches, several halls, good stores, doctors of both schools, good fraternal organizations and not talk too much about the trolley, street lights, sewerage, undertakers and cemeteries. We can talk about them among ourselves. Get the first three as soon as possible the others we will get sooner than we may want.

P. O. S. A.

"God, Our Country and Our Order."

The Camp will attend Thanksgiving services at the Epworth M. E. Church on Sunday evening. All members who can possibly attend should meet at Morgan Hall at 7 P. M.

A "smoker" will be held in the Camp room on next Monday evening. A pleasant time is anticipated.

On December 5th several candidates will be initiated.

A NEW HYMN.

Hymn composed by William R. Winters for the special Epworth League Service held in the Methodist church on Sunday night.

LOOK UP—LIFT UP.
Look up! Look up! Epworthians,
To Jesus tell the story,
To him our Lord and Savior,
Our grateful tribute bring;
He gave His life to save us;
From sin, death and the grave;
That we through endless ages,
Eternal life might have.

LOOK UP—LIFT UP.
Look up! Look up! Epworthians,
In every trying hour,
To Christ whose grace will strengthen,
And foil the tempter's power;
He ever will defend us,
And cause our foes to fall;
His mighty aid will lend us,
And be our all in all.

LIFT UP! LIFT UP!
The many lost in sin,
Whose hearts are vile, unclean;
Go tell them of the Savior
And of His mercy free;
Tell how He will forgive them,
And their deliver be.

LIFT UP! LIFT UP!
The sad and discouraged,
The weary, heavy burdened,
Poor wand'ers seeking rest;
Tell them of Jesus' wondrous love,
Of Jesus' wondrous love,
Till with the hosts of glory
We sing in heaven above.

DR. GRAY MARRIED.

Dr. Gray, the principal of the Palmyra public school again entered the bonds of matrimony at Pennington, N. J., on Thanksgiving. He married Miss Mamie Corlia, the young and accomplished daughter of Colonel William B. Curtis, of Pennington, who is treasurer of the Mercer County Fire Insurance Company. Col. Curtis was the commander of the 9th New Jersey Volunteers in the Great Civil War. The lady is wealthy and stands high in Mercer County society, and we congratulate our friend Gray on the step he has taken.

A BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

The celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of the birthday of Miss Nina S. Winters, was the occasion of a merry gathering of a number of her friends at her home on Garfield avenue on Monday evening. The time was very pleasantly spent in the enjoyment of music, games and social intercourse, while the merry laughter and flow of wit about the "festive board," evidenced the appreciation of the guests of this feature of the evening's program. The hostess was the recipient of a number of very beautiful and useful presents.

Among those present were: Misses Nellie Jackson, Dorothy Parrish, Ida Roddick, Laura Weyman, Bertha Stowell, Linda Sharr, Clara Bonnell, Ethel Brammell, Maud Swope, Miss Edith Shinn, of Burlington; Master J. Franklin Cline, Rev. Marshall Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Kummerer, Messrs. Geo. Clover, Edward Bonnell, Mr. Jackson, William Roddick.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A masquerade party was given to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker, at their home on Horace avenue, on Thanksgiving night.

A pleasant evening was spent in merrymaking, social intercourse and singing.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Rev. Marshall Owens, Harvey Bell, Horace Smith, Wilber Dilks, Harry Fox, William Wilbraham, William Russell, Albert Tomes, Frank Adams, Ed. Bonnell, Miss Bessie Roddick, Miss Tillie Dilks, Miss Stella Kemble, Miss Etta Smith, Miss Lela Kuder, Miss Mamie Bonnell, Miss Eva Cook, Miss Eva Ingling, Miss Fannie Mann, Miss Jennie Toy, Miss Kate Wood, of Camden, Miss Flora Carman, of Cramer Hill. The following were masked: C. H. Shaw, of Bridgeton, as a Jew soldier; C. H. Seybert, as Irish bod carrier; Miss Bessie Roy, as gray girl; Mrs. J. H. Seybert, as yellow kid; Mrs. J. H. Shaw, as apple woman; George Clover, as a belle; Miss Maul Miller, as Goddess of Liberty; Miss Maud Bailey, Miss Ruth Peterson, Miss Elsie Keil, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyster, Miss Flora Chance, Mrs. Lydia Norcross, Miss Carrie Sherman.

While John Wilmerston was in the hospital at Camden having his arm amputated as the result of having it badly crushed, some mean thief entered his home on Laurel street and cleaned out the family larder to the extent of all the preserves, etc., that had been put up for the winter.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of the present Presbyterian church edifice will occur on 14th of December. The session has prepared a program suitable for the occasion and appointed the following Ways and Means committee: Rev. L. S. Mudge, J. C. Allen, H. B. Ely, Capt. J. A. Payer, George Raphael, David Smith and Dr. A. W. Taylor.

One evening last week a young gentleman bicycle rider was seen riding down Warren street, on the sidewalk the busiest street in town, without a lamp or anything that could be discerned as a light. Although we surmise this feat was but one of boldness still the law-breaker was not arrested although many saw and were surprised at his action.

Rev. Lewis S. Mudge, of the Presbyterian church, has refused the call he had from the church at Doylestown, Pa., as the reverend thinks his work is not yet done here. This may be true, but what has been done was that of noble and excellent accomplishment as only benefits a promoter of this sort. May Rev. Mudge be forever within the folds of Beverly Presbyterians and loved and revered as he is now.

The people living between Burlington and Mount Holly are again getting ready to agitate the project of building a stone road from Burlington to the county seat. The signatures have all been secured and it now awaits the endorsement of State Road Commissioner Henry I. Budd to become a sure thing.
